

45

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ A Nobel Prize And 3abn

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 03:52 PM

Great Moments in Physics

The following concerns a question in a physics degree exam at the University of Copenhagen.
"Describe how to determine the height of a skyscraper with a barometer."

One student replied: "You tie a long piece of string to the neck of the barometer, then lower the barometer from the roof of the skyscraper to the ground. The length of the string plus the length of the barometer will equal the height of the building."

This highly original answer so incensed the examiner that the student was failed. The student appealed on the grounds that his answer was indisputably correct, and the university appointed an independent arbiter to decide the case.

The arbiter judged that the answer was indeed correct, but did the problem it was decided to call the student in and allow him six minutes in which to provide a verbal answer which showed at least a minimal familiarity with the basic principles of physics. For five minutes the student sat in silence, forehead creased in thought. The arbiter reminded him that time was running out, to which the student replied that he had several extremely relevant answers, but couldn't make up his mind which to use.

On being advised to hurry up the student replied as follows: "Firstly, you could take the barometer up to the roof of the skyscraper, drop it over the edge, and measure the time it takes to reach the ground. The height of the building can then be worked out from the formula $H = 0.5g \times t^2$. But bad luck on the barometer."

"Or if the sun is shining you could measure the height of the barometer, then set it on end and measure the length of its shadow. Then you measure the length of the skyscraper's shadow, and thereafter it is a simple matter of proportional arithmetic to work out the height of the skyscraper."

"But if you wanted to be highly scientific about it, you could tie a short piece of string to the barometer and swing it like a pendulum, first at ground level and then on the roof of the skyscraper. The height is worked out by the difference in the gravitational restoring force $T = 2\pi \sqrt{l/g}$."

"Or if the skyscraper has an outside emergency staircase, it would be easier to walk up it and mark off the height of the skyscraper in barometer lengths, then add them up."

"If you merely wanted to be boring and orthodox about it, of course, you could use the barometer to measure the air pressure on the roof of the skyscraper and on the ground, and convert the difference in millibars into feet to give the height of the building."

"But since we are constantly being exhorted to exercise independence of mind and apply scientific methods, undoubtedly the best way would be to knock on the janitor's door and say to him 'If you would like a nice new barometer, I will give you this one if you tell me the height of this skyscraper'."

The student was Niels Bohr, the only person from Denmark to win the Nobel prize for Physics.

Is there anything we can learn from this young Danish student in this connection?

When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 5 2007, 04:32 PM

QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 04:52 PM) □

Great Moments in Physics

The following concerns a question in a physics degree exam at the University of Copenhagen.
"Describe how to determine the height of a skyscraper with a barometer."

One student replied: "You tie a long piece of string to the neck of the barometer, then lower the barometer from the roof of the skyscraper to the ground. The length of the string plus the length of the barometer will equal the height of the building."

This highly original answer so incensed the examiner that the student was failed. The student appealed on the grounds that his answer was indisputably correct, and the university appointed an independent arbiter to decide the case.

The arbiter judged that the answer was indeed correct, but did the problem it was decided to call the student in and allow him six minutes in which to provide a verbal answer which showed at least a minimal familiarity with the basic principles of physics. For five minutes the student sat in silence, forehead creased in thought. The arbiter reminded him that time was running out, to which the student replied that he had several extremely relevant answers, but couldn't make up his mind which to use.

On being advised to hurry up the student replied as follows: "Firstly, you could take the barometer up to the roof of the skyscraper, drop it over the edge, and measure the time it takes to reach the ground. The height of the building can then be worked out from the formula $H = 0.5g \times t^2$. But bad luck on the barometer."

"Or if the sun is shining you could measure the height of the barometer, then set it on end and measure the length of its shadow. Then you measure the length of the skyscraper's shadow, and thereafter it is a simple matter of proportional arithmetic to work out the height of the skyscraper."

"But if you wanted to be highly scientific about it, you could tie a short piece of string to the barometer and swing it like a pendulum, first at ground level and then on the roof of the skyscraper. The height is worked out by the difference in the gravitational restoring force $T = 2\pi \sqrt{l/g}$."

"Or if the skyscraper has an outside emergency staircase, it would be easier to walk up it and mark off the height of the skyscraper in barometer lengths, then add them up."

"If you merely wanted to be boring and orthodox about it, of course, you could use the barometer to measure the air pressure on the roof of the skyscraper and on the ground, and convert the difference in millibars into feet to give the height of the building."

"But since we are constantly being exhorted to exercise independence of mind and apply scientific methods, undoubtedly the best way would be to knock on the janitor's door and say to him 'If you would like a nice new barometer, I will give you this one if you tell me the height of this skyscraper'."

The student was Niels Bohr, the only person from Denmark to win the Nobel prize for Physics.

Is there anything we can learn from this young Danish student in this connection?

When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

There is the lesson of Naaman... that some people, when presented with a solution that, while obvious, is too simplistic to fit their preconceived notion, will tend to reject said solution no matter how truthful... Occam's razor is often the tool for the job but some are looking to play with their brand new shiny Husqvarna 394XPW 94cc chainsaw and will only accept that which allows them to do so... sure it will take your arm off along with that loose thread on your sleeve... but it's shiny... and makes noise... ooooooooooooooooooh

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 04:41 PM

QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 02:52 PM)

When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 04:44 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM)

I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

It does take a genius to figure that out!

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:22 PM

It so happened that while serving many years ago as a pastor of one of the largest churches then in Denmark it was discovered I had a sickness which no one recognized. My own doctor figured it was just stress, and he wanted me to relax. But it got worse and I was taken to a hospital where I was examined by a number of doctors. One of these was a surgeon who was the son of a butcher. Another surgeon was a former soccer star player. I got to know these men and they became my friends. At one point a medical student was supposed to examine me and give his verdict. To the professor's surprise he diagnosed that I had TB in a back bone. Some thought I had caught this in Africa. But the point is that the professor acknowledged that his student had not been able to discover what was wrong with me unless the two of us had developed a cordial and open relationship.

After this I was taken for tests and treatments to various hospitals by ambulance. The experts were discussing what to do with me to be sure I would recover without being shortened by an inch or two.

Then someone suggested there was this known specialist in treatments of bone diseases, Dr. Hans Bohr, and son of the Nobel price winner. I was taken again by ambulance to the largest hospital in Denmark, the Federal hospital in Copenhagen. There I was to hear the verdict of this famous physician. I still see the small frame of this friendly pleasant man approaching my bed, with a friendly smile on his face.

He had all of the tests, the x-rays, the results of all of the examinations by various physicians in 4 or 5 different hospitals. He did not open any of the papers. First some general talk. Then he told me that he could not tell me how I should be treated before getting personally acquainted with me. So he started talking to me about my family, my work, my outlook on life. He just could tell me what should be done before we had become friends. This was his professional patient-physician relationship. It reminded me of what Ellen White states in the Ministry of Healing about the relationship between a patient and a Christian physician.

From Bystander's perspective 3ABN does not subscribe to such counsel given by Ellen White. Is that because 3ABN is an Independent Ministry?

Stay tuned and I will tell you how Irmgard and I experience this together with Danny Shelton several weeks before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen arrived on the scene. Irmgard never got over that before she died.

Posted by: Fran Mar 6 2007, 02:40 PM

QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 05:22 PM)

It so happened that while serving many years ago as a pastor of one of the largest churches then in Denmark it was discovered I had a sickness which no one recognized. My own doctor figured it was just stress, and he wanted me to relax. But it got worse and I was taken to a hospital where I was examined by a number of doctors. One of these was a surgeon who was the son of a butcher. Another surgeon was a former soccer star player. I got to know these men and they became my friends. At one point a medical student was supposed to examine me and give his verdict. To the professor's surprise he diagnosed that I had TB in a back bone. Some thought I had caught this in Africa. But the point is that the professor acknowledged that his student had not been able to discover what was wrong with me unless the two of us had developed a cordial and open relationship.

After this I was taken for tests and treatments to various hospitals by ambulance. The experts were discussing what to do with me to be sure I would recover without being shortened by an inch or two.

Then someone suggested there was this known specialist in treatments of bone diseases, Dr. Hans Bohr, and son of the Nobel price winner. I was taken again by ambulance to the largest hospital in Denmark, the Federal hospital in Copenhagen. There I was to hear the verdict of this famous physician. I still see the small frame of this friendly pleasant man approaching my bed, with a friendly smile on his face.

He had all of the tests, the x-rays, the results of all of the examinations by various physicians in 4 or 5 different hospitals. He did not open any of the papers. First some general talk. Then he told me that he could not tell me how I should be treated before getting personally acquainted with me. So he started talking to me about my family, my work, my outlook on life. He just could tell me what should be done before we had become friends. This was his professional patient-physician relationship. It reminded me of what Ellen White states in the Ministry of Healing about the relationship between a patient and a Christian physician.

From Bystander's perspective 3ABN does not subscribe to such counsel given by Ellen White. Is that because 3ABN is an Independent Ministry?

Stay tuned and I will tell you how Irmgard and I experience this together with Danny Shelton several weeks before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen arrived on the scene. Irmgard never got over that before she died.

ohann;

'd like to hear the rest of the story

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 02:47 PM

Yes, Johann, please share the rest of this amazing story!

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 05:32 AM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM)

I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

Good, but why don't you comprehend?

Posted by: Fran Mar 7 2007, 10:55 PM

QUOTE

Bystander Mar 6, 2007, 1241 AM

I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

MO, Since they are above your level, I can see where it would be hard to comprehend! You should attend Andrews University, They are quite good I hear.

Posted by: sister Mar 8 2007, 04:50 AM

QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 7 2007, 11:55 PM)

IMO, Since they are above your level, I can see where it would be hard to comprehend!
You should attend Andrews University, They are quite good I hear.

Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was acquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?

Sister

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 8 2007, 12:40 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 05:50 AM)

Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was acquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?

Sister

Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 8 2007, 12:43 PM

QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 8 2007, 01:40 PM)

Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

ursh Aletheia grown folks is talkin... Have you not yet learned yet to be seen and not heard?

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 8 2007, 12:44 PM

QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 8 2007, 01:40 PM)

Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

Calvin, Clay or PrincessDi....

Can you get us a smilie for " ad hominem" posts?

W
"i"

am still waiting for an answer Aletheia.

<http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12418&view=findpost&p=183730>

Posted by: Carmel Mar 8 2007, 03:50 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 04:50 AM)

It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?

Sister

couldn't agree more!

Recently I wrote a post in that regard, but never got a reply from Bystander.

Not coming from southern Illinois either, I am really having hard time to see how can anybody talk to an older gentleman like that. I understand that Johann was accepted in Uppsala University for his doctorate, a very renown European University, founded in 1477. For me, that's enough to have a special respect for him, but Danny is shamelessly questioning even his intelligence!

In other languages there is a difference between talking with a person of your age, and somebody older than you (they address an older-than-you person in "plural"). You HAVE to talk to an older person with respect, if you care to speak correctly.

Bragging about being ignorant was one of the reasons (the big one) I stopped watching 3abn, some 6 years ago. I just couldn't stand watching that anymore.... Danny's few sentences that I learned very quickly. I couldn't comprehend anybody being proud of not having any school, not knowing your own language, not caring to read or learn anything, and thinking that the Holy Spirit is going to miraculously inspire you to sound like you know what you are talking about! I don't think so!

Isn't it written of Jesus that he increased in wisdom and stature, that he grew and became strong in spirit filled with wisdom ...

I just didn't see that growth in Danny. That is sad!

Even though we (my husband & I) stopped watching them, we were still supporting them financially, because we thought God was indeed using them "inspite of them", as Danny also liked to say. The divorce, and especially his remarriage, made us think differently, but after finding this site, and after having the opportunity to read it for ourselves, (all the letters, emails, all well documented) we don't have any doubts anymore. God is not being glorified through the leadership of 3abn.

They do depend on our donations, don't they? That's why this site is so important, it educates those who are willing to grow in knowledge, doesn't it?! We love that!

Carmel

Posted by: Bystander Mar 8 2007, 05:34 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 03:50 AM)

Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was acquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?
Sister

Now lets see...who is it that is ignorant and lacks the most rudimentary social skills? Who is it that is disrespectful and ignorant? Not to mention...cruel, vindictive, hurtful, nasty and hate filled. In looking back, sister, your posts certainly have changed from all of your crude and distasteful comments back several months ago. Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. Now you hide your "true nature" behind a cloak of scripture and well meaning insights on said situation. Well, you are not fooling anybody. This was just a few of hundreds of degrading, defaming, nasty and hideous, posts that you have made. You might as well go back to accessing your true nature, your spiritual change came a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case. It took lots of time, imagination and cruelty to do what you have done on here. So, save your response for someone that doesn't know the "real" you. There are a few left who still, might buy it.

SISTER

So, in conclusion, it is difficult to get excited over the "bargain suit" when you know how Danny has channeled so much ministry money through his pockets over the years. Sorry, Dan, it was a good try, but you are going to have to do much better than that in order to fool all the people, all the time... You need to work on your showmanship, even P.T. Barnum didn't believe it was possible to fool all the people, all the time...

The house that Danny built is beginning to crumble and it is important to know all the players, for soon the entire drama will unfold.

Remember, Mollie never needs "facts"...she makes up the "truth" as she goes along.

Don't forget: Ken Denslows parents travel around in a new 3ABN RV promoting Danny and company. It appears that the plot is thickening. Who is ready to give the pot another stir?

There is so much back scratching going on at 3ABN you would think those folks were continually outside rolling in poison ivy. Today it is, "Look out and pray before entering into mutually benefitting relationships with Danny Shelton. Like the Devil, he just might try to charm you into selling you soul for the fleeting fame of being associated with him.

Concerning Shelton and Bush... depending upon your political position, that could just be one more deceiver being introduced to another. It seems Danny is trying to upgrade his image by being seen with the President. I hope they counted the silverware before and after Danny left the Whitehouse.

Once all the truth comes out about Danny and the Shelton Gang, the appearance of evil is going to stick on a lot of folks like warts on a frog.

Mollie will get things done his way irregardless of what the truth is, how many lies she has to tell or who she has to trample on to reach their goal.

Instead of going the way of hair plugs, this man fancies another means of hiding a receding hairline. But loss of hair is not the only secret he is hiding.

for correctly stating the part Goldie played in securing her son's freedom...

But the real question is: why is Garwin McNeilus pimping a sexual predator to the GC with the threat of removing the vast amount of funds he would normally contribute to the World Missions Department, unless they back off and allow Danny Shelton to continue the evil practices that he has hidden for so long behind the scenes at 3ABN? Is all the hype about McNeilus and his heart for missions nothing more than PR? Are his contributions merely a tactic to control the church? What binds Garwin McNeilus to Danny Shelton?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 8 2007, 05:52 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 8 2007, 04:34 PM)

Now lets see...who is it that is ignorant and lacks the most rudimentary social skills? Who is it that is disrespectful and ignorant? Not to mention...cruel, vindictive, hurtful, nasty and hate filled. In looking back, sister, your posts certainly have changed from all of your crude and distasteful comments back several months ago. Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. Now you hide your "true nature" behind a cloak of scripture and well meaning insights on said situation. Well, you are not fooling anybody. This was just a few of hundreds of degrading, defaming, nasty and hideous, posts that you have made. You might as well go back to accessing your true nature, your spiritual change came a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case. It took lots of time, imagination and cruelty to do what you have done on here. So, save your response for someone that doesn't know the "real" you. There are a few left who still, might buy it.

SISTER

So, in conclusion, it is difficult to get excited over the "bargain suit" when you know how Danny has channeled so much ministry money through his pockets over the years. Sorry, Dan, it was a good try, but you are going to have to do much better than that in order to fool all the people, all the time... You need to work on your showmanship, even P.T. Barnum didn't believe it was possible to fool all the people, all the time...

The house that Danny built is beginning to crumble and it is important to know all the players, for soon the entire drama will unfold.

Remember, Mollie never needs "facts"...she makes up the "truth" as she goes along.

Don't forget: Ken Denslows parents travel around in a new 3ABN RV promoting Danny and company. It appears that the plot is thickening. Who is ready to give the pot another stir?

There is so much back scratching going on at 3ABN you would think those folks were continually outside rolling in poison ivy. Today it is, "Look out and pray before entering into mutually benefitting relationships with Danny Shelton. Like the Devil, he just might try to charm you into selling you soul for the fleeting fame of being associated with him.

Concerning Shelton and Bush... depending upon your political position, that could just be one more deceiver being introduced to another. It seems Danny is trying to upgrade his image by being seen with the President. I hope they counted the silverware before and after Danny left the Whitehouse.

Once all the truth comes out about Danny and the Shelton Gang, the appearance of evil is going to stick on a lot of folks like warts on a frog.

Mollie will get things done his way irregardless of what the truth is, how many lies she has to tell or who she has to trample on to reach their goal.

Instead of going the way of hair plugs, this man fancies another means of hiding a receding hairline. But loss of hair is not the only secret he is hiding.

for correctly stating the part Goldie played in securing her son's freedom...

But the real question is: why is Garwin McNeilus pimping a sexual predator to the GC with the threat of removing the vast amount of funds he would normally contribute to the World Missions Department, unless they back off and allow Danny Shelton to continue the evil practices that he has hidden for so long behind the scenes at 3ABN? Is all the hype about McNeilus and his heart for missions nothing more than PR? Are his contributions merely a tactic to control the church? What binds Garwin McNeilus to Danny Shelton?

nteresting collection of posts. Your point was what?

Posted by: sister Mar 8 2007, 08:20 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 8 2007, 06:34 PM) □

...Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. ...a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. ...All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case.

A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringing a lawsuit against as "Sister".

Sister

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 8 2007, 08:54 PM

Don't forget sister, this Bystander character is the same person Lee said KNOWS all the ins and outs, and that we'd be smart to listen up. Trouble is, he proved he didn't understand squat about the case 3abn lost against the Dept of Revenue in Illinois. The 3abn team have proved themselves incompetent in the courtroom...and brutes for pnishment as they appeal the case.

Truely amazing ineptness displayed right before us.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 12:57 AM

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 8 2007, 04:52 PM) □

Interesting collection of posts. Your point was what?

Even you are not that bewildered

QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 07:20 PM) □

A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringinq a lawsuit against as

"Sister".

Sister

Now, I thought even you were smarter than that.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 9 2007, 01:22 AM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 12:57 AM) □

Even you are not that bewildered
Wow, I thought even you were smarter than that.

Every time I come back to the 3ABN boards I want to cry. When oh when are you going to put up--or shut up? If you can't answer the questions, don't answer the questions!

If sister hasn't been served papers, there isn't a pending lawsuit. I got my copy of Adventist Today, today, and they printed the story in the magazine, so they must not have got served papers either.

As far as PB is concerned, I feel this individual was trying to give you the benefit of the doubt. It sure looked like you were taking quotes from sister's posts out of context to paint her as a vindictive person. Of course she's been unhappy with the goings-on at 3ABN, but the more I find out from other sources, the more credibility she's got, and the more reason she had to complain.

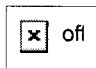

If Danny hasn't done anything wrong, he's got nothing to lose by stepping out of the way and letting a free and impartial investigation of these going ons--and while we're at it, how about an independent audit of 3ABN's books for the last, oh, 20 years?

If he's an honest man, why would you, Bystander, have any trouble with this? Would it not be the fastest way to clear all this garbage up?

Could Danny not go on the air and say, "Okay, I have nothing to hide. I am therefore taking a leave of absence while the following people and/or organizations, unconnected with 3ABN, look into some of the concerns people have expressed. Since I've done nothing wrong legally or morally, I am confident they will exonerate me"?

Bystander, would you have a problem if Danny were to do that?

I know I just put words like "exonerate" in Danny Shelton's mouth, but maybe someday he'll be blessed with more education.)

And all of this is  ... how 'bout we let Johann finish his story?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 01:34 PM

QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 9 2007, 12:22 AM)

Soul, nothing was taken out of context. Go read it and hundreds of others nasty cruel accusations she has made. No matter what side you are on, nobody can say that she has not been unbelievably vindictive and mean in her comments that were made to try and destroy people and lives. If the suit is such a joke, then why has she toned her posts way down in the last few months from what they were earlier. Because she knows things that you don't.

Have you ever dealt with attorneys, judges and court cases? If you have, then you surely know that any attorney with his salt will gather every piece of evidence that he needs, study into the facts and persons surrounding the case then compare what they have with case law. It can be months before they are ready to file the suit or serve papers. You an others here that perceive that nothing is going to happen because it hasn't happened in your "made up" time frame are showing your ignorance to the subject at hand. Same with 3abn showing evidence. They will show it, when they choose to whom they choose and it won't be on a chat room. Again, because something isn't done when you think it should be done means absolutely nada. To continue down those same old roads and time frames is not very intelligent.

As for your "lack of education" remarks, You are not setting a very good example of being educated on the lawsuit subject. I personally, would rather, be uneducated and have some common sense.

Posted by: västergötland Mar 9 2007, 02:06 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Mar 9 2007, 03:20 AM)

A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? rofl rofl rofl

How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringing a lawsuit against as "Sister".

Sister

This sounds as if you are saying that hiding behind the screen name lets you get away with things you would otherwise not get away with. Surely this was not what you intended to communicate?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 9 2007, 02:26 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 12:34 PM)

Soul, nothing was taken out of context. Go read it and hundreds of others nasty cruel accusations she has made. No matter what side you are on, nobody can say that she has not been unbelievably vindictive and mean in her comments that were made to try and destroy people and lives. If the suit is such a joke, then why has she toned her posts way down in the last few months from what they were earlier. Because she knows things that you don't. Have you ever dealt with attorneys, judges and court cases? If you have, then you surely know that any attorney with his salt will gather every piece of evidence that he needs, study into the facts and persons surrounding the case then compare what they have with case law. It can be months before they are ready to file the suit or serve papers. You and others here that perceive that nothing is going to happen because it hasn't happened in your "made up" time frame are showing your ignorance to the subject at hand. Same with 3abn showing evidence. They will show it, when they choose to whom they choose and it won't be on a chat room. Again, because something isn't done when you think it should be done means absolutely nada. To continue down those same old roads and time frames is not very intelligent.

As for your "lack of education" remarks, You are not setting a very good example of being educated on the lawsuit subject. I personally, would rather, be uneducated and have some common sense.

Bystander,

just spent quite some time reading a lot of Sister's early posts - back to April of 2006. I found them thoughtful and informative. Guess I haven't gotten to the ones you characterize as nasty, cruel and vindictive.

I'm certain you must have meant "worth" rather than "with" his salt. And, IMO, it is important to have both education and common sense.

PB

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 02:49 PM

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 9 2007, 01:26 PM)

Bystander,

I just spent quite some time reading a lot of Sister's early posts - back to April of 2006. I found them thoughtful and informative. Guess I haven't gotten to the ones you characterize as nasty, cruel and vindictive.

I'm certain you must have meant "worth" rather than "with" his salt. And, IMO, it is important to have both education and common sense.

PB

Well, dear, if you missed the nasty ones just go back to my post where I put some of them. They were neither informative nor thoughtful. With remarks like that PB, you expose your true "makeup." You continually try to cloak your persona as fair and patient and willing to hear both sides, when nothing could be further from the truth. Anyone that has read Sisters posts could never say they were not what I said they were. I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would have no problem winning that case. That you would say otherwise is just another indication of your true bias on said situation. Proving that if you were slapped in the face with proof of the all the lies being told here, you would turn your little bewildered face away and say sweetly that black was white. That doesn't say much for your education or common sense. One would almost think you were Linda by the way that you try to cloak yourself with scripture and EGW while, at the same time, trying to jestroly with your little hints, innuendo and your "well planted" questions as I have mentioned before.

Your quiet little facade isn't working anymore, dear, or are you too bewildered to see that fact?

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 03:15 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 10:49 PM)

- - -

I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would have no problem winning that case.

- - -

This is so true and such a fitting comment from 3ABN in this case. Linda has had to face such a jury now, it must be 24 if not 25 times, In every one of those cases only one side was heard, and Linda was in no case permitted to present her side of the story. So 3ABN is by now certain that they will win every time. They might even have some more days of fasting to give the false impression they are doing the right thing, trusting this will still be impressing people to vote for Danny Shelton.

When one of their own supporters - a conservative Christian - Gailon Artur Joy, appears on the scene demanding that at the final trial Linda's side will be heard too, then they demand their "god" appear from his abode pouring the worst venom of demons over his head to avoid the truth to be revealed.

And they still claim to be a Christian ministry!!!

QUOTE(västergötland @ Mar 9 2007, 10:06 PM)

This sounds as if you are saying that hiding behind the screen name lets you get away with things you would otherwise not get away with. Surely this was not what you intended to communicate?

As I have said before, 3ABN might be sorry what they have said when they discover who Sister is.

As she has stated before, she has so much documentation that they will never get her.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 9 2007, 03:51 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 01:49 PM)

Well, dear, if you missed the nasty ones just go back to my post where I put some of them. They were neither informative nor thoughtful. With remarks like that PB, you expose your true "makeup." You continually try to cloak your persona as fair and patient and willing to hear both sides, when nothing could be further from the truth. Anyone that has read Sisters posts could never say they were not what I said they were. I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would have no problem winning that case. That you would say otherwise is just another indication of your true bias on said situation. Proving that if you were slapped in the face with proof of the all the lies being told here, you would turn your little bewildered face away and say sweetly that black was white. That doesn't say much for your education or common sense. One would almost think you were Linda by the way that you try to cloak yourself with scripture and EGW while, at the same time, trying to destroy with your little hints, innuendo and your "well planted" questions as I have mentioned before.

Your quiet little facade isn't working anymore, dear, or are you too bewildered to see that fact?

Brother Bystander,

Guess I've hit a nerve for you to be so harsh in characterizing me.

If you were to present the quotes to a jury of 12, you would need to be able to prove that they are lies in order to win any case. If you will supply links to each of sister's posts that you took clips from, I will gladly read them in their entirety and give you a more definitive response, if you should so desire.

The only "cloak" I seek to wear is our Savior's righteousness which is available to everyone. I do attempt to arm myself "with the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God". The only thing I am attempting to destroy is dishonesty. If my "well planted" questions are having an impact on the lies that are being woven before the world, if the carefully crafted web of deceit is beginning to fail because of my common sense questions, well, good.

The woman that my husband of 35 years is married to does not go by the name of Linda.

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 04:25 PM

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 9 2007, 11:51 PM) □

Brother Bystander,

Guess I've hit a nerve for you to be so harsh in characterizing me.

If you were to present the quotes to a jury of 12, you would need to be able to prove that they are lies in order to win any case. If you will supply links to each of sister's posts that you took clips from, I will gladly read them in their entirety and give you a more definitive response, if you should so desire.

The only "cloak" I seek to wear is our Savior's righteousness which is available to everyone. I do attempt to arm myself "with the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God". The only thing I am attempting to destroy is dishonesty. If my "well planted" questions are having an impact on the lies that are being woven before the world, if the carefully crafted web of deceit is beginning to fail because of my common sense questions, well, good.

The woman that my husband of 35 years is married to does not go by the name of Linda.

□

Posted by: Carmel Mar 12 2007, 05:46 AM

Johann, are you going to continue with your story? We are standing on our toes and waiting impatiently to read the rest of it.

Carmel

Posted by: Johann Mar 13 2007, 06:28 AM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM)

I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

Bystander finds this quite elementary, so I hope he follows. He has given me so many incentives to continue this thread. Thank you!

Posted by: Johann Mar 13 2007, 06:52 AM

QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 12 2007, 01:46 PM)

Johann, are you going to continue with your story? We are standing on our toes and waiting impatiently to read the rest of it.
Carmel

In my last post dealing with the main story, I indicated how important it was for a well known specialist to not merely look at medical reports but to get to know his patient personally in order to know how to treat his patient. Elsewhere the question was asked why Irmgard died even though she was being treated by Dr. Arild Abrahamsen. Even though I felt I had the answer to that question soon after she died 20 months ago, it is important to think the matter through before coming to a conclusion.

Towards the end of 2003 she was given but a short time to live. It was then Danny and Linda urged us to come to headquarters to find help.

Some time after we arrived we were eight people assembled in our apartment for an anointment service. Danny and Linda Shelton, Pastor and Mrs. John Lomacang, Pastor and Mrs. John Stanton, and then the two of us.

It is a solemn moment when people appeal to their creator for healing as they follow the admonition given in Scripture by James. We were all deeply moved when several of us prayed and Irmgard was anointed by Pastor John Lomacang. We felt the presence of the Divine, until it ended in sadness.

Irmgard was bewildered and felt she was betrayed. She felt betrayed by the men she trusted. What happened at the end of that service? More on that later.

Posted by: JustTana Mar 13 2007, 09:09 AM

QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 13 2007, 07:52 AM)

It is a solemn moment when people appeal to their creator for healing as they follow the admonition given in Scripture by James. We were all deeply moved when several of us prayed and Irmgard was anointed by Pastor John Lomacang. We felt the presence of the Divine, until it ended in sadness.

Irmgard was bewildered and felt she was betrayed. She felt betrayed by the men she trusted. What happened at the end of that service? More on that later.

Please, Johann, Continue. We are waiting to hear what happened with you and Irmgard and the prayer group'. But we understand that you may be having a some difficulty going through this sorrowful time in your life and need to tell it as you can.

Thank you for your faithfulness to God and His cause.

T

Powered by Invision Power Board (<http://www.invisionboard.com>)
© Invision Power Services (<http://www.invisionpower.com>)