

Printable Version of Topic

123

Click here to view this topic in its original format

---

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ What Does The 3abn Board Know?

---

Posted by: daylily Jan 7 2007, 04:55 AM

Back when Linda was first dismissed from 3ABN, a relative of mine and I were discussing it and wondering what had happened. A 3ABN board member was coming to visit this relative so she said she would ask him. At first he wouldn't tell her anything but she is very persistent. Finally with some reluctance, he told her that Linda had started keeping Sunday and was probably going to go to work for a large Sunday-keeping TV network. Now, I don't know whether he was told this and truly believed it or if he just told her something to get her off his back. But when I heard about the "spiritual adultery", I wondered if that was all the board was told and he surmised the Sunday-keeping part. I did a small experiment with several church members (none of who knew the real story of what happened at 3ABN). I asked "What is the first thing that comes to mind when I say 'spiritual adultery'?" Without exception they all answered in a way that showed that they believed it was turning your back on God by breaking His commandments. Does anybody besides the board know exactly what they were told?

I have two questions. (1) Walt Thompson mentioned "hard evidence" of an affair. Has every single board member seen and examined this evidence or were they just told about it? (2) Has Mr Joy given all the information that he has uncovered to every single board member?

This may have already been addressed here by I don't remember seeing it. Thanks for any info on this.

---

Posted by: Johann Jan 7 2007, 05:40 AM

QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 7 2007, 12:55 PM)

Back when Linda was first dismissed from 3ABN, a relative of mine and I were discussing it and wondering what had happened. A 3ABN board member was coming to visit this relative so she said she would ask him. At first he wouldn't tell her anything but she is very persistent. Finally with some reluctance, he told her that Linda had started keeping Sunday and was probably going to go to work for a large Sunday-keeping TV network. Now, I don't know whether he was told this and truly believed it or if he just told her something to get her off his back. But when I heard about the "spiritual adultery", I wondered if that was all the board was told and he surmised the Sunday-keeping part. I did a small experiment with several church members (none of who knew the real story of what happened at 3ABN). I asked "What is the first thing that comes to mind when I say 'spiritual adultery'?" Without exception they all answered in a way that showed that they believed it was turning your back on God by breaking His commandments. Does anybody besides the board know exactly what they were told?

I have two questions. (1) Walt Thompson mentioned "hard evidence" of an affair. Has every single board member seen and examined this evidence or were they just told about it? (2) Has Mr Joy given all the information that he has uncovered to every single board member?

This may have already been addressed here by I don't remember seeing it. Thanks for any info on this.

Some very interesting questions, Daylily! I recall Linda telling me she met a 3ABN employee some time after she was fired. She had said they were told at 3ABN that Linda had joined a strange sect and that she no longer was a Seventh-day Adventist, and that this was the reason she no longer was at 3ABN.

I soon discovered that strange fictitious stories were created, and new ones developed as the old ones were disproved, all in a futile attempt to cover Danny's track. This from people who claimed to have the truth.

Yesterday I saw an ad for a very good book, it was claimed, Ten Commandments - Twice Removed by Danny Shelton. It seems evident that Mr. Danny Shelton has removed two of them as applied to himself. Which ones?

---

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 7 2007, 06:07 AM

Would this explain why Linda had such a hard time maintaining her church membership, against the wishes of the powers that be at 3ABN following her dismissal? Our church had already agreed, being in a different conference, to assist Linda in the event that her 3ABN church would not transfer her membership to her new location, as they were trying to get her membership dropped. (We considered reinstating it on profession of faith.) I think the reason for the attempt to disfellowship her had something to do with her adultery (there was no other reason for it they could give, so far as I know). The whole story of what the pastors in her church put her through is a shameful one. I was reminded of that part of the classic "Pollyanna" where the little girl pointed out to the minister that "no one owns a church." Only, sometimes, these things cause us to wonder who is really wielding the rod of power. I don't remember hearing how it all turned out for her, but I believe some pressure was put on some church leaders higher up by folks like us who were willing to take an active stand, and help trickled down, thwarting the best efforts of 3ABN's yes-men to put her out of the church. But hearing that such theories of Linda's departure from the faith had been circulated sure puts this whole effort to push her out of the church in a different light.

---

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 07:46 AM

Walt Thompson has said that there is hard evidence regarding Linda's guilt, and he implied that some of it was a recording of a phone conversation. At least, his written words can easily be taken that way.

Hal Steenson at ASI 2006 told me about a recording that conference presidents had listened to.

Danny's own conference president, as of late October 2006, had not yet heard that recording, and he is a member of the 3ABN board.

---

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 7 2007, 11:35 AM

QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 05:46 AM) □

Walt Thompson has said that there is hard evidence regarding Linda's guilt, and he implied that some of it was a recording of a phone conversation. At least, his written words can easily be taken that way.

Hal Steenson at ASI 2006 told me about a recording that conference presidents had listened to.

Danny's own conference president, as of late October 2006, had not yet heard that recording, and he is a member of the 3ABN board.

Once again, I believe it shows that the "board" is no board at all. If all they were told was a few mere words like "spiritual adultery" (if this is the case) and they were "satisfied" with WHATEVER they were TOLD, what kind of board is that? I think I know....they are a "yes" board, plain and simple, and they ought to be ashamed. What's the point of being on a board if you take NO responsibility for your supposed decisions? I'm sure there is more than meets the eye...no one will want to give the real picture of all that goes on there, and HOW it transpires. THEY are no different than any other religion that gives or allows an assumed picture of something when in reality they are something else all together - is this not deception?  VERY disappointing, to say the very least.

---

Posted by: daylily Jan 7 2007, 06:00 PM

Well, if they believe that Danny is called by God, they are going to believe what he says. But didn't they also believe that Linda was called by God?

I hope that Mr. Joy will send all his findings to every board member. They need to hear everything. If the IL conference president hadn't heard the phone recording as of Oct, then who on the board has heard it? I seem to remember Walt saying something about limiting who they let listen to it because of not wanting to hurt Linda's reputation further or something like that. Which is ridiculous! How could they damage it more than they already did?

Mr. Pickle, if you have any influence with Mr Joy please encourage him to contact each board member and give them his information. And continue to "sift the testimony" .

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 10 2007, 02:55 AM

QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 7 2007, 06:00 PM)

They need to hear everything. If the IL conference president hadn't heard the phone recording as of Oct, then who on the board has heard it? I seem to remember Walt saying something about limiting who they let listen to it because of not wanting to hurt Linda's reputation further or something like that. Which is ridiculous! How could they damage it more than they already did?

It is now my understanding that such recordings may be illegal in Illinois.

How many 3ABN board members have mentioned being part of any recording effort:

approving it,
commenting upon it,
reading a transcript from it,
helping to edit it,
seeing any video tape that mentions it,
hearing it,
distributing it,
making decisions based on it, or falling into narcoleptic sleep when told about it?

Perhaps, the board members, one by one, need to clarify that. Has anyone already done that?

---

Posted by: daylily Jan 10 2007, 05:35 PM

You've made some very good points. I hope this can be clarified.

---

Posted by: Noahswife Jan 11 2007, 04:38 PM

I am going to play devil's advocate here. If 3ABN is a privately held corporation, to whom do you think the board legally owes its fiduciary duty?

fi·du·ci·ar·y (f-dsh-r, -sh-r, -dy-, f-) adj.

1.

---

a. Of or relating to a holding of something in trust for another: a fiduciary heir; a fiduciary contract.

b. Of or being a trustee or trusteeship.

c Held in trust.

2. Of or consisting of fiat money.

3. Of, relating to, or being a system of marking in the field of view of an optical instrument that is used as a reference point or measuring scale.

n. pl. fi·du·ci·ar·ies

One, such as an agent of a principal or a company director, that stands in a special relation of trust, confidence, or responsibility in certain obligations to others.

Sorry about the layout of the quote. I am having a hard time getting the pasted quote lined up properly.

noahswife

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 12 2007, 07:01 AM

QUOTE(Noahswife @ Jan 11 2007, 04:38 PM) □

I am going to play devil's advocate here. If 3ABN is a privately held corporation, to whom do you think the board legally owes its fiduciary duty?

noahswife

I'll bite.

Let's continue our theoretical "devil's advocate" idea a little further and see where it goes.

Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN.

I suppose if the highly-esteemed Tommy Shelton became President of 3ABN, as board members, we would give 100 percent of our fiduciary duty to Tommy. If Tommy, by chance, needed a bigger company car for parking along lonely country roads, it would be our jobs to make sure he got one.

And if, by chance, we ever saw the company car parked along those country roads, we, as 3ABN Board members, could feel really good knowing we were helping God's anointed to be happy. His happiness would be, indeed, our fiduciary duty.

A happy 3ABN President would mean many more souls were watching 3ABN and joining the Adventist Church. More members would mean more tithes for a bigger, stronger North American Division. With so much good being done for the Adventist Church by 3ABN, we could certainly overlook one little victim here and there. That's not really too much to ask. We're not as bad as the Druids who actually threw children into a furnace as a sacrifice. So, we would be much better in the site of God than the Druids.

And what difference would it really make, anyway? The end justifies the means, doesn't it? Maybe, in the final analysis, there's nobody upstairs keeping score of anything, anyway. Maybe we just evolved over millions of years and, maybe, we would be depriving the future President of 3ABN of some earthly pleasure for no good reason.

If there's a problem, let God handle it, if there is One. It's better just to look the other way and live our lives filled with peace and tranquility. By our peace and tranquility, people will want what we have, and we will have the opportunity to explain about what it really means to be the Remnant.

So, as 3ABN Board members, we should do our fiduciary duty and we keep quiet about 3ABN.

Thank goodness, the General Conference is bright enough to see it this way, and is dragging its feet to do nothing. It's always encouraging to see when the brighter, calmer, business-minded heads in Silver Spring prevail. Why should we think for ourselves when we have these fine folks to do it for us? Should we have thoughts and opinions of our own? I think not! That only leads to trouble that could split the unity in our church -- something to be avoided at all cost.

Therefore, keeping quiet means more money, unity, tranquility, peacefulness, and happiness for God's Remnant. What more could any God-fearing denomination ask for?

---

Posted by: Johann Jan 12 2007, 07:49 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 12 2007, 03:01 PM)

I'll bite.

- - -

Therefore, keeping quiet means more money, unity, tranquility, peacefulness, and happiness for God's Remnant. What more could any God-fearing denomination ask for?

Mr. Panama Pete!!! Watcha sayin? What got into ya?

---

Posted by: erik Jan 12 2007, 07:55 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 12 2007, 05:01 AM)

I'll bite.

Let's continue our theoretical "devil's advocate" idea a little further and see where it goes.

Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN.

I suppose if the highly-esteemed Tommy Shelton became President of 3ABN, as board members, we would give 100 percent of our fiduciary duty to Tommy. If Tommy, by chance, needed a bigger company car for parking along lonely country roads, it would be our jobs to make sure he got one.

And if, by chance, we ever saw the company car parked along those country roads, we, as 3ABN Board members, could feel really good knowing we were helping God's anointed to be happy. His happiness would be, indeed, our fiduciary duty.

A happy 3ABN President would mean many more souls were watching 3ABN and joining the Adventist Church. More members would mean more tithe for a bigger, stronger North American Division. With so much good being done for the Adventist Church by 3ABN, we could certainly overlook one little victim here and there. That's not really too much to ask. We're not as bad as the Druids who actually threw children into a furnace as a sacrifice. So, we would be much better in the site of God than the Druids.

And what difference would it really make, anyway? The end justifies the means, doesn't it? Maybe, in the final analysis, there's nobody upstairs keeping score of anything, anyway. Maybe we just evolved over millions of years and, maybe, we would be depriving the future President of 3ABN of some earthly pleasure for no good reason.

If there's a problem, let God handle it, if there is One. It's better just to look the other way and live our lives filled with peace and tranquility. By our peace and tranquility, people will want what we have, and we will have the opportunity to explain about what it really means to be the Remnant.

So, as 3ABN Board members, we should do our fiduciary duty and we keep quiet about 3ABN.

Thank goodness, the General Conference is bright enough to see it this way, and is dragging its feet to do nothing. It's always encouraging to see when the brighter, calmer, business-minded heads in Silver Spring prevail. Why should we think for ourselves when we have these fine folks to do it for us? Should we have thoughts and opinions of our own? I think not! That only leads to trouble that could split the unity in our church -- something to be avoided at all cost.

Therefore, keeping quiet means more money, unity, tranquility, peacefulness, and happiness for God's Remnant. What more could any God-fearing denomination ask for?

maybe the idea the truth and justice come BEFORE money and membership numbers,

Posted by: Ed White Jan 12 2007, 08:07 AM

QUOTE(erik @ Jan 12 2007, 07:55 AM) □

maybe the idea the truth and justice come BEFORE money and membership numbers,

Maybe "truth and justice" is an unknown in those circles. Kinda like the name Christian Scientist, most are neither Christian or scientist.

Posted by: watchbird Jan 12 2007, 08:38 AM

Good try, Pete.... but as "devil's advocate"..... even with your obvious literary genius and mastery of ironic mode.... somehow you've missed the mark here and there... and while overall you did very well.... you did leave out a few very key ingredients.... for example.....

You seem to forget that this is a "world wide" institution.... thus the NAD is hardly the one to be most greatly benefited by having this close knit cult in its midst.... in fact, since the NAD is already "rich and increased with goods", it will improve their spiritual standing if more of those excess funds are siphoned off to enrich the "House of Shelton" so as to bring them closer to the realization of their true condition.... that of imposter to the claim of being the remnant church when actually they are representatives of that apostate church called in scripture, Babylon....

Which brings up another point you missed.... that members around the world are "brought into" the church in name only.... actually their allegiance is to the "world wide organization" led by the "Anointed One" who alone represents "true Adventism". So tithes flow more into the coffers of the "House that Shelton built" than into denominational entities.... thus adding to the evidence of the great "blessings of God" that are being poured out on the "House of Shelton".

Thus little by little the "General Conference" is relegated to an inferior role to.... and even held hostage by.... the "Anointed One" who reigns in the kingdom of the "House of Shelton" cult.

What should we expect next? A stockpiling of arms as the "persecution complex" is steadily built and enhanced? A movement to a foreign land before the "koolaid" is administered as a test of loyalty to the cult followers?

I doubt it. Those are such obvious excesses.... and such a waste of resources which could be enjoyed by the rulers in the House of Shelton.... so why would they want to either stockpile ammunition with which to blow themselves up... or why would they want to kill off all the little goosies who are laying such beautiful golden eggs.

Especially when they have learned the secret formula which goes down ever so much more easily than koolaid, and which has the effect only of numbing the reasoning chambers of the mind, so that the eggs keep coming in and the things that golden eggs can buy keep on keeping the "happiness" hormones flowing..... and no one ever guesses that they have been victims of the rulers of the "House of Shelton".

And one more thought.... maybe two.... scroll down.....

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 12 2007, 08:01 AM) □

I'll bite.

Let's continue our theoretical "devil's advocate" idea a little further and see where it goes.

Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN.

I suppose if the highly-esteemed Tommy Shelton became President of 3ABN, as board members, we would give 100 percent of our fiduciary duty to Tommy. If Tommy, by chance, needed a bigger company car for parking along lonely country roads, it would be our jobs to make sure he got one.

And if, by chance, we ever saw the company car parked along those country roads, we, as 3ABN

Board members, could feel really good knowing we were helping God's anointed to be happy. His happiness would be, indeed, our fiduciary duty.

A happy 3ABN President would mean many more souls were watching 3ABN and joining the Adventist Church. More members would mean more tithe for a bigger, stronger North American Division. With so much good being done for the Adventist Church by 3ABN, we could certainly overlook one little victim here and there. That's not really too much to ask. We're not as bad as the Druids who actually threw children into a furnace as a sacrifice. So, we would be much better in the site of God than the Druids.

And what difference would it really make, anyway? The end justifies the means, doesn't it? Maybe, in the final analysis, there's nobody upstairs keeping score of anything, anyway. Maybe we just evolved over millions of years and, maybe, we would be depriving the future President of 3ABN of some earthly pleasure for no good reason.

If there's a problem, let God handle it, if there is One. It's better just to look the other way and live our lives filled with peace and tranquility. By our peace and tranquility, people will want what we have, and we will have the opportunity to explain about what it really means to be the Remnant.

So, as 3ABN Board members, we should do our fiduciary duty and we keep quiet about 3ABN.

Thank goodness, the General Conference is bright enough to see it this way, and is dragging its feet to do nothing. It's always encouraging to see when the brighter, calmer, business-minded heads in Silver Spring prevail. Why should we think for ourselves when we have these fine folks to do it for us? Should we have thoughts and opinions of our own? I think not! That only leads to trouble that could split the unity in our church -- something to be avoided at all cost.

Therefore, keeping quiet means more money, unity, tranquility, peacefulness, and happiness for God's Remnant. What more could any God-fearing denomination ask for?

Please either substitute the "House of Shelton" for "God's Remnant" or make it clear that this is a title the House of Shelton is applying to themselves... and "God-fearing denomination" really needs some adjustment..... Not exactly sure what to suggest here.....

But... all in all.... good job, Panama..... I surely hope that there are board members who "pass" on the "koolaid" that is pressed upon them at their soon-coming board meeting!

---

Posted by: Ed White Jan 12 2007, 09:48 AM

Wow, one doesn't need to look for dirt to dig up anymore, just crawl in your storm cellar with a periscope and WATCH it fall... wood structures & metal roofs with all the house of cards are not safe in the coming fallout.

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 12 2007, 12:34 PM

---

QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 12 2007, 08:38 AM)

.....  .....  .....

Good try, Pete.... but as "devil's advocate"..... even with your obvious literary genius and mastery of ironic mode.... somehow you've missed the mark here and there... and while overall you did very well.... you did leave out a few very key ingredients.... for example.....

You seem to forget that this is a "world wide" institution.... thus the NAD is hardly the one to be most greatly benefited by having this close knit cult in its midst.... in fact, since the NAD is already "rich and increased with goods", it will improve their spiritual standing if more of those excess funds are siphoned off to enrich the "House of Shelton" so as to bring them closer to the realization of their true condition.... that of imposter to the claim of being the remnant church when actually they are representatives of that apostate church called in scripture, Babylon....

Which brings up another point you missed.... that members around the world are "brought into" the church in name only.... actually their allegiance is to the "world wide organization" led by the "Anointed One" who alone represents "true Adventism". So tithes flow more into the coffers of the "House that Shelton built" than into denominational entities.... thus adding to the evidence of the great "blessings of God" that are being poured out on the "House of Shelton".

Thus little by little the "General Conference" is relegated to an inferior role to.... and even held hostage by.... the "Anointed One" who reigns in the kingdom of the "House of Shelton" cult.

What should we expect next? A stockpiling of arms as the "persecution complex" is steadily built and enhanced? A movement to a foreign land before the "koolaid" is administered as a test of loyalty to the cult followers?

I doubt it. Those are such obvious excesses.... and such a waste of resources which could be enjoyed by the rulers in the House of Shelton.... so why would they want to either stockpile ammunition with which to blow themselves up... or why would they want to kill off all the little goosies who are laying such beautiful golden eggs.

Especially when they have learned the secret formula which goes down ever so much more easily than koolaid, and which has the effect only of numbing the reasoning chambers of the mind, so that the eggs keep coming in and the things that golden eggs can buy keep on keeping the "happiness" hormones flowing..... and no one ever guesses that they have been victims of the rulers of the "House of Shelton".

And one more thought.... maybe two.... scroll down.....

Please either substitute the "House of Shelton" for "God's Remnant" or make it clear that this is a title the House of Shelton is applying to themselves... and "God-fearing denomination" really needs some adjustment..... Not exactly sure what to suggest here.....

But... all in all.... good job, Panama..... I surely hope that there are board members who "pass" on the "koolaid" that is pressed upon them at their soon-coming board meeting!

Thank you for your kind words, Watchbird. I'll try to hit a few more of those missing marks next time around and also make the necessary literary corrections as suggested.

As for the Kool-Aid, it is actually a competing brand named "Flavor Aid" that lives on in infamy and which the board members need to pass up. But you were so close you still get my official, unadulterated, Okey-Dokey.

Pete

---

Posted by: watchbird Jan 12 2007, 02:19 PM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 12 2007, 01:34 PM) □

Thank you for your kind words, Watchbird. I'll try to hit a few more of those missing marks next time around and also make the necessary literary corrections as suggested.

As for the Kool-Aid, it is actually a competing brand named "Flavor Aid" that lives on in infamy and which the board members need to pass up. But you were so close you still get my official, unadulterated, Okey-Dokey.

Pete

Thank you thankyou.... I accept your "Okey-Dokey" as a badge of honor. I have come to have great respect for your knowledge, insights, and wisdom.

"Flavor Aid" huh?

And how about "colored glasses"? So as to make sure everyone sees things in the same color as what the Anointed One sees them? Are they issued those along with the official "bored packet" as they come on campus?

Carry on.....

---

Posted by: wwjd Jan 12 2007, 10:31 PM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 12 2007, 07:01 AM) □

I'll bite.

Let's continue our theoretical "devil's advocate" idea a little further and see where it goes.

Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN.

I suppose if the highly-esteemed Tommy Shelton became President of 3ABN, as board members, we would give 100 percent of our fiduciary duty to Tommy. If Tommy, by chance, needed a bigger company car for parking along lonely country roads, it would be our jobs to make sure he got one.

And if, by chance, we ever saw the company car parked along those country roads, we, as 3ABN Board members, could feel really good knowing we were helping God's anointed to be happy. His happiness would be, indeed, our fiduciary duty.

A happy 3ABN President would mean many more souls were watching 3ABN and joining the Adventist Church. More members would mean more tithe for a bigger, stronger North American Division. With so much good being done for the Adventist Church by 3ABN, we could certainly overlook one little victim here and there. That's not really too much to ask. We're not as bad as the Druids who actually threw children into a furnace as a sacrifice. So, we would be much better in the site of God than the Druids.

And what difference would it really make, anyway? The end justifies the means, doesn't it? Maybe, in the final analysis, there's nobody upstairs keeping score of anything, anyway. Maybe we just evolved over millions of years and, maybe, we would be depriving the future President of 3ABN of some earthly pleasure for no good reason.

If there's a problem, let God handle it, if there is One. It's better just to look the other way and live our lives filled with peace and tranquility. By our peace and tranquility, people will want what we have, and we will have the opportunity to explain about what it really means to be the Remnant.

So, as 3ABN Board members, we should do our fiduciary duty and we keep quiet about 3ABN.

Thank goodness, the General Conference is bright enough to see it this way, and is dragging its feet to do nothing. It's always encouraging to see when the brighter, calmer, business-minded heads in Silver Spring prevail. Why should we think for ourselves when we have these fine folks to do it for us? Should we have thoughts and opinions of our own? I think not! That only leads to trouble that could split the unity in our church -- something to be avoided at all cost.

Therefore, keeping quiet means more money, unity, tranquility, peacefulness, and happiness for God's Remnant. What more could any God-fearing denomination ask for?

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

---

Posted by: princessdi Jan 12 2007, 10:34 PM

I mean they just dont' give up! Next!

---

Posted by: lookin4truth Jan 12 2007, 10:44 PM

---

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 11:31 PM) □

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

WWJD,

I don't know where the time frame of "a couple of weeks" came from, but I listened to Danny Shelton say many times, on the December 31st broadcast, that Tommy would be back. He said it over and over again.

The following information has already been posted, but the Tommy Shelton retirement program may be seen at <http://www.save3abn.com>.

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 12 2007, 10:44 PM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 11:31 PM) □

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

I was the one who originally posted the information and learned it from the production schedule posted in the control room at 3ABN. I wonder if that's close enough to be factual for you? But hey why don't you call the station yourself and ask if Tommy is scheduled to tape this month. 618-627-4651

---

Posted by: erik Jan 12 2007, 11:59 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 12 2007, 08:44 PM) □

I was the one who originally posted the information and learned it from the production schedule posted in the control room at 3ABN. I wonder if that's close enough to be factual for you? But hey why don't you call the station yourself and ask if Tommy is scheduled to tape this month. 618-627-4651

thank you tell the truth

Erik

---

Posted by: Observer Jan 13 2007, 05:24 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 09:31 PM) □

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

You do have a way with words. Or, perhaps you simply did not understand what was said? Here is what was said: "Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN. "

The truth is: someone mentioned that Tommy would return in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN. The statement is that someone said that. The statement is not that it will actually happen, which is what you seem to have implied.

Posted by: Clay Jan 13 2007, 09:02 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 10:31 PM) □

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

probably ask you to leave since its apparent you have eyes but do not see, you read yet don't comprehend.... so why don't you get ta steppin...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 13 2007, 02:24 PM

So have you called the station to find out for yourself? I'll give you the exact date when I have it. Then you can pop by the production center if you feel the need.

Posted by: wwjd Jan 14 2007, 12:26 AM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 13 2007, 02:24 PM) □

So have you called the station to find out for yourself? I'll give you the exact date when I have it. Then you can pop by the production center if you feel the need.

Yes I did call. Just because I am so tired of someone said and heard I called the headquarters of 3ABN and ask if Tommy Shelton was coming on in the next few weeks as was stated. They said no. When I told them that I was told it was on the schedule they said could have been, but the schedules are made up usually, way in advance, and as far as they knew, he would not be there. now husband of the year, you said you posted it after seeing it at the 3abn facility. So, you are an employee? I have read some of your past posts and obviously you are against them. My question is "WHY ARE YOU THERE?" WHERE IS YOUR INTEGRITY IN ACCEPTING A PAYCHECK FROM THEM WHILE TALKING BEHIND THEIR BACKS? If you claim to be a christian, how could you be that deceitful? I don't have to ask "what would Jesus do" in this instance. We all know the heartache he would feel about deceit and disloyalty.

QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 09:02 AM) □

probably ask you to leave since its apparent you have eyes but do not see, you read yet don't comprehend.... so why don't you get ta steppin...

To say that your answer is probably what Jesus would do is at a minimum disrespectful to him and at a maximum it borders on blasphemy. Jesus would never tell anyone to leave in the manner that you just did.

QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 13 2007, 05:24 AM) □

You do have a way with words. Or, perhaps you simply did not understand what was said? Here is what was said: "Someone mentioned that Tommy would be returning in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN. "

The truth is: someone mentioned that Tommy would return in a few weeks to do some work at 3ABN. The statement is that someone said that. The statement is not that it will actually happen, which is what you seem to have implied.

Yes I understand what was said and husband of the year says he posted it after seeing it at 3abn. obviously he works there and accepts his paycheck but comes on here and talks behind their backs. Would you knowingly hire someone to work for you that would be that disloyal, much less give him credibility.

---

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 14 2007, 12:52 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 14 2007, 04:26 PM) □

Yes I did call. Just because I am so tired of someone said and heard I called the headquarters of 3ABN and ask if Tommy Shelton was coming on in the next few weeks as was stated. They said no.

So wwjd, you'd rather take notice of something that one of the "Shelton gang" told you, rather than something that another read on the notice board? Sounds rather like you have an axe to grind?

I believe that Clavin offered you some very sensible advise in a previous post.

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 14 2007, 01:57 AM

QUOTE(wwjd)

again, twice now I have seen "I heard" and "it appears" That Tommy Shelton will make an appearance in a couple of weeks. Where are you people getting this stuff? "I heard" and "it appears" and "someone said" does not the truth make. What would Jesus do?

WWJD, "an appearance" and "returning to 3ABN to work" are two very different things. You are not reading posts very carefully.

You ask, "Where are you people getting this stuff?"

If you go to that <http://www.save3abn.com> Web site and listen to Danny Shelton, Danny mentions Tommy returning. Well, that's what Danny says.

Danny says, "No, he's going to come...."

Therefore, your "What Would Jesus Do" comment doesn't even fit.

You shoot first, and then you ask questions later.

---

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 14 2007, 08:29 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 14 2007, 12:26 AM)

To say that your answer is probably what Jesus would do is at a minimum disrespectful to him and at a maximum it borders on blasphemy. Jesus would never tell anyone to leave in the manner that you just did.

I have always been taught that is disrespectful to our Lord to not capitalize any word that makes a direct reference to Him. Just an observation.

---

Posted by: lurker Jan 14 2007, 08:30 AM

wwjd, There are many dedicated Christians who work at 3ABN and who want to spread the gospel. Some of them are aware of things that grieve Christ going on there and they would like to see repentance and reform in these areas. There is a difference between blind obedience to the Shelton family or thinking that God can still use 3ABN.

---

Posted by: Pickle Jan 14 2007, 09:42 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 14 2007, 12:26 AM)

My question is "WHY ARE YOU THERE?" WHERE IS YOUR INTEGRITY IN ACCEPTING A PAYCHECK FROM THEM WHILE TALKING BEHIND THEIR BACKS? If you claim to be a christian, how could you be that deceitful? I don't have to ask "what would Jesus do" in this instance. We all know the heartache he would feel about deceit and disloyalty.

Well, WWJD?

Jesus was born into the Jewish nation, and even though He full well knew they were so wrong, He identified Himself as being their king to the very last day of His life.

Would you call Jesus deceitful and disloyal because He did not immediately separate Himself from them?

---

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 14 2007, 10:06 AM

QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 10:02 AM)

probably ask you to leave since its apparent you have eyes but do not see, you read yet don't comprehend.... so why don't you get ta steppin...

I do not profess to have as much 'spiritual discernment' as you all do but I do see arrogance, pride, presumption, and a lot of self-righteous from many on both sides of this issue... much of it from administrators of this board. So I will take Clay's advise and 'get ta steppin' and ask the powers to be over this site to remove my membership effective immediately. Thank you and I only hope and pray for the best for each of you.

---

Posted by: watchbird Jan 14 2007, 10:46 AM

---

QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 14 2007, 11:06 AM)

I do not profess to have as much 'spiritual discernment' as you all do but I do see arrogance, pride, presumption, and a lot of self-righteous from many on both sides of this issue... much of it from administrators of this board. So I will take Clay's advise and 'get ta steppin' and ask the powers to be over this site to remove my membership effective immediately. Thank you and I only hope and pray for the best for each of you.

You'll be back. And with a little "eyesalve" some earnest effort on your part you could improve both your "spiritual discernment" and your eyesight by carefully paying attention to what various ones here have to say. And "spiritual discernment" is a very good .... and necessary.... faculty to develop... if you are really sincere about the message of your chosen handle.

If you would start from the beginning a lot would be come more clear than by merely trying to keep up with current postings.

---

Posted by: Clay Jan 14 2007, 11:08 AM

---

QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 14 2007, 10:06 AM)

I do not profess to have as much 'spiritual discernment' as you all do but I do see arrogance, pride, presumption, and a lot of self-righteous from many on both sides of this issue... much of it from administrators of this board. So I will take Clay's advise and 'get ta steppin' and ask the powers to be over this site to remove my membership effective immediately. Thank you and I only hope and pray for the best for each of you.

we don't remove memberships.... you stop visiting and you are no longer here....

---

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 14 2007, 12:26 AM)

Yes I did call. Just because I am so tired of someone said and heard I called the headquarters of 3ABN and ask if Tommy Shelton was coming on in the next few weeks as was stated. They said no. When I told them that I was told it was on the schedule they said could have been, but the schedules are made up usually, way in advance, and as far as they knew, he would not be there. now husband of the year, you said you posted it after seeing it at the 3abn facility. So, you are an employee? I have read some of your past posts and obviously you are against them. My question is "WHY ARE YOU THERE?" WHERE IS YOUR INTEGRITY IN ACCEPTING A PAYCHECK FROM THEM WHILE TALKING BEHIND THEIR BACKS? If you claim to be a christian, how could you be that deceitful? I don't have to ask "what would Jesus do" in this instance. We all know the heartache he would feel about deceit and disloyalty.

To say that your answer is probably what Jesus would do is at a minimum disrespectful to him and at a maximum it borders on blasphemy. Jesus would never tell anyone to leave in the manner that you just did.

Yes I understand what was said and husband of the year says he posted it after seeing it at 3abn. obviously he works there and accepts his paycheck but comes on here and talks behind their backs. Would you knowingly hire someone to work for you that would be that disloyal, much less give him credibility.

save the indignation I am not impressed... what would have been impressive is if you had come here, read all the info provided from the very beginning of this saga, then posted some intelligent questions.... however you chose to jump in without the background info and spout off... what would Jesus do? He would have known the context of the discussion something you didn't do...

BSDA isn't for everyone, you don't like what you read here, you have a choice.... step on...

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 14 2007, 11:30 AM

Well WWJD,

I shouldn't be suprised that you were lied to...or perhaps his session will suddenly be canceled when I get back on Monday.

The schedules that I refered to are NOT made that far in advance. I guess we'll see if he comes back or not. Oh wait, I'll see if he comes back or not, since I have first-hand information. You'll have to hear it second-hand, that is, if you decide to stick around.

As a second note, I love 3ABN!! That is why I stay. Just becuae there are a few people that are using the ministry for their own purposes doesn't mean that it's a complete waste. If you read all the posts here, you would find out that it is to those few people that I speak against, not 3ABN.

You continually ask "what would Jesus do." Well, as I remember, He spoke out against all the things that are happening at 3ABN. I suspect He would marched right up to the 3ABN doors and preach into the ears in power until being removed by force. That's what I suspect He'd do. So try not to throw that question around where it really doesn't fit.

---

Posted by: inga Jan 14 2007, 12:18 PM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 14 2007, 01:26 AM) □

Yes I did call. Just because I am so tired of someone said and heard I called the headquarters of 3ABN and ask if Tommy Shelton was coming on in the next few weeks as was stated. They said no. When I told them that I was told it was on the schedule they said could have been, but the schedules are made up usually, way in advance, and as far as they knew, he would not be there.

WWID, for starters, it seems you probably asked the wrong question, and both what HOTY wrote and what they told you could be correct.

HOTY posted this on Jan 12:

QUOTE

I was the one who orignally posted the information and learned it from the production schedule posted in the control room at 3ABN. ...
But hey why don't you call the station yourself and ask if Tommy is scheduled to tape this month.
618-627-4651

So the answer you got does not negate what HOTY said. Whoever answered you could be technically correct while leaving the wrong impression ...

Being "scheduled to tape" is not the same thing as "coming on" the air in the next few weeks. The taping likely happens a bit ahead of the actual "on air" time, and the taping might not even be for "on-air" time, but for a music CD to be sold. Perhaps HOTY can clarify this further. However, as it reads, there's not necessarily a conflict ...

It demonstrates that you aren't all that careful with distinguishing between your interpretation and the actually stated details. And, in this case, that presents a huge problem and makes your accusations rather far off the mark.

QUOTE

now husband of the year, you said you posted it after seeing it at the 3abn facility. So, you are an employee? I have read some of your past posts and obviously you are against them. My question is "WHY ARE YOU THERE?" WHERE IS YOUR INTEGRITY IN ACCEPTING A PAYCHECK FROM THEM WHILE TALKING BEHIND THEIR BACKS? If you claim to be a christian, how could you be that deceitful? I don't have to ask "what would Jesus do" in this instance. We all know the heartache he would feel about deceit and disloyalty.

WWID, you are making some major assumptions based on your thoughts. You are judging 3ABN employees as being disloyal and deceitful when they disapprove of the actions of Dan Shelton and some other administrators as well as Tommy Shelton who appears as an Adventist when he is not -- not to mention being accused of child molesting numerous times.

Tell me, WWID, would I be disloyal to my church if I faithfully followed the teaching of the church but disapproved of our conference president embezzling funds and our conference secretary molesting children?

Would I be disloyal to my church if I did my utmost to ensure that these criminals were brought to justice so that they could no longer be an ugly stain on the cause of God?

When you judge 3ABN employees as "disloyal" and "deceitful" you are climbing on the throne of God to judge the condition of their hearts. I am not speculating when I say that you are breaking the first commandment in so doing, because I'm going by your explicit statement, rather than speculating what's in your heart.

QUOTE

To say that your answer is probably what Jesus would do is at a minimum disrespectful to him and at a maximum it borders on blasphemy. Jesus would never tell anyone to leave in the manner that you just did.

I wouldn't be so sure. You judge yourself to be His faithful representative, and you assume he would not ask you to leave. But Christ Himself made a whip of cords and drove certain people out of the temple. Did Clay come after you with a whip?

Of course, all depends on who you are really most like -- the children who came in to hear Jesus or the folks he just drove out. I can't judge that ...

QUOTE

Yes I understand what was said and husband of the year says he posted it after seeing it at 3abn. obviously he works there and accepts his paycheck but comes on here and talks behind their backs. Would you knowingly hire someone to work for you that would be that disloyal, much less give him credibility.

You are assuming that 3ABN is the personal property of Dan Shelton, and, of course, he has claimed that. Evidence also points in that direction. But that is not what it is advertised to be. Most folks who work there do so because they believe the advertised purpose of 3ABN which is to be a ministry for Christ. They are loyal to that purpose, even if they are not loyal to those who falsely use the name of Christ for their personal benefit.

H'mm ... you do sound so very much like certain individuals who are the subjects of posts here ... At the minimum, you've been taken in by their propaganda ...

If it is only the latter, I pray that the scales may fall off your eyes. So far, it is evident that you understand little, if anything, of what has been posted here.

---

Posted by: inga Jan 14 2007, 12:38 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 14 2007, 12:30 PM) □

You continually ask "what would Jesus do." Well, as I remember, He spoke out against all the things that are happening at 3ABN. I suspect He would marched right up to the 3ABN doors and preach into the ears in power until being removed by force.

Well, HOTY, I'll tell you what I think Jesus would do ..

I think He'd skip all the preaching -- as He did when He drove the merchants out of the temple court. He would stride in and just look at folks (with or without that whip), and they would flee in terror from the presence of the divine Judge.

That's what I think He'd do ...

WWID had best not keep asking us what Jesus would do, because it surely doesn't support WWID's premise ..

---

Posted by: roxe Jan 14 2007, 07:57 PM

QUOTE(inga @ Jan 14 2007, 11:38 AM) □

He would stride in and just look at folks (with or without that whip), and they would flee in terror from the presence of the divine Judge.

not only would they flee, they'd be yelling for the rocks and mountains

Illinois probably has lots of rocks; - but mountains??

---

Posted by: wwjd Jan 15 2007, 10:34 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 14 2007, 11:30 AM) □

As a second note, I love 3ABN!! That is why I stay. Just because there are a few people that are using the ministry for their own purposes doesn't mean that it's a complete waste. If you read all the posts here, you would find out that it is to those few people that I speak against, not 3ABN.

HOTY. Can you not see When you trash the leaders and what you think is going on there, You Are trashing the ministry itself. When people read what you are writing, You could very well be causing the ministry to lose spiritual and financial support as well as, losing validity all the way around. When you paint the picture that you paint, you are indeed a part of tearing down 3abn, not just the leadership. Let me paint a scenerio... If you and people like you could spread "your gospel" and get enough believers to withdraw their financial support, then God forbid, maybe the ministry would fall. Then you and many many others would be out of job and a paycheck and you yourself, in a small way, would be partially responsible. You love 3ABN? We do not purposely hurt those we love. Now with that said I will go on to say this: I've appreciated the positive comments of those who want fairness shown on this web-site. As I've stated, I don't have time to be on here often, so won't be addressing every negative or positive comment from now on. I have a life and don't intend to spend any more time than God directs in speaking my mind. I've seen and heard enough to know the spirit of this web-site concerning 3ABN. There has been enough judgmentalism to last a life-time, and most spirit-filled Christians who have come on here to see what's going on have quit looking at it because of the slander and one-sided prejudice.

My purpose has been, and still is, only to ask for fairness to be shown to the 3ABN family who have been such a blessing to me, though I'm not a SDA. I know they have encouraged and up-lifted millions around the world. No one is faultless, but isn't that why we all need the Saviour and need to depend on Him daily? The compassionate, loving spirit of a person --today-- is what convinces Christians and sinners alike of where they are in relationship to Christ. Our confessed sins--- God has forgotten---too bad all professed Christians aren't like that—a Spirit-led Christian is.

Anyone could find bad in everyone if that's what you decide to dig around for. Why not dig around for some good in these people, or are you afraid you might find it? 3ABN couldn't have accomplished all the good they have if these leaders hadn't had the spirit of faith and love. Of course, Satan hates any one who loves, because God is Love and Satan knows his time is short to deceive and destroy all he can. We all have a daily choice---God's spirit or Satan's spirit.

The comments already made about what I've said only proved the goal to tear apart anything that's good or anyone who stands for truth and fairness.

You haven't discouraged me in the least—you've just validated your own spirit. You can think and say what you want about me, but what really matters is that I and God know I'm doing all I know to do to live a Christian life. I expected to be attacked in the same vulture-like way others have been attacked who are standing for right. Mending broken people is a worthy, God inspired goal for us all and I want God to use me for that purpose. Why would any of you attempt to tear that spirit and ministry apart with your slander and your unfair, half-truths? I know you're unfair because you've said nothing good about anyone at 3ABN. I wouldn't have to know them personally or know all about their past to know how ridiculously unfair you've been. Why aren't you looking for some good?

Any Scripture that I quoted to you was for the purpose of restoration and a turning away from judging others. I wouldn't want to use Scripture as a put-down in any way or trying to prove I'm right and you're wrong. Can't you see the real enemy is Satan in all of this? But, if you continue to allow him to work his spirit through you, not even God can help you, as Satan will have won in his deceptive tricks he tries on all of us. I see the spirit here as similar to the spirit Saul had when he persecuted the born again Christians in his day. He was convinced by the spirit of Satan that he was doing the work of God and was zealous for his cause, even putting Christians in jail,-- until God confronted him. I am still praying that God will open the eyes of the accusers and those reading all of this, that He has a plan for their life. A plan to build others up and show them how much God loves each of us, that He loves us all equally and is more than willing to forgive.

I'll leave you with this Scripture and hope it will be an encouragement to all who read it: Jeremiah 29:11 -"For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

---

Posted by: princessdi Jan 15 2007, 10:47 PM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 15 2007, 08:34 PM) □

HOTY. Can you not see When you trash the leaders and what you think is going on there, You Are trashing the ministry itself. When people read what you are writing, You could very well be causing the ministry to lose spiritual and financial support as well as, losing validity all the way around. When you paint the picture that you paint, you are indeed a part of tearing down 3abn, not just the leadership. Let me paint a scenerio... If you and people like you could spread "your gospel" and get enough believers to withdraw their finacial support, then God forbid, maybe the ministry would fall. Then you and many many others would be out of job and a paycheck and you yourself, in a small way, would be partially responsible. You love 3ABN? We do not purposely hurt those we love. Now with that said I will go on to say this: I've appreciated the positive comments of those who want fairness shown on this web-site. As I've stated, I don't have time to be on here often, so won't be addressing every negative or positive comment from now on. I have a life and don't intend to spend any more time than God directs in speaking my mind. I've seen and heard enough to know the spirit of this web-site concerning 3ABN. There has been enough judgmentalism to last a life-time, and most spirit-filled Christians who have come on here to see what's going on have quit looking at it because of the slander and one-sided prejudice.

I don't buy this. God uses faulty man all the time. If the ministry is of God it will survive. He is to be the ultimate leader at 3ABN. 3ABN can still be a blessing to those whowatch. Jesus did not destroy the system as the jewish leaders had it, but i remember Him calling them, in public, vipers, and a whole lot of not so nice name, and then I remember something about Him turning over a few tables in the temple. He never his His disdain for the way the leaders were rrunning the church. He continued to attend, follow the laws, and teach, on occassion. However, He left that system in tact. True followers of Jesus separated from that body

My purpose has been, and still is, only to ask for fairness to be shown to the 3ABN famly who have been such a blessing to me, though I'm not a SDA. I know they have encouraged and up-lifted millions around the world. No one is faultless, but isn't that why we all need the Saviour and need to depend on Him daily? The compassionate, loving spirit of a person --today-- is what convinces Christians and sinners alike of where they are in relationship to Christ. Our confessed sins--- God has forgotten---too bad all professed Christians aren't like that—a Spirit-led Christian is. Anyone could find bad in everyone if that's what you decide to dig around for. Why not dig around for some good in these people, or are you afraid you might find it? 3ABN couldn't have accomplished all the good they have if these leaders hadn't had the spirit of faith and love. Of course, Satan hates any one who loves, because God is Love and Satan knows his time is short to deceive and destroy all he can. We all have a daily choice---God's spirit or Satan's spirit. The comments already made about what I've said only proved the goal to tear apart anything that's good or anyone who stands for truth and fairness.

You haven't discouraged me in the least—you've just validated your own spirit. You can think and say what you want about me, but what really matters is that I and God know I'm doing all I know to do to live a Christian life. I expected to be attacked in the same vulture-like way others have been attacked who are standing for right. Mending broken people is a worthy, God inspired goal for us all and I want God to use me for that purpose. Why would any of you attempt to tear that spirit and ministry apart with your slander and your unfair, half-truths? I know you're unfair because you've said nothing good about anyone at 3ABN. I wouldn't have to know them personally or know all about their past to know how ridiculously unfair you've been. Why aren't you looking for some good?

Yet you don't seem to have a problem with what Danny and 3ABN did to Linda. Accusing her os a sin that basically doesn't exist. You don't seem to have any problem with the testimony of those who have been hurt by the members of this family and 4ABN leadership. As long as your blessing is coming through, right?

Any Scripture that I quoted to you was for the purpose of restoration and a turning away from judging others. I wouldn't want to use Scripture as a put-down in any way or trying to prove I'm right and you're wrong. Can't you see the real enemy is Satan in all of this? But, if you continue to allow him to work his spirit through you, not even God can help you, as Satan will have won in his deceptive tricks he tries on all of us. I see the spirit here as similar to the spirit Saul had when he persecuted the born again Christians in his day. He was convinced by the spirit of Satan that he was doing the work of God and was zealous for his cause, even putting Christians in jail,-- until God confronted him. I am still praying that God will open the eyes of the accusers and those reading all of this, that He has a plan for their life. A plan to build others up and show them how much God loves each of us, that He loves us all equally and is more than willing to forgive.

I'll leave you with this Scripture and hope it will be an encouragement to all who read it: Jeremiah 29:11 --"For I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 12:03 AM

WWJD,

It sounds like everything that's happening at 3ABN is ok to you unless people know about it and quite frankly that's just ridiculous. Let's all turn a blind eye and hope that everything works out well in the end. Well, that's what's gotten us all here in the first place. There are too many hands in the pot figuring that it's okay to take a little here and there since they've done such a good work through 3ABN. Come on, WWJD! Why don't you open up your pocketbook and let the administrators that be delve in and take what they think they deserve...or better yet, why don't you drop off your children for a while?

So you want me to talk about the good at 3ABN, huh? It's a wonderful ministry. It's bringing Jesus Christ to people who desperately need it. And it's the only reason I stay, because even though there are a select few that are running the ministry into the ground, there are 50 times that amount that are there to work for God. Most of the people I have met in my very long career there are devout Christian people who've taught me much. I love them dearly. I have become part of their family and they mine. But it is not to them that this message board was created. I believe that the people who write on this board, many of them being people that I had once worked along side, write hoping that eyes will be opened. There is a change that is needed, WWJD, and I'm sorry that you can't see it.

---

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 16 2007, 12:08 AM

[

---

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 15 2007, 10:34 PM)

I don't have time to be on here often, so won't be addressing every negative or positive comment from now on. I have a life and don't intend to spend any more time than God directs in speaking my mind.

Hhhmmm... 12 posts in five days...

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 12:21 AM

QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 15 2007, 10:08 PM)

[
Hhhmmm... 12 posts in five days...

rofl well said snoopy!  rofl

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 15 2007, 10:03 PM)

WWJD,

It sounds like everything that's happening at 3ABN is ok to you unless people know about it and quite frankly that's just ridiculous. Let's all turn a blind eye and hope that everything works out well in the end. Well, that's what's gotten us all here in the first place. There are too many hands in the pot figuring that it's okay to take a little here and there since they've done such a good work through 3ABN. Come on, WWJD! Why don't you open up your pocketbook and let the administrators that be delve in and take what they think they deserve...or better yet, why don't you drop off your children for a while?

So you want me to talk about the good at 3ABN, huh? It's a wonderful ministry. It's bringing Jesus Christ to people who desperately need it. And it's the only reason I stay, because even though there are a select few that are running the ministry into the ground, there are 50 times that amount that are there to work for God. Most of the people I have met in my very long career there are devout Christian people who've taught me much. I love them dearly. I have become part of their family and they mine. But it is not to them that this message board was created. I believe that the people who write on this board, many of them being people that I had once worked along side, write hoping that eyes will be opened. [b]There is a change that is needed, WWJD, and I'm sorry that you can't see it.[/b]

Oh, I think WWJD see's it alright....why do you think he/she (or they) are here spinning their web? They know exactly what they are doing and why. Of course, we already know this. Don't let them get you too upset (I know you aren't because you have real conviction in your heart), soon they will see that their desperate attempt to keep things status quo is just not going to work anymore. Too much pain gone round now, people are not going to be fooled any longer. God has given them ample time to get it right, and now it's time to move on. I think they see (and feel) the writing on the wall. Keep your chin up HOTY - you've done well in Jesus sight, He knows your motives.

Posted by: Clay Jan 16 2007, 10:38 AM

QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 16 2007, 12:08 AM) □

[
Hhhmmm... 12 posts in five days...

yanno... you caught that one too....

Posted by: Johann Jan 16 2007, 11:09 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 16 2007, 06:34 AM) □

HOTY. Can you not see When you trash the leaders and what you think is going on there, You Are trashing the ministry itself.
-----

So if you think the president of USA is bringing the country into the gutter, you must not speak out because then you are spaking out against America.

If you think your governor is doing poorly in your state, you must not let anybody know how you feel about it, because it would cause your state to fail.

And here I thought America is a land of freedom where people speaking out against the tyranny in their own countries found a refuge, where they had a freedom of speech guarateed by the constitution. Now all of that is changed according to your doctrine, because you tell us that Jesus would never do such a thing!

Are your roots in a tyranny that you hate to get out of?

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 16 2007, 12:08 PM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 15 2007, 11:34 PM) □

Can you not see When you trash the leaders and what you think is going on there, You Are trashing the ministry itself.

So John the baptist was trashing the ministry itself when he called the pharisees and sadducees out in matthew chapter 3?

So Jesus was trashing the ministry itself when He said in matthew 23:

Mat 23:13-33 But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. (14) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows' houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation. (15) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves. (16) Woe unto you, ye blind guides, which say, Whosoever shall swear by the temple, it is nothing; but whosoever shall swear by the gold of the temple, he is a debtor! (17) Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gold, or the temple that sanctifieth the gold? (18) And, Whosoever shall swear by the altar, it is nothing; but whosoever sweareth by the gift that is upon it, he is guilty. (19) Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or the altar that sanctifieth the gift (20) Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon. (21) And whoso shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein. (22) And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon. (23) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. (24) Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel. (25) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess. (26) Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also. (27) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchers, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness. (28) Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity. (29) Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchers of the righteous, (30) And say, If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets. (31) Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves, that ye are the children of them which killed the prophets. (32) Fill ye up then the measure of your fathers. (33) Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?

Should Peter have had a private meeting with Ananias and Sapphira instead of calling them out before the church?

So Martin Luther was trashing the ministry itself when he nailed his 95 theses to the cathedral door?

How about Melancthon and Wycliffe and Hus and Zwingli and Calvin? Should they have all kept their peace rather than make their complaint about excesses occurring in the name of God?

The one person I can find in scripture who took the approach you suggest was Eli, who refused to rebuke his sons... and we know how that worked out for him and them.

There's a lesson in that for you, if you have ears to hear...

In His service,
Mr. J

---

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 12:29 PM

Go on and preach it, Elder!!!!

---

Posted by: Aunt B Jan 16 2007, 02:12 PM

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 06:45 PM

QUOTE(Aunt B @ Jan 16 2007, 03:12 PM) □

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B

Aunt B, in one simple statement you have summed up the entire controversy in regard to the situation at 3ABN and I will repeat it again:

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 07:41 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 05:45 PM) □

□ -->QUOTE(Aunt B @ Jan 16 2007, 03:12 PM) □<!--quotec-->

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B

Aunt B, in one simple statement you have summed up the entire controversy in regard to the situation at 3ABN and I will repeat it again:

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B, are these your own words? Wow! That belongs on T-shirts or at least should have its own topic here! It would be great to have it as the motto on the save3abn website. Would you mind if we suggest that to Gailon?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 08:51 PM

Today's traitor is tomorrow's patriot.

Case in point...followers of Napoleon. Loyalists one day, traitors, then loyalists again, then traitors. So what we have here is really a debate about time isn't it? Perhaps when those in power at 3ABN are out, it is you that will be the traitor, WWJD, and me the loyalist?[size=2]

Posted by: Aunt B Jan 16 2007, 09:58 PM

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 16 2007, 08:41 PM) □

Aunt B, are these your own words? Wow! That belongs on T-shirts or at least should have its own topic here! It would be great to have it as the motto on the save3abn website. Would you mind if we suggest that to Gailon?

Yes, these are my own words, and you may put them wherever you like. Just kinda came to me as I was reading... □

Aunt B

Posted by: Noahswife Jan 17 2007, 02:49 PM

□ -->QUOTE(Aunt B @ Jan 16 2007, 03:12 PM) □<!--quotec-->

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B
[/quote]

I agree this is well said and sums up many of the various threads regarding 3abn.

In addition, it is exactly why after learning of these events at 3abn a few months ago and reading about the circumstances surrounding the contract that LS signed, I saw big red flags that made me wonder what was going on.

This does not imply the contract was illegal despite the pressure Linda was under to sign it. The concept of duress has a very high standard (as well it should have to keep people from getting out of contracts because they do not like the results). With Linda's age and work experience I don't think the argument would fly that she did not exercise free will (no matter how naive she might have been).

Here is the definition of duress on the web....

<http://www.lectlaw.com/def/d082.htm>

Although not exactly applicable, the quote also makes me think about the question of how much money was paid for the 10 commandment book that was passed out. I do not question the author's right to be paid for his or her work. What I do question is the ethics of asking someone like my mother who lives on a fixed income and has no savings after working in SDA institutions and putting her kids educations and tithing first to sacrifice further to support the book's distribution without honestly explaining Mr. Shelton would be profiting due to the sheer volume of books being purchased. Did 3abn explain this?

nw

Posted by: Johann Jan 17 2007, 03:27 PM

QUOTE(Noahswife @ Jan 17 2007, 10:49 PM)

Here is the definition of duress on the web....

<http://www.lectlaw.com/def/d082.htm>

That website is an eye-opener, Ms Noahswife! It really great to see how you also are searching for the truth in this matter. The truth shall make you free, has been Linda's great comfort through the past three years of duress. Her devotion and commitment and trust in the Lord has been a great encouragement to me, as it was to my wife, Irmgard, until she passed away in 2005. It was great to have Linda there at her funeral where she got up and expressed her appreciation because Irmgard had neverer failed her as a friend. I know Linda wants to express her great appreciation to all of you who are sarching for the real truth in this matter.

Posted by: Rosyroi Jan 17 2007, 11:43 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 04:45 PM)

-->QUOTE(Aunt B @ Jan 16 2007, 03:12 PM)

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Aunt B

Aunt B, in one simple statement you have summed up the entire controversy in regard to the situation at 3ABN and I will repeat it again:

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

AMEN!! AMEN!!! AMEN!!! AMEN!!! AMEN!!!