BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Why The Silence?

Posted by: Uncle Sam Oct 3 2006, 12:36 PM

Where has everyone gone? I have been waiting for something to happen and it is so silent????

If you have something on your mind by all means share. Maybe there are no new updates. One thing is certain, folk here are more than willing to speak their minds when they have something to say.

Well, everything that can be said has been said and Danny's still in power and 3ABN is still in tact...so, we're right back where we started, right?

Not at all. when we started we were few in number and very few things had been said. Now we are much greater in number and a LOT more things have been said.

There are many unknowns. And we all get tired of the wait. But we still put our trust in the Lord and trust that He will indeed bring justice for the oppressed and release for the captives. What is He waiting for? I don't know..... though there are several things that I suspect.

Meanwhile, it won't hurt for us to take a bit of a breather... but let's not forget either the victims that we know about and that far greater number that stand in the shadows out of sight and wait wearily for their deliverance, exhonoration, vindication..... and even restitution and restoration of what they have lost.

While we are waiting, I'm wondering if there are those who would like to add their stories to the ones that have already been told. If so, perhaps this would be a good thread for them to do it in.

You are so right. There are those who have tried to say that all of this came to nothing and whatnot. My guess is that they are part of the 3ABN and want people to go away thinking it has all been told. The silence does not mean that there is nothing more coming. It is the calm before the storm hits. Then that which we have gathered to witness will come forth in its fury.

Now I do not know what is coming, but we have been shown present truths in the past of the inner workings that go on behind closed doors and we can expect to learn more. Those who leave now and feel that all has been told are simply jumping out of the frying pan . . . and into the fire reserved for the hosts watchbird mentioned.

In the meantime, we can take a breather, but let us give thanks for the knowledge we have been given to this date.

"For yet a little while, and that that shall come will come, and will not tarry."

Or, another possiblity is that this is God's will. I wouldn't for a minute attempt to minimize anyones personal pain - we have all been there to some degree or another. However, you make this sound more like GitMo than the independent ministry of 3ABN, which regardless of which side of the debate you fall on has reached many and brought them to the foot of the cross. Your hyperbole tries to paint a picture of Stalin-like scorched earth policy.

Maybe the private investigator from the east coast hired by Linda hasn't been able to put together a case - maybe there isn't anything to the rumors. There are many possibilities and only half of them get "air time" here. The assumption here seems to be that God will bring down either Danny or 3ABN altogether, a lot of assuming to know what God sees, wants, and will do. Is it possible that in the end He will make a decision that makes someone unhappy - absolutely, I expect it. The reason I expect it is because we as human beings want what we want and on occasion lose perspective and there by severe our belief that God is in charge. After all, if He were doing what was "right" it would match up with what I think should happen. We all fall into that mindset during our sanctification process (Mrs. W. said, after all, that that is a process that takes a life time).

I know I invite the wrath of the jilted and legitimately pained with this comment - but it is none-the-less true. God IS in charge and He will do all that needs doing in the process of making sure that all on the face of the earth have the chance to hear His word and experience His love. We can not force our will, our need for retribution, and at worst our vengence on God - He will not accept it and will focus on His mission . . . to save all of mankind that He can. His is a plan for all of us and not for me or you alone. I can not force my needs, wants, desires, ideas on God.

Maybe that old cliché (oh, how I hate clichés) is applicable - "Let go and let God" . . .

Then again maybe I am a deluded fool - in which case, move on to the next post.

Apparently, but not, quite, actually... the latest information reaching me is that independent professional investigating has been looking into the 3ABN Saga and is gathering quite a bit of first-hand information. The information is getting more wide spread, and goes deeper than first thought, and, "gets stinkier by the day". (quote).

I was JUST told that "within a month" we can expect to receive (what is being called) a "petition". To go to many, many emails. It will make known what WE have discovered right here in this forum. Many of the relatively-obscure or little-known items about 3ABN have "fallen off" the forum threads recently, for lack of activity or "time-expired"(?). However, many of the most heinous reports that were on the forum have been verified and are expected to be included in the upcoming "petition".

People are STILL coming forward to be interviewed. They relate their own horrible experiences, just as we have seen here.

Investigation into each person who is in a leadership position at 3ABN is actually taking place. That which is being learned IS appalling. While the investigation continues ("in progress") it is not good to be more specific just yet.

Now, just as we have thought...

As a result of the most recent investigation, the "vindication" of the former 3ABN Vice President (3ABNVP) was expected to be made available by now. That was what you have been anticipating but didn't know that's what it was/is. BUT, because of the scope of information being uncovered, there is so much MORE coming to light, not about her, but about the "principal players" i.e. the leadership of 3ABN, that it is taking more time to do the job. At least in terms of what the masses need to know, it continues to grow.

One of the first and most encouraging investigations has been the one that was done "looking into the honesty and truthfulness of the former Vice President and Co-Founder of 3ABN". At-length interviews (interrogation) using professional interrogating techniques, have revealed no untruthfulness in anything she has said. If you have ever seen someone wiggle and squirm, stammer and stutter during questioning then you know what has been going on at 3ABN But not by Linda Shelton. Honest and truthful people can't be "tripped up". And Linda Shelton passed the truthfulness test "with flying colors".

It further validates that her conduct should never have come into question". In short, she did not commit "spiritual adultery". She did not commit "actual adultery". She was faithful to her vows in her marriage to the President of 3ABN. It is expected to be made very clear in the upcoming "petition".

As someone here has said, .."There is a rumbling" just over the horizon...

Quiet anticipation ... almost holding our breaths.

The sad truth is just around the corner, it really IS ...

(Editorial comment:

Some who will hear what is coming will be devastated. It may test their faith. It will be painful. It is very far reaching. Upon hearing it some will rejoice. Some will weep. Some will gasp. Some will pray. And some will do all of the above. Yet, for some there likely will be, at first, shock, disbelief, maybe some will panic(not a typo). But, please let's all remember that God loves each one involved in the 3ABN Saga. Not for what they have done. Not because they have worked at 3ABN, But because He still loves each one. There will be suffering and gnashing of teeth, maybe ranting and raving, but, let's not rejoice in their suffering, for surely it is coming sooner than they think.

Let's pray that each one of them will repent, turn from their ways, be contrite, confess, make restitution, and "be there with Jesus" when the "Great Controversy between Christ and Satan" is ended.

We can hope that "by not letting all this slip away" those involved at 3ABN WILL be able to be in Heaven and then to send a "Thank you" to BSDA for not "letting them get away with it after all at the peril of their souls".

Jesus died for EVERYONE. God is not willing that ANY should perish, but that ALL should repent."

We ALL do want what is best from God's point of view, don't we?

(ESPECIALLY Pray for "healing justice" for the hearts of "the children".

Or maybe you are attempting to confuse issues by making it appear that we cannot know the difference between right and wrong..... and therefore cannot have any idea what God's will is in the situations surrounding the 3ABN Saga. Sorry fhb, but your conglomeration of clichés may sound erudite and even pious on a quick read .... too bad they neither fit the circumstances nor fit with each other.

Oh well..... I suppose you had to try. Too bad you couldn't have kept more in line with facts.

Oh well..... I suppose you had to try. Too bad you couldn't have kept more in line with facts.

I have no desire to confuse - I think you mistake an alternative view with a desire to "run interference" - I have no need to, nor would I waste my time to do such. I do believe there are disingenuous postings going on here designed to titillate and keep people "tuned in" in order to try and "increase the numbers." If, as you claim your case is true, it will play out just that way.

Watchbird, if nothing happens to 3ABN and it continues to thrive and reach people around the world, will you assume God has abandoned you? Will you be angry with Him for not bringinig down Danny and/or 3ABN? You assume that either or both will happen - what if it doesn't?

I am curious where you feel I insinuate (because you can only be assuming to be reading it between the lines since I have not said such explicitly) that you do not know right from wrong. I merely suggest that your emotional connection, the pain you feel - either personally or vicariously - may be clouding your view - it has happened to me in my life. I don't call into question your growing relationship with your God, nor do I question your sincerity - I only suggest that there is an alternative possibility, take it or leave it.

Can I portend to know God's will, only so much as I read in scripture that His will is to save mankind. Other than that is to say I know the particulars of His plan and can tell you that this or that is an act of God. Insurance companies claim to know the will of God because they include in their policies "acts of God." They can't determine what is an act of God and what is the result of the laws of nature He put into play at the beginning of the world and then again at the fall of man into a sinful existence. The truth is that we do not know His particulars - "I shall come as a thief in the night."

Facts in this case are sparse. As stated before I can not accept things such as "The Televangelist" or the "Unauthorized History" as irrefutable evidence. I will read the letters from Johan, Dr. Thompson, and "the doctor" with the filter that they are written by people who have an interest to defend - whether personal or institutional. You seem to demand that I believe you consonent and vowel - can't do that. Or, that I accept verbatim the "testimony" of the "offended" without the qualification that they may have an ax to grind. You assume a lot - and this leads me to believe that you view me and those who come here as being easily malleable and naive. Just as in the discussion about "tongues" or the validity of Mrs. White . . . each of us arrives at our current position from a process of integrity. I can not question your process with your God, nor can I question the process of Clay or Calvin or HOTY or sister or anyone else here - each of us work out our relationship with God prayerfully and personally.

In the end, God will have His way. It may look nothing like any of us have thought it might. The fact is, that we are merely mirrors that reflect the character of Him we have given our hearts to. That mirror will lead others to Him or not - it is after all a simple proposition.

fhb and pb, thank you for making my point even stronger. It is good to be able to express it "in other words". It has to be God's will. I know that what is happening IS God's will. There's no disputing that. God IS in charge. As you both so nicely point out, what we see and how we perceive it is based upon our own personal perspective. If we all stood in a straight line looking in the same direction we would each see it differently.

Of course it is not GitMo. Never could be. But it is a very serious matter, actually a bunch of serious matters. Who knows how it will come out in the end. Only God. And He wants us to remember that He loves each one of these souls. Not one of them will tell you that all is right with God. They still ask an interest in our prayers and we can keep them there.

As is now already becoming evident there will be a lot of hostility emanating when it does come out, whichever way it goes. As we all have seen in recent years, in the face of all evidence and proof, people will "walk" away from the consequences of their deeds.

IF that happens here, and we each have truly given the results to God, then we have to accept it as "done", (for now).

Truly I have no suggestion as to how to solve it. I stopped trying to tell God what to do years ago. What He does has become a mystery to me. How does solve things is way beyond my imagination, and by far so much better than what I wanted.

Thanks for the reminders, you guys ...

Beautifully put JM. We can only accept that God is in charge and that we aren't privy to all the details (and I would guess that that is a very good thing!).

Prayer and faith in the power of our God is what is needed. Thank God you and I don't have to solve it and that He will - I know I could never find a solution . . . Solomon I am not!

Won't it be wonderful to have all the mystery solved when it is finally all over and what we have to look forward to is a new world of perfection!

Some may know me... some not... but i have been around 3ABN for years. This story may not make since to anyone but i have to say it because it was interesting to me... I worked on Teen Pathway, Live, Today, and Up Close... many times. I have been to 3ABN tons and love the ministry. I have traveled all over the world working with addicts and families... people at risk. I have watch God work in ways that have silenced me and grown my faith.

but the 10 years or so that LS was there... she never talked with me off the set... how strange that seemed to me... as soon as the camera's came on we were best friends but when the lights were off she simply walked away. It may mean nothing ... it has always bothered me though Cheri, I thought that was you! Your testimony and work with the youth, the addicted and the downtrodden has been such an inspiration to me and many others. The need is so great. God bless you for being a willing vessel.

It's hard to know why you had that experience with LS. I wonder if there are others here who have had similar experiences with her. Perhaps Sister can provide some illumination.

Good evening to you Cheri!

Would you agree that someone who needed to be removed from the official 3ABN payroll for PR reasons was placed on a payroll that removed her from the official 3ABN payroll yet kept her in the 3ABN financial loop?

By the way Cheri, I have long admired you despite that little payroll thingy. You have done much for many in association with Danny despite the many things that are 180 degrees opposed to what you espouse. May your ministry do much good in spite of the wrong that is promoted and loved by the those who make Cheri Peters who she is to the world!

Who are you to make a statement like this - makes me wonder....do I really have to say it out loud that LINDA DIDN'T HIRE A PI FROM THE EAST COAST? Sounds like a testing of the crowd's response? I'm sure you know this....and to say it as though you know this to be true is a deep concern. Makes me really wonder about the other things you say....actually, I don't wonder, I know. You sound like DS who says things are fact when they are infact lies...hmm? Are you spending too much time "assuming" things as well?

By the way, Cheri, I really enjoy your contributions on 3ABN - especially your interviews. I know for sure that I have never heard Linda say one unkind or negative thing about you, if it matters.

Linda's a very fast walker, but so am I. When I saw her walking away, I walked behind her and talked, anyway. I didn't "read" her body language as rejection. But yes, she walks away. It was almost funny to see Dee Hilderbrand - in those high heels - walking behind Linda and trying to keep up. Linda would be wearing flats and walking faster than a wildfire going through a hayfield. Linda would be listening to Dee the whole time as Dee clopped along in those heels. How you women can do that I'll never know.

Later, when Linda saw me out in public, she would cross the room to say hello to me. She also said kind things about me to others. So, don't let it bother you. She did it to all of us and I know for sure it meant nothing.

No, Linda didn't hire anyone.

Another point of clarification.

There are at least 160 people working at 3ABN, in various locations, and I'm sure nobody here wants to "bring down 3ABN" so that they all lose their jobs, etc. The "bring down" comment originally surfaced in a someone's casual question, but has somehow taken on a life of its own, as though it's part of someone's agenda or goal.

Good evening to you Cheri!

Would you agree that someone who needed to be removed from the official 3ABN payroll for PR reasons was placed on a payroll that removed her from the official 3ABN payroll yet kept her in the 3ABN financial loop?

Hello Cheri, perhaps you would like to explain the above comment by Bear. We welcome your explanation. It should be quite interesting...

You sound like DS who says things are fact when they are infact lies...hmm? Are you spending too much time "assuming" things as well?

Hmmm... Every attorney learns in law school that one of the downfalls that will bring a lower down very quickly is the fallacy of assumed premise.

Is it possible that an assumed premise on the part of many Adventists is that when Danny says something, he is saying something that is backed by the the word of God, or indisputable proof? Is the indisputable credibility of Danny Shelton an assumed premise for many actions and assumptions that have destroyed the lives and reputations of many people? Have 3ABN board members and programmers, such as Nick Miller and yourself, fallen for this fallacy?

Could this assumed premise have anything to do with the fact that DannySelton/3ABN has done more than any other entity, including the SDA church, to spread SDA doctrine to the world? Is he not supporting and spreading your (Cheri Peters') philosophy to the world in a way the the SDA church itself cannot do?

Sister

I have no idea... but it's clear to me that whoever speaks up in this forum will get attack. I work for God ... who loves me and continues to heal me. I also feel passionately about helping those lost in addiction and dysfunction to see Jesus and chose recovery.

I believe the Holy Spirit works with us all to help us break free from all the junk that keeps us in bondage... our sin. And Jesus teaches us how to love rather than hate... it's the work of a life time. I feel so much hate in here that it scares me to even be here... i don't want to be caught up in it... i am not smart enough for sure i get support from a number of sources but have not been on anyone's payroll... except the ministry i founded... i am not sure what Bear is referring to... but wanted to set things straight before i say Good Bye and please take care of yourselves.

If anyone can tell me how to get my name off this site i would so appreciate it... i don't even want someone to be able to twist things. I really feel fear here ... and i know that my only motive is to follow God and be ready when He comes

No, I did not say you were lying. I merely said that it was an old lawyer's trick that is used to deceive.

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Oct 3 2006, 11:33 PM)

No, Linda didn't hire anyone.

Another point of clarification.

There are at least 160 people working at 3ABN, in various locations, and I'm sure nobody here wants to "bring down 3ABN" so that they all lose their jobs, etc. The "bring down" comment originally surfaced in a someone's casual question, but has somehow taken on a life of its own, as though it's part of someone's agenda or goal.

It probably should also be pointed out that whenever the "bring down 3abn" concept arose, it was in the context that Danny tightly identifies 3abn as "his baby" and declares that no one will "take his baby away from him". If this is true, and there is no way to get Danny and his cohorts out of 3abn, then the only way to solve the problem of Danny "representing" the SDA church would be to cut all ties with 3abn.

There may turn out to be no choice anyhow .... but again, this is a "wait and see" area. Meanwhile, we continue to probe around to try and find the true extent of the problems .... and to spread as much information as is legal and appropriate so as many as possible can be warned.

Just a small point, Ralph. I have been reading posts here since August and have noticed that many folks have put out their own opinions as well as suppositions. If only verifiable facts, as you request, were posted here, I'm afraid that the 3abn forum on BSDA would be rather small.

FHB, are you an old lawyer? □

Yes, God is in charge of His world. After all he created it. Could it be that Satan is striving to take charge just as he did with Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden? We really do not know the timespan of the battle that went on in Heaven before Satan was finally banned from Heaven forever. Could it be that Satan, for the time being, is in control of what is happening at 3ABN?. Is God beholding the results of this battle as He tries to regain the souls of those at 3ABN who have done much which could bring down the station that has meant so much to so many? Is God still striving to change their wrongs into a period of conversion and confession? But He will not wait forever. I am still waiting and praying for Danny and Co. to forsake their ways and let the world know what they have done and what they are doing so that 3ABN can still be a banner for God. But right now it seems that their time is short and we know that God knows the truth. I think that God is still tugging at their heartstrings to bring them around. Could it ever happen? Right now it doesn't seem likely.

No...you just made Linda Shelton human...and not a perfect saint as she is portrayed by some to most....human.

Now you're lying on folks, Sarah.. no one has presented Linda as a candidate for canonization... nor has any suggested she was without spot or blemish. If someone has reason to be 'anti-Danny' that does not make him 'pro-Linda' because many have issue with Danny for reasons that have nothing to do with Linda.

As for her reasons to not be off-camera friends with cheri4grace... isnt it a bit presumptuous of you to assume it's Linda's fault or some inherent flaw in her? You dont know either of them from a can of paint and have only one side of this to go on... so you are not in a position to truthfully make the claim you have here... it very well could be cheri4grace's fault as readily as it could be Linda's.

You don't know either way.

Some may know me... some not... but i have been around 3ABN for years. This story may not make since to anyone but i have to say it because it was interesting to me... I worked on Teen Pathway, Live, Today, and Up Close... many times. I have been to 3ABN tons and love the ministry. I have traveled all over the world working with addicts and families... people at risk. I have watch God work in ways that have silenced me and grown my faith. but the 10 years or so that LS was there... she never talked with me off the set... how strange that seemed to me... as soon as the camera's came on we were best friends but when the lights were off she simply walked away. It may mean nothing ... it has always bothered me though

I have seen you on Teenpathways and listened to your story about how you came off the streets and cilmbed your way to the top. Up until now I have greatly admired you and your story. But have you ever thought about all the responsibilities that the VP of Production of 3ABN could have had which gave her little time to stand around and talk? Besides, Linda has said herself that since she has gone through this turmoil that she has learned a lot about being more cordial and compassionate. I am surprised that your personal feelings about not being close with Linda offscreen should be brought forward now. Personal feelings of neglect of recognition just does not fit in with the persona I have admired on Teen Pathways. I guess that sometimes it just helps to tell others about hidden. deep seated feelings.

Her expressing them here also begs the question of whether she has expressed them to Linda...or ever even tried to... or if she just allowed resentment to fester once she felt slighted in this...

I am troubled that we have given too much quarter to those who would use this opportunity to support Danny Shelton and 3ABN. There are clear issues and raising questions against those who know what happened is a ploy of the enemy.

Yes, we can ask intelligent questions about who, when, where and whatnot, but we know where those stand who raise questions as to the higher criticism of whether this should be discussed at all. That simply leads to doubt and will not lead us to a constructive resolution of the current conflagration. We need to stop this criticism of who is right. It is like reading the bible and rooting for David instead of goliath. We all know that David was doing the Lord's will and we know now that Linda was doing the Lord's will. If you want goliath to win, just move on and start your own forum or whatever. We have no interest in seeing whatyou have to say.

Maybe the private investigator from the east coast hired by Linda hasn't been able to put together a case - maybe there isn't anything to the rumors.

I guess you didn't know that Linda did not "hire" the "Private Investigator" He (they) are independently working on this for reasons that have not been discussed in this forum yet.

Just so ya know....."he" is a "they". They had been asked by several parties to investigate specific issues since July 2004. They opted out, other than a cursory e-mail inquiry or two. The heat began in earnest in March 2006, following the re-marriage of Danny Shelton, and they again opted out. It was not until the arrival on August 21, 2006 at 4:30 pm on their fax machine of a signed copy of the Pastor Dryden letter that they began to informally investigate; And then someone else (a conference president) sent them a signed copy of the Allyssa letter.

(The Pastor Dryden letter is from the Pastor of the Ezra Church of God that brought the charges against Tommy Shelton for the molestation of young boys in four of five Church of God Pastorates that Tommy had served in.)

This was followed by witnesses of various issues contacting them and adding to the collage of information by the droves. The associates spoke about the findings and pointed out that with each contact and every leaf turned they were being over-run with allegations of inappropriate actions taken and financial issues of significant magnitude and felt compelled to pursue each and every allegation to it's most logical conclusion. The decision was made to proceed head-long in to the investigation and to establish minimum requirements for reform to disengage. They firmly believe that for some reason the Lord lead them to a very unusual run of information from the widest possible disbursement of sources and documents. It has been profound and certainly nothing close to what they had originally intended, however, in a month they have been absolutely amazed at the doors that have opened before them making it remarkably possible to move this entire bundle of issues to what they hope will be a speedy and equitable solution for Linda, Allyssa and the Remnant Church.

There will be a an announcement shortly regarding empanelling a tribunal under the auspices of ASI to which they will be able to give evidence and call witnesses. The specifics and dates are yet to be worked out, but it is another shocking development for the 3ABN board to agree to this. The 3ABN board has agreed in principal to empanel a tribunal under the auspices of ASI. ASI has tentatively agreed to sponsor such a panel, but the specifics are still unresolved and is yet to be fully formulated.

They (the Investigators) pray the Lord God to be with all the parties as they prepare for this very important event.

All that you have read in this post is straight from the horses mouth, so to speak.

Look folks, it must be understood that NO ONE HIRED ANYONE. However, I do believe that at one time Danny Shelton hired someone to find some dirt on Linda and others. He didn't tell me that himself but I have it from a reputable source that that's a fact.)

So let's understand this now, NO ONE has been hired by ANYONE to do ANYTHING...PERIOD!!!

But rest assured, the doors that the Lord God of heaven has opened are being vigilantly pursued.

There is a GROUP investigating, and the entire group are self appointed reformers who are firmly committed to rooting out corruption within the church and/or it's supporting ministries, when it is revealed to them.

For more on this you can go to where the new topics are and read about the Investigator of 3ABN.

Posted by: September Oct 5 2006, 05:47 AM

Can you be more specific on what are "self appointed reformers"? Are these people lay people or are they investigators? My only fear is that if they are lay people that Danny will blow them off and say that they are just peons who don't know anything.

Meanwhile, I'll continue to pray..it looks like a huge mess is coming to light.

[/quote] Can charges against anyone for the molestation of young boys just be dropped without the molestor being punished in any way? Can the parents stop the charges from being brought to the courts just to protect the boys? I thought that breaking the law when minors are involved goes before the courts regardless of circumstances. Could the charges brought before the courts concerning Rep Foley just be dropped if the parents of the boys requested it?
