BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The Closing Of A Thread

Posted by: sister Aug 23 2006, 12:44 PM

Steve, this is not the first time that a thread has been closed concerning 3ABN and perhaps not the last. I respect your right as a moderator to choose to close a thread, but I respectfully protest the grounds upon which it was closed. There are certain areas, upon which I have agreed with Calvin, not to pursue. But the agreement did not include restricting the area of discourse to "issues between Danny and Linda or Danny's running of 3abn". The title of this forum is 3ABN, The saga of the 3ABN ministry. The saga of the 3ABN ministry includes much more than simply issues between Danny and Linda or only Danny's running of 3ABN. To fully understand a ministry like 3ABN, one must understand the dynamics that exist within it and to understand Danny's running of 3ABN it is necessary to see the relationships that exists between him and other staff members, a number of whom are directly related to him by blood or through marriage.

It is often said that the tone of a business, family or ministry is set by the values and actions of the people in charge. I believe this is also the case with 3ABN. In the thread, Who is it?, I attempted to lift the veil and encourage other witnesses to share their personal testimony of what they had experienced with key members of the 3ABN "family". All the individuals I have chosen to feature in this thread are either directly involved in the issues between Danny and Linda or through their relationship with Danny or their position in the 3ABN ministry, directly influence the running of 3ABN.

and in looking at the thread I think it is not appropriate to air the dirty laundry of all that may have been associated with 3abn, unless you start airing yours.... and others who have spoken out here..... if you wish to discuss this further, PM me....

We don't discuss administrative action taken by me, administrators and moderators in public. You can PM me if you have a problem.
