BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Who Is It?

Posted by: sister Aug 6 2006, 12:05 AM

If you have closely following the threads in the 3ABN forum, this should be an easy game to play. There are many characters involved in front of the camera and behind the scenes at 3ABN.

This is how the game operates. I will describe an individual and with the knowledge you have gained concerning 3ABN, you should be able to correctly ascertain who it is. So, lets try and see how it goes. The first one will be easy, if you have paid attention, all the clues can be found within The Unauthorized History of 3ABN and The Televangelist.

1. 3ABN has described her as a woman of integrity, but we know the character that the viewing public never sees. Over time she has risen up through the ranks of 3ABN, the only one above her in the organization is Danny Shelton himself. But if anything she is even more dangerous than Danny. Why? She is much smarter and doesn't allow her emotions to get in the way of attaining her goal. When Danny gets blown out of the water she is both ready and willing to take his place. But unfortunately that could mean jumping out of the frying pan and landing in the fire for 3ABN. Remember she told Danny that he is like "GOD" for the workers at 3ABN. Is that the kind of person who belongs in a Christian ministry?

Who is she?

This sounds like fun! Can we get "extra points" for giving the exact url of the post(s) in which the information in your clues is given?

what is this 3ABN Trivial Pursuit?
one word..... "obsession"

QUOTE

1. preoccupation: an idea or feeling that completely occupies the mind
His obsession with figures led him to make crucial economic mistakes.

2. state of being obsessed: the state of being obsessed by somebody or something
Their devotion to each other borders on obsession.

3. psychiatry uncontrollable persistence of idea: the uncontrollable persistence of an idea or emotion in the mind, sometimes associated with psychiatric disorder yep... obsession....

For those of you who answered Mollie, give yourself 10 points. And yes, Steve, this could be called 3ABN Trivial Pursuit, except the pursuit is not so trivial. The house that Danny built is beginning to crumble and it is important to know all the players, for soon the entire drama will unfold.

Now the toss up question for extra points. Using information from The Unauthorized History of 3ABN or any other source, state why Mollie should be removed form 3ABN. Answer this and you get 10 extra points, add the urls and get an additional 5 points. Relating a personal experience with Mollie at 3ABN will get you 25 points.

Mollie, won't stand up to Danny when she knows he wrong. When Mollie "investigates" something she is more concerned with personal things about the person she's talking to. Nothing that has to do with the investigation!!

When Mollie investigates something she doesn't take time to gather the facts, especially from the person that was wronged.

Okay this is personal experience.

freedom, you obviously have experience with Mollie. 10 pts for knowing it is Mollie and 25 pts for a personal experience. With 35 pts., that puts you at the top of the game.

Remember, Mollie never needs "facts" ...she makes up the "truth" as she goes along. In my Father's book, He calls that a lie. And who is the father of liars? So why is Ken Denslow willing to have her on the Illinois Conference Board? An additional 10 pts. for anyone who can answer this question.

Posted by: sister Aug 6 2006, 06:58 PM

It seems that question was very easy. There is still the opportunity to earn additional bonus points by answering questions or relating experiences in regard to Mollie. I know there are many silent witnesses out there who could join in this not so trivial pursuit. Perhaps I will prime the pump a little and earn an additional 25 pts.

I was having a conversation with a 3ABN employee and commented how a visitor had just mistaken me for another staff member and were very excited about meeting "her". This person looked at me quizzically and asked, "What did you say to them?" I replied, "There I was looking into their expectant faces, so thrilled to meet one of their favorite 3ABN people and I had to disappoint them. I told them I was sorry but they had the wrong person." Then the other person said to me, "You know if it had been Mollie, she just would have said she was the person in question." I said, "I would not have been able to lie to them." The other person agreed and saw no purpose in deceiving people. Then we both agreed that lying was never a problem for Mollie...

Sorry, I've been extra rushed today, and your "toss up" question has so many possible answers. Is there still opportunity to tag back into that?

For example..... as to why she should be removed....

1) She, with her husband, wer the ones responsible for the bogus "miracle story" upon which 3ABN was founded, "It was Hal who advised Danny that by telling the story of Hal's purported "gift" of television equipment to Danny from a Pentecostal ministry, with Hal willing to sign a falsified document substantiating the "fact", it would "prime the financial pump" and the donations would stream in to Danny's pockets. The truth of the matter is that this $100,000.00 worth of equipment actually came from Joe Crews, the founder of Amazing Facts, in exchange for air time. "

See the thread, "An Unauthorized History of 3ABN chapter 4", <http://www.blackstda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9765&view=findpost&p=128534>

2) She was first and foremost in leading Danny to think of himself as standing in the place of God to his employees (and to everyone else, for that matter).

See the above url, also see <http://www.blackstda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9765&view=findpost&p=128116>

And there are more..... many more.

5 pts. each for the urls, 10 pts. each for the reasons. Add an additional 30 pts. to your total. More info, more points. Good job, Watchbird! You can tag on more if you want. Also, what about the following, any ideas: Why is Ken Denslow willing to have her on the Illinois Conference Board? It was an additional 10 pts. for anyone who could answer this question, now let's raise the stakes, make it an additional 20 points.

Answer:

Maybe they're stacking the deck with 3ABN people. Maybe they're quietly trying to control the Adventist Church in Illinois, as in "Control, control, control." Remember that quote about "control" from somewhere?

Mollie Steenson: General Manager of 3ABN

Ken Denslow: Board Member of 3ABN

John Stanton: Has co-hosted the "House Calls" program on 3ABN - (John was dispatched from the 3ABN Church in Thompsonville to Springfield to "squelch" Linda Shelton, and to give Linda the "not welcome" treatment as a new Springfield church member?)

Just look at the Executive Committee on page 2. The date given in this newsletter is April 30, 2005.

Panama Pete, that's 5 pts. for the url, 10 pts. for new source of information outside of the threads and 20 pts. for a very interesting explanation! Add 35 points to your game score. Don't forget: Ken Denstlows parents travel around in a new 3ABN RV promoting Danny and company. It appears that the plot is thickening. Who is ready to give the pot another stir?

And then, as we move along to 2006, notice who the illustrious speaker is at the Illinois Women's Retreat, none other than Kay Kuzma, a participating member of what I call the "3ABN Dump Linda Committee" as in "the Board is only interested that the President no longer wants his Vice-President."

"Kay Kuzma is the featured speaker for the Illinois Women's Retreat on October 6 – 8. The theme for the weekend is Serendipity, The Joy of the Unexpected. Watch for registration information in future Updates."

Meanwhile, we read that Danny Shelton is greeting President George Bush, during the National Day of Prayer, along with the million dollar recipient of 3ABN money, Wintley Phipps, of the proposed 3ABN "World of Praise" channel. I imagine they flew to Washington on the private jet?

"Just last week, Danny Shelton, president of Three Angels Broadcasting Network, also had an opportunity to meet President Bush at the National Day of Prayer. Danny and Wintley Phipps visited briefly with Bush and shared with him the book 10 Commandments Twice Removed."

This appears to be a very entrenched rogue's gallery of characters who seem to have notches carved into their belts. I doubt the average Adventist in Illinois would be able to see what's going on under the table. It's pitiful, really.

Yes, I know what you're saying:

Danny interviewed Jim Gilley on 3ABN Today where Gilley mentioned his book.

Quote: "If you've ever been hurt, depressed, deathly ill, rejected, or grief-stricken, you need what Gilley is offering in this book—a new attitude and a life-grip on the Savior."

In return, Jim Gilley invited Danny Shelton to the First SDA Church of Dallas so that Danny could have access to the members there. The "back scratching" seems to take precedence over all other considerations, doesn't it?

Some posters here have mentioned writing to Mr. Gilley. However, I think that the concrete has already set on that back scratching arrangement between Jim Gilley and Dan Shelton.

Lurker, 20 pts. for recognizing the way that Danny does "business". There is so much back scratching going on at 3ABN you would think those folks were continually outside rolling in poison ivy. In Jesus' day it was, "Beware the leaven of the Pharisees." Today it is, "Look out and pray before entering into mutually benefitting relationships with Danny Shelton. Like the Devil, he just might try to charm you into selling you soul for the fleeting fame of being associated with him.

Give yourself another 5 pts. for the url and 15 pts. for the further information linking up 3ABN employees and the Illinois Conference. Later lets talk for about Kay, she and Danny sure have done alot of back scratching.

Concerning Shelton and Bush... depending upon your political position, that could just be one more deceiver being introduced to another. It seems Danny is trying to upgrade his image by being seen with the President. I hope they counted the silverware before and after Danny left the Whitehouse. Let's hope Danny didn't have the opportunity to see Air Force One or he will start thinking his jet is too small for an important president like himself and he will go shopping again. I wonder what the limit is on his credit card? At least he will not be able to suggest that Linda spent all those millions clothes shopping...

Why do I have the urge to call President Bush and try to warn and protect him??? I do like him and he might need a heads-up on the mighty DS or he may become another casualty.

Pete, I saw the same program, that is the reason that I didn't address Gilly about the 3ABN Rally. It would have been like bringing a bag of sand to the Sahara Desert---pointless. They say politics make strange bedfellows, it appears that 3ABN is making even stranger ones. I think there are a lot of folks in the SDA church who will find that you can not enter into partnership with Danny Shelton and come away with clean hands. The kind of dirt you pick up by that association can only be washed away by the blood of Jesus. Once all the truth comes out about Danny and the Shelton Gang, the appearance of evil is going to stick on a lot of folks like warts on a frog. Pete, give yourself 30 more points.

Summertime, give yourself a whopping 50 pts. than You hit the nail on the head. b

The reason Mollie has been able to move herself into the number two position at 3ABN is exactly for the reason you stated! It is because Danny knows that Mollie will get things done his way irregardless of what the truth is, how many lies she has to tell or who she has to trample on to reach their goal. This is also the reason she should be removed from any administrative role in 3ABN, terminated from any leading position in the local church, ousted from her Conference Committee position and finally, put under church discipline. Her favorite expression, often quoted on 3ABN by her husband, Hal, is: "Make sure you get them smiling before you hit them in the teeth, that way you won't bruise their lips." Hal always says it with a smile, but too many employees at 3ABN have experienced her wrath. On air and in front of the 3ABN board, she is the epitome of a proper southern belle—all sweetness and light--But beware of Mollie's bite, like the serpent in the Garden of Eden, all this loveliness is simply a facade to intended lower your guard, before she moves in close enough to ascertain your vulnerability...

Her favorite expression, often quoted on 3ABN by her husband, Hal, is: "Make sure you get them smiling before you hit them in the teeth, that way you won't bruise their lips." Hal always says it with a smile, but too many employees at 3ABN have experienced her wrath. On air and in front of the 3ABN board, she is the epitome of a proper southern belle—all sweetness and light— But beware of Mollie's bite, like the serpent in the Garden of Eden , all this loveliness is simply a facade to intended lower your guard, before she moves in close enough to ascertain your vulnerability...

.... gotta process this a moment

"number two position"..... don't we have some indication that Mollie has her sights on a higher position that a mere "number two"?

"the reason she should be removed..... terminated..... ousted..... put under church discipline"..... fully agreed.

"bite, like the serpent".....

Some random thoughts generating "in the background"

I'm remembering..... Mollie's been teaching Danny..... wouldn't it stand to reason that Mollie has also been learning from Danny? Danny has no regard for friend or family ties when it comes time to dump (or bite) someone... (don't have time to look up the urls, but I'm sure we've talked about some of the persons he has kicked out of his life at various times.....) I wonder..... are either of these two really sure that the other won't at some time turn?.....  or as sonshineonme puts it.....

Yeah..... as a matter of fact, I have often wondered.....

Well, here we are. We all know what she really is. We all know what Danny really is. We all want to do something about it. We all know that he has enough money to do favors for and interview the very people who can keep things going his way. Letters to leaders do not help---they are to a large degree aware of what Danny is but to them apparently the end justifies the means. We can wait on God to do something but apparently it is not God's time to stop him yet.. So maybe He is waiting for us to do something. I can write to a hundred people but he can tell millions that it is all lies. He sits there like a buffalo with jet wings . I would like your game of obsession to go on and maybe you will strike with the right question that will be the answer to all our prayers. In the meantime we need all the help we can get. They need to go.!!! If two cats get put into the same cage, something or someone gets destroyed.

Now that Mollie's character has been properly outed, it is time to turn our attention to another member of the "illustrious" 3ABN staff. This shouldn't be too difficult if you have paid attention to information supplied in the threads. But it may bring out some surprises to those new to behind the scenes at 3ABN. Let the game begin...

2. Instead of going the way of hair plugs, this man fancies another means of hiding a receding hairline. But loss of hair is not the only secret he is hiding. Lock up your sons when the 3ABN Rally comes to town, there is another predator posing as a sheep in Danny's entourage. Contrary to what many may assume neither he, nor his immediate family are members of the SDA church. He holds a prominent position in the organizational structure of 3ABN, but he didn't need prior experience in television production to secure this job.

10 pts for guessing the identity of the subject in question. The more information you provide the more points available. To quote Panama Pete, you wouldn't want to go to bed pointless tonight. If you have information of a confidential nature and would not choose to reveal your identity publicly, please PM the information to me and I will post it for you anonymously.

I'll add another clue: This person is seen daily on the screen wearing a big wig. He does not utter many words but his fingers flutter. . . Some church leaders would like to see his brother leaving 3ABN this month, but are wondering who is qualified to take his position.

PaperTigers, 10 pts for identifying the wolf in sheep's clothing. An additional 30 pts for revealing the following:

1. Tommy is not allowed to live in the state of Illinois and currently resides in Kentucky.
2. His predatory behavior is a reoccurring situation: Illinois, Virginia, etc.
3. Family members have stepped in to extradite him from the situation before formal charges were filed, therefore no criminal record.

PaperTigers, an additional 30 pts if you can tell the part Goldie, Danny and Tommy's mother played in the Illinois incidents.

Additional information: Tommy was a minister in another denomination during the time these incidents occurred and also served as a school principal. So much for the old way of remembering principal from principle: the head of a school is p-r-i-n-c-i-p-a-l because he is your pal. A pal would never do that to a child.

The more witnesses, the more plausible the truth becomes. You both will receive equal points for answering. I am sure people need to hear the truth more than once. My understanding is the Goldie made the deal with the parents of the boys he molested, that if she were to get Tommy out of the state, not to return, that they would be willing not to press charges. Now, there may have been some money involved for their "pain and suffering" but I can not say for sure.

30 pts for correctly stating the part Goldie played in securing her son's freedom and allowing him further opportunities to "work" with children, first in Illinois, then in Virginia. Now he is back working in Illinois, but officially living in Kentucky. I do not think this is what the parents of his victims had in mind when they agreed not to press charges.

Now to top off this sorry saga, Tommy comes to work at 3ABN and of course Danny is fully aware of his brothers actions. What is one of Tommy's duties at 3ABN? He is in charge of music for Kid's Time, working with children again. Do the parents of the children who come to record at 3ABN know Tommy's background? No. He has never been convicted of his crime, his family has made sure of that, so he is not listed anywhere as having a history of this type of behavior.

PaperTigers, you worked on Kid's Time, what did you think of the situation?

NEWS FLASH

I will make the following comments before you read this post: This situation is currently taking place at the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. The truth of the statements within the narrative has been verified by a reliable independent source who chooses to remain anonymous at this time. Send a copy of this document to your entire email list. Get the message out to the church at large. It is time for this "shadow man", who uses his vast wealth to sway the decisions of the church, to be revealed. Why does he continue to back Danny Shelton?

Okay People, time to name names. 100 pts a name, except the victim, this brave girl has suffered enough. Let us all pray for her protection, Danny knows who she is and there is no way to predict what he would be willing to do to try and stop her testimony.

The Contributor

Jorgen VanBraun

Along the hallowed halls of the headquarters of the World Conference of the Church, the atmosphere is hushed, yet alive with activity. Pastors, administrators, visitors, people from every part of the globe are here conducting the business of the Church. Also here today is a robust, energetic man from the central west. Today the Contributor, the Church's wealthiest donor, will be meeting with a number of top leaders.

Over the years the Contributor's donations to the Church have totaled more millions of dollars than we can imagine, and everyone here is anxious to take a larger piece of the pie. The World Missions department has always come out on top. Today the Contributor has something weighing on his mind.

His close friend and associate, the Televangelist, has a dark cloud hanging over his head. He has been exposed through various mediums for the charlatan that he is. His many years of lies and manipulation are catching up with him. Now, a young woman has produced documented proof that she was repeatedly sexually assaulted by the Televangelist during his second marriage. This documentation has been sent to many of the leaders in the Church, and the time has come that they can no longer turn a blind eye. The man who was once their poster child, and was considered the face of the Church by the Church's foremost evangelist, is now becoming a liability. If they continue to support him, and allow that he is the face of the church, this newest scandal of his will bring them down with him. The Contributor knows this, and has determined that he will force the Church into compliance with the Televangelist.

Sitting in the spacious office of the President of the World Conference, the Contributor bluntly tells the President that if the Church takes any action against the Televangelist, or does anything that would damage, or undermine him, the Church will not receive another penny of his money for World Missions. Considering that the World Missions budget comes primarily from the Contributor, the President knows that the Church will be rocked to its foundations by the loss of this man's money. What will he do? What will the Church do?

Back at the compound, the Televangelist leans back in a large couch. His eyes drift over to where a new step-daughter is playing and his lips curl in a slight smile. He reaches over and pats his new wife on the thigh, as he watches the little girl play. Memory takes him back over the years to another step-daughter.

What will the Church do? This question remains unanswered. The decision has yet to be made.

He sure is Panama Pete. But the real question is: why is Garwin McNeilus pimping a sexual predator to the GC with the threat of removing the vast amount of funds he would normally contribute to the World Missions Department, unless they back off and allow Danny Shelton to continue the evil practices that he has hidden for so long behind the scenes at 3ABN? Is all the hype about McNeilus and his heart for missions nothing more than PR? Are his contributions merely a tactic to control the church? What

So, two members of the Shelton Gang have been revealed to be sexual predators. The only difference is the gender of their victims. Early in the evangelistic ministry of Billy Graham, he faced a crisis. The ministry was in financial trouble. It looked like God's work was going to have to stop. Then Graham received a contribution that would keep it going for a while. But, it was from what Graham considered to be a tainted source. Graham called his staff together. He told them that they were going to take it to the Lord in prayer, leave the ministry in the hands of God, and then return the gift. As he said, if their work was of God, God would keep it financially afloat. If not, they were not going to ever accept tainted money.

The world knows what happened to the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

Thank you for your added information, PT. I don't want this to get lost in the excitement over the newsflash Sister just brought to us. And adding to this, two comments

1) When a friend of mine in Australia, who had been a church elder in his church for many years, and thus had been deeply involved with every aspect of dealing with more than one case of sexual abuse of minors that arose there during his terms of office, heard of Danny and Tommy and Melody traveling as a threesome to promote 3ABN in his country, his indignation reached literally unspeakable heights. But his sputtering as he contemplated these three visiting in the various churches in his country, thus having access to children of both genders, communicated to this opposite quadrant of the globe clearly and distinctly. It's too bad that those on this side of the globe could not have just a fraction of his clarity of perception... especially those in 3ABN's home conference.

2) Specifically, this needs very much to be kept in mind by the Illinois Conference constituency and leadership, especially those having to do with the proposed move of Broadview Academy from its present location, either closing it gradually by a program that would have instruction at two locations, one of which is the 3ABN school, or actually moving it to the 3ABN campus. This latter proposition (and I use the word deliberately) was laid aside about a year ago when one of the Conference Committee members raised questions about the moral fiber of the owner of 3ABN. But the current plan is just that, current, and it does involve linking 3ABN with the new broadview program. For verification of this, please see the newsnote on <http://www.broadviewacademy.org/news.html>.

Perhaps this could give at least a partial answer to sister's earlier question as to why Mollie was now on the Illinois Conference Committee. I'm not sure whether the member who raised questions last year is still on it or not. But since that time, Mollie has been added, we know that for sure.

3ABN's "BroTommy" Shelton is on the same Cumberland Valley roster, farther down:

All these years that Tommy has been on 3abn it was always assumed by the average watcher that he was an SDA and that is the impression that they gave. When I mention to people that he is not an SDA they are completely surprised. His music and web site are promoted on 3abn as if it were part of the SDA church.

I just can't imagine how Garwin McNeilus can be so blind, unless he also has an agenda of his own regarding Danny Shelton and 3ABN. Where does the Everlasting Gospel fit into all of this?

That's the source of the problem, Daryl, the Everlasting Gospel really does not appear to fit into the motives of the two above named "gentlemen". And I think the words I bolded should start you thinking in the correct direction...

We seemed to have gotten sidetracked in our game...but the NEWSFLASH was, and continues to be, very important. As updates are available they will be posted.

Now we return to our regularly scheduled program, the 3ABN game show, Who is it?

3. She literally started in the basement— she and her sisters cleaned out the basement in the Shelton home — and made it to the pinnacle of stardom on 3ABN with her own program. 3ABN sells two books co-authored by her. At one time Linda believed her to be her best friend and at the same time she was spending late nights alone with Danny Shelton, unbeknownst to his wife, in her 3ABN guest apartment. She is wealthy on her own account, so other than a roll in the hay, what Danny could give her is fame. At one time she claimed Linda Shelton as her fourth sister, but now 3ABN has arranged for the three of them, who have spurned Linda Shelton, to have the women's ministry weekend at the Carolina Conference. The word on the street is that their theme will include clarifying some of the "junk" happening at 3ABN. I have no doubt that they have the 3ABN spin memorized to perfection.

10 points for naming this woman, an additional 5 points for the sisters and as always the more additional facts you contribute the more points are available. Let the game begin!

PT, 10 pts for naming Brenda, 5 pts each for her sisters and 5 pts more for programming info. That makes a grand total of 25 pts for this question!

Why don't you tell us what it was like working with them on the set...

well linda is actually a sweet heart and cinda can be too, but she can get really worked up about some stuff brenda on the other hand... omg you have to have a special knack to work with her... i know of 3 people who refused to work with her, and 2 more that she refused to have work for her... if you got along with her it was all good, and i was pretty much a pacifist (sp?) so i got along with her pretty well, as long as you did what she wanted everything was hunky dorey... so for me that wasn't too hard, i was usually 2 steps ahead of her... which i think sometimes actually made her more mad then if i didn't have a friggin' clue... parts of it were fun, and then parts of it were pure hell... if she wanted something done, she wanted it done right now... no excuses and it didn't matter if you had the time - or the energy... and she would in a heartbeat stab you in the back to make herself look goo

I don't know what it was like working with them on the set. However I will say that in 2004, just prior to the 3ABN campmeeting, Brenda had the entire carpet for the campmeeting, which was brand new, replaced because she didn't like the color Linda had picked out. (The old color was sort of purplish/Blue. The new color was red.) This was no small undertaking, and of course it was funded by the donations. This was about one week before Linda was fired.

This was the time Brenda and Danny were spending "late nights" together.

BrotherBill, welcome to the game! You just earned 20 pts. for this and an additional 5pts for confirming the lovely character of one of the three sisters. Thank you Sister. I just realized, if you put us together, we are Brother and Sister!

Since the posts are not coming fast and furious, I will relate another Brenda story. Someone earlier defined "hypocrite". Well in June 2002, Brenda, whose husband is a millionaire, was asked to give a small donation ($20.00) for a struggling ministry (not based in the U.S.) Brenda said they have a "very strict policy to not give to any ministries at all". At the next camp meeting, both she and Cinda were pleading for money from the pulpit for their new kid's program. In my mind, if you don't give, you have no business asking either. At the very least, it was hypocritical.

PT, you get your 50 pts. This experience says a lot about Brenda's character. She doesn't take responsibility for her own mistakes and she has no problem to throw someone else to the wolves to cover up her own errors. This is definitely not someone you would want for a best friend...

Did you hear about the run-in between Brenda and Dee? Brenda was unhappy about the way that Dee spoke to her and after that time Dee was banned from Brenda's presence, in addition to that Dee was secretly sent to St. Louis for a two day seminar to learn proper etiquette in order to retain her job. For those of you who do not know Dee was Linda Shelton's assistant.

Well I never had any work contact with her as did PT, sister, and brotherbill but I did go see her when she came to this area giving an "inspirational" Vespers meeting. That's another 25 pts. And Bill, I have no problem claiming you as my brother! Interesting, in addition to her husband's money, Brenda had money of her own from the businesses she owned. You would think she could have funded the entire Kids Times and Tiny Tots programs and not even felt a pinch financially. And people still wonder today why it is harder for a richman (woman) to enter the kingdom of Heaven, than for a camel to go through the eye of a needle. PT that's another 20 pts. Strange, this woman is married to a millionaire, independently wealthy, has the money to invest in extremely expensive artist paint brushes and then when she isn't pleased with the way her brushes are handled, she demands the price for new brushes should come out of the paychecks of people who earn less than twenty thousand dollars a year (some as little as fourteen thousand) before taxes. That certainly says a lot about her character...

Yes, Sister and Tiger, I certainly remember the time Dee was sent etiquette classes over Brenda being offended. My (at that time) wife and I laughed ourselves to tears when Danny told us. (Brings back a few memories of things that I really miss)

The only interaction I have had with Brenda is that my daughter had wanted to be on Kids Time. Brenda was less than nice to us on the phone. I understand that they don't want just any child on but she was rude when she was telling me what they "expect" of the children. My daughter could have done it but after talking to Brenda I didn't want anything to do with it. Also, if you read Brenda's book, you can see what kind of person she is.

I didn't see it but my mother did, when Brenda was on talking about her book where they interviewed the Katrina victims. She was talking about how she was running around talking to people in her "designer" jeans and high heels.

Uncle Sam, 20 pts for each episode, that is a total of 40 pts!

I am sorry for what you and your daughter experienced, there is no excuse for rudeness and unkindness. I believe you made the best choice for your daughter in protecting her from further contact with someone whose attitude was so unchristian.

I haven't read either of Brenda's books, which one were you referring to and could you explain how what you read about her character in her book was confirmed in her offensive attitude on the telephone toward you and your daughter. An additional 50 pts for this answer.

The program your mother saw is very typical Brenda. She has more money then sense and is often more concerned with her appearance than the suffering of those around her. Does anyone remember an oldie from Hall and Oates, "Your a rich girl"? The only difference is the money does not come from a rich Daddy, but a millionaire husband...eventually it all come down to character.

I read the book about her life. She really made A LOT of stupid choices because she was worried about what others would think. She didn't seem to learn from any of her mistakes. I would have been embarassed to write what she wrote about herself. She seemed very self centered. The thing that really bothered me was when spoke of Linda she didn't mention her by name she called her the "Vice President".....

I let others read it and they couldn't believe how one person could be so stupid.....

Uncle Sam 50 pts!

I believe Brenda is still worried about what others think and is still making stupid choices because of this motivation. But the problem is that she needs to be in control and the center of attention.

Imagine what a huge leap it has been in such a short time span: going from buying identical shoes for herself, two sisters and Linda Shelton, presenting them on air and saying, "Linda is like our fourth sister", to only referring to her as the "Vice President". Of course a lot of water passed under the bridge during that time, she betrayed Linda a number of times: she lied about the relationship between Linda and the doctor, she had a "relationship" with Linda's husband, Danny, and she was willing to leave her husband to become Mrs. Shelton number three. Danny asked someone else to tell Brenda to stay with her husband, even though she had successfully played her part in the removal of Mrs. Shelton number two. But Danny already had a much younger woman in mind, one who would be easier to control than Brenda. So what did Brenda receive for all the late night trysts, lying and betraying her "best" friend? Fame is the name of the game and all her husband's money couldn't buy that for her, but Danny was willing to supply it for the right price. It is surprising how cheaply people are willing to sell their soul...

QUOTE(sister @ Aug 6 2006, 12:05 AM)

If you have closely following the threads in the 3ABN forum, this should be an easy game to play. There are many characters involved in front of the camera and behind the scenes at 3ABN.

This is how the game operates. I will describe an individual and with the knowledge you have gained concerning 3ABN, you should be able to correctly ascertain who it is. So, lets try and see how it goes. The first one will be easy, if you have paid attention, all the clues can be found within The Unauthorized History of 3ABN and The Televangelist.

1. 3ABN has described her as a woman of integrity, but we know the character that the viewing public never sees. Over time she has risen up through the ranks of 3ABN, the only one above her in the organization is Danny Shelton himself. But if anything she is even more dangerous than Danny. Why? She is much smarter and doesn't allow her emotions to get in the way of attaining her goal. When Danny gets blown out of the water she is both ready and willing to take his place. But unfortunately that could mean jumping out of the frying pan and landing in the fire for 3ABN. Remember she told Danny that he is like "GOD" for the workers at 3ABN. Is that the kind of person who belongs in a Christian ministry?

Who is she?

are you sure it is not Kay Kuzma. Man that sounds like her would also like to add something to the trivial pursuit game. It's not really a story, but always makes me cringe when I see Brenda.

A few years back I saw a wedding picture of her and her current husband and saw what was closer to the "real" Brenda. NOW she has porcelain veneers for teeth, has had her SECOND breast augmentation (from what looked like an "A" cup to a "DD") an "eye lift", multiple tummy tucks, fake fingernails AND fake toenails. A few years back I saw a wedding picture of her and her current husband and saw what was closer to the "real" Brenda. NOW she has porcelain veneers for teeth, has had her SECOND breast augmentation (from what looked like an "A" cup to a "DD") an "eye lift", multiple tummy tucks, fake fingernails AND fake toenails. Will the REAL Brenda please stand up?

I am soooooooooo frustrated  that Brenda, Cinda and Linda are the main speakers at the Carolina women's retreat! You COULDN'T pay me enough money to go and watch them giggle, prance and act like air-heads in front of me for an entire weekend.

PLEASE call the women's ministries director of the Carolina Conference (Debbie Rapp) at 704-596-3200 to BEG her to cancel their engagement (Oct 6-8) at Nosoca Pines, SC. God will provide someone else as a speaker. I know He will provide.

Now that some of the hoopla in the other threads is beginning to die down it is time to resume our game. The next subject is not too difficult to guess, but the information that may be revealed could be surprising to many.

4. At a tender age, when a girl is facing the onslaught of puberty, her mother was removed by a tragic accident in which she was also injured. With no mother to teach her what was appropriate behavior, she was taught it was perfectly acceptable to sleep in the same bed with her father, at a time when she was already developing a feminine figure. He claimed it was only to give her comfort, but why then did he allow her to sleep in his bed clad only in panties and he only in briefs? And when his new girlfriend, whom would become his wife objected to this practice on moral grounds, why did he continue? Later in her life, when she was a young mother why did this practice still occur at times, unbeknownst to her husband?

Perhaps this early behavior could explain the illicit relationships she engaged in during her first two marriages to the same man. And the attitude of her father could explain the reason why the following occurred: when she was caught in the act and it was discovered that the "telephone relationship" had been ongoing for three years, while she was also engaged in a physically adulterous relationship with another man, rather than reprimand her, her father rewarded her with greater promotion of her singing? Meanwhile the 3ABN employee on the other end of the line, a married man, was fired. Are there two types of justice? One for the Shelton family and another for everyone else?

As always, 10 points for naming the individual. Additional points for personal experiences.

LOL rofl Sonshineonme, no you don't get 60 pts! But I will give you 10 pts for the right answer and 10 pts more for the correct history of Melody's name game. That is a total of 20 pts. If you want more, you are going to have to work for it...so, what do you have in your hand (sorry, that is Danny's line), rather what do you know? To receive 60 points, it will have to be new information for the general reading public and absolutely true!

As Sonshineonme has correctly stated, at the tender age of her mid thirties, Melody has been married three time---twice to the same man---divorced twice, has five children from two different husbands, has had a number of affairs and is older than her new step-mother. She is the product of the upbringing of her father, Danny Shelton. It is said that the seed doesn't fall far from the tree, in this case I would say it appears to be accurate.

We have much reason to sympathize with Melody. Without the specific details Sister shared, I had wondered about the possibility of an ins relationship because of other clues. Her behavior pattern appears to be typical of girls who have been molested, judging by the examples I know and by what I've read. It is sad! She needs a lot of healing, but it can't really happen while she is still under the influence of her father. She probably still has no real idea of a normal Father-daughter relationship.

I don't think we need to discuss Melody's failings any further. However, her training/exploitation by her father surely is relevant. And I'm not only thinking of the bedtime exploitation but also the exploitation of using her to draw sympathetic attention from an audience by having her sing immediately after her mother's death. Of course, he says it was her choice, but really now, how much "choice" does such a young girl have in the presence of Danny Shelton.

And I'm wondering even now how much real "choice" she has in traveling with her father.

Daryl, sadly this is really true and factual...unfortunately for a young girl who is now a mother herself and in turn has allowed her young daughter and sons to make unsupervised overnight visits in the home of their grandfather, including the time period between his divorce and remarriage. Currently the oldest child of Melody and her former husband Derrell Mundall is now about the same age that Melody was when Danny involved his daughter in behavior that at the very least has the appearance of extreme evil or perhaps to the extent that it became a heinous act against both the laws of God, the state of Illinois and his own child.

Unfortunately, your last question is not one I can answer publicly.

Then why does she seemingly still have such a good relationship with her father, and why does she allow the potential of the same thing also happening to her own "young daughter and sons"?

QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Aug 20 2006, 04:12 PM)

Then why does she seemingly still have such a good relationship with her father, and why does she allow the potential of the same thing also happening to her own "young daughter and sons"?

To understand this appearance, one has to understand the psychology of abuse and molestation. One woman who had been molested wrote a book years ago entitled, "Daddy's girl." That title encapsulates the seductive power of such a relationship. Sexually exploited daughters are made to feel "special," with the father often confiding in them and telling them that, sadly, their mother simply doesn't understand him and his needs the way they do ... It's emotional rape that sets the stage for apparently "consensual" sexual favors. When the girls feel guilty, as they inevitably will, they believe it is largely their fault.

I'm thinking now of one woman (now in her 40's) who was molested as a child. It took a lot to finally convince her intellectually that it wasn't her fault. But emotionally she didn't "get it," and keeps falling back into a speech pattern that presumes her guilt. ... not to mention repeated suicide attempts...

The way I see it, the very first step towards healing by abused individuals is to understand they were abused. And that reminds me of one conversation with a dear friend some years back. She had been convinced for more than a decade that she was guilty of having an affair with her Bible teacher in academy. When I called it sexual abuse and laid out clearly why I thought it so, she had an aha! moment. She had never seen it that way before, though it's as obvious as the nose on your face to an onlooker -- he was older and a power/authority figure and she was an insecure teenager. Of course, teenagers also share moral responsibility for such actions, but the overwhelming weight of responsibility goes to the authority figure. I wonder whether Dan's daughter has even reached the first step of healing -- that of seeing her father as her abuser. If she hasn't, it would explain why she allows him unsupervised access to her children. Or maybe she still thinks she's so "special" that no one else -- certainly not her children -- could take her place. Unfortunately, records indicate that the father who molested a daughter will, without compunction, molest a grand-daughter as well ...

I'm sure there are others on this forum who understand the psychology of incest and/or molestation/abuse. It would be helpful to hear their testimony.

But what can anyone do for Dan's daughter and her children?

I have also read "Daddy's girl." It is definitely not a bed time story

You have done such a good job Inge. I'll add a couple thoughts. I am a trained volunteer and take calls from people in distress and then refer them to the appropriate source for help. But issues like this are hard to talk about, and often a person will feel more comfortable opening up to me because I am just a voice on the phone and they know that we will never meet.

There seems to be a natural wall in a person's psyche between fatherly love for a child and erotic love. As my daughter was growing up, I was very careful not to transgress that barrier. And that is probably why some of us, as fathers, appear to have been distant from our daughters as they entered their teens.

If that sacred wall is broken down between the those two kinds of love, it is very confusing to a young person. When I talk to adults who have been abused as children, I notice that they try to understand the "why" of what happened through an adult mind. That doesn't work. They knew it was wrong, and yet the experience felt good. I ask them to visualize a child they know that is about the same age as they were, and then I try to get them to think through it with the mind of a child. Aha!

We used to assume that a male child who was sexually abused would grow up to be an abuser himself. That may happen, but I often find that their emotions are taken out in gut-level anger -- either at others in destructive behavior -- or on themselves -- often in high risk or suicidal behavior.

QUOTE

But what can anyone do for Dan's daughter and her children?

This is where I refer a person to a counselor. The big problem is to get a person to actually go for counseling. It is not an easy road. My job is to just listen, give them affirmation and direct them to a place. So often I say, "It's not your fault. It's NOT your fault."

Sister, you seem to be "in the know" and I would like one day to know who you are since we obviously were coworkers for some time. I witnessed many of the things that you post, but by all means, not all of them. However, I do want to add some details and comment on the married 3ABN employee that was fired for the relationship with Melody.

First, he was not fired. He was suspended and allowed to resign to go on to other unsuspecting victims. I had several conversations with Mollie on this topic trying to find out why 3ABN wouldn't hold him accountable - to no avail.

Secondly, my wife was victimized by this man as were a number of ladies at the station. Whether or not he was involved in a reciprocated relationship with Melody does not excuse him from his behavior towards other innocent young women. Many people are still wondering about the S.G. incident(s) and I can assure you that the claims made by the multiple women who came forth were all true. He is a man who needs professional counseling because he is - or at least - was a sexual predator. It seems to be the 3ABN legacy.

I am not addressing the punishment - rather - wanting to bring to light the fact that the man in question was not sacked unjustly. After news of the relationship with Melody, many of the victims poured into Mollie's office with similar stories.

My understanding was that S.G. was fired, not allowed to resign, that was what I was told, of course since the information came from Danny, it could have been a lie, he lied about the circumstances involving others leaving 3ABN.

I do know that a number of women refused to work with S.G. and others quit working at 3ABN because of him. Under the circumstances, why were there no official charges made against SG for sexual harassment? All these women went to Mollie with their information. As a separate issue, why wasn't SG charged and prosecuted? His relationship with Melody was consensual, but obviously that was not the case with the others.

The point I wanted to make was in the particular case of Melody and SG: it was an ongoing (three years), consensual telephone sex relationship; therefore, why was Melody rewarded for her behavior and S.G. "fired" for his? Both were married, in this case the relationship was consensual, both were adulterers, but the "punishment" each received was in direct opposition to the other. The point being, a member of the Shelton family is rewarded for adultery and the other person involved is removed from the ministry. I agree that something should have been done in the case of S.G. much sooner and his removal from the ministry was valid. But in this particular situation, shouldn't Melody also have been removed? She had had multiple affairs. Is there a different justice for Shelton family members and everyone else? Does the entire Shelton clan share the same "special dispensation" of Danny? Are they all above the law? Melody is a serial adulterer, Tommy is a pedophile and the list goes on...

I'm also not sure on the "three years" but i know it was more than three weeks.. and i also find it hard to believe that it wasn't consensual.. i have seen her in the past come on to male employees, to the point where they didn't want to work with her, but couldn't say that they didn't want to work with

As far as being treated different, it happens everyday.. if you were a shelton (or related) you could come in late most days of the week, come in still drunk - or high, and do a crappy job... and yet amazingly still have your job...

while others who actually cared about their job, but didn't maybe have the best way of dealing with things.. were watched like a hawk just waiting for some slight mess up to fire them..

Somehow the scales don't seem quite even in my opinion

no and i actually like the people that i am talking about... my original post was about the inconsistencies in dealing with people... what some are allowed to do, while others are punished for one slight mis-step...

You're right. I won't go there.

fair enough, but I don't think we need to go there... and you and I both know that if you are related to the boss you can get away with more.... not always fair but that is a fact of life...

Sister,

I'm going to give you the benefit of the doubt and say that you were misinformed. I used to work there, too. It was not consensual. Melody reported it and then several others came forward who were afraid to report it before. And where did you get the "Three years"? She reported it after a few weeks. S.G. is a sexual predator. I am giving you the benefit of the doubt, but it does make me wonder about some of the other "information" that you have.

TLC

TLC, we appear to disagree upon certain points involved in this situation. I believe that upon certain points you have been misinformed in regard to Melody. My information comes from a direct, unimpeachable source. PaperTigers has also given a similar accounting of Melody's behavior in regard to male employees of 3ABN, which coincides with my own and can be further substantiated by other witnesses.

I see that you have just joined BSDA and if this is an attempt to put doubt into the minds of those who have been reading my posts concerning Danny Shelton and the 3ABN situation, the majority of what I have previously written has been substantiated by other witnesses. At this point your credibility would appear to be more suspect than mine. Recently there have been a number of "newbies" who have suddenly appeared attempting to mudding the waters in regard to the situation at 3ABN, some more subtlety and other less so. I look forward to following your future posts and seeing which way the wind is blowing from your direction...

okay, I have been following this thread, wondering where it would lead, what info would come forth, etc... and I am really not feeling it at the moment.... as I stated earlier having the issues you struggle with or the mistakes you have made exposed in public would not be something you looked forward to..... this thread is closed as it does not deal with the issues between danny and linda or danny's running of 3abn.....
