13

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ An Unauthorized History Of 3abn

Posted by: sister Apr 24 2006, 01:30 PM

Takin' care of business...

Leaving the bright Illinois sunshine behind, entering a corridor, my pupils fully dilate attempting to gather all the available light. Making my way into a cavernous expanse, the echo of my athletic shoes as they slap against the well polished floor, reverberate off a distant wall. The sound of a hand striking against a bank of switches signals the immediate blaze of lights that now illuminate the space before me. Instinctively, I turn my head and my hand springs up to shade my eyes, resting on the brim of my baseball cap. The thump of the basketball accompanies me as I dribble over to the free throw line. I stop. Turning my back to the basket, I raise the ball. In a split second it leaps backward over my head through the air, like a tiger springing for it's prey. A hush falls over the crowd that has gathered, the air is thick with anticipation. Contact! The ball bounces off the backboard echoing through the hushed gym, circling the rim it falls neatly through the net. The previous silence, so thick that you could cut it with a knife, erupts with astonishment as the crowd that has assembled in the basketball court at 3ABN witness "the miracle shot". But this is not my story, it is not I who stands poised at the free throw line. That place is reserved for Danny Shelton.

For a brief moment that particular impression of Danny traces a line across my memories. As I think back over the years at 3ABN, I must admit, it is a truly amazing shot. On how many occasions have I had the opportunity to witness this exhibition of basketball prowess; sometimes successfully executed, sometime not? More than I care to number... A singular thought begins to worm it way up into the foreground of my mind: just how much time has Danny invested endeavoring to perfect this feat of basketball artistry?

Question:
When Danny is occupied on his basketball court and at a myriad of other equally "important" activities that keep him from his office, who does the actual taking care of business at 3ABN?
Answer:
Molly Steenson.

If a bolt of lighting made a direct strike on Danny Shelton, leading to his immediate demise, very little would change in the administrative offices of 3ABN. Of course someone else would have to sign all the documents that lay waiting on Danny's desk, but, if like Danny they only sign the contracts and not read them, that is less than an additional hours work each week. Molly would to continue running the business of 3ABN, as she has done for many years. First as Danny's secretary, now as General Manager and Board member of 3ABN. Many of her responsibilities would not change, only the perks and the title. Hal and Molly Steenson could comfortably slide into the position that Danny currently occupies...at a moments notice. 13

Even as we speak, preparation is being made for this eventuality. And Danny has played right into Molly's hands. As Hal has often quoted Molly, "Make sure you have them smiling before you hit them in the mouth, that way you won't bruise their lips". Then Hal laughs and the congregation joins in with him. Around T'ville this only produces an uncomfortable silence, too many workers have been on the receiving end, by making the mistake of crossing Molly or getting in the way of something she wants. Ask Linda Shelton, I am sure she has realized the part that Molly played in her dismissal from 3ABN. Danny has been smiling and trusting in Molly for many years. Sister White has warned us about leaning too heavily upon the arm of flesh, but unfortunately for Danny, he is not a reader.

The major difference between Danny and Linda situations, is the lack of need for any trumped up accusations or other subterfuge to remove him from the throne of power. All it will take is no more secrets. And Molly holds the key to this Pandora's box. Unfortunately, for the ministry of 3ABN, exchanging Danny for Molly would be like jumping out of the frying pan into the fire.

Come with me behind the scenes at 3ABN and watch some of the preparations as they unfold: Hal has already published his first book, promoted by the ministry. Both Molly and Hal are logging in more on air time and becoming familiar faces to the viewers. Danny has touted Molly publically and in 3ABN publications as a woman of integrity...Molly/integrity? Around the water cooler that is definitely an oxymoron. Molly and Hal's attendance as featured speakers is steadily increasing at 3ABN Rallies. Both are accomplished orators. After spending the last two years being subjected to Danny's repetitious and clumsy attempts at homiletics, too often laced with his emotional venting; is crushingly evident, that he pales in comparison with Hal Steenson's masterful precision in skillfully holding an audience. As Hal demonstrates his verbal charisma, boasting a combination of homespun wisdom, good old southern boy humor and Biblical expertise, Danny has indisputably been outclassed.

Perhaps Danny should wake up, smell the coffee and start reading the writing on the wall, before he finds someone else raising "his baby". Of course, materially he would definitely leave as a wealthy man, all his financial needs provided for life, but like Samson when his hair was shorn, he would loose all of his power and influence. Power and influence are an addictive combination, dangerous as mixing certain prescription medications and alcohol, with the results being just as lethal. As in the case of Samson, the only cure was a true heartrending repentance and humbling of character. Should Danny choose to follow the road of redemption, he would still have to reap the consequences of his actions, but the angels in Heaven would be rejoicing over another sinner saved. (According to some members of the Shelton clan, if that event were ever to occur, it would be the real miracle story of 3ABN.)

To be continued...

Posted by: calvin Apr 24 2006, 03:56 PM

Just curious, has there been a moratorium on 3ABN bashing at Club Adventist?

Posted by: Clay Apr 24 2006, 03:59 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 24 2006, 03:56 PM)
>
> Just curious, has there been a moratorium on 3ABN bashing at Club Adventist?

you think it has shifted here Calvin?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 24 2006, 06:11 PM

See now, I enjoy reading about, viewing the history of anything(which is why I spend a good amount of my time watching NGC,THC, In Search of.......etc) and the history of 3ABN, Even though unofficial, is no different. However, you know I was just about to ask the motivation for these revelations and why here.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 24 2006, 01:56 PM)
>
> Just curious, has there been a moratorium on 3ABN bashing at Club Adventist?

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 24 2006, 06:28 PM

I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN"

Posted by: beartrap Apr 24 2006, 08:54 PM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 24 2006, 06:28 PM)
>
> I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN"

rofl "Behind the Scenes" Paper Tigers, how about "Golden Opportunities" How about Moses and "what do you have in your hand?"

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 24 2006, 09:23 PM

oh the wealth of sayings that we could come up with

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 24 2006, 09:42 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 24 2006, 06:11 PM)
>
> See now, I enjoy reading about, viewing the history of anything(which is why I spend a good amount of my time watching NGC,THC, In Search of.......etc) and the history of 3ABN, Even though unofficial, is no different. However, you know I was just about to ask the motivation for these revelations and why here.

It's a Danny and the Revelation Seminar. rofl

Posted by: sister Apr 25 2006, 04:11 AM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 24 2006, 07:28 PM) ☐
>
> I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN"

AMEN.

Posted by: Prisca Apr 25 2006, 04:44 AM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Apr 24 2006, 12:46 PM) ☐
>
> ITA...I'm not taking sides on whether Danny is right or wrong because I've only watched 3ABN in passing and have no interest in watching it, but from what I know of his ministry and after reading this thread, I can't help but think that maybe the people who donate to 3ABN need to be a little more discerning and a little less gullible. Sometimes we Christians practice "salvation by works" in a round-about way...thinking that if we give to a worthy cause (in this case 3ABN) then somehow we're helping to "evangelize", yet those same people won't even say good morning to their neighbor.

Those that remain 'loyal' may state that they are supporting the 'product'. As long as people are testifying that they didn't know about God and didn't understand certain truths, or needed the counsel of Kuzma and Quinn...the product remains, in some eyes, as the most important thing. Not the personalities or faults of the people involved. A little apology, a little change in staff, a little of this and a little of that and people will forgive and go on.

[quote name='summertime' date='Apr 24 2006, 01:27 PM' post='127721']
The problem , in my own thinking, is that people will not believe because the SDA church ,as a whole, will not deal with the problem. . The minister told me to let God take care of Danny's wrongs, but I, so far, have not spoken to a minister, with the exception of a few, who will put their foot out and make it openly kown that they are going to quit asking for offerings for 3ABN because of the waste of the money there.

18

Summertime,
Please don't be discouraged because of waste of money or two facedness or anything like that. You do know that God is fully capable of taking care of it. Remember King David? What would we say today, if David were our leader? You do know that he continued to keep Bathsheba in his home as his wife. He never turned her 'out' and it was her son that became the next king, and God blessed Him. It may sound trite to hear what the minister told you, but it can be terribly true.

Priscilla[color=#FF0000]

Posted by: Nuggie Apr 25 2006, 04:46 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 24 2006, 07:11 PM) ☐
>
> See now, I enjoy reading about, viewing the history of anything(which is why I spend a good amount of my time watching NGC,THC, In Search of.......etc) and the history of 3ABN, Even though unofficial, is no different. However, you know I was just about to ask the motivation for > these revelations and why here.

Di, I've been wondering the same thing ever since this thread began.

Posted by: summertime Apr 25 2006, 08:06 AM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Apr 25 2006, 04:46 AM) ☐
>
> Di, I've been wondering the same thing ever since this thread began.

believe the point of all these 'revealings' by sister may be that she has been prompted by God to inally tell the truth. Apparently, she was or is around the 3ABN administration enough to know what is going on. Sometimes we need to know the story from first hand experiences. My eyes have been opened for at least 2 years--nothing surprises me, but since I have not been there and cant speak for he people that are, I am grateful for someone who has or is telling the truth. It is not bashing, nor is t a made up story. This is not hearsay, from my own beliefs, it is written by authoratative sources. Yes, in the long run, the Lord will take care of this-eventually, but sometimes it takes his peoples hands, to tell the story the way that it is. I believe that God uses His story, in His way, in His time. Even his disciples told their writings the way that they saw it and in due time for the rest of the world o read the story of Christ when He was on this earth. Reread the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and ohn to see what I mean. Not Everyone, at the time Jesus was on this earth spoke well of Him, but the disciples were less than kind in telling the truth about one another. But the telling of the truth was nspired by God. Truth has reason behind it.

had a cousin, many years ago, who called himself blessed by God and became a self-proclaimed minister with little professional training. and he called many people to God. These people are still in he Church, but he left the church, became wanted for evil doings even by the FBI, and today his ashes are buried in another person's grave. Was he used by God? I don't know but there are many generations of good SDA people whose grandparents were brought into the church by this apparently-ost man. Only God will judge him. But he did do a good work for God for a time, He was a dishonest man, he was found to be a bigamist, but the Lord still used him for a season.he was found out to actually be a bigamist. I believe these stories need to be told even though they seem to be about the blessed who in the end seem to be lost.

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 25 2006, 12:59 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Apr 25 2006, 08:06 AM) ☐
>
> This is not hearsay, from my own beliefs, it is written by authoratative sources.

t is hearsay and her say.. So what? Aint nothing wrong with hearsay or hersay. We aint in cott.

Posted by: sister Apr 25 2006, 02:02 PM

Why?...

Start the clock running...4 minutes for a commercial break, the countdown begins. This is CSI:Illinois (Church Show Investigation) and the computer in master control at NBC has inserted the scheduled commercials. Stay tuned for action that will follow...

Now the real action moves inside the living room. With the speed and agility of a pro team, the entire family responds in unison. Dad leaps to visit the facilities, sister rebounds from the kitchen, everybody's favorite drink is refreshed "remember Mama wants more ice in her tea", while Mama throws the popcorn into the microwave and grabs more chips, and in a flash the final countdown: 5...4...3...2...1 and the entire family has settled in their places, a look of anticipation on their faces. Tension is running high, what will that last shred of evidence reveal in the lab?

We interrupt the in-flight movie for brief announcement. Please remain in your seats, return your tray to an upright position and fasten your seatbelt, this is an announcement from your pilot and it just may answer some of your questions...

Both princessdi and Nuggie have wondered about "the motivation for these revelations and why here." PaperTigers responded, "I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN".

And now the rest of the story... I joined BSDA on December 17, 2004. I was surfing the net and found some references to this site. After lurking for a while, I joined. To be quite candid, I continued lurking even as a member. With the renewed interest in 3ABN after Danny's recent marriage, I began posting in the thread concerning that topic. A realization began to form, there is so much speculation about what has happened at 3ABN, perhaps it was time for someone with "insider" knowledge to pull away the curtain and reveal that the mighty Oz, was no more than a middle-aged man pulling the strings behind the facade. The only power he has is in the secrets that lie "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN" and too many of those "Golden Opportunities" were funneled directly or collaterally filling Danny's pockets

13

Why here? This is the online SDA forum where I am a member.

My motivation? It's time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN", with knowledge comes responsibility.

Stay tuned as the story continues...

Posted by: Clay Apr 25 2006, 02:06 PM

Sister.... no problem from me, just continue posting the facts as you know them to be, and all will be fine..... like I said before, this info is interesting, given that I had never paid much attention to 3ABN before....

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2006, 03:20 PM

Question sufficiently answered.....post on!!!!

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 25 2006, 01:02 PM)
>
> Why?...
>
> Start the clock running...4 minutes for a commercial break, the countdown begins. This is CSI:Illinois (Church Show Investigation) and the computer in master control at NBC has inserted the scheduled commercials. Stay tuned for action that will follow...
>
> Now the real action moves inside the living room. With the speed and agility of a pro team, the entire family responds in unison. Dad leaps to visit the facilities, sister rebounds from the kitchen, > everybody's favorite drink is refreshed "remember Mama wants more ice in her tea", while Mama throws the popcorn into the microwave and grabs more chips, and in a flash the final countdown: 5...4...3...2...1 and the entire family has settled in their places, a look of anticipation on their faces. Tension is running high, what will that last shred of evidence reveal in the lab?

>
> We interrupt the in-flight movie for brief announcement. Please remain in your seats, return your tray to an upright position and fasten your seatbelt, this is an announcement from your pilot and it just may answer some of your questions...
>
> Both princessdi and Nuggie have wondered about "the motivation for these revelations and why here." PaperTigers responded, "I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN".
>
> And now the rest of the story... I joined BSDA on December 17, 2004. I was surfing the net and found some references to this site. After lurking for a while, I joined. To be quite candid, I continued lurking even as a member. With the renewed interest in 3ABN after Danny's recent marriage, I began posting in the thread concerning that topic. A realization began to form, there is so much speculation about what has happened at 3ABN, perhaps it was time for someone with "insider" knowledge to pull away the curtain and reveal that the mighty Oz, was no more than a middle-aged man pulling the strings behind the facade. The only power he has is in the secrets that lie "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN" and too many of those "Golden Opportunities" were funneled directly or collaterally filling Danny's pockets
>
> Why here? This is the online SDA forum where I am a member.
>
> My motivation? It's time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN", with knowledge comes responsibility.
>
> Stay tuned as the story continues...

Posted by: sister Apr 25 2006, 05:24 PM

Clay and princessdi! Thanks, I will continue...

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 25 2006, 05:37 PM

I agree with them!!! You should definitely keep posting... I am enjoying the little tidbits that I didn't already know (not very many of them, but a few)

Posted by: Nuggie Apr 25 2006, 06:04 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 25 2006, 03:02 PM)
>
> Why?...
>
> Start the clock running...4 minutes for a commercial break, the countdown begins. This is CSI:Illinois (Church Show Investigation) and the computer in master control at NBC has inserted the scheduled commercials. Stay tuned for action that will follow...
>
> Now the real action moves inside the living room. With the speed and agility of a pro team, the > entire family responds in unison. Dad leaps to visit the facilities, sister rebounds from the kitchen, everybody's favorite drink is refreshed "remember Mama wants more ice in her tea", while Mama throws the popcorn into the microwave and grabs more chips, and in a flash the final countdown: 5...4...3...2...1 and the entire family has settled in their places, a look of anticipation on their faces. Tension is running high, what will that last shred of evidence reveal in the lab?

>
> We interrupt the in-flight movie for brief announcement. Please remain in your seats, return your tray to an upright position and fasten your seatbelt, this is an announcement from your pilot and it just may answer some of your questions...
>
> Both princessdi and Nuggie have wondered about "the motivation for these revelations and why here." PaperTigers responded, "I think the motivation might be that it's just time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN".
>
> And now the rest of the story... I joined BSDA on December 17, 2004. I was surfing the net and found some references to this site. After lurking for a while, I joined. To be quite candid, I continued lurking even as a member. With the renewed interest in 3ABN after Danny's recent marriage, I began posting in the thread concerning that topic. A realization began to form, there is so much speculation about what has happened at 3ABN, perhaps it was time for someone with "insider" knowledge to pull away the curtain and reveal that the mighty Oz, was no more than a middle-aged man pulling the strings behind the facade. The only power he has is in the secrets that lie "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN" and too many of those "Golden Opportunities" were funneled directly or collaterally filling Danny's pockets
>
> Why here? This is the online SDA forum where I am a member.
>
> My motivation? It's time that more people were allowed to see "Behind the Scenes at 3ABN", with knowledge comes responsibility.
>
> Stay tuned as the story continues...

oesn't matter to me either way...like I mentioned in another post I'm not too keen on 3ABN nyway...I just wondered what prompted the history lesson. Question asked and answered. Carry on. hanks.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 25 2006, 07:17 PM

Thank you for giving me some truf about the 3...

Posted by: beartrap Apr 25 2006, 07:58 PM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 25 2006, 06:37 PM)
>
> I agree with them!!! You should definitely keep posting... I am enjoying the little tidbits that I didn't already know (not very many of them, but a few)

rue. Paper Tigers was one of those people who said little, but heard and saw much.

y the way, Sister, one of those thunderstoms is blowing in Thompsonville right now. Are you fleeing he area of West Frankfort Lake Rd and the big yellow house? As Danny says, "What do you have in your hand?" A shepherd's rod? Or could it be a lightning rod?

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 25 2006, 08:08 PM

I love thunderstorms!! They are so pretty

Posted by: AmeliaLD Apr 25 2006, 09:07 PM

> QUOTE
> Just curious, has there been a moratorium on 3ABN bashing at Club Adventist?

In public yes, but we created a private (by request) forum where concerns are still discussed.

Posted by: calvin Apr 25 2006, 09:52 PM

> QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Apr 25 2006, 09:07 PM)
>
> In public yes, but we created a private (by request) forum where concerns are still discussed.

Thanks for giving a straight answer.

Posted by: Prisca Apr 26 2006, 04:22 AM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 26 2006, 02:08 AM)
>
> I love thunderstorms!! They are so pretty

I loved the magnetic storms in the mid-west. They were awesome.

Someone mentioned the souls involved. Imagine being so caught up with day to day survival and business that one's own personal relationship with God is, to say the least, compromised. May this never be said of any of us.

Posted by: Johann Apr 26 2006, 05:29 AM

> QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Apr 26 2006, 04:07 AM)

> In public yes, but we created a private (by request) forum where concerns are still discussed.

Even there the discussion is not quite as free as here

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 26 2006, 05:40 AM

I can say from personal experience, that you can get so caught up in survival and covering your own rearend, that your relationship with God can greatly suffer... It took me a while to get mine back to a place where I actually enjoyed church and discussions about God and HIS LOVE!!!

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 26 2006, 06:44 AM

> QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Apr 25 2006, 11:07 PM)
>
> In public yes, but we created a private (by request) forum where concerns are still discussed.

Melia, where is it? I haven't seen it.

Posted by: Fran Apr 26 2006, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 26 2006, 05:29 AM)
>
> Even there the discussion is not quite as free as here

CA has some members under a gag order. You can only say what they want you to say. It has become very nice here as I read the truth!

There is much more to the story. I visit here before bothering to check CA.

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 09:48 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 26 2006, 09:42 AM)
>
> CA has some members under a gag order. You can only say what they want you to say. It has become very nice here as I read the truth!
>
> There is much more to the story. I visit here before bothering to check CA.

that's our policy here... nothing off limits, just be polite when disagreeing...

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 26 2006, 10:22 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 26 2006, 11:42 AM) ☐
>
> I visit here before bothering to check CA.

Me too!! There is so much more to read and learn here. Thanks Sister for posting what you have. Its been real interesting........

Posted by: sister Apr 26 2006, 01:06 PM

"What do you have in your hand?"...

There are incidents related that become the stuff from which legends and myths are created. One such story is told of a fund raising event that occurred in the Northwest. According to legend it came to pass in the open air, at dusk. That brief magical time between the light of day, where in the brightness of truth can separate itself from falsehood and the dark of night where intrigues are plotted and hatched. Danny was relating the story of Moses. Arriving at the juncture where God questions Moses, "What do you have in your hand?"We all know the answer, clasped in Moses' hand is his Shepherd's rod. An account is given of Danny throwing down a stick and unbeknownst to him, a snake slithers out of the grass. As the crowd stands mesmerized, Danny continues on with the story seemingly unaware of what has occurred. And the donations roll in. Upon closer examination, it has been suggested that the real snake in the grass stood on two legs.

So the birth of a new slogan for separating viewers from the contents of their wallets had taken place. But the reality and the intended results comically skewed in different directions. Rather than cold, hard cash all sorts of items were showing up at the compound of 3ABN: boats, RV's, cars, boxed silverware sets, crocheted pillows lovingly crafted by white-haired ladies, and the list goes on and on... The good viewers took the call literally, to the chagrin of Danny Shelton, and Studio B took on the appearance of a major flea market.

To paraphrase the 19th century Scottish poet Robert Burns, "the best laid plans of mice and men often go astray, creating more problems, than the joy and gain envisioned by the schemers".

It has been said that "that which is of God prospers, but not everything that prospers is of God".There is a big yellow house located on the West Frankfort Lake Road. It is the house that Danny built. Not difficult to find, it's location is an open secret in T'ville, only the employees of 3ABN have been forbidden to divulge it's location.

Before it's location was a so closely guarded secret from the viewers, I once heard tell of a man and his wife that were visiting 3ABN from California, a major marketing area for donations. After visiting the studios, turning left onto Highway 50, heading in the direction of West Frankfort, they took the first left onto West Frankfort Lake road. The entire parcel of land on their left was open pasture and a small herd of horses were grazing in the afternoon sunshine. The angle of light hitting some long shafts of dried grass made them appear as if they were straw spun out of pure gold. This field extends from the highway to the next T junction of West Frankfort Lake Road that leads to the driveway of what was the home of Danny and Linda Shelton. That beautifully lite pasture land belongs to 3ABN and the herd of horses grazing there to Danny Shelton.

As the reflection of the afternoon sun brings a faint shimmer of gold to the big yellow house, the man turns off the ignition of his car, both he and his wife stare in wonder. This huge yellow house facing them on the West Frankfort Lake Road is not the home they had envisioned for Danny and Linda Shelton. As they sit there, the wife slowly opens her purse, her hand reaches for her checkbook. She takes out the check that she had forgotten to give to Molly Steenson after their tour of the studio. How fortunate they had made this detour before heading over to the old studio site to visit the location of the new 3ABN Radio station. The following thought passes through her mind as she shreds the check into tiny pieces: if Danny and Linda can live in an estate like this, 3ABN really doesn't need our donations. Returning to California that was the last check ever logged in that check register with 3ABN as the recipient and across the entry was neatly penned in capital letter one word, VOID.

---

* * *

As a curtain is pulled back, a familiar face peers out from behind the window observing the rain from the big yellow house on West Frankfort Lake Road. A bolt of lighting, so close that the tremendous roar of thunder that accompanies it is separated by only a fraction of a second, sends him recoiling from his observation post. Not enough time is available for Brandy's children to complete the first number in the childhood countdown for reckoning distance...

The house that Danny built shakes in anticipation with the ever increasing possibility that the next hit could dislodge the actual foundation, its former glory dispersed, scattered by the four winds like a house of cards.

Wipe the sleet clean: remove Danny Shelton, Molly and Hal Steenson, Walt Thompson and the others that have been involved in supporting this corrupt administration. After the dust has settled and the rubble has been removed, what is left: a world-wide ministry with programming intended to reach people thirsting for the truth of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. 13

To be continued...

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 07:36 PM

A progression that I found interesting is that of the "God Complex." In 1990, I remember a week of prayer at 3ABN that was done by Hal and Mollie Steenson. They told us employees that God had given us to Danny as gifts all wrapped up, and that when those gifts were opened, Danny would reveal to us who we were, what we were, and what we were to become.

Some years later, Mollie came to 3ABN and took the position of Danny's personal secretary. She immediately started telling Danny and everyone else that God speaks to Danny, and speaks to us through Danny. Then E.T. Everett arrived and took it a step further. She led Danny to believe that whatever thoughts and impressions he had regarding anything were the voice of God. Soon Danny was looking at people and telling them that the Lord was revealing this or that about them. He was being shown things in dreams or visions. If you disagreed with him, you were disagreeing with God himself because he was the voice of God. 13

I will never forget the man in Denver, CO at a church I was speaking in. After the service, he told me that I was so fortunate to be working with God's final prophet for the end times. He said that E.G. White was the prophet for her day, but Danny was a much greater prophet.

Danny seems to have surrounded himself with people who enforce that in him, and it has come to the point where Even a board member who works at 3ABN said, when someone disagreed with Danny, "To us, Danny is God."

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 07:39 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 07:36 PM)
>
> A progression that I found interesting is that of the "God Complex." In 1990, I remember a week of prayer at 3ABN that was done by Hal and Mollie Steenson. They told us employees that God had given us to Danny as gifts all wrapped up, and that when those gifts were opened, Danny would reveal to us who we were, what we were, and what we were to become.
>
> Some years later, Mollie came to 3ABN and took the position of Danny's personal secretary. She immediately started telling Danny and everyone else that God speaks to Danny, and speaks to us through Danny. Then E.T. Everett arrived and took it a step further. She led Danny to believe that whatever thoughts and impressions he had regarding anything were the voice of God. Soon Danny was looking at people and telling them that the Lord was revealing this or that about them. He was being shown things in dreams or visions. If you disagreed with him, you were disagreeing with God himself because he was the voice of God.
>
> I will never forget the man in Denver, CO at a church I was speaking in. After the service, he told me that I was so fortunate to be working with God's final prophet for the end times. He said that E.G. White was the prophet for her day, but Danny was a much greater prophet.
>
> Danny seems to have surrounded himself with people who enforce that in him, and it has come to the point where Even a board member who works at 3ABN said, when someone disagreed with Danny, "To us, Danny is God."

Okay now that is just sick.... and what's worse is that people who should know better are sucking it up without questioning it.....

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 26 2006, 07:50 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 07:36 PM)
>
> I will never forget the man in Denver, CO at a church I was speaking in. After the service, he told me that I was so fortunate to be working with God's final prophet for the end times. He said that E.G. White was the prophet for her day, but Danny was a much greater prophet.

Please say you are just joking. It can't be this bad....

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 26 2006, 07:52 PM

Unfortunately it really is that bad ...

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 07:55 PM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 26 2006, 08:52 PM)
>
> Unfortunately it really is that bad ...

that's what happens when we isolate ourselves from others.... our adventist colonies can produce some interesting mutations....

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 07:56 PM

What's worse is that people who question it are demonized and ostrasized even by church leadership. they are told that Danny is doing the work of the Lord by spreading the message about the Sabbath, the state of the dead, diet, and end-time events, and that those who oppose his unethical and wrong behaviour are jeopordizing the Lord's work on Earth. THAT, Clay, is what I find to be the most appalling thing about this entire mess.

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 08:03 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 08:56 PM)
>
> What's worse is that people who question it are demonized and ostrasized even by church leadership. they are told that Danny is doing the work of the Lord by spreading the message about the Sabbath, the state of the dead, diet, and end-time events, and that those who oppose his unethical and wrong behaviour are jeopordizing the Lord's work on Earth. THAT, Clay, is what I find to be the most appalling thing about this entire mess.

yes I would agree that indeed is appalling....the end cannot justify the means....

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 08:07 PM

Foul behaviour seems to be either justifiable, or deniable as long a s the perpetrator is saying the right things in furtherance of the true pillars of our faith, and is capable of being a platform from which other church leaders can say their piece.

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 08:12 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 08:07 PM)
>
> Foul behaviour seems to be either justifiable, or deniable as long a s the perpetrator is saying the right things in furtherance of the true pillars of our faith, and is capable of being a platform from which other church leaders can say their piece.

are you suggesting that the NAD firmly supports 3ABN?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2006, 08:27 PM

Have mercy!!!!! No wonder the "spiritual adultery' was alright with them! That is just plain scary.

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 05:36 PM)
>
> A progression that I found interesting is that of the "God Complex." In 1990, I remember a week of > prayer at 3ABN that was done by Hal and Mollie Steenson. They told us employees that God had given us to Danny as gifts all wrapped up, and that when those gifts were opened, Danny would reveal to us who we were, what we were, and what we were to become.

>
> Some years later, Mollie came to 3ABN and took the position of Danny's personal secretary. She immediately started telling Danny and everyone else that God speaks to Danny, and speaks to us through Danny. Then E.T. Everett arrived and took it a step further. She led Danny to believe that whatever thoughts and impressions he had regarding anything were the voice of God. Soon Danny was looking at people and telling them that the Lord was revealing this or that about them. He was being shown things in dreams or visions. If you disagreed with him, you were disagreeing with God himself because he was the voice of God.
>
> I will never forget the man in Denver, CO at a church I was speaking in. After the service, he told me that I was so fortunate to be working with God's final prophet for the end times. He said that E.G. White was the prophet for her day, but Danny was a much greater prophet.
>
> Danny seems to have surrounded himself with people who enforce that in him, and it has come to the point where Even a board member who works at 3ABN said, when someone disagreed with Danny, "To us, Danny is God."

oand add GC in there.......

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 26 2006, 06:12 PM)
>
> are you suggesting that the NAD firmly supports 3ABN?

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 26 2006, 09:12 PM)
>
> are you suggesting that the NAD firmly supports 3ABN?

can't say that the NAD does, or doesn't firmly support 3ABN, but I can say that there are a number f influential leaders from the local conference level on up to the GC who firmly support Danny helton. As one of them once told me, there is a vastly wealthy man who unquestioningly supports anny, and no church entity with any monetary sense will jeopordize funding from this man by uestioning Danny's integrity.

13

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2006, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 08:27 PM)
>
> I can't say that the NAD does, or doesn't firmly support 3ABN, but I can say that there are a number of influential leaders from the local conference level on up to the GC who firmly support Danny Shelton. As one of them once told me, there is a vastly wealthy man who unquestioningly supports Danny, and no church entity with any monetary sense will jeopordize funding from this > man by questioning Danny's integrity.

ep.. like I say.... follow the money, and its clear this .org needs to be dismantled and reformed from cratch.....

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2006, 08:31 PM

Now that's what I was asking.........

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 07:27 PM)
>
> I can't say that the NAD does, or doesn't firmly support 3ABN, but I can say that there are a number of influential leaders from the local conference level on up to the GC who firmly support Danny Shelton. As one of them once told me, there is a vastly wealthy man who unquestioningly supports Danny, and no church entity with any monetary sense will jeopordize funding from this man by questioning Danny's integrity.

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 08:35 PM

It would be unfair of me not to add that those church entities and personalities that are shown, or featured on 3ABN are not about to do anything that will put their programs in danger of being pulled. Danny has demonstrated very firmly that he will pull the programs of those who question him in any way. Dan Matthews, Barbara Kerr, Loma Linda, just to name a few.

There are also other considerations, such as the fact that the Illinois conference President is on the 3ABN board, and both of his parents work for Danny.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2006, 08:38 PM

Oh my!! I sees whole lot of folks are going to be crispy! I hope this all gets sorted out soon, 3ABN can be a and is a powerful tool for speading the Gospel.

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 07:35 PM)
>

> It would be unfair of me not to add that those church entities and personalities that are shown, or featured on 3ABN are not about to do anything that will put their programs in danger of being pulled. Danny has demonstrated very firmly that he will pull the programs of those who question him in any way. Dan Matthews, Barbara Kerr, Loma Linda, just to name a few.
>
> There are also other considerations, such as the fact that the Illinois conference President is on the 3ABN board, and both of his parents work for Danny.

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 26 2006, 08:40 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 10:35 PM) ☐
>
> It would be unfair of me not to add that those church entities and personalities that are shown, or featured on 3ABN are not about to do anything that will put their programs in danger of being pulled. Danny has demonstrated very firmly that he will pull the programs of those who question him in any way. Dan Matthews, Barbara Kerr, Loma Linda, just to name a few

That is something else.....I always like Ty Gibson and Rafferty(hope spelled name right) them too?

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 08:46 PM

I don't know about Ty and James. I have always liked them, and in person they are both very humble guys. I haven't communicated with either of them since I left 3ABN, except for a brief email with James. Their organization is not part of the church structure, so I doubt their influence means anything much one way or the other.

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 26 2006, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 10:46 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know about Ty and James. I have always liked them, and in person they are both very humble guys. I haven't communicated with either of them since I left 3ABN, except for a brief email with James. Their organization is not part of the church structure, so I doubt their influence means anything much one way or the other.

Yes, I find(see) them very humble on TV. I always enjoyed on what they spoke on.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 26 2006, 09:11 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 26 2006, 08:12 PM) ☐
>
> are you suggesting that the NAD firmly supports 3ABN?

It's a little more complicated than that. There is "behind the scenes" political arm twisting.

At the Toronto General Conference session, it was voted to make Don Schneider the president of the North American Division (NAD) of the Adventist Church. I believe this may have been done with help from Danny Shelton and others, who were apparently allowed to vote as "at-large" delegates, even though their respective conferences never invited them to do so. I think the "at large" delegates wanted "their man" in office.

15

The http://atoday.com/magazine/archive/2000/julaug2000/news/nadpres.shtml story says:

"The GC [General Conference] officers used the provision in the GC bylaws permitting additional at-large delegates to be appointed by the GC committee to invite Danny Shelton, president of 3ABN, and others to come to the GC session as delegates even though they were not selected as delegates by the union conference where they reside. "

"...it appears that the votes were there to give Schneider a majority...."

"3ABN also wanted dominance of local church programming and broadcasting around North America. AT's sources suspect that pressure to block Follett's re-election came from issues of this kind. Two of them described Paulsen's [church world president] agony over not wanting to be influenced by major donors but that he was feeling great pressure. "

"Four individuals confirm with AT's source that Phil Follett, the general Vice President of the GC who provided administrative oversight for communications and broadcasting, was not re-elected because ASI and 3ABN leaders pressured Paulsen to make a change. "

Although I was not in Toronto, and was not a witness to all of this, I have always suspected that Don Schneider serves - to a degree - at the pleasure of "Danny Shelton and others" as mentioned in this story.

Now, I ask you, if you were the NAD president, how could you turn against the "delegates" who voted to put you into office in the first place, if that is what happened?

So, it would be reasonable to guess that the NAD supports Danny Shelton.

The article is entitled: http://atoday.com/magazine/archive/2000/julaug2000/news/nadpres.shtml

http://atoday.com/magazine/archive/2000/julaug2000/news/nadpres.shtml

---

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 26 2006, 09:18 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 26 2006, 08:55 PM) ☐
>
> that's what happens when we isolate ourselves from others.... our adventist colonies can produce some interesting mutations....,

I thought there were laws against in-breeding...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: beartrap Apr 26 2006, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 26 2006, 10:18 PM) ☐
>
> I thought there were laws against in-breeding...
>
> In His service,

> Mr. J

ome to our little compound in Thompsonville and you will see the real results of inbreeding.

Posted by: Prisca Apr 27 2006, 04:26 AM

Regarding the comments that Danny began to feel the Lord was speaking to him. How responsible would we hold a person who had been deluded by minds much stronger than his? How could this all be sorted out so that the programming wouldn't suffer? Would it just take the sacrifice of Danny, stepping up with an apology and stepping down from the station? Are there other things that need to be changed? These and other questions are rolling around in mind, including, if anything IS done will it be in time?

priscilla

Posted by: summertime Apr 27 2006, 07:35 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Apr 27 2006, 05:26 AM)
>
> Regarding the comments that Danny began to feel the Lord was speaking to him. How responsible would we hold a person who had been deluded by minds much stronger than his? How could this all be sorted out so that the programming wouldn't suffer? Would it just take the sacrifice of Danny, stepping up with an apology and stepping down from the station? Are there other things that need to be changed? These and other questions are rolling around in mind, including, if anything IS done will it be in time?
>
> priscilla

guess that this is to speak my mind. This comes from someone who was a genuine advocate for nything once shown on 3ABN. But now, with the whole world knowing the fact that Danny has ommitted adultry, and since if you break one commandment you have broken them all, why in the vorld do good, honest, workers for God (my favorite is Lyle Albrecht) appear on the network where he President of said network has disregarded the call of God to obey,---do these good honest vangelists not pay for airtime to broadcast the message? There is other Adventist Networks now for hem to utilize. It almost comes to the story told that if you have one rotten apple in a bushel of good pples, the whole barrel soon stinks.

6

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 27 2006, 07:50 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Apr 27 2006, 05:26 AM)
>
> Regarding the comments that Danny began to feel the Lord was speaking to him. How responsible would we hold a person who had been deluded by minds much stronger than his? How could this all be sorted out so that the programming wouldn't suffer? Would it just take the sacrifice of Danny, stepping up with an apology and stepping down from the station? Are there other things that need to be changed? These and other questions are rolling around in mind, including, if anything IS done will it be in time?
>
> priscilla

On what basis can you make the assumption that he has been deluded by 'minds stronger than his'? because he plays the yokel when it suits him to play up his educational deficiencies?

Please tell me you're smarter than that...

If you believe this, did you also believe the Bush was more "common folk" than John Kerry even though they both attended the same identical schools and had remarkably similar affluent upbringings? The whole Ma and Pa Kettle act is something he's been doing for a long time... and yes, he's good at it; good enough that it convinces thousands to send him their hard earned money.

The issue is not Danny's standing at 3ABN; it's his standing in the church... and ultimately before God... and it's the fact that despite one's being able to make a significantly stronger case for his having committed adultery, no one, either on the 3ABN board or in the .org's hierarchy is willing to admit or even investigate it. When he went to Guam to get a quickie divorce, somebody in church employ should have said something. But the more that is divulged, the more it appears that he is surrounded by flatterers and sycophants... latter day Lots riding the coattails of their self-designated Abraham hoping to catch the overflow of 'blessing' because it's easier than seeking God for themselves... and like Lot they thought to pitch their tents toward Sodom... but now find themselves sitting in the gate and even if God Himself appeared to tell them it's time to go their inclination is to resist... 6

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 10:35 PM)
>
> Come to our little compound in Thompsonville and you will see the real results of inbreeding.

No thanks; I'll pass... as my great grandmother used to say... when you sup with the devil use a long handled spoon...

I can see Sodom just fine from the plain at Mamre...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Apr 27 2006, 07:51 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Apr 27 2006, 05:26 AM)
>
> Regarding the comments that Danny began to feel the Lord was speaking to him. How responsible would we hold a person who had been deluded by minds much stronger than his? How could this all be sorted out so that the programming wouldn't suffer? Would it just take the sacrifice of Danny, stepping up with an apology and stepping down from the station? Are there other things that need to be changed? These and other questions are rolling around in mind, including, if anything IS done will it be in time?
>
> priscilla

Well Priscilla we know that just because a person says God is speaking to them doesn't make it so....

secondly, IF that person really believed that, then they would not see that they were deluded....Mr. Shelton will never step down because.... power corrupts....

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 27 2006, 08:40 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 27 2006, 07:51 AM) ☐
>
> Well Priscilla we know that just because a person says God is speaking to them doesn't make it so.... secondly, IF that person really believed that, then they would not see that they were deluded....Mr. Shelton will never step down because.... power corrupts....

...the unconverted heart....which some people have. ☐

Posted by: beartrap Apr 27 2006, 09:01 AM

The question came up about the other folks seen on 3ABN. Whatever their reasons, I am sure that at least some of them have chosen to keep their programs going on that network in spite of Danny, because they truelly want to reach the potential audience that 3ABN covers. Others have chosen to confront the ethical quagmire they see building around Danny, and they have been removed.

13

When it comes to them going on other Adventist media, 3ABN has a much bigger reach than all of the other Adventist media outlets put together (at this point). They may cover the globe by satellite, but without terrestrial coverage, they just shouting into an empty room. Through cable, and terrestrial broadcast 3ABN has substantial coverage.

That having been said, Hope Channel is growing at an unbelievable rate. In just three years they have far surpassed what took 3ABN twelve years to accomplish. Their growth in terrestrial coverage is largely outside the USA, but I strongly encourage you to recommend to your church that they participate in helping HopeTV get on cable locally. I also recommend that if there is a local Christian broadcast station, especially if run by Adventists, that they be encouraged to start carrying Hope Channel at least part time. If you are thinking about where you should put your donations toward the dissemination of Adventist TV programs, consider Hope Channel. This is something very positive that we can do.

Posted by: Clay Apr 27 2006, 09:14 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 27 2006, 09:40 AM) ☐
>
> ...the unconverted heart....which some people have. ☐

that qualifier does nothing but muddy the water... a person can be "coverted" be exposed to power, make a few missteps, be corrupted by it.... are we saying then that the person was never converted? I wouldn't say that...

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 27 2006, 09:20 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 27 2006, 10:14 AM)
>
> that qualifier does nothing but muddy the water... a person can be "coverted" be exposed to power, make a few missteps, be corrupted by it.... are we saying then that the person was never converted? I wouldn't say that...

The Bible says "who can know the heart"....this is not about whether or not you have accepted Christ, but whether or not you have "surrendered all" and one's spiritual maturity...IMO

Posted by: Clay Apr 27 2006, 09:21 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 27 2006, 09:20 AM)
>
> The Bible says "who can know the heart"....this is not about whether or not you have accepted Christ, but whether or not you have "surrendered all" and one's spiritual maturity...IMO

truism.... we can't really know....

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 27 2006, 09:26 AM

For the intents and purposes of this thread, that is the bottom line from what I am hearing from most of the posts (short version)....This is one of those things (again) we have to be careful with because you never know....He may just be one of the surprises in heaven with many others surprises--burned up....

Posted by: higherground2003 Apr 27 2006, 09:55 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 27 2006, 09:26 AM)
>
> For the intents and purposes of this thread, that is the bottom line from what I am hearing from most of the posts (short version)....This is one of those things (again) we have to be careful with because you never know....He may just be one of the surprises in heaven with many others surprises--burned up....

To be honest, I am shocked that this is even on here. You would think that a "remnant" organization would never jump to conclusions based on one side of the story.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Apr 27 2006, 10:24 AM

> QUOTE
>
> To be honest, I am shocked that this is even on here. You would think that a "remnant" organization would never jump to conclusions based on one side of the story. tongue.gif

Yes but when there are more than 1 person telling the same story & some of these folks have worked previously at 3ABN & have seen first hand what is going on we are not jumping to conclusions we are going by FACTS! I know some of the things being said are true as I have seen it myself or been told the "stories" by some of them that the "stories" are about.

Posted by: Clay Apr 27 2006, 10:29 AM

> QUOTE(higherground2003 @ Apr 27 2006, 10:55 AM)
>
> To be honest, I am shocked that this is even on here. You would think that a "remnant" organization would never jump to conclusions based on one side of the story.

Its on here because initially the only side of the story being told was Mr. Shelton's... and they were dragging Linda's name through the mud..... it wasn't right, and many of us here began to dig around to find out the story behind the "official" version... The stuff here is to balance out the hype that 3ABN has been spewing....

Posted by: sister Apr 27 2006, 02:49 PM

A Man of Influence...

His name is recognizable to few of the rank and file that make up the millions of members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Although holding no prominent church office, his name alone guarantees his entrance at the highest organizational levels. Like a master puppeteer who manipulates the strings from behind the curtains, out of sight from the audience, he causes the marionettes to perform at his bidding through the pressure he exerts on their strings. With a few well chosen and well placed words he puts up Division and Conference Presidents, then has them removed or moved at his discretion.

How can one man weld so much power? Money... To refuse to comply with his wishes would mean the rescinding of the funds he so "generously" supplies. As many have experienced, "He who pays the piper calls the tunes." In addition to the organized church, he guides the reins of many familiar SDA organizations. Have you heard of ASI or OCI? Who is this individual that makes church officials tremble in his wake? Who is this shadowy figure, his plans concealed from view? What is his motivation? Where does he fit into our story?

* * * * *

As a come up to a red traffic signal, a large truck is stopped before me. On the mud flaps is a partially obscured name. It ends with the letter "s", but the rest lay hidden behind the construction grime that covers it... I just can not make it out clearly, the image haunts me the entire day as I try to remember the name. Like a snippet of a melody that plays over and over in your head and you can not recall the rest of the tune, it permeates my thoughts.

19

* * * * *

"C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" "CONTROL!" "It is spelled C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" Then Danny opens his mouth, sticks out his tongue and jabbing his fingers toward the opening, completes a gesture for vomiting that one would expect only from a small child. "That is just what Garwin did and said!"Then Danny laughs and continues on with the story.

The story Danny related took place during the administration of Robert Folkenberg as president of the GC. The purpose of the meeting? It depends upon what version you are quoting. To hear it told from Danny's perspective, Folkenberg and the GC were attempting a hostile takeover of 3ABN. As the parties involved addressed each other over the formulation of the document that lay on the table between them and what this would mean for the administrative and operational future of 3ABN, an older man walked in and sat down. Intent upon the negotiations that were suggested by the parties involved, he remained silent. Pairs of eyes darted back and forth, trying to "read" what lay behind his intent expression, with the full knowledge that once his opinion was voiced they would be expected to fall into line.

He stood up and all conversation ceased, you could feel the tension mount as those assembled waited for his pronouncement... Raising his hand toward his head, his mouth opened and sticking out his tongue he jabbed his fingers toward the opening. After completing this gesture he said, "C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" "CONTROL!" "It is spelled C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" With this announcement and his elaborations that followed, 3ABN was "saved" from the interference of the GC. But at what price? Instead of becoming an organization working in conjunction with the organized church, 3ABN became what it is today: a private institution with accountability to no one, run by a man who has professed himself to be as "god" in his ministry.

To be continued...

Posted by: higherground2003 Apr 27 2006, 04:00 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Apr 27 2006, 11:24 AM) ☐
>
> Yes but when there are more than 1 person telling the same story & some of these folks have worked previously at 3ABN & have seen first hand what is going on we are not jumping to conclusions we are going by FACTS! I know some of the things being said are true as I have seen it myself or been told the "stories" by some of them that the "stories" are about.

I know plenty of lies out there that has more than one person telling it. In my opinion, this is just as wrong as what 3abn did.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Apr 27 2006, 04:38 PM

> QUOTE
>
> I know plenty of lies out there that has more than one person telling it. In my opinion, this is just as wrong as what 3abn did.

I find it interesting that since you find it so wrong then why are you reading it? If I find something wrong or that I feel is wrong I surely wouldn't sit & read about it. That is my opinion.

Posted by: sister Apr 27 2006, 07:26 PM

The Sword of Damocles... a warning

A sharpened sword is suspended from the ceiling on a single horse hair above where Damocles is seated. Sweat forms on his brow, his eye begins to twitch, gazing up a thought suddenly leaps into his brain, "Is it more dangerous, to move slowly and deliberately, risking the possibility that even this minute disturbance of air is enough to loose the weaken single strand of hair or to move suddenly, springing forth from his seat, or should he remain perfectly still, diligently pursuing the outcome of each possibility in his mind... 19

I have been warned that in my last post I may have awoken a sleeping giant, much more dangerous than Danny. I have been cautioned that I am probably safe at this time, but that I should be careful to remember what has happened to others that have made statements exposing this influential man for what he does.

The following quote from beartrap speaks for me. I have supplied the bold print.

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 09:27 PM)
>
> I can't say that the NAD does, or doesn't firmly support 3ABN, but I can say that there are a number of influential leaders from the local conference level on up to the GC who firmly support Danny Shelton. As one of them once told me, there is a vastly wealthy man who unquestioningly supports Danny, and no church entity with any monetary sense will jeopordize funding from this man by questioning Danny's integrity.

Stay tuned...

Posted by: Jvat Apr 27 2006, 10:01 PM

Does the SDA church operate like a Mafia Organisation, folks? That a man can have money and use it to manipulate the church to his own ends and GET AWAY WITH IT???? Lord help us all!!!

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 27 2006, 10:16 PM

What is happening to 3ABN now might b a great blessing for the church. Truly the church is the apple of God's eyes. The gates of Hades shall not prevail...the SDA church now has the opportunity to rethink, regroup and be responsible and reject what Danny and his telecult aka 3ABN stand for. As a proivate ministry 3ABN and Danny can do what they want but they should not be given a free pass or wink rob widows and orphans and wheel and deal right in the church to part members from money better spent reaching real people in real communities. But the house of cards is coming down quickly...a few weeks with no airtime and no church will want 3ABN ...the high living and expenses PTL-like will have to be cut back....without airtime 3ABN is nothing...now let's see if they really were about ministry or money-stry. 13

Posted by: Prisca Apr 28 2006, 04:49 AM

> QUOTE(higherground2003 @ Apr 27 2006, 03:55 PM)

> To be honest, I am shocked that this is even on here. You would think that a "remnant" organization would never jump to conclusions based on one side of the story.

We seem to excell at 'fruit inspection'...It is the only side we have, although there are three sides. His side, her side and the truth.

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 27 2006, 03:01 PM)
>
> The question came up about the other folks seen on 3ABN. Whatever their reasons, I am sure that at least some of them have chosen to keep their programs going on that network in spite of Danny, because they truelly want to reach the potential audience that 3ABN covers. Others have chosen to confront the ethical quagmire they see building around Danny, and they have been removed.
>
> When it comes to them going on other Adventist media, 3ABN has a much bigger reach than all of the other Adventist media outlets put together (at this point). They may cover the globe by satellite, but without terrestrial coverage, they just shouting into an empty room. Through cable, and terrestrial broadcast 3ABN has substantial coverage.
>
> That having been said, Hope Channel is growing at an unbelievable rate. In just three years they have far surpassed what took 3ABN twelve years to accomplish. Their growth in terrestrial coverage is largely outside the USA, but I strongly encourage you to recommend to your church that they participate in helping HopeTV get on cable locally. I also recommend that if there is a local Christian broadcast station, especially if run by Adventists, that they be encouraged to start carrying Hope Channel at least part time. If you are thinking about where you should put your donations toward the dissemination of Adventist TV programs, consider Hope Channel. This is something very positive that we can do.

How will the backstage reasons for their 12 year miracle growth, if discovered to be less than admirable affect your feelings about them? or do you believe they, unlike 3ABN are without spot or blemish?

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 27 2006, 03:20 PM)
>
> The Bible says "who can know the heart"....this is not about whether or not you have accepted Christ, but whether or not you have "surrendered all" and one's spiritual maturity...IMO

That is on a daily, daily, daily basis, right?

Posted by: statrei Apr 28 2006, 08:38 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 26 2006, 09:27 PM)
>
> I can't say that the NAD does, or doesn't firmly support 3ABN, but I can say that there are a number of influential leaders from the local conference level on up to the GC who firmly support Danny Shelton. As one of them once told me, there is a vastly wealthy man who unquestioningly supports Danny, and no church entity with any monetary sense will jeopordize funding from this man by questioning Danny's integrity.

Sounds like good business sense if Danny has not done anything illegal. The problem is not Danny but those who believe that what he does is anything more than good family TV entertainment.

Posted by: sister Apr 28 2006, 01:26 PM

The Tree in the midst of the Garden...Part 1

Texas has been represented by soldiers, who have had the misfortune of receiving their basic training in it's broad expanses as "the only place on earth where you can have mud in your boots and dust in your eyes at the same time". This is the land of long horned cattle and "remember the Alamo". Amid the dangers, initiated by both nature and man, the treat of settling disagreements with a gun has permeated the history of the Lone Star State. We now intensify our focus, narrowing our field of vision to a compound located near the town of Waco. The year is 1993 and we are transported back in time to the infamous showdown between the United States government and the Branch Davidians. Lead by David Koresh, self proclaimed "god" of his ministry, a confrontation was to take place that would shock the world.

Born Vernon Wayne Howell, 1959, in the city of Houston, Texas; by 1990 he had become the leader of the Branch Davidians and legally changed his name to David Koresh. He said that the change occurred because he believed that he was now head of the Biblical house of David.

Beginning in his late childhood, Koresh had a strong interest in the Bible and developing musical abilities. At the age of twenty he turned to the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the church of his mother. When the preceding information was released in the media, a shock wave swept though the Adventist church that appeared to be of cataclysmic proportions. Media damage control was immediately undertaken. The church survived any association that existed between it and David Koresh, however brief. In fact, the story has been told that he was removed by the local congregation for being a bad influence on the young people. I would venture to say, in that local congregation were members who believed the Biblical admonition, " You can recognize a tree by the fruit..." On hindsight most of us could agree there were some wise folks in that local church.

A few years after David Koresh was removed from a SDA congregation, another young man, a few years older, with a certain interest in the Bible and musical ability was to start his own ministry. He too would come become a self proclaimed "god" within the confines of his compound. Here the stories diverges. The former man was shunned by the SDA church, the latter man has been allowed to become "the face of the SDA church" around the world. A small aside, in opposition to rumors that floated through T'ville beginning in the time of "Waco", I would be willing to swear in a court of law, on a stack of Bibles, "There are no weapons or ammo hidden beneath the floorboards of 3ABN".

Ever since Eve ate of the fruit of the only tree from which she was forbidden access in the garden of Eden, men and women have been tempted by that old serpent, whispering in their ear, "listen to me and heed my advice... then you will surely become like God". Now most of us would be willing to agree that it is no sin to be tempted. The sinning begins when we don't walk away from the temptation and keep right on looking and listening. 12

Imperceptibly at first, to the human eye, we start to incline our ear, to hear what is being said more clearly. That's when the Devil knows that the hook is sliding into your mouth and with patience born of over 6 thousands years of experience with human beings, he just waits for you to bite down. Then just like the proverbial fish tale, he plays you for a while, slowly reeling you in, then letting you run a bit, finally secure in the knowledge that the hook is deeply imbedded, he hauls you in...hook, line and sinker. Before you realize what has come to pass. The devil presents you, like a catfish all fried up and crispy with a mess of Collards on the side. That catfish, may look good on the outside, the aroma may start the juices in your mouth to run, but the Lord has told us it will not provide the what a body need to remain healthy.

Like Adam was lead to that certain tree in the middle of the garden by Eve. Two women have been responsible for leading Danny Shelton to the perception that his voice is as the voice of God at 3ABN. Like Eve they may have brought him to that tree, but like Adam before him, Danny choose to eat of it. And it appears that once Danny began, he continued on, whole hog.

At this point we pause...

The story will continue in Part 2...

Posted by: calvin Apr 28 2006, 03:28 PM

So what is the man's name Sister.? Don't just leave a brother hanging.

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 27 2006, 02:49 PM)
>
> A Man of Influence...
>
> His name is recognizable to few of the rank and file that make up the millions of members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Although holding no prominent church office, his name alone guarantees his entrance at the highest organizational levels. Like a master puppeteer who manipulates the strings from behind the curtains, out of sight from the audience, he causes the marionettes to perform at his bidding through the pressure he exerts on their strings. With a few well chosen and well placed words he puts up Division and Conference Presidents, then has them removed or moved at his discretion.
>
> How can one man weld so much power? Money... To refuse to comply with his wishes would mean the rescinding of the funds he so "generously" supplies. As many have experienced, "He who pays the piper calls the tunes." In addition to the organized church, he guides the reins of many familiar SDA organizations. Have you heard of ASI or OCI? Who is this individual that makes church officials tremble in his wake? Who is this shadowy figure, his plans concealed from view? What is his motivation? Where does he fit into our story?
>
> * * * * *
>
> As a come up to a red traffic signal, a large truck is stopped before me. On the mud flaps is a partially obscured name. It ends with the letter "s", but the rest lay hidden behind the construction grime that covers it... I just can not make it out clearly, the image haunts me the entire day as I try to remember the name. Like a snippet of a melody that plays over and over in your head and you can not recall the rest of the tune, it permeates my thoughts.
>
> * * * * *
>
> "C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" "CONTROL!" "It is spelled C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" Then Danny opens his mouth, sticks out his tongue and jabbing his fingers toward the opening, completes a gesture for vomiting that one would expect only from a small child. "That is just what Garwin did and said!"Then Danny laughs and continues on with the story.
>
> The story Danny related took place during the administration of Robert Folkenberg as president of the GC. The purpose of the meeting? It depends upon what version you are quoting. To hear it told from Danny's perspective, Folkenberg and the GC were attempting a hostile takeover of 3ABN. As the parties involved addressed each other over the formulation of the document that lay on the table between them and what this would mean for the administrative and operational future of 3ABN, an older man walked in and sat down. Intent upon the negotiations that were suggested by the parties involved, he remained silent. Pairs of eyes darted back and forth, trying to "read" what lay behind his intent expression, with the full knowledge that once his opinion was voiced they would be expected to fall into line.

> He stood up and all conversation ceased, you could feel the tension mount as those assembled waited for his pronouncement... Raising his hand toward his head, his mouth opened and sticking out his tongue he jabbed his fingers toward the opening. After completing this gesture he said, "C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" "CONTROL!" "It is spelled C-O-N-T-R-O-L!" With this announcement and his elaborations that followed, 3ABN was "saved" from the interference of the GC. But at what price? Instead of becoming an organization working in conjunction with the organized church, 3ABN became what it is today: a private institution with accountability to no one, run by a man who has professed himself to be as "god" in his ministry.
>
> To be continued...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 28 2006, 07:18 PM

☒ sn

It's like a novella....

"Te amo....."
"No, no te amo....."

☒ sn

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 28 2006, 08:20 PM

☒ p ☒ p I'll share my popcorn, Princess!!
This is getting interesting, I think I'll put on my pj bottoms and grab a comfy chair.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 28 2006, 08:30 PM

Move over you two!! Have some juice, soda to go with that popcorn and fried meaty bits.............
☒ p

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Apr 28 2006, 07:20 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ p ☒ p I'll share my popcorn, Princess!!
> This is getting interesting, I think I'll put on my pj bottoms and grab a comfy chair.

Posted by: sister Apr 29 2006, 03:37 PM

The Tree in the midst of the Garden...Part 2

As we return to our chronicle, we observe Danny continually returning and gorging himself upon the fruit from that forbidden tree. Realizing that he may soon stand before the world caught with his pants down, unlike Adam, who hastily assembled a garment of leaves to cover his nakedness, Danny has the entire resources of 3ABN poised and ready, "for the good of the ministry". At a moment's notice, spinning the threads needed to prepare a new garment for him, tailor-made to obliterate Danny's most recent public verbal indiscretion. The chief spin-doctor, Walt Thompson, prepares another letter as the Chairman of the Board of 3ABN. It is quickly distributed through the mailing list of donors. The object of which is to so obscure the gaze of the active viewer or casual visitor to 3ABN to what lies hidden beneath the surface and keep the money rolling in. This is essential to maintain Danny seat on his throne as "god" of 3ABN.

13

There is one important fact that Danny and Walt have overlooked: there are many open and other somewhat more oblique secrets, the knowledge and protection of which rest in the minds of many witnesses and their continued silence.

The confidentially of Danny's "indiscretions" can only be maintained as long as the current and former employees of 3ABN, as well as the elected and appointed personnel of the SDA church, and even the inner sanctum of Danny's immediate and extended family (both past, current and future) are all willing to remain silent for "the good of the ministry". All of whom have been lead to believe that the stability and continuance of 3ABN lies in retaining Danny Shelton as it's sole founder—since the public humiliation and dismissal of co-founder, Linda Shelton—and the public face of the SDA church.

When the day arrives, and it will, after all the Public Relations spin and hype is removed and Danny stands before the world...but we are getting ahead of ourselves. Let's continue with our current narration...

One facet of this story has always intrigued me. It is how a man can continue to be "the face of the Seventh-day Adventist church to the world", when so many people are aware of the falsehoods and intrigues" behind the scenes at 3ABN"? Let's explore this issue to a greater extent, before the identity and the actions of the two women introduced in Part 1 of this narration are unveiled:

1. Many of the former employees of 3ABN have witnessed personally different aspects, including those exposed here and many further events that have not yet been publically revealed, of 3ABN's hidden history. They have been persuaded, like many, that 3ABN can not sustain the loss of Danny Shelton at it's helm. As sincere followers of Christ, they are so sicken by what they have experienced that when they leave 3ABN, they just want to forget the whole mess and get on with their lives.

Then there are good people who sincerely believe in what can be accomplished, in spite of Danny Shelton, and they remain year, after year. To do so, is a very difficult task. It means having to put on blinders and as a race horse, not looking to the left or right, completely concentrating on the finish line. But this choice comes at a great price. You are still aware of all the horses as you run in the midst of them, you can still hear everything as you circle the track and the aroma that surrounds you permeates your nostrils . Day after day you keep telling yourself you are doing this for the good of the ministry.

2. Until Hope Channel is secured on considerably more cable networks in the USA, a loose partnership is perceived as necessary between the SDA church and 3ABN. If that means turning a blind eye on Danny's most recent Public Relations nightmare, his divorce from Linda and his remarriage to Brandy, it is considered a small price to pay in return for what Danny has to offer.

3. The immediate and extended Shelton family, both past and present, this is another kettle of fish all together. Over the years Danny has been very "free" in his conversation within the extended family circle. This freedom of speech relates to primarily three preconceived notions on his part: his perception of their "loyalty" to him, his need and desire for bragging and just plain ignorance. Oh, then there are also a few others, those who have been silenced by gag orders or so discredited publicly that they are considered a "manageable" threat. Those include Danny's ex-wife, former son-in-law and previous employees.

There is a popular saying in southern Illinois that pertains to the assumption of ignorance, cited under number three: A man got into a long line, he thought if so many people where willing to wait it must be something really important or free, as he tired of the delay he inquired of those ahead of him what they were all waiting for. Upon hearing what he assumed to be their response, he quickly fell out of line and went fishing. The crowd had responded in unison with one word—Brains. Being a good old boy and not paying enough attention, he thought they said "Trains" and knowing full well that there were enough of those hauling coal from the local mines to the cities in the North, he just shook his head and walked away.

What all three groups above share in common is one unmistakably flawed supposition: the ministry of 3ABN would not continue without the leadership of Danny Shelton. I am here to testify to the falsehood of that assumption. It is God who has raised up this ministry, in spite of Danny Shelton, not because of him. Why else would it only take Hope Channel only three years to achieve the same growth that it took 3ABN twelve years, under the leadership of Danny Shelton?

It has been suggest that this unauthorized history of 3ABN is nothing more than an interesting read. A weak attempt to dismiss the authenticity of the stories that have been related. In rebuttal I would like to quote a comment that Clay made on another thread relating to Danny Shelton, "...how do you know that God has not prompted us to speak out against some of the foolishness we have observed? How do you know that we aren't part of God' fixing it?"

A this point we will again pause in our story... No, I have not forgotten that I promised to reveal the identity of the two women and their involvement with Danny, that is still ahead of us.

Stay tuned for Part 3 of "The Tree in the midst of the Garden"...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 29 2006, 04:20 PM

Oooooh!

☒ sn

Pass the Sodie! Here's some fried meaty bits for all yall...

☒ sn

Posted by: Just a Guy Apr 29 2006, 08:36 PM

Somebody remind me why we are taking everything this "sister" person says as the gospel truth? Didn't your mama teach you that not everything posted on the internet is true? This whole thread seems like it's straight out of the National Enquirer. Tiny bits of truth spread amongst gossip and lies.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 29 2006, 09:58 PM

JAG, you can always skip this thread. I know I skip some that are of no interest to me, or for the most part just scan them for offenses to the rules. But if they are of no interest to me, I just don't post to them, just as I choose not to buy or read the Enquirer. That is always an option. BTJM

Posted by: Clay Apr 30 2006, 12:21 AM

> QUOTE(Just a Guy @ Apr 29 2006, 09:36 PM) ☐
>
> Somebody remind me why we are taking everything this "sister" person says as the gospel truth? Didn't your mama teach you that not everything posted on the internet is true? This whole thread seems like it's straight out of the National Enquirer. Tiny bits of truth spread amongst gossip and lies.

who said we are taking it as truth.... we are reading and evaluating... the truth we may never know..... besides... the name of the thread is.... An Unauthorized History of 3ABN..... if you think its not true.... then ask questions or do some digging of your own..... btjm....

Posted by: sister Apr 30 2006, 12:47 PM

The Tree in the midst of the Garden...Part 3

Leaning against a tree Danny looks up, causing a trickle of incredibly sweet juice to run down his chin. Lifting his arm he wipes the sap on the sleeve of his flannel shirt. Gazing up into the branches he sees a creature so beautiful it defies description. It begins whispering to him in a voice so melodious he imagines that it must be an angel sent by God. Leaning closer, so as not to miss a single word, transfixed by this image before him, his hand relaxes and the fruit that it once clasped drops to the ground at his feet. As he intently listens, the creature reveals his future: Danny will have dreams and visions coming directly from GOD. When Danny speaks it will be the voice of god at 3ABN. No matter what he says, whether it is right or wrong, it is right; for he will be like God...

As a sleeper awoken in the midst of a dream, Danny shakes his head and slowly stands up from where he has been seated on the porch. Brushing off the dust from the seat of his pants, he walks into the house. Pausing next to Linda, he grabs a piece of fruit, bites into it and starts chewing. The sap starts to roll down his chin and as he lifts his arm, wiping away the juice on the sleeve of his shirt, he thinks about the "daydream" that just passed before his eyes as he sat on their porch. A smile lights up his face, sitting down he picks up his guitar and starts strumming. His future is appearing rosier all the time...

The first of the "two women" has entered the scene. A friendship between she, her husband and Danny dates back from before the founding of 3ABN. She is familiar with the intrigues and falsehoods that can be used to gain power in a ministry, to control and manipulate those that surround the throne of power. Together, with her husband, she held tightly the reins of their growing congregation. Renowned for her Pentecostal teachings on speaking in tongues and with the skilled homiletics of her husband in the pulpit, there appeared to be no ceiling on the heights they could scale, no end to the wealth accumulated and at their complete disposal, and definitely no lack of skill on her part in manipulating "the truth behind the scenes" to keep them from reaching the zenith of private ministries. But there was one chink in the armor, something even Mollie could not control: the drinking, and the womanizing that accompanied it, of an alcoholic husband. How quickly the mighty can fall...

13

As Mollie spun, returning to the earth, a hand was held out to her, offering her escape from her downward spiral. Clutching the outstretched hand, her fall was aborted in mid-flight and she was again where she belonged—in ministry. True, it meant beginning in a humble position, but that would not pose too great an obstacle for Mollie to surmount. She had time and experience on her side, and if the climb to the top included compromising principle and even lying, she could clearly see that "the end justifies the means". Besides, it is imperative that she regain the power that was wrenched from her grasp and in time, to exceed it.

In 1990, at the height of their ministry, Hal and Mollie were invited to be the speakers at a week of prayer at 3ABN. Why would a Seventh-day Adventist invite a Pentecostal pastor and his wife, experts in the teachings of speaking in tongues, as the speakers for a week of prayer within his ministry?

The answer... Hal and Mollie told the employees that they (the employees) had been given to Danny as gifts, all wrapped up, and that when those gifts were opened, Danny would reveal to them who they were and what they were to become. In my book this smells like a set up, not unlike a fancy man touting his "ladies" on a street corner. Only this time it is Hal and Mollie sitting in the front seat of the Caddy and there stands Danny all turned out by them, the newest prophet in the SDA church—proclamation and confirmation from the same source.

This same said Mollie and Hal Steenson, were the collaborators in suggesting and sustaining the "first miracle" of 3ABN. It was Hal who advised Danny that by telling the story of Hal's purported "gift" of television equipment to Danny from a Pentecostal ministry, with Hal willing to sign a falsified document substantiating the "fact", it would "prime the financial pump" and the donations would stream in to Danny's pockets. The truth of the matter is that this $100,000.00 worth of equipment actually came from Joe Crews, the founder of Amazing Facts, in exchange for air time.

Some years later, Mollie returns to 3ABN, snatched from the crumbling ruins of the ministry that she and Hal built. It was Danny Shelton who reached out his hand to her and broke her fall. After her installation as his personal secretary, she immediately starts affirming to Danny and promulgating to everyone else in the 3ABN compound that God speaks to Danny and speaks to them through Danny. Mollie was now back in her element.

The story continues on in Part 4 of "The Tree in the midst of the Garden"...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 30 2006, 01:15 PM

> QUOTE(Just a Guy @ Apr 29 2006, 10:36 PM)
>
> Somebody remind me why we are taking everything this "sister" person says as the gospel truth? Didn't your mama teach you that not everything posted on the internet is true? This whole thread seems like it's straight out of the National Enquirer. Tiny bits of truth spread amongst gossip and lies.

Could the same be said of your post? - I'm jes saying...you know?

Posted by: summertime Apr 30 2006, 04:46 PM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Apr 27 2006, 10:01 PM)
>
> Does the SDA church operate like a Mafia Organisation, folks? That a man can have money and use it to manipulate the church to his own ends and GET AWAY WITH IT???? Lord help us all!!!

Mudflaps, mudflaps mudflaps!!!!!

19

Posted by: Fran Apr 30 2006, 05:31 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Apr 30 2006, 04:46 PM)
>
> Mudflaps, mudflaps mudflaps!!!!!

On cement trucks, on cement trucks, on cement trucks? ? ? ?

Posted by: summertime Apr 30 2006, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 30 2006, 06:31 PM)
>
> On cement trucks, on cement trucks, on cement trucks? ? ? ?

Yes, indeed!!!

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 30 2006, 08:37 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Apr 30 2006, 09:14 PM)
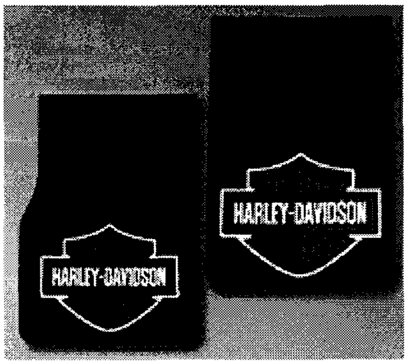
>
> Yes, indeed!!!

Trucks often have names on the mud flaps. It's interesting, when you're on the road, how many different companies there are. Some brand names are more common than other.

Here's an example of what they sometimes look like.



They also come with all kinds of different logos. Here are some examples.

Posted by: summertime May 1 2006, 09:46 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Apr 30 2006, 08:37 PM) ☐
>
> Trucks often have names on the mud flaps. It's interesting, when you're on the road, how many different companies there are. Some brand names are more common than other.
>
> Here's an example of what they sometimes look like.
>
> >
>
> They also come with all kinds of different logos. Here are some examples.
>
>
>

One can almost take their choice, can't they, Panama Pete?. Which do you pay the most attention to--especially if you are a 3ABN listener or if you belong to ASI? How many end with an 'S'--Interesting.

Posted by: Zephyr May 1 2006, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ May 1 2006, 09:46 AM)
>
> One can almost take their choice, can't they, Panama Pete?. Which do you pay the most attention to--especially if you are a 3ABN listener or if you belong to ASI? How many end with an 'S'--Interesting.

Ahem...ahem....

Posted by: vonessa May 1 2006, 10:03 AM

After reading all of this, I just felt I had to register to show my happiness that this dear sister has taken time out of her busy schedule to provide us with this valuable information that I believe comes directly from the lips of our Lord. Now, I'm not saying that she is perfect, but to blend such truths and such words with such artistry, one has to be doubly blessed. If she was not telling the truth, it would not sound this good!

But just to be sure before I start thinking our brother had an affair, Sister, can you tell me if Danny had an affair with Molly? And why do all their names end with a "y"? I can't get over that. Southern Illinois it is!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 1 2006, 10:33 AM

Welcome Vonessa!

If you eat meat - have some fried meaty bits -

If you don't eat meat - have some fried wham bits -

Posted by: vonessa May 1 2006, 11:30 AM

Thank you for your warm welcome.

I just had the opportunity to read more of the writings of our sister. The only thing that doesn't set well with me is the way she said that environmental engineers are "still garbagemen." My father was a "garbage man" whose spirit was greatly lifted by the simple change in terms. I know it may not mean much to you if you've had a life of luxury, and you may even look down on these brothers, but for my father, he didn't have a big education. But he worked his finger to his bones as an environmental engineer for 34 years to put myself and my 3 brothers and sisters through our seventh-day Adventist education.

He knew it was not a luxury job, or a glamorus one, but he took pride in what he did and he worked hard to support his family and today we are strong as a result. Please don't ever tell an environmental engineer that he is just a garbage man. Without him, imagine what your life and mine would be like.

We must be careful of the examples we use in our day to day speech. When our sister publishes this book, I hope she will remove that so that the rest of the blessing of her writing may shine through ever more brightly.

Posted by: sister May 1 2006, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 1 2006, 12:30 PM) ☐
>
> I just had the opportunity to read more of the writings of our sister. The only thing that doesn't set well with me is the way she said that environmental engineers are "still garbagemen."

I am sorry for offending you...

Sister

Posted by: summertime May 1 2006, 01:18 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 1 2006, 12:30 PM) ☐
>
> Thank you for your warm welcome.
>
> I just had the opportunity to read more of the writings of our sister. The only thing that doesn't set well with me is the way she said that environmental engineers are "still garbagemen." My father was a "garbage man" whose spirit was greatly lifted by the simple change in terms. I know it may not mean much to you if you've had a life of luxury, and you may even look down on these brothers, but for my father, he didn't have a big education. But he worked his finger to his bones as an environmental engineer for 34 years to put myself and my 3 brothers and sisters through our seventh-day Adventist education.

> He knew it was not a luxury job, or a glamorus one, but he took pride in what he did and he worked hard to support his family and today we are strong as a result. Please don't ever tell an environmental engineer that he is just a garbage man. Without him, imagine what your life and mine would be like.
>
> We must be careful of the examples we use in our day to day speech. When our sister publishes this book, I hope she will remove that so that the rest of the blessing of her writing may shine through ever more brightly.

3efore I leave my computer for the day, I thought that I would tell about a very good friend of mine vho is a very renown Physician (DO)---He recenly lost his wife to a cancer he could not cure. But he ıas always been very proud that he worked his way through medical school by rising up very early in he morning and doing his job as an environmental engineer. He has blessed many people with his ›roud story of how he made it to the place he is today. He always told us that in New York City it was ı very honorable position. Not to mention that he made more money working thus than my husband vho has a degree.

Posted by: vonessa May 1 2006, 02:22 PM

Thank you sister for your apology. I do forgive you for you did not know how your words might come across. It is so easy to forget the struggle that we can place ourselves above where we ought to be rather than approach these issues from a situation of humbleness. For in our heart this is not just the story of Danny, bless his heart, but the story of all of us - for but for the grace of God . . . there go you and me.

It is a soap opera that captured me and I find it interesting because it is truth what you are saying. But then I keep looking for the next chapter to see what other scandalosity you might reveal to us. I keep tuning in for more even though I know the conclusion already because I am finding myself enjoying this very much. I'm just telling it to you straight.

I just pray that my heart will receive it properly not only for condemnation for Shelton, but self examination and repentance for me. For the Lord is speaking through our sister, but we must remember that we are not on this earth to condemn but to lead to repentance.

Maybe it's just me, but I feel guilty when I enjoy reading these writings. Not because they are bad, but because I should not enjoy them so much because for me to find joyfulness in the downfall of a brother must be sin for myself as well. He brought it on himself that much we know. But I do not want to be part of that which is brought down upon him.

Back in 68, Eldridge Cleaver said "You're either part of the solution or part of the problem." We see the story that has been laid out before us. Now what we gonna do about it? How can we help this story be instructful to us, not only for 3ABN, but for our own personal lives and community? Are you feeling me, or am I offbase with these questions?

Well, I could take up all day on this, but as mama used to say to me in these times - don't let your mouth overload your tail. So I'll go for now.

Posted by: Clay May 1 2006, 02:31 PM

Well sometimes discussion is a part of the solution... sometimes allowing problems that have been hidden need to see the light of day so that they can be dealt with.....

Posted by: Brother Sam May 1 2006, 07:16 PM

I'm reading comments such that former 3ABN employess that say truthful, yet negative things about Danny/management/board are just disgruntled employees-but if you go there and work a few weeks you will find out for yourself.

How would you like to be promised a certain salary - then after you had sold everything and moved there, you found your first pay was far less than promised? This was echoed by several employees.

Employees are told that Danny is a prophet and a God - and if you don't pledge complete loyalty, life at work is made intolerable and when you try to find other employment you are given a poor reference.

I was there! I saw it! I experienced it!

Is that the work of good or evil persons?

Posted by: PaperTigers May 1 2006, 07:30 PM

Amen BrotherSam!

I agree completely, I was there for 5 LONG years... and the sad part is that I actually enjoyed my job and really miss it... but I couldn't take all of the other stuff that came along with it.

I don't wish any evil for 3ABN as a whole, I know people who still work there, and alot of them are good Christian people. I just think that it is time for some changes to be made!!!

Posted by: Brother Sam May 1 2006, 07:39 PM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ May 1 2006, 08:30 PM)
>
> Amen BrotherSam!
>
> I agree completely, I was there for 5 LONG years... and the sad part is that I actually enjoyed my job and really miss it... but I couldn't take all of the other stuff that came along with it.
>
> I don't wish any evil for 3ABN as a whole, I know people who still work there, and alot of them are good Christian people. I just think that it is time for some changes to be made!!!

I know the feeling.

There is so much potential with different leadership.

Posted by: PaperTigers May 1 2006, 07:52 PM

Yeah and the sad thing about the wages is that I made more starting out at FedEx than I made when I left there after 5 years... and not just a little more, it was like $1.25 an hour more

---

Posted by: beartrap May 1 2006, 07:59 PM

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ May 1 2006, 07:30 PM)
>
> Amen BrotherSam!
>
> I agree completely, I was there for 5 LONG years... and the sad part is that I actually enjoyed my job and really miss it... but I couldn't take all of the other stuff that came along with it.
>
> I don't wish any evil for 3ABN as a whole, I know people who still work there, and alot of them are good Christian people. I just think that it is time for some changes to be made!!!

Indeed it is. In a society such as that, how many people can be accorded complete immunity to having availed themselves of prostitutes on a regular basis while married and engaged in the furtherance of laws and principles that would utterly disparage such illicit indulgances? How many people could engage in sexual activities with their producers of product, in late night trystes with designers of church decor, in sexual play with friends that produces surprise results, and in availing ones'self of the illicit favours of a co-workers, without falling into disrepute and experiencing the same painful reactions produced by the backlash resulting from allegations gratuitously handed down against those who have fallen into disfavour? What an incredible dillema is hereby placed squarely in the laps of those who would rather view their idols through rose-coloured glasses.

12

Posted by: PaperTigers May 1 2006, 08:04 PM

Amen BearTrap, after reading that about 3 times I think I got everything you were saying

---

Posted by: beartrap May 1 2006, 08:22 PM

And a hearty amen to you Brother Sam. In the Caribbean country where I grew up there was a saying that, in the local Creole dialect, goes: "wheh fish co fah ribba battam ah tell oo seh halligetah gah belly-ache, beliebahm."

In plain English it would say: When a fish comes from the river bottom and tells you that the alligator has a belly-ache, believe him.

It is very easy to to disparrage those who are finally standing up for truth, and speaking out against the terrible wrongs they have seen being done in Christ's name, by saying that they are just a few disgruntled former employees. No one who has walked in their shoes is saying such a thing. Only people who haven't eaten from the tree of knowledge of good and evil, that we have had to partake of, will ever entertain such fanciful characterizations.

Posted by: calvin May 1 2006, 09:18 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ May 1 2006, 07:59 PM)
>
> Indeed it is. In a society such as that, how many people can be accorded complete immunity to having availed themselves of prostitutes on a regular basis while married and engaged in the furtherance of laws and principles that would utterly disparage such illicit indulgances? How many people could engage in sexual activities with their producers of product, in late night trystes with designers of church decor, in sexual play with friends that produces surprise results, and in availing ones'self of the illicit favours of a co-workers, without falling into disrepute and experiencing the > same painful reactions produced by the backlash resulting from allegations gratuitously handed down against those who have fallen into disfavour? What an incredible dillema is hereby placed squarely in the laps of those who would rather view their idols through rose-coloured glasses.

Are we still talking about 3abn?

Posted by: Fran May 1 2006, 10:25 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ May 1 2006, 09:18 PM)
>
> Are we still talking about 3abn?

That would be yes, yes and yes!

How many blood children does Danny have?

Who are the mothers of those blood children?

Who are the blood children?

What are their names?

How old are they?

Where are they?

How many step children does Danny have?

Who are the mothers of those step children?

Who are the step children?

What are their names?

How old are they?

Where are they?

Posted by: HUGGINS130 May 1 2006, 10:44 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Are we still talking about 3abn?

Calvin remember we are in lurk mode...don't forget it...

Posted by: vonessa May 1 2006, 11:43 PM

I am alarmed if it is true that Danny was getting prostitutes with money donated by donors, and now is the father of many children. I watched that show Big Love on HBO about a Mormon "prophet" with many wives and children and now I've got to ask whether Danny is like that too. Just with different "wives" at different times.

Hold on, I gotta sit down. Is it really that bad? If it ain't stop me now! If it is, then this is a fine vat of fish to put on the fire.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 May 1 2006, 11:45 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 1 2006, 11:43 PM)
>

> I am alarmed if it is true that Danny was getting prostitutes with money donated by donors, and now is the father of many children. I watched that show Big Love on HBO about a Mormon "prophet" with many wives and children and now I've got to ask whether Danny is like that too. Just with different "wives" at different times.
>
> Hold on, I gotta sit down. Is it really that bad? If it ain't stop me now! If it is, then this is a fine vat of fish to put on the fire.

still lurking...LOL

Posted by: Johann May 1 2006, 11:55 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 2 2006, 07:43 AM)
>

> I am alarmed if it is true that Danny was getting prostitutes with money donated by donors, and now is the father of many children. I watched that show Big Love on HBO about a Mormon "prophet" with many wives and children and now I've got to ask whether Danny is like that too. Just with different "wives" at different times.
>
> Hold on, I gotta sit down. Is it really that bad? If it ain't stop me now! If it is, then this is a fine vat of fish to put on the fire.

Last time I met Danny in person he assured me - in the presence of many people right outside the 3ABN church - that there is no danger any more. Since his operation he cannot have any more children.

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 2 2006, 12:28 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 2 2006, 12:55 AM)
>
> Last time I met Danny in person he assured me - in the presence of many people right outside the 3ABN church - that there is no danger any more. Since his operation he cannot have any more children.

U.S. President Richard Nixon assured everyone with the words, "I am not a crook."
And then he resigned the presidency of the United States in disgrace.

Sometimes an "assurance" by a leader is the last thing I want to hear.

Posted by: beartrap May 2 2006, 12:55 AM

More children? I don't think that is a genuine concern in this story (Disaster). There are bigger fish to fry, and those fish are not defined by the passing on of DNA, but by dollar signs and Shelton worship... the books, Danny, Donnie, Ronnie, Tommy, Kenny, Tammy, Melody, etc. The best singers, ball-players, speakers, thinkers, leaders, church-builders, construction designers... well, everything.

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 2 2006, 02:56 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ May 2 2006, 01:55 AM)
>
> More children? I don't think that is a genuine concern in this story (Disaster). There are bigger fish to fry, and those fish are not defined by the passing on of DNA, but by dollar signs and Shelton worship... the books, Danny, Donnie, Ronnie, Tommy, Kenny, Tammy, Melody, etc. The best singers, ball-players, speakers, thinkers, leaders, church-builders, construction desingers... well, everything.

"As a man thinketh in his heart so is he...As the plant springs from, and could not be without, the seed, so every act of man springs from the hidden seeds of thought, and could not have appeared without them." (James Allen)

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 07:33 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ May 1 2006, 07:59 PM)
>
> Indeed it is. In a society such as that, how many people can be accorded complete immunity to having availed themselves of prostitutes on a regular basis while married and engaged in the furtherance of laws and principles that would utterly disparage such illicit indulgances? How many people could engage in sexual activities with their producers of product, in late night trystes with designers of church decor, in sexual play with friends that produces surprise results, and in availing ones'self of the illicit favours of a co-workers, without falling into disrepute and experiencing the same painful reactions produced by the backlash resulting from allegations gratuitously handed down against those who have fallen into disfavour? What an incredible dillema is hereby placed > squarely in the laps of those who would rather view their idols through rose-coloured glasses.

vell that is part of the problem when one establishes an "independent ministry." There are very few :hecks or balances until the person or persons do something criminal. This type of thing can go on ndefinitely until someone has the courage to speak out...

seem to remember Koresh stating that all the women in the compound at Waco were his, and took nore than one as a sexual partner. Jim Jones may have done the same thing....

t is not too surprising to me that this behavior occurred.... I suspect if Linda knew even half of what ıas been alleged, they would want her gagged....

Posted by: vonessa May 2 2006, 09:45 AM

Okay, now hold on just a little bit. I've gotta sit

How many young ones does Danny have? What are their names? Who were their mothers? When did he hire hookers? Help me out here a little bit with some facts now that the story's gettin good. Can I getta witness?

I don't wanna spread gossip, but this story's gonna make me the hero at potluck this Sabbath.

Posted by: princessdi May 2 2006, 09:50 AM

Have some popcorn? Soda? Juice?

Posted by: simplysaved May 2 2006, 09:50 AM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Apr 27 2006, 05:38 PM)
>
> I find it interesting that since you find it so wrong then why are you reading it? If I find something wrong or that I feel is wrong I surely wouldn't sit & read about it. That is my opinion.

lot necessarily...if Higherground were adding details and information, that would be a reaso able :onclusion....

ust as both sides "need" to be presented, it also has to be presented in dialog why this continues to e an issue for this Board as Linda has expressly asked that people move on....

Posted by: princessdi May 2 2006, 09:58 AM

Oh, people have moved on...........to all of the other stuff going on behind the scenes. We have a few folks here who have had their own "unfortunate" encounters with Danny.

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 10:09 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ May 2 2006, 09:50 AM)
>
> Not necessarily...if Higherground were adding details and information, that would be a reasonable conclusion....
>
> Just as both sides "need" to be presented, it also has to be presented in dialog why this continues to be an issue for this Board as Linda has expressly asked that people move on....

that's the problem.... folks trying to move on while leaving the mess at 3abn right where it is as it continues to fester and get worse.... people cannot or will not move on when the problems remain unresolved....

Posted by: Change May 2 2006, 11:02 AM

Why is it that as good SDAs, we just hate to confront mess and deal with it ? If Jesus had dealt with the sin problem the same way that we want to deal with some of these troublesome issues, would we be anywhere near being saved today? Isn't it time that we get real?

Posted by: vonessa May 2 2006, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(Change @ May 2 2006, 12:02 PM)
>
> Why is it that as good SDAs, we just hate to confront mess and deal with it ? If Jesus had dealt with the sin problem the same way that we want to deal with some of these troublesome issues, would we be anywhere near being saved today? Isn't it time that we get real?

Amen to that! We have put up so much with these sinners thinking they can get away with anything. We need to put our foot down sometime. If they don't wanna stop these sinful activities, then give 'em the boot. It's harsh, but we have to keep the church pure for our young people.

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 12:10 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 2 2006, 12:29 PM)
>
> Amen to that! We have put up so much with these sinners thinking they can get away with anything. We need to put our foot down sometime. If they don't wanna stop these sinful activities, then give 'em the boot. It's harsh, but we have to keep the church pure for our young people.

Vonessa,
we are all sinners, in fact the church is the place for "sinners" who have decided that they need help with their sin problem... So the church will always be full of sinners who constantly need their Savior.... the church cannot be a place for people who don't think their sin is sin.....

Posted by: higherground2003 May 2 2006, 01:12 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ May 2 2006, 11:09 AM) ☐
>
> that's the problem.... folks trying to move on while leaving the mess at 3abn right where it is as it continues to fester and get worse.... people cannot or will not move on when the problems remain unresolved....

To be quite honest. Do you think most SDA's would really even care? Like I said earlier, this kinda reminds me of walmart. I don't care how much dirt you dig up on Walmart, people are going to keep shopping there. Why? Because they are fulfilling a need.

I don't care if this person writes 1000 pages about that man, people are still going to be buying his satellites and tuning in to his network.

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 2 2006, 12:29 PM) ☐
>
> Amen to that! We have put up so much with these sinners thinking they can get away with anything. We need to put our foot down sometime. If they don't wanna stop these sinful activities, then give 'em the boot. It's harsh, but we have to keep the church pure for our young people.

☒ rofl

If we do that, we will be keeping out church EMPTY for our young people.

Posted by: Nuggie May 2 2006, 01:28 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ May 2 2006, 11:29 AM) ☐
>
> Amen to that! We have put up so much with these sinners thinking they can get away with anything. We need to put our foot down sometime. If they don't wanna stop these sinful activities, then give 'em the boot. It's harsh, but we have to keep the church pure for our young people.

Whew! I'm glad you don't know my past or present sins, or I'd be in a heap of trouble...guess I'll just keep trying to stop my "sinful activities" so the church can stay pure...I would hate to feel the weight of your boot.

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 01:47 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ May 2 2006, 02:28 PM) ☐

> Whew! I'm glad you don't know my past or present sins, or I'd be in a heap of trouble...guess I'll just keep trying to stop my "sinful activities" so the church can stay pure...I would hate to feel the weight of your boot.

ow do you know we don't know your past and present sins? we are everywhere you know....

Posted by: Hersheys99 May 2 2006, 01:57 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Whew! I'm glad you don't know my past or present sins, or I'd be in a heap of trouble...guess I'll just keep trying to stop my "sinful activities" so the church can stay pure...I would hate to feel the weight of your boot.

think you don't have to worry as I'm sure we have all had past or present sins in our lives. I know I ave had. The thing that bothers me though with Danny & anyone else in his position is he is in the ublic Eye & they proclaim to be "holier than thou". They have the do as I say not as I do attitude.

Posted by: simplysaved May 2 2006, 02:03 PM

> QUOTE(Change @ May 2 2006, 12:02 PM)
>
> Why is it that as good SDAs, we just hate to confront mess and deal with it ? If Jesus had dealt with the sin problem the same way that we want to deal with some of these troublesome issues, would we be anywhere near being saved today? Isn't it time that we get real?

h, I DEFINITELY believe in confronting it...DIRECTLY TO A PERSON or moving on...that is being real.

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ May 2 2006, 03:03 PM)
>
> Oh, I DEFINITELY believe in confronting it...DIRECTLY TO A PERSON or moving on...that is being real.

ortunately there are more ways to confrontation than the one option you suggested....

Posted by: simplysaved May 2 2006, 02:38 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ May 2 2006, 03:11 PM)

> fortunately there are more ways to confrontation than the one option you suggested....

Perhaps, but it is scripture.....talking about them to everyone else but them is definitely not an effective one of them...

Posted by: statrei May 2 2006, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ May 2 2006, 03:38 PM) ☐
>
> Perhaps, but it is scripture.....talking about them to everyone else but them is definitely not an effective one of them...

That counsel is only applicable where the behavior is "secret." This is public behavior and susceptible to public comment, especially since it involves the person who made it all public.

Posted by: beartrap May 2 2006, 02:54 PM

Having talked at some length with Danny, Dr. Thompson, Kay Kuzma, Mark Finley, John Lomacang, and Mollie Steenson, I found that the security in being idolized through public perception incentivized further heinous actions and statements. I concluded that as long as they felt in full control of public perception, they would really have no incentive to consider making any fundamental changes, or backing away from the misery they were inflicting on people. As Clay says, one-on-one verbal confrontation is not the only option, however, it is an option that several of us who are posting here have vigorously pursued, but in vain.

1 and 13

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 2 2006, 03:08 PM

> QUOTE(higherground2003 @ May 2 2006, 01:12 PM) ☐
>
> To be quite honest. Do you think most SDA's would really even care? Like I said earlier, this kinda reminds me of walmart. I don't care how much dirt you dig up on Walmart, people are going to keep shopping there. Why? Because they are fulfilling a need.
>
> I don't care if this person writes 1000 pages about that man, people are still going to be buying his satellites and tuning in to his network.

I agree, there is a Wal-Mart mindset that says, "People are going to keep shopping there, anyway."

On the other hand, how may people want a new Wal-Mart in their own neighborhood? How many people are going to "sign on" to Wal-Mart when it gets personal and up close?

http://www.globest.com/news/531_531/baltimore/145364-1.html

CROFTON, MD-The Greater Crofton Council has voted against Wal-Mart's plan to build a 143,000-sf store in the town. The vote came down in a meeting attended by more than 300 area residents.

During the meeting, city representatives and residents voiced their concerns about the traffic and crime the project could bring to the Anne Arundel County town, as well as potential damage to the environment.

And with 3ABN:

How many people are going to do the unpaid volunteer work of going to cable companies and saying, "Please, please put Danny's private corporation on the cable TV system? I really need to help Danny keep his horses fed."

Or, "I think Danny needs to a bigger jet this year, I'll add a codicil to my will and make it happen."

That could be a horse of a different color.

Posted by: missthg May 2 2006, 03:26 PM

Now this is the first things I've seen on this thread I agree with. I can't even try to help him show on regualr cable when he's not living up to the network's name and mistreating his employees - in the name of Jesus.

He's th ekind of man who makes any religious leader look bad. It's really a shame that GC is still supporting him.

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 2 2006, 01:08 PM) ☐
>
> I agree, there is a Wal-Mart mindset that says, "People are going to keep shopping there, anyway."
>
> On the other hand, how may people want a new Wal-Mart in their own neighborhood? How many people are going to "sign on" to Wal-Mart when it gets personal and up close?
>
> http://www.globest.com/news/531_531/baltimore/145364-1.html
>
> CROFTON, MD-The Greater Crofton Council has voted against Wal-Mart's plan to build a 143,000-sf store in the town. The vote came down in a meeting attended by more than 300 area residents.
> During the meeting, city representatives and residents voiced their concerns about the traffic and crime the project could bring to the Anne Arundel County town, as well as potential damage to the environment.
>
> And with 3ABN:
>
> How many people are going to do the unpaid volunteer work of going to cable companies and saying, "Please, please put Danny's private corporation on the cable TV system? I really need to help Danny keep his horses fed."
>
> Or, "I think Danny needs to a bigger jet this year, I'll add a codicil to my will and make it happen."
>
> That could be a horse of a different color.

Posted by: higherground2003 May 2 2006, 03:58 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 2 2006, 03:08 PM)
>
> And with 3ABN:
>
> How many people are going to do the unpaid volunteer work of going to cable companies and saying, "Please, please put Danny's private corporation on the cable TV system? I really need to help Danny keep his horses fed."
>
> Or, "I think Danny needs to a bigger jet this year, I'll add a codicil to my will and make it happen."
>
> That could be a horse of a different color.

I see this same argument with walmart every year and nine times out of ten, they end up moving in. The only cases where I have seen Walmarts not succeed, is when you have a town of people that worked hard to exclude themselves from society (racists or wealthy communities). Those people typically would do the same with ANYTHING that would bring your "average citizen" into their neck of the woods, so that wouldn't be a shock. Other than those cases kind of cases, people generally cry foul until the doors open, then the place is packed with the same people that didn't want them there. Why? Because they are meeting a need. There are tons of examples where city counsels voted against it, to later change their minds after the majority threatened them with their jobs.

I don't care how many people you find that hate 3abn, there will be 2 more that love it. Stations aren't selected because of their morals, they are selected because of their popularity. If this information is brought to light, I predict that he will make even more money and become more popular than ever before.

If "the word network" is willing to telecast someone asking you to send him a letter and a check so that he can keep the check and put the letter in a pile and pray over it, what makes you think that 3abn should be pulled?

Posted by: Zephyr May 2 2006, 04:08 PM

> QUOTE(Brother Sam @ May 1 2006, 07:16 PM)
>
> ...
> How would you like to be promised a certain salary - then after you had sold everything and moved there, you found your first pay was far less than promised? This was echoed by several employees.
>
> Employees are told that Danny is a prophet and a God - and if you don't pledge complete loyalty, life at work is made intolerable and when you try to find other employment you are given a poor reference.
>
> I was there! I saw it! I experienced it!
>
> Is that the work of good or evil persons?

Good people doing evil things? Then again: there is none good...

Posted by: princessdi May 2 2006, 04:12 PM

Oh, I think we are saying it directly to him. He may not be answering, but I am sure he is lurking somehere out there.........He definitely was the last time. If his daughter has been here, I am sure he has, also. I think you are the only one who believes he know nothing about BSDA or these conversations. He knows, and we know he knows.

Personally, I would say the same thing to him in person. I have no problem with that. However, as it has been pointed out, this is a very public sin, made public by Danny himself. So, if it is getting to hot for him, then he should have stayed out of the kitchen, or as I said before, bought a sports car. If he ws big enough to tell a lie to get out his marriage to Linda to marry Brandi, then he should be big enough to defend his actions.

Plus, we are the church he calls himself representing. Now, we can send each other to hell, daily for jewelry, eating meat, and everything else, but we are to be perfectly content with one, a self professed leader, who blatantly breaks the laws of God and the church he is supposed to represent? I think not. That might be alright with you, but not with me. So, just sit there and hope it all works out, before Jesus comes.

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ May 2 2006, 01:38 PM)
>
> Perhaps, but it is scripture.....talking about them to everyone else but them is definitely not an effective one of them...

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 10 2006, 11:28 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ May 2 2006, 01:38 PM)
>
> Perhaps, but it is scripture.....talking about them to everyone else but them is definitely not an effective one of them...

Many have talked right to them, and even as recent as yesterday, they not only deny, but have made their lies bigger and more graphic then ever, just to keep it going. They are in so deep, and the same attitude that got them there is keeping that at it - we can't stop now! They have to keep up with peoples questions (or should I say, people figuring things out type questons, thinking that asking them will suddenly make them tell the truth) coming in - and so they give more detail to their lies...they are not interested in "talking things out" as you might think - they are interested in not being wrong, at ANY cost to ANY person. After all, the ends always justifies the means, right? If it's for GOD, it must be OK to do! 9 and 13

Posted by: statrei Jul 11 2006, 05:48 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jul 11 2006, 01:28 AM)
>
> Many have talked right to them, and even as recent as yesterday, they not only deny, but have made their lies bigger and more graphic then ever, just to keep it going.

You can't solve a prohlem with the same mind that caused the problem in the first place.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 11 2006, 09:26 AM

> QUOTE(statrei @ Jul 11 2006, 04:48 AM)
>
> You can't solve a prohlem with the same mind that caused the problem in the first place.

That would be the point.

Posted by: summertime Jul 11 2006, 12:58 PM

> QUOTE(statrei @ Jul 11 2006, 05:48 AM)
>
> You can't solve a prohlem with the same mind that caused the problem in the first place.

Has anyone ever wondered if there is a persona on this forum who could really be Danny himself? Or Mollie or John L. or even Kay K. herself? Surely not??????

Posted by: Clay Jul 11 2006, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 11 2006, 01:58 PM)
>
> Has anyone ever wondered if there is a persona on this forum who could really be Danny himself? Or Mollie or John L. or even Kay K. herself? Surely not??????

nope... never crossed my mind..... and if so, that's cool....

Posted by: västergötland Jul 18 2006, 02:47 PM

The story about the rich man with say in GC decisions, would this not be bad news also for the denomination as a whole and not just another turn in the 3abn saga?

Posted by: lurker Jul 18 2006, 04:29 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Jul 18 2006, 03:47 PM)
>
> The story about the rich man with say in GC decisions, would this not be bad news also for the denomination as a whole and not just another turn in the 3abn saga?

"Because thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched and miserable and poor and blind, and naked: I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and annoint thine eyes with eyesalve that thou mayest see."

Better a loss of a rich man's money than a loss of compassion for the "squished".

Posted by: mozart Yesterday, 12:05 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 26 2006, 07:39 PM)
>
> Okay now that is just sick.... and what's worse is that people who should know better are sucking it up without questioning it.....

well, were'nt those people hard-core, pentecostals?

28

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Question For The Pro-danny Crowd

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 02:58 PM

Bystander FHB, WWJD, Lee, and any others.

Here is a letter that has danny's name on it.

-------- Original Message --------
From: Danny Shelton
To: Linda Shelton
Sent: Tuesday, February 08, 2005 10:24 AM

Linda, I just spoke with Larry W. He like the rest of us feel badly that you have been deceived by the Dr. He told me what you are saying. He says that you told him that May Chung basically called you a Hussie and hung up on you. I talked to May and she didn't say anything to that effect.

He did say that you are running down Melody and me. He also said you tried to get him to believe that I have abused you. He told me that he had been around us for 20 years and knows better. He said you wanted him to believe that there were two Dan's. The public one and the home one. He doesn't believe that either and you know what, down deep you don't either. He did tell me that he wouldn't have put up with you and this Dr. as long as I did, if it had of been him. He said that if his Linda had a relationship like you and the Dr. had while we were married, you would have been out the door very quickly.

Linda, people are going to listen to you, but that does not mean they agree with you. When it comes right down to it, no married person would endure the kind of relationship that you had with this Dr. while being married. Linda you wouldn't have allowed me to have a girl friend that I talked to on the phone every day for two hours at a time against your will. Let alone travel to meet them and go on dates to restaurants and visit in their hotel room late at night like you and this man did while we were married.

Your heart left me and never came back to me after your Norway trip in Jan. of 2004.

No one would put up with another man trying to convince his wife that he was crazy. He and Johann have gone too far. The trouble is, you are the one paying the piper. He has been a pile of poop in your life.

Was your life better before you met this man or worse. If you say worse, then you should be happy right where you are. If you say your life was better before you met him, then you surely see he is a pile of poop for you, not a piece of chocolate cake.

If you wake up, it may not be too late. I'm willing to talk to you about reconciliation of marriage and ministry. Linda, no one else can help you achieve that. I am the only one who can help bring you back to marriage and 3ABN, but I have to know that you see the Dr. as a pile of poop in your life. If I see a change in you, I can go to bat for you, but not until then. I haven't changed over the past year. I am still saying the same thing. Of course if I'm psychotic and such an abuser, then you wouldn't want to get back with me. But after all, it was the Lord who impressed you that your relationship with this man was wrong and that you should be with me and not him. I would have thought that you would have listened to God, but according to your own testimony you have written Him off too. That's a shame!

Danny Shelton

I have some questions about this letter.

Do you know if Danny wrote this letter?

Yes or No.

Danny says he will take linda back, but i thought he had started dating Brandi by this point?

That is all for now.

erik

Posted by: Clay Mar 15 2007, 03:05 PM

whats the obsession with poop?

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 03:07 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 15 2007, 01:05 PM) ☐
>
> whats the obsession with poop?

Clay,

Not sure but it is interesting.

Erik

Posted by: princessdi Mar 15 2007, 03:15 PM

Daaaaang!! ☒ sn ☒ pe ☒ p Hersh, Re, have some? I got some fried chicken bits here....

Posted by: Clay Mar 15 2007, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 04:07 PM) ☐
>
> Clay,
> Not sure but it is interesting.

> Erik

here may be a connection.... it was said somewhere that Danny has horses.... horses produce piles of oop..... I guess as he was scooping horse manure maybe he decided to incorporate that concept in is emails.....

Posted by: Johann Mar 15 2007, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 10:58 PM)
>
> Bystander FHB, WWJD, Lee, and any others.
>
> Here is a letter that has danny's name on it.
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> From: Danny Shelton
> To: Linda Shelton
> Sent: Tuesday, February 08, 2005 10:24 AM
>
> Linda, I just spoke with Larry W. He like the rest of us feel badly that you have been deceived by the Dr. He told me what you are saying. He says that you told him that May Chung basically called you a Hussie and hung up on you. I talked to May and she didn't say anything to that effect.
>
> He did say that you are running down Melody and me. He also said you tried to get him to believe that I have abused you. He told me that he had been around us for 20 years and knows better. He said you wanted him to believe that there were two Dan's. The public one and the home one. He doesn't believe that either and you know what, down deep you don't either. He did tell me that he wouldn't have put up with you and this Dr. as long as I did, if it had of been him. He said that if his Linda had a relationship like you and the Dr. had while we were married, you would have been out the door very quickly.
>
> Linda, people are going to listen to you, but that does not mean they agree with you. When it comes right down to it, no married person would endure the kind of relationship that you had with this Dr. while being married. Linda you wouldn't have allowed me to have a girl friend that I talked to on the phone every day for two hours at a time against your will. Let alone travel to meet them and go on dates to restaurants and visit in their hotel room late at night like you and this man did while we were married.
>
> Your heart left me and never came back to me after your Norway trip in Jan. of 2004.
>
> No one would put up with another man trying to convince his wife that he was crazy. He and Johann have gone too far. The trouble is, you are the one paying the piper. He has been a pile of poop in your life.
>
> Was your life better before you met this man or worse. If you say worse, then you should be happy right where you are. If you say your life was better before you met him, then you surely see he is a pile of poop for you, not a piece of chocolate cake.
>
> If you wake up, it may not be too late. I'm willing to talk to you about reconciliation of marriage and ministry. Linda, no one else can help you achieve that. I am the only one who can help bring you back to marriage and 3ABN, but I have to know that you see the Dr. as a pile of poop in your life. If I see a change in you, I can go to bat for you, but not until then. I haven't changed over the past year. I am still saying the same thing. Of course if I'm psychotic and such an abuser, then you wouldn't want to get back with me. But after all, it was the Lord who impressed you that your relationship with this man was wrong and that you should be with me and not him. I would have > thought that you would have listened to God, but according to your own testimony you have written Him off too. That's a shame!

>
> Danny Shelton
> I have some questions about this letter.
> Do you know if Danny wrote this letter?
>
> Yes or No.
>
> Danny says he will take linda back, but i thought he had started dating Brandi by this point?
> That is all for now.
>
> erik

t is quite remarkable that shortly after Danny wrote this letter he wrote me another letter where he :ongratulated me that I was getting married, and in the same letter he told me that he too was jetting married again. So why was Danny trying to impress?

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 15 2007, 03:34 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 15 2007, 05:15 PM) ☐
>
> Daaaaang!! ☒ sn ☒ pe ☒ p Hersh, Re, have some? I got some fried chicken bits here....

\ny battered and deep fried chickettes ladies?

ıw
:"¦"

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 03:45 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 15 2007, 01:32 PM) ☐
>
> It is quite remarkable that shortly after Danny wrote this letter he wrote me another letter where he congratulated me that I was getting married, and in the same letter he told me that he too was getting married again. So why was Danny trying to impress?

ohann,

was remembering your Letter with my Question.

so want to belief that Danny is not the Bad Guy but then letters like this come along and man has to scratch his head in wonderment.

Erik

Posted by: Hersheys99 Mar 15 2007, 03:50 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 15 2007, 04:15 PM) ☐
>
> Daaaaang!! ☒ sn ☒ pe ☒ p Hersh, Re, have some? I got some fried chicken bits here....

Thanks I was getting hungry! These are the real deal fried chicken bits I assume? Sure hope so don't want no furry stuff for sure. ☒ rofl

---

Posted by: watchbird Mar 15 2007, 04:02 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 04:45 PM) ☐
>
> Johann,
> I was remembering your Letter with my Question.
>
> I so want to belief that Danny is not the Bad Guy but then letters like this come along and man has to scratch his head in wonderment.
>
> Erik

Sorry Erik..... these letters we are seeing now are very typical Dannyletters. I did not receive any direct from him, but all along from mid 2004 on, I was receiving forwards of letters from him.... not all to Linda or Johann..... He killed his image with a number of persons who sent samples of letters they had received from him to show what it was that had caused them to change their minds about who was speaking truth.

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 04:09 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 15 2007, 03:02 PM) ☐
>
> Sorry Erik..... these letters we are seeing now are very typical Dannyletters. I did not receive any direct from him, but all along from mid 2004 on, I was receiving forwards of letters from him.... not all to Linda or Johann..... He killed his image with a number of persons who sent samples of letters they had received from him to show what it was that had caused them to change their minds about who was speaking truth.

Watchbird,

it is ok, i just do not get how those that defend him can look past the different story lines in the letters he is in love with linda but dating/engaged to another.

Speaking has a guy, i have to wonder if just missed the sex that bad.(if this is out of line i sorry and but it is the first thing i thought of, having had friends that basicly got remarried quickly for that very reason)

Erik

Posted by: Johann Mar 15 2007, 04:12 PM

Here are some letters from both Linda and us from the time when Linda and Danny were sharing the same home and computer.

From: Linda Shelton [mailto:linda.shelton@3abn.org]
Sent: 14. apríl 2004 19:55
To: Johann Thorvaldsson
Subject: Re: Greetings

Hi Johann,

I said a prayer for you and Irmgard. I know this has to be alot of stress on you both right now. In fact, as I heard Dan speaking to you today I thought, this is terrible. You already have so much you are dealing with to hear about more problems. I am so sorry.

Johann...and I think you already know this, I will not call my husband a "liar" because I hate that word. But please take his words with a grain of salt. His words come across completely out of context and he takes fragments of sentences here, and pieces there to form his "case." And quite frankly, what he has done to isolate Brenda from me, now I think he is trying to do with you and Irmgard. Please pray for me right now. I am really "trying" to love my husband right now, but his words and actions keep getting in the way! (Hope this doesn't sound too bad...but it's the truth.) But I'm hanging on to Jesus and 3ABN with every fragment of strength that I have. May God help us!! God bless you!!

LS
----- Original Message -----
From: Johann Thorvaldsson
To: Linda Shelton
Sent: Saturday, April 10, 2004 2:09 PM
Subject: Greetings

-----Original Message-----
From: Linda Shelton [mailto:Linda.Shelton@3abn.org]
Sent: 8. apríl 2004 23:15
To: Johann Thorvaldsson
Subject: Re: Hospital

Hi Johann & Irmgard,

Your prayers are my life support system right now. I will only answer your calls when I am able. God bless you!!
[Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson] It is amazing how we have become to mean so much to each others.

Love you,

Linda
[Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson] Danny, You are presenting Linda as the "angel" and the devoted wife she has always been.

So, I'm the bad fellow. At church this morning the pastor's wife gave me a big hug - and so did her husband. Right in front of Irmgard she reminded me of the great love relationship there had been between her mother and me many years ago, which her mother had told her all about. Yes, I loved Mrs.H, and neither Irmgard nor Mr. H* seemed to mind. Our common interest was music, singing, and evangelism. We could spend hours talking together about those things. We had no idea that we were not permitted to talk more than firve or 10 minutes, so we never timed our conversations. If we had know better we'd alway seen to it that someone else was there with us when we talked together. None of us ever thought it would hurt our spouses. We both knew that our spouses trusted us.

Mrs, H died several years ago. I might be more careful today, especially since I have learned that there are husbands around that are certain the devil is at work after 5 or 10 minutes. Love must be bound by fetters that limit your own behavior - and the word of God - but the moment you tie your spouse with those same fetters, love goes out and a demon destroys your marriage.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 15 2007, 04:14 PM

Yes, NW, I got fried Fri-chik here~! Want some juice, water, Propel? Chicken nuggets are nere, too Hersh! I even bought a bag of Easter Kisses for you!

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 15 2007, 01:34 PM)
>
> Any battered and deep fried chickettes ladies?
>
> nw
> C"i"

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 04:21 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 15 2007, 03:12 PM)
>
> Here are some letters from both Linda and us from the time when Linda and Danny were sharing the same home and computer.
> From: Linda Shelton [mailto:linda.shelton@3abn.org]
> Sent: 14. apríl 2004 19:55
> To: Johann Thorvaldsson

Subject: Re: Greetings
Hi Johann,

I said a prayer for you and Irmgard. I know this has to be alot of stress on you both right now. In fact, as I heard Dan speaking to you today I thought, this is terrible. You already have so much you are dealing with to hear about more problems. I am so sorry.

Johann...and I think you already know this, I will not call my husband a "liar" because I hate that word. But please take his words with a grain of salt. His words come across completely out of context and he takes fragments of sentences here, and pieces there to form his "case." And quite frankly, what he has done to isolate Brenda from me, now I think he is trying to do with you and Irmgard. Please pray for me right now. I am really "trying" to love my husband right now, but his words and actions keep getting in the way! (Hope this doesn't sound too bad...but it's the truth.) But I'm hanging on to Jesus and 3ABN with every fragment of strength that I have. May God help us!! God bless you!!

LS
----- Original Message -----
From: Johann Thorvaldsson
To: Linda Shelton
Sent: Saturday, April 10, 2004 2:09 PM
Subject: Greetings
-----Original Message-----
From: Linda Shelton [mailto:Linda.Shelton@3abn.org]
Sent: 8. april 2004 23:15
To: Johann Thorvaldsson
Subject: Re: Hospital
Hi Johann & Irmgard,
Your prayers are my life support system right now. I will only answer your calls when I am able. God bless you!!
[Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson] It is amazing how we have become to mean so much to each others.

Love you,

Linda
[Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson] Danny, You are presenting Linda as the "angel" and the devoted wife she has always been.

So, I'm the bad fellow. At church this morning the pastor's wife gave me a big hug - and so did her husband. Right in front of Irmgard she reminded me of the great love relationship there had been between her mother and me many years ago, which her mother had told her all about. Yes, I loved Mrs.H, and neither Irmgard nor Mr. H* seemed to mind. Our common interest was music, singing, and evangelism. We could spend hours talking together about those things. We had no idea that we were not permitted to talk more than firve or 10 minutes, so we never timed our conversations. If we had know better we'd alway seen to it that someone else was there with us when we talked together. None of us ever thought it would hurt our spouses. We both knew that our spouses trusted us.

Mrs, H died several years ago. I might be more careful today, especially since I have learned that there are husbands around that are certain the devil is at work after 5 or 10 minutes. Love must be bound by fetters that limit your own behavior - and the word of God - but the moment you tie your spouse with those same fetters, love goes out and a demon destroys your marriage.

ohann,
our letters remind of wha the pastor who did my wifes and i pre-marriage classes with us, told us.

that for Love to Grow you have to Trust each more then any thing else, outside of God.

IT is great to read about how you modeled that in your marriage.

Erik

Posted by: Johann Mar 15 2007, 04:31 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 16 2007, 12:21 AM)
>
> Johann,
> your letters remind of wha the pastor who did my wifes and i pre-marriage classes with us, told us.
>
> that for Love to Grow you have to Trust each more then any thing else, outside of God.
>
> IT is great to read about how you modeled that in your marriage.
> Erik

As you can see I was trying to tell Danny this, knowing that at this time he was reading what I wrote to Linda, but it did not make much impression on him, except in those letters he wrote to impress the outsiders, as in the letter you posted above.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 15 2007, 07:02 PM

Johann,

Thank you so much for bringing these emails to this topic so the stark difference in spirits between Danny and Linda is, once again, so clearly seen. What a friend you were to Linda in spite of your own life stresses with Irmgard's illness.

PB

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 15 2007, 01:05 PM)
>
> whats the obsession with poop?

Clay,

As you pointed out a bit later in this thread, perhaps he got his inspiration from his horses.

I was similarly inspired from an early experience as I grew up on the family farm. If you younguns behave really nicely for awhile and do your chores, perhaps I could be talked into sharing my "Lesson of the Chicken Poo" story. (I submitted it to our local church newsletter over a year ago and it still hasn't seen print. I wonder why?)

PB

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 15 2007, 08:21 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 15 2007, 04:15 PM) ☐
>
> Daaaaang!! ☒ sn ☒ pe ☒ p Hersh, Re, have some? I got some fried chicken bits here....

☒ TVsnack. ☒ pe

Posted by: princessdi Mar 15 2007, 08:24 PM

Hey Sis!! Come on in!!!

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 15 2007, 07:21 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ TVsnack. ☒ pe

Posted by: erik Mar 15 2007, 08:57 PM

Lee, Bystander, WWJD, FHB.

MY questions still stand I am truely looking for the story byhind the email to hear Danny's side, or would be better if I emailed Danny myself, if that is the case then could PM me his email address.

Erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 15 2007, 09:52 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 12:58 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander FHB, WWJD, Lee, and any others.
>
> Here is a letter that has danny's name on it.
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> From: Danny Shelton
> To: Linda Shelton

> Sent: Tuesday, February 08, 2005 10:24 AM
>
> Linda, I just spoke with Larry W. He like the rest of us feel badly that you have been deceived by the Dr. He told me what you are saying. He says that you told him that May Chung basically called you a Hussie and hung up on you. I talked to May and she didn't say anything to that effect.
>
> He did say that you are running down Melody and me. He also said you tried to get him to believe that I have abused you. He told me that he had been around us for 20 years and knows better. He said you wanted him to believe that there were two Dan's. The public one and the home one. He doesn't believe that either and you know what, down deep you don't either. He did tell me that he wouldn't have put up with you and this Dr. as long as I did, if it had of been him. He said that if his Linda had a relationship like you and the Dr. had while we were married, you would have been out the door very quickly.
>
> Linda, people are going to listen to you, but that does not mean they agree with you. When it comes right down to it, no married person would endure the kind of relationship that you had with this Dr. while being married. Linda you wouldn't have allowed me to have a girl friend that I talked to on the phone every day for two hours at a time against your will. Let alone travel to meet them and go on dates to restaurants and visit in their hotel room late at night like you and this man did while we were married.
>
> Your heart left me and never came back to me after your Norway trip in Jan. of 2004.
>
> No one would put up with another man trying to convince his wife that he was crazy. He and Johann have gone too far. The trouble is, you are the one paying the piper. He has been a pile of poop in your life.
>
> Was your life better before you met this man or worse. If you say worse, then you should be happy right where you are. If you say your life was better before you met him, then you surely see he is a pile of poop for you, not a piece of chocolate cake.
>
> If you wake up, it may not be too late. I'm willing to talk to you about reconciliation of marriage and ministry. Linda, no one else can help you achieve that. I am the only one who can help bring you back to marriage and 3ABN, but I have to know that you see the Dr. as a pile of poop in your life. If I see a change in you, I can go to bat for you, but not until then. I haven't changed over the past year. I am still saying the same thing. Of course if I'm psychotic and such an abuser, then you wouldn't want to get back with me. But after all, it was the Lord who impressed you that your relationship with this man was wrong and that you should be with me and not him. I would have thought that you would have listened to God, but according to your own testimony you have written Him off too. That's a shame!
>
> Danny Shelton
> I have some questions about this letter.
> Do you know if Danny wrote this letter?
>
> Yes or No.
>
> Danny says he will take linda back, but i thought he had started dating Brandi by this point?
> That is all for now.
>
> erik

One of the things that struck me about this letter was that he continually makes mention of Linda supposedly making critical remarks about May, Melody and him to Larry W. I guess since Larry W. is Danny's friend and not one of Linda's friends, agents or third parties he couldn't charge her with a violation of http://www.save3abn.com/3abn-and-linda-shelton-separation-contract.htm.

I also wonder why Linda was talking to Larry W. at all? Who initiated the alleged conversation?

PB

Posted by: Lee Mar 15 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 09:57 PM) ☐
>
> Lee, Bystander, WWJD, FHB.
>
> MY questions still stand I am truely looking for the story byhind the email to hear Danny's side, or would be better if I emailed Danny myself, if that is the case then could PM me his email address.
> Erik

Erik--if you ask Pickle, I'm sure he will give Danny's email address to you.

Posted by: truthmagnet Mar 15 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 15 2007, 08:52 PM) ☐
>
> One of the things that struck me about this letter was that he continually makes mention of Linda supposedly making critical remarks about May, Melody and him to Larry W. I guess since Larry W. is Danny's friend and not one of Linda's friends, agents or third parties he couldn't charge her with a violation of http://www.save3abn.com/3abn-and-linda-shelton-separation-contract.htm.
>
> I also wonder why Linda was talking to Larry W. at all? Who initiated the alleged conversation?
>
> PB

who's larry w.?

Posted by: beartrap Mar 16 2007, 01:10 AM

Larry Welch is a board member and employee of 3ABN. He has worked in grounds, construction and pastoral for close to twenty years. His wife has been in the accounting department for as many years.

Posted by: Johann Mar 16 2007, 04:40 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 16 2007, 05:52 AM) ☐
>
> One of the things that struck me about this letter was that he continually makes mention of Linda supposedly making critical remarks about May, Melody and him to Larry W. I guess since Larry W. is Danny's friend and not one of Linda's friends, agents or third parties he couldn't charge her with a violation of http://www.save3abn.com/3abn-and-linda-shelton-separation-contract.htm.

> I also wonder why Linda was talking to Larry W. at all? Who initiated the alleged conversation?
>
> PB

arry W is a very friendly person, well liked among many of his co-workers at 3ABN. If I remember ight it seemed like he was willing to listen to Linda, something nobody else had dared do, with one xception. That was another director, Robert Russell. When it was discovered that he had seen Linda nd talked to her on a parking lot, he was warned that if he did that again he'd have to quit. So Robert vent to his office, cleared his desk and left.. Just like Larry, Robert had managed several departments t 3ABN, although he had not been there as long as Larry. Roberts wife had been in charge of the inancial department, but she left because she could not be a part of the fraud demanded of her, ccording to what she has told me herself.

he following correspondence with Nick Miller will illustrate the GAG order. Nick's letter shows how ard he tried to please Danny. In spite of that he was forced to resign from the board some time later ecause he could not honor any more of Danny's dishonesty.

> QUOTE
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: nmiller@freedom-law.com
> To: upbound@msn.com
> Sent: Thursday, September 23, 2004 1:53 PM
> Subject: Apparent Violations of Separation Agreement
>
> Linda Shelton
> P.O. Box ****
> *, Illinois 62902
>
> September 23, 2004
>
> Re: Apparent Violations of Separation Agreement
>
> Dear Linda,
>
> It is with concern and regret that I write this letter, but your recent actions leave me with no real choice. As you know, your Separation Agreement with Three Angels specifies that neither you, nor your agents, nor your close friends would make public statements critical of Three Angels or its employees. We believe that this commitment has been violated in a number of ways. These include
>
> 1. Your letter on your web-page indicates that your separation from Three Angels was a time filled with "untruths," "accusations and condemnation." The only persons referenced in the letter are your husband, "one close to" you, and by implication the Three Angels leadership and board. Taken together, these statements are an obvious criticism of the way your case was handled by Three Angels leadership. This is a clear violation of your separation agreement.
>
> 2. A recent article published by Adventist Today contained information and claims that could have only come from you and/or those immediately around you. References to a "coup" at Three Angels, and a detailed report of your denials and justifications could have only originated with yourself. We also have information that you gave AT an in-depth interview, so you were very aware of the stories that AT would be running. This is in violation of your Separation Agreement.

> 3. Johann Thorvald continues to circulate letters which gives highly misleading accounts of events at Three Angels. You are close to Johann, and we will hold you liable for what he continues to send out, as we believe that you could request him to cease. His failure to do so constitutes another breach of the Agreement.
>
> 4. We have very good reason to believe that you have obtained and are using a copy of some or all of Three Angels' mailing list. This list is proprietary information of Three Angels, and it is illegal for third parties to appropriate and/or to use it. We believe we know who perpetrated the theft of this list, and we will pursue all available remedies against that person. But you should also know that the use of that list is a violation of the laws, even if you did not steal it. We hereby request that you stop using it for mailing your letters and e-mails.
>
> Linda, we would like to honor the Separation Agreement. Unless, however, you cease and desist from all of the above actions, we will not be able to follow through on the remainder of the payments. At the next board meeting in January, I will be presenting the above issues to the Board. Unless there is a decided change in all these areas, I am quite sure that the Board will vote not to make any fu rther payments to you. This would represent a loss of $150,000 to yourself.
>
> I do not enjoy writing these things to you, but your insistence on defending yourself in the court of public opinion leaves me no choice. You had every opportunity to defend yourself to the fact-finding committee and the board, but you chose not to. Rather, you are defending yourself with half-truths and even untruths to an audience who does not know the full story and therefore might find your story plausible. This merely forces us to give them the rest of the facts, which we would rather not do.
>
> Please let me know if and how you plan to remedy the above listed violations so I can make a positive report to the board, as I would like to do.
>
> Sincerely Yours,
>
> Nicholas Miller
>
> Nicholas P. Miller, Esq.
> Freedom Law Group
> *****
> Calimesa, CA 92320
> 213 ********
> nmiller@********

> QUOTE
>
> From: Johann Thorvaldsson [mailto:jmthorva@****]
> Sent: 30. september 2004 21:09
> To: nmiller@************
> Subject: RE: FW: Apparent Violations of Separation Agreement

> Nicholas P. Miller, Esq.
> Freedom Law Group
> ********
> Calimesa, CA 92320
> 213- > nmiller@*****
>
> Linda forwarded your letter since it concerns me too. It has long amazed me how you could function as a board member of an organization at the same time as you act as a lawyer on behalf of the president of this organization, defending his defamation of the vise-president of the same organization. In this role you approach the effectiveness of O. S. Simpson's defense, but being a member of the board at the same time would discredit your honesty in certain other civilized areas of the world.
>
> Linda has forbidden me to use material coming from her. That is no problem - there is plenty in the missiles from Danny Shelton and from statements made by you at our meeting at West Frankfort in May.
>
> Your letter tells me that my work has not even started yet. I receive no personal benefits from this, but I dedicated my life to the Lord many years ago - and that includes aiding individuals suffering from persecution - even in the name of Seventh-day Adventism.
>
> Linda has a giant against her - someone running a mighty TV network, aided by a lawyer with no scruples but defending a selected client with unlimited funds to crush her. Is that fair? That client of yours has even managed to get her to sign an inhuman contract that you are now gloating over in your letter. Would Jesus Christ ever deal with people in this manner? Where is your conscience? Does legality mean more to you than your faith?
>
> Linda seems rather protective towards you. She has a notion you might not sound half as repulsive if you had your own way. Let's hope she's right.
>
> Johann M. Thorvaldsson
> jmthorva@***

do not know what this letter meant to Nick, but some months later he had to resign from the board of 3ABN. My son heard him exclaim, What a mess!!! as a comment on 3ABN!

> QUOTE
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: nmiller@ [mailto:nmiller@*****]
> Sent: 30. september 2004 19:40
> To: Johann Thorvaldsson
> Cc: Linda Shelton
> Subject: Re: FW: Apparent Violations of Separation Agreement
>
> Johann,
>
> You should be aware that I am not Danny Shelton's attorney. He has a private attorney for his own personal matters. I represent Three Angels, and in so doing, advise and represent the President of > Three Angels in matters that relate to the ministry. There is no conflict on that score, or in relation to my board membership, as I would not vote on issues relating to my representation of Three Angels. Further, I have only been a board member for less than a month, and thus was not a board member during any of the circumstances surrounding Linda's departure from Three Angels.

>
> I find it surprising to receive advice on conflicts from someone who was terminated from his job because he could not understand the conflict of interests involved in criticizing your employer's leadership to third parties and members of the public. I am not unhappy that you are a friend and supporter of Linda's, rather, your manner of support has been irresponsible and unfitting for a man of your history of mission service to our church. Many have spoken well of your ministry in the past, and I would think that you would understand the need of handling these matters decently and in order. You know that Dr. Walt, myself and the fact-finding committee were and are very willing to listen to any information you might have about the situation. But your apparent need to take on the combined role of attorney, advocate and rumor spreader-in-chief for Linda has made you an unwelcome intruder into this matter.
>
> Let me not rebuke you, but intreat you as a father, to remember the dignity of your past efforts for our church and ministry, and allow Danny and Linda to run their own lives, and for Three Angels to continue with its ministry. Your present continued efforts merely bring shame and embarrasment to your good name, whereas a quieter, but supportive role could be a savour of grace to a difficult situation.
>
> May You Be at Peace,
>
> Nick Miller

ou can see that Nick tried everything possible to hold me responsible if the board was to enforce the AG order. But he gave up. From then on Danny Shelton kept on the correspondence. But as a result f this correspondence the GAG order was not enforced on Linda, although they made more threats.

Posted by: erik Mar 16 2007, 09:51 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 15 2007, 08:22 PM) ☐
>
> Erik--if you ask Pickle, I'm sure he will give Danny's email address to you.

ee,

irst off if wanted to get danny's email from pickle i would have asked him for it, but i asked you for it. r you can just awnser the questions and then i will not need to bother danny in his busy day.

am very sad to see that you were less the serious about start an open discussion of the Facts, ither that or you are flat out Lair, i will let you decide which the case is.

asked two simple questions, lee. one was designed to see if the other side is providing truthful nformation, for what ever reason that is dangerous question you and the rest of Danny supporters.

he second question is just trying find what facts, then and only then can true truthful options be rawn.

But I guess that the Pro Danny side thinks that going to court is the only way to defend him.

well to borrow line from Danny that is pile of dung.

Lee, and the rest of danny supporters really are cowards if you can not anwser two simple honsent questions, or worse you are all not christians which i would find very hard to belief.

but the simple fact is that TRUTH is never, never afraid being Tested or Exposed, LOOK at the Cross God was willing to prove the lies about him were wrong, why is 3abn not willing to follow Gods example, unless they are in fact not really christian.

Erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 16 2007, 11:22 AM

> QUOTE
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: nmiller@ [mailto:nmiller@*****]
> Sent: 30. september 2004 19:40
> To: Johann Thorvaldsson
> Cc: Linda Shelton
> Subject: Re: FW: Apparent Violations of Separation Agreement
>
> Johann,
>
> You should be aware that I am not Danny Shelton's attorney. He has a private attorney for his own personal matters. I represent Three Angels, and in so doing, advise and represent the President of Three Angels in matters that relate to the ministry. There is no conflict on that score, or in relation to my board membership, as I would not vote on issues relating to my representation of Three Angels. Further, I have only been a board member for less than a month, and thus was not a board member during any of the circumstances surrounding Linda's departure from Three Angels

Johann,

Thank you for posting these informative emails! They certainly show the thoughtful and deeply spiritual character of Nick Miller. What they also show, since he wasn't at 3abn during the months this all was taking place, is that in order to learn the story behind the vice-president's termination, Nick had to rely on the very ones who had acted against Linda Shelton for his information.

One has to wonder if he got the real story.

PB

Posted by: lurker Mar 16 2007, 12:39 PM

Does anyone know where Robert Russell is now? It would seem that this happened in August 2004 so this would have been soon after some folks alleged that Brandy showed up in the area. Wasn't he in charge of the call center?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 16 2007, 12:58 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 16 2007, 04:40 AM) ☐
>
> I do not know what this letter meant to Nick, but some months later he had to resign from the board of 3ABN. My son heard him exclaim, What a mess!!! as a comment on 3ABN!

Why did he have to resign, Johann?

Posted by: Lee Mar 16 2007, 05:52 PM

Erik--I don't know Danny's email. I don't know Danny--have never met the man or Linda.

Posted by: erik Mar 18 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 16 2007, 04:52 PM) ☐
>
> Erik--I don't know Danny's email. I don't know Danny--have never met the man or Linda.

Then why are defending him, if you do not even know him well enough to know his email address.

SO does this mean i should drop from the list of the pro-danny people that can give out useful and first hand information about the 3abn mess?

Erik

P.S.

to the rest of the pro danny group please anwser my questions if you are allowed if not then at least say you are not, instead of looking like cowards.

Erik

Posted by: Fran Mar 18 2007, 12:47 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 18 2007, 12:10 AM) ☐
>
> Then why are defending him, if you do not even know him well enough to know his email address.
>
> SO does this mean i should drop from the list of the pro-Danny people that can give out useful and first hand information about the 3abn mess?
>
> Erik

> P.S.
>
> to the rest of the pro Danny group please answer my questions if you are allowed if not then at least say you are not, instead of looking like cowards.
> Erik

rik;

xactly!

ou have hit the proverbial nail right on the head!

ut, don't you find they are very choleric? They speak with FALSE authority.

hey are demanding and bossy. They think we should kowtow to them because they are owerful within the church.

f only the church had a clue!

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 18 2007, 01:02 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 18 2007, 01:10 AM) ☐
>
> Then why are defending him, if you do not even know him well enough to know his email address.
>
> SO does this mean i should drop from the list of the pro-danny people that can give out useful and first hand information about the 3abn mess?
>
> Erik
> P.S.
>
> to the rest of the pro danny group please anwser my questions if you are allowed if not then at least say you are not, instead of looking like cowards.
> Erik

ersonally Eric, I tend to ignore your questions and those of some others because of these type of ad ominems. I don't want to have to waste time or be drawn into a discussion in defensive mode and ave to keep clearing up misjudgments about my motives and intents, and other false assumptions bout myself just to address the issues....

t would be so refreshing just to address the issues without all the personal attacks.

will answer your questions tho-- as best I can, as follows:

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 09:57 PM) ☐
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > Lee, Bystander, WWJD, FHB.
> >
> > MY questions still stand I am truely looking for the story byhind the email to hear Danny's side, or would be better if I emailed Danny myself, if that is the case then could PM me his email address.

> Erik
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > Erik--if you ask Pickle, I'm sure he will give Danny's email address to you
>
> Lee, First off if wanted to get danny's email from pickle i would have asked him for it, but i asked you for it. or you can just awnser the questions and then i will not need to bother danny in his busy day.

/ell either you want to e-mail Danny, or you don't. Either you want the story behind his email, which ou have to realize only he can really tell you, or you don't.

: shouldn't matter who you get the address from... Actually you could go right to the 3ABN 'ebsite and e-mail him. I don't think it's kosher to hand out anyones private e-mail address, even if ɔme of us do have them.

he other problem here is, how are we to answer your questions Eric? Why would you think we could?

:'s not 3ABN or Danny that is publishing private and personal e-mails to the world or passing them round with comments and judgments about the motives and intents of the writer. I know I don't have ıem, and you sound irritated with Lee, but I know she doesn't have them either.

he Letters had to come from Linda, and it is Johann, Pickle and Joy etc who are publishing them. /hich I think is dead wrong. It's insensitive, uncaring, shows a total disregard for privacy rights, and s far as I am concerned is downright unchristian.

/hat is up with all the sensationalism, and the love of scandal and running up and down as a ılebearer among those who are supposed to be God's remnant, and then publishing it to all the 'orld? .This cannot be pleasing to God, and in no way does it bring Him any glory.

had decided not to even read anymore of them, but the date on your letter rang a bell, and so I ıanged my mind.

o -- if you want my opinion based on what Linda's team has published? -- And what they have ublished is obviously very onesided, because in most cases Linda's letters, which Danny is obviously ɘplying to, are not even published for context. (Even so, I can't see how this is helping them, for over nd over it looks like what D.S. and 3ABN have stated is correct, and what Linda's friends and efenders, and the 3ABN accusers have claimed is false and in error.)

irst read this, it's the letter they published, also allegedly from Danny, which comes before the one ou posted in this topic, and are asking about. It was allegedly sent on Feb 8 2005 --- at 1:20 AM. ttp://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-pile-of-what-07.htm What did Linda say) bring this reply? obviously something...

: looks to me very much like the next letter, the one you are asking about: ttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12943&view=findpost&p=185555 was anny's last attempt to try and reach Linda before moving on with his life.(?) He had been trying all long, and even at that point, 8 mos after their divorce, was obviously still willing to talk reconciliation ɔr both their marriage and her ministry, and she would still have none of it. He allegedly wrote this ɛtter also on Feb 8, 2005 --- at 10:24 AM, after talking to both May Chung and Larry Welch in ɘgards to the accusations Linda was making.

nd here's why that date was familiar to me, and rang a bell.

It's plain to me, -- even tho save3abn not, doesn't include her response -- what her reply was.

She did not reconcile with him, nor even try and talk to him about that -- Because later that very same day, Feb 8, 2005 she filed and contested, the uncontested Guam divorce which she had agreed to, and which had been finalized 8 mos earlier. And she did so in order to file a civil suit - to get a larger settlement - over things and money which would have automatically been hers anyway, had she loved and wanted to reconcile with Danny.
http://www.judici.com/courts/cases/case_information.jsp?court=IL028015J&ocl=IL028015J,2005D30,IL028015JL2005D30P1

You demanded a answer from another, and this is one. based only on what has been published and is public knowledge, But, Eric, only Danny, Linda or a witness can say what really happened, and maybe a combination of all three would be best to discern and decide what is the truth.

Posted by: erik Mar 18 2007, 12:44 PM

Aletheia,

a couple of thoughts, please show were in the first post that start this section, were the personal attacks are at.

secondly, i do consider it cowardly to ignore questions that are simple yes or no, when they will not reveal anything else about the topic other then what is for the most part already known.

I personally think some of your question that you have asked should be answered.

The simple truth is both sides are to some degree holding their cards close. But by far Danny side does this the most.

I mean either he had grounds for the divorce or he did not.

if he did then we ought be able to have that proof presented now that linda has called for it be put out.

But walt appears to admit they do not have any proof.

TO ME it looks like Linda may have gotten carry away talking with the doctor and maybe even talked about things that she should not have. But that is not the same has have sex out side the marriage bed. it a world apart . It is also clear that danny and linda's marriage had more then just linda talking to another man wrong with it.

ERik

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 18 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Mar 15 2007, 03:58 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander FHB, WWJD, Lee, and any others.....
>
> .....Danny says he will take linda back, but i thought he had started dating Brandi by this point? That is all for now.

HUH?

How could he take her "back" if he was already dating someone else?

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 15 2007, 04:15 PM) ☐
>
> Daaaaang!! ☒ sn ☒ pe ☒ p Hersh, Re, have some? I got some fried chicken bits here....

I'm late...but I'm here! For the "bits" that is....

☒ sn

29

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ How Many Alleged Victims Of Tommy Shelton?

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 23 2007, 03:06 PM

Timeline of Sexual Allegations of Tommy Shelton:

I could not find anywhere that listed all of the possible alleged victims of Tommy Shelton. I attempted to list them all below in order to grasp the possible magnitude of the number of alleged victims. This is a rough draft and as more information is posted I will update and re-post.

- The allegations are from the AToday article, posts at BlackSDA.com, Maritime-sda-online.org and/or Christianforums.com.

Please review and provide missing information.

Mid 1970's

#1 (or more) -Allegations - About 30 year's ago - Walt Thompson

Nineteen Eighty's

#2 - 1982-83 School Year - Allegation by BD

#3 - Allegations of "three other boys"

#4 - Allegations of "three other boys"

#5 - Allegations of "three other boys"

#6 - October 1984 - Seen w/ one boy - Avery - (Possibly one of "three other boys")

#7 - Allegation by Mother #1 of Victim - (~~Possibly one of "three other boys"~~)

#8 - Allegation by Mother of GH - (~~Possibly one of "three other boys"~~)

September 15, 1985 - Resigned as Pastor of Ezra Church of God (TS open letter)

October 25, 1985 - Ordination Suspended

#9 - Late 1985/Early 1986 - Allegation by DC

June 1986 (Approx) - Hired as Pastor of Ezra Church of God (TS open letter)

#10 - Around 1988 - Allegation by RC

#11 - "Victims that have not come forward" - post by PJMusic
- "...at least 5 other victims I know of that have not come forward yet." - post by D. Clem

#12 - (2) "Victims that have not come forward"

#13 - (3) "Victims that have not come forward"

#14 - (4) "Victims that have not come forward"

#15 (or more) - (5) "Victims that have not come forward"

- At least 6 boys were sexually abused - Assume #'s (2-15) include - Dryden

Nineteen Ninety's

#16 (or more) - Early 1990's prior to resigning from Ezra - Further Allegations (Atoday)

1991 - Resigns from Ezra Church of God

1991 – Hired by 3ABN as Production Manager (Atoday)

#17 - (1991- 1992) - Employee allegation (Atoday)

1992 (Aprox) - Fired by 3ABN

- Result of employee allegations (AToday)

1992 (Aprox) - Hired by 3ABN to Promote 3ABN

- Traveled around by Bus singing and promoting

1995 - Hired as Assist. Pastor of Dunn Loring Church of God

1996 - Hired as Pastor of Dunn Loring Church of God

- Further allegations during time at Dunn Loring (Atoday)

#18 - One minor at VA Church - Dryden

#19 - Adult #1 at VA Church - Dryden

#20 - Adult #2 at VA Church - Dryden

#21 - Misconduct at VA Church - Unrelated to other 3 - Dryden (Martime #82093)

Two Thousand's

#22 - In 2000 - Family confronted - relationship with underage male (possibly #15) (Atoday)

#23 - 2000 - Family confronted - inappropriate relationship with son (Atoday)

2000 or (2002 - Atoday) - Resigned as Pastor of Dunn Loring Church of God

(2000- 2002) (Aprox) - Hired by 3ABN as Achieve Librarian

2001 - Surrendered Credentials to the Ministerial Council in VA (TS Open Letter)

June 2004 - Promoted by 3ABN to Programming Manager

December 2006 - Resigned from 3ABN

Notes:

a. Information about allegations in the 1970's is not known [(-) 01/ (+) ??]

b. #~~'s 6,~~ 7~~, and 8~~ may be included in "three other boys" [(-) 01/ (+) 00]

c. "Victims that have not come forward" [(-) 00/ (+) ??]

d. "At least 6 boys were sexually abused" [(-) 00/ (+) ??]

e. Further Allegations in Early 1990's may be included elsewhere [(-) 01/ (+) ??]

f. #'s 18 and 22 may be the same victim [(-) 01/ (+) 00]

Total number of alleged victims may be 23, as low as 19 or as high as an unknown number.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> thank you for summarizing this information....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 05:18 PM

Whtz Happenin,

This is a great start! It looks like you put a lot of time into this. Thank you! It will be interesting how the time line evolves, now, as it continues to be fleshed out.

PB

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:17 PM

Even if one of them is right...... He's (Tommy) is wrong....

My LERD!

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Mar 12 2007, 12:12 AM

This topic has been quiet for awhile. If anyone has any additional relevant information, please post.

Posted by: erik Mar 12 2007, 03:18 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Mar 11 2007, 11:12 PM)
>
> This topic has been quiet for awhile. If anyone has any additional relevant information, please post.

What is very telling is no one from the Pro 3abn crowd has tried to disprove your time line.

Makes me wonder why???

ERik

Posted by: Pickle Mar 12 2007, 08:43 AM

Guess I missed this thread.

#7 Mother #1 is not the mother of one of the three boys. Here son did not come forward until January 24, 2007, the very day the ASI statement came out.

I think #6 is correct.

#8 I understand at present to not be one of the three boys, but to be the mother of the fourth boy in Dryden's 2003 count of six, fourth in the order of when Dryden found out about them, not in chronological order. In other words, Dryden's #5 is actually Brad Dunning, in my understanding, because he found out about him after #1-#4.

Tommy asserts that he resigned from his pastorate in his open letter. I'd like some confirmation that that was the case, especially since his open letter claims that the first allegations came in September 1985.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 12 2007, 10:16 AM

http://www.cnn.com/2007/US/03/09/roberts.btsc/index.html

Interesting story. Here's a nationally known figure who kept quiet for 20 years, even when a friend came forward with similar allegations and had them thrown out of court. It must be super hard to come forward.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 12 2007, 12:14 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 12 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> http://www.cnn.com/2007/US/03/09/roberts.btsc/index.html
>
> Interesting story. Here's a nationally known figure who kept quiet for 20 years, even when a friend came forward with similar allegations and had them thrown out of court. It must be super hard to come forward.

I would agree.

But what I find disturbing is how little time was actually served for the crimes committed. I wonder if someone were facing the question of coming forward and all they and their family would have to face in public scrutiny if they did, if the small penalty actually paid here by the priest in terms of time actually served would, on balance, be worth it or would the public exposure be enough?

nw
C"i"

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 12 2007, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 12 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> http://www.cnn.com/2007/US/03/09/roberts.btsc/index.html
>
> Interesting story. Here's a nationally known figure who kept quiet for 20 years, even when a friend came forward with similar allegations and had them thrown out of court. It must be super hard to come forward.

Particularly if you are famous... and even worse if you are a professional athlete; several years ago an NHL player came forward about the abuse he suffered at the hands of his junior hockey coach and 2 years ago Laverneus Coles, wide receiver for the NY Jets came forward about the abuse he suffed at the hands of his step-father and even though it was sexual abuse, in the über-homophobic world of professional sports, both continue to suffer as a result, facing homosexual slurs from opoosing players and the like.

Both have said that sometimes it's so bad they wish they had continued to keep silent... but both are ultimately glad they told their story and their abusers convicted.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Mar 13 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 12 2007, 10:43 AM)
>
> Guess I missed this thread.
>
> #7 Mother #1 is not the mother of one of the three boys. Here son did not come forward until January 24, 2007, the very day the ASI statement came out.
>
> I think #6 is correct.
>
> #8 I understand at present to not be one of the three boys, but to be the mother of the fourth boy in Dryden's 2003 count of six, fourth in the order of when Dryden found out about them, not in chronological order. In other words, Dryden's #5 is actually Brad Dunning, in my understanding, because he found out about him after #1-#4.
>
> Tommy asserts that he resigned from his pastorate in his open letter. I'd like some confirmation that that was the case, especially since his open letter claims that the first allegations came in September 1985.

Thanks Pickle for your input. I wish we could all miss this thread and wake up to find it only a nightmare. Unfortunately, no one is denying any of the allegations; including Tommy in his open letter.

Posted by: Clay Mar 16 2007, 08:48 AM

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (March 16) - A man who sexually assaulted a University of Virginia student in 1984 and apologized to her two decades later as part of the Alcoholics Anonymous program was sentenced to 18 months in prison Thursday.

http://news.aol.com/topnews/articles/_a/man-who-sent-apology-sentenced-for-rape/20070315175709990001?ncid=NWS00010000000001

who was it that said that T.S. could not get jail time?

Posted by: Johann Mar 16 2007, 09:24 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 16 2007, 04:48 PM)
>
> CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (March 16) - A man who sexually assaulted a University of Virginia student in 1984 and apologized to her two decades later as part of the Alcoholics Anonymous program was sentenced to 18 months in prison Thursday.
> http://news.aol.com/topnews/articles/_a/man-who-sent-apology-sentenced-for-rape/20070315175709990001?ncid=NWS00010000000001
> who was it that said that T.S. could not get jail time?

It is remarkable that this man could have gotten a life sentence, but he was given merely 18 months because he repented of his evil. It is also stated that an apology is no substitute for punishment for the evil deed.

Posted by: Observer Mar 16 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 16 2007, 07:48 AM)
>
> CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (March 16) - A man who sexually assaulted a University of Virginia student in 1984 and apologized to her two decades later as part of the Alcoholics Anonymous program was sentenced to 18 months in prison Thursday.
> http://news.aol.com/topnews/articles/_a/man-who-sent-apology-sentenced-for-rape/20070315175709990001?ncid=NWS00010000000001
> who was it that said that T.S. could not get jail time?

Virginia does not have a Statute of Limitations on the crime for which he was convicted.

Many other States to have such a Statue of Limitations. It is people from those States who have said that he could not be convicted of a crime.

In this specific case, the prosecution had a signed confession from the man. That fact bring up a lot of new issues.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 16 2007, 11:12 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 16 2007, 12:39 PM) ☐
>
> Virginia does not have a Statute of Limitations on the crime for which he was convicted.
>
> Many other States to have such a Statue of Limitations. It is people from those States who have said that he could not be convicted of a crime.
>
> In this specific case, the prosecution had a signed confession from the man. That fact bring up a lot of new issues.

Greg you are correct about Virgina law.

This is the post I made several weeks ago about this case.

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180531

nw
C"i"

Posted by: Clay Mar 16 2007, 11:20 AM

aren't there some allegations from Virginia?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 16 2007, 12:01 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 16 2007, 09:20 AM) ☐
>
> aren't there some allegations from Virginia?

Clay,

Yes there are allegations in VA. TS and 3abn's response?

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=12279&st=0&p=172694&#entry172694

I hope the church in Virginia hasn't been so intimidated that they will back off. Those alleged victims need to take the steps forward that will help them find healing, IMO.

PB

Noahswife,

It's great to know the "rest of the story" finally, isn't it! While 18 months isn't a very long sentence, it still won't be a walk in the park. I hope all of the frat party boys will hear of this case and take it to heart before they do anything like this guy did.

PB

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 16 2007, 12:32 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 16 2007, 02:01 PM) ☐
>
> Noahswife,
>
> It's great to know the "rest of the story" finally, isn't it! While 18 months isn't a very long sentence, it still won't be a walk in the park. I hope all of the frat party boys will hear of this case and take it to heart before they do anything like this guy did.
>
> PB

PB~

Since there will be those who will not read the prior story, here is a quote:

On Jan. 4, 2006, Beebe was arrested in Las Vegas.

There is no statute of limitations on felonies in Virginia, and with Beebe's written confession, it appeared to be an open-and-shut case.

Except Beebe, facing a sentence of life in prison, suddenly denied raping Seccuro.

She couldn't believe it.

They were headed for trial.

• • •

She began to receive e-mails and letters, many from Christians condemning her for pressing charges, admonishing her to forgive.

But she had forgiven Beebe. Couldn't she forgive and still want justice?

Her panic attacks returned. Some friends stopped calling. She suffered a miscarriage while nervously awaiting Beebe's arrest.

It seemed Beebe was hurting her again.

and

In the end Beebe pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of aggravated sexual battery and the other charges were dropped. I do not want anyone to think he only received 18 months for rape despite his confession.

nw

Posted by: Fran Mar 17 2007, 08:34 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 16 2007, 12:32 PM)
>
> PB~
>
> Since there will be those who will not read the prior story, here is a quote:
>
> On Jan. 4, 2006, Beebe was arrested in Las Vegas.
>
> There is no statute of limitations on felonies in Virginia, and with Beebe's written confession, it appeared to be an open-and-shut case.
>
> Except Beebe, facing a sentence of life in prison, suddenly denied raping Seccuro.
>
> She couldn't believe it.
>
> They were headed for trial.
>
> • • •
>
> She began to receive e-mails and letters, many from Christians condemning her for pressing charges, admonishing her to forgive.
>
> But she had forgiven Beebe. Couldn't she forgive and still want justice?
>
> Her panic attacks returned. Some friends stopped calling. She suffered a miscarriage while nervously awaiting Beebe's arrest.
>
> It seemed Beebe was hurting her again.
>
> and
>
> In the end Beebe pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of aggravated sexual battery and the other charges were dropped. I do not want anyone to think he only received 18 months for rape despite his confession.
>
> nw

☒ bum

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 17 2007, 10:18 PM

bump....

☒ sn

Actually...can this be pinned?

Posted by: Fran Mar 17 2007, 10:52 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 17 2007, 10:18 PM)
>
> bump....
>
> ☒ sn
>
> Actually...can this be pinned?

It should be!

㉚

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3abn Expanding Coverage Areas And Success At Shiloh!

Posted by: wwjd Mar 10 2007, 08:21 PM

Services last night, this morning and this afternoon were broadcast live from Shiloh Adventist Church in Chicago? Fantastic. The afternoon program reviewed with people that had participated in last years 10 commandment weekend plus scoping out their plan for this year. They had passed out an unbelievable amount last year and want to top it this year. Personal testimonies were given of the experiences some had while distributing the books. Especially discussed, was how receptive folks were in receiving them. People are looking for God and are truly desiring of help to find Him. With this kind of support from Chicago, the coming 10 commandment weekend looks like it will be more successful, even, than last year. It promises to be an outstanding even geared to point people to the God of heaven.

The other part of the program was information given by Moses Primo on what is happening with expansion on new satellites, cable, downlinks etc. 3ABN has recently hooked up to a new satellite that will reach (I believe) parts of China and several other countries! I believe he said that makes 9 satellites now!! He also said there is a good possiblity that they will be getting on Direct TV!!! Best of all, there is a project underway where people that do not have access to dishes, or, their cable companies don't carry 3abn, will be able to plug in a small box to their TV and they will be able to receive 3abn, 3abn latino, the new future urban 3abn and the future 3abn kids programming!! There are millions, that will be able to receive 3ABN's programming that have never been able to receive it before!!!! How many lives will be changed from watching those christian programs? We might not know this side of heaven but we do know it will be many. As the song says "people need the Lord."

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 10 2007, 09:09 PM

Yes I believe that God is leading 3abn despite the best efforts of Danny and his scribes to derail it. I wonder how much more God could be blessing it if only....

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 10 2007, 09:21 PM) ☐
>
> Services last night, this morning and this afternoon were broadcast live from Shiloh Adventist Church in Chicago? Fantastic. The afternoon program reviewed with people that had participated in last years 10 commandment weekend plus scoping out their plan for this year. They had passed out an unbelievable amount last year and want to top it this year. Personal testimonies were given of the experiences some had while distributing the books. Especially discussed, was how receptive folks were in receiving them. People are looking for God and are truly desiring of help to find Him. With this kind of support from Chicago, the coming 10 commandment weekend looks like it will be more successful, even, than last year. It promises to be an outstanding even geared to point people to the God of heaven.
>
> The other part of the program was information given by Moses Primo on what is happening with expansion on new satellites, cable, downlinks etc. 3ABN has recently hooked up to a new satellite that will reach (I believe) parts of China and several other countries! I believe he said that makes 9 satellites now!! He also said there is a good possiblity that they will be getting on Direct TV!!! Best of all, there is a project underway where people that do not have access to dishes, or, their cable companies don't carry 3abn, will be able to plug in a small box to their TV and they will be able to receive 3abn, 3abn latino, the new future urban 3abn and the future 3abn kids programming!!

> There are millions, that will be able to receive 3ABN's programming that have never been able to receive it before!!!! How many lives will be changed from watching those christian programs? We might not know this side of heaven but we do know it will be many. As the song says "people need the Lord."

Posted by: Lee Mar 10 2007, 09:14 PM

It is so exciting to see what is happening at 3ABN. Thank you wwjd for this report. I believe I saw where it was said by someone about two weeks ago that with this new satellite that they will be actually reaching the WHOLE world with the Good News of Jesus our Lord. To me, this is really exciting news! God is blessing abundantly.

Oh and we have in our home both 3ABN and Hope. We really like having both because if something comes on that we don't care for, we can switch channels. That way we are always watching something and receiving a big blessing from it.

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 10 2007, 09:17 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 10 2007, 08:21 PM)
>
> Services last night, this morning and this afternoon were broadcast live from Shiloh Adventist Church in Chicago? Fantastic. The afternoon program reviewed with people that had participated in last years 10 commandment weekend plus scoping out their plan for this year. They had passed out an unbelievable amount last year and want to top it this year. Personal testimonies were given of the experiences some had while distributing the books. Especially discussed, was how receptive folks were in receiving them. People are looking for God and are truly desiring of help to find Him. With this kind of support from Chicago, the coming 10 commandment weekend looks like it will be more successful, even, than last year. It promises to be an outstanding even geared to point people to the God of heaven.
>
> The other part of the program was information given by Moses Primo on what is happening with expansion on new satellites, cable, downlinks etc. 3ABN has recently hooked up to a new satellite that will reach (I believe) parts of China and several other countries! I believe he said that makes 9 satellites now!! He also said there is a good possiblity that they will be getting on Direct TV!!! Best of all, there is a project underway where people that do not have access to dishes, or, their cable companies don't carry 3abn, will be able to plug in a small box to their TV and they will be able to receive 3abn, 3abn latino, the new future urban 3abn and the future 3abn kids programming!! There are millions, that will be able to receive 3ABN's programming that have never been able to receive it before!!!! How many lives will be changed from watching those christian programs? We might not know this side of heaven but we do know it will be many. As the song says "people need the Lord."

☒ PTL.gif

hank you, wwjd, for sharing that! I don't get to see much of 3ABN so I appreciate the update.

God is certainly using His ministry to spread His Word according to His Plan GP.g

I appreciated today's break from arguments and fingerpointing - thank you for that, Calvin, Princess Di and Clay!

After all, it really is all about Him...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 10 2007, 09:55 PM

I add my thanks to wwjd for the encouraging report from Chicago. My prayers continue to go out to the television ministries of 3abn, Hope and Loma Linda that all will be blessed to carry the Gospel, that Good News, to this world!

I look forward to learning more about the little box that can be hooked up to the tv to receive 3abn. We have no exposure to the right part of the sky for a dish so this will be great! Will it make Hope accessible as well?

PB

Posted by: sister Mar 10 2007, 11:35 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 10 2007, 10:55 PM)

I add my thanks to wwjd for the encouraging report from Chicago. My prayers continue to go out to the television ministries of 3abn, Hope and Loma Linda that all will be blessed to carry the Gospel, that Good News, to this world!

I look forward to learning more about the little box that can be hooked up to the tv to receive 3abn. We have no exposure to the right part of the sky for a dish so this will be great! Will it make Hope accessible as well?

PB

No, each company negotiates separately. Instead of getting television through cable, it comes through the phone line from the telephone provider.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 11 2007, 07:09 AM

And why are we suddenly impressed by a report of yet another 3ABN rally which makes big promises so as to open more pocketbooks? ....

Not this bird...... .....

Not until the camp has been cleansed and the entity is under completely new management.

Carry on............. TVsnack. ....

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 11 2007, 07:47 AM

Lary mentioned that they were at Shiloh, yesterday....this was a good match, especially for a predominately Black SDA church.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 10 2007, 09:21 PM)
>
> Services last night, this morning and this afternoon were broadcast live from Shiloh Adventist Church in Chicago? Fantastic. The afternoon program reviewed with people that had participated in last years 10 commandment weekend plus scoping out their plan for this year. They had passed out an unbelievable amount last year and want to top it this year. Personal testimonies were given of the experiences some had while distributing the books. Especially discussed, was how receptive folks were in receiving them. People are looking for God and are truly desiring of help to find Him. With this kind of support from Chicago, the coming 10 commandment weekend looks like it will be more successful, even, than last year. It promises to be an outstanding even geared to point people to the God of heaven.
>
> The other part of the program was information given by Moses Primo on what is happening with expansion on new satellites, cable, downlinks etc. 3ABN has recently hooked up to a new satellite that will reach (I believe) parts of China and several other countries! I believe he said that makes 9 satellites now!! He also said there is a good possiblity that they will be getting on Direct TV!!! Best of all, there is a project underway where people that do not have access to dishes, or, their cable companies don't carry 3abn, will be able to plug in a small box to their TV and they will be able to receive 3abn, 3abn latino, the new future urban 3abn and the future 3abn kids programming!! There are millions, that will be able to receive 3ABN's programming that have never been able to receive it before!!!! How many lives will be changed from watching those christian programs? We might not know this side of heaven but we do know it will be many. As the song says "people need the Lord."

Posted by: watchbird Mar 11 2007, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 11 2007, 08:47 AM)
>
> Lary mentioned that they were at Shiloh, yesterday....this was a good match, especially for a predominately Black SDA church.

Yes, I assumed they were a predominately black church when I saw his mention. But I'm not understanding what you mean by "this was a good match".

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 11 2007, 08:31 AM

They support the ministry of 3ABN and the vision of where it is going to go. As the "Mother Church" in Chicago among Black Adventists, it was a major move and a good match for the constiuency of that church.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 11 2007, 08:54 AM)
>
> Yes, I assumed they were a predominately black church when I saw his mention. But I'm not understanding what you mean by "this was a good match".

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 11 2007, 08:46 AM

.....and I LOVE the 3 Black Angels that are on the church....it has church bells that ring....It just brings back good memories as a little one walking up the street with my family while the bells were ringing going to special program's there...all "dollied up".

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 11 2007, 09:53 AM

I think we can support the ministry of 3abn without supporting the leadership. Danny needs to step down now, however 3abn needs to go forward taking the message to the world. It's definitely a tight rope situation.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 11 2007, 09:09 AM)
>
> And why are we suddenly impressed by a report of yet another 3ABN rally which makes big promises so as to open more pocketbooks? ....
>
> Not this bird...... .....
> Not until the camp has been cleansed and the entity is under completely new management.
>
> Carry on............. TVsnack ....

Posted by: Clay Mar 11 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 11 2007, 09:53 AM)

> I think we can support the ministry of 3abn without supporting the leadership. Danny needs to step down now, however 3abn needs to go forward taking the message to the world. It's definitely a tight rope situation.

is that like supporting the troops but not supporting the war?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 11 2007, 10:09 AM

☒ as I was writing that I was thinking the same thing.

I really don't know how to do it. I support 3abn with my prayers but would never support it with my money as long as Danny is at the helm. Hope TV, yes.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 11 2007, 11:01 AM) ☐
>
> is that like supporting the troops but not supporting the war?

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 11 2007, 11:09 AM

Divine favor from God is not humanly subjective....in other words it won't make sense to mortals for "[God's] My ways are not your ways, and my thoughts are not your thoughts".

Perhaps a question that some may place before God in prayer is why does He continue to bless it....and wait for His response.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 11 2007, 11:17 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 11 2007, 11:09 AM) ☐
>
> ☒ as I was writing that I was thinking the same thing.
>
> I really don't know how to do it. I support 3abn with my prayers but would never support it with my money as long as Danny is at the helm. Hope TV, yes.

No matter how valuable or elegant the glove... one cannot support the glove without supporting the hand that is in it. So long as Danny and 3abn are one entity then it is hardly consistent to be giving prayer support on the one hand and withholding financial support on the other hand. It is when we are consistent in our prayers and our work that God can step forward and act.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 11 2007, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 11 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> Divine favor from God is not humanly subjective....in other words it won't make sense to mortals for "[God's] My ways are not your ways, and my thoughts are not your thoughts".
>
> Perhaps a question that some may place before God in prayer is why does He continue to bless it....and wait for His response.

The Psalmist had a problem with this very concept.... as to why the wicked continued to prosper. He found his answer when he stepped into the Sanctuary and understood their final end.

The souls under the altar express a similar concern in their prayer... "How long, O Lord, How long".... in that context, how long before God would avenge those who had done wicked things to them. We who now "wait for His response" keep our trust "stayed upon Him" in view of these two opposite but similar concepts and questions.... why does God allow the wicked to prosper and why does God not speedily bring them to justice.

We already, in these months now stretching into years in which we have learned more and more about the interior workings of 3ABN, have seen some glimpses as to why God has delayed this long. For had He acted promptly we might never have realized many of the hidden things which have come to light... some only in the past few months. So, knowing this to be one reason why He has delayed, our faith is strengthened to believe that He also has ample reason for delaying longer, and we wait patiently for Him to act.... at the same time that we work diligently at whatever task He points us to, trusting Him to use it to accomplish His purposes.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 11 2007, 11:50 AM

I think the whole idea of another 10 Commandment weekend is a bit perilous right now. Some people sound so worked up, it would be easy to imagine someone holding a picket sign that reads, "Danny, please keep the 10 Commandments!" And that would attract media attention.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 11 2007, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 11 2007, 07:53 AM)
>
> I think we can support the ministry of 3abn without supporting the leadership. Danny needs to step down now, however 3abn needs to go forward taking the message to the world. It's definitely a tight rope situation.

I can not and will not support this ministry. I care about the people it reaches, they will be reached one way or another as they are God's children. God has his hand on each one, just like on the rest of the people on this planet. The means He uses is up to Him. He is God and has a million ways to communicate. I won't support this supposed 3abn ministry as long as I know who and how it's being run. Simple. If and when that changes, then it becomes a different situation.

I hate to sound negative, so I have withheld my comments on WWJD's "approach" in starting this thread, but I will just say (IMO) that it is a form of propaganda, minipulation and distraction, and that is all. I can see what's really being potrayed and played out in the statement.

Shred me if you like.

Posted by: Ralph Mar 11 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 11 2007, 11:08 AM)
>
> Shred me if you like.

Why should anyone shred you? Aren't all writers Christians?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 11 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 11 2007, 10:23 AM)
>
> Why should anyone shred you? Aren't all writers Christians?

rofl

I was predicting the future of some posters replys....

Some things are inevitable. It is what it is.

God is good. He is in control, even of this ugly situation. What could be more comforting?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 11 2007, 12:51 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 11 2007, 09:17 AM)
>
> No matter how valuable or elegant the glove... one cannot support the glove without supporting > the hand that is in it. So long as Danny and 3abn are one entity then it is hardly consistent to be giving prayer support on the one hand and withholding financial support on the other hand. It is when we are consistent in our prayers and our work that God can step forward and act.

n my past I made a decision about a relationship that my parents could not support. They withdrew ll financial support from me but continued to support me with their prayers. Although it was a raumatic period in my life I appreciated the fact that they were acting on a principle that they trongly believed.

Vhile the evidence is piling up that Danny and others in leadership positions at 3abn have made many nappropriate and devastating choices that have negatively impacted numerous lives, I believe that he ministry that God raised up still has at least a tenuous attachment to the Vine and is still roducing some precious, good fruit among the rotten ones.

od knows and has His own timetable for 3abn. He knows every good and wicked thing that is and as been done there. He knows the hearts of each person involved in the ministry - from volunteers to mployees, to leadership - and knows how best to deal with each one.

believe it is appropriate to continue to pray for the ministry of 3abn, that God will clean out the rot, vill trim the sickly branch and restore it to vibrant health. I also continue to pray for the souls that ave been damaged by the sinful choices of those in leadership as well as the souls of those leaders vho remain in Satan's clutches.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 11 2007, 09:29 AM)
>
> The Psalmist had a problem with this very concept.... as to why the wicked continued to prosper. He found his answer when he stepped into the Sanctuary and understood their final end.
>
> The souls under the altar express a similar concern in their prayer... "How long, O Lord, How long".... in that context, how long before God would avenge those who had done wicked things to them. We who now "wait for His response" keep our trust "stayed upon Him" in view of these two opposite but similar concepts and questions.... why does God allow the wicked to prosper and why does God not speedily bring them to justice.
>
> We already, in these months now stretching into years in which we have learned more and more about the interior workings of 3ABN, have seen some glimpses as to why God has delayed this long. For had He acted promptly we might never have realized many of the hidden things which have come to light... some only in the past few months. So, knowing this to be one reason why He has delayed, our faith is strengthened to believe that He also has ample reason for delaying longer, and we wait patiently for Him to act.... at the same time that we work diligently at whatever task He points us to, trusting Him to use it to accomplish His purposes.

his is an excellent point! I hope the message can get through to the ones who need to hear it most.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 11 2007, 10:08 AM)
>
> I can not and will not support this ministry. I care about the people it reaches, they will be reached one way or another as they are God's children. God has his hand on each one, just like on the rest of the people on this planet. The means He uses is up to Him. He is God and has a million ways to communicate. I won't support this supposed 3abn ministry as long as I know who and how it's being run. Simple. If and when that changes, then it becomes a different situation.
>
> I hate to sound negative, so I have withheld my comments on WWJD's "approach" in starting this thread, but I will just say (IMO) that it is a form of propaganda, minipulation and distraction, and that is all. I can see what's really being potrayed and played out in the statement.
> Shred me if you like.

sonshineonme,

I agree that this thread was started as a form of propaganda. I think everyone who has their eyes open can see that. It is just my position that good can still come out of 3abn.

I am reminded of the testimony of Ivor Myers. As he and others drank and abused substances one Friday evening, a fellow partier, who had been raised SDA, shared thoughts from the Bible and The Great Controversy. They began throwing copies of the book out to the crowds during their rap concerts and eventually their journey evolved to where they were actually hearing God's voice and following the truth. One day we will know if any of the concert-goers joined that journey. One day we will all know how many came to Jesus by the 10 Commandments Meetings.

BTJMO

PB

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 11 2007, 12:51 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 11 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> Divine favor from God is not humanly subjective....in other words it won't make sense to mortals for "[God's] My ways are not your ways, and my thoughts are not your thoughts".
>
> Perhaps a question that some may place before God in prayer is why does He continue to bless it....and wait for His response.

God has not stated 3ABN was favored...divinely or otherwise. The lesson of Solomon's temple is that to the less than discerning, there may still seem to be the same grandeur long after God's glory has departed.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 11 2007, 12:55 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 11 2007, 10:51 AM)
>
> God has not stated 3ABN was favored...divinely or otherwise. The lesson of Solomon's temple is that to the less than discerning, there may still seem to be the same grandeur long after God's glory has departed.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

True.

However, those folks who are walking into SoulEspresso's church and other SDA churches after hearing the message on 3abn have a very good chance of growing into strong followers of God.

PB

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 11 2007, 01:10 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 01:55 PM)
>
> True.
>
> However, those folks who are walking into SoulEspresso's church and other SDA churches after hearing the message on 3abn have a very good chance of growing into strong followers of God.
>
> PB

totally irrelevant... that still does not mean 3ABN is in any wise 'favored'... as Paul notes in 1Cor 9:27; one can preach the gospel to others while he himself is 'cast away'...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 11 2007, 01:29 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 11 2007, 12:10 PM)
>
> totally irrelevant... that still does not mean 3ABN is in any wise 'favored'... as Paul notes in 1Cor 9:27; one can preach the gospel to others while he himself is 'cast away'...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

I agree. What I said does not have anything to do with whether or not 3abn is being favored.

I was just adding on to your thoughts a similar sentiment as 1 Corinthians 9:27. Donations, souls and opening doors do not necessarily mean the ministry is blessed by God. That there are still being souls reached may only demonstrate that God is still is reaching souls in spite of those in charge.

If it is not cleansed of evil and rot that fruit will become less and less until the branch will completely fail.

PB

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 11 2007, 01:31 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 02:29 PM)
>
> I agree. What I said does not have anything to do with whether or not 3abn is being favored.

> I was just adding on to your thoughts a similar sentiment as 1 Corinthians 9:27. Donations, souls and opening doors do not necessarily mean the ministry is blessed by God. That there are still being souls reached may only demonstrate that God is still is reaching souls in spite of those in charge.
>
> If it is not cleansed of evil and rot that fruit will become less and less until the branch will completely fail.
>
> PB

On this we are agreed

n His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 11 2007, 01:32 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 12:51 PM)
>
> sonshineonme,
>
> I agree that this thread was started as a form of propaganda. I think everyone who has their eyes open can see that. It is just my position that good can still come out of 3abn.
>
> PB

Second that - very well said, PB...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 11 2007, 01:44 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 03:29 PM)
>
> ...If it is not cleansed of evil and rot that fruit will become less and less until the branch will completely fail.

True dat!

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 11 2007, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Mar 11 2007, 11:32 AM)
>
> Second that - very well said, PB...

God has and is using many things...that's the point. This is just a thing. He is not limited. Whatever works. OTOH, I do believe that God uses things for many reasons too, maybe not what we think He is using it for.

Posted by: Lee Mar 11 2007, 01:56 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 11 2007, 01:08 PM)
>
> I can not and will not support this ministry. I care about the people it reaches, they will be reached one way or another as they are God's children. God has his hand on each one, just like on the rest of the people on this planet.

I believe Mrs. White tells us that if we are not doing God's work to reach souls, especially in the citites, that they won't be reached. She speaks of many dying with a longing to know Jesus and to know truth yet dying in ignorance. We have a work to do. We cannot just sit back and do nothing with the idea that God will do something.

God is all powerful but He has given us a great commission to reach those around us with the truth. That is exactly what 3ABN is doing, God uses faulty men and women like you and I to do His work.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 11 2007, 02:09 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 11 2007, 11:56 AM)
>
> I believe Mrs. White tells us that if we are not doing God's work to reach souls, especially in the citites, that they won't be reached. She speaks of many dying with a longing to know Jesus and to know truth yet dying in ignorance. We have a work to do. We cannot just sit back and do nothing with the idea that God will do something.
>
> God is all powerful but He has given us a great commission to reach those around us with the truth. That is exactly what 3ABN is doing, God uses faulty men and women like you and I to do His work.

Lee,

You would do well to remind Danny that those 600+ folks in Thompsonville are "around" you and need to be reached with the truth. If 3abn reaches out to Chicago with the message but ignores the needs right outside its doors that does not send a very good message to the world.

Please, if you have his ear, urge Danny to set pride aside and seek a coming together between him, his leadership and those in the community living beside this ministry.

I look forward to the day when wwjd, or you, or Bystander will start a thread with the good news that 3abn has begun to sow the seeds of forgiveness and restoration in the little town of Thompsonville!

PB

Posted by: princessdi Mar 11 2007, 02:21 PM

In all fairness, before we go off ona tirade.......I am sure some folks had the same reaction to David with ALL the difficulties he had throughout his reign......but that was not God's reaction, even when he was a murdering philanderer.......To my knowledge Danny has yet to murder someone. While I personally believe it best for the ministry that Danny step aside while this questions are answered, I do believe God is still using 3ABN to reach His children. Danny may have, like David, been chosen by God to raise up and lead 3ABN in spreading His gospel. However, also, like David, Danny's personal demons are following him every step of the way. Unlike David, Danny is not yet prepentant of his transgressions, but neither was David until God sent Nathan, right? He was going right along like everything was fine, ws he not? Now, unlike David those when God sent Danny's "Nathan"(people who are bringing his transgression to light. Afterall the promise int he Bible is that what is done int he dark will come to the light, it said nothing about how public or private that coming out will be), Danny is not repentant nearly as quickly. In fact he is not admitting any wrong doing at all. The thing I think most will not like about this is, like David, God may not choose to permanently remove Danny from 3ABN to fix the issues. Since his sins as also before the world, there, like David, he may have to do repentance before the world. As I said before, if Danny was really thinking of God's work, he would step aside and clear up all of the questions. It would spare him Jimmy Sawggart type of scene, or even the open highly repentance and consequences of David. I think that would be sign to most of his motives, or at least get him their respect.

Oh and just for the record, I do think there is a 'propoganda" tip to all of this, even the choosing of a black church at this particular time. Also, a "mother" church,a s it had been identified. i just know we have to consider more than that. God is not impressed with those who "use" His things for their own purposes. the transgressions are mounting up. I am impressed that this is only yet another in the string of convient baptisms, quickie divorces, hurried marriages, special weekends, call fasting and prayer meetings that have been used to bandaid the real issues . Unfortunately too many of us upon seeing th bandaid are no longer interested in curing the disease. However, only God knows and only He and Danny(by his choices) can control how this unfortunate situtaion is played out.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 11 2007, 02:31 PM

Well said!

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 01:51 PM)
>
> In my past I made a decision about a relationship that my parents could not support. They withdrew all financial support from me but continued to support me with their prayers. Although it was a traumatic period in my life I appreciated the fact that they were acting on a principle that they strongly believed.
>
> While the evidence is piling up that Danny and others in leadership positions at 3abn have made many inappropriate and devastating choices that have negatively impacted numerous lives, I believe that the ministry that God raised up still has at least a tenuous attachment to the Vine and is still producing some precious, good fruit among the rotten ones.
>
> God knows and has His own timetable for 3abn. He knows every good and wicked thing that is and has been done there. He knows the hearts of each person involved in the ministry - from volunteers to employees, to leadership - and knows how best to deal with each one.

> I believe it is appropriate to continue to pray for the ministry of 3abn, that God will clean out the rot, will trim the sickly branch and restore it to vibrant health. I also continue to pray for the souls that have been damaged by the sinful choices of those in leadership as well as the souls of those leaders who remain in Satan's clutches.
> This is an excellent point! I hope the message can get through to the ones who need to hear it most.
> sonshineonme,
>
> I agree that this thread was started as a form of propaganda. I think everyone who has their eyes open can see that. It is just my position that good can still come out of 3abn.
>
> I am reminded of the testimony of Ivor Myers. As he and others drank and abused substances one Friday evening, a fellow partier, who had been raised SDA, shared thoughts from the Bible and The Great Controversy. They began throwing copies of the book out to the crowds during their rap concerts and eventually their journey evolved to where they were actually hearing God's voice and following the truth. One day we will know if any of the concert-goers joined that journey. One day we will all know how many came to Jesus by the 10 Commandments Meetings.
>
> BTJMO
>
> PB

Posted by: lurker Mar 11 2007, 03:15 PM

I also hope 3ABN does well. I know Linda is still praying for it. I do question the information that someone has fed C.A. Murray about 3ABN not owing anything and about them spending all their money. He spoke of this at Shiloh. I do think C. A. is sincere. But we have gone over all this before. Not only is there the court case information:
http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/hearings/pt/pt04-1.pdf
But there is the information from the 3ABN live program:
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12189&view=findpost&p=171343

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 11 2007, 04:11 PM

What I'm hearing said on here is that 3abn needs our prayers but not our financial support.

Personally I could never support it, nor encourage others too, with our funds knowing that the money is being used to fatten the pockets of Danny, his cronies and the Shelton family, (those still in his good graces). And no matter how much Danny repents as long as they are flying that jet they will never get a penny from me. (My pet peeve)

Richard

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 11 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 11 2007, 02:11 PM) ☐
>
> What I'm hearing said on here is that 3abn needs our prayers but not our financial support.
>
> Personally I could never support it, nor encourage others too, with our funds knowing that the > money is being used to fatten the pockets of Danny, his cronies and the Shelton family, (those still in his good graces). And no matter how much Danny repents as long as they are flying that jet they will never get a penny from me. (My pet peeve)

>
> Richard

)k, my further two cents.....ok twenty cents.

'his has come up so many times in the 3abn forum, and I knew it would again with how this thread ;tarted. It really pushes those buttons on us, doesn't it? What to do, what to do...

will never stop praying for people. I love people, I want more then anything in my soul for people to :now the true and real LOVING God who wants more then anything for us to know Him!

Ve are humans participating in the great mission to help people find our God, the one that Satan does ıot want anyone to find or know. We have an opportunity to play a part, not only because it ;trengthens our own relationship with Him, as well as others, but because we learn a lot along the vay.

;o, does it matter HOW it's done? Yes, I think so.

)o the ends justify the means? NO.

laybe I keep it too simple (Satan hates this method).

believe that this is GOD'S WORK. We get to participate for many reasons, part of what I already ;tated. God uses everything that will accomplish that purpose. I do believe He has standards as well. I ›elieve He has the right and excercises it as well, to bless more or less. He is God! He can and will do hings His way, and I am so thankful for that assurance. OTOH, we are humans who have been given ree will and choice. How we use it, abuse it, ignore it, whatever is something that is a result of our ndividual choices. Just like you have many people involved in one ministry (or organization), you can ıave many motives going on in that one place...as many people are there are, as many motives, ıgendas, selfish and otherwise.

;o, what happens when you learn that a "ministry" or any organization is operating in a way that we ıll know God would not approve? Do you keep supporting it? Isn't that the million dollar question? Not ›nly for us, but even for those closely connected to that ministry (i.e. employees, board nembers,etc). What to do....what to do....

'RUST. PRAYER. FAITH.

trust that God is and will take care of this situation, like He has a million times in the worlds history. le WILL accomplish his WILL in this. We have no idea what all He will do...but I know He will do it.

pray constantly that I will learn all I can from this, be what I can to others that are going thru so nuch because of this, and for those that will at some point have decisions to make because of this ness that DS has made. Again that includes employees, board members, family members, and those hat have found the SDA church through 3abn. They all need to know it was a tool, nothing more ıothing less. There are many tools in the shed and able to do the job. Do we not trust God on this???

have faith that all things will work together. It's not the first time christians have made a mess of hings, and won't be the last. Will my faith strengthen or grow weaker because of my fellow mans ›ehavior? I hope that my faith becomes stronger because I learn to trust my God FIRST over any man ›r organization. Isn't that a major lesson in this?

'he devil would have us stay in the muck and mull over every bit of it, if it keeps up from learning and noving forward and sharing so we grow....it's more then just about baptisms, good grief. It's about knowing God's love for us, that He is coming back, and that he wants a relationship with His children that He has known since the womb and adores....it's about learning to turn away from sin and seeking only His will. It's about understanding how evil and hateful the devil is and how he will stop at nothing to keep us from reaching our savior.

Satan has a strong creative side. He works from within because for some, that may be the only way he can ensnare them....I think he has done just that.

Everyone, lets let go of the fears that paralyze us from growing spiritually and in wisdom - we hurt ourselves by hanging on to that that deceives us, and lets grasp on to the Hand that is the only safety net. We have nothing to fear be realizing the cleverness of the devil, and to see what extremes the devil will go to keep us from knowing our God.

Satan has the perfect plan...are we falling for it? Are we willing to follow the Jews in having truth among us and not seeing it? Is it worth it to hold on to our conceptions of what we want to believe, in spite of what God reveals to us to open our eyes, and help us see the depths of sin?

There are many reasons why sin will rise no more....how bad does it have to get?

Posted by: andithomas1 Mar 11 2007, 06:14 PM

I'm sorry, pure proproganda and I hate that they went to Shiloh. I wonder how many times they have gone to black churches to televise their programs before this? I also think we get to caught up on the instrument. I recall a sermon entitled "Any ol ass will do" referring to Balaam's mule and the use of the donkey to get Balaam's attention. Jesus said he could have the rocks to cry out if necessary and the rocks are not favored by God. To me this past weekend means nothing-same crap different day.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 11 2007, 06:21 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Mar 11 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> I'm sorry, pure proproganda and I hate that they went to Shiloh. I wonder how many times they have gone to black churches to televise their programs before this? I also think we get to caught up on the instrument. I recall a sermon entitled "Any ol ass will do" referring to Balaam's mule and the use of the donkey to get Balaam's attention. Jesus said he could have the rocks to cry out if necessary and the rocks are not favored by God. To me this past weekend means nothing-same crap different day.

Very perceptive.

Posted by: Clay Mar 11 2007, 06:23 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Mar 11 2007, 06:14 PM)
>
> I'm sorry, pure proproganda and I hate that they went to Shiloh. I wonder how many times they have gone to black churches to televise their programs before this? I also think we get to caught up on the instrument. I recall a sermon entitled "Any ol ass will do" referring to Balaam's mule and > the use of the donkey to get Balaam's attention. Jesus said he could have the rocks to cry out if necessary and the rocks are not favored by God. To me this past weekend means nothing-same crap different day.

t has been my experience that black members don't know.... so in essence it is an untapped esource... by the time the folks find out, the checks have already been written and the money ollected...

Posted by: wwjd Mar 12 2007, 09:32 AM

[quote name='PeacefullyBewildered' date='Mar 11 2007, 12:51 PM' post='184560']

I agree that this thread was started as a form of propaganda. I think everyone who has their eyes open can see that. It is just my position that good can still come out of 3abn.

BTJMO
[/quote

Ahh, So, my motives for starting this thread have been judged, a conclusion made, and a statement of fact made with that conclusion. (or should I say opinion). That is consistent with the pattern established on bsda.

The truth is folks, that I had hoped that no matter what side you are on, that all could rejoice in the work that has been and is going to be, accomplished. These books have drawn, God only knows, how many people to Christ. The Shiloh church had many people, old and young alike that passed them out last year and even more so this year. How encouraging to see, that in this day and time, there are so many willing to go out on foot, to reach souls for Christ. I mistakenly thought "all" could rejoice in that.

Propaganda? Hardly. 3ABN has been guests, through the years, at hundreds of black churches. But, obviously, Shiloh was the center of attention since chicago is the location of their 10 commandment weekend.

It is sad that so many of you cannot praise God for souls, because of opinion, rumor and speculation. In fact, many of the stories are just out and out lies and define the "true" meaning of propaganda. Since I knew the Shelton parents well, and their children, I can testify to the falsehood of a number of stories that have been told here. That in itself, makes my opinion so much more valid, than a lot of people here, that have come to their conclusions, only by what they have heard or read here. Many of those here, that claim to be "in the know" only know a few of the Sheltons for a limited number of years. And to narrow it down more, most of them have not eyewitnessed anything. Are they or 3abn perfect? Absolutely not. Have they made mistakes like any mortals? Certainly. But not the ridiculous and out of control stories that have been told here.

To me, those that have arrived at their conclusions and judgments of 3abn, souly by what they have read here, should never, ever pronounce judgments on what you do not know. If I read stories on the internet or listen to gossip but I know nothing about the people involved personally, I have no credibility or validity as I lay down my "guilty verdict." Just common sense.

If you can't rejoice in soul saving campaigns, then you have buried yourselves too deep in other peoples propaganda to see the forest for the trees.

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Mar 11 2007, 06:14 PM)

> I'm sorry, pure proproganda and I hate that they went to Shiloh. I wonder how many times they have gone to black churches to televise their programs before this? I also think we get to caught up on the instrument. I recall a sermon entitled "Any ol ass will do" referring to Balaam's mule and the use of the donkey to get Balaam's attention. Jesus said he could have the rocks to cry out if necessary and the rocks are not favored by God. To me this past weekend means nothing-same crap different day.

.ots and lots of times. You probably should do some research yourself on the subject rather than just ake what you read for gospel.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 12 2007, 09:52 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 12 2007, 08:32 AM) ☐
>
> [/quote
>
> Ahh, So, my motives for starting this thread have been judged, a conclusion made, and a statement of fact made with that conclusion. (or should I say opinion). That is consistent with the pattern established on bsda......
>
> (edited - it doesn't need to be repeated)

'oday you sound more like DS then usual....I would suggest you get the same therapy he needs. You ›bviously can not read and you clearly have no interest in anything but convulution and naninpulation. I am failrly certain you got just what you expected.

\s for your credibility, you have none. Ever wonder why? My hope is that some day, you might finally ınderstand why.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 12 2007, 09:56 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 12 2007, 11:52 AM) ☐
>
> I am fairly certain you got just what you expected.

ıw
:"i"

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 12 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 11 2007, 12:51 PM) ☐
>
> I agree that this thread was started as a form of propaganda. I think everyone who has their eyes open can see that. It is just my position that good can still come out of 3abn.
>
> BTJMO

wwjd wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> Ahh, So, my motives for starting this thread have been judged, a conclusion made, and a statement of fact made with that conclusion. (or should I say opinion). That is consistent with the pattern established on bsda.
>
> The truth is folks, that I had hoped that no matter what side you are on, that all could rejoice in the work that has been and is going to be, accomplished. These books have drawn, God only knows, how many people to Christ. The Shiloh church had many people, old and young alike that passed them out last year and even more so this year. How encouraging to see, that in this day and time, there are so many willing to go out on foot, to reach souls for Christ. I mistakenly thought "all" could rejoice in that.

If you will go back and read my posts after your comments, you will clearly see that I was rejoicing. Some of those posting after me actually took exception to me rejoicing as I did but I still believe that good is coming out of 3abn in spite of the problems with some in leadership. I do, however, stand by my opinion that what you and Lee posted at the beginning sounded a lot like propaganda or at least a bit of spin.

> QUOTE
>
> Propaganda? Hardly. 3ABN has been guests, through the years, at hundreds of black churches. But, obviously, Shiloh was the center of attention since chicago is the location of their 10 commandment weekend.
>
> It is sad that so many of you cannot praise God for souls, because of opinion, rumor and speculation. In fact, many of the stories are just out and out lies and define the "true" meaning of propaganda.

I believe many of us here do praise God fo souls. Just go back and read the posts again.

> QUOTE
>
> Since I knew the Shelton parents well, and their children, I can testify to the falsehood of a *number of stories that have been told here. That in itself, makes my opinion so much more valid, than a lot of people here, that have come to their conclusions, only by what they have heard or read here. Many of those here, that claim to be "in the know" only know a few of the Sheltons for a limited number of years. And to narrow it down more, most of them have not eyewitnessed anything. Are they or 3abn perfect? Absolutely not. Have they made mistakes like any mortals? Certainly. But not the ridiculous and out of control stories that have been told here.

> To me, those that have arrived at their conclusions and judgments of 3abn, souly by what they have read here, should never, ever pronounce judgments on what you do not know. If I read stories on the internet or listen to gossip but I know nothing about the people involved personally, I have no credibility or validity as I lay down my "guilty verdict." Just common sense.
>
> If you can't rejoice in soul saving campaigns, then you have buried yourselves too deep in other peoples propaganda to see the forest for the trees.

vwjd,

'ou claim that you can testify to the falsehood of a number of stories that have been told here on the 3abn Forum of BlackSDA.com. Are we supposed to agree that your opiinion is more valid than other irst-hand witnesses simply because you say so? Without proof, it doesn't raise the validity of your ›pinion in my eyes at all.

low, if you were to start a new Topic and list those things that you claim are lies and then provide erifiable proof from your experience with the Shelton family, I, for one, would be willing to read and valuate your claims and then decide if your opinion is more valid as you state.

›B

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 12 2007, 10:03 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 12 2007, 12:01 PM)
>
> Now, if you were to start a new Topic and list those things that you claim are lies and then provide verifiable proof from your experience with the Shelton family, I, for one, would be willing to read and evaluate your claims and then decide if your opinion is more valid as you state.

3ut he cant do that and remain anonymous... and if we knew who he was, chances are we would see hat he, by reason of the nature of his affiliation, lacks objectivity... not that his lack of objectivity has een a secret to date...

n His service,
1r. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 12 2007, 11:19 AM

humans cannot save another human's soul.... they can introduce them to Christ who has the ability and the qualifications to save....

never ceases to amaze me how we take credit for stuff we cannot do...

Posted by: Bystander Mar 12 2007, 11:21 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 12 2007, 10:19 AM)
>
> humans cannot save another human's soul.... they can introduce them to Christ who has the ability and the qualifications to save....
>
> never ceases to amaze me how we take credit for stuff we cannot do...

I agree. But we know God uses us frail humans, many times, to do the footwork.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 12 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 12 2007, 01:21 PM)
>
> I agree. But we know God uses us frail humans, many times, to do the footwork.

That in no wise makes any particular human or group of humans either essential or necessary; all of us are expendable in the extreme where the ends and purposes of God are concerned... including DS and 3ABN...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 12 2007, 12:39 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 12 2007, 01:23 PM)
>
> That in no wise makes any particular human or group of humans either essential or necessary; all of us are expendable in the extreme where the ends and purposes of God are concerned... including DS and 3ABN...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

yep... that too....

Posted by: andithomas1 Mar 12 2007, 04:46 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 12 2007, 09:32 AM)
>
> Lots and lots of times. You probably should do some research yourself on the subject rather than just take what you read for gospel.

Frankly I don't care enough to research anything 3abn does. What happened in Chicago doesn't overshadow what has happened in the past at 3abn, especially because no one has been honest and forth coming and addressed the issues of mr shelton himself breaking the very commandments he is uplifting in Shiloh church. So, forgive me if I am not dancing a jig over the "Shiloh" success-I need to call some of my friends and family and tell them not to send one red dime to 3abn.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 12 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Mar 12 2007, 05:46 PM)
>
> Frankly I don't care enough to research anything 3abn does. What happened in Chicago doesn't overshadow what has happened in the past at 3abn, especially because no one has been honest and forth coming and addressed the issues of mr shelton himself breaking the very commandments he is uplifting in Shiloh church. So, forgive me if I am not dancing a jig over the "Shiloh" success-I need to call some of my friends and family and tell them not to send one red dime to 3abn.

Ah, but Andi.... just think.... if you did a little quiet research you might find out why it HAD to be Shiloh.... not just any old place in Chicago..... .... but some things we don't say in public, you know.... ....

Posted by: andithomas1 Mar 12 2007, 07:35 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 12 2007, 06:10 PM)
>
> Ah, but Andi.... just think.... if you did a little quiet research you might find out why it HAD to be Shiloh.... not just any old place in Chicago..... .... but some things we don't say in public, you know.... ....

I got ya maybe I will do a little research

Posted by: Bystander Mar 13 2007, 12:54 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 11 2007, 05:21 PM)
>
> Very perceptive.

WB, you remind me so much of the serpent whispering in Eve's hear.....Yes eve, you are very perceptive eve, you realize the fruit won't make you die, Go ahead eve, Adam won't mind....Trouble is wb you need to be correct in your comments. Well, I guess you don't, you do better at just planting the seeds and nodding your head to someone else's false assumptions. Then you like to sit back and what your seeds take hold. You and sister are cut from the same cloth. You are not very perceptive yourself by insinuating 3abn doesn't visit many african american churches. I have watched time and again at Rally's and different events take place at these churches. Just imagine how many more were visited but weren't televised. Over the last 20 years, the amount would be substantial.

My dear, you really need to watch that forked tongue

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Mar 12 2007, 03:46 PM)
>
> Frankly I don't care enough to research anything 3abn does. What happened in Chicago doesn't overshadow what has happened in the past at 3abn, especially because no one has been honest and forth coming and addressed the issues of mr shelton himself breaking the very commandments he is uplifting in Shiloh church. So, forgive me if I am not dancing a jig over the "Shiloh" success-I need to call some of my friends and family and tell them not to send one red dime to 3abn.

You certainly can do whatever you like....as long as you know passing such judgments on heresay and what you read on the net will not hold up when an accountability for such statements is required. Until I came here, I thought that most intelligent adults knew not to believe everything they read....guess I was wrong. You are a prime example.

Posted by: Hawk Mar 13 2007, 12:59 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 13 2007, 01:48 AM)
>
> WB, you remind me so much of the serpent whispering in Eve's hear.....Yes eve, you are very perceptive eve, you realize the fruit won't make you die, Go ahead eve, Adam won't mind....Trouble is wb you need to be correct in your comments. Well, I guess you don't, you do better at just planting the seeds and nodding your head to someone else's false assumptions. Then you like to sit back and what your seeds take hold. You and sister are cut from the same cloth. You are not very perceptive yourself by insinuating 3abn doesn't visit many african american churches. I have watched time and again at Rally's and different events take place at these churches. Just imagine how many more were visited but weren't televised. Over the last 20 years, the amount would be substantial.
> My dear, you really need to watch that forked tongue

Seems that the harrasement and patronizing venom of your "My Dear" thing was made a forbidden fruit for you. Terms of endearment do not become those who represent use of them as a form of abuse, 3ABN representative.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 13 2007, 11:04 AM

> QUOTE(Hawk @ Mar 12 2007, 11:59 PM)
>
> Seems that the harrasement and patronizing venom of your "My Dear" thing was made a forbidden fruit for you. Terms of endearment do not become those who represent use of them as a form of abuse, 3ABN representative.

Hawk, I always appreciate your (local) insight on things.

I had thought of the garden of eden story myself....you know, where no one wants to accept their responsiblity for their sin? "It was the serpant you put here" "It was that wife you gave me"....

Posted by: princessdi Mar 13 2007, 11:16 AM

I am going to assume that you posted this "before" reading my warning in the other thread.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 12 2007, 10:54 PM)
>
> WB, you remind me so much of the serpent whispering in Eve's hear.....Yes eve, you are very perceptive eve, you realize the fruit won't make you die, Go ahead eve, Adam won't mind....Trouble is wb you need to be correct in your comments. Well, I guess you don't, you do better at just planting the seeds and nodding your head to someone else's false assumptions. Then you like to sit back and what your seeds take hold. You and sister are cut from the same cloth. You are not very perceptive yourself by insinuating 3abn doesn't visit many african american churches. I have watched time and again at Rally's and different events take place at these churches. Just imagine how many more were visited but weren't televised. Over the last 20 years, the amount would be substantial.
> My dear, you really need to watch that forked tongue
> You certainly can do whatever you like....as long as you know passing such judgments on heresay and what you read on the net will not hold up when an accountability for such statements is required. Until I came here, I thought that most intelligent adults knew not to believe everything they read....guess I was wrong. You are a prime example.

Posted by: andithomas1 Mar 13 2007, 05:31 PM

[You certainly can do whatever you like

You are correct on this point. I would never allow you of all people to decide anything for me

....as long as you know passing such judgments on heresay and what you read on the net will not hold up when an accountability for such statements is required. Until I came here, I thought that most intelligent adults knew not to believe everything they read....guess I was wrong. You are a prime example.[/quote]

I think you are most definitely not in the position to pass judgement on my intelligence or anyone else on this board. I don't post anything on this board, I don't feel I can be accountable for at a later date--can you say the same? You have continually defended everything done at 3abn even though other disreputable information about 3abn has been given. As I said in the other post, the instrument is not important in the spreading the gospel. Whether millions come to know Jesus because of 3abn does not negate the trash that continues at 3abn. So, I guess you are wrong again.

Posted by: Johann Mar 16 2007, 05:47 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 13 2007, 08:54 AM) ☐
>
> You certainly can do whatever you like....as long as you know passing such judgments on heresay and what you read on the net will not hold up when an accountability for such statements is required. Until I came here, I thought that most intelligent adults knew not to believe everything they read....guess I was wrong. You are a prime example.

Bystander, in another thread you chided me for taking Danny Shelton seriously in what he said on 3ABN. Are you demanding that we place blinders - or filters - by our eyes that we only see what glorifies Mr. Danny Shelton?

Posted by: Lee Mar 16 2007, 05:56 PM

Johann, of course not. No one is perfect right?

31

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Attention 3abn Employees

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:01 PM

I have been thinking a lot about what some have posted here. There have been suggestions made that perhaps there are some employees who would like to share an experience or information, but are fearful of doing so because of possible retribution. If this is you, you may leave your comments at this email address:

abnemployees@hotmail.com

Your name will not be released without your permission. This is not an attempt to drag information out of anyone. This is simply being made available for anyone who needs it. There are others who understand.

Posted by: calvin Feb 7 2007, 01:42 PM

I too am interested in hearing from current employees of 3ABN. What did you think of Danny's comment in the corporate worship meeting? Of Danny suing/going after his ex-wife? What has been your general experience working there? Both good and bad.

Send your emails to calvin@blacksda.com and I will post your comments anonymously.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 04:07 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 7 2007, 01:42 PM) ☐
>
> I too am interested in hearing from current employees of 3ABN. What did you think of Danny's comment in the corporate worship meeting? Of Danny suing/going after his ex-wife? What has been your general experience working there? Both good and bad.
>
> Send your emails to calvin@blacksda.com and I will post your comments anonymously.

Calvin did you not read my earlier posts that whoever told "sister" that Danny said he was going after Linda and her followers was not telling the truth. I have many eyewitnesses that were there and they say he did not say that.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 04:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 02:07 PM) ☐
>
> Calvin did you not read my earlier posts that whoever told "sister" that Danny said he was going after Linda and her followers was not telling the truth. I have many eyewitnesses that were there and they say he did not say that.

You know what bystander, I have eyewitness's word too on what happend yesterday...hmmm....

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 04:26 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 04:07 PM)
>
> Calvin did you not read my earlier posts that whoever told "sister" that Danny said he was going after Linda and her followers was not telling the truth. I have many eyewitnesses that were there and they say he did not say that.

that snippet is in the closed corporate worship thread... if you wish to continue posting, I would strongly suggest that you leave this alone until that thread is reopened.... I am not saying this as a member, I am saying this as an administrator....

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 7 2007, 04:29 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 05:07 PM)
>
> Calvin did you not read my earlier posts that whoever told "sister" that Danny said he was going after Linda and her followers was not telling the truth. I have many eyewitnesses that were there and they say he did not say that.

Sooo...we are supposed to believe your eyewitnesses but not Sister's just because you say so...okie dokie then...tiresome, minutae, nonsensical...

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 04:57 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 7 2007, 04:29 PM)
>
> Sooo...we are supposed to believe your eyewitnesses but not Sister's just because you say so...okie dokie then...tiresome, minutae, nonsensical...

I had many many eyewitnesses. Did sister?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 05:23 PM

You got one more chance to get back on topic. Please don't try me today, I know you have manyt hings you want to say in that post tomorrow**

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 02:57 PM)
>
> I had many many eyewitnesses. Did sister?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 08:42 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 7 2007, 06:29 PM)
>
> ...tiresome, minutae, nonsensical...

or fer de kuntree folks....

Mercilations/Boomp/My LERD!

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 9 2007, 08:51 PM

bum

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:18 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 02:01 PM)
>
> I have been thinking a lot about what some have posted here. There have been suggestions made that perhaps there are some employees who would like to share an experience or information, but are fearful of doing so because of possible retribution. If this is you, you may leave your comments at this email address:
>
> abnemployees@hotmail.com
>
> Your name will not be released without your permission. This is not an attempt to drag information out of anyone. This is simply being made available for anyone who needs it. There are others who understand.

Another topic that bears repeating

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 16 2007, 05:37 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 9 2007, 07:51 PM)
>
> bum

Duane,

What can we do to get your and Calvin's invitation out there so it can get more attention and more response?

Can we ask the those at save3abn.com to post something of this nature as an announcement or in the "Contact" section?

Just a thought,

Happy Sabbath All!

PB

32

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The Church Can Speak.

Posted by: Observer Feb 19 2007, 09:29 AM

It has been widely stated that the denomination cannot effectively deal with many of the issues that involve 3-ABN. I agree with that position. I believe that many of the issues can only be resolved by the civil authorities. I do not believe that the SDA Church can effectively resolve them in fairness to all. However, I have stated that the Church can make a statement. I will develop this here in this post.

In the 1980's the denomination became concerned in regard to the following independent organizations: Hope International, Hartland Institute, Prophecy Countdown, Steps to Life Church in Wichita, and the Rolling Hills congregation. This concern reached the point where the denomination decided that it had " . . . a responsibility to make clear its relationship to these [those] organizations." In response to its duty it took the following actions:

1) On October 15, 1992, the North American Division Year-end Meetings authorized the following statement: "564-92N STATEMENT PERTAINING TO ISSUES BETWEEN THE SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHRUCH AND CERATIN PRIVATE ORGANIZATIONS. This statement was seven pages in length. It went out with a cover letter dated October 21, 1992, and signed by A. C. McClure, President of the North American Division.

2) In addition, the following 467 page book was published: ISSUES: THE SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH AND CERTAIN PRIVATE MINISTRIES. This book was placed in Conference ABCs for sale. And it was freely distributed among SDA pastors, along with the documents listed in # 1.

Let me be clear: Many of the specifics listed in the above documents and the book do NOT apply to 3-ABN. Yet there is a very common ground. If one were to give study to the above documents, one could conclude that there are some commonalities between the situation and 3-ABN. There are differences, and commonalities.

Perhaps, the situation described here could provide a possible way in which the SDA Church could intervene and make a statement?

It remains to be seen as to whether or not this will happen.

In any case, I expect that resolution of many issues will only be decided in the civil realm.

Posted by: Lee Feb 19 2007, 09:46 AM

When the SDA church wrote those phamplets making their statements against the independent ministires, it didn't do any good! Predominately most SDA's ignored the Church leadership. If anything, all the more SDA's started giving more donations to these ministires. If the Church had of been silent, it would have been better. As it was, God did take care of those Independent ministires that were corrupt. In His time some of these ministries folded. The others have been blessed by God abundantly: Amazing Facts/3ABN/Quiet Hour and It is Written as well as Hartland and Hope. They are all thriving and doing well.

Posted by: September Feb 19 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE
>
> The others have been blessed by God abundantly: Amazing Facts/3ABN/Quiet Hour and It is Written as well as Hartland and Hope. They are all thriving and doing well.

Outwardly they may appear to be thriving...but only God knows the hearts and what goes on behind closed doors, so to speak. I think we have to be very careful making blanket statements like that based upon outward appearances.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 19 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 19 2007, 10:46 AM) ☐
>
> When the SDA church wrote those phamplets making their statements against the independent ministires, it didn't do any good! Predominately most SDA's ignored the Church leadership. If anything, all the more SDA's started giving more donations to these ministires. If the Church had of been silent, it would have been better. As it was, God did take care of those Independent ministires that were corrupt. In His time some of these ministries folded. The others have been blessed by God abundantly: Amazing Facts/3ABN/Quiet Hour and It is Written as well as Hartland and Hope. They are all thriving and doing well.

I disagree. It did a great deal of good. Maybe not as much as it could have if they had been more specific and to the point rather than so generalized. But it did good, as it gave those who were "in the valley of decision" an official statement as to what the relationship was between those independent ministries and the main body of the church.

I also disagree that more SDA's started giving more donations to "these ministries". While there may have been those who recognized that their loyalties lay closer to the goals of the errant ministries than to the church itself, and thus chose to cling to them even more tightly, there were others, even from among their followers for whom it was a wakeup call and they separated themselves from them and ceased supporting them. So it certainly would NOT have been "better" had the church remained silent.

You can give God the credit for those which folded if you wish... and truly God deserves the credit for "every good gift" that comes to us. But whatever He did directly, He also used human hands and minds to the extent that they cooperated with him.

I also SHARPLY disagree with the appropriateness of mentioning Quiet Hour and It is Written in the same sentence as the others in your lineup! Amazing Facts may be borderline... for they started out under a definite cloud... but as they have come closer and closer to the main body through the years, they do not deserve to be linked with Hope at least... and should not be linked with 3abn, though they certainly lay themselves open for that charge by their own close association with 3abn.

Anyway, the lines are not so neatly drawn as you seem to draw them... with "thriving" being equated with God's approval and "folding" as a sign of His disapproval. We do live in the midst of the battlefield between Christ and Satan.... and God does allow the wicked to prosper. And the Psalmist DOES tell us that this fact should not cause our feet to "stumble".

It is who is inside and who is outside in the FINAL confrontation that really matters. Take heed, therefore, to yourself, that you not be joined to those who are headed for the wrong side of the walls.

Posted by: Lee Feb 19 2007, 10:37 AM

> QUOTE(September @ Feb 19 2007, 10:58 AM)
>
> Outwardly they may appear to be thriving...but only God knows the hearts and what goes on behind closed doors, so to speak. I think we have to be very careful making blanket statements like that based upon outward appearances.

I am personally acquainted with many in these ministires. I know what goes on "behind closed doors" and there is NOTHING hidden in these ministries. I wasn't making a "blanket" statement. But you certainly were.

Watchbird, you can disagree all you want with me. It wouldn't matter what I posted, you would find something to disagree about. You are welcome to your own opinion, it doesn't make it correct.

Posted by: September Feb 19 2007, 10:47 AM

Deleted...

I'm not interested in arguing with anyone here and so will not post further on this thread. I know what I know, based upon my personal experience and to argue is moot as far as I'm concerned.

Carry on.

Posted by: Observer Feb 19 2007, 12:28 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 19 2007, 08:46 AM)
>
> When the SDA church wrote those phamplets making their statements against the independent ministires, it didn't do any good! Predominately most SDA's ignored the Church leadership. If anything, all the more SDA's started giving more donations to these ministires. If the Church had of been silent, it would have been better. As it was, God did take care of those Independent ministires that were corrupt. In His time some of these ministries folded. The others have been blessed by God abundantly: Amazing Facts/3ABN/Quiet Hour and It is Written as well as Hartland and Hope. They are all thriving and doing well.

Here are the independent ministries that the documents I referenced addressed: Hope International, Hartland Institute, Prophecy Countdown, Steps to Life Church in Wichita, and the Rolling Hills congregation. It Is Written, Amazing Facts, and The Quiet Hour were not addressed in those documents.

You are mixing apples and cherries by bringing them into the equation.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 19 2007, 07:14 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 19 2007, 10:46 AM)
>
> The others have been blessed by God abundantly: Amazing Facts/3ABN/Quiet Hour and It is Written as well as Hartland and Hope. They are all thriving and doing well.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:10 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 19 2007, 07:14 PM)

Can you show facts that say otherwise? Other than a head shake of course.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 20 2007, 12:04 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:10 PM)
>
> Can you show facts that say otherwise? Other than a head shake of course.

Aside from all the scandals? I heard like everyone else watching the BTS program last week.

Posted by: daylily Feb 20 2007, 06:23 AM

What is the BTS program??

Posted by: September Feb 20 2007, 08:50 AM

Behind the Scenes

Posted by: daylily Feb 20 2007, 07:18 PM

Thanks!

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:57 PM

Not holding break.

33

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The Judgment

Posted by: Watchman Feb 10 2007, 08:41 AM

Matt 12:36
"But I say unto you, that every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment,For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."
John 5:22
"For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed ALL judgment unto the Son."
"Matt. 5:37
"But let your communication be, Yea, yea;Nay,nay; for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil."
Acts 5:38,39
"And now I say unto you, Refrain from these men, and let them alone:for if this counsel or this work be of men , it will come to nought: But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight AGAINST God."
1Sam 16:7
"for the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."

I do not know who is or who is not guilty in this 3abn dilemma. The only ones I know for sure that ARE guilty are the ones who are posting and permitting the posting of these disgraceful websites that are defaming the work of God. The scripture commands us NOT to go to court with unbelievers, and tells us it is better to be defrauded (1 Cor. 6). This is because the cause of God was not to be put to shame before unbelievers. The internet reaches worldwide. How great will be the judgment of God against YOU for this. God knows how to righteously judge, and He knows how to discipline people. He does not need you. Woe unto you all.

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 08:48 AM

thank you for your comments, welcome to BSDA. I see this is your first post since joining.....

> QUOTE
>
> 2Tim 2:23 But refuse the foolish and uninstructed questionings, knowing that they generate quarrels.

you have a good day.....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 10 2007, 09:00 AM

> QUOTE(Watchman @ Feb 10 2007, 09:41 AM)
>
> ...Woe unto you...

I too welcome you to BlackSDA

Eze 3:18 When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked [man] shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand.
Eze 3:19 Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul.
Eze 3:20 Again, When a righteous [man] doth turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and I lay a stumblingblock before him, he shall die: because thou hast not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteousness which he hath done shall not be remembered; but his blood will I require at thine hand.
Eze 3:21 Nevertheless if thou warn the righteous [man], that the righteous sin not, and he doth not sin, he shall surely live, because he is warned; also thou hast delivered thy soul.

And, suggest the following - Physician heal thyself.

happysabl

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 09:04 AM

I am asking all of our experienced members to join me in welcoming Watchman and help bring her up to speed as to how we do things here.... She is new and probably means well, but at this point is under-informed.... Let's try to make her stay a pleasant one (read between the lines, that means no blasting her out of the water)..... thank you family....

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 10 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE
>
> LUKE
> 18:1 And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint;
> 18:2 Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man:
> 18:3 And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary.
> 18:4 And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man;
> 18:5 Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.
> 18:6 And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith.

Hmmm.... can we say, persistence pays? Jesus seems to be commending this woman for going so determinedly to the judge.

> QUOTE
>
> JOHN (Jesus' words)
> 7:24 Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.

Do you suppose He is saying we should never judge? Or simply that we should judge well...

> QUOTE
>
> JOHN (Jesus' words)
> 8:15 Ye judge after the flesh; I judge no man.
> 8:16 And yet if I judge, my judgment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.
> 8:17 It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true.

Now, if "ALL judgment" is committed to the Son, and if the Son says "I judge no man," we have an apparent discrepancy. Since God does not lie, the discrepancy must lie in our own assumptions. Best to be careful in interpreting these issues, that we speak not from the abundance of our ignorance, knowing that our wisdom is foolishness with God.

Welcome to the forum! I always appreciate those who find relevant scriptures to support their views. And, yes, I believe we should remember that our every word is noted in the record books of Heaven.

God bless!

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 09:13 AM

Thank you Greenie for exercising patience while you rightly divided the word.....

Posted by: vanburton Feb 10 2007, 09:33 AM

Since this thread has thus far largely consisted of Bible quotations, I figured to add a couple of more.

"Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them."
Matthew 7:20

The plural form of fruit is used here in context of "their".

Galatians 5:22 begins, "But the fruit (singular) of the Spirit is . . ."

If one fruit is missing, could it be that all the others are made of none effect (the "if one commandment is broken, all are broken" principle)?

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 09:40 AM

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Feb 10 2007, 09:33 AM)
>
> Since this thread has thus far largely consisted of Bible quotations, I figured to add a couple of more.
>
> "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them."
> Matthew 7:20

> The plural form of fruit is used here in context of "their".
>
> Galatians 5:22 begins, "But the fruit (singular) of the Spirit is . . ."
>
> If one fruit is missing, could it be that all the others are made of none effect (the "if one commandment is broken, all are broken" principle)?

nteresting question Vanburton..... and welcome to BSDA.....

Posted by: PaperTigers Feb 10 2007, 10:19 AM welcome.gif

vanburton & Watchman

pull up a seat tableta you'll soon find out this is a pretty awesome group of people!

Posted by: Watchman Feb 10 2007, 10:39 AM

Isa. 47:3,10 "Thy nakedness shall be uncovered, yea, thy shame shall be seen: I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man. For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou has said, None seeth me, Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me."
Rev. 3:18, 19 "I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see. As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore and repent."
1 Peter 2:17 "Honour ALL men. Love the brotherhood. FEAR GOD. Honour the king."
Phil. 2:2-5, 14, 15 "Fulfill ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. Leet nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind LET EACH ESTEEM OTHER BETTER THAN THEMSELVES. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus....Do all things without murmurings and disputings; That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world."
Matt. 7:1-3 "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote which is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?"
Romans 2:23,24 "Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law, dishonourest thou God? For the NAME of GOD is blasphemed among the Gentiles, THROUGH YOU.'
Rev. 2:5 "Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent."
Isa. 65:5 "Which say, Stand by thyself, come not near to me: for I am HOLIER THAN THOU. These are a smoke in my nose, a fire that burneth all the day."
Prov. 6:12,14-16,19 "A naughty person, a wicked man, walketh with a froward mouth. Frowardness is in his heart, he deviseth mischief continually; he soweth discord. Therefore shall his calamity come suddenly; suddenly shall he be broken without remedy. These six things doth the Lord HATE: yea, seven are an ABOMINATION unto Him....HE THAT SOWETH DISCORD AMONG BRETHREN."
There is Someone higher than the GC to consider.

Gen. 16:13
"Thou God seest me."

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 11:28 AM

thank you for those passages Watchman.... I suppose you have something to say? I am trying to hear it but you are quoting scripture... out of context btw, but we can deal with that later...

Would you be kind enough to unpack your latest post and explain how you feel it is applicable? thanks and have a blessed sabbath...

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 11:57 AM

Watchman, if you've not done so I would encourage you to wade through the pinned areas as well as spending a few days simply reading the topics here before you jump into the deep end of the pool. Sharks do abound

Richard

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 10 2007, 12:43 PM

> QUOTE(Watchman @ Feb 10 2007, 08:41 AM)
>
> I do not know who is or who is not guilty in this 3abn dilemma. The only ones I know for sure that ARE guilty are the ones who are posting and permitting the posting of these disgraceful websites that are defaming the work of God. The scripture commands us NOT to go to court with unbelievers, and tells us it is better to be defrauded (1 Cor. 6). This is because the cause of God was not to be put to shame before unbelievers. The internet reaches worldwide. How great will be the judgment of God against YOU for this. God knows how to righteously judge, and He knows how to discipline people. He does not need you. Woe unto you all.

Watchman,

Welcome to BlackSDA.

I look forward to reading your posts in the future. Consider Richard Sherwin's suggestion that you read the pinned items at the top of the 3ABN section.

You said, "I do not know...." Therefore, it is important for us to be kind and considerate to you as you continue your journey into understanding the issues involved.

Once again, welcome to BlackSDA.

Best Wishes,

Pete

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Feb 10 2007, 09:33 AM)

> Since this thread has thus far largely consisted of Bible quotations, I figured to add a couple of more.
>
> "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them."
> Matthew 7:20
>
> The plural form of fruit is used here in context of "their".
>
> Galatians 5:22 begins, "But the fruit (singular) of the Spirit is . . ."
>
> If one fruit is missing, could it be that all the others are made of none effect (the "if one commandment is broken, all are broken" principle)?

Vecome to BSDA, Vanburton.

est Wishes,

ete.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 10 2007, 03:50 PM

Welcome Watchman and Vanburton.

I hope that today your Sabbath experience has resulted in a renewed closeness with your Creator.

I recommend that you look around at different topics other than just the 3ABN area and get to know the people here. I do not believe it is possible to have an informed opinion or to be able to participate in a meaningful and informed way about what is posted here without doing that together with reading what has already been posted.

You should feel free to ask sincere and informed questions of any of the posters and I recommend that you consider doing so via PMs until you are familiar with what has previously been discussed. If you do not know how to use that function since you are new here, ask an Admin and they will show you how.

I suggest that you use the PM method at first because many questions that you will/should have are already answered in these posts.

I am here because I have been extended that privilege and appreciate the administration's allowing each of us the right to express our opinion in an assertive but preferably non aggressive way.

I believe that attacking another individual's relationship with God is never acceptable behavior no matter how different their opinion may be than your own. In my opinion doing so dressed in the armor of anonymity that this forum provides you is the behavior of a coward.

So please feel free to join us in open and informed discussions. Please feel free to use the "I" word in expressing opinions. I have had to learn to do that. It is a style of communication that works better than telling people they are wrong and closing down all communication.

nw

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 04:05 PM

I believe that attacking another individual's relationship with God is never acceptable behavior no matter how different their opinion may be than your own. In my opinion doing so dressed in the armor of anonymity that this forum provides you is the behavior of a coward.

nw

Nicely put nw. Welcome watchman and vanburton. The only thing I could add would be that it is not right to attack another individuals relationship with God...UNLESS... It is Danny Shelton and many other 3abn personal. You will find here, That is the exception to the rule..Oh and one more thing...They will tell you repeatedly to go back and read the threads from the beginning so you will be intelligent enough to comment on these issues.

edited for content.....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 10 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 03:05 PM)
>
> I believe that attacking another individual's relationship with God is never acceptable behavior no matter how different their opinion may be than your own. In my opinion doing so dressed in the armor of anonymity that this forum provides you is the behavior of a coward.
>
> nw
> Nicely put nw. Welcome watchman and vanburton. The only thing I could add would be that it is not right to attack another individuals relationship with God...UNLESS... It is Danny Shelton and many other 3abn personal. You will find here, That is the exception to the rule..Oh and one more thing...They will tell you repeatedly to go back and read the threads from the beginning so you will be intelligent enough to comment on these issues.

Hi Bystander,
I understand how you might feel sensitive to the point of making your somewhat mean-spirited remark above but it is sad that you would feel the need to use it on newbies.

vanburton pointed out last month some wonderful information in EGW's writings about our duty to reprove sin. I will post those paragraphs here for Watchman to read so she will see why some of us have a burden to reveal the truth about certain matters.

Duty to Reprove Sin

I have been shown that God here illustrates how He regards sin among those who profess to be His commandment-keeping people. Those whom He has specially honored with witnessing the remarkable exhibitions of His power, as did ancient Israel, and who will even then venture to disregard His express directions, will be subjects of His wrath. He would teach His people that disobedience and sin are exceedingly offensive to Him and are not to be lightly regarded. He shows us that when His people are found in sin they should at once take decided measures to put that sin from them, that His frown may not rest upon them all. But if the

sins of the people are passed over by those in responsible positions, His frown will be upon them, and the people of God, as a body, will be held responsible for those sins. In His dealings with His people in the past the Lord shows the necessity of purifying the church from wrongs. One sinner may diffuse darkness that will exclude the light of God from the entire congregation. When the people realize that darkness is settling upon them, and they do not know the cause, they should seek God earnestly, in great humility and self-abasement, until the wrongs which grieve His Spirit are searched out and put away. {3T 265.1}

The prejudice which has arisen against us because we have reproved the wrongs that God has shown me existed, and the cry that has been raised of harshness and severity, are unjust. God bids us speak, and we will not be silent. If wrongs are apparent among His people, and if the servants of God pass on indifferent to them, they virtually sustain and justify the sinner, and are alike guilty and will just as surely receive the displeasure of God; for they will be made responsible for the sins of the guilty. In vision I have been pointed to many instances where the displeasure of God has been incurred by a neglect on the part of His servants to deal with the wrongs and sins existing among them. Those who have excused these wrongs have been thought by the people to be very amiable and lovely in disposition, simply because they shunned to discharge a plain Scriptural duty. The task was not agreeable to their feelings; therefore they avoided it. {3T 265.2}

The spirit of hatred which has existed with some because the wrongs among God's people have been reproved has brought blindness and a fearful deception upon their own souls, making it impossible for them to discriminate between right and wrong. They have put out their own spiritual eyesight. They may witness wrongs, but they do not feel as did Joshua and humble themselves because the danger of souls is felt by them. {3T 266.1}

The true people of God, who have the spirit of the work of the Lord and the salvation of souls at heart, will ever view sin in its real, sinful character. They will always be on the side of faithful and plain dealing with sins which easily beset the people of God. Especially in the closing work for the church, in the sealing time of the one hundred and forty-four thousand who are to stand without fault before the throne of God, will they feel most deeply the wrongs of God's professed people. This is forcibly set forth by the prophet's illustration of the last work under the figure of the men each having a slaughter weapon in his hand. One man among them was clothed with linen, with a writer's inkhorn by his side. "And the Lord said unto him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and set a mark upon the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done in the midst thereof." {3T 266.2}

Who are standing in the counsel of God at this time? Is it those who virtually excuse wrongs among the professed people of God and who murmur in their hearts, if not openly, against those who would reprove sin? Is it those who take their stand against them and sympathize with those who commit wrong? No, indeed! Unless they repent, and leave the work of Satan in oppressing those who have the burden of the work and in holding up the hands of sinners in Zion, they will never receive the mark of God's sealing approval. They will fall in the general destruction of the wicked, represented by the work of the five men bearing slaughter weapons. Mark this point with care: Those who receive the pure mark of truth, wrought in them by the power of the Holy Ghost, represented by a mark by the man in linen, are those "that sigh and that cry for all the abominations that be done" in the church. Their love for purity and the honor and glory of God is such, and they have so clear a view of the exceeding sinfulness of sin, that they are represented as being in agony, even sighing and crying. Read the ninth chapter of Ezekiel. {3T 267.1}

But the general slaughter of all those who do not thus see the wide contrast between sin and righteousness, and do not feel as those do who stand in the counsel of God and receive the mark, is described in the order to the five men with slaughter weapons: "Go ye after him through the city, and smite: let not your eye spare, neither have ye pity: slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark; and begin at My sanctuary." {3T 267.2}

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 05:18 PM

I seriously doubt that she meant to trash people all over the internet

Eg is the one who said to never ever gossip about another period. She goes on to say you can't know what's true if you didn't see it with your own eyes.

edited for content....

Posted by: erik Feb 10 2007, 05:24 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 02:05 PM) ☐
>
> I believe that attacking another individual's relationship with God is never acceptable behavior no matter how different their opinion may be than your own. In my opinion doing so dressed in the armor of anonymity that this forum provides you is the behavior of a coward.
>
> nw
> Nicely put nw. Welcome watchman and vanburton. The only thing I could add would be that it is not right to attack another individuals relationship with God...UNLESS... It is Danny Shelton and many other 3abn personal. You will find here, That is the exception to the rule..Oh and one more thing...They will tell you repeatedly to go back and read the threads from the beginning so you will be intelligent enough to comment on these issues.

Bystander

A few yes or no questions for you?

if you care to answer them.

1. Is it attacking or building up a persons relationship with God, to look the other way if they are in open sin? Yes or no.

2. Is it building up of ones relationship with God to us lawyers to settle disputes with others believers? yes or no.

Erik

2.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 03:18 PM) ☐
>
> I seriously doubt that she meant to trash people all over the internet
>
> Eg is the one who said to never ever gossip about another period. She goes on to say you can't know what's true if you didn't see it with your own eyes.

how about provide the cites for your qoutes, please?

erik

Posted by: Ralph Feb 10 2007, 05:53 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 10 2007, 10:57 AM)
>
> Watchman, if you've not done so I would encourage you to wade through the pinned areas as well as spending a few days simply reading the topics here before you jump into the deep end of the pool. Sharks do abound
>
> Richard

I agree, Richard. It is an excellent idea to read the pinned articles first. Probably what has helped me steer my way through muddied waters was to go back and read http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9823&view=findpost&p=138128 (Just click the name and it will take you to the article.) I first read it on May 20, 2005. The first time I read it, I found it to be an interesting fable, but over the months, as more pieces of information come in, I find that it Jorgen VanBraun's article very close to reality.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 10 2007, 06:29 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 06:18 PM)
>
> Eg is the one who said to never ever gossip about another period. She goes on to say you can't know what's true if you didn't see it with your own eyes.

Agreed. But the way I understand your posts, you only receive information from others. By your own admittance, BTW.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 10 2007, 10:21 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 04:18 PM)
>
> I seriously doubt that she meant to trash people all over the internet
>
> Eg is the one who said to never ever gossip about another period. She goes on to say you can't know what's true if you didn't see it with your own eyes.
>
> edited for content....

Bystander, can you tell me how working to bring out truth is "trash"ing people all over the internet?

What you refer to as gossip is not what I find here. There are people here who have seen it with their own eyes - past and present employees of 3abn such as sister, paper tigers, husbandoftheyear and panama_pete for example. There are also the statements/testimonies of the alleged victims of pastoral sexual abuse. Two or three witnesses is what the Bible tells us is needed. We have that.

In Sister White's statements I find a clear message that sin is to be dealt with or else we share in the punishment.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 11 2007, 01:11 AM

Now see everyone was being so nice, until Bystnader ruined it....quoti.ng scriptures?.....Ye shall know them by their fruits.............tsk, tsk, tsk, Bystander........Everyone else, Good job!

BTW, Welcome Watchman and Vanburton!!! I hope you will both stay and check out the rest of our site. The forums, and particularly Live Chat and game arcade!

Posted by: Watchman Feb 11 2007, 02:33 AM

The real point of the scriptures which I quoted have been overlooked. But then, I should not be surprised. 1 Cor. 2:14 "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. " I have not come on this site to enter into clever debates or wordplays. Rather, the character of God and worth of souls is my concern. I have been reading these posts for weeks. The reason I do not know who is right or wrong is because I am not God or the judge. One only need to consider God's people from Biblical times to realize that nothing has changed that much. However, the issue here is the BROADCASTING ALL OVER THE INTERNATIONAL INTERNET OF THIS INFORMATION. Two wrongs do not make one right. And even if people are right, as someone once said-"often when people are in the right they sin the most. " It is fine to quote Ellen White. But she would NOT endorse what is taking place here. As Jesus said to the woman taken in adultery, John 8:7 "he that is without sin among you let him first cast a stone." How much time are you spending in fasting and prayer over this? I have been. The words we speak exert a powerful influence. Matt 18:6,7 "But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in Me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. Woe unto the world because of offences for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh." Do you have any idea of the baleful influence this site has on people outside of the faith reading this for the first time? Or on those weak in the faith and struggling along? Do you REALLY want on your conscience the loss of their eternal life? I would not want to answer to God for that. Rebuking perceived sin is one thing, SPREADING THIS TYPE OF THING LIKE WILDFIRE IN THE PUBLIC FORUM is not pleasing or helping God. Is He desperate? To explain further. God does not need our money. We give to His cause because it is a privilege to be co-workers with Him. It is really a test of our selfish natures. All the gold and silver are His, with the cattle on a thousand hills. Can anyone actually think God cannot finish the work without their money? Ludicrous. Likewise, God does NOT NEED HELP in solving the 3abn dilemma. He is the fountain of wisdom. What is going on here, apparently unknowingly to the folks in this forum is a test of everyone's character, not just the 3abn folks. Would you believe that people are already leaving the Adventist faith and being turned away from joining it, by your website? A poem by Will Carlton to ponder. BOYS FLYING KITES HAUL IN THEIR WHITE WINGED BIRDS
BUT YOU CAN'T DO THAT WHEN YOU'RE FLYING WORDS
CAREFUL WITH FIRE IS GOOD ADVICE WE KNOW
CAREFUL WITH WORDS IS TEN TIMES DOUBLY SO THOUGHTS UNEXPRESSED MAY SOMETIMES FALL BACK DEAD
BUT ONLY GOD CAN KILL THEM ONCE THEY'RE SAID
God be with you is my prayer for the influence you are casting for eternity on this website.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 11 2007, 02:57 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 10 2007, 10:21 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander, can you tell me how working to bring out truth is "trash"ing people all over the internet?
>
> What you refer to as gossip is not what I find here. There are people here who have seen it with their own eyes - past and present employees of 3abn such as sister, paper tigers, husbandoftheyear and panama_pete for example. There are also the statements/testimonies of the alleged victims of pastoral sexual abuse. Two or three witnesses is what the Bible tells us is needed. We have that.
>
> In Sister White's statements I find a clear message that sin is to be dealt with or else we share in the punishment.

I would like to answer this, If bystander chooses to answer at a later time, he can....
So you are saying that hoty, paper tigers, pete, saw with their own eyes...what? Danny embezzling funds? the financial dept doctoring books? that he was seeing Brandi on the side? they saw him doing anything illegal? They saw him being abusive to Linda? Those are most of the allegations I can think of on Danny, so, what did they see? This is the problem. They might not like him or like the way he handled something but they didn't like Linda either, maybe more so. That does not give them the privilege to say they "saw" these accusations taking place and it doesn not give you or anyone else the right to say they were witnesses to anything when they weren't. Maybe I should say they were not witnesses to anything relevant to these accusations.
While I am talking I will give you my opinion on Danny. The worst fault that Danny had was giving his exwife her way constantly. He built her up constantly, he bragged on her constantly to the point of making some gag, and he waited on her all the time. Those were faults that bothered a lot of people because they felt that she more than took advantage of it and it contributed to an ego problem. just my opinion

---

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 11 2007, 03:20 AM

> QUOTE(Watchman @ Feb 11 2007, 02:33 AM) ☐
>
> [SNIP
> I have been reading these posts for weeks. The reason I do not know who is right or wrong is because I am not God or the judge. One only need to consider God's people from Biblical times to realize that nothing has changed that much. However, the issue here is the BROADCASTING ALL OVER THE INTERNATIONAL INTERNET OF THIS INFORMATION. Two wrongs do not make one right. And even if people are right, as someone once said-"often when people are in the right they sin the most. " It is fine to quote Ellen White. But she would NOT endorse what is taking place here. As Jesus said to the woman taken in adultery, John 8:7 "he that is without sin among you let him first cast a stone." How much time are you spending in fasting and prayer over this? I have been. [SNIP]

With all due respect, Watchman, you have just touched on something which causes me to speak. I am a witness to a particular situation relevant to such a call for fasting and prayer as you have asked for here. The call was sent out to a number of people, and found its way to 3ABN as well. Apparently, DS did not appreciate the call for fasting and prayer, as it accompanied the idea that 3ABN was experiencing difficulties and going through some changes. In response, DS threatened legal action against the sender of that call to prayer message. May such not become your experience as well.

Of course, Danny has often broadcasted his gaffes on INTERNATIONAL TELEVISION AND INTERNET, which I would estimate to have at least ten thousand times as much exposure as does this website. On the other hand, Danny has been advertising this website, too, so he has promoted its exposure a little.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 11 2007, 03:20 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 10 2007, 05:53 PM)
>
> I agree, Richard. It is an excellent idea to read the pinned articles first. Probably what has helped me steer my way through muddied waters was to go back and read http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9823&view=findpost&p=138128 (Just click the name and it will take you to the article.) I first read it on May 20, 2005. The first time I read it, I found it to be an interesting fable, but over the months, as more pieces of information come in, I find that it Jorgen VanBraun's article very close to reality.

question, where you do think jorgen got the intimate seeds of information even though twisted beyond recognition? Had to be Danny or Linda. Honestly even if I didn't know anything about these people, the televangelist is one of the most ludicrous pieces of work I have ever read. When you know some of the people being described it is beyond ludicrous and actually turns into incredible lies. Just one example. I knew Goldie and Tommy Shelton Sr. my whole life. They were 2 of the most wonderful sincere god fearing christians that I have ever known. In early years when times were hard Tommy Sr did play in the night clubs of the time simply to put food on the table. He didn't make enough in his trucking business to support the family full time. One thing I can tell you for a fact, even when he wasn't a christian he was one of the most moral men I ever knew. He did his job and came home. He never smoked, he never drank and he never "caroused." Contrary to what I read on here, he never ever took the children with him. When he became an Adventist christian it just amplified all the wonderful traits that he had already.
Goldie had a hard time raising children in near poverty and things only got worse after Tom had his massive, disabling hear tattack at the age of 35. In order to put food on the table, she worked at painting houses inside, cleaning houses, working in a baker for minimum wage, working in a restaurant and at 49 years old after Tom's death she even mowed some lawns!! She loved her family and was as faithful of a christian woman as anyone I ever knew. She played the piano at the adventist church for over 50 years!!! and that included when all 5 of her children were young and growing up. She was always there for their church services or any evangelistic meetings. She loved her church with a vengence and she loved her husband and family the same.
Tears rolled down my face when I read on THE TELEVANGELIST That she was unfaithful to her husband because he was sick. What a terrible terrible lie. All the years that I knew her, what people thought of her was of the utmost importance. She never ever wanted to be a stumbling block in any way to anybody. Her reputation was unsullied up until she died in 99. If she were alive to know what had been written about her, I don't know if she would have ever recovered from such a lie told on the internet, of all things. Whoever gave the author of this piece of trash, those terrible lies, as well as many others, will account before God one day.
I said all that to say this: I gave an example of just one terrible lie in that book. How many others are there? This one had not even a seed of truth. How many others are just as blatant. Please please do not get your information from that piece of filth. IT ISN'T TRUE.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 11 2007, 10:49 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 02:57 AM)
>
> So you are saying that hoty, paper tigers, pete, saw with their own eyes...what? Danny embezzling funds? the financial dept doctoring books? that he was seeing Brandi on the side? they saw him doing anything illegal? They saw him being abusive to Linda? Those are most of the allegations I can think of on Danny, so, what did they see?

Dear Newbies reading this,

Keep in mind that this is a hypothetical retort. The posters named above, including myself, have not stated that they watched the financial department books being doctored or followed Brandy and Danny around the countryside to see people together, as could be inferred by the above post. The post appears to be sarcastic conjecture relating imagined events being supplied by the poster, WWJD.

This retort is of the type known as reductio ad absurdum. However, in this case, WWJD seems to muddy the waters a bit in an attempt to impose such an argument.

In addition, I spell her name "Brandy" with a y, not i, because I believe that to be the correct spelling.

Pete

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 11 2007, 11:22 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 01:57 AM)
>
> I would like to answer this, If bystander chooses to answer at a later time, he can....
> So you are saying that hoty, paper tigers, pete, saw with their own eyes...what? Danny embezzling funds? the financial dept doctoring books? that he was seeing Brandi on the side? they saw him doing anything illegal? They saw him being abusive to Linda? Those are most of the allegations I can think of on Danny, so, what did they see? This is the problem. They might not like him or like the way he handled something but they didn't like Linda either, maybe more so. That does not give them the privilege to say they "saw" these accusations taking place and it doesn not give you or anyone else the right to say they were witnesses to anything when they weren't. Maybe I should say they were not witnesses to anything relevant to these accusations.
> While I am talking I will give you my opinion on Danny. The worst fault that Danny had was giving his exwife her way constantly. He built her up constantly, he bragged on her constantly to the point of making some gag, and he waited on her all the time. Those were faults that bothered a lot of people because they felt that she more than took advantage of it and it contributed to an ego problem. just my opinion

Thank you for your opinion on the part of my post regarding past and present employees. I don't think it speaks to why I invoked past and present employees as first hand witnesses but it is interesting nonetheless. I look forward to a response from Bystander as well.

Your opinion on Danny's worst fault is quite interesting.

What is your opinion on the statements/testimonies we have as evidence from the alleged victims of pastoral sexual abuse?

PB

Posted by: erik Feb 11 2007, 11:27 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 01:20 AM) ☐
>
> question, where you do think jorgen got the intimate seeds of information even though twisted beyond recognition? Had to be Danny or Linda. Honestly even if I didn't know anything about these people, the televangelist is one of the most ludicrous pieces of work I have ever read. When you know some of the people being described it is beyond ludicrous and actually turns into incredible lies. Just one example. I knew Goldie and Tommy Shelton Sr. my whole life. They were 2 of the most wonderful sincere god fearing christians that I have ever known. In early years when times were hard Tommy Sr did play in the night clubs of the time simply to put food on the table. He didn't make enough in his trucking business to support the family full time. One thing I can tell you for a fact, even when he wasn't a christian he was one of the most moral men I ever knew. He did his job and came home. He never smoked, he never drank and he never "caroused." Contrary to what I read on here, he never ever took the children with him. When he became an Adventist christian it just amplified all the wonderful traits that he had already.
> Goldie had a hard time raising children in near poverty and things only got worse after Tom had his massive, disabling hear tattack at the age of 35. In order to put food on the table, she worked at painting houses inside, cleaning houses, working in a baker for minimum wage, working in a restaurant and at 49 years old after Tom's death she even mowed some lawns!! She loved her family and was as faithful of a christian woman as anyone I ever knew. She played the piano at the adventist church for over 50 years!!! and that included when all 5 of her children were young and growing up. She was always there for their church services or any evangelistic meetings. She loved her church with a vengence and she loved her husband and family the same.
> Tears rolled down my face when I read on THE TELEVANGELIST That she was unfaithful to her husband because he was sick. What a terrible terrible lie. All the years that I knew her, what people thought of her was of the utmost importance. She never ever wanted to be a stumbling block in any way to anybody. Her reputation was unsullied up until she died in 99. If she were alive to know what had been written about her, I don't know if she would have ever recovered from such a lie told on the internet, of all things. Whoever gave the author of this piece of trash, those terrible lies, as well as many others, will account before God one day.
> I said all that to say this: I gave an example of just one terrible lie in that book. How many others are there? This one had not even a seed of truth. How many others are just as blatant. Please please do not get your information from that piece of filth. IT ISN'T TRUE.

WWJd,

I am glad to hear that danny and tommy parents were better people then what has been presentted,

Just so questions that come to mind how did tommy wander so far from his solid upbringing, and why is he not a SDA like his mother was?

I just told Watchman in different post that i will to for discussion sake say everything about danny and 3 abn is gossip, But charges against Tommy are Well past would be need to by DA to sit grand jury down and look at bring formal charges against Tommy, so it goes to reason that if the secular legal world could do that that the church should be willing to do the same. So lets put the charges agaisnt Tommy to rest by proving them wrong or by at least giving some reason why seven different men would bring the same story forward?

ALso since you are in the know way is Tommy not any SDA?

Erik

Posted by: Ralph Feb 11 2007, 12:46 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 02:20 AM)
>
> question, where you do think jorgen got the intimate seeds of information even though twisted beyond recognition?
> ...
> IT ISN'T TRUE.

Keep talkin'. I'm listening.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:43 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 11 2007, 01:46 PM)
>
> Keep talkin'. I'm listening.

Still listening...

34

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Live Rally In Huntsville

Posted by: gardener Feb 9 2007, 07:27 PM

WWJD, Bystander are you there?

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 07:40 PM

where in hunstville? which church?

Posted by: calvin Feb 9 2007, 07:44 PM

My mother told me about it last night. It is a Sunday church that converted to Sabbath worship after studying the 10 Commandment book Danny authored. Sorry Clay don't remember the name of the church.

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 07:46 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 9 2007, 07:44 PM)
>
> My mother told me about it last night. It is a Sunday church that converted to Sabbath worship after studying the 10 Commandment book Danny authored. Sorry Clay don't remember the name of the church.

well if I find out I may drop in... you think they would recognize me?

Posted by: gardener Feb 9 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> well if I find out I may drop in... you think they would recognize me?

Huntsvill Christain Academy

Posted by: calvin Feb 9 2007, 07:49 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 07:46 PM)
>
> well if I find out I may drop in... you think they would recognize me?

Mention those two words you coined "apologist" and "tiresome" they will recognize you. rofl

---

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 9 2007, 07:50 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> well if I find out I may drop in... you think they would recognize me?

What color light saber will you have?

nw

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 9 2007, 07:57 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 9 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> What color light saber will you have?
>
> nw

rofl go Clay, and send us a report! It would be interesting to see if they do recognize you! And, my color choice is blue for your light saber! But, I think red gets lots more attention (like red ties do!) rofl

---

Posted by: sister Feb 9 2007, 07:58 PM

3ABN LIVE Rally in Huntsville, AL

Location:
Huntsville Christian Academy
175 West Park Loop,
Huntsville, AL 35806

Contact Person:
Pastor Reggie Widden
Cell: 256-348-9550
School/Church: 256-895-9550 (for publicity use this number)

Program: - Central Time Zone
February 9
7:00-8:30pm - Evening Program

February 10
9:30-10:45am - Sabbath School
11:00am-12:30pm - Worship Service
2:30-4:00pm - Afternoon Program

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 9 2007, 07:59 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 9 2007, 05:44 PM)
>
> My mother told me about it last night. It is a Sunday church that converted to Sabbath worship after studying the 10 Commandment book Danny authored. Sorry Clay don't remember the name of the church.

I thought this was a church that converted? Why would it be at the academy??

Posted by: gardener Feb 9 2007, 08:02 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 9 2007, 08:59 PM)
>
> I thought this was a church that converted? Why would it be at the academy??

I believe that pastor founded the academy.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 9 2007, 08:06 PM

> QUOTE(gardener @ Feb 9 2007, 06:02 PM)
>
> I believe that pastor founded the academy.

That seems quick..doesn't it? or am I missing something...??
And, any chance this will be broadcasted live tonight or tomorrow?

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 9 2007, 08:19 PM

The pastor started a church school. Sometime later an SDA gave him a book written by Danny Shelton and Shelly Quinn. As a result of reading that book, the pastor and his wife became SDA's.

As it turns out, God can use a sinner like Danny Shelton to do his work. Who'd a thunk that?

Posted by: Chez Feb 9 2007, 08:23 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 9 2007, 08:19 PM)
>
> The pastor started a church school. Sometime later an SDA gave him a book written by Danny Shelton and Shelly Quinn. As a result of reading that book, the pastor and his wife became SDA's.
>
> As it turns out, God can use a sinner like Danny Shelton to do his work. Who'd a thunk that?

God will use anyone to spread his message. Some people unwittingly share the gospel. Therefore, God will use you, Danny, Linda, me, and whosoever will or whatever to spread the gospel.

Posted by: sister Feb 9 2007, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 9 2007, 09:06 PM)
>
> That seems quick..doesn't it? or am I missing something...??
> And, any chance this will be broadcasted live tonight or tomorrow?

All programs will be broadscast live tomorrow and it was tonight, too, but I didn't see it.

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 08:32 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 9 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> What color light saber will you have?
>
> nw

I'll probably go with the green light saber....maybe I'll stay for the whole afternoon service and introduce myself to Mr. Shelton and whomever afterwards..... see if there is a flicker of recognition..... key word however is maybe....

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 9 2007, 08:42 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 06:32 PM)
>
> I'll probably go with the green light saber....maybe I'll stay for the whole afternoon service and introduce myself to Mr. Shelton and whomever afterwards..... see if there is a flicker of recognition..... key word however is maybe....

Given your convictions about DS, maybe you could address your concerns with him face to face. And I wouldn't put too much stock in that light saber; surely your fist will pack a bigger punch.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 9 2007, 08:48 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 07:32 PM)
>
> I'll probably go with the green light saber....maybe I'll stay for the whole afternoon service and introduce myself to Mr. Shelton and whomever afterwards..... see if there is a flicker of recognition..... key word however is maybe....

Clay, best leave the light saber at home. It may keep your suit jacket from draping properly.

I do hope you go, though. Perhaps you could ask Danny to introduce you to wwjd and Bystander. I did note that neither of them were listed on today's "Members On Line" list. glenetta was listed but eye witness was not (is "she" still banned?) Wonder if either of the guys will visit tonight now that the program is over.

I only caught CA's closing prayer. He didn't mention BSDA by name but he sure did speak of the trials 3abn has gone through this year. It was quite sad.

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 08:55 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 9 2007, 08:48 PM)
>
> Clay, best leave the light saber at home. It may keep your suit jacket from draping properly.
>
> I do hope you go, though. Perhaps you could ask Danny to introduce you to wwjd and Bystander. I did note that neither of them were listed on today's "Members On Line" list. glenetta was listed but eye witness was not (is "she" still banned?) Wonder if either of the guys will visit tonight now that the program is over.
>
> I only caught CA's closing prayer. He didn't mention BSDA by name but he sure did speak of the trials 3abn has gone through this year. It was quite sad.

you think if I ask him where are his partners in crime he'll be amused?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 9 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 9 2007, 06:48 PM)
>
> Clay, best leave the light saber at home. It may keep your suit jacket from draping properly.
>
> I do hope you go, though. Perhaps you could ask Danny to introduce you to wwjd and Bystander. I did note that neither of them were listed on today's "Members On Line" list. glenetta was listed but eye witness was not (is "she" still banned?) Wonder if either of the guys will visit tonight now that the program is over.
>
> I only caught CA's closing prayer. He didn't mention BSDA by name but he sure did speak of the trials 3abn has gone through this year. It was quite sad.

I had already mentioned this to my husband too - about not being here today and noting that they are not on now (hard to do a ralley and post at the same time, ya know) and wondering if they will take time tonight after the meeting is over to come around and do some beeezzy work here. We will have to watch...of course, they can always read without signing in! So at least they will know their "missed".

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> you think if I ask him where are his partners in crime he'll be amused?

just have your cell phone camera ready for the facial expression you will get.
and if you see JL, maybe say "hi joe" and see what he says.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 09:04 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 9 2007, 08:49 PM)
>
> Mention those two words you coined "apologist" and "tiresome" they will recognize you. rofl

You know he can't be missed with that said...

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 09:05 PM

That was never at issue. The Bible is filled with flawed vessels through which God worked. However, that did not mean they escaped the consequences of their not so godly decisions and actions.

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 9 2007, 06:19 PM)

> The pastor started a church school. Sometime later an SDA gave him a book written by Danny Shelton and Shelly Quinn. As a result of reading that book, the pastor and his wife became SDA's.
>
> As it turns out, God can use a sinner like Danny Shelton to do his work. Who'd a thunk that?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 9 2007, 09:08 PM

I just checked again and wwjd is on the members list. He was left today at 1:47PM.

Sorry for the mistake.

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 10 2007, 07:59 AM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 9 2007, 10:23 PM)
>
> God will use anyone to spread his message. Some people unwittingly share the gospel. Therefore, God will use you, Danny, Linda, me, and whosoever will or whatever to spread the gospel.

You're quite right...God even used an ass to to rebuke a prophet of old, who should have known better. God will use anything and anyone to spread his message, and his Word will not return to him void.

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 01:39 PM

oh well... I was gonna drop by however my child who sings in the school choir has a concert during the same timeframe.... then there is a Babbie Mason concert at the church..... such is life.....

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 10 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 9 2007, 10:42 PM)
>
> Given your convictions about DS, maybe you could address your concerns with him face to face. And I wouldn't put too much stock in that light saber; surely your fist will pack a bigger punch.

I feel the "surely your fist will pack a bigger punch" is going too far!!!!

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 10 2007, 03:33 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 10 2007, 12:51 PM)
>
> I feel the "surely your fist will pack a bigger punch" is going too far!!!!

When people have strong convictions they do more than just talk. All I see here is a lot of chitter chatter and no action. That's no being very proactive, is it? You can talk till the cows come home but that doesn't change anything. The way I see it, all the accusations about 3ABN flying around here are a load of crap. If you really believe in something, you step up to the plate and take action. I don't see anything like that happening here. Tiresome you are indeed.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 03:56 PM

[quote name='Chimaz' date='Feb 10 2007, 02:33 PM' post='177111']
When people have strong convictions they do more than just talk. All I see here is a lot of chitter chatter and no action. That's no being very proactive, is it? You can talk till the cows come home but that doesn't change anything. The way I see it, all the accusations about 3ABN flying around here are a load of crap. If you really believe in something, you step up to the plate and take action. I don't see anything like that happening here. Tiresome you are indeed.

I agree 100%. I am not a betting person but would have felt very safe in wagering that Clay would some how not attend the rally, much less approach The team with any of his concerns. When I read that he just might attend and blah blah, I knew he was blowing smoke. Perfect opportunity since he feels so strongly about Danny and the rest to address some of his concerns face to face. But I knew it wouldn't happen. That is the cowards way out.

Posted by: lurker Feb 10 2007, 04:08 PM

Elder Kelly just preached a wonderful sermon. He told the truth in humility. In spite of all that has been said and done, If we could all put pride away, I don't believe that anyone has gone too far yet to forgive and be forgiven.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 04:22 PM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 10 2007, 03:08 PM)
>
> Elder Kelly just preached a wonderful sermon. He told the truth in humility. In spite of all that has been said and done, If we could all put pride away, I don't believe that anyone has gone too far yet to forgive and be forgiven.

You are right. Thank you Jesus that no matter how far we go sometimes he is always willing to forgive and forget.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 04:47 PM

Agreed, advocating physical violence, even in jest, is out of line. There is nothing that would draw more support for Danny than one of his critics having a physical altercation with him.

Richard

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 10 2007, 03:51 PM)
>
> I feel the "surely your fist will pack a bigger punch" is going too far!!!!

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 10 2007, 05:38 PM

Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.

If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.

edited for content.....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 05:49 PM

Apparently we are doing something, at least it's gotten Danny's attention, likely more than any hit in the face. Much gets done by talking, little gets done by confrontation.

Richard

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 06:38 PM)
>
> Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.
>
> If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 10 2007, 06:30 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 06:38 PM)
>
> Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.

> If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.

Vhat would you like everyone to do? Would you volunteer to help?

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 10 2007, 07:26 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 10 2007, 03:49 PM) ☐
>
> Apparently we are doing something, at least it's gotten Danny's attention, likely more than any hit in the face. Much gets done by talking, little gets done by confrontation.

'our ritual of talk commenced back in the summer of 2004. In all this time you got Danny's attention. 'ou call that progress? In view of the serious allegations and the strong convictions I'd call that inything but progress.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 07:30 PM

And you sir are suggesting we do what? And what are you doing?

Richard

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 08:26 PM) ☐
>
> Your ritual of talk commenced back in the summer of 2004. In all this time you got Danny's attention. You call that progress? In view of the serious allegations and the strong convictions I'd call that anything but progress.

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 08:24 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 10 2007, 02:51 PM) ☐
>
> I feel the "surely your fist will pack a bigger punch" is going too far!!!!

:onsidering I didn't say it or suggest it, there was never any possibility of that occurring...

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 9 2007, 08:42 PM) ☐

> Given your convictions about DS, maybe you could address your concerns with him face to face. And I wouldn't put too much stock in that light saber; surely your fist will pack a bigger punch.

my convictions as you call them have from the very start been his handling of the divorce and his trashing of Linda.... now other than that what are you talking about? Since you are new perhaps you can review my position concerning this mess... it has been the same since day one..... I could care less how Mr. Shelton runs 3abn.... as a christian man I thought he should have handled his business with his wife better...

Posted by: Ralph Feb 10 2007, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 06:26 PM)
>
> Your talk

Have you checked http://www.save3abn.com lately?

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 08:26 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 05:38 PM)
>
> Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.
>
> If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.

you've got one more time to use that phrase "you people....." as for the other.... well I invite you to check out other parts of BSDA, you might enjoy it...

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 10 2007, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 06:38 PM)
>
> Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.
>
> If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.
> edited for content.....

Oh, you silly billy

Who says nobody has called or emailed, Oprah, Maury, CourtTV?

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 08:52 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 07:26 PM)
>
> Your ritual of talk commenced back in the summer of 2004. In all this time you got Danny's attention. You call that progress? In view of the serious allegations and the strong convictions I'd call that anything but progress.

ritual of talk... well this is a discussion board.... thats what generally happens... there is a topic and lots of discussion...

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 10 2007, 09:00 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 08:26 PM)
>
> Your ritual of talk commenced back in the summer of 2004. In all this time you got Danny's attention. You call that progress? In view of the serious allegations and the strong convictions I'd call that anything but progress.

How many hours did you and bystander take to think up this lame reverse psychology angle?

Lemme give you a hint for next time... if you really felt Danny was guilty of anything and that things werent moving fast enough you'd refer to those who were supposed to be like minded in the first person plural... not the second...

Now run along and come back when you have a clue.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 10 2007, 09:11 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 9 2007, 09:19 PM)
>
> As it turns out, God can use a sinner like Danny Shelton to do his work. Who'd a thunk that?

There was precedent; God had used a jackanimal on at least one occasion before...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 09:21 PM

rofl rofl

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 10 2007, 10:11 PM)
>
> There was precedent; God had used a jackanimal on at least one occasion before...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 10 2007, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 03:22 PM)
>
> You are right. Thank you Jesus that no matter how far we go sometimes he is always willing to forgive and forget.

God is willing to forgive and forget, just as he did David's grievous sins. Later in the Bible He spoke about how beloved David was and didn't mention his sins. Why? Because David put aside pride, realized the devastating nature of his sins, asked for forgiveness and made things as right as he could (he couldn't bring Bathsheba's husband back to life). David didn't just bow down and say "Please forgive me", he truly repented and made amends. Just like Manassa did.

Things must be made as right as is humanly possible. Duane and the other alleged victims deserve this.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 10 2007, 09:46 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 10 2007, 07:27 PM)
>
> God is willing to forgive and forget, just as he did David's grievous sins. Later in the Bible He spoke about how beloved David was and didn't mention his sins. Why? Because David put aside pride, realized the devastating nature of his sins, asked for forgiveness and made things as right as he could (he couldn't bring Bathsheba's husband back to life). David didn't just bow down and say "Please forgive me", he truly repented and made amends. Just like Manassa did.

> Things must be made as right as is humanly possible. Duane and the other alleged victims deserve this.

ust this evening, I also referenced the story of David to another friend on here. I couldn't sleep the ther night, got up, read several chapters in the bible about David. I kept thinking thru each story but God called David a man after his own heart!" and it caused me to think what that really meant gain; it was that David felt and showed true remorse (eventually), saw how messed up he was, ran o God and would not stop learning in his journey - he was not so full of consistant ego that he didn't earn from his mistakes (yes, the ones he willingly and knowingly committed). I always like the nalogy of while riding upwards in an elevator, even if you fell down inside, you are still moving up, all ou had to do was get up after each time you fall. We all sin, but what do we learn? Do we grow each ime? Do we see how we get no where, no peace, only create more pain as we make those kind of hoices? Or do we sink lower, not letting go of it, determined to hang on to the sin (ego, self-ightousness, pride, etc) and therefore we choose to harden ourselves, in essence pushing ourselves arther away from God. David learned, the hard way, but he still learned. Those around him saw his truggles and watched him run to God each time. One other thing, because of David's yo-yo-ing, he ould relate to just about any situation, he "got it", and I am thankful he put it all down in the Psalms! avid's life is evidence to me of a God that has a type of patience and love that is amazing. He was ot happy with David, but seem to know he would finally "get it".

Posted by: princessdi Feb 11 2007, 12:34 AM

You would want to give that "you people" phrase a rest. We don't take kindly to those types of remarks. Please don't act like you don't know what we mean.

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Feb 10 2007, 03:38 PM)
>
> Then stick with the light saber, but DO something. Any Yahoo can yap on and on. Talk is cheap.
>
> If all this talk isn't just talk, you people would be doing something. Such grave concern and no action isn't very impressive or convincing. All I see here is a bunch of lazy armchair critics cutting down people who at the very least are DOING God's work.
> edited for content.....

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 11 2007, 12:45 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 10 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> Agreed, advocating physical violence, even in jest, is out of line. There is nothing that would draw more support for Danny than one of his critics having a physical altercation with him.
>
> Richard

hat should bring in a few thou

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 11 2007, 07:37 AM

Well said, thank you. I liked the elevator analogy.

Richard

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 10 2007, 10:46 PM)
>
> Just this evening, I also referenced the story of David to another friend on here. I couldn't sleep the other night, got up, read several chapters in the bible about David. I kept thinking thru each story "but God called David a man after his own heart!" and it caused me to think what that really meant again; it was that David felt and showed true remorse (eventually), saw how messed up he was, ran to God and would not stop learning in his journey - he was not so full of consistant ego that he didn't learn from his mistakes (yes, the ones he willingly and knowingly committed). I always like the analogy of while riding upwards in an elevator, even if you fell down inside, you are still moving up, all you had to do was get up after each time you fall. We all sin, but what do we learn? Do we grow each time? Do we see how we get no where, no peace, only create more pain as we make those kind of choices? Or do we sink lower, not letting go of it, determined to hang on to the sin (ego, self-rightousness, pride, etc) and therefore we choose to harden ourselves, in essence pushing ourselves farther away from God. David learned, the hard way, but he still learned. Those around him saw his struggles and watched him run to God each time. One other thing, because of David's yo-yo-ing, he could relate to just about any situation, he "got it", and I am thankful he put it all down in the Psalms! David's life is evidence to me of a God that has a type of patience and love that is amazing. He was not happy with David, but seem to know he would finally "get it".

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:38 PM

Wasn't on my TTD list.

35

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Proofs, Or Lack Thereof

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 5 2007, 06:26 PM

I hope no one thinks I'm in any way defending Danny or Tommy but there is something that has troubled me a bit. Many times there have been people calling on the defenders of DS and TS to offer proof that certain allegations are false. In many cases there can be no proof. It's almost impossible to prove a negative. Someone can prove you did something but it's much harder and many times impossible to prove you did not do something. Thus in the US we have to have proof of guilt for a conviction but the defendant does not have to prove innocence for an acquittal.

If someone accused me of robbing a bank on Jan 18, 1999 (for instance) it would in all likelihood be absolutely impossible for me to prove I did not rob the bank. There would be very little I could do to defend myself without something like maybe a check I wrote in some other state that day. To be acquitted of the robbery I would not have to prove my innocence, but the prosecution would have to prove my guilt for a conviction. (BTW I've never been accused of robbing a bank, at least not yet)

I guess what I'm getting at is that we are in danger of causing false assumptions when the defendants in these issues cannot offer proof that something did not happen. There is plenty of proof for the allegations, but one of those proofs should not be the lack of proof that they did not do something.

Yes I know this is not a court of law, however it is the court of public opinion which could ultimately affect a court decision.

Richard

Posted by: daylily Feb 5 2007, 08:48 PM

Richard, I hadn't thougth about it but I suppose you are correct in saying it is hard to prove what you didn't do unless you have witnesses to say you were doing something else.

daylily

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 5 2007, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 5 2007, 07:26 PM)
>
> I hope no one thinks I'm in any way defending Danny or Tommy but there is something that has troubled me a bit. Many times there have been people calling on the defenders of DS and TS to offer proof that certain allegations are false. In many cases there can be no proof. It's almost impossible to prove a negative. Someone can prove you did something but it's much harder and many times impossible to prove you did not do something. Thus in the US we have to have proof of guilt for a conviction but the defendant does not have to prove innocence for an acquittal.
>
> If someone accused me of robbing a bank on Jan 18, 1999 (for instance) it would in all likelihood be absolutely impossible for me to prove I did not rob the bank. There would be very little I could do to defend myself without something like maybe a check I wrote in some other state that day. To > be acquitted of the robbery I would not have to prove my innocence, but the prosecution would have to prove my guilt for a conviction. (BTW I've never been accused of robbing a bank, at least not yet)

>
> I guess what I'm getting at is that we are in danger of causing false assumptions when the defendants in these issues cannot offer proof that something did not happen. There is plenty of proof for the allegations, but one of those proofs should not be the lack of proof that they did not do something.
>
> Yes I know this is not a court of law, however it is the court of public opinion which could ultimately affect a court decision.
>
> Richard

u contraire, mon frere... if you were accused of robbing a bank in Dallas on Jan 18, 1999 and you ould prove you were not in Dallas on said date, you just proved you could not have robbed the bank n question; the space-time continuum in which we exist precludes one from being in two places at the ame time.

he reason they are being asked to produce 'proof' is because they have said in myriad occasions that aid proof exists and is in their possession... and the other side, when requested has brought forth vidence of the the things they have suggested.

he danny apologists are being asked nothing more or less than has been asked of those they oppose; y both third parties and the danny apologists; the difference is that the danny apologistshave not een forthcoming yet keep insisting that they should be 'trusted'.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: erik Feb 5 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 5 2007, 04:26 PM)
>
> I hope no one thinks I'm in any way defending Danny or Tommy but there is something that has troubled me a bit. Many times there have been people calling on the defenders of DS and TS to offer proof that certain allegations are false. In many cases there can be no proof. It's almost impossible to prove a negative. Someone can prove you did something but it's much harder and many times impossible to prove you did not do something. Thus in the US we have to have proof of guilt for a conviction but the defendant does not have to prove innocence for an acquittal.
>
> If someone accused me of robbing a bank on Jan 18, 1999 (for instance) it would in all likelihood be absolutely impossible for me to prove I did not rob the bank. There would be very little I could do to defend myself without something like maybe a check I wrote in some other state that day. To be acquitted of the robbery I would not have to prove my innocence, but the prosecution would have to prove my guilt for a conviction. (BTW I've never been accused of robbing a bank, at least not yet)
>
> I guess what I'm getting at is that we are in danger of causing false assumptions when the defendants in these issues cannot offer proof that something did not happen. There is plenty of proof for the allegations, but one of those proofs should not be the lack of proof that they did not do something.

> Yes I know this is not a court of law, however it is the court of public opinion which could ultimately affect a court decision.
>
> Richard

ichard,

ery valid point, but if the there was no truth to any of the charges against danny or tommy, they ould at the very least put out affidavits signed under penlety of perjury in front of notory.

hat would go a long way to at least rebutting the charges that sit out there, and in the case of danny e could provide his grand proof of linda's wickedness.

rik

Posted by: daylily Feb 5 2007, 09:16 PM

.."the space-time continuum in which we exist precludes one from being in two places at the same time." (Mr J)

Unless, of course, you are a bird as suggested by Sir Robert Boyle

---

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 5 2007, 09:36 PM

If we knew we were talking directly with Danny then yes we could ask for proof, because he claims he has the proof, (proof of the proof?) however most of the time we have no idea who we are talking to when they are defending Danny, for all we know it's the village idiot down the street. From them we should not expect proof of innocense.. The accusers need to show proof for guilt, the defenders simply have to show that those proofs are in doubt. In all likelihood they cannot provide proof that they are innocent. I personally believe there is plenty of proof that Tommy is guilty.

Mr. J your example is valid for establishing innocence, however in a court of law it's not required. All that is required for acquittal is reasonable doubt of guilt. I once sat on a drunk driving jury where we were quite sure the defendant was guilty, there was no proof that he was innocent but neither was there reasonable proof that he was guilty, therefore against our personal preferences we acquitted him.

Really my only concern is that we don't take their lack of proof of innocence as proof of guilt.

Richard

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 5 2007, 09:40 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 5 2007, 11:36 PM)
>
> ...Really my only concern is that we don't take their lack of proof of innocence as proof of guilt.

...but that is how "real life" is.... if you don't have proof of your "innocence" in court - you are found guilty... (normally)

JMO.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 5 2007, 09:46 PM

Daylily when you said something about a bird that reminded me of Jonathan Livingston Seagull, by Richard Bach. As one who flew airplanes in the 70's (as did Bach) anything to do with flight got my attention, especially a bird that went ourside the norms of society. Now where is that book? Hmmm

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 5 2007, 10:16 PM)
>
> .."the space-time continuum in which we exist precludes one from being in two places at the same time." (Mr J)
> Unless, of course, you are a bird as suggested by Sir Robert Boyle

No no no, you are not guilty until proven innocent, you are innocent until proven guilty. At least that's the way it's supposed to work. It dosn't? Maybe I've just not been in a court room enough. (Thankfully)

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 5 2007, 10:40 PM)
>
> ...but that is how "real life" is.... if you don't have proof of your "innocence" in court - you are found guilty... (normally)
>
> JMO.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 5 2007, 09:55 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 5 2007, 10:36 PM)
>
> Mr. J your example is valid for establishing innocence, however in a court of law it's not required.

> All that is required for acquittal is reasonable doubt of guilt.

f you definitively can establish innocence, as a matter of fact, then you wont have to worry about urdens of proof or the opinion of 12 of your peers...

> QUOTE
>
> Really my only concern is that we don't take their lack of proof of innocence as proof of guilt.

Ve don't; we take the evidence of guilt as proof of guilt...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Ralph Feb 5 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 5 2007, 08:40 PM) ☐
>
> ...but that is how "real life" is.... if you don't have proof of your "innocence" in court - you are found guilty... (normally)
>
> JMO.
>
> ☒ sn

)ften that depends upon the lawyers. Ah to have a smart (I didn't say good) lawyer.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 5 2007, 11:08 PM

Remember the legal system uses all kinds of different standards of proof and also that there are different types of burdens (for example the evidentiary burden) that shifts at different times in a trial or other legal proceeding. (And different types of evidence are entitled to different evidentiary weight as well)

Probable cause is a relatively low standard of proof.

Preponderance of the evidence is generally used in most civil actions.

Clear and convincing evidence is used in some civil actions.

And the wikipedia defines beyond a reasonable doubt this way.....

Beyond a reasonable doubt

This is the standard required by the prosecution in most criminal cases within an adversarial system. This means that the proposition must be proven to the extent that there is no "reasonable doubt" in the mind of a reasonable person. There can still be a doubt, but only to the extent that it would be "unreasonable" to assume the falsity of the proposition. The precise meaning of words such as "reasonable" and "doubt" are usually defined within jurisprudence of the applicable country. In the United States, it is usually reversible error to instruct a jury that they should find guilt on a certain percentage of certainty (such as 90% certain). Usually, reasonable doubt is defined as "any doubt which would make a reasonable person hesitate in the most important of his or her affairs."

Posted by: wwjd Feb 5 2007, 11:22 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 5 2007, 06:26 PM)
>
> I hope no one thinks I'm in any way defending Danny or Tommy but there is something that has troubled me a bit. Many times there have been people calling on the defenders of DS and TS to offer proof that certain allegations are false. In many cases there can be no proof. It's almost impossible to prove a negative. Someone can prove you did something but it's much harder and many times impossible to prove you did not do something. Thus in the US we have to have proof of guilt for a conviction but the defendant does not have to prove innocence for an acquittal.
> Richard

Richard, for once, we agree on something and I must say you have stated it well. Several friends and I have discussed the fact that there are many situations that could arise where you could not prove your innocence.
Thanks for making that point

Posted by: Johann Feb 6 2007, 01:05 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 6 2007, 07:22 AM)
>
> Richard, for once, we agree on something and I must say you have stated it well. Several friends and I have discussed the fact that there are many situations that could arise where you could not prove your innocence.
> Thanks for making that point

When this whole mess started Danny insisted that he had proofs that Linda and Dr. Arild Abrahamsen had been vacationing together in Florida together in April 2004. When my wife, Irmgard, and I stepped forward and told him this was impossible because we had been staying with the doctor at that time at hiscplace in Norway while Irmgard was getting daily treatments - this made Danny so angry that he had Dr. Walt Thompson fire me from the employment at 3ABN.

Then it seems like Danny realized he could not use that false proof, so he invented the Spiritual Adultery explanation and used it until it was demonstrated here on BSDA that this did not give him the right to divorce Linda.

Then he abandoned the Spiritual Adultery explanation and started inventing a host of others.

I hope that you have read my correspondance with Dr. Walt Thompson which I posted as post #101 in Was Linda innocent?

I have not seen any comments on it by Bystander nor WWJD.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 10:22 AM

The problem is that Danny keep saying he has evidence of this or that. We are just asking him to produce it. He hasn't, to my knowledge not even in a court of law, where some of it could have been presented.

Once, again, I am going to say that I, personally, am not looking at he lack of evidence to contradict the evidence already presented, but Dannyh's own actions. Spiritual adultery cannot be committed against Danny....he is not God - simple! They had Linda sign a gag order, and cheated her out of right portion as cofounder of 3ABN - we have the document to prove it, and nobody denies it. Danny lied with his first email here to BSDA, we have that, he professed his love for a women and calimed to want to work on his marriage. I would not be surprised if he wasn't on the plane typing that lie on his way to Guam for a quickie divorce[last sentence stricly from the book of Princess]. He allowed his brother who has standing allegations of child molestation work around children at 3ABn, without warning a soul. - We know Tommy was working there, there wwere children there, and we have at least three allegations posted here.

So you see, I don't have to worry about what Danny is not presenting, I am having a whole lot of trouble with what he has presented.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 5 2007, 09:22 PM)
>
> Richard, for once, we agree on something and I must say you have stated it well. Several friends and I have discussed the fact that there are many situations that could arise where you could not prove your innocence.
> Thanks for making that point

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 11:28 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 6 2007, 11:22 AM)
>
> [color=#993399] They had Linda sign a gag order, and cheated her out of right portion as cofounder of 3ABN - we have the document to prove it, and nobody denies it.

I do not claim to have in depth knowledge of not for profit corporations (and any book I have on the subject is in storage and unreachable), but I do not believe linda was cheated out of anything as a cofounder. She was basically given a severance pay that from what I have read elsewhere at BSDA was inline with what is customary in the industry for the position she held. Remember, she did not have an employment contract or the severance pay would have been covered in it should something go wrong. (Remember, like many SDA christians I have met that work for the denomination or do business with each other, we presume as christians we will treat each other fairly.......and I have a bridge too) I have no doubt that Illinois like most states is an "employment at will" state so she could have been fired like anyone else without a contract. Now she might have sued for wrongful discharge if she had not signed the contract but she gave up the right for the security of the agreement she signed.

When 3ABN chose to be a not for profit under IRS laws and state law, they benefited in many ways that other corporations do not. I also believe this means that Danny and Linda were no longer "owners" in the sense of one having ownership in a corporation. Someone with more knowledge of not for profits should quickly correct me here if I am wrong (which I may be).

The problem that I see (among many) is that Danny still acts like 3ABN is "his" to do with as he wishes. In his position on the board and in the day to day running he has the authority to still do things like an owner but he is not an owner anymore. He gave that up to get the benefits (tax) of having a not for profit. That is why the court in Illinois was concerned that 3ABN does not really function like a not for profit and I see little evidence to the contrary myself.

I am sorry Linda did not seek legal counsel before signing the agreement. I am disgusted that the people who presented her with the contract did not believe it would stand the test of legal scrutiny as to its fairness. The courts are not there to protect us from our merely dumb or uneducated mistakes unless they are illegal. I am sorry she was naive enough to think the ministry she has apparently given so much to would not betray her. I do not know her and have only seen her briefly when asked to watch something by my parents. I know from personal experience with lots of mistakes in my own life that realizing and accepting my role in that I "volunteered" to be part of the whole equation that in the end left me feeling betrayed for whatever reason and taking responsibility for my role is REALLY hard. I have found forgiving myself for participating in my own victimization was and still is the hardest thing I have ever done. Learning and not repeating what is often a life time behavior takes tremendous strength that only can come from understanding and prayer.

But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women equal salaries "for the good of the ministry" or ask people to subvert the law and "donate" their overtime hours rather than get paid for them or as I have read elsewhere, not use "GAP standards in their accounting practices. I am sorry but lack of education is NOT an excuse. As an SDA we are trained from childhood to "sacrifice" for the good of presenting the message to the world but I have seen too many instances of unfairness result and certainly a lack of commensurate sacrifice by those doing the asking (GW for example will never lose his child in Iraq or worry that he might).

It is my understanding that the property settlement is still being litigated. Therefore, what Linda is entitled to as an asset from their marriage is still in the process of resolution. But, unless I am wrong, she is not entitled to any assets of 3ABN just because she was a co-founder. Not on legal grounds.

As for Danny's evidence that he was morally entitled to divorce his wife and remarry, I have yet to see or hear anything I find supported by "evidence" in the legal sense. That is why civil and criminal courts have burdens of proof and rules for what constitutes evidence or even makes a prima facie case. The moral standard that Danny is being held to is on its face pretty clear. There either was adultery or there was not. I have no idea what kind of evidence the church normally requires in reaching that conclusion. I obviously do not know what evidence those in authority to decide such things were shown and why they found it allowed Danny to morally do what he did. But based on all I have seen and heard here, this is a perfect example why I have not (and would never) trust this church as a trier of facts.

OK. Off my soap box.

nw

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 11:43 AM

I do not claim to have in depth knowledge of not for profit corporations (and any book I have on the subject is in storage and unreachable), but I do not believe linda was cheated out of anything as a cofounder. She was basically given a severance pay that from what I have read elsewhere at BSDA was inline with what is customary in the industry for the position she held. Remember, she did not have an employment contract or the severance pay would have been covered in it should something go wrong. (Remember, like many SDA christians I have met that work for the denomination or do business with each other, we presume as christians we will treat each other fairly.......and I have a bridge too) I have no doubt that Illinois like most states is an "employment at will" state so she could have been fired like anyone else without a contract. Now she might have sued for wrongful discharge if she had not signed the contract but she gave up the right for the security of the agreement she signed.

She was co founder, and you can still go many places on the internet that will tell you that. As co-founder she should have been bought out. Danny is also an employee, if he leaves, I really want to see what happens if they offer him $250,000.00. Not talking about what she had or didnt' have, I am talking aobut doing right when you call yourself a leader in [SDA]Christian Living. Man's law should not have been necessary for them to treat her fairly. Now 3ABN is pure big business then get them some big subiness programming and go for it, but while they are claiming to be agents to lead people to the life changing power of God, they need to do better. You can't claim buisness when it is convenient, your chirstianity should not stopat the door to your board room. She keeds to take the whole mess to Gloria Allred.........

When 3ABN chose to be a not for profit under IRS laws and state law, they benefited in many ways that other corporations do not. I also believe this means that Danny and Linda were no longer "owners" in the sense of one having ownership in a corporation. Someone with more knowledge of not for profits should quickly correct me here if I am wrong (which I may be).

The problem that I see (among many) is that Danny still acts like 3ABN is "his" to do with as he wishes. In his position on the board and in the day to day running he has the authority to still do things like an owner but he is not an owner anymore. He gave that up to get the benefits (tax) of having a not for profit. That is why the court in Illinois was concerned that 3ABN does not really function like a not for profit and I see little evidence to the contrary myself.

Exactly! Choosing to acknowledge that little loop hole when it suits him.........

I am sorry Linda did not seek legal counsel before signing the agreement. I am disgusted that the people who presented her with the contract did not believe it would stand the test of legal scrutiny as to its fairness. The courts are not there to protect us from our merely dumb or uneducated mistakes unless they are illegal. I am sorry she was naive enough to think the ministry she has apparently given so much to would not betray her. I do not know her and have only seen her briefly when asked to watch something by my parents. I know from personal experience with lots of mistakes in my own life that realizing and accepting my role in that I "volunteered" to be part of the whole equation that in the end left me feeling betrayed for whatever reason and taking responsibility for my role is REALLY hard.

Right once again, exactly my point. Had they not all checked their christianity at the board room dorr, they would not have even presented such a document to her. We are called to a higher standard in every area of our lives. If Linda was as wrong as she could be, caught int he act, 3ABN should have been the leader in showing God's loving correction, discipline, healing and forgiveness. Not resorting to tatics that rival Donald Trump.

But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women equal salaries "for the good of the ministry" or ask people to subvert the law and "donate" their overtime hours rather than get paid for them or as I have read elsewhere, not use "GAP standards in their accounting practices. I am sorry but lack of education is NOT an excuse. As an SDA we are trained from childhood to "sacrifice" for the good of presenting the message to the world but I have seen too many instances of unfairness result and certainly a lack of commensurate sacrifice by those doing the asking (GW for example will never lose his child in Iraq or worry that he might).

Go ahead!! you preachin' now!!

It is my understanding that the property settlement is still being litigated. Therefore, what Linda is entitled to as an asset from their marriage is still in the process of resolution. But, unless I am wrong, she is not entitled to any assets of 3ABN just because she was a co-founder. Not on legal grounds.

She would be had she not signed them away in that document..........

As for Danny's evidence that he was morally entitled to divorce his wife and remarry, I have yet to see or hear anything I find supported by "evidence" in the legal sense. That is why civil and criminal courts have burdens of proof and rules for what constitutes evidence or even makes a prima facie case. The moral standard that Danny is being held to is on its face pretty clear. There either was adultery or there was not. I have no idea what kind of evidence the church normally requires in reaching that conclusion. I obviously do not know what evidence those in authority to decide such things were shown and why they found it allowed Danny to morally do what he did. But based on all I have seen and heard here, this is a perfect example why I have not (and would never) trust this church as a trier of facts.

OK. Off my soap box.

Ain't nothing legal about "spiritual adultery".
nw

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 12:48 PM

But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women.....

[/quote]

I agree but in this case, Linda made a larger salary than Danny..You can check it out

---

Posted by: Observer Feb 6 2007, 12:56 PM

Re: "I am sorry Linda did not seek legal counsel before signing the agreement.

Linda did have legal advice prior to signing that contract.

However, in spite of that signed contract, and the fact that she had legal advice there is still reason to litigate.

1) Most people do not realize that in complex issues you must obtain the services of an attorney who specializes in those issues. Many do not realize the care that goes into the preparation of legal advice.

I have a friend who until recently was a Senior Partner in a national law firm. He practiced law in a specialized area of law, and became a recognized expert. He would not even consider thinking about giving legal advice outside of his area of expertise.

When he was a Senior Partner in that national law firm, every written opinon that left the office where he worked, had to be reviewed and signed by two Senior Partners. That made it very expensive. His lowest fee was several hundred dollars an hour, and his fees went up from that level. Two of the senior partners, regardless of who wrote the opinon, brief, or whatever, had to review, check, and sign off one before the document left the office.

2) It is not enough for a person to sign away legal rights that they have, even if they retained counsel. The Court will want to know that they signed away their legal rights after fully understanding what they had done, and the consequences of that.

I once needed to retain an attorney to draft an agreement with me on a matter involving another person. I developed a list of ten expert lawyers in that field. I narrowed it down to three, and selected one. During my initial interview with him I told him: I want you to give X everything that they are legally entitled to recieve, without exception, but nothing more. The resposne from the attorney was: That is the way I will operate in representing you. In order to protect you, and the agreement that you want signed you must give them everything that they are entitled to.

The other person decided not to retain an attorney, and to represent themself. In order to protect me, and to prevent litigation to throw out the terms of the agreement, my attorney inserted several paragraphs into the document that clearly stated the issues and consequences of doing so. The other person persested in a refusal to retain an atorney, and the agreement was filed with the Court.

Folks, why are issues still in litigation? Very simply because the agreement signed by Linda and Danny was written is such a way that it has not prevented the presented litigation. That is the bottom line.

Prior to the present litigation, I discussed it with lawyers whom I know, and was told that it contained clauses that could be challenged, and likely would not be enforced by a judge.

Posted by: Chez Feb 6 2007, 12:58 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 12:48 PM)
>
> But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women.....
> I agree but in this case, Linda made a larger salary than Danny..You can check it out

I saw someplace where Danny made $50,000 and Linda made $49,000. This was a legal document submitted by Danny.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 01:25 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 6 2007, 12:58 PM)
>
> I saw someplace where Danny made $50,000 and Linda made $49,000. This was a legal document submitted by Danny.

That must have been an older document. Before she left, she was making several more thousand than Danny because the board offered them a raise and Danny refused his and LInda took hers. Not saying there was anything wrong with that just that, in this case, the woman was making more.

[quote name='Observer' date='Feb 6 2007, 12:56 PM' post='175829']
Re: "I am sorry Linda did not seek legal counsel before signing the agreement.

Linda did have legal advice prior to signing that contract.

Greg, you just refuted the statements that have been made on here over and over that 3abn forced Linda to sign the contract without legal counsel. That has been hashed and rehashed here. You obviously found differently, and you are correct.

My question would be: If that information was false, (and it was), then how many other things told here for fact could be false.
Also I am quite sure, had I not pointed this out, none of the Linda apologists here, would have ever commented on it.

Posted by: inga Feb 6 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 01:48 PM)
>
> I agree but in this case, Linda made a larger salary than Danny..You can check it out

Evidence, please?

I understand that court-filed documents demonstrate that Dan and Linda each received the same salary.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 01:48 PM)
>
> But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women.....
> I agree but in this case, Linda made a larger salary than Danny..You can check it out Actually, I was not referring to Linda here and should have clarified my statement. I have read on BSDA that other positions are not paid the same for equal work and experience and that an EEOC investigation may or may not be pending or possibly brought at some point.

I wrote on another post some time ago that when I brought this possibility up with my mother several weeks ago that if it were true it bothered me. Her first response was it could not be true. Then when I asked how she felt if it were true as I have seen it in denominational employment in the past, she said it did not matter to her if it were true........

nw

Posted by: Observer Feb 6 2007, 01:45 PM

Bystander:

I stated that Linda had legal advice prior to signing the agreement because that is fact.

However, if that agreement had fully settled all matters, or if it was fully satisfactory, there would be no litigation going on now.

In regard to Linda's salery, vs Danny's: I once obtained some 990s from the IRS. According to my memory, which may be faulty, of the three 990s that I obtained, Danny was listed as being paid slightly more than Linda, or the same (?) in two, and Linda was listed as being paid slightly more than Danny in one.

My memory may be wrong.

However, if you were reading the posts that I made at that time in Club Adventist, I posted a statement that both Danny and Linda had been underpaid, according to the amounts listed in the 990s. I suggested that a fair wage for Danny, at that time, would have been in the $70,000 to $75,000 range, as I remember.

Of course there remain issues that were mentioned by Judge Rowe in her 40 page decision in regard to other compensation that Danny and Linda might have recieved. I certainly cannot, and do not deal with those isseus.

But, Bystander, I call it as I see it. I always have. I am on Linda's side, and I do not attempt to hide that fact. I do not believe that Danny had a Biblical reason to divorce Linda. But, I have not criticized him in regard to the divorce and remarriage. You know that if you have regularly read my posts.

Yes, I have been critical in other areas, as I believe it to be justified.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 01:51 PM

She was co founder, and you can still go many places on the internet that will tell you that. As co-founder she should have been bought out. Danny is also an employee, if he leaves, I really want to see what happens if they offer him $250,000.00. Not talking about what she had or didn't' have, I am talking about doing right when you call yourself a leader in [SDA]Christian Living. Man's law should not have been necessary for them to treat her fairly. Now 3ABN is pure big business then get them some big subiness programming and go for it, but while they are claiming to be agents to lead people to the life changing power of God, they need to do better. You can't claim buisness when it is convenient, your chirstianity should not stopat the door to your board room. She keeds to take the whole mess to Gloria Allred.........

Right once again, exactly my point. Had they not all checked their christianity at the board room dorr, they would not have even presented such a document to her. We are called to a higher standard in every area of our lives. If Linda was as wrong as she could be, caught int he act, 3ABN should have been the leader in showing God's loving correction, discipline, healing and forgiveness. Not resorting to tatics that rival Donald Trump.

[/quote]

I could not agree with you more that on the face of it the concept of fairness (and that is not only a christian principle) does not seem to be at play here.

Again, I thought the agreement only had to do with her position on the Board and her employment at 3ABN.

Let's think about this for a minute. Can someone remind me if her removal from the board was before or after the divorce was obtained. If after, then she would still be entitled to her share of the marital property if Danny still would be considered to have something he was entitled to as a co-founder of 3ABN. Can someone help me on that?

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 6 2007, 01:56 PM) ☐
>
> Linda did have legal advice prior to signing that contract.
>
> 1) Most people do not realize that in complex issues you must obtain the services of an attorney who specializes in those issues. Many do not realize the care that goes into the preparation of legal advice.
>
> Prior to the present litigation, I discussed it with lawyers whom I know, and was told that it contained clauses that could be challenged, and likely would not be enforced by a judge.

Thank you for the clarification. I had been under the false impression that she did not seek legal counsel. I have made that statement several times on this board and how unhappy that made me and no one has corrected my impression before.

As to obtaining the services of an attorney who is competent in the area you are seeking legal advise in, you cannot be more correct or accurate. You have given good examples and everyone who reads your post should take it to heart. In a local matter where I live I have seen people rely on totally incompetent legal counsel merely because he/she was an SDA attorney. Obviously, like the selection of any other professional, you have some responsibility to exercise due diligence in making your selection.

You have raised a couple questions that I doubt you can answer but I will ask them any way.

Has the person who gave her legal counsel been accused of malpractice?

Alleging you did not understand your rights when you have legal counsel I would think is going to be a harder sell if you challenge the countract. I am also wondering about the order of litigation if there is or is going to be a challenge to the contract. Observer do you know what the statute of limitations is for challenging the validity of the contract?

nw

PS Observer, I finished reading about an hour ago the latest postings at the Save3ABN site and commend you for your questions and analysis I found therein as you attempted to create a fair forum with ASI.

Posted by: Clay Feb 6 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 12:48 PM) ☐
>
> But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women.....
> I agree but in this case, Linda made a larger salary than Danny..You can check it out

"Great, and I'll also need some mirrors."

distraction by minutiae..... clearly he had the perks, he didn't need the salary......

Posted by: Observer Feb 6 2007, 02:11 PM

Re: "My question would be: If that information was false, (and it was), then how many other things told here for fact could be false."

Bystander you have stimulated me to respond to you in a manner that you are probably not expecting. :-)

We here are a group of independent people. We have differing backgrounds, and personalities. We have different life experiences. We have different perspectives in some aspects in regard to this 3-ABN mess. I am certain that some will disagree with some of what I post. But, we are united in a common set of objectives. That is what is bringing us together.

That unity means that we do not challenge and argue with every little comment that someone posts that differs from our personal belief. We are comfortable enough in relating to each other out of our common goals that we can be comfortable with someone posting something with which we disagree in some point. e.g. The example of whether or not Linda had legal advice prior to signing the agreement.

None of us considers ourselves to be perfect and 100 per-cent accurate in everything that we post. I do not have the slightest doubt that you can find some error in posts made here, and even, potentially, in mine. I recently posted, by implication, a clear error, of some significance. I publicly corrected it. My implication (I did state I had made an assumption.) was incorrect, and I corrected it.

My pont is: Some will disagree with some of what I post. But, comming our of our common committment of unified objectives/goals, or whatever you want to call them, we are not going to get involved in taking pot-shots at each other. We are going to live and let live. We are not going to be distracted by secondary (or more) issues from the real core of matter. We are not allowing ourselves to be divided over the areas where we may disagree.

As I posted earlier, in relating to each other in this manner, we are demonstrating the unity that could exist in the SDA Chruch between people who differ in some aspects of doctrine and lilfe style.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:13 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 6 2007, 02:45 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander:
>
> However, if that agreement had fully settled all matters, or if it was fully satisfactory, there would be no litigation going on now.

That statement does make sense to me legally as I doubt from even the little I know of the facts that all matters were fully settled by the agreement I have seen posted. IT makes more sense to me than challenging the validity of the contract to have it set aside.

Others have speculated here the idea that Linda signed the agreement under duress (and I indicated before it had been my understanding without an attorney) and that duress might be a reason to set the contact aside. Although I doubted that possibility from the facts (not speculation) I had, your statement as I said above makes more sense to me.

nw

Posted by: Observer Feb 6 2007, 02:17 PM

Re: "Has the person who gave her legal counsel been accused of malpractice?

Alleging you did not understand your rights when you have legal counsel I would think is going to be a harder sell if you challenge the countract. I am also wondering about the order of litigation if there is or is going to be a challenge to the contract. Observer do you know what the statute of limitations is for challenging the validity of the contract? "

Question # !: When you are dealing with malpractice and incompetence as they relate to a licensed attorney, you have a hard legal standard to meet.

I would never make such a statement about a licensed attorney.

My focus would be on other issues. But, then that would be for licensed lawyers to review and decide. My assumption is that since there is some litigation there must be some agreement that the agreement that Linda signed did not cover everything in a manner that prevented litigation.

Other questions and comments: You are getting into areas where I really do not know enough to make specific comments. So, I shall refrain from doing so.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:26 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 6 2007, 03:17 PM) ☐
>
> Re: "Has the person who gave her legal counsel been accused of malpractice?
>
> Question # !: When you are dealing with malpractice and incompetence as they relate to a licensed attorney, you have a hard legal standard to meet.
>
> I would never make such a statement about a licensed attorney.

I would not want you to make such a statement and commend you for not doing so. However, as part of Linda's support team you would have knowledge if any action with local or state bars has been taken.

I agree it is a very high standard but attorney's really do police themselves much better than the medical profession has ever done.

I have also known attorneys willing to give a statement that they had not given competent legal advise in the hope of helping the former recipient of that advise that was challenging the "fruit" of that advise.

nw

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 02:37 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 6 2007, 02:13 PM) ☐
>
> That statement does make sense to me legally as I doubt from even the little I know of the facts that all matters were fully settled by the agreement I have seen posted. IT makes more sense to me than challenging the validity of the contract to have it set aside.
>
> Others have speculated here the idea that Linda signed the agreement under duress (and I > indicated before it had been my understanding without an attorney) and that duress might be a reason to set the contact aside. Although I doubted that possibility from the facts (not speculation) I had, your statement as I said above makes more sense to me.

>
> nw

y point has nothing to do with what the law allows or doesn't allow. It is about the fact that many ave said on here that she didn't get to have legal counsel. She did. Period. Now where did that alsehood come from? Originally, I mean?

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 6 2007, 01:27 PM)
>
> Evidence, please?
>
> I understand that court-filed documents demonstrate that Dan and Linda each received the same salary.

ot in the last year. Find the evidence on the net. Fran coninually says those kind of records for a not rofit are accesible to anyone.

ut, Bystander, I call it as I see it. I always have. I am on Linda's side, and I do not attempt to hide hat fact. I do not believe that Danny had a Biblical reason to divorce Linda. But, I have not criticized im in regard to the divorce and remarriage. You know that if you have regularly read my posts.

es, I have been critical in other areas, as I believe it to be justified.
/quote]

es Greg, I agree that you have been more fair than most here in your opinions. You have been wise ot to criticize about the remarriage in my opinion. Why because, so far, evidence has not been eleased to prove her guilty, but on the otherhand, she cannot "prove" innocence. My point being is hat truly, only 3 people and God know what really transpired until if or when, evidence is shown one ay or the other. Therefore, because there is too much unknown in this realm, no one needs to be riticizing or judging the biblical aspects.

s far as the litigation goes, I would venture to guess that probably 95% of court documents can be hallenged for one thing or another. Doesn't mean the challenge will be succesful.
ust my opinion

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:38 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 03:28 PM)
>
> My point has nothing to do with what the law allows or doesn't allow. It is about the fact that many have said on here that she didn't get to have legal counsel. She did. Period. Now where did that falsehood come from? Originally, I mean?
> Not in the last year. Find the evidence on the net. Fran coninually says those kind of records for a not profit are accesible to anyone.

t some point I am going to have to personally go back and see where I first was given that impression or if I formed my own opinion that was affirmed by other's speculation. But regardless, I have stated it as one reason I was here in the first place wondering what was happening at 3ABN and not once did anyone correct me. Oh well. That is why every point must be looked at and analyzed for what type of evidence supports it. This one error does not change how I look at the whole picture but it does remind me to keep searching for demonstrable and verifiable facts. I try very hard to look beyond speculation and emotional exchanges but when I ask questions I seldom get answers from either "camp". So I do appreciate Observer correcting my statement.

nw

Posted by: Observer Feb 6 2007, 02:39 PM

Re: "However, as part of Linda's support team you would have knowledge if any action with local or state bars has been taken. "

I am not aware of anyone advising Linda to take such action. The standard is very high. The courts will suggest that an individual needing legal help has some responsibilities as to who is chosen to represent them.

I think that most of us would believe that our emotional energy, and other such resources should better be expended on other issues.

As a military officer: Pick your battles. Don't be distracted by minor squables.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 02:45 PM

Let's think about this for a minute. Can someone remind me if her removal from the board was before or after the divorce was obtained. If after, then she would still be entitled to her share of the marital property if Danny still would be considered to have something he was entitled to as a co-founder of 3ABN. Can someone help me on that?
[/quote]

It is my understanding her removal was before the divorce. As far as marital property, there seems to be a big misunderstanding here as usual. She already got more than her share, in my opinion. Danny bought our her share of the house and contents then, I believe if memory serves me, ended up giving her a good portion of the contents that he had already paid her for. To my knowledge she either took what she wanted or if she didn't, she was paid for that item. Unless something in the last 6 months has changed, that I don't know about, the only thing that was NOT settled was over some horses that they owned. It is my opinion that, that is what most of the lititgation has been about. Again, I say, unless something has changed that I don't know about. But lets get it straight that she was paid well for her share of the marital property and allowed to pick and choose what she took.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:46 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 6 2007, 03:39 PM) ☐
>
> Re: "However, as part of Linda's support team you would have knowledge if any action with local or state bars has been taken. "
>
> I am not aware of anyone advising Linda to take such action. The standard is very high. The courts will suggest that an individual needing legal help has some responsibilities as to who is chosen to represent them.

> I think that most of us would believe that our emotional energy, and other such resources should better be expended on other issues.
>
> As a military officer: Pick your battles. Don't be distracted by minor squables.

do not think we are in any disagreement on any of these topics of discussion and your statements nly help clarify certain matters for me. I had concerns that as posters began reading your comments bout the legal counsel she obtained there might be a great deal of speculation.

hanks for taking the time for your responses.

w

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 6 2007, 02:38 PM) ☐
>
> At some point I am going to have to personally go back and see where I first was given that impression or if I formed my own opinion that was affirmed by other's speculation. But regardless, I have stated it as one reason I was here in the first place wondering what was happening at 3ABN and not once did anyone correct me. Oh well. That is why every point must be looked at and analyzed for what type of evidence supports it. This one error does not change how I look at the whole picture but it does remind me to keep searching for demonstrable and verifiable facts. I try very hard to look beyond speculation and emotional exchanges but when I ask questions I seldom get answers from either "camp". So I do appreciate Observer correcting my statement.
>
> nw

ot only were you "not corrected" but the false information was carried on, taken apart, ate and egurgitated and made to come to one conclusion. That once, again, all those horrible corrupt people ad "forced" Linda to sign their contract with no legal counsel. Your statement about "searching" for verifiable " facts one of the wisest statements I have read here. Common sense tell me If something ike this has been mis represented, how many other things have been?

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 02:57 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 03:45 PM) ☐
>
> It is my understanding her removal was before the divorce. As far as marital property, there seems to be a big misunderstanding here as usual. She already got more than her share, in my opinion. Danny bought our her share of the house and contents then, I believe if memory serves me, ended up giving her a good portion of the contents that he had already paid her for. To my knowledge she either took what she wanted or if she didn't, she was paid for that item. Unless something in the last 6 months has changed, that I don't know about, the only thing that was NOT settled was over some horses that they owned. It is my opinion that, that is what most of the lititgation has been about. Again, I say, unless something has changed that I don't know about. But lets get it straight that she was paid well for her share of the marital property and allowed to pick and choose what > she took.

t would be sad if the costs of litigation exceeded the value of any horses. However, there has been peculation that more is going on in this area than horses. How about the profit from the book that vas written during the marriage?

lthough you may conclude that Linda was fairly compensated with what she has received, the law nay provide differently. One issue that I see and may be discussed directly or indirectly elsewhere is if he has been somehow precluded from/prejudiced in pursuing her professional career by things said r done by Danny or others at 3abn. Also, do you think Danny would be entitled to more than everance pay if he was asked to leave 3abn? Would he be entitled to something for having co-ounded the organization? or for the non-monetary perks he was used to receiving?

w

Posted by: Ralph Feb 6 2007, 03:22 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 6 2007, 01:57 PM) ☐
>
> It would be sad if the costs of litigation exceeded the value of any horses. However, there has been speculation that more is going on in this area than horses. How about the profit from the book that was written during the marriage?
>
> Although you may conclude that Linda was fairly compensated with what she has received, the law may provide differently. One issue that I see and may be discussed directly or indirectly elsewhere is if she has been somehow precluded from/prejudiced in pursuing her professional career by things said or done by Danny or others at 3abn. Also, do you think Danny would be entitled to more than severance pay if he was asked to leave 3abn? Would he be entitled to something for having co-founded the organization? or for the non-monetary perks he was used to receiving?
>
> nw

his is a key point. I don't know whether or not you have read all the posts regarding 3ABN, but this vas one of the issues that was brought up quite early in the discussion.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 04:02 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 6 2007, 04:22 PM) ☐
>
> This is a key point. I don't know whether or not you have read all the posts regarding 3ABN, but this was one of the issues that was brought up quite early in the discussion.

have done my best to read hundreds of posts in the various topics regarding 3ABN in my few weeks ere but I assure you I have not read them all but hope that has not made me sound foolish in any vay.

know I came to my own conclusion regarding the possible damage to any future ministry Ms. Shelton might start on her own based not only on the direct and indirect activities of 3ABN personnel but what seemed to me questionable decisions by the church she had attended or the one she desired to attend etc. Those were some of the early threads I read so I do not remember all the specifics.

Whether I came to my opinion independently or if it was influenced by someone else's statements.....I suspect the latter. But I am glad you agree it is a valid point/question.

nw

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 04:19 PM

Oh yeah now, they weren't making much, as far as the norm was concerned and for me them taking more would not have been a problem. If I remember correctly they still have to divide the marital property, which conveniently does not include 3ABN. I am not sure, but I would guess that the agreement was signed before the divorce, don't think Danny would leave town with Linda being able to talk while he was off in Guam move her out the way.......

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 6 2007, 11:45 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander:
>
> I stated that Linda had legal advice prior to signing the agreement because that is fact.
>
> However, if that agreement had fully settled all matters, or if it was fully satisfactory, there would be no litigation going on now.
>
> In regard to Linda's salery, vs Danny's: I once obtained some 990s from the IRS. According to my memory, which may be faulty, of the three 990s that I obtained, Danny was listed as being paid slightly more than Linda, or the same (?) in two, and Linda was listed as being paid slightly more than Danny in one.
>
> My memory may be wrong.
>
> However, if you were reading the posts that I made at that time in Club Adventist, I posted a statement that both Danny and Linda had been underpaid, according to the amounts listed in the 990s. I suggested that a fair wage for Danny, at that time, would have been in the $70,000 to $75,000 range, as I remember.
>
> Of course there remain issues that were mentioned by Judge Rowe in her 40 page decision in regard to other compensation that Danny and Linda might have recieved. I certainly cannot, and do not deal with those isseus.
>
> But, Bystander, I call it as I see it. I always have. I am on Linda's side, and I do not attempt to hide that fact. I do not believe that Danny had a Biblical reason to divorce Linda. But, I have not criticized him in regard to the divorce and remarriage. You know that if you have regularly read my posts.
>
> Yes, I have been critical in other areas, as I believe it to be justified.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 04:28 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 6 2007, 05:19 PM) ☐

> Oh yeah now, they weren't making much, as far as the norm was concerned and for me them taking more would not have been a problem. If I remember correctly they still have to divide the marital property, which conveniently does not include 3ABN. I am not sure, but I would guess htat the agreement was signed before the divorce, don't think Danny would leave town with Linda being able to talk while he was off in Guam move her out the way.......

Bystander stated his belief that the agreement was signed prior to the divorce which is what I thought I recalled but did not want to state as certainty.

Bystander, I thank you and Observer for answering my question regarding Mr. Joy. Can you please now answer my other question as to what you think Danny is entitled to if we hypothetically assumed that he left 3ABN. Please do not comment on whether he should or should not leave and for what reason or not. Just assume for the purpose of the hypothetical that like Linda, he resigned and signed a contract. Would he get severance pay similar to what she was offered with a gag order or should he get something for being co-founder? What do you think would be fair? (and again, marital assets are not the issue here or what Linda did or did not get in her contract).

nw

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 6 2007, 06:12 PM

3abn cannot be included in a marital agreement because as a non-profit the Shelton's do not own it nor could they have sold it. At least that is my understanding of how non-profits operate.

Richard

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 6 2007, 05:19 PM) ☐
>
> Oh yeah now, they weren't making much, as far as the norm was concerned and for me them taking more would not have been a problem. If I remember correctly they still have to divide the marital property, which conveniently does not include 3ABN. I am not sure, but I would guess that the agreement was signed before the divorce, don't think Danny would leave town with Linda being able to talk while he was off in Guam move her out the way.......

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 06:22 PM

Does this work for All nonprofits? i used to work for a FFA(foster family agnecy) for a while that was also a non profit, but it had an owner. This is interesting, I owuld really like to know how that works.........But like I said and NW is asking, what would they give to Danny as "severance" in the same or similar situation.....she was still shafted.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 6 2007, 04:12 PM) ☐
>
> 3abn cannot be included in a marital agreement because as a non-profit the Shelton's do not own it nor could they have sold it. At least that is my understanding of how non-profits operate.

> Richard

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 6 2007, 06:42 PM

Yup I'm a country boy. When you wrote FFA, I thought Future Farmers of America

My question is would there be anyway for Danny to convert the non-profit 3abn into a personal asset? If he could, and did, then it seems like Linda would have a case for 1/2 of the value of the company when she left.

Richard

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 6 2007, 07:22 PM)
>
> Does this work for All nonprofits? i used to work for a FFA(foster family agnecy) for a while that was also a non profit, but it had an owner. This is interesting, I owuld really like to know how that works.........But like I said and NW is asking, what would they give to Danny as "severance" in the same or similar situation.....she was still shafted.

Posted by: JustTana Feb 6 2007, 06:57 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 6 2007, 12:28 PM)
>
> But, I am going to be honest here. I am tired of SDAs (or anyone else) thinking it is ok to not pay women equal salaries "for the good of the ministry" or ask people to subvert the law and "donate" their overtime hours rather than get paid for them or as I have read elsewhere, not use "GAP standards in their accounting practices. I am sorry but lack of education is NOT an excuse. As an SDA we are trained from childhood to "sacrifice" for the good of presenting the message to the world but I have seen too many instances of unfairness result and certainly a lack of commensurate sacrifice by those doing the asking (GW for example will never lose his child in Iraq or worry that he might).

am in complete agreement with you NW! The church seems to have only one definition for the word acrifice. It is well illustrated with the old movie newsreels during the 1940's when we were in WWII. here was a segment in which 6year old Margaret O"Brien was pictured, saying with a very pained ook on her face as she urged people to, "Give, give 'til it hurts.' I was reminded of this some ears ago when my pastor gave a sermon just before Christmas in which he admonished us very trongly that we must remember to be careful how much we spent on Christmas presents in omparison to how much we gave to the 'Lord's Work.' His intimation was that we needed to emember that it was better to 'sacrifice' than to give our children 'too much.'

While I agree with this in principle, I resent that we give God so little credit for His desire to be generous with His children. We spend so much time paying attention to the Curses in Deuteronomy 28, that we totally forget the Blessings and that both depend upon our obedience to His instructions, not on our willingness to sacrifice until it hurts! JMO

JT

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 07:05 PM

[
Although you may conclude that Linda was fairly compensated with what she has received, the law may provide differently. One issue that I see and may be discussed directly or indirectly elsewhere is if she has been somehow precluded from/prejudiced in pursuing her professional career by things said or done by Danny or others at 3abn. Also, do you think Danny would be entitled to more than severance pay if he was asked to leave 3abn? Would he be entitled to something for having co-founded the organization? or for the non-monetary perks he was used to receiving?

nw
[/quote]
NW Since my earlier post on the horse litigation, I have looked into things a little more. You are correct that, there, now, is more going on. Court records show that Danny bought out Linda for the house/contents as I stated earlier. She agreed to that settlement as did her attorney. At a later time she has tried to open the case again by saying she did not have legal representation when she signed the contract. As the courts looked into it the records were produced that show her signature, DannyS. signature and both of their attorney's signature, proving that shedid have legal counsel which also had agreed to the terms. I believe, because of the false information submitted to the court, she will be responsible for the legal fees resulting from this litigation.
On the subject of the book. You are right when you state that one never knows what the law will decide, but I feel she is not entitled as it is my understand that the book was not written before the divorce.

Posted by: inga Feb 6 2007, 07:07 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 03:37 PM)
>
> Find the evidence on the net. Fran coninually says those kind of records for a not profit are accesible to anyone.

Bystander, you are being coy or just nasty.

Since you appear to know what salaries Linda and Dan received, and you brought up the idea that Linda received more than Dan, you could be just a little decent and give the exact figures rather than merely claiming she receoved "more" (with the possible implication that it was significantly more).

But I'm not holding my breath ...

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 07:13 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 6 2007, 05:42 PM)
>
> Yup I'm a country boy. When you wrote FFA, I thought Future Farmers of America
>
> My question is would there be anyway for Danny to convert the non-profit 3abn into a personal asset? If he could, and did, then it seems like Linda would have a case for 1/2 of the value of the company when she left.
>
> Richard

Richard, no he cannot "turn" it in to a personal asset. Danny nor Linda owned 3abn.

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 6 2007, 06:07 PM)
>
> Bystander, you are being coy or just nasty.
>
> Since you appear to know what salaries Linda and Dan received, and you brought up the idea that Linda received more than Dan, you could be just a little decent and give the exact figures rather than merely claiming she receoved "more" (with the possible implication that it was significantly more).
>
> But I'm not holding my breath ...

Inga, I am trying to the best of my knowledge to answer some questions here, so the holding your breath comment is undeserved.
The only reason I didn't post the figures was because I was unsure of the exact figures. If you want me to post what my memory tells me, then I will but I cannot say, for sure, that they are exact. My understand for danny was 50,000 and Linda 55,000. Again approx. I could be off a thousand one way or the other.

Posted by: inga Feb 6 2007, 09:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 08:13 PM)
>
> The only reason I didn't post the figures was because I was unsure of the exact figures. If you want me to post what my memory tells me, then I will but I cannot say, for sure, that they are exact. My understand for danny was 50,000 and Linda 55,000. Again approx. I could be off a thousand one way or the other.

Okay, that's fair enough. Putting that together with Observer's post, it means that Linda may have received $5,000.00 or so more for the last year or two before being fired, while Dan may have received more in earlier years.

Thank you for your straightforward reply.

If you (or whoever else posted under this ID) had posted in less antagonistic fashion earlier, you would have found this a far friendlier place.

Some of us are well aware that Linda is not Ms Perfection (not that she should be required to be), but the posts of Dan's defenders on here have not helped us form a good opinion of Dan.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 12:32 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 6 2007, 08:08 PM)
>
> Okay, that's fair enough. Putting that together with Observer's post, it means that Linda may have received $5,000.00 or so more for the last year or two before being fired, while Dan may have received more in earlier years.
>
> Thank you for your straightforward reply.
>
> If you (or whoever else posted under this ID) had posted in less antagonistic fashion earlier, you would have found this a far friendlier place.
>
> Some of us are well aware that Linda is not Ms Perfection (not that she should be required to be), but the posts of Dan's defenders on here have not helped us form a good opinion of Dan.

First let me say this. I and I alone have posted as bystander. No one else has "substituted" for me and you have my word on that.
Now, why would I have posted in a less antagonistic fashion when the largest part of what I was reading here was antagonistic towards Danny, The shelton's in general, 3abn, the board, Asi ect ect. Friendly would not be the word I would use to describe this forum whether I had shown up, or not. Saying danny's defenders did not reflect well on him can only make me turn that around and say have the things said and done here reflected well on the Linda supporters. Hardly. It takes two to tango..

Posted by: sister Feb 7 2007, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 08:13 PM)
>
> The only reason I didn't post the figures was because I was unsure of the exact figures. If you want me to post what my memory tells me, then I will but I cannot say, for sure, that they are exact. My understand for danny was 50,000 and Linda 55,000. Again approx. I could be off a thousand one way or the other.

Bystander, these are the figures from 2003 - 2005, not including perks.

2003

Linda Shelton $58,169.00
Danny Shelton $53,695.00

2004 Now that Linda was gone, Dan gave himself a raise.

Danny Shelton $59,294.00

2005 Again Danny gave himself another substantial raise, why still claiming to make the same salary as an SDA pastor.

Danny Shelton $70,944.00

Perhaps you could supply the figures for 2006 and an estimate for 2007, since you appear to receive your information from Danny. Other than Danny or Linda, where else could you be so well informed? Unless you and Eye Witness, who use the same computer, are the husband and wife team of Hal and Mollie Steenson. But I still think your source is much closer to the "3ABN Prophet", himself.

Sister

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 10:11 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 07:54 AM)
>
> Bystander, these are the figures from 2003 - 2005, not including perks.
>
> 2003
>
> Linda Shelton $58,169.00
> Danny Shelton $53,695.00
>
> 2004 Now that Linda was gone, Dan gave himself a raise.
>
> Danny Shelton $59,294.00
>
> 2005 Again Danny gave himself another substantial raise, why still claiming to make the same salary as an SDA pastor.
>
> Danny Shelton $70,944.00 Where did the 70,944 come from?
>
> Funny you should say where would the figures come from except for Danny and Linda. How do you have them? I didn't have exact figures, you do. If that could only come from Danny or Linda...well, we know you're not Danny...........
>
> Sister

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 10:44 AM

You keep trying to make sister Linda... and you keep failing. The fact is, 501c3 organizations have to disclose that information... and it's available to any if one knows where to find it.

Give the identity guessing games a rest... you dont want folk to know who you are... and as a purported Christian you are supposed to do unto others as you would have them do unto you... and here, you would have others leave your identity anonymous.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:04 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:11 AM)
>
> Where did the 70,944 come from?
>
> Funny you should say where would the figures come from except for Danny and Linda. How do you have them? I didn't have exact figures, you do. If that could only come from Danny or Linda...well, we know you're not Danny...........

And you know Sister is not Linda, right? Where would Linda get such a figure for 2005, long after she was excluded from 3ABN?

Of course, we don't know that you don't have exact figures, only that you say you don't have exact figures.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 11:26 AM

For anyone coming in with gun blazing, no it is not a friendly place. You will defintiely find we give as goo as we get. Mainly because you have not shown your self to be friendly. Now, I know most here don't have a problem with me, I believe I have shown myself friendly, in that I keep saying we can all disagree, but there is no need to be enemies.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 10:32 PM)
>
> First let me say this. I and I alone have posted as bystander. No one else has "substituted" for me and you have my word on that.
> Now, why would I have posted in a less antagonistic fashion when the largest part of what I was reading here was antagonistic towards Danny, The shelton's in general, 3abn, the board, Asi ect ect.
> Friendly would not be the word I would use to describe this forum whether I had shown up, or not.
> Saying danny's defenders did not reflect well on him can only make me turn that around and say have the things said and done here reflected well on the Linda supporters. Hardly. It takes two to tango..

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 11:35 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 10:44 AM)
>
> You keep trying to make sister Linda... and you keep failing. The fact is, 501c3 organizations have to disclose that information... and it's available to any if one knows where to find it.
>
> Give the identity guessing games a rest... you dont want folk to know who you are... and as a purported Christian you are supposed to do unto others as you would have them do unto you... and here, you would have others leave your identity anonymous.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

since you appear to receive your information from Danny. Other than Danny or Linda, where else could you be so well informed? Unless you and Eye Witness, who use the same computer, are the husband and wife team of Hal and Mollie Steenson. But I still think your source is much closer to the "3ABN Prophet", himself.

Sister

And you are telling me to give the identity game a rest? rofl

---

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:35 PM)
>
> sister
>
> And you are telling me to give the identity game a rest? rofl

Nope. You mis-read. That was Mr. Awesome Tenor!

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 11:04 AM)
>
> And you know Sister is not Linda, right? Where would Linda get such a figure for 2005, long after she was excluded from 3ABN?
>
> Of course, we don't know that you don't have exact figures, only that you say you don't have exact figures.
>
> sn

If I had them, I wouldn't have had a problem with posting them. So you think LInda coudn't get her hands on the 05 figures but some anonymous person who sent them to "sister" can?

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:51 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:39 PM)
>
> If I had them, I wouldn't have had a problem with posting them.

Fair enough.

> QUOTE
>
> So you think LInda coudn't get her hands on the 05 figures but some anonymous person who sent them to "sister" can?

I suppose Linda could get them the same way any other motivated person could get them (That's not me!). However, having the figures doesn't "prove" anything, does it?

Posted by: sister Feb 7 2007, 05:56 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 11:44 AM)
>
> You keep trying to make sister Linda... and you keep failing. The fact is, 501c3 organizations have to disclose that information... and it's available to any if one knows where to find it. Give the identity guessing games a rest... you dont want folk to know who you are... and as a purported Christian you are supposed to do unto others as you would have them do unto you... and here, you would have others leave your identity anonymous.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J you are correct! No one sent me the information, I am just one smart cookie who knows how to surf the Net! It really isn't that difficult, Bystander. I bet even you could find it, but you don't need to do that, you drink directly from the source. Right?

Sister

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 06:02 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 01:32 AM)

> Friendly would not be the word I would use to describe this forum whether I had shown up, or not.

f you hadn't shown up here and used another word that would make you a talebearer... and if a man vill have friends he must first show himself friendly... whole you have shown yourself a great many hings in your time here, friendly doesnt make the list...

o you come here in a hostile guise, acting in a hostile manner... and then you are shocked and ppalled because people are inclined to treat you with hostility...

aaaaaaaaaaaaall righty then...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 07:03 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 06:02 PM)
>
> If you hadn't shown up here and used another word that would make you a talebearer... and if a man will have friends he must first show himself friendly... whole you have shown yourself a great many things in your time here, friendly doesnt make the list...
>
> So you come here in a hostile guise, acting in a hostile manner... and then you are shocked and appalled because people are inclined to treat you with hostility...
>
> aaaaaaaaaaaaaall righty then...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

ou must have got your posts mixed up. I was shocked and appalled that this forum existed but once became a member I realized quickly I had to be hostile, at times, to communicate. Especially with ou.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 7 2007, 07:09 PM

What I find really amusing is that it's the apologist that keep these 3abn threads really going. If they had the smarts to just not reply to any and everything there would be 100's of pages less of condemnation against Danny, Tommy, 3abn etc etc. Danny's loss, everyone elses gain. The truth is getting out as a result of the apologist, not in spite of them.

Richard

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 07:09 PM)

> What I find really amusing is that it's the apologist that keep these 3abn threads really going. If they had the smarts to just not reply to any and everything there would be 100's of pages less of condemnation against Danny, Tommy, 3abn etc etc. Danny's loss, everyone elses gain. The truth is getting out as a result of the apologist, not in spite of them.
>
> Richard

jood point Richard..... the more they talk, the more that is revealed.... I think they protesteth too nuch...

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 07:12 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 05:56 PM) ☐
>
> Mr. J you are correct! No one sent me the information, I am just one smart cookie who knows how to surf the Net! It really isn't that difficult, Bystander. I bet even you could find it, but you don't need to do that, you drink directly from the source. Right?
>
> Sister

agree sister, you certainly do know how to surf the net in lots of different ways. Fact is I had already ;een the figures quite sometime ago that is why I said might not be exact because I didn't trust my nemory. Of course I could have looked them up again but didn't want to go to the trouble. Wrong.

'ou are the biggest source I know and I sure don't drink from you. ☒ than

---

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 08:03 PM) ☐
>
> You must have got your posts mixed up. I was shocked and appalled that this forum existed but once I became a member I realized quickly I had to be hostile, at times, to communicate. Especially with you.

herein lies the rub... you havent communicated with anyone here, least of all me... you have hreatened, cajoled, pontificated, excoriated, castigated, obfuscated... I could go on at length... but 'ou have not communicated...

lor have you tried to... and you never will as long as you think you can unilaterally set the terms and)ounds of discourse... or as long as you wear your contempt on your sleeve. You'd do better to agree o disagree and just walk away... but it's just not your style to quit while you're behind, is it...

n His service,
Ar. J

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 07:09 PM)
>
> What I find really amusing is that it's the apologist that keep these 3abn threads really going. If they had the smarts to just not reply to any and everything there would be 100's of pages less of condemnation against Danny, Tommy, 3abn etc etc. Danny's loss, everyone elses gain. The truth is getting out as a result of the apologist, not in spite of them.
>
> Richard

We reply so that the readers won't be swallowed whole by rumors and assumption.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 07:18 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 07:16 PM)
>
> We reply so that the readers won't be swallowed whole by rumors and assumption.

uh huh.... thou protesteth too much.... thanks for sharing your rationale..... how's that workin for ya?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 07:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 05:16 PM)
>
> We reply so that the readers won't be swallowed whole by rumors and assumption.

.........and it's working, just not the way you intended.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 07:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:39 PM)
>
> If I had them, I wouldn't have had a problem with posting them. So you think LInda coudn't get her hands on the 05 figures but some anonymous person who sent them to "sister" can?

Seeing you have admitted your were barking up the wrong tree in this regard, a retraction and an apology to sister would be in order...

Not that I'd expect you to do either...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 7 2007, 07:50 PM

Hate to tell you this but it just ain't helping your cause. Those on here searching for the truth are seeing documents, and first hand reports and people with real names, in other words proof for what they read. And what are you and the other apologist showing? Attacks on the messenger instead of the message. Instead of trying to dispute what's shown here you try to discredit the posters, the people BTW who have the guts to say who they are, unlike the apologist. Admittedly not all on here tell their real names, but nearly all the main participants do.

And the more you protest the more determined people are, not to bring down 3abn but to bring out the truth. Ya'll are doing the critics a favor. So carry on.

Richard

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 08:16 PM)
>
> We reply so that the readers won't be swallowed whole by rumors and assumption.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 08:50 PM

[quote name='awesumtenor' date='Feb 7 2007, 07:16 PM' post='176332']
Therein lies the rub... you havent communicated with anyone here, least of all me... you have threatened, cajoled, pontificated, excoriated, castigated, obfuscated... I could go on at length... but you have not communicated...

As I read those words aloud and a nice little beat started to come into my mind. If you don't mind maybe I will make a little rap out of them.......

Nor have you tried to... and you never will as long as you think you can unilaterally set the terms and bounds of discourse... or as long as you wear your contempt on your sleeve. You'd do better to agree to disagree and just walk away... but it's just not your style to quit while you're behind, is it...

If I was behind I might, but since I'm not, I won't.
Mr. J You would never consider yourself in the masses of all the "regular" people in the world but the truth is, your strings are being pulled just like most everyone else on this forum. I am sorry to be the barer of bad news, but you are no better than anyone else. The master puppateer has your little legs doing a jig but your to in love with yourself to notice.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> Hate to tell you this but it just ain't helping your cause. Those on here searching for the truth are seeing documents, and first hand reports and people with real names, in other words proof for what they read. And what are you and the other apologist showing? Attacks on the messenger > instead of the message. Instead of trying to dispute what's shown here you try to discredit the posters, the people BTW who have the guts to say who they are, unlike the apologist. Admittedly not all on here tell their real names, but nearly all the main participants do.

>
> And the more you protest the more determined people are, not to bring down 3abn but to bring out the truth. Ya'll are doing the critics a favor. So carry on.
>
> Richard

n the last several days I have posted verified facts. I have also shown many rumors to be false with he facts. Some facts and evidence will have to wait until the proper time to be shown. Either way, it's here.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 07:19 PM)
>
> Seeing you have admitted your were barking up the wrong tree in this regard, a retraction and an apology to sister would be in order...
>
> Not that I'd expect you to do either...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

re you reading the wrong posts. Did sister not post the salaries? Did sister not say that I would have o be an insider to get that information? Ridiculous you are

---

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 08:52 PM

You on a roll Clay.....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:11 PM)
>
> .... I think they protesteth too much...

hakespear...right?

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:18 PM)
>
> ..... how's that workin for ya?

r. Phil

inally - I agree. I'm quick to tell the kids that I work with:

ahem*

You tell the truth one time. That's all you have to do. Eventually the lie will come out in the wash. omeone wants to lie on you and spread rumors. You tell the people that matter one time..... it's not rue. You show your proof that it's not true and you drop it. The people that keep the mess going will be found out to be a lie ...eventually...and when it does happen - their shot for life. Trust me...."

It's refreshing to see kids actually work this in the day treatment/inpatient wards and it actually works as the rumor mill dies and people find something new to talk about.

Fact of the matter is - with all the "evidence" that exists about Linda - I ain't seen a thang...but yet there is bit after bit coming out about Danny, Tommy, and the "dirty deeds" that have been done in the background. If evidence exists against Linda - by all means Danny should have been a man from jump and let it go. To slander his ex-wife's name makes him look stankier and stankier. Normally the hen that cackles the loudest is the one that laid the egg...and in this case Danny is cackling, crowing, pecking, screaming, bellowing, spittin, and yellin'...all of which makes him look stankier and stankier.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 08:54 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 07:19 PM)
>
> ....and it's working, just not the way you intended.

Actually, it is, by the outcry that I have heard from other Adventist. C'mon you guys just want to get us off of here so your own little group can continue to spin your tales to each other with no distractions.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 09:01 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 06:50 PM)
>
> In the last several days I have posted verified facts. I have also shown many rumors to be false with the facts. Some facts and evidence will have to wait until the proper time to be shown. Either way, it's there.

you have not done this, in fact, you have only said more things that we have asked you to prove were true. why don't you do that, then you can say you did.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 06:54 PM)
>
> Actually, it is, by the outcry that I have heard from other Adventist. C'mon you guys just want to get us off of here so your own little group can continue to spin your tales to each other with no distractions.

Reeeeaaaallyy?? And what SDA's would that be? The ones that don't know any better and have done no research of their own, just listened to the ramblings of their king and his court (lets not forget them) on the tv and since it sounds so good, it must be true? when will they learn??

If we have only tales to spin, then leave - you have nothing to worry about. And by all means, PLEASE don't go, in fact I have stated to the admin here that I want you to stay. I question your eithics and honesty, but for the most part, it really is good for the cause of truth that you remain, until you sucessfully get yourself booted and that will be that. So, hear you are!! Still here! (no, not necessarily because of my asking, but because I am not the only one that knows it's a good thing you are still here...)

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:17 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 08:54 PM)
>
> Actually, it is, by the outcry that I have heard from other Adventist. C'mon you guys just want to get us off of here so your own little group can continue to spin your tales to each other with no distractions.

even though you said you were leaving, you changed your mind and opted to stay and we are indeed thrilled...your presence and your explanations have said volumes....

reminds me of civil court commitments.... usually the judge is trying to decide if a person should be committed to a psychiatric hospital involuntarily. The petitioner gives evidence, the defense questions it... then comes the time when the person is asked if they want to testified on their own behalf.... the person is usually told it would be better if they didn't because maybe they would get the benefit of the doubt.... however, human nature being what it is, the person 9 times out of 10 opts to testify... in every case when the person testifies, that person is committed against their will for treatment....their own testimony usually seals their fate.....

All you who have come to defend Danny, have provided all the information to remove doubt and make it clear.... yeah he did it... and then some.... sort of like had O.J. testified during his own trial.... so please continue to share....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 09:23 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 11:17 PM)
>
> ....All you who have come to defend Danny, have provided all the information to remove doubt and make it clear.... yeah he did it... and then some.... sort of like had O.J. testified during his own trial.... so please continue to share....

...all I am seeing fa real is that Danny is way, WAY DIRTY.

Pernt blank.

That is all...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 7 2007, 09:26 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 7 2007, 10:23 PM)
>
> ...all I am seeing fa real is that Danny is way, WAY DIRTY.
>
> Pernt blank.

I have been told by no less than 10 employees after everything that's been siad, they feel the same way as you do PDR. I have a feeling the idea is going to spread.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> you have not done this, in fact, you have only said more things that we have asked you to prove were true. why don't you do that, then you can say you did.
> Reeeeaaaallyy?? And what SDA's would that be? The ones that don't know any better and have done no research of their own, just listened to the ramblings of their king and his court (lets not forget them) on the tv and since it sounds so good, it must be true? when will they learn??

Again, you show everytime how narrow your mind is. Out of what 16 million adventists around the world (and 3abn reaches the biggest portion of it) You think the only people that support 3abn are just a dumb little duped group. What a slam against the adventist people and the church as a whole since so many conference people are supportive also. What an insult to their intelligence. Again, they know nothing but you know all. You just keep repeating the impossible. That all the world is fooled and/or corrupt.

Prove what. The facts I have posted today are verifiable. If anyone in the other camp had posted just what I did it would be taken as truth without question. Even you have to see how lopsided you think. You jump on the bandwagon of any junk that is posted here and never question how someone knew or how it can be checked out as long as, it is against 3abn.
Sad really that you have so much anger, jealousy and/or hate for 3abn, the administration ect when all of your information has originated from one source even though it was passed through several sources first. The harder to trace. you are manipulated to the extreme and don't even know it.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 09:31 PM

One mo gen....jes read my signature line....
"Karma...."

(loosely based on the "digging a ditch, dig two" addage....)

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:27 PM)

> Again, you show everytime how narrow your mind is. Out of what 16 million adventists around the world (and 3abn reaches the biggest portion of it) You think the only people that support 3abn are just a dumb little duped group. What a slam against the adventist people and the church as a whole since so many conference people are supportive also. What an insult to their intelligence. Again, they know nothing but you know all. You just keep repeating the impossible. That all the world is fooled and/or corrupt.
>
> Prove what. The facts I have posted today are verifiable. If anyone in the other camp had posted just what I did it would be taken as truth without question. Even you have to see how lopsided you think. You jump on the bandwagon of any junk that is posted here and never question how someone knew or how it can be checked out as long as, it is against 3abn.
> Sad really that you have so much anger, jealousy and/or hate for 3abn, the administration ect when all of your information has originated from one source even though it was passed through several sources first. The harder to trace. you are manipulated to the extreme and don't even know it.

ell us more... interesting... people are manipulated and don't know it.... and you believe you are here o free us from the manipulation? By all means.... if you would could you address Mr. Shelton's first :ontact with bsda, the one in which he indicated that he loved Linda and that they had been counseled or hours.... except, they hadn't been counseled for hours and it wasn't long after that statement that ve learned of the Guam excursion.....

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 07:27 PM) ☐
>
> Again, you show everytime how narrow your mind is. Out of what 16 million adventists around the world (and 3abn reaches the biggest portion of it) You think the only people that support 3abn are just a dumb little duped group. What a slam against the adventist people and the church as a whole since so many conference people are supportive also. What an insult to their intelligence. Again, they know nothing but you know all. You just keep repeating the impossible. That all the world is fooled and/or corrupt.
>
> Prove what. The facts I have posted today are verifiable. If anyone in the other camp had posted just what I did it would be taken as truth without question. Even you have to see how lopsided you think. You jump on the bandwagon of any junk that is posted here and never question how someone knew or how it can be checked out as long as, it is against 3abn.
> Sad really that you have so much anger, jealousy and/or hate for 3abn, the administration ect when all of your information has originated from one source even though it was passed through several sources first. The harder to trace. you are manipulated to the extreme and don't even know it.

☒ no

vrong you are, so many times...YOU my friend are the one manipulated by the cult you worship, or 'ou are the manipulator of the cult you own and you don't see your true mental condition.
feel very sorry for you, really.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 09:39 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 7 2007, 09:26 PM) ☐

> I have been told by no less than 10 employees after everything that's been siad, they feel the same way as you do PDR. I have a feeling the idea is going to spread.

Hoty, why didn't you dispute those ,that told, that Danny said he was "going after" Linda and her supporters. Surely you were there. You know everything that goes on. You knew it was false yet did nothing to correct it. If that doesn't prove that you have your own personal ax to grind, then nothing does. Or, maybe you were actually not there at all and are just being "fed" I have heard from way more than 10 that they can't believe someone so 2 faced works among them. It appears to most there, that you are trying to help take down the ministry which in turn takes down their jobs. Good thing, that for now, you are anonymous because if the rest of the employees find out who you are, well, it won't be a pretty picture. People that thought you were a friend will feel betrayed and they will have been.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 09:35 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ nop
>
> wrong you are, so many times...YOU my friend are the one manipulated by the cult you worship, or you are the manipulator of the cult you own and you don't see your true mental condition.
> I feel very sorry for you, really.

Don't waste your emotions feeling sorry for me because If I belong to Danny's cult, then you belong to Linda's so are still, being manipulated,....wait...unless you are her, then you would be doing the manipulating. Either way you are in no better position than you say I am.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:39 PM) ☐
>
> Hoty, why didn't you dispute those ,that told, that Danny said he was "going after" Linda and her supporters. Surely you were there. You know everything that goes on. You knew it was false yet did nothing to correct it. If that doesn't prove that you have your own personal ax to grind, then nothing does. Or, maybe you were actually not there at all and are just being "fed" I have heard from way more than 10 that they can't believe someone so 2 faced works among them. It appears to most there, that you are trying to help take down the ministry which in turn takes down their jobs. Good thing, that for now, you are anonymous because if the rest of the employees find out who you are, well, it won't be a pretty picture. People that thought you were a friend will feel betrayed and they will have been.
> Don't waste your emotions feeling sorry for me because If I belong to Danny's cult, then you belong to Linda's so are still, being manipulated,....wait...unless you are her, then you would be doing the manipulating. Either way you are in no better position than you say I am.

Bystander you sound a bit defensive and paranoid... please share with us more truth, it will set you and us free....and the hostility towards HOTY and Sonshine.... frustrated that they don't seem to believe your version of the truth?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 09:48 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:33 PM)
>
> tell us more... interesting... people are manipulated and don't know it.... and you believe you are here to free us from the manipulation? By all means.... if you would could you address Mr. Shelton's first contact with bsda, the one in which he indicated that he loved Linda and that they had been counseled for hours.... except, they hadn't been counseled for hours and it wasn't long after that statement that we learned of the Guam excursion.....

Wrong on several counts, as usual. They can produce signed documents, if need be, from pastors who counseled with them. They can produce receipts from proffessional counselors they went to see out of state.

Let me correct the guam statement once and for all. THERE WAS NO EXCURSION TO GUAM. It was all done by mail with Lindas signature in agreement. That can also be produced, if need be. How many times can I count on previous posts about danny's quickie little trip to guam and again, that is totally false.
How many more things will have to be shown (many of these things you can look at yourself if you know where to go) before you can see that somebody has been very busy telling tales out of school and you have all been a part of it.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:44 PM)
>
> Bystander you sound a bit defensive and paranoid... please share with us more truth, it will set you and us free....and the hostility towards HOTY and Sonshine.... frustrated that they don't seem to believe your version of the truth?

Not frustrated, sad for them. Really, nobody is any more defensive than you. The only frustration comes from thinking that it would take a year to straighten out all the false tales that have been told here. Whether purposely or not, I don't know but I know I and others don't have time to put a year into it. That is where the frustration comes in.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> Wrong on several counts, as usual. They can produce signed documents, if need be, from pastors who counseled with them. They can produce receipts from proffessional counselors they went to see out of state.
>
> Let me correct the guam statement once and for all. THERE WAS NO EXCURSION TO GUAM. It was all done by mail with Lindas signature in agreement. That can also be produced, if need be. How many times can I count on previous posts about danny's quickie little trip to guam and again, that is totally false.
> How many more things will have to be shown (many of these things you can look at yourself if you know where to go) before you can see that somebody has been very busy telling tales out of school and you have all been a part of it.

they can? anyone can forge a document, you know for a fact that there was counseling? You were bystanding there when these sessions occurred?.... professional is spelled with one f by the way.... of course as you pointed out they cant be produced here because no one here would believe... please continue to share more... this is quite interesting.... why would a christian man seek a divorce in Guam?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:48 PM) ☐
>
> Not frustrated, sad for them. Really, nobody is any more defensive than you. The only frustration comes from thinking that it would take a year to straighten out all the false tales that have been told here. Whether purposely or not, I don't know but I know I and others don't have time to put a year into it. That is where the frustration comes in.

I am not defensive... see I don't have to worry about my wife getting a quick divorce in Guam and marrying someone 20 yrs younger than she is... the false tales that have been told? You mean you believe that Danny is telling the whole truth? Let's see, was Danny telling the truth about his brother Tommy?

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 10:09 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 8 2007, 05:48 AM) ☐
>
> - - - They can produce signed documents, if need be, from pastors who counseled with them. They can produce receipts from proffessional counselors they went to see out of state.
>
> - - -

Bystander, do you realize that the cousellor Mr. Danny Shelton has referred to as his greatest witness as having counselled Linda, called me recently. When I mentioned this fact to him, he told me that he had never had a real counselling session with Linda.

Tell me, Bystander, who is your source? Can you believe he is telling you the truth when the star counsellor denies he ever had any such counselling session? That same counsellor has also stated he is convinced that Linda is innocent of Danny's accusations. Do you doubt this man's integrity?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:50 PM) ☐
>
> As I read those words aloud and a nice little beat started to come into my mind. If you don't mind maybe I will make a little rap out of them.......

If I dont mind? Well, as a matter of fact, I DO mind.

I was wondering how much longer before you resorted to racial stereotypes...and let your white sheet show. You gonna put on blackface too since you are looking to be as offensive as possible?

It is shameful on your part that your knowledge and understanding of african-americans is so limited that you would think yourself amusing by resorting to such ignorant stereotypes. Is this how you think you are 'communicating'? What's next? Offering me chicken and watermelon?

And just so you know... we don't all live in the ghetto, receiving welfare checks, listening to rap music and drinking malt liquor. We don't all have criminal records and we're all not under or unemployed. Many of the people you are dealing with here have better education and income than you have ever thought of having... had higher test scores and higher GPAs and have had more professional accomplishment than you... and you, knowing you cannot compete, this is what you throw out.

Yes, I mind. And you should be ashamed of yourself.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 11:05 PM

Bystander, now why would we want that? We were here a long time before you got here. In fact Danny came here before you got here. Did I not wish you a Happy Sabbath and invite you to the SS lesson study. That was no empty invitation,you were, indeed welcome. I keep telling you we know how to diagree without becoming enemies. You can stay, long as you follow the rules.....

Now, we do asked, however, that you do watch yourself, this still is BlackSDA. You gots to leave them little comments for somewhere else. Afterall, we(SDAs) ain't supposed to have those racial issues, right?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 06:54 PM)
>
> Actually, it is, by the outcry that I have heard from other Adventist. C'mon you guys just want to get us off of here so your own little group can continue to spin your tales to each other with no distractions.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 7 2007, 09:52 PM)
>
> Danny should have been a man from jump and let it go. To slander his ex-wife's name makes him look stankier and stankier. Normally the hen that cackles the loudest is the one that laid the egg...and in this case Danny is cackling, crowing, pecking, screaming, bellowing, spittin, and yellin'...all of which makes him look stankier and stankier.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:59 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:27 PM)
>
> Out of what 16 million adventists around the world (and 3abn reaches the biggest portion of it)

Just a minor little correction: 3abn's potential reach is almost as great as the number of Adventists around the world.

Fact is that 3ABN does not actually reach that many people. Just because a satellite beam could potentially reach people doesn't mean that it does reach those people.

I really don't have the figures, but I know for sure that your statement is highly exaggerated -- like most of your statements and those of Dan Shelton.

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 12:12 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 8 2007, 07:59 AM)
>
> Just a minor little correction: 3abn's potential reach is almost as great as the number of Adventists around the world.
>
> Fact is that 3ABN *does not actually reach that many people. Just because a satellite beam could potentially reach people doesn't mean that it does reach those people.
>
> I really don't have the figures, but I know for sure that your statement is highly exaggerated -- like most of your statements and those of Dan Shelton.

And I know that more and more Adventists are tuning in on HOPE, the official TV channel of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. There was a reason why the Church no longer could depend on 3ABN to bring the message to the World.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 09:09 AM

I go back to this first letter:

> QUOTE
>
> Hi, my name is Danny Shelton and I work for 3ABN. It's not a credit your Black SDA that it appears to be nothing more than a tabloid gossip page.
> Not one of the people that I could see commenting have even attempted to contact me, that I know of, about all the things they are judging me of.
> You do have some people in the "know" that you could find out some info from if it means that much to you. Pastor John Lomacang has spent many hours counseling with Linda and me and even made some recommendations to the board about our situation which the 3ABN board took very seriously.
> As of late Pastor Mark Finley has counseled with both Linda and Me. He agrees with the decision the board has taken on this issue and so does Pastor John. Several others have also counseled us and all agree with the board's action.
> Paula and Curtis have indeed been back to do more programming without me or Linda. Their program stands on it's own.
> No one has been hurt like Linda and me have been through this whole situation. We still love each > other and spend considerable time together..... snip.....

Mr. Shelton indicated that Lomacang and also Mark Finley counseled them... there is no indication that his ever happened... He stated that they loved each other except his actions suggested otherwise... Likewise there is no indication that they spent time together working on their relationship....

Again I will say it, men in love do not attempt to get a divorce as quickly as possible.... not any men hat I know of....

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 09:44 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 05:09 PM) ☐
>
> - - -
>
> Again I will say it, men in love do not attempt to get a divorce as quickly as possible.... not any men that I know of....

Neither do they spend fortunes on private investigators to have them issue false reports on what the wife is doing so they can get this divorce as quickly as possible. Nor do they threaten to have the police incarcerate witnesses who appear to exonerate the wife.

There are too many questionable dispositions to clear Danny Shelton of strong suspicions that he did not want to save his marriage at all.

Posted by: Denny Feb 8 2007, 10:23 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 03:09 PM) ☐
>
> I go back to this first letter:
> Mr. Shelton indicated that Lomacang and also Mark Finley counseled them... there is no indication that this ever happened... He stated that they loved each other except his actions suggested otherwise... Likewise there is no indication that they spent time together working on their relationship....
>
> Again I will say it, men in love do not attempt to get a divorce as quickly as possible.... not any men that I know of....

but men in love with the new Mrs waiting in the wings do.......

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 10:31 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Feb 8 2007, 06:23 PM) ☐

> but men in love with the new Mrs waiting in the wings do.......

hank you Denny. During the Second World War we tuned our radio in on London. From there we lways heard the truth of what was going on.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 8 2007, 05:42 PM

I am presently watching the news on NBC and Brian Williams' conversation with Tim Russert concerning his being on the witness stand today in the Libby trial.

Two wise things were said by Tim following his statements of what he could report from his testimony today.

1. He gave a quote from Lyndon Johnson that we probably have all heard but I will paraphrase here....

It is easier to throw grenades than catch them......

2. Tim said he learned a lesson in the 7th grade and that is:

if you tell just one story you don't need to worry.........

nw

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 8 2007, 11:08 PM

One mo gen......

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 7 2007, 10:52 PM) ☐
>
> I'm quick to tell the kids that I work with:
>
> ahem
>
> "You tell the truth one time. That's all you have to do. Eventually the lie will come out in the wash. Someone wants to lie on you and spread rumors. You tell the people that matter one time..... it's not true. You show your proof that it's not true and you drop it. The people that keep the mess going will be found out to be a lie ...eventually...and when it does happen - their shot for life. Trust me...."
>
> It's refreshing to see kids actually work this in the day treatment/inpatient wards and it actually works as the rumor mill dies and people find something new to talk about.
>
> Fact of the matter is - with all the "evidence" that exists about Linda - I ain't seen a thang...but yet there is bit after bit coming out about Danny, Tommy, and the "dirty deeds" that have been done in the background. If evidence exists against Linda - by all means Danny should have been a man from jump and let it go. To slander his ex-wife's name makes him look stankier and stankier. Normally the hen that cackles the loudest is the one that laid the egg...and in this case Danny is cackling, crowing, pecking, screaming, bellowing, spittin, and yellin'...all of which makes him look stankier and stankier.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 11:35 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 09:09 AM) ☐
>
> Again I will say it, men in love do not attempt to get a divorce as quickly as possible.... not any men that I know of....

Easy to solve. Ask Mark Finley if he counseled her on the phone 3 different times and what was said. He is willing to make that statement or sign a document saying so. Read my other post in corporate worship. It will fill in the details. THERE ARE RECEIPTS for 8 hours of out of state counseling with 2 christian counselors that are not adventist to the best of my understanding.
John Lomacang will also testify or sign a sworn statement on the counseling he did with them. Why would a man who loved his wife hire PI's to follow her. One that knew what she was doing while they were still married and who would have still, forgiven, and reconciled even after seeing the evidence but she was not willing. That being the case, he was I guess, glad, if you can use that word that he had proof because of the people like you that would never believe she was capable of such a thing.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 8 2007, 05:42 PM) ☐
>
> 1. He gave a quote from Lyndon Johnson that we probably have all heard but I will paraphrase here....
>
> It is easier to throw grenades than catch them......
>
> 2. Tim said he learned a lesson in the 7th grade and that is:
>
> if you tell just one story you don't need to worry.........
>
> nw

NW, see my last post here and my post in corporate worship. You see, they have tried to keep quiet. They have tried not to start nameing names and dates. They have tried not to talk about evidence they have. But people here on this forum and a couple of other places on the net, have gossiped, ridiculed and demanded proof of the allegations against Linda. Not only that but several on the net are responsible for calling/mailing out slanderous accusations against 3ABN. They encourage people not to support by "sharing" their rumor and character slander with absolutely no proof of the things they are accusing of. Some things have had to be posted that they would rather not have discussed but when all of these false allegations are beginning to hurt the cause of Christ, they have no choice but to defend themselves. Whether than means providing the evidence to prove the reasons for the divorce and dismissal, or filing suit for defamation of character with no evidence to back it up, they will do it. How can you blame them? Don't you think they would love to just "tell one story" and then not have to worry? But they can't. You won't let them.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 9 2007, 12:16 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 12:47 AM) ☐
>
> NW, see my last post here and my post in corporate worship. You see, they have tried to keep quiet. They have tried not to start nameing names and dates. They have tried not to talk about evidence they have. But people here on this forum and a couple of other places on the net, have gossiped, ridiculed and demanded proof of the allegations against Linda. Not only that but several on the net are responsible for calling/mailing out slanderous accusations against 3ABN. They encourage people not to support by "sharing" their rumor and character slander with absolutely no proof of the things they are accusing of. Some things have had to be posted that they would rather not have discussed but when all of these false allegations are beginning to hurt the cause of Christ, they have no choice but to defend themselves. Whether than means providing the evidence to prove the reasons for the divorce and dismissal, or filing suit for defamation of character with no evidence to back it up, they will do it. How can you blame them? Don't you think they would love to just "tell one story" and then not have to worry? But they can't. You won't let them.

You are worse than the Bush administration. It's always anybody's fault but yours Danny... and no, I'm not buying these attempts to speak in the 3rd person...as if the people responding to these posts are doing it without being directed... and neither is anyone else. You will see this and tell whichever minion is hiding behind this screen name what to say in response... so I will just cut out the middle man...

If you had

> [A)] not tried to make Linda wear a scarlet letter before 3ABN's donors in an attempt to make sure donations continued after she was pushed out and
>
> [B)] not tried to convince the world of her guilt so your relationship with Brandi would appear to be legit or
>
> [C)] not continued to treat Linda and anyone who appeared sympathetic to her in the most unChristian manner possible or
>
> [D)] not shown up here telling lies to cover the lies you already told when you claimed to be trying to save your marriage even as you were filing for divorce or
>
> [E)] roll your lackeys in here in shifts pretending to be unaffiliated yet concerned viewers and supporters of 3ABN and failing miserably to pull it off... showing up claiming to be seeking truth and only spreading more lies... and the sad part is just as those who the Sanhedrin tried to get to lie about Jesus... the lies dont even match up...

AND had just told the truth from the beginning...

THEN you'd have had nothing to worry about...

so if you need to point fingers... find the nearest mirror.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: wwjd Feb 9 2007, 12:49 AM

In His service,
Mr. J
[/quote]
I am NOT Danny. But go ahead and make your accusations, you have made many. There have been several posts yesterday and this evening by me with dates, names and papers that can be verified. Put them all together and someone has not been telling the truth. Hence, the origination of your accusations. As arrogant as you are mr. J. even you need to come down off of your throne and look at the facts. I will challenge, dare or even beg you to make phone calls to verify some of this. Even though you always think you are several steps above the rest of us, I don't think even you, would call Mark Finley a liar. Even you couldn't refute receipts and paper trails. Even you can't refute sworn testimonies. You can try, but it won't fly.

On the other hand mr. in love with himself, I nor anyone else has seen one shred of evidence from you to prove any of your allegations. All I have seen from you is a big ugly mouth repeating all the gossip and rumors you have heard here. Where is your proof, evidence, dates, verifiable facts ect ect.
I am sorry but all of your posts wreak with envy. It is beyond your comprehension how someone uneducated like Danny could be president of a world wide tv ministry when someone as knowledgeable and learned as you, is not. The only thing you can do is make allegations that he is there because of wrong doing. Do you think (obviously you do) that you, mr. j know more than asi, the board, the counselors, that did indeed counsel LInda, ASI, the pastors, Mark F, Doug B, David A., Wintley Phipps. and a host of other people that defend and stay with 3abn because they "do know" the "real truth". If you really believe that you know more than they do about the situation, if you really believe that you are smart than them, then you are far worse off than I could have imagined.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 12:55 AM

WWJD go to bed!!! It's late where you are.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 01:41 AM

QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 11:49 PM)

> In His service,
> Mr. J
>
> I am NOT Danny. But go ahead and make your accusations, you have made many. There have been several posts yesterday and this evening by me with dates, names and papers that can be verified. Put them all together and someone has not been telling the truth. Hence, the origination of your accusations. As arrogant as you are mr. J. even you need to come down off of your throne and look at the facts. I will challenge, dare or even beg you to make phone calls to verify some of this. Even though you always think you are several steps above the rest of us, I don't think even you, would call Mark Finley a liar. Even you couldn't refute receipts and paper trails. Even you can't refute sworn testimonies. You can try, but it won't fly.
>
> On the other hand mr. in love with himself, I nor anyone else has seen one shred of evidence from you to prove any of your allegations. All I have seen from you is a big ugly mouth repeating all the gossip and rumors you have heard here. Where is your proof, evidence, dates, verifiable facts ect ect.
> I am sorry but all of your posts wreak with envy. It is beyond your comprehension how someone uneducated like Danny could be president of a world wide tv ministry when someone as knowledgeable and learned as you, is not. The only thing you can do is make allegations that he is there because of wrong doing. Do you think (obviously you do) that you, mr. j know more than asi, > the board, the counselors, that did indeed counsel LInda, ASI, the pastors, Mark F, Doug B, David A., Wintley Phipps. and a host of other people that defend and stay with 3abn because they "do know" the "real truth". If you really believe that you know more than they do about the situation, if you really believe that you are smart than them, then you are far worse off than I could have imagined.

VWJD, You say you have proof. Then why don't you show Pickle or Greg, they are representing Linda nd I would take their word for the truth. That way you can spare Linda as you say you want to.

hat would not clear Tommy or DS covering for him.

Posted by: sister Feb 9 2007, 07:53 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 12:35 AM)
>
> Easy to solve. Ask Mark Finley if he counseled her on the phone 3 different times and what was said. He is willing to make that statement or sign a document saying so. Read my other post in corporate worship. It will fill in the details. THERE ARE RECEIPTS for 8 hours of out of state counseling with 2 christian counselors that are not adventist to the best of my understanding.
> John Lomacang will also testify or sign a sworn statement on the counseling he did with them. Why would a man who loved his wife hire PI's to follow her. One that knew what she was doing while they were still married and who would have still, forgiven, and reconciled even after seeing the evidence but she was not willing. That being the case, he was I guess, glad, if you can use that word that he had proof because of the people like you that would never believe she was capable of such a thing.

VWJD, you are the one making the claim that Mark Finley counseled Linda, by telephone, on 3 eparate occasions. You are the one who claims Mark Finley is willing to sign a document attesting to he facts of your claim. SO, it is upon you, not the readers here, to do the leg work and contact ark Finley. Since you now claim you can produce evidence, produce this evidence: a signed, otarized statement from Mark Finley attesting to your claims and mail it to Calvin and then post it ere. Until you have done that you have no credibility here and your claims of "evidence" are nothing ore than dust in the wind---no substance. We are all waiting, but I am sure no one is holding their reath. Let's make this a test of your credibility, if you can produce this evidence I for one am willing o listen to you, if not, are you willing to be banned from BSDA for all the slander and false ccusations you have made against Linda Shelton. Are sure enough of your "evidence" to take this hallenge? Are you a Christian who stands with your witness or merely a minion of Danny Shelton, ent here to do his bidding?

ister

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 9 2007, 10:58 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:39 PM)
>
> Hoty, why didn't you dispute those ,that told, that Danny said he was "going after" Linda and her supporters. Surely you were there. You know everything that goes on. You knew it was false yet did nothing to correct it. If that doesn't prove that you have your own personal ax to grind, then nothing does. Or, maybe you were actually not there at all and are just being "fed" I have heard from way more than 10 that they can't believe someone so 2 faced works among them. It appears to most there, that you are trying to help take down the ministry which in turn takes down their jobs. Good thing, that for now, you are anonymous because if the rest of the employees find out who you are, well, it won't be a pretty picture. People that thought you were a friend will feel betrayed and they will have been.

Did you happen to be at that farce of a worship, because I was. Stood there and prayed the whole time because I knew that Satan was at work, but it was THROUGH and not AGAINST a select few in attendance. For a man to take his personal agenda, one that many in that circle knew nothing about, and plaster it all over company worship was disgusting at best and possibly even sacrilegious!

I don't know how many times I have to say that I am not trying to bring down 3ABN. And the assumption that if DS goes down, 3ABN will go with him is ridiculous. DS is not 3ABN. 3ABN is not DS.

If you are concerned about people talking, I think you should start with administration. THEY are the ones with the information. DS blabs everything he knows, and it's to the people closest to him, not the lowest in the group.

Exactly how do you think the emloyees will feel about DS when many of the accusations are proven to be true?

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 11:30 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 9 2007, 10:58 AM)
>
> Did you happen to be at that farce of a worship, because I was. Stood there and prayed the whole time because I knew that Satan was at work, but it was THROUGH and not AGAINST a select few in attendance. For a man to take his personal agenda, one that many in that circle knew nothing about, and plaster it all over company worship was disgusting at best and possibly even sacrilegious!
>
> I don't know how many times I have to say that I am not trying to bring down 3ABN. And the assumption that if DS goes down, 3ABN will go with him is ridiculous. DS is not 3ABN. 3ABN is not DS.
>
> If you are concerned about people talking, I think you should start with administration. THEY are the ones with the information. DS blabs everything he knows, and it's to the people closest to him, not the lowest in the group.
>
> Exactly how do you think the emloyees will feel about DS when many of the accusations are proven to be true?

I can guess that if any of the accusations are true, then how could 3ABN exsist? I would say that it would be restructured from the ground up. According to this site. There is no one good, nothing good about 3ABN. So it will effect the little man all the way to the top, wouldn't you think? So there would not be the employees there that are there now!
Hiring new people, I mean if a person was to check into your back ground would it be clean as a whistle? So therefore who is worthy? I guess it would depend on who is restructuring the ministry to determine when and if God has forgiven. I don't want that job!!!

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 9 2007, 11:36 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 12:30 PM)
>
> I can guess that if any of the accusations are true, then how could 3ABN exsist? I would say that it would be restructured from the ground up. According to this site. There is no one good, nothing good about 3ABN. So it will effect the little man all the way to the top, wouldn't you think? So there would not be the employees there that are there now!
> Hiring new people, I mean if a person was to check into your back ground would it be clean as a whistle? So therefore who is worthy? I guess it would depend on who is restructuring the ministry to determine when and if God has forgiven. I don't want that job!!!

See, you're doing it again...this statement is a blatant untruth...several people have commented on the fact that they appreciate the message and mission of 3ABN, but have a problem with the self-appointed messenger and his dispicable methods...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 9 2007, 11:43 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 12:30 PM)
>
> I can guess that if any of the accusations are true, then how could 3ABN exsist? I would say that it would be restructured from the ground up. According to this site. There is no one good, nothing good about 3ABN. So it will effect the little man all the way to the top, wouldn't you think? So there would not be the employees there that are there now!
> Hiring new people, I mean if a person was to check into your back ground would it be clean as a whistle? So therefore who is worthy? I guess it would depend on who is restructuring the ministry to determine when and if God has forgiven. I don't want that job!!!

First, welcome to BSDA. I know when I happened on this site that I looked at it and then didn't for about 6 months because I just couldn't bring myself to get involved. I guess I didn't really want to know...

Please forgive me if I sound rude, but you cannot honestly believe that organizations that function can not have serious matters going on in the background, right? How many times has it been shown to be the opposite. Think of Jim Jones, Enron, Watergate...there's a whole list out there. The only difference is that someone exposed these organizations to the world, while it hasn't happened for 3ABN on the same scale.

Please read the information presented here. It will take several weeks to get through it all, but I think it's necessary for anyone that begins their search here, that is, if that's what their purpose is.

(BTW, yes, my background is "clean as a whistle.")

HOTY

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 12:27 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:30 AM) ☐
>
> I can guess that if any of the accusations are true, then how could 3ABN exsist? I would say that it would be restructured from the ground up. According to this site. There is no one good, nothing good about 3ABN. So it will effect the little man all the way to the top, wouldn't you think? So there would not be the employees there that are there now!
> Hiring new people, I mean if a person was to check into your back ground would it be clean as a whistle? So therefore who is worthy? I guess it would depend on who is restructuring the ministry to determine when and if God has forgiven. I don't want that job!!!

of course you are here to tell us that there is much good at 3ab.... I think you are intimately involved with Danny, how long has this been going on?

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 12:44 PM

Re: "I can guess that if any of the accusations are true, then how could 3ABN exsist? I would say that it would be restructured from the ground up. According to this site. There is no one good, nothing good about 3ABN. So it will effect the little man all the way to the top, wouldn't you think? So there would not be the employees there that are there now! "

False. such would not be required.

If 3-ABN were to be restructured, it would require a major change in management. That is all.

When you restructure a secular business, you change management. You do not chnge the so called "little guy."

Sometimes that change only requires a change in CEO. Sometimes it requires changes in the Executive Board. Sometimes it requires further management changes. There is no one set pattern. But, it seldom goes down the ladder any further.

Yes, if 3-ABN were to be restructured, the majority of employees would be able to continue on as employees, if they wished to do so. Some might wish to leave. But, that would be their choice.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 02:36 PM

wwjd, personal aatacks are not allowed. Now I read Awsumtenors post and then read yours. Awsumtenor is expressing diagreement with the information you put forth, in great detail. You are attacking him as a peson in the bolded statements below. This is your last warning, and that goes for anywhere on this site. You will be suspended permanently without further notice**

Now, with that out of the way, my response to your post is that it is your proof. youa re the one maintaining Linda had counseling, etc. You need to bring it. Everyone else who made accusations brought proof with them. Examples: 1)It was said they had Linda to sign a gag order and she was cheated, the order was posted for all to see and decide for themselves. It was true. 2) It was said that Tommy Shelton was removed from pastoring because of inappropriate advance toward boys. The letters from the Church of God, and victims, their mothers were posted for all to see for them selves.

You cna't just come up here and claim somthing and then make everybody to looking to verify your claims. Bring it yourself!

One other thing. At anytime, anyone of these individuals you mentioned could have come here and spoken their piece, still can. Theirs will be added anw eighed witht he rest of the evidence. You have the mis understood that everyone here only wants evidence that would exonerate Linda that is not true. Plus, I dont' see why Danny would hold anything back see as he is still taking about it to this day, making snide remarks, etc. Going around atalking about she was seduced by the Dr. is not sparing anything. He got proof, bring it!

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 10:49 PM) ☐
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J
>
> I am NOT Danny. But go ahead and make your accusations, you have made many. There have been several posts yesterday and this evening by me with dates, names and papers that can be verified. Put them all together and someone has not been telling the truth. Hence, the origination of your accusations. As arrogant as you are mr. J. even you need to come down off of your throne and look at the facts. I will challenge, dare or even beg you to make phone calls to verify some of this. Even though you always think you are several steps above the rest of us, I don't think even you, would call Mark Finley a liar. Even you couldn't refute receipts and paper trails. Even you can't refute sworn testimonies. You can try, but it won't fly.
>
> On the other hand mr. in love with himself, I nor anyone else has seen one shred of evidence from you to prove any of your allegations. All I have seen from you is a big ugly mouth repeating all the gossip and rumors you have heard here. Where is your proof, evidence, dates, verifiable facts ect ect.
> I am sorry but all of your posts wreak with envy. It is beyond your comprehension how someone uneducated like Danny could be president of a world wide tv ministry when someone as knowledgeable and learned as you, is not. The only thing you can do is make allegations that he is there because of wrong doing. Do you think (obviously you do) that you, mr. j know more than asi, the board, the counselors, that did indeed counsel LInda, ASI, the pastors, Mark F, Doug B, David A., Wintley Phipps. and a host of other people that defend and stay with 3abn because they "do know" the "real truth". If you really believe that you know more than they do about the situation, if you really believe that you are smart than them, then you are far worse off than I could have imagined.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 9 2007, 02:46 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 01:49 AM) ☐

> In His service,
> Mr. J
>
> I am NOT Danny. But go ahead and make your accusations, you have made many. There have been several posts yesterday and this evening by me with dates, names and papers that can be verified. Put them all together and someone has not been telling the truth. Hence, the origination of your accusations. As arrogant as you are mr. J. even you need to come down off of your throne and look at the facts. I will challenge, dare or even beg you to make phone calls to verify some of this. Even though you always think you are several steps above the rest of us, I don't think even you, would call Mark Finley a liar. Even you couldn't refute receipts and paper trails. Even you can't refute sworn testimonies. You can try, but it won't fly.
>
> On the other hand mr. in love with himself, I nor anyone else has seen one shred of evidence from you to prove any of your allegations. All I have seen from you is a big ugly mouth repeating all the gossip and rumors you have heard here. Where is your proof, evidence, dates, verifiable facts ect ect.
> I am sorry but all of your posts wreak with envy. It is beyond your comprehension how someone uneducated like Danny could be president of a world wide tv ministry when someone as knowledgeable and learned as you, is not. The only thing you can do is make allegations that he is there because of wrong doing. Do you think (obviously you do) that you, mr. j know more than asi, the board, the counselors, that did indeed counsel LInda, ASI, the pastors, Mark F, Doug B, David A., Wintley Phipps. and a host of other people that defend and stay with 3abn because they "do know" the "real truth". If you really believe that you know more than they do about the situation, if you really believe that you are smart than them, then you are far worse off than I could have imagined.

I know one thing for sure...this is not what Jesus would do...

Posted by: simplysaved Feb 9 2007, 02:51 PM

Good question...is it being indirectly being suggested that Whitley Phipps and Mark Finley are co-conspirators and covering up something?

Posted by: LadyTenor Feb 9 2007, 03:04 PM

I see folks can't hang with the discussions here because failing to proving the veracity of one's statements is frowned upon....so they resort to the easier road, personal attacks!

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 03:21 PM

Not a good, question, Sarah. Go back and read. Wwjd is sugesting that these people are ready to make statement tot he fact that Linda was given counseling before the end of her marriage. They are in progress now of trying to get said statement from Mark Finley. No one is suggesting that any of them are co-conspirators to anything, In fact it is quite the opposite. These men are well respected and a word from them might shed some light on this. Wwjd is claiming they are willing to make the statements, and he is being told to bring it! Simple as that! I know you don't post or even keep up in this area. Please read everything in order to get a good understanding before posting here again.

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Feb 9 2007, 12:51 PM) ☐
>
> Good question...is it being indirectly being suggested that Whitley Phipps and Mark Finley are co-conspirators and covering up something?

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 03:24 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Feb 9 2007, 03:51 PM) ☐
>
> Good question...is it being indirectly being suggested that Whitley Phipps and Mark Finley are co-conspirators and covering up something?

No one who has been critical of 3ABN administration has suggested such a thing.

However, some defending 3ABN have falsely suggested that those criticizing current admnistration are implicating Wintley Phipps and Mark Finley as well!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 9 2007, 10:05 PM

☒ sn

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 11 2007, 05:40 AM

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ May 7 2006, 11:09 AM) ☐
>
> Exactly why these threads are tired...when Clay started this one, I didn't realize it would become yet another 3ABN thread, but it has...I will not be revisiting this thread...I will leave it where I left all the other 3ABN threads...in the trash...
>
> ...I'm sure someone will respond to my somewhat harsh response, but I regret that I won't see it, since this is my last time looking at ANY 3ABN thread on this site...there are more interesting threads to follow up on...

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Feb 9 2007, 03:04 PM) ☐
>
> I see folks can't hang with the discussions here because failing to proving the veracity of one's statements is frowned upon....so they resort to the easier road, personal attacks!

Clay? rofl Is this... ...tiresome?

Naw...it's just gir che right? rofl (You know, every woman has the right to change her mind...)

LadyTenor, please accept my apologies for laughing, it's just....ouch! tom Hey! sofa1.gif

---

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Feb 11 2007, 05:56 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 9 2007, 10:05 PM)
>
> sna

im back with you on these threads...back to...um... sna lurkin

---

Posted by: Grace Feb 11 2007, 07:03 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 10:24 PM)
>
> No one who has been critical of 3ABN administration has suggested such a thing.
>
> However, some defending 3ABN have falsely suggested that those criticizing current admnistration are implicating Wintley Phipps and Mark Finley as well!

"Some" defending Danny have all the same technique: falsely suggesting that we have said things agains honest people that we haven't said nor implied. notworkir

"Tiresome they are"...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:34 PM

Tiresome, very much so.

36

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3ABN Viewing

Posted by: wesleysimpson Aug 20 2004, 01:18 PM

Just interested...I have never looked at it very much at all....Did you guys ever look at it much?

Posted by: medzi Aug 20 2004, 02:13 PM

I've seen a seminar, a concert, and a cooking show.

Posted by: mema Aug 20 2004, 02:40 PM

I have yet to watch it.

Posted by: zaklynn Aug 20 2004, 02:44 PM

No.

Posted by: pkwfireteacher Aug 20 2004, 03:53 PM

QUOTE (wesleysimpson @ Aug 20 2004, 01:18 PM)

> Just interested...I have never looked at it very much at all....Did you guys ever look at it much?

I'm sorry to say that I've maybe watched about 30 minutes of TBN since it's been on the air. To me TBN looks to European. I've seen a couple of brown faces every now and then. But I've seen more people of color on the reruns of the old Lawrence Welk Hour.

PKW

Posted by: mema Aug 20 2004, 03:54 PM

QUOTE (pkwfireteacher @ Aug 20 2004, 03:53 PM)

> I'm sorry to say that I've maybe watched about 30 minutes of TBN since it's been on the air. To me TBN looks to European. I've seen a couple of brown faces every now and then. But I've seen more people of color on the reruns of the old Lawrence Welk Hour.
>
> PKW

You are so out there.....missed you out here earlier.

Posted by: tarduke Aug 20 2004, 04:09 PM

Yes I do. Channel 9711 on Sky Angel.

Posted by: wesleysimpson Aug 20 2004, 04:52 PM

QUOTE (pkwfireteacher @ Aug 20 2004, 03:53 PM)

> I'm sorry to say that I've maybe watched about 30 minutes of TBN since it's been on the air. To me TBN looks to European. I've seen a couple of brown faces every now and then. But I've seen more people of color on the reruns of the old Lawrence Welk Hour.
>
> PKW

you talking about 3ABN or TBN...

I must admit that I have seen a lot more TBN than 3ABN...mostly Jakes, Long, Patterson, and the like...

I hear you on the Euro-thing...

Posted by: zwxphtt Aug 20 2004, 05:21 PM

I've watched hundreds of hours of 3ABN..you guys are missing some great sermons. I must admit it is not the only thing I watch since I also really enjoy LLBN.

Posted by: wesleysimpson Aug 20 2004, 05:30 PM

QUOTE (zwxphtt @ Aug 20 2004, 05:21 PM)

> I've watched hundreds of hours of 3ABN..you guys are missing some great sermons. I must admit it is not the only thing I watch since I also really enjoy LLBN.

LLBN?

What's that?

Posted by: claborn Aug 20 2004, 09:55 PM

I am not a 3ABN watcher.... seems to be something cultish about the viewers.... everyone walking around quoting what they saw on 3ABN..... scary.....

Posted by: calvin Aug 20 2004, 10:33 PM

I watch it for more than a hour each week, But not much more than that, usually on Sabbath and more in the Winter than Summer. To busy talking to you folks on BSDA and golfing to spend much time on 3ABN.

Posted by: kountzer Aug 21 2004, 06:32 AM

I watch 3 to 5 hours a week. I find the sermons to be great and on point. It's a lot better than the go around in circles, 'grass is always greener' mess that you get here. As for the euro look, if black folks want to be seen they need to make it happen. BOL has to rebroadcast the same shows over and over and over because no one will support them. I've donated to 3ABN and to other independent ministries. I wouldn't give a dime for this.

DB

Posted by: Prisca Aug 21 2004, 06:47 AM

I watched it more when Linda was there, I admit. I like some of the programming, not everything. The ethnic thing has bothered me as well. Calvin's brother and sister in law have a cooking show on it and that's good. Marriage Matters is also quite good. There are also others that are interesting and good. Since the inception of Safe TV I've found some more good programs so I switch back and forth usually. I like the re-re-runs of Breath of Life on that channel and the early Sabbath School lesson review. Now with the addition of Hope TV, I'm sure much of the viewing habits of those that watch will change.

Priscilla

Posted by: kountzer Aug 21 2004, 07:48 AM

I can turn on the TV to a religious station and sometimes a secular station (I like the way I am using the word secular, btw, bump what darius says to the contrary) and see black preaching: td jakes, iv hilliard, glen plummer, etc. The list goes on and on. Some of it is okay, but most of it is untimely gibberish.
Now, try turning on the tv and seeing black sda preaching. The only place I've seen it is on 3ABN. I've seen more black sda ministers, artists and health advocates like the Eakins than I've seen anywhere else. I may eventually hook up with the hope channel or llbn. Guess what? The euros dominate those networks also.

DB

Posted by: mrsljosey Aug 21 2004, 08:09 AM

Our cable carrier does not provide 3ABN telecasts.

Posted by: pkwfireteacher Aug 21 2004, 08:47 AM

QUOTE (Prisca @ Aug 21 2004, 06:47 AM)

> I watched it more when Linda was there, I admit. I like some of the programming, not everything. The ethnic thing has bothered me as well. Calvin's brother and sister in law have a cooking show on it and that's good. Marriage Matters is also quite good. There are also others that are interesting and good. Since the inception of Safe TV I've found some more good > programs so I switch back and forth usually. I like the re-re-runs of Breath of Life on that channel and the early Sabbath School lesson review. Now with the addition of Hope TV, I'm sure much of the viewing habits of those that watch will change.

>
> Priscilla

Wait a minute! I've seen that guy and his wife. Is he Calvin Eakins brother? WHAT? No way!!! You wait until I see Brother Eakins at church today. Well I'll be....

PKW

Posted by: alramwill Aug 21 2004, 02:05 PM

Never seen it. Probably can't afford it if I wanted to...

Posted by: Prisca Aug 21 2004, 04:45 PM

But it's online! Lots of folks just tune up to www.3abn.org and choose the right clinking places...then voila'!

Priscilla

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Aug 21 2004, 04:45 PM)
>
> But it's online! Lots of folks just tune up to www.3abn.org and choose the right clinking places...then voila'!
>
> Priscilla

I watch 3ABN also, TV and on the Web. The programing is great! I guess not many people respond to this topic but they should. Yea 3ABN, its been a plus for me.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 06:59 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> I watch 3ABN also, TV and on the Web. The programing is great! I guess not many people respond to this topic but they should. Yea 3ABN, its been a plus for me.

the programming is great in your opinion.... my opinion hasn't changed about 3abn didn't watch it before, don't watch it now... and there remains a cultish vibe about it.... some people still walking around talking about 3abn said this and 3abn said that....

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 07:03 PM

...and that cultish thing has really gotten scary with this blind faith in Danny, and the fact that the "word" wont get out there without Dannya nd 3ABN------Spiritual adultery! And it worked with far too many!!

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 07:06 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 02:55 AM)
>
> I watch 3ABN also, TV and on the Web. The programing is great! I guess not many people respond to this topic but they should. Yea 3ABN, its been a plus for me.

Many of the same programs appear on HOPE. And here you find more of the official announcemetns of our own Seventh-day Adventist Church. I think there are at least as many etnic programs on HOPE as on 3ABN, but it is worth checking. You can see HOPE on the net too.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 07:08 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 8 2007, 07:03 PM)
>
> ...and that cultish thing has really gotten scary with this blind faith in Danny, and the fact that the "word" wont get out there without Dannya nd 3ABN------Spiritual adultery! And it worked with far too many!!

let me go "there...." I don't know of any black folks my age or in my age group who watch 3abn.... while I am sure there probably are some black folks who watch, I know none of my friends do... the programming may appeal to older conservative folks, black or white, but I am not in that demographic....

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 07:23 PM

I used to watch 3ABN a lot when it was on SkyAngel. The programs with Arlene Taylor and the ones with Dr Bernell Baldwin on brain function and emotions were a great help to me. I watched them back in the 90's. When 3ABN was taken off SkyAngel, we didn't have it for several months until we got the smaller dish. I still enjoy 3ABN but I don't like to watch certain people on there. I enjoy the health and cooking programs, the sermons, the music. I like Hope and LLBN also but I think 3ABN has more interesting programming. Hope is catching up though:)

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 07:36 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 8 2007, 08:03 PM)
>
> ...and that cultish thing has really gotten scary with this blind faith in Danny, and the fact that the

> "word" wont get out there without Dannya nd 3ABN------

'ea, it's astonishing that so many will accept that the end justifies the means -- the "end" being that the message" is going out. I find it hard to comprehend that some folks would actually equate 3ABN vith the Three Angels' messages in Revelation!

Ve used to watch 3ABN some on Friday nights and Sabbath afternoons. I used to like "3ABN Presents" vhen Linda was there. They interviewed so many folks from different walks of life and different parts)f the country that it gave a kaleidoscopic picture of Adventism. That was interesting.

3ut I personally cannot stand to watch Danny. I never much liked him, but right now it makes me ill to ;ee him ...

I found it curious this Christmas when my 23yo daughter-in-law shared that she had only seen Dan 5helton on TV a couple of times but he gave her the creeps because he seemed to be giving out the vrong kind of vibes ... sexual ones ... And she knew nothing of current allegations.)

-lopeTV is much more sane.

> QUOTE(wesleysimpson @ Aug 20 2004, 06:30 PM)
>
> LLBN?
>
> What's that?

.oma Linda Broadcasting Network. It's available on the same dish as HopeTV and 3ABN.

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 07:56 PM

Started watching on and off back in 1989 but don't watch a lot any more I prefer hope but don't watch a lot of that either. 3abn has changed a lot over the last couple of years and seems to have a watered down messege, not sure what it is but it has a different feel to it and the cooking shows are not as good as they used to be. I did watch the other day where John Dinzy and his wife interviewed an old couple and thought they did a good job with it, they worked together as a team.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Feb 8 2007, 08:20 PM

I have watched 3abn usually when I am with my mother or back in the 90's with my inlaws. I think that 3abn appeals to older folks. Back in the 90's, I thought they had some very good speakers. Lately when I have seen it it seems there has been a change in what is being preached. At least some of the programs. I do not watch the show that Danny is in charge of. Is it something like 3abn live? I used to like the musical programs but they have changed too and I don't feel they are as uplifting as they used to be. I enjoy LLBN and the Hope channel. I really like the Sabbath afternoon musical programs from Loma Linda. I also like to hear the sermon from LL. On Friday evenings I like to listen to Doug Batchelor teach the S.S. lesson for the next day. I think these things are more relevant for my christian walk then listening to Danny especially with all that is happening at 3abn.

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 08:42 PM

I'm not sure what you mean by "older folk" but my adult children enjoy various aspects of 3ABN and they are 33, 30 and 38. I forgot to mention the mission programs--I enjoy then too. And I'm only 52. That's not old..........is it?

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 08:46 PM

> QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Feb 8 2007, 07:20 PM)
>
> I have watched 3abn usually when I am with my mother or back in the 90's with my inlaws. I think that 3abn appeals to older folks. Back in the 90's, I thought they had some very good speakers. Lately when I have seen it it seems there has been a change in what is being preached. At least some of the programs. I do not watch the show that Danny is in charge of. Is it something like 3abn live? I used to like the musical programs but they have changed too and I don't feel they are as uplifting as they used to be. I enjoy LLBN and the Hope channel. I really like the Sabbath afternoon musical programs from Loma Linda. I also like to hear the sermon from LL. On Friday evenings I like to listen to Doug Batchelor teach the S.S. lesson for the next day. I think these things are more relevant for my christian walk then listening to Danny especially with all that is happening at 3abn.

I don't know what it is either but something has changed on 3abn and I find myself watching Hope and LLBN. I like watching Cliff Goldstein on Hope and today they had Linda Caviness talking about the brain, it was very good.

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 08:57 PM

That's 33, 30 and 28, not 38!

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 09:23 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 8 2007, 07:57 PM)
>
> That's 33, 30 and 28, not 38!

I was wondering about that 38.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Feb 8 2007, 09:31 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 8 2007, 07:42 PM)
>
> I'm not sure what you mean by "older folk" but my adult children enjoy various aspects of 3ABN and they are 33, 30 and 38. I forgot to mention the mission programs--I enjoy then too. And I'm > only 52. That's not old..........is it?

)aylily, I am older than you and I meant Older than me. my mom will be 83 in a few days. My inlaws vere almost 90 and they watched 3abn constantly. I think it might have had something to do with the act they couldn't remember what they saw so they just kept watching the same things over and over.

just think that the people who have more time on their hands tend to watch more of 3abn than)eople who are busy doing other things.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 8 2007, 09:46 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 8 2007, 07:46 PM)
>
> I don't know what it is either but something has changed on 3abn and I find myself watching Hope and LLBN. I like watching Cliff Goldstein on Hope and today they had Linda Caviness talking about the brain, it was very good.

really love watching CLIFF! Both my wife and I watch Hopetv on the Internet. Just for relaxing music, ve enjoy http://www.hymnsandfavorites.com/ from Walla Walla.

Posted by: Skyhook Feb 8 2007, 09:59 PM

I have had the dish 2 years. I noticed right away that there was a problem with DS. He annoyed me right away when he "interviewed" people and hogged the conversation. It annoyed me that the camera showed his face most of the time even when there were others sitting there with him. Even when others were speaking the camera sometimes focused on Danny. The other thing I noticed was that he really had nothing of substance to say, but always babbled on.
Now I can hardly stand to even look at any of the regulars. I try to watch Doug Batchelor teach the SS lesson, and sometimes catch some good programs. Recently they had A. Leroy Moore on. That man has some valuable things to say, but the woman interviewing him kept cutting him off. I wanted to tell her to shut up and let him talk. Those people who do interviews ought to be required to watch some real pros. Larry King, for one. I don't know anything about TV production, but it appears to me that the camera work at 3abn is not very good.

I like to catch Ivor Myers. Steven Bohr is really good. I pick and choose. Hope has some good programs, but I can't for the life of me understand why they keep running that old Westbrook Hospital show. I also like Clifford Goldstein, and Don Schneider has been doing some good interviews.

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 8 2007, 10:10 PM

I was living in a high rise brick building for a long time so was not able to get the local antena 3ABN programing and was a studentso didn't get cable. Later I had cable and then was able to watch 3ABN. I was thrilled when GC was in their summer session and I got to see my youngest son play in an orchestra. He was attending AU at the time and had a chance to go to GC.

I used to watch my church service live on tv at the time. I worked evening shift and sometimes had a hard time getting up early for SS and Church service. Within the last 5-6 years I would watch more 3ABN. I got a blessing watching the various evangelistic programs. I loved the cooking classes since I had startted eating vegan about that time. At first I would be excited when 3ABN came to town but I noticed that Danny kept saying the same things each time and it got boring watching Danny uplift Danny instead of Jesus.

Recently our local tv programming changed to Hope channel. I wasn't thrilled about the idea. Watching Hope build up Hope channel turned me off. A week ago I asked someone who I thought might know why our church switched from 3ABN to Hope, this person told me 3ABN was too controlling as to when and how much time we could use for local programming. Now I rarely watch it.

When my mother who lives with me now watches it I will check online at 3ABN.org to see if I had already printed the recipes and print them if I hadn't yet. I used to love watching Linda minister to me. Many people in my area loved Linda more than Danny. Linda uplifted us to Jesus. Sometimes she brought me to tears of happiness.

When Linda was outsted I heard some strange rumers that the dear ladies at Dorcas would swear came directly from 3ABN. One lady said she had a friend working there and of course her freind would never lie. I refused to listen to the rumors. Once I wrote to 3ABN and I got a reply that said that they would honor Linda by not saying why she left. I thought that was strange. Recently I found BLACKSDA and discovered there were a lot more to the story than the rumors. Some of the rumors haven't even been addressed at BSDA.

My mother had been living near AU when Danny would go around telling his story at churches or where ever he could go to get his 3ABN going in the early days. My mother believes in Danny and will NOT listen to any 'rumors' I would have to tell her so I stay quiet to keep the peace in the family. Lately there had been a lot of repeat programming so she is not watching it as much as she used to. She dislikes Hope channel very much. I only like to watch Hope when our church service is on or when LLBN is on. Sabbath is a wonderful day to listen to sermons and music made available, even the local college church service is also aired.
3ABN is still availablein this area if you have a good antenae. My mother purchased the little satellite and can continue watching her favorite programming.

Also I miss watching Linda and Barbara Kerr with Barbara's cooking classes. They had such a good time. At least I can still watch Paula and Curtis with their cooking classes. They are fun to watch also.

My prayer is that 3ABN continues it's wonderful work to uplift Jesus to the world but without Danny Shelton, John Lomacane(spelling?) Molly and Shelly and husbands. They are dishonoring God in such a terrible way. I am ashamed of the way they have talked so terrible against another human being to the world.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 10:46 PM

> When Linda was outsted I heard some strange rumers that the dear ladies at Dorcas would swear came directly from 3ABN. One lady said she had a friend working there and of course her freind would never lie. I refused to listen to the rumors. Once I wrote to 3ABN and I got a reply that said that they would honor Linda by not saying why she left. I thought that was strange. Recently I found BLACKSDA and discovered there were a lot more to the story than the rumors. Some of the rumors haven't even been addressed at BSDA.

Thanks for sharing your story. I would like to address 2 things. First you have read all the posts here that say 3abn has trashed Linda to the people that inquired. You tell the true tale by telling what answer you go when you wrote 3abn. They said they would honor her by not stating the reasons she left. Does that sound like trashing. You were just one of hundreds of people that got the exact response. Now if they really wanted to trash her, don't you think they would have given a much different answer?

Secondly you said you refused to listen to gossip which is commendable. Then you say you came here and found a lot more to the story. My question: What makes you think that the things you read here about Danny and Linda are anything more than gossip? As you have found, this site is mostly pro Linda. Some have never met her, some have but the real question would be what is the origination of all the allegations about Danny that would make it any more than "gossip." Linda repeatedly says she has nothing to do with this site. She states she never even looks at it. So where do these people get all of the information and how much is verified by fact compared to how much is speculation, rumor, and innuendo.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 12:27 AM

Also I miss watching Linda and Barbara Kerr with Barbara's cooking classes. They had such a good time. At least I can still watch Paula and Curtis with their cooking classes. They are fun to watch also.

My mother inlaw also likes Barbara and Paula and Curtis. She has all their cookbooks and has bought them for me. She really misses watching Barbara and Linda togather. I've have copied Barbara's post and am going to give them to her. She is one of those little old ladies that did not buy into the lies about Linda. When she got the letters that 3abn sent out to the supporters that Linda had an affair she stopped sending money. She thought it was very wrong the way she was treated. My mother inlaw is a very conservitive advenist but she also has a decerning heart.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 9 2007, 12:30 AM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 9 2007, 12:27 AM)
>
> Also I miss watching Linda and Barbara Kerr with Barbara's cooking classes. They had such a good time. At least I can still watch Paula and Curtis with their cooking classes. They are fun to watch also.
> My mother inlaw also likes Barbara and Paula and Curtis. She has all their cookbooks and has bought them for me. She really misses watching Barbara and Linda togather. I've have copied Barbara's post and am going to give them to her. She is one of those little old ladies that did not buy into the lies about Linda. When she got the letters that 3abn sent out to the supporters that Linda had an affair she stopped sending money. She thought it was very wrong the way she was treated. My mother inlaw is a very conservitive advenist but she also has a decerning heart.

spike could you please copy and post that letter. A letter went out saying that Linda would not longer be there, but I and many others have never ever saw a letter from 3abn saying that Linda had an affair.
I would appreciate your posting it.
Thanks
ps Are you the one that said you were going to visit Merlin in oregon? If so we will be anxious for your report when you get back

---

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 12:37 AM

No, we do not watch this program, nor do we plan to.

Posted by: 4reneyonly Feb 9 2007, 12:43 AM

Another 3ABN answer-man comment. You seem to be monitoring this site more than just the usual user...hmm.

What would Jesus do? Shut down 3ABN.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 12:49 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 11:30 PM) ☐
>
> spike could you please copy and post that letter. A letter went out saying that Linda would not longer be there, but I and many others have never ever saw a letter from 3abn saying that Linda had an affair.
> I would appreciate your posting it.
> Thanks
> ps Are you the one that said you were going to visit Merlin in oregon? If so we will be anxious for your report when you get back

The letter was sent out when Linda was fired from 3abn so I don't know if she kept it but I doubt it, why would she.
And it is my brother who is friends with Merlin and I will be giving Him the info. He said he would be happy to talk to him. That does not mean that I don't know the family. And it doesn't mean I will give you a report.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 9 2007, 01:00 AM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 9 2007, 12:49 AM) ☐
>
> The letter was sent out when Linda was fired from 3abn so I don't know if she kept it but I doubt it, why would she.
> And it is my brother who is friends with Merlin and I will be giving Him the info. He said he would be happy to talk to him. That does not mean that I don't know the family. And it doesn't mean I will give you a report.

Why not? After letting you know that Merlin is at every board meeting is privy to all evidence between Linda and Danny and has a vote on every issue that pertains to 3abn, you still said you wanted to talk to him about some of the "things going on". You were told good luck. Since you want to state on the web what you or your brother plan to do, why would you care to report what Merlin has to say. That seems only fair.

You say your mother doesn't have this alleged letter. I would like to ask supporters out there that received a letter from 3abn saying that Linda had an affair to please post it.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 01:09 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 12:00 AM)
>
> Why not? After letting you know that Merlin is at every board meeting is privy to all evidence between Linda and Danny and has a vote on every issue that pertains to 3abn, you still said you wanted to talk to him about some of the "things going on". You were told good luck. Since you want to state on the web what you or your brother plan to do, why would you care to report what Merlin has to say. That seems only fair.
>
> You say your mother doesn't have this alleged letter. I would like to ask supporters out there that received a letter from 3abn saying that Linda had an affair to please post it.

Merlin was not a board member when that all went on with Linda.
And why would my mom inlaw keep junk mail?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 9 2007, 01:23 AM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 9 2007, 01:09 AM)
>
> Merlin was not a board member when that all went on with Linda.
> And why would my mom inlaw keep junk mail?

YOU DO NOT KNOW YOUR FACTS. Of course he was a board member when all that went down.
Somebody is giving you bad info

Posted by: Chimaz Feb 9 2007, 01:25 AM

I think it would be interesting to do another poll that asks how many people use to watch 3ABN but have stopped and then compare the two numbers.

Posted by: the7thdayrest Feb 9 2007, 02:48 AM either European or not .. what does this have to do with the Gospel Word of God. Nothing right the Channel does not go about race its about the Word of God Being proclaimed to all race.

If we black people ain't on it so much , then so be it , cause i ain't waiting to look at black people only, i would like to see different people also. remember its not about us, but about the word.

I love 3abn and all other SDA channels Like churchpond and sky angel and many others that are in the Faith and i do watch them when i find the time free, because there is always time for God in my life.

Posted by: daylily Feb 9 2007, 04:04 AM

I though Ivor Myers' and Stephen Bohr's programs were outstanding.

I think a "now and then" poll on 3ABN veiwing is a good idea.

Spike, I'm glad I caught that 38 right away!

TrulyBlond, I think you're right. It djoes me good to hear the same things over and over sometimes, i.e. Biblical themes. I don't like hearing Danny ramble on and on about the same thing though.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 09:29 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 12:23 AM)
>
> YOU DO NOT KNOW YOUR FACTS. Of course he was a board member when all that went down. Somebody is giving you bad info

Must be 3abn!

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 09:44 AM

I wonder if the change in the quality came about because of the non-SDA in charge of programing? If he wasn't an SDA and did not hold our truths dear to his heart then how could he really do a good job. Just because were told on his going away show(2-3 times) that the amount of programs went up does not mean quality went up. Why would Tommy care about SDA beliefs.

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 9 2007, 11:23 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> When Linda was outsted I heard some strange rumers that the dear ladies at Dorcas would swear came directly from 3ABN. One lady said she had a friend working there and of course her freind would never lie. I refused to listen to the rumors. Once I wrote to 3ABN and I got a reply that said that they would honor Linda by not saying why she left. I thought that was strange. Recently I found BLACKSDA and discovered there were a lot more to the story than the rumors. Some of the rumors haven't even been addressed at BSDA.
>
> Thanks for sharing your story. I would like to address 2 things. First you have read all the posts here that say 3abn has trashed Linda to the people that inquired. You tell the true tale by telling what answer you go when you wrote 3abn. They said they would honor her by not stating the reasons she left. Does that sound like trashing. You were just one of hundreds of people that got the exact response. Now if they really wanted to trash her, don't you think they would have given a much different answer?
> Secondly you said you refused to listen to gossip which is commendable. Then you say you came > here and found a lot more to the story. My question: What makes you think that the things you read here about Danny and Linda are anything more than gossip? As you have found, this site is mostly pro Linda. Some have never met her, some have but the real question would be what is the origination of all the allegations about Danny that would make it any more than "gossip." Linda repeatedly says she has nothing to do with this site. She states she never even looks at it. So where do these people get all of the information and how much is verified by fact compared to how much is speculation, rumor, and innuendo.

y friends told me trash stuff about Linda that came straght from 3ABN. Some of them were never nentioned in here and I prefer not to because I found out that one rumor was totally false. I asked an mployee about the rumor. My take on sending trash out then when people write in asking about what hey hear then 3ABN says we will honor Linda. Is trashing Linda honoring her? They are talking one hing then another... someone said talking both sides of the mouth. They gave the inocent answer ecause they were backtracking.
ave you read the pinned letters startting from the beginning? Yep I didn't think so. have no idea if Linda has been to this site or not. I don't really care. Facts came from other people.
t is obvious you have never read the other Pinned letters either. People come here looking for facts nd giving their opinions. So you don't like other people's opinions. That is your perogitive. I am also ssuming you have never been to save3ABN.org. Those are facts. Of course you won't believe them ecause they are forged.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:16 PM

Nope, not unless my attention is directed to a particular situation.

37

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Class Action Suit

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 12:13 PM

Since Dan Shelton is resorting to the use of law suits to silence his opposition, perhaps it's time that some of his victims got together to sue him and 3ABN for the damage done to them.

While I am not in favor of using the law to sue brothers and sisters in Christ, I am in favor of stopping a pattern of abuse. I believe that is the right thing to do, even though it may be difficult and bothersome. Some folks who have been thus harassed may very well lose their faith in God because "a man of God" (prophet?) has so despicably treated them. When Christ spoke of "these little ones," I believe He included all vulnerable individuals -- those who cannot adequately protect themselves. With some encouragement, they may gather the strength to band together to stop Dan from harassing others in like manner.

To start this process, it would be necessary to have a contact point for former 3ABN employees that have had their future employment endangered because of Dan's harassment. I understand that there are others besides Linda Shelton and Darrell Mundall.

I suspct that the http://www.save3ABN.com website would be a good place of contact. The next step would be to find a lawyer willing to file a class action suit in behalf of the victims of Dan's intimidation tactics.

Some of you know persons who have been harassed but who may not be posting here, and I believe it would be good for them to contact Gailon Joy or the webmaster of the site, asking him not to post their stories on the website until a lawyer has determined whether or not it would prejudice their case.

It may be possible to file a suit in such a way that it would include even current 3ABN employees that have been or are being intimidated. (I don't know because I'm not a lawyer.)

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 12:46 PM

[quote name='inga' date='Feb 7 2007, 12:13 PM' post='176119']
.

You idea inga is a bit strange. Isn't Gailon Joy and attorney? Or just who and what is he? Is he some kind of Private Investigator? Please help me understand!
GP

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 12:53 PM

> QUOTE
> You idea inga is a bit strange. Isn't Gailon Joy and attorney? Or just who and what is he? Is he some kind of Private Investigator? Please help me understand!
> GP

I thought you said you had read the posts.

Posted by: Observer Feb 7 2007, 12:57 PM

Mr. Joy is not a licensed attorney.

As to Private Investigator (PI): In many States, one is a PI who calls themself such, and/or registers with the State as such.

His detractors have stated that he is not a PI. There are Federal standards for a "Peace Officer." I have a son who is a Peace Officer and meets is certified so according to the Federal Standards. I do not question that Mr. Joy does not meet those standards. But, he is not required to meet them.

He can call himself a Private Investigator if he choses to do so. I also can call him such. As I said, commonly, no uniform set of standards exists as to what is required to be a PI.

Class Action Lawsuit: This is not as easy as one might think if one is unwilling to "front" the legal costs. There are a few law firms in the U.S. tha specialize in taking on class action lawsuits. But, many will not do so on a contingency basis.

If 3-ABN employees wanted to take legal action, I would suggest that they consult with a very good labor lawyer (employment law is a speciality). However, if they were to do so, I suspect that they would be told that it was a very complex case, and that there was a strong potential that IL labor law, at least in some aspects, did not apply to their employment at 3-ABN.

Posted by: Lee Feb 7 2007, 01:03 PM

Duane, be careful here. This is a new person and if she were to read every post on here, she'd be reading for months!

Glenetta, Gailon Joy is a self-appointed investigator who has taken it upon himself to do everything he can to shut down 3ABN, including Danny and the Board.

Don't believe everything you read here. Be careful. Pray.

Yes Observer--the lawyers on both sides are laughing all the way to the Bank!! They will be the real winners here

---

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:03 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 01:03 PM)
>
> Duane, be careful here. This is a new person and if she were to read every post on here, she'd be reading for months!
>
> Glenetta, Gailon Joy is a self-appointed investigator who has taken it upon himself to do everything he can to shut down 3ABN, including Danny and the Board.
>
> Don't believe everything you read here. Be careful. Pray.
> Yes Observer--the lawyers on both sides are laughing all the way to the Bank!! They will be the real winners here

An absolute lie. Gailon is trying to save 3abn.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 01:22 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Glenetta, Gailon Joy is a self-appointed investigator who has taken it upon himself to do everything he can to shut down 3ABN, including Danny and the Board.

As I understand it, Gailon Joy has been a heavy supporter of 3ABN for years. He refused to investigate the situation a couple of years ago, shortly after Linda Shelton was fired. However, when certain details came to his attention, he smelled a rat and started to investigate.

Mr Joy wants to save 3ABN because he believes in its mission. If for no other reason, he would want to save 3ABN because of the amount he has invested in it.

As Observer has pointed out, one does not need to be a professional investigator to be an investigator. Mr. Joy seems to have the kind of bulldog tenacity and investigative savvy to be a formidable opponent for anyone whom he deems to be fraudulently representing the cause of God.

Whether or not a "class action suit" (by the legal definition) would work or not, it would seem useful for victims of harassment to get together to see what their legal options are. I suspect most feel themselves isolated (which is generally the objective of an abuser) and are just relieved to be out of the situation. Yet, if they will not speak up, the abuse continues ... Who knows how many of Christ's "little ones" (baby Christians) will be destroyed if others do not speak up?

Posted by: Spike Feb 7 2007, 01:22 PM

I bet if there was some a way to donate to the cause of save3abn there would be many that would be willing to donate. Maybe there could be something set up through paypal.

I do know that their are many people that don't visit BSDA or martime or save3abn that knew something was wrong when Linda all of a sudden disappeared. What Danny and the boared don't seem to get is that Danny was never the one that people got a blessing from. I've watched 3abn off and on for 18 yrs and Danny has never had any thing to say but the same thing year after year. It's like Clay says "tiresome you are".

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 01:53 PM)
>
> I thought you said you had read the posts.

You know they only read the Danny authorized abridged and condensed version... anything else would only confuse them because it would force their brains to engage...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Observer Feb 7 2007, 03:10 PM

So, Mr. Joy is attempting to shut down 3-ABN!

As has been posted here:

1) He has personally contributed and raised large sums of money for 3-ABN.

2) He was responsible for the distribution of the Ten Commandments book.

He would very much like to see major changes made in the governance of 3-ABN. But, that is not shuting it down, unless you tie 3-ABN to certain individuals.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 04:04 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 7 2007, 03:10 PM)
>
> So, Mr. Joy is attempting to shut down 3-ABN!
>
> As has been posted here:
>
> 1) He has personally contributed and raised large sums of money for 3-ABN.
>
> 2) He was responsible for the distribution of the Ten Commandments book.

Greg, normally you are careful about what you say and how you say it. This is the exception. I have made calls to verify what you have said. The records show that he has given a very small amount twice. I won't be as nasty as he and post the amount but "large sums of Money" it is not.

Next you say he was responsible for the distribution.....In what way. That statement sounds as if he was a distribution manager for 3abn. The only distributing that Gailon did might have been passing out some that he or his church had ordered. You made your statement in a way that appears he had some important job in helping to get out millions of books. He didn't

[quote name='inga' date='Feb 7 2007, 01:22 PM' post='176159']
As I understand it, Gailon Joy has been a heavy supporter of 3ABN for years. He refused to investigate the situation a couple of years ago, shortly after Linda Shelton was fired. However, when certain details came to his attention, he smelled a rat and started to investigate.

Mr Joy wants to save 3ABN because he believes in its mission. If for no other reason, he would want to save 3ABN because of the amount he has invested in it.

Read my post to observer. You couldn't be more wrong. I made phone calls to verify it. I am going to do more verifying as false information comes through here which then puts a false slant on everything done and said.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 7 2007, 04:06 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 7 2007, 05:10 PM) ☐
>
> So, Mr. Joy is attempting to shut down 3-ABN!
>
> As has been posted here:
>
> 1) He has personally contributed and raised large sums of money for 3-ABN.
>
> 2) He was responsible for the distribution of the Ten Commandments book.
>
> He would very much like to see major changes made in the governance of 3-ABN. But, that is not shuting it down, unless you tie 3-ABN to certain individuals.

Greg,

I have had a lingering question and it fits in here perfectly. When you go down to the bottom left-hand corner of the pages on the save3abn site you will find the following:

Save3ABN.com
Not © 2007

Can you clarify the use of the word "Not" for us? Is it an acronym? Is it the intials of the webmaster? Or, is it being used in the colloquial, sarcastic way it is today, which is to indicate that what has come just before it is not the truth?

- fhb

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Greg, normally you are careful about what you say and how you say it. This is the exception. I have made calls to verify what you have said. The records show that he has given a very small amount twice. I won't be as nasty as he and post the amount but "large sums of Money" it is not.

Only if you choose to read it as you have... it is probably more correctly read with 'large' modifying the sums raised rather than those contributed. If you were unsure you should have asked if that is what he meant before castigating him...

> QUOTE
>
> Next you say he was responsible for the distribution.....In what way. That statement sounds as if he was a distribution manager for 3abn. The only distributing that Gailon did might have been passing out some that he or his church had ordered. You made your statement in a way that appears he had some important job in helping to get out millions of books. He didn't

No quantification was given... so again, this is an issue of your preconceived notions being read in rather than anythings being alleged on Mr. Joy's part.

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 05:06 PM)
>
> Greg,
>
> I have had a lingering question and it fits in here perfectly. When you go down to the bottom left-hand corner of the pages on the save3abn site you will find the following:
>
> Save3ABN.com
> Not © 2007
>
> Can you clarify the use of the word "Not" for us? Is it an acronym? Is it the intials of the webmaster? Or, is it being used in the colloquial, sarcastic way it is today, which is to indicate that what has come just before it is not the truth?
>
> - fhb

I see the 3rd string has been pulled; I guess they werent competitive enough...

That is not to say, of course, that you are doing any better...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 7 2007, 04:15 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 06:14 PM)
>
> I see the 3rd string has been pulled; I guess they werent competitive enough...
> That is not to say, of course, that you are doing any better...
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Well Kevin, can you answer the question? Is the site really in existance to "save" 3ABN or "Not"?

- fhb

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 04:27 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 11:03 AM)
>
> Duane, be careful here. This is a new person and if she were to read every post on here, she'd be > reading for months!

>
> Glenetta, Gailon Joy is a self-appointed investigator who has taken it upon himself to do everything he can to shut down 3ABN, including Danny and the Board.
>
> Don't believe everything you read here. Be careful. Pray.
> Yes Observer--the lawyers on both sides are laughing all the way to the Bank!! They will be the real winners here nam, that is a blatant lie. Prove to me he wants to do that. Can you? I don't think so. You don't have o throw the baby out with the bath water. Now, if ds and admin want to throw the baby out with the ath water, that is their choice. Stop mixing the two together. They are seperate. One part admin, one art airwaves that show people talking/signing. The Good News will still be told, one way or another of od's grace, mercy, salvation and justice - on one network or another, one way or another. emember the rocks that cry out??

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 04:31 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 05:15 PM)
>
> Well Kevin, can you answer the question? Is the site really in existance to "save" 3ABN or "Not"?
>
> - fhb

don't have to answer the question; it's not my site... and people who are not my friends and who are o craven that they wont even identify themselves dont get to call me Kevin... it's Mr. J to you... eeing that you are plainly no friend of mine and your using my first name is purely an act of isrespect, as one of your ilk is wont to do.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 7 2007, 05:28 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 04:04 PM)
>
> Greg, normally you are careful about what you say and how you say it. This is the exception. I have made calls to verify what you have said. The records show that he has given a very small amount twice. I won't be as nasty as he and post the amount but "large sums of Money" it is not.

ow many of us can pick up the phone and learn the amount and frequency of a donor's contributions??? I would like to think such is NOT PUBLIC INFORMATION...!!

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 05:43 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Feb 7 2007, 06:28 PM)
>
> How many of us can pick up the phone and learn the amount and frequency of a donor's contributions???

Only those of us whom the accountant recognizes of having some authority.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 7 2007, 05:47 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Feb 7 2007, 06:28 PM)
>
> How many of us can pick up the phone and learn the amount and frequency of a donor's contributions??? I would like to think such is NOT PUBLIC INFORMATION...!!

I thought the same thing.

Inside info coming from an outsider? This is our factual source?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 06:45 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 04:27 PM)
>
> mam, that is a blatant lie. Prove to me he wants to do that. Can you? I don't think so. You don't have to throw the baby out with the bath water. Now, if ds and admin want to throw the baby out with the bath water, that is their choice. Stop mixing the two together. They are seperate. One part admin, one part airwaves that show people talking/signing. The Good News will still be told, one way or another of God's grace, mercy, salvation and justice - on one network or another, one way or another. Remember the rocks that cry out??

Prove to me that he doesn't want to do that. In the beginning he also said that he would welcome a lawsuit and he would stand before the judge and do thus and so. INstead, when the lawsuit was filed the first thing he did was run for the hills and contact a "real" lawyer. You all are talking about the expenses on both sides, well, If he represented his side as he first said, his case would not be near so costly. Let me ask each and everyone of you something. If you were on trial for your very life, would you hire Gailon Joy to defend you. A man with no attorney credentials and a "self appointed" investigator?

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 7 2007, 05:47 PM)

> I thought the same thing.
>
> Inside info coming from an outsider? This is our factual source?

Not many, but there a few who can get to that information when the truth needs to be told. The bottom line is you want to ignore the relevant facts and just discuss how it got here. Forget it, it won't work.

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 05:43 PM)
>
> Only those of us whom the accountant recognizes of having some authority.

Glad to hear it. If you have some "authority" then you can call, get the info and back me up.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 06:58 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 04:45 PM)
>
> Prove to me that he doesn't want to do that. In the beginning he also said that he would welcome a lawsuit and he would stand before the judge and do thus and so. INstead, when the lawsuit was filed the first thing he did was run for the hills and contact a "real" lawyer. You all are talking about the expenses on both sides, well, If he represented his side as he first said, his case would not be near so costly. Let me ask each and everyone of you something. If you were on trial for your very life, would you hire Gailon Joy to defend you. A man with no attorney credentials and a "self appointed" investigator?
> Not many, but there a few who can get to that information when the truth needs to be told. The bottom line is you want to ignore the relevant facts and just discuss how it got here. Forget it, it won't work.
> Glad to hear it. If you have some "authority" then you can call, get the info and back me up.

There you go again...saying something and telling me to prove what you say isn't true? YOU SAID IT! BACK IT UP!!
And where did he "run for the hills"????? Is there a reason any smart PI wouldn't have had an atty or legal info a LONG time ago when dealing with all this whooey from 3abn? He isn't one step behind ds - and ds is not use to this. You are mad, face it. It's OUT!
You have your head in the sand or your loyalty to a MAN and not to God, my opinion.
Yes, I would trust Gailon Joy to help me if I was getting stomped on by an abusing power that claims one thing and does another - that lies and manipulates to have it's own way, especially behind the wall of "christian ministry", who treats people an abusive way, knowing full well their "supporters" have no clue how they really are. You are simply afraid of the truth. And it shows.
You made the statement, show me where Gailon has said this! SHOW ME! You have nothing but more empty statements. You really should start searching for yourself and stop "listening" to the wrong spirit. Better now then later.

Posted by: calvin Feb 7 2007, 07:40 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 04:31 PM)
>
> I don't have to answer the question; it's not my site... and people who are not my friends and who are so craven that they wont even identify themselves dont get to call me Kevin... it's Mr. J to you... seeing that you are plainly no friend of mine and your using my first name is purely an act of disrespect, as one of your ilk is wont to do.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Kevin, there is no reason for you to be this rude to people. FHB was asking a simple question that should not have solicited this type of response. He can call you Kevin and so can anyone else here. If you jump all over somebody else for calling your name, they won't be calling you anything here.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Feb 7 2007, 06:28 PM)
>
> How many of us can pick up the phone and learn the amount and frequency of a donor's contributions??? I would like to think such is NOT PUBLIC INFORMATION...!!

True...

If he call was made at all it is not likely that the information was given out.

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 7 2007, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 04:04 PM)
>
> Greg, normally you are careful about what you say and how you say it. This is the exception. I have made calls to verify what you have said. The records show that he has given a very small amount twice. I won't be as nasty as he and post the amount but "large sums of Money" it is not.

What else would we expect from you? Given the following "on-air" statements:

3ABN_Live_18_23Jan07_GoingThroughMoney.mp3 (84.44k) Number of downloads: 22

3ABN_Live_18_23Jan07_Donate100K.mp3 (76.98k) Number of downloads: 19

It appears reasonable to think anything less than a five-figure donation would be considered small potatoes to Danny. For some of us, even a three-digit figure represents a substantial sum. So, without actual numbers, and even more importantly, without factoring in the donor's financial ability, we cannot qualify Greg's statement one way or the other. Whereas a $300 donation from me might be a substantial sum, to a doctor or lawyer with a thriving practice it could be a drop in the bucket.

Remember the Ala....er...the Widow's mite!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 7 2007, 09:16 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 07:45 PM)
>
> Not many, but there a few who can get to that information when the truth needs to be told. The bottom line is you want to ignore the relevant facts and just discuss how it got here. Forget it, it won't work.

What relevant facts was I ignoring? You are the one who says you are an outsider, but then present inside information as if you had been there yourself. I wasn't questioning how the facts got there. I was pointing out that you, although were not in attendance of corporate "worship", you defend the "facts" as if you were. It is interesting, that's all.

And what do you make out of "Lomy's prayer." Did it not happen as well or will it be twisted after you're done regurgitating it?

Posted by: Observer Feb 7 2007, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 7 2007, 02:10 PM)
>
> So, Mr. Joy is attempting to shut down 3-ABN!
>
> As has been posted here:
>
> 1) He has personally contributed and raised large sums of money for 3-ABN.
>
> 2) He was responsible for the distribution of the Ten Commandments book.
>
> He would very much like to see major changes made in the governance of 3-ABN. But, that is not shuting it down, unless you tie 3-ABN to certain individuals.

O. K.

#1: In my post, I intended for the large to be the total amount that he had personally contributed, and had raised, during a one year period. I think it may have been 2005, but I was not certain of that so I did not give a year.

Perhaps my statement was wrong. If so, and I find that to be true, I will publicly post a revision of my statement. If it si wroing, I have never claimed to be perfect. :-)

2: My understanding is that he obtained about 6,000 copies of the book, and was personally responsible for the majority of those copies being distributed. My emphasis here was on showing that his involvement in distributing that number of books showed that he had an interest in 3-ABN and personally thought well of something that was closely tied to Danny.

On a personal note: My perception of Mr. Joy is that he has seen 3-ABN as presenting, at least in the past, a conservitive view of the SDA message. I see him as thinking now that present leadership has betrayed certain of those conservative principles, and that he would rather see it renewed under new leadershilp than to destroy it.

Re: The "Not" next to the copyright symbol:

I have no idea what it means. I had not seen it. Frankly, I have not taken the time to read everything posted on <save3abn> Why? simpley becaue I assume that it is generally posting items that I have read elsewhere. So, I have probablly read them elsewhere, but not on that website.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 09:29 PM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Feb 7 2007, 11:15 PM)
>
> Remember the Ala....er...the Widow's mite!

I was thinking the exact same thing. She gave only that "little bit" - but it was a fortune in the eyes of the LORD.

Since you ain't GOD....

Um...

You can't judge the sum!

Merinate on that!

Posted by: Lee Feb 7 2007, 09:33 PM

"Lomy's prayer?" PLEASE BE RESPECTFUL OF A PASTORS NAME!!!!!!

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 09:33 PM)
>
> "Lomy's prayer?" PLEASE BE RESPECTFUL OF A PASTORS NAME!!!!!!

because? I believe it was mentioned early on that he did hours of counseling with Linda and Danny, except that wasn't true.... so ummmm did he lie or did he just not remember?

Posted by: Observer Feb 7 2007, 09:44 PM

Re: "Prove to me that he doesn't want to do that. In the beginning he also said that he would welcome a lawsuit and he would stand before the judge and do thus and so. INstead, when the lawsuit was filed the first thing he did was run for the hills and contact a "real" lawyer. You all are talking about the expenses on both sides, well, If he represented his side as he first said, his case would not be near so costly. Let me ask each and everyone of you something. If you were on trial for your very life, would you hire Gailon Joy to defend you. A man with no attorney credentials and a "self appointed" investigator?"

I am not going to come on this public forum and state what I think Mr. Joy's strategy will be if he defends against a lawsuit. However, based upon what I think he will do, I believe his statement to be internally consistent. I will suggest tha you have read less into it than is there.

As far as hiring a non-attorney to defend you: I think that you know such would be illegal. A person not licensed to practice law can represent themself. But, that person cannot represent another person. That is practicing law without a license, which is illegal.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:35 PM)
>
> because? I believe it was mentioned early on that he did hours of counseling with Linda and Danny, except that wasn't true.... so ummmm did he lie or did he just not remember?

mmm How do you know it wasn't true? Only the pastor, Danny or Linda would know if it was true or not, so...the pastor wouldn't have said it and made himself look bad, and I know Danny didn't tell you that...that only leaves one person as the original source.
Dance puppet dance

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:56 PM)
>
> mmm How do you know it wasn't true? Only the pastor, Danny or Linda would know if it was true or not, so...the pastor wouldn't have said it and made himself look bad, and I know Danny didn't tell you that...that only leaves one person as the original source.
> Dance puppet dance

Bystander... that is an interesting tactic you utilize when you don't know the answer...you answer a question with a question. That is called a defense mechanism... your defensiveness is showing... which is interesting given that you believe you have the truth.... so tell me, why would one who has the truth be so defensive?

Now Linda states that she did not receive counseling.... Danny said they did, however we know that Danny is not always honest... so whom should be believed? The ironic thing is that I don't know Linda, have never talked to her, neither do I know Danny, have never spoken to him.... however he has lied, and he lied to BSDA.... so maybe that was just one lie, and he is telling the truth about this issue?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 10:18 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 06:58 PM)
>
> There you go again...saying something and telling me to prove what you say isn't true? YOU SAID IT! BACK IT UP!!
> And where did he "run for the hills"????? Is there a reason any smart PI wouldn't have had an atty or legal info a LONG time ago when dealing with all this whooey from 3abn? He isn't one step behind ds - and ds is not use to this. You are mad, face it. It's OUT!
> You have your head in the sand or your loyalty to a MAN and not to God, my opinion.
> Yes, I would trust Gailon Joy to help me if I was getting stomped on by an abusing power that claims one thing and does another - that lies and manipulates to have it's own way, especially behind the wall of "christian ministry", who treats people an abusive way, knowing full well their "supporters" have no clue how they really are. You are simply afraid of the truth. And it shows.
> You made the statement, show me where Gailon has said this! SHOW ME! You have nothing but more empty statements. You really should start searching for yourself and stop "listening" to the wrong spirit. Better now then later.

mmm Capitols, I believe you are the one mad. I have been privy to emails where Gailon said exactly what I said he said. That he would welcome a chance to handle this himself. Now you can believe me or call me a liar, I really don't care cause I know what I saw. Your statement that I serve man instead of God is as sinful in God's sight as any accusations you are making towards others. You are judging me like you have Danny and any defenders of 3abn. A blind person could feel the bitterness in your post. I have a feeling I know why and where it comes from and if so, no way could you be objective. You have yet to address how so many people, smart, intelligent, people, high positioned people and so on could all be duped. Everytime I have brought it up it is ignored because you know it is beyond reason.

For someone who thinks the filing of charges is a joke, I notice in previous posts you had no problem with saying "Danny abuses people and Danny lies. Now I see you refer to an "abusive power" that lies and manipulates. Maybe you're not quite as secure about it as you would have people think.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 09:59 PM)
>
> Bystander... that is an interesting tactic you utilize when you don't know the answer...you answer a question with a question. That is called a defense mechanism... your defensiveness is showing... which is interesting given that you believe you have the truth.... so tell me, why would one who has the truth be so defensive?
>
> Now Linda states that she did not receive counseling.... Danny said they did, however we know that Danny is not always honest... so whom should be believed? The ironic thing is that I don't know Linda, have never talked to her, neither do I know Danny, have never spoken to him.... however he has lied, and he lied to BSDA.... so maybe that was just one lie, and he is telling the truth about this issue?

I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling. You did not answer as to the original source of how you came to that conclusion. People have been told by the "original source" that Linda was forced to sign 3abn's contract without legal counsel. Observer refuted that and said he knew for a fact that she did. So if she told one lie, could she not tell others.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 7 2007, 10:32 PM

So where are all those smart intellegent people you talk about, how is it that there are so few defenders of Danny here? If these board were so insignificant then why is Danny making such a big deal about the accusations? And if these board are not insignificant Danny's supporters should be rushing to his rescue here. Instead there are what? A couple 3 people, maybe more if you count multiple persona's Keep posting though, it keep the board going and makes it possible for more people to know the truth.

Richard

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:18 PM) ☐
>
> mmm Capitols, I believe you are the one mad. I have been privy to emails where Gailon said exactly what I said he said. That he would welcome a chance to handle this himself. Now you can believe me or call me a liar, I really don't care cause I know what I saw. Your statement that I serve man instead of God is as sinful in God's sight as any accusations you are making towards others. You are judging me like you have Danny and any defenders of 3abn. A blind person could feel the bitterness in your post. I have a feeling I know why and where it comes from and if so, no way could you be objective. You have yet to address how so many people, smart, intelligent, people, high positioned people and so on could all be duped. Everytime I have brought it up it is ignored because you know it is beyond reason.
>
> For someone who thinks the filing of charges is a joke, I notice in previous posts you had no problem with saying "Danny abuses people and Danny lies. Now I see you refer to an "abusive power" that lies and manipulates. Maybe you're not quite as secure about it as you would have people think.
> I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling. You did not answer as to the original source of how you came to that conclusion. People have been told by the "original source" that Linda was forced to sign 3abn's contract without legal counsel. Observer refuted that and said he knew for a fact that she did. So if she told one lie, could she not tell others.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 10:46 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 7 2007, 10:27 PM) ☐
>
> Re: The "Not" next to the copyright symbol:
>
> I have no idea what it means. I had not seen it. Frankly, I have not taken the time to read everything posted on <save3abn> Why? simpley becaue I assume that it is generally posting items that I have read elsewhere. So, I have probablly read them elsewhere, but not on that website.

Mr. Joy had a little fun with the usual copyright notice, and I'm sure Bystander knows it.

Mr. Joy said Not Copyrighted, implying that he wishes the contents to be widely disseminated.

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 10:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 8 2007, 06:18 AM)
>
> - - -
> I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling.
> - - -

I have stated elsewhere that the "star" counsellor called me recently and told me that he never had a real counselling session with Linda.

I have e-mails from both Danny and Linda, both from before they went to Kansas and after they returned, telling me this counselling session was a mere farce. All they did there was having a session where Danny had a chance to vent his many gripes about Linda. He was not in the least interested in saving his marriage.

Where is your documentation, and what does it tell you?

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 10:51 PM

Regarding the widow's mite and Gailon Joy's contributions,

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 7 2007, 10:29 PM)
>
> I was thinking the exact same thing. She gave only that "little bit" - but it was a fortune in the eyes of the LORD.

Yes, the widow's contribution was large in the sight of the Lord because she gave all she had, even if it was only a mite. However, the widow's mite brought more funds into the cause of God than all the large gifts of her day combined, because her example inspired so many others.

As I understand the situation, there is a valid comparison with Gailon Joy mainly in the fact that he encouraged others to give. So the funds that came in to 3ABN because of him were much more than the money he personally contributed.

"Support," by the way, entails much more than money. Time is money too!

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 10:56 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 03:40 AM)

> Kevin, there is no reason for you to be this rude to people. FHB was asking a simple question that should not have solicited this type of response. He can call you Kevin and so can anyone else here. If you jump all over somebody else for calling your name, they won't be calling you anything here.

At times we all may need some discipline. Not the least when our frustrations get the better of us. This s why we need a BOSS!

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 7 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 11:46 PM)
>
> Mr. Joy had a little fun with the usual copyright notice, and I'm sure Bystander knows it.
>
> Mr. Joy said Not Copyrighted, implying that he wishes the contents to be widely disseminated.

nga, that is exactly how I interpreted it.

nw

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 11:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 08:18 PM)
>
> mmm Capitols, I believe you are the one mad. I have been privy to emails where Gailon said exactly what I said he said. That he would welcome a chance to handle this himself. Now you can believe me or call me a liar, I really don't care cause I know what I saw. Your statement that I serve man instead of God is as sinful in God's sight as any accusations you are making towards others. You are judging me like you have Danny and any defenders of 3abn. A blind person could feel the bitterness in your post. I have a feeling I know why and where it comes from and if so, no way could you be objective. You have yet to address how so many people, smart, intelligent, people, high positioned people and so on could all be duped. Everytime I have brought it up it is ignored because you know it is beyond reason.
>
> For someone who thinks the filing of charges is a joke, I notice in previous posts you had no problem with saying "Danny abuses people and Danny lies. Now I see you refer to an "abusive power" that lies and manipulates. Maybe you're not quite as secure about it as you would have people think.
> I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling. You did not answer as to the original source of how you came to that conclusion. People have been told by the "original source" that Linda was forced to sign 3abn's contract without legal counsel. Observer refuted that and said he > knew for a fact that she did. So if she told one lie, could she not tell others.

dear my bystander (or who ever you all are) use catpital to accentuate my words - if you heard my voice, it would be clear, but since you can't hear my voice, i use captials to make particular words stand out - mad,not me, smiling, yes.

Now you are saying you saw an email stating he (Gailon) would like to handle this himself? handle what exactly? would you copy and paste that email on here so we can see it? I'm sure we can read it just fine, in fact, if you have a copy, I am certain I do as well. But, just in case, since you are quoting this email, POST IT (see, not mad, just making a point clear).
I have nothing to be bitter about - I'm not the one caught with my hands in the cookie jar. I think you need to R E L A X (see, not mad).
You know nothing of me. If you would take what you see, you would see that I am about truth, and no more spin or games. Sorry, I won't play your game.
I have no clue what on earth you mean in your second paragraph, but in case you are confused, I have no problem with charges being filed. When did I say it was a joke? I think I said, BRING IT ON (again, caps, you get it by now, right?). If truth is truth, there is nothing to fear? What's the big deal there? I don't remember saying anything about filing charges being a joke, and I am pretty sure I didn't say anyting about the counseling??? Are you getting so flustred you can't keep the posts straight?? So how can I come to a conclusion about something I never stated to you (counseling??? hmmm...you are confused, again). I think you are waring out. Bring in the next one.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 7 2007, 11:46 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Feb 7 2007, 05:28 PM) ☐
>
> How many of us can pick up the phone and learn the amount and frequency of a donor's contributions??? I would like to think such is NOT PUBLIC INFORMATION...!!

That's for certain. Last week I think it was Gailon called up Larry Ewing and tried to ask him a few questions. Larry hung up on him.

I think the questions had to do with the $600,000 cash he spent for WDQN in 2003, allegedly without board approval, something he's supposed to get whenever he wants to spend more than $100,000.

Yet the station, supposedly, should have cost no more than $250,000. No real estate was bought in the transaction. And supposedly it the license would have cost $50,000 tops if Danny had started from scratch. Gailon got those figures from some expert in the field.

It is true that WBLC only cost $110,000 in 2002, half of which went for real estate. That one was 1000 watts, and WDQN was 3000 watts.

What I'm trying to figure out is where these assets appear on the 990's. Anyone know? The itemized assets listed in statement 4 in the back of the 2003 990 don't seem to fit an expensive license for WDQN. A license is not a building. It's not an aircraft. it's not a piece of equipment. It's not land. Where is that big $600,000 expenditure accounted for on the 990?

Bystander, you've got the hotline. See if you can find out without Larry hanging up on you.

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 11:56 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 8 2007, 07:46 AM) ☐
>
> - - -
>
> Bystander, you've got the hotline. See if you can find out without Larry hanging up on you.

When will you answer the questions, Bystander?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 8 2007, 12:23 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 7 2007, 11:56 PM) ☐
>
> When will you answer the questions, Bystander?

Bystander answering questions?!?!?!

Posted by: Observer Feb 8 2007, 04:08 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 09:46 PM) ☐
>
> Mr. Joy had a little fun with the usual copyright notice, and I'm sure Bystander knows it.
>
> Mr. Joy said Not Copyrighted, implying that he wishes the contents to be widely disseminated.

Inga, I believe you are correct. He was having fun due to the discussion over the letter that an attorney had sent him which had a copyright notice on it.

Thanks for your perception.

Posted by: Observer Feb 8 2007, 06:48 AM

Re: "I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling. You did not answer as to the original source of how you came to that conclusion. People have been told by the "original source" that Linda was forced to sign 3abn's contract without legal counsel. Observer refuted that and said he knew for a fact that she did. So if she told one lie, could she not tell others."

Folks we are focusing on the small, when there are much larger issues involved.

1) I generally refuse to say that someone lied. People may make a statement that is false. But, a false statement is not automaticly a lie. A lie is a deliberate attempt to decieve, or knowingly make a false statement. All of us make statements that are false. But, that does not mean that we either knew it was false, or that we attempted to decieve.

Harold Lance, and 3-ABN, have posted a statement in regard to the failure of ASI to to mediate a resolution. I have stated that certain statements and implications regarding me were false. But, I believe Mr. Lance to be an honest person. He either sees things differently from me, or he based his comment in second had information that is wrong. The result of all of this is that I could personally sit down with Mr. Lance and have a pleasant visit. We may have differences of opinion, but that is life. I neither challenge his integrity, nor do I believe him to be dishonest.

2) The issues of counseling: Some have said that Linda recieved couseling, others have said she did not. The reality is that both positions are likely to be true.

In posts I made previously in Club Adventist, I publicly stated that X did not enter into a professional counseling relationship with Linda. X had been accused of violation of professional standards of counseling. I went on to say that as X did not enter into a professional counseling relationship with Linda, X had not violated any professional ethical standards.

Certain people have stated that X did indeed counsel Linda. Those who have made that statemet do not understand what it required to enter into a professional counseling relationship. Therefore, their statement conflicts with my statemet. A simple matter of two different perspectives. I believe that mine is correct. X has later stated that no counseling relationship took place between X and Linda. So, I believe that my position is correct. But, I understand those who state a different position, and I do not accuse them of an attempt to decieve.

In regard to peole other than X who are said to have counseled Linda, there are similar issues involved. People will differ. But, those differences should not be assumed to result from an attempt to decieve.

3) Now, as to whether or not Linda signed the agreement in the context of legal advice. I am not going to get into a public discussion of what I believe some of the aspects of this are. I have stated that Linda had legal advice. I maintain that position. I do not intend to further expand upon it.

Now, has Linda lied. Linda and I have differed at times. I do not believe that she has ever lied to me. I have asked her frank questions, at times. I believe that she has given me honest answers as she understood, and believed. I have been frank, at times in telling Linda what I thought. Her response to me is that she has appreciated me telling her the truth as I believed it to be.

I simply am not going to get into a public discussion of some of the aspects of this issue. I consider Linda to be honest.

Folks let us focus on the major issues.

About a year ago, I was reading a book written for attornies. It was telling them how to conduct cross-examinations. The major point: Sooner or later you will get a person to contradict someone else. Use that to challenge their whole position. In our humanity, we will differ. But, an inaccuracy in one point does not mean the entire position is inaccurate. It only means that one point is wrong.

Do not be divereted by the fact that there are differenes among us.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 07:16 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:18 PM)
>
> I believe I told you there are documents and receipts for such counseling. You did not answer as to the original source of how you came to that conclusion.

Simple.... Danny came here and said that they had received counseling. Linda and others indicated that no such counseling took place. Since Danny's first contact with BSDA was a lie, i.e. I love Linda so much, then in a heartbeat he is getting a divorce in Guam, those actions are NOT the actions of one who loves someone... In fact most men who are deeply in love usually refuse to let go at the first sign of trouble, they hold on indefinitely.... Danny did the exact opposite.... The lie was compounded when the grounds for divorce were stated to be spiritual adultery....

So Bystander any reasonable person can conclude that from the start Danny's explanation of things was suspect and his credibility questionable... however I suspect you have an explanation that can clear this up, please share....

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 08:27 AM

To answer the question of Clay and Johann about counseling, I will repeat the quote below:

Chairman of the board= Walt Thompson, his statement follows.
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10845&st=0
"In early March Danny called me. He was very distraught as he told me what Linda was doing. I immediately traveled to 3abn to find out for myself, and for the next two to three months was there for a few days almost every week. During this time I and a small committee of the board had a number of sessions with Linda, encouraging her to break off the relationship that was ruining her home and putting a serious strain on the ministry. Pastor John L. was one of the first to counsel Linda. From the start, before meeting with Danny and Linda together he warned Linda that what she was doing was wrong, and must stop. He then spent hours counseling the two of them together. I am not sure how many other sessions were had. When I arrived, I arranged for Pastor John, Linda and Danny and I to meet together. We met, talked and prayed. Both Danny and Linda were anointed, and committed to God to do what was right. Linda promised us to cut off the relationship. Not long (I don't remember the length of time, but probably less than an hour) she was secretly on the phone to Norway with the doctor again. We had other sessions with her where she reluctantly made similar agreements, but usually said she was not going to give him up until she was sure Danny would stop interfering in her affairs - as if it was Danny's fault they were having trouble. On one occasion I was able to get the doctor on the phone. I begged him to break of the relationship. He told me he would not. We arranged for Danny and Linda to visit a marriage counselor couple out of state. They were not Adventist, but devout Christians of another faith. They were chosen so that Linda could not claim that they were biased, if Adventist. Danny and Linda spent eight hours with the counselors. They were the one's who told Linda she was committing "spiritual adultery" and that it was wrong and must be stopped at once. She made excuses, said she was doing nothing wrong. They warned her that the way she was going it would soon become physical."

Now you all need to put on your glasses and really look at the evidence instead of calling people liars. Why should Bystander or I have to present the evidence to you all the time when you can do it yourself.

Here is what Linda said herself:

Original statement from Linda Shelton. on July 23, 2004:
http://web.archive.org/web/20040723022959/www.lindashelton.org/letters.php
"Weren't there many, many people that I counseled with concerning this problem? The only formal counsel I ever received during this entire episode was that of my local pastor, a husband and wife team of counselors and the Chairman of the 3ABN Board. That's all. But the problem was bigger than the counsel could relieve."

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:41 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 08:27 AM)
>
> To answer the question of Clay and Johann about counseling, I will repeat the quote below:
>
> Chairman of the board= Walt Thompson, his statement follows.
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10845&st=0
> "In early March Danny called me. He was very distraught as he told me what Linda was doing. I immediately traveled to 3abn to find out for myself, and for the next two to three months was there for a few days almost every week. During this time I and a small committee of the board had a number of sessions with Linda, encouraging her to break off the relationship that was ruining her home and putting a serious strain on the ministry. Pastor John L. was one of the first to counsel Linda. snip.....

Lee,
I do not consider Walt Thompson to be a credible source. In my opinion he has lied, and on more than one occasion.... so anything he says I am not likely to believe. You may choose to believe him. I do not...

Additionally, and I said this 3 yrs ago, if you know anything about counseling you know that the best chance for success is if both people choose a counselor together. All those people at 3abn should have never been chosen because they were to close to the situation. Likewise its one thing if Danny stood up and said I am taking you to get counseling vs, we need to get counseling. If you force a person into counseling against their will, success will be minimal. It is apparent that Danny attempted to "get" Linda counseling from those people in the immediate area, those people who were loyal to Danny... I have a problem with that....

Posted by: Observer Feb 8 2007, 08:45 AM

Re: Differences of perception.

Let us lighten up, and I will illustrate with a personal example.

Yesterday I was sitting in my car at a stop light waiting for the light to change.

The driver behind me got distracted and ran into my vehicle.

We each gave a written statement to the police. The other driver stated that she ran into me 20 minutes earlier than the time I said she ran into me.

Big deal. Differences do happen. The fact that we differ on the time of the accident does not mean that she did not run into me while I was stopped at a triffic light.

The police investigated, and determined that there was an accident in which she ran into me.

She did not lie. I did not lie. Yet, the exact time of the accident is in dispute, unless reference is made to the time of the 911 telephone call. That will settle it, more or less.

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 10:01 AM

Clay, did you bother to read the post below Walts? It was written by Linda herself...

In case you didn't read it, here it is AGAIN (yes, please put on your glasses and read it very carefully)

[b]Original statement from Linda Shelton. on July 23, 2004:

"Weren't there many, many people that I counseled with concerning this problem? The only formal counsel I ever received during this entire episode was that of my local pastor, a husband and wifeteam of counselors and the Chairman of the 3ABN Board. That's all. But the problem was bigger than the counsel could relieve."

You may read it yourself here:

http://web.archive.org/web/20040723022959/www.lindashelton.org/letters.php

After you have read it, read it AGAIN. Perhaps the truth will then dawn on you.

Oh yes, I forgot, someone said Linda say's now she had no counsel at all. My goodness, what happened? Did she change her mind or perhaps she decided if she said it enough, it might be true. Unfortunately for her, it is all documented evidence and so no matter what she says, history cannot be erased. Neither can you erase it.

BTW, Dr. Thompson is NOT a liar. Better be careful what you say.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 10:16 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 10:01 AM)

> Clay, did you bother to read the post below Walts? It was written by Linda herself...
>
> In case you didn't read it, here it is AGAIN (yes, please put on your glasses and read it very carefully)
>
> [b]Original statement from Linda Shelton. on July 23, 2004:
>
> "Weren't there many, many people that I counseled with > concerning this problem? The only formal counsel I ever received > during this entire episode was that of my local pastor, a husband and wifeteam of counselors and the Chairman of the 3ABN Board. That's all. But > the problem was bigger than the counsel could relieve."
>
> You may read it yourself here:
>
> http://web.archive.org/web/20040723022959/www.lindashelton.org/letters.php
>
> After you have read it, read it AGAIN. Perhaps the truth will then dawn on you.
>
> Oh yes, I forgot, someone said Linda say's now she had no counsel at all. My goodness, what happened? Did she change her mind or perhaps she decided if she said it enough, it might be true.

> Unfortunately for her, it is all documented evidence and so no matter what she says, history cannot be erased. Neither can you erase it.
>
> BTW, Dr. Thompson is NOT a liar. Better be careful what you say.

.ee,
did read it and I really don't appreciate your inference that I need to put my glasses on, as if I nissed something the first time around, if you knew me you would know I already have them on.... lid you comprehend what I said about the concept of counseling? Lomacang is not qualified to :ounsel... Linda's statement does not suggest hours and hours counseling.

Iow do you know Thompson is not a liar, are you married to him? Do you know him so intimately that ou can say with certainty that he has not lied? I am a grown man and I can say whatever I chose to ay.... my impression, he is a liar... and you may tell him I said it, if he wants to speak to me about it, ell him how he can contact me...

Posted by: Denny Feb 8 2007, 10:21 AM

Lee I see no reason why Thompson's versions of events should be taken as the definitive version. to me its just more fodder for ' He said, she said. From the beginning they were not neutral they took Danny's version from the beginning as The Truth their minds were not open.

"In early March Danny called me. He was very distraught as he told me what Linda was doing. I immediately traveled to 3abn to find out for myself, and for the next two to three months was there for a few days almost every week.
During this time I and a small committee of the board had a number of sessions with Linda, encouraging her to break off the relationship that was ruining her home and putting a serious strain on the ministry."

We now know Linda was seeking treatment for her son without her husband's support, did it not occur to the commite why Danny was not supporting her?

Posted by: Observer Feb 8 2007, 10:33 AM

O. K. Linda is supposed to have said once that she had counseling, and in another place that she did not: Let us look at the following statement for a moment:

Re: "The only formal counsel I ever received during this entire episode was that of my local pastor, a husband and wife team of counselors and the Chairman of the 3ABN Board. That's all. But the problem was bigger than the counsel could relieve."

Let us focus on the part which states that she was counseled by the Chairperson of the Board, whom we know to be Dr. Thompson.

Who/what is Dr. Thompson? He is a physician, and as I understand, a surgeon. He is clearly licensed and competent in those areas. However, I am not aware of him haveing any expertese in the field of counseling. He may have had many rich life experiences. But, I am not aware of him either having any specialized training in counseling, or any field experience in that area.

O.K

Dr. Thompson was the Chair of the 3-ABN Executive Board. As such, in relating to Linda, the expectation would be that he would related to her in terms of reference of the position of the 3-ABN Executive Board. In that role, it would be an ethical violation for him to attempt to relate to her from the stance of a disinterested party.

Professional counselors will typically help a person to explore the issues, consequences, and then make up their own mind. I.e. they will not attempt to force another into a specific mode of action. Dr. Thompson due to his role on the Executive Board, could not fill the role of a professional counselor.

Over a period of time, Linda has obtained a richer understanding of what professional counselors do. It is quite understandable that Linda might once have said that she recieved counseling from X, and at a later time, with a richer understanding of what counselors do, would now say that she did not.

Yes, in once sense, Dr. Thompson probable did counsel Linda. He may have said: Linda, you need to immediately do X, Y, and Z. If you do not do such, I am here to tell you that the 3-ABN Board will do Y to you. If you want to call that counseling, O.K. But, that is not professional counseling in the sense that Linda should have recieved.

Now, as to other people: It may be assumed that every counselor who was arranged by 3-ABN was selected because it was believed that they would advise Linda to do what 3-ABN wanted them to do. Marital counseling is not generally effective when one party selects the counselor. Marital counseling must be a joint effort, and not one dictated by a party on the other side.

NOTE: In regard to SDA pastors being competent to provide counseling: Very few are competent. SDA pastors have their place. But, few are qualified to give in depth couseling. e.g. They may know First Aid, but are probably not qualified to deliver a child. In an emergency situation, I would deliver a child. But, I would never hire myself out to you to do so.

NOTE: In my telephone conversation a few minutes ago, my wife told me of a woman who went into labor. Due to fog her husband was never able to find the hospital. She delivered in the car attended by unqualified people. That is why I picked my illustration.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 10:49 AM

thank you Greg, you summarized that quite nicely....

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 11:00 AM

The statement below does not constitute counselling. meeting with Linda trying to "convince" her to do what they thought should be done, according to information given by Danny. Is this what they were calling the counselling sessions? I am honestly asking Lee, Bystander or whoever knows, for clarification.

> QUOTE
>
> "In early March Danny called me. He was very distraught as he told me what Linda was doing. I immediately traveled to 3abn to find out for myself, and for the next two to three months was there for a few days almost every week. During this time I and a small committee of the board had a number of sessions with Linda, encouraging her to break off the relationship that was ruining her home and putting a serious strain on the ministry."

Posted by: Denny Feb 8 2007, 11:22 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 8 2007, 05:00 PM)
>
> The statement below does not constitute counselling. meeting with Linda trying to "convince" her to do what they thought should be done, according to information given by Danny. Is this what they were calling the counselling sessions? I am honestly asking Lee, Bystander or whoever knows, for clarification.

Too true, if thats called counselling then I'm a brain surgeon....

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 12:03 PM

From the same letter from Walt Thompson:

"It simply could not continue the way things were going. Though I and the board did not get involved in the marriage, we were very much concerned about the ministry. All the while, this was taking a real toll on the ministry. Work was not getting done. The employees were pulled in both directions. Finally, I sent Linda a registered letter (she was not answering my e mails or phone calls). In it I told her that WE WERE OFFERING TO SEND HER AWAY FOR COUNSELING TO A PLACE AND WITH PEOPLE MUTUALLY ACCEPTABLEe. I told her that if she would not accept our offer and find help to get rid of the doctor, we would have to consider removing her from her positions. SHE DID NOT RESPOND to my letter."

like Fox news says "We report it, you decide!"

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 8 2007, 12:13 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 10:03 AM)
>
> From the same letter from Walt Thompson:
>
> "It simply could not continue the way things were going. Though I and the board did not get involved in the marriage, we were very much concerned about the ministry. All the while, this was taking a real toll on the ministry. Work was not getting done. The employees were pulled in both directions. Finally, I sent Linda a registered letter (she was not answering my e mails or phone calls). In it I told her that WE WERE OFFERING TO SEND HER AWAY FOR COUNSELING TO A PLACE AND WITH PEOPLE MUTUALLY ACCEPTABLEe. I told her that if she would not accept our offer and find help to get rid of the doctor, we would have to consider removing her from her positions. SHE DID NOT RESPOND to my letter."
>
> like Fox news says "We report it, you decide!"

You can't possibly put yourself in her shoes, can you? You seriously think she should submit herself to someone they would PICK by this point? She sees the writing on the wall - she knows what he has done to prejedice all sources around. She knows she has no real open fair place to go. If you go to counseling and your mate does all the talking to convice the counselor, and that counselor is CONVINCED without listening to both of you fairly (and yes, there are counselors like this, I am personally aware of this) don't you see by now, she knows what ds is trying to do - make her admit to something that she did not do. No one has listened to her, and ds is set to get someone, at some level, and the levels keep going up, to TELL her to STOP something that is not wrong. No one really gets to hear just from her. They only hear what ds wants them to hear and believe, and if you haven't figured this out by now, you will not get it. God help you that you should never be in a situation like this. He was on a mission, and he knew how to get it done so it looked "right". Who ever it took, however it needed to be. He was not going to be wrong. ds is never wrong. it's not in his make up. So, he blocks the people that can explain and show he is WRONG, but he won't hear of that....he seeks to find people to do just what he needs. He is not interested in resolving anything, he is interested in ENDING something.

Posted by: calvin Feb 8 2007, 12:31 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 12:03 PM) ☐
>
> From the same letter from Walt Thompson:
>
> In it I told her that WE WERE OFFERING TO SEND HER AWAY FOR COUNSELING TO *A PLACE AND WITH PEOPLE MUTUALLY ACCEPTABLEe.

Ok, the offer was a counselor mutually acceptable. That seems fair. There where having problems with their marriage.

Now Sonshineonme are you saying a professional counselor could not handle Danny? I find that argument weak.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 8 2007, 12:13 PM) ☐
>
> You can't possibly put yourself in her shoes, can you? You seriously think she should submit herself to someone they would PICK by this point? She sees the writing on the wall - she knows what he has done to prejedice all sources around. She knows she has no real open fair place to go. If you go to counseling and your mate does all the talking to convice the counselor, and that counselor is CONVINCED without listening to both of you fairly (and yes, there are counselors like this, I am personally aware of this) don't you see by now, she knows what ds is trying to do - make her admit to something that she did not do. No one has listened to her, and ds is set to get someone, at some level, and the levels keep going up, to TELL her to STOP something that is not wrong. No one really gets to hear just from her. They only hear what ds wants them to hear and believe, and if you haven't figured this out by now, you will not get it. God help you that you should never be in a situation like this. He was on a mission, and he knew how to get it done so it looked "right". Who ever it took, however it needed to be. He was not going to be wrong. ds is never wrong. it's not in his make up. So, he blocks the people that can explain and show he is WRONG, but he won't hear of that....he seeks to find people to do just what he needs. He is not interested in resolving anything, he is interested in ENDING something.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 8 2007, 12:32 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 8 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> . . . You seriously think she should submit herself to someone they would PICK by this point? . . .

It is clear that this was not the case. Again from the letter written by Dr. Thompson:

> QUOTE
>
> "It simply could not continue the way things were going. Though I and the board did not get involved in the marriage, we were very much concerned about the ministry. All the while, this was taking a real toll on the ministry. Work was not getting done. The employees were pulled in both directions. Finally, I sent Linda a registered letter (she was not answering my e mails or phone calls). In it I told her that WE WERE OFFERING TO SEND HER AWAY FOR COUNSELING TO A PLACE AND WITH PEOPLE MUTUALLY ACCEPTABLE. I told her that if she would not accept our offer and find help to get rid of the doctor, we would have to consider removing her from her positions. SHE DID NOT RESPOND to my letter."

The BoD in an effort to do what it could to help Danny and Linda save their marriage and save the network from the problems that would come from a divorce offered to pay for and facilitate in any way a counseling opportunity that BOTH Danny and Linda would agree to. Dr. Thompson did not offer to find the counselors, to even suggest some good options, he told her that the BoD would do all they could to help heal the rift between Danny and Linda (and it seems clear here that Dr. Thompson sees the boards role as providing the financial resources and any logisitical support needed). Linda refused by ignoring the offer. Why is this so hard to accept? Linda didn't want to take this opportunity - I don't portend to know what her thoughts were and why she would choose not to, but the facts are clear. She had the opportunity to find a counselor or counselor team that she and Danny would both be comfortable with - the ball was in her court and it appears she was recalcitrant.

- fhb

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 8 2007, 12:39 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> Ok, the offer was a counselor mutually acceptable. That seems fair. There where having problems with their marriage.
>
> Now Sonshineonme are you saying a professional counselor could not handle Danny? I find that argument weak.

Greatly depends on the counselor, what they were told ahead of time, any preconceived things put into their head, and yes, I know of this happening. Don't forget, some people have a very strong ability in the way or persuasion. I dealt with a sociopath who pulled the wool over many "authority" figures many times through his life before he finally ended up comitting the ultimate mistake, which now has him on death row.

I never underestimate the power of a person when he wants something bad enough - not any more.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 12:46 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 12:31 PM) ☐
>
> Ok, the offer was a counselor mutually acceptable. That seems fair. There where having problems with their marriage.
>
> Now Sonshineonme are you saying a professional counselor could not handle Danny? I find that argument weak.

no read what it says....

> QUOTE
>
> I told her that if she would not accept our offer and find help to get rid of the doctor, we would have to consider removing her from her positions.

accept the offer and find help to get rid of the doctor... she maintained and the doctor said there was no relationship... so in essence this is a case of get counseling on our terms OR ELSE.....

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 12:55 PM

sonshineonme, I'm sure you are not suggesting Danny is a "sociopath" right? If you are, then could you reveal your source for this information, like a signed statement from a Psychiatrist? Thanks.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 12:55 PM) ☐
>
> sonshineonme, I'm sure you are not suggesting Danny is a "sociopath" right? If you are, then could you reveal your source for this information, like a signed statement from a Psychiatrist?
> Thanks.

sociopath is not a diagnosis, thus a psychiatrist would not use that term.... but of course you knew that....

Posted by: Skyhook Feb 8 2007, 01:03 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 01:55 PM) ☐
>
> sonshineonme, I'm sure you are not suggesting Danny is a "sociopath" right? If you are, then could you reveal your source for this information, like a signed statement from a Psychiatrist?
> Thanks.

You don't have to be a zoologist to recognize a skunk.

Posted by: calvin Feb 8 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 12:55 PM)
>
> sonshineonme, I'm sure you are not suggesting Danny is a "sociopath" right? If you are, then could you reveal your source for this information, like a signed statement from a Psychiatrist?
> Thanks.

Oh please Lee. Sonshine is not saying this at all. Can't we have a decent discussion without the darts flying?

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 12:46 PM)
>
> no read what it says.... accept the offer and find help to get rid of the doctor... she maintained and the doctor said there was no relationship... so in essence this is a case of get counseling on our terms OR ELSE.....

Clay, my point is that if they could mutually agree on a counselor, the cunselor may not agree with Danny and Dr. Thompson that the doctor was the problem. Lot of ifs.

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 01:14 PM

Clay, of course I know what a sociopath is. Just in case someone forgot, here is a definition at this link: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sociopath

You will notice it speaks of a "diagnosis" which would be coming from a Psychiatrist who is a M.D.

Calvin: sonshineonme was making a suggestion and I just wanted to make sure I understood her correctly. I have no interest in throwing any "darts." But what I am interested is TRUTH.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 03:40 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 01:14 PM)
>
> Clay, of course I know what a sociopath is. Just in case someone forgot, here is a definition at this link: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sociopath
>
> You will notice it speaks of a "diagnosis" which would be coming from a Psychiatrist who is a M.D.
>
> Calvin: sonshineonme was making a suggestion and I just wanted to make sure I understood her correctly. I have no interest in throwing any "darts." But what I am interested is TRUTH.

Lee. once again, when a person has a psychiatric disorder it is described... sociopath is not a diagnosis...it is a label... anti-social personality disorder would be a diagnosis....

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 01:09 PM) ☐
>
> Oh please Lee. Sonshine is not saying this at all. Can't we have a decent discussion without the darts flying?
> Clay, my point is that if they could mutually agree on a counselor, the cunselor may not agree with Danny and Dr. Thompson that the doctor was the problem. Lot of ifs.

understood, however it seems to be phrased in the form of an ultimatum as opposed to let's work on our marriage and avoid divorce.... while I cannot say for certain it appears that the intent was not to salvage a marriage but get out of one.... especially given the fact that the initial excuse for divorce was "spiritual adultery."

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 04:37 PM

Right Fearless Leader, a lot of ifs. Mainly because Danny was looking for someone to convince Linda to stop talking to the Dr. period, an dLinda was nto up for anoother round of small groups "counselling" her(and I dont' blame her). He knew nothing had happened between them at all, but he just wanted her to stop.

Now, the real question I have been asking all along is why? Danny knew Nathan, Linda's son, was being treated by the Dr. He also knew he had not been involved with the boy for a while. Linda had absolutely no support in this from her husband of 20 years. I really want to know how Danny can disconnect so eaily from the child? Apparently, this is a pattern, because his first wife had two girls she brough to their marriage, and the only child he talks about is Melody, his own biological child. What happened to those girls after their mother died? I woiud like to know if they were also int he household the whole time they were married? How could he also disconnect from them so easily? He should have been giving a testimony about raising "three" girls alone for a period of time. Makes you wonder.....he has maried Brandi with two children also.......

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 11:09 AM) ☐
>
> Clay, my point is that if they could mutually agree on a counselor, the cunselor may not agree with Danny and Dr. Thompson that the doctor was the problem. Lot of ifs.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 04:58 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 8 2007, 05:37 PM) ☐
>
> Right Fearless Leader, a lot of ifs. He should have been giving a testimony about raising "three" girls alone for a period of time. Makes you wonder.....he has maried Brandi with two children also.......

Exactly... to many "ifs".

So it has been stated time and again, the offer was made to get them counseling together. But, who here knows that the offer was genuine? It simply seems, to me, that one can "offer" anything, that does not mean that one will follow through. And, even "if" they were really willing do it, that still did not obligate Danny to agree. Remember the qualifier is "mutually acceptable". In light of the things stated by Danny here, right here on BSDA, without any prompting from anyone on BSDA, It is my opinion that he would NOTaccept someone objective to work with the two of them. Even with Linda wanting full disclosure with the ASI assistance, who refused to settle the issue with full disclosure?

With that said, when these pillars of honestly, truth, and justice follow through with their "claim" to start an "urban" T.V. ministry then maybe we should seriously consider that their "offer" was sincere. Until then many of us are not going to hold our breath waiting.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 05:01 PM

Sera said

> QUOTE
>
> In light of the things stated by Danny here, right here on BSDA, without any prompting from anyone on BSDA, It is my opinion that he would accept someone objective to work with the two of them.

did you mean he would or would not accept?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 05:25 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 06:01 PM)
>
> Sera said did you mean he would or would not accept?

Yes, thanks for the save... NOT is exactly what I meant to say

---

Posted by: Lee Feb 8 2007, 07:30 PM

Sera, do you have any kind of documented evidence that Danny would not accept someone to work objectively with them? When did he say this? I'd like to look at it.

Thanks

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 07:34 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 07:30 PM)
>
> Sera, do you have any kind of documented evidence that Danny would not accept someone to work objectively with them? When did he say this? I'd like to look at it.
>
> Thanks

Lee, did you not see Sera preface her comment with "in my opinion?" That usually suggests that the person is giving an opinion, not that there is evidence stating such..... I am sure you simply overlooked that...

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 09:22 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> Lee, did you not see Sera preface her comment with "in my opinion?" That usually suggests that the person is giving an opinion, not that there is evidence stating such..... I am sure you simply overlooked that...

"Sigh" Lee obviously missed that. Yes she must have overlooked it. I would suggest she get her glasses and read it again, but she may not wear glasses. Though changing the font size would help just as much.

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 9 2007, 10:55 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 8 2007, 07:30 PM)
>
> Sera, do you have any kind of documented evidence that Danny would not accept someone to work objectively with them? When did he say this? I'd like to look at it.
>
> Thanks

Respectfully, Lee, there is a growing group of honest folk who would dearly love to look at documented evidence...of a lot of things...many of which have been requested on this forum...many times...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> Lee, did you not see Sera preface her comment with "in my opinion?" That usually suggests that the person is giving an opinion, not that there is evidence stating such..... I am sure you simply overlooked that...

Doesn't one have to have ones eyes open, in order to overlook?

38

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3abn Is Coming Out With An Urban Channel

Posted by: srickperry Aug 8 2006, 12:32 PM

Hey Y'all,

Wintley Phipps came WAY OUT here to Oregon and at a sermon and concert he mentioned that 3ABN is coming out with an Urban channel. Pastor Phipps has a heart for urban youth and mentioned 3ABN's push to minister to urban youth.

Anyone heard about it? I guess I could go to 3ABN's site and find out for myself.

Take care,

--Rick

Posted by: princessdi Aug 8 2006, 02:27 PM

......or you can read the threads within this forum. There is quite a bit of info about this within a few of the threads.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 8 2006, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 8 2006, 02:27 PM)
>
> ......or you can read the threads within this forum. There is quite a bit of info about this within a few of the threads.

.........REALLY good idea. And when you have read, and taken good notes....... then maybe you will want to take the next step and "find out" what Wintley thinks about them...... and whether he is real comfortable having his name linked with 3ABN anything.......

3ABN's "push to minister"........

Posted by: missthg Aug 8 2006, 03:21 PM

Does that mean that there will be black people on the channel with no makeup and bad hair and singing out of a hymnal?

Posted by: pmorris68 Aug 8 2006, 04:36 PM

I have heard this before, but haven't seen it realized yet. And not sure what he knows about URBAN!!!! LOL!!!

Posted by: watchbird Aug 8 2006, 04:58 PM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Aug 8 2006, 03:21 PM)
>
> Does that mean that there will be black people on the channel with no makeup and bad hair and singing out of a hymnal?

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Aug 8 2006, 04:36 PM)
>
> I have heard this before, but haven't seen it realized yet. And not sure what he knows about URBAN!!!! LOL!!!

Hoooooooboy.... I know I shouldn't say this...... but I've just gotta do it..... 'scuse me ...... but isn't equating "urban" and "black people" jus' a wee bit (whisper) "racist"?

There ... I said it ... I'll go hide now............. sofa1.gif

---

Posted by: Freedom Aug 8 2006, 07:31 PM

I could be off base, but ...

Umm, could Wintley Phlipps be referring to his new ministry that he started for intercity kids, etc. that 3ABN gave him lots of money for?

Is that the urban he's referring to?

> QUOTE(srickperry @ Aug 8 2006, 10:32 AM)
>
> Hey Y'all,
>
> Wintley Phipps came WAY OUT here to Oregon and at a sermon and concert he mentioned that 3ABN is coming out with an Urban channel. Pastor Phipps has a heart for urban youth and mentioned 3ABN's push to minister to urban youth.
>
> Anyone heard about it? I guess I could go to 3ABN's site and find out for myself.
>
> Take care,
>
> --Rick

Posted by: Clay Aug 8 2006, 07:42 PM

> QUOTE(Freedom @ Aug 8 2006, 07:31 PM)
>
> I could be off base, but ...
>
> Umm, could Wintley Phlipps be referring to his new ministry that he started for intercity kids, etc. that 3ABN gave him lots of money for?
>
> Is that the urban he's referring to?

probably...

Posted by: awesumtenor Aug 8 2006, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 8 2006, 05:58 PM)
>
> Hooooooboy.... I know I shouldn't say this...... but I've just gotta do it..... 'scuse me ...... but isn't equating "urban" and "black people" jus' a wee bit (whisper) "racist"?
>
> There ... I said it ... I'll go hide now............. sofa1.gif

IMO, it is, at best, stereotypical and presumptive in the extreme... but no need to hide; around these parts, taboos are the side dish served with the sacred cow of the day...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Johann Aug 9 2006, 04:01 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Aug 9 2006, 05:05 AM)
>
> IMO, it is, at best, stereotypical and presumptive in the extreme... but no need to hide; around these parts, taboos are the side dish served with the sacred cow of the day...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

I love the way you express it, Kevin. You are a great friend!

Posted by: zaklynn Aug 9 2006, 04:12 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 8 2006, 04:58 PM)
>
> Hooooooooboy.... I know I shouldn't say this...... but I've just gotta do it..... 'scuse me ...... but isn't equating "urban" and "black people" jus' a wee bit (whisper) "racist"?
>
> There ... I said it ... I'll go hide now............. sofa1.gif

Right........and cause I'm black, now I'll be racing home to the set to watch 3ABN? not........

Posted by: lambjan Sep 13 2006, 09:39 PM

In response to the 3ABN URBAN CHANNEL, I saw a program where W. Phipps and D. Shelton made the announcement that they were going into a partnership to start up an URBAN 3ABN.

On August 23, 2006 I sent and E-mail to 3ABN asking when this URBAN CHANNEL would air. The respone I received was WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY URBAN CHANNEL! They had no ideal what I was talking about! After sending 3 e-mails explaining what the URBAN CHANNEL was I gave up. I heard that this channel is suppose to start Sept 06, but have not heard or seen anything from 3ABN about it.

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 13 2006, 09:54 PM

> QUOTE(lambjan @ Sep 13 2006, 08:39 PM)
>
> In response to the 3ABN URBAN CHANNEL, I saw a program where W. Phipps and D. Shelton made the announcement that they were going into a partnership to start up an URBAN 3ABN.
>
> On August 23, 2006 I sent and E-mail to 3ABN asking when this URBAN CHANNEL would air. The respone I received was WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY URBAN CHANNEL! They had no ideal what I was talking about! After sending 3 e-mails explaining what the URBAN CHANNEL was I gave up. I heard that this channel is suppose to start Sept 06, but have not heard or seen anything from 3ABN about it.

I'm guessing that maybe Mr. Phipps has sensed a possible delay in this new channel....

Posted by: justme Sep 15 2006, 11:23 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 13 2006, 10:54 PM)
>
> I'm guessing that maybe Mr. Phipps has sensed a possible delay in this new channel....

OR will this be a means to raise another few million bucks that will bever go where it was supposed to go, ... like the TWO "SANCTUARY/TABERNACLE" projects use to raise millions and yet never materialized.

"THE PAST IS PROLOGUE"!

Posted by: watchbird Sep 15 2006, 11:54 AM

> QUOTE(justme @ Sep 15 2006, 11:23 AM)
>
> OR will this be a means to raise another few million bucks that will bever go where it was supposed to go, ... like the TWO "SANCTUARY/TABERNACLE" projects use to raise millions and yet never materialized.
>
> "THE PAST IS PROLOGUE"!

Those who do not learn from the past are condemned to repeat it.

I keep hoping that someone will contact Wintley Phipps and make sure he is reading BSDA.

What he does with the information is up to him, but I think he should be amply warned of the past as we know it and have it recorded here.

Posted by: princessdi Sep 15 2006, 11:56 AM

Don't hide. As kevin said, it truly it racist, however, it is the way things are. i.e., you have contemporary gospel (white folks with a few blacks sprinkled in), Southern gospel(Gaithers,e tc. again a few black folks sprinkled in, Jesse Dixon), then you have Urban gospel(black folks with a few whites sprinkled in Mrtha Munizzi, Vicki Yohe). IOW, the term term is commonly used to described anything black, music to neighbrhoods. Just one of those politically incoorect things we do.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 8 2006, 02:58 PM)
>
> Hoooooooboy.... I know I shouldn't say this...... but I've just gotta do it..... 'scuse me ...... but isn't equating "urban" and "black people" jus' a wee bit (whisper) "racist"?

> There ... I said it ... I'll go hide now............. sofa1.gif

---

Posted by: västergötland Sep 15 2006, 03:08 PM

Defining music by the colour of those who are its main faces to the world? Ill probably never learn to understand that mindset...

Posted by: simplysaved Sep 17 2006, 06:45 PM

Here is the original thread posted in December 05 about the new network....

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=7397&hl

> QUOTE(srickperry @ Aug 8 2006, 01:32 PM)
>
> Hey Y'all,
>
> Wintley Phipps came WAY OUT here to Oregon and at a sermon and concert he mentioned that 3ABN is coming out with an Urban channel. Pastor Phipps has a heart for urban youth and mentioned 3ABN's push to minister to urban youth.
>
> Anyone heard about it? I guess I could go to 3ABN's site and find out for myself.
>
> Take care,
>
> --Rick

Posted by: lambjan Sep 20 2006, 09:46 AM

> QUOTE(lambjan @ Sep 13 2006, 10:39 PM)
>
> In response to the 3ABN URBAN CHANNEL, I saw a program where W. Phipps and D. Shelton made the announcement that they were going into a partnership to start up an URBAN 3ABN.
>
> On August 23, 2006 I sent and E-mail to 3ABN asking when this URBAN CHANNEL would air. The respone I received was WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY URBAN CHANNEL! They had no ideal what I was talking about! After sending 3 e-mails explaining what the URBAN CHANNEL was I gave up. I heard that this channel is suppose to start Sept 06, but have not heard or seen anything from 3ABN about it.

THIS IS ANY UPDATE TO THE E-MAIL I WROTE ON SEPT. 13th! I contacted 3ABN again and ask the same question concerning an URBAN 3ABN, below is the response.

^^

Thank you for writing to us. As far as we know we do not have details of Wintley Phipps will be launching the Urban 3ABN. We only know about this as a plan but there are not specific.

Posted by: Clay Sep 20 2006, 09:54 AM

> QUOTE(lambjan @ Sep 20 2006, 09:46 AM)
>
> THIS IS ANY UPDATE TO THE E-MAIL I WROTE ON SEPT. 13th! I contacted 3ABN again and ask the same question concerning an URBAN 3ABN, below is the response.
>
> ^^
>
> Thank you for writing to us. As far as we know we do not have details of Wintley Phipps will be launching the Urban 3ABN. We only know about this as a plan but there are not specific.

thanks for trying to track that down.....

Posted by: Panama_Pete Dec 31 2006, 11:07 PM

> QUOTE(lambjan @ Sep 20 2006, 09:46 AM)
>
> THIS IS ANY UPDATE TO THE E-MAIL I WROTE ON SEPT. 13th! I contacted 3ABN again and ask the same question concerning an URBAN 3ABN, below is the response.
>
> ^^
>
> Thank you for writing to us. As far as we know we do not have details of Wintley Phipps will be launching the Urban 3ABN. We only know about this as a plan but there are not specific.

Wintley Phipps is doing television work for Radio Bible Class, Grand Rapids, MI. He did a very nice job. I saw one of them one Sunday morning on the local TV station.

If you have Realplayer installed on your PC, you can listen to Wintley Phipps narrate a program he did for Day of Discovery / Radio Bible Class

Here's the audio/video link. Here's one that is still online.

Africa and the Bible: The River of Faith

http://www.rbc.org/radio_and_tv/day_of_discovery/49973.aspx

"Are all races created equal in the eyes of God? Down through the ages, certain people have viewed those with darker skin as somehow less human—using skin color as an excuse to enslave and marginalize people. Does God judge us by the color of our skin? Do people of color have any part in the heritage of Christianity, or should they be looking somewhere else for their faith? Join host Wintley Phipps as he follows the "rivers of faith" and uncovers the truth about Africa and the Bible."

Pete

Posted by: Pickle Jan 1 2007, 07:01 AM

Haven't heard of that outfit before. Is it Adventist?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 1 2007, 09:44 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 1 2007, 07:01 AM)
>
> Haven't heard of that outfit before. Is it Adventist?

No, RBC is not Adventist, but Wintley will need to network [pun] as he ventures further into television, and Radio Bible Class is a good choice for that. RBC can help Wintley in many ways and Wintley is unlikely to pick up bad advice there.

Financially, Radio Bible Class sets a very good example for Wintley. Here's a little excerpt from some research by Stephen Winzenburg, Grand View College, Des Moines, Iowa.

http://faculty.gvc.edu/swinzenburg/tv_ministers_study_2000.html

"Radio Bible Class, producer of Day of Discovery, is the industry leader in providing necessary information quickly and completely. Within one week of e-mailing a request for information, a copy of the organization's IRS form 990 arrived, which included the addresses for the board of directors and the salary of president Martin DeHaan. That is everything I needed to know and, after seeing that they spend virtually no air time asking for money, would feel confident contributing to the Radio Bible Class ministry. The late material that was received from Billy Graham (after a second request) and Charles Stanley was just as helpful, though not sent in a timely manner."

Posted by: Pickle Jan 1 2007, 10:44 AM

I noticed that in one of United States Dream Academy's Form 990s, it lists Wintley as working 40 hours a week on average for that organization, and over three years time he was compensated more than $430,000 by that organization.

Does the Academy still exist? If so, does he work 40 hours a week as a pastor too, and does he get a full salary from the conference too?

I hope he doesn't work himself into the grave. 40 + 40 + this type of venture too. I couldn't handle all that.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 1 2007, 11:27 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 1 2007, 10:44 AM)
>
> I noticed that in one of United States Dream Academy's Form 990s, it lists Wintley as working 40 hours a week on average for that organization, and over three years time he was compensated more than $430,000 by that organization.
>
> Does the Academy still exist? If so, does he work 40 hours a week as a pastor too, and does he get a full salary from the conference too?
>
> I hope he doesn't work himself into the grave. 40 + 40 + this type of venture too. I couldn't handle all that.

http://www.washingtoninformer.com/A1USDream-2005May30.html

Oprah Winfrey is pictured with at-risk youth who have benefited from the services of the U.S. Dream Academy. Winfrey was on had at the organization's annual gala fundraiser to make a $1 million contribution.

Master of Ceremony Wintley Phipps, the president and founder of the U.S. Dream Academy, began the evening with the bestowment of the President's award.

Posted by: LadyTenor Jan 4 2007, 03:31 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Sep 15 2006, 12:23 PM)
>
> OR will this be a means to raise another few million bucks that will bever go where it was supposed to go, ... like the TWO "SANCTUARY/TABERNACLE" projects use to raise millions and yet never materialized.
>
> "THE PAST IS PROLOGUE"!

what project is this that you are referring to?

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 1 2007, 12:07 AM)
>
> Wintley Phipps is doing television work for Radio Bible Class, Grand Rapids, MI. He did a very nice job. I saw one of them one Sunday morning on the local TV station.
>
> If you have Realplayer installed on your PC, you can listen to Wintley Phipps narrate a program he did for Day of Discovery / Radio Bible Class
>
> Here's the audio/video link. Here's one that is still online.
>
> Africa and the Bible: The River of Faith
>
> http://www.rbc.org/radio_and_tv/day_of_discovery/49973.aspx
>
> "Are all races created equal in the eyes of God? Down through the ages, certain people have viewed those with darker skin as somehow less human—using skin color as an excuse to enslave and marginalize people. Does God judge us by the color of our skin? Do people of color have any part in the heritage of Christianity, or should they be looking somewhere else for their faith? Join host Wintley Phipps as he follows the "rivers of faith" and uncovers the truth about Africa and the Bible."
>
> Pete

He preached a sermon on this very issue in church a few months ago. It was very powerful. That man can preach! He also announced he would be doing this series. It aired on a local religious channel a few months ago and he said he knew it would be aired at later dates in other local markets.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 1 2007, 11:44 AM)
>
> I noticed that in one of United States Dream Academy's Form 990s, it lists Wintley as working 40 hours a week on average for that organization, and over three years time he was compensated more than $430,000 by that organization.
>
> Does the Academy still exist? If so, does he work 40 hours a week as a pastor too, and does he get a full salary from the conference too?
>
> I hope he doesn't work himself into the grave. 40 + 40 + this type of venture too. I couldn't handle all that.

From what I hear, he draws a salary from pastoring my home church but that he donates all of that salary because he said he does not need it. I know he works hard and travels a lot...and still is in church more often than not. Also, most church officers have his cell phone number and he knows what is going on in church. Some folks may take issue with him working these two positions, but it does not matter to me. I guess because I'm a hustler at heart and am business minded, I am biased toward him on this issue.

Posted by: jene Jan 5 2007, 04:23 PM

From what I hear, he draws a salary from pastoring my home church but that he donates all of that salary because he said he does not need it. I know he works hard and travels a lot...and still is in church more often than not. Also, most church officers have his cell phone number and he knows what is going on in church. Some folks may take issue with him working these two positions, but it does not matter to me. I guess because I'm a hustler at heart and am business minded, I am biased toward him on this issue.
[/quote]

If he runs the Academy and the church efficiently I ain't mad at him. He donates his salary from the church? That's alright in my book. Sounds like he is genuine in his ministry.

ofl

Do you all know where I can get my hands on a soundtrac of his song, He's able?

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 5 2007, 05:12 PM

> QUOTE(jene @ Jan 5 2007, 05:23 PM)
>
> [font=Georgia][size=3][color=#993399]
>
> Do you all know where I can get my hands on a soundtrac of his song, He's able?

From what I understand, he doesnt allow soundtracks of his songs to be made... there are several gospel singers who choose to not do so...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 12:34 PM

So, is this just another ~~lie~~ fabrication? Was, or is, this claim, that an urban channel was to be started, just an attempt to gain greater financial support from this particular group of people who may not be lending their full support to this "ministry"? Is this "ministry" waiting for money to come in from the "urban" population before they start this project?

Why is an "urban" channel even needed? Is this "ministry" unable to use the current programs as a vehicle to minister to the "urban" population? Or is it that they don't have anyone, on the current programming, who would appeal to the "urban" folks? If so, why is that?

bum

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 8 2007, 01:13 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 8 2007, 10:34 AM)
>
> So, is this just another ~~lie~~ fabrication? Was, or is, this claim, that an urban channel was to be started, just an attempt to gain greater financial support from this particular group of people who may not be lending their full support to this "ministry"? Is this "ministry" waiting for money to come in from the "urban" population before they start this project?
>
> Why is an "urban" channel even needed? Is this "ministry" unable to use the current programs as a vehicle to minister to the "urban" population? Or is it that they don't have anyone, on the current programming, who would appeal to the "urban" folks? If so, why is that?
>
> bum

Thank you Sera. I had been wondering the same thing when the information first came out about this ministry. You asked the questions I had in my mind but was unable to put into word on screen.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 8 2007, 01:58 PM

In the past I made a large enough contribution to USDreamAcademy.org that they kept me on their mailing list. I decided two years ago due to professional burnout to take a sabbatical and have not contributed or stayed in touch like the past.

I just went to the website to see if Danny was on their board or if 3ABN was a partner and found nothing listed.

I wrote an email asking for status of the proposed channel. I will let you know if I hear anything.

just fyi
nw

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 8 2007, 02:23 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 8 2007, 03:58 PM)
>
> In the past I made a large enough contribution to USDreamAcademy.org that they kept me on their mailing list. I decided two years ago due to professional burnout to take a sabbatical and have not contributed or stayed in touch like the past.

> I just went to the website to see if Danny was on their board or if 3ABN was a partner and found nothing listed.
>
> just fyi
> nw

i NW,

s there any connection between USDA and a new channel in 3ABN's lineup? I remember back around 998 sitting with Pastor Phipps over dinner and discussing his dream for this endeavor. At the time here was no mention of a television channel through 3ABN that would reach urban areas.

remember the excitement in Pastor Phipp's eyes as we discussed all the possibilities. I can only magine that his involvement in a channel in 3ABN's lineup that will focus it's energies and attentions n the nations largest cities will be a highly successful endeavor. I also know that Pastor Phipp's is a enacious man (a good thing), so if he is involved I have no doubt it will happen.

fhb

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 8 2007, 02:44 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 8 2007, 03:23 PM)
>
> Hi NW,
>
> Is there any connection between USDA and a new channel in 3ABN's lineup? I remember back around 1998 sitting with Pastor Phipps over dinner and discussing his dream for this endeavor. At the time there was no mention of a television channel through 3ABN that would reach urban areas.
>
> I remember the excitement in Pastor Phipp's eyes as we discussed all the possibilities. I can only imagine that his involvement in a channel in 3ABN's lineup that will focus it's energies and attentions on the nations largest cities will be a highly successful endeavor. I also know that Pastor Phipp's is a tenacious man (a good thing), so if he is involved I have no doubt it will happen.
>
> - fhb

i FHB,

just don't know enough to answer. It has been at least 3 years since I talked to Pastor Phipps or the hief Operating Officer at US Dream Academy, C. Dianne Booker, J.D. My parents who are the 3ABN vatchers always let me know when they hear anything about Pastor Phipps being on 3ABN and they re the ones who told me about the announcement of the proposed channel.

always smile when my non-SDA friends in DC would hear something about USDream Academy from heir contacts such as Points of Light Foundation or when they attended the inauguration and Pastor hipps sang. I have followed his career since he sang at AUC in the 70s on Sabbath at the request of on Robertson who was the head of AUCs music department. Pastor Phipps was at Julliard at the time.

digress. Any way, I am in the process of getting my proverbial feet back on the ground and determining where I want to spend my energy at this point in my life. I wrote the email and I will see if anyone ever responds. If no email response, later this year I might take further steps to seek an answer.

Until then, I have nothing I can add to the discussion.

nw

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 03:12 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Feb 8 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> Thank you Sera. I had been wondering the same thing when the information first came out about this ministry. You asked the questions I had in my mind but was unable to put into word on screen.

Glad to be of service.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 04:00 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 8 2007, 02:58 PM)
>
> In the past I made a large enough contribution to USDreamAcademy.org that they kept me on their mailing list. I decided two years ago due to professional burnout to take a sabbatical and have not contributed or stayed in touch like the past.
>
> I just went to the website to see if Danny was on their board or if 3ABN was a partner and found nothing listed.
>
> I wrote an email asking for status of the proposed channel. I will let you know if I hear anything.
>
> just fyi
> nw

NW:

It is very kind of you to follow up to see what the progress is on this project. We look forward to hearing about the response you get.

Danke

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 09:30 PM

money. money and mo money..... looking for additional revenue streams I suppose.....

Posted by: 4reneyonly Feb 8 2007, 10:47 PM

The thought of 3abn looking out for urban youth, reminds me of how the Roman Catholic Church looks after the very poor in Mexico...all the while lining their coffers with the few coins that their parishioners can scrape together in hopes of increased blessings and heaven in the future... Maybe Danny will be the new "Urban Cowboy-aka Da Pope" rofl

---

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 11:07 PM

> QUOTE(4reneyonly @ Feb 8 2007, 10:47 PM)
>
> The thought of 3abn looking out for urban youth, reminds me of how the Roman Catholic Church looks after the very poor in Mexico...all the while lining their coffers with the few coins that their parishioners can scrape together in hopes of increased blessings and heaven in the future... Maybe Danny will be the new "Urban Cowboy-aka Da Pope" rofl

Obviously Wintley Phipps doesn't agree with you. And by the way, 3ABN would not be" looking out" for urban youth. Wintley's organization would. 3abn will only air the programs.

edited for content. No more rudeness from you wwjd, count on it.

Posted by: 4reneyonly Feb 8 2007, 11:33 PM

My comments were about 3ABN, not Mr Phipps, so try being clear on whom I am addressing my comments to, and towards, before you accuse me of ridiculing someone I did not.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:10 PM

I hope nobody is holding their breath waiting on this to happen...

39

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ A Suggetsted End To The Conflict

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 6 2007, 11:28 PM

Wouldn't it be nice if we could finally have a end to this saga. What if Danny, Linda, and the doctor and the board and all those involved would come on 3abn together to ask forgiveness of each other and actually fufill the "Mending broken Hearts" theme. You know even now it is not to late, God will and does forgive. What a black eye it would give satan and his plans. I always thought it was interesting after David was caught and outed that God turned the tragedy into a triumph and Solomon the illegitimate son became king.

Even now there is hope if only we would grasp the hand of God and let go of pride. No, some things will remain the same and others will have to except the outcome but what a testimony to the world would it be. But pride and self must be crucified and then God could be glorified.

If anyone else would like to give a example of a possible outcome that would glorify God please give it. Sometimes prayer can melt a heart, and then what was the worst situation can be turned to a blessing and a triumph in the end. If only Danny would understand that God loves him and his mercy is soooooo goood that ALL THINGS WORK TOGETHER FOR THE GLORY OF GOD.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 6 2007, 11:40 PM

There should also be some asking of forgiveness of all those Church of God folk who have gotten threatened by Danny or his lawyer if they talk about Tommy's child molestation allegations.

And then there needs to be some asking of forgiveness of donors if their money has been misappropriated.

And anyone who has been wrongfully terminated, like the folks that are pursuing lawsuits now, and those whoa ren't. They need to be asked forgiveness of too.

It's not all about Linda. I wish people would stop pretending that it is. Her case is a small part of everything that has gone on. And as long as Danny keeps pretending to the contrary, the whole thing is not going to get resolved.

Posted by: roxe Feb 7 2007, 12:08 AM mystery-man and pickle,

i've been pleading with God for this to happen since i started reading here last november...
what a TRIUMPH for the LORD and a black eye for satan should that happen...

praying, praying, praying... never stop...

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 12:11 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 6 2007, 10:40 PM)
>
> There should also be some asking of forgiveness of all those Church of God folk who have gotten threatened by Danny or his lawyer if they talk about Tommy's child molestation allegations.
>
> And then there needs to be some asking of forgiveness of donors if their money has been misappropriated.
>
> And anyone who has been wrongfully terminated, like the folks that are pursuing lawsuits now, and those whoa ren't. They need to be asked forgiveness of too.
>
> It's not all about Linda. I wish people would stop pretending that it is. Her case is a small part of everything that has gone on. And as long as Danny keeps pretending to the contrary, the whole thing is not going to get resolved.

I notice that you are saying "if" now instead of just making the allegations a statement of fact like you usually do. Hope you're not a day late and a dollar short but anyway....

question: Something was brought to my attention that was on wickipedia. You were challenging something about the catholic church but you signed your name Dr. Pickle. I know you are not a medical doctor so I was wondering what your education was and what you are a Dr. of?

If anyone else would like to give a example of a possible outcome that would glorify God please give it. Sometimes prayer can melt a heart, and then what was the worst situation can be turned to a blessing and a triumph in the end. If only Danny would understand that God loves him and his mercy is soooooo goood that ALL THINGS WORK TOGETHER FOR THE GLORY OF GOD.
[/quote]

Your last paragraph only mentions Danny. Shouldn't your thoughts include Linda as well?

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 12:20 AM

Thank you, MM, for suggesting a good possible outcome.

As Bob Pickle has pointed out, a little more is needed than you suggest in your scenario below, because many others have been hurt!

> QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 7 2007, 12:28 AM)
>
> Wouldn't it be nice if we could finally have a end to this saga. What if Danny, Linda, and the doctor and the board and all those involved would come on 3abn together to ask forgiveness of each other and actually fufill the "Mending broken Hearts" theme. You know even now it is not to late, God will and does forgive. What a black eye it would give satan and his plans. I always thought it was interesting after David was caught and outed that God turned the tragedy into a triumph and Solomon the illegitimate son became king.

Just a small but very important correction re the biblical story:
Solomon was not the illegitimate son. The child born out of wedlock died! That was the penalty for David's transgression. Even though David was forgiven, the child still died, as God had said. There was much more fall-out from David's sin, and God did not prevent the consequences of his sin from happening. Just so, today we may be forgiven, but that does not mean that there is no price to pay -- often the natural consequences of our transgression. However, this price is small indeed compared to the temporal and eternal consequences of being unwilling to repent and seek forgiveness.

> QUOTE
>
> Even now there is hope if only we would grasp the hand of God and let go of pride. No, some things will remain the same and others will have to except the outcome but what a testimony to the world would it be. But pride and self must be crucified and then God could be glorified.

Amen!!

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 7 2007, 12:33 AM

Obviously, not all the wrongs will be righted, fallible human beings cannot go back and change the past, only the now and the future. Forgiveness intails by its very nature the acceptance of being wronged and forgiving the one that wrongs you.

Now the victims of Tommy need our love and sympathy and we need to lead by example, meaning helping them to forgive. No it is not all about Linda and neither should it be, Christ should be our main concern and the glorifying of Him.

I think about the many many times God has forgiven me and not even allowed me to receive my just recompense for the things I have done and it makes me weep. After all none of us will make it to heaven on our own reputation or merits. Jesus and his death alone for our sins is our only ticket.

Maybe if Danny and the others read this they will see that more than anything we want God to be glorified and see that everyone including Him and His brother and the victims and the EVERYONE is saved. But the requirements of God is this. "If we confess our sins He is faithful to forgive us and cleans us from all unrighteousness". I am in no less need of a savior than Danny and whoever, I stand filthy before God, not even better that Tommy.

What I am saying by no means is intended to justify sin either, all I am trying to say is that God is here to be the sin bearer no matter how bad (Wow it brings tears to my eyes) what a LOVELY AWESOME GOD WE SERVE. I think that Danny you being the catalyst if only you would repent and fall at the feet of Jesus. NOW MAYBE YOU ARE NOT GUILTY OF ALL SAID OF YOU- but neither was Jesus guilty to die but for loves sake he did it anyway. Instead of talking about this forum call your ex wife offer her to come back- pray with her and the others on television for the sake of God. HUMBLE yourselves and God would be glorified.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 7 2007, 12:47 AM

One of the greatest challenges that we, as Christians, face is to love our neighbors. This is the greatest of the gifts of God and yet, it is more often than not, the most difficult for us to live and share. After all that has happened, after all that has been said, after all the fighting and threatening, and yes, even horribly-unchristian comments, I believe, I MUST believe that deep down, we are all here for one common purpose - to see resolution. Unfortunately, there is no single act that can appease all parties and perhaps that is understandable considering the amount of hurt that has been done and the number of people involved.

I think we all know how difficult it is to forgive those that we love, perhaps out of pride, or anger, or plain stubborness. Now think of forgiving those that we do not love, those that have hurt us, perhaps even the ones that are supposed to love us the most. How does one begin to forgive them? It would be nice to think that we would be able to treat them like Christ treated us. It would be nice to think that after a single conversation all wrongs would be righted as God allows us to do through prayer. But, that is not going to happen. So people are left to their "sides", their "corners", their "teams" to decide what their next step will be and what will cause the most damage.

What happens if, in the end, we are left with people who are more broken than before, just divided?

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 7 2007, 01:14 AM

Inga, I thought Solomon was Bethsheba son, anyway I cant look it up at this time. I just wanted you to know tho I was in no way trying to imply no consequences for actions what I was saying was the just compensation was not given because God tempered it with love. The penalty for David was and should have been death but God so loved.

Sorry if I misquoted or seem to have implied something like no consequences, obviously 3ABN and the rest have already suffered some consequences for their actions. I was saying how loving God is that he tempers what should be the result of our sin due to his great love for us. Also often he only allowes the punishment not because he did not forgive but to be as a lesson to others not to repeat the same sin. David's resulting punishment was I believe for one thing as a deterrent for use today. Men (smiley face) already use David as an excuse just think how out of control we would be if David suffered no consequences.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 7 2007, 06:45 AM

I've seen people on here for ages saying there needs to be repetance and forgiveness, and this is so, however there also needs to be restitution and even punishment for wrong deeds. If Danny is really the man of God as is claimed then he would step down and let others take his place (remember David was not allowed to build the temple because of his sins.) The lease on the jet needs to not be renewed etc.

Richard

Posted by: Pickle Feb 7 2007, 07:37 AM

> QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 7 2007, 12:33 AM) ☐
>
> Maybe if Danny and the others read this they will see that more than anything we want God to be glorified and see that everyone including Him and His brother and the victims and the EVERYONE is saved. But the requirements of God is this. "If we confess our sins He is faithful to forgive us and cleans us from all unrighteousness". I am in no less need of a savior than Danny and whoever, I stand filthy before God, not even better that Tommy.

All I've wanted to see is an acknowledgement or wrong doing, an apology, an asking for forgiveness. That's all God asks for too, along with total surrender. Without this, we cannot be saved.

Bystander, your user name is "Bystander," which is defined as "a nonparticipant spectator." Obviously, you are not a nonparticipant, and you are more than a mere spectator. If user names aren't necessarily a factual description of reality, why your question?

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 7 2007, 08:12 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 7 2007, 07:37 AM) ☐
>
> All I've wanted to see is an acknowledgement or wrong doing, an apology, an asking for forgiveness. That's all God asks for too, along with total surrender. Without this, we cannot be saved.

Is this truly so? Is that all God asks for? If so, I would ask why DID that illegitimate son of David die? After all, David fasted and prayed, humbling himself for a week for his sin with Bathsheba and for the child's life. God STILL sent the much-deserved punishment to David, and the child died. Did God forgive him? Certainly. But that in no way erased the consequences of his sin.

I agree that God asks for confession and repentance. But God does not say that when we mouth the words "I'm sorry" that all will be "happily ever after" with no ill effects from our wrongs. We cannot hope to outwit God, nor flout his laws. His mercies are great, but, in His own words...

"Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty..." Exodus 34:7

Posted by: Treniece Feb 7 2007, 08:42 AM

According to Danny, he is going through trials. This probably means a lot of things that are being said about him are untrue.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 7 2007, 08:53 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Feb 7 2007, 09:12 AM) ☐
>
> Is this truly so? Is that all God asks for? If so, I would ask why DID that illegitimate son of David die? After all, David fasted and prayed, humbling himself for a week for his sin with Bathsheba and for the child's life. God STILL sent the much-deserved punishment to David, and the child died. Did God forgive him? Certainly. But that in no way erased the consequences of his sin.
>
> I agree that God asks for confession and repentance. But God does not say that when we mouth the words "I'm sorry" that all will be "happily ever after" with no ill effects from our wrongs. We cannot hope to outwit God, nor flout his laws. His mercies are great, but, in His own words...
>
> "Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty..." Exodus 34:7

Thank you Greenie for pointing this out. And let's also not forget that restitution is part of confession and repentance, without which we may consider the confession and repentance to be mere forms and not the kind that God considers true repentance.

Zachaeas is probably the most specific NT pattern for the appropriate restitution.... not only restoring what has been taken, but restoring it "four-fold". When Danny ... and the rest of 3abn admins.... take seriously THIS pattern...

when they restore to their lower echelon employees what they should have received in fair wages through the years...

when they restore to the ministry coffers the value of the "perks" they have taken through the years from both donated funds and employee labor for their own personal benefits...

when they restore to the church from which they have diverted funds through the years the funds and property into which these funds have been converted...

when they have voluntarily... BEFORE they are forced to do so by the courts... restore to ex-employees the value of the lost employment and advancement opportunities they have caused them after their leaving 3abn...

when they have restored peace of mind to those who presently fear to make their identity known because of past harassment.....

When they have done all of that... and admitted that they are not fit to even be associated with a world wide ministry that claims to represent the Adventist church and its message to the world...

Then and only then can we all relax and give thanks to God for raining down justice and mercy upon the earth.

Until then, we must continue to pursue every means possible to achieve justice... knowing that we are working as God's hands upon the earth... and knowing that He will dispense mercy without our begging him to do so.

Forgiveness has nothing to do with any of the above. Forgiveness on the human side has nothing to do with restoring relationships, excusing error, or making the one forgiven feel all warm and fuzzy inside. Forgiveness on the human side can be unilateral... completely independent of any confesson or repentance or restitution. But forgiveness on the human side is only for the benefit of the one who is doing the forgiving... it does nothing at all for the one who needs the forgiveness.

And it has nothing to do with the salvation of the errant one in need of forgiveness. That is solely between God and the erring.... and God is not deceived by any display of exterior "confession or repentance"... nor by any partial "restitution".

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Feb 7 2007, 09:42 AM)
>
> According to Danny, he is going through trials. This probably means a lot of things that are being said about him are untrue.

Not at all. It means that he recognizes the truths that are being said about him, and he is beginning to feel trapped and desperate.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 7 2007, 09:03 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Feb 7 2007, 08:12 AM)
>
> Is this truly so? Is that all God asks for?

Good points. But notice how David's own sentence called for his own death too, but his prompt confession to Nathan upon rebuke led to the promise, "You shall not die." Of course, there may still be consequences even if we confess, and given everything, those consequences have to include Danny's dismissal, as well as many of the board members.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 09:34 AM

> QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 7 2007, 12:33 AM)
>
> Obviously, not all the wrongs will be righted, fallible human beings cannot go back and change the past, only the now and the future. Forgiveness intails by its very nature the acceptance of being wronged and forgiving the one that wrongs you.
> Now the victims of Tommy need our love and sympathy and we need to lead by example, meaning helping them to forgive. No it is not all about Linda and neither should it be, Christ should be our main concern and the glorifying of Him.
> I think about the many many times God has forgiven me and not even allowed me to receive my just recompense for the things I have done and it makes me weep. After all none of us will make it to heaven on our own reputation or merits. Jesus and his death alone for our sins is our only ticket. Maybe if Danny and the others read this they will see that more than anything we want God to be glorified and see that everyone including Him and His brother and the victims and the EVERYONE is saved. But the requirements of God is this. "If we confess our sins He is faithful to forgive us and cleans us from all unrighteousness". I am in no less need of a savior than Danny and whoever, I stand filthy before God, not even better that Tommy.
> What I am saying by no means is intended to justify sin either, all I am trying to say is that God is here to be the sin bearer no matter how bad (Wow it brings tears to my eyes) what a LOVELY AWESOME GOD WE SERVE. I think that Danny you being the catalyst if only you would repent and fall at the feet of Jesus. NOW MAYBE YOU ARE NOT GUILTY OF ALL SAID OF YOU- but neither was Jesus guilty to die but for loves sake he did it anyway. Instead of talking about this forum call your ex wife offer her to come back- pray with her and the others on television for the sake of God. HUMBLE yourselves and God would be glorified.

Mystery man, thanks for your comments.

Speaking for myself, I do believe in my heart I have forgiven Tommy, but because of the very nature of what he did, he must be prevented from doing it again. It has happened over and over and over. Forgiveness does not include overlooking sin, especially when there is the potential of others being harmed.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 09:47 AM

> QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 7 2007, 02:14 AM)
>
> Inga, I thought Solomon was Bethsheba son, anyway I cant look it up at this time.

Yes, you are correct that Solomon was the son of Bathsheba. It does demonstrate the astonishing mercy of God and how he can bring good out of evil. (Solomon was born to David and Bathsheba after they were married; thus he was not "illegitimate.")

However, the "illegitimate" son resulting from David's adultery was specifically taken by God as a judgment on David -- in spite of his long days of fasting and lying prostrate before the Lord.

> QUOTE
>
> I just wanted you to know tho I was in no way trying to imply no consequences for actions what I was saying was the just compensation was not given because God tempered it with love. The penalty for David was and should have been death but God so loved.
> Sorry if I misquoted or seem to have implied something like no consequences, obviously 3ABN and the rest have already suffered some consequences for their actions. I was saying how loving God is that he tempers what should be the result of our sin due to his great love for us. Also often he only allowes the punishment not because he did not forgive but to be as a lesson to others not to repeat the same sin. David's resulting punishment was I believe for one thing as a deterrent for use today. Men (smiley face) already use David as an excuse just think how out of control we would be if David suffered no consequences.

I do appreciate your posts very much.

God is, indeed, incredibly loving while still being just. In fact, that's why Christ had to die -- that God could be just as well as merciful. Such self-sacrifice is something the minions of hell can never comprehend.

Posted by: Aunt B Feb 7 2007, 07:22 PM

It is so true that forgiveness does not erase consequences. The first example we have of that on earth, is Eden.

God forgave Adam and Eve, yet they still had to leave the garden. They were never allowed to enter it again before they died. God restored them with the plan of salvation, but here on earth they had to live with many consequences of their sin. Leaving the garden was only the first

What God does is stay with us as we experience the consequences of our sin after we have repented. He is able (Romans 8:28) to work the consequences out for our good, and accomplish his plan as if we had not sinned.

It is also true that restitution is part of true repentance. It is one way to know that the repentance was genuine.

Aunt B

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 8 2007, 04:22 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 08:34 AM)

> Mystery man, thanks for your comments.
>
> Speaking for myself, I do believe in my heart I have forgiven Tommy, but because of the very nature of what he did, he must be prevented from doing it again. It has happened over and over and over. Forgiveness does not include overlooking sin, especially when there is the potential of others being harmed.

Well put, Duane!

My own message to Danny and Tommy:

There can be freedom from the dark burden, stress and shame of past sins when one accepts responsibility and allows accountability. This is where healing can begin.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:04 PM

The following bears repeating:

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 10:34 AM) ☐
>
> [size=1]Mystery man, thanks for your comments.
>
> Speaking for myself, I do believe in my heart I have forgiven Tommy, but because of the very nature of what he did, he must be prevented from doing it again. It has happened over and over and over. Forgiveness does not include overlooking sin, especially when there is the potential of others being harmed.[/size]

☒ bum

40

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Open Letter To Bsda

Posted by: calvin Aug 16 2006, 06:42 PM

For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding one of my best friends, Linda Shelton. I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.

I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.

I would like to stop here and say that by my not being a "paid" employee of 3ABN, I have had a unique opportunity watching employees come and go. In seven years of volunteering at this ministry, I really got a feel for their personalities versus their characters. I also watched in horror, as some people would work so hard to position themselves to climb the ladder of success. You could see "pride of position" stamped on their foreheads as they walked the halls searching desperately for fame. It's no wonder Linda and Danny both have become leery over the years of people trying to become their "friends". It's unfortunate that people will use people, but this is the real world after all, and God warns us that "whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant, and whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

I had the privilege of meeting many Godly people while volunteering at 3ABN who were the same off of camera as they were when the cameras were rolling. I would have to say that was especially true of Linda Shelton. She was as sweet, charming, spiritual and innocent off camera as she was on! If that was the only statement that I had to make about Linda, it would be enough, for each of you saw the "real" Linda as she held out her hand in prayer on every "Presents" program.

I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Danny is a very powerful man. Maybe the most powerful man in the SDA church and his influence is felt far and wide. When he doesn't like you he has no problem picking up the phone to call conference presidents and heads of ministries. I have personally felt his wrath, and its consequences by standing up to him, asking hard questions (when everyone else was afraid too) and continuing to be a friend to Linda and support her through this nightmare.

I can honestly say that I hate injustice and I refuse to stand by and watch someone be bullied. My husband and I are very much the same in this respect. With that said, it was so incredibly confusing those first few months listening to both Danny and Linda talk about their "problem". Each person was emphatic that the other person was lying. At this time, both Dan and Linda had credibility with me even though Linda and I were actually close friends. It would give me a headache just trying to sort out what each one had verbalized.

It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled, while Dan was "closed off" and "non-receptive". By that statement I don't mean that he wouldn't talk to Claudia and me. He did. He just did 99% of the talking. It was as if Dan was on "machine gun mode" and his words just shot out of him like bullets. I should also say that at the time we drove up to 3ABN, it didn't matter to me if Linda was guilty or innocent. I was on my way because she needed a friend.

I was appalled that Linda had been locked out of 3ABN and completely cut off from talking to the employees. The hard drive from her computer was removed and she wasn't able to retrieve any information that she had stored in that computer.

I may not be a PhD, but it didn't take much common sense to see that Linda was being "cut off" from all former friends and co-workers. Linda, Claudia and myself talked for hours, we prayed together, we cried together and we counseled together. I kept hearing the words of Jesus in my ears; "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends."

Danny has always maintained that Linda would not receive counsel and it is my belief that nothing could be farther from the truth. What she didn't want was 3ABN "arranged" counsel and refused anything that smelled of it.

I had one opportunity to ask Danny tough questions during our three-day stay. I knew that even by asking, that they might not be well received. My questions were 1) Are you having an affair? 2) Have you fallen in love with someone else? 3) Are you willing to acknowledge that you have responsibility for your marriage falling apart?

Dan emphatically denied an affair or any love interest other than Linda, but he was completely unwilling to take one shred of responsibility for the marriage beginning to unravel. The entire blame was on Linda's shoulders and he had many reasons why it was all her fault.

During the weeks that followed I received several two-hour long phone calls from Danny. I averaged about five minutes during those conversations. Again, his words flew out like machine gun fire almost painful to listen to. He was definitely on a mission to discredit his wife and isolate her from ANYONE that lent her a helping hand or a shoulder to cry on. He sounded so extremely believable and convincing. He had some kind of so-called "proof" for every "thing" she was being accused of. Eventually Danny persuaded me with partial truths that Linda was the one in the wrong. I was even mad at Dr. Abrahamsen for not walking away from the situation because I believed he was only making matters worse by continuing to be-friend her.

Linda and I didn't speak for about three months (Oct.- Dec.), but she continued to maintain her innocence. Occasionally she would send me an email with an update and a kind word. Never once did she get mad at me for not "siding" with her. What I found strange was that every time Linda and I would begin talking over the phone again, within about 24-hours I would get a phone call out of the blue from Dan and he would begin his torturous rundown of all his "evidence". (Were her phones tapped?) hmmmm.......

I prayed that God would show me the truth in the situation and I asked for wisdom to respond to each of them. Whenever Linda and I began to reconnect again, Danny became angry. His words were more than unkind as he spoke "ugliness" about his former wife. I began losing respect for him not only as a husband, but as the Christian leader he should have been portraying! He spoke about his wife's menstrual cycle freely over the phone. (HUGE MISTAKE – how inappropriate and disgusting. AND, if he was discussing it with me, surely he was discussing it with others). He actually had the nerve to say one day, "Well, I've always said that Linda would spread her legs for anyone". Unbelievable beyond words!!!!!! What Christian leader would say that? And to use the words "I've always said". How many times had he said that to someone?

These disgusting statements weren't the first time Danny's words had turned my stomach causing me to lose tremendous respect for him as a leader. It is shameful to even repeat what he said. (I have decided not to repeat it because it's too horrible and what bugs me more than anything is that I can't tell this truth, because no matter how true it is, the incident is too inflammatory to be published. Maybe someday, the truth will be known.)

The last time I taped a cooking program at 3ABN was early December of 2003. I will never forget gathering up the last tray full of dishes and food on the kitchen set and heading for the door. As I neared the piano, goose bumps stood up all over my body and a voice so audible in my head said, "This is the last time you will ever tape a program here". I was so shocked I stopped walking, turned around to look at the kitchen set and said out loud, "No, that can't be". There was no shaking the feeling, so I stood there in stunned silence for a moment as I took it all in one last time.

I was sure the voice must be wrong because Dee Hildebrand and I had already set the schedule for the following year. The strangest thing happened though. My normal schedule of taping every other month beginning in January just wouldn't work out. This time, no matter how we tried to arrange the schedule, the first possible spot was just after July 4th, taping a LIVE with Dr. Neil Nedley. Then, I wasn't on the schedule again until late September, so we also booked October, and December.

I don't remember if it was January, February or March (2004), but Kay Kuzma called my home and told me that she was working on a new book called Mending Broken People. It was to be a book about the ministries that "made up" 3ABN and the miracle stories that surrounded their work. She interviewed me for about 40 minutes over the phone asking questions about Taste Of Health and how my ministry had changed the lives of others. I shared several testimonies with her and she thanked me for my contribution to 3ABN and for allowing her to share my story.

I didn't hear from Kay again until late May or early June, 2004. This conversation was much different. She was doing her best to find out where I stood regarding Linda and Danny. I wasn't budging from Linda's side. I commented that Danny still hadn't been able to show me a single Bible text that indicated I should turn my back on my friend. I, too, was unable to persuade Kay of Linda's innocence - her mind was made up. We hung up. Her new book was published several months later and all traces of Taste Of Health miracle stories had been removed. It was as if by not including the seven years of volunteer work that I had done, they could pretend that I had not been a big part of 3ABN's health message.

Spring came. Claudia, my mother and myself spent the entire month of April, 2004 in Italy. It was just days after arriving home that we learned of Linda's being "out-ed" at 3abn.

May was just a whirlwind with the 3ABN "mess", school getting out and one of my closest girlfriends was six months pregnant and needed a place to stay. Bill and I opened up our home to her and she asked me to be her coach. During my friend's doctor visit in June they moved her due date up to July 12th. She began to get increasingly nervous knowing that my "tape date" was on July 6th. I was growing more and more frustrated with Danny (the divorce had just gone through) and I really wasn't sure I would be able to tape anything without Linda in the kitchen. It just didn't seem right. I was somewhat relieved because of the due date being so close and I called and cancelled the LIVE.

The baby was born July 15th, and my friend was still not back with her husband. She slipped into serious postpartum depression and missed her husband terribly. After working out the details of reuniting, she finally convinced me that she could not manage the trip home the first week of September by herself, so my husband bought me a ticket.

I called Dee the middle of August to explain that I just couldn't get my recipes together in time for the September deadline, that I had too much on my plate at the moment and that I would be flying back to my girlfriends home with her and the baby. I needed to cancel once again. Part of me was relieved. I still wasn't sure I fit in anymore.

The next morning I received a phone call from Tommy Shelton explaining that they had cancelled my remaining "tape dates" and that my taping cooking programs for 3ABN wasn't a good fit anymore. He was kind (as I had always known Tommy to be), but nonetheless, he was the "axe man" that day.

As I hung up the phone I began to cry and my crying turned into big "red-headed" sobs. Then I remembered the words the Holy Spirit had whispered in my ear last December, and I knew that in fact, I would never tape there again. I had been fired.

I knew that when I stood by Linda that it would most likely affect my taping at 3ABN, but then I've never been one to be "politically correct". Unlike the actual 3ABN employees, I wasn't losing a paycheck. I had been working for free for eight years. You see, I had made a vow to God in 1994 that I would spend the rest of my life helping others to not get as sick as I once did. Danny Shelton didn't call me to the ministry, God did. Dan's allowing me to tape programs or not tape programs was a trivial thing to God, and it still is.

I had always known that Three Angels was only a training ground. The Lord had impressed me very early on that it was temporary and that He had something much, much bigger down the road. Looking back, I can't help but feel my seven years of training at 3ABN was the perfect amount of time.

Even though I was no longer an invited guest at 3ABN, it didn't stop Danny from calling off and on to keep up with his "Linda trashing". I decided that time would reveal the real liar. Even though what Danny said all sounded irrefutable, I couldn't get over how instead of trying to shelter and protect his wife from the public, he was tearing her apart with his words to anyone that would listen. It didn't take long for him to reveal more of his spots.

Because my programs had been taken off the air and I didn't own the rights to the master copies, seven years worth of my work was locked up in what I like to call "cooking school prison" at 3ABN. Three Angels would no longer air the shows because they had Linda in them, but they wouldn't donate or sell the programs to me either. They even refused to sell copies of the programs to viewers that would call in and request them. Clearly they were of no more use to 3ABN's ministry, but when I asked Danny if he would donate my work to my ministry his reply was, "One shouldn't cut off his nose to spite his face." He then wrote an entire paragraph outlining all of the "new rumors" that I was supposedly saying about him. Rumors that I hadn't heard until I received his letter. He also requested a statement in writing that he could give to people when they wanted to know where I stood on the subject of him and 3ABN.

I was in a quandary. Even though I loved and supported 3ABN, I had lost pretty much all respect for Danny. He is unable to separate himself from the ministry in that way and I was unable to lie in order to receive those masters. This letter is my public response to his request, so everyone will know just where I stand in respect to how I feel about his ungodly leadership.

At the close of his last email to me his words cut me like a knife. He said,
"Barb, it honestly doesn't make me any difference who you support in this situation. We will all go on the same. Your influence, as you know, won't make or break 3ABN as well as make or break Linda.
But at least people won't be able to accuse you of jumping ship to serve your own selfish purposes."
I was filled with righteous indignation. Since when had working eight years without a paycheck, trying to educate the public and teach God's Law's of Health, qualify as "serving my own selfish purposes"? I decided to take an entirely different approach.

I've always been a prayer warrior, so I went to my Bible in search of answers. I kept reading passages from Psalms where David's prayers against his oppressors were extremely direct. David minced no words in telling God what he wanted done to the people that hated him. I had never prayed this way before and wasn't sure if I could.

I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind. Set the oppressed free. Make us the head and not the tail. Contend with those that contend with me. You have promised not to be a respecter of Kings and rulers and those with a proud heart. Shut the mouth of those that speak lies about us. Let them be drunk with their own blood as with wine. But let Your servant rejoice. Let my accusers be clothed with shame, and let them cover themselves with their own disgrace as with a mantle. I will greatly praise the Lord with my mouth; Yes, I will praise Him among the multitude. For He shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save her from those who condemn her." (If you read Psalm 109 I used this prayer as my example.)

This prayer might sound extremely harsh, but let me tell you, God began to move in a powerful way revealing every secret thing. Danny may think that someone he considers as small and insignificant as myself cannot touch "the anointed one" (as 3ABN likes to call Dan), but God sees every tear shed by His servants and hears every humble plea. PRAYER CHANGES EVERYTHING!

Jumping back to the summer of 2004 (after Linda was fired and taken off the air) my mother and sister decided to surprise me with a fundraiser concert in Atlanta, GA. It was to raise money so Taste Of Health could build a kitchen studio. They worked for months securing a location and hired 24 musicians. Huge debt was wracking up on my mother's credit cards as she was self-sacrificing and planned this huge event. They told me about it at Christmas and I was so surprised and shocked, but happy. I so desired to build a studio and get back to work!

Long story short, two people that had agreed to participate in the concert both called on a Monday (the same Monday) to say how sorry they were that they couldn't participate. I will leave them nameless. One of the two called to tell me that Danny had called them and he had explained how if he/she came to the concert and supported my ministry, that it might be misconstrued and all of his/her conference funding for his/her new project might get cancelled, Dan wasn't sure. It was enough of a "hint threat" that they opted not to take the risk. I assured him/her it was okay, hung up the phone and cried for three days.

Finally on the third day I picked up a new book from Joel Osteen called Your Best Life Now and began to read. The more I read the better I felt. Chapters five and six were all about claiming God's favor as you would claim the gift of salvation. By the time I was finished with those two chapters I was excited and claiming God's favor over my life and my ministry. My attitude changed and I quit sulking because of Danny's wrath (which I was now experiencing). I've never quite been the same since reading those chapters and having a deeper understanding of God's favor. I have learned peace amidst the storm. Dan's wrath doesn't scare me anymore because I know I'm surrounded by God's favor.

Even as recent as this past February, 3ABN was still blocking Linda from speaking engagements. Linda had been invited February 18, 2006, by our local pastor, to speak at the 11 O'clock worship hour and for the vespers program that evening here in Columbia, SC. As soon as the news that Linda was speaking in our church made its way through our conference office, our pastor received a phone call from John Lomacang (3ABN's pastor). Within a week I received a phone call from my pastor instructing me to call Linda Shelton back and UNINVITE her. I refused. Now, my "very uncomfortable" pastor squirmed as he gave me reason after reason that it wouldn't be politically correct for Linda to speak at our church. He assured me that he wanted Linda here, but that she had left the "White SDA Conference" not-in-good-standing. His hands were "tied" and there was nothing he could do.

Experiencing Dan's wrath did begin to answer the question in my mind, as to who was lying. Then I caught Dan in a great big lie. It was the last time he and I spoke on the phone. (It's never a short conversation when Danny is trashing Linda and re-hashing all his "evidence").

That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa. Danny became very animated over the phone and bubbly. He said that he and Alyssa were great friends, they were buddies, and that he called her often and they had wonderful conversations. Alyssa had even recently written him a prescription (she had just graduated as a Physician's Assistant) for an infection he had. When I asked him about the "backrubs" he had been giving her before she left home (at the age of 23), he said, "Oh yeah, we're very close. Sometimes I would go in her room, and sit on her bed, and we'll just have great talks while I rub her back. It's just a loving gesture." We hung up.

What Danny didn't expect was that I would actually pick up the phone and call Alyssa to verify his story. Alyssa is a very sweet, private and shy person. When she got on the phone I explained how I had been in this "tug-of-war" over finding the truth. Danny always sounded so convincing and made Linda sound like a complete liar. I told her I would understand if she didn't want to answer my questions, but that it would put my mind at ease, finally!

When I explained that Dan had described their relationship as a great friendship and that they talked all the time on the phone and I asked about the prescription, you could hear a sigh of disgust on the other end. Alyssa said, "We are NOT friends, he won't quit calling me and I only wrote him a prescription because I felt sorry for him."

Then I asked her a very personal question. She was silent for a few moments, then answered my question with amazing honesty. I am not at liberty to disclose the biggest part of the lie that I caught Dan in that day, but it was the evidence I had been praying about.

"So do you want your mom and Danny to get back together?" I asked. "Absolutely not! He's a jerk and she deserves better. I never want them to get back together", she stated emphatically. I thanked her for her honesty and for helping me understand what the truth was and we said good-bye.

Alyssa handed the phone to her mom. Linda said, "Barb, I never knew why she moved out of the house so suddenly. I can't believe it." We said good-bye so she could go talk to Alyssa, and I sat there in stunned disbelief. I never told Danny that I had picked up the phone to verify his story. I didn't need to. God had promised over and over again that if I would just be patient and wait on Him, that He would reveal every secret thing in its time.

An Update On Taste Of Health Ministry

I just want to take a moment to say "Thank You" to all the loyal supporters of my ministry that continue to call and tell me that they miss seeing me and Linda cooking in her "kitchen". I have so appreciated your prayers and hugs over the phone.

Since the removal of my cooking programs I started doing more cooking schools again in churches around the country. I was also the main women's retreat speaker in Cape May, NJ, this past April. God also opened an amazing door here in Columbia, SC, at Fort Jackson, our military base. I am teaching a class (along with another woman) to the female officers called, "Every Woman's Battle". It's a weekly class on sexual integrity as God intended it. The class has been a huge success so far and we are excited about the questions these women are asking regarding the Bible.

My husband, Bill, and I will be in Spokane, WA, September 9th, giving our first marriage seminar on "How to Get Along". If you would like details, just call Mable Dunbar at the Upper Columbia Conference. (509-838-2761)

Some of you have noticed that I have quit posting a calendar of events on my web page. It was easier to eliminate the posting of events than to deal with the sabotages. I hope you understand.

A year ago in August, Taste Of Health applied for non-profit status. We are only days away from being approved for our 501©3 and we are excited about that.

Many of you have called to ask if I am going to tape programs anymore. The answer is, "YES" I am going to tape programs again because I want to get back to work doing what God called me to do!

I am saying "Yes" in faith. The HOPE Channel and LLBN have both indicated that they would love to air my cooking programs, but neither facility has a kitchen studio. I am still without a studio or the funds to build one. (I've had the plans drawn up for a year now just waiting on God's timing to be perfect, and His hand to move on my behalf). Last week Claudia and I sat down and planned out 120 thirty-minute programs. I don't know where the studio will be, nor do I have the funds to accomplish this work, but that's God's problem. We have a deal - I work, and He supplies my needs.

God is so awesome and I just want to praise Him for everything. Even though the last two years have been rough, to say the least, God has taught me two valuable lessons that I wouldn't trade for anything. He has taught me the lesson of "rejection", (Believe me, you have only seen the tip of the iceberg in what has been printed on these pages), and He taught me to praise Him, in ALL circumstances, no matter what!

I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him. I do pray for justice, and that God will use my ministry to bring ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands to know the Savior. Bless the Lord oh my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name. To God be the glory!

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 16 2006, 07:11 PM

Thank you Barbara! Praise God for your witness, testimony, and courage!

Posted by: Lucyladye Aug 16 2006, 07:13 PM

May God Bless you Barbara, and may God work miracles in your endeavors.

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 07:13 PM

mercilations as Re' would say..... and I know this is just the tip of the iceberg.....

Posted by: sister Aug 16 2006, 07:25 PM

Barbara, praise the Lord for the courage and tenacity of Red-headed women! I wish both you and Bill all of God's blessings in your ministry. GP.g

Sister

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 16 2006, 07:30 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Aug 16 2006, 07:25 PM)
>
> Barbara, praise the Lord for the courage and tenacity of Red-headed women! I wish both you and Bill all of God's blessings in your ministry. GP.g
>
> Sister

The Barbara Kerr letter belongs in the "Pinned" section with the Thompson,
the Abrahamsen,
and Thorvaldsson letters

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 07:33 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 16 2006, 07:30 PM) ☐
>
> The Barbara Kerr letter belongs in the "Pinned" section with > the Thompson,
> the Abrahamsen,
> and Thorvaldsson letters

done....

Posted by: calvin Aug 16 2006, 07:34 PM

I have been trying to remain some sense of objectivity in all of this and view everything said with a healthy dose of skepticism. After all I don't know Danny or Linda and there is not much from the other side. But when testimony after testimony testify of the same character of this man...well

BTW, I left off Barbara's contact information off the letter, because of our policy on advertising. But on second thought I am include it here, should someone wish to contact her.

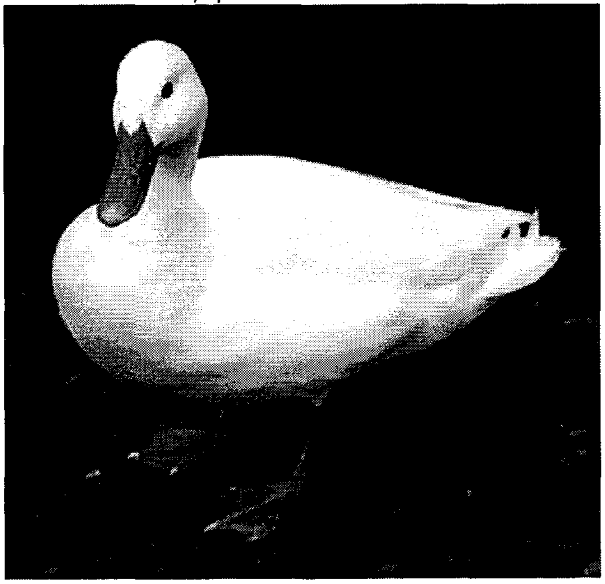
Here is her last paragraph:

If you would like to contact my ministry you can do so through my website www.tasteofhealth.net or by email at tasteofhealth@hotmail.com

---

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 07:37 PM

walks like a duck, quacks like a duck...must be a ??



Posted by: princessdi Aug 16 2006, 07:40 PM

Ya'think?!!!! I hope folks is trying to repent, otherwise they are going to be some crispy critters........My Lerd!!!! (Thanks Re', wothout you we wouldn't know what to say to this mess!) LOL!!!

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 16 2006, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 16 2006, 08:34 PM)
>
> I have been trying to remain some sense of objectivity in all of this and view everything said with a healthy dose of skepticism. After all I don't know Danny or Linda and there is not much from the other side. But when testimony after testimony testify of the same character of this man...well
>
> BTW, I left off Barbara's contact information off the letter, because of our policy on advertising. But on second thought I am include it here, should someone wish to contact her.
>
> Here is her last paragraph:
>
> If you would like to contact my ministry you can do so through my website www.tasteofhealth.net or by email at tasteofhealth@hotmail.com[size=2]

Thank you Calvin from the bottom of my heart. And please everyone keep me in your prayers as publishing this open letter has. . . . (well you know the risks)

Warmly,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: princessdi Aug 16 2006, 07:56 PM

You and your ministry are definitely in our prayers, Barbara. Praise God for your courage to follow Him!!

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 16 2006, 05:53 PM)
>
> Thank you Calvin from the bottom of my heart. And please everyone keep me in your prayers as publishing this open letter has. . . . (well you know the risks)
>
> Warmly,
> Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 16 2006, 08:13 PM

Praise God for your courage in coming forward Barbara & may God richly bless you & your ministry. I always wondered why you were no longer on 3ABN. Glad to know the reason.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 16 2006, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 16 2006, 07:53 PM)
>
> Thank you Calvin from the bottom of my heart. And please everyone keep me in your prayers as > publishing this open letter has. . . . (well you know the risks)

>
> Warmly,
> Barbara Kerr

☒ sig Barbara for taking those risks. Truly you deserve an angel award .... ☒ angel.gi .....

nd the more who take the risks the more the risks will be minimized, for Danny Shelton is nothing at ll by himself. The only thing that gives him power is the Church administrators and financiers who ow at his feet and do his bidding.

ay the day come quickly when our administrators will have the knowledge to form correct onvictions, and the courage to act based upon those convictions rather than from fear of losing inances. Hopefully some of them will be strong in the Lord enough to realize that the thing that is losing the pocketbooks of our church members is their failure to act in appropriate ways to those who ive threats. Once they step out in faith and refuse to be held hostages to a few deep pockets, God an open the windows of heaven and supply all of their needs!

hank you again Barbara for your witness.

nd thank you Calvin and all your BSDA team for providing the public place where it can be seen by all ho come by.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 16 2006, 08:26 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 09:16 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ sig Barbara for taking those risks. Truly you deserve an angel award .... ☒ angel.gi .....
>
> And the more who take the risks the more the risks will be minimized, for Danny Shelton is nothing at all by himself. The only thing that gives him power is the Church administrators and financiers who bow at his feet and do his bidding.
>
> May the day come quickly when our administrators will have the knowledge to form correct convictions, and the courage to act based upon those convictions rather than from fear of losing finances. Hopefully some of them will be strong in the Lord enough to realize that the thing that is closing the pocketbooks of our church members is their failure to act in appropriate ways to those who give threats. Once they step out in faith and refuse to be held hostages to a few deep pockets, God can open the windows of heaven and supply all of their needs!
>
> Thank you again Barbara for your witness.
>
> And thank you Calvin and all your BSDA team for providing the public place where it can be seen by all who come by.

atchbird -- I could not have said it better myself. You are a very wise woman. I can't help but think ack to a David Gates sermon I was re-listening to last week. David said, "If we would just open our ands and let go of what we're holding on to, ... then God would put something so much bigger in hem."

If our conference officials will stand firm and not be threatened by the "money men" in our church trying to dictate what happens, God will MORE than make up the difference, and bless in a way that they can't even imagine!

Blessings,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Brennen Aug 16 2006, 08:35 PM

Thank you Barbara for you inspiring letter and support for Linda Shelton. I to stand beside her. Danny Shelton shared his negative attitude on television, right before the entire world. I pray that one day he would no longer be on the front set of 3ABN. The format must change. It will be best the he is removed and the face of 3ABN is changed. It would really be wonderful for Linda to be the president. She has such a sweet, gracious and genuine spirit. I would like to see 3ABN become a true partner with Hope TV and the Adventist Church. "What a day that will be." [Brennen]

Posted by: justme Aug 16 2006, 08:47 PM

Barb,
You did it! Girl. Good for you and good for Linda and good for all of us. A first-hand account, and "eye witness" who will stand up and be counted for truth.

We expect that your phone will ring from "TC1", "the so-clalled chosen one", before very long. Let us know, OK?

God bless you. And perhaps more will come forward now. You have set a good example of courage and of great spirit.

Thanks so much Clay! This is long overdue!
Again Barb's contact information is:

tasteofhealth@hotmail.com is this right?

Posted by: Ralph Aug 17 2006, 02:03 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 16 2006, 05:42 PM) ☐
>
> ...it was so incredibly confusing those first few months listening to both Danny and Linda talk about their "problem". Each person was emphatic that the other person was lying. At this time, both Dan and Linda had credibility with me even though Linda and I were actually close friends. It would give me a headache just trying to sort out what each one had verbalized.

Thanks Barbara for sharing this letter with us. I doubt that I can even imagine the stress that you went through. There is healing in writing things down and sharing them with those who care. You have been so brave. May God bless in your future plans.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 17 2006, 04:06 AM

Thank you, Barbara. Just remember that "No weapon formed against you shall prosper"; "God is on your side, do not fear what man shall do unto you". I am praying for you. Stay strong in Jesus!

Posted by: Denny Aug 17 2006, 04:54 AM

Thank you Barbara for your bravery and honesty, may God continue to bless your ministry. Hope this letter opens up the eyes of those who have the power to do something about this man. But I fear that $$$$ has more influence than the Holy Spirt with some of our leaders..

I continue to see a fan and gastro by products in my crystall ball......

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 12:31 PM

agreed Denny.... but you know for those who don't believe, nothing will sway them...

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 01:40 PM

Barbara, thank you for all you've shared here -- particularly your personal testimony. This kind of testimony from someone willing to stand up and speak in her own identity carries a lot more weight than anonymous postings..

May God bless you and your ministry, and may He be your shield against all those who would harm you.

Blessings,
Inge Anderson

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 02:34 PM

Barbara, thank you for all you've shared here -- particularly your personal testimony. This kind of testimony from someone willing to stand up and speak in her own identity carries a lot more weight than anonymous postings..

May God bless you and your ministry, and may He be your shield against all those who would harm you.

Blessings,
Inge Anderson

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 02:54 PM

I know we might be tiptoeing around a certain allegation in this letter, but just let me say that this new info places Mr. Shelton in the bedroom of someone other than his wife and exhibiting inappropriate behavior for a man his age.... and to think he has the unmitigated gall to accuse someone of spiritual adultery...

Posted by: justme Aug 17 2006, 03:07 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 03:54 PM)
>
> I know we might be tiptoeing around a certain allegation in this letter, but just let me say that this new info places Mr. Shelton in the bedroom of someone other than his wife and exhibiting inappropriate behavior for a man his age.... and to think he has the unmitigated gall to accuse someone of spiritual adultery...

If he's so good at making up new terminology perhaps he can relate to a term for what he has been doing to Linda. How about "spitirual murder". he has done nearly all he can to destroy her.

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 03:14 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Aug 17 2006, 04:07 PM)
>
> If he's so good at making up new terminology perhaps he can relate to a term for what he has been doing to Linda. How about "spitirual murder". he has done nearly all he can to destroy her.

true... however we do have a term for his actions in that bedroom that was not his... its called molestation.....

Posted by: no_cults Aug 17 2006, 04:24 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Aug 17 2006, 03:07 PM)
>
> If he's so good at making up new terminology perhaps he can relate to a term for what he has been doing to Linda. How about "spitirual murder". he has done nearly all he can to destroy her.

The term has been around a long time:

"Character assassination"

The church should immediately pick Linda up and use her obvious gifts. What a LADY !!!!

Posted by: Spike Aug 17 2006, 06:25 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 01:54 PM)
>
> I know we might be tiptoeing around a certain allegation in this letter, but just let me say that this new info places Mr. Shelton in the bedroom of someone other than his wife and exhibiting > inappropriate behavior for a man his age.... and to think he has the unmitigated gall to accuse someone of spiritual adultery...

men

Posted by: MsHoly1 Aug 17 2006, 07:25 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 16 2006, 09:40 PM)
>
> Ya'think?!!!! I hope folks is trying to repent, otherwise they are going to be some crispy critters.......My Lerd!!!! (Thanks Re', wothout you we wouldn't know what to say to this mess!) LOL!!!

Posted by: no_cults Aug 17 2006, 07:38 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Aug 17 2006, 07:25 PM)
>
> Amen

lease help spread the word...

anny will be in Dallas this week-end. Friday, there vill be a panel discussion.

an anyone think of any questions that "might" make t past the screeners? Gotta be some real softball juestions that also have some punch.

====================================

****
oin us for a LIVE 3ABN Broadcast!!

 7:00p.m. CT - FRIDAY, 8/18/06 ***

allas First Church of Seventh-day Adventists
009 North Central Expy (I-75)
allas, Texas 75204
west side of expressway, between Fitzhugh and Haskell)

****
veryone is invited to come and be a part of the congregation/studio audience, as 3ABN broadcasts he program from the Dallas First Church!! This program will be uplinked around the world on 3ABN, which is the second largest religious network in the world!

In addition to thrilling music, there will be a question and answer panel with Shelley Quinn, Kenneth Cox, Mike Tucker, Bill Kilgore, John Lomacang and Dallas First Church Pastor James Gilley. Danny Shelton will read the questions turned in by the studio audience. The Friday night program begins at 7 p.m. and closes at 9 p.m.

****
More LIVE 3ABN Broadcasts the next day!!

Everyone is also invited to join us the next morning, as 3ABN broadcasts Dallas First's "7th Sabbath" program.

9:30 a.m. CT - Sabbath School with Shelly Quinn

11:00 a.m. CT - Worship Service by Danny Shelton and members of the 3ABN Family

1:30 p.m. CT - Presentation by guest speaker, Kenneth Cox *

2:30–4:00 p.m. CT - A special program by Danny Shelton and team

* All except the 1:30 p.m. program are televised on 3ABN (CT).

A free lunch is provided (haystacks)—and all are invited!

Posted by: denisebyers Aug 17 2006, 09:32 PM

Wow, thank you so much for sharing that Barbara. May God Bless you, and we will be praying for you. I support Linda 100%. I am thankful for the BSDA forum where we can post freely. This is a great forum. Now I am off to bed, tired and sleepy......In Christ, Denise :-)

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Aug 17 2006, 08:38 PM)
>
> Please help spread the word...
>
> Danny will be in Dallas this week-end. Friday, there will be a panel discussion.
>
> Can anyone think of any questions that "might" make it past the screeners? Gotta be some real softball questions that also have some punch.
>
> =================================
>
> ***
> Join us for a LIVE 3ABN Broadcast!!
>
>  7:00p.m. CT - FRIDAY, 8/18/06 ***
>
> Dallas First Church of Seventh-day Adventists
> 4009 North Central Expy (I-75)

> Dallas, Texas 75204
> (west side of expressway, between Fitzhugh and Haskell)
>
> **
> Everyone is invited to come and be a part of the congregation/studio audience, as 3ABN broadcasts the program from the Dallas First Church!! This program will be uplinked around the world on 3ABN, which is the second largest religious network in the world!
>
> In addition to thrilling music, there will be a question and answer panel with Shelley Quinn, Kenneth Cox, Mike Tucker, Bill Kilgore, John Lomacang and Dallas First Church Pastor James Gilley. Danny Shelton will read the questions turned in by the studio audience. The Friday night program begins at 7 p.m. and closes at 9 p.m.
>
> **
> More LIVE 3ABN Broadcasts the next day!!
>
> Everyone is also invited to join us the next morning, as 3ABN broadcasts Dallas First's "7th Sabbath" program.
>
> 9:30 a.m. CT - Sabbath School with Shelly Quinn
>
> 11:00 a.m. CT - Worship Service by Danny Shelton and members of the 3ABN Family
>
> 1:30 p.m. CT - Presentation by guest speaker, Kenneth Cox *
>
> 2:30-4:00 p.m. CT - A special program by Danny Shelton and team
>
> * All except the 1:30 p.m. program are televised on 3ABN (CT).
>
> A free lunch is provided (haystacks)—and all are invited!

sounds like they are going to have a grand ole time......scary.....

Posted by: princessdi Aug 18 2006, 01:05 PM

Yeah Boy!(as my Grandfather used to say) Ok Haystack? I thank if this was the church on the othe side of town the menu would be:

Dinner Cuts w/gravy(or Swiss Steaks)
Rice(brown preferrably)
Franch(French) cut green beans or green beans with new potatoes seasoned with stripples/Bacos (smoke flavor. No mo' ham hocks we be Adventist naw!)
Salad
Lemon, 7-up pound cake, or a Costco cake
Purnch(punch)

Haystacks! hmmmph!!

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 11:48 AM)
>
> sounds like they are going to have a grand ole time......scary.....

Posted by: Nuggie Aug 18 2006, 01:55 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 18 2006, 02:05 PM)
>
> Yeah Boy!(as my Grandfather used to say) Ok Haystack? I thank if this was the church on the othe side of town the menu would be:
>
> Dinner Cuts w/gravy(or Swiss Steaks)
> Rice(brown preferrably)
> Franch(French) cut green beans or green beans with new potatoes seasoned with striples/Bacos (smoke flavor. No mo' ham hocks we be Adventist naw!)
> Salad
> Lemon, 7-up pound cake, or a Costco cake
> Purnch(punch)
>
> Haystacks! hmmmph!!

Have you been talking to my mother? She was HORRIFIED that I served my family haystacks a couple Sabbaths ago (my family being me and my daughter...my husband won't eat haystacks either...). In her words..."that's not real food." And the thought that I would actually make it on SABBATH...she was like kidd ...

Posted by: Rough7Seas Aug 18 2006, 03:41 PM

So, is this just an insurgency or have we moved into a fullscale civil war?

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 18 2006, 03:43 PM

> QUOTE(Rough7Seas @ Aug 18 2006, 02:41 PM)
>
> So, is this just an insurgency or have we moved into a fullscale civil war?

'splain what you mean exactly

Posted by: princessdi Aug 18 2006, 05:38 PM

Now, I have done that at home, However I just add taco, burrito, nacho choices also. Everyone can have what they like. But if you call yourself having a church dinner, then we need some real food. Don't get me wrong, folks is straight up jealous when I put my stack together. LOVE them!!!

Also, looking at the lineup and the program for the day, maybe they ought to stay with the haystacks. Ain't no Chech Survice going on over there, Danny and his merry band will be lulling folks to sleep, if the program I watch the other day is any is any indication.

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Aug 18 2006, 11:55 AM)
>
> Have you been talking to my mother? She was HORRIFIED that I served my family haystacks a couple Sabbaths ago (my family being me and my daughter...my husband won't eat haystacks either...). In her words..."that's not real food." And the thought that I would actually make it on SABBATH...she was like kidd ...

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 06:23 PM

Well, Danny and his crew are on right now in the Texas Church.

Posted by: justme Aug 18 2006, 07:46 PM

I wonder which airlines they flew on

Maybe it was the "B-B-B-N" jet. "3BN" "3BEAN".

Posted by: Skyhook Aug 18 2006, 10:04 PM

I thought it must have been someone from this forum who asked the first question of the panel tonight. "Is pride something that will keep us out of heaven?" Several people had answers and the topic seemed to shift somewhat. Then Shelley Quinn gave a little "sermon" in which she mentioned something about people being "judgmental." I think she even stated or implied that God was impressing her with things to say during the question and answer session. Unfortunately I doubt if Danny made any kind of application to himself. In fact later on he talked about how 3abn has grown far beyond his initial dream. Things appear so different when I know something of the context.

I got the dish about a year ago and right away I got tired of seeing Danny's face in front of the camera. I noticed that he just babbled away with little of substance to say. He has a repertoire of pious cliches. I especially noticed that he didn't know how to interview. Even when his guests are trying to get a word in edgewise, the camera often is on Danny. I thought the problem was amateurish production and camera work. Now I understand that the problem is that is it a sort of "cult of personality" at the station with Danny's image as the foremost object of attention.
The reason I'm saying all this is that it is good to know that I am not alone in my observations.
When I saw that Kay Kuzma was a regular, I thought that was a bad sign.

Posted by: Chez Aug 18 2006, 10:58 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 16 2006, 07:42 PM) ☐
>
> For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding one of my best friends, Linda Shelton. I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.
>
> I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.
>
> I would like to stop here and say that by my not being a "paid" employee of 3ABN, I have had a unique opportunity watching employees come and go. In seven years of volunteering at this ministry, I really got a feel for their personalities versus their characters. I also watched in horror, as some people would work so hard to position themselves to climb the ladder of success. You could see "pride of position" stamped on their foreheads as they walked the halls searching desperately for fame. It's no wonder Linda and Danny both have become leery over the years of people trying to become their "friends". It's unfortunate that people will use people, but this is the real world after all, and God warns us that "whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant, and whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."
>
> I had the privilege of meeting many Godly people while volunteering at 3ABN who were the same off of camera as they were when the cameras were rolling. I would have to say that was especially true of Linda Shelton. She was as sweet, charming, spiritual and innocent off camera as she was on! If that was the only statement that I had to make about Linda, it would be enough, for each of you saw the "real" Linda as she held out her hand in prayer on every "Presents" program.
>
> I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.
>
> Danny is a very powerful man. Maybe the most powerful man in the SDA church and his influence is felt far and wide. When he doesn't like you he has no problem picking up the phone to call conference presidents and heads of ministries. I have personally felt his wrath, and its consequences by standing up to him, asking hard questions (when everyone else was afraid too) and continuing to be a friend to Linda and support her through this nightmare. snip......

God be praised! Barbara, thank you for your testimony. It took a lot of courage, but I praise God for his timing. LET THE REDEEMED OF THE LORD SAY SO! We are praying for you and your family along with your ministry.

Sincerely,
Chez

Posted by: Jvat Aug 19 2006, 06:11 AM

Skyhook, welcome to the forum. Pray tell, why your reservation about Kay Kuzma?

Posted by: Skyhook Aug 19 2006, 09:14 AM

Hi Jvat. Thanks for the welcome. Kay Kuzma's columns in the Review have given wrong messages. In one, she implicitly supported the situation in which kids were told by thier Sabbath School leaders to bring rakes to church. After church they went out in the neighborhood and raked leaves for people, thus teaching children that "doing good on the Sabbath" is OK. If I recall, someone had written in to ask if that was wrong. The question needed a clear and direct answer that Kuzma did not give.

Another time a new Adventist woman had written to complain that services were boring in the SDA church she was attending. She said she missed the services in Her previous denomination, which she described as having modern music and more upbeat, enthusiastic services. It sounded like a Pentecostal type church. The lady said she was thinking of attending her former Sunday church that she enjoyed so much. Kuzma encouraged her to do so as long as she didn't give up keeping the Sabbath. Kuzma said she also enjoyed a more charismatic (not her word) service as well.

My point is that it is dangerous to willingly and knowingly attend services where error is taught. Especially spiritualism as in the Pentecostal churches, and most of the Evangelicas for that matter.

Posted by: steffan Aug 19 2006, 02:01 PM

Hmm... So you wait till there's 4 montly payments left for Linda and then start the business of serious slander.
>For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding...

It seems that only you and "sister" seem to have the inside scoop on the secret things. And God has now chosen you and "sister" to reveal it?
>I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Not according to Dr. Kuzma, who I'd trust a lot more than what you and your "sister" say.
>It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled

Spoken like a true Christian!
>I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind.

Amazing! This is more than indiscretion, it's outright immoral! And you make this statement in this rather obscure posting instead of publicising it as it should be?
>That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa.

Really? Read what you wrote.
>I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him.

Ever since my wife expressed some doubt about the "adultery" of Linda, I've been reading all possible information to find out what is the truth.

Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze.
None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous.

My conclusion?
I think Linda Shelton is a two-faced liar who writes so sweetly of wanting to support the 3ABN ministry and being its biggest prayer warrior and yet, at the same time, encourages so-called friends like Barbara Kerr writing these trash filled postings.

And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.

Posted by: calvin Aug 19 2006, 02:18 PM

> QUOTE
>
> And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.

So Steffan (if that is a real name) what is your real name, your identity? I don't know anything more about you than I do of Sister. I don't take issue with your right to post an opinion here. But please spare us the self-righteous indignation. Don't admonish anyone for not revealing their identity if you won't do the same.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 19 2006, 02:26 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Aug 19 2006, 01:01 PM)
>
> (round two - here we go)
> Hmm... So you wait till there's 4 montly payments left for Linda and then start the business of serious slander.
> >For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding...
>
> This is good - you seem to know something about what you are talking - yes, Linda has 4 payments left. She also has nothing to gain financially from Barbs letter. Take it or leave it.
>
> It seems that only you and "sister" seem to have the inside scoop on the secret things. And God has now chosen you and "sister" to reveal it?
> >I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.
>
> Actually, it appears you have not done your homework - MANY people have inside information - are you interested? It may open you eyes to lies, more lies and deceit and more deceit, but, it's only there if you want it. If you don't, that is your choice. Continue to burry your head in the sand if you like.
>
> Not according to Dr. Kuzma, who I'd trust a lot more than what you and your "sister" say.
> >It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled
>
> If you trust Kay, you have a lot to learn about who she helps, why she helps them, and if she even wants to help them, with her God given skills. BTW, Barb and "sister" are not related, but I'm sure you knew that already.
>
> Spoken like a true Christian!
> >I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind.

> I wonder if you know what a true Christian is?
>
> Amazing! This is more than indiscretion, it's outright immoral! And you make this statement in this rather obscure posting instead of publicising it as it should be?
> > That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa.
>
> Do you want it publicized? Hang on to your hat.
>
> Really? Read what you wrote.
> > I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him.
>
> I would be careful in your brash judgement of someones inner feelings. JMO.
>
> Ever since my wife expressed some doubt about the "adultery" of Linda, I've been reading all possible information to find out what is the truth.
>
> WHERE have you done your reading? Walt Thompsons letters? Danny's letters? Mollies letters?? Broaden your reading.
>
> Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze.
>
> Consider the topic - truth is truth - like it or not.
>
> None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous.
>
> Those supporters you speak of are being mesmorized by the sound of a mans voice that is set upon keeping his people in the dark on truth - you may want to settle down a bit and reevaluate it all again...MSO
>
> My conclusion?
> I think Linda Shelton is a two-faced liar who writes so sweetly of wanting to support the 3ABN ministry and being its biggest prayer warrior and yet, at the same time, encourages so-called friends like Barbara Kerr writing these trash filled postings.
>
> Think again my friend...you are incorrect. She and many of us are praying for people like you - filled with rightous indignation and judgement about something that is so shocking to you, you would rather name it, be done with it and move on, only this is much bigger then you think.
>
> And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.
>
> I don't see your name anywhere...who are you? Where are you?

Posted by: Jvat Aug 19 2006, 02:26 PM

Skyhook, thank you for your explanation. There seems to be a strong impression that 3ABN has a pentecostal bent that is unacceptable as an SDA spouting organisation.

Stefan, welcome to the forum. Seems like that is my job today and I do not mind. Have you really heard what Danny said about his wife from the start? Don't you think that that was very unchristian in the first place? Have you heard of all the trashing that Danny does of Linda? So do you think that you are fair in your accusations here at all?

Posted by: Clay Aug 19 2006, 03:20 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Aug 19 2006, 03:01 PM)
>
> Hmm... So you wait till there's 4 montly payments left for Linda and then start the business of serious slander.
> >For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding...
>
> It seems that only you and "sister" seem to have the inside scoop on the secret things. And God has now chosen you and "sister" to reveal it?
> >I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.
>
> Not according to Dr. Kuzma, who I'd trust a lot more than what you and your "sister" say.
> >It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled
>
> Spoken like a true Christian!
> >I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind.
>
> Amazing! This is more than indiscretion, it's outright immoral! And you make this statement in this rather obscure posting instead of publicising it as it should be?
> >That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa.
>
> Really? Read what you wrote.
> >I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him.
>
> Ever since my wife expressed some doubt about the "adultery" of Linda, I've been reading all possible information to find out what is the truth.
>
> Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze.
> None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous.
>
> My conclusion?
> I think Linda Shelton is a two-faced liar who writes so sweetly of wanting to support the 3ABN ministry and being its biggest prayer warrior and yet, at the same time, encourages so-called friends like Barbara Kerr writing these trash filled postings.
>
> And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.

well ummmm Steffan... you have not been paying attention, and its apparent that you left home without your nametag....

here it is.....

your are more than welcome to post your comments, we don't have to respond to them... especially since you are late to the party and don't have a clue..... Oh and welcome to the forum....

Let's not do the picture Clay. Don't want to run the new guy off because of name calling.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 19 2006, 03:27 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 19 2006, 02:20 PM)
>
> well ummmm Steffan... you have not been paying attention, and its apparent that you left home without your nametag....
>
> here it is.....
>
> your are more than welcome to post your comments, we don't have to respond to them... especially since you are late to the party and don't have a clue..... Oh and welcome to the forum....

Hey Steffan,
There's your sign!

Posted by: Lucyladye Aug 19 2006, 03:35 PM

Hey.....pardon me....but isn't ignorance bliss?

Posted by: Clay Aug 19 2006, 03:38 PM

fair enough Calvin... after 10 posts, if he is still ummmm posting like he is clueless.... he gotta get the sign.....

Posted by: Clay Aug 20 2006, 09:57 AM since Fitzhume made his appearance the thread veered off in another direction and thus the thread was split.....

if you want to respond to anything Fitzhume brought up do it here...

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10551

I will move comments made in response to him there....

I moved one comment by Re' that can go in both places so I am quoting it here.....

> QUOTE
>
> Re said:

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 20 2006, 11:15 AM)
>
> as I suspected... you have no evidence... you have reacted to the info but produced none of your own... in fact I suspect you haven't even read all the material here... over 2 yrs worth..... so you don't even have enough info to make a logical determination of what is slander and what isnt...
>
> As for your other comment if bsda is for bsda's... you haven't been here long enough to determine that either.... about the best you can say is that it probably is not for you....
>
> take care...

...and this is sad.....
It's fine to come and debate the facts/fiction/"real" truth - but to just state "stuff/things" and not have any backup? No proof? No "research" that proves the point. I agree Clay.... maybe BSDA is not for you....because one thing that I can admit is a lie - BSDA is for me....

> QUOTE(J. Fitzhume @ Aug 20 2006, 11:32 AM)
>
> What do you mean, "Am I serious?" I don't play games and I take no prisoners. Just because I am not one of the "yes" group, that mindlessly jump on the scandal wagon and ride it into the sunset. Oh, give me at least someone with an original thought here.
>
> To answer your question, you are not giving money to a person. You are giving it to a cause, a ministry and lifeline for tens of thousands of people. What is it about that concept that people find so difficult to fathom. We are used to separatism and extractism and all manners of prejudice. We are given or to minds that thirst for tabloids and fables and fancy concotions. Our focus should be single.
>
> 3ABN is the most important media tool for getting out the Third Angel's Message. If the helm of the ship has gone afoul, that is so irrelevant to the degree of being nonsensical. We should not care what Mr. Shelton has done. He may be a child molester, who cares. He may be a closet homosexual with fetishes, who cares. He is the appointed leader, who perhaps needs to find his way. Pray for him, support the ministry, lose the cynicism.

I have only had to do this one other time on this board - but I feel the need to do it now. You Sir/Madam have some serious diagnosable mental issues to feel that we "should not care what Mr. Shelton has done."

To state that "he may be a child molester, who cares." States volumes for your sanity and you need some form of therapy immediately. Even if what you said prior made any inkling of sense this statement alone - (with 98% of Child Molesters "re-offending") makes everything you state questionable.

I wonder if you even considered the fact that other members on this site have been molested by folks just like Danny Shelton - men in powerful positions/in the church. Sadly...

To state that "he is the appointed leader, who perhaps needs to find his way" - in regards to such things as molestation and homosexual fetishes - "who perhaps"??? Are you stating that someone that has child molestation issues and homosexual fetishes just "may" need help to "find his way"....

You are so off. Bless your heart - you could say the sky is blue and that the son is hot and I wouldn't believe you.

Why?

> Because you killed all you credibility.
>
> Yes we should pray for him (Danny Shelton) but to state that we shouldn't "care" about the stank, hideous, crimes he has done? May you not have children/grandchildren/great-grandchildren that are molested by Danny Shelton himself or a man such as him with power within the church.
>
> ☒ sn

Posted by: justme Aug 20 2006, 10:08 AM

> QUOTE(J. Fitzhume @ Aug 20 2006, 10:32 AM) ☐
>
> What do you mean, "Am I serious?" I don't play games and I take no prisoners. Just because I am not one of the "yes" group, that mindlessly jump on the scandal wagon and ride it into the sunset. Oh, give me at least someone with an original thought here.
>
> To answer your question, you are not giving money to a person. You are giving it to a cause, a ministry and lifeline for tens of thousands of people. What is it about that concept that people find so difficult to fathom. We are used to separatism and extractism and all manners of prejudice. We are given or to minds that thirst for tabloids and fables and fancy concotions. Our focus should be single.
>
> 3ABN is the most important media tool for getting out the Third Angel's Message. If the helm of the ship has gone afoul, that is so irrelevant to the degree of being nonsensical. We should not care what Mr. Shelton has done. He may be a child molester, who cares. He may be a closet homosexual with fetishes, who cares. He is the appointed leader, who perhaps needs to find his way. Pray for him, support the ministry, lose the cynicism.

:ontrary to the "brain washing" taking place in Illinois, 3ABN is NOt the most imprtatnt tool". It would ike to think it is. The most important tool to God is one life lived in harmony with the bible. "When a nan's way please the Lord, He makes even his enemies to be at peace with him". Obviously, there is 1ot peace in West Frankfort. "If the helm of the ship has gone afoul", dear souls, that ship is loundering, it is out of control. It is time to break out the life boats. That is a ship that is going to sink /ery soon. Your illustrations have more power than you imagined.

Vho cares if Danny is a "child molester"?
ınswer: the child cares
he law cares
he church cares
3od himself cares
ɔr if Danny is a "closet homosexual with fetishes",, let's just point that out to all the viewers of 3ABN ınd let them answer that question for you.
Here's a news flash for you: DAnny is not "the chosen one". Jesus is!
)Anny is not deserving of "respect for the leadership". He has none!
)anny apparently was asked to "build a TV station that would declare the "Undiluted Three Angels Message to the world. To counteract the counterfeit". Ley us consider that as being "DONE". It has)een built. He did that job. Now it was not his job to become the "Face of Adventism". You're looking ıt the wrong end. So he built the station. Now get out of the way and let God's face be seen.

Undiluted Three Angels MEssages". That disappeared long time ago.; when your brought in all his family-grown "Country Gospel Music Amateurs" to use up the airtime that belongs to the "Undiluted Three Angels Messages". Then fills the administrative offices with Pentacostals. Hardly "Undiluted" in every respect!

Posted by: jodi Aug 20 2006, 05:27 PM

Thank you, Barbara, for standing firm on principle and having the courage to let the rest of the world know a little of what REALLY went on, not only while you worked at 3ABN those seven years, donating your time and talents to help others to never get as sick as you once were, but especially in the last two years when you chose to stay by Linda's side and remain her friend!

My heart goes out to both you and Linda for everything you have endured by incurring Danny's wrath. My prayers are for you to remain firm in your resolve to keep your eyes on Jesus, where our strength and help comes from (Psalm 29:11). God will bless you both!

Paul tells us in Romans 12:19 "...Vengeance is Mine, I will repay, says the Lord." The Biblical Golden Rule is: "As you have done, it shall be done to you; Your reprisal shall return upon your own head." Obadiah 12:15.

These promises tell me that God will deal with Danny...Surely he has to know a record of his life is being carefully recorded and he will give an accounting to God Himself!

As for you and Linda, I feel certain that God will open doors for you and give you much more than you could ever imagine! My prayer is that you will be richly blessed in whatever you do!

Posted by: Truly Blonde Aug 24 2006, 07:27 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 07:16 PM)
>
> ☒ sig Barbara for taking those risks. Truly you deserve an angel award .... ☒ angel.gi .....
>
> And the more who take the risks the more the risks will be minimized, for Danny Shelton is nothing at all by himself. The only thing that gives him power is the Church administrators and financiers who bow at his feet and do his bidding.
>
> May the day come quickly when our administrators will have the knowledge to form correct convictions, and the courage to act based upon those convictions rather than from fear of losing finances. Hopefully some of them will be strong in the Lord enough to realize that the thing that is closing the pocketbooks of our church members is their failure to act in appropriate ways to those who give threats. Once they step out in faith and refuse to be held hostages to a few deep pockets, God can open the windows of heaven and supply all of their needs!
>
> Thank you again Barbara for your witness.
>
> And thank you Calvin and all your BSDA team for providing the public place where it can be seen by all who come by.

Watchbird & Barbara
Am I wrong, I thought 3abn was am independent ministry. The money that is raised goes to 3 abn only right? I know that rich people can be powerful and I understand one is putting pressure on the GC as we speak. We need to pray that the church politics don't get in the way and that the truth will out. If all you who have been beaten by Danny were to stand up and speak out literally, could you not beat Danny/ or am I being Naive? TB

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 24 2006, 08:58 PM

> QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Aug 24 2006, 08:27 PM) ☐
>
> Watchbird & Barbara
> Am I wrong, I thought 3abn was am independent ministry. The money that is raised goes to 3 abn only right? I know that rich people can be powerful and I understand one is putting pressure on the GC as we speak. We need to pray that the church politics don't get in the way and that the truth will out. If all you who have been beaten by Danny were to stand up and speak out literally, could you not beat Danny/ or am I being Naive? TB

Yes, 3abn is an independent ministry and the monies raised go to fund their non-profit to use as the organization sees fit.

I have not heard an update on what is happening with Garwyn McNeilus and his money in the past few days. Does anyone know if our GC president has given in to Garwyn's demands of leaving Danny in his position or he'll take his money out of Global missions? And is there a public record of just how much money (percentage) that Garwyn contributes to that ministry?

I really hope the reports are not true (regarding Garwyn threatening the GC). If they are, I would hate to be in his shoes, for he is not threatening the church, he is threatening God. Money is considered a talent. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away! Oh boy ....

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 24 2006, 09:40 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Aug 19 2006, 03:01 PM) ☐
>
> Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze.
> None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous.
>
> My conclusion?
> I think Linda Shelton is a two-faced liar who writes so sweetly of wanting to support the 3ABN ministry and being its biggest prayer warrior and yet, at the same time, encourages so-called friends like Barbara Kerr writing these trash filled postings.
>
> And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.

Hi Steffan,

You sound angry. I'm sorry that my letter came across to you as hurtful, but it was time to write down what had been happening.

You say that none of Danny's supporters make sleazy or slanderous comments. Clearly you haven't spent any time on the phone with Dan. He has had plenty of sleazy things to say about his wife and only a few of them were posted in my letter. It would not have been possible to write a letter that emcompassed absolutely everything that transpired in the last two years. I have given people the condensed version of what I had experienced between the two Sheltons.

John Lomacang referred to Linda as "the Devil herself". I don't know about you, but coming from a pastors lips that seems pretty inflammatory and slanderous.

I'm sorry that you feel it necessary to refer to Linda as a "two-faced-liar". She is one of the most gentle, sweet and kind people I have ever known. I'm sorry that you never really saw her when she was on the programs. That was the real Linda. It still is.

The more I think about your angry outburst, the more I suspect that you actually have had a conversation with Dan. He's really smooth, isn't he?

And as far as being a "so-called-friend" of Linda, no, go right ahead and call me her friend! I'm not ashamed or embarrassed to be called her friend because that is what I am. A friend. And until you or Danny or anyone else can show me a Bible text that says I should turn my back on my friend, I'll be right there supporting her through this nightmare.

And in comment to your accusing me of my letter being a "trash-filled-posting", I would say,
1) If the truth is trash, then according to your definition, that's what it is,... but it's still the truth.
2) I have come to a point spiritually in my life where I can "pray for justice" and be "at peace" with Danny at the same time.
3) I had a wonderful time at 3abn and I made some terrific friends and met a lot of really nice people. I wouldn't trade my experience for anything. Even you I suspect that I know. So whoever you really are, just know that I love you and I'll be praying that God will show you the truth of the situation and that he will take away your anger.

Warmly,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Observer Aug 25 2006, 07:29 AM

You, Steffan, said: "Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze."

I am a strong supporter of Linda.

Please post where I have made outrageous and slander filled claims. Or, please post where I have posted in a manner to slander and sleaze.

You said: "None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous."

I have several written messages from the above that do exactly that.

No, I have not posted them publicly as I do not want to post such slander and sleaze.

You have made an inaccurate statement.

Posted by: Johann Aug 25 2006, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 25 2006, 04:58 AM)
>
> Yes, 3abn is an independent ministry and the monies raised go to fund their non-profit to use as the organization sees fit.
>
> - - -

3ABN has been thought of as a non-profit, but recent investigations indicate that 3ABN has to be re-structured in order to meet the legal requirements for a non-profit organization. The present board does not seem to qualify, according to certain invesigations.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Aug 25 2006, 03:22 PM

My question: If 3abn is truly an independent ministry can our church do anything about Danny? We could say they arn't part of the Adventist church like they do with churches that go astray. Is there any other recourse the church would have if they decided that all these things are true and if they were willing to give up the contribitor millions? Could we really change anything at 3abn?

Truly Blonde

Posted by: Johann Aug 25 2006, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Aug 25 2006, 11:22 PM)
>
> My question: If 3abn is truly an independent ministry can our church do anything about Danny? We could say they arn't part of the Adventist church like they do with churches that go astray. Is there any other recourse the church would have if they decided that all these things are true and if they were willing to give up the contribitor millions? Could we really change anything at 3abn?
>
> Truly Blonde

What we can do is to write to

The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventist and to the following SDA sponsored TV programs requesting they use 3ABN no more, but rather support HOPE, the official TV network of our Church.

It involves the following programs:

Fath for Today
Voice of Prophecy
Amazing Facts
Pioneer Memorial Church
Gospel Outreach
It Is Written

Walter Pearson

You could also write to
The Quiet Hour, but that is an Independent Ministry, as far as I know.

If you know of some pastors who appear on 3ABN you can also write to them and "suggest" they do not support 3ABN in the future.

Some of the programs mentioned above are seriously considering not appearing on 3ABN any more This is a bold decision, and they need your support.

Posted by: Expression Aug 25 2006, 03:55 PM

A lot of things have to start at the "grass roots" level so to speak. Writing to the GC, etc. is definately a way that we can work together to help create an atmosphere for change.

Though 3ABN may be an independent ministry Danny is a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church and as such the church needs to hold him accountable. His actions must not be ignored simply because he is a "leader". Because of his position the church has that much more responsibility to really look into the situation.

Posted by: Johann Aug 25 2006, 04:27 PM

> QUOTE(Expression @ Aug 25 2006, 11:55 PM)
>
> A lot of things have to start at the "grass roots" level so to speak. Writing to the GC, etc. is definately a way that we can work together to help create an atmosphere for change.
>
> Though 3ABN may be an independent ministry Danny is a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church and as such the church needs to hold him accountable. His actions must not be ignored simply because he is a "leader". Because of his position the church has that much more responsibility to really look into the situation.

The right way of handling offenders is through their local church. No one else can discipline a church member, not even the General Conference. Danny Shelton has safeguarded himself by being the unofficial "proprietor", not only of the sanctuary, but of the church pastor and the church board. Officially the church is under the Illinois Conference, but the church is governed by a stron man.

Posted by: msraccoon Aug 25 2006, 04:36 PM

Johann: Maybe the RIGHT way to discipline is thru the local church. But is it the ONLY way? Are you saying that the Illinois or General Conference have no teeth without a local church support?

I do like your idea of writing to Voice of Prophecy, etc. I am going to draft a hopefully "effective" letter during the weekend. Got to do what I can.

msraccoon

Posted by: Johann Aug 25 2006, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 26 2006, 12:36 AM)
>
> Johann: Maybe the RIGHT way to discipline is thru the local church. But is it the ONLY way? Are you saying that the Illinois or General Conference have no teeth without a local church support?
>
> I do like your idea of writing to Voice of Prophecy, etc. I am going to draft a hopefully "effective" letter during the weekend. Got to do what I can.
>
> msraccoon

Thanks for your support. We need a Church ready for the Return of Christ.

The higher level organizations can revoke a ministerial license, but not a church membership, and since Danny is not a minister or a pastor only the local church can deal with him. The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Aug 25 2006, 08:58 PM

I searched the Post website, can you tell me when the article was? Do you have a link to it so I can read it?

Thanks - fhb

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 25 2006, 09:50 PM)
>
> The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Posted by: September Aug 25 2006, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 25 2006, 10:58 PM)
>
> I searched the Post website, can you tell me when the article was? Do you have a link to it so I can read it?
>
> Thanks - fhb

I believe that was stated when that 10 commandments day was going on in DC...it was reported then that 3abn was/is an offshoot of the SDA church. I forget when all that was--but don't think it was too long ago. I work tomorrow so am off to bed now, but perhaps I can get back with you after the weekend.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 25 2006, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 25 2006, 08:50 PM)
>
> The higher level organizations can revoke a ministerial license, but not a church membership, and since Danny is not a minister or a pastor only the local church can deal with him. The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Yes, it is true that the local church is the only one who can revoke church membership. But the Conferences, Local, Union, Division, and General Conference, can "close Adventist pulpits" to whomever they wish .... whether Adventist or non-Adventist. They can also take action which forbids such persons or ministries to hold meetings in any Conference owned facility. They can also instruct their ministers, evangelists, media centers, and musicians to refrain from being seen on 3ABN .... or on any of their affiliate stations.

If instructions like this were to come down from top church levels, while there might not be 100% compliance, they would still send a very clear signal to the laity that the official Adventist church was not supporting 3ABN. Perhaps we are already seeing the lead being taken on this in the reported Palm Springs cancellation.

Posted by: justme Aug 25 2006, 09:21 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 25 2006, 11:09 PM)
>
> Yes, it is true that the local church is the only one who can revoke church membership. But the Conferences, Local, Union, Division, and General Conference, can "close Adventist pulpits" to whomever they wish .... whether Adventist or non-Adventist. They can also take action which forbids such persons or ministries to hold meetings in any Conference owned facility. They can also instruct their ministers, evangelists, media centers, and musicians to refrain from being seen on 3ABN .... or on any of their affiliate stations.
>
> If instructions like this were to come down from top church levels, while there might not be 100% compliance, they would still send a very clear signal to the laity that the official Adventist church was not supporting 3ABN. Perhaps we are already seeing the lead being taken on this in the reported Palm Springs cancellation.

At 10:10PM central time, the 3ABN website still showed an appointment to go to the Palm Springs SDA Church.

"Please Join Danny & Tommy Shelton and Steve Darmondy

Sabbath, September 9, 2006

Palm Springs SDA Church
620 South Sunrise Way
Palm Springs, CA 92264

Contact Person: Pastor Charles Mitchell
Church Phone: 760-327-5112

Services:
Sabbath School 10:00 AM PST
Morning Worship 10:45 AM PST

Sabbath Afternoon With Danny 2:00 - 3:30 PM PST"

Upon checking the Palm Springs SDA Church website it said nothing about 3ABN coming to Palm Springs SDA Church.
The contact information for the Palm Springs SDA Church is:

Contact Us

Mailing Address:

620 South Sunrise way
Palm Springs, Ca 92264

Phone: (760) 327-5112

Fax: (760) 322-6702

Church Email: ps7thday@1access.net

Posted by: Johann Aug 25 2006, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 26 2006, 04:58 AM)
>
> I searched the Post website, can you tell me when the article was? Do you have a link to it so I can read it?
>
> Thanks - fhb

It was in connection with the Ten Commandment Day, about a month ago. It has been referred to here on BSDA earlier.

Posted by: IMM Aug 25 2006, 09:40 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 25 2006, 09:58 PM)
> I searched the Post website, can you tell me when the article was? Do you have a link to it so I can read it?
>
> Thanks - fhb

DS, er, I mean, fhb, a simple google search of the terms "Washington Post" and "3ABN" did it quite easily. You're welcome that I did your homework for you.

And yes, it does refer to 3ABN as "a growing offshoot of the Adventist church" in the 4th paragraph.

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 25 2006, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 25 2006, 08:58 PM)
>
> I searched the Post website, can you tell me when the article was? Do you have a link to it so I can read it?
>
> Thanks - fhb

Note: This may not be the same article(s) referenced earlier by others. It's just one example. But, yes, the Washington Post has used the word "offshoot" to best describe 3ABN.

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

"It also includes the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, the organization that started giving away 270,000 copies of the book "Ten Commandments Twice Removed" on Thursday. The ministry, a growing offshoot of the Adventist church, said it hoped to draw 10,000 people last night and today to "Ten Commandments Weekend," an event at the D.C. Armory featuring music and sermons about the commandments."

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Aug 25 2006, 09:58 PM

Well thank you. A simple search of the Post's website itself does nor reveal this article but another that you must pay for. It seems that it was a rather unpleasent experience for you to provide this, so please accept my apology . . .

Hhhhmmm, shall I remind you I am not Danny, nay "A man or woman convinced against their will are of the same opinion still."

- fhb

http://pqasb.pqarchiver.com/washingtonpost/access/1032754591.html?dids=1032754591:1032754591&FMT=ABS&FMTS=ABS:FT&fmac=&date=May+6%2C+2006&author=Michelle+Boorstein&desc=Groups+Tout+Ten+Commandments+Event

> QUOTE(IMM @ Aug 25 2006, 10:40 PM)
>
> DS, er, I mean, fhb, a simple google search of the terms "Washington Post" and "3ABN" did it quite easily. You're welcome that I did your homework for you.
>
> And yes, it does refer to 3ABN as "a growing offshoot of the Adventist church" in the 4th paragraph.
>
> http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

Johann,

The article, or the one I was provided, does not indicate the GC called 3ABN an offshoot. It merely refers to it as a "growing offshoot." Paragraph 4 of this http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html:

It also includes the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, the organization that started giving away 270,000 copies of the book "Ten Commandments Twice Removed" on Thursday. The ministry, a growing offshoot of the Adventist church, said it hoped to draw 10,000 people last night and today to "Ten Commandments Weekend," an event at the D.C. Armory featuring music and sermons about the commandments.

There are comments from the assistant director of ANN later in the article but are not connected in anyway to 3ABN and make no reference to it what so ever. If there is another article where this is done I would love to know where that is.

- fhb

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 25 2006, 09:50 PM)
>
> Thanks for your support. We need a Church ready for the Return of Christ.
>
> The higher level organizations can revoke a ministerial license, but not a church membership, and since Danny is not a minister or a pastor only the local church can deal with him. The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Posted by: IMM Aug 25 2006, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 25 2006, 10:49 PM)
>
> Well thank you. A simple search of the Post's website itself does nor reveal this article but another that you must pay for. It seems that it was a rather unpleasent experience for you to provide this, so please accept my apology . . .
>
> Hhhhmmm, shall I remind you I am not Danny, nay "A man or woman convinced against their will are of the same opinion still."

> - fhb
>
> http://pqasb.pqarchiver.com/washingtonpost/access/1032754591.html?dids=1032754591:1032754591&FMT=ABS&FMTS=ABS:FT&fmac=&date=May+6%2C+2006&author=Michelle+Boorstein&desc=Groups+Tout+Ten+Commandments+Event

nd why would you want to remind me that you are not Danny?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Aug 25 2006, 10:03 PM

Thanks PP,

I had heard it refered to as such before, but never heard that the GC was referencing it that way so was really curious to read about it.

Thanks again - fhb

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 25 2006, 10:45 PM)
>
> Note: This may not be the same article(s) referenced earlier by others. It's just one example. But, yes, the Washington Post has used the word "offshoot" to best describe 3ABN.

orry, maybe the "DS, er, I mean, fhb" was just a slip of the fingers on the keyboard.

fhb

> QUOTE(IMM @ Aug 25 2006, 10:59 PM)
>
> And why would you want to remind me that you are not Danny?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 25 2006, 10:05 PM

Also, to bring you up to speed on this withering relationship between the Church and 3ABN, I can post one other previously mentioned link where the Adventist Church corrects the media regarding 3ABN.

http://www.caymannetnews.com/cgi-script/csArticles/articles/000042/004229.htm

Adventist Channel and 3ABN

Thursday, July 27, 2006

Dear Sir:

3ABN is not an Adventist channel. 3ABN is not owned, operated or funded by any church, denomination or organization, so people from all cultures and backgrounds appreciate 3ABN programming. Nevertheless many of 3ABN's employees and volunteers are members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Even the fact that Dr Jeffrey Thompson, president, Cayman Islands Conference, Seventh-day Adventists was inspecting the new transmitter, the Channel has not become an Adventist channel. There are some cooperation agreements between 3ABN and the Adventists for using 3ABN facilities to spread the gospel. That's it.
Thank you for making this distinction.

Adventist Press Service (APD)
Basel, Switzerland

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Aug 25 2006, 10:13 PM

Greetings! I have been reading a lot of posts here for the last two days because a friend who knows both Danny and Linda directed me here.

I have to say that I am sad to read about the sorry state of a ministry that I count as the vehicle that directed me me back to my Savior. I was pretty much floundering in my lost condition until a daily dose of 3abn brought me back to Bible study. I still am watching and garnering such blessings. I also am a firm believer in seeking truth. That's why I am here.

One of my big concerns is, why don't either Danny or Tommy show up on the Megan's Law sites? Have neither been prosecuted? If not why not?

If they truely are guilty of sexually assaulting girls and boys, why haven't they been charged?

Posted by: IMM Aug 25 2006, 10:24 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Aug 25 2006, 10:58 PM) ☐
>
> Well thank you. A simple search of the Post's website itself does nor reveal this article but another that you must pay for. It seems that it was a rather unpleasent experience for you to provide this, so please accept my apology . . .
>
> Hhhhmmm, shall I remind you I am not Danny, nay "A man or woman convinced against their will are of the same opinion still."
>
> - fhb
>
> http://pqasb.pqarchiver.com/washingtonpost/access/1032754591.html?dids=1032754591:1032754591&FMT=ABS&FMTS=ABS:FT&fmac=&date=May+6%2C+2006&author=Michelle+Boorstein&desc=Groups+Tout+Ten+Commandments+Event
>
> Johann,

> The article, or the one I was provided, does not indicate the GC called 3ABN an offshoot. It merely refers to it as a "growing offshoot." Paragraph 4 of this http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html:
>
> It also includes the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, the organization that started giving away 270,000 copies of the book "Ten Commandments Twice Removed" on Thursday. The ministry, a growing offshoot of the Adventist church, said it hoped to draw 10,000 people last night and today to "Ten Commandments Weekend," an event at the D.C. Armory featuring music and sermons about the commandments.
>
> There are comments from the assistant director of ANN later in the article but are not connected in anyway to 3ABN and make no reference to it what so ever. If there is another article where this is done I would love to know where that is.
>
> - fhb

id you read paragraph 10 of that article?

ttp://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

t says, "And although Three Angels' followers are primarily Seventh-day Adventists, a pokesman for the denomination said it would not be participating in the weekend's vents." id you catch that?

mmmm, a spokesman for the SDA church, and he was not from (nor apparently endorsed in any ay by) 3ABN. I'd wager most people reading that statement will/did view it as the denomination istancing themselves.

Posted by: beartrap Aug 25 2006, 10:31 PM

Fallible Human Being,

I am fully aware that you are NOT Danny Shelton. Your writing evidences that fact that you are an educated person. Any person who might question this should take a look at Danny's disjointed, rambling, poorly spelled, grammatically challenged, and entirely off-topic reply to Dr. Abrahamsen on the Adventist Today website, and compare it with the smooth, educated writing of FHB. Anyone who has a number of emails from Danny on their computer can make the same comparison.

I am sorry, FHB, that you have been so horribly insulted here on BSDA as to have been mistaken for Danny. My deepest condolences.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Aug 25 2006, 10:45 PM

I guess I don't yet understand how to post here. I'll try again tomorrow.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Aug 25 2006, 10:48 PM

> QUOTE(IMM @ Aug 25 2006, 11:24 PM)
>
> Did you read paragraph 10 of that article?
> http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html
>
> It says, "And although Three Angels' followers are primarily Seventh-day Adventists, a spokesman for the denomination said it would not be participating in the weekend's events."
>
> Did you catch that?
>
> Hmmmm, a spokesman for the SDA church, and he was not from (nor apparently endorsed in any way by) 3ABN. I'd wager most people reading that statement will/did view it as the denomination distancing themselves.

It is a stretch. You are reading much between the lines that isn't supported anywhere else in the artcile or in any other official statement from the GC.

How many world headquarters for the other denominations indicated they were officially there taking part in the activities. The activities revolved around the potential marriage of church and state (the real crux of the issue that spawned the Ten Commandments Day activities). 3ABN distanced itself from this issue via its statement that while they feel the decalogue is crucial to life, that they did not agree with the other participants political agendas. Its focus was to get out the word about the Ten Commandments, not fight for their appearence on federal property.

The church also, because of its long history of striving against a union between church and state could not step over that line and be officially involved. Their statement was premised on that, the drive to maintain a strong seperation of church and state, and not in an attempt to distance itself from 3ABN. The direct quote in the following paragraph (11) supports this:

"Where I need the Ten Commandments is in my heart," Mark Kellner, assistant director of the Adventist News Network, said. "It does no good for me to have it sitting in the Montgomery County Courthouse."

It is that paragraph that links the non-participation to the underlying theme for most of the individuals (meaning all those connected with the Wexler part of the weekend) there that weekend - that being a belief that the Ten Commandments should be displayed on government property. It is not a statement about 3ABN.

- fhb

Posted by: inga Aug 25 2006, 11:06 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 25 2006, 09:50 PM)
>
> The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Hi Johann,
Perhaps you know something that I don't -- that the General Conference declared 3ABN an "offshoot." If so, could you please point us to the documentation? (That would certainly be powerful, and I assume it would mean that official Adventist organizations would not be featured on 3ABN. However, I think we aren't quite there yet.)

The Washington Post article did mention 3ABN as an "offshoot," and many of us applauded that fitting description. I rather like what Mark Kellner, the official General Conference media representative, said too. He got some irate responses calling him down for calling 3ABN "an offshoot." But he says he didn't do it. So it appears that the reporter came to that conclusion from independent research.

God works in mysterious ways ...

Posted by: beartrap Aug 25 2006, 11:47 PM

Perhaps someone could ask Danny what happened a week or two ago when he took his jet to Silver Spring to drop in on Jan Paulsen. Perhaps someone could ask him if Paulsen refused to see him. Perhaps someone could ask if the words, "I don't want to see him now, and I don't want to see him later" mean anything to him.

Perhaps someone could also ask Danny why he was cancelled in Palm Springs. Perhaps they could also ask why a 3ABN representative called another church in the Palm Springs area to get the rally moved there, and found that 3ABN is not welcome in that church either.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 26 2006, 12:09 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 25 2006, 11:06 PM)
>

> Hi Johann,
> Perhaps you know something that I don't -- that the General Conference declared 3ABN an "offshoot." If so, could you please point us to the documentation? (That would certainly be powerful, and I assume it would mean that official Adventist organizations would not be featured on 3ABN. However, I think we aren't quite there yet.)
>
> The Washington Post article did mention 3ABN as an "offshoot," and many of us applauded that fitting description. I rather like what Mark Kellner, the official General Conference media representative, said too. He got some irate responses calling him down for calling 3ABN "an offshoot." But he says he didn't do it. So it appears that the reporter came to that conclusion from independent research.
>
> God works in mysterious ways ...

Perhaps the Latin phrase, persona non grata (a person who for some reason is not wanted or welcome), is a more precise description than the word offshoot. In that case, the situation wouldn't come with published documentation. Yet, we are now hearing that something along these lines seems to be occurring in various places.

Posted by: Johann Aug 26 2006, 12:48 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 26 2006, 07:06 AM)
>
> Hi Johann,
> Perhaps you know something that I don't -- that the General Conference declared 3ABN an "offshoot." If so, could you please point us to the documentation? (That would certainly be powerful, and I assume it would mean that official Adventist organizations would not be featured on 3ABN. However, I think we aren't quite there yet.)
>
> The Washington Post article did mention 3ABN as an "offshoot," and many of us applauded that fitting description. I rather like what Mark Kellner, the official General Conference media representative, said too. He got some irate responses calling him down for calling 3ABN "an offshoot." But he says he didn't do it. So it appears that the reporter came to that conclusion from independent research.
>
> God works in mysterious ways ...

Inge, It looks like we are almost there. That word "offshoot" was further investigated by a person who has started an avalance which will soon be seen.

Posted by: Clay Aug 26 2006, 02:25 AM interesting... it seems as though we are indeed approaching critical mass......

> QUOTE
>
> Critical Mass - An amount or level needed for a specific result or new action to occur.

Posted by: inga Aug 28 2006, 12:36 AM

Thank you for sharing this, beartrap.

Thank God that Jan Paulsen is a man of principle not cowed by the threat of funds withheld by Danny's mentor!! His refusal to bow under the threat of money withheld opens the way for God to open the floodgates of heaven!

May God give Him and His fellow administrators wisdom regarding how best to deal with this cancer in our midst!

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Aug 26 2006, 12:47 AM)

> Perhaps someone could ask Danny what happened a week or two ago when he took his jet to Silver Spring to drop in on Jan Paulsen. Perhaps someone could ask him if Paulsen refused to see him. Perhaps someone could ask if the words, "I don't want to see him now, and I don't want to see him later" mean anything to him.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Sep 1 2006, 07:32 PM

Has there been any further updates on this latest stuff?

Posted by: howdy Sep 1 2006, 07:54 PM

pPuleese folks I cant hold my breath much longer! :-)

Posted by: Lucyladye Sep 1 2006, 08:03 PM

Didn't know if you were aware, Jan Paulsen recently lost his mother. She was in Norway at the assisted living home where she had been residing. Elder Paulsen was able to visit with her just a few days before her death.

Posted by: software100 Sep 3 2006, 03:21 PM

For give me , but what under the sun are all these administrators and pastors,and Godly men holding this man up for as if he has done nothing wrong , It makes me sick do they think he is a God , why are our book and bible houses still selling his stuff, and why is he connected with our church, he has become ever thing we are suppoed to dislike. I hope some one high up in our church gets some guts, and tells this thing to leave our door steps, I love the Lord with all my heart, but men like this make me SICK
I say kick him to the curb before he dishonors God anymore then he has,
Thank you Barbara for your letter may continue to bless you, you have on stated what most of us knew all along, and may God be with Linda

---

Posted by: JustTana Sep 5 2006, 08:27 AM

I'm still learning -- that post was for something else altogether. Sorry!

Posted by: Fat Burns Jan 23 2007, 04:54 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 25 2006, 02:36 PM)
>
> Johann: Maybe the RIGHT way to discipline is thru the local church. But is it the ONLY way? Are you saying that the Illinois or General Conference have no teeth without a local church support?
>
> I do like your idea of writing to Voice of Prophecy, etc. I am going to draft a hopefully "effective" letter during the weekend. Got to do what I can.
>
> msraccoon

I like your cat.
I have been thinking about what I could say that would add to this discussion. I appreciate 3ABN. I believe God is using it in a powerful way. Now having said that, I hate the way Danny and group have treated Linda. I personally have seen the fire of hate in Danny's eye. I told him I was praying for his former son in law and his daughter. The fire came into his eye and he told me he didn't want them to go back together. Then he let loose a a tribual of offensive things to say about his son in law. Even the glass eye looked angry!!!!!!!
By the way when did the grandchildren get the name of Firestone? I thought they were Mundall.
Yes I think writing to the different ministeries might be helpfull. Thank you fro listening Fat Burns

---

Posted by: Johann Jan 23 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(Fat Burns @ Jan 24 2007, 12:54 AM)
>
> I like your cat.
> I have been thinking about what I could say that would add to this discussion. I appreciate 3ABN. I believe God is using it in a powerful way. Now having said that, I hate the way Danny and group have treated Linda. I personally have seen the fire of hate in Danny's eye. I told him I was praying for his former son in law and his daughter. The fire came into his eye and he told me he didn't want them to go back together. Then he let loose a a tribual of offensive things to say about his son in law. Even the glass eye looked angry!!!!!!!
> By the way when did the grandchildren get the name of Firestone? I thought they were Mundall.
> Yes I think writing to the different ministeries might be helpfull. Thank you fro listening Fat Burns

Welcome, Fat Burns. We pray God will cleanse the powerful tool and make it more effective in proclaiming His Truth to the world!

Posted by: Fat Burns Jan 23 2007, 05:09 PM

I didn't thank Barbara for her courage. I have wondered for a long time what had happenesto her. Thank you Barbara.
When I said God was using 3ABN, I was thinking of David and how he treated Bathsheba's husband . I think this went on for at least a couple years before God sent a prophet to set him straight. David recognized his error and agonized before God for forgiveness. I know HE is going to take care of this problem also in HIS time. I don't want to see 3ABN lost. I just want to see it straightened out.

Thank you again for listening Fat Burns

Posted by: beartrap Jan 23 2007, 06:24 PM

> QUOTE(Fat Burns @ Jan 23 2007, 05:54 PM)

> By the way when did the grandchildren get the name of Firestone? I thought they were Mundall.

hey did NOT get the name of Firestone. That was another lie told by 3ABN to the world. Their ame is Mundall, and that is what it will stay!

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 23 2007, 06:41 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Jan 23 2007, 06:24 PM)
>
> They did NOT get the name of Firestone. That was another lie told by 3ABN to the world. Their name is Mundall, and that is what it will stay!

less your heart - you're right smack in the middle of this mess whether you want to be or not. Can't ou write a book??? Please know that my heart goes out to you.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 23 2007, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(Fat Burns @ Jan 23 2007, 03:54 PM)
>
> I like your cat.
> I have been thinking about what I could say that would add to this discussion. I appreciate 3ABN.
> I believe God is using it in a powerful way. Now having said that, I hate the way Danny and group have treated Linda. I personally have seen the fire of hate in Danny's eye. I told him I was praying for his former son in law and his daughter. The fire came into his eye and he told me he didn't want them to go back together. Then he let loose a a tribual of offensive things to say about his son in law. Even the glass eye looked angry!!!!!!!
> By the way when did the grandchildren get the name of Firestone? I thought they were Mundall.
> Yes I think writing to the different ministeries might be helpfull. Thank you fro listening Fat Burns elcome Fat Burns! Who has an angry glass eye?

Posted by: watchbird Jan 23 2007, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 23 2007, 07:41 PM)
>
> Bless your heart - you're right smack in the middle of this mess whether you want to be or not. Can't you write a book??? Please know that my heart goes out to you.

emember that books are written after the story has reached a climax, a resolution, and an end point. articipants can keep diarys... but they cannot write books until there is closure on the story. Not even the beginnings of a story can be told until the writer is able to look at it from the perspective of its ending.

Patience people. There will come a time for the retrospectives. Until then.... there must be enough said to warn those who need to be warned.... but not enough to further wound the victims, the innocents, and "the walking wounded... whose wounds are not on view".

Posted by: Johann Jan 23 2007, 11:06 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Jan 24 2007, 02:24 AM)
>
> They did NOT get the name of Firestone. That was another lie told by 3ABN to the world. Their name is Mundall, and that is what it will stay!

When you start telling lies it can be hard to stop telling lies. Only TRUTH will make you free!!!

Posted by: JustTana Jan 29 2007, 06:37 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 23 2007, 08:11 PM)
>
> Welcome Fat Burns! Who has an angry glass eye?

Howdy and ☒ welc Fat Burns

Angry glass eye?! Who is that again?

JT

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 31 2007, 08:19 PM

> QUOTE(JustTana @ Jan 29 2007, 05:37 PM)
>
> Howdy and ☒ welc Fat Burns
>
> Angry glass eye?! Who is that again?
>
> JT

Fat Burns seemed to indicate that Danny Shelton has a glass eye in a post up a little ways.

PB

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 31 2007, 09:14 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 31 2007, 09:19 PM)
>
> Fat Burns seemed to indicate that Danny Shelton has a glass eye in a post up a little ways.
>
> PB

I believe that he is blind in one eye, but he doesn't have a glass eye that I know of.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 31 2007, 09:54 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 31 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> I believe that he is blind in one eye, but he doesn't have a glass eye that I know of.

Thanks for the clarification, HOTY!

Posted by: Fran Jan 31 2007, 10:45 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 31 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> I believe that he is blind in one eye, but he doesn't have a glass eye that I know of.

So, he is blind in one eye and can't see out of the other? I'm kind of blind in one eye and sometimes can't see out of the other one either. Mine is a choice issue, I choose what my good eye sees.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 07:04 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Jan 31 2007, 11:45 PM)
>
> So, he is blind in one eye and can't see out of the other? I'm kind of blind in one eye and sometimes can't see out of the other one either. Mine is a choice issue, I choose what my good eye sees.

Let me rephrase...I believe he is "legally blind" in one eye. Whatever the vision standard is for that, he's below it.

Posted by: Fran Feb 1 2007, 08:42 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 1 2007, 07:04 PM) ☐
>
> Let me rephrase...I believe he is "legally blind" in one eye. Whatever the vision standard is for that, he's below it.

I hear what you are sayimg, HOTY! Sounds right to me.

He seems to function quite well, no matter what, as long as he stays "below" legal!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Feb 1 2007, 09:42 PM) ☐
>
> I hear what you are sayimg, HOTY! Sounds right to me.
>
> He seems to function quite well, no matter what, as long as he stays "below" legal!

I guess I never thought of it that way.

He is legally blind and blind legally. ☒

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 09:06 PM

HOTY, HOTY, HOTY, don't be so mean! ☒

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 1 2007, 07:03 PM) ☐
>
> I guess I never thought of it that way.
>
> He is legally blind and blind legally. ☒

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 09:07 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 10:06 PM)
>
> HOTY, HOTY, HOTY, don't be so mean!

I wasn't being mean about the blind thing, really. I didn't mean it to sound cruel.
It is rather ironic though. Sorry!

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 09:09 PM

HOTY, it's ok. Just teasing you with a little ancient Ebonics............Code for that was funny!

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 1 2007, 07:07 PM)
>
> I wasn't being mean about the blind thing, really. I didn't mean it to sound cruel.
> It is rather ironic though. Sorry!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 09:16 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 10:09 PM)
>
> HOTY, it's ok. Just teasing you with a little ancient Ebonics............Code for that was funny!

You know, about 15 years ago I had to take an Ebonics class.
As fast as I learned everything, it all changed!

(Didn't really think you were spakin me, but I didn't want to sound like a bully.)

Peace, out!

(Does anyone say that anymore??

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 1 2007, 10:21 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Peace, out!

> (Does anyone say that anymore??

'ou just did!! rofl

Posted by: PaperTigers Feb 1 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Feb 2 2007, 12:21 AM)
>
> You just did!! rofl

ERSH
e nice to HOTY !!

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 10:44 PM

What???? You go, Boy!!!

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 1 2007, 07:16 PM)
>
> You know, about 15 years ago I had to take an Ebonics class.
> As fast as I learned everything, it all changed!
>
> (Didn't really think you were spakin me, but I didn't want to sound like a bully.)
>
> Peace, out!
>
> (Does anyone say that anymore??

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 2 2007, 02:03 PM

Just FYI, the legal definition for legal blindness varies from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Mr. Shelton may have no vision at all in one eye but would still not be considered "legally blind" unless his other eye could not be corrected to better than 20/200 or better than that but with reduced visual fields.

So he would be blind in that eye but not "legally blind".

nw

Posted by: Fat Burns Feb 2 2007, 09:48 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 2 2007, 12:03 PM) ☐
>
> Just FYI, the legal definition for legal blindness varies from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Mr. Shelton may have no vision at all in one eye but would still not be considered "legally blind" unless his other eye could not be corrected to better than 20/200 or better than that but with reduced visual fields.
>
> So he would be blind in that eye but not "legally blind".
>
> nw

Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 2 2007, 12:03 PM) ☐
>
> Just FYI, the legal definition for legal blindness varies from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Mr. Shelton may have no vision at all in one eye but would still not be considered "legally blind" unless his other eye could not be corrected to better than 20/200 or better than that but with reduced visual fields.
>
> So he would be blind in that eye but not "legally blind".
>
> nw

Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks

---

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 2 2007, 10:17 PM

> QUOTE(Fat Burns @ Feb 2 2007, 08:48 PM) ☐
>
> Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks

What book was that?

Posted by: Skyhook Feb 2 2007, 11:03 PM

If he has a glass eye its the only one I've ever seen that moves.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 3 2007, 12:01 AM

> QUOTE(Fat Burns @ Feb 2 2007, 08:48 PM) ☐
>
> Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks
> Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks

Rumors and/or mistakes once again. The glass put out the vision in his eye. He does not have a glass eye. Read carefully.

Posted by: Fran Feb 3 2007, 02:28 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 3 2007, 12:01 AM) ☐
>
> Rumors and/or mistakes once again. The glass put out the vision in his eye. He does not have a glass eye. Read carefully.

Was Linda EVER in the good graces of the Shelton family?

No reply needed. I still think the law coming up in Texas is a good law. Let's see what was the penalty in Jesus time?

Now he forgave Mary and told her to go and sin no more. I assume she did just that. I would suggest that your loss of sight in one eye has affected you with a very cloudy vision of sin.

I do not believe my comment about Tommy and Texas is the reason you have chosen not to speak to me! You are afraid of what I have to say about the finances and Linda. Those things you fear like the plague. Rightly so too..

So I will have to talk finances without you. So sorry. It is about time to talk about Linda again. She is a model for all Adventist women. She gives us courage and strength through leading us to Jesus.

All you do is take, take, and take. Enjoy your gloating joy ride for what it is worth tonight for tomorrow tears will come.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 3 2007, 04:19 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 11:01 PM) ☐
>
> Rumors and/or mistakes once again. The glass put out the vision in his eye. He does not have a glass eye. Read carefully.

I am always saddened when someone has an eye put out. My brother lived a very productive life with one eye. I wonder if Danny has ever thought of having a cornea transplant. My son had one and it gave him back his vision.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 4 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 3 2007, 04:19 AM) ☐
>
> I am always saddened when someone has an eye put out. My brother lived a very productive life with one eye. I wonder if Danny has ever thought of having a cornea transplant. My son had one and it gave him back his vision.

I believe he has had one and possibly 2 transplants. the first unsuccesful and the 2nd , maybe, providing a little light and shadow vision.

Posted by: Johann Feb 6 2007, 07:43 AM

Here is the previous letter from Barbara Kerr that should be read again. It is a first-person testimony.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 17 2006, 02:42 AM) ☐
>
> For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding one of my best friends, Linda Shelton. I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.
>
> I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.
>
> snip......

for the complete letter.... here is the link:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489&st=0&p=145498&#entry145498

post edited for length, link provided....

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 6 2007, 07:53 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 3 2007, 02:01 AM) ☐

> Rumors and/or mistakes once again. The glass put out the vision in his eye. He does not have a glass eye. Read carefully.

I could care less if the man had a golden eye...but then again...maybe he does..

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Feb 6 2007, 02:53 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 6 2007, 08:43 AM)
>
> Here is the previous letter from Barbara Kerr that should be read again. It is a first-person testimony.
> for the complete letter.... here is the link:
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489&st=0&p=145498&#entry145498
>
> post edited for length, link provided....

Thank you Johann, you're a great guy!

Barb

Posted by: Johann Feb 6 2007, 04:56 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 10:53 PM)
>
> Thank you Johann, you're a great guy!
>
> Barb

Thank you Barb, but this is even more true of most of the people posting on this net.

Linda called just a little while ago, telling me a secret that I cannot reveal just now. But again I saw what a great girl she is.

- We want to make sure the Lord is glorified in all of this, she said. I will not make any defense without making a spiritual application.

So this is the message to us all from Linda.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 6 2007, 09:37 PM

It's about to be on and poppin'!!!

Posted by: JustTana Feb 24 2007, 12:33 PM

Hello All Administrators:

Several people suggested at the time that Barbara's letter entered by Johann should be 'pinned'. Why is it not pinned? Or was it at one time and then reopened for further commentary by the board contributors?

Jus' wonderin'!

JT

Posted by: calvin Feb 24 2007, 06:53 PM

> QUOTE(JustTana @ Feb 24 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> Hello All Administrators:
>
> Several people suggested at the time that Barbara's letter entered by Johann should be 'pinned'. Why is it not pinned? Or was it at one time and then reopened for further commentary by the board contributors?
>
> Jus' wonderin'!
>
> JT

Topics are pinned and unpinned as we deem them relevant at any particular time. Also, I try to limit the number of pinned topics to four, to leave more space on the first page for current discussion.

Posted by: JustTana Feb 25 2007, 02:44 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 24 2007, 07:53 PM)
>
> Topics are pinned and unpinned as we deem them relevant at any particular time. Also, I try to limit the number of pinned topics to four, to leave more space on the first page for current discussion.

Thanks for helping me understand, Boss.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 04:01 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Feb 6 2007, 08:53 AM)
>
> I could care less if the man had a golden eye...but then again...maybe he does..

41

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Contact Info For 3abn To Serve Papers To.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 22 2007, 10:57 PM

Anyone want to provide their contact info so that 3ABN will have an easier time serving them papers? It might save them some time. It was an idea Duane and I were discussing.

I think it would be pretty neat if we could end up with 100 names or so.

Is this a good idea?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 23 2007, 12:11 AM

Either that, or as I was just thinking, I'm home a couple of days a week, so I guess I could just pop by and pick mine up.

No sense wasting a stamp.

Posted by: Brenda Feb 23 2007, 12:16 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 23 2007, 04:11 PM)
>
> Either that, or as I was just thinking, I'm home a couple of days a week, so I guess I could just pop by and pick mine up.
>
> No sense wasting a stamp.

If the offences are committed online, can the papers be served online?

Posted by: Ozzie Feb 23 2007, 02:05 AM

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Feb 23 2007, 04:16 PM)
>
> If the offences are committed online, can the papers be served online?

Good point Brenda! One would think so

Posted by: erik Feb 23 2007, 02:18 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 22 2007, 08:57 PM)
>
> Anyone want to provide their contact info so that 3ABN will have an easier time serving them papers? It might save them some time. It was an idea Duane and I were discussing.
>
> I think it would be pretty neat if we could end up with 100 names or so.
>
> Is this a good idea?

Well if they want to serve papers on me i say bring, just pm and i will happily give it out, just expect a very length and in depth discovery process

Erik

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 23 2007, 10:18 AM

What really is the purpose of this topic?

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 10:27 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 23 2007, 10:18 AM)
>
> What really is the purpose of this topic?

to show the dannyscribes, the dannytypes and the danny apologists that people are not afraid to be sued given than it could be more damaging to danny and 3abn than those here......

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 23 2007, 11:07 AM

But what is there to gain by doing this?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 11:41 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 23 2007, 12:07 PM)
>
> But what is there to gain by doing this?

It calls the bluff of those saying particular members here are going to be served...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Pickle Feb 23 2007, 12:11 PM

When I was talking to Duane Clem, he expressed that he did not like Danny referring to that "little group" on that broadcast. If 100 people said they wouldn't mind being sued, well, that bursts the bubble of Danny's allusion that we are just some "little group."

That was part of the reason for suggesting this topic, but like I said, I wasn't sure if it was a good idea.

We don't want to taunt, and yet at the same time we want to let them know that we aren't afraid of their threats, and we would rather be sued than not take a stand for truth, for righteousness, and for the reputation of the Adventist Church and the undiluted three angels' messages.

Posted by: Carmel Feb 23 2007, 01:10 PM

Thank you for your explanation, I too was bewildered with where this was coming from and going to. I like to stand for truth, for righteousness, reputation of the Adventist Church...

as the Prophet Jeremiah said:

Execute judgment in the morning,
and deliver him who is plundered
Out of the hand of the oppressor,
Lest my fury go forth like fire
And burn so that no one can quench it.
Because of the evil of your doings.
Jeremiah 21:12

Also I have seen a horrible thing in the prophets of Jerusalem:
They commit adultery and walk in lies;
They also strenghten the hands of evildoers,
so that no one turns back from his wickedness.
Jeremiah 23:14

My husband and I are reading the Bible through and found these verses this morning...

I think they are worth considering...

Carmel

Posted by: Lee Feb 23 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 23 2007, 01:11 PM)
>
> When I was talking to Duane Clem, he expressed that he did not like Danny referring to that "little group" on that broadcast. If 100 people said they wouldn't mind being sued, well, that bursts the bubble of Danny's allusion that we are just some "little group."
>
> That was part of the reason for suggesting this topic, but like I said, I wasn't sure if it was a good idea.

Mr. Pickle--a hundred represents a large group to you? Do I understand you correctly? Sheesh--you say you want to "burst" his bubble?

Umm, I hate to say this but a hundred IS a "little group."

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 02:15 PM)
>
> Mr. Pickle--a hundred represents a large group to you? Do I understand you correctly? Sheesh--you say you want to "burst" his bubble?
>
> Umm, I hate to say this but a hundred IS a "little group."

For such a loud cry that 3abn isn't going to do anything and you all will welcome it if they do, I see a real lack of everyone's info here. You know to help the DS team save time

---

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 03:15 PM)
>
> Mr. Pickle--a hundred represents a large group to you? Do I understand you correctly? Sheesh--you say you want to "burst" his bubble?
>
> Umm, I hate to say this but a hundred IS a "little group."

To start with 100 is reasonable. We do have 2,135 registered members on BlackSDA.

Posted by: ida Feb 23 2007, 02:26 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 08:15 PM)
>
> - - -
> Umm, I hate to say this but a hundred IS a "little group."

Keep reminding the many churches and gatherings where there are less than a hundred assembled thay they are a smal group.

Why not rather emphsize the words of Jesus saying that where two or three are gathered . . . ?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 23 2007, 02:26 PM)
>
> Keep reminding the many churches and gatherings where there are less than a hundred assembled thay they are a smal group.
>
> Why not rather emphsize the words of Jesus saying that where two or three are gathered . . . ?

Because I believe Lee wasn't referring to churches or in any way comparing. How could you compare a forum like this with a church? That would be highly degrading to the church.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 02:56 PM

Funny how such a "little group" has got 3abn all shook up. I mean why should they be concerned over a little group? Unless they know that the little group speaks the truth? Now if the little group speaks the truth then yes they should be running scared to the lawyers. Oh ya, they are.

Richard

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 23 2007, 03:50 PM

Shouldn't we be happy over the name "little group"???

After all, isn't the same thing as being referred to as "a remnant"???

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:36 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 23 2007, 01:07 PM)
>
> But what is there to gain by doing this?

What is to gain is the understanding that I don't play. I don't take threats lightly. I don't play. If you want to use the threat that you are going to sue me then you best believe that you better follow all the way through. I don't play. I don't have time for the mess. I don't play. I have been molested and to hear someone talk/discuss it and try to blame it on the child - but yet want to then discuss out the other side of their neck that they will "sue me"... I don't play. I will go to court. I don't play. I will take the time off from school, move in with my Mamma, and run the trial to the end. I don't play. GOD is with me and in the end the name of 3ABN will change to Silvey's Network -(SN). I don't play. I will have all the necessary funds to care for my family, finish my education (now and future), and take care of others that have been through some of the "mess" that folks are taking lightly in regards to 3ABN. I DON'T PLAY!!!

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 23 2007, 04:26 PM)
>
> .....Why not rather emphsize the words of Jesus saying that where two or three are gathered . . . ?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 04:35 PM)
>
> Because I believe Lee wasn't referring to churches or in any way comparing. How could you compare a forum like this with a church? That would be highly degrading to the church.

...and then you speaking of this being a "highly degrading" church would be judging...right?

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Feb 23 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> ...After all, isn't the same thing as being referred to as "a remnant"???

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 24 2007, 02:13 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:22 PM)
>
> For such a loud cry that 3abn isn't going to do anything and you all will welcome it if they do, I see a real lack of everyone's info here. You know to help the DS team save time

And...I still haven't seen your name signed to a post yet.

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 24 2007, 02:25 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 04:22 PM)
>
> For such a loud cry that 3abn isn't going to do anything and you all will welcome it if they do, I see a real lack of everyone's info here. You know to help the DS team save time

Why do the 3ABN lawyers' work for them. If they're as good as we're being led to believe, they should have the wherewithall at their disposal to conduct their discovery; and they would also have to justify their billable time, wouldn't they? Let them work for the money like the rest of us...

Personally, I think it's just hot air blowing in the wind ☒ blc

---

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 24 2007, 11:38 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Feb 24 2007, 04:25 AM) ☐
>
> Why do the 3ABN lawyers' work for them. If they're as good as we're being led to believe, they should have the wherewithall at their disposal to conduct their discovery; and they would also have to justify their billable time, wouldn't they? Let them work for the money like the rest of us... ☒
>
> Personally, I think it's just hot air blowing in the wind ☒ blc

.....and if folks keep blowin' hot breaf....it's gonna get the Listerine....

I don't play.

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 25 2007, 07:38 AM) ☐
>
> .....and if folks keep blowin' hot breaf....it's gonna get the Listerine....
>
> I don't play.

Watch out Princess!Listerine might sue you for using a copyrite wasted on . . .

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 25 2007, 10:42 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 05:23 PM) ☐

> Watch out Princess!Listerine might sue you for using a copyrite wasted on . . .

...got it!

rofl

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 16 2007, 03:59 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Feb 24 2007, 03:25 AM)
>
> Why do the 3ABN lawyers' work for them. If they're as good as we're being led to believe, they should have the wherewithall at their disposal to conduct their discovery; and they would also have to justify their billable time, wouldn't they? Let them work for the money like the rest of us...
>
> Personally, I think it's just hot air blowing in the wind blc

.adyH are you sure they are not "breaking" the wind, rather than blowing?

Powered by Invision Power Board (http://www.invisionboard.com)

42

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Conclusions

Posted by: howdy Feb 17 2007, 07:37 PM

After reading most of the "evidence" that has been presented on this board and others I have no hesitation in stating my conclusion. To do so I need no more than two indisputable facts. These are, first the fact that DS cannot present any credible proof for his allegations re his former wife and two, the fact that his step daughter has told of his inappropriate behavior towards her. I conclude that D Shelton is the one who is stating untruths and attempting to cover his mis demeanors.

I would be willing to cut some slack for his defenders.

howdy

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 09:40 PM

Well alright....

☒ sn

Posted by: ida Feb 18 2007, 11:01 AM

> QUOTE(howdy @ Feb 18 2007, 01:37 AM) ☐
>
> After reading most of the "evidence" that has been presented on this board and others I have no hesitation in stating my conclusion. To do so I need no more than two indisputable facts. These are, first the fact that DS cannot present any credible proof for his allegations re his former wife and two, the fact that his step daughter has told of his inappropriate behavior towards her. I conclude that D Shelton is the one who is stating untruths and attempting to cover his mis demeanors.
>
> I would be willing to cut some slack for his defenders.
>
> howdy

Reading the defense of Danny Shelton is also a strong indication to me that he has no argument, so I am inclined to agree with you. ☐

Posted by: LadyTenor Feb 19 2007, 12:15 PM

I know we don't gamble, but I'm taking bets as to how long it takes for Bystander, wwjd, Alethia and any other of Danny's minions to respond....

Posted by: ida Feb 22 2007, 03:53 PM

> QUOTE(howdy @ Feb 18 2007, 01:37 AM)
>
> After reading most of the "evidence" that has been presented on this board and others I have no hesitation in stating my conclusion. To do so I need no more than two indisputable facts. These are, first the fact that DS cannot present any credible proof for his allegations re his former wife and two, the fact that his step daughter has told of his inappropriate behavior towards her. I conclude that D Shelton is the one who is stating untruths and attempting to cover his mis demeanors.
>
> I would be willing to cut some slack for his defenders.
>
> howdy

Having read most of the arguments found on this net, I must conclude that the two points Howdy refers to in this posts are really the most important points in this whole discussion.

No fasting or prayer meeting can change these two facts. So let any honest person involved take aktion righ here.

1. There is no credible proof that Linda is guilty of the allegations made against her.

2. Linda´s daughter has made a clear statement of Danny´s improper and immoral behavior towards her.

Have you ever heard of God changing facts, even if the guilty person receives forgiveness?

Does a real revival ever happen without sins confessed and restitution made for the evil things done?

How can God answer prayers if those praying have already made up their minds to ignore guilt, while demanding blessings?

Barbara Kerr´s first letter cannon be dismissed. Read how she for a long time was supporting Danny, and then what made her change her mind. It is intersting to note how many people state that it was not what Linda said, suggested, or wrote, which influenced them in her favor. It was the inconsistencies in Danny´s own expressions, and yet the Danny camp now claims that Linda is behind all of the opposition against himself?

> QUOTE
>
> July 7, 2006
>
> This is a formal statement which is long overdue. I did not disclose this information when the events occurred because I did not want to hurt my mother. I did not want to cause trouble with 3 ABN, and I was too embarrassed to talk about it. Now that some time has passed and circumstances have changed I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others from being exposed to the same treatment that I have experienced.
>
> 1) The repeated inappropriate actions from my ex-stepfather, Danny Shelton, occurred in the summer of the year 2000.
>
> 2) I had been away at school for some years. I was happy to be returning home to attend a local University.

> 3) My mother always went to bed rather early. Her bedroom was upstairs and my bedroom was downstairs. Danny started coming into my room getting into my bed and rubbing my back. He seemed to "accidentally" get too low. I told him I did not want a back rub. He ignored me. This happened repeatedly.
>
> 4) I began locking my bedroom door every night. Sometimes he would come to the door and knock again and again. I did not answer. He then repeatedly unlocked my bedroom door and came into my room. He would then get into my bed. I was not comfortable with this but I was so tired I still fell asleep. I awoke sometimes with his hands in inappropriate places. He would say "Oh, I'm sorry. I thought it was your Mom." He told me not to tell my Mom. I told him to stay out of my room. He still came. I started sleep on the living room couch so that he could not lie beside me.
>
> 5) I felt threatened and very uncomfortable with these things, so I made arrangements to move out.
>
> Signed,
>
> __________________
>
> Alyssa Moore (daughter of Linda Shelton)

Posted by: ida Feb 22 2007, 05:07 PM

Heree is Barbara´s letter;

For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding one of my best friends, Linda Shelton. I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.

I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.

I would like to stop here and say that by my not being a "paid" employee of 3ABN, I have had a unique opportunity watching employees come and go. In seven years of volunteering at this ministry, I really got a feel for their personalities versus their characters. I also watched in horror, as some people would work so hard to position themselves to climb the ladder of success. You could see "pride of position" stamped on their foreheads as they walked the halls searching desperately for fame. It's no wonder Linda and Danny both have become leery over the years of people trying to become their "friends". It's unfortunate that people will use people, but this is the real world after all, and God warns us that "whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant, and whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

I had the privilege of meeting many Godly people while volunteering at 3ABN who were the same off of camera as they were when the cameras were rolling. I would have to say that was especially true of Linda Shelton. She was as sweet, charming, spiritual and innocent off camera as she was on! If that was the only statement that I had to make about Linda, it would be enough, for each of you saw the "real" Linda as she held out her hand in prayer on every "Presents" program.

I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Danny is a very powerful man. Maybe the most powerful man in the SDA church and his influence is felt far and wide. When he doesn't like you he has no problem picking up the phone to call conference presidents and heads of ministries. I have personally felt his wrath, and its consequences by standing up to him, asking hard questions (when everyone else was afraid too) and continuing to be a friend to Linda and support her through this nightmare.

I can honestly say that I hate injustice and I refuse to stand by and watch someone be bullied. My husband and I are very much the same in this respect. With that said, it was so incredibly confusing those first few months listening to both Danny and Linda talk about their "problem". Each person was emphatic that the other person was lying. At this time, both Dan and Linda had credibility with me even though Linda and I were actually close friends. It would give me a headache just trying to sort out what each one had verbalized.

It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled, while Dan was "closed off" and "non-receptive". By that statement I don't mean that he wouldn't talk to Claudia and me. He did. He just did 99% of the talking. It was as if Dan was on "machine gun mode" and his words just shot out of him like bullets. I should also say that at the time we drove up to 3ABN, it didn't matter to me if Linda was guilty or innocent. I was on my way because she needed a friend.

I was appalled that Linda had been locked out of 3ABN and completely cut off from talking to the employees. The hard drive from her computer was removed and she wasn't able to retrieve any information that she had stored in that computer.

I may not be a PhD, but it didn't take much common sense to see that Linda was being "cut off" from all former friends and co-workers. Linda, Claudia and myself talked for hours, we prayed together, we cried together and we counseled together. I kept hearing the words of Jesus in my ears; "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends."

Danny has always maintained that Linda would not receive counsel and it is my belief that nothing could be farther from the truth. What she didn't want was 3ABN "arranged" counsel and refused anything that smelled of it.

I had one opportunity to ask Danny tough questions during our three-day stay. I knew that even by asking, that they might not be well received. My questions were 1) Are you having an affair? 2) Have you fallen in love with someone else? 3) Are you willing to acknowledge that you have responsibility for your marriage falling apart?

Dan emphatically denied an affair or any love interest other than Linda, but he was completely unwilling to take one shred of responsibility for the marriage beginning to unravel. The entire blame was on Linda's shoulders and he had many reasons why it was all her fault.

During the weeks that followed I received several two-hour long phone calls from Danny. I averaged about five minutes during those conversations. Again, his words flew out like machine gun fire almost painful to listen to. He was definitely on a mission to discredit his wife and isolate her from ANYONE that lent her a helping hand or a shoulder to cry on. He sounded so extremely believable and convincing. He had some kind of so-called "proof" for every "thing" she was being accused of. Eventually Danny persuaded me with partial truths that Linda was the one in the wrong. I was even mad at Dr. Abrahamsen for not walking away from the situation because I believed he was only making matters worse by continuing to be-friend her.

Linda and I didn't speak for about three months (Oct.- Dec.), but she continued to maintain her innocence. Occasionally she would send me an email with an update and a kind word. Never once did she get mad at me for not "siding" with her. What I found strange was that every time Linda and I would begin talking over the phone again, within about 24-hours I would get a phone call out of the blue from Dan and he would begin his torturous rundown of all his "evidence". (Were her phones tapped?) hmmmm.......

I prayed that God would show me the truth in the situation and I asked for wisdom to respond to each of them. Whenever Linda and I began to reconnect again, Danny became angry. His words were more than unkind as he spoke "ugliness" about his former wife. I began losing respect for him not only as a husband, but as the Christian leader he should have been portraying! He spoke about his wife's menstrual cycle freely over the phone. (HUGE MISTAKE – how inappropriate and disgusting. AND, if he was discussing it with me, surely he was discussing it with others). He actually had the nerve to say one day, "Well, I've always said that Linda would spread her legs for anyone". Unbelievable beyond words!!!!!! What Christian leader would say that? And to use the words "I've always said". How many times had he said that to someone?

These disgusting statements weren't the first time Danny's words had turned my stomach causing me to lose tremendous respect for him as a leader. It is shameful to even repeat what he said. (I have decided not to repeat it because it's too horrible and what bugs me more than anything is that I can't tell this truth, because no matter how true it is, the incident is too inflammatory to be published. Maybe someday, the truth will be known.)

The last time I taped a cooking program at 3ABN was early December of 2003. I will never forget gathering up the last tray full of dishes and food on the kitchen set and heading for the door. As I neared the piano, goose bumps stood up all over my body and a voice so audible in my head said, "This is the last time you will ever tape a program here". I was so shocked I stopped walking, turned around to look at the kitchen set and said out loud, "No, that can't be". There was no shaking the feeling, so I stood there in stunned silence for a moment as I took it all in one last time.

I was sure the voice must be wrong because Dee Hildebrand and I had already set the schedule for the following year. The strangest thing happened though. My normal schedule of taping every other month beginning in January just wouldn't work out. This time, no matter how we tried to arrange the schedule, the first possible spot was just after July 4th, taping a LIVE with Dr. Neil Nedley. Then, I wasn't on the schedule again until late September, so we also booked October, and December.

I don't remember if it was January, February or March (2004), but Kay Kuzma called my home and told me that she was working on a new book called Mending Broken People. It was to be a book about the ministries that "made up" 3ABN and the miracle stories that surrounded their work. She interviewed me for about 40 minutes over the phone asking questions about Taste Of Health and how my ministry had changed the lives of others. I shared several testimonies with her and she thanked me for my contribution to 3ABN and for allowing her to share my story.

I didn't hear from Kay again until late May or early June, 2004. This conversation was much different. She was doing her best to find out where I stood regarding Linda and Danny. I wasn't budging from Linda's side. I commented that Danny still hadn't been able to show me a single Bible text that indicated I should turn my back on my friend. I, too, was unable to persuade Kay of Linda's innocence - her mind was made up. We hung up. Her new book was published several months later and all traces of Taste Of Health miracle stories had been removed. It was as if by not including the seven years of volunteer work that I had done, they could pretend that I had not been a big part of 3ABN's health message.

Spring came. Claudia, my mother and myself spent the entire month of April, 2004 in Italy. It was just days after arriving home that we learned of Linda's being "out-ed" at 3abn.

May was just a whirlwind with the 3ABN "mess", school getting out and one of my closest girlfriends was six months pregnant and needed a place to stay. Bill and I opened up our home to her and she asked me to be her coach. During my friend's doctor visit in June they moved her due date up to July 12th. She began to get increasingly nervous knowing that my "tape date" was on July 6th. I was growing more and more frustrated with Danny (the divorce had just gone through) and I really wasn't sure I would be able to tape anything without Linda in the kitchen. It just didn't seem right. I was somewhat relieved because of the due date being so close and I called and cancelled the LIVE.

The baby was born July 15th, and my friend was still not back with her husband. She slipped into serious postpartum depression and missed her husband terribly. After working out the details of reuniting, she finally convinced me that she could not manage the trip home the first week of September by herself, so my husband bought me a ticket.

I called Dee the middle of August to explain that I just couldn't get my recipes together in time for the September deadline, that I had too much on my plate at the moment and that I would be flying back to my girlfriends home with her and the baby. I needed to cancel once again. Part of me was relieved. I still wasn't sure I fit in anymore.

The next morning I received a phone call from Tommy Shelton explaining that they had cancelled my remaining "tape dates" and that my taping cooking programs for 3ABN wasn't a good fit anymore. He was kind (as I had always known Tommy to be), but nonetheless, he was the "axe man" that day.

As I hung up the phone I began to cry and my crying turned into big "red-headed" sobs. Then I remembered the words the Holy Spirit had whispered in my ear last December, and I knew that in fact, I would never tape there again. I had been fired.

I knew that when I stood by Linda that it would most likely affect my taping at 3ABN, but then I've never been one to be "politically correct". Unlike the actual 3ABN employees, I wasn't losing a paycheck. I had been working for free for eight years. You see, I had made a vow to God in 1994 that I would spend the rest of my life helping others to not get as sick as I once did. Danny Shelton didn't call me to the ministry, God did. Dan's allowing me to tape programs or not tape programs was a trivial thing to God, and it still is.

I had always known that Three Angels was only a training ground. The Lord had impressed me very early on that it was temporary and that He had something much, much bigger down the road. Looking back, I can't help but feel my seven years of training at 3ABN was the perfect amount of time.

Even though I was no longer an invited guest at 3ABN, it didn't stop Danny from calling off and on to keep up with his "Linda trashing". I decided that time would reveal the real liar. Even though what Danny said all sounded irrefutable, I couldn't get over how instead of trying to shelter and protect his wife from the public, he was tearing her apart with his words to anyone that would listen. It didn't take long for him to reveal more of his spots.

Because my programs had been taken off the air and I didn't own the rights to the master copies, seven years worth of my work was locked up in what I like to call "cooking school prison" at 3ABN. Three Angels would no longer air the shows because they had Linda in them, but they wouldn't donate or sell the programs to me either. They even refused to sell copies of the programs to viewers that would call in and request them. Clearly they were of no more use to 3ABN's ministry, but when I asked Danny if he would donate my work to my ministry his reply was, "One shouldn't cut off his nose to spite his face." He then wrote an entire paragraph outlining all of the "new rumors" that I was supposedly saying about him. Rumors that I hadn't heard until I received his letter. He also requested a statement in writing that he could give to people when they wanted to know where I stood on the subject of him and 3ABN.

I was in a quandary. Even though I loved and supported 3ABN, I had lost pretty much all respect for Danny. He is unable to separate himself from the ministry in that way and I was unable to lie in order to receive those masters. This letter is my public response to his request, so everyone will know just where I stand in respect to how I feel about his ungodly leadership.

At the close of his last email to me his words cut me like a knife. He said,
"Barb, it honestly doesn't make me any difference who you support in this situation. We will all go on the same. Your influence, as you know, won't make or break 3ABN as well as make or break Linda.
But at least people won't be able to accuse you of jumping ship to serve your own selfish purposes."

I was filled with righteous indignation. Since when had working eight years without a paycheck, trying to educate the public and teach God's Law's of Health, qualify as "serving my own selfish purposes"? I decided to take an entirely different approach.

I've always been a prayer warrior, so I went to my Bible in search of answers. I kept reading passages from Psalms where David's prayers against his oppressors were extremely direct. David minced no words in telling God what he wanted done to the people that hated him. I had never prayed this way before and wasn't sure if I could.

I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind. Set the oppressed free. Make us the head and not the tail. Contend with those that contend with me. You have promised not to be a respecter of Kings and rulers and those with a proud heart. Shut the mouth of those that speak lies about us. Let them be drunk with their own blood as with wine. But let Your servant rejoice. Let my accusers be clothed with shame, and let them cover themselves with their own disgrace as with a mantle. I will greatly praise the Lord with my mouth; Yes, I will praise Him among the multitude. For He shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save her from those who condemn her." (If you read Psalm 109 I used this prayer as my example.)

This prayer might sound extremely harsh, but let me tell you, God began to move in a powerful way revealing every secret thing. Danny may think that someone he considers as small and insignificant as myself cannot touch "the anointed one" (as 3ABN likes to call Dan), but God sees every tear shed by His servants and hears every humble plea. PRAYER CHANGES EVERYTHING!

Jumping back to the summer of 2004 (after Linda was fired and taken off the air) my mother and sister decided to surprise me with a fundraiser concert in Atlanta, GA. It was to raise money so Taste Of Health could build a kitchen studio. They worked for months securing a location and hired 24 musicians. Huge debt was wracking up on my mother's credit cards as she was self-sacrificing and planned this huge event. They told me about it at Christmas and I was so surprised and shocked, but happy. I so desired to build a studio and get back to work!

Long story short, two people that had agreed to participate in the concert both called on a Monday (the same Monday) to say how sorry they were that they couldn't participate. I will leave them nameless. One of the two called to tell me that Danny had called them and he had explained how if he/she came to the concert and supported my ministry, that it might be misconstrued and all of his/her conference funding for his/her new project might get cancelled, Dan wasn't sure. It was enough of a "hint threat" that they opted not to take the risk. I assured him/her it was okay, hung up the phone and cried for three days.

Finally on the third day I picked up a new book from Joel Osteen called Your Best Life Now and began to read. The more I read the better I felt. Chapters five and six were all about claiming God's favor as you would claim the gift of salvation. By the time I was finished with those two chapters I was excited and claiming God's favor over my life and my ministry. My attitude changed and I quit sulking because of Danny's wrath (which I was now experiencing). I've never quite been the same since reading those chapters and having a deeper understanding of God's favor. I have learned peace amidst the storm. Dan's wrath doesn't scare me anymore because I know I'm surrounded by God's favor.

Even as recent as this past February, 3ABN was still blocking Linda from speaking engagements. Linda had been invited February 18, 2006, by our local pastor, to speak at the 11 O'clock worship hour and for the vespers program that evening here in Columbia, SC. As soon as the news that Linda was speaking in our church made its way through our conference office, our pastor received a phone call from John Lomacang (3ABN's pastor). Within a week I received a phone call from my pastor instructing me to call Linda Shelton back and UNINVITE her. I refused. Now, my "very uncomfortable" pastor squirmed as he gave me reason after reason that it wouldn't be politically correct for Linda to speak at our church. He assured me that he wanted Linda here, but that she had left the "White SDA Conference" not-in-good-standing. His hands were "tied" and there was nothing he could do.

Experiencing Dan's wrath did begin to answer the question in my mind, as to who was lying. Then I caught Dan in a great big lie. It was the last time he and I spoke on the phone. (It's never a short conversation when Danny is trashing Linda and re-hashing all his "evidence").

That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa. Danny became very animated over the phone and bubbly. He said that he and Alyssa were great friends, they were buddies, and that he called her often and they had wonderful conversations. Alyssa had even recently written him a prescription (she had just graduated as a Physician's Assistant) for an infection he had. When I asked him about the "backrubs" he had been giving her before she left home (at the age of 23), he said, "Oh yeah, we're very close. Sometimes I would go in her room, and sit on her bed, and we'll just have great talks while I rub her back. It's just a loving gesture." We hung up.

What Danny didn't expect was that I would actually pick up the phone and call Alyssa to verify his story. Alyssa is a very sweet, private and shy person. When she got on the phone I explained how I had been in this "tug-of-war" over finding the truth. Danny always sounded so convincing and made Linda sound like a complete liar. I told her I would understand if she didn't want to answer my questions, but that it would put my mind at ease, finally!

When I explained that Dan had described their relationship as a great friendship and that they talked all the time on the phone and I asked about the prescription, you could hear a sigh of disgust on the other end. Alyssa said, "We are NOT friends, he won't quit calling me and I only wrote him a prescription because I felt sorry for him."

Then I asked her a very personal question. She was silent for a few moments, then answered my question with amazing honesty. I am not at liberty to disclose the biggest part of the lie that I caught Dan in that day, but it was the evidence I had been praying about.

"So do you want your mom and Danny to get back together?" I asked. "Absolutely not! He's a jerk and she deserves better. I never want them to get back together", she stated emphatically. I thanked her for her honesty and for helping me understand what the truth was and we said good-bye.

Alyssa handed the phone to her mom. Linda said, "Barb, I never knew why she moved out of the house so suddenly. I can't believe it." We said good-bye so she could go talk to Alyssa, and I sat there in stunned disbelief. I never told Danny that I had picked up the phone to verify his story. I didn't need to. God had promised over and over again that if I would just be patient and wait on Him, that He would reveal every secret thing in its time.

An Update On Taste Of Health Ministry

I just want to take a moment to say "Thank You" to all the loyal supporters of my ministry that continue to call and tell me that they miss seeing me and Linda cooking in her "kitchen". I have so appreciated your prayers and hugs over the phone.

Since the removal of my cooking programs I started doing more cooking schools again in churches around the country. I was also the main women's retreat speaker in Cape May, NJ, this past April. God also opened an amazing door here in Columbia, SC, at Fort Jackson, our military base. I am teaching a class (along with another woman) to the female officers called, "Every Woman's Battle". It's a weekly class on sexual integrity as God intended it. The class has been a huge success so far and we are excited about the questions these women are asking regarding the Bible.

My husband, Bill, and I will be in Spokane, WA, September 9th, giving our first marriage seminar on "How to Get Along". If you would like details, just call Mable Dunbar at the Upper Columbia Conference. (509-838-2761)

Some of you have noticed that I have quit posting a calendar of events on my web page. It was easier to eliminate the posting of events than to deal with the sabotages. I hope you understand.

A year ago in August, Taste Of Health applied for non-profit status. We are only days away from being approved for our 501©3 and we are excited about that.

Many of you have called to ask if I am going to tape programs anymore. The answer is, "YES" I am going to tape programs again because I want to get back to work doing what God called me to do!

I am saying "Yes" in faith. The HOPE Channel and LLBN have both indicated that they would love to air my cooking programs, but neither facility has a kitchen studio. I am still without a studio or the funds to build one. (I've had the plans drawn up for a year now just waiting on God's timing to be perfect, and His hand to move on my behalf). Last week Claudia and I sat down and planned out 120 thirty-minute programs. I don't know where the studio will be, nor do I have the funds to accomplish this work, but that's God's problem. We have a deal - I work, and He supplies my needs.

God is so awesome and I just want to praise Him for everything. Even though the last two years have been rough, to say the least, God has taught me two valuable lessons that I wouldn't trade for anything. He has taught me the lesson of "rejection", (Believe me, you have only seen the tip of the iceberg in what has been printed on these pages), and He taught me to praise Him, in ALL circumstances, no matter what!

I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him. I do pray for justice, and that God will use my ministry to bring ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands to know the Savior. Bless the Lord oh my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name. To God be the glory!

Posted by: ida Feb 24 2007, 10:00 AM

Are the two letters above too hard to handle for Danny's defenders?

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 24 2007, 11:32 AM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 24 2007, 12:00 PM)
>
> Are the two letters above too hard to handle for Danny's defenders?

probably so...

Posted by: howdy Feb 24 2007, 05:58 PM

My two points at the start of this thread are not intended to minimise the many other facts which are known about D Shelton. Maybe we should add to the list. Here is another. The fact that 3Abn attempted to erase Linda completely from their site and from their much touted 'history' shows a remarkably vengeful and hateful spirit in DS. Now every day that passes is another big lie by DS pretending he did it all by himself!

howdy

Posted by: JustTana Feb 25 2007, 11:15 AM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 22 2007, 04:53 PM) ☐
>
> Having read most of the arguments found on this net, I must conclude that the two points Howdy refers to in this posts are really the most important points in this whole discussion.
>
> No fasting or prayer meeting can change these two facts. So let any honest person involved take aktion righ here.
>
> 1. There is no credible proof that Linda is guilty of the allegations made against her.
>
> 2. Linda´s daughter has made a clear statement of Danny´s improper and immoral behavior towards her.
>
> Have you ever heard of God changing facts, even if the guilty person receives forgiveness?
>
> Does a real revival ever happen without sins confessed and restitution made for the evil things done?
>
> How can God answer prayers if those praying have already made up their minds to ignore guilt, while demanding blessings?
>
> Barbara Kerr´s first letter cannon be dismissed. Read how she for a long time was supporting Danny, and then what made her change her mind. It is intersting to note how many people state that it was not what Linda said, suggested, or wrote, which influenced them in her favor. It was the inconsistencies in Danny´s own expressions, and yet the Danny camp now claims that Linda is behind all of the opposition against himself?

Again, encouraged to remove this one too.

JT

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:09 PM

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Feb 19 2007, 08:15 PM) ☐
>
> I know we don't gamble, but I'm taking bets as to how long it takes for Bystander, wwjd, Alethia and any other of Danny's minions to respond....

Are you ever tempted? ☐

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 15 2007, 08:26 PM

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 16 2007, 02:17 PM

wow.gif che

43

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ This Should Not Be News

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 08:32 AM

Because of decisions Linda Shelton has made that have taken her in a different direction than that of the ministry, the Board of Directors of Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) regrets to say that she is no longer an employee of 3ABN.

Posted June 17, 2004.

Posted by: Denny Jun 21 2004, 09:08 AM

This is news to me, what happened then?

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 09:23 AM

I copied the statement from the 3ABN website. I do not think it fair to post what I have read about what happened.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 21 2004, 10:07 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 21 2004, 07:23 AM)

> I copied the statement from the 3ABN website. I do not think it fair to post what I have read about what happened.

I have to admit that I am clueless here. Can you at least tell us who she is and where to find the information that you read. even if it is thorugh PM?

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 10:15 AM

Her husband Danny Shelton is the founder of 3ABN. I guess the statement from 3ABN could be considered validation that something happened. Here is the link to a little discussion on the story. I would think that all parties need our concern at this time.

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/seventh-day-adventist/message/25837

Posted by: princessdi Jun 21 2004, 10:19 AM

Thanks, Darius!

Posted by: kountzer Jun 21 2004, 07:03 PM

Wow.

Posted by: mizrobby Jun 21 2004, 08:45 PM

My, my...I'm sure there is a complete spiritual and mental upheaval at 3ABN. Everyone involved really need our prayers. "Bright lights shall go out in the last days..."

Posted by: claborn Jun 21 2004, 08:56 PM

What's the possibility that false lights will go out? I am not suggesting that 3ABN is suspect, but I was wondering if those who are not genuine will be exposed in the last days?

Always wondered about that given the text, that "if it were possible the very elect would be deceived..."

Posted by: Nasha Jun 21 2004, 09:50 PM

I'm going to check out the link, but wow....Linda's music was like a staple of 3abn.org.

Posted by: Nasha Jun 21 2004, 09:57 PM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 21 2004, 10:15 AM)

> Her husband Danny Shelton is the founder of 3ABN. I guess the statement from 3ABN could be considered validation that something happened. Here is the link to a little discussion on the story. I would think that all parties need our concern at this time.
>
> http://groups.yahoo.com/group/seventh-day-adventist/message/25837

This is terrible news. At a time when the marriage of man and woman is being severely tried, SDA marriages even those in public eye are being tested and some failing. We need to get back to being for the Lord and for the word and stop trying to make exceptions for worldly things that have crept in our faith.

btw...none of her music is listed anymore either.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 22 2004, 05:15 AM

I have noticed that John Lomacang and his wife were increasingly being used as guest hosts on severaal of 3ABN's programs, over the last several months. I didn't read anything into that. I just figured Danny and his wife were taking a breather and dealing with other 3ABN projects. Oh well.

DB

Posted by: mizrobby Jun 22 2004, 07:28 AM

In terms of bright lights and false lights--My husband and I have a good friend who is now divorced from her husband. Previously, she and her husband were indirectly connected to the 3ABN family. She and her husband were similar in appearance and behavior to the Shelton's although they are African American. He was extremely fanatical in his views, would interrupt the Pastor while he was preaching to say the Pastor was in error. She would be quite embarrassed and beg him to talk with the Pastor after church rather than being disruptive. He was brilliant and could break down God's word like not many others. His Bible studies, I understand, were unmatched by any. Years ago, I could see that our friend was miserable in her marriage, but I couldn't put my finger on it, other than I knew she didn't want to live that kind of strict life. Needless to say, when she finally decided to divorce her husband, she revealed that he was whipping her behind on a regular basis (oh, she did fight back but he was a former pro athlete, so to not much avail). He refused to give her a divorce until one Sunday morning, a group of us decided to have breakfast together at one of the local eateries. I looked up and saw him with a much younger woman--one of his Bible students, both wrapped up in love and lip-locking. He's 50+ and the young lady was approx. 22 years of age. He had dyed his hair black and had on makeup. I almost didn't recognize him. Well, there was a big commotion--most of us in our group were church officers and he was indeed busted. The young lady didn't realize he was still married.He finally granted her a divorce after more than 3 years of fighting against it. She is still trying to de-program from years of brainwashing and abuse.

Point is--it is so important that we are convicted by God and not dictated to by man. If your public image is not your private convictions, you will soon unravel privately and then publically. Even E.G. speaks in Adventist Home about not giving your will to man and in doing so, it becomes a sin. It also sets a dangerous precedent when we judge others by our own righteous standards. We can't divine what others are going thru and would be petrified if others knew what we are going through. Let's keep one another lifted up in sincere and fervent prayer. We all need it and prayer is an underutilized resource. Jesus is indeed, ON HIS WAY...

Posted by: claborn Jun 22 2004, 07:41 AM

Good point MizRobby,
In another forum it was pointed out that we do not have enough info to "take sides" in terms of who was innocent and who is/was guilty. I do know that she will be putting up a website soon.... www.lindashelton.org

Perhaps her side of the situation will be told.....

p.s. sorry Calvin if that is a breach of protocol.... if it is I am sure you will edit.....

Posted by: statrei Jun 22 2004, 07:47 AM

I don't care who is innocent or guilty. I don't have anyone's future in my hands. I pain for the couple and for the ministry. I only wish that many Adventists who are being "compassionate" had been the same when it was Jim Baker and Jimmy Swaggart in the cross hairs. What does it have to take for us to realize that we are all God's children trying to do what we consider in our own best interests? Yes, some of us are misguided as to what our best interests are but which among us has not at some time been the victim of self-delusion.

Posted by: claborn Jun 22 2004, 08:10 AM

Good point Darius..... as to the self-delusion..... hmmmm I am always like that....

Posted by: princessdi Jun 22 2004, 09:52 AM

QUOTE (mizrobby @ Jun 22 2004, 05:28 AM)

> In terms of bright lights and false lights--My husband and I have a good friend who is now > divorced from her husband. Previously, she and her husband were indirectly connected to the 3ABN family. She and her husband were similar in appearance and behavior to the Shelton's although they are African American. He was extremely fanatical in his views, would interrupt the Pastor while he was preaching to say the Pastor was in error. She would be quite embarrassed and beg him to talk with the Pastor after church rather than being disruptive. He was brilliant and could break down God's word like not many others. His Bible studies, I understand, were unmatched by any. Years ago, I could see that our friend was miserable in her marriage, but I couldn't put my finger on it, other than I knew she didn't want to live that kind of strict life. Needless to say, when she finally decided to divorce her husband, she revealed that he was whipping her behind on a regular basis (oh, she did fight back but he was a former pro athlete, so to not much avail). He refused to give her a divorce until one Sunday morning, a group of us decided to have breakfast together at one of the local eateries. I looked up and saw him with a much younger woman--one of his Bible students, both wrapped up in love and lip-locking. He's 50+ and the young lady was approx. 22 years of age. He had dyed his hair black and had on makeup. I almost didn't recognize him. Well, there was a big commotion--most of us in our group were church officers and he was indeed busted. The young lady didn't realize he was still married.He finally granted her a divorce after more than 3 years of fighting against it. She is still trying to de-program from years of brainwashing and abuse.

>
> Point is--it is so important that we are convicted by God and not dictated to by man. If your public image is not your private convictions, you will soon unravel privately and then publically. Even E.G. speaks in Adventist Home about not giving your will to man and in doing so, it becomes a sin. It also sets a dangerous precedent when we judge others by our own righteous standards. We can't divine what others are going thru and would be petrified if others knew what we are going through. Let's keep one another lifted up in sincere and fervent prayer. We all need it and prayer is an underutilized resource. Jesus is indeed, ON HIS WAY...

Just sad situations. Lord help us all. We should all be in prayer for the current situation and those affected by this ministry.

I know Pastor Lomacang and his wife. They used to pastor in this area, and attend our church as often as possible. He and Doug Bachelor used to participate in the round table discussion with pastors from other denominations on a local TV religious program. They were excellent, without be condescending I might add.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 22 2004, 05:36 PM

My goodness Di, you have the word condescending on the brain. Mix some patronizing up in that mix. It means basically the same thing.

Db

Posted by: princessdi Jun 22 2004, 08:30 PM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jun 22 2004, 03:36 PM)

> My goodness Di, you have the word condescending on the brain. Mix some patronizing up in that mix. It means basically the same thing.
>
> Db

Hush, DB!

Posted by: calvin Jun 22 2004, 10:24 PM

QUOTE (claborn1960 @ Jun 22 2004, 07:41 AM)

> Good point MizRobby,
> In another forum it was pointed out that we do not have enough info to "take sides" in terms of who was innocent and who is/was guilty. I do know that she will be putting up a website soon.... www.lindashelton.org
>
> Perhaps her side of the situation will be told.....
>
> p.s. sorry Calvin if that is a breach of protocol.... if it is I am sure you will edit.....

No offense taken Clay. I know you are not out to hustle us.

My Mother told me that Curtis has had go back and re-tape all his programs on 3ABN to get Linda out of the programs. Have not spoke to my brother about this, makes for good gossip and discussion. I am like Darius, just pray for the family and what they are going through. Differcult for us to pass judgement.

Posted by: statrei Jun 23 2004, 06:24 AM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jun 22 2004, 11:24 PM)

> My Mother told me that Curtis has had go back and re-tape all his programs on 3ABN to get Linda out of the programs.

Again I ask, what is the sense behind this? This reflects a certain amount of vindictiveness. In our hymnals we have songs written by people with all sorts of shady backgrounds yet we will remove the praise songs a woman sang because she disappointed us? Where is the testimony in this? Oh, I know what is behind this. Money. They are trying to preserve their source of funding; those ultra-conservative Adventists who will only support the cause of Christ if it does what they want. Whatever Linda may have done 3ABN's reaction is disgraceful (but very Adventist).

Posted by: princessdi Jun 23 2004, 09:07 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 23 2004, 04:24 AM)

> Again I ask, what is the sense behind this? This reflects a certain amount of vindictiveness. In our hymnals we have songs written by people with all sorts of shady backgrounds yet we will remove the praise songs a woman sang because she disappointed us? Where is the testimony in this? Oh, I know what is behind this. Money. They are trying to preserve their source of funding; those ultra-conservative Adventists who will only support the cause of Christ if it does what they want. Whatever Linda may have done 3ABN's reaction is disgraceful (but very Adventist).

I thought this kind of extreme, also.

Posted by: statrei Jun 23 2004, 09:45 AM

After reading my last post I would add that I am disappointed the Curtis went along with the suggestion to re-tape his programs. This is disgraceful. I can't say it strongly enough.

Posted by: pmorris68 Jun 24 2004, 04:57 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 23 2004, 09:45 AM)

> After reading my last post I would add that I am disappointed the Curtis went along with the suggestion to re-tape his programs. This is disgraceful. I can't say it strongly enough.

Well that is the typical ultra conservative Adventist way. They don't deal with nothing... Just pretend its not happening. Sad very sad!

Posted by: awesumtenor Jun 24 2004, 06:29 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 23 2004, 11:45 AM)

> After reading my last post I would add that I am disappointed the Curtis went along with the suggestion to re-tape his programs. This is disgraceful. I can't say it strongly enough.

You assume it was a suggestion. And while I recognize the opportunity to take a stand on principle may have gone by the boards, I can't hold Calvin's brother accountable for doing his job and meeting his contractul obligation.

I do hold Danny Shelton and 3ABN management accountable for being generally spiteful in forcing the shows to be retaped so she was not included, however. Their actions demonstrate a clear lack of forgiveness... but Calvin's brother is not wrong for staying clear of what is nothing more than the fallout of the demise of the Shelton's marriage, IMO.

In His service,
Kevin Josey

Posted by: statrei Jun 24 2004, 06:32 AM

QUOTE (awesumtenor @ Jun 24 2004, 07:29 AM)

> I do hold Danny Shelton and 3ABN management accountable for being generally spiteful in forcing the shows to be retaped so she was not included, however.

LIving with a man with that mentality it makes you wonder what Linda lived through. Humpty Dumpty was pushed.

Posted by: statrei Jun 24 2004, 08:42 AM

Kevin, I am not holding Curtis responsible. I said I was disappointed. As to contractual obligation, I can think of no contract that would require one to go back and retape a perfectly good segment in order to remove someone who have fallen into disrepute. Even future recordings of new segments would be questionable but the argument would have more force there.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 24 2004, 09:37 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Jun 24 2004, 04:32 AM)

> LIving with a man with that mentality it makes you wonder what Linda lived through. Humpty Dumpty was pushed.

Same thought crossed my mind, Darius.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 24 2004, 09:40 AM

QUOTE (pmorris68 @ Jun 24 2004, 02:57 AM)

> Well that is the typical ultra conservative Adventist way. They don't deal with nothing... Just pretend its not happening. Sad very sad!

I agree, but is it God's way. He absolutely does not treat us this way. He wipes our sins from existence, not us. How can they justify these actions, and are they answerable to any governing body?

Posted by: Nasha Jun 24 2004, 11:13 PM

I must say that by the way it's being put, it sounds like how certain athletes are treated when they make mistakes (ads and contracts pulled).
However, you have to call it what it is. 3ABN just followed the way most would in protecting themselves. What would you have done in this situation if you personally were involved?

Posted by: princessdi Jun 25 2004, 01:18 AM

QUOTE (Nasha @ Jun 24 2004, 09:13 PM)

> I must say that by the way it's being put, it sounds like how certain athletes are treated when they make mistakes (ads and contracts pulled).
> However, you have to call it what it is. 3ABN just followed the way most would in protecting themselves. What would you have done in this situation if you personally were involved?

Being an christian organization that claims that God is it's head, Jesus it's example, 3ABN should probably be the example of biblical forgiveness. They would have looked less vindictive if they had just played to programs with her in them.

Why does 3ABN need to protect themselves? Just like with celebrities who are unfaithful, this is basically an issue between Danny and Linda Shelton. Not the 3ABN board, not the tv audience. If this story is true she sinned against God and betrayed her husband. It is highly inappropriate for her husband to use the 3ABN board as a tool of his hurt, anger and revenge. There was definitely no need for them to make the disclaimer. In fact, you can bet that this disclaimer was to embarrass and destroy her reputation(this is what happens to women who embarrass their prominent SDA husbands, I've see it done before), because most of the viewing audience would not have even known why she disappeared without them telling it, especially at this point. 3ABN should not have done anything, but decide who was to take her place and oversee a smooth transition that would still maintain a Christ-like image. There was no need to paint her as an enemy of 3ABN.

We know that the world's love and admiration of it's celebrities is fickle and fleeting. They place them upon their pedestals only to watch them for an opportunity to tear them down. For the most part these celebrities have just shown that they are human and fallible, like the rest of us. They fall down, they get up. Unfortunately, all before the public eye. We (SDAs,3ABN, christians period) should not be demonstrating this counterfeit love. We should be demonstrating God's unconditional love to the world.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 25 2004, 05:44 AM

They are just protecting themselves. If a media outlet uses someone's likeness or picture, or voice recordings and they are not in agreement with them using it, that station could be sued. It was a wise move.

DB

Posted by: Denny Jun 25 2004, 07:13 AM

IMO the actions of 3ABN are no different from SDA disfellowship where the member who has "sinned" pratically disappears from the public platform and cannot sing, read the scripture reading, tell a story or do anything else in the church agan until they are baptised because being baptised is a ticket to active SDA membership.

Posted by: statrei Jun 25 2004, 08:32 AM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jun 25 2004, 06:44 AM)

> They are just protecting themselves. If a media outlet uses someone's likeness or picture, or voice recordings and they are not in agreement with them using it, that station could be sued. It was a wise move.
>
> DB

We are speaking here of images from the past. I will grant you the argument for appearances in the future but to go back and take her out of past recordings is pure vindictiveness.

Denny, this is not the same as the treatment of someone who is disfellowshipped. First, you can't go back and cancel their past appearances on the platform. Brochures with their picture are not destroyed. What they have done is similar to what was done in Russia when people who have fallen out of favor with Lenin or one of these guys would suddenly disappear from photographs. Please, do not try to defend this.

Posted by: statrei Jun 25 2004, 08:35 AM

QUOTE (Nasha @ Jun 25 2004, 12:13 AM)

> I must say that by the way it's being put, it sounds like how certain athletes are treated when they make mistakes (ads and contracts pulled).
> However, you have to call it what it is. 3ABN just followed the way most would in protecting themselves. What would you have done in this situation if you personally were involved?

3ABN was not personally involved. This is a matter between Linda and her husband. Athletes are paid to represent a company so there is no comparison. There is no similar contract to a recording artist. Royalties, assuming that Linda was paid royalties, are not the same as advertising.

Posted by: Denny Jun 25 2004, 09:23 AM

I do not defend what 3ABN did. Unfortunately typed words do not show "dripping sarcasm". But I agree with your point - a disfellowshipped member's past "good" deeds do not magically disappear.

Posted by: statrei Jun 25 2004, 10:45 AM

Which means your post was directed at the practice of disfellowshipping. I get it now. In other words, it was all very Adventist. Forgive me for being focused on 3ABN.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 25 2004, 10:48 AM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jun 25 2004, 03:44 AM)

> They are just protecting themselves. If a media outlet uses someone's likeness or picture, or voice recordings and they are not in agreement with them using it, that station could be sued. It was a wise move.
>
> DB

No, DB, it was a extremely vindictive move, and most un-Christ-like. Also, quite an expensive move. To not use her in future broadcasts is one thing and understandable, an attempt to erase her from existence is quite another.

Sure, if reports are true, there ar to be consequences for her actions

Is that what God does to us when we fall. Erase us from His memory? We call ourselves His representatives by calling ourselves Christians. When Cain killed Abel, and was afraid that people would kill him, God not only did not disown Cain, He extended His protection to him.

With all that David did, God never even removed him from being king. He forgave him time after time. Sure he paid consquences for his actions, but God never left forsook him.

Where do we get the idea that we should do any less than?

Db, what can 3ABN be sued for? She reportedly cheated on her husband, not embezzled 3ABN funds.

Posted by: mizrobby Jun 25 2004, 11:32 AM

Maybe those of you who are really concerned about this mishandling should write to 3ABN. It couldn't make things worse and just may quicken someone's erroneous thought processes.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 25 2004, 01:00 PM

QUOTE (mizrobby @ Jun 25 2004, 09:32 AM)

> Maybe those of you who are really concerned about this mishandling should write to 3ABN. It couldn't make things worse and just may quicken someone's erroneous thought processes.

Good idea, MizRobby. I believe I will.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 25 2004, 07:15 PM

QUOTE (princessdi @ Jun 25 2004, 04:48 PM)

QUOTE

> No, DB, it was a extremely vindictive move, and most un-Christ-like. Also, quite an expensive move.

How would you know Di? It is so easy to kick back and play holier than thou armchair (or in this case, cyber msg board) referee, and christian media mogul. You have no idea how hot the glare is under those lights, or how much sweat goes into maintaining a venture like 3ABN, or how devastating it is to suffer a personal let down like that in the process.

Posted by: dmizzle06 Jun 25 2004, 08:14 PM

QUOTE (mizrobby @ Jun 25 2004, 11:32 AM)

> Maybe those of you who are really concerned about this mishandling should write to 3ABN. It couldn't make things worse and just may quicken someone's erroneous thought processes.

Yea, I'm sure ya'll can get some clarifying details about the situation if you hear it from the horse's mouth.

Posted by: Just a Guy Jun 26 2004, 12:20 PM

I, for one, could no longer see Linda Shelton on 3ABN without being immediately reminded of what took place. My mind would be far from whatever the program was discussing. I just keep thinking that she's nothing but a fake. I rather prefer that this constant reminder be removed.

Posted by: claborn Jun 26 2004, 02:04 PM

QUOTE (Just a Guy @ Jun 26 2004, 12:20 PM)

> I, for one, could no longer see Linda Shelton on 3ABN without being immediately reminded of what took place. My mind would be far from whatever the program was discussing. I just keep thinking that she's nothing but a fake. I rather prefer that this constant reminder be removed.

How do you know it's Linda? It could be Danny? It could be that he is playing it for all its worth..... afterall it is still considered "media" and the "media" has a habit of bending, manipulating at times the truth. I am NOT saying he is doing that, but we do not have enough info to take that position..... in my opinion......

Posted by: kountzer Jun 26 2004, 04:08 PM

I just hope 3ABN keeps going. I haven't heard where Danny has done anything wrong. There will always be rumors and innuendos in this sort of matter. I enjoyed their combined ministries together. If they can somehow put it back together I for one would continue watching like nothing happened. I am saddened that what ever occurred, (and I really don't want to know) occurred. If that makes sense. Then again, war and sin first broke out in heaven, so we should not be all that shocked when it breaks out in unexpected places here on earth.

DB

Posted by: princessdi Jun 26 2004, 05:59 PM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jun 25 2004, 05:15 PM)

> How would you know Di? It is so easy to kick back and play holier than thou armchair (or in > this case, cyber msg board) referee, and christian media mogul. You have no idea how hot the glare is under those lights, or how much sweat goes into maintaining a venture like 3ABN, or how devastating it is to suffer a personal let down like that in the process.

Actually, DB, I don't how difficult it is, there is always a right and wrong way to handle things. The comment never needed to be made. Virtually none of the viewing audience knew until they put it out there, and they wouldn't have know for quite a quite since shows are taped in advance.

Like I said before we should be exxtending God's love and forgiveness to the parties involved, and most of all keep them in our prayers.

Posted by: calvin Jun 27 2004, 07:46 PM

QUOTE (princessdi @ Jun 26 2004, 05:59 PM)

> Actually, DB, I don't how difficult it is, there is always a right and wrong way to handle things. The comment never needed to be made. Virtually none of the viewing audience knew until they put it out there, and they wouldn't have know for quite a quite since shows are taped in advance.
>
> Like I said before we should be exxtending God's love and forgiveness to the parties involved, and most of all keep them in our prayers.

Actually Di, many if not most of the viewing audience knew. Linda has not appeared on the show in months, and Danny has been touring for months without her. If you folks knew the half of the story, you may think differently about who is being vindictive, and why 3ABN should distance itself from Linda. This is more than just an issue between husband and wife but the very struggle for 3ABN.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jun 27 2004, 09:47 PM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jun 27 2004, 07:46 PM)

> This is more than just an issue between husband and wife but the very struggle for 3ABN.

And back to Paul and Jan I go! TBN here I come...

Posted by: claborn Jun 28 2004, 01:02 AM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jun 27 2004, 07:46 PM)

> Actually Di, many if not most of the viewing audience knew. Linda has not appeared on the show in months, and Danny has been touring for months without her. If you folks knew the half of the story, you may think differently about who is being vindictive, and why 3ABN should distance itself from Linda. This is more than just an issue between husband and wife but the very struggle for 3ABN.

And its statements like yours Calvin that drive nosy people like me (yeah I am nosy and???) up a wall....... nothing more than a tease, tease, tease.....

Posted by: calvin Jun 28 2004, 07:16 AM

Yes I know Clay tableta gonna be quiet now.

Posted by: princessdi Jun 28 2004, 10:14 AM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jun 27 2004, 05:46 PM)

> Actually Di, many if not most of the viewing audience knew. Linda has not appeared on the show in months, and Danny has been touring for months without her. If you folks knew the half of the story, you may think differently about who is being vindictive, and why 3ABN should distance itself from Linda. This is more than just an issue between husband and wife but the very struggle for 3ABN.

Ok, now, Calvin, you 've been holding out. You know I don't know a thing about 3ABN. We don't have it in my area. And Danny didn't include my church in his tour. DB, maybe you were right. I don't have a problem being wrong. This is a mess! I'm with Paradise! LOL!!!

Seriously, I still do believe we should all stay prayerful about this vey unfortunate situation.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jun 28 2004, 03:53 PM

QUOTE (princessdi @ Jun 28 2004, 10:14 AM)

> Seriously, I still do believe we should all stay prayerful about this vey unfortunate situation.

We should lift Danny and Linda up in prayer, and may some good come out of this unfortunate troubled situation, all for the glory of God!...

Posted by: calvin Jun 28 2004, 10:32 PM

QUOTE (PARADISE @ Jun 28 2004, 03:53 PM)

> We should lift Danny and Linda up in prayer, and may some good come out of this unfortunate troubled situation, all for the glory of God!...

Amen

Posted by: pmorris68 Jul 8 2004, 05:55 PM

> QUOTE (calvin @ Jun 28 2004, 10:32 PM)
>
> Amen

Well apparently the cat is out the bag because I got a letter from the chairman of 3ABN today which was forwarded to me with comments from a church friend stating they had asked her stop doing whatever she was doing and she refused so they gave her the boot. I can send the letter to anyone who wants to read it.

YES I read it !! I am nosy too!! ☒ gossip

Posted by: summertime Mar 12 2007, 03:31 PM

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Jul 8 2004, 05:55 PM) ☐
>
> Well apparently the cat is out the bag because I got a letter from the chairman of 3ABN today which was forwarded to me with comments from a church friend stating they had asked her stop doing whatever she was doing and she refused so they gave her the boot. I can send the letter to anyone who wants to read it.
>
> YES I read it !! I am nosy too!! ☒ gossip

Recently my family and I have gone through some very difficult times. And one thing that we have learned is that if God is not in charge nothing is worthwhile. And I have come to believe that the same is true of 3ABN, Danny, Linda and all the rest. If God is not in charge, and if they do not let God lead them, then nothing that they can or will do will be worthwhile to Him. Stars my be born but they will burn out quickly without the nurturing of God. I have learned a lot in the last few months and only when all those who have ever worked at 3ABN learn to let go of unimportant things of this world and only trust in Jesus will they ever truly be real Christians. We do not have to fight for them---any of them--someday the truth will all be known to us all. 'summertime'

Posted by: princessdi Mar 12 2007, 03:37 PM

Gurl, I just can't believe you went and dug this up! LOL!!! However, I am glad you did. I shows that initially we were not interested in a huge discussion or gossiping about who did what at 3ABN, but instead ofered our prayers to all. Folks were curious, but left it at that. Now, a little later when Danny came on here guns blazing and lying, it became a different story.......

> QUOTE(summertime @ Mar 12 2007, 01:31 PM) ☐
>
> Recently my family and I have gone through some very difficult times. And one thing that we have learned is that if God is not in charge nothing is worthwhile. And I have come to believe that the > same is true of 3ABN, Danny, Linda and all the rest. If God is not in charge, and if they do not let God lead them, then nothing that they can or will do will be worthwhile to Him. Stars my be born but they will burn out quickly without the nurturing of God. I have learned a lot in the last few months and only when all those who have ever worked at 3ABN learn to let go of unimportant things of this world and only trust in Jesus will they ever truly be real Christians. We do not have to fight for them---any of them--someday the truth will all be known to us all. 'summertime'

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 12 2007, 03:42 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Mar 12 2007, 02:31 PM) ☐
>
> Recently my family and I have gone through some very difficult times. And one thing that we have learned is that if God is not in charge nothing is worthwhile. And I have come to believe that the same is true of 3ABN, Danny, Linda and all the rest. If God is not in charge, and if they do not let God lead them, then nothing that they can or will do will be worthwhile to Him. Stars my be born but they will burn out quickly without the nurturing of God. I have learned a lot in the last few months and only when all those who have ever worked at 3ABN learn to let go of unimportant things of this world and only trust in Jesus will they ever truly be real Christians. We do not have to fight for them---any of them--someday the truth will all be known to us all. 'summertime'

/ery good thoughts, summertime. I think all of us can agree that without God in charge nothing neasures up. Our own righteousness is as filthy rags.

\s I read the last few posts from June of 2004, I marveled at how different things appear now to nany who have been following this saga. I just have to thank Calvin, once again, for reserving this ittle space on his site for the discussion of 3abn.

'B

Posted by: Bystander Mar 12 2007, 04:08 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Mar 12 2007, 02:31 PM) ☐
>
> Recently my family and I have gone through some very difficult times. And one thing that we have learned is that if God is not in charge nothing is worthwhile. And I have come to believe that the same is true of 3ABN, Danny, Linda and all the rest. If God is not in charge, and if they do not let God lead them, then nothing that they can or will do will be worthwhile to Him. Stars my be born but they will burn out quickly without the nurturing of God. I have learned a lot in the last few months and only when all those who have ever worked at 3ABN learn to let go of unimportant things of this world and only trust in Jesus will they ever truly be real Christians. We do not have to fight for them---any of them--someday the truth will all be known to us all. 'summertime'

)o you know that they "hang on to things of the world" from personal experience or only what you ıave read here?
ust curious.

Posted by: Delford Mar 12 2007, 08:03 PM

im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?

thanks in advance

Posted by: princessdi Mar 12 2007, 08:14 PM

Actually this thread ws the beginning. However, the details to follow are varied and complicated. I am sorry there is no easy way. In order that you might read and form your own opinion, I suugest you start with the older th reads that, like this one that date back to 2004, and then the pinned topics. Most, but not all, here have taken one side or the other. Even though BSDA is neutral.

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 07:03 PM)
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 12 2007, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 07:03 PM)
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

Delford,

You can write anywhere the Spirit moves you to do so. If you want to know what is going on, keep in mind that there are a couple thousand members here on BSDA and if they each boiled it down for you, you would most likely get a couple thousand different answers.

If you really want to know what is going on at 3abn it would be best for you to jump in and read the pinned threads. I am not the best person to advise you on the best procedure. There are several different "sides" here and, once you get an idea of what has been shared already, you can begin reading what various members' opinions and takes on the saga are.

You can read the results of an independant investigation into the matter by going to (please avert your eyes Bystander, wwjd, Lee and FHB):

http://www.save3abn.com/

Keep in mind that the 3abn forum is only a tiny part of Calvin's wonderful site, BlackSDA.com. You can find many a blessing by fellowshipping here and in other areas.

Bottom line, if you want to know, read read read. Don't take anybody's word for anything without digging for verification. That is, if you want to find the truth, IMO.

PB

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 12 2007, 08:16 PM

Danny and Linda: un-Biblical divorce, but unproven claims it was (claimed by Danny and supporters)

Tommy Shelton: Sexual molester, never denied but much evidence, and Danny is covering it up.

3abn: misuse or poorly used donor funds.

There, just a few words like you asked. However if you want to know more and are really wanting to know the truth start reading the pinned articles. If you are not willing to read them you are not serious about the subject. It will take time, lots of time. And prayer, lots of prayer. Let His Holy Spirit guide you as you study the posts. And may God bless you as you form answers in your own mind.

Richard

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 09:03 PM) ☐
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

Posted by: Lee Mar 12 2007, 08:19 PM

And what about us?

Posted by: princessdi Mar 12 2007, 08:21 PM

Read Gurl!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 12 2007, 08:34 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 12 2007, 07:19 PM) ☐

> And what about us?

Lee,

You are well represented in my post:

> QUOTE
>
> There are several different "sides" here and, once you get an idea of what has been shared already, you can begin reading what various members' opinions and takes on the saga are.
> You can read the results of an independant investigation into the matter by going to (please avert your eyes Bystander, wwjd, Lee and FHB):
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 12 2007, 08:53 PM

I have been watching this 3ABN saga since Nov 2006. Taking the time to read at least the pinned threads is very important. Also don't forget to go to the website suggested. There are no pro and con discussions like in here, just letters.

Happy Reading
☒ welc to BSDA

Rosyroi

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 12 2007, 10:44 PM

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 10:03 PM)
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

If you are truly concerned and not simply seeking prurient titillation, then you really need to take the time to read what is here; it will give you the sense of how this thing has developed over the last 33 months and counting. Rather than having someone give you a condensed version, read it and come to your own conclusions...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 13 2007, 01:00 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 12 2007, 07:16 PM)
>
> Danny and Linda: un-Biblical divorce, but unproven claims it was (claimed by Danny and supporters)
>
> Tommy Shelton: Sexual molester, never denied but much evidence, and Danny is covering it up.
>
> 3abn: misuse or poorly used donor funds.
>
> There, just a few words like you asked. However if you want to know more and are really wanting to know the truth start reading the pinned articles. If you are not willing to read them you are not serious about the subject. It will take time, lots of time. And prayer, lots of prayer. Let His Holy Spirit guide you as you study the posts. And may God bless you as you form answers in your own mind.
>
> Richard

Richard, you have to be kidding. In order to get the truth read the UNAUTHORIZED version of 3abn and a FICTIONAL televangelist story that makes a harlequin look good. You cannot be serious about truth vs fiction if that is what you advise a newcomer to do.
Think about it. UNAUTHORIZED & FICTIONAL is what you are telling people is truth. Unbelievable. I expected better of you Richard.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Mar 13 2007, 01:22 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 13 2007, 03:00 AM)
>
> Richard, you have to be kidding. In order to get the truth read the UNAUTHORIZED version of 3abn and a FICTIONAL televangelist story that makes a harlequin look good. You cannot be serious about truth vs fiction if that is what you advise a newcomer to do.
> Think about it. UNAUTHORIZED & FICTIONAL is what you are telling people is truth. Unbelievable. I expected better of you Richard.

I was curious and looked up the definition of "bystander."

Webster: one present but not taking part in a situation or event: a chance spectator

Wiktionary: a person who, although present at some event, does not take part in it; an observer or spectator

The Free Dictionary: Bystander Effect

The bystander effect (also known as bystander apathy) is a psychological phenomenon in which someone is less likely to intervene in an emergency situation when others are present than when he is alone. ...In some situations, a large group of bystanders may fail to help a person who obviously needs help. ...

A common explanation of this phenomenon is that, with others present, observers all assume that someone else is going to intervene and so they each individually refrain from doing so. This is an example of how diffusion of responsibility leads to social loafing. ... This is an example of pluralistic ignorance and social proof...

Posted by: watchbird Mar 13 2007, 03:27 AM

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 09:03 PM)
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

Welcome to BSDA, Delford. I see that several others have given answers to your question, which is one that newbies frequently ask when they arrive here seeking information and are confronted with what seems like an endless number of threads on the topic.

I also notice that you asked in another place specifically why Linda left 3abn. The short answer to that is because Danny wanted her out of his life. But to understand that, and to become aware of the wider range of questions that there are regarding 3abn, there is no substitute for patient research into this and the save3abn site.

I have on occasion written a rather detailed outline suggesting how and in what order to tackle the posts on this site when newbies came on and asked. The most recent of these can be found http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10145&view=findpost&p=184161 <<<click to access it.

I hope this will be helpful to you.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 13 2007, 06:32 AM

Bystander get off your high horse and expecting better of a person stuff. All you are interested in is attack and diversion. There is much truth to be gleaned from this forum, you know that. If there were not truth then the Dannyites should show that there is not. Instead you and the rest just attack the messenger instead of the message. This is very typical behavior for those that cannot refute what is being said. Until there is as much testimony and evidence to show that Danny's camp is correct it is logical to believe what is being posted on these thread. And every time you folks attack the messenger you just add weight to what they are posting. A bad defense is worse than no defense and just lends credence to the opposition.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 13 2007, 03:00 AM)
>
> Richard, you have to be kidding. In order to get the truth read the UNAUTHORIZED version of 3abn and a FICTIONAL televangelist story that makes a harlequin look good. You cannot be serious about truth vs fiction if that is what you advise a newcomer to do.
> Think about it. UNAUTHORIZED & FICTIONAL is what you are telling people is truth. Unbelievable. I expected better of you Richard.

Posted by: Johann Mar 13 2007, 06:55 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 13 2007, 04:19 AM)
>
> And what about us?

Do you feel left out? We will have to do something about that.

Posted by: from-the-pew Mar 13 2007, 08:48 AM

> QUOTE(Delford @ Mar 12 2007, 09:03 PM)
>
> im new to this board. and im not sure where to write. can someone tell me in a few words what is happening with 3abn without me having to read through all this?
>
> thanks in advance

While I am a newbie to posting, I am NOT a newbie to reading.... (I've been reading BlackSDA since June/July of 2006) There is no substitute for reading yourself. Personally, I found that the "fictional" accounts can be helpful to pull together a picture which allows you to clearly see where some are coming from, however I do not find them as evidence of anything.

Let me give a brief summary of my journey to illustrate my position.... I hope that some of my comments will be beneficial to someone.

When I first heard that there were problems at 3abn, I didn't have any idea who or what to believe. When I saw the broadcast of 3abn campmeeting, and heard Danny plea for prayer for Linda to return, I felt truly awful for "poor" Danny.

Then I heard about the "spiritual adultery" - and found NO biblical basis for divorce based on that reason. Saying that it is acceptable to divorce someone because they are involved in behavior that can lead to adultery is like saying that when the doctor's diagnosis comes back "positive", we'll go ahead and hold the funeral and bury them... why? because there's a good chance that they're going to die anyway!

I found Linda's website via Google, and was highly suspicious when I read the contract posted there... The result of that reading, was that I was put in a position of limbo.

Early last summer, I was alerted via a friend of BlackSDA. I came here and read, but quite frankly, the argumentative discussion that went on here at times, really turned me off.

What has finally formulated my opinion of the Danny side of this issue is the evidence Danny himself has presented. His emails are - well, not the slightest bit impressive. Danny has spoken too much... and it has hurt him. He has convicted himself in my mind.

As for Linda.... she is innocent until proven guilty. At this point, I have not seen conclusive evidence that she is guilty. Her own letters have certainly not convicted her yet. I hear that there is evidence that we have not seen... I await that evidence. This is why I say that I do not KNOW that Linda is innocent.

(And then there's the Tommy issue.... that is partially a separate issue in my mind, yet there is some critical overlap. I do not feel that I am qualified to determine much in that situation - except that were children are concerned, we should ALWAYS err on the side of caution.)

Too much of what is presented is he said/she said (or his side said / her side said). Then, there's the fact that most people involved in the discussion on this forum hide behind usernames. I respect their right to do so (and take that option myself) - but in turn, they must respect my right to set their comments aside as inconclusive.

You really must read for yourself to see which evidence you deem as credible. Personally, I'm pretty restrictive on where I draw my line. Others accept anonymous testimony happily.

Remember, as you read, that there are 4 basic options on the Danny/Linda issue:

1. Both are innocent
2. Danny is innocent, Linda is gulity
3. Danny is guilty, Linda is innocent
4. Both are gulity

For myself, the evidence I have read/seen has enabled me to narrow the options down to two.....

Posted by: summertime Mar 13 2007, 09:03 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 12 2007, 03:37 PM)
>
> Gurl, I just can't believe you went and dug this up! LOL!!! However, I am glad you did. I shows that initially we were not interested in a huge discussion or gossiping about who did what at 3ABN, but instead ofered our prayers to all. Folks were curious, but left it at that. Now, a little later when Danny came on here guns blazing and lying, it became a different story.......

Princess Di: Just wanted to say that I agree with everything you wrote in this post. I just want for 3ABN to straighten out this mess, and I only believe that when they quit looking for glory (at least some of them) and truely let the Lord lead the way---leave the blazing guns alone and the truth be told by the founder of 3ABN will God ever allow this mess to be cleaned up. Sure, good people are being hurt by his trangressions, but in God's time and with prayer for all, this will end someday. I no longer watch 3ABN--I believe that a lot of good people are featured there--but also the other way around with some of them. But God knows---if He didn't know, then we would probably all be in trouble. 'summertime'

Posted by: Clay Mar 13 2007, 09:05 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Mar 13 2007, 02:22 AM)
>
> I was curious and looked up the definition of "bystander."
>
> Webster: one present but not taking part in a situation or event: a chance spectator

> Wiktionary: a person who, although present at some event, does not take part in it; an observer or spectator
>
> The Free Dictionary: Bystander Effect
>
> The bystander effect (also known as bystander apathy) is a psychological phenomenon in which someone is less likely to intervene in an emergency situation when others are present than when he is alone. ...In some situations, a large group of bystanders may fail to help a person who obviously needs help. ...
> A common explanation of this phenomenon is that, with others present, observers all assume that someone else is going to intervene and so they each individually refrain from doing so. This is an example of how diffusion of responsibility leads to social loafing. ... This is an example of pluralistic ignorance and social proof...

think it has become obvious long ago that bystander just stood by while Linda was thrown under the us.....

Posted by: watchbird Mar 13 2007, 09:38 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 13 2007, 10:05 AM) ☐
>
> I think it has become obvious long ago that bystander just stood by while Linda was thrown under the bus.....

u contraire..... I think it has become obvious long ago that bystander is no more true in his selection f a name than of the other things he says.

Posted by: Clay Mar 13 2007, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 10:38 AM) ☐
>
> au contraire..... I think it has become obvious long ago that bystander is no more true in his selection of a name than of the other things he says.

e is a multiple personalitied (new word) person... so one of his personas stands "by" while the other ersona is busily typing away....

Posted by: watchbird Mar 13 2007, 09:51 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 13 2007, 10:41 AM) ☐
>
> he is a multiple personalitied (new word) person... so one of his personas stands "by" while the other persona is busily typing away....

Good addition to the dictionary.... .... but that was not all that I was implying in my statement... relative to what you had said..... ......

Posted by: watchbird Mar 13 2007, 10:14 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Mar 13 2007, 09:48 AM)
>
> While I am a newbie to posting, I am NOT a newbie to reading.... (I've been reading BlackSDA since June/July of 2006) There is no substitute for reading yourself. Personally, I found that the "fictional" accounts can be helpful to pull together a picture which allows you to clearly see where some are coming from, however I do not find them as evidence of anything.

When reading the only account that claims on its cover sheet to be "fiction" it is well to recall the time in which it was written and the purpose for which it was written. It is also well to keep in mind the difference between fiction and fictionalized.... and to keep in mind the reason why someone would call a work designed to present truths that would raise questions without endangering the persons portrayed as a work of "fiction".... when in fact it was not.

It is also well to ask why anyone at all, least of all Danny Shelton, would have paid any attention to it if it were truly nothing but a work of fiction.... especially why he would have stated that there were some things in it that were not true..... ESPECIALLY when he was not named anywhere in the document.

It is also well to keep in mind the time frame in which it was written, Spring of 2005.... before Danny remarried and before most of the readers or writers came to BSDA and showed any interest in what had really happened in the early months of 2004.

It is, in fact, the document by which many were first introduced to the concept that there was more to the story than merely the question of who was guilty of what relative to Danny and Linda's divorce and her ouster from 3abn. This is why I recommend that newbies today enter at the same level that the majority of those who were new to the story in 2005 entered it... with the reading of http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9823&view=findpost&p=138128 it. This is not designed to give answers. It is designed to raise questions. Many of which would never occur to those coming new to the scene and who think that it is all about Linda and Danny and their private relationships. Once one has these questions in mind, one is better prepared to understand what has been written here that expands upon the vignettes that give glimpses into the problem areas other than those private relationships.

If you go back far enough you will learn the identities of some who post under pseudonyms, and you will learn enough about those who use pseudonyms.... and the reasons why they use them... so it will become relatively easy to sort out which are giving factual matter and which are here for the purposes of obfuscation.

Patience will give its rewards.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 13 2007, 10:36 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 13 2007, 08:41 AM)
>
> he is a multiple personalitied (new word) person... so one of his personas stands "by" while the other persona is busily typing away....

I LIKE IT

Posted by: princessdi Mar 13 2007, 10:42 AM

Ok people. let's be nice......everybody....OK?

Posted by: from-the-pew Mar 13 2007, 11:02 AM

Some responses.....

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 11:14 AM)
>
> When reading the only account that claims on its cover sheet to be "fiction" it is well to recall the time in which it was written and the purpose for which it was written. It is also well to keep in mind the difference between fiction and fictionalized.... and to keep in mind the reason why someone would call a work designed to present truths that would raise questions without endangering the persons portrayed as a work of "fiction".... when in fact it was not.

I understand the difference between fiction and fictionalized that you described. I was trying to keep my comments brief... and yet, understanding the differences, I cannot use that document as "proof" in my mind. I don't know the author... I haven't seen what they have seen... They may be right, but I must wait and see what transpires.... Some of what was written in that account I believe has been substantiated. I haven't thrown it out, I simply cannot use it as concrete evidence. It certainly is very useful to me to understand where some members here are coming from...

Yes, there is more than guilt or innocence... but many issues are effected by the guilt or innocence of those involved.... I referenced the guilt/innocence part specifically because there seems to be an impression by some that proving Linda is guilty will exhonerate Danny of any wrongdoing... This simply is not so.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 11:14 AM)
>
> It is, in fact, the document by which many were first introduced to the concept that there was more to the story than merely the question of who was guilty of what relative to Danny and Linda's divorce and her ouster from 3abn. This is why I recommend that newbies today enter at the same level that the majority of those who were new to the story in 2005 entered it... with the reading of http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9823&view=findpost&p=138128 it. This is not designed to give answers. It is designed to raise questions.

The Televangelist is very successful at raising questions. It was also successful at making me sick to my stomach... My first reaction was to discard it. Then, when I stopped, and realized that even if only 2 or 3 of the things mentioned in that document are actually true, then there is a really big problem here! Not to mention if even more than that is true....

Sometimes, like in the instance of my still-unanswered question regarding the date of the trip to Norway that Johann was referring to in his account of Danny following Linda to the airport, even if something has been mentioned previously in the Televangelist etc, it is useful to me to ask the person telling their story to reinterate what date they are referring to... Helps keep us all straight! And also helps establish credibility... especially in a situation where someone is being called a liar (something I find detestible).

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 11:14 AM)
>
> If you go back far enough you will learn the identities of some who post under pseudonyms, and you will learn enough about those who use pseudonyms.... and the reasons why they use them... so it will become relatively easy to sort out which are giving factual matter and which are here for the purposes of obfuscation.

I am aware of some of the reasons some post under pseudonyms... they NEED to.... Unfortunately, until the lid blows completely off of this situation, the anonymity will leave their testimony status as unconfirmed in my mind. Of course, it does all add up in the "who is the most credible" game.

Please give me a little benefit of the doubt, as it is not practical for me to write out my entire spectrum of thoughts on these issues at once - it would be so lengthy, that nobody would want to read it... I'm just addressing things a little bit at a time....

Is that fair enough?

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 11:14 AM)
>
> Patience will give its rewards.

Oh yes, www.save3abn.com gives you a real jumpstart on concrete info... even if you choose to ignore the commentary and only read the emails posted, it makes a picture emerge fairly quickly. As much as I'd like to see this thing hurry up and get over with, info really is popping out of the woodwork at a fast pace right now...

Anyway, enough of my thoughts! As if anyone cared!

Posted by: watchbird Mar 13 2007, 11:24 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Mar 13 2007, 12:02 PM)
>
> Anyway, enough of my thoughts! As if anyone cared!

We care very much... and you have expressed your thoughts very cogently. If I came across as belittling your thoughts previously, I apologize. I did not intend to do so, but only to use your post as a starting point for adding a few more thoughts. And you have now added more of your own.... and it is in this way that we learn the various viewpoints and how they were formed.... which I am sure helps others find their way through the jungle of information available here.

I was especially interested in your description of your initial reactions to The Televangelist. This, I suspect, describes very cogently the intitial reactions that many have had to it. I recall when I first showed it someone very close to me... in printed form.... that his only comment when finishing it was, "I will have to process this for a while before I can even comment on it".

And your points about what you can use as "proofs" are right on the money also. This is not a court of law.... and even a court of law can only establish things as true or false "beyond a reasonable doubt". All we can do here is to listen to the testimonies of those who claim to have first hand experience, and the results of the research of those who claim to have researched, and then see where the "balance of evidence" leads us. Once we establish credibility for some over others in our own minds, then, and only then, will a picture emerge with increasing clarity as the discussions continue on.

Thank you much for your input.

Posted by: from-the-pew Mar 13 2007, 11:41 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 13 2007, 01:24 PM)
>
> This is not a court of law.... and even a court of law can only establish things as true or false "beyond a reasonable doubt". All we can do here is to listen to the testimonies of those who claim to have first hand experience, and the results of the research of those who claim to have researched, and then see where the "balance of evidence" leads us.

Interesting that you mention a court of law... This is true that it is not a court of law...

I have observed in my discussions regarding this issue with others, that we each have a sort of "court of me", where we decide which evidence is admissible for drawing our personal conclusions.... This "personal court" collectively would be called "the court of public opinion".

Sadly, 3abn attempted what they thought would give them a win in the court of public opinion, and it backfired. I believe that even if a court of law were to exhonerate Danny et al, that the emails and other evidence that are out there would not be enough to clear the "taint" on his leadership.

For this, and other reasons, I believe 3abn would be wise to begin contemplating new leadership asap - a salvage operation, if you will.

Posted by: YogusBearus Mar 13 2007, 01:04 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Mar 13 2007, 12:41 PM)
>
> Interesting that you mention a court of law... This is true that it is not a court of law...
>
> I have observed in my discussions regarding this issue with others, that we each have a sort of

> "court of me", where we decide which evidence is admissible for drawing our personal conclusions.... This "personal court" collectively would be called "the court of public opinion".
>
> Sadly, 3abn attempted what they thought would give them a win in the court of public opinion, and it backfired. I believe that even if a court of law were to exhonerate Danny et al, that the emails and other evidence that are out there would not be enough to clear the "taint" on his leadership.
>
> For this, and other reasons, I believe 3abn would be wise to begin contemplating new leadership asap - a salvage operation, if you will.

/ery well stated. I think you've cut through to the nub of things. If DS really cares about the ministry ›f 3abn, he really does need to step down permanently and the sooner the better. What he has said ınd written leaves one with the unescapable conclusion that he is seriously over his head and probably ıas been for quite a few years. There should be no shame in admitting this and allowing the board to ;eek a suitable replacement. The board would also have to charge a replacement with doing a horough house cleaning of Mid and Upper managment to really get 3abn back on course.

Yogi

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 13 2007, 01:34 PM

I am a newbie also and promised myself that I would read before writing. If Danny hadn't of opened his big mouth on a 3ABN live program in February 2007, I would have NEVER found this wonderful site. Thank you Calvin and others.
My husband tells me daily to read and let him know what's going on with 3ABN. We both feel that we have found lots of good information on this site. I told him that Bystander commented yesterday on this thread and that he stays in the line of fire.

Who knows, I might be in Big trouble myself.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 13 2007, 01:55 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 13 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> I am a newbie also and promised myself that I would read before writing. If Danny hadn't of opened his big mouth on a 3ABN live program in February 2007, I would have NEVER found this wonderful site. Thank you Calvin and others.
> My husband tells me daily to read and let him know what's going on with 3ABN. We both feel that we have found lots of good information on this site. I told him that Bystander commented yesterday on this thread and that he stays in the line of fire.
>
> Who knows, I might be in Big trouble myself.

Welcome Jnana15! I really appreciate hearing from the new posters...each one shows how they have takeN time to read, put energy into finding out what's been going on and putting things together. I appreciate various perspectives too...it's no secret that DS worst enemy is DS, and yet, he never quits. God works in mysterious ways!

> QUOTE
>
> Very well stated. I think you've cut through to the nub of things. If DS really cares about the ministry of 3abn, he really does need to step down permanently and the sooner the better. What he has said and written leaves one with the unescapable conclusion that he is seriously over his head and probably has been for quite a few years. There should be no shame in admitting this and allowing the board to seek a suitable replacement. The board would also have to charge a replacement with doing a thorough house cleaning of Mid and Upper managment to really get 3abn back on course.
>
> -Yogi

If only the board was a real board in the sense of the definition of a board:

"An organized body of administrators or investigators: a board of trustees; a board of directors. "

Board of Directors

"noun:
A group of persons chosen to govern the affairs of a corporation or other large institution.
The group of people responsible for supervising the affairs of a corporation. The board of directors generally sets broad corporate policy rather than participating in day-to-day managerial decisions, although selection of the chief executive officer is the board's responsibility. Members are elected by the firm's stockholders and may or may not be stockholders themselves.

Guess we'll see....but, my opinion is that DS sees himself AS 3abn, he is the "board" and the people that represent the "board" are in word only. They would have to step up and exert their expected roll as defined above...in a whole new way. Will that happen? Can it happen? I hope that DS doesn't insist on taking the ship down with him, but that is what I fear will happen.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 13 2007, 02:17 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Mar 13 2007, 09:02 AM) ☐
>
> Some responses.....
> I understand the difference between fiction and fictionalized that you described. I was trying to keep my comments brief... and yet, understanding the differences, I cannot use that document as "proof" in my mind. I don't know the author... I haven't seen what they have seen... They may be > right, but I must wait and see what transpires.... Some of what was written in that account I believe has been substantiated. I haven't thrown it out, I simply cannot use it as concrete evidence. It certainly is very useful to me to understand where some members here are coming from...

>
> Yes, there is more than guilt or innocence... but many issues are effected by the guilt or innocence of those involved.... I referenced the guilt/innocence part specifically because there seems to be an impression by some that proving Linda is guilty will exhonerate Danny of any wrongdoing... This simply is not so.
> The Televangelist is very successful at raising questions. It was also successful at making me sick to my stomach... My first reaction was to discard it. Then, when I stopped, and realized that even if only 2 or 3 of the things mentioned in that document are actually true, then there is a really big problem here! Not to mention if even more than that is true....
>
> Sometimes, like in the instance of my still-unanswered question regarding the date of the trip to Norway that Johann was referring to in his account of Danny following Linda to the airport, even if something has been mentioned previously in the Televangelist etc, it is useful to me to ask the person telling their story to reinterate what date they are referring to... Helps keep us all straight! And also helps establish credibility... especially in a situation where someone is being called a liar (something I find detestible).
> I am aware of some of the reasons some post under pseudonyms... they NEED to.... Unfortunately, until the lid blows completely off of this situation, the anonymity will leave their testimony status as unconfirmed in my mind. Of course, it does all add up in the "who is the most credible" game.
>
> Please give me a little benefit of the doubt, as it is not practical for me to write out my entire spectrum of thoughts on these issues at once - it would be so lengthy, that nobody would want to read it... I'm just addressing things a little bit at a time....
>
> Is that fair enough?
> Oh yes, www.save3abn.com gives you a real jumpstart on concrete info... even if you choose to ignore the commentary and only read the emails posted, it makes a picture emerge fairly quickly. As much as I'd like to see this thing hurry up and get over with, info really is popping out of the woodwork at a fast pace right now...
> Anyway, enough of my thoughts! As if anyone cared!

TP,
s WB said, we do care! Your input is so clearly on the mark. If newbies will pay close attention to the iscussion between you and WB just now, they would learn a lot!

B

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 13 2007, 11:34 AM)
>
> I am a newbie also and promised myself that I would read before writing. If Danny hadn't of opened his big mouth on a 3ABN live program in February 2007, I would have NEVER found this wonderful site. Thank you Calvin and others.
> My husband tells me daily to read and let him know what's going on with 3ABN. We both feel that we have found lots of good information on this site. I told him that Bystander commented yesterday on this thread and that he stays in the line of fire.
>
> Who knows, I might be in Big trouble myself.

elcome Jnana15!

'm happy that Danny's invitation brought you to us! There have been quite a few others who have as well.

PB

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 13 2007, 06:08 PM

Welcome to BSDA. And yes I agree and was also convicted all was not well because of the words of Danny and the Dannyscribes and Dannyites.

Richard

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 13 2007, 02:34 PM)
>
> I am a newbie also and promised myself that I would read before writing. If Danny hadn't of opened his big mouth on a 3ABN live program in February 2007, I would have NEVER found this wonderful site. Thank you Calvin and others.
> My husband tells me daily to read and let him know what's going on with 3ABN. We both feel that we have found lots of good information on this site. I told him that Bystander commented yesterday on this thread and that he stays in the line of fire.
>
> Who knows, I might be in Big trouble myself.

Posted by: vanburton Mar 13 2007, 11:33 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 13 2007, 02:55 PM)
>
> Welcome Jnana15! I really appreciate hearing from the new posters...each one shows how they have takeN time to read, put energy into finding out what's been going on and putting things together. I appreciate various perspectives too...it's no secret that DS worst enemy is DS, and yet, he never quits. God works in mysterious ways!
> If only the board was a real board in the sense of the definition of a board:
>
> "An organized body of administrators or investigators: a board of trustees; a board of directors. "
>
> Board of Directors
>
> "noun:
> A group of persons chosen to govern the affairs of a corporation or other large institution.
> The group of people responsible for supervising the affairs of a corporation. The board of directors generally sets broad corporate policy rather than participating in day-to-day managerial decisions, although selection of the chief executive officer is the board's responsibility. Members are elected by the firm's stockholders and may or may not be stockholders themselves.
> Guess we'll see....but, my opinion is that DS sees himself AS 3abn, he is the "board" and the people that represent the "board" are in word only. They would have to step up and exert their expected roll as defined above...in a whole new way. Will that happen? Can it happen? I hope that DS doesn't insist on taking the ship down with him, but that is what I fear will happen.

About the 3abn board. How long has Walt Thompson been the chairman? A well run board in my mind would have a constitution that, amoung other things, would require a new chairman to be elected every few years. This is important for many reasons. Unless Walt is relatively new as chairman, the current 3abn board situation would be a "red flag" for me.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 14 2007, 12:02 AM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 13 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> I am a newbie also and promised myself that I would read before writing. If Danny hadn't of opened his big mouth on a 3ABN live program in February 2007, I would have NEVER found this wonderful site. Thank you Calvin and others.
> My husband tells me daily to read and let him know what's going on with 3ABN. We both feel that we have found lots of good information on this site. I told him that Bystander commented yesterday on this thread and that he stays in the line of fire.
>
> Who knows, I might be in Big trouble myself.

Welcome jnana15. No, you won't be in trouble if you can sort out the truth from the lies. This 3abn forum was based and some horrible allegations and falsehoods. All of the allegations were discussed, acted upon as if they were truth and statements were made as fact. Through the months, those same falsehoods have been expanded on, hashed and rehashed. The people that arrived her later, never knew that a lot of those "facts" came from a beginning of lies. Is everyone at 3abn perfect? Hardly. Is everyone on this forum perfect? hardly. Is any thriving ministry perfect? absolutely not. But what has happened here has been a faulty snowball that has grown larger and larger as it picks up speed. Many of the allegations are completely outlandish. Those that have written the lies and told them as truth will be accountable to God and man. What else can be done at this point when they will not stop trying to destroy a tremendous ministry and those that work there. The slander has went on too long, has gotten completely out of control even though, those that do most of the accusing have never eyewitnessed the horrible things that they are depicting.
If you choose to stay here, please be much in prayer for discernment. But, above all, please don't base your conclusions on the beginning lies.

Posted by: Clay Mar 14 2007, 06:23 AM

> QUOTE
>
> If you choose to stay here, please be much in prayer for discernment. But, above all, please don't base your conclusions on the beginning lies.

yep... the very first lie was told by Danny himself when he came.... and Bystander, WWJD, and the other apologists have continued to perpetuate that lie.....

Great recommendation....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 14 2007, 07:29 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 13 2007, 11:02 PM)
>
> Welcome jnana15. No, you won't be in trouble if you can sort out the truth from the lies.

I agree with you that jnana15 won't be in trouble if she can sort out the truth from the lies. Of course then you get busy and test her by making a statement filled with some truth and a bunch of false allegations (lies).

> QUOTE
>
> This 3abn forum was based and some horrible allegations and falsehoods. All of the allegations were discussed, acted upon as if they were truth and statements were made as fact. Through the months, those same falsehoods have been expanded on, hashed and rehashed. The people that arrived her later, never knew that a lot of those "facts" came from a beginning of lies.
> Is everyone at 3abn perfect? Hardly. Is everyone on this forum perfect? hardly. Is any thriving ministry perfect? absolutely not. But what has happened here has been a faulty snowball that has grown larger and larger as it picks up speed. Many of the allegations are completely outlandish. Those that have written the lies and told them as truth will be accountable to God and man. What else can be done at this point when they will not stop trying to destroy a tremendous ministry and those that work there. The slander has went on too long, has gotten completely out of control even though, those that do most of the accusing have never eyewitnessed the horrible things that they are depicting.
> If you choose to stay here, please be much in prayer for discernment. But, above all, please don't base your conclusions on the beginning lies.

I have made bold the sentences in your statement that can, unequivocally, be considered truth. As for the rest of your statement, just because you say it doesn't make it so. Have you considered the possibility that you may be pointing your finger at the wrong group of people? You constantly try to rebut what is here simply by characterizing it as lies or hearsay, etc., and yet you just don't bring any substantive proof to back up your claims. Oh, that's right, you and your compatriots don't feel it is necessary to waste your "evidence" on the small group of folks in "chat rooms".

You continue to sing your song (Lies, Lies, Lies. Rumor, Slander, Lies. Just-you-wait-we're-gonna-sue-you. Lies, Lies, Lies!) but it is not scoring very well on the charts, IMO. Perhaps because your verse has no compelling hook (truth/substance) and, therefore, falls a little flat and empty.

If you believe someone has made a false allegation, back up your claims with proof or just leave it to honest folk to use their brains and decide for themselves. When you can bring something more than empty words to the dialogue, perhaps people will give your words more credibility and will be more willing to listen.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 14 2007, 07:17 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 14 2007, 06:29 AM)
>
> If you believe someone has made a false allegation, back up your claims with proof or just leave it to honest folk to use their brains and decide for themselves. When you can bring something more > than empty words to the dialogue, perhaps people will give your words more credibility and will be more willing to listen.

\hhh, finally. The true "you" emerges. Speaking the exact opposite of what you have spoken before. and you know what I mean.) I see no way for you to justify your contradictions this time.

3ewildered or not, you can surely grasp that I have said over and over that I do not have permission o bring evidence forward. End of story. I wish that I could. In fact, I would love to. It isn't my call. he lawsuits are not within my control either. If they were, those that are guilty within the confines of he law and God would have been drug into court, already by the scruff of their necks. 3ABN has no ontrol of the tons of paperwork and research that have to be done before those charged, receive their nvitations. Those that will receive them will be, in the eyes of the law, deserving of them, or they vouldn't be receiving them.
t is a constant source of amazment to me, how several laugh and say bring it on, because something lidn't happen in the appointed time frame that they themselves made up. You can go with the Bluff ine all day long but does anyone here want to chance all the repercussions that would be handed lown with each invidual guilty verdict. Here's the kicker. Would you want to chance any of the loss or eartache to be able to slander, defame and perform character assassination on people you don't now and have never even met. Is it really so fun for some of you that you are willing to take the ine's and punishment that could be handed out? For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people here, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever, and yet you are willing to stake parts of your lives o get to call them names.
lot too smart.

Posted by: Clay Mar 14 2007, 07:22 PM

Bystander... put up or shut up... and the threats..... old and tiresome....... if you are not bring the lawsuits, we got the picture, you are the errandboy......

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 14 2007, 07:46 PM

[quote name='Bystander' date='Mar 14 2007, 01:02 AM' post='185146']
Welcome jnana15. No, you won't be in trouble if you can sort out the truth from the lies. This 3abn forum was based and some horrible allegations and falsehoods.

This is where I disagree with you Bystander. I have sorted through the lies LONG before I joined this group. I have been following 3ABN for years and have had a lot of questions. This site has helped me sort out the truth and answered a lot of questions for me. I have even been able to stop one person from talking about Linda to questioning Danny's motives. This person knows G. McNelius personally and knew stuff about 3ABN before it made public or even hit the website. So see, I really know what's going on. Ask Lee.

Back to my corner for now ☒ notworkir

Posted by: calvin Mar 14 2007, 08:12 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 07:17 PM) ☐

> Ahhh, finally. The true "you" emerges. Speaking the exact opposite of what you have spoken before. (and you know what I mean.) I see no way for you to justify your contradictions this time.
>
> Bewildered or not, you can surely grasp that I have said over and over that I do not have permission to bring evidence forward. End of story. I wish that I could. In fact, I would love to. It isn't my call.
> The lawsuits are not within my control either. If they were, those that are guilty within the confines of the law and God would have been drug into court, already by the scruff of their necks. 3ABN has no control of the tons of paperwork and research that have to be done before those charged, receive their invitations. Those that will receive them will be, in the eyes of the law, deserving of them, or they wouldn't be receiving them.
> It is a constant source of amazment to me, how several laugh and say bring it on, because something didn't happen in the appointed time frame that they themselves made up. You can go with the Bluff line all day long but does anyone here want to chance all the repercussions that would be handed down with each invidual guilty verdict. Here's the kicker. Would you want to chance any of the loss or heartache to be able to slander, defame and perform character assassination on people you don't know and have never even met. Is it really so fun for some of you that you are willing to take the fine's and punishment that could be handed out? For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people there, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever, and yet you are willing to stake parts of your lives to get to call them names.
> Not too smart.

sigh. Is is Sabbath yet?

Posted by: erik Mar 14 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 05:17 PM)
>
> Ahhh, finally. The true "you" emerges. Speaking the exact opposite of what you have spoken before. (and you know what I mean.) I see no way for you to justify your contradictions this time.
>
> Bewildered or not, you can surely grasp that I have said over and over that I do not have permission to bring evidence forward. End of story. I wish that I could. In fact, I would love to. It isn't my call.
> The lawsuits are not within my control either. If they were, those that are guilty within the confines of the law and God would have been drug into court, already by the scruff of their necks. 3ABN has no control of the tons of paperwork and research that have to be done before those charged, receive their invitations. Those that will receive them will be, in the eyes of the law, deserving of them, or they wouldn't be receiving them.
> It is a constant source of amazment to me, how several laugh and say bring it on, because something didn't happen in the appointed time frame that they themselves made up. You can go with the Bluff line all day long but does anyone here want to chance all the repercussions that would be handed down with each invidual guilty verdict. Here's the kicker. Would you want to chance any of the loss or heartache to be able to slander, defame and perform character assassination on people you don't know and have never even met. Is it really so fun for some of you that you are willing to take the fine's and punishment that could be handed out? For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people there, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever, and yet you are willing to stake parts of your lives to get to call them names.
> Not too smart.

Bystander,

What happens effects every SDA, 3ABN has made itself the public face of the Adventist church.

Besides that even if what is going at 3abn did not effect the rest of us, The Great injustice that is being done, by the the releasing of only a small part of the truth from 3abn side is enough to turn ones sense of justice upside down.

Linda has been publicly accused of having an affair on her husband, But lack of proof of that affair is telling.

Tommy S. has been accused of sexually abusing boys and young men, and lack of denial is equaling telling.

The difference in the way that 3abn handled each case is even more telling.

I know you claim to not be allowed to give way the big serects of the proof that 3abn has on al these topics, but you should be able to reason with them that the method of damage control they are currently using is failing them greatly, i am quite sure you can see and sense that by now.

How many of the posters on here say that came here thinking that danny was the victim of linda and now hold vastly different view.

THat should speak volumes has tot he correctness of the path 3 abn has taken on this whole issue.

Here is the thing that just blows my mind, 3abn is creating a huge stumbling block to many on this site and others if they are with holding proof that would clear them of the charges being leveled.

They will have to anwser to God for that.

Also they are not following the mattew 18 approach that so many pro-3abn people harp on towards the other side.

One of the things that is the must telling has to were the truth will most likely end being in this whole thing is that the side that says 3abn has problems that need fixed is they are willing to make case that there is infact problems at 3abn, on the other in nut shell from the 3abn side is trust us, in court we will be proven right.

When if tomorrow 3abn released the proof that tommy is innocent and the linda is the cheating wife she has been accused of, I would be the first to start defending 3abn based on the facts not the word of danny shelton and walt thomason, both men that has you point out all the time are people most of us do not know very well.

Bystander many on this forum are here for the truth, is just that we are not going take a trust on this one awnser, the things they are being charged with are all about the trust we have placed in them being destroyed.

Erik

Posted by: maggiecttr Mar 14 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 08:17 PM)
>
> For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people there, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever,

Actually, what happens to 3abn and/or its people will have an effect on my life, should the story (if allegations prove to be true) appear in the mainstream media. My husband and I try to live our lives in such a way that Seventh-day Adventism is seen in a positive light -- it's how we trained our child to live as well. It could be a real embarrassment to church members like my family if a 3abn scandal should emerge in the public eye. It could very well undermine many members' efforts to witness in their communities, workplaces, schools, etc. My prayer is that I won't pick up Time or Newsweek some day in the near future and see a negative two-page spread on 3abn!

I'm a first-time poster, but I have been spending hours reading through this site, plus several others often referred to here. Thank you for providing a forum for us to discuss what we never hear about from the pulpit.

God bless!
maggie

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 14 2007, 08:36 PM

Welcome Maggie ☒ welc

We Newbies seem to have spent many good hours reading here.

I have yet to figure out how to put the "Quotes" in from others.

Posted by: lookin4truth Mar 14 2007, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 14 2007, 10:36 PM)
>
> Welcome Maggie ☒ welc
>
> We Newbies seem to have spent many good hours reading here.
>
> I have yet to figure out how to put the "Quotes" in from others.

Jnana,

Probably the easiest way to quote is to hit the QUOTE button on the lower right hand corner of the post you want to quote.

Then hit the REPLY button.

A reply box will come up, with the full quote of the original post in it.

You can then just delete the parts you don't want, highlight or color words you want highlighted, etc.

Then submit your new post.

You can also just place the quote [quote] before what you want to quote, and the end quote [/quote] after.

When you do it this way, you will not have the name, time, etc. of the person you are quoting.

If this hasn't confused you enough, I can make it even muddier.

Note: The brackets around the quote commands should not have spaces. I place them there because it makes a quote box if I didn't

---

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 14 2007, 08:52 PM

Welcome Maggie. Unfortunately, the problems that much of the documentation prove have been festering for a long time and it was inevitable that they would begin to come to the surface. What is really a shame is that the folks who were aware of these problems kept things as silent as possible instead of standing on Christian principle and doing whatever was needed to fix the problems and help any victims to find healing.

That there are many working towards exposing the truth, whatever that may end up being, will someday show the world, that at least a group of folks wouldn't keep the secrets. That will, IMO, temper the ill will that might arise should the problems become public knowledge.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 14 2007, 08:59 PM

Welcome to BSDA Maggie!! You are voicing exactly what I have been saying for months, years, even.............Somehow most seem to think we are flying under the radar.....which also says something about our mission... special message to the world and all........

> QUOTE(maggiecttr @ Mar 14 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> Actually, what happens to 3abn and/or its people will have an effect on my life, should the story (if allegations prove to be true) appear in the mainstream media. My husband and I try to live our lives in such a way that Seventh-day Adventism is seen in a positive light -- it's how we trained our child to live as well. It could be a real embarrassment to church members like my family if a 3abn scandal should emerge in the public eye. It could very well undermine many members' efforts to witness in their communities, workplaces, schools, etc. My prayer is that I won't pick up Time or Newsweek some day in the near future and see a negative two-page spread on 3abn!
>
> I'm a first-time poster, but I have been spending hours reading through this site, plus several others often referred to here. Thank you for providing a forum for us to discuss what we never hear about from the pulpit.
>
> God bless!

> maggie

Posted by: princessdi Mar 14 2007, 09:10 PM

Then to put it nicely, BS, you rpobably need to stop with the defense of Danny and 3ABN. they aessentially you sending you out here unarmed, so to speak. You may, indeed, be a honest, christian man. However, as said before, Danny has already been here, lying. Then you are willing to come to his defense, and he doesn't equip you, besides being at a diadvantage. Nothing but that said proof that they are not willing to release to you, their faithful defender, will get most to even think about changing their minds.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 06:17 PM)
>
> Ahhh, finally. The true "you" emerges. Speaking the exact opposite of what you have spoken before. (and you know what I mean.) I see no way for you to justify your contradictions this time.
>
> Bewildered or not, you can surely grasp that I have said over and over that I do not have permission to bring evidence forward. End of story. I wish that I could. In fact, I would love to. It isn't my call.
> The lawsuits are not within my control either. If they were, those that are guilty within the confines of the law and God would have been drug into court, already by the scruff of their necks. 3ABN has no control of the tons of paperwork and research that have to be done before those charged, receive their invitations. Those that will receive them will be, in the eyes of the law, deserving of them, or they wouldn't be receiving them.
> It is a constant source of amazment to me, how several laugh and say bring it on, because something didn't happen in the appointed time frame that they themselves made up. You can go with the Bluff line all day long but does anyone here want to chance all the repercussions that would be handed down with each invidual guilty verdict. Here's the kicker. Would you want to chance any of the loss or heartache to be able to slander, defame and perform character assassination on people you don't know and have never even met. Is it really so fun for some of you that you are willing to take the fine's and punishment that could be handed out? For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people there, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever, and yet you are willing to stake parts of your lives to get to call them names.
> Not too smart.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 14 2007, 09:21 PM

> QUOTE(maggiecttr @ Mar 14 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> Actually, what happens to 3abn and/or its people will have an effect on my life, should the story (if allegations prove to be true) appear in the mainstream media. My husband and I try to live our lives in such a way that Seventh-day Adventism is seen in a positive light -- it's how we trained our child to live as well. It could be a real embarrassment to church members like my family if a 3abn scandal should emerge in the public eye. It could very well undermine many members' efforts to witness in their communities, workplaces, schools, etc. My prayer is that I won't pick up Time or Newsweek some day in the near future and see a negative two-page spread on 3abn!

> I'm a first-time poster, but I have been spending hours reading through this site, plus several others often referred to here. Thank you for providing a forum for us to discuss what we never hear about from the pulpit.
>
> God bless!
> maggie

eing involved in this for some time, I have already processed this through my mind. It may or may ot help in any way what I have concluded, but I will share it in short (yes, really, short!)

was raised in this church too. I always had the idea IT is the only truth. That's ok, as long as it oens't make you so different from everyone else (the elevated over others way) that you can no onger see the common things you have with all christians. I have found over my years in this church, ANY people think of themselves, probalby unconscienceously, they are "better" then others because hey have the truth. I don't mean this in a bad way, I'm just trying to say that we are sinners and ften we can get pride and boastful of what "GOD" has given us (the truth) and no one else.

have accepted that ALL christians are sinners. There are hypocrites in every church and enomination. There is inperfection and error in every denomination. NO denomination is protected rom the devil, sin or sinners. So far in my life, the SDA church is the closest to truth I have found. I on't accept all of it. We have to some how lower ourselves down to this understanding, or we do set p ourselves for feeling the responsiblity for everyone and every denomominatin decision. That is rong. We are free will choosing christians as God designed it, and the church is made up of us free ill christians making mistakes, innocently and intentionally.

e are not special. All churches have their problems. I will not sell this church to anyone (via bible tudy or bragging) letting them think that just because we have the sabbath, state of the dead and ome other things that we don't make mistakes and that our humans are different (sinless?) then thers.

ottom line, no matter what church you are part of (denomination as well), it's about a personal elationship with our Lord and Savior. IF HE says, FOLLOW ME, not your church, I better have enough onnection with HIM to do just that. Loyalty to HIM and what He has taught us in the bible. NOt to a an or denomination. God first.

hen 3abn crumbles (and I am assuming at the rate of DS behavior that is is doomed too) I feel omfortable letting people know what I have learned quite frankly was the cause of it. One man had oo much power. This is not part of our denomination, and just because ANY person SAYS something oes not make it so. Maybe there was a good reason that things did stay separate (3abn and the ffical denomination). This is not the first off-shoot or ministry that the church had to distance and isconnect from (if that is what will take place at some point) and folks, it probably won't be the last.

here is much more that could be said of this issue - how it will affect SDA's, etc. We just need to now Jesus, tell of Jesus and keep it simple. We aren't sales people for the church. We want people to now truth, to know there is forgiveness of sins, that Jesus is coming back and the great ontroversary of between Satan and God, to hurt GOD! Not the SDA church!!!
hank goodness we have so many stories in the bible of leaders and prophets that were clearly inners, and how much God loved them still. All christians of every denomination are in the same oat. The devil hates us all, doesn't want us or anyone to know God, and doesn't want God's true oving character revealed. However he can make God look bad, that is what he is about. That will not nd till the end of it all!

.S. WELCOME maggiecttr!
look forward to more of your posts!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 14 2007, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 01:02 AM) ☐
>
> Welcome jnana15. No, you won't be in trouble if you can sort out the truth from the lies. This 3abn forum was based and some horrible allegations and falsehoods.

Jnana15 said:

> QUOTE
>
> This is where I disagree with you Bystander. I have sorted through the lies LONG before I joined this group. I have been following 3ABN for years and have had a lot of questions. This site has helped me sort out the truth and answered a lot of questions for me. I have even been able to stop one person from talking about Linda to questioning Danny's motives. This person knows G. McNelius personally and knew stuff about 3ABN before it made public or even hit the website. So see, I really know what's going on. Ask Lee.
> Back to my corner for now

Jnana15,

It is encouraging to know that you have been able to sort things out and have had an impact on the opinions of someone else. It will be interesting what kind of an impact this will have on G. McNeilus, if any.

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 14 2007, 09:36 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Mar 14 2007, 09:50 PM) ☐
>
> Jnana,
>
> Probably the easiest way to quote is to hit the QUOTE button on the lower right hand corner of the post you want to quote.
>
> Then hit the REPLY button.

Thank you so much! ☒ than

Posted by: Pickle Mar 14 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 14 2007, 08:12 PM)
>
> sigh. Is is Sabbath yet?

Haven't done this before, but I think I will now.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 14 2007, 09:49 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 14 2007, 06:17 PM)
>
> Ahhh, finally. The true "you" emerges. Speaking the exact opposite of what you have spoken before. (and you know what I mean.) I see no way for you to justify your contradictions this time.

I'm the same old me as fairly early on in my journey here. I'm not sure what you see as contradictions. Could you refresh my memory? Examples? I will gladly consider them.

> QUOTE
>
> Bewildered or not, you can surely grasp that I have said over and over that I do not have permission to bring evidence forward. End of story. I wish that I could. In fact, I would love to. It isn't my call.

If you are unable to convince the people who hold the evidence that it would be good to post it here, that is truly a sad thing. With you wishing you could, even loving to be able to, it is unfortunate that those you go to for answers don't give your requests enough weight to grant them. How much good that common sense move might accomplish. Who knows how quickly it would shut down much of the need for such a forum as this.

> QUOTE
>
> The lawsuits are not within my control either. If they were, those that are guilty within the confines of the law and God would have been drug into court, already by the scruff of their necks. 3ABN has no control of the tons of paperwork and research that have to be done before those charged, receive their invitations. Those that will receive them will be, in the eyes of the law, deserving of them, or they wouldn't be receiving them.
> It is a constant source of amazment to me, how several laugh and say bring it on, because something didn't happen in the appointed time frame that they themselves made up. You can go with the Bluff line all day long but does anyone here want to chance all the repercussions that would be handed down with each invidual guilty verdict. Here's the kicker. Would you want to chance any of the loss or heartache to be able to slander, defame and perform character assassination on people you don't know and have never even met. Is it really so fun for some of you that you are willing to take the fine's and punishment that could be handed out? For most, what happens to 3 abn or the people there, will have no affect on your lives whatsoever, and yet you are willing to stake parts of your lives to get to call them names.
> Not too smart.

Yes, the wheels of justice do turn slowly at times.

I make a concerted effort not to make unsubstantiated statements so that I don't won't be responsible for wrongly impuning or assassinating the character or reputation of anybody. None of this is "fun" but some of us see documented proof of wrongs and have a burden to see resolution.

PB

Posted by: watchbird Mar 15 2007, 08:19 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 14 2007, 09:12 PM)
>
> sigh. Is is Sabbath yet?

Not yet..... ..... so sorry.... but..... you might take into consideration that Sabbath begins approximately 12 hours earlier in some parts of the world than it does in your own time zone..... and that it ends approximately 12 hours later in other parts of the world that it does in your own time zone. That would give us 48 hours of peace and quiet rather than a mere 24....... ...... I think.... if I did the math right..... ....

Just a thought..... ....

Posted by: Johann Mar 15 2007, 09:24 AM

What happened to stratei who started this thread?

Posted by: Clay Mar 15 2007, 09:25 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 15 2007, 10:24 AM)
>
> What happened to stratei who started this thread?

he has been ummmmm banned.....

Posted by: Johann Mar 15 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 15 2007, 05:25 PM)
>
> he has been ummmmm banned.....

Here too? Some of us should remember that freedom of speech has its limits too, even on BSDA. For which we should be grateful.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 15 2007, 04:46 PM

Here too? That was my reaction as well.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 15 2007, 01:02 PM)
>
> Here too? Some of us should remember that freedom of speech has its limits too, even on BSDA. For which we should be grateful.

Posted by: roxe Mar 15 2007, 10:50 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 15 2007, 08:19 AM)
>
> That would give us 48 hours of peace and quiet rather than a mere 24...

hmmm...

if the rules against
1. flaming
2. bullying
3. discourtesy
4. unkindness
5. disrespect
6. attacking people
7. dishonesty
8. written "verbal" abuse
9. etc

existed with teeth and were enforced, there would be YEARS of peace and quiet instead of just hours...

btjm...

OK, back to topic...

Posted by: Johann Mar 16 2007, 05:53 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 15 2007, 04:12 AM)
>
> sigh. Is is Sabbath yet?

Still another seven and a half hours here, but we are getting there. Lest we forget!

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 16 2007, 12:37 PM

happysabl to all those folk to whom the Sabbath hours have already come.

Rosyroi

Posted by: Brenda Mar 16 2007, 01:25 PM

Thank you RosyR - it is almost 6.30 Sabbath morning here.....so why I am reading these threads? Habit I guess and I will go on to the SS lesson soon

---

Posted by: princessdi Mar 16 2007, 01:30 PM

Happy Sabbath Brenda!

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Mar 16 2007, 11:25 AM)
>
> Thank you RosyR - it is almost 6.30 Sabbath morning here.....so why I am reading these threads? Habit I guess and I will go on to the SS lesson soon

---

44

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Why Did Linda Buy The Pregnancy Test Kit?

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 11:58 AM

Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon.

Posted by: Clay Jul 28 2006, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 12:58 PM)
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon.

we can tell..... rofl

Posted by: princessdi Jul 28 2006, 12:07 PM

ya' think?!!!

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 10:58 AM)
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 12:11 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 11:58 AM)
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon.

Sorry. Slow or fast day, I'm not playing this kind of game. I am not "spinning theories", I am reporting as accurately as my memory allows what was told to me by the primary participant in this scene, Linda herself.

The rest of you can spin theories all you want. I'm reporting. You can say that Linda lied. You can say she was self deceived. You can examine motives all you want. But I do not think that something that has been made this serious of an accusation should be made into a voting game on whose got the best "theory".

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jul 28 2006, 12:15 PM

Me thinks he has way too much time on his hands today!! rofl It will only let me pick one answer though & there are 2 that I want to choose.

Watchbird no one is saying anyone is not telling the truth. Sometimes it does a person good to lighten up no matter what the topic is it releases a lot of stress & EVERY situation needs something to make you chuckle over to lighten things up.

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 28 2006, 12:11 PM)
>
> Sorry. Slow or fast day, I'm not playing this kind of game. I am not "spinning theories", I am reporting as accurately as my memory allows what was told to me by the primary participant in this scene, Linda herself.
>
> The rest of you can spin theories all you want. I'm reporting. You can say that Linda lied. You can say she was self deceived. You can examine motives all you want. But I do not think that something that has been made this serious of an accusation should be made into a voting game on whose got the best "theory".

Hmmm, guess I must have struck a nerve. Watchbird, most believe you, you're ahead in the count.

Posted by: seraph|m Jul 28 2006, 12:26 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 02:20 PM)
>
> Hmmm, guess I must have struck a nerve. Watchbird, most believe you, you're ahead in the count.

My impression of the poll is that it was to lighten up the whole mood of the 3ABN stuff. BTJM

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Jul 28 2006, 12:15 PM)
>
> Me thinks he has way too much time on his hands today!! rofl It will only let me pick one answer though & there are 2 that I want to choose.
>
> Watchbird no one is saying anyone is not telling the truth. Sometimes it does a person good to lighten up no matter what the topic is it releases a lot of stress & EVERY situation needs something to make you chuckle over to lighten things up.

Call me a dullhead if you wish. But I have never, even as a small child, seen any humor in anything that harms another human being. And there is a great deal of difference between a reporter--even an analyses the news--and one who spins theories out of circumstantial evidence and the imaginings of their own mind.

What we are dealing with here is an event, which according to the person who did it, and according to her "accomplice", her grown daughter, was for the purpose of "giving Danny something to find". That has been used by her enemies to harrass her and make her life miserable for over two years now. I can see her point of view, and I can laugh with her--at the same time I am crying inside for her because of the way her prank "backfired" on her. But don't expect me to play silly little games nor sit still while being called a "theorist" over something that has been used with as deadly an intent as this has been.

I've laughed along with the rest of your over other truly humorous things--and I appreciate the role of humor in lightening the serious load. But sorry. I still can't play this kind of "voting games" with this topic.

Those of you who can ... go ahead and have your fun. But before you have too much of it, think how it will affect those who come here and read for information and find this lack of distinction between reporters and theorists, and think how it will feel to the primary actress in this little drama.

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 12:31 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Jul 28 2006, 12:26 PM)
>
> My impression of the poll is that it was to lighten up the whole mood of the 3ABN stuff.
> BTJM

You are correct Sera. With such time on my hands, I think I can hear the golf course calling my name. Talk later.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 12:20 PM)
>
> Hmmm, guess I must have struck a nerve. Watchbird, most believe you, you're ahead in the count.

Yes, you've "struck a nerve". I've been down. I've been in the dust and know what it is to have the passersby kick dust on me rather than to have bound up my wounds. And there are some things in life that I will never ever ever make games about nor laugh about.

And frankly, I don't care about the "count". I'm not here to play games. I'm not here to "make points". I'm here because of a driving burning in my bones that says great injustices are being done in the name of my church and of my God. And everything else has been laid aside to do whatever I can to forward the cause of right and justice.

It's a slow day? Then why not write a few emails that will spread the word a little further?

Let's hasten the day when Linda and Bear and Sister and untold others can all sit down together and laugh together in peace and freedom.

Too heavy?

Heavier than Linda's burden?

Heavier than others who don't even dare speak out about their heavy burden?

Sorry about that.

Back to your regular programing as the saying goes ... ☒ TVsnack.

Posted by: simplysaved Jul 28 2006, 12:47 PM

Whoo-hoo!!!! ☒ ☒ ☒ ☒ rofl (almost in tears)....but it is the million dollar question.... ☒ ☒ rofl ☐ Okay, "I'm Done"!!

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 11:58 AM) ☐
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon. ☐

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 28 2006, 12:05 PM) ☐
>
> we can tell..... ☒ rofl

Posted by: Nuggie Jul 28 2006, 01:21 PM

This is my favorite 3ABN thread... ☒ ☒

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 11:58 AM) ☐
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon. ☐

Glad I'm not the only one that's feeling slow today... ☐ ...and this rain isn't helping me feel perky at all...

Posted by: inga Jul 28 2006, 02:05 PM

When I saw this "poll" among the subject lines -- before I read what 'watchbird' had to say, I was quite startled. I consider this in extremely poor taste at best. And, no matter how we view the poll, it serves to trivialize a serious and tragic situation.

IMO, it was an error in judgment to put up this poll -- the kind of thing that can happen on a slow Friday afternoon.

Posted by: Nuggie Jul 28 2006, 02:51 PM

I've kept up with most of the 3ABN threads and there's been a whole lot of jokes and sarcastic comments made about most of the characters in this saga...I'm just wondering why this particular thread (which is obviously lighthearted) is so much worse than all the other humor that's all throughout the other threads... Sometimes laughter helps cut the tension, no?

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jul 28 2006, 02:51 PM) ☐
>
> I've kept up with most of the 3ABN threads and there's been a whole lot of jokes and sarcastic comments made about most of the characters in this saga...I'm just wondering why this particular thread (which is obviously lighthearted) is so much worse than all the other humor that's all throughout the other threads... Sometimes laughter helps cut the tension, no?

You are correct, and I too have appreciated the "humor breaks" that came now and then. What set me off on this particular thing was not the humor--we had had that in what we had already been discussing--but the idea of a "poll", with it's implications (though I'm sure that wasn't really what Calvin intended), that things of right and wrong could be decided by "vote".

And while I'm in "true confession mode" I might as well go on to confess I was pretty teed off (especially in view of the fact that speculation had been set "out of bounds" for posting) to see that in this "poll" the "speculation" that was errant, and was admitted to be so by the original poster, was treated on the same level as the reporting and analysing that others were doing.

And then there was the basic facts of how this act had been twisted into an assasination weapon and used repeatedly on Linda by one entity or another for the last two years. That's a heck of a lot of punishment for an unwise choice of "practical joke" playing. It just suddenly all got to me--that's all. It has been anything but a "slow day" here.

But it's OK. I've had my little blowup. blc sorry.

I'm all back together now. angel.gi

Carry on.

Posted by: missthg Jul 28 2006, 04:56 PM

ya need to just have a good laugh...it won't killl ya

[

quote name='watchbird' date='Jul 28 2006, 02:41 PM' post='142248']
You are correct, and I too have appreciated the "humor breaks" that came now and then. What set me off on this particular thing was not the humor--we had had that in what we had already been discussing--but the idea of a "poll", with it's implications (though I'm sure that wasn't really what Calvin intended), that things of right and wrong could be decided by "vote".

And while I'm in "true confession mode" I might as well go on to confess I was pretty teed off (especially in view of the fact that speculation had been set "out of bounds" for posting) to see that in this "poll" the "speculation" that was errant, and was admitted to be so by the original poster, was treated on the same level as the reporting and analysing that others were doing.

And then there was the basic facts of how this act had been twisted into an assasination weapon and used repeatedly on Linda by one entity or another for the last two years. That's a heck of a lot of punishment for an unwise choice of "practical joke" playing. It just suddenly all got to me--that's all. It has been anything but a "slow day" here.

But it's OK. I've had my little blowup. blc sorry.

I'm all back together now. angel.gi

Carry on.
[/quote]

Posted by: Clay Jul 28 2006, 05:39 PM

innocent poll nothing malicious..... Linda with her sense of humor bought something to yank Danny's chain.... it didn't quite work... that's life.... not every prank goes as planned....

as for this thread, yeah some are reading wayyyyy too much into it.... if you don't agree with the premise, maybe this is a thread that's not for you....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 28 2006, 05:56 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jul 28 2006, 03:51 PM)
>
> I've kept up with most of the 3ABN threads and there's been a whole lot of jokes and sarcastic comments made about most of the characters in this saga...I'm just wondering why this particular thread (which is obviously lighthearted) is so much worse than all the other humor that's all throughout the other threads... Sometimes laughter helps cut the tension, no?

I joke. I also can be serious.

Even when it is at my expense..... ("I'm pretty much in hell fryin' as I type for eating meat per particular folks on the berd....")

Now....what makes the jokes in the threads different from a topic on one?

NO difference..... What's sad - is that if Linda came here she most likely would actually laugh - knowing and understanding ain't no body really talking about her........

Posted by: Clay Jul 28 2006, 06:05 PM

I forgot to add one thing.... here at bsda we question and/or dissect everything.... if you notice there are NO sacred cows.... none... not even the 3abn saga.... we have been empathetic.... we have discussed it when no other board would openly touch it.... and we understand that injustice was done... however, that does not and will not keep us from looking at it from a humorous viewpoint....that's the way we roll......

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 06:18 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 28 2006, 06:05 PM)
>
> I forgot to add one thing.... here at bsda we question and/or dissect everything.... if you notice there are NO sacred cows.... none... not even the 3abn saga.... we have been empathetic.... we have discussed it when no other board would openly touch it.... and we understand that injustice was done... however, that does not and will not keep us from looking at it from a humorous viewpoint....that's the way we roll......

Y'all done goooood! Love ya ever one. As I said--I'm OK now. Still a little frazzled. It's been a lonnnnng week. And by Friday I'm runnin' on a pretty short chain. Gimme a day and I'll be back with laughin' gang.

Thank God for Sabbath!

Posted by: September Jul 28 2006, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 12:58 PM)
>
> Hey, it's a slow day at work on a Friday afternoon.

I'm sorry but that poll is in very bad taste and not funny at all. How can people who claim to be Christians and who expect behavior that is honest and forthright from Danny, stoop this low? This is nothing more than tabeloid gossip and it is wrong.

You are asking churches and pastors to come to this website to find the truth about 3ABN and then you post this poll--how is that going to aid credibility? It won't. I'll tell you, it looks more like folks having a heyday with nothing but gossip instead of honest Christians rallying around those that Danny has hurt and seriously calling for truth and restoration.

I have come to BSDA to aid in my search for the truth and for vindication for Linda. I have done my part to spread the letters of Dr. A to prominant people--this is a serious matter and one that should not be taken lightly.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 28 2006, 09:25 PM

> QUOTE(September @ Jul 28 2006, 11:15 PM)
>
> I'm sorry but that poll is in very bad taste and not funny at all. How can people who claim to be Christians and who expect behavior that is honest and forthright from Danny, stoop this low? This is nothing more than tabeloid gossip and it is wrong.
>
> You are asking churches and pastors to come to this website to find the truth about 3ABN and then you post this poll--how is that going to aid credibility? It won't. I'll tell you, it looks more like folks having a heyday with nothing but gossip instead of honest Christians rallying around those that Danny has hurt and seriously calling for truth and restoration.
>
> I have come to BSDA to aid in my search for the truth and for vindication for Linda. I have done my part to spread the letters of Dr. A to prominant people--this is a serious matter and one that should not be taken lightly.

...and you can honestly say in your heart of hearts that you have never made a joke to lighten a mood?

If you have not - then you are not human.

Yes I said it.

Whut?

Serious.

Go read all of the threads....there are "jokes" peppered throughout..... no different. And if you didn't go through each of those threads...and "rant" on each of those jokes then just let it go....

It ain't that deep.

Ain't no body said no body was "going to hell"....
Ain't no body said that Danny was "selling children on the black market"....
Ain't no body calling Linda the new "madam" of 3ABN....

I repeat....it ain't that deep. Then again - maybe I understand that sometimes jokes are made to make an uncomfortable subject more comfortable by the tone of "lightening the mood"....

Sorry...

Maybe I'm the only one that understands this concept.......

Posted by: September Jul 28 2006, 09:38 PM

> QUOTE
> ...and you can honestly say in your heart of hearts that you have never made a joke to lighten a mood?

I can honestly say from my heart of hearts that I have never joked about this whole 3ABN, Danny/Linda saga. Nothing about it is funny. If I want to lighten the mood I find something else to laugh about.

I have been the victim of spiritual abuse--over and over again and if anyone was making jokes or making light of my circumstances that would hurt me deeply. Knowing that, I treat others how I would want to be treated. If I were Linda and I came here and read that poll--as well as some of the other 'jokes' interspersed throughout these threads, I would be hurt. You can call me too sensitive or whatever, but that's how I feel in my heart of hearts.

Posted by: missthg Jul 28 2006, 09:39 PM

it aint just you girl....folks is just a little to tense...

sounds like this town needs an enema!

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 28 2006, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 28 2006, 08:25 PM)

> ...and you can honestly say in your heart of hearts that you have never made a joke to lighten a mood?
>
> If you have not - then you are not human.
>
> Yes I said it.
>
> Whut?
>
> Serious.
>
> Go read all of the threads....there are "jokes" peppered throughout..... no different. And if you didn't go through each of those threads...and "rant" on each of those jokes then just let it go....
>
> It ain't that deep.
>
> Ain't no body said no body was "going to hell"....
> Ain't no body said that Danny was "selling children on the black market"....
> Ain't no body calling Linda the new "madam" of 3ABN....
>
> I repeat....it ain't that deep. Then again - maybe I understand that sometimes jokes are made to make an uncomfortable subject more comfortable by the tone of "lightening the mood"....
>
> Sorry...
>
> Maybe I'm the only one that understands this concept.......

QUOTE(September @ Jul 28 2006, 11:15 PM)

I'm sorry but that poll is in very bad taste and not funny at all. How can people who claim to be Christians and who expect behavior that is honest and forthright from Danny, stoop this low? This is nothing more than tabeloid gossip and it is wrong.

You are asking churches and pastors to come to this website to find the truth about 3ABN and then you post this poll--how is that going to aid credibility? It won't. I'll tell you, it looks more like folks having a heyday with nothing but gossip instead of honest Christians rallying around those that Danny has hurt and seriously calling for truth and restoration.

I have come to BSDA to aid in my search for the truth and for vindication for Linda. I have done my part to spread the letters of Dr. A to prominant people--this is a serious matter and one that should not be taken lightly.

++
Yes, no sacred cows, this is true, and good. I don't think it has to do with being deep or not deep either.

I have felt like saying something, but not sure how to do it without sounding like I can't take a joke. I can take a joke, I appreciate jokes...and yes, they are peppered all through varios threads...I think it's because this thread was started and based on possible theories of why a PT was in the house and that bothers me...not about turtlenecks or hair seeds or toilet brushes! This was something that someone used to make a case on that ruined someones life and ministry. This was a NOTHING thing used to make SOMETHING worth lieing about. And the lies and spin have only snow-balled ever since. What a shame.

Maybe I should sit on it a few more days and then wait to post (too late!), but often my first instinct is the best, so I'm going to post anyway.

Maybe it's because I am too close to the situation to see it as a "joke" in it's truest sense?? In any case, it is OMO, but, I think this was in poor taste. I don't see any humor in it. I don't see it as "joke-worthy". There is only one reason why Linda did what she did. It's not something to really be made fun of. She probably shouldn't have done it because she had no idea of the fire she was playing with. Has no one provoked a spouse at any time? Where things ever so bad in your marriage that you have fleeting seconds of "who cares, it's over"? I wouldn't have wanted to be in her shoes then or now - dealing with the entire world sorting through your own personal stuff, trying to tell who made mistakes, tells lies, who is trustworthy and who is right and wrong in hind-sight. When you get the raw and shocking hard treatment of a spouse and so called trusted christian co-workers, because of your husbands lies & greed (& ego), you have to find ways to cope with it on a daily basis as she is now. There are parts of this that people still don't know - that are also part of this senerio, but it's easy to overlook that and make light of a serious part of this. If it was all told, peoples eyes would bug out of their heads. Ok, that was my unasked for 2 cents.

and as my daughter would say to me at this point "HAPPY SABBATH MOM!". In other words, moving right along to what really matters!

Posted by: alramwill Jul 28 2006, 09:57 PM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Jul 28 2006, 10:39 PM)
>
> it aint just you girl....folks is just a little to tense...
>
> sounds like this town needs an enema!

And that would relieve the tenseness....how? Just asking...

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 10:24 PM

> QUOTE(September @ Jul 28 2006, 10:15 PM)
>
> I'm sorry but that poll is in very bad taste and not funny at all. How can people who claim to be Christians and who expect behavior that is honest and forthright from Danny, stoop this low? This is nothing more than tabeloid gossip and it is wrong.
>
> You are asking churches and pastors to come to this website to find the truth about 3ABN and then you post this poll--how is that going to aid credibility? It won't. I'll tell you, it looks more like folks having a heyday with nothing but gossip instead of honest Christians rallying around those that Danny has hurt and seriously calling for truth and restoration.

> I have come to BSDA to aid in my search for the truth and for vindication for Linda. I have done my part to spread the letters of Dr. A to prominant people--this is a serious matter and one that should not be taken lightly.

SDA is first and foremost a discussion board. We are not here to present the truth or a one sided nything. BSDA is not the Linda Shelton love center. Everyone must read for themselves and etermine what truth is. All viewpoints are welcome.

am not the least bit concerned about my/BSDA creditability. Our creditability lies in the fact that we ffer frank open discussion for all to view on any issue surrounding the Adventist church.

all put this stupid thing Linda did out here. Now we suppose to walk on egg shells...and the xplanations I am reading for the pregnancy test kit are ridiculous. But hey, that is just my opinion. his poll points out some of the contradictory viewpoints and the craziness of the whole 3ABN saga.

h yeah, we have plenty of fun here. I make no apologies.

Posted by: Nuggie Jul 28 2006, 10:29 PM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Jul 28 2006, 10:39 PM) ☐
>
> it aint just you girl....folks is just a little to tense...
>
> sounds like this town needs an enema!

oohh girl...just had a flashback to those rubber tube pink thingies with the long rubber hose that my randma used to use back in the olden days (like back in the sixties ☒)...

Posted by: alramwill Jul 28 2006, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jul 28 2006, 11:29 PM) ☐
>
> Ooohh girl...just had a flashback to those rubber tube pink thingies with the long rubber hose that my Grandma used to use back in the olden days (like back in the sixties ☒)...

MI!

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 10:49 PM

Now how did we get from pregnancy test to enemas? ☒

Posted by: watchbird Jul 29 2006, 04:51 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 10:49 PM)
>
> Now how did we get from pregnancy test to enemas?

Wasn't it inevitable? Gotta clean out this mess somehow!

happysabl Worship leaders take your places.... band.gif

Posted by: summertime Jul 29 2006, 11:38 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 28 2006, 04:41 PM)
>
> You are correct, and I too have appreciated the "humor breaks" that came now and then. What set me off on this particular thing was not the humor--we had had that in what we had already been discussing--but the idea of a "poll", with it's implications (though I'm sure that wasn't really what Calvin intended), that things of right and wrong could be decided by "vote".
>
> And while I'm in "true confession mode" I might as well go on to confess I was pretty teed off (especially in view of the fact that speculation had been set "out of bounds" for posting) to see that in this "poll" the "speculation" that was errant, and was admitted to be so by the original poster, was treated on the same level as the reporting and analysing that others were doing.
>
> And then there was the basic facts of how this act had been twisted into an assasination weapon and used repeatedly on Linda by one entity or another for the last two years. That's a heck of a lot of punishment for an unwise choice of "practical joke" playing. It just suddenly all got to me--that's all. It has been anything but a "slow day" here.
>
> But it's OK. I've had my little blowup. blc sorry.
>
> I'm all back together now. angel.gi
>
> Carry on.

Even though I have written my opinion of this subject and was wrong, I do think that Walt Thompson has scrapped the bottom of the barrel of decency when he spread this story at all. To do this just to make a point was a disgrace to the Medical profession as a whole. This whole story now should be thrown into the 'personal' file and we should find something to talk about that would be of more benefit to any stranger who might come to this website looking for the truth.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 29 2006, 12:43 PM

> QUOTE(September @ Jul 28 2006, 10:38 PM)
>
> I can honestly say from my heart of hearts that I have never joked about this whole 3ABN, Danny/Linda saga. Nothing about it is funny. If I want to lighten the mood I find something else to laugh about.
>
> I have been the victim of spiritual abuse--over and over again and if anyone was making jokes or making light of my circumstances that would hurt me deeply. Knowing that, I treat others how I would want to be treated. If I were Linda and I came here and read that poll--as well as some of the other 'jokes' interspersed throughout these threads, I would be hurt. You can call me too sensitive or whatever, but that's how I feel in my heart of hearts.

Okay...then September - I'm gonna be blunt.

You are not human. Everyone in the world has laughed at something inappropriate - then maybe later looked back and been like...."OOOoooo"

You haven't heard something during this 3ABN thing and even gave a little giggle?

Like the fact that Danny was using the 3ABN apartment/sleeping quarters like a "HO-tel"?

Wow.....

Since this board should remain so "serious" about even 3ABN - then I say from now on there should be no "tongue in cheek" no "innuendos" no "puns" no "double talk" no "left off ideas...." nothing but strict factual information from here to eternity. Also - since you can say in your heart of hearts that you never have joked at all about this 3 ABN saga - that although it is "not funny" it is hilarious in a way then maybe this board is not for you.

Humans laugh when things are tense to relax.
Humans laugh when things are deep to calm down.
Humans have jokes at funerals (the epitome of sadness) to lighten the mood.

....but we are to act different here.

I learn something new everyday.
BTW: you are speaking to a victim of sexual assault who can even find something funny in the whole mess of my mess....

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 11:24 PM)

> BSDA is first and foremost a discussion board. We are not here to present the truth or a one sided anything. BSDA is not the Linda Shelton love center. Everyone must read for themselves and determine what truth is. All viewpoints are welcome.
>
> I am not the least bit concerned about my/BSDA creditability. Our creditability lies in the fact that we offer frank open discussion for all to view on any issue surrounding the Adventist church.
>
> Yall put this stupid thing Linda did out here. Now we suppose to walk on egg shells... and the explanations I am reading for the pregnancy test kit are ridiculous. But hey, that is just my opinion. This poll points out some of the contradictory viewpoints and the craziness of the whole 3ABN saga.
>
> Oh yeah, we have plenty of fun here. I make no apologies.

...and if anyone doesn't see that the entire 3ABN Saga is not only sad, but ridiculous, and slightly wisted - then you are only looking for what you want to see. Some of the stuff that has been put out here would be "laughed at and funny" if it was in a movie - what makes it not "laughable" here....

h yeah....it's "close to home"..... the "acts" themselves may not be funny...but the explanations hat are being given are hilarious and quite certifiable IMPO - (in my "professional opinion").

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 29 2006, 12:38 PM)
>
> Even though I have written my opinion of this subject and was wrong, I do think that Walt Thompson has scrapped the bottom of the barrel of decency when he spread this story at all. To do this just to make a point was a disgrace to the Medical profession as a whole. This whole story now should be thrown into the 'personal' file and we should find something to talk about that would be of more benefit to any stranger who might come to this website looking for the truth.

e put it out there..... so sadly it will be used.

ow.

hat makes this poll so bad...because it's crass...because it is not "humorous"....

ow about it's bad because it's actual reasons that folks have said?

ow about it's more truth than some folks want to see within the entire "Days of 3ABN" Saga?

h...that's right...I keep forgetting...... he "truth", no jokes, no light-heartedness, no smiles, stay stiff, never laugh, die.

orry.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 29 2006, 12:54 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 29 2006, 11:38 AM)
>
> Even though I have written my opinion of this subject and was wrong, I do think that Walt Thompson has scrapped the bottom of the barrel of decency when he spread this story at all. To do this just to make a point was a disgrace to the Medical profession as a whole. This whole story now should be thrown into the 'personal' file and we should find something to talk about that would be of > more benefit to any stranger who might come to this website looking for the truth.

Vell....... what else could Walt do? When the "spiritual adultery" charge was shown to be a mess)f hokum so he had to drop that, and all he had to cling to was Danny's affirmation that he had proof", and that "proof" turned out to be a receipt for an unused pg test......what else could he do but o pass along the "Word of of the Lord as spoken through the mouth of Dan" (See Genesis 49:17) to he inquirers who came looking for information? ☒ se he problem with throwing the whole story into the "personal" file is that since this is "Exhibit A" as resented by the "prosecution", it must, therefore, be kept on display by the "defense"........ (along vith the records of its cross examinations, psychological analyses by teams of "expert witnesses", popular opinion" polls, and audience reactions).

ut as far as this being the "bottom of the barrel of decency".....don't get your hopes up that high. emember that iceberg that Sister told us about? Not enough of the "tip of the iceberg" has been hipped away yet for us to be able to see the part still hidden below the surface. Or to put it back into he "metaphor of the day"........the "bottom of the barrel" has not yet been reached.

tay tuned ...

☒ pe ☒ TVsnack.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 29 2006, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 29 2006, 12:43 PM) ☐
>
> . . . . Wow.....
>
> Since this board should remain so "serious" about even 3ABN - then I say from now on there should be no "tongue in cheek" no "innuendos" no "puns" no "double talk" no "left off ideas...." nothing but strict factual information from here to eternity.

I can see plainly you have picked up someone else's script! This ain't you .... c'mon on now. et back in character .... however will us old fuddie-duddies pick up our "laugh now" clues if you ren't giving us our cues? ☒ 2n ☒ b ☒

> QUOTE
>
> ....and if anyone doesn't see that the entire 3ABN Saga is not only sad, but ridiculous, and slightly twisted - then you are only looking for what you want to see. Some of the stuff that has been put out there would be "laughed at and funny" if it was in a movie - what makes it not "laughable" here....

You got it right there. Made into a movie or TV serial it could make someone millions. But admit it, it's easier to laugh in a movie cause you know it's only pretend, and you know the actors will get up and go home to their respective domiciles at the end of the day.... even if lying in their coffins on the set. It's this living in "the middle of the book" where "the truth is stranger than fiction" that wears us down after a while.

> QUOTE
>
> Oh yeah....it's "close to home"..... the "acts" themselves may not be funny...but the explanations that are being given are hilarious and quite certifiable IMPO - (in my "professional opinion").
> He put it out there..... so sadly it will be used.
>
> Now.
>
> What makes this poll so bad...because it's crass...because it is not "humorous"....
>
> How about it's bad because it's actual reasons that folks have said?
>
> How about it's more truth than some folks want to see within the entire "Days of 3ABN" Saga?
>
> Oh...that's right...I keep forgetting......
> The "truth", no jokes, no light-heartedness, no smiles, stay stiff, never laugh, die.
>
> Sorry.

Good points, but frankly, you are much more believable in your "clown" role..... but .... gotta admit ... you put on a pretty good act here too. Take a bow or two. than

---

Posted by: Fran Jul 29 2006, 08:50 PM

Well, what about the Sheltie. Neighbor dogs are such scoundrals, for sure! rofl It could have been for the dog!

We all know how they eat the homework! Sounds logical to me. happybda

---

Posted by: calvin Jul 29 2006, 09:11 PM

Now, no one has mentioned this, but with the Shelton's having a jet plane and stable of horses, I am sure they had a butler. Everyone knows the butler did it.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 29 2006, 10:35 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 29 2006, 02:17 PM)
>
> .....Good points, but frankly, you are much more believable in your "clown" role..... but .... gotta > admit ... you put on a pretty good act here too. Take a bow or two. than

Even the clown is "serious" when the makeup is removed....

Everyone - back to your serious side. After all - this 3ABN stuff is serious. There is nothing laughable about it at all....

Where I'm sure that Linda has cried - I bet she has laughed at some of this stuff because it is so stupid.... - but of course....

The WERLD SHOULD BE STRAIGHTFACED!

s this better?

Posted by: summertime Jul 29 2006, 10:56 PM

, maybe I am wrong--where is my sense of humor? I guess that I just don't want anymore innocent people hurt--And those long hosed enemas did hurt---In my early days if you got a cold, you got an enema. "ALways start from the bottom up," was the creed of the day. Today they have a fancy name--colon cleansing, and probably that is good. Maybe Danny could try it for perfecting the ridiculous. (I think that I had better go to bed)---or maybe the butler did do it. I am waiting to see more of the tip of the iceberg.---Might not be so funny.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 29 2006, 11:38 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 29 2006, 09:11 PM)
>
> Now, no one has mentioned this, but with the Shelton's having a jet plane and stable of horses, I am sure they had a butler. Everyone knows the butler did it.

No butlers in "self-sacrificing" self-supporting "ministries". It's the lower eschelons of "worker bees" hat do the work for the "top layers" ... even stuff like building a barn for the owner's horses, for example. Don't know about grooming them and cleaning out the stables. Maybe someone who actually worked there can fill us in on these details. Also don't know what other "personal services" those workers" were called upon to fill....those details are buried down in the "iceberg" somewhere.....

Posted by: alramwill Jul 29 2006, 11:42 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 29 2006, 10:11 PM)
>
> Now, no one has mentioned this, but with the Shelton's having a jet plane and stable of horses, I > am sure they had a butler. Everyone knows the butler did it.

f the butler was black, the blame's definitely getting put in their lap.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 29 2006, 11:49 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 29 2006, 10:35 PM)
>
> Even the clown is "serious" when the makeup is removed....

nd even while still wearing it. I still recall my Daddy quoting poetry to me when I was but a child. ne of his favorites began ...

The royal feast was done; the King ought some new sport to banish care, nd to his jester cried: "Sir Fool, neel now, and make for us a prayer!"

he jester doffed his cap and bells, nd stood the mocking court before;
hey could not see the bitter smile
ehind the painted grin he wore.....

> QUOTE
>
> Everyone - back to your serious side. After all - this 3ABN stuff is serious. There is nothing laughable about it at all....
>
> Where I'm sure that Linda has cried - I bet she has laughed at some of this stuff because it is so stupid.... - but of course....
>
> The WERLD SHOULD BE STRAIGHTFACED!
>
> Is this better?

h hey, you're good in any role. but you are still better when you are showing the seriousness of it all hrough your "jester" makeup. (That dialogue in another thread was absolutely priceless. Actually, it as good enough to set a price on it.... if you could just find a buyer.....

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jul 30 2006, 12:13 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Oh hey, you're good in any role. but you are still better when you are showing the seriousness of it all through your "jester" makeup. (That dialogue in another thread was absolutely priceless. Actually, it was good enough to set a price on it.... if you could just find a buyer.

I have 25 do I hear 30? 30 anyone ??

Posted by: nick Jul 30 2006, 02:12 AM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Jul 30 2006, 07:13 AM)
>
> I have 25 do I hear 30? 30 anyone ??

I have 31.50.... please no more bidding i really want it and kinda low on cash

---

Posted by: Nuggie Jul 30 2006, 06:11 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 29 2006, 09:11 PM)
>
> Now, no one has mentioned this, but with the Shelton's having a jet plane and stable of horses, I am sure they had a butler. Everyone knows the butler did it.

> QUOTE(alramwill @ Jul 29 2006, 11:42 PM)
>
> If the butler was black, the blame's definitely getting put in their lap.

Posted by: tall73 Jul 30 2006, 10:18 PM

I think the idea of a poll on this is a good one. I just wonder why there is no option that reads "she bought a pregnancy test because she thought she could be pregnant because of an axtra-marital affair."

Because that is actually the other option to the one presented as her side. And it is somewhat of an important factor how many take one side over the other if we are to evaluate all of this out in the open as is the claim.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 30 2006, 10:59 PM

Tall - I actually agree with you. Toss it all up for interpretation....

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Aug 5 2006, 05:11 AM

This topic says, "Why did Linda buy......"

I thought I had read somewhere that it wasn't even Linda who bought it, and that it wasn't even in Linda's shopping bag, but was rarther in her daughter's shopping bag as she was the one who had bought it.

Posted by: calvin Aug 5 2006, 05:25 AM

Now Daryl if you or someone else had brought this theory up befroe I did the poll, I would have added it. Don't remember reading that one.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 5 2006, 05:32 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Aug 5 2006, 05:11 AM)
>
> This topic says, "Why did Linda buy......"
>
> I thought I had read somewhere that it wasn't even Linda who bought it, and that it wasn't even in Linda's shopping bag, but was rarther in her daughter's shopping bag as she was the one who had bought it.

That was a question raised by someone. No one who brought the story direct from Linda's telling has ever varied as to who bought it, or even whose idea it was to buy it. There was some variance in the stories as to whose room it was "hidden" in. Johann knows the story best, and he says it was put in the closet in her daughter's room, so I consider that to be the accurate one. (And I interpret "her daughter's room" to mean the one still called that, even though it had been several years since her daughter had actually lived there.)

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 5 2006, 05:25 AM)
>
> Now Daryl if you or someone else had brought this theory up befroe I did the poll, I would have added it. Don't remember reading that one.

I think it was one that was raised after you did what you did.

Posted by: lurker Aug 5 2006, 06:14 AM

Here are the two posts by Johann which said that the test was in Alyssa's bag in her room. The first is from the Maritime forum and starts with a question from the Thompson letter.

Is it right for a married woman to purchase a pregnancy test kit when she knows her husband is sterilized?

Post 1.[Johann Thorvaldsson] This statement is ridiculous. Danny went into another woman's room, where he had no business, searching through a shopping bag where he found this pregnancy test. Looks like he needed so badly some evidence against Linda that he got a pregnancy test that he found in another woman's quarter, and then proclaimed to the whole world that now he had the proof!

Post 2.Well, as far as I recall I knew about this pregnancy test even before before Danny discovered it. Linda and Alyssa were talking about how they could catch Danny in all of his snooping around searching everywhere for his "proofs" of what wasn't there. They were joking and laughing at his strange behavior. This is when they discovered the pregnancy tests, and they laughed about it, and even sent the waves of their laughing to us, her best friends in Scandinavia.

According to Linda, Danny would usually start checking things already in the car, but even though they left the bag in the car for a while this time, Danny wasn't there to snoop. So they carried the bag into Alyssa's room. And this is where Danny took the bag. This is why I said he'd gone into another woman's room to get his "proof", because that is what happened. And you can be certain Alyssa will verify all of this, if needed.

Well, as far as I recall I knew about this pregnancy test even before before Danny discovered it. Linda and Alyssa were talking about how they could catch Danny in all of his snooping around searching everywhere for his "proofs" of what wasn't there. They were joking and laughing at his strange behavior. This is when they discovered the pregnancy tests, and they laughed about it, and even sent the waves of their laughing to us, her best friends in Scandinavia.

According to Linda, Danny would usually start checking things already in the car, but even though they left the bag in the car for a while this time, Danny wasn't there to snoop. So they carried the bag into Alyssa's room. And this is where Danny took the bag. This is why I said he'd gone into another woman's room to get his "proof", because that is what happened. And you can be certain Alyssa will verify all of this, if needed.

My comment:I do believe that someone said that Linda's name was on the receipt which is why I indicated that although it was bought as a joke and to catch Danny snooping, because it was in Alyssa's bag it would have appeared to a normal person that Linda had bought it for Alyssa or that Alyssa could have bought it and borrowed the money from her mom. In other words, it appeared to be Alyssa's not Linda's. As it was in Alyssa's bag in her room, I did not believe that anything would indicate to me that it was Linda's nor did anything indicate that it was bought for her use. To me, it is non evidence of the most laughable kind.

Posted by: Observer Aug 5 2006, 07:08 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 30 2006, 09:59 PM)
>
> Tall - I actually agree with you. Toss it all up for interpretation....

Daryl, when this first surfaced several people did make comments that the test was purchased either by or for another woman. As the discussion developed it became the consensus that Linda did purchase it.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 5 2006, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Aug 5 2006, 07:08 AM)
>
> Daryl, when this first surfaced several people did make comments that the test was purchased either by or for another woman. As the discussion developed it became the consensus that Linda did purchase it.

There is quite a difference between discussing whether or not Linda purchased it and if she did whom she purchased it for .... and discussing what an objective observer would conclude from seeing that there was one purchased.

One would be judging the honesty of either Linda or of those who reported the story...or analyzing or speculating on her "real" motives and/or her wisdom (or lack thereof) in doing it.

The other would be based on Danny's interpretation and use of what he found---and comparing his reaction with that which might be made by an objective observer.

Unfortunately, these were all so intermingled that it was not always easy to tell who was doing which. That was one complaint that I had on the poll --- it did not distinguish between the many types of discussions that had been going on in the other thread.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 5 2006, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Aug 5 2006, 08:08 AM)
>
> Daryl, when this first surfaced several people did make comments that the test was purchased either by or for another woman. As the discussion developed it became the consensus that Linda did purchase it.

So even with this...Linda could have purchased the test...but for someone else.....

Then again - no one discusses the "other" options.....just the one they want to see.

Posted by: Fstpicker Aug 5 2006, 01:23 PM

In reading all this about the so-called pregnancy test, has anyone considered why this pregnancy test would have been attributed to be intended for Linda's use? If she is about Danny's age, or even close to it, wouldn't she be past the normal age of pregnancy anyway? Why has she been accused of buying it for herself anyway? How wierd is that?! Doesn't this strike any of you as being totally absurd?

This whole thing seems worse than a soap opera. Worse, because it is real life and not just pretend. Worse, because many people have been hurt by all this, and it isn't over with apparently, either.

My heart goes out to Linda and what she has gone through in all of this, as well as many of the others who either worked for 3ABN, or were some how associated with the organization. She has been a good portion of what I see on the show as a "shining light", and a positive ambassador for the 3ABN organization overall IMO. That light has been thrown out in a manner of which, at the very least, has left a quest mark in the minds of many. She made 3ABN the positive TV show that it was whenever she was on the set with her genuine smile and warm personality, and her Christ-like spirit.

God help us, is all I can say.

Fstpicker

Posted by: Treniece Jan 27 2007, 03:36 PM

In my judgment of things, planting a pregnancy test was and unwise move by Linda and her daughter.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 27 2007, 04:14 PM

...if anything - it gave Danny more ammo....but my whole thought on the matter is that if she was preggers - it would be visible to all (unless aborted).

Danny and other "sins" can be hidden.....

JMO

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 30 2007, 02:16 AM

I did not find a good answer in the poll, so I cannot vote. I would be obliged to say, "NONE OF THE ABOVE." I think, when the truth eventually comes out (if it ever does due to the sensitivity of the situation) some people may be in for a real surprise on this one.

Posted by: wwjd Jan 30 2007, 12:29 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 5 2006, 05:32 AM) ☐
>
> That was a question raised by someone. No one who brought the story direct from Linda's telling has ever varied as to who bought it, or even whose idea it was to buy it. There was some variance in the stories as to whose room it was "hidden" in. Johann knows the story best, and he says it was put in the closet in her daughter's room, so I consider that to be the accurate one. (And I interpret "her daughter's room" to mean the one still called that, even though it had been several years since her daughter had actually lived there.)
> I think it was one that was raised after you did what you did.

Unless Johann was there he only knows the story by second hand information...Linda's

---

Posted by: Clay Jan 30 2007, 12:33 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 30 2007, 12:29 PM) ☐

> Unless Johann was there he only knows the story by second hand information...Linda's jet thee behind us.......

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 30 2007, 01:13 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 30 2007, 01:29 PM)
>
> Unless Johann was there he only knows the story by second hand information...Linda's ieeing that you werent there, by whose hand are you getting your information?

'ro 6:16-19 These six things doth the LORD hate: yea, seven are an abomination unto him: (17) A)roud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, (18) A heart that deviseth wicked maginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, (19) A false witness that speaketh lies, and he hat soweth discord among brethren.

3ut you already knew this, didn't you, JL... or KS (both of you have replied as this name) ...not that it natters to you; you are only concerned with rehearsing the matter so you can go before your ;anhedrin and say 'we verily have heard...' knowing that you just made it up.

'he last song the character of Judas sings in Jesus Christ, Superstar is titled " Blood Money/Damned or all time"

5o keep on doing what Judas would do... but sooner or later, you will have to give an accounting to 3od... right before you are cast into the outer darkness... where there will be wailing and gnashing of eeth...

)amned for all time.

n His service,
4r. J

Posted by: Johann Jan 30 2007, 01:56 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 30 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> Unless Johann was there he only knows the story by second hand information...Linda's

)on't forget that there were three persons in on this, all equally "guilty" and equal "eye witnesses!! So here are other sources of information than Linda. Remember the Biblical call for two witnesses? You ire still reading your Bible, aren't you?

3y the way, wwjd, how is it going with the project under the name of "Behold the Lord" - or something like that? Do you feel this was just what Jesus would have done?

Posted by: justme Jan 30 2007, 07:02 PM

If my memory serves me correctly, the Pregnancy Test Kit (PTK) was "found" in Linda's car. I don't remember ever hearing that she has a receipt for it.

Knowing of Danny's "upcoming plans" for Linda, it's logical to surmise that he planted it himself, OR, that it was "planted" by one of his "loyalists" many of whom would be thrilled to have an opportunity to "plant something on Linda" to gain favor with Danny. It happened many times before, by Brenda, by Shellie, by Mollie.

OR, .. if she did buy it, perhaps it was for one of her friends, as a favor for that friend, to help to avoid possible embarrassment, maybe even for Melody, since she was apparently "with child" between husbands. One problem with this one is that Melody would not even speak to Linda, let alone look at her.

Knowing that Danny was about to "give her the boot" would Linda want to know if she WAS carrying a child by Danny?

Posted by: Uncle Sam Jan 30 2007, 07:32 PM

It is common knowledge that Danny didn't like Nathan but how was Linda's relationship with Melody?

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 04:38 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Jan 30 2007, 07:02 PM) ☐
>
> If my memory serves me correctly, the Pregnancy Test Kit (PTK) was "found" in Linda's car. I don't remember ever hearing that she has a receipt for it.
>
> Knowing of Danny's "upcoming plans" for Linda, it's logical to surmise that he planted it himself, OR, that it was "planted" by one of his "loyalists" many of whom would be thrilled to have an opportunity to "plant something on Linda" to gain favor with Danny. It happened many times before, by Brenda, by Shellie, by Mollie.
>
> OR, .. if she did buy it, perhaps it was for one of her friends, as a favor for that friend, to help to avoid possible embarrassment, maybe even for Melody, since she was apparently "with child" between husbands. One problem with this one is that Melody would not even speak to Linda, let alone look at her.
>
> Knowing that Danny was about to "give her the boot" would Linda want to know if she WAS carrying a child by Danny?

The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not.

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 05:18 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 02:38 PM)
>
> The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not.

EW,

I agree the purchase of the PTK was foolish if it was done for a joke.
HOW do you know it was for linda to see if linda was pregnant ?
DID you see linda use it?
HAVE you seen a used PTK or was it unopened?

I think it is fair if your side of this story is correct to say that both linda and danny were making some foolish choices at this point in their marriage.

Erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 1 2007, 05:31 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 1 2007, 04:18 PM)
>
> EW,
>
> I agree the purchase of the PTK was foolish if it was done for a joke.
> HOW do you know it was for linda to see if linda was pregnant ?
> DID you see linda use it?
> HAVE you seen a used PTK or was it unopened?
>
> I think it is fair if your side of this story is correct to say that both linda and danny were making some foolish choices at this point in their marriage.
>
> Erik

Excellent points Erik

Posted by: Johann Feb 1 2007, 06:02 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 2 2007, 12:38 AM)
>
> The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not.

How can you be an "eye witness" unless you were there? Where and how did you see this pt? Did Danny show it to you, or were you there?

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 1 2007, 06:16 PM

> QUOTE
>
> when he had been fixed for years

Did he share that information with you & give you the exact date when he got fixed? Were you there when he had it done? If not then how can you be an eye witness.

Posted by: sister Feb 1 2007, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 05:38 PM)
>
> The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not.

I like the others here would like you to tell how you know it was purchased and brought home for Linda and by Linda? Were you there with Linda shopping that day? Did she tell you she bought it for herself? Were you working undercover as a PI for Danny? Did you come up to Linda in the store and pretend to be taking a survey and asked her if she was purchasing a pregnancy herself, for her own use? Were you wearing a wire? Did you ask her to speak directly into the flower on your jacket lapel? Your explanation should be quite interesting. Everyone is waiting for your answer...

Sister

Posted by: Fran Feb 2 2007, 01:13 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 1 2007, 07:45 PM)
>
> I like the others here would like you to tell how you know it was purchased and brought home for Linda and by Linda? Were you there with Linda shopping that day? Did she tell you she bought it for herself? Were you working undercover as a PI for Danny? Did you come up to Linda in the store and pretend to be taking a survey and asked her if she was purchasing a pregnancy herself, for her own use? Were you wearing a wire? Did you ask her to speak directly into the flower on your jacket lapel? Your explanation should be quite interesting. Everyone is waiting for your answer...
>
> Sister

Sister~ Now, THAT is funny! for real! rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl

---

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 1 2007, 06:45 PM)
>
> I like the others here would like you to tell how you know it was purchased and brought home for Linda and by Linda? Were you there with Linda shopping that day? Did she tell you she bought it for herself? Were you working undercover as a PI for Danny? Did you come up to Linda in the store and pretend to be taking a survey and asked her if she was purchasing a pregnancy herself, for her own use? Were you wearing a wire? Did you ask her to speak directly into the flower on your jacket lapel? Your explanation should be quite interesting. Everyone is waiting for your answer...
>
> Sister

I see your point. Now, let's turn that around. Were you? were you there when she brought it home? Were you with her shopping that day? Were you at their house to see where she put it and Danny's reaction to it? If you answer no to any of these questions then you are getting your info from Linda just the same as you accuse others of getting theirs from Danny. What is the difference?

Posted by: Johann Feb 2 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 11:32 PM)
>
> I see your point. Now, let's turn that around. Were you? were you there when she brought it home? Were you with her shopping that day? Were you at their house to see where she put it and Danny's reaction to it? If you answer no to any of these questions then you are getting your info > from Linda just the same as you accuse others of getting theirs from Danny. What is the difference?

'ou did not read my post above - or you conveniently ignored it. Linda was not alone when this ıappened. There were other witnesses. Did you ask Alyssa to give you her version - testimony - since 'ou were not there?

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 2 2007, 05:18 PM

So EW, if I understand your posts above correctly, you are stating your belief/opinion that the purchase of the kit was nothing more than a joke to hurt DS? If so, what is the whole point of this kit even being an issue worthy of any ongoing discussion?

nw

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 05:48 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Feb 1 2007, 06:16 PM)
>
> Did he share that information with you & give you the exact date when he got fixed? Were you there when he had it done? If not then how can you be an eye witness.

Jgh...

Io offense, but I'd really rather not know the answer to that one.

Posted by: sister Feb 2 2007, 06:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 04:32 PM)
>
> I see your point. Now, let's turn that around. Were you? were you there when she brought it home? Were you with her shopping that day? Were you at their house to see where she put it and Danny's reaction to it? If you answer no to any of these questions then you are getting your info from Linda just the same as you accuse others of getting theirs from Danny. What is the difference?

3ystander, had you read through this entire thread you will find that I have made no statements egarding the above situation. I approached Eye Witness as a "seeker of truth", asking questions and jiving him the opportunity to enlighten me in regard to the claims he has made, which I have bolded, n his post that follows:

'The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she vas caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ...., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for ıll those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair vith the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was ›laced where it was and how it was. Believe it or not."

Of course there is another possibility that I did not list... Perhaps Eye Witness is Linda! rofl

According to Eye Witness: "Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was." This statement clearly implies that Linda bought the pregnancy test for no other reason than to hurt Danny. To extrapolate further, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, since Linda had sex with her husband, who had had a vasectomy, than she would not need to purchase a pregnancy test, other than to hurt Danny. Therefore one must logically conclude, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, Linda had not participated in a sexual affair with another man.

Sister

Posted by: inga Feb 2 2007, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 2 2007, 07:44 PM)
>
> According to Eye Witness: "Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was." This statement clearly implies that Linda bought the pregnancy test for no other reason than to hurt Danny. To extrapolate further, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, since Linda had sex with her husband, who had had a vasectomy, than she would not need to purchase a pregnancy test, other than to hurt Danny. Therefore one must logically conclude, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, Linda had not participated in a sexual affair with another man.

Yup, that's what Eye Witness said.

And since Eye Witness is an eye witness, it corroborates Linda's steadfast testimony: Linda did not have an affair with someone other than her husband.

Maybe this is the beginning of Eye Witness's truth-telling?

Carry on, Eye Witness ... sn

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 05:31 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 2 2007, 06:44 PM)
>
> "The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not."
>
> Sister

I would of never dreamed that the Linda on TV would have done such a thing as a joke. My word, these tidbits that are passed around on here are just awful. A JOKE? Thing is, if she wanted this other man why didn't she just leave Danny?
So many open holes and so many opinions who can make heads or tails of this mess. One minute I want to think one thing and then another minute something else. I don't know how anyone is suppose to get truth here.

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 06:22 PM

Glenetta, you are trying to make us believe you just happened to stumble in here as some poor innocent trying to make up your mind about the allegations about 3ABN. You gave yourself away early in the game that you came with a specific agenda to make anyone who does not side with Danny look ridiculous.

You quote Bystander, as though Sister wrote it, when Sister was actually critiquing his post. In other words, you are clearly here only to confuse and to destroy credibility.

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:31 PM)
>
> I would of never dreamed that the Linda on TV would have done such a thing as a joke. My word, these tidbits that are passed around on here are just awful. A JOKE? Thing is, if she wanted this other man why didn't she just leave Danny?

You are insinuating that Linda wanted to leave Danny. What evidence do you have that Linda wanted to leave Danny? Come out with it!!

> QUOTE
>
> So many open holes and so many opinions who can make heads or tails of this mess. One minute I want to think one thing and then another minute something else. I don't know how anyone is suppose to get truth here.

That's exactly what you are trying to prevent, isn't it -- that anyone will get the truth here!

Contrary to your expectations, a lot of folks who come here can see through tactics such as those exhibited by you, Bystander, WWJD, Eye Witness, and others with the same agenda. They use the brains God gave them.

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 06:35 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 2 2007, 07:44 PM)
>
> Bystander, had you read through this entire thread you will find that I have made no statements regarding the above situation. I approached Eye Witness as a "seeker of truth", asking questions and giving him the opportunity to enlighten me in regard to the claims he has made, which I have bolded, in his post that follows:
>
> *"The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it > was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not."

>
> Of course there is another possibility that I did not list... Perhaps Eye Witness is Linda!
>
> rofl
>
> According to Eye Witness: "Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was." This statement clearly implies that Linda bought the pregnancy test for no other reason than to hurt Danny. To extrapolate further, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, since Linda had sex with her husband, who had had a vasectomy, than she would not need to purchase a pregnancy test, other than to hurt Danny. Therefore one must logically conclude, based upon the testimony of Eye Witness, Linda had not participated in a sexual affair with another man.
>
> Sister

bove is the entire quote of what I posted.

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:31 PM) ☐
>
> I would of never dreamed that the Linda on TV would have done such a thing as a joke. My word, these tidbits that are passed around on here are just awful. A JOKE? Thing is, if she wanted this other man why didn't she just leave Danny?
> So many open holes and so many opinions who can make heads or tails of this mess. One minute I want to think one thing and then another minute something else. I don't know how anyone is suppose to get truth here.

believe the way Glenetta quoted me gave an impression different from what I had stated.

inda was faithful to her husband, loved him and was not looking for another man. Unfortunately the ame could not be said for Danny.

ister

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 07:07 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 06:35 PM) ☐
>
> Above is the entire quote of what I posted.
> I believe the way Glenetta quoted me gave an impression different from what I had stated.
>
> Linda was faithful to her husband, loved him and was not looking for another man. Unfortunately the same could not be said for Danny.
>
> Sister

ister are you following me around the place. Why put words into Johann's mouth. He said that they had dates and that he was there!!!! So if anyone would know anything it would not be "you" it would be Johann.

You are not only ofl you are because you were not there so I should not listen to what you think. Can't you find someone else to try to convience your opinion.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 07:07 PM)
>
> Sister are you following me around the place. Why put words into Johann's mouth. He said that they had dates and that he was there!!!! So if anyone would know anything it would not be "you" it would be Johann.
>
> You are not only ofl you are because you were not there so I should not listen to what you think. Can't you find someone else to try to convience your opinion.

funny.... I got the impression that you were doing that very thing.... but since you are new here and already have all the truth, perhaps you should share with us why Danny didn't fight for his marriage but chose to use the idea of spiritual adultery to get a quick divorce in Guam......

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 07:38 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 08:07 PM)
>
> Sister are you following me around the place. Why put words into Johann's mouth. He said that they had dates and that he was there!!!! So if anyone would know anything it would not be "you" it would be Johann.
>
> You are not only ofl you are because you were not there so I should not listen to what you think. Can't you find someone else to try to convience your opinion.

Glenetta, I do not have to follow you around, you just keep showing up with the same deceitful statements on different threads. Johann never said that Linda and the Doctor had dates. YOU are the one who continues to misquote him. That is not my opinion, it is a fact. Others have already re-read the post you are referring to and only you appear to see something there that no one else sees. In fact, Inga made the following statement in regard to your allegations:

> QUOTE
>
> "That Johann said they had dates is a blatant lie. It must take a lot of practice to lie so boldly."

And in that same thread on Corporate "worship" at 3ABN Johann has answered your allegations as follows:

> QUOTE
>
> What dates are you talking about? Sure, the three of us had meetings to discuss what to do about Danny's official lies about us. All three of us were in the same boat - made by Danny Shelton. My wife, Irmgard, had also been involved, but she was too sick to travel.
>
> Those pictures were taken by Danny's Private Investigators when we came to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting in 2004. By using the right kind of a telephoto lens they avoided getting me into the picture. That is easy for an expensive Private Investigator.
>
> According to Pastor John Lomacang Danny had already made up his mind he wanted to get rid of Linda before we got into the picture. Danny was only waiting for an opportunity where he could make it look like he had biblical grounds for a divorce, and it appeared to him that he could use Dr. Arild Abrahamsen as his scapegoat.
>
> I do not understand how you get the impression from what I said that the doctor and Linda were at fault? Danny made it appear like they were at falt by issuing false statements.
>
> Danny got so angry at me for refusing to help him verify this false accusation, that he had Dr. Walt Thompson fire me from my employment at 3ABN.

So, enough of this nonsense, Glenetta.

Sister

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 10:35 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 06:35 PM)
>
> Above is the entire quote of what I posted.
> I believe the way Glenetta quoted me gave an impression different from what I had stated.
>
> Linda was faithful to her husband, loved him and was not looking for another man. Unfortunately the same could not be said for Danny.
>
> Sister

"The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not."

Sister

What I have been saying on this topic is "this is no joke for any husband, boyfriend and I can't believe that Linda Shelton would do such a thing. Why doesn't she/Linda Shelton come on this place and let the truth be known about all this stuff! Why would she let all this be said, and never peep a peep? Is she guilty????????? That is what my mission is to find out. I refuse to think that all these people who have talked to Linda, Mark Finley, John Lamcang, 3ABN board, Danny, friends are all wrong and deceiving us. I can't buy any of that. Now this pregnancy test, again that is no JOKE! And Danny being . . .. .. why would she do such a thing. .. . . . unless well . .. . she had. This does not make sense at all. Does it to you? If it does please tell me how?

Posted by: sister Feb 9 2007, 11:49 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:35 AM) ☐
>
> "The Pregnancy Test Kit was purchased and brought home for Linda by Linda. When she was caught with it she tried to turn it into a joke. What kind of joke for your husband is that.. ....., when he had been fixed for years. Which must of worked because Linda didn't get pregnant for all those years. What kind of joke for your husband when he is question you already about the affair with the Doctor. NO HUMOR there. Linda knew this would hurt Danny and that is why it was placed where it was and how it was. Believe it or not."
>
> Sister
>
> What I have been saying on this topic is "this is no joke for any husband, boyfriend and I can't believe that Linda Shelton would do such a thing. Why doesn't she/Linda Shelton come on this place and let the truth be known about all this stuff! Why would she let all this be said, and never peep a peep? Is she guilty????????? That is what my mission is to find out. I refuse to think that all these people who have talked to Linda, Mark Finley, John Lamcang, 3ABN board, Danny, friends are all wrong and deceiving us. I can't buy any of that. Now this pregnancy test, again that is no JOKE! And Danny being . . .. .. why would she do such a thing. .. . . . unless well . .. . she had. This does not make sense at all. Does it to you? If it does please tell me how?

Again, Glenetta has quoted me out of context in order to give the impression that I made the above statement. The above statement was made by Bystander, not myself, I was merely quoting it. This was obviously posted in this manner to deceive the reader. Glenetta, you are no seeker of truth if you are using these methods to justify your conslusions.

Sister

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 11:55 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:35 AM) ☐
>
> This does not make sense at all. Does it to you? If it does please tell me how? [/color]

Glenetta, you AGAIN quoted Sister's post in such a way that makes it appear that SHE was saying what she was critiquing. Either you are not purposely misquoting/lying, or you simply do not understand what you read.

Either way, your comments are only confusing, misleading and downright wrong.

[Edit: By the way, my statement was written before I saw Sister's post. I have a very slow connection, and it takes a while to download a page and then to upload my reply.]

Posted by: Ralph Feb 9 2007, 01:28 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 10:55 AM) ☐
>
> Glenetta, you AGAIN quoted Sister's post in such a way that makes it appear that SHE was saying what she was critiquing. Either you are not purposely misquoting/lying, or you simply do not understand what you read.
>
> Either way, your comments are only confusing, misleading and downright wrong.

Although Glenetta wasn't paying attention, part of the problem is that Bystander hasn't figured out how to use the quote function at the bottom of the page, so what he/she writes can easily get garbled with the reply.

For Newbies, try this if you wish to split a post. (I'll put spaces in this so it goes through.)

At the beginning of a quote, insert [quote] (That's a square bracket, the word, "quote", square bracket)
To end quote [/ quote] (That's square bracket, backslash, quote, square bracket.)

Please take the time to preview your post to make sure that it looks right before you send it. And yes, there is also a spell check. I don't know whether or not it would correct spelling of Johann's name.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 11 2007, 01:15 PM

[quote name='Ralph' date='Feb 9 2007, 01:28 PM' post='176845']
Although Glenetta wasn't paying attention, part of the problem is that Bystander hasn't figured out how to use the quote function at the bottom of the page, so what he/she writes can easily get garbled with the reply.

ralph what is not garbled up on this post, is the fact Linda purchased a pregnancy test. The only need for that would be if there was foul play on her part. This is not garbled or in anyway mistaken for it is truth. Linda has apparently stated, "it was a joke for Danny". WHAT KIND OF JOKE IS THAT! She is having marital problems and she does this to be funny??? There is only one thing that is left to think this. You don't get pregnant holding hands with your friend!!!!

Posted by: Denny Feb 12 2007, 07:56 AM

"ralph what is not garbled up on this post, is the fact Linda purchased a pregnancy test. The only need for that would be if there was foul play on her part. This is not garbled or in anyway mistaken for it is truth. Linda has apparently stated, "it was a joke for Danny". WHAT KIND OF JOKE IS THAT! She is having marital problems and she does this to be funny??? There is only one thing that is left to think this. You don't get pregnant holding hands with your friend!!"

Er no anyone can purchase a pregnancy test kit whether foul play has occured or not, probably a stupid move on her part (we are entitled to those moments now and again). I'm sure she regrets it now sometimes we do things to wind people up but the action backfires. So yes to Linda it was a joke. As for your implication she must be guilty of something more than holding hands you basing this on a pregnany test kit now but then even if they are married as a a wife why can't she buy the test her husband may have been fixed but that operation is not 100% egg proof

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 12 2007, 09:13 PM

Vastectomies are NOT 100% effective!

I personally know a man whose wife became pregnant 7 years after his surgery. Shocked, he went to the doctor and was told he was as fertile as a 17 year old and functioning at about 90%!

So, perhaps Linda did think she was pregnant. It is possible!

Posted by: watchbird Feb 12 2007, 09:41 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:35 AM)
>
> What I have been saying on this topic is "this is no joke for any husband, boyfriend and I can't believe that Linda Shelton would do such a thing. Why doesn't she/Linda Shelton come on this place and let the truth be known about all this stuff! Why would she let all this be said, and never peep a peep? Is she guilty????????? That is what my mission is to find out. I refuse to think that all these people who have talked to Linda, Mark Finley, John Lamcang, 3ABN board, Danny, friends are all wrong and deceiving us. I can't buy any of that. Now this pregnancy test, again that is no JOKE! And Danny being . . . . why would she do such a thing. .. . . . . unless well . . . . she had. This does not make sense at all. Does it to you? If it does please tell me how?

If it is really your "mission" to find out... anything.... then how about stopping your senseless chatter and go read.... and BELIEVE.... the first person accounts that people have been putting on here for the last two plus years.

And stop the silly "I can't believe" stuff .... just allow people to speak for themelves. As for Linda coming on here about the reason she bought the pregnancy test.... she personally told a great number of us... at different times and in different ways... the same reason. That she was tired of Danny's snooping in her stuff to see what she had bought.... so she got this sudden impulse to give him something to "find". And yes. she did it for a joke... and was still laughing over a year later when she told me about it.... on the phone.... at the way his face went through several changes of emotions when he found it and challenged her on it. She also told of laughing in his face over it.... and over his reaction to it. Was she smart? Absolutely not. But smart or stupid to do it... the reason still is that at the time she thought she was playing a practical joke on him.

Now... call me a liar if you want. Call Linda a liar for telling me something that wasn't the way things actually were. But recognize if you do so, what you are doing... and don't play any kind of pious "I know how the world SHOULD turn".... and claim that you can't read and comprehend what you are reading.... as you have been doing ever since you started on this board.

If you really can't read... then you should go home and take some lessons rather than parading your disability for all the world to see here.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 01:44 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 04:31 PM)
>
> One minute I want to think one thing and then another minute something else.

Just say "imagine". . .

Posted by: wwjd Feb 13 2007, 02:10 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 12 2007, 09:41 PM)
>
> If it is really your "mission" to find out... anything.... then how about stopping your senseless chatter and go read.... and BELIEVE.... the first person accounts that people have been putting on here for the last two plus years.
>
> And stop the silly "I can't believe" stuff .... just allow people to speak for themelves. As for Linda coming on here about the reason she bought the pregnancy test.... she personally told a great number of us... at different times and in different ways... the same reason. That she was tired of Danny's snooping in her stuff to see what she had bought.... so she got this sudden impulse to give him something to "find". And yes. she did it for a joke... and was still laughing over a year later when she told me about it.... on the phone.... at the way his face went through several changes of emotions when he found it and challenged her on it. She also told of laughing in his face over it.... and over his reaction to it. Was she smart? Absolutely not. But smart or stupid to do it... the reason still is that at the time she thought she was playing a practical joke on him.

I am so relieved that finally, finally someone admitted that the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda!!! I have said time and again where else could they originate? Several here have gotten their stories from her, they post the stuff and everyone runs with it and then says Linda is staying mum and never trashes her ex and she is taking the high road....
rofl The pregnancy kit story all told from her angle. Gosh it must be gospel.
Thank you so much watchbird for finally telling the truth....
Now lets look at the "she said how she laughed in his face"...We have a man that believes with all his heart his wife is cheating on him. He is tore up, he is angry and he is hurt so ....knowing all of this, she decides to "plant" a pregnancy test for a joke, of course. Then when he finds it, and to him, it confirms his worst fears, making the hurt almost unbearable, she, then, laughs in his face at his changing emotions. Yes. that certainly sounds like someone who loved her husband dearly and was trying "so hard" to reconcile.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 02:19 AM

A man phoned me and told me through tears that his wife had moved out and probably was with another guy. He and his wife had been married for over 25 years and he didn't have the slightest idea that there was a problem.

I asked him, "If your wife had sex with this guy, would you still take her back?"

He thought for a while and gave a reply that showed just how much their marriage meant to him.

"Yes," he said at last. And then he commented, "What is a half hour -- or even a night's tryst -- compared to 25 years of love and memories?"

Now that's love! I don't like to see cheating happen, but I can truthfully say that there are other actions that are far more detrimental to a relationship.

If all the charges against Linda were indeed true, how did Danny's actions compare to this person who was a non-professing Christian? A person usually sees the actions of others through his own eyeglasses. To the pure in heart, others look pure. Unfortunately the converse is also true.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 13 2007, 02:24 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 13 2007, 02:19 AM) ☐
>
> A man phoned me and told me through tears that his wife had moved out and probably was with another guy. He and his wife had been married for over 25 years and he didn't have the slightest idea that there was a problem.
>
> I asked him, "If your wife had sex with this guy, would you still take her back?"
>
> He thought for a while and gave a reply that showed just how much their marriage meant to him. "Yes," he said at last. And then he commented, "What is a half hour -- or even a night's tryst -- compared to 25 years of love and memories?"
>
> Now that's love! I don't like to see cheating happen, but I can truthfully say that there are other actions that are far more detrimental to a relationship.
>
> If all the charges against Linda were indeed true, how did Danny's actions compare to this person who was a non-professing Christian? A person usually sees the actions of others through his own eyeglasses. To the pure in heart, others look pure. Unfortunately the converse is also true.

I totally agree with your assesment of "true love." It is Danny's actions which you have been misinformed about. What you did not ask your friend (or you did not post it, if you did) was would he stay married to her if she refused to give up the 3rd party? A refusal that was not just given once but over and over again. D. was totally willing to forgive and reconcile but three's a crowd

---

Posted by: Observer Feb 13 2007, 05:08 AM

> QUOTE
>
> I refuse to think that all these people who have talked to Linda, Mark Finley, John Lamcang, 3ABN board, Danny, friends are all wrong and deceiving us.

Mark Finley's name has been brought into this repeatedly. We have been told that he is willing to make a statement to anyone who contacts him--or words to that effect.

Please contact him and publish his statement.

Thank you.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 01:10 AM)
>
> I am so relieved that finally, finally someone admitted that the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda!!! I have said time and again where else could they originate? Several here have gotten their stories from her, they post the stuff and everyone runs with it and then says Linda is staying mum and never trashes her ex and she is taking the high road.... rofl The pregnancy kit story all told from her angle. Gosh it must be gospel.

Throughout the years people have contacted Linda. What could you expect? They have asked her questions. She has responded to questions that people have asked her. What would you expect her to do?

Do not over generalize that. One can not logically state that because she answered an individual quetion that she is responsible for 'all the stories and alligations against Danny.'

Posted by: sister Feb 13 2007, 09:10 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 01:10 AM)
>
> I am so relieved that finally, finally someone admitted that the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda!!! I have said time and again where else could they originate? Several here have gotten their stories from her, they post the stuff and everyone runs with it and then says Linda is staying mum and never trashes her ex and she is taking the high road.... The pregnancy kit story all told from her angle. Gosh it must be gospel.

WWJD, you again are factually challenged. To logically draw the above conclusion from one statement from Watchbird about an isolated situation is an assumption that is impossibe to support. Watchbird never said that "the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda". I, for one, received none of the facts for any of the information I posted from Linda. That is the truth. At the time that I wrote "An Unauthorized History of 3ABN" no one, except my husband, knew who "sister" was and I did not contact anyone for background information in regard to 3ABN. I wrote from the knowledge I had from being at 3ABN, living in Thompsonville and being a member of the Thompsonville SDA church. I am not Linda, I am a married woman, she is not. With all of this in mind I agree with the following statement from Observer.

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 13 2007, 06:08 AM)
>
> Mark Finley's name has been brought into this repeatedly. We have been told that he is willing to make a statement to anyone who contacts him--or words to that effect.
>
> Please contact him and publish his statement.
>
> Thank you.
> Throughout the years people have contacted Linda. What could you expect? They have asked her questions. She has responded to questions that people have asked her. What would you expect her to do?

> Do not over generalize that. One can not logically state that because she answered an individual quetion that she is responsible for 'all the stories and alligations against Danny.'

WWJD, you bring shame to yourself by making such bold misrepresentations of the facts. You are not ooling anyone, "that dog don't hunt here".

Sister

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 13 2007, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 02:10 AM) ☐
>
> I am so relieved that finally, finally someone admitted that the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda!!! I have said time and again where else could they originate?

Go away. You've been lurking here trying to confuse things and muddy the waters. If you're here ooking for the facts, I'm Pope Benedict.

So the truth about what really happened with the pregnancy test came from Linda. Does that mean she was colluding with Church of God members for two decades scaring up allegations against Tommy so that Danny would get in trouble for trying to cover for his brother? Yeah, that's it. Or if not, maybe not all the stories came from Linda.

Have you even read save3abn.com? I don't know how anyone could go through that information, which is documented and firsthand, and still believe that Danny doesn't have something to hide. I would love to see evidence that would exonerate Danny and Co. from the charges of embezzlement, covering up sex abuse, and character assassination--not because I'm a fan of 3ABN, but because people I love are fans and I don't want to see them or my church, my spiritual home, hurt. All we get from anyone connected with 3ABN is stonewalling, dissembling and denial--lies, like yours.

f there's truth on 3ABN's side, let's have it, for God's sake. Don't you know what this is going to do to the church?

came back to these boards looking for better information so I could be prepared to deal with in my churches when it becomes more public. It doesn't help when people like you come in here prepared to defend Danny no matter what the cost--even your own integrity. I'm still new, but I feel that on blacksda, honest seekers are welcome here, if they're willing to do the reading to catch up--but not people who came with their minds made up over against any facts.

Your logic doesn't follow normal rules. The rules for your logic are, defend Danny and make Linda look bad no matter whose words you have to twist. It's called lying, I see you doing it over and over again in this thread and others--so go away.

Posted by: Clay Feb 13 2007, 10:54 AM well said SoulEspresso..... you have summed up my feelings regarding these danny apologists... most of them anyway.....

Posted by: watchbird Feb 13 2007, 11:38 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 03:10 AM)
>
> I am so relieved that finally, finally someone admitted that the source for all the stories and allegations against Danny are coming from Linda!!! I have said time and again where else could they originate? Several here have gotten their stories from her, they post the stuff and everyone runs with it and then says Linda is staying mum and never trashes her ex and she is taking the high road.... rofl The pregnancy kit story all told from her angle. Gosh it must be gospel.
> Thank you so much watchbird for finally telling the truth....
> Now lets look at the "she said how she laughed in his face"...We have a man that believes with all his heart his wife is cheating on him. He is tore up, he is angry and he is hurt so ....knowing all of this, she decides to "plant" a pregnancy test for a joke, of course. Then when he finds it, and to him, it confirms his worst fears, making the hurt almost unbearable, she, then, laughs in his face at his changing emotions. Yes. that certainly sounds like someone who loved her husband dearly and was trying "so hard" to reconcile.

.... with all I have read from you... I still simply cannot believe that ANYONE could be so grossly desperate as to try and leap from one point to a generalization covering all possibilities in one gigantic leap... not even Evil Knievle would try THAT stunt....

Whatever the facts of the dynamics are between two people.... the MOTIVES of one of them can ONLY be learned from asking the person whose motives one is trying to figure out. Therefore, for this "fact".... there is only ONE person in the whole world who would know... and that is Linda herself. Therefore I asked her personally... up front... and directly... not only for the narrative of the event, but also WHY she had done it.

That does NOT mean that she is the only one who supplied me with details of the narrative. Nor does it mean that she was the only one who told me what they understood her motives to be. And you can do all the fancy footwork, highsky dives, wheeliedeelies that you want.... your conclusions as stated above are not even close to the world of reality.

But.... carry on..... the more such assinine things you say, the more detailed view you give of your inner self.... and I congratulate you on reaching a new low... for frankly, I had long ago thought you couldn't possibly paint yourself any worse..... But... the elusive "J" is getting more and more "elusive".... from Jacob to Judas to.... what? ... "Jerkas"....?

Whatever... carry on.....

.... TVsnack. ....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 13 2007, 12:00 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 13 2007, 11:38 AM)
>
> .... with all I have read from you... I still simply cannot believe that ANYONE could be so grossly desperate as to try and leap from one point to a generalization covering all possibilities in one gigantic leap... not even Evil Knievle would try THAT stunt....
>
> Whatever the facts of the dynamics are between two people.... the MOTIVES of one of them can ONLY be learned from asking the person whose motives one is trying to figure out. Therefore, for this "fact".... there is only ONE person in the whole world who would know... and that is Linda herself. Therefore I asked her personally... up front... and directly... not only for the narrative of the event, but also WHY she had done it.
> "elusive".... from Jacob to Judas to.... what? ... "Jerkas"....?
> Whatever... carry on.....

Please Watchbird, let up..your words slay me...There is only ONE person? Sorry, there were 2 in that room. You were told What Danny said and/or what his reactions were by her. You are also saying there is nill chance that what was told to you about why the test was purchased, could be a lie. Talk about naive.....
No one can possibly leap to generalizations as well as you. You have done it for months. Not to mention, common sense says, if you called to ask her about one thing, you asked her about a lot more incidents. All answers given obviously would be 100% true, therefore, you think you are "in the know." There are 2 sides to everything, maybe you should give the Danny the same courtesy as you have given Linda and ask him some of those questions. That would be the only fair way woudn't it? That is why marriage counselors talk to both people, because they cannot get a fair or accurate take on the situation by only hearing one side.
Enough already. We know who your source is and you are no longer credible.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 13 2007, 12:13 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 13 2007, 09:42 AM)
>
> Go away. You've been lurking here trying to confuse things and muddy the waters. If you're here looking for the facts, I'm Pope Benedict.
>
> Have you even read save3abn.com? I don't know how anyone could go through that information, which is documented and firsthand, and still believe that Danny doesn't have something to hide. I would love to see evidence that would exonerate Danny and Co. from the charges of embezzlement, covering up sex abuse, and character assassination--not because I'm a fan of 3ABN, but because people I love are fans and I don't want to see them or my church, my spiritual home, hurt. All we get from anyone connected with 3ABN is stonewalling, dissembling and denial--lies, like yours.
> Your logic doesn't follow normal rules. The rules for your logic are, defend Danny and make Linda look bad no matter whose words you have to twist. It's called lying, I see you doing it over and over again in this thread and others--so go away.

charges of embezzlement? Right, Gailon would know...There has not been any evidence whatsoever of embezzlement. Maybe you are confusing Danny with Gailon. A man starts his own website. He is not a church leader, he is not an attorney and he is not a licensed investigator. But if it is there (the site) then it must be true. How, gullible & naive is that? Have you ever been to 3abn. Have you even met any of the people involved. Do you have a clue as to who all they have to account to? I doubt if you can answer yes to even one of those questions.

As to your accusation of character assasination....I couldn't stop laughing...that was how many sentences after you just basically called Danny ,an embezzler, hiding sexual abuse, stonewalling, denial, dissembling and character assasination. And as I said all of your thoughts and accusations come from what you have read...unbelievable, that pretty much says it all.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 02:31 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 12:00 PM)
>
> Please Watchbird, let up..your words slay me...There is only ONE person? Sorry, there were 2 in that room. You were told What Danny said and/or what his reactions were by her. You are also saying there is nill chance that what was told to you about why the test was purchased, could be a lie. Talk about naive.....
> No one can possibly leap to generalizations as well as you. You have done it for months. Not to mention, common sense says, if you called to ask her about one thing, you asked her about a lot more incidents. All answers given obviously would be 100% true, therefore, you think you are "in the know." There are 2 sides to everything, maybe you should give the Danny the same courtesy as you have given Linda and ask him some of those questions. That would be the only fair way woudn't it? That is why marriage counselors talk to both people, because they cannot get a fair or accurate take on the situation by only hearing one side.
> Enough already. We know who your source is and you are no longer credible.

[color=#000099]This has been very well said. Can you believe a hurt women, a women who these people say was railroaded, laughing in the face of her husband after he found her pregnancy test. ./color] edited for content.... you just got back, thus you need to mind your manners....

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 01:31 PM)
>
> [color=#000099]This has been very well said. Can you believe a hurt women, a women who these people say was railroaded, laughing in the face of her husband after he found her pregnancy test. /color]

I would like to know why do you have to sound so nasty? If Linda is as you say two faced than why do you care what she says? If 3ABN has not been hurt, financially, by all of this mess why do you care what is/has been said? My issue is, has always been, the response of 3ABN over this mess. If Linda did all they say she has, than I would say she was playing church all of this time. She had to be playing for a long time to fall for this Dr. so easily. 3ABN has responded in such a negative way. Why do they really care what is said on a message board? Even if letters are sent to churches, pastors and whoever else why should they care if they are not being effected by it?

I believe it was done in spite for Linda to buy the pregnancy test. But it seems to me neither Danny or Linda were acting very mature in this breakup. It is sad to me neither of them acted like Christians and I believe they both need to repent. Since it was such a public breakup than there should be accountability. I don't believe they need to get on TV and cry like Jimmy Swaggert but it would be nice if something was done to show they both made mistakes. Than maybe people could move on.

Posted by: Clay Feb 13 2007, 03:23 PM

where I come from that is called a "stank" attitude....

Posted by: Johann Feb 13 2007, 03:39 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 08:13 PM) ☐
>
> \- - - Have you ever been to 3abn. Have you even met any of the people involved. Do you have a clue as to who all they have to account to? I doubt if you can answer yes to even one of those questions.
> \- - -

There are a number of us here who have been to 3ABN, who have met the people involved. You have still not been able to convince us that you are telling nothing but the truth.

Then a number of people here have experienced things first-hand through another method. They have noticed Danny Shelton's own accounts and seen how he contradicts himself. How he covers up former statements with new cover-up stories. How he thwarts the facts to make them look like they verify the opposite. As I have often said, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy!

Posted by: erik Feb 13 2007, 03:47 PM

To the supporters of Danny S.

Can i ask why this is such a big deal to Danny's case against Linda?

I mean when i read this for the first time months ago i said to myself that was a stupid thing to do on Linda's Part, and even stupider on Danny's part to make Big deal out of it.

I am mean i can not even count the number of times my wife has bought a PT for someone other then herself, and yes even before i knew her.

Did or did not Linda have a Daughter of child bearing age? Did or did not Linda have friends of Child bearing age. So to bring it forward has proof of an affair is a high risk move.

Now I will say that It was a very poor choice of ways to make a point to her husband, and i also thought when i read that was reason that she bought i can see why some would think it funny, but is was a very unwise move, But i am not sure it is worth 100 plus posts by the rest of us(yes i know i am guilty of posting about)

So if that is the best case you have of Linda's affair stay out of court it ,will just get linda a ruling that she was foolish not that she is guilty of any thing. And if i were the judge hearing the case i would laugh the case out my back door and fine the moving party for wasting the courts time.

See i am being fair to both danny and linda in this post they both messed this one from were i sit.

ERik

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 13 2007, 03:51 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 13 2007, 04:23 PM)
>
> where I come from that is called a "stank" attitude....

Clay,

On another thread you provided us with some guidelines for internet posting on a public forum.

For those of us born and educated elsewhere, maybe a quick set of definitions for words used here on BlackSDA that are not easily found in the standard dictionary will help someone like myself interpret some of the posts and stop misconstruing words or coming up with our own definition in place of what the word commonly understood to mean?

blon

nw

Posted by: Clay Feb 13 2007, 04:18 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 13 2007, 03:51 PM)
>
> Clay,
>
> On another thread you provided us with some guidelines for internet posting on a public forum.
>
> For those of us born and educated elsewhere, maybe a quick set of definitions for words used here on BlackSDA that are not easily found in the standard dictionary will help someone like myself interpret some of the posts and stop misconstruing words or coming up with our own definition in place of what the word commonly understood to mean?
>
> blon
>
> nw

well "stank" means bad, terrible, nasty....

which thread was that?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 13 2007, 04:19 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 13 2007, 05:47 PM)
>
> To the supporters of Danny S.
>
> Can i ask why this is such a big deal to Danny's case against Linda?
>
> I mean when i read this for the first time months ago i said to myself that was a stupid thing to do on Linda's Part, and even stupider on Danny's part to make Big deal out of it.
>
> ERik

Erik,

I am not sure that is a good assessment. It didn't reappear at the top of this forum until recently.The last post prior to late January 2007 was back in August of 2006.

It is a rather small part of the whole picture. From a pro-Danny perspective it speaks to the issue of character. Quite a bit of what has been posted here is an attempt to define Danny's character. So, it seems a fair consideration, when one wants to get a complete picture, to consider acts that reveal character from both sides.

It isn't an issue of who was "stupider" as you put it. It could be argued that both were less than clear thinking in the whole situation, but in the thros of a divorce common sense doesn't always reign supreme.

- FHB

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 04:20 PM

For anyone that knows...how was it so easy for people to believe that Linda would have an affair? I mean why did not one reputable person stand up and say this isn't something Linda would do? What was in her character that would let people believe she was capable of this? She was in the ministry for at least 20 years, she knew many of the leaders in the church why did no one say anything? I can understand the employees but what about Mark Finley, Doug Batchelor etc.....no one on the board?

I know some say people said she had an ego, does that mean they thought she could have an affair. Didn't her and Danny seem to be in love? Could people see through their marriage? What was it????

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Johann'[/b] date='Feb 13 2007, 03:39 PM' post='178025']
> There are a number of us here who have been to 3ABN, who have met the people involved. You have still not been able to convince us that you are telling nothing but the truth.

> Then a number of people here have experienced things first-hand through another method. They have noticed Danny Shelton's own accounts and seen how he contradicts himself. How he covers up former statements with new cover-up stories. How he thwarts the facts to make them look like they verify the opposite. As I have often said, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy!

he man has dedicated his life for many years now to the ministry. He began as a young boy singing raises to God. Then after loosing his life long partner, wife, in a car accident, he continues to push on vith his best foot forward. He re-marries to a shy lady, one who had justed faced some troubled times n a recent marriage. Not happy with what she had, she divorced. Here now are two small children urting being divided between their father and mother. The big hearted man comes along, his soft eart falls for the shy lady, they marry, he unites with them as a family. The man receives a dream to uild a television station that will reach the world.
eople are getting to know the saviour in ways that no one would have ever thought possible. The vord of God is taken from house to house.
he shy lady soon becomes the opening show. She has aged but thinks the music video's of a 40+ ady will reach the young. Thousands are spent to supply her desire, her idea, of speading the gospel.
he shyness has totally vainish, her self esteem is plenty gleaming. Now instead of conservative lothes, its bright pink purses and bright yellow sandels. Her face is saging and Botox is the answer.
Vhat happened to the shy little lady? The maid couldn't keep up the washing, the clothes were many, hoe racks had to be hung on every door. As the long ago shy lady was on her self made journey hings all around got boring, just like her first marriage. She felt frisky and free but the man was still ledicating his life to Jesus. Then one day as he sat waiting for the, long ago shy lady, to return from er routine shopping spree, with a lonely tear running down his face. He knows that she is drulling ver this other man and don't know how to talk or communicate with her anymore. Praying he waits or her to return. He hears the roar of her "Up Bound" vehicle screech into the garage. She comes ushing into the house heading for the bathroom. Quickly she throws the packages on the counter. He nakes his way in to the bags to see if by chance, this time she had brought some food home. He was ired of cereal. He looks in the bag and to his hurt and surprise. A PREGNANCY TEST!!!! His heart is roken, his family shattered for he knew that it could not be him. She exits the bathroom and begins
AUGHING IN HIS FACE. He knows that now there is no doubt that her friend is much more. YOU ON"T GET PREGNANT HOLDING HANDS! She laughs and taughts him, leaves him, and wants a livorce.
ohann How can you think that what you have said Danny Shelton is Danny Sheton's worse enemy. I vould have to say that maybe it was the once, long ago, shy lady, that has been unhappy.

have mentioned no names here and surely this will not get me suspended again. But it is the other ide of Unauthorized History of the PREGNANCY TEST.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 04:55 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 03:51 PM)
>
> The man has dedicated his life for many years now to the ministry. He began as a young boy singing praises to God. Then after loosing his life long partner, wife, in a car accident, he continues to push on with his best foot forward. He re-marries to a shy lady, one who had justed faced some troubled times in a recent marriage. Not happy with what she had, she divorced. Here now are two small children hurting being divided between their father and mother. The big hearted man comes along, his soft heart falls for the shy lady, they marry, he unites with them as a family. The man receives a dream to build a television station that will reach the world.
> People are getting to know the saviour in ways that no one would have ever thought possible. The word of God is taken from house to house.
> The shy lady soon becomes the opening show. She has aged but thinks the music video's of a 40+ lady will reach the young. Thousands are spent to supply her desire, her idea, of speading the > gospel. The shyness has totally vainish, her self esteem is plenty gleaming. Now instead of conservative clothes, its bright pink purses and bright yellow sandels. Her face is saging and Botox is the answer. What happened to the shy little lady? The maid couldn't keep up the washing, the clothes were many, shoe racks had to be hung on every door. As the long ago shy lady was on her self made journey things all around got boring, just like her first marriage. She felt frisky and free but the man was still dedicating his life to Jesus. Then one day as he sat waiting for the, long ago shy lady, to return from her routine shopping spree, with a lonely tear running down his face. He knows that she is drulling over this other man and don't know how to talk or communicate with her anymore. Praying he waits for her to return. He hears the roar of her "Up Bound" vehicle screech into the garage. She comes rushing into the house heading for the bathroom. Quickly she throws the packages on the counter. He makes his way in to the bags to see if by chance, this time she had brought some food home. He was tired of cereal. He looks in the bag and to his hurt and surprise. A PREGNANCY TEST!!!! His heart is broken, his family shattered for he knew that it could not be him. She exits the bathroom and begins LAUGHING IN HIS FACE. He knows that now there is no doubt that her friend is much more. YOU DON"T GET PREGNANT HOLDING HANDS! She laughs and taughts him, leaves him, and wants a divorce.

> Johann How can you think that what you have said Danny Shelton is Danny Sheton's worse enemy. I would have to say that maybe it was the once, long ago, shy lady, that has been unhappy.
>
> I have mentioned no names here and surely this will not get me suspended again. But it is the other side of Unauthorized History of the PREGNANCY TEST.

Not that this will change anything but...I thought her first marriage ended because she was becoming an SDA?

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:01 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 13 2007, 04:55 PM)
>
> Not that this will change anything but...I thought her first marriage ended because she was becoming an SDA?

Edited for content**

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 05:02 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 04:01 PM)
>
> Edited for Content**

On 3ABN it was said that he was not happy with her becoming SDA so he wanted her out....

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:03 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 13 2007, 04:55 PM)
>
> Not that this will change anything but...I thought her first marriage ended because she was becoming an SDA?

Lets face it Uncle Sam we all have sins and past that haunt us. I heard that the requirement for heaven is to be a sinner and everyone that I know qualifies.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 13 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 05:51 PM)
>
> I have mentioned no names here and surely this will not get me suspended again. But it is the other side of Unauthorized History of the PREGNANCY TEST.

The spirit you manifest is what will get you evicted... and seeing you cannot avoid being what you are, I'm betting the under on how long you stick around from this point...

The real question here is what has Linda done to you that has you serving up haterade by the gallon? Did she steal Danny from you 20+ years ago? Because you have some seriously deep-seated issues bordering on the sociopathic where she is concerned... and it may behoove you to seek some professional help in this regard...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:06 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 13 2007, 05:02 PM)
>
> On 3ABN it was said that he was not happy with her becoming SDA so he wanted her out....

I don't know what you heard but there was more anger involved than him at her! Who suffers though is the children, every time the childen are the ones hurt. Oh, but no one ever thinks about the children its just me, myself and I. It continued on until now well husband #2. Then the son well that is the results of divorce and shyness turning into look at me.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 13 2007, 05:08 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:01 PM) ☐
>
> Edited for Content**

Were you there? Did you see it? Did you place the 911 call? Or is this another thing you heard... come clean, glenetta; why are you so angry with Linda? Your attempts to claim to be an objective observer are an abject failure. From your comments, it is plain you feel that Linda has wronged you on a personal level... so tell us... what's your beef with Linda?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 05:09 PM

Also, if she was so worried about being younger why would she "run off" with such an old man???? My mother did much of the same when she was Linda's age. But she left with a man half her age. Her and my dad divorced but about two years later my mother came to her senses and they remarried. That is why I cannot figure out why Danny was so quick to divorce her. If her behavior was something out of the ordinary why didn't he wait to see if she would realize what she was doing. My parents were not even really Christians when my dad decided to forgive my mother and take her back. Maybe if Danny would have given her time and space they could have worked this out....

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:13 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 13 2007, 05:04 PM) ☐
>
> The spirit you manifest is what will get you evicted... and seeing you cannot avoid being what you are, I'm betting the under on how long you stick around from this point...
>
> The real question here is what has Linda done to you that has you serving up haterade by the gallon? Did she steal Danny from you 20+ years ago? Because you have some seriously deep-seated issues bordering on the sociopathic where she is concerned... and it may behoove you to seek some professional help in this regard...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr J. I never metioned any names in the above Unauthorized History of the Pregnancy Test. And I wonder "what has D. done to you that has you serving up haterade" by the gallon? I don't hate anyone. I do feel that other people need their opinion respected as you think yours should be. I am not a sociopathic and I do not need profession help. How is it that you can say such a think to people and its ok? Have you considered your own suggestion sir?

Posted by: erik Feb 13 2007, 05:18 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 02:51 PM) ☐
>
> The man has dedicated his life for many years now to the ministry. He began as a young boy singing praises to God. Then after loosing his life long partner, wife, in a car accident, he continues to push on with his best foot forward. He re-marries to a shy lady, one who had justed faced some troubled times in a recent marriage. Not happy with what she had, she divorced. Here now are two small children hurting being divided between their father and mother. The big hearted man comes along, his soft heart falls for the shy lady, they marry, he unites with them as a family. The man receives a dream to build a television station that will reach the world.
> People are getting to know the saviour in ways that no one would have ever thought possible. The word of God is taken from house to house.
> The shy lady soon becomes the opening show. She has aged but thinks the music video's of a 40+ lady will reach the young. Thousands are spent to supply her desire, her idea, of speading the gospel. The shyness has totally vainish, her self esteem is plenty gleaming. Now instead of conservative clothes, its bright pink purses and bright yellow sandels. Her face is saging and Botox is the answer. What happened to the shy little lady? The maid couldn't keep up the washing, the clothes were many, shoe racks had to be hung on every door. As the long ago shy lady was on her self made journey things all around got boring, just like her first marriage. She felt frisky and free but the man was still dedicating his life to Jesus. Then one day as he sat waiting for the, long ago shy lady, to return from her routine shopping spree, with a lonely tear running down his face. He knows that she is drulling over this other man and don't know how to talk or communicate with her anymore. Praying he waits for her to return. He hears the roar of her "Up Bound" vehicle screech into the garage. She comes rushing into the house heading for the bathroom. Quickly she throws the packages on the counter. He makes his way in to the bags to see if by chance, this time she had brought some food home. He was tired of cereal. He looks in the bag and to his hurt and surprise. A PREGNANCY TEST!!!! His heart is broken, his family shattered for he knew that it could not be him. She exits the bathroom and begins LAUGHING IN HIS FACE. He knows that now there is no doubt that her friend is much more. YOU DON"T GET PREGNANT HOLDING HANDS! She laughs and taughts him, leaves him, and wants a divorce.
> Johann How can you think that what you have said Danny Shelton is Danny Sheton's worse enemy. I would have to say that maybe it was the once, long ago, shy lady, that has been unhappy.
>
> I have mentioned no names here and surely this will not get me suspended again. But it is the other side of Unauthorized History of the PREGNANCY TEST.

If i read this right you are saying that she brought home PT instead of FOOD?

Good Grief if Danny was Smart enough to set a tv network with the lords help then i would think he is smart enough to drive to the store and buy some food, i mean this getting weird.

I know that this post was suppose to make me feel bad for danny, but know we are suppose to believe that Linda ran danny, is this best defense of Danny we can find Accuse Linda of every thing Danny is Supposed to be Guilt of?

Now mind you this is the brother of man that has Successfully hidden away his preying on men younger then himself for thirty years. I am lost(not really) either danny is smart or stupid not both. at the same time.

Glenetta please decide which you want Danny to be.

Secondly were you in the house when this event happenned? yes or no.

If no you are taking someones word for what happenned.

If yes then you are either Linda(i personal do not think you are linda) or Danny, or a unnamed person that would have heard the story has it happened.

So can please let the rest of us which of the above you are?

erik

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 05:18 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 04:06 PM)
>
> .

Keep talkin'. I want to see just how desperate you are.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 13 2007, 05:20 PM

*Glenetta, speculation is not allowed about Danny's or Linda's first marriages. Yes that will get you suspended. I am edited out those portions, please don't try to slide them in again.****

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 05:20 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 05:51 PM)
>
> The man has dedicated his life for many years now to the ministry. He began as a young boy singing praises to God. Then after loosing his life long partner, wife, in a car accident, he continues to push on with his best foot forward. He re-marries to a shy lady, one who had justed faced some troubled times in a recent marriage. Not happy with what she had, she divorced. Here now are two small children hurting being divided between their father and mother. The big hearted man comes along, his soft heart falls for the shy lady, they marry, he unites with them as a family. The man receives a dream to build a television station that will reach the world.
> People are getting to know the saviour in ways that no one would have ever thought possible. The word of God is taken from house to house.
> The shy lady soon becomes the opening show. She has aged but thinks the music video's of a 40+ lady will reach the young. Thousands are spent to supply her desire, her idea, of speading the gospel. The shyness has totally vainish, her self esteem is plenty gleaming. Now instead of conservative clothes, its bright pink purses and bright yellow sandels. Her face is saging and Botox is the answer. What happened to the shy little lady? The maid couldn't keep up the washing, the clothes were many, shoe racks had to be hung on every door. As the long ago shy lady was on her self made journey things all around got boring, just like her first marriage. She felt frisky and free but the man was still dedicating his life to Jesus. Then one day as he sat waiting for the, long ago shy lady, to return from her routine shopping spree, with a lonely tear running down his face. He knows that she is drulling over this other man and don't know how to talk or communicate with her anymore. Praying he waits for her to return. He hears the roar of her "Up Bound" vehicle screech into the garage. She comes rushing into the house heading for the bathroom. Quickly she throws the packages on the counter. He makes his way in to the bags to see if by chance, this time she had brought some food home. He was tired of cereal. He looks in the bag and to his hurt and > surprise. A PREGNANCY TEST!!!! His heart is broken, his family shattered for he knew that it could not be him. She exits the bathroom and begins LAUGHING IN HIS FACE. He knows that now there is no doubt that her friend is much more. YOU DON"T GET PREGNANT HOLDING HANDS! She laughs and taughts him, leaves him, and wants a divorce.

> Johann How can you think that what you have said Danny Shelton is Danny Sheton's worse enemy. I would have to say that maybe it was the once, long ago, shy lady, that has been unhappy.
>
> I have mentioned no names here and surely this will not get me suspended again. But it is the other side of Unauthorized History of the PREGNANCY TEST.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:30 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 13 2007, 05:09 PM)
>
> Also, if she was so worried about being younger why would she "run off" with such an old man???? My mother did much of the same when she was Linda's age. But she left with a man half her age. Her and my dad divorced but about two years later my mother came to her senses and they remarried. That is why I cannot figure out why Danny was so quick to divorce her. If her behavior was something out of the ordinary why didn't he wait to see if she would realize what she was doing. My parents were not even really Christians when my dad decided to forgive my mother and take her back. Maybe if Danny would have given her time and space they could have worked this out....

D. did give her time and lots of it. He begged her to give up the third party. They had councelors evaluate the problems and then L. decided that she wouldn't go any more. I question now, Was she pregnant? You don't buy a test for no reason. L left D and would not return home. He sent her roses, he called and told her he loved her, please come home he would say. Nothing would work. It was stated from her that she could wear her heels when with this fellow. See the shoes were important stuff, that goes along with feeling fisky and free, she went from shy lady to, out there.
D was as quick as L wanted with the divorce. D. ask her to get her hormones check and she refused that also. She wanted out of the marriage. So after time and time of being rejected he gave the lady he loved, then, what she wanted but apparently the third party didn't want her. Now it just her and the dog Sheltie.

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 13 2007, 05:20 PM)

Nuggie there has to be a bitter women behind this killing of 3ABN face it. There is too much that is on here that only L. could be passing.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 05:31 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:30 PM) ☐
>
> D. did give her time and lots of it. He begged her to give up the third party. They had councelors evaluate the problems and then L. decided that she wouldn't go any more. I question now, Was she pregnant? You don't buy a test for no reason. L left D and would not return home. He sent her roses, he called and told her he loved her, please come home he would say. Nothing would work. It was stated from her that she could wear her heels when with this fellow. See the shoes were important stuff, that goes along with feeling fisky and free, she went from shy lady to, out there.
> D was as quick as L wanted with the divorce. D. ask her to get her hormones check and she refused that also. She wanted out of the marriage. So after time and time of being rejected he gave the lady he loved, then, what she wanted but apparently the third party didn't want her. Now it just her and the dog Sheltie.
> Nuggie there has to be a bitter women behind this killing of 3ABN face it. There is too much that is on here that only L. could be passing.

You sure have an awful lot of inside personal information...or are you just making this up as you go along...

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 13 2007, 05:33 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:13 PM) ☐
>
> Mr J. I never metioned any names in the above Unauthorized History of the Pregnancy Test. And I wonder "what has D. done to you that has you serving up haterade" by the gallon? I don't hate anyone. I do feel that other people need their opinion respected as you think yours should be. I am not a sociopathic and I do not need profession help. How is it that you can say such a think to people and its ok? Have you considered your own suggestion sir?

I haven't been hating on Danny... I havent referred to him as Janus... I havent targeted him or speculated about how his first marriage ended... and your omission of names doesnt matter; in the context of all of the comments you have made regarding Linda, it is plain that it is she you were referring to and that you have a great deal of personal animosity towards her... and that animosity makes you take on sociopathic traits when you discuss her... Mental health professionals in the house, please correct me if I'm mistaken... but I dont think I am.

The question remains... looking at your portrait of Danny, you sound like one who was far more intimate than an employee in your effusive adulation... is that why you harbor so much enmity toward Linda?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:35 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 13 2007, 05:20 PM) ☐

> *Glenetta, speculation is not allowed about Danny's or Linda's first marriages. Yes that will get you suspended. I am edited out those portions, please don't try to slide them in again.****

Help me I am confused. Would you please tell me here or in a PM what can I talk about. The courts have records di.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 13 2007, 05:33 PM)
>
> I haven't been hating on Danny... I havent referred to him as Janus... I havent targeted him or speculated about how his first marriage ended... and your omission of names doesnt matter; in the context of all of the comments you have made regarding Linda, it is plain that it is she you were referring to and that you have a great deal of personal animosity towards her... and that animosity makes you take on sociopathic traits when you discuss her... Mental health professionals in the house, please correct me if I'm mistaken... but I dont think I am.
>
> The question remains... looking at your portrait of Danny, you sound like one who was far more intimate than an employee in your effusive adulation... is that why you harbor so much enmity toward Linda?
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Whatever!

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 04:30 PM)
>
> D..

Keep talkin'.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 13 2007, 05:42 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:35 PM)
>
> Help me I am confused.
> Whatever!

Finally a confession, and honest answer... Now we know for true, from your own mouth, you are confused. As wwjd would say, thank you.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 13 2007, 06:42 PM)
>
> Finally a confession, and honest answer... Now we know for true, from your own mouth, you are confused. As wwjd would say, thank you.

That's the best post of the day! rofl rofl

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 13 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 13 2007, 06:18 PM)
>
> .... I am lost(not really) either danny is smart or stupid not both. at the same time.
>
> Glenetta please decide which you want Danny to be.
>
> Secondly were you in the house when this event happenned? yes or no.
>
> If no you are taking someones word for what happenned.
>
> If yes then you are either Linda(i personal do not think you are linda) or Danny, or a unnamed person that would have heard the story has it happened.
>
> So can please let the rest of us which of the above you are?
> erik

Glenetta,

Would you please answer Erik's questions. Or at least identify how you know about this incident unless you can think of a possibility other than what Erik proposed?

nw

Posted by: Ex3ABNViewer Feb 13 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:30 PM)
>
> D. did give her time and lots of it. He begged her to give up the third party. They had councelors evaluate the problems and then L. decided that she wouldn't go any more. I question now, Was she pregnant? You don't buy a test for no reason. L left D and would not return home. He sent her roses, he called and told her he loved her, please come home he would say. Nothing would work. It > was stated from her that she could wear her heels when with this fellow. See the shoes were important stuff, that goes along with feeling fisky and free, she went from shy lady to, out there.

> D was as quick as L wanted with the divorce. D. ask her to get her hormones check and she refused that also. She wanted out of the marriage. So after time and time of being rejected he gave the lady he loved, then, what she wanted but apparently the third party didn't want her. Now it just her and the dog Sheltie.
> Nuggie there has to be a bitter women behind this killing of 3ABN face it. There is too much that is on here that only L. could be passing.

t is too late now. My point was/is if Danny thought enough of it being Linda's hormones, he should iave realized they can make you do crazy things. The only timeline I know of everything from start to inish was months...Why not just seperate and let the divorce come later if ever, unless one wants to emarry.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 05:45 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 13 2007, 05:31 PM)
>
> You sure have an awful lot of inside personal information...or are you just making this up as you go along...

Making things up as I go along? Inside personal information? I will tell you there were many who were nvolved in trying to help L reconcile with D. but she just flat refused to do it. That is why is so awful o see all this bad stuff floating around about D. and the family when it is apparent to many that she vill get fame, some way, some how. What a sad thing TV can do to some people. Really she was once shy lady. Withdrawn wouldn't even sing her own songs. Then little by little she became what she is oday. I don't feel like poor L. She has taken and taken and minipulated people to give her exactly vhat she wants for a long time now. Look at her team they dig dirt, sling mud, and believe me if a fly ould speak we would know all about pride. What a way to get attention and revenge. She actually hought that she should remain VP with a man on the side. The board did right by letting her go. I upport that decission 100%. D. had no option but to give her up to the other man.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 13 2007, 05:45 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 13 2007, 06:33 PM)
>
> The question remains... looking at your portrait of Danny, you sound like one who was far more intimate than an employee in your effusive adulation... is that why you harbor so much enmity toward Linda?
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Very interesting questions...

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 05:50 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:45 PM)
>
> Making things up as I go along? Inside personal information? I will tell you there were many who were involved in trying to help L reconcile with D. but she just flat refused to do it. That is why is so awful to see all this bad stuff floating around about D. and the family when it is apparent to many that she will get fame, some way, some how. What a sad thing TV can do to some people. Really she was once a shy lady. Withdrawn wouldn't even sing her own songs. Then little by little she became what she is today. I don't feel like poor L. She has taken and taken and minipulated people to give her exactly what she wants for a long time now. Look at her team they dig dirt, sling mud, and believe me if a fly could speak we would know all about pride. What a way to get attention and revenge. She actually thought that she should remain VP with a man on the side. The board did right by letting her go. I support that decission 100%. D. had no option but to give her up to the other man.

Gurl, you got issues...lots of 'em...

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 13 2007, 05:53 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 13 2007, 05:18 PM)
>
> well "stank" means bad, terrible, nasty....
>
> which thread was that?

The one about posts from BlackSDA showing up at Save3abn.

You said

"internet 101: if you don't want to see it all over the internet, don't post it...

internet 101a: put in an email anything you wouldn't mind seeing in a daily newspaper....

internet 101b: unless the person can be verified never assume that who you are talking to is actually who they say they are...."

good advice.
nw

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 13 2007, 05:56 PM

> QUOTE
>
> > QUOTE

> Ex3ABNViewer Posted Today, 06:44 PM
>
> Why not just seperate and let the divorce come later if ever, unless one wants to remarry.

Exactly!!!

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 06:03 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 13 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> Gurl, you got issues...lots of 'em...

t is not right that all the attention is at D. The truth is it takes two to tango. L is not an innocent shy ittle lady and she has issues. People do not place correct application to the accusations at the ministry. L was there, she was VP and if there was any wrong doing her face should be shinning out as well. Even in marriage there is a share of assets and liabilites. Same with the ministry if there was wrong going on then she Linda is as much responsible today as she was then She was VP.! The pregnancy test should make it really clear to a lot of people you don't play this kind of joke on anyone at a time when the road is as ruff as it was. This was a serious concern of hers or why would she of purchased it and bring it home.

Posted by: Clay Feb 13 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 13 2007, 05:53 PM)
>
> The one about posts from BlackSDA showing up at Save3abn.
>
> You said
>
> "internet 101: if you don't want to see it all over the internet, don't post it...
>
> internet 101a: put in an email anything you wouldn't mind seeing in a daily newspaper....
>
> internet 101b: unless the person can be verified never assume that who you are talking to is actually who they say they are...."
>
> good advise.
> nw

ahhhh yes.... I wanted to make sure that was the one to which you were referring...

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 07:03 PM) ☐
>
> It is not right that all the attention is at D. The truth is it takes two to tango. L is not an innocent shy little lady and she has issues. People do not place correct application to the accusations at the ministry. L was there, she was VP and if there was any wrong doing her face should be shinning out as well. Even in marriage there is a share of assets and liabilites. Same with the ministry if there was wrong going on then she Linda is as much responsible today as she was then She was VP.! The pregnancy test should make it really clear to a lot of people you don't play this kind of joke on anyone at a time when the road is as ruff as it was. This was a serious concern of hers or why would she of purchased it and bring it home.

Do you get this worked up when you think about the allegations against Tommy Shelton...or is it only Linda that gets your blood pressure up?

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 06:14 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Feb 13 2007, 05:56 PM) ☐
>
> Why not just seperate and let the divorce come later if ever, unless one wants to remarry.
>
> Exactly!!! ☒

Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 13 2007, 06:10 PM) ☐
>
> Do you get this worked up when you think about the allegations against Tommy Shelton...or is it only Linda that gets your blood pressure up?

We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ☒ ofl

---

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 06:15 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 07:14 PM) ☐

> Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
> See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.
>
> We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ofl re you a skater by any chance...'cause you're awfully good at slipping and sliding past stuff you don't vant to answer.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 13 2007, 06:17 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
> See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.
>
> We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ofl

Vow no where have I read or heard it was her idea to get the divorce. Well gee if I was remarried I ure in the heck wouldn't be living here while they lived somewhere else. You just totally do not make ense at all. I was referring to D in my post as not getting the divorce & remarrying.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 13 2007, 06:20 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
> See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.
>
> We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ofl

Glenetta, you need to stop hatin on Linda Shelton.

Ok so she was married to Danny and you were not. So, she got the spot light as Mrs. S for over twenty years and is still respected by millions, in spite of you people trying to drag her through the mud, while you simply had to wait in the wings. So, Danny married somebody else the first chance he got... sheeesh, get over it and move on with your own life. I feel sorry for you gurl, cuz Linda has gotten on with her life while you're still waitin.

And btw, I got a husband so I ain't in hover mode...

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 06:21 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 05:14 PM)
>
> . . .

Keep talkin'. The pieces are coming together very nicely. Another post or two, and I'll be sure where you fit into the puzzle.

Posted by: Clay Feb 13 2007, 06:23 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 13 2007, 06:20 PM)
>
> Glenetta, you need to stop hatin on Linda Shelton.
>
> Ok so she was married to Danny and you were not. So, she got the spot light as Mrs. S for over twenty years and is still respected by millions, in spite of you people trying to drag her through the mud, while you simply had to wait in the wings. So, Danny married somebody else the first chance he got... sheeesh, get over it and move on with your own life. I feel sorry for you gurl, cuz Linda has gotten on with her life while you're still waitin.

she does sound like she is carrying a flame for Danny doesn't she? Unrequited love perhaps?

Posted by: daylily Feb 13 2007, 06:35 PM

But it seems like she would be angry at Danny, not LInda if that were the case.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 13 2007, 06:37 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 13 2007, 07:35 PM)
>
> But it seems like she would be angry at Danny, not LInda if that were the case.

Not necessarily...remember the astronaut diaper lady?

Posted by: daylily Feb 13 2007, 06:45 PM

Oh yeah! I forgot about her

Posted by: glenetta Feb 13 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Feb 13 2007, 06:17 PM)
>
> Wow no where have I read or heard it was her idea to get the divorce. Well gee if I was remarried I sure in the heck wouldn't be living here while they lived somewhere else. You just totally do not make sense at all. I was referring to D in my post as not getting the divorce & remarrying.

There are all kinds out there Hercheys99.

edited for content..... glenetta this is your last warning this evening, if I have to edit another one of your posts your privileges will be suspended for 48 hours....

Posted by: Ralph Feb 13 2007, 06:58 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 05:55 PM)
>
> There are all kinds out there Hercheys99.

Bingo! But I won't give your identity away in any post.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 13 2007, 06:59 PM

This is new to me...So he lives here too? Do they live together? If they are married why hide it? Earlier I thought it was stated that she was alone with her dog?????

Posted by: daylily Feb 13 2007, 07:02 PM

Didn't Glenetta or somebody just say the doctor didn't want her and it was jsut her and Sheltie?

Posted by: gracetoyou Feb 13 2007, 07:27 PM

Glenetta, can you give us any insight as to why Brenda Walsh, in the books Mending Broken People and From Battered to Blessed, consistently refers to Linda Shelton as "the vice-president" instead of calling her by her name, Linda Shelton?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 13 2007, 07:36 PM

We are all missing a big point in this debate and it's one I've already made!

Vastecomies are not 100% effective. Over time, a man can be fertile again. You may read my previous post for more information.

HOTY

Posted by: Bystander Feb 13 2007, 07:39 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 13 2007, 07:02 PM)
>
> Didn't Glenetta or somebody just say the doctor didn't want her and it was jsut her and Sheltie?

I think Glenetta was trying to say, in a nice way, that he didn't want to MARRY her.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 13 2007, 07:46 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 13 2007, 08:39 PM)
>
> I think Glenetta was trying to say, in a nice way, that he didn't want to MARRY her.

Glenetta gots a mouth that works... so let her state her specific meaning... that way you don't have to think...

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 13 2007, 07:59 PM)
>
> This is new to me...So he lives here too? Do they live together? If they are married why hide it? Earlier I thought it was stated that she was alone with her dog?????

Don't believe the hype, Sam.. a woman scorned and all that...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: calvin Feb 13 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> There are all kinds out there Hercheys99.
>
> edited for content..... glenetta this is your last warning this evening, if I have to edit another one of your posts your privileges will be suspended for 48 hours....

No, the suspension will be permanent. We are not going keep coming behind you editing post.

Posted by: erik Feb 13 2007, 11:13 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 13 2007, 05:39 PM) ☐
>
> I think Glenetta was trying to say, in a nice way, that he didn't want to MARRY her.

I have a set of questions for Glenetta and Bystander? (or any one else that knows the answers)

If the Doc. did not want to marry Linda, why not?

Why would any of you care if she did marry the Doc, your man is already remarried?

would linda marrying the Doc. prove there was an affair?

Who saw this ring on Linda finger at the GC(would like names), and Is there Pic's to Prove that the Ring exists?

Why do the rest of need to know if the Doc did not want to marry linda, is that some sort of a slam on linda?

Maybe the Doc was just showing some kinda of wisdom, that your Man danny could not by not getting married?

OR is all this talk about the Doc not wanting to marry linda just a bunch of hot air or gossip you pick the term you like best? (but, wait is that not what you accuse the rest of us of doing?)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 13 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 13 2007, 08:42 AM) ☐
>
> Go away. You've been lurking here trying to confuse things and muddy the waters. If you're here looking for the facts, I'm Pope Benedict.
>
> So the truth about what really happened with the pregnancy test came from Linda. Does that mean she was colluding with Church of God members for two decades scaring up allegations against Tommy so that Danny would get in trouble for trying to cover for his brother? Yeah, that's it. Or if not, maybe not all the stories came from Linda.
>
> Have you even read save3abn.com? I don't know how anyone could go through that information, which is documented and firsthand, and still believe that Danny doesn't have something to hide. I would love to see evidence that would exonerate Danny and Co. from the charges of embezzlement, covering up sex abuse, and character assassination--not because I'm a fan of 3ABN, but because people I love are fans and I don't want to see them or my church, my spiritual home, hurt. All we get from anyone connected with 3ABN is stonewalling, dissembling and denial--lies, like yours.

> If there's truth on 3ABN's side, let's have it, for God's sake. Don't you know what this is going to do to the church?
>
> I came back to these boards looking for better information so I could be prepared to deal with in my churches when it becomes more public. It doesn't help when people like you come in here prepared to defend Danny no matter what the cost--even your own integrity. I'm still new, but I feel that on blacksda, honest seekers are welcome here, if they're willing to do the reading to catch up--but not people who came with their minds made up over against any facts.
>
> Your logic doesn't follow normal rules. The rules for your logic are, defend Danny and make Linda look bad no matter whose words you have to twist. It's called lying, I see you doing it over and over again in this thread and others--so go away.

SoulEspresso, I really like your style! It is obvious that you have carefully studied the information here and on save3abn.

Posted by: erik Feb 13 2007, 11:43 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 04:14 PM)
>
> Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
> See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.
>
> We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ofl

Glenetta,

You seem tohave new information you are bringing to light that linda forced the divorce issue?

Can you please tell us based on what grounds that happenned, and any proof you might have would be awesome, because after nicely blaming linda for two plus years the 3abn is now saying she wanted and asked and made danny divorce her???????????

erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 13 2007, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 11:00 AM)
>
> Please Watchbird, let up..your words slay me...There is only ONE person? Sorry, there were 2 in > that room. You were told What Danny said and/or what his reactions were by her. You are also saying there is nill chance that what was told to you about why the test was purchased, could be a lie. Talk about naive.....

Did you hear Danny's part of the story? If so, what is it?

> QUOTE
>
> No one can possibly leap to generalizations as well as you. You have done it for months. Not to mention, common sense says, if you called to ask her about one thing, you asked her about a lot more incidents. All answers given obviously would be 100% true, therefore, you think you are "in the know." There are 2 sides to everything, maybe you should give the Danny the same courtesy as you have given Linda and ask him some of those questions. That would be the only fair way woudn't it? That is why marriage counselors talk to both people, because they cannot get a fair or accurate take on the situation by only hearing one side.
> Enough already. We know who your source is and you are no longer credible.

The Danny? This is a new one. Is that like The Donald? Sure hope he doesn't go for the same lame combover. ☒ rofl Sorry wwjd, I just couldn't resist. We all make mistakes and sometimes it's just un to playfully exploit them. Turnabout is fair play so I'll be waiting to see what you have in store for me.

Posted by: inga Feb 14 2007, 12:28 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 13 2007, 07:14 PM) ☐
>
> Exactly my point. Why did she insist that they get a divorce. Then there is L. showing up at the GC with the wedding band on. Did she re-marry? I don't know, but why would she wear a wedding band if not?
> See I guess that after the pregnancy test was discovered and she told D. that all he would ever get was a worn out dish rag, she was quite surprised when the new Mrs. S came along, 2 years later and did not match her-L prophecy for D.
>
> We are on a certain topic and I have learned what happens when you get ☒ ofl

And why should we believe you about the so-called "wedding band" when eye witnesses saw no wedding band?

You seem to know an awfully lot of things for someone not directly involved with Danny Shelton.

Maybe you are a fly and were on the wall when these conversations took place?

Posted by: daylily Feb 14 2007, 06:00 AM

The doctor didn't want to marry Linda but she had a wedding band on at the GC? You are not making any sense. Just what ARE your accusations?

Posted by: Grace Feb 14 2007, 06:23 AM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 14 2007, 01:00 PM)
> The doctor didn't want to marry Linda but she had a wedding band on at the GC? You are not making any sense. Just what ARE your accusations?

Yes, please, clarify!... And I'd like to have a straight answer, if you're able to give it, which i doubt.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 14 2007, 07:05 AM

All these questions for Glenetta. If she gets banned from here we'll never know the "truth".

Posted by: sister Feb 14 2007, 08:35 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 14 2007, 08:05 AM)
>
> All these questions for Glenetta. If she gets banned from here we'll never know the "truth".

rofl rofl

Posted by: Clay Feb 14 2007, 10:00 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 14 2007, 07:05 AM)
>
> All these questions for Glenetta. If she gets banned from here we'll never know the "truth".

that would be an oxymoron.... glenetta and truth? Come on Richard.... its more like glenetta and smoke & mirrors.... she is unregistered so I guess we will never know what else would have come from that warped view.....

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 14 2007, 10:02 AM

wwjd hasn't been on here in some hours but neither have I, so I'll reply to this.

wwjd, if you're still there, please read this carefully and be sure you understand it before you reply. I'm trying to be considerate.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 13 2007, 12:13 PM)

> charges of embezzlement? Right, Gailon would know...There has not been any evidence whatsoever of embezzlement. Maybe you are confusing Danny with Gailon. A man starts his own website. He is not a church leader, he is not an attorney and he is not a licensed investigator. But if it is there (the site) then it must be true. How, gullible & naive is that? Have you ever been to 3abn. Have you even met any of the people involved. Do you have a clue as to who all they have to account to? I doubt if you can answer yes to even one of those questions.

Lots of people here have been there and see it, firsthand, as Johann noted. His accounts are eyewitness--does that make him gullible? I want to believe the people at 3ABN are accountable to the same Person we're all accountable to--I'm writing this, because I'm accountable.

The truth is, unless you see something with your own eyes, or clear evidence to that something, it's hearsay. That's a legal term--it means, you told me, or I told you. None of us can possibly be eyewitness to everything we need to see or know in life--we have to rely on hearsay. A lot of what's in history books is old hearsay.

Some of what's on that save3abn.com website is hearsay. It's testimony of eyewitnesses, much of it, but it's hearsay to us until it's established in court.

Let's say that I say Danny is innocent and you say he's guilty. On what evidence? If I saw firsthand that Linda was having an affair (with a hidden camera or whatever), until I establish it with undoctored evidence, or my word is accepted in a court of law, all my words are hearsay to you. If you saw firsthand that Linda was not having an affair, until you establish it with undoctored evidence, your words are all hearsay to me.

For now, we have to rely on hearsay for our judgments. I have to rely on hearsay to help the people I'm spiritually responsible for through the upcoming crisis. I'm trying to weigh the hearsay--and although there are attitude problems on all sides, my own included, well ... I see evidence on one hand, and no evidence, or inadequate evidence on the other.

As for gullibility, that really depends on your point of view. If you happen to believe the wrong person's account of an event you did not see, does that make you gullible? I could accuse you of gullibility for believing something I don't, but unless you saw it yourself, my accusation means nothing.

Instead I accused you of lying because you took on Danny's tactic of saying, "See? She bought a pregnancy test! She's lying! She had an affair! So all these accusations that I swept child molestation allegations under the rug, and that I used 3ABN money for personal and family items--those are all lies too!" Danny has been using Linda's alleged affair for a smokescreen against all these other accusations. That doesn't mean any of them are true--it means Danny is either stupid or has something to hide--based on available evidence.

Maybe it was unkind to accuse you of lying--so I'm sorry if I was wrong and if I hurt your feelings. But at the very least , you have leaped to conclusions and said some unloving, unChristlike, un-WWJD things about some of these people here, without actually reading what they're saying. Let me demonstrate with one of my own posts.

> QUOTE
>
> As to your accusation of character assasination....I couldn't stop laughing...that was how many sentences after you just basically called Danny ,an embezzler, hiding sexual abuse, stonewalling, denial, dissembling and character assasination.

Now, either you're not paying attention, or you're deliberately distorting the facts (lying). Here's my post, edited for length (the rest is earlier in the thread):

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 13 2007, 09:42 AM) ☐
>
> So the truth about what really happened with the pregnancy test came from Linda. Does that mean she was colluding with Church of God members for two decades scaring up allegations against Tommy so that Danny would get in trouble for trying to cover for his brother? If not, maybe not all the stories came from Linda.
>
> Have you even read save3abn.com? I don't know how anyone could go through that information, which is documented and firsthand, and still believe that Danny doesn't have something to hide. I would love to see evidence that would exonerate Danny and Co. from the charges of embezzlement, covering up sex abuse, and character assassination--not because I'm a fan of 3ABN, but because people I love are fans and I don't want to see them or my church, my spiritual home, hurt. All we get from anyone connected with 3ABN is stonewalling, dissembling and denial--lies, like yours.
>
> If there's truth on 3ABN's side, let's have it, for God's sake. Don't you know what this is going to do to the church?

See? I was pointing to the fact that the evidence presented paints Danny in a terrible light. I don't want any of these things to be true! I don't want Danny to be a liar or a crook, I don't want Tommy to be a child molestor, I don't want Linda to be an adulteress, I don't want 3ABN to go down in flames, and most of all I DON'T WANT THE NAME OF CHRIST TO BE DRAGGED THROUGH THE MUD!

So if you've got evidence that is not based on what you read or what somebody told you, let's have it. If you're an eyewitness, identify yourself and start giving names and dates. (After all, we know who a lot of the people on this board are!) Otherwise, get thee ...

Posted by: erik Feb 14 2007, 10:17 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 14 2007, 08:02 AM) ☐
>
> wwjd hasn't been on here in some hours but neither have I, so I'll reply to this.
>
> wwjd, if you're still there, please read this carefully and be sure you understand it before you reply. I'm trying to be considerate.
> Lots of people here have been there and see it, firsthand, as Johann noted. His accounts are eyewitness--does that make him gullible? I want to believe the people at 3ABN are accountable to the same Person we're all accountable to--I'm writing this, because I'm accountable.
>
> The truth is, unless you see something with your own eyes, or clear evidence to that something, it's hearsay. That's a legal term--it means, you told me, or I told you. None of us can possibly be eyewitness to everything we need to see or know in life--we have to rely on hearsay. A lot of what's in history books is old hearsay.
>
> Some of what's on that save3abn.com website is hearsay. It's testimony of eyewitnesses, much of it, but it's hearsay to us until it's established in court.
>
> Let's say that I say Danny is innocent and you say he's guilty. On what evidence? If I saw firsthand that Linda was having an affair (with a hidden camera or whatever), until I establish it with undoctored evidence, or my word is accepted in a court of law, all my words are hearsay to you. If > you saw firsthand that Linda was not having an affair, until you establish it with undoctored evidence, your words are all hearsay to me.

>
> For now, we have to rely on hearsay for our judgments. I have to rely on hearsay to help the people I'm spiritually responsible for through the upcoming crisis. I'm trying to weigh the hearsay--and although there are attitude problems on all sides, my own included, well ... I see evidence on one hand, and no evidence, or inadequate evidence on the other.
>
> As for gullibility, that really depends on your point of view. If you happen to believe the wrong person's account of an event you did not see, does that make you gullible? I could accuse you of gullibility for believing something I don't, but unless you saw it yourself, my accusation means nothing.
>
> Instead I accused you of lying because you took on Danny's tactic of saying, "See? She bought a pregnancy test! She's lying! She had an affair! So all these accusations that I swept child molestation allegations under the rug, and that I used 3ABN money for personal and family items--those are all lies too!" Danny has been using Linda's alleged affair for a smokescreen against all these other accusations. That doesn't mean any of them are true--it means Danny is either stupid or has something to hide--based on available evidence.
>
> Maybe it was unkind to accuse you of lying--so I'm sorry if I was wrong and if I hurt your feelings. But at the very least , you have leaped to conclusions and said some unloving, unChristlike, un-WWJD things about some of these people here, without actually reading what they're saying. Let me demonstrate with one of my own posts.
> Now, either you're not paying attention, or you're deliberately distorting the facts (lying). Here's my post, edited for length (the rest is earlier in the thread):
> See? I was pointing to the fact that the evidence presented paints Danny in a terrible light. I don't want any of these things to be true! I don't want Danny to be a liar or a crook, I don't want Tommy to be a child molestor, I don't want Linda to be an adulteress, I don't want 3ABN to go down in flames, and most of all I DON'T WANT THE NAME OF CHRIST TO BE DRAGGED THROUGH THE MUD!
>
> So if you've got evidence that is not based on what you read or what somebody told you, let's have it. If you're an eyewitness, identify yourself and start giving names and dates. (After all, we know who a lot of the people on this board are!) Otherwise, get thee ...

Amen, Amen, Amen

Erik

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 14 2007, 11:48 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 14 2007, 08:17 AM)
>
> Amen, Amen, Amen
> Erik

AMEN AMEN AMEN

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 14 2007, 04:09 PM

Of course Clay I was kidding, why else would I put the word "truth" in quotes?

Richard

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 14 2007, 11:00 AM)
>
> that would be an oxymoron.... glenetta and truth? Come on Richard.... its more like glenetta and smoke & mirrors.... she is unregistered so I guess we will never know what else would have come from that warped view.....

Posted by: Clay Feb 14 2007, 04:15 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 14 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> Of course Clay I was kidding, why else would I put the word "truth" in quotes?
>
> Richard

yeah I figured as much.... just makin sure...lol

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 15 2007, 01:47 PM

I have one other question...yes I know it has been talked about before. If Linda loved Danny as she claims, why the pregnancy test? I know it was said to be a practical joke, etc. But why would she not think it would set him off? On the other hand if she thought she was pregnant why would she not take the test somewhere else? The test just doesn't make sense for either side....

moved from another thread....

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 15 2007, 01:53 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> I have one other question...yes I know it has been talked about before. If Linda loved Danny as she claims, why the pregnancy test? I know it was said to be a practical joke, etc. But why would she not think it would set him off? On the other hand if she thought she was pregnant why would she not take the test somewhere else? The test just doesn't make sense for either side....

ofl

moved from another thread....

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 15 2007, 01:59 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 15 2007, 12:53 PM)
>
> ofl

I am not off topic, Linda claimed in her letter that she was in love with Danny. And she was 100% faithful...so I would like to hear her explanation of the test.

moved from another thread....

Posted by: calvin Feb 15 2007, 02:01 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 01:47 PM)
>
> I have one other question...yes I know it has been talked about before. If Linda loved Danny as she claims, why the pregnancy test? I know it was said to be a practical joke, etc. But why would she not think it would set him off? On the other hand if she thought she was pregnant why would she not take the test somewhere else? The test just doesn't make sense for either side....

Sam, you know we already have a pregnancy test thread going. So DON'T HIJACK THIS THREAD or anybody else hijack it either. Go over there and get your answer.

moved from another thread....

Posted by: watchbird Feb 15 2007, 02:06 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 02:59 PM)
>
> I am not off topic, Linda claimed in her letter that she was in love with Danny. And she was 100% faithful...so I would like to hear her explanation of the test.

You have been given her explanation of the incident... several times. It is something that is covered in the Unauthorized History.... and it also has been discussed at length in at least two other threads that come to mind immediately... and there may be more. Use the search function. Don't forget to reset the parameters so the results will point to each individual post rather than to a thread. You can find it. It does not need to be brought up in yet another thread. If you read everything and still have questions, then ask them in one of the threads devoted to that topic. But keep in mind that "why" questions do not have answers that are satisfying.... especially when they involve why someone does whatever they do.

moved from another thread...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 15 2007, 02:13 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 12:59 PM)
>
> I am not off topic, Linda claimed in her letter that she was in love with Danny. And she was 100% faithful...so I would like to hear her explanation of the test.

Uncle Sam, I can see your logic but I also see that asking this question here, like Calvin states, would be hijacking the thread.

What I would suggest since Linda's letter clearly states that she doesn't visit the chat rooms and, therefore, you cannot realistically expect her to answer this question here, it might be best to go to her web site and email her. When you get your answer, please share it with the rest of us (over in the pregnancy test thread).

PB

moved from another thread....

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 15 2007, 02:24 PM

Watchbird and PB why don't you go answer Uncle Sam in the appropriate thread so he can answer you too?

Off topic discussion is never caused by just one...

Observer, I just read your really long multiple replies to me ...

have you ever heard of the KISS principle? as in Keep it simple silly?

I'll get back to you, with a simple rebuttal.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 15 2007, 02:30 PM

I read the new letter from Linda. She states that she loved Danny so much, than why the pregnancy test? I know it was said to be a practical joke, etc. But why would she not think it would set him off? On the other hand if she thought she was pregnant why would she not take the test somewhere else? The test just doesn't make sense for either side....

I am not on either side just trying to see how all of the pieces fit together....

BTW I have emailed Linda to ask her the same, she hasn't had time to respond, but hopefully she will.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 15 2007, 02:56 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 03:30 PM) ☐
>
> I read the new letter from Linda. She states that she loved Danny so much, than why the pregnancy test? I know it was said to be a practical joke, etc. But why would she not think it would set him off? On the other hand if she thought she was pregnant why would she not take the test somewhere else? The test just doesn't make sense for either side....
>
> I am not on either side just trying to see how all of the pieces fit together....
>
> BTW I have emailed Linda to ask her the same, she hasn't had time to respond, but hopefully she will.

I find it very difficult to believe that you have gone through all of the other threads where this has been discussed at length. This thread which is called a "poll" was AFTER the threads in which the subject had been discussed in great detail.

If you are really wanting to see how the pieces all fit together, then your first task is to find and examine all of the "pieces"... rather than asking others to regurgitate and reproduce the pieces that have already been discussed from a myriad of perspectives and angles.

They are here! But very few of them are in this thread. Go and look for them.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 25 2007, 07:27 PM

I have just received an email sent by Linda from her daughter's email account on May 6, 2004. It appears to document before the fact the idea that the pregnancy test was intended to be a joke. The fact that she used her daughter's email account suggests that her daughter was indeed in on the prank.

It is said that in divorces both sides are always wrong in some way. Linda erred in pulling such a stupid prank. I think she'll admit that freely.

One troubling detail that I would like to get Danny or his aliases/comrades to comment on is that she claims that when Danny pawed through the sack and found the kit (maybe it never got hidden in the car as originally planned), they both laughed. She took that to mean that Danny understood it to be a joke. Comments?

> QUOTE(Linda Shelton @ Thu, 6 May 2004 17:21:55 -0700 (PDT))
>
> Date: Thu, 6 May 2004 17:21:55 -0700 (PDT)
> From: [Linda's daughter]

> To: [Dr. Arild Abrahamsen]
>
> ...
>
> You know how Dan has been searching my car? I've got a little surprise for him. But I wanted to warn you that a brand new rumor may very well make its way to Norway. Tomorrow he's going to find a carefully hidden pregnancy test in it. My only regret is that I won't be there to see his face. Do you think it will be worth the rumors?? I think so!!
>
> ...
>
> LS

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 25 2007, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 25 2007, 09:27 PM)
>
> I have just received an email sent by Linda from her daughter's email account on May 6, 2004. It appears to document before the fact the idea that the pregnancy test was intended to be a joke. The fact that she used her daughter's email account suggests that her daughter was indeed in on the prank.
>
> It is said that in divorces both sides are always wrong in some way. Linda erred in pulling such a stupid prank. I think she'll admit that freely.
>
> One troubling detail that I would like to get Danny or his aliases/comrades to comment on is that she claims that when Danny pawed through the sack and found the kit (maybe it never got hidden in the car as originally planned), they both laughed. She took that to mean that Danny understood it to be a joke. Comments?

Bob,

You have avoided this quesion. Can you take a moment and head http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12650&view=findpost&p=180119and answer the question you were presened with?

FHB

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 09:58 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 26 2007, 05:50 AM)
>
> Bob,
>
> You have avoided this quesion. Can you take a moment and head http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12650&view=findpost&p=180119and answer the question you were presened with?

> - FHB

Now the Dannscribes are desperate. What is the question?

can confirm the information given, because I also knew of their shopping trip and what they bought before Danny discovered it.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 25 2007, 10:05 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 11:58 PM)
>
> Now the Dannscribes are desperate. What is the question?
>
> I can confirm the information given, because I also knew of their shopping trip and what they bought before Danny discovered it.

ohann,

Click the word HERE. Simply as that.

FHB

Posted by: Bystander Feb 25 2007, 11:21 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 25 2007, 07:27 PM)
>
> One troubling detail that I would like to get Danny or his aliases/comrades to comment on is that she claims that when Danny pawed through the sack and found the kit (maybe it never got hidden in the car as originally planned), they both laughed. She took that to mean that Danny understood it to be a joke. Comments?

Right, right, It all makes sense now. He was already suspecting that she was having an affair...then he inds, what appears to be, a hidden pregnancy test. Yes,yes, I bet he absolutely doubled over with aughter. What a funny joke. When he found it "they both laughed" which would imply they were ogether. Why would he be "pawing" through her things right in front of her. I believe somewhere she had said that she wasn't in the same room which was why he was "pawing" through her things.

The email submitted between Linda and the Doctor only goes against her. Who sends an email of a somewhat "intimate" nature to a physician that you have a strictly professional relationship with? At he very least, she is telling him about a haha joke she is going to play on her husband while at the same time, the doctor knows it is "he" who is the suspect. Yes , that is all hilarious. Makes total sense

---

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 12:47 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 26 2007, 06:05 AM)
>
> Johann,
>
> Click the word HERE. Simply as that.
>
> - FHB

I did and lo and behold there I found nothing relevant to this!

Posted by: Ex3ABNViewer Feb 26 2007, 04:58 AM

This email if it is true makes me sad. It shows the spirit of what Linda was trying to do and she knew the trouble, "rumors", it would bring. It does not sound like she was acting in a Christian way which is what her defenders say she has maintained taking the higher road in all of this. After reading this it is easy for me to now see how she could taunt Danny as has been posted by his defenders. It is all so sad to me that this seems to be her true character.

Posted by: Observer Feb 26 2007, 05:28 AM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer @ Feb 26 2007, 03:58 AM)
>
> This email if it is true makes me sad. It shows the spirit of what Linda was trying to do and she knew the trouble, "rumors", it would bring. It does not sound like she was acting in a Christian way which is what her defenders say she has maintained taking the higher road in all of this. After reading this it is easy for me to now see how she could taunt Danny as has been posted by his defenders. It is all so sad to me that this seems to be her true character.

Linda's defenders have never claimed that she was perfect.

The central issues here, as we see them are:

1) Did Linda give Danny Biblical reasons to divorce her, as understood by the typical conservative SDA follower of 3-ABN? For that person, Biblical reasons are physical adultery. For us, that answer is "NO she did not."

2) The manner in which Danny and 3-ABN treated Linda following the divorce.

Folks, these two issues are still ongoing. They are the reasons that we are still at this point of impasse. If Danny and 3-ABN had simply allowed Linda to ride quietly off into the sunset, we would likely not be at the place where we are today.

It should be noted that is seems to me to be the goal of 3-ABN supporters to take the focus off of the central issues, and to focus on much more minor issues. Find some event in which one can charge that Linda responded in a less than perfect way. Place the focus on that, and people will either forget the main charges, or will doubt them.

That is exactly how lawyers conduct cross-examinations. They attempt to generate doubt in some minor issue in the testimony. By doing so they can transfer that doubt to the main issue even when they can not mount a challenge directly to it.

As to the pregnancy test: If Linda had it to do over again, if she could have foreseen the consequences, I do not believe that this would have developed as it has. All of us have probably, under great stress, done something that we later came to realize was dumb, and we really did not realize fully the consequences of our actions.

As has been pointed out there are several good reasons for the purchase of that pregnancy test:

1) It could have been for someone else.

2) People (Danny) who have been "fixed" do have the "fix" go bad and father children. Linda was still living with Danny at the time. She may have needed to check to see if Danny was on the way to becoming a Father.

After everything has been said. One still might say that Linda demonstrated her humanity, and her lack of perfection in the development of this issue. To that I will say: Focus on the central issues. Linda has never been claimed by us to be perfect.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 26 2007, 06:44 AM

Being stupid is not the same as being guilty. I think we've all done stupid and dumb things as jokes or for other innocent reasons only to have them blow up in our faces. Hindsight is 20 20 as they say. Lets not let this be the ultimate red herring.

Richard

Posted by: lurker Feb 26 2007, 07:19 AM

If I were in Linda's place at the time, and still cared for my husband; If I felt that he was behaving ridiculously suspicious and felt that he could be teased about his behavior and shown how silly it was; If we had joked about various things in the past and had been able to see the absurdity of some of the situations we had found ourselves in and laughed about them, I might have done it too.

In my eyes, his jealousy would either have kept escalating or he would have had to realize that it was unreasonable and bizzare. Do you meet the preposturous with an outlandish joke? Maybe if you are hoping he will come back down to earth and resume normal thinking. Maybe if you love him and feel that he still loves you too.

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 09:37 AM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer @ Feb 26 2007, 04:58 AM)
>
> This email if it is true makes me sad. It shows the spirit of what Linda was trying to do and she knew the trouble, "rumors", it would bring. It does not sound like she was acting in a Christian way which is what her defenders say she has maintained taking the higher road in all of this. After reading this it is easy for me to now see how she could taunt Danny as has been posted by his > defenders. It is all so sad to me that this seems to be her true character.

ıot necessarily.... if you understand the context then the behavior makes more sense..... this one ncident while viewed as a stupid thing to do does NOT make one an adulterer... in spite of what the lannyclones may have been programmed to believe and defend vigorously.....

Posted by: missthg Feb 26 2007, 09:48 AM the dannyclones as you call them seem to have a lifetime perscription for stuck on stupid pills....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 07:37 AM)
>
> not necessarily.... if you understand the context then the behavior makes more sense..... this one incident while viewed as a stupid thing to do does NOT make one an adulterer... in spite of what the dannyclones may have been programmed to believe and defend vigorously.....

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 26 2007, 09:50 AM

Being new, I haven't read all the other threads that discuss this in detail, but if it's true that Linda committed "spiritual" adultry, well...what an opportunity for a hardliner to stone the woman, per John 8, Lev 20, and Deut 22. And of course the same would go for any married man that even looks at another woman admiringly.

The way Muslim's handle this type of thing, and the way God instructed Israel to deal with marriage problems (until Christ introduced the new way).

What are we to do with a lost sheep? Yell at it, give it three chances to want to do better, then kick it while it's down, or offer it some money to stay away. And don't think about what casused that sheep to became so scared and confused.

I kind of wonder if they both wanted out at this point. Things may not have been going very good anyway, and never is when God isn't in the marriage. This may have been the opportunity to jump, with every hard argument why.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 26 2007, 10:23 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 26 2007, 10:50 AM)
>
> Being new, I haven't read all the other threads that discuss this in detail, but if it's true that Linda committed "spiritual" adultry, well...what an opportunity for a hardliner to stone the woman, per John 8, Lev 20, and Deut 22. And of course the same would go for any married man that even looks at another woman admiringly.
>
> The way Muslim's handle this type of thing, and the way God instructed Israel to deal with marriage problems (until Christ introduced the new way).
>
> What are we to do with a lost sheep? Yell at it, give it three chances to want to do better, then kick it while it's down, or offer it some money to stay away. And don't think about what casused that > sheep to became so scared and confused.

>
> I kind of wonder if they both wanted out at this point. Things may not have been going very good anyway, and never is when God isn't in the marriage. This may have been the opportunity to jump, with every hard argument why.

aurenceD, as the name of this thread says... this one was a spinoff from another thread... and it was n that one where this subject had already been discussed and cussed and discussed again until it was varn to shreds. It would probably be much more helpful if additional comments on this topic would be nostly put on that other thread... unless Clay gets in a "bonding mode" and pastes the two together. hint... hint...) And I've now bumped that one forward so reading from it will be easier to do.

arry on......... ☒ TVsnack. ....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 01:44 PM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer @ Feb 26 2007, 04:58 AM) ☐
>
> This email if it is true makes me sad. It shows the spirit of what Linda was trying to do and she knew the trouble, "rumors", it would bring. It does not sound like she was acting in a Christian way which is what her defenders say she has maintained taking the higher road in all of this. After reading this it is easy for me to now see how she could taunt Danny as has been posted by his defenders. It is all so sad to me that this seems to be her true character.

ou have true insight, which is rare on this board. To act like that they had a "good laugh" together ver this is absolutely ridiculous. I believe Richard S. said something to that affect. There is nothing unny if you believe your wife or husband is cheating on you. If you are sure in your own mind, and ure you are being lied to you are filled with hurt and pain. The relationship is already strained to the nax, then you find a pregnancy test, knowing you have had a vasectomy years before. They had a ood Laugh together about it? I think not. I doubt they were laughing about anything at this point in ime, much less something like that. A joke? I don't think so.

Posted by: erik Feb 26 2007, 01:50 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 11:44 AM) ☐
>
> You have true insight, which is rare on this board. To act like that they had a "good laugh" together over this is absolutely ridiculous. I believe Richard S. said something to that affect. There is nothing funny if you believe your wife or husband is cheating on you. If you are sure in your own mind, and sure you are being lied to you are filled with hurt and pain. The relationship is already strained to the max, then you find a pregnancy test, knowing you have had a vasectomy years before. They had a good Laugh together about it? I think not. I doubt they were laughing about anything at this point in time, much less something like that. A joke? I don't think so.

bystander,

It was a poor joke and yes unchristlike, but it also happens to be about the only thing you have on linda.

I mean the PTK does not prove that she was having an affair, it is also clear from the letter that danny was already making wild charges against her.

So if you want to charge linda with playing a joke that was unwise and even unchristlike fine.

but at least admit that this "joke" was not done in vacuum, I the tone of the letter also said in a way that strongly suggests that no affair was on going, only the charges that one was.

So again i would say that you and danny should put out the proof of the affair and but an end to Linda's "lies"

erik

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 02:10 PM

Here's some insight.... if all it takes is a pregnancy test kit for you to run off and get a divorce, you were looking for any excuse to get out of the marriage.....

Let's compare that with Joseph who found out that the person he was engaged to was pregnant and not by him....

nuff said.... how's that for insight....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 02:10 PM)
>
> Here's some insight.... if all it takes is a pregnancy test kit for you to run off and get a divorce, you were looking for any excuse to get out of the marriage.....
>
> Let's compare that with Joseph who found out that the person he was engaged to was pregnant and not by him....
>
> nuff said.... how's that for insight....

Since nowhere has it been stated that anyone got a divorce due to the discovery of a pregnancy test, I would have to say that your "insight" is somewhat lacking once again. You need to be careful, you are starting to put the "pickle spin" on things.

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 02:15 PM)
>
> Since nowhere has it been stated that anyone got a divorce due to the discovery of a pregnancy test, I would have to say that your "insight" is somewhat lacking once again. You need to be careful, you are starting to put the "pickle spin" on things.

thank you for your response... I disagree.... have a good day....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 26 2007, 05:35 PM

Excellent point Clay.

Which brings up the fact that even if Linda was guilty of adultery, Danny, if he really loved her like he claimed, would have fought tooth and nail to preserve the union. Even if she had pressed him for a divorce he would have resisted, instead what happened? A quickie divorce in Guam.

Richard

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 03:10 PM)
>
> Here's some insight.... if all it takes is a pregnancy test kit for you to run off and get a divorce, you were looking for any excuse to get out of the marriage.....
>
> Let's compare that with Joseph who found out that the person he was engaged to was pregnant and not by him....
>
> nuff said.... how's that for insight....

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 26 2007, 05:50 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 26 2007, 06:28 AM)
>
> Linda's defenders have never claimed that she was perfect.
>
> The central issues here, as we see them are:
>
> 1) Did Linda give Danny Biblical reasons to divorce her, as understood by the typical conservative SDA follower of 3-ABN? For that person, Biblical reasons are physical adultery. For us, that answer is "NO she did not."
>
> 2) The manner in which Danny and 3-ABN treated Linda following the divorce.
>
> Folks, these two issues are still ongoing. They are the reasons that we are still at this point of impasse. If Danny and 3-ABN had simply allowed Linda to ride quietly off into the sunset, we would > likely not be at the place where we are today.

>
> It should be noted that is seems to me to be the goal of 3-ABN supporters to take the focus off of the central issues, and to focus on much more minor issues. Find some event in which one can charge that Linda responded in a less than perfect way. Place the focus on that, and people will either forget the main charges, or will doubt them.
>
> That is exactly how lawyers conduct cross-examinations. They attempt to generate doubt in some minor issue in the testimony. By doing so they can transfer that doubt to the main issue even when they can not mount a challenge directly to it.
>
> As to the pregnancy test: If Linda had it to do over again, if she could have foreseen the consequences, I do not believe that this would have developed as it has. All of us have probably, under great stress, done something that we later came to realize was dumb, and we really did not realize fully the consequences of our actions.
> As has been pointed out there are several good reasons for the purchase of that pregnancy test:
>
> 1) It could have been for someone else.
>
> 2) People (Danny) who have been "fixed" do have the "fix" go bad and father children. Linda was still living with Danny at the time. She may have needed to check to see if Danny was on the way to becoming a Father.
>
> After everything has been said. One still might say that Linda demonstrated her humanity, and her lack of perfection in the development of this issue. To that I will say: Focus on the central issues. Linda has never been claimed by us to be perfect.

Well it's not about being less then perfect, AFAIC it's a nasty cruel joke to play on your spouse.

Here's another question, if this letter is legit.

She'd talked to the Doctor about D.S. searching her car before, why???

How did she know that? Because D.S. found something in it? Like the nice watch the Doctor had given L.S.??

Somehow I don't believe either Linda or Danny were laughing...

The fact that she was laughing with the Doctor and her husband was the butt of the joke?

Sick...

Posted by: andithomas1 Feb 26 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 26 2007, 05:50 PM) ☐
>
> Well it's not about being less then perfect, AFAIC it's a nasty cruel joke to play on your spouse.
>
> Here's another question, if this letter is legit.
>
> She'd talked to the Doctor about D.S. searching her car before, why???

> How did she know that? Because D.S. found something in it? Like the nice watch the Doctor had given L.S.??
> Somehow I don't believe either Linda or Danny were laughing...
>
> The fact that she was laughing with the Doctor and her husband was the butt of the joke?
>
> Sick...

Sick-No
nappropriate-maybe
Having sex with minors-abominable

Posted by: gardener Feb 26 2007, 06:59 PM

Having gone through a rather nasty divorce myself I can understand why Linda would have planted the preg test knowing that DS was pawing through all her things just looking for anything to back up his paranoid suspections. We don't always use the best descretion at times like those. Sometimes it turns into games of payback. Not always the smartest things to do but sometime irrisistable non the less.

Posted by: erik Feb 26 2007, 07:09 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Feb 26 2007, 04:10 PM)
>
> Sick-No
> Inappropriate-maybe
> Having sex with minors-abominable

great points

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 26 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> Well it's not about being less then perfect, AFAIC it's a nasty cruel joke to play on your spouse.
>
> Here's another question, if this letter is legit.
>
> She'd talked to the Doctor about D.S. searching her car before, why???
>
> How did she know that? Because D.S. found something in it? Like the nice watch the Doctor had given L.S.??
> Somehow I don't believe either Linda or Danny were laughing...
>
> The fact that she was laughing with the Doctor and her husband was the butt of the joke?

> Sick...

hank you for your response... I disagree.... the fact remains while the prank might have been in poor aste it should not have been the catalyst for him to seek a divorce.... continue to spin it, but that is a asic fact.... have a nice day....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 26 2007, 08:59 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 11:37 AM) ☐
>
> not necessarily.... if you understand the context then the behavior makes more sense..... this one incident while viewed as a stupid thing to do does NOT make one an adulterer... in spite of what the dannyclones may have been programmed to believe and defend vigorously.....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 10:25 PM) ☐
>
> ....the fact remains while the prank might have been in poor taste it should not have been the catalyst for him to seek a divorce.... continue to spin it, but that is a basic fact.... have a nice day....

ead on point....to which I place my "mini-skit" up yet again....

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 29 2006, 03:02 PM) ☐
>
> He (H) - You cheatin' on my gurl?
>
> She (S) - No baby - you know I ain't cheatin on you....
>
> H - Yeah, I think you are cheatin on me. Where you been all day?
>
> S - I've been at work. I work from 8 am to 5pm...and It's only 5:06pm now....
>
> H - What you been doing since 5pm?
>
> S - You know what....I'mma admit it. I was cheatin' for 1 minutes. Although it takes me 5 minutes to get home, we did it in one minute, I sped home and yes. I'm cheatin on you.
>
> H - I knew it!
>
> S - You stupid!
>
> H - I knew it. Guess what? I've been cheatin on you too?
>
> S - I been known you were cheatin on me.....I just haven't been cheatin on you....
>
> H - You jes admitted it!
>
> S - Dummy! Can you add up time....only one person in the world can do something in one minute ....you.
>
> H - Ohhhhh. Now you're jes being mean....

> S - No! I'm being truthful....I wasn't cheating on you...but you jes proved my Momma right. You only go about repeatedly accusing when you know you're dirty yourself....
>
> H - Huh?
>
> S - Nevermind....I gotta go pack a bag...
>
> H - Where you going?
>
> S - Duh! Where are you going.....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 10:15 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 26 2007, 05:50 PM) ☐
>
> Well it's not about being less then perfect, AFAIC it's a nasty cruel joke to play on your spouse.
>
> Here's another question, if this letter is legit.
>
> She'd talked to the Doctor about D.S. searching her car before, why???
>
> How did she know that? Because D.S. found something in it? Like the nice watch the Doctor had given L.S.??
> Somehow I don't believe either Linda or Danny were laughing...
>
> The fact that she was laughing with the Doctor and her husband was the butt of the joke?
>
> Sick...

Excellent point Aletheia. She had obviously been talking to the Doc about the details of her marriage. Why? Her only contact was supposed to be about Nathan. She was obviously close enough "friends" with the Doc to laugh with him at what she was doing to DS. You have her talking to another man about something as private as her marriage, laughing with him at her husband, receiving a watch from him and you all wonder why Danny was afraid for their marriage and looked through her things?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 26 2007, 10:52 PM

In other words, "at last we have proof of her cheatin, yes sirrie right there proof that she was talkin to the good doc about something other than Nathan and by george that means cheatin, cheatin I tell ya, and that's good enough for a divorce, yup she was a cheatin alright. Cheatin over the phone lines (kinky). Good enough for a Guam quickie divorce" while Rome burns

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 11:15 PM) ☐
>
> Excellent point Aletheia. She had obviously been talking to the Doc about the details of her marriage. Why? Her only contact was supposed to be about Nathan. She was obviously close enough "friends" with the Doc to laugh with him at what she was doing to DS. You have her talking to another man about something as private as her marriage, laughing with him at her husband, receiving a watch from him and you all wonder why Danny was afraid for their marriage and looked through her things?

Posted by: erik Feb 26 2007, 11:03 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 08:15 PM) ☐
>
> Excellent point Aletheia. She had obviously been talking to the Doc about the details of her marriage. Why? Her only contact was supposed to be about Nathan. She was obviously close enough "friends" with the Doc to laugh with him at what she was doing to DS. You have her talking to another man about something as private as her marriage, laughing with him at her husband, receiving a watch from him and you all wonder why Danny was afraid for their marriage and looked through her things?

Bystander,

THE PTK test by its self means nothing.

The letter were she is talking to the doc, about something other then Nathan, HELLO she very clearly is warning the doc, that rumors are going to get deeper about them because of her "joke".

It would seem to me that she clearly was already being charged with rumors about the doc.

SO while I agree the PTK test was a foolish thing to do, it is not proof of an affair.

It is clear from the letter that the linda and the doc had at least a casual friendship, but i am not sure were having casual friends of the oppiste sex when you are married person is the same has having AFFAIRS.

Bystander, if you have a a problem with Linda's sense of humor i can understand and even agree with that, but to grow a joke into something more that is pushing it.

But what bothers me is that YOU and others of the defend Danny crowd clearly believe that the only reason that Linda bought the PTK was because she had been having sexual intercourse with the Good DOC from Norway, and was worried that she was with child, and IS CLEARLY not the case from the

PTK and the letter.

NOW IF,

you have some other proof stop sitting on it and bring it out, my best guess that it does not exist.

ERik

Posted by: sister Feb 27 2007, 12:00 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 12:03 AM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> THE PTK test by its self means nothing.
>
> The letter were she is talking to the doc, about something other then Nathan, HELLO she very clearly is warning the doc, that rumors are going to get deeper about them because of her "joke".
>
> It would seem to me that she clearly was already being charged with rumors about the doc.
>
> SO while I agree the PTK test was a foolish thing to do, it is not proof of an affair.
>
> It is clear from the letter that the linda and the doc had at least a casual friendship, but i am not sure were having casual friends of the oppiste sex when you are married person is the same has having AFFAIRS.
>
> Bystander, if you have a a problem with Linda's sense of humor i can understand and even agree with that, but to grow a joke into something more that is pushing it.
>
> But what bothers me is that YOU and others of the defend Danny crowd clearly believe that the only reason that Linda bought the PTK was because she had been having sexual intercourse with the Good DOC from Norway, and was worried that she was with child, and IS CLEARLY not the case from the PTK and the letter.
>
> NOW IF,
>
> you have some other proof stop sitting on it and bring it out, my best guess that it does not exist.
> ERik

Erik, there is no proof because there was no affair. If Bystander and Co. have proof, than I am willing to listen. If not, then it is just more evil surmising on their part. End of story.

Sister

Posted by: Bystander Feb 27 2007, 12:41 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 27 2007, 12:00 AM)
>
> Erik, there is no proof because there was no affair. If Bystander and Co. have proof, than I am willing to listen. If not, then it is just more evil surmising on their part. End of story.
>
> Sister

I truly wish it was the end of the story, but sadly it is not. Let me just say that no one on this board has done any more evil surmising, accusing and throwing allegations than you, sister. You have shown, over and over that you care not who gets hurt by your evil slander. Even children are not exempt when you try to ruin their parents. And don't try to tell me that whomever, did it to themselves by their own behavior because, you know and God knows, no matter what anyone did or didn't do, it doesn't need to be all over the internet. I really have no idea why that you hate 3abn so much, or why you hate the shelton's so much, and truthfully, I really don't care. No matter what vengeance you seek and and what reasons you have for doing so, nothing excuses your attempts at trying to destroy, reputations, families, marriages, the children involved, a whole entire church, and a great ministry. You have even slandered the families of your "friends." With friends like you, who needs enemy's. You have allowed your evil imagination and surmisings to run wild, and have shown nothing or no one any kind of respect, not even for those that are deceased and cannot defend themselves. Your hate and bitterness show through with every post that you make. The word says, If you are guilty of breaking one, then you are guilty of breaking all.....think about it...slander, untruths, deceitful insinuations, the spreading of rumors, it is all sin in the eyes of God. Therefore, you are no less sinful than those that you accuse of such horrible wrongs.
The difference between you and others on your side of the camp, is that you never just make statements that you don't like DS or the way he does things or you think there needs to be some changes made etc etc...you dive in and try to drive blows way below the belt and you don't care who gets in the way. Some of the people you have tried to destroy have never, done anything to you. And, in fact, have been good to you. But hey they are just deterrents on your mission to try and take DS down, so strike them down too, no matter who they are.
I would love for christianitys sake to just say you don't realize what you are doing or you are just making some big mistakes. But I can't. The things you have said are calculated and thought out. Just remember whether a person murders, steals, commits adultery, or assasinates a persons character with slander, falsehoods and halftruths, the fires will burn the same for the sinners. It isn't too late to stop what you are doing. I and others pray for you and for the bitterness and hate that pushes you to do this. We will keep praying.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 01:43 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 10:41 PM)

I truly wish it was the end of the story, but sadly it is not. Let me just say that no one on this board has done any more evil surmising, accusing and throwing allegations than you, sister. You have shown, over and over that you care not who gets hurt by your evil slander. Even children are not exempt when you try to ruin their parents. And don't try to tell me that whomever, did it to themselves by their own behavior because, you know and God knows, no matter what anyone did or didn't do, it doesn't need to be all over the internet. I really have no idea why that you hate 3abn so much, or why you hate the shelton's so much, and truthfully, I really don't care. No matter what vengeance you seek and and what reasons you have for doing so, nothing excuses your attempts at trying to destroy, reputations, families, marriages, the children involved, a whole entire church, and a great ministry. You have even slandered the families of your "friends." With friends like you, who needs enemy's. You have allowed your evil imagination and surmisings to run wild, and have shown nothing or no one any kind of respect, not even for those that are deceased and cannot defend themselves. Your hate and bitterness show through with every post that you make.

> The word says, If you are guilty of breaking one, then you are guilty of breaking all.....think about it...slander, untruths, deceitful insinuations, the spreading of rumors, it is all sin in the eyes of God. Therefore, you are no less sinful than those that you accuse of such horrible wrongs.
> The difference between you and others on your side of the camp, is that you never just make statements that you don't like DS or the way he does things or you think there needs to be some changes made etc etc...you dive in and try to drive blows way below the belt and you don't care who gets in the way. Some of the people you have tried to destroy have never, done anything to you. And, in fact, have been good to you. But hey they are just deterrents on your mission to try and take DS down, so strike them down too, no matter who they are.
> I would love for christianitys sake to just say you don't realize what you are doing or you are just making some big mistakes. But I can't. The things you have said are calculated and thought out. Just remember whether a person murders, steals, commits adultery, or assasinates a persons character with slander, falsehoods and halftruths, the fires will burn the same for the sinners. It isn't too late to stop what you are doing. I and others pray for you and for the bitterness and hate that pushes you to do this. We will keep praying.

ystander,

ow that we have settled sisters enteral fate can you awnser the question i asked

rik

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 07:00 AM

If having close friends of the opposite sex was the same as having an affair both my wife and I would have had grounds for divorce years ago. Instead we've both, separately and together embraced those friendships and used them to make our lives complete. Having friends of the opposite sex is not a sin, but if you are a control freak then I suppose it would be....

Richard

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 12:03 AM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> THE PTK test by its self means nothing.
>
> The letter were she is talking to the doc, about something other then Nathan, HELLO she very clearly is warning the doc, that rumors are going to get deeper about them because of her "joke".
>
> It would seem to me that she clearly was already being charged with rumors about the doc.
>
> SO while I agree the PTK test was a foolish thing to do, it is not proof of an affair.
>
> It is clear from the letter that the linda and the doc had at least a casual friendship, but i am not sure were having casual friends of the oppiste sex when you are married person is the same has having AFFAIRS.
>
> Bystander, if you have a a problem with Linda's sense of humor i can understand and even agree with that, but to grow a joke into something more that is pushing it.

> But what bothers me is that YOU and others of the defend Danny crowd clearly believe that the only reason that Linda bought the PTK was because she had been having sexual intercourse with the Good DOC from Norway, and was worried that she was with child, and IS CLEARLY not the case from the PTK and the letter.
>
> NOW IF,
>
> you have some other proof stop sitting on it and bring it out, my best guess that it does not exist.
> ERik

Posted by: Ex3ABNViewer Feb 27 2007, 07:08 AM

I realize the pregnancy test was not enough to cause a divorce or establish cheating per se. I think the email shows how bad this situation had gotten. Linda says she loved/loves 3ABN? Yet she knew this would add to the rumors and thought it would be funny????

I realize that we all make mistakes. I just think the tone of the email shows how low Danny and Linda had gone through this saga. I wish they both would have taken time off instead of dragging all of this through the "public eye". Sad to say I feel this shows Linda was vindictive, yes I know through divorce situations people can do things they normally wouldn't do. If that is true for Linda why can it not be the same for Danny?

I keep going back and forth on this whole saga. I have not "picked a side" yet, I am waiting to hear from Linda herself. I have heard from Danny and Walt. I do feel the divorce was way to quick regardless of what Linda did or didn't do. I also think 3ABN said too much, but I wonder how innocent is Linda in all of these other rumors? Just waiting to hear what she has to say.

Posted by: lurker Feb 27 2007, 07:40 AM

If the Doctor was the only only one Linda communicated with about the ptk, this email might have been considered to be the "smoking gun" but he wasn't. We know she told others beforehand. She has said that she was counseling about a situation at 3ABN involving some high profile people there with a person who was safe to talk to because of distance. She also believed this person was not biased as those locally might be.

From all that has been said, I believe the situation involved her marriage and another person besides Danny who was a high profile person at 3ABN. I believe the person she was seeking advice from was the Doctor and that instead of trying to undermine her marriage, she was letting her friends and the Doctor know that she thought she could get through to Danny with her joke, and that it would be worth doing it. The doctor didn't advise her to do this, she told him she was going to do it. Unfortunately, it was a poor joke and backfired.

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 08:48 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 27 2007, 07:40 AM)
>
> If the Doctor was the only only one Linda communicated with about the ptk, this email might have been considered to be the "smoking gun" but he wasn't. We know she told others beforehand. She has said that she was counseling about a situation at 3ABN involving some high profile people there with a person who was safe to talk to because of distance. She also believed this person was not biased as those locally might be.

> From all that has been said, I believe the situation involved her marriage and another person besides Danny who was a high profile person at 3ABN. I believe the person she was seeking advice from was the Doctor and that instead of trying to undermine her marriage, she was letting her friends and the Doctor know that she thought she could get through to Danny with her joke, and that it would be worth doing it. The doctor didn't advise her to do this, she told him she was going to do it. Unfortunately, it was a poor joke and backfired.

ll you have said might be true.... fact remains Danny had NO grounds for a divorce...... NONE......

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 08:54 AM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer)
>
> I keep going back and forth on this whole saga. I have not "picked a side" yet, I am waiting to hear from Linda herself. I have heard from Danny and Walt. I do feel the divorce was way to quick regardless of what Linda did or didn't do. I also think 3ABN said too much, but I wonder how innocent is Linda in all of these other rumors? Just waiting to hear what she has to say.

fter the great live speech on 3abn about the wayward Linda, and how they had repeatedly asked her o stop her so-called affair, but she refused, I was convinced she must be the guilty one and was little evil in the woodpile.

ut, I reserved the possibility there may be another side to the story. When I read on Linda's website hat she'd never been unfaithful to her husband, and loved the ministry, and wished them only the est, and demonstrated an attitude of forgivesness to those who treated her wrong, I knew this was ust the beginning of a deeper insight in the matter.

aving discovered blacksda.com has given me an even clearer picture--but do have to sort things out arefully. When I first started reading the archives here, I tried very hard to stay unassuming. But as I egan to get acquainted with this character Bystander--just reading and analyzing his posts and riting style--I began to feel the presence of someone who felt cornered, someone who was feeling urned and had the disposition of a scorched wildcat, someone whose plan had backfired on them, omeone who was overly defensive...whose sarcasim was uncalled for and fairly immature--kinda like hat of a know-it-all-never-been-wrong-in-my-entire-life type of "fighter."

o, as gravity would have it, when we give objectivity a fair chance, I began to fall one way rather han the other. Now, every post I read reinforces the call. Something's wrong.

unny how God sometimes gives glimpses of truth to those that aren't in positions to look too close.

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 09:04 AM very good insight Laurence.... flesh and blood didnt reveal that.... keep reading.... and try to find the answer to those simple questions.... Did Danny have grounds for divorce? Why did he treat his wife of 20 yrs the way he did? Why would his stepdaughter make an allegation of inappropriate sexual contact?

After contemplating those three questions move on to the more complicated one of how are/were the employees at 3abn treated by Danny Shelton? Why the lies surrounding Tommy Shelton? Why the lies about Linda's and the trashing of ther reputation?

That will keep you busy for a day or two.....

Posted by: Lee Feb 27 2007, 09:31 AM

Believe me, Bystander is not "cornered" at all. Nor has he been "burned" by anyone.

Laurence I find your comments very strange. Let me tell you something--I do hope you are listening carefully. Bystander is very close to the situation at 3ABN. Very close.

I do hope you understand what I am saying.

Because he is close to 3ABN, HE KNOWS. He knows exactly what has been going on at 3ABN, all the ins and outs, ups and downs. He knows Danny and he knows Linda.

It would be smart to sit up and pay attention to what Bystander says.

Posted by: lurker Feb 27 2007, 09:33 AM

Continuing to mull this all over in my own mind: 1. Someone is already speaking with a trusted person about her offspring's medical and emotional problems 2. Becomes concerned about her spouse and his possible attraction to another person 2. Speaks to the person treating her "child" about her concerns 4. Mentions her concerrns to her spouse 5. Spouse retorts " Me? You're the one with a boyfriend!" 5. Spouse attempts to discredit both wife and the person he fears has been told of this situation by accusing them both 6. Spouse attempts to discredit anyone who will not join him in accusing them

This seems to me to be the modus operendi - when accused of something, do not deny it. Do not bring up proof of innocence. Attack the character of the accuser. In fact, when anyone mentions any concerns for this person, take it as a personal attack and reply in the same spirit he ascribes to others, assuming they have the worst, most hatefull motives for questioning him.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 09:44 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 07:31 AM)
>
> Believe me, Bystander is not "cornered" at all. Nor has he been "burned" by anyone.
>
> Laurence I find your comments very strange. Let me tell you something--I do hope you are listening carefully. Bystander is very close to the situation at 3ABN. Very close.
>
> I do hope you understand what I am saying.
>
> Because he is close to 3ABN, HE KNOWS. He knows exactly what has been going on at 3ABN, all the ins and outs, ups and downs. He knows Danny and he knows Linda.
>
> It would be smart to sit up and pay attention to what Bystander says.

Lee,

IF he is that close to the 3abn, one of two things is going on either he hopelessly blinded by the closeness to 3abn, or he is sinfully covering others mistakes.

I again call on all Danny's supporters listen to Linda bring out the proof, lets get this over with, I for one do not care if it was gotten by wrong methods, (of course that will not look good for Danny, but it would make things clearer)

OR if Danny is wanting to save the proof for court fine, then put your name out there, I am only saying this to help make your side more transparent and believable. Because right now bystander sound a lot like the guy in my church that is sure that danny has done nothing wrong, but when you ask questions well danny is a godly man he would never do anything wrong, he is under attack of satan.(the sad part is danny and 3abn are under attack of satan, but it might not be from the angle they think it is.)

AGAIN, the truth never has to hide it will always stand up to a very close checking out.

Also remeber I came to this site ready to defend danny, and sure that he was under attack from satan. But DANNY"S letters and action changed my mind. So if there is proof that can clear danny and 3abn lets get it out on the table.

Erik

Posted by: watchbird Feb 27 2007, 09:50 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> Believe me, Bystander is not "cornered" at all. Nor has he been "burned" by anyone.
>
> Laurence I find your comments very strange. Let me tell you something--I do hope you are listening carefully. Bystander is very close to the situation at 3ABN. Very close.
>
> I do hope you understand what I am saying.
>
> Because he is close to 3ABN, HE KNOWS. He knows exactly what has been going on at 3ABN, all the ins and outs, ups and downs. He knows Danny and he knows Linda.
>
> It would be smart to sit up and pay attention to what Bystander says.

Don't forget, Lee, this is BlackSDA... where the motto is... "This ain't Sabbath School... we pay attention".

So yes, we HAVE been sitting up and paying attention. And yes... we DO understand what you are saying... maybe more than you would prefer us to understand.

And isn't it interesting that we agree with Laurence in the way we understand Bystander to reveal by his words, comments, and general demeanor?...........

Carry on....... But know that you'll have to do better than this to gain any credibility here.......

TVsnack.

Posted by: September Feb 27 2007, 09:51 AM

If Bystander is that close to the situation at 3abn--"very close" as you say, then does he know all the details that went on behind closed doors between Danny and Linda? Is he so close that he knows all the ins and outs, ups and downs, about the marriage of Danny and Linda? I'm not talking about his being so close to the situation because Danny said thus and so, but is Bystander so close that he knows things that no one else knows because he's privy to what goes on behind closed doors?

To quote you: I do hope you understand what I'm saying.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> Believe me, Bystander is not "cornered" at all. Nor has he been "burned" by anyone.
>
> Laurence I find your comments very strange. Let me tell you something--I do hope you are listening carefully. Bystander is very close to the situation at 3ABN. Very close.
>
> I do hope you understand what I am saying.
>
> Because he is close to 3ABN, HE KNOWS. He knows exactly what has been going on at 3ABN, all the ins and outs, ups and downs. He knows Danny and he knows Linda.
>
> It would be smart to sit up and pay attention to what Bystander says.

Posted by: Lee Feb 27 2007, 09:53 AM

"get it out on the table." ??? This will be done in Court. Be patient Erik--you know how long it takes for the wheels of justice to turn.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 11:04 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 09:53 AM)
>
> "get it out on the table." ??? This will be done in Court. Be patient Erik--you know how long it takes for the wheels of justice to turn.

Oh it's so hard to be patient -- because when this DOES get to court, all the masks will be off.

Maybe even yours, Lee.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 07:53 AM)
>
> "get it out on the table." ??? This will be done in Court. Be patient Erik--you know how long it takes for the wheels of justice to turn.

Lee,

I 3abn has to go to court to get the truth out then they in my mind have some thing to hid, it would seem to me a much better path to take the list of charges against them and say true not true and here is why and this is were the proof is from 9-12 on Wednesdays or something like this.

What most of the 3abn crowd seems to be missing is going to court is going to damage 3abn, they might win, but it will still hurt.

IF TRUTH IS really on their side then do what i suggested make statement put the proof in room make it open to the public, even for a limited time each week, and then let truth take care of it's self.

I agree the wheels of justice do turn slowly, and from were i sit they have been slowly turning for almost three years, but now they are going and going faster,.

But there is still time to save 3abn from the freight train of truth, by putting the truth out there for all to see and look at.

WHAT pray tell me is gained by letting the courts instead of the breathern get first look at the truth.

Lee if bystander really is that close then lets have the truth otherwise he is just a bystander that might know the people we discuss but really does not know the people, if you get my point.

GOING to court is bad all the way around, but i fear 3abn is to stubborn to see the danger, so they will end up falling into the trap Satan has set for them.

ERik

Posted by: princessdi Feb 27 2007, 11:23 AM

A nasty joke at a time when couple are defintiely being "nasty" to each other. As someone said, you are not always excercising wisdom at this most difficult time. it is difficult to relate if you have never been through or even witnessed this sort of thing. Sometimes, you just have to laugh to keep from crying. I would say that Bystander and the rest have picked a great ally in one who has had almost no adverse life experiences. If Danny was searching her car for evidence that was not there, it is defintiely laughable. What else could it be? He was making himself the butt of a joke by trying to maintain something to be true that was not. Basically, Linda should have paid more attention, as Danny seems to have been building a case for himself..........

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 26 2007, 03:50 PM)
>
> Well it's not about being less then perfect, AFAIC it's a nasty cruel joke to play on your spouse.

> Here's another question, if this letter is legit.
>
> She'd talked to the Doctor about D.S. searching her car before, why???
>
> How did she know that? Because D.S. found something in it? Like the nice watch the Doctor had given L.S.??
> Somehow I don't believe either Linda or Danny were laughing...
>
> The fact that she was laughing with the Doctor and her husband was the butt of the joke?
>
> Sick...

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 11:24 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 27 2007, 09:53 AM)
>
> "get it out on the table." ??? This will be done in Court. Be patient Erik--you know how long it takes for the wheels of justice to turn.

romises promises... thank you for the comment Lee, however I disagree.... this has been smoke and nirrors from Danny from the very beginning.... and it is still happening 3 yrs hence.... He was wrong, e had no biblical basis for a divorce, he had no right to trash her reputation, and he gave her the hort end of the stick financially...... those are facts that he and his defenders like to overlook or ninimize.....

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 11:28 AM

I appreciate your effort to clear things up, Lee. And, I would never underestimate the seemingly insurmountable challenge you must face. A whole different approach is required though. If I may, let me offer some suggestions for more effective communication...

****

> QUOTE(Lee)
>
> Believe me, Bystander is not "cornered" at all. Nor has he been "burned" by anyone.

erhaps you could refrain from using expressions like, "believe me." What's a revelation to you is only story to someone else. I don't form my beliefs from stories, but rather from demonstrations, orthrightness, and logic. This is no time for faith, regardless of your urgent desire for me to believe ou. His indubitible demonstration (attitude in posting) defies your claims.

> QUOTE(Lee)
>
> Laurence I find your comments very strange. Let me tell you something--I do hope you are listening carefully. Bystander is very close to the situation at 3ABN. Very close.

his statement is not useful to me at all. It's reminiscent of the old outdated authoritarian method of eaching undergraduates. I know, my loss ;-)

> QUOTE(Lee)
>
> I do hope you understand what I am saying.

It's important to come to the surface with what you're trying to get across, and not bury your well-meaning intentions with such deep implication. Full disclosure is required for there to be any progress. "His life was an open book."

> QUOTE(Lee)
>
> Because he is close to 3ABN, HE KNOWS. He knows exactly what has been going on at 3ABN, all the ins and outs, ups and downs. He knows Danny and he knows Linda.

How do you know he really knows? I get the distinct impression he's trying to shape public perception rather than offering unbiased accounts. I'm hardly influenced by people that may have a conflict of interest, or an apparent strategy to reshape public perception.

> QUOTE(Lee)
>
> It would be smart to sit up and pay attention to what Bystander says.

Unless, of course, he's unable to demonstrate what he's saying, or offer valid arguments. Stories and biased accounts don't make it no matter how accurate they may possible be. People who are susceptible to believing through such a process are nothing but sheep. If one cannot demonstrate what one is saying, nothing is really being said at all. I'd be happy if he'd do more than just offer official fiats. Nowadays, so much more is expected from those searching for truth.

****

BTW, re all this court-talk, surely you realize the damage has already been done. Litigation is beside the point at this stage of the game.

Please don't be offended by my conclusions so far. There's still a ways to go, and I leave the door open. The best way for you to look at things may not be the right way at all.

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 11:31 AM

Laurence I like the way you think and present yourself.... very reasonable whatever conclusions you may come to....

Posted by: sister Feb 27 2007, 01:24 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 01:41 AM)
>
> I truly wish it was the end of the story, but sadly it is not. Let me just say that no one on this board has done any more evil surmising, accusing and throwing allegations than you, sister. You have shown, over and over that you care not who gets hurt by your evil slander. Even children are not exempt when you try to ruin their parents. And don't try to tell me that whomever, did it to themselves by their own behavior because, you know and God knows, no matter what anyone did or didn't do, it doesn't need to be all over the internet. I really have no idea why that you hate 3abn so much, or why you hate the shelton's so much, and truthfully, I really don't care. No matter what vengeance you seek and and what reasons you have for doing so, nothing excuses your attempts at trying to destroy, reputations, families, marriages, the children involved, a whole entire church, and a great ministry. You have even slandered the families of your "friends." With friends like you, who needs enemy's. You have allowed your evil imagination and surmisings to run wild, > and have shown nothing or no one any kind of respect, not even for those that are deceased and cannot defend themselves. Your hate and bitterness show through with every post that you make.

> The word says, If you are guilty of breaking one, then you are guilty of breaking all.....think about it...slander, untruths, deceitful insinuations, the spreading of rumors, it is all sin in the eyes of God.
> Therefore, you are no less sinful than those that you accuse of such horrible wrongs.
> The difference between you and others on your side of the camp, is that you never just make statements that you don't like DS or the way he does things or you think there needs to be some changes made etc etc...you dive in and try to drive blows way below the belt and you don't care who gets in the way. Some of the people you have tried to destroy have never, done anything to you. And, in fact, have been good to you. But hey they are just deterrents on your mission to try and take DS down, so strike them down too, no matter who they are.
> I would love for christianitys sake to just say you don't realize what you are doing or you are just making some big mistakes. But I can't. The things you have said are calculated and thought out.
> Just remember whether a person murders, steals, commits adultery, or assasinates a persons character with slander, falsehoods and halftruths, the fires will burn the same for the sinners. It isn't too late to stop what you are doing. I and others pray for you and for the bitterness and hate that pushes you to do this. We will keep praying.

3ystander, your post speaks volumes about you and nothing about me. There is no bitterness or hate vithin my heart toward the ministry of 3ABN, I have not committed slander through falsehoods and ıalftruths, but I have given true testimony in the hope that the camp will be cleansed and God's :haracter will no longer be misrepresented through the heinous actions of individuals that claim to 'epresent him to the world or as ministers of the Gospel.

3ystander, I forgive you for your attempts to slander my good name and misrepresent my motives. I ıave pity for you in my heart because of the yoke of ignorance and bitterness that burdens you. I wish 'ou the complete healing power of the Holy Spirit that comes to those that repent and accept the .ordship of Christ in their lives.

5ister

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 01:41 PM

That is so true sister. What's written inbetween the lines of that post cannot be hidden from the eyes of those who have acquired a more profound and perceptive wisdom. But, thank God he has hidden these things from the worldly-wise and revealed them to babes like you.

By opening his mouth, a fool only slays himself.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 01:53 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 27 2007, 01:24 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander, your post speaks volumes about you and nothing about me. There is no bitterness or hate within my heart toward the ministry of 3ABN, I have not committed slander through falsehoods and halftruths, but I have given true testimony in the hope that the camp will be cleansed and God's character will no longer be misrepresented through the heinous actions of individuals that claim to represent him to the world or as ministers of the Gospel.
>
> Bystander, I forgive you for your attempts to slander my good name and misrepresent my motives. I have pity for you in my heart because of the yoke of ignorance and bitterness that burdens you. I wish you the complete healing power of the Holy Spirit that comes to those that repent and accept the Lordship of Christ in their lives.

> Sister

his is the kind of spirit we should all exhibit here ...

Posted by: Bystander Feb 27 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 01:53 PM) ☐
>
> This is the kind of spirit we should all exhibit here ...

ou show once again that you can't see the forest for the trees. Were you online the other night when ister attacked Melody? She did it with such a smug and "tell all" spirit. She did it with no concern for er friend Derrell or the children involved. Have you read her other hundreds of post that reek with atisfaction of trying to destroy reputations? When she is not, out and out calling people, liars, dulterers, thieves, etc...she plants innuendo that causes speculation and finally grows into a "fact" efore it is all said and done. Then, if called on it, she always back pedals to "oh my, I am just doing vhat God wants me to do, and I will pray for 3abn. Go back, expresso, Look at the spirit of her posts. f that is the kind of spirit we all should exhibit then I am truly fearful for the name of christianity. I m sure we have all, at times, said things that we shouldn't have but her posts are way beyond that. hey are cruel, nasty, and smack with an air of superiority and, a hate, that she cannot hide.
nd again, haven't you believed what she has to say without asking her to identify herself, since she laims to know firsthand?

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 02:28 PM

Isaiah had an attitude like that, early on (Ch. 1-6), where he said woe unto everyone else. But then he looked in the mirror, and in the light of humility finally exclaimed, "woe is me, for I am undone, for I am a man of unclean lips."

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 02:37 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 10:12 PM) ☐
>
> You show once again that you can't see the forest for the trees. Were you online the other night when sister attacked Melody? She did it with such a smug and "tell all" spirit. She did it with no concern for her friend Derrell or the children involved. Have you read her other hundreds of post that reek with satisfaction of trying to destroy reputations? When she is not, out and out calling people, liars, adulterers, thieves, etc...she plants innuendo that causes speculation and finally grows into a "fact" before it is all said and done. Then, if called on it, she always back pedals to "oh my, I am just doing what God wants me to do, and I will pray for 3abn. Go back, expresso, Look at the spirit of her posts.
> If that is the kind of spirit we all should exhibit then I am truly fearful for the name of christianity. I am sure we have all, at times, said things that we shouldn't have but her posts are way beyond that. They are cruel, nasty, and smack with an air of superiority and, a hate, that she cannot hide.

> And again, haven't you believed what she has to say without asking her to identify herself, since she claims to know firsthand?

f you call her methods cruel, then I need a much stronger word to describe your methods. Here you ive the impression that since she is attempting to make things right you feel hurt. In stead of andling the issues you attack the person who uses her God-given talents in concise and humorous riting to challenge what is destroying 3ABN right now. Why not rather ask, What does God want us o do to make things right?

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 03:02 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 12:12 PM) ☐
>
> You show once again that you can't see the forest for the trees. Were you online the other night when sister attacked Melody? She did it with such a smug and "tell all" spirit. She did it with no concern for her friend Derrell or the children involved. Have you read her other hundreds of post that reek with satisfaction of trying to destroy reputations? When she is not, out and out calling people, liars, adulterers, thieves, etc...she plants innuendo that causes speculation and finally grows into a "fact" before it is all said and done. Then, if called on it, she always back pedals to "oh my, I am just doing what God wants me to do, and I will pray for 3abn. Go back, expresso, Look at the spirit of her posts.
> If that is the kind of spirit we all should exhibit then I am truly fearful for the name of christianity. I am sure we have all, at times, said things that we shouldn't have but her posts are way beyond that. They are cruel, nasty, and smack with an air of superiority and, a hate, that she cannot hide.
> And again, haven't you believed what she has to say without asking her to identify herself, since she claims to know firsthand?

ystander,

hy do you fear sister the most out of the all the people on this forum she seems to bother you the nost, or are you scared that she might know things you would rater not be made public.

am really wondering why you are so scared of her, while i read her posts and listen to them like i do ours, her post are not the ones that carry the most weight with me personally.

ohann, b. kerr, and duane's, posts carry the strongest rings of truth.

ut you have no were near the venmon for them i wonder why?

aybe sister is more dangerous to you then the rest of us think.

ister maybe you can tell us all why bystander really seems to have it out for you.

rik

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 11:02 PM) ☐

> Bystander,
>
> Why do you fear sister the most out of the all the people on this forum she seems to bother you the most, or are you scared that she might know things you would rater not be made public.
>
> I am really wondering why you are so scared of her, while i read her posts and listen to them like i do yours, her post are not the ones that carry the most weight with me personally.
>
> Johann, b. kerr, and duane's, posts carry the strongest rings of truth.
>
> but you have no were near the venmon for them i wonder why?
>
> Maybe sister is more dangerous to you then the rest of us think.
>
> Sister maybe you can tell us all why bystander really seems to have it out for you.
>
> Erik

Thank you, Eric. Bystander knows who the three of us are, and he is dying to find out who sister is. He might realize that she has an extraordinary powerful pen that may pierce a certain image he is defending.

I cannot say for sure, but the time may come soon when he will know too well who sister is.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 03:24 PM

All this court talk is tiresome. If Danny and 3abn actually have proof then let them present it to the web sites that are bringing the charges against them. We do pay attention here, if they can present verifiable truth I would gladly change my mind about the situation. The fact is they have not shown a shard of truth to contradict the charges against them. If they had the proof why did they not present it years ago so none of this would be going on now? The only reason for them to take anyone to court is to silence the truth through high priced lawyers. The fact it if they had proof and would have presented it to the people there would be no need for anyone to go to court or these forums.

So what is happening is the Dannyscribes, Bystander, Lee, Altheia, wwjd and the like get on here and bolster the case, not of Danny, but of his critics. If they really want to silence the critics and avoid the courts let them reveal themselves for who they are and show us the proof. Put up or shut up should be their motto, instead of speak up and show nothing. (Ok actually they are showing plenty, but it's not what they are trying to show)

Richard

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 03:38 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 27 2007, 01:23 PM) ☐
>
> Thank you, Eric. Bystander knows who the three of us are, and he is dying to find out who sister is. He might realize that she has an extraordinary powerful pen that may pierce a certain image he is defending.

> I cannot say for sure, but the time may come soon when he will know too well who sister is.

ohann,

Vell i just wish that every body would just let every body else know all the facts that they have then he rest of us can judge accordingly in the mean time i understand reason why some conceal their 1ames.

mean it has been stated the truth has nothing to hid, lets get the facts and rest of us on this forum ınd around the world in the sda church can judge for ourself's.

3y the way your years of service to the SDA church remind of my grandfather, his family was from 5weden, also for that matter thank you for your years of working for the church.

:rik

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 04:49 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 02:12 PM) ☐
>
> You show once again that you can't see the forest for the trees. Were you online the other night when sister attacked Melody? She did it with such a smug and "tell all" spirit. She did it with no concern for her friend Derrell or the children involved. Have you read her other hundreds of post that reek with satisfaction of trying to destroy reputations? When she is not, out and out calling people, liars, adulterers, thieves, etc...she plants innuendo that causes speculation and finally grows into a "fact" before it is all said and done. Then, if called on it, she always back pedals to "oh my, I am just doing what God wants me to do, and I will pray for 3abn. Go back, expresso, Look at the spirit of her posts.
> If that is the kind of spirit we all should exhibit then I am truly fearful for the name of christianity. I am sure we have all, at times, said things that we shouldn't have but her posts are way beyond that. They are cruel, nasty, and smack with an air of superiority and, a hate, that she cannot hide. And again, haven't you believed what she has to say without asking her to identify herself, since she claims to know firsthand?

ſechniques used in this post by Bystander:
ı. Accusation by way of projection (psychology term meaning taking one's own issues and assigning hem to other personalities) didn't automatically believe her, Bystander. I do now--because her testimony is corroborated by ›ther tales of woe coming out of 3ABN. People whose names we know.

Ve don't know your name, or wwjd's, or Aletheia's, or Lee's. You are all on the side of entrenched ›owers, and you have a lot less to lose by revealing yourself than sister does. Heck you guys are the ›nes with the big law firm on your side ...

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 27 2007, 05:08 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 05:49 PM)
>
> We don't know your name, or wwjd's, or Aletheia's, or Lee's.

Aletheia did identify herself as "Cindy, from Lafayette, IN" early on... others continue to rehearse for their CourtTV closeup, invoking their 5th amendment right against self incrimination... who knew that not being anonymous could be incriminating...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 05:11 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 04:49 PM)
>
> Techniques used in this post by Bystander:
> 1. Accusation by way of projection (psychology term meaning taking one's own issues and assigning them to other personalities)
>
> I didn't automatically believe her, Bystander. I do now--because her testimony is corroborated by other tales of woe coming out of 3ABN. People whose names we know.
>
> We don't know your name, or wwjd's, or Aletheia's, or Lee's. You are all on the side of entrenched powers, and you have a lot less to lose by revealing yourself than sister does. Heck you guys are the ones with the big law firm on your side ...

Ecc 4:1 I looked again and saw people being mistreated everywhere on earth. They were crying, but no one was there to offer comfort, and those who mistreated them were powerful.

seems that happens more often than not..... the powerful oppress....

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 05:42 PM

Good point Clay. To go along with that, I heard on 3abn yesterday that the Kingdom of Heaven does not use the principle of force, but rather relies on voluntary action. May we assume the likes of BKerr was dropped from the program, voluntarily?

:raises one eyebrow:

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 28 2007, 12:49 AM)
>
> Techniques used in this post by Bystander:

> 1. Accusation by way of projection (psychology term meaning taking one's own issues and assigning them to other personalities)
> - - -

his projection is what I discovered from the very beginning of the accusations hurled at Linda. Again nd again I had the opportunity to verify that so many of the accusations were things the accuser had one him/her-self that were projected to someone else.

he worst part of it is that the accuser seemed so honest in describing how someone else did what hat person had done him/her self, and they managed to convince so many they were telling the truth.

his is a general observation I have made and one of many reasons I know I am telling the truth - ecause I was in a situation where I could observe and experience the happening myself or have them erified by eye witnesses. It seemed strange, but several of these eye witnesses had absolutely othing to do with the case itself, but honestly told me what they had observed.

uch projections have caused the greates tragedy I have experienced in my life. I feel so sorry for the eople working so hard on letting such evil continue.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 28 2007, 03:03 PM

Ok, I just have to say this.....I just can't believe that 17 pages later there is still discussion about this pregnancy test................Never mind...............

Posted by: Pickle Feb 28 2007, 03:29 PM

Just in case you didn't notice, on page 13 is an email from Linda to Dr. Abrahamsen warning him about the joke she was about to pull on Danny the next day.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 28 2007, 03:37 PM

I noticed, but it has always been maintained that she meant it for a joke. four pages longer is still to long, if you have proof that she said in advance that is twas a joke. there is no more discussion, she didn't think she was pregnant, her intentions were clear......case closed, BTJM...........

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 03:46 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 28 2007, 11:37 PM)
>
> I noticed, but it has always been maintained that she meant it for a joke. four pages longer is still to long, if you have proof that she said in advance that is twas a joke. there is no more discussion, she didn't think she was pregnant, her intentions were clear......case closed, BTJM...........

hat would be heaven on earth if the oppressed could get that easily away from their aggressors.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 04:16 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 28 2007, 04:03 PM)
>
> Ok, I just have to say this.....I just can't believe that 17 pages later there is still discussion about this pregnancy test................Never mind...............

(psssst, Di...... There are 7 pages on the previous thread about it.... before you even start counting the 17 pages on this thread.)

Posted by: princessdi Feb 28 2007, 06:09 PM

LOL!! See! That's what I mean! Far too many pages for something maintained from the beginning and now supported with documentation.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 02:16 PM)
>
> (psssst, Di...... There are 7 pages on the previous thread about it.... before you even start counting the 17 pages on this thread.)

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 06:46 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 28 2007, 03:29 PM)
>
> Just in case you didn't notice, on page 13 is an email from Linda to Dr. Abrahamsen warning him about the joke she was about to pull on Danny the next day.

Yes we all saw the "tone" of that email. Pretty friendly attitude for a professional relationship. Especially when the Doc knew that he was the suspect. So, the story is, DS suspects his wife of having an affair with the afore mentioned doc. He is hurt and upset. So, she and the doc have a little email chat about how funny it would be to make DS think she is pregnant from the suspected affair? And the suspect that claims DS was a lunatic, goes along with it? And yet she maintanes that she loved him to a fault. Why would you purposely hurt somebody in that way, and call it a joke. You can twist and spin and excuse all you want, but to quote sister, "this dog don't hunt."

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 06:55 PM

Bystander, that dog may hunt just fine if you follow the trail more closely, and don't let bitterness cloud your perception. Remember anything being said about a husband who shrouded the atmosphere of his home with doubt, jealousy, and skepticism...pawing through every bag and drawer for something, just something? Have any idea the harm and separation that comes from this kind of attitude? Women get real tired of this. And, it sounds all too familiar in a marriage where God no longer exists.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 07:41 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 28 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> Bystander, that dog may hunt just fine if you follow the trail more closely, and don't let bitterness cloud your perception. Remember anything being said about a husband who shrouded the atmosphere of his home with doubt, jealousy, and skepticism...pawing through every bag and drawer for something, just something? Have any idea the harm and separation that comes from this kind of attitude? Women get real tired of this. And, it sounds all too familiar in a marriage where God no longer exists.

I have a very real feeling that you do not know the parties involved (or at least one of them) and probably have never been to 3abn. Read my other posts of how anyone that knows DS knows he always put LS on a pedestal to the point of being nauseating. Now if a man thought that highly of his wife, something caused him to suspect that wrong doing had entered into the picture. A man doesn't just wake up one day after 20 years praising and loving his wife and "just decide" that she is being unfaithful. He had not been suspicious and hanging a dark cloud over their marriage for 20 years. Why start now out of no where. Use your head man. Many verifiable "things" led him up to that point of thinking. Of course I know I am wasting my time. There are too many things you don't know and I am sure, don't want to know, for you to come to any kind of intelligent conclusion. So, pontificate all you want, but I will say, as nicely as I can, You have no idea what you're talking about.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 28 2007, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 26 2007, 06:28 AM)
>
> .
>
> As to the pregnancy test.....
> As has been pointed out there are several good reasons for the purchase of that pregnancy test:
>
> 1) It could have been for someone else.
>
> 2) People (Danny) who have been "fixed" do have the "fix" go bad and father children. Linda was still living with Danny at the time. She may have needed to check to see if Danny was on the way

You are supposed to be representing Linda...

(and so didn't mention as she is accused of adultery, and her ex-husband is fixed, that possibly she bought a pregnancy test -not found iin her car- because she thought she may have become pregnant from another who wasn't sterile...)

Why did you post the above, when Bob just posted a letter allegedly from her to the Doctor claiming "You know how Dan has been searching my car? I've got a little surprise for him. But I wanted to warn you that a brand new rumor may very well make its way to Norway. Tomorrow he's going to find a carefully hidden pregnancy test in it. My only regret is that I won't be there to see his face. Do you think it will be worth the rumors?? I think so!!??"

If either of your "could have beens" are true, then who lied?

Linda in her letter?

Linda in telling Bob this was a letter she had sent, when she didn't?

Or Bob, in claiming the letter was from Linda???

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 03:02 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> Maybe sister is more dangerous to you then the rest of us think.
> Erik

I don't know who sister is, so how could she be dangerous to me? I have my suspicions, as we all do but can't say for a fact.
Why does she bother me? Because she tries harder than most to paint 3abn and the people there, in the most horrible ways that she can think of, with no thought to all that she is hurting needlessly. That tells me that there is a motive, revenge and a vendetta that she seeks to accomplish. Why does that bother me? I have seldom run into people that truly "want" and "desire" to hurt the way she does.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 07:58 PM

I'm sure you (strike that) he loved her. Jealousy is a good sign sometimes. But, what he may not have understood--and this is where the dog hunts--is that if a woman loses interest, it's not really another man's fault per se. I can't say what happened for sure, as I know none of the parties involved, but if what you claim is true, I can assure you that a man's focus is misdirected if he's begging his disinterested wife to stay. This would be the perspective of a man who has lost touch and can no longer reason from cause to effect.

You get my drift?

Posted by: erik Feb 28 2007, 09:00 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 05:41 PM)
>
> I have a very real feeling that you do not know the parties involved (or at least one of them) and probably have never been to 3abn. Read my other posts of how anyone that knows DS knows he always put LS on a pedestal to the point of being nauseating. Now if a man thought that highly of his wife, something caused him to suspect that wrong doing had entered into the picture. A man doesn't just wake up one day after 20 years praising and loving his wife and "just decide" that she is being unfaithful. He had not been suspicious and hanging a dark cloud over their marriage for 20 > years. Why start now out of no where. Use your head man. Many verifiable "things" led him up to that point of thinking. Of course I know I am wasting my time. There are too many things you don't know and I am sure, don't want to know, for you to come to any kind of intelligent conclusion. So, pontificate all you want, but I will say, as nicely as I can, You have no idea what you're talking about.

ystander,

ow can we know what is top serect in 3 abn land if no tells us, so we can make smart decisions based n facts, your group is holding the cards play them or go home, but which every you do please stop easing us.

rik

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 09:39 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 28 2007, 08:58 PM)
>
> I'm sure you (strike that) he loved her. Jealousy is a good sign sometimes. But, what he may not have understood--and this is where the dog hunts--is that if a woman loses interest, it's not really another man's fault per se. I can't say what happened for sure, as I know none of the parties involved, but if what you claim is true, I can assure you that a man's focus is misdirected if he's begging his disinterested wife to stay. This would be the perspective of a man who has lost touch and can no longer reason from cause to effect.
>
> You get my drift?

ut what if what BS claims is NOT true?

Vhat if, instead of "begging his disinterested wife to stay" he is in fact answering her distressed cries f "WHY are you being so mean to me?" by saying, "Because I want you to get out."

Vhat if, when he asks the evangelist (on camera) to pray that his wife comes back to him, she, seeing he scene on TV asks plaintively, "Why is he saying that? I haven't left him. I stayed away from ampmeeting because he TOLD me to do so."

Vhat if he tells his family that he is getting a divorce from Linda even before he tells her he wants her o get one?

Vhat if, in fact, he reasons very well from "cause to effect", and knows that he cannot merely dump inda and marry another.... but he has to do it in such a way as to convince OTHERS, including his ady love, as well as his board chairman, the prominent evangelist who gives him so much credibility y the nice things he says about him.... and all of his board members... that it was Linda who ditched im, left, ran away to some other man?

eep reading Laurence. Check out the "back trail" of all the things that BS says about others.... see ow accurately his portrayal and judgement of them are. Read through Sister's posts.... you can do hat, you know, without having to read all of the dialogue in each thead.... just go to her profile, click n "Profile Options", choose "Find member's posts", and you'll have a list of all of her posts arranged n newest first order. She has 451 posts since she started posting here almost a year ago. See how nany of them you have to read in order to confirm or contradict the picture of Sister that BS paints of ier.

I suspect it will not be long before you join some of us in observing that BS, as well as other Dannyites on board, tend to describe themselves more accurately than they do those whom they claim they are describing.

Carry on......... ☒ TVsnack. ....

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 11:24 PM

I'm speechless.

I've been reading sister's posts. Thanks.

Posted by: Fran Mar 1 2007, 12:35 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 07:47 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know who sister is, so how could she be dangerous to me? I have my suspicions, as we all do but can't say for a fact.
> Why does she bother me? Because she tries harder than most to paint 3abn and the people there, in the most horrible ways that she can think of, with no thought to all that she is hurting needlessly. That tells me that there is a motive, revenge and a vendetta that she seeks to accomplish. Why does that bother me? I have seldom run into people that truly "want" and "desire" to hurt the way she does.

Huh?

Do I see a severe case of transference? Linda has been under a gag order since "Forever" and has just asked to put it all on the table. And through all her silence, when has she said enough to get this comment?

I have seldom run into people that truly "want" and "desire" to hurt the way she does.

The more I read, the more I see that there is something very wrong in this statement, IMO. I have never talked to Linda. I have sent her emails telling her how much her silence and courage has done for me.

As I see it, she is the one with the fruits of the spirit. IMO, I do not see good fruit from comments such as those that have been made about Linda, including this comment above. I seem to remember some very disgusting emails that Danny sent out that never got posted. IMO, they should be released as soon as possible. These emails would definitely shed some new light on this situation.

Danny has stated he is going to sue several for slander and liable. I believe, IMO, that Linda could/should do the very same thing. Better yet, it might be good to keep those emails for court. The people should be able to read ALL of those communications all at once.

This is not about Linda, IMO.

Posted by: daylily Mar 1 2007, 06:53 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Read my other posts of how anyone that knows DS knows he always put LS on a pedestal to the point of being nauseating.

I don't know, having not heard this myself, but it sounds insincere and fake to me to brag on somebody to the point of being nauseating. Was he trying to convince her and whoever heard him of how much he loved her because he needed to cover tracks?

Posted by: watchbird Mar 1 2007, 07:41 AM

In response to Bystander's comment....."Read my other posts of how anyone that knows DS knows he always put LS on a pedestal to the point of being nauseating."

Daylily said......

> QUOTE(daylily @ Mar 1 2007, 07:53 AM)
>
> I don't know, having not heard this myself, but it sounds insincere and fake to me to brag on somebody to the point of being nauseating. Was he trying to convince her and whoever heard him of how much he loved her because he needed to cover tracks?

What is striking about this comment of Bystander's is that it goes so against the statements of others who have witnessed Danny and Linda together and who made comments much different than this. Search through BSDA and you will find these.... varying from some who worked with them to some who merely saw them on TV, yet noticed that there were subtle (and not-so-subtle) putdowns and not only unkind, but cutting remarks in what Danny said about or to Linda.... even when cloaked in garments of "praise" or "humor".

Bystander's comments... as well as his phraseology..... however, sounds remarkably similar to what Danny himself has said. I find that rather interesting. BS must be a very "close" associate of Danny to have picked up and internalized this so well.

Posted by: Clay Mar 1 2007, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 1 2007, 07:41 AM)
>
> Bystander's comments... as well as his phraseology..... however, sounds remarkably similar to what Danny himself has said. I find that rather interesting. BS must be a very "close" associate of Danny to have picked up and internalized this so well.

dannyclone......

Posted by: justme Mar 1 2007, 11:56 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 28 2007, 05:29 PM) ☐
>
> Just in case you didn't notice, on page 13 is an email from Linda to Dr. Abrahamsen warning him about the joke she was about to pull on Danny the next day.

I'm so curious as to HOW this supposed email from Linda to Dr. Abrahamsen got published.

Did Linda decide it too good to keep to herself?

Did Dr.Abrahamsen wish to share it?

or is it another "intercepted email"

or another "fabricated email"?

It doesn't sound like either of them to divulge it if true; unless it was supposed to truly be a joke to post it,

Is it a joke on us, too?

Oh what fodder we choose to chew on.

We will NEVER know the truth, even after hundreds of pages of "posts", will we ...!

Posted by: Clay Mar 1 2007, 12:06 PM

☒ ofl ☒ ofl

Hillary Clinton goes to her doctor for a physical, only to find out that she's pregnant. She is furious... Here she's in the middle of her first run for president,and as Senator of New York this has happened to her. She calls home, gets Bill on the phone and immediately starts screaming;

"How could you have let this happen? With all that's going on right now, you go and get me pregnant! How could you? I can't believe this! I just found out I am five weeks pregnant and it is all your fault! Your fault!

Well, what have you got to say?" There is nothing but dead silence on the phone. She screams again, "Did you hear me?"

Finally she hears Bill's very,very quiet voice. In a barely audible whisper, he says, "Who is this?"

☒ ☒

okay, back to your regularly scheduled thread.... (that seems to never end)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 1 2007, 12:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:41 PM)
>
> I have a very real feeling that you do not know the parties involved (or at least one of them) and probably have never been to 3abn. Read my other posts of how anyone that knows DS knows he always put LS on a pedestal to the point of being nauseating. Now if a man thought that highly of his wife, something caused him to suspect that wrong doing had entered into the picture. A man doesn't just wake up one day after 20 years praising and loving his wife and "just decide" that she is being unfaithful. He had not been suspicious and hanging a dark cloud over their marriage for 20 years. Why start now out of no where. Use your head man. Many verifiable "things" led him up to that point of thinking. Of course I know I am wasting my time. There are too many things you don't know and I am sure, don't want to know, for you to come to any kind of intelligent conclusion. So, pontificate all you want, but I will say, as nicely as I can, You have no idea what you're talking about.

Bystander,

I'm very willing to listen. Please list the "Many verifiable 'things' that led DS up to that point of thinking. You are only wasting your time if there really aren't such "things".

PB

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 1 2007, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 1 2007, 01:06 PM)
>
> ofl ofl
>
> Hillary Clinton goes to her doctor for a physical, only to find out that she's pregnant. She is furious... Here she's in the middle of her first run for president,and as Senator of New York this has happened to her. She calls home, gets Bill on the phone and immediately starts screaming;
>
> "How could you have let this happen? With all that's going on > right now, you go and get me pregnant! How could you? I can't > believe this! I just found out I am five weeks pregnant and it is all your fault! Your fault!
>
> Well, what have you got to say?" There is nothing but dead silence on the phone. She screams again, "Did you hear me?"
>
> Finally she hears Bill's very,very quiet voice. In a barely audible whisper, he says, "Who is this?"
>
> okay, back to your regularly scheduled thread.... (that seems to never end)

Now yo know

HH, you need to hursh you mouf

Posted by: watchbird Mar 1 2007, 01:03 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Mar 1 2007, 12:56 PM)
>
> I'm so curious as to HOW this supposed email from Linda to Dr. Abrahamsen got published.
>
> Did Linda decide it too good to keep to herself?
>
> Did Dr.Abrahamsen wish to share it?
>
> or is it another "intercepted email"
>
> or another "fabricated email"?
>
> It doesn't sound like either of them to divulge it if true; unless it was supposed to truly be a joke to post it,
>
> Is it a joke on us, too?
>
> Oh what fodder we choose to chew on.
>
> We will NEVER know the truth, even after hundreds of pages of "posts", will we ...!

Read the two threads from the beginning. The truth has already been posted here.... and verified by more than two sources. There are a few variances in details among those first presenting the story, but when put together it turned out that they were all part of the same narrative, and meshed perfectly. For example, a hasty reading would seem to disagree as to where the pg test was left for Danny to find.... but a more careful one reveals that after leaving the shopping bags in the car for sometime without Danny exploring them, that the one containing the pg test was moved to a room in the house... one that Danny had no business even being in.... but was the place where he finally discovered it.

Only much later on did the Dannyites come on and tell the story completely differently. But if you examine the "totally different" story, you will find that it matches the story that Danny and Walt have told from the beginning. A story that does NOT match the ones told by Linda on her website, by Johann telling of his first person experiences, nor by Arild who was the other person accused of being a demon and of "stealing Linda". Your decision as to what is truth will be made depending on which of the basic stories you believe. And many here have found that an easy decision to make once they read all of the testimonies from both sides.

As for http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10145&view=findpost&p=180634..... My take on it is that it is genuine, and that it was originally sent not only to Arild, but also to others of Linda's friends. If you read the threads on this, you will find it stated that several of Linda's friends knew about it at the time..... and knew of it in advance of the actual moment that Danny discovered the pg test.

It has doubtless been said enough times, that Linda's friends, and Linda herself, think it was a stupid thing to do. Unfortunately, none of them realized just how stupid and disuaded her from it before it actually played itself out. But in their defense for not doing so, keep the time line in mind. This was May 6. Neither Linda NOR her friends realized at this time that Danny's determination to rid himself of Linda was cast in stone. And they doubtless shared her thought that perhaps something so "far out" as this would jolt him with a realization of how unreasonable his actions toward her were being. Hindsight only revealed that she had merely played into his hands and given him something tangible that he would claim was "proof" that she had been physically unfaithful to him.

As for knowing the truth, each will have to decide for themselves whether to continue to "chew on fodder" or to accept the first person testimonies of those who have identified themselves here and told the story as they experienced and witnessed it.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 1 2007, 04:26 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 1 2007, 01:03 PM)
>
> As for knowing the truth, each will have to decide for themselves whether to continue to "chew on fodder" or to accept the first person testimonies of those who have identified themselves here and told the story as they experienced and witnessed it.

What people that witnessed it? Did I miss something? Who was there when Linda planted it. Who else was there when Danny found it? Who else was there to see and hear the exchange that took place between them, when it was found. If you are calling Linda the first person Testimony, that doesn't hold water, Danny has his side too. Unless there was someone else in the car, then in the house, then in the room then you are barking up the wrong tree. Same with the naive junk. Who was there to see Linda fall on her knees in prayer and at the same time see Dan in his office at 3abn looking on the internet. Same with Johann and the "springfield trip" between him, Linda and the Doc. He turned in at 10pm. He doesn't know what, if anything, transpired after that between the two. You say Danny wanted to get "rid" of her....Did you hear him say that? Do you know anyone that did hear him say that, other than what you get from Linda? Even if someone other than Linda told you that, how do you know unless you were there? You have always ignored the fact that DS took LS all the way to the airport to catch a flight to Norway right after the divorce WITHOUT NATHAN. Why haven't you and the other mimics addressed that? Oh wait, I know, you are going to tell us she developed a sudden medical problem that only one doc in the whole world could fix? Address the fact that she ask DS to take her. And he did. Not to mention the conversation on the 2 hour drive. I await with baited breath to see what kind of concoction you come up with to explain or maybe deny the Norway trip without her son.

Posted by: Chez Mar 1 2007, 04:40 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 1 2007, 04:26 PM)
>
> [/color]
>
> What people that witnessed it? Did I miss something? Who was there when Linda planted it. Who else was there when Danny found it? Who else was there to see and hear the exchange that took place between them, when it was found. If you are calling Linda the first person Testimony, that doesn't hold water, Danny has his side too. Unless there was someone else in the car, then in the house, then in the room then you are barking up the wrong tree. Same with the naive junk. Who was there to see Linda fall on her knees in prayer and at the same time see Dan in his office at 3abn looking on the internet. Same with Johann and the "springfield trip" between him, Linda and > the Doc. He turned in at 10pm. He doesn't know what, if anything, transpired after that between the two. You say Danny wanted to get "rid" of her....Did you hear him say that? Do you know anyone that did hear him say that, other than what you get from Linda? Even if someone other than Linda told you that, how do you know unless you were there? You have always ignored the fact that DS took LS all the way to the airport to catch a flight to Norway right after the divorce WITHOUT NATHAN. Why haven't you and the other mimics addressed that? Oh wait, I know, you are going to tell us she developed a sudden medical problem that only one doc in the whole world could fix? Address the fact that she ask DS to take her. And he did. Not to mention the conversation on the 2 hour drive. I await with baited breath to see what kind of concoction you come up with to explain or maybe deny the Norway trip without her son.

ho told you that Danny drove her to the airport? Did Danny tell you that? Danny DID get rid of her!! e quickly divorced her. When people heard about the situation with Linda and Danny, they utomatically believed Danny that Linda was unfaithful. However, minds began to change when they eard of the quick divorce. More minds have changed since Danny's marriage to Brandy. There was a int of Danny's feelings for Brandy at her baptism. We didn't know who she was, but it was obvious hat he had feelings for her.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 1 2007, 04:53 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 1 2007, 05:26 PM)
>
> [/color]
> BLAH BLAH BLAH, YADA, CLANG CLANG...

ystander when exactly are you going to stop spewing the fodder that proceeds from your lips?

ou want to speculate on whether the LS did whatever with the Dr. after being left alone, then lets peculate on why you and wwjd, after coming out of the closet so to speak, have not told us what you wo de behind that keyboard of ours? One minute you are the epitome of truth because you are pstanding members defending DS/TS and their upstanding members then, in the next breath, one of ou sticketh the foot in the mouth of the other. Y'all simplee need to hursh

Just HURSH cuz hoof in mouth is NOT a good look either of you has ANY credibility here. Not one shred of credibility. With that said, Get Thee Hence nd go bow before the porcelain bowl of your master for whatever else it is his desires to serve up, hich you will, with undoubted glee, spew here.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 1 2007, 05:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 1 2007, 05:26 PM)
>
> [/color] I await with baited breath to see what kind of concoction you come up with to explain or maybe deny the Norway trip without her son.

Be careful with that "baited breath" act.... you never know what you might attract with the "bait".... OTOH... if you meant bated breath.... then you still better be careful.... cause I've know folk who actually held their breath so long they passed out... and didn't start breathing again ever..... so sad..... happened to a cousin of mine actually.... a Navy Seal..... but that's ☒ ofl .... sorry about that..... ....

Posted by: gracetoyou Mar 1 2007, 05:34 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 28 2007, 04:55 PM)
>
> This projection is what I discovered from the very beginning of the accusations hurled at Linda. Again and again I had the opportunity to verify that so many of the accusations were things the accuser had done him/her-self that were projected to someone else.
>
> The worst part of it is that the accuser seemed so honest in describing how someone else did what that person had done him/her self, and they managed to convince so many they were telling the truth.

"He who is guilty of wrong is the first to suspect wrong. By condemning another he is trying to conceal or excuse the evil of his own heart." Thoughts From the Mount of Blessing, p. 126

Posted by: gardener Mar 1 2007, 05:46 PM

What I don't understand is why if DS loved Linda soooo much did he give up on her after only a couple of months. and got rid of her as quick as he could. I saw a program on 3ABN not too long ago where DS interviewed a couple where the wife had an affair with a pastor and how the couple worked it out and didn't give up on each other. Quite frankly it made DS look pretty bad when you think how quickly he disposed of Linda. Also, before all that happened I saw a "on the porch" program around valentines day where Danny came out and sat and talked with Linda. Can't remember now why but what I saw made me think then something wasn't right in that relationship. My daughter who isn't SDA even remarked about it.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 1 2007, 06:36 PM

☒ rofl

What? We're allowed to tell Clinton jokes on here? I thought this was Clinton country and only Bush jokes were allowed

Where have all the Dannyites gone today? Did they finally get the memo that they are hurting Danny by posting on here and should quit? Well Bystander was here but of course he only tells the truth so maybe Danny allows him to post.

Richard

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 1 2007, 01:06 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ ofl ☒ ofl
>
> Hillary Clinton goes to her doctor for a physical, only to find out that she's pregnant. She is furious... Here she's in the middle of her first run for president,and as Senator of New York this has happened to her. She calls home, gets Bill on the phone and immediately starts screaming;
>
> "How could you have let this happen? With all that's going on > right now, you go and get me pregnant! How could you? I can't > believe this! I just found out I am five weeks pregnant and it is all your fault! Your fault!
>
> Well, what have you got to say?" There is nothing but dead silence on the phone. She screams again, "Did you hear me?"
>
> Finally she hears Bill's very,very quiet voice. In a barely audible whisper, he says, "Who is this?"
>
> ☒ ☒
>
> okay, back to your regularly scheduled thread.... (that seems to never end)

Posted by: lurker Mar 1 2007, 07:04 PM

One of the things I have been wondering right along is why Bystander and WWJD would try so hard to paint Danny as such a poor figure of a man that he couldn't keep a woman. He comes off looking pretty wimpy and lame in their version of things. Continually trying to please and constantly trying for sympathy and forever being rejected.

Looking for evidence and finding it and then being laughed at.

He looks much more macho in the opposition's version. Having women on the side and rejecting Linda instead of being rejected.

Could their version of things be correct? Maybe that is why he drives such a big truck.

Posted by: Johann Mar 1 2007, 08:21 PM

[quote name='Bystander' date='Mar 2 2007, 12:26 AM' post='181532']
[/color]

What people that witnessed it? Did I miss something? Who was there when Linda planted it.
[/quote]

Linda was not alone, so she has witnesses!
Who else was there when Danny found it? Who else was there to see and hear the exchange that took place between them, when it was found. If you are calling Linda the first person Testimony, that doesn't hold water, Danny has his side too. Unless there was someone else in the car, then in the house, then in the room then you are barking up the wrong tree.

If two witnesses contradict each other there is no proof! Why should Linda tell us when she came to visit us in Norway that she had driven alone to the airport and was surprised to see Danny there?

Same with the naive junk. Who was there to see Linda fall on her knees in prayer and at the same time see Dan in his office at 3abn looking on the internet. Same with Johann and the "springfield trip" between him, Linda and the Doc. He turned in at 10pm. He doesn't know what, if anything, transpired after that between the two.

Johann did not turn in at 10 pm. Johann and Arild Abrahamsen drove together to their hotel at 3 am from Alyssa's apartments because they were both trying to solve a software problem in Linda's computer so she could finish her letter to the board by morning!

You say Danny wanted to get "rid" of her....Did you hear him say that?

yes, definitely! Danny told me in his e-mails to me. He sent me up to three a day during that period, and he definitely made it clear that he wanted to get a divorce and get rid of Linda. When I suggested a plan to save their marriage to Walt Thompson, he stated,

- Johann, you know Danny! He will not accept that!

Do you know anyone that did hear him say that, other than what you get from Linda? Even if someone other than Linda told you that, how do you know unless you were there? You have always ignored the fact that DS took LS all the way to the airport to catch a flight to Norway right after the divorce WITHOUT NATHAN. Why haven't you and the other mimics addressed that? Oh wait, I know, you are going to tell us she developed a sudden medical problem that only one doc in the whole world could fix? Address the fact that she ask DS to take her. And he did. Not to mention the conversation on the 2 hour drive. I await with baited breath to see what kind of concoction you come up with to explain or maybe deny the Norway trip without her son.
[/quote]

Yes, Linda denies that Danny took her to the airport. She needed to get away from the ordeal to see her three best friends in Norway, and we were all so happy to see her. We had such a great time together! She dreaded to go back to Carbondale, but she had to.

Several times Danny and his scribes have insinuated that her trip to Norway after the divorce was one of the reasons he had to divorce her. What kind of "concoction" is that?

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 02:56 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 1 2007, 08:21 PM)
>
> Linda was not alone, so she has witnesses!
>
> Who else was there when Danny found it? Who else was there to see and hear the exchange that took place between them, when it was found. If you are calling Linda the first person Testimony, that doesn't hold water, Danny has his side too. Unless there was someone else in the car, then in the house, then in the room then you are barking up the wrong tree.

If two witnesses contradict each other there is no proof! Why should Linda tell us when she came to visit us in Norway that she had driven alone to the airport and was surprised to see Danny there?

Exactly!!! So don't try to say there were "witnesses" about the pregnancy test. No one else was there when it all come down. It is her word against his, which are the facts in most of the information put on this board. The truth is no one else was with them during many discussions and/or events that took place.

She drove alone and was surprised to see Danny there? Surely you're kidding!!!! This post alone proves how prejudiced and gullible you are where Linda is concerned. The divorce is done, they aren't really having contact but Danny knows where she is going and who she is going to see and what time her flight leaves, and just "shows up" at an airport 2 1/2 hours away!!!! rofl Or are you trying to say he ran into her by accident? If not, what are you saying? If he had come on his own to the airport what purpose would it have been for? Only one, that he loved her and was still willing to reconcile if she wouldn't go. And, that is what happened except, he drove her. Why, because she called him and ask him to. That is how he knew where she was going and when.
Now, even more telling, you said the reason for her trip was that she was coming to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS in the world? How can that be? All along she has maintained that the only relationship that she had with the doc, was strictly a professional relationship because of her son!!!
She has stuck with that story and so have her supporters throughout this whole ordeal!!! Now you say he was one of her BEST FRIENDS?
Let's get real, shall we? If he had become "her best friend" how did that happen. That doesn't happen overnight and by talking strictly about her son's case. That must mean she had many more conversations with him than just professional. Since we confide in our best friends, that must mean she was confiding details of her And Danny's troubles to him (we already know that because of the supposed email to him about the pregnancy test). This says she had been talking to him all the while they were still married. Conclusion? She was a married woman. Doc was a single man. All this years of claiming strictly professional level, was not true. Danny became aware of all of these conversations and knew they went way beyond Nathan. He ask her to stop being personally involved with another man because at the very least, it was very inappropriate. She refused. He ask her several more times, she wouldn't. The very fact that she wouldn't stop, seeing the rift it was causing, says a whole lot. He demanded she stop when he found other "evidence" that proved to him,just how far things had went. She didn't. He went to his pastor. The pastor talked to her, she wouldn't stop. HOw many others talked to her? She wouldn't stop. There is no point in going on. When your husband says this is causing big trouble in our marriage, and pastors, friends, counselors say this is wrong it is inappropriate. To work on your marriage, the first thing you have to do is end this other relationship, and the wife still refuses. That says everything about her feelings for the other person. From there it went from bad to worse, and other evidence came to light to show that this had possibly not just been a "phone" relationship. Regardless, all the while DS is willing to work it out and all she has to do first, is stop the contact that had went way beyond her son.
Now I say all of that because ,Johann ,you did not deny that she went straight to Norway after the divorce. And you are the one who said she came to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS. She shouldn't have made a "male" "best friend" while she was married, that she would then, run to, half way across the world to see as soon as she was free. Everyone here spouts that DS wouldn't take time to work on the marriage. How can you when your wife refuses to take the first step? As said before, there are many other things that came to light and even so, he was willing to work it out. She wasn't.

You say Danny wanted to get "rid" of her....Did you hear him say that?

yes, definitely! Danny told me in his e-mails to me. He sent me up to three a day during that period, and he definitely made it clear that he wanted to get a divorce and get rid of Linda.

Nice spin, but if and I say if he said he wanted to go ahead with the > divorce it was because of the above stated reasons. There was no "reasoning" with her and she didn't want to make even 1 step to working things out. You take those facts and try to twist them that he just "for no reason" wanted a divorce.. If this whole thing wasn't over the doc why would he have been in contact with you period? If there were any other reason, you would have had nothing to do with it. Proves again what was really happening and why. The only reason for contact between you and DS was because you were the docs best friend and you knew that he and Linda had a "friendship." Maybe it is true (and it probably is) that you really didn't know the extent. I am sure since you were all such, good friends, you just took their word for it. Well, loyalty is a good thing up to a point.

>
> Several times Danny and his scribes have insinuated that her trip to Norway after the divorce was one of the reasons he had to divorce her. What kind of "concoction" is that?

One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

---

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 2 2007, 03:25 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 1 2007, 09:21 PM)
>
> Linda was not alone, so she has witnesses!...
>
> Several times Danny and his scribes have insinuated that her trip to Norway after the divorce was one of the reasons he had to divorce her. What kind of "concoction" is that?[/color][/size]

Bro you know these folks are full of half truths and out right lies... If you recall the Wizard of Oz, remember to pay not attention to the man behind the curtain. He's making a lot of noise, and bluffing folks with slight of hand. But he is a paper dragon with no teeth.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 03:56 PM)
>
> One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

Remember Johann, and all others, these people have NO CREDIBILITY here... not one ounce.

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 2 2007, 04:29 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 03:56 PM)

> One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

:xactly, it only supports a relationship between her and the Doctor, which had nothing to do with her ;on. I have never read anyone saying that the trip was the cause of the divorce but Johann and his 'an club when they put that in the mouth of others...

Vhich is how most of the so called facts and relating of events about Linda's side have originated from what I read). Johann says something (heresay, as he wasn't there). All told or interpreted by his)est friend Linda. He repeats it as facts, assigns motives and intents to Danny based on what Linda ells him, repeats that as fact, Then all the anonymous Danny accusers repeat it as fact, claiming they iave an identified witness, but never identify the person. Then other people arrive and say these ınonymous people's testimony is true cause they all have the same story and other people who dentify themselves by name verify what they are saying is true. Then Johann arrives agrees, and adds nore details, and the stories keep spreading like manure.

seriously believe when the facts are made known, these people will never see them, they are so oving the lies and convinced of their personal discernment and opinions.

3ut why should that be a suprise do you know how many have said, even if Linda is guilty, even if she ied even if she did commit adultery, that isn't the point, the point is that "DANNY WAS MEAN TO ⅎER!"

\s if husbands can't get upset and angry or be heartsick and not thinking straight when wives lie and :ommit adultery?

thank God that others will see..

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 05:01 PM

When the biblical process of accusations are followed, you don't bring unwarranted harm to the cause of god...

> 1 Tim 5:19 Do not entertain an accusation against an elder unless it is brought by two or three witnesses.
>
> 20 Those who sin are to be rebuked publicly, so that the others may take warning.
>
> 21 I charge you, in the sight of God and Christ Jesus and the elect angels, to keep these instructions without partiality, and to do nothing out of favoritism.
>
> [snip]
>
> 24The sins of some men are obvious, reaching the place of judgment ahead of them; the sins of others trail behind them.

Vouldn't this apply to anyone, Aletheia? Who were the witnnesses?

Io answer?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 05:43 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 01:56 PM)
>
> She drove alone and was surprised to see Danny there? Surely you're kidding!!!! This post alone proves how prejudiced and gullible you are where Linda is concerned. The divorce is done, they aren't really having contact but Danny knows where she is going and who she is going to see and what time her flight leaves, and just "shows up" at an airport 2 1/2 hours away!!!! Or are you trying to say he ran into her by accident? If not, what are you saying? If he had come on his own to the airport what purpose would it have been for? Only one, that he loved her and was still willing to reconcile if she wouldn't go. And, that is what happened except, he drove her. Why, because she called him and ask him to. That is how he knew where she was going and when.
> Now, even more telling, you said the reason for her trip was that she was coming to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS in the world? How can that be? All along she has maintained that the only relationship that she had with the doc, was strictly a professional relationship because of her son!!! She has stuck with that story and so have her supporters throughout this whole ordeal!!! Now you say he was one of her BEST FRIENDS?
> Let's get real, shall we? If he had become "her best friend" how did that happen. That doesn't happen overnight and by talking strictly about her son's case. That must mean she had many more conversations with him than just professional. Since we confide in our best friends, that must mean she was confiding details of her And Danny's troubles to him (we already know that because of the supposed email to him about the pregnancy test). This says she had been talking to him all the while they were still married. Conclusion? She was a married woman. Doc was a single man. All this years of claiming strictly professional level, was not true. Danny became aware of all of these conversations and knew they went way beyond Nathan. He ask her to stop being personally involved with another man because at the very least, it was very inappropriate. She refused. He ask her several more times, she wouldn't. The very fact that she wouldn't stop, seeing the rift it was causing, says a whole lot. He demanded she stop when he found other "evidence" that proved to him,just how far things had went. She didn't. He went to his pastor. The pastor talked to her, she wouldn't stop. HOw many others talked to her? She wouldn't stop. There is no point in going on. When your husband says this is causing big trouble in our marriage, and pastors, friends, counselors say this is wrong it is inappropriate. To work on your marriage, the first thing you have to do is end this other relationship, and the wife still refuses. That says everything about her feelings for the other person. From there it went from bad to worse, and other evidence came to light to show that this had possibly not just been a "phone" relationship. Regardless, all the while DS is willing to work it out and all she has to do first, is stop the contact that had went way beyond her son.
> Now I say all of that because ,Johann ,you did not deny that she went straight to Norway after the divorce. And you are the one who said she came to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS. She shouldn't have made a "male" "best friend" while she was married, that she would then, run to, half way across the world to see as soon as she was free. Everyone here spouts that DS wouldn't take time to work on the marriage. How can you when your wife refuses to take the first step? As said before, there are many other things that came to light and even so, he was willing to work it out. She wasn't.
>
> One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

wwjd,

If you are not Danny where have you gotten all of this intimate, inside information? If you aren't Danny, whose words have you used to build such a statement? If it is just hearsay aren't you being just a mite hypocritical?

If you aren't Danny, I have to say that you must be pretty winded after that extensive exercise in extrapolation. I know my head is spinning just from reading it.

Posted by: erik Mar 2 2007, 06:39 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 2 2007, 02:29 PM)
>
> Exactly, it only supports a relationship between her and the Doctor, which had nothing to do with her son. I have never read anyone saying that the trip was the cause of the divorce but Johann and his fan club when they put that in the mouth of others...
>
> Which is how most of the so called facts and relating of events about Linda's side have originated (from what I read). Johann says something (heresay, as he wasn't there). All told or interpreted by his best friend Linda. He repeats it as facts, assigns motives and intents to Danny based on what Linda tells him, repeats that as fact, Then all the anonymous Danny accusers repeat it as fact, claiming they have an identified witness, but never identify the person. Then other people arrive and say these anonymous people's testimony is true cause they all have the same story and other people who identify themselves by name verify what they are saying is true. Then Johann arrives agrees, and adds more details, and the stories keep spreading like manure.
>
> I seriously believe when the facts are made known, these people will never see them, they are so loving the lies and convinced of their personal discernment and opinions.
>
> But why should that be a suprise do you know how many have said, even if Linda is guilty, even if she lied even if she did commit adultery, that isn't the point, the point is that "DANNY WAS MEAN TO HER!"
>
> As if husbands can't get upset and angry or be heartsick and not thinking straight when wives lie and commit adultery?
>
> I thank God that others will see..

Aletheia,

Well so far the affiar is just a dirty rumor, using your standard of thrtuh, so when the proof comes then we can judge things.

so run over to danny side and get the truth for the rest of us.

erik

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 06:57 PM

To late erik. They didn't follow the right process. The Judge will throw this out one over a technicality.

Posted by: erik Mar 2 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 2 2007, 04:57 PM) ☐
>
> To late erik. They didn't follow the right process. The Judge will throw this out one over a technicality.

LD,

Very true, I am just trying to get Aletheia to see beyond the Tales she has been told.

ERik

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 07:23 PM

I'm pretty sure THE JUDGE knows exactly what happened, when and where. But He is willing to throw it out on the technicality of His Son dying on Calvary, buy only if they follow the right process, which is a change of heart.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 2 2007, 07:57 PM) ☐
>
> To late erik. They didn't follow the right process. The Judge will throw this out one over a technicality.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 07:47 PM

Perfect!

Posted by: Johann Mar 2 2007, 08:40 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 10:56 PM) ☐
>
> Linda was not alone, so she has witnesses!
> Who else was there when Danny found it? Who else was there to see and hear the exchange that took place between them, when it was found. If you are calling Linda the first person Testimony, that doesn't hold water, Danny has his side too. Unless there was someone else in the car, then in the house, then in the room then you are barking up the wrong tree.
>
> You read only what you want to read, and then you spin on something you claim is there. Is this how you figure you will win the court case you want to have? Would Jesus spin things around the way you are doing?
>
> Linda was not alone when she bought that thing, and it was not her idea alone!
>
> If two witnesses contradict each other there is no proof! Why should Linda tell us when she came to visit us in Norway that she had driven alone to the airport and was surprised to see Danny there?

o had
Exactly!!! So don't try to say there were "witnesses" about the pregnancy test. No one else was there when it all come down. It is her word against his, which are the facts in most of the information put on this board. The truth is no one else was with them during many discussions and/or events that took place.

She drove alone and was surprised to see Danny there? Surely you're kidding!!!! This post alone proves how prejudiced and gullible you are where Linda is concerned. The divorce is done, they aren't really having contact but Danny knows where she is going and who she is going to see and what time her flight leaves, and just "shows up" at an airport 2 1/2 hours away!!!! Or are you trying to say he ran into her by accident? If not, what are you saying? If he had come on his own to the airport what purpose would it have been for? Only one, that he loved her and was still willing to reconcile if she wouldn't go. And, that is what happened except, he drove her. Why, because she called him and ask him to. That is how he knew where she was going and when.

Now you are contradicting some of the information Danny wrote to me at that time. He bragged to me that he had his own spynet with which he could be informed of all of Linda's movements, even as soon as she had ordered an airline ticket. He even informed me that this was thanks to his good friend Garvin McNeilus who had some kind of contraption through some kind of a travel office where he was able to see who had ordered what. When I say "some kind of" it is because I do not know how this works.

Now, even more telling, you said the reason for her trip was that she was coming to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS in the world? How can that be? All along she has maintained that the only relationship that she had with the doc, was strictly a professional relationship because of her son!!!

Yes, due to Danny Shelton's demonic actions Linda had no other friends she could go to at that time than the trio in Norway. Just read Barbara Kerr's letter to see how Danny also manipulated her - one of Linda's best friends - by spending hours with her on the phone. Another, Brenda, had also abandoned her due to Danny's trickery. Was it strange that even Nathan thought his "famous" step-father was doing everything in his might to throw Linda at the doctor! What Christian loving husband would ever do such a thing? Throw his wife to another man? He must have been desparate trying to get rid of her!

\- - -

Let's get real, shall we?

One of the main reasons I saw that Danny's actions were highly suspicious were all the e-mails he wrote to me right from the beginning of this affair. It shone through most of them that he was not real, so if you convince him it pays to be real, than you have achieved a lot!

I have to stop now, but I'll get back to this later!

If he had become "her best friend" how did that happen. That doesn't happen overnight and by talking strictly about her son's case. That must mean she had many more conversations with him than just professional. Since we confide in our best friends, that must mean she was confiding details of her And Danny's troubles to him (we already know that because of the supposed email to him about the pregnancy test). This says she had been talking to him all the while they were still married. Conclusion? She was a married woman. Doc was a single man. All this years of claiming strictly professional level, was not true. Danny became aware of all of these conversations and knew they went way beyond Nathan. He ask her to stop being personally involved with another man because at the very least, it was very inappropriate. She refused. He ask her several more times, she wouldn't. The very fact that she wouldn't stop, seeing the rift it was causing, says a whole lot. He demanded she stop when he found other "evidence" that proved to him,just how far things had went. She didn't. He went to his pastor. The pastor talked to her, she wouldn't stop. HOw many others talked to her? She wouldn't stop. There is no point in going on. When your husband says this is causing big trouble in our marriage, and pastors, friends, counselors say this is wrong it is inappropriate. To work on your marriage, the first thing you have to do is end this other relationship, and the wife still refuses. That says everything about her feelings for the other person.

> From there it went from bad to worse, and other evidence came to light to show that this had possibly not just been a "phone" relationship. Regardless, all the while DS is willing to work it out and all she has to do first, is stop the contact that had went way beyond her son.
> Now I say all of that because ,Johann ,you did not deny that she went straight to Norway after the divorce. And you are the one who said she came to see her 3 BEST FRIENDS. She shouldn't have made a "male" "best friend" while she was married, that she would then, run to, half way across the world to see as soon as she was free. Everyone here spouts that DS wouldn't take time to work on the marriage. How can you when your wife refuses to take the first step? As said before, there are many other things that came to light and even so, he was willing to work it out. She wasn't.
>
> You say Danny wanted to get "rid" of her....Did you hear him say that?
>
> yes, definitely! Danny told me in his e-mails to me. He sent me up to three a day during that period, and he definitely made it clear that he wanted to get a divorce and get rid of Linda.
>
> Nice spin, but if and I say if he said he wanted to go ahead with the divorce it was because of the above stated reasons. There was no "reasoning" with her and she didn't want to make even 1 step to working things out. You take those facts and try to twist them that he just "for no reason" wanted a divorce.. If this whole thing wasn't over the doc why would he have been in contact with you period? If there were any other reason, you would have had nothing to do with it. Proves again what was really happening and why. The only reason for contact between you and DS was because you were the docs best friend and you knew that he and Linda had a "friendship." Maybe it is true (and it probably is) that you really didn't know the extent. I am sure since you were all such, good friends, you just took their word for it. Well, loyalty is a good thing up to a point.
>
> Several times Danny and his scribes have insinuated that her trip to Norway after the divorce was one of the reasons he had to divorce her. What kind of "concoction" is that?
>
> One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

One of yours I guess, since you can't divorce someone again for going to norway after the divorce

---

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 09:20 PM

A spy thing from Garwin McNeilus? Your posts get better and better.
Her only 3 friends in the world were in Norway?
And are you saying she had turned more to the doctor since Danny was accusing her of being involved with the doctor?
And you are not explaining how they got to be such good friends while she was still a married woman, other than you are saying she had to cry on his shoulder cause she had no one else. If so, then you are contradicting her words that it was strictly a professional relationship!!

You said you would get back to this later. Please don't. You've already buried yourself, and her, on this one.

Posted by: Johann Mar 2 2007, 09:28 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 3 2007, 05:20 AM)
>
> A spy thing from Garwin McNeilus? Your posts get better and better.
> Her only 3 friends in the world were in Norway?
> And are you saying she had turned more to the doctor since Danny was accusing her of being involved with the doctor?
> And you are not explaining how they got to be such good friends while she was still a married woman, other than you are saying she had to cry on his shoulder cause she had no one else. If so, then you are contradicting her words that it was strictly a professional relationship!!
>
> You said you would get back to this later. Please don't. You've already buried yourself, and her, on this one.

I was merely stating what Mr. Danny Shelton told me. Was he lying or was he telling the truth about what his friend, Garvin, was doing for him?

Linda cried on Irmgard's shoulder. Was there anything wrong with that? In which ditch are you buried?

Posted by: Lee Mar 2 2007, 09:45 PM

wwjd--thanks for your posts on this subject--it is very clear that if the doctor is considered as her "Best Friend" that indeed, the friendship had gone far beyond just a professional one! Pretty easy to see!

Besides, Linda's email to the Dr. about the hilarious pg kit that was supposed to be a joke tells me she knew him FAR more than just on a professional level.

Any intelligent person can see this! It is clear as a bell!!

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 2 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 2 2007, 05:43 PM)
>
> wwjd,
>
> If you are not Danny where have you gotten all of this intimate, inside information? If you aren't Danny, whose words have you used to build such a statement? If it is just hearsay aren't you being just a mite hypocritical?
>
> If you aren't Danny, I have to say that you must be pretty winded after that extensive exercise in extrapolation. I know my head is spinning just from reading it.

PB,

Do you think the answer to your question might lie in his post?? Just a hunch...

> QUOTE('wwjd')
>
> He went to his pastor. The pastor talked to her, she wouldn't stop.

Posted by: Chez Mar 2 2007, 09:51 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Mar 2 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> PB,
>
> Do you think the answer to your question might lie in his post?? Just a hunch...

What pastor? Are you talking about Lomacang? What pastor?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 09:55 PM

nop while ~~Rome~~ 3abn burns.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 2 2007, 10:45 PM)
>
> wwjd--thanks for your posts on this subject--it is very clear that if the doctor is considered as her "Best Friend" that indeed, the friendship had gone far beyond just a professional one! Pretty easy to see!
>
> Besides, Linda's email to the Dr. about the hilarious pg kit that was supposed to be a joke tells me she knew him FAR more than just on a professional level.
>
> Any intelligent person can see this! It is clear as a bell!!

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 10:05 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 2 2007, 09:55 PM)
>
> nop while ~~Rome~~ 3abn burns.

Oh, I thought you were on of those that said you didn't want to see the ministry fall. You just thought there should be a change in management. By your post, I guess I misunderstood you.

45

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ A Nobel Price And 3abn

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 03:52 PM

Great Moments in Physics

The following concerns a question in a physics degree exam at the University of Copenhagen. "Describe how to determine the height of a skyscraper with a barometer."

One student replied: "You tie a long piece of string to the neck of the barometer, then lower the barometer from the roof of the skyscraper to the ground. The length of the string plus the length of the barometer will equal the height of the building."

This highly original answer so incensed the examiner that the student was failed. The student appealed on the grounds that his answer was indisputably correct, and the university appointed an independent arbiter to decide the case.

The arbiter judged that the answer was indeed correct, but did the problem it was decided to call the student in and allow him six minutes in which to provide a verbal answer which showed at least a minimal familiarity with the basic principles of physics. For five minutes the student sat in silence, forehead creased in thought. The arbiter reminded him that time was running out, to which the student replied that he had several extremely relevant answers, but couldn't make up his mind which to use.

On being advised to hurry up the student replied as follows: "Firstly, you could take the barometer up to the roof of the skyscraper, drop it over the edge, and measure the time it takes to reach the ground. The height of the building can then be worked out from the formula H = 0.5g x t squared. But bad luck on the barometer."

"Or if the sun is shining you could measure the height of the barometer, then set it on end and measure the length of its shadow. Then you measure the length of the skyscraper's shadow, and thereafter it is a simple matter of proportional arithmetic to work out the height of the skyscraper."

"But if you wanted to be highly scientific about it, you could tie a short piece of string to the barometer and swing it like a pendulum, first at ground level and then on the roof of the skyscraper. The height is worked out by the difference in the gravitational restoring force T = 2 pi sqroot (l / g)."

"Or if the skyscraper has an outside emergency staircase, it would be easier to walk up it and mark off the height of the skyscraper in barometer lengths, then add them up."

"If you merely wanted to be boring and orthodox about it, of course, you could use the barometer to measure the air pressure on the roof of the skyscraper and on the ground, and convert the difference in millibars into feet to give the height of the building."

"But since we are constantly being exhorted to exercise independence of mind and apply scientific methods, undoubtedly the best way would be to knock on the janitor's door and say to him 'If you would like a nice new barometer, I will give you this one if you tell me the height of this skyscraper'."

The student was Niels Bohr, the only person from Denmark to win the Nobel prize for Physics.

Is there anything we can learn from this young Danish student in this connection?

When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 5 2007, 04:32 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 04:52 PM)
>
> Great Moments in Physics
>
> The following concerns a question in a physics degree exam at the University of Copenhagen. "Describe how to determine the height of a skyscraper with a barometer."
>
> One student replied: "You tie a long piece of string to the neck of the barometer, then lower the barometer from the roof of the skyscraper to the ground. The length of the string plus the length of the barometer will equal the height of the building."
>
> This highly original answer so incensed the examiner that the student was failed. The student appealed on the grounds that his answer was indisputably correct, and the university appointed an independent arbiter to decide the case.
>
> The arbiter judged that the answer was indeed correct, but did the problem it was decided to call the student in and allow him six minutes in which to provide a verbal answer which showed at least a minimal familiarity with the basic principles of physics. For five minutes the student sat in silence, forehead creased in thought. The arbiter reminded him that time was running out, to which the student replied that he had several extremely relevant answers, but couldn't make up his mind which to use.
>
> On being advised to hurry up the student replied as follows: "Firstly, you could take the barometer up to the roof of the skyscraper, drop it over the edge, and measure the time it takes to reach the ground. The height of the building can then be worked out from the formula H = 0.5g x t squared. But bad luck on the barometer."
>
> "Or if the sun is shining you could measure the height of the barometer, then set it on end and measure the length of its shadow. Then you measure the length of the skyscraper's shadow, and thereafter it is a simple matter of proportional arithmetic to work out the height of the skyscraper."
>
> "But if you wanted to be highly scientific about it, you could tie a short piece of string to the barometer and swing it like a pendulum, first at ground level and then on the roof of the skyscraper. The height is worked out by the difference in the gravitational restoring force T = 2 pi sqroot (l / g)."
>
> "Or if the skyscraper has an outside emergency staircase, it would be easier to walk up it and mark off the height of the skyscraper in barometer lengths, then add them up."
>
> "If you merely wanted to be boring and orthodox about it, of course, you could use the barometer to measure the air pressure on the roof of the skyscraper and on the ground, and convert the difference in millibars into feet to give the height of the building."
>
> "But since we are constantly being exhorted to exercise independence of mind and apply scientific methods, undoubtedly the best way would be to knock on the janitor's door and say to him 'If you would like a nice new barometer, I will give you this one if you tell me the height of this > skyscraper'."

>
> The student was Niels Bohr, the only person from Denmark to win the Nobel prize for Physics.
>
> Is there anything we can learn from this young Danish student in this connection?
>
> When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

here is the lesson of Naaman... that some people, when presented with a solution that, while bvious, is too simplistic to fit their preconceived notion, will tend to reject said solution no matter ow truthful... Occam's razor is often the tool for the job but some are looking to play with their brand ew shiny Husqvarna 394XPW 94cc chainsaw and will only accept that which allows them to do so... ure it will take your arm off along with that loose thread on your sleeve... but it's shiny... and makes oise... oooooooooooooh

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> When I have received a good answer I will tell you why the son of this famous scientist came to see me a few years after his father died, and what that son taught me that helps me understand certain things in connection with this whole affair.

, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails ut. They are rather elementary.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 04:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM)
>
> I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

t does take a genius to figure that out!

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:22 PM

It so happened that while serving many years ago as a pastor of one of the largest churches then in Denmark it was discovered I had a sickness which no one recognized. My own doctor figured it was just stress, and he wanted me to relax. But it got worse and I was taken to a hospital where I was examined by a number of doctors. One of these was a surgeon who was the son of a butcher. Another surgeon was a former soccer star player. I got to know these men and they became my friends. At one point a medical student was supposed to examine me and give his verdict. To the professor's surprise he diagnosed that I had TB in a back bone. Some thought I had caught this in Africa. But the point is that the professor acknowledged that his student had not been able to discover what was wrong with me unless the two of us had developed a cordial and open relationship.

After this I was taken for tests and treatments to various hospitals by ambulance. The experts were discussing what to do with me to be sure I would recover without being shortened by an inch or two.

Then someone suggested there was this known specialist in treatments of bone diseases, Dr. Hans Bohr, and son of the Nobel price winner. I was taken again by ambulance to the largest hospital in Denmark, the Federal hospital in Copenhagen. There I was to hear the verdict of this famous physician. I still see the small frame of this friendly pleasant man approaching my bed, with a friendly smile on his face.

He had all of the tests, the x-rays, the results of all of the examinations by various physicians in 4 or 5 different hospitals. He did not open any of the papers. First some general talk. Then he told me that he could not tell me how I should be treated before getting personally acquainted with me. So he started talking to me about my family, my work, my outlook on life. He just could tell me what should be done before we had become friends. This was his professional patient-physician relationship. It reminded me of what Ellen White states in the Ministry of Healing about the relationship between a patient and a Christian physician.

From Bystander's perspective 3ABN does not subscribe to such counsel given by Ellen White. Is that because 3ABN is an Independent Ministry?

Stay tuned and I will tell you how Irmgard and I experience this together with Danny Shelton several weeks before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen arrived on the scene. Irmgard never got over that before she died.

Posted by: Fran Mar 6 2007, 02:40 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 05:22 PM)

> It so happened that while serving many years ago as a pastor of one of the largest churches then in Denmark it was discovered I had a sickness which no one recognized. My own doctor figured it was just stress, and he wanted me to relax. But it got worse and I was taken to a hospital where I was examined by a number of doctors. One of these was a surgeon who was the son of a butcher. Another surgeon was a former soccer star player. I got to know these men and they became my friends. At one point a medical student was supposed to examine me and give his verdict. To the professor's surprise he diagnosed that I had TB in a back bone. Some thought I had caught this in Africa. But the point is that the professor acknowledged that his student had not been able to discover what was wrong with me unless the two of us had developed a cordial and open relationship.
>
> After this I was taken for tests and treatments to various hospitals by ambulance. The experts were discussing what to do with me to be sure I would recover without being shortened by an inch or two.
>
> Then someone suggested there was this known specialist in treatments of bone diseases, Dr. Hans > Bohr, and son of the Nobel price winner. I was taken again by ambulance to the largest hospital in Denmark, the Federal hospital in Copenhagen. There I was to hear the verdict of this famous physician. I still see the small frame of this friendly pleasant man approaching my bed, with a friendly smile on his face.

>
> He had all of the tests, the x-rays, the results of all of the examinations by various physicians in 4 or 5 different hospitals. He did not open any of the papers. First some general talk. Then he told me that he could not tell me how I should be treated before getting personally acquainted with me. So he started talking to me about my family, my work, my outlook on life. He just could tell me what should be done before we had become friends. This was his professional patient-physician relationship. It reminded me of what Ellen White states in the Ministry of Healing about the relationship between a patient and a Christian physician.
>
> From Bystander's perspective 3ABN does not subscribe to such counsel given by Ellen White. Is that because 3ABN is an Independent Ministry?
>
> Stay tuned and I will tell you how Irmgard and I experience this together with Danny Shelton several weeks before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen arrived on the scene. Irmgard never got over that before she died.

ohann;

'd like to hear the rest of the story ......

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 02:47 PM

Yes, Johann, please share the rest of this amazing story!

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 05:32 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM) ☐
>
> I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

Good, but why don't you comprehend?

Posted by: Fran Mar 7 2007, 10:55 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Bystander Mar 6, 2007, 1241 AM
>
> I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

IMO, Since they are above your level, I can see where it would be hard to comprehend! You should attend Andrews University, They are quite good I hear.

Posted by: sister Mar 8 2007, 04:50 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 7 2007, 11:55 PM) ☐
>
> IMO, Since they are above your level, I can see where it would be hard to comprehend! You should attend Andrews University, They are quite good I hear.

Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was aquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?

Sister

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 8 2007, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 05:50 AM) ☐
>
> Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was aquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?
>
> Sister

Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 8 2007, 12:43 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 8 2007, 01:40 PM) ☐

> Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

ɿursh Aletheia grown folks is talkin... Have you not yet learned yet to be seen and not heard?

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 8 2007, 12:44 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 8 2007, 01:40 PM)
>
> Take care. Sister. Your fruits are showing again...

:alvin, Clay or PrincessDi....

:an you get us a smilie for " ad hominem" posts?

ıw
:"i"

am still waiting for an answer Aletheia.

ıttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12418&view=findpost&p=183730

Posted by: Carmel Mar 8 2007, 03:50 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 04:50 AM)
>
> It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?
>
> Sister

couldn't agree more!

ɿecently I wrote a post in that regard, but never got a reply from Bystander.

ɿot coming from southern Illinois either, I am really having hard time to see how can anybody talk to ın older gentleman like that. I understand that Johann was accepted in Uppsala University for his ɭoctorate, a very renown European University, founded in 1477. For me, that's enough to have a ;pecial respect for him, but Danny is shamelessly questioning even his intelligence!

n other languages there is a difference between talking with a person of your age, and somebody ɔlder than you (they address an older-than-you person in "plural"). You HAVE to talk to an older person with respect, if you care to speak correctly.

Bragging about being ignorant was one of the reasons (the big one) I stopped watching 3abn, some 6 years ago. I just couldn't stand watching that anymore.... Danny's few sentences that I learned very quickly. I couldn't comprehend anybody being proud of not having any school, not knowing your own language, not caring to read or learn anything, and thinking that the Holy Spirit is going to miraculously inspire you to sound like you know what you are talking about! I don't think so!

Isn't it writen of Jesus that he increased in wisdom and stature, that he grew and became strong in spirit filled with wisdom ...

I just didn't see that growth in Danny. That is sad!

Even though we (my husband & I) stopped watching them, we were still supporting them financially, because we thought God was indeed using them "inspite of them", as Danny also liked to say. The divorce, and especially his remarriage, made us think differently, but after finding this site, and after having the opportunity to read it for ourselves, (all the letters, emails, all well documented) we don't have any doubts anymore. God is not being glorified through the leadership of 3abn.

They do depend on our donations, don't they? That's why this site is so important, it educates those who are willing to grow in knowledge, doesn't it?! We love that!

Carmel

Posted by: Bystander Mar 8 2007, 05:34 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 03:50 AM) ☐
>
> Fran, it is obvious that you have never lived in southern Illinois. People like Danny take pride in their ignorance and lack of education. Where do you think the T-shirt with the logo, "I'm with stupid" came from? There was a man I was aquainted with who had no shame in telling people, "I come from poor white southern trailer trash." It is really sad. Rather than taking the opportunity of bettering themselves, instead they continue "making fun" of those who have chosen to be educated. Actually, a good example would be the way Bystander speaks toward Johann. Rather than shaming Johann, it merely show the ignorance and lack of the most rudimentary social skills on the part of Bystander. I would not like to use the word "stupid" to describe Bystander, but what else can be said of the disrespectful and ignorant remarks he continues to make toward Johann?
> Sister

Now lets see...who is it that is ignorant and lacks the most rudimentary social skills? Who is it that is disrespectful and ignorant? Not to mention...cruel, vindictive, hurtful, nasty and hate filled. In looking back, sister, your posts certainly have changed from all of your crude and distasteful comments back several months ago. Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. Now you hide your "true nature" behind a cloak of scripture and well meaning insights on said situation. Well, you are not fooling anybody. This was just a few of hundreds of degrading, defaming, nasty and hideous, posts that you have made. You might as well go back to accessing your true nature, your spiritual change came a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case. It took lots of time, imagination and cruelty to do what you have done on here. So, save your response for someone that doesn't know the "real" you. There are a few left who still, might buy it.

SISTER
So, in conclusion, it is difficult to get excited over the "bargain suit" when you know how Danny has channeled so much ministry money through his pockets over the years. Sorry, Dan, it was a good try, but you are going to have to do much better than that in order to fool all the people, all the time... You need to work on your showmanship, even P.T. Barnum didn't believe it was possible to fool all the people, all the time...

The house that Danny built is beginning to crumble and it is important to know all the players, for soon the entire drama will unfold.

Remember, Mollie never needs "facts"...she makes up the "truth" as she goes along.

Don't forget: Ken Denslows parents travel around in a new 3ABN RV promoting Danny and company. It appears that the plot is thickening. Who is ready to give the pot another stir?

There is so much back scratching going on at 3ABN you would think those folks were continually outside rolling in poison ivy. Today it is, "Look out and pray before entering into mutually benefitting relationships with Danny Shelton. Like the Devil, he just might try to charm you into selling you soul for the fleeting fame of being associated with him.

Concerning Shelton and Bush... depending upon your political position, that could just be one more deceiver being introduced to another. It seems Danny is trying to upgrade his image by being seen with the President. I hope they counted the silverware before and after Danny left the Whitehouse.

Once all the truth comes out about Danny and the Shelton Gang, the appearance of evil is going to stick on a lot of folks like warts on a frog.

Mollie will get things done his way irregardless of what the truth is, how many lies she has to tell or who she has to trample on to reach their goal.

Instead of going the way of hair plugs, this man fancies another means of hiding a receding hairline. But loss of hair is not the only secret he is hiding.

for correctly stating the part Goldie played in securing her son's freedom...

But the real question is: why is Garwin McNeilus pimping a sexual predator to the GC with the threat of removing the vast amount of funds he would normally contribute to the World Missions Department, unless they back off and allow Danny Shelton to continue the evil practices that he has hidden for so long behind the scenes at 3ABN? Is all the hype about McNeilus and his heart for missions nothing more than PR? Are his contributions merely a tactic to control the church? What binds Garwin McNeilus to Danny Shelton?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 8 2007, 05:52 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 8 2007, 04:34 PM)
>
> Now lets see...who is it that is ignorant and lacks the most rudimentary social skills? Who is it that > is disrespectful and ignorant? Not to mention...cruel, vindictive, hurtful, nasty and hate filled. In looking back, sister, your posts certainly have changed from all of your crude and distasteful comments back several months ago. Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. Now you hide your "true nature" behind a cloak of scripture and well meaning insights on said situation. Well, you are not fooling anybody. This was just a few of hundreds of degrading, defaming, nasty and hideous, posts that you have made. You might as well go back to accessing your true nature, your spiritual change came a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case. It took lots of time, imagination and cruelty to do what you have done on here. So, save your response for someone that doesn't know the "real" you. There are a few left who still, might buy it.

>
> SISTER
> So, in conclusion, it is difficult to get excited over the "bargain suit" when you know how Danny has channeled so much ministry money through his pockets over the years. Sorry, Dan, it was a good try, but you are going to have to do much better than that in order to fool all the people, all the time... You need to work on your showmanship, even P.T. Barnum didn't believe it was possible to fool all the people, all the time...
>
> The house that Danny built is beginning to crumble and it is important to know all the players, for soon the entire drama will unfold.
> Remember, Mollie never needs "facts"...she makes up the "truth" as she goes along.
>
> Don't forget: Ken Denslows parents travel around in a new 3ABN RV promoting Danny and company. It appears that the plot is thickening. Who is ready to give the pot another stir?
>
> There is so much back scratching going on at 3ABN you would think those folks were continually outside rolling in poison ivy. Today it is, "Look out and pray before entering into mutually benefitting relationships with Danny Shelton. Like the Devil, he just might try to charm you into selling you soul for the fleeting fame of being associated with him.
>
> Concerning Shelton and Bush... depending upon your political position, that could just be one more deceiver being introduced to another. It seems Danny is trying to upgrade his image by being seen with the President. I hope they counted the silverware before and after Danny left the Whitehouse.
>
> Once all the truth comes out about Danny and the Shelton Gang, the appearance of evil is going to stick on a lot of folks like warts on a frog.
>
> Mollie will get things done his way irregardless of what the truth is, how many lies she has to tell or who she has to trample on to reach their goal.
>
> Instead of going the way of hair plugs, this man fancies another means of hiding a receding hairline. But loss of hair is not the only secret he is hiding.
>
> for correctly stating the part Goldie played in securing her son's freedom...
>
> But the real question is: why is Garwin McNeilus pimping a sexual predator to the GC with the threat of removing the vast amount of funds he would normally contribute to the World Missions Department, unless they back off and allow Danny Shelton to continue the evil practices that he has hidden for so long behind the scenes at 3ABN? Is all the hype about McNeilus and his heart for missions nothing more than PR? Are his contributions merely a tactic to control the church? What binds Garwin McNeilus to Danny Shelton?

nteresting collection of posts. Your point was what?

Posted by: sister Mar 8 2007, 08:20 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 8 2007, 06:34 PM)
>
> ...Seems the pending lawsuit would account for that. ...a little too late to make a difference in the suit being filed. ...All the earlier, accusations, allegations, slander, games and lies have already been obtained as evidence. I will say this for you..No one could have put themselves in a "better" position for just such a case.

A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? rofl rofl rofl

How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringing a lawsuit against as "Sister".

Sister

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 8 2007, 08:54 PM

Don't forget sister, this Bystander character is the same person Lee said KNOWS all the ins and outs, and that we'd be smart to listen up. Trouble is, he proved he didn't understand squat about the case 3abn lost against the Dept of Revenue in Illinois. The 3abn team have proved themselves incompetent in the courtroom...and brutes for pnishment as they appeal the case.

Truely amazing ineptness displayed right before us.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 12:57 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 8 2007, 04:52 PM)
>
> Interesting collection of posts. Your point was what?

Even you are not that bewildered

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 8 2007, 07:20 PM)
>
> A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? rofl rofl rofl
>
> How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringing a lawsuit against as

> "Sister".
>
> Sister

Vow, I thought even you were smarter than that.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 9 2007, 01:22 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 12:57 AM)
>
> Even you are not that bewildered
> Wow, I thought even you were smarter than that.

very time I come back to the 3ABN boards I want to cry. When oh when are you going to put up--or hut up? If you can't answer the questions, don't answer the questions!

f sister hasn't been served papers, there isn't a pending lawsuit. I got my copy of Adventist Today, oday, and they printed the story in the magazine, so they must not have got served papers either.

s far as PB is concerned, I feel this individual was trying to give you the benefit of the doubt. It sure ooked like you were taking quotes from sister's posts out of context to paint her as a vindictive erson. Of course she's been unhappy with the goings-on at 3ABN, but the more I find out from other ources, the more credibility she's got, and the more reason she had to complain.

f Danny hasn't done anything wrong, he's got nothing to lose by stepping out of the way nd letting a free and impartial investigation of these going ons--and while we're at it, how bout an independent audit of 3ABN's books for the last, oh, 20 years?

f he's an honest man, why would you, Bystander, have any trouble with this? Would it not e the fastest way to clear all this garbage up?

ould Danny not go on the air and say, "Okay, I have nothing to hide. I am therefore taking a leave of bsence while the following people and/or organizations, unconnected with 3ABN, look into some of he concerns people have expressed. Since I've done nothing wrong legally or morally, I am confident hey will exonerate me"?

ystander, would you have a problem if Danny were to do that?

I know I just put words like "exonerate" in Danny Shelton's mouth, but maybe someday he'll be lessed with more education.)

nd all of this is ☒ ofl ... how 'bout we let Johann finish his story?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 9 2007, 12:22 AM)

Soul, nothing was taken out of context. Go read it and hundreds of others nasty cruel accusations she has made. No matter what side you are on, nobody can say that she has not been unbelievably vindictive and mean in her comments that were made to try and destroy people and lives. If the suit is such a joke, then why has she toned her posts way down in the last few months from what they were earlier. Because she knows things that you don't.
Have you ever dealt with attorneys, judges and court cases? If you have, then you surely know that any attorney with his salt will gather every piece of evidence that he needs, study into the facts and persons surrounding the case then compare what they have with case law. It can be months before they are ready to file the suit or serve papers. You an others here that perceive that nothing is going to happen because it hasn't happened in your "made up" time frame are showing your ignorance to the subject at hand. Same with 3abn showing evidence. They will show it, when they choose to whom they choose and it won't be on a chat room. Again, because something isn't done when you think it should be done means absolutely nada. To continue down those same old roads and time frames is not very intelligent.

As for your "lack of education" remarks, You are not setting a very good example of being educated on the lawsuit subject. I personally, would rather, be uneducated and have some common sense.

Posted by: västergötland Mar 9 2007, 02:06 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 9 2007, 03:20 AM)
>
> A pending lawsuit? For telling the truth and allowing the public to see what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN? rofl rofl rofl
>
> How do you sue a ghost, Bystander? For there to be a suit there has to be a name associated with the person being sued. Go ahead Bystander, tell everyone who Danny is bringing a lawsuit against as "Sister".
>
> Sister

This sounds as if you are saying that hiding behind the screen name lets you get away with things you would otherwise not get away with. Surely this was not what you intended to communicate?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 9 2007, 02:26 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> Soul, nothing was taken out of context. Go read it and hundreds of others nasty cruel accusations she has made. No matter what side you are on, nobody can say that she has not been unbelievably vindictive and mean in her comments that were made to try and destroy people and lives. If the suit is such a joke, then why has she toned her posts way down in the last few months from what > they were earlier. Because she knows things that you don't.

> Have you ever dealt with attorneys, judges and court cases? If you have, then you surely know that any attorney with his salt will gather every piece of evidence that he needs, study into the facts and persons surrounding the case then compare what they have with case law. It can be months before they are ready to file the suit or serve papers. You an others here that perceive that nothing is going to happen because it hasn't happened in your "made up" time frame are showing your ignorance to the subject at hand. Same with 3abn showing evidence. They will show it, when they choose to whom they choose and it won't be on a chat room. Again, because something isn't done when you think it should be done means absolutely nada. To continue down those same old roads and time frames is not very intelligent.
>
> As for your "lack of education" remarks, You are not setting a very good example of being educated on the lawsuit subject. I personally, would rather, be uneducated and have some common sense.

ystander,

just spent quite some time reading a lot of Sister's early posts - back to April of 2006. I found them houghtful and informative. Guess I haven't gotten to the ones you characterize as nasty, cruel and indictive.

'm certain you must have meant "worth" rather than "with" his salt. And, IMO, it is important to have oth education and common sense.

B

Posted by: Bystander Mar 9 2007, 02:49 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 9 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> I just spent quite some time reading a lot of Sister's early posts - back to April of 2006. I found them thoughtful and informative. Guess I haven't gotten to the ones you characterize as nasty, cruel and vindictive.
>
> I'm certain you must have meant "worth" rather than "with" his salt. And, IMO, it is important to have both education and common sense.
>
> PB

ell, dear, if you missed the nasty ones just go back to my post where I put some of them. They were either informative nor thoughtful. With remarks like that PB, you expose your true "makeup." You ontinually try to cloak your persona as fair and patient and willing to hear both sides, when nothing ould be further from the truth. Anyone that has read Sisters posts could never say they were not hat I said they were. I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would ave no problem winning that case. That you would say otherwise is just another indication of your rue bias on said situation. Proving that if you were slapped in the face with proof of the all the lies eing told here, you would turn your little bewildered face away and say sweetly that black was white. hat doesn't say much for your education or common sense. One would almost think you were Linda y the way that you try to cloak yourself with scripture and EGW while, at the same time, trying to estroy with your little hints, innuendo and your "well planted" questions as I have mentioned before.

Your quiet little facade isn't working anymore, dear, or are you too bewildered to see that fact?

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 03:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 10:49 PM) ☐
>
> \- - -
> I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would have no problem winning that case.
> \- - -

This is so true and such a fitting comment from 3ABN in this case. Linda has had to face such a jury now, it must be 24 if not 25 times, In every one of those casses only one side was heard, and Linda was in no case permitted to present her side of the story. So 3ABN is by now certain that they will win every time. They might even have some more days of fasting to give the false impression they are doing the right thing, trusting this will still be impressing people to vote for Danny Shelton.

When one of their own supporters - a conservative Christian - Gailon Artur Joy, appears on the scene demanding that at the final trial Linda's side will be heard too, then they demand their "god" appear from his abode pouring the worst venom of demons over his head to avoid the truth to be revealed.

And they still claim to be a Christian ministry!!!

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Mar 9 2007, 10:06 PM) ☐
>
> This sounds as if you are saying that hiding behind the screen name lets you get away with things you would otherwise not get away with. Surely this was not what you intended to communicate?

As I have said before, 3ABN might be sorry what they have said when they discover who Sister is.

As she has stated before, she has so much documentation that they will never get her.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 9 2007, 03:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 9 2007, 01:49 PM) ☐
>
> Well, dear, if you missed the nasty ones just go back to my post where I put some of them. They were neither informative nor thoughtful. With remarks like that PB, you expose your true "makeup." You continually try to cloak your persona as fair and patient and willing to hear both sides, when nothing could be further from the truth. Anyone that has read Sisters posts could never say they were not what I said they were. I am quite confident that if I presented those quotes to a jury of 12, I would have no problem winning that case. That you would say otherwise is just another indication of your true bias on said situation. Proving that if you were slapped in the face with proof of the all the lies being told here, you would turn your little bewildered face away and say sweetly that black was white. That doesn't say much for your education or common sense. One would almost think you were Linda by the way that you try to cloak yourself with scripture and EGW while, at the same time, trying to destroy with your little hints, innuendo and your "well planted" questions as I have mentioned before.

> Your quiet little facade isn't working anymore, dear, or are you too bewildered to see that fact?

rother Bystander, uess I've hit a nerve for you to be so harsh in characterizing me.

f you were to present the quotes to a jury of 12, you would need to be able to prove that they are lies n order to win any case. If you will supply links to each of sister's posts that you took clips from, I will ladly read them in their entirety and give you a more definitive response, if you should so desire.

he only "cloak" I seek to wear is our Savior's righteousness which is available to everyone. I do ttempt to arm myself "with the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God". The only thing I am ttempting to destroy is dishonesty. If my "well planted" questions are having an impact on the lies hat are being woven before the world, if the carefully crafted web of deceit is beginning to fail ecause of my common sense questions, well, good.

he woman that my husband of 35 years is married to does not go by the name of Linda.

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 04:25 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 9 2007, 11:51 PM)
>
> Brother Bystander,
>
> Guess I've hit a nerve for you to be so harsh in characterizing me.
>
> If you were to present the quotes to a jury of 12, you would need to be able to prove that they are lies in order to win any case. If you will supply links to each of sister's posts that you took clips from, I will gladly read them in their entirety and give you a more definitive response, if you should so desire.
>
> The only "cloak" I seek to wear is our Savior's righteousness which is available to everyone. I do attempt to arm myself "with the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God". The only thing I am attempting to destroy is dishonesty. If my "well planted" questions are having an impact on the lies that are being woven before the world, if the carefully crafted web of deceit is beginning to fail because of my common sense questions, well, good.
>
> The woman that my husband of 35 years is married to does not go by the name of Linda.

Posted by: Carmel Mar 12 2007, 05:46 AM

Johann, are you going to continue with your story? We are standing on our toes and waiting impatiently to read the rest of it.

Carmel

Posted by: Johann Mar 13 2007, 06:28 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM)
>
> I, for one, am certainly glad that it doesn't take a Nobel prize winner to figure you and your emails out. They are rather elementary.

Bystander finds this quite elementary, so I hope he follows. He has given me so many incentives to continue this thread. Thank you!

Posted by: Johann Mar 13 2007, 06:52 AM

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 12 2007, 01:46 PM)
>
> Johann, are you going to continue with your story? We are standing on our toes and waiting impatiently to read the rest of it.
> Carmel

In my last post dealing with the main story, I indicated how important it was for a well known specialist to not merely look at medical reports but to get to know his patient personally in order to know how to treat his patient. Elsewhere the question was asked shy Irmgard died even though she was being treated by Dr. Arild Abrahamsen. Even though I felt I had the answer to that question soon after she died 20 months ago, it is important to think the matter through before coming to a conclusion.

Towards the end of 2003 she was given but a short time to live. It was then Danny and Linda urged us to come to headquarters to find help.

Some time after we arrived we were eight people assembled in our apartment for an anointment service. Danny and Linda Shelton, Pastor and Mrs. John Lomacang, Pastor and Mrs. John Stanton, and then the two of us.

It is a solemn moment when people appeal to their creator for healing as they follow the admonition given in Scripture by James. We were all deeply moved when several of us prayed and Irmgard was anointed by Pastor John Lomacang. We felt the presence of the Divine, until it ended in sadness.

Irmgard was bewildered and felt she was betrayed. She felt betrayed by the men she trusted. What happened at the end of that service? More on that later.

Posted by: JustTana Mar 13 2007, 09:09 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 13 2007, 07:52 AM)
>
> It is a solemn moment when people appeal to their creator for healing as they follow the admonition given in Scripture by James. We were all deeply moved when several of us prayed and Irmgard was anointed by Pastor John Lomacang. We felt the presence of the Divine, until it ended in sadness.

> Irmgard was bewildered and felt she was betrayed. She felt betrayed by the men she trusted. What happened at the end of that service? More on that later.

Please, Johann, Continue. We are waiting to hear what happened with you and Irmgard and the prayer group'. But we understand that you may be having a some difficulty going through this sorrowful time in your life and need to tell it as you can.

Thank you for your faithfulness to God and His cause.

T

46

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Danny Is Back!

Posted by: sister Jan 19 2007, 07:25 AM

For those of you who missed the pre-recorded "Live" Thursday night on 3ABN, here is an interesting report, with which I concur:

The news was everywhere, calls were placed to major detractors and dissidents and postings were made on web-sites or leaked to news people...finally the real story was coming out. The set was off limits except to a very few and security reached a new low...yes, I was told, tonight we hear the real story.

With baited breathe and dvd recorders at the ready we waited...finally, perhaps we would see the illusive evidence!!! What a letdown, what a melodrama, what a farce...just more of the same old, same old...no evidence, no substance, just send more money!!! And the devil is definitely after us!!! But the annointed one, the messiah of 3ABN, the visionary referred to by Mollie Steenson as the prophet was coming back!!! Is that it???

Yes, it is true, Danny has largely gone missing since the Tommy Shelton Story hit the contributors

e-mail boxes in early December. But Danny's back and 3ABN Today will be his platform to rescue 3ABN from the ravages of internet gossip. By the way, who was that professor that was going around saying 3ABN was bankrupt? Anyone have a clue? I have always maintained they have sufficient assets that if not another dime came in they could operate off borrowed money and matured trusts for at least five years. Unless people start cancelling trusts!!!

The important message is that Danny has turned a new leaf, he had come down from the mountain in 2006 and now he is back at the top in 2007 and going to be a real bystander and let the Lord fight his battles. He is not going to wrestle with pigs based on the advise of CA Murray. But what if he was the pig??? For example just this afternoon Danny spent a pile of time on the phone with his new best friend, Erv Taylor, the editor of AToday working diligently to keep them from publishing a 3ABN story, and getting Erv to see if they would ask me some less than edifying questions to answer...which by the way, as usual , I have absolutely no problem answering. Yup, he was up to the same old stab and twist just this afternoon. Must have climbed back up that mountain just in time for the show!!!

Frankly, I think Danny was looking much better and it appears our informant that told us that he wasn't really taking a hiatus but he was out getting new hair plugs may have been indeed correct...that hair is definitely looking much darker and much thicker than in early December and Danny clearly had better color and looked much better than he has looked in a while....but where was the young philly? Have they indeed taken ASI's advise and taken her permanently off the screen to keep those questions to a dull roar? Or as some have rumored, is there trouble in paradise? I hear Brandy is a good bit less submissive and a good deal fiestier than Linda by millions of miles!!! C'est la vie!!! Wonder if Danny wonders if he made a big mistake yet? To bad he cannot turn the clock back three years!!!

And then Larry Ewing getting rolled out to subtly beg for money...the problem with rolling a reasonably honest CFO out is that he tells the whole truth and nothing but the truth...for example...Danny was declaring Larry had the 2006 financial statements and Larry quickly noted that they wouldn't be done for several months yet and this after bragging about the automation and controls. Guess this is one company that won't be reporting on fourth quarter results this earning season, but why not?

And then the real story rolls out...3ABN had about $17.3 million in revenues in 2006 compared to 15.4 Million in 2005. A whoping increase of $1.8Million above 2005...except that Larry failed to disclose how much of the increase, something in excess of $3.4 Million, was directly related to project giving known as the Ten Commandments Weekend and the Ten Commandments Twice Removed book campaign...remember the nearly 4.8 Million books 3ABN bought from Dwight Halls Remnant Publications at a good premium to production cost and sold for only 25 cents each? And made Danny a good deal wealthier? Take out the project based giving and you find a significant decrease in overall giving. And remember, we do not have the numbers on matured trusts for 2006 or the sale of assetts. One person familiar with the ground station numbers quickly picked up on the fact that the number of ground stations that Ewing says they own was only 90, down from the number our ground station expert recalls of 115. So what happened to 25 ground stations, anyone have any idea?

Oh, yes, and don't forget Larry Ewing went to great pains to differentiate from trust funds and hard assetss valued at a written down value of only $17 Million...but then went on to note that they have no money in the bank and also painfully admitted that here in the second week of January they still owed over $400,000 on their $500,000 line of credit after stating they had no debt? HUH???

As one source quickly admitted, it has been a long time since 3ABN went past the end of December without all the bills paid and all that revolving line of credit at zero. Has Danny become a liablility to 3ABN? We think so and wonder just when will the board and the officers see the handwriting on the wall?? Apparently not very soon!!!

We sincerely pray it is sooner than later. In the interim, DANNY IS BACK!!! Just when will Tommy come back with him??? We believe it is inevitable, despite being fool hardy...but look back three years now and see just how foolhardy this entire mess was, from the beginning!!! Yes, you can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time!!! Advise long since forgotten in the presidents office of 3ABN!!!

Mene, Mene, Teakal, Upharson!!! May the Lord save 3ABN from the judgements of the Lord upon those who live in adultery!!! This is our prayer!!! May 2007 be the end of the story!!! But don't plan on it.!!! Just pray for it, if it be the Lord's will, Amen and Amen!!!

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jan 19 2007, 09:12 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 09:25 AM) ☐
>
> For those of you who missed the pre-recorded "Live" Thursday night on 3ABN, here is an interesting report, with which I concur:
>
> The news was everywhere, calls were placed to major detractors and dissidents and postings were made on web-sites or leaked to news people...finally the real story was coming out. The set was off limits except to a very few and security reached a new low...yes, I was told, tonight we hear the real story.
>
> With baited breathe and dvd recorders at the ready we waited...finally, perhaps we would see the illusive evidence!!! What a letdown, what a melodrama, what a farce...just more of the same old, same old...no evidence, no substance, just send more money!!! And the devil is definitely after us!!! But the annointed one, the messiah of 3ABN, the visionary referred to by Mollie Steenson as the prophet was coming back!!! Is that it???
>
> Yes, it is true, Danny has largely gone missing since the Tommy Shelton Story hit the contributors

e-mail boxes in early December. But _Danny's_ back and 3ABN Today will be his platform to rescue 3ABN from the ravages of internet gossip. By the way, who was that professor that was going around saying 3ABN was bankrupt? Anyone have a clue? I have always maintained they have sufficient assets that if not another dime came in they could operate off borrowed money and matured trusts for at least five years. Unless people start cancelling trusts!!!

The important message is that Danny has turned a new leaf, he had come down from the mountain in 2006 and now he is back at the top in 2007 and going to be a real bystander and let the Lord fight his battles. He is not going to wrestle with pigs based on the advise of CA Murray. But what if he was the pig??? For example just this afternoon Danny spent a pile of time on the phone with his new best friend, Erv Taylor, the editor of AToday working diligently to keep them from publishing a 3ABN story, and getting Erv to see if they would ask me some less than edifying questions to answer...which by the way, as usual , I have absolutely no problem answering. Yup, he was up to the same old stab and twist just this afternoon. Must have climbed back up that mountain just in time for the show!!!

Frankly, I think Danny was looking much better and it appears our informant that told us that he wasn't really taking a hiatus but he was out getting new hair plugs may have been indeed correct...that hair is definitely looking much darker and much thicker than in early December and Danny clearly had better color and looked much better than he has looked in a while....but where was the young philly? Have they indeed taken ASI's advise and taken her permanently off the screen to keep those questions to a dull roar? Or as some have rumored, is there trouble in paradise? I hear Brandy is a good bit less submissive and a good deal fiestier than Linda by millions of miles!!! C'est la vie!!! Wonder if Danny wonders if he made a big mistake yet? To bad he cannot turn the clock back three years!!!

And then Larry Ewing getting rolled out to subtly beg for money...the problem with rolling a reasonably honest CFO out is that he tells the whole truth and nothing but the truth...for example...Danny was declaring Larry had the 2006 financial statements and Larry quickly noted that they wouldn't be done for several months yet and this after bragging about the automation and controls. Guess this is one company that won't be reporting on fourth quarter results this earning season, but why not?

And then the real story rolls out...3ABN had about $17.3 million in revenues in 2006 compared to 15.4 Million in 2005. A whoping increase of $1.8Million above 2005...except that Larry failed to disclose how much of the increase, something in excess of $3.4 Million, was directly related to project giving known as the Ten Commandments Weekend and the Ten Commandments Twice Removed book campaign...remember the nearly 4.8 Million books 3ABN bought from Dwight Halls Remnant Publications at a good premium to production cost and sold for only 25 cents each? And made Danny a good deal wealthier? Take out the project based giving and you find a significant decrease in overall giving. And remember, we do not have the numbers on matured trusts for 2006 or the sale of assetts. One person familiar with the ground station numbers quickly picked up on the fact that the number of ground stations that Ewing says they own was only 90, down from the number our ground station expert recalls of 115. So what happened to 25 ground stations, anyone have any idea?

Oh, yes, and don't forget Larry Ewing went to great pains to differentiate from trust funds and hard assetss valued at a written down value of only $17 Million...but then went on to note that they have no money in the bank and also painfully admitted that here in the second week of January they still owed over $400,000 on their $500,000 line of credit after stating they had no debt? HUH???

As one source quickly admitted, it has been a long time since 3ABN went past the end of December without all the bills paid and all that revolving line of credit at zero. Has Danny become a liablility to 3ABN? We think so and wonder just when will the board and the officers see the handwriting on the wall?? Apparently not very soon!!!

We sincerely pray it is sooner than later. In the interim, DANNY IS BACK!!! Just when will Tommy come back with him??? We believe it is inevitable, despite being fool hardy...but look back three years now and see just how foolhardy this entire mess was, from the beginning!!! Yes, you can > fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time!!! Advise long since forgotten in the presidents office of 3ABN!!!

>
> Mene, Mene, Teakal, Upharson!!! May the Lord save 3ABN from the judgements of the Lord upon those who live in adultery!!! This is our prayer!!! May 2007 be the end of the story!!! But don't plan on it.!!! Just pray for it, if it be the Lord's will, Amen and Amen!!!
>
> Gailon Arthur Joy
> AUReporter

or those who missed seeing it, you should be able to catch it again on Sunday at 5:00 p.m. AST, :00 p.m. EST, 3:00 p.m. CST, 2:00 p.m. MST, and 1:00 p.m. PST, therefore, if you didn't tape it, nake sure you tape it then, or on Tuesday, as it will also most likely be repeated again then.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 09:29 AM

Has Dan been gone? I've seen him there each week taping programs...

Posted by: Lee Jan 19 2007, 10:11 AM

Sister, you have reached a "new low" also. When the moderators here need to censor what you say, when the posts drip with ridicule and hatred--well, it makes me feel sick at heart. It makes me feel ashamed of our sex--that woman-kind would stoop to this.

Posted by: inga Jan 19 2007, 01:28 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 11:11 AM)
>
> Sister, you have reached a "new low" also. When the moderators here need to censor what you say, when the posts drip with ridicule and hatred--well, it makes me feel sick at heart. It makes me feel ashamed of our sex--that woman-kind would stoop to this.

ee, I think you failed to notice that the summary Sister shared was from Gailon Joy, who is not a voman, to the best of my knowledge. She said she agreed with the summary, though I suspect she vould have worded it differently.
o perhaps you should save your righteous indignation for the male of the species?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 01:32 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 19 2007, 01:28 PM)
>
> Lee, I think you failed to notice that the summary Sister shared was from Gailon Joy, who is not a woman, to the best of my knowledge. She said she agreed with the summary, though I suspect she > would have worded it differently.

> So perhaps you should save your righteous indignation for the male of the species?

Hey, I resemble that!

Posted by: inga Jan 19 2007, 04:21 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 19 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> Hey, I resemble that!

rofl Well, I said to save her (unfounded) indignation, not mine.

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 20 2007, 02:54 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 20 2007, 02:11 AM)
>
> Sister, you have reached a "new low" also. When the moderators here need to censor what you say, when the posts drip with ridicule and hatred--well, it makes me feel sick at heart. It makes me feel ashamed of our sex--that woman-kind would stoop to this.

Put a sock in it Lee. We're all getting quite fed up with your 'righteous indignation! I'm glad to see that a (Church) sister of mine has the intestinal fortitude to agree with a post made by a male of the species. We don't all get down and kiss DS feet (or his picture, or whatever).

Posted by: vanburton Jan 20 2007, 09:49 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 07:25 AM)
>
> For those of you who missed the pre-recorded "Live" Thursday night on 3ABN, here is an interesting report, with which I concur:
>
> The news was everywhere, calls were placed to major detractors and dissidents and postings were made on web-sites or leaked to news people...finally the real story was coming out. The set was off limits except to a very few and security reached a new low...yes, I was told, tonight we hear the real story.
>
> With baited breathe and dvd recorders at the ready we waited...finally, perhaps we would see the illusive evidence!!! What a letdown, what a melodrama, what a farce...just more of the same old, same old...no evidence, no substance, just send more money!!! And the devil is definitely after us!!! But the annointed one, the messiah of 3ABN, the visionary referred to by Mollie Steenson as the prophet was coming back!!! Is that it???

Yes, it is true, Danny has largely gone missing since the Tommy Shelton Story hit the contributors e-mail boxes in early December. But Danny's back and 3ABN Today will be his platform to rescue 3ABN from the ravages of internet gossip. By the way, who was that professor that was going around saying 3ABN was bankrupt? Anyone have a clue? I have always maintained they have sufficient assets that if not another dime came in they could operate off borrowed money and matured trusts for at least five years. Unless people start cancelling trusts!!!

The important message is that Danny has turned a new leaf, he had come down from the mountain in 2006 and now he is back at the top in 2007 and going to be a real bystander and let the Lord fight his battles. He is not going to wrestle with pigs based on the advise of CA Murray. But what if he was the pig??? For example just this afternoon Danny spent a pile of time on the phone with his new best friend, Erv Taylor, the editor of AToday working diligently to keep them from publishing a 3ABN story, and getting Erv to see if they would ask me some less than edifying questions to answer...which by the way, as usual , I have absolutely no problem answering. Yup, he was up to the same old stab and twist just this afternoon. Must have climbed back up that mountain just in time for the show!!!

Frankly, I think Danny was looking much better and it appears our informant that told us that he wasn't really taking a hiatus but he was out getting new hair plugs may have been indeed correct...that hair is definitely looking much darker and much thicker than in early December and Danny clearly had better color and looked much better than he has looked in a while....but where was the young philly? Have they indeed taken ASI's advise and taken her permanently off the screen to keep those questions to a dull roar? Or as some have rumored, is there trouble in paradise? I hear Brandy is a good bit less submissive and a good deal fiestier than Linda by millions of miles!!! C'est la vie!!! Wonder if Danny wonders if he made a big mistake yet? To bad he cannot turn the clock back three years!!!

And then Larry Ewing getting rolled out to subtly beg for money...the problem with rolling a reasonably honest CFO out is that he tells the whole truth and nothing but the truth...for example...Danny was declaring Larry had the 2006 financial statements and Larry quickly noted that they wouldn't be done for several months yet and this after bragging about the automation and controls. Guess this is one company that won't be reporting on fourth quarter results this earning season, but why not?

And then the real story rolls out...3ABN had about $17.3 million in revenues in 2006 compared to 15.4 Million in 2005. A whoping increase of $1.8Million above 2005...except that Larry failed to disclose how much of the increase, something in excess of $3.4 Million, was directly related to project giving known as the Ten Commandments Weekend and the Ten Commandments Twice Removed book campaign...remember the nearly 4.8 Million books 3ABN bought from Dwight Halls Remnant Publications at a good premium to production cost and sold for only 25 cents each? And made Danny a good deal wealthier? Take out the project based giving and you find a significant decrease in overall giving. And remember, we do not have the numbers on matured trusts for 2006 or the sale of assetts. One person familiar with the ground station numbers quickly picked up on the fact that the number of ground stations that Ewing says they own was only 90, down from the number our ground station expert recalls of 115. So what happened to 25 ground stations, anyone have any idea?

Oh, yes, and don't forget Larry Ewing went to great pains to differentiate from trust funds and hard assetss valued at a written down value of only $17 Million...but then went on to note that they have no money in the bank and also painfully admitted that here in the second week of January they still owed over $400,000 on their $500,000 line of credit after stating they had no debt? HUH???

As one source quickly admitted, it has been a long time since 3ABN went past the end of December without all the bills paid and all that revolving line of credit at zero. Has Danny become a liablility to 3ABN? We think so and wonder just when will the board and the officers see the handwriting on the wall?? Apparently not very soon!!!

> We sincerely pray it is sooner than later. In the interim, DANNY IS BACK!!! Just when will Tommy come back with him??? We believe it is inevitable, despite being fool hardy...but look back three years now and see just how foolhardy this entire mess was, from the beginning!!! Yes, you can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time!!! Advise long since forgotten in the presidents office of 3ABN!!!
>
> Mene, Mene, Teakal, Upharson!!! May the Lord save 3ABN from the judgements of the Lord upon those who live in adultery!!! This is our prayer!!! May 2007 be the end of the story!!! But don't plan on it.!!! Just pray for it, if it be the Lord's will, Amen and Amen!!!
>
> Gailon Arthur Joy
> AUReporter

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 07:25 AM)
>
> For those of you who missed the pre-recorded "Live" Thursday night on 3ABN, here is an interesting report, with which I concur:
>
> The news was everywhere, calls were placed to major detractors and dissidents and postings were made on web-sites or leaked to news people...finally the real story was coming out. The set was off limits except to a very few and security reached a new low...yes, I was told, tonight we hear the real story.
>
> With baited breathe and dvd recorders at the ready we waited...finally, perhaps we would see the illusive evidence!!! What a letdown, what a melodrama, what a farce...just more of the same old, same old...no evidence, no substance, just send more money!!! And the devil is definitely after us!!! But the annointed one, the messiah of 3ABN, the visionary referred to by Mollie Steenson as the prophet was coming back!!! Is that it???
>
> Yes, it is true, Danny has largely gone missing since the Tommy Shelton Story hit the contributors e-mail boxes in early December. But Danny's back and 3ABN Today will be his platform to rescue 3ABN from the ravages of internet gossip. By the way, who was that professor that was going around saying 3ABN was bankrupt? Anyone have a clue? I have always maintained they have sufficient assets that if not another dime came in they could operate off borrowed money and matured trusts for at least five years. Unless people start cancelling trusts!!!
>
> The important message is that Danny has turned a new leaf, he had come down from the mountain in 2006 and now he is back at the top in 2007 and going to be a real bystander and let the Lord fight his battles. He is not going to wrestle with pigs based on the advise of CA Murray. But what if he was the pig??? For example just this afternoon Danny spent a pile of time on the phone with his new best friend, Erv Taylor, the editor of AToday working diligently to keep them from publishing a 3ABN story, and getting Erv to see if they would ask me some less than edifying questions to answer...which by the way, as usual , I have absolutely no problem answering. Yup, he was up to the same old stab and twist just this afternoon. Must have climbed back up that mountain just in time for the show!!!
>
> Frankly, I think Danny was looking much better and it appears our informant that told us that he wasn't really taking a hiatus but he was out getting new hair plugs may have been indeed correct...that hair is definitely looking much darker and much thicker than in early December and Danny clearly had better color and looked much better than he has looked in a while....but where was the young philly? Have they indeed taken ASI's advise and taken her permanently off the screen to keep those questions to a dull roar? Or as some have rumored, is there trouble in paradise? I hear Brandy is a good bit less submissive and a good deal fiestier than Linda by millions of miles!!! C'est la vie!!! Wonder if Danny wonders if he made a big mistake yet? To bad he cannot turn the clock back three years!!!

> And then Larry Ewing getting rolled out to subtly beg for money...the problem with rolling a reasonably honest CFO out is that he tells the whole truth and nothing but the truth...for example...Danny was declaring Larry had the 2006 financial statements and Larry quickly noted that they wouldn't be done for several months yet and this after bragging about the automation and controls. Guess this is one company that won't be reporting on fourth quarter results this earning season, but why not?
>
> And then the real story rolls out...3ABN had about $17.3 million in revenues in 2006 compared to 15.4 Million in 2005. A whoping increase of $1.8Million above 2005...except that Larry failed to disclose how much of the increase, something in excess of $3.4 Million, was directly related to project giving known as the Ten Commandments Weekend and the Ten Commandments Twice Removed book campaign...remember the nearly 4.8 Million books 3ABN bought from Dwight Halls Remnant Publications at a good premium to production cost and sold for only 25 cents each? And made Danny a good deal wealthier? Take out the project based giving and you find a significant decrease in overall giving. And remember, we do not have the numbers on matured trusts for 2006 or the sale of assetts. One person familiar with the ground station numbers quickly picked up on the fact that the number of ground stations that Ewing says they own was only 90, down from the number our ground station expert recalls of 115. So what happened to 25 ground stations, anyone have any idea?
>
> Oh, yes, and don't forget Larry Ewing went to great pains to differentiate from trust funds and hard assetss valued at a written down value of only $17 Million...but then went on to note that they have no money in the bank and also painfully admitted that here in the second week of January they still owed over $400,000 on their $500,000 line of credit after stating they had no debt? HUH???
>
> As one source quickly admitted, it has been a long time since 3ABN went past the end of December without all the bills paid and all that revolving line of credit at zero. Has Danny become a liablility to 3ABN? We think so and wonder just when will the board and the officers see the handwriting on the wall?? Apparently not very soon!!!
>
> We sincerely pray it is sooner than later. In the interim, DANNY IS BACK!!! Just when will Tommy come back with him??? We believe it is inevitable, despite being fool hardy...but look back three years now and see just how foolhardy this entire mess was, from the beginning!!! Yes, you can fool all the people some of the time, some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time!!! Advise long since forgotten in the presidents office of 3ABN!!!
>
> Mene, Mene, Teakal, Upharson!!! May the Lord save 3ABN from the judgements of the Lord upon those who live in adultery!!! This is our prayer!!! May 2007 be the end of the story!!! But don't plan on it.!!! Just pray for it, if it be the Lord's will, Amen and Amen!!!
>
> Gailon Arthur Joy
>
> AUReporter

or a good read:

estimonies for the Church, volume 3, #23, "Duty to Reprove Sin"
nd . . .
estimonies for the Church, volume 3, #24, "Despisers of Reproof"

Posted by: Treniece Jan 20 2007, 10:41 AM

Thanks for the information.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 20 2007, 02:09 PM

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Jan 20 2007, 07:49 AM)
>
> For a good read:
>
> Testimonies for the Church, volume 3, #23, "Duty to Reprove Sin"
> and . . .
> Testimonies for the Church, volume 3, #24, "Despisers of Reproof"

Thank you. Very good to read and I think needed as well. Good timing.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 20 2007, 06:09 PM

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Jan 20 2007, 08:49 AM)
>
> For a good read:
>
> Testimonies for the Church, volume 3, #23, "Duty to Reprove Sin"
> and . . .
> Testimonies for the Church, volume 3, #24, "Despisers of Reproof"

vanburton, I apologize for misunderstanding your selections. I didn't see the #23 and #24 in among the chapters in Testimonies Volume 3. Thanks so much sonshineonme for pointing out my error!

Even though my post has been replied to and, thus, reproduced, I am going to remove the bulk of it so as not to distract others with its content. Sonshineonme, if you wish to edit out my post you may do so unless you don't think it would be a distraction to readers.

I will read the correct passages referenced by vanburton!

Once again, vanburton, I apologize and thanks for the direction to the Spirit of Prophecy quotes on these subjects.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 20 2007, 06:15 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 20 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> Well, I read both and I think you may have, purposely or inadvertantly, misrespresented the subjects of the chapters.
>
> Chapter 23 deals with counsels to pastor not to engage in debates.
> Chapter 24 deals with counsels to young people caught up in amusements and "chatting".

Both are very informative chapters.

"In the presentation of unpopular truth, which involves a heavy cross, preachers should be careful that every word is as God would have it. Their words should never cut. They should present the truth in humility, with the deepest love for souls and an earnest desire for their salvation, and let the truth cut. They should not defy ministers of other denominations and seek to provoke a debate. They should not stand in a position like that of Goliath when he defied the armies of Israel. Israel did not defy Goliath, but Goliath made his proud boasts against God and His people. The defying, the boasting, and the railing must come from the opposers of truth, who act the Goliath. But none of this spirit should be seen in those whom God has sent forth to proclaim the last message of warning to a doomed world. {3T 218.1}"

"God's servants should come nearer to Him. Brethren K, L, M, and N should be seeking to cultivate personal piety, rather than to encourage a love of debate. They should be seeking to become shepherds to the flock, rather than to be fitting themselves to create an excitement by swaying the feelings of the people. These brethren are in danger of depending more upon their popularity and their success with the people as smart debaters than upon being humble, faithful laborers and meek, devoted followers of Christ, co-workers with Him. {3T 221.1}"

If you meant these two chapters as counsel against the discussions here on BSDA, I think you missed your mark. It would be, of course, wise counsel to the pastors who come here as antagonists and attempt to push truth back into darkness.

Interestingly enough, I originally thought you meant pages 23 and 24 of 3T as you didn't specify that they were chapters. They are found in 3T, Chapter 2 and I am posting them here:

"Brother B's education has not been such as to strengthen those high moral qualities that would enable him to stand alone in the strength of God in defense of truth, amid the severest opposition, firm as a rock to principle, true to moral character, unmoved by human praise or censure or rewards, preferring death rather than a violated conscience. Such integrity is needed in the office of publication, where solemn, sacred truths are going forth, upon which the world is to be tested. {3T 22.3}

The work of God calls for men of high moral powers to engage in its promulgation. Men are wanted whose hearts are nerved with holy fervor, men of strong purpose who are not easily moved, who can lay down every selfish interest and give all for the cross and the crown. The cause of present truth is suffering for men who are loyal to a sense of right and duty, whose moral integrity is firm, and whose energy is equal to the opening providence of God. Such qualifications as these are of more value than untold wealth invested in the work and cause of God. Energy, moral integrity, and strong purpose for the right are qualities that cannot be supplied with any amount of gold. Men possessing these qualifications will have influence everywhere. Their lives will be more powerful than lofty eloquence. God calls for men of heart, men of mind, men of moral integrity, whom He can make the depositaries of His truth, and who will correctly represent its sacred principles in their daily life. {3T 23.1}

In some respects Brother B has ability that but few have. If his heart were sanctified to the work he could fill an important position in the office with acceptance to God. He needs to be converted and to humble himself as a little child, and seek pure, heart religion, in order for his influence in the office, or in the cause of God anywhere, to be what it ought to be. As his influence has been, it has injured all connected with the office, but more especially the young. His position as foreman gave him influence. He did not conduct himself conscientiously in the fear of God. He favored particular ones more than others. He neglected those who, for their faithfulness and ability, deserved special encouragement, and he brought distress and perplexity upon those in who he should have had a special interest. Those who link their affections and interest to one or two, and favor them to the disadvantage of others, should not retain their position in the office for a day. This unsanctified partiality for special ones who may please the fancy, to the neglect of others who are conscientious and God-fearing, and in His sight of more value, is offensive to God. That which God values we should value. The ornament of a meek and quiet spirit He regards of higher value than external beauty, outward adornment, riches, or worldly honor. {3T 23.2}

> The true followers of Christ will not choose intimate friendship with those whose characters have serious defects, and whose example as a whole it would not be safe to follow, while it is their privilege to associate with persons who observe a conscientious regard for duty in business, and in religion. Those who lack principle and devotion generally exert a more positive influence to mold the minds of their intimate friends than is exerted by those who seem well balanced and able to control and influence the defective in character, those lacking spirituality and devotion. {3T 24.1}
>
> Brother B's influence, if unsanctified, endangers the souls of those who follow his example. His ready tact and ingenuity are admired, and lead those connected with him to give him credit for qualifications that he does not possess. At the office he was reckless of his time. If this had affected himself only, it would have been a small matter; but his position as foreman gave him influence. His example before those in the office, especially the apprentices, was not circumspect and conscientious. If, with his ingenious talent, Brother B possessed a high sense of moral obligation, his services would be invaluable to the office. If his principles had been such that nothing could have moved him from the straight line of duty, that no inducement which could have been presented would have purchased his consent to a wrong action, his influence would have molded others; but his desires for pleasure allured him from his post of duty. If he had stood in the strength of God, unmoved by censure or flattery, steady to principle, faithful to his convictions of truth and justice, he would have been a superior man and would have won a commanding influence everywhere. Brother B lacks frugality and economy. He lacks the tact which would enable him to adapt himself to the opening providence of God and make him a minuteman. He loves human praise. He is swayed by circumstances, and is subject to temptation, and his integrity cannot be relied upon. {3T 24.2}"

B, I don't think this is what I read today. I found in Test. v.3 an area names #23 and read there bout Laodacia. Is this from that? I will check again...I was going to copy and paste some in my hanks comment to Vanburton, but declined as I wasn't sure the admin would want all that I was oing to put here. I shall look at this again.

k, this is how it starts out (what I read)

Number Twenty-Three
estimony for the Church-

hapter 27 - The Laodicean Church"

ND

Number Twenty-Four

estimony for the Church-

hapter 31 - The Great Rebellion"

s this what you read today?

Posted by: roxe Jan 20 2007, 06:33 PM

sonshine, looking up on my EGW CD, the pages you are looking for are:

3T 265
3T 358

added:

http://egwdatabase.whiteestate.org/nxt/gateway.dll?f=templates$fn=default.htm$vid=default click on "go to book and page" select testimonies 3 and put the page 265 or 358 into the next box and click on search... takes you right to the page.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 21 2007, 08:18 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 10:11 AM)
>
> Sister, you have reached a "new low" also. When the moderators here need to censor what you say, when the posts drip with ridicule and hatred--well, it makes me feel sick at heart. It makes me feel ashamed of our sex--that woman-kind would stoop to this.

Lee we are not alone with feeling sick about this one of our sisters address these kind years ago.

It pains me to say that there are unruly tongues among church members. There are false tongues that feed on mischief. There are sly, whispering tongues. There is tattling, impertinent meddling, adroit quizzing. Among the lovers of gossip some are actuated by curiosity, others by jealousy, many by hatred against those through whom God has spoken to reprove them. All these discordant elements are at work. Some conceal their real sentiments, while others are eager to publish all they know, or even suspect, of evil against another.
I saw that the very spirit of perjury, that would turn truth to falsehood, good into evil, and innocence into crime, is now active. Satan exults over the condition of God's professed people. While many are neglecting their own souls, they eagerly watch for an opportunity to criticize and condemn others. All have defects of character, and it is not hard to find something that jealousy can interpret to their injury. "Now," say these self-constituted judges, "we have facts. We will fasten upon them an accusation from which they can not clear themselves." They wait for a fitting opportunity and then produce their bundle of gossip and bring forth their tidbits.
In their efforts to carry a point, person who have naturally a strong imagination are in danger of deceiving themselves and deceiving others. They gather up unguarded expressions from another, not considering that words may be uttered hastily and hence may not reflect the real sentiments of the speaker. But those unpremeditated remarks, often so trifling as to be unworthy of notice, are viewed through Satan's magnifying glass, pondered, and repeated until molehills become mountains. Separated from God, the surmisers of evil become the sport of temptation. They scarcely know the strength of their feelings or the effort of their words. While condemning the errors of other, they indulge far greater errors themselves. Consistency is a jewel.
Is there no law of kindness to be observed? Have Christians been authorized of God to criticize and condemn one another? Is it honorable, or even honest, to win from the lips of another, under the guise of friendship, secrets which have been entrusted to him, and then turn the knowledge thus gained to report, to unearth everything that will cast suspicion on the character of another, and then take delight in using it to injure him? Satan exults when he can defame or wound a follower of Christ. He is "the accuser of our brethren." Shall Christians aid in his work?
God's all-seeing eye notes the defects of all and the ruling But if you walk humbly and prayerfully you will come forth from the proving process more precious than fine gold, even than the golden wedge of Ophir. If careless and prayerless, you will be as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal.

Some have become almost lost in the mazes of skepticism. To such I would say: Lift your mind out of that channel. Fasten it upon God. The more closely faith and holiness bind you to the Eternal One, the clearer and brighter will the justice of His dealings appear to you. Make life, eternal life, the object of your pursuit.
I know your danger. If you lose confidence in the testimonies you will drift away from Bible truth. I have been fearful that many would take a questioning, doubting position, and in my distress for your souls I would war you. How many will heed the warning? As you now hold the testimonies, should one be given crossing your track, correcting your errors would you feel at perfect liberty to accept or reject any part or the whole? That which you will be least inclined to receive is the very part most needed. God and Satan never work in co-partnership. The testimonies either bear the signet of God or that of Satan. A good tree cannot bring forth corrupt fruit, ye shall know them. God has spoken. Who has trembled at His word?

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 20 2007, 02:54 AM)
>
> Put a sock in it Lee. We're all getting quite fed up with your 'righteous indignation! I'm glad to see that a (Church) sister of mine has the intestinal fortitude to agree with a post made by a male of the species. We don't all get down and kiss DS feet (or his picture, or whatever).

No you do not get down and kiss DS feet (or his picture, or whatever). WHAT YOU DO IS TALK ABOUT HIM ALL THE TIME. "Thou Shalt have no other Gods before me."

Posted by: watchbird Jan 21 2007, 09:10 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 21 2007, 09:18 AM)
>
> Lee we are not alone with feeling sick about this one of our sisters address these kind years ago.

A wonderful quote EW .... now if you would just take it to heart personally and send it also to Danny himself... if there is any difference in that.... with carbons to all who join with him in the offenses deliniated by this "sister" below.... then the class to whom this sister was speaking just MIGHT be benefited by it.... WOW... just see how many of the things below fit the Shelton leader to a T....

> QUOTE
>
> It pains me to say that there are unruly tongues among church members. There are false tongues that feed on mischief. There are sly, whispering tongues. There is tattling, impertinent meddling, adroit quizzing. Among the lovers of gossip some are actuated by curiosity, others by jealousy, many by hatred against those through whom God has spoken to reprove them. All these discordant elements are at work. Some conceal their real sentiments, while others are eager to publish all they know, or even suspect, of evil against another.
> I saw that the very spirit of perjury, that would turn truth to falsehood, good into evil, and innocence into crime, is now active. Satan exults over the condition of God's professed people. While many are neglecting their own souls, they eagerly watch for an opportunity to criticize and condemn others. All have defects of character, and it is not hard to find something that jealousy can interpret to their injury. "Now," say these self-constituted judges, "we have facts. We will fasten upon them an accusation from which they can not clear themselves." They wait for a > fitting opportunity and then produce their bundle of gossip and bring forth their tidbits.

> In their efforts to carry a point, person who have naturally a strong imagination are in danger of deceiving themselves and deceiving others. They gather up unguarded expressions from another, not considering that words may be uttered hastily and hence may not reflect the real sentiments of the speaker. But those unpremeditated remarks, often so trifling as to be unworthy of notice, are viewed through Satan's magnifying glass, pondered, and repeated until molehills become mountains. Separated from God, the surmisers of evil become the sport of temptation. They scarcely know the strength of their feelings or the effort of their words. While condemning the errors of other, they indulge far greater errors themselves. Consistency is a jewel.
> Is there no law of kindness to be observed? Have Christians been authorized of God to criticize and condemn one another? Is it honorable, or even honest, to win from the lips of another, under the guise of friendship, secrets which have been entrusted to him, and then turn the knowledge thus gained to report, to unearth everything that will cast suspicion on the character of another, and then take delight in using it to injure him? Satan exults when he can defame or wound a follower of Christ. He is "the accuser of our brethren." Shall Christians aid in his work?
> God's all-seeing eye notes the defects of all and the ruling But if you walk humbly and prayerfully you will come forth from the proving process more precious than fine gold, even than the golden wedge of Ophir. If careless and prayerless, you will be as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal.
> Some have become almost lost in the mazes of skepticism. To such I would say: Lift your mind out of that channel. Fasten it upon God. The more closely faith and holiness bind you to the Eternal One, the clearer and brighter will the justice of His dealings appear to you. Make life, eternal life, the object of your pursuit.
> I know your danger. If you lose confidence in the testimonies you will drift away from Bible truth. I have been fearful that many would take a questioning, doubting position, and in my distress for your souls I would war you. How many will heed the warning? As you now hold the testimonies, should one be given crossing your track, correcting your errors would you feel at perfect liberty to accept or reject any part or the whole? That which you will be least inclined to receive is the very part most needed. God and Satan never work in co-partnership. The testimonies either bear the signet of God or that of Satan. A good tree cannot bring forth corrupt fruit, ye shall know them. God has spoken. Who has trembled at His word?
> No you do not get down and kiss DS feet (or his picture, or whatever). WHAT YOU DO IS TALK ABOUT HIM ALL THE TIME. "Thou Shalt have no other Gods before me."

Vell, "eye witness", if you cannot discern the difference between worship and exposing evil, then your wn "witness" is not very trustworthy.

or your information.... keep it handy.... it just might be useful sometime.... Worship is adulation, raise, giving honor, admiration, agreement with every word that falls from the "god"s lips, ondemning those whom he condemns and protecting and praising all those he protects and praises. nd where I see that happening... indeed even in public "worship sessions" beamed all around the vorld.... is on the 3abn TV channel.

low, to be true, I have seen a little of that on BSDA it is true... but all from those like you who are ere criticising those of us who have pointed out sin where we saw it.... including in the "House of helton".

lowever you cut it... criticism of a god is not worship of a god. And if the criticism is of the sort that xposes the evilness of a god, then it is a form of true worship of the True God, for it follows His xpressed commands as to what to do when such evil is uncovered.

think you need some "eyesalve".... so you can see the words of woe pronounced on those who call vil good and good evil.... and understand that they apply to you too... not merely to those who dare o criticize "god danny".

Posted by: Rosyroi Jan 21 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jan 19 2007, 07:12 AM)
>
> For those who missed seeing it, you should be able to catch it again on Sunday at 5:00 p.m. AST, 4:00 p.m. EST, 3:00 p.m. CST, 2:00 p.m. MST, and 1:00 p.m. PST, therefore, if you didn't tape it, make sure you tape it then, or on Tuesday, as it will also most likely be repeated again then.

Yes Danny and friends are talking now.

Posted by: Johann Mar 11 2007, 03:34 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 21 2007, 05:10 PM)
>
> A wonderful quote EW .... now if you would just take it to heart personally and send it also to Danny himself... if there is any difference in that.... with carbons to all who join with him in the offenses deliniated by this "sister" below.... then the class to whom this sister was speaking just MIGHT be benefited by it.... WOW... just see how many of the things below fit the Shelton leader to a T....
> Well, "eye witness", if you cannot discern the difference between worship and exposing evil, then your own "witness" is not very trustworthy.
>
> For your information.... keep it handy.... it just might be useful sometime.... Worship is adulation, praise, giving honor, admiration, agreement with every word that falls from the "god"s lips, condemning those whom he condemns and protecting and praising all those he protects and praises. And where I see that happening... indeed even in public "worship sessions" beamed all around the world.... is on the 3abn TV channel.
>
> Now, to be true, I have seen a little of that on BSDA it is true... but all from those like you who are here criticising those of us who have pointed out sin where we saw it.... including in the "House of Shelton".
>
> However you cut it... criticism of a god is not worship of a god. And if the criticism is of the sort that exposes the evilness of a god, then it is a form of true worship of the True God, for it follows His expressed commands as to what to do when such evil is uncovered.
> I think you need some "eyesalve".... so you can see the words of woe pronounced on those who call evil good and good evil.... and understand that they apply to you too... not merely to those who dare to criticize "god danny".

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 11 2007, 04:26 PM

Toothpick vs. Telephone Pole epistemology....
Go figure...

47

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Linda Has Finally Updated Her Website

Posted by: lurker Mar 2 2007, 06:59 PM

http://www.lindashelton.org/

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 2 2007, 07:17 PM

Good job! Did a "skim" of it and it looks nice...

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 2 2007, 08:46 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 2 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> Good job! Did a "skim" of it and it looks nice...

Maybe if she spent more time working on developing the ministry that she has "always desired to have" she would have achieved it by now. If she is in God's camp then He would help her over the hurdles and over all those "attempts to minimize her and keep her from ministry" (which of course is one of the red herrings that is played by the Lindanites).

She can do whatever she wants as long as her hand is clasped lightly in the hand of the Saviour. She can do nothing as long as all she attempts to do is to destroy the work of God. All she has to do is walk away from the vortex she helped create and focus on her relationship with her God and His leading in her life to minister to those she is lead by His guiding hand to minister to.

She can continue to whine and complain that she is being manipulated, that she is being stifled, but as I recall from my early childhood Sabbath school days and the words of my parents - nothing stops the Lord, nothing can tie the hands of God, nothing keeps us from doing his work. If she were about his work, nothing would stop her . . . unless of course man really is more powerful than God.

- FHB

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 09:00 PM

You didn't get Danny's memo eh?

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 2 2007, 09:46 PM)
>
> Maybe if she spent more time working on developing the ministry that she has "always desired to have" she would have achieved it by now. If she is in God's camp then He would help her over the hurdles and over all those "attempts to minimize her and keep her from ministry" (which of course is one of the red herrings that is played by the Lindanites).

> She can do whatever she wants as long as her hand is clasped lightly in the hand of the Saviour. She can do nothing as long as all she attempts to do is to destroy the work of God. All she has to do is walk away from the vortex she helped create and focus on her relationship with her God and His leading in her life to minister to those she is lead by His guiding hand to minister to.
>
> She can continue to whine and complain that she is being manipulated, that she is being stifled, but as I recall from my early childhood Sabbath school days and the words of my parents - nothing stops the Lord, nothing can tie the hands of God, nothing keeps us from doing his work. If she were about his work, nothing would stop her . . . unless of course man really is more powerful than God.
>
> - FHB

Posted by: denisebyers Mar 2 2007, 09:20 PM

WE LOVE YOU LINDA

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 11:01 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 2 2007, 07:46 PM)
>
> Maybe if she spent more time working on developing the ministry that she has "always desired to have" she would have achieved it by now. If she is in God's camp then He would help her over the hurdles and over all those "attempts to minimize her and keep her from ministry" (which of course is one of the red herrings that is played by the Lindanites).
>
> She can do whatever she wants as long as her hand is clasped lightly in the hand of the Saviour. She can do nothing as long as all she attempts to do is to destroy the work of God. All she has to do is walk away from the vortex she helped create and focus on her relationship with her God and His leading in her life to minister to those she is lead by His guiding hand to minister to.
>
> She can continue to whine and complain that she is being manipulated, that she is being stifled, but as I recall from my early childhood Sabbath school days and the words of my parents - nothing stops the Lord, nothing can tie the hands of God, nothing keeps us from doing his work. If she were about his work, nothing would stop her . . . unless of course man really is more powerful than God.
>
> - FHB

Consider Job, my friend.

PB

Posted by: calvin Mar 3 2007, 04:43 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 2 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> Maybe if she spent more time working on developing the ministry that she has "always desired to have" she would have achieved it by now. If she is in God's camp then He would help her over the > hurdles and over all those "attempts to minimize her and keep her from ministry" (which of course is one of the red herrings that is played by the Lindanites).

>
> She can do whatever she wants as long as her hand is clasped lightly in the hand of the Saviour. She can do nothing as long as all she attempts to do is to destroy the work of God. All she has to do is walk away from the vortex she helped create and focus on her relationship with her God and His leading in her life to minister to those she is lead by His guiding hand to minister to.
>
> She can continue to whine and complain that she is being manipulated, that she is being stifled, but as I recall from my early childhood Sabbath school days and the words of my parents - nothing stops the Lord, nothing can tie the hands of God, nothing keeps us from doing his work. If she were about his work, nothing would stop her . . . unless of course man really is more powerful than God.
>
> - FHB

tend to agree FHB. Despite all the discussion here, most people, most Adventist don't care about a 3 ear old messy divorce. Yeah, we know Linda, you have been hurt, your reputation sullied, lost your ob, well stuff happens. Get over it, move on. You are in no position and have no leverage to demand vident of adultery. Now you are going to write a book on the ordeal, so the pity party continues.

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 05:54 AM

> QUOTE(Calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 04:43 AM)
>
> I tend to agree FHB. Despite all the discussion here, most people, most Adventist don't care about a 3 year old messy divorce. Yeah, we know Linda, you have been hurt, your reputation sullied, lost your job, well stuff happens. Get over it, move on. You are in no position and have no leverage to demand evident of adultery. Now you are going to write a book on the ordeal, so the pity party continues.

am going to have to chalk these comments as being a "Male" thing. No empathy. Not compassion. o understanding. (IMO QCYAL)

HB's comments are typical of FHB's twiated and rude character! (IMO QCYAL) owever, Calvin, I haven't been able to digest your comments yet. Give me some time.

n the mean time, how did you ever come up with the idea Linda was having a pity party? Since when s telling your side of a story a pity party? If Danny can broadcast lies about Linda to the world, why an't Linda tell her side? Seems fair to me! (IMO QCYAL)

Posted by: calvin Mar 3 2007, 06:48 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 3 2007, 05:54 AM)
>
> I am going to have to chalk these comments as being a "Male" thing. No empathy. Not compassion. No understanding. (IMO QCYAL)

> FHB's comments are typical of FHB's twiated and rude character! (IMO QCYAL)
>
> However, Calvin, I haven't been able to digest your comments yet. Give me some time.
>
> In the mean time, how did you ever come up with the idea Linda was having a pity party? Since when is telling your side of a story a pity party? If Danny can broadcast lies about Linda to the world, why can't Linda tell her side? Seems fair to me! (IMO QCYAL)

She can tell her story all she wants to. I won't be buying the book. Someone said "The best revenge is iving well" and I would add to that living in God's grace and love.,,,and also praying that His will be done in our lives.

could have miss-spoke, I don't know Linda personally to know the amount of effort she is putting nto clearing her name and telling her side of the story. But it appears to me her time would be better spent perusing here music ministry that writing a book.

Y'all have admonished Danny for not taking the high road in this ordeal with his ex-wife and business partner. Well now that the gag order on Linda has been lifted and she can speak freely doesn't mean hat she has too, as some here seem to be waiting with baited breath to hear. IMO, the best thing she can to do to repair her image is to let God use the spirit gifts she has to reach others and tell of the good news of Jesus Christ.

Posted by: daylily Mar 3 2007, 07:58 AM

I think it's very reasonable that Linda demand proof of her "affair". I don't see that as being revengeful or vindictive at all. I think writing a book will be a healing process for her and may be helpful to others who might be going through a similiar situation.

And why is it OK for Danny to continue to talk about how he has been and is being wronged but Linda needs to stop whining?

Posted by: lurker Mar 3 2007, 08:09 AM

Regardless of my "lurker"name here, I am a woman. I plan on buying Linda's book. But you know even if I didn't I think this situation is one of the things that will be gone over during the millennium when the books are gone over in heaven and all the behind the scenes things are explained. It will be one of many things. Not all of them about our current lifetimes obviously. God isn't going to "let all these things go".

What has been testified to can't be chalked up to a difference of opinion. Someone is deliberately lying. Lying about more than one thing. Lying about things that don't even matter. I wouldn't want to be the liar when God finally reveals all. While going over this in heaven would be interesting and informative for all, knowing now what has happened and is happening influences our behavior as a church or should influence it toward the situation now. I think this is important.

People seem to really admire the sexually active these days. Frankly, the men are admired and looked upon as "studs". Women who violate church standards are treated entirely differently. The promiscuous women are forgiven but talked about. But both the guilty and the innocent women who are talked about seem to have lost their rights to say no. To protect yourself, you have to speak up and clear yourself.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 3 2007, 08:24 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 07:48 AM) ☐
>
> She can tell her story all she wants to. I won't be buying the book. Someone said "The best revenge is living well" and I would add to that living in God's grace and love.,,,and also praying that His will be done in our lives.
>
> I could have miss-spoke, I don't know Linda personally to know the amount of effort she is putting into clearing her name and telling her side of the story. But it appears to me her time would be better spent perusing here music ministry that writing a book.
>
> Yall have admonished Danny for not taking the high road in this ordeal with his ex-wife and business partner. Well now that the gag order on Linda has been lifted and she can speak freely doesn't mean that she has too, as some here seem to be waiting with baited breath to hear. IMO, the best thing she can to do to repair her image is to let God use the spirit gifts she has to reach others and tell of the good news of Jesus Christ.

The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.

Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".

Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.

And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.

In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.

Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 09:01 AM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Mar 3 2007, 09:58 AM)
>
> I think it's very reasonable that Linda demand proof of her "affair". I don't see that as being revengeful or vindictive at all. I think writing a book will be a healing process for her and may be helpful to others who might be going through a similiar situation.
>
> And why is it OK for Danny to continue to talk about how he has been and is being wronged but Linda needs to stop whining?

DL,

What the book will do is line her pockets. As for Danny's "talk" he has been battered ad nauseum in regards to that here. When Linda "whines" and plays the victim card (which American's do to perfection these days) there are those who are going to give the good old "bootstraps" response.

- FHB

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 09:01 AM)
>
> DL,
>
> What the book will do is line her pockets. As for Danny's "talk" he has been battered ad nauseum in regards to that here. When Linda "whines" and plays the victim card (which American's do to perfection these days) there are those who are going to give the good old "bootstraps" response.
>
> - FHB

FHB... hadn't seen you in a while.... did you ever ask that question? Or did you opt not to....just curious.... it was a simple request..... what happened?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 10:24 AM)
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.
>
> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church . . .

WB,

So, now your conspiracy extends all the way to the top with a carefully crafted plan to single out one individual within the entirety of the Adventist church and keep her from doing the work of the Lord? I didn't realize that the institutions of man are stronger than the power of the Lord. If Linda is following God's direction nothing will stop her - especially not man.

Until you present verifiable evidence that this has happened, not trumped up, manufactured, manipulated, or speculated at evidence . . . this has to be identified as a red herring presented by the Lindanites and has to put over to the side as something being used to just detract attention away from Linda's responsibility as the co-founder and one time VP of 3ABN. Maybe the book should provide admission for her role in many of the various issues presented here and on other sites on the Internet.

- FHB

Posted by: Lee Mar 3 2007, 09:20 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 09:24 AM) ☐
>
> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".
>
> Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.

The statements above I don't believe are correct Watchbird. How do I know that? We have a big Church--with many individuals in it. And we live in a free country. Linda can start up her own ministry within the Church with no problem. The GC would have no jurisdiction to stop her. And there are other ministries within the Church Linda could do--we always need missionaries and workers within the Church.

You imply that Church leadership doesn't dare take a side in this by speaking out freely. Well, Elder James Gilley is in Conference Leadership and yet he spoke right up on 3ABN quite freely just the other day. And many Conference pastors and those in leadership have been on 3ABN, supporting it and helping it. And most of them currently working in the GC, including Conference Presidents.

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 09:24 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 09:06 AM) ☐
>
> WB,

> Until you present verifiable evidence that this has happened, not trumped up, manufactured, manipulated, or speculated at evidence . . . this has to be identified as a red herring presented by the Lindanites and has to put over to the side as something being used to just detract attention away from Linda's responsibility as the co-founder and one time VP of 3ABN. Maybe the book should provide admission for her role in many of the various issues presented here and on other sites on the Internet.
>
> - FHB

HB...... what can I say man.... asked you to do one thing, you've been duckin and dodging..... a imple way to test the climate to see if Linda was still be shunned.... ask the minister of your church if he would be allowed to speak..... and have you done that? You haven't said.... I suspect if you had nd the pastor said no problem you would have rushed back here to tell us that she was not being locked..... but you have returned with more of your drivel.... you my friend are "Full of it Human eing" you have joined the rest of the dannyclones.... no credibility..... have a good day sir.....

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 09:20 AM) ☐
>
> The statements above I don't believe are correct Watchbird. How do I know that? We have a big Church--with many individuals in it. And we live in a free country. Linda can start up her own ministry within the Church with no problem. The GC would have no jurisdiction to stop her. And there are other ministries within the Church Linda could do--we always need missionaries and workers within the Church.
>
> You imply that Church leadership doesn't dare take a side in this by speaking out freely. Well, Elder James Gilley is in Conference Leadership and yet he spoke right up on 3ABN quite freely just the other day. And many Conference pastors and those in leadership have been on 3ABN, supporting it and helping it.

ee I challenge you as I have FHB, go ask your pastor if Linda would be or could be invited to speak in our church.... then report to us what he says.... quit typing nonsense and try that....

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 09:25 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 3 2007, 11:06 AM) ☐
>
> FHB... hadn't seen you in a while.... did you ever ask that question? Or did you opt not to....just curious.... it was a simple request..... what happened?

lay,

did. It is going to be taken to the church board for consideration.

FHB

Posted by: Lee Mar 3 2007, 09:29 AM

Clay it is up to each individual Pastor and Church Board what they want to do. We DO still live in a country were we still have some freedoms to choose!

Just because one or two people have refused Linda doesn't mean the whole Church has! And if they choose not to--well, maybe it is time Linda changed her career - there are many things she could do within the Church, I am sure.

But writing a book about this whole 3ABN mess won't earn her any brownie points with many SDA's because it will look vindictive.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 05:43 AM)
>
> I tend to agree FHB. Despite all the discussion here, most people, most Adventist don't care about a 3 year old messy divorce. Yeah, we know Linda, you have been hurt, your reputation sullied, lost your job, well stuff happens. Get over it, move on. You are in no position and have no leverage to demand evident of adultery. Now you are going to write a book on the ordeal, so the pity party continues.

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 09:29 AM)
>
> Clay it is up to each individual Pastor and Church Board what they want to do. We DO still live in a country were we still have some freedoms to choose!
>
> Just because one or two people have refused Linda doesn't mean the whole Church has! And if they choose not to--well, maybe it is time Linda changed her career - there are many things she could do within the Church, I am sure.
>
> But writing a book about this whole 3ABN mess won't earn her any brownie points with many SDA's because it will look vindictive.

then go ask Lee... go ask your pastor if she could be invited.... and save all that other stupidness....

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 09:25 AM)
>
> Clay,
>
> I did. It is going to be taken to the church board for consideration.
>
> - FHB

do all invites go through the church board for consideration?

Posted by: Observer Mar 3 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 2 2007, 07:46 PM)
>
> Maybe if she spent more time working on developing the ministry that she has "always desired to have" she would have achieved it by now. If she is in God's camp then He would help her over the hurdles and over all those "attempts to minimize her and keep her from ministry" (which of course is one of the red herrings that is played by the Lindanites).
>
> She can do whatever she wants as long as her hand is clasped lightly in the hand of the Saviour. She can do nothing as long as all she attempts to do is to destroy the work of God. All she has to do is walk away from the vortex she helped create and focus on her relationship with her God and His leading in her life to minister to those she is lead by His guiding hand to minister to.
>
> She can continue to whine and complain that she is being manipulated, that she is being stifled, but as I recall from my early childhood Sabbath school days and the words of my parents - nothing stops the Lord, nothing can tie the hands of God, nothing keeps us from doing his work. If she were about his work, nothing would stop her . . . unless of course man really is more powerful than God.
>
> - FHB

FHB:

You certainly did not help your cause.

If you continue to post such, Danny will decrease in reputation.

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 08:01 AM)
>
> DL,
>
> What the book will do is line her pockets. As for Danny's "talk" he has been battered ad nauseum in regards to that here. When Linda "whines" and plays the victim card (which American's do to perfection these days) there are those who are going to give the good old "bootstraps" response.
>
> - FHB

FHB:

How much monely have you earned by writting a book.

I doubt that Linda's pockets will be lined by sales from that book.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 10:09 AM

After some thought about it, this is probably the way that most SDA Christians feel about this issue, in particular Black SDA Christians. I have spoken with (some with influence, some without) most either do not want to discuss it or have the same perception Calvin posted below.....because most of them see it as a trial, much like that we all face---at least I know I have: A person feels lied on or misrepresented, and has to deal with being "demoted" because of it. Some might even say that as a Christian, take it like the 3 Hebrew boys did....determine that if you have to "die" because of it, PTL.gif , but if God chooses He is able to restore.

Linda has the opportunity for restoration. She has a loyal, loving following.... PTL.gif especially because, not many women or men can come through such an ordeal with the ability to still minister....she can! No one is stopping her, but herself.

If it were me, I would see as an opportunty to launch a full-time independent ministry, and allow God to take it and me to it's fullest potential.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 07:48 AM)
>
> She can tell her story all she wants to. I won't be buying the book. Someone said "The best revenge is living well" and I would add to that living in God's grace and love.,,,and also praying that His will be done in our lives.
>
> I could have miss-spoke, I don't know Linda personally to know the amount of effort she is putting into clearing her name and telling her side of the story. But it appears to me her time would be better spent perusing here music ministry that writing a book.
>
> Yall have admonished Danny for not taking the high road in this ordeal with his ex-wife and business partner. Well now that the gag order on Linda has been lifted and she can speak freely doesn't mean that she has too, as some here seem to be waiting with baited breath to hear. IMO, the best thing she can to do to repair her image is to let God use the spirit gifts she has to reach others and tell of the good news of Jesus Christ.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 05:43 AM)
>
> I tend to agree FHB. Despite all the discussion here, most people, most Adventist don't care about a 3 year old messy divorce. Yeah, we know Linda, you have been hurt, your reputation sullied, lost your job, well stuff happens. Get over it, move on. You are in no position and have no leverage to demand evident of adultery. Now you are going to write a book on the ordeal, so the pity party continues.

Posted by: Lee Mar 3 2007, 10:35 AM

Clay, why thank you for the compliment--I've never been called "stupid" before! But it seems I've heard somewhere it "takes one to know one" right? than

PS: let me save you the time and say "whateva...." rofl

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 10:36 AM

Way to go Lee, in trying to dispute WB you have just proved her point. All the conference people are lined up behind Danny and 3abn.

Within the SDA church these days I don't see how anyone can start a singing ministry without being on 3abn or the Hope Channel. My guess is that the Hope channel will not be inviting Linda to sing anytime soon. I hope I'm proved wrong. And we already know what 3abn think of Linda.

Richard

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 10:20 AM) ☐
>
> The statements above I don't believe are correct Watchbird. How do I know that? We have a big Church--with many individuals in it. And we live in a free country. Linda can start up her own ministry within the Church with no problem. The GC would have no jurisdiction to stop her. And there are other ministries within the Church Linda could do--we always need missionaries and workers within the Church.
>
> You imply that Church leadership doesn't dare take a side in this by speaking out freely. Well, Elder James Gilley is in Conference Leadership and yet he spoke right up on 3ABN quite freely just the other day. And many Conference pastors and those in leadership have been on 3ABN, supporting it and helping it. And most of them currently working in the GC, including Conference Presidents.

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 10:36 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 10:35 AM) ☐
>
> Clay, why thank you for the compliment--I've never been called "stupid" before! But it seems I've heard somewhere it "takes one to know one" right? ☒ than nope... not at all, your posts can contain stupidness without you being stupid... most people would be able to tell the difference.... you can save the foolishness too....

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 3 2007, 11:12 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin)
>
> All the conference people are lined up behind Danny and 3abn.

There may be a very good reason for that, Richard--if you get my drift.

(The GC μπορώ θέλω αγοράζω 3abn)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 3 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 08:20 AM)
>
> The statements above I don't believe are correct Watchbird. How do I know that? We have a big Church--with many individuals in it. And we live in a free country. Linda can start up her own ministry within the Church with no problem. The GC would have no jurisdiction to stop her. And there are other ministries within the Church Linda could do--we always need missionaries and workers within the Church.
>
> You imply that Church leadership doesn't dare take a side in this by speaking out freely. Well, Elder James Gilley is in Conference Leadership and yet he spoke right up on 3ABN quite freely just the other day. And many Conference pastors and those in leadership have been on 3ABN, supporting it and helping it. And most of them currently working in the GC, including Conference Presidents.

Lee,

Yes, Elder James Gilley spoke quite freely on 3abn a week ago Thursday. Did you notice how he didn't say anything against Danny? His position is still secure, just a WB pointed out. Now, if he had been outspoken for Linda, the program would probably have never aired. Of course, who knows what would have happened to his Conference position. No way to tell now.

PB

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 11:32 AM

Like I said, Lees proved WB's point, the very point she was trying to dispute! These people just never learn how much they are hurting their cause by posting on here.

Richard

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 3 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> Lee,
>
> Yes, Elder James Gilley spoke quite freely on 3abn a week ago Thursday. Did you notice how he didn't say anything against Danny? His position is still secure, just a WB pointed out. Now, if he had been outspoken for Linda, the program would probably have never aired. Of course, who knows what would have happened to his Conference position. No way to tell now.
>
> PB

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 3 2007, 11:53 AM)

> ....do all invites go through the church board for consideration?

Yup, standard process at our church.

- FHB

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 3 2007, 11:58 AM) ☐
>
> FHB:
> If you continue to post such, Danny will decrease in reputation.
> FHB:
>
> How much monely have you earned by writting a book.
>
> I doubt that Linda's pockets will be lined by sales from that book.

Ob,

On point one, these are my words, my opinions and unless you are accusing me of being Danny I can't see why my words cause Danny any "decrease in reputation." And, if this is the case, when the allegations are proven to have originated from Linda and proven false what will happen to her reputation?

As to the second point, I'll tell you when I have written my first book. In the mean time since you are so close to Linda and are probably privy to her book deal, maybe you can tell us what the royalties will be on each book - then again maybe she will get the printing and marketing donated and she can self publish and get all the profits.

- FHB

Posted by: Brenda Mar 3 2007, 01:51 PM

Does anyone know the subject matter Linda intends to cover in her book?

One possibility is that she will tell her side of what happened three years ago.

Another possibility is that she will give a synopsis of how she came to be where she is, and then describe how God has helped her get things together again.

IMO, a book concentrating on the latter could be a very positive witness.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 02:16 PM

Are you serious?????? GOD doesn't need anyone but himself to launch a ministry....even within the SDA church. Neither the SDA church nor Oakwood was behind Take 6 and they were very successful and received by the people---we were just happy that "one of our own" made it.

I do not know if they have EVER been on 3ABN and they are definitely accepted by the church--now.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 3 2007, 11:36 AM) ☐
>
> Way to go Lee, in trying to dispute WB you have just proved her point. All the conference people are lined up behind Danny and 3abn.
>
> Within the SDA church these days I don't see how anyone can start a singing ministry without being on 3abn or the Hope Channel. My guess is that the Hope channel will not be inviting Linda to sing anytime soon. I hope I'm proved wrong. And we already know what 3abn think of Linda.
>
> Richard

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 02:43 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 3 2007, 10:36 AM) ☐
>
> Way to go Lee, in trying to dispute WB you have just proved her point. All the conference people are lined up behind Danny and 3abn.
> Richard

Why Richard. Why would all the conference people need to line up behind 3abn? The hope channel is conference run, it is their channel. Why do they need 3abn? They don't. Has it occurred to you that even though they have their own network, they believe that 3abn is in the right in this mess and is doing the work of God? As I have stated before, If 3abn was corrupt, you can't fool all of the people, all of the time. According to this board, ASI, the conference, the other ministries of Amazing Facts, It is written etc etc. well respected people, Mark F, Doug B, David A., all the well known singers in the Adventist church, all the supporters, astute business people Like Garwin M and Ellsworth McKee, All of these people would have to be fooled!!! Is there any logic to that? Of course not.

By the way, did anyone see the winter ASI magazine that just came out. Had Garwin M on the cover helping a little girl from India. That man puts his money where his mouth is, in Gods work. Just one of his windmills supports all the work in Bobbili (I didn't spell that right) India.
On the back cover was a pic and story about a couple that just walked into the SDA church and later were babtized because of watching 3abn. ☒ ofl

Ok, I will get back on topic.

Posted by: Observer Mar 3 2007, 02:43 PM

> QUOTE
>
> On point one, these are my words, my opinions and unless you are accusing me of being Danny I can't see why my words cause Danny any "decrease in reputation.

I have no idea as to who you are.

I do not accuse you of being anyone other than the one you claim to be--FHB.

I do not even speculate as to who you are.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 3 2007, 02:43 PM)
>
> I have no idea as to who you are.
>
> I do not accuse you of being anyone other than the one you claim to be--FHB.
>
> I do not even speculate as to who you are.

Then please answer FHB's question. How could anything he said decrease DS popularity?

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 3 2007, 05:54 AM)
>
> In the mean time, how did you ever come up with the idea Linda was having a pity party? Since when is telling your side of a story a pity party? If Danny can broadcast lies about Linda to the world, why can't Linda tell her side? Seems fair to me! (IMO QCYAL)

Since you have said you don't know either person, your statement seems somewhat, lopsided.
Wouldn't it be more fair if you said "if Danny can broadcast lies about Linda to the world, why can't Linda tell her Lies?
Any other way of putting it is saying everything he says is lies while everything she says is the gospel truth.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 3 2007, 02:56 PM

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Mar 3 2007, 02:51 PM)
>
> Does anyone know the subject matter Linda intends to cover in her book?
>
> One possibility is that she will tell her side of what happened three years ago.
>
> Another possibility is that she will give a synopsis of how she came to be where she is, and then describe how God has helped her get things together again.
>
> IMO, a book concentrating on the latter could be a very positive witness.

Well... this is what Linda herself says on her website......

> I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

I suppose there will be a lot of speculating about it. But we won't really know until it is out and we read it for ourselves.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 02:56 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 02:16 PM) ☐
>
> Are you serious?????? GOD doesn't need anyone but himself to launch a ministry....even within the SDA church. Neither the SDA church nor Oakwood was behind Take 6 and they were very successful and received by the people---we were just happy that "one of our own" made it.
>
> I do not know if they have EVER been on 3ABN and they are definitely accepted by the church--now.

You are correct SS. Case in point...3ABN started with absolutely nothing but a wing and a prayer. They grew to such importance that everyone here has discuss them day and night.
All joking aside, you do not have to have 3abn or hope or anyone else, if God has his hand on your ministry.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 03:03 PM

☒ PTL.gif If GOD is in your ministry, He will make it happen in spite of the circumstances!

Carry on.... ☒ sna

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 03:56 PM) ☐

> You are correct SS. Case in point...3ABN started with absolutely nothing but a wing and a prayer. They grew to such importance that everyone here has discuss them day and night. ☐
> All joking aside, you do not have to have 3abn or hope or anyone else, if God has his hand on your ministry.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 03:08 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 09:29 AM) ☐
>
> Clay it is up to each individual Pastor and Church Board what they want to do. We DO still live in a country were we still have some freedoms to choose!
>
> Just because one or two people have refused Linda doesn't mean the whole Church has! And if they choose not to--well, maybe it is time Linda changed her career - there are many things she could do within the Church, I am sure.
>
> But writing a book about this whole 3ABN mess won't earn her any brownie points with many SDA's because it will look vindictive.

agree Lee. Danny could have wrote a book and still could for that matter about his side of what ıappened and all the gory details from his perspective. But he hasn't and he won't. All of this garbage ike the unauthorized version of 3abn and some of the other junk that has been posted are ridiculous tell all" books that are so popular in the world today. It is nothing but sensationalism in it's worse orms, and is so far beneath christian standards, it is appalling. Joy's site is the same way. His format s just like "the enquirer" with sensational headlines that many times, don't even depict the article he vas written underneath. They are just attention grabbers. That is one reason why he has lost what ittle, if any, credibility he had to begin with. When you get done with his site, you feel the same uncleanliness" that you feel after you "gave in" and read The star, or The enquirer.
.inda says her book will show the SILVER LINING but I wonder how many she will crush before she ȷets to the SILVER LINING of all the events she portrays?

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 3 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> Linda says her book will show the SILVER LINING but I wonder how many she will crush before she gets to the SILVER LINING of all the events she portrays?

ıttp://www.thepocket.com/wavs/species.wav

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 06:48 AM) ☐

> She can tell her story all she wants to. I won't be buying the book. Someone said "The best revenge is living well" and I would add to that living in God's grace and love.,,,and also praying that His will be done in our lives.
>
> I could have miss-spoke, I don't know Linda personally to know the amount of effort she is putting into clearing her name and telling her side of the story. But it appears to me her time would be better spent perusing here music ministry that writing a book.
>
> Yall have admonished Danny for not taking the high road in this ordeal with his ex-wife and business partner. Well now that the gag order on Linda has been lifted and she can speak freely doesn't mean that she has too, as some here seem to be waiting with baited breath to hear. IMO, the best thing she can to do to repair her image is to let God use the spirit gifts she has to reach others and tell of the good news of Jesus Christ.

must say Calvin, that was a great point. I hadn't really thought of it that way. Of course, I think we ll know where a lot of the garbage originated that was put in some of these other "tell all" books. fter all, you are not defying any gag orders when you can get others to write your info, for you.

☒ ofl

alvin,just received 3abn world. Congrats on your sister in law being on the front cover and her plifting story of the cancer she has ,and is, battling. If I understood correctly, she chose not to take hemo but treat it in natural ways. Very wise decision in my opinion.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 03:31 PM

Linda's ministry IS still being hindered, but she IS still ministering. She will continue to ministry every oppertunity given her. That is what she is doing now, and there is more to come.
She doesn't whine about it, though it does make her unhappy, but she takes the oppertunities that come as a call from God and she embraces it.

She has been slandered, and that has hurt her terribly, even those that never watched 3abn know this. She is dealing with it and moving on. What more can a person do but keep going.

Danny is suffering the consequences of hurting her, along with everything else he has done, and it is catching up to him....tick tock, tick tock. Pretty simple really, what goes around does come around, and it's coming around....in multiples.

Linda has every right and more to write a book. Many are interested in her views on what has taken place, it does affect everyone in some way, and our church most certainly. If you don't care what she has to say, don't buy the book. Although, I would suggest you consider borrowing it to gain more information that maybe you wouldn't get otherwise, and I'm sure anyone who has spent any time on this would like to have all they can get, that is if they want to form a more balanced opinion and hear from the person who was trashed through this whole situation. I am sure it will be interesting.

And, since when does a person not have the right to make an income? She certainly isn't earning her money anymore at 3abn, is she? Wonder why that is....hmm....she was FIRED and has been kept from gaining employment. Hmmm, again, wonder why???? If Danny couldn't care less, why doesn't he just LET GO AND MOVE ON? Because he can't. He can't be wrong, and he can't let go. He is obsessed.

Although it may apprear that nothing is happening "behind the scenes", I assure you it is, and on many levels. Brace yourself.

I personally detest such spririts as FHB and BS and WWJD, and you know who you are, who are dead set on destroying Linda and those that support her in some way. You seem to think she has no rights whatsover. Truely shows your christian spirit, doesn't it? I think it speaks volumes about what the truth of the matter is.

You all can talk your talk, spread lies and twist truth and convalute whatever you choose, it simply doesn't change anything - especially the facts. It is what it is, they are what they are, and either you face them now, or you face them later.

The bottom line is, Linda won't be the one hanging Danny. Danny is doing that to himself. Everyday, a little more.

There are more updates coming to Linda's website. The webmaster is not finished updating it yet.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 03:44 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 03:31 PM)
>
> Linda has every right and more to write a book. Many are interested in her views on what has taken place, it does affect everyone in some way, and our church most certainly. If you don't care what she has to say, don't buy the book. Although, I would suggest you consider borrowing it to gain more information that maybe you wouldn't get otherwise, and I'm sure anyone who has spent any time on this would like to have all they can get, that is if they want to form a more balanced opinion and hear from the person who was trashed through this whole situation. I am sure it will be interesting.
>
> Spoken like a true linda-nite. That would be assuming that every word written is truth. Big assumption.
>
> And, since when does a person not have the right to make an income? She certainly isn't earning her money anymore at 3abn,
>
> Please, she got enough from 3abn and the divorce that she "should" be able to live quite comfortably for some time. Unless she has a problem managing money.
>
> Although it may apprear that nothing is happening "behind the scenes", I assure you it is, and on many levels. Brace yourself.

Wow, wait now. That sounds like a threat. All I have heard on this board is how terrible Danny is for making Threats of lawsuits. And how terrible DS is if he says anything about Linda.
Well, look who is joining in the "terrible person" group. BRACE YOURSELF? Absolutely a threat.
Lets also point out that the Linda-nites are speaking out of 2 sides of their mouths. You all are saying she is going on with her life, she is ministering, she is making plans for ministry, and yet, here you are saying BRACE YOURSELF, as in "she is about to drop he ax." Which is it? Is she going on with her life, or is she fixing to take "revenge" on 3abn. mmmmm????

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 03:46 PM

This IMO falls under "all things are lawful, but not all things are expedient" and "Abstain from the very appearance of evil". For me personally, I would be disappointed that the same person who also stated on her website (before the update on yesterday) that she had forgiven those at 3ABN who had hurt her AND had moved on would write anything that might venture in that direction. That is what (no matters who is right or wrong) would make her appear unbelievable or credible. Yes, she can do what ever she wants....and I would most definitely say the same thing about 3ABN or Danny Shelton if they tried to do the same.

For those of you who are her close friends, I hope that she reconsiders the book deal. I respected what was originally written there on the website and hope that she remains true to it.

Regarding the ministry, our ministry is supposed to go out into all of the world....why be stuck on just Adventism? There is a HUGE market for Southern Gospel music....remarket your hits, write some more, collborate with some other industry people and move forward with the ministry!

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 04:31 PM)
>
> Linda's ministry IS still being hindered, but she IS still ministering. She will continue to ministry every oppertunity given her. That is what she is doing now, and there is more to come.
> She doesn't whine about it, though it does make her unhappy, but she takes the oppertunities that come as a call from God and she embraces it.
>
> She has been slandered, and that has hurt her terribly, even those that never watched 3abn know this. She is dealing with it and moving on. What more can a person do but keep going.
>
> Danny is suffering the consequences of hurting her, along with everything else he has done, and it is catching up to him....tick tock, tick tock. Pretty simple really, what goes around does come around, and it's coming around....in multiples.
>
> Linda has every right and more to write a book. Many are interested in her views on what has taken place, it does affect everyone in some way, and our church most certainly. If you don't care what she has to say, don't buy the book. Although, I would suggest you consider borrowing it to gain more information that maybe you wouldn't get otherwise, and I'm sure anyone who has spent any time on this would like to have all they can get, that is if they want to form a more balanced opinion and hear from the person who was trashed through this whole situation. I am sure it will be interesting.
>
> And, since when does a person not have the right to make an income? She certainly isn't earning her money anymore at 3abn, is she? Wonder why that is....hmm....she was FIRED and has been kept from gaining employment. Hmmm, again, wonder why???? If Danny couldn't care less, why doesn't he just LET GO AND MOVE ON? Because he can't. He can't be wrong, and he can't let go. He is obsessed.
>
> Although it may apprear that nothing is happening "behind the scenes", I assure you it is, and on many levels. Brace yourself.
>
> I personally detest such spririts as FHB and BS and WWJD, and you know who you are, who are dead set on destroying Linda and those that support her in some way. You seem to think she has no rights whatsover. Truely shows your christian spirit, doesn't it? I think it speaks volumes about what the truth of the matter is.
>
> You all can talk your talk, spread lies and twist truth and convalute whatever you choose, it simply doesn't change anything - especially the facts. It is what it is, they are what they are, and either you face them now, or you face them later.

> The bottom line is, Linda won't be the one hanging Danny. Danny is doing that to himself. Everyday, a little more.
> There are more updates coming to Linda's website. The webmaster is not finished updating it yet.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 03:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 01:44 PM)
>
> Wow, wait now. That sounds like a threat. All I have heard on this board is how terrible Danny is for making Threats of lawsuits. And how terrible DS is if he says anything about Linda.
> Well, look who is joining in the "terrible person" group. BRACE YOURSELF? Absolutely a threat.
> Lets also point out that the Linda-nites are speaking out of 2 sides of their mouths. You all are saying she is going on with her life, she is ministering, she is making plans for ministry, and yet, here you are saying BRACE YOURSELF, as in "she is about to drop he ax." Which is it? Is she going on with her life, or is she fixing to take "revenge" on 3abn. mmmmm????

You've definitely developed a knack for hearing what you want.
Nuff said.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 03:52 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 03:47 PM)
>
> You've definitely developed a knack for hearing what you want.
> Nuff said.

That one liner is all you can say. You know what you've said.
Threats at least 3 different times in your post. Everyone sees it but you and you just don't want to.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 03:54 PM

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Mar 3 2007, 11:51 AM)
>
> Does anyone know the subject matter Linda intends to cover in her book?
>
> One possibility is that she will tell her side of what happened three years ago.
>
> Another possibility is that she will give a synopsis of how she came to be where she is, and then describe how God has helped her get things together again.

> IMO, a book concentrating on the latter could be a very positive witness.

'm certain you will find her book to be something positive.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 01:52 PM)
>
> That one liner is all you can say. You know what you've said.
> Threats at least 3 different times in your post. Everyone sees it but you and you just don't want to.

'ou see something as a threat....feeling guilty are you?

won't be provoked to anything more then fact by you or any of your goonies.

'ou read everything the way you want, and then portray it in a fashion as to "say" what I or anyone :lse "really" said. Give it up.

'ruth is truth. That is all that matters.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 3 2007, 03:56 PM

Bystander,

Did you consider the possibility that "brace yourself" might mean there is a bunch of ministering coming? Sad that you would assume it was a threat instead of a possible promise.

Just a thought.

PB

Posted by: calvin Mar 3 2007, 03:58 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 08:24 AM)
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.
>
> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".
>
> Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit > and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.

>
> And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.
>
> In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.
>
> Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

find much of this hard to believe. Danny has all the Conference Presidents in his back pocket? astors risk loosing their retirement for supporting Linda? Really sounds far fetched. But then I don't un in the same circles you do WB. This would not in fly in Black conferences.

TW, I have read the letters. I do believe Linda has been blocked. But I don't give Danny that much redit or influence, especially now that the divorce is 3 years old. Danny has enough of his own roblems be be concerned with than to still be trying to stay one steip ahead of Linda.

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 10:09 AM)
>
> Linda has the opportunity for restoration. She has a loyal, loving following.... PTL.gif > especially because, not many women or men can come through such an ordeal with the ability to still minister....she can! No one is stopping her, but herself.
>
>
> If it were me, I would see as an opportunty to launch a full-time independent ministry, and allow God to take it and me to it's fullest potential.

agree SS. Linda still has name recognition. Hire an agent or marketing representative. Start beating he bushes, let churches know you are available or Women's Day programs and retreats, concerts and he like. Do this if you have to just accept a love offering to get started. You can't wait around for the hone to ring. But then maybe she just wants to write a book go figure.

nd another thing. I would never let anybody think they have that much control over me, that they an stop me from doing what I want to do. If she feels God has called her to ministry and she has the piritual gifts, then why concerned about Danny? He can't close all the doors. Where is your faith?

What has Linda been doing these last two years collecting a pay check from 3abn without have to vork for it. This was the time to launch a ministry, or was most of the time spend listening to Joy and ther on ways to restore her name.

I still say "WOMAN, PUT THIS BEHIND YOU AND GET ON WITH THE REST OF YOUR LIFE"

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 03:59 PM

I'm sure you are right. It's just that it seems like most of the SDA's that we see in full time music ministry (or at least I see) have had some sort of connection with 3abn, or at least have the support of the leadership within the SDA church. I find it hard to believe that Linda can ever have that support as long as people believe that Danny is telling the truth about her.

Richard

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 03:16 PM) ☐
>
> Are you serious?????? GOD doesn't need anyone but himself to launch a ministry....even within the SDA church. Neither the SDA church nor Oakwood was behind Take 6 and they were very successful and received by the people---we were just happy that "one of our own" made it.
>
> I do not know if they have EVER been on 3ABN and they are definitely accepted by the church--now.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 3 2007, 04:08 PM

Calvin,

I believe there have been numerous attempts by Linda to get herself out there and get a ministry up and running. My own conference, way far away from Illinois, urged my pastor to remain neutral so my pastor decided against allowing Linda to come to speak. Just months later Danny is allowed to hold a rally in my conference just miles away from conference headquarters. Does this sound non-biased or neutral?

I think there may be more pressure against Linda than is immediately evident. Who knows why? Perhaps it is what is behind so much else in this money-oriented world: Those with the most money seem to have the most power. Danny does seem to have a pretty cash-powerful person in his pocket.

PB

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 04:09 PM

I have a news flash: Linda has never sung in most Black SDA churches....or even Hispanic ones...or the few French ones that I know of.....Most Adventists do not even watch od have access to 3ABN.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 09:24 AM) ☐
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.

> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".
>
> Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.
>
> And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.
>
> In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.
>
> Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 04:11 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 01:58 PM)
>
> I find much of this hard to believe. Danny has all the Conference Presidents in his back pocket? Pastors risk loosing their retirement for supporting Linda? Really sounds far fetched. But then I don't run in the same circles you do WB. This would not in fly in Black conferences.
>
> BTW, I have read the letters. I do believe Linda has been blocked. But I don't give Danny that much credit or influence, especially now that the divorce is 3 years old. Danny has enough of his own problems be be concerned with than to still be trying to stay one steip ahead of Linda.
>
> I agree SS. Linda still has name recognition. Hire an agent or marketing representative. Start beating the bushes, let churches know you are available or Women's Day programs and retreats, concerts and the like. Do this if you have to just accept a love offering to get started. You can't wait around for the phone to ring. But then maybe she just wants to write a book go figure.
>
> And another thing. I would never let anybody think they have that much control over me, that they can stop me from doing what I want to do. If she feels God has called her to ministry and she has the spiritual gifts, then she concerned about Danny? He can close all the doors.

> What has Linda been doing these last two years collecting a pay check from 3abn without have to work for it. This was the time to launch a ministry, or was most of the time spend listening to Joy and other on ways to restore her name.
>
> I still say "WOMAN, PUT THIS BEHIND YOU AND GET ON WITH THE REST OF YOUR LIFE"

alvin, you are very wise. Though it is more complicated. While some once bought a story per Danny nd is "workers" that influenced their "judgement" on the matter, what is occuring now is many of hese same folk are putting two and two together, and they are getting information (this includes from anny, indirectly and directly) that are bringing it all together. It takes time. This isn't a small town ssue. Sometimes people have to hang themselves for others to see what's really been going on as vell. It all adds up together.

t's like the wheels of justice...they grind slowly, but they grind. Has Linda been frustrated in the past years by being shut down (and finding out why and who was behind it) and not being able to ninister? Yes. Very. But, also think about the faith that has had to develop during these times.

ets just say, it will be nice to hear from Linda on many of these points you mentioned. Hence, why a ook and other things are needed, IMO.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 04:11 PM

Deleted

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 04:14 PM

If you know of a church that would like her to come sing, have them extend an invitation.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 04:19 PM

My apologies... I have edited the post....

In response to your comment....that is the point. This is not about whether any SDA church will let you come or invite you....it is about whether or not God has called one to a ministry and if thery are willing to do it ---by any means necessary (In Jesus) or only the way that they are familiar.

She may need to attend pmorris's UCAA Conference in September....

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=12504

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 05:14 PM)
>
> If you know of a church that would like to her come sing, have them extend an invitation.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 04:21 PM

Everyone see this as a threat? Everyone? My dear friend you are sadly mistaken. I don't see anyone thinking it a threat, much less everyone. Only someone who is paranoid might take it to be a threat, and even then it would be a stretch.

BTW when her book does come out will there then be the "threat" of another lawsuit? (Question not necessarily directed at BS)

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 04:52 PM)
>
> That one liner is all you can say. You know what you've said.
> Threats at least 3 different times in your post. Everyone sees it but you and you just don't want to.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 04:25 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 02:19 PM)
>
> My apologies... I have edited the post....
>
> In response to your comment....that is the point. This is not about whether any SDA church will let you come or invite you....it is about whether or not God has called one to a ministry and if thery are willing to do it ---by any means necessary (In Jesus) or only the way that they are familiar.
>
> She may need to attend pmorris's UCAA Conference in September....
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=12504

I agree and disagree.

As long as people have free-will choice, those that have chosen to say "don't want to get involved" have kept her from ministering where she was willing to go. When that happens, for whatever reason, you are not able to go and minister.

Where the people are "willing to get involved", invite you and support you, then you go.

God will have His way with our lives if we are willing, in spite of what people do or not do with the power they have to make decisions. As long as we hang on to Him and sometimes we have to wait when we do not want to wait.

Like I said, send the invitations and see what God brings together.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 04:34 PM

Jesus said "Rise, take your bed and walk"....not wait for someone to let you....

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 05:25 PM)
>
> I agree and disagree.
>
> As long as people have free-will choice, those that have chosen to say "don't want to get involved" have kept her from ministering where she was willing to go. When that happens, for whatever reason, you are not able to go and minister.
>
> Where the people are "willing to get involved", invite you and support you, then you go.
>
> God will have His way with our lives if we are willing, in spite of what people do or not do with the power they have to make decisions. As long as we hang on to Him and sometimes we have to wait when we do not want to wait.
>
> Like I said, send the invitations and see what God brings together.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 3 2007, 04:50 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 05:34 PM)
>
> Jesus said "Rise, take your bed and walk"....not wait for someone to let you....

Simply.... have you walked a year in Linda's moccasins?

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 04:59 PM

No more than you have walked in mine....my feedback was in response to Sonshineonme's comment to me. If they don't want your ministry, shake the dust and move on. God is not going to allow man to dicatate the ministry or spiritual gifts of those he has called.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> Simply.... have you walked a year in Linda's moccasins?

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 04:58 PM)
>
> I find much of this hard to believe. Danny has all the Conference Presidents in his back pocket? Pastors risk loosing their retirement for supporting Linda? Really sounds far fetched. But then I don't run in the same circles you do WB. This would not in fly in Black conferences.

> BTW, I have read the letters. I do believe Linda has been blocked. But I don't give Danny that much credit or influence, especially now that the divorce is 3 years old. Danny has enough of his own problems be be concerned with than to still be trying to stay one steip ahead of Linda.
>
> I agree SS. Linda still has name recognition. Hire an agent or marketing representative. Start beating the bushes, let churches know you are available or Women's Day programs and retreats, concerts and the like. Do this if you have to just accept a love offering to get started. You can't wait around for the phone to ring. But then maybe she just wants to write a book go figure.
>
> And another thing. I would never let anybody think they have that much control over me, that they can stop me from doing what I want to do. If she feels God has called her to ministry and she has the spiritual gifts, then why concerned about Danny? He can't close all the doors. Where is your faith?
>
> What has Linda been doing these last two years collecting a pay check from 3abn without have to work for it. This was the time to launch a ministry, or was most of the time spend listening to Joy and other on ways to restore her name.
>
> I still say "WOMAN, PUT THIS BEHIND YOU AND GET ON WITH THE REST OF YOUR LIFE"

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 05:31 PM)
>
> And, since when does a person not have the right to make an income? She certainly isn't earning her money anymore at 3abn, is she? Wonder why that is....hmm....she was FIRED and has been kept from gaining employment.

SSoM,

Where is the proof? How many money making opportunities have been kept from her or her from hem? By whom, and can you please give us some facts to base this claim on?

Linda was not "fired" she chose the avenue she traveled. She was asked repeatedly by those around her to end the relationship she had with Dr. A. Abrahamsen. Even "if" it wasn't an affair (physical or of he heart), why not make every effort to repair the breech, even if only a perceived one on Danny's part? She was given every opportunity to choose a different path and very defiantly chose to stay on he one she was on. She must bear responsibility for her own choices and where they have led her. She must own her life as a result of her choices and then with God's help make a shining example of what a life led by God is all about.

Again, until there is some substantive proof that Linda has been the victim of some major conspiracy which "watchbird" has now laid at the feet of the churches world leadership - it is merely a red herring n an attempt to let Linda off the hook for her own actions both since and while she was the VP of 3ABN. No proof = hot air.

FHB

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 05:47 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 05:44 PM)
>
> SS,
>
> Where is the proof? How many money making opportunities have been kept from her or her from them? By whom, and can you please give us some facts to base this claim on?
>
> Linda was not "fired" she chose the avenue she traveled. She was asked repeatedly by those around her to end the relationsip she had with Dr. A. Abrahamsen. Even "if" it wasn't an affair (physical or of the heart), why not make every effort to repair the breech, even if only a perceieved one on Danny's part? She was given every opportunity to choose a different path and very difiantly chose to stay on the one she was on. She must bear responsibility for her own choices and where they have led her. She must own her life as a result of her choices and then with God's help make a shining example of what a life led by God is all about.
>
> Again, until there is some substantive proof that Linda has been the victim of some major conspiracy which "watchbird" has now laid at the feet of the churches world leadership - it is merely a red herring in an attempt to let Linda off the hook for her own actions both since and while she was the VP of 3ABN. No proof = hot air.
>
> - FHB

the lie.... the lie.... and the lie.... FHB... you PROVE that there was a relationship... prove it..... action was taken based on that lie.... and you continue to tell that LIE..... still Full of it Human Being......

Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord.....

no integrity.... none....

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 06:22 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 02:34 PM)
>
> Jesus said "Rise, take your bed and walk"....not wait for someone to let you....

SS, I think we are saying the same thing.
That is what she is doing.
That does not change the fact that she has been denied where she was also invited.
You do shake it off, and trust God. That is also what she is doing.

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 03:44 PM)
>
> SSoM,
>
> Where is the proof? How many money making opportunities have been kept from her or her from them? By whom, and can you please give us some facts to base this claim on?
>
> Linda was not "fired" she chose the avenue she traveled. She was asked repeatedly by those > around her to end the relationship she had with Dr. A. Abrahamsen. Even "if" it wasn't an affair (physical or of the heart), why not make every effort to repair the breech, even if only a perceived one on Danny's part? She was given every opportunity to choose a different path and very defiantly chose to stay on the one she was on. She must bear responsibility for her own choices and where they have led her. She must own her life as a result of her choices and then with God's help make a shining example of what a life led by God is all about.

>
> Again, until there is some substantive proof that Linda has been the victim of some major conspiracy which "watchbird" has now laid at the feet of the churches world leadership - it is merely a red herring in an attempt to let Linda off the hook for her own actions both since and while she was the VP of 3ABN. No proof = hot air.
>
> - FHB

No, I won't give you the specifics here. Sorry. Doesn't mean it isn't so. In fact, it is so.

You only know what DS has sold you. Doesn't mean it's so, in fact it isn't so.

You can believe what you will. Makes no difference to me. Truth is still truth.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 06:40 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 06:50 PM) ☐
>
> Simply.... have you walked a year in Linda's moccasins?

WB,

Not the point of her post! Her post is talking about the mighty power of God and his ability to overcome anything that places itself in His way via His servants here on earth.

You can keep hiding with Linda behind the "he won't let me" argument or you can - because of your close contact with her - encourage her to look forward instead of backward and build the ministry she claims to be called to.

s there any question that God has the power to do anything? Do you doubt His ability? Does Linda? If he answer to those questions is no, then that begs the question - what is Linda waiting for. She doesn't need a book to "make her case." I can't image her writing that book about the "silver linings" without taking the opportunity to divulge where her grey clouds came from and in so doing "telling her side of the story."

There is no honor in God in claiming that man can keep Him at bay - which is what these claims of "he keeps getting in my way" are all about.

- FHB

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 3 2007, 07:47 PM) ☐

> the lie.... the lie.... and the lie.... FHB... you PROVE that there was a relationship... prove it..... action was taken based on that lie.... and you continue to tell that LIE..... still Full of it Human Being......
>
> Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord.....
>
> no integrity.... none....

Clay,

You believe who you want to, and I will do the same . . . there will be an end, in it, we will see. Can -you- provide any proof that it is a lie? Can you, Clay, offer any proof that there was no affair, no physical affair, no affair of the heart?

If you can't that join me on the "no integrity" side . . . because if you can not substantiate your claim that I spoke a lie by providing anything - ANYTHING - other than Linda's "say-so" you claim that I am lying is nothing more than a breeze through the rushes.

I have no axe to grind with you Clay - you know this - and I have yet to question your integrity, your character . . . I merely claim you have bought into a lie (just as you have me) . . . now if you are claiming I am "full of" God's love, forgiveness, and a desire to follow His leading then you are right . . . however, if you are claiming otherwise then maybe I should pull a Bob Pickle and demand an apology.

- FHB

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 08:22 PM)
>
> No, I won't give you the specifics here. Sorry. Doesn't mean it isn't so. In fact, it is so.

SSoM,

Your word does not make it so. Now, then again if it does, then 3ABN's claim of proof of an affair is true as well. You can't fault them for doing exactly what you are doing . . . let's see wouldn't that fit in the pot-kettle-black category?

If there is evidence of such, present it, put it to rest. As for me, I don't hold the evidence that 3ABN has but would encourage them to make it public - Linda has publicly waived her right to privacy, a risky, risky choice on her part, so I think they should lay it out there. I have every reason to believe it will do as they have claimed - make things more difficult for Linda. But, she has asked for that burden, so give it to her.

- FHB

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 06:40 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 3 2007, 03:58 PM)
>
> I agree SS. Linda still has name recognition. Hire an agent or marketing representative. Start beating the bushes, let churches know you are available or Women's Day programs and retreats, > concerts and the like. Do this if you have to just accept a love offering to get started. You can't wait around for the phone to ring. But then maybe she just wants to write a book go figure.

>
> And another thing. I would never let anybody think they have that much control over me, that they can stop me from doing what I want to do. If she feels God has called her to ministry and she has the spiritual gifts, then why concerned about Danny? He can't close all the doors. Where is your faith?
>
> What has Linda been doing these last two years collecting a pay check from 3abn without have to work for it. This was the time to launch a ministry, or was most of the time spend listening to Joy and other on ways to restore her name.
>
> I still say "WOMAN, PUT THIS BEHIND YOU AND GET ON WITH THE REST OF YOUR LIFE"

he bold sections Calvin I agree with you..... stuff happens, some stuff can't be undone... if God is for ou then do His will without permission or apology as Odell would say.... We should allow no one to ave that kind of control over us....

here is a time to mourn, a time to wallow in our plight, and a time to get up and handle our usiness....

thought about Vanessa Williams back in the 80s, crowned Miss America, then lost her crown in isgrace when those nude pics that she posed for surfaced.... What did she do... she wallowed for a inute then handled her business and she is viewed as one of the most successful former beauty ueens..... I can respect that.....

Posted by: lookin4truth Mar 3 2007, 06:49 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 07:40 PM)
>
> You believe who you want to, and I will do the same . . . there will be an end, in it, we will see. Can -you- provide any proof that it is a lie? Can you, Clay, offer any proof that there was no affair, no physical affair, no affair of the heart?

HB,

don't understand your reasoning. You say "offer any proof that there was no affair".

f I say FHB robbed a bank, I will be expected to show security videos, or eye witnesses, or catch you ith the money, or see the dye on your skin from the dye pack.

ou would be considered innocent until I proved you guilty. But you are saying Linda should show roof she did not do what you are accusing her of.

t is up to the accuser to prove guilt.

ot an argument, just a thought.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 06:52 PM

That is ALL I have said ☒ ....Especially if you have people who are in your corner.....She should/could have either had her own label or signed with another label--major label my now and be ready for mainstream ministry globally--especially with the funds from the Separation Agreement.

Princess Dianna was another woman who moved from disgrace (kicked to the curb by the Prince) to grace....Sandi Patti and Amy Grant (other extremes) are other examples....Even Whitney Houston is getting her respect back after life with Bobby Brown....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 3 2007, 07:40 PM) ☐
>
> The bold sections Calvin I agree with you..... stuff happens, some stuff can't be undone... if God is for you then do His will without permission or apology as Odell would say.... We should allow no one to have that kind of control over us....
>
> There is a time to mourn, a time to wallow in our plight, and a time to get up and handle our business....
>
> I thought about Vanessa Williams back in the 80s, crowned Miss America, then lost her crown in disgrace when those nude pics that she posed for surfaced.... What did she do... she wallowed for a minute then handled her business and she is viewed as one of the most successful former beauty queens..... I can respect that.....

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 07:02 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Mar 3 2007, 08:49 PM) ☐
>
> FHB,
>
> I don't understand your reasoning. You say "offer any proof that there was no affair".
>
> If I say FHB robbed a bank, I will be expected to show security videos, or eye witnesses, or catch you with the money, or see the dye on your skin from the dye pack.
>
> You would be considered innocent until I proved you guilty. But you are saying Linda should show proof she did not do what you are accusing her of.
>
> It is up to the accuser to prove guilt.
>
> Not an argument, just a thought.

L4T,

You are right, it is up to the accuser. This thread has been weaving back and forth around ideas that arise from the original post. My post was to Clay in regards to the fact he called me a liar. Linda has made claims against Danny, via her surrogates, - without substantiated proof and in this thread I have focused on her claim that she can't work because of Danny. She, through her surrogates, should be able to provide the proof to substantiate her claim.

- FHB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 3 2007, 07:18 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 05:44 PM) ☐
>
> Linda was not "fired" she chose the avenue she traveled. She was asked repeatedly by those around her to end the relationship she had with Dr. A. Abrahamsen..... She was given every opportunity to choose a different path and very defiantly chose to stay on the one she was on. She must bear responsibility for her own choices and where they have led her. She must own her life as a result of her choices and then with God's help make a shining example of what a life led by God is all about.
>
> Again, until there is some substantive proof that Linda has been the victim of some major conspiracy which "watchbird" has now laid at the feet of the churches world leadership - it is merely a red herring in an attempt to let Linda off the hook for her own actions both since and while she was the VP of 3ABN. No proof = hot air.
>
> - FHB

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 16 2004, 10:30 PM) ☐
>
> I was not brought in to help Linda "manage" after she was fired - she was never fired . The committee I was on (and later the Board) repeatedly gave her opportunity to talk with them trying to bring resolution and restoration to both her ministry at 3ABN and her marriage. She refused at every point...I believe the most important thing to understand is that eventually the fruit of a person's decisions will become evident. Sincerely,
>
> Kay Kuzma

Fallible Human Being, you are merely re-typing and paraphrasing Kay Kuzma's prepared script called http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=1664 with a few changes here or there. If I were a school teacher, I would have to flunk you for plagiarism and give you a fat "F" for a grade.

On the other hand, maybe you are repeating your own statement from memory? Is that possible?

I don't know or care who you are, but if you are Kay Kuzma, your "fact finding committee" wasn't very successful in 2004, and isn't working any better now and your memory is even worse; Kay Kuzma said much of this before in her statement about Linda Shelton and "the other man."

And if you are Kay Kuzma, and you are just repeating your own statement, it bears witness to what Watchbird is saying about a number of influential people in the conferences trying to block Linda Shelton.

This is really quite sad, if you and Fallible are the same person, because it means the gangrene has extended up into the body of the Adventist Church farther than some suspect. I truly feel sorry for you if this is the case.

Pete

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 07:25 PM

This is to everyone;

I will buy Linda's book! I will read every word.

I have not and will not purchase Kay Kuzma's book about the miracles of 3ABN and their 20th Anniversary. I would hate to have to read it and decide if this part is a lie or is there a ½ truth here and there, or is it all a lie!

I would not give a book written by Kay Kuzma, Danny Shelton, Brenda Walsh, Hal or Mollie Steenson, or Walt to my enemies!

I can't wait to read Linda's book. It will be a positive reflection of something VERY BAD! I will share it with everyone that would like to read it! I will try to make sure every Adventist University and College has a copy in their libraries!

Isn't writing a ministry?

I hear tell it is! Thousands and maybe even millions do it.

Why is our church in the publishing business?

Why is OK for everyone to write, BUT NOT LINDA?

Why do you tell her to "get over it" and go on with her life, but it is not "proper" for her to "write a book?"

(Do I smell a bunch of male/female chauvinistic pigs around here? The stench is unbearable!)

She IS & HAS BEEN getting on with her life!

Why do some of the posters here believe it is only appropriate for her to sing?

She can preach too, you know?

If you say nothing can stop her ministry, re-read your posts. YOU are stopping her!

Danny sells his books for a HUGH profit.

Why shouldn't Linda?

Why is it wrong for her to do the same?

I hope she gets millions!

She watched how Danny got his millions.

Surely she knows how to do that too from the experience she received by editing Danny's books!

Why do you feel YOU should dictate what or how she gets on with her life?
What is YOUR stake in this matter?

Could it be that All DannyScribes are afraid that their sins will find them out?

Should they be afraid?

Why is it OK for you, Danny and DannyScribes, to rip her to pieces and expect anything else?

Could it be because you know you deserve it!

Linda's recovery is very important to every abused woman alive!

Recovery comes when the victims talk about what happened!

I would like to see a book like you describe, but you will be so disappointed. Your judgments are from what YOU would do, and what YOU HAVE ALREADY DONE!

May God bring a mighty shaking through her book of love. Be careful you don't get burned by her heaping love and kindness on you heads!

I think her book should tell all! It needs to be published to give others the courage to speak up and maintain some sort of sanity! Recovery does not happen until it is spoken and worked through!

Let her do it HER way. It is her right; NOT OURS!

What I am hearing is that many resent she was given money to go away. I would have signed that stupid paper too! I would have tried to hold out for MORE! She lost EVERYTHING; even her id! Then her heart was stomped on by the man she loved.

In January 1999 she wrote a love song called "You are the One".

What did she get in return for that love?

She was served hatred! Every person on earth needs someone to love them and give them affirmation that they are worthy of being a child of God. I imagine she even blamed herself for every thing that happened because that is what she was told! However, God showed her the truth about that earthly man that sang love songs with her. Thank God Johann, Irmgard, and the Dr. were there to love her.

Before you say something snide about the Dr's LOVE for Linda, I am not talking of the type of LOVE you think you understand. I am talking about the TRUE LOVE OF GOD!

Writing is a ministry!

I hope she sells millions of books!

You GO GIRL!

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 07:40 PM

I too, even though I'm a man will want to read this book. And thanks Fran for pointing out that she can preach as well. As one who never watched that much 3abn I always think of her as a singer not a preacher.

My fear is that if she writes the book and tells the truth about the divorce she will be getting letters from the lawyers in Minnesota.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 3 2007, 08:25 PM)
>
> This is to everyone;
>
> I will buy Linda's book! I will read every word.
>
> I have not and will not purchase Kay Kuzma's book about the miracles of 3ABN and their 20th Anniversary. I would hate to have to read it and decide if this part is a lie or is there a ½ truth here and there, or is it all a lie!
>
> I would not give a book written by Kay Kuzma, Danny Shelton, Brenda Walsh, Hal or Mollie Steenson, or Walt to my enemies!
>
> I can't wait to read Linda's book. It will be a positive reflection of something VERY BAD! I will share it with everyone that would like to read it! I will try to make sure every Adventist University and College has a copy in their libraries!
>
> Isn't writing a ministry?
>
> I hear tell it is! Thousands and maybe even millions do it.
>
> Why is our church in the publishing business?
>
> Why is OK for everyone to write, BUT NOT LINDA?
>
> Why do you tell her to "get over it" and go on with her life, but it is not "proper" for her to "write a book?"
>
> (Do I smell a bunch of male/female chauvinistic pigs around here? The stench is unbearable!)
>
> She IS & HAS BEEN getting on with her life!
>
> Why do some of the posters here believe it is only appropriate for her to sing?
>
> She can preach too, you know?
>
> If you say nothing can stop her ministry, re-read your posts. YOU are stopping her!
>
> Danny sells his books for a HUGH profit.
>
> Why shouldn't Linda?

Why is it wrong for her to do the same?

I hope she gets millions!

She watched how Danny got his millions.

Surely she knows how to do that too from the experience she received by editing Danny's books!

Why do you feel YOU should dictate what or how she gets on with her life?
What is YOUR stake in this matter?

Could it be that All DannyScribes are afraid that their sins will find them out?

Should they be afraid?

Why is it OK for you, Danny and DannyScribes, to rip her to pieces and expect anything else?

Could it be because you know you deserve it!

Linda's recovery is very important to every abused woman alive!

Recovery comes when the victims talk about what happened!

I would like to see a book like you describe, but you will be so disappointed. Your judgments are from what YOU would do, and what YOU HAVE ALREADY DONE!

May God bring a mighty shaking through her book of love. Be careful you don't get burned by her heaping love and kindness on you heads!

I think her book should tell all! It needs to be published to give others the courage to speak up and maintain some sort of sanity! Recovery does not happen until it is spoken and worked through!

Let her do it HER way. It is her right; NOT OURS!

What I am hearing is that many resent she was given money to go away. I would have signed that stupid paper too! I would have tried to hold out for MORE! She lost EVERYTHING; even her id! Then her heart was stomped on by the man she loved.

In January 1999 she wrote a love song called "You are the One".

What did she get in return for that love?

She was served hatred! Every person on earth needs someone to love them and give them affirmation that they are worthy of being a child of God. I imagine she even blamed herself for every thing that happened because that is what she was told! However, God showed her the truth about that earthly man that sang love songs with her. Thank God Johann, Irmgard, and the Dr. were there to love her.

Before you say something snide about the Dr's LOVE for Linda, I am not talking of the type of LOVE you think you understand. I am talking about the TRUE LOVE OF GOD!

Writing is a ministry!

I hope she sells millions of books!

> You GO GIRL!

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 07:56 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 07:02 PM)
>
> L4T,
>
> You are right, it is up to the accuser. This thread has been weaving back and forth around ideas that arise from the original post. My post was to Clay in regards to the fact he called me a liar. Linda has made claims against Danny, via her surrogates, - without substantiated proof and in this thread I have focused on her claim that she can't work because of Danny. She, through her surrogates, should be able to provide the proof to substantiate her claim.
>
> - FHB

HB;

id you by chance hear Shawn Boonstra's message today? It was about (drum roll - drum roll) OLTAIRE (Boo, Boo, Boo!)

ut of course you know all about him, don't you?

t told how he "started" out a follower of Newton, a Christian, and how he "ended up" following arwin. Yeah, he became a devout Atheist! Will that be your end? Are you already there?

here is YOUR proof that Linda is guilty? You did say that, right? Oh, silly me, that is what you do est! Your argue BOTH sides! Voltaire did that too, you know? Have we suceeded in confusing you as o what side you are on at that given moment. Goodness it is hard to keep up with all of those split ersona, isn't it?

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 08:04 PM

Preacher, prophetess, apostle, singer....when God has called you, no one can stop you.

This may be for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.

There is a mission field to minister to outside of Adventism....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 3 2007, 08:40 PM)
>
> I too, even though I'm a man will want to read this book. And thanks Fran for pointing out that she can preach as well. As one who never watched that much 3abn I always think of her as a singer not a preacher.

> My fear is that if she writes the book and tells the truth about the divorce she will be getting letters from the lawyers in Minnesota.

Posted by: lookin4truth Mar 3 2007, 08:09 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 09:04 PM)
>
> This maybe for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.

ou are absolutely CORRECT

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 3 2007, 08:10 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 06:04 PM)
>
> Preacher, prophetess, apostle, singer....when God has called you, no one can stop you.
>
> This maybe for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.
>
> There is a mission field to minister to outside of Adventism....

Ve talk about this and based on what she has said to me, I think Linda would agree with you ompletely.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 08:37 PM

To be blunt: it is O.K. for Linda to go to worship in the SDA Christian church, sit in the pew, and have a global ministry where she can proclaim the 3 Angels Message to the world, leaving the past behind--without writing a book. Why try to prove yourself to anyone? Why sit around waiting to have your name cleared (which may never happen)?

Maybe this is the "Chicago Black Girl" in me but I agree with Dr. Maya Angelou..."Still I Rise" in spite of....God is not going to let anything or anyone destroy his chosen without answering for it...ask Elisha about the "she-bears". Stop being a victim. Rise and claim the authority that God has given and move forward.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 09:10 PM) ☐
>
> We talk about this and based on what she has said to me, I think Linda would agree with you completely.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 08:48 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 3 2007, 09:56 PM) ☐
>
> FHB;
>
> Did you by chance hear Shawn Boonstra's message today? It was about (drum roll - drum roll) VOLTAIRE (Boo, Boo, Boo!)
>
> But of course you know all about him, don't you?
>
> It told how he "started" out a follower of Newton, a Christian, and how he "ended up" following Darwin. Yeah, he became a devout Atheist! Will that be your end? Are you already there?
>
> Where is YOUR proof that Linda is guilty? You did say that, right? Oh, silly me, that is what you do best! Your argue BOTH sides! Voltaire did that too, you know? Have we suceeded in confusing you as to what side you are on at that given moment. Goodness it is hard to keep up with all of those split persona, isn't it?

Fran,

Your endless rants at the foot of the pedestal you place Linda on don't ring with truthfulness - but rather a way to vent your own internal struggles and anger at the church using Linda's life as your tool.

I hate to disappoint you - but your dear Voltaire I am not. I have been prewarned of your conspiracy theory that I am such and have asked enough questions to know I am not. So, keep looking - you may find him/her one day.

BTW, it isn't my truth. It is the truth that 3ABN will present just as Linda has begged for. When that time comes, she will be so appreciative of all the books you purchase.

- FHB

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 09:01 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 3 2007, 09:18 PM)
>
> Fallible Human Being, you are merely re-typing and paraphrasing Kay Kuzma's prepared script called http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=1664 with a few changes here or there. If I were a school teacher, I would have to flunk you for plagiarism and give you a fat "F" for a grade.

PP,

Oh please! This is all you can come up with? It seems that if this has been stated multiple times by many people it might actually be true. But then, you being a Lindaite won't consider that you have been duped.

The facts are true. Linda was asked multiple times by numerous people to reconsider the path she was on, she didn't, it lead to her being given an ultimatum, she still made her choice. When are you going to admit that she had more than one choice in the matter? When are you going to accept that she is responsible for the paper she signed, the decisions she made, the course she charted. No one told her to make those choices, no one made her make them - she, Linda Shelton, made those choices and now she has to navigate the waters she choose to sail in.

Be a friend to her, convince her to own up to things the way they are instead of blaming, blaming, blaming and trying to play on the sympathies of everyone ear she can get a hold of. She alone is in control of her future - she can choose to slip her hand into God's and walk the path of life from here on with him as her guide or she can continue to look backward and cry over spilt milk.

- FHB

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 10:04 PM)
>
> Preacher, prophetess, apostle, singer....when God has called you, no one can stop you.
>
> This may be for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.
>
> There is a mission field to minister to outside of Adventism....

SS,

Yes! It is time to stop preaching to the choir - cause the choir doesn't listen well. Preach to the people outside the front door!

- FHB

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 09:34 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 08:04 PM)

> Preacher, prophetess, apostle, singer....when God has called you, no one can stop you.
>
> This may be for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.
>
> There is a mission field to minister to outside of Adventism....

If someone you never heard of wanted to sing at your church-any church, do you think they would be checked out? Have you googled Linda Shelton?

She has been branded for the world to see that she has been treated as a Harlot. Yeah, even to the OUTSIDE world! People choose not to have "accused" Harlots in their pulpits singing. You say that people can not stop other people. Think again!

Are you saying that Tommy Shelton needs to be back at Kid's Time and 3ABN? Are you saying that Danny should just keep on keepin' on.

I agree Linda doesn't need to keep her stuff Adventist. I totally agree! However, she has the right to decide whatever, period! Obviously God hasn't spoken to her the same instructions he has spoken to us. She can hear God just as clearly as any of us can! LET HER DO IT THE WAY GOD TELLS HER TO DO IT.

She has had to figure out WHO SHE IS now and who she was then. Where did "she" go for 20 years? She has had to find a new normal. She has been dogged if she did and dogged if she didn't. Through all of this she has been quiet. So what if it takes her less or more time than others. Who is to determine what time is just right? She is! No one else.

Is it really is bothering you that she does not do as you surmise she should, or what you feel God would want her to do! You can't do that and neither can I. Only God can speak to her and tell her what, when & where he wants her to do whatever.

What I am trying to say is that we have not walked in her shoes and we should not try to at this late date. She is a big girl and can get on with gettin' on in the way God leads her.

Posted by: Observer Mar 3 2007, 10:02 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 07:37 PM)
>
> [color=#993399]To be blunt: it is O.K. for Linda to go to worship in the SDA Christian church, sit in the pew, and have a global ministry where she can proclaim the 3 Angels Message to the world, leaving the past behind--without writing a book. Why try to prove yourself to anyone? Why sit around waiting to have your name cleared (which may never happen)?

There is an assumption here as to the content and focus of the book. Perhaps we should all wait to see what is actually published before we raise issues about it.

Posted by: Clay Mar 3 2007, 10:08 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 06:40 PM) ☐
>
> Clay,
>
> You believe who you want to, and I will do the same . . . there will be an end, in it, we will see. Can -you- provide any proof that it is a lie? Can you, Clay, offer any proof that there was no affair, no physical affair, no affair of the heart?
>
> If you can't that join me on the "no integrity" side . . . because if you can not substantiate your claim that I spoke a lie by providing anything - ANYTHING - other than Linda's "say-so" you claim that I am lying is nothing more than a breeze through the rushes.
>
> I have no axe to grind with you Clay - you know this - and I have yet to question your integrity, your character . . . I merely claim you have bought into a lie (just as you have me) . . . now if you are claiming I am "full of" God's love, forgiveness, and a desire to follow His leading then you are right . . . however, if you are claiming otherwise then maybe I should pull a Bob Pickle and demand an apology.
>
> - FHB

FHB.... you have repeated the LIE that Danny told.... if you weren't there you cannot say there was an affair.... now what does repeating a lie make you?

I have no ax to grind, I think you are wrong, and you have signed off on the mistreatment of a person..... that is my opinion.... I don't have to prove anything, and neither do I have anything to apologize for..... so don't hold your breath.....

Posted by: Brenda Mar 3 2007, 10:09 PM

This is quite off topic - but it would have been hard for Voltaire to follow Darwin as Voltaire died in 1778 and Darwin's theories came to light almost 80 years later.......who ever gave that sermon maybe should check some facts.

"It told how he "started" out a follower of Newton, a Christian, and how he "ended up" following Darwin. Yeah, he became a devout Atheist! Will that be your end? Are you already there?"

Posted by: Observer Mar 3 2007, 10:10 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Did you by chance hear Shawn Boonstra's message today? It was about (drum roll - drum roll) VOLTAIRE (Boo, Boo, Boo!)
>
> But of course you know all about him, don't you?
>
> It told how he "started" out a follower of Newton, a Christian, and how he "ended up" following > Darwin. Yeah, he became a devout Atheist! Will that be your end? Are you already there?

do not know what Shawn Boonstra actually said as I did nto hear it. But, if that is what he actually aid, I would ask:

) Have you ever read Voltaire? I have.

) Have you ever read an objective account of his relilgious development, practice, and experience. I ave.

s SB actually said that about Voltaire, his staement was simplistic, reflects a popular thinking of eople who have read very little, or nothing, of what he wrote, and in my opinion, is not an accirate tatement.

ut, that is OFF TOPIC for this thread. So, I will not develop that train of thought.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 10:12 PM

I respect the passion with which you speak.

A couple things to consider:

1. Sonshineonme stated in her post regarding my comment

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 09:04 PM)
>
> Preacher, prophetess, apostle, singer....when God has called you, no one can stop you.
>
> This may be for another thread, but I have to bring this issue back to light: Where do we get off believing that our ministry is ONLY for the SDA church? I keep hearing people talk about asking Adventist Churches to have Linda there....Linda can preach or sing wherever God tells her too---which according to Matthew 28 is supposed to be in all of the world.....and not just the Adventist church.
>
> There is a mission field to minister to outside of Adventism....

hat

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 3 2007, 09:10 PM)
>
> We talk about this and based on what she has said to me, I think Linda would agree with you completely.

. Many people bring in Independent/unknown Christian Artists to sing at their churches and minister. e certainly do here in Nashville (Adventist and 1st day) ---that is how people get to know who you re and your ministry. Most non-Adventist churches would more than likely (I would suspect--based n some experience) be more open to a new ministry and would know little to nothing about the details (fact and fiction) that are over three years old.

3. If Amy Grant and Sandi Patti can come back from their self-acknowledged issues, a person who states that they are innocent will definitely have a chance.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 3 2007, 10:34 PM)
>
> If someone you never heard of wanted to sing at your church-any church, do you think they would be checked out? Have you googled Linda Shelton?
>
> She has been branded for the world to see that she has been treated as a Harlot. Yeah, even to the OUTSIDE world! People choose not to have "accused" Harlots in their pulpits singing. You say that people can not stop other people. Think again!
>
> Are you saying that Tommy Shelton needs to be back at Kid's Time and 3ABN? Are you saying that Danny should just keep on keepin' on.
>
> I agree Linda doesn't need to keep her stuff Adventist. I totally agree! However, she has the right to decide whatever, period! Obviously God hasn't spoken to her the same instructions he has spoken to us. She can hear God just as clearly as any of us can! LET HER DO IT THE WAY GOD TELLS HER TO DO IT.
>
> She has had to figure out WHO SHE IS now and who she was then. Where did "she" go for 20 years? She has had to find a new normal. She has been dogged if she did and dogged if she didn't. Through all of this she has been quiet. So what if it takes her less or more time than others. Who is to determine what time is just right? She is! No one else.
>
> Is it really is bothering you that she does not do as you surmise she should, or what you feel God would want her to do! You can't do that and neither can I. Only God can speak to her and tell her what, when & where he wants her to do whatever.
>
> What I am trying to say is that we have not walked in her shoes and we should not try to at this late date. She is a big girl and can get on with gettin' on in the way God leads her.

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 10:38 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 08:48 PM)
>
> Fran,
>
> Your endless rants at the foot of the pedestal you place Linda on don't ring with truthfulness - but rather a way to vent your own internal struggles and anger at the church using Linda's life as your tool.
>
> I hate to disappoint you - but your dear Voltaire I am not. I have been prewarned of your conspiracy theory that I am such and have asked enough questions to know I am not. So, keep looking - you may find him/her one day.
>
> BTW, it isn't my truth. It is the truth that 3ABN will present just as Linda has begged for. When that time comes, she will be so appreciative of all the books you purchase.
> - FHB

How endearing of you. Did I push your button? Good! Was that last threatening comment for me or Linda? She doesn't read your smut or mine, you know? So it must be for me. I am not scared.

You will never be Voltaire! He was a great man ~ for a while. You, my dear, are only a very poor "wanna be". Carrying on conversations with yourself is really boring! There is no conspiracy theory! It is real. I have never told A-lethal you were the real Voltaire "wanna be". You did that in your bungling up your own cover! I was nice and did not expose you for what and who you really are.

Now for my threat; Do you want that to continue? Also, FYI, prewarned should read forewarned in your comments on the 2nd section of your post.

You fight for religious freedom, why are you not defending Linda's right? Who was it that said, "That contract was written in crayons"? Surely you know that answer? Right?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 10:38 PM

See Linda has a problem that other entertainers do not. Yes many of them have fallen, they've acknowledged it and have been forgiven and accepted again into churches. With Linda people think she has not only fallen, but lied about it and is continuing to lie about it. Others who have acknowledged their sins to the world have been able to be forgiven and start over, Linda does not have that option because she did not commit adultery but people think she did and is lying about it. If she were to say she did it, in other words lie about it, then people could forgive her and she could move on easier. Danny has really put her between a rock and a hard place, it's very hard to move on when people assume you are guility and have not asked for forgiveness.

(The above is based on my assumption that she is innocent of course)

Posted by: calvin Mar 3 2007, 10:42 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 3 2007, 10:02 PM)
>
> There is an assumption here as to the content and focus of the book. Perhaps we should all wait to see what is actually published before we raise issues about it.

True, won't know until it is published. Maybe she can write a self-help book for women without taking stabs at Danny. But if the book is about restoring my name, I did not commit adultery, my side of the divorce, here is my shot to get even, well . This will be more of the he said/she said three years after the divorce. Who really is going to give a flip but the diehard Lindanites...and I hope there will be enough of you to buy it so she can make a few bucks.

This letter here and on her website tells me this someone who wants to restore her name.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 3 2007, 10:42 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 04:16 PM)
>
> Are you serious?????? GOD doesn't need anyone but himself to launch a ministry....even within the SDA church. Neither the SDA church nor Oakwood was behind Take 6 and they were very successful and received by the people---we were just happy that "one of our own" made it....

While this may be true....Oakwood and the SDA church ain't said nothing about their "support" through tithes and the "trust" they sat up at Oakwood....

☒ sn

Posted by: Fran Mar 3 2007, 10:52 PM

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Mar 3 2007, 10:09 PM)
>
> This is quite off topic - but it would have been hard for Voltaire to follow Darwin as Voltaire died in 1778 and Darwin's theories came to light almost 80 years later.......who ever gave that sermon maybe should check some facts.

I am probably the one that needs to be checked!. I will watch It is written again. I probably heard it wrong. I accept that you are right and I am wrong.

Voltaire was great in that he caused people to ask questions, but he ended up very far from a Christian. He was famous for arguing both sides of an issue. I found him very interesting today as I did in law classes years ago.

I would still encourage everyone to watch the program. It was a great program!

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 10:53 PM

Hezekiah Walker....

http://www.truthorfiction.com/rumors/h/hezekiah-walker.htm

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=8215

People still think that he is lying....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 3 2007, 11:38 PM)
>
> See Linda has a problem that other entertainers do not. Yes many of them have fallen, they've acknowledged it and have been forgiven and accepted again into churches. With Linda people think she has not only fallen, but lied about it and is continuing to lie about it. Others who have acknowledged their sins to the world have been able to be forgiven and start over, Linda does not have that option because she did not commit adultery but people think she did and is lying about it. If she were to say she did it, in other words lie about it, then people could forgive her and she > could move on easier. Danny has really put her between a rock and a hard place, it's very hard to move on when people assume you are guility and have not asked for forgiveness.

>
> (The above is based on my assumption that she is innocent of course)

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 11:00 PM

Maybe some people think he's lying, however the site that that published that he was gay says it was a hoax and they were lying. If Danny were to say he was lying it would make it much easier for Linda. Also I can't to to truthorfiction.com and find out it was a lie.

Apples to oranges

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 11:53 PM)
>
> Hezekiah Walker....
>
> http://www.truthorfiction.com/rumors/h/hezekiah-walker.htm
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=8215
>
> People still think that he is lying....

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 3 2007, 11:04 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 4 2007, 12:38 AM)
>
> I have never told A-lethal you were the real Voltaire "wanna be". You did that in your bungling up your own cover! I was nice and did not expose you for what and who you really are.
>
> You fight for religious freedom, why are you not defending Linda's right? Who was it that said, "That contract was written in crayons"? Surely you know that answer? Right?

ran,

Hmmm, I never mentioned you saying a word to Aleathia (I assume that your misspelling is either he fact you haven't slept for awhile or an intentional backhanded swipe), where did you get that? I m wondering why you make such a statement since I never mentioned you saying anything to nyone in particular. I merely said that I had been forewarned of your ridiculous theory.

Vhose cover-up has been exposed? I wonder. Hmmm. I don't practice law (which brings on another hhhmmm" you pointed out that you are an accountant yourself and not a practicing attorney, which egs the question how you would be so "informed" when it comes to finance law enabling you to accurately" interpret the legal docs in the case between 3ABN and the State of Illinois) so the nsinuation that I "fight for religious freedom" gives us some insight into who you think I am . . . and a number of individuals can tell you, you are not even out in left field, you're out past the outfield wall, the bleachers, the street outside the stadium, even the city the stadium is in. Thanks for tipping your hand. Also, that phrase sounds familiar, need to do some searching - will let you know if anything is found.

- FHB

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 3 2007, 11:21 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 03:52 PM)
>
> Then please answer FHB's question. How could anything he said decrease DS popularity?
> Since you have said you don't know either person, your statement seems somewhat, lopsided.
> Wouldn't it be more fair if you said "if Danny can broadcast lies about Linda to the world, why can't Linda tell her Lies?
> Any other way of putting it is saying everything he says is lies while everything she says is the gospel truth.

Bystander you of ALL people have some nerve suggesting that anyone else is telling lies. You have NO CREDIBILITY here... get the hence

---

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 3 2007, 11:36 PM

Only one of them--the original source of the info has not removed the allegation, is standing behind it, and is not to my knowledge being sued. http://www.mediatakeout.com/exclusive8.html

One the other extreme, we can also consider James Cleveland...who did deny that he was gay...and when he died we all learned differently. Point is his ministry went forward with the cloud surrounding him, and he is considered one of the most well-respected writers and artists in the Gospel field...

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 4 2007, 12:00 AM)
>
> Maybe some people think he's lying, however the site that that published that he was gay says it was a hoax and they were lying. If Danny were to say he was lying it would make it much easier for Linda. Also I can't to to truthorfiction.com and find out it was a lie.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 12:12 AM

Fair enough....and then

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 03:56 PM)
>
> Well... this is what Linda herself says on her website......

> > I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)
>
> I suppose there will be a lot of speculating about it. But we won't really know until it is out and we read it for ourselves.

he question remains (at least for me) why a book at all--regardless? This is not about what one can o or has a right to do---because she certainly does. It is about how it may come across in the minds f those Christians when it is a complete contradiction to what was originally on the site (i.e. i have noved on).

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 3 2007, 11:02 PM)
>
> There is an assumption here as to the content and focus of the book. Perhaps we should all wait to see what is actually published before we raise issues about it.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 4 2007, 12:25 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 07:02 PM)
>
> L4T,
>
> You are right, it is up to the accuser. This thread has been weaving back and forth around ideas that arise from the original post. My post was to Clay in regards to the fact he called me a liar. Linda has made claims against Danny, via her surrogates, - without substantiated proof and in this thread I have focused on her claim that she can't work because of Danny. She, through her surrogates, should be able to provide the proof to substantiate her claim.
>
> - FHB

lobody jumped on this?

echnique used in this post by FHB:
witch roles. In other words, pretend the debate was about Linda's accusations to Danny, when it was lways about Danny's accusations of Linda.

Danny says Linda had an affair. Linda denies that. Does that make her the accuser?

I wouldn't accuse you of being a liar, but I will accuse you of coming here to muddy the waters, stir up debate, and cause contention.

Grab hold of anything you can. The problems at 3ABN are a lot bigger than Danny-vs-Linda anyway.

***

I don't think she had an affair, but that doesn't mean she was wise in all aspects of her relationships. Moreover, if there are other kinds of corruption at 3ABN, it probably started a lot longer ago than 2004 ...

But to stay on topic ... sex abuse is rampant in the Adventist Church. (Emotional abuse, even more so, but it's harder to prove.) If Linda's book in any way 1) blows the lid off 2) helps victims recover or 3) draws attention to abuse in the church in any way so that we can grow beyond it, it will be a book worth buying.

I'll buy it. Heck, I'll buy one for me and one for each of my churches' libraries.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 4 2007, 12:44 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 3 2007, 07:37 PM)
>
> To be blunt: it is O.K. for Linda to go to worship in the SDA Christian church, sit in the pew, and have a global ministry where she can proclaim the 3 Angels Message to the world, leaving the past behind--without writing a book. Why try to prove yourself to anyone? Why sit around waiting to have your name cleared (which may never happen)?
>
> Maybe this is the "Chicago Black Girl" in me but I agree with Dr. Maya Angelou..."Still I Rise" in spite of....God is not going to let anything or anyone destroy his chosen without answering for it...ask Elisha about the "she-bears". Stop being a victim. Rise and claim the authority that God has given and move forward.

Part of Dr. Maya Angelou's rise out of her own personal victimization has been through her writing!!!! I don't see why so many are apprehensive about Linda writing a book for goodness sakes. Perhaps God has put a burden on her heart to do so. Perhaps this is her "moving forward".

I decided not to write a book about my devastating experiences as a naive student missionary because at the time I didn't want to sully the SDA mission program. I have always regretted that decision.

PB

Posted by: watchbird Mar 4 2007, 12:51 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 4 2007, 01:12 AM)
>
> The question remains (at least for me) why a book at all--regardless? This is not about what one can do or has a right to do---because she certainly does. It is about how it may come across in the > minds of those Christians when it is a complete contradiction to what was originally on the site (i.e. i have moved on).

here is no contradiction between having "moved on" and writing your story. In fact, one cannot really vrite one's story until one has not only "moved on" but has gone through the healing process so as to e able to look at the experiences in an objective manner. And it is books like this which are key to elping other victims recognize and deal with their life problems.

think she suggests this as a reason for writing on her site now when she refers to what she has earned from Mabel Dunbar and her experiences with Polly's Place.... that abuse victims who escape he abuse, grow and heal from it, can be a help to others who are still caught in abuse cycles to ecognize their problems, escape and/or deal with the issues, and grow and heal.

second reason why Linda would write a book is that she is by nature a writer... and writers are mpelled to write. What you may not know as background to all of this is that Linda was under contract vith one of our publishing houses to write a devotional type book, and had it nearly completed, at the ime of her dismissal from 3abn. Unfortunately, not only did the publisher which had the contract with er cancel the contract in view of the accusations against her, but she also lost the nearly finished nanuscript when she was prevented from taking her computer with her when she was barred from her ffice. As I understand it, when she was finally allowed to take the computer the manuscript was one. Whether it was ever returned to her, I do not know.

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 01:00 AM

> QUOTE
>
> You are right, it is up to the accuser. This thread has been weaving back and forth around ideas that arise from the original post. My post was to Clay in regards to the fact he called me a liar. Linda has made claims against Danny, via her surrogates, - without substantiated proof and in this thread I have focused on her claim that she can't work because of Danny. She, through her surrogates, should be able to provide the proof to substantiate her claim.

FHB

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 4 2007, 12:25 AM)
>
> Nobody jumped on this?
>
> Technique used in this post by FHB:
>
> Switch roles. In other words, pretend the debate was about Linda's accusations to Danny, when it was always about Danny's accusations of Linda.
>
> Danny says Linda had an affair. Linda denies that. Does that make her the accuser?
>
> I wouldn't accuse you of being a liar, but I will accuse you of coming here to muddy the waters, stir up debate, and cause contention.

> Grab hold of anything you can. The problems at 3ABN are a lot bigger than Danny-vs-Linda anyway.
>
> ****
>
> I don't think she had an affair, but that doesn't mean she was wise in all aspects of her relationships. Moreover, if there are other kinds of corruption at 3ABN, it probably started a lot longer ago than 2004 ...
>
> But to stay on topic ... sex abuse is rampant in the Adventist Church. (Emotional abuse, even more so, but it's harder to prove.) If Linda's book in any way 1) blows the lid off 2) helps victims recover or 3) draws attention to abuse in the church in any way so that we can grow beyond it, it will be a book worth buying.
>
> I'll buy it. Heck, I'll buy one for me and one for each of my churches' libraries.

got the blinks! This is an old habit of FHB's. He argues both sides and can't remember hat side he is defending at the moment! I'm glad someone sees it too. Maybe others will ee it too!

ow go to where he states Linda is guilty of adultery and will be exposed when Danny hows up in court with the evidence!

am quite disgusted with FHB. You should hear him when he uses the same scripture to enigrate both sides. God's word was not meant to be used in such a way, ever!

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 01:12 AM

Fair enough....

Again--and this is just for me, I admired the way that Linda stated that she was handling things....and had moved on....

I am sorry that you had a horrible experience as a student missionary.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 4 2007, 01:44 AM)
>
> Part of Dr. Maya Angelou's rise out of her own personal victimization has been through her writing!!!! I don't see why so many are apprehensive about Linda writing a book for goodness sakes. Perhaps God has put a burden on her heart to do so. Perhaps this is her "moving forward".
>
> I decided not to write a book about my devastating experiences as a naive student missionary because at the time I didn't want to sully the SDA mission program. I have always regretted that decision.
>
> PB

ictims---Survivors do indeed write and journal as a release to give voice to their grief....but not all ublish them, or under these circumstances. Even in Maya Angelou's case (different post), the olester had not only been prosecuted but was also dead.

I feel sorry for her losing the manuscript and the opportunity to publish the devotional.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 4 2007, 01:51 AM)
>
> There is no contradiction between having "moved on" and writing your story. In fact, one cannot really write one's story until one has not only "moved on" but has gone through the healing process so as to be able to look at the experiences in an objective manner. And it is books like this which are key to helping other victims recognize and deal with their life problems.
>
> I think she suggests this as a reason for writing on her site now when she refers to what she has learned from Mabel Dunbar and her experiences with Polly's Place.... that abuse victims who escape the abuse, grow and heal from it, can be a help to others who are still caught in abuse cycles to recognize their problems, escape and/or deal with the issues, and grow and heal.
>
> A second reason why Linda would write a book is that she is by nature a writer... and writers are impelled to write. What you may not know as background to all of this is that Linda was under contract with one of our publishing houses to write a devotional type book, and had it nearly completed, at the time of her dismissal from 3abn. Unfortunately, not only did the publisher which had the contract with her cancel the contract in view of the accusations against her, but she also lost the nearly finished manuscript when she was prevented from taking her computer with her when she was barred from her office. As I understand it, when she was finally allowed to take the computer the manuscript was gone. Whether it was ever returned to her, I do not know.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 01:39 AM

[quote name='Fran' post='182098' date='Mar 3 2007, 07:25 PM']
[b]This is to everyone;

I will buy Linda's book! I will read every word.

I would imagine you read The Enquirer too

I would not give a book written by Kay Kuzma, Danny Shelton, Brenda Walsh, Hal or Mollie Steenson, or Walt to my enemies!

So all of those people lie as well as ASI, as well as the Board, as well as anyone who believes Linda is guilty..........But......Linda doesn't lie.

I can't wait to read Linda's book. It will be a positive reflection of something VERY BAD! I will share it with everyone that would like to read it! I will try to make sure every Adventist University and College has a copy in their libraries!

How do you know what it will be?

Danny sells his books for a HUGH profit.

Why shouldn't Linda?

Danny's books are about showing the world what we believe as adventists and why we believe it. He hasn't written a "tell all" book about what he says happened between him and Linda, and he won't. Huge difference.

Danny made millions....

Millions? Did you just grab that out of the air? Hardly. It would be nice if he did but he didn't.

Linda's recovery is very important to every abused woman alive!

If the way she was treated was abuse, every woman should be so lucky.

Recovery comes when the victims talk about what happened!

Then DS should be telling so much more than what he has....maybe it would help him deal with all the hurt and humiliation that she has caused him..

I would like to see a book like you describe, but you will be so disappointed. Your judgments are from what YOU would do, and what YOU HAVE ALREADY DONE!

How do you know? You have made several statements and really went on a pro Linda rampage for someone who claims she doesn't know Linda.

I think her book should tell all! It needs to be published to give others the courage to speak up and maintain some sort of sanity! Recovery does not happen until it is spoken and worked through!

You sound desperate for dirt, regardless, if it is the truth or not. So, you believe, that everything in her book will be the gospel truth but everybody else is lying? If you are that gullible, I've got some beach front property in Nebraska.......

Before you say something snide about the Dr's LOVE for Linda, I am not talking of the type of LOVE you think you understand. I am talking about the TRUE LOVE OF GOD!

Right, with the true love of God, she wouldn't have had to have DS affirmation or the Docs, who was her best friend while she was married.

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 01:41 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 4 2007, 12:44 AM) ☐
>
> Part of Dr. Maya Angelou's rise out of her own personal victimization has been through her writing!!!! I don't see why so many are apprehensive about Linda writing a book for goodness sakes. Perhaps God has put a burden on her heart to do so. Perhaps this is her "moving forward".
>
> I decided not to write a book about my devastating experiences as a naive student missionary because at the time I didn't want to sully the SDA mission program. I have always regretted that decision.
>
> PB

PB;

It is never too late! People need to hear so they can use what we have learned to better know how to face different situations. Make sure that what happened to you, never happens to another student missionary.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 02:31 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 4 2007, 12:51 AM)
>
> A second reason why Linda would write a book is that she is by nature a writer... and writers are impelled to write. What you may not know as background to all of this is that Linda was under contract with one of our publishing houses to write a devotional type book, and had it nearly completed, at the time of her dismissal from 3abn. Unfortunately, not only did the publisher which had the contract with her cancel the contract in view of the accusations against her, but she also lost the nearly finished manuscript when she was prevented from taking her computer with her when she was barred from her office. As I understand it, when she was finally allowed to take the computer the manuscript was gone. Whether it was ever returned to her, I do not know.

Is this yet, another accusation wb? Why not? It goes along with, the break in at her house, forged documents, tampering with emails, Abuse, Garwin M's "thingy" that could trace where she was flying to, (johann's words) being black balled from employment/ ministry, being mistreated by the board, being mistreated by the T'ville church, being betrayed by her best friend.....shall I go on? If she has taken the "high road" in all of this, how do we "know" all of these things that supposedly took place? She must be tellin' somebody!! That definitely doesn't sound like that she has been keeping quiet, nor does it sound like that she doesn't have the "help me, I'm an innocent victim" syndrome. Quite the opposite. I'm with Calvin. You all are giving DS too much credit for control. WB you and other Linda-nites describe DS and his family like the "mafia." Everything and everyone is corrupt and they even have hired "hoods" to break and enter for them. rofl It's a shame that they don't know they have all the power that you give them credit for. If they knew it, maybe they could have Linda banished to another country. Possibly....Norway.... Then maybe all the false accusations would stop.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 08:17 AM

Does one have to leave the SDA church, simply because their minstry is being used to minister to those outside of it?

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 09:24 AM)
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.
>
> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent > on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".

>
> Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.
>
> And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.
>
> In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.
>
> Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 4 2007, 08:18 AM

I agree with you wwjd, this whole thing sounds pretty far fetched, so far fetched that no one would be able to make it all up. You know the saying, truth is stranger than fiction? In this case I think it is.

BTW you and BS taking turns at the computer in the middle of the night? Out late and just got back home or what?

Richard

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 03:31 AM)
>
> Is this yet, another accusation wb? Why not? It goes along with, the break in at her house, forged documents, tampering with emails, Abuse, Garwin M's "thingy" that could trace where she was flying to, (johann's words) being black balled from employment/ ministry, being mistreated by the board, being mistreated by the T'ville church, being betrayed by her best friend.....shall I go on? If she has taken the "high road" in all of this, how do we "know" all of these things that supposedly took place? She must be tellin' somebody!! That definitely doesn't sound like that she has been keeping quiet, nor does it sound like that she doesn't have the "help me, I'm an innocent victim" syndrome. Quite the opposite. I'm with Calvin. You all are giving DS too much credit for control. WB you and other Linda-nites describe DS and his family like the "mafia." Everything and everyone is > corrupt and they even have hired "hoods" to break and enter for them. rofl It's a shame that they don't know they have all the power that you give them credit for. If they knew it, maybe they could have Linda banished to another country. Possibly....Norway.... Then maybe all the false accusations would stop.

Posted by: Clay Mar 4 2007, 08:24 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 4 2007, 08:17 AM) ☐
>
> Does one have to leave the SDA church, simply because their minstry is being used to minister to those outside of it?

jood question.... and the answer would be no..... remembering back when Take 6 first took off, they vere doing gigs outside of the church primarily because there was more acceptance... remember SS hey (those in the church) were even reluctant to admit that Take 6 was apart of the church, they vere dissed by the administration at Oakwood during those times.... but the Lord blessed in spite of....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 4 2007, 08:46 AM

I think the 1st time I heard Take 6 they were on prairie Home Companion with Garrison Kieller. I remember them saying they were from Oakwood college and I was so proud of them. Thanks for bringing back that memory

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 AM) ☐
>
> good question.... and the answer would be no..... remembering back when Take 6 first took off, they were doing gigs outside of the church primarily because there was more acceptance... remember SS they (those in the church) were even reluctant to admit that Take 6 was apart of the church, they were dissed by the administration at Oakwood during those times.... but the Lord blessed in spite of....

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 08:49 AM

Exactly....so shake the dust and take your ministry where it will have a voice while God handles things....the reality is that by trying to clear onself, it generally has the adverse affect....But when God clears you, no one can touch you.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 AM) ☐

> good question.... and the answer would be no..... remembering back when Take 6 first took off, they were doing gigs outside of the church primarily because there was more acceptance... remember SS they (those in the church) were even reluctant to admit that Take 6 was apart of the church, they were dissed by the administration at Oakwood during those times.... but the Lord blessed in spite of....

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 4 2007, 08:49 AM)
>
> Exactly....so shake the dust and take your ministry where it will have a voice while God handles things....the reality is that by trying to clear onself, it generally has the adverse affect....But when God clears you, no one can touch you.

SS, you have made some very solid points and given sound advice. It will not be heeded. Everyone that "knew" Linda had no doubts that as soon as her checks from 3abn stopped coming, she would write her "tell all" version of things. Everyone also knew that it would be cloaked in scripture and decked out with all the right phrases (I have forgiven those involved and only want the best for the ministry) along with, what she has learned from being a "victim" that she can share with others.
Oh yes, if there had been a "wager" pool around the office, of will she, or won't she, it would have flopped. Why? Because no one would have made the bet that she wouldn't.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 4 2007, 09:49 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 AM)
>
> good question.... and the answer would be no..... remembering back when Take 6 first took off, they were doing gigs outside of the church primarily because there was more acceptance... remember SS they (those in the church) were even reluctant to admit that Take 6 was apart of the church, they were dissed by the administration at Oakwood during those times.... but the Lord blessed in spite of....

My impression, of this whole fiasco, is that "the powers that be" are taking an active part, particularly in their silence, in driving Linda out of the church. Even though she has every right to continue to serve God as He leads, just remember "the powers that be", in and out of church leadership, seem to have determined that Linda Shelton is expendable, for lack of a better term. If Linda continues to work in ministry anything she does, that is not supported by the church hierarchy will eventually be called an "offshoot". Which will support the cause of her detractors to claim they are the, if not a, true face of Adventism.

Mark these words. Linda Sheltons blood, and the blood of countless others, is on your hands.

Posted by: Clay Mar 4 2007, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 4 2007, 09:49 AM) ☐
>
> My impression, of this whole fiasco, is that "the powers that be" are taking an active part, particularly in their silence, in driving Linda out of the church. Even though she has every right to continue to serve God as He leads, just remember "the powers that be", in and out of church leadership, seem to have determined that Linda Shelton is expendable, for lack of a better term. If Linda continues to work in ministry anything she does, that is not supported by the church hierarchy will eventually be called an "offshoot". Which will support the cause of her detractors to claim they are the, if not a, true face of Adventism.
>
> Mark these words. Linda Sheltons blood, and the blood of countless others, is on your hands.

sometimes you gotta be an offshoot..... if God has given the gift then you must do his will without permission or apology... and the powers that be can continue to do what they do....... hope they are ready to face the music, they will be in that line with Pilate, those Pharisees, and others who stood by while injuring those God would have edify the church...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 4 2007, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 10:06 AM) ☐
>
> ... Everyone that "knew"... Everyone also knew...

Everone here knows that wwjd does not have a problem lying... get thee hence

---

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 10:03 AM

I have to actually agree with you here....however I would probably call it independent ministry or private business.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 4 2007, 10:57 AM) ☐
>
> sometimes you gotta be an offshoot..... if God has given the gift then you must do his will without permission or apology... and the powers that be can continue to do what they do....... hope they are ready to face the music, they will be in that line with Pilate, those Pharisees, and others who stood by while injuring those God would have edify the church...

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 4 2007, 02:27 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 4 2007, 10:57 AM)
>
> sometimes you gotta be an offshoot..... if God has given the gift then you must do his will without permission or apology... and the powers that be can continue to do what they do....... hope they are ready to face the music, they will be in that line with Pilate, those Pharisees, and others who stood by while injuring those God would have edify the church...

Tru dat...

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 4 2007, 02:45 PM

Very good points that have been overlooked ....

Question is do we need to clear our name or let God?

> QUOTE(lurker @ Mar 3 2007, 09:09 AM)
>
> Regardless of my "lurker"name here, I am a woman. I plan on buying Linda's book. But you know even if I didn't I think this situation is one of the things that will be gone over during the millennium when the books are gone over in heaven and all the behind the scenes things are explained. It will be one of many things. Not all of them about our current lifetimes obviously. God isn't going to "let all these things go".
>
> What has been testified to can't be chalked up to a difference of opinion. Someone is deliberately lying. Lying about more than one thing. Lying about things that don't even matter. I wouldn't want to be the liar when God finally reveals all. While going over this in heaven would be interesting and informative for all, knowing now what has happened and is happening influences our behavior as a church or should influence it toward the situation now. I think this is important.
>
> People seem to really admire the sexually active these days. Frankly, the men are admired and looked upon as "studs". Women who violate church standards are treated entirely differently. The promiscuous women are forgiven but talked about. But both the guilty and the innocent women who are talked about seem to have lost their rights to say no. To protect yourself, you have to speak up and clear yourself.

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> Is this yet, another accusation wb?
>
> \- - -
>
> Garwin M's "thingy" that could trace where she was flying to, (johann's words)
>
> \- - -

I was only quoting a certain Mr. Danny Shelton on this point. Are you telling me now that he was lying?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 08:59 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 03:32 PM)
>
> I was only quoting a certain Mr. Danny Shelton on this point. Are you telling me now that he was lying?

I am telling you that you quote as many misquotes as Pickle, and that is saying something.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 09:08 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 3 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> The facts are true. Linda was asked multiple times by numerous people to reconsider the path she was on, she didn't, it lead to her being given an ultimatum, she still made her choice. When are you going to admit that she had more than one choice in the matter? When are you going to accept that she is responsible for the paper she signed, the decisions she made, the course she charted. No one told her to make those choices, no one made her make them - she, Linda Shelton, made those choices and now she has to navigate the waters she choose to sail in.
>
> Be a friend to her, convince her to own up to things the way they are instead of blaming, blaming, blaming and trying to play on the sympathies of everyone ear she can get a hold of. She alone is in control of her future - she can choose to slip her hand into God's and walk the path of life from here on with him as her guide or she can continue to look backward and cry over spilt milk.
>
> - FHB

Dear Fallible Kay-Clone,

One can read the original remarks from the original writer instead of your paraphrase of the same. You have become a mere redundancy of the original author, or of yourself, perhaps. You regurgitate pseudo-factoids like a force-fed goose being fattened for market.

Obvious the Big Danny Plan is not working or you would not be here; It has been a big fiasco from the beginning. So, don't see yourself qualified to give me instructions - you're not qualified to even sharpen my pencils.

Now, get off that computer because Bystander and WWJD probably have something else worthy of a Pulitzer Prize that they need to post before dawn.

Your regurgitated insights are one big yawn.

Attached Image

Pete

Posted by: Ralph Mar 4 2007, 09:19 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 4 2007, 08:08 PM)
>
> Obvious the Big Danny Plan is not working or you would not be here; It has been a big fiasco from the beginning.

Pete, I feel a sense of desperation.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 4 2007, 09:08 PM)
>
> Dear Fallible Kay-Clone,
>
> Obvious the Big Danny Plan [color=#CC0000]is not working or you would not be here;[/color It has been a big fiasco from the beginning. So, don't see yourself qualified to give me instructions - you're not qualified to even sharpen my pencils.
>
> Now, get off that computer because Bystander and WWJD probably have something else worthy of a Pulitzer Prize that they need to post before dawn.
>
> Pete

Wow, rather nasty little post, Pete. You made use of some big words, for you. You state the plan is not working or FHB wouldn't be here. Lets turn that right around then, and say if LS plan was working you wouldn't be here. That statement has no merit at all.
Oh, and a PULITZER PRIZE? Thank you, so much, for the compliment. Maybe we will submit some of our Best Posts......

Posted by: Lee Mar 4 2007, 09:20 PM

Pete, why are you so scared of fallible?

Last time I checked anyone could come on this forum, so don't tell FHB to leave--won't work. Guess you can go back into your scared mode now.

Bye

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 4 2007, 11:08 PM)
>
> Dear Fallible Kay-Clone,
> . . .
> Pete

PP,

When are you Lindaites just going to give it up and realize that there are numerous individuals who see right through you and those you associate with who are dedicated to bringing down a ministry of God's design.

Danny didn't send me here, doesn't know me . . . I am here because I was looking for all sides of the story . . . and unfortunately I haven't found much of substance here.

Panama, if you are interested you can sharpen my pencils. I don't care if you were duped, I will give you a break, a second chance.

As far as redundancy, regurgitation . . . well, Pete, my comments are the results of phone calls I paid for, emails I sent, research I did . . . as opposed to just accepting what someone says as the truth because I have a personal vendetta against an individual or ministry.

- FHB

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 4 2007, 11:19 PM)
>
> Pete, I feel a sense of desperation.

Ralph,

You are right about desperation, but not so when it comes to the side of the issue you might attribute it to.

The "little group" is desperate to win their case in the court of public opinion. This would be the most factual case of desperation.

Mr. Bob Pickle, Mr. Gailon A. Joy, Mr. Gregory Matthews, and Ms. Linda Shelton-Moore (aka, the small group) are desperate to have their case tried in the court of public opinion because if they can do any damage to 3ABN, especially financial damage, it won't matter to them if they lose in the courts of the land. Linda claims to want the evidence that 3ABN has revealed, all the while she has her team (Joy/Pickle and Matthews) post as much as possible, send out as many emails as possible, add to the G. A. Joy owned web site as much as possible, make as many calls as possible, pressure as many individuals as possible, threaten as many as possible, intimidate as many as possible, and hope their surrogates will direct as many people as possible to their NatEnq style web site as possible . . . all in the hopes that they can effectively execute their scorched earth policy in order to do as much public damage as possible.

This is desperation Ralph, but God will protect and in the end the truth will prevail.

- FHB

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 4 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> but God will protect and in the end the truth will prevail.
> - FHB

Absolutely right.

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 10:37 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 4 2007, 09:08 PM)
>
> Dear Fallible Kay-Clone,
>
> One can read the original remarks from the original writer instead of your paraphrase of the same. You have become a mere redundancy of the original author, or of yourself, perhaps. You regurgitate pseudo-factoids like a force-fed goose being fattened for market.
>
> Obvious the Big Danny Plan is not working or you would not be here; It has been a big fiasco from the beginning. So, don't see yourself qualified to give me instructions - you're not qualified to even sharpen my pencils.
>
> Now, get off that computer because Bystander and WWJD probably have something else worthy of a Pulitzer Prize that they need to post before dawn.
>
> Your regurgitated insights are one big yawn.
>
> Attached Image
>
> Pete

Pete;

Thank you for your post. I am still laughing! One thing for sure ~ you have given FHB a run for his money in the vocabulary race! rofl Those Adjectives are GREAT!

You'll have to excuse me! I just had a fix of chocolate!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 4 2007, 10:51 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> I was only quoting a certain Mr. Danny Shelton on this point. Are you telling me now that he was lying?

Johann,
If you still have the email where Danny mentions the "thingy", perhaps it would be prudent to post it so that wwjd and Bystander could face some truth and readers could once again see their lies.

PB

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 10:55 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> When are you Lindaites just going to give it up and realize that there are numerous individuals who see right through you and those you associate with who are dedicated to bringing down a ministry of God's design.
>
> Danny didn't send me here, doesn't know me . . . I am here because I was looking for all sides of the story . . . and unfortunately I haven't found much of substance here.
>
> Panama, if you are interested you can sharpen my pencils. I don't care if you were duped, I will give you a break, a second chance.
>
> As far as redundancy, regurgitation . . . well, Pete, my comments are the results of phone calls I paid for, emails I sent, research I did . . . as opposed to just accepting what someone says as the truth because I have a personal vendetta against an individual or ministry.
>
> - FHB

Why are you being such a bad boy? Pete is a GOOD guy he wears a white hat!! (Where is the emoticon of a cowboy with the 10 gal hat?)

> QUOTE
>
> Danny didn't send me here, doesn't know me . . . I am here because I was looking for all sides of the story . . . and unfortunately I haven't found much of substance here.

How true, how true! Now look in your mirror and see if you have a BIG U on your forhead! ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

---

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 4 2007, 11:00 PM

Fran, at least there's only a couple regular ultracrepidarians that post around here. BTW, what do you call a pedantic person who engages in elaborate arguments about minor things?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 4 2007, 11:12 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 4 2007, 09:00 PM) ☐
>
> Fran, at least there's only a couple regular ultracrepidarians that post around here. BTW, what do you call a pedantic person who engages in elaborate arguments about minor things?

Answer? Quodlibertarian

and add desperate feeling loss of control angry mean spirited jealous bitter disturbed emotional unbalanced
did I say feeling loss of control?

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 4 2007, 11:17 PM

Ahha!

quodlibetarian: someone who constructs elaborate arguments about the fine points of any subject just for the pleasure of arguing; a troll

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 11:19 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 PM) ☐
>
> PP,

> I will give you a break, a second chance.
>
> - FHB

hank you for the thought, but I have other plans.

ete

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 4 2007, 11:24 PM

Sonshineonme, and the disorder in which one remembers events that never happened?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 4 2007, 11:29 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 4 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> Sonshineonme, and the disorder in which one remembers events that never happened?

nswer? paramnesia

ve have a few around here who might need some therapy for these things.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 4 2007, 11:29 PM)
>
> answer? paramnesia
>
> we have a few around here who might need some therapy for these things.

ome situations can also involve confabulation.

ttp://www.memorylossonline.com/pastissues/summer2000/confabulation.html

These patients suffer from a disorder called confabulation, which produces inaccurate nemories ranging from "subtle alternations to bizarre fabrications," DeLuca says.'

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 4 2007, 11:47 PM

And what's it called when you put the fear of God in someone who's afraid of being afraid?

BTW, I like that Pete...confabulations!

Posted by: roxe Mar 4 2007, 11:50 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> Ms. Linda Shelton-Moore

huh??

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 4 2007, 11:56 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 4 2007, 09:47 PM)
>
> And what's it called when you put the fear of God in someone who's afraid of being afraid?

wake up call?
a miracle??
last chance???

> QUOTE(roxe @ Mar 4 2007, 09:50 PM)
>
> huh??

Actually, they have it wrong (as usual).
She was a Moore BEFORE she was a Shelton.
Therefore, it would be Linda Moore-Shelton.

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 11:57 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 4 2007, 11:17 PM)
>
> Ahha!
>
> quodlibetarian: someone who constructs elaborate arguments about the fine points of any subject just for the pleasure of arguing; a troll

Well, considering I am not a Wordsmith in any sense of the word, it seems to me, both you and Sonshineonme have discovered what we have here.

FHB, educate me please. Does this describe you and your persona group?

Bystander, which ones apply to you & DS.

Hey, Maybe it is true, "Birds of a feather flock together"?

I believe I have a one word description of both of you guys, XXXXXXXXXX, but I can't spell it out here! Sorry.

Posted by: roxe Mar 5 2007, 12:11 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 4 2007, 10:56 PM)
>
> Actually, they have it wrong (as usual).
> She was a Moore BEFORE she was a Shelton.
> Therefore, it would be Linda Moore-Shelton.

thanks, sonshine!
they're "blowin in the wind" again, eh??
been reading all these posts tonite... wow, sure is getting twisted n sick, showing true colors... so glad Rev 20 is coming... and evil can do NOTHING to stop it!!!!!!

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 5 2007, 12:36 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 09:20 PM)
>
> You state the plan is not working or FHB wouldn't be here. Lets turn that right around then, and say if LS plan was working you wouldn't be here.

Let's not.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:04 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 5 2007, 06:14 AM)
>
> Ralph,
>
> You are right about desperation,
> - - -

> This is desperation Ralph, but God will protect and in the end the truth will prevail.
>
> - FHB

ou remind me of a good sermon our pastor preached last Sabbath. He gave many samples of people elieving they had the truth, but in the end they were wrong and many lives were lost.

agree with you that truth will prevail. It is quite interesting to discover how more and more nfluential leaders in the Seventh-day Adventist Church are now expressing their conviction that ecause of what has happened and his behavior, Mr. Danny Shelton has to disappear in order to save ABN. Several of these express that is was when Danny married again so soon that they had no more oubts of Linda's innocence.

es, even if most of what you have said seems fallible, you have turned in the right direction when ou state that truth will prevail in the end.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 5 2007, 07:47 AM)
>
> And what's it called when you put the fear of God in someone who's afraid of being afraid?
>
> BTW, I like that Pete...confabulations!

eep write on ridin' that bike of yours, Lawrence. Keeps you in trims.

Posted by: lurker Mar 6 2007, 09:39 AM

The Questions section of Linda's website has been updated.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 6 2007, 12:24 PM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Mar 6 2007, 09:39 AM)
>
> The Questions section of Linda's website has been updated.

hanks, lurker.

noticed this on LS's updated website.

. What about the illegally taped phone conversation? What were the contents of this onversation?
. Dan marched into the house one day in May of 2004, just days before we parted, and announced hat he had "proof." He made a big deal about recording a cell phone conversation I had earlier in the ay as I was driving to West Frankfort from Thompsonville. He said it was recorded by private nvestigators. I do not remember every detail of the conversation, but I do remember that I did not eel ashamed of what was said that day in the conversation. But I was again convinced Dan was not hinking or acting normally, as I had felt for some time.

llinois State Law:

> 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-1, -2: An eavesdropping device cannot be used to record or overhear a conversation without the consent of all parties to the conversation under criminal statutes. An eavesdropping device is anything used to hear or record a conversation, whether the conversation is in person or conducted by any means other than face-to-face conversation, such as a telephone conversation.
>
> In addition, it is criminally punishable to disclose information one knows or should know was obtained through an eavesdropping device. Offenses of the eavesdropping law are punishable as felonies, with first offenses categorized as lesser felonies than subsequent offenses. 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-4. Civil liability for actual and punitive damages is authorized as well. 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-6.

So, this must be the smoking gun. The next best thing our 3abners/4Chihuahuas can do here is keep claiming they have the evidence, but not at liberty to disclose it. Hostage taking. No wonder they've worked themselves into a corner...and continue to deny it. Empty shell. About time someone call their bluff. BTW, LS maintains there's nothing in the taped ph. call.

Posted by: Clay Mar 6 2007, 12:27 PM

in essence they are criminals..... they engaged in criminal activity to get a conversation that may not be as damaging as its claimed.....

foolishness..... and then the dannyclones want us to believe that foolishness.... they can't share the evidence because its against the law.... figures......

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 01:11 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 6 2007, 11:24 AM)
>
> Thanks, lurker.
>
> I noticed this on LS's updated website.
>
> Q. What about the illegally taped phone conversation? What were the contents of this conversation?
> A. Dan marched into the house one day in May of 2004, just days before we parted, and announced that he had "proof." He made a big deal about recording a cell phone conversation I had earlier in the day as I was driving to West Frankfort from Thompsonville. He said it was recorded by private investigators. I do not remember every detail of the conversation, but I do remember that I did not feel ashamed of what was said that day in the conversation. But I was again convinced Dan was not thinking or acting normally, as I had felt for some time.
>
> Illinois State Law:
>
>> 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-1, -2: An eavesdropping device cannot be used to record or overhear a conversation without the consent of all parties to the conversation under criminal statutes. An eavesdropping device is anything used to hear or record a conversation, whether the conversation is in person or conducted by any means other than face-to-face conversation, such as a telephone conversation.
>>
>> In addition, it is criminally punishable to disclose information one knows or should know was obtained through an eavesdropping device. Offenses of the eavesdropping law are punishable as felonies, with first offenses categorized as lesser felonies than subsequent offenses. 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-4. Civil liability for actual and punitive damages > is authorized as well. 720 Ill. Compiled Stat. Ann. 5/14-6.

>
> So, this must be the smoking gun. The next best thing our 3abners/4Chihuahuas can do here is keep claiming they have the evidence, but not at liberty to disclose it. Hostage taking. No wonder they've worked themselves into a corner...and continue to deny it. Empty shell. About time someone call their bluff. BTW, LS maintains there's nothing in the taped ph. call.

)ne has to wonder how many felonies Danny is willing to be charged with for this evidence. Seems ike the P.I.'s would also be culpable here. That they would record conversations against the law does iot make them appear very reputable. Who hired them? Would that person also be culpable for the elonies?

Posted by: Uncle Sam Mar 6 2007, 01:25 PM

I understand this all being illegally obtained, but this isn't a court of law. I mean if Danny has evidence than in the court of public opinion it should stand. I would like to see his evidence even if it was obtained illegally. I do have issues that it was a one sided conversation. I mean you can twist that anyway you like unless she said something directly about Danny or an affair. With that said I think if they had wanted to they could have sat down and worked out all of this. IF Linda and the Dr were not having an affair and she still "needed" to talk with him, and she had nothing to hide. Maybe Danny could have jumped on board and been part of this instead of trying to cut this all off. But maybe Linda didn't want Danny involved in this relationship maybe it was too late.

All is fair in love and war....

I have one more question...for now. Did Linda and the Dr EVER have a relationship after the divorce? That would make a big diffeence to many people I think. If she did even after she was divorced it seems that it would make her look guilty. I have asked this before but I don't feel I got a direct answer, just that she was free to if she wanted to....

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 01:44 PM

Ok small point of clarification here. Danny bugged the house or Linda's cell phone? I ask because US refers to it being a one sided conversation.

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Mar 6 2007, 11:25 AM)

> I understand this all being illegally obtained, but this isn't a court of law. I mean if Danny has evidence than in the court of public opinion it should stand. I would like to see his evidence even if it was obtained illegally. I do have issues that it was a one sided conversation. I mean you can twist that anyway you like unless she said something directly about Danny or an affair. With that said I think if they had wanted to they could have sat down and worked out all of this. IF Linda and the Dr were not having an affair and she still "needed" to talk with him, and she had nothing to hide. Maybe Danny could have jumped on board and been part of this instead of trying to cut this all off. But maybe Linda didn't want Danny involved in this relationship maybe it was too late.
>
> All is fair in love and war....
>
> I have one more question...for now. Did Linda and the Dr EVER have a relationship after the divorce? That would make a big diffeence to many people I think. If she did even after she was divorced it seems that it would make her look guilty. I have asked this before but I don't feel I got a direct answer, just that she was free to if she wanted to....

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 7 2007, 09:23 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 6 2007, 01:27 PM)
>
> in essence they are criminals..... they engaged in criminal activity to get a conversation that may not be as damaging as its claimed.....
>
> foolishness..... and then the dannyclones want us to believe that foolishness.... they can't share the evidence because its against the law.... figures......

Posted by: Observer Mar 7 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE
>
> I have one more question...for now. Did Linda and the Dr EVER have a relationship after the divorce? That would make a big diffeence to many people I think. If she did even after she was divorced it seems that it would make her look guilty. I have asked this before but I don't feel I got a direct answer, just that she was free to if she wanted to....

Relationship, relationship. What does that mean. That word covers so many areas of interest.

1) If Nathan was still in treatment, or for other reasons, Dr. A. was consulted regarding him, then a relationship existed.

2) Linda and Dr. A are linked in the minds of many people, and by the accusations of some in a prior inappropriate relationship. That linking has carried forward to the present. It would be quite understandable for those two people to occasionally communicate regarding their shared experience, and/or in regard to current charges that people still make about them. Folks, such communication is a relationship.

3) There are other ways in which a relatlionship could exist. It has been charged that Dr. A. lent Linda money to purchase her home. That would make her a debtor to him, and obligated to make payments to him to pay off her debt. That is a relationship.

4) Typically, two people who had gone through the shared experiences that Dr. A. and Linda have gone through, the charges, and counter charges, along with the denials, would find themselve bound together as friends, even if not planning marriage.

5) Typically, people who have recently gone through either a divorce, or the death of a spouse, would become friends with someone of the opposite gender. That is a relationship. But, it does not mean that either have ever considered marriage to the other. It does not constitute an inappproprite relationship. Look at this for a moment: Linda likely considers Johann to be a friend of hers. As I have been an advisor to her, she may very well consider me to be a friend. All of that is a relationship, of sorts. Johann is married, and likely involves his current wife in his relationship with Linda. So am/do I. There is nothing wrong with any of this.

So, Yes, if you want it said that way, it may be said that Linda has a current relationship with Dr. A. Make the best of that. But, in the interests of integrity, place that in context. Simply put: Linda is not contemplating marriage to anyone. She is not in that type of a relationship.

Now, if someone wants to claim that Linda is selling herself on the street, or that she is sexually active, without selling herself, ... After reading comments in regard to Linda previously haveing a yeast infection, I guess I can expect just about anything.

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 7 2007, 09:11 AM) ☐
>
> Relationship, relationship. What does that mean. That word covers so many areas of interest.
>
> 1) If Nathan was still in treatment, or for other reasons, Dr. A. was consulted regarding him, then a relationship existed.
>
> 2) Linda and Dr. A are linked in the minds of many people, and by the accusations of some in a prior inappropriate relationship. That linking has carried forward to the present. It would be quite understandable for those two people to occasionally communicate regarding their shared experience, and/or in regard to current charges that people still make about them. Folks, such communication is a relationship.
>
> 3) There are other ways in which a relatlionship could exist. It has been charged that Dr. A. lent Linda money to purchase her home. That would make her a debtor to him, and obligated to make payments to him to pay off her debt. That is a relationship.
>
> 4) Typically, two people who had gone through the shared experiences that Dr. A. and Linda have gone through, the charges, and counter charges, along with the denials, would find themselve bound together as friends, even if not planning marriage.
>
> 5) Typically, people who have recently gone through either a divorce, or the death of a spouse, would become friends with someone of the opposite gender. That is a relationship. But, it does not mean that either have ever considered marriage to the other. It does not constitute an inapproprite relationship. Look at this for a moment: Linda likely considers Johann to be a friend of hers. As I have been an advisor to her, she may very well consider me to be a friend. All of that is a relationship, of sorts. Johann is married, and likely involves his current wife in his relationship with Linda. So am/do I. There is nothing wrong with any of this.
>
> So, Yes, if you want it said that way, it may be said that Linda has a current relationship with Dr. A. Make the best of that. But, in the interests of integrity, place that in context. Simply put: Linda is not contemplating marriage to anyone. She is not in that type of a relationship.
>
> Now, if someone wants to claim that Linda is selling herself on the street, or that she is sexually active, without selling herself, ... After reading comments in regard to Linda previously haveing a yeast infection, I guess I can expect just about anything.

If I need to be more blunt: Linda has not had an inappropriate relationship with Dr. A.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 11:01 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 7 2007, 09:13 AM)
>
> If I need to be more blunt: Linda has not had an inappropriate relationship with Dr. A.

I am glad you are satisfied with your conclusion. How you came to that conclusion without seeing anything from the other side, is a puzzle to me, but that is your choice. You can join the crowd of all of those that make statements of fact and judgment with a one sided story. Because the other side hasn't been shown to you doesn't make it nonexistent. Or because it hasn't been shown in the time frame, that others demand, doesn't mean it doesn't exist. If that makes you happy, then, as clay would say, whatever....

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 11:14 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 07:01 PM)
>
> I am glad you are satisfied with your conclusion. How you came to that conclusion without seeing anything from the other side, is a puzzle to me, but that is your choice. You can join the crowd of all of those that make statements of fact and judgment with a one sided story. Because the other side hasn't been shown to you doesn't make it nonexistent. Or because it hasn't been shown in the time frame, that others demand, doesn't mean it doesn't exist. If that makes you happy, then, as clay would say, whatever....

Seems like Gregory has told us earlier that he got most of his initial information from Mr. Danny Shelton, so what you are saying here is that Danny Shelton is an unreliable witness.

While you are at it can you explain to us how Danny managed to change the doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventist church when the Lord showed him that Satan has become the god of details? This is revolutionary. If Danny Shelton can change the doctrines like that with a single stroke, then he can change everything that is not in his favor, right?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 7 2007, 10:14 AM)
>
> Seems like Gregory has told us earlier that he got most of his initial information from Mr. Danny Shelton, so what you are saying here is that Danny Shelton is an unreliable witness.
>
> While you are at it can you explain to us how Danny managed to change the doctrines of the Seventh-day Adventist church when the Lord showed him that Satan has become the god of details? This is revolutionary. If Danny Shelton can change the doctrines like that with a single stroke, then he can change everything that is not in his favor, right?

You, again, have put words in my mouth that I didn't speak. We are all used to that.
Your next paragraph is totally ludicrous. You really have went over the edge on your thinking concerning this situation.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 7 2007, 11:40 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 11:01 AM) ☐
>
> I am glad you are satisfied with your conclusion. How you came to that conclusion without seeing anything from the other side, is a puzzle to me, but that is your choice. You can join the crowd of all of those that make statements of fact and judgment with a one sided story. Because the other side hasn't been shown to you doesn't make it nonexistent. Or because it hasn't been shown in the time frame, that others demand, doesn't mean it doesn't exist. If that makes you happy, then, as clay would say, whatever....

The other side, Danny Shelton himself, has made it clear that the marriage ended because Linda hid his gun, not because she committed fornication. And he has also made it clear that there was no real opportunity for Linda to commit fornication prior to the divorce.

Now if Danny has other evidence than what he has already given, he certainly has had plenty of time to produce it. The fact that he hasn't indicates that he doesn't have any.

Any reasonable person would conclude thus. Right?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 12:12 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 7 2007, 10:40 AM) ☐
>
> The other side, Danny Shelton himself, has made it clear that the marriage ended because Linda hid his gun, not because she committed fornication. And he has also made it clear that there was no real opportunity for Linda to commit fornication prior to the divorce.
>
> Now if Danny has other evidence than what he has already given, he certainly has had plenty of time to produce it. The fact that he hasn't indicates that he doesn't have any.
>
> Any reasonable person would conclude thus. Right?

It shocks me that after your ridiculous conclusion was posted, and tore down, that you would, again, say the same thing. You will notice, that there weren't many in your camp that even responded to that post. Even they see how ridiculous it is.

As stated earlier, just because something is not shown in the time frame that you invent, doesn't mean it doesn't exist. No matter. I am confident that when all is brought to light, and this controversy will be over for most, that you will still be hangin on (with egg on your face of course) but still, hangin on with your ludicrous spins and manipulations. So, again, it would be pointless for them to show you or Joy anything.

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 12:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 07:29 PM)
>
> You, again, have put words in my mouth that I didn't speak. We are all used to that.
> Your next paragraph is totally ludicrous. You really have went over the edge on your thinking concerning this situation.

I was referring to Gregory. Why do you have to answer for him? Is that what you are used to? How can we rely on you?

I was referring to what Danny declared recently on 3ABN TV. Was that ludicrous?

You change what I am saying, and then you claim that I have gone over the edge. Are you trying to make things more difficult for Danny Shelton?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 12:32 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 7 2007, 11:19 AM)
>
> I was referring to Gregory. Why do you have to answer for him? Is that what you are used to? How can we rely on you?
>
> I was referring to what Danny declared recently on 3ABN TV. Was that ludicrous?
>
> You change what I am saying, and then you claim that I have gone over the edge. Are you trying to make things more difficult for Danny Shelton?
> I was referring to Gregory. Why do you have to answer for him? Is that what you are used to? How can we rely on you?
>
> I was referring to what Danny declared recently on 3ABN TV. Was that ludicrous?
>
> You change what I am saying, and then you claim that I have gone over the edge. Are you trying to make things more difficult for Danny Shelton?

Looks like you doubled your pleasure on this post but anyway, your last several posts are nothing but confusing to where I feel no need to reply.
BTW, All I have heard from you is how DS makes threats and yet you threatened him in a previous post. YOU WILL REGRET THIS, YOU ARE FORCING ME TO TELL EVERYTHING I KNOW
Sounds like a threat to me...but...not one that will be taken seriously of course.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 7 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:32 PM)
>
> Looks like you doubled your pleasure on this post but anyway, your last several posts are nothing > but confusing to where I feel no need to reply.

Can we say "doublespeak" aka he speaks with forked tongue.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:36 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 7 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> Can we say "doublespeak" aka he speaks with forked tongue.

es we can....

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 7 2007, 11:34 AM)
>
> Can we say "doublespeak" aka he speaks with forked tongue.

era, in looking back over your posts I am amazed at how much information you add to these topics. hanks so much for the in depth insight.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:52 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 12:48 PM)
>
> Sera, in looking back over your posts I am amazed at how much information you add to these topics. Thanks so much for the in depth insight.

o doubt the very same thing can be said about you.... information added.... zero...... spin added.... nough to make us all sick....

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 12:52 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:48 PM)
>
> Sera, in looking back over your posts I am amazed at how much information you add to these topics. Thanks so much for the in depth insight.

I think this was supposed to be in some wise humorous...

Don't quit your day job...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:54 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> I think this was supposed to be in some wise humorous...
>
> Don't quit your day job...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

he cracks himself up....

Posted by: sister Mar 8 2007, 04:28 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:32 PM)
>
> Looks like you doubled your pleasure on this post but anyway, your last several posts are nothing but confusing to where I feel no need to reply.
> BTW, All I have heard from you is how DS makes threats and yet you threatened him in a previous post. YOU WILL REGRET THIS, YOU ARE FORCING ME TO TELL EVERYTHING I KNOW
> Sounds like a threat to me...but...not one that will be taken seriously of course.

Bystander, I am personally calling your bluff! Although I know it is nothing more than that! Tell everything you know. Start a new thread: Bystander tells everything he knows. I will be waiting, but I will not be holding my breathe. Don't push me Bystander, I can assure you, you do not want me to tell everything I know.

Sister

Posted by: shaddo Mar 8 2007, 06:17 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 09:24 AM)
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.

Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".

Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.

And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.

In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.

Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

Ok! I am in.... You who have not lived in the sub culture world of SDA ASI ministries roups will never understand the depth to which the SDA leadership will go to discredit, destroy, and proot ONE individual for no other reason than they feel "threatened" by that individual and their ersonal stance on any given subject. I am NOT a 3ABN fan, nor have I ever been - but I know first and the corporate corruption which has lurked behind the scenes within that TV debacle of a ministry. ow, if I, Mr. Nobody - can be slammed from the SDA pulpit, by confrence presidents, and receive arsh letters demanding ME to take my book out of circulation, and if the POWERS that be , can emand my membership to be removed. when I am not even a part of the bigger picture such as inda was, - I will tell you first hand that - yes, the SDA leadership is very harsh and can "bury you" if ou do not tow the line, or if you are not doing their bidding. I am NOT a supporter of anything having o do with 3ABN, past, present, or future. I just want everyone to know that I have experinced the ffect of being "blackmailed" by the SDA leadership and it is real, life-long, and destructive on all evels. May the TRUTH triumph and may the LORD Jesus Christ be revealed as the Light of the world nspite of all the darkness which is pawned off as religious zeal and self-righteous indignation! PEACE UT!

Posted by: Clay Mar 8 2007, 07:03 AM

thanks Shaddo....... and that's why you will always be welcomed here.... you tell it like you see it.......

Posted by: Observer Mar 8 2007, 07:14 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 3 2007, 07:24 AM)
>
> The part that you seem to be missing, Calvin, is that Linda is still being blocked from pursuing her ministry within the Adventist church. So long as she is being blocked on the grounds of Danny's accusations by authorities within the church, then the issue of her innocence or guilt is not an "old" issue that can be merely laid aside.
>
> Now if the church authorities would change their directives, that no church "take sides" by inviting Linda to their church..... and change them publicly enough so that even individuals within the church heirarchy would not have to consider that their "future" with the church as being dependent on their expressed attitude to what Danny thinks and wants..... THEN there might be some way that Linda could keep completely silent about the past and merely "get on with her life".
>
> Do you think this statement about individuals within the church heirarchy is too strong? Let me assure you that I did not fabricate this from my own imagination.... neither did I get this from Linda or any of those who are publicly on Linda's "side". But I got it directly from conversations with church employees.... some on a very high level.... and the message was not only clear, but explicit and unequivocal..... that any one who was far enough from retirement to need to think of their future in the church would be putting that future in jeopardy if they spoke out either against Danny or for Linda.
>
> And just review the letter from Mabel Dunbar. This should give you an idea of how brave even a Conference supported ministry has to be in order to dare to use Linda in their ministry. And put with that http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11955&view=findpost&p=180907 which explained the reason why Samantha's ministry could no longer cooperate with Polly's Place. And the earlier reports we had of Mabel Dunbar first receiving "warnings" that if she was friendly to Linda she would find her funding in danger... and later we had reports that this had indeed happened.
>
> In the face of this kind of opposition, it is rather naive at best, and could certainly be considered cruel, to say disdainfully that all Linda needs to do is to get on with her life and work on her ministry. There is only so much that anyone can do to "develop a ministry" within the Adventist church with the kind of political pressure against her that has been the case for the past three years.
>
> Sure... she could likely leave the Adventist church and develop a ministry very quickly among the opponents of Adventism. All she would need to do would be to be willing to "give her testimony" of how she had been maligned by the Adventist church. I don't think that is what you are suggesting that she do. At least I hope not.

I have great respect for Watchbird. I am aware of the comments that Dr. Dunbar has made, and I have discussed them with her. I agree with Watchbird that the accusations made against Linda are in the present day a real obstacle to her doing ministry. I also agree that there are denominational officals who either have bought into the truth of those charges, and have advised people to have nothing to do with Linda's ministry, or for various other reasons have advised people not to be publicly associated with Linda.

But, I will make a personal comment on what I beleive to be the other side to this issue. I believe that there are also denominational officials who either have taken a neutral position toward Linda, or have taken a more favorable position toward her. Some of these people may not be certain enough of the facts to publicly state their support of Linda. As a result of this division of thinking in regard to Linda, I believe that it is possible for denominational employees, and leaders, to publicly support Linda. At least I believe that if this is not true in some cases, it is quite true in other cases.

I can take this position based upon two facts:

1) I know of people who are either neutral, or supportive of Linda. These people do not go after others who support Linda.

2) My own personal position in this.

Let us look at my situation for a moment: I am an ordained SDA minister, credentialed by the General Conference. I think that all would agree that I support Linda. I have publicly taken the position, many times, that I do not believe that Linda ever gave Danny Biblical grounds to divorce her. As I have said, she may have burned his breakfast toast one (or several) morning(s). But, burnt toast in not Biblical grounds for divorce.

It should also be stated that people in the General Conference, to include those who credential me, are aware of the position that I have taken in regard to Linda, my public support of Linda, and my involvement in the Internet discussions of the issues. Do not think for one minute that they are not aware.

Regardless of my support for Linda, I do not fear any adverse action against me in regard to the position that I have taken, or in regard to my involvement in these discussions. No one in the General Conference has ever advised me to "cease and desist" so to speak. No one has ever advised me that my involvement in this might result in the withdrawal of my credentials, or any kind of other professional damage. Not once has this happened.

Some will say that this may be because I am not paid a salery by the denomination. I am paid by Federal tax funds. That is true. But, I work under Federal law that allows the General Conference to terminate my employment. That is right. SDA ministers should be subject to denominational oversight in employment situations where they represent the SDA church.

I will also say that I do not speak for the General Conference in regard to Linda and 3-ABN. My expressed opinoins are simply my personal opinon. No denominational official has ever told me to keep it up, that I am doing exactly what I should be doing.

My post is not a challenge to what Watchbird has posted. It is simply a statement to the effect that one should not assume that every denominational employee lives in valid fear of publicly supporting Linda. I do not live in such fear.

NOTE: I do not imply that Watchbird suggested some of the above as I have commented.

Posted by: Clay Mar 8 2007, 07:26 AM

the problem is not the stance that employees of the church take, my problem is that many in positions of power stood by while a public figure was trashed..... and they did nothing publicly.... that's my beef with those men or women in the church who knew..... they permitted Linda to be thrown under the bus.... and they have been indifferent....My basic position which the dannyclones cannot comprehend is simple... EVEN IF she did every thing she was accused of doing, she should not have been treated as she was....

We should be about restoration and keeping a person's dignity intact.... that is not what happened..... and that is what has ticked me off......

God forbid any of us be put in a position like that.... its clear that many in the church will DO NOTHING except watch as we are thrown under the bus.....

Posted by: Observer Mar 8 2007, 08:50 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 8 2007, 06:26 AM)
>
> the problem is not the stance that employees of the church take, my problem is that many in positions of power stood by while a public figure was trashed..... and they did nothing publicly.... that's my beef with those men or women in the church who knew..... they permitted Linda to be thrown under the bus.... and they have been indifferent....My basic position which the dannyclones cannot comprehend is simple... EVEN IF she did every thing she was accused of doing, she should not have been treated as she was....
>
> We should be about restoration and keeping a person's dignity intact.... that is not what happened..... and that is what has ticked me off......
>
> God forbid any of us be put in a position like that.... its clear that many in the church will DO NOTHING except watch as we are thrown under the bus.....

Clay, I understand your thinking. It is shared by many. As we who are supporting Linda have said, if she had not been treated the way she was treated, we would not be in this situation today.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 8 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 8 2007, 09:50 AM)
>
> Clay, I understand your thinking. It is shared by many. As we who are supporting Linda have said, if she had not been treated the way she was treated, we would not be in this situation today.

And the little old ladies who give their pennies... or their millions.... before departing this life.... would never have a clue as to where the money went.

And the victims of various abuses of power would still be isolated from each other.... and no one would dare to speak out because they would know that no one would believe their stories, and their isolation would keep most of them from knowing that there were others who had been treated the same.

And the listeners of 3abn would go right on blissfully believing that Danny Shelton, the anointed one, was in truth the very "face of Adventism".

Until one day the bubble would burst.... and hardly anyone would be prepared for the bursting.

Is it not better that Danny exposed the kind of person he is in this way? Is it not better that Linda has been isolated as she has been these past three years than to still be by Danny's side when the bubble bursts? Is not God moving behind all that is said and done so as to expose evil wherever it has occurred or is occurring? Does he not know that we are slow learners and need time to absorb such information as has been coming to light gradually over the past three years?

God is still in control. He will not withhold all of his judgments on wickedness until the final consumation.

So we will continue to wait patiently on the Lord.... as He gradually unfolds to us all that we need to know. And we thank those who are helping Him in that process.... on whichever side of the fence they are standing.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 8 2007, 10:12 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 8 2007, 11:01 AM) ☐
>
> Until one day the bubble would burst.... and hardly anyone would be prepared for the bursting.

Thank you WB.

I assume the following statement was made by Dr. Thompson and is found posted at save3abn.com.

Subject: RE: 3abn
Date: Thu, 6 May 2004 01:32:10 +0200

If we like, we can continue to nurse this dialog of battle over Linda and involve the whole church and whole world in the warfare. Should we do so, God in His great mercy may still find a way to bring good out of it as He did when He took ancient Israel to Babylon. I would prefer that He have a more faithful people to give Him a better, more powerful witness.

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-ultimatum-commentary.htm

This was Dr. Thompson's wish and maybe it will be granted?

nw
C"i"

Posted by: Observer Mar 8 2007, 10:27 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 8 2007, 09:01 AM) ☐
>
> And the little old ladies who give their pennies... or their millions.... before departing this life.... would never have a clue as to where the money went.
>
> And the victims of various abuses of power would still be isolated from each other.... and no one would dare to speak out because they would know that no one would believe their stories, and their isolation would keep most of them from knowing that there were others who had been treated the same.

> And the listeners of 3abn would go right on blissfully believing that Danny Shelton, the anointed one, was in truth the very "face of Adventism".
>
> Until one day the bubble would burst.... and hardly anyone would be prepared for the bursting.
> Is it not better that Danny exposed the kind of person he is in this way? Is it not better that Linda has been isolated as she has been these past three years than to still be by Danny's side when the bubble bursts? Is not God moving behind all that is said and done so as to expose evil wherever it has occurred or is occurring? Does he not know that we are slow learners and need time to absorb such information as has been coming to light gradually over the past three years?
>
> God is still in control. He will not withhold all of his judgments on wickedness until the final consumation.
>
> So we will continue to wait patiently on the Lord.... as He gradually unfolds to us all that we need to know. And we thank those who are helping Him in that process.... on whichever side of the fence they are standing.

Vatchbird:

\ll of that may not be what God directed, but rather the consequences of the actions of some people vho never realized either what was involved, or the consequences of their actions.

n any case, God is in charge, and leading. Our prayer is that we will continue to follow as God leads.

Posted by: Clay Mar 8 2007, 10:37 AM

I said it before... I'll say it again.... Thompson is stupid... and Lomacang may be a pastor but he has no integrity or credibility.... IMO....

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 8 2007, 10:38 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 8 2007, 08:12 AM) ☐
>
> Thank you WB.
>
> I assume the following statement was made by Dr. Thompson and is found posted at save3abn.com.
>
> Subject: RE: 3abn
> Date: Thu, 6 May 2004 01:32:10 +0200
>
> If we like, we can continue to nurse this dialog of battle over Linda and involve the whole church and whole world in the warfare. Should we do so, God in His great mercy may still find a way to bring good out of it as He did when He took ancient Israel to Babylon. I would prefer that He have a more faithful people to give Him a better, more powerful witness.
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-ultimatum-commentary.htm
>
> This was Dr. Thompson's wish and maybe it will be granted?

> nw
> C"i"

le thinks that Walt may not or may have wanted things to come out another way - maybe he was eeling a bit uneasy about helping mr shelton get what he wanted.....maybe he knew it may end up his way because it just wasn't right, and this time the "wrong" was a BIG ONE! I wonder this because f what he wrote to Linda only two days earlier....

------- Original Message --------
rom: Walt Thompson
o: [Alyssa]
ubject: Letter for Linda ate: Tue, 4 May 2004 21:43:07 -0500 ttp://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-ultimatum.htm ear Linda,

his is a copy of the letter that has been sent by FEDEX to you. While you may not nderstand now, someday you will realize that we are truly desirous of returning you to our home and ministry because we care about you. I plan to go to 3ABN tomorrow and will e available to talk with you if you have questions needing clarification.

alt official fedx letter starts here)

keep in mind that anything Walt may have been wrestling with over with himself was probably eaten down by Danny if he even mentioned it outloud to him. Bottom line is Walt CHOSE to carry out is mission.

nd, if you notice, he sends this email showing a copy of what fedx is going to be delievering (and at hat time? 10am or afternoon the next day?)letter out at 9pm to email (and when did he expect Linda o check her email exactly at this point?). So when is that actual 24 period start and end? If you see he dates of the following letters....hmm....Linda really doesn't get much, if any real response time. mmm...sounds like a "formality" in play, and Walt didn't even have to send her that email...was it ecause he knew she really had no time?

ometimes it's better to make the hard RIGHT choices at the beginning and, as they say, JUST SAY O. Oh, if we could do some things over....would they be done differently? Hope all is learned this ime around that can be.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 8 2007, 10:46 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 8 2007, 11:38 AM)

> Me thinks that Walt may not or may have wanted things to come out another way - maybe he was feeling a bit uneasy about helping mr shelton get what he wanted..

Sonshineonme:

should have added TIC (tongue in cheek) to my response. But I find your thoughts/comments nteresting and generous on Dr. Thompson's behalf considering my own reaction to the letter/email we are discussing.

nw
C"i"

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 8 2007, 10:57 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 8 2007, 08:46 AM)
>
> Sonshineonme:
>
> I should have added TIC (tongue in cheek) to my response. But I find your thoughts/comments interesting and generous on Dr. Thompson's behalf considering my own reaction to the letter/email we are discussing.
>
> nw
> C"i"

Yes, I understood your TIC . There's an irony in his words. I myself see many things in play. I attempt to think from everyones position (some it's utterly impossible to do this with) and the choices hey are making, and why they might make them.

n the end, he chose to do DS bidding. Possibly regretfully (either then or now), but you know he probably did it for "the ministry" and of course, the ends justify the means. Sad theology, isn't it?

WAKE UP WAKE UP!!

Posted by: Chez Mar 8 2007, 11:06 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 8 2007, 10:57 AM)
>
> Yes, I understood your TIC . There's an irony in his words. I myself see many things in play. I attempt to think from everyones position (some it's utterly impossible to do this with) and the choices they are making, and why they might make them.

> In the end, he chose to do DS bidding. Possibly regretfully (either then or now), but you know he probably did it for "the ministry" and of course, the ends justify the means. Sad theology, isn't it?
>
> WAKE UP WAKE UP!!

inda will be vindicated in a big way. All of these people who perpetrated this scam along with the lies vill suffer. They will reap what they've sown in a way none of us can imagine. Let us only sow good, ustice, and fairness. Read Micah 6:8.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 8 2007, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 8 2007, 09:01 AM)
>
> And the little old ladies who give their pennies... or their millions.... before departing this life.... would never have a clue as to where the money went.
>
> And the victims of various abuses of power would still be isolated from each other.... and no one would dare to speak out because they would know that no one would believe their stories, and their isolation would keep most of them from knowing that there were others who had been treated the same.
>
> And the listeners of 3abn would go right on blissfully believing that Danny Shelton, the anointed one, was in truth the very "face of Adventism".
>
> Until one day the bubble would burst.... and hardly anyone would be prepared for the bursting.
> Is it not better that Danny exposed the kind of person he is in this way? Is it not better that Linda has been isolated as she has been these past three years than to still be by Danny's side when the bubble bursts? Is not God moving behind all that is said and done so as to expose evil wherever it has occurred or is occurring? Does he not know that we are slow learners and need time to absorb such information as has been coming to light gradually over the past three years?
>
> God is still in control. He will not withhold all of his judgments on wickedness until the final consumation.
>
> So we will continue to wait patiently on the Lord.... as He gradually unfolds to us all that we need to know. And we thank those who are helping Him in that process.... on whichever side of the fence they are standing.

ay I add, I thank God that there are those willing to see what is being exposed and support the rocess!

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(shaddo @ Mar 8 2007, 02:17 PM)

> Ok! I am in.... You who have not lived in the sub culture world of SDA ASI ministries groups will never understand the depth to which the SDA leadership will go to discredit, destroy, and uproot ONE individual for no other reason than they feel "threatened" by that individual and their personal stance on any given subject. I am NOT a 3ABN fan, nor have I ever been - but I know first hand the corporate corruption which has lurked behind the scenes within that TV debacle of a ministry. Now, if I, Mr. Nobody - can be slammed from the SDA pulpit, by confrence presidents, and receive harsh letters demanding ME to take my book out of circulation, and if the POWERS that be , can demand my membership to be removed. when I am not even a part of the bigger picture such as Linda was, - I will tell you first hand that - yes, the SDA leadership is very harsh and can "bury you" if you do not tow the line, or if you are not doing their bidding. I am NOT a supporter of anything having to do with 3ABN, past, present, or future. I just want everyone to know that I have experinced the affect of being "blackmailed" by the SDA leadership and it is real, life-long, and destructive on all levels. May the TRUTH triumph and may the LORD Jesus Christ be revealed as the Light of the world inspite of all the darkness which is pawned off as religious zeal and self-righteous indignation! PEACE OUT!

t seems like you have also had to suffer. This is what this is about. Some seem indifferent whhile)thers enjoy it when other people suffer. I know that Jesus cares.

Posted by: Johann Mar 9 2007, 03:59 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 8 2007, 03:26 PM) ☐
>
> the problem is not the stance that employees of the church take, my problem is that many in positions of power stood by while a public figure was trashed..... and they did nothing publicly.... that's my beef with those men or women in the church who knew..... they permitted Linda to be thrown under the bus.... and they have been indifferent....My basic position which the dannyclones cannot comprehend is simple... EVEN IF she did every thing she was accused of doing, she should not have been treated as she was....
>
> We should be about restoration and keeping a person's dignity intact.... that is not what happened..... and that is what has ticked me off......
>
> God forbid any of us be put in a position like that.... its clear that many in the church will DO NOTHING except watch as we are thrown under the bus.....

:lay, what you say here is the core of the problem. I wrote to 3ABN in the middle of what was going)n and pleaded with them to follow the example of Joseph as told in Matt. 1 as to how to del with this :ase. But they would not listen then. Now they are just obscuring it all in a fog to obliterate why they lid not treat this case in a Christian manner.

> QUOTE(Chez @ Mar 8 2007, 07:06 PM) ☐
>
> Linda will be vindicated in a big way. All of these people who perpetrated this scam along with the lies will suffer. They will reap what they've sown in a way none of us can imagine. Let us only sow good, justice, and fairness. Read Micah 6:8.

All what Linda's supporters are requesting is that she no longer by tried by one instance after another where her side is not permitted to testify. That has now happened about 25 times. We are just asking for one fair trial when her side will be taken into consideration, something that has not yet taken place.

In the beginning Linda was ordered to stay away because all the evidence was so overwhelming against her that her presence would be embarrassing to her. What kind of justice is that in a Christian ministry?

48

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Save3abn Website Uses Blackmail Tactics

Posted by: Lee Feb 22 2007, 07:41 PM

Save3abn website has made some interesting threats towards 3ABN that constitute blackmail. Here is what is on their site below:

\---

Leonard Westphal Said That and Got Away with It?
Where This Article Went
Everything is still here, but is no longer visible to web browsers.

We have covered elsewhere how various ones affected by the various scandals and allegations swirling around Danny Shelton and 3ABN have had concerns that they might reap retribution if they do not remain silent regarding what has happened. The sources for our story here have similar concerns, and have asked that we pull this story until a later time. We have decided to honor their request.

It should be pointed out, though, that if everyone remains silent, no reforms will be made, and the same abuses and corruption will continue. That scenario is not an option.

What is particularly relevant regarding this story is that we see here a repetition of a familiar pattern:

Definite concerns and perceived wrongs are pointed out.
An investigation is done improperly or not at all.
The wrongdoers get rewarded, while the concerned get punished.
We trust that the particular situation we addressed in this story will be properly resolved in a professional, Christian manner. If that does not happen, then it will undoubtedly be released to the media once again

\---

The "threat" is in the last two sentences. Unless 3ABN stops the lawsuits, they will take their information to the media. Last I heard, using Blackmail was against the law!

You may see it for yourself here: http://www.save3abn.com/leonard-westphal-hope-lebrun-1.htm

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 22 2007, 07:57 PM

And all the legal papers filed against save3abn telling them to stop or else is not blackmail?

Posted by: inga Feb 22 2007, 07:58 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 22 2007, 08:41 PM)
>
> Save3abn website has made some interesting threats towards 3ABN that constitute blackmail. Here is what is on their site below:
>
> \---

> Leonard Westphal Said That and Got Away with It?
> Where This Article Went
> Everything is still here, but is no longer visible to web browsers.
>
> We have covered elsewhere how various ones affected by the various scandals and allegations swirling around Danny Shelton and 3ABN have had concerns that they might reap retribution if they do not remain silent regarding what has happened. The sources for our story here have similar concerns, and have asked that we pull this story until a later time. We have decided to honor their request.
>
> It should be pointed out, though, that if everyone remains silent, no reforms will be made, and the same abuses and corruption will continue. That scenario is not an option.
>
> What is particularly relevant regarding this story is that we see here a repetition of a familiar pattern:
>
> Definite concerns and perceived wrongs are pointed out.
> An investigation is done improperly or not at all.
> The wrongdoers get rewarded, while the concerned get punished.
> We trust that the particular situation we addressed in this story will be properly resolved in a professional, Christian manner. If that does not happen, then it will undoubtedly be released to the media once again
> --
>
> The "threat" is in the last two sentences. Unless 3ABN stops the lawsuits, they will take their information to the media. Last I heard, using Blackmail was against the law!
>
> You may see it for yourself here: http://www.save3abn.com/leonard-westphal-hope-lebrun-1.htm

Vell, I read the article this morning ... now wish that I'd downloaded it. What is being clearly said ibove is that the article was pulled out of concern regarding retribution against the main author of the irticle in question. (It was clear who wrote it.) What is also being said is that if the concerns in the irticle are not addressed properly, it will be "released to the media once again." The last phrase ndicates that it was already released (no threat, just statement of fact) and it will be released igain (in the same manner, i.e. on the website.

see nothing but a statement of fact and a statement of intention that hardly constitutes blackmail. (I ;uspect that some have already copied the article anyway.)

f I tell you that, unless you stop traveling in the direction you're going, you're going to drive into the iver where there used to be a bridge, do you consider that a threat of blackmail?

'ou may ...

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 22 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 22 2007, 09:57 PM)
>
> And all the legal papers filed against save3abn telling them to stop or else is not blackmail?

lo similarity at all. If anything it is more akin to the argument between Apple and Cisco about the name "iPhone." Or, the lawsuit by an organization started by the Beatles over the use of the name "Apple" and the "Apple" logo.

3ABN has every right to protect its name. The SDA church has fought many battles of the use of its name over the years.

- FHB

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 22 2007, 08:19 PM

Protecting it's name is but one small part of their threat, but hey, you knew that, right?

Richard

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> No similarity at all. If anything it is more akin to the argument between Apple and Cisco about the name "iPhone." Or, the lawsuit by an organization started by the Beatles over the use of the name "Apple" and the "Apple" logo.
>
> 3ABN has every right to protect its name. The SDA church has fought many battles of the use of its name over the years.
>
> - FHB

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 22 2007, 08:40 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 22 2007, 08:57 PM)
>
> And all the legal papers filed against save3abn telling them to stop or else is not blackmail?

My father taught me that you should not use a word, when you do not know what the word means. It is unfortunate that the dannyscribes will not take the time to even check a definition before using a word.

blackmail definition
n.
1.
a. Extortion of money or something else of value from a person by the threat of exposing a criminal act or discreditable information.
b. Something of value extorted in this manner.

What our dear sister has completely missed is that blackmail is predicated on "secrecy".

For example, not long ago, one of the members of BlackSDA was sent a threatening PM from one of dannyscribes threatening to "expose" personal information about the member, if she did not keep quiet about things she has personal knowledge of regarding 3ABN. That is an example of blackmal.

While what Lee has tried to call blackmail is far from the case. No threat was made to "expose" anything the 3abn folks want kept secret.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 22 2007, 08:42 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> 3ABN has every right to protect its name. The SDA church has fought many battles of the use of its name over the years.
>
> - FHB

If that's true, then you also believe that Linda Shelton has "every right" to protect her name.

And not just a few rights to protect her name, but "every right."

Linda Shelton will be glad to know you understand.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 22 2007, 08:46 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 22 2007, 10:40 PM)
>
> My father taught me that you should not use a word, when you do not know what the word means. It is unfortunate that the dannyscribes will not take the time to even check a definition before using a word. : doh :
>
> blackmail definition
> n.
> 1.
> a. Extortion of money or something else of value from a person by the threat of exposing a criminal act or discreditable information.
> b. Something of value extorted in this manner.
>
> What our dear sister has completely missed is that blackmail is predicated on "secrecy".
>
> For example, not long ago, one of the members of BlackSDA was sent a threatening PM from one of dannyscribes threatening to "expose" personal information about the member, if she did not keep quiet about things she has personal knowledge of regarding 3ABN. That is an example of blackmal [sic].
>
> While what Lee has tried to call blackmail is far from the case. No threat was made to "expose" anything the 3abn folks want kept secret. : nonono :

Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of Law

Main Entry: black·mail
Pronunciation: 'blak-"mAl
Function: noun
Etymology: originally, payment extorted from farmers in Scotland and northern England, from black + dialectal mail payment, rent
: extortion or coercion by often written threats esp. of public exposure, physical harm, or criminal prosecution —blackmail transitive verb —black·mail·er /-"mA-l&r/ noun
Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of Law, © 1996 Merriam-Webster, Inc.

And your final statement is simply wrong. There is a threat to repost the information that was removed. Now, it was there, is not now, so someone - whether it is 3ABN or Mr. Westphal himself - sought the appropriate means to have it removed. I would venture to guess that it was Mr. Westphal who asked it be removed even though he did not write what had been posted. What had been posted was removed and there is a threat to repost it unless 3ABN does what Mr. Pickle and Mr. Joy want.

It is nothing more than a power play on the part of the PickleJoy team.

-FHB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 22 2007, 08:56 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of Law
>
> Main Entry: black·mail
> Pronunciation: 'blak-"mAl
> Function: noun
> Etymology: originally, payment extorted from farmers in Scotland and northern England, from black + dialectal mail payment, rent
> : extortion or coercion by often written threats esp. of public exposure, physical harm, or criminal prosecution —blackmail transitive verb —black·mail·er /-"mA-l&r/ noun
> Merriam-Webster's Dictionary of Law, © 1996 Merriam-Webster, Inc.

Pleeeeeezzzze. There's no extortion. No coercion.

It's much closer to a typical, business-oriented ultimatum, as in, "This is my best price, take it or leave it." So, leave out the extortion and coercion, please. You're just injuring your own case when you throw out that nonsense.

http://www.selfknowledge.com/102039.htm

Ultimatum (Ul`ti*ma"tum) (?), n.; pl. E. Ultimatums (#), L. Ultimata (#).
[NL. See Ultimate.]

A final proposition, concession, or condition; especially, the final propositions, conditions, or terms, offered by either of the parties in a diplomatic negotiation; the most favorable terms a negotiator can offer, the rejection of which usually puts an end to the hesitation.
(-- a final demand, the rejection of which may lead to a resort to force or other compelling action by the party presenting the ultimatum. --)

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 22 2007, 09:06 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 22 2007, 10:42 PM)
>
> If that's true, then you also believe that Linda Shelton has "every right" to protect her name.
>
> And not just a few rights to protect her name, but "every right."
>
> Linda Shelton will be glad to know you understand.

PP,

Weak. To equate Linda's name with the name of an entity like 3ABN or Hope or LLNB isn't going to fly.

- FHB

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 22 2007, 10:56 PM)
>
> Pleeeeezzzze. There's no extortion. No coercion.
>
> It's much closer to a typical, business-oriented ultimatum, as in, "This is my best price, take it or leave it." So, leave out the extortion and coercion, please. You're just injuring your own case when you throw out that nonsense.
>
> http://www.selfknowledge.com/102039.htm
>
> Ultimatum (Ul`ti*ma"tum) (?), n.; pl. E. Ultimatums (#), L. Ultimata (#).
> [NL. See Ultimate.]
>
> A final proposition, concession, or condition; especially, the final propositions, conditions, or terms, offered by either of the parties in a diplomatic negotiation; the most favorable terms a negotiator can offer, the rejection of which usually puts an end to the hesitation.
> (-- a final demand, the rejection of which may lead to a resort to force or other compelling action by the party presenting the ultimatum. --)

PP,

3ABN will be glad to know that you have finally seen their right to protect their name. They haven't used coercion or extortion against Mr. Joy - they have offered him an ultimatum, a final deal, a take it or leave it in regards to his "onionesque" site save3ABN.

- FHB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 22 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> PP,

> Weak. To equate Linda's name with the name of an entity like 3ABN or Hope or LLNB isn't going to fly.
>
> - FHB

Oh yes, it does fly; It flies very well.

Unless, of course you equate Linda Shelton as having less innate value than The Chosen One at 3ABN. n the end, you're just displaying your own sense of inequality, which is inherent in everything else you say.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 22 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> No similarity at all.......
> 3ABN has every right to protect its name. The SDA church has fought many battles of the use of its name over the years.
>
> - FHB

OKayyyyyyy... gotit... thanks for being so clear.... So 3abn has every right to threaten someone who says anything about the things they do.....

But NO ONE... absolutely NO one... has any right to complain or to protect their own name against 3abn's threats.

Yup... that's what I THOUGHT.... just what you , FHB, said... just what Lee said.... ..... now we wait or the rest of the dannyscribes to check in to confirm it.... OK... we is waitin....

.... TVsnack. ....

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 22 2007, 09:42 PM)
>
> If that's true, then you also believe that Linda Shelton has "every right" to protect her name.
>
> And not just a few rights to protect her name, but "every right."
>
> Linda Shelton will be glad to know you understand.

Pete..... what's got into you man.... have you forgotten all the stuff these dannyscribes been teachin us ....

C'mon now... YOU know better than that....
You know that all rights cease once a Shelton is ousted from the family tree.....
You know that no one speaks anything against the Great Anointed White Father....
And SURELY you know that the GAWF has the right to say whatever he wishes against anyone else, whenever he wants, however he wants.... and has the right to change it at any time he wants....

..... now.... got that through your head now?

OK... here's a blanky for you.... ..... and a couch if'n ya feel the need of lyin down.....

sofa1.gif ......

oooooooh... these dannyscribes... ain't they predictable though....... ....

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 22 2007, 09:19 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 09:06 PM)
>
> 3ABN will be glad to know that you have finally seen their right to protect their name.
> - FHB

If you had any imagination, you'd find you own argument, rather than simply re-writing and re-stating my argument, which is: Linda Shelton has every right to protect her name.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 22 2007, 09:09 PM)
>
> OKayyyyyyy... gotit... thanks for being so clear.... So 3abn has every right to threaten someone who says anything about the things they do.....
>
> Pete..... what's got into you man.... have you forgotten all the stuff these dannyscribes been teachin us ....
>
> C'mon now... YOU know better than that....
> You know that all rights cease once a Shelton is ousted from the family tree.....
> You know that no one speaks anything against the Great Anointed White Father....
> And SURELY you know that the GAWF has the right to say whatever he wishes against anyone else, whenever he wants, however he wants.... and has the right to change it at any time he wants....

> ☒ b ..... now.... got that through your head now?
>
> OK... here's a blanky for you.... ☒ (..... and a couch if'n ya feel the need of lyin down.....
>
> ☒ sofa1.gif ......
>
> oooooooh... these dannyscribes... ain't they predictable though....... ☒ ....

Thanks for the blanky, I need it right now as I curl up into a fetal position behind the couch!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 22 2007, 09:31 PM

☒ sna

I'm waitin' on my papers... I got Mother to take care of, a son to put through school, an education to pay off/start up afresh; then a counseling center to build, a cousin to finsh putting through school (unless she's finished and ain't told me), and some real estate to build....

☒ sna

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 22 2007, 11:12 PM

For those interested, here is the double-speak interpretation of the line in red quoted by Lee.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 22 2007, 09:41 PM) ☐
>
> Save3abn website has made some interesting threats towards 3ABN that constitute blackmail. Here is what is on their site below:
> --
>
> Leonard Westphal Said That and Got Away with It?
> Where This Article Went
> Everything is still here, but is no longer visible to web browsers.
>
> We have covered elsewhere . . .

f you go to the page on the save3abn website and use your browsers "View Source" function here is what you will discover (the main part being what is bolded):

```
<html>
<head>
<title>Leonard Westphal Said That and Got Away with It?</title>
```

```
<meta name="description" content="The sources for our story here felt that they might reap retribution over the publishing of this story. They have asked that we pull it until a later time. We have decided to honor their request.">
<meta name="keywords" content="3ABN, 3-ABN, Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Danny Shelton, Melody Shelton, Tommy Shelton">
<meta http-equiv="Content-Type" content="text/html; charset=x-user-defined">
<meta http-equiv="Content-Language" content="en-us">
<script language="JavaScript" src="/js/f.js" type="text/javascript"></script> <style type="text/css">
```

It is my understanding that the "source" is a terminated employee who purports to be sharing comments made by Mr. Westphal. Isn't it interesting that the JoyPickle will adhere to their "sources" request while completely ignoring the confidentiality of the ASI communications and the request of Dr. Thompson that his emails not be published. But then I guess there is no surprise at their tactics.

Mr. Pickle, did you have the "sources" permission initially, or was it posted prior to receiving their approval and because you rushed to post it you had to backtrack?

- FHB

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 06:00 AM

Another red herring anyone?

☒ sn ☒ pe

Posted by: IMM Feb 23 2007, 06:35 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 09:06 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> Weak. To equate Linda's name with the name of an entity like 3ABN or Hope or LLNB isn't going to fly.
>
> - FHB

FHB, didn't you learn Proverbs 22:1 in Cradle Roll? "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver or gold."

I have always understood that to show the importance of a personal name or a reputation. I'm sure it could apply corporately also.

Now I don't know Linda, have no need to defend her or anyone else. But to say a person's name--any person's name--isn't is "important" as an "entity like 3ABN, HOPE or LLBN" seems really cold. Are you really of the opinion that God considers a person's name of less worth than an organization?

I sincerely hope you didn't mean what you said.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 06:36 AM

FHB it is much appreciated that you are drawing more attention to save3abn. This seems to be a common practice of the dannyscribes, when ever they complain about something they add legitimacy to the anti-dannynites and their sites. Keep up the good work.

Richard

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 23 2007, 09:17 AM

> QUOTE(IMM @ Feb 23 2007, 07:35 AM)
>
> I sincerely hope you didn't mean what you said.

Remember the latin term res ispa loquitur?

Here is a statement from the wiki:

Res ipsa loquitur tends to be an unnecessarily difficult concept for new law students to understand. Because of the resulting confusion, the joke has developed, "Res ipsa loquitur, sed quid in infernos dicet?" ("The thing speaks for itself, but what the hell does it say?")

IMHO I think FHB said quite a lot with his statement that "speaks for itself".

nw

Now that I have thought further, isn't the obvious position behind the statement the basis of what is behind some of what happened at 3ABN and the seemingly quick actions taken by the 3ABN board?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 09:42 AM anti-dannynites Richard, if you keep this up and you'll end up with a branch on the tree.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 23 2007, 07:36 AM)
>
> FHB it is much appreciated that you are drawing more attention to save3abn. This seems to be a common practice of the dannyscribes, when ever they complain about something they add legitimacy to the anti-dannynites and their sites. Keep up the good work.
>
> Richard

Posted by: erik Feb 23 2007, 10:08 AM

[quote name='fallible humanbeing' date='Feb 22 2007, 07:06 PM' post='180094']
PP,

Weak. To equate Linda's name with the name of an entity like 3ABN or Hope or LLNB isn't going to fly.

- FHB

FHB,

I fail to understand were you think that entity even one raised up by God like 3abn has more value then a person, The Lord Jesus Died for Linda and for Danny And for Tommy, But he did not Die for 3abn.

That makes Linda or any living person more important then any entity or organization, at least that is how I read the bible, Or can you show texts that make that wrong?

I would also like to point out that at times many on Blacksda(myself included) Might post in away that makes it sound like maybe we have forgotten that Jesus died for LINDA, DANNY, and TOMMY.
YET that fact has has been pointed out often has well.

The other thing that is somehow missed by some here(if the shoe fits were it) is that Truth is more important then any person or organization .

It appears to any outsider like myself that 3abn, Danny, Tommy, and their supporters seem to think that because they have a tv Show that Speaks truth, that makes Very thing they do Truth, well it is not so.

Linda has clear stated clearly and with out change that she did not have an Affair, Danny choose not Provided more then side notes has the proof of his charges. The sakes for truth are very high since Danny now has remarried. As a Speaker of the undulated 3 angels message, do we expect Danny to be perfect nope not at all, but do we expect him admit when he is wrong, and by doing so proving that gospel that he is preaching has real power yes.

Now les look at tommy, and those around him. Unlike linda we have direct statements charging tommy with more then 3 different affairs over a period of time. Yet that direct statement has not been directly and simple denied, and in fact a letter written by tommy himself makes it sound like something funny went on. Is the 3 three angels message so weak that it can not change the heart of serial cheater on his wife, I rather think not.

If tommy is not guilty then a simple I did not have any kind of sexually active over the last 30 plus years. with any person other then my wife, would in my mind go miles towards proving his not guilty status. yet to my knowledge that not happened.
OR if he is guilty what would prove the power of the three angels message then for him to admit I wronged the following person, i am sorry for my actions, and i claim the power of the gospel to live a changed life.

3abn' s leadership needs to decide if they are willing to walk the walk of the message that preach.

ERik

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 23 2007, 10:29 AM

For some reason, I can't get erik post to allow me to quote it, but I agree with what he said about Tommy. Tommy can't make a statement that nothing happened, and he knows it. It would be a lie. All that is left to do is to admit it and apologize, and get right with God. I still believe there would be forgiveness and acceptance with many. I know there would with me.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 23 2007, 11:43 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 23 2007, 12:29 PM) ☐
>
> For some reason, I can't get erik post to allow me to quote it

I couldn't respond to Erik's post either so it isn't quoted here.

Erik,

I didn't raise Linda's name. In fact, bringing her name into the discussion diverted the discussion from its natural flow.

Post #2 (Richard Sherwin):

> QUOTE
>
> And all the legal papers filed against save3abn telling them to stop or else is not blackmail?

Post #4 (Fallible Humanbeing)

> QUOTE
>
> No similarity at all. If anything it is more akin to the argument between Apple and Cisco about the name "iPhone." Or, the lawsuit by an organization started by the Beatles over the use of the name "Apple" and the "Apple" logo.
>
> 3ABN has every right to protect its name. The SDA church has fought many battles of the use of its name over the years.

Post #5 (Richard Sherwin)

> QUOTE
>
> Protecting it's name is but one small part of their threat, but hey, you knew that, right?

Post #7 (where Panama Pete sarcastically throws Linda's name into the discussion)

> QUOTE
>
> If that's true, then you also believe that Linda Shelton has "every right" to protect her name. And not just a few rights to protect her name, but "every right."

The thread was started by Lee and focused on the veiled threat in the carefully crafted page on the PickleJoy website. The issue of legal actions was in regards to the cease and desist letter sent to Gailon A. Joy in regards to his website. My comments were in no way designed to make comment on Linda Shelton's personal name (and what PP is really refereing to is Linda's reputation which is in need of repair, not her "name" per se)

3ABN has a right to keep its name from being part of the domain name of that website. What would happen if the supporters of 3ABN built a website titled www.saveLindaShelton.com or www.LindaShelton-needs-saving.com? The ire on BSDA and its sister site MSDAOL would result in a column of smoke that could be seen for thousands of miles.

There is a difference between an individuals name and the name of a business entity. Even many of those who are out to do away with Danny see that by not wanting 3ABN's "good name" to be "sullied" by Danny. They see the difference between disparaging an individual and keeping the networks name clear. Sure Linda has every right to repair her reputation either by admitting what she has been responsible for over the years or the failure of 3ABN to provide its evidence in court.

But to say that Bill Gates name is to be viewed the same way Microsoft is or Steve Jobs and Apple isn't valid. Neither of those men would see them as being the same thing.

The main point, Erik, is that the discussion had nothing to do with Linda or her reputation - it was a discussion about 3ABN and the PickleJoy web site. Panama Pete interject the diversion.

- FHB

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 23 2007, 11:43 AM)
>
> I
> The thread was started by Lee and focused on the veiled threat in the carefully crafted page on the PickleJoy website. The issue of legal actions was in regards to the cease and desist letter sent to Gailon A. Joy in regards to his website. My comments were in no way designed to make comment on Linda Shelton's personal name (and what PP is really refereing to is Linda's reputation which is in need of repair, not her "name" per se)
>
> 3ABN has a right to keep its name from being part of the domain name of that website. What would happen if the supporters of 3ABN built a website titled www.saveLindaShelton.com or www.LindaShelton-needs-saving.com? The ire on BSDA and its sister site MSDAOL would result in a column of smoke that could be seen for thousands of miles.
>
> - FHB

FHB can you imagine the chaos if 3abn did as you said on a savelinda site and posted every bit of evidence against her, then got signed statements from disgruntled employees that worked under her, People that would swear in court that she lied about numerous things, had participated in any number of improprieties, would say she had treated people like her own personal slaves..had treated DS like a dog to get her own way, could bring up her first marriage and what her ex had to say about her, etc....etc
I'm just saying none of that has to be true or not. But look how easy it would be to do exactly what picklejoy are doing. When something like that happens, enemies you didn't even know you had will come out of the woodwork to talk against you. On top of that, we, the "investigators" could twist and turn and change what what evidence we had, to even make it look 10 times worse.

What they have done is easy, so easy, to do.
Look who's doing it and who's not.
Wouldn't you agree FHB

Posted by: watchbird Feb 23 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:05 PM)
>
> FHB can you imagine the chaos if 3abn did as you said on a savelinda site and posted every bit of evidence against her, then got signed statements from disgruntled employees that worked under her,
> People that would swear in court that she lied about numerous things, had participated in any number of improprieties, would say she had treated people like her own personal slaves..had treated DS like a dog to get her own way, could bring up her first marriage and what her ex had to say about her, etc....etc
> I'm just saying none of that has to be true or not. But look how easy it would be to do exactly what picklejoy are doing. When something like that happens, enemies you didn't even know you had will come out of the woodwork to talk against you. On top of that, we, the "investigators" could twist and turn and change what what evidence we had, to even make it look 10 times worse.
> What they have done is easy, so easy, to do.
> Look who's doing it and who's not.
> Wouldn't you agree FHB

Ah... but why would you do that... when it is soooooo much easier to do on your very own TV channel to the world......

And btw.... ..... for letting us in on so many of your "trade secrets" as to how you have been handling things for the last several years..... albeit on a MUCH wider varieties of communication than a mere website......

You are Sooooooo helpful to those of us who are looking for clues as to how your mind thinks.

You should understand though... that truthful people do not even think of this type of thing all on their own... truth is soooo much easier to handle than the most cleverly devised lies.....

Oh well...... to each his own.... ye who are of your father, the father of lies, would, I am sure, not be comfortable handling the simple unadorned truth......

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 23 2007, 12:37 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 23 2007, 11:43 AM)
>
> There is a difference between an individuals name and the name of a business entity. Even many of those who are out to do away with Danny see that by not wanting 3ABN's "good name" to be "sullied" by Danny. They see the difference between disparaging an individual and keeping the networks name clear. Sure Linda has every right to repair her reputation either by admitting what > she has been responsible for over the years or the failure of 3ABN to provide its evidence in court.

s that what 3ABN is???

\ business entity?????

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:19 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 23 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> Ah... but why would you do that... when it is soooooo much easier to do on your very own TV channel to the world......
>
> And btw.... sig ..... for letting us in on so many of your "trade secrets" as to how you have been handling things for the last several years..... albeit on a MUCH wider varieties of communication than a mere website......

Vow are you pickle in disguise? or Joy maybe. If not you certainly have learned their tactic on nserting their own words and opinions and stating it as fact.
'our other statement isn't true either, but if it was 100 % it would take one to know one. You, sister ınd sonshineonme have slandered, and defamed with faulty info that you could have gained, only hrough one source. You have proven that, far from taking the high road, and keeping silent ;he has been a busy bee providing different ones with her info. Whether you are disgruntled :xemployees or maybe members of LS's church, it all adds up to the same thing. You are mouthpieces ınd have been fed. Most times, I prefer to scroll past all 3 of your posts but providing such valuable nfo as you have, it's hard to do.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:23 PM

bystander the dannyscribe wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> You are mouthpieces and have been fed.

)ot. kettle. black.......

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:23 PM)
>
> bystander the dannyscribe wrote:
>
> pot. kettle. black.......

Clay I am beginning to question your feelings for me. Everytime I address someone's post you pop on and answer. It's almost like you can't help yourself. Could it be love.... Please say no, you know those internet relationships almost never work out.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:34 PM)
>
> Clay I am beginning to question your feelings for me. Everytime I address someone's post you pop on and answer. It's almost like you can't help yourself. Could it be love.... Please say no, you know those internet relationships almost never work out.

I told you Bystander dannyscribe you are my favorite... so expect me to respond to almost anything you post... I am here to remind you that like Thomas Jefferson you talk out of both sides of your mouth (or screenname), that you supposedly hold up high standards but you sneak down to the "quarters" when you think no one is watching to try and do your dirt.... I am here to let you know we pay attention and see through your facade.....

so post away....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> I told you Bystander dannyscribe you are my favorite... so expect me to respond to almost anything you post... I am here to remind you that like Thomas Jefferson you talk out of both sides of your mouth (or screenname), that you supposedly hold up high standards but you sneak down to the "quarters" when you think no one is watching to try and do your dirt.... I am here to let you know we pay attention and see through your facade.....
>
> so post away....

I am also fond of you too clay, you always give me a good laugh. You never bring anything valid to the table. You just hurl insults at us or repeat what your friends say. You can call me dannyscribe, I don't mind, sticks and stones....but you are the one dancing to the puppet master and don't even know it.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:55 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:45 PM)
>
> I am also fond of you too clay, you always give me a good laugh. You never bring anything valid to the table. You just hurl insults at us or repeat what your friends say. You can call me dannyscribe, I don't mind, sticks and stones....but you are the one dancing to the puppet master and don't even know it.

I speak the truth... and unlike you and your kindred dannyscribettes, I don't hide... don't sneak around doing dirt... as for value, you think too highly of yourself if you think that what you have contributed to this discussion is valuable..... about the only thing you have done is confirmed in people's mind that Danny has done wrong, as has his brother....

as for what you are doing, your actions are more like those of an automaton.... you know what that is right? it is somebody who acts like machine: somebody who behaves like a machine in emotionlessly obeying instructions and performing repetitive actions....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 02:14 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 22 2007, 08:06 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> Weak. To equate Linda's name with the name of an entity like 3ABN or Hope or LLNB isn't going to fly.
>
> - FHB

FHB

Many have already commented on your statement, but I feel compelled to do so as well.

What comes to mind is that God so loved the world that He gave His only Son that whosoever believes... and you know the rest. Linda is one of those "whosoevers" that God thought of enough importance to allow the sacrifice of Jesus.

Did God send Jesus to be the Lamb for the Sanhedrin or for Paul? The Levitical priesthood or those bringing in their offerings? The institution or the individual?

It is this kind of thinking, inflating the importance of the name or reputation of an institution (such as the ministry known as 3abn) over the importance of the individual, that allows for said institutions to feel it appropriate to sacrifice the reputations and well being of victims of abuse in order to protect their "good name".

It is the individual (like Linda, Duane, Brad, you, me, etc.) that is important, and any entity that believes or behaves otherwise does not have God's Spirit at its core. That entity or ministry is filled with nothing more than hot air.

PB

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:55 PM)
>
> I speak the truth... and unlike you and your kindred dannyscribettes, I don't hide... don't sneak around doing dirt... as for value, you think too highly of yourself if you think that what you have contributed to this discussion is valuable..... about the only thing you have done is confirmed in people's mind that Danny has done wrong, as has his brother....

You are correct that you don't hide and you don't "dig" for dirt. You don't "hide" because you have nothing to say. You parrot others. You don't "dig" for dirt, that would take too much effort. Easier to just go along with the others. Your last what...4 posts to me have shown, beyond a shadow of a doubt that your "written word" consists of name calling, attacks on the person you are talking to and not much of anything else. You remind me of the school bully that can't think for himself...all he can do is call names and make empty threats.
Oh well, if that makes you happy clay, have at it. Lord knows there is so little enjoyment in this world....

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 02:40 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> You are correct that you don't hide and you don't "dig" for dirt. You don't "hide" because you have nothing to say. You parrot others. You don't "dig" for dirt, that would take too much effort. Easier to just go along with the others. Your last what...4 posts to me have shown, beyond a shadow of a doubt that your "written word" consists of name calling, attacks on the person you are talking to and not much of anything else. You remind me of the school bully that can't think for himself...all he can do is call names and make empty threats.
> Oh well, if that makes you happy clay, have at it. Lord knows there is so little enjoyment in this world....

love you too Bystander.... I am just doing what you have done since arriving.... of course you have found other reasons to stay.....fever burning you up isnt it......

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 02:40 PM)
>
> love you too Bystander.... I am just doing what you have done since arriving.... of course you have found other reasons to stay.....fever burning you up isnt it......

I am worn out, again, for searching and searching for some "substance" here. It alludes me once again.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 02:48 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:45 PM)
>
> I am worn out, again, for searching and searching for some "substance" here. It alludes me once again.

thats a problem you had before you arrived here.... and of course your inability to pay attention has not helped....

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 03:09 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> I am worn out, again, for searching and searching for some "substance" here. It alludes me once again.

You may have had a great many things alluded to you... but substance in your conversations has never been one of them...

BTW, the word you are seeking and unable to find is 'eludes'... as in you elude your responsibility as a purported Christian to uphold the truth when you allude to the alleged guilt of others in order to divert the spotlight from Danny...but your allusion is quickly seen for the illusion it is... and no, there's no substance in those either.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: JustTana Feb 23 2007, 03:12 PM

Clay, you are too much!! rofl

JT

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 03:16 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 23 2007, 10:43 AM)
>
> The thread was started by Lee and focused on the veiled threat in the carefully crafted page on the PickleJoy website. The issue of legal actions was in regards to the cease and desist letter sent to Gailon A. Joy in regards to his website. My comments were in no way designed to make comment on Linda Shelton's personal name (and what PP is really refereing to is Linda's reputation which is > in need of repair, not her "name" per se)

Vhile you may see this discussion of Linda as off Lee's original topic, it has been brought up and liscussed by quite a few and might be seen as a sub-topic, IMO. What I found when I went to 'heFreeDictionary online is that "name" is a synonym of "reputation" so trying to separate the two ust won't work.

ıttp://www.thefreedictionary.com/reputation

> QUOTE
>
> 3ABN has a right to keep its name from being part of the domain name of that website. What would happen if the supporters of 3ABN built a website titled www.saveLindaShelton.com or www.LindaShelton-needs-saving.com? The ire on BSDA and its sister site MSDAOL would result in a column of smoke that could be seen for thousands of miles.

.et's see what the courts decide regarding the save3abn website. While we are waiting, I would urge 'ou and Bystander to start www.saveLindaShelton.com, worded however you deem appropriate, and encourage 3abn supporters and former employees unhappy with Linda to post their statements there. think it would be very informative.

> QUOTE
>
> There is a difference between an individuals name and the name of a business entity. Even many of those who are out to do away with Danny see that by not wanting 3ABN's "good name" to be "sullied" by Danny. They see the difference between disparaging an individual and keeping the networks name clear. Sure Linda has every right to repair her reputation either by admitting what she has been responsible for over the years or the failure of 3ABN to provide its evidence in court.
>
> But to say that Bill Gates name is to be viewed the same way Microsoft is or Steve Jobs and Apple isn't valid. Neither of those men would see them as being the same thing.
>
> The main point, Erik, is that the discussion had nothing to do with Linda or her reputation - it was a discussion about 3ABN and the PickleJoy web site. Panama Pete interject the diversion.
>
> - FHB

\ctually, TheFreeDictionary online states, referring to an entity "Persons and corporations are equivalent entities under the law". http://www.thefreedictionary.com/entity

'hose who have come to the conclusion that there are wrongs that have been perpetrated by some nside of the ministry and want to see repentance, restitution and restoration don't want to see the ninistry damaged by those wrongs, but it is those who have committed those wrongs that truly letermine if the ministry's name becomes disparaged. They are also the ones who have the power to estore the reputations/good names of those who their actions have damaged. If the charges made igainst Linda are false, their duty is clear. If the allegations against Tommy are true, their duty is also :lear.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:45 PM)
>
> I am worn out, again, for searching and searching for some "substance" here. It alludes me once again.

Hon, you might see the substance here if you would remove that large wooden denial beam from in front of your dear face. Just a suggestion.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 07:18 PM

I would like to remind everyone that we would not be having this discussion if Danny would allow a free and open inquiry into all allegations.

This really has descended into an "I-know-you-are-but-what-am-I" discussion.

But I hasten to add that all fhb and Bystander have brought to these boards is a bunch of "That's-not-true-they'd-never-do-that" and "you-terrible-people-for-thinking-so---evidence-be-damned."

As has been so helpfully pointed out, nobody at 3ABN will even deny these charges. Even through their lawyers.

Step down, Danny. For the love of Jesus.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:21 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 23 2007, 05:09 PM)
>
> You may have had a great many things alluded to you... but substance in your conversations has never been one of them...
>
> BTW, the word you are seeking and unable to find is 'eludes'... as in you elude your responsibility as a purported Christian to uphold the truth when you allude to the alleged guilt of others in order to divert the spotlight from Danny...but your allusion is quickly seen for the illusion it is... and no, there's no substance in those either.

Broke it down as far as it could be broketh!

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 05:41 PM)
>
> Hon, you might see the substance here if you would remove that large wooden denial beam from in front of your dear face. Just a suggestion.

I like it said like this....

"How can you remove the toothpick from your brother's eye when you have a telephone pole in your own?"

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 07:29 PM

Well said.

Even a person who believes that Dan/Tom and company are completely innocent should be able to understand that it would be best for 3abn for DS to step down until this controversy runs it's course. But then it is said that DS is a stubborn man....

Richard

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 08:18 PM)
>
> I would like to remind everyone that we would not be having this discussion if Danny would allow a free and open inquiry into all allegations.
>
> This really has descended into an "I-know-you-are-but-what-am-I" discussion.
>
> But I hasten to add that all fhb and Bystander have brought to these boards is a bunch of "That's-not-true-they'd-never-do-that" and "you-terrible-people-for-thinking-so---evidence-be-damned."
>
> As has been so helpfully pointed out, nobody at 3ABN will even deny these charges. Even through their lawyers.
>
> Step down, Danny. For the love of Jesus.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:49 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 09:18 PM)
>
> I would like to remind everyone that we would not be having this discussion if Danny would allow a free and open inquiry into all allegations.
>
> This really has descended into an "I-know-you-are-but-what-am-I" discussion.
>
> But I hasten to add that all fhb and Bystander have brought to these boards is a bunch of "That's-not-true-they'd-never-do-that" and "you-terrible-people-for-thinking-so---evidence-be-damned."
>
> As has been so helpfully pointed out, nobody at 3ABN will even deny these charges. Even through their lawyers.
>
> Step down, Danny. For the love of Jesus.

Very eloquently put....

Posted by: Lee Feb 23 2007, 08:03 PM

Here is a second threat of blackmail, this time from Mr. Joy below. It came from his web site, save3abn.com Read the last paragraph carefully.

I'm sure that we could all feel comfortable with joining in prayer for this purpose.
Special News Bulletin!
We have received the following special alert:

Prayer Requests February 21

Special Request
God has impressed 3ABN's administrative staff that we need to call for a day of fasting and prayer to seek His face. This special season of prayer has been scheduled for:

Thursday, February 22, 2007, 9:30am–4:30pm

Ten department heads will be gathering together at the Thompsonville Church to fast and pray during those hours—an Upper Room experience, if you will. 3ABN's Board of Directors, and leaders of several other ministries will be joining us in spirit in this effort.

We will alternate between group and individual prayer time for those seven hours. Our prayer focus will begin with repentance, consecration and a desire for united hearts (specifically to be one in spirit with the Lord, operating by the mind of Christ). We will be praying for the Holy Spirit to fall upon us as He did on the day of Pentecost. Our goal is to seek God's guidance—asking Him to outline our plan of defense against Satan's attack, praying for Him to root out the enemy from within (giving them a change of heart and possibility of restoration), asking for ministry direction, praying for funds, and asking God's protection over the spiritual babes He has brought into the fold through 3ABN's ministry (that their faith will not be destroyed, and they will not be snared by the web of lies Satan is weaving).

Pray the Lord to cause us to hear His still, small voice, making clear His will for the direction we should take, as King Jehoshaphat did in 2 Chronicles, chapter 20, when—surrounded by his enemies (that God did not permit him to destroy)—he proclaimed a fast in all Judah, and assembled the people for prayer. We will look to the Lord for all the answers, and trust He will provide the plan for victory!

In honor of 3ABN's day of fasting and prayer, we invite everyone to join with them in praying that God will reveal to them the true source of difficulty, the true enemy within.

We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.

In the blessed hope,

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 08:51 PM

You behind Lee...this has been discussed already...but you may continue if you like...

sn

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 09:21 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 07:03 PM) ☐
>
> Here is a second threat of blackmail, this time from Mr. Joy below. It came from his web site, save3abn.com Read the last paragraph carefully.
>
> \---

Gailon wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> In honor of 3ABN's day of fasting and prayer, we invite everyone to join with them in praying that God will reveal to them the true source of difficulty, the true enemy within.
>
> We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.
>
> In the blessed hope,
>
> Gailon Arthur Joy
> AUReporter
>
> \---

Lee,
Blackmail? If 3abn would be willing to clean their house and take care of the victims their cover up and denial has left in its wake there would be no need for save3abn or this particular forum.

Posted by: Lee Feb 23 2007, 10:20 PM

Let me tell you what Mr. Joy is really saying here. Below is a repeat of what Mr. Joy said on his site:

\---

We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.

\---

If you will read closely, you will see that this is carefully written to look like a generous offer. But instead it is saying IF you will handle this in a "christian way" THEN we will not post any more material in a public way.

THAT is called BLACKMAIL!

What Mr. Joy is saying in regular language is: "Hey--call off your lawyers and we can settle this but if you don't, we will publish more." What a sad thing to offer because they HAD their chance with ASI but blew it. I'm afraid it doesn't look good for Pickle/Joy.

Oh, and much of what they publish is twisted or outright lies!

BTW, I knew this was late DrRe--but the principle of blackmail was still there.

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 23 2007, 10:37 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 10:20 PM)
>
> Let me tell you what Mr. Joy is really saying here.

...and do you receive an official salary for interpreteting for Mr. Joy??? Where were you when Ari Fleischer resigned??? As far as I have seen, Mr. Joy is quite articulate and makes his comments in English...don't need you to interpret...

Posted by: Observer Feb 24 2007, 05:39 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 09:20 PM)
>
> Let me tell you what Mr. Joy is really saying here. Below is a repeat of what Mr. Joy said on his site:
>
> ---
> We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.
>
> ---
> If you will read closely, you will see that this is carefully written to look like a generous offer. But instead it is saying IF you will handle this in a "christian way" THEN we will not post any more material in a public way.
>
> THAT is called BLACKMAIL!
>
> What Mr. Joy is saying in regular language is: "Hey--call off your lawyers and we can settle this but if you don't, we will publish more." What a sad thing to offer because they HAD their chance with ASI but blew it. I'm afraid it doesn't look good for Pickle/Joy.
>
> Oh, and much of what they publish is twisted or outright lies!
>
> BTW, I knew this was late DrRe--but the principle of blackmail was still there.

Well with that type of logic you would have to say that Mr. Duffy's letter to Mr. Joy was blackmail. After all, it demanded that Mr. Joy cease posting on save3abn.

[NOTE: It is not my position that Mr. Duffy attempted to blackmail Mr. Joy. I am simply pointing out your logic.]

Rather than blackmail, I see it as Mr. Joy agreeing to the demand of Mr. Duffy. In essence, Mr. Joy has said: O.K. We will stop posting as you ask, if in return you do . . . . That is not blackmail. that is negotiation.

Is negotiation blackmail? Well, look into the legal history of the law firm that Mr. Duffy represents. You will find that the firm that Mr. Duffy represents has over its history negotiated a lot of settlements that were never taken litigated to a decision by a judge (Of course the negotiated agreement may have been entered by the judge as a decision.). You will also find that his firm has a reputation in the legal community of negotiating settlements, at least when certain of its lawyers are the lead attorney in a case. (This is not true for every one.) That reputation is seen as a positive one for the firm, as it reaches a settlement, while saving the client legal fees.

On another note of interest: A statement that a law firm has never lost a case can only be made by a firm that negotiates a fair amount of settlements. Any law firm with a fair amount of cases, and that has been in business for some time, will lose some cases eventually, unless they negotiate. Negotiation is seen in the legal community as being reasonable.

FYI: Folks, for people who know how to obtain the information, a lot of information is available regarding lawyers and law firms as to how they conduct their business and/or litigate. That knowledge is always helpful to people on the other side. That information does not always come from Martindale.

NOTE: For the record, the legal community considers the firm Mr. Duffy represents to be ethical. As an ethical legal firm, it would not engage in blackmail, or in any other unethical (or illegal) practice. As would be expected for a firm of it's size, it has greater competence is some areas of it's practice than it does in others.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 06:45 AM

So Lee by your logic I use blackmail all the time, we all do, including you. It's summed up by these words: "if you, then I (or we)". If you do such and such then we will do such and such. This is not blackmail by any stretch of logic. For instance: If you bring up your Bible grade to a B then I will buy you a new computer. If you do the dishes then I will do the laundry. If you work 2000 hours a year then I will pay you $40,000 dollars. If you use logic Lee then we will not say you do not I did not just blackmail you, but by your logic I did. My humble apology sir.

Richard

Posted by: ida Feb 24 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 24 2007, 04:20 AM)
>
> Let me tell you what Mr. Joy is really saying here. Below is a repeat of what Mr. Joy said on his site:
>
> --
>
> We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.
>
> --
>
> If you will read closely, you will see that this is carefully written to look like a generous offer. But > instead it is saying IF you will handle this in a "christian way" THEN we will not post any more material in a public way.

>
> THAT is called BLACKMAIL!
>
> What Mr. Joy is saying in regular language is: "Hey--call off your lawyers and we can settle this but if you don't, we will publish more." What a sad thing to offer because they HAD their chance with ASI but blew it. I'm afraid it doesn't look good for Pickle/Joy.
>
> Oh, and much of what they publish is twisted or outright lies!
>
> BTW, I knew this was late DrRe--but the principle of blackmail was still there.

So you call an appeal to handle things in a Christian Way blackmail? Are you demanding it be handled n an unchristian way?

What is twisted? What are outright lies? Would your answer to these questions go too much into details, which you want to avoid, since Danny Shelton himself says that the devil is the god of details?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 09:51 AM

If there is nothing to hide Lee then you should encourage save3abn to go to the media so that 3abn can get their version of the truth out. Indeed if 3abn has nothing to hide then they should be the ones going to the media to expose the naysayers.

As Aunt B said, "Truth invites examination and needs no defense. Lies hide in darkness and blame everyone else."

Richard

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 24 2007, 10:22 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 10:20 PM)
>
> If you will read closely, you will see that this is carefully written to look like a generous offer. But instead it is saying IF you will handle this in a "christian way" THEN we will not post any more material in a public way.
>
> THAT is called BLACKMAIL!

So you don't like "IF" and "THEN"? Well, how about this:

IF my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; THEN will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." 2 Chronicles 7:14 KJV s this blackmail?

Posted by: sister Feb 24 2007, 10:57 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 24 2007, 10:20 AM)
>
> If you will read closely, you will see that this is carefully written to look like a generous offer. But instead it is saying IF you will handle this in a "christian way" THEN we will not post any more material in a public way.
>
> THAT is called BLACKMAIL!

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 24 2007, 11:22 AM)
>
> So you don't like "IF" and "THEN"? Well, how about this:
>
> "IF my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; THEN will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." 2 Chronicles 7:14 KJV
>
> Is this blackmail?

Amen, Duane! The same thought and the same exact text popped into my mind, while reading the comments preceding yours. So, by Lee's reasoning, God is the greatest Blackmailer of all? Lee, shame on you for using the tactics of Satan, while claiming to represent the LORD in your defense of Danny Shelton and Co.

Sister

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 11:03 AM

By Lee's reasoning all humans would be blackmailers. Even my dog would be. We make deals dozens of times every single day, it's called living, not black mail.

How so my dog? If you give me a treat then I'll roll over...if I'm in the mood maybe.

Richard

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 24 2007, 11:57 AM)
>
> Amen, Duane! The same thought and the same exact text popped into my mind, while reading the comments preceding yours. So, by Lee's reasoning, God is the greatest Blackmailer of all? Lee, shame on you for using the tactics of Satan.
>
> Sister

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 24 2007, 02:33 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Feb 23 2007, 11:37 PM) ☐
>
> ... Where were you when Ari Fleischer resigned??? ...

Did someone say my name?

☒ Attached Image

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 02:48 PM

[In the blessed hope,

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter

[/quote]

Would someone please explain to me what AU reporter Means? Awful close to ap reporter which we know he is not. Does anyone know?

Posted by: Observer Feb 24 2007, 04:36 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 01:48 PM) ☐
>
> [In the blessed hope,
>
> Gailon Arthur Joy
> AUReporter
> --
> Would someone please explain to me what AU reporter Means? Awful close to ap reporter which we know he is not. Does anyone know?

It has private meaning, which goes back in time, and really is not revelant here. He used that term prior to his involvement in the 3-ABN mess.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 24 2007, 07:59 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 24 2007, 05:36 PM)
>
> It has private meaning, which goes back in time, and really is not revelant here. He used that term prior to his involvement in the 3-ABN mess.

Excuse me? Why wouldn't it be relevant? It's not just a title he used prior to this, the truth is he is still using it, and has never stopped using it.

He just signed his name with his title as "AU Reporter" underneath it, when he posted the notice from 3ABN on his website referred to above. In addition he used it in writing to me within the last week: "Again, discovery is a wonderful thing...and we add Alethia to the witness list!!!

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter"

Is it supposed to make him sound official, or like some kind of authority?

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 24 2007, 08:21 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 24 2007, 11:57 AM)
>
> Amen, Duane! The same thought and the same exact text popped into my mind, while reading the comments preceding yours. So, by Lee's reasoning, God is the greatest Blackmailer of all? Lee, shame on you for using the tactics of Satan, while claiming to represent the LORD in your defense of Danny Shelton and Co.
>
> Sister

The difference would be God's blessings and curses are conditional, based on obedience, but he does not attempt to force the will, nor does he ever try to force a repentance, The Holy Spirit woo's, for it isn't an antichrist spirit, but a representative of Christ.

Pickle and Joy and others have been trying to get their way through methods and tactics God never uses. Noy only that, but their public campaign is in disobedience to Jesus words and the exact opposite of what Ellen White writes about "publish it Not!".

And there are many examples of this type of spirit being displayed beisdes in the posted words of Gailon Joy above.

Here's two others:

QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM)
I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?

Bob Pickle:
Are you suggesting we should stand back and wait for God to send a lightning bolt? Do you honestly think that's the kindest, mopst merciful, most godly approach?

And do you think we should just stand back and let Danny compromise the financial security of the denomination through his lies and cover up, if Walt Thompson's account of what Danny told hium be correct? I think not.

QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 10:43 AM)
I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?

Bob Pickle:
One way to look at it is that there is a very easy way to shut all of the discussion down regarding Tommy, Danny, and 3ABN. All we need is for Danny to make certain choices, and it's all over.

Thus far he hasn't wanted to do that. I hope he changes his mind soon before it gets any worse.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 08:38 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 24 2007, 04:36 PM)
>
> It has private meaning, which goes back in time, and really is not revelant here. He used that term prior to his involvement in the 3-ABN mess.

If it has a private meaning and is not relevant then why is he using it publicly and using it as if it does have relevance? It portrays him as something he is not.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 08:42 PM

If you can hide your identity certainly Mr. Joy can have keep something to himself, no?

Honestly what do they teach in schools these day? (Apologies to CS Lewis) Kool aid drinkers one and all.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 24 2007, 09:21 PM)
>
> The difference would be God's blessings and curses are conditional, based on obedience, but he does not attempt to forçe the will, nor does he ever try to force a repentance, The Holy Spirit woo's, for it isn't an antichrist spirit, but a representative of Christ.
>
> Pickle and Joy and others have been trying to get their way through methods and tactics God never uses. Noy only that their public campaign is in disobedience to Jesus words and the exact opposite of what Ellen White writes about "publish it Not!".
>
> And there are many examples of this type of spirit being displayed beisdes in the posted words of Gailon Joy above.
>
> Here's two others:
> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM)

> I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
>
> Bob Pickle:
> Are you suggesting we should stand back and wait for God to send a lightning bolt? Do you honestly think that's the kindest, mopst merciful, most godly approach?
>
> And do you think we should just stand back and let Danny compromise the financial security of the denomination through his lies and cover up, if Walt Thompson's account of what Danny told hium be correct? I think not.
> --------------------
>
> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 10:43 AM)
> I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?
> Bob Pickle:
> One way to look at it is that there is a very easy way to shut all of the discussion down regarding Tommy, Danny, and 3ABN. All we need is for Danny to make certain choices, and it's all over.
>
> Thus far he hasn't wanted to do that. I hope he changes his mind soon before it gets any worse.

ot kettle black wwjd indeed

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 09:38 PM)
>
> If it has a private meaning and is not relevant then why is he using it publicly and using it as if it does have relevance? It portrays him as something he is not.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 24 2007, 08:49 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 09:42 PM)
>
> If you can hide your identity certainly Mr. Joy can have keep something to himself, no?
>
> Honestly what do they teach in schools these day? (Apologies to CS Lewis) Kool aid drinkers one and all.
>
> Pot kettle black wwjd indeed uRepoter is a title he's using, and it's not secret nor anonymous.... He boldly displays it under his ame in all that he writes as if it has some signifigance.

nd-- ave you ever noticed that the majority of witnesses against D.S. and 3ABN , and the majority of lleged victims of Tommy Shelton are anonymous and you and others are only offended by wwjd, and ~~observers~~ Bystander's anonymous posts, and only make an issue with them about it?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 09:06 PM

I think you might find, with a bit of checking that many, if not most, of the principles that are accusing DS and TS of anything are quite willing to have their real names on their posts. But I see very few of the Dannynites telling who they really are, including you. But really that's your prerogative.

And I'm assuming you did not mean observer but in fact meant bystander? I have no problem what-so-ever with anonymous posts unless they take exception with others being anonymous. Now I do wish the wwjd would use another assumed name as I find any person using the letters wwjd a little offensive.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 24 2007, 09:49 PM)
>
> AuRepoter is a title he's using, and it's not secret nor anonymous.... He boldly displays it under his name in all that he writes as if it has some signifigance.
> And--
> Have you ever noticed that the majority of witnesses against D.S. and 3ABN , and the majority of alleged victims of Tommy Shelton are anonymous and you and others are only offended by wwjd, and observers anonymous posts, and only make an issue with them about it?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 08:42 PM)
>
> If you can hide your identity certainly Mr. Joy can have keep something to himself, no?
>
> Honestly what do they teach in schools these day? (Apologies to CS Lewis) Kool aid drinkers one and all.

No he can't. reason why? He is signing his full name yes but putting AU reporter under it is implying some kind of professional vocation as a reporter. He is not. Of course, why should I wonder...It goes along with his "professional" law degree, and his "professional" PI credentials and his "professional" unmitigated gaul that he is someone who 3ABN must answer to. At least he is consistent in all of his "professional" mo's

---

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 09:45 PM

I suppose we could do some speculating as to what AU means Andrews University, Allways Unadvised, Associated Undertakers?

Richard

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 10:33 PM)
>
> No he can't. reason why? He is signing his full name yes but putting AU reporter under it is implying some kind of professional vocation as a reporter. He is not. Of course, why should I wonder...It goes along with his "professional" law degree, and his "professional" PI credentials and his "professional" unmitigated gaul that he is someone who 3ABN must answer to. At least he is consistent in all of his "professional" mo's

---

Posted by: Observer Feb 24 2007, 09:52 PM

> QUOTE
>
> . . . observers anonymous posts. . .

I believe that my true name is listed in all of the posts that I have ever made here. Even though I call Imyself "Observer" I am not posting anonymously. I am Gregory Matthews. That information is posted in my posts. Read it at the bottom of this one.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 09:59 PM

I think Altheia just made a honest mistake and really meant Bystander. Afterall you two have such similar posts don't you know. rofl

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 24 2007, 10:52 PM)
>
> I believe that my true name is listed in all of the posts that I have ever made here. Even though I call Imyself "Observer" I am not posting anonymously. I am Gregory Matthews. That information is posted in my posts. Read it at the bottom of this one.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 24 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 10:45 PM)
>
> I suppose we could do some speculating as to what AU means Andrews University, Allways

> Unadvised, Associated Undertakers?
>
> Richard

here is no need to speculate. Gailon Arthur Joy lives in the Atlantic Union Conference of Seventh-day dventists. He has previously been an activist in reporting on a rather widely ranging assortment of hat he has perceived as problem areas... at local, conference, or union levels. For this purpose he as put out an occasional "magazine" called the Atlantic Union Reporter. His is not the only signature hich appears on articles and/or letters bearing the identifier of Atlantic Union Reporter... or UReporter.

here was a misunderstanding early in his communication with some regarding his interest in the 3abn ituation.... who thought that he was claiming to be an official spokesman for the Atlantic Union onference. However, when queried about this he was very plain that this was NOT the case, that he as neither employed by nor affiliated with the Conference office. He has never claimed to be nything more than an independent individual who is seeking to investigate and report on his findings.

google search on Atlantic Union Reporter turns up but few hits, but one of them (on an "article" bout the need for change at Atlantic Union College in 2003) has this signature and disclaimer ollowing the signatures....

ohn C. Schumacher-Hardy
. Arthur Joy
The Atlantic Union Reporter" *

Please note, "The Atlantic Union Reporter" is not affiliated with the Atlantic Union Conference, tlantic Union College or any of its corporate entities. "The Atlantic Union Reporter" represents a rassroots effort by constituent members to inform and report on issues relevant to the SDA work in he northeast and Bermuda.

f there is a paper called the Atlantic Union Reporter... even if it is an "occasional paper" rather than ne with regular publication dates.... and if someone is a reporter for that paper.... then it is neither nappropriate nor deceptive for that someone to sign himself as AUReporter.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 10:42 PM

Well where the fun in that? I was at least hoping for some conspiracy theories and wild speculations. Man is the truth ever dull.

Just kidding of course. Thanks watchbird for the info.

Richard

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 24 2007, 11:23 PM)
>
> There is no need to speculate. Gailon Arthur Joy lives in the Atlantic Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He has previously been an activist in reporting on a rather widely ranging assortment of what he has perceived as problem areas... at local, conference, or union levels. For this purpose he has put out an occasional "magazine" called the Atlantic Union Reporter. His is not the only signature which appears on articles and/or letters bearing the identifier of Atlantic Union Reporter... or AUReporter.
>
> There was a misunderstanding early in his communication with some regarding his interest in the > 3abn situation.... who thought that he was claiming to be an official spokesman for the Atlantic Union Conference. However, when queried about this he was very plain that this was NOT the case, that he was neither employed by nor affiliated with the Conference office. He has never claimed to be anything more than an independent individual who is seeking to investigate and report on his findings.

>
> A google search on Atlantic Union Reporter turns up but few hits, but one of them (on an "article" about the need for change at Atlantic Union College in 2003) has this signature and disclaimer following the signatures....
>
> John C. Schumacher-Hardy
> G. Arthur Joy
> "The Atlantic Union Reporter" *
>
> * Please note, "The Atlantic Union Reporter" is not affiliated with the Atlantic Union Conference, Atlantic Union College or any of its corporate entities. "The Atlantic Union Reporter" represents a grassroots effort by constituent members to inform and report on issues relevant to the SDA work in the northeast and Bermuda.
>
> If there is a paper called the Atlantic Union Reporter... even if it is an "occasional paper" rather than one with regular publication dates.... and if someone is a reporter for that paper.... then it is neither inappropriate nor deceptive for that someone to sign himself as AUReporter.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 24 2007, 11:27 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 08:45 AM)
>
> So Lee by your logic I use blackmail all the time, we all do, including you. It's summed up by these words: "if you, then I (or we)". If you do such and such then we will do such and such. This is not blackmail by any stretch of logic. For instance: If you bring up your Bible grade to a B then I will buy you a new computer. If you do the dishes then I will do the laundry. If you work 2000 hours a year then I will pay you $40,000 dollars. If you use logic Lee then we will not say you do not I did not just blackmail you, but by your logic I did. My humble apology sir.

roke it down like it couldn't be "broketh"....
he Lang-west
DR

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 11:51 AM)
>
> If there is nothing to hide Lee then you should encourage save3abn to go to the media so that 3abn can get their version of the truth out. Indeed if 3abn has nothing to hide then they should be the ones going to the media to expose the naysayers.
>
> As Aunt B said, "Truth invites examination and needs no defense. Lies hide in darkness and blame everyone else."

nce yet again! You broke it down!

I agree. Let's quit playin' around - let's just bust this out on Inside Edition or Primetime Live. One of those Media News Shows will break it all down, get all the evidence, analyze it to a tee - yeah..... Sue me and I'm going DIRECTLY TO THE MEDIA!!! Get all this over with in two swishes of a lambs' tail....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 24 2007, 11:59 PM)
>
> I think Altheia just made a honest mistake and really meant Bystander. Afterall you two have such similar posts don't you know. rofl

And once again! You are on fiyah nah! Of course Aletheia will not admit to making a mistake. Observer been signing his name in his signature line jes about since he came on here, almost since day one...

Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS. Aletheia is of demonic nature and influence.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 24 2007, 11:49 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 24 2007, 11:27 PM)
>
> Sue me and I'm going DIRECTLY TO THE MEDIA!!! Get all this over with in two swishes of a lambs' tail....

That makes two of us.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 24 2007, 11:55 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 25 2007, 01:49 AM)
>
> That makes two of us.

...and getting paid TWO WAYS!!! From the media show (whatever news/rag mag puts it on blast) and from 3ABN....
They keep threatening to "sue" folks...someone gonna call 'em on it.....

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 25 2007, 05:51 AM

[quote name='Richard Sherwin' date='Feb 24 2007, 10:06 PM' post='180461']
"I think you might find, with a bit of checking that many, if not most, of the principles that are accusing DS and TS of anything are quite willing to have their real names on their posts."

Well I was speaking more of those claiming to be witnesses, or claiming they have personal knowledge such as Sister, with her unauthorized 3ABN history threads, the author of the televangelist, Watchbird, Sonshinonme, HOTY etc...????

And I have noticed that none are willing to make their accusations and claims under their real name...

But I see very few of the Dannynites telling who they really are, including you. But really that's your prerogative.

Perhaps you just haven't noticed that my login name is "Aletheia" and all who are Lindaites delight in calling me "Cindy" instead, and in constantly making remarks about me living in Indiana???? Also since Bob Pickle has my address and phone number at his disposal and actually called me about all this at my home, it is very unlikely the Lindaites don't know who I am, or where I am..

"And I'm assuming you did not mean observer but in fact meant bystander?"

Yes I did, Thankyou. I don't know how I made that mistake.

"I have no problem what-so-ever with anonymous posts unless they take exception with others being anonymous. Now I do wish the wwjd would use another assumed name as I find any person using the letters wwjd a little offensive."

Well I guess it would depend on how you look at people and things... for myself, I take it as a question and reminder for that poster, me, and actually all of us, to think about what would jesus do or say before doing or saying anything. That never seems like a bad idea to me..

Posted by: Observer Feb 25 2007, 06:31 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 24 2007, 09:23 PM)
>
> There is no need to speculate. Gailon Arthur Joy lives in the Atlantic Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists. He has previously been an activist in reporting on a rather widely ranging assortment of what he has perceived as problem areas... at local, conference, or union levels. For this purpose he has put out an occasional "magazine" called the Atlantic Union Reporter. His is not the only signature which appears on articles and/or letters bearing the identifier of Atlantic Union Reporter... or AUReporter.
>
> There was a misunderstanding early in his communication with some regarding his interest in the 3abn situation.... who thought that he was claiming to be an official spokesman for the Atlantic Union Conference. However, when queried about this he was very plain that this was NOT the case, that he was neither employed by nor affiliated with the Conference office. He has never claimed to be anything more than an independent individual who is seeking to investigate and report on his findings.
>
> A google search on Atlantic Union Reporter turns up but few hits, but one of them (on an "article" about the need for change at Atlantic Union College in 2003) has this signature and disclaimer following the signatures....
>
> John C. Schumacher-Hardy

> G. Arthur Joy
> "The Atlantic Union Reporter" *
>
> * Please note, "The Atlantic Union Reporter" is not affiliated with the Atlantic Union Conference, Atlantic Union College or any of its corporate entities. "The Atlantic Union Reporter" represents a grassroots effort by constituent members to inform and report on issues relevant to the SDA work in the northeast and Bermuda.
>
> If there is a paper called the Atlantic Union Reporter... even if it is an "occasional paper" rather than one with regular publication dates.... and if someone is a reporter for that paper.... then it is neither inappropriate nor deceptive for that someone to sign himself as AUReporter.

Watchbird has correctly stated the facts in regard to "AU Reporter."

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 25 2007, 07:02 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 25 2007, 07:31 AM) ☐
>
> "...There was a misunderstanding early in his communication with some regarding his interest in the 3abn situation.... who thought that he was claiming to be an official spokesman for the Atlantic Union Conference. However, when queried about this he was very plain that this was NOT the case, that he was neither employed by nor affiliated with the Conference office. He has never claimed to be anything more than an independent individual who is seeking to investigate and report on his findings...."
>
> Watchbird has correctly stated the facts in regard to "AU Reporter."

Well you incorrectly stated the facts when you claimed it was irelevant as it was used prior to this 3ABN mess, as he is plainly still using it, and has not stopped using it throughout his so called nvestigation of this 3ABN mess. The question is, Why does he use it? It smacks of deception.

So let me get this straight.

Are you and Watchbird actually claiming that Mr Joy using this title is not misleading, and doesn't give a false impression? and if people misunderstand it's just because they don't bother to ask? because if hey did, he would tell them it means nothing because he isn't claiming to be something he's not?

Unbelievable!

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 07:43 AM

Altheia one thing for sure, anyone who posts anonymously has no right to complain about others doing the same. I think that would be a wee bit hypocritical, don't you?

Posted by: Lee Feb 25 2007, 09:19 AM

Richard, I would suggest you talk to Calvin about those who are anonymous on this board. He said we were NOT to ask people to say who they are. In other words it is really okay to be anonymous.

And if it is hypocritical for Bystander/wwjd to be anonymous, then what about sister/sonshineonme/watchbird/bewildered and others? There are a lot more there--why don't you pester them to reveal their "hypocritical" names, as you call them.

Go ahead--ask Calvin!

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 25 2007, 10:11 AM

> QUOTE("Alethia")
>
> Well I guess it would depend on how you look at people and things... for myself, I take it as a question and reminder for that poster, me, and actually all of us, to think about what would jesus do or say before doing or saying anything.

Remember, Jesus' life was an open book.

He seemed to understood the importance of being tried in the Court of Public Opinion. This is where the damage has already been done with 3abn. Litigation is now beside the point.

Looking on from the outside, public perception has been shaped more by the patterns one sees going on in the organization, not by whether something can be proved in court. Look at the patterns. When you examine the public record of certain individuals within said organization, do you see Jesus? Or do you see similar patterns like that of a priest whose life is plagued by scandals, or by a TV evangelist who can't keep his family life and marriage together? Remember all the recent denial--at first--within the catholic church, and how the so-called "false" accusations were not really false at all with thousands of priests?

Patterns.

In the legal system of today, the outcome (I won't say "truth") is often determined by whichever way one chooses to argue the issues, how well the evidence can be tampered with, and/or how much money one has to spend on good Lawyers. So, in my view, it's not as important whether one can be exonerated through litigation. OJ was cleared by one trial, but he is generally percieved as guilty by a large number of people. The other trial that had him pay up was immaterial to his reputation.

Jesus didn't need to be evasive and crafty when faced with accusations impropriety or inappropriate actions. And, he wouldn't need to hide behind pseudonyms on the internet. Christ didn't live the kind of life that left his viewers perplexed--wondering why things didn't appear to sqaure up. His actions were on the safe side. His life was an open book, beyond reproach. And likewise, so are the lives of many in Christ's ministry today.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 01:19 PM

Man did you even read my post? (Please read carefully one word at a time) I never said it was hypocrital to be anonymous. I never said people should not be anonymous. All I said was that it is hypocritical for anonymous people to chide others for being anomymous. I've never pestered anyone to reveal who they are, I could care less. I guess some people know who Altheia is, I don't nor do I want or need to know.

Richard

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 10:19 AM)
>
> Richard, I would suggest you talk to Calvin about those who are anonymous on this board. He said we were NOT to ask people to say who they are. In other words it is really okay to be anonymous.
>
> And if it is hypocritical for Bystander/wwjd to be anonymous, then what about sister/sonshineonme/watchbird/bewildered and others? There are a lot more there--why don't you pester them to reveal their "hypocritical" names, as you call them.
>
> Go ahead--ask Calvin!

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:01 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 25 2007, 03:02 PM)
>
> Well you incorrectly stated the facts when you claimed it was irelevant as it was used prior to this 3ABN mess, as he is plainly still using it, and has not stopped using it throughout his so called investigation of this 3ABN mess. The question is, Why does he use it? It smacks of deception.
> So let me get this straight.
>
> Are you and Watchbird actually claiming that Mr Joy using this title is not misleading, and doesn't give a false impression? and if people misunderstand it's just because they don't bother to ask? because if they did, he would tell them it means nothing because he isn't claiming to be something he's not?
>
> Unbelievable!

Well, I guess it could be expressed like this: Which is more misleading, Cindy calling herself Aletheia or Joy calling himself a reporter? Who wants to be the arbiter?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 25 2007, 03:31 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 25 2007, 07:02 AM)
>
> Are you and Watchbird actually claiming that Mr Joy using this title is not misleading, and doesn't give a false impression?

Let us speak of false and misleading impressions, Aletheia

Danny Shelton refers to himself, in print, as "President and Founder." I've seen that in numerous places, including 3ABN's own publications.

Doesn't "President and Founder" give people the false impression that one man did it all by himself?

Doesn't that title give the impression that Danny Shelton is expunging Linda Shelton, the co-founder, so that he can take credit for all of her accomplishments over many years, including the founding of 3ABN Radio Network, for which Danny claimed to have no vision?

Shouldn't it be Danny Shelton, President and Co-founder to keep Aletheia from being misled?

When Aletheia says, "Why does he use it? It smacks of deception," does Aletheia feel that her criticism also applies to Danny Shelton, President and Co-Founder? Why or why not?

I don't see any evidence that Gailon Joy, by using AU Reporter, is taking credit for the work of others.

Here are few examples of something I think (to borrow a word from Aletheia) is "misleading." (The actual quote will follow the link to its location.)

http://www.3abn.org/pdf/world/3ABN-World-2006-02.pdf

(page 3, 3ABN World, February 2006)

"Danny Shelton is the president and founder of 3ABN."

http://www.multichannel.com/article/CA610298.html?display=Special+Report

Three Angels Broadcasting Network
Business model: Viewer and ministry supported
Distribution: Digital cable
Demographic: All ages, interdenominational
Signature programming: Health, cooking, inspirational, guidance-themed programming
Top executive: Danny Shelton, president and founder
Contact: (618) 627-2971
www.3abn.org

http://www.reviewandherald.com/newproducts/product.pl?type=sku&sku=0972088830

Danny is the President and founder of Three Angels Broadcasting network (3ABN), a 24-hour-a-day Christian television and radio network with a mission to reach the world with the gospel of Jesus Christ, and emphasize the Three Angels' Messages of Revelation 14.

http://findarticles.com/p/articles/mi_km4471/is_200605/ai_n16427258

"Danny (Shelton, president and founder of 3ABN) flew down (to the Coast) with a film crew just days after the storm," Walsh said.

http://www.caymannetnews.com/2004/01/572/seventhday.shtml

The Cayman Islands Mission of Seventh-day Adventists Communication Weekend began on Saturday, 10 January, when one of the highlights was a visit by Danny Shelton, founder and president of Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN).

http://sogospelnews.com/index/features/comments/1076/

Our president and founder Danny Shelton, has a love for pure, traditional gospel music and wants to be a channel of blessing to several artists that we have come in contact with.

http://www.amazon.com/Commandments-Twice-Removed-Danny-Shelton/dp/1883012406

About the Author
Danny Shelton is the founder and President of Three Angels Broadcasting Network. He has also authored several books and has been hosting programs on 3ABN for 20 years.

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 04:08 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 25 2007, 11:31 PM)
>
> Let us speak of false and misleading impressions, Aletheia
>
> Danny Shelton refers to himself, in print, as "President and Founder." I've seen that in numerous places, including 3ABN's own publications.
>
> Doesn't "President and Founder" give people the false impression that one man did it all by himself? Doesn't that title give the impression that Danny Shelton is expunging Linda Shelton, the co-founder, so that he can take credit for all of her accomplishments over many years, including the founding of 3ABN Radio Network, for which Danny claimed to have no vision?
>
> Shouldn't it be Danny Shelton, President and Co-founder to keep Aletheia from being misled?
>
> When Aletheia says, "Why does he use it? It smacks of deception," does Aletheia feel that her criticism also applies to Danny Shelton, President and Co-Founder? Why or why not?
>
> I don't see any evidence that Gailon Joy, by using AU Reporter, is taking credit for the work of others.
>
> Here are few examples of something I think (to borrow a word from Aletheia) is "misleading." (The actual quote will follow the link to its location.)
>
> http://www.3abn.org/pdf/world/3ABN-World-2006-02.pdf
>
> (page 3, 3ABN World, February 2006)
>
> "Danny Shelton is the president and founder of 3ABN."
>
> http://www.multichannel.com/article/CA610298.html?display=Special+Report
>
> Three Angels Broadcasting Network
> Business model: Viewer and ministry supported
> Distribution: Digital cable
> Demographic: All ages, interdenominational
> Signature programming: Health, cooking, inspirational, guidance-themed programming
> Top executive: Danny Shelton, president and founder
> Contact: (618) 627-2971
> www.3abn.org
> http://www.reviewandherald.com/newproducts/product.pl?type=sku&sku=0972088830
>
> Danny is the President and founder of Three Angels Broadcasting network (3ABN), a 24-hour-a-day Christian television and radio network with a mission to reach the world with the gospel of Jesus Christ, and emphasize the Three Angels' Messages of Revelation 14.
>
> http://findarticles.com/p/articles/mi_km4471/is_200605/ai_n16427258
>
> "Danny (Shelton, president and founder of 3ABN) flew down (to the Coast) with a film crew just days after the storm," Walsh said.
>
> http://www.caymannetnews.com/2004/01/572/seventhday.shtml

> The Cayman Islands Mission of Seventh-day Adventists Communication Weekend began on Saturday, 10 January, when one of the highlights was a visit by Danny Shelton, founder and president of Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN).
>
> http://sogospelnews.com/index/features/comments/1076/
>
> Our president and founder Danny Shelton, has a love for pure, traditional gospel music and wants to be a channel of blessing to several artists that we have come in contact with.
>
> http://www.amazon.com/Commandments-Twice-Removed-Danny-Shelton/dp/1883012406
>
> About the Author
> Danny Shelton is the founder and President of Three Angels Broadcasting Network. He has also authored several books and has been hosting programs on 3ABN for 20 years.

Some impresssive research.

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 04:37 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 05:19 PM)
>
> Richard, I would suggest you talk to Calvin about those who are anonymous on this board. He said we were NOT to ask people to say who they are. In other words it is really okay to be anonymous.
>
> And if it is hypocritical for Bystander/wwjd to be anonymous, then what about sister/sonshineonme/watchbird/bewildered and others? There are a lot more there--why don't you pester them to reveal their "hypocritical" names, as you call them.
>
> Go ahead--ask Calvin!

What was that question again? Ask Calvin what?

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 25 2007, 03:02 PM)
>
> - - -
> Unbelievable!

Where is your faith, Aletheia?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 07:00 PM

I think Lee is one of those posters who pops in, makes some rather false assumed statements and then does not follow up on her posts.

Richard

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 05:37 PM) ☐
>
> What was that question again? Ask Calvin what?
> Where is your faith, Aletheia?

Posted by: Pickle Feb 26 2007, 09:18 AM

The ASI communications ceased to be bound by a confidentiality agreement on January 24.

Dr. Thompson knew prior to making his request that what he wrote would not be kept confidential.

As far as the Leonard Westphal page goes, why not write Gailon and ask him about that?

Posted by: Lee Feb 26 2007, 09:40 AM

Pickle--just Christian courtesy and kindness should have prompted you to honor Dr. Thompsons request.

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 09:43 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 09:40 AM) ☐
>
> Pickle--just Christian courtesy and kindness should have prompted you to honor Dr. Thompsons request.

typical adventist mindset when it comes to dealing with problems.... keep everything hidden..... don't tell anyone or speak publicly about it..... there are no problems here.....

that mindset is disgusting.....

Posted by: missthg Feb 26 2007, 09:51 AM

sounds like a whole lot of dysfunction......

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 07:43 AM) ☐
>
> typical adventist mindset when it comes to dealing with problems.... keep everything hidden..... don't tell anyone or speak publicly about it..... there are no problems here.....
>
> that mindset is disgusting.....

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Feb 26 2007, 09:51 AM) ☐
>
> sounds like a whole lot of dysfunction......

that would be an understatement...

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 26 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 10:43 AM) ☐
>
> typical adventist mindset when it comes to dealing with problems.... keep everything hidden..... don't tell anyone or speak publicly about it..... there are no problems here.....
>
> that mindset is disgusting.....

You forgot " pay no attention to the man behind the curtain..."

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Pickle Feb 26 2007, 11:58 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 09:40 AM) ☐
>
> Pickle--just Christian courtesy and kindness should have prompted you to honor Dr. Thompsons request.

If someone told me, "I'm going to murder someone tomorrow," and asked me to keep it confidential, and I did not, would you say the same thing?

There are situations in which Christian courtesy and kindness demands that there be no confidentialty.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 26 2007, 01:48 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 26 2007, 09:13 AM) ☐
>
> You forgot " pay no attention to the man behind the curtain..."
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Or the lumps under the rugs.

Posted by: Salli Feb 26 2007, 04:54 PM

I find it interesting that at one time 3ABN relied on God for their protection. They braged how God had protect from this and that.

Have they lost their faith? Why are they turning to a locked down compound and laywers instead of God for protection? Or could it be their is sin in the camp from the leaders? Are the leaders afriad of God judgement because of their sin?

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 26 2007, 05:01 PM

Follow the money...as they say. Works nearly everytime (wink).

But, I'll repeat myself: No amount of wealth in the owrld can help humanity forward, not even in the hands of the most devoted worker. It didn't take the moneybags of Carnegie, or Gates, for Moses, John the Baptist, or Jesus to accomplish their mission. Paul took his message to the "whole world" (Rom 1:8) with hardly any support. I believe he was self-suppporting.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 26 2007, 05:13 PM

Exactly! There it is! The same with TS. They both need to be sidelined until these issues are resloved. At this point Danny is as much a liability as they found Tommy to be, just because too many are asking too many questions, and not getting any answers. If they are telling the truth, then time and investigation will bear that out and they can rejoice in the deliverance of God. There is no admission of guilt in sidelining the problem, until resolved.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 23 2007, 05:29 PM)
>
> Well said.
>
> Even a person who believes that Dan/Tom and company are completely innocent should be able to understand that it would be best for 3abn for DS to step down until this controversy runs it's course. But then it is said that DS is a stubborn man....
>
> Richard

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 26 2007, 05:18 PM

[quote name='Panama_Pete' date='Feb 25 2007, 04:31 PM' post='180584']
Let us speak of false and misleading impressions, Aletheia

Pete,

Yes he is identified as THE President, but nowhere is he called "THE Founder" and even if you were correct, two wrongs don't make a right. Gailon Joy's title is still misleading. All your argument proves is you are partial in judgment and overlook the wrongs of those you agree with, and think pointing at someone else will bury or trump that.

For shame...

BTW: I believe it was four Sheltons who originally signed the papers and started 3ABN, not two.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 26 2007, 06:17 PM

Well it might take an action of the BoD to remove Danny, however we know that will never happen since they are all beholden to the prez. It's so typical of a leader to surround themselves with people you know will rubber stamp what ever you do. Maybe the only people that have the ability to bring down Danny are the donors, and unfortunately that might bring down 3abn as well. It might prove to be very providential that Hope TV can be there to fill in the gap if Danny goes down and takes 3abn with him.

Richard

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 26 2007, 06:13 PM) ☐
>
> Exactly! There it is! The same with TS. They both need to be sidelined until these issues are resloved. At this point Danny is as much a liability as they found Tommy to be, just because too many are asking too many questions, and not getting any answers. If they are telling the truth, then time and investigation will bear that out and they can rejoice in the deliverance of God. There is no admission of guilt in sidelining the problem, until resolved.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 26 2007, 06:30 PM

> QUOTE("Aletheia")
>
> Yes he is identified as THE President, but nowhere is he called "THE Founder" and even if you were correct, two wrongs don't make a right. Gailon Joy's title is still misleading. All your argument proves is you are partial in judgment and overlook the wrongs of those you agree with, and think pointing at someone else will bury or trump that.
>
> For shame...

Please remember that it is the Dannyscribes that are trying to make a case for job descriptions, not me. If you don't like this topic, you shouldn't have raised it in the first place.

And you add, "even if you [Panama_Pete] were correct, two wrongs don't make a right."

You realize, of course, that this quote helps my case, don't you?

It doesn't matter how many co-founders there were. (Yes, there were four signing the incorporation documents - Danny, Linda, Danny's brother and his brother's wife). It paints a false impression to take credit for the work of others, doesn't it?

Contrary to your opinion, Aletheia, Danny Shelton is, indeed, called "the founder." And saying "the president and founder" or "the founder and president" is exactly the same thing.

I documented my comments with several examples. So, save your comments of "for shame...." You can't make your shame label stick, no matter how many times you try.

What follows is just one of those typical examples showing that the phrase "the founder" is being circulated as the coin of the 3ABN realm. If a person had the time, I'm sure other examples could be illuminated here; I've seen many. Does repeating "the founder" over and over again make it true? Is it supposed to be a re-write of history? And who is supposed to believe it? Certainly not me.

http://www.amazon.com/Commandments-Twice-R...n/dp/1883012406

"About the Author
Danny Shelton is the founder and President of Three Angels Broadcasting Network. He has also authored several books and has been hosting programs on 3ABN for 20 years."

Pete

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 26 2007, 07:39 PM

Save3ABN.com just topped 50,000 hits.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 26 2007, 07:47 PM

But it's just a "little group"....

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 26 2007, 08:39 PM)
>
> Save3ABN.com just topped 50,000 hits.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 26 2007, 07:57 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 26 2007, 07:47 PM)
>
> But it's just a "little group"....

Exactly what came to my mind

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 26 2007, 08:32 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 26 2007, 11:43 AM)

> typical adventist mindset when it comes to dealing with problems.... keep everything hidden..... don't tell anyone or speak publicly about it..... there are no problems here.....
>
> that mindset is disgusting.....

Sho' is....

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 27 2007, 04:19 PM

After comments made by a poster in another thread regarding the State of Illinois tax exemption case, I decided it was time to read it for myself.

http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/hearings/pt/pt04-1.pdf

There were a couple points that I think were of interest to some of the above discussions which for some reason neither of my browsers will let me quote at the moment.

First. In the decision, the ALJ stated at the bottom of page 7 (item 16) that "Danny Shelton founded applicant in 1984". No such comment is made regarding Linda in the next item at the top of the next page. The decision refers to transcript pages of what must have been a hearing. I do not know if this was an accurate statement of the facts presented or was a point made at hearing.

It is also correct that 4 people signed the incorporation documents and were listed as directors (which would have been to comply with the law regarding creating the legal entity). However, this would not be synonymous with the concept of "founder" as used above.

I also thought it was most interesting that the ALJ made the following statements:

"This case is not about applicant's beliefs, contrary to what was asserted consistently at the hearing....."

and

"The case is also not about whether or not what the applicant is doing is good for people. "

Reading the case and how the ALJ viewed the "religious" activities of 3abn as contrast to how the typical SDA may view the same activities was enlightening.

nw

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 05:27 PM

Thanks for the link, nw. Just yesterday I was thinking of reviewing this case. There are several interesting points in the document. One is the function and priviledges of the president, w/o board review of approval. These kind priviledges, such as contracting and price setting, w/o board approval, are not normal in any legit organization, esp not for profit.

This one kind of popped out at me, having seen it discussed in AT.

> The purchase of the airplane in 2001 for $1.3 million enabled applicant's employees to travel more efficiently and reach a larger audience of customers.

:boggle:

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 06:54 PM

Here's some highlights for those who can stomach it.

****

Applicant is advocating a way
of life but it is a lifestyle that applicant favors, not a religion.

there is discrepancy in the testimony of Linda Shelton. She stated she did not receive royalty payments for the CDs (Tr. pp. 595, 617) and later admitted that she did

According to applicant's 2001 financial statement, applicant's assets have accumulated to over forty-two million dollars ($42,000,000), approximately three times the total revenue for 2001 of slightly under fourteen million dollars ($14,000,000). The income raised and accumulated by applicant has allowed it to purchase an airplane, a state-of-the art recording studio, and other audio/video production facilities and tools. The airplane is a business airplane that is used to promote the Shelton's commercial enterprises and expand the target audience areas

I must conclude from the evidence of record, that applicant is controlled by Danny and Linda Shelton, and all final decisions are made by them and not by a disinterested impartial board of directors.

Applicant has failed to establish that it is not charging everyone that purchases or uses its products, facilities, and programs at prices above the cost of operation. On the contrary, these appear to be armslength transactions producing fees no different than a non-exempt business enterprise would generate. Programming and broadcasting are done for profit on this property, as clearly shown by applicant's financial statements.

The operation of 3ABN on the property in question generates a significant profit for applicant.

The nature of applicant's programming and CDs is the encouragement of a healthy lifestyle, for a price. Although there may be religious overtones in applicant's use of the property, that is not sufficient to qualify for a religious property tax exemption. Were I to recommend a grant of tax exemption for the majority of the property at issue, which is clearly a commercial enterprise, it would give applicant an unfair commercial advantage over other commercially owned and operated radio and television stations.

Applicant has accumulated sufficient wealth that it is currently in the process of setting up its own music label and has purchased additional properties for various uses not contemplated under the not-for-profit statutes.

Applicant has, therefore, not established that it does not profit from the enterprise conducted on the subject property, a fatal flaw to its exemption claim.

Applicant has not established that it conducts charitable activities when it clearly has the resources to extend the use of the property and equipment on the property to charitable and/or religious entities at no cost. The record does not indicate that it did so.

Danny and Linda Shelton have control of applicant. They regulate the amount they are paid. They have control of programming. They regulate all contracts. Applicant uses this property to produce television programs, to sell equipment, radio and television time, and to sell merchandise, and, absent evidence to the contrary, sales are made at commercially competitive prices.

For the aforementioned reasons it is recommended that Franklin County Parcel Index No. 174-116-11 remain on the tax rolls for the 2000 and 2001 assessment years and be assessed to the applicant, the owner thereof, except for the two pastor's offices, each measuring 14 feet by 18 feet, on the second floor of the administrative production center building, and a corresponding amount of land. That area, I recommend, be granted a property tax exemption as used for religious purposes without a view to profit

Barbara S. Rowe
Administrative Law Judge
January 28, 2004

Posted by: wwjd Feb 27 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 06:54 PM)
>
> Here's some highlights for those who can stomach it.
>
> *****************
>
> Applicant is advocating a way > of life but it is a lifestyle that applicant favors, not a religion.
>
> there is discrepancy in the testimony of Linda Shelton. She stated she did not > receive royalty payments for the CDs (Tr. pp. 595, 617) and later admitted that she did
>
> Barbara S. Rowe
> Administrative Law Judge
> January 28, 2004

Isn't this the same case that 3abn appealed and is in the court of appeals now? And isn't this the case that many sda leaders and leaders of other denominations were interested in because the outcome cold affect every church, church school, religious facility, christian networks, etc. etc.
Also noted in this verdict was that Linda was every bit as responsible for any decisions made as Danny.

Also as in any court case, there would hundreds maybe thousands of pages of testimony and evidence brought to the attention of the court that is not on this site, and of course never could be. So, my question is to you, how and why would you just pick out these few things that appears to make 3abn look bad? And then, by doing so, you make Linda look just as bad.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 08:02 PM

Perhaps you would be so kind as to point out the most positive statements, if there are any, wwjd.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 08:21 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 06:54 PM)
>
> Here's some highlights for those who can stomach it.
>
> *****************
>
> Applicant is advocating a way > of life but it is a lifestyle that applicant favors, not a religion.
>
> snip
>
> For the aforementioned reasons it is recommended that Franklin County Parcel Index No. 174-116-11 remain on the tax rolls for the 2000 and 2001 assessment years and be assessed to the applicant, the owner thereof, except for the two pastor's offices, each measuring 14 feet by 18 feet, on the second floor of the administrative production center building, and a corresponding amount of land. That area, I recommend, be granted a property tax exemption as used for religious purposes without a view to profit
>
> Barbara S. Rowe
> Administrative Law Judge
> January 28, 2004

Wow. Thanks for the highlights. I tootled on over to the pdf site ... for those who have the time it might be worth reading in its entirety ...

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 08:33 PM

This stuck out in my reading of this synopsis:

> QUOTE
>
> I must conclude from the evidence of record, that applicant is controlled by Danny and Linda Shelton, and all final decisions are made by them and not by a disinterested impartial board of directors.

Just as some have been saying, Danny rules, the board is there for looks (my words BTW)

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 08:40 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd)
>
> And then, by doing so, you make Linda look just as bad.

Wist ye not that justice is impartial?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 27 2007, 09:07 PM

☒ sn

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 09:55 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 27 2007, 05:47 PM) ☐
>
> Isn't this the same case that 3abn appealed and is in the court of appeals now? And isn't this the case that many sda leaders and leaders of other denominations were interested in because the outcome cold affect every church, church school, religious facility, christian networks, etc. etc. Also noted in this verdict was that Linda was every bit as responsible for any decisions made as Danny.
>
> Also as in any court case, there would hundreds maybe thousands of pages of testimony and evidence brought to the attention of the court that is not on this site, and of course never could be. So, my question is to you, how and why would you just pick out these few things that appears to make 3abn look bad? And then, by doing so, you make Linda look just as bad.

WWJD,

Guess what if it makes linda look bad, that is ok we all know linda and danny are sinners and make mistakes. we forgive those that mess up the same way that god forgives all of us when we mess if admit we have messed up.

but all i hear from the danny camp is danny good and perfect linda bad and evil.

Erik

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 04:54 PM) ☐
>
> Here's some highlights for those who can stomach it.
>
> ****************
>
> Applicant is advocating a way > of life but it is a lifestyle that applicant favors, not a religion.
>
> there is discrepancy in the testimony of Linda Shelton. She stated she did not > receive royalty payments for the CDs (Tr. pp. 595, 617) and later admitted that she did
>
> According to > applicant's 2001 financial statement, applicant's assets have accumulated to over forty-two million dollars ($42,000,000), approximately three times the total revenue for 2001 of slightly under fourteen million dollars ($14,000,000). The income raised and accumulated by applicant has allowed it to purchase an airplane, a state-of-the art recording studio, and other audio/video production facilities and tools. The airplane is a business airplane that is used to promote the Shelton's commercial enterprises and expand the target audience areas

>
> I must conclude from the evidence of record, that applicant is controlled by Danny and Linda Shelton, and all final decisions are made by them and not by a disinterested impartial board of directors.
>
> Applicant has failed to establish that it is not charging everyone that purchases or uses its products, facilities, and programs at prices above the cost of operation. On the contrary, these appear to be armslength transactions producing fees no different than a non-exempt business enterprise would generate. Programming and broadcasting are done for profit on this property, as clearly shown by applicant's financial statements.
>
> The operation of 3ABN on the property in question generates a significant profit for applicant.
>
> The nature of applicant's programming and CDs is the encouragement of a healthy lifestyle, for a price. Although there may be religious overtones in applicant's use of the property, that is not sufficient to qualify for a religious property tax exemption. Were I to recommend a grant of tax exemption for the majority of the property at issue, which is clearly a commercial enterprise, it would give applicant an unfair commercial advantage over other commercially owned and operated radio and television stations.
>
> Applicant has accumulated sufficient wealth that it is currently in the process of setting up its own music label and has purchased additional properties for various uses not contemplated under the not-for-profit statutes.
>
> Applicant has, therefore, not established that it does not profit from the enterprise conducted on the subject property, a fatal flaw to its exemption claim.
>
> Applicant has not established that it conducts charitable activities when it clearly has the resources to extend the use of the property and equipment on the property to charitable and/or religious entities at no cost. The record does not indicate that it did so.
>
> Danny and Linda Shelton have control of applicant. They regulate the amount they are paid. They have control of programming. They regulate all contracts. Applicant uses this property to produce television programs, to sell equipment, radio and television time, and to sell merchandise, and, absent evidence to the contrary, sales are made at commercially competitive prices.
>
> For the aforementioned reasons it is recommended that Franklin County Parcel Index No. 174-116-11 remain on the tax rolls for the 2000 and 2001 assessment years and be assessed to the applicant, the owner thereof, except for the two pastor's offices, each measuring 14 feet by 18 feet, on the second floor of the administrative production center building, and a corresponding amount of land. That area, I recommend, be granted a property tax exemption as used for religious purposes without a view to profit
>
> Barbara S. Rowe
> Administrative Law Judge
> January 28, 2004

Well i guess it goes to show you can make money and win souls to the truth, maybe the SDa church should study Dannys methods(i say this since linda ahas been kicked out) so the church can learn how to fund the work the church needs to do.

By the way this ruling is just the type of thing i had in mind when i warned the 3 abn crowd that going to court does not always work out the way you think it will.

erik

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 10:10 PM

> QUOTE(erik)
>
> (i say this since linda ahas been kicked out)

I heard on 3abn yesterday that the Kingdom of Heaven does not use the principle of force, but rather voluntary action. Forced to voluntarily leave, perhaps? Really have to rack your brain to think of something God didn't mention.

> QUOTE(erik)
>
> By the way this ruling is just the type of thing i had in mind when i warned the 3 abn crowd that going to court does not always work out the way you think it will.

If your read this judgement summary carefully, you can plainly see it would be ill-advised to file an appeal. The only ones to benefit will likely be the lawyers.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 10:47 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 08:10 PM) ☐
>
> I heard on 3abn yesterday that the Kingdom of Heaven does not use the principle of force, but rather voluntary action. Forced to voluntarily leave, perhaps? Really have to rack your brain to think of something God didn't mention.
>
> If your read this judgement summary carefully, you can plainly see it would be ill-advised to file an appeal. The only ones to benefit will likely be the lawyers.

you are correct.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 11:49 PM

I'd like to read more of their by-laws. My impression is that they need to change their little form of gov't. It's way top heavy. Perhaps they wouldn't even consider a Separation of Powers Doctrine. It could improve their image though, vastly. Someone needs to prepare a small booklet called "Did You Know?" about the modus of operandi within the compound, and distribute it far and wide.

Now there's an idea for a best seller.

I know many folks have no idea the corporation has assests probably well over the $42million of 2001, and charge local stations $1200 p/hour to downlink their programs. Probably more now. Plus, the corporation makes a profit of nearly a mil p/yr--at least in 2001--if I remember correctly. No wonder they don't seem to mind litigation.

Study the budget, study the by-laws, study the personnel manual, study the comprhensive planning dept docs, study their building and land-use issues, but the most important? The budget. Follow the money.

Posted by: Lee Feb 27 2007, 11:55 PM

LaurenceD, 3ABN is NOT paying for litigation out of any donated money that 3ABN has received from donors. It is being paid for by one person who has taken it upon himself/herself to pay for the whole litigation process.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 12:08 AM

Thanks Lee. That may be true. I'd have to look at the auditor's parting notes. Any related interfund revenues, professional services, or administrative service fees in the budget?

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 28 2007, 12:24 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 27 2007, 07:47 PM)
>
> So, my question is to you, how and why would you just pick out these few things that appears to make 3abn look bad? And then, by doing so, you make Linda look just as bad.

And my question to you is this: With all due respect, just how much do you really know about financial issues and property taxes??? Speaking of transparency, is finance part of the theological seminary curriculum? The whole case makes 3ABN look bad. It makes them look dishonest. What a wonderful Christian witness - a religious non-profit organization that declares itself exempt from the laws of the land.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 11:49 PM)
>
> Study the budget, study the by-laws, study the personnel manual, study the comprhensive planning dept docs, study their building and land-use issues, but the most important? The budget. Follow the money.

You are assuming there is a budget to follow...

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 12:44 AM

> QUOTE(Snoopy)
>
> What a wonderful Christian witness - a religious non-profit organization that declares itself exempt from the laws of the land.

Of course, it was found to be neither religious or not for profit.

> QUOTE
>
> You are assuming there is a budget to follow...

Has to be, has to be. The auditors get their numbers from somewhere. Even if it's one man's checkbook, or bank statements, or pocket book, study that. Follow the money by all means.

"His Life is and Open Book."

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 28 2007, 12:58 AM

It is still a donor however. That is money going to lawyers that could be going into the spreading of the gosple. My guess is that there is a certain board member from Minnisota that is footing the bill, money that is being wasted on lawyers when all it would take to resolve the issues is tranparency on Danny Sheltons part. And a willingness to be open with his critics. These issues are all in Danny's hands, he is the one that can have this resolved without going to the courts.

Richard

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 12:55 AM) ☐
>
> LaurenceD, 3ABN is NOT paying for litigation out of any donated money that 3ABN has received from donors. It is being paid for by one person who has taken it upon himself/herself to pay for the whole litigation process.

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 28 2007, 01:01 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 28 2007, 12:44 AM) ☐
>
> Has to be, has to be. The auditors get their numbers from somewhere. Even if it's one man's checkbook, or bank statements, or pocket book, study that. Follow the money by all means.
>
> "His Life is and Open Book."

Sorry, but I respectfully disagree. There most certainly does not "have to be" a budget. I don't think you are understanding the true meaning of the term "budget":

budg·et /□b□d□□t/ Pronunciation Key - Show Spelled Pronunciation[buhj-it] –noun
1. an estimate, often itemized, of expected income and expense for a given period in the future.
2. a plan of operations based on such an estimate.

An individual, a family unit, a church, a corporation can easily have money coming in and going out without any type of logical plan for the use of the resources. A budget process assesses what is expected to come in over a given period of time and what is expected to be spent, AND ON WHAT, over that same period of time. A budgeting process is a carefully determined plan as to how resources are to be used. When a true budget is prepared and implemented, what actually happens is then compared to what was budgeted. This is a basic internal control.

When a corporation releases its earnings, the actual results are always compared to what was planned, or BUDGETED. Without a budget, it is impossible to know if one is overspending.

And just for the record, auditors do NOT audit a BUDGET!!!!!!!!!

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 01:23 AM

Ah, they most certainly do. I presume these are state auditors from Illinois, but maybe IRS as well. In fact, state auditors study all budget ammendments too, and minutes of all budget ordinances and resolutions requiring a $$ transaction. Many organizations are required by law to follow a budget process.

Not sure if that applies to NFP organizations. But, I know what you mean, they're real job is squaring up the receipts and transactions...making sure the revenues and expenses correlate.

I actually have a copy of the bar codes manual for our state--the very law book of gov't financial operations.

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 28 2007, 01:49 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 28 2007, 01:23 AM)
>
> Ah, they most certainly do. I presume these are state auditors from Illinois, but maybe IRS as well. In fact, state auditors study all budget ammendments too, and minutes of all budget ordinances and resolutions requiring a $$ transaction. Many organizations are required by law to follow a budget process.
>
> Not sure if that applies to NFP organizations. But, I know what you mean, they're real job is squaring up the receipts and transactions...making sure the revenues and expenses correlate.
>
> I actually have a copy of the bar codes manual for our state--the very law book of gov't financial operations.

No, they don't!! And, "you presume"???? You said it yourself...."state auditors study all budget ammendments..." To "study" something is not to "audit" it!!! Of course, if you have a copy of the bar codes manual for your state you must be an audit expert! Just for the record, "making sure the revenues and expenses correlate" is a very simplistic view of the basic matching principle of accounting....but I'm sure you know that...

Also, I'm sure you meant to say that the 3ABN auditors in question are neither state auditors or IRS auditors. They are completely unrelated to any government entity, but are actually a private firm...but, you knew that, too.

And, "they're real job is squaring up the receipts and transactions..." is a VERY srong indicator that you are painfully unfamiliar with what a financial auditor does...it is just a bit more complicated than that...

But I'm not going to argue with you about it anymore. Think what you want. But you might want to gain a better understanding of a term before you throw it around...and then insist that you know what you're talking about...

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 28 2007, 02:10 AM

> QUOTE(Snoopy) ☐
>
> sorry...duplicate post

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 02:21 AM

Well, not sure where your're from, but here, with the several multi-multi-multi-million dollar municipal organizations I work for, the first thing the auditor asks for is the minutes of all financial board-approved transactions. Then They ask for the budget. They "study" both of these. Then they ask for the reciepts, bank statements, checks, payrolls, etc. etc., including contacting venders at the other end. Our organizations are required by law to have a balanced budget. Everything has to square up, sometimes every line item--if so earmarked. At the end of the audit, certain officers meet with the auditors and we listen to their final reports and recommendations.

Like I said, I'm not sure what rules apply to NFP organizations like 3abn, but, I can't imagine the state wasn't the lead agency in the audit report referred to in the PDF file noahswife linked. Could be wrong though. This was a challenge to state and federal laws that regulate the organization. Auditors can be anyone from anywhere though--independent, working for gov't by contract, or actual gov't employees. Our team of independent auditors are always accompanied by a state rep that oversees the process.

But, you're right. It's all beside the point. I was just responding to your general statement that budgets don't get audited. They do here!

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 28 2007, 04:01 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 27 2007, 08:47 PM) ☐
>
> Isn't this the same case that 3abn appealed and is in the court of appeals now? And isn't this the case that many sda leaders and leaders of other denominations were interested in because the > outcome could affect every church, church school, religious facility, christian networks, etc. etc.

es it is. There's a rather interesting and informative article which was published by Liberty magazine bout this a couple years back. Liberty takes a stance, and portrays the issues, and cites laws and recidents very differently then most of those posting here. For that reason, I believe it is pertinent, nd even a good rebuttal to the accusers of 3ABN regarding the tax case.

haven't seen the article ever posted on BSDA, so for those interested:

> QUOTE
>
> Three Angels Broadcasting Network is the realized dream of Danny Shelton and his wife, Linda. Today 3ABN, as it is known, is a 24-hour Christian television/satellite and radio network that began in 1984 when Danny was impressed to build a religious television station that would reach the world. From Thompsonville, Illinois, its ministry now reaches across North, Central, and South America, Europe, the Middle East, Africa, Asia, and Australia.
>
> During the small hours of that November 1984 morning, a sleepless Danny Shelton was impressed to start a television network to serve his faith. But a more unlikely candidate than this Seventh-day Adventist layperson would be difficult to find. With only a high school education he was a carpenter who had neither money nor property.
>
> >
> The 3ABN staff and its millions of viewers all believe God is on their side and will make the difference in their struggle against state and local governmental authorities.
>
> Today 3ABN operates a religious television network and is active in other evangelistic and missionary activities. Not only does it maintain a pastoral staff on site, but its evangelistic team is involved in direct evangelism resulting in many baptisms, including 15,000 in India and similar numbers in Russia in recent years.
>
> Even though all of 3ABN's programming is religious and designed to be consistent with the teachings of the Adventist Church, the Illinois Department of Revenue and the elementary and high school districts (Thompsonville Community High School District No. 112 and Thompsonville School District No. 62) now claim that because it is a television facility, its operation is secular. So 3ABN is in a legal challenge with the Illinois taxing authorities, the ultimate outcome of which may well have a major impact on religious ministries not only in Illinois but across the country. But Danny and Linda Shelton, the 3ABN staff, and its millions of viewers all believe God is on their side and will make the difference in their struggle against state and local governmental authorities.
>
> All 50 states and the federal government provide tax exemptions for charitable organizations, including churches. The United States Supreme Court has observed that "few concepts are more deeply embedded in the fabric of our national life, beginning with pre-Revolutionary colonial times, than for the government to exercise at the very least this kind of benevolent neutrality toward churches and religious exercise generally so long as none was favored over others and none suffered interference."1 But the Illinois Department of Revenue both attempts to limit the plain > wording of the exemption statute and ignores its constitutional obligation of religious neutrality......

t's rather lengthy. To read the entire article, go here:

ttp://www.libertymagazine.org/article/view/367

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 04:16 AM

> QUOTE(Salli @ Feb 27 2007, 12:54 AM) ☐
>
> I find it interesting that at one time 3ABN relied on God for their protection. They braged how God had protect from this and that.
>
> Have they lost their faith? Why are they turning to a locked down compound and laywers instead of God for protection? Or could it be their is sin in the camp from the leaders? Are the leaders afriad of God judgement because of their sin?

es, that was back then when Linda had her daily devotions on 3ABN. On MSDAOL there was a iscussion of the present prayer patterns at 3ABN. Seems like a new theology had developed where ou tell god what is expected of him, and you back it up with dollars and the 14 lawyers.

o we understand what Jesus meant when He wondered if He would find faith on earth when He eturns? He also said that men would be "marrying and giving in marriage, until the day . . ." The heltons seem to do their part in fulfilling that prediction, you have to give them credit for that.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 28 2007, 05:28 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 28 2007, 05:16 AM) ☐
>
> QUOTESalli Feb 27 2007, 12:54 AM:
> I find it interesting that at one time 3ABN relied on God for their protection. They braged how God had protect from this and that.
>
> Have they lost their faith? Why are they turning to a locked down compound and laywers instead of God for protection? Or could it be their is sin in the camp from the leaders? Are the leaders afriad of God judgement because of their sin?
>
> Yes, that was back then when Linda had her daily devotions on 3ABN. On MSDAOL there was a discussion of the present prayer patterns at 3ABN. Seems like a new theology had developed where you tell god what is expected of him, and you back it up with dollars and the 14 lawyers.
>
> Do we understand what Jesus meant when He wondered if He would find faith on earth when He returns? He also said that men would be "marrying and giving in marriage, until the day . . ." The Sheltons seem to do their part in fulfilling that prediction, you have to give them credit for that.

A locked down compound?

Please cite the evidence to support this?

You know, Noah trusted in God for his protection, and built a boat. He didn't sit there and trust God would save him from the flood without his cooperation...

What I find so sad and unreasonable in all this, is that none of you, not a one, thinks that the "alleged" victims of Tommy Shelton should trust in God for their protection and the protection of others, without doing anything.

Not a one of you accusers of 3ABn thinks Linda Shelton should trust in God to protect her and her interests and reputation without you all becoming involved and seeking public redress, and feeling you need to defend her.

And not a one of you accusing 3ABN, who trust in God, believes that if these accusations are true He can bring down 3ABN, without your assistance and public exposure and works in this behalf.

[And where are God's people ever told to destroy a ministry, no matter how at fault or in error or sin you believe them to be? Who is the "cult" buster?]

As far as prayers and telling God what is expected of him according to personal judgemnts goes? Look to the recent thread here and some of the public prayers here made by those who heard about 3Abns leaders joining together in fasting and prayer.

"Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocricy."-- Jesus Christ

"And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. "-- Jesus Christ

---

Posted by: Fran Feb 28 2007, 05:33 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 04:01 AM) ☐
>
> Yes it is. There's a rather interesting and informative article which was published by Liberty magazine about this a couple years back. Liberty takes a stance, and portrays the issues, and cites laws and precidents very differently then most of those posting here. For that reason, I believe it is pertinent, and even a good rebuttal to the accusers of 3ABN regarding the tax case.
>
> I haven't seen the article ever posted on BSDA, so for those interested:
> It's rather lengthy. To read the entire article, go here:
>
> http://www.libertymagazine.org/article/view/367

I have read and posted this article before on another forum.

Question: Do you occasionally work for Religious Liberty? A "Yes" or "No" answer would be nice.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 28 2007, 06:43 AM

If God allows this ministry to be destroyed I think you will have to look no farther than Danny. He is the one who has brought on his woes, not the posters on here. Me thinks, Aletheia, that you give too much credit to Danny's critics. When a person is a Dannynite it's hard to see out past the edge of his shadow to what is really happening.

Richard

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 06:28 AM) ☐
>
> A locked down compound?
>
> Please cite the evidence to support this?
>
> You know, Noah trusted in God for his protection, and built a boat. He didn't sit there and trust God would save him from the flood without his cooperation...
>
> What I find so sad and unreasonable in all this, is that none of you, not a one, thinks that the "alleged" victims of Tommy Shelton should trust in God for their protection and the protection of others, without doing anything.
>
> Not a one of you accusers of 3ABn thinks Linda Shelton should trust in God to protect her and her interests and reputation without you all becoming involved and seeking public redress, and feeling you need to defend her.
>
> And not a one of you accusing 3ABN, who trust in God, believes that if these accusations are true He can bring down 3ABN, without your assistance and public exposure and works in this behalf.
>
> [And where are God's people ever told to destroy a ministry, no matter how at fault or in error or sin you believe them to be? Who is the "cult" buster?]
>
> As far as prayers and telling God what is expected of him according to personal judgemnts goes? Look to the recent thread here and some of the public prayers here made by those who heard about 3Abns leaders joining together in fasting and prayer.
>
> "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocricy."-- Jesus Christ
>
> "And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. "-- Jesus Christ

---

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 07:11 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 01:28 PM) ☐
>
> A locked down compound?
>
> Please cite the evidence to support this?

Danny Shelton has repeatedly told me I have Alzheimer's. Since your memory is worse than mine, what do you think is your affliction? We may have to use a notepad when we do our reading. Then we do not need to demand so many repetitions.

> QUOTE
>
> You know, Noah trusted in God for his protection, and built a boat. He didn't sit there and trust God would save him from the flood without his cooperation...
>
> What I find so sad and unreasonable in all this, is that none of you, not a one, thinks that the "alleged" victims of Tommy Shelton should trust in God for their protection and the protection of others, without doing anything.
>
> Not a one of you accusers of 3ABn thinks Linda Shelton should trust in God to protect her and her interests and reputation without you all becoming involved and seeking public redress, and feeling you need to defend her.
>
> And not a one of you accusing 3ABN, who trust in God, believes that if these accusations are true He can bring down 3ABN, without your assistance and public exposure and works in this behalf.
>
> [And where are God's people ever told to destroy a ministry, no matter how at fault or in error or sin you believe them to be? Who is the "cult" buster?]
>
> As far as prayers and telling God what is expected of him according to personal judgemnts goes? Look to the recent thread here and some of the public prayers here made by those who heard about 3Abns leaders joining together in fasting and prayer.
>
> "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocricy."-- Jesus Christ
>
> "And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. "-- Jesus Christ

Would you say this is the reason why Danny Shelton never prayed in public while Linda was with him? But why has he started doing that now? You wouldn't call him a hypocrite for that, would you?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 28 2007, 07:33 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 05:28 AM) ☐
>
> A locked down compound?
>
> Please cite the evidence to support this?

If Johann went to the 3ABN campus during campmeeting, and they threatened to arrest him if he did not leave, then for Johann, it may indeed be a locked-down compound.

In addition, it might also have the look and feel of a locked-down compound to other people here, such as Salli, who may have heard that account, along with the stories being related of the beefed-up electronic monitoring at 3ABN.

I, too, suspect 3ABN is circling the wagons. Yes, Aletheia, you will likely demand to know the size of those wagons and the names of the horses. So, picture wagons like this one:

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 07:37 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 05:01 AM)
>
> Yes it is. There's a rather interesting and informative article which was published by Liberty magazine about this a couple years back. Liberty takes a stance, and portrays the issues, and cites laws and precidents very differently then most of those posting here. For that reason, I believe it is pertinent, and even a good rebuttal to the accusers of 3ABN regarding the tax case.
>
> I haven't seen the article ever posted on BSDA, so for those interested:
> It's rather lengthy. To read the entire article, go here:
>
> http://www.libertymagazine.org/article/view/367

Ah yes.... the "religious liberty card"..... one of the (supposedly) "trump" cards in the "persecution game" deck of cards. I have been wondering how long it would be before this one was thrown out on the table.....

Thank you for this look at how the expert GC lawyer/writer confuseticated the issues by not distinguishing between property tax laws and non-profit status tax exemption laws.... and used the resulting confused amalgamation as a "text" for a "religious liberty" sermon. And of course, completely ignored the evidence that 3abn was, in fact, a business operating at a profit, rather than a non-profit religious "ministry". Oh well...

I wondered at the time it came out... and I wonder again rereading it now.... whatever could possibly be going on behind the scenes....... for the GC Lawyer to come out this publicly in support of an "independent ministry" with such a tangled spin doctored reporting. (For those not familiar with the original publication time..... as I recall it came out at about the "right time" to have appeared to be a more or less direct response to the Adventist Today article that brought it to our attention first).

Of course, now I have more information on which to base my wonderment.... with the document we have seen in which the GC agreed in writing to support 3abn all around the world.... and the evidence we have seen that the GC also operates in the face of fiscal threats from one of the "financial supporters" they hold in common with 3abn.

In view of all we know now.... what else would/should we expect......

Posted by: Observer Feb 28 2007, 07:52 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 06:37 AM)
>
> Ah yes.... the "religious liberty card"..... one of the (supposedly) "trump" cards in the "persecution game" deck of cards. I have been wondering how long it would be before this one was thrown out on the table.....
>
> Thank you for this look at how the expert GC lawyer/writer confuseticated the issues by not distinguishing between property tax laws and non-profit status tax exemption laws.... and used the resulting confused amalgamation as a "text" for a "religious liberty" sermon. And of course, completely ignored the evidence that 3abn was, in fact, a business operating at a profit, rather than a non-profit religious "ministry". Oh well...
>
> I wondered at the time it came out... and I wonder again rereading it now.... whatever could possibly be going on behind the scenes....... for the GC Lawyer to come out this publicly in support of an "independent ministry" with such a tangled spin doctored reporting. (For those not familiar with the original publication time..... as I recall it came out at about the "right time" to have appeared to be a more or less direct response to the Adventist Today article that brought it to our attention first).
>
> Of course, now I have more information on which to base my wonderment.... with the document we have seen in which the GC agreed in writing to support 3abn all around the world.... and the evidence we have seen that the GC also operates in the face of fiscal threats from one of the "financial supporters" they hold in common with 3abn.
>
> In view of all we know now.... what else would/should we expect......

I could be wrong. But, I believe that Lee Boothby gave 3-ABN legal advice in regard to the defense of the IL tax case. If that is correct, it then is a fact that the LIBERTY article was written by an attorney involved in the case, and may be assumed, subject to challenge, that it is a op-ed piece written to influence public opinion to see 3-ABN in a favorable light.

That does not mean that his opinion should be rejected. On the contrary, his opinion does raise valid issues that should be considered. But, his article, in my opinion, also raises some other valid questions. As I recall the decision of Judge Rowe, she based her decision on factors not listed in the article, which Boothby totally ignores. In my thinking, a more objective analysis of her decision would have considered those issues. I consider those issues to be critically important.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 08:03 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia)

> Liberty takes a stance, and portrays the issues, and cites laws and precidents very differently then most of those posting here. For that reason, I believe it is pertinent, and even a good rebuttal to the accusers of 3ABN regarding the tax case.

You'll have to forgive our good attorney, Lee Boothby, an experienced litigation and appellate court lawyer, who wrote that Liberty article in 2003, the year before the judgement was handed down to 3abn. The Case Law he cites obviously was rejected, and in all fairness, he never got a chance to read Judge Barbara Rowe's Recommendation for Disposition, and the even more pertinent Case Law cited at the hearing. I think Rowe summarized it best in 2004 by saying...

> "Were I to recommend a grant of tax exemption for the majority of the property at issue, which is clearly a commercial enterprise, it would give applicant an unfair commercial advantage over other commercially owned and operated radio and television stations."

Do you not yet see the slippery slope 3abn was riding on? Really now, in all fairness, how could the state Office of Aministrative Hearings grant an exception to this corporation? 3abn had a weak case, and IMO was ill-advised to appeal the decision. A long shot at best. But, when gifted by a pro bono defense, why not shoot for the moon?

Clearly, 3abn was in violation of the land-use policies granted to NFP organizations...and loving it, apparently.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 08:28 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 06:28 AM)
>
> A locked down compound?
>
> Please cite the evidence to support this?

Do your research Aletheia.... it has been reported and discussed right here on BSDA.

Yes, an electronically "locked down" ... compound.... not merely literal "locks" on building doors, but also surveilance "locks" that go beyond mere security, and in the opinion of many, impinge on worker's rights to personal privacy.... even to communication with the "outside" from their own computers.

> QUOTE
>
> You know, Noah trusted in God for his protection, and built a boat. He didn't sit there and trust God would save him from the flood without his cooperation...

Agreed so far. Let's see how you apply it to different situations.....

> QUOTE
>
> What I find so sad and unreasonable in all this, is that none of you, not a one, thinks that the "alleged" victims of Tommy Shelton should trust in God for their protection and the protection of others, without doing anything.

Your assessment about what we think is correct. So what is there about this that you find "sad and unreasonable"? Is this not in harmony with the implications of the Noah story.

> QUOTE
>
> Not a one of you accusers of 3ABn thinks Linda Shelton should trust in God to protect her and her interests and reputation without you all becoming involved and seeking public redress, and feeling you need to defend her.

That is also correct. We believe that God uses other humans as his agents ... at the same time that we believe that it is God who works both through those efforts and directly through other means of which we have no direct knowledge. Is this not in harmony with the implications of the Noah story.

> QUOTE
>
> And not a one of you accusing 3ABN, who trust in God, believes that if these accusations are true He can bring down 3ABN, without your assistance and public exposure and works in this behalf.

That is not true. God is plenty able to wipe the whole place out without a human lifting a finger. We all recognize that. But at the same time, we recognize that our God is a gracious God, and he has pity on our weaknesses.... and He most often chooses to involve other humans in his works... both of mercy and of retribution.

God has pity on those who would be unduly distressed by sudden acts of destruction of evil.... especially when they have not known about the evil he is destroying. And so he enlightens some as to what needs to be exposed, and expects them to warn others.

And He also works through the various systems of governance which He has established on the earth for keeping order and protecting the weak against the strong, in order to accomplish whatever needs to be done.

> QUOTE
>
> [And where are God's people ever told to destroy a ministry, no matter how at fault or in error or sin you believe them to be? Who is the "cult" buster?]

In His Word..... you have been given many such scriptures over the time you have been with us on BSDA. There is no need to repeat them here. But in both Old and New Testaments, there are ample instructions on exposing sin and rooting it out to legitimize the type of work that is now sometimes labeled as "cult buster".

> QUOTE
>
> As far as prayers and telling God what is expected of him according to personal judgemnts goes? Look to the recent thread here and some of the public prayers here made by those who heard about 3Abns leaders joining together in fasting and prayer.

And what about the "prayers and telling God what is expected of him" on world wide TV? Prayers that were in themselves sermons and tirades against those who are attempting to follow God's commands to expose evil... and who are calling for admission of wrong-doing, repentance, reform, and restoration?

> QUOTE
>
> "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocricy."-- Jesus Christ
>
> "And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto > you, They have their reward. "-- Jesus Christ

Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees."

/ery good admonition indeed. You would do well to heed it.

Posted by: erik Feb 28 2007, 08:46 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 02:01 AM)
>
> Yes it is. There's a rather interesting and informative article which was published by Liberty magazine about this a couple years back. Liberty takes a stance, and portrays the issues, and cites laws and precidents very differently then most of those posting here. For that reason, I believe it is pertinent, and even a good rebuttal to the accusers of 3ABN regarding the tax case.
>
> I haven't seen the article ever posted on BSDA, so for those interested:
> It's rather lengthy. To read the entire article, go here:
>
> http://www.libertymagazine.org/article/view/367

\letheia, would love to see a follow-up of this article in the light of the 46 page ruling the judge handed down.

would also point out the judge based her ruling not on the religous actives but what to her were :learly commercial mainly the selling of air time, the selling of linda's cd's, and the selling of sat. lishes, also the selling of books.

;he also based her ruling on the lack of proof provide to her, of the charitable work of 3 abn, so i vould say that is the lawyers for 3 abn fault.

\nother clear problem for 3abn in her ruling is the lack of over site from the board of directors to lanny and linda at the time, but with linda gone now that would leave danny, again this is error on the egal and accounting side of things.

he devil is in the details and clearly from reading the judges ruling 3abn lack details that they need to ıave in place to gain their expemtion, the other thing i would point the is the article cites case law rom states that have no bearing on the state of illious, the ruling cites only the law and case law from ıer state makes a big difference.

personally think with a little tighter legal and accounting controls 3abn would have won this case ıands down, what is interesting is that the judge in her ruling told 3abn what they need to fix if they vere listening, but i highly doubt that they have fixed those problems(has a side note maybe this had nore to due with linda and that lawyer from the board leaving then we know at this time.)

\letheia, based facts cited in the ruling it really looks like 3abn just expected god to step in and save heir bacon, well maybe god wanted some things worked on.??????????????????

:Rik

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 28 2007, 10:16 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 28 2007, 05:28 AM) ☐
>
> "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocricy."-- Jesus Christ
>
> "And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. "-- Jesus Christ

Hmm .... well, the word hypocrite could mean "someone who says one thing and does another." I suppose not a person here is 100% consistent with their own ideals.

But Jesus Christ was the first teacher in history to use this word hypocrite in a religious sense.

It means "actor." As in "performer."

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 28 2007, 10:22 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 28 2007, 09:46 AM) ☐
>
> Aletheia, based facts cited in the ruling it really looks like 3abn just expected god to step in and save their bacon, well maybe god wanted some things worked on.???????????????????
> ERik

s/bacon/textured soy protein and wheat gluten bacon substitute

Gotta uphold the health message...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 28 2007, 11:12 AM

My two cents.....

Watchbird and Observer, thank you for your information that adds to the back story of the Liberty article. I had read it after the ALJ's decision and wondered at several things but gave the author some slack for having written it before the decision was issued.

WWJD, your comments as to why LaurenceD would post the negative statement about Linda again demonstrates that you are not listening that many of us here do not know Linda, that we know she is human and has made mistakes and we are not totally biased. I think it is obvious to everyone why he tried to provide a balanced summary of what he read in the decision.

The statement made in the liberty article:

"But Danny and Linda Shelton, the 3ABN staff, and its millions of viewers all believe God is on their side and will make the difference in their struggle against state and local governmental authorities. "

I think reflects an interesting arrogance that can blind people to seeing both sides of a legal issue. So if I were a reader of Liberty and remembered this statement when the case was decided, what am I to think of what side God is on?

I think that they had no choice but to appeal this decision.

I think it is interesting that in other threads there has been discussion of how important it is for Danny to put money into the community for "good will" while some have argued that some supporters of 3abn might not approve of their donations being used in that way. Does anyone know when he began to do this?

Does anyone know what has happened in succeeding tax years? Have any changes been made and reapplication for an exemption been made?

Also, as was pointed out here at BSDA and in the Liberty article, this decision could have some impact for other organizations. Have ANY of those organizations assisted in the case or filed amicus briefs?

I think it would be interesting to know how often Linda's vote on the board was the same as DSs.

I think that one thing this case and the Liberty article demonstrate is that we all need a better understanding of the concepts of religious liberty and what rights are guaranteed by the 1st amendment.

nw

Posted by: erik Feb 28 2007, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 28 2007, 08:22 AM) ☐
>
> s/bacon/textured soy protein and wheat gluten bacon substitute
>
> Gotta uphold the health message...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

sorry you are correct, they thought god would save the stripples

Erik

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife)
> I think it is interesting that in other threads there has been discussion of how important it is for

Danny to put money into the community for "good will

49

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Spiritual Adultery And Remarriage Revisited

Posted by: inga Dec 27 2006, 02:24 PM

It alarms me that so many people are still buying into the idea that Linda Shelton commited "spiritual adultery."

It alarms me because it seems like thousands of peopel put more stock in what Danny Shelton says than in what the Bible says. So please join me in examining what the Bible says on the subject.

First of all, the concept of "spiritual adultery" is in the Bible. It has nothing to do with unfaithfulness to one's spouse but it has everything to do with unfaithfulness to the God of heaven .

In the Bible God often refers to Himself as being "married" to His people. The concept is found throughout the Old and New Testament, and I'll present a few examples easily found through a word search. Some of these texts should be very familiar to readers of this board.

> QUOTE
>
> Isaiah 62.3-5
> Thou shalt also be a crown of glory in the hand of the LORD, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God. Thou shalt no more be termed Forsaken; neither shall thy land any more be termed Desolate: but thou shalt be called Hephzibah, and thy land Beulah: for the LORD delighteth in thee, and thy land shall be married. or as a young man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sons marry thee: and as the bridegroom rejoiceth over the bride, so shall thy God rejoice over thee.
>
> Jeremiah 3.14
> Turn, O backsliding children, saith the LORD; for I am married unto you:
>
> Malachi 2.11
> Judah hath dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Jerusalem; for Judah hath profaned the holiness of the LORD which he loved, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.
>
> Isaiah 54.5
> For thy Maker is thine husband; the LORD of hosts is his name; and thy Redeemer the Holy One of Israel; The God of the whole earth shall he be called.
>
> Jeremiah 3.20
> Surely as a wife treacherously departeth from her husband, so have ye dealt treacherously with me, O house of Israel, saith the LORD.
>
> Jeremiah 31.31-33
> Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD:
> But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

I trust that the concept of the church being the "bride of Christ" as well as "the marriage supper of the Lamb" is familiar to readers of this board. In Ezekiel we find a very specific reference:

> QUOTE
>
> Ezekiel 16.28, 30-32
> Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast unsatiable; yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.
> How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord GOD, seeing thou doest all these things, the work of an imperious whorish woman; In that thou buildest thine eminent place in the head of every way, and makest thine high place in every street; and hast not been as an harlot, in that thou scornest hire;But as a wife that committeth adultery, which taketh strangers instead of her husband!

Note that in Ezekiel, unfaithfulness to God is specifically compared to physical adultery against one's husband. God says that Israel is playing the whore by building "high places" on which she worships other gods. This unfaithfulness to God would then be biblical "spiritual adultery," since God is a Spirit (according to Jesus when speaking with the Samaritan woman.) This has been the meaning of "spiritual adultery" as long as God's church has existed -- until certain modern teachers came along and re-defined the term.

When Danny accuses Linda of spiritual adultery, he is doing several things:
1. He is re-defining a biblical concept to suit his own purpose. Does he have the right to change God's word? Is that not the right of God alone, should He so choose? (What Danny appears to be saying is that Linda lusted after someone else. So he's referring to mental/emotional adultery.)

2. How does he know what's going on in Linda's mind -- whether it's "spiritual" or mental adultery? It seems obvious that Linda didn't tell him, "I'm lusting after so and so." If she had, Danny would be sure to tell us. Thus Danny is taking the prerogatives of God to Himself by declaring that he knows, for a fact, what is going on in Linda's heart.

Of course, if we assume that Danny actually [i[knows[/i] what the Bible says -- which should be a reasonable assumption -- then he is also claiming to himself the prerogatives of God, saying Linda committed adultery with some other god besides himself.

Any way you cut it, Danny's accusing Linda of spiritual adultery says many more negative things about himself than about Linda.

Accepting Danny's word that Linda committed "spiritual adultery" also says several things about the people who accept it.
1. It indicates lack of biblical knowledge and a willingness to accept someone's else's word, in the place of personal Bible study.
2. It indicates a willingness to accept Dannys' self-evaluation of having (at the very least) prophetic insight so as to be able to read thoughts and motives.

Any way you cut it, accepting Danny's accusations of Linda indicates more negative things about the those who accpet it than about Linda.

That's just the way I see it.

You may disagree, but if you expect us to take your disagreement as anything more than a display of ignorance, please supply some valid reasons (e.g. biblical basis or other verifiable data) for your disagreement.

Some other facts to investigate:
What is the biblical basis for divorce? (This has been discussed before, but it would be good to have all factual data, as opposed to opinions & rumors, in one place.)
What has been Danny Shelton's verifiable behavior during and since 2004? (e.g. marital status, residence, travels, etc., including verifiable dates.)

What has been Linda Shelton's verifiable behavior during and since 2004? (e.g. marital status, residence, travels, etc. including verifiable dates.)

These facts are important because people seem to believe a number of things that are quite contrary to verifiable facts.

Please respect the purpose of this thread and address the facts or the biblical evidence.

Posted by: Eddy Dec 27 2006, 02:38 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Dec 27 2006, 03:24 PM)
>
> It alarms me that so many people are still buying into the idea that Linda Shelton commited "spiritual adultery."

We cannot possibly know what someone else was feeling in their heart, only God knows. Unless, Linda actually said that she commited "spiritual adultery." Either way, if we could see what was in the hearts of others, there would be a lot less critism I assume because we all have skeletons in our closets.

Posted by: princessdi Dec 27 2006, 02:44 PM

Linda would not have said that because there is no such thing.....at least in a marriage.

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 12:38 PM)
>
> We cannot possibly know what someone else was feeling in their heart, only God knows. Unless, Linda actually said that she commited "spiritual adultery." Either way, if we could see what was in the hearts of others, there would be a lot less critism I assume because we all have skeletons in our closets.

Posted by: Eddy Dec 27 2006, 02:50 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Dec 27 2006, 03:44 PM)
>
> Linda would not have said that because there is no such thing.....at least in a marriage.

no such thing... please clarify (I understood "spiritual adultery" to be the same thing as commiting adultery in your heart)

Posted by: princessdi Dec 27 2006, 02:56 PM

No, spiritual adultery can only be committed against God, with whom you have a spiritual tie/ relationship. In fact, in one of hte threads it is now being said that it was first coined by some counselors who talked with Danny and Linda early on.

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 12:50 PM)
>
> no such thing... please clarify (I understood "spiritual adultery" to be the same thing as commiting adultery in your heart)

Posted by: Eddy Dec 27 2006, 03:09 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Dec 27 2006, 03:56 PM)
>
> No, spiritual adultery can only be committed against God, with whom you have a spiritual tie/ relationship. In fact, in one of hte threads it is now being said that it was first coined by some counselors who talked with Danny and Linda early on.

Matthew 5:28 (King James Version)

28But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

The scripture says "commited adultery with her " One can only assume the obvious and that would be that Jesus was speaking about the literal term for adultery (when one strays out of a marriage). Unless there is scripture to contrast that, , I just don't see where you can relate that with commiting adultery in your relationship with God. When you think of adultery in your relationship with God, you think of worshipping another God, not lusting after someone. Which thread is this you speak of?

Posted by: princessdi Dec 27 2006, 03:27 PM

But there is nothing spiritual about that lust. That man's mind is not dwelling in the spiritual.

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 01:09 PM)
>
> Matthew 5:28 (King James Version)
>
> 28But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.
>
> The scripture says "commited adultery with her " One can only assume the obvious and that would be that Jesus was speaking about the literal term for adultery (when one strays out of a > marriage). Unless there is scripture to contrast that, , I just don't see where you can relate that with commiting adultery in your relationship with God. When you think of adultery in your relationship with God, you think of worshipping another God, not lusting after someone. Which thread is this you speak of?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Dec 27 2006, 03:34 PM

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 03:09 PM)
>
> The scripture says "commited adultery with her " I just don't see where you can relate that with commiting adultery in your relationship with God.

See the following script.

Pete

WHEN IT'S TIME TO LEAVE
Production No. 863

Speaker
MARK A. FINLEY

http://www.iiw.org/tvprogram/scripts/program-863-script-1.html

The problem of Thyatira is the problem of spiritual adultery . Adultery is an illicit union with a person who's not your true spouse. Adultery speaks of unfaithfulness. It's a breaking of sacred vows.

This letter really addresses an entire period of church history, the period of the Dark Ages. The Christian church symbolized by Thyatira, was unfaithful to her true lover, Jesus Christ and unfaithful to His Word. She broke her vow and loyalty to her Lord.

Posted by: Eddy Dec 27 2006, 03:40 PM

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 03:50 PM)
>
> (I understood "spiritual adultery" to be the same thing as commiting adultery in your heart)

Once again a misunderstanding from a play on words. Either way it doesn't matter. Because either way we still don't know her heart to judge.

Posted by: Grace Dec 27 2006, 05:20 PM

Let me see. If I'm a married woman and I spend a long time on the phone with a man other than my husband, I commit spiritual adultery. But it's possible to lust for another women, in a homo sense. So, I commit spiritual adultery if I talk on the phone to a woman for a long time. What about spending a long time with people (men and women) in a forum? I suppose it could be labeled as committing spiritual adultery too. Rats!!! I have been spending more than ten minutes... a day!!! I'm glad my hubby is not looking for a way to get rid of me, or I'd be done!

Is this ofl ?

Posted by: awesumtenor Dec 27 2006, 05:40 PM

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 04:40 PM)
>
> Once again a misunderstanding from a play on words. Either way it doesn't matter. Because either way we still don't know her heart to judge.

Actually it does matter; it is the crux of the issue. Because of the church's teaching on divorce and remarriage in order to marry Brandy without stepping out of the bounds laid by the church's position he had to show Linda was adulterous. He could not prove a physical adulterous relationship... but with Linda effectively gagged, he has been able to cast enough aspersion for folk to believe her guilty... belief that continues to be entrenched, as one can see... but it begs the question... if the charge he makes is shown to be fraudulent what of his subsequent marriage to Brandy? I am speaking from the perspective of the church; as far as the state is concerned he needed no reason at all to divorce Linda... but the standard of the church is markedly higher...and it is the attempting to give the appearance of having met that standard which has brought this discussion to where it is... the issues with the continued bearing of false witness not withstanding.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: inga Dec 27 2006, 05:42 PM

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 27 2006, 04:40 PM)
>
> Once again a misunderstanding from a play on words. Either way it doesn't matter. Because either way we still don't know her heart to judge.

Whew! Eddy, you have a way of deflating one's ego. I just wrote a lenghty post explaining, with Bible texts, what "spiritual adultery" is and is not. And then you come on here and write a "reply" demonstrating that you haven't understood a word I wrote.

This was not a "play on words," but a misuse of a very real term.

Maybe a summary will help:
Spiritual adultery is unfaithfulness to God.

Unless Danny is God, Linda cannot commit spiritual adultery agains him.

Apparently Danny meant "mental adultery" (which you incorrectly equate with spiritual adultery). But even then, there's no way for Danny to know, as you pointed out.

Furthermore, even if Danny could know that Linda committed mental adultery (fantasized about someone other than Danny), that does not constitute biblical grounds for divorce.
FACTS:
Danny divorced Linda without biblical grounds.
Danny married Brandy, who is much younger than Linda.
Linda is still single and has no plans to remarry at this time.

Posted by: awesumtenor Dec 27 2006, 05:43 PM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Dec 27 2006, 06:20 PM)
>
> Let me see. If I'm a married woman and I spend a long time on the phone with a man other than my husband, I commit spiritual adultery. But it's possible to lust for another women, in a homo sense. So, I commit spiritual adultery if I talk on the phone to a woman for a long time. What about spending a long time with people (men and women) in a forum? I suppose it could be labeled as committing spiritual adultery too. Rats!!! I have been spending more than ten minutes... a day!!! I'm glad my hubby is not looking for a way to get rid of me, or I'd be done!
>
> Is this ☒ ofl ?

Nope; your point is spot on...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Brother Sam Dec 27 2006, 09:08 PM

A few years ago I became4 acquainted with some charismatics believe.

They believe God talks to them and what he says supercedes what thw bible says.

Shame on the adventist, John Lomacang, and the board for listening to Danny Shelton and spiritual adultery. Its not adventist doctrine its charismatics doctrine,

Is that why he like charismatics! And they call him a prophet.

Posted by: Green Cochoa Dec 27 2006, 10:06 PM

First of all, I think it only fair to say that the term "spiritual" can and does have more than one usage. I agree that the traditional interpretation, when coupled with "adultery," clearly refers to leaving our "first love" Christ in search of other "lovers" (gods). However, it is also true that the term "spiritual" carries other meanings, and might be fairly applied to the sense of the term in which Jesus spoke of committing adultery in the heart.

For example, Jesus also said that Lazarus was not dead. But he was dead. How then was he not dead? Spiritually. Jesus also said that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob were alive, which can only have been in a "spiritual" sense. So the term "spiritual" can apply to anything in our spiritual lives which exists beyond the physical realm.

However, where I completely disagree with the term of "spiritual adultery" is the use of it in connection with a "legal" (spiritual) right to divorce. Obviously, according to earthly laws, anyone can divorce and remarry for any cause--or none at all. So we are speaking of the spiritual realm of permission here. Biblically speaking, there is no precedent, command, nor permission given for divorce on the basis of a so-called "spiritual adultery."

Since I have presented a clear basis for this using some scripture in another thread, I will recommend those who haven't read it to go there rather than repeating that here.

Three posts:
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11914&view=findpost&p=165743
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11914&view=findpost&p=165748
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=11914&view=findpost&p=165799

To summarize briefly, in logical form:

1) Jesus said if your intention is to lust after someone when you look at them, it is as though you've already committed adultery. (adulterer)
2) If you hate your brother, it is as though you've already murdered him. (murderer)
3) James 2:10 says to break the law on one point is to break the law on every point.

Therefore, if you can divorce over the adulterous thoughts, without the actions, of your spouse, you should also be able to imprison a "murderer" for his/her hatred. And to carry it one step further in the same logic, if your spouse breaks any one of the 10 Commandments, this means he/she has broken the commandment against adultery, and therefore you would have permission to divorce.

I hope it becomes abundantly clear, in light of the final result of such logic, why this reasoning is not Biblical.

Posted by: inga Dec 28 2006, 12:57 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Dec 27 2006, 11:06 PM)
>
> First of all, I think it only fair to say that the term "spiritual" can and does have more than one usage. I agree that the traditional interpretation, when coupled with "adultery," clearly refers to leaving our "first love" Christ in search of other "lovers" (gods). However, it is also true that the term "spiritual" carries other meanings, and might be fairly applied to the sense of the term in which Jesus spoke of committing adultery in the heart.

Not without doing great violence to the English language. Dictionaries chronicle the way words are used by most speakers of the language. You'll find the most up-to-date data at www.dictionary.com. (Certainly older usage does not make room for the kind of usage you envision). Here are the defintions of "spiritual" from Dictionary.com:

spir·it·u·al

-adjective 1. of, pertaining to, or consisting of spirit; incorporeal.
2. of or pertaining to the spirit or soul, as distinguished from the physical nature: a spiritual approach to life.
3. closely akin in interests, attitude, outlook, etc.: the professor's spiritual heir in linguistics.
4. of or pertaining to spirits or to spiritualists; supernatural or spiritualistic.
5. characterized by or suggesting predominance of the spirit; ethereal or delicately refined: She is more of a spiritual type than her rowdy brother.
6. of or pertaining to the spirit as the seat of the moral or religious nature.
7. of or pertaining to sacred things or matters; religious; devotional; sacred.
8. of or belonging to the church; ecclesiastical: lords spiritual and temporal.
9. of or relating to the mind or intellect.
-noun 10. a spiritual or religious song: authentic folk spirituals.
11. spirituals, affairs of the church.
12. a spiritual thing or matter.

Notice that the word is used in a sense implying religious exercise or a faculty of man distinguished from the body. It is not used in place of "mental" (e.g. fantasizing) or "emotional." As PrincessDi pointed out, there's nothing "spiritual" about lusting after a person.

So far I've not heard of anyone referring to lusting as spiritual adultery other than Dan Shelton and his supporters. One might expect it also of certain charismatics, considering their teachings, but I know of none for sure.

> QUOTE
>
> For example, Jesus also said that Lazarus was not dead. But he was dead. How then was he not dead? Spiritually.

While I appreciate your biblical arguments up to this point, I must take exception to your interpretation here. This kind of "spiritual" application allows us all sorts of strange doctrines. Let's take a look at what Jesus actually said, in context:

> QUOTE
>
> John 11.11-14
> These things said he: and after that he saith unto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep.
> Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleep, he shall do well.
> Howbeit Jesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of taking of rest in sleep.
> Then said Jesus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

Recognizing that a common way for Jews of the time to refer to a person dying was that he was going to "sleep with his fathers," what Jesus said makes perfect sense. When the disciples misunderstood to which kind of "sleep" he was referring, he told them plainly that Lazarus was dead.

Saying that Lazarus was "spiritually not dead" would imply that Jesus taught that there is spiritual life apart from the body. That is far from the truth. For clarification of this issue, please see http://www.glow.cc/theo/eternal_life/index.htm. If anything in that essay is not clear, please PM me.

> QUOTE
>
> Jesus also said that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob were alive, which can only have been in a "spiritual" sense.

Again, let's take a look at the context to get a better picture of what Jesus meant:

I believe you're referring to the incident chronicles in Matthew 22.31, 32 and surrounding texts:
"But as touching the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God, saying,

I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living."

Jesus was speaking to the Sadducees who didn't believe in a resurrection. They had come to him with an "unsolvable" problem -- seven brothers who had been married to the same wife. Whose wife, they asked, would she be in the resurrection?

"Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God. For in the resurrection they neither marry, nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God in heaven." (verses 29, 30) That answered their spoken question.

However, then Jesus got down to the real issue -- the resurrection which the Sadducees denied and the Pharisees affirmed. They had brought up this "problem" to make the doctrine of the resurrection seem rididulous. Jesus now confirms the doctrine of the resurrection by referring to familiar Scriptures of the time -- that God presented Himself as the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaace, and the God of Jacob. What would be the sense if these men had passed into eternal annihilation?

By contrast, Jesus affirmed the resurrection by saying God is a God of the living -- seeing that the state between the end of physical life and the resurrection was commonly understood as a sleep, or a suspension of life, rather than annihilation, this made sense. (The Hebrews knew nothing of a soul distince from a body or of any existence separate from the body. Please reference the URL I gave above where I give the biblical basis for my statement here.)

I do agree with your arguments in the "Questions for Joe" thread you referenced and in the rest of this post to which I responded. Thank you for saying it so well.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Dec 28 2006, 01:41 AM regardless the term spiritual adultery doesn't mean one should go out and divorce their spouse...there are reasons a man and woman should probably divorce, but spiritual adultery isn't one...I guess we can say I am off lurk mode at the present time...

Posted by: Green Cochoa Dec 28 2006, 01:48 AM

Inga,

I recognize that your interpretation of those verses regarding Lazarus, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob is the traditional interpretation. I'm really not wishing to argue this point, but perhaps, for the sake of clearing up any misunderstanding of them, I will try to clarify a little.

Actually, it is surprising to me that more people have not understood this. Remember, God lives in the present. He is the "I AM." When Jesus says, therefore, "I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. God is not the God of the dead, but of the living," He is speaking in present tense for a reason. This is not making reference to the future resurrection directly. Indirectly, yes, it does imply that the patriarchs will be raised in Christ. But Lazarus is a big clue here to what Jesus was trying to teach. Jesus clearly said Lazarus was not dead, only asleep. Once again, using the present tense. Once again, Lazarus is physically dead at the time of that statement.

You see, "spiritually" (if you will please allow me to use the term this way for I honestly know of no other word to apply here), Lazarus was alive. In the same way that Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are alive. In the same way that you or I can be alive through Christ.

Contrast this with Jesus' scathing rebuke to the Pharisees that they were as "whited sepulchres" filled with "dead men's bones!" Obviously, Jesus saw them as "walking dead" (spiritually dead while physically alive). Lazarus and the patriarchs were physically dead while spiritually alive.

To go a step further, and this is a major point of the gospel which many theologians have never comprehended, Jesus says "I am the way, the truth, and the life." Jesus proceeds to tell everyone things like:

(To Lazarus' sister)
John 11:24-26 "Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day. Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?"

I would ask of you this same question. Do you believe that by believing in Jesus you will never die?

(To Nicodemus)
John 3:36 "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him."

This is in present tense. If you believe, you have (now) everlasting life. It's not really a big mystery! It's just that Jesus thinks on a spiritual plane, whereas our minds tend to focus on the temporal and physical realm.

I appreciate your kindness in discussing this, and I know that these concepts are not easy to understand. Nicodemus, Martha, and I too--we all have difficulty grasping the beauty of this message. But Jesus would not have expressed it to his dearest friends, and to the scholar Nicodemus, if He felt it was too much for their understanding--unless, of course, it was more for our benefit.

Posted by: Green Cochoa Dec 28 2006, 05:25 AM

Inga,

Going back over what you have said, and reflecting on what you may have thought I was saying, I have seen a few things I should clarify further.

First, regarding those deceased who are "spiritually" alive: They are in the grave. They have no "spirit" floating around in heaven. I'm not promoting any strange doctrine here at all. I'm well acquainted with such as Ecclesiastes 9:5-6, Psalm 115:17, etc. and in full agreement with them. However, why is it that we speak of people being "asleep in Jesus?" The Bible speaks of it in these terms. I have to assume that Paul understood the concept of spiritual death and life, versus physical death or life, for in 1 Corinthians 15:51 he speaks of this "mystery" and says "We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed."

If we consider this for but a moment, it quickly surfaces that only the living can sleep. But why then do we speak of the "dead" sleeping? It is because Jesus looks at it from a different perspective. Life and death can be physical or spiritual. Those who deny God and reject Him choose death for themselves. Those who choose Christ, choose life. This "spiritual" life is that only which can have eternal consequence. The physical state of death or life is only temporary.

When Jesus died on the cross, it is my understanding that He died not just the ordinary physical death, but the spiritual death that we each deserve for our sins. This was to give us spiritual life.

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." John 10:10

Now, the link to the essay you included opens a whole 'nother can of worms! For the Bible teaches that the fire of hell is eternal--but now you will really think I'm strange! Best we leave that for another thread.

Now, I'm not sure why you have taken issue with my saying the word "spiritual" can have more than one usage. You have, yourself, dredged up multiple meanings for the word. I agree that there is nothing "righteous" about lustful thoughts, but it is still very much an issue affecting one's spirituality. I've heard the term "spiritual suicide" more than once, and I think it simply means to divorce oneself from God, the Source of life, through one's choices and actions. So, I am looking at "spiritual adultery" in a similar light.

Jesus said spiritual things are spiritually discerned, which points to a realm of understanding beyond the physical realm so common to us. Yes, you can say that it means the Holy Spirit will enlighten the understanding. However, I think it means more than just that. There are many things in the Bible which cannot be easily understood at face value, but which have a spiritual application.

Blessings!

Posted by: Eddy Dec 28 2006, 11:21 AM

Okay, first let's get this out so there is no confusion. There is spiritual adultery, and the other lets call "mental adultery".

> QUOTE(Grace @ Dec 27 2006, 06:20 PM) ☐
>
> Let me see. If I'm a married woman and I spend a long time on the phone with a man other than my husband, I commit spiritual adultery. But it's possible to lust for another women, in a homo sense. So, I commit spiritual adultery if I talk on the phone to a woman for a long time. What about spending a long time with people (men and women) in a forum? I suppose it could be labeled as committing spiritual adultery too. Rats!!! I have been spending more than ten minutes... a day!!! I'm glad my hubby is not looking for a way to get rid of me, or I'd be done!
>
> Is this ☒ ofl ?

I don't think that talking on the phone for a long time equals lust or mental adultery or any of the above. Is this what made Danny think he could accuse his wife of mental adultery?

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Dec 27 2006, 06:40 PM) ☐
>
> Actually it does matter; it is the crux of the issue. Because of the church's teaching on divorce and remarriage in order to marry Brandy without stepping out of the bounds laid by the church's position he had to show Linda was adulterous. He could not prove a physical adulterous relationship... but with Linda effectively gagged, he has been able to cast enough aspersion for folk to believe her guilty... belief that continues to be entrenched, as one can see... but it begs the question... if the charge he makes is shown to be fraudulent what of his subsequent marriage to Brandy? I am speaking from the perspective of the church; as far as the state is concerned he needed no reason at all to divorce Linda... but the standard of the church is markedly higher...and it is the attempting to give the appearance of having met that standard which has brought this discussion to where it is... the issues with the continued bearing of false witness not withstanding.
>
> In His service,

> Mr. J

Vow, that's pretty messed up . Because unless she confessed, he cannot prove at all that she ommited mental adultery. But that does bring up a question. Should mental adultery be a legit eason for divorce?

ersonally I do not think so, but I'm one of those people who are in it through thickest to thinest. I lon't even think adultery is a good enough reason for divorce, unless is a continuous thing. BTJM

> QUOTE(inga @ Dec 27 2006, 06:42 PM)
>
> Whew! Eddy, you have a way of deflating one's ego. I just wrote a lenghty post explaining, with Bible texts, what "spiritual adultery" is and is not. And then you come on here and write a "reply" demonstrating that you haven't understood a word I wrote.

Sorry about that. You just don't hear much about the literal spiritual adultery.

Posted by: princessdi Dec 28 2006, 11:23 AM

Okay, first let's get this out so there is no confusion. There is spiritual adultery, and the other lets call "mental adultery".

Right! spiritual adultery is against God, not man{general}. Mental is that of which the Bible speaks about lusting after a woman in your heart, but as you said, no one can know that unless you tell them.

I don't think that talking on the phone for a long time equals lust or mental adultery or any of the above. Is this what made Danny think he could accuse his wife of mental adultery? :huh

Now you got it, Girlie! However he then called it "spiritual adultery". That would not wash, and he has since distanced himself from that phrase. Yes, he actually called it that because she was on the phone more than 15 mins. with a man who was not her husband.......he left out the part about it being a Dr. who was treating Linda's son, Danny's stepson, for drug abuse. We didn 't find that out until later. Danny acted as if he had no idea why she was on the phone with a man that long.

Posted by: Eddy Dec 28 2006, 11:37 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Dec 28 2006, 12:23 PM)
>
> Now you got it, Girlie!

Yeah, I'm learning. You know I'm new to all this.

Posted by: inga Dec 28 2006, 11:56 AM

"Green Cocha,"

Thanks for the detailed reply. I really appreciate it. It clarifies a lot of things.

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Dec 28 2006, 06:25 AM)
>
> Now, the link to the essay you included opens a whole 'nother can of worms! For the Bible teaches that the fire of hell is eternal--but now you will really think I'm strange! Best we leave that for another thread.

Thanks for taking a look at least. I agree that the fire of hell is as eternal as that which burned up Sodom and Gomorrah. (See Jude 7) Any other eternal fire would present the problem of an uninhabitable earth (because of the eternal fire) or a separate place in God's universe in which sinners are eternally tortured, as taught by those who do not understand that God only has inherent immortality. But you're right, if this is discussed, it should be in another thread.

> QUOTE
>
> Now, I'm not sure why you have taken issue with my saying the word "spiritual" can have more than one usage. You have, yourself, dredged up multiple meanings for the word.

I did not take issue with the concept of multiple meanings, but with the particular meaning implied in "spiritual adultery." It goes contrary to the accepted usage of the word spiritual.

As for the multiple meanings I posted, it didn't require much "dredging." Copying the dictionary definitions from http://www.dictionary.com is all it took. Dictionaries are rather useful for purposes of determining accepted usage of language.

> QUOTE
>
> I agree that there is nothing "righteous" about lustful thoughts, but it is still very much an issue affecting one's spirituality. I've heard the term "spiritual suicide" more than once, and I think it simply means to divorce oneself from God, the Source of life, through one's choices and actions. So, I am looking at "spiritual adultery" in a similar light.

Agreed on the issue of "spiritual suicide." It perfectly fits the accepted usage of the term. But could your justification for "spiritual adultery" mean that physical adultery does not affect one's spirituality? (A rhetorical question, since I don't think you mean that.)

> QUOTE
>
> Jesus said spiritual things are spiritually discerned, which points to a realm of understanding beyond the physical realm so common to us. Yes, you can say that it means the Holy Spirit will enlighten the understanding. However, I think it means more than just that. There are many things in the Bible which cannot be easily understood at face value, but which have a spiritual application.

Agreed. I just don't believe that mental adultery is more "spiritual" than physical adultery. (I'm not saying you do, by the way -- just that the terminology implies that.)

Once again: Biblically speaking, spiritual adultery is unfaithfulness to God, and that usage harmonizes with the dictionary meaning of "spiritual."

Calling the other "mental adultery" gets us on the same page. Only God knows whether anyone committed mental adultery, unless there's concrete evidence such as a record of sexually explicit exchanges -- either in written or audio format. Of course, I understand Danny & cohorts have claimed that such evidence exists. However, with all the other trashing of Linda that they have done, the fact that they haven't come forth with any credible evidence is a pretty good argument in favor of there being no such evidence.

Blessings,
Inga

Posted by: Green Cochoa Dec 28 2006, 07:50 PM

Inga, regarding the eternal fire of hell, I would encourage you to read the following verses, in this order:

Isaiah 33:14-16
Psalm 15
Deuteronomy 4:24
Isaiah 43:2
Daniel 3:25
Revelation 3:18
Jude 7

And then tell me with what you could logically replace the term "eternal fire" in that last verse. (The first two texts you will want to compare and contrast together carefully.)

> QUOTE(inga @ Dec 28 2006, 11:56 AM)
>
> ...
> Once again: Biblically speaking, spiritual adultery is unfaithfulness to God, and that usage harmonizes with the dictionary meaning of "spiritual."
> ...

Just one comment here:

Is the term "spiritual adultery" biblical now? I don't think it's in the Bible! If Jesus said that by lusting we commit adultery, I ask you, why not use the term "spiritual" adultery here? For in the "spiritual" sense it is adultery.

I know, I know. "Spiritual adultery" has always been thought of as unfaithfulness to God. But, wait a minute....are you trying to tell me that having lustful thoughts is still being faithful to God?

Yes, there are four major realms for us:
Spiritual
Mental Physical Emotional

To which of these does "sin" have a direct relationship? I think it's the "spiritual" realm. This is why I have said earlier, and I still feel, that the term "spiritual adultery" can have more than one application, if not meaning.

Blessings!

Posted by: inga Dec 29 2006, 01:57 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Dec 28 2006, 08:50 PM)
>
> Is the term "spiritual adultery" biblical now? I don't think it's in the Bible! If Jesus said that by lusting we commit adultery, I ask you, why not use the term "spiritual" adultery here? For in the "spiritual" sense it is adultery.
>
> I know, I know. "Spiritual adultery" has always been thought of as unfaithfulness to God. But, wait a minute....are you trying to tell me that having lustful thoughts is still being faithful to God?

Green Cocha, in the Bible the concept of spiritual adultery is applied to unfaithfulness to God in a major way such as giving active allegiance to another god. Terms such as going "awhoring" after other gods support the use of the terminology.

All sin, is, of course "unfaithfulness to God," and if you broaden the term that far, it does cover mentail adultery while it covers all sins. It also becomes meaningless. For instance, would Danny have gotten the same mileage out of saying that Linda sinned and that he was therefore justified in divorcing her?

No, he got mileage out of the terminology because folks imagined Linda having an adulterous relationship with someone else, even if it wasn't physical.

Kay Kuzma actually comes close to using the term biblically when she defines spiritual adultery as putting something or someone else in the place of God in one's life. There's just a bit of a problem:
1. How does Kay presume to know what was going on in Linda's heart?
2. How does she know that Linda didn't commit "spiritual adultery" with Danny?
(By the working definition Kay used, many married folks commit "spiritual adultery" with their own spouses because they put their spouses in the place of God. So spiritual adultery as grounds for divorce becomes nonsensical because spouses would have cause to divorce each other for loving each other too much.)

The bottom line still is that no one can know when another commits spiritual adultery. And even if it could be known, it does not constitute grounds for divorce.

Posted by: Grace Dec 29 2006, 02:39 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Dec 29 2006, 08:57 AM)
>
> Green Cocha, in the Bible the concept of spiritual adultery is applied to unfaithfulness to God in a major way such as giving active allegiance to another god. Terms such as going "awhoring" after other gods support the use of the terminology.
>
> All sin, is, of course "unfaithfulness to God," and if you broaden the term that far, it does cover mentail adultery while it covers all sins. It also becomes meaningless. For instance, would Danny > have gotten the same mileage out of saying that Linda sinned and that he was therefore justified in divorcing her?

>
> No, he got mileage out of the terminology because folks imagined Linda having an adulterous relationship with someone else, even if it wasn't physical.
>
> Kay Kuzma actually comes close to using the term biblically when she defines spiritual adultery as putting something or someone else in the place of God in one's life. There's just a bit of a problem:
> 1. How does Kay presume to know what was going on in Linda's heart?
> 2. How does she know that Linda didn't commit "spiritual adultery" with Danny?
> (By the working definition Kay used, many married folks commit "spiritual adultery" with their own spouses because they put their spouses in the place of God. So spiritual adultery as grounds for divorce becomes nonsensical because spouses would have cause to divorce each other for loving each other too much.)
>
> The bottom line still is that no one can know when another commits spiritual adultery. And even if it could be known, it does not constitute grounds for divorce.

100% clear!

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Dec 29 2006, 04:39 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Dec 29 2006, 01:57 AM)
>
> Green Cocha, in the Bible the concept of spiritual adultery is applied to unfaithfulness to God in a major way such as giving active allegiance to another god. Terms such as going "awhoring" after other gods support the use of the terminology.
>
> All sin, is, of course "unfaithfulness to God," and if you broaden the term that far, it does cover mentail adultery while it covers all sins. It also becomes meaningless. For instance, would Danny have gotten the same mileage out of saying that Linda sinned and that he was therefore justified in divorcing her?
>
> No, he got mileage out of the terminology because folks imagined Linda having an adulterous relationship with someone else, even if it wasn't physical.
>
> Kay Kuzma actually comes close to using the term biblically when she defines spiritual adultery as putting something or someone else in the place of God in one's life. There's just a bit of a problem:
> 1. How does Kay presume to know what was going on in Linda's heart?
> 2. How does she know that Linda didn't commit "spiritual adultery" with Danny?
> (By the working definition Kay used, many married folks commit "spiritual adultery" with their own spouses because they put their spouses in the place of God. So spiritual adultery as grounds for divorce becomes nonsensical because spouses would have cause to divorce each other for loving each other too much.)
>
> The bottom line still is that no one can know when another commits spiritual adultery. And even if it could be known, it does not constitute grounds for divorce.

rue...no one has grounds for divorce with spiritual adultery...you talking about adultery and divorce omebody better had been stepping out...cause the bible don't talk about any spiritual adultery and uman divorce...btjm...

Posted by: inga Jan 1 2007, 11:35 PM

When we limit ourselves to the facts of the matter, as opposed to speculation, it would probably be a good idea to remember who are the first-hand actual witnesses.

Linda, is of course, a first-hand witness, but she may have reasons to see things differently from Danny.
Dr. Abrahamsen is a first-hand witness, but Danny has implicated him as being involved.
Johann Thorvaldssen is a first-hand witness, and Danny has not been able to come up with any evidence to support his accusations of Pastor Thorvaldssen, who was the European liaison for 3ABN.

The testimonies of all three persons above agree in the essential details.

Danny Shelton is not a first-hand witness of the serious allegations against Linda. He wasn't there. He has said he has "evidence" but hasn't been able to produce it. Considering all the things he has said about Linda thus far, it's a safe bet that his inability to present credible evidence demonstrates that there isn't any.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 6 2007, 06:56 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 1 2007, 11:35 PM)
>
> Considering all the things he has said about Linda thus far, it's a safe bet that his inability to present credible evidence demonstrates that there isn't any.

I was reading this letter posted at save3abn.com

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-1.htm

-------- Original Message --------
From: Danny Shelton
To: Johann Thorvaldsson
Subject:
Date: Sunday, August 08, 2004 9:20 AM

"They all told her that spiritual adultery virtually always turns into physical adultery. They told her that eventually these "innocent" conversations with this other man would end up in meeting together physically. Because before very long these long conversations would not be enough to fill her emotional needs. The next step would be to meet together which virtually always takes this problem from spiritual adultery to physical."

Then I read this:

http://jmm.aaa.net.au/articles/8207.htm

John Sandford says in his quite brilliant book 'Why Some Christians Commit Adultery' (Tulsa, OK: Victory House, 1989), 'the first and greatest cause of _sexual_ adultery, among well-meaning Christians, is _spiritual_ adultery [which happens when] married persons share with someone else what ought to have been shared first or only with their own spouses' (p.7).

The classical wisdom here:

1. Spiritual adultery is always (at first) unintentional.

2. When persisted in, it leads inevitably to full physical adultery.

Danny Shelton's information on spiritual adultery seems to originate with a book by John Sandford. So, I looked at John Sandford, the author

----

http://www.cultlink.com/sentinel/sandford.html

Some of John Sandford's exhortations given under supposed divine revelation serve his own agenda and his own vision of Christian unity between Protestants and Catholics. Sandford treats anyone standing in the way of such unbiblical unity as the enemy and uses his assumed position as a prophet to spiritually threaten the Bereans who question his ecumenical bent..

"That's where we have been, as we discovered Methodists, Lutherans, Baptists, Roman Catholics and so many other Christians of every denomination all being filled with the Spirit, rattling our theologies together, joining ourselves to one another with a lot of noise.

He got one thing right! When sound theology is mixed with false theology one has to "rattle" them to do so."

http://www.psychoheresy-aware.org/elijahhouse.html

Elijah House was founded in 1974 by John and Paula Sandford, who are avid proponents of inner healing prayer. For more than two decades, Elijah House has published a collection of books by the Sandfords that advocate many of the same concepts Ed Smith teaches in his Theophostic Prayer Ministry training materials.

John Sandford has referred to himself as a "super-spook mystic always having dreams, seeing visions, and having far-out experiences" (Healing the Wounded Spirit, p. 255). One of those experiences included healing the traumatic memory of a cow that had been shocked by lightning — a story Sandford relates in A Comprehensive Guide to Deliverance and Inner Healing (p. 231-232). He says: "Memories need to be healed in animals as well as in people. Demons must be cast away, but not without removing their access by healing the memories" (p. 235). This idea that hurtful memories provide access to demonic inhabitation, which Smith applies to Christians, and not animals, was heavily promoted in Smith's writings over the years.

The Sandfords are self-admitted disciples of Agnes Sanford (no relation), who is considered the mother of the healing-of-the-memories movement. John Sandford opens his classic work on inner healing — The Transformation of the Inner Man — with the story of Sanford, whom he met in 1961. He says, "I knew by my psychological training that Agnes was praying for the inner boy [his inner child] from conception to thirteen whom I could not reach. It worked. I was healed" (p. 4). He then goes on to describe a dream about Sanford, which he said God showed him was all about "turning on lights in [Sandford's] 'tower of knowledge'" (pp. 4-5).

DesVoignes says: "Sandford teaches that as part of transformation, the counselor must take a person through visualization, back into their childhood, even back into the womb, to contact their inner child, find out what the problem was at that time, speak to it , and this will allow changes to be made in the present life."

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 6 2007, 07:44 AM

Note: these two letters are what I recall of the "Spiritual Adultery" episode. Emphasis is mine.

Personally, I wonder what Sigmund Freud would say about Kay's concept of the Spiritual Hole? Freud would have a field day with that one!

Dear Stan:

God has put a spiritual "hole" in each of our hearts that can be filled by Him. When it is, we will be so bonded that we will give up family, career, everything for Him. God has given us marriage to understand how two people can become one--so we can better understand the trinity, but the spiritual "hole" shouldn't be filled with a human.
Unfortunately, if the hole is filled with another person, problems are created--especially if the person is not one's spouse! That's why we have so many pastors leaving the church--they have allowed their spiritual hole to be filled with another person whom they are helping spiritually. Too much Bible study and spiritual counseling with persons of the opposite sex can lead to emotional dependence and the person is willing to give up everything for this person. This is basically what Spiritual Adultery is. No, there does not have to be physical contact. However, in most cases it leads to that because as a man spends time meeting a woman's emotional needs, he unconsciously feels there should be a sexual payoff. And when a woman's emotional needs are met, she is more open to a sexual relationship.
Here's a book I think may be helpful. Spiritual Adultery by Charles H. Dove. You can get it through Amazon.com

Sincerely,

Kay

Kay Kuzma's Correction

"To: Stan McCluskey

Stan,

I had heard there was a book on spiritual adultery. I mistakenly went up on Amazon.com and found the one by Dove--thinking that was the one that had been recommended to me. I made a mistake. The Christian book on spiritual adultery is really called, Why Some Christians Commit Adultery, by John Loren Sandford . Again, I have not read the book. I have no idea who Dove is...never read a word from him...and like you, I never want to! I'm sure glad you're the only person I've mentioned that book to!!!! Innocent mistakes can too easily become mountains!

Kay

I reminded her that permission had been given to add her note to this Forum.

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 6 2007, 09:33 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 6 2007, 08:44 AM) ☐
>
> Personally, I wonder what Sigmund Freud would say about Kay's concept of the Spiritual Hole? Freud would have a field day with that one!

Or two or three days or maybe an entire book.

However, I suspect if Aletheia or the others address this thread or this post they will point out Freud's flaws and errors rather than discuss the author Mr. Sanford and his interesting viewpoints or why Ms Kuzma would even be aware of and recommending his book. Do you think they can stay on topic and address this interesting post?

No wonder Danny said in the email discussed elsewhere that Linda needed new friends.

If WWJD, Lee and cronies buy into this no wonder they don't understand why the rest of us don't see what they see in the emails that have been posted. They need to get off the compound.

Thanks for sharing this back story and doing the research for us Panama_Pete.

nw
C"i"

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 02:05 PM

PP,

Yikes! Shades of the Burmuda Triangle! I agree with NW, thank you so much for doing this research.

As each of the puzzle pieces slip inexorably into place, the picture is becoming so clear!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 6 2007, 04:16 PM

sn

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 6 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 6 2007, 08:56 AM) ☐
>
> . . .
>
> Then I read this:
>
> http://jmm.aaa.net.au/articles/8207.htm
>
> John Sandford says in his quite brilliant book 'Why Some Christians Commit Adultery' (Tulsa, OK:

> Victory House, 1989), 'the first and greatest cause of _sexual_ adultery, among well-meaning Christians, is _spiritual_ adultery [which happens when] married persons share with someone else what ought to have been shared first or only with their own spouses' (p.7).
>
> The classical wisdom here:
>
> 1. Spiritual adultery is always (at first) unintentional.
>
> 2. When persisted in, it leads inevitably to full physical adultery.

P,

ave been reading your research and doing some of my own on the subject and its origins. I thought t was interesting that you left out the #3 from the classical wisdom list. I find it interesting because it olds a lot of wisdom in regards to husband/wife relationships even outside the discussion of spiritual dultery.

Emphasis is mine)

. So: don't become isolated, particularly from your spouse; be careful when you keenly nticipate an appointment with someone or invent even 'innocent' excuses to spend nappropriate amounts of private time with that person; listen to the warnings of others; onfess to a spiritual director or supervisor; join a small group where you can be accountable; be illing not to see the person in question in private - ever again; and ask for someone with piritual discernment to pray for a 'separation' or 'loosing' of spirits - particularly if it led to sexual dultery (see 1 Cor. 6:15-20). Finally: deal with the roots of your own dysfunction.

ow that seems like wise counsel - especially within this discussion. Why did you leave it out?

FHB

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 6 2007, 05:16 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 6 2007, 05:51 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> Have been reading your research and doing some of my own on the subject and its origins. I thought it was interesting that you left out the #3 from the classical wisdom list. I find it interesting because it holds a lot of wisdom in regards to husband/wife relationships even outside the discussion of spiritual adultery.
>
> (Emphasis is mine)
>
> 3. So: don't become isolated, particularly from your spouse; be careful when you keenly anticipate an appointment with someone or invent even 'innocent' excuses to spend inappropriate amounts of private time with that person; listen to the warnings of others; confess to a spiritual director or supervisor; join a small group where you can be accountable; be willing not to see the person in question in private - ever again; and ask for someone with spiritual discernment to pray for a 'separation' or 'loosing' of spirits - particularly if it led to sexual adultery (see 1 Cor. 6:15-20). Finally: deal with the roots of your own dysfunction.
>
> Now that seems like wise counsel - especially within this discussion. Why did you leave it out?

> - FHB

f you are trying to insinuate he was being disingenuous, you are equally guilty of disingenuity... the ntirety of the reads thusly:

> QUOTE
>
> In my work as a counselor-of-clergy, one of the most baffling questions is: why do so many clergy and people-helpers commit adultery?
>
> I'm writing a major paper on this issue, which will be posted in due course: together with another article on 'Sex and Singles'...
>
> Where do we start? Here's one place: the need of every human being for intimacy (Genesis 2:18), which people-helpers/clergy are involved in every working day. God has created us with a deep need to be loved when we are 'known'. Spiritual and emotional wholeness happens when the dynamic of confession/forgiveness occurs. God's unconditional love is incarnated when another human being accepts us when they know the worst about us...
>
> But in our world children and adults are not loved unconditionally. Parents, teachers/authority figures and peers 'loved' us to the degree that we are 'good' or clever or conform or satisfy other criteria for acceptance. And because most men were not properly initiated into manhood by their fathers (mothers can't do that: ask for my article on that) and most women were not nurtured adequately by their fathers (I have something on that too), we have in our 'bent world' an increasing number of adults living with a mild-to-severe love-deficit.
>
> If I marry a wife to find a nurturing mother, or a husband to find a nurturing father, all sorts of codependent behaviours develop. I'm supposed to marry a _mate_, not someone whose main function is to carry the baggage of unmet emotional needs I've brought from my childhood.
>
> Now people-helpers/clergy are very vulnerable at this point. A client/parishioner may project their unmet 'love-deficit' needs into the counseling relationship. 'No one has ever understood me like you do' is a common come-on. The counselor is burnt out, tired, emotionally drained, frustrated in their marriage or whatever, and gets hooked. They share with the client feelings which don't belong in this context and find comfort and refreshment in this relationship. One thing leads to another, and as John Sandford says in his quite brilliant book 'Why Some Christians Commit Adultery' (Tulsa, OK: Victory House, 1989), 'the first and greatest cause of _sexual_ adultery, among well-meaning Christians, is _spiritual_ adultery [which happens when] married persons share with someone else what ought to have been shared first or only with their own spouses' (p.7).
>
> The classical wisdom here:
>
> 1. Spiritual adultery is always (at first) unintentional.
>
> 2. When persisted in, it leads inevitably to full physical adultery.
>
> 3. So: don't become isolated, particularly from your spouse; be careful when you keenly anticipate an appointment with someone or invent even 'innocent' excuses to spend inappropriate amounts of private time with that person; listen to the warnings of others; confess to a spiritual director or supervisor; join a small group where you can be accountable; be willing not to see the person in question in private - ever again; and ask for someone with spiritual discernment to pray for a 'separation' or 'loosing' of spirits - particularly if it led to sexual adultery (see 1 Cor. 6:15-20). Finally: deal with the roots of your own dysfunction.

he context of the quote is speaking of clergy that fall...and is attempting to look back with hindsight after physical adultery has occurred so it's applicability is somewhat spurious in the first place... secondly, The claims of physical adultery originally implied have been retracted in lieu of this fraudulent 'spiritual adultery' definition that no one but this writer and Danny's camp accepts as valid. No clergy, counselors, attorneys or social workers accept the term as Sandford defines it. Thirdly, you have given no evidence that there was any infatuation or other romantic involvement; both LS and Dr. Arildson have denied such and attempts to place them in a compromising position remain unsubstantiated. You and others continue to say you have proof; Linda has said fine; show it... and you keep coming up empty. This article, while well meaning, is putting forth a bad hermaneutic but it was convenient at the time for Danny... he erred when he assumed that no one would question it... but you continue to dance around the crux of the issue...

If you have incontrovertible proof of adultery, put it out there. If you don't admit it... but this " I have proof but I can't show it to you" game is not working...all you need is the "for reasons of National Security" and I'd swear you were Scooter Libby... and you see how well toeing the party line worked out for him today...

Danny's minions and lackeys should take heed...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 06:12 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 6 2007, 04:16 PM)
>
> If you are trying to insinuate he was being disingenuous, you are equally guilty of disingenuity...
> the entirety of the reads thusly:
> The context of the quote is speaking of clergy that fall...
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Then you should take it up with PP, He is the one that brought it in.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 07:33 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 05:12 PM)
>
> Then you should take it up with PP, He is the one that brought it in.

Bystander,

PP brought it in in the context of that was where this whole "spiritual adultry" theme came from. He cited Kay Kuzma's invoking Sandford as the source and also posted the quotations that applied so that others here could see Sandford's take on the subject.

That FHB seems to have brought PP's motives into question by wondering why he excluded #3 misses the point of PP's post, IMO.

Mr. J attempted to expand the offering by noting that Sandford's "paper" was directed at clergy who are at risk of developing more than professional relationships with those they are attempting to help.

Perhaps it would have been more prudent for Kay Kuzma, Danny Shelton and the BoD to apply Sandford's logic to one Mr. Tommy Shelton long before 2004. Perhaps some of his alleged victimizations could have been prevented. Unfortunately, it seems that somewhere along the way TS's behavior was adeptly hidden from the powers that be.

No amount of attempts to cloud the issue PP brought up will work. The information clearly speaks for itself.

PB

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Mar 6 2007, 07:36 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 6 2007, 07:33 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> PP brought it in in the context of that was where this whole "spiritual adultry" theme came from. He cited Kay Kuzma's invoking Sandford as the source and also posted the quotations that applied so that others here could see Sandford's take on the subject.
>
> That FHB seems to have brought PP's motives into question by wondering why he excluded #3 misses the point of PP's post, IMO.
>
> Mr. J attempted to expand the offering by noting that Sandford's "paper" was directed at clergy who are at risk of developing more than professional relationships with those they are attempting to help. Perhaps it would have been more prudent for Kay Kuzma, Danny Shelton and the BoD to apply Sandford's logic to one Mr. Tommy Shelton long before 2004. Perhaps some of his alleged victimizations could have been prevented. Unfortunately, it seems that somewhere along the way TS's behavior was adeptly hidden from the powers that be.
>
> No amount of attempts to cloud the issue PP brought up will work. The information clearly speaks for itself.
>
> PB

Off the subject, but for his sake, I hope the nickname "PP" doesn't stick outside the forums. rofl

---

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 07:40 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Mar 6 2007, 06:36 PM)
>
> Off the subject, but for his sake, I hope the nickname "PP" doesn't stick outside the forums. rofl

I know what you mean! I'm just glad my children and grandkids don't read here. They would also be rofl

---

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 7 2007, 01:42 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 6 2007, 04:51 PM)
>
> PP,
>
> Have been reading your research and doing some of my own on the subject and its origins. I thought it was interesting that you left out the #3 from the classical wisdom list. I find it interesting because it holds a lot of wisdom in regards to husband/wife relationships even outside the discussion of spiritual adultery.
>
> (Emphasis is mine)
>
> 3. So: don't become isolated, particularly from your spouse; be careful when you keenly anticipate an appointment with someone or invent even 'innocent' excuses to spend inappropriate amounts of private time with that person; listen to the warnings of others; confess to a spiritual director or supervisor; join a small group where you can be accountable; be willing not to see the person in question in private - ever again; and ask for someone with spiritual discernment to pray for a 'separation' or 'loosing' of spirits - particularly if it led to sexual adultery (see 1 Cor. 6:15-20). Finally: deal with the roots of your own dysfunction.
>
> Now that seems like wise counsel - especially within this discussion. Why did you leave it out?
>
> - FHB

Nothing was overlooked or left out.

I clearly left a http://jmm.aaa.net.au/articles/8207.htm to the source so that you could infuse the discussion with retroductive equivocation at its finest.

Pete

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 05:27 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 02:12 AM)
>
> Then you should take it up with PP, He is the one that brought it in.

From Pilate to Herod and back to Pilate. No responsibility.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 7 2007, 07:43 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 7 2007, 12:42 AM)

> Nothing was overlooked or left out.
>
> I clearly left a http://jmm.aaa.net.au/articles/8207.htm to the source so that you could infuse the discussion with retroductive equivocation at its finest.
>
> Pete

Pete,

Yep, it's clearly there!

FHB,

What will you say to try to obfuscate this? An honest man would apologize to Panama_Pete for casting aspersions when none were deserved, IMO.

PB

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 04:41 PM

In every one of these discussions Bystander, wwjd, Lee, or one of the others do all in their might to divert the discussion ☒ off .

Reality is as follows as far as I have experienced it:

1. Shortly after Linda and Brenda came back from their short trip to Norway, Danny and Brenda spent a lot of time together, at the end of which Linda was accused of planning to commit adultery by going to Florida to meet Dr. Arild Abrahamsen there. Danny was so certain of this that he wrote the letter that is displayed elsewhere here on BSDA as a proof that their marriage was finished and that she could not return to him.

2. When Danny discovered that Dr. Abrahamsen never left Norway, so it was really impossible to accuse them of adultery, then he had to save face, and that was done by someone finding that book on which he could speak of spiritual adultery. This was based on phone calls.

3. When discussions on BSDA revealed that spiritual adultery was not a valid reason for a divorce, then he had to invent a third excuse for the divorce, and now it was really getting difficult. So Garwin McNeilus came to his aid by paying for Private Investigators to spy on us on our trip to Illinois. You would not expect that Danny would spill his secret, but that is exactly what he did. He kept calling to let us know that he knew exactly where we were and what we were doing. So we knew right from the beginning that we were being tracked. Somehow Danny thought we were so stupid that we would let those PI catch us even if we knew they were on our heels. Wouldn't any normal person realize then that even if there was some kind of love relationship going on, then we would see to it that the PI would never catch us? We even talked about this several times when we heard of the PI surrounding us.

Somehow I am having a difficult time accusing the Danny gang of exercising the gift of normal thinking. In stead they still imagine that with their distractions they can get normal thinking people to think in completely unrealistic terms just to make it possible to justify how Linda was treated.

4. When nothing else worked they keep hammering on the thought that they are still looking for a new reason to justify Danny Shelton. Somewhere a reason must be found.

This reminds me of the boy who was about to get caught who fell on his knees and prayed, Jesus make it so that it never happened! - except here they seem to pray, Lord, make Linda guilty of what never happened, or do a miracle to make it have happened that Linda is guilty!

Danny is still telling people on 3ABN that the Lord shows him things. Now he claims that the Lord has shown him that Satan is the god of details, because details disturb him. What is he trying to make out of this new doctrine?

Posted by: wwjd Mar 7 2007, 06:45 PM

Post this again if you want to, without the shouting.

Calvin

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 7 2007, 07:15 PM

Sorry but I can't read your post when you are yelling so loudly that your voice fills the whole page. Besides I can't stand being around screeching people. Gives me a migraine headache. Of course if you would cool down and edit your words.....

Posted by: calvin Mar 7 2007, 07:22 PM

Stop the shouting wwjd. Don't do it again.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 7 2007, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 7 2007, 04:41 PM)
>
> ...
>
> 1. Shortly after Linda and Brenda came back from their short trip to Norway, Danny and Brenda spent a lot of time together, ...

Linda claims she even talked to Danny at some point about all the time he was spending with Brenda on the phone and in person. Something like that.

If that be true, how come Walt never laid down a http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-ultimatum.htm that Danny had to cease all communication with Brenda?

I think all anyone wants to see is a little fairness, and people being dealt with in a similar fashion. It wasn't right for Ahab to "mercifully" spare Ben-Hadad and mercilessly allow Naboth to be killed. The dichotomy is too great between how Danny and Linda were dealt with, between how Tommy and Linda were dealt with, between how Melody and Linda were dealt with.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 7 2007, 07:59 PM

Bob when you put it that way it becomes obvious that it was simply a case of Danny no longer wanting Linda around.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 7 2007, 08:53 PM) ☐
>
> Linda claims she even talked to Danny at some point about all the time he was spending with Brenda on the phone and in person. Something like that.
>
> If that be true, how come Walt never laid down a http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-contract.htm that Danny had to cease all communication with Brenda?
>
> I think all anyone wants to see is a little fairness, and people being dealt with in a similar fashion. It wasn't right for Ahab to "mercifully" spare Ben-Hadad and mercilessly allow Naboth to be killed. The dichotomy is too great between how Danny and Linda were dealt with, between how Tommy and Linda were dealt with, between how Melody and Linda were dealt with.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 7 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 7 2007, 04:41 PM) ☐
>
> Reality is as follows as far as I have experienced it:
>
> 3. When discussions on BSDA revealed that spiritual adultery was not a valid reason for a divorce,
>
> Discussions on BSDA revealed???? You have to be kidding. Makes sense I guess that this would be your reality.
>
> So Garwin McNeilus came to his aid by paying for Private Investigators to spy on us on our trip to Illinois.
>
> Do you have receipts with his name on them? If not, it isn't wise to make statements of fact about what GM did or did not do.
>
> He kept calling to let us know that he knew exactly where we were and what we were doing.
>
> Now this is what I would like everyone to think about. If, he was just trying to "throw" LS away, if he was just looking for an "excuse" to get rid of her as this board maintains, why on earth would he warn her that she was being watched? If he truly just wanted her out of his life, he would want every piece of evidence of wrong doing that he could get. He would never warn her and take a chance on good pics to prove he was right. That is....if he was just trying to get rid of her.
>
> Here is my opinion and mine alone. He was crushed by what he already knew, and, was in a position to have to prove what he knew because of her position. At the same time, he didn't want to face it himself, much less expose her to the adventist world. This shows nothing but that he was still in love with her and wanted to actually save her from herself and her own actions. Thus, the warning.
>
> 4. When nothing else worked they keep hammering on the thought that they are still looking for a new reason to justify Danny Shelton. Somewhere a reason must be found.

Substitute the DS name with the LS name there, and you would be describing yourself and several others.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 7 2007, 10:33 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 7 2007, 09:22 PM)
>
> Stop the shouting wwjd. Don't do it again.

WWJD (Why-Would-Ja-Doit) didn't know they were yellin..... demonic forces don't hear well (hence the "fall") and yell to make themselves heard to others.....

....now - A BIT OF YELLING is not a problem. Just to be sure that someone hears....but to YELL down a whole page....

Jes like children - if you yell at them they don't hear...but I don't listen to demons anyway.

The LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS!

Posted by: Ralph Mar 7 2007, 11:30 PM

> QUOTE(Eddy @ Dec 28 2006, 10:21 AM)
>
> Okay, first let's get this out so there is no confusion. There is spiritual adultery, and the other lets call "mental adultery".
> ....
> I don't even think adultery is a good enough reason for divorce, unless is a continuous thing. BTJM
> Sorry about that. You just don't hear much about the literal spiritual adultery.

Right on, Eddy! I really appreciate your comments. You were very discerning to write what you did. People are quick to quote Matthew 5:32 that reads:

> QUOTE
>
> But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery

But rarely does anyone quote the parallel passage in Mark 10:11 that reads:

> QUOTE
>
> And he saith unto them, Whosoever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her.

or Luke 16:18 that reads:

> QUOTE
>
> Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband committeth adultery.

I have seen a married couple, who was not getting along, split for the weekend and each partner shack up with someone else, so that they could give the other partner an excuse to remarry. Stupid, but it happened.

I have also seen couples, where there has been infidelity, work things out and keep their home together. Yet, OTH, I have seen dysfunctional homes where there is no adultery. I see red when a woman is belittled or battered by her "loving" spouse. It is not only bad for the wife but it is bad for the children.

I have noted that men who blame their wives for infidelity are the ones who have skeleton's in their own closet. I think of the saying, "To a hammer, everything looks like a nail."

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE
>
> WWJD Discussions on BSDA revealed???? You have to be kidding. Makes sense I guess that this would be your reality.

Go back to the discussions that took place here on BSDA after Danny's appearance to answer questions back in 2004.

> QUOTE
>
> So Garwin McNeilus came to his aid by paying for Private Investigators to spy on us on our trip to Illinois.
>
> Do you have receipts with his name on them? If not, it isn't wise to make statements of fact about what GM did or did not do.

I have Danny Shelton's word for it that GM was paying for this service. If you claim that this is not true, then you are making a statement that Danny Shelton is a liar.

Who is less trustworthy, you or Danny Shelton?

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 11:44 PM

Bro. Ralph, sometimes those skeletons is fleshed out and have names...........

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 7 2007, 09:30 PM)

> I have noted that men who blame their wives for infidelity are the ones who have skeleton's in their own closet. I think of the saying, "To a hammer, everything looks like a nail."

Posted by: Fran Mar 8 2007, 01:28 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 7 2007, 08:27 PM)
>
> & ...
>
> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 7 2007, 04:41 PM)
>
> Johann: Reality is as follows as far as I have experienced it:......
>
> Johann: #3. When discussions on BSDA revealed that spiritual adultery was not a valid reason for a divorce,
>
> WWjD: Discussions on BSDA revealed???? You have to be kidding. Makes sense I guess that this would be your reality.
>
> Fran: This subject was discussed in detail on Club Adventist with biblical proof that Spiritual Adultery was not the adultery spoken of as a prerequisite to a Biblical Divorce. Some of the information was copied over to BSDA and much information has been added to the discussions here on BSDA.
>
> Fran: Is this your first encounter with this subject matter on BSDA?
>
> Fran: When were you first introduced to the term, Spiritual Adultery?
>
> Fran: What scriptures would you use to justify Spiritual Adultery being the same as Physical Adultery?
>
> Johann: So Garwin McNeilus came to his aid by paying for Private Investigators to spy on us on our trip to Illinois.
>
> WWjD: Do you have receipts with his name on them? If not, it isn't wise to make statements of fact about what GM did or did not do.
>
> Fran: WWjD, There are no receipts necessary. This information has come several times over the years straight from 3ABN and through emails. Please ask Danny, I am sure he will be able to set your mind at ease about this matter.
>
> Fran: The question begs to be asked, "Why would the Private Investigators continue following Linda even after the divorce." At the end of that marriage, what Linda did or did not do was none of Danny's business. Surely you know this. However, sometimes some people have a hard time letting go of their possessions. It is really a difficult situation for everyone involved. The worst thing a recently divorced person can do is try to cultivate a new relationship, while healing the open wounds of an old, very long relationship.
>
> Johann: He kept calling to let us know that he knew exactly where we were and what we were doing.

WWjD: Now this is what I would like everyone to think about. If, he was just trying to "throw" LS away, if he was just looking for an "excuse" to get rid of her as this board maintains, why on earth would he warn her that she was being watched? If he truly just wanted her out of his life, he would want every piece of evidence of wrong doing that he could get. He would never warn her and take a chance on good pics to prove he was right. That is....if he was just trying to get rid of her.

WWjD: Here is my opinion and mine alone. He was crushed by what he already knew, and, was in a position to have to prove what he knew because of her position. At the same time, he didn't want to face it himself, much less expose her to the Adventist world. This shows nothing but that he was still in love with her and wanted to actually save her from herself and her own actions. Thus, the warning.

Fran: In the minds of some, there is a conscious decision that you want a new life that is better than the one you have, so therefore, over the years, usually the one that wants the marriage dissolved will have had time to decide this is the best action to take. However, the party that gets left behind has not had that preparation time to figure out what has/is happening! It leaves their world in a spin.

Fran: Somehow, in different people, there is a problem with the thought processes in the brain. This person is married, but they see this person they are married to is not able to live up to what they feel they are entitled to. They begin to feel that they deserve better. They even begin to mentally justify all of their actions as normal. As time passes, the giving up just can't be done. They don't want that person anymore, but they don't want anyone else to have their throw away partner. An obsession comes over these people and it is "do or die". I believe Danny Shelton has this problem. This is just my opinion, mind you. He has justified everything he has done by statements, but no proof.

Fran: I am of the opinion that this has truly become a problem for you to grab hold of. Even though you may not be directly involved in the divorce, I see you as a family member suffering because of the things that are happening. What happens to 3ABN will end up happening to you too.

Fran: That is why we are appealing to Danny to give it up.

1. Spiritual Adultery is not grounds for a Biblical Divorce. Someone, maybe Kay Kuzma, lead Danny to think this through her recommended reading material, This is not Biblical.

2. The phone calls were probably legitimate calls, however, Danny probably saw those minutes/hours as actual minutes/hours and didn't even think to adjust for all of the other added minutes to cover the international phone call cost. This is also understandable! Why continue to repeat what everyone now knows is not true.

3. What is the worst thing that could happen if Danny continues in the course he is following? Think about it. What is the very worst thing that could happen over these 2 points? Is it so hard to say, "I was misled in the matter of Spiritual Adultery." I was so crushed that I just went temporarily crazy!"

4. What is the worst thing that would happen if Danny admitted that when he saw those phone records that he did not realize that it cost much more than one minute for international calls? What would happen if he talked about this on air and he admitted he was wrong, but at that time he did what he felt was right?

5. Are you willing to see 3ABN fall because Danny Shelton can not admit he was wrong? I do NOT want to see that happen at all. Why can't they call in help to get things straight once and for all? Soon it will be too late. Please, Please think about these two things long and hard. They are really no big deal, They are such trivial things, but have become mountains because of Danny claiming he has proof of something different. Yet he does not produce it. Is Danny willing to let 3ABN fall when he could produced proof? This > would have long disappeared and we all would be talking about other issues by now, for sure. Think about it.

>
> Maranatha
>
> Now I must close out by saying that the above is my opinion and only my opinion. This is my Q-CY/M-A/P-L Statement. (Quick, Cover Your/My A--/Posterior Legally.)
>
> Johann: #4. When nothing else worked they keep hammering on the thought that they are still looking for a new reason to justify Danny Shelton. Somewhere a reason must be found.

㊿

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Letter From Mike Bisson

Posted by: Lee Mar 2 2007, 10:04 PM

Below is a letter that has been put on the save3abn link. What Bob doesn't say is that Mr. Bisson lives in the same area as Gailon Joy and they probably attend the same church. I think it might be safe to say that possibly Gailon asked Mr. Bisson to write something to help him out. Can't you do any better than this Pickle?

Mike Bisson Says, "This Is a Very Reasonable Request"
< Prev.

Mike Bisson is a retired Commercial Property Casualty Agent. He has been a Seventh-day Adventist for 32 years, and is a member of the Sterling, Massachusetts, Church. He is one of the adult Sabbath School teachers and leads out in the Wednesday night prayer meeting. He has a number of Bible studies going at the Sterling church, and assists the pastor where needed.

Around mid-January 2007 Mike had the special privilege of watching his pastor, Nahor Muchiutti, baptize seven people that the two of them had had Bible studies with. They are studying with about that many more as of the time of the writing of his letter below.

From: [Mike Bisson]
To: [G. Arthur Joy]
Subject:
Date: Mon, 26 Feb 2007 13:14:56 +0000

Dear Gailon,

I am in receipt of your letter from Linda Shelton requesting that proof regarding her unfaithfulness to Danny Shelton be forthcoming. After reviewing her letter and discussing it with a number of friends and supporters of 3ABN we all came to the same conclusion. When Danny Shelton divorced Linda he took away her marriage, her occupation and her reputation, (most people have a very hard time handling any one of these being taken from them). She is only asking that the so-called proof of her adultery be shown. We think that this is a very reasonable request. I cannot imagine any honest Christian supporting Danny or 3ABN until this is done in the way she has requested. It is my opinion that this basic fairness of her request will resonant with the Adventist community. If I can be of any help in this matter, please let me know.

God Bless,

Mike

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 10:08 PM

[quote name='Lee' date='Mar 2 2007, 10:04 PM' post='181834']
Below is a letter that has been put on the save3abn link. What Bob doesn't say is that Mr. Bisson lives in the same area as Gailon Joy and they probably attend the same church. I think it might be safe to say that possibly Gailon asked Mr. Bisson to write something to help him out. Can't you do any better than this Pickle?

The pickle/joy team strikes out, yet again. Once again, no validity, doesn't hold water, and trickery.
same ole same ole

Posted by: Brenda Mar 2 2007, 10:15 PM

I am only an observer here - but I fail to see how an expressed opinion that Linda's desire to have the evidence against her out in the open, is reasonable, qualifies as "trickery". Whether or not the author knows/is an associate of Arthur Gailon Joy does not seem to matter in this instance. He has the right to express an opinion and support Linda's request. He is not claiming to be bringing in new information.

WWJD, I do not think your comments on this letter do a single thing to further your cause or add to your credibility - but of course that is just my opinion.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 10:18 PM

wwjd,
You are great at making calls. Perhaps you should give Brother Bisson a call and verify if Lee's and your conclusion is accurate.

Mike Bisson sounds like a devout Christian SDA, actively involved in bringing souls to Jesus. Why would you cast such aspersions on a man you only surmise as being party to trickery.

Sorry folks, this seems rather mean-spirited on your part.

Posted by: Lee Mar 2 2007, 10:24 PM

PB I was not "casting aspersions" on Mr. Bisson at all. Perhaps you might want to read what I wrote again. I was writing to Pickle who published this letter. I don't know Mr. Bisson so I cannot say whether he is a good man or not.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 10:25 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 2 2007, 10:18 PM)
>
> wwjd,
> You are great at making calls. Perhaps you should give Brother Bisson a call and verify if Lee's and your conclusion is accurate.
>
> Mike Bisson sounds like a devout Christian SDA, actively involved in bringing souls to Jesus. Why would you cast such aspersions on a man you only surmise as being party to trickery.
>
> Sorry folks, this seems rather mean-spirited on your part.

Sorry PB, you came to the wrong conclusion. We are not claiming anything against Mike, we don't know him. We are talking about the pickle/joy team and their trickery, because we do know them.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 10:42 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 2 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> PB I was not "casting aspersions" on Mr. Bisson at all. Perhaps you might want to read what I wrote again. I was writing to Pickle who published this letter. I don't know Mr. Bisson so I cannot say whether he is a good man or not.

Well, Lee, read your post again because you certainly inferred a slap at the character of Mr. Bisson.

Lee said:

> QUOTE
>
> Below is a letter that has been put on the save3abn link. What Bob doesn't say is that Mr. Bisson lives in the same area as Gailon Joy and they probably attend the same church. I think it might be safe to say that possibly Gailon asked Mr. Bisson to write something to help him out. Can't you do any better than this Pickle?

Here we have a letter from Mike Bisson who has been described as a wonderful, active Christian man. You then suggest that Mr. Bisson wrote the letter to "help out" a possible fellow local church member (Gailon) which in my mind casts aspersions on the character of Mr. Bisson. Could he not have meant exactly what he said in the letter?
wwjd said:

> QUOTE
>
> The pickle/joy team strikes out, yet again. Once again, no validity, doesn't hold water, and trickery.
> same ole same ole

You are charging that Brother Bisson's letter has no validity, doesn't hold water and is nothing more than trickery by the pickle/joy team. That, my brother, is casting aspersions on Mr. Bisson IMHO!

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 2 2007, 10:48 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 2 2007, 11:24 PM)
>
> PB I was not "casting aspersions" on Mr. Bisson at all. Perhaps you might want to read what I wrote again. I was writing to Pickle who published this letter. I don't know Mr. Bisson so I cannot say whether he is a good man or not.

You called his letter 'trickery' on the part of Gailon Joy; if you believe that then you have to believe that he was part of the conspiracy to trick and deceive and writing the letter was his part in it.

You cant call Gailon a liar without calling Mr. Bisson one too... and if you intend to do that, you need to be able to prove the letter a lie.

Do you have any evidence that refutes what is claimed in that post?

Speak now or forever hold your peace... but you are standing on the threshold of bearing false witness here... and the watchers and holy ones of God are taking notes...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 2 2007, 10:50 PM

I am not sure what the point here is. I have read several places that G. Joy lives in Sterling, MA and the letter says Bisson is from Sterling, MA. No big deal. I see no attempt at deception. Logic says they probably go to the same church. And if not, another church is not that far away.

Here is the link to the Save3abn site and the letter from the law firm to G.Joy......his address is noted there......for all to see if you just look.

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-corruption-litigation-gerald-duffy-01.htm

NW
C"i"

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 2 2007, 10:52 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 11:25 PM) ☐
>
> Sorry PB, you came to the wrong conclusion. We are not claiming anything against Mike, we don't know him. We are talking about the pickle/joy team and their trickery, because we do know them.

not only do you not comprehend what others say; you now don't even comprehend what you are saying out of your own mouth...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 2 2007, 10:57 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 08:25 PM) ☐
>
> Sorry PB, you came to the wrong conclusion. We are not claiming anything against Mike, we don't know him. We are talking about the pickle/joy team and their trickery, because we do know them.

No, you do not know them.
Neither do you know what you are talking about.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 09:48 AM

You think two people going to the same church is of some significance and yet two of the Dannyscribes (wwjd and bystander) use the same computer? I'm not sure if I should ☒ or ☐ Maybe laugh until I cry.

Richard

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 2 2007, 11:04 PM) ☐
>
> Below is a letter that has been put on the save3abn link. What Bob doesn't say is that Mr. Bisson lives in the same area as Gailon Joy and they probably attend the same church. I think it might be safe to say that possibly Gailon asked Mr. Bisson to write something to help him out. Can't you do any better than this Pickle?
>
> ---
>
> Mike Bisson Says, "This Is a Very Reasonable Request"
> < Prev.
>
> Mike Bisson is a retired Commercial Property Casualty Agent. He has been a Seventh-day Adventist for 32 years, and is a member of the Sterling, Massachusetts, Church. He is one of the adult Sabbath School teachers and leads out in the Wednesday night prayer meeting. He has a number of Bible studies going at the Sterling church, and assists the pastor where needed.
>
> Around mid-January 2007 Mike had the special privilege of watching his pastor, Nahor Muchiutti, baptize seven people that the two of them had had Bible studies with. They are studying with about that many more as of the time of the writing of his letter below.
>
> From: [Mike Bisson]
> To: [G. Arthur Joy]
> Subject:
> Date: Mon, 26 Feb 2007 13:14:56 +0000
> Dear Gailon,
>
> I am in receipt of your letter from Linda Shelton requesting that proof regarding her unfaithfulness to Danny Shelton be forthcoming. After reviewing her letter and discussing it with a number of friends and supporters of 3ABN we all came to the same conclusion. When Danny Shelton divorced Linda he took away her marriage, her occupation and her reputation, (most people have a very hard time handling any one of these being taken from them). She is only asking that the so-called proof of her adultery be shown. We think that this is a very reasonable request. I cannot imagine any honest Christian supporting Danny or 3ABN until this is done in the way she has requested. It is my opinion that this basic fairness of her request will resonant with the Adventist community. If I can be of any help in this matter, please let me know.
>
> God Bless,
>
> Mike

Posted by: Lee Mar 3 2007, 10:26 AM

Wow--I'm amazed and shocked here! I didn't know members here could read my mind--what is that called? Clairvoyance or something close to that!!

I find that very funny indeed! ☒ notworkir

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 10:40 AM

And this is in regard to what?

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 11:26 AM)
>
> Wow--I'm amazed and shocked here! I didn't know members here could read my mind--what is that called? Clairvoyance or something close to that!!
>
> I find that very funny indeed! ☒ notworkir

Posted by: Lee Mar 3 2007, 10:44 AM

Well, if you don't know Richard, I'm not going to tell you.

Perhaps reading over the posts again might help you.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 11:08 AM

Mature answer. Thanks.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 3 2007, 11:44 AM)
>
> Well, if you don't know Richard, I'm not going to tell you.
>
> Perhaps reading over the posts again might help you.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 3 2007, 09:34 PM

Hmm.

Lee and WWJD, would you say that user name Joe Smith was being deceptive when he posted under the user name Task Force?

In that particular case we're not talking about living in the same city or using the same computer. We're talking about being the very same person.

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 12:37 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 3 2007, 09:34 PM)
>
> Hmm.
>
> Lee and WWJD, would you say that user name Joe Smith was being deceptive when he posted under the user name Task Force?
>
> In that particular case we're not talking about living in the same city or using the same computer. We're talking about being the very same person.

They are not the only ones that do that! It happens all the time, unfortunately. They even carry on conversations with themselves.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 02:12 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 3 2007, 09:34 PM)
>
> Hmm.
>
> Lee and WWJD, would you say that user name Joe Smith was being deceptive when he posted under the user name Task Force?
>
> In that particular case we're not talking about living in the same city or using the same computer. We're talking about being the very same person.

Obviously you are on a completely different train of thought. Your post has nothing to do with what Lee and I were saying.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 09:09 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 02:12 AM)
>
> Obviously you are on a completely different train of thought. Your post has nothing to do with what Lee and I were saying.

No, I think it is a related topic. You two want to quibble over where Gailon and Mike live, and are putting a lot of significance into the fact that they happen to be from the same locality.

In the case of Joe Smith and Task Force, we have two user names that belong to the same individual. Now if Gailon and Mike being from the same locality means anything, Joe Smith and Task Force being the same individual means even more.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:11 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 09:09 AM) ☐
>
> No, I think it is a related topic. You two want to quibble over where Gailon and Mike live, and are putting a lot of significance into the fact that they happen to be from the same locality.
>
> In the case of Joe Smith and Task Force, we have two user names that belong to the same individual. Now if Gailon and Mike being from the same locality means anything, Joe Smith and Task Force being the same individual means even more.

No it still doesn't make sense. That is apples and oranges. BTW How do you know that Joe and Task were the same?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 4 2007, 09:19 AM

I just don't understand the issue, after all wwjd and bystander post from the same computer, even in the middle of the night, which indicates to me they are living together. (Or yes they could be sharing a work computer and work 3rd shift) Are we to accuse them of collaborating?

Richard

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 09:11 AM) ☐
>
> No it still doesn't make sense. That is apples and oranges. BTW How do you know that Joe and Task were the same?

Good question. But let me ask you, did you already know they were before I said anything?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 02:27 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 01:42 PM) ☐
>
> Good question. But let me ask you, did you already know they were before I said anything?

Why would I. They didn't sound alike and I don't have any means of tracing IP's so the question would be, do you? And is that how you came to your conclusion? If not. Are you just planting innuendo again?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 02:40 PM

Why would you? Well, if you are Danny, you should know.

Or if you are so well connected and such an integral part of his damage causing damage control system, then you should also know.

Even without being able to trace IP's.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 03:25 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 02:40 PM)
>
> Why would you? Well, if you are Danny, you should know.
>
> Or if you are so well connected and such an integral part of his damage causing damage control system, then you should also know.
>
> Even without being able to trace IP's.

I'm not DS and not a part of his 'damage" control. I am standing up for what I believe is Truth and I am standing against what I believe to be, a shameful misrepresentation of 3abn and the parties involved.

I will not be distracted. You did not answer my questions and have brought up another one. You say If I am Danny control I should know that joe and task are the same. This says that you know who they are, does it not? So you are saying they are the same person and you know who that person is. All I want to know is how do you know this? Is it a fact or are you just guessing. If you know it as a fact, then there has to be a way that you "know" it. What is it?

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 03:36 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 11:25 PM)
>
> I'm not DS and not a part of his 'damage" control. I am standing up for what I believe is Truth and I am standing against what I believe to be, a shameful misrepresentation of 3abn and the parties involved.
>
> I will not be distracted. You did not answer my questions and have brought up another one. You say If I am Danny control I should know that joe and task are the same. This says that you know who they are, does it not? So you are saying they are the same person and you know who that person is. All I want to know is how do you know this? Is it a fact or are you just guessing. If you know it as a fact, then there has to be a way that you "know" it. What is it?

About time you start telling the truth, then, isn't it?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 05:20 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 03:25 PM)
>
> If you know it as a fact, then there has to be a way that you "know" it. What is it?

That's a question I'm not going to answer. You've chosen to not answer some, and I've chosen not to answer some.

Of course, we could possibly negotiate a trade.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 08:44 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 05:20 PM)
>
> That's a question I'm not going to answer. You've chosen to not answer some, and I've chosen not to answer some.
>
> Of course, we could possibly negotiate a trade.

?

Negotiate? You have to be kidding.... What is the old saying about "not making deals with the devil"? There is only one way that I know of that you would know if Joe and Task were the same person. Is that what you have resorted to now? tracing down people's IP's. Well, if so, just another example of underhanded, deceitful behavior. At least you're consistent.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 09:08 PM

Underhanded, deceitful behavior? Nope, I haven't engaged in that at all.

But I can't make the same claim about you. Remember when you posted as if you were one person, and then had to go back and edit it, but folks caught screen shots of both versions?

And I think you were the one who tried to justify not telling employees that a convicted sex offender worked at 3ABN. And tried to say that a girl under 18 is not a child. Right?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 09:16 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 11:08 PM)
>
> Underhanded, deceitful behavior? Nope, I haven't engaged in that at all.

This is said tongue in cheek right . . . you can't possible be expecting those of us who have experienced your methods to believe this right? Now, for those who are unaware of how you gather information this might work . . . but those of us who know you Bob, don't buy this for a minute!

- FHB

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 09:25 PM

Naw, those who know me will vouch for the accuracy of my statement.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:29 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 09:08 PM)
>
> Underhanded, deceitful behavior? Nope, I haven't engaged in that at all.
>
> But I can't make the same claim about you. Remember when you posted as if you were one person, and then had to go back and edit it, but folks caught screen shots of both versions?
>
> And I think you were the one who tried to justify not telling employees that a convicted sex offender worked at 3ABN. And tried to say that a girl under 18 is not a child. Right?

Wrong, another Pickle spin that actually leaves me "cold as a cucumber." (sorry I couldn't' resist)
You are a day late and a dollar short on the posts. Calvin explained it all a few days ago verifying the facts and telling those that were saying otherwise, that they were wrong. So, catch up.
As far as the 18 year old girl, my post went into much detail about a particular situation. You picked out a couple of words and left out all the rest. That paints a different picture. I think that would fall under underhanded and deceitful........

Posted by: Lee Mar 4 2007, 09:32 PM

Pickle--Calvin explained in a post to everyone that wwjd and Bystander are using the same computer. Umm, really, my husband and son use my computer....it really is okay Pickle and not deceptive at all.

But don't take my word for it. Go ask Calvin!

Those that know you will vouch for the accuracy of what you say? Why? because you told them to???

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:38 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 4 2007, 09:32 PM)
>
> Pickle--Calvin explained in a post to everyone that wwjd and Bystander are using the same computer. Umm, really, my husband and son use my computer....it really is okay Pickle and not deceptive at all.

> But don't take my word for it. Go ask Calvin!
>
> Those that know you will vouch for the accuracy of what you say? Why? because you told them to???

robably not because he "told them to" but because those that know him are, shall we say, cut from he same cloth.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 10:06 PM

Lee and Bystander,

I do not recall Calvin explaining anything about why Bystander wrote as if they he was WWJD (or vice versa), and then editing it to correct that. Please provide a link to where Calvin explained why Bystander/WWJD wrote as if they were the other person.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 09:29 PM)
>
> another Pickle spin that actually leaves me "cold as a cucumber."

hat's no longer possible.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 10:27 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 12:06 AM)
>
> Lee and Bystander,
>
> I do not recall Calvin explaining anything about why Bystander wrote as if they he was WWJD (or vice versa), and then editing it to correct that. Please provide a link to where Calvin explained why Bystander/WWJD wrote as if they were the other person.

ob,

here is a search function which will help you in this endeavor. Why don't you use it, or ask for help as here are a plethora (that ones for you Franny) of individuals who can help you through this. Do your wn leg work - or do you need that time to be writing content for Gailon's web site?

alvin cleared the issue when he reissued WWJD and Bystander's posting privilages.

FHB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 10:30 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 4 2007, 09:32 PM) ☐
>
> Calvin explained in a post to everyone that wwjd and Bystander are using the same computer.

And if so, they're playing musical chairs at that computer -- all night long from dusk to dawn.

Between the two of them, they're blowing enough hot air to operate one of Garwin's windmills: WWJD and Bystander could power an entire city all night long.

☒ rofl

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 10:30 PM

I guess I'm saying I think you guys are mistaken.

I think Calvin gave them/him back their/his posting privileges before he posted as if he was the other, and then went back and fixed it.

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 10:31 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 06:06 AM) ☐
>
> Lee and Bystander,
>
> I do not recall Calvin explaining anything about why Bystander wrote as if they he was WWJD (or vice versa), and then editing it to correct that. Please provide a link to where Calvin explained why Bystander/WWJD wrote as if they were the other person.

Some time back either Bystander or wwjd explained that the computer had been logged into the wrong name by mistake. It seemed to them quite natural to make such mistakes. Being them I am not surprised.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 10:33 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 12:30 AM) ☐
>
> I guess I'm saying I think you guys are mistaken.
>
> I think Calvin gave them/him back their/his posting privileges before he posted as if he was the other, and then went back and fixed it.

Bob,

Search function! Try it.

- FHB

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 10:34 PM

So you're saying that rather than fix the matter, they pretended that they were the other person instead? If WWJD posted while Bystander was logged in, then why did he proceed to edit it so that he would appear to be Bystander when he was not?

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 10:33 PM)
>
> Bob,
>
> Search function! Try it.
>
> - FHB

Nope. I'm fairly certain I am correct on this one. If you think otherwise, you do the search and report back. I don't mind admitting I'm wrong if I am mistaken.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 10:35 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 12:31 AM)
>
> Some time back either Bystander or wwjd explained that the computer had been logged into the wrong name by mistake. It seemed to them quite natural to make such mistakes. Being them I am not surprised.

Johann,

Are you WWJD and Bystander? If so maybe you are Franny's precious Voltaire!

- FHB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 10:27 PM)
>
> Calvin cleared the issue when he reissued WWJD and Bystander's posting privilages.

> - FHB

n a minute, Fran, Fallible is going to point out where Hamlet mentions "privilages."

t will probably be in ACT II where we see Prince Hamlet continue his descent into complete insanity.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 4 2007, 10:39 PM

FHB, I checked other records, not the search function here. Bystander posted as WWJD on February 5, and the two of them were banned on January 30. So I was not mistaken on this one.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 4 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> Wrong, another Pickle spin that actually leaves me "cold as a cucumber." (sorry I couldn't' resist) You are a day late and a dollar short on the posts. Calvin explained it all a few days ago verifying the facts and telling those that were saying otherwise, that they were wrong. So, catch up.
> As far as the 18 year old girl, my post went into much detail about a particular situation. You picked out a couple of words and left out all the rest. That paints a different picture. I think that would fall under underhanded and deceitful........

}ystander,
'es, your post about the underaged girl went into a lot of detail:

'ou took pains to minimize her age by saying the man was a teacher of older high school or college ıge kids, even though, with Aletheia's help, we established that she must have been under 17 at the ime in order for her parents to become involved and report the abuse (since 17 is the age of consent n Illinois).

'ou took pains to minimize the severity of the abuse by reporting the glowing evaluation of the man)y the sheriff who brought him to the courts.

'ou took pains to minimize the need for parents who bring their children to 3abn to be made aware of his man's past sins.

\nd then you later admitted that the young girl, while feeling the sexual "affair" was consensual at the ime (immature judgement) now feels as though she was abused and taken advantage of by this man.

Nhat picture does that paint?

'B

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 10:44 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 12:34 AM)

> . . . you do the search and report back. I don't mind admitting I'm wrong if I am mistaken.

3ob,

Vhy don't you take the time and then come back and admit you were wrong. Until then, those that iave read or are actually involved will know if you are correct or not.

5orry, I am not going to do your work for you . . . if you want to cover your behind then use the iearch function.

FHB

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 10:53 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 4 2007, 09:39 PM)
>
> FHB, I checked other records, not the search function here. Bystander posted as WWJD on February 5, and the two of them were banned on January 30. So I was not mistaken on this one.

'es you are, If you don't believe us ask Calvin, he will clear it up for you.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Mar 4 2007, 11:09 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 12:39 AM)
>
> FHB, I checked other records, not the search function here. Bystander posted as WWJD on February 5, and the two of them were banned on January 30. So I was not mistaken on this one.

3ob,

)kay let's see where your sick little game leads. The original issue, as you raised it, was the Joe Smith = Task Force issue. You then subtly tried to link the Bystander/WWJD question to the same basic :oncern. These are two significantly different issues and you know this (I have to hand it to you Bob, 'our ability to manipulate language is almost exquisite - in a sick and manipulative way).

oe Smith/Task force was an issue of one person, two screen names.

3ystander/WWJD was an issue of two people with one computer access.

'ou have tried to weave them together because you will then, if successful, will begin to raise the juestion again about Bystander and WWJD being the same person - even though Calvin has made it :lear they are two people sharing a computer. Why would this be important? Simple, because these wo individuals have information that will prove you have been duped and that you have placed your ielf on a tenuous perch where you feel uncomfortable.

'ou know how you have come by information and the questionable methods you have used. So, you need to discredit those that disagree with you to maintain you position. If they present information that calls into question your "facts" you are left reeling and backtracking and you don't have the time to do that as the G.A. Joy site needs your immediate attention. So, you manipulate words and create false perceptions and then pass them off as truth.

I do recall the situation you are refereing to . . . but . . . so what! . . . WWJD and Bystander share the same position on the issues and they share information sources, as is evident by their postings, these sources are proving to be rather substantial and reliable and you, my friend, are getting worried (but of course you will say you aren't, so should I just erase that . . . naw).

- FHB

Posted by: Fran Mar 4 2007, 11:10 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 4 2007, 09:16 PM) ☐
>
> This is said tongue in cheek right . . . you can't possible be expecting those of us who have experienced your methods to believe this right? Now, for those who are unaware of how you gather information this might work . . . but those of us who know you Bob, don't buy this for a minute!
>
> - FHB

Do I sense a touch of jealousy that Bob has been a better detective than you? You, yourself, said you had made phone calls and emails ... and came up empty handed. Yep, Jealousy is popping its little ugly head.

Posted by: Lee Mar 4 2007, 11:55 PM

FHB jealous of Pickle? ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 11:59 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 4 2007, 11:55 PM) ☐
>
> FHB jealous of Pickle?

You asked the question and you answered it.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 12:00 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 4 2007, 09:59 PM) ☐

> You asked the question and you answered it.

'ou beat me! You took the words right out of my mouth!

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 5 2007, 06:24 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 5 2007, 12:10 AM)
>
> Do I sense a touch of jealousy that Bob has been a better detective than you? You, yourself, said you had made phone calls and emails ... and came up empty handed. Yep, Jealousy is popping its little ugly head.

)oes the word of God warn us it is a dangerous thing to trust personal feelings, and surmisings, and o lean unto thine own understanding?

Vhat does it say about using those things to judge another's motive and intent and character?

Just the facts, ma'am"

Posted by: Pickle Mar 5 2007, 07:39 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 4 2007, 10:53 PM)
>
> Yes you are, If you don't believe us ask Calvin, he will clear it up for you.

he dates on the screen shots are Feb. 5, and my records indicate you were banned on January 30. I lon't see how Calvin can come up with anything different.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 5 2007, 08:57 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 07:24 AM)
>
> Does the word of God warn us it is a dangerous thing to trust personal feelings, and surmisings, and to lean unto thine own understanding?
>
> What does it say about using those things to judge another's motive and intent and character?
> "Just the facts, ma'am"

Vhat does it say of you to ask this question of another when you have been doing the same thing to n even greater extent?

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Mar 5 2007, 12:09 AM) ☐
>
> . . . WWJD and Bystander share the same position and they share information sources, as is evident by their postings...

Which begs the question of what were they trying to accomplish, given all they share, including the same computer, by coming in here and putting forth the deception of pretending to not know each other?

This question has been asked repeatedly... and none of you has answered it.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 5 2007, 10:15 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 5 2007, 09:57 AM) ☐
>
> Which begs the question of what were they trying to accomplish, given all they share, including the same computer, by coming in here and putting forth the deception of pretending to not know each other?
>
> This question has been asked repeatedly... and none of you has answered it.

Because it's stupid! You are the ones claiming that they were pretending they didn't know each other, not them.

Get real, any member here can refer to, or quote what another poster writes without having to proclaim whether they know that other poster or not, and how and why.... That is not being dishonest nor deceptive!

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 10:25 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 10:15 AM) ☐
>
> Because it's stupid! You are the ones claiming that they were pretending they didn't know each other, not them.
>
> Get real, any member here can refer to, or quote what another poster writes without having to proclaim whether they know that other poster or not, and how and why.... That is not being dishonest nor deceptive!

keep on spinnin..... wait, whats that I hear? I think the white house is calling, they need another spinmeister....

Posted by: calvin Mar 5 2007, 11:03 AM

Bystander and WWJD are probably two people in the same household sharing a computer. Other members do that as well. It is very easy to one to unintentional not log off and the other person to start posting thinking they where logged in. This software uses "cookie" to store you id and password. Most you don't have to login so it is also easy to bring up your browser and think you where automatically logged in, when it was the other person that was last on So what Pickle and others where referring to was probably a mistake, others have done it.

Task Force and Joe Smith are probably not the same person. I have the evidence. Pickle I don't appreciate the insinuation that they are. I don't need this drama here.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 10:15 AM)
>
> Because it's stupid! You are the ones claiming that they were pretending they didn't know each other, not them.
>
> Get real, any member here can refer to, or quote what another poster writes without having to proclaim whether they know that other poster or not, and how and why.... That is not being dishonest nor deceptive!

This is what I saw. One of them referring to the other in a post. So where is the evidence that they were pretending not to know each other?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 5 2007, 11:11 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Mar 5 2007, 12:03 PM)
>
> Bystander and WWJD are probably two people in the same household sharing a computer. Other members do that as well. It is very easy to one to unintentional not log off and the other person to start posting thinking they where logged in. This software uses "cookie" to store you id and password. Most you don't have to login so it is also easy to bring up your browser and think you where automatically logged in, when it was the other person that was last on So what Pickle and others where referring to was probably a mistake, others have done it.
>
> Task Force and Joe Smith are probably not the same person. I have the evidence. Pickle I don't appreciate the insinuation that they are. I don't need this drama here.
> This is what I saw. One of them referring to the other in a post. So where is the evidence that they were pretending not to know each other?

Read their early posts, Calvin... both came in here playing the "concerned 3ABN viewer" who was otherwise not affiliated with 3ABN and pretending that they only became aware of each other's existence here.... both of which were shown to be untrue over time...

There have been several other pairs of danny apologists who have followed the same script... and who have busted themselves in like fashion.

In His service,

Mr. J

Posted by: Pickle Mar 5 2007, 11:14 AM

So Calvin, in a situation like that, would it be better to pretend that one is the person who was still logged in and edit one's post accordingly, or would it be better to delete one's wording, log out, log in under the correct user name, and then repost what one had wanted to say?

I believe I shared with you the evidence I have regarding Joe Smith and Task Force being the same person, but it's your board, not mine. You're in charge.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 03:05 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 10:14 AM) ☐
>
> So Calvin, in a situation like that, would it be better to pretend that one is the person who was still logged in and edit one's post accordingly, or would it be better to delete one's wording, log out, log in under the correct user name, and then repost what one had wanted to say?
>
> I believe I shared with you the evidence I have regarding Joe Smith and Task Force being the same person, but it's your board, not mine. You're in charge.

I am confused as to why all of this has any importance? It doesn't to anyone but you, Pickle, and Maybe Mr. J who has harped forever on it even after Calvin was kind enough to explain.
Next question. Calvin just said joe and task were 2 different people according to his data. Now how can his information be different than yours?

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 5 2007, 10:11 AM) ☐
>
> Read their early posts, Calvin... both came in here playing the "concerned 3ABN viewer" who was otherwise not affiliated with 3ABN and pretending that they only became aware of each other's existence here.... both of which were shown to be untrue over time...
>
> There have been several other pairs of danny apologists who have followed the same script... and who have busted themselves in like fashion.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J don't stoop to putting the Pickle spin on this. I believe it was wwjd referred to a poster called Bystander. Thats it, the end. Never claimed to not know the person, never denied knowing the person, just made a reference to. So what. There are several on here that actually denied getting their information from Linda, that now have said they did. I haven't seen you harp and harp on that and neither has Pickle. That would be a lie. I nor wwjd lied about knowing each other. Get over it.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 5 2007, 03:08 PM

More to the point, why did Lee think that posting this letter and the fact that MB and GJ might go to the same church is of any consequence? it is all upfront, and MB is free to make whatever determination he wants from the evidence presented him, even if he is related to GJ. In fact, I am trying to see yotu problem you all are having with Linda calling for facts referred to being made publci. It is about her, and she has the most to lose if it is true, right? What is the problem, besides the fact that there may not be any evidence?

I think everyone realizes that everyone is free to post what ever evidence to support the allegations made here, that goes for those who support Danny, also.

Posted by: Ralph Mar 5 2007, 04:11 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 5 2007, 02:08 PM) ☐
>
> What is the problem, besides the fact that there may not be any evidence?

Di, there's gotta be some evidence. You can't have three PI's tracking you day in and day out and living in a bugged house without some "evidence" showing up.

My wife took a trip to Israel a few months ago. Now if I were rich enough, and paranoid enough, I am sure that I could find some "evidence" -- whatever that means. All it would prove is that I who had serious mental health issues.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 5 2007, 04:17 PM

This is true, but ok, present that...anything, but this incessant claims of guilt or innocence (depending on which party is being discussed) They really need to do something. Because they started here with the most basic lies about their identities and Danny stating how much he jes luved his wife and they were working it out, with the quickie Guam divorce paper already in the making, they have little to no credibility with some of us.

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 5 2007, 02:11 PM) ☐
>
> Di, there's gotta be some evidence. You can't have three PI's tracking you day in and day out and living in a bugged house without some "evidence" showing up.
>
> My wife took a trip to Israel a few months ago. Now if I were rich enough, and paranoid enough, I am sure that I could find some "evidence" -- whatever that means. All it would prove is that I who had serious mental health issues.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 04:20 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 6 2007, 12:11 AM) ☐

> Di, there's gotta be some evidence. You can't have three PI's tracking you day in and day out and living in a bugged house without some "evidence" showing up.
>
> My wife took a trip to Israel a few months ago. Now if I were rich enough, and paranoid enough, I am sure that I could find some "evidence" -- whatever that means. All it would prove is that I who had serious mental health issues.

rouble is that you wouldn't know it yourself if you did. But what you say here is absolutely true. You vould never have PI's trailing your wife unless you had some serious mental problems. Does it take a jenius to understand that?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 04:37 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 02:20 PM) ☐
>
> Trouble is that you wouldn't know it yourself if you did. But what you say here is absolutely true. You would never have PI's trailing your wife unless you had some serious mental problems. Does it take a genius to understand that?

XACTLY. Stop and think about this. The devil is in the etails.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 5 2007, 04:11 PM) ☐
>
> Di, there's gotta be some evidence. You can't have three PI's tracking you day in and day out and living in a bugged house without some "evidence" showing up.
>
> My wife took a trip to Israel a few months ago. Now if I were rich enough, and paranoid enough, I am sure that I could find some "evidence" -- whatever that means. All it would prove is that I who had serious mental health issues.

Vas your wife talking for hours on the phone with a single man, prior to going? And if so, was she laiming a strictly professional relationship but you found some gifts and other evidence to say therwise? Did you ask your wife to stop with all this and she refused? If she would have left you at hat point and you found out the "other party" was in the US and had went and looked at the mobile ome she had just purchased, you would be ok with that? If your wife was in a hotel room with said erson claiming she was getting diagnosed and treated for a Yeast infection, that wouldn't bother you? ace it Ralph. There isn't a man alive that wouldn't either start following the wife themselves or hire a I because of the continual lies about the situation.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 5 2007, 05:43 PM

Was Linda talking for hours on the phone? I don't think so.

Posted by: Observer Mar 5 2007, 06:25 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Face it Ralph. There isn't a man alive that wouldn't either start following the wife themselves or hire a PI because of the continual lies about the situation.

Nope.

I would not.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 5 2007, 06:36 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 5 2007, 05:43 PM)
>
> Was Linda talking for hours on the phone? I don't think so.

Johann said she flew to Norway after the divorce because she needed her Best Friend. He said she had to confide in someone since DS was being so "mean" to her. So, If they weren't having a phone relationship how did they become best friends? Bob are you insinuating they saw each other in person to become best friends?

Posted by: princessdi Mar 5 2007, 06:58 PM

But you see herein lies the problem.........a "real" man would not have let his wife go through this alone. There would be reason for her to even be looking for someone to talk to about this. Where was Danny's tired behind while she was going through this with "her" son? which after 20 years of marriage, if he was a "real" man would have been "their" son. Why didn't he go to the hospital with Linda and Nathan? Why didn't he pick up the phone as the boy's father to talk to the Dr. about "their" son's progress? Why was Linda alone in this?

See, by maintaining that Linda was leaning on the good Dr. during this time you indict Danny of not being the man, the father and husband he should have been during this most difficult time. You mgiht want to let that go. And then he got nerve to carry a gun! Give me a break!

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 03:36 PM)
>
> Was your wife talking for hours on the phone with a single man, prior to going? And if so, was she > claiming a strictly professional relationship but you found some gifts and other evidence to say otherwise? Did you ask your wife to stop with all this and she refused? If she would have left you at that point and you found out the "other party" was in the US and had went and looked at the mobile home she had just purchased, you would be ok with that? If your wife was in a hotel room with said person claiming she was getting diagnosed and treated for a Yeast infection, that wouldn't bother you?

> Face it Ralph. There isn't a man alive that wouldn't either start following the wife themselves or hire a PI because of the continual lies about the situation.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi)
>
> But you see herein lies the problem.........a "real" man would not have let his wife go through this alone. There would be reason for her to even be looking for someone to talk to about this. Where was Danny's tired behind while she was going through this with "her" son? which after 20 years of marriage, if he was a "real" man would have been "their" son. Why didn't he go to the hospital with Linda and Nathan? Why didn't he pick up the phone as the boy's father to talk to the Dr. about "their" son's progress? Why was Linda alone in this?
>
> See, by maintaining that Linda was leaning on the good Dr. during this time you indict Danny of not being the man, the father and husband he should have been during this most difficult time. You mgiht want to let that go. And then he got nerve to carry a gun! Give me a break!

/ery percptive, princessdi. And there's whole lot more beneath stories like this. The cause. Mean men :an drive a good woman to become an emotional mess, and then deny her what she needs most.

Vho does he think he's foolin?

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 08:29 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> Was your wife talking for hours on the phone with a single man, prior to going? And if so, was she claiming a strictly professional relationship but you found some gifts and other evidence to say otherwise? Did you ask your wife to stop with all this and she refused? If she would have left you at that point and you found out the "other party" was in the US and had went and looked at the mobile home she had just purchased, you would be ok with that? If your wife was in a hotel room with said person claiming she was getting diagnosed and treated for a Yeast infection, that wouldn't bother you?
> Face it Ralph. There isn't a man alive that wouldn't either start following the wife themselves or hire a PI because of the continual lies about the situation.

\nd there man not be a single man who would admit he was the cause of all the problems.

'our next step, Bystander, is understanding what constitutes infidelity. Nothing you've described so ar does. The scibes and pharisees didn't drag a woman to Jesus who had been caught in the act of nedical treatments, or friendship. You sound very immature and full of jealousy...like the very kind of nan who would cause a good woman to give up in a marriage.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 09:31 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 5 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> And there man not be a single man who would admit he was the cause of all the problems.
>
> Your next step, Bystander, is understanding what constitutes infidelity. Nothing you've described so far does. The scibes and pharisees didn't drag a woman to Jesus who had been caught in the act of medical treatments, or friendship. You sound very immature and full of jealousy...like the very kind of man who would cause a good woman to give up in a marriage.

Laurence, read the other post I just wrote for you in another thread. This just confirms what I was saying. You obviously have no idea what anyone has as far as evidence goes. For every thing there is a season....the season is close at hand. So you, my friend, would be better off to leave this subject as is before you end up with egg on your face. You strike me as someone who doesn't like to be wrong, so I am just trying to help you out here.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 5 2007, 06:58 PM)
>
> But you see herein lies the problem.........a "real" man would not have let his wife go through this alone. There would be reason for her to even be looking for someone to talk to about this. Where was Danny's tired behind while she was going through this with "her" son? which after 20 years of marriage, if he was a "real" man would have been "their" son. Why didn't he go to the hospital with Linda and Nathan? Why didn't he pick up the phone as the boy's father to talk to the Dr. about "their" son's progress? Why was Linda alone in this?

Di, I don't think you are that slow on the uptake unless you want to be. All the hours of conversation, meetings, gifts, etc went way beyond strictly conversations about Nathan. Johann has established that, emails have established that. We are way beyond the "strictly professional" relationship and the more that pickle/joy prints and the more Johann talks, the more we realize how "far beyond" professional it goes.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:31 PM)
>
> All the hours of conversation, meetings, gifts, etc went way beyond strictly conversations about Nathan. Johann has established that, emails have established that. We are way beyond the "strictly professional" relationship and the more that pickle/joy prints and the more Johann talks, the more we realize how "far beyond" professional it goes.

None of this is evidence for adultery. And if you've been paying attention, like the rest of us, you already know that the "hours on the phone" is a sham. It was billed units. To a phone card. Either 7 minutes or 20, to Scandinavia. Any amount of minutes has to be divided by 7 or 20 for the real amount of time--and then, unless the phone records were illegally obtained, you don't know what numbers they called.

It isn't about "pickle/joy" either. It's about the rest of us paying attention, who've read the evidence over the months and have decided for ourselves. Something is rotten, and it ain't in Denmark either.

By the way, you need to quit projecting all your techniques on people who are only calling for free and open inquiry into the goings-on at 3ABN. I would remind you that most of these people, even if they're not fans, don't want 3ABN to go away. They just want to see the honesty and transparency that ought to be second nature to spiritual leaders like Danny Shelton.

You're here, we all know, not to establish truth, but so that if someone googles "3ABN scandal" and comes here, they'll think it's a balanced conversation between people who support 3ABN and people who hate it--when the truth is, it's between people who care about the cause of God no matter who's on the TV, and people who are probably either Shelton family members or young people hired by someone connected to 3ABN to come here and post to make the discussion look balanced.

Technique used in this post by Bystander:
Repeat the idea that evidence convicts Linda of adultery--even though no such evidence has been presented.

☒ notworkir You can repeat a lie a thousand times, but that won't magically turn it into truth.

Where's the beef, dude? Let's see the evidence. The real stuff, not what you mentioned here--it doesn't exist.

For the lurkers here , read the whole threads, starting with the pinned stuff at the top. Even if it's all factually incorrect (which I highly doubt, there's too much documentation here and at save3abn.com), Danny & Co's behavior, including that of Aletheia, wwjd, Bystander, Lee, and Joe Smith, indicates that they're hiding something. If it's worse than all that's been alleged, it must be ... ahem ...stank ... indeed.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 09:43 PM)

Please read my other post to you in another thread about what you don't know and can therefore not come to any intelligent conclusions.

Oh, and Pay young people to come here? You certainly underestimate the love and support that 3abn has all over the world. That is part of the problem here. Only people that have never been there, don't know the people involved, and who don't know the scope of the ministry could make a statement like that.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 09:43 PM)

> [
>
> For the lurkers here , read the whole threads, starting with the pinned stuff at the top. Even if it's all factually incorrect (which I highly doubt, there's too much documentation here and at save3abn.com), Danny & Co's behavior, including that of Aletheia, wwjd, Bystander, Lee, and Joe Smith, indicates that they're hiding something. If it's worse than all that's been alleged, it must be ... ahem ...stank ... indeed.

No, we are not hiding what we know to be facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to expose it. There is a time for every season.....

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 10:03 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> You obviously have no idea what anyone has as far as evidence goes. For every thing there is a season....the season is close at hand. So you, my friend, would be better off to leave this subject as is before you end up with egg on your face. You strike me as someone who doesn't like to be wrong, so I am just trying to help you out here.

You've willingly put yourself if this position: to listen to fair-minded people who don't know the detailed facts, don't know the so-called lies from the liars, nor the parties involved. For one just looking in from the outside, and reading both sides of the issue (esp those like yours), one needn't use any other method than Occam's Razor to reach a reasonable conclusion. Perhaps you've never taken the first step in knowledge or philosophy. Perhaps it's better this way if you don't understand.

If you had something, you'd blurt it out instead of hiding behind the same old same old, like a child afraid of the dark, and insist on trying to protect the victim with your sarcastic tones. Everyone knows you've not trying to protect, but expose. To hold hostage with accusation. Think of all the wasted time and words you're using. Adults understand these little petty games.

Unless you're able to demonstrate what you're saying, you're not saying anything at all. Unless you can cough up something better than empty words, you'd best fix the leaky facet instead of stirring the bucket with empty, meaningless, repetitive explanations. They really don't wash. What's a revelation to you is nothing--nothing except a partisan story to anyone else. For every step you think you've gained here, you've slipped back two in nearly everyone's mind.

You say you're are not hiding what you know to be facts in this situation, but are just not at liberty to expose it. No one is buying that hackney excuse. We're calling your bluff. If you can't produce anything, you may as well shut the facet off, you're just wasting your breath, and your writer's bump is sure to develop a nasty cut.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 10:07 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:56 PM)

> No, we are not hiding what we know to be facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to expose it. There is a time for every season.....

Vell, I'm thinking it's high time we see the evidence. Is it coming out in court? Who's going to get ued? These are all rhetorical questions that I don't expect you to answer, but if that evidence is going o come out in any other forum it had better be quick, because God's work and God's message is jetting a black eye. If you're withholding evidence that would exonerate Danny and make of im an honest man, you're hurting the church.

> QUOTE
>
> Oh, and Pay young people to come here? You certainly underestimate the love and support that 3abn has all over the world. That is part of the problem here. Only people that have never been there, don't know the people involved, and who don't know the scope of the ministry could make a statement like that.

I notice you didn't deny it. That's appreciated.

live in a part of the world where everybody but the head elder and I think that 3ABN is an open, ransparent ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. In other words, a lot of them have no idea t's not actually part of the church.

> QUOTE
>
> Please read my other post to you in another thread about what you don't know and can therefore not come to any intelligent conclusions.

roverbs 19:11. (I know too much to consider myself wise, but I want to learn all I can.)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 5 2007, 10:09 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 5 2007, 05:36 PM)
>
> Johann said she flew to Norway after the divorce because she needed her Best Friend. He said she had to confide in someone since DS was being so "mean" to her. So, If they weren't having a phone relationship how did they become best friends? Bob are you insinuating they saw each other in person to become best friends?

ohann said she flew to Norway to be with her three best friends . To say any less would be telling n untruth.

Posted by: Ralph Mar 5 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 04:36 PM)
>
> Was your wife talking for hours on the phone with a single man, prior to going?

Dunno . . . I don't ask who my wife is talking to.

> QUOTE
>
> And if so, was she claiming a strictly professional relationship but you found some gifts and other evidence to say otherwise?

I wouldn't know. I don't snoop in my wife's things. I would never invade my wife's privacy for any reason, be it drawers, purse, letters, or whatever.

> QUOTE
>
> Did you ask your wife to stop with all this and she refused?

Who she talks to is her business. She is not my slave.

> QUOTE
>
> If she would have left you at that point and you found out the "other party" was in the US and had went had went??

> QUOTE
>
> and looked at the mobile home she had just purchased, you would be ok with that? If your wife was in a hotel room with said person claiming she was getting diagnosed and treated for a Yeast infection, that wouldn't bother you?

Ah come on. Feed me something that isn't quite so wild.

> QUOTE
>
> Face it Ralph. There isn't a man alive that wouldn't either start following the wife themselves or hire a PI because of the continual lies about the situation.

It is one thing to play the devil's advocate, but it appears that you actually believe that sane guys would pull a trick like this. This is asinine. Although I know that Danny went this route, I am dumfounded that his clones are of like mind. There's something going on here that is paranormal. -- At least four of you thinking the same. That really scares me. Maybe the following quote is more correct than I at first believed.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 03:37 PM)
>
> . . . . Stop and think about this. The devil is in the details.

Posted by: Chez Mar 5 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:31 PM)
>
> Laurence, read the other post I just wrote for you in another thread. This just confirms what I was saying. You obviously have no idea what anyone has as far as evidence goes. For every thing there is a season....the season is close at hand. So you, my friend, would be better off to leave this subject as is before you end up with egg on your face. You strike me as someone who doesn't like to be wrong, so I am just trying to help you out here.
> Di, I don't think you are that slow on the uptake unless you want to be. All the hours of conversation, meetings, gifts, etc went way beyond strictly conversations about Nathan. Johann has established that, emails have established that. We are way beyond the "strictly professional" relationship and the more that pickle/joy prints and the more Johann talks, the more we realize how "far beyond" professional it goes.

This is so interesting. What troubles me is Danny's and Nathan's relationship or the lack thereof. I think about the years of opportunity that Danny had to be a real father to this young man, but there seems to lack evidence that he was a father or father figure to Nathan. I know of a couple (non-SDA) who married and had a blended family such as Danny and Linda. However, the stepfather (who had one biological daughter) took it upon himself to be a father to his stepson (wife's son) and vice versa. The stepfather stated that he was not the boy's biological father, but wanted to be as much of a father/daddy as possible and the same with the wife. What is interesting is that the boy calls this man "Dad". There relationship wasn't easy during the early days/years; however, this couple persevered and have a beautiful family. I have often thought that if this was the case in Danny's and Linda's home, I don't believe that we would be having this conversation.

I just don't understand why Danny never seemed to be involved and/or cared about Nathan's treatment. It is my understanding that when treating any kind of drug addiction, family should be involved. Therefore, Danny and Linda needed to be involved in his treatment, even though Nathan was an adult. Think of Betty Ford. Her husband and her children (who were adults) were also intimately involved in her treatment and recovery. This idea that Linda shouldn't talk to the doctor about Nathan is ludicrous. I must admit that my doctor and I have a professional and somewhat of a personal relationship. We have encouraged each other on many levels and my spouse finds it refreshing and with my encouragement is going to the same doctor.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 5 2007, 10:09 PM)
>
> Johann said she flew to Norway to be with her three best friends . To say any less would be telling an untruth.

These people deal in untruths, PB. You know that.

How does it feel to twist other people's words, Bystander?

I guess what I'm asking is, how can you live with yourself? I wouldn't be able to sleep.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 5 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 08:31 PM)
>
> Laurence, read the other post I just wrote for you in another thread. This just confirms what I was saying. You obviously have no idea what anyone has as far as evidence goes. For every thing there is a season....the season is close at hand. So you, my friend, would be better off to leave this subject as is before you end up with egg on your face. You strike me as someone who doesn't like to be wrong, so I am just trying to help you out here.

Bystander,

Just because you say it doesn't make it so. You can agree with yourself till the cows come home and it doesn't sway the jury one jot or one tittle.

Some months ago FHB brought forward a quote he enjoyed:

"Once you decide to titillate instead of illuminate . . . you create a climate of expectation that requires a higher and higher level of intensity" Bill Moyers.

Your teasers about the coming season are just that, designed to titillate rather than illuminate, IMO.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 6 2007, 06:09 AM)
>
> Johann said she flew to Norway to be with her three best friends . To say any less would be telling an untruth.

And notice the letter from Danny written four months earlier where he says Linda needs new friends because he would never accept her back. They were still married then, on April 27, 2004. The divorce was in June.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 5 2007, 10:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> Please read my other post to you in another thread about what you don't know and can therefore not come to any intelligent conclusions.

Once again, just because you said it doesn't mean it's verifiable truth. You may continue to hold your own opinions and agree with yourself but where is the substance?

> QUOTE
>
> No, we are not hiding what we know to be facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to expose it. There is a time for every season.....

There you go again. Titillation without illumination. Ooooooooo!

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 09:22 PM) ☐
>
> These people deal in untruths, PB. You know that.
>
> How does it feel to twist other people's words, Bystander?
>
> I guess what I'm asking is, how can you live with yourself? I wouldn't be able to sleep.

Sadly, I am seeing that more and more.

PB

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 10:43 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Mar 5 2007, 08:14 PM) ☐
>
> Ah come on. Feed me something that isn't quite so wild.
>
> It is one thing to play the devil's advocate, but it appears that you actually believe that sane guys would pull a trick like this. This is asinine. Although I know that Danny went this route, I am dumfounded that his clones are of like mind. There's something going on here that is paranormal. -- At least four of you thinking the same. That really scares me. Maybe the following quote is more correct than I at first believed.

Ralph, you got it. There are not 4. There is ONE. People should be more then terrified at what is going on here.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 11:11 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 5 2007, 10:34 PM) ☐
>
> Once again, just because you said it doesn't mean it's verifiable truth. You may continue to hold your own opinions and agree with yourself but where is the substance?

> ----
> There you go again. Titillation without illumination. Ooooooooo!
> Sadly, I am seeing that more and more.
>
> PB

guess I should repeat for the hundreth time....When the truth is brough to light it won't be on here. t will be the right time, the right place and the right people. I would think that you are too intelligent o go for the, "if it ain't here, they aint' got it" line.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 11:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:11 PM) ☐
>
> I guess I should repeat for the hundreth time....When the truth is brough to light it won't be on here. It will be the right time, the right place and the right people. I would think that you are too intelligent to go for the, "if it ain't here, they aint' got it" line.

Say it all the times you want. I hope I can be in that court room the day "the truth" comes out. Ya, ight. If it doesn't need to be here, then why are you here anyway? What does it matter to you what is said here? What's the big deal? Just go away then and wait for that court date. I'm looking forward to t too.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 11:30 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 11:15 PM) ☐
>
> Say it all the times you want. I hope I can be in that court room the day "the truth" comes out. Ya, right. If it doesn't need to be here, then why are you here anyway? What does it matter to you what is said here? What's the big deal? Just go away then and wait for that court date. I'm looking forward to it too.

'm here because I hate false allegations against a wonderful ministry. Why are you here? To defend Linda. That's my choice and yours Me too. I hope I can wrangle an invite....

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 11:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:30 PM) ☐
>
> I'm here because I hate false allegations against a wonderful ministry. Why are you here? To defend Linda. That's my choice and yours
> Me too. I hope I can wrangle an invite....

I am here because truth matters most - even and especially over "a wonderful ministry" that frankly is a front for other things not so wonderful. Pleeeezzzz. This is NOT about a ministry - at least it didn't have to be, but since you are destined to drag it down too, so be it.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 11:35 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Mar 5 2007, 10:14 PM) ☐
>
> This is so interesting. What troubles me is Danny's and Nathan's relationship or the lack thereof. I think about the years of opportunity that Danny had to be a real father to this young man, but there seems to lack evidence that he was a father or father figure to Nathan.

And you would know this how? By what Lindanites have said on these forums? You say there is a "lack of evidence" that he was a real father. You have no idea what he did or did not do for 20 years. You have no idea of the performance of his mother during his growing up years.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 11:42 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> I'm here because I hate false allegations against a wonderful ministry.

Nah, no one's buying that. Too self-contradictory. It's quite obvious you're here because of the big announcements on 3abn-Live a few weeks ago. "Enoughs enough," remember? Looks like the board decided to send out its biggest attack-Chihuahuas to fight back.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 11:56 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:30 PM) ☐
>
> I'm here because I hate false allegations against a wonderful ministry. Why are you here? To defend Linda.

Linda's situation is merely one of several that merit a free and open inquiry. It is NOT just about the divorce. It's also about Tommy and his accusers (by the way, did you know that less than 3% of abused children ever come forward? It's a really low rate for adult victims of abuse too). It's also about misuse of funds donated for ministry.

It ought to be about sloppy theology and teaching too, but that's less immediate than open sin.

I've said it at least three times but I'll say it again. The problem is not with the ministry. We began Bible studies the other day with a lady who showed up at our church because of 3ABN.

The problem is the complete lack of transparency on Danny's part, and on that of his board of lackeys.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 12:14 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:11 PM)
>
> I guess I should repeat for the hundreth time....When the truth is brough to light it won't be on here. It will be the right time, the right place and the right people. I would think that you are too intelligent to go for the, "if it ain't here, they aint' got it" line.

It doesn't matter how many times you repeat it, it doesn't make it true. There has been plenty of truth brought to light right here already. You have helped in that endeavor more than you can ever know.

And, BTW, I "ain't" falling for any line.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 12:15 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 11:56 PM)
>
> The problem is the complete lack of transparency on Danny's part, and on that of his board of lackeys.

And when will you realize soul that it is ludicrous that you refer to upstanding leaders, business men and women of our denomination as Lackeys. Do you really think that about Ellsworth McKee, Kenneth Denslow, Merlin F, Carmalita Troy etc are not smart enough to think for themselves or "brave" enough to disagree with something if they don't like it? You know thats not realistic. As I have mentioned before, if you are going to refer to the board that way, then you would also have to refer to ASI, as well as numerous other organizations that support 3abn and the leadership there. It goes against reason that everybody that loves and supports 3abn is a fool or a lackey. There are too many highly intelligent, business minded individuals on that list. Garwin McNeilus is a perfect example. If ever a man knew how things should be run, it would be him. He has all kinds of knowledge of how 3abn is run and the decisions that have been made by leadership. His actions speak for his opinion. These are people that know the intricate workings of the ministry and support it. But, you think, you have more facts and knowledge than they do? No matter how hard you or others try, you cannot dispute the facts of these people and the "inside" information that they know or have dealt with personally. It actually takes a lot of audacity to act like that the little group here knows the facts and these pastors, leaders, business people, conference people, don't. They have privy to things the general public will never know. Their conclusions? They continue to support 3abn and its leadership.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 12:18 AM

You are missing my point, BS. A woman, doesn't spend long hours on the phone with her girlfriends when she is [happily]married. What was Danny doing that she had this kind of time? Most importantly when did she have this kind of time, If at that time she was still working at 3ABN? I mean you are over int he other post talking about Danny not having anytime because of his schedule. Same thing applies. Where was Danny that Linda might even feel she needed someone else besides her husband of 20 years to give her emotional support through this trial? There is not way around it, BS, Danny was not on his job as a husband or a father, and you emphasize that with every new allegation of Linda's long phone conversations and trips, etc. Does Danny want everyone to believe, he was just standing around watching.....the man who carries a gun..... yeah right!

I tell you what, I could even respect you and your gang a bit more if you said they were both tippin'. That would at least explain where Danny was. It would also explain why he was so angry. Men who are tippin' don't often believe their wife is also. Oh but when they find out........... Now Danny's actions are more consistent with the last scenario........Cuz all this running in and out the house, and phone calls is disrepectful, I don't see Danny as the the one would would tolerate this conversation:

Danny: Where are you going, Dear?
Linda(dressed for a date): Out? Don't wait up!

-OR-

Danny: Where are you going with your luuage, Dear?
Linda: Out! Be back Monday(Friday, next week)!

Can you see why your story is full of holes?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 07:31 PM) ☐
>
> Di, I don't think you are that slow on the uptake unless you want to be. All the hours of conversation, meetings, gifts, etc went way beyond strictly conversations about Nathan. Johann has established that, emails have established that. We are way beyond the "strictly professional" relationship and the more that pickle/joy prints and the more Johann talks, the more we realize how "far beyond" professional it goes.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 12:31 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 6 2007, 12:18 AM) ☐
>
> Can you see why your story is full of holes?[/color]

No Di it isn't. Why, because it isn't just idle speculation or gossip like most here. You as well as most of the others don't have a clue of what transpired, when it transpired and how it transpired. Stop and think of this. If 3abn and DS would have trashed LS the way you all say they did, You too, would know exactly what went down. The fact that you and so many others don't know what truly happened just proves there was no big trashing of Linda.
In my opinion, 3abn made 1 mistake. They waited too long to say anything and too long to show why they came to the decisions they came to. If the truth had been shown sooner, I'm sure you and I wouldn't be here right now.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 12:33 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:15 PM)
>
> And when will you realize soul that it is ludicrous that you refer to upstanding leaders, business men and women of our denomination as Lackeys. Do you really think that about Ellsworth McKee, Kenneth Denslow, Merlin F, Carmalita Troy etc are not smart enough to think for themselves or "brave" enough to disagree with something if they don't like it? You know thats not realistic. As I have mentioned before, if you are going to refer to the board that way, then you would also have to refer to ASI, as well as numerous other organizations that support 3abn and the leadership there. It goes against reason that everybody that loves and supports 3abn is a fool or a lackey. There are too many highly intelligent, business minded individuals on that list. Garwin McNeilus is a perfect example. If ever a man knew how things should be run, it would be him. He has all kinds of knowledge of how 3abn is run and the decisions that have been made by leadership. His actions speak for his opinion. These are people that know the intricate workings of the ministry and support it. But, you think, you have more facts and knowledge than they do? No matter how hard you or others try, you cannot dispute the facts of these people and the "inside" information that they know or have dealt with personally. It actually takes a lot of audacity to act like that the little group here knows the facts and these pastors, leaders, business people, conference people, don't. They have privy to things the general public will never know. Their conclusions? They continue to support 3abn and its leadership.

Bystander,

Audacity? That is an interesting choice of words. I would think it shows audacity for a board filled with the high-powered business people you have mentioned to seemingly ignore the allegations against Tommy Shelton.

Do you know if the board was made aware of the allegations against Tommy? If not, why not? If they were, what was their position on the matter? Why was Pastor Dryden's letter passed off in 2003 with less than a cursory investigation by Walt Thompson? Taking a stand against pastoral abuse of power would go a long ways towards rebuilding credibility for this board filled with wealthy, important people. It might make them seem much more intelligent and more caring about their fellow human beings. It might make them appear to view others just as Jesus does - as so precious He willingly shed His blood for them!

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 6 2007, 12:36 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:56 PM)
>
> .
> No, we are not hiding what we know to be facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to > expose it. There is a time for every season.....

'We are not hiding what we know to be the facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to expose it.'

Nonsense

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 6 2007, 12:41 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Mar 5 2007, 10:36 PM) ☐
>
> "We are not hiding what we know to be the facts in this situation, we are just not at liberty to expose it.'
>
> Nonsense

s's specialty.nonsense. and then thinking anyone accepts the nonsense. that's nonsense.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 12:43 AM

BS, now I am going to say that I know you are not that slow on the uptake. Danny doesn't need to tell "the details" in order to trash Linda. He trashes her each and every time he mentions a woman being seduced by aprofessional, or by the internet or over the phone. Man, I don't watch 3aban that much, maybe ten time in my lifetime, and I have heard him do it. Even folks who don't know what happened, by Danny's own mouth know something happened. Since he is remarried and supposed to be "over it" he can not mention it at all. But that is not the question I posed to you.

Point is, where was he? You give Linda great amounts of time where she was free to talk on the phone for hours, etc. Where was Danny? Why wasn't he with her when taking her son? Why wasn't he supporting her emotionally? Where was he? By saying that Linda had these great amounts of time to do these things, one has to ask, where was Danny? That is why I made up the scenario. I admit that enactment was striaght Book of Princess, but I just don't see it going down like that. Where was he? If you have no answer to this question, then just don't answer, because the rest doesn't make sense.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:31 PM) ☐
>
> No Di it isn't. Why, because it isn't just idle speculation or gossip like most here. You as well as most of the others don't have a clue of what transpired, when it transpired and how it transpired. Stop and think of this. If 3abn and DS would have trashed LS the way you all say they did, You too, would know exactly what went down. The fact that you and so many others don't know what truly happened just proves there was no big trashing of Linda.
> In my opinion, 3abn made 1 mistake. They waited too long to say anything and too long to show > why they came to the decisions they came to. If the truth had been shown sooner, I'm sure you and I wouldn't be here right now.

Posted by: Ralph Mar 6 2007, 01:00 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 09:43 PM)
>
> Ralph, you got it. There are not 4. There is ONE. People should be more then terrified at what is going on here.

eh, we are dealing with a Hydra. How many of the nine heads have appeared to date? I lost count.

Posted by: Chez Mar 6 2007, 07:08 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:35 PM)
>
> And you would know this how? By what Lindanites have said on these forums? You say there is a "lack of evidence" that he was a real father. You have no idea what he did or did not do for 20 years. You have no idea of the performance of his mother during his growing up years.

is fruits or the lack thereof speak volumes. It is interesting to note that when the word went out bout Linda and the Dr. A, I felt sorry for Danny. Danny was pleading on the 3ABN for Linda to turn round. Many of us were heartbroken. My spouse and I asked why was she traveling to Norway and pending so much time with this doctor. We heard about the specialty in treatment and began to ask Why wasn't Danny also involved in the treatment process with Nathan?" Nathan had lived in his ouse for many years. I presented a generic scenario to several psychologists colleagues and all greed that the stepfather should have been involved in Nathan treatment recovery. The unanimous onclusion (without having diagnosed and treated Nathan) was that Nathan and Danny did not have a ositive relationship. In addition, the fact that the mother and the stepfather were still married and athan was going through treatment. This would have been an opportune time for the stepfather to each out to Nathan and show his love and concern for him, thus taking on a more humane and aternal role.

et's get real. Danny was tired of Linda and wanted a divorce. He got a quick divorce. This has trouble uite a few people in my area. These people were staunch 3ABN supporters and contributors. It is nteresting to sit and listen to them. Not all of these people were fans of Linda, however, they did not ike and still don't approve of how Danny got rid of her. The problem was not only the divorce, but the apidity of such an act and his remarriage. Some believe that if Linda and the doctor were so involved s claimed by Danny, then she would have been the first to get married. However, this is not the case.

ystander, you sound as though you are a confidant of Danny. There are many people who are roubled by his divorce from Linda, remarriage to Brandy, and the trashing of Linda on 3ABN. Not all f these people are Adventists. Please suggest to him to return to his mission, keep his mouth shut including his staff) about Linda and others (even through inuendos), and get on with the work that he ays that the Lord called him to do. The very people who he is trying to reach are noticing that omething is wrong. The very people who he is trying to reach are turned off by it. Danny should cease and decist with his continued rhetoric and get on with the mission of 3ABN! He is hurting himself.

Posted by: Clay Mar 6 2007, 07:49 AM

Di,
Danny expected that Linda be available at his beck and call... she was to be submissive to her man... you know how those controlling men can be... it doesn't matter where he was, she was suppose to be waiting for him, or drop everything in a moments notice to cater to the whims of her man.... just one level above barefoot and pregnant..... likewise that's what the dannyclones feel Linda should have done..... all of them chauvinistic and controlling.... and the female dannyclones have likewise bought into that mindset.....

so don't expect any meaningful dialog to come from that issue of where was Danny when Linda allegedly was on the phone, it doesn't matter.... Danny the annointed one, the heir to all that is good and righteous was to be served.....

Posted by: caribbean sda Mar 6 2007, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 02:31 AM)
>
> In my opinion, 3abn made 1 mistake. They waited too long to say anything and too long to show why they came to the decisions they came to. If the truth had been shown sooner, I'm sure you and I wouldn't be here right now.

...but you ARE here...and this whole saga is a joke, a sad, sad joke...I have come to the conclusion that the friends of ramblin' Dan will never convince the Linda supporters that Danny Shelton is the paragon of virtue and upright living and the Linda Defenders will never convince the Friends of Danny that she remained faithful to her husband, spiritual adultery accusation notwithstanding...so the sooner all of y'all agree to disagree and recognize that the truth, whatever it is, lies hidden deep somewhere in all this mess...yes...MESS...you all are just spinning your wheels...

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 6 2007, 08:59 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:15 AM)
>
> And when will you realize soul that it is ludicrous that you refer to upstanding leaders, business men and women of our denomination as Lackeys. Do you really think that about Ellsworth McKee, Kenneth Denslow, Merlin F, Carmalita Troy etc are not smart enough to think for themselves or "brave" enough to disagree with something if they don't like it? You know thats not realistic. As I have mentioned before, if you are going to refer to the board that way, then you would also have to refer to ASI, as well as numerous other organizations that support 3abn and the leadership there. It goes against reason that everybody that loves and supports 3abn is a fool or a lackey. There are too many highly intelligent, business minded individuals on that list. Garwin McNeilus is a perfect example. If ever a man knew how things should be run, it would be him. He has all kinds of > knowledge of how 3abn is run and the decisions that have been made by leadership. His actions speak for his opinion. These are people that know the intricate workings of the ministry and support it. But, you think, you have more facts and knowledge than they do? No matter how hard you or others try, you cannot dispute the facts of these people and the "inside" information that they know or have dealt with personally. It actually takes a lot of audacity to act like that the little group here knows the facts and these pastors, leaders, business people, conference people, don't. They have privy to things the general public will never know. Their conclusions? They continue to support 3abn and its leadership.

Okay, I'll refer to some (not all, because I don't think they all agreed) of the ASI leadership, and the other organizations that support 3ABN, as lackeys.

Rich-and-powerful name-dropping means nothing to me. One's income level does not determine whether or not one is a sinner.

Actually, having grown up watching church work rather up close, the richer and more business-savvy a person is, the less likely I am to trust them. I would remind you of James 2:1-7.

Of course I know who these people are. One of the board members is a family friend who is stuck, and, I gathered, doesn't know what to do. That may be the case for all of them, yes, I'll say it: sheer ack of courage.

Or it may be an unwillingness to pursue something that would damage the church. After all, the Adventist church for decades has swept all allegations of sex abuse under the rug--bad publicity, ya know? Gradually, the leaders of the actual denomination are learning that it's better to be plain and open than to hide, but 3ABN isn't exactly the most progressive element of Adventism.

Or it may be corruption. Or blackmail. I mention these last because I hope they're not true. But power corrupts," and 3ABN is one of, if not the most powerful organization connected with the Adventist church.

Posted by: Johann Mar 6 2007, 09:37 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 08:15 AM)
>
> And when will you realize soul that it is ludicrous that you refer to upstanding leaders, business men and women of our denomination as Lackeys. Do you really think that about Ellsworth McKee, Kenneth Denslow, Merlin F, Carmalita Troy etc are not smart enough to think for themselves or "brave" enough to disagree with something if they don't like it? You know thats not realistic.
> - - -

Since you mention Miss Troy, then you had better tell us why Danny Shelton was not honest enough o honor the agreement he made with her parents? Why did he build tall Owen Troy a pigmy-size house to fit his own minute stature so that Elder Troy had to double up underneath the ceiling? Aren't he Shelton brothers carpenters enough to follow blueprints, or are they never used in that part of Southern Illinois?

Posted by: erik Mar 6 2007, 09:52 AM

bystander,

i believe this is your qoute?

and looked at the mobile home she had just purchased, you would be ok with that? If your wife was in a hotel room with said person claiming she was getting diagnosed and treated for a Yeast infection, that wouldn't bother you?

A yeast infection, in a woman of linda's age is not the first one. Most likely the "treatment" might have been as simple has hey doc what is the best natural treatment for a yeast infection, instead of going and spending 25.00 at the local drug store, you are strongly hinting that something much more was going on and that is not supported by the facts, NOW if the PI's that danny had working for him, made some recordings of the doc and linda treatments that tell a different story then by all means post transcript of what was said, along with time and date.

erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 12:32 PM

Chez,

If only Danny and his supporters would realize that what you have described is the experience of many others who have not even chosen a side to support, perhaps they would get real in working to resolve this sad situation.

I know there must be some secret shame in both of Nathan's parents for getting so involved with the business of running 3abn that the children probably didn't get the care and attention they needed. I know this is a hard statement to make, but I'm quite sure that building and maintaining 3abn took a lot of Danny and Linda's energy. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if it also took a toll on the time they needed to stay focused on their marriage.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 12:49 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 6 2007, 07:59 AM)
>
> Okay, I'll refer to some (not all, because I don't think they all agreed) of the ASI leadership, and the other organizations that support 3ABN, as lackeys.
>
> Rich-and-powerful name-dropping means nothing to me. One's income level does not determine whether or not one is a sinner.
> Actually, having grown up watching church work rather up close, the richer and more business-savvy a person is, the less likely I am to trust them. I would remind you of James 2:1-7.
>
> Of course I know who these people are. One of the board members is a family friend who is stuck, and, I gathered, doesn't know what to do. That may be the case for all of them, yes, I'll say it: sheer lack of courage.
>
> Or it may be an unwillingness to pursue something that would damage the church. After all, the Adventist church for decades has swept all allegations of sex abuse under the rug--bad publicity, > ya know? Gradually, the leaders of the actual denomination are learning that it's better to be plain and open than to hide, but 3ABN isn't exactly the most progressive element of Adventism.

>
> Or it may be corruption. Or blackmail. I mention these last because I hope they're not true. But "power corrupts," and 3ABN is one of, if not the most powerful organization connected with the Adventist church.

E,

hank you so much for bringing this up. While sometimes a person is blessed with good fortune and osition when in a close walk with God it does not necessarily mean that all who are so blessed can be iewed as trustworthy in character. Name-dropping misses the mark when attempting to build a case or credibility.

hope that those board members who are "stuck" will one day have the courage to stand up for truth nd principle regardless of the fallout.

B

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 01:04 PM

Oh, I see so the fact that she was on the phone when he beckoned at all was "too much". Well, he wasn't beckoning too much, cuz according to him she had plenty of time to chat on the phone, etc. Poor thing! BTW, where is Brandi?

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 6 2007, 05:49 AM)
>
> Di,
> Danny expected that Linda be available at his beck and call... she was to be submissive to her man... you know how those controlling men can be... it doesn't matter where he was, she was suppose to be waiting for him, or drop everything in a moments notice to cater to the whims of her man.... just one level above barefoot and pregnant..... likewise that's what the dannyclones feel Linda should have done..... all of them chauvinistic and controlling.... and the female dannyclones have likewise bought into that mindset.....
>
> so don't expect any meaningful dialog to come from that issue of where was Danny when Linda allegedly was on the phone, it doesn't matter.... Danny the annointed one, the heir to all that is good and righteous was to be served.....

am sure you also realize that there are those who have been "promoted" to such positions for their ackbone, and even moreso those who have been chosen for promotion for the lack hereof............... as-if

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:15 PM)
>
> And when will you realize soul that it is ludicrous that you refer to upstanding leaders, business men and women of our denomination as Lackeys. Do you really think that about Ellsworth McKee, Kenneth Denslow, Merlin F, Carmalita Troy etc are not smart enough to think for themselves or "brave" enough to disagree with something if they don't like it?

> You know thats not realistic..................

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 6 2007, 01:47 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 6 2007, 08:49 AM)
>
> Di,
> Danny expected that Linda be available at his beck and call... she was to be submissive to her man... you know how those controlling men can be... it doesn't matter where he was, she was suppose to be waiting for him, or drop everything in a moments notice to cater to the whims of her man.... just one level above barefoot and pregnant..... likewise that's what the dannyclones feel Linda should have done..... all of them chauvinistic and controlling.... and the female dannyclones have likewise bought into that mindset.....
>
> so don't expect any meaningful dialog to come from that issue of where was Danny when Linda allegedly was on the phone, it doesn't matter.... Danny the annointed one, the heir to all that is good and righteous was to be served.....

'Where love rules, there is no will to power; and where power predominates, here love is lacking. The one is the shadow of the other."

arl Gustav Jung

Posted by: Lee Mar 6 2007, 01:54 PM

It is obvious that all of you are making "shots in the dark" because you don't know what you are talking about. You feel so free to make judgments based on heresay.

Danny is not chauvanistic and neither is Bystander or Greg. You don't know them Clay, so how can you judge? You are just spouting to the wind.

To use the term "lackeys" is disrespectful and unChristlike.

PB: how do you know Nathan didn't get the attention he needed from his parents? I'm a grandmother like you are--surely you are smarter than that!

Now you say some board members are "stuck" in their position. That is not truthful PERIOD!

It would be better to keep quiet than to spout off and show foolishness as I am reading in this thread.

Posted by: caribbean sda Mar 6 2007, 02:00 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 6 2007, 03:54 PM)
>
> It is obvious that all of you are making "shots in the dark" because you don't know what you are talking about. You feel so free to make judgments based on heresay.

> Danny is not chauvanistic and neither is Bystander or Greg. You don't know them Clay, so how can you judge? You are just spouting to the wind.
>
> To use the term "lackeys" is disrespectful and unChristlike.
>
> PB: how do you know Nathan didn't get the attention he needed from his parents? I'm a grandmother like you are--surely you are smarter than that!
>
> Now you say some board members are "stuck" in their position. That is not truthful PERIOD!
>
> It would be better to keep quiet than to spout off and show foolishness as I am reading in this thread.

his one rates 4 violins

☒ noŗ ☒ noŗ ☒ noŗ ☒ noŗ

Posted by: Clay Mar 6 2007, 02:18 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 6 2007, 01:54 PM) ☐
>
> It is obvious that all of you are making "shots in the dark" because you don't know what you are talking about. You feel so free to make judgments based on heresay.
>
> Danny is not chauvanistic and neither is Bystander or Greg. You don't know them Clay, so how can you judge? You are just spouting to the wind.
>
> To use the term "lackeys" is disrespectful and unChristlike.
>
> PB: how do you know Nathan didn't get the attention he needed from his parents? I'm a grandmother like you are--surely you are smarter than that!
>
> Now you say some board members are "stuck" in their position. That is not truthful PERIOD!
>
> It would be better to keep quiet than to spout off and show foolishness as I am reading in this thread.

ıot judging just making an observation...... and why not take your own advice..... i.e. keep quiet ather than spouting off?

Posted by: from-the-pew Mar 6 2007, 02:21 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 6 2007, 02:54 PM) ☐
>
> Danny is not chauvanistic and neither is Bystander or Greg. You don't know them Clay, so how can you judge? You are just spouting to the wind.

Whoa... rewind... who is Greg?

(Context would not be consistent with Gregory Matthews aka Observer)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 02:21 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 6 2007, 12:54 PM)
>
> PB: how do you know Nathan didn't get the attention he needed from his parents? I'm a grandmother like you are--surely you are smarter than that!

I read Mending Broken People. I don't know for sure that the children didn't get all the attention they needed as they grew, but by the descriptions in the book both co-founders put a lot of their time into raising 3abn so it stands to reason that there may have not been enough of Danny and Linda to sufficiently go around.

My husband and I built and briefly ran a business and found there was precious little time for our own small children. I know about the shame I mentioned from personal experience.

> QUOTE
>
> Now you say some board members are "stuck" in their position. That is not truthful PERIOD!

And you know this, how? Soul Espresso knows at least some of them and knows about at least one who is "stuck". Read his post. First-hand testimony from him.

> QUOTE
>
> It would be better to keep quiet than to spout off and show foolishness as I am reading in this thread.

I agree, Lee. Good advice and I hope you take it.

PB

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 02:40 PM

You got that right! Greg=wwjd?

BTW, Welcome to BSDA! I se eyou understand our motto quite well........"This is not Sabbath School, we pay attention"

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Mar 6 2007, 12:21 PM)
>
> Whoa... rewind... who is Greg?
>
> (Context would not be consistent with Gregory Matthews aka Observer)

Posted by: princessdi Mar 6 2007, 06:41 PM

Then fine, Lee. Have it your way? Go back to my questions. Where was Danny while his wife and step son of twenty years were going through this time? Why was he not emotionally avaible to Linda? Where was he whens he had ALL this time for long phone calls and trips? Why was Danny not steppin' up like a real man and addressing the Dr. with his wife about "their" son?

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 6 2007, 11:54 AM)
>
> It is obvious that all of you are making "shots in the dark" because you don't know what you are talking about. You feel so free to make judgments based on heresay.
>
> Danny is not chauvanistic and neither is Bystander or Greg. You don't know them Clay, so how can you judge? You are just spouting to the wind.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 06:54 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 6 2007, 08:37 AM)
>
> Since you mention Miss Troy, then you had better tell us why Danny Shelton was not honest enough to honor the agreement he made with her parents? Why did he build tall Owen Troy a pigmy-size house to fit his own minute stature so that Elder Troy had to double up underneath the ceiling? Aren't the Shelton brothers carpenters enough to follow blueprints, or are they never used in that part of Southern Illinois?

I am so glad you stated this as you did. That way everyone can see the similarities between you and Pickle

1. Honor an agreement? Danny did not build the house. Kenny S was the contractor, so Danny was not under any agreement.

2.What you refer to as a "pigmy? size house is unbelievable. The house is enormous. What you refer to is a 6ft sloping attic. When Mrs. Troy ask for the attic to be walled in, the contractor told her it would be 6ft or less at the tallest point with a sloping ceiling. He was clear that (due to Owen's height) they would only want to use the area for storage. Owen didn't realize his wifes plan for storage and decided later he would like an office there, obviously that wouldn't work. The End.

You are really getting desperate to bring up something so minute and try to turn it into something major.
The above statement in red is deceitful enough to be a lie.

Also in an earlier post several months back you told me that Ann T told you this story in the way that you had written it. She was asked if she did.
Her answer was no, that is not what she said to you.

So far, you have been consistent in telling all your stories this way. You tell a small part but then leave out the rest, or totally blow it out of proportion until it becomes a falsehood.

If anyone wants to see if Johann is telling the truth about the "pigmy house" I will have someone get some pictures for me and we will see if it is as Johann describes.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 6 2007, 01:18 PM)
>
> not judging just making an observation...... and why not take your own advice..... i.e. keep quiet rather than spouting off?

How can you make an observation when you have never met them or been around them?

Danny wanted her 1 step above barefoot and pregnant??? You cannot imagine how wrong you are. She never cooked for her family, she had people to do her cleaning, she didn't even wash DS's clothes!!! He did that himself. He cooked for himself and usually made her breakfast. She went where she wanted, she bought whatever she wanted and she did whatever she wanted until she brought a 3rd party into the picture. Her own children could tell you that all the above is true.
Now does that make her a horrible wife and mother? No, it doesn't. What it does do, is show you and others like you how far off track you are about the role you accuse DS of playing. You judge and accuse on nothing but what you have read here.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 6 2007, 07:16 PM

Quote Bystander - 1....Danny did not build the house. Kenny S was the contractor, so Danny was not under any agreement.

This doesn not preclude a second person from working on a project and offering verbal solutions to future owner/occupier.

Quote Bystander - 2. What you refer to is a 6ft sloping attic. When Mrs. Troy ask for the attic to be walled in, the contractor told her it would be 6ft or less at the tallest point with a sloping ceiling. He was clear that (due to Owen's height) they would only want to use the area for storage. Owen didn't realize his wifes plan for storage and decided later he would like an office there, obviously that wouldn't work.

I'm not sure you're qualified to be talking about things related to legal building codes. Building inspectors don't allow these kind of changes without owner resubmitting plans for approval first. Ceiling height, insulation, truss load/floor joist spacing, etc., etc., must be changed if a living quarter in the attic is added. Insurance companies and county assessors are also legally concerned with changes.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 6 2007, 07:20 PM

If you know all that, Bystander who adamantly refuses to stand by, certainly you can tell us 3ABN's side of the story as to why Nick Miller was forced to resign.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Mar 6 2007, 07:26 PM

If Dan was not directly involved with the building, he sure spent enough time their during the process to do so. His truck was parked there quite often.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Mar 6 2007, 06:26 PM)
>
> If Dan was not directly involved with the building, he sure spent enough time their during the process to do so. His truck was parked there quite often.

That would make sense, since his brother was doing the work. Again, what is your point. That is neither here nor there with Johanns untrue story about the house. Why don't you comment on that. Obviously you have seen the house and know he painted a totally untrue picture.
But no, of course you won't comment on that. Because that wouldn't make DS look bad.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 6 2007, 06:16 PM)
>
> I'm not sure you're qualified to be talking about things related to legal building codes. Building inspectors don't allow these kind of changes without owner resubmitting plans for approval first. Ceiling height, insulation, truss load/floor joist spacing, etc., etc., must be changed if a living quarter in the attic is added. Insurance companies and county assessors are also legally concerned with changes.

You obviously are not from a rural area. Other than faulty wiring that could burn down a building, you don't go through those channels in rural areas. You can change what you want when you want without notifiying anyone. When the insurance co. comes after the house is finished, they could care less whether you built an attic or storage area they assess "as is" And the tax assessor does the same.
All of that was said for nothing because it is all a moot point. Let me help you understand that the point was, Johann did not tell the story truthfully in any kind of way, and the owners, say that he did not.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 6 2007, 08:15 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 6 2007, 01:41 AM)
>
> bs's specialty.nonsense. and then thinking anyone accepts the nonsense. that's nonsense.

Sonshine, is this like a "play on words"? BS in some circles means nonsense or "bull". Just curious.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Mar 6 2007, 08:20 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> That would make sense, since his brother was doing the work. Again, what is your point. That is neither here nor there with Johanns untrue story about the house. Why don't you comment on > that. Obviously you have seen the house and know he painted a totally untrue picture.

> But no, of course you won't comment on that. Because that wouldn't make DS look bad.
> snip...

o, I didn't comment, because unlike you, I am not all-knowing.

hy, exactly would it be normal that a brother spends hours and hours on the job. My brother doesn't ome to work with me? Does yours?

really could care less about whether or not the house is too small or too large. I was commenting on an being involved or not. Thank God we always have you to keep us on track.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 6 2007, 08:21 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 6 2007, 06:15 PM)
>
> Sonshine, is this like a "play on words"? BS in some circles means nonsense or "bull". Just curious.

yes, I am multitasking.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 6 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 6 2007, 09:21 PM)
>
> yes, I am multitasking.

Thank you for clarifying.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 08:37 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> You obviously are not from a rural area. Other than faulty wiring that could burn down a building, you don't go through those channels in rural areas. You can change what you want when you want without notifiying anyone. When the insurance co. comes after the house is finished, they could care less whether you built an attic or storage area they assess "as is" And the tax assessor does the same.

Bystander,
Are you saying that there are no building codes being enforced in Franklin County other than for wiring? Did the buildings at 3abn get built without any type of building codes being followed? Is this really standard practice in rural Illinois?

I am updating my post to advise you that I have just written an email to the Illinois Capital Development Board (formerly the Illinois Building Commission) to find out if you really can bypass "those channels" in rural areas. I will let you know what I am advised.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 6 2007, 08:49 PM

PeacefullyBewildered, in 2005, the governor became concerned for building codes in rural areas of Illinois. The state commissioned a task force for an evaluation. The task force recommend adoption of the IBB by May of this year (2007). The governor will ask the state lesgislature for adoption of the code at that time.

There are federal codes that already apply, like the American Disabilities Act. Enforcement is another kind of problem, but violations are easy to spot.

Bystander may not realize self-regulation is about to come to an end.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 08:59 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 6 2007, 07:49 PM)
>
> PeacefullyBewildered, in 2005, the governor became concerned for building codes in rural areas of Illinois. The state commissioned a task force for an evaluation. The task force recommend adoption of the IBB by May of this year (2007). The governor will ask the state lesgislature for adoption of the code at that time.
>
> There are federal codes that already apply, like the American Disabilities Act. Enforcement is another kind of problem, but violations are easy to spot.
>
> Bystander may not realize self-regulation is about to come to an end.

LD,
you are leaps and bounds ahead of me (I'm not at all surprised). I guess that my questions of Bystander can most likely be answered in the affirmative. I wonder if the buildings at 3abn are safe? I hope so. Nobody needs any more problems.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 6 2007, 09:11 PM

PeacefullyBewildered, I'll take a look at the outside of the buildings with the zoom on google earth and see if anything looks fishy, like modifying the trusses of manufactured/mobile home--which are regulated by the Feds (FHA), not local building officials.

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 6 2007, 09:41 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 6 2007, 09:49 PM)

> PeacefullyBewildered, in 2005, the governor became concerned for building codes in rural areas of Illinois. The state commissioned a task force for an evaluation. The task force recommend adoption of the IBB by May of this year (2007). The governor will ask the state lesgislature for adoption of the code at that time.
>
> There are federal codes that already apply, like the American Disabilities Act. Enforcement is another kind of problem, but violations are easy to spot.
>
> Bystander may not realize self-regulation is about to come to an end.

I also want to know, what is your point?

You are not talking about a house which will be built , you are talking about a house built when???

What is the deal with the Governor being concerned in 2005, how does that relate to this discussion, of the Troy's house and johann's claims it was built in pygmy proportions, and D.S.wasn't honest enough to keep his agreement?

What agreement Laurence?

And what evidence backs up johanns claims??? DO YOU PERSONALLY KNOW, or have some kind of verification aside from Johann?

The point has been made that the owners disagree with what Johann says...

Can YOU prove different? If not, again, what is YOUR point?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 6 2007, 08:41 PM)
>
> I also want to know, what is your point?
>
> You are not talking about a house which will be built , you are talking about a house built when???
>
> What is the deal with Governor being concerned in 2005, how does that realate to this discussion?
>
> And what evidence backs up johanns claims???
>
> The point has been made that the owners disagree with what he says...
>
> Can you prove different? If not, again, what is your point?

Aletheia, I think that Laurence, Like observer likes everyone to know that he is familiar with certain laws and codes and obviously has time to look up the answers that he wants to give. Trouble is, usually what he brings up is just useless information that has nothing to do with the actual point of the post.

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 6 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Mar 6 2007, 05:08 AM)
>
> His fruits or the lack thereof speak volumes. It is interesting to note that when the word went out about Linda and the Dr. A, I felt sorry for Danny. Danny was pleading on the 3ABN for Linda to turn around. Many of us were heartbroken. My spouse and I asked why was she traveling to Norway and spending so much time with this doctor. We heard about the specialty in treatment and began to ask "Why wasn't Danny also involved in the treatment process with Nathan?" Nathan had lived in his house for many years. I presented a generic scenario to several psychologists colleagues and all agreed that the stepfather should have been involved in Nathan treatment recovery. The unanimous conclusion (without having diagnosed and treated Nathan) was that Nathan and Danny did not have a positive relationship. In addition, the fact that the mother and the stepfather were still married and Nathan was going through treatment. This would have been an opportune time for the stepfather to reach out to Nathan and show his love and concern for him, thus taking on a more humane and paternal role.
>
> Let's get real. Danny was tired of Linda and wanted a divorce. He got a quick divorce. This has trouble quite a few people in my area. These people were staunch 3ABN supporters and contributors. It is interesting to sit and listen to them. Not all of these people were fans of Linda, however, they did not like and still don't approve of how Danny got rid of her. The problem was not only the divorce, but the rapidity of such an act and his remarriage. Some believe that if Linda and the doctor were so involved as claimed by Danny, then she would have been the first to get married. However, this is not the case.
>
> Bystander, you sound as though you are a confidant of Danny. There are many people who are troubled by his divorce from Linda, remarriage to Brandy, and the trashing of Linda on 3ABN. Not all of these people are Adventists. Please suggest to him to return to his mission, keep his mouth shut (including his staff) about Linda and others (even through inuendos), and get on with the work that he says that the Lord called him to do. The very people who he is trying to reach are noticing that something is wrong. The very people who he is trying to reach are turned off by it. Danny should cease and decist with his continued rhetoric and get on with the mission of 3ABN! He is hurting himself.

There are people in my neighborhood LOVE 3ABN but are saying they are upset and don't like what Danny spews on world wide television.
Others are saying they quit watching 3ABN because they don't like what Danny says.
I also wish Danny would get back to the mission of 3ABN.

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 6 2007, 10:13 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 6 2007, 06:27 PM)
>
> Thank you for clarifying.

was watching that one also.

Posted by: Fran Mar 6 2007, 11:24 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 6 2007, 01:04 PM)
>
> Oh, I see so the fact that she was on the phone when he beckoned at all was "too much". Well, he wasn't beckoning too much, cuz according to him she had plenty of time to chat on the phone, etc. Poor thing! BTW, where is Brandi?
>
> Fran: Very GOOD point! I think we need to check HIS phone records and see who was calling him and who he was calling!
>
> I am sure you also realize that there are those who have been "promoted" to such positions for their backbone, and even moreso those who have been chosen for promotion for the lack thereof................ as-if

Well these people that continue to stay are in the process of loosing their credibility and their position.

Think about this:

What did Linda vote when Danny was no longer allowed to be a 3ABN employee years ago?

Did she go against Danny's wishes?

Did he just let that pass?

Or did he decide way back then that it would never happen again?

Then BOOM, fast forward to 2003! Linda was on the board at the time. The letter came; what was Linda's reaction?

Did she ever voice her opinion that Melody should not be allowed to sing on 3ABN?

Was this when Danny privately went to others to pray for him because he needed Linda off the board?

Was this actually the preperation of the foundation of doubt to get rid of Linda as far back as then?

What if Danny could no longer allow Linda to go against him where his family was involved?

He felt he not only needed her out of 3ABN, but out of his life too?

The Dr was a total unexpected rabbit caught in Danny's trap. Yep, just in time to fill that need to get rid of Linda.

Could this be true? Is it possible this could have happened.

Now I must sign off, stating the above is only my opinion. The above statements are mine and mine alone. This is my Q-CY/MA-L. Thank you.

Posted by: Fran Mar 7 2007, 12:05 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 6 2007, 09:41 PM)
>
> I also want to know, what is your point?
>
> You are not talking about a house which will be built , you are talking about a house built when???
>
> What is the deal with the Governor being concerned in 2005, how does that relate to this discussion, of the Troy's house and johann's claims it was built in pygmy proportions, and D.S.wasn't honest enough to keep his agreement?
>
> What agreement Laurence?
>
> And what evidence backs up johanns claims??? DO YOU PERSONALLY KNOW, or have some kind of verification aside from Johann?
>
> The point has been made that the owners disagree with what Johann says...
>
> Can YOU prove different? If not, again, what is YOUR point?

Your anger showeth much! blc giljoti

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 12:19 AM

Now, Fran, that is not such a far fetched Idea. I once had a very good customer. She was married to a man quite a bit older and that married her from an extremely sheltered home environment, right out of high school(this being her first and only relatinship. Apparently as the years passed, he began "seeing" someone else, but was at a loss as to "exit" his marriage, by now they had three boys. Well, feeling the lack of attention and alienation, the young woman turned to a friend, who ws "there' at that point to talk, listen, etc. Now this young lady was very young, and made the mistake of having her friend call her house. Man that husband took that and ran with it. He had to police come when he ws gettign his things out of the house, because he said that she abused him(the woman was tall, but not big as a minute, In fact my Father over heard her telling me that and said later to me that the man should be ahsamed to tell anybody that woman beat him) and eventually also said she abused the boys. He said ALL kinds of things, made her life a living hell........she was completely clueless until one day she spanked one of her boys and he got mad and told her they were getting a new "mommy' who was nice and didnt' spank them...this was only about a month after he had left. This man called child protectove services I can't tell you how many times. It soon became apparent to them that "he" was crazy and they gave her custody of the boys. So the good Dr. appearance at the right time, is not such a stretch...it's been done....ain't nothin' new under the sun! LOL!!

I would also like to clarify that the above story is true, but the premise as it pertains to the Shelton case is purely from the Book of Princess

---

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 6 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> The Dr was a total unexpected rabbit caught in Danny's trap. Yep, just in time to fill that need to get rid of Linda.
>
> Now I must sign off, stating the above is only my opinion. The above statements are mine and mine alone. This is my Q-CY/MA-L. Thank you.[/b]

Posted by: Fran Mar 7 2007, 12:33 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> Aletheia, I think that Laurence, Like observer likes everyone to know that he is familiar with certain laws and codes and obviously has time to look up the answers that he wants to give. Trouble is, usually what he brings up is just useless information that has nothing to do with the actual point of the post.

Give Observer and LaurenceD a break OK?

Observer does his best. Most of the time he is right on the mark. What can you expect from someone who is always sitting on the politically correct side of the fence at any given moment. It has been difficult now that he has decided to take a stand. It is hard to get off those spiked fences you know!

He can't be all that bad; he reads Voltaire, who by the way was a brilliant man! He caused people not to just take things as stated to them, but to check it out first. That is why we are here right? To check things out?

Another reason I respect him is because he has helped Linda when Danny fired AND divorced her in one BIG breath!

Now I must close out by saying that the above is my opinion and only my opinion. This is my Q-CY/M-A/P-L Statement. (Quick, Cover Your/My A--/Posterior Legally.)

By the way, I still have questions; are you ready?

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 7 2007, 08:58 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia)
>
> I also want to know, what is your point?
> You are not talking about a house which will be built , you are talking about a house built when???

> What is the deal with the Governor being concerned in 2005, how does that relate to this discussion, of the Troy's house and johann's claims it was built in pygmy proportions, and D.S.wasn't honest enough to keep his agreement?
> What agreement Laurence?
> And what evidence backs up johanns claims??? DO YOU PERSONALLY KNOW, or have some kind of verification aside from Johann?
> The point has been made that the owners disagree with what Johann says...
> Can YOU prove different? If not, again, what is YOUR point?

ust observing this series of incoherent questions above, the answers would not likely mean much to ou.

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
>]Aletheia, I think that Laurence, Like observer likes everyone to know that he is familiar with certain laws and codes and obviously has time to look up the answers that he wants to give. Trouble is, usually what he brings up is just useless information that has nothing to do with the actual point of the post.

hat's probably the best way for you to look at it.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 7 2007, 09:15 AM

☒ p

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 10:52 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 7 2007, 01:33 AM) ☐
>
> Give Observer and LaurenceD a break OK?
>
> Observer does his best. Most of the time he is right on the mark. What can you expect from someone who is always sitting on the politically correct side of the fence at any given moment. It has been difficult now that he has decided to take a stand. It is hard to get off those spiked fences you know!
>
> He can't be all that bad; he reads Voltaire, who by the way was a brilliant man! He caused people not to just take things as stated to them, but to check it out first. That is why we are here right? To check things out?
>
> Another reason I respect him is because he has helped Linda when Danny fired AND divorced her in one BIG breath!
>
> Now I must close out by saying that the above is my opinion and only my opinion. This is my Q-CY/M-A/P-L Statement. (Quick, Cover Your/My A--/Posterior Legally.)
>
> By the way, I still have questions; are you ready?

Voltaire brilliant? I don't think so Fran.

Here is what God said about Voltaire through the pen of Ellen G. White:

"When Voltaire was five years old, he committed to memory an infidel poem, and the pernicious influence was never effaced from his mind. He became one of Satan's most successful agents to lead men away from God. Thousands will rise up in the judgment and charge the ruin of their souls upon the infidel Voltaire." Child Guidance, p. 196.

You can also read Great Controversy, p. 281 and 288 if you want more information. There you can read where she said Voltaire spread his poison of infidelity everywhere.

Brilliant? Absolutely not in the eyes of God. He will answer for the loss of souls someday because of his spreading of lies, THOUSANDS (plural) of souls will be lost because of him. I wouldn't read this mans writings for anything. I'd stay far away from them.

Posted by: lurker Mar 7 2007, 11:05 AM

QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 6 2007, 01:04 PM)
BTW, where is Brandi?

It would seem that the problem the old wife tried to help her son solve, the new wife may have with her brother's problems.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 11:12 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Mar 7 2007, 10:05 AM)
>
> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 6 2007, 01:04 PM)
> BTW, where is Brandi?
> It would seem that the problem the old wife tried to help her son solve, the new wife may have with her brother's problems.

Now what are you trying to insinuate and spread. Is there no end? In fact, Calvin can correct me if I am wrong, but I thought Brandi was off limits. She hasn't done anything to anybody and should not even be brought up here.
Calvin is that right or wrong?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 11:24 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 09:52 AM)
>
> Voltaire brilliant? I don't think so Fran.
>
> Here is what God said about Voltaire through the pen of Ellen G. White:

> "When Voltaire was five years old, he committed to memory an infidel poem, and the pernicious influence was never effaced from his mind. He became one of Satan's most successful agents to lead men away from God. Thousands will rise up in the judgment and charge the ruin of their souls upon the infidel Voltaire." Child Guidance, p. 196.
>
> You can also read Great Controversy, p. 281 and 288 if you want more information. There you can read where she said Voltaire spread his poison of infidelity everywhere.
>
> Brilliant? Absolutely not in the eyes of God. He will answer for the loss of souls someday because of his spreading of lies, THOUSANDS (plural) of souls will be lost because of him. I wouldn't read this mans writings for anything. I'd stay far away from them.

Now, this sheds some light on a subject that keeps being mentioned here. EGW couldn't be any plainer on the subject. That helps me understand the "personalities" of those that are a big fan of Voltaire.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 11:43 AM

I am not insinuating anything. I just asked where she was. To my knowledge she has not been on the show, or very visible lately. That is all I meant. Now, from your response one would thing something was wrong. I don't think we can get around Brandi being brought up either. Now what is off limits is anything pertaining to her life before marrying Danny. However, she will be mentioned as she inherited this mess through marriage.

@ Bystander trying to tell Calvin on me! Stop!

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 09:12 AM) ☐
>
> Now what are you trying to insinuate and spread. Is there no end? In fact, Calvin can correct me if I am wrong, but I thought Brandi was off limits. She hasn't done anything to anybody and should not even be brought up here.
> Calvin is that right or wrong?

Posted by: lurker Mar 7 2007, 11:45 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 11:12 AM) ☐
>
> Now what are you trying to insinuate and spread. Is there no end? In fact, Calvin can correct me if I am wrong, but I thought Brandi was off limits. She hasn't done anything to anybody and should not even be brought up here.
> Calvin is that right or wrong?

O.K. Even if we say she is off limits, is her brother? It is a matter of public record in the courts. Does not necessarily reflect badly on her. Just that she may feel that he needs moral support and sympathy.

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 7 2007, 11:49 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 7 2007, 12:43 PM)
>
> I am not insinuating anything. I just asked where she was. To my knowledge she has not been on the show, or very visible lately. That is all I meant. Now, from your response one would thing something was wrong. I don't think we can get around Brandi being brought up either. Now what is off limits is anything pertaining to her life before marrying Danny. However, she will be mentioned as she inherited this mess through marriage.
> @ Bystander trying to tell Calvin on me! Stop!

Remember, my g-mom use to say that a lie don't care who tells it.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 11:59 AM

I didn't know Brandi had a brother. But I am sure that he is pretty much off limits. Unless it has something to do with the owrkings of 3ABN, I think we should just let this die right here. Brandi married Danny and is only mentioned in relatinship to that. No need to drag in her whole family. Not very nice, either.

> QUOTE(lurker @ Mar 7 2007, 09:45 AM)
>
> O.K. Even if we say she is off limits, is her brother? It is a matter of public record in the courts. Does not necessarily reflect badly on her. Just that she may feel that he needs moral support and sympathy.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 12:24 PM)
>
> Wow, this sheds some light on a subject that keeps being mentioned here. EGW couldn't be any plainer on the subject. That helps me understand the "personalities" of those that are a big fan of Voltaire.

Have you ever read anything written by Voltaire? Have you ever even tried to do so?

Any of you is welcome to answer...

In His service,

Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:10 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 12:08 PM) ☐
>
> Have you ever read anything written by Voltaire? Have you ever even tried to do so?
>
> Any of you is welcome to answer...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

it may have been read but if their comprehension of Voltaire is like it is here..... then ummmm it went right over their heads.....

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 12:12 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 7 2007, 12:43 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ @ Bystander trying to tell Calvin on me! Stop! ☒

His mommy wasn't available...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 12:21 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 7 2007, 11:10 AM) ☐
>
> it may have been read but if their comprehension of Voltaire is like it is here..... then ummmm it went right over their heads.....

Obviously, then, it went right over EGW's head too, if you read her conclusions. But, of course, you guys no more that she did. I forgot

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 11:12 AM) ☐
>
> His mommy wasn't available...

> In His service,
> Mr. J

lo actually she's not. She died a few years ago. But, you certainly are right, a mom would be nice to alk to concerning this mess.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:22 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 12:20 PM) ☐
>
> Obviously, then, it went right over EGW's head too, if you read her conclusions. But, of course, you guys no more that she did. I forgot ts not "no" its "know" and its clear we know more than you.... and of course it went over her head.... he only went to the 3rd grade... if indeed she wrote the quote that was posted.... it could have been ne of her scribes.....

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 12:37 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 7 2007, 01:10 PM) ☐
>
> it may have been read but if their comprehension of Voltaire is like it is here..... then ummmm it went right over their heads.....

t would be foolish indeed to read Voltaire after reading what Ellen White has said. Oh, but you think ou are big men and you can tell what is right or wrong in Voltaire's writings? Well, then consider this:

Just as soon as you begin to think you are big men, and that you are so large that you can omprehend and pick out all that is precious in INFIDEL authors, and leave out all that is vile, then ou are wise above that which is written....The devil is right by your side, and the evil angels are here. The devil is a great deal smarter than you are, and you cannot see what he is driving at. He will o cunningly interweave his sentiments with the thoughts of these writers, that it will be IMPOSSIBLE o distinguish the error which they contain."

his was taken from This Day With God, p. 217 (emphasis mine)

r. J.--go ahead and look up what I wrote about Voltaire yourself. I believe Child Guidance and Great ontroversy are both available online in case you don't have the book to verify what was said. Here is he link for you: http://www.whiteestate.org/books/books.asp r if they don't have this online at their site, then borrow a book from your Church.

h, and Clay, ignore my spelling mistakes. Thanks.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:39 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 12:37 PM) ☐
>
> It would be foolish indeed to read Voltaire after reading what Ellen White has said. Oh, but you think you are big men and you can tell what is right or wrong in Voltaire's writings? Well, then consider this:
>
> "Just as soon as you begin to think you are big men, and that you are so large that you can comprehend and pick out all that is precious in INFIDEL authors, and leave out all that is vile, then you are wise above that which is written....The devil is right by your side, and the evil angels are there. The devil is a great deal smarter than you are, and you cannot see what he is driving at. He will so cunningly interweave his sentiments with the thoughts of these writers, that it will be IMPOSSIBLE to distinguish the error which they contain."
>
> This was taken from This Day With God, p. 217 (emphasis mine)
>
> Mr. J.--go ahead and look up what I wrote about Voltaire yourself. I believe Child Guidance and Great Controversy are both available online in case you don't have the book to verify what was said. Here is the link for you: http://www.whiteestate.org/books/books.asp
>
> Or if they don't have this online at their site, then borrow a book from your Church.
>
> Oh, and Clay, ignore my spelling mistakes. Thanks.

comments like this reflect the fact that some have a brain that they have chosen not to use.....

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 12:46 PM

Excuse me Clay? Are you trying to accuse me of something? Are you speaking of what I said or of Ellen White? And you are a moderator on here? What kind of example are you?

Sorry, your ad hominem remarks show that you just must have the last word, even if there is nothing more than to say I am not using my brain. So tell me, what part of my post tells you I'm not using my brain?

Can't find anything? then it is better to be quiet than make useless accusations.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 01:37 PM) ☐
>
> It would be foolish indeed to read Voltaire after reading what Ellen White has said. Oh, but you think you are big men and you can tell what is right or wrong in Voltaire's writings? Well, then consider this:
>
> "Just as soon as you begin to think you are big men, and that you are so large that you can comprehend and pick out all that is precious in INFIDEL authors, and leave out all that is vile, then you are wise above that which is written....The devil is right by your side, and the evil angels are there. The devil is a great deal smarter than you are, and you cannot see what he is driving at. He will so cunningly interweave his sentiments with the thoughts of these writers, that it will be > IMPOSSIBLE to distinguish the error which they contain."

>
> This was taken from This Day With God, p. 217 (emphasis mine)
>
> Mr. J.--go ahead and look up what I wrote about Voltaire yourself. I believe Child Guidance and Great Controversy are both available online in case you don't have the book to verify what was said. Here is the link for you: http://www.whiteestate.org/books/books.asp
>
> Or if they don't have this online at their site, then borrow a book from your Church.
>
> Oh, and Clay, ignore my spelling mistakes. Thanks.

ou do realize that your thinking would have been very much at home in Berlin in 1936, don't you?

re you going to wait until sundown for the book burning or is it so compelling that you need to start it ight away?

ay Bradbury didn't know how prescient he was being in writing Fahrenheit 451... but when people ike you start endorsing censorship and the avoidance of ideas as something laudable... we are but a hort step on a slippery slope from having firemen that start fires with material deemed 'objectionable' ather than putting fires out; who take the lives of those deemed dangerous thinkers rather than aving lives...

nd to make it worse, you actually think your stance is righteous...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 12:46 PM)
>
> Excuse me Clay? Are you trying to accuse me of something? Are you speaking of what I said or of Ellen White? And you are a moderator on here? What kind of example are you?
>
> Sorry, your ad hominem remarks show that you just must have the last word, even if there is nothing more than to say I am not using my brain. So tell me, what part of my post tells you I'm not using my brain?
>
> Can't find anything? then it is better to be quiet than make useless accusations.

did say something... did you not understand? since this is a public forum I can say something nytime I so choose.... and we need not get into what it would be better for you to do....

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 12:55 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 7 2007, 11:22 AM)

> its not "no" its "know" and its clear we know more than you.... and of course it went over her head.... she only went to the 3rd grade... if indeed she wrote the quote that was posted.... it could have been one of her scribes.....

Well, those comments pretty much let us know where you stand with Ellen White. Unbelievable. Lee is correct when she says satan makes sure you can't discern between what is good and bad by infidel writers. Very few people would be arrogant enough to say they could, and wouldn't you know it, 2 of them are here, woops 3 I forgot Fran...

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 12:55 PM

Wow Clay--you are a just like pickle--sure go ahead and accuse me or Sister White. Since you refuse to answer my question, I will assume it is both of us.

Yes, this is a public forum. And you can say whatever you want. But to insult a prophet of God is serious business. Are you sure you wanted to go there?

Oh, did I say how you are like Pickle? Well, for pity sakes, can't you figure it out?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 12:56 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:21 PM) ☐
>
> No actually she's not. She died a few years ago. But, you certainly are right, a mom would be nice to talk to concerning this mess.

it's actually better for her; if she could see you now, she'd die of shame...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 01:00 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 12:55 PM) ☐
>
> Well, those comments pretty much let us know where you stand with Ellen White. Unbelievable. Lee is correct when she says satan makes sure you can't discern between what is good and bad by infidel writers. Very few people would be arrogant enough to say they could, and wouldn't you know it, 2 of them are here, woops 3 I forgot Fran...

Bystander you are arrogant enough to have us believe you know everything about this saga... you and your twin wwjd.... and you can quit trying to hide behind egw... she is dead, and has been dead for sometime.... the only infidel writers on this forum would be you, and your dannyclone friends...

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 12:55 PM)
>
> Wow Clay--you are a just like pickle--sure go ahead and accuse me or Sister White. Since you refuse to answer my question, I will assume it is both of us.
>
> Yes, this is a public forum. And you can say whatever you want. But to insult a prophet of God is serious business. Are you sure you wanted to go there?
>
> Oh, did I say how you are like Pickle? Well, for pity sakes, can't you figure it out?

No I am not like Pickle, but you are just like the rest of the dannyclones.... shows how much you have not been paying attention.... the prophet is dead.... been dead almost 100 yrs..... do you want to go there?

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 01:07 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 01:56 PM)
>
> it's actually better for her; if she could see you now, she'd die of shame...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J. you do NOT speak for the dead. Shame on you for stooping this low. Bystanders mother cannot come on here and defend not only herself but her son. I suggest you stop it right now. Your meanness and hatred is showing all too well.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 01:07 PM)
>
> Mr. J. you do NOT speak for the dead. Shame on you for stooping this low. Bystanders mother cannot come on here and defend not only herself but her son. I suggest you stop it right now. Your meanness and hatred is showing all too well.

the bible says... Resist the devil and he will flee....... we have been resisting but ya'll still here.....

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 01:55 PM)
>
> Wow Clay--you are a just like pickle--sure go ahead and accuse me or Sister White. Since you > refuse to answer my question, I will assume it is both of us.

>
> Yes, this is a public forum. And you can say whatever you want. But to insult a prophet of God is serious business. Are you sure you wanted to go there?
>
> Oh, did I say how you are like Pickle? Well, for pity sakes, can't you figure it out?

o paraphrase Lloyd Bentsen... I know EGW; EGW is a friend of mine... and you, Lee, are no EGW.

on't even try this foolishness of equating disagreement with your myopic foolishness tantamount to ejecting EGW and, by extension God.

f she were still alive EGW would not be on your side... she would be speaking out against DS and TS nd those of you who are making rationalizations for him like she spoke out against Kellogg and his antheism and would do so without apology.

o do yourself a favor and keep your false witness to yourself.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 7 2007, 02:00 PM)
>
> Bystander you are arrogant enough to have us believe you know everything about this saga... you and your twin wwjd.... and you can quit trying to hide behind egw... she is dead, and has been dead for sometime.... the only infidel writers on this forum would be you, and your dannyclone friends... No I am not like Pickle, but you are just like the rest of the dannyclones.... shows how much you have not been paying attention.... the prophet is dead.... been dead almost 100 yrs..... do you want to go there?

rs. White may be dead BUT GOD ISN'T Clay. You are treading on very dangerous ground. God sent is WORD to us through Mrs. White. If you reject what she wrote, you REJECT GOD HIMSELF.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 01:09 PM

QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:21 PM) *

No actually she's not. She died a few years ago. But, you certainly are right, a mom would be nice to talk to concerning this mess.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 11:56 AM)
>
> it's actually better for her; if she could see you now, she'd die of shame...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Well, Mr. J, it seems you have hit an all time low with this remark. I am speechless. To say it would be better for her to be dead and then to say if she could see me she would Die with shame? I am shocked and disgusted that you would make light of anyone's parental death. I will end it there before I say too much

---

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 01:11 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 01:09 PM)
>
> Mrs. White may be dead BUT GOD ISN'T Clay. You are treading on very dangerous ground. God sent His WORD to us through Mrs. White. If you reject what she wrote, you REJECT GOD HIMSELF.

oh please spare me Bystander, and Lee.... you wouldnt know a word from the lord... as I said.... The bible says resist the devil and he will flee... we have been resisting, why you still here?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 01:16 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 02:07 PM)
>
> Mr. J. you do NOT speak for the dead. Shame on you for stooping this low. Bystanders mother cannot come on here and defend not only herself but her son. I suggest you stop it right now. Your meanness and hatred is showing all too well.

Bystander's mother has not been insulted... nor has she been attacked... so dead or alive there is no need for her to defend herself or be defended.

I was pointing out that in spite of her giving bystander good home training, he is on here telling lies in hypocrisy in his attempt to defend the indefensible... and if she were alive to see it, it would break her heart because she'd know she taught him better than that.

And he knows it too.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 7 2007, 12:11 PM)
>
> oh please spare me Bystander, and Lee.... you wouldnt know a word from the lord... as I said.... The bible says resist the devil and he will flee... we have been resisting, why you still here?

You're confused. you posted Lee's post but responded to me.

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 01:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:21 PM) *
> No actually she's not. She died a few years ago. But, you certainly are right, a mom would be nice to talk to concerning this mess.
> Well, Mr. J, it seems you have hit an all time low with this remark. I am speechless. To say it would be better for her to be dead and then to say if she could see me she would Die with shame? I am shocked and disgusted that you would make light of anyone's parental death. I will end it there before I say too much

If someone he is speechless... and then proceeds to saying another 49 words immediately thereafter... was he lying when he claimed to be speechless?

I think you were trying to play the self-righteous indignation game... you should pick another game because you are not good at that one.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Bystander Mar 7 2007, 01:21 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> Bystander's mother has not been insulted... nor has she been attacked... so dead or alive there is no need for her to defend herself or be defended.
>
> I was pointing out that in spite of her giving bystander good home training, he is on here telling lies in hypocrisy in his attempt to defend the indefensible... and if she were alive to see it, it would break her heart because she'd know she taught him better than that.
>
> And he knows it too.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Your post was plain enough, making light of a parental death. Then telling how a mother would feel whom you have never met. My mother would be proud that I am standing up for what I know to be truth, but, regardless, this also shows that you will justify any statement you make no matter how degrading. Most christians would say they were out of line and apologize but no not you. Anything that comes out of your mouth is OK.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 01:21 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 01:17 PM) ☐
>
> You're confused. you posted Lee's post but responded to me.

not at all.... trying to do two or three with one post... since you all are related interrelated, cloned, borged.... something... spiritually inbred... but that would be about as hard to prove as spiritual adultery...

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 01:24 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 7 2007, 02:21 PM) ☐
>
> Your post was plain enough, making light of a parental death. Then telling how a mother would feel whom you have never met. My mother would be proud that I am standing up for what I know to be truth, but, regardless, this also shows that you will justify any statement you make no matter how degrading. Most christians would say they were out of line and apologize but no not you. Anything that comes out of your mouth is OK.

I don't apologize for telling the truth.

Never have.

Never will.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Lee Mar 7 2007, 01:26 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 7 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> To paraphrase Lloyd Bentsen... I know EGW; EGW is a friend of mine... and you, Lee, are no EGW.
>
> Don't even try this foolishness of equating disagreement with your myopic foolishness tantamount to rejecting EGW and, by extension God.
>
> If she were still alive EGW would not be on your side... she would be speaking out against DS and TS and those of you who are making rationalizations for him like she spoke out against Kellogg and his pantheism and would do so without apology.
>
> So do yourself a favor and keep your false witness to yourself.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J. I never said I was Mrs. White. What a very strange thing to say. I believe in your fury that you have lost all reason Mr. Josey. Perhaps you ought to take a few moments to see if you can get it back.

Posted by: Clay Mar 7 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> Mr. J. I never said I was Mrs. White. What a very strange thing to say. I believe in your fury that you have lost all reason Mr. Josey. Perhaps you ought to take a few moments to see if you can get it back.

why? that hasn't worked for you..... you've taken a few moments and haven't gotten it back yet.....

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 7 2007, 01:32 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 7 2007, 02:26 PM)

> Mr. J. I never said I was Mrs. White. What a very strange thing to say. I believe in your fury that you have lost all reason Mr. Josey. Perhaps you ought to take a few moments to see if you can get it back.

fury? rofl

<fx= loser's tuba flourish from The Price is Right>

That would be an incorrect response...

CUE audience groan

but we have some nice parting gifts for you... </fx>

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 01:36 PM

Ok People, I am calling a time out on this one. Will be considering it's permnent fate in the next 24 hrs. Remember anyone carrying this "discussion to another thread will suffer immediate consequences********

Posted by: calvin Mar 7 2007, 01:37 PM

We gonna take a break for awhile. Thanks Di, you beat me too it. We must have posted and I closed this at the same time.

---

(51)

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The Dreams & Visions Concerning 3abn

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 16 2006, 08:14 PM

The Dreams and Visions Concerning 3ABN

I, Barbara Kerr, would also like to share something with everyone that happened beginning in June of 2004 (the month Dan and Linda were divorced).

I received a phone call from a woman in her early 60's and she was in tears. She was so upset it was hard to understand her. It was the first week in June. She was so shaken and kept asking me if Linda and Danny were "okay". I was amazed that a viewer was already calling me regarding this situation, because so few people realized yet that Linda had been fired and Dan was insisting on a divorce. She said she was calling the only person she could think of that might be close enough to the Sheltons to verify her concerns. She asked me again if Danny and Linda were okay. I still wasn't sure how to answer her question. I said, "Why do you ask?" She began crying harder. She said that God had impressed her that something was terribly wrong at 3abn.

I asked her what had made her so upset and she said, "I know you're going to think I'm crazy, but God spoke to me three times in an audible voice on May 26th, (2004). Twice the voice said clearly, 'Linda left Danny. Linda left Danny.'" Without saying anything out loud, the woman said to God, "If this is really You and not Satan, say it again." The voice boomed so loudly that her neighbors could have heard it. "LINDA LEFT DANNY".

I told her that Linda had just moved out of the house and that things didn't look good and to pray hard for them. We hung up.

June 3rd, 2005, I received another call from her.

She said she had received a vision regarding 3abn and it was so horrible that she just couldn't believe it. She was in tears again. During this vision she heard a voice say, "3ABN will be the instrument I will use to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior, but when the redeemed get to heaven and search for their 3ABN family, they will discover that they are only ashes under their feet."

July 15th, 2005, this same woman had an identical dream two nights in a row. She called me to ask if I knew what the "phoenix" was.

In the dream these words were spoken to her: "I will raise Linda up like the Phoenix from the ashes. She will be bigger and better than she could ever imagine. She will be surprised. It will be quick and soon. This will be with or without Danny's help. Danny cannot stop her."

I didn't really know the answer to her question about the Phoenix. We went to the computer and did a search and discovered the poem by Hans Christian Andersen and were amazed at its content. Following is a paragraph taken from that poem.

"Beneath the tree of knowledge in the garden of paradise stood a rosebush. And here, in the first rose, a bird was born. His plumage was beautiful, his song glorious, and his flight was like the flashing of light. But when Eve plucked the fruit of the tree of knowledge, and she and Adam were driven from paradise, a spark fell from the flaming sword of the angel into the nest of the bird and set it afire. The bird perished in the flames, but from the red egg in the nest there flew a new bird, the only one of its kind, the one solitary phoenix bird."

You can draw your own conclusions about the dreams. So far everything has come true. I believe we are seeing the fulfillment of the "phoenix" dream right now. With the use of the internet, news travels fast these days. I believe it's time to restore Linda to her rightful position! The Lord did not bless this woman with 20 years of experience running a network, for her to be idle, and do nothing with her God-given talent.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 16 2006, 08:45 PM

I'm sorry, Barb. I don't like to be the one to "rain on your parade". But I think we are venturing on to the same Pentecostal "enchanted ground" which is held at 3ABN, and to which I object on doctrinal grounds, when we start putting emphasis on dreams and visions. And I don't think that it is our place to presume to read the mind of God as to whether Linda's "rightful position" is restoration to management of 3ABN. I have no doubt but what God wants her to use her talents and experience for His glory and in His service. But I have grave doubts about whether we should assume what that place should be.

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 08:54 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 09:45 PM)
>
> I'm sorry, Barb. I don't like to be the one to "rain on your parade". But I think we are venturing on to the same Pentecostal "enchanted ground" which is held at 3ABN, and to which I object on doctrinal grounds, when we start putting emphasis on dreams and visions. And I don't think that it is our place to presume to read the mind of God as to whether Linda's "rightful position" is restoration to management of 3ABN. I have no doubt but what God wants her to use her talents and experience for His glory and in His service. But I have grave doubts about whether we should assume what that place should be.

are you suggesting that people cannot have visions? or that those visions are from God? or are you saying that since egw died no one else will have visions?

Posted by: Uncle Sam Aug 16 2006, 08:55 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 07:45 PM)
>
> I'm sorry, Barb. I don't like to be the one to "rain on your parade". But I think we are venturing on to the same Pentecostal "enchanted ground" which is held at 3ABN, and to which I object on doctrinal grounds, when we start putting emphasis on dreams and visions. And I don't think that it is our place to presume to read the mind of God as to whether Linda's "rightful position" is restoration to management of 3ABN. I have no doubt but what God wants her to use her talents and experience for His glory and in His service. But I have grave doubts about whether we should assume what that place should be.

I agree, it made me question the validity of the other letter that was written.......

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 08:58 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Aug 16 2006, 09:55 PM)
>
> I agree, it made me question the validity of the other letter that was written.......

why? she reported what someone told her? or are you all uncomfortable about the vision thing? would you have been uncomfortable when young ellen was having her visions?

You have never had a dream that was a premonition? and later that dream came true?

Where is Re' when I need her...

Posted by: September Aug 16 2006, 09:06 PM

I don't question the validity of the other letter Barb wrote...but I have to say that the post about the dreams did give me pause. I'm not saying that God doesn't give people visions, but we have no idea who that woman is--or anything about her. I also felt that the part about Linda being bigger than Danny is not consistant with what God calls His people to be--humble servents. Linda is and has always been a humble servent of God's--and I think that we need to be careful when subscribing to visions that someone has that actually sound quite prideful. Am I making any sense? Also, on a side note, a pheonix is actually a cultic symbol--and I'd have to ask my husband for more details on that--but that is a comment he made after reading the dreams post.

I also believe that for all Linda has gone through, God has a plan and a purpose for her life whose effects will be far reaching to hurting souls for Christ. It will be a ministry that only she can fulfill--just like each of us has a purpose that only we can fulfill. The journeys that we go through--the pains, the joys, etc., all make up who we are in Christ--His molding and making of us for a greater purpose. It's usually a quiet calling--an inner conviction as God speaks to us and enables us to do His bidding.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Aug 16 2006, 09:07 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 07:58 PM)
>
> why? she reported what someone told her? or are you all uncomfortable about the vision thing? would you have been uncomfortable when young ellen was having her visions?
>
> You have never had a dream that was a premonition? and later that dream came true?
>
> Where is Re' when I need her...

No, I do not have a problem with "dreams/visions. Just something about this "story" made me uncomfortable. Danny said he had a dream too, why is that hard for some to believe?

I am not sure about this whole mess, I do feel better now that someone has come out and said the same things that others have said, and they have given their name. I always enjoyed Barbara Kerr and respect what she has said and it adds weight to the other things that have been shared here....

Posted by: IMM Aug 16 2006, 09:08 PM

And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit. Joel 2:28, 29

Repeated again in Acts 2:17, 18

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Aug 16 2006, 09:07 PM)
>
> No, I do not have a problem with "dreams/visions. Just something about this "story" made me uncomfortable. Danny said he had a dream too, why is that hard for some to believe?
>
> I am not sure about this whole mess, I do feel better now that someone has come out and said the same things that others have said, and they have given their name. I always enjoyed Barbara Kerr and respect what she has said and it adds weight to the other things that have been shared here....

some would say that dreams are our unconscious desires... so the issue is not the dream nor the person but the total picture..... lets not forget Joseph had dreams... and they were not humble at all.....

Posted by: watchbird Aug 16 2006, 09:10 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 08:58 PM)
>
> why? she reported what someone told her? or are you all uncomfortable about the vision thing? would you have been uncomfortable when young ellen was having her visions?
>
> You have never had a dream that was a premonition? and later that dream came true?
>
> Where is Re' when I need her...

I am uncomfortable with "the vision thing". I've seen too much .... read too much .... come in contact too much .... with the modern day tidal wave of spirit communications ..... both inside the church and out ..... to take the concept and practice lightly. I'm too much engrained in biblical warnings about the powers that will be allowed to Satan in "the last days" ... accompanied by the warnings of Ellen White that this will be the last great test our church will have to face ... to be comfortable with Pentecostal flavored fascination with information gained outside our normal rational facilities. Do I believe that God occasionally does give such communications. Yes, I do. But when they are applied to others besides the one who had the experience, then I think the first thing to do is to thoroughly examine them for credibility and the way they align with scriptural commication between God and his "prophets".

I would doubtless have been "uncomfortable" with "young ellen" having her visions. Right along with the majority of the church members who observed those visions. Keep in mind that Ellen did not have any instant and wide acceptance as to the source of her visions. It was only after the passage of time .... and gradually, with experience in the the results of the visions as well as testing and comparing their content with scripture, that a few believers at a time came to have confidence that her visions were indeed from God.

Posted by: justme Aug 16 2006, 09:13 PM

Easy now ...

It appears that a woman told Barbara something that happened that disturbed her a great deal. How else would this woman have known about Danny kicking Linda off the premises she helped to found.

The lady went to Barb for more information. Vision, dream, premonition, does it really matter?

She was aware of something that only 3ABN-ers knew at that point.

Barb is only tellin us what the lady told her. Barb is not saying that we all should take this lady for gospel.

After all, Danny has apparently had his own hallucinations about Linda.

I expect that there are more individuals who have had "revelations" or "inspirations" about Linda. We just don't know about them yet.

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 10:10 PM) ☐
>
> I am uncomfortable with "the vision thing". I've seen too much .... read too much .... come in contact too much .... with the modern day tidal wave of spirit communications ..... both inside the church and out ..... to take the concept and practice lightly. I'm too much engrained in biblical warnings about the powers that will be allowed to Satan in "the last days" ... accompanied by the warnings of Ellen White that this will be the last great test our church will have to face ... to be comfortable with Pentecostal flavored fascination with information gained outside our normal rational facilities. Do I believe that God occasionally does give such communications. Yes, I do. But when they are applied to others besides the one who had the experience, then I think the first thing to do is to thoroughly examine them for credibility and the way they align with scriptural commication between God and his "prophets".
>
> I would doubtless have been "uncomfortable" with "young ellen" having her visions. Right along with the majority of the church members who observed those visions. Keep in mind that Ellen did not have any instant and wide acceptance as to the source of her visions. It was only after the passage of time .... and gradually, with experience in the the results of the visions as well as > testing and comparing their content with scripture, that a few believers at a time came to have confidence that her visions were indeed from God.

would say you are over sensitized to the whole issue.... so anything that remotely sounds like what ou have studied you react.... thus you are biased against it....

f the visions or dreams are legit time will tell....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 16 2006, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 10:54 PM)
>
> are you suggesting that people cannot have visions? or that those visions are from God? or are you saying that since egw died no one else will have visions?

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 10:58 PM)
>
> why? she reported what someone told her? or are you all uncomfortable about the vision thing? would you have been uncomfortable when young ellen was having her visions?
>
> You have never had a dream that was a premonition? and later that dream came true?
>
> Where is Re' when I need her...

ight here.

all it what you like. If I could list folks names and contact information I would. Interestingly enough - t doesn't happen "often" and it doesn't happen "when I want it to" - but everyone of my truest, losest friends know....

VHEN I DREAM, LISTEN AND HEAR!

ven the BIBLE discusses how people will "see visions and dream dreams...." Now as for the dream of he woman in the letter - I refuse to be the one that states that her dream is false. Why?

ecause I know me....and I don't discuss it often - but I know.

HAVE BEEN BLESSED (& I now see it as a "blessing" - didn't see it as a blessing as a child....) with he GIFT OF DREAMS.

. Don't ask me to "dream about you"....
. Don't ask me to "dream something for you"...
. Don't ask me to "dream a solution for a problem"....

t don't work that way.... when GOD/JESUS/HOLY SPIRIT brings me a dream; I immediately know it is special" - I write it down. I go back to it approximately a day later and then try to "interpret" it. ometimes the interpretation comes to me immediately. Sometimes it does not. On three occassions ny Mother and I had the exact same dream within a few days of each other. I write them in my ournal....when I go home I would "compare" with my Mother. We have been exactly the same three imes since 1996 (when I started journaling).

Now.

again

You may not see this as a "gift" or even "believe" me - I don't care...but trust.

If I tell you I had a dream, give you an interpretation - AND IT INVOLVES YOU.... ya beddah listen!

☒ sn

Posted by: watchbird Aug 16 2006, 09:28 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 09:13 PM) ☐
>
> I would say you are over sensitized to the whole issue.... so anything that remotely sounds like what you have studied you react.... thus you are biased against it....
>
> if the visions or dreams are legit time will tell....

It may sound like that to you..... maybe there are some things in life that one should take seriously enough to approach them with .... what's the phrase I've heard here so often? ... "a healthy skeptisim".

The question about visions or dreams that are merely for the purpose of giving information to satisfy someone's curiosity or to give them a feeling of knowing the future is not whether or not they are "legit" in the sense of whether "time will tell". The facts are that they are very seductive and even addictive, and they promote a "hunger for the supernatural" which then gives opportunity for the "wrong" kind of spirits to insert ideas.

Our church has erred in its way of warning against Pentecostalism. Our conservatives, especially, will get all bent out of shape and throw tantrums that are quite literally "heard round the world" when it comes to something like lively music or a worship service that is similar in arrangement to a "Pentecostal" service. But when real Pentecostalism walks in the church, gets up in the pulpit, and is written out in officially published books .... no one bats an eye. We simply lap it up like cream and go looking for more of the same kind ..... only more spectacular than what our neighbor experienced.

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 09:31 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 16 2006, 09:24 PM) ☐
>
> Right here.
>
> Call it what you like. If I could list folks names and contact information I would. Interestingly enough - it doesn't happen "often" and it doesn't happen "when I want it to" - but everyone of my truest, closest friends know....
>
> WHEN I DREAM, LISTEN AND HEAR!
>
> Even the BIBLE discusses how people will "see visions and dream dreams...." Now as for the dream of the woman in the letter - I refuse to be the one that states that her dream is false. Why?

> Because I know me....and I don't discuss it often - but I know.
>
> I HAVE BEEN BLESSED (& I now see it as a "blessing" - didn't see it as a blessing as a child....) with the GIFT OF DREAMS.
>
> 1. Don't ask me to "dream about you"....
> 2. Don't ask me to "dream something for you"...
> 3. Don't ask me to "dream a solution for a problem"....
>
> It don't work that way.... when GOD/JESUS/HOLY SPIRIT brings me a dream; I immediately know it is "special" - I write it down. I go back to it approximately a day later and then try to "interpret" it. Sometimes the interpretation comes to me immediately. Sometimes it does not. On three occassions my Mother and I had the exact same dream within a few days of each other. I write them in my journal....when I go home I would "compare" with my Mother. We have been exactly the same three times since 1996 (when I started journaling).
>
> Now.
>
> again
>
> You may not see this as a "gift" or even "believe" me - I don't care...but trust.
>
> If I tell you I had a dream, give you an interpretation - AND IT INVOLVES YOU.... ya beddah listen!
>
> ☒ sn

hank you Re'..... I had a dream when my wife was pregnant.... we didn't know the gender of the aby..... the ultrasound didn't show because the baby was turned in a position where you couldn't ee..... I had a dream of a little girl, head full of braids, giggling while sitting on a couch.... I told my ife... we did not get another ultrasound, but the baby was a girl..... born with a head full of hair... nd eventually that hair was braided... and she often sat on the couch giggling.....

hut?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 16 2006, 09:37 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 11:31 PM) ☐
>
> thank you Re'..... I had a dream when my wife was pregnant.... we didn't know the gender of the baby..... the ultrasound didn't show because the baby was turned in a position where you couldn't see..... I had a dream of a little girl, head full of braids, giggling while sitting on a couch.... I told my wife... we did not get another ultrasound, but the baby was a girl..... born with a head full of hair... and eventually that hair was braided... and she often sat on the couch giggling.....
>
> whut?

ot you too!

y Father dreamed of a little gurl wearing brown overalls, pigtails - and chewing on a chicken leg. He ever told my Mother the details. He only told my Mother he dreamed I was a "girl".....

Later the picture was taken - when my Father wasn't home (long-haul truck driving) - I was in brown overalls, pigtails, and chewing on celery!

It began with a "C".....

...but this was actually the "proving" dream for my Father. He had several dreams before this one - but would "ignore" them ....

From this time on - (me as an "infant") he began to write down his dreams and later - (after I got older) he would "discuss them in detail" with me.....

Around the age of 5 I started having "dreams". I told my Father and he would listen very intently. I remember him listening like I was telling the "news"....I didn't understand it until I was about 10-11 years old...... I too have a "GIFT OF DREAMS"......

...and why lie? Sometimes it scares me.....

Posted by: September Aug 16 2006, 09:41 PM

deleted

Posted by: Clay Aug 16 2006, 09:47 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 09:28 PM)
>
> It may sound like that to you..... maybe there are some things in life that one should take seriously enough to approach them with .... what's the phrase I've heard here so often? ... "a healthy skeptisim".
>
> The question about visions or dreams that are merely for the purpose of giving information to satisfy someone's curiosity or to give them a feeling of knowing the future is not whether or not they are "legit" in the sense of whether "time will tell". The facts are that they are very seductive and even addictive, and they promote a "hunger for the supernatural" which then gives opportunity for the "wrong" kind of spirits to insert ideas.
>
> Our church has erred in its way of warning against Pentecostalism. Our conservatives, especially, will get all bent out of shape and throw tantrums that are quite literally "heard round the world" when it comes to something like lively music or a worship service that is similar in arrangement to a "Pentecostal" service. But when real Pentecostalism walks in the church, gets up in the pulpit, and is written out in officially published books .... no one bats an eye. We simply lap it up like cream and go looking for more of the same kind ..... only more spectacular than what our neighbor experienced.

I hope you are just as skeptical when that pastor, or conference leader gets up and says, " the lord told me," or " I was impressed by the Holy Spirit to tell you," or any of those phrases that preachers use just before they "share" what the "Lord" has told them.....

like I said, you overreact... no one has mentioned doing anything you have suggested..... you see it as a road going towards something very bad.... and it may not be that at all....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 16 2006, 09:53 PM

I just want people to understand and know that there are SDA's/CHRISTians that "have dreams" that are interpretable or the "Gift of Dreams" per se.... I want people to know that not everyone that "dreams DREAMS" is a fruity nut.

☒ sn

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 16 2006, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE
> I just want people to understand and know that there are SDA's/CHRISTians that "have dreams" that are interpretable or the "Gift of Dreams" per se.... I want people to know that not everyone that "dreams DREAMS" is a fruity nut.

Amen Re!!

☒ sn

Posted by: alramwill Aug 16 2006, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 09:47 PM) ☐
>
> I hope you are just as skeptical when that pastor, or conference leader gets up and says, " the lord told me," or " I was impressed by the Holy Spirit to tell you," or any of those phrases that preachers use just before they "share" what the "Lord" has told them.....
>
> like I said, you overreact... no one has mentioned doing anything you have suggested..... you see it as a road going towards something very bad.... and it may not be that at all....

Hit the nail on the head....

Posted by: September Aug 16 2006, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 16 2006, 11:53 PM) ☐
>
> I just want people to understand and know that there are SDA's/CHRISTians that "have dreams" that are interpretable or the "Gift of Dreams" per se.... I want people to know that not everyone > that "dreams DREAMS" is a fruity nut.

>
> ☒ sn totally agree with you...and perhaps my post to Clay was making light of that so I'm going to try to emove that post...

believe that people do have dreams and that some are from God and would never want to make light f that.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 16 2006, 10:06 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 09:47 PM) ☐
>
> I hope you are just as skeptical when that pastor, or conference leader gets up and says, " the lord told me," or " I was impressed by the Holy Spirit to tell you," or any of those phrases that preachers use just before they "share" what the "Lord" has told them.....
>
> like I said, you overreact... no one has mentioned doing anything you have suggested..... you see it as a road going towards something very bad.... and it may not be that at all....

am indeed just as skeptical. And I've heard enough of that kind of "God talk" to last a lifetime. But I lo take into consideration the rest of the context in which the phrase is used. Plenty of time it is but a nanner of speaking of the way that God does work through the workings of a person's mind in what :an appropriately IMO be spoken of as "impressions from the Holy Spirit". Unfortunately, all too often ..... especially when a conference leader is trying to put a square peg in a round hole.... it is nappropriate manipulation with no "impressions" of any kind other than that there's an undesirable osition to be filled.

3ut when it is in the context of a frankly Pentecostal church in which the members are taught to follow he leader unquestioningly whenever he claims that God is speaking to him .... then the ante goes up. s it actually mere manipulation, or is it some "familiar spirit" that is actualy talking to the person? And vhen the individual is not merely speaking in generalities from the pulpit, but is talking one on one ind saying, "I hear God telling me right now that you are thinking such and such...." Then you better elieve that the ante has gone up a great deal higher yet. And in these circumstances, in my book, ccuracy is much more liable to be the sign of "communing with an evil spirit" than that it is merely nanipulation..... For I simply do not believe that God works like that.

\nd what has been described to me as the way Danny relates to people can be described in exactly hose terms. How much those practices extend to others at 3ABN, I do not know. How much they are racticed by others in our church .... I don't know that either. I won't be lured into passing judgement n any person's experience. But in general I am very convicted that entertaining any paranormal xperience is a dangerous thing for a Christian to do.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 16 2006, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 10:45 PM) ☐

> I'm sorry, Barb. I don't like to be the one to "rain on your parade". But I think we are venturing on to the same Pentecostal "enchanted ground" which is held at 3ABN, and to which I object on doctrinal grounds, when we start putting emphasis on dreams and visions. And I don't think that it is our place to presume to read the mind of God as to whether Linda's "rightful position" is restoration to management of 3ABN. I have no doubt but what God wants her to use her talents and experience for His glory and in His service. But I have grave doubts about whether we should assume what that place should be.

Dear Watchbird,

Believe me, I have thought long and hard about posting this page. It is only here because it happened, and I think people deserve to at least read about it.

Hasn't our church always put emphasis on dreams and visions? Where would we be as a church today without Mrs. White's dreams and visions?

In Acts 2:17-18 it says, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, That I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh; Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, Your young men shall see visions, Your old men shall dream dreams. And on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days; And they shall prophesy." NKJV

This identical passage is also found in Joel 2:28-29.

We have so many Biblical examples of how God spoke to people through dreams.

1) Matthew 2:13, an Angel appeared to Joseph in a dream. In chapter 27:19 Pilate's wife instructs her husband not to have anything to do with Jesus because of what she had suffered in a dream.

2) In Luke 24:23, the women that showed up at Jesus' tomb were there because they had seen a vision of angels who had said Jesus was alive.

3) In Genesis 37: 5-10, Joseph dreams about sheaves of wheat bowing down to him and about the sun, moon and stars bowing down -- and he was rebuked for his dreams.

4) In Numbers 12:6 it says, "Then He said, 'Hear now My words: If there is a prophet among you, I, the Lord, make Myself known to him in a vision, And I speak to him in a dream.'"

5) And finally in Jeremiah 23:28-29 it says, "'The prophet who has a dream, let him tell a dream;And he who has My word, let him speak My word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat?' says the Lord, 'Is not My word like a fire?' says the Lord, 'And like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?'"

You're absolutely right about not presuming where God wants Linda right now! I was clearly too vague in my over-zealous "cheer" to help restore her to her position. Mentally I am so far beyond thinking about Linda being placed as the head of 3ABN. I have no idea what God's plans are for that ministry or whom the Lord will choose to lead it. (I actually think that Wintley Phipps is a Godly man that could steer this ministry and take over leadership tomorrow). What I desire for Linda, is to be restored to her position "publicly". It's more about her ability to work in ministry, the job she loves above all else, having her image as an adulterous woman stricken from the record in the Adventist church, so-to-speak. I'm not even sure if that's possible, but I know that it is forums like these that give a voice to those that need to be heard.

My final reason for posting the dreams about 3ABN comes from Habakkuk 2:2-3
"Write the vision, And make it plain on tablets, That he may run who reads it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time; But at the end it will speak, and it will not lie. Though it tarries, wait for it; Because it will surely come, It will not tarry." (All quotes taken from NKJV)

Watchbird, I know these types of things pull us out of our comfort zone and we have a need to make everything around us mesh with our own realities of life, love and religion.

This woman isn't flying a banner anywhere, she didn't ask for the dreams, but God chose her to give them to.

I can tell you that she is an extremely sweet, kind-hearted Seventh Day Adventist woman in her 60's, that wants nothing more than for Jesus to come quickly. She's not trying to call herself a prophet, she's not puffed up or conceited. She IS a humble prayer warrior that loves her Savior very much!

Your reaction to the dreams has made me ponder just what our response will be as Adventist when our sons and our daughters shall prophesy, our young men shall see visions, and our old men shall dream dreams?

Watchbird, I promise you, I am NOT trying to be "Pentecostal". I hope this helps and I'm so thankful for your honesty in your letter. You are a sweet woman.

Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Ralph Aug 17 2006, 01:34 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Aug 16 2006, 07:55 PM)
>
> I agree, it made me question the validity of the other letter that was written.......

It does not make me question the validity of the the first letter that Barbara wrote. That is rock solid and most of it is verifiable. So let's not let this discussion take the forefront and ignore her main message.

BUT I do question who gave the message to the woman. Maybe we will never know, as there are things that happen in the supernatural world that are beyond our understanding.

When my mother's first husband died, his mother, a wonderful Christian woman, was in the pantry. She turned around and saw her son standing in the doorway although he should have been miles away. She reached out her arms and exclaimed in her Norwegian accent, "VI ARRY". And with that "Harry" disappeared. She knew immediately that he was dead. Was the being angelic or Satanic. I have my thoughts.

One thing that concerns me. The voice said, "LINDA LEFT DANNY". That was a bald face lie unless we disregard all the evidence that has been presented so far. "Linda left Danny" -- That has been what Danny wants us to believe when in reality Danny kicked her out. So without any other hint than that one, I question the source of the information even if the woman was a Christian. (The Devil harasses Christians, too.)

Like Gamaliel, we will just have to wait and see.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 17 2006, 01:42 AM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 16 2006, 10:36 PM)
>
> Dear Watchbird,

> Believe me, I have thought long and hard about posting this page. It is only here because it happened, and I think people deserve to at least read about it.
>
> Hasn't our church always put emphasis on dreams and visions? Where would we be as a church today without Mrs. White's dreams and visions?

hank you for your sweet spirit in writing, Barbara. I shall try to respond likewise.
Has our church always put emphasis on dreams and visions?" No, it has not. In the beginning, even t the same time that James White was being appreciative of the messages God was giving through llen White, he cautioned against putting too much emphasis on the "gifts". What our church has lways put the most emphasis on is God's word to us as recorded in scripture.

> QUOTE
>
> In Acts 2:17-18 it says, "And it shall come to pass in the last days, says God, That I will pour out of My Spirit on all flesh; Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, Your young men shall see visions, Your old men shall dream dreams. And on My menservants and on My maidservants I will pour out My Spirit in those days; And they shall prophesy." NKJV
>
> This identical passage is also found in Joel 2:28-29.

e careful of your context. The Acts context is that of saying that the preaching of the apostles on the ay of Pentecost was a fulfillment of the prophecy in Joel. And when one examines the use of the ords, "visions" and "dreams", one must also recognize that they do not always have the same eaning. Yes, we speak of a hallucinatory experience as a "vision". But we also speak of someone aving a "vision" of doing a certain thing, meaning only that the person had the idea and the ability to hink through that idea until it became a plan. And the same with the word "dream". It can mean the rain activity that goes on while we sleep...... but it can also mean conscious thought activity in hinking about some plan or desire that one has.

> QUOTE
>
> We have so many Biblical examples of how God spoke to people through dreams.
>
> 1) Matthew 2:13, an Angel appeared to Joseph in a dream. In chapter 27:19 Pilate's wife instructs her husband not to have anything to do with Jesus because of what she had suffered in a dream.
>
> 2) In Luke 24:23, the women that showed up at Jesus' tomb were there because they had seen a vision of angels who had said Jesus was alive.
>
> 3) In Genesis 37: 5-10, Joseph dreams about sheaves of wheat bowing down to him and about the sun, moon and stars bowing down -- and he was rebuked for his dreams.
>
> 4) In Numbers 12:6 it says, "Then He said, 'Hear now My words: If there is a prophet among you, I, the Lord, make Myself known to him in a vision, And I speak to him in a dream.'"
>
> 5) And finally in Jeremiah 23:28-29 it says, "'The prophet who has a dream, let him tell a dream;And he who has My word, let him speak My word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat?' says the Lord, 'Is not My word like a fire?' says the Lord, 'And like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?'"

So many"? How many hundred years did the writing of scripture cover? How many in any one eneration had any dreams or visions that they claimed were from the Lord? How many generations ere there between the dreams or visions that are recorded? As for Jeremiah, doesn't it say "The rophet who has a dream, let him tell..."? Having a dream does not make one a prophet.

> QUOTE
>
> You're absolutely right about not presuming where God wants Linda right now! I was clearly too vague in my over-zealous "cheer" to help restore her to her position. Mentally I am so far beyond thinking about Linda being placed as the head of 3ABN. I have no idea what God's plans are for that ministry or whom the Lord will choose to lead it. (I actually think that Wintley Phipps is a Godly man that could steer this ministry and take over leadership tomorrow). What I desire for Linda, is to be restored to her position "publicly". It's more about her ability to work in ministry, the job she loves above all else, having her image as an adulterous woman stricken from the record in the Adventist church, so-to-speak. I'm not even sure if that's possible, but I know that it is forums like these that give a voice to those that need to be heard.

I too share your dream that Linda will be completely exhonerated and that the roadblocks that have been cast in her way will become but stepping stones towards a more significant ministry than what she has known up to this time. I'm glad that you're "cheer" for her restoration was in the sense of restoring her reputation and her opportunities for service. Since there are those, however, who might think in terms of putting her in what I would consider the very awkward and unenviable postition of returning to 3ABN on the basis of her former joint ownership there, I think we need to be very careful how we speak in "futures"..... even of future "dreams".

> QUOTE
>
> My final reason for posting the dreams about 3ABN comes from Habakkuk 2:2-3
> "Write the vision, And make it plain on tablets, That he may run who reads it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time; But at the end it will speak, and it will not lie. Though it tarries, wait for it; Because it will surely come, It will not tarry." (All quotes taken from NKJV)

Again, as I said above.... the context. Are you really raising this woman who had the dreams to the level of a prophet? Are you really attaching prophetic import to her words, all of which, in common with most psychic occurances of this type are vague enough to lend them to multiple interpretations?

> QUOTE
>
> Watchbird, I know these types of things pull us out of our comfort zone and we have a need to make everything around us mesh with our own realities of life, love and religion.

You are quite right that the kind of attention you are giving to what are essentially psychic experiences, and the applications you are making of scripture in order to justify that attention is definitely "out of my comfort zone". I am comfortable with a belief system that is soundly based on scripture and in which one finds comfort in applying the promises of scripture to ones "own realities of life, love and religion." There are far too many diverse voices, all claiming a connection with some supernatural source of information, for me to be comfortable with going to any of these for my comfort.

> QUOTE
>
> This woman isn't flying a banner anywhere, she didn't ask for the dreams, but God chose her to give them to.

How do you know that God gave them to her? Dreams are functions of the mind. While it is true that God may speak in that method, it is also true that satan can also speak through that method, and it is equally true, and a whole lot more likely, that any given dream is the result of some natural function and is not influenced by either God nor satan.

> QUOTE

> I can tell you that she is an extremely sweet, kind-hearted Seventh Day Adventist woman in her 60's, that wants nothing more than for Jesus to come quickly. She's not trying to call herself a prophet, she's not puffed up or conceited. She IS a humble prayer warrior that loves her Savior very much!

One does not have to be puffed up or conceited to be mistaken about the importance of a dream, a premonition, a coincidence, or a sudden seemingly new thought that suddenly comes to one's mind.

> QUOTE
>
> Your reaction to the dreams has made me ponder just what our response will be as Adventist when our sons and our daughters shall prophesy, our young men shall see visions, and our old men shall dream dreams?

I hope you can understand that I am just as concerned as you may be, maybe more, about this very thing. But I am much more concerned about us thinking something is of the Lord when it is in reality something being used by satan to entice us, than vice versa.

> QUOTE
>
> Watchbird, I promise you, I am NOT trying to be "Pentecostal". I hope this helps and I'm so thankful for your honesty in your letter. You are a sweet woman.
>
> Barbara Kerr

I understand. The thing is, that one does not have to "try" to be Pentecostal. One only has to associate with Pentecostals enough so that their way of interpreting and applying scripture comes to take the place of the way Adventists have generally understood and applied it. When one associates with Adventists who have already substituted Pentecostal definitions and connotations for their vocabulary, and have put an Adventist overlay on what is basically a Pentecostal way of looking at things, then it is very difficult indeed to recognize what is Pentecostal and what is not. And at the moment, things are even more complicated by the fact that for the past 30 years, concepts from Pentecostalism have been promulgated by mainline Adventism.... even showing up in such trusted places as the Sabbath School lesson quarterly and the yearly Devotional book.

For example..... the very phrase you used above, "prayer warriors", is a term that is not only straight out of Pentecostalism, but is out of a specific variety of Pentecostalism. That was an unknown phrase in my youth and young adult days. Not until the mid 1970's, when "Deliverance Ministry" teachings came into Adventism, were we introduced to the "Warrior Prayer" with all of its accompanying doctrinal underpinnings, and the term "prayer warriors" followed shortly and for at least 10 years has been a standard term in Adventism today.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 17 2006, 03:31 AM

Watchbird is a skeptic, and I suppose that it may take her a very long time to understand what some of us feel differently about. There is need to be cautious but the Scriptures also tell us that God's ways are not our ways nor His thoughts, our thoughts.

And it also tells us that you will hear a voice telling you "this is the way, walk in it." The Scriptures also speak of the gifts of the word of knowledge and the word of prophecy which we hardly hear about in SDAism today but there are some godly, very godly SDAs with these gifts whom God has used to help others.

We are told to try the spirits and see whether they be of God and to prove all things and hold fast to that which is good. Let us do just that by God's grace.

Barbara, I appreciate your attitude.

Posted by: västergötland Aug 17 2006, 04:37 AM

It appears to me, having read all the comments thus far, that the dreams are probably real but there seems to be disagreement on who the source of these dreams might be.

Watchbird, I think the aversion towards anything "extraordinary" explains the pentecostal stamp you had on Roger Morneau in another thread. I can see that having the practise of doubting any miracles not read about in the bible or in Ellens biography being from God would lead to such a result.

I find the all out denial and/or rejection of modern day prophecy strange for a denomination that counts a prophet as one of the key founders and at that have modern day prophecy as a fundamental belief (nr 18) and even calls it an identifying mark of itself. Of course one should not accept everything anyone claims to have recieved in a dream or vision or even that anything anyone acctually have recieved in a dream or a vision is from God. But there are sound guidelines for identifying a prophet from God found in the bible that ought to be used, as contrary to shouting 'wolf' at the mere mention of "I have a dream.."

...

oh, ehm,

at the mere mention of "I have a dream from God".

Ralph made a good point conserning the contents of the messages. If the message said that linda left danny and the reality was the very opposite then that would be reason to step back and take a break.

I wonder if part of the devils plan to decieve if possible even the elect may be to make sdas so affraid of anything "pentecostal" that in hard times, God wont be able to fullfill any of his promises without being accused of being the devil. Similar to when Jesus healed a man on the sabbath and was accused of doing the healing by the power of belzebub. If a man would walk into an SDA church this next sabbath being blind and then walk out of the church seeing, lots of church members would (very likely) be freaked out and if this happened at the right/wrong(, depending on how one choose to see it) church the person/s involved in praying for the blind could be facing church dicipline (I believe, havent acctaully seen this happen).

Posted by: justme Aug 17 2006, 04:47 AM

I, too noticed the "Linda left Danny" phrase, but then, how else would one say that she is gone. considering that he kicked her out of the ministry and his life. He was still where he had always been. Linda was fired because "TC1" (the chosen one) had said he doesn't want her around anymore. What else can you do when someone becomes violent and yells at you and tears doors off the hinges? You LEAVE.

Posted by: Nuggie Aug 17 2006, 04:51 AM

I consider myself a skeptic...I take everything I hear and see with two grains of salt. But, on this issue of dreaming/visions or whatever you call it, I can tell you that it's real. I get nervous when my mother calls and says she had a dream about me because she is ALWAYS right! If she tells me not to do something based on a dream she had, I listen. My aunt has the same gift. The Lord reveals things to them in dreams. I don't have that gift...but I know from first-hand life experience that some people do and, like Re says, they're not fruity nuts...well, not all of them anyway

---

Posted by: Denny Aug 17 2006, 05:12 AM

I have had dreams about people it happens rarely I've had impression not to go certain places -

Jul 2005 bombing I was impressed to drive to work rather than take the train I was standing at the bustop, I crossed over the road and drove when I go to work I heard that the of the two train lines I could have taken both had been bombed......believe it or not

Kings Cross fire, late 1980's Northern line burnt to cinders many people died, this is the station I normally changed at and the line that would take me home. I felt impressed to stay on another line when I got to the station and not to get off the train. My mind actually said I feel too lazy to take the Norhern line. When I go home I heard of the fire, I was very shaken cos even my mother knew the Northen line was one of my normal routes.

I believe the Holy Sprit impressed my lazy self to take the 'lazy' option on both occassions- I praise Him!

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 06:04 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 17 2006, 04:31 AM)
>
> Watchbird is a skeptic, and I suppose that it may take her a very long time to understand what some of us feel differently about. There is need to be cautious but the Scriptures also tell us that God's ways are not our ways nor His thoughts, our thoughts.

It is true that God's ways are not our ways, but He acts consistent with Himself and His revelations in Scripture.

> QUOTE
>
> And it also tells us that you will hear a voice telling you "this is the way, walk in it." The Scriptures also speak of the gifts of the word of knowledge and the word of prophecy which we hardly hear about in SDAism today but there are some godly, very godly SDAs with these gifts whom God has used to help others.

The Lord has also revealed to us that in the end times there will be three unclean spirits like frogs coming out of the mouth of the dragon and out of the mouth of the beast and out of the mouth of the false prophet. (Rev 16:13) Adventists have long identified these as the evidence of demonic activity bringing the various religious factions of the world together through charismatic manifestations. It was many decades ago that the "tongues" manifestations sought to infiltrate the Adventist church through "friendly" means, but was largely unsuccessful. Now we see more subtle means, but the spirit is the same. This in no way casts aspersion on those who are approached by these spirits. They are usually honest, dedicated and, yes, conservative Adventists. It is thus that the spirits are most likely to be successful.

Let us consider why they would like us to believe in them. After all, most revelations, dreams and visions are quite harmless. Healings are beneficial. So where's the danger?

But what happens when we learn to depend on these revelations, dreams and visions because they have always "come true"? Are we not then ready to be deceived because we no longer question the source? When healings accompany such manifestations, we reason that surely this must be of the Lord.

Yet we are told that devils work miracles. ...

> QUOTE
>
> We are told to try the spirits and see whether they be of God and to prove all things and hold fast to that which is good. Let us do just that by God's grace.

Ah, yes, that's exactly it!

And what evidence to we have that these dreams and visions are of God?

Are they accurate, giving the correct view of the matter?

"Linda left Danny."

Is that really true. Did Linda leave Danny, or was she forced out?

Does God speak the truth? Do demons lie?

"3ABN will be the instrument I will use to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior, but when the redeemed get to heaven and search for their 3ABN family, they will discover that they are only ashes under their feet."

3ABN will be the instrumet to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus?

That sounds to me like an encouragement to trust in an institution, a TV network, to get the job done. I question this for several reasons:
1) God has made it clear that He wants you and me to each tell someone --not to expect "the church" or the pastor or 3ABN to do the job for us.
2) This focus on a particular institution sets people up for a fall when the institution goes wrong. Perhaps this sets the "believer" up to fall for the Pentecostal metamorphosis of 3ABN. Who knows, but it surely does not "fit" with the way God usually acts.
3) The language is just too much like the sensational utterings of spirits we know to be false..

By contrast, the vision Ellen White had of the "finishing of the work" was one of 'the servants of God, with their faces lighted up going from door to door" -- IOW, it was personal work. She saw God's people meeting people face to face, not sending money to a TV network! (That does not mean that we should not also support TV programs that are truly giving God's message.)

Furthermore, there seems to be no real purpose for these dreams and visions other than to arouse/satisfy curiosity and stir up excitement. There is no biblical precedent for this. Neither is there precedent for this in the ministry of Ellen White.

There is plenty of precedent for this in psychic phenomena.

I have a friend who has the "gift" of psychic insight. He may receive dreams or visions, or simply "see" things in broad daylight. He didn't want the "gift" when he was young, but it didn't go away. He subsequently used it for good purposes. However, those who know him find that his "seeing" has around a 50% accuracy rate. Is that the Lord's best score?

I concluded that this "gift" is not of the Lord, and from his family history, I have some idea why he is thus afflicted. "The devil has desired to have thee," one could say to him, as Christ did to Peter. He has "had" much of his family in the past, and he hates to let anyone go. My friend is sincere in his love for Jesus. He has quit giving psychic readings, even though he was in financial straits and it was the easiest way to make money. I pray that some day the Lord will give him total clarity on the subject ..

"I will raise Linda up like the Phoenix from the ashes."
This does not sound like the language of God to me. He is not indebted to symbols invented by His archenemy.

Somehow this reminds me of the days of my youth when the Ouija board was popular among teenagers. I was totally naive and tried it with them at their urging. It refused to move with my fingers on it, and no one could figure out why because it "performed" so well otherwise. There have always been cliques and feuds among teenage girls, and so it was then. By the time the Ouija board told my best friends/worst enemies that they were to be "nice to me," I had figured out what made the Ouija board move, and it scared me to have it speak well of me ...

It should frighten Linda that this "I" (spirit) promises to raise her up like the Phoenix. May she be spared the entanglement that this forebodes! I pray that she may cling humbly to Jesus.

The Phoenix myth can be traced back to ancient Egypt. It is one of the sacred symbols of worship at Heliopolis, closely associated with the rising sun and the Egyptian sun-god Ra, who is a counterfeit of the true Creator God, just like Sunday is a counterfeit of the true Sabbath memorial of creation and promis of salvation.

The Phoenix symbol became absorbed into corrupt Christianity as a symbol of Christ's death and resurrection just as the day of the sun became absorbed into Christianity as the counterfeit Sabbath.

Do you really still wonder about the source of these dreams?

"She will be bigger and better than she could ever imagine. She will be surprised. It will be quick and soon. This will be with or without Danny's help. Danny cannot stop her."

Isn't this just the very thing that an unwary Linda might want? Isn't this the very temptation that Satan offered to Christ Himself -- if He would only bow down?! Isn't this very much akin to Lucifer's aspirations in heaven?

Beware, Linda, beware!

God does not tempt His children thus. He does not promise this kind of greatness, though the televangelists often do.

I believe that Linda was separated from 3ABN by the providence of God, though she surely did not see this at the time. But Satan does not let go easily, and he would dearly love to draw her back into the same tangled web from which she escaped.

It also seems that God allowed you, Barbara, to be separated from 3ABN so as not to be associated with the evil that goes on there. Thank God and trust Him to lead you in safe paths through His Word and that still, small voice, that is like a "voice behind you saying, 'This is the way, walk you in it," without the aid of dreams and visions.

> QUOTE
>
> Barbara, I appreciate your attitude.

I do too. And I do not question the sincerity and dedication of the woman who had these dreams, but if I could talk to her presonally, I would like to warn her that she is under attack by the enemy of Christ. But if she will put her faith and trust in Him and His Word, rather than in visions and dreams, she will be safe.

Blessings,
Inge Anderson

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 06:25 AM

Hi Denny,

What you describe below and what similar examples which others have described in other posts is what I believe is fairly typical of how the Holy Spirit impresses people. The impressions/messages were directly for you and not about what was going to happen to someone else.

God has, throughout history, chosen individuals to act as His spokesmen, giving messages from Him to and about others. But in all the history of the world, there have been relatively few of these. And He always acts consistent with His character and previous revelations.

We are to "test the spirits," and by the tests that I applied in a previous post, the spirits who gave these dreams and visions come up wanting.

We are told that "in the last days" the path of truth will lie so close to the path of error that it will be impossible to discern between them, except by the Holy Spirit. I think this applies also to to the "discerning of spirits." Our great need is a daily, living connection with Christ through the Holy Spirit. And Scriptures tell us that the Holy Spirit will not speak "of His own" but will make the words of Scriptures clear to us.

As Ellen White counseled us shortly before she died, "I recommend to you the Word of God!" We need to study and pray and cling to Christ by faith, for only thus can we walk safely ... and we will recognize the "voice behind Thee saying this is the way ..." as the voice of God instead of listening to the seductive voice of seducing spirits.

> QUOTE(Denny @ Aug 17 2006, 06:12 AM) ☐
>
> I have had dreams about people it happens rarely I've had impression not to go certain places -
>
> Jul 2005 bombing I was impressed to drive to work rather than take the train I was standing at the bustop, I crossed over the road and drove when I go to work I heard that the of the two train lines I could have taken both had been bombed......believe it or not
>
> Kings Cross fire, late 1980's Northern line burnt to cinders many people died, this is the station I normally changed at and the line that would take me home. I felt impressed to stay on another line when I got to the station and not to get off the train. My mind actually said I feel too lazy to take the Norhern line. When I go home I heard of the fire, I was very shaken cos even my mother knew the Northen line was one of my normal routes.
>
> I believe the Holy Sprit impressed my lazy self to take the 'lazy' option on both occassions- I praise Him!

Posted by: justme Aug 17 2006, 07:16 AM

The Psalmist, David, says, "Thy Word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee O'God". It is by the Word of God that the Heavens are made.

Was it the Ephesians whom Paul said, "They searched the scriptures daily whether these things were so."?

"Not by power, not by might, but by every Word that proceeds out of the Mouth of God."

It doesn't appear to me that Barbara is giving any special credence to this vision. It looks like she is telling the story that at least another person is quite concerned about 3ABN and is seeking more information. That would be a frightening dream/vision for anyone to have, anyone who cares about the ministry and it's reach.

To belabor the "vision" issue is to circumvent the issue at hand. The issue is not Danny. The issue is not 3ABN. The issue is that each one of us must go straight to the Word of God to hide it in our hearts. We must request that the Holy Spirit of God guide us into all understanding of God's will in our OWN hearts.

There are countless illustrations in the Bible that show that a closer walk with God, through Jesus, led by the Holy Spirit, where people could have taken a better course had they known God's Word better.

"To the Law and to the Testimony. If they speak not according to these, there is no light in them."

Remember that the problems is Satan, not people.

"We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against the principalities and powers, and the rulers of the darkness of the world."

So. How do we strengthen our hearts and minds against becoming mislead or mis-directed?

"MY SHEEP Know My Voice." How do His sheep know His voice? By constantly spending time listening to Him, and following what He says! If we hear a voice that tells us to go in a direction that is "not normally what HE says" it may be the voice of a "wolf in sheeps clothing".

Get to know His Written Word very well. Then get to recognize His voice by following His written word. If they match, then LIVE IT and TEST IT. IF it produces the "Fruits" of the Spirit spoken of in Galatians, then you are on the right track. Be consistent. Be faithful. Test everything you hear and see, by holding up the Word of God against it to see if it measures up to God's standards. Let other say and do as they wish. Their experience is not, and cannot, be your experience. What they do or say has nothing to do with you and your God. You must have your own experience with God to get to KNOW HIM. We don't want to hear on the last day, "Depart from Me. I never knew you!" get to know God intimately, as your best Friend and Constant Companion.

Barb is not now nor has she ever been a proponent of the Pentecostal way of life. This vision she has reported to us is part of the story of 3ABN and Danny and Linda. It is not part of the issues at hand. It is only something someone said to her that caused her to follow-up with Linda and Danny. It eventually opened more dark closets than expected.

Only God knows what He wants Linda to do. It does seem providential that God let Linda be removed from the ministry to preserve her and to protect her. As other ministries have found, loyalty to right principles has it's price, but ultimately the better reward.

How many more "victims" who were fired or driven off will have the courage to speak the truth now?

By the way, (BTW) No one would want to eat moldy bread, but that mold produces penicillin that may save a life. God can make good come out of bad. It is HIS call!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 17 2006, 07:53 AM

> QUOTE(September @ Aug 16 2006, 10:59 PM)
>
> ....I believe that people do have dreams and that some are from God and would never want to make light of that.

The dream that made many of my friends "believe" -

I dreamed we were getting ready for church. I was quite happy. Most of the time at least two friends would come to my home and "get ready" for church with me (grab a bite to eat, listen to gospel music, etc.) - Anyway - (in my dream) as we were getting ready to leave I was impressed (again-in my dream) to pray - now I know of many SDA's that pray every time they get into their cars. I am not one of them. Sure. I pray allot...but I just don't pray everytime I get into my car...but in my dream this time was different. We all PRAYED.

We then got into the car and took off. (In the dream) as we were driving alone - a white truck (King Cab) ran us off the road and flipped my car. No one was hurt....but I then immediately woke up.

My roomie was already up. I told her about the dream. Now she had "experienced" my dreams before - but wasn't "into" them as much as I was/understood. This time she said we gonna pray right now. We did. Later when I went to pick up two friends - I was about to "tell them" the dream. I then cut myself off. One of them was a big "skeptic" and at times would tease me about my "woo-woo dreamy-power...." Anyway.....

I cut my own self off and didn't say the dream. I just pulled over on the side of the road and we all PRAYED IN THE CAR. We started up again on the road to church. About 5 minutes into the drive a white truck (King Cab) came barreling down the road behind us. I saw him coming and got all the way over on the shoulder of the road. He still CAME VERY CLOSE TO HITTING US. So close that I believe he "bumped" my rear view window on my driver's side.... *(I remember him "bumping" something...but this was almost 10 years ago - and one of the few dreams/interpretations/"come true's" that I didn't "write down" in my journal).

I stopped the car on the side of the road and was about to cry. My friends in the car were upset and were wondering what was wrong with me. My roomie told them of the dream. WE ALL PRAYED AGAIN.

...and I am not a fruity nut. I am however a person that is blessed w/ the GIFT OF DREAMS.

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 08:16 AM

I don't see why people are getting bent out of shape about someone sharing a dream that someone else had... we are not talking about telling the future per se, or a consistent report of "dreams," but one dream..... thus far.... and time will tell with regards to it....

Watchbird I disagree with your interpretation that the passage in Joel was fulfilled at pentecost... John the Revelator was having dreams and visions as he wrote on Patmos...and it may still happen today here and now.....

Posted by: denisebyers Aug 17 2006, 08:26 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 16 2006, 10:31 PM)
>
> thank you Re'..... I had a dream when my wife was pregnant.... we didn't know the gender of the baby..... the ultrasound didn't show because the baby was turned in a position where you couldn't see..... I had a dream of a little girl, head full of braids, giggling while sitting on a couch.... I told my wife... we did not get another ultrasound, but the baby was a girl..... born with a head full of hair... and eventually that hair was braided... and she often sat on the couch giggling.....
>
> whut?

Neat Clay! On both of my children, I was impressed if he or she was gonna be a boy or girl, then, I had a dream on what they looked like at around 3 years, and sure enough, they looked exactly like they did in the dream! I dreamed my girl looked more like her dad with his eyebrows and blonde hair, and my boy looked like me with darker blonde hair, and my dimples! I thought it was so amazing!

Posted by: Denny Aug 17 2006, 09:35 AM

Maybe some Adventist only believe in dreams and visions between the era of 0B.C and EGW's death after that God stopped using this method....unless if was for Sabbath School mission reports of headen lands...... whut?

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Aug 17 2006, 11:37 AM)
>
> ...Watchbird, I think the aversion towards anything "extraordinary" explains the pentecostal stamp you had on Roger Morneau in another thread. I can see that having the practise of doubting any miracles not read about in the bible or in Ellens biography being from God would lead to such a result.
>
> I find the all out denial and/or rejection of modern day prophecy strange for a denomination that counts a prophet as one of the key founders and at that have modern day prophecy as a fundamental belief (nr 18) and even calls it an identifying mark of itself. Of course one should not accept everything anyone claims to have recieved in a dream or vision or even that anything anyone acctually have recieved in a dream or a vision is from God. But there are sound guidelines for identifying a prophet from God found in the bible that ought to be used, as contrary to shouting 'wolf' at the mere mention of "I have a dream.."

> ...
>
> oh, ehm,
>
> at the mere mention of "I have a dream from God".
>
> Ralph made a good point conserning the contents of the messages. If the message said that linda left danny and the reality was the very opposite then that would be reason to step back and take a break.
>
> I wonder if part of the devils plan to decieve if possible even the elect may be to make sdas so affraid of anything "pentecostal" that in hard times, God wont be able to fullfill any of his promises without being accused of being the devil. Similar to when Jesus healed a man on the sabbath and was accused of doing the healing by the power of belzebub. If a man would walk into an SDA church this next sabbath being blind and then walk out of the church seeing, lots of church members would (very likely) be freaked out and if this happened at the right/wrong(, depending on how one choose to see it) church the person/s involved in praying for the blind could be facing church dicipline (I believe, havent acctaully seen this happen).

TA we claim God can do anyhing then we try to limit Him- so sad yet we say we have the truth well ts time to stop having and start practising...... perhaps that is why some of Adventist services are so :motionally dead and very high church we afraid of our own God given emotions, of our own shadows- ve would probably have put King David out the door with his emotional self.....

> QUOTE(September @ Aug 17 2006, 04:06 AM)
>
> I don't question the validity of the other letter Barb wrote...but I have to say that the post about the dreams did give me pause. I'm not saying that God doesn't give people visions, but we have no idea who that woman is--or anything about her. I also felt that the part about Linda being bigger than Danny is not consistant with what God calls His people to be--humble servents. Linda is and has always been a humble servent of God's--and I think that we need to be careful when subscribing to visions that someone has that actually sound quite prideful. Am I making any sense? Also, on a side note, a pheonix is actually a cultic symbol--and I'd have to ask my husband for more details on that--but that is a comment he made after reading the dreams post.
>
> I also believe that for all Linda has gone through, God has a plan and a purpose for her life whose effects will be far reaching to hurting souls for Christ. It will be a ministry that only she can fulfill--just like each of us has a purpose that only we can fulfill. The journeys that we go through--the pains, the joys, etc., all make up who we are in Christ--His molding and making of us for a greater purpose. It's usually a quiet calling--an inner conviction as God speaks to us and enables us to do His bidding.

:o how real do you think the animals were in Daniel's and John's vision think you can see them at your ocal zoo?

Posted by: summertime Aug 17 2006, 09:38 AM

You can draw your own conclusions about the dreams. So far everything has come true. I believe we are seeing the fulfillment of the "phoenix" dream right now. With the use of the internet, news travels fast these days. I believe it's time to restore Linda to her rightful position! The Lord did not bless this woman with 20 years of experience running a network, for her to be idle, and do nothing with her God-given talent.
[/quote]

I want to thank Barbara for taking the time to share with us a letter which told us of her experience at 3ABN. Her letter is first hand, honest, and encouraging. The dreams of the lady is beyond my understanding although I do not discount them as being actual--just what they mean is beyond my understanding at this point. We all need to pray that the purpose of her dreams will be brought to light in the way that God would have them to be used. But I see that Barbara is right that Linda is being restored to her rightful position---a lady who will be delivered from the ugly, untruthful stories that have been told about her. Freeing her from these falsities is restoring Linda to her rightful position. She will, as the truth is told, be respected, loved and able to work for the Lord in helping others who have walked in her shoes ---she will let them know that God cares and will, in the end, redeem those who have been abused and persecuted. Whatever the Lord has in store for Linda will restore her rightful position that will eventually lead her to God's kingdom. Sometime greatness is not in the eyes of the world but in the eyes of God. The rightful position for us all is down on our knees asking God to lead us to where He would have us go.

Posted by: princessdi Aug 17 2006, 09:46 AM

Amen, amen, and amen!!!! What is wrong with all of you who are doubting this? Every last one of you believes God used dreams and visions to communicate with His people right up to EGW and the founding of this church, and then you made doctrine from them. Do ya' think He quit after that? So Danny said He had a vision. Do we not believe that satan will also send great signs and wonders as part of our own prophecy doctrine? How mmany times have you ALL heard that satan has a counterfeit for everything God made? Just because you don't see this as a solution? Have you really asked God how He wants this to paly out, or have you just determined who it is going to be? Now, it that is too penecostal for you then I am sorry, because obviously God IS penecostal in the way He communicates to His people. If it is a choice between SDA church doctrine and God's way, you know church doctrine is just out of luck! How can you argue with scripture? God plainly says in the last days this is how he will communicate with His people. These ARE the last days people!

> QUOTE(IMM @ Aug 16 2006, 08:08 PM)
>
