> And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit. Joel 2:28, 29
>
> Repeated again in Acts 2:17, 18

Posted by: September Aug 17 2006, 10:35 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 17 2006, 11:46 AM)
>
> Amen, amen, and amen!!!! What is wrong with all of you who are doubting this? Every last one of you believes God used dreams and visions to communicate with His people right up to EGW and the founding of this church, and then you made doctrine from them. Do ya' think He quit after that? So Danny said He had a vision. Do we not believe that satan will also send great signs and wonders as part of our own prophecy doctrine? How mmany times have you ALL heard that satan has a counterfeit for everything God made? Just because you don't see this as a solution? Have you really asked God how He wants this to paly out, or have you just determined who it is going to be? Now, it that is too penecostal for you then I am sorry, because obviously God IS penecostal in the way He communicates to His people. If it is a choice between SDA church doctrine and God's way, you know church doctrine is just out of luck! How can you argue with scripture? God plainly says in the last days this is how he will communicate with His people. These ARE the last days people!

I don't think the issue is whether or not the Lord gives people dreams, visions or what have you. The issue is the validity of this dream this woman had. Someone earlier broke the dream down and made some very good points. The question I have then is when God gives dreams, does He contradict His own scripture? Does He lie? See, to me the dream wreaked of pride--"I will raise Linda up as a Pheonix--nothing Danny can do can stop her, etc.," (my own paraphrase at the moment). To me that makes it sound like God is solely dependent upon 3ABN and/or Linda to bring billions to Him--which is not the case. God uses things like 3ABN, but he also uses us as individuals to proclaim the truth of a loving Saviour. And when He rises her up like a Pheonix, will that put her in a position for people to worship her? Think about it. Danny raised himself up through 3ABN. Now those around him are caling him God's annointed--the chosen one, etc., Did God raise him up to that height so that people all over the globe can think that he's the face of Adventism? I honestly believe that Danny raised himself up all by himself--he stands upon a self made pedistal and refuses to be moved. That's not a God thing folks!

I believe that God will restore Linda--that God is healing her--that God will use her in mighty ways. And her testimony will bring many to Christ because of what she's gone through--not because someone MADE her larger than life.

> QUOTE
>
> "3ABN will be the instrument I will use to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior, but when the redeemed get to heaven and search for their 3ABN family, they will discover that they are only ashes under their feet."

Honest question here: When we get to Heaven are we going to be searching for family and loved ones--or will their fate be understood before we get there? Using the 'dream's logic' above, there's going to be a bunch of saints very bewildered, sad, confused, etc., in Heaven. The Bible tells us that God will wipe all tears from our eyes--the former things are passed away and God makes all things new. I cannot imagine that God would give a vision to someone to make them think--and now many others--that those at 3ABN are going to be lost. Only God knows their fate--and yes, if Danny and others continue in their behavior, unrepentant...well, then it's still up to God. So is each of our own 'fates' if you will.

Again, the Pheonix is a pagan symbol as was already pointed out. I have a real problem believing that God would speak to someone using a metaphor like that--when it could have been said another way--consistant with scripture and truth.

I'm sure this woman is a very dedicated Christian woman--who did not ask to have this dream. But we must prove all things--hold fast to that which is true.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 17 2006, 11:01 AM

Well to add some fuel to the discussions. When Joshua said that the sun stood still, did it really? And yet he was mightily used of God and his record in the Scriptures is supposed to have been given to 'holy men who were moved of the Holy Ghost'. And yet that is how the story is written in the Bible. The story does not say that the earth stood still at all, although, scientifically/physically that is what really happened.

What about the case of the raven bringing food for Elijah when the raven is an unclean animal that God says touch not, taste not, handle not?

Can we ALWAYS presume to understand the way that God works? And when we are checking the Scriptures to see God's modus operandi, do we check the unusual happenings as well, like those that I have quoted above?

Again I want to reiterate that I understand the need for caution but let us not be too concrete in our thinking that we prevent God from working as He would like, as happened at the GC Session in 1888.

Posted by: September Aug 17 2006, 11:14 AM

I can appreciate that point about the raven feeding Elijah...but I still have to take issue with the whole dream being full of pride--placing someone in the position of being risen up...on a pedistal...so people can worship? Also the ashes under our feet in heaven part doesn't set well with me.

But I'm willing to learn and perhaps there are things I don't see about this

---

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 11:34 AM

Read Psalms and listen how David rails against his enemies.... look at Samson's final prayer... he prays to God that he get his strength back.... so he can do what? KILL those who put his eyes out..... what is that?

Posted by: princessdi Aug 17 2006, 11:45 AM

Let's not forget all the texts where God says how He will restore and bring down enemies of His people. He told Abraham that He will bless those who bless him(Abraham) and curse those who curse him. That is not pride, that is God. He is the only who can talk like, because He can and He just is.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 09:34 AM)
>
> Read Psalms and listen how David rails against his enemies.... look at Samson's final prayer... he prays to God that he get his strength back.... so he can do what? KILL those who put his eyes out..... what is that?

Posted by: watchbird Aug 17 2006, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 08:16 AM) ☐
>
> I don't see why people are getting bent out of shape about someone sharing a dream that someone else had... we are not talking about telling the future per se, or a consistent report of "dreams," but one dream..... thus far.... and time will tell with regards to it....
>
> Watchbird I disagree with your interpretation that the passage in Joel was fulfilled at pentecost... John the Revelator was having dreams and visions as he wrote on Patmos...and it may still happen today here and now.....

Actually, what I said was that the New Testament writer said this was being fulfilled at Pentecost. I did not say that this was the only legitimate application of it.

But what is interestingas to the direction this thread has taken is that while we have been making little pious "clucking" sounds when Sister told us about the Pentecostal influences at 3ABN, giving several things as examples... and almost "with one accord the congregation said 'AMEN'"..... when I ventured to point out that "dreams and visions" were one more example of Pentecostal belief that I consider errant ..... when used as Pentecostals do ..... ☒ ...... Oops .... that seems to be one of those "sacred cows" you were saying that BSDA loves to "barbeque" .... ☒ rofl

I think I'll go into "lurk mode" for a while ..... ☒ sn ☒ sofa1.gif

---

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 17 2006, 12:08 PM) ☐
>
> Actually, what I said was that the New Testament writer said this was being fulfilled at Pentecost. I did not say that this was the only legitimate application of it.
>
> But what is interestingas to the direction this thread has taken is that while we have been making little pious "clucking" sounds when Sister told us about the Pentecostal influences at 3ABN, giving several things as examples... and almost "with one accord the congregation said 'AMEN'"..... when I ventured to point out that "dreams and visions" were one more example of Pentecostal belief that I consider errant ..... when used as Pentecostals do ..... ☒ ...... Oops .... that seems to be one of those "sacred cows" you were saying that BSDA loves to "barbeque" .... ☒ rofl
>
> I think I'll go into "lurk mode" for a while ..... ☒ sn ☒ sofa1.gif

just cause folks believe dreams and visions can occur don't make those folks pentecostal..... and there are plenty of cows needing to be barbequed.... i just think you are wrong in this case..... and time will tell as far as the dream shared is concerned.....

as the old saying goes.... when the only tool you have is a hammer, pretty soon everything starts looking like a nail.....

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 12:54 PM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 17 2006, 12:01 PM)
>
> Well to add some fuel to the discussions. When Joshua said that the sun stood still, did it really? And yet he was mightily used of God and his record in the Scriptures is supposed to have been given to 'holy men who were moved of the Holy Ghost'. And yet that is how the story is written in the Bible. The story does not say that the earth stood still at all, although, scientifically/physically that is what really happened.

I have a question for you, Jvat:
When you speak of the relationship of the earth to the sun at the beginning of the day, do you say, "The sun has risen" or "The sunrise is beautiful"? Or do you say, 'The earth has turned" and "The earth's turning is revealing a beatuful section of space"?

If you don't speak of the earth's turning, but the sun rising and setting, why do you expect Joshua to speak that way? He was using ordinary speech addressing the apparent movement of the sun, just as we do today. He wasn't attempting to make a scientific statement any more than we do when we speak of sunsets.

> QUOTE
>
> Can we ALWAYS presume to understand the way that God works? And when we are checking the Scriptures to see God's modus operandi, do we check the unusual happenings as well, like those that I have quoted above?

God's ways are far beyond our ways, but that's really not the point. What I pointed out about the dreams presented is that they violate several principles of God's dealings with us. And, what's more, they include the very kind of things/temptations that Satan is known for. God has given us sufficient evidence in Scripture of His way of working that we need not be deceived any more than Eve needed to be deceived.

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 01:38 PM

First of all, I want to thank Barbara for sharing these dreams of the woman who phoned her. They are, indeed, relevant.

However, as you folks have no doubt noted, I don't think they're "relevant" because they are necessarily from God. I think they give us a glimpse that we are dealing not with earthly powers, but with spiritual "principalities and powers."

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 01:17 PM)

> just cause folks believe dreams and visions can occur don't make those folks pentecostal.....

he problem is not so much believing in dreams and visions, but believing unconditionally that reams are from God -- especially if they seem to predict what we want to see happen.

od gave us brains and discernment for a reason. The problem with charismatic phenomena is that hey bypass our reasoning powers. And the experiences are enticing ... as was that original tree in a arden ...

> QUOTE
>
> and there are plenty of cows needing to be barbequed.... i just think you are wrong in this case..... and time will tell as far as the dream shared is concerned.....

re you serious, Clay?? Are you saying that if things happen more or less as the dreams redicted, that that proves that the dreams were from God?

he prediction of the witch of Endor to Saul came true. Does that prove that God spoke through the itch?

urely we need to have a better basis for judging dreams and visions whether or not they come true.

analyzed the dreams to indicate why I do not believe that they're the kind of dreams that God uses. erhaps I'm wrong in my analysis. If so, please show me my error. (The dreams coming true proves othing one way or another. Neither does the dreams not coming true. After all, we could argue that hey were "conditional prophecies" from God.)

don't know whether it's good for Linda to be reinstated at 3ABN. I don't know whether it's even good or 3ABN to continue. I do know that God knows, and I do know that He does not do anything to ncourage pride and self-focus. Being in the public eye in a high position is a very dangerous place, piritually. Few people can handle it. Maybe Linda can, after what she went through.

n the other hand, perhaps a network without "stars" -- like HopeTV -- may be better for all oncerned. The trouble is that people want stars! They want human heroes. That was part of the uccess formula of 3ABN...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 17 2006, 02:57 PM

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 03:04 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 17 2006, 02:38 PM)
>
> First of all, I want to thank Barbara for sharing these dreams of the woman who phoned her. They are, indeed, relevant.
>
> However, as you folks have no doubt noted, I don't think they're "relevant" because they are necessarily from God. I think they give us a glimpse that we are dealing not with earthly powers, but with spiritual "principalities and powers."
>
> The problem is not so much believing in dreams and visions, but believing unconditionally that dreams are from God -- especially if they seem to predict what we want to see happen.

> God gave us brains and discernment for a reason. The problem with charismatic phenomena is that they bypass our reasoning powers. And the experiences are enticing ... as was that original tree in a garden ...
> Are you serious, Clay?? Are you saying that if things happen more or less as the dreams predicted, that that proves that the dreams were from God?
>
> The prediction of the witch of Endor to Saul came true. Does that prove that God spoke through the witch?
>
> Surely we need to have a better basis for judging dreams and visions whether or not they come true.
>
> I analyzed the dreams to indicate why I do not believe that they're the kind of dreams that God uses. Perhaps I'm wrong in my analysis. If so, please show me my error. (The dreams coming true proves nothing one way or another. Neither does the dreams not coming true. After all, we could argue that they were "conditional prophecies" from God.)
>
> I don't know whether it's good for Linda to be reinstated at 3ABN. I don't know whether it's even good for 3ABN to continue. I do know that God knows, and I do know that He does not do anything to encourage pride and self-focus. Being in the public eye in a high position is a very dangerous place, spiritually. Few people can handle it. Maybe Linda can, after what she went through.
>
> On the other hand, perhaps a network without "stars" -- like HopeTV -- may be better for all concerned. The trouble is that people want stars! They want human heroes. That was part of the success formula of 3ABN...

have not said that just because dreams come true they are from God, however you raise a serious oint, that being is satan able to give us a "dream?" That would be a generic "us" as in christians.... he example of Saul does not count because Saul sought out a medium to speak to the dead... so that s clearly apples and oranges....

Ve are reluctant to admit that this issue scares us... yet at the same time we talk about the Holy pirit living within us, speaking to us and guiding us... interesting conundrum.....

s for what God will tell us and if its consistent... God told Abraham to offer Isaac as a sacrifice, owever we all know that God does not condone killing.... so then how could he ask Abraham to do omething he does not condone... seems inconsistent....

s I said, time will tell.... it always does....

Posted by: justme Aug 17 2006, 03:20 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 04:04 PM)
>
> I have not said that just because dreams come true they are from God, however you raise a serious point, that being is satan able to give us a "dream?" That would be a generic "us" as in christians.... the example of Saul does not count because Saul sought out a medium to speak to the dead... so that is clearly apples and oranges....
>
> We are reluctant to admit that this issue scares us... yet at the same time we talk about the Holy Spirit living within us, speaking to us and guiding us... interesting conundrum.....
>
> As for what God will tell us and if its consistent... God told Abraham to offer Isaac as a sacrifice, > however we all know that God does not condone killing.... so then how could he ask Abraham to do something he does not condone... seems inconsistent....

>
> As I said, time will tell.... it always does....

emember that Abraham was quite familiar with the voice of God. He knew it was God speaking to im. Tho' there had been no precedent for Abraham to draw upon to guide his own experience, he new the voice of the God with Whom he held constant conversations. As Jesus said, "My sheep know y voice". That was the same God with Whom Abraham spoke long before, yes it was the One Whom e later get to know as Jesus. We CAN Know His Voice, If we learn first what HE has written and then ow He wants to apply it to each life. The Bible is written for EVERYONE. Personal applications are pplied individually, but they do not contradict what is written.

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 03:27 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Aug 17 2006, 04:20 PM)
>
> Remember that Abraham was quite familiar with the voice of God. He knew it was God speaking to Him. Tho' there had been no precedent for Abraham to draw upon to guide his own experience, he knew the voice of the God with Whom he held constant conversations. As Jesus said, "My sheep know my voice". That was the same God with Whom Abraham spoke long before, yes it was the One Whom we later get to know as Jesus. We CAN Know His Voice, If we learn first what HE has written and then how He wants to apply it to each life. The Bible is written for EVERYONE. Personal applications are applied individually, but they do not contradict what is written.

braham was told something that contradicted the principles of God..... but because Abraham knew od's voice it was not a problem.... the bible was written for everyone? that be another thread....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 17 2006, 03:29 PM

When in a "court trial" one would say that "coincidences" add up to equal evidence and a "valid" verdict.

IF the dream has too many "coincidences" and they began to add up....

One can see that the dream was also valid.

Is that wrong reasoning? I think it's valid....

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 03:34 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 17 2006, 03:29 PM)
>
> When in a "court trial" one would say that "coincidences" add up to equal evidence and a "valid" verdict.

> IF the dream has too many "coincidences" and they began to add up....
>
> One can see that the dream was also valid.
>
> Is that wrong reasoning? I think it's valid....
>
> sn

olks who are afraid of dreams will say, where did that dream come from, God or the devil..... and like said, is it possible for the devil to give christians dreams? If so, let's pack it up now cause we are one for.... hellbound even....

Posted by: Jvat Aug 17 2006, 03:37 PM

Just me, hold it there, as we say over here. Just a minute. Run that by me one more time. PDR is questioning how comes God asked Abraham to do something that was contrary to his law, the ten commandments? And you tell us that Abraham knew God's voice that was why he was able to do something that seemed forbidden by God in His ten commandments? So what about others who know God's voice today and are willing to let HIM lead in what SEEMS (may not really be so) contradictory to HIS Word?

Just clarify for me, please. I am a little lost here.

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 03:43 PM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 17 2006, 03:37 PM)
>
> Just me, hold it there, as we say over here. Just a minute. Run that by me one more time. PDR is questioning how comes God asked Abraham to do something that was contrary to his law, the ten commandments? And you tell us that Abraham knew God's voice that was why he was able to do something that seemed forbidden by God in His ten commandments? So what about others who know God's voice today and are willing to let HIM lead in what SEEMS (may not really be so) contradictory to HIS Word?
>
> Just clarify for me, please. I am a little lost here.

kay Jvat remember though, the 10 commandments had not been given when Abraham and God were ialoguing... and "His word" is always open to interpretation....

Posted by: Jvat Aug 17 2006, 03:50 PM

Maybe we should not hijack the thread to discuss the validity of dreams and visions but instead perhaps a new thread should be started probably in the Adventist Theology section to discuss this interesting topic at length?

Inga, two points. Firstly, remember that at the time around when the Bible was first being understood, people thought that the world was flat, right? Saying that the sun stood still was not just a metaphorical statement, you know? The people at the time really believed that the sun moved, which is different from us today. Yet God through HIS Holy Spirit did not choose to correct the wrong thinking at the time. And of course people would have used the Bible then for proof of their belief.

Is there not too much store being put in the words "Rising like a Phoenix?" Isn't perhaps that not just another way of God telling Linda that she would be vindicated and like Job would be restored a hundred fold? Who says that we really understand what the lady's dream meant? Even now we still have difficulty understanding all of Daniel's prophecies such as the 1135 days prophecy. There is not consensus on what that prophecy in Daniel really means. Correct me if I am wrong. Maybe as the unraveling of the dream will be revealed, we would better be able to understand what the dream really means for Linda.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 17 2006, 03:58 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 17 2006, 03:34 PM)
>
> folks who are afraid of dreams will say, where did that dream come from, God or the devil..... and like I said, is it possible for the devil to give christians dreams? If so, let's pack it up now cause we are done for.... hellbound even....

What is the mechanism for giving someone a "dream"? Is it possible for Satan to tempt Christians? Is it possible for him to put thoughts in their minds that they did not originate themselves? (Something like having a radio receiver in your head and Satan can "broadcast" to it?

If Satan has any ability to communicate thoughts to us, then I don't see any reason why he could not also beam some of those things to us while we are sleeping. And I see no reason why him being able to do that would make anyone "hellbound".

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 07:34 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 17 2006, 04:58 PM)
>
> What is the mechanism for giving someone a "dream"? Is it possible for Satan to tempt Christians? Is it possible for him to put thoughts in their minds that they did not originate themselves? (Something like having a radio receiver in your head and Satan can "broadcast" to it?
>
> If Satan has any ability to communicate thoughts to us, then I don't see any reason why he could not also beam some of those things to us while we are sleeping. And I see no reason why him being able to do that would make anyone "hellbound".

those are the 64k dollar questions..... does he really put thoughts in our heads? Or does he provide a diversion that grabs our attention? and then the thoughts evolve from there? I don't know.... I would like to think that our brains are off-limits to him but he can try to attract our attention all he wants...

I say hellbound because I see patients all the time who cannot get rest from the voices they hear inside their heads, or the paranoid thoughts that are always present.... they are most miserable.....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 17 2006, 07:50 PM

For the record...my questioning has nothin' to do with Abraham or anyone else. What my questioning has to deal with is the fact that it seems that people don't believe that CHRISTians have the GIFT OF DREAMS that can be interpreted....

That's what my comments within this thread have been speaking to. The woman that had the dream could have this GIFT and she is being torn apart when it should be just left alone.

If the dream comes true then.... it could be fact that the "GIFT OF DREAMS" was active within.

If the dream does not come true then....it could be fact that the "GIFT OF DREAMS" was not active within.

That's all.

Posted by: Clay Aug 17 2006, 07:52 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 17 2006, 08:50 PM)
>
> For the record...my questioning has nothin' to do with Abraham or anyone else. What my questioning has to deal with is the fact that it seems that people don't believe that CHRISTians have the GIFT OF DREAMS that can be interpreted....
>
> That's what my comments within this thread have been speaking to. The woman that had the dream could have this GIFT and she is being torn apart when it should be just left alone.
>
> If the dream comes true then.... it could be fact that the "GIFT OF DREAMS" was active within.
>
> If the dream does not come true then....it could be fact that the "GIFT OF DREAMS" was not active within.
>
> That's all.

understood, not trying to suggest that it is not a gift..... but then again it is apparent that not all share that opinion...

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 09:08 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 17 2006, 08:50 PM)
>
> The woman that had the dream could have this GIFT and she is being torn apart when it should be just left alone.

Re, I think you seriously misunderstood!

I have not noticed anyone tearing the woman apart!

I have taken the messages/dreams apart to examine whether or not they follow the pattern of God's communication or possibly that of another source. This is no reflection whatsoever on the woman in question any more than my being the subject of Satan's attacks is a reflection on me. (After all, Satan attacked Christ Himself. It did not make Him less our Savior or even in the slghtest sinful.)

We are to test the spirits and not to accept any apparently supernatural experiences as though they are obviously from God. Demons can work miracles as well. (Otoh, we view something as supernatural when there are perfectly natural explanations, if we but knew them.)

I'm also wondering what you mean by "it should be just left alone."

Do you mean that we should not discuss it at all?

Or do you mean that we should just accept the dreams as being God-given?

> QUOTE
>
> If the dream comes true then.... it could be fact that the "GIFT OF DREAMS" was active within.

I know about psychic powers. (I mentioned a friend with such powers.) I know about the occasional dreams the presage something in the future. But I know nothing of "the gift of dreams." I'm interested in the background of this terminology because it is foreign to me and I know of no biblical basis for it. (The Bible records very few such dreams in the four thousand or so years it covers -- dreams given by God to individuals for a specific purpose, but no "gift of dreams.") But perhaps this is not the right thread for it ...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Aug 17 2006, 09:15 PM

I think we are missing the bigger picture here. Whether or not these dreams, voices, impressions were from God (as there are numerous accounts) or from man's own ambition (in which there are many more accounts), the point is we are still working on the same Linda vs. Danny struggle.

I will say that I have worked with both of them for many years and I can honestly say that one is as bad as the other - for their management skills leave much to be desired. I have witnessed underhanded dealings and poor behavior from both Linda and Dan.

I DO believe 3ABN was brought forth by God.
I DO believe it is bringing people to Christ.

I DO NOT believe it is being managed in a christian manner.
I DO NOT believe that Linda's return would solve many problems.

Posted by: calvin Aug 17 2006, 09:19 PM

I don't see anybody tearing this women apart either. None of us know anything about this woman. I am not going to take your word for it that you had a prophetic dream from the Lord.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 17 2006, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 17 2006, 02:38 PM) ☐

> First of all, I want to thank Barbara for sharing these dreams of the woman who phoned her. They are, indeed, relevant.
>
> However, as you folks have no doubt noted, I don't think they're "relevant" because they are necessarily from God. I think they give us a glimpse that we are dealing not with earthly powers, but with spiritual "principalities and powers."
>
> The problem is not so much believing in dreams and visions, but believing unconditionally that dreams are from God -- especially if they seem to predict what we want to see happen.
>
> God gave us brains and discernment for a reason. The problem with charismatic phenomena is that they bypass our reasoning powers. And the experiences are enticing ... as was that original tree in a garden ...
> Are you serious, Clay?? Are you saying that if things happen more or less as the dreams predicted, that that proves that the dreams were from God?
>
> I analyzed the dreams to indicate why I do not believe that they're the kind of dreams that God uses. Perhaps I'm wrong in my analysis. If so, please show me my error. (The dreams coming true proves nothing one way or another. Neither does the dreams not coming true. After all, we could argue that they were "conditional prophecies" from God.)
>
> On the other hand, perhaps a network without "stars" -- like HopeTV -- may be better for all concerned. The trouble is that people want stars! They want human heroes. That was part of the success formula of 3ABN...

After reading through 4 pages of posts (so far) tonight, I just want to cry. My heart is heavy at the responses to what I have posted.

Please let me clarify a few things that may, or may not help some of you.

1) In our English language many words have the same meaning. For instance "Linda left Danny" does in fact have more than one meaning. Linda DID in fact, physically leave the house that week in May. (If you will refer to Dr. Abrahamsen's letter, it will give you more detail on the mental abuse Linda was living with).

Was Linda the one asking for a divorce? NO! Did she stay in that house WAYYYYYYYY longer than I would have? YES she did. There are many different ways to give someone the boot.

2) I once needed a massage so I booked the service at the recommendation of a chiropractors office. After meeting the woman (who was very nice and genuinely sweet) it was obvious that she was very "new age" by the way she acted and the suggestions she made for "guided imagry", etcetera, etcetera. NOW, if this woman had said to me out of the blue, I had a dream about you and told me the exact same dreams that I had recounted here, you would have never heard about them.

I listened (to the woman that really did have the dreams) with a healthy dose of skepticism. I observed her language, her church committment and her love for serving the Lord. We have talked many times now, over the phone, off and on the last two years.

If she was anything BUT what I personally have discerned her to be, you never would have heard of these things. I was putting her through the "test the spirits" verse from the Bible myself. I realize that you have not gotten to speak to her personally, I know that many false "spirits" will present themselves in the end, and I know that no one should take anyone elses word for anything these days. But I will say that I am very choosey about my friends, and this woman has become a friend over the past year. We have prayed too many times and shed too many tears together and she has become a dear sweet friend. You can judge me if you want to, concerning picking my friends, but I have seen her heart. And "yes" I've always been willing to go out on a limb for someone that I thought was right. Call me crazy, or call me red-headded -- can't help myself once I'm convicted about someone.

3)People keep making comments about the part where it says "She will be bigger and better than she could ever imagine" and trying to imply that God would not ever work in that fashion. Scripture says that "a small branch of my planting will become a mighty one" and "those that have mercy on them, shall lead them". The Lord WILL accomplish His work through the humble. They must be men and women of prayer, thanksgiving and praise. They must be truthful and full of mercy for others.

God knows that Linda has no desire to be made into an idol and worshipped. If we are worshipping our leaders, then "shame on us". Don't think for a minute that God WON'T have leaders. Not everyone can follow and not everyone can lead, BUT EVERYONE CAN BE USED!

4) To say that the "spirit of this woman is not from God" because the words spoken to her referred to the Phoenix (a pagan symbol) is a very limiting statement. Aren't we studying Daniel right now in our Sabbath School lessons? The VERY dream that was given to the king and then revealed to Daniel for interpretation was of a "pagan idol". Was that dream "not from God" because the symbol used wasn't a dove, or a cross, or even a church, maybe? Maybe God used something that was familiar in their time and place in history. Just a thought. What about the beasts of revelation? Dragon-like beasts with multiple heads "sounds" pentecostal by some of the standards being written out this evening.

5) What was revealed in these dreams is sad, but I know that I serve a big God, with big plans and He has a hope and a future for all of us. I hope and pray that Danny will truly humble his heart and ask forgivness from those that he has murdered publicly. With that said, I also think that their are consequences for his actions, and it's my own personal opinion that he should be replaced by a Godly leader.

I said it last night, and I will say it again -- I think that Wintley Phipps is on that board for a reason and he truly is a man of God. His life shouts it from the highest mountain top. He is a man of much prayer, he has a humble spirit and he would never let people worship him. I've never seen him bask in any glory -- Pastor Phipps always gives the glory to God!

I'm getting tired and I need to go to bed now. I know that I haven't answered everyone's questions, but there is always tomorrow. Please be gentle with me, I may be red-headed, but I'm also extremely tender-hearted. Please pray for me that God will give me wisdom to answer each one with grace, for I would never want to hurt any precious soul.

Your Sister,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 17 2006, 10:12 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 17 2006, 10:08 PM)
>
> Re, I think you seriously misunderstood!
>
> I have not noticed anyone tearing the woman apart!
>
> I have taken the messages/dreams apart to examine whether or not they follow the pattern of God's communication or possibly that of another source. This is no reflection whatsoever on the woman in question any more than my being the subject of Satan's attacks is a reflection on me. (After all, Satan attacked Christ Himself. It did not make Him less our Savior or even in the slightest sinful.)

> We are to test the spirits and not to accept any apparently supernatural experiences as though they are obviously from God. Demons can work miracles as well. (Otoh, we view something as supernatural when there are perfectly natural explanations, if we but knew them.)
>
> I'm also wondering what you mean by "it should be just left alone."
>
> Do you mean that we should not discuss it at all?
>
> Or do you mean that we should just accept the dreams as being God-given?
> I know about psychic powers. (I mentioned a friend with such powers.) I know about the occasional dreams the presage something in the future. But I know nothing of "the gift of dreams." I'm interested in the background of this terminology because it is foreign to me and I know of no biblical basis for it. (The Bible records very few such dreams in the four thousand or so years it covers -- dreams given by God to individuals for a specific purpose, but no "gift of dreams.") But perhaps this is not the right thread for it ...

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 17 2006, 10:19 PM)
>
> I don't see anybody tearing this women apart either. None of us know anything about this woman. I am not going to take your word for it that you had a prophetic dream from the Lord.

didn't mean that it should be "discussed at all"...but to use the name "Pentecostialism" - (which nany SDA's already view as the debil's children....), "familiar spirits", no one answering the statement ıbout when the Pastor says, "I dreamed..." or "I was shown that I should preach...." and the straight ut "unbelief" - before even the "maybe's" or "it's possibles" - is what to me seems like she is being torn up" without anyone trying to see if it was true or not....

'es...we are to "test"...but this woman is not claiming to be EG White. She had a dream about the anny/Linda saga. When I saw....let it go.... what I mean is it does not have to be "broken down" ıow....why? In due time if it is truly of GOD it will prove itself.

TW: the Phoneix is of Egyptian mythology - Not celtic...
ıttp://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Phoenix_%28mythology%29
ıttp://www.answers.com/topic/phoenix-2 ven GOD used images in the dreams of his men....

jes fear that so many are lookin' at the fact that she had a "dream" and not the content of it to the xtent that she is being shut dow.

f my wording seemed in err to any of you I do apologize (I do that too ya know!) ..but I feel like ther things have been posted about Danny and the Funky Bunch and no one has jumped it like this voman - who seems to be speaking something with some truth to it....

Posted by: inga Aug 17 2006, 11:15 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 17 2006, 10:56 PM)
>
> After reading through 4 pages of posts (so far) tonight, I just want to cry. My heart is heavy at the responses to what I have posted.

Dear, dear Barbara -- please forgive me for not communicating more clearly and sensitively!

What some of us wrote about the content of your friends dreams is absolutely no reflection on her character or Christian commitment. I'm sure she's a very committed Christian woman. I trust your judgment on that. (See more below.)

However, even after your explanation, I find the content of the dreams to be out of character with God's ways of dealing as I understand them. (Please understand that I also realize I may not have the correct understanding either.) As committed and dedicated Christians we are not guaranteed that Satan will leave us strictly alone and will not try to deceive us. As a matter of fact, he probably tries to deceive the sweet, trusting folks, because he figures it will more likely suceed. Thus being the object of Satan's attempt to deceive does not call anyone's character into question.

God designed that we shall be together in church relationship for the very purpose of very different personalities and temperaments associating with each other, so that the strengths of some may make up for the weaknesses of the others.

Being trusting is both a strength and a weakness. Being a bit skeptical is both a strength and a weakness. When we put the two together and examine things together, we are more likely able to see through the deceptions of Satan.

> QUOTE
>
> (snipped explanations of terms in the dream)
> If she was anything BUT what I personally have discerned her to be, you never would have heard of these things. I was putting her through the "test the spirits" verse from the Bible myself. I realize that you have not gotten to speak to her personally, I know that many false "spirits" will present themselves in the end, and I know that no one should take anyone elses word for anything these days. But I will say that I am very choosey about my friends, and this woman has become a friend over the past year. We have prayed too many times and shed too many tears together and she has become a dear sweet friend. You can judge me if you want to, concerning picking my friends, but I have seen her heart. And "yes" I've always been willing to go out on a limb for someone that I thought was right. Call me crazy, or call me red-headded -- can't help myself once I'm convicted about someone.

You have tested your friend's spirit and found her to be honest, reliable, and a committed Christian, and I believe you. I do not in any way question her integrity.

I do however, question whether or not the dreams are from God, and I shared my analysis based on my life experience as a mature Christian. (Again, even mature Christians can be wrong.)

If she were not reliable, there would have been no sense in sharing her dreams because she could have made them up, right?

As it is, I'm glad you shared. It gives me a sense of the warfare going on in the spiritual realm. Stand is busy trying to deceive the "very elect."

> QUOTE
>
> 4) To say that the "spirit of this woman is not from God"

I don't recall anyone saying such a thing. Certainly I didn't discuss "the spirit of this woman." I discussed the contents of the dreams she shared. That's not her spirit at all, but a spirit externtal to her -- whether it be God or Satan -- unless these are ordinary dreams arising from the subconscious, like most of our dreams.

Let's just leave the specific content of the dreams for a moment and assume that the dreams were from God.

For what purpose was this woman given these frightening dreams? What can she do about them? (The answer to this may affect the way I understand the issue.)

Why did God use unfamiliar language (Phoenix) when communicating with her? Does He not know what she can understand. Why did He use a symbol of a counterfeit religion when there was no context for it to make it meaninful/necessary?

Why would God point her to 3ABN as a tool to save "billions," when in previous messages He has told us that the last message of mercy to be given to the world will be a manifestation of the character of Christ in His people? (This can be demonstrated only in person, and through 3ABN the very opposite has been demonstrated on the screen.) Why did He point her to 3ABN, when in previous messages He told us that the last message would be shared in person by every individual sharing God's message with those He knows? (By the way, there is a great stirring among God's people, with many going to foreign lands to preach, thereby gaining courage to share their faith at home. Take a look at www.sharehim.org as one example.)

Frankly, I see a problem, because the messages would appear to perpetuate the problem of Laodicea -- a church that is asleep/i.e. inactive, with members expecting the pastors/evangelists or "the church" to do the job they ought to be doing. God gave each of us a personal job to do. Heis looking for individuals who will get involved in the sharing of God's last message. Of course, I could be wrong, but it is apparent that a number of other folks had the same uncomfortable feeling when they read the dreams. Not everyone can explain why they didn't sound right, and that's partly why I analyzed them. (I have an analytical mind (which is both a strength and a weakness).

By the way, Barbara, by what you shared, you are one who is involved, and I praise God for you. It almost seems as though your ministry was expanded because you no longer appear on 3ABN. You are doing more and different things. Mind you, I don't discount mass media like TV, and I think that it's a good thing -- in addition to face-to-face ministry, not instead of it. And 3ABN has provided us with an object lesson of what can happen when we neglect genuine face-to-face ministry and depend on mass media. In front of the camera people are essentially actors. Then, away from the camera, thy slip back into a very different persona. This is not how a Christian should function, in my opinion. The public presentation is, ideally, an extension of the real-life ministry. And if you get back on TV, that's just the way it will be for you.

Posted by: Ralph Aug 18 2006, 12:34 AM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 17 2006, 08:56 PM)
>
> Please be gentle with me, I may be red-headed, but I'm also extremely tender-hearted. Please pray for me that God will give me wisdom to answer each one with grace, for I would never want to hurt any precious soul.

Dear Barbara,

Rest assured that we are sensitive of your tender heart, and would not want to hurt you in any way.

hug.gif

When it comes to what you or I write -- now that is a different thing -- and some lively discussions can result. Your post brought up a subject that had not been fully discussed so there was quite a bit of discussion. ☒ tableta That is the only way we have of knowing each other's thoughts on the subject. In the end, each of us has to come to a conclusion that we are comfortable with.

Please don't attach yourself so closely to what you write that when we ask hard questions, that you feel that you or your friends are personally being attacked. That is not the case.

I hope you had a good night's sleep and feel God's blessing upon you as you enter a new day.

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 12:59 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Aug 17 2006, 10:15 PM)
>
> I think we are missing the bigger picture here. Whether or not these dreams, voices, impressions were from God (as there are numerous accounts) or from man's own ambition (in which there are many more accounts), the point is we are still working on the same Linda vs. Danny struggle.
>
> I will say that I have worked with both of them for many years and I can honestly say that one is as bad as the other - for their management skills leave much to be desired. I have witnessed underhanded dealings and poor behavior from both Linda and Dan. As for Barbara, I worked with her on numerous occasions and will take her version of the story with a grain of salt.
>
> I DO believe 3ABN was brought forth by God.
> I DO believe it is bringing people to Christ.
>
> I DO NOT believe it is being managed in a christian manner.
> I DO NOT believe that Linda's return would solve many problems.

what is it that you are taking with a grain of salt?

Posted by: Don Aug 18 2006, 04:43 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 16 2006, 08:45 PM)
>
> I'm sorry, Barb. I don't like to be the one to "rain on your parade". But I think we are venturing on to the same Pentecostal "enchanted ground" which is held at 3ABN, and to which I object on doctrinal grounds, when we start putting emphasis on dreams and visions.

It is one thing to "consider the vision". It is quite another thing to "interpret it." To report the vision is necessary for the community of faith. Now, unless a divine message explains these things, it is still time to wait and see. Those of us who believe in visions should not be upset if a skeptic should suggest we take a second look. God works through skeptics, as well.

Remember, God is in charge. He certainly wants his people to deal with injustice wherever it occurs, but sometimes it seems an impossible task. Insurmountable barriers are God's business. It is our task to do the best we can for Him.

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 05:45 AM

> QUOTE(Don @ Aug 18 2006, 04:43 AM)
>
> It is one thing to "consider the vision". It is quite another thing to "interpret it." To report the vision is necessary for the community of faith. Now, unless a divine message explains these things, it is still time to wait and see. Those of us who believe in visions should not be upset if a skeptic should suggest we take a second look. God works through skeptics, as well.
>
> Remember, God is in charge. He certainly wants his people to deal with injustice wherever it occurs, but sometimes it seems an impossible task. Insurmountable barriers are God's business. It is our task to do the best we can for Him.

good points Don... welcome to the forum....

Posted by: saharafan Aug 18 2006, 07:44 AM

Dear Barbara,

When I read your report of the dreams and auditions, I did have some concerns and felt somehow uneasy, for similar reason as already explained by Inga and watchbird.
We do not deny that God CAN and also DOES give dreams and visions, even today. To the contrary, I personally can attest to that; I am working with Muslims and live in a Muslim country (which is the reason why I prefer to remain anonymous), and I know that the Holy Spirit is very active in the Muslim world, there are several stories of an angel or Christ Himself appearing to spiritualy sensitive and searching Muslims in dreams or visions, giving them a personal message and/or pointing them to Him, to the Bible or to where they can find the truth, or confirming a newfound faith in Christ or a new understanding of truth etc.
We do not say anything against the "spirit" of your friend or against her faith, devotion and personal relationship with Christ, not at all.
However, I do question the spirit that gave the dreams, if at all they are the result of supernatural influence (which indeed seems probable from what you have reported us).
It should, however, be noted that the information that you gave us in your report of the dreams is not really enough to come to a sound conclusion. I would leave it open, and would need a more detailed report of the whole dream and not just one or two phrases that were told to her, to really make up my mind.

If the dream should "come true", that wouldn't automatically be a proof to me that it is from God: Deuteronomy 13:1-3.

I really do wonder what would have been the sense or intention/purpose of this dream, if it came from God?

My concerns in addition to what has already been noted by others are:

1) The dream claimes to come directly from God/Christ himself, who is talking audibly in the first person to her, not through an angel or so. (Did she see who was talking or only hear the voice?) The language of the message is very strong and definitive. This would lead us to assume the contents and message of the dream must be very important. It is not just a mere glimps of how one's daughter might be looking in a few years or so, kind of a spontaneous "gift" from God to comfort us or make us happy and strengthen our faith or relationship with him, as some have described their own experiences with dreams here.

2) The dreams as reported by you didn't seem to contain an order or an exhortation or a message to "do this and that", it was simply a "revelation" of things that are supposed to happen in the future. So, if we assume it comes from God, what action are we to take because of this dream?

What conclusion with practical consequences are we to draw? In what way and to what extend should we allow it to influence our actions in dealing with the moral crisis at 3ABN? What are we supposed to learn from it? In what way can it be of help for us, rather than create confusion and divisions among us?

3) If the dream was given to comfort and give peace of mind to people like your friend, you, Linda and her friends and others who suffered from Danny, why was it so "horrible" that it caused your friend to cry, not for joy but as I understand because of shock about the things revealed in this dream? Honestly, when I personally read your report it didn't comfort but rather trouble me, but I admid that this was only my personal impression based on what you have written.

4) "3ABN will be the instrument I will use to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior, but when the redeemed get to heaven and search for their 3ABN family, they will discover that they are only ashes under their feet." :
Although I sincerely doubt that literally "billions" (this would imply at least one third of the present world population!) will accept Jesus as their Savior as a consequence of watching 3ABN, this is my smallest problem with this prediction. It says that those billions that will be won in the future through 3ABN will not be able to find in heaven the future (!) "3ABN family" that was responsible for winnig them for Christ in the first place. This implies that those that will work at 3ABN in the future, winning those billions, will be lost. (If Linda should be restored to future leadership at 3ABN this would also include her!)
My biggest question is: Why would God tell us that the "3ABN family" won't be saved, implying that they will not repent in the future? Do we have biblical examples for such a prediction under similar circumstances? What is the purpose of us knowing this today?
And, what are we now to do? Are we now supposed to support 3ABN heavily financially and with all our efforts in order that "billions get to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior"? Or, are we supposed to stop supporting them because the "3ABN family" is obviously corrupt and what they do is "horrible", and they will be lost?

5) "I will raise Linda up like the Phoenix from the ashes. She will be bigger and better than she could ever imagine. She will be surprised. It will be quick and soon. This will be with or without Danny's help. Danny cannot stop her.":
"This will be with or without Danny's help." So God knows all the other things predicted in those dreams, but he does not know what role Danny will play, wether Danny will "help" Linda in the future to get "bigger and better", or not? That at least sounds strange to me...

I don't want to hurt you with what I wrote, I just wanted to express my concerns over these dreams, as far as you have related them to us. Please forgive if my language perhaps sounds polemically sometimes, this is not with intention. Again, this partial analysis is based on the very limited information that was availlable to me from your first report, which certainly wasn't intended to withstand thorough investigation.

Clay,
Yes, I do believe that sometimes and under certain circumstances Satan can also give us dreams, talk to us or at least influence our thoughts, also during sleep, and this in a way that we can be tempted to belive the message or "voice" or miracle comes from God. This can even happen to godly people. There are several possiblities and reasons for it. That is why we need to carefully test the spirits, even of our own personal supernatural experiences of this kind.

Posted by: summertime Aug 18 2006, 07:44 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 05:45 AM) ☐
>
> good points Don... welcome to the forum....

Barbara, first I want to say that I always looked forward to seeing you and Linda and your cooking classes. I believe that you have worked for the Lord in everything you have done. Maybe your life was spared when you were so ill so that you could tell this story. God does allow us to dream. He made us that way. -- if a person's mind is entrusted to God, then any dreams that that he may have are because of his belief in God. Do you think that the devil could enter the mind of a Christian who has hung on to God and cause him to believe a Satanic message? If my mind is stayed on God there will be no room for Satan to attack in an evil way. Get thee behind me, Satan and he goes.

Barbara has come forward as herself even though she knows that the 3ABN 'group' will try to discredit her in anyway they can. Some of you have thought it unwise to do so. Are you people trying to do the same thing? Are you playing into the hands of Danny and his henchmen? Have you ever considered the fact that nobody is trying to set Linda up as the head of 3ABN.? But, as Barbara has said, I believe that Linda will do great things in God's time and in God's way. She has not suggested that Linda manage 3ABN again--unless it is a God given appointment.

Have you lost sight of the reason that so many of you are afraid to come forward and say who and what Danny has done to you in particular? Barbara has been discredited because she has the fortitude to suggest that God's ways sometimes are not easy to understand. I don't understand every thing about all this either, but I do believe that these things have happened for a reason and that God would not allow Satan to come into the picture in a way that will do Barbara harm after all she has been through with Danny. She admits that he had her fooled for a while also-- She paid attention and saw the light and has come to give us first hand information which we have all wanted` and now we are trying to discredit what she is saying as being from the Devil? God has used people in miraculous ways--Apparently through 3ABN many people have heard the story of the 3 angels message.

When we get to heaven I understand that sins will be written in the sky to help us to understand why our loved ones are lost. But lets not think that many tears will not be shed during the 1000 years before we all finally get to the earth made new where all tears will be wiped away.

Thank you, Barbara, for trying to give first hand information that we have all asked for, and now do not even recognize it for what it is.

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 08:35 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Aug 18 2006, 08:44 AM) ☐
>
> Barbara has been discredited because she has the fortitude to suggest that God's ways sometimes are not easy to understand.

Dear Summertime,

I always appreciate your contributions to this forum, but I believe that, in this case, what you write above demonstrates that you're not understanding what some of us have been posting. We are not discrediting Barbara!

No one has discredited Barbara, as far as I can tell. We all applaud her courage for coming forward. I even appreciate her sharing the dreams of the woman who is now her friend. That appreciation does not mean that I have to agree with the interpretation of the dream that Barbara, her friend and you appear to put on it.

The interpretation is in line with what many folks*hope* will happen. To my mind, it is not in line with what God has already revealed through Scripture and the writings of Ellen White. That is not casting any aspersion on those of you who believe otherwise. I am just sticking my neck out to state my conviction, based on my experience with the Lord. You are welcome to believe differently, and you may have reason to disagree with the evidence I gave. I appreciate the attempt to deal with the evidence, even when I disagree.

I'll deal with one point now:

Several of us noted that "Linda left Danny" is misleading. Barbara pointed out that it could be interpreted to match the facts. Now, in my experience, God does not make misleading statements. He knows that we are but dust, and His words are usually most accurately intepreted in the most straightforward way. That's why that sentence troubles me. The most straightforward reading would indicate that Linda wilfully left Danny. The use of language the recipient of the dream did not understand is troubling along these same lines -- it's not God's usual way of working.

Posted by: justme Aug 18 2006, 08:59 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 18 2006, 09:35 AM)
>
> Dear Summertime,
>
> I always appreciate your contributions to this forum, but I believe that, in this case, what you write above is quite wrong.
>
> No one has discredited Barbara, as far as I can tell. We all applaud her courage for coming forward. I even appreciate her sharing the dreams of the woman who is now her friend. That appreciation does not mean that I have to agree with the interpretation of the dream that Barbara, her friend and you appear to put on it.
>
> The interpretation is in line with what many folks*hope* will happen. To my mind, it is not in line with what God has already revealed through Scripture and the writings of Ellen White. That is not casting any aspersion on those of you who believe otherwise. I am just sticking my neck out to state my conviction, based on my experience with the Lord. You are welcome to believe differently, and you may have reason to disagree with the evidence I gave. I appreciate the attempt to deal with the evidence, even when I disagree.
>
> I'll deal with one point now:
>
> Several of us noted that "Linda left Danny" is misleading. Barbara pointed out that it could be interpreted to match the facts. Now, in my experience, God does not make misleading statements. He knows that we are but dust, and His words are usually most accurately intepreted in the most straightforward way. That's why that sentence troubles me. The most straightforward reading would indicate that Linda wilfully left Danny. The use of language the recipient of the dream did not understand is troubling along these same lines -- it's not God's usual way of working.

There is an apparent attempt on the part of some here to take word literally. Here's another experience of taking Gods' words literally. You will recall that the Apostle Paul says that if a man wants to serve God completely he will NOT GET MARRIED because his wife wants one thing from him but God want something else. Those who have taken this literally live in convents and monasteries or some such. It IS possible to take many things from God's word and not clearly understand them at first. SOme people have no problem understanding the Bible, but some do. It is not because God has worded something one way or another. We would do well to remember that we do not read the Bible in the language it was written. Nor do we have the author's available to ask questions.

About the words "Linda left Danny" ... it seems only natural that she would do so quickly when it is made clear that it is far safer to leave than to stay and "take her chances". He made it abundantly clear that she was to leave the premises by taking away her keys and having her escorted off the grounds. Did "Danny leave Linda"? How else would it have been worded in that "vision"?

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 09:00 AM

saharafan said:

> QUOTE
>
> Clay,
> Yes, I do believe that sometimes and under certain circumstances Satan can also give us dreams, talk to us or at least influence our thoughts, also during sleep, and this in a way that we can be tempted to belive the message or "voice" or miracle comes from God. This can even happen to godly people. There are several possiblities and reasons for it. That is why we need to carefully test the spirits, even of our own personal supernatural experiences of this kind.

I tend to disagree because that would suggest that he has unrestricted access to our brains.... I think that it is possible to see things, read things, or hear things that are negative that then show up in dreams, but for the moment I disagree that satan can give us dreams.... without our cooperation I probably need to add..... while God is not bound by any restraints.....

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 09:09 AM

I know that I have read that Satan trembles when the weakest saint gets on their knees and here I am hearing that sweet trusting christian people may be more easily fooled by Satan than others? That sounds quite baffling to me. Where does the gift of spiritual discernment that God gives to all HIS followers come in here? We are told to test and try the Spirits and we are also told that spiritual things are spiritually discerned. We are also told that for God's faithful followers, that when the enemy comes in like a flood that the Spirit of the Lord will lift up a standard against him. That to me is sure evidence that God wil protect his children from delusion once they trust HIM.

Inga, I am happy that you have also stated that you could be wrong in some of your pronouncements in this thread. Thank you for that.

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 09:13 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 18 2006, 09:09 AM)
>
> I know that I have read that Satan trembles when the weakest saint gets on their knees and here I am hearing that sweet trusting christian people may be more easily fooled by Satan than others? That sounds quite baffling to me. Where does the gift of spiritual discernment that God gives to all HIS followers come in here? We are told to test and try the Spirits and we are also told that spiritual things are spiritually discerned. We are also told that for God's faithful followers, that when the enemy comes in like a flood that the Spirit of the Lord will lift up a standard against him. That to me is sure evidence that God wil protect his children from delusion once they trust HIM.
>
> Inga, I am happy that you have also stated that you could be wrong in some of your pronouncements in this thread. Thank you for that.

Thanks Jvat, your comments are helping me form what I am trying to say... and you hit it on the head... some of the comments would have us believe that there is no way that we can tell the difference between what God does and what Satan does and that we are left on our own to figure it all out.... God does not leave us undefended.... and because he is our father, he protects us just as earthly parents do everything in their power to protect their children...

That text is appropriate here.... Resist the devil and he will flee....

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 10:31 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 10:00 AM) ☐
>
> saharafan said:
> I tend to disagree because that would suggest that he has unrestricted access to our brains.... I think that it is possible to see things, read things, or hear things that are negative that then show up in dreams, but for the moment I disagree that satan can give us dreams.... without our cooperation I probably need to add..... while God is not bound by any restraints.....

I don't believe he has "undrestricted access to our brains." Only God and the Holy Spirit really knows what we're thinking, for instance. Satan can only guess, but he's a bit smarter than our smartest psychologists and so is pretty good at guessing.

Scientists know how to stimulate certain parts of the brain to bring up memories or to generate certain impulses. I think Satan knows more. So that may explain some dreams and/or nightmares. And, of course, most dreams arise from our own subconscious.

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 10:46 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 18 2006, 10:09 AM) ☐
>
> I know that I have read that Satan trembles when the weakest saint gets on their knees and here I am hearing that sweet trusting christian people may be more easily fooled by Satan than others?

It was not my intent to suggest that. But certainly Satan tries his wiles on the trusting.

> QUOTE
>
> That sounds quite baffling to me. Where does the gift of spiritual discernment that God gives to all HIS followers come in here? We are told to test and try the Spirits and we are also told that spiritual things are spiritually discerned.

Precisely. And that is what we are attempting to do on this forum. As I suggested earlier, God asks us not to forget meeting together, and I believe it is so that we may support each other, with each making up for the weakness of the other, since we all have different minds and varying gifts.

> QUOTE
>
> We are also told that for God's faithful followers, that when the enemy comes in like a flood that the Spirit of the Lord will lift up a standard against him. That to me is sure evidence that God wil protect his children from delusion once they trust HIM.

He will protect us with the means He has given us -- particularly His Word. Being a a committed Christian does not release us from the necessity of careful study, comparing Scripture with Scripture and then testing the "messages" that come to us. Certainly history demonstrates that many dedicated Christians have lived most or all of their lives under delusions. Those who were dedicated to Him in their hearts will be in the Kingdom, in spite of being deluded, for God remembers that we are but dust, and He knows our circumstances.

While you find my suggestion that Christians may be deceived troubling, I find your suggestion troubling. You appear to suggest that once we are committed to God and pray a prayer with certain phrases, we can be assured that any supernatural manifestations are from God. There's many a record in the history of the church to demonstrate that this is not so. (Please don't ask me to cite them because these are stories scattered throughout our books and magazines and aren't easily referenced. I'm surprised that some folks don't seem to be aware of this.

God has promised that he will not "tempt us" beyond what we are able to bear. And I believe this text is applicable to the current situation. He will not allow Satan to bring overwhelming deception on us -- i.e. deception that we have no way of detecting. However, when His Word outlines the principles by which we may detect His voice, He expects us to believe that Word.

> QUOTE
>
> Inga, I am happy that you have also stated that you could be wrong in some of your pronouncements in this thread. Thank you for that.

Well, I take that for granted, but it's probably not discernible in my statements, since I tend to express myself forcefully when I believe something. I think I'll have to make up a disclaimer signature -- something to the effect that I'm human and prone to err.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 18 2006, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 10:00 AM)
>
> saharafan said:
> I tend to disagree because that would suggest that he has unrestricted access to our brains.... I think that it is possible to see things, read things, or hear things that are negative that then show up in dreams, but for the moment I disagree that satan can give us dreams.... without our cooperation I probably need to add..... while God is not bound by any restraints.....

I gotta agree with you Clay.....

If the devil had full control over our minds then all....ALL WOULD BE LOST!
Gotta "think" on this some more.... Times like these I wish my Daddy was still alive - he had so much insight into the werd of GOD.....

Posted by: meadbd Aug 18 2006, 12:28 PM

[quote name='Barbara Kerr' date='Aug 16 2006, 09:14 PM' post='145516']

The Dreams and Visions Concerning 3ABN

"I know you're going to think I'm crazy, but God spoke to me three times in an audible voice on May 26th, (2004). Twice the voice said clearly, 'Linda left Danny. Linda left Danny.'" Without saying anything out loud, the woman said to God, "If this is really You and not Satan, say it again." The voice boomed so loudly that her neighbors could have heard it. "LINDA LEFT DANNY".
==
Of course the voice would repeat "LINDA LEFT DANNY".

During this vision she heard a voice say, [b]"3ABN will be the instrument I will use to bring billions to know the Lord Jesus Christ as their personal Savior,...
==
[b]not likely that billions(not millions) will come to Jesus Christ as their personal Savior through 3ABN or any other evangelistic endeavor...for our church now needs great revival so that the many members we do have might be converted and born again and surrender their life completely to Jesus!

The evidence that a person is born again(John 3) is that the Holy Spirit dwells within and the fruit of the Spirit is clearly seen in their life. "LOVE,JOY,PEACE,..." These are evident in the Christian.

That is, a Christian daily rejoices in their salvation and is a joyful person to be around. They tell others what great things God has done in their life! They long to see their Lord and live with Him forever!

As the Bible says, "Broad is the way that leads to destruction and MANY go in, but straight is the gate and narrow the way that leads to life and FEW there be that find it"! (Matt.7:13-14).

When God has saved you, you know it and are continually praising Him! (Titus 3:4-5).

Let the redeemed of the Lord lift Him up in Praise!

Bill

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 12:32 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 18 2006, 11:46 AM) ☐
>
> It was not my intent to suggest that. But certainly Satan tries his wiles on the trusting.
> Precisely. And that is what we are attempting to do on this forum. As I suggested earlier, God asks us not to forget meeting together, and I believe it is so that we may support each other, with each making up for the weakness of the other, since we all have different minds and varying gifts.He will protect us with the means He has given us -- particularly His Word. Being a a committed Christian does not release us from the necessity of careful study, comparing Scripture with Scripture and then testing the "messages" that come to us. Certainly history demonstrates that many dedicated Christians have lived most or all of their lives under delusions. Those who were dedicated to Him in their hearts will be in the Kingdom, in spite of being deluded, for God remembers that we are but dust, and He knows our circumstances.
>
> While you find my suggestion that Christians may be deceived troubling, I find your suggestion troubling. You appear to suggest that once we are committed to God and pray a prayer with certain phrases, we can be assured that any supernatural manifestations are from God. There's many a record in the history of the church to demonstrate that this is not so. (Please don't ask me to cite them because these are stories scattered throughout our books and magazines and aren't easily referenced. I'm surprised that some folks don't seem to be aware of this.
>
> God has promised that he will not "tempt us" beyond what we are able to bear. And I believe this > text is applicable to the current situation. He will not allow Satan to bring overwhelming deception on us -- i.e. deception that we have no way of detecting. However, when His Word outlines the principles by which we may detect His voice, He expects us to believe that Word.

> Well, I take that for granted, but it's probably not discernible in my statements, since I tend to express myself forcefully when I believe something. I think I'll have to make up a disclaimer signature -- something to the effect that I'm human and prone to err.

hear what you are saying but I still disagree... there are committed christians who know when God peaks to them and they are in tune with his voice... some have to be because they cannot read the ible.... so they must have a relationship with God..... the same way a child recognizes the voice of heir parents is the same type of intimate relationship God wants with us... Is that possible? Yes.... esus said my sheep KNOW my voice... and if it is possible for humans to develop an intimate elationship with each other without reading a book about the person, what prevents us from doing he same thing with our Heavenly Father? I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my onfidence is not in the bible, it is in God..... scholars know the bible, debate the bible and still have o relationship with God, so it has to be more than just "studying" the bible..... I think we have to eally and I mean really trust ourselves to him... and allow him to communicate with us intimately.... t is my opinion that many are afraid of this, just as Israel was at Sinai....

Posted by: princessdi Aug 18 2006, 01:13 PM

Exactly Steve! Well said!

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 10:32 AM)
>
> I hear what you are saying but I still disagree... there are committed christians who know when God speaks to them and they are in tune with his voice... some have to be because they cannot read the bible.... so they must have a relationship with God..... the same way a child recognizes the voice of their parents is the same type of intimate relationship God wants with us... Is that possible? Yes.... Jesus said my sheep KNOW my voice... and if it is possible for humans to develop an intimate relationship with each other without reading a book about the person, what prevents us from doing the same thing with our Heavenly Father? I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my confidence is not in the bible, it is in God..... scholars know the bible, debate the bible and still have no relationship with God, so it has to be more than just "studying" the bible..... I think we have to really and I mean really trust ourselves to him... and allow him to communicate with us intimately.... it is my opinion that many are afraid of this, just as Israel was at Sinai....

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 01:27 PM

Thank you Clay for your kind words.

Inga, did I say anything about praying a prayer or rather trusting God to keep HIS promise that when the enemy comes in like a flood, the Spirit of the Lord will lift up a standard against him? That is a biblical promise, you know, Inga. We are told that we are given these great and exceeding precious promises that we can escape the corruption that is in the world through lust. This lust here can also be translated as pride in our context, I believe. The corruption can also be looked on as delusion, right? This is also comparing scripture with Scripture, Inga. These words are based on scripture too, Inga.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 01:42 PM

Inga and Bill, please note as well that the lady in question who had the dream did recognise that Satan may mean her harm and she asked for a confirmation that the message was indeed from God. So do u not think that God would protect His believing child or do you think that he would just leave her to the snares of the Evil One, especially after she asked for His guidance?

Posted by: Nuggie Aug 18 2006, 01:49 PM

I was always taught that Satan can't read our minds and doesn't know our thoughts...only God knows what we're thinking. Anybody ever heard that? If that's true, then Satan couldn't "invade" our thoughts and dreams, right?

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 02:16 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Aug 18 2006, 02:49 PM)
>
> I was always taught that Satan can't read our minds and doesn't know our thoughts...only God knows what we're thinking. Anybody ever heard that?

I believe that's true, and Ellen White confirmed it, though I don't have the reference handy.

> QUOTE
>
> If that's true, then Satan couldn't "invade" our thoughts and dreams, right?

There's a difference between knowing our thoughts precisely and guessing them. And there's a difference between knowing our thoughts and suggesting thoughts to us. Just how that mechanism works, I don't know. But I don't believe that all suggestions from Satan have to be audible. Would these indaudible suggestions/temptations not be something that we understand with our minds? Would the avenue Satan uses in that case not be available to him in dreams as well?

> QUOTE

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 03:08 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 18 2006, 02:16 PM)
>
> I believe that's true, and Ellen White confirmed it, though I don't have the reference handy. There's a difference between knowing our thoughts precisely and guessing them. And there's a difference between knowing our thoughts and suggesting thoughts to us. Just how that mechanism works, I don't know. But I don't believe that all suggestions from Satan have to be audible. Would these indaudible suggestions/temptations not be something that we understand with our minds? Would the avenue Satan uses in that case not be available to him in dreams as well?

hmmmmm let me ponder that one for a bit.....

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 03:44 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 01:32 PM)
>
> I hear what you are saying but I still disagree...[

That, of course, is your privilege and mine -- to continue to listen to each other, respect each other and still disagree. I must be faithful to truth as I know it, and you must be faithful to truth as you know it. Granted, in such disagreements we can't both be "right," but our attitude towards each other is far more important than the "correctness" of our interpretation. (We are not saved by correctness of understanding.)

> QUOTE
>
> there are committed christians who know when God speaks to them and they are in tune with his voice... some have to be because they cannot read the bible.... so they must have a relationship with God..... the same way a child recognizes the voice of their parents is the same type of intimate relationship God wants with us... Is that possible? Yes.... Jesus said my sheep KNOW my voice... and if it is possible for humans to develop an intimate relationship with each other without reading a book about the person, what prevents us from doing the same thing with our Heavenly Father?

I agree with the principles you cite above. To those who do not have the written Word, God reveals Himself in other ways. And the written Word is certainly not His only means of communicating with even those of us who do have the written Word available.

Otoh, how do we know we have an intimate relationship with Him -- our Creator God -- if we have His Word available and ignore what it says? If that is His main chosen means of communicating objective truth, are we not responsible to allow Him to speak to us that way? If we neglect the study of the Word, comparing Scripture with Scripture, what does that say about our regard for Him? (Please note I'm referring to a principle, without reference to any individuals that have been mentioned in the discussion.)

> QUOTE
>
> I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my confidence is not in the bible, it is in God.....

How do you know God? How do you know that He is who He is? Why are you a Seventh-day Adventist?

I'm asking these questions to demonstrate the pivotal role of Scripture. Early in the historical record of God's people, His written Word already played a pivotal role. "Thy Word is truth," is what the psalmist wrote. And "They Word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee." In those days, the "Word" referred mainly to the writings of Moses.

If we conclude that in our culture we can have an "intimate relationship with God" without the Scriptures, how do we know the difference between our God and Gaia, our God and Allah, our God and a multitude of other gods worshiped in our society, either explicitly or implicitly. Are all gods the same? Does it matter what we believe? Does it matter in which god we believe? And if it matters, just how do we tell the difference? Are all believers in other gods insincere? Do they not want to believe in the true God?

> QUOTE
>
> scholars know the bible, debate the bible and still have no relationship with God, so it has to be more than just "studying" the bible..... I think we have to really and I mean really trust ourselves > to him... and allow him to communicate with us intimately men and AMEN! to what you write above!! Intellectual knowledge alone is not enough. We must really entrust ourselves to Him and allow Him to communicate with us intimately." However, this does ot lessen the role of Scripture. In fact, I believe Scripture is foundational to such a relationship.

ur emphasis on Scripture as the foundation of experience is what sets us apart from most harismatics who believe that an "intimate relationship" and charismatic manifestations supersede cripture. Speaking with God directly, they no longer need the Bible. (As a matter of fact, one such astor threw his Bible on the floor and said that's how much regard he had for the Bible when my usband demonstrated that the Bible did not support part of his belief system.) Otoh, I've also known any charismatics who understand the foundational role of Scripture, knowing that every anifestation must be tested by Scripture -- and that is farther than some members of this forum ppear willing to go.

> QUOTE
>
> .... it is my opinion that many are afraid of this, just as Israel was at Sinai....

think you're probably right.

o sum up regarding the original dreams mentioned: We must each reach our own conclusions egarding this. My conclusions in no way include anything negative about the recipient of these reams or Barbara who shared them here. I have stated my conclusions and how I have formed my onclusion. Others may form different conclusions based on different criteria.

dventism was founded on the bedrock of Protestantism's credo of the Bible and the Bible only as the oundation of faith and doctrine. "Prove all things" is the motto implied if not expressed. Protestantism erved to stimulate independent thinnking and thus led to a great revival of learning in the world. It timulated an abundance of discoveries and inventions.

atholicism, on the other hand, emphasized tradition as the foundation of faith and mysticism as the ay of experiencing God. This implies not doing one's own thinking but relying on "the hurch" (tradition) to define one's duty and mystical and/or charismatic experience to know God. It eems to me that modern charismatics are abandoning bedrock Protestantism and going back to ysticism, with "experience" taking the place of study and reason as a means of knowing God. It's lso a convenient choice for the spiritually lazy in any denomination ...

esterday I thought that maybe our discussion of dreams and how to interpret them didn't belong in he 3ABN section, but I've changed my mind. Pentecostal/charismatic thinking is what we've noted as eing promoted by 3ABN. And small wonder, since so many of the individuals involved are either urrently Pentecostal or come from a Pentecostal background.

ach denomination or group of denominations has its own culture and vocabulary. Sometimes we ake fun of our Adventist expressions, but Pentecostalism also has its own culture and vocabulary. nd Danny's language such as "a word from the Lord" is an example of Pentecostal language. It's ertainly not Adventist, unless our ministers have been influenced by 3ABN. We've mentioned the entecostal influence before, and folks seemed to recognize that that wasn't a good thing. But now, hen dreams seem to substantiate what folks wish would happen, I sense a different attitude ...

erhaps we should discuss the differences and similarities between Adventism and Pentecostalism and ow it applies to 3ABN and our own Christian experience. And I would suggest inviting Watchbird to tart out by defining the difference the way she sees it, since she apparently has considerable ackground in that area.

Posted by: meadbd Aug 18 2006, 04:15 PM

And Danny's language such as "a word from the Lord" is an example of Pentecostal language
----
Actually, "a word(or message) from the Lord" is used in Jer.37:17 and elsewhere in the Bible. It doesn't belong to any denomination. It basically means, "What did God tell(or reveal) to you?" And He does reveal various things to each of us as we surrender ourselves to Him. Rather than comparing Pentacostalism to Adventism, let's just compare what we say and do to the Scriptures. That is the only accurate guide.

Bill

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 04:58 PM

Bill, I am with you on that last post.

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(meadbd @ Aug 18 2006, 05:15 PM)
>
> And Danny's language such as "a word from the Lord" is an example of Pentecostal language
> --
> Actually, "a word(or message) from the Lord" is used in Jer.37:17 and elsewhere in the Bible. It doesn't belong to any denomination.

True enough. But different churches have different favorite quotes from the Bible. And I'm not aware of this being a favorite Adventist one. We can say the same thing in different ways, but I know that this is kind of a signal phrase among charismatics and, with them, refers to a specific direct revelation from the Lord which they are about to share.

> QUOTE
>
> It basically means, "What did God tell(or reveal) to you?" And He does reveal various things to each of us as we surrender ourselves to Him. Rather than comparing Pentacostalism to Adventism, let's just compare what we say and do to the Scriptures. That is the only accurate guide.

Again, agreed regarding the Scripture being the only accurate guide.

In the context of 3ABN, however, we've noted that there is a considerable Pentecostal influence and it is not all solidly Bible-based. I just used this as an example of the Pentecostal flavor of Dan's words.

Posted by: inga Aug 18 2006, 11:36 PM

> QUOTE(meadbd @ Aug 18 2006, 05:15 PM)
>
> And Danny's language such as "a word from the Lord" is an example of Pentecostal language
> --
> Actually, "a word(or message) from the Lord" is used in Jer.37:17 and elsewhere in the Bible.

and

> QUOTE

> Rather than comparing Pentacostalism to Adventism, let's just compare what we say and do to the Scriptures. That is the only accurate guide.

Upon reflection, I figure that would be a good exercise to do regarding using the phrase "a word from the Lord" and related phrases ...

In Jeremiah 26.1 & 2, we read:
In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah king of Judah came this word from the LORD, saying,
Thus saith the LORD; Stand in the court of the LORD'S house, and speak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worship in the LORD'S house, all the words that I command thee to speak unto them; diminish not a word."

In this case the "word from the Lord" is a direct message from God which He is commissioning His prophet to give to the people.

And in Jeremiah 37.17, we read:
"Then Zedekiah the king sent, and took him out: and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the LORD? And Jeremiah said, There is: for, said he, thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon."

Again this refers specifically to the Lord's message to and through His chosen prophet. (These are the only instances of "a word from the Lord" in the KJV.)

So, if we are to follow the usage of Scripture, "a word from the Lord" refers specifically to messages from God to and through His chosen prophet.

The question to consider is whether we are willing to accept Danny Shelton as God's chosen prophet. His associates call him "chosen," and He says He has "a word from the Lord." (They've been wise enough not to call him a "prophet" outright.)

Dan Shelton's associates also say he is "anointed."

In the Bible, parts of the sanctuary and its symbolic furniture were "anointed." Later chosen kings were "anointed" (e.g. Saul, David and many others specifically called by God) and called "anointed of the Lord." In one text (Psalm 105:115) "mine anointed" may refer to the whole nation of Israel or to just the kings or prophets. "The Lord's anointed" is used only in reference to kings. And a number of references make clear that the Messiah was specially anointed of the Lord. The anointing of the sanctuary, which symbolized His work, is a foreshadowing of this anointing.

Of course, there is also the common usage of anointing oneself, aooarently equivalen to taking a shower and putting on aftershave.

The question is, in which way, if any, are we willing to accept Dan Shelton as "anointed." Is he really "the Lord's anointed" as his associates call him? Is he a king or prophet or Messiah?

If I remember correctly, David Koresh also had definite ideas regarding being "chosen" ...

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 11:44 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 18 2006, 10:33 PM)
>
> True enough. But different churches have different favorite quotes from the Bible. And I'm not aware of this being a favorite Adventist one. We can say the same thing in different ways, but I know that this is kind of a signal phrase among charismatics and, with them, refers to a specific direct revelation from the Lord which they are about to share.

> Again, agreed regarding the Scripture being the only accurate guide.
>
> In the context of 3ABN, however, we've noted that there is a considerable Pentecostal influence and it is not all solidly Bible-based. I just used this as an example of the Pentecostal flavor of Dan's words.

he phrase " a word from the lord" is used quite often in black churches and black sda churches.... again I think because some of you all have been sensitized to what is happening at 3abn, everything is getting painted with the same brush... however that particular phrase has been used by preachers and aity alike for as long as I can remember.... additionally it was not unusual for a sister or a brother to start "shouting" in the midst of a good sermon, or song....

as for things being biblical based, there is no blueprint given in the bible as to how certain things should happen... i.e. church services for example..... so there will be considerable differences in a worship experience..... in fact I could take you to a service here locally that you may just run from the building if you think that those things you mentioned are pentecostal in nature....

Posted by: inga Aug 19 2006, 01:46 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 19 2006, 12:44 AM)
>
> the phrase " a word from the lord" is used quite often in black churches and black sda churches....

Well, Danny's not noted for his promotion of black culture, is he?

> QUOTE
>
> again I think because some of you all have been sensitized to what is happening at 3abn, everything is getting painted with the same brush... however that particular phrase has been used by preachers and laity alike for as long as I can remember.... additionally it was not unusual for a sister or a brother to start "shouting" in the midst of a good sermon, or song....

Yes, I'm aware of the difference in black Christian (not just Adventist) culture. When my hubby was at Andrews University, he preached at a little black Baptist church once in a while. He used to really enjoy it because the folks were to down-to-earth and .. well, uninhibited. Because the black conferences have so long been separated from white conferences -- and not just because the white olks wanted it!! -- they have developed a different culture. And, yes, it is much closer to the Pentecostal culture. But there is a big difference between such cultural accoutrements as enthusiastic swaying, clapping, shouting (Amen, Brother!! Right on, Brother!! Hallelujah!! Praise the Lord!!) and seriously making claims that put one on the level of a prophet. It's the context that makes the difference, and the context of Danny's expression gives the expression a totally different meaning than t would have as used by black folks in a black church. While I have thoroughly appreciated the times we have worshiped in black churches, the message was always thoroughly Adventist, not Pentecostal. No claims of special gifts from the Lord, no claims of special status or Messiaship. Your experience may differ, and if you are experiencing such things in your churches as Danny puts out, then I would be concerned about your churches as well.

> QUOTE
>
> as for things being biblical based, there is no blueprint given in the bible as to how certain things should happen... i.e. church services for example..... so there will be considerable differences in a worship experience.....

Now you're preaching my sermon! (In our local church we have some folks who think anything older is better, that contemporary music is of the devil, that any movement while singing is evil, etc.

etc. So, as music coordinator, I've been using that argument quite bit.

> QUOTE
>
> in fact I could take you to a service here locally that you may just run from the building if you think that those things you mentioned are pentecostal in nature....

Do they too? Do they ? h

How'd we get to this point in the discussion anyway? Oh, yeah ... I mentioned an impression gained from Danny's way of talking ... Quite possibly the same words from a black preacher said in typical black-preacher style, wouldn't have given me the same impression ... Context, context, it's all about the context ...

As it is, it was just an impression and probably not worth defending. But when Bill said we should stick to the Bible, I couldn't resist.

Man, you make me yearn for a little import of that black culture into our church. We sure could use something to stir up the saints! (Even the young woman who leads the songs in contemporary praise services stands like a statue when she singgs. And it was suggested that if I had to move to keep time with the music, why didn't I stand behind the pulpit where it couldn't be seen? I kid you not! rofl)

PS My original version of this message didn't go through because of "too many emoticons"! ?? (I need one now! This sounds like a board version of our local-church body movement police. Ah .. emoticon, emoticon, I need an emoticon!!)

Posted by: Clay Aug 19 2006, 05:41 AM

thanks for the clarification and the tangent which I think needed to be explored some... it is about context and point of reference and perhaps given the influence at 3abn from those from a pentecostal background are enough to give one pause... the reality may be before we rush to judgment about dreams that people share with us that we try to identify the context and not just assume the worst....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 19 2006, 08:01 AM

sn

Posted by: saharafan Aug 19 2006, 08:08 AM

CAN SATAN READ OUR MINDS?

This is what Ellen White says about it:

> QUOTE

> Satan has his evil angels around us; and though they cannot read men's thoughts, they closely watch their words and actions. Satan takes advantage of the weakness and defects of character that are thus revealed, and presses his temptations where there is least power of resistance. He makes evil suggestions, and inspires worldly thoughts, knowing that he can thus bring the soul into condemnation and bondage. {GW92 417.3} did NOT suggest that the enemy has "unrestricted access" to our minds, neither that he is "in :ontrol". Certainly he doesn't. In modern language I would say, he has no "read access" but does ıave limited or restricted "write access" to certain files or folders, to certain parts of our mind. 'hat is part of our fallen human nature, the sinfull nature that we are born in, if you want. Maybe he :nows our "public key" and thus can send us messages, but he usually doesn't have the "private key" o also decrypt our thoughts. Maybe he uses biological ways yet unknown to us as Inge has ;uggested. Certainly, God is in control of his "access rights", especially if we allow Him to be the Administrator", and He doesn't give him all the access, control and rights that he wants.

f our "firewall" is enforced and strong (our personal relationship with Christ, who in turn protects us vith His Holy Spirit, and sanctifies us closing "ports") and our "anti-virus protection" activated and up o date (our knowledge of, and dependence on the Word of God we use to test everything that comes n or goes out), he certainly cannot break in (hack) and hijack our system, nor read any documents. 3ut there might still be some SPAM messages getting through... And we need to be carefull not to)elieve them and be deceived. We need to use our brain as the SPAM filter, and I think the Scriptures ;hould also be used for providing the defining criterions for this SPAM filter.

4owever, if we forget to activate or update the anti-virus protection (the Holy Scriptures, testing by it :verything that comes in) and forget to search the whole hard disk for viruses from time to time, than ve are in danger of viruses, troyans etc. (false teachings, evil spirits...) to infect us and spread in the ;ystem; they can also infect other systems in the network (the church) if they are not well protected, oo.
\nd I am afraid this is exactly what is happening in pentecostal and charismatic groups.

)uring certain spiritualistic activities Satan might gain some read access, and even "unrestricted ıccess" and "full control" over the mind. If such activities have happened in the past, or have been)erformed by one's parents or grandparents, he might have more rights on our system as usual. Only 3od can restrict him then.

)ther related quotes from sister White:

> QUOTE
>
> We must know what is written in order that we may not be defeated by the sophistry and enchantments of Satan. The wily foe will work upon our minds in such a way that he will lead us to follow in the way he has gone, and cause us to dream of greatness, worldly honor, and distinction. {ST, September 18, 1893 par. 6}
>
> Satan Seeks to Control Children's Minds.--Parents, you know something of the inducements by which Satan tries to lead your children into folly. He is working with all his powers to lead them astray. With a determination that many do not dream of he is seeking to gain control of their minds and to make the commandments of God of no effect in their lives.--MS 93, 1909. {1MCP 170.2}

f Satan can tempt us by subtile deceptions of false teachings, and even by strong supernatural leceptions approaching us from the outside (e.g. Satan appearing as an angel of God in the emtations of Jesus in Matthew 4; dead loved ones appearing to us and offering to help and guide us; 3atan appearing as the returning Christ; appearances of Mary), deceptions that can ONLY be liscovered as such if tested by the Word of God, what would be the difference if a deception comes rom the "inside", through ideas, impressions, and ... dreams? Als long as we have the Holy Scriptures ıvaillable to test their truth, authenticity and credibility, God might allow Satan to use this kind of temptation, too. That's my opinion.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 19 2006, 09:59 AM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 19 2006, 07:08 AM)
>
> CAN SATAN READ OUR MINDS?
>
> This is what Ellen White says about it:
>
> I did NOT suggest that the enemy has "unrestricted access" to our minds, neither that he is "in control". Certainly he doesn't. In modern language I would say, he has no "read access" but does have limited or restricted "write access" to certain files or folders, to certain parts of our mind. That is part of our fallen human nature, the sinfull nature that we are born in, if you want. Maybe he knows our "public key" and thus can send us messages, but he usually doesn't have the "private key" to also decrypt our thoughts. Maybe he uses biological ways yet unknown to us as Inge has suggested. Certainly, God is in control of his "access rights", especially if we allow Him to be the "Administrator", and He doesn't give him all the access, control and rights that he wants.
>
> If our "firewall" is enforced and strong (our personal relationship with Christ, who in turn protects us with His Holy Spirit, and sanctifies us closing "ports") and our "anti-virus protection" activated and up to date (our knowledge of, and dependence on the Word of God we use to test everything that comes in or goes out), he certainly cannot break in (hack) and hijack our system, nor read any documents. But there might still be some SPAM messages getting through... And we need to be carefull not to believe them and be deceived. We need to use our brain as the SPAM filter, and I think the Scriptures should also be used for providing the defining criterions for this SPAM filter.
>
> However, if we forget to activate or update the anti-virus protection (the Holy Scriptures, testing by it everything that comes in) and forget to search the whole hard disk for viruses from time to time, than we are in danger of viruses, troyans etc. (false teachings, evil spirits...) to infect us and spread in the system; they can also infect other systems in the network (the church) if they are not well protected, too.
> And I am afraid this is exactly what is happening in pentecostal and charismatic groups.
>
> During certain spiritualistic activities Satan might gain some read access, and even "unrestricted access" and "full control" over the mind. If such activities have happened in the past, or have been performed by one's parents or grandparents, he might have more rights on our system as usual. Only God can restrict him then.
>
> Other related quotes from sister White:
> If Satan can tempt us by subtile deceptions of false teachings, and even by strong supernatural deceptions approaching us from the outside (e.g. Satan appearing as an angel of God in the temtations of Jesus in Matthew 4; dead loved ones appearing to us and offering to help and guide us; Satan appearing as the returning Christ; appearances of Mary), deceptions that can ONLY be discovered as such if tested by the Word of God, what would be the difference if a deception comes from the "inside", through ideas, impressions, and ... dreams? Als long as we have the Holy Scriptures availlable to test their truth, authenticity and credibility, God might allow Satan to use this kind of temptation, too. That's my opinion.

Being the computer/technology nerd-ess that I am, I liked this analogy and explanation. Very good. Carry on.

Posted by: saharafan Aug 19 2006, 12:04 PM

"DREAMS & VISIONS" : Some selected quotations from sister White.

(Note of explanation: I don't want to suggest that I believe that the friend of sister Barbara is a false prophet, this is not at all true! I love and respect her as my sister in the Lord, and I would love to get to know her personally, learn more about her experience and fellowship with her. I am also not really 100 % convinced that her dreams and auditions are NOT from the Lord, and I want to be careful. However, based on the information available in Barbara's first posting, it seems to me personally as very likely that her friend has been deceived. But that little information that sister Barbara told us is NOT really enough for me to come to a final conclusion for myself, without knowing the sister, and the whole situation and context. As of now, I therefore don't ascribe any importance to these revelations at all, I don't want to be influenced by them in any way. The following quotations from Ellen White only serve the single purpose to show that this possibility exists, that Satan CAN give dreams to upright and godly Christians; at least, sister White does NOT critize the character, life or faith of those believers that have received visions or dreams and that she refered to in those statements; however, she warns them (and us) not to follow those dreams and revelations, since they didn't come from God. Emphasis in the quotations is mine.)

> QUOTE
>
> I have no hesitancy in saying that Anna's visions are not of God. The dreams that the members of your family have had are a deception of Satan. ... {1888 697.2}
> Satan saw that he could work upon your fruitful imagination, and lead you, with others, into his net. ... On page 8 you present Anna's vision in regard to a certain woman as a confirmation of your theory that probation would end in October, 1884. ... In the next paragraph you give Anna's dream in regard to her father. Neither has this any weight, nor the dream your wife has had. They are all false. {1888 697.3}
>
> Many times I have been sent to different places with the message, "I have a work for you to do in that place; I will be with you." When the occasion came, the Lord gave me a message for those who were having false dreams and visions, and in the strength of Christ I bore my testimony at the Lord's bidding. . . . {Mar 155.1}
> During the past forty-five years, I have had to meet persons claiming to have from God messages of reproof to others. This phase of religious fanaticism has sprung up again and again since 1844. Satan has worked in many ways to establish error. Some things spoken in these visions came to pass; but many things--in regard to the time of Christ's coming, the end of probation, and the events to take place--proved utterly false. . . . {Mar 155.2}
> "Take heed therefore how ye hear" (Luke 8:18), is an admonition of Christ. . . . Examine closely, "prove all things" (1 Thess. 5:21). . . . This is the counsel of God; shall we heed it? {Mar 155.3}
>
> There will be false dreams and false visions, which have some truth, but lead away from the original faith. The Lord has given men a rule by which to detect them: "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them" (Isa. 8:20). {Mar 192.4}
> As we near the end of time, falsehood will be so mingled with truth, that only those who have the guidance of the Holy Spirit will be able to distinguish truth from error. We need to make every effort to keep the way of the Lord. We must in no case turn from His guidance to put our trust in man. . . . Those who are guided by the Word of the Lord will discern with certainty between falsehood and truth, between sin and righteousness. {Mar 192.5}
>
> The multitude of dreams arise from the common things of life, with which the Spirit of God has nothing to do. There are also false dreams, as well as false visions, which are inspired by the spirit of Satan. But dreams from the Lord are classed in the word of God with visions and are > as truly the fruits of the spirit of prophecy as visions. {1T 569.2}

>
> Satan would like nothing better than to call minds away from the word, to look for and expect something outside of the word to make them feel. They should not have their attention called to dreams or visions. {HM, December 1, 1894 par. 7}

'lease read also SELECTED MESSAGES Book 2 Chapter 11, and perhaps other chapters like 5, 8, 9, 10 etc.

\s a consequence, it is NOT enough to simply examine the charakter, lifestile and acts, the 'fruits" of the person receiving a dream or vision, or a "message from God", and her :onfession and practice of her faith; it is equaly important to evaluate and examine the nessage given itself, the contents of the dream or vision, based on the Bible.
f this test should fail, it is the message that has to be rejected and not the person receiving it who ias simply been a victim of another satanic attack of deception. But without a sound application of this est, no message should be accepted as coming from God and acted upon; this would be very langeous.

lope this helps.

Posted by: summertime Aug 19 2006, 01:11 PM

I'll deal with one point now:

Several of us noted that "Linda left Danny" is misleading. Barbara pointed out that it could be interpreted to match the facts. Now, in my experience, God does not make misleading statements. He knows that we are but dust, and His words are usually most accurately intepreted in the most straightforward way. That's why that sentence troubles me. The most straightforward reading would indicate that Linda wilfully left Danny. The use of language the recipient of the dream did not understand is troubling along these same lines -- it's not God's usual way of working.

[/quote] Hi, Inga. I appreciated the way in which you explained your posting to me. I do not know the lady in question, but I will tell you that I had a friend who was badly mistreated and abused and her husband put her in a financially embarressing position. Eventually he put her in the position where she had no choice but to leave him and go to live with her parents. Yes, she left him. Why is it so bad for the lady to say that she was impressed 3 times that Linda had left Danny. She was forced to leave---so then we make it possible for Dr. Thompson and Danny and John L. to say that he had the right to divorce her and marry his sweetheart because of abandonment by Linda.

Does that mean that the lady could not have had such an experience.? And that maybe it may have been a Penticostal experience? Danny was sitting around on the set at campmeeting singing the song he had written about being alone around that same month. He even had me feeling sorry for him for a while. Right here in my own home I was asking' "Where is Linda?" And while this was going on I had people in my own church who had gone to campmeeting at 3ABN telling everyone that Linda had run away with a Docter from Nova Scotia. For a while I believed it and I could not figure out why Linda would have done such a thing. Now we know the truth. Danny's new wife was probably there at 3ABN campmeeting while he was crying and praising God for being with him while he was 'all alone'.

Now, we are talking about visions and dreams. For twenty years we have been listening to and believed that Danny had a vision (or a dream) (I think now I have heard it changed to an impression) and that he was to build a network for God. I am not going to say that it was and is not true. Like many other people I am afraid of stepping on the cause of God because 3ABN has become worldwide. So I will not say that 3ABN was not originated in a plan by God. OK. But, is it true that the stories that he told of miracles which were counterfeit were the beginning of the money pouring in to start and build up that network? If this is true, and I think that it was, then, according to a lot of posters on this forum, the whole experience that Danny had in vision of building a station, was a Pentecostal experience and just where does that lead us? Did God speak to him or didn't He? .Are we dealing with a whole Pentecostal experience here? I am holding my breath to hear what will come next.

Posted by: Clay Aug 19 2006, 03:26 PM

okay but let's also be honest..... SHE SHOULD HAVE LEFT him..... yeah, I said it... the more I read about this dude, I am amazed that she stayed as long as she did.... again she should have left him....

now whut?

Posted by: summertime Aug 19 2006, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 19 2006, 03:26 PM)
>
> okay but let's also be honest..... SHE SHOULD HAVE LEFT him..... yeah, I said it... the more I read about this dude, I am amazed that she stayed as long as she did.... again she should have left him....
>
> now whut?

Yes, Clay--she should have left him--probably a long time ago. The more we hear, the more we know that she should have left him long before she did. She tried to stick with her position as VP for the sake of 3ABN viewers, when she should have given it up for the sake of herself and her children.

Posted by: inga Aug 20 2006, 10:39 AM

Thank you so much for this post, Saharafan.

You effectively expressed my thoughts on the matter, including that there is not quite enough evidence to reach a final conclusion on the dreams that Barbara shared. I agree it is best just not to place too much importanc on them.

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 19 2006, 01:04 PM)
>
> "DREAMS & VISIONS" : Some selected quotations from sister White.
>
> (Note of explanation: I don't want to suggest that I believe that the friend of sister Barbara is a false prophet, this is not at all true! I love and respect her as my sister in the Lord, and I would love to get to know her personally, learn more about her experience and fellowship with her. I am also not really 100 % convinced that her dreams and auditions are NOT from the Lord, and I want to be careful. However, based on the information available in Barbara's first posting, it seems to me personally as very likely that her friend has been deceived. But that little information that sister > Barbara told us is NOT really enough for me to come to a final conclusion for myself, without knowing the sister, and the whole situation and context. As of now, I therefore don't ascribe any importance to these revelations at all, I don't want to be influenced by them in any way. The following quotations from Ellen White only serve the single purpose to show that this possibility exists, that Satan CAN give dreams to upright and godly Christians; at least, sister White does NOT critize the character, life or faith of those believers that have received visions or dreams and that she refered to in those statements; however, she warns them (and us) not to follow those dreams and revelations, since they didn't come from God. Emphasis in the quotations is mine.)

> Please read also SELECTED MESSAGES Book 2 Chapter 11, and perhaps other chapters like 5, 8, 9, 10 etc.
>
> As a consequence, it is NOT enough to simply examine the charakter, lifestile and acts, the "fruits" of the person receiving a dream or vision, or a "message from God", and her confession and practice of her faith; it is equaly important to evaluate and examine the message given itself, the contents of the dream or vision, based on the Bible.
> If this test should fail, it is the message that has to be rejected and not the person receiving it who has simply been a victim of another satanic attack of deception. But without a sound application of this test, no message should be accepted as coming from God and acted upon; this would be very dangeous.
>
> Hope this helps.

Posted by: Clay Aug 20 2006, 10:43 AM

can anyone give an example of a false dream or visions.... a legitimate one I mean? I understand what egw wrote, but then again she had visions didn't she.... some of what she saw is not consistent with the bible so then they were also false is that what you are comfortable saying?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 20 2006, 10:45 AM

Just a quick statement - and I'll go back into lerk mode on this thread....

Does anyone now see why I said this woman/her statements/her "dream" was getting "cut up"???

If not...then carry on! If so..then still....carry on!

sn

Posted by: inga Aug 20 2006, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 20 2006, 11:43 AM)
>
> can anyone give an example of a false dream or visions.... a legitimate one I mean? I understand what egw wrote, but then again she had visions didn't she.... some of what she saw is not consistent with the bible so then they were also false is that what you are comfortable saying?

'ou say that some of what Ellen White saw "is not consistent with the Bible?"

'ou must know some things I haven't run across in the last 50 years. (And, yes, I'm familiar with the anti-Ellen sites out there ... just haven't visited them lately.)

My point re the original dreams shared was not that they were necessarily false, but that by all indicators I know, they are not consistent with God's messages. My further concern is that we not accept anything of supernatural character to be of God just because we deem the person(s) involved to be sincere Christians.

The only thing anywhere near similar in Ellen White's visions was the "shut door" vision. I don't doubt her vision and it's being from God. However, I believe the original interpretation of the vision was not altogether accurate. And Ellen and the church revised their view of what the vision meant. She did not claim to be infallible, after all.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 20 2006, 11:50 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 20 2006, 01:47 PM) ☐
>
> You say that some of what Ellen White saw "is not consistent with the Bible?"
>
> You must know some things I haven't run across in the last 50 years. (And, yes, I'm familiar with the anti-Ellen sites out there ... just haven't visited them lately.)
>
> My point re the original dreams shared was not that they were necessarily false, but that by all indicators I know, they are not consistent with God's messages. My further concern is that we not accept anything of supernatural character to be of God just because we deem the person(s) involved to be sincere Christians.
>
> The only thing anywhere near similar in Ellen White's visions was the "shut door" vision. I don't doubt her vision and it's being from God. However, I believe the original interpretation of the vision was not altogether accurate. And Ellen and the church revised their view of what the vision meant. She did not claim to be infallible, after all.

Had to come in on this just to say this little thang...then for real - back in lurk mode on this thread....

The fact that my roomie (after working in the AD EG White Archives for one year) found several "pictures/drawings" of EG White "visions/dreams" - (such as her "Vision of Jesus") says a whole lot to me....

I personally don't think that a "vision of Jesus" has been given to anyone living during this time...so a picture would not be drawn and used as an example of "what we think he looks like"....

JMO!

Fa real - back on lurk mode.....

☒ sn

Posted by: saharafan Aug 21 2006, 09:08 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 20 2006, 04:43 PM) ☐

> can anyone give an example of a false dream or visions.... a legitimate one I mean? I understand what egw wrote, but then again she had visions didn't she.... some of what she saw is not consistent with the bible so then they were also false is that what you are comfortable saying?

:lay,
would be very interested to learn more about those "inconsistencies" that you found comparing Ellen Vhite's writings with the Bible. Actually, so far I personally didn't find any seeming contradictions etc. hat couldn't be resolved.
am quite sure, for any kind or type of seeming contradiction or inconsistency between her writings ınd the Bible, I could show you a similar one within the Bible, between different authors of the Bible.

'his whole question of inconsistencies within or between inspired books all finally comes down to two ssues:
) How divine inspiration really and actually works;
!) And the question, or principles, of hermeneutics, of interpretation, taking into consideration the ›riginal languages, and especially the textual, historical, cultural, and religious contexts.

3ut I would suggest, if you want to discuss this subject, to do that in another forum, not in this one ıbout 3ABN.
'here are several good books dealing with these two issues as well as books responding to questions ınd often made claims to that kind of inconsitencies concerning Ellen White that you mentioned. If you vant to have some recommendations, feel free to contact me. You should also find some good nformation on some websites like http://www.whiteestate.org/issues/issues.asp; ıttp://www.ellenwhitedefend.com; http://www.ellengwhite.info

:oncerning your other question, just go to Google and type in "Jeanine Sautron". She's one of the nost striking examples of a recipient of "false dreams and visions" within our Adventist church of the ast 20 years. She was an Adventist lady living in France who claimed to be the successor of Ellen Vhite (as many others did before her) and supposedly received many visions. She had a lot of ;upporters and followers and did a lot of time-setting. She finally was disfellowshipped. Another ›xample would be that famous guy from Waco, Texas.
łowever, there are plenty of additional lesser known examples. I would recomend you to take a look ıt the following website: http://www.ellenwhitedefend.com/Another-Prophet.htm 3y the way, the GC receives every year plenty of reports of "visions and dreams" of Adventists who ;incerely belive that God gave them a message for the church. I am not sure which department takes :are of that and examines those claims but I would guess either the Biblical Research Institute or the Vhite Estate or the Ministerial Assiciaton should at least know about it.

.ast year there was the story of Soo that made the round, the Laotian sister who claims that she was niraculously heald of cancer and received several visions of an angel who gave her messages for ;everal leading Adventist evangelists as well as unclear prophecy of future events. She predicted that the whole world will be reached with the gospel, the Sunday Law will come 'after 2005' and Christ will :ome soon". Now, I honestly am not really sure what to think about her visions. I certainly do not łoubt her love for the Savior and her Christian character. But I can imagine that Satan, the enemy of he true Spirit of Prophecy, is just trying to imitate this gift as much as possible, "revealing" messages hat either just repeat already well known Bible truths, or are not immediately and easily discerned as ıot being from God. By this, he wants to discredit and render non-effective any true prophetic gift like he testimonies of sister White as well as any possible future true prophets or "tue" visions and łreams that God might want to send us, including the final fulfillment of Joel 2:28-29.

also want to recommend you to read the very interesting article by J. R. Spangler, "The Gift of ›rophecy and 'Thought Voices,'" in Ministry magazine from June 1986; if you have already the DJVU ›rowser plugin installed you can access it directly from:
ıttp://www.adventistarchives.org/docs/MIN/MIN1986-06/index.djvu
f not, this link will lead you to the site were you can download the plugin and also access the Ministry ssue: http://www.adventistarchives.org/doc_info.asp?DocID=6658

I am just briefly quoting two of his findings:

> QUOTE
>
> The phenomenon confronting the church
> The current spate of messages seems to be characterized by the following:
> 1. The individuals I am acquainted with who have been connected with this phenomenon are not wild-eyed fanatics. This may not be true of all who claim to be messengers, but those whom I know are sincere, dedicated Christians.
> 2. The purported messages come via three major methods of communication: dreams, visions, and "thought voices." (Some claim to have received a message on only one occasion; others claim multiple communications.)
> ...

By the way, in those quotations of Ellen White on "dreams & visions" that I posted before, there was a reference to "Anna Phillips" who had received visions that Ellen White declared as "false". Elder Spangler in his article states the following about her:

> QUOTE
>
> The above quotations dealt with the Anna Phillips problem. Anna Phillips was sincerely misguided into believing she was having visions from God. Fortunately, when she received Ellen White's counsel, she accepted it, and her supposed visions immediately stopped. She became a faithful Bible worker and served the church well for many years.

Posted by: awesumtenor Aug 21 2006, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 19 2006, 05:26 PM)
>
> okay but let's also be honest..... SHE SHOULD HAVE LEFT him..... yeah, I said it... the more I read about this dude, I am amazed that she stayed as long as she did.... again she should have left him....
>
> now whut?

Not as easy as it looks from our perspective... Danny being the megalomaniac and manipulator that he is would use fear and guilt and any other tool at his disposal to build a prison around Linda's mind where she couldn't walk away... it's like the experiments zoologists do with animals. put an animal in a cage and over time the idea of the limitation presented by the cage gets to the animal such that if the walls were removed, for a time the anilmal would continue to pace within the bounds of what used to be the cage and go no further.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Aug 21 2006, 01:23 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Aug 21 2006, 10:57 AM)
>
> Not as easy as it looks from our perspective... Danny being the megalomaniac and manipulator that he is would use fear and guilt and any other tool at his disposal to build a prison around Linda's mind where she couldn't walk away... it's like the experiments zoologists do with animals. put an animal in a cage and over time the idea of the limitation presented by the cage gets to the animal such that if the walls were removed, for a time the anilmal would continue to pace within the bounds of what used to be the cage and go no further.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

i know it is easier said than done.... and had he not thrown her out she would more than likely still be there.... my point was simply after all we have read about him..... she should have left that dude in the dust years ago.....

Posted by: Clay Aug 21 2006, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 21 2006, 09:08 AM)
>
> Clay,
> I would be very interested to learn more about those "inconsistencies" that you found comparing Ellen White's writings with the Bible. Actually, so far I personally didn't find any seeming contradictions etc. that couldn't be resolved.
> I am quite sure, for any kind or type of seeming contradiction or inconsistency between her writings and the Bible, I could show you a similar one within the Bible, between different authors of the Bible.

In the creation narrative, in the story of the crucifixion egw fills in the blanks where the bible is silent....

The bible does not mention anything about angels visiting Adam and Eve and telling them about Lucifer and to be wary... the bible says nothing about demons in human form taunting Jesus during the crucifixion......

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 21 2006, 04:07 PM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 21 2006, 11:08 AM)
>
> Clay,
> I would be very interested to learn more about those "inconsistencies" that you found comparing Ellen White's writings with the Bible. Actually, so far I personally didn't find any seeming contradictions etc. that couldn't be resolved.
> I am quite sure, for any kind or type of seeming contradiction or inconsistency between her writings and the Bible, I could show you a similar one within the Bible, between different authors of the Bible.
>
> This whole question of inconsistencies within or between inspired books all finally comes down to two issues:
> 1) How divine inspiration really and actually works;

> 2) And the question, or principles, of hermeneutics, of interpretation, taking into consideration the original languages, and especially the textual, historical, cultural, and religious contexts.

now I said I was "lurkin"...but here I go again.

here are "many" inconsistencies! One of the Biggest "inconsistencies" that I can think of is the EG Vhite definition of:
 - "amalgamation of man and beast" (the discussion of a man/beast that walks the face of the earth.
his has been loosely interpreted to be the "African-American/Black" race by many. I just find this a ıot mess as no animal and man can lie together and "procreate".....) lext we have.....
 - The EG White quote/"misquote" that speaks of Vegetarian/Vegans having a "higher spirituality" han that of Meat Eaters.
)h...and.....
 - The fact that "black pepper" doesn't "digest" and can form a ball in the stomach? Jethro Klauss ılso said this - I should have a tumor the size of a small nation if this is so.....

low...fa real - (seriously!) Back in lurk mode....

☒ sn

Posted by: Ralph Aug 21 2006, 04:58 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 19 2006, 03:26 PM)
>
> okay but let's also be honest..... SHE SHOULD HAVE LEFT him..... yeah, I said it... the more I read about this dude, I am amazed that she stayed as long as she did.... again she should have left him....

'eople who are in a healthy relationship have difficulty in wrapping their minds around the thought hat any woman would stay in an abusive home.

3UT for the woman who is in this kind of a home, it is far different. We call it "Battered Wife
;yndrome" -- and that doesn't necessarily mean that the woman has been physically battered. But ısychologically, her value of herself is lowered. She is not sure of herself and often believes the ıegative things that her husband has pounded into her over the years. A woman who comes from a vell-to-do home has a far harder time of leaving than a woman who lives in a chicken coop.

hink of all that Linda had to lose if she left. -- her husband, her home, the work that she loved and he knowledge that family members (and friends from around the world) may not believe her. That is ough. Probably only women who have gone through such an experience have the slightest idea of vhat I am talking about.

have seen women go back time after time, and it makes me so frustrated although I intellectually ınderstand why they do it. Fortunately for Linda, there was no coming back.

Posted by: inga Aug 21 2006, 06:56 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 21 2006, 05:07 PM)

> I now I said I was "lurkin"...but here I go again.
> <snip>
> 3 - The fact that "black pepper" doesn't "digest" and can form a ball in the stomach? Jethro Klauss also said this - I should have a tumor the size of a small nation if this is so.....
> sn

rofl That's as creative as some of the stories Dan puts out!
I've not run across that one by the Ellen I've read. Perhaps you can supply the source?

(All I've read is that pepper and other strong spices inflame the delicate linings of the stomach and desensitize the taste buds so that one is unable to appreciate more delicate flavors -- the latter not difficult to verify by casual observation.)

Posted by: saharafan Aug 22 2006, 05:23 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 21 2006, 07:46 PM)
>
> In the creation narrative, in the story of the crucifixion egw fills in the blanks where the bible is silent....
>
> The bible does not mention anything about angels visiting Adam and Eve and telling them about Lucifer and to be wary... the bible says nothing about demons in human form taunting Jesus during the crucifixion......

To be honest, I wouldn't consider those examples that you mentioned as "inconsistencies". You said it perfectly yourself, she "fills in the blanks where the Bible is silent". I don't have any problem with this statement, actually I would be very surprised if a true prophet would NOT give some new additonal information that cannot be found in the Bible but doesn't contradict any biblical principles and statements. Everything else would just be a mere repetition of the biblical text and message, and for that we don't need a prophet.

If God gave Ellen very detailed visions about the creation and even what happened before the creation in heaven, of the fall, the flood, the whole story of redemption etc. etc., and also about the various scenes and events of the life of Christ, including certainly the cruxifiction, I am not surprised that she wrote down what she saw in vision. And she claims to have received such visions.

She received over 2000 (two thousand) visions and dreams during her live and some of them took several hours. So I would expect to find in her writings some additional information even about biblical stories and events that will help the true believers during the end time crisis and for the world evangelisation. And her books have definitely had (and still have) a major impact on many souls who accept(ed) Christ or devellope(d) a much deeper personal relationship with Him because they read "Desire of Ages" etc.

This could also be described with the term "progressive revelation". In the Bible you also find John in his Gospel reporting many deeds and sayings of Christ which cannot be found in the synoptic Gospels (Matthew, Marc, Luke). And John wrote several decades after the other three writers, at a time when very few people were still alive who knew Jesus personally. Christians at his time needed important information that was not provided by the other books already existing at that time. So he "fills in the blanks where the other Gospel writers are silent".
Paul even claims, he has received his Gospel in vision directly from Christ himself. Galatians 1:11-12. He is not depending on the apostels and desciples of Jesus for his teachings, he was taught by Christ personally in visions. In some of his letters we find very valuable information which would not be availlable to us if we had only the four Gospels.

However, I certainly would have a problem if Ellen White would say something which would clearly contradict the Bible, but until now I couldn't find anything like that in her writings.

By the way, sister White was often asked for her opinion concerning various topics, including explanation of certain Bible texts and difficult theological questions, and many times she clearly responded, "I have received no information from God about this matter." She did not phantasize and invent stories. If you find in her writings descriptions of historical and especially biblical events that give more information than the original sources (e.g. the Bible), than you can be sure she has received this additional information from God, either directly in vision, or through divine guidance when using other writings. (Sometimes, like in Desire of Ages and Acts of the Apostels, she partly used also material from other contemporary Christian authors, but not without qualification; the Holy Spirit guided her like He guided Luke (Luke 1:1-4) in the choice of what material to use and what not. You can also assume that she has actually seen in vision much of what is described in that material that she copied from those other authors.) That's why you can trust her writings. 2. Timothy 3:16-17 and 2. Peter 1:19-21 can certainly also be applied to her writings.

Actually, in those two examples that you mentioned (creation story, cruxifiction), the way she described those events sounds quite logical to me. Any way, I am thankfull for this additional information on those events that helps me to understand God, His character, the story of redemption, the sacrifice of Jesus and the spiritual war in this world much better and deeper, and I praise God for that.

Posted by: saharafan Aug 22 2006, 06:04 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 21 2006, 10:07 PM) ☐
>
> I now I said I was "lurkin"...but here I go again.
>
> There are "many" inconsistencies! One of the Biggest "inconsistencies" that I can think of is the EG White definition of:
> 1 - "amalgamation of man and beast" (the discussion of a man/beast that walks the face of the earth. This has been loosely interpreted to be the "African-American/Black" race by many. I just find this a hot mess as no animal and man can lie together and "procreate".....)
> Next we have.....
> 2 - The EG White quote/"misquote" that speaks of Vegetarian/Vegans having a "higher spirituality" than that of Meat Eaters.
> Oh...and.....
> 3 - The fact that "black pepper" doesn't "digest" and can form a ball in the stomach? Jethro Klauss also said this - I should have a tumor the size of a small nation if this is so.....
>
> Now...fa real - (seriously!) Back in lurk mode....
>
> ☒ sn

Dear Princess
In these three "inconsistencies" that you mentioned, I cannot see any real inconsistency with the Bible, all three don't have anything to do with the Bible, only with your own personal perception, preference and prejudice.

1) Concerning the "Amalgamation" issue: Please read the statements on the following website: http://www.whiteestate.org/issues/faq-unus.html#unusual-section-c1
or even better explained and more in dept: http://www.whiteestate.org/issues/amalg.html
In short: It has nothing to do with amalgamation between man and beast, but "amalgamation of man and [of] beast". Before the flood, the "amalgamation of man" that she most probably refers to was the mingling in unholy marriages of the "sons of God" with the "daughters of man" (Genesis 6:1-2), the intermarriages of the children of Seth with those of Cain. This is the most probable and reasonable explanation of her first statement.
Her second "amalgamation of man and [of] beast" statement (there are only two), about "amalgamation" taking place after the flood until today, refers most probably and even more clearly in a similar sense to the "amalgamation" through marriages between persons of different human races (which, by the way, is not considered a sin in that second statement, contrary to the first one where it refered to marriages between believers and unbelievers resulting in apostasy and sin), and "amalgamation" among different species of animals.

Certainly, it is also possible to understand these two references in a different, much more problematic way, but the same principles that we use for interpreting the Scripture should also be used when interpreting other extra-canonical inspired writings like those of Ellen White. We need to interprete "problematic" passages, wether in the Bible or in Ellen White's writings, in the light of, and in harmony with, other related passages on the same basic subject that are clear and more easily understood, and also with logical reasoning where applicable.
Otherwise, you could find similar difficult statements in the Bible, a famous one for example, related to those amalgamation statements from sister White, the reference to the "sons of God" marrying the "daughters of men"; many evangelicals still believe this is about angels marrying human women. Or take Jesus' statement to the thief on the cross in Luke 23:43, "Today you will be with me in paradise"; Paul's difficult statements concerning the law and the Sabbath in Galatians 3:24-25; Colossians 2:14-16 etc. All these texts have several ways how they can be interpreted and understood, and it depends on our hermeneutic principles AND on our willingness to approach the text neutraly but with the desire to harmonize seeming contradictions with other clear passages on the same subject, if this is possible without twisting and squeezing the text. Our approach to the writings of Ellen White should be the same.

By the way, if that picture you use in this forum is an accurate picture of yourself, maybe your problem is perhaps that you yourself are a product of an "amalgamation of man and beast"?

2) and 3) I would need to know the exact reference to those statements you indicated that bother you so much. It would be difficult for me to deal with them without being able to read what she actually said, within its context. Also, I am not a medical doctor or nutritionist, who could certainly iluminate us on those statements, especially concerning the "pepper".
However, I think that your real problem simply is that you just love to eat pepper and meat (as Ellen White herself did by the way, an it was really difficult for her to give it up after she had received the health reform vision!). But I can comfort you, you are not alone; all throughout history many people were upset when prophets of God called upon them to give up certain things or sins they loved and to undergo reformation... Many prophets even died an early death because of that.

Posted by: Denny Aug 22 2006, 06:13 AM

"Her second "amalgamation of man and [of] beast" statement (there are only two), about "amalgamation" taking place after the flood until today, refers most probably and even more clearly in a similar sense to the "amalgamation" through marriages between persons of different human races (which, by the way, is not considered a sin in that second statement, contrary to the first one where it refered to marriages between believers and unbelievers resulting in apostasy and sin), and "amalgamation" among different species of animals."

There are no 'different human races'. Such thinking keeps the R word alive and happy

---

Posted by: justme Aug 22 2006, 06:56 AM

Am I missing something?
Does this belong in a NEW Topic?

1. What is the "R" and what does all this have to do with the "Dreams" or "Visions", or "Nightmares" at 3ABN? Not saying it doesn't belong here, just need help understanding ..

2. Is someone suggestion that there is some "inter-marriage" or "inner- marriage" going on at the compound?

2. According to the story of "The Contributor" are we to understand that "The Contributor" is insisting to the church president that the world church remain "closely-linked" to "the evangelist" or lose those millions of dollars?

3. I guess that the loss of millions of dollars for the world missions would create some questions about the evangelist. maybe it's time ... to stand up and be counted ...

Posted by: Clay Aug 22 2006, 07:51 AM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 22 2006, 06:23 AM)
>
> To be honest, I wouldn't consider those examples that you mentioned as "inconsistencies". You said it perfectly yourself, she "fills in the blanks where the Bible is silent". I don't have any problem with this statement, actually I would be very surprised if a true prophet would NOT give some new additonal information that cannot be found in the Bible but doesn't contradict any biblical principles and statements. Everything else would just be a mere repetition of the biblical text and message, and for that we don't need a prophet.
> snip.....

you are comfortable with that.... I am not.... in essence her words then become equal to the bible... and in adventism that has happened.... the story of the fall is told from the perspective of egw and not of the bible... that was/is my point....

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 22 2006, 08:51 AM

> QUOTE
>
> People who are in a healthy relationship have difficulty in wrapping their minds around the thought that any woman would stay in an abusive home.
>
> BUT for the woman who is in this kind of a home, it is far different. We call it "Battered Wife Syndrome" -- and that doesn't necessarily mean that the woman has been physically battered. But psychologically, her value of herself is lowered. She is not sure of herself and often believes the negative things that her husband has pounded into her over the years. A woman who comes from a well-to-do home has a far harder time of leaving than a woman who lives in a chicken coop.
>
> Think of all that Linda had to lose if she left. -- her husband, her home, the work that she loved and the knowledge that family members (and friends from around the world) may not believe her.

> That is tough. Probably only women who have gone through such an experience have the slightest idea of what I am talking about.
>
> I have seen women go back time after time, and it makes me so frustrated although I intellectually understand why they do it. Fortunately for Linda, there was no coming back.

EXACTLY until you have been in that type of relationship you have no clue how hard it is to finally eave. I was in one in my first marriage which lasted for 11 years---10 TOO LONG! I left at least 3 imes I can remember before finally making it a final break & it took someone else to give me the courage that I could do it. The sad thing is that if you don't get counseling which I didn't you have a endency to get back into that same kind of relationship maybe not as bad as the one before or in the same areas but it happens. It really stinks too & then you start it all over again. Maybe it will go onger & you think you have found the "right" one this time but unless you get HELP the cycle starts all over again.

Posted by: meadbd Aug 22 2006, 09:44 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 22 2006, 08:51 AM)
>
> you are comfortable with that.... I am not.... in essence her words then become equal to the bible... and in adventism that has happened.... the story of the fall is told from the perspective of egw and not of the bible... that was/is my point....

===

For the Christian the Bible is the final (or only) authority! But for many Adventists, this is clearly NOT he case.

Bill

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 22 2006, 11:03 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 21 2006, 08:56 PM)
>
> rofl That's as creative as some of the stories Dan puts out!
> I've not run across that one by the Ellen I've read. Perhaps you can supply the source?
>
> (All I've read is that pepper and other strong spices inflame the delicate linings of the stomach and desensitize the taste buds so that one is unable to appreciate more delicate flavors -- the latter not difficult to verify by casual observation.)

will search. I may be wrong - (and can admit if I am wrong) but I will search for my source....

BTW: Inga - That statement about "pepper" that you made is actually wrong. The stomach contains ACID. How would something that actually "breaks down pepper" - not "inflame the delicate linings of he stomach"...more than the ACID that/which sits there continually? Mind you ACID (when thrown up-[Bulimics]) burns the esophagus and rots the teeth - however pepper doesn't burn the esophagus and rot the teeth when eaten & swallowed w/ food.

I'm sure you can see where (by deduction) this makes no sense.

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 22 2006, 08:04 AM)
>
> Dear Princess
> In these three "inconsistencies" that you mentioned, I cannot see any real inconsistency with the Bible, all three don't have anything to do with the Bible, only with your own personal perception, preference and prejudice.

The "inconsistency" that I spoke of pertaining to "spirituality and diet" is in direct conflict with the Bible. Of course many don't want to see it or discuss it (as two previous threads have shown) - and this statement is also in direct conflict w/ the life that JESUS himself led.

As for the consistency w/ "amalgamation" - Denny broke that down below.....

> QUOTE(Denny @ Aug 22 2006, 08:13 AM)
>
> "Her second "amalgamation of man and [of] beast" statement (there are only two), about "amalgamation" taking place after the flood until today, refers most probably and even more clearly in a similar sense to the "amalgamation" through marriages between persons of different human races (which, by the way, is not considered a sin in that second statement, contrary to the first one where it refered to marriages between believers and unbelievers resulting in apostasy and sin), and "amalgamation" among different species of animals."
>
> There are no 'different human races'. Such thinking keeps the R word alive and happy

I was going to say it - but you beat me to it....

> QUOTE(justme @ Aug 22 2006, 08:56 AM)
>
> Am I missing something?
> Does this belong in a NEW Topic?
>
> 1. What is the "R" and what does all this have to do with the "Dreams" or "Visions", or "Nightmares" at 3ABN? Not saying it doesn't belong here, just need help understanding ..
>
> 2. Is someone suggestion that there is some "inter-marriage" or "inner- marriage" going on at the compound?
>
> 2. According to the story of "The Contributor" are we to understand that "The Contributor" is insisting to the church president that the world church remain "closely-linked" to "the evangelist" or lose those millions of dollars?
>
> 3. I guess that the loss of millions of dollars for the world missions would create some questions about the evangelist. maybe it's time ... to stand up and be counted ...

Actually you are right JustMe - the topic kinda went off when folks started discussing the dream/vision and how EGW had dreams and the conflict between EGW and thus it has went a bit off....

New topic? Yeah - I agree...but it has been discussed I believe....
As for the what the "R" is - it's stands for "Racist"/"Racism"

Sorry - we are a bit - but all that aside.... there are "inconsistencies" within EGW's writings with the BIBLE and even with HERSELF.

Okay....
Lurking again....

Posted by: msraccoon Aug 22 2006, 02:08 PM

Yes 'justme' and 'PrincessDrRe'. This thread has gotten so off topic(s) from the original letter from Barbara Kerr. I noticed this awhile back. I was hoping to hear more discussion on her comments. I am still contemplating a reply to it.

I was elated at Barbara's first letter, now pinned, about Linda. However this one has given me pause and I have now have mixed feelings about Barbara's credibility.

Can we get back to topic?

msraccoon

Posted by: inga Aug 22 2006, 02:26 PM

Thanks, Saharafan, for this excellent explanation.

And, Clay, I have no problem with accepting a prophet as having the same kind of inspiration as those prophets who went before as well as the same authority -- after the prophet has been tested and proven to be a genuine prophet who speaks in harmony with all God revealed before. That, of course, would put Ellen White in a similar categor as the Bible and it would also mean that we would study the Bible more than her writings, because that's what she counseled us to do. Ellen clearly instructed that we were not to use her writings as "authority," and she continually points her hearers and readers back to the Scriptures.

Of course, if you believe that the gift of prophecy stopped when the biblical canon was complete, you cannot accept Ellen White as a prophet and therefore cannot accept her authority.

By the way, I agree that her writings have been abused/misused. However, that is not her fault, but the fault of those who love to use her writings for their own purposes -- usually of "correcting" others, a practice she specifically condemned.

I have found that her writings have helped me appreciate the Bible more, and they have given me a clearer picture of Jesus and thus made it easier for me to develop a relationship with Him. I have had the experience of lending out such books as Steps to Christ and Desire of Ages to those not of our faith and have them conclude that "that woman must have been inspired."

I find it sad when some of our own people miss the blessings God intended us to have by giving us very personal and specific counsel through His gift of prophecy in the person of Ellen White. But it really mystifies me when those who will not accept Ellen as a true prophet of God are quite willing to accept visions and dreams currently related by various individuals as revelations from

God. How does that compute?

Most of this topic is relevant to the original post because it deals with genuine vs. counterfeit revelations from God.

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 22 2006, 07:04 AM)
>
> Dear Princess
> In these three "inconsistencies" that you mentioned, I cannot see any real inconsistency with the Bible, all three don't have anything to do with the Bible, only with your own personal perception, preference and prejudice.
>
> 1) Concerning the "Amalgamation" issue: Please read the statements on the following website: http://www.whiteestate.org/issues/faq-unus.html#unusual-section-c1
> or even better explained and more in dept: http://www.whiteestate.org/issues/amalg.html
> In short: It has nothing to do with amalgamation between man and beast, but "amalgamation of man and [of] beast". Before the flood, the "amalgamation of man" that she most probably refers to was the mingling in unholy marriages of the "sons of God" with the "daughters of man" (Genesis 6:1-2), the intermarriages of the children of Seth with those of Cain. This is the most probable and reasonable explanation of her first statement.
> Her second "amalgamation of man and [of] beast" statement (there are only two), about "amalgamation" taking place after the flood until today, refers most probably and even more clearly in a similar sense to the "amalgamation" through marriages between persons of different human races (which, by the way, is not considered a sin in that second statement, contrary to the first one where it refered to marriages between believers and unbelievers resulting in apostasy and sin), and "amalgamation" among different species of animals.
>
> Certainly, it is also possible to understand these two references in a different, much more problematic way, but the same principles that we use for interpreting the Scripture should also be used when interpreting other extra-canonical inspired writings like those of Ellen White. We need to interprete "problematic" passages, wether in the Bible or in Ellen White's writings, in the light of, and in harmony with, other related passages on the same basic subject that are clear and more easily understood, and also with logical reasoning where applicable.
> Otherwise, you could find similar difficult statements in the Bible, a famous one for example, related to those amalgamation statements from sister White, the reference to the "sons of God" marrying the "daughters of men"; many evangelicals still believe this is about angels marrying human women. Or take Jesus' statement to the thief on the cross in Luke 23:43, "Today you will be with me in paradise"; Paul's difficult statements concerning the law and the Sabbath in Galatians 3:24-25; Colossians 2:14-16 etc. All these texts have several ways how they can be interpreted and understood, and it depends on our hermeneutic principles AND on our willingness to approach the text neutraly but with the desire to harmonize seeming contradictions with other clear passages on the same subject, if this is possible without twisting and squeezing the text. Our approach to the writings of Ellen White should be the same.
>
> By the way, if that picture you use in this forum is an accurate picture of yourself, maybe your problem is perhaps that you yourself are a product of an "amalgamation of man and beast"?
>
> 2) and 3) I would need to know the exact reference to those statements you indicated that bother you so much. It would be difficult for me to deal with them without being able to read what she actually said, within its context. Also, I am not a medical doctor or nutritionist, who could certainly iluminate us on those statements, especially concerning the "pepper".
> However, I think that your real problem simply is that you just love to eat pepper and meat (as Ellen White herself did by the way, an it was really difficult for her to give it up after she had received the health reform vision!). But I can comfort you, you are not alone; all throughout history many people were upset when prophets of God called upon them to give up certain things or sins they loved and to undergo reformation... Many prophets even died an early death because of that.

Posted by: justme Aug 22 2006, 05:00 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 22 2006, 04:08 PM)
>
> Yes 'justme' and 'PrincessDrRe'. This thread has gotten so off topic(s) from the original letter from Barbara Kerr. I noticed this awhile back. I was hoping to hear more discussion on her comments. I am still contemplating a reply to it.
>
> I was elated at Barbara's first letter, now pinned, about Linda. However this one has given me pause and I have now have mixed feelings about Barbara's credibility.
>
> Can we get back to topic?
>
> msraccoon

hanks, "PrincessDrRe" and "msracoon", he second "Barbara" letter. Here is an example of how we selectively[i][u] believe. The first letter Pinned" by Barbara bears witness to much of what is already known about the compound and it's nhabitants.

he second letter was related to her by another individual. That makes it "second hand". The first, Pinned", letter is a first-hand experience. When we hear something that may please us we tend easily o acceptit even if the content is sad. If we hear something of "what???" was that about? we tend to aise an eyebrow. It is as we should do.

arbara's credibility should not be questioned for passing along the "DREAM/VISION? letter any more han the rest of the "posters"'s credibility.
Ve trust first hand reports more than second had and we think nothing of it. We question the validity of the "DreamVision", not that it was passed along. It really does fit into this issue of what is going on t 3ABN and what the future may hold.
las anyone else had a dream of what might become of Danny or 3ABN? or was it more of a ightmare?

Posted by: västergötland Aug 22 2006, 05:19 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 22 2006, 06:03 PM)
>
> BTW: Inga - That statement about "pepper" that you made is actually wrong. The stomach contains ACID. How would something that actually "breaks down pepper" - not "inflame the delicate linings of the stomach"...more than the ACID that/which sits there continually? Mind you ACID (when thrown up-[Bulimics]) burns the esophagus and rots the teeth - however pepper doesn't burn the esophagus and rot the teeth when eaten & swallowed w/ food.
>
> I'm sure you can see where (by deduction) this makes no sense.

The stomach dealing with acid while not dealing with other some other substances is comparable with a fur coat being great to wear when in a snowfall but quite useless if fighting a fire in a house.

Posted by: beartrap Aug 22 2006, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 22 2006, 03:08 PM)
>
> Yes 'justme' and 'PrincessDrRe'. This thread has gotten so off topic(s) from the original letter from Barbara Kerr. I noticed this awhile back. I was hoping to hear more discussion on her comments. I am still contemplating a reply to it.
>
> I was elated at Barbara's first letter, now pinned, about Linda. However this one has given me pause and I have now have mixed feelings about Barbara's credibility.
>
> Can we get back to topic?
>
> msraccoon

Whether it is something just being passed along, or whether it reflects her theological beliefs, Barbara's "Dreams & Visions Concerning 3ABN" post has nothing to do with her credibility as a witness. What happened, happened, she witnessed it, and thats all there is to it.

Posted by: Clay Aug 22 2006, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 22 2006, 03:26 PM)
>
> Thanks, Saharafan, for this excellent explanation.
>
> And, Clay, I have no problem with accepting a prophet as having the same kind of inspiration as those prophets who went before as well as the same authority -- after the prophet has been tested and proven to be a genuine prophet who speaks in harmony with all God revealed before. That, of course, would put Ellen White in a similar categor as the Bible and it would also mean that we would study the Bible more than her writings, because that's what she counseled us to do. Ellen clearly instructed that we were not to use her writings as "authority," and she continually points her hearers and readers back to the Scriptures.
>
> Of course, if you believe that the gift of prophecy stopped when the biblical canon was complete, you cannot accept Ellen White as a prophet and therefore cannot accept her authority.
>
> By the way, I agree that her writings have been abused/misused. However, that is not her fault, but the fault of those who love to use her writings for their own purposes -- usually of "correcting" others, a practice she specifically condemned.
>
> I have found that her writings have helped me appreciate the Bible more, and they have given me a clearer picture of Jesus and thus made it easier for me to develop a relationship with Him. I have had the experience of lending out such books as Steps to Christ and Desire of Ages to those not of our faith and have them conclude that "that woman must have been inspired."
>
> I find it sad when some of our own people miss the blessings God intended us to have by giving us very personal and specific counsel through His gift of prophecy in the person of Ellen White. But it > really mystifies me when those who will not accept Ellen as a true prophet of God are quite willing to accept visions and dreams currently related by various individuals as revelations from God. How does that compute?

>
> Most of this topic is relevant to the original post because it deals with genuine vs. counterfeit revelations from God.

here is one authority, that would be God... not the bible, not egw, not the church...

Posted by: saharafan Aug 22 2006, 07:34 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Aug 22 2006, 11:36 PM)
>
> Whether it is something just being passed along, or whether it reflects her theological beliefs, Barbara's "Dreams & Visions Concerning 3ABN" post has nothing to do with her credibility as a witness. What happened, happened, she witnessed it, and thats all there is to it.

Vhat was expressed by beartrap and others is definitely true; we need to make a difference between ier witnessing her own personal factual experiences with 3ABN in her pinned letter and her reporting he dreams of her friend. Her "credibility" certainly is not at all touched by her statements about those lreams. I want to add that I really appreciate that she wrote that letter and was even willing to dentify and expose herself by doing so. That propably took a lot of courage, and this should be ecognized. I also am thankful for her reporting that dream although I personally don't agree with her nterpretation of it.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 22 2006, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Aug 22 2006, 06:19 PM)
>
> The stomach dealing with acid while not dealing with other some other substances is comparable with a fur coat being great to wear when in a snowfall but quite useless if fighting a fire in a house.

don't think you're seeing what I'm saying...... I get what you're saying...but I've been told - this is ofl

Posted by: inga Aug 23 2006, 12:01 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 22 2006, 08:11 PM)
>
> there is one authority, that would be God... not the bible, not egw, not the church...

How do you recognize that it is God speaking?

I know that the work of the Holy Spirit has been mentioned, but the question remains: How do you know of the Holy Spirit?

Is all "spirituality" (i.e. Hinduism, Vodooism, Scientology, Mormonism, Islam, Shintoism, etc.) a way of experiencing/hearing God?

Does the Holy Spirit ever contradict what has been revealed and recorded in the Scriptures?

Posted by: inga Aug 23 2006, 12:27 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 22 2006, 12:03 PM) ☐
>
> BTW: Inga - That statement about "pepper" that you made is actually wrong. The stomach contains ACID. How would something that actually "breaks down pepper" - not "inflame the delicate linings of the stomach"...more than the ACID that/which sits there continually?

H'mm, DrRe, are you also working on a PhD in Physiology that you write with such authority on the subject? (I.e. why should I believe you rather than Ellen White?)

Posted by: Johann Aug 23 2006, 06:49 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 23 2006, 08:27 AM) ☐
>
> H'mm, DrRe, are you also working on a PhD in Physiology that you write with such authority on the subject? (I.e. why should I believe you rather than Ellen White?)

☒ off

Posted by: saharafan Aug 23 2006, 07:42 AM

I intend this to be hopefully my last "off-topic post" on this forum on the subject of Ellen White and the Spirit of Prophecy. I do not want to try to convince anybody of my viewpoint, but I do want to explain myself in order not to be misunderstood.

I am quoting the Fundamental Belief #18, "The Gift of Prophecy", of the SDA church from http://www.adventist.org/beliefs/fundamental/index.html Emphasis added is mine.

> QUOTE
>
> 18. The Gift of Prophecy:
> One of the gifts of the Holy Spirit is prophecy. This gift is an identifying mark of the remnant church and was manifested in the ministry of Ellen. G. White. As the Lord's messenger, her writings are a continuing and authoritative source of truth which provide for the church comfort, guidance, instruction, and correction. They also make clear that the Bible is the standard by which all teaching and experience must be tested. (Joel 2:28, 29; Acts 2:14-honestly feel a little bit sorry that I feel the need to defend my believe in the validity and "biblical orrectnes" of this fundamental believe of my church on this "Black SDA" Website to other Adventists. et me say that every and any authority that I or the official SDA church attribute to Ellen White nd/or her writings is solely based on and derived from the Bible and the Bible alone. I believe that her writings are a continuing and authoritative source of truth" simply because the Bible instructs ne to do so.

> 21; Heb. 1:1-3; Rev. 12:17; 19:10.)

also see no contradiction at all in her "version" of the story of the Fall of Adam and Eve and the one ound in Genesis 3, but rather a harmonic blending, by the way. But that is, admittedly, my personal iewpoint.

am somehow surprised, however, that some dear Adventist brothers or sisters who take issue with his fundamental believe and have a problem to accept her visions and dreams as genuinely from God nd her writings as inspired and an "authoritative source of truth" without pointing out which biblical est of the true prophetic gift she fails to pass, are at the same time readily willing to accept nqualifiedly a second-hand report on another woman's visions or dreams without putting her nessage to the same biblical test. This I am not able to understand, honestly.

gain, certainly the Bible is the prime and original authority, and every authority given to other extra-iblical sources claiming inspiration must definitely be derived from the Bible, and the Bible only. But ince the Bible itself attributes authority to extra-biblical true prophets and prophecy, and even redicts that the "Testimony of Jesus" or the "Spirit of Prophecy" will again be given to Christ's true hurch in the end-time (Revelation 12 etc.), I feel biblically justified to attribute the same kind of uthority that the Bible has to me also to the message of this biblically predicted "Spirit of Prophecy" nce it has been thoroughly examined and biblically vindicated: DIVINE AUTHORITY.

he reason I posted those quotes from sister White's writings about "visions & dreams" was because I hought that we can learn a lot more from her refereces to this issue simply because she often had to leal with it, than from the rather few and not-so-clear biblical references, although some certainly do xist. It was an attempt to help us to understand better the issues involved and the danger of ccepting and following false dreams or messages from evil spirits, and the importance and need to ut those dreams and messages to the biblical test. And I thought since it would be mainly SDA's who vould read it, this wouldn't be a problem. Ellen White's writings should never be used to "proof" nything in any discussion with persons who are not really convinced of her inspiration and have not ully accepted her writings as an "authoritative source of truth" but still have doubts about her.

y the way, although I am personally a vegetarian by choice, I do love to eat cheese and spicy hot oods (including black pepper) and even chocolate from time to time, although sister Withe clearly liscourages the consumption of these. However, I don't have a problem with her because of her dvice that these things are not healthy for our bodies and should better not be consumed. I do elieve that she is right with this. I see the problem rather with me and my present personal attitude owards these "foods". Therefore the inconsistency here is not between her writings and the Bible but etween her "inspired and authoritative" recommendations and my lifestyle. So I am not "holier" than nyone of you. However, at the same time I also wouldn't say that I am "living in sin" because of this. ut I still have the hope and the aim that one day I will get rid of those things...

do want to appologize for using the term "human races" for referring to different ethnicities; English s not my mother tongue and I was not aware that this term might possibly hurt somebody, and ustifiably so, who has either suffered personally because of his or her ethnic origin, or who feels it to e very inappropriate considering the unimaginable harm that has been done during the last several enturies to African peoples and other "races" because of the evil mindset and worldview that is or has een often connected with this term. Let me say that, being myself of European descent, several of ny closest and best friends are black Africans (given the fact that I live in Africa) and that I don't feel n any way superior or better than they. So please feel free to replace this term with "ethnic people roups" or whatever else you deem appropriate.

will no further contribute to this discussion on Ellen White's writings.

Posted by: Clay Aug 23 2006, 07:47 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 23 2006, 12:01 AM)
>
> How do you recognize that it is God speaking?
>
> I know that the work of the Holy Spirit has been mentioned, but the question remains: How do you know of the Holy Spirit?
>
> Is all "spirituality" (i.e. Hinduism, Vodooism, Scientology, Mormonism, Islam, Shintoism, etc.) a way of experiencing/hearing God?
>
> Does the Holy Spirit ever contradict what has been revealed and recorded in the Scriptures?

How do I recognize my wife when I call her on the phone? I know her voice and she knows mine..... how? because we have a relationship..... How do I know the holy spirit? He has a voice too that I recognize....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 23 2006, 07:47 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 23 2006, 01:27 AM)
>
> H'mm, DrRe, are you also working on a PhD in Physiology that you write with such authority on the subject? (I.e. why should I believe you rather than Ellen White?)

☒ ofl - but also did an "extensive" study of my Advisor's Dissertation on the topic. If anywhere near AU stop in the Education & Counseling Department (@ Bell Hall) - I will be there nightly during the week finishing up my coursework.

We can go over the "dissertation" and the research - that shows the "inconsistencies" - with her writings in regards to the BIBLE and also herself. However statements like this normally come from those that have only read the "circulating" books and not her archived work.

BOT!

Still lurkin'....

☒ sn

Posted by: Clay Aug 23 2006, 07:51 AM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 23 2006, 07:42 AM)

> I intend this to be hopefully my last "off-topic post" on this forum on the subject of Ellen White and the Spirit of Prophecy. I do not want to try to convince anybody of my viewpoint, but I do want to explain myself in order not to be misunderstood.
>
> I am quoting the Fundamental Belief #18, "The Gift of Prophecy", of the SDA church from http://www.adventist.org/beliefs/fundamental/index.html Emphasis added is mine.
>
> I honestly feel a little bit sorry that I feel the need to defend my believe in the validity and "biblical correctnes" of this fundamental believe of my church on this "Black SDA" Website to other Adventists. Let me say that every and any authority that I or the official SDA church attribute to Ellen White and/or her writings is solely based on and derived from the Bible and the Bible alone. I believe that "her writings are a continuing and authoritative source of truth" simply because the Bible instructs me to do so.
> I also see no contradiction at all in her "version" of the story of the Fall of Adam and Eve and the one found in Genesis 3, but rather a harmonic blending, by the way. But that is, admittedly, my personal viewpoint.
>
> I am somehow surprised, however, that some dear Adventist brothers or sisters who take issue with this fundamental believe and have a problem to accept her visions and dreams as genuinely from God and her writings as inspired and an "authoritative source of truth" without pointing out which biblical test of the true prophetic gift she fails to pass, are at the same time readily willing to accept unqualifiedly a second-hand report on another woman's visions or dreams without putting her message to the same biblical test. This I am not able to understand, honestly.
>
> Again, certainly the Bible is the prime and original authority, and every authority given to other extra-biblical sources claiming inspiration must definitely be derived from the Bible, and the Bible only. But since the Bible itself attributes authority to extra-biblical true prophets and prophecy, and even predicts that the "Testimony of Jesus" or the "Spirit of Prophecy" will again be given to Christ's true church in the end-time (Revelation 12 etc.), I feel biblically justified to attribute the same kind of authority that the Bible has to me also to the message of this biblically predicted "Spirit of Prophecy" once it has been thoroughly examined and biblically vindicated: DIVINE AUTHORITY.
>
> The reason I posted those quotes from sister White's writings about "visions & dreams" was because I thought that we can learn a lot more from her refereces to this issue simply because she often had to deal with it, than from the rather few and not-so-clear biblical references, although some certainly do exist. It was an attempt to help us to understand better the issues involved and the danger of accepting and following false dreams or messages from evil spirits, and the importance and need to put those dreams and messages to the biblical test. And I thought since it would be mainly SDA's who would read it, this wouldn't be a problem. Ellen White's writings should never be used to "proof" anything in any discussion with persons who are not really convinced of her inspiration and have not fully accepted her writings as an "authoritative source of truth" but still have doubts about her.
>
> snip...

thanks for sharing your views, and you can continue discussing the as long as there is interest.... not everyone will agree with you and not everyone must agree... in the end egw is not the savior and it is not necessary to believe "in her" to be saved.... not all adventists believe the same thing as you know so you don't have to look at it as defending your beliefs as much as sharing where you are in your christian walk....

As for the 28 fundamentals.... if they work for you, thats cool...

let me add you don't do everything the bible instructs you to do.... the bible says sabbathbreakers should be put to death.... the bible says to stone to death rebellious children.... you don't obey those directives because what?

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 24 2006, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Aug 22 2006, 06:00 PM)
>
> Thanks, "PrincessDrRe" and "msracoon",
>
> The second "Barbara" letter. Here is an example of how we selectively[i][u] believe. The first letter "Pinned" by Barbara bears witness to much of what is already known about the compound and it's inhabitants.
> The second letter was related to her by another individual. That makes it "second hand". The first, "Pinned", letter is a first-hand experience. When we hear something that may please us we tend easily to acceptit even if the content is sad. If we hear something of "what???" was that about? we tend to raise an eyebrow. It is as we should do.
>
> Barbara's credibility should not be questioned for passing along the "DREAM/VISION? letter any more than the rest of the "posters"'s credibility.
> We trust first hand reports more than second had and we think nothing of it. We question the validity of the "DreamVision", not that it was passed along. It really does fit into this issue of what is going on at 3ABN and what the future may hold.
> Has anyone else had a dream of what might become of Danny or 3ABN? or was it more of a nightmare?

Hi Everyone,

Thank you JustMe and all of you for being so gracious in your replies to the letter that I posted. As I have read back through your responses this past week I have seen that you have had quite the "lively" conversation. WOW. I had no idea that all of this conversation would be generated from the dreams.

Someone posted a bunch of questions way back on one of the first few pages asking why would these dreams even be published? What was the purpose? Was there an interpretation?

I have been thinking a lot about those questions, and want to say that God has NOT revealed to me any special interpretation, but if I was a guessing woman, and having been personally in the middle of the 3abn "mess", I'm guessing that the purpose of the dreams being posted really has absolutely nothing to do with "us" (those that are not the 3abn family).

When a person builds themselves a castle and then surrounds it with guards so that no one can approach TC1 (the chosen one), this post may have happened for the soul purpose of trying to send out a wake up call to those that are so busy working FOR God that they don't seem to have time to listen TO God. God always gives us EVERY opportunity to turn our lives around and make things right. Danny is no different -- but will he actually listen??? I hope so.

Thanks again for the stimulating conversation and for the sweet emails you have sent. I have enjoyed reading every one of them.

Hugs,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 24 2006, 08:12 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 23 2006, 08:47 AM)
>
> How do I recognize my wife when I call her on the phone? I know her voice and she knows mine..... how? because we have a relationship..... How do I know the holy spirit? He has a voice too that I recognize....

Hi Clay,
You truly hit the nail on the head. It's easy to spend time learning about God without spending time "with" God. I promise you I recognize my best friends voice everytime I hear it. Why? Because we have spent hours and hours and hours talking over the past 14 years. And we have the phone bills to prove it! rofl

I am not embarrassed or ashamed to tell everyone that it is my practice to ask God to "speak" to me from His word EVERY morning before I begin reading my Bible. I never used to do that, but it has become one of the most precious parts of my daily devotional time. If you don't think that God will speak to you, just pray for the Holy Spirit to lead you and try it.

The other thing that I never used to do that is really cool, is to ask God to wake you up in the morning when He wants to spend time with you. You will find yourself awake at least an hour before you usually get up. No alarm clocks needed. I love this time with God. I crave it now and I can't live with out it.

I'm not ashamed or embarrassed to shout from the highest mountain top that I recognize the voice of God when He speaks to me. There is a huge difference between God's voice in my ear, and the voice of the evil one. People can debate it forever -- but just like a picture is like a thousand words, ... this is something that is necessary to experience on your own. If you are not sure whos voice is speaking to you, then I encourage you to go to your knees for answers. Put out your fleece if necessary. God will answer.

Warmly,
Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Fran Aug 24 2006, 08:17 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 24 2006, 09:12 PM)
>
> Hi Clay,
> You truly hit the nail on the head. It's easy to spend time learning about God without spending time "with" God. I promise you I recognize my best friends voice everytime I hear it. Why? Because we have spent hours and hours and hours talking over the past 14 years. And we have the phone bills to prove it! rofl
>
> I am not embarrassed or ashamed to tell everyone that it is my practice to ask God to "speak" to me from His word EVERY morning before I begin reading my Bible. I never used to do that, but it has become one of the most precious parts of my daily devotional time. If you don't think that God will speak to you, just pray for the Holy Spirit to lead you and try it.
>
> The other thing that I never used to do that is really cool, is to ask God to wake you up in the morning when He wants to spend time with you. You will find yourself awake at least an hour before you usually get up. No alarm clocks needed. I love this time with God. I crave it now and I > can't live with out it.

>
> I'm not ashamed or embarrassed to shout from the highest mountain top that I recognize the voice of God when He speaks to me. There is a huge difference between God's voice in my ear, and the voice of the evil one. People can debate it forever -- but just like a picture is like a thousand words, ... this is something that is necessary to experience on your own. If you are not sure whos voice is speaking to you, then I encourage you to go to your knees for answers. Put out your fleece if necessary. God will answer.
>
> Warmly,
> Barbara Kerr

hank you Barbara! This is so true!

Posted by: inga Aug 24 2006, 08:37 PM

Barbara, thanks for your lovely post sharing your experience.

Yes, God speaks to us individually when we spend time with Him. My question was actually intended to demonstrate that our knowledge of God and Who He is and Who the Holy Spirit is is founded in Scripture -- at least in a society where the Scriptures are readily available. God's written Word is His chief intended means of communicating with us because it is the only objective standard we have to recognize whether the voice we hear is His or simply our own thoughts or even (God forbid) that of the great deceiver.

I previously asked on what basis we believe that we hear the voice of the Creator and that our hearing is better than those who hear Allah or the voice of their personal spirit or any of the multitude of voices in this world. Again, I had hoped to draw attention to the primacy of the Scriptures.

Clay mentioned that he recognizes the voice of the Holy Spirit the way he recognizes the voice of his wife. What he omitted to mention was that he actually saw his wife when he got acquainted with her. He spent time with her physically, he works with her, plays with her, etc. When we speak of knowing the Holy Spirit we do not have the same advantage as when we speak of knowing our spouses. We do not see the Holy Spirit or touch Him physically (thinking of the sight-impaired), so we must learn to recognize Him by other means. When we recognize our spouse's voice over the phone it is because we have heard them in person while seeing them, and their voice is the same as what we have come to know. Similarly, the voice of the Spirit speaks in the same manner as He has spoken in the past, and the Scriptures demonstrate what He has said in the past. In othe words, we get to know Him through the Scriptures and thus learn to recognize His voice when He speaks to us in other ways.

Without any objective check of the "voice" we hear, we cannot know whose voice it is. There are many sincere folks who hear "the Holy Spirit" say things quite contrary to the Scriptures, and I believe they are not hearing the Holy Spirit.

Again, thank you Barbara for your practical sharing of how we may hear the Holy Spirit and know that He's the One speaking.

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 24 2006, 09:12 PM)
>
> Hi Clay,
> You truly hit the nail on the head. It's easy to spend time learning about God without spending time "with" God. I promise you I recognize my best friends voice everytime I hear it. Why? Because we > have spent hours and hours and hours talking over the past 14 years. And we have the phone bills to prove it! rofl

>
> I am not embarrassed or ashamed to tell everyone that it is my practice to ask God to "speak" to me from His word EVERY morning before I begin reading my Bible. I never used to do that, but it has become one of the most precious parts of my daily devotional time. If you don't think that God will speak to you, just pray for the Holy Spirit to lead you and try it.
>
> The other thing that I never used to do that is really cool, is to ask God to wake you up in the morning when He wants to spend time with you. You will find yourself awake at least an hour before you usually get up. No alarm clocks needed. I love this time with God. I crave it now and I can't live with out it.
>
> I'm not ashamed or embarrassed to shout from the highest mountain top that I recognize the voice of God when He speaks to me. There is a huge difference between God's voice in my ear, and the voice of the evil one. People can debate it forever -- but just like a picture is like a thousand words, ... this is something that is necessary to experience on your own. If you are not sure whos voice is speaking to you, then I encourage you to go to your knees for answers. Put out your fleece if necessary. God will answer.
>
> Warmly,
> Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 24 2006, 10:16 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 24 2006, 09:37 PM)
>
> Barbara, thanks for your lovely post sharing your experience.
>
> Yes, God speaks to us individually when we spend time with Him. My question was actually intended to demonstrate that our knowledge of God and Who He is and Who the Holy Spirit is is founded in Scripture -- at least in a society where the Scriptures are readily available. God's written Word is His chief intended means of communicating with us because it is the only objective standard we have to recognize whether the voice we hear is His or simply our own thoughts or even (God forbid) that of the great deceiver.
>
> I previously asked on what basis we believe that we hear the voice of the Creator and that our hearing is better than those who hear Allah or the voice of their personal spirit or any of the multitude of voices in this world. Again, I had hoped to draw attention to the primacy of the Scriptures.
>
> Clay mentioned that he recognizes the voice of the Holy Spirit the way he recognizes the voice of his wife. What he omitted to mention was that he actually saw his wife when he got acquainted with her. He spent time with her physically, he works with her, plays with her, etc. When we speak of knowing the Holy Spirit we do not have the same advantage as when we speak of knowing our spouses. We do not see the Holy Spirit or touch Him physicall (thinking of the sight-impaire), so we must learn to recognize Him by other means. When we recognize our spouse's voice over the phone it is because we have heard them in person while seeing them, and their voice is the same as what we have come to know. Similarly, the voice of the Spirit speaks in the same manner as He has spoken in the past, and the Scriptures demonstrate what He has said in the past. In othe words, we get to know Him through the Scriptures and thus learn to recognize His voice when He speaks to us in other ways.

> Without any objective check of the "voice" we hear, we cannot know whose voice it is. There are many sincere folks who hear "the Holy Spirit" say things quite contrary to the Scriptures, and I believe they are not hearing the Holy Spirit.
>
> Again, thank you Barbara for your practical sharing of how we may hear the Holy Spirit and know that He's the One speaking.

Hi Inga, always enjoy reading your comments and I do hear what you are asking.

totally agree that there are many sincere folks who hear "the Holy Spirit" say things that are quite contrary to the Scriptures, and I too believe they are not hearing the Holy Spirit.

t has to do with how we are raised. One of my close friends was raised by a practicing witch. As a child she learned how to "use the gifts that she had been given by the spirits". She also became accustomed to speaking a language that belonged in spirit worship. She grew up using her "special gifts" and speaking this language.

Did my friend think she was living a good life and would be rewarded with something great like being re-incarnated as something really cool the "next time around"? Absolutely!

After her mother became a born again SDA Christian, she began praying for her daughter to come to know Christ. The daughter began to attend church (but not an sda church). She joined a pentecostal church. She abruptly stopped going one day after she was given the "gift of speaking in tongues" and realized that the language they spoke was EXACTLY the same as that spoken during her days as a practicing witch!

am thrilled to say that she is a vibrant and "on-fire" SDA Christian today, using her experiences to help educate the public on the differences between the Lord and the deceptions of the evil one. Her name is Stephanie Armstrong, and she has a wonderful ministry.

nga, a big part of the answer to your question is that I personally have accepted the Bible as my "home plate". Once a person accepts the Bible, and the Bible alone, as their compass then they can make statements in faith (as I did in the previous post) about knowing the voice of the Holy Spirit. I'm sure that the people that become accustomed to listening to the voice of the evil one also know his voice. Each one may believe that the other is deceived, but that is where study comes in. We have to know what we believe and why, (I'm speaking to myself here too) and then we have to find a comfort evel with it.

With as much spiritualism as there is in today's world, we need to fervently pray for one another, our marriages, our children and our extended families. If the evil one is doubling and tripling his forces to break up families, then isn't it time we double and triple our prayer time? Just a thought.

Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Ralph Aug 25 2006, 10:20 AM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 24 2006, 10:16 PM)
>
> After her mother became a born again SDA Christian, she began praying for her daughter to come > to know Christ. The daughter began to attend church (but not an sda church). She joined a pentecostal church. She abruptly stopped going one day after she was given the "gift of speaking in tongues" and realized that the language they spoke was EXACTLY the same as that spoken during her days as a practicing witch!

hanks for the insightful post, Barbara. That answered a big question for me. I am wondering how nuch the Pentecostal background of some key figures has infiltrated 3ABN.

Posted by: saharafan Aug 26 2006, 09:57 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 23 2006, 01:47 PM) ☐
>
> How do I recognize my wife when I call her on the phone? I know her voice and she knows mine..... how? because we have a relationship..... How do I know the holy spirit? He has a voice too that I recognize....

he point is that you are used to the physical voice of your wife. You have past experience of her alking to you, and you listening to her (and that's great because wifes appreciate that when their usbands take time to listen to them...). In the past you could know without any doubt that it is eally the person that is now your wife that is talking because you actually saw her talking to you, and nore than once I assume. And you have good reason to assume there is only one person in the world hat speaks exactly like her. That is why you know and reconize her voice now, even if you don't see er talking to you because you look into a different direction, have your eyes closed, or you talk ogether on the phone.

imilarly, IF you would be a genuine "true" prophet of God, verified and validated by the Bible, nd therefore you would be used/acustomed to/experienced with receiving genuine visions and reams from God in the past that have already been thoroughly examined according to biblical tandards and past the test, then I would accept if you said you know the physical voice of God/the oly Spirit and you recognize Him speaking; then I would believe you if you said that you have eceived a vision from God and Jesus Himself told you this and that.

owever, this is simply not the usual way God communicates with us, and therefore we need to e very careful with such kind of unusual, supernatural "revelations of God". We really need to verify is voice or message by the secure and authentic "standard means of communication" of God that annot be falsified to deceive us, the only really dependable source of God's communication to us, the ible (and I would even add, the writings of Ellen White, but let's forget that for now). That is where ve can get used to HOW God is talking to us.

Vhen God speaks to us (even individually) in an unusual way, a way that we (as community of elievers, as "church") are not used to, it is very dangerous to simply assume, "that must be God peaking". We really need to check, to second guess and to verify with the only really dependable and enerally agreed-upon source of God's communication to us (the Bible), at least until we (as a church) re used to this new way of Him communicating with us. We need to be especially carefull if this new nd unusual way of God speaking to us can be easily falsified by the enemy to deceive us, which learly is the case with "visions and deams", "thought voices", and emotional impressions on our nind; too many examples of "false visions" and "false dreams" are happening today and have always appened. Somewhere here on BSDA I read that Danny Shelton also is receiving "visions and reams"! So if God really communicates directly with him like He does with a prophet, we should have nore respect of him, shouldn't we?

remember, once I talked with Mormon evangelists, and I asked them two questions:

"1) Why are you sure that Joseph Smith is a true prophet of God?"
"2) How can I be sure that he is a true prophet of God?"
The response was quite simple: "Just pray and ask God that He will tell you." They told me that Joseph Smith himself after receiving his first vision or revelation was very stunned and didn't know, does this come from God or not; but instead of searching in the Bible for the answer to this question, what he did was, as they said, he ran into the woods and started praying, praying, praying, asking God to tell him whether that revelation comes from Him; he prayed for a long time until finally in that prayer "God" gave him the assurance that this vision is from HIM. It obviously was an emotional "assurance", a feeling, an impression.
Both Mormon evangelistst told me they themselves have done and experienced exactly the same thing; they prayed until God "showed" them in their prayer that the revelations of Joseph Smith, and thus the Book of Mormon are really from God. They invited me and tried to encourage me to do the same, praying "until God gives me assurance/showes me that Joseph Smith is a true prophet and the Book of Mormon is His authentic and true revelation."
I tried to get them to the point to understand the need to verify each new revelation with the previous well recognized ones (in this case the Bible), and that there is no need to ask God in prayer for confirmation if the new revelation doesn't agree with the Bible in the first place; that this is even very dangerous; but it was completely in vain. The reason was, they have already had a personal emotional experience of "God" giving them the assurance in prayer that Joseph Smith is a true prophet, and this emotional experience was indisputable and became the highest unqestionable authority, thus taking the place the Bible only should have.

That is why it is so important that all our spiritual experiences are to be judged by the Bible!

By the way, this way of praying for assurance until God gives it to you that those Mormons where talking about is quite similar to the way Pentecostals are praying for the "gift of tounges"; they often also pray and pray and pray, sometimes for hours, with all their emotional power, asking God repeatedly to give them this "gift of tounges", often repeating the same phrase again and again like a mantra, until finally they "receive" it for the first time. Then they are "baptized by the Spirit", but in my conviction not by the biblical authentic Spirit of God.
Once they have had this experience, it becomes most of the time really difficult to argue with them on anything doctrinal based on the Bible because usually their emotional "spiritual" experience replaces the role of the Bible as the supreme Judge of all doctrine and religious experience.

The Holy Spirit certainly can give us "impressions" and can "speak" to our consciousness. However, these are both not "clear and secure" channels of communication where we could have assurance that the impression or thought really comes from God and is uncorrupted, undefiled and authentic. So we should never base moral and doctrinal decissions on that basis, including the acceptance of religious experiences like visions and dreams etc. as authentic and genuinely from God.

By the way, I believe that that Joel 2:28-29 prophecy that states that "your old men shall dream dreams and your young men shall see visions" will have its final and major fulfillment still in the future, at a time when we will be in real need of this kind of direct communication from God because of the circumstances of severe persecution and suffering in the end-time/time of trouble. There is simply no need for God to communicate in this direct way with us today, as long as the Bible and the writings of the "Spirit of Prophecy" (Ellen Withe) are fully sufficiant for us. In the future, God might possibly raise one or more other prophet(s) for us and probably will give us those "visions and dreams" referred to in Joel 2, when He deems it to be necessary because of the circumstances of the time. Once the end-time persecution fully sets in, and even more in the "time of troule", we might be in need of additional advice specific to the situation, of what to do, how to escape locally the persecuters, how to behave in specific situations, how to respond when questioned etc.; desperately needed information and advice that cannot be found in the Bible or the writings of EGW in suffcient detail. Then will come the need for those divine visions for direct guidance and encouragement. But today, at a time where the Bible is still sufficient for us and where the enemy of our souls gives so many false visions and dreams etc. even to professedly sincere Christians, not only that there is no need for it, it would also just create confusion because of those false counterfeit visions and dreams. Therefore I think that today God only rarely gives authentic visions and dreams, especially to true Christians who have already the Bible to know the truth and decide on what to do (He prefers to give "wisdom" to those who seek the answers to their questions in the Bible). It would have to be a special situation that would vindicate the need of such a divine communication. In the past, God sent prophets mostly in times of great distress for His people, when there was the need for guidance in the actual situation. God doesn't give "visions & dreams", or the "gift of prophecy", just to satisfy our couriosity or our desire for religious/emotional "spiritual" experiences. (He might sometimes give a dream to new believers or to truth-seekers to guide them towards Him or the Bible or to confirm new found faith in Him or certain doctrines etc., on an individual basis, though.) In addition, we only should expect God to communicate directly in a supernatural way with us if we previously have already fully accepted all His previous revelations in the Bible and the writings of Ellen White and are following through with the teachings of those divinely inspired books.

I would really be interested to learn more about that "pentecostal" influence at 3ABN, and about "visions and dreams" by its leaders like Danny. I would appreciate a sound report or thorough analysis of pentecostal doctrine, ideology and thelogy personally held and directly or indirectly taught by them on air. I think this is a very important and critical point that should not be underestimated. If this is true, 3ABN can become a major tool for Satan to infiltrate our church, deceive many Adventists and finally get them to accept those pentecostal concepts, if 3ABN should go on with this present leadership and continue to grow in influence and number of viewers.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 26 2006, 10:32 PM

Out of Lurk....

Do you also use your post/words to judge others....OTHER THAN Barbara Kerr?

Back to Lurk....

Posted by: Clay Aug 27 2006, 01:15 AM

> QUOTE
>
> we only should expect God to communicate directly in a supernatural way with us if we previously have already fully accepted all His previous revelations in the Bible and the writings of Ellen White and are following through with the teachings of those divinely inspired books.

Ummmmmm NO...... I disagree.... and the more you write the more I will disagree... there are many who have never picked up a bible and they know God's voice...... and many more who will never read anything written by egw and they also know God's voice......

You cannot dictate how God will reveal himself to his creation.... and to say that he won't communicate in a particular way limits him.....

Once again.... I do not use the bible to verify my relationship with God.... the relationship came first, the bible gives me examples of how God has interacted with humans, but let's be clear, I prefer trusting and communicating with God here and now as opposed to spending countless hours reading the bible..... In fact the bible tells us that Jesus spent hours praying, praying is communicating with God, as opposed to studying scripture......

Jesus words are as true now as then.... you search the scriptures because in them you THINK you have eternal life, but they testify of me....

In fact saharafan, I disagree with the whole premise of your recent comment..... that all spiritual experiences be judged via the bible? I think you have placed too much on the bible..... anything spiritual must be judged by the Holy Spirit..... He does communicate with us.... or don't you believe that?

Posted by: watchbird Aug 27 2006, 03:55 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 27 2006, 01:15 AM) ☐
>
> Ummmmmm NO...... I disagree.... and the more you write the more I will disagree... there are many who have never picked up a bible and they know God's voice...... and many more who will never read anything written by egw and they also know God's voice......

While this is true to some extent...... it is true mostly of those who have no opportunity to have access the a bible. And there is also a great deal of difference between knowing God's voice because of great familiarity with Him through personal contact with others who know God voice and/or by recognizing a "different" voice than that which they have normally lived with in their minds.

> QUOTE
>
> You cannot dictate how God will reveal himself to his creation.... and to say that he won't communicate in a particular way limits him.....

Agreed. From what we can observe of how God reveals Himself, I think we can be safe in making the generalization that God meets people where they are.... and that may be in what seems to be "supernatural" ways....... including "dreams and visions" as well as other strange (to us) ways "signs and miracles" typical of their own belief system....... or that may be in wholly "natural" ways..... that is to say through the cognitive faculties of their minds, observing what is and reasoning from that to the existence of a "Creator God", and from that to a sense of what that God wants for and from us humans. (And as I write, I am thinking specifically of the experience of a young man whom our missionary to the Pnong people of Cambodia has been telling us about, and I put "Creator God" in quotes because this is the words that the Pnong people retain in their vocabulary for the dim sense of a God who is different from the evil spirits whom they actively worship.)

But having said that, I also firmly believe that we can and should make another generalization which is as Saharafan has indicated...... that wherever there is access to scripture, God always points people to that and the Holy Spirit speaks to us first and formost through what has already been revealed and written down in Scripture. In other words, when possible, God moves people from where they were and directs them to a body of believers, and to his written scripture. (Witness the experiences of Saul/Paul, where God met him in what was to him a dramatic and unmistakable "supernatural" manner, but then led him directly to the church group in Damascus, then out to the "wilderness" for a period of years in which he presumeably received more supernatural encounters with God, but then back to the church headquarters in Jerusalem, where he submitted himself to the church leaders and in his preaching which primarily was built upon and sent people to the scriptures of his day..... so they could test his words by the scriptures they already had.

> QUOTE
>
> Once again.... I do not use the bible to verify my relationship with God.... the relationship came first, the bible gives me examples of how God has interacted with humans, but let's be clear, I prefer trusting and communicating with God here and now as opposed to spending countless hours > reading the bible..... In fact the bible tells us that Jesus spent hours praying, praying is communicating with God, as opposed to studying scripture......

Surely you are not suggesting that Jesus had not already studied scripture so thoroughly that he understood it better than the learned men of the day (witness his vist to the Temple school when he was but 12 years old) and had memorized it so well that its words were woven into his speech so accurately that we can look back at the scriptures he had available to him and figure out what text he was quoting.

So I cannot take your words seriously when you say "the relationship came first". I find that a very difficult statement to accept as truth. Now if you say that it is the most important thing to you NOW when compared to "countless hours reading the Bible" ..... that I would find easy to believe..... but you give too much evidence in the way you approach life that the principles of scripture are so nterwoven in your own mind that you do use those to judge both yourself and others and the experiences you have with them. This is, IMO, as it should be. The Psalmist says, "Thy Word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee".

> QUOTE
>
> Jesus words are as true now as then.... you search the scriptures because in them you THINK you have eternal life, but they testify of me....

Context please ..... this was directed towards the Jewish scholars who were searching scriptures for he purpose of sustaining their supremacy with the people. This is not suggesting that we, who do not have the human incarnation of God in our midst, should not search the scriptures to find how they testify of Christ.

> QUOTE
>
> In fact saharafan, I disagree with the whole premise of your recent comment..... that all spiritual experiences be judged via the bible? I think you have placed too much on the bible..... anything spiritual must be judged by the Holy Spirit..... He does communicate with us.... or don't you believe that?

Clay, you set up an unneccessary and unfair dichotomy here. Yes, of course, we who emphasize the primacy of scripture as the place we must go to judge our experiences ..... especially those which seem to be from some "supernatural" source...... ALSO believe that the Holy Spirit does communicate with us. But to put our experience above what is written is to walk on very dangerous ground ..... and hat ground will get more and more dangerous ...... according to the predictions of increased permission being given to Satan to do "signs and miracles" which will look so "good" and so "genuine" that it will be difficult, even impossible, to tell their origin other than whether or not they speak "according to this word" which has already been written and preserved for our instruction.

Posted by: Clay Aug 27 2006, 05:22 AM

Children have relationships with God.... long before they understand the bible or what is contained therein... How does God reveal himself to a child? It is not through the written word.... My relationship with God started when I was a child long before I was able to understand the bible, yet I understood Him as he revealed himself to me... as I child I become attuned to his voice, his leading, his way, pick a phrase if you will.... so I can say with certainty that God can and does communicate with us without the aid of "the bible."

The bible gives a story of a man who walked with God, and his walk was so close that God took him and he was never seen again.... That man had no bible, BUT he definitely had God.....

So I say again... the relationship is first and foremost, the everything else has its place....

Your mileage may vary...

Posted by: meadbd Aug 27 2006, 10:02 AM

In fact saharafan, I disagree with the whole premise of your recent comment..... that all spiritual experiences be judged via the bible? I think you have placed too much on the bible..... anything spiritual must be judged by the Holy Spirit..... He does communicate with us.... or don't you believe that?

===

If you don't judge all spiritual experiences by the Bible, to what do you judge them?

You say, "by the Holy Spirit". But it is by comparing what the S(s)pirit tells us to the Bible that we know just what spirit is impressing us. For the Christian, the Bible is the sole authority in all spiritual matters. Without the Bible we have very little knowledge of what God wants us to do in our life. Our sinful condition and our need of a Savior is clear to us ONLY from the Bible. Yes, nature tells us that God created all the beauty we see around us (Rom. 1) but nature does not tell us of our need for redemption and reformation. As was stated, it is very dangerous to trust our feelings without checking them against the Bible. As Jesus said of the Holy Spirit, "He will testify of Me".

And what do you know about Jesus if not from the Bible?...Nothing.

Without God's Holy Word as our guide we have no anchor-no reference-no absolute to pattern our life.

Praise His Name that He has given us His Word to live by!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Aug 27 2006, 01:50 PM

> QUOTE(saharafan @ Aug 26 2006, 10:57 PM) ☐
>
> In addition, we only should expect God to communicate directly in a supernatural way with us if we previously have already fully accepted all His previous revelations in the Bible and the writings of Ellen White and are following through with the teachings of those divinely inspired books.

I must disagree on the whole account, but since Clay has brought up other points, I'll only add one.

Many Christian people have never even heard of Ellen White. Are you saying that the only people found worthy of divine communication are SDAs?

Posted by: saharafan Aug 27 2006, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 27 2006, 11:22 AM) ☐
>
> Children have relationships with God.... long before they understand the bible or what is contained > therein... How does God reveal himself to a child? It is not through the written word.... My relationship with God started when I was a child long before I was able to understand the bible, yet I understood Him as he revealed himself to me... as I child I become attuned to his voice, his leading, his way, pick a phrase if you will.... so I can say with certainty that God can and does communicate with us without the aid of "the bible."

>
> The bible gives a story of a man who walked with God, and his walk was so close that God took him and he was never seen again.... That man had no bible, BUT he definitely had God.....
>
> So I say again... the relationship is first and foremost, the everything else has its place....
>
> Your mileage may vary...

ear Clay,
pparently you were blessed to have had godly parents who taught you biblical principles from hildhood on, told you "Bible stories" and taugh you how to pray and have a living intimate personal elationship with God, even before you could read the Bible - I was not that priviledged.
o this seems to be where you come from. Let me explain where I come from so that you can see that nuch of our different perceptions obviously is due to "where we each come from".

y parents have always been and are still convinced atheists/agnostics. I got to know Jesus primarily hrough the Bible when I was a teenager. There was no clear supernatural event leading to my onversion, besides perhaps God arranging "coincidences" so that I would meet an SDA pastor by urprise, who impressed me a lot with his character, and later on Jesus speaking to my heart and ouching it through the Bible. (This is how I personally experience(d) God speaking to me, and herefore the Bible is also the basis for my personal relationship with him, which is entertained hrough Bible study and, certainly, prayer.)
t the time when I studied the Bible with this pastor, I also got to know some evangelical friends, hurch leaders and theologians, wo sincerely challenged this Adventist interpretation of the Bible that I vas studying with this pastor. They thoroughly challenged my newly accepted beliefs concerning the tate of the dead, the Sabbath, the Law, Sanctuary doctrine and pre-advent Jugement, Ellen White tc. God didn't give me a dream or vision to resolve those challenging questions. (I didn't ask Him for ne, that's right.) So what I did, I studied the Bible for myself independently (but under prayer) and in lebt on those subjets, comparing the aguments of both sides, looking for the answer, searching for truth". I am thankful for this exerience because this routed me deeply in the biblical basis of our loctrine and gave me a hunger to know more which finally led me to study Theology at our Adventist eminary in Austria. Again, the Bible was the center of my Christian life and experience.
ot long after this experience and my baptism, there was another young man studying with us and isiting our Adventist youth program. But after some time he was led away by a pentecostal friend of is. From then on, whenever he came to our youth meetings, he always wanted to introduce us to his ew-found pentecostal believes and experiences. I liked him and felt sorry for him and wanted to help im. So I accepted his invitation to visit with him some deeply pentecostal churches. (I was the only ne of our youth group willing to do this.) It was a very decicive experience for me, and a dangerous ne too, I admid. This is where I got introduced to charismatic and pentecostal doctrine and worship in he first place, which in turn led me to read several books about this phenomenon and study the Bible bout the "Gift of Tounges" etc. I will relate the most striking experience I had, at a special "healing eminar" this friend had invited me to where an American preacher taught a large audience how to do niracles and how to heal the sick through prayer. The preacher was more than obese, I guess he had t least about 200 kg of bodyweight. When he walked, it looked very funny. He was extremely proud nd presumtious in the way and manner he was talking. He emphasized signs and wonders and speaking in tounges". Among other things, he told us that one day he was very heartsick, the doctors old him he would die very soon, they can't do anything. But God healed him miraculously and the loctors were more than surprised and when they checked his heart they found that it was "the ealthiest and strongest heart they have ever seen". How that relates to his body weight and bviously unchanged lifestile I don't know. He also claimed to have raised a dead child; a car accident n from of him happened, a child was overrun by a big truck, the head of the child came under the ires and was completely smashed. Then he arrived at the scene, stopped, and resurrected that child through prayer, the head and the whole body was miraculously made whole, there was no wound or injury left on that child. The seminar attendence was in awe, hanging on his lips and they believed unquestioningly every single word he said. Yes, he taught them how to heal, calling volunteers and sick people to come forward, and instructing the volunteers to lay hands on and heal the physically sick "in the name of Jesus", and most of the time it worked, they were healed right in front of us; if it didn't work, the spiritual attitude of the volunteer was the problem, we were told. During the time they prayed for the sick, the congregation prayed too, most of them speaking in "toungs". It was an extemly powerfull and power-filled emotional atmosphere in that room, I could even say I felt a spiritual precence that was even difficult for me to resist. But I felt this spiritual presence as something very strange and dangerous to me. (I certainly prayed too, silently for protection.)

This miracle preacher-healer claimed that God speakes directly to him, that he often hears the voice of the Holy Spirit telling him what to do or giving him messages for other people or churches, and that he has a special connection and place with God. He might also have mentioned that he receives visions & dreams, I don't remember that particular detail. Once, he literally said the following, I won't forget that, pointing to his stomach: "Some people think that I am thick; but that's not true! I am not thick, I am pregnant! I am pregnant with the Trinity! I am pregnant with the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit! They are all present here in my stomach...". Everyone in that church found that funny and was laughing, except me, I was deeply shocked.
I couldn't convince this friend who invited me there that this is not the authentic Holy Spirit of the Bible doing those miracles through this presumptious and blasphemic preacher. His personal "experience of the Holy Spirit in him" was more important than any argument from Scripture. And this was not my only experience with Pentecostals, including pastors, so far. Every time it was the same, although they used the Bible in their sermons (usually in a very superficial way) and confessed to belief in it, it had no real authority over their experiences, nor over their doctrine and teaching, because, as a pastor told me once, "the Holy Spirit would show me if I should be wrong". They also feel save from being deceived by Satan because, as I experienced in one of their "Bible study groups", they address Satan directly in their prayers, condamning him (something that even Jesus refused to do), and commanding him to leave them alone and flee them, actually laughing at him because he is a loser and has now power over them...

During those teenage years I also had two friends who were devoted desciples of Rudolph Steiner and his "Anthroposophy", a German off-shoot of Madame Blavatsky's Theosophy. I had a lot of discussions with them too and wanted to help them see the truth in the Bible instead of in their (occult) spiritual exercises and experiences, and Steiner's teachings. Didn't work either.

You see, that is where I come from and why I am so careful and emphatic about the Bible as the basis of our faith, experience, and relationship with God, and easily alarmed when someone plays down its importance and role.

By the way, the first one of the 28 SDA Fundamental Beliefs states clearly that "The Holy Sciptures are... the test of experience...". The book "Seventh-day Adventists believe..." says on pp. 13-14: "Finally, the Scriptures retain authority even over the gifts that come from the Holy Spirit, including guidance through the gift of prophecy or speaking in tounges... The gifts of the Spirit do not supercede the Bible; indeed, they must be tested by the Bible, and if not in accord with it, they must be discarded as not genuine. [Isa. 8:20 quoted]"

However, when teaching or preaching, I do always emphasize the importance of, and the need for, our personal intimate realtionship with God as the most important thing for each one of us, and this relationship is based on both, Bible and Prayer. That's why my second most important topic usually is the Bible, which will lead us to Jesus and into that close relationship. Prayer is equaly important for this relationship, that's true, but the Bible is the basis of knowing God, Who he is, How he is, Where to find him, How to get to know him, and What he wants for me and from me. And without knowing this I cannot have a true relationship with the one true God, the God of the Bible.

Nevertheless, I acknowledge that some people are more sensitive to impressions by the (true) Holy Spirit on their minds than others. And I do agree that prayer should not be one-way communication but we should also listen to God "talking to us" during prayer, impressing our minds with certain things or thougts, thus having true communion with Him.
I remember for example pastor Kurt Hasel in a seminar about Prayer telling that he has the good habitude not only to aks God in prayer about important decissions but then to wait (sometimes for weeks and longer) until he receives a response from God what decission to take by clearly impressing his mind in a way that he is convinced without doubt that this is God's voice. By experience and with the time he has learned to "know the voice of God" and discern it from his own thoughts. I accept that. But 1) This kind of communication is only private and individual, only concerning himself or perhaps his immediate family that he has responsibiliy for; he doesn't become a "prophet", doesn't have "visions and dreams" and doesn't receive messages for others, or revelations about others. 2) As far as I know him, he would certainly agree with me that the Bible is also the basis and supreme judge for his own faith and experience, and whenever the Bible (or EGW) give clear counsel on something, he accepts this councel first and doesn't need to ask God about it. I repeat what I said in my former post: No moral and doctrinal decissions should be made based on theses impressions by the Spirit without thoroughly consulting the Bible about the issue. 3) He said that it took some time for him to get used to God's voice and be able to discern it clearly; this personal way of experiencing God is based on a life experience of a close walk with God based on the Bible and a faith and life deeply rooted in Scripture.

(Other people here have already mentioned their past experiences of feeling sudden strong impressions they believed came from God and when following them they were either protected from serious harm, or God could use them in a mighty way as witnesses for persons they would not have met otherwise etc. I have no problem with that, either.)

On the other side, in Barbara Kerr's brief first post she told us that her friend, when suddently hearing that voice "Linda left Danny", was not at all sure if this voice would come from God. She seems not to be used to "hearing God's voice" in this described way. Or perhaps this voice was of a different kind, or from a different source???

Posted by: saharafan Aug 27 2006, 02:42 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Aug 27 2006, 07:50 PM) ☐
>
> I must disagree on the whole account, but since Clay has brought up other points, I'll only add one.
>
> Many Christian people have never even heard of Ellen White. Are you saying that the only people found worthy of divine communication are SDAs?

No, definitely not; I said "WE" and "US", referring to us personally who have access to the Bible and to the writings of Ellen White, and confess to believe in them. It is true that I referred to Seventh-day Adventist here, as far as Ellen White's writings are concerned; you could apply the statement also to Christians in general as far as the Bible only is concerned. But I do believe that the SDA church is God's special end-time remnant body of believers as of today. And by "communicate diretly in a supernatural way", I meant visions and dreams, or typical prophetic messages, that concern others, a group of believers (not personal issues of the receipient), as a fulfillment of Joel 2:28-29, and in reference to additonal truth that is not already contained in the Bible.

But you can also interprete my statement in the following way: Before God will give us (=humanity) additional knowledge by supernatural means that supercedes the one revealed in the Bible and the writings of EGW, we have to accept and live out (put into practice) that what He has already revealed to us in the past.

I admid that this statement wasn't very clear and can easily be misunderstood.

Posted by: brownnectar Aug 27 2006, 03:04 PM

That was a wonderful testimony Sahara. It also was packed with a lot of truth. It gave me some things to think about. Thank You!

Posted by: calvin Aug 27 2006, 04:05 PM

Saharafan, thank you for sharing this testimony. The last few posts by you and Watchbird have been very inspiring for me to read. What you have presented makes any argument for a diminished importance of the Bible in the lives of Christians weak in comparison.

Posted by: Clay Aug 27 2006, 06:39 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 27 2006, 05:05 PM)
>
> Saharafan, thank you for sharing this testimony. The last few posts by you and Watchbird have been very inspiring for me to read. What you have presented makes any argument for a diminished importance of the Bible in the lives of Christians weak in comparison.

no one has suggested that the bible have diminished importance.... however I am saying that there are those who can becoming overly dependent on the bible that they miss interacting with the God that the bible points a believer too..... I am also saying that there are those who when it comes to the bible are scholars, and can run circles around the average church member, yet they don't necessarily have a relationship with God....

people's experiences may vary...

Posted by: Vada Aug 28 2006, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 28 2006, 10:39 AM)
>
> no one has suggested that the bible have diminished importance.... however I am saying that there are those who can becoming overly dependent on the bible that they miss interacting with the God that the bible points a believer too..... I am also saying that there are those who when it comes to the bible are scholars, and can run circles around the average church member, yet they don't necessarily have a relationship with God....
>
> people's experiences may vary...

Greetings to our brothers and sisters in America and from wherever else. We discovered bsda only about a month ago. This is my first appearance here.

I appreciate your explanation above, Clay, and the general direction of the discussion concerning dreams, visions, and how God communicates to us. I have lived through an experience of my own, but what I want to say here this time is perhaps more just the outcome of that experience. I have had no special dreams or visions, I assuredly lay no claims to being a prophet, I have never knowingly seen or spoken with an angel. I serve a living God who—as for you—comforts me with His presence, covers me with His blood, speaks to me through nature, through "revelation", through providential happenings, and by His influence upon my heart. I know the importance of continually touching base with my Lord in prayer and Bible study, and of exchanging with fellow believers.

"The Face of Adventism." I speak to the claim that Danny is "the face of Adventism"—or on the other hand to the protest that he is not that face. It is my belief that either way the claim falls short of the truth. 3ABN sold a husband-wife team to the world as "the face of Adventism." That team was Danny and Linda together. (Probably that has been said before. I just can't remember.) No doubt to thousands if not millions of viewers around the globe, Danny and Linda were "televangelists" viewed and loved as Mr and Mrs Three Angels Messages, or Mr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist. Then suddenly Linda was no more. Even though our Thiacom 3 satellite dish linking us to 3ABN was only installed on 12 November 2003, we saw enough to cause us to ask questions. 3ABN maybe underestimated the strength of the feelings that would arise in the minds and hearts of viewers as a result of the divorce and Linda's being so decisively separated from 3ABN.

To have gone as big as 3ABN has gone, and to present on it as Mr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist, is an extremely serious position to take under God before the world. It is certain He loves. It is certain also He will not be mocked.

We know Brandy is a precious child of God, too. But there is a painful situation that has not yet worked itself through. Our earnest prayers are that our Lord will judge all things and all persons concerned with the right blend of justice and mercy in each instance, for His name and work's sake.

My personal opinion is that it would be good if when all the dust is settled, we still have 3ABN as well as Hope, and other radio and TV stations too. History has proved over and again that "independent ministry" OR official church organization, conservative or liberal or whatever, NO mere mortal or committee of mere mortals is able to handle too much power.

A Symbolic Message. Marriage and divorce are major biblical symbols telling how God relates to His church at any given time. When a marriage is given prominence, as was Danny and Linda's, it grants a special opportunity to God to speak a message symbolically. It also grants the devil a chance to defile that symbol. But God always has the last say. He can be counted upon to marvelously work all things together for the good of those whom He loves. "For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth." 2 Cor 13:8. I believe God has allowed the prominence given Danny and Linda's marriage and divorce, to help shape a parable to speak a most urgent message to the church and the world.

Parallel and Complementary Story From Australia. In the 1980's a great tragedy in Australia threw Pastor Michael Chamberlain and his wife Lindy into the glare of publicity, as Pr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist. So far as I am able to understand the facts of the still unfolding saga of Danny and Linda's divorce and subsequent happenings at and revelations concerning 3ABN and the church, I cannot help but see some striking parallels with Australia's Chamberlain drama. I believe America's Danny and Linda story is complementary to Australia's Michael and Lindy drama.

I have, by the way, written a book on the Chamberlain drama, entitled, ROCK OF AGES: The Azaria Chamberlain Story Parallels.

A different set of circumstances propelled Michael and Lindy Chamberlain into place as Pr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist of Australia. 17 August 1980, just after the famous 11-15 August 1980 Glacier View meetings in USA, baby daughter Azaria was killed by a dingo at Ayers Rock (now Uluru), an awe-inspiring rock-mountain in Central Australia, where the family had gone for a brief holiday break. Ayers Rock is a geographic icon of Australia, a monolith surrounded by vast red desert plains, a place of quiet mystery and great symbolic significance. Local Aborigines have their legends about creation. They believe their dead ancestors live in Uluru, and are waiting to emerge. The whole scene prompts questions about origins, time and eternity.

Michael and Lindy's story became known as Australia's "trial of the century", "the worst miscarriage of justice in the history of the nation", "a defining moment in Australian history", and a "top of the tree media event."

The twentieth anniversary of the birth and death of Azaria occurred right in the middle of the 100 days Olympic Torch Run of the year 2000, which run commenced in high ceremony at Ayers Rock, when the Olympic flame arrived there from Olympia in Greece. City newspapers noted the anniversary of Azaria's birth and death, with some big re-appraisals of this famous trial. At the Sydney Olympics of that year, the world hailed the new millennium.

It is not an insignificant thing to say that America's Mr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist drama, with a different emphasis, seems to be playing out a complementary role to Australia's Pr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist of the 1980's. But the Danny-Lindy-3ABN saga is more in-house, - at least at the moment.

Do an internet search on the words such as "lindy chamberlain parallels" and you will find numerous stories and causes claiming to hold similarities to the Chamberlain drama. This drama is often quoted in our country as THE example of a judicial mistake, THE trial proving a whole country can nail the guilty tag upon somebody and be wrong. But I believe the parallel of parallels can best be recognized by Seventh-day Adventists. When all the elements of the Chamberlain drama are identified it is Adventists of all Christians who have the history and light to see the parallels and pointers to endtime Bible prophecy. They are the ones best placed to decode when those elements are explained as Bible symbols. What unravels is a message of momentous import. I believe God has over-ruled Satan and designed happenings to tell this symbolic message. He has also led me on quite a journey to discover these parallels. Others have apparently seen glimpses of their existence, and before me.

The elements of the Lindy Chamberlain trial parallel and point to the ending elements of the prophetic allegory of Revelation 12, which tells the story of the drama of the ages, the great controversy between Christ and Satan, good and evil. Here the stage is set for the final crisis described in Revelation 13 and 14.

It is one thing to see a story having a parallel here and there to a Bible prophecy. It is another when one stumbles over these parallels at every turn, and providences bearing relation to the parallel being studied happen every time, and every occasion I make a move to tell this parallels story, more awesome providences occur. Studying these parallels has been a thrilling but sobering experience that has brought Bible symbols and Revelation 12 alive for me. I can't believe this experience was meant for me alone.

In the 1980's newspapers everywhere said that Azaria (a feminine form of Azariah, meaning "blessed of God") meant "sacrifice in the wilderness." They confused it with Azazel the scapegoat. At Ayres Rock, where baby Azaria was killed and taken by a dingo, there is a legend of dingo called Kulpunya who is an evil spirit of death. The media sought to clear the dingo's name and declare Michael and Lindy to be the most evil couple in Australia's history. It is possible that in the 1980's Australia's frantic search through the Bible to find a story which might d--- the Chamberlains was based upon the recognition some had of parallels with the prophetic allegory of Revelation 12, where an evil red dragon seeks to devour the newborn baby of an innocent woman clothed with the sun. Some big churches do not see this woman as a mere symbol. Religious prejudice could not allow that a woman from the little-known Seventh-day Adventist Church could before the nation assume a symbolic role parallel to the Revelation 12 woman. If people did not think such thoughts, it is certain Satan would have seen the symbolism.

It is interesting that John Bryson's book, Evil Angels—which is the classic work upon which the award-winning film by this name is based—makes only two mentions of the words "evil angels" in the body of the book. John Bryson is not an Adventist, yet both of these mentions come in relation to the warfare of evil angels against the Seventh-day Adventist church and Ellen White. See John Bryson, Evil Angels, pages 9 and 254. Furthermore, the cover of the first edition of this book shows a picture of a black shadow of an evil-looking dingo cast over red desert soil. Together with words reminding of baby Azaria Chamberlain's death at Ayers Rock in central Australia, 17 August 1980, and appealing Lindy's innocence in regard to the judgment of murder, Bible students could not escape seeing something of the parallels with Revelation 12.

The history described in Revelation 12 is that which, if understood, will save from deception in the last terrible conflict of this world, as prophesied and described in Revelation 13 and 14. "Three Angels Broadcasting Network" is named after the last message of mercy to be given this world, that found in Revelation 14:6-12. Revelation 12 sets the stage for the telling of the three angels' messages.

If non-Adventists have sensed something of a supernatural presence in the Chamberlain drama pointing to Revelation 12, how much better equipped are Seventh-day Adventists to see those pointers, since in their history is the living out of the sweet-in-the-mouth, bitter-in-the-belly experience prophesied in Revelation 10, and producing a people who studied out the sanctuary doctrine! How much more culpable are Seventh-day Adventists if they miss hearing the message of Providence in a happening! I reject the charge that to make such statements gives evidence of a problem with ego. The Seventh-day Adventist movement HAS been entrusted by God with much light. To say that does not mean we are unaware that there are outstanding Christians scattered through the Sunday-keeping churches, and many such persons are even way ahead on SOME areas of truth, ministry and witness. God will help us to fully recognize each other at the last.

Michael and Lindy Chamberlain, family, friends, eye witnesses and those involved were given a trial by fire, kangaroo court and almost every other kind of court of the nation. Their case was front page news in city newspapers for a decade. The impact upon the Seventh-day Adventist Church was huge, in ways both good and bad. Voices from the church and the secular world often endeavoured to shut down the public debate. (We're hearing some of those same reasons being given to try and shut down the bsda discussion on the 3ABN crisis.) But it was like trying to stop a feeding frenzy. (May there be no elements of "feeding frenzy" here.) Sometimes Michael and Lindy tried to help by hiding from the public eye and just going quiet. They were inevitably forced to surface again. Too many other people and issues were involved. Many eye witnesses supportive of the Chamberlain version of the facts were also being widely and falsely implicated as liars. Pressing questions were being raised by honest people from all walks of society, all churches, in places high and low. How could a justice system get it so wrong? (Again, we see shades of this scenario on this bsda site.)

I remember Michael Chamberlain once being asked by a TV reporter about the continuing crusade to clear the Chamberlain name. He replied to the effect, "Innocence is very important to innocent people." If Linda has not committed adultery, as evidence on bsda and elsewhere suggests, she does indeed deserve to have the guilty tag removed from her head. It is clear that as in the whole great controversy between Christ and Satan, God permits lesser dramas to play out as a means in itself of arresting attention, provoking enquiry, and leading minds out of darkness into the light. We can know He is never asleep at the switch and is in ultimate control of whatever transpires.

Those who do not seriously believe that Seventh-day Adventism is the remnant movement of the book of Revelation, called to "prophesy again" concerning the subject of the sanctuary and the investigative judgment, commissioned to preach the three angels' messages to the world in preparation for Jesus' second advent, blessed with a prophet to the Bible's 2300 day prophecy, cannot understand. "It will be impossible for them to exercise the faith which is essential at this time, or to occupy the position which God designs them to fill. ... It is of the utmost importance that all should thoroughly investigate these subjects ..." The Great Controversy, pp. 488, 489.

In order to arouse enquiry and prompt such an investigation—where truth is searched out as for the pearl of great price—we can expect that the Master Teacher will intervene and speak to us by means of His best teaching methods. What are these methods? The method to which I refer is the only one in the here and now to which full justice is done to our Living God. It is where the message from nature, revelation, providence and the impressions of the Holy Spirit all coincide. They all speak as one. Then the message of the resulting parable or object lesson can have authority. It needs with joy to be heard, believed, obeyed—and shared—and the life-giving latter rain showers proceeding from God's throne can come to water.

Christ's Teaching Methods. Just before 586 BC when God withdrew from Jerusalem and Solomon's temple, and inspired holy men to prophesy their destruction, He commanded Ezekiel, already in captivity in Babylon, to act out a parable as a sign. Ezekiel's wife was "the desire of his eyes" as Solomon's magnificent temple was the desire of Israel's eyes. God said He was going to let Ezekiel's apparently beautiful and much-loved wife die, and he, Ezekiel, was not to engage in the customary mourning rituals. She was, in fact, to function as a symbol of Solomon's temple in which the Jews gloried. When the people enquired why Ezekiel was not weeping and mourning, he did as God instructed him and said to the effect, "Like my wife, Jerusalem and its temple are the desire of your eyes, the joy and pride of your lives, and a symbol of the bride of the one true God. As my wife has died, Jerusalem and its temple are going to be destroyed. As I, Ezekiel have not mourned for my wife, you must not weep for the temple and Jerusalem. God, who is greater than the temple, desires rather that you weep for your sins which have separated you from Him, and are the reason for all the desolation that has come upon Israel, Judah, Jerusalem and the temple." As a sign that this was a parable from God, Ezekiel's muteness at the time was cured when a messenger brought him news of the temple's destruction. (See Eze 24:15-27)

What an unpopular, negative message Ezekiel was called to preach! Jerusalem, the temple and church structure were going to be destroyed! And what a heart-wrenching method of speaking that message, - choking back the grief and tears at the death of his cherished wife, and refraining from the customary mourning rituals! But apparently Ezekiel's strange actions did have the desired effect of awakening the hoped-for spirit of inquiry.

The Linda-Danny-3ABN story would be based upon a different husband-wife illustration, but may it also do a work as a parable to awaken the spirit of inquiry.

In Bible times Christ the Master Teacher and Scriptwriter often taught salvation truths by means of parables and allegories, some acted (as in the sanctuary services), some based upon literal happenings, some given to prophets in dreams and visions, some based even upon fictitious stories such as that of the rich man and Lazarus. We have been much blessed as Elder Stephen Bohr has shown on 3ABN and Hope TV that the stories in the book of Genesis and elsewhere in the Old Testament, have a double function, one to record a literal happening in history, another to act as a drama symbolizing and prophesying a greater fulfillment in the future.

Stories functioning as parables are in fact one of Christ's best teaching methods. They are based upon the well-recognized teaching maxim, "Proceed from the known to the unknown." I believe the Master Teacher is not going to cease using parables as a teaching device in the endtimes, just when we most need to hear His voice. It is not only living prophets that can confirm a drama as sent of God. The words of dead prophets can do the same, as associated with living providences and the convicting power of the Holy Ghost.

What a means of communicating a message: to allow people to be obsessed with a drama in their own experience, then shape that drama to point to an already proven prophecy of the Bible!

"Turn, O backsliding children, saith the LORD: for I am married unto you..." Jer 3:14. "For thy Maker is thine husband: the LORD of hosts is his name..." Isa 54:5. We must be in that new Jerusalem said to be "prepared as a bride adorned for her husband." Rev 21:2.

"A person who is entrusted with the pastoral office of the Word must be able to stand before a congregation and represent that Word rightly. To sabotage this trust is destructive of ministry and of the pastoral office. The ministry of a person is always representative and symbolic; and the pastor of a Christian congregation represents the headship and fatherhood of God." (1 Cor. 4:14, 15; 1 Thess. 2:11; Eph. 5:1; 1 Tim. 3:5)." Dr C. Raymond Holmes, The Tip of an Iceberg: Biblical Authority, Biblical Interpretation, and the Ordination of Women in Ministry, Adventists Affirm and POINTER Publications, 1994, pp. 41, 42. And a wife symbolizes the church (Eph 5:21-33), of which the husband symbolizes the head. Each is committed to the other in deepest, self-sacrificing love. There are serious and solemn implications here. I believe these implications are being sensed at the moment by many 3ABN viewers and supporters, who love God with all their hearts, and are jealousy for the honour and prosperity of God's cause.

Divorce and Death, Symbols of the Close of Probation. Again, I believe Providence is shaping a symbolic message by means of the Danny and Linda Shelton story, just as He did in the Michael and Lindy Chamberlain story. Adventism no doubt would be more receptive to this statement if it were not for the ugly divorce at the end of each story, especially, it seems, the Danny and Linda divorce. But Adventism should remember that divorce is one symbol of the close of probation, and this decisive moment in history is fast bearing down upon the world and the church. Christ, who is always "greater than the temple" (Matt 12:6), can be expected at this crisis hour to use every conceivable teaching device to warn of the need to get ready for this event, when Christ will finish His work as High Priest, the work of evangelism will be over, and so every last earthly church structure will become redundant in God's plan. Pray we do not run ahead of God's leading here. Neither must we lag behind. Are we prepared theologically, philosophically, psychologically and in practice for this great moment in history? It's coming, right after the loud cry!

Yes, I believe we need to look at these two stories as parables, even part of the same parable: Mr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist in USA, and Pr and Mrs Seventh-day Adventist in Australia in the 1980's (the reverberations of this story continue). It is a serious thing to be used as a symbol in God's plan. Moses was kept out of the earthly promised land for striking the rock, and twice, and so violating God's rock symbol of Christ who was rent only once for our salvation. For a person to be used as a symbol does not lock them into a destiny, by the way. In Daniel 1 and 2 Nebuchadnezzar was a symbol of Babylon. "Thou art this head of gold." He later came to his senses and in Daniel 4 changed to become a symbol of those in the book of Revelation who come out of Babylon and are saved for God's eternal kingdom. EVERY person, by one set of actions, can be used to symbolize something on the side of right, and by another set of actions, something on the side of wrong.

> QUOTE
>
> ## God Speaks, But Those Without Faith Do Not Hear.
>
> "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. ... But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he who comes to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of those who diligently seek him." Hebrews 11:1-6.
>
> "Through nature and revelation, through His providence, and by the influence of His Spirit, God speaks to us." Steps to Christ, p. 93.
>
> "The prince of teachers, He [Jesus] sought access to the people by the pathway of their most familiar associations. He presented the truth in such a way that ever after it was to His hearers intertwined with the most hallowed recollections and sympathies. He taught in a way that made them feel the completeness of His identification with their interests and happiness." Ministry of Healing, pp. 23, 24.
>
> "Jesus desired to awaken inquiry [He STILL so desires] ... Christ had truths to present which the people were unprepared to accept or even to understand. For this reason ... He taught them in parables. By connecting His teaching with the scenes of life, experience, or nature, He secured their attention and impressed their hearts." Comment on Matthew 13:13-15, Christ's Object Lessons, pp. 20, 21.
>
> "If any man have an ear, let him hear." Revelation 13:6.

Did you know, America, that the wonderful book, Christ's Object Lessons, was written in Australia?

The Lindy Chamberlain Trial of Australia. Parallels to Revelation 12. I'm sure the thought never entered the heads of either Michael or Lindy in 1980 when they drove to Ayers Rock, but the journey into Australia's desert interior is in this country often thought upon as a journey to find spiritual meaning and truth. The Chamberlains left for Ayers Rock from their home in north-west Queensland right in the middle of the 11-15 August 1980 Glacier View meetings in USA, where world leaders of the SDA church met to consider a response to Dr Ford's claim that Adventism's doctrine of the investigative judgment was not biblical. Michael, as probably a majority of his colleagues in Australia at the time, regarded Dr Ford as his greatest teacher and supported his stand at Glacier View.

As mentioned, the great significance of linking the Danny and Linda "trial" with the Chamberlain drama in Australia, is that the elements of the latter story parallel the ending elements of the prophetic allegory of Revelation 12 and the ending elements of the parallel prophecies of Daniel, which are in fact alluded to in the seventh trumpet, the verses immediately preceding Revelation 12. (Rev 11:14-19; 10:7) (You can download a brief summary of these parallels by going to my website http://www.rockofagesparallels.org, and click "Parallels Chart." Hopefully one day someone with expertise will help us to put up a more professional-looking website.) (The relevant ending elements of Daniel's visions are: the triumph of God's rock-mountain kingdom as in Daniel 2; judgment in favour of the innocent, as in Daniel 7; the two atonement time prophecies in Daniel 8 and 9, and as symbolized in the sanctuary services by the application of blood to the mercy seat of the Ark of the Covenant; the warfare by and defeat of the king of the north, as in Daniel 11:45.) The Ark of the Covenant symbol in an "opened" sanctuary in heaven introduces Revelation 12. (See my entries in the "The Ark of the Covenant" in "Enter Forums", on msdaol)

The Chamberlain drama symbolically points to endtime Bible prophecies of "stupendous" importance to the church, the nations and the world. I submit that the still-unfolding Danny-Linda-3ABN saga is also much more than a mere piece of history.

See also the four part series of articles by Gary Krause, "The Lindy Chamberlain Story", Review, July 2 to 23, 1987, and an editorial by William Johnsson, Review, July 30, 1987.

The Chamberlain Divorce Issue. Michael and Lindy Chamberlain divorced in 1990. The divorce was noted by the media, but though a special disappointment to the church, was not the issue which brought Michael and Lindy into the public eye. Both are remarried, to my knowledge (we have little to no contact), happily so. What is past is past, and the statement below is all that needs to be said here. Michael resigned from the ministry of the SDA Church some time after the 1982 Darwin trial. He now has a Ph.D. and is a sociologist and teacher. See his website http://www.michaelchamberlain.com.au. I do not share some of his theological or philosophical views, but whatever any resulting tensions, we cannot forget what he has endured, and the fellowship in Darwin during the trial and visits to the hospital and gaol. We have had almost no contact for years, but still remember him with Christian regard. We all need to pray for each other.

Statement on "Divorce" Copied From "Rumours and Facts" Section on Lindy Chamberlain-Creighton's Website

> QUOTE
>
> That death of her baby and trauma of the case caused Lindy's divorce
> Lindy has stated publicly that the reasons for her divorce existed before the loss of Azaria. The fight to clear their names kept Lindy and Michael together, fighting for a common cause.
>
> Whether they were best friends or not, Lindy did not wish to be divorced, but she felt compelled to do so for the sake of her children. She believes that anyone, and anything, can be forgiven and does not wish any individual ill. She feels that nothing good can come of speaking about the details publicly, but no-one who is fully aware of the reasons for her divorce find fault with her choice, even those with the most stringent religious views. Today, we are a very close knit unit and I am proud to count Aidan, Reagan, & Kahlia as family and best friends. (From http://www.lindychamberlain.com in "Rumours and Facts." I hope you don't mind my copying this, Lindy.)

Statement by Lindy Chamberlain-Creighton on Case for Parallels Between Her Story and Revelation 12. End 2005 I asked Lindy for a statement in regard to the case for the parallels between her story and Revelation 12. You can see it at my website. (I requested a statement also from Michael, but he declined to provide one.

Publicly, because of the divorce and the new marriages, the Chamberlain story now is largely seen just as Lindy's story.)

> QUOTE
>
> "I know that Vada has spent much time and thought over this, but Vada's theory is one that can neither be proved nor disproved by the Bible, in my view. As my case is a public one, members of the public are free to draw any conclusion they choose, without consulting me or seeking my permission. I believe that this should be kept in mind – together with much prayer – by anyone studying Vada's materials." Statement by Lindy Chamberlain-Creighton, 1 December 2005.

I appreciate Lindy's carefully worded comment. Just remember she is a well known public identity in Australia and must choose her words with great caution. She has been caused to suffer much. Even the existence of God cannot be proved or disproved by the Bible. Christianity is based upon faith, and "without faith it is impossible to please God." It is always for us to carefully assess the evidence, prayerfully and humbly compare fact and faith with Scripture, watch the workings of providence, listen for God's voice speaking to our hearts, and know that an understanding of one truth cannot come until we have taken the step of obedient faith on a previously revealed truth. I on my part must shout from the roof tops that though I am fallible in the process of extrapolating upon a parallel, I know the parallels of which I speak are there, and I would certainly be dishonouring my Lord if I did not say so. I am not the only one to see this case, though I do not know anyone who has studied the parallels as extensively as I have.

> QUOTE
>
> "The Revelation was not written without tears; neither without tears will it be understood." - Benson.

> QUOTE
>
> "New opinions are always suspected, and usually opposed, without any other reason but because they are not already common." John Locke, Essay on Human Understanding.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Aug 28 2006, 09:44 PM

Whew - that was a lot of information at once!

welc

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Aug 29 2006, 06:01 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 27 2006, 06:05 PM) ☐
>
> Saharafan, thank you for sharing this testimony. The last few posts by you and Watchbird have been very inspiring for me to read. What you have presented makes any argument for a diminished importance of the Bible in the lives of Christians weak in comparison.

Appreciate your input Boss. Saharafan had some definitely good things to say. I know it may sound like heresy these days but another advantage God has given us is "pastor/teachers" to help prevent us from being tossed to and fro by every wind of doctrine. Not that we place implicit confidence in what they have to say. We are enjoined to put their counsel through the Biblical sieve just like the Bereans did with Paul. I too had some similar experiences to Saharafan, but before I was a Christian and before I was an Adventist. I've experienced "The Dragon, the Beast, and the False Prophet, from the inside. "Sola Scriptura" is the answer man.

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Aug 29 2006, 06:51 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 27 2006, 08:39 PM) ☐
>
> no one has suggested that the bible have diminished importance.... however I am saying that there are those who can becoming overly dependent on the bible that they miss interacting with the God that the bible points a believer too..... I am also saying that there are those who when it comes to the bible are scholars, and can run circles around the average church member, yet they don't necessarily have a relationship with God....
>
> people's experiences may vary...

Clay, You have really brought up some excellent principles that challenge us to a more intimate relationship with God. The scribes had the old testament memorized and crucified Jesus!
On the other hand the lost of Matthew 7 experienced much supernatural phenomenon in "The name of the Lord" and didn't know Jesus either. We experience God and His will through a variety of means. One of those means is His Word.
The Protestant Reformation bogged down for hundreds of years by exalting the Word of God yet forgetting the God of the Word. On the other hand many protestant movements were led astray by "diminishing" the importance of the Word and instead placing experience over this objective standard. One case in point would be the Quakers. They placed an inordinate importance on the "inner light" to the neglect of Scripture. In one case a number of Quakers actually thought God was telling them to run naked in the streets.
I have to confess that your statement on post 84 of this thread "I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my confidence is not in the bible, my confidence is in God...." would on the surface lead one to think that a diminished Bible is implied.
I don't think it is an either or issue. But if one means of God's revelation to the human race is to be emphasized above all others (not to their neglect) it should be the Bible. Otherwise we need to give up the motto "Sola Scriptura."

Posted by: Clay Aug 29 2006, 08:48 AM

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Aug 29 2006, 06:51 AM) ☐
>
> Clay, You have really brought up some excellent principles that challenge us to a more intimate relationship with God. The scribes had the old testament memorized and crucified Jesus!
> On the other hand the lost of Matthew 7 experienced much supernatural phenomenon in "The name of the Lord" and didn't know Jesus either. We experience God and His will through a variety of means. One of those means is His Word.
> The Protestant Reformation bogged down for hundreds of years by exalting the Word of God yet forgetting the God of the Word. On the other hand many protestant movements were led astray by "diminishing" the importance of the Word and instead placing experience over this objective standard. One case in point would be the Quakers. They placed an inordinate importance on the "inner light" to the neglect of Scripture. In one case a number of Quakers actually thought God was telling them to run naked in the streets.
> I have to confess that your statement on post 84 of this thread "I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my confidence is not in the bible, my confidence is in God...." would on the surface lead one to think that a diminished Bible is implied.
> I don't think it is an either or issue. But if one means of God's revelation to the human race is to be emphasized above all others (not to their neglect) it should be the Bible. Otherwise we need to give up the motto "Sola Scriptura."

Welcome to the forum.... the motto "Sola Scriptura" has been given up long ago... for adventists it has become the bible and the writings of egw... check your 28 fundamentals.....

I do not place my confidence in the bible, neither do I think it is the main way God reveals himself to us.....

I find it unbelievable that humans can meet, interact, get to know really well, and marry a person and in some cases stay married for decades, without ever reading a book about that person.... Kids don't read books about their parents to understand and have close relationships with them (when it happens that is).... yet there are those who believe that a great and all powerful Creator is limited to a book in His revelation to humankind. That somehow he cannot reveal himself and have an intimate relationship with us other than by us studying a book about him.....

I reject that picture cause it is wrong.... btjm...

Posted by: västergötland Aug 29 2006, 09:25 AM

Jhn 20:25The other disciples therefore said unto him, We have seen the Lord. But he said unto them, Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe.
Jhn 20:26And after eight days again his disciples were within, and Thomas with them: [then] came Jesus, the doors being shut, and stood in the midst, and said, Peace [be] unto you.
Jhn 20:27Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust [it] into my side: and be not faithless, but believing.
Jhn 20:28And Thomas answered and said unto him, My Lord and my God.
Jhn 20:29Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed [are] they that have not seen, and [yet] have believed.

Like this diciple, many find it easier to believe in what they(we?) have seen.

Posted by: howdy Aug 29 2006, 11:10 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 17 2006, 12:01 PM)
>
> Well to add some fuel to the discussions. When Joshua said that the sun stood still, did it really? And yet he was mightily used of God and his record in the Scriptures is supposed to have been given to 'holy men who were moved of the Holy Ghost'. And yet that is how the story is written in the Bible. The story does not say that the earth stood still at all, although, scientifically/physically that is what really happened.
>
> What about the case of the raven bringing food for Elijah when the raven is an unclean animal that God says touch not, taste not, handle not?
>
> Can we ALWAYS presume to understand the way that God works? And when we are checking the Scriptures to see God's modus operandi, do we check the unusual happenings as well, like those that I have quoted above?
>
> Again I want to reiterate that I understand the need for caution but let us not be too concrete in our thinking that we prevent God from working as He would like, as happened at the GC Session in 1888.

Does anyone really think that the earth stopped turning? Imagine the results of such a happening. All Joshua wanted was some more light and he got it. I dont believe the earth stopped turning.

howdy

Posted by: Green Cochoa Aug 29 2006, 11:27 AM

This discussion has certainly wandered, but I want to add a short story to the concept of dreams and visions. First, God is not the author of confusion, but of power, love, and a sound mind.

I will never forget an experience I had while in high school. An issue of prime importance to me had been gnawing at my mind for a long time, and while the entire school was camped near the ocean during a special field trip, I had extra time to reflect upon it. It was a private matter, and I don't remember discussing it with anyone, though I may have shared it with my best friend and prayer partner of that year, in which case we would have prayed about it together.

I was in a cabin with three other guys, and awoke early in the morning before it was light. My pocket Bible was too small to read by the light of the street lamp outside the window, but with deep thoughts on my mind, and not wishing to waken the others by turning on the light, I could only kneel there on my bunk and pray. It may have been half an hour, or so, in prayer with God, before I fell asleep again. As I slept, I began to dream. It was an ordinary dream. It was the kind of dream with the usual nonsense of dreams. But, into this "ordinary" dream, stepped my angel! I could not see the angel in the dream, and never saw even so much as a silhouette, but it was the most unusual experience I have had in a dream. I just KNEW my angel was there! The dream sort of just went on hold in the angel's presence, as the angel approached me from behind. As the angel began to write upon my back, I became aware of having on a coat which I presumed I needed to remove so the angel's finger could be better felt, and so I struggled with it, but the angel did not wait for me to remove it, nor did I miss receiving the message with it on, but felt clearly the impressions upon my back.

When the angel had finished, I awoke, and it was still early. I lay awake thinking about it, and wondering whether I could have just dreamed such a thing, or if it was real--and if it was real, was it possible for the devil to give me such a dream? I was confused, because 1) I had never had such a thing happen to me before, 2) I had never actually "seen" the angel--so how did I know there was one?, 3) the dream had begun as plain and insignificant as any ordinary dream, and 4) the message was one of hope that the desire of my heart would be granted--so how did I know that I wasn't just trying to comfort myself? Perhaps I was a skeptic, a pessimist, or just lacking in faith. But I simply couldn't seem to believe with certainty that it was a message from God. Why should He pay any attention to sorry me?

The infinite God we serve knows our frame. He remembers that we are dust, and treats us with utmost tenderness and mercy. In my case, He anticipated my confusion, and gave me a second message that same morning, as only God can do. For worship that morning, the principal of the school gave a message about DREAMS and how God can and will use them to guide us at times! He had no knowledge of my experience, as I had not shared it with anyone. And he probably to this day has no idea of how his message encouraged a feeble-in-faith student that morning.

If it is God who gives the dream, it will be God who gives certainty to it. Confusion does not come from God. Many years passed following that dream before its message reached fulfillment. It did, however, come true, in God's timing. Praise God from whom all blessings flow!

"Ask, and you will receive.
Seek, and you will find.
Knock, and the door will be opened unto you."

Posted by: meadbd Aug 29 2006, 12:10 PM

Welcome to the forum.... the motto "Sola Scriptura" has been given up long ago... for adventists it has become the bible and the writings of egw... check your 28 fundamentals.....

===

"Seventh-day Adventists Believe...27"(page 227)

****

"THE SPIRIT OF PROPHECY AND THE BIBLE

The writings of Ellen White are not a substitute for Scripture. They cannot be placed on the same level. The Holy Scriptures stand alone, the unique standard by which her and all other writings must be judged and to which they must be subject. "

===

Now that is a true statement.

Bill

Posted by: princessdi Aug 29 2006, 12:35 PM

Yes, that is what it states, but to often it is not put into practice.

> QUOTE(meadbd @ Aug 29 2006, 11:10 AM)
>
> Welcome to the forum.... the motto "Sola Scriptura" has been given up long ago... for adventists it has become the bible and the writings of egw... check your 28 fundamentals.....
>
> ===
>
> "Seventh-day Adventists Believe...27"(page 227)
>
> *************************************
>
> "THE SPIRIT OF PROPHECY AND THE BIBLE
>
> --
>
> The writings of Ellen White are not a substitute for Scripture. They cannot be placed on the same > level. The Holy Scriptures stand alone, the unique standard by which her and all other writings must be judged and to which they must be subject. "

> ==
> Now that is a true statement.
>
> Bill

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Aug 29 2006, 01:14 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 29 2006, 09:48 AM)
>
> Welcome to the forum.... the motto "Sola Scriptura" has been given up long ago... for adventists it has become the bible and the writings of egw... check your 28 fundamentals.....
>
> I do not place my confidence in the bible, neither do I think it is the main way God reveals himself to us.....
>
> I find it unbelievable that humans can meet, interact, get to know really well, and marry a person and in some cases stay married for decades, without ever reading a book about that person.... Kids don't read books about their parents to understand and have close relationships with them (when it happens that is).... yet there are those who believe that a great and all powerful Creator is limited to a book in His revelation to humankind. That somehow he cannot reveal himself and have an intimate relationship with us other than by us studying a book about him.....
>
> I reject that picture cause it is wrong.... btjm...

Communication is such an imperfect thing. I'm afraid you reject a picture I never painted.
never said that God was limited to the Bible, nor that He cannot reveal Himself in ways other than he Bible. God revealed Himself to me in a variety of ways before I was ever a Christian or had ever read the Bible - and still does.

love my wife. However, I don't think it would please her if I didn't read a love letter from her or said hat I didn't trust it's message, even though her signature was all over it.
checked my copy of the 27 fundamentals (don't have the 28 yet) and on page 227 it says, "Seventh-day Adventists fully support the Reformation principle of sola scriptura, The Bible as its own nterpreter and the Bible alone as the basis of all doctrines."
When and how did God tell you not to have confidence in the Bible? Did God reveal to you that it would be good for us all to do likewise or is this revelation just for you?

Posted by: Clay Aug 29 2006, 03:01 PM

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Aug 29 2006, 01:14 PM)
>
> Communication is such an imperfect thing. I'm afraid you reject a picture I never painted.
> I never said that God was limited to the Bible, nor that He cannot reveal Himself in ways other than the Bible. God revealed Himself to me in a variety of ways before I was ever a Christian or had ever > read the Bible - and still does.

>
> I love my wife. However, I don't think it would please her if I didn't read a love letter from her or said that I didn't trust it's message, even though her signature was all over it.
> I checked my copy of the 27 fundamentals (don't have the 28 yet) and on page 227 it says, "Seventh-day Adventists fully support the Reformation principle of sola scriptura, The Bible as its own interpreter and the Bible alone as the basis of all doctrines."
> When and how did God tell you not to have confidence in the Bible? Did God reveal to you that it would be good for us all to do likewise or is this revelation just for you?

did not suggest that you painted the picture, simply that it existed.... Page 227 of the 28 fundies hats scary.....

God wants me to have confidence in Him..... period.... whatever God tells you or impresses you to do, t would be best for you to do that...... If he has not impressed you to do anything, that to would be between you and God...

Posted by: Denny Aug 30 2006, 06:43 AM

Abraham knew God voice he even obeyed the command to sacrifice his son, ok there was no written 10 commandments then but I am sure they was some moral code around about killing people but he still went ahead cos He knew God's voice

Posted by: Clay Aug 30 2006, 06:46 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Aug 30 2006, 07:43 AM)
>
> Abraham knew God voice he even obeyed the command to sacrifice his son, ok there was no written 10 commandments then but I am sure they was some moral code around about killing people but he still went ahead cos He knew God's voice

Some folks feel uncomfortable with that concept Denny.... there are even some who would suggest hat the only way you would know God's voice is that it agrees with what the bible says.....

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 30 2006, 08:46 AM

> QUOTE
>
> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Aug 29 2006, 01:14 PM) *
>
> Communication is such an imperfect thing. I'm afraid you reject a picture I never painted.
> I never said that God was limited to the Bible, nor that He cannot reveal Himself in ways other than the Bible. God revealed Himself to me in a variety of ways before I was ever a Christian or had ever read the Bible - and still does.
>
> I love my wife. However, I don't think it would please her if I didn't read a love letter from her or said that I didn't trust it's message, even though her signature was all over it.
> I checked my copy of the 27 fundamentals (don't have the 28 yet) and on page 227 it says, "Seventh-day Adventists fully support the Reformation principle of sola scriptura, The Bible as its > own interpreter and the Bible alone as the basis of all doctrines."

> When and how did God tell you not to have confidence in the Bible? Did God reveal to you that it would be good for us all to do likewise or is this revelation just for you?

he problem I have with that statement is that it comes across as saying to me that unless I read my 3ible then I can't know God!! Sorry that ain't right anyway you cut it. Yes I believe in the Bible & I do ead it BUT I don't have to read it to have a personal relationship with God & to know what he wants. laybe that is why he made us with a conscience & he can put those things in our minds that he wants is to know/hear.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 30 2006, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Aug 30 2006, 09:46 AM)
>
> The problem I have with that statement is that it comes across as saying to me that unless I read my Bible then I can't know God!! Sorry that ain't right anyway you cut it. Yes I believe in the Bible & I do read it BUT I don't have to read it to have a personal relationship with God & to know what he wants. Maybe that is why he made us with a conscience & he can put those things in our minds that he wants us to know/hear.

i Hershey,

Immmm.......I'm not sure I can agree with that statement. I firmly believe that we need to be using ur Bibles as our "swords of the Spirit" (Eph.6:17) in order to protect ourselves from things like ompromise and false truths. I also believe that Satan is happy when we don't spend time daily in the criptures. We are much easier to deceive when we leave ourselves unprotected in this way.

f we don't know the scriptures, the "things" being put into our minds may not be coming from God. o it's really a circle of spending time in prayer, reading our Bibles, serving others and then reading upplemental Christian books. I know for me personally, when I miss out on my prayer and/or Bible ime, my whole day just seems to go awry.

do believe there are people that have never read a Bible and still they know God. The mission field is ull of stories like that. There are also mentally handicapped folk that have not been able to read 3ibles, but God draws them to His bossom.

Posted by: Clay Aug 30 2006, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 30 2006, 01:40 PM)
>
> Hi Hershey,
>
> Hmmmm.......I'm not sure I can agree with that statement. I firmly believe that we need to be using our Bibles as our "swords of the Spirit" (Eph.6:17) in order to protect ourselves from things like compromise and false truths. I also believe that Satan is happy when we don't spend time daily in the Scriptures. We are much easier to deceive when we leave ourselves unprotected in this way.
>
> If we don't know the scriptures, the "things" being put into our minds may not be coming from God. So it's really a circle of spending time in prayer, reading our Bibles, serving others and then reading > supplemental Christian books. I know for me personally, when I miss out on my prayer and/or Bible time, my whole day just seems to go awry.

>
> I do believe there are people that have never read a Bible and still they know God. The mission field is full of stories like that. There are also mentally handicapped folk that have not been able to read Bibles, but God draws them to His bossom.

eceived how? suppose it was God's design that this particular day goes awry? How do you know its ot a teachable moment? The bible is good but it cannot replace communicating with God.... likewise he bible has no advice or recommendations on what you as a parent should do if your child is strung ut on crack, or in an abusive relationship, or is pregnant out of wedlock......

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 30 2006, 12:49 PM

> QUOTE
>
> I do believe there are people that have never read a Bible and still they know God. The mission field is full of stories like that. There are also mentally handicapped folk that have not been able to read Bibles, but God draws them to His bossom.

i Barbara

ee that is where I don't get it. These people can still know God but if we have access to a Bible we an't know God without reading it. Sounds double standard to me.

Posted by: Clay Aug 30 2006, 12:56 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Aug 30 2006, 01:49 PM)
>
> Hi Barbara
>
> See that is where I don't get it. These people can still know God but if we have access to a Bible we can't know God without reading it. Sounds double standard to me.

braham had no bible, Noah had no bible, Cain, and Abel had no bible, the generations of people etween Adam and Abraham had no bible.... the population that existed outside of Israel had no bible r the writings of Moses, yet I am positive that God revealed and had relationship with those people...

e have a bible and it is an aid, but it is NOT God, it may give some insight into how God interacts ith humans, but it is not God..... nor is it a magical talisman..... some seem to believe it is....

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 30 2006, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 30 2006, 01:45 PM)

> deceived how? suppose it was God's design that this particular day goes awry? How do you know its not a teachable moment? The bible is good but it cannot replace communicating with God.... likewise the bible has no advice or recommendations on what you as a parent should do if your child is strung out on crack, or in an abusive relationship, or is pregnant out of wedlock......

ood point Clay, just find that most of my "teachable" moments happened because I separated myself from God. I'm ot splitting hairs here, I do understand what your saying.

think Psalm is full of advice for people in the above listed problems. You just have to find it. (I love avid -- he is my favorite Bible character)

Posted by: Clay Aug 30 2006, 01:43 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 30 2006, 01:38 PM)
>
> Good point Clay,
>
> I just find that most of my "teachable" moments happened because I separated myself from God. I'm not splitting hairs here, I do understand what your saying.
>
> I think Psalm is full of advice for people in the above listed problems. You just have to find it. (I love David -- he is my favorite Bible character) ool... and we are probably on the same page in a general sense, I was just wondering or thinking out oud if you will....

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 30 2006, 01:57 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Aug 30 2006, 01:49 PM)
>
> Hi Barbara
>
> See that is where I don't get it. These people can still know God but if we have access to a Bible we can't know God without reading it. Sounds double standard to me.

think with the millions of people out there, and EVERY ONE OF THEM is at a different place piritually, it is impossible for everyone to understand or agree on what connects them to God.

hen I was in my 20's my devotional time was practically nil. I took my Bible to church, but I rarely ead it. It was boring to me. I had a very strong faith and I prayed often, but it was nothing compared o the experience I have today.

od was with me then and He loved me just as much as He loves me now. Do I think that God is lways moving us in the direction that He wants His children to go? Absolutely. Would I want to go ackwards to the relationship I had with Him then? No way. Does God want me to grow even more rom where I am today? Sure He does.

So there isn't an answer that everyone will agree upon. Every person is at a different place in their Christian walk based on their personal experiences. It's okay! Those that rely heavily upon the Bible do so for a reason based upon their experiences. Those that rely heavily on prayer without the Bible do so for a reason, ALSO based on their experiences. And those of us that rely heavily on prayer AND the Bible do so because they can't imagine life any other way.

It doesn't make one wrong and the other right. It makes us human instead of machines. I don't know about you, but I like being a little bit different than everyone else. God made us this way. PTL I just love Him so much!

Posted by: Lucyladye Aug 30 2006, 02:19 PM

My sentiments exacty! ☐

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Aug 30 2006, 10:30 PM

Ephesians 6:10-18 says "10Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. 11Put on the full armor of God so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes. 12For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms. 13Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. 14Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, 15and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace. 16In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one. 17Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. 18And pray in the Spirit on all occasions with all kinds of prayers and requests. With this in mind, be alert and always keep on praying for all the saints. "

I love this message to the Ephesians! My own personal opinion on the discussion about the importance of scripture and reading the Bible is that without a thorough knowledge of what is in there, we will be too easily fooled by the devil's schemes. The patriarchs, etc had the Word directly from God through the spoken words of prophets and angels. While our verbal communication with God - our prayer lives - are oh, so very important, the Word is where we truly learn the character of God...the Truth. Otherwise, we are in danger of interpreting God and His truth by our own fallible parameters.

Just my humble opinion.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Aug 31 2006, 03:52 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Aug 31 2006, 12:30 AM) ☐
>
> I love this message to the Ephesians! My own personal opinion on the discussion about the importance of scripture and reading the Bible is that without a thorough knowledge of what is in there, we will be too easily fooled by the devil's schemes. The patriarchs, etc had the Word directly from God through the spoken words of prophets and angels. While our verbal communication with God - our prayer lives - are oh, so very important, the Word is where we truly learn the character of God...the Truth. Otherwise, we are in danger of interpreting God and His truth by our own fallible parameters.

> Just my humble opinion.

Amen sister! PTL.gif

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 1 2006, 03:59 PM

"Thy testimonies are my meditation."
"Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it."

"Thy testimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my soul keep them. The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple."

"Unless thy law had been my delights, I should have perished in mine affliction. I will never forget thy precepts: for with them thou hast quickened me."

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."
"Through thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way."

"Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy word."
"Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against thee."

"To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them."

- Psalm 119:99; Psalm 119:140; Psalm 119:129,130; Psalm 119:92,93; Psalm 119:105; Psalm 119:104; Psalm 119:9; Psalm 119:11; Isaiah 8:20

"It is the first and highest duty of every rational being to learn from the Scriptures what is truth, and then to walk in the light and encourage others to follow his example." - GC 598
"None but those who have fortified the mind with the truths of the Bible will stand through the last great conflict." - GC 593

Posted by: Clay Sep 1 2006, 05:29 PM

those who stand in the last days will be fortified by the Holy Spirit...... in this world there are people who know TONS more about the bible that most christians will ever know... biblical language scholars who can dissect and parse texts and be correct.... the average person who THINKS they are studying the bible and is "fortified" will be toast..... except those who have been transformed by the Holy Spirit.....

Additionally, I don't think its gonna be a pop quiz to see how much you know or don't know.... its gonna be about who you know and believe in.....

I'm done.....

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 1 2006, 06:41 PM

"God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." - John 4:24

"Sanctify them through thy truth, Thy Word is truth." - John 17:17

"And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God." - Ephesians 6:17

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 1 2006, 06:47 PM

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Sep 1 2006, 01:59 PM) ☐
>
> "Thy testimonies are my meditation."
> "Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it."
>
> "Thy testimonies are wonderful: therefore doth my soul keep them. The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple."
>
> "Unless thy law had been my delights, I should have perished in mine affliction. I will never forget thy precepts: for with them thou hast quickened me."
>
> "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."
> "Through thy precepts I get understanding: therefore I hate every false way."
>
> "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to thy word."
> "Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against thee."
>
> "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them."
>
> - Psalm 119:99; Psalm 119:140; Psalm 119:129,130; Psalm 119:92,93; Psalm 119:105; Psalm 119:104; Psalm 119:9; Psalm 119:11; Isaiah 8:20
> "It is the first and highest duty of every rational being to learn from the Scriptures what is truth, and then to walk in the light and encourage others to follow his example." - GC 598
> "None but those who have fortified the mind with the truths of the Bible will stand through the last great conflict." - GC 593

VoZ:
Amen, Amen and AMEN!

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 1 2006, 03:29 PM) ☐
>
> those who stand in the last days will be fortified by the Holy Spirit...... in this world there are people who know TONS more about the bible that most christians will ever know... biblical language scholars who can dissect and parse texts and be correct.... the average person who THINKS they are studying the bible and is "fortified" will be toast..... except those who have been transformed by the Holy Spirit.....
>
> Additionally, I don't think its gonna be a pop quiz to see how much you know or don't know.... its gonna be about who you know and believe in.....

> I'm done.....

MEN Brother Clay!

Posted by: inga Sep 1 2006, 06:48 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 1 2006, 06:29 PM)
>
> those who stand in the last days will be fortified by the Holy Spirit...... in this world there are people who know TONS more about the bible that most christians will ever know... biblical language scholars who can dissect and parse texts and be correct.... the average person who THINKS they are studying the bible and is "fortified" will be toast..... except those who have been transformed by the Holy Spirit.....
>
> Additionally, I don't think its gonna be a pop quiz to see how much you know or don't know.... its gonna be about who you know and believe in.....
>
> I'm done.....

lay, somehow you've established a false dichotomy between the Bible and the Holy Spirit.

he Bible was inspired by the Holy Spirit. Holy men of God wrote as they were moved by the Spirit. he reason the Bible is "living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword" is that it is also nterpreted by the Holy Spirit to the Spirit-led reader. Thus the Word of God is continually alive. The ame Bible passage can speak in different ways at different times to the Spirit-led reader.

low, Clay, you may be "done" denying our view of things, but please tell us how you see the ible. What is its role in the believer's life. What you have written sounds as though the Bible is ust an adjunct -- unnecessary to the Spirit-led individual. (As you have surmised, I disagree.) I think t would be helpful if you would lay out your view in a single post. (So far, you've just disagreed with vhat some of us have written, rather than laying out your view.)

Posted by: Clay Sep 1 2006, 07:22 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Sep 1 2006, 07:48 PM)
>
> Clay, somehow you've established a false dichotomy between the Bible and the Holy Spirit.
>
> The Bible was inspired by the Holy Spirit. Holy men of God wrote as they were moved by the Spirit. The reason the Bible is "living and active and sharper than any two-edged sword" is that it is also interpreted by the Holy Spirit to the Spirit-led reader. Thus the Word of God is continually alive. The same Bible passage can speak in different ways at different times to the Spirit-led reader.
>
> Now, Clay, you may be "done" denying our view of things, but please tell us how you see the Bible. What is its role in the believer's life. What you have written sounds as though the Bible is just an adjunct -- unnecessary to the Spirit-led individual. (As you have surmised, I disagree.) I think it would be helpful if you would lay out your view in a single post. (So far, you've just > disagreed with what some of us have written, rather than laying out your view.)

have not established anything, what I have done was put the bible in its proper place.... it is a ehicle that can lead people to Christ if we allow it too..... it has no magical powers and is not ecessarily correct.... though it has what is needed for us to understand that God wants to have an ntimate relationship with us.....

our mileage may vary as some have some apprehension about being "led" by the spirit, even though ve say that's what we want.....

Posted by: Clay Sep 1 2006, 07:35 PM

of course my point of reference may be different.... I see those slaves who couldnt read, who actually were told wrong stuff (from the bible) by their masters, developing a hope in Christ that was unshakable..... they had no bible..... I have already mentioned those who lived, who had relationship with God and never laid eyes on the bible..... I am thinking about all those believers who believed even though they had no bible because it was not written in their language but in Latin and locked away....so you cannot convince me that the bible is the end all when throughout history people have been without it.....

Posted by: rwelchcrs Sep 1 2006, 07:56 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 1 2006, 08:22 PM)
>
> i have not established anything, what I have done was put the bible in its proper place.... it is a vehicle that can lead people to Christ if we allow it too..... it has no magical powers and is not necessarily correct.... though it has what is needed for us to understand that God wants to have an intimate relationship with us.....
>
> your mileage may vary as some have some apprehension about being "led" by the spirit, even though we say that's what we want.....

ould you expand on this a bit? Exactly what do you mean by "is not necessarily correct"?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 1 2006, 08:11 PM

Without the Word how can we test the spirits to make sure we are allowing the correct One to empower us?

If the Bible "is not necessarily correct" I'm afraid we're all in deep do-do.

1 Corintians 1:18, 19
18For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.

Posted by: inga Sep 1 2006, 08:21 PM

Clay, thanks for the reply, but you are still only responding to/arguing with things we have said, rather than laying out your views clearly.

A bit of interlining follows ...

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 1 2006, 08:22 PM)
>
> i have not established anything, what I have done was put the bible in its proper place.... it is a vehicle that can lead people to Christ if we allow it too..... it has no magical powers and is not necessarily correct....

You say the Bible can lead people to Christ, and it is not necessarily correct. Can this not be said of thousands of other books as well?

> QUOTE
>
> though it has what is needed for us to understand that God wants to have an intimate relationship with us.....

Again, don't many other books serve the purpsoe of telling us that God wants to have an intimate relationship with us?

As a matter of fact, you say so on this board, so folks could just come here instead of reading the Bible?

> QUOTE
>
> your mileage may vary as some have some apprehension about being "led" by the spirit, even though we say that's what we want.....
>
> of course my point of reference may be different.... I see those slaves who couldnt read, who actually were told wrong stuff (from the bible) by their masters, developing a hope in Christ that was unshakable..... they had no bible..... I have already mentioned those who lived, who had relationship with God and never laid eyes on the bible..... I am thinking about all those believers who believed even though they had no bible because it was not written in their language but in Latin and locked away....so you cannot convince me that the bible is the end all when throughout history people have been without it.....

I have followed this thread but have not seen anyone mention that the Bible is "the end all." I have personally mentioned that for those of us who call ourselves Christians today and have the Bible at our finger tips, it is foundational to our relatiionship with God, though He also speaks to us in other ways.

Others have mentioned that it is like a touchstone that lets us know which spirit is speaking to us.

As for the personal relationship -- how would you feel if you labored over a love letter or a love song for your wife, and she refused to read it or listen to it, demanding you speak to her in other ways instead? Would that demonstrate love or a "personal relationship" on her part?

Of course, our relationship with God is on a different plane. Christ said "the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life." (see the gospel of John) How do you interpret that statement?

Others have posted texts that demonstrate the value God places on His Word. What does it say of our "personal relationship" when we demand He speak to us in other ways, while we ignore His Word?

My question to you was in reference to how you see the Bible in relation to our situation here and now. Anything else is pretty theoretical anyway, and I'll happily leave God to figure out how to communicate with those who don't have the written Word. I know He's capable of it and does it all the time.

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 1 2006, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 1 2006, 09:35 PM)
>
> of course my point of reference may be different.... I see those slaves who couldnt read, who actually were told wrong stuff (from the bible) by their masters, developing a hope in Christ that was unshakable..... they had no bible..... I have already mentioned those who lived, who had relationship with God and never laid eyes on the bible..... I am thinking about all those believers who believed even though they had no bible because it was not written in their language but in Latin and locked away....so you cannot convince me that the bible is the end all when throughout history people have been without it.....

Perhaps you forget that the believers in the dark ages (not having access to the locked away Bible) worshipped more often than not in ignorance. They worshipped in superstition, they worshipped idols, they lived in spiritual bondage and slavery to blasphemous overlords whose power over them was finally broken through the enlightenment that came to them from reading the Holy Scriptures in their own tongue. The Bible you "put in its proper place" was bought by Protestant blood. Did they die in vain?

Is it possible that you were hit over the head in your formative years by one too many Biblical hypocrites?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 1 2006, 08:39 PM

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Sep 1 2006, 05:41 PM)
>
> "God is a Spirit: and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." - John 4:24
>
> "Sanctify them through thy truth, Thy Word is truth." - John 17:17
>
> "And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God." - Ephesians 6:17

Ephesians 6:10 Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power.

The Word of God is where we find our armor!

Posted by: seeshell Sep 1 2006, 08:49 PM

I'm with this...

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Sep 1 2006, 09:31 PM)
>
> Perhaps you forget that the believers in the dark ages (not having access to the locked away Bible) worshipped more often than not in ignorance. They worshipped in superstition, they worshipped idols, they lived in spiritual bondage and slavery to blasphemous overlords whose power over them was finally broken through the enlightenment that came to them from reading the Holy Scriptures in their own tongue. The Bible you "put in its proper place" was bought by Protestant blood. Did they die in vain?
>
> Is it possible that you were hit over the head in your formative years by one too many Biblical hypocrites?

Posted by: Clay Sep 2 2006, 12:04 AM

> QUOTE
>
> As for the personal relationship -- how would you feel if you labored over a love letter or a love song for your wife, and she refused to read it or listen to it, demanding you speak to her in other ways instead? Would that demonstrate love or a "personal relationship" on her part?

my love letters to my wife are snapshots, I would be more concerned if instead of wanting to talk to me she wanted to read those letters... and lets be clear, God did not write one word of the bible....

> QUOTE
>
> Of course, our relationship with God is on a different plane. Christ said "the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life." (see the gospel of John) How do you interpret that statement?

those words were not the bible... not as we have it here and now...what is the word of God? Anything that God communicates with us, and it is not limited to the bible....

> QUOTE
>
> Others have posted texts that demonstrate the value God places on His Word. What does it say of our "personal relationship" when we demand He speak to us in other ways, while we ignore His Word?

His word was NOT the bible as we have it.... in spite of you all suggesting that it is.....

> QUOTE
>
> My question to you was in reference to how you see the Bible in relation to our situation here and now. Anything else is pretty theoretical anyway, and I'll happily leave God to figure out how to communicate with those who don't have the written Word. I know He's capable of it and does it all the time.

The bible is a tool, and gives us insight into how God has interacted with people.... it cannot replace relationship, but for some it may aid in that relationship....

Posted by: Clay Sep 2 2006, 02:37 AM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Sep 1 2006, 08:56 PM) ☐
>
> Could you expand on this a bit? Exactly what do you mean by "is not necessarily correct"?

it was written by men... men who were inspired but men.... and since man is not perfect, that imperfection is reflected in the bible.... the bible is not infallible for if it were we would not allow women to speak in church, neither would we allow women to teach men, we would stone rebellious children, we would kill sabbath breakers and lastly we would believe that the sun stood still when we now know it was the earth that stood still...

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Sep 1 2006, 09:11 PM) ☐
>
> Without the Word how can we test the spirits to make sure we are allowing the correct One to empower us?
>
> If the Bible "is not necessarily correct" I'm afraid we're all in deep do-do.
>
> 1 Corintians 1:18, 19
> 18For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.

you said it I didn't...... but then again I do not share your view....

Posted by: Brother Sam Sep 2 2006, 08:37 AM

Clay

You can clearly see the Bible books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John are written by four different authors covering the same period in history. Yet, you need to read all four books to get the total picture. I believe that because they were different personalitiies, they saw things differently.

The Bible is a translation, so many times we don't get the complete meaning of the text, as written originally, as the translation will reflect the thoughts and understanding of that particular translator. There are words in the original that cannot be communicated properly in English. You can see the personality of the author coming through the works they wrote, such as Paul. In some places the Bible appears to contradict itself - yet I don't believe God contradicts anything - but is man's lack of historical knowledge or the wisdom to put on paper exactly what God has laid down for us in His original written Word.

I will later post my thoughts regarding Danny's continual need to surround himself with "Pentacostal and Charasmatic" people.

Posted by: Clay Sep 3 2006, 09:14 AM thread was split, those comments dealing with the black/white issue in the church has been moved to a new thread in the Your Local Church section.....

here is the link.....

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10728

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 3 2006, 09:30 AM

Thanks for splitting the new thread.
I think that my last post belongs here though since its main theme was on topic. Can you please move it back to this thread?

Posted by: Clay Sep 3 2006, 10:42 AM

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Sep 3 2006, 10:30 AM) ☐
>
> Thanks for splitting the new thread.
> I think that my last post belongs here though since its main theme was on topic. Can you please move it back to this thread?

i could....

V of Z said.....

> QUOTE
>
> Let me follow this logic:
>
> A: Because Adventist are sinners who still sin.
>
> B: The Bible is a faulty revelation.
>
> Next step on slippery slope:
>
> A: Because the majority of the world is going to hell in a handbasket.
>
> B: God is either a liar or doesn't exist
>
> Flip side of the logic:
>
> A: The South African Conferences united.
>
> B: Therefore the Bible is a true revelation.

Posted by: simplysaved Sep 3 2006, 11:03 AM

I hear ya... ☒

> QUOTE(Voktar of Zargon @ Sep 1 2006, 08:31 PM)
>
> Perhaps you forget that the believers in the dark ages (not having access to the locked away Bible) worshipped more often than not in ignorance. They worshipped in superstition, they worshipped idols, they lived in spiritual bondage and slavery to blasphemous overlords whose power over them was finally broken through the enlightenment that came to them from reading the Holy Scriptures in their own tongue. The Bible you "put in its proper place" was bought by Protestant blood. Did they die in vain?
>
> Is it possible that you were hit over the head in your formative years by one too many Biblical hypocrites?

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 3 2006, 08:28 PM

> QUOTE(seeshell @ Sep 1 2006, 10:49 PM)
>
> I'm with this...

Thanks seeshell.

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Sep 3 2006, 01:03 PM)
>
> I hear ya...

Thanks Simply Saved.

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 3 2006, 08:38 PM

What I also meant to say was that Adventists trace their Spiritual Forefathers back to the "Church in the Wilderness" spoken of in Revelation chapter 12. The primary example of that church is considered to be the Waldensians of the Alps. These faithful Christians preserved the primitive Christian faith because of their reverence for and preservation of the Scriptures. Once again, they did so at hazard of their lives. Many of them paid dearly for their Biblical faith with martyrdom. If the Bible is a dead letter or mute point, why does the Devil hate it so much?

Posted by: Voktar of Zargon Sep 3 2006, 08:52 PM

Clay,
I meant to have your quote included in my "logic" statements. So I include that now:

Let me ask this, if the bible is the transforming power that some of you believe it to be, why with all the bible studying adventists that go to church every sabbath, do we remain segregated by color in North America? It seems to me if the bible is what you say it is, that it would have impacted that simple issue..... Seems like if the bible is transforming we would not be segregating ourselves by color and culture.....

Let me follow this logic:

A: Because Adventist are sinners who still sin.

B: The Bible is a faulty revelation.

Next step on slippery slope:

A: Because the majority of the world is going to hell in a handbasket.

B: God is either a liar or doesn't exist

Flip side of the logic:

A: The South African Conferences united.

B: Therefore the Bible is a true revelation.

And finally your response:

no that is not the logic at all..... here is the logic that some have presented....

1. The bible is the Word of God that should be studied and followed implicitedly by all believers....

2. It is the authority by which we as adventist's live our lives....

3. We study the bible and implement its principles and allow its precepts to transform our lives....

::::::::::YET::::::::::

We still are segregated by color in the NAD, and white flight still occurs in our churches...

consequently how much do you really believe points 1 thru 3?

That is what I am pointing out....

Posted by: Clay Sep 4 2006, 12:22 AM my bad....

Posted by: Sapphire Sep 7 2006, 06:37 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Aug 30 2006, 02:57 PM)
>
> I think with the millions of people out there, and EVERY ONE OF THEM is at a different place spiritually, it is impossible for everyone to understand or agree on what connects them to God.

> When I was in my 20's my devotional time was practically nil. I took my Bible to church, but I rarely read it. It was boring to me. I had a very strong faith and I prayed often, but it was nothing compared to the experience I have today.
>
> God was with me then and He loved me just as much as He loves me now. Do I think that God is always moving us in the direction that He wants His children to go? Absolutely. Would I want to go backwards to the relationship I had with Him then? No way. Does God want me to grow even more from where I am today? Sure He does.
>
> So there isn't an answer that everyone will agree upon. Every person is at a different place in their Christian walk based on their personal experiences. It's okay! Those that rely heavily upon the Bible do so for a reason based upon their experiences. Those that rely heavily on prayer without the Bible do so for a reason, ALSO based on their experiences. And those of us that rely heavily on prayer AND the Bible do so because they can't imagine life any other way.
>
> It doesn't make one wrong and the other right. It makes us human instead of machines. I don't know about you, but I like being a little bit different than everyone else. God made us this way. PTL I just love Him so much!

completely agree. We need to remember that every person has experienced different "things" in his)r her life and it all affects where we come from spiritually. I also think some of it is just semantics. t's kind've funny how we are all trying so hard to get everyone else to see the Bible and prayer and 3od, just the way we do. ☒ rofl

'his is good. Very therapeutic. ☒

Posted by: Green Cochoa Sep 8 2006, 08:30 AM

> QUOTE
>
> and lets be clear, God did not write one word of the bible....

Vell, actually, that wasn't fully clear. So, let's be more clear! If you meant that God didn't print our nodern Bibles, nor translate them from the original tongues...hmm....I suppose you could consider 'ourself correct on a technicality--but I would still have to disagree. That would be like saying God lidn't create my baby, I did! But David, in the psalms, speaks clearly of God creating him in his nother's womb, and most of us to this day marvel at the miracle of life.

3od wrote MANY words of the Bible. The entire 10 Commandments were written by His own finger in ;olid rock--twice. If I recall, that amounts to about 280 words in the English translation. Then, in)aniel, His finger wrote several words again--right into the wall. So, again, we could say you are echnically correct since it is true that God did not write JUST one word, but many in the Bible!

)r, have I misunderstood your intended meaning and ought to be asking instead, "Which word of the 3ible did God NOT write?"

All scripture is given by inspiration of God..." 2 Tim. 3:16
It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth)f God. " Mt. 4:4

Posted by: Clay Sep 8 2006, 08:40 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Sep 8 2006, 08:30 AM)
>
> Well, actually, that wasn't fully clear. So, let's be more clear! If you meant that God didn't print our modern Bibles, nor translate them from the original tongues...hmm....I suppose you could consider yourself correct on a technicality--but I would still have to disagree. That would be like saying God didn't create my baby, I did! But David, in the psalms, speaks clearly of God creating him in his mother's womb, and most of us to this day marvel at the miracle of life.
>
> God wrote MANY words of the Bible. The entire 10 Commandments were written by His own finger in solid rock--twice. If I recall, that amounts to about 280 words in the English translation. Then, in Daniel, His finger wrote several words again--right into the wall. So, again, we could say you are technically correct since it is true that God did not write JUST one word, but many in the Bible!
>
> Or, have I misunderstood your intended meaning and ought to be asking instead, "Which word of the Bible did God NOT write?"
>
> "All scripture is given by inspiration of God..." 2 Tim. 3:16
> "It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. " Mt. 4:4

the examples you gave were not "The Bible." In fact at the time that they were written there was no bible, and no plans to compile one, additionally we believe via faith that those things that have been attributed to God were recorded accurately....

When Paul wrote those words he was referring to the OT, since there was no NT. Likewise when Jesus said what he said, the assumption is that he was referring to scripture, i.e. the OT.

I submit to you that Jesus said he is the Word, and he being God also came (to earth) through God, so it well could be that he was referring to himself.... That man is sustained only through Christ himself....

Posted by: Green Cochoa Sep 8 2006, 09:14 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 8 2006, 08:40 AM)
>
> the examples you gave were not "The Bible." In fact at the time that they were written there was no bible, and no plans to compile one, additionally we believe via faith that those things that have been attributed to God were recorded accurately....
>
> When Paul wrote those words he was referring to the OT, since there was no NT. Likewise when Jesus said what he said, the assumption is that he was referring to scripture, i.e. the OT.
>
> I submit to you that Jesus said he is the Word, and he being God also came (to earth) through God, so it well could be that he was referring to himself.... That man is sustained only through Christ himself....

This is why I used the example of the creation of a baby. Just as the genetics and accompanying spark of life have been passed down through many generations, so has God's Word passed down through those same generations. God's Word, beginning with His famous "Breath of Life", has never been lost nor erased from the memories of all of mankind since the creation. While it is true that the Bible is just one form of this Word, it certainly is one of the most concrete forms in modern times. In ancient times, you must remember that our ancestors were superior to us in health, memory, and vitality, living nearly an entire millennium. If we were to assume that God, having spoken to Adam, spoke no more to mankind until the Decalogue was given (which isn't true, of course), we could still trace a possible path of telling/retelling God's Word to Adam's descendants of only SIX steps. (Only three steps reaches Abraham, well over 2000 years after creation.)

When Paul wrote those words, he was referring to God's Word, not the OT. As I understand the statement, the definition of "scripture" is any document inspired by God. "For prophecy came not in old time by the will of man, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." Prophecy here is a synonym to scripture, but is not limited to written work. In other words, when God has inspired it, it's special.

You speak of man being sustained only through Christ Himself, but you seem to be implying that it is NOT through the Bible. Yet the Bible says, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life." Jn. 6:63 Evidently, then, those words, recorded by the disciples for posterity, will sustain us.

Posted by: Clay Sep 8 2006, 09:19 AM

God's word is not limited to "the bible" is my point.....

Posted by: Green Cochoa Sep 8 2006, 09:44 AM

I certainly agree that God's word is not limited to the Holy Bible, nor even to written work, nor even to words themselves. So, perhaps this has just been a discussion of two sides to the same coin!

Now, here's a separate realization that took some time to dawn on my mind, but...consider these facts if you will:

1. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God."
2. Moses, David, Isaiah, Matthew, John, Paul, etc. etc. wrote scripture under God's inspiration.
3. The "spirit of prophecy" referred to in Revelation, refers to God's spirit who inspires these prophets.
4. "For prophecy came not in old time by the will of man, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."
5. Now...are you ready for some more scripture?
6. Each of these "prophets" were sinners like us--but followed God and spoke His truth under inspiration.
7. Ellen White wrote under inspiration, occasionally with the wording dictated by an angel, similar to John on Patmos.

You make the call.

God bless!

Posted by: Clay Sep 8 2006, 10:33 AM

QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Sep 8 2006, 10:44 AM) ☐

> I certainly agree that God's word is not limited to the Holy Bible, nor even to written work, nor even to words themselves. So, perhaps this has just been a discussion of two sides to the same coin!
> Now, here's a separate realization that took some time to dawn on my mind, but...consider these facts if you will:
>
> 1. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God."
> 2. Moses, David, Isaiah, Matthew, John, Paul, etc. etc. wrote scripture under God's inspiration.
> 3. The "spirit of prophecy" referred to in Revelation, refers to God's spirit who inspires these prophets.
> 4. "For prophecy came not in old time by the will of man, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."
> 5. Now...are you ready for some more scripture?
> 6. Each of these "prophets" were sinners like us--but followed God and spoke His truth under inspiration.
> 7. Ellen White wrote under inspiration, occasionally with the wording dictated by an angel, similar to John on Patmos.
>
> You make the call.
>
> God bless!

no call to make...

Posted by: Daffodil Mar 5 2007, 09:04 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 12:32 PM)
>
> I hear what you are saying but I still disagree... there are committed christians who know when God speaks to them and they are in tune with his voice... some have to be because they cannot read the bible.... so they must have a relationship with God..... the same way a child recognizes the voice of their parents is the same type of intimate relationship God wants with us... Is that possible? Yes.... Jesus said my sheep KNOW my voice... and if it is possible for humans to develop an intimate relationship with each other without reading a book about the person, what prevents us from doing the same thing with our Heavenly Father? I understand what you are saying about the bible, but my confidence is not in the bible, it is in God..... scholars know the bible, debate the bible and still have no relationship with God, so it has to be more than just "studying" the bible..... I think we have to really and I mean really trust ourselves to him... and allow him to communicate with us intimately.... it is my opinion that many are afraid of this, just as Israel was at Sinai....

To make the statement "my confidence is not in the Bible, it is in God" is a pretty shaky ground to stand on. The Lord wants us to fortify our minds with his word so that we will not be decieved by the devil. Your statement sounds an awful lot like you run on feelings and thats the last thing we want to do. Of course we are suppose to depend 100% on God, that's not in question, but, to not have confidence in scripture is another thing. Sure, I know some words aren't translated well, but, thats where comparing scripture with scripture comes in, going from verse to verse.

Sincerely,
Dawn

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 09:09 AM

> QUOTE(Daffodil @ Mar 5 2007, 09:04 AM)
>
> To make the statement "my confidence is not in the Bible, it is in God" is a pretty shaky ground to stand on. The Lord wants us to fortify our minds with his word so that we will not be decieved by the devil. Your statement sounds an awful lot like you run on feelings and thats the last thing we want to do. Of course we are suppose to depend 100% on God, that's not in question, but, to not have confidence in scripture is another thing. Sure, I know some words aren't translated well, but, thats where comparing scripture with scripture comes in, going from verse to verse.
>
> Sincerely,
> Dawn

and I have not asked you to stand where I stand.... you follow God as He leads you and I will do the same.... As Jesus told Peter when Peter asked what John would be doing....John 21:22 Jesus said to him, "If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you? You follow Me."

So my sister, you follow him.... and let him deal with me.....

Posted by: Daffodil Mar 5 2007, 09:19 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 09:09 AM)
>
> and I have not asked you to stand where I stand.... you follow God as He leads you and I will do the same.... As Jesus told Peter when Peter asked what John would be doing....John 21:22 Jesus said to him, "If I will that he remain till I come, what is that to you? You follow Me."
>
> So my sister, you follow him.... and let him deal with me.....

I am sorry Clay, I did not mean to offend, just what you wrote struck me as alarming! Just giving my humble opinion.

Sincerely,
Dawn

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 09:22 AM

> QUOTE(Daffodil @ Mar 5 2007, 09:19 AM)
>
> I am sorry Clay, I did not mean to offend, just what you wrote struck me as alarming! Just giving my humble opinion.

> Sincerely,
> Dawn

appreciate your concern Dawn, and I am not offended... but remember my sister, we each have to ollow as he leads... and trust me, he will lead if we allow....

Posted by: watchbird Mar 5 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 10:22 AM)
>
> I appreciate your concern Dawn, and I am not offended... but remember my sister, we each have to follow as he leads... and trust me, he will lead if we allow....

he problem you are not recognizing, Clay, is that if there is no agreed upon objective authority by vhich to test Who we are following, then it forever remains a question of "he said/she said" or "my pinion vs your opinion". And the sad facts are that the woods are full of a variety of people who ollow what they claim is God's individual leading.... some of which are plainly following only their own maginations or gods of their own creation or ... even more dangerous ... "satan as an angel of light".

3y their fruits ye shall know them requires that we have a consensual agreement as to what kind of fruit" is indicative of what. You have no authority such that there is any reason for us to "trust" you vhen you assure us that "he will lead if we allow". Nor is God the ONLY god who is plenty willing to lead if we allow".

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 10:20 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 5 2007, 10:13 AM)
>
> The problem you are not recognizing, Clay, is that if there is no agreed upon objective authority by which to test Who we are following, then it forever remains a question of "he said/she said" or "my opinion vs your opinion". And the sad facts are that the woods are full of a variety of people who follow what they claim is God's individual leading.... some of which are plainly following only their own imaginations or gods of their own creation or ... even more dangerous ... "satan as an angel of light".
>
> By their fruits ye shall know them requires that we have a consensual agreement as to what kind of "fruit" is indicative of what. You have no authority such that there is any reason for us to "trust" you when you assure us that "he will lead if we allow". Nor is God the ONLY god who is plenty willing to "lead if we allow".

hat question is there even when there is an "objective" source... last time I looked, not all agree with concepts presented in the bible.... IN the U.S. over 38k different denominations supposedly following he same bible.... and let's not talk about the diversity of opinion within our own church.....

am not asking anyone to follow me.... and if folks cannot discern his voice or the path he would have hem be on.... ummm I don't know what to tell them.... as for the fruit thing.... are we to be fruit nspectors? I don't know... I suppose we are to be when it comes to following people, but Jesus tells is to follow him I thought....

Posted by: Lee Mar 5 2007, 12:28 PM

Dawn is correct--we follow God through His Holy Word--the Bible.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:32 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 06:20 PM)
>
> that question is there even when there is an "objective" source... last time I looked, not all agree with concepts presented in the bible.... IN the U.S. over 38k different denominations supposedly following the same bible.... and let's not talk about the diversity of opinion within our own church.....
>
> I am not asking anyone to follow me.... and if folks cannot discern his voice or the path he would have them be on.... ummm I don't know what to tell them.... as for the fruit thing.... are we to be fruit inspectors? I don't know... I suppose we are to be when it comes to following people, but Jesus tells us to follow him I thought....

You are stating that you are following your own convictions without forcing anyone else to follow exatly in your footsteps, but to follow Jesus?

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 12:32 PM)
>
> You are stating that you are following your own convictions without forcing anyone else to follow exatly in your footsteps, but to follow Jesus?

yep....

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 12:28 PM)
>
> Dawn is correct--we follow God through His Holy Word--the Bible.

nope....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 5 2007, 05:15 PM

And after saying that you still defend Danny?

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 01:28 PM)

> Dawn is correct--we follow God through His Holy Word--the Bible.

Posted by: Daffodil Mar 6 2007, 09:01 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 10:20 AM)
>
> that question is there even when there is an "objective" source... last time I looked, not all agree with concepts presented in the bible.... IN the U.S. over 38k different denominations supposedly following the same bible.... and let's not talk about the diversity of opinion within our own church.....
>
> I am not asking anyone to follow me.... and if folks cannot discern his voice or the path he would have them be on.... ummm I don't know what to tell them.... as for the fruit thing.... are we to be fruit inspectors? I don't know... I suppose we are to be when it comes to following people, but Jesus tells us to follow him I thought....

Clay,

Sure we are to be fruit inspectors, but, we are not to judge a persons soul. I agree that we are to follow Jesus. Jesus also tells us in His holy word to "study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."2Tim. 2:15

What about the verse in John 1:14 that states "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotton of the Father,) full of grace and truth." Jesus is the Word, Jesus when He walked on earth quoted scriture, so obviously He had confidence in what He wrote.

"I am not asking anyone to follow me"

Of course you are not, but, people will read your words and I am sure like anybody you give counsel. My question would be how do you give counsel to someone if you hold no confidence in the inspired Word. As christians we either build people up for Christ or bring them down, we also wouldn't want to be a stumbling block for a weaker brother or sister.

Sincerely,
Dawn

Posted by: Clay Mar 6 2007, 12:24 PM

> QUOTE(Daffodil @ Mar 6 2007, 09:01 AM)
>
> Clay,
>
> Sure we are to be fruit inspectors, but, we are not to judge a persons soul. I agree that we are to follow Jesus. Jesus also tells us in His holy word to "study to shew thyself approved unto God, a > workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."2Tim. 2:15 have never seen a person attempt to inspect the life of another without also judging them.... it ounds good but most of us cannot separate one from the other...... as for the text... when it was vritten the NT did not yet exist, so to what "word of truth" was the writer referring?

> QUOTE
>
>]What about the verse in John 1:14 that states "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotton of the Father,) full of grace and truth."
> Jesus is the Word, Jesus when He walked on earth quoted scriture, so obviously He had confidence in what He wrote.

esus didn't write anything... Jesus God, was a spirit who became flesh and walked among men.... he uoted scripture that the Jews were familiar with.... He also told those same Jews..... you search the criptures for in them you think you have eternal life, but they testify of me..... in essence the jews vere studying the scriptures and ignoring that Jesus the savior of the world was in their midst... They ejected Jesus in favor of the scriptures....

> QUOTE
>
> "I am not asking anyone to follow me"
>
> Of course you are not, but, people will read your words and I am sure like anybody you give counsel. My question would be how do you give counsel to someone if you hold no confidence in the inspired Word. As christians we either build people up for Christ or bring them down, we also wouldn't want to be a stumbling block for a weaker brother or sister.
>
> Sincerely,
> Dawn

mmm actually I avoid giving counsel, religious or otherwise. Now I can share with people my xperience, letting them know that my experience may not be their experience.... It is my belief that od will reveal himself to people in his own way, and through prayer people can learn to hear his oice... He is not limited to the bible, never has been..... as for a weaker brother or sister, there omes a time when folks must stand without looking at us but focus on Christ.... if in fact that is who hey say they are following....

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 6 2007, 12:24 PM)
>
> I have never seen a person attempt to inspect the life of another without also judging them....

xactly, great point. You confirm what others have denied on this board. While inspecting, and peculating (without all the evidence, of course) one comes to a conclusion in their own mind, and hen judge the person on the conclusions they have come to. Not biblical. No siree

---

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 6 2007, 02:11 PM

One point you seem to keep forgeting, Bystander: one needn't use anything more than Occam's Razor here to arrive at a reasonable conclusion. I'm not sure you understand the first rule of knowledge in this court of public opinion. There is no other court that matters. The damage has been done. You're losing, big time, yet you keep using desperate terms like "proof," but unable to demonstrate what you're saying, and as such, you're not saying anything at all.

No offense, but you remind me of a Chihuahua barking at its own shadow.

Posted by: Clay Mar 6 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 01:40 PM)
>
> Exactly, great point. You confirm what others have denied on this board. While inspecting, and speculating (without all the evidence, of course) one comes to a conclusion in their own mind, and then judge the person on the conclusions they have come to. Not biblical. No siree you have compared apples and potatoes.... but I expected as much...... from a bystander that is....

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 7 2007, 09:17 AM

Powered by Invision Power Board (http://www.invisionboard.com)
© Invision Power Services (http://www.invisionpower.com)

52

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Privacy Policy For 3abn Threads

Posted by: calvin Mar 7 2007, 08:52 AM

Our privacy rule here has been for members posting other members private information. I am expanding this policy to include all the players in this continuing saga, no matter how larger or small a player they are. Please don't post personal phone numbers and addresses of anyone involved with 3ABN, even if it appears elsewhere on the net. I am sure neither the Dannynites nor Lindanites would want to see Danny's or Linda's private phone numbers post here.

Thank you
Calvin

---

(53)

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Letter To Calvin

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 18 2007, 02:27 PM

Calvin....
It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.

Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?
My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.

Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,

"Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."

I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.

Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.

There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."

Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
May the God of our hearts, bless us.
Joe Smith

Posted by: Observer Jan 18 2007, 02:44 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 01:27 PM)

> Calvin....
> It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.
>
> Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?
> My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.
>
> Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
> I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,
>
> "Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."
>
> I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.
>
> Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.
>
> There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."
>
> Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
> May the God of our hearts, bless us.
> Joe Smith

oe:

Ve have a great responsibility.

Ve are imperfect.

3SDA, and the other forums are imperfect.

3ut, we have a responsibility to follow the leading of the Lord. The Lord uses imperfect people--you ınd I.

Dne on the list of responsibilities is, in a time of great sin, to call sin by its name. There are clearly 3iblical verses of which you are aware that call upon God's people to do that. That call does not come o perfect people. It does not come to people who will fulfill it in a perfect way. It simply comes to the eople that God has called.

The majority of the people here are united in the belief that God has called us to take a stand. We feel that we must obey that call from God.

You may disagree.

It may not be your call.

But, God has not called upon you to tell us what our call is.

Ulltimately, God will bring His will to pass. It will not be us. But, God may use us to accomplish His will, imperfect as we are. But, when God inteervenes to bring this to a close, we will be satisfied that God has accomplished His will, and we have responded as we believe He called us.

When God brings this to a close, even you may believe, with us, that God has accomplished His purpose.

Why has God not closed it off, and accomplished His will. Perhaps to give those who have sinned a time to repent, and rectify wrongs. Perhaps to bring things into the open so that all will be convinced that God has accomplilshed His purpose. Perhaps. . . . ..

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 18 2007, 02:57 PM

In other words, when you can't attack the message you attack the messenger. Typical of those that can't dispute the facts as presented.

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 03:27 PM)
>
> Calvin....
> It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.
>
> Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?
> My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.
>
> Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
> I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,
>
> "Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."
>
> I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.

> Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.
>
> There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."
>
> Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
> May the God of our hearts, bless us.
> Joe Smith

Posted by: eye witness Jan 18 2007, 03:21 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 02:27 PM)
>
> Calvin....
> It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.
>
> Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?
> My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.
>
> Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
> I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,
>
> "Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."
>
> I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.
>
> Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.
>
> There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be > faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."

>
> Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
> May the God of our hearts, bless us.
> Joe Smith

our right Pastor the Bible reads as follows:

ames 3:5 "Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things, Behold, how great a natter a little fire kindleth!
Peter 3:10 "For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his ips that they speak no guile."
roverbs 18:8 "The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts f the belly."
ames 4:11 "Speak no evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth is brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: thou are not a doer of the law, but a udge."
Peter 2:1 "Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil peakings."
Peter 2:12 "Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against ou as evildoers, they may be your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of isitation."
Peter 3:16 "Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they nay be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ."
Corinthians 12:20 "But now are they many members, yet but one body."

omans 1:28 – 32 " And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them ver to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient: Being filled with all nrighteousness; full of envy, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity vhisperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boaster, inventors of evil things, disobedient o parents, Without understanding, convenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, nmerciful: Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of leath, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them."
phesians 4:29-32 "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good o the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers. And grieve not the Holy Spirit of od, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption. Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and lamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice. And be ye KIND one to another, enderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." hilippians 4:8 "Finally breather, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, vhatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever hings are of good report; if there be any virtue and if there be any praise THINK ON THESE THINGS."
latthew 18:15 "Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bond in heaven: and vhatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."
John 9, 10 "I wrote unto the church: but Diotrephes, who loveth to have the preeminence among hem, receiveth us not. Wherefore, if I come, I will remember his deeds which he doeth, prating gainst us with malicious words: and not content therewith, neither doth he himself receive the rethren, and for biddeth them that would, and casteth them out of the church.
Timothy 5: 11-13 "But the younger widows refuse: for when they have begun to wax wanton gainst Christ, they will marry: Having damnation, because they have cast off their first faith, And vithal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house: and not only idle, but tattlers also nd busybodies, speaking things which they ought not."
Thessalonians 3:11 "For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies."

Romans 12:10 "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love: in honour preferring one another;"
Proverbs 11:13 "A talebearer revealeth secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter."
Proverbs 25:9, 10 "Debate they cause with they neighbor himself; and discover not a secret to another: Lest he that heareth it put thee to shame, and thine infamy turn not away."

Ellen G White has some to say also on Faultfinding and Gossip:
Testimonies Vol #2
Testimonies Vol #3
Testimonies Vol #5
Testimonies Vol#8 (A neglected warning) P. 81-85
"The time spent in criticizing the motives and works of Christ's servants might better be spent in prayer. Often if those who find fault knew the truth in regard to those with whom they find fault, they would have an all together different opinion of them. How much better it would be if, instead of criticizing and condemning other, everyone would say: "I must work out my own salvation. If I co-operate with Him who desires to save my soul, I must watch myself diligently. I must cut away evil from my life. I must become a new creature in Christ. I must overcome my fault. Then, instead of weakening those who are striving against evil, I can strengthen them by encouraging words."
Testimonies Vol#9

Talebeareres:
Testimonies Vol#7
Testimonies Vol#8

Eye Witness

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 18 2007, 03:22 PM

I'm amused every time I read these protest threads. Where is the outrage and "sadness" about the state of race relations in our church? Where is the outcry about the abuse and misuse of power at all levels of our church administration? Where is the call for known adulterers and pedophiles in our churches to be dealt with, regardless of their last name or political affiliations? When did the Lord say it was OK to stick our heads in the sand when we know that wrong is being done? Please. Spare me the moral indignation and patronizing attitude. The level of hypocrisy that has come to the surface with this 3ABN mess is just incredible. I don't wade into the muck of 3ABN threads very often, but this one was just more than I could handle. I, for one, think Calvin has done a valuable service by allowing this information to be presented in a respectful way...it could very easily have become gossip central, but it isn't.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 18 2007, 03:36 PM

For the record, I'm not Calvin... but if you truly expected only Calvin to read and/or respond, you'd have done what you have been whining about with others and followed Matt 18... and taken it up between " he and thee alone" as the bible states... so that said...

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 03:27 PM)
>
> Calvin....
> It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist > that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.

ou need to re-check your definitions. 'Adventist' means we look for... wait for... and fully expect hrist to come again. It is our 'blessed hope'. It's not an issue of knowing... or of our proclaiming nowledge.

> QUOTE
>
> Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?

o borrow from Tonto, when the Lone Ranger informed him " It looks like we're surrounded by ndians..." Whaddya mean 'we'?

cant speak for you, as to what vision you had.... and if your posts are any indication, if we've lost oth your vision and your understanding.. that can only be a good thing.

> QUOTE
>
> My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.

will presume you mean the slanderous, unholy comments made by posters other than yourself... or hose who share your opinions... you seem quite alright with those slanderous, unholy comments.

> QUOTE
>
> Are we any better than the rest of the world?

etter at what?

> QUOTE
>
> Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?"

eeing that it was never about anything we did or did not do that makes us a 'peculiar people' I would ope the answer is 'NO'... any other answer and you have set your feet on the path to another gospel.
t is God's election that makes us God's peculiar treasure... not anything we do... or that we don't do, or that matter.

> QUOTE
>
> Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
> I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads, seem to recall another verse...Thou hypocrite, first consider the beam in thine own eye... since you seem inclined to look at scripture.

> "Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."

> QUOTE
>
> I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.

See above.

> QUOTE
>
> Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.

You are not speaking 'to' Calvin. You are speaking at him. To speak to him, would require dialog... and as a pastor, you should be well versed in the difference. He is not one of your parishioners... and you are not the only one here that bears the ordination upon which the bulk of your ecclesiological authority is derived... which is the ordination of local elder, BTW. You are speaking to him as if he is your subordinate, not as if he is your peer... but i suppose that should not surprise any since that has been your posture since you came here... with Calvin and everyone else here who chose to not accept your version or see your conclusions as valid.

> QUOTE
>
> There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."
>
> Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
> May the God of our hearts, bless us.
> Joe Smith

Yes, there is a judgement day coming... where each of us will have to stand before God and the balance in which each will be weighed is the one that has " inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me". the bottom line of your argument has been that you believe that God selected Danny Shelton and thus the end will eventually justify the means he has utilized to have things as he desires them.

t doesn't... and it wont. Yes, I agree that zeal can be a dangerous tool in some hands... but before you begin pointing fingers, you have your own self to clean up... if you deem those opposed to Danny as doing something evil, have you not recompensed them evil for evil? If you see those here as your brethren in Christ overtaken in a fault, is not your obligation to restore such a one in the spirit of meekness, considering thyself lest ye also be tempted? If you see us as 'enemies', do you not have an obligation to love your enemies and pray for those who despise you, not recompensing evil for evil but rather overcoming evil with good?

Weighed in the balance you are trying to put Calvin in, it is you who is found wanting, pastor.

May God have mercy on us all. If you truly have the concerns noted here, then you need need to approach Calvin more correctly than you have... but you are waaaaaaaaaay out of pocket at this juncture... but I think you knew that already.

In His service,
Elder Kevin Josey

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 18 2007, 04:46 PM

It only took 35 posts for you to become ashamed?

☒ notworkir

Posted by: Clay Jan 18 2007, 07:07 PM

where do they come from? so tiresome they are.....

Posted by: Lee Jan 18 2007, 07:47 PM

Elder Smith: Thank you for your letter. I could tell it was from your heart. I pray God will bless you in your efforts at 3ABN. I am praying for you and for 3ABN.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 18 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 18 2007, 07:47 PM)
>
> Elder Smith: Thank you for your letter. I could tell it was from your heart. I pray God will bless you in your efforts at 3ABN. I am praying for you and for 3ABN.

great letter pastor smith. Just hope all of you on this site tune in to the 3ABN live program that is going on right now. It answers a lot of your questions. 1 hour has already passed but there is another hour left.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 18 2007, 09:11 PM

Well....

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jan 18 2007, 05:22 PM)

> I'm amused every time I read these protest threads. Where is the outrage and "sadness" about the state of race relations in our church? Where is the outcry about the abuse and misuse of power at all levels of our church administration? Where is the call for known adulterers and pedophiles in our churches to be dealt with, regardless of their last name or political affiliations? When did the Lord say it was OK to stick our heads in the sand when we know that wrong is being done? Please. Spare me the moral indignation and patronizing attitude. The level of hypocrisy that has come to the surface with this 3ABN mess is just incredible. I don't wade into the muck of 3ABN threads very often, but this one was just more than I could handle. I, for one, think Calvin has done a valuable service by allowing this information to be presented in a respectful way...it could very easily have become gossip central, but it isn't.

Who is speaking for the sexually abused children? Who?

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 18 2007, 09:47 PM)
>
> Elder Smith: Thank you for your letter. I could tell it was from your heart. I pray God will bless you in your efforts at 3ABN. I am praying for you and for 3ABN.

....why hasn't anyone (from the shut up and stop "gossiping" camp) mentioned praying for the sexually abused children? What about praying for the adults still trying to cope with the sexual abuse? What about that?

await replies. I want to hear someone say something about prayer for victim of sexual abuse that have yet to see their perpetrator in jail....

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 09:37 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 18 2007, 07:05 PM)
>
> great letter pastor smith. Just hope all of you on this site tune in to the 3ABN live program that is going on right now. It answers a lot of your questions. 1 hour has already passed but there is another hour left.

Oh, it answers (and confirms) a LOT of questions alright.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Jan 18 2007, 09:40 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 18 2007, 08:37 PM)
>
> Oh, it answers (and confirms) a LOT of questions alright.

am missing it, what are they saying?

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 09:44 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jan 18 2007, 07:40 PM)
>
> I am missing it, what are they saying?

A lot of spin. It's all the devil, it's never Danny. Danny is to be a cork now, and not let Jezeble the queen take him down (Lomacang). He says the devil would have taken him down 3 years ago if God had let him. They are claiming victory in 2007 from the enemy.

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 18 2007, 09:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 18 2007, 09:05 PM)
>
> great letter pastor smith. Just hope all of you on this site tune in to the 3ABN live program that is going on right now. It answers a lot of your questions. 1 hour has already passed but there is another hour left.

So, I tuned in in time to hear Danny with a cute slip of the tongue! Anyone else hear him say this? Speaking of 3ABN taking the message to the world, he said 3ABN will spread the message "that will counterfeit into all the world." Oops! He left out some key words in that one from his normal routine!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 18 2007, 09:49 PM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Jan 18 2007, 10:44 PM)
>
> So, I tuned in in time to hear Danny with a cute slip of the tongue! Anyone else hear him say this? Speaking of 3ABN taking the message to the world, he said 3ABN will spread the message "that will counterfeit into all the world." Oops! He left out some key words in that one from his normal routine!

No...he just spoke the truth this time...

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 18 2007, 07:49 PM)
>
> No...he just spoke the truth this time...

Are you watching this HOTY?

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 18 2007, 09:52 PM

...And he just talked about his former wife's accident in which Melody and her mother were in the car, and someone ran a stop sign and killed "them." Who is "them"? Melody didn't die...did more than one perish in that accident? Who else was in the car? Or did he just say "them" instead of "her"?

(This was while he was defending himself against the allegations that he murdered his wife. I do not see what he hopes to gain by broadcasting the fact that such allegations against him exist--on international "Christian" television. Some things would be best left unsaid.)

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 18 2007, 09:57 PM

No, I'm not watching it...I'll have to catch it later...

Any highlights for me?

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 10:01 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 18 2007, 07:57 PM)
>
> No, I'm not watching it...I'll have to catch it later...
>
> Any highlights for me?

Well, sufice it to say, they are running scared from exposure, and of course, blaming the devil and all those pastors and christians attacking them. For a man who says "i never felt more happy and at peace in my entire life then now" and has to worry about what silly o people are saying...um, I would say he does see the writing on the wall, and it's about to be in a courtroom wall. I hope he listened to his own (and Mollie too) accountability to truth sermon.

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 18 2007, 10:02 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 18 2007, 10:05 PM)
>
> great letter pastor smith. Just hope all of you on this site tune in to the 3ABN live program that is going on right now. It answers a lot of your questions. 1 hour has already passed but there is another hour left.

I had to pass sowwy... StarWars "Return of Sith" was on and one must have ones priorities ya know

---

Posted by: inga Jan 18 2007, 10:08 PM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Jan 18 2007, 10:52 PM)
>
> ...And he just talked about his former wife's accident in which Melody and her mother were in the car, and someone ran a stop sign and killed "them." Who is "them"? Melody didn't die...did more than one perish in that accident? Who else was in the car? Or did he just say "them" instead of "her"?
>
> (This was while he was defending himself against the allegations that he murdered his wife. I do not see what he hopes to gain by broadcasting the fact that such allegations against him exist--on international "Christian" television. Some things would be best left unsaid.)

Did he actually say that some were alleging that he murdered his wife?? If, so ...

Wonder if his other "former wife" will get a bit of mention in the story? Or maybe he hopes that everyone's already forgotten her. I mean he should also mention that there are allegations that he he murdered her in a different way -- through slander, that is.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 18 2007, 11:01 PM)
>
> For a man who says "i never felt more happy and at peace in my entire life then now"

Did he say that tonight, or are you picking that up from a previous statement?

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 10:12 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 18 2007, 08:05 PM)
>
> Did he actually say that some were alleging that he murdered his wife?? If, so ...
>
> Wonder if his other "former wife" will get a bit of mention in the story? Or maybe he hopes that everyone's already forgotten her. I mean he should also mention that there are allegations that he he murdered her in a different way -- through slander, that is.

He won't mention his last wife, only in terms of "boy Tommy, you have increased production more then ever in the past 2.5 years" and things of this nature...you know, subtle slams and such. Even TOmmy said "well, I wasn't the only one, it was really the team"....and Inga, you know slander is ok if it comes from Danny, but not anyone else, especially if they are telling the truth. I've never seen a better example of hypocrites on a stage in all my life. It truly makes me Ill. Danny even said something about "I've tried to talk to these people", which we know that means he comes here to BSDA and converses...obviously he knows he can't win here, like he does to people on a one-on-one basis - this group is too much for him. They spent the whole time defending something they said there was no need to defend. What's that tell ya???

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 18 2007, 08:08 PM)

> Did he actually say that some were alleging that he murdered his wife?? If, so ...
>
> Wonder if his other "former wife" will get a bit of mention in the story? Or maybe he hopes that everyone's already forgotten her. I mean he should also mention that there are allegations that he he murdered her in a different way -- through slander, that is.
> Did he say that tonight, or are you picking that up from a previous statement?

He just said it tonight. With in the last 30 minutes (about never being more happier or at peace in all his life then now)

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 18 2007, 10:14 PM

Inga, that's what I heard him say. I guess my ears might have had an "auditory malfunction", so perhaps someone else can second the "opinion." On the other hand, doesn't this program re-air shortly? It used to air again two hours later... I haven't watched many lately, so perhaps the schedule has changed.

Seems that this program would be worth a double-take. (Pun intended....)

Posted by: mystery- man Jan 18 2007, 10:15 PM

I have not posted here for a while but I just had to at this time because I see the same tactic used over and over in the Church by leaders and that is when you cannot attack the message attack the messenger. For years our church has run destroyed individuals who before now did not have a voice. And in many of the cases they always use the spirit of prophecy or selected quotes from the bible to attack the individual whom carries the message they no longer want to hear and cant stop or silence through a clear answer. It saddens me that individuals cant are so blinded by their self righteousness that they cant see what is before them. The man dumped his wife for no good cause and picked up a new and younger model, and this man is suppose to represent the spear head in the Adventist Church. This is Jimmy Swargart all over again except we use the bible and the spirit of prophecy to bash those on the head who will not except (them standing under the stars pointing at the three angels and the lords comming lovey dubby two some)> lie given. And where is this indignation when wrongs are done to young children and women are abused. Pastor you sicken me with your mess, it is time for you to evaluate yourself for it is you and the like who the lord will hold accountable. Where is your outrage at those who trade mark the adventist name and call its members customers? Or how about the many other things done in the church in the name of God which are a total lie? Spare me the tears, you should be crying for the abused and suffering people who were molested___ And Tommy aint that impotant that all of them would be lying on him, do we really have to remain that stupid and blind. Could it be you are angry because you cant control what is being said or the people saying it? For to long the ministers have thought themselves God instead of representing them. Pastor no longer gives you the right to know it all.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 18 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Jan 18 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> Inga, that's what I heard him say. I guess my ears might have had an "auditory malfunction", so perhaps someone else can second the "opinion." On the other hand, doesn't this program re-air > shortly? It used to air again two hours later... I haven't watched many lately, so perhaps the schedule has changed.

t will re-air and it could also have bits and pieces missing from the original - either intentionally (like anny saying some things that he shouldn't have) or for other reasons. The schedule on their website hows re-air times. I do believe again tonight and I think on Sunday night as well. Just check their ite. Re-airs 11pm to 1am pacific time again tonight. That's in 2.5 hours.

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Jan 18 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> Inga, that's what I heard him say. I guess my ears might have had an "auditory malfunction", so perhaps someone else can second the "opinion." On the other hand, doesn't this program re-air shortly? It used to air again two hours later... I haven't watched many lately, so perhaps the schedule has changed.
>
> Seems that this program would be worth a double-take. (Pun intended....)

won't watch again - once was more then enough for me and my trash can is full.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 01:18 AM

Pastor Joe and eye witness,

I have some questions I would really appreciate your answers to:

IF the allegations against Tommy are true and he did, indeed abuse his position as shepherd of the flock to manipulate boys, teenage and younger, to do things to satisfy his deviant sexual desires would you dismiss it and let the behavior stay secretly cradled in darkness because of the counsel of Philippians 4:8? Would you feel no remorse with each additional victimization since you didn't do your part to bring this to light and warn parents to protect their children?

I wonder how many of Tommy's alleged victims are glad that no one sounded a warning to keep them from falling prey? I wonder how many of Tommy's alleged victims brush aside the painful memories, the betrayal they feel and peacefully "THINK ON THESE THINGS" suggested in Philippians 4:8? I wonder how many have had their spirits crushed and have turned their backs on the only Source of Salvation because of their alleged victimization? Do you suppose that God will look at these wounded lives and apply Matthew 18: 6? But if anyone causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin, it would be better for him to have a large millstone hung around his neck and to be drowned in the depths of the sea.

IF the allegations against Tommy are true and, out of their love for him, his family circled the wagons to protect him from the legal consequences of his actions, minimized, denied and even lied about the allegations and even went so far as to attempt to intimidate these hurting alleged victims by phone calls and threats of legal actions would you say that this family is bringing the glory of God to their community?
1Peter 2:12 Live such good lives among the pagans that, though they accuse you of doing wrong, they may see your good deeds and glorify God on the day he visits us.

1 Corinthians 5
1 It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and of a kind that does not occur even among pagans: A man has his father's wife. 2 And you are proud! Shouldn't you rather have been filled with grief and have put out of your fellowship the man who did this? 3 Even though I am not physically present, I am with you in spirit. And I have already passed judgment on the one who did this, just as if I were present. 4 When you are assembled in the name of our Lord Jesus and I am with you in spirit, and the power of our Lord Jesus is present, 5 hand this man over to Satan, so that the sinful nature may be destroyed and his spirit saved on the day of the Lord.

6 Your boasting is not good. Don't you know that a little yeast works through the whole batch of dough? 7 Get rid of the old yeast that you may be a new batch without yeast—as you really are. For Christ, our Passover lamb, has been sacrificed. 8 Therefore let us keep the Festival, not with the old yeast, the yeast of malice and wickedness, but with bread without yeast, the bread of sincerity and truth.
9 I have written you in my letter not to associate with sexually immoral people— 10 not at all meaning the people of this world who are immoral, or the greedy and swindlers, or idolaters. In that case you would have to leave this world. 11 But now I am writing you that you must not associate with anyone who calls himself a brother but is sexually immoral or greedy, an idolater or a slanderer, a drunkard or a swindler. With such a man do not even eat.
12 What business is it of mine to judge those outside the church? Are you not to judge those inside? 13 God will judge those outside. "Expel the wicked man from among you."

IF the allegations against Tommy are true and the lies, threats and intimidation have actually happened, what message are you sending to the communities around 3abn? Certainly not the undiluted Gospel!

You speak of counsel from God's messenger, Ellen White. I believe her inspired words are quite clear on how we are to interact with our brethren:

"Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. Let not pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.

"I saw that many souls have been destroyed by their brethren unwisely sympathizing with them, when their only hope was to be left to see and realize the full extent of their wrongs. But as they eagerly accept the sympathy of unwise brethren, they receive the idea that they are abused; and if they attempt to retrace their steps, they make halfhearted work. They divide the matter to suit their natural feelings, lay blame upon the reprover, and so patch up the matter. It is not probed to the bottom, and is not healed, and they again fall into the same wrong, because they were not left to feel the extent of their wrong, and humble themselves before God, and let Him build them up. False sympathizers have worked in direct opposition to the mind of Christ and ministering angels." Testimonies 1 page 213

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 19 2007, 03:57 AM

[quote name='Joe Smith' date='Jan 19 2007, 06:27 AM' post='170977']
Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,

"Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."
[quote]

So true, but at the same time, we are not to allow evil to flourish and people not held to be accountable. Pity that you didn't expect the same kind of consideration for all those who have been abused over the years, while evil was covered over and allowed to flourish. Do you LOVE sufficiently to call sin by it's right name and do whateverr you can in your power, to ensure that moletation does not occur in your church?

[quote name='Joe Smith' date='Jan 19 2007, 06:27 AM' post='170977']
I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.

Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.[/quote]

Spare us the 'guilt trip'. We're not taken in by that. Pass me the bowl please. I feel quite ill.

[quote name='Joe Smith' date='Jan 19 2007, 06:27 AM' post='170977']There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord." [/quote]

Pastor, if you really are a pastor (spare us all), what do you do to keep the children and young people SAFE in your church? Ignore the sin and hope it goes away, by the sound of your posts.[color=#000099]

Posted by: Johann Jan 19 2007, 04:59 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 09:18 AM)
>
> Pastor Joe and eye witness,
>
> I have some questions I would really appreciate your answers to:
>
> ----

Joe,

I appeal to you that you show that you are an honest man by giving answers to these questions as well as to the question I have asked you elsewhere.

Johann

Posted by: daylily Jan 19 2007, 07:28 AM

I believe that Danny is correct in blaming the devil. I think Satan found Danny's weakness and exploited it to try and destroy 3ABN. His favorite means of attack is to find a weakness in our human nature and use it to bring us down. I believe that Danny has come down from the wall of spreading the gospel to defend himself. He needs to realize how and where the real source of the attack is coming from. I appreciate that quote from EGW on probing to the bottom of a problem so it can be healed. Having the Holy Spirit speak through one does not immunize a person from falling. David was a prophet but Satan found his weakness. But of course David admitted he had done wrong and repented. The difference between King Saul and David is the way they responded to the guilt that they had. They both confessed. Saul confessed often but there was no repentance.

I also think if Danny was innocent he would not feel the need to continue to defend himself. It's like he has to keep repeating everything to convince everybody and maybe even himself. So he is more at peace now than ever in his life? I do pray that that's not a sign that the Holy Spirit is leaving him:(He needs our prayers.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 19 2007, 07:35 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 19 2007, 05:59 AM)
>
> Joe,
>
> I appeal to you that you show that you are an honest man by giving answers to these questions as well as to the question I have asked you elsewhere.
>
> Johann

I wouldn't hold my breath waiting for him to do so; he wont even man up and put his real name on his comments, choosing rather to take shots from the grassy knoll where he is afforded cover... he wont be making Diogenes stop anytime soon...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jan 19 2007, 07:42 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 18 2007, 08:07 PM)
>
> where do they come from? so tiresome they are.....

When I read the first paragraph of the original post I was thinking that this is a joke...

Posted by: Johann Jan 19 2007, 08:24 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Jan 19 2007, 05:52 AM)
>
> ...And he just talked about his former wife's accident in which Melody and her mother were in the > car, and someone ran a stop sign and killed "them." Who is "them"? Melody didn't die...did more than one perish in that accident? Who else was in the car? Or did he just say "them" instead of "her"?

>
> (This was while he was defending himself against the allegations that he murdered his wife. I do not see what he hopes to gain by broadcasting the fact that such allegations against him exist--on international "Christian" television. Some things would be best left unsaid.)

s I often have said, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy. He proves it again and again, nd some people worship him for it!!!

> QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 19 2007, 03:28 PM) ☐
>
> I believe that Danny is correct in blaming the devil. I think Satan found Danny's weakness and exploited it to try and destroy 3ABN. His favorite means of attack is to find a weakness in our human nature and use it to bring us down. I believe that Danny has come down from the wall of spreading the gospel to defend himself. He needs to realize how and where the real source of the attack is coming from. I appreciate that quote from EGW on probing to the bottom of a problem so it can be healed. Having the Holy Spirit speak through one does not immunize a person from falling. David was a prophet but Satan found his weakness. But of course David admitted he had done wrong and repented. The difference between King Saul and David is the way they responded to the guilt that they had. They both confessed. Saul confessed often but there was no repentance.
>
> I also think if Danny was innocent he would not feel the need to continue to defend himself. It's like he has to keep repeating everything to convince everybody and maybe even himself. So he is more at peace now than ever in his life? I do pray that that's not a sign that the Holy Spirit is leaving him:(He needs our prayers.

Vhen I was at West Frankfort on May 29, 2004, I was told by the 3ABN attorney, Nick Miller, that the abor laws did not apply in Linda's case according to the laws in Illinois. Here the President had the full ight to dismiss his Vice-President whenever he so desired. I discovered that this doctrine so ermeated all the procedures that everybody followed the whims of Danny Shelton in all, and took very word of his as a final verdict. So when Linda's words were at variance with Danny's story, obody doubted what he said, but Linda's explanations were disqualified and she was branded as a iar.

udge for yourselves how this works, when one man is permitted to yield full sway year after year, ow this power structure corrupts the person. He does not even have to say the truth, and everybody nows it does not pay to cross his path or doubt the wisdom or truth in his whims. Ellen White makes t quite clear that this must not take place in the work of our church, that the same person is at the elm of an institution indefinitely, because it leads to corruption. But I suppose reading those parts of er writings do not please the supporters of Danny Shelton and his ilk.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 19 2007, 10:02 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 19 2007, 07:35 AM) ☐
>
> I wouldn't hold my breath waiting for him to do so; he wont even man up and put his real name on his comments, choosing rather to take shots from the grassy knoll where he is afforded cover... he wont be making Diogenes stop anytime soon...

> In His service,
> Mr. J

will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state heirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....

oe

Posted by: Clay Jan 19 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 10:02 AM) ☐
>
> I will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state theirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....
>
> Joe

ıot an issue..... we are not gonna engage in who is behind what curtain..... so Joe or whoever you ıre, continue posting, and answering those questions posed to you.... that will be more than ɜnough....

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 19 2007, 10:24 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 11:02 AM) ☐
>
> I will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state theirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....
>
> Joe

ʀeal manly stance there... this was about Calvin, not sister or sonshineonme... and if you had actually ɔothered to read what was here, you'd know that beartrap has not hidden his identity... but you came ıere with an agenda and it was never your intent to actually know what was said. Calvin has never ıidden his identity...so for you to throw stones at him while hiding... there's a word for that kind of ɔehavior in tha 'hood... several, in fact...not to mention for one who was pleading for decisions about liscourse to be made in a more spiritual vein, it took you no time flat to find that carnality you wear ;o comfortably.

ʼou're a fraud, pastor "joe"... pure and simple.

n His service,
ʼlr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 11:55 AM

The following is dedicated to the "teams" who enter here with their ranting agendas but don't read all that is written here. We, the truth seekers, pray you have ears to hear.

(My apologies to Sabine Baring-Gould and Arthur S. Sullivan)

Onward Shelton Soldiers

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
With the deeds of Danny going on before.
Dan the royal president leads against the "foe"
Any truth that threatens him, must be forced to go!

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
With the deeds of Danny going on before

Shelton clan has mustered, fearing truth be heard
Donning fleecy costumes, invoking God's own Word.
Lying and diversions seem their only tools
Can't they see it just won't work for we're not pigs or fools!

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
With the deeds of Danny going on before

Is he "the anointed"? That's what some folk say
As he works the donors so that all will pay.
Family sin? No problem. Sacrifice the lambs
They don't matter anyway. So, what's that in your hand?

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
With the deeds of Danny going on before.

There's a trusted demon, at 3 A B N
By a basket falling urged a purge of sin.
Late one night a sister answered demon's shout
And in just a little while anointed's wife was out!

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
With the deeds of Danny going on before.

Have you eyes to see the truth have you ears to hear?
Or is your denial born of pride and fear?
Put away the lies and sin, honor God for real!
Walk into the light of Truth so Jesus Christ can heal!

Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
With the deeds of Danny going on before...

The World!

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 19 2007, 05:12 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 11:55 AM)
>
> The following is dedicated to the "teams" who enter here with their ranting agendas but don't read all that is written here. We, the truth seekers, pray you have ears to hear.

> (My apologies to Sabine Baring-Gould and Arthur S. Sullivan)
> Onward Shelton Soldiers
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
> Dan the royal president leads against the "foe"
> Any truth that threatens him, must be forced to go!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
> With the deeds of Danny going on before
>
> Shelton clan has mustered, fearing truth be heard
> Donning fleecy costumes, invoking God's own Word.
> Lying and diversions seem their only tools
> Can't they see it just won't work for we're not pigs or fools!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before
>
> Is he "the anointed"? That's what some folk say
> As he works the donors so that all will pay.
> Family sin? No problem. Sacrifice the lambs
> They don't matter anyway. So, what's that in your hand?
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
>
> There's a trusted demon, at 3 A B N
> By a basket falling urged a purge of sin.
> Late one night a sister answered demon's shout
> And in just a little while anointed's wife was out!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
>
> Have you eyes to see the truth have you ears to hear?
> Or is your denial born of pride and fear?
> Put away the lies and sin, honor God for real!
> Walk into the light of Truth so Jesus Christ can heal!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before...
>
> The World!

Vhew that took a lot of time to put together. You must do a lot of dwelling on the subject! As it is aid, what you behold you become.
t may be helpful for you to consider getting a job with all this time on your hands. Maybe one that vould encourage others to follow Jesus.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 05:49 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 04:12 PM) ☐

> Whew that took a lot of time to put together. You must do a lot of dwelling on the subject! As it is said, what you behold you become.
> It may be helpful for you to consider getting a job with all this time on your hands. Maybe one that would encourage others to follow Jesus.

As it happens, the words poured out in very short time, a matter of minutes. I am very familiar with much of the information here because I have been carefully reading and weighing it as I go along. I do have a job and I am doing exactly as you suggest - encouraging others to follow Jesus.

My own burden here is to discover if the allegations of abuse against Tommy Shelton are true and, if so, do everything in my power to bring healing to his victims and encourage him to get true healing for himself.

I would encourage you to really find out what we are all about. Your opinion might just change if you opened your eyes to what we see.

And as to your remark about what I am beholding, it is the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world and I am striving to allow Him to change me into His image.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 05:55 PM

Watch out now, 007! That is kind of personal. If you have any rebuttal to that which PB has posted, then rebut(inow, I know), if not let it go. PB's employment status has absolutely nothing to do with her ability to recognize wrong when she sees it.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 03:12 PM)
>
> [color=#000066]Whew that took a lot of time to put together. You must do a lot of dwelling on the subject! As it is said, what you behold you become.
> It may be helpful for you to consider getting a job with all this time on your hands. Maybe one that would encourage others to follow Jesus.

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 19 2007, 07:31 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 10:02 AM)
>
> I will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state theirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....
>
> Joe

With all due respect, Mr. Smith, I have only been reading this site for about two weeks now but I can already tell you who one of those people are...which only leads me to wonder if you have actually read enough of the information posted here to be certain of your opinion? I know I have not...

Posted by: Lee Jan 19 2007, 08:10 PM

The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 08:39 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

Poppycock.

Sullivan wrote "St. Gertrude" after his best friend's wife. That's the tune that goes with these lyrics.

"Onward, Christian Soldiers" is a 19th century English hymn. The words were written by Sabine Baring-Gould and the music by Arthur Sullivan in 1871. Sullivan named the tune "St. Gertrude," after the wife of his friend Ernest Clay Ker Seymer. "

Other songs originated as old Irish drinking songs.

I will worship these tunes the same way I will kiss the pope's big toe.

Posted by: Chez Jan 19 2007, 08:43 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jan 18 2007, 03:22 PM)
>
> I'm amused every time I read these protest threads. Where is the outrage and "sadness" about the state of race relations in our church? Where is the outcry about the abuse and misuse of power at all levels of our church administration? Where is the call for known adulterers and pedophiles in our churches to be dealt with, regardless of their last name or political affiliations? When did the Lord say it was OK to stick our heads in the sand when we know that wrong is being done? Please. Spare me the moral indignation and patronizing attitude. The level of hypocrisy that has come to the surface with this 3ABN mess is just incredible. I don't wade into the muck of 3ABN threads very often, but this one was just more than I could handle. I, for one, think Calvin has done a valuable service by allowing this information to be presented in a respectful way...it could very easily have become gossip central, but it isn't.

Talk to me, Nuggie! I agree with you!! Let the Redeemed of the Lord SAY SO!! Where were and are these people when black people were thrown out of predominantly white churches because they just wanted to worship on the Sabbath? Where were these people when Black people just wanted to work for the church in fulltime employment and were denied/passed over because of biology? Where were these people? Where is their outrage??? Where were these people when boys and girls were being molested in the name of "I was molested and I have a problem, therefore I have the right to molest children"? Where is the outrage? Where is the outrage against 'BULLYING" in the name of Jesus just because someone disagrees with the leadership of 3ABN? You can quote the Bible to suit your own purposes; it still doesn't excuse passivity to wrongdoing(s). You can quote Ellen Gould Harmon White until you are blue in the face. Ellen doesn't give us marching orders, at least she doesn't give me any. GOD GIVES US OUR MARCHING ORDERS!! Where were these people when Danny got a quicky divorce from his wife?? Where was the outrage? TALK TO ME PEOPLE!!!!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 08:44 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 07:10 PM)
>
> The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

You are welcome to your opinion, Lee. While this hymn is a classic I wouldn't go so far as to call it "sacred". It tells of the battle between good and evil and inspires us to action for Christ. It is a great song.

My adaptation also tells of a battle between good and evil and ends with hope. Yes, there is irony there but it is the story of the 3abn saga as I see it and how I hope it is brought to resolution. And I am also allowed to have my own opinion.

As far as what heaven is writing on the pages of my life book, I hope that it will be that I care deeply for all involved in this saga, including the alleged victims of abuse, and have a burden for the salvation of all.

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 19 2007, 08:49 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 08:44 PM)
>
> You are welcome to your opinion, Lee. While this hymn is a classic I wouldn't go so far as to call it "sacred". It tells of the battle between good and evil and inspires us to action for Christ. It is a great song.
>
> My adaptation also tells of a battle between good and evil and ends with hope. Yes, there is irony there but it is the story of the 3abn saga as I see it and how I hope it is brought to resolution. And I am also allowed to have my own opinion.
>
> As far as what heaven is writing on the pages of my life book, I hope that it will be that I care deeply for all involved in this saga, including the alleged victims of abuse, and have a burden for the salvation of all.

I actually found your lyrics to be quite clever under the circumstances...

Just my $0.02

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 08:55 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Jan 19 2007, 07:43 PM)
>
> Talk to me, Nuggie! I agree with you!! Let the Redeemed of the Lord SAY SO!! Where were and are these people when black people were thrown out of predominantly white churches because they just wanted to worship on the Sabbath? Where were these people when Black people just wanted to work for the church in fulltime employment and were denied/passed over because of biology? Where were these people? Where is their outrage??? Where were these people when boys and girls were being molested in the name of "I was molested and I have a problem, therefore I have the right to molest children"? Where is the outrage? Where is the outrage against 'BULLYING" in the name of Jesus just because someone disagrees with the leadership of 3ABN? You can quote the Bible to suit your own purposes; it still doesn't excuse passivity to wrongdoing(s). You can quote Ellen Gould Harmon White until you are blue in the face. Ellen doesn't give us marching orders, at least she doesn't give me any. GOD GIVES US OUR MARCHING ORDERS!! Where were these people when Danny got a quicky divorce from his wife?? Where was the outrage? TALK TO ME PEOPLE!!!!

AMEN, SISTER! AND PRAISE THE LORD!

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 19 2007, 07:49 PM)
>
> I actually found your lyrics to be quite clever under the circumstances...
>
> Just my $0.02

Why thank you Snoopy. I appreciate your $0.02.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 08:56 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 19 2007, 08:49 PM)
>
> I actually found your lyrics to be quite clever under the circumstances...
>
> Just my $0.02

Do I hear 4 cents?

I have 4 cents from Pete.

Do I hear six?

rofl

(I enjoyed the change in the lyrics PB. Very artistic and creative. Pete.)

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 08:58 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 09:10 PM)
>
> The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

As I remember, it is the innocence of a child that is sacred. And yet here we are...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 09:00 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 19 2007, 07:56 PM)
>
> Do I hear 4 cents?
>
> I have 4 cents from Pete.
>
> Do I hear six?
>
> rofl
>
> (I enjoyed the change in the lyrics PB. Very artistic and creative. Pete.)

Well thank you, too Pete. And thanks for the 4 and possibly 6 cents!
I suppose it is too much to hope that the Sheltons will be recording it anytime soon...

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 07:58 PM)
>
> As I remember, it is the innocence of a child that is sacred. And yet here we are...

Yep. That's why I'm here for sure!

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 10:28 PM

You mean you don't know who Beartrap is? So you really did just jump in without reading anything! Oh yeah I agree with Clay. Just keep posting Joe. We don't need to know who you are, we already know what you are about.

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 08:02 AM)
>
> I will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state theirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....

> Joe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 19 2007, 11:28 PM)
>
> You mean you don't know who Beartrap is? So you really did just jump in without reading anything! Oh yeah I agree with Clay. Just keep posting Joe. We don't need to know who you are, we already know what you are about.

Vhy waste the time actually finding the facts.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 10:39 PM

ok?!!!

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 08:36 PM)
>
> Why waste the time actually finding the facts.

Posted by: inga Jan 19 2007, 10:51 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 09:10 PM)
>
> The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

›B's parody of "Onward Christian Soldiers" was very well done, and it exemplifies what is currently joing on at 3ABN. Reproach is brought on the name of Christ by the actions of certain ndividuals managing 3ABN. And you appear to want to ignore and/or justify their actions.

›B is just telling it as it is.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 10:59 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 19 2007, 09:51 PM)
>
> PB's parody of "Onward Christian Soldiers" was very well done, and it exemplifies what is currently going on at 3ABN. Reproach is brought on the name of Christ by the actions of certain individuals managing 3ABN. And you appear to want to ignore and/or justify their actions.
>
> PB is just telling it as it is.

And on that note I would like to re-post Aunt B's awesome words from the other day:

Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 20 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 07:12 PM)
>
> Whew that took a lot of time to put together. You must do a lot of dwelling on the subject! As it is said, what you behold you become.
> It may be helpful for you to consider getting a job with all this time on your hands. Maybe one that would encourage others to follow Jesus.

Bless ya heart! Some of us here are very "artistic"...and it's not about employment. Many are at work....WORKING - while they post here.
Remove the beam...then go hunting for toothpicks.....

BTW: Welcome to the Board! May you read of "everything" before posting on "somethings"!!!

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 10:10 PM)
>
> The song "Onward Christian Soldiers" is a sacred hymn. Please do not desecrate it. Think of what heaven is writing on the pages of your life book. Please don't do this. It brings reproach on the name of Christ.

Do you know the origins of most hymns? Petey broke it down right below this post....

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 19 2007, 10:39 PM)
>
> Poppycock.
>
> Sullivan wrote "St. Gertrude" after his best friend's wife. That's the tune that goes with these lyrics.
>
> "Onward, Christian Soldiers" is a 19th century English hymn. The words were written by Sabine Baring-Gould and the music by Arthur Sullivan in 1871. Sullivan named the tune "St. Gertrude," after the wife of his friend Ernest Clay Ker Seymer. "
>
> Other songs originated as old Irish drinking songs.
>
> I will worship these tunes the same way I will kiss the pope's big toe.

Thare ya go....

> QUOTE(@ Jan 19 2007, 10:58 PM) ☐
>
> As I remember, it is the innocence of a child that is sacred. And yet here we are...

...and folks are forgetting that part too....

☒ sa

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 20 2007, 12:28 AM) ☐
>
> You mean you don't know who Beartrap is? So you really did just jump in without reading anything! Oh yeah I agree with Clay. Just keep posting Joe. We don't need to know who you are, we already know what you are about.

ITA! ☐

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 20 2007, 01:27 PM

☒ ofl sorry. Speaking of the mixing of songs, Try singing Amazing Grace to the tune of The House of the Rising Sun. Very beautiful and sacred sounding.

Richard

Posted by: Fran Jan 20 2007, 02:03 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Jan 20 2007, 01:27 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ ofl sorry. Speaking of the mixing of songs, Try singing Amazing Grace to the tune of The House of the Rising Sun. Very beautiful and sacred sounding.
>
> Richard

Used to sing that with the kids in Sabbath School! We were in SC at the time I first heard it.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Jan 20 2007, 03:38 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Jan 20 2007, 01:27 PM) ☐

> ofl sorry. Speaking of the mixing of songs, Try singing Amazing Grace to the tune of The House of the Rising Sun. Very beautiful and sacred sounding.
>
> Richard

Have you ever heard "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" to the tune of "Some Say Love" by Bette Midler? It's actually very beautiful.

Sorry. I'm also off topic.

Posted by: watchbird Jan 20 2007, 04:39 PM

Let's not get so hung up in questions of whether or not it is appropriate to put different words to a familiar song that we don't read PB's words carefully... maybe even "singing" them to the tune and cadence of the song she utilized.

For in the first four stanzas, she has encapsulated or alluded to each class of evil that currently lurks in the hearts of the leaders of the "House of Shelton".... especially the "royal president" who compels all, high or low, to do homage no matter how egregious his sins.... stanza one.

In stanza two, she aptly brings the old description of false leaders (wolves in sheeps clothing) up to date and connects it to the stage on which they parade their supposed values with her descriptive words "fleecy costumes".

Stanza three touches the financial scams and the hiding of "family" type sins that even involve the innocent "lambs" in their exploitation for personal indulgences.... and all done in the guise of being God's "anointed" one!

Stanza four exposes the fascination with and utilization of demonic activity that we have heard about.

And finally, verse five breaks with all of this and is a beautiful "altar call". But will any hear? Or will they return to the refrain and shoulder to shoulder march in Danny's "army"... inspired as they are by his claimed "commission" from God himself.

Think about it... and maybe you will even find a use for it as you try to share with others the truth behind the facade of their living room TVs which are being used as altars of worship before this pretended "anointed one".

Here it is again.... read carefully.... prayerfully.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 12:55 PM)
>
> The following is dedicated to the "teams" who enter here with their ranting agendas but don't read all that is written here. We, the truth seekers, pray you have ears to hear.
>
> (My apologies to Sabine Baring-Gould and Arthur S. Sullivan)
> Onward Shelton Soldiers
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
> Dan the royal president leads against the "foe"

> Any truth that threatens him, must be forced to go!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
> With the deeds of Danny going on before
>
> Shelton clan has mustered, fearing truth be heard
> Donning fleecy costumes, invoking God's own Word.
> Lying and diversions seem their only tools
> Can't they see it just won't work for we're not pigs or fools!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before
>
> Is he "the anointed"? That's what some folk say
> As he works the donors so that all will pay.
> Family sin? No problem. Sacrifice the lambs
> They don't matter anyway. So, what's that in your hand?
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war,
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
>
> There's a trusted demon, at 3 A B N
> By a basket falling urged a purge of sin.
> Late one night a sister answered demon's shout
> And in just a little while anointed's wife was out!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before.
>
> Have you eyes to see the truth have you ears to hear?
> Or is your denial born of pride and fear?
> Put away the lies and sin, honor God for real!
> Walk into the light of Truth so Jesus Christ can heal!
>
> Onward Shelton soldiers, marching as to war
> With the deeds of Danny going on before...
>
> The World!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 20 2007, 05:27 PM

Thank you, Watchbird, for this insightful critique. It captures what was in my heart, my motivation, when I wrote it.

Posted by: Chimaz Jan 20 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Jan 20 2007, 01:38 PM) ☐
>
> Have you ever heard "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" to the tune of "Some Say Love" by Bette Midler? It's actually very beautiful.

Some Say Love? I think you mean The Rose. Contrary to popular opinion, it wasn't written by Bette Midler, but by Amanda McBroom.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 20 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(Chimaz @ Jan 20 2007, 10:43 PM)
>
> Some Say Love? I think you mean The Rose. Contrary to popular opinion, it wasn't written by Bette Midler, but by Amanda McBroom.

James Rainwater actually sings this and it's great!

Posted by: Noahswife Jan 20 2007, 10:15 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 20 2007, 10:45 PM)
>
> James Rainwater actually sings this and it's great!

I found the web site for this and listened to the excerpt......it is beautiful. Sure wish it were on itunes as I would buy it right now

Here is the link if anyone wants to listen to it.

http://www.morningsong.org/pages/page.asp?page_id=3003

It is on the Free To Go Album.

nw

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 20 2007, 10:54 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Jan 19 2007, 09:43 PM)
>
> Talk to me, Nuggie! I agree with you!! Let the Redeemed of the Lord SAY SO!! Where were and are these people when black people were thrown out of predominantly white churches because they just wanted to worship on the Sabbath? Where were these people when Black people just wanted to work for the church in fulltime employment and were denied/passed over because of biology? Where were these people? Where is their outrage??? Where were these people when boys and girls were being molested in the name of "I was molested and I have a problem, therefore I have the right to molest children"? Where is the outrage? Where is the outrage against 'BULLYING" in the name of Jesus just because someone disagrees with the leadership of 3ABN? You can quote the > Bible to suit your own purposes; it still doesn't excuse passivity to wrongdoing(s). You can quote Ellen Gould Harmon White until you are blue in the face. Ellen doesn't give us marching orders, at least she doesn't give me any. GOD GIVES US OUR MARCHING ORDERS!! Where were these people when Danny got a quicky divorce from his wife?? Where was the outrage? TALK TO ME PEOPLE!!!!

Posted by: eye witness Jan 21 2007, 07:56 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 05:49 PM)
>
> As it happens, the words poured out in very short time, a matter of minutes. I am very familiar with much of the information here because I have been carefully reading and weighing it as I go along. I do have a job and I am doing exactly as you suggest - encouraging others to follow Jesus.
>
> My own burden here is to discover if the allegations of abuse against Tommy Shelton are true and, if so, do everything in my power to bring healing to his victims and encourage him to get true healing for himself.
>
> I would encourage you to really find out what we are all about. Your opinion might just change if you opened your eyes to what we see.
>
> And as to your remark about what I am beholding, it is the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world and I am striving to allow Him to change me into His image.

b]It might be helpful to know that for change to happen, we have to be willing to study to show urselves approved.[/b] rom The Messenger: I have been shown that much sin has resulted from idleness. Active hands and ninds do not find time to heed every temptation which the enemy suggests, but idle hands and brains re all ready for Satan to control. The mind, when not properly occupied, dwells upon improper things. T395

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 21 2007, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 02:27 PM)
>
> Calvin....
> It is with concern for you and the others on BSDA, that I write this post. We believe as Adventist that Jesus is coming soon. We believe that we have a calling to warn the world of a coming Judge and King. The judgment is near... even at the door... Can you see this, Calvin? We have a unique message to the world, and yet we sometimes fail in presenting that unique message to our own group.. we Adventist. Our very name...Adventist.. proclaims that we are the people who KNOW, that Christ is coming back.
>
> Have we lost that vision?? Have we lost that understanding?
> My heart is saddened as I read the slanderous, unholy comments that are posted here almost > everyday. The making fun of other Christians who are serving God the best way they know how.

>
> Are we any better than the rest of the world? Does our conduct as Adventist say "yes, we are a Peculiar People!?" Does our conduct say....."We're different than the other denominations.... different than the world.... because WE HAVE LOVE?" Love for our brothers and sisters?
> I ask you Calvin.... is this what is being posted on your website BSDA? You have a VERY SERIOUS obligation to follow the council found in Philippians 4:8... it reads,
>
> "Finally brethren...whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are noble, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there is any virtue, and if there is anything praiseworthy ... think on theses things."
>
> I ask you brother Calvin.....Is this what is being posted about 3ABN and those associated with it? I don't think so. I know that is true, I am ashamed to say, I have been a part of it.
>
> Calvin, I speak to you because you are the "Boss". With being the "Boss" comes Great Accountability with God. I know, I am in that same position of great accountability. I am a pastor. And with that calling, comes great responsibility also. That is why I am compelled to write this letter to you.
>
> There is soon coming a "Judgment Day" for you and me. I want to be faithful. I pray you want to be faithful also. I want to hear on that great day... "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter in to the joy of the Lord."
>
> Please don't anyone take this as a rebuke.... it's meant to awaken those of us who are in responsible positions. I know there are others out there that will read this post. Some will be angry, some will be moved to do the right thing. The same Son, shines on us all. Some will be melted... some will be hardened.
> May the God of our hearts, bless us.
> Joe Smith

Calvin, you should be able to tell from the criticism and assults generated by the original post, that what I have stated is true. This site does not glorifiy God.
implore you to at least enforce your own rules as quoted below:

Post #1

STORMY1

Group: Administrator Posts: 15,454
oined: 20-July 03
From: Alabama
Member No.: 4
Gender: m

Per the forum Guidelines:

QUOTE
Be gracious to other posters When someone disagrees with you, by all means discuss it; but be slow to anger, and rather be eager to get into the Word and find the answers. Remember, when discussing passionate issues, it is easy to go too far and offend or hurt another. But how we respond is the true test of character.

No name calling It is rude and uncalled for and also unscriptural. Name calling of another member will get your post removed.

Personal attacks will not be tolerated This board has an edit button enabled. Once you have posted read what you wrote. If you think it could in any way offend, go back and edit it. Moderators and Administrators will be visibly proactive in dealing with any potentially offensive material. Posts of a violent or threatening nature, either implicitly or explicitly, will be deleted, and the poster's membership revoked. Flaming, putting other's down etc all fall into this category. We encourage personal problems with other members be resolved privately..

Joe

Posted by: calvin Jan 21 2007, 10:18 AM

Let it go Joe. Now you are sounding pathetic.

Posted by: jene Jan 21 2007, 01:38 PM

Joe Smith,

I don't know if you were unable to read through all of the posts. However, there were a few questions posted directly to you that directly explains the reasoning behind posting all of these "accusations" against the main players at 3ABN. The main theme of the questions is twofold:

1. Do you think it is right to sit idly by and watch as a "leader" (Danny Shelton) of a group or congregation (3ABN) continues to get up in front of said group day after day yet they are corrupt? I am using the term corrupt because of the evidence that has been produced by first hand witnesses through out numerous threads.

2. Is it right to sit idly by and watch an alleged molester represent God on tv? Although I said alleged it is important to note that victim's statements have been published here. Continuing on with this question...is it right to blame the people who bring this injustice to the public's view so that people can make up their own minds as to whether they want their children around the alleged molester?

You have asked direct questions of Calvin. Please answer these direct questions that many of us ask of you.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 21 2007, 03:20 PM

> QUOTE(jene @ Jan 21 2007, 12:38 PM) ☐
>
> Joe Smith,
>
> I don't know if you were unable to read through all of the posts. However, there were a few questions posted directly to you that directly explains the reasoning behind posting all of these "accusations" against the main players at 3ABN. The main theme of the questions is twofold:

> 1. Do you think it is right to sit idly by and watch as a "leader" (Danny Shelton) of a group or congregation (3ABN) continues to get up in front of said group day after day yet they are corrupt? I am using the term corrupt because of the evidence that has been produced by first hand witnesses through out numerous threads.
>
> 2. Is it right to sit idly by and watch an alleged molester represent God on tv? Although I said alleged it is important to note that victim's statements have been published here. Continuing on with this question...is it right to blame the people who bring this injustice to the public's view so that people can make up their own minds as to whether they want their children around the alleged molester?
>
> You have asked direct questions of Calvin. Please answer these direct questions that many of us ask of you.

errific questions Jene! I hope Joe will take the time to answer them.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 21 2007, 03:57 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 21 2007, 04:20 PM)
>
> Terrific questions Jene! I hope Joe will take the time to answer them.

ont hold your breath... he's here solely to be incendiary and to muddy the waters... so anything that ould actually make something clearer is antithetical to the agenda he has...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: LadyTenor Jan 21 2007, 08:07 PM

☒ sn

Posted by: Pickle Jan 22 2007, 03:36 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 02:27 PM)
>
> I am a pastor....
> Joe Smith

oe,

f you are a pastor, then that suggests all the more that you are Ronnie, Danny's brother.

ince you well recognize the duties of a pastor, have you personally labored with Danny that he make ight the falsehoods he has told, since according to Rev. 21, 22, lying will keep people outside the early gates? Sins that we refuse to confess cannot be forgiven, and will keep us out of heaven.

Have you labored with Tommy that he come clean regarding the allegations of sexual misconduct? In light of his written "confession," it seems quite appropriate for him to go ahead and do what Roger Clem asked him to do: register as a sex offender. To refuse to do something that simple suggests a lack of repentance. It would certainly help satisfy his alleged victims, and might dissuade them from filing a lawsuit.

It seems to me that you have a God-given duty. If you refuse to do that duty, and Tommy or Danny go down into the grave unwarned by you, you just possibly might end up with their blood on your head, according to what the Scriptures say.

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 23 2007, 12:57 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 21 2007, 11:56 PM)
>
> From The Messenger: I have been shown that much sin has resulted from idleness. Active hands and minds do not find time to heed every temptation which the enemy suggests, but idle hands and brains are all ready for Satan to control. The mind, when not properly occupied, dwells upon improper things. 1T395

Mmmmm. Are you talking about yourself now eye witness? "I have been shown that much sin has resulted from idleness."
I see this posted elsewhere. Maybe, you need to go and find something constructive to do, so you fingers are not so idle.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 23 2007, 07:39 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 23 2007, 01:57 AM)
>
> Mmmmm. Are you talking about yourself now eye witness? "I have been shown that much sin has resulted from idleness."
> I see this posted elsewhere. Maybe, you need to go and find something constructive to do, so you fingers are not so idle.

I keep hearing about sin resulting from idlenes...but the pro-shelton camp come in and "waste" their time "idling by" in here writing sermon after sermon after sermon while telling the others that the time spent in here is a sin...

I have to ask - who's washing their underwear while they're in hear preparing the smoke screen?

Now, that is a real shame!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 23 2007, 09:10 AM

Children were molested..... He (Tommy) admitted to it.....

Posted by: Johann Jan 23 2007, 11:59 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 23 2007, 05:10 PM)
>
> Children were molested..... He (Tommy) admitted to it.....

One way of not being idle!

Posted by: princessdi Jan 23 2007, 01:18 PM

I have to ask - who's washing their underwear while they're in hear preparing the smoke screen?

Mercy! HOTY youa re not on the tree, but this a true heathen response! LOL!!

Now, that is a real shame!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 23 2007, 03:35 PM

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 23 2007, 06:13 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 23 2007, 02:18 PM)
>
> I have to ask - who's washing their underwear while they're in hear preparing the smoke screen?
>
> Mercy! HOTY youa re not on the tree, but this a true heathen response! LOL!!
>
> Now, that is a real shame!

I'm okay with being a heathen. (I just hope I don't go to church with any of them...)

Posted by: Daffodil Mar 2 2007, 09:29 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 19 2007, 08:24 AM) ☐
>
> As I often have said, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy. He proves it again and again, and some people worship him for it!!!
> When I was at West Frankfort on May 29, 2004, I was told by the 3ABN attorney, Nick Miller, that the labor laws did not apply in Linda's case according to the laws in Illinois. Here the President had the full right to dismiss his Vice-President whenever he so desired. I discovered that this doctrine so permeated all the procedures that everybody followed the whims of Danny Shelton in all, and took every word of his as a final verdict. So when Linda's words were at variance with Danny's story, nobody doubted what he said, but Linda's explanations were disqualified and she was branded as a liar.
>
> Judge for yourselves how this works, when one man is permitted to yield full sway year after year, how this power structure corrupts the person. He does not even have to say the truth, and everybody knows it does not pay to cross his path or doubt the wisdom or truth in his whims. Ellen White makes it quite clear that this must not take place in the work of our church, that the same person is at the helm of an institution indefinitely, because it leads to corruption. But I suppose reading those parts of her writings do not please the supporters of Danny Shelton and his ilk.

"Ellen White makes it quite clear that this must not take place in the work of our church, that the same person is at the helm of an institution indefinitely, because it leads to corruption. "

Johann,

I was wondering about what you said in the above quote. Could you please give the reference.

Thanks,
Dawn

P.S. Sorry people about the first reply(duplicate). hit the wrong button. new here but will learn I guess.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 2 2007, 01:21 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 10:02 AM) ☐
>
> I will be happy to state my name.... when I see the others shooting from the grassy knoll... state theirs . Sister, beartrap, sonshineonme, and a slew of others....
>
> Joe

I was wondering how many pages it would be from the Scripture quotes and the EGW passages to the place in the thread where this stuff starts flying ... turns out, about 3 pages.

I've said it before, but I'll say it again. Advocates of entrenched powers have less to lose by identifying themselves than the "little guys" standing up to the corporation.

We might not know who some of these people are, but others who have identified themselves have corroborated the anonymous accounts in one way or another. It's totally okay if you don't identify yourself, but be prepared to be blown off as another Dannyscribe. It's not like we haven't seen this the-Bible-says-you're-all-wrong-for-posting-on-the-Internet screed before, like, a dozen times.

Posted by: Johann Mar 3 2007, 04:09 PM

> QUOTE(Daffodil @ Mar 2 2007, 05:29 PM) ☐
>
> "Ellen White makes it quite clear that this must not take place in the work of our church, that the same person is at the helm of an institution indefinitely, because it leads to corruption. "
>
> Johann,
>
> I was wondering about what you said in the above quote. Could you please give the reference.
>
> Thanks,
> Dawn
>
> P.S. Sorry people about the first reply(duplicate). hit the wrong button. new here but will learn I guess.

Here you find the principle dealt with:

> QUOTE
> The question is asked me if it is not a mistake to remove the president of a State conference to a > 420
> new field when many of the people under his present charge are unwilling to give him up. {GW 419.4}
>
> The Lord has been pleased to give me light on this question. I have been shown that ministers should not be retained in the same district year after year, nor should the same man long preside over a conference. A change of gifts is for the good of our conferences and churches. {GW 420.1}
>
> Ministers have sometimes felt unwilling to change their field of labor; but if they understood all the reasons for making changes, they would not draw back. Some have pleaded to remain one year longer in the same field, and frequently the request has been respected. They have claimed to have plans for accomplishing a greater work than heretofore. But at the close of the year there was a worse state of things than before. If a minister has been unfaithful in his work, it is not likely that he will mend the matter by remaining. The churches become accustomed to the management of that one man, and think they must look to him instead of to God. His ideas and plans have a controlling power in the conference. {GW 420.2}
>
> The people may see that he errs in judgment, and because of this they learn to place a low estimate upon the ministry. If they would look to God, and depend upon heavenly wisdom, they would be gaining an experience of the highest value, and would themselves be able, in many respects at least, to supply what is lacking in him who is the overseer of the flock. But too often things are left to drift as they will, the president being held responsible for the condition of the churches in the conference, while the church-members settle down, indifferent, lukewarm, doing nothing to bring things into order.
> 421

> {GW 420.3}
>
> The president may not feel the importance of sanctifying himself, that others may be sanctified. He may be an unfaithful watchman, preaching to please the people. Many are strong in some points of character, while they are weak and deficient in others. As the result, a want of efficiency is manifest in some parts of the work. Should the same man continue as president of a conference year after year, his defects would be reproduced in the churches under his labors. But one laborer may be strong where his brother is weak, and so by exchanging fields of labor, one may, to some extent, supply the deficiencies of another. {GW 421.1}
>
> If all were fully consecrated to God, these marked imperfections of character would not exist; but since the laborers do not meet the divine standard, since they weave self into all their work, the best thing, both for themselves and for the churches, is to make frequent changes. And, on the other hand, if a laborer is spiritually strong, he is, through the grace of Christ, a blessing to the churches, and his labors are needed in different conferences.
>
> -
>
> {GW 421.2}
>
> We are in times of peculiar danger from foes without and within, and God would have you alive to everything concerning your special work. You need not try to do anything without the special help of your heavenly Father. He is waiting for you to call, that He may say, "Here I am." If you will seek, He says He will be found of you; His strength, His grace, and His righteousness will be given to the humble, contrite one who seeks Him with all the heart.
>
> [422] {GW 421.3}

Posted by: sister Mar 3 2007, 07:22 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 3 2007, 05:09 PM)
>
> Here you find the principle dealt with:
>
> The question is asked me if it is not a mistake to remove the president of a State conference to a > 420
> new field when many of the people under his present charge are unwilling to give him up. {GW 419.4}
>
> The Lord has been pleased to give me light on this question. I have been shown that ministers should not be retained in the same district year after year, nor should the same man long preside over a conference. A change of gifts is for the good of our conferences and churches. {GW 420.1}
>
> Ministers have sometimes felt unwilling to change their field of labor; but if they understood all the reasons for making changes, they would not draw back. Some have pleaded to remain one year longer in the same field, and frequently the request has been respected. They have claimed to have plans for accomplishing a greater work than heretofore. But at the close of the year there was a worse state of things than before. If a minister has been unfaithful in his work, it is not likely that he will mend the matter by remaining. The churches become accustomed to the management of that one man, and think they must look to him instead of to God. His ideas and plans have a controlling power in the conference. {GW 420.2}

> The people may see that he errs in judgment, and because of this they learn to place a low estimate upon the ministry. If they would look to God, and depend upon heavenly wisdom, they would be gaining an experience of the highest value, and would themselves be able, in many respects at least, to supply what is lacking in him who is the overseer of the flock. But too often things are left to drift as they will, the president being held responsible for the condition of the churches in the conference, while the church-members settle down, indifferent, lukewarm, doing nothing to bring things into order.
> 421
> {GW 420.3}
>
> The president may not feel the importance of sanctifying himself, that others may be sanctified. He may be an unfaithful watchman, preaching to please the people. Many are strong in some points of character, while they are weak and deficient in others. As the result, a want of efficiency is manifest in some parts of the work. Should the same man continue as president of a conference year after year, his defects would be reproduced in the churches under his labors. But one laborer may be strong where his brother is weak, and so by exchanging fields of labor, one may, to some extent, supply the deficiencies of another. {GW 421.1}
>
> If all were fully consecrated to God, these marked imperfections of character would not exist; but since the laborers do not meet the divine standard, since they weave self into all their work, the best thing, both for themselves and for the churches, is to make frequent changes. And, on the other hand, if a laborer is spiritually strong, he is, through the grace of Christ, a blessing to the churches, and his labors are needed in different conferences.
>
> -
> {GW 421.2}
>
> We are in times of peculiar danger from foes without and within, and God would have you alive to everything concerning your special work. You need not try to do anything without the special help of your heavenly Father. He is waiting for you to call, that He may say, "Here I am." If you will seek, He says He will be found of you; His strength, His grace, and His righteousness will be given to the humble, contrite one who seeks Him with all the heart.
>
> [422] {GW 421.3}

Based upon the above testimony from Ellen White, it would be wise to bring in another man to replace Kenneth Denslow as President of the Illinois Conference and move him to another field of labor.

Posted by: Daffodil Mar 3 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 3 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> Here you find the principle dealt with:

Thanks Johann, for the reference.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:24 AM

> QUOTE(Daffodil @ Mar 4 2007, 04:57 AM)
>
> Thanks Johann, for the reference.

What would we do without some daffodils? Just keep right at it, Dawn!

Posted by: Carmel Mar 5 2007, 06:22 AM

The above quotation from E.G.W. is so strong and wise, and is a clear indication whether one really wants to serve The Lord or Himself!

Pastor in our (big) church is here for more than 20 years, and we can see to the point (of E.G.W.) the very same negative consequences from that practice. How sad. I am praying for Elijah to come, to wake us all up, to learn to love the Lord and His Law and His Principles with all our being.

This is not only showing that elder Denslow needs to move to another field, but thad DANNY IS LONG OVERDUE.

Carmel

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 5 2007, 07:04 AM

Interesting....this is always a major problem within SDA churches, but usually not for non-Adventist churches. What else I find interesting is the fact that we instead promote personality based-churches but highlighting generational families....we "proudly" talk about who we are related to or how long we have been "Adventist" and promote based on those relationships rather than Spiritual Gifts, according to the Bible.... don't get me "preachin'" up in this thread.....

than

3ABN is an independent ministry, like TBN that is independent of church afflication---it is a non-profit organization business. The sound counsel from Sis. Ellen have no bearing in this case, IMHO. That would be like starting a store that becomes successful and hen someone saying that you no longer have a right to be the owner, simply becasue you have been over it for more than 5 years.... it does not wash.

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 5 2007, 07:22 AM)
>
> The above quotation from E.G.W. is so strong and wise, and is a clear indication whether one really wants to serve The Lord or Himself!
>
> Pastor in our (big) church is here for more than 20 years, and we can see to the point (of E.G.W.) the very same negative consequences from that practice. How sad. I am praying for Elijah to come, to wake us all up, to learn to love the Lord and His Law and His Principles with all our being.

> This is not only showing that elder Denslow needs to move to another field, but thad DANNY IS LONG OVERDUE.
> Carmel

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 08:45 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 5 2007, 07:04 AM)
>
> Interesting....this is always a major problem within SDA churches, but usually not for non-Adventist churches. What else I find interesting is the fact that we instead promote personality based-churches but highlighting generational families....we "proudly" talk about who we are related to or how long we have been "Adventist" and promote based on those relationships rather than Spiritual Gifts, according to the Bible.... don't get me "preachin'" up in this thread..... ☒ than he court determined that 3abn was NOT a nonprofit business.... there is definitely profit being nade.... and spent....
>
> 3ABN is an independent ministry, like TBN that is independent of church afflication---it is a non-profit organization business. The sound counsel from Sis. Ellen have no bearing in this case, IMHO. That would be like starting a store that becomes successful and hen someone saying that you no longer have a right to be the owner, simply becasue you have been over it for more than 5 years.... it does not wash.

Posted by: Carmel Mar 5 2007, 09:37 AM

First: as Clay said, the court has determined 3ABN is not a nonprofit organization.

Second: they are a ministry, not a typical business, where if you are a good businessman, you can and should remain in your position as long as a business is growing and making profit.

By their influence they are presenting or misrepresenting God to those who look at them.

That's why I think this quote applies even to Danny who is not a minister, nor a president of the conference, the PRINCIPLE still works in his case.

"If a minister has been unfaithful in his work it is not likely that he will mend the matter by remaining. The churches become accustomed to the management of that one man, and think they must look to him instead of to God. His ideas and plans have a contorolling power in the conference..."

"The people may see that he errs in judgment, and because of this they learn to place a low estimate upon the ministry... the church members settle down, indifferent, lukeworm, doing nothing to bring thinks into order...."

Even though Danny is far from being a minister or a president of a conference, through his business he has accomplished exactly the same. Am I right?

Carmel

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 5 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 09:45 AM) ☐
>
> the court determined that 3abn was NOT a nonprofit business.... there is definitely profit being made.... and spent....

That isn't correct.

The County court ruled that on a local level, 3ABN was not entitled to a religious exemption and had to pay local property taxes. This is being appealed.

3ABN is still a self sustaining ministy and a Not for profit business, the local court did not change that.

Nor to the best of my knowledge did that case change anything to do with the IRS on the federal level, or 3ABN's status or exemptions when filing the required federal tax forms..

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 10:04 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 09:58 AM) ☐
>
> That isn't correct.
>
> The County court ruled that on a local level, 3ABN was not entitled to a religious exemption and had to pay local property taxes. This is being appealed.
>
> 3ABN is still a self sustaining ministy and a Not for profit business, the local court did not change that.
>
> Nor to the best of my knowledge did that case change anything to do with the IRS on the federal level, or 3ABN's status or exemptions when filing the required federal tax forms..

42 million in assets... whateva.... keep spinnin that foolishness...

Posted by: watchbird Mar 5 2007, 10:04 AM

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 5 2007, 10:37 AM) ☐
>
> First: as Clay said, the court has determined 3ABN is not a nonprofit organization.
>
> Second: they are a ministry, not a typical business, where if you are a good businessman, you can and should remain in your position as long as a business is growing and making profit.

> By their influence they are presenting or misrepresenting God to those who look at them.
>
> That's why I think this quote applies even to Danny who is not a minister, nor a president of the conference, the PRINCIPLE still works in his case.
> "If a minister has been unfaithful in his work it is not likely that he will mend the matter by remaining. The churches become accustomed to the management of that one man, and think they must look to him instead of to God. His ideas and plans have a contorolling power in the conference..."
>
> "The people may see that he errs in judgment, and because of this they learn to place a low estimate upon the ministry... the church members settle down, indifferent, lukeworm, doing nothing to bring thinks into order...."
>
> Even though Danny is far from being a minister or a president of a conference, through his business he has accomplished exactly the same. Am I right?
> Carmel

think you are right... and that you have put your finger squarely on the weakness of independent ninistries. While there are no other such ministries that I know of who abuse their power nor nisappropriate their funds to the extent that 3abn has done, the problem of one person control... and ne family control.... is still a potential problem. Which is why all such ministries need to have lines of ccountability.... and those lines should reach far enough beyond themselves so any problems that levelop can be solved by those outside of the power structure of the ministry.... up to and including ven permanent replacement of leaders and founders.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 10:17 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 5 2007, 06:04 PM)
>
> I think you are right... and that you have put your finger squarely on the weakness of independent ministries. While there are no other such ministries that I know of who abuse their power nor misappropriate their funds to the extent that 3abn has done, the problem of one person control... and one family control.... is still a potential problem. Which is why all such ministries need to have lines of accountability.... and those lines should reach far enough beyond themselves so any problems that develop can be solved by those outside of the power structure of the ministry.... up to and including even permanent replacement of leaders and founders.

eople here are concluding this is serious business, and needs to be dealt with as such. And since this usiness advocates working for the Lord, counsel is needed from the Lord, and not only from the nternal voices of praise to one of the co-founders.

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 5 2007, 10:37 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 5 2007, 11:04 AM)
>
> I think you are right... and that you have put your finger squarely on the weakness of independent ministries. While there are no other such ministries that I know of who abuse their power nor misappropriate their funds to the extent that 3abn has done, the problem of one person control... and one family control.... is still a potential problem. Which is why all such ministries need to have > lines of accountability.... and those lines should reach far enough beyond themselves so any problems that develop can be solved by those outside of the power structure of the ministry.... up to and including even permanent replacement of leaders and founders.

acking here, as usual.

roof funds have been misapropriated to such an extent, or to any extent...

roof that those you are claiming have abused their authority, have done so...

roof, one family is controllong 3ABN... (how many on the board are Shelton's?)

roof one person controls all others....

roof, that there are no lines of accountability..

nd yes, the burden of proof lies on the accuser, the one making the claims against another.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 11:04 AM)
>
> 42 million in assets... whateva.... keep spinnin that foolishness...

lay,

t doesn't matter how much a company brings in or doesn't bring in, when it comes to being a profit r not for profit business, it does depend on what that money is for and does.. Yes 3ABN generates lot of money and it costs alot of money to do the work and ministry they do...

eel free to cite any document or official source claiming and showing that 3ABN is no longer a not for rofit organization, and proving they are legally classed otherwise...

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 10:40 AM

Aletheia..... keep spinnin sister keep spinnin.... its amazing you don't get dizzy from all that spinning....

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 5 2007, 11:26 AM

O.K., if deemed a business by the judical branch of our government, even moreso a reason why the standards of a church cannot be equivocated to it, and the EGW counsel not be applicable....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 5 2007, 09:45 AM)
>
> the court determined that 3abn was NOT a nonprofit business.... there is definitely profit being made.... and spent....

Not the same....this now explains why many ministers are beginning their own "corporations" or "non-denominational, independent ministries"....

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 5 2007, 10:37 AM)
>
> First: as Clay said, the court has determined 3ABN is not a nonprofit organization.
>
> Second: they are a ministry, not a typical business, where if you are a good businessman, you can and should remain in your position as long as a business is growing and making profit.
>
> By their influence they are presenting or misrepresenting God to those who look at them.
>
> That's why I think this quote applies even to Danny who is not a minister, nor a president of the conference, the PRINCIPLE still works in his case.
> "If a minister has been unfaithful in his work it is not likely that he will mend the matter by remaining. The churches become accustomed to the management of that one man, and think they must look to him instead of to God. His ideas and plans have a contorolling power in the conference..."
>
> "The people may see that he errs in judgment, and because of this they learn to place a low estimate upon the ministry... the church members settle down, indifferent, lukeworm, doing nothing to bring thinks into order...."
>
> Even though Danny is far from being a minister or a president of a conference, through his business he has accomplished exactly the same. Am I right?Carmel

---

Posted by: Lee Mar 5 2007, 11:55 AM

I'm still waiting for the proof Aletheia was speaking about. I'd be interested in seeing it Watchbird and Clay...not just words spewing but actual PROOF! You know, as in documented evidence for what you say?

But there really isn't any proof right?

Posted by: Clay Mar 5 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 11:55 AM)
>
> I'm still waiting for the proof Aletheia was speaking about. I'd be interested in seeing it Watchbird and Clay...not just words spewing but actual PROOF! You know, as in documented evidence for what you say?
>
> But there really isn't any proof right?

you seem to be a spinner too.... keep on spinnin....

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 5 2007, 07:26 PM) ☐
>
> O.K., if deemed a business by the judical branch of our government, even moreso a reason why the standards of a church cannot be equivocated to it, and the EGW counsel not be applicable....
> - - -

So, here I was instructed that 3ABN was a conservative Adventist ministry - and this was one reason I accepted working for them. One of the marks of conservative Adventists is that they also heed the instructions given by Ellen White. Are we now discovering that the standards of the church are not applicable to 3ABN?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 5 2007, 12:04 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 12:55 PM) ☐
>
> I'm still waiting for the proof Aletheia was speaking about. I'd be interested in seeing it Watchbird and Clay...not just words spewing but actual PROOF! You know, as in documented evidence for what you say?
>
> But there really isn't any proof right?

The rest of the world is waiting for the proof of Linda Shelton's adultery... and have been waiting for a lot longer than Aletheia... as you said... not spewing words... but actual PROOF...You know, as in documented evidence for what you say?

But there really isn't any proof, right? Otherwise your camp wouldn't be hiding in shadows and dealing in innuendo and rumor.

You'd have put it out there and been done with it... but instead we've seen 3 years come and go and no proof...

Another nail in the coffin of your collective and several hypocrisy...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Lee Mar 5 2007, 12:07 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 01:02 PM) ☐
>
> So, here I was instructed that 3ABN was a conservative Adventist ministry - and this was one reason I accepted working for them. One of the marks of conservative Adventists is that they also > heed the instructions given by Ellen White. Are we now discovering that the standards of the church are not applicable to 3ABN?

So, where has 3ABN not heeded what Ellen White or the Bible says Johann? Again--proof please!

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:15 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 08:07 PM) ☐
>
> So, where has 3ABN not heeded what Ellen White or the Bible says Johann? Again--proof please!

was responding to a post which stated that 3ABN did not have to heed the counsel of Ellen White because it is an independent ministry. . .

When there was a problem back in 2004 I wrote to Walt and Danny and pointed out the Biblical solution, but it was not heeded then, and neither have I seen it heeded since. I have repeated this so many times, even here on BSDA, but nobody from 3ABN has shown any interest until now. Perhaps this will be coming?

Posted by: Lee Mar 5 2007, 12:19 PM

Are you saying all "independent" ministries don't follow Ellen White? Where is your evidence and proof of this statement? I'm especially interested in proof of 3ABN not heeding the counsel of Mrs. White.

Still waiting...

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:25 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 5 2007, 08:19 PM) ☐
>
> Are you saying all "independent" ministries don't follow Ellen White? Where is your evidence and proof of this statement? I'm especially interested in proof of 3ABN not heeding the counsel of Mrs. White.
>
> Still waiting...

wrote to these men and pointed to how Joseph decided to deal with Mary, and asked them if this iis not a pattern to follow in treating Linda. But this did not apply to 3ABN!!!

Posted by: Fran Mar 5 2007, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 09:58 AM) ☐

> That isn't correct.
>
> The County court ruled that on a local level, 3ABN was not entitled to a religious exemption and had to pay local property taxes. This is being appealed.
>
> 3ABN is still a self sustaining ministry and a Not for profit business, the local court did not change that.
>
> Nor to the best of my knowledge did that case change anything to do with the IRS on the federal level, or 3ABN's status or exemptions when filing the required federal tax forms..

Good post; however, I would have added the words, "To date," at the end of paragraph 2 & 3.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor)
>
> The rest of the world is waiting for the proof of Linda Shelton's adultery... and have been waiting for a lot longer than Aletheia... as you said... not spewing words... but actual PROOF...You know, as in documented evidence for what you say?
>
> But there really isn't any proof, right? Otherwise your camp wouldn't be hiding in shadows and dealing in innuendo and rumor.
>
> You'd have put it out there and been done with it... but instead we've seen 3 years come and go and no proof...

Keepin Track of the Silence

You have probably noticed the deafening silence, awesome, when your kind of suggestion is mentioned. Same silence in a couple other areas (fincancial, structural, ethical). This silence has its purpose though, while their thirst for real bona fide adultry remains unquenched: their aim appears to be to hold the accused hostage. This is something they obviously seem to enjoy since they only have "talk" of proof, not anything logical or biblical. This is why the challenge to bring it on. It calls their bluff. They don't know where to turn, and so the silence and continued hostage making. It's what they do best. and it's killing them in the public spectrum. In a way, it's good they can't see this.

There are those of us who are keeing track of the silence. This repeated silence is often a symptom of a conscience being pricked. It's become their pattern. This is part of what caused me to fall one way rather than the other.

Re all this "proof" talk, the only thing they seem capable of proving, invariably, is that they just don't get it (this may be a godsend). They have very little, if any, ability to properly evaluate the difference between forensic proof--at the professional level, and the appearance of something being obviously wrong--just using our common sense.

One need use little more than Occam's Razor to come to a reasonable conclusion with the two or three controversial issues here that continue to plague the reputation of 3abn, because this method of arriving at pratical conclusions does not involve conclusive proof at all, but perception. The damage has already been done.

> QUOTE(Aletheia)
>
> 3ABN is still a self sustaining ministry and a Not for profit business, the local court did not change that.

The State of Illinos, Dept. of Revenue, Office of Administrateive Hearings, determined that only two 14x18 ft. rooms qualified for your NFP tax exempt status...not the several acres being claimed.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:49 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 5 2007, 08:42 PM) ☐
>
> Keepin Track of the Silence
>
> You have probably noticed the deafening silence, awesome, when your kind of suggestion is mentioned. Same silence in a couple other areas (fincancial, structural, ethical). This silence has its purpose though, while their thirst for real bona fide adultry remains unquenched: their aim appears to be to hold the accused hostage. This is something they obviously seem to enjoy since they only have "talk" of proof, not anything logical or biblical. This is why the challenge to bring it on. It calls their bluff. They don't know where to turn, and so the silence and continued hostage making. It's what they do best. and it's killing them in the public spectrum. In a way, it's good they can't see this.
>
> There are those of us who are keeing track of the silence. This repeated silence is often a symptom of a conscience being pricked. It's become their pattern. This is part of what caused me to fall one way rather than the other.
>
> Re all this "proof" talk, the only thing they seem capable of proving, invariably, is that they just don't get it (this may be a godsend). They have very little, if any, ability to properly evaluate the difference between forensic proof--at the professional level, and the appearance of something being obviously wrong--just using our common sense.
>
> One need use little more than Occam's Razor to come to a reasonable conclusion with the two or three controversial issues here that continue to plague the reputation of 3abn, because this method of arriving at pratical conclusions does not involve conclusive proof at all, but perception. The damage has already been done.

I perceive and appreciate your healthy and objective concern.

Posted by: Carmel Mar 5 2007, 01:27 PM

So, where has 3ABN not heeded what Ellen White or the Bible says? Again--proof please!

That's easy, Lee! Here is the proof:

In the words of Jesus:
" Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her. And if a woman divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery." Mark10:11.12

"Whoever divorces his wife for any reason except sexual immorality causes her to commit adultery, and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery." Mathew 5:32;

and His servant Paul:

... "A husband is not to divorce his wife." 1. Corinthians 7:11

Danny has not only divorced his wife without the ground of sexual immorality, but has married one who has been already twice divorced herself.

According to the Bible, both Danny and Brandy are living in adultery.

As far as abusing of the authority is concerned, here is one of the proofs:

To quote Danny himself: "even a 3 year old knows this one":

"Will a man rob God? Yet you have robbed me! But you say, in what way have we robbed You? In tithes and offerings... Bring all the tithes into THE STOREHOUSE, that there may be food in MY HOUSE.. says THE LORD of hosts. Malachi 3:8-10

The Working Policy of the North American Division. Section T 05 20 states:"It is recognized that the local conference level of denominational organization is the "storehouse" to which all tithe should be sent and from which the Gospel ministry is supported."

Danny has abused his authority by encouraging the audience to give their tithe to 3ABN, and by receiving what belongs only to God.

Carmel

Posted by: Observer Mar 5 2007, 02:19 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 5 2007, 08:58 AM) ☐
>
> That isn't correct.
>
> The County court ruled that on a local level, 3ABN was not entitled to a religious exemption and had to pay local property taxes. This is being appealed.
>
> 3ABN is still a self sustaining ministy and a Not for profit business, the local court did not change that.
>
> Nor to the best of my knowledge did that case change anything to do with the IRS on the federal level, or 3ABN's status or exemptions when filing the required federal tax forms..

Alethia:

I do not believe that you are not quite correct. Please correct me if I am wroing:

1) Judge Rowe ruled that 3-ABN was generally required to pay the local school tax. I do not beleive that her ruling required that 3-ABN pay other local property taxes.

2) The ruling of Judge Rowe did not change the nor for profit states of 3-ABN in regard to either the State of Illonios, or the Federal government. However, she did rule that in regard to the payment of local school taxes, 3-ABN did not meet State requirements to be considered exempt due to a not for profit status.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 03:44 PM

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 5 2007, 12:27 PM) ☐
>
> ... "A husband is not to divorce his wife." 1. Corinthians 7:11
> Danny has not only divorced his wife without the ground of sexual immorality, but has married one who has been already twice divorced herself.
> Carmel

You have a rude awakening coming, Carmel. Read the other recent post where the other sides own emails prove there was a way different relationship going on than professional over Nathan. And, you will have to believe it, because they, themselves have produced the emails that prove it.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 5 2007, 03:49 PM

You are incorrect.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 5 2007, 03:50 PM

Emails from who? Come on Bystander. you know you have no proof, and no credibility. this is the same junk they have been spouting from the beginning. Didn't believe it then, don't believe it now...........want to change it...bring the evidence....bring it on! Or jes let that lie go! Admit to the error in judgement about trying to use the "spititual adultery" thing and cut your losses.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 01:44 PM) ☐
>
> You have a rude awakening coming, Carmel. Read the other recent post where the other sides own emails prove there was a way different relationship going on than professional over Nathan. And, you will have to believe it, because they, themselves have produced the emails that prove it.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 03:57 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 5 2007, 06:04 AM)
>
> 3ABN is an independent ministry, like TBN that is independent of church afflication---it is a non-profit organization business. The sound counsel from Sis. Ellen have no bearing in this case, IMHO. That would be like starting a store that becomes successful and hen someone saying that you no longer have a right to be the owner, simply becasue you have been over it for more than 5 years.... it does not wash. [/color]

You are correct SS. We are comparing apples and oranges.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 5 2007, 02:50 PM)
>
> Emails from who? Come on Bystander. you know you have no proof, and no credibility. this is the same junk they have been spouting from the beginning. Didn't believe it then, don't believe it now............want to change it...bring the evidence....bring it on! Or jes let that lie go! Admit to the error in judgement about trying to use the "spititual adultery" thing and cut your losses.

The emails that have already been posted from DS to Johann and the posts where Johann has already confirmed the information of their "not strictly professional" relationship. That is the emails I am referring to.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 04:12 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:57 PM)
>
> You are correct SS. We are comparing apples and oranges.
> The emails that have already been posted from DS to Johann and the posts where Johann has already confirmed the information of their "not strictly professional" relationship. That is the emails I am referring to.

Again you misinterpret things, but this is not new from you.

Did you ever have a real friend, Bystander? A friendship not based on selfish motives?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 5 2007, 06:12 PM

Oh ya, a "not strictly professional" relationship is enough proof for me that they were having a physical relationship. Since when is it Biblical grounds for divorce to be friends with, even very good friends with, those of the opposite sex? I don't know about anyone else on here but if that was the proof my wife would have had Biblical grounds for divorce long ago.

Richard

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 04:57 PM) ☐
>
> You are correct SS. We are comparing apples and oranges.
> The emails that have already been posted from DS to Johann and the posts where Johann has already confirmed the information of their That is the emails I am referring to.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 5 2007, 06:45 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 5 2007, 06:12 PM) ☐
>
> Oh ya, a "not strictly professional" relationship is enough proof for me that they were having a physical relationship. Since when is it Biblical grounds for divorce to be friends with, even very good friends with, those of the opposite sex? I don't know about anyone else on here but if that was the proof my wife would have had Biblical grounds for divorce long ago.
>
> Richard

Richard,The point is, it wasn't a professional relationship, so, there were lies told that it was. Why were lies told. What needed to be covered up? Things that you have no idea about obviously or you would not continue to make lame excuses. It always shocks me how people like you have come to all these conclusions when you don't have all the facts. That shows, that you had your mind up to be a lindanite from the beginning and nothing is going to change that.
Fine, that is your choice.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 5 2007, 07:16 PM

Did you hear Linda say they were only having a professional relationship? Or is this 2nd hand info from someone with the initials of DS.

And you are now a mind reader that you can see that my mind was made up before coming to these boards? Actually just the opposite is true, I started out over on Maitime posting things in defence of Danny. I actually believed that he had Biblical reasons for a divorce, and I thought Dr. Thompson gave a legit defence and so emailed his letter to Daryl. What got me questioning things were Danny's actions and words, nothing more nothing less.

BTW do you have all the facts? I think not.

Richard

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 5 2007, 07:45 PM) ☐

> Richard,The point is, it wasn't a professional relationship, so, there were lies told that it was. Why were lies told. What needed to be covered up? Things that you have no idea about obviously or you would not continue to make lame excuses. It always shocks me how people like you have come to all these conclusions when you don't have all the facts. That shows, that you had your mind up to be a lindanite from the beginning and nothing is going to change that.
> Fine, that is your choice.

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 5 2007, 07:47 PM

It's not a church. I would not expect Calvin to ever consider giving up BSDA (God forbid) because now that he has applied to keep the name SDA as a part of it, someone decides that he has been here long enough, they don't like the way it is being run (or the 3ABN forum) and want to put someone else over it...when they don't even own it.....That's my point.

If it is an independent ministry or business you can't suddenly decide to run it like the church...sorry.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 01:02 PM)
>
> So, here I was instructed that 3ABN was a conservative Adventist ministry - and this was one reason I accepted working for them. One of the marks of conservative Adventists is that they also heed the instructions given by Ellen White. Are we now discovering that the standards of the church are not applicable to 3ABN?

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 08:43 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd)
>
> The point is, it wasn't a professional relationship, so, there were lies told that it was. Why were lies told. What needed to be covered up? Things that you have no idea about obviously or you would not continue to make lame excuses. It always shocks me how people like you have come to all these conclusions when you don't have all the facts. That shows, that you had your mind up to be a lindanite from the beginning and nothing is going to change that.
> Fine, that is your choice.

Not really. Wishful thinking is clouding your better judgement. You sound soooooooo thirsty for this to e true bona fide infidelity that you can't reason from cause to effect, nor can you allow for other ossibilities and explanations. A good man doesn't force a woman back in her shell, deny her what she eeds most (friends), then punish her for telling a white lie. She knows the hell she'll have to face nce again if she's open and honest about everything that causes her sick, sick, jealous, dyspetic usband to explode.

This is not infidelity, nor is it merely "your choice." This is immaturity at its best.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 09:08 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 5 2007, 06:45 PM) ☐
>
> Why were lies told. What needed to be covered up?

wwjd, if your camp has the proof of adultery, you wouldn't have to ask questions like this.

Remember the burger ad? Where's the beef?

Nope, nothing, nada ... it's all obfuscation. Back when I registered, the denizens here used to repeat it way more often: This ain't Sabbath School--we pay attention here.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 5 2007, 08:43 PM) ☐
>
> Not really. Wishful thinking is clouding your better judgement. You sound sooooooooo thirsty for this to be true bona fide infidelity that you can't reason from cause to effect, nor can you allow for other possibilities and explanations. A good man doesn't force a woman back in her shell, deny her what she needs most (friends), then punish her for telling a white lie. She knows the hell she'll have to face once again if she's open and honest about everything that causes her sick, sick, jealous, dyspetic husband to explode.
>
> This is not infidelity, nor is it merely "your choice." This is immaturity at its best.

You state this as if it was a fact. What if he didn't put her back in her shell, or deny her friends, or punish her for a white lie? (it is ridiculous that you are referring to Lie in the singular and white as if that makes it minimal.) Do you know either one personally? Were you around when any of it was happening? If not, how can you make these statements? If you had of been or had seen all the facts, you wouldn't be here now adding your 2 cents which happens to be completely wrong.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 09:08 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd, if your camp has the proof of adultery, you wouldn't have to ask questions like this.
>
> Remember the burger ad? Where's the beef?
>
> Nope, nothing, nada ... it's all obfuscation. Back when I registered, the denizens here used to repeat it way more often: This ain't Sabbath School--we pay attention here.

You just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything will be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it. How ludicrous that you think that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job. A ministry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know much more than they about the subject at hand. They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone here. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence anyway. They know what they are doing, you obviously don't. You minimize a world wide ministry to what is said on this forum. Big mistake.

Posted by: Carmel Mar 5 2007, 09:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 03:44 PM) ☐
>
> You have a rude awakening coming, Carmel. Read the other recent post where the other sides own emails prove there was a way different relationship going on than professional over Nathan. And, you will have to believe it, because they, themselves have produced the emails that prove it.

Bystander, you are turning water to your mill, again!

The question here was whether 3ABN with Danny is following what the Bible says, whether they're abusing their authority, and in my post I have given solid Biblical proofs that that is the case. That was just the begining of all the proofs I could give but you didn't even try to answer one of the two posted.

Yes, I have read those posts you are referring to, but in them I found no proofs for Linda's sexual immorality, even if the events have really taken place as described.

Instead, I found myself wandering how can anybody be so rude to an older person, how can somebody who is claiming to make his job to mend broken people be absolutely indecent and almost vulgar in his attitude toward an older gentleman?

How can Danny without any school question intelligence of someone who has been (from what I have heard) accepted to Uppsala University (the "Harvard of northern Europe") for his doctorate? (BTW, Uppsala Univeristy was founded in 1477, a decade before our dear America was even formally discovered.)

I don't know Johann, as popularly known on this forum, but I would think that a gentleman of his age should be treated with a lot of respect (or at least minimum), and not so UNCHRISTLIKE, or, to be direct, at least the way all those who came here complaining about this site, would like to see 3abn be treated.

Those emails were very revealing, indeed. Awakening has come few months earlier, but RUDE it was - for sure!

Carmel

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 10:00 PM

> QUOTE(Carmel @ Mar 5 2007, 09:51 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander, you are turning water to your mill, again!

> The question here was whether 3ABN with Danny is following what the Bible says, whether they're abusing their authority, and in my post I have given solid Biblical proofs that that is the case. That was just the begining of all the proofs I could give but you didn't even try to answer one of the two posted.
>
> Carmel

'he post I just made to Soul, I will make to you also.
'ou just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything vill be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it. How ludicrous that you hink that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job. A ninistry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know nuch more than they about the subject at hand. They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone iere. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence inyway. They know what they are doing, you obviously don't. You minimize a world wide ministry to vhat is said on this forum. Carmen, just because you haven't seen evidence certainly doesn't mean it loesn't exist.

Posted by: Carmel Mar 5 2007, 10:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:00 PM)
>
> Carmen, just because you haven't seen evidence certainly doesn't mean it doesn't exist.

nstead of repeating old cliches, why don't you reply to my whole post. I wrote about Danny, not .inda.

'he evidence about unbiblical practices of this world wide ministry definitelly does exist, and I expect 'ou to comment on these.

t's Carmel

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 10:21 PM

Once more unto the breach, dear friend ...

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:00 PM)
>
> The post I just made to Soul, I will make to you also.
> You just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything will be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it. How ludicrous that you think that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job. A ministry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know much more than they about the subject at hand. They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone here. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence anyway. They know what they are doing, you obviously don't. You minimize a world wide ministry to what is said on this forum. Carmen, just because you haven't seen evidence certainly doesn't mean it doesn't exist.

The time is now. I don't give a rat's patootie what the place is.

But all this "We've got evidence we've got evidence we've got evidence" with no evidence is starting to sound like the boy who cried wolf. I hope you can make good, Bystander, but so far you've yet to establish any credibility. God's work is being damaged by the delay, and that's a fact.

If it's a courtroom it'll come out, I can respect it, but it's a real shame. It'll come out in the media and the work gets set back 20 years. If it's elsewhere, it's way the heck overdue, man.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 10:28 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 10:21 PM) ☐
>
> Once more unto the breach, dear friend ...
> The time is now. I don't give a rat's patootie what the place is.
>
> If it's a courtroom it'll come out, I can respect it, but it's a real shame. It'll come out in the media and the work gets set back 20 years. If it's elsewhere, it's way the heck overdue, man.

I totally agree. It is a real shame. It's a shame that people have tried to back 3abn in a corner with falsehoods, half truths, innuendo and gossip when it comes to the DS,Ls situation. 3abn has tried ,for several years, to take the high road but enough is enough.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 10:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:20 PM) ☐
>
> You just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything will be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it.

If it comes to court, it will give the entire Adventist church a bad name. Nationwide, maybe worldwide.

If it's not going to be in court, how much longer are they going to wait? How much more damage will be done to the name of Christ?

> QUOTE
>
> How ludicrous that you think that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job.

Pickle and Joy tried to follow Our Lord's instructions in Matthew 18. When it didn't work, they went online. Since this is where the rest of the conversation is happening, why not post here?

You come here to make it look like the discussion is balanced. It isn't. It's you and wwjd and Aletheia and Lee and Joe Smith against everybody who's been paying attention.

> QUOTE
>
> A ministry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know much more than they about the subject at hand.

Well, you and Danny both need to start talking to someone who knows more than you do about public relations, because this is turning into a nightmare.

> QUOTE
>
> They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone here. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence anyway.

No, they don't have to prove anything to me. They have to prove it to the people around the world to whom they've deprecated Linda's reputation, for one thing. They also have to prove it to Tommy's accusers, who seem to grow in number by the day.

Most of us are not in the tank for Linda. I think she's a victim of marital abuse. I also think she was probably party to corruption at 3ABN before she was sent packing--which may be why she waited until now to call for release of the evidence.

> QUOTE
>
> They know what they are doing, you obviously don't.

It's okay not to insult people who disagree with you, you know.

You know, Bystander, I may not know what I'm doing. But you'll have to show me where I'm wrong before you explain how I got to be so silly.

> QUOTE
>
> You minimize a world wide ministry to what is said on this forum. Big mistake.

So now I should bow to 3ABN because they're worldwide? Britney Spears was worldwide until she went crazy! Size or celebrity mean nothing. Truth and honesty and integrity mean everything.

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 5 2007, 10:46 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 08:28 PM)
>
> I totally agree. It is a real shame. It's a shame that people have tried to back 3abn in a corner with falsehoods, half truths, innuendo and gossip when it comes to the DS,Ls situation. 3abn has tried ,for several years, to take the high road but enough is enough.

Danny and Co. take the hight road? from May 2004 to today Danny has been trashing Linda and telling part truth mostly lies to make himself believable. He Says save3ABN are trying to trash 3ABN which is total Lie. They are trying to save 3ABN from Danny.

No one is trying to back 3ABN into a corner. It is Danny who needs to step down and let 3ABN be run by Honest folk and bring people to the feet of Jesus without the taint Danny had brought to 3ABN.

This aint Sabbath School. We pay attention.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 5 2007, 10:50 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> 3abn has tried ,for several years, to take the high road but enough is enough.

"Where have we heard this wind before, Change like this to a deeper roar?" RF

If you think people don't recognize self-interest, and protectionism, I'd recommend you get out of your incubator a little.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 5 2007, 10:55 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 08:20 PM) ☐
>
> You state this as if it was a fact. What if he didn't put her back in her shell, or deny her friends, or punish her for a white lie? (it is ridiculous that you are referring to Lie in the singular and white as if that makes it minimal.) Do you know either one personally? Were you around when any of it was happening? If not, how can you make these statements? If you had of been or had seen all the facts, you wouldn't be here now adding your 2 cents which happens to be completely wrong.

Bystander,

Were you there personally seeing this for yourself? Do you know beyond a shadow of a doubt that what you are relaying here is the verified truth?

> QUOTE
>
> You just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything will be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it. How ludicrous that you think that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job. A ministry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know much more than they about the subject at hand. They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone here. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence anyway. They know what they are doing, you obviously > don't. You minimize a world wide ministry to what is said on this forum. Big mistake.

gain with the titillation without any illumination. If it is so "ludicrous to think that someone from 3abn s going to bring solid evidence to a chat room", why then are you even here? I just don't get it. If you ll don't think this place is worthy enough for you to post evidence and truth it makes it all the more lear that your job here is just to try to obfuscate the issues. Well, most of you appear to be quite well uited for that job.

HB, I just haven't figured out yet why you, a seemingly intelligent, well-written man, would want to hrow in with the likes of Bystander, wwjd, Lee and Alethiea. What could your motiviation be? How can ou deny the evidence that is so clearly presented. I'm sad and disappointed. But, of course, we're all ntitled to our own opinions.

B

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 10:59 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 08:00 PM)
>
> The post I just made to Soul, I will make to you also.
> You just can't seem to understand can you? When it is the right time, and the right place, everything will be shown that needs to be shown and to the people that need to see it. How ludicrous that you think that someone from 3abn is going to bring evidence to a chat room. That is Pickle/Joy's job. A ministry of integrity and professionalism handle things the correct way by listening to those who know much more than they about the subject at hand. They do not have to prove anything to you or anyone here. What good would that do? The lindanites would just criticize, spin and undermine the evidence anyway. They know what they are doing, you obviously don't. You minimize a world wide ministry to what is said on this forum. Carmen, just because you haven't seen evidence certainly doesn't mean it doesn't exist.

could swear this is straight from the likes of Dan Shelton. Oh, I know. It's just bystander.

ou all know that these are desperate times for Dan. He's in here spinning spinning pinning...remember why now...remember, this is about confusing and confounding the masses so hat he is not found out. Well, he knows he's found out, and he's taking the ship down with him. That's ow much he loves 3abn.

ames over Dan. Finished. Done. Repent before your soul is lost over it all too. It's bad enough that ou are taking a ministry you claim you love down with you, you would gladly take it and anyone else oo, because you are not going to admit the error of your ways. Keep those talking heads' of your on he payroll....lets see just how long they last too.

nd you might consider some personal therapy to get those personal issues resolved. Seriously. Life it oo short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster you have created.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 5 2007, 11:20 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 10:59 PM)

> I could swear this is straight from the likes of Dan Shelton. Oh, I know. It's just bystander.
>
> You all know that these are desperate times for Dan. He's in here spinning spinning spinning...remember why now...remember, this is about confusing and confounding the masses so that he is not found out. Well, he knows he's found out, and he's taking the ship down with him. That's how much he loves 3abn.
>
> Games over Dan.
>
> And you might consider some personal therapy to get those personal issues resolved. Seriously. Life it too short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster you have created.

He is "in here" spinning? Do you really think someone in his position has got time to set around and post on a chat site? You have to be kidding. Matter of fact, I read, he just got back from Sweden. Right before that I think, California and before that Alabama and that is just the traveling part. Not to mention all the other duties his job entails. That is why you see Mollie and Ca M & JL sharing in the live.

As for the monster comment. I agree. Life is too short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster that has been created. Hopefully, she will give up her vendetta and move on.....

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 11:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:20 PM)
>
> He is "in here" spinning? Do you really think someone in his position has got time to set around and post on a chat site? You have to be kidding. Matter of fact, I read, he just got back from Sweden. Right before that I think, California and before that Alabama and that is just the traveling part. Not to mention all the other duties his job entails. That is why you see Mollie and Ca M & JL sharing in the live.
>
> As for the monster comment. I agree. Life is too short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster that has been created. Hopefully, she will give up her vendetta and move on.....

Well, now you've convinced me yourself Dan. At least that is you today. And when ever you can slip in here and there.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 5 2007, 11:41 PM

.....ummmm laptops....wireless internet.........What do we really look that stupid to you? We have members from all over the world. You just read? Please!! Do better!

As a matter of fact, it is a colossal waste of time for you, Lee, wwjd, Aletheia, and the rest of the gang to be here. You keep spouting lies that we are not going to believe.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 09:20 PM)
>
> He is "in here" spinning? Do you really think someone in his position has got time to set around and post on a chat site? You have to be kidding. Matter of fact, I read, he just got back from Sweden. Right before that I think, California and before that Alabama and that is just the traveling part. Not to mention all the other duties his job entails. That is why you see Mollie and Ca M & JL sharing in the live.
>
> As for the monster comment. I agree. Life is too short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster that has been created. Hopefully, she will give up her vendetta and move on.....

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 5 2007, 11:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 10:28 PM)
>
> I totally agree. It is a real shame. It's a shame that people have tried to back 3abn in a corner with falsehoods, half truths, innuendo and gossip when it comes to the DS,Ls situation. 3abn has tried ,for several years, to take the high road but enough is enough.

It isn't just about DS-LS and you know it. But as for the high road, that's a pile of hoo-ha and you know it. For those of us who pay attention, Danny's been slandering Linda ever since.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:20 PM)
>
> Hopefully, she will give up her vendetta and move on.....

Dude, was it Linda pulling the strings to get victims to accuse Tommy back in the 1980s?

The situation with the divorce, IMNSHO, is merely one more egregious symptom of a bigger problem: control. Danny cannot stand to give up control. He may not be in here (or may, just because he was in Sweden doesn't mean beans for posting on the Internet), but he's got you to shill for him. He's trying to control the discussion and make it look at least even-handed.

We sit here and answer you, even though it's sort of a waste of time, so that people will read the threads and save3abn.com, and decide for themselves. We're trying to save him from himself, for God's sake (I mean that literally). Not to mention the church.

If Danny would listen, step down, and allow a free, open, impartial investigation, we could all go on to other, more interesting threads on blacksda.com.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 11:54 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 09:43 PM)
>
> It isn't just about DS-LS and you know it. But as for the high road, that's a pile of hoo-ha and you > know it. For those of us who pay attention, Danny's been slandering Linda ever since.

> Dude, was it Linda pulling the strings to get victims to accuse Tommy back in the 1980s?
>
> The situation with the divorce, IMNSHO, is merely one more egregious symptom of a bigger problem: control. Danny cannot stand to give up control. He may not be in here (or may, just because he was in Sweden doesn't mean beans for posting on the Internet), but he's got you to shill for him. He's trying to control the discussion and make it look at least even-handed.
>
> We sit here and answer you, even though it's sort of a waste of time, so that people will read the threads and save3abn.com, and decide for themselves. We're trying to save him from himself, for God's sake (I mean that literally). Not to mention the church.
>
> If Danny would listen, step down, and allow a free, open, impartial investigation, we could all go on to other, more interesting threads on blacksda.com.

pot on!
ust think what a REAL testimony that would be. Many are praying. I hope he listens to the Holy Spirit.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 6 2007, 12:23 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 11:43 PM) ☐
>
> The situation with the divorce, IMNSHO, is merely one more egregious symptom of a bigger problem: control. Danny cannot stand to give up control. He may not be in here (or may, just because he was in Sweden doesn't mean beans for posting on the Internet), but he's got you to shill for him. He's trying to control the discussion and make it look at least even-handed.
>
> If Danny would listen, step down, and allow a free, open, impartial investigation, we could all go on to other, more interesting threads on blacksda.com.

hat first statement is a perfect example of how wrong one can be in their thinking. Danny shelton has ever contacted me in regard to posting anything in his "favor". That one fact throws out your omment that he is trying to control the situation through me. Hasn't happened. If you ask the others hat defend 3abn I believe that they can tell you the same. Several of them have said they have never ven met him, much less be told what to do for him.
his is another senseless allegation that has no merit.
s far as an investigation. If 3abn decides to have an open investigation it sure wouldn't be the likes f the pickle/joy team. It would be credible, honest, and forthright individuals that are respected by he church.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 12:47 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:23 PM) ☐

> That first statement is a perfect example of how wrong one can be in their thinking. Danny shelton has never contacted me in regard to posting anything in his "favor". That one fact throws out your comment that he is trying to control the situation through me. Hasn't happened. If you ask the others that defend 3abn I believe that they can tell you the same. Several of them have said they have never even met him, much less be told what to do for him.This is another senseless allegation that has no merit.
> As far as an investigation. If 3abn decides to have an open investigation it sure wouldn't be the likes of the pickle/joy team. It would be credible, honest, and forthright individuals that are respected by the church.

What is funny about your statement is that I consider myself to be a defender of 3abn. I want so much for that ministry to go forward taking the Gospel to the world. But there are forces within the ministry that have begun to rot the branch and the Husbandman may have to seriously prune it.

You talk about several other defenders of 3abn who say that they have never met Danny. That begs the question then, how have they gotten all of the information that they quote as verified truth? Who is their source? If they aren't first person witnesses themselves or spouting info from first person witnesses, is their information even hearsay?

Posted by: Observer Mar 6 2007, 04:18 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:23 PM) ☐
>
> That first statement is a perfect example of how wrong one can be in their thinking. Danny shelton has never contacted me in regard to posting anything in his "favor". That one fact throws out your comment that he is trying to control the situation through me. Hasn't happened. If you ask the others that defend 3abn I believe that they can tell you the same. Several of them have said they have never even met him, much less be told what to do for him.
> This is another senseless allegation that has no merit.
> As far as an investigation. If 3abn decides to have an open investigation it sure wouldn't be the likes of the pickle/joy team. It would be credible, honest, and forthright individuals that are respected by the church.

Folks, the above statement may very well be true. But, if it is true, it does not mean that Danny is not attempting to control the discussion. The issue as to whether or not Danny contacts people and requests them to post something is one issue. The issue of whether or not Danny is attempting to control what is posted is another. And, there are other issues/questions that might be asked.

Let me illustrate: I am thinking of a person who no longer comments on this mess. but at one time did so. At the time that person was posting, he/she was thought to be posting for Danny. That person told me, and I believe it, that Danny had never asked that any specific information be posted. Folks, I said never. I believe that to be true. However, I was told that Danny and that person periodicly discussed what was being posted on the Internet. I do not know if it was by telephone, or by e-mail. In those conversations, Danny would share his view of what was being posted. Nothing wrong with that. From time to time, the individual whom I am talking about would share a perspective that came from Danny. But, Danny never asked that anything be posted. And, the individual involved was the one to select and choose what he/she posted.

So, what do we have here? It may very well be true that Danny has never asked Bystander to post anything. It also may be true that Bystander is close enough to Danny to know Danny's perspective. It may be true that Bystander selects what aspects of Danny's perspective to post here. If so, it is quite understandable why people see Bystander as posting for Danny.

Posted by: Fran Mar 6 2007, 05:32 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 10:59 PM) ☐
>
> I could swear this is straight from the likes of Dan Shelton. Oh, I know. It's just bystander.
>
> You all know that these are desperate times for Dan. He's in here spinning spinning spinning...remember why now...remember, this is about confusing and confounding the masses so that he is not found out. Well, he knows he's found out, and he's taking the ship down with him. That's how much he loves 3abn.
>
> Games over Dan. Finished. Done. Repent before your soul is lost over it all too. It's bad enough that you are taking a ministry you claim you love down with you, you would gladly take it and anyone else too, because you are not going to admit the error of your ways. Keep those talking heads' of your on the payroll....lets see just how long they last too.
>
> And you might consider some personal therapy to get those personal issues resolved. Seriously. Life it too short to spend 3 more years trying to control the monster you have created.

Your comments are very well stated. They ring of truth. I believe you are correct about Danny Shelton taking 3ABN down himself. I believe he will do that to prevent anyone else having control of 3ABN. Someone else controlling 3ABN is in essence the same controlling Danny Shelton. This is because Danny's idea is that he IS 3ABN.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 6 2007, 06:55 AM

The people that have backed Danny into a corner is Danny and his scribes. The more you post on here the more exposure these sites get and the further into the corner you get. Other people can see this, why can't you? There would be but a fraction of the posts about 3abn and Danny if his supporters would not keep posting.

And if the evidence is there and had been presented long ago there would be none of this court talk, and the situation could still be avoided IMO if Danny were will to either present ALL or confess that he was wrong. It's his loss, 3abn's loss. Too bad it's also loss for the work of God. Sad.

Richard

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 11:28 PM) ☐
>
> I totally agree. It is a real shame. It's a shame that people have tried to back 3abn in a corner with falsehoods, half truths, innuendo and gossip when it comes to the DS,Ls situation. 3abn has tried ,for several years, to take the high road but enough is enough.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 6 2007, 09:33 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:23 AM)
>
> Danny shelton has never contacted me in regard to posting anything in his "favor". That one fact throws out your comment that he is trying to control the situation through me. Hasn't happened. If you ask the others that defend 3abn I believe that they can tell you the same. Several of them have said they have never even met him, much less be told what to do for him.

So ... you volunteered to shill for him?

> QUOTE(Observer @ Mar 6 2007, 04:18 AM)
>
> Folks, the above statement may very well be true. But, if it is true, it does not mean that Danny is not attempting to control the discussion. The issue as to whether or not Danny contacts people and requests them to post something is one issue. The issue of whether or not Danny is attempting to control what is posted is another.
>
> It may very well be true that Danny has never asked Bystander to post anything. It also may be true that Bystander is close enough to Danny to know Danny's perspective. It may be true that Bystander selects what aspects of Danny's perspective to post here. If so, it is quite understandable why people see Bystander as posting for Danny.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 6 2007, 12:23 AM)
> This is another senseless allegation that has no merit.

No, what Observer is saying makes a lot of sense. Bystander talks to Danny (I notice you didn't deny the two of you had been in contact), you hear his point of view (and I call it his, because it was his idea that once the situation with Linda was resolved all the other stuff will go away--it won't), and you post it.

I respect your admiration for him. Nothing would induce me to defend my best friend if he'd handled the same situation like Danny has.

But then people like Danny tend not to like me very much. Yes, I'm speaking from experience.

> QUOTE
> As far as an investigation. If 3abn decides to have an open investigation it sure wouldn't be the likes of the pickle/joy team. It would be credible, honest, and forthright individuals that are respected by the church.

This is kind of ad hominem. Pickle/Joy have way more credibility than you do, so you attack the messenger.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 6 2007, 12:47 AM)

> What is funny about your statement is that I consider myself to be a defender of 3abn. I want so much for that ministry to go forward taking the Gospel to the world. But there are forces within the ministry that have begun to rot the branch and the Husbandman may have to seriously prune it.

Ve all want the message of God to go forward, Bystander. And the message is not, "Danny is the nointed one." A lot of people have come into the truth with 3ABN, but that doesn't make it exempt rom scrutiny. See Ephesians 5:11.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 6 2007, 12:47 AM)
>
> You talk about several other defenders of 3abn who say that they have never met Danny. That begs the question then, how have they gotten all of the information that they quote as verified truth? Who is their source? If they aren't first person witnesses themselves or spouting info from first person witnesses, is their information even hearsay?

his is why, PB, I think this is a relative or somesuch like that. Who would stoop to such tactics therwise? "No one is so blind ..."

return to my earlier thought ... you haven't dealt with it, Bystander.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 5 2007, 11:43 PM)
>
> It isn't just about DS-LS and you know it. But as for the high road, that's a pile of hoo-ha and you know it. For those of us who pay attention, Danny's been slandering Linda ever since.
>
> Dude, was it Linda pulling the strings to get victims to accuse Tommy back in the 1980s?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 6 2007, 09:48 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Mar 6 2007, 10:33 AM)
>
> I respect your admiration for him. Nothing would induce me to defend my best friend if he'd handled the same situation like Danny has.

Vhen I was in the Navy, the ship I was on had a piece of machinery installed in it called a Prairie Air ompressor... all cruisers, destroyers and frigates carry one. The purpose of this gear is to pump ompressed air that is discharged aft of the ship, which increases the cavitation around the screws so he cruiser I was embarked on would appear to be a much larger vessel to a submarine; specifically it llows a smaller ship to put forth the sonar signature of an aircraft carrier making it more difficult to arget and sink the carrier....

Vhat bystander et al are doing is playing the same role for Danny that my ship did for the carrier vhen the Prairie Air Compressor was running; they are doing their level best to draw fire away from im by making themselves the target and to divert attention away from where he is vulnerable...

he problem...for them at least... is that we aren't taking the fake...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 6 2007, 01:43 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 6 2007, 08:48 AM) ☐
>
> When I was in the Navy, the ship I was on had a piece of machinery installed in it called a Prairie Air Compressor... all cruisers, destroyers and frigates carry one. The purpose of this gear is to pump compressed air that is discharged aft of the ship, which increases the cavitation around the screws so the cruiser I was embarked on would appear to be a much larger vessel to a submarine; specifically it allows a smaller ship to put forth the sonar signature of an aircraft carrier making it more difficult to target and sink the carrier....
>
> What bystander et al are doing is playing the same role for Danny that my ship did for the carrier when the Prairie Air Compressor was running; they are doing their level best to draw fire away from him by making themselves the target and to divert attention away from where he is vulnerable...
>
> The problem...for them at least... is that we aren't taking the fake...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

From Wikipedia:

"Cavitation is a general term used to describe the behavior of voids or bubbles in a liquid. Cavitation is usually divided into two classes of behavior: inertial (or transient) cavitation and non-inertial cavitation. Inertial cavitation is the process where a void or bubble in a liquid rapidly collapses, producing a shock wave. Such cavitation often occurs in pumps, propellers, impellers, and in the vascular tissues of plants. Non-inertial cavitation is the process where a bubble in a fluid is forced to oscillate in size or shape due to some form of energy input, such as an acoustic field. Such cavitation is often employed in ultrasonic cleaning baths, and will also be observed in pumps, propellers etc."

Hmmmm... Hot air? Does hot air qualify as an acoustic field?

From Wikipedia:

"Discharge cavitation
Discharge cavitation occurs when the pump discharge pressure is extremely high, normally occurring in a pump that is running at less than 10% of its best efficiency point. The high discharge pressure causes the majority of the fluid to circulate inside the pump instead of being allowed to flow out the discharge. As the liquid flows around the impeller it must pass through the small clearance between the impeller and the pump cutwater at extremely high velocity. This velocity causes a vacuum to develop at the cutwater (similar to what occurs in a venturi) which turns the liquid into a vapor. A pump that has been operating under these conditions shows premature wear of the impeller vane tips and the pump cutwater. In addition, due to the high pressure conditions, premature failure of the pump's mechanical seal and bearings can be expected. Under extreme conditions, this can break the impeller shaft.

Discharge cavitation is believed to be the cause of the cracking of joints.Serious damages are caused by cavitation."

Could this be a warning for those who are engaged in the practice of blowing hot air to try to obfuscate truth?

---

(54)

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Something For Us To Ponder

Posted by: CJO Mar 2 2007, 12:30 PM

I just came across this statement and I think that it applies to this whole senario.
And I ponder on it for myself as well. This shows how much staying connected with Jesus is so important.

"One of the great troubles with us has been that we have looked upon men as infallible. But no matter how high a position a man may hold, it is no reason that he should be looked upon as incapable of making mistakes. The Lord may have given him a work to do, but unless Christ abides with him continually, unless he abides in Christ without a moment's separation, he will make mistakes and fall into error. RH 3-25-1890

Praying every day that God will work out all to His Glory,

CJO

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 12:39 PM

"mistakes" ??

How would "mistakes" compare with "calculated errors?" Maybe you could elaborate, not just a little.

(back to the archives--for now)

Posted by: Clay Mar 2 2007, 12:49 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 2 2007, 12:39 PM) ☐
>
> "mistakes" ??
>
> How would "mistakes" compare with "calculated errors?" Maybe you could elaborate, not just a little.
> (back to the archives--for now)

I think calculation was involved, but errors? How about intentional actions.... calculated action..... that's how I see it....

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 12:58 PM

Right, Clay. Thanks for the clarification. I'm with you.

Posted by: CJO Mar 2 2007, 01:03 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 2 2007, 01:58 PM)
>
> Right, Clay. Thanks for the clarification. I'm with you.

the statement doesn't claifiy "Intentional or unintentional". But unless we are connected, things will happen for the wrong. John 15- I am the Vine ye are the branch.....

This is all soooo sad to me.

CJO

Posted by: watchbird Mar 2 2007, 01:08 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 01:30 PM)
>
> I just came across this statement and I think that it applies to this whole senario.
> And I ponder on it for myself as well. This shows how much staying connected with Jesus is so important.
>
> "One of the great troubles with us has been that we have looked upon men as infallible. But no matter how high a position a man may hold, it is no reason that he should be looked upon as incapable of making mistakes. The Lord may have given him a work to do, but unless Christ abides with him continually, unless he abides in Christ without a moment's separation, he will make mistakes and fall into error. RH 3-25-1890
>
> Praying every day that God will work out all to His Glory,
>
> CJO

Interesting that you have been with us since August of 2004.... yet you are repeating this same tired old refrain.....

As for "falling into error" How about CHOOSING error.... choosing unfairness... choosing manipulation of others..... choosing power and control.... choosing to misappropriate funds.... and a whole list of other errant choices.... all the whole claiming exemption from guilt because of some imagined "anointing" from the Lord?

Let's step into line and follow God's orders to "cleanse the camp of wickedness"..... "praying every day" while at the same time not following God's orders is in itself choosing error.... and thus is something other than genuine prayer.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 2 2007, 01:20 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> the statement doesn't claifiy "Intentional or unintentional". But unless we are connected, things will > happen for the wrong. John 15- I am the Vine ye are the branch.....

>
> This is all soooo sad to me.
>
> CJO

he statement is part of a longer piece which is addressed to the question of human infallibility... oesn't exist..... and of how to relate to leaders who make mistakes. It does NOT address the question f how to relate to leaders who deliberately choose sinful ways.... and cover up their own sins and hose of selected others..... rather than admitting their faults, repenting, making restitution, and aking the just penalties for their sins.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 01:30 PM

CJO, do you find anything wrong with this rephrasing of your statement...

> "But no matter how high a position a man may hold, it is no reason that he should be looked upon as incapable of making intentional, calculated mistakes."

here is something wrong with any mistake. Some mistakes are insignifigant, and can easily be verlooked and forgiven as you're suggesting. Others, by their very nature, require exposure, public iliberation, and consequence.

gree?

Posted by: erik Mar 2 2007, 02:01 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 10:30 AM)
>
> I just came across this statement and I think that it applies to this whole senario.
> And I ponder on it for myself as well. This shows how much staying connected with Jesus is so important.
>
> "One of the great troubles with us has been that we have looked upon men as infallible. But no matter how high a position a man may hold, it is no reason that he should be looked upon as incapable of making mistakes. The Lord may have given him a work to do, but unless Christ abides with him continually, unless he abides in Christ without a moment's separation, he will make mistakes and fall into error. RH 3-25-1890
>
> Praying every day that God will work out all to His Glory,
>
> CJO

JO,

ither you cut this quote danny is now in error, and chosen to stay in error, so he needs to be remove ne way or the other until such time that he repents or is found to with out guilt.

your quote might go towards understand who danny came to fall, but then again i think most of us if we are honsent about it know how danny fell, the same way we all do, at some point he took his eyes off of Jesus and look around. The sad part is he appears to not have stopped looking around yet.

I truly hope it does not require him to stare at the mud up to his nose before he comes to his senses.

ERik

Posted by: CJO Mar 2 2007, 03:06 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 2 2007, 02:08 PM)
>
> Interesting that you have been with us since August of 2004.... yet you are repeating this same tired old refrain.....
>
> As for "falling into error" How about CHOOSING error.... choosing unfairness... choosing manipulation of others..... choosing power and control.... choosing to misappropriate funds.... and a whole list of other errant choices.... all the whole claiming exemption from guilt because of some imagined "anointing" from the Lord?
>
> Let's step into line and follow God's orders to "cleanse the camp of wickedness"..... "praying every day" while at the same time not following God's orders is in itself choosing error.... and thus is something other than genuine prayer.

I only posted this quote from the standpoint of watching many say that because your fruits are right, (Depends on what fruits) then you must be called of God and can do no wrong. I'm sure you all know of the many who come on here and say that Because 3ABN is doing such good things, how can all these things be right that are posted on here.

I am totally for cleansing the camp. My heart aches that there is all of this in the name of Adventism. I want the camp cleansed as much as you do. I'm sorry if you took my statements wrong in my original quote.

As for me being on here since Aug. 2004... Perhaps we have all learned alot since our original posts.... It takes time to put the pieces together...

There are alot of hurting people out there because of this fiasco. I pray for healing for all who are concerned with it.

In Christian love,
CJO

Posted by: watchbird Mar 2 2007, 03:36 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 04:06 PM)
>
> I only posted this quote from the standpoint of watching many say that because your fruits are right, (Depends on what fruits) then you must be called of God and can do no wrong. I'm sure you all know of the many who come on here and say that Because 3ABN is doing such good things, how can all these things be right that are posted on here.

> I am totally for cleansing the camp. My heart aches that there is all of this in the name of Adventism. I want the camp cleansed as much as you do. I'm sorry if you took my statements wrong in my original quote.
>
> As for me being on here since Aug. 2004... Perhaps we have all learned alot since our original posts.... It takes time to put the pieces together...
>
> There are alot of hurting people out there because of this fiasco. I pray for healing for all who are concerned with it.
>
> In Christian love,
> CJO

hank you for clarifying. With so many on here throwing such quotes at those of us who are appealing or the camp to be cleansed, I am sure you can understand our concern when an ambiguous post like his is made.

hank you for joining us in our desire to have the camp cleansed... thoroughly cleansed.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 11:30 AM) ☐
>
> I just came across this statement and I think that it applies to this whole senario.
> And I ponder on it for myself as well. This shows how much staying connected with Jesus is so important.
>
> "One of the great troubles with us has been that we have looked upon men as infallible. But no matter how high a position a man may hold, it is no reason that he should be looked upon as incapable of making mistakes. The Lord may have given him a work to do, but unless Christ abides with him continually, unless he abides in Christ without a moment's separation, he will make mistakes and fall into error. RH 3-25-1890
>
> Praying every day that God will work out all to His Glory,
>
> CJO

JO,
hank you for starting this topic. If one reads the entire article by EGW, one finds wonderful insights nto our Lord's desire for us to know truth for ourselves. Here is the link for those who would like to ead this nine paragaph article.

ttp://egwdatabase.whiteestate.org/nxt/gateway.dll?f=templates$fn=default.htm$vid=default can see how you might personally apply parts of this to the situation at 3abn. That some there have eparated themselves from Christ at times seems to be what has happened, for Christ would never orsake or rebuke a young person who had been abused, even by one of His own. But I believe the arger message of the article is to study to show ourselves approved - to know truth by our own iligent study of the scriptures.

B

Posted by: inga Mar 2 2007, 04:34 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 04:06 PM)
>
> I only posted this quote from the standpoint of watching many say that because your fruits are right, (Depends on what fruits) then you must be called of God and can do no wrong. I'm sure you all know of the many who come on here and say that Because 3ABN is doing such good things, how can all these things be right that are posted on here.
>
> I am totally for cleansing the camp. My heart aches that there is all of this in the name of Adventism. I want the camp cleansed as much as you do. I'm sorry if you took my statements wrong in my original quote.
>
> As for me being on here since Aug. 2004... Perhaps we have all learned alot since our original posts.... It takes time to put the pieces together...
>
> There are alot of hurting people out there because of this fiasco. I pray for healing for all who are concerned with it.
>
> In Christian love,
> CJO

Thanks for your contribution, CJO, and this explanation. You're right on.

It seems that some folks on this board are battle-weary, being rather used to Danny supporters coming on here and using EGW quotes to justify his unconscionable actions.

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 2 2007, 08:19 PM

> QUOTE(CJO @ Mar 2 2007, 03:06 PM)
>
> I am totally for cleansing the camp. My heart aches that there is all of this in the name of Adventism. I want the camp cleansed as much as you do. I'm sorry if you took my statements wrong in my original quote.

I so agree with you, CJO. This all makes my heart hurt. I'm sure there are tears in heaven.

Happy Sabbath to you!!

Snoopy

Posted by: vanburton Mar 2 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Mar 2 2007, 08:19 PM)
>
> I so agree with you, CJO. This all makes my heart hurt. I'm sure there are tears in heaven.
>
> Happy Sabbath to you!!
>
> Snoopy

No doubt the church (SDA) needs to be purged. Maybe some of the tears should be those of joy knowing that God is in control and allowing things to work out for His purpose.

"To hate and reprove sin, and at the same time to show pity and tenderness for the sinner, is a difficult attainment" AA 503 (read also pages 504-505)

"I pity the fool!" comes to the harsh part of my mind. Its the tenderness part that is sometimes in short supply.

Thank you for reminding me of the tender side, part of the fruit of the Spirit.

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 2 2007, 10:13 PM

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Mar 2 2007, 09:05 PM)
>
> No doubt the church (SDA) needs to be purged. Maybe some of the tears should be those of joy knowing that God is in control and allowing things to work out for His purpose.
>
> "To hate and reprove sin, and at the same time to show pity and tenderness for the sinner, is a difficult attainment" AA 503 (read also pages 504-505)
>
> "I pity the fool!" comes to the harsh part of my mind. Its the tenderness part that is sometimes in short supply.
>
> Thank you for reminding me of the tender side, part of the fruit of the Spirit.

And thank you, vanburton, for pointing out "the tears should be those of joy knowing that God is in control"!! You are SO right.

In His Love,
Snoopy

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:10 AM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Mar 3 2007, 06:13 AM)
>
> And thank you, vanburton, for pointing out "the tears should be those of joy knowing that God is in control"!! You are SO right.

> In His Love,
> Snoopy

How beautiful when you snoop around for things that are true and lasting.

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 5 2007, 01:50 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 05:10 AM)
>
> How beautiful when you snoop around for things that are true and lasting.

55

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Corporate "worship" At 3abn

Posted by: sister Feb 7 2007, 08:21 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 7 2007, 08:18 AM) ☐
>
> Don't worry, I believe we will see many more people posting on this forum. After corporate "worship" yesterday, the station was buzzing.

I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.

Sister

Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!

"Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

Posted by: Grace Feb 7 2007, 08:34 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 03:21 PM)
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
>
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.
>
> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

Thanks for the information, Sister! I find that very revealing in many aspects, especially of the true spirit of some people...

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 08:42 AM

stupid is and stupid does..... -Mama Gump-

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 7 2007, 08:42 AM

blc

hmm...there's a lot of hot air blowing in Thompsonville...

The wagons are circling... now I'll sit back and wait for the spin...y'all know it's forthcoming, right?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 09:09 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 08:21 AM)
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
>
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after > Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

>
> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

eja vu. Kinds reminds me of another "worship service" several years back. See this link:

ttp://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-ethical-allegations-duane-clem.htm t's amazing how history repeats itself.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 7 2007, 09:35 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 10:09 AM)
>
> Deja vu. Kinds reminds me of another "worship service" several years back. See this link:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-ethical-allegations-duane-clem.htm
>
> It's amazing how history repeats itself.

nd I'm sure this has repeated itself many times over.

hank you Duane for sharing this with us... I do hope everyone reading here will read your side of the tory that led to your firing. And I hope that this will encourage others who have lived through this ame kind of "worship experience" to come forward with their stories.... either here where they can ave their choice of doing so anonymously or over their signature, or by sharing with one of the esearchers who will pass their stories on to the rest of us.

think your experience is especially significant in view of how the Sabbath is theoretically held up by abn. I'm wondering if there are those who can help us know whether this kind of double standard is till being practiced currently this overtly at 3abn.

Posted by: Grace Feb 7 2007, 09:35 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> Deja vu. Kinds reminds me of another "worship service" several years back. See this link:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-ethical-allegations-duane-clem.htm

> It's amazing how history repeats itself.

hank you, Duane. I followed the link. I had no idea. That was wrong! As an SDA, I'm ashamed of vhat some of my fellow believers have been doing. Shame on them! I pray that truth will prevail and hat justice will be done.

lessings!

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 06:42 AM)
>
> stupid is and stupid does..... -Mama Gump-

men

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 10:00 AM

Dan's spirit has been revealed on many occasions -- some of them very public. But it's so very sad that others are choosing to go down with him, even using prayer as a means of furthering Dan's agenda. It seems to me that such prayers are slanderous towards God Himself by what implying that God would act in concert with Dan & John in their agenda.

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 09:21 AM)
>
> Sister
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

That last statement -- that "Linda's team" is "always one step ahead" is revealing and a bit amusing. Considering that the folks representing Dan here are claiming that most if not all of the information must come from Linda herself, I wonder how they figure Linda is so omniscient and so smart??

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 10:50 AM

Sister
[size=4][b]Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!

"Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

[/color]Sister if you are going to tell something at least be accurate instead of putting your spin on it. The truth is, Danny did not say 3abn was going after anyone that supports Linda. Ludicrous. The lawsuit is for those that have made slanderous and liable statements that are not true and there have been many. There are laws against defaming a persons character and/or defaming an organization with lies that can be proven that they are lies. I have said repeatedly that they can prove their innocence in many of the accusations that have been slung on this forum. They didn't choose to do it here. Because they didn't have to prove anything on this forum, you all took that as guilt beyond a shadow of a doubt. That was a mistake. 3abn has every right to do what they are doing.
Of course they have known for a long time that someone gives Linda information. What spin that information takes by the time it comes out is a different story.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 11:27 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 08:50 AM)
>
> Sister
> [size=4][b]Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.
>
> [/color]Sister if you are going to tell something at least be accurate instead of putting your spin on it. The truth is, Danny did not say 3abn was going after anyone that supports Linda. Ludicrous. The lawsuit is for those that have made slanderous and liable statements that are not true and there > have been many. There are laws against defaming a persons character and/or defaming an organization with lies that can be proven that they are lies. I have said repeatedly that they can prove their innocence in many of the accusations that have been slung on this forum. They didn't choose to do it here. Because they didn't have to prove anything on this forum, you all took that as guilt beyond a shadow of a doubt. That was a mistake. 3abn has every right to do what they are doing.

> Of course they have known for a long time that someone gives Linda information. What spin that information takes by the time it comes out is a different story.

ystander,

agree that 3abn did not have to proof anything that was wrong on this or any other site wrong.

ut the wise and i would Christian thing to do would to do that. Instead to me 3Abn is taking a very angerous course, what happens if they get in to court and the judge rules against them, and anyone hat looks around the American justice system knows that wrong things get ruled right in this country ll the time(for example the 1973 woe vs. wade ruling has an very harsh example of what i mean) o i guess that danny must a 1000% sure that he is right before taking such a risk, when he could ave defused at least the marriage issues three years go by being more biblical in his approach.

rik

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:28 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:50 AM)
>
> 3abn has every right to do what they are doing.
> Of course they have known for a long time that someone gives Linda information. What spin that information takes by the time it comes out is a different story.[/color] nteresting.

thought they "knew" that Linda gave information to this forum. I also understand that Dan new/knows that Sister is Linda.

ow you say they "knew" that someone gives Linda information.

sn

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 7 2007, 11:37 AM

Or it could all be just a bluff by Danny to make people back down and shut up, a desperate attempt at silencing the critics before it really blows up in his face.

Richard

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 12:27 PM)
>
> bystander,
>
> i agree that 3abn did not have to proof anything that was wrong on this or any other site wrong.
>
> But the wise and i would Christian thing to do would to do that. Instead to me 3Abn is taking a very dangerous course, what happens if they get in to court and the judge rules against them, and anyone that looks around the American justice system knows that wrong things get ruled right in this country all the time(for example the 1973 woe vs. wade ruling has an very harsh example of what i mean)
>
> So i guess that danny must a 1000% sure that he is right before taking such a risk, when he could have defused at least the marriage issues three years go by being more biblical in his approach.
>
> Erik

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 7 2007, 11:48 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:50 AM)
>
> Sister if you are going to tell something at least be accurate instead of putting your spin on it. The truth is, Danny did not say 3abn was going after anyone that supports Linda. Ludicrous. The lawsuit is for those that have made slanderous and liable statements that are not true and there have been many. There are laws against defaming a persons character and/or defaming an organization with lies that can be proven that they are lies. I have said repeatedly that they can prove their innocence in many of the accusations that have been slung on this forum. They didn't choose to do it here. Because they didn't have to prove anything on this forum, you all took that as guilt beyond a shadow of a doubt. That was a mistake. 3abn has every right to do what they are doing.
> Of course they have known for a long time that someone gives Linda information. What spin that information takes by the time it comes out is a different story.[/color]

Let the spin begin...

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 12:37 PM)
>
> Or it could all be just a bluff by Danny to make people back down and shut up, a desperate attempt at silencing the critics before it really blows up in his face.
>
> Richard

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 11:49 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 12:37 PM)
>
> Or it could all be just a bluff by Danny to make people back down and shut up, a desperate attempt at silencing the critics before it really blows up in his face.
>
> Richard

True it could be just a big bluff. Still, employees who may live on 3ban property, and use pc's have access only through that company server may want to go off campus to be sure their information is not being "viewed" for use against them. Can't hurt to be safe rather than sorry.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 11:53 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 11:27 AM)
>
> bystander,
>
> i agree that 3abn did not have to proof anything that was wrong on this or any other site wrong.
>
> But the wise and i would Christian thing to do would to do that. Instead to me 3Abn is taking a very dangerous course, what happens if they get in to court and the judge rules against them, and anyone that looks around the American justice system knows that wrong things get ruled right in this country all the time(for example the 1973 woe vs. wade ruling has an very harsh example of what i mean)
>
> So i guess that danny must a 1000% sure that he is right before taking such a risk, when he could have defused at least the marriage issues three years go by being more biblical in his approach.
>
> Erik

Erik first let me add to my earlier post on the worship subject. I was told there were lots and lots of people at worship. I was also told that at no time did Danny make the statement that he was "going after Linda and Linda's supporters. Whoever said that was drawing his/her own conclusion and putting words in someones mouth. A good example of how most of the accusations have materialized.
Eric you said Danny must be 1000% sure that he/3abn is right. That is a great statement. Most of the people on this forum must think he is stupid. They accuse him of all these atrocities and then say how dumb he is to take it to court because 3abn will be exposed. Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail. Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide? Of course not. If you all would just apply a little common sense to some of these allegations you would see how far off base you really are. You can come to only one conclusion: They have already shown they are willing to go to court by filing the lawsuit. They obviously have nothing to hide.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 11:56 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 7 2007, 12:37 PM)
>
> Or it could all be just a bluff by Danny to make people back down and shut up, a desperate attempt at silencing the critics before it really blows up in his face.

It's called intimidation.

Considering that most posts on this board are anonymous, he would have a really difficult time making anything stick to any real person. What I suspect, though, is that he will attempt to serve Linda, who would then have to defend herself -- even if she had never visited this or any other site, which her supporters claim (and I don't doubt them).

The charges are ridiculous, but defense costs money. That is how the wealthy often squelch opposition. They can intimidate, and they can simply wear out the opposition by bringing unfounded lawsuits.

Calvin, as owner of a chat board, cannot be demonstrated to have liability, as he apparently understands. Others are protected by freedom of speech.

As I said, the financial factor can be significant. Of course, it's possible to counter-sue to recover legal costs for defense against frivolous charges, and I'm sure that unfounded charges based on board postings would be legally "frivolous." (That's my common sense speaking up; I am not a lawyer or in any way connected to the legal profession.)

Oh, by the way, Dan, if you want to serve me, please warn the person serving the papers that our driveway is very steep and slippery.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 11:58 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 10:00 AM)
>
> Dan's spirit has been revealed on many occasions -- some of them very public. But it's so very sad that others are choosing to go down with him, even using prayer as a means of furthering Dan's agenda. It seems to me that such prayers are slanderous towards God Himself by what implying that God would act in concert with Dan & John in their agenda.
> That last statement -- that "Linda's team" is "always one step ahead" is revealing and a bit amusing.

It is revealing but not so amusing. No employer wants to employee a traitor in their company. 3ABN has known for some time that they have had workers that give information to Linda or her friends. You don't have to be smart or everywhere at once when you have eyes and ears that do the work for you.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:58 AM)

> It is revealing but not so amusing. No employer wants to employee a traitor in their company. 3ABN has known for some time that they have had workers that give information to Linda or her friends. You don't have to be smart or everywhere at once when you have eyes and ears that do the work for you.

spoken like the Defender of Danny that you are.... and now we know your purpose here... Danny must have figured out that he needs eyes and ears here.... tell him we said hi....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 12:06 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:58 PM)
>
> It is revealing but not so amusing. No employer wants to employee a traitor in their company. 3ABN has known for some time that they have had workers that give information to Linda or her friends. You don't have to be smart or everywhere at once when you have eyes and ears that do the work for you.

Employees who may have a higher moral standard does not make one a traitor Any person who would fire someone for not sharing the same opinion as them should not have any authority over others. To fire someone because they spoke their mind in relation to a matter that does not have ANY affect on their production at work is foolish in the extreme. Such behavior is petty and reprehensible.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 12:16 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 11:56 AM)
>
> It's called intimidation.
>
> Considering that most posts on this board are anonymous, he would have a really difficult time making anything stick to any real person. What I suspect, though, is that he will attempt to serve Linda, who would then have to defend herself -- even if she had never visited this or any other site, which her supporters claim (and I don't doubt them).
>
> The charges are ridiculous, but defense costs money. That is how the wealthy often squelch opposition. They can intimidate, and they can simply wear out the opposition by bringing unfounded lawsuits.

Do you actually think that the board who would have to vote to bring charges or not..would have done so without getting all of the legal counsel they had available and would, proceed or not according to that council?...Unbelievable...You have a group of smart, with it, business people that know how to deal with these kind of situations. It is amazing that the people here know more than they and their lawyers. How do you think a world wide ministry could survive if all the board and the administration just jumped haphazardly into their decisions. AGain, I say, If they had all these things to hide, as has been alleged here, they wouldn't be doing this.
As far as financial backing, Gailon Joy tells that "linda's team" has a wealthy backer, so the statement that Linda would have to defend herself is a moot point.

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 7 2007, 12:06 PM)
>
> Employees who may have a higher moral standard does not make one a traitor Any person who would fire someone for not sharing the same opinion as them should not have any authority over others. To fire someone because they spoke their mind in relation to a matter that does not have ANY affect on their production at work is foolish in the extreme. Such behavior is petty and reprehensible.

I disagree 100%. Having a difference of opinion and stabbing your employers in the back by carrying many unsubstantiated tales are two different things. I would wager if you owned a business that you would not continue to employ such an employee that was hurting your business by his back stabbing. No organization ministry or business would. It is ridiculous to think otherwise.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 12:05 PM)
>
> spoken like the Defender of Danny that you are.... and now we know your purpose here... Danny must have figured out that he needs eyes and ears here.... tell him we said hi....

Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:53 AM)
>
> Erik first let me add to my earlier post on the worship subject. I was told there were lots and lots of people at worship. I was also told that at no time did Danny make the statement that he was "going after Linda and Linda's supporters. Whoever said that was drawing his/her own conclusion and putting words in someones mouth. A good example of how most of the accusations have materialized.
> Eric you said Danny must be 1000% sure that he/3abn is right. That is a great statement. Most of the people on this forum must think he is stupid. They accuse him of all these atrocities and then say how dumb he is to take it to court because 3abn will be exposed. Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail. Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide? Of course not. If you all would just apply a little common sense to some of these allegations you would see how far off base you really are. You can come to only one conclusion: They have already shown they are willing to go to court by filing the lawsuit. They obviously have nothing to hide.

Bystander,

In fairness to the The 3 abn Board they could be snowballed, history is full of leaders who lead their church's, company's and even countries down the wrong path. I will refrain for making examples so people do think that i am saying danny is exactly like any example that would come to mind.

Also bystander a few years back i went to class that cost many thousands of dollars, one days discussion was on lawsuits, and the part that I remember the most is when the teacher said"Lawsuits are a business tool learn how to use them" so it doe snot impress me when i hear a Christian company is using world methods to fix their problems, i believe EGW has a ton of suggestions about not using the worlds methods to do God's work.

Erik

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 12:19 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:16 PM) ☐
>
> Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.

Why don't they come here and set the record straight, then? Again I say, if someone was spreading false allegations against someone I loved, I would come to their defense.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:16 PM) ☐
>
> Do you actually think that the board who would have to vote to bring charges or not..would have done so without getting all of the legal counsel they had available and would, proceed or not according to that council?...Unbelievable...You have a group of smart, with it, business people that know how to deal with these kind of situations. It is amazing that the people here know more than they and their lawyers. How do you think a world wide ministry could survive if all the board and the administration just jumped haphazardly into their decisions. AGain, I say, If they had all these things to hide, as has been alleged here, they wouldn't be doing this.
> As far as financial backing, Gailon Joy tells that "linda's team" has a wealthy backer, so the statement that Linda would have to defend herself is a moot point.
> I disagree 100%. Having a difference of opinion and stabbing your employers in the back by carrying many unsubstantiated tales are two different things. I would wager if you owned a business that you would not continue to employ such an employee that was hurting your business by his back stabbing. No organization ministry or business would. It is ridiculous to think otherwise.
> Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.

Are these your own words or did Danny tell you to tell us that?

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 12:24 PM

Bystander qoute

Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.

Bystander,

if that is true then hundreds of people must think it is a big lie about tommy and his messing around.

which means that hundreds of people are lacking a full picture.

I would also add that jim jones got hundreds of people to drink poisoned, so i am not sure what hunderds of people proves.

secondly have all those hunderd of people read the letters from the victims and the mothers of victims, i am sure they are outraged but it might be at 3abn.

Erik

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 12:27 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:53 PM) ☐
>
> You can come to only one conclusion: They have already shown they are willing to go to court by filing the lawsuit. They obviously have nothing to hide.

That's hardly the only conclusion.

Savvy business men know that, generally, the one with the most money wins -- not the one with the best case. (You can all probably remember some well publicized cases to demonstrate that point.) Usually those with less money can simply be bankrupted by having to defend themselves.

It is also possible that Dan is just what he appears to be to us and that he has his board members deceived. (I know from experiences in my own family that certain psychopathic personalities can charm even family members to turn against their own. Lies can be every bit as persuasive as truth.)

If they have nothing to hide, why did they not agree to the full-disclosure terms of Linda's team when ASI was supposed to investigate the issues? Remember that Danny's team wanted no disclosure except the "conclusion" on a very limited subject. Linda's team wanted full disclosure on all issues, to be filed at all Adventist college libraries.

So, who has something to hide, and who doesn't?

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 12:33 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:53 AM)
>
> Erik first let me add to my earlier post on the worship subject. I was told there were lots and lots of people at worship. I was also told that at no time did Danny make the statement that he was "going after Linda and Linda's supporters. Whoever said that was drawing his/her own conclusion and putting words in someones mouth. A good example of how most of the accusations have materialized.
> Eric you said Danny must be 1000% sure that he/3abn is right. That is a great statement. Most of the people on this forum must think he is stupid. They accuse him of all these atrocities and then say how dumb he is to take it to court because 3abn will be exposed. Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail. Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide? Of course not. If you all would just apply a little common sense to some of these allegations you would see how far off base you really are. You can come to only one conclusion: They have already shown they are willing to go to court by filing the lawsuit. They obviously have nothing to hide.

Thank you Bystander. As I read through all the post, its overwhelming, I almost start to believe this stuff as fact, then there are post through the threads that bring me back to reality. Great Point -Know one brings on court when they are in the wrong. To lie in court could have a great cost - freedom for one.
GP

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 01:16 PM)
>
> As far as financial backing, Gailon Joy tells that "linda's team" has a wealthy backer, so the statement that Linda would have to defend herself is a moot point.

H'mm ... I must have missed that. When/where did he say that? Have you been corresponding with him privately?

Who is there with the same financial resources as the McNeilus family that could be backing Linda's team?

Just curious ...

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 12:37 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> Thank you Bystander. As I read through all the post, its overwhelming, I almost start to believe this stuff as fact, then there are post through the threads that bring me back to reality. Great Point -Know one brings on court when they are in the wrong. To lie in court could have a great cost - freedom for one.
> GP

more eyes and ears of the great one? whose talking you or someone through you?

Posted by: Lee Feb 7 2007, 12:38 PM

Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.

Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!

Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 12:39 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> Thank you Bystander. As I read through all the post, its overwhelming, I almost start to believe this stuff as fact, then there are post through the threads that bring me back to reality. Great Point -Know one brings on court when they are in the wrong. To lie in court could have a great cost - freedom for one.
> GP

You obviously know NOTHING about the court system.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 12:41 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 12:38 PM)
>
> Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.
>
> Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
> And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!
>
> Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

Lee as you haven't added much to the discussions.... you can leave anytime... just click that little X in the upper right hand corner...

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 12:42 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 12:38 PM)
>
> Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.
>
> Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
> And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!
>
> Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

No one has been banned for supporting Danny. They were banned for character assassination and insinuations.

Are you saying these go hand in hand?

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 7 2007, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 7 2007, 01:49 PM)
>
> True it could be just a big bluff. Still, employees who may live on 3ban property, and use pc's have access only through that company server may want to go off campus to be sure their information is not being "viewed" for use against them. Can't hurt to be safe rather than sorry.

You mean "Big Brother" may be watching?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight."...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.
>
> Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
> And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!

> Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

Hmmm.

why·

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 7 2007, 12:47 PM)
>
> Hmmm.

noticed that too.... why would we think that someone here defending Danny would be his lover... I avent heard that allegation...... yet....

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 12:58 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:16 AM)
>
> Do you actually think that the board who would have to vote to bring charges or not..would have done so without getting all of the legal counsel they had available and would, proceed or not according to that council?...Unbelievable...You have a group of smart, with it, business people that know how to deal with these kind of situations. It is amazing that the people here know more than they and their lawyers. How do you think a world wide ministry could survive if all the board and the administration just jumped haphazardly into their decisions. AGain, I say, If they had all these things to hide, as has been alleged here, they wouldn't be doing this.
>
> Bush put a spin on the war in Iraq that most would not buy today. In fact he would not have the votes to go to war. It was all in the presentation........don't act like you don't know that is how it is done.
>
> As far as financial backing, Gailon Joy tells that "linda's team" has a wealthy backer, so the statement that Linda would have to defend herself is a moot point.
>
> I told wwjd, now I am telling you....aint' nothing worse than a messy man. Stand on your own. trying to sully(sp) GJ rep/divide and conquer stuff is beneath you both. Let it go! IWO, just the facts, gentlemen.
>
> I disagree 100%. Having a difference of opinion and stabbing your employers in the back by carrying many unsubstantiated tales are two different things. I would wager if you owned a business that you would not continue to employ such an employee that was hurting your business by his back stabbing. No organization ministry or business would. It is ridiculous to think otherwise.
>
> Whitsle blowers are what they are called, most currently, and I am sure Enron, and everyone else whose employees had enough of their evil ways and were brave enough to stand up, considered these people as traitors. Enron and the rest of them were not betrayed, they were caught in their > mess, same thing here. Those who call the souls who stand up for what is right as traitors are generally apart or are benefitiing in some way from the mess. It is that simple. Once again they are only calling Danny to answer to the many inconsistencies in his life(as a self professed public SDA christian leader) and ministry. That is not persecution or betrayal but a call to accountability

>
> Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.
>
> All they have to do is not come here....boycott this site....all of that. Public figures must understand that all will not like them, and many who don't will be very vocal about it. Simple as that Ministers and ministries are nto exempt. SDAs join wholeheartedly with those who call thelikes of Jakes, Myeyrs, Olsteen, Long, etc. propsperity preachers and question their more than successful lifestyles, and pick apart every single word and deed. Danny is not exempt by any means. The ones I mentioned dont' even have half as much going on as Danny does. We are going to start with the fact that none has yet to kick their spouse to the curb for a younger model, under questionable circumstances. IOW, they need to get over it!

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:53 AM) ☐
>
> Erik first let me add to my earlier post on the worship subject. I was told there were lots and lots of people at worship. I was also told that at no time did Danny make the statement that he was "going after Linda and Linda's supporters. Whoever said that was drawing his/her own conclusion and putting words in someones mouth. A good example of how most of the accusations have materialized.
> Eric you said Danny must be 1000% sure that he/3abn is right. That is a great statement. Most of the people on this forum must think he is stupid. They accuse him of all these atrocities and then say how dumb he is to take it to court because 3abn will be exposed. Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail. Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide? Of course not. If you all would just apply a little common sense to some of these allegations you would see how far off base you really are. You can come to only one conclusion: They have already shown they are willing to go to court by filing the lawsuit. They obviously have nothing to hide.

ystander....it's very interesting how you don't say things....
ls can say the same thing in several ways - or example, I can say:

'm gong to the store for something here is something at the store I need now vonder if they have this at the store when I get there omeone listening would hear "they are going to the store" and relay the BIG IDEA that I am going to he store for something I need now.

ls said as much in this meeting...and out of 100 or more people lets say, they can describe what he aid in many ways, using many terms, but he conveyed THE BIG IDEA very clearly. No one drew "their own conclusions" as you say unless it was said in a way that was clearly meant and implied to SCARE people, and anyone that knows Dan, KNOWS DAN. There is no confusion. I have no doubt he left anyone wondering just what he meant. So save the spin.

secondly, when you say "Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail", you are so right. He does, which is why he has avoided it at all COSTS over the years. You know you can only bluff for so long, then it gets called. It's being called, so he better brace himself, it's for real this time.

thirdly, when you say "Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide?" IN A WORD, Y E S. They will willingly do it because they have submitted themselves to do what he tells them. That has been shown over and over.

Apply a little common sense? Yes, that should go both ways. You assume because they are willing to go to court they have nothing to hide....that is a lie. Because they make a threat does not mean they are willing to go. Because they file charges, does not mean they are willing to go. There is nothing obvious about it. This does not mean they have nothing to hide. But, on the other hand, when threats are made to a party, and that party says bring it on, I think that should tell you something very clearly - THEY are not afraid to go. Better wonder why. That is obvious. If I were a betting person, I would not put my money on Dan.

And for once get this straight - NO ONE WANTS TO SEE 3ABN GO AWAY! So, ds and the rest, stop putting them together as if they are one in the same - THEY ARE NOT. You do this just to keep people distracted from the real "problem".

One other thing....when you say "As far as financial backing, Gailon Joy tells that "linda's team" has a wealthy backer", SHOW ME (US) WHERE GAILON HAS SAID THIS??? I always ask you to prove things to me, but you never do...will it be the same this time too?? Produce this statement from Gailon. Did you make it up?? or are you repeating malicious gossip from unsubstantiated and unreliable sources?? So, I'm waiting....
If you are not ds, you are most certainly his twin.

I give you a B for effort...and an F for success. But, JMO, of course.

Posted by: Chez Feb 7 2007, 01:04 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 08:21 AM)
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he > is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

>
> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

HIS IS UNGODLY!!! This reminds me of Jim Jones and David Koresh. All you conference officials, i.e., ocal, union, division, and general, it is time for you to stand up and not be passive and "bystanders" o this evil. In the area of bullying, "bystanders" are considered co-conspirators of bullying. Therefore, f we keep silent about these wrongful actions, we are supporting Danny Shelton and his evil acts. We re culpable!! THEREFORE, WE MUST STAND UP FOR JESUS!!!

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 01:16 PM

> UOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:50 AM)
>
> The truth is, Danny did not say 3abn was going after anyone that supports Linda.

ere you speak as if you were there to hear what Danny stated for yourself....

> UOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 12:53 PM)
>
> Erik first let me add to my earlier post on the worship subject. I was told there were lots and lots of people at worship. I was also told that at no time did Danny make the statement that he was "going after Linda and Linda's supporters.

ere you admit you were not... and are only going by what you've been told.

ot having been there to hear what Danny did say or did not say first hand, how do you know?

ow do you know the version of events you were told, by your own admission, is correct and the version posted by one who was there is not?

Expliquez, s'il vous plait... merci beaucoup.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 01:19 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> H'mm ... I must have missed that. When/where did he say that? Have you been corresponding with him privately?
>
> Who is there with the same financial resources as the McNeilus family that could be backing Linda's team?
>
> Just curious ...

Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers. I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
GP

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 01:19 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 11:38 AM)
>
> Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.
>
> Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
> And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!
>
> Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

I've been out sick so I guess I missed this. Who are the conference workers that have been banned? Are you saying that watchbird sneered in the face of a conference president? Is the conference president one that was banned?

Far as I have seen, only those who break the rules that Calvin set up have been banned. Isn't this correct Kaiser Schlabotnick, Bystander, wwjd, Aletheia, and so on?

PB

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:21 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 7 2007, 01:19 PM)
>
> I've been out sick so I guess I missed this.

I hope you have a note from your mommy. Otherwise, you get a demerit.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 01:26 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 11:19 AM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers. I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
> GP

oh brother.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:19 PM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has > received from various givers.

Try reading the statement again... which is in reference to Mr. Joy, not Mrs. Shelton.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:28 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> oh brother.

xactly. That's why I ignored it. More of the same bilge we've already heard.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 01:29 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:19 PM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers. I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
> GP

Vhat? Huh?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 12:17 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> In fairness to the The 3 abn Board they could be snowballed, history is full of leaders who lead their church's, company's and even countries down the wrong path. I will refrain for making examples so people do think that i am saying danny is exactly like any example that would come to mind.
>
> Also bystander a few years back i went to class that cost many thousands of dollars, one days discussion was on lawsuits, and the part that I remember the most is when the teacher said"Lawsuits are a business tool learn how to use them" so it doe snot impress me when i hear a > Christian company is using world methods to fix their problems, i believe EGW has a ton of suggestions about not using the worlds methods to do God's work.

>
> Erik

es she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads he gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:32 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 01:30 PM)
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

ho's attacking the ministry?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 01:33 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 7 2007, 12:21 PM)
>
> I hope you have a note from your mommy. Otherwise, you get a demerit.

ope, my dog ate it...

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 01:33 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 7 2007, 01:04 PM)
>
> THIS IS UNGODLY!!! This reminds me of Jim Jones and David Koresh. All you conference officials, i.e., local, union, division, and general, it is time for you to stand up and not be passive and "bystanders" to this evil. In the area of bullying, "bystanders" are considered co-conspirators of bullying. Therefore, if we keep silent about these wrongful actions, we are supporting Danny Shelton and his evil acts. We are culpable!! THEREFORE, WE MUST STAND UP FOR JESUS!!!

BSOLUTLY THIS HAS ALL GOT TO STOP!
ts amazing how one cries out for justice as they are screaming with a problem as well.
esus have MERCY on all!
ustice will find all "IN BLAZES"

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 7 2007, 01:35 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 01:33 PM)
>
> ABSOLUTLY THIS HAS ALL GOT TO STOP!
> Its amazing how one cries out for justice as they are screaming with a problem as well.
> Jesus have MERCY on all!
> Justice will find all "IN BLAZES"

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 01:35 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:19 PM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers. I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
> GP

Gosh, golly gee willikers it sounds like the danny apologists are having to reach to the end of the bench and put in their scrubs...

I guess it is in fact hard to find good help these days...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 01:35 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM)
>
> ABSOLUTLY THIS HAS ALL GOT TO STOP!
> Its amazing how one cries out for justice as they are screaming with a problem as well.
> Jesus have MERCY on all!
> Justice will find all "IN BLAZES"

SIGH!!!

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 01:37 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM) ☐
>
> ABSOLUTLY THIS HAS ALL GOT TO STOP!

Lead by example, then... and go away...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 01:33 PM) ☐
>
> Thank you Bystander. As I read through all the post, its overwhelming, I almost start to believe this stuff as fact, then there are post through the threads that bring me back to reality. Great Point -Know one brings on court when they are in the wrong. To lie in court could have a great cost - freedom for one.
> GP

Glenetta, ☒ welcome.gif

You just need to keep on reading. If you've only watched 3ABN on TV, some of the revelations here are sure to sound utterly unbelievable. How could such a godly man do such dastardly deeds? is the question sure to come to mind.

I suggest you go to http://www.save3abn.com/if you want to see some documentation of what's been going on behind the scenes at 3ABN and the kind of behavior Dan Shelton has aided and abetted in his brother, Tommy Shelton, who traveled with him on fundraisers for 3ABN, leading everyone to believe that he is a Seventh-day Adventist.

You appear to have an idealistic concept of the American legal system. All of us wish that were the true picture, I'm sure. The reality is that lawyers and legal suits are business tools used by the rich to suppress their poor opposition. What is right and what is wrong doesn't matter nearly so much as who has the money to pay the best lawyer. If you've wathed the news (either TV or magazines) you've probably seen the evidence that that is true even in murder trials.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 11:30 AM) ☐
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that > spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

\s a respectable leader and member in the church, she would have gotten involved a long time ago to lo something to stop this corruption of ds. Also, she would have known it wasn't WHAT the airwaves)ortrayed to the masses, she would have been smart enough to know it was who was behind the ıirwaves was the problem. She wouldn't have turned the other way just because of what was on the ıirwaves...the ends don't justify the means EVER. At least, this is the EGW I read.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:33 PM) ☐
>
> Thank you Bystander. As I read through all the post, its overwhelming, I almost start to believe this stuff as fact, then there are post through the threads that bring me back to reality. Great Point - Know one brings on court when they are in the wrong. To lie in court could have a great cost - freedom for one.
> GP

3lenetta, prepare for the attack that will come your way. If you have been reading other posts you will ;ee how all of the others that defend 3abn are either ridiculed or kicked off. If we didn't know that hese were false accusations, we would have left a long time ago. Truthfully that is what they would ike. Take all of us off and they can criticize, slander,accuse and whatever else amongst themselves vith no opposition.
'hey think we have all been deceived. I wonder..has it ever entered their minds at all, that they might)e the ones that are being deceived and they don't even realize by who.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 01:30 PM) ☐
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

vwjd I don't know what SOP would say for the age and time we live in, but because the ministry has ıothing to hide, my prayer is that they do not give up and that they endure. The people here are just noving mouths with thoughts, which are unsupported and disconnected. When you read many of the)ost you will sense the jellousy of a thriving ministry, some who maybe are looking to make a free)uck, and others who are bitter because they were dismissed from employment due to bad choices hey made while working there. Just my thoughts and my moving mouth as well.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 01:44 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 01:40 PM) ☐
>
> As a respectable leader and member in the church, she would have gotten involved a long time ago to do something to stop this corruption of ds. Also, she would have known it wasn't WHAT the airwaves portrayed to the masses, she would have been smart enough to know it was who was behind the airwaves was the problem. She wouldn't have turned the other way just because of what was on the airwaves...the ends don't justify the means EVER. At least, this is the EGW I read.

See just another accusation.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:30 PM) ☐
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

wwjd, since you have professed that you are not SDA it is refreshing to hear that you know what EGW says! Perhaps you could search her writings and find out why there are members here who feel the burden to expose what they see as sinful practices that are detrimental to the ministry of 3abn.

While in the past I have seen one or two members here call for the plug to be pulled at 3abn, by far the vast majority of members here ARE NOT attacking the ministry but the sinful practices that are are threatening to destroy it from within.

Do first hand testimonies from victims qualify as "on accusation alone"? I think not!

PB

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 01:47 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 01:42 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd I don't know what SOP would say for the age and time we live in, but because the ministry has nothing to hide, my prayer is that they do not give up and that they endure. The people here are just moving mouths with thoughts, which are unsupported and disconnected. When you read many of the post you will sense the jellousy of a thriving ministry, some who maybe are looking to make a free buck, and others who are bitter because they were dismissed from employment due to bad choices they made while working there. Just my thoughts and my moving mouth as well.

Your mouth shows that your mind has some very good insight. I could not have said it any better.
There is a lot of jealousy, there are disgruntled ex employees, there are several on here that have their own axes to grind and this forum gives them the chance.
Thanks for seeing with clarity

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 01:47 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 01:35 PM) ☐
>
> Gosh, golly gee willikers it sounds like the danny apologists are having to reach to the end of the bench and put in their scrubs...
>
> I guess it is in fact hard to find good help these days...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Oh you big silly I am not the scrubs, they are yet to come, and they will be much more to your confusion. The simple confound the wise haven't you read that.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 01:50 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 11:35 AM) ☐
>
> Gosh, golly gee willikers it sounds like the danny apologists are having to reach to the end of the bench and put in their scrubs...
>
> I guess it is in fact hard to find good help these days...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

☒ rofl ☒ ☒ rofl ☒

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 7 2007, 01:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 01:16 PM) ☐
>
> Must have figured out? That is laughable. I have been told that 3abn has had hundreds of calls from viewers and supporters who are outraged at this site and want something to be done. There is no way that 3abn could have not known what was going on here even if they wanted to.

Although my mother has probably not called, she would if she thought something could be done to shut BlackSda.com down.

But after discussing with me how the abducted and abused boys from Missouri might never get to have a normal life, I brought up the multiple letters being posted at save3abn.com regarding the allegations against TS.

Her response? "Lies, Lies, Lies!! I will never believe one word of it even if it goes to court."

That is not a healthy attitude either and I doubt she is alone. She is so committed to the work of 3ABN that she can only believe the devil is making the people come forward with these allegations.

As you and I have cross posted before, facts are critical and without spin, they hopefully when revealed will lead to truth. But so far I have found many allegations to be hearsay and unsupported. Those allegations that come from first hand knowledge and are consistent with other evidence of similar type are much more persuasive (for example Duane Clem's allegations).

A question of Danny's credibility has been persuasively established more than once through use of email copies and documents.

The jury is still here but opinions have been formed where rebuttal has not been attempted on those points.

nw

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 01:52 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 01:47 PM) ☐
>
> Your mouth shows that your mind has some very good insight. I could not have said it any better. There is a lot of jealousy, there are disgruntled ex employees, there are several on here that have their own axes to grind and this forum gives them the chance.
> Thanks for seeing with clarity

wwjd I was just approach by a Mr. J who is well a bit of a specticle. Of all the things that he could of said he called me a "scrub". So what I am now experiencing is, they will call you names. What a group of intellect we have here. I will be sure an believe NONE of what they say, because well they are clearly speaking with two sides of their mouths.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 01:54 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 7 2007, 01:46 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd, since you have professed that you are not SDA it is refreshing to hear that you know what EGW says! Perhaps you could search her writings and find out why there are members here who feel the burden to expose what they see as sinful practices that are detrimental to the ministry of 3abn.
>
> While in the past I have seen one or two members here call for the plug to be pulled at 3abn, by far the vast majority of members here ARE NOT attacking the ministry but the sinful practices that are are threatening to destroy it from within.
>
> Do first hand testimonies from victims qualify as "on accusation alone"? I think not!

> PB

do know about Ellen white. I have been raised around adventists all my life and have read several of ıer books.
t totally would depend on who the "first hand" testimonies came from. If it is from someone who vould love to see the present administration kicked out because of their own agenda's, their testimony vouldn't count for much. Likewise, people that have had altercations in some form or fashion with ℨabn would not have much credibility either. Many see "detrimental practices" because that is what hey want to see. What they "see" and what is "truth" and can be proven are 2 different things.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 01:54 PM

Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.

All are free to come here and post their side. Now if they come with guns blazing questioning folks chritianity and Adventism, they will get as good as they give. BSDA is neither pro Danny or Linda or visa versa. Obviously individual members have chosen sides, some have not. I have said a few times now that i am nto pro Linda. I don't know anything about Linda except what her now ex husband did to get out of their marriage, and that was wrong. No reflection on her being right or wrong, but holding him accountable in the position of SDA christian leardership he has taken up. i can't make any judgements on Linda's words or actions, mainly because she has not been allowed to speak or act in her own behalf. I can only go on what I see and hear.

Lee, also it goes both ways. Those who come here in defense of Danny believe all those who are asking questions are pro Linda. That is not true. Danny is being asked to answer to his own actions a words, by the people he and his network claiim to represent. He is accountable to those who support his netowrk by their funds or just their viewer ship. Simple. Not persecution, accountability.

Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!

Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

Yeah, tell them to come on, but be ready when they get here. Come with the proof, that can be in the form of personal experiences, not a problem.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 01:54 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 11:47 AM)
>
> Your mouth shows that your mind has some very good insight. I could not have said it any better.
> There is a lot of jealousy, there are disgruntled ex employees, there are several on here that have their own axes to grind and this forum gives them the chance.
> Thanks for seeing with clarity

WWJD, save it you two, or three, or ...whatever it is...can you say "transparancy"??

And, do make sure you get you know, your, ah, wife, husband, relative living with you, roommate or what ever your arrangement is - bystander, to sign back in soon to answer my question. I am still waiting. Or is he/she/they out getting their information like a good soldier? Make sure it's a reliable source.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:01 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 11:30 AM)
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

wwjd,

well in the mouths of many witnesses is the truth confirmed.

at last count i have read at least 6 solid witness agianst tommy, plus EGW would have have recieve form the Lord Jesus Christ the whole truth on this matter, and would have been writting many private letters years ago.

ERik

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 11:54 AM)
>
> I do know about Ellen white. I have been raised around adventists all my life and have read several of her books.
> It totally would depend on who the "first hand" testimonies came from. If it is from someone who would love to see the present administration kicked out because of their own agenda's, their testimony wouldn't count for much. Likewise, people that have had altercations in some form or fashion with 3abn would not have much credibility either. Many see "detrimental practices" because that is what they want to see. What they "see" and what is "truth" and can be proven are 2 different things.

wwjd,

i have no agenda, other the one that have posted previous which has to with protecting the innocent viewers of the 3abn network.

The charges against tommy have moved way based wild disgruntled persons stage, it is time 3abn got a new plan that is more biblical sound in dealing with the mess.

Erik w.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:01 PM

[quote name='Noahswife' date='Feb 7 2007, 01:51 PM' post='176186']
Although my mother has probably not called, she would if she thought something could be done to shut BlackSda.com down.

nw

The trouble that I see here is that when something is rebuttled and shown to be different (just like the statements that Linda was forced to sign her contract without legal counsel) it is then bypassed and usually the next step is to bring up Tommy S. The truth is, had Tommy never worked at 3abn in any capacity, you would still be here, still trying to twist the facts to attack Danny S and 3abn. As bystander pointed out, that most things read here could have their beginning from only one source. That source has turned it around and twisted it tightly, and actually has lied to fit what they need to have happen at the moment. You are all puppets but have no idea who is pulling your string...

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:05 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 01:19 PM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers. I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
> GP

yeah... someone's talking through you... a reflector of other people's thought you are.... the question is who has their hand up your back.... the rap is the same... tiresome.... we have heard it all before.... can you all not come up with something more original?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 01:54 PM)
>
> WWJD, save it you two, or three, or ...whatever it is...can you say "transparancy"??
>
> And, do make sure you get you know, your, ah, wife, husband, relative living with you, roommate or what ever your arrangement is - bystander, to sign back in soon to answer my question. I am > still waiting. Or is he/she/they out getting their information like a good soldier? Make sure it's a reliable source.

f he is, indeed, out getting information that would give him a lot more credibility on here than those vho just read and accept whatever is posted. You, sonshineonme are the perfect example of someone vho doesn't realize they are being handled by a master pupateer.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:05 PM)
>
> yeah... someone's talking through you... a reflector of other people's thought you are.... the question is who has their hand up your back.... the rap is the same... tiresome.... we have heard it all before.... can you all not come up with something more original?

will say you are consistent about accusing the other side of exactly what you all are doing.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> wwjd I was just approach by a Mr. J who is well a bit of a specticle. Of all the things that he could of said he called me a "scrub". So what I am now experiencing is, they will call you names. What a group of intellect we have here. I will be sure an believe NONE of what they say, because well they are clearly speaking with two sides of their mouths.

jlenetta, I endeavor not to be mean-spirited so I hope you will take this point in the spirit it is given. t appears to me that you must have had the same English teacher in school as eye witness did for nuch of your grammar is identical.

Jn a related side note, I have also noticed the striking similarities in some spelling and grammar by vwjd, Bystander and Danny as well but I won't reveal what those similarities are at this time.

Nhile I don't profess to be an expert in English grammar, it was my major in college so the written vord has always been of interest to me.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 01:55 PM)
>
> wwjd,
>
> well in the mouths of many witnesses is the truth confirmed.
>
> at last count i have read at least 6 solid witness agianst tommy, plus EGW would have have recieve form the Lord Jesus Christ the whole truth on this matter, and would have been writting many private letters years ago.
> ERik

Erik I was told once that EGW was best read for myself. I took that advise and my life changed. Many seem to read EGW and apply her writings to everyone around them and that is why they find themselves trapped in a body of sinful nature. Reading the scripture is really that way also we need to read it for our own salvation. Then when one is found searching through the prono sites, or having an affair, they know that the scriputes and the councel is there to help them to over come. I don't think anywhere in SOP where you will find her or taking the modern day forum post for enough to condemn someone for such a serious mistake or sickness. This was not the spirt of Ellen G. White.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 01:47 PM)
>
> Your mouth shows that your mind has some very good insight. I could not have said it any better. There is a lot of jealousy, there are disgruntled ex employees, there are several on here that have their own axes to grind and this forum gives them the chance.
> Thanks for seeing with clarity

you don't say it at all... you got your script from somewhere else... what was it that Bystander said, oh yes, eyes and ears... you tell Danny to quit sending ambassadors, he can come himself...

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:19 PM)
>
> Gosh it sounds like Linda should have all the money she needs to back herself! It appears by the post, she has money flowing in from various resources, divorces, close friends male and female, music videos (web page), heck, if she got real hard up she could hock some of her gifts she has received from various givers.

Glenetta, I welcomed you as a 3ABN viewer that just stumbled into this site -- as an innocent surprised by all the mess you found here.

You have just unveiled yourself! No one who had just been a 3ABN viewer would normally conclude what you posted here. You show the spirit of Linda-bashing typical of defenders of Dan Shelton from corporate headquarters.

Your post is full of unfounded insinuations.

I asked you where Gailon Joy said that Linda supporters had a big finacial backer , which you claimed he said. You did not document your claim but made further false claims instead!!

So what do you know about gifts Linda has received? What do you know about money flowing in from various sources?

Please document your claims, starting with what Gailon Joy supposedly said!!

And, by the way, just from an ordinary common-sense point of view, the fact that Linda still has music CD's to sell, including ones with Dan's picture on them, is evidence that she hasn't made much money off them -- especially since she's selling them at 3 for $30.00!! (See http://www.lindashelton.org/music.html

> QUOTE
>
> I am sure they wouldn't mind if she was defending herself. Didn't she save any money from working at the ministry? Surely, she had a very good income one greater than her x's, I read. I can't imagen a women who was in such a position for all those years, becoming so dependant on others for her well being. Now she just appears so weak, maybe the word is not weak, maybe its, I don't know but it seems strange, when she appeared to be so different on TV.
> GP

Yup, it's evident that you are no "innocent" stumbling in, but a determined Linda-basher coming from somewhere very close to 3ABN!

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 11:54 AM) ☐
>
> I do know about Ellen white. I have been raised around adventists all my life and have read several of her books.
> It totally would depend on who the "first hand" testimonies came from. If it is from someone who would love to see the present administration kicked out because of their own agenda's, their testimony wouldn't count for much. Likewise, people that have had altercations in some form or fashion with 3abn would not have much credibility either. Many see "detrimental practices" because that is what they want to see. What they "see" and what is "truth" and can be proven are 2 different things.

you are truely a misguided person.

being around sda's all your life would not tell you anything about egw. reading her books, should, unless you read the wrong things (compilations for example can be very misleading as they are not compiled by others most often).

It ALL depends on the first hand testimonies and when they can corraborate each other, I'm sorry, it's over. You have taken a lot for granted (or swallowed the wrong thing) assuming that if someone wants to see the current admin go it's only because someone else has an agenda???? Oh PLEEEZ!

People earn their own consequences by their own deeds. SAVE IT. You know the saying, what goes around comes around? The scripture "Be sure your sins will find you out?" That goes for everyone. NO ONE is excluded, not ds and not Mollie, etc.

This has nothing to do with someone having an altercation with 3abn?? This has everything to do with LOTS OF PEOPLE having altercations with 3abn, and that's what happens when you treat people a particular way, hope to keep it quiet and then it ESCAPES! It's out!!

It's NOT the devil after 3abn! It's God after truth. Face it now, or face it later. I guess as God leads, if this gets to the courts, and at this point it should, it will all be out there for all to see. You won't be able to keep that crowd following a man anymore...lets hope they will still trust a ministry that has the name of 3abn on it. Danny insists on taking it down with him, so be it. It's his choice. His consequences at the expense of many. Once again.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 12:08 PM) ☐
>
> you don't say it at all... you got your script from somewhere else... what was it that Bystander said, oh yes, eyes and ears... you tell Danny to quit sending ambassadors, he can come himself...

good little soldiers, aren't they?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:12 PM

[quote name='princessdi' date='Feb 7 2007, 01:54 PM' post='176189']
Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.

All are free to come here and post their side. Now if they come with guns blazing questioning folks chritianity and Adventism, they will get as good as they give. BSDA is neither pro Danny or Linda or visa versa. Obviously individual members have chosen sides, some have not. I have said a few times now that i am nto pro Linda. I don't know anything about Linda except what her now ex husband did to get out of their marriage, and that was wrong. No reflection on her being right or wrong, but holding him accountable in the position of SDA christian leardership he has taken up. i can't make any judgements on Linda's words or actions, mainly because she has not been allowed to speak or act in her own behalf. I can only go on what I see and hear.

Another perfect example of just taking what you have read/heard as fact. How do you know what transpired to end that marriage? You "know" by rumor, gossip and innuendo. that is all it takes for some of you to make such statements. I hope that you find out just how wrong you are. Trust me, you have been fooled

---

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:13 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:07 PM) ☐
>
> Erik I was told once that EGW was best read for myself. I took that advise and my life changed. Many seem to read EGW and apply her writings to everyone around them and that is why they find themselves trapped in a body of sinful nature. Reading the scripture is really that way also we need to read it for our own salvation. Then when one is found searching through the prono sites, or having an affair, they know that the scriputes and the councel is there to help them to over come. I don't think anywhere in SOP where you will find her or taking the modern day forum post for enough to condemn someone for such a serious mistake or sickness. This was not the spirt of Ellen G. White.

Wwjd,

The letters are what they are, they are much more then just forum posts, at least that is the theory that the "lawsuit" that has been theartened seems to say.

Secondly, you seemed to miss the point that GOd knows all and would have revealed the serect sins in our day just like he did back then, my guess is many and that includes myself would have recieved letters correcting things that we have done that is wrong, in fact when i read her writting i am amazed that so much applies to me personally.

erik

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:14 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:05 PM)
>
> yeah... someone's talking through you... a reflector of other people's thought you are.... the question is who has their hand up your back.... the rap is the same... tiresome.... we have heard it all before.... can you all not come up with something more original?

Clay your are correct in your thinking. My thoughts are a reflection of the many, many post on this forum. Some from you as well. I don't know how "more original" one can get, than to repost what one reads here. I guess if your tired of it, then change the subject.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> Oh you big silly I am not the scrubs, they are yet to come, and they will be much more to your confusion. The simple confound the wise haven't you read that.

This is the latest example of those who, unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also the other Scriptures, unto their own destruction... the bible neither states nor implies what you have said here

Take your intellectual water wings back to the wading pool; we'd prefer to not see you drown where you are unqualified to swim...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:21 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:14 PM)
>
> Clay your are correct in your thinking. My thoughts are a reflection of the many, many post on this forum. Some from you as well. I don't know how "more original" one can get, than to repost what > one reads here. I guess if your tired of it, then change the subject.

ice try but not even close..... tell Danny hello and ask him if you have done a good job so far....

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 02:15 PM)
>
> This is the latest example of those who, unlearned and unstable, wrest, as they do also the other Scriptures, unto their own destruction... the bible neither states nor implies what you have said here
>
> Take your intellectual water wings back to the wading pool; we'd prefer to not see you drown where you are unqualified to swim...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

uch, now I am unlearned and unstable I appreciate your welcome to your intellectual chat site. As I roceed forward with my water wings, in the wading pool, I'll certainly not drown in unqualified aters.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:23 PM

[quote name='sonshineonme' date='Feb 7 2007, 02:11 PM' post='176199'] you are truely a misguided person.

being around sda's all your life would not tell you anything about egw. reading her books, should, unless you read the wrong things (compilations for example can be very misleading as they are not compiled by others most often).

Kind of reminds me of all of you coming to the conclusion that the administration, the board of well respected people, the asi, and people like Doug Batchelor (who have spent as many as 3 weeks at a time there), David Ashrick, the Illinois Conference president who sits on the board, Garwin McNeilus and how many more have all been duped!!!!! Only you on this forum have not been taken in. You are on a much higher plain than any of those people. rofl Many of you have never set foot at 3abn but you "know" that the allegations made are true. Yah, right. The truth is, unbeknown to you, the master puppeteer is pulling the strings and you are all a'dancin'

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:25 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:21 PM)
>
> nice try but not even close..... tell Danny hello and ask him if you have done a good job so far....

Why don't you tell Danny Hello yourself! You seem to know him inside and out. As for me and my family we will choose to say Hello to whomever WE CHOOSE!

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 02:26 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 7 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> Let's say they (3ABN workers) DID try to come here and "set the record straight." What a joke would that be? They'd be banned immediately

Lee, the fact that you are still posting in spite of all your spin and outright lies demonstrates that this is another false statement!

> QUOTE
>
> like everyone else has in the past or have their posts taken off like Holdens...and some of those who HAVE been banned were Conference workers--and they were spoken to disrespectfully and with ridicule by people like watchbird and others. Can you imagine sneering in the face of your Conference President.

Whew!! I can't believe that you are suggesting that a Conference President (Illinois Conference president??) was on here and posted so belligerently that he was banned!! Either you are falesly implicating "a conference president," or some in high places definitely should not be there!! It is indeed time for a great "house cleaning," in former times known as a "shaking" in God's church.

Calvin only bans folks who post belligerently and abusively. So that says something about someone who has been banned.

You are posting quite obnoxiously, yet you are still here, demonstrating my point.

> QUOTE
>
> Say one word in defense of Danny and you are now his 'apologist' or "lover" or whatever other term you people can think of.
> And if you dare try to ask a question, you are bombarded with moderators telling you to shut up or else! As in Aletheia's experience. There isn't even freedom on this board to ask questions!

Honest questions are one thing. Abusive "questions" with sexual implications are quite another. As you well know, "questions" can be as damaging as outright accusations. And only questions "over the top" are not allowed. Again, if someone asks disallowed questions, it says something about that person's Christian character.

> QUOTE
>
> Tell 3ABN to come here? Not on your life! I'd advice them to stay off--it is too biased!

rofl rofl 3ABN admin is already quite well represented here. Thank yo very much.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:27 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 02:13 PM)

> Wwjd,
>
> The letters are what they are, they are much more then just forum posts, at least that is the theory that the "lawsuit" that has been theartened seems to say.
>
> Secondly, you seemed to miss the point that GOd knows all and would have revealed the serect sins in our day just like he did back then, my guess is many and that includes myself would have recieved letters correcting things that we have done that is wrong, in fact when i read her writting i am amazed that so much applies to me personally.
> erik

Erik I will repeat to you what I said in an earlier post. If TommS had never worked at 3abn, most of you here would just spend 100% if time bashing Danny & 3abn instead of 90%

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:28 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:25 PM)
>
> Why don't you tell Danny Hello yourself! You seem to know him inside and out. As for me and my family we will choose to say Hello to whomever WE CHOOSE!

you are his mouthpiece... and you are doing such a fine job of representing him here.... I said nothing about your family, I said you tell Danny hi....

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 02:29 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM)
>
> Yes she does but I wonder what she would say now about sda's attacking an sda ministry that spreads the gospel to the world, on accusation alone?

Whatever Ellen White may say is a moot point. The Bible says something about a thing being confirmed in the mouth of two or three witnesses. We have more than that.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 03:22 PM)
>
> Ouch, now I am unlearned and unstable I appreciate your welcome to your intellectual chat site. As I proceed forward with my water wings, in the wading pool, I'll certainly not drown in unqualified waters.

By your own admission you are simple... so unlearned and unstable fits... as for my welcome.. or lack of same... I didn't invite you here... and as for your not drowning, you may have a point; after all ventriloquist's dummies are largely wood... and wood floats... but the downside is you only talk with his hand in your back...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM

[quote name='inga' date='Feb 7 2007, 02:26 PM' post='176208']

Calvin only bans folks who post belligerently and abusively.

Not true or most of you would be gone.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 7 2007, 03:02 PM)
>
> secondly, when you say "Do you actually think he doesn't know what court could or could not entail", you are so right. He does, which is why he has avoided it at all COSTS over the years. You know you can only bluff for so long, then it gets called. It's being called, so he better brace himself, it's for real this time.
>
> thirdly, when you say "Better yet, He could never bring a lawsuit on his own, the board would have had to vote to do so. So again, are the board members so incredibly dumb as to put 3abn at risk if there was wrongdoing to hide?" IN A WORD, Y E S. They will willingly do it because they have submitted themselves to do what he tells them. That has been shown over and over.

Another possibility . . . Linda and her "team of eclectics" are bluffing. Linda is well aware that the BoD at 3ABN has pushed from the outset that the evidence they hold be kept quite in an effort to give Linda all the opportunity to establish a new ministry to continue her work. They have stated time and again that they did not want Linda to have to deal with the fall out if the evidence where revealed in public, for instance in court.

Linda knows the truth and is playing the odds, maybe hoping for an out of court settlement before the truth is made plain to see. She is banking on the BoD reverting to their original position that they would not make public the evidence of her actions. Sure, I know as do others here that Clay will blather on about minutia, and others will claim this is a smokescreen - but as others have presented in this thread today other possibilities are never considered here, only that Danny is guilty, the BoD is guilty, Tommy and Hal and Mollie and Shelley and Pastor Lomacang are all guilty too. Not for one second has common sense kicked in and the consideration that there is truth to the claim of evidence appeared here, save a small minority of posters.

I fully expect many to be surprised and deeply hurt because they were lead down the primrose path - and of course I mean amongst the accusers.

3ABN has been patient, going about the business of spreading the message of God's love and soon return. They have not engaged in tearing apart individuals and other ministries. Sure there are many claims of such here, but very little evidence. For instance much has been said about Danny or other leadership at 3ABN getting the way of Linda appearing in churches around the country - yet there is no proof of such other than "someone said." Anytime a "someone said" claim is made against Danny or 3ABN it is automatically accepted as truth no questions asked.

As far as the finances of a court case, one would have to be completely a loon to think that Linda hasn't acquired the necessary finances to defend herself. She isn't a naive individual - never has been. Will Danny have his backers, I don't doubt it for a minute. The other thing that is certain is that this will take a while to unfold and it will drag on. Just as Linda and her team put up road blocks to the ASI involvement, they will do it here via legal wrangling and misdirection.

So, while you can paint a picture that is plausible - that this is all bluster on the part of 3ABN and Danny . . . the opposite side of the coin is just as much in play for consideration, Linda is playing a risky game - she is banking on 3ABN "taking the high road" and backing down so they do not have to cause her public pain by revealing the evidence they do hold.

-fhb

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM)
>
> By your own admission you are simple... so unlearned and unstable fits... as for my welcome.. or lack of same... I didn't invite you here... and as for your not drowning, you may have a point; after all ventriloquist's dummies are largely wood... and wood floats... but the downside is you only talk with his hand in your back...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Puppets are made from cloth so they don't float, they sink right to the bottom. You might keep that in mind when your strings are being pulled.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM

was wondering when FHB would be summoned... the calvary has arrived ya'lls........ weapons of mass distraction by minutiae....

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 03:32 PM)
>
> Puppets are made from cloth so they don't float, they sink right to the bottom. You might keep that in mind when your strings are being pulled.

Cmon Mollie you can do better...

In His service,

Mr. J

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM)
>
> Justice will find all "IN BLAZES"

You mean like the Battle Creek fire?
Are you a prophet?

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> Puppets are made from cloth so they don't float, they sink right to the bottom. You might keep that in mind when your strings are being pulled.

as you would know right wwjd or wwsd, or whatever it is that you call yourself....

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:27 PM)
>
> Erik I will repeat to you what I said in an earlier post. If TommS had never worked at 3abn, most of you here would just spend 100% if time bashing Danny & 3abn instead of 90%

Wwjd,

I would not be posting if the stuff about tommy had not been so clearly shown, i can not speak for the others. the whole divorce things in my option stinks but lots that happens in the church sticnks we are all sinners, but tommy's actions rise to whole different level.

I am not here on witch hunt, like have stated many times before i can to this site very pro danny, i mean to say i really felt sorry for the guy satan was attacking big first linda cheats on then the tax case issues, then all rumors flying. BUT you want to know the biggest thing that change my mind about the wee the truth lies closer to on all these topics. Was danny's own emails, and action taken in writting the 3abn board.

THAT IS WHAT CHANGED MY MIND, not all the other information here, SO why do you not GO back and think on that one for while while you are so sure that Danny will win in court, he might if his lawyers kept him off the witness stand. Danny lost all his believability with me because of what he himself wrote not what others have written about him.

Erik W.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:37 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:28 PM) ☐
>
> you are his mouthpiece... and you are doing such a fine job of representing him here.... I said nothing about your family, I said you tell Danny hi....

Whew you are right I was just getting a little frustrated there. People are so "rude", I will get used to it. Sorry about that. I will certainly be delighted to tell Danny hi, if I happen to get that opportunity. Umm, his mouthpiece, I watch TV, Danny don't need a mouth piece he does a fine job with his own.

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:38 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:37 PM) ☐
>
> Whew you are right I was just getting a little frustrated there. People are so "rude", I will get used to it. Sorry about that. I will certainly be delighted to tell Danny hi, if I happen to get that opportunity. Umm, his mouthpiece, I watch TV, Danny don't need a mouth piece he does a fine job with his own.

are they? I haven't been rude yet....

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:39 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 03:37 PM) ☐
>
> Whew you are right I was just getting a little frustrated there. People are so "rude", I will get used to it. Sorry about that.

You came in here rude and reaped what you sowed.

> QUOTE
>
> I will certainly be delighted to tell Danny hi, if I happen to get that opportunity. Umm, his mouthpiece, I watch TV, Danny don't need a mouth piece he does a fine job with his own.

If you truly believed this, you wouldnt be here... so blow that smoke up someone else's patootie...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:41 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 12:37 PM) ☐
>
> Whew you are right I was just getting a little frustrated there. People are so "rude", I will get used to it. Sorry about that. I will certainly be delighted to tell Danny hi, if I happen to get that opportunity. Umm, his mouthpiece, I watch TV, Danny don't need a mouth piece he does a fine job with his own.

Glenetta,

What one sees in the camera and what one see's off the camera can be very confussing

Erik W.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM) ☐
>
> Another possibility . . . Linda and her "team of eclectics" are bluffing. Linda is well aware that the BoD at 3ABN has pushed from the outset that the evidence they hold be kept quite in an effort to give Linda all the opportunity to establish a new ministry to continue her work. They have stated time and again that they did not want Linda to have to deal with the fall out if the evidence where revealed in public, for instance in court.
>
> Linda knows the truth and is playing the odds, maybe hoping for an out of court settlement before the truth is made plain to see. She is banking on the BoD reverting to their original position that they would not make public the evidence of her actions. Sure, I know as do others here that Clay will blather on about minutia, and others will claim this is a smokescreen - but as others have presented in this thread today other possibilities are never considered here, only that Danny is guilty, the BoD is guilty, Tommy and Hal and Mollie and Shelley and Pastor Lomacang are all guilty too. Not for one second has common sense kicked in and the consideration that there is truth to the claim of evidence appeared here, save a small minority of posters.
>
> I fully expect many to be surprised and deeply hurt because they were lead down the primrose path - and of course I mean amongst the accusers.
>
> 3ABN has been patient, going about the business of spreading the message of God's love and soon return. They have not engaged in tearing apart individuals and other ministries. Sure there are many claims of such here, but very little evidence. For instance much has been said about Danny or other leadership at 3ABN getting the way of Linda appearing in churches around the country - yet there is no proof of such other than "someone said." Anytime a "someone said" claim is made > against Danny or 3ABN it is automatically accepted as truth no questions asked.

>
> As far as the finances of a court case, one would have to be completely a loon to think that Linda hasn't acquired the necessary finances to defend herself. She isn't a naive individual - never has been. Will Danny have his backers, I don't doubt it for a minute. The other thing that is certain is that this will take a while to unfold and it will drag on. Just as Linda and her team put up road blocks to the ASI involvement, they will do it here via legal wrangling and misdirection.
>
> So, while you can paint a picture that is plausible - that this is all bluster on the part of 3ABN and Danny . . . the opposite side of the coin is just as much in play for consideration, Linda is playing a risky game - she is banking on 3ABN "taking the high road" and backing down so they do not have to cause her public pain by revealing the evidence they do hold.
>
> -fhb

vow, I have been trying to say the same things but you said it all, so much better. Sonshineoneme is tarting to look ridiculous with her (everybody and their brother) has been tricked and hypnotized y Danny scenerio. What a slam to the individual people on the board that they are "trained" ollowers. I wonder if she would say that to Ellsworth McKee, the conference president, Merlin Farley vho devotes his whole life and income to mission work, Carmilita whose credentials show..she ain't no ool...and all the rest. Would she say it to ASI officials. Would she say it Garwin McNeilus? Well if she loes decide to say it to their face, it will take several months to talk to all the duped people she ccuses!!

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 02:35 PM)
>
> Wwjd,
>
> Erik W.

nly problem there Eric, is that you were not privy to what happened behind the scenes about any mails sent.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM)
>
> Cmon Mollie you can do better...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

eep going Mr. J. with each accusation you just dig yourself a little deeper.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:38 PM)
>
> are they? I haven't been rude yet....

Thank you, so far.

Posted by: Spike Feb 7 2007, 02:46 PM

Doug has that kind of time to put into a message board.

Posted by: Grace Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 7 2007, 09:07 PM)
>
> glenetta, I endeavor not to be mean-spirited so I hope you will take this point in the spirit it is given. It appears to me that you must have had the same English teacher in school as eye witness did for much of your grammar is identical.
>
> On a related side note, I have also noticed the striking similarities in some spelling and grammar by wwjd, Bystander and Danny as well but I won't reveal what those similarities are at this time.
>
> While I don't profess to be an expert in English grammar, it was my major in college so the written word has always been of interest to me.

PB, have you noticed the sudden transformation in Glenetta's grammar, syntax and style? What do you think about that? Any explanation? It went from almost zero to quite good. A miracle?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:33 PM)
>
> was wondering when FHB would be summoned... the calvary has arrived ya'lls........ weapons of mass distraction by minutiae....

Clay, I would be willing to pay for some vocabulary lessons for you where you might learn other words besides tiresome and minutiae.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 03:07 PM)
>
> I don't think anywhere in SOP where you will find her or taking the modern day forum post for enough to condemn someone for such a serious mistake or sickness. This was not the spirt of Ellen G. White.

Glenetta, you are twisting things. We are not relying on forum posts. Live witnesses have been interviewed and they have submitted signed testimonies. That is very different from your anonymous posts on this board.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:48 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:41 PM)
>
> wow, I have been trying to say the same things but you said it all, so much better. Sonshineoneme is starting to look ridiculous with her (everybody and their brother) has been tricked and hypnotized > by Danny scenerio. What a slam to the individual people on the board that they are "trained" followers. I wonder if she would say that to Ellsworth McKee, the conference president, Merlin Farley who devotes his whole life and income to mission work, Carmilita whose credentials show..she ain't no fool...and all the rest. Would she say it to ASI officials. Would she say it Garwin McNeilus? Well if she does decide to say it to their face, it will take several months to talk to all the duped people she accuses!!

Well, i known Ellsworth personally and agree the he is nobody,s fool, I also know that he has been foolled in the past by con men(i had the bad luck of working for one of those con men).

So maybe if danny really is a con man just maybe he fooled those people has well, Folks lets at least be fair here I think it is long past time for the truth about linda to come out, if that truth be that linda is the wicked witch that she is made out to be then so be it, i can live with personally, but then again maybe she will shown to be the honsent fooled soul that it looks like she is.

I say put the cards on the table and put any end this silly game of bluff more people are getting hurt by bluff then the other way around.

erik

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> Keep going Mr. J. with each accusation you just dig yourself a little deeper.

Save your threats for someone who is cowed by them... being a big fish in a small pond has given you delusions of adequacy... but there are drugs that can cure that.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> Clay, I would be willing to pay for some vocabulary lessons for you where you might learn other words besides tiresome and minutiae.

oh there are other words that are applicable to your situation... lapdog, lackie, clone, are just a few... and I will stop using those words tiresome and minutiae when you cease from being tiresome and attempting to distract by minutiae.... but I guess you are what you are...

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 7 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> PB, have you noticed the sudden transformation in Glenetta's grammar, syntax and style? What do you think about that? Any explanation? It went from almost zero to quite good. A miracle?

It is sad how you will grasp at any straw to keep from acknowledging That many honest hearted people have come here to defend what they know to be right. We could all accuse you of the same, I have seen several similarities in writing but before now, have never mentioned it. Why? Because that is way to far of a stretch.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:53 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:45 PM)
>
> Only problem there Eric, is that you were not privy to what happened behind the scenes about any emails sent.

Wwjd,

you are write i am not privy, i am talking about the ones that are out in the public, inless you are saying those are all forged??????????

erik

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM)

> It is sad how you will grasp at any straw to keep from acknowledging That many honest hearted people have come here to defend what they know to be right. We could all accuse you of the same, I have seen several similarities in writing but before now, have never mentioned it. Why? Because that is way to far of a stretch.

defend thats what you call what you are doing? no what you are doing is spitting in the air and telling everyone its raining....

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> It is sad how you will grasp at any straw to keep from acknowledging That many honest hearted people have come here to defend what they know to be right. We could all accuse you of the same, I have seen several similarities in writing but before now, have never mentioned it. Why? Because that is way to far of a stretch.

WWJD,

you will not be to say that about my posts, i know my grammer is not the best rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl rofl

---

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> oh there are other words that are applicable to your situation... lapdog, lackie, clone, are just a few... and I will stop using those words tiresome and minutiae when you cease from being tiresome and attempting to distract by minutiae.... but I guess you are what you are...

Dance puppet dance

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 04:33 PM)
>
> was wondering when FHB would be summoned... the calvary has arrived ya'lls........ weapons of mass distraction by minutiae....

No you weren't. I keep waiting and waiting thinking you will finally bring something of substance to one of these threads - but alas. You are the little kid sitting in the back of the classroom who didn't do the reading or the homework and when others attempt to share their ideas or their experiences you disrupt and belittle and antagonize and do anything but provide anything substantial to the classroom discussion.

And how come there is not an inkling of surprise that you used another of your tired old phrases to end your post - at least come up with some new material.

- fhb

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> Dance puppet dance

yes you are dancing quite well... use to it I suppose.....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:57 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 02:53 PM)
>
> Wwjd,
>
> you are write i am not privy, i am talking about the ones that are out in the public, inless you are saying those are all forged??????????
> erik

I said, you are not privy to [b]what went on behind the scenes to instigate certain emails.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 7 2007, 02:57 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 02:41 PM)
>
> Glenetta,
>
> What one sees in the camera and what one see's off the camera can be very confussing
>
> Erik W.

I seem to think though that we all have some sort of face we put on when its not really how we feel inside. Don't you? I mean do you ever smile when you really don't feel like it? I guess what I am trying to say these are all real people with real lives just like you and me.

Do you know the people you are speaking of?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 02:58 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 7 2007, 03:47 PM)
>
> Glenetta, you are twisting things. We are not relying on forum posts. Live witnesses have been interviewed and they have submitted signed testimonies. That is very different from your anonymous posts on this board.

She is but the latest clueless person sputing the danny apologist party line, inga... she is not concerned with such trivialities as 'facts' and 'truth'... since we have always been at war with Oceania...

Remember inga... war is peace... freedom is slavery... ignorance is strength... because ~~Danny~~ Big Brother said so...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 7 2007, 02:58 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> No you weren't. I keep waiting and waiting thinking you will finally bring something of substance to one of these threads - but alas. You are the little kid sitting in the back of the classroom who didn't do the reading or the homework and when others attempt to share their ideas or their experiences you disrupt and belittle and antagonize and do anything but provide anything substantial to the classroom discussion.
>
> And how come there is not an inkling of surprise that you used another of your tired old phrases to end your post - at least come up with some new material.
>
> - fhb

oh come FHB, thats the best you can do? no need to come up with something new when you are doing the same old thing... shows how much you know.... I never sat in the back... I always sat on the side, homework done, and poking holes in the comments of those who thought they had done their homework..... sorta like what I do with you..... tiresome....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 02:58 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> wwjd I was just approach by a Mr. J who is well a bit of a specticle. Of all the things that he could > of said he called me a "scrub". So what I am now experiencing is, they will call you names. What a group of intellect we have here. I will be sure an believe NONE of what they say, because well they are clearly speaking with two sides of their mouths.

)ear glenetta, that should be - intellectuals. That is intellectuals.

Ve do try to help those who need it.

'.S.

Seeing that Mr. J's initials are not TM... Mr. J does not "approach" strange wo,men.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 02:59 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> No you weren't. I keep waiting and waiting thinking you will finally bring something of substance to one of these threads - but alas. You are the little kid sitting in the back of the classroom who didn't do the reading or the homework and when others attempt to share their ideas or their experiences you disrupt and belittle and antagonize and do anything but provide anything substantial to the classroom discussion.
>
> And how come there is not an inkling of surprise that you used another of your tired old phrases to end your post - at least come up with some new material.
>
> - fhb

b] I offered to pay for some vocabulary lessons, but he obviously doesn't think he needs them...go igure ight I just add that the little kid in the classroom scenerio also fits Mr. J beautifully.

Posted by: Spike Feb 7 2007, 03:00 PM

My brother knows Merlin very well and I think ot's about time Merlin learned the truth as I know he is nobodys fool. He is also the riches man in southern Oregon and DS has been courting him for along time. Thats why he is on the board. By the way thats not how you spell his last name. try Fjarli.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 03:01 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 7 2007, 02:58 PM)
>
> Dear glenetta, that should be - intellectuals. That is intellectuals.
>
> We do try to help those who need it.

Please remove the beam in your own eye, we beg you

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 03:02 PM

Please tell me you are not threathening members, again, wwjd*****

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:45 PM)
>
> Keep going Mr. J. with each accusation you just dig yourself a little deeper.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 03:02 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 03:59 PM)
>
> [b] I offered to pay for some vocabulary lessons, but he obviously doesn't think he needs them...go figure
> Might I just add that the little kid in the classroom scenerio also fits Mr. J beautifully.

Y'all got to do better than this...

and, BTW, it's spelled 's c e n a r i o'

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 03:03 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 12:57 PM)
>
> I said, you are not privy to [b]what went on behind the scenes to instigate certain emails.

WWJD,

then lets hear so the danny can be judged fairly, you are doing danny a major dis favor by hidding away all this stuff that will make him smell like a rose.

Lets see some where i read that danny said that linda and the "evil" doc were in the sunshine state, and the the good old boy from Europe says wait wait the "evil" doc was with me and the wife in Europe?

to me this is case were proof of linda and "Evil" doc being anywhere together would greatly boost dannys credibility, AND by the way would rip the pants of that good old boy from Europe.

I say if you can shut this rumor up then do other wise, based on the rules of evidence i would that we should take the Good old Boy from europe word.

Which by default makes danny mistaken in his information at best and or something much worse.

ERik

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 03:04 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 7 2007, 03:00 PM) ☐
>
> My brother knows Merlin very well and I think ot's about time Merlin learned the truth as I know he is nobodys fool. He is also the riches man in southern Oregon and DS has been courting him for along time. Thats why he is on the board. By the way thats not how you spell his last name. try Fjarli.

You are not very smart if you think he has not been made aware of all the mud slinging. He personally knows it not to be true and like several other board members, I am sure it makes him sick to his stomach. So, Spike why don't you go and talk to him about these allegations and see what he has to say.....good luck with that

---

Posted by: Grace Feb 7 2007, 03:04 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 09:52 PM) ☐
>
> It is sad how you will grasp at any straw to keep from acknowledging That many honest hearted people have come here to defend what they know to be right. We could all accuse you of the same, I have seen several similarities in writing but before now, have never mentioned it. Why? Because that is way to far of a stretch.

Please read my post again. I didn't make any accusation, only a remark. By the way, who is "we all" and who is "you" in your sentence "We could all accuse you of the same"?

I agree with your statement that many honest hearted people come here to defend what they know to be right. I think that it qualifies most people in this forum.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 03:05 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 7 2007, 04:03 PM) ☐
>
> WWJD,
>
> then lets hear so the danny can be judged fairly, you are doing danny a major dis favor by hidding away all this stuff that will make him smell like a rose.
> Lets see some where i read that danny said that linda and the "evil" doc were in the sunshine state, and the the good old boy from Europe says wait wait the "evil" doc was with me and the wife in Europe?
>
> to me this is case were proof of linda and "Evil" doc being anywhere together would greatly boost dannys credibility, AND by the way would rip the pants of that good old boy from Europe.
>
> I say if you can shut this rumor up then do other wise, based on the rules of evidence i would that we should take the Good old Boy from europe word.
>
> Which by default makes danny mistaken in his information at best and or something much worse.
> ERik

I'll take "something worse" for a thousand, Alex.... DING what is a liar?

APPLAUSE

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 03:07 PM

[quote name='erik' date='Feb 7 2007, 03:03 PM' post='176255']
WWJD,

then lets hear so the danny can be judged fairly, you are doing danny a major dis favor by hidding away all this stuff that will make him smell like a rose.
Lets see some where i read that danny said that linda and the "evil" doc were in the sunshine state, and the the good old boy from Europe says wait wait the "evil" doc was with me and the wife in Europe?

Erik Same old you read somewhere that he said it so it must be true. By the time you "read" that do you know how many times it must have been turned and twisted until even the dates were wrong. How many times can I say why are you taking everything you read to be gospel.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 03:08 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 03:30 PM) ☐
>
> Linda is well aware that the BoD at 3ABN has pushed from the outset that the evidence they hold be kept quite in an effort to give Linda all the opportunity to establish a new ministry to continue her work. They have stated time and again that they did not want Linda to have to deal with the fall out if the evidence where revealed in public, for instance in court.

Is that why they have posted insinuations on the 3ABN website and made most viewers believe that Linda committed adultery and was "living with some doctor somewhere"? Is that why Dan includes insinuations about Linda and a "doctor" in his programs.

Ah, yes, they love Linda so much that they do everything to further her ministry by ensuring that everyone believes she committed adultery.

With friends like that, who needs enemies?

In my opinion there is nothing that can do more damage to Linda's repuation than has been done already. If it is conclusively demonstrated that Linda committed adultery with "the doctor," it would make no practical difference to Linda's public-ministry career, because the vast majority of people already believe it, due to what has been publicized by 3ABN. And those who don't believe it (and there are quite a few) see Linda as "damaged goods" because of the many who do believe it.

This is the same old tired story that has been told from the beginning. It is no more credible now than it was then -- no matter how many times you repeat it.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 7 2007, 03:11 PM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 7 2007, 03:04 PM)
>
> Please read my post again. I didn't make any accusation, only a remark. By the way, who is "we all" and who is "you" in your sentence "We could all accuse you of the same"?
>
> I agree with your statement that many honest hearted people come here to defend what they know to be right. I think that it qualifies most people in this forum.

[b]WE the defenders of 3abn.

[quote name='inga' date='Feb 7 2007, 03:08 PM' post='176260']
Is that why they have posted insinuations on the 3ABN website and made most viewers believe that Linda committed adultery and was "living with some doctor somewhere"? Is that why Dan includes insinuations about Linda and a "doctor" in his programs.

Ah, yes, they love Linda so much that they do everything to further her ministry by ensuring that everyone believes she committed adultery.

With friends like that, who needs enemies?

In my opinion [b]there is nothing that can do more damage to Linda's repuation than has been done already

I wouldn't bet on it if I were you.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 7 2007, 02:58 PM)
>
> oh come FHB, thats the best you can do? no need to come up with something new when you are doing the same old thing... shows how much you know.... I never sat in the back... I always sat on the side, homework done, and poking holes in the comments of those who thought they had done > their homework..... sorta like what I do with you..... tiresome....

☒ rofl ☒ rofl And yet again

Posted by: Spike Feb 7 2007, 03:12 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 02:04 PM) ☐
>
> You are not very smart if you think he has not been made aware of all the mud slinging. He personally knows it not to be true and like several other board members, I am sure it makes him sick to his stomach. So, Spike why don't you go and talk to him about these allegations and see what he has to say.....good luck with that Vell wwjd I am going to be in SO this weekend. My brother really is good friend wirh Merlin and his on Bruce, a little visit will be coming. A I know stuff about the Sheltons that has not been posted to his site that I'm sure Merlin would find most interesting. And no I'm not going to tell you as that vould defeat the purpose.

Posted by: erik Feb 7 2007, 03:13 PM

[Erik Same old you read somewhere that he said it so it must be true. By the time you "read" that do you know how many times it must have been turned and twisted until even the dates were wrong. How many times can I say why are you taking everything you read to be gospel.

WWJD,

the somewhere i read little fact wqas either in letter that had danny name on it, or in lettert hat had walt,s name on it.

ARE either of those two people someone that i should look to true facts in this whole matter?

I like you discount much of the hearsay here, i have based my options sole on first hand accounts or emails, if one side or the other is with holding important facts then that is problem if the rest of can make heads or tails of the whole matter.

Erik

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 7 2007, 03:14 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 02:52 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd I was just approach by a Mr. J who is well a bit of a specticle. Of all the things that he could of > said he called me a "scrub". So what I am now experiencing is, they will call you names. What a group of intellect we have here. I will be sure an believe NONE of what they say, because well they are clearly speaking with two sides of their mouths.

What? Your mommy wasn't available so you told wwjd?

And what, exactly is that supposed to do? I don't live in Thompsonville... and I don't work for 3ABN... so wwjd has no authority here... he/she/it can pat you on the head and give you a cookie and tell you o run along and play... but that's it..

suppose you're gonna take your toys and go home next...

n His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 7 2007, 03:14 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 7 2007, 04:01 PM)
>
> Please remove the beam in your own eye, we beg you

Please read Prov 9:7-9, then get thee behind me.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 7 2007, 03:21 PM

FHB,
In case you haven't been keeping up with the posting going on here, much of the discussion at the present time is in regards to the accusations against Tommy Shelton and the lengths that his brother, Danny has gone to in order to try to keep it all secret.

What do you make of Tommy's confession email to Duane Clem? Have you read it? Have you read any of the information on save3abn.com?

http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm

Are we being led down a "primrose path" in this regard? Are the testimonies of alleged victims and victim family members to be discounted?

PB

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 03:24 PM

Ok people that is enough for today. I am closing this thread for 24 hrs. I left and came back and it looked like the Hatfields and the McCoys in this place. And I really want somebody to start another thread about this, I will take time to suspend their privileges permanently. Also, anybody having a problem with this Admin action, PM Calvin ,Clay or myself. Believe me when I tell you that we chose to over looked the remarks about the Admins. made in this thread today, but I have had enough. I hope you all use this time to get it together, go to prayer meeting or somethin'!**

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 11:29 AM

Ok, I hope everyone has taken advantage of this cool down period. I am reopening this thread, but please know the next time it will be closed permanently. Also, since we are all grown and all know the rules, this is everybody's one and final warning. Breaking the rules of the board will result in temporary or permanent suspension(according to the severity of the infraction) without further ntoice. So, let's all play nice, children!****

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 11:37 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 09:21 AM) ☐
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
>
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.
>
> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is > furious."

esterday morning I posted the above statement and when I returned a number of hours later I was irst amazed to see the number of posts that followed and then that the thread had been locked. I pent time reading though the entire thread and immediately realized why PrincessDi had locked the hread. Rather than discussing the issues surrounding my post, the whole discussion become side-racked.

o folks can we please continue duscussing the above topic. Thanks!

ister

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 8 2007, 12:04 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 09:37 AM) ☐
>
> Yesterday morning I posted the above statement and when I returned a number of hours later I was first amazed to see the number of posts that followed and then that the thread had been locked. I spent time reading though the entire thread and immediately realized why PrincessDi had locked the thread. Rather than discussing the issues surrounding my post, the whole discussion become side-tracked.
>
> So folks can we please continue duscussing the above topic. Thanks!
>
> Sister

ister, I agree with you! Back to the topic!!
witness attending this special "worship", after seeing how the ds camp has tried to say it did not ake place this in the manner and meaning it is stated above, said this to me:

--I heard 2 spouses of administrators paraphrase to a couple of employees that were not at worship hat Dan announced that he was going after Linda's team and her supporters. Right after that they aid how furious Dan is that there are employees giving info...
o I guess that they are lieing too, right?
hat a joke. Even when you hear what you hear, when you are present and accounted for, they lie to our face and say that you didn't hear what you heard. Lord protect us all!

think the ds camp has realized that things don't stay in that building, on that compound, all under ilence and control, anymore. They don't like it, they are mad, and they will find new ways to deny, odge, lie, divert, distract and spin the facts. Like my mother use to say, if you haven't done anything rong, you have nothing to worry about. They seem awfully worried to me.

Posted by: Rand856 Feb 8 2007, 12:11 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 7 2007, 02:30 PM) ☐

> Another possibility . . . Linda and her "team of eclectics" are bluffing. Linda is well aware that the BoD at 3ABN has pushed from the outset that the evidence they hold be kept quite in an effort to give Linda all the opportunity to establish a new ministry to continue her work. They have stated time and again that they did not want Linda to have to deal with the fall out if the evidence where revealed in public, for instance in court.
>
> Linda knows the truth and is playing the odds, maybe hoping for an out of court settlement before the truth is made plain to see. She is banking on the BoD reverting to their original position that they would not make public the evidence of her actions. Sure, I know as do others here that Clay will blather on about minutia, and others will claim this is a smokescreen - but as others have presented in this thread today other possibilities are never considered here, only that Danny is guilty, the BoD is guilty, Tommy and Hal and Mollie and Shelley and Pastor Lomacang are all guilty too. Not for one second has common sense kicked in and the consideration that there is truth to the claim of evidence appeared here, save a small minority of posters.
>
> I fully expect many to be surprised and deeply hurt because they were lead down the primrose path - and of course I mean amongst the accusers.
>
> 3ABN has been patient, going about the business of spreading the message of God's love and soon return. They have not engaged in tearing apart individuals and other ministries. Sure there are many claims of such here, but very little evidence. For instance much has been said about Danny or other leadership at 3ABN getting the way of Linda appearing in churches around the country - yet there is no proof of such other than "someone said." Anytime a "someone said" claim is made against Danny or 3ABN it is automatically accepted as truth no questions asked.
>
> As far as the finances of a court case, one would have to be completely a loon to think that Linda hasn't acquired the necessary finances to defend herself. She isn't a naive individual - never has been. Will Danny have his backers, I don't doubt it for a minute. The other thing that is certain is that this will take a while to unfold and it will drag on. Just as Linda and her team put up road blocks to the ASI involvement, they will do it here via legal wrangling and misdirection.
>
> So, while you can paint a picture that is plausible - that this is all bluster on the part of 3ABN and Danny . . . the opposite side of the coin is just as much in play for consideration, Linda is playing a risky game - she is banking on 3ABN "taking the high road" and backing down so they do not have to cause her public pain by revealing the evidence they do hold.
>
> -fhb

Dear fhb......come on....you know after all the trashing that has come from 3ABN targeted to tear down Linda's character. If 3ABN ever had any "Real" evidence....they would have used it along time ago. They have no evidence....because none exists.

Posted by: calvin Feb 8 2007, 12:17 PM

I am surprised that Danny would acknowledge BSDA. Did he mention BlackSDA by name? If so, somebody thank him for the free PR. I am surprised because I did not think he was preoccupied with what goes on here. But apparently he is. In my way of thinking Danny has weathered the worst of the storm. The divorce/remarriage/Spiritual adultery thing is old news, going on three years. He survived it. Stuff happens, life isn't fair, the best thing (IMO) for Linda and Danny is to move on with their life. As for Tommy, they found a convenient way to fire, err retire him. Tommy is no longer a 3ABN problem.

Threatening or filing lawsuits, putting the employees on edge was not a smart move from a business perspective. I don't see what he hopes to accomplish. I can only surmise that Danny takes this very personal. The more talks and hints about the lies being told on him the more attention he brings to it, when I think he has very little to be concerned about for 3ABN. Furthermore, people are going to continue to talk here and around the dinner tables on Sabbath afternoons.

3ABN biggest threat is not what people are talking about, but his competition from Hope TV. People vote with their pocketbook in support of these ministries. 3ABN is going after the same contributors as Hope TV.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 8 2007, 12:26 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 8 2007, 10:17 AM)
>
> I am surprised that Danny would acknowledge BSDA. Did he mention BlackSDA by name? If so, somebody thank him for the free PR. I am surprised because I did not think he was preoccupied with what goes on here. But apparently he is. In my way of thinking Danny has weathered the worst of the storm. The divorce/remarriage/Spiritual adultery thing is old news, going on three years. He survived it. Stuff happens, life isn't fair, the best thing (IMO) for Linda and Danny is to move on with their life. As for Tommy, they found a convenient way to fire, err retire him. Tommy is no longer a 3ABN problem.
>
> Threatening or filing lawsuits, putting the employees on edge was not a smart move from a business perspective. I don't see what he hopes to accomplish. I can only surmise that Danny takes this very personal. The more talks and hints about the lies being told on him the more attention he brings to it, when I think he has very little to be concerned about for 3ABN. Furthermore, people are going to continue to talk here and around the dinner tables on Sabbath afternoons.
>
> 3ABN biggest threat is not what people are talking about, but his competition from Hope TV. People vote with their pocketbook in support of these ministries. 3ABN is going after the same contributors as Hope TV.

could it be, this all really boils down to M O N E Y???

no wait (editing)...
M O N E Y - P O W E R - P R E S T I G E ?

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 12:29 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 09:42 PM)
>
> wwjd I don't know what SOP would say for the age and time we live in, but because the ministry has nothing to hide, my prayer is that they do not give up and that they endure. The people here are just moving mouths with thoughts, which are unsupported and disconnected. When you read many of the post you will sense the jellousy of a thriving ministry, some who maybe are looking to make a free buck, and others who are bitter because they were dismissed from employment due to bad choices they made while working there. Just my thoughts and my moving mouth as well.

Glenetta, I don't know how much you have really studied this issue. It all started in our kitchen at 3ABN when Linda brought her son over to us to meet our friend and see if he could help Nathan.

But it really started long before that. When we travelled together with Danny, Tommy, and Linda in our car on a tour of Scandinavia back in 2003, we discovered that Nathan was a sore in Danny's eye, so much so that I breathed a prayer, 'Lord, save their marriage'.

When Pastor John Lomacang later called Dr. Arild Abrahamsen he told him that in reality Danny had made up his mind before that, that his marriage to Linda was finished, so it was not the doctor's fault. But since he happened to get into the picture, he was just the straw that broke the camel's back. I suppose John Lomacang felt he said that confidentially, so that he'd never had to admit later that he had said that.

So you can see what a difficult situation the whole thing was. On the one hand, to be truthful, the doctor was not at fault, but on the other hand he had to take the blame because Danny needed him to be the scapegoat. To this day Danny has succeeded in making the board and staff believe that all the false witnesses are telling the truth.

When Arild Abrahamsen and I went to Thompsonville in May of 2004, Danny threatened to have us put in prison if we did not disappear, because he did not want us to tell the truth to the board.

If he was telling the truth, did he have to force witnesses to disappear? Did he have to hire a set of three Private Invedstigors to follow our trail and give false testimonies just so that he could get the divorce?

I have an e-mail from Danny hiself where he admits that those Private Investigators did not take any pictures of me, but only of Linda and Dr. Arild, when the tree of us were together to discuss how we could meet the false attacks from Danny. Why did they not include me in any of the pictures?

Because if I was on the picture Danny could not use them as evidence to the board that they had been together alone. If you pay such Private Investigatore enough money they will give you exactly what you want, so you can convince Walt Thompson and John Lomacang too.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 12:29 PM)
>
> Glenetta, I don't know how much you have really studied this issue. It all started in our kitchen at 3ABN when Linda brought her son over to us to meet our friend and see if he could help Nathan.
>
> I have been reading through the many posts. There is much to be said. Many things are very confusing including your statement here. It all started in one place "our kitchen" then belows it really started "long before". Were you very close and a personal friend of both? For you to be praying for their marriage I would assume that you were very close and had much contact right?
>
> But it really started long before that. When we travelled together with Danny, Tommy, and Linda in our car on a tour of Scandinavia back in 2003, we discovered that Nathan was a sore in Danny's eye, so much so that I breathed a prayer, 'Lord, save their marriage'.
>
> When Pastor John Lomacang later called Dr. Arild Abrahamsen he told him that in reality Danny had made up his mind before that, that his marriage to Linda was finished, so it was not the doctor's fault.

> This Pastor John Lomacang actually said that Danny had made up his mind before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen ever had the affair with Linda?
>
> But since he happened to get into the picture, he was just the straw that broke the camel's back. I suppose John Lomacang felt he said that confidentially, so that he'd never had to admit later that he had said that.
>
> So you can see what a difficult situation the whole thing was. On the one hand, to be truthful, the doctor was not at fault, but on the other hand he had to take the blame because Danny needed him to be the scapegoat. To this day Danny has succeeded in making the board and staff believe that all the false witnesses are telling the truth.
>
> See here is another detail that does not fit. This doctor and Linda were at fault of one thing and that is even if your statement is true that Danny was done with the marriage, those two were not to be having an affair while Linda was still married to Danny.
>
> When Arild Abrahamsen and I went to Thompsonville in May of 2004, Danny threatened to have us put in prison if we did not disappear, because he did not want us to tell the truth to the board.
>
> If he was telling the truth, did he have to force witnesses to disappear? Did he have to hire a set of three Private Invedstigors to follow our trail and give false testimonies just so that he could get the divorce?
>
> How could he have you put into prison by being in Thompsonville? What would the Private Investigators have to report?
>
> I have an e-mail from Danny hiself where he admits that those Private Investigators did not take any pictures of me, but only of Linda and Dr. Arild, when the tree of us were together to discuss how we could meet the false attacks from Danny. Why did they not include me in any of the pictures?
>
> OK now the Private Investigators took pictures of Linda and Dr. Arild, if I am understanding you right and you were not in the pictures. Why? If you were a party of three, then there would be three in the picture. You say you were not in the pictures, or this is what Danny assured you, but see these are the confusing things that just don't make sense. Do you think Danny had you airbrushed out of the pictures? Its a thought I mean now days with technology anything can be done!
>
> Because if I was on the picture Danny could not use them as evidence to the board that they had been together alone. If you pay such Private Investigatore enough money they will give you exactly what you want, so you can convince Walt Thompson and John Lomacang too.

So you were with them on their dates? What were the dates about? I am confused when Danny is already made his mind up about the marriage according to Pastor Lomacang then why take any pictures of anyone? Well I guess of course this would be the proof he would have for the filing of the divorce, adultery.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 05:27 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 7 2007, 03:58 PM)
>
> Dear glenetta, that should be - i n t e l l e c t u a l s. That is intellectuals.

> We do try to help those who need it.
>
> P.S.
>
> Seeing that Mr. J's initials are not TM... Mr. J does not "approach" strange wo,men.

bum

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 05:32 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:04 PM)
>
> So you were with them on their dates? What were the dates about? I am confused when Danny is already made his mind up about the marriage according to Pastor Lomacang then why take any pictures of anyone? Well I guess of course this would be the proof he would have for the filing of the divorce, adultery.

lenetta, stop putting words into Johann's mouth that were never there. There was no "dating" going n between Arild Abrahamsen and Linda Shelton nor was there any "affair". The point that Johann was naking is that John Lomacang told Arild Abrahamsen, in a telephone conversation, that Arild was othing more than a scapegoat, he just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time and was nale. Danny's decision to divorce Linda was not related to any sexual impropriety on her part with nyone, including Dr. Abrahamsen. Danny simply wanted a divorce from Linda and needed the ppearance of Biblical grounds to maintain his position at 3ABN and to be able to remarry.

OW CAN WE RESUME THE TOPIC IN DISCUSSION, GLENETTA?

ister

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 05:47 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 05:32 PM)
>
> Glenetta, stop putting words into Johann's mouth that were never there. There was no "dating" going on between Arild Abrahamsen and Linda Shelton nor was there any "affair". The point that Johann was making is that John Lomacang told Arild Abrahamsen, in a telephone conversation, that Arild was nothing more than a scapegoat, he just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time and was male. Danny's decision to divorce Linda was not related to any sexual impropriety on her part with anyone, including Dr. Abrahamsen. Danny simply wanted a divorce from Linda and needed the appearance of Biblical grounds to maintain his position at 3ABN and to be able to remarry.
>
> NOW CAN WE RESUME THE TOPIC IN DISCUSSION, GLENETTA?
>
> Sister

Excuse me. I have just been on here a few times, trying to make heads or tails of this "Saga" and each time I have been on here . . . . . I beg your pardon but I was speaking not to you but to who wrote to me. I understood the Johann to say, that they were meeting and had specific dates that pictures were being taken. He even said he was there! So why don't you let me and the Johann discuss this and maybe he can be more specific. I respect you desire to look at it in your personal view and please respect my option to find my personal view. Thank you Sister.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 05:51 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 05:32 PM)
>
> Glenetta, stop putting words into Johann's mouth that were never there. There was no "dating" going on between Arild Abrahamsen and Linda Shelton nor was there any "affair". The point that Johann was making is that John Lomacang told Arild Abrahamsen, in a telephone conversation, that Arild was nothing more than a scapegoat, he just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time and was male. Danny's decision to divorce Linda was not related to any sexual impropriety on her part with anyone, including Dr. Abrahamsen. Danny simply wanted a divorce from Linda and needed the appearance of Biblical grounds to maintain his position at 3ABN and to be able to remarry.
> Sister

How you do you there was no sexual impropiety on Linda's Part? Because she told you? That makes it gospel then.

I CHALLENGE ANYONE HERE TO CALL JOHN LOMACANG IN THOMPSONVILL, IL AND ASK HIM IF HE SAID ANYTHING EVEN CLOSE TO THAT. TELL HIM YOU READ IT ON THE NET AND HE WILL BE GLAD TO ANSWER THE QUESTION.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 8 2007, 05:52 PM

Sister, HOTY or whomever might have the information, do you know if there has been any change in the atmosphere at 3abn since the corporate "worship" service?

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 8 2007, 05:52 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Excuse me. I have just been on here a few times, trying to make heads or tails of this "Saga" and each time I have been on here . . . . . I beg your pardon but I was speaking not to you but to who wrote to me. I understood the Johann to say, that they were meeting and had specific dates that pictures were being taken. He even said he was there! So why don't you let me and the Johann discuss this and maybe he can be more specific. I respect you desire to look at it in your personal view and please respect my > option to find my personal view. Thank you Sister.

or starters lose your attitude. If you don't want anyone else to interject anything in here take it to M. This is a public board & any post is free game for anyone to answer. Nowhere does Johann say hat she had an affair. So stop being rude.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 05:55 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 05:47 PM)
>
> Excuse me. I have just been on here a few times, trying to make heads or tails of this "Saga" and each time I have been on here . . . . . I beg your pardon but I was speaking not to you but to who wrote to me. I understood the Johann to say, that they were meeting and had specific dates that pictures were being taken. He even said he was there! So why don't you let me and the Johann discuss this and maybe he can be more specific. I respect you desire to look at it in your personal view and please respect my option to find my personal view. Thank you Sister.

lenetta, I have a question for you. If you saw a picture of a couple walking down the street holding ands would your first thought be that's a attorney/client relationship or doctor/patient or a astor/church member or would you think the couple was involved in a relationship? DAAAA

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 8 2007, 05:58 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 07:51 PM)
>
> How you do you there was no sexual impropiety on Linda's Part? Because she told you? That makes it gospel then.
>
> I CHALLENGE ANYONE HERE TO CALL JOHN LOMACANG IN THOMPSONVILL, IL AND ASK HIM IF HE SAID ANYTHING EVEN CLOSE TO THAT. TELL HIM YOU READ IT ON THE NET AND HE WILL BE GLAD TO ANSWER THE QUESTION.

here isn no need to "yell." Your inside voice would do just fine...

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 05:59 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:47 PM)
>
> Excuse me. I have just been on here a few times, trying to make heads or tails of this "Saga" and each time I have been on here . . . . . I beg your pardon but I was speaking not to you but to who wrote to me. I understood the Johann to say, that they were meeting and had specific dates that pictures were being taken. He even said he was there! So why don't you let me and the Johann discuss this and maybe he can be more specific. I respect you desire to look at it in your personal > view and please respect my option to find my personal view. Thank you Sister.

lenetta, Excuse Me? If you want to have a private conversation with "the Johann" than I suggest that ou PM him, rather than making a public post within a topic which is open for anyone reading it to nake responses.

OW CAN WE GET BACK TO THE TOPIC OF THIS THREAD, PLEASE?

ister

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 06:01 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Feb 8 2007, 05:52 PM)
>
> For starters lose your attitude. If you don't want anyone else to interject anything in here take it to PM. This is a public board & any post is free game for anyone to answer. Nowhere does Johann say that she had an affair. So stop being rude.

will keep the PM in mind, as I proceed with out being rude. Where did you get the large print pattern t provides such a soft touch?
ohann said they had dates and if that was an affair then I would believe if he was there, as he says e was, he could tell me about that.

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 06:01 PM

Are you saying that there are pictures of Linda and Dr A walking down the street holding hands? Have you seen them? Or do you just want everybody here to assume that?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 12:29 PM)
>
> Glenetta, I don't know how much you have really studied this issue. It all started in our kitchen at 3ABN when Linda brought her son over to us to meet our friend and see if he could help Nathan.
>
> But it really started long before that. When we travelled together with Danny, Tommy, and Linda in our car on a tour of Scandinavia back in 2003, we discovered that Nathan was a sore in Danny's eye, so much so that I breathed a prayer, 'Lord, save their marriage'.

ou and others have told that repeatedly and it is a lie. Danny has always loved Nathan and has never aid he was Linda's problem. I understand that Nathan showed up at Danny's house this summer. hey hugged each other and Nathan stated that Danny had always been good to him and he was not aking a side. I believe there was another person there that witnessed it.
anny even gave Nathan a boat that was half his, and half linda's. He thought she would be happy ince that was her son. Instead, it is on record, that she complained about it in their property case, that Dan had given away a boat that was half hers!!

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 8 2007, 06:01 PM) ☐
>
> Are you saying that there are pictures of Linda and Dr A walking down the street holding hands? Have you seen them? Or do you just want everybody here to assume that?

You may assume as you wish, it is not for me to make public, but I know what was seen by those who needed to see them.

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 06:27 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 07:01 PM) ☐
>
> I will keep the PM in mind, as I proceed with out being rude. Where did you get the large print pattern it provides such a soft touch?
> Johann said they had dates and if that was an affair then I would believe if he was there, as he says he was, he could tell me about that.

Glenetta, I just went back and re-read Johann's post. No where within the post does Johann say that Linda and the Doctor had dates or that there was any affair, in fact he says quite the opposite! SO, we have two choices to consider in light of this fact:

1. We give you the benefit of the doubt and you "mistakenly saw" something that was not written there.

OR

2. You deliberately have made deceptive statements in order to slander the reputations of Linda Shelton and the Doctor from Norway.

So, Glenetta, could you explain yourself?

Sister

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 07:10 PM) ☐
>
> You and others have told that repeatedly and it is a lie. Danny has always loved Nathan and has never said he was Linda's problem...
>
> You may assume as you wish, it is not for me to make public, but I know what was seen by those who needed to see them.

WWJD, so if Danny loved Nathan soo much, why was he not involved in Nathan's medical treatments? Why didn't Danny accompany Linda to Norway? And don't tell me he was too busy at 3ABN, Mollie has been running Danny's side of the business for a number of years. Also, Norway is not off the map, Danny could have been contacted at any time while he was there supporting the wife and son that he loves soo much.

NOW CAN WE RESUME THE TOPIC OF THIS THREAD? OR WOULD YOU RATHER THAT NOT BE DISCUSSED? I THINK WE HAVE ALL EXERCISED EXTREME PATIENCE WITH YOU AND GLENETTA.

Sister

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 06:32 PM

wwjd, so you didn't see them yourself? If they were seen by those who needed to see them, I guess that would be Danny and maybe Dr Walt. I've seen pictures on tabloid front covers that are doctored to show two celebrities "together" when in fact they were with other people at different places. Pictures can be doctored to remove people or adjust features.

I didn't read anything about dates either. Glenetta, how did you get that fjrom Johann's post?

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 06:43 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 06:04 PM) ☐
>
> See here is another detail that does not fit. This doctor and Linda were at fault of one thing and that is even if your statement is true that Danny was done with the marriage, those two were not to be having an affair while Linda was still married to Danny.

That's what you claim, of course! That Linda was having an affiar is the issue to be proven. Yet you treat it as though it were already proven! As a matter of fact, hindsight indicates that it is far more likely that Danny was having an affair while still being married to Linda than that Linda was having an affair while married to Danny. Remember that Linda is still single, while Danny married within days of his divorce from Linda being declared legal in Illinois.

Perhaps you can enlighten us regarding when Brandi came to 3ABN. When did she actually work there? When did she move into the house directly across from Danny's house?

> QUOTE
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > I have an e-mail from Danny hiself where he admits that those Private Investigators did not take any pictures of me, but only of Linda and Dr. Arild, when the tree of us were together to discuss how we could meet the false attacks from Danny. Why did they not include me in any of the pictures?
>
> OK now the Private Investigators took pictures of Linda and Dr. Arild, if I am understanding you right and you were not in the pictures. Why? If you were a party of three, then there would be three in the picture. You say you were not in the pictures, or this is what Danny assured you, but see these are the confusing things that just don't make sense. Do you think Danny had you airbrushed out of the pictures? Its a thought I mean now days with technology anything can be done!

It doesn't take fancy technology to take pictures of only two members of a group of three. All it takes is the "right" timing and the right angle.

Again, you are seeking to confuse. The record is clear: Johann was with Linda and with Dr.

Abrahamsen. But the investigators chose to take pictures that made it look like Linda was with Dr. Abrahamsen alone -- doubtless on instructions from Danny. That is fabricating a lie through selective photography!

> QUOTE
>
> So you were with them on their dates? What were the dates about?

Again, you are assuming the truth of Danny's accusations. Get this: So far there is no credible evidence that Linda Shelton and Arild Abrahamsen had so much as one single date! Johann should know, because he was either with the doctor or with Linda all the time that these "dates" were supposed to have taken place!

Your little game of confusion won't work here!

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 06:48 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 09:21 AM)
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
>
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

Okay folks, WWJD and Glenetta have muddied the water enough for tonight. Let's get back to the opic of this thread. The last Corporate "worship" at 3ABN!

Sister

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 06:50 PM

"I got this young thang on the side" definitely would not have worked for Danny.

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 03:04 PM)
>
> So you were with them on their dates? What were the dates about? I am confused when Danny is already made his mind up about the marriage according to Pastor Lomacang then why take any pictures of anyone? Well I guess of course this would be the proof he would have for the filing of the divorce, adultery.

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 07:00 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 07:01 PM)
>
> Johann said they had dates

That Johann said they had dates is a blatant lie. It must take a lot of practice to lie so boldly.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 07:01 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 8 2007, 06:50 PM)
>
> "I got this young thang on the side" definitely would not have worked for Danny.

ofl You heard the large print. Guess you can PM me.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 8 2007, 07:10 PM

"Augustus, this is not a good thing you do!" From Charlie and the Chocolate Factory...Now I am smiling for the moment, but please dont' try me, Glenetta, I am not the one. I dont' have to PM you to suspend you privilieges.

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 05:01 PM)
>
> ofl You heard the large print. Guess you can PM me.

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 07:11 PM

Folks, I think the quotation from Mark Twain that PrincessDi has at the bottom of her posts, is applicable both to the comments of Glenetta, WWJD, Bystander, Eye Witness and Danny Shelton as he spoke out at the last Corporate "worship" at 3ABN:

"It is better to be silent and be thought a fool, than to speak and remove all doubt." - Mark Twain

Sister

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 07:13 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 07:48 PM)
>
> Okay folks, WWJD and Glenetta have muddied the water enough for tonight. Let's get back to the topic of this thread. The last Corporate "worship" at 3ABN!
>
> Sister

Yes, Sister. I suspect that Glenetta's and WWJD's coming here to muddy the waters was hardly accidental.

But don't be too disappointed, Sister, if you don't get served. I'm afraid that what should go to you may go to Linda. I wonder how Dan will serve charges against Johann in Norway?

In the meantime ☒ welcome.gif to all the new BlackSDA readers from 3ABN. We suspect that you will find that folks here actually say some of the things you've been thinking. Please feel free to join the conversation.

To get you started, here's the note Sister sent earlier, as received from one of you:

Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!

"Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.

I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is furious."

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 07:31 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 01:04 AM)
>
> So you were with them on their dates? What were the dates about? I am confused when Danny is already made his mind up about the marriage according to Pastor Lomacang then why take any pictures of anyone? Well I guess of course this would be the proof he would have for the filing of the divorce, adultery.
>
> See here is another detail that does not fit. This doctor and Linda were at fault of one thing and that is even if your statement is true that Danny was done with the marriage, those two were not to be having an affair while Linda was still married to Danny.

What dates are you talking about? Sure, the three of us had meetings to discuss what to do about Danny's official lies about us. All three of us were in the same boat - made by Danny Shelton. My wife, Irmgard, had also been involved, but she was too sick to travel.

Those pictures were taken by Danny's Private Investigators when we came to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting in 2004. By using the right kind of a telephoto lens they avoided getting me into the picture. That is easy for an expensive Private Investigator.

According to Pastor John Lomacang Danny had already made up his mind he wanted to get rid of Linda before we got into the picture. Danny was only waiting for an opportunity where he could make it look like he had biblical grounds for a divorce, and it appeared to him that he could use Dr. Arild Abrahamsen as his scapegoat.

I do not understand how you get the impression from what I said that the doctor and Linda were at fault? Danny made it appear like they were at fault by issuing false statements.

Danny got so angry at me for refusing to help him verify this false accusation, that he had Dr. Walt Thompson fire me from my employment at 3ABN.

Posted by: Observer Feb 8 2007, 07:33 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 04:55 PM)
>
> Glenetta, I have a question for you. If you saw a picture of a couple walking down the street holding hands would your first thought be that's a attorney/client relationship or doctor/patient or a pastor/church member or would you think the couple was involved in a relationship? DAAAA

I would depend upon the country, the culture, and the people. I speak as one who has lived din other countries.

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 07:37 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 03:00 AM)
>
> That Johann said they had dates is a blatant lie. It must take a lot of practice to lie so boldly.

I suppose they follow their master?

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 07:40 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 06:31 PM)
>
> What dates are you talking about? Sure, the three of us had meetings to discuss what to do about Danny's official lies about us. All three of us were in the same boat - made by Danny Shelton. My wife, Irmgard, had also been involved, but she was too sick to travel.
>
> Those pictures were taken by Danny's Private Investigators when we came to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting in 2004. By using the right kind of a telephoto lens they avoided getting me into the picture. That is easy for an expensive Private Investigator.
>
> According to Pastor John Lomacang Danny had already made up his mind he wanted to get rid of Linda before we got into the picture. Danny was only waiting for an opportunity where he could make it look like he had biblical grounds for a divorce, and it appeared to him that he could use Dr. Arild Abrahamsen as his scapegoat.
>
> I do not understand how you get the impression from what I said that the doctor and Linda were at fault? Danny made it appear like they were at fault by issuing false statements.

> Danny got so angry at me for refusing to help him verify this false accusation, that he had Dr. Walt Thompson fire me from my employment at 3ABN.

Vhy would a loving husband and Godly upstanding man such as DS (NOT) hire a PI to follow his ex-vife a round? Wasn't the marragie already over and had she not already been acused of an affair? "hat right there doesn't make sense to me.

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 07:49 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> Glenetta, I have a question for you. If you saw a picture of a couple walking down the street holding hands would your first thought be that's a attorney/client relationship or doctor/patient or a pastor/church member or would you think the couple was involved in a relationship? DAAAA

'ou asked the right person, I'm sure, to get the answer you want.

Nriting from experience, I'm sure it's possible to get pictures that look like folks are "in a relationship" vhen that's not so at all. I have "held hands" with men other than my husband -- with courteous men vho helped me over some difficulty in the path, whether it be a log in the woods or the water between he boat and the dock. And European men are often far more chivalrous than American men. So, I'm juessing it's possible that the "investigators" may have been able to get some shots that, with the ight spin, look compromising.

'm also guessing these shots aren't all that convincing, though, or they would have been passed round more. After all, Dan Shelton and other admins at 3ABN seem to have few scruples about naking Linda look bad, despite protestations to the contrary.

So, WWJD, have you seen such shots of Dr. Abrahamsen and Linda, or have you just heart about hem -- like the phantom phone records that Bob Pickle was supposed to be allowed to see? (Amazing now such hard-copy proof became suddenly unavailable when Mollie saw that Bob Pickle would ictually come to 3ABN to take a personal look at them.)

Somehow I don't think they would promise Bob a look at these so-called compromising photos. But naybe someone else could ask?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 07:50 PM

Your little game of confusion won't work here!
[/quote]

Inga, I am surprised that you would put so many accusations in your post. Again I ask not where are you getting your information but what is the original source or are you just repeating what you have heard? Do you hear yourself and this is to princess di also when you talk about airbrushing people and when you accuse danny of getting rid of linda because he was having an affair with Brandi? All I hear is show proof from your side. Where is your proof on those accusations? You have none. Even insinuating such a thing is dumb on your part. There were no rumors, Brandi was never heard of, much less in the picture until after the divorce had been final for quite some time. When he started to see her, the master manipulator jumped at that opportunity to start the rumors that something must have been going on before. She jumped on it like a dog on a bone, next thing you know all these rumors are circulating which had never been circulated before this. There was nothing to circulate. The puppeteer seen her chance to take the heat off of herself and to play the victim. What better way to be vindicated than to start the rumor that Danny was having an affair and wanted to get rid of her. Brilliant strategy. Especially for those of you that have taken her or her friends word for it. You ask for information, I have permission to share it. But what difference will it make. When we show proof that the puppeteer has lied you either ignore it or start grasping at straws like your statement about airbrushing. Every thing that has been posted that has said you can call and check it out, or the things that have been posted with facts and figures about her salary and perks compared to his, you just ignore or try to poke holes in. So now, I see, that even if we were to post pictures of the obvious you all will say they have been doctored. What a joke. That's ok. Close your eyes, don't even entertain the possibiltiy that the master puppeteer has been pulling your strings whether you know it or not. Don't even consider that maybe just maybe she has been behind most of these allegations, lies and rumors. Don't even contemplate for one minute, that The boardmembers, Asi, John L, Garwin M, Merlin F, McKee bakeries, Owen and Anne troy, Carmilitta Troy, Doug B, David A. and a zillion others have all been duped into believing that an affair happened, When it actually didn't. Go ahead keep grasping, keep stretching but people that really do want the truth are seeing the pattern, the lies, and the motive behind it all. But hey, don't listen, maybe it's a matter of pride that keeps you from ignoring the evidence. But pride goeth before a fall. Johann was not in the pictures because he was apparently in bed when after 10:00 when Linda and Arild was caught by the PI's holding hands while walking down the street.

Since Johann is a foreigner maybe he doesn't understand that Licensed PI's dont lie. They have to swear to their statements under oath. If it is found they are lying, they will lose their license. They are not paid to give you what you necessarily want.....they give you the truth. They could go to jail if they lied.
They were prepared to testify at the ASI hearing.
They also were going to testify that Linda and Arild left Johann at the hotel and went to her apartment and stayed until after midnight together. Actually the exact time was 3:00 AM.

3abn was going to prove that when Linda took Arild and Johann to the Airport to go back to Europe that Arild, as Linda later admitted, claimed he had left his passport at Linda's apartment where she was staying and they sent Johann on his merry way so Arild and Linda had another day AND NIGHT TOGETHER, without Johann to bother them! Records will prove that Johann flew back a day earlier than Arild!
If Arild and Johann deny this charge then simply have them show their flight tickets back to Europe from St. Louis in early June 2004. It should be easy to deny this charge..... IF it is not true!

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:00 PM

Also, remember this, up to now none of this stuff had been posted. But you that are on the side of the puppeteer have ridiculed, laughed and have asked for details over and over. Well, You are starting to get a few. But how ironic it will be if Linda's supporters end up being the cause of exposing evidence against her, that would have remained private had you not forced 3abn to defend themselves against all the lies that have been spread here and in other places. quote]

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 08:01 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 01:04 AM) ☐
>
> This Pastor John Lomacang actually said that Danny had made up his mind before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen ever had the affair with Linda?

Dr Arild Abrahamsen never had an affair with Linda, but Danny accused him of having an affair with Linda. Arild was treating Linda's son Nathan, and Danny thought he could use that as an excuse to accuse them of having an affair.

It was on this background that Pastor John Lomacang called Dr. Arild Abrrahamsen by phone in Norway to discuss the situation with him. It was than that John Lomacang told Arild that Danny did not want to remain married to Linda, and that Danny was using Arild's talks with Linda as an excuse to seek a divorce.

I notice that WWJS says elsewhere that Arild and Linda were walking down the street hand in hand. This is not true, but ingenious Private Investigators can make pictures which indicate they are much closer together with the right kind of telephoto lenses. Such pictures are a blatant lie, and should not be used by a Christian?

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 08:03 PM

WWJD when did DS apply for a divorce?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:04 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 08:01 PM)
>
> Dr Arild Abrahamsen never had an affair with Linda, but Danny accused him of having an affair with Linda. Arild was treating Linda's son Nathan, and Danny thought he could use that as an excuse to accuse them of having an affair.
>
> It was on this background that Pastor John Lomacang called Dr. Arild Abrrahamsen by phone in Norway to discuss the situation with him. It was than that John Lomacang told Arild that Danny did not want to remain married to Linda, and that Danny was using Arild's talks with Linda as an excuse to seek a divorce.
>
> I notice that WWJS says elsewhere that Arild and Linda were walking down the street hand in hand. This is not true, but ingenious Private Investigators can make pictures which indicate they are much closer together with the right kind of telephoto lenses. Such pictures are a blatant lie, and should not be used by a Christian?

Read the other posts. The investigators can prove that you weren't with them the whole time, so you don't know about any of those events

---

Posted by: Truly Blonde Feb 8 2007, 08:04 PM

Last night I read this thread until Princess Di shut it down. I have to say that I was very upset at the un Christian attitude I saw here by both sides. Thank you Di for giving everyone a breather.

This morning during my devotions I was still feeling pretty bad about this thread. As I was reading in Desire of Ages I came across this quote that made me stop and ponder my attitudes on this forum. I don't usually quote Ellen White or the Bible because it seems when people do that there is always someone to take issue with what is being said and then they post something else to conteract what was originally said and it just goes back and forth. I am not trying to accuse anyone of anything with this quote, I just felt impressed to share it with everyone, "The words of Christ teach that we should regard ourselves as inseparably bound to our Father in heaven. Whatever our position, we are dependent upon God, who holds all destinies in His hands. He has appointed us our work, and has endowed us with faculties and means for that work. So long as we surrender the will to God, and trust in His strength and wisdom, we shall be guided in safe paths, to fulfill our appointed part in His great plan. But the one who depends upon his own wisdom and power is separating himself from God. Instead of working in unison with Christ, he is fulfilling the purpose of the enemy of God and man. Desire of Ages page 209

I need to be sure that my will is surrendered to God and that I am doing his will when I post here. I pray that all of you, no matter what side of this issue you believe, that you will do the same.

Thanks for listening.

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 08:10 PM

> QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Feb 8 2007, 07:04 PM)
>
> Last night I read this thread until Princess Di shut it down. I have to say that I was very upset at the un Christian attitude I saw here by both sides. Thank you Di for giving everyone a breather.
>
> This morning during my devotions I was still feeling pretty bad about this thread. As I was reading in Desire of Ages I came across this quote that made me stop and ponder my attitudes on this forum. I don't usually quote Ellen White or the Bible because it seems when people do that there is always someone to take issue with what is being said and then they post something else to conteract what was originally said and it just goes back and forth. I am not trying to accuse anyone of anything with this quote, I just felt impressed to share it with everyone,
>
> "The words of Christ teach that we should regard ourselves as inseparably bound to our Father in heaven. Whatever our position, we are dependent upon God, who holds all destinies in His hands. He has appointed us our work, and has endowed us with faculties and means for that work. So long as we surrender the will to God, and trust in His strength and wisdom, we shall be guided in safe paths, to fulfill our appointed part in His great plan. But the one who depends upon his own wisdom and power is separating himself from God. Instead of working in unison with Christ, he is fulfilling the purpose of the enemy of God and man. Desire of Ages page 209
>
> I need to be sure that my will is surrendered to God and that I am doing his will when I post here. I pray that all of you, no matter what side of this issue you believe, that you will do the same.
>
> Thanks for listening.

Thank you for this, I think that for a lot of us it's not about Linda being innocent or guilty it's how she was not treated in a Christ like way.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:11 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 8 2007, 07:40 PM)
>
> Why would a loving husband and Godly upstanding man such as DS (NOT) hire a PI to follow his > ex-wife a round? Wasn't the marragie already over and had she not already been acused of an affair? That right there doesn't make sense to me.

hats pretty easy to answer. Because he knew what she would do and is doing. That she would turn he whole thing around and try to make him the bad guy and her the innocent victim. C'mon folks. ost of you don't know her at all, and a lot of you don't know her well. He was married to her for 20 ears, he knew what she would do. As far as your question/statements that the marriage was already ver then, I don't know that to be a fact. Might might not be. If I don't know it for a fact, I doubt if ou do.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 8 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> Thank you for this, I think that for a lot of us it's not about Linda being innocent or guilty it's how she was not treated in a Christ like way.

xactly.... from day one here at BSDA 3 yrs ago stated that she was not being treated as she should e... all the other stuff I could care less, but the way the divorce was handled to the trashing of her eputation was not christ-like..... now the apologists can spin it any way they wish, they can mire hemselves in minutiae... the fact remains that even IF she did everything she was accused of, she hould NOT have been treated as she was... for me that is the bottomline....

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:11 PM)
>
> Thats pretty easy to answer. Because he knew what she would do and is doing. That she would turn the whole thing around and try to make him the bad guy and her the innocent victim. C'mon folks. Most of you don't know her at all, and a lot of you don't know her well. He was married to her for 20 years, he knew what she would do. As far as your question/statements that the marriage was already over then, I don't know that to be a fact. Might might not be. If I don't know it for a fact, I doubt if you do.

ou are a piece of work wwjd..... and seem to be intimately acquainted with the motivations of anny..... you are not tiresome.... digusting is more like it...

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:21 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Feb 8 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> Thank you for this, I think that for a lot of us it's not about Linda being innocent or guilty it's how she was not treated in a Christ like way.

pike, she was treated wonderfully considering what they knew. They could have exposed everything hey had, they didn't. She could have been dismissed without any severence because of the morality uestion. Instead she was given a more than generous, severence. There are receipts for out of state ounseling, and the Pastors and others that counseled with them are prepared to sign sworn tatements as such. Every opportunity was given for help and reconciliation. She was given a more han fair amount of time to act on this and did not take it.

So once again, that she was not treated christlike when it all first happened is yet another rumor that started from the same source as all the others. Once the rumors and deceit were told, put in print, taken to the internet and repeated a hundred times over, of course 3abn had to start defending themselves against senseless accusations. Wouldn't you? Their was and is only one way to do that.

Posted by: inga Feb 8 2007, 08:23 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:50 PM)
>
> Your little game of confusion won't work here!
> Inga, I am surprised that you would put so many accusations in your post. Again I ask not where are you getting your information but what is the original source or are you just repeating what you have heard? Do you hear yourself and this is to princess di also when you talk about airbrushing people

It looks like you are in the same "little game of confusion" since neither of us said anything about airbrushing. Glenetta wrote that! You are trying to make it appear that we are making outrageous charges which you can then prove to be untrue.

It's called a straw man argument.

> QUOTE
>
> and when you accuse danny of getting rid of linda because he was having an affair with Brandi?

Again, you are playing games. I did not say that! What I did say is that looking at the situation, with hindsight, there is more evidence pointing to Danny having an affair than to Linda having an affair.

> QUOTE
>
> All I hear is show proof from your side. Where is your proof on those accusations? You have none. Even insinuating such a thing is dumb on your part. There were no rumors, Brandi was never heard of, much less in the picture until after the divorce had been final for quite some time.

I've been asking for the dates for quite some time. If what you say is true, you could give us these dates:
1. The date Brandi arrived at 3ABN.
2. The time Brandi actually worked at 3ABN.
3. The date Brandi moved into the house directly across from Danny's house.

> QUOTE
>
> When he started to see her,

And when was that date?

> QUOTE
>
> the master manipulator jumped at that opportunity to start the rumors that something must have been going on before. She jumped on it like a dog on a bone, next thing you know all these rumors are circulating which had never been circulated before this. There was nothing to circulate. The puppeteer seen her chance to take the heat off of herself and to play the victim. What better way to be vindicated than to start the rumor that Danny was having an affair and wanted to get rid of > her. Brilliant strategy.

)h, my oh my, what venom and what outrageous claims -- that someone (who might that be?) is nanipulating all of us here who question the ethics of Dan's third marriage. ☒ notworkir

> QUOTE
>
> Especially for those of you that have taken her or her friends word for it. You ask for information, I have permission to share it. But what difference will it make. When we show proof that the puppeteer has lied you either ignore it or start grasping at straws like your statement about airbrushing.

\gain, that was Glenetta's straw man statement! And she's dancing with YOU, according to 'OUR puppeteer -- since that's the analogy YOU like to use. I don't recall any of us here talking ibout puppeteers. That's your outrageous analogy. But perhaps you know a thing or two from ixperience? Things like having one's strings pulled?

'ou know, your analogy is much more fitting to your situation at 3ABN. Dan holds the power there. 3ut Linda holds no power over us. And you say she pulls our strings?

suggest you employ just a little common sense before posting here.

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 08:23 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 03:50 AM)
>
> Your little game of confusion won't work here!

had already written my replies to show how false you are, but I decided to delete it for now. It would ie much better to meet a judge in court to have him decide who is telling the truth - or who is making iuch a distortion of the facts, that the total picture becomes a great falsehood!

3ee again in court, if that is your pleasure!

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 8 2007, 08:24 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 08:01 PM)
>
> ☒ ofl You heard the large print. Guess you can PM me.

Velcome again dear glenetta. It is obvious to understand that you All Late and Wrong as most newbies tend to be. We know you are new here and do not know your place, so please sit a while, read and maybe learn a few things before these foot in mouth experiences become habit forming.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:24 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:16 PM)
>
> exactly.... from day one here at BSDA 3 yrs ago stated that she was not being treated as she should

Clay, it's not clear..WHO stated what she was not being treated fair? The actual source of our conversation or one of the puppets. Well that's it it must be gospel.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:21 PM)
>
> Spike, she was treated wonderfully considering what they knew. They could have exposed everything they had, they didn't. She could have been dismissed without any severence because of the morality question. Instead she was given a more than generous, severence. There are receipts for out of state counseling, and the Pastors and others that counseled with them are prepared to sign sworn statements as such. Every opportunity was given for help and reconciliation. She was given a more than fair amount of time to act on this and did not take it.
>
> So once again, that she was not treated christlike when it all first happened is yet another rumor that started from the same source as all the others. Once the rumors and deceit were told, put in print, taken to the internet and repeated a hundred times over, of course 3abn had to start defending themselves against senseless accusations. Wouldn't you? Their was and is only one way to do that.

just when I thought you couldn't sound any more stupid... you surpassed yourself.... now you would have us believe that she was treated Christlike.... I think you and Danny must be sharing the same water, air, bed.... something....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:26 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> I had already written my replies to show how false you are, but I decided to delete it for now. It would be much better to meet a judge in court to have him decide who is telling the truth - or who is making such a distortion of the facts, that the total picture becomes a great falsehood!
>
> See again in court, if that is your pleasure!

We agree. I have been saying that all along but everyone here kept demanding details...I believe I have said several times and so has bystander that proof should be shown somewhere that counts...but they all just keep pushin

---

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:24 PM) ☐
>
> Clay, it's not clear..WHO stated what she was not being treated fair? The actual source of our conversation or one of the puppets. Well that's it it must be gospel.

tell Danny we said hi when you give him your evening report.....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:28 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:25 PM) ☐
>
> just when I thought you couldn't sound any more stupid... you surpassed yourself.... now you would have us believe that she was treated Christlike.... I think you and Danny must be sharing the same water, air, bed.... something....

And are you and she sharing the same water, air, bed...something?

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:30 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:28 PM) ☐
>
> And are you and she sharing the same water, air, bed...something?

you know everything else you would know if I was....tell Danny it aint workin....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:27 PM) ☐
>
> tell Danny we said hi when you give him your evening report.....

I don't give reports. Unlike you, I think for myself and I can what is right and what is wrong.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 8 2007, 08:30 PM) ☐
>
> you know everything else you would know if I was....tell Danny it aint workin....

The Truth always works.

Posted by: Clay Feb 8 2007, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:30 PM) ☐
>
> I don't give reports. Unlike you, I think for myself and I can what is right and what is wrong.

you wouldnt know what thinking for yourself is and wouldnt know a clue if it slapped you.....

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 04:21 AM) ☐
>
> - - - the Pastors and others that counseled with them are prepared to sign sworn statements as such. - - -

I challenge you to get such a statement from the pastor whom Danny asked to pray for Linda's return when he had chased her away from Camp Meeting. Danny has frequently told the world that he had counselled Linda.

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 08:36 PM

I was going to reply back to WWJD but I have to agree with Clay and tiresome they are. Plus I know of too many of the dealings of DS and his treatment of others but it's not my story to tell it's theirs when they are ready. So some of us do know better no matter what they come and say.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 8 2007, 08:42 PM

You got that right Spike. They don't like it that we pay attention in here so they have to do what they can to try to blow smoke so the real issues get buried under it all & they hope we will all go away.

Posted by: Johann Feb 8 2007, 08:52 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 04:31 AM) ☐
>
> I don't give reports. Unlike you, I think for myself and I can what is right and what is wrong. The Truth always works.

Why don't you give Danny your reports? Does he know it all without you saying anything?

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 09:11 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 7 2007, 09:21 AM) ☐
>
> I did not write the following, but am merely passing it on. It explains the above quote from HOTY that appeared in another 3ABN thread. This is yet another example of the true character of Danny Shelton and what goes on behind the scenes at 3ABN, which are diametrically opposed to the remarks he and Mollie recently made on a Thursday night "live" concerning the unimportance of online posting in regard to the situation at 3ABN. It also illustrates his continual threats of harassment toward, his ex-wife, Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister
>
> Have you heard about the "deeply spiritual" worship that took place today at 3abn and how the master himself actually CAME TO WORSHIP??? He does not go to the weekly worship you know...but he did today!!! And with vengeance!!
>
> "Dan did worship today and it was all about how he is going after "Linda and her team." He also said that he's bringing charges against the employees that post on BSDA. It was over an hour and was all about the scandals going on. Dan said that charges had already been filed. He said he was going after Linda and those that post in her favor. Then to close it all, John Lomacang said a prayer that was basically a warning against people speaking out. He said charges were filed against Linda's team and others who support her and post on this site. He didn't name names, but he did say "I'm going after Linda." He did say that someone is giving them (Linda's team) information and are always one step ahead.
>
> I know that if the employees didn't know something was up, they do now. Everyone was talking and a few friends were saying how administration is > furious."

Nhy are WWJD and Glenetta fighting so hard to keep our discussion away from the facts in he above post with which I began this thread? What does the above quote say about the haracters of both Danny Shelton and John Lomacang? Let me make one suggestion and see where it eads us.

rom the above description of John Lomacang's "prayer" is is obvious why it is unwise to have the ABN church as a separate church district of it's own---with it's own pastor, with 3ABN paying half of is salary---within an established church district, where the next district church is less then a 10 ninute drive away. Judging by this situation alone, there is an obvious conflict of interest on he part of John Lomacang. Pollyanna said, "No one can own a church." But she never said it is mpossible to own the Pastor, especially if he has his own program on 3ABN, sings on 3ABN and his ecordings are promoted on 3ABN. What does this say about the credibility of John Lomacang? ny thoughts, folks?

ister

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 8 2007, 11:11 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 07:11 PM)
>
> Why are WWJD and Glenetta fighting so hard to keep our discussion away from the facts in the above post with which I began this thread? What does the above quote say about the characters of both Danny Shelton and John Lomacang? Let me make one suggestion and see where it leads us.
>
> From the above description of John Lomacang's "prayer" is is obvious why it is unwise to have the 3ABN church as a separate church district of it's own---with it's own pastor, with 3ABN paying half of his salary---within an established church district, where the next district church is less then a 10 minute drive away. Judging by this situation alone, there is an obvious conflict of interest on the part of John Lomacang. Pollyanna said, "No one can own a church." But she never said it is impossible to own the Pastor, especially if he has his own program on 3ABN, sings on 3ABN and his recordings are promoted on 3ABN. What does this say about the credibility of John Lomacang? Any thoughts, folks?
>
> Sister

used to love to hear John L. and wife interview people. He sounded so much nicer than Danny ever ould. I used to love hearing him sing. Now I am ashamed of him and the blatant lies and discusting errible things he says against Linda on world wide television. So to me the prayer just confirms my eelings about him. I lost all respect for the man. He dishonored God and himself and everyone else vho listened to his "prayer".
he agitators in this topic forum are just whisps of smoke. They talk big but don't back up their talk.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 11:23 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 08:31 PM)

> I challenge you to get such a statement from the pastor whom Danny asked to pray for Linda's return when he had chased her away from Camp Meeting. Danny has frequently told the world that he had counselled Linda.

I will take you up on that because it's not even a challenge. The pastor you refer to is MARK FINLEY. He will be happy to verify that he counseled with Linda by phone, 3 different times for 45 minutes to an hour. MARK FINLEY . HAS HE BEEN DUPED TOO? He will also be happy, if it comes to that, to verify that she did, indeed, have an inappropriate relationship with Arild that went way beyond a doctor treating her son. He can also verify that she was not willing to "give him up" to restore her marriage and/or her place in the ministry.

Johann, this would never have had to be told had you not challenged a statement from this pastor..Maybe it would be best for you and others to back away before you hurt her more than help her.

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Feb 8 2007, 11:11 PM)
>
> I used to love to hear John L. and wife interview people. He sounded so much nicer than Danny ever could. I used to love hearing him sing. Now I am ashamed of him and the blatant lies and discusting terrible things he says against Linda on world wide television. So to me the prayer just confirms my feelings about him. I lost all respect for the man. He dishonored God and himself and everyone else who listened to his "prayer".
> The agitators in this topic forum are just whisps of smoke. They talk big but don't back up their talk.

What "prayer" are you talking about? The one at Worship? Were you there? If not you are strictly going on rumor again. Several that were there said that John in no way prayed a "warning" prayer. They said Danny never said he was going after LInda and her team. More than several said it wasn't true. They witnessed it. So again, sister or someone who fed her the info twisted it to their own liking.

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 12:01 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 08:50 PM)
>
> You ask for information, I have permission to share it.

So bring on some real information and significant information! So far, we've only seen spin and a picking on insignificant details like slips of the tongue/typing finger ..

> QUOTE
>
> But what difference will it make. When we show proof that the puppeteer

You know, when you start with such an insulting premise, to you really expect us to listen to you?
If you start that far out in left field, how do you expect to ever get to first base?

> QUOTE
>
> has lied you either ignore it or start grasping at straws like your statement about airbrushing.

Again, you're grasping at straws because it was your partner in spin, Glenetta, who inserted the airbrushing scenario! Having said that, I don't doubt the possibility, considering all the verbal spin and outright lying we've had to put up with.

> QUOTE
>
> Every thing that has been posted that has said you can call and check it out, or the things that have been posted with facts and figures about her salary and perks compared to his, you just ignore or try to poke holes in.

We've never been that seriously interested in comparitive salaries. So why should we make a big deal of it just because you want us to??

> QUOTE
>
> So now, I see, that even if we were to post pictures of the obvious you all will say they have been doctored. What a joke. That's ok.

So you are preparing the way for not posting pictures because you don't have anything significant -- nothing that would be convincing to a thinking person!

> QUOTE
>
> Close your eyes, don't even entertain the possibiltiy that the master puppeteer has been pulling your strings whether you know it or not.

There you go again with your insults, and you expect us to listen to you?? (to be continued)

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 12:12 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 12:23 AM)
>
> I will take you up on that because it's not even a challenge. The pastor you refer to is MARK FINLEY. He will be happy to verify that he counseled with Linda by phone, 3 different times for 45 minutes to an hour. MARK FINLEY . HAS HE BEEN DUPED TOO? He will also be happy, if it comes to that, to verify that she did, indeed, have an inappropriate relationship with Arild that went way beyond a doctor treating her son. He can also verify that she was not willing to "give him up" to restore her marriage and/or her place in the ministry.

Do you know the content of those three 45-minute phone calls? Areyou sure that Mark Finlay will testify that Linda had an "an inappropriate relationship"?

You see this is the story that we've been told from the beginning. And I believe it's a slanderous statement about Mark Finlay.

I believe that Mark Finlay was not duped, as you seem to testify he was. Thus I doubt very much that he'll be "happy to verify" your story. I rather suspect that he recognizes that Dan Shelton had no biblical grounds for divorce. In fact, it wouldn't surprise me if he had told Dan just that.

You've told us what you think, and I've told you what I think.

The truth will eventually come out.

In the meantime, I suspect that, based on our individual records, your credibility here may be just a little lower than mine. (We reap what we sow.)

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 12:21 AM

Inga:

Don't forget ~~Bi~~Bystander ... he, and wwjd are sharing a computer. You may have noticed, a day or two ago, when one was talking then the other got on and, then one or both of them, "forgot" to log off, thus the other esponded by mistake under the other persons name.

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 8 2007, 08:13 PM)
>
> Yes, Sister. I suspect that Glenetta's and WWJD's coming here to muddy the waters was hardly accidental... [/b]

Posted by: roxe Feb 9 2007, 01:55 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 8 2007, 11:21 PM)
>
> Don't forget ~~Bi~~Bystander ... he, and wwjd are sharing a computer.

hmmm... wonder if all the Danny apologists are coaching each other as they type?

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 05:07 AM

Re: "I will take you up on that because it's not even a challenge. The pastor you refer to is MARK FINLEY. He will be happy to verify that he counseled with Linda by phone, 3 different times for 45 minutes to an hour. MARK FINLEY . HAS HE BEEN DUPED TOO? He will also be happy, if it comes to that, to verify that she did, indeed, have an inappropriate relationship with Arild that went way beyond a doctor treating her son. He can also verify that she was not willing to "give him up" to restore her marriage and/or her place in the ministry.

Johann, this would never have had to be told had you not challenged a statement from this pastor..Maybe it would be best for you and others to back away before you hurt her more than help her."

Mark Finley is a respected SDA leader. Many of us would like to see what he says, and if he supports your version of events.

In reality, Linda is hurt more by statements such as the above. Why? Because she can not challenge undocumented statemetns as to what Mark Finley would say. We on the so-called Linda's Team want to know the truth, whatever it is. We are willing for that truth to come out.

Does Mark Finley beleive that he cannot make a public statement without permission from Linda? O.K. Ask him to contact me. I will ask Linda to give him permission. If he wishes, ask him to send me his statement. I, again, will ask Linda to grant permission for me to post it. After she gives it, I will post it exactly as Mark Finley wrote it. Of course, after it is posted, anyone else may comment on it.

Once Mark Finley's statement is posted, we will know exactly what he has said. We will not be in doubt. We can comment on it in any way.

Is my proposal fair? Tell me if it is not.

By the way: In fairness to Linda, ask Mark Finley to be specific. Generalized statemets such as: "Linda had an inapproprite relationship . . ." are so general that it is hard to respond to them.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 9 2007, 05:22 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 9 2007, 05:07 AM)
>
> Re: "I will take you up on that because it's not even a challenge. The pastor you refer to is MARK FINLEY. He will be happy to verify that he counseled with Linda by phone, 3 different times for 45 minutes to an hour. MARK FINLEY . HAS HE BEEN DUPED TOO? He will also be happy, if it comes to that, to verify that she did, indeed, have an inappropriate relationship with Arild that went way beyond a doctor treating her son. He can also verify that she was not willing to "give him up" to restore her marriage and/or her place in the ministry.
>
> Johann, this would never have had to be told had you not challenged a statement from this pastor..Maybe it would be best for you and others to back away before you hurt her more than help her."
>
> Mark Finley is a respected SDA leader. Many of us would like to see what he says, and if he supports your version of events.
>
> In reality, Linda is hurt more by statements such as the above. Why? Because she can not challenge undocumented statemetns as to what Mark Finley would say. We on the so-called Linda's Team want to know the truth, whatever it is. We are willing for that truth to come out.
>
> Does Mark Finley beleive that he cannot make a public statement without permission from Linda? O.K. Ask him to contact me. I will ask Linda to give him permission. If he wishes, ask him to send me his statement. I, again, will ask Linda to grant permission for me to post it. After she gives it, I will post it exactly as Mark Finley wrote it. Of course, after it is posted, anyone else may comment on it.
>
> Once Mark Finley's statement is posted, we will know exactly what he has said. We will not be in doubt. We can comment on it in any way.
>
> Is my proposal fair? Tell me if it is not.
>
> By the way: In fairness to Linda, ask Mark Finley to be specific. Generalized statemets such as: "Linda had an inapproprite relationship . . ." are so general that it is hard to respond to them.

Pastor Finley has been contacted and provided with a copy of the post by wwjd. I'll let you know when and if I get a response.

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 07:00 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 9 2007, 04:22 AM)
>
> Pastor Finley has been contacted and provided with a copy of the post by wwjd. I'll let you know when and if I get a response.

I have sent Mark Finley a similar message, if I had his correct e-mail address.

I shall wait to see if it comes back to me as an incorrect addres, of if he responds to me.

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 07:21 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 9 2007, 12:21 AM)
>
> Inga:
>
> Don't forget ~~Bi~~Bystander ... he, and wwjd are sharing a computer. You may have noticed, a day or two ago, when one was talking then the other got on and, then one or both of them, "forgot" to log off, thus the other esponded by mistake under the other persons name.

and what is sooooo wild is that they both make the same spelling error with Johann's name, spelling it Yohann...... isn't that creepy or what?

Posted by: Johann Feb 9 2007, 08:24 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 9 2007, 07:23 AM)
>
> - - -
>
> Johann, this would never have had to be told had you not challenged a statement from this pastor..Maybe it would be best for you and others to back away before you hurt her more than help her.
>
> - - -

I would never have challenged this if that pastor had not told me that he had never had a real counselling session with Linda. Was he telling me a lie? Perhaps he knows better than you what counselling is?

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 09:09 AM

counseling via phone? I don't think so....

Posted by: YogusBearus Feb 9 2007, 09:16 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 09:09 AM)
>
> counseling via phone? I don't think so....

Similar to violin lessons via correspondence I guess.

-Yogi

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 09:36 AM

> QUOTE(YogusBearus @ Feb 9 2007, 08:16 AM)
>
> Similar to violin lessons via correspondence I guess.
>
> -Yogi

Don't laugh. I once worked with a person who signed upt to learn to play the piano through a correspondence course.

As to counseling, some think it is the following:

Counselee: What should I do?

Counselor: You should . . . ..

Counselee: O.K. Thanks.

That is why I talk about prefessional counseling. It is much more. But, if we can get a statement from Mark Finley, we can understand what went on, and discuss it.

Without that statement, Linda is at a disadvantage and cannot respond to anything.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 8 2007, 07:31 PM)
>
> What dates are you talking about? Sure, the three of us had meetings to discuss what to do about Danny's official lies about us. All three of us were in the same boat - made by Danny Shelton. My wife, Irmgard, had also been involved, but she was too sick to travel.
>
> That is the dates I am talking about the three of you meeting! Would this not be a date, is there such a thing as a date book which you write engagements down in. Coming here to get answeres can be very difficult. I am finding that, it seems, seems many have only one agenda and its not to allow others to ask questions. Thank you for being considerate enough to respond civil. I am sorry to hear that your wife was sick. Probably in this day and age, another women along would have made a different light as well. At these "meetings" did the group ever come up with a plan to deal > with the situation?

>
> Those pictures were taken by Danny's Private Investigators when we came to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting in 2004. By using the right kind of a telephoto lens they avoided getting me into the picture. That is easy for an expensive Private Investigator.
>
> Have you seen the pictures that were taken? I guess that it would be a zoom in shot. I imagen that the picture would be Linda and her Dr. Arild, very large. I would like to see them, I know what Linda looks like but would like to see the Doctor.
> Hey is that where you were at when you talked about Thompsonville? 3abn Camp Meeting? So you were with Linda, Dr. Arild at camp meeting?
>
> According to Pastor John Lomacang Danny had already made up his mind he wanted to get rid of Linda before we got into the picture. Danny was only waiting for an opportunity where he could make it look like he had biblical grounds for a divorce, and it appeared to him that he could use Dr. Arild Abrahamsen as his scapegoat.
>
> This is the confusion and commenting on this could get frizzy hair going on. I am told that this is a public forum and that I should PM but I don't see where others do a lot of that. People just talk freely. Did Danny have biblical grounds for the divorce, yes or no? You were there was the Dr. Arild and Linda ever alone? If so now this could be confused with . . . . . . .That is why we are to be careful about appearance. I can't imagen Linda doing that, she seemed to be so spiritual on TV. I man eric said a few days ago though. What you see on TV and in reality is two different things, and I would say to some point that could be true.
>
> I do not understand how you get the impression from what I said that the doctor and Linda were at fault? Danny made it appear like they were at fault by issuing false statements.
>
> My impression is wide open. I am trying to get an impression and believe me, like many people, I may need some clarification to support my thoughts. Seems there have been many things twisted by many people and that's how this seems to be going. Did you read about Linda getting her house broke into. Forged documents ect. Well now this makes me wonder about the documents here and everywhere, are they FORGED? See for the unknowing all of this is just hard to believe. You have first hand info. Talk to me friend.
>
> Danny got so angry at me for refusing to help him verify this false accusation, that he had Dr. Walt Thompson fire me from my employment at 3ABN.
>
> You have got to be kidding Dr. Walt Thompson fired you from 3ABN because Danny was angry? Tell me more about this! Now I heard that Linda terminated peoples employment when she was there, but then this was after she was gone. There was one gentleman that lives in Texas and Linda was not happy with the way he talked to her. So she fired him in a snappy pappy minute. He was so hurt. Anyway that was when she was there. Tell me about your experience>

Posted by: Clay Feb 9 2007, 09:47 AM

Glenetta..... go back to the shallow end of the pool.... grown folks business down here in the deep end and you have shown you aren't ready just yet....

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 10:17 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 9 2007, 08:24 AM)
>
> I would never have challenged this if that pastor had not told me that he had never had a real counselling session with Linda. Was he telling me a lie? Perhaps he knows better than you what counselling is?

What on earth is going on here. Now Mark Finley is deceiving people? What kind of place is this SDA forum. Johann here I am trying to build some trust in your statements and now your saying that other leaders within the denomination are corrupt also. Tell me how all of these people are so bad and everyone here is so good and know the truth. Something is not right!
I read at the beginning about Corporate Worship which to me is an excellent idea to implement into any business, ministry and families around the world. Here I see it turned into some awful thing. Now Mark Finley is being degraded. Come on tell me, does anyone love Jesus here?

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 10:31 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 09:17 AM)
>
> What on earth is going on here. Now Mark Finley is deceiving people? What kind of place is this SDA forum. Johann here I am trying to build some trust in your statements and now your saying that other leaders within the denomination are corrupt also. Tell me how all of these people are so bad and everyone here is so good and know the truth. Something is not right!
> I read at the beginning about Corporate Worship which to me is an excellent idea to implement into any business, ministry and families around the world. Here I see it turned into some awful thing. Now Mark Finley is being degraded. Come on tell me, does anyone love Jesus here?

Glenetta get off of your high horse. No one is remotely degrading Mark Finley. He is a respected SDA evangelist and leader. We have been told that he is willing to make a statement in regard to the counseling that it is claimed he did with Linda. I, who am one of those on the so-called Linda's Team, would like to see his statement. I have never said anything that can be remotely considered to be an implication that Mark Finley has lied. As a respected leader, who we are told is willing to make a statement, I want to see what he has to say. If he is willing to give such to us, I will comment on it. There is nothing degrading about that.

As for Johann, he has not degraded Mark Finley. He simply brought up a question that needs to be clairfied. Surely Elder Finley will not take offense at the request for clairfication. Johann, Bob Pickle, GAJ, and I are all interested in the truth, whatever that is.

Posted by: Denny Feb 9 2007, 10:33 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 04:17 PM)
>
> [color=#000099]What on earth is going on here. Now Mark Finley is deceiving people? What kind of place is this SDA forum. Johann here I am trying to build some trust in your statements and now your saying that other leaders within the denomination are corrupt also. Tell me how all of these > people are so bad and everyone here is so good and know the truth. Something is not right!

> I read at the beginning about Corporate Worship which to me is an excellent idea to implement into any business, ministry and families around the world. Here I see it turned into some awful thing.
> Now Mark Finley is being degraded. Come on tell me, does anyone love Jesus here?[/color] ou must be a fast reader, you just joined on Feb 7 and have read all the historical posts on here bout 3abn and are ready to discuss said posts and judge people's relationship with Jesus! wow!

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 9 2007, 10:48 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Feb 9 2007, 11:33 AM) ☐
>
> You must be a fast reader, you just joined on Feb 7 and have read all the historical posts on here about 3abn and are ready to discuss said posts and judge people's relationship with Jesus! wow!

t's that Evelyn Wood Speed reading course...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 10:58 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Feb 9 2007, 10:33 AM) ☐
>
> You must be a fast reader, you just joined on Feb 7 and have read all the historical posts on here about 3abn and are ready to discuss said posts and judge people's relationship with Jesus! wow!

es I have spent some time reading the many post and judgment of people's relationship with Jesus, I hink not. I would have to say though "fruit's" are little but hey "some fruit" develop slow. I once had orange tree and I never did think that it would produce and you know what eventually it did. As long s there is a stump there can always be branches.
don't want to follow the crowd Denny, I want to have my own personal view of things. I guess if that oes not agree with you, well that is your problem.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 10:59 AM

> QUOTE(YogusBearus @ Feb 9 2007, 10:16 AM) ☐
>
> Similar to violin lessons via correspondence I guess.
>
> -Yogi

And, let us not forget, divorce by correspondence.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 9 2007, 11:12 AM

In post#218, Glenetta wrote:

" I am told that this is a public forum and that I should PM but I don't see where others do a lot of that."

How in the world would you know how many PMs are sent between people? I assure you that yesterday I sent more PMs asking for information and especially clarification than I wrote posts in the 3ABN area.

There is a great deal of fellowship and support to be found here at BlackSDA. The last time I checked not only have you been posting a lot since joining but 100% of those posts are in the 3ABN forum.

Why not visit some other areas and get to know people here before making accusations about anyone's faith or relationship to their creator in this highly volatile topic.

You might find your questions and opinions are more welcomed after you establish a relationship with the people here. That is what social media is all about.

nw

Also please note that I think it is very important in these heated discussions to quote things exactly rather than put words in peoples mouths by paraphrasing what you thought they meant. Just a suggestion/hint.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 11:19 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 9 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> Glenetta get off of your high horse. No one is remotely degrading Mark Finley. He is a respected SDA evangelist and leader. We have been told that he is willing to make a statement in regard to the counseling that it is claimed he did with Linda. I, who am one of those on the so-called Linda's Team, would like to see his statement. I have never said anything that can be remotely considered to be an implication that Mark Finley has lied. As a respected leader, who we are told is willing to make a statement, I want to see what he has to say. If he is willing to give such to us, I will comment on it. There is nothing degrading about that.
>
> As for Johann, he has not degraded Mark Finley. He simply brought up a question that needs to be clairfied. Surely Elder Finley will not take offense at the request for clairfication. Johann, Bob Pickle, GAJ, and I are all interested in the truth, whatever that is.

If he is respected like you have said, why would you want to "see" his statement? And Johann did ask, "DID HE LIE"? It was a question but what a question for a highly regarded, highly respected individual of the denomination. I imagen if there is a court proceeding, the statement will be there and being you are representing Linda you will see it then. I can't imagen what would be said about Elder Finley on here, if, that statement was posted here. I am in fear that this is becoming . ... more than just a forum of discussion. When SDA's are becoming so liberal that they feel they can evaluate "anyone" and "everyone" that is getting serious.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 11:19 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 10:47 AM)
>
> Glenetta..... go back to the shallow end of the pool.... grown folks business down here in the deep end and you have shown you aren't ready just yet....

Have you not heard "that the very young do not always do as they are told".

The Nox - Star Gate SG-1

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 11:30 AM

Re: "If he is respected like you have said, why would you want to "see" his statement?"

1) Because he is respected.

2) Because we have been told that he would be willing to make a statement.

3) Because the statement that he is said to be willing to make, and may already have made to othrs, concerns Linda. Should she be made aware of what he has already said about her, or is willing to say about her? I think that she should be aware of such.

4) As I am said to be on Linda's Team, and one who advises her, it is appropriate for me to ask to see the statement.

5) I will point out: The attempt of ASI to mediate broke down in part because Linda wanted full public disclosure regardless of which way it went. I find it of interest that the other side (not Linda's side) appars unwilling to state the facts and wants to only disclose to a few people. If Mark Finley is willing to make a statement, and Linda is willing for such a statement to be public, why not?

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 9 2007, 11:32 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 12:19 PM)
>
> If he is respected like you have said, why would you want to "see" his statement? And Johann did ask, "DID HE LIE"? It was a question but what a question for a highly regarded, highly respected individual of the denomination. I imagen if there is a court proceeding, the statement will be there and being you are representing Linda you will see it then. I can't imagen what would be said about Elder Finley on here, if, that statement was posted here. I am in fear that this is becoming . . . . more than just a forum of discussion. When SDA's are becoming so liberal that they feel they can evaluate "anyone" and "everyone" that is getting serious.

Get over yourself already...you've been here less than a week and already you've shown that you have no interest in actually reading what's posted here...instead you twist and manipulate words and other people's post to present a completely different message (Example: insisting that Johann had "dates"; quoting Sister's posts incorrectly). That is wrong, just wrong... The one thing that I really respect Calvin for on these boards is that he holds everybody to the same standard of integrity, respect, and honesty. You need to remember that.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 11:46 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 9 2007, 11:19 AM)
>
> Have you not heard "that the very young do not always do as they are told".
>
> The Nox - Star Gate SG-1

Why do I have to be ready? I'll just jump on your back and let you do all the swimming! Then when we get to the shallow end I'll jump off and comment on what a good girl am I, while you are still trying to get your breath.

I have heard the young do not always do as they are told, and young I am.

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 9 2007, 11:32 AM)
>
> Get over yourself already...you've been here less than a week and already you've shown that you have no interest in actually reading what's posted here...instead you twist and manipulate words and other people's post to present a completely different message (Example: insisting that Johann had "dates"; quoting Sister's posts incorrectly). That is wrong, just wrong... The one thing that I really respect Calvin for on these boards is that he holds everybody to the same standard of integrity, respect, and honesty. You need to remember that.

I have read enough post to know that I read how Linda had a swimming pool at her manision, Joe Smith called it huge. Pickle decided it was all compared to Joe Smith had none. So I guess it would all be in the eye of the beholder. Now what appears to be a huge contribution by Gailon Joy is very small in the eyes of another, including me. I give myself and his donation was small peanuts. Now as far as twisting words, I am not, read the post as the post was made and the proceeding post. I referred to the dates because they were dates that the 3 meet. Now if you are thinking of a date, date then 2 is a company 3 is a crowd. Well in most cases.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 11:52 AM

What in the world are you talking about?

> QUOTE
>
> Inga, I am surprised that you would put so many accusations in your post. Again I ask not where are you getting your information but what is the original source or are you just repeating what you have heard? Do you hear yourself and this is to princess di also when you talk about airbrushing people and when you accuse danny of getting rid of linda because he was having an affair with Brandi? All I hear is show proof from your side. Where is your proof on those accusations?................

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:17 AM)
>
> What on earth is going on here. Now Mark Finley is deceiving people?

That Elder Mark Finlay disagrees with Dan Shelton and his team does not mean he is being deceptive. It means he disagrees. That could mean that either Dan Shelton or Mark Finlay is being deceptive.

I'm betting that Mark Finlay is being truthful and Dan Shelton is being deceptive.

Let other readers judge for themselves.

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 9 2007, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 12:17 PM)
>
> What on earth is going on here. What kind of place is this SDA forum. Come on tell me, does anyone love Jesus here?

Give it a rest, lady. This forum is what you make it. Why don't you take a break from the 3ABN saga and visit some other threads, you will see "what kind of place is this SDA forum." Oh yeah, and you'll discover that we all love Jesus here.

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 12:06 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 11:02 AM)
>
> That Elder Mark Finlay disagrees with Dan Shelton and his team does not mean he is being deceptive. It means he disagrees. That could mean that either Dan Shelton or Mark Finlay is being deceptive.
>
> I'm betting that Mark Finlay is being truthful and Dan Shelton is being deceptive.
>
> Let other readers judge for themselves.

And honest people can disagree.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 12:08 PM

....more like disrespectful...

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 9 2007, 05:21 AM)
>
> and what is sooooo wild is that they both make the same spelling error with Johann's name, spelling it Yohann...... isn't that creepy or what?

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 12:09 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 12:46 PM)
>
> I referred to the dates because they were dates that the 3 meet. Now if you are thinking of a date, date then 2 is a company 3 is a crowd. Well in most cases.

Glenetta, you are again trying to confuse the issue. You suggested they "had dates," and that means something very different from a meeting of 3 or more people on specific dates. Such meetings are through appointments and are not called dates. which I suspect you already know, since you seem to be well enough acquainted with the English language and American modes of expression, albeit not the educated version.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 12:16 PM

But the kicker is what they are considering counselling is people or a group of people steadily calling Linda to meetings telling her to stop talking to the Dr. treating her son. That is not counselling. I can't get over that!

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 9 2007, 07:36 AM)
>
> Don't laugh. I once worked with a person who signed upt to learn to play the piano through a correspondence course.
>
> As to counseling, some think it is the following:
>
> Counselee: What should I do?
>
> Counselor: You should . . . ..
>
> Counselee: O.K. Thanks.
>
> That is why I talk about prefessional counseling. It is much more. But, if we can get a statement > from Mark Finley, we can understand what went on, and discuss it.

>
> Without that statement, Linda is at a disadvantage and cannot respond to anything.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 9 2007, 12:33 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 9 2007, 01:16 PM)
>
> But the kicker is what they are considering counselling is people or a group of people steadily calling Linda to meetings telling her to stop talking to the Dr. treating her son. That is not counselling. I can't get over that!

nd I second that statement.

o do we need to define what is appropriate "counselling" in this situation? And whose opinion should e considered? A trained therapist and if so, what are their credentials? A pastor whose experience is ust that, his experience (IMO which has no weight here)? There are definitely going to be ifferent definitions so probably each side will claim they were right on this issue.

hate to keep bringing up my mother but I cannot tell you how many times she has brought up the ounselling she heard/knows Linda got as a reason my mother believes that DS loved his wife and ever wanted any of this to happen. But despite the counselling, Linda would not GIVE UP her elationship. Ergo, in my mother's mind that equals affair.

efore I ever came to BlackSDA and learned more I wondered about what type of "counseling" Linda as provided and kept my tongue as to what I would guess it might have involved. If in fact Danny elieves that a wife spending too much time on the phone with a man that was not her husband(was it 5-20 minutes?) constitutes having an affair and individuals with similar mindthink believe the same nd were doing the counselling, I only know what my personal reaction would be and those words ain't and yes I said that) allowed on this board.

w

Posted by: Observer Feb 9 2007, 01:05 PM

What is professional counseling?

I will attempt to make a brief statement in the context of Linda and Danny as to what I would do if I had been involved in counseling them. I will begin with Linda first:

1) I would do an intake. That would be a personal history which would include social aspects of Linda's background as well as other issues. As Linda have been married prior to her marriage to Danny, that wuld be included. It would be comprehensive.

That purpose of that would be to identify to me issues associated with Linda's life and background that were pertenent to the issues of today.

2) I would attempt to get Linda to verbalize the relationshilp that she had with Dr. A.

The purpose would be in part to inform me. But it would also be an attempt to get Linda to fix in her mind the structural reality of that relationship.

3) I would attempt to get Linda to verbalize the emotional aspects of that relationship.

All relationships have an emotional aspect. Anger, etc. is an emotional aspect. I would do that in an attempt to get Linda to recognize how her emotions were involved in the relationship. and what those emotions were.

4) Then we would do the same for her marrige to Danny.

5) Next we would explore how the answers to the above issues impacted upon her marriage to Danny.

6) Then we would explore where Linda wanted to go in her relationship with Danny and also her relationship with Dr. A.

7) I have focused, so far, on Linda. I would take an similar approach to Danny.

8) Once I had helped both Linda and Danny clairfy in their minds the reality, and the direction that they wanted to go, I would help Linda and Danny explore their marriage and where they wanted to go with it.

If I had been effective, we would know where each one wanted to go with the marriage.

9) Once we knew where the marriage was going I would help them to explore how they would continue to relate to each other.

If they both wanted to build their marriage, I would help them to explore how to do such.

If they had decided to end the marriage, I would help them to explore how they would relate to each other in the future. The bottom line is that what we have seen here is an example of how people who plan to get a divorce should NOT relate to each other. If I was effective in this, Linda and Danny would be allowed to get on with their lives, without interference from the other, and they would relate to each other in a healthy manner. They might not be friends. There might be anger and pain. But, they would be moving on in health, and not in what we have seen.

Folks, this is a brief statemet that I simplly wrote off the top of my head, so to speak. If I were to think about it for a week, I would likely revise it. But, I will suggest that it gives you an idea as to what happpens in professional counseling

Yes, while I am a SDA clergyperson, I will still say that most SDA pastors are not qualified to do professional counseling.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 01:07 PM

Glenetta, since you are new here I am going to help you out:
In post #187 wwjd said this:

> QUOTE
>
> ......There are receipts for out of state counseling, and the Pastors and others that counseled with > them are prepared to sign sworn statements as such...........

o which Johann replied in Post #199:

> QUOTE
>
> I challenge you to get such a statement from the pastor whom Danny asked to pray for Linda's return when he had chased her away from Camp Meeting. Danny has frequently told the world that he had counselled Linda.

hen is post #205 wwjd responded:

> QUOTE
>
> I will take you up on that because it's not even a challenge. The pastor you refer to is MARK FINLEY. He will be happy to verify that he counseled with Linda by phone, 3 different times for 45 minutes to an hour. MARK FINLEY . HAS HE BEEN DUPED TOO? He will also be happy, if it comes to that, to verify that she did, indeed, have an inappropriate relationship with Arild that went way beyond a doctor treating her son. He can also verify that she was not willing to "give him up" to restore her marriage and/or her place in the ministry.

o which Observer repsonded In post #210:

> QUOTE
>
> ....Mark Finley is a respected SDA leader. Many of us would like to see what he says, and if he supports your version of events............Once Mark Finley's statement is posted, we will know exactly what he has said. We will not be in doubt. We can comment on it in any way.
>
> Is my proposal fair? Tell me if it is not.

o which Duane responded in Post #211:

> QUOTE
>
> Pastor Finley has been contacted and provided with a copy of the post by wwjd. I'll let you know when and if I get a response.

nd Observer again responded in Post #212:

> QUOTE
>
> I have sent Mark Finley a similar message, if I had his correct e-mail address.
>
> I shall wait to see if it comes back to me as an incorrect addres, of if he responds to me.

ow we are awaiting a repsonse from Mark Finley. Now , please keep up!

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 09:19 AM)
>
> If he is respected like you have said, why would you want to "see" his statement? And Johann did ask, "DID HE LIE"? It was a question but what a question for a highly regarded, highly respected individual of the denomination. I imagen if there is a court proceeding, the statement will be there and being you are representing Linda you will see it then. I can't imagen what would be said about Elder Finley on here, if, that statement was posted here. I am in fear that this is becoming . ... . more than just a forum of discussion. When SDA's are becoming so liberal that they feel they can evaluate "anyone" and "everyone" that is getting serious.

Posted by: Chez Feb 9 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Feb 8 2007, 11:11 PM)
>
> I used to love to hear John L. and wife interview people. He sounded so much nicer than Danny ever could. I used to love hearing him sing. Now I am ashamed of him and the blatant lies and discusting terrible things he says against Linda on world wide television. So to me the prayer just confirms my feelings about him. I lost all respect for the man. He dishonored God and himself and everyone else who listened to his "prayer".
> The agitators in this topic forum are just whisps of smoke. They talk big but don't back up their talk.

When Lomacang is on 3ABN, I turn the channel. When Danny Shelton is on 3ABN, I turn the channel. They are in the same boat. I am ashamed that John Lomacang would support such a vindictive action by Danny Shelton. As a "minister" of the Gospel, he should take the high road and not engage in such vindictive action or rhetoric. In addition, the 3ABN church (I think) is a part of the Illinois Conference. Therefore, Lomacang should be conducting himself according to the culture and practice of the conference not of a vindictive ex-husband. Note: I didn't refer to him as a "pastor". A true servant of God would not conduct himself/herself in such a manner using a "prayer" to bully and harass people. This sounds like Jim Jones and David Koresh.

Posted by: Chez Feb 9 2007, 01:23 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 9 2007, 01:09 PM)
>
> When Lomacang is on 3ABN, I turn the channel. When Danny Shelton is on 3ABN, I turn the channel. They are in the same boat. I am ashamed that John Lomacang would support such a vindictive action by Danny Shelton. As a "minister" of the Gospel, he should take the high road and not engage in such vindictive action or rhetoric. In addition, the 3ABN church (I think) is a part of the Illinois Conference. Therefore, Lomacang should be conducting himself according to the culture and practice of the conference not of a vindictive ex-husband. Note: I didn't refer to him as a "pastor". A true servant of God would not conduct himself/herself in such a manner using a "prayer" to bully and harass people. This sounds like Jim Jones and David Koresh.

Off Topic: Where is Aletheia? We lost Aletheia and Glenetta shows up. Hmmm.... Back on Topic!

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 9 2007, 01:30 PM

Glenetta said:

> QUOTE
>
> Inga, I am surprised that you would put so many accusations in your post. Again I ask not where are you getting your information but what is the original source or are you just repeating what you have heard? Do you hear yourself and this is to princess di also when you talk about airbrushing people and when you accuse danny of getting rid of linda because he was having an affair with Brandi? All I hear is show proof from your side. Where is your proof on those accusations?................

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 9 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> What in the world are you talking about?

Di, have you been hiding your talents from us? I mean, I know you're a princess and everthing, but I didn't know you could "airbrush" people?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 01:42 PM

Who told you this and why? PMs(Private Messages) are an option here and only those who name appear in the To or CC sections will know they have recieved them. The only ones you need concern yourself with are those that arrive in your Inbox. Now, if you are confused as to thier use, ask and it will be explained to you.

> QUOTE
>
> I am told that this is a public forum and that I should PM but I don't see where others do a lot of that. People just talk freely.

Gurl!!! I can do their hair.....for a price..now that I am officially retired. LOL!!!

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 9 2007, 11:30 AM)
>
> Di, have you been hiding your talents from us? I mean, I know you're a princess and everthing, but I didn't know you could "airbrush" people?

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 9 2007, 01:43 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 07:50 PM) ☐
>
> Since Johann is a foreigner maybe he doesn't understand that Licensed PI's dont lie.

Still laughing out loud... What country do YOU live in? I happen to be in United States where licensed PIs have a notorious reputation! LICENSED PI'S DON'T LIE???? I suppose you think licensed attorneys don't lie??? Or licensed accountants??? ☒ rofl

---

Posted by: gardener Feb 9 2007, 01:45 PM

Does anyone besides me think Glenetta sounds a lot like Aletheia?

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 9 2007, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 9 2007, 02:42 PM) ☐
>
> Gurl!!! I can do their hair.....for a price..now that I am officially retired. LOL!!!

LOL!! Where's Madea when we need her? There a certain phrase that would be appropriate right about now... ☒

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 8 2007, 10:11 PM) ☐
>
> Why are WWJD and Glenetta fighting so hard to keep our discussion away from the facts in the above post with which I began this thread? What does the above quote say about the characters of both Danny Shelton and John Lomacang? Let me make one suggestion and see where it leads us.
>
> From the above description of John Lomacang's "prayer" is is obvious why it is unwise to have the 3ABN church as a separate church district of it's own---with it's own pastor, with 3ABN paying half of his salary---within an established church district, where the next district church is less then a 10 minute drive away. Judging by this situation alone, there is an obvious conflict of interest on the part of John Lomacang. Pollyanna said, "No one can own a church." But she never said it is impossible to own the Pastor, especially if he has his own program on 3ABN, sings on 3ABN and his recordings are promoted on 3ABN. What does this say about the credibility of John Lomacang? Any thoughts, folks?
>
> Sister

Interesting questions to say the least...

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 9 2007, 03:10 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:46 AM)
>
> Now what appears to be a huge contribution by Gailon Joy is very small in the eyes of another, including me. I give myself and his donation was small peanuts .

Hhhmmm...another with access to private donor contribution information...

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12434&view=findpost&p=176311

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 12:02 PM)
>
> That Elder Mark Finlay disagrees with Dan Shelton and his team does not mean he is being deceptive. It means he disagrees. That could mean that either Dan Shelton or Mark Finlay is being deceptive.
>
> I'm betting that Mark Finlay is being truthful and Dan Shelton is being deceptive.
>
> Let other readers judge for themselves.

inga I have read through the post. I read Danny and Linda counseled with licensed, trained counselors, whom were out of the state, 2 of them to be exact and then I don't know if I heard it or read it that it totalled a 8 hour period of time. Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors. And by the way it was Linda who refused to go back. Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her.
Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 9 2007, 04:21 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 04:14 PM)

> Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

Maybe you should ask wwjd.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 04:25 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 01:02 PM) ☐
>
> That Elder Mark Finlay disagrees with Dan Shelton and his team does not mean he is being deceptive. It means he disagrees. That could mean that either Dan Shelton or Mark Finlay is being deceptive.
>
> I'm betting that Mark Finlay is being truthful and Dan Shelton is being deceptive.
>
> Let other readers judge for themselves.

nga, don't even waist your time, she doesn't get it. And it would take much more time than we have here.

Foot in mouth disease can't be cured without the persons consent to take the help. All I'm saying is it ust can't happen when they don't want it.

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 05:14 PM) ☐
>
> inga I have read through the post. I read Danny and Linda counseled with licensed, trained counselors, whom were out of the state, 2 of them to be exact and then I don't know if I heard it or read it that it totalled a 8 hour period of time. Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors. And by the way it was Linda who refused to go back. Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her.
> Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 04:27 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 05:14 PM) ☐
>
> Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors.

nteresting that you should know about all the receipts 3ABN has.

We've heard the stories about "so-called" counseling for more than two years now. That doesn't make it any more likely that Linda received counseling from disinterested parties.

The one person who would be recognized as disinterested is Mark Finley. And it would be helpful if he could lay the story of his "counseling" to rest once and for all. And that's what we're waiting for. WWJD suggested it, and we're waiting for the evidence.

About all those "other counselors": John Lomacang and Walt Thompson hardly cut it as "counselors" by any standard. And "counseling sessions" with Lnda and Danny where Danny did all the talking hardly cut it either. (Would you happen to know how much Danny donated to the ministry of the "counselors" they saw?)

So far, there has been no credible evidence that Linda received any counseling whatsoever before being summarily fired and divorced all at once.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 9 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 9 2007, 04:25 PM)
>
> Inga, don't even waist your time, she doesn't get it. And it would take much more time than we have here.
>
> Foot in mouth disease can't be cured without the persons consent to take the help. All I'm saying is it just can't happen when they don't want it.

Oh there is time, look how much you have spent so far, may as well stay in it for the long haul, huh. Tell me do you have proof that Linda did not refuse to continue in couseling? Do you have proof she did not cousel at all? I know of proof that says, she did, and she refused to put any effort into her marriage. Then just a bit ago I read that she would not put her marriage or her ministry over her grown male/child!
Oh my lands, now I know that the Board of 3ABN made the right choice. When one goes into ministry GOD COMES FIRST, then your marraige, then your grown up male sons and daughters. Its not like her son is young and not able to make his own choices. HE is/was A GROWN MAN! It cost her, and apparently she had to pay with more, than money.

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 9 2007, 04:27 PM)
>
> Interesting that you should know about all the receipts 3ABN has.
>
> We've heard the stories about "so-called" counseling for more than two years now. That doesn't make it any more likely that Linda received counseling from disinterested parties.
>
> The one person who would be recognized as disinterested is Mark Finley. And it would be helpful if he could lay the story of his "counseling" to rest once and for all. And that's what we're waiting for. WWJD suggested it, and we're waiting for the evidence.
>
> About all those "other counselors": John Lomacang and Walt Thompson hardly cut it as "counselors" by any standard. And "counseling sessions" with Lnda and Danny where Danny did all the talking hardly cut it either. (Would you happen to know how much Danny donated to the ministry of the "counselors" they saw?)

> So far, there has been no credible evidence that Linda received any counseling whatsoever before being summarily fired and divorced all at once.

)ut of STATE was my words. OUT OF STATE. John Lomacang and Wat Thompson are not figured in hat equation. Maybe you should do some looking and searching before refuting something you have ıot read or seen! Oh a maybe you should read the post as well.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 9 2007, 04:54 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 9 2007, 12:32 PM)
>
> Get over yourself already...you've been here less than a week and already you've shown that you have no interest in actually reading what's posted here...instead you twist and manipulate words and other people's post to present a completely different message...

luggie in all honesty I don't believe she gets it at all. The poor dear may be trying but she really is ıot getting it. Keep the sista in prayer and the rest of them in prayer, and let us leave the blind to ead the blind shall we.

Posted by: inga Feb 9 2007, 05:46 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 05:41 PM)
>
> Out of STATE was my words. OUT OF STATE. John Lomacang and Wat Thompson are not figured in that equation. Maybe you should do some looking and searching before refuting something you have not read or seen! Oh a maybe you should read the post as well.

Vell, I apologize for not breaking it down for you into bite sizes.
mentioned the counselors where Danny did all the talking, and I do understand they were in another ;tate. I also asked you whether you happend to know how much Danny donated to their ministry, ;eeing you seem to have access to a lot of information.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 9 2007, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 9 2007, 04:22 AM)
>
> Pastor Finley has been contacted and provided with a copy of the post by wwjd. I'll let you know when and if I get a response.

3lad you made the contact. We will all be interested in Pastor Finley's response!

Posted by: roxe Feb 9 2007, 10:59 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 10:46 AM)
>
> ...and young I am.

young?? ... who then is old??

~~"young" Brandi, perhaps??~~ sorry for speculating...
back to topic

Posted by: princessdi Feb 9 2007, 11:04 PM

Roxe, Roxe, Gurl you are a true Heathen! LOL!!!!

> QUOTE(roxe @ Feb 9 2007, 08:59 PM)
>
> young?? ... who then is old??
>
> ~~"young" Brandi, perhaps??~~ > sorry for speculating...
> back to topic

Posted by: Grace Feb 10 2007, 01:23 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 11:14 PM)
>
> inga I have read through the post. I read Danny and Linda counseled with licensed, trained counselors, whom were out of the state, 2 of them to be exact and then I don't know if I heard it or read it that it totalled a 8 hour period of time. Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors. And by the way it was Linda who refused to go back. Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her.
> Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

Glenetta, it sounds like you're working for the devil himself. This has been his job since the begining, trying to subtly implant lies in peoples minds. You have been doing it so much that you make me think that you came here exactly for that purpose. I'm praying for you.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 10 2007, 01:32 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 03:14 PM)
>
> [color=#000099] Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her.

Well you just did ~~imagine~~ think it. And it is not appreciated.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 10 2007, 06:34 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 9 2007, 05:54 PM)
>
> Nuggie in all honesty I don't believe she gets it at all. The poor dear may be trying but she really is not getting it. Keep the sista in prayer and the rest of them in prayer, and let us leave the blind to lead the blind shall we.

Yep...let the blind lead the blind right off the cliff...

Posted by: Johann Feb 10 2007, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 07:19 PM)
>
> - - -And Johann did ask, "DID HE LIE"? It was a question but what a question for a highly regarded, highly respected individual of the denomination. I imagen if there is a court proceeding, the statement will be there and being you are representing Linda you will see it then. I can't imagen what would be said about Elder Finley on here, if, that statement was posted here. I am in fear that this is becoming . ... . more than just a forum of discussion. When SDA's are becoming so liberal that they feel they can evaluate "anyone" and "everyone" that is getting serious.

Again, you are taking my words out of context. Mark Finlay called me and told me that he had not couselled Linda Shelton, but Danny Shelton claims he has. So one of them must be saying something which is not quite true. Since WWJS still claims that Mark Finlay was counselling Linda, then I asked, Did Mark Finlay then lie in what he told me, since he then denied what Danny Shelton claims he did?

One of the two must be telling a lie, either Danny Shelton or Mark Finlay. It is up to you to decide which one of them it was. Since you are saying, which I agree with, that it could not be Mark Finlay, then it must be Danny Shelton. At least he is claiming something which Mark Finlay did not agree with when he called me.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 10 2007, 09:11 AM

happysabl Family

To those of us seeking to go in, by way of the straight gate, consider the following:
Pro 9:8
Do not correct a scoffer, lest he hate you;
Rebuke a wise man, and he will love you.
Pro 9:9
Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be still wiser;
Teach a just man, and he will increase in learning.

May the Lord richly bless you all today.

Posted by: Clay Feb 10 2007, 09:15 AM

words of wisdom indeed Sera.... thanks for reminding us....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 10 2007, 02:38 PM

I agree Sera....

Many don't want to know "the truth" or the real version of "the truth".....

There's gonna be disappointment on all sides when the "truth" comes out.....

ALL I KEEP REQUESTING IS PROOF FROM BOTH SIDES!!! & it seems that one side "hears" it and will provide proof of substantial accounts...while the other side cannot.

So far...as follows....

1. Mark Finley states that he did not provide counseling to Linda.
2. If big IF Mark Finley did speak on the phone w/ Linda Bro. Finley didn't call this "counseling" and never charged for it.
3. "Receipts" that people are speaking of in regards to the said counseling of Linda by Mark Finley do not exist or were "made up" in the minds/by these people.
4. Someone is lying big time in regards to Mark Finley doing counseling.

Am I correct this far? Am I correct as of recent?

sn

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 10 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> 1. Mark Finley states that he did not provide counseling to Linda.
>
> ACCORDING TO THE WAY JOHANN UNDERSTOOD IT.

> 2. If big IF Mark Finley did speak on the phone w/ Linda Bro. Finley didn't call this "counseling" and never charged for it.
>
> MARK HAS NEVER DENIED TALKING TO LINDA ON THE PHONE SO YOUR BIG "IF" DOESN'T APPLY HERE. HE HAS ALSO NEVER DENIED IT WAS FROM 45 MINUTES TO AN HOUR EACH TIME.
>
> 3. "Receipts" that people are speaking of in regards to the said counseling of Linda by Mark Finley do not exist or were "made up" in the minds/by these people.
>
> RECEIPTS FROM MARK'S COUNSELING ARE LUDICROUS. NO ONE HAS EVER SAID THAT. IN THE FIRST PLACE MARK WAS A FRIEND OF BOTH DANNY AND LINDA AND WANTED TO HELP. THERE WOULD NEVER BEEN A 'CHARGE' FOR HIS COUNSELING AND ADVICE
> THE RECEIPTS ARE FOR CHRISTIAN COUNSELORS OUT OF STATE AND WERE FOR A TOTAL OF 8 HOURS WITH 2 PROFFESIONALLY LICENSED COUNSELORS.
> 4. Someone is lying big time in regards to Mark Finley doing counseling.
>
> Am I correct this far? Am I correct as of recent?
>
> AS ADDRESSED YOU WERE TOTALLY INCORRECT.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 10 2007, 05:00 PM

I thought we had been warned about shouting.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 10 2007, 05:13 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 10 2007, 05:00 PM)
>
> I thought we had been warned about shouting.

capped to seperate my words from the other poster

Posted by: Ralph Feb 10 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 10 2007, 04:13 PM)
>
> I capped to seperate my words from the other poster

olor, italics or bold will do that better than caps. Do take the time to figure out how to insert quotes s I mentioned in a post that I sent yesterday.

wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> For Newbies, try this if you wish to split a post. (I'll put spaces in this so it goes through.)
>
> At the beginning of a quote, insert [quote] (That's a square bracket, the word, "quote", square bracket)
> To end quote [/ quote] (That's square bracket, backslash, quote, square bracket.)

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 10 2007, 10:14 PM

While you cannot use the "quote function" correctly Bystander....I can. refer to Glenetta's post about "receipts" below.....

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 9 2007, 06:14 PM)
>
> inga I have read through the post. I read Danny and Linda counseled with licensed, trained counselors, whom were out of the state, 2 of them to be exact and then I don't know if I heard it or read it that it totalled a 8 hour period of time. Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors. And by the way it was Linda who refused to go back. Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her.
> Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

So below...where you took MY post and added in your comments....like thus...

> QUOTE
>
> 1. Mark Finley states that he did not provide counseling to Linda.
>
> ACCORDING TO THE WAY JOHANN UNDERSTOOD IT.
>
> 2. If big IF Mark Finley did speak on the phone w/ Linda Bro. Finley didn't call this "counseling" and never charged for it.
>
> MARK HAS NEVER DENIED TALKING TO LINDA ON THE PHONE SO YOUR BIG "IF" DOESN'T APPLY HERE. HE HAS ALSO NEVER DENIED IT WAS FROM 45 MINUTES TO AN HOUR EACH TIME.
>
> 3. "Receipts" that people are speaking of in regards to the said counseling of Linda by Mark Finley do not exist or were "made up" in the minds/by these people.
>
> RECEIPTS FROM MARK'S COUNSELING ARE LUDICROUS. NO ONE HAS EVER SAID THAT. IN THE FIRST PLACE MARK WAS A FRIEND OF BOTH DANNY AND LINDA AND WANTED TO HELP. THERE WOULD NEVER BEEN A 'CHARGE' FOR HIS COUNSELING AND ADVICE
> THE RECEIPTS ARE FOR CHRISTIAN COUNSELORS OUT OF STATE AND WERE FOR A TOTAL OF 8 HOURS WITH 2 PROFFESIONALLY LICENSED COUNSELORS.4. Someone is lying big time in regards to Mark Finley doing counseling.
>
> Am I correct this far? Am I correct as of recent?
>
> AS ADDRESSED YOU WERE TOTALLY INCORRECT.

Receipts from "other" counselors have been mentioned...yet - I still have to hear/see the proof of that. Kay Kuzma was supposed to be one of those "therapists"...but everyone knows - (if you know anything about HIPPA) that she truthfully wasn't supposed to be able to "confirm or deny" treating the couple as a matter of privacy. She has since admitted to "treating" the couple....that throws her credibility way off to me.....

If their are any "receipts" then this would be proof that Linda received counseling. This would also be proof that "they tried" to make it work. Scan them, put them here, put them at the other site.

...all other "evidence" has been talked about and beat to death like horse paste.... Put the evidence out there! That is all I ask.... & again - so far.... No One Wants To Put The Proof Out There and Get It Over With!!!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 10 2007, 10:24 PM

All I keep asking for is the "proof"...the "real deal" that would seal this and end it.

You can talk about the woman like a dog.
You can talk about her having an affair.
You can talk about the woman and her "monthly" cycle.
You can talk about the woman and her "problems" within her family.
You can talk about the woman and how she had an "expensive" lifestyle.

Put the real proof out there.....
Does she have a sex tape?
Does their exist tape recordings of conversations that were illicit?
Are these tapes not doctored?
Can these tapes be made public?
Are their letters that would prove that an affair was going on?
What of plane tickets and receipts from Hotel rooms and such?
Any lipstick smears on shirts?
What of others within the family that "don't care" and will tell all business just to get this entire mess to "shut up"?

I WANT PROOF!

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 10 2007, 10:41 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 10 2007, 11:24 PM) ☐
>
> All I keep asking for is the "proof"...the "real deal" that would seal this and end it.
>
> You can talk about the woman like a dog.
> You can talk about her having an affair.
> You can talk about the woman and her "monthly" cycle.
> You can talk about the woman and her "problems" within her family.
> You can talk about the woman and how she had an "expensive" lifestyle.
>
> Put the real proof out there.....
> Does she have a sex tape?
> Does their exist tape recordings of conversations that were illicit?
> Are these tapes not doctored?

> Can these tapes be made public?
> Are their letters that would prove that an affair was going on?
> What of plane tickets and receipts from Hotel rooms and such?
> Any lipstick smears on shirts?
> What of others within the family that "don't care" and will tell all business just to get this entire mess to "shut up"?
>
> I WANT PROOF!

Ditto ☒ sn

Posted by: sister Feb 10 2007, 11:00 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 10 2007, 11:24 PM) ☐
>
> All I keep asking for is the "proof"...the "real deal" that would seal this and end it.
>
> You can talk about the woman like a dog.
> You can talk about her having an affair.
> You can talk about the woman and her "monthly" cycle.
> You can talk about the woman and her "problems" within her family.
> You can talk about the woman and how she had an "expensive" lifestyle.
>
> Put the real proof out there.....
> Does she have a sex tape?
> Does their exist tape recordings of conversations that were illicit?
> Are these tapes not doctored?
> Can these tapes be made public?
> Are their letters that would prove that an affair was going on?
> What of plane tickets and receipts from Hotel rooms and such?
> Any lipstick smears on shirts?
> What of others within the family that "don't care" and will tell all business just to get this entire mess to "shut up"?
>
> I WANT PROOF!

I agree, where is the proof? I want the proof, too. Why doesn't Bystander bring the evidence here, for everyone to see? Because there is none. All he has produced so far is empty allegations and innuendos.

Sister

Posted by: erik Feb 10 2007, 11:03 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 10 2007, 09:00 PM) ☐

> I agree, where is the proof? I want the proof, too. Why doesn't Bystander bring the evidence here, for everyone to see? Because there is none. All he has produced so far is empty allegations and innuendos.
>
> Sister

Sister,

Remember he is protecting linda!!!!!!!!!
☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

Erik

Posted by: princessdi Feb 10 2007, 11:26 PM

No, Erik, he is protecting innocents like children, etc. You know the people Danny never thinks aobut when he is making his weekly inuendos......... ☒

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 10 2007, 09:03 PM) ☐
>
> Sister,
> Remember he is protecting linda!!!!!!!!!
> ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl
> Erik

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 10 2007, 11:54 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 7 2007, 11:42 AM) ☐
>
> wwjd I don't know what SOP would say for the age and time we live in, but because the ministry has nothing to hide, my prayer is that they do not give up and that they endure. The people here are just moving mouths with thoughts, which are unsupported and disconnected. When you read many of the post you will sense the jellousy of a thriving ministry, some who maybe are looking to make a free buck, and others who are bitter because they were dismissed from employment due to bad choices they made while working there. Just my thoughts and my moving mouth as well.

Jelousy? looking to make a free buck? bitter?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 11 2007, 12:03 AM

Princessdi said:

> QUOTE
>
> All are free to come here and post their side. Now if they come with guns blazing questioning folks chritianity and Adventism, they will get as good as they give. BSDA is neither pro Danny or Linda or visa versa. Obviously individual members have chosen sides, some have not. I have said a few times now that i am nto pro Linda. I don't know anything about Linda except what her now ex husband did to get out of their marriage, and that was wrong. No reflection on her being right or wrong, but holding him accountable in the position of SDA christian leardership he has taken up. i can't make any judgements on Linda's words or actions, mainly because she has not been allowed to speak or act in her own behalf. I can only go on what I see and hear.

wwjd responded:

> QUOTE
>
> Another perfect example of just taking what you have read/heard as fact. How do you know what transpired to end that marriage? You "know" by rumor, gossip and innuendo. that is all it takes for some of you to make such statements. I hope that you find out just how wrong you are. Trust me, you have been fooled

Princessdi's response:
I missed this response a couple of days ago, and I believe it needs a response. Just to explain to you, just in case you weren't here when I expalined it before. "Spiritual adultery" is a sin against God. It describes what the COI were doing each time they waundered after the gods of the neighboring countries. Danny is not God or even a god, therefore Linda could not commit spiritual adultery against him. Hence, the methods Danny used to exist his marriage to Linda was wrong, and he yet and still lacks biblical grounds for that divorce, and subsequently his remarriage. Even in their own defense Danny and those at 3ABN who give their version of the events, say that Linda had committed no physical adultery, but they warned her that continued conversations with the Dr. would. He can't divorce her on what he "thought" might happen. So, if I was fooled about Danny's reasons for divorcing Linda, I was fooled by Danny. He is the one who came up with the reason. Are you saying he was lying?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 11 2007, 01:31 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 11 2007, 12:03 AM)
>
> Princessdi said:

The board referred to spiritual adultery for Linda's sake. They felt it would give her a better chance to move on and make some things right without marring her reputation further. You are very wrong when you state that the board/Danny said they knew she did not commit physical adultery. They never ever said she did not. When the marriage broke up, not for 1 minute in time did Danny think they were divorcing because of "spiritual" adultery. If that is where a lot of confusion on this forum comes, in, please don't lose a minute more of sleep on the subject. Danny knew what he knew and so did others. He knows and God knows he had grounds to remarry. As soon as the divorce was final, guess who went to Norway, alone, without her son. A copy of a ticket is no problem to get. And guess who she ask to take her to the airport and help her get her things situated for international flying? Danny. Guess who took her? Danny. Guess who tried to talk her out of going all the way there? Guess whether it worked or not. It didn't. And while I am on the subject, Inga said he was married within days of the divorce, I proved different as to when the guam divorce was final. Inga said she meant the Illinois divorce. There should have been no suit for an Illinois divorce. As proven when the courts considered the matter. The judge decreed that the guam divorce was 100% legal.

Posted by: lurker Feb 11 2007, 02:19 AM

wwjd, since you seem to know so much about the whole matter and are giving specific information such as when Brandy arrived at 3ABN, let me ask you something that has been bothering me. When she got to 3ABN, where did she live? I was told that some time before she married Danny, he moved her into a house owned by 3ABN accross the street from his home. This, in my opinion is not avoiding the appearance of evil.

That aside, how long did she live accross the street from his house? Did she move into this house as soon as she got to 3ABN from Florida? Can you prove that she lived somewhere else? Did she live in other 3ABN housing or private housing? Are new employees normally given a place to stay at 3ABN? You gave November 11 as the date when she got there. Danny said that her mother called about 2 or 3 weeks before she left for 3ABN. This would be immediately after Brandy's divorce if your date is correct. Had anybody arranged for housing for her before she left since Danny said that Carolyn had told him that Brandy was on her way?

Whether or not Danny had grounds for divorce, it is his actions both before and after the divorce that are in question since he is still the president of 3ABN. Another question I have is "Did Brandy have biblical grounds for divorce?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 11 2007, 02:43 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 11 2007, 02:19 AM)
>
> That aside, how long did she live accross the street from his house? Did she move into this house as soon as she got to 3ABN from Florida? Can you prove that she lived somewhere else? Did she live in other 3ABN housing or private housing? Are new employees normally given a place to stay at 3ABN? You gave November 11 as the date when she got there. Danny said that her mother called about 2 or 3 weeks before she left for 3ABN. This would be immediately after Brandy's divorce if your date is correct. ds for divorce?

Lurker, I will try to answer the questions as best I can. Brandi's mother did call Danny and say her daughter had made up her mind to start over and would be coming there and applying for a job. Danny had not seen her since she was a child of (I believe) 11 when her family came to record at his music studio. Whether or not there is an opening in any of the departments is not Danny's job. That is the job of the General Manager. Danny told the GM that this lady would be coming and if there was an opening great, but if there wasn't Brandi might have to wait until someone quit or whatever. There was no housing arrangements made of any kind in advance. When she showed up, I believe Mollie interviewed her and felt she could fill a space needed as the phone operator in the main building, and/or the call center which takes orders and sends them out. I believe she worked both places according to where she was needed at the time. She did not rent the house across the street for quite a while but I can't tell you exaclty where she lived accept, I think it was in West Frankfort which is about 10 miles from the 3abn facility. (I am not 100% sure on that) but it is what I seem to remember about it. It is my understanding that 3ABN owned the house across the street and a little ways down the road from Danny's residence and had always been rented out to people that had moved to thompsonville to work at 3abn. The last renters I believe were mike & tereasa Wilson that run the vegetarian restaurant in thompsonville. They decided to make living quarters above the restaurant, so had moved out of the house. word went fast that the house was empty and Brandi decided to see if she and her girls could rent it and they did. I am guessing on times here but it probably was about a year that she lived there before they married. Both of her children lived with her. Another couple that the husband works at 3abn now rent it.

Yes Brandi did have grounds. Her husband was unfaithful.
I hope I have answered your questions to your satisfaction

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 11 2007, 03:13 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 03:43 AM)
>
> Lurker, I will try to answer the questions as best I can. Brandi's mother did call Danny and say her daughter had made up her mind to start over and would be coming there and applying for a job. Danny had not seen her since she was a child of (I believe) 11 when her family came to record at his music studio. Whether or not there is an opening in any of the departments is not Danny's job. That is the job of the General Manager. Danny told the GM that this lady would be coming and if there was an opening great, but if there wasn't Brandi might have to wait until someone quit or whatever. There was no housing arrangements made of any kind in advance. When she showed up, I believe Mollie interviewed her and felt she could fill a space needed as the phone operator in the main building, and/or the call center which takes orders and sends them out. I believe she worked both places according to where she was needed at the time. She did not rent the house across the street for quite a while but I can't tell you exaclty where she lived accept, I think it was in West Frankfort which is about 10 miles from the 3abn facility. (I am not 100% sure on that) but it is what I seem to remember about it. It is my understanding that 3ABN owned the house across the street and a little ways down the road from Danny's residence and had always been rented out to people that had moved to thompsonville to work at 3abn. The last renters I believe were mike & tereasa Wilson that run the vegetarian restaurant in thompsonville. They decided to make living quarters above the restaurant, so had moved out of the house. word went fast that the house was empty and Brandi decided to see if she and her girls could rent it and they did. I am guessing on times here but it probably was about a year that she lived there before they married. Both of her children lived with her. Another couple that the husband works at 3abn now rent it.
> Yes Brandi did have grounds. Her husband was unfaithful.
> I hope I have answered your questions to your satisfaction

Not only was a job and home arranged for Brandi, but the furniture in the lobby of 3ABN was suddenly removed one afternoon and ended up in Brandi's house.

Posted by: Johann Feb 11 2007, 03:28 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 11 2007, 09:31 AM) ☐
>
> The board referred to spiritual adultery for Linda's sake. They felt it would give her a better chance to move on and make some things right without marring her reputation further. You are very wrong when you state that the board/Danny said they knew she did not commit physical adultery. They never ever said she did not. When the marriage broke up, not for 1 minute in time did Danny think they were divorcing because of "spiritual" adultery. If that is where a lot of confusion on this forum comes, in, please don't lose a minute more of sleep on the subject. Danny knew what he knew and so did others.
>
> - - -

It is interesting to see what information Mr. Danny Shelton is providing you with, WWJW. I received e-mails from Danny claiming it was spiritual adultery, and he even made Linda write to me stating that Danny was trying to convince her this was spiritual adultery.

It is also quite interesting how you people are trying to make use of Mark Finlay. I did not mention him by name, but you - or Bystander - did.

Now we have two witnesses who heard Mark Finlay state his personal conviction that Linda Shelton is innocent of the accusations against her. Are you trying to twist this as meaning he was actually supporting Danny's claims by making that statement?

Yes, Linda called Mark Finlay long after the sad events around the divorce, and Mark confirmed this when we talked. Linda asked Mark Finlay to plead on her behalf that the board of 3ABN would re-consider . . . Mark Finlay pleaded in vain, and I did not get this information from Linda. It seemed like nobody at 3ABN would listen to him.

Keep on making your claims, wwjd. They add to the drama of this uncanny soap opera!!!

Posted by: Observer Feb 11 2007, 05:14 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Another question I have is "Did Brandy have biblical grounds for divorce?

Folks, that above question, in my mind is irrelevant, and in appropriate.

1) The focus on all of this should not be on Brandy. Make it on Danny/3-ABN if you wish. That is legitimate. But, it should not be on Brandy. She is not a primary factor in what are the major issues. Yes, as she is now Danny's wife, she is tangentially involved. But it is inappropriate to focus on her. If you have something to say, say it about her husband, Danny.

2) The question as to whether or not Brandy had Biblical grounds to divorce her husband (for all I know, he divorced her) is irrelevant. Brandy was not a Seventh-day Adventist at the time she and her former husband were divorced. She should not be held accountable in regard to that divorce, for SDA Biblical standards.

3) For the purpose of this discussion, let us say that Brandy did not have Biblical grounds for the divorce to her former husband. So what? It happened. She was not SDA. We can assume that she did not know and understand the Biblical standards at that time. She became a SDA by baptism. At that time her past was put behind her--whatever it was. She became a new creature. She had a new beginning. Regardless of her marital past, she could now begin all over again. That means that she could marry again.

4) Folks, as far as specifics are concerned, leave Brandy alone. Don't tell me that her baptism was a fraud. That is between Brandy, God, and the SDA pastor who baptized her, and presumably is leading her in her spiritual nurture. I do not care what Brandy's life was like before she bacame a SDA. That is not important. She should not be the focus. How would any of youy feel if you were in Brandy's place, a new SDA, and people are asking is you had Biblical grounds in a prior divorce, and other stuff!

Posted by: Observer Feb 11 2007, 05:36 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 11 2007, 02:28 AM) ☐
>
> It is interesting to see what information Mr. Danny Shelton is providing you with, WWJW. I received e-mails from Danny claiming it was spiritual adultery, and he even made Linda write to me stating that Danny was trying to convince her this was spiritual adultery.
>
> It is also quite interesting how you people are trying to make use of Mark Finlay. I did not mention him by name, but you - or Bystander - did.
>
> Now we have two witnesses who heard Mark Finlay state his personal conviction that Linda Shelton is innocent of the accusations against her. Are you trying to twist this as meaning he was actually supporting Danny's claims by making that statement?
>
> Yes, Linda called Mark Finlay long after the sad events around the divorce, and Mark confirmed this when we talked. Linda asked Mark Finlay to plead on her behalf that the board of 3ABN would re-consider . . . Mark Finlay pleaded in vain, and I did not get this information from Linda. It seemed like nobody at 3ABN would listen to him.
>
> Keep on making your claims, wwjd. They add to the drama of this uncanny soap opera!!!

There is another interesting factor involved in all of this. To comment on it, I am going back to the days when discussions regarding the divorce and 3-ABN were going on in Club Adventist, which I moderated. As is known, Club Adventist closed down that discussion. I am only going by memory which may be faulty. Here it is as I remember it:

1) Statements were made in regard to Kay Kuzma counseling Linda, and that Dr. Kuzma was a member of the 3-ABN Board, and had been charged by the Board with counseling Linda that if she did not break off the claimed relationship with Dr. A, she would lose both her marriage and her position at 3-ABN.

2) I stated that the above presented a violation of standard ethical relationships for counselors in regard to the ethical principle of a dual role. I therefore went on to say that Dr. Kuzma could not in any way be assumed to have provided Linda with professional counseling unless she violated that ethical standard. I went on to say that I did not believe that Dr. Kuzma would have violated that standard, and therefore, she did not professionally enter into a counseling relationship with Linda. It can only be said that she approached Linda from the standpoint of a representative of the 3-ABN Board to advise Linda as I stated in # 1.

3) Following my posting of the above, I was informed that Dr. Kuzma had stated in a private letter to someone that she had not entered into a professional counseling relationship with Linda, and had only acted as a representative of the 3-ABN Board. As I recall, I sent a message to Dr. Kuzma and asked her to confirm that she had written the letter that I have referenced. She did not respond to me. So, I cannot say whether or not what I was told is accurate.

4) Folks, in most cases professional counseling is highly regulated by the State in which it occurs. State law will often require that professional counselors enter into a written contract with the counselee. That contract will contain various provisions, as the local law requires. Those provisions may vary from place to place. I believe that in some places there may be no such requirement. But, in the places where such is required, violation of those requirements is a crime. If Dr. Kuzma provided Linda with professional counseling, there should exist whatever contract is required in the locality where that counseling took place.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 11 2007, 08:10 AM

You folks are scaring me with these proof requests. You put so much on them producing proof of their innocence. What will happen when and if they produce it? At that point we've backed ourselves into a corner. Anyone can produce written records, whether or not they are real or not is another story but by begging for documents we need to be careful we don't get what we're asking for. I really don't think any of Danny's critic want to see the proof, but if he produces it what then? Do we just poo poo away what we've been demanding? Just a note of caution.

Richard

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 10 2007, 11:24 PM) ☐
>
> All I keep asking for is the "proof"...the "real deal" that would seal this and end it.
>
> You can talk about the woman like a dog.
> You can talk about her having an affair.
> You can talk about the woman and her "monthly" cycle.
> You can talk about the woman and her "problems" within her family.
> You can talk about the woman and how she had an "expensive" lifestyle.
>
> Put the real proof out there.....
> Does she have a sex tape?
> Does their exist tape recordings of conversations that were illicit?
> Are these tapes not doctored?
> Can these tapes be made public?
> Are their letters that would prove that an affair was going on?
> What of plane tickets and receipts from Hotel rooms and such?
> Any lipstick smears on shirts?
> What of others within the family that "don't care" and will tell all business just to get this entire mess to "shut up"?
>
> I WANT PROOF!

Posted by: lurker Feb 11 2007, 09:09 AM

I'm sorry you feel that Brandy should not be the focus, Observer, perhaps you feel her role in all this should not be questioned at all. I was told that Brandy had become a Christian before she came to 3ABN. Not a Seventh-day Adventist but a Christian. Wwjd said that she had biblical grounds for divorce. Don't you think that if this is true it shows her and Danny to have a better right to marry than if wwjd had said "lets not look into this". I wouldn't have asked about this if her divorce hadn't been just before wwjd said that she appeared at 3ABN.

I certainly never said her baptism was a fraud. She may very well truly be converted. Dr Arild Abrahamsen should not be the focus of a discussion about Linda's behavior either but you can't talk about Linda's behavior and not discuss him at all either. I was also told in late February 2005 that Danny had a new girlfriend who he was buying furniture for and who he was helping buy a car. Wwjd says they began dating months after Nov 11. This appears to be barely possible but if he was helping her with major purchases so soon, it was a whirlwind romance, 14-15 weeks from her arrival. Not just casual dating. What is important is how Danny behaved with her and when. I don't know how she expected a christian courtship to be conducted. Her previous marriages would not have prepared her for this. She is now the new "first lady at 3ABN" is she not? When she married Danny, she became a public figure.

Her divorce final Oct 14 2004
Mid to late October 2004 Brandy's mother calls 3ABN about Brandy
Wwjd says she arrived at 3ABN November 11 2004
Late February 2005 "Danny has a girlfriend" and is helping her in a major way.

Posted by: Observer Feb 11 2007, 09:29 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 11 2007, 08:09 AM)
>
> I'm sorry you feel that Brandy should not be the focus, Observer, perhaps you feel her role in all this should not be questioned at all. I was told that Brandy had become a Christian before she came to 3ABN. Not a Seventh-day Adventist but a Christian. Wwjd said that she had biblical grounds for divorce. Don't you think that if this is true it shows her and Danny to have a better right to marry than if wwjd had said "lets not look into this". I wouldn't have asked about this if her divorce hadn't been just before wwjd said that she appeared at 3ABN.

I am not making any judgment in regard to whether or not Brandy was a Christian prior to her marriage to Danny. The issue of Biblical grounds for divorce, and their application to people today is a subject upon which Christians disagree. So, it is possible that we might say that Brandy was a Christian prior to coming to 3-ABN. If so, let us say that she was living up to her knowledge of Christianity. Let us also say that she obtained a greater knowledge of Christina beliefs in regard to divorce and remarriage after becoming a SDA. My point is that regardless of all of that, Brandy's prior life should not be subject to discussion and debate in regard to whether or not she lived by SDA standards prior to her becoming an SDA.

The reality is that Seventh-day Adventists disagree on some aspects of Biblical grounds for divorce.

If you want to talk about a right to remarry, do in in regard to Danny. I consider it inappropriate to do so in regard to Brandy. Yes, I know that one can do it. I am simply suggesting that we not do so. People who disagree with me will continue to do so, and they have the right to do so. I am simply suggesting that they consider not doing so.

> QUOTE
>
> I certainly never said her baptism was a fraud. She may very well truly be converted. Dr Arild Abrahamsen should not be the focus of a discussion about Linda's behavior either but you can't talk > about Linda's behavior and not discuss him at all either. I was also told in late February 2005 that Danny had a new girlfriend who he was buying furniture for and who he was helping buy a car. Wwjd says they began dating months after Nov 11. This appears to be barely possible but if he was helping her with major purchases so soon, it was a whirlwind romance, 14-15 weeks from her arrival. Not just casual dating. What is important is how Danny behaved with her and when. I don't know how she expected a christian courtship to be conducted. Her previous marriages would not have prepared her for this. She is now the new "first lady at 3ABN" is she not? When she married Danny, she became a public figure.

was making a broad statement. I did not intend to imply that you had ever said that her baptism was fraud.

anny claims that Linda's actions with Dr. A. gave him the Biblical grounds to divorce and remarry. hese claims are fair game for both sides. Sorry, the situation with Dr. A. differers from that with randy.

s First Lady of 3-ABN her behavior may be subject to public discussion. But, I will again say that it is ot necessary to go back into her past life. As far as Brandy is concerned, focus on the "now," not the ast.

ou bring up Danny's relationship with Brandy prior to his marriage to her. O.K. When you focus on hat, make it on Danny, and not Brandy. If you talk about it, make Brandy tangential to your omments.

ust my thoughts--Gregory Matthews.

Posted by: sister Feb 11 2007, 09:36 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 11 2007, 09:10 AM)
>
> You folks are scaring me with these proof requests. You put so much on them producing proof of their innocence. What will happen when and if they produce it? At that point we've backed ourselves into a corner. Anyone can produce written records, whether or not they are real or not is another story but by begging for documents we need to be careful we don't get what we're asking for. I really don't think any of Danny's critic want to see the proof, but if he produces it what then? Do we just poo poo away what we've been demanding? Just a note of caution.
>
> Richard

ichard, citing a quotation from Aunt B:

> QUOTE
>
> "Truth welcomes examination and doesn't need to defend itself, while deception hides in darkness and blames everyone else."

believe in the innocence of Linda Shelton in regard to transgressing her marriage vows to Danny helton and that Danny had no Biblical grounds to divorce his wife. Also, the following allegations gainst her are unfounded in fact, except in the unbalanced mind of a mentally disturbed individual.

> QUOTE
>
> (PrincessDrRe @ Feb 10 2007, 11:24 PM)
>
> All I keep asking for is the "proof"...the "real deal" that would seal this and end it.
>
> You can talk about the woman like a dog.
> You can talk about her having an affair.
> You can talk about the woman and her "monthly" cycle.
> You can talk about the woman and her "problems" within her family.
> You can talk about the woman and how she had an "expensive" lifestyle.
>
> Put the real proof out there.....
> Does she have a sex tape?
> Does their exist tape recordings of conversations that were illicit?
> Are these tapes not doctored?
> Can these tapes be made public?
> Are their letters that would prove that an affair was going on?
> What of plane tickets and receipts from Hotel rooms and such?
> Any lipstick smears on shirts?
> What of others within the family that "don't care" and will tell all business just to get this entire mess to "shut up"?
>
> I WANT PROOF!

I, along with PrincessDrRe and others, continue to demand to see the proof. Crudely phrased, I believe the expression is "put up or shut up". Bystander and Eye Witness, you always seem to disappear when it is time for the "rubber to meet the road". Here is your opportunity to provide the evidence as the Princess has outlined it. Everyone is waiting...

Sister

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 11 2007, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 11 2007, 10:10 AM) ☐
>
> You folks are scaring me with these proof requests. You put so much on them producing proof of their innocence. What will happen when and if they produce it? At that point we've backed ourselves into a corner. Anyone can produce written records, whether or not they are real or not is another story but by begging for documents we need to be careful we don't get what we're asking for. I really don't think any of Danny's critic want to see the proof, but if he produces it what then? Do we just poo poo away what we've been demanding? Just a note of caution.

If it's "true" evidence then it will be proven truth. If it is "made up" evidence then it will be proven that it is false.

It will come out in the wash. I just want something to wash...... I'm tired of he say/she say.

If you got proof that Linda is dirty - put it out there and make it plain.
If you got proof that Danny is dirty - put it out there and make it plain.

So far much proof is existing that Danny is dirty. I just want to see all proof REGARDLESS....

Posted by: Clay Feb 11 2007, 10:08 AM

Observer,
I asked Kuzma if she provided counseling early on.... you can search here because I posted my request, and her response...

Posted by: inga Feb 11 2007, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 11 2007, 10:09 AM) ☐
>
> I was also told in late February 2005 that Danny had a new girlfriend who he was buying furniture for and who he was helping buy a car. Wwjd says they began dating months after Nov 11. This appears to be barely possible but if he was helping her with major purchases so soon, it was a whirlwind romance, 14-15 weeks from her arrival. Not just casual dating. What is important is how Danny behaved with her and when.<snip>
> Her divorce final Oct 14 2004
> Mid to late October 2004 Brandy's mother calls 3ABN about Brandy
> Wwjd says she arrived at 3ABN November 11 2004
> Late February 2005 "Danny has a girlfriend" and is helping her in a major way.

Buying a woman furntirue adn helping her buy a car is not the way to treat a mere "girl friend." Such behavior suggests a much deeper involvement.

By the way, is February 2005 the date that Brandi moved into the house directly opposite Danny's house in a private area sheltered by trees?

Others have said that Brandi arrived at 3ABN much earlier than November 2004, by the way. Do we have any witnesses on here that can confirm an approximate date?

Posted by: Lee Feb 11 2007, 11:51 AM

Well Well! Yes, we all want the truth on this board. But every time some truth is brought forward it is either conveniently deleted or the thread is locked. Or the person bringing it is banned. Ask questions? Nope--you'll get banned like Cindy was.

You want truth? Really? I couldn't have guessed.

Sorry, you are not convincing me. When I see real fairness in allowing the truth to be expressed here, then and ONLY then will I believe you really want truth.

Posted by: glenetta Feb 11 2007, 12:09 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 9 2007, 04:21 PM) ☐
>
> Maybe you should ask wwjd.

Well. I'm not WWJD, but I want to ask the same question, why bring Elder Finley in on this? I understand the you ,Duane, are pastoring a Baptist church now, is this so?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 11 2007, 12:12 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 11 2007, 07:10 AM)
>
> You folks are scaring me with these proof requests. You put so much on them producing proof of their innocence. What will happen when and if they produce it? At that point we've backed ourselves into a corner. Anyone can produce written records, whether or not they are real or not is another story but by begging for documents we need to be careful we don't get what we're asking for. I really don't think any of Danny's critic want to see the proof, but if he produces it what then? Do we just poo poo away what we've been demanding? Just a note of caution.
>
> Richard

I believe that anyone who wants to know the truth should be willing to accept verifiable proof, no matter where it falls. I don't want an edited "version" of the truth, I want to see the truth. If this exonerates Danny - great! If it exonerates Linda - great! If it shows them both to be complicit in behavior inappropriate for Seventh-day Adventist Christians - sad, but it would be the truth nonetheless.

Claims without proof don't have the muscle that verification provides, for either side.

PB

Posted by: erik Feb 11 2007, 12:15 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 11 2007, 09:51 AM)
>
> Well Well! Yes, we all want the truth on this board. But every time some truth is brought forward it is either conveniently deleted or the thread is locked. Or the person bringing it is banned. Ask questions? Nope--you'll get banned like Cindy was.
>
> You want truth? Really? I couldn't have guessed.
>
> Sorry, you are not convincing me. When I see real fairness in allowing the truth to be expressed here, then and ONLY then will I believe you really want truth.

Lee,

Any one getting banned was clearly warned ahead of time, and they choose to move forward to areas that the Admin. had clearly not allowed.

Asking questions is not what people get banned for, at least from were i am sitting it does not look that way.

Are the still holes in both sides story yes, does ones sides story have more holes in yes.

So the hunt for the truth goes on, the truth will must likely be in the middle but closer to one side then the other.

Erik

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 11 2007, 10:12 AM)
>
> I believe that anyone who wants to know the truth should be willing to accept verifiable proof, no matter where it falls. I don't want an edited "version" of the truth, I want to see the truth. If this exonerates Danny - great! If it exonerates Linda - great! If it shows them both to be complicit in behavior inappropriate for Seventh-day Adventist Christians - sad, but it would be the truth nonetheless.
>
> Claims without proof don't have the muscle that verification provides, for either side.
>
> PB

PB,

Amen i fell the same way just wish both sides would more clearly lay out the dates times of things.

Erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 11 2007, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 11 2007, 10:51 AM)
>
> Well Well! Yes, we all want the truth on this board. But every time some truth is brought forward it is either conveniently deleted or the thread is locked. Or the person bringing it is banned. Ask questions? Nope--you'll get banned like Cindy was.
>
> You want truth? Really? I couldn't have guessed.
>
> Sorry, you are not convincing me. When I see real fairness in allowing the truth to be expressed here, then and ONLY then will I believe you really want truth.

There is a huge difference between truth and slanderous claims which have not been proven.

Can you cite members that were banned along with the "truth" they were telling that got them banned?

What I have seen is some people not willing to play by Calvin's Forum Rules one too many times.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 11 2007, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 11 2007, 11:09 AM)

> Well. I'm not WWJD, but I want to ask the same question, why bring Elder Finley in on this? I understand the you ,Duane, are pastoring a Baptist church now, is this so?

Glenetta, why are you dragging Duane into this? Is it any concern of yours what kind of church he is pastoring?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 11 2007, 12:24 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 11 2007, 01:51 PM)
>
> Well Well! Yes, we all want the truth on this board. But every time some truth is brought forward it is either conveniently deleted or the thread is locked. Or the person bringing it is banned. Ask questions? Nope--you'll get banned like Cindy was.
>
> You want truth? Really? I couldn't have guessed.
>
> Sorry, you are not convincing me. When I see real fairness in allowing the truth to be expressed here, then and ONLY then will I believe you really want truth.

don't have to convince you Lee. Truthfully speaking - although I am asking for truth and "evidence" none of yall... (whether pro Linda or pro Danny) have anything to prove to me. All you have to prove s directly toward GOD.

That is the lone judge and the only one to answer to.

So truthfully speaking - I don't need proof. I have been asking for it. Sho' have. But I don't need it. GOD sees all and will be the judge in the end..... and GOD doesn't have to "break rules" to try and make his point. He (GOD) made the rules...thus he does what he does.

AMEN

56

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Doublespeak.... Your word is your bond....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 20 2007, 05:26 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 8 2007, 06:41 PM)
>
> Bystander, I have a number of questions for you in relation to your "critique".
> It is my hope to address them with an unedited version, of said critique, to work with.
> BRB...

First, Bystander, I thank you for sharing, your version, a fair and impartial view of truth to BlackSDA. We at BSDA, and all those who have and will come to view our humble internet home, will forever be grateful for ALL that you have shared. We will ever be reminded that, in doing so you have in fact, and in spite of yourself, revealed truth.

With that said let us begin here:

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 03:47 PM)
>
> I am a new addition to this forum. Not because I want to be but because I cannot keep silent. Someone told me about this websight but I couldn't comprehend it so checked it out myself. ..."the 3ABN saga!!! I cannot begin to explain my shock and shame as I began to read what has been written here. The accusations, arguments, name calling and gossip has made me ashamed to be a Seventh Day Adventist. That a supposedly christian web site would host this garbage, and some of these people's comments is without excuse. this "forum" goes against any and all biblical principles and moral ethics. I have read of an "investigation" of 3ABN and it's people by someone named Pickle and Gailon. They have shown private emails, made info from private calls public, have insisted on answers from the president of the network, Danny Shelton, and have made statements that they would like to clear 3ABN if only they could get straight and clear answers. Well, I have some questions of my own. Who are Pickle and Gailon?

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 12:24 AM)
>
> I'm not a SDA but years ago I had a friend who was, and left the church basically because of the judgmental attitude that she felt prevailed there. I learned of 3ABN a long time ago, began watching some of the programming,....... as I said, I'm not a SDA but as a born again Christian, I could never do what many have done to this family, even if everything that has been said were true
>
> I've appreciated all of you who have taken a stand against the devil's trash written on this web-site, among the most recent being that written by the person called "Bystander". Thank God for people like that who aren't afraid to speak truth in defense of wrong doing.

Please click on the following words, noted below, which will be beneficial in our "speak truth in the defense of wrong doing" education process. And, as we seek to find the "biblical principles and moral ethics" which our dear brothers have been drawn to share with us on BSDA. let us be mindful of what Jesus would do.

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12025&view=findpost&p=172885 Please search for "accountability"

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12025&view=findpost&p=169214
Search for the words "study and appreciated" in the thread...

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12025&view=findpost&p=172885
Search for "accountability"

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12025&view=findpost&p=172892
Search for "transparent"

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12345&view=findpost&p=175715
Search for "mistake"

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12571&view=findpost&p=179428
Search for "integrity"

Now others will have some questions of their own, based on the above and a number of other posts.

Would anyone like to share what they believe we have learned from Bystander and wwjd who have presented themselves as sincere and upstanding paragons of truth?

Posted by: Clay Feb 21 2007, 09:49 AM

interesting.... unpack that for us please.....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 10:11 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 21 2007, 10:49 AM) ☐
>
> interesting.... unpack that for us please.....

Bystander and wwjd both join BlackSDA on the 7th of Jan. and the 12th of Jan., respectively. Obviously, based on those dates and their original statements they wish us to believe that they are two separate outraged and upstanding Christian men, who have been told about this terrible web site.

Accountability:

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 26 2007, 01:39 PM) ☐
>
> Yohann, You Are Wrong, Very Wrong... it would be best for you to drop that accusation. Consider your accountability to God and man.

My question is why did you both attempt to give the impression that you did not know each other? What purpose would be served in such deception?

Seeing that you are wrong, very wrong, can we expect you to drop your accusations against others on BSDA and consider your accountability to God and man?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 12:24 AM)
>
> ...
>
> Then I was shown this web site and was told it represents the SDA church. If it does, I am deeply grieved...
>
> I've prayed...and have asked God if there was anything He would have me to do—this is the answer He gave me through the night season.
>
> WWJD? What would Jesus do?...But in studying the Scriptures, I've found that it's Satan's business to put fear in God's people to keep them from doing all that God would require of them.

Please explain the above statements? wwjd, are saying that after being so grieved at what you saw here that you prayed and you were given instruction "through the night season" and "by studying the scriptures" that the answer you received from (God), the "He" you mentioned above, was to come to BSDA lying?

Are you telling us that you expect the members of BSDA to believe this is what Jesus would do?

Posted by: Clay Feb 21 2007, 11:12 AM

Is it possible for someone who engages in doublespeak to realize that they are engaging in doublespeak?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 05:05 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 21 2007, 12:12 PM)
>
> Is it possible for someone who engages in doublespeak to realize that they are engaging in doublespeak?

Well, scriputure does say that a doubleminded man is unstable in all his ways... sad but true

---

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 21 2007, 07:29 PM

Changed mind about posting.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 21 2007, 09:38 PM

Ah hah!

This will take more "careful" perusal...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 21 2007, 09:49 PM

After going through all posts - I see just how "double-speak" is working w/ WWJD and Bystander....

I've learned a lot right there.

A whole lot....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 10:29 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Feb 21 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> Changed mind about posting.

Please share what the Holy Spirit has led you to understand in this matter...

Everyone is welcome to share their thoughts on the matter

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 22 2007, 01:51 AM

Danny, with friends like Cindy, wwjd and Bystander, (the apologists) who needs enemies? Of course if you are one of them then you are your own worse enemy.

But by all means carry on, the fire needs more fuel...

Richard

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 22 2007, 12:46 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 6 2007, 12:02 AM)
>
> ... Calvin knows we use the same computer. When I made the first post, I did not realize that Bystander had not logged out. Didn't realize it until I submitted the post and saw that it said "Bystander". Truthfully I didn't even know how to go about changing an already submitted post to my ID, so I figured the easiest and quickest way would to be just change the wording...

This from a brother who originally claimed he didn't even "know" Bystander...

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Jan 12 2007, 12:24 AM) ☐
>
> I've appreciated all of you who have taken a stand against the devil's trash written on this web-site, among the most recent being that written by the person called "Bystander". Thank God for people like that who aren't afraid to speak truth in defense of wrong doing.

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12345&view=findpost&p=175715 or a reflection of a the "true spirit" within? Lurkers you decide...

Posted by: Clay Feb 22 2007, 01:03 PM

keep sharing those examples Sera.... they are quite telling.... it shows that the dannyscribes came to BSDA in the same spirit as Danny himself.... he came in tellling lies, they have come in telling lies.....

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 22 2007, 08:47 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 22 2007, 02:03 PM) ☐
>
> keep sharing those examples Sera.... they are quite telling.... it shows that the dannyscribes came to BSDA in the same spirit as Danny himself.... he came in tellling lies, they have come in telling lies.....

We can only hope that those who are genuinely seeking the truth, behind the issues presented here and on Save3ABN, will take note of the clear doubleminded behavior of the dannyscribes.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 22 2007, 09:26 PM

OOooo.....

It's interesting how much you can see when you open your eyes...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 2 2007, 06:35 PM

Bump - the double speak is obvious if you read the posts....

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 2 2007, 07:48 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Feb 21 2007, 05:29 PM) ☐

> Changed mind about posting.

t the time I made a post, after viewing it, decided it was not worth mentioning, appeared kinda silly.

low, after reading the origional post I decided that these two are doing a great job. Getting paid for a vonderful job well done. Hope it is a big paycheck. Or is it money under the table? That way they vouldn't have to report their job description to the IRS. (IRS would scratch their heads "mud linger"??) Danny feeds them mud to sling around and they sling... sling...sling.

bow down to the mud slingers

oo bad there isn't a cute emoticon slinging mud available here in BSDA.

ut of course everyone here knows that so what I just wrote was kinda silly also.
illy=unnecessary

Posted by: Aletheia Mar 2 2007, 08:03 PM

> QUOTE
>
> (Rosyroi:
> Changed mind about posting.
>
> Seraph|m Posted Feb 21 2007, 11:29 PM:
> Please share what the Holy Spirit has led you to understand in this matter...
>
> Everyone is welcome to share their thoughts on the matter
>
> > QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Mar 2 2007, 08:48 PM)
> >
> > At the time I made a post, after viewing it, decided it was not worth mentioning, appeared kinda silly.
> >
> > Now, after reading the origional post I decided that these two are doing a great job. Getting paid for a wonderful job well done. Hope it is a big paycheck. Or is it money under the table? That way they wouldn't have to report their job description to the IRS. (IRS would scratch their heads "mud slinger"??) Danny feeds them mud to sling around and they sling... sling...sling.
> >
> > I bow down to the mud slingers
> >
> > Too bad there isn't a cute emoticon slinging mud available here in BSDA.
> >
> > But of course everyone here knows that so what I just wrote was kinda silly also.
> > silly=unnecessary

eah.... it still appears kinda silly. Especially since you provided nothing but surmisings and nsupported accusations to support your own mudslinging about how they are being paid to post ere...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 11:05 PM

Note to Calvin:
Boss, can we get an evil surmising emoticon, and perhaps a mud slinging one, too?

Seems like they would be useful for all.

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 4 2007, 09:02 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 2 2007, 09:05 PM) ☐
>
> Note to Calvin:
> Boss, can we get an evil surmising emoticon, and perhaps a mud slinging one, too?
>
> Seems like they would be useful for all.

How about a double mouth emoticon to speak out of each mouth.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 4 2007, 09:30 PM

This was the closest I could find to something lookin' akin to doublespeak....

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Mar 2 2007, 10:03 PM) ☐
>
> Yeah.... it still appears kinda silly. Especially since you provided nothing but surmisings and unsupported accusations to support your own mudslinging about how they are being paid to post here...

If they are at work while posting on the internet - technically they are being paid to post here.....

....and you jes mad cuz the thread proves that they are doublespeakin'.....

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:35 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 4 2007, 09:30 PM) ☐
>
> This was the closest I could find to something lookin' akin to doublespeak....

> If they are at work while posting on the internet - technically they are being paid to post here.....
> ...

nd you came to that conclusion how? Looks like another wild assumption to me...

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 05:18 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 05:35 AM)
>
> And you came to that conclusion how? Looks like another wild assumption to me...

ats off for you, Bystander! You speak from your great experience in making wild assumptions. You re implying that truth is merely wild assumptions, and this is how you attempt to win the argument.

Powered by Invision Power Board (http://www.invisionboard.com)

57

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ AToday NewBreak Article on 3ABN

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 12 2007, 01:49 PM

Just got this in my email - I went to get the link off the web so I could just post it here, but I don't see they have it yet (or I can't find it) listed on the website as it is a "newsbreak" and will be there. So, forgive the long post, if I should do this a different way (Calvin, Clay, Di) let me know. It's worth the read.

****

ADVENTIST NEWS Round up

Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
Virginia church meets to address allegations of sexual misconduct

By Edwin D. Schwisow, for ATNewsbreak (09 February 2007).

Facing multiple allegations of sexual misconduct, Tommy Shelton, production manager at Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) and brother of 3ABN President Danny Shelton, announced his retirement in a December 31, 2006 broadcast of 3ABN Live. Although not owned or operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church, many of 3ABN's employees and volunteers are Adventist Church members. In a telephone interview with a representative of Adventist Today, Danny Shelton confirmed that his brother had left the employ of 3ABN for "health reasons."
Virginia Church Allegations

Tommy Shelton's retirement comes just four weeks after the Community Church of God in Dunn Loring, Virginia, held a December 3, 2006, business meeting to address accusations made by several young men that Tommy had molested them while he was pastor of the church. Following the meeting, church leaders read a carefully-worded statement, apprising the congregation of the accusations against Shelton and how they, as parishioners, should best respond. The church leaders prepared the statement under the advisement of their insurance carrier, Brotherhood Mutual, which had become involved after a young man came to the church with allegations that Tommy, during his pastorate, had molested him. The young was a minor when he says was abused. He is the third in recent months to come forward to Community Church of God leaders, accusing Shelton of making inappropriate sexual advances, according to Glenn Dryden, current pastor of the church.

A History of Allegations

This is not the first time Tommy has been accused of inappropriate sexual activity with underage males. During much of the 1980s, Tommy pastored the Ezra Church of God in his hometown of West Frankfort, Illinois. While there, he worked closely with a 12-grade school, whose property bordered the church. During this time, a teenage boy, who was a student at the school, accused Tommy of soliciting him for a sexual relationship. According to Dryden, who pastored the West Frankfort church in the 1990s, three additional boys also made similar allegations, prompting civil authorities to become involved. Following a police investigation, Tommy was not charged with a crime, but the allegations were serious enough to prompt Church of God officials to intervene. In a letter dated October 25, 1985, the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois revoked Tommy's ordination. They listed their reasons for doing so as "improper counseling procedures," "numerous charges of misconduct," a criminal investigation into sexual abuse charges by the local police, and controversy surrounding Tommy's ministry and lifestyle. Ultimately Tommy's lack of cooperation in the disciplinary process, Dryden says, led the Church of God in Illinois to drop the Ezra Church of God from its roster of affiliated congregations.

In the early 1990s, further allegations of sexual misconduct were brought against Tommy and in 1991 Tommy resigned as pastor of the Ezra Church of God, citing health concerns.

Allegations at 3ABN

Shortly after Tommy resigned his post as pastor, Danny invited him to join 3ABN as production manager. During his time at 3ABN, a member of Tommy's production staff, who was in his early twenties at the time, says Tommy made a sexual advance toward him. Shortly after what he calls his "uncomfortable situation," the former employee says he confronted Danny Shelton with what had happened. In response, Danny assured the young man that he would no longer have to answer to Tommy and that 3ABN administrators would "work things out."

In late 1992, Elder Bj Christensen, then president of the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, approached two members of Danny's family, asking them to make a statement in regard to improprieties they had observed in Tommy's behavior. Elder Christiansen transcribed the statement and brought it to the attention of the 3ABN board, on which he then sat.

At a subsequent 3ABN board meeting, Tommy was terminated as production manager. Shortly thereafter, 3ABN outfitted him with a touring bus and sent him as a 3ABN representative, giving gospel concerts and promoting 3ABN to cable companies throughout the United States.

Connections in Virginia

During the time he was promoting 3ABN, he visited the Community Church of God in Dunn Loring. After learning that Tommy had experience with media ministry, the church offered him a position as a media consultant. Later he was hired as assistant pastor for media ministries. When the church's senior pastor left for missionary service in March 1996, Tommy was named as his replacement.

Further allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced during his tenure in Dunn Loring, and in 2000, members of Tommy's own family confronted him about what they saw as inappropriate activities between him and his adopted son. His family also shared their concerns about his relationship with an underage male from the church.

In the face of the new allegations, Tommy once again announced he was having medical problems in 2002 and resigned as pastor of the Community Church of God, moving with his wife and family to Marion, Kentucky, an hour and a half drive from 3ABN. Later that year, Tommy was hired as 3ABN tape and masters archive librarian, without the formal approval of the 3ABN board of directors, a group that had fired him just 10 years before.

Pastor Contacts 3ABN

In the spring of 2003, Dryden, then pastor of the Ezra Church of God in West Frankfort, penned a letter outlining his concerns about Tommy Shelton. He distributed it to a handful of leaders of Church of God camp meeting associations, whom he knew, in the past, had invited Tommy to speak at their church meetings.

He later sent the letter to Dr. Walter Thompson, 3ABN board chairman, advising him that "at least six boys in our community were sexually abused" by Tommy. He told Thompson that Tommy's ordination was not in good standing with either the Church of God in Illinois or Virginia and offered to give Thompson the phone numbers of the family members of Tommy's purported victims so that 3ABN could follow up on the situation.

Thompson spoke with Dryden and then brought the letter to the attention of Danny Shelton. Danny brushed the letter off as 30-year old news, attributing it to a long-standing feud between Dryden and Tommy. After meeting with Danny, Thompson brought the letter to the full 3ABN board at its June 2003 meeting. The board, due to its belief that the events had happened many years before; Tommy's assurance that he had attempted to make things right; and the fact that no legal action had been taken against Tommy, voted to allow Tommy's relationship with 3ABN to continue.

Further Allegations

In the Spring of 2004, Roger W. Clem, a 32 year-old man who had attended the Ezra Church of God during his teenage years, released a letter he had written to Tommy, accusing him of sexual abuse. In his letter, which he later posted on the Internet, Clem claims Tommy had ruined 15 years of his life. He says that he is sick of Tommy's manipulative behavior, including his claims of illness to divert attention away from allegations of sexual misconduct.

On June 4, 2004, Linda Shelton signed a Separation Agreement with 3ABN, ending her employment with the ministry. Later that year, Tommy moved into her old office at 3ABN and assumed her role as programming director. During his time at 3ABN he traveled with his brother to 3ABN gatherings around the world, many times playing the piano as Danny sang. He also began playing the piano for the Kids Time show on 3ABN.

Late in 2006, Duane Klem, Roger's brother, shared with close associates that Tommy had molested him, as well. In a statement released in January 2007, Klem accused Tommy of initiating a sexual relationship with him when he was 19, at times using 3ABN buildings for their assignations. Klem says the growing number of allegations against Tommy prompted him to come forward with his claims.

Adventist Investigators

Much of the pressure that Tommy Shelton now faces has come from the efforts of a small, informal network of Seventh-day Adventist individuals. Many in the group categorize themselves as conservative Adventists, a constituency 3ABN has long relied on for key support. For the past five months, this unpaid volunteer group has investigated a number of allegations against Danny Shelton and 3ABN. Some they have found to be true, while others have proved to be false. Doing their work primarily via telephone and e-mail, the group has interviewed dozens of people who have had connections with 3ABN and the Shelton family over the last 20 years.

Two members of the network—Gailon Arthur Joy, a loan officer trainer from Sterling, Massachusetts, and Bob Pickle, a webmaster and Adventist apologist from Halstad, Minnesota—have posted the findings of their investigation on the Internet. Both men espouse belief in a historical, conservative Adventist theology, including the traditional church teachings about 1844 and Ellen G. White, and say that before starting their investigation, they had positive feelings toward 3ABN and its ministry.

"3ABN was an integral part of our home TV viewing for more than a decade. My family members have contributed heavily to 3ABN (financially)," says Joy. Joy spearheaded an effort as late as May 2006 to pass out over 6,000 copies of Danny Shelton's book Ten Commandments Twice Removed.

Joy and Pickle say they only began investigating when concerned Adventist friends urged them to help them verify or dismiss rumors of misconduct at the 3ABN. As they conducted their initial investigation, both men became impressed that what was happening behind the scenes at 3ABN didn't mesh with the rosy picture they had seen on their television screens.

In late 2006, Joy, who has experience as a legal clerk, was asked by Linda Shelton to represent her as she negotiated the ground rules for an inquiry by Adventist-laymen's Services and Industries (ASI) into the propriety of her divorce from Danny Shelton. Harold Lance, a retired attorney and former president of the self-supporting organization, Outpost Centers Incorporated, led the inquiry. In early 2007, the ASI-brokered negotiations fell apart early, due in part to the inability of the two parties to reach an understanding on the manner or scope of the inquiry. Lance, who had been asked to head up the inquiry by the ASI Executive Committee in October, summarized the dissolution of the inquiry in an e-mail statement on January 5.

"For approximately three months ASI has deeply considered its' involvement in issues involving 3ABN in three special Executive Committee meetings called for that purpose and multiple other contacts." Lance wrote. "It now appears that it is not appropriate for ASI to be involved."

Joy has registered a website at www.save3abn.com that contains documents and statements from various sources involved in the group's investigation of Tommy Shelton. As of press time, the site had received more than 1,900 hits.

Joy and Pickle have a growing list of e-mail contacts, many in church leadership, to whom they plan to send periodic communication, chronicling what they see as areas in which 3ABN must be held to higher accountability.

Adventist Today offered Dr. Thompson, in his capacity as 3ABN Board Chairman, an opportunity to confirm, disconfirm, or provide additional information concerning the accuracy of the parts of this report that cover areas about which he had direct, personal knowledge.

In an e-mail to the Executive Editor of Adventist Today, he stated that in view of a conversation that he had had with Danny Shelton, he would "withhold further comment at present." [To comment or inquire about this story, e-mail AToday]

Southern Illinois Hometown City Leaders Laud Danny Shelton's Support

By Edwin D. Schwisow, for ATNewsbreak (09 February 2007).

Danny Shelton, 3ABN president, is very willing to lend a helping hand financially to the civic needs of his boyhood town of West Frankfort, Illinois, say several prominent people there. "If our city had a meaningful project we needed to have a joint relationship financially with Three Angels, I anticipate that wouldn't be a problem," says Larry Warren, mayor of West Frankfort.

Warren goes on to describe how Shelton used 3ABN to promote the Roan Center, a home for abused women and children. On a November 24, 2006, broadcast of 3ABN Today, Shelton interviewed Sara Bond, one of the Center's founders about mission of the organization and asked his viewers to send in donations to help Bond accomplish her goals. Shelton also pledged $5,000 from 3ABN to help Bond with her project. Bond recently thanked 3ABN in an article published in the February 1 edition of the West Frankfort Press American. In the article, she said that the broadcast had raised $4,490 so far and that she continued to receive consistent donations from 3ABN viewers. "We have had donations from Oregon, California, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arizona," Bond said in the article.

Franklin Community High School (FCHS) in West Frankfort has received thousands of dollars from Shelton as well according to Richard Glodich, athletic director at the school. "Danny Shelton and 3ABN are an asset to our school. There's no doubt about it," says Glodich. "Any time we're in need of help, Mr. Shelton is always willing to help." Glodich estimates 3ABN has donated $30,000 to the athletic department of FCHS alone during the 10 years he's been athletic director. He says that Shelton donated several thousand dollars to the school to help modernize their weight room and donated money towards athletic fields at the local junior high school. 3ABN donated close to $10,000 in prizes for the school's Red Ribbon Week, Glodich says. He says they brought cameramen out to videotape the event so it could be publicized locally.

According to Glodich, it was a donation by 3ABN and Shelton that was the catalyst for a peer-mentoring program to begin on campus. Dubbed Alpha groups, the program enables juniors and seniors at the school to spend an hour each Thursday visiting with students in the freshman and sophomore classes, building friendships and urging them to stay clear of alcohol and drugs.

Danny Shelton is also a regular at FCHS Cardinal athletic events, especially men's' varsity basketball games Glodich says. "Oh yeah, we see him all the time, probably at least 10 times a year, he's here for games."

For many in West Frankfort, Danny Shelton is a man to admire. His philanthropy and personal "rags to riches" story of establishing 3ABN has endeared him to many admirers in the town his hometown. Interestingly many in the small city of Thompsonville have very different sentiments. Their viewpoints will be explored in an upcoming edition of Adventist Today.

Posted by: Clay Feb 12 2007, 01:54 PM

so I guess now they are going to sue AToday?

Posted by: erik Feb 12 2007, 02:04 PM

[Looks like the church is starting to move to provide some leadership on this topic.

Praise the lord.

erik

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 12 2007, 11:54 AM)
>
> so I guess now they are going to sue AToday?

I was wondering the same thing

Posted by: Grace Feb 12 2007, 02:13 PM

I'm glad to see leaders of our church waking up!

Posted by: Observer Feb 12 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 12 2007, 01:13 PM)
>
> I'm glad to see leaders of our church waking up!

Where?

The citation came from the Adventist Today website. AT is independent. It is not comprised of SDA leaders. They are independent, just like us!

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 12 2007, 02:25 PM

Gregory,

I would think there would be one difference.

The group they refer to, I am going to assume, would be Gailon A. Joy, Bob Pickle, and yourself. They identify you as "conservative" in your theological leanings. They also identify 3ABN viewership and financial supports as being largely "conservative."

On the other hand, isn't AT considered to be rather liberal in their theology and editorial direction? Don't most church leaders view them as being left of the old Spectrum publication?

- FHB

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 12 2007, 04:15 PM)
>
> Where?
>
> The citation came from the Adventist Today website. AT is independent. It is not comprised of SDA leaders. They are independent, just like us!

Posted by: erik Feb 12 2007, 02:28 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 12 2007, 12:15 PM)
>
> Where?
>
> The citation came from the Adventist Today website. AT is independent. It is not comprised of SDA leaders. They are independent, just like us!

Well thank you for that information, maybe the leadership will still act while there is time to act.

Erik

Posted by: Clay Feb 12 2007, 02:37 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Franklin Community High School (FCHS) in West Frankfort has received thousands of dollars from Shelton as well according to Richard Glodich, athletic director at the school. "Danny Shelton and 3ABN are an asset to our school. There's no doubt about it," says Glodich. "Any time we're in need of help, Mr. Shelton is always willing to help." Glodich estimates 3ABN has donated $30,000 to the athletic department of FCHS alone during the 10 years he's been athletic director. He says that > Shelton donated several thousand dollars to the school to help modernize their weight room and donated money towards athletic fields at the local junior high school. 3ABN donated close to $10,000 in prizes for the school's Red Ribbon Week, Glodich says. He says they brought cameramen out to videotape the event so it could be publicized locally.

so 3abn has enough money that they can give it away.... interesting... to the public school system no ess....

Posted by: lurker Feb 12 2007, 03:11 PM

That was my first thought too. The widow's mite going for atheletic equipment and to provide good p.r. for Danny Shelton and for 3ABN! I know he is a sports fan but that is not what people think ABN is going to with their offerings, some even send tithe money and it goes for this? And they know some of the money they get is tithe money. I think it is a very fair article though and better to come out there than evening news.

Posted by: Grace Feb 12 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 12 2007, 09:15 PM)
>
> Where?
>
> The citation came from the Adventist Today website. AT is independent. It is not comprised of SDA leaders. They are independent, just like us!

Oh! I didn't know. So the waking up has not happened yet. But it has to come. And I'm glad for the article.

Posted by: Observer Feb 12 2007, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 12 2007, 01:25 PM)
>
> Gregory,
>
> I would think there would be one difference.
>
> The group they refer to, I am going to assume, would be Gailon A. Joy, Bob Pickle, and yourself. They identify you as "conservative" in your theological leanings. They also identify 3ABN viewership and financial supports as being largely "conservative."
>
> On the other hand, isn't AT considered to be rather liberal in their theology and editorial direction? Don't most church leaders view them as being left of the old Spectrum publication?
>
> - FHB

I consider myself to be a middle of the road SDA. Some of my views may seem to be conservative, and some may seem to be liberal. But, I think I am a moderate.

In my opinion, many people consider Adventist Today and Spectrum to be liberal. I do not think that they consider AT to be "left" of Spectrum.

Over a period of time both, in my opinon, Adventist Today, and Spectrum have take a complementary role that is not in conflict with each other. AT focuses more on current news. Spectrum focuses more on a scholarly discussion of issues within Adventistm.

NOTE: I subscribe to AT and Spectrum. I have subscribed for years to Perspective Digest, and am now subscribing to the Journal of the Adventist Theological Society. If you recognize those, you know that they go from conservative to liberal. But, again, I consider myself to be a moderate.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 12 2007, 05:09 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 12 2007, 12:54 PM)
>
> so I guess now they are going to sue AToday?

Or at least they may receive the warning letter from the Minnesota Fourteen.

Posted by: gardener Feb 12 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 12 2007, 03:37 PM)
>
> so 3abn has enough money that they can give it away.... interesting... to the public school system no less....

I for one am not happy to hear this. I remember my mother before she died a couple years ago would send 3ABN a good portion of her measly monthly check from the government. Truely a "Widows Mite". Now to find out where it may have been going makes me sick to my stomach. I am glad she is not alive to hear all this. I quit giving soon after Linda was ousted.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 12 2007, 09:25 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 12 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> so I guess now they are going to sue AToday?

They were threatened even before they came out with the article. You can be sure that they have fully documented everything they have printed.

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 12 2007, 03:25 PM) ☐
>
> Gregory,
>
> I would think there would be one difference.
>
> The group they refer to, I am going to assume, would be Gailon A. Joy, Bob Pickle, and yourself. They identify you as "conservative" in your theological leanings. They also identify 3ABN viewership and financial supports as being largely "conservative."
>
> On the other hand, isn't AT considered to be rather liberal in their theology and editorial direction? Don't most church leaders view them as being left of the old Spectrum publication?
> - FHB

Conservative or liberal has next to nothing to do with questions of morals and fiscal responsibility ... and honesty. Conservatives and liberals may disagree on such things as what happened in 1844... but they stand shoulder to shoulder when it comes to basic integrity, decency, honesty, fairness, and handling funds in a manner that is congruent with their mission and publicly stated purposes for their gathering of funds.

Posted by: justme Feb 12 2007, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 12 2007, 11:25 PM) ☐
>
> They were threatened even before they came out with the article. You can be sure that they have fully documented everything they have printed.
> Conservative or liberal has next to nothing to do with questions of morals and fiscal responsibility ... and honesty. Conservatives and liberals may disagree on such things as what happened in 1844... but they stand shoulder to shoulder when it comes to basic integrity, decency, honesty, fairness, and handling funds in a manner that is congruent with their mission and publicly stated purposes for their gathering of funds.

"WIDOW'S' Mites" indeed! Truly sickening to think of how they are used. It has been long known that Danny can get by with anything in that county, because he has the sheriff just where he wants him.

About the donations: Anyone who has been to a 3ABN rally and who has watched Danny has seen him be approached by individuals who hand Danny an envelope. Danny usually asks, "Do you need a receipt for this?" and if the answer is "NO" it goes into Danny's pants pocket. If the answer is "Yes, please, .. thank you". he refers them to someone who will make out a receipt. 3ABN has been saying that the "Receipts are more than ever no that Linda is gone" because of the need to write more receipts to keep records looking better now that so many eyes are asking to look. Maybe the dollar amount is getting smaller but the number of recorded contributions is going up.

I know of no one who was giving to 3ABN and is still giving. I know of many who have moved their contributions to "The HOPE Channel" instead.

Danny has been ultra-upset at both Adventist Today and BSDA for what is reported about 3ABN. Danny has openly attacked AT on his platforms across the country.

(Liberal? / conservative? Which would apply to Jesus during His ministry. (Please, Don't get into it here but think about that He was accused of both, it depends on whether they were Pharisees or Gentiles.)

AT is composed largely of students and other in Southern California according to one conversation I had with them. They answer to no one, but try to offer a view that you probably wont find anywhere else. And yes they are fussy about their sources. That's probably why it has taken so long to hear about 3ABN again since the firing of Linda.

Keep on asking questions? lots of them? Let Danny and Mollie and Hal know that they are under the microscope. It still looks like Danny is the "Buffoon" along the way. It would appear that Hal and Mollie have been pushing the buttons and Danny sings the tunes. Danny actually believes what Hal and Mollie and Shellie and Kuzma tell him, "You're the chosen one". Chosen to be the "fall guy" for all the rest of the stuff. Danny actually thought he could cover up for Tommy by putting him "on the road for 3ABN" and then hiring and rehiring Tommy behind everybody's back. It's tempting to be "loyal" to family, but the family is unhappy with Tommy as well as with Danny.

"Run, Brandy, run!"(Too late).

Danny believes that Christians are not supposed to sue each other, until it's someone HE wants to sue. Think of how much discovery and documentation would come out of the woodwork in these lawsuits. Support would drop like a rock if the public saw this in the open.

The church leaders, as did ASI, will take a step back from this. They will neither support nor condemn 3ABN. They will, however side against child abuse as an issue, but they will steer clear from condemning Danny and 3ABN. I dare say the church leaders know all that we know and more. They, too have their "snoops" and tricks.

Let's remember that every one of these individuals in question is a soul that Jesus died for and they need our prayers. They need to listen to God's spirit and humble their hearts and repent.

Pray without ceasing, OK!?

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 13 2007, 07:07 AM

☒ notworkir

Has anyone been able to load www.atoday.com?

Posted by: Observer Feb 13 2007, 09:04 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 13 2007, 06:07 AM)
>
> ☒ notworkir
>
> Has anyone been able to load www.atoday.com?

It is down.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 13 2007, 10:28 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 13 2007, 08:07 AM)
>
> notworkir Has anyone been able to load www.atoday.com?

Too many hits overloading their bandwidth?

nw

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 13 2007, 11:56 AM

It's back up now.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: watchbird Feb 16 2007, 01:59 PM

There was a time lag of several days before the article that was sent out to those who had signed up for Adventist Today email news letters was posted to the website. The "NewsBreak" article has been posted now, and may be accessed there as well as read in the first post of this thread.

Headlines are:

Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
Virginia church meets to address allegations of sexual misconduct

By Edwin D. Schwisow, for ATNewsbreak (09 February 2007).

http://www.atoday.com/email/2007/02/12/

Since this is a much more concisely written account than those which have appeared in our forum, or which have been posted on the Save3ABN.com website, this would be a very good article to use for sharing... either by giving out the url, or by printing and sharing hard copy.

Posted by: Grace Feb 16 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 16 2007, 08:59 PM)
>
> There was a time lag of several days before the article that was sent out to those who had signed up for Adventist Today email news letters was posted to the website. The "NewsBreak" article has > been posted now, and may be accessed there as well as read in the first post of this thread.

>
> Headlines are:
>
> Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
> Virginia church meets to address allegations of sexual misconduct
>
> By Edwin D. Schwisow, for ATNewsbreak (09 February 2007).
>
> http://www.atoday.com/email/2007/02/12/
>
> Since this is a much more concisely written account than those which have appeared in our forum, or which have been posted on the Save3ABN.com website, this would be a very good article to use for sharing... either by giving out the url, or by printing and sharing hard copy.

he link works perfectly. Thank you, WB!

appy Sabbath everybody!

race

Posted by: no_cults Feb 19 2007, 11:18 PM

> QUOTE(gardener @ Feb 12 2007, 06:44 PM)
>
> I for one am not happy to hear this. I remember my mother before she died a couple years ago would send 3ABN a good portion of her measly monthly check from the government. Truely a "Widows Mite". Now to find out where it may have been going makes me sick to my stomach. I am glad she is not alive to hear all this. I quit giving soon after Linda was ousted.

Vell, my mom gave pretty nearly all of her savings (via irrevokable trust) because he wanted to "help spread the word". When I say "all".... I would say 98% of what he had accumulated after working at Brandoms until she was 72 yrs old. Of course, f she had consulted any of her children, or her SDA pastor son-in-law, they would ave advised against this. Now, we are all wondering what will happen to the annuity ks should 3abn fold or change ownership.

oney for athletic equipment and money for horses is not what she had in mind, I am ure.

Posted by: ida Feb 20 2007, 02:28 AM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Feb 20 2007, 05:18 AM)

> Well, my mom gave pretty nearly all of her savings (via irrevokable trust) because she wanted to "help spread the word". When I say "all".... I would say 98% of what she had accumulated after working at Brandoms until she was 72 yrs old. Of course, if she had consulted any of her children, or her SDA pastor son-in-law, they would have advised against this. Now, we are all wondering what will happen to the annuity cks should 3abn fold or change ownership.
>
> Money for athletic equipment and money for horses is not what she had in mind, I am sure.

She must have been honest in her desire to spread the gospel. But can we call it honesty to use the funds for a puclic high school athletic eqipment? How can we help others understand it may be better supporting our own church?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 20 2007, 10:35 AM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 20 2007, 01:28 AM) ☐
>
> She must have been honest in her desire to spread the gospel. But can we call it honesty to use the funds for a puclic high school athletic eqipment? How can we help others understand it may be better supporting our own church?

ida,
Danny Shelton said, on the Behind the Scenes program aired Thursday, February 15, 2007 and as transcribed by Ralph:

> QUOTE
>
> Danny For crying out loud what are we supposed to do as Christians? Right? That is what we are supposed to do. Help those who can't help themselves, but they want to put a twist on things so it looks like....people will say, well I'm sending money for the three angels messages but they are giving it to local sports or athletes or what have you. Our board members alone have given tremendous amounts of money. At one time one board member gave $60,000 for me to distribute in the community to help these causes. And they are all non-profit causes so everything is legal that we did but see they don't look at the other side.

You can see the rest of what Ralph has transcribed of the second hour here:
http://mypage.direct.ca/r/rseland/private/second.html

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 20 2007, 02:28 AM) ☐
>
> She must have been honest in her desire to spread the gospel. But can we call it honesty to use the funds for a puclic high school athletic eqipment? How can we help others understand it may be better supporting our own church?

The giving to the community was explained on the live. Maybe I can make it clearer. Because their is many astute business people on the 3abn board, they believe it is very important to have community support. For this reason certain ones that can afford to have given donations specifically earmarked for community projects. These donations are in addition to, what they give to support 3abn. Ida, if you are seeking truth with an open mind, you will find that most talk about finances are always twisted to insinuate that the hard earned money that someone gives is going to pay for all sorts of things it shouldn't. Not true. The accountability factor is higher than usual for a non profit organization. There are 7 financial workers, accountants, a chief financial officer with a very impressive resume, there are outside auditors and the 3abn board goes over the financial statements at every meeting.
This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 02:34 PM)
>
> This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

...and may I ask who do you get your information from?

Who do you get your "handy tidbits" from? Danny? Tommy?

Same boat.

Pot. Kettle. Mad Black.

☒ sn

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 10:34 AM)
>
> The giving to the community was explained on the live. Maybe I can make it clearer. Because their is many astute business people on the 3abn board, they believe it is very important to have community support. For this reason certain ones that can afford to have given donations specifically earmarked for community projects. These donations are in addition to, what they give to support 3abn. Ida, if you are seeking truth with an open mind, you will find that most talk about > finances are always twisted to insinuate that the hard earned money that someone gives is going to pay for all sorts of things it shouldn't. Not true. The accountability factor is higher than usual for a non profit organization. There are 7 financial workers, accountants, a chief financial officer with a very impressive resume, there are outside auditors and the 3abn board goes over the financial statements at every meeting.

> This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

ystander,

hank you for making it clear that no gifts when to the sports equipment.

econdly, If linda is the source of everything are you saying that she has written the letters the ccusers of tommy have written? or in some way cause that whole mess to come out?

ust wondering?

rik

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 02:23 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 20 2007, 12:47 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> Thank you for making it clear that no gifts when to the sports equipment.
>
> Secondly, If linda is the source of everything are you saying that she has written the letters the accusers of tommy have written? or in some way cause that whole mess to come out?
>
> Just wondering?
> Erik

rik, thanks for understanding my post without trying to tear it apart.
y opinion on the other since you ask....Of course she didn't write the letters. Do I believe she was esponsible in some way? I believe she is. Who would have given Glenn Drydens name to Gailon Joy r Bob Pickle. Everything snowballed from there. guilt or innocence of TS is a moot point here. All that vas needed was a name dropped to start a circus. Dryden's name is not known in Adventist circles. dd it up.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 20 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 11:34 AM)
>
> The giving to the community was explained on the live. Maybe I can make it clearer. SNIP..

Bystander,

I just wanted to point out that in my answer to ida's concern about her mother's money and the sports donations, I quoted Danny Shelton's explanation about the donations specified for the community from the live program. I also provided her with a link to the transcription of the 2nd hour so she could see the full quote for herself.

Posted by: IMM Feb 20 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> The giving to the community was explained on the live. Maybe I can make it clearer. Because their is many astute business people on the 3abn board, they believe it is very important to have community support. For this reason certain ones that can afford to have given donations specifically earmarked for community projects. These donations are in addition to, what they give to support 3abn. Ida, if you are seeking truth with an open mind, you will find that most talk about finances are always twisted to insinuate that the hard earned money that someone gives is going to pay for all sorts of things it shouldn't. Not true. The accountability factor is higher than usual for a non profit organization. There are 7 financial workers, accountants, a chief financial officer with a very impressive resume, there are outside auditors and the 3abn board goes over the financial statements at every meeting.
> This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

Uhmm, BS, I'm sure the 3ABN Board wouldn't like to hear you talking about them that way. You've been so loyal up to now...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 20 2007, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 01:23 PM)
>
> Erik, thanks for understanding my post without trying to tear it apart.
> My opinion on the other since you ask....Of course she didn't write the letters. Do I believe she was > responsible in some way? I believe she is. Who would have given Glenn Drydens name to Gailon Joy or Bob Pickle. Everything snowballed from there. guilt or innocence of TS is a moot point here. All that was needed was a name dropped to start a circus. Dryden's name is not known in Adventist circles. Add it up.

o, it is not a moot point here. TS is still responsible for TS's own behavior and, if DS attempted to eep that behavior secret by intimidation, cover-up or obfuscation DS is responsible as well.

astoral sexual assault + pastoral sexual assault = pastoral sexual assault

---

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 03:28 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 12:23 PM)
>
> Erik, thanks for understanding my post without trying to tear it apart.
> My opinion on the other since you ask....Of course she didn't write the letters. Do I believe she was responsible in some way? I believe she is. Who would have given Glenn Drydens name to Gailon Joy or Bob Pickle. Everything snowballed from there. guilt or innocence of TS is a moot point here. All that was needed was a name dropped to start a circus. Dryden's name is not known in Adventist circles. Add it up.

ystander,

believe that pickle said he got the name from a church leader, so not sure how that can be Linda's oing.

econdly did not Mr. Dryden write to the 3abn board president about Tommy, and it greatly appears hat that Issue was not checked out correctly at that time, based on the facts that have come forward.

lso am i understand you correctly that you linda(if she is the only source of Dryden name) should ave said nothing and let a pastor that preys on young men have plenty of face time on global TV, I ersonal have a great problem with that idea.

ommy is not a moot point in this whole thing, if nothing else it shows a HUGE, HUGE double standard t 3abn, that being female sexual sin is punished, and male sexual sin is not.

ry and find a text in the bible that backs that one up.

fully Agree that Linda "sins" that are said to have been why she was released from 3abn, Are in act otally different then the "sins" of tommy. but that does not make Tommy's actions moot.

would have thought you could see that.

rik

Posted by: ida Feb 20 2007, 05:21 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 06:34 PM)
>
> - - -
> Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

You have to pardon me, Bystander, but I am not a child, so I have no way of seeing the discrepancies that you see. I see a much greater discrepancy in what you are saying about the source of information. But I was not born in Southern Illinois, so the gift of seeing things the way you see was not given to me at birth. And I see a lot more dicrepancies in many of your other posts. I wish you would write and explain things so that I can understand it - that would make this all so much easier.

You remind me of a chemistry teacher I had in an adult class, who assured us that anyone with common sence would clearly see what he was explaing to us. In reality not a single student in that class had any idea what he was talking about. You, Bystader, formulate your thoughts and ideas in a similar vein. Use honest and plain language and you might be able to clear up all of this mess within a short time.

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:32 PM

> QUOTE(ida @ Feb 21 2007, 01:21 AM)
>

> You have to pardon me, Bystander, but I am not a child, so I have no way of seeing the discrepancies that you see. I see a much greater discrepancy in what you are saying about the source of information. But I was not born in Southern Illinois, so the gift of seeing things the way you see was not given to me at birth. And I see a lot more dicrepancies in many of your other posts. I wish you would write and explain things so that I can understand it - that would make this all so much easier.
>
> You remind me of a chemistry teacher I had in an adult class, who assured us that anyone with common sence would clearly see what he was explaing to us. In reality not a single student in that class had any idea what he was talking about. You, Bystader, formulate your thoughts and ideas in a similar vein. Use honest and plain language and you might be able to clear up all of this mess within a short time.

What happened to Bystander? Did he get whisked away?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 25 2007, 06:52 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 01:32 PM)
>

> What happened to Bystander? Did he get whisked away?

Probably a changing of the guard.. or Reloading of crapola to spew and spin...or you get the idea...

I'm sure that wwjd/bystander sure wish they had gagged Linda for many more years...they seem aweful worried about what she might say given the chance. If they could, they would put tape over her mouth, bribe and convince all her "friends" to go away, because she shouldn't have any friends, and cut off all the "leaders" in the church from her fully to keep her pinned down and out of the public eye all together. Ever wonder WHY???? But, they can't do that, so they come here and work their evil from here. Can you spell transparancy??? As from the beginning, they seek to crush her to keep the attention off THEM. Yep...NOT WORKING. Didnt' work then, not working now (especially).

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 07:08 PM

Maybe he's off on the jet somewhere. More likely the Dannynites and Dannyscribes finally figured out what some of us have been saying, that they are doing more harm than good by defending themselves here.

Richard

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 04:32 PM)
>
> What happened to Bystander? Did he get whisked away?

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 09:49 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> - - -
> This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

This statement entitles you to use the title Byslander.

I have a lot more information from Mr. Danny Shelton than from Linda. In conformity with her gag order Linda has rather restrained me. My statements here are based on what I experienced right from the beginning.

If the Dannyscribes think they gain more credibility by blaming Linda for being behind all the information given, they missed the boat and saddled the wrong horse in their escapades.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 12:02 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 25 2007, 09:49 PM)
>
> This statement entitles you to use the title Byslander.
>
> I have a lot more information from Mr. Danny Shelton than from Linda. In conformity with her gag order Linda has rather restrained me. My statements here are based on what I experienced right from the beginning.

Restrained you from what if she isn't telling you anything. You have stated that you and your first wife loved her as a daughter. You have said the same for your second wife. since when does a "daughter" not tell all to her surrogate parents, if, she loves and trusts them in return.

Posted by: Lee Feb 26 2007, 12:11 AM

Exactly right Bystander! I'd like to hear Pastor Johann's answer.

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 01:04 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 08:02 AM)
>
> Restrained you from what if she isn't telling you anything. You have stated that you and your first wife > loved her as a daughter. You have said the same for your second wife. since when does a "daughter" not tell all to her surrogate parents, if, she loves and trusts them in return.

You have noticed here on this net that several people, who were in doubt, were convinced because of the information given by Danny Shelton and his scribes.

I my former reply to you I stated that Danny Shelton was also my main source. If it had not been for him I would never have suspected what happened. He made too many blunders to be trustworthy. It was not worthy of a man in charge of such a great ministry.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 08:11 AM)
>
> Exactly right Bystander! I'd like to hear Pastor Johann's answer.

I trust that you have digested my reply!

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 26 2007, 01:43 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 12 2007, 02:49 PM)
>
> ADVENTIST NEWS Round up
>
> Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
> ...
>
> Allegations at 3ABN
>
> Shortly after Tommy resigned his post as pastor, Danny invited him to join 3ABN as production manager. During his time at 3ABN, a member of Tommy's production staff, who was in his early twenties at the time, says Tommy made a sexual advance toward him. Shortly after what he calls his "uncomfortable situation," the former employee says he confronted Danny Shelton with what had happened. In response, Danny assured the young man that he would no longer have to answer to Tommy and that 3ABN administrators would "work things out."
>
> In late 1992, Elder Bj Christensen, then president of the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, approached two members of Danny's family, asking them to make a statement in regard to improprieties they had observed in Tommy's behavior. Elder Christiansen transcribed the statement and brought it to the attention of the 3ABN board, on which he then sat.
>
> At a subsequent 3ABN board meeting, Tommy was terminated as production manager. Shortly thereafter, 3ABN outfitted him with a touring bus and sent him as a 3ABN representative, giving gospel concerts and promoting 3ABN to cable companies throughout the United States.
>
> ...
> Connections in Virginia
> ...
> Further allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced during his tenure in Dunn Loring, and in 2000, members of Tommy's own family confronted him about what they saw as inappropriate activities between him and his adopted son. His family also shared their concerns about his relationship with an underage male from the church.
>
> In the face of the new allegations, Tommy once again announced he was having medical problems ... Later that year, Tommy was hired as 3ABN tape and masters archive librarian, without the formal approval of the 3ABN board of directors, a group that had fired him just 10 years before.
> ...

Fired by 3ABN in the early 1990's?

Confronted by his own family?

Before this article was published, had anyone heard about the two items above? I do not remember reading about this on this site or the save3abn site. Did I miss something?

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 04:13 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 26 2007, 09:43 AM)

> Fired by 3ABN in the early 1990's?
>
> Confronted by his own family?
>
> Before this article was published, had anyone heard about the two items above? I do not remember reading about this on this site or the save3abn site. Did I miss something?

This is getting the attention of the media and various nets, bloggs, etc.,

---

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 04:53 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 08:02 AM)
>
> Restrained you from what if she isn't telling you anything. You have stated that you and your first wife loved her as a daughter. You have said the same for your second wife. since when does a "daughter" not tell all to her surrogate parents, if, she loves and trusts them in return.

Perhaps you have never experienced a decent love relationship? It can be much more than that. What especially endeared Linda to Irmgard was when she witnessed the cruelty and lies that Danny Shelton and his scribes served on Linda to the whole world.

And when my present wife reads all of your cruel statements and sees the disdain with which you treat the co-founder of 3ABN, she feels that Linda needs our love and protection. It appears to her that this great institution, 3ABN, no longer is ruled by Heavenly Agents, but by people overtaken by cruelty, who use sacrilegious methods in an attempt to appear genuine. You can judge by yourself, but this is how the picture painted by you appears in these quarters, and not only by us, but by a growing number of Church leaders I have associated with during the 50 years I served the Seventh-day Adventist Church as a church school teacher, pastor, Bible teacher, director of lay activities, Sabbath School, youth and pathfinder, stewardship, health and temperance, literature, and longest of all as Director of Media and Communications, in about seven various conferences and unions in about that many different countries in three hemispheres.

Therefore I have many friends, and they are also watching your cruelty and lack of deportment behind the official facade. Best of all, many of them are praying for us, and that this institution will be cleansed of evil, that it can perform the task it was called to perform for the Lord.

Posted by: sister Feb 26 2007, 07:10 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 12 2007, 02:49 PM)
>
> Just got this in my email - I went to get the link off the web so I could just post it here, but I don't see they have it yet (or I can't find it) listed on the website as it is a "newsbreak" and will be there. So, forgive the long post, if I should do this a different way (Calvin, Clay, Di) let me know. It's worth the read.

****
**

ADVENTIST NEWS Round up

Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
Virginia church meets to address allegations of sexual misconduct

By Edwin D. Schwisow, for ATNewsbreak (09 February 2007).

Facing multiple allegations of sexual misconduct, Tommy Shelton, production manager at Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) and brother of 3ABN President Danny Shelton, announced his retirement in a December 31, 2006 broadcast of 3ABN Live. Although not owned or operated by the Seventh-day Adventist Church, many of 3ABN's employees and volunteers are Adventist Church members. In a telephone interview with a representative of Adventist Today, Danny Shelton confirmed that his brother had left the employ of 3ABN for "health reasons."
Virginia Church Allegations

Tommy Shelton's retirement comes just four weeks after the Community Church of God in Dunn Loring, Virginia, held a December 3, 2006, business meeting to address accusations made by several young men that Tommy had molested them while he was pastor of the church. Following the meeting, church leaders read a carefully-worded statement, apprising the congregation of the accusations against Shelton and how they, as parishioners, should best respond. The church leaders prepared the statement under the advisement of their insurance carrier, Brotherhood Mutual, which had become involved after a young man came to the church with allegations that Tommy, during his pastorate, had molested him. The young was a minor when he says was abused. He is the third in recent months to come forward to Community Church of God leaders, accusing Shelton of making inappropriate sexual advances, according to Glenn Dryden, current pastor of the church.

A History of Allegations

This is not the first time Tommy has been accused of inappropriate sexual activity with underage males. During much of the 1980s, Tommy pastored the Ezra Church of God in his hometown of West Frankfort, Illinois. While there, he worked closely with a 12-grade school, whose property bordered the church. During this time, a teenage boy, who was a student at the school, accused Tommy of soliciting him for a sexual relationship. According to Dryden, who pastored the West Frankfort church in the 1990s, three additional boys also made similar allegations, prompting civil authorities to become involved. Following a police investigation, Tommy was not charged with a crime, but the allegations were serious enough to prompt Church of God officials to intervene. In a letter dated October 25, 1985, the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois revoked Tommy's ordination. They listed their reasons for doing so as "improper counseling procedures," "numerous charges of misconduct," a criminal investigation into sexual abuse charges by the local police, and controversy surrounding Tommy's ministry and lifestyle. Ultimately Tommy's lack of cooperation in the disciplinary process, Dryden says, led the Church of God in Illinois to drop the Ezra Church of God from its roster of affiliated congregations.

In the early 1990s, further allegations of sexual misconduct were brought against Tommy and in 1991 Tommy resigned as pastor of the Ezra Church of God, citing health concerns.

Allegations at 3ABN

Shortly after Tommy resigned his post as pastor, Danny invited him to join 3ABN as production manager. During his time at 3ABN, a member of Tommy's production staff, who was in his early twenties at the time, says Tommy made a sexual advance toward him. Shortly after what he calls his "uncomfortable situation," the former employee says he confronted Danny Shelton with what had happened. In response, Danny assured the young man that he would no longer have to answer to Tommy and that 3ABN administrators would "work things out."

In late 1992, Elder Bj Christensen, then president of the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, approached two members of Danny's family, asking them to make a statement in regard to improprieties they had observed in Tommy's behavior. Elder Christiansen transcribed the statement and brought it to the attention of the 3ABN board, on which he then sat.

At a subsequent 3ABN board meeting, Tommy was terminated as production manager. Shortly thereafter, 3ABN outfitted him with a touring bus and sent him as a 3ABN representative, giving gospel concerts and promoting 3ABN to cable companies throughout the United States.

Connections in Virginia

During the time he was promoting 3ABN, he visited the Community Church of God in Dunn Loring. After learning that Tommy had experience with media ministry, the church offered him a position as a media consultant. Later he was hired as assistant pastor for media ministries. When the church's senior pastor left for missionary service in March 1996, Tommy was named as his replacement.

Further allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced during his tenure in Dunn Loring, and in 2000, members of Tommy's own family confronted him about what they saw as inappropriate activities between him and his adopted son. His family also shared their concerns about his relationship with an underage male from the church.

In the face of the new allegations, Tommy once again announced he was having medical problems in 2002 and resigned as pastor of the Community Church of God, moving with his wife and family to Marion, Kentucky, an hour and a half drive from 3ABN. Later that year, Tommy was hired as 3ABN tape and masters archive librarian, without the formal approval of the 3ABN board of directors, a group that had fired him just 10 years before.

Pastor Contacts 3ABN

In the spring of 2003, Dryden, then pastor of the Ezra Church of God in West Frankfort, penned a letter outlining his concerns about Tommy Shelton. He distributed it to a handful of leaders of Church of God camp meeting associations, whom he knew, in the past, had invited Tommy to speak at their church meetings.

He later sent the letter to Dr. Walter Thompson, 3ABN board chairman, advising him that "at least six boys in our community were sexually abused" by Tommy. He told Thompson that Tommy's ordination was not in good standing with either the Church of God in Illinois or Virginia and offered to give Thompson the phone numbers of the family members of Tommy's purported victims so that 3ABN could follow up on the situation.

Thompson spoke with Dryden and then brought the letter to the attention of Danny Shelton. Danny brushed the letter off as 30-year old news, attributing it to a long-standing feud between Dryden and Tommy. After meeting with Danny, Thompson brought the letter to the full 3ABN board at its June 2003 meeting. The board, due to its belief that the events had happened many years before; Tommy's assurance that he had attempted to make things right; and the fact that no legal action had been taken against Tommy, voted to allow Tommy's relationship with 3ABN to continue.

Further Allegations

In the Spring of 2004, Roger W. Clem, a 32 year-old man who had attended the Ezra Church of God during his teenage years, released a letter he had written to Tommy, accusing him of sexual abuse. In his letter, which he later posted on the Internet, Clem claims Tommy had ruined 15 years of his life. He says that he is sick of Tommy's manipulative behavior, including his claims of illness to divert attention away from allegations of sexual misconduct.

On June 4, 2004, Linda Shelton signed a Separation Agreement with 3ABN, ending her employment with the ministry. Later that year, Tommy moved into her old office at 3ABN and assumed her role as programming director. During his time at 3ABN he traveled with his brother to 3ABN gatherings around the world, many times playing the piano as Danny sang. He also began playing the piano for the Kids Time show on 3ABN.

> Late in 2006, Duane Klem, Roger's brother, shared with close associates that Tommy had molested him, as well. In a statement released in January 2007, Klem accused Tommy of initiating a sexual relationship with him when he was 19, at times using 3ABN buildings for their assignations. Klem says the growing number of allegations against Tommy prompted him to come forward with his claims.

I have bolded a passage above, in red, pertaining to an issue that no one has commented upon. Both Danny and Tommy have been accused of "inappropriate activities" toward individuals that were raised in their own homes, as their own children. Linda's daughter was raised in Danny's home and Tommy's adopted son was raised in his home, in both cases there are allegations of "inappropriate activities". Two Brothers, Danny and Tommy, share the same behavior; the only difference is the gender of the victims. Is a pattern developing before us? Why do both Danny and Tommy find this behavior acceptable within their families? Is it still incest when the child has no blood connection with the father figure, but has been raised within the same home as his child? Ethically, I believe the answer is a resounding, "YES!".

Sister

Posted by: Lee Feb 26 2007, 09:25 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 26 2007, 05:53 AM)
>
> Perhaps you have never experienced a decent love relationship? It can be much more than that. What especially endeared Linda to Irmgard was when she witnessed the cruelty and lies that Danny Shelton and his scribes served on Linda to the whole world.
>
> And when my present wife reads all of your cruel statements and sees the disdain with which you treat the co-founder of 3ABN, she feels that Linda needs our love and protection.
>
> Therefore I have many friends, and they are also watching your cruelty and lack of deportment behind the official facade. Best of all, many of them are praying for us, and that this institution will be cleansed of evil, that it can perform the task it was called to perform for the Lord.

Bystander cruel? You must have the wrong person Pastor Johann. I know him personally and he is not cruel. I'm afraid you and your wife have been duped by Linda as well as others by her willingness to alledgedly play the part of the victim--you know, the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method. But then many on this board have been rude and condescending towards Bystander, making fun of him, using his forum name as a means of ridicule--it would seem your wife might feel sorry for Bystander because of this.

Bystander lies with distain? Nope--wrong again! Could you list his lies here for me? I happen to know that if any of his information posted was incorrect, Bystander would be the first to correct it.

So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 09:39 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 09:25 AM)
>
> Bystander cruel? You must have the wrong person Pastor Johann. I know him personally and he is not cruel. I'm afraid you and your wife have been duped by Linda as well as others by her willingness to alledgedly play the part of the victim--you know, the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method. But then many on this board have been rude and condescending towards Bystander, making fun of him, using his forum name as a means of ridicule--it would seem your wife might feel sorry for Bystander because of this.
>
> Bystander lies with distain? Nope--wrong again! Could you list his lies here for me? I happen to know that if any of his information posted was incorrect, Bystander would be the first to correct it.
>
> So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

stated like a true dannyclone..... spin on spin on.....

Posted by: watchbird Feb 26 2007, 10:50 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 10:25 AM)
>
> Bystander cruel? You must have the wrong person Pastor Johann. I know him personally and he is not cruel. I'm afraid you and your wife have been duped by Linda as well as others by her willingness to alledgedly play the part of the victim--you know, the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method. But then many on this board have been rude and condescending towards Bystander, making fun of him, using his forum name as a means of ridicule--it would seem your wife might feel sorry for Bystander because of this.
>
> Bystander lies with distain? Nope--wrong again! Could you list his lies here for me? I happen to know that if any of his information posted was incorrect, Bystander would be the first to correct it.
>
> So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

Ah yes.... "the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method." What a simply GREAT description of the Thursday night "live" TV specials....

.... ☒ TVsnack. ....

all together now... let's hear it for the announcer and supporting cast..... ☒ ☒ ☒ ☒

Sorry Lee... the mirror trick ain't workin no mo.......

We know who the words apply to... so trying to project them onto Johann and this board......

Not working.... the spin mechanism done broke down..... ....

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 26 2007, 11:01 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 09:25 AM)
>
> So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

Hmm...interesting that you should use that phrase. I noticed yesterday on the sign in front of the Thompsonville SDA church that Hal Steenson was going to be preaching on that very topic.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 26 2007, 11:13 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 07:25 AM)
>
> Bystander cruel? You must have the wrong person Pastor Johann. I know him personally and he is not cruel. I'm afraid you and your wife have been duped by Linda as well as others by her willingness to alledgedly play the part of the victim--you know, the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method. But then many on this board have been rude and condescending towards Bystander, making fun of him, using his forum name as a means of ridicule--it would seem your wife might feel sorry for Bystander because of this.
>
> Bystander lies with distain? Nope--wrong again! Could you list his lies here for me? I happen to know that if any of his information posted was incorrect, Bystander would be the first to correct it.
>
> So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Monday, 09:01 AM)
>
> Hmm...interesting that you should use that phrase. I noticed yesterday on the sign in front of the Thompsonville SDA church that Hal Steenson was going to be preaching on that very topic.

Love those "aaahhhh hhhaaaa" moments??

Posted by: Grace Feb 26 2007, 11:20 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 26 2007, 06:01 PM)
>
> Hmm...interesting that you should use that phrase. I noticed yesterday on the sign in front of the Thompsonville SDA church that Hal Steenson was going to be preaching on that very topic.

Interesting!

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 02:07 PM

[quote name='Whtz Happenin' date='Feb 26 2007, 01:43 AM' post='180679']
Fired by 3ABN in the early 1990's?

Confronted by his own family?

Before this article was published, had anyone heard about the two items above? I do not remember reading about this on this site or the save3abn site. Did I miss something?
[/quote

If you missed anything, it was only lies. TS was never fired in the 90's or any other time from 3abn and confronted by the family? I would think you would have to be in the family to know whether that was true or not.

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 26 2007, 11:01 AM)
>
> Hmm...interesting that you should use that phrase. I noticed yesterday on the sign in front of the Thompsonville SDA church that Hal Steenson was going to be preaching on that very topic.

Yes that is interesting since Lee is thousands of miles away from southern Illinois. Maybe it was the Lord impressing her.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 26 2007, 02:09 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 26 2007, 10:01 AM) ☐
>
> Hmm...interesting that you should use that phrase. I noticed yesterday on the sign in front of the Thompsonville SDA church that Hal Steenson was going to be preaching on that very topic.

That is quite a coincidence!

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 26 2007, 02:09 PM) ☐
>
> That is quite a coincidence!

Read the post above yours PB. With God there are no coincidences.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 26 2007, 02:14 PM

Bystander wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> If you missed anything, it was only lies. TS was never fired in the 90's or any other time from 3abn and confronted by the family? I would think you would have to be in the family to know whether that was true or not .

Hmmm . . . . . Interesting implication.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 02:25 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 26 2007, 02:14 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander wrote:
>
> Hmmm . . . . . Interesting implication.

Yes it is...considering how many outsiders like to tell like to say, what happened, in the family. As always, they go on speculation, rumor and gossip. There is nothing more tiresome than strangers and outsiders discussing what goes on " at 3abn. " For lack of a better comparison, That would be like Joe blow on the street telling you what goes in your own household. Joe knows more than you because he "heard" it. By the time Joe gets through telling everyone he knows, and speculating and adding to it, YOU are the outsider. Doesn't make a lot of sense does it?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 26 2007, 02:41 PM

Uhhhh, Bystander, I think you missed the point.........and as Forrest says, "that's all I have to say about that".

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 12:25 PM)
>
> Yes it is...considering how many outsiders like to tell like to say, what happened, in the family. As always, they go on speculation, rumor and gossip. There is nothing more tiresome than strangers and outsiders discussing what goes on " at 3abn. " For lack of a better comparison, That would be like Joe blow on the street telling you what goes in your own household. Joe knows more than you because he "heard" it. By the time Joe gets through telling everyone he knows, and speculating and adding to it, YOU are the outsider. Doesn't make a lot of sense does it?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 26 2007, 02:49 PM

> QUOTE
>
> ADVENTIST NEWS Round up
>
> Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
> ...
>
> Allegations at 3ABN
>
> Shortly after Tommy resigned his post as pastor, Danny invited him to join 3ABN as production manager. During his time at 3ABN, a member of Tommy's production staff, who was in his early twenties at the time, says Tommy made a sexual advance toward him.[/b] Shortly after what he calls his "uncomfortable situation," the former employee says he confronted Danny Shelton with what had happened. In response, Danny assured the young man that he would no longer have to answer to Tommy and that 3ABN administrators would "work things out."
>
> In late 1992, Elder Bj Christensen, then president of the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, [b]approached two members of Danny's family, asking them to make a statement in regard to improprieties they had observed in Tommy's behavior. Elder Christiansen transcribed the statement and brought it to the attention of the 3ABN board, on which he then sat.
>
> At a subsequent 3ABN board meeting, Tommy was terminated as production manager. Shortly thereafter, 3ABN outfitted him with a touring bus and sent him as a 3ABN representative, giving gospel concerts and promoting 3ABN to cable companies throughout the United States.
>
> ...
> Connections in Virginia
> ...
> Further allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced during his tenure in Dunn Loring, and in 2000, members of Tommy's own family confronted him about what they saw as inappropriate activities between him and his adopted son. His family also shared their concerns about > his relationship with an underage male from the church.

> In the face of the new allegations, Tommy once again announced he was having medical problems ... Later that year, Tommy was hired as 3ABN tape and masters archive librarian, without the formal approval of the 3ABN board of directors, a group that had fired him just 10 years before....

ystander,
ould you characterize the Adventist Today article as truthful? Would you charaterize the Adventist oday article as untruthful? Do you know either way? Your response to Whtz Happenin (pasted in elow) was a little unclear. It seems you were saying "it was only lies". But then why was Tommy emoved as production manager and sent touring in a bus? Or did he never actually leave the roduction department and then never went touring on a bus?
would be very appreciative if you would take the Adventist Today article and critique it section by ection. I think that would be extremely helpful and informative.

> QUOTE
>
> If you missed anything, it was only lies. TS was never fired in the 90's or any other time from 3abn and confronted by the family? I would think you would have to be in the family to know whether that was true or not.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 01:25 PM)
>
> Yes it is...considering how many outsiders like to tell like to say, what happened, in the family. As always, they go on speculation, rumor and gossip. There is nothing more tiresome than strangers and outsiders discussing what goes on " at 3abn. " For lack of a better comparison, That would be like Joe blow on the street telling you what goes in your own household. Joe knows more than you because he "heard" it. By the time Joe gets through telling everyone he knows, and speculating and adding to it, YOU are the outsider. Doesn't make a lot of sense does it?

o, I take it that since you know that the claims Whtz Happenin was referring to are all lies, you aren't oe Blow on the street - you are, instead, someone within the Shelton family who knows for a fact that he claims are untrue?

f not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 26 2007, 03:00 PM

PB, you were supposed to give him jes a little more rope with that one, and you would have had to asked this question.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 26 2007, 12:49 PM)
>
> So, I take it that since you know that the claims Whtz Happenin was referring to are all lies, you aren't Joe Blow on the street - you are, instead, someone within the Shelton family who knows for a fact that the claims are untrue?

> If not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 26 2007, 04:01 PM

> QUOTE
>
> ADVENTIST NEWS Round up
>
> Tommy Shelton Retires from 3ABN
> ...
>
> Allegations at 3ABN
>
> Shortly after Tommy resigned his post as pastor, Danny invited him to join 3ABN as production manager. During his time at 3ABN, a member of Tommy's production staff, who was in his early twenties at the time, says Tommy made a sexual advance toward him. Shortly after what he calls his "uncomfortable situation," the former employee says he confronted Danny Shelton with what had happened. In response, Danny assured the young man that he would no longer have to answer to Tommy and that 3ABN administrators would "work things out."
>
> In late 1992, Elder Bj Christensen, then president of the Illinois Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, approached two members of Danny's family, asking them to make a statement in regard to improprieties they had observed in Tommy's behavior. Elder Christiansen transcribed the statement and brought it to the attention of the 3ABN board, on which he then sat.
>
> At a subsequent 3ABN board meeting, Tommy was terminated as production manager. Shortly thereafter, 3ABN outfitted him with a touring bus and sent him as a 3ABN representative, giving gospel concerts and promoting 3ABN to cable companies throughout the United States.
>
> ...
> Connections in Virginia
> ...
> Further allegations of sexual misconduct surfaced during his tenure in Dunn Loring, and in 2000, members of Tommy's own family confronted him about what they saw as inappropriate activities between him and his adopted son. His family also shared their concerns about his relationship with an underage male from the church.
>
> In the face of the new allegations, Tommy once again announced he was having medical problems ... Later that year, Tommy was hired as 3ABN tape and masters archive librarian, without the formal approval of the 3ABN board of directors, a group that had fired him just 10 years before.
> ...

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 26 2007, 02:43 AM) ☐
>
> Fired by 3ABN in the early 1990's?
>
> Confronted by his own family?
>
> Before this article was published, had anyone heard about the two items above? I do not remember reading about this on this site or the save3abn site. Did I miss something?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 03:07 PM) ☐
>
> If you missed anything, it was only lies. TS was never fired in the 90's or any other time from 3abn and confronted by the family? I would think you would have to be in the family to know whether that was true or not.

A strong statement, which yours is, does not mean that the statement is true. If you are going to answer with a strong statement and use a word such as "never" then you have to include a reason we should believe you. Otherwise, do not reply.

I would think you would have to be in the human resources department and "in the family" to know whether your "never" statement is true.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 26 2007, 03:25 PM) ☐
>
> Yes it is...considering how many outsiders like to tell like to say, what happened, in the family. As always, they go on speculation, rumor and gossip. There is nothing more tiresome than strangers and outsiders discussing what goes on " at 3abn. " For lack of a better comparison, That would be like Joe blow on the street telling you what goes in your own household. Joe knows more than you because he "heard" it. By the time Joe gets through telling everyone he knows, and speculating and adding to it, YOU are the outsider. Doesn't make a lot of sense does it?

If Joe Blow told others about a crime in my household that did not happen and it spread around the world; when it came back to me I would open up my house and do everything I could to show the world that it did not happen. I would ask questions like, "what did you see Joe that would make you think this happened?" I would defend my household and show the world that Joe Blow is a phony.

If the crime did happen in my household, then I would have already reported it. If I was the one that committed the crime, then I pray that I would state the truth and accept the consequences, not that this would be easy.

If the crime did happen in my household and I did not want to take responsiblity for what happened, then I would lock the place down and have my lawyers send out threatening letters to anyone that steps on my property. Even then I would not send out letters blaming everyone for what I "might" have done and how hard it is on me because of what others are doing to me. Doesn't make a lot of sense does it?

Now, thtz Whtz Happenin!

Ok... my 20 centz. Anyone have some change?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 26 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 26 2007, 03:01 PM) ☐
>
> A strong statement, which yours is, does not mean that the statement is true. If you are going to answer with a strong statement and use a word such as "never" then you have to include a reason we should believe you. Otherwise, do not reply.
>
> I would think you would have to be in the human resources department and "in the family" to know whether your "never" statement is true.

> If Joe Blow told others about a crime in my household that did not happen and it spread around the world; when it came back to me I would open up my house and do everything I could to show the world that it did not happen. I would ask questions like, "what did you see Joe that would make you think this happened?" I would defend my household and show the world that Joe Blow is a phony.
>
> If the crime did happen in my household, then I would have already reported it. If I was the one that committed the crime, then I pray that I would state the truth and accept the consequences, not that this would be easy.
>
> If the crime did happen in my household and I did not want to take responsiblity for what happened, then I would lock the place down and have my lawyers send out threatening letters to anyone that steps on my property. Even then I would not send out letters blaming everyone for what I "might" have done and how hard it is on me because of what others are doing to me.
>
> Now, thtz Whtz Happenin!
>
> Ok... my 20 centz. Anyone have some change?

'Vhtz Happenin,

'ou spent that 20 centz wizely and I hope it brings some change!

'B

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 26 2007, 04:30 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> With God there are no coincidences.

<nowing how to tell if something is a coincidence, or not, is one of the secrets of life. We can't have 3od involved in every accident, every illness, or every arising situation. That kind of thinking is the :ause of superstition. Everyone must learn the answers for themselves. This is the first step in <nowledge.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 26 2007, 11:57 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 26 2007, 02:49 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander,
> Would you characterize the Adventist Today article as truthful? Would you charaterize the Adventist Today article as untruthful?
>
> Untruthful
>
> Do you know either way? Your response to Whtz Happenin (pasted in below) was a little unclear. It seems you were saying "it was only lies". But then why was Tommy removed as production manager and sent touring in a bus? Or did he never actually leave the production department and then never went touring on a bus?
>
> I personally don't know anything about any touring, but I do know there was no bus of any kind. I > also know he was not "removed."

>
> If not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

ou misunderstood my comparison PB. My point is this...how can so many complete strangers that ave never met the people involved or ever even been to 3abn argue and fight with people that have? nd that goes for whatever camp you are in. Those that have worked there or whatever and don't like t, or those that have been there and loved it, either way, at least they have something with which to ase an opinion on. All the outsiders here do not. Where DS and LS are concerned, If you don't know hem personally, it's all he said/she said and I don't understand how strangers can have such strong nd argumentative opinions about, people they don't know, situations they have never been around, nd a place that they have never been. Yet, they will argue to the death with people that maybe do now something about the people involved or the situations. I think I make a reasonable and valid oint with this.

Posted by: sister Feb 27 2007, 12:38 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 26 2007, 2:49 AM)
>
> Bystander,
> Would you characterize the Adventist Today article as truthful? Would you charaterize the Adventist Today article as untruthful?
>
> Untruthful
>
> Do you know either way? Your response to Whtz Happenin (pasted in below) was a little unclear. It seems you were saying "it was only lies". But then why was Tommy removed as production manager and sent touring in a bus? Or did he never actually leave the production department and then never went touring on a bus?
>
> I personally don't know anything about any touring, but I do know there was no bus of any kind. I also know he was not "removed."
>
> If not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 12:57 AM)
>
> You misunderstood my comparison PB. My point is this...how can so many complete strangers that have never met the people involved or ever even been to 3abn argue and fight with people that have? And that goes for whatever camp you are in. Those that have worked there or whatever and don't like it, or those that have been there and loved it, either way, at least they have something with which to base an opinion on. All the outsiders here do not. Where DS and LS are concerned, If you don't know them personally, it's all he said/she said and I don't understand how strangers can have such strong and argumentative opinions about, people they don't know, situations they have never been around, and a place that they have never been. Yet, they will argue to the death with people that maybe do know something about the people involved or the situations. I think I make a reasonable and valid point with this.

Bystander, you seemed to have overlooked PB's last question or were you ignoring it?

> QUOTE
>
> If not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

Sister

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 10:49 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 27 2007, 12:38 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander, you seemed to have overlooked PB's last question or were you ignoring it?
> Sister

Bystander has painted himself into a corner.

1. If he does know firsthand, then he can only establish his credibility by identifying himself.
2. If he does not know firsthand, then he is only here to deny and dissemble on behalf of Danny. In other words, he has no interest in the truth.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 27 2007, 11:34 AM

> QUOTE
>
> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 26 2007, 02:49 PM)
>
> Bystander,
> Would you characterize the Adventist Today article as truthful? Would you charaterize the Adventist Today article as untruthful?
>
> Untruthful
>
> Do you know either way? Your response to Whtz Happenin (pasted in below) was a little unclear. It seems you were saying "it was only lies". But then why was Tommy removed as production manager and sent touring in a bus? Or did he never actually leave the production department and then never went touring on a bus?
>
> I personally don't know anything about any touring, but I do know there was no bus of any kind. I also know he was not "removed."
>
> If not part of the Shelton clan, wouldn't you be just speculating yourself?

Bystander,

Thank you for commiting to answer my queston about the AT article. I would have preferred a more detailed response but now I know you view the entire article as untruthful. Regarding Tommy's touring for 3abn, can you make a call to him or to Danny and get the details of what actually happened after he left the production department in the 90's. If he wasn't doing Gospel concerts and contacting cable companies on behalf of 3abn what was he actually doing?

> QUOTE
>
>]You misunderstood my comparison PB. My point is this...how can so many complete strangers that have never met the people involved or ever even been to 3abn argue and fight with people that have? And that goes for whatever camp you are in. Those that have worked there or whatever and don't like it, or those that have been there and loved it, either way, at least they have something with which to base an opinion on. All the outsiders here do not. Where DS and LS are concerned, If you don't know them personally, it's all he said/she said and I don't understand how strangers can have such strong and argumentative opinions about, people they don't know, situations they have never been around, and a place that they have never been. Yet, they will argue to the death with people that maybe do know something about the people involved or the situations. I think I make a reasonable and valid point with this[/color].

What about the 12 members of a jury? They are not personally aquainted with "the accused" but are asked to weigh testimony and come to a judgement.

Sometimes those closest to a situation are the most blind as to what has actually happened. Loyalty and family ties can cause some folks to close their eyes to the facts.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 12:25 PM

Sometimes those closest to a situation are the most blind as to what has actually happened. Loyalty and family ties can cause some folks to close their eyes to the facts.
[/quote]

PB,

Maybe a solution would be to take 12 sda's drawn by picking of lots like from the bible times, and have them in a room and have danny bring his side, and linda bring her side and then lets see what happens, no questions off limits just the information and 12 independent church members and i think it would be better if they were all latity.

erik

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 27 2007, 12:36 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 01:25 PM) ☐
>
> Sometimes those closest to a situation are the most blind as to what has actually happened.
> Loyalty and family ties can cause some folks to close their eyes to the facts.
> PB,
> Maybe a solution would be to take 12 sda's drawn by picking of lots like from the bible times, and > have them in a room and have danny bring his side, and linda bring her side and then lets see what happens, no questions off limits just the information and 12 independent church members and i think it would be better if they were all latity.

>
> erik

☒ ☒

alk about loss of control........

w

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 12:53 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 27 2007, 10:36 AM) ☐
>
> ☒ ☒
>
> Talk about loss of control........
>
> nw

W,

F 3abn is really concerned about the truth then my idea is at least worth trying, before going and umping off the cliff called court. To me going to court is totally lossing control of the whole thing court ases have a life of their own.

rik

Posted by: sister Feb 27 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 11:49 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander has painted himself into a corner.
>
> 1. If he does know firsthand, then he can only establish his credibility by identifying himself.
> 2. If he does not know firsthand, then he is only here to deny and dissemble on behalf of Danny. In other words, he has no interest in the truth.

oulEspresso, that appears to be a correct evaluation of the situation. Unfortunately, given the choice f option number one or option number two, Bystander's answer will probably be option number three: ignore the question. For him it is a lose/lose situation, which is an inconceivable option.

Sister

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 27 2007, 01:05 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 01:53 PM) ☐
>
> NW,
> IF 3abn is really concerned about the truth then my idea is at least worth trying, before going and jumping off the cliff called court. To me going to court is totally lossing control of the whole thing court cases have a life of their own.
>
> Erik

Erik,

I hope you understood that I could not imagine DS or 3ABN doing such a thing because "controlling the message" is what they seem to be very much about. The forum you propose would be their worst nightmare.

As for court, I am afraid I disagree. There is a great deal of control in the legal world. I think that is one thing that posters here need to understand. There is control in who files a complaint first and their burden of going forward and burden of proof. There are issues of law as well as issues of fact. We discuss the concept of hearsay on this board but there are many exceptions. If 3abn decides to litigate I assure you they will chose competent legal counsel that will keep the issues narrow and on points 3abn believes they have a good chance of being successful on whether in negotiated settlement or court. That is not to say that some information would not come out in legal proceedings. But remember truth is not the same as evidence. I also doubt that there would be any one grand legal proceeding that would include all the issues mentioned in this subforum.

nw

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 01:14 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 27 2007, 11:05 AM) ☐
>
> Erik,
>
> I hope you understood that I could not imagine DS or 3ABN doing such a thing because "controlling the message" is what they seem to be very much about. The forum you propose would be their worst nightmare.
>
> I realize that, but IF they are really interested in the truth, and if they are 100% in the right on all of this then they would jump on my idea, because it would save a ton of money over going to court and it is bible based. The fact they have not done anything of the kind speaks volumes to me about were the truth really is and it does not appear to be on their side. ew
>
> As for court, I am afraid I disagree. There is a great deal of control in the legal world. I think that is > one thing that posters here need to understand. There is control in who files a complaint first and their burden of going forward and burden of proof. There are issues of law as well as issues of fact. We discuss the concept of hearsay on this board but there are many exceptions. If 3abn decides to litigate I assure you they will chose competent legal counsel that will keep the issues narrow and on points 3abn believes they have a good chance of being successful on whether in negotiated settlement or court. That is not to say that some information would not come out in legal proceedings. But remember truth is not the same as evidence. I also doubt that there would be any one grand legal proceeding that would include all the issues mentioned in this subforum.

>
> nw

W,

agree that they will try and tightly control the legal action, but once they walk out that door they pen the door for others to file counter actions, which might not be limited to the court room, i am ight now the public media is not got this out,but going to court greatly increase the chances that this hole mess will leave the smaller circle that is in now, and only God knows what will happen.

n the court room it self, yes 3abn lawyers will try and frame the case in such a manner that they will nly discuss very limited subject matter, but look at all the stuff that came out of the last court case bout the tax's, In fact if you want my humble option that was God's wake up call to 3abn one that to his point they have not listened to.

f 3abn only goes after the copyright issue then they might be able to control the court room but if hey go after slander then they are really opening up the whole ball of wax.

rik

Posted by: Bystander Feb 27 2007, 01:53 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 10:49 AM)
>
> Bystander has painted himself into a corner.
>
> 1. If he does know firsthand, then he can only establish his credibility by identifying himself.
> 2. If he does not know firsthand, then he is only here to deny and dissemble on behalf of Danny. In other words, he has no interest in the truth.

ou are making the same mistake as others here, you are jumping to conclusions. If I know anything irsthand, why would I have to identify myself. Sister claims to know all first hand, yet she has never dentified herself. That has never stopped any of you on this board from believing her. Now be fair ere, folks. If you can believe her without ID, then the same should apply to me. One keep in mind, ister is just one here, that claims to know first hand without telling who she is. There are several thers. You and others never question them, like you just did me, because they say what you want to ear. They back up your opinions. A little one sided isn't it?

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 11:53 AM)

> You are making the same mistake as others here, you are jumping to conclusions. If I know anything firsthand, why would I have to identify myself. Sister claims to know all first hand, yet she has never identified herself. That has never stopped any of you on this board from believing her. Now be fair here, folks. If you can believe her without ID, then the same should apply to me. One keep in mind, sister is just one here, that claims to know first hand without telling who she is. There are several others. You and others never question them, like you just did me, because they say what you want to hear. They back up your opinions. A little one sided isn't it?

Bystander,

I agree that both you and sister would make the whole process easier for the outsiders if you would print your names. But out side of that happening, and i am not calling for that. i can very well understand why you and her do not.

the question applied to you would also apply to her, although i am not sure she has made the same claims of closeness to the people involved.

I will say this you bring this up a lo, like you really need and want to know who she is, other then linda, which i think at this point is pretty much know that sister and Linda are not the same person.

In closing bystander i will ask you the question my mother always asked me when my brothers and sisters were fighting, WHO IS GOING TO THE BIG PERSON? Lead by example bystander, put your name out there see what happens, or even better then your name put the facts of the matter out there and then the truth will be known!!!!!!!!!!!!

YOu can do that by selling my idea of 12 Sdas jury to 3abn and danny

erik

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 02:18 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 09:53 PM)
>
> You are making the same mistake as others here, you are jumping to conclusions. If I know anything firsthand, why would I have to identify myself. Sister claims to know all first hand, yet she has never identified herself. That has never stopped any of you on this board from believing her. Now be fair here, folks. If you can believe her without ID, then the same should apply to me. One keep in mind, sister is just one here, that claims to know first hand without telling who she is. There are several others. You and others never question them, like you just did me, because they say what you want to hear. They back up your opinions. A little one sided isn't it?

Not quite, Bystander. A number of us recognize most of what Sister says from our own experiences and that gives her credibility. As a contrast some of us know from our own experiences in this matter that what you are saying is a thoroughly thwarted image of reality. It could be that you are just too close to see those issues, or you have too much at stake personally to face the facts.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 01:53 PM) ☐
>
> You are making the same mistake as others here, you are jumping to conclusions. If I know anything firsthand, why would I have to identify myself. Sister claims to know all first hand, yet she has never identified herself. That has never stopped any of you on this board from believing her. Now be fair here, folks. If you can believe her without ID, then the same should apply to me. One keep in mind, sister is just one here, that claims to know first hand without telling who she is. There are several others. You and others never question them, like you just did me, because they say what you want to hear. They back up your opinions. A little one sided isn't it?

There is a difference, Bystander. It's called a power imbalance.

Let me break it down for you.

Danny has got a satellite channel and all the people on it shilling for him, and the thousands or millions who believe what he says--not to mention all the people, like yourself, shilling for him here. Have you been hired by 3ABN, Bystander, to come on here and muddy the waters?

Who is sister? Sister does not have her own satellite channel or talking heads to repeat what she says. If what we're to read on these boards is plausible, sister may be afraid of retribution from Danny and 3ABN. I don't know for myself that that's the case, but any casual student of human nature or history can tell you that people who are not in power have plenty to fear from the people who are. (300 years of slavery in the New World, for example ...)

Who do you have to be afraid of? Surely sister doesn't have secrets on you she wants to expose to the world!

Anyway, I didn't automatically believe her. I thought it might be plausible, because "power corrupts" (history and human nature again) and I already knew that my church, the Adventist Church, has a horrible history of corruption, particularly when it comes to sexual sin. But I came back here after months of absence because of save3abn.com--and suddenly sister's accounts became 100x more credible.

Techniques used in this post by Bystander:
1. Deflect the issue in question by comparing himself with another poster who has greater reason to remain anonymous.

Back to the issue, Bystander--we're to believe you because you're close to the situation. How do we know? Why can't you tell us who you are? Can you at least explain why you choose to remain anonymous?

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 02:04 PM) ☐
>
> In closing bystander i will ask you the question my mother always asked me when my brothers and sisters were fighting, WHO IS GOING TO THE BIG PERSON? Lead by example bystander, put your name out there see what happens, or even better then your name put the facts of the matter out there and then the truth will be known!

Erik is right. In spades.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 02:49 PM

I think I'd rather not know who this character Bystander admittedly is. I would hate to think he is who he appears to be. This character likes to leave people to guess. By contrast, Christ didn't. And, that speaks as much for itself as does, "by their fruits shall ye know them."

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 27 2007, 03:38 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 01:17 PM) ☐
>
> Until you apply your statement about Christ to the others on this board who say they have first hand evidence, you only show your partiality to that side. Have you applied your statement to sister who has given a large percentage of the information that has been posted. Certainly down through the months, everyone else has carried on with it but we are talking origination.
> Sonshineonme and watchbird also speak (by their own admission) for Linda. Have you applied your statement to them also?
> Sorry, criticism just for my identity doesn't fly here, when there are so many others. Just happens, I am on the wrong side, so receive all the flak. That's ok I can take it.

No, you can't take it. That is why you keep at what you are keeping at. No one buys it. You know this, but you keep at it anyway...
And I beg your pardon....to say that by my own admission I speak for Linda? What are you trying to say again? I have a brain. I don't "speak" for anyone. I speak. I tell my opinons and I tell what I know. The fact that Linda has friends that won't keep quiet is what eats at you, period. Stop trying to make that a bad thing. My origination didn't come from Sister. Many of us has personal expiriences that neither you or DS (and you being whoever you are at this moment) can take away from us. We arne't talking heads - mouth pieces for Linda. We speak what we know, get over it. If you don't like it, too bad. You only understand being a robot/slave/pawn for someone else, and so you assume that's all anyone can do with their mouth or brain. Maybe one day you will find liberty to be yourself and think for yourself. You clearly have a lot to learn in this area.

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 27 2007, 04:13 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 10:34 AM) ☐
>
> The giving to the community was explained on the live. Maybe I can make it clearer. Because their is many astute business people on the 3abn board, they believe it is very important to have community support. For this reason certain ones that can afford to have given donations specifically earmarked for community projects. These donations are in addition to, what they give to support 3abn. Ida, if you are seeking truth with an open mind, you will find that most talk about finances are always twisted to insinuate that the hard earned money that someone gives is going to pay for all sorts of things it shouldn't. Not true. The accountability factor is higher than usual for a non profit organization. There are 7 financial workers, accountants, a chief financial officer with a very impressive resume, there are outside auditors and the 3abn board goes over the financial statements at every meeting.
> This board takes anything and everything said and puts the "I heard", I think, It appears, and It seems spin on it with no facts to back it up. Also, if you will notice, sonshineonme, watchbird, johann, beartrap, sister, pickle, joy and observer and probably several I don't know about, get > their information directly from Linda or others who use her as the source, while at the same time, they say she is humbly going about her own life and not trashing anyone. A child could see the discrepancies here.

ou claim to be very very close to the 3ABN compound and innerworkings, I was wondering if you and inda had some sort of falling out while she was there. Care to comment? I must have missed the kind emarks you made about Linda in this forum.

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 04:39 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 11:17 PM)
>
> \- - -
>
> Another point I wanted to make to you is a suit for slander is a suit for slander. You are not allowed to bring in all kinds of other things. If a person is charged with murder, evidence of a possible robbery that he may have done that has absolutely no bearing on the murder trial, cannot be brought up. that would be a separate case altogether.
> Another important thing to think about is, that whoever is charged with slander and served papers, will not only have to pay their own transportation fees to whatever state or city, they will have to pay an attorney to defend them unless they want to be their own defense. Many attorneys, now days, charge 500.00 an hour. In my opinion, there is no way I would want to involve myself and others in something so serious just to be able to "air" my opinions in a chat room. It is one thing to say He might have, or she may have it is quite another to refer to specific individuals as Pedophiles, embezzlers, child molesters, adulterers, liars ...that is where it gets serious, especially, if you are wrong and making these judgments and statements on the heresay of others and can be proven that what you are involved in has caused harm to the organization and public figures involved.
> \- - - -

o we should live in fear and trembling??? Does that remind of one or more texts from the Bible?

ow many millions through the centuries have had to suffer from the hands of those who forced their truth" on others? Claimed to be Christian?

ime is short. Satan knows that he might be able to get us away from what is right by having people ho claim to be preaching the Advent message threaten us like this. How else can he reach us who elong to Christ? He knows that infidels would not have any influence on us or intimidate us. He is ery clever!

Posted by: calvin Feb 27 2007, 04:41 PM

Point of information: All members of BSDA can be as anonymous or open with their identity as they want to be. I know, we can't help to speculate and wonder who some of us are. But I don't consider any of you any more worthy or privileged as members because of your identity...and you should not either.

So please don't badger anyone to reveal themselves. They have there reasons to remain anonymous, respect them for that.

To the point: When they tell you no, I ain't telling, LEAVE IT ALONG.

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 27 2007, 04:49 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 12:32 PM) ☐
>
> There is a difference, Bystander. It's called a power imbalance.
>
> Let me break it down for you.
>
> Danny has got a satellite channel and all the people on it shilling for him, and the thousands or millions who believe what he says--not to mention all the people, like yourself, shilling for him here. Have you been hired by 3ABN, Bystander, to come on here and muddy the waters?
>
> Who is sister? Sister does not have her own satellite channel or talking heads to repeat what she says. If what we're to read on these boards is plausible, sister may be afraid of retribution from Danny and 3ABN. I don't know for myself that that's the case, but any casual student of human nature or history can tell you that people who are not in power have plenty to fear from the people who are. (300 years of slavery in the New World, for example ...)
>
> Who do you have to be afraid of? Surely sister doesn't have secrets on you she wants to expose to the world!
>
> Anyway, I didn't automatically believe her. I thought it might be plausible, because "power corrupts" (history and human nature again) and I already knew that my church, the Adventist Church, has a horrible history of corruption, particularly when it comes to sexual sin. But I came back here after months of absence because of save3abn.com--and suddenly sister's accounts became 100x more credible.
>
> Techniques used in this post by Bystander:
> 1. Deflect the issue in question by comparing himself with another poster who has greater reason to remain anonymous.
>
> Back to the issue, Bystander--we're to believe you because you're close to the situation. How do we know? Why can't you tell us who you are? Can you at least explain why you choose to remain anonymous?
> Erik is right. In spades.

Bystander's identity is not really the issue for me.

Bystander's posts = confusion and lies and coverups (says he has truth but wil hold till court time. Mabe the court will never mention Bystander's wonderful secrets... tooo bad about that, Bystander won't have his day in court.)

Sister's posts = telling a story thus victims and personal testimonies come forward putting clothes on the stories and more to come.

Bystander please don't tell us those victims and personal testimonies are parotting what Linda wants to tell the world.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 27 2007, 04:52 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 27 2007, 05:41 PM)
>
> Point of information: All members of BSDA can be as anonymous or open with their identity as they want to be. I know, we can't help to speculate and wonder who some of us are. But I don't consider any of you any more worthy or privileged as members because of your identity...and you should not either.
>
> So please don't badger anyone to reveal themselves. They have there reasons to remain anonymous, respect them for that.
>
> To the point: When they tell you no, I ain't telling, LEAVE IT ALONG.

The flip side of this is they cant complain when their perspective is disregarded because it's credibility is dependent on their being who and what they claim to be; without identifying themselves their argument is specious.... granted even if they were to indentify themselves, their argument could remain specious... but when an argument like Bystanders "joe Blow" defense is made, in making the argument he puts his identity into play, unsolicited, of his own volition.

Perhaps he does so because he knows you wont force him to 'fess up... perhaps not... but the argument is utterly devoid of credibility without divulging identity. he retains the right to not respond to the question... and those with whom he debates retain the right to view him as not credible when he exercises that right...

That, IMO, is the sole intent of the question being posed... and had he not hung his position so heavily on his identity, it probably would not have been asked at all...

BTJM.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 05:07 PM

Bystander, wwjd, Aletheia, Lee, make comments that instead of clarifying actually confound, or muddy the waters... their intent clearly is to confuse and misdirect.... is not Babylon symbolic of a place of confusion?

Posted by: calvin Feb 27 2007, 05:33 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 27 2007, 04:52 PM)
>
> The flip side of this is they cant complain when their perspective is disregarded because it's credibility is dependent on their being who and what they claim to be; without identifying themselves their argument is specious.... granted even if they were to indentify themselves, their argument could remain specious... but when an argument like Bystanders "joe Blow" defense is made, in making the argument he puts his identity into play, unsolicited, of his own volition.

> Perhaps he does so because he knows you wont force him to 'fess up... perhaps not... but the argument is utterly devoid of credibility without divulging identity. he retains the right to not respond to the question... and those with whom he debates retain the right to view him as not credible when he exercises that right...
>
> That, IMO, is the sole intent of the question being posed... and had he not hung his position so heavily on his identity, it probably would not have been asked at all...
>
> BTJM.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

agree, and this question of creditbility holds for the other side too. We got a whole book here on the history of 3ABN, that most of us don't know who wrote it.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 27 2007, 05:39 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 27 2007, 03:15 PM) ☐
>
> The ONLY reason for 3abn and Danny taking anyone to court is so that their lawyers can speak for them on their terms in a tightly controlled venue. If they really wanted the truth to be known they could just state it on here or on their web site. If Danny really wanted the truth to get out there would not be any need for the courts. They are just so sad and pitiful. It's all about the money IMO.
>
> Richard

At this point, would you really know if or what is truth if it came from DS? I'm not sure he knows how o tell the straight truth. He mixes a little truth with a lot of error. I think the court room is the only place for the real truth to come out now. AND, many who have come together here to tell their stories. What DS doesn't realize (or maybe he does) is there are MANY who are here...not all have spoken yet. What has worked and still works here is how many tellings of expiriences from those that have shared so far here fit together so well without anyone forcing it. It just comes together, because truth is what t is - truth. You can't just change truth as some have tried. It is what it is.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 27 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 26 2007, 10:25 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander cruel? You must have the wrong person Pastor Johann. I know him personally and he is not cruel. I'm afraid you and your wife have been duped by Linda as well as others by her willingness to alledgedly play the part of the victim--you know, the "poor me" syndrome and "pity party" method. But then many on this board have been rude and condescending towards Bystander, making fun of him, using his forum name as a means of ridicule--it would seem your wife might feel sorry for Bystander because of this.

> Bystander lies with distain? Nope--wrong again! Could you list his lies here for me? I happen to know that if any of his information posted was incorrect, Bystander would be the first to correct it.
>
> So there you have it folks--the truth of the matter. Just remember when you read accusations against a brother--remember who the "accuser of the brethren" is.

nteresting that you quoted Hal Steenson's sermon "Accuser of the Brethren."

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 07:22 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 27 2007, 05:44 PM)
>
> Interesting that you quoted Hal Steenson's sermon "Accuser of the Brethren."

Vell, Danny can make veiled accusations against his ex all day long on international television for two ears, but when the accusations start to fly at him from multiple directions, the shoe is on the other oot.

Vhat's really unfortunate is that typically, ministries who reach this level of conflict lose their ffectiveness regardless of who is right. The Spirit doesn't often move in the same room as contention.

his is why a free and open inquiry is so critical to the channel and to the Adventist Church. The oard, the good doctor, Danny and all must step down and open the doors, the books, everything. To panel of unbiased, thinking Adventist leaders (I don't mean church employees either, I mean eaders). 12 is a good number, was it Erik that suggested 12?

know it means giving up control, but all control was ultimately an illusion anyway ... God is in ontrol.

ouls are at stake, and souls are not served, God is not served, by dissembling, denial, covering up, nd a general lack of transparency.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 07:38 PM

Well put sir. And it all could happen, if only Danny humbles himself before the Creator and repents.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 27 2007, 08:22 PM)
>
> Well, Danny can make veiled accusations against his ex all day long on international television for two years, but when the accusations start to fly at him from multiple directions, the shoe is on the other foot.
>
> What's really unfortunate is that typically, ministries who reach this level of conflict lose their effectiveness regardless of who is right. The Spirit doesn't often move in the same room as > contention.

>
> This is why a free and open inquiry is so critical to the channel and to the Adventist Church. The board, the good doctor, Danny and all must step down and open the doors, the books, everything. To a panel of unbiased, thinking Adventist leaders (I don't mean church employees either, I mean leaders). 12 is a good number, was it Erik that suggested 12?
>
> I know it means giving up control, but all control was ultimately an illusion anyway ... God is in control.
>
> Souls are at stake, and souls are not served, God is not served, by dissembling, denial, covering up, and a general lack of transparency.

Posted by: roxe Feb 27 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 27 2007, 04:39 PM)
>
> At this point, would you really know if or what is truth if it came from DS? I'm not sure he knows how to tell the straight truth. He mixes a little truth with a lot of error. I think the court room is the only place for the real truth to come out now.

ll those who believe that the Dannyites in court will tell the truth and nothing but the truth raise your ands...

ll those who believe that the evidence given by the Dannyites in court will be the truth and nothing ut the truth raise your hands...

Posted by: wwjd Feb 27 2007, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 27 2007, 07:38 PM)
>
> Well put sir. And it all could happen, if only Danny humbles himself before the Creator and repents.

Vhy would he need to repent to allow unbiased parties to look at 3abn? I would think a comment like hat should be saved until conclusions are reached by whatever panel would be appointed.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 08:15 PM

Best out of seven!! One panel only isn't enough. Move around the country to the various SDA municipalities (and there are a few) and let the elected officials, who are familiar with quasi-judicial procedings, make the determination.

Just kidding. The whole thing sounds like a joke. Can you imagine the first seven questions from the panel? Might pay to go through them to see how shallow this whole idea is.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 08:26 PM

Because just like you and I he is a sinner. God has the ability, with Danny's help, to extract him from this mess but it will take a soul seaching humbleness before God on Danny's part. I think that is only with the Holy Spirit's leading that Danny will agree to have an unbiased party look at all the goings on at 3abn. And Danny will also need to be contrite enough, if anything unfavorable is found, to step down from the day to day operations of 3abn. The ball is really in Danny's court, but going to court will only make matters worse, win or lose.

Richard

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 27 2007, 08:53 PM)
>
> Why would he need to repent to allow unbiased parties to look at 3abn? I would think a comment like that should be saved until conclusions are reached by whatever panel would be appointed.

At this point I don't think any panel investigating will do any good unless Danny is willing to aid that panel. And personally I don't believe that Danny will aid any panel that might go against him. However that could change, if the Holy Spirit is allowed to work on broken hearts, and only a broken heart can be mended.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 09:15 PM)
>
> Best out of seven!! One panel only isn't enough. Move around the country to the various SDA municipalities (and there are a few) and let the elected officials, who are familiar with quasi-judicial procedings, make the determination.
>
> Just kidding. The whole thing sounds like a joke. Can you imagine the first seven questions from the panel? Might pay to go through them to see how shallow this whole idea is.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 27 2007, 05:53 PM)
>
> Why would he need to repent to allow unbiased parties to look at 3abn? I would think a comment like that should be saved until conclusions are reached by whatever panel would be appointed.

WWJD,

he needs to repent of the appearance of making charges that the facts just do back up, for that matter that his action bring into question. IF the TRUTH is really were he says it is why the secrecy, why not just put the truth out into the open and let truth defend it's self. instead of Danny defending himself.

the truth is never scared of being reveled, it never runs and hides behind lawyers and the bible. it stands as th judge of all, even God is judged by the TRUTH. Why is danny unwilling to be Judged by the same standard that god is judged????????????

Erik

I just read the whole 46 page discussion by the judge.

the following points jump out at me.

1. danny appears to run the show, with some input from linda, and less from the board.
(linda gone folks guess tha means danny runs the show?)

2. 3abn has had poor legal and accounting controls to help it mantian its various tax status.

3. 3abn gives the appearence of being a private company staking on the edge of the law.

4. danny hurt his own case from the judges statements.

5. this was not a real court but a administrative court, there is a difference.

6. Based on a lack of clarity to the records of 3abn, i would now join the camp of people who think linda got the short end of the stick when she left with the 250,000.00 seems to me that much more then that is due her.

7. Folks danny could leave tomorrow sell everything pay the bills, and walk way with a nice check in his pockets(" i am not saying that he will, but he could.)

8. the board that is made to appear to run 3abn is really a rubber stamp for 3abn and has no real control.

9. I would strongly encourage every one to read this report.

Erik

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 11:27 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 28 2007, 01:44 AM) ☐
>
> Interesting that you quoted Hal Steenson's sermon "Accuser of the Brethren."

And I sure an happy to see you back, HOTY

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 28 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 27 2007, 10:27 PM)
>
> And I sure an happy to see you back, HOTY

HOTY,

Me too! I was a little worried you had been "found out".

PB

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 28 2007, 07:21 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 28 2007, 02:30 PM)
>
> HOTY,
>
> Me too! I was a little worried you had been "found out".
>
> PB

Nope, still hanging around.

Maybe there will be another fast.

rofl

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 07:50 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 28 2007, 07:21 PM)
>
> Nope, still hanging around.
>
> Maybe there will be another fast.

We can only hope. Fasting and prayer can only be good. Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

Posted by: Clay Feb 28 2007, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> We can only hope. Fasting and prayer can only be good. Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

interesting to see a person full of so much haterade....

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 28 2007, 08:06 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 08:50 PM)
>
> Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

Oh, and you would be wrong. Just plain wrong. Did I say wrong? Yes, you are wrong.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 28 2007, 08:12 PM

Throw them off track eh? Nice that you admit that 3abn is trying to track down HOTY and take away his freedom of speech. I wonder how legal that is? Or ethical. But when you are the anointed one you can do as you please I guess. (sigh)

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 08:50 PM)
>
> We can only hope. Fasting and prayer can only be good. Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 28 2007, 09:23 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 28 2007, 09:53 PM)
>
> interesting to see a person full of so much haterade....
>
>
>

You know....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 28 2007, 10:12 PM)
>
> Throw them off track eh? Nice that you admit that 3abn is trying to track down HOTY and take away his freedom of speech. I wonder how legal that is? Or ethical. But when you are the anointed one you can do as you please I guess. (sigh)

...and I'm wrong for calling THEM demonic forces of Satan.....

I don't think so.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 1 2007, 12:38 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:50 PM) ☐
>
> We can only hope. Fasting and prayer can only be good. Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

Bystander,
I was hoping that you, wwjd and Lee would have joined us in our season of prayer here last Thursday. Sorry you couldn't be there.

PB

Posted by: LadyTenor Mar 3 2007, 11:24 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 27 2007, 06:07 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander, wwjd, Aletheia, Lee, make comments that instead of clarifying actually confound, or muddy the waters... their intent clearly is to confuse and misdirect.... is not Babylon symbolic of a place of confusion?

...or the Tower of Babel.....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 28 2007, 09:12 PM) ☐
>
> Throw them off track eh? Nice that you admit that 3abn is trying to track down HOTY and take away his freedom of speech. I wonder how legal that is? Or ethical. But when you are the anointed one you can do as you please I guess. (sigh)

3ABN is under no obligation to protect one's freedom of speech...the First Amendment says the GOVERNMENT shall not abridge the right to free speech. I does not guarantee free speech with regard to private entities...

...having said that, I still would not be surprised if Danny Shelton's lackeys were monitoring this site for "disgruntled" employees, for lack of a better term, for the purpose of terminating their employment.....the fact that they are here spilling the beans would mean that they are not lackey or minion material.....

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 02:45 AM

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Mar 3 2007, 11:24 PM) ☐
>
> [

> ...having said that, I still would not be surprised if Danny Shelton's lackeys were monitoring this site for "disgruntled" employees, for lack of a better term, for the purpose of terminating their employment.....the fact that they are here spilling the beans would mean that they are not lackey or minion material.....[/size][/font][/color]

So everyone else is "minion material." ASI, Conference leaders, Mark F, Doug B, David A, Wintley P, Garwin M, Ellsworth M., the hundreds of ministries represented on 3abn, all the well known musical people that perform there.........all of these people are stupid or minions?.....right......

Posted by: sister Mar 4 2007, 08:14 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 03:45 AM)
>
> So everyone else is "minion material." ASI, Conference leaders, Mark F, Doug B, David A, Wintley P, Garwin M, Ellsworth M., the hundreds of ministries represented on 3abn, all the well known musical people that perform there.........all of these people are stupid or minions?.....right......

Perhaps betters terms would be uninformed or deceived...

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 08:24 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Mar 4 2007, 08:14 AM)
>
> Perhaps betters terms would be uninformed or deceived...

ust as ludicrous either way.

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 04:28 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 1 2007, 03:50 AM)
>
> We can only hope. Fasting and prayer can only be good. Where you been hoty? Trying to get your internet service changed? (you know, to throw em off track) Or maybe some of those appy's you sent paid off and you had go for some interviews. My bet would be on the interview.

You still have that jet plane a while longer from where you can grab your assumptions in mid air!

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 04:38 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 10:45 AM)
>
> So everyone else is "minion material." ASI, Conference leaders, Mark F, Doug B, David A, Wintley P, Garwin M, Ellsworth M., the hundreds of ministries represented on 3abn, all the well known musical people that perform there.........all of these people are stupid or minions?.....right......

Some of these have started wondering why they are invited to come to 3ABN. They are asked to preach or sing, and lo and behold it is not so difficult any more. When they get there someone else does most of the preaching and singing for them. So what is the purpose of having them there?

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 08:53 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 04:38 PM)
>
> Some of these have started wondering why they are invited to come to 3ABN. They are asked to preach or sing, and lo and behold it is not so difficult any more. When they get there someone else does most of the preaching and singing for them. So what is the purpose of having them there?

rofl
This, is desperation in all it's glory....

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 04:53 AM)
>
> rofl
> This, is desperation in all it's glory....

That is exactly what I am saying. Thanks for admitting it.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Mar 4 2007, 09:57 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 02:45 AM)
>
> So everyone else is "minion material." ASI, Conference leaders, Mark F, Doug B, David A, Wintley P, Garwin M, Ellsworth M., the hundreds of ministries represented on 3abn, all the well known musical people that perform there.........all of these people are stupid or minions?.....right......

If you carry these people around in your back pocket like poker cards to be played the cards will resent being so close to your fanny.

58

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Condolences

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 1 2007, 08:30 PM

I asked the question a while ago asking where all the Dannyites have gone. Now we might know where. If in fact, as some have speculated, some of the Dannyites are members of the Shelton clan then they might be off of here mourning the passing of an uncle of Tommy and Danny as was reported over on the Maritime forums.

I'd personally like to extend my condolences to them and their family over their loss.

Maybe this should be a new thread where others can do the same? Clay?

Richard

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 1 2007, 08:40 PM

To all of the Shelton family who are grieving for a loved one, my sympathies and prayers go out for you.

Take courage in the words of scripture that were given to us for times such as these:

1 Thessalonians 4:13-18, NIV

13 Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. 14 We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. 15 According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. 16 For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. 17 After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. 18 Therefore encourage each other with these words.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 1 2007, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 1 2007, 08:40 PM) ☐
>
> To all of the Shelton family who are grieving for a loved one, my sympathies and prayers go out for you.
>
> Take courage in the words of scripture that were given to us for times such as these:
>
> 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18, NIV
>
> 13 Brothers, we do not want you to be ignorant about those who fall asleep, or to grieve like the rest of men, who have no hope. 14 We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in him. 15 According to the Lord's own word, we tell you that we who are still alive, who are left till the coming of the Lord, will certainly not precede those who have fallen asleep. 16 For the Lord himself will come down from heaven, > with a loud command, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet call of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first. 17 After that, we who are still alive and are left will be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And so we will be with the Lord forever. 18 Therefore encourage each other with these words.

B & Richard, I am sure the Shelton's would appreciate your condolences. The fact is the Uncle passed bout 3 weeks ago.
hanks though,

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 1 2007, 09:19 PM

Well it was reported just today on the internet where we could see it. Better late than never. I wished we'd have been so informed when it happened, but that is neither here nor there.

Richard

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 1 2007, 09:50 PM) ☐
>
> PB & Richard, I am sure the Shelton's would appreciate your condolences. The fact is the Uncle passed about 3 weeks ago.
> Thanks though,

Posted by: Johann Mar 1 2007, 09:25 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 04:50 AM) ☐
>
> PB & Richard, I am sure the Shelton's would appreciate your condolences. The fact is the Uncle passed about 3 weeks ago.
> Thanks though,

am also sorry. Was that Steve's father?

Posted by: lurker Mar 1 2007, 09:47 PM

There have been a number of deaths recently
Paul H. Shelton Sr., age 86, of West Frankfort, passed away February 1, 2007 at 3:15 a.m. at the Frankfort Care Center in West Frankfort. He was born December 18, 1920 in Midlen, Arkansas to William Harrison Shelton and Nettie Ann (Filkins) Shelton. He married Wanda Lucille (Ray) Shelton on April 1, 1939 in St. Louis, Missouri and she survives.They were married for 67 years.
Also surviving is a son, Paul H. Shelton Jr. of West Frankfort, two daughters, Valerie (Graskewicz) Moore and husband Guy of West Frankfort and LaRae Seagle and husband Derek of Ninty Six, South Carolina. Also surviving are grandchildren, Kim Alexander, Bret Shelton, Jonathan Graskewicz and Amanda Graskewicz, four great grandchildren and one great great grandchild. He is also survived by sisters, Ruby Ledbetter of West Frankfort, Dolly Link and Joan Choate both of St. Louis, Mo. and Laura Houseman of Gatlinburg, Tn. as well as one brother, Merle "Buddy" Shelton of Benton.

He was preceded in death by his parents, two sisters, Sylvia Johns and Nora Belle Miller and by four brothers, Olen, Tommy, Kenneth and William Shelton.
Mr. Shelton was a former member of the UMWA.and was a longtime St. Louis Cardinals Baseball fan. He was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.
He served in the United States Navy.
Graveside services will be held on Saturday, February 3, 2007 at 11 a.m. at the Denning Cemetery in West Frankfort. Friends are asked to go directly to the cemetery. Parker-Reedy Funeral Home in West Frankfort is in charge of arrangements.
****

Jeffrey Allen Shelton, age 44, of West Frankfort passed away at 3:40 A.M. Friday, March 24, 2006 at the Heartland Regional Medical Center in Marion. He was born January 3, 1962 in Benton, Il. to Olen O. Shelton and Mildred (Champa) Shelton.

Survivors include two brothers and nine sisters, Steve Shelton of West Frankfort, Dennis Shelton of Bonners Ferry, Id., Gloria Hack of Athens, Ga. Sue Herford and Olenda Pinkerton both of Bonners Ferry, Id., Pat McClintock of Evans Wa., Ellen Hewlitt of Goodlettsville, Tn., Janice Kantor of Berrien Center, Mi., Marilyn Thomas of West Frankfort, Faye Harricks of Wyoming Ontario, Canada, and Doris Posthumus of Galesburg, Mi., and twenty six nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, and a older brother, Olen Wendell Shelton.

Jeffrey attended Franklin-Williamson Human Services since 1986. He was loved by his family and will be sadly missed.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday, March 29, 2006 at the Parker-Reedy Funeral Home in West Frankfort with Pastor Lee Grady officiating. Burial will be in the East Fork Cemetery in West Frankfort. Friends may call after 10 a.m. Wednesday to the Parker-Reedy Funeral Home in West Frankfort. Memorial contributions can be made to the Marion Seventh Day Adventist Church School 9314 Old Rt. 13, Marion, Il. 62959 and will be accepted at the funeral home.

I think Steve was Olen O's son. And I believe Tammy Chance also recently lost her mother in law.

Posted by: Rosyroi Mar 1 2007, 10:30 PM

My condolences to the Shelton family for their loss.
A long time close friend of my parents passed away last night.
We have the assurance that we will be meeting our loved ones at the resurrection.
Rosyroi

Posted by: beartrap Mar 1 2007, 11:59 PM

Uncle Paul was a very nice, quiet and reclusive man. It was especially fun to take the kids trick or treating to their house. Aunt Wanda is just precious. She has taught children's Sabbath School at the West Frankfort SDA church for, I figure, around fifty years or more. They lived next door to Goldie and Earl Seddon, mother and step-father to Danny and his siblings.

Uncle Olen is very much missed, as is his son, Jefferey. My kids especially loved Jeff. He had Down's Syndrome and felt very attached to children and babies. Still brings a tear to my eye as I remember Jeff bursting into tears when he saw small kids (my kids), even on TV. We all miss him too. "Uncle O" treasured and took such good care of him. I will always remember and respect him for that.

My babies just loved Grandma Goldie, and she loved them. Some of my most treasured family video includes her and my kids. Goldie and Earl loved fishing. She painted as a hobbie and put her all into her son Kenny's church and organization. Her funeral was held at the Behold The Lamb Church. Goldie is also missed.

Since 1989 there have been many good times and bad times. Tonight there are tears as I remember the many good times with the family, and there are many. There are many of them, and you who have been family remember. Despite the garbage and hard feelings that have developed, a big hug to you tonight Melody, Danny, and the rest of the family. No matter what, we will always be family. There is no way anyone can get around that.

Derrell

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 2 2007, 10:30 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Mar 1 2007, 11:59 PM)
>
> Uncle Paul was a very nice, quiet and reclusive man. It was especially fun to take the kids trick or treating to their house. Aunt Wanda is just precious. She has taught children's Sabbath School at the West Frankfort SDA church for, I figure, around fifty years or more. They lived next door to Goldie and Earl Seddon, mother and step-father to Danny and his siblings.
>
> Uncle Olen is very much missed, as is his son, Jefferey. My kids especially loved Jeff. He had Down's Syndrome and felt very attached to children and babies. Still brings a tear to my eye as I remember Jeff bursting into tears when he saw small kids (my kids), even on TV. We all miss him too. "Uncle O" treasured and took such good care of him. I will always remember and respect him for that.
>
> My babies just loved Grandma Goldie, and she loved them. Some of my most treasured family video includes her and my kids. Goldie and Earl loved fishing. She painted as a hobbie and put her all into her son Kenny's church and organization. Her funeral was held at the Behold The Lamb Church. Goldie is also missed.
>
> Since 1989 there have been many good times and bad times. Tonight there are many tears as I remember the many good times with the family, and there are many. There are many of them, and you who have been family remember. Despite the garbage and hard feelings that have developed, a big hug to you tonight Melody, Danny, and the rest of the family. No matter what, we will always be family. There is no way anyone can get around that.
>
> Derrell

OK. That brought a tear or two. I have no idea what actually transpired between you all, but that message took guts and maturity. JMO, of course...

I would also like to add my condolences to the Sheltons.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Mar 2 2007, 10:48 AM

My condolences to the Shelton's.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 2 2007, 12:07 PM

I add my prayers for God's love, strength and confort during thi smost difficult time of loss.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 2 2007, 06:27 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 1 2007, 10:50 PM)
>
> PB & Richard, I am sure the Shelton's would appreciate your condolences. The fact is the Uncle passed about 3 weeks ago.
> Thanks though,

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 1 2007, 11:19 PM)
>
> Well it was reported just today on the internet where we could see it. Better late than never. I wished we'd have been so informed when it happened, but that is neither here nor there.

Regardless of when a condolence comes (if it is from the heart) it is appreciated. My Daddy died 7 years ago (8 this June) and when friends that I haven't seen in 10 or so years "pop" up and ask about him... they also ask questions, say - "I'm sorry..." and I don't dare throw up that it's 7 years late.

My GOD someone passed!

My wish of comfort for the Shelton family in their time of mourning...

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Mar 2 2007, 01:59 AM)
>
> Uncle Paul was a very nice, quiet and reclusive man. It was especially fun to take the kids trick or treating to their house. Aunt Wanda is just precious. She has taught children's Sabbath School at the West Frankfort SDA church for, I figure, around fifty years or more. They lived next door to Goldie and Earl Seddon, mother and step-father to Danny and his siblings.
>
> Uncle Olen is very much missed, as is his son, Jefferey. My kids especially loved Jeff. He had Down's Syndrome and felt very attached to children and babies. Still brings a tear to my eye as I remember Jeff bursting into tears when he saw small kids (my kids), even on TV. We all miss him too. "Uncle O" treasured and took such good care of him. I will always remember and respect him for that.
>
> My babies just loved Grandma Goldie, and she loved them. Some of my most treasured family video includes her and my kids. Goldie and Earl loved fishing. She painted as a hobbie and put her all into her son Kenny's church and organization. Her funeral was held at the Behold The Lamb Church. Goldie is also missed.
>
> Since 1989 there have been many good times and bad times. Tonight there are tears as I remember the many good times with the family, and there are many. There are many of them, and you who have been family remember. Despite the garbage and hard feelings that have developed, a big hug to you tonight Melody, Danny, and the rest of the family. No matter what, we will always be family. There is no way anyone can get around that.
>
> Derrell

This took a lot BroBear (Derrell)

Prayers for you and yours.....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 07:07 PM

Agreed. About a year and a half ago my parents passed away a month apart. I still have people I've not seen in awhile coming up to me and saying how sorry they are. When you have loved someone(s) you are still touched.

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 2 2007, 07:27 PM)
>
> Regardless of when a condolence comes (if it is from the heart) it is appreciated. My Daddy died 7 years ago (8 this June) and when friends that I haven't seen in 10 or so years "pop" up and ask about him... they also ask questions, say - "I'm sorry..." and I don't dare throw up that it's 7 years late.
>
> My GOD someone passed!
>
> My wish of comfort for the Shelton family in their time of mourning...
> This took a lot BroBear (Derrell)
>
> Prayers for you and yours.....

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 2 2007, 07:07 PM)
>
> Agreed. About a year and a half ago my parents passed away a month apart. I still have people I've not seen in awhile coming up to me and saying how sorry they are. When you have loved someone(s) you are still touched.

My point in saying it was 3 weeks ago was addressing the comment that all the DS supporters must be gone to the funereal or whatever it was that was said.

Richard, my heart indeed goes out to you. We might be on different sides on this thread but we are on the same side of the grief felt when we lose our parents. I can't imagine losing them a month apart. Only God could bring you through something like that. To me, death is the worst punishment of all for living on this earth. Thank God we know we will be united with our loved ones in the heavenly kingdom. I don't know how people that "don't believe" can make it through the deaths of their loved ones. A year and a half would seem like yesterday in the grief process. I will pray for you.

Posted by: Grace Mar 3 2007, 12:25 PM

My love and prayers for all the people mourning for a loved one. I know first hand how it is. God bless you all.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 3 2007, 12:38 PM

wwjd it was hard to lose them so close together, but my mom was 87 and had Alzhimers so her loss was really a relief, since we felt like she had left years ago. My father was 92 and was just miserable after my mom died so his suffering also ended. They both lived good long lives and they were both super dedicated Christians. The next thing they will see is Jesus, then each other. Death is really not all that bad for some. I praise Him every day that my parents are no longer suffering and are on a hill top about a mile away, awaiting His return.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 2 2007, 11:20 PM) ☐
>
> My point in saying it was 3 weeks ago was addressing the comment that all the DS supporters must be gone to the funereal or whatever it was that was said.
>
> Richard, my heart indeed goes out to you. We might be on different sides on this thread but we are on the same side of the grief felt when we lose our parents. I can't imagine losing them a month apart. Only God could bring you through something like that. To me, death is the worst punishment of all for living on this earth. Thank God we know we will be united with our loved ones in the heavenly kingdom. I don't know how people that "don't believe" can make it through the deaths of their loved ones. A year and a half would seem like yesterday in the grief process. I will pray for you.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 3 2007, 10:52 PM

Whether a year and a half, seven, ten, or in my Grandmother's case over twenty years - grief is still grief to that person. When my Mother speak of her Mother she still will cry at times.... that's still grief and longing/missing.

Regardless of the timespan wwjd. Can we just pray for peace for the family? Can we just pray? Is this a time to justify being right?

☒ s

59

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Atoday Newsbreak 3/2/07 - The Law Of Unintended Consequences:

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 2 2007, 05:00 PM

ADVENTIST NEWS Round up
The Law of Unintended Consequences:
AToday Story on 3ABN Relations with West Frankfort
By Ervin Taylor, Adventist Today Executive Editor (27 February 2007)

In a recent news item, Adventist Today reported on relationships of the 3ABN organization and Mr. Danny Shelton with his home town of West Frankfort, Illinois. Under the headline "Southern Illinois Hometown City Leaders Laud Danny Shelton's Support," the AToday news item stated that Mr. Shelton is "very willing to lend a helping hand financially to the civic needs of his boyhood town" including support for a local "home for abused women and children." We also reported that a "donation by 3ABN and Shelton that was the catalyst for a peer-mentoring program to begin on [the local high school] campus."

AToday is in receipt of a transcript containing statements recently made during a portion of a program on the 3ABN network in which Mr. Shelton and, Dr. Walter Thompson, the chairman of the 3ABN Board, participated. According to this transcript of remarks they made live on the air, Dr. Thompson stated "One of the things we have been criticized [by Adventist Today] for [is] helping our community, for supporting our community, and being involved in it..."

Here is the background to the story. AToday was informed that Mr. Shelton and 3ABN enjoyed good relations with at least one neighboring town. The AToday Executive Editor was aware of the allegations that AToday was only interested in negative stories about Mr. Shelton and 3ABN. Although these accusations were and are untrue, a conscious editorial decision was made to pursue a story about 3ABN and/or Mr. Shelton which would be viewed by any reasonable reader in a positive light. An AToday Assistant Editor visited the area and interviewed members of the West Frankfort community. The data that he collected confirmed what had been reported to AToday. The story was duly written and distributed by means of an ATNewsbreak report and on the AToday web site.

The publication of what the AToday Executive Editor assumed would be positively received was immediately attacked and criticized by Mr. Shelton and Dr. Thompson. It appears that we have here yet another illustration of the "Law of Unintended Consequences." The AToday Executive Editor has learned a valuable lesson. Continue to simply report the facts and don't worry about how the facts will be interpreted.

Posted by: Observer Mar 2 2007, 05:49 PM

> QUOTE
> The publication of what the AToday Executive Editor assumed would be positively received was immediately attacked and criticized by Mr. Shelton and Dr. Thompson. It appears that we have here yet another illustration of the "Law of Unintended Consequences." The AToday Executive Editor has learned a valuable lesson. Continue to simply report the facts and don't worry about how the facts will be interpreted.

We have seen this same dynamic in other contexts:

The report of the ASI attempt to mediate, as posted on the 3-ABN website contains material that is simply false, as first posted, anyway.

There are several 3-ABN defenders who consistently mis-quote posts made by those defending Linda. I sometimes simply ignore such made about me. Why add fuel to the fire? Without fuel it will burn out.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 05:56 PM

In their defense, I believe the on-air discussion of the AToday article about the 3abn donations to sports and centers in West Frankfort was more likely a response to the discussion here about the use of donations rather than a criticism of AT reporting of said donations.

Yes, I think we are the bee in the bonnet (buzzing that pesky thing called truth), the little mouse (that roared), just a little group (with surprising influence)!

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 06:58 PM

Having had several hundred bees in my bonnet I can tell you that they have a way of getting your attention right now, though they are such a little thing they can cause much discomfort. That is how it seems that 3abn is reacting to BSDA, Maritime, AToday and "that little group" known as save3abn.

Richard

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 2 2007, 06:56 PM)

> In their defense, I believe the on-air discussion of the AToday article about the 3abn donations to sports and centers in West Frankfort was more likely a response to the discussion here about the use of donations rather than a criticism of AT reporting of said donations.
>
> Yes, I think we are the bee in the bonnet (buzzing that pesky thing called truth), the little mouse (that roared), just a little group (with surprising influence)!

60

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3ABN Lawsuit Speculation

Posted by: Bystander Feb 27 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 02:04 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> YOu can do that by selling my idea of 12 Sdas jury to 3abn and danny
>
> erik

Truthfully, Erik, I hope they do something similar to what you are saying as far as the church goes. That will not stop what goes forward in a court of law. Everyone thinks because papers have not been served legally or because the evidence LS requests has not "popped" up, that nothing is happening. There are many on here that claim to be "educated" yet doesn't have the sense to know that the wheels of justice turn slowly, but they do turn. When everything is in order, then we will see what we will see.

Also, Erik, to address what you were saying about counter suing and all that: If 3abn brings a suit against slanderous statements that are false, that is what the suit is about, period. 3abn might or might not have to prove that the said allegations are false for it to be considered slander. I don't know the legal rules as far as slander goes. If proof must be shown that the allegations are false, obviously they have no problem with that, or, they wouldn't be doing it.

Now, let's use princess Dr Re since she gave a rousing speech that "she wouldn't play" and she would end up with money for her education and so on.....We shall use her in a hypothetical situation. If she was served with papers from 3abn for making slanderous statements, she would be required to come to court, wherever that might be....It could be very likely that it wouldn't be in her state, so she would have to pay her own expenses for travel...Once there, the 3abn attorneys would put her on a witness stand and would show her, what, if any, allegations and/or slanderous and liable remarks that she had made during the course of however many months that she had been making them. Now, she would have to admit making them (after all they would have been taking them right off of her posts), so, If 3abn has to prove the accusations are false, that action would take place next. They would have to go down the list of slanderous statements that princess made, one at a time, and show proof that the allegations were false. If they can prove the statements are lies, then princess is held accountable legally, and financially for her part in hurting a ministry and the reputations of those involved.

Now if 3abn doesn't have to prove the allegations are false and only have to show where said allegations have hurt the ministry and the people that run that ministry, then it ends a lot sooner and princess is still held to the same accountability. Either way, she is found liable . The only way she would be found innocent was if she could prove that she didn't make those statements, (as in someone made them under her name) or if she could prove that her statements in no way, hurt anyone or hurt the ministry. That would be pretty much impossible.

Now she talks about getting money from 3abn. For what? If she countersued what grounds would she counter on? If proven in court that she made slanderous statements that directly contributed to some kind of loss to the ministry and the individuals involved and was found guilty of such, what is she going to counter sue on? She wouldn't have a leg to stand on. Even if she tried she would be responsible for all of her own legal fees over the period of time that the suit took place and in the end, she would have no grounds to stand on anyway. Instead of getting money awarded, she would be out thousands and thousands of dollars for a suit that had no basis. (I am sure it would never go that far, because a legit attorney would know this from the get go an refuse to take a losing case.)As observer always points out, I am certainly am not a legal expert, but am giving my opinion based on my understanding of this situation.

Another point I wanted to make to you is a suit for slander is a suit for slander. You are not allowed to bring in all kinds of other things. If a person is charged with murder, evidence of a possible robbery that he may have done that has absolutely no bearing on the murder trial, cannot be brought up. that would be a separate case altogether.
Another important thing to think about is, that whoever is charged with slander and served papers, will not only have to pay their own transportation fees to whatever state or city, they will have to pay an attorney to defend them unless they want to be their own defense. Many attorneys, now days, charge 500.00 an hour. In my opinion, there is no way I would want to involve myself and others in something so serious just to be able to "air" my opinions in a chat room. It is one thing to say He might have, or she may have it is quite another to refer to specific individuals as Pedophiles, embezzlers, child molesters, adulterers, liars ...that is where it gets serious, especially, if you are wrong and making these judgments and statements on the heresay of others and can be proven that what you are involved in has caused harm to the organization and public figures involved.
As far as your suggestion where the church is concerned, I would like to see something like that happen, and it might, in time. I think though that the panel should consists of 4 or 5 well known and well respected individuals in the denomination. If there is evidence against LS it could be presented and then a public statement could be made as to the panels conclusions. It is my understanding that LS had a chance to do this with the 3abn board and did not.
Regardless of what is done, it all takes time and organization. It is ridiculous to think because 3abn hasn't responded to a demand from LS a week ago, that they have nothing or will not do nothing. A week is nothing, just like in the legal system. Many times trials take years to get through.
I wish with all my heart that no one would have to go through anything like this, but people cannot go around making statements of accusation, some of a criminal nature, that could end up destroying people's lives and a huge ministry without accountability.
Hope this gives you a better understanding Erik. Again it is just my understanding of the situation. I certainly don't know all that the law demands on this subject.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 02:49 PM) ☐
>
> I think I'd rather not know who this character Bystander admittedly is. I would hate to think he is who he appears to be. This character likes to leave people to guess. By contrast, Christ didn't. And, that speaks as much for itself as does, "by their fruits shall ye know them."

Until you apply your statement about Christ to the others on this board who say they have first hand evidence, you only show your partiality to that side. Have you applied your statement to sister who has given a large percentage of the information that has been posted. Certainly down through the months, everyone else has carried on with it but we are talking origination. Sonshineonme and watchbird also speak (by their own admission) for Linda. Have you applied your statement to them also?
Sorry, criticism just for my identity doesn't fly here, when there are so many others. Just happens, I am on the wrong side, so receive all the flak. That's ok I can take it.

Posted by: erik Feb 27 2007, 03:31 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 01:10 PM) ☐
>
> Truthfully, Erik, I hope they do something similar to what you are saying as far as the church goes. That will not stop what goes forward in a court of law. Everyone thinks because papers have not been served legally or because the evidence LS requests has not "popped" up, that nothing is happening. There are many on here that claim to be "educated" yet doesn't have the sense to know that the wheels of justice turn slowly, but they do turn. When everything is in order, then we will see what we will see.

Also, Erik, to address what you were saying about counter suing and all that: If 3abn brings a suit against slanderous statements that are false, that is what the suit is about, period. 3abn might or might not have to prove that the said allegations are false for it to be considered slander. I don't know the legal rules as far as slander goes. If proof must be shown that the allegations are false, obviously they have no problem with that, or, they wouldn't be doing it.
Now, let's use princess Dr Re since she gave a rousing speech that "she wouldn't play" and she would end up with money for her education and so on.....We shall use her in a hypothetical situation. If she was served with papers from 3abn for making slanderous statements, she would be required to come to court, wherever that might be....It could be very likely that it wouldn't be in her state, so she would have to pay her own expenses for travel...Once there, the 3abn attorneys would put her on a witness stand and would show her, what, if any, allegations and/or slanderous and liable remarks that she had made during the course of however many months that she had been making them. Now, she would have to admit making them (after all they would have been taking them right off of her posts), so, If 3abn has to prove the accusations are false, that action would take place next. They would have to go down the list of slanderous statements that princess made, one at a time, and show proof that the allegations were false. If they can prove the statements are lies, then princess is held accountable legally, and financially for her part in hurting a ministry and the reputations of those involved.
Now if 3abn doesn't have to prove the allegations are false and only have to show where said allegations have hurt the ministry and the people that run that ministry, then it ends a lot sooner and princess is still held to the same accountability. Either way, she is found liable . The only way she would be found innocent was if she could prove that she didn't make those statements, (as in someone made them under her name) or if she could prove that her statements in no way, hurt anyone or hurt the ministry. That would be pretty much impossible.
Now she talks about getting money from 3abn. For what? If she countersued what grounds would she counter on? If proven in court that she made slanderous statements that directly contributed to some kind of loss to the ministry and the individuals involved and was found guilty of such, what is she going to counter sue on? She wouldn't have a leg to stand on. Even if she tried she would be responsible for all of her own legal fees over the period of time that the suit took place and in the end, she would have no grounds to stand on anyway. Instead of getting money awarded, she would be out thousands and thousands of dollars for a suit that had no basis. (I am sure it would never go that far, because a legit attorney would know this from the get go an refuse to take a losing case.)
As observer always points out, I am certainly am not a legal expert, but am giving my opinion based on my understanding of this situation.

Another point I wanted to make to you is a suit for slander is a suit for slander. You are not allowed to bring in all kinds of other things. If a person is charged with murder, evidence of a possible robbery that he may have done that has absolutely no bearing on the murder trial, cannot be brought up. that would be a separate case altogether.
Another important thing to think about is, that whoever is charged with slander and served papers, will not only have to pay their own transportation fees to whatever state or city, they will have to pay an attorney to defend them unless they want to be their own defense. Many attorneys, now days, charge 500.00 an hour. In my opinion, there is no way I would want to involve myself and others in something so serious just to be able to "air" my opinions in a chat room. It is one thing to say He might have, or she may have it is quite another to refer to specific individuals as Pedophiles, embezzlers, child molesters, adulterers, liars ...that is where it gets serious, especially, if you are wrong and making these judgments and statements on the heresay of others and can be proven that what you are involved in has caused harm to the organization and public figures involved.
As far as your suggestion where the church is concerned, I would like to see something like that happen, and it might, in time. I think though that the panel should consists of 4 or 5 well known and well respected individuals in the denomination. If there is evidence against LS it could be presented and then a public statement could be made as to the panels conclusions. It is my understanding that LS had a chance to do this with the 3abn board and did not.
Regardless of what is done, it all takes time and organization. It is ridiculous to think because 3abn hasn't responded to a demand from LS a week ago, that they have nothing or will not do nothing. A > week is nothing, just like in the legal system. Many times trials take years to get through.

> I wish with all my heart that no one would have to go through anything like this, but people cannot go around making statements of accusation, some of a criminal nature, that could end up destroying people's lives and a huge ministry without accountability.
> Hope this gives you a better understanding Erik. Again it is just my understanding of the situation. I certainly don't know all that the law demands on this subject.

)ystander,

"hank you for your thoughtful post, my reason for picking 12 common sda is because it would remove ıny charge of favorism form the hearing of proof.

;lander is a tough thing to prove, because you have to prove the that the person making the charge :now it was false and was trying to hurt the person(entity) being slandered.

;ome on here you could maybe make that stick but others it would be much harder to prove.

he lawyers were live need to move to were you live because they are not making 500.00 any hour.

mean lets take Johann for example to prove his posts have been slanderous one would need to able o prove his personal experiences here in fact figments of his imagination.

)r lets take daune and the others that have written letters about tommy, for someone to prove ;lander they are going to have to prove that tommy and the guys and boys did in fact not have ınything happen between them, that is going to a tall order considering that in tommy's and carols etters that failed to flat out deny the charges against tommy,.

ıow lets get to your example of a poster on the forum you takes filters information and then states ›ption, if we are basing our comments on the first hand testominy of others then slander becomes a ough sell has i read the law in my state.

"he other thing is you are going to have to prove that exact dollar amount of damage done, by one ›erson and could be very tough in itself, most certainly anyone posting on the Blacksda site because ′ou have pointed out to us that we are not the attacks that were discussed the other night.

would hope for the sake of truth that 3abn would do a better job getting the truth about all of this ›ut then a court case that will take years.

\gain i go back to the 12 person jury instead of the church, made of common sda so that no charge of avorism or cronism can be leveled. then if people are still going after 3abn drag their sorry buttons to :ourt.

:rik

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 03:34 PM

So Bystander if I'm hearing you correctly it's more important to protect 3abn from harm by showing their statements hurt the ministry than to prove that someone said something that was a lie? (See bold)

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 04:17 PM)

Truthfully, Erik, I hope they do something similar to what you are saying as far as the church goes. That will not stop what goes forward in a court of law. Everyone thinks because papers have not been served legally or because the evidence LS requests has not "popped" up, that nothing is happening. There are many on here that claim to be "educated" yet doesn't have the sense to know that the wheels of justice turn slowly, but they do turn. When everything is in order, then we will see what we will see.
Also, Erik, to address what you were saying about counter suing and all that: If 3abn brings a suit against slanderous statements that are false, that is what the suit is about, period. 3abn might or might not have to prove that the said allegations are false for it to be considered slander. I don't know the legal rules as far as slander goes. If proof must be shown that the allegations are false, obviously they have no problem with that, or, they wouldn't be doing it.
Now, let's use princess Dr Re since she gave a rousing speech that "she wouldn't play" and she would end up with money for her education and so on.....We shall use her in a hypothetical situation. If she was served with papers from 3abn for making slanderous statements, she would be required to come to court, wherever that might be....It could be very likely that it wouldn't be in her state, so she would have to pay her own expenses for travel...Once there, the 3abn attorneys would put her on a witness stand and would show her, what, if any, allegations and/or slanderous and liable remarks that she had made during the course of however many months that she had been making them. Now, she would have to admit making them (after all they would have been taking them right off of her posts), so, If 3abn has to prove the accusations are false, that action would take place next. They would have to go down the list of slanderous statements that princess made, one at a time, and show proof that the allegations were false. If they can prove the statements are lies, then princess is held accountable legally, and financially for her part in hurting a ministry and the reputations of those involved.
Now if 3abn doesn't have to prove the allegations are false and only have to show where said allegations have hurt the ministry and the people that run that ministry, then it ends a lot sooner and princess is still held to the same accountability. Either way, she is found liable . The only way she would be found innocent was if she could prove that she didn't make those statements, (as in someone made them under her name) or if she could prove that her statements in no way, hurt anyone or hurt the ministry. That would be pretty much impossible. Now she talks about getting money from 3abn. For what? If she countersued what grounds would she counter on? If proven in court that she made slanderous statements that directly contributed to some kind of loss to the ministry and the individuals involved and was found guilty of such, what is she going to counter sue on? She wouldn't have a leg to stand on. Even if she tried she would be responsible for all of her own legal fees over the period of time that the suit took place and in the end, she would have no grounds to stand on anyway. Instead of getting money awarded, she would be out thousands and thousands of dollars for a suit that had no basis. (I am sure it would never go that far, because a legit attorney would know this from the get go an refuse to take a losing case.)As observer always points out, I am certainly am not a legal expert, but am giving my opinion based on my understanding of this situation.

Another point I wanted to make to you is a suit for slander is a suit for slander. You are not allowed to bring in all kinds of other things. If a person is charged with murder, evidence of a possible robbery that he may have done that has absolutely no bearing on the murder trial, cannot be brought up. that would be a separate case altogether.
Another important thing to think about is, that whoever is charged with slander and served papers, will not only have to pay their own transportation fees to whatever state or city, they will have to pay an attorney to defend them unless they want to be their own defense. Many attorneys, now days, charge 500.00 an hour. In my opinion, there is no way I would want to involve myself and others in something so serious just to be able to "air" my opinions in a chat room. It is one thing to say He might have, or she may have it is quite another to refer to specific individuals as Pedophiles, embezzlers, child molesters, adulterers, liars ...that is where it gets serious, especially, if you are wrong and making these judgments and statements on the heresay of others and can be proven that what you are involved in has caused harm to the organization and public figures involved.
As far as your suggestion where the church is concerned, I would like to see something like that happen, and it might, in time. I think though that the panel should consists of 4 or 5 well known and well respected individuals in the denomination. If there is evidence against LS it could be > presented and then a public statement could be made as to the panels conclusions. It is my understanding that LS had a chance to do this with the 3abn board and did not.

> Regardless of what is done, it all takes time and organization. It is ridiculous to think because 3abn hasn't responded to a demand from LS a week ago, that they have nothing or will not do nothing. A week is nothing, just like in the legal system. Many times trials take years to get through.
> I wish with all my heart that no one would have to go through anything like this, but people cannot go around making statements of accusation, some of a criminal nature, that could end up destroying people's lives and a huge ministry without accountability.
> Hope this gives you a better understanding Erik. Again it is just my understanding of the situation. I certainly don't know all that the law demands on this subject.
> Until you apply your statement about Christ to the others on this board who say they have first hand evidence, you only show your partiality to that side. Have you applied your statement to sister who has given a large percentage of the information that has been posted. Certainly down through the months, everyone else has carried on with it but we are talking origination. Sonshineonme and watchbird also speak (by their own admission) for Linda. Have you applied your statement to them also?
> Sorry, criticism just for my identity doesn't fly here, when there are so many others. Just happens, I am on the wrong side, so receive all the flak. That's ok I can take it.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 03:38 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> Until you apply your statement about Christ to the others on this board who say they have first hand evidence, you only show your partiality to that side. Have you applied your statement to sister who has given a large percentage of the information that has been posted. Certainly down through the months, everyone else has carried on with it but we are talking origination. Sonshineonme and watchbird also speak (by their own admission) for Linda. Have you applied your statement to them also?

realize you'd like to quickly shift attention to another card, but your card is on the table right now. ocus.

s for your knowlegdge of internet liable, slander, and defamation, I'd suggest you take your case to udgeJudy.com. You may want to consider new counsel also. There's several dozens of things you aven't thought of yet.

Posted by: Observer Feb 27 2007, 04:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 02:17 PM)
>
> Truthfully, Erik, I hope they do something similar to what you are saying as far as the church goes. That will not stop what goes forward in a court of law. Everyone thinks because papers have not been served legally or because the evidence LS requests has not "popped" up, that nothing is happening. There are many on here that claim to be "educated" yet doesn't have the sense to know that the wheels of justice turn slowly, but they do turn. When everything is in order, then we will see what we will see.
> Also, Erik, to address what you were saying about counter suing and all that: If 3abn brings a suit against slanderous statements that are false, that is what the suit is about, period. 3abn might or might not have to prove that the said allegations are false for it to be considered slander. I don't know the legal rules as far as slander goes. If proof must be shown that the allegations are false, obviously they have no problem with that, or, they wouldn't be doing it.

Now, let's use princess Dr Re since she gave a rousing speech that "she wouldn't play" and she would end up with money for her education and so on.....We shall use her in a hypothetical situation. If she was served with papers from 3abn for making slanderous statements, she would be required to come to court, wherever that might be....It could be very likely that it wouldn't be in her state, so she would have to pay her own expenses for travel...Once there, the 3abn attorneys would put her on a witness stand and would show her, what, if any, allegations and/or slanderous and liable remarks that she had made during the course of however many months that she had been making them. Now, she would have to admit making them (after all they would have been taking them right off of her posts), so, If 3abn has to prove the accusations are false, that action would take place next. They would have to go down the list of slanderous statements that princess made, one at a time, and show proof that the allegations were false. If they can prove the statements are lies, then princess is held accountable legally, and financially for her part in hurting a ministry and the reputations of those involved.
Now if 3abn doesn't have to prove the allegations are false and only have to show where said allegations have hurt the ministry and the people that run that ministry, then it ends a lot sooner and princess is still held to the same accountability. Either way, she is found liable . The only way she would be found innocent was if she could prove that she didn't make those statements, (as in someone made them under her name) or if she could prove that her statements in no way, hurt anyone or hurt the ministry. That would be pretty much impossible.
Now she talks about getting money from 3abn. For what? If she countersued what grounds would she counter on? If proven in court that she made slanderous statements that directly contributed to some kind of loss to the ministry and the individuals involved and was found guilty of such, what is she going to counter sue on? She wouldn't have a leg to stand on. Even if she tried she would be responsible for all of her own legal fees over the period of time that the suit took place and in the end, she would have no grounds to stand on anyway. Instead of getting money awarded, she would be out thousands and thousands of dollars for a suit that had no basis. (I am sure it would never go that far, because a legit attorney would know this from the get go an refuse to take a losing case.) As observer always points out, I am certainly am not a legal expert, but am giving my opinion based on my understanding of this situation.

Another point I wanted to make to you is a suit for slander is a suit for slander. You are not allowed to bring in all kinds of other things. If a person is charged with murder, evidence of a possible robbery that he may have done that has absolutely no bearing on the murder trial, cannot be brought up. that would be a separate case altogether.
Another important thing to think about is, that whoever is charged with slander and served papers, will not only have to pay their own transportation fees to whatever state or city, they will have to pay an attorney to defend them unless they want to be their own defense. Many attorneys, now days, charge 500.00 an hour. In my opinion, there is no way I would want to involve myself and others in something so serious just to be able to "air" my opinions in a chat room. It is one thing to say He might have, or she may have it is quite another to refer to specific individuals as Pedophiles, embezzlers, child molesters, adulterers, liars ...that is where it gets serious, especially, if you are wrong and making these judgments and statements on the heresay of others and can be proven that what you are involved in has caused harm to the organization and public figures involved.
As far as your suggestion where the church is concerned, I would like to see something like that happen, and it might, in time. I think though that the panel should consists of 4 or 5 well known and well respected individuals in the denomination. If there is evidence against LS it could be presented and then a public statement could be made as to the panels conclusions. It is my understanding that LS had a chance to do this with the 3abn board and did not.
Regardless of what is done, it all takes time and organization. It is ridiculous to think because 3abn hasn't responded to a demand from LS a week ago, that they have nothing or will not do nothing. A week is nothing, just like in the legal system. Many times trials take years to get through.
I wish with all my heart that no one would have to go through anything like this, but people cannot go around making statements of accusation, some of a criminal nature, that could end up destroying people's lives and a huge ministry without accountability.
Hope this gives you a better understanding Erik. Again it is just my understanding of the situation. I certainly don't know all that the law demands on this subject.
Until you apply your statement about Christ to the others on this board who say they have first > hand evidence, you only show your partiality to that side. Have you applied your statement to sister who has given a large percentage of the information that has been posted. Certainly down through the months, everyone else has carried on with it but we are talking origination. Sonshineonme and watchbird also speak (by their own admission) for Linda. Have you applied your statement to them also?

> Sorry, criticism just for my identity doesn't fly here, when there are so many others. Just happens, I am on the wrong side, so receive all the flak. That's ok I can take it.

Bystander has posted a mixture of information. Some of it is true. However, it appears to me to be somewhat deficient in application, as well as in legal knowledge. That is evident in what appears to be a failure to recognize the legal difference between slander and libel. The three legal issues in the above post are slander, libel, and defamation of character.

Bystander is correct that the wheels of justice revolve very slowly at times. The fact that various people have not been served, or litigation filed, does not mean that it will not be filed.

Litigation is only about the litigated issue. A trademark case may (?) depending on various issues, not be about any of the content, but only the use of a trademark. If a libel case is filed over a statement that X robbed a bank, the court will not consider a statement that X filed a false income tax return.

However, my personal prediction, and speaking an a person without legal training, is that attorneys for the plaintiff will attempt to keep the case very narrow, and attorneys for the defendant will seek to expand it. Folks, that can happen. It can happen due to testimony admitted into court. It can happen due to errors by an attorney. It can happen. I do not predict how such litigation will develop. No one else can predict such with 100 per-cent reliability.

There is another factor that Bystander did not consider. Those who believe that litigation may soon begin, are making plans to defend those who are served papers. It remains to be seen what will happen. I can not predict how the defense will develop. But, I can say to Bystander that it may develop in ways that he did not mention in his post. Only time will tell.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 05:15 PM

The ONLY reason for 3abn and Danny taking anyone to court is so that their lawyers can speak for them on their terms in a tightly controlled venue. If they really wanted the truth to be known they could just state it on here or on their web site. If Danny really wanted the truth to get out there would not be any need for the courts. They are just so sad and pitiful. It's all about the money IMO.

Richard

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 27 2007, 05:50 PM

The court system is already plugged with frivolous law suits. Judges throw them out, typically, and tell the disturbed parties to settle their differences on the street where they belong. Bystander seems fairly street-smart.

I still think this one would do well on Judge Judy's TV show.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 27 2007, 06:05 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 27 2007, 03:50 PM)
>
> The court system is already plugged with frivolous law suits. Judges throw them out, typically, and tell the disturbed parties to settle their differences on the street where they belong. Bystander seems fairly street-smart.
>
> I still think this one would do well on Judge Judy's TV show.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 06:31 PM

I think we would know the truth because of what you stated. There are many who have not come forward. They could vouch for Danny if he were to tell the truth. But also there are many on here, like Johann who were there during much of what was supposed to have taken place. And then there are those like HOTY and Sister who can verify certain facts I believe.

My fear is that the only reason Danny would take anyone to court would be because his high priced lawyers feel they could control the proceeding so that the outcome would be weighed in their favor.

I believe in the power of prayer, and the Holy Spirit in changing hearts and lives. Danny's heart can be reached, if he will let God do it.

Richard

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 27 2007, 06:39 PM)
>
> At this point, would you really know if or what is truth if it came from DS? I'm not sure he knows how to tell the straight truth. He mixes a little truth with a lot of error. I think the court room is the only place for the real truth to come out now. AND, many who have come together here to tell their stories. What DS doesn't realize (or maybe he does) is there are MANY who are here...not all have spoken yet. What has worked and still works here is how many tellings of expiriences from those that have shared so far here fit together so well without anyone forcing it. It just comes together, because truth is what it is - truth. You can't just change truth as some have tried. It is what it is.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 27 2007, 06:43 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 27 2007, 04:31 PM)
>
> I think we would know the truth because of what you stated. There are many who have not come forward. They could vouch for Danny if he were to tell the truth. But also there are many on here, like Johann who were there during much of what was supposed to have taken place. And then there are those like HOTY and Sister who can verify certain facts I believe.

> My fear is that the only reason Danny would take anyone to court would be because his high priced lawyers feel they could control the proceeding so that the outcome would be weighed in their favor.
>
> I believe in the power of prayer, and the Holy Spirit in changing hearts and lives. Danny's heart can be reached, if he will let God do it.
>
> Richard

ou are correct on all points Richard.
here are many here besides Johann and Sister....many. Some have spoken and some have not.
ome you are not aware of their connection and they could make it known, and may.
es, Danny may be willing to go to court if he feels he could win (obviously that is the only reason he vould go), but like Observer has said, that outcome is still very unprediciable, and no matter what, it vill be out in the public forum, regardless of a court proceeding. s for the power of prayer, I believe in it very much myself. You are correct, Danny's heart can hange. Lets hope that's what happens. And I would say if that does happen, there will be NO DOUBT bout it to all that have been trampled on as well as the general sda public. It will take more then nere words for it to be evident. The fruit of that conversion will be actions.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 27 2007, 07:30 PM

Why would a court proceeding be out of the public forum, or did I misunderstand you? I thought all court proceedings are public. (Although I've been a jury member and foremen a couple times I still don't know that much about them since I've never watched Law and Order Or any other prime time shows for that matter)

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 27 2007, 07:43 PM)
>
> You are correct on all points Richard.
> There are many here besides Johann and Sister....many. Some have spoken and some have not.
> Some you are not aware of their connection and they could make it known, and may.
> Yes, Danny may be willing to go to court if he feels he could win (obviously that is the only reason he would go), but like Observer has said, that outcome is still very unprediciable, and no matter what, it will be out in the public forum, regardless of a court proceeding.
> As for the power of prayer, I believe in it very much myself. You are correct, Danny's heart can change. Lets hope that's what happens. And I would say if that does happen, there will be NO DOUBT about it to all that have been trampled on as well as the general sda public. It will take more then mere words for it to be evident. The fruit of that conversion will be actions.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 27 2007, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 27 2007, 05:17 PM)
>
> .....Now, let's use princess Dr Re since she gave a rousing speech that "she wouldn't play" and she > would end up with money for her education and so on.....We shall use her in a hypothetical situation. If she was served with papers from 3abn for making slanderous statements, she would be required to come to court, wherever that might be....It could be very likely that it wouldn't be in her state, so she would have to pay her own expenses for travel...Once there, the 3abn attorneys would put her on a witness stand and would show her, what, if any, allegations and/or slanderous and liable remarks that she had made during the course of however many months that she had been making them. Now, she would have to admit making them (after all they would have been taking them right off of her posts), so, If 3abn has to prove the accusations are false, that action would take place next. They would have to go down the list of slanderous statements that princess made, one at a time, and show proof that the allegations were false. If they can prove the statements are lies, then princess is held accountable legally, and financially for her part in hurting a ministry and the reputations of those involved.

> Now if 3abn doesn't have to prove the allegations are false and only have to show where said allegations have hurt the ministry and the people that run that ministry, then it ends a lot sooner and princess is still held to the same accountability. Either way, she is found liable . The only way she would be found innocent was if she could prove that she didn't make those statements, (as in someone made them under her name) or if she could prove that her statements in no way, hurt anyone or hurt the ministry. That would be pretty much impossible.
> Now she talks about getting money from 3abn. For what? If she countersued what grounds would she counter on? If proven in court that she made slanderous statements that directly contributed to some kind of loss to the ministry and the individuals involved and was found guilty of such, what is she going to counter sue on? She wouldn't have a leg to stand on. Even if she tried she would be responsible for all of her own legal fees over the period of time that the suit took place and in the end, she would have no grounds to stand on anyway. Instead of getting money awarded, she would be out thousands and thousands of dollars for a suit that had no basis. (I am sure it would never go that far, because a legit attorney would know this from the get go an refuse to take a losing case.)
> As observer always points out, I am certainly am not a legal expert, but am giving my opinion based on my understanding of this situation.

Thank you for using me as an "example" demonic force of Satan. Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS.

Now.

Try me.

would counter-sue on the fact that it is a "fluff" lawsuit - used as a means of mainpulation or shutting up folks" if you will. The fact remains that I am speaking about actions, statements, and deas that are being investigated, have been investigated...and lastly..... The man himself (Tommy Shelton) will not deny per his own letters/writings and out his own mouth!!! Even that of his wife!!! Since the lawyers that I will have to hire for this "impending" slander suit will have all of their evidence in discovery and can call whom they want as witnesses per the witness list - I will call Tommy Shelton himself. Once he confirms that he did write letters that ask for "forgiveness" for his acts that will be the end of the trial.....

Now.

Try me.

Get a lawsuit going. Do it. Again.... you really don't want to see how the LORD handles those that mess" with his children. I am a child of the LORD....and the LORD never "threatened" folks. He told hem what would happen and he followed through unless they changed their ways.....

Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS. I do not fear you or your trumpted up threats of awsuit. GOD and his son JESUS will prevail.

BTW: I got airline miles up the wazoo...so my travel will be free.... and I have three attorneys' in my home conference, know one up here that would have no problem representing me Pro Bono, and finally......

the LORD will rebuke Satan. In the end his child will have victory. If you play with a child of the LORD you will fail.

Posted by: Lee Feb 28 2007, 12:16 AM

Bystander is not a "demonic force of Satan," nor is he Satan.

Please be careful with name calling PDR, I believe the rules of this forum do not allow people to stoop to name-calling.

Thank you.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 12:29 AM

> 1 Corinthians 6:1 Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? 2Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters? 3Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life? 4If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church. 5I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? 6But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers. 7Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded? 8Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.
>
> Matthew 5:40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.

If you're not of God, unfortunately, there's only one choice left.

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 04:35 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 28 2007, 05:24 AM)
>
> Thank you for using me as an "example" demonic force of Satan. Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS.
>
> Now.
>
> Try me.
>
> I would counter-sue on the fact that it is a "fluff" lawsuit - used as a means of mainpulation or

> "shutting up folks" if you will. The fact remains that I am speaking about actions, statements, and ideas that are being investigated, have been investigated...and lastly..... [size]The man himself (Tommy Shelton) will not deny per his own letters/writings and out his own mouth!!! Even that of his wife!!![/size] Since the lawyers that I will have to hire for this "impending" slander suit will have all of their evidence in discovery and can call whom they want as witnesses per the witness list - I will call Tommy Shelton himself. Once he confirms that he did write letters that ask for "forgiveness" for his acts that will be the end of the trial.....
>
> Now.
>
> Try me.
>
> Get a lawsuit going. Do it. Again.... you really don't want to see how the LORD handles those that "mess" with his children. I am a child of the LORD....and the LORD never "threatened" folks. He told them what would happen and he followed through unless they changed their ways.....
>
> Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS. I do not fear you or your trumpted up threats of lawsuit. GOD and his son JESUS will prevail.
>
> BTW: I got airline miles up the wazoo...so my travel will be free.... and I have three attorneys' in my home conference, know one up here that would have no problem representing me Pro Bono, and finally......
>
> the LORD will rebuke Satan. In the end his child will have victory. If you play with a child of the LORD you will fail.

get the impression that a number of good lawyers are reading, even studying, this thread, even ndicating willingness to come to the aid of those attacked by the dannyscribes, if needed.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 08:16 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander is not a "demonic force of Satan," nor is he Satan.
>
> Please be careful with name calling PDR, I believe the rules of this forum do not allow people to stoop to name-calling.
>
> Thank you.

.ee, you really must forgive Re for judging by appearance. This is, after all, a general human veakness.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 28 2007, 07:55 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 01:16 AM) ☐
>
> Bystander is not a "demonic force of Satan," nor is he Satan.

> Please be careful with name calling PDR, I believe the rules of this forum do not allow people to stoop to name-calling.
>
> Thank you.

oh 8:44 Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer rom the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.

Seeing that bystander came in here lying and continues to deal in obfuscation and patent untruth, she's not far off... your not liking it notwithstanding.

n His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Lee Feb 28 2007, 08:34 AM

BYSTANDER DID NOT COME HERE LYING! CALVIN EVEN TOLD YOU THIS MR J. Better read a few posts back and refresh your memory!!!
You should be banned for repeating this LIE again.

Posted by: Clay Feb 28 2007, 08:46 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 08:34 AM) ☐
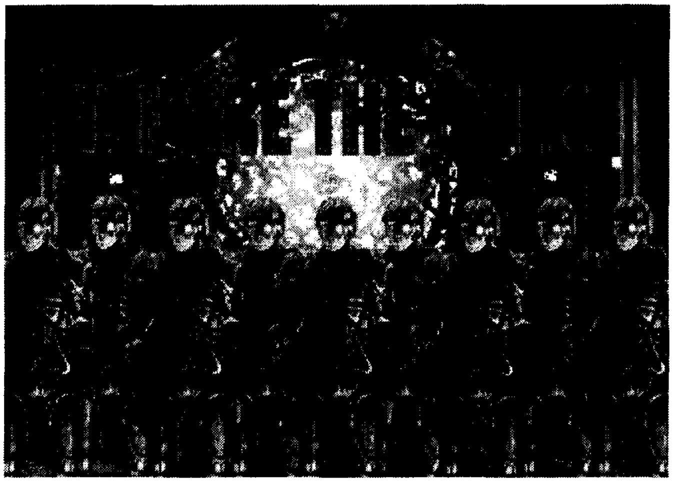
>
> BYSTANDER DID NOT COME HERE LYING! CALVIN EVEN TOLD YOU THIS MR J. Better read a few posts back and refresh your memory!!!
> You should be banned for repeating this LIE again.

Yeah he did.... but you are so busy repeating the party line that you can't see the lies that have been told..... that's fine though, the attitude you exhibit is one that would make you are a valuable part of he collective....



Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 28 2007, 10:04 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 08:34 AM)
>
> BYSTANDER DID NOT COME HERE LYING! CALVIN EVEN TOLD YOU THIS MR J. Better read a few posts back and refresh your memory!!!
> You should be banned for repeating this LIE again.

"A man [or woman] convinced against his [her] will is of the same opinion still ..."

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 28 2007, 10:10 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 09:34 AM)
>
> BYSTANDER DID NOT COME HERE LYING! CALVIN EVEN TOLD YOU THIS MR J. Better read a few posts back and refresh your memory!!!
> You should be banned for repeating this LIE again.

I'm not your child... or your husband... so you need to dial back your tone.

Bystander came in here lying, pretending to not know wwjd when they were using the same computer. He has not stopped putting forth canards since... and a cursory examination of the things he's posted shows myriad patent inconsistencies.

There have been posts which have detailed some of them; use your search function.

But the fact remains... he has been a prevaricator since he walked in the door.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Lee Feb 28 2007, 12:50 PM

Why is 3ABN going to court? God works on principles of truth and honesty. He doesn't use some of the tactics I've seen on this forum and on other forums and web sites.

Even if truth is put on BSDA and anywhere else, 3ABN's opponents will still call it lies and get away with it and sway all kinds of people to their way of thinking who do not know exactly what happened. They are like sheep. SO--that is why only a court of law can help determine truth because people are under oath--and if they commit perjury, there is a price to pay. People have asked why it has to go to court--that's why.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 28 2007, 01:12 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 11:50 AM) ☐
>
> Why is 3ABN going to court? God works on principles of truth and honesty. He doesn't use some of the tactics I've seen on this forum and on other forums and web sites.
>
> Even if truth is put on BSDA and anywhere else, 3ABN's opponents will still call it lies and get away with it and sway all kinds of people to their way of thinking who do not know exactly what happened. They are like sheep. SO--that is why only a court of law can help determine truth because people are under oath--and if they commit perjury, there is a price to pay. People have asked why it has to go to court--that's why.

Do you know the truth, Lee? The truth about the allegations against Tommy Shelton? The truth about the allegations against Danny Shelton - of covering up his brother's damaging behavior, intimidating alleged victims of Tommy Shelton and of making improper and unwanted advances on his step-daughter?

Please tell us the truth, Lee, if you know it. I'm willing to listen. Just remember, if you lie or bear false witness, there is a greater price to pay than what a perjuror in a court of law would be assessed.

PB

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 02:14 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 08:50 PM) ☐
>
> Why is 3ABN going to court? God works on principles of truth and honesty. He doesn't use some of the tactics I've seen on this forum and on other forums and web sites.
>
> Even if truth is put on BSDA and anywhere else, 3ABN's opponents will still call it lies and get away with it and sway all kinds of people to their way of thinking who do not know exactly what happened. They are like sheep. SO--that is why only a court of law can help determine truth because people are under oath--and if they commit perjury, there is a price to pay. People have asked why it has to go to court--that's why.

Lee, if I have to witness in court I have to tell the truth, and therefore I will not be able to say anything else than what I have said here on BSDA. God is my witness, even if I'd have to pay a price because someone else claims I am lying. As a Christian I cannot be a false witness.

So, if you happen to be a child of God, and you think I have said anything that is not true, it is your repsonsibility to let me know what you think is not true.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 28 2007, 07:00 PM

Here are the pertinent FRCP that will probably cause acidosis to anyone at 3ABN who believe they can file an action that can limit proceedings to a narrow question or that they can limit it to select parties They file and defendants can go for the gusto!

Anyone else want to join in the counterclaims? That would include those allegedly slandered, libeled and defamed, those allegedly wrongfully terminated, those allegedly inappropriately abused on the premises of 3ABN or its affiliates, those allegedly inappropriately harassed on the premises of 3ABN or its affiliates, those alleged whistleblowers wrongfully retaliated against, those whose civil rights have allegedly been denied or limited, any alleged victim of a misuse of process, those who allegedly have been illegally recorded, those who have been allegedly threatened or maligned, those who have been allegedly defrauded or suffered from detrimental reliance in any form. We could go on but we need to keep a few alleged surprises.

In any event, let the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure dispel misconceptions and replace it with the horrifying factual truth and remember: The right of trial by jury as declared by the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution or as given by a statute of the United States shall be preserved to the parties inviolate.

Federal Rules of Civil Procedure

http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/index.html#chapter_ii

A civil action is commenced by filing a complaint with the court.

Rule 7. Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions

(A) Pleadings.

There shall be a complaint and an answer; a reply to a counterclaim denominated as such; an answer to a cross-claim, if the answer contains a cross-claim; a third-party complaint, if a person who was not an original party is summoned under the provisions of http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule14.htm ; and a third-party answer, if a third-party complaint is served. No other pleading shall be allowed, except that the court may order a reply to an answer or a third-party answer.

Rule 8. General Rules of Pleading

A. Claims for Relief.

A pleading which sets forth a claim for relief, whether an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall contain (1) a short and plain statement of the grounds upon which the court's jurisdiction depends, unless the court already has jurisdiction and the claim needs no new grounds of jurisdiction to support it, (2) a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief, and (3) a demand for judgment for the relief the pleader seeks. Relief in the alternative or of several different types may be demanded.

B. Defenses; Form of Denials.

A party shall state in short and plain terms the party's defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny the averments upon which the adverse party relies. If a party is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, the party shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. Denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied. When a pleader intends in good faith to deny only a part or a qualification of an averment, the pleader shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny only the remainder. Unless the pleader intends in good faith to controvert all the averments of the preceding pleading, the pleader may make denials as specific denials of designated averments or paragraphs, or may generally deny all the averments except such designated averments or paragraphs as the pleader expressly admits; but, when the pleader does so intend to controvert all its averments, including averments of the grounds upon which the court's jurisdiction depends, the pleader may do so by general denial subject to the obligations set forth in http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule11.htm.

C. Affirmative Defenses.

In pleading to a preceding pleading, a party shall set forth affirmatively accord and satisfaction, arbitration and award, assumption of risk, contributory negligence, discharge in bankruptcy, duress, estoppel, failure of consideration, fraud, illegality, injury by fellow servant, laches, license, payment, release, res judicata, statute of frauds, statute of limitations, waiver, and any other matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense. When a party has mistakenly designated a defense as a counterclaim or a counterclaim as a defense, the court on terms, if justice so requires, shall treat the pleading as if there had been a proper designation.

Rule 12. Defenses and Objections--When and How Presented--By Pleading or Motion--Motion for Judgment on the PleadingsA. When Presented.

1. Unless a different time is prescribed in a statute of the United States, a defendant shall serve an answer

A. within 20 days after being served with the summons and complaint, or

B. if service of the summons has been timely waived on request under Rule 4(d), within 60 days after the date when the request for waiver was sent, or within 90 days after that date if the defendant was addressed outside any judicial district of the United States.

2. A party served with a pleading stating a cross-claim against that party shall serve an answer thereto within 20 days after being served. The plaintiff shall serve a reply to a counterclaim in the answer within 20 days after service of the answer, or, if a reply is ordered by the court, within 20 days after service of the order, unless the order otherwise directs.

Rule 13. Counterclaim and Cross-Claim

A. Compulsory Counterclaims.

A pleading shall state as a counterclaim any claim which at the time of serving the pleading the pleader has against any opposing party, if it arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the opposing party's claim and does not require for its adjudication the presence of third parties of whom the court cannot acquire jurisdiction. But the pleader need not state the claim if -1- at the time the action was commenced the claim was the subject of another pending action, or -2- the opposing party brought suit upon the claim by attachment or other process by which the court did not acquire jurisdiction to render a personal judgment on that claim, and the pleader is not stating any counterclaim under this Rule 13.

B. Permissive Counterclaims.

A pleading may state as a counterclaim any claim against an opposing party not arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the opposing party's claim.

C. Counterclaim Exceeding Opposing Claim.

A counterclaim may or may not diminish or defeat the recovery sought by the opposing party. It may claim relief exceeding in amount or different in kind from that sought in the pleading of the opposing party.

D. Counterclaim Against the United States.

These rules shall not be construed to enlarge beyond the limits now fixed by law the right to assert counterclaims or to claim credits against the United States or an officer or agency thereof.

E. Counterclaim Maturing or Acquired After Pleading.

A claim which either matured or was acquired by the pleader after serving a pleading may, with the permission of the court, be presented as a counterclaim by supplemental pleading.

F. Omitted Counterclaim.

When a pleader fails to set up a counterclaim through oversight, inadvertence, or excusable neglect, or when justice requires, the pleader may by leave of court set up the counterclaim by amendment.

G. Cross-Claim Against Co-Party.

A pleading may state as a cross-claim any claim by one party against a co-party arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter either of the original action or of a counterclaim therein or relating to any property that is the subject matter of the original action. Such cross-claim may include a claim that the party against whom it is asserted is or may be liable to the cross-claimant for all or part of a claim asserted in the action against the cross-claimant.

H. Joinder of Additional Parties

Persons other than those made parties to the original action may be made parties to a counterclaim or cross-claim in accordance with the provisions of http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule19.htm and http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule20.htm.

I. Separate Trials; Separate Judgments.

If the court orders separate trials as provided in Rule 42-B, judgment on a counterclaim or cross-claim may be rendered in accordance with the terms of http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule54.htm#Rule54_b_ when the court has jurisdiction so to do, even if the claims of the opposing party have been dismissed or otherwise disposed of.

Rule 14. Third-Party Practice

A. When Defendant May Bring in Third Party.

At any time after commencement of the action a defending party, as a third-party plaintiff, may cause a summons and complaint to be served upon a person not a party to the action who is or may be liable to the third-party plaintiff for all or part of the plaintiff's claim against the third-party plaintiff. The third-party plaintiff need not obtain leave to make the service if the third-party plaintiff files the third-party complaint not later than 10 days after serving the original answer. Otherwise the third-party plaintiff must obtain leave on motion upon notice to all parties to the action. The person served with the summons and third-party complaint, hereinafter called the third-party defendant, shall make any defenses to the third-party plaintiff's claim as provided! ided in Rule 12 and any counterclaims against the third-party plaintiff and cross-claims against other third-party defendants as provided in http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule13.htm. The third-party defendant may assert against the plaintiff any defenses which the third-party plaintiff has to the plaintiff's claim. The third-party defendant may also assert any claim against the plaintiff arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim against the third-party plaintiff. The plaintiff may assert any claim against the third-party defendant arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim against the third-party plaintiff, and the third-party defendant thereupon shall assert any defenses as provided in http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule12.htm and any counterclaims and cross-claims as provided in Rule 13. Any party may move to strike the t -party claim, or for its severance or separate trial. A third-party defendant may proceed under this rule against any person not a party to the action who is or may be liable to the third-party defendant for all or part of the claim made in the action against the third-party defendant. The third-party complaint, if within the admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, may be in rem against a vessel, cargo, or other property subject to admiralty or maritime process in rem, in which case references in this rule to the summons include the warrant of arrest, and references to the third-party plaintiff or defendant include, where appropriate, a person who asserts a right under Supplemental Rule C-6 B-i in the property arrested.

Rule 22. Interpleader

1. Persons having claims against the plaintiff may be joined as defendants and required to interplead when their claims are such that the plaintiff is or may be exposed to double or multiple liability. It is not ground for objection to the joinder that the claims of the several claimants or the titles on which their claims depend do not have a common origin or are not identical but are adverse to and independent of one another, or that the plaintiff avers that the plaintiff is not liable in whole or in part to any or all of the claimants. A defendant exposed to similar liability may obtain such interpleader by way of cross-claim or counterclaim. The provisions of this rule supplement and do not in any way limit the joinder of parties permitted in Rule 20.

Rule 26. General Provisions Governing Discovery; Duty of Disclosure

A. Required Disclosures; Methods to Discover Additional Matter.

1. In General.

Parties may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, that is relevant to the claim or defense of any party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter. For good cause, the court may order discovery of any matter relevant to the subject matter involved in the action. Relevant information need not be admissible at the trial if the discovery appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Rule 30. Deposition Upon Oral Examination

A. When Depositions May Be Taken; When Leave Required.

1. A party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, by deposition upon oral examination without leave of court except as provided in paragraph (2). The attendance of witnesses may be compelled by subpoena as provided inhttp://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule45.htm.

Rule 33. Interrogatories to Parties

A. Availability.

Without leave of court or written stipulation, any party may serve upon any other party written interrogatories, not exceeding 25 in number including all discrete subparts, to be answered by the party served or, if the party served is a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency, by any officer or agent, who shall furnish such information as is available to the party. Leave to serve additional interrogatories shall be granted to the extent consistent with the principles ofhttp://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule26.htm#Rule26_b_. Without leave of court or written stipulation, interrogatories may not be served before the time specified in Rulehttp://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule26.htm#Rule26_d_.

Rule 34. Production of Documents and Things and Entry Upon Land for Inspection and Other Purposes
A. Scope.

Any party may serve on any other party a request (1) to produce and permit the party making the request, or someone acting on the requestor's behalf, to inspect, copy, test, or sample any designated documents or electronically stored information - including writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, sound recordings, images, and other data or data compilations stored in any medium from which information can be obtained - translated, if necessary, by the respondent into reasonably usable form, or to inspect, copy, test, or sample any designated tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26-B and which are in the possession, custody or control of the party upon whom the request is served; or 2- to permit entry upon designated land or other property in the possession or control of the party upon whom the request is served for the purpose of inspection and measuring, surveying, photographing, testing, or sampling the property or any designated object or operation thereon, within the scope of Rule 26-B.

Rule 36. Requests for Admission

A. Request for Admission.

A party may serve upon any other party a written request for the admission, for purposes of the pending action only, of the truth of any matters within the scope of Rule http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule26.htm#Rule26_b_, 1, set forth in the request that relate to statements or opinions of fact or of the application of law to fact, including the genuineness of any documents described in the request. Copies of documents shall be served with the request unless they have been or are otherwise furnished or made available for inspection and copying. Without leave of court or written stipulation, requests for admission may not be served before the time specified in http://www.law.cornell.edu/rules/frcp/Rule26.htm#Rule26_d_.

Rule 37. Failure to Make or Cooperate in Discovery; Sanctions

A. Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery.

A party, upon reasonable notice to other parties and all persons affected thereby, may apply for an order compelling disclosure or discovery as follows:

Rule 38. Jury Trial of Right

A. Right Preserved.

The right of trial by jury as declared by the Seventh Amendment to the Constitution or as given by a statute of the United States shall be preserved to the parties inviolate.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 07:24 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 12:16 AM)
>
> Bystander is not a "demonic force of Satan," nor is he Satan.
>
> Please be careful with name calling PDR, I believe the rules of this forum do not allow people to stoop to name-calling.
>
> Thank you.

Lee, in your opinion, would you think that being called "a demon of satan" or "satan himself" would be a liable remark or a slanderous remark? I get confused.

Posted by: sister Feb 28 2007, 07:39 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 08:24 PM)
>
> Lee, in your opinion, would you think that being called "a demon of satan" or "satan himself" would be a liable remark or a slanderous remark? I get confused.

Interesting question, Bystander, since it is the same type of remarks that Danny Shelton made toward the Doctor and Johann. Confusion or stupidity? We both know how much Danny hates being called STUPID, right?

Clay, what was that quote from Mama Gump? Was it, "Stupid is, as stupid does."? I know it was something about stupid.

Sister

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 08:11 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 28 2007, 07:00 PM)
>
> Here are the pertinent FRCP that will probably cause acidosis to anyone at 3ABN who believe they can file an action that can limit proceedings to a narrow question or that they can limit it to select parties They file and defendants can go for the gusto!

Thanks so much for letting 3abn know that information. I am sure their attorneys never thought of that.

Posted by: John S Feb 28 2007, 08:24 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 27 2007, 03:31 PM)
>
> bystander,
>
> Thank you for your thoughtful post, my reason for picking 12 common sda is because it would remove any charge of favorism form the hearing of proof.
>
> Slander is a tough thing to prove, because you have to prove the that the person making the charge know it was false and was trying to hurt the person(entity) being slandered.
>
> Some on here you could maybe make that stick but others it would be much harder to prove.
>
> the lawyers were live need to move to were you live because they are not making 500.00 any hour.
>
> I mean lets take Johann for example to prove his posts have been slanderous one would need to able to prove his personal experiences here in fact figments of his imagination.
>
> Or lets take daune and the others that have written letters about tommy, for someone to prove slander they are going to have to prove that tommy and the guys and boys did in fact not have anything happen between them, that is going to a tall order considering that in tommy's and carols letters that failed to flat out deny the charges against tommy,.
>
> now lets get to your example of a poster on the forum you takes filters information and then states option, if we are basing our comments on the first hand testominy of others then slander becomes a tough sell has i read the law in my state.
>
> The other thing is you are going to have to prove that exact dollar amount of damage done, by one person and could be very tough in itself, most certainly anyone posting on the Blacksda site because you have pointed out to us that we are not the attacks that were discussed the other night.
> I would hope for the sake of truth that 3abn would do a better job getting the truth about all of this out then a court case that will take years.
>
> Again i go back to the 12 person jury instead of the church, made of common sda so that no charge of favorism or cronism can be leveled. then if people are still going after 3abn drag their sorry buttons to court.
>
> Erik

Someone needs to let Bystander know he needs to get a lawyer who knows the law. Anything can be discussed if one is sued. Just try it Bystander and see your whole life exposed to the whole world - all the sexual allegations will be fair game, all the financial allegations will be fair game, anyone who has been dismissed without good reason and has been damaged will be there to participate in it. Where do you find lawyers that are that ignorant of the law? John S

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 28 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:11 PM)

> Thanks so much for letting 3abn know that information. I am sure their attorneys never thought of that.

Sure thing! I am here to help! And I had you especially in mind!

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 28 2007, 08:33 PM

Ah, but maybe Danny's lawyers know the law very well and are assuming that others do not, and so will fall for their bluff. Cat and mouse? Or David and Goliath? Lots of words but all it takes is one small stone....or a Pickle? (yes my jokes are the worse, sorry already)

> QUOTE(John S @ Feb 28 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> Someone needs to let Bystander know he needs to get a lawyer who knows the law. Anything can be discussed if one is sued. Just try it Bystander and see your whole life exposed to the whole world - all the sexual allegations will be fair game, all the financial allegations will be fair game, anyone who has been dismissed without good reason and has been damaged will be there to participate in it. Where do you find lawyers that are that ignorant of the law? John S

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 28 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 28 2007, 02:16 AM)
>
> Bystander is not a "demonic force of Satan," nor is he Satan.
>
> Please be careful with name calling PDR, I believe the rules of this forum do not allow people to stoop to name-calling.
>
> Thank you.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> Lee, in your opinion, would you think that being called "a demon of satan" or "satan himself" would be a liable remark or a slanderous remark? I get confused.

http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/demonic<<<---Click Here!!!
de·mon·ic /d□□m□n□k/
Pronunciation Key - [di-mon-ik]
–adjective 1. inspired as if by a demon, indwelling spirit, or genius.
2. demoniac (def. 1).

Also, daemonic, de·mon·i·cal.

Origin: 1655–65; < LL daemonicus < Gk daimonikós, equiv. to daimon- demon- + -ikos -ic]

A "demonic" genius no less....

http://www.m-w.com/dictionary/demonic<<<---Click Here!!!
Main Entry: de·mon·ic
Pronunciation: di-'mä-nik, dE-
Variant(s): also de·mon·i·cal /-ni-k&l/
Function: adjective
: of, relating to, or suggestive of a demon : FIENDISH <demonic cruelty> <demonic laughter>
- de·mon·i·cal·ly /-ni-k(&-)lE/ adverb

Demonic forces of Satan be rebuked in the name of JESUS.
JESUS called people "foxes" because they had the characteristics of a fox. Sly, cunning, and sneaky.....

Be rebuked in the name of JESUS and the LORD...demonic forces of Satan....

Only a demonic force of Satan would try to make an adult responsible for their sexual abuse/assault as a child.....

61

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Tommy Shelton Vindicated!

Posted by: Pickle Dec 30 2006, 10:27 PM

I received a personal message today here on BSDA from an individual who claimed to be a former employee of 3ABN. That message included the following:

> QUOTE
>
> ... don't mention my name.

I gave no promises, but for now, I am going to respect that request.

Also:

> QUOTE
>
> Your "informant", Glenn Dryden, is not a credible source of information. ... accusations .... the same reason as the ones he is leveling against Tommy Shelton: JEALOUSY. Glenn Dryden is a spiteful, vindictive backstabber when someone crosses him. He has done this with numerous people over the past several years .... I had to threaten him with legal action myself to get him to shut his mouth.

I just wonder if this was intended to be a veiled threat against me. Hopefully not. But in light of the email sent to Dryden today and CC'ed to me by this individual, I'm just not sure. Here's what that email in its entirety said, minus the signature:

> QUOTE
>
> Let this serve as a warning. If you mention my name in any of the letters and emails you're sending to anyone in your latest attack on Tommy Shelton, you WILL regret it.

At any rate, the reason I'm bringing this up here is because this individual just might be able to give us the information we need to vindicate Tommy and clear him of all the allegations against him, and thus clear Danny in the process. Notice what he said was the reason why Dryden has cooked up these allegations against Tommy: "JEALOUSY."

Does that ring a bell? It should:

> QUOTE(Walt Thompson)
>
> -------- http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=82117&page=1&fpart=4#Post82149 --------
> Subject: Re: Possible way to win 3ABN critics.
> Date: Mon, 27 Nov 2006 09:04:53 -0600
> From: Walt Thompson
>
> Dear Bob,
>
> Thank you for you attempt to understand my sensitivity and that of 3abn administratin and board.

> ...
>
> Subsequently, after this issue has been brought back to the forefront ... I contacted the only person from the Chruch of God that I could find that knew about the situation, and who had been present and witness to the events. ... The picture that was painted by that leader of the Church was exactly as portrayed earlier by Danny. Dryden was jealous of Tommy and was out to get him - a jealousy that has continued to the present. ...
>
> I hope this is helpful to you.
>
> ...
>
> Sincerely,
>
> Walt

So this individual who contacted me today just may be the unnamed individual Walt referred to above. n fact, when I asked a few folks who they thought this unnamed individual might have been, the one who wrote me was a name that was suggested.

At any rate, I responded to the personal message with the following questions:

- "I would find it very helpful to know how Dryden's alleged jealousy of Tommy got the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois to revoke Tommy's credentials in 1985 when Dryden still lived 800 miles away from Tommy (and did not meet him until about that time), and did so until 1993. Could you help me on that point?"
- "Can you state explicitly that you know of not one instance when Tommy engaged in inappropriate conduct of a sexual nature with a minor?"

closed with, "If you have information that could clear Tommy Shelton's name, then people need to know about it."

n reply to the email he/she CC'ed to me, I asked the following questions:

- "Were you the one Walt talked with sometime since mid-August of this year, the one who said it was all about jealousy?"
- "If so, who gave Walt your name? I found it strange that the only Church of God member/leader he could find to contact had such a different story from everyone else."
- "How did it come about that all of a sudden you wrote both me and Pastor Dryden? In other words, since you stated that you were a former 3ABN employee, did you contact us or come to BSDA at the request or suggestion of anyone presently or formerly connected with 3ABN?"

closed with: "Rest assured that if you have any credible information that would vindicate Tommy, I will publicize it far and wide."

The most important question is probably #3 above. http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=82082&page=1&fpart=2#Post82108 to Tommy Shelton stated:

> QUOTE(Roger Clem)
>
> Then what makes me mad is when your brother calls to try to scare people into not saying anything or when the church receives a letter from Mike Riva telling us to stop saying anything. ... I will tell you up front, if I get a letter or phone call from your brother or an attorney that in any way appears threatening, I will immediately go to the sheriff's office and file charges against you.

It is in Danny's, Tommy's, and 3ABN's best interest that they and everyone presently or formerly connected with them not be involved in any intimidation whatsoever, whether we are talking about intimidating folks posting on this board, folks in Virginia, or folks in Illinois.

Besides that, we just must know the nature of this jealousy between Dryden and Tommy that would drive Dryden to persecute so horribly someone he had just met who lived 800 miles away.

And we need to hear that Walt got the name of the individual he talked with fromsomeone other than Danny or Tommy. Do you understand why?

We're talking about a too-late investigation this year of the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations by Walt Thompson. Was that investigation impartial and thorough? If he never contacted the other side, never contacted any of the alleged victims or their families as invited to do so in 2003 by Dryden, if he instead only contacted a single name provided to him by Danny or Tommy, a name of someone who was extremely biased in favor of Tommy and who did not present both sides of the case to him, then the investigation was anything but impartial. And I don't know what to call that but negligence.

So there is a lot hanging on these questions. So friend who wrote me, wherever you are, feel free to post your answers here and do all you can to vindicate Tommy, Danny, Walt, and the 3ABN board in regards to the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations.

I wish you success in this venture.

Posted by: Johann Dec 31 2006, 05:23 AM

Truth needs no threats.

On this last day of the old year I am determined not to let anyone threaten me to silence again. I must admit I did this in May, 2004, when Danny did not want to let anyone hear what I had experienced and how I knew he was telling fables so he could get rid of Linda. I let his evil eye threaten me and I disappeared, when he said he'd have me arrested.

So I fled and denied the truth I knew, just like Peter and the Apostles did when they were threatened with arrest. But the Lord gave them new opportunities to tell the truth. I thank the Lord for giving me new opportunities, and I will rather face imprisonment or other threats from those who fear the truth, than to fail again.

I love the Lord and His Church. It must no longer be infestaed by such falsehoods as I have experienced in 3ABN's dealings with Linda. I must never fail Him again when facing ridicule or threats. . . It is a matter of Life or Death in these closing events of the history of our civilization.

Johann

Posted by: Pickle Dec 31 2006, 06:33 AM

Our unnamed friend responded in an email to Gailon regarding some of our questions:

> QUOTE
>
> At this time, all I will say is the following: Neither Danny Shelton, nor anyone else associated with 3ABN, directed me to contact Mr. Pickle. I did so of my own choosing when the insinuation was made that . Yes, that made me mad. Wouldn't you be angry if ******?
>
> ...

> To date, I have never spoken with Dr. Walt Thompson regarding this issue, nor at any other time as best I can recall. I will say that I agree with what the unnamed individual from the Church of God reportedly told Dr. Thompson, but it was NOT me, and I can honestly say I have no idea who it was. That's one issue you can finally put to rest.

/ery good. But we are still left with a couple major questions:

- How was Dryden jealous of Tommy to the point of isntigating child molestation allegations against him as late as 1985, when he had just recently met him and lived 800 miles away until 1993?
- Can you explicitly state that you do not know of a single instance where Tommy engaged in inappropriate behavior of a sexual nature with a minor?

\nd to these we must add a few more:

- Who made the insinuation you referred to? Thus far I am unaware of any such insinuation, and I would not believe it if anyone made such an insinuation.
- You state that no one associated with 3ABN (except perhaps yourself, since you indicated you are a former employee) directed you to write. Can you also state that no one formerly or presently associated with 3ABN made or related that insinuation, or, directly or indirectly, pointed you to BSDA, or told you about what was on BSDA about this issue?

)f course, we all realize that the first two questions are the most criticial in vindicating Tommy.

Posted by: Aletheia Dec 31 2006, 07:32 AM

I don't mean this criticism in a negative way but constructively, Bob.

After reading the title, and then reviewing what was written here, I am very disapointed.

Honestly, interesting as your opinions and questions and concerns are, why can't you just quote the letter in it's entirety while withholding the name?

Why when you submit letters and documents, do you filter and quote, or copy and paste only what you think is important and not allow the rest of us to decide and discern that, or investigate for ourselves? Don't you think many heads are better then one?

I do.

I'm not saying expose the persons identity, which from what you did quote, appeared to be all that this individual asked for. I am saying respect that members here are not children or lacking intelligence, and first present all, and then post what you think.

Maybe, even asking, what do you all think? rather then telling us what to think.

This is not to just you, but all who do this, I think it a un-necessary waste of time and money to have to run out and plop down money for records, and spend time seeking them and trying to get them, and writing to individuals asking questions and for clarification and the facts when others have already done so, and the only reason I have to do so, is because those who did so before then refuse to disclose all.

Who is really being served by doing this? and in the interest of truth shouldn't we just lay out all the facts and evidence in a unbiased way regardless of our own opinions and conclusion about it?

Please, please think about this.

~ Aletheia

Posted by: Pickle Dec 31 2006, 09:35 AM

Hi Aletheia.

I'm just trying to be as kind as possible. There are parts of these communications that would identify the writer, or others.

And sometimes there are things in these communications that would simply distract people from the main issues. That distractions are possible has been amply demonstrated.

But in this case, it is absolutely certain that I cannot quote everything and still be kind to this individual by not revealing their identity at this point in time.

Posted by: gardener Dec 31 2006, 10:08 PM

It was just announced on 3ABN that Tommy is retireing from 3ABN.

Posted by: Pickle Dec 31 2006, 10:28 PM

> QUOTE(gardener @ Dec 31 2006, 10:08 PM) ☐
>
> It was just announced on 3ABN that Tommy is retireing from 3ABN.

Really?

Gailon claims:

> QUOTE(Gailon Joy)
>
> Tommy Shelton and the Ezra Church of God refused to submit to church discipline after Tommy admitted to the molestation of minors and conducting a homosexual lifestyle.
>
> In 1985 Tommy was relieved of his license and credentials. The Ezra Church of God subsequently separated from the General Assemblies and became a congregational church. Tommy left for approximately a year to assist in the development of a church school in Marion, Ky. Tommy returned to serve as pastor for an additional two years and during this period there were additional allegations of child molestation against Tommy Shelton by young men of the church school of Ezra Church of God. Tommy became ill and left the pastorate of Ezra COG.
>
> Tommy Shelton was given carpentry work. At some point Tommy was made the production manager at 3ABN. In late 1991 Melody Shelton Mundall and Derrell Mundall gave several pages of written statements to Illinois Conference President BJ Christiansen.
>
> The statement resulted in a board meeting and the board decided that Tommy Shelton could not work at 3ABN. Tommy was severed from the payroll and was given contract work promoting 3ABN with cable companies until he took a media consulting position and assistant pastor for media ministries with Dunn Loring Church of God, Dunn Loring, Va.

Thus, according to Gailon, the decision of the board to terminate Tommy was apparently circumvented by hiring Tommy on a contract basis.

What sort of financial arrangements have been made for his retirement? Is he still getting money from 3ABN through some sort of retirement package?

I think this is an important question that needs to be answered.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 2 2007, 11:31 PM

Mr. Unnamed Person, for whom this thread was dedicated,

Hate to say this, but I just got off the phone from a long, long call with yet another alleged victim. And this one hasn't come forward until now. He's from Illinois. How old is he? Well, we'll just have to wait until he can put his thoughts down on paper before the details come out.

Now Mr. Unnamed, how in the world are we going to be able to vindicate Tommy Shelton if new alleged victims keep popping up like this? How?

It's a tall order. How can we possibly blame it all on Dryden's jealousy? Who's going to believe that?

What we've had thus far are six alleged victims in Illinois, and three or four alleged instances of sexual misconduct in Virginia, one being a minor at the time. Now we have a seventh alleged victim in Illinois.

When will this horrid nightmare ever end?

By the way, I've noticed that you haven't responded yet. Hope you don't take too long.

Posted by: daylily Jan 3 2007, 06:33 AM

Mr Pickle,
Mr Joy said:
"In late 1991 Melody Shelton Mundall and Derrell Mundall gave several pages of written statements to Illinois Conference President BJ Christiansen."

Was this written testimony on Tommy's behalf or was it allegations against him? I've seen Melody and Tommy on several musical specials together since 1991 and they seem friendly toward each other. If she submitted statements against him, wouldn't there be some tension between them? Just curious.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 3 2007, 07:04 AM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 3 2007, 06:33 AM) ☐
>
> Was this written testimony on Tommy's behalf or was it allegations against him?

My understanding is that they were allegations against him.

Why would her feelings shift so drastically? I don't know. Maybe Gailon has some ideas on that one.

Posted by: sister Jan 3 2007, 11:05 AM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 3 2007, 07:33 AM) ☐
>
> Mr Pickle,
> Mr Joy said:
> "In late 1991 Melody Shelton Mundall and Derrell Mundall gave several pages of written statements to Illinois Conference President BJ Christiansen."
>
> Was this written testimony on Tommy's behalf or was it allegations against him? I've seen Melody and Tommy on several musical specials together since 1991 and they seem friendly toward each other. If she submitted statements against him, wouldn't there be some tension between them? Just curious.

It was allegations against him. Melody attended the school where Tommy was the principal. At the time he received it, BJ Christiansen had Melody initial each page of the written statements to attest to the fact that it all came from her. Tommy's behavior is well known within the Shelton family.

Posted by: Lee Jan 3 2007, 11:41 AM

Bob, you said out of the seven people supposedly molested by TS, one is under age over on Maritime. Did I understand you correctly?

If so, then six of the seven would be considered "consenting" adults. And perhaps even the one under age was consenting, who knows if any of this is true. I have my doubts not because you posted it or because Mr. Joy investigated this, but because none of the 7 prosecuted TS or took him to court. I would certainly suggest to them that they do so as soon as possible.

Posted by: Denny Jan 3 2007, 11:51 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 3 2007, 05:41 PM) ☐
>
> Bob, you said out of the seven people supposedly molested by TS, one is under age over on Maritime. Did I understand you correctly?
>
> If so, then six of the seven would be considered "consenting" adults. And perhaps even the one under age was consenting, who knows if any of this is true. I have my doubts not because you posted it or because Mr. Joy investigated this, but because none of the 7 prosecuted TS or took him to court. I would certainly suggest to them that they do so as soon as possible.

Its probably their word against his unless one has genetic evidence on ones person at the time one can prove nothing. Even then one feels so dirty, the first thing one does is wash the perpertrator off not thinking one has the evidence on thier person.

Posted by: daylily Jan 3 2007, 12:11 PM

If it was allegations against Tommy, that's scary. How Derrell must fear for his children. I would hope that Melody is keeping them safe, if thats even possible. Maybe she has warned the older ones. But I just don't understand how she could submit that testimony and not be ostracized by the rest of the Sheltons. And there's Brandy's children. I just feel like crying.

It just occurred to me...what action did the conference take on Melody's and Derrel's statement? How could a person read such a statement and take no action?

Posted by: Uncle Sam Jan 3 2007, 01:39 PM

If the family knows about it why is his wife still with him? Or is this a second wife? What about his daughter's at least one of them has children? Do they think he has changed?

Posted by: watchbird Jan 3 2007, 01:41 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 3 2007, 12:41 PM)
>
> Bob, you said out of the seven people supposedly molested by TS, one is under age over on Maritime. Did I understand you correctly?
>
> If so, then six of the seven would be considered "consenting" adults. And perhaps even the one under age was consenting, who knows if any of this is true. I have my doubts not because you posted it or because Mr. Joy investigated this, but because none of the 7 prosecuted TS or took him to court. I would certainly suggest to them that they do so as soon as possible.

I believe you will find information on this in the Unauthorized History threads. Use the "guided tour" which is posted at the top and scan down through the items to find Tommy mentioned, then check out the dialogue surrounding each item you find.

It is my understanding that all of the victims in Illinois were under age at the time of the molestation, thus it was their parents who were lax in not following through with prosecution. It is also my understanding that some of these (now grown to) men are very angry about that and are seriously considering prosecution even at this late date. You can doubtless find clues as to why they did not prosecute at the time in the relevant threads posted here.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 3 2007, 04:15 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 3 2007, 11:41 AM)
>
> Bob, you said out of the seven people supposedly molested by TS, one is under age over on Maritime. Did I understand you correctly?
>
> If so, then six of the seven would be considered "consenting" adults. And perhaps even the one under age was consenting, who knows if any of this is true. I have my doubts not because you posted it or because Mr. Joy investigated this, but because none of the 7 prosecuted TS or took him to court. I would certainly suggest to them that they do so as soon as possible.

Lee,

You are incorrect. Out of the three or four in Virginia, one was a minor at the time.

The 2003 letter from Illinois to Dr. Thompson referred to "at least six boys."

"Perhaps even the one under age was consenting"????????? What are you trying to say? That people who commit homosexual acts with consenting children and/or consenting adults, and who to all appearances never manifest repentance, can still hold one of the highest positions at 3ABN, and have the allegations about them covered up with lies and threats?

Are you sure you want to go there?

You have identified yourself as being a female. Would you be so kind as to inform us why so many rape victims out there don't press charges?

> QUOTE
>
> "Rape is one of the most underreported crimes. In 2002, only 39% of rapes and sexual assaults were reported to law enforcement officials (DOJ 2003)." (http://www.cdc.gov/node.do/id/0900f3ec80007538)

Then after you explain that, let's discuss why teenage boys might have trouble talking about this until long after the statute of limitations has run out.

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 3 2007, 06:55 PM

Who cares if Lee is male or female?

The 'alleged" victims won't press charges or make a public statement? and that's an excuse why details aren't furnished? well this seems like common sense to me: If that is the case, then how can anyone else make charges and public statements?

The Mundalls made statements, and neither is here to say what the facts and evidence they gave were? Nor brave enough to repeat them in public, nor are their statements even quoted?

Then why is what they "allegedly" said even mentioned here as if it's evidence??? How do we even know this is true?

The point is Lee has said what many may think. I know I do.
There are too many questions and unexplained events and people and dates and places here.

Bob talked to 'someone' today?

Who is Bob, and how do we know he tells the truth? or even if he does, did the person who he spoke to tells him the truth? does any evidence support that?

Civil Courts need evidence and facts, and proof to convict. Do Jesus' people require less? Not the ones I know and fellowship with!

People are innocent till proven guilty.

Is their evidence to investigate? YES

Is that a conviction? NO

Does that mean people are protecting a child molestor or don't feel for the victims of child molesters ? NO

Tommy may be guilty, but it hasn't been proven, and personally?

I find this rush to judgment, and the spirit displayed in the Tommy steps down thread very much like that of a lynch mob. And I think this whole invvestigation is a joke! It's NOT a search for truth, it s a search for evidence to convict. Christians here are taking the role of the Adversary, and acting as prosecuters. The Job of Proesecuter is to convict and find fault and prove guilt, the nature of that job is biased from the start. We are NEVER called to do that as Christians, we are called to be impartial, and without hypocricy, and to examine all, righteously.

I think the document posted where Tommy's ministerial liscence was suspended pending an investigation about this a good start.

But it is not the end.

What did the investigation find and conclude, and why?

Does anybody care?

Posted by: inga Jan 3 2007, 09:34 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 3 2007, 07:55 PM)
>
> And I think this whole invvestigation is a joke! It's NOT a search for truth, it s a search for evidence to convict. Christians here are taking the role of the Adversary, and acting as prosecuters. The Job of Proesecuter is to convict and find fault and prove guilt, the nature of that job is biased from the start. We are NEVER called to do that as Christians, we are called to be impartial, and without hypocricy, and to examine all, righteously.

Says who?

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 3 2007, 10:17 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 3 2007, 07:55 PM)
>
> Who cares if Lee is male or female?
>
> The 'alleged" victims won't press charges or make a public statement? and that's an excuse why details aren't furnished? well this seems like common sense to me: If that is the case, then how can anyone else make charges and public statements?
>
> The Mundalls made statements, and neither is here to say what the facts and evidence they gave were? Nor brave enough to repeat them in public, nor are their statements even quoted?
>
> Then why is what they "allegedly" said even mentioned here as if it's evidence??? How do we even know this is true?

> The point is Lee has said what many may think. I know I do.
> There are too many questions and unexplained events and people and dates and places here.
>
> Bob talked to 'someone' today?
>
> Who is Bob, and how do we know he tells the truth? or even if he does, did the person who he spoke to tells him the truth? does any evidence support that?
>
> Civil Courts need evidence and facts, and proof to convict. Do Jesus' people require less? Not the ones I know and fellowship with!
> People are innocent till proven guilty.
>
> Is their evidence to investigate? YES
>
> Is that a conviction? NO
>
> Does that mean people are protecting a child molestor or don't feel for the victims of child molesters ? NO
>
> Tommy may be guilty, but it hasn't been proven, and personally?
>
> I find this rush to judgment, and the spirit displayed in the Tommy steps down thread very much like that of a lynch mob. And I think this whole invvestigation is a joke! It's NOT a search for truth, it s a search for evidence to convict. Christians here are taking the role of the Adversary, and acting as prosecuters. The Job of Proesecuter is to convict and find fault and prove guilt, the nature of that job is biased from the start. We are NEVER called to do that as Christians, we are called to be impartial, and without hypocricy, and to examine all, righteously.
>
> I think the document posted where Tommy's ministerial liscence was suspended pending an investigation about this a good start.
>
> But it is not the end.
>
> What did the investigation find and conclude, and why?
>
> Does anybody care?

And when you put on your holier-than-thou to make accusations, you are emulating whom, exactly?

BTW... what you have here... is an ad hominem attack... you are not refuting anything that has been stated; you are simply attacking those stating those things... in the hope that if you attack their person long enough and loud enough, those who read what they post will be less inclined to find it credible.

Here's an idea... refute things stated as fact with evidence showing them to be errant... if you can... ather than asking for "proof" and then saying you cant accept it because you don't know the person stating it or questioning their motivation for stating it.

f you have facts... names and dates and times and places and events that incontrovertibly refute the hings stated as fact... then state them... otherwise.. admit you're just talking out the side of your neck and all of what you have to say is nothing more than the gospel according to cindy and those who read it will give it the consideration it deserves as such... whatever they may deem that to be.

n His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sister Jan 3 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 3 2007, 07:55 PM)
>
> Who cares if Lee is male or female?
>
> The 'alleged" victims won't press charges or make a public statement? and that's an excuse why details aren't furnished? well this seems like common sense to me: If that is the case, then how can anyone else make charges and public statements?
>
> The Mundalls made statements, and neither is here to say what the facts and evidence they gave were? Nor brave enough to repeat them in public, nor are their statements even quoted?
> Then why is what they "allegedly" said even mentioned here as if it's evidence??? How do we even know this is true?
>
> The point is Lee has said what many may think. I know I do.
> There are too many questions and unexplained events and people and dates and places here.
>
> Bob talked to 'someone' today?
>
> Who is Bob, and how do we know he tells the truth? or even if he does, did the person who he spoke to tells him the truth? does any evidence support that?
>
> Civil Courts need evidence and facts, and proof to convict. Do Jesus' people require less? Not the ones I know and fellowship with!
> People are innocent till proven guilty.
>
> Is their evidence to investigate? YES
>
> Is that a conviction? NO
>
> Does that mean people are protecting a child molestor or don't feel for the victims of child molesters ? NO
>
> Tommy may be guilty, but it hasn't been proven, and personally?
>
> I find this rush to judgment, and the spirit displayed in the Tommy steps down thread very much like that of a lynch mob. And I think this whole invvestigation is a joke! It's NOT a search for truth, it s a search for evidence to convict. Christians here are taking the role of the Adversary, and acting as prosecuters. The Job of Proesecuter is to convict and find fault and prove guilt, the nature of that job is biased from the start. We are NEVER called to do that as Christians, we are called to be impartial, and without hypocricy, and to examine all, righteously.
>
> I think the document posted where Tommy's ministerial liscence was suspended pending an investigation about this a good start.
>
> But it is not the end.
>
> What did the investigation find and conclude, and why?
>
> Does anybody care?

I have bolded your statement above in red and will answer it. Personally I know that the Mundalls wrote out a statement and signed it and it was given to the Illinois Conference President at the time. How do I know this is true? Directly from the mouth of the Mundall source. Are allegations of child molestation against Tommy Shelton included in this document, YES. How do I know, from the same Mundall source. When will the document be released? At the appropriate time and place.

Aletheia, verbally bullying witnesses by accusing them of not being brave enough to make all their statements publicly is really intolerable. Since the Illinois Conference President was also a sitting memeber of the 3ABN board, it appears that the Mundalls gave their evidence to an official whom they believed would both have influence and be above reproach since he was not controlled financially by 3ABN. Also, keep in mind that Tommy Shelton was not then, nor has he been since, a member of the SDA church. Thus SDA church has no authority over Tommy. But since Danny Shelton publically claims not to be independent, but rather a supporting ministry of the SDA church, it should have influence with him in regard to these matters.

Sister

Posted by: Johann Jan 3 2007, 10:54 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 4 2007, 06:22 AM)
>
> I have bolded your statement above in red and will answer it. Personally I know that the Mundalls wrote out a statement and signed it and it was given to the Illinois Conference President at the time. How do I know this is true? Directly from the mouth of the Mundall source. Are allegations of child molestation against Tommy Shelton included in this document, YES. How do I know, from the same Mundall source. When will the document be released? At the appropriate time and place.
>
> \---
> Sister

I have my information from the same source and can verify that what 'sister' states is corrrect.

Posted by: roxe Jan 3 2007, 11:39 PM

sister and Johann,

God bless you both!

you are so respectful, patient, tactful and courteous...

"God, make me like that "

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 3 2007, 11:51 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 3 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> And when you put on your holier-than-thou to make accusations, you are emulating whom, > exactly?

>
> BTW... what you have here... is an ad hominem attack... you are not refuting anything that has been stated; you are simply attacking those stating those things... in the hope that if you attack their person long enough and loud enough, those who read what they post will be less inclined to find it credible.
>
> Here's an idea... refute things stated as fact with evidence showing them to be errant... if you can... rather than asking for "proof" and then saying you cant accept it because you don't know the person stating it or questioning their motivation for stating it.
>
> If you have facts... names and dates and times and places and events that incontrovertibly refute the things stated as fact... then state them... otherwise.. admit you're just talking out the side of your neck and all of what you have to say is nothing more than the gospel according to cindy and those who read it will give it the consideration it deserves as such... whatever they may deem that to be.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J, while I agree with your assessment, IMO ad hominem attacks are so last year. I believe we have a brand new category of attacks emerging and I think it should be called The Blender Defense. To qualify for this new category, an adversarial poster grabs many bits and pieces of other members statements, adds one part illogical interpretation, one part ludicrous assumptions, a large helping of heir own self-righteous rags then purees into an incomprehensible mess.

Does anybody care?" The answer is yes, many of us do.

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 4 2007, 04:58 AM

You all seem to have missed my point entirely.

I was not attacking any one person. I was attacking the WAY this is being done.

Whether the Mundalls made a statement is not the argument. Tommy's guilt or innocense is.

Your testimony that the Mundalls did make a statement would only be included in a court of law, if their statement had been submitted and testimony was needed to establish the fact that yes this was made by them.

But if Tommy was in a trial, and you came in saying well i know he's guilty because the Mundalls made a statement and gave it to someone. No one would convict Tommy based on that,'

If another came in and said " I know Tommy is guilty because someone told me there were six victims and I talked to one. He won't make a statement because he's afraid or embarassed to make charges or speak publically, and I can't tell you any details but I am here to say I know that this is true" again that isn't evidence to convict anyone.

If another comes in and says " I know Tommy is guilty because a Private Investigator has checked this out and talked to everyone and documented this, I don't know what he has, but he told me he has it and I believe him, and yet none of the evidence or statements are submitted" It proves NOTHING,

If a leter from a alleged victim is submitted which includes no details of the crime, and no times dates or places, well no matter how angry that person may be at Tommy. It doesn't provee anything regarding the charges leveled against Tommy except that he's angry.

Again if a document is submitted that says an investigation was being made in the past regarding Tommy's crimes or lack therof. The only thing this shows is that an investigation was done. It does not indicate guilt.

Yet many people have done all but hang Tommy based on things like the above, I do not think this is right or godly, and I am entitled to express my views about this.

As far as the suggestion that I refute the facts if I want to argue about this, that's ridiculous, there are no facts to refute. That's my point. If facts were here. Ihen I and others could accept them.

Now if you all can't understand that, then Oh well. I am sure that there are those who will.

Toodles--

Posted by: watchbird Jan 4 2007, 05:58 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 4 2007, 05:58 AM)
>
> You all seem to have missed my point entirely.
>
> I was not attacking any one person. I was attacking the WAY this is being done.

Not at all... we have your "point" loud and clear. And we are REJECTING your point!

You are the one who have missed the point of where you are and what we are doing and what your role is to be. First of all what this is NOT.

This is NOT a court of law. This is a bulletin board. We are not judge, we are not jury, and we are not a legal body to which anyone is submitting legal evidence. And WE includes you! YOU are not a judge nor a jury nor an independent consulting lawyer whose role is to pass judgment on those who bring information to share nor who decides the legality of who is allowed to speak and who must remain quiet and what is to be considered evidence.

What we ARE is a group of people who have a very strong committment to truth and who have information to share on a topic that is very complex and very painful and on which truth has been withheld and buried under mounds of lies, distortions, half-truths, and vicious innuendos in other venues... including world wide Television.

We also respect the laws of the land and we do not try to usurp their jurisdiction. What that means is that we not only are not pretending to be a legal tribunal when we are not.... but it also means that we are not going to bring evidence here which rightly belongs only in a court of law.... which is useful only in a court of law.... and which, if we brought it here could significantly impact its usefulness in a court of law.

> QUOTE
>
> Whether the Mundalls made a statement is not the argument. Tommy's guilt or innocense is.
>
> Your testimony that the Mundalls did make a statement would only be included in a court of law, if their statement had been submitted and testimony was needed to establish the fact that yes this was made by them.

I repeat. This is not a court of law.... and it is inappropriate for a statement which should go before a court of law be brought to this venue. I repeat. We are sharing information here. And it is enough for us if a person whom we trust witnesses to their experience. When several persons whom we trust confirm that witness, we accept that as sufficient and move on. Those who do not trust their witness can either not accept it or refute it.... but just pointing the finger and saying, "That is not anything I consider to be evidence." is doing nothing but convicting YOU as being an imposter and of lying about your real reason for being here. For if you are personally seeking truth, then you would sift the evidence that is brought ... and if you don't agree with it, then you would go to the effort of finding evidence for the other side and presenting that in a convincing manner. If you are too lazy to do your own research then just shut up and quit flaunting your own judgemental attitude by the way you attack the "WAY" we are bringing our various bits of information and sharing them in a public place.

> QUOTE
>
> But if Tommy was in a trial, and you came in saying well i know he's guilty because the Mundalls made a statement and gave it to someone. No one would convict Tommy based on that,'
>
> If another came in and said " I know Tommy is guilty because someone told me there were six victims and I talked to one. He won't make a statement because he's afraid or embarassed to make charges or speak publically, and I can't tell you any details but I am here to say I know that this is true" again that isn't evidence to convict anyone.
>
> If another comes in and says " I know Tommy is guilty because a Private Investigator has checked this out and talked to everyone and documented this, I don't know what he has, but he told me he has it and I believe him, and yet none of the evidence or statements are submitted" It proves NOTHING,
>
> If a leter from a alleged victim is submitted which includes no details of the crime, and no times dates or places, well no matter how angry that person may be at Tommy. It doesn't provee anything regarding the charges leveled against Tommy except that he's angry.
>
> Again if a document is submitted that says an investigation was being made in the past regarding Tommy's crimes or lack therof. The only thing this shows is that an investigation was done. It does not indicate guilt.

If.... If.... If.... If.... and if a current judge and jury convicted Tommy, that would also be nothing more than someone's opinion to you and would not "prove" a thing. So hang it up.... the facts are that you are not the judge of all the earth... what you think means nothing at all to us.... what others experience obviously means nothing to you.... and were you to suddenly have the power to turn back time and personally witness the events, you would also find some way to discount that experience as well. The facts are that multiple victims ARE telling their stories.... encouraged to come out of hiding no doubt by the fact that we are sharing here so they have a chance to learn that they are not alone in their misery. The facts are that a church DID investigate and were convinced of the truth of the allegations so that they acted to remove the offender from his position and to warn others of what he had done.

> QUOTE
>
> Yet many people have done all but hang Tommy based on things like the above, I do not think this is right or godly, and I am entitled to express my views about this.

You have expressed them.... multiple times. And frankly, you have come across so unkind, so unthoughtful of others, and SO ungodly, that I for one would rather be on your negative list than on your positive one.

> QUOTE
>
> Now if you all can't understand that, then Oh well. I am sure that there are those who will.
>
> Toodles--

Ditto to your last sentence. It is just too bad that those coming here for information have to wade through garbage and barbed wire barricades such as those you have been throwing out on the information path!

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 4 2007, 06:21 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 4 2007, 06:58 AM)
>
> Not at all... we have your "point" loud and clear. And we are REJECTING your point!
>
> You are the one who have missed the point of where you are and what we are doing and what your role is to be. First of all what this is NOT.
>
> This is NOT a court of law. This is a bulletin board. We are not judge, we are not jury, and we are not a legal body to which anyone is submitting legal evidence. And WE includes you! YOU are not a judge nor a jury nor an independent consulting lawyer whose role is to pass judgment on those who bring information to share nor who decides the legality of who is allowed to speak and who must remain quiet and what is to be considered evidence.
>
> What we ARE is a group of people who have a very strong committment to truth and who have information to share on a topic that is very complex and very painful and on which truth has been withheld and buried under mounds of lies, distortions, half-truths, and vicious innuendos in other venues... including world wide Television.
>
> We also respect the laws of the land and we do not try to usurp their jurisdiction. What that means is that we not only are not pretending to be a legal tribunal when we are not.... but it also means that we are not going to bring evidence here which rightly belongs only in a court of law.... which is useful only in a court of law.... and which, if we brought it here could significantly impact its usefulness in a court of law.
> I repeat. This is not a court of law.... and it is inappropriate for a statement which should go before a court of law be brought to this venue. I repeat. We are sharing information here. And it is enough for us if a person whom we trust witnesses to their experience. When several persons whom we trust confirm that witness, we accept that as sufficient and move on. Those who do not trust their witness can either not accept it or refute it.... but just pointing the finger and saying, "That is not anything I consider to be evidence." is doing nothing but convicting YOU as being an imposter and of lying about your real reason for being here. For if you are personally seeking truth, then you would sift the evidence that is brought ... and if you don't agree with it, then you would go to the effort of finding evidence for the other side and presenting that in a convincing manner. If you are too lazy to do your own research then just shut up and quit flaunting your own judgemental attitude by the way you attack the "WAY" we are bringing our various bits of information and sharing them in a public place.
> If.... If.... If.... If.... and if a current judge and jury convicted Tommy, that would also be nothing more than someone's opinion to you and would not "prove" a thing. So hang it up.... the facts are that you are not the judge of all the earth... what you think means nothing at all to us.... what others experience obviously means nothing to you.... and were you to suddenly have the power to turn back time and personally witness the events, you would also find some way to discount that experience as well. The facts are that multiple victims ARE telling their stories.... encouraged to come out of hiding no doubt by the fact that we are sharing here so they have a chance to learn that they are not alone in their misery. The facts are that a church DID investigate and were convinced of the truth of the allegations so that they acted to remove the offender from his position and to warn others of what he had done.
> You have expressed them.... multiple times. And frankly, you have come across so unkind, so > unthoughtful of others, and SO ungodly, that I for one would rather be on your negative list than on your positive one.

> Ditto to your last sentence. It is just too bad that those coming here for information have to wade through garbage and barbed wire barricades such as those you have been throwing out on the information path!

F what you claim is true, then why isn't Tommy referred to as an "alleged child molestor" and why sn't he spoken of and regarded as innocent till proven guilty?

he fact is he has been found guilty and condemned on this board, and is considered that unless roven innocent, and this is revealed in the very way he is talked about, and what is said about him, nd what he is called.

ou can pretend no judgments have been made, but those who have done so, stand condemned by heir own words.

o-- Sorry, I don't believe you.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 4 2007, 07:34 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 4 2007, 07:21 AM)
>
> So-- Sorry, I don't believe you.

ou're still missing the point.

et me put it into terms you should understand.

. The veracity of facts, events, names, dates and places is not contingent upon whether you choose o believe or disbelieve.

. Your choosing to not believe, while your prerogative, is neither relevant nor significant to the ngoing discussion

. If we were playing logical fallacy bingo based on the arguments you have presented, someone vould be about ready to call "BINGO"... yes, as a matter of fact, there have been numerous logical allacies in the things you've uttered...from argumentum ad hominem to argumentum ad ignorantiam o non sequitur to post hoc ergo propter hoc to appeals to pity, emotion, fear, ridicule and spite to vishful thinking to circumstantial ad hominem to hasty generalizations to slippery slope arguments to traw men and more...and seeing you have provided no evidence of any kind that refutes anything hat has been said then how exactly does your utterance merit any serious consideration?

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Observer Jan 4 2007, 07:35 AM

Aletheia you said: "Civil Courts need evidence and facts, and proof to convict. Do Jesus' people require less? Not the ones I know and fellowship with!"

It may be that you are accurate in what you say--that you do not fellowship with such people. If that is true, you must have a very limited exposure to Seventh-day Adventists.

The fact is that denominational policy (SDA) requires that action be taken to protect children from prople accused, but who have never had either a civil or a criminal trial. One example of this is the policy of the Walla Walla College chruch, and the Upper Columbia Conference. That policy, in my mind, may very well serve as a model of what should be.

As you probably know, the General Conference periodicly sponsors a major Youth Rally. At that time they need a lot of volunteers to make it happen. They refuse to allow people to be involved with those who have been accused, even if they have never had either a civil or a criminal trial.

Our society (USA) in general, requires that we protect children from the accused, even when they have never gone to trial.

As a passing thought: Your comments in regard to victims pressing charges against TS demonstrate a lack of knowledge of the issues. You would do well to become more sensitive to issues that victims of sexual assult face in going to either the civil or criminal system. Yes, I have worked with some. Do you even understand why some women refuse to press charges against someone who raped them? Do you understand the effect of "shame" on a victim of sexual assult? NOTE: I am not suggesting that such have anything to be ashamed of.

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 4 2007, 07:39 AM

I am very saddened by the conduct that is displayed here many times. I would like to share something I read this morning in my devotionals and would ask all to contemplate this counsel...

"Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. Let not pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.

I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.

Have a blessed day,

ToB1nJC

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 4 2007, 07:50 AM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 08:39 AM)
>
> I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.

Is that anything like "...God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are..."

Rather than infer, I figured I'd ask...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 4 2007, 07:51 AM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 08:39 AM)
>
> I am very saddened by the conduct that is displayed here many times. I would like to share something I read this morning in my devotionals and would ask all to contemplate this counsel...
>
> "Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. Let not pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.
>
> I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.
>
> Have a blessed day,
>
> ToB1nJC

Thank you for posting that. It is indeed a wakeup call and something i believe we, including myself, need to take to heart daily.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 4 2007, 08:29 AM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 06:39 AM)

> I am very saddened by the conduct that is displayed here many times. I would like to share something I read this morning in my devotionals and would ask all to contemplate this counsel...
>
> "Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. Let not pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.
>
> I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.
>
> Have a blessed day,
>
> ToB1nJC

Welcome to BSDA ToB1nJC!

Like you, I also hope and pray that I will never behave in an un-Christlike manner.

I know that some who are "newbies" to this forum have spent much time reading what has been posted here before they register and begin to post. Is this the case with you? I hope so. There truly is a lot of information to sift through and weigh here before rushing to any judgements.

As I hope you have figured out, BlackSDA.com is a collection of forums where everyone is free to express their opinions. The 3abn forum has been set aside by the site owner as an area for those interested to participate in discussions on things related to 3abn. Sometimes the discussions get lively and sometimes they even get inappropriate. When necessary, Calvin or his appointed administrators will jump in and remind those erring of the rules of conduct for this site.

By your post it is hard to tell what type of conduct has saddened you. Perhaps you could clarify that for us all.

If you have been reading in depth the information here, you will know that many serious subjects have been discussed.

The Ellen White quote you posted is indeed wonderful counsel on how we should interact with our fellow believers!

I have bolded the last part because this is exactly the problem at 3abn that many are trying to address here on this very forum!

Posted by: Johann Jan 4 2007, 09:44 AM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 03:39 PM) ☐
>
> ----

> Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."[/i]--RH Mar. 12, 1895.
>
> I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.
>
> Have a blessed day,
>
> ToB1nJC

May God bless you for posting this. My wife and I saw with our own eyes how un-Christlike Linda Shelton was being treated as she was accused of what she had not done, while the guilty, who should be severely rebuked, were sustained.

So thank you for showing us that God is leading us on the right track. I pray we may be Christ-like in doing what must be done, that His name may be glorified!

ohann

Posted by: inga Jan 4 2007, 01:37 PM

☒ welc Welcome to the forum, ToB1nJC

I take it that you see your identity as "To Be One in Jesus Christ." And that is exactly what we need to strive for to help answer the prayer of Jesus.

Of course, you realize that Satan has a counterfeit to every good thing that God has in mind for us. However, his methods are very different. He can produce an apparent "oneness" in many ways -- by sweeping things under the rug, by agreeing to suppress differences in the interest of a common goal that is not the glory of God, etc.

By contrast, the methods of Christ are to be as transparent as sunlight in our own lives and to cover with love the mistakes and stumblings of our fellow believers. At the same time, we are admonished to deal faithfully with unrepentant sinners in our midst -- to draw them out of the fire with fear and trembling. If you're pulled out of harm's way by your hair, that may hurt. If you're roughly thrown to the ground in order not to be run over by a train, it's likely to hurt, etc.

People on this board have seen sin glorified in the name of the Lord. We have seen God misrepresented. And we believe it is our duty to do what we can to ensure that this misrepresentation of God stops. Sharing information is one step in this process.

Thank you for this beautiful quote:

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 08:39 AM)
>
> I am very saddened by the conduct that is displayed here many times. I would like to share something I read this morning in my devotionals and would ask all to contemplate this counsel...
>
> "Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. Let not > pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.

> ToB1nJC

ote that the same author had something to say about sympathizing with those who are in the wrong:

> QUOTE(Ellen White @ Testimonies to the Church, Vol I, p. 213)
>
> I saw that many souls have been destroyed by their brethren unwisely sympathizing with them, when their only hope was to be left to see and realize the full extent of their wrongs. But as they eagerly accept the sympathy of unwise brethren, they receive the idea that they are abused; and if they attempt to retrace their steps, they make halfhearted work. They divide the matter to suit their natural feelings, lay blame upon the reprover, and so patch up the matter. It is not probed to the bottom, and is not healed, and they again fall into the same wrong, because they were not left to feel the extent of their wrong, and humble themselves before God, and let Him build them up. False sympathizers have worked in direct opposition to the mind of Christ and ministering angels.

t is not kind to sympathize with those who are heading on the way to destruction unless they are hit ver the head and dragged out of harm's way -- if they don't struggle too much.

agree 100% with what "Peacefully Bewildered" and Johann posted.

lessings,
nge Anderson

Posted by: Fran Jan 4 2007, 04:05 PM

Just my thoughts;

I believe Aletheia is an attorney. I believe she/he is pointing out a valid fact in one sense.

Tommy "Retiring" has not solved a serious and obvious problem. Until Tommy is "Proven" guilty, he is free to continue in his past behavior.

If we are to do our duty as good citizens, we will find someone who will file charges against Tommy Shelton. Otherwise we have done nothing to stop or warn future victims. Therefore, Tommy's departure from 3ABN with the promise of a return is not the complete effect that is needed.

We are missing that last step in a court room or a confession so that he will be added to the sex offenders list and have to report where he is living.

As much as I dislike Aletheia's approach, I have to honestly say that she has a point. We have more work to do.

Also, have we forgotten the alligations against Danny for sexual misconduct? We have the witness and her statement. Does he need to be on the list too?

"3ABN Live" being removed from the line up in programming does not solve the problem either.

However, I am sure the investigators have addressed this problem long before Aletheia came on the scene. Therefore, I will place my trust in the investigators to do what is right and best for all parties.

In the mean time ... ☒ GP.g ☒ PTL.gif

Posted by: Pickle Jan 4 2007, 04:48 PM

The seventh victim that has just come forward gave me the name of Brad Dunning, a gentleman who is now a United Pentecostal preacher. I contacted him and he has given the following written account of his own experience. It appears that Pastor Dunning may have been the first to make complaints of sexual misconduct on the part of Tommy Shelton at the Ezra Church of God, complaints that eventually led to the revoking of Tommy's ordination in 1985.

http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=82082&page=1&fpart=3#Post83274 were given for that 1985 action, one of which was:

> QUOTE(Illinois Ministerial Credentials Committee)
>
> 1. Improper counseling procedures followed by you and admitted by you.

I asked the seventh victim what that might have been. He said that what he had heard at the time was that there was a boy at the school trying to get other boys involved in homosexual activity, and that Tommy had tried to bring it out into the open by propositioning the boy.

I asked the seventh victim which he had heard of first, the boy's problem or Tommy's "counseling" procedure. He said he heard of them at the same time. I suggested that it is possible this was a way for Tommy to explain away what he had really done.

Of course, it seemed important to follow up on this and see if maybe Tommy was almost in the clear after all. This is why I contacted the boy turned preacher, Pastor Brad Dunning. I told Dunning about how it has been said that Tommy was trying to bring his deviant behavior out into the open. He said that that was the first time he had ever heard of that.

I have mixed feelings posting this one, since it does describe exactly what Tommy said to young teenager Brad, and it doesn't make for pleasant reading. But what do you do?

It is hard to imagine that this could have been the first time something like this happened. People don't just wake up one day and say things like this out of the blue, do they?

Pastor Dunning would love to see Tommy behind bars. It burns him up to see him on the air. He said that because of all he knows about what goes on at Three Angels Broadcasting Network, that around his home they call it Three Devils Broadcasting. I assured him that Seventh-day Adventists don't tolerate this kind of thing, and he realizes that every group, including his, has its renegades.

http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=82117&page=1&fpart=3#Post82139:

> QUOTE(Walt Thompson)

> The allegations against Tommy were made about 30 years ago. They were reported to the proper authorities. No physical actions ever occured. Tommy appologized to the kids and offered recompence. The DA said there was no case. No restrictions were ever imposed.

I asked pastor Dunning if Tommy had ever apologized. He said, "No."

Mr. Unnamed Person, your task of attributing all these allegations to just Pastor Dryden's jealousy of Tommy Shelton is becoming tougher by the day. Better not wait too long to post, or your task will be horrendous.

I trust that whatever the seventh victim writes will be much more pleasant reading.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 4 2007, 04:58 PM

---------Orignal Message----------

Subject: RE: Here's my email, Pastor Dunning.
Date: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:09:11 -0600
From: Brad Dunning

Dear Bob,

Here is my follow up email from our telephone conversation yesterday January 3rd, 2007.

The purpose of this communication is to give you a personal account of how I was assaulted by Tommy Shelton, then Pastor of the Ezra Church of God.

I believe it was in the 1982-83 school year. I was a student in the Ezra Church of God Christian School. I was an honor student and a member of the basketball team.

On the day of my encounter with Tommy Shelton, here is what took place.

I was in the gym playing basketball one afternoon by myself. I had extra free time as I was an "E" privilege student.

Ricky Shelton came to the gym and told me that his dad wanted to see me in his office. So I left the gym and went to the Pastors office. Tommy invited me in and closed the door. He sat behind his desk, I sat on the couch.

He began to tell me that he was really embarrassed to talk about this, but he needed my help. He said that he had a problem with his testicles. It was a medical condition that was causing them to bleed. I asked him if he had been to the doctor. He replied that he was too embarrassed to be seen by the nurses and that he would not go.

He said that he had prayed about it, and God showed him how that he could be healed. He told me that God showed him that if he could apply the sperm of another man, that the proteins would heal his testicles. He then asked me if I would be willing to help him by applying my sperm to his testicles.

Being in shock, I told him that I had to think about it and left his office. I went home that afternoon and told my mother all that had gone on.

I did not return to school. My Mother, my grandfather and I, went back to the school and confronted Tommy. He denied everything and told my Grandfather that no one would believe us and he would win.

We then went to the West Frankfort Police department and filed a formal complaint. To my knowledge, no charges were brought against Tommy. Our family suspected that Tommy was being protected by State Police officers who were members of his congregation.

My mother and I moved to Houston, TX shortly after that.

A few years later, we were told that Tommy had been caught with other boys. Some who were personal friends of mine while I was at Ezra.

One of the boys later apologized to me for not speaking up when I did.

My mother received an official written apology from the Church of God. I had not had any communication with Tommy Shelton since that event took place.

If I can be of any further assistance, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Because of Him,

Brad Dunning
http://www.facs4u.com

Upon further review, Admin Staff has decided to restore this post in it's entirety********

[And Pickle made Dunning's URL work again. (Hope that's not against the rules.)]

Posted by: Pickle Jan 4 2007, 05:10 PM

I guess what disturbs many is the apparently repeated offenses over so many years, with no apparent repentance or heartfelt apologies, and the cover ups that Danny has himself apparently been involved in in this matter.

May Tommy fall on the Rock and be broken. May he come clean before men and in the eyes of God. May he be washed in the blood of the Lamb, that blood that can cleanse every spot, and straighten every wrinkle.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 4 2007, 07:06 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 4 2007, 03:58 PM) ☐
>
> ---------Orignal Message----------
>
> Subject: RE: Here's my email, Pastor Dunning.
> Date: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:09:11 -0600
> From: Brad Dunning
>
> Dear Bob,
>
> Here is my follow up email from our telephone conversation yesterday January 3rd, 2007.
>
> The purpose of this communication is to give you a personal account of how I was assaulted by > Tommy Shelton, then Pastor of the Ezra Church of God.

>
> I believe it was in the 1982-83 school year. I was a student in the Ezra Church of God Christian School. I was an honor student and a member of the basketball team.
>
> On the day of my encounter with Tommy Shelton, here is what took place.
>
> I was in the gym playing basketball one afternoon by myself. I had extra free time as I was an "E" privilege student.
>
> Ricky Shelton came to the gym and told me that his dad wanted to see me in his office. So I left the gym and went to the Pastors office. Tommy invited me in and closed the door. He sat behind his desk, I sat on the couch.
>
> He began to tell me that he was really embarrassed to talk about this, but he needed my help. He said that he had a problem with his testicles. It was a medical condition that was causing them to bleed. I asked him if he had been to the doctor. He replied that he was too embarrassed to be seen by the nurses and that he would not go.
>
> He said that he had prayed about it, and God showed him how that he could be healed. He told me that God showed him that if he could apply the sperm of another man, that the proteins would heal his testicles. He then asked me if I would be willing to help him by applying my sperm to his testicles.
>
> Being in shock, I told him that I had to think about it and left his office. I went home that afternoon and told my mother all that had gone on.
>
> I did not return to school. My Mother, my grandfather and I, went back to the school and confronted Tommy. He denied everything and told my Grandfather that no one would believe us and he would win.
>
> We then went to the West Frankfort Police department and filed a formal complaint. To my knowledge, no charges were brought against Tommy. Our family suspected that Tommy was being protected by State Police officers who were members of his congregation.
>
> My mother and I moved to Houston, TX shortly after that.
>
> A few years later, we were told that Tommy had been caught with other boys. Some who were personal friends of mine while I was at Ezra.
>
> One of the boys later apologized to me for not speaking up when I did.
>
> My mother received an official written apology from the Church of God. I had not had any communication with Tommy Shelton since that event took place.
>
> If I can be of any further assistance, please don't hesitate to contact me.
>
> Because of Him,
>
> Brad Dunning
> www.facs4u.com
> Upon further review, Admin Staff has decided to restore this post in it's entirety********

Danny, Tommy and all who have knowledge of this allegation, I would respectfully request that you weigh in on this testimony. If it is false, refute it, if it is true please acknowledge it. The truth shall set you free. It can also be the beginning of healing.

Posted by: Clay Jan 5 2007, 09:22 AM

One sick puppy.... and that's all I'm sayin...

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 5 2007, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 4 2007, 08:50 AM)
>
> Is that anything like "...God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are..."
>
> Rather than infer, I figured I'd ask...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Ummm... hmmm... there is no veiled meaning, just read it as it is stated... just as PeacefullyBewildered has.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 5 2007, 09:47 AM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 4 2007, 09:39 AM)
>
> I am very saddened by the conduct that is displayed here many times. I would like to share something I read this morning in my devotionals and would ask all to contemplate this counsel...
>
> "Never question the motives of your brethren; for as you judge them, God has declared you will be judged. Open your hearts to kindliness, to the cheering rays of the Sun of Righteousness. Encourage kindly thoughts and holy affections. Cultivate the habit of speaking well of your brethren. *Let not pride or selfish righteousness prevent you from making a frank and full confession of your wrong-doings. If you do not love those for whom Christ has died, you have no genuine love for Christ, and your worship will be as a tainted offering before God. If you cherish unworthy thoughts, misjudging your brethren and surmising evil of them, God will not hear your self-sufficient, self-exalted prayers. When you go to those who you [i]*think are doing wrong, you must have the spirit of meekness, of kindness, and be full of mercy and good fruits. Do not show partiality to one or more, and neglect other of your brethren because they are not congenial to you. Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."[/i]--RH Mar. 12, 1895.
>
> I hope and pray that I will never behave un-Christlike in my thoughts, words, and actions.
>
> Have a blessed day,
>
> ToB1nJC

I have issues w/ the above post.

Why? Because someone could take this to "question no one" - thus you have stuff like molestation happening. I'm questioning when it comes to children. I'm questioning when it comes to a crime. I'm questioning when it comes to safety. I'm questioning....and there ain't a thang wrong with it....

NOW.....

I asked it before and someone answered it. After reading that letter:

"How many of you proponents/opponents of Tommy Shelton would allow him to babysit your children/grandchildren/nieces?"

Posted by: Pickle Jan 5 2007, 10:59 AM

Where oh where is Mr. Unnamed Person when you need him?

I get the feeling we are going to hear from him soon, and that he's going to try to tell us something earth shattering.

All due to jealousy ... we long to see the facts.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 5 2007, 09:22 AM)
>
> One sick puppy.... and that's all I'm sayin...

Where have I heard that phrase before? Sounds familiar, Clay.

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 5 2007, 11:06 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 4 2007, 09:29 AM)
>
> Welcome to BSDA ToB1nJC!

Thank you!

> QUOTE
> Like you, I also hope and pray that I will never behave in an un-Christlike manner.

To be Christlike is to be one in Jesus Christ!

> QUOTE
> I know that some who are "newbies" to this forum have spent much time reading what has been posted here before they register and begin to post. Is this the case with you?

My case? Not really. I visit when I have some free time, which varies.

> QUOTE
>
> I hope so. There truly is a lot of information to sift through and weigh here before rushing to any judgements.

The Lord is helping me daily to be more patient and gentle. Jesus is also helping me to hone my listening skills and my discernment. Sometimes I do rush to judgment but I am learning to stand back and listen again before coming to a conclusion.

> QUOTE
>
> By your post it is hard to tell what type of conduct has saddened you. Perhaps you could clarify that for us all.

I thought the EGW quote expressed it well. It saddens me that I have seen the same type of behavior on this board. That is my perception and my perception could be wrong... as with anyone.

> QUOTE
>
> If you have been reading in depth the information here, you will know that many serious subjects have been discussed.

Yes, there are many serious subjects discussed.

> QUOTE
>
> The Ellen White quote you posted is indeed wonderful counsel on how we should interact with our fellow believers.

Amen! Now if I can live up to this counsel!

Posted by: simplysaved Jan 5 2007, 11:16 AM

If this letter is genuine and sincere, then it sounds like an alleged case of mental illness on the part of Tommy Shelton....

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 4 2007, 05:58 PM)
>
> ---------Orignal Message----------
>
> Subject: RE: Here's my email, Pastor Dunning.
> Date: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:09:11 -0600
> From: Brad Dunning
>
> Dear Bob,
>
> Here is my follow up email from our telephone conversation yesterday January 3rd, 2007.

The purpose of this communication is to give you a personal account of how I was assaulted by Tommy Shelton, then Pastor of the Ezra Church of God.

I believe it was in the 1982-83 school year. I was a student in the Ezra Church of God Christian School. I was an honor student and a member of the basketball team.

On the day of my encounter with Tommy Shelton, here is what took place.

I was in the gym playing basketball one afternoon by myself. I had extra free time as I was an "E" privilege student.

Ricky Shelton came to the gym and told me that his dad wanted to see me in his office. So I left the gym and went to the Pastors office. Tommy invited me in and closed the door. He sat behind his desk, I sat on the couch.

He began to tell me that he was really embarrassed to talk about this, but he needed my help. He said that he had a problem with his testicles. It was a medical condition that was causing them to bleed. I asked him if he had been to the doctor. He replied that he was too embarrassed to be seen by the nurses and that he would not go.

He said that he had prayed about it, and God showed him how that he could be healed. He told me that God showed him that if he could apply the sperm of another man, that the proteins would heal his testicles. He then asked me if I would be willing to help him by applying my sperm to his testicles.

Being in shock, I told him that I had to think about it and left his office. I went home that afternoon and told my mother all that had gone on.

I did not return to school. My Mother, my grandfather and I, went back to the school and confronted Tommy. He denied everything and told my Grandfather that no one would believe us and he would win.

We then went to the West Frankfort Police department and filed a formal complaint. To my knowledge, no charges were brought against Tommy. Our family suspected that Tommy was being protected by State Police officers who were members of his congregation.

My mother and I moved to Houston, TX shortly after that.

A few years later, we were told that Tommy had been caught with other boys. Some who were personal friends of mine while I was at Ezra.

One of the boys later apologized to me for not speaking up when I did.

My mother received an official written apology from the Church of God. I had not had any communication with Tommy Shelton since that event took place.

If I can be of any further assistance, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Because of Him,

Brad Dunning
http://www.facs4u.com
Upon further review, Admin Staff has decided to restore this post in it's entirety********

[And Pickle made Dunning's URL work again. (Hope that's not against the rules.)]

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 5 2007, 11:17 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 4 2007, 02:37 PM)
>
> welc Welcome to the forum, ToB1nJC
>
> I take it that you see your identity as "To Be One in Jesus Christ." And that is exactly what we need to strive for to help answer the prayer of Jesus.
>
> Of course, you realize that Satan has a counterfeit to every good thing that God has in mind for us. However, his methods are very different. He can produce an apparent "oneness" in many ways -- by sweeping things under the rug, by agreeing to suppress differences in the interest of a common goal that is not the glory of God, etc.
>
> By contrast, the methods of Christ are to be as transparent as sunlight in our own lives and to cover with love the mistakes and stumblings of our fellow believers. At the same time, we are admonished to deal faithfully with unrepentant sinners in our midst -- to draw them out of the fire with fear and trembling. If you're pulled out of harm's way by your hair, that may hurt. If you're roughly thrown to the ground in order not to be run over by a train, it's likely to hurt, etc.
>
> People on this board have seen sin glorified in the name of the Lord. We have seen God misrepresented. And we believe it is our duty to do what we can to ensure that this misrepresentation of God stops. Sharing information is one step in this process.
>
> Thank you for this beautiful quote:
> Note that the same author had something to say about sympathizing with those who are in the wrong:
>
> It is not kind to sympathize with those who are heading on the way to destruction unless they are hit over the head and dragged out of harm's way -- if they don't struggle too much.
>
> I agree 100% with what "Peacefully Bewildered" and Johann posted.
>
> Blessings,
> Inge Anderson

It is interesting how the same Scripture or EGW quote can be taken in so many different ways, isn't it?! I see something in it, and you see something else. The thoughts that the EGW quote raised for me really had little to do with 3ABN and more with those discussing it here and their behavior towards each other. I just happened to be on the 3ABN topic when it meshed. I am very familiar with the EGW statement you provided and it is so true. I apologize for being off the subject.

Posted by: ToB1nJC Jan 5 2007, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 5 2007, 10:47 AM)
>
> After reading that letter:

> "How many of you proponents/opponents of Tommy Shelton would allow him to babysit your children/grandchildren/nieces?"

wasn't a member here when you first asked but here is what I would have answered: I would never et someone I didn't know babysit for me. Period!

Ve had a person that would come to church that had been convicted of molestation years before... no ›ne would let their children around this person--with good reason. I did speak to this person and vould have good biblical discussions with them on many subjects, but I could never get comfortable vith letting my children near the person without me present. There is nothing wrong with this for we :annot read another's heart and I didn't want to put my children in a situation where they could ›ossibly be harmed, nor possibly put this person into a path of temptation--solely based upon this ›erson's previous acts. However, I never shut the person away from Christian fellowship. He had ıccepted Jesus and from all appearances was a doer of the word.

do not know anything about Tommy Shelton one way or the other, so I cannot really speak to him ›ther than to say what I said above.

Posted by: jene Jan 5 2007, 06:40 PM

Alethia, oh Alethia where art thou?
This "testimony" is coming straight from the victim's mouth. There is even a link to his website to show that he is a real person. What do you think ☒ p ☒ pe ☒ sn

[quote name='Pickle' date='Jan 4 2007, 05:58 PM' post='167570']

---------Orignal Message----------

;ubject: RE: Here's my email, Pastor Dunning.
)ate: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:09:11 -0600
:rom: Brad Dunning

)ear Bob,

ıere is my follow up email from our telephone conversation yesterday January 3rd, 2007.

'he purpose of this communication is to give you a personal account of how I was assaulted by 'ommy Shelton, then Pastor of the Ezra Church of God.

ıe began to tell me that he was really embarrassed to talk about this, but he needed my ıelp. He said that he had a problem with his testicles. It was a medical condition that was :ausing them to bleed. I asked him if he had been to the doctor. He replied that he was too ›mbarrassed to be seen by the nurses and that he would not go.

ıe said that he had prayed about it, and God showed him how that he could be healed. He told me hat God showed him that if he could apply the sperm of another man, that the proteins would heal his esticles. He then asked me if I would be willing to help him by applying my sperm to his testicles.

Being in shock, I told him that I had to think about it and left his office. I went home that afternoon and told my mother all that had gone on.

Brad Dunning
http://www.facs4u.com

Posted by: Pickle Jan 5 2007, 07:10 PM

I really hope we don't have to highlight the medical condition part of the story too much. I really wish it wasn't there.

But it should be pointed out that we now have two people testifying that Tommy pretends to have medical conditions that he doesn't have. Roger Clem claims that Tommy, whenever all this surfaces, suddenly has an illness which goes away whenever blows over.

Posted by: inga Jan 5 2007, 08:05 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 5 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> But it should be pointed out that we now have two people testifying that Tommy pretends to have medical conditions that he doesn't have. Roger Clem claims that Tommy, whenever all this surfaces, suddenly has an illness which goes away whenever blows over.

Ah, yes ... "medical conditions" appear to serve several useful purposes for Tommy.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 5 2007, 08:12 PM

Jene, you know I likes you! I have been thiknking the same thing since I replace the post, and saw Cindy in here. I guess she aint' got nowords ofr us now. Maybe it was first hand enough for her!

Posted by: jene Jan 5 2007, 08:44 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 5 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> I really hope we don't have to highlight the medical condition part of the story too much. I really wish it wasn't there.
>
> But it should be pointed out that we now have two people testifying that Tommy pretends to have medical conditions that he doesn't have. Roger Clem claims that Tommy, whenever all this surfaces, suddenly has an illness which goes away whenever blows over.

I was trying to highlight the abuse since Alethia was pontificating about what is and isn't evidence. I did not even think about the fact that Tommy may be feigning a "medical condition".

Posted by: inga Jan 5 2007, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(jene @ Jan 5 2007, 09:44 PM)
>
> I was trying to highlight the abuse since Alethia was pontificating about what is and isn't evidence.

Yup, pontificating and

> QUOTE
>
> I did not even think about the fact that Tommy may be feigning a "medical condition".

Well, he had this "medical condition" that necessitated certain sexual contact, according to Brad Dunning.

And now he has a "medical condition" that allows him to retire with fanfare just when the situation gets a bit hot in the limelight.

Convenient?

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 5 2007, 09:11 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Jan 6 2007, 04:16 AM)
>
> If this letter is genuine and sincere, then it sounds like an alleged case of mental illness on the part of Tommy Shelton....

Please, please, don't give me the 'mental illness line'. Some people might be mad. Others are just plain BAD!

Many years ago, I 'nursed' a Methodist Minister, who had been sexually abusing his daughter from when she was 6 weeks old. Apparently, his wife was part of the sorid actions.

He was supposed to be 'my patient', and I was told that I'd just have to learn to be objective, when I said that I'd just turn him over to the Police. I believe that I was and am still objective. They did find someone else who would be 'his nurse and counsellor'.

Put those 'rock spiders' in the prison system, where they belong, rather than allowing them to come into the 'mental health system'; hiding out, staying there for awhile and then go back into society, to abuse/re-offend yet again.

Please don't insult the victims of these herious acts, by letting the perpetrators get away will an alleged 'mental illness'. Put them where they belong - in prison (and throw away the key).

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 5 2007, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 5 2007, 10:39 AM)
>
> I wasn't a member here when you first asked but here is what I would have answered: I would never let someone I didn't know babysit for me. Period!
>
> We had a person that would come to church that had been convicted of molestation years before... no one would let their children around this person--with good reason. I did speak to this person and would have good biblical discussions with them on many subjects, but I could never get comfortable with letting my children near the person without me present. There is nothing wrong with this for we cannot read another's heart and I didn't want to put my children in a situation where they could possibly be harmed, nor possibly put this person into a path of temptation--solely based upon this person's previous acts. However, I never shut the person away from Christian fellowship. He had accepted Jesus and from all appearances was a doer of the word.
>
> I do not know anything about Tommy Shelton one way or the other, so I cannot really speak to him other than to say what I said above.

It is obvious that you are a very conscientious parent with your children's welfare given proper priority. You made all the right decisions in regards to the fellow church member who had been convicted of molestation years before. It would, indeed, have been inappropriate to allow your children to be around this person without you for the very reasons you cited; they could possibly be harmed and could be a path to temptation for the person with this past conviction.

Now, imagine that you have a fellow church member who has ingratiated himself to the church family, appears deeply spiritual and is trusted by all. Unbeknownst to you or anyone else, this fellow has been molesting children for years but nobody knows about it because he has loved ones who use their power and position to keep his behavior secret.

They have effectively robbed you of the knowledge that every parent deserves to have in order to make the appropriate decisions for the welfare of their children. They have effectively paved that path to temptation and put children at risk.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 5 2007, 09:23 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 5 2007, 06:10 PM)
>
> I really hope we don't have to highlight the medical condition part of the story too much. I really wish it wasn't there.
>
> But it should be pointed out that we now have two people testifying that Tommy pretends to have medical conditions that he doesn't have. Roger Clem claims that Tommy, whenever all this surfaces, suddenly has an illness which goes away whenever blows over.

This use of poor health seems to be a very typical diversionary measure for offenders. I have seen it personally. How sad that this ploy is often so effective.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 5 2007, 09:37 PM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 5 2007, 09:11 PM) ☐
>
> Put those 'rock spiders' in the prison system, where they belong, rather than allowing them to come into the 'mental health system'; hiding out, staying there for awhile and then go back into society, to abuse/re-offend yet again.
>
> ... Put them where they belong - in prison (and throw away the key).

We don't live in a theocracy anymore. That's why the government can enforce only the second table, not the first table, of the 10 Commandments.

That being said, do you know of any place in Scripture where God advocated prison time as punishment for crime? There was punishment, yes, and there was restitution, but was the punishment ever prison time?

Now while they were trying to figure out what to do with the accused, they did use prisons for that in the Pentateuch, but I don't recall prison time as punishment.

Posted by: Johann Jan 5 2007, 09:41 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 6 2007, 05:37 AM) ☐
>
> We don't live in a theocracy anymore. That's why the government can enforce only the second table, not the first table, of the 10 Commandments.
>
> That being said, do you know of any place in Scripture where God advocated prison time as punishment for crime? There was punishment, yes, and there was restitution, but was the punishment ever prison time?
>
> Now while they were trying to figure out what to do with the accused, they did use prisons for that in the Pentateuch, but I don't recall prison time as punishment.

Seems to me they were not allowed to remain among the living in Israel for such crimes as this.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 5 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 5 2007, 08:41 PM) ☐
>
> Seems to me they were not allowed to remain among the living in Israel for such crimes as this.

And, if those guilty in this day and age don't truly repent, that same God of Israel will not allow them to remain among the living when the time comes.

Posted by: Skyhook Jan 5 2007, 11:03 PM

I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.

I don't know what the laws are in Illinois, but I wonder if people like Kay Kuzma and Walter Thompson have considered the cost of failing to comply with laws that may require such reporting. Not to mention civil liabilities that could arise.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 5 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 6 2007, 12:03 AM)
>
> I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. are required to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.
>
> I don't know what the laws are in Illinois, but I wonder if people like Kay Kuzma and Walter Thompson have considered the cost of failing to comply with laws that may require such reporting. Not to mention civil liabilities that could arise.

This is the case in Illinois also...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 5 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 5 2007, 10:03 PM)
>
> I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. are required to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.
>
> I don't know what the laws are in Illinois, but I wonder if people like Kay Kuzma and Walter Thompson have considered the cost of failing to comply with laws that may require such reporting. Not to mention civil liabilities that could arise.

It is mandatory in Illinois as well.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 5 2007, 11:07 PM

That lists includes pastors, also.......

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 5 2007, 09:03 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. are required to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.
>
> I don't know what the laws are in Illinois, but I wonder if people like Kay Kuzma and Walter Thompson have considered the cost of failing to comply with laws that may require such reporting. Not to mention civil liabilities that could arise.

Posted by: Skyhook Jan 5 2007, 11:25 PM

I don't believe local authorities or state authorities will be interested in pursuing a case unless ithe offense happened in thier jurisdiction, but that would be the responsibility of law enforcement to determine after the report is made. There would still likely be an obligation to report.

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 5 2007, 11:59 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 6 2007, 02:37 PM) ☐
>
> That being said, do you know of any place in Scripture where God advocated prison time as punishment for crime? There was punishment, yes, and there was restitution, but was the punishment ever prison time?
>
> Now while they were trying to figure out what to do with the accused, they did use prisons for that in the Pentateuch, but I don't recall prison time as punishment.

Agreed Pickle, but probably God would strike them down. I don't know how it was dealt with back in Biblical times, but I don't 'buy' the mental health argument. Guess I've been around too long, and grown rather cynical. God destroyed Sodom and Gormorrah for its wickedness. Maybe, that God's way. I don't know.

However, in this place in time, all that is really left is prison. There are not many choices for dealing with perpetrators.

Restitution? How can a victim ever really recieve restitution? Their lives are ruined. How can they get back their innocence and trust in the world? No way can they ever be the same as they were before.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 6 2007, 02:41 PM) ☐
>
> Seems to me they were not allowed to remain among the living in Israel for such crimes as this.

Johann
That's about what I'm thinking too.

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 6 2007, 04:03 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. are required to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.

Yes. It is now the case in each state and territory of Australia too, but that was not the case in the early '70's, which was when the case I referred too actually occured.

There are still a significant portion of perpetrators who TRY to get into the mental health system rather than where they belong, but that doesn't work for them any more.

Posted by: Ralph Jan 6 2007, 12:42 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 4 2007, 03:58 PM) ☐
>
> ---------Orignal Message----------
>
> Subject: RE: Here's my email, Pastor Dunning.
> Date: Thu, 4 Jan 2007 16:09:11 -0600
> From: Brad Dunning
>
> <clip>
> Being in shock, I told him that I had to think about it and left his office. I went home that afternoon and told my mother all that had gone on.
>
> I did not return to school. My Mother, my grandfather and I, went back to the school and confronted Tommy. He denied everything and told my Grandfather that no one would believe us and he would win.
>
> We then went to the West Frankfort Police department and filed a formal complaint.

I am proud of Brad and proud of his relatives. He had trust enough in them to speak up and they believed him and took the appropriate action. When a youth has that kind of support, he can meet up with unfortunate incidents, and yet come out on top. Brad has demonstrated this in his life.

It is a delicate task to caution a child and yet not make him/her suspicious of everyone.

Posted by: Johann Jan 6 2007, 01:08 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 6 2007, 08:42 AM) ☐
>
> I am proud of Brad and proud of his relatives. He had trust enough in them to speak up and they believed him and took the appropriate action. When a youth has that kind of support, he can meet > up with unfortunate incidents, and yet come out on top. Brad has demonstrated this in his life.

>
> It is a delicate task to caution a child and yet not make him/her suspicious of everyone.

appreciate you stating this, Ralph. You have worked in this area, and know what you are talking about.

n my ministry I have also been closely involved in other cases like this. Therefore I know from dealing with victims what life-long effects it has, not only on children, while they are children, but it leaves hem with an ulcer that never is fully cured, no matter what level of maturity they reach later in life.

This is the reason why the societies we live in regard this as one of the worst crimes committed. A child molestor gets no sympathy from other inmates in prison. He often has to be protected by prison authorities or the other imates will make life unbearable for him while he is there.

Could this be why in Bible times the punishment was death? Perhaps the most merciful way?

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 6 2007, 01:56 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 6 2007, 12:59 AM)
>
> Agreed Pickle, but probably God would strike them down. I don't know how it was dealt with back in Biblical times, but I don't 'buy' the mental health argument. Guess I've been around too long, and grown rather cynical. God destroyed Sodom and Gormorrah for its wickedness. Maybe, that God's way. I don't know.
>
> However, in this place in time, all that is really left is prison. There are not many choices for dealing with perpetrators.
>
> Restitution? How can a victim ever really recieve restitution? Their lives are ruined. How can they get back their innocence and trust in the world? No way can they ever be the same as they were before.
> Johann
> That's about what I'm thinking too.
> Yes. It is now the case in each state and territory of Australia too, but that was not the case in the early '70's, which was when the case I referred too actually occured.
>
> There are still a significant portion of perpetrators who TRY to get into the mental health system rather than where they belong, but that doesn't work for them any more.

As a young person, I was a victim of emotional and sexual abuse so please know that my comments are not meant in any way to belittle this situation. My hope is to encourage.

Also, as a parent with children who were victims of a volent crime, though not sexual in nature, we can attest to the fact that God can provide us with restitution and restoration, when we ourselves can not see a glimmer of hope. Our young people have not only survived but are living healthy and productive, though imperfect, lives despite the ordeal they experienced.

We truly need to be very aware that it is satans desire that victims of any crime feel him/or herself to be so demoralized that they can never be emotionally or spiritually whole again. It is a dangerous hing and we play into his hands when we are unable to see, for whatever reason, what God has done, and will do for us as His children.

Though we can never get back what was taken from us physically we can, through the love and peace of God, be whole again spiritually and emotionally. Restitution may not be found, in this life, but restoration comes when forgiveness is given, not only to the perpetrators but to ourselves as well. Yes, it is hard to fathom forgiving those who have been used by satan, in an attempt to destroy us, but to be whole as Christ would have us forgiveness is key. And, if it were not possible Christ could not have said, while on the cross, Father forgiven them, for they know not what they do.

It is my prayer that we can all teach our children that only through Christ Jesus will any of us, man, woman, boy or girl, ever receive true "restitution" and restoration needed.

Be Blessed

Posted by: Green Cochoa Jan 6 2007, 02:27 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 5 2007, 09:37 PM)
>
> We don't live in a theocracy anymore. That's why the government can enforce only the second table, not the first table, of the 10 Commandments.
>
> That being said, do you know of any place in Scripture where God advocated prison time as punishment for crime? There was punishment, yes, and there was restitution, but was the punishment ever prison time?
>
> Now while they were trying to figure out what to do with the accused, they did use prisons for that in the Pentateuch, but I don't recall prison time as punishment.

Yes, there was prison time. However, not for the crimes beings discussed here. There was only the death penalty for most sexual crimes, with an exception taken to the case of a man forcing himself upon an unmarried virgin--in that case, he was required to pay her dowry and to marry her.

The crime which required prison time was that of accidental murder. We would call it "involuntary manslaughter" in today's language. For this crime, the one responsible for the death had to flee to a "city of refuge" and could not leave, on pain of death, until the death of the high priest. Should they leave that city before the high priest's death, the relatives of the one killed would have the right to exact vengeance.

> QUOTE
>
> Numbers
> 35:25 And the congregation shall deliver the slayer out of the hand of the revenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him to the city of his refuge, whither he was fled: and he shall abide in it unto the death of the high priest, which was anointed with the holy oil.
> 35:26 But if the slayer shall at any time come without the border of the city of his refuge, whither he was fled;
> 35:27 And the revenger of blood find him without the borders of the city of his refuge, and the revenger of blood kill the slayer; he shall not be guilty of blood:
> 35:28 Because he should have remained in the city of his refuge until the death of the high priest: but after the death of the high priest the slayer shall return into the land of his possession.

Posted by: Fran Jan 6 2007, 04:03 AM

Seriphim;

The victim can make it through. There are many victims alive and well today, but life is not the same as you have stated.

What about the perpetrator?

There are so many things that happen to children, and that influence them to do many things.

It does not matter what they are taught, if it is wrong, it is wrong. And through this problem of exposure at such an early age, the child thinks this action is normal.

I spent years telling my children to bathe, wash your hair, brush your teeth. They are grown and on their own, and to my amazement, they now choose to do those things all by themselves!

The Shelton's never have hesitated to tell about how they sang at many Bars and Clubs. This is the life they knew as children. They went everywhere Mom and Dad went. What Mom and Dad did, they did.

Where did Tommy learn to be a child molester and Homosexual? Was he just born that way? Or was he helped along the way? Could he have developed these feelings over his Dad. He truly loved his mother, I believe that after reading the tribute to his mom. The link was provided by My Little Friend at Maritine SDA Online.

For My little Friends post:
http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=83483&page=0&fpart=5

This is a direct link to the Tribute to Goldie Shelton-Seddon

http://www.churchofgodcv.org/wmf-info/1999/july-31-1999.aspx

We don't hear as much about Dad. I have heard it RUMORED that he "did more than his share of getting around." Were the boys taking lessons? Maybe it was their preacher.

Mom made sure the children went to church. I believe she is the reason they are in Ministries. Was the home actually divided as to give the children a split vision of humanity?

It is clear that Tommy and Danny have no remorse what-so-ever. I believe that they rationalized there sexuality with religion, If God gave them these sexual tendencies, it must be OK! I believe they have accepted their life style as God given.

I know of a man that was taken to church by Mom and Dad, also. Mom and Dad had 13 children, but only 9 lived. This man was child # 7. He had a sister 17 yrs old when he was born, In fact she had one child and was pregnant with her second when he was born. Therefore, he had 2 nieces. One a year older than him and one a few month younger. He was the Uncle of both girls.

He also had 2 older brothers,.and 2 younger brothers. All of the older children had to go to the fields to work, including Mom. She was required to work and cook. The oldest Daughter started watching the smaller kids so all the older kids could go to the fields. By time everyone returned, it was supper time and the older boys and girls had to watch the younger ones. The two older brothers were already sexually active and continued to be active sexually.. This man and his nieces turned 6-7. These boys took the 2 girls to the shed and had sex with them on an almost daily basis in front of this man and his younger brother, He would cry because he could not join in. It didn't take long for then to give him a try.

After several years it was found out by Mom. She got the belt out and was whipping each one when Dad arrived. He found out why she was spanking them and threw a fit that she would spank them for what was only "Natural". He took the belt and beat her. This lesson taught them that anything goes for the male as far as sex goes.

By 10 he had branched out and then found his puppy love finally at the age of 12. She was 8 or 9. He continued to have sex with anyone willing, but he went steady and finally became engaged to his puppy love when he was 19. I guess they were Common Law Husband & Wife since they were sleeping together for 7 years. He joined the military and dumped his fiancé because he found out she was having sex with someone else.

He married the first attractive gal he met to show his old fiancé. The new wife had never even met his family and was head over hills in love with him. He was unfaithful every chance he got. The wife was a Christian and believed that she needed to trust in God to take care of it. Does that sound familiar?

After 4 decades she finds that he has been having an ongoing affair with his old fiancé during all those years. But not just her, but her older sister too! Her sister was older and taught this man many new tricks back in the day.

This man was an abuser to the max. He not only beat his wife, but over the years, beat his own children. He became a thief in the military, and retired to embezzler. Sound familiar?

Finally, he decided to get rid of his wife and slowly tried to kill her. She still trusted this man, but began to add things up and got proof that he was truly trying to kill her. And she shared this with me. Then one day, He just "lost it" and beat his wife. This time she called the police.

Now, their daughter says she was molested as a child. Sound familiar? The daughter has been receiving counseling for several years now. She never told her Mom because she didn't want to hurt her mom. Sound familiar?

This man was also a "Christian", but justified all of his actions. He, to this day, tells his ex-wife his behavior was/is "normal". He tells his ex-wife he has done nothing wrong. Sound familiar?

Since I knew both of them, I had no idea all these things happened to him in his childhood until his ex-wife told me. She hired a private investigator and got all of this information back to deal with. It seems someone filed a child abuse case way back when, and nothing happened! Sound familiar?

This man and his wife remind me a lot of Danny and Linda. Danny has not missed his share of messing around, but I truly believe Linda was blind to it. It is very easy for us to look at things after the fact and say, "How is this possible?" I have seen it too many times.

Danny feels he is entitled to do as he pleases. The same with Tommy. People with entitlement issues are usually abusers. And why should Danny not think this? Just look and see how God has blessed them. Both love their work! Both love their sexual deviations.

Logical thinking would say, "If this was bad and not right, God would takes these deviated thoughts away from me!". And for all intents and purposes, God has NOT taken these desires away, so they have continued to act on them and will continue to do so until God acts and lets them understand that this can not continue.

In Danny's mind he thinks what he has/is doing is very normal. Everyone knows it is not acceptable for the wife to be unfaithful, but God allows men to because they are the ones made in God's image. In his emails he repeats that he has done nothing wrong or illegal. I believe he actually believes this.

I believe Linda's faithfulness to God was responsible for her having to leave that pit of sin. She, like my friend, had a lot of catching up to do. Both learned a vast amount of information over a very short period of time. Praise God both are free now. My friend says she will never marry again! She says life is too short now to make the same mistake twice!

Now what? We will never convince someone who sees the sky as GREEN that the sky is actually BLUE

Posted by: Observer Jan 6 2007, 05:16 AM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 5 2007, 10:03 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know what the laws are in other states, but in california the law requires people who work in helping professions such as Doctors, Nurses, teachers, social workers, etc. are required to make an official report to the authorities any time they become aware of a case of child abuse, sexual abuse, elder abuse or anything along those lines. They are required to make a report whether they believe it to be true or not. It is a mandatory reporting law with penalties that include loss of professional license for failure to report.
>
> I don't know what the laws are in Illinois, but I wonder if people like Kay Kuzma and Walter Thompson have considered the cost of failing to comply with laws that may require such reporting. Not to mention civil liabilities that could arise.

Several people have commented on this issue. So, I will respond to them, and not just this one person:

1) There is normally (I could provide an exception, which is rare) no Federal law which governs in this situation. Rather individual (USA) State law governs. While there is a common thread, individual State law differs from place to place.

The exception is in situations where the person is not under the jurisdiction of any local law, but is only under Federal law. In such cases there is Federal law that governs.

2) Typically the governing law holds professionals responsible to report, but does not require a non-professional to report. I.e. It will typically require a licensed counselor to report, but not the next-door neighbor.

3) Clergy will typically fall into an exception. The reason for that is the First Amendment to the Constitution. Because of that Amendment, knowledge of abuse that the clergy person obtained in relationship to an attempt by a person to get right with God is not required to be reported. In fact, if it is reported, a good defense attorney will typically be able to prevent that information from being used in any way. The result of that may be that the charges will have to be dropped!

The Constitutional issue raised here is of such a magnitude that I am aware if one State in which the law does not grant the clergy exemption that I have mentioned. But, in that State prosecutors do not attempt to force clergy to testify under the conditions that I mention. They do that as they do not want a Federal court to throw out their case.

It should be noted that the above exemption is not a total exemption. The Constitution does NOT allow a clergy person to refuse to report and testify when the information was obtained in a non-sacramental manner. E.g. A clergy person may be required to report/testify in a case where a Sunday School teacher tells the clergy person that Sally told her that her Father had assaulted her.

4) Even in cases where a professional is required to report, there are clear bounds on that requirement. To illustrate, a licensed psychologist may be required to report that her client, Sam, informed her that he had been sexually active with 10 year-old Sally. But, that psychologist may not be required to report that Ralph told her that Robert had told him, that John thought that Sam had been sexually active with Sally.

To be specific, I do not believe that people such as Kay Kuzma have any knowledge that they are required to report.

Posted by: Lee Jan 6 2007, 10:43 AM

I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?

Think of who may be reading what you are posting. No doubt all this will bring a terrible hurt to Danny's grandchildren, his wife Brandi and other relatives. They must feel badly that all this must be drug out into the whole world to see concerning Danny and Tommy.

I'm not saying to not discuss it at all--but can't you all just email each other privately. This should not be here in public. It is hurting many innocent people. I think especially of the letter just published by Bob Pickle about Tommy. That should have never been published here because of the children/grandchildren. That letter was too graphic to be posted on a Christian public forum. I'm NOT saying that it should not be discussed at all or that something shouldn't be done--I'm just saying it should not be put out for everyone to read.

Why can't you form an email group and discuss all this privately. Please, for the sake of the children who are reading on this forum.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 6 2007, 11:05 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 09:43 AM) ☐
>
> I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?
>
> Think of who may be reading what you are posting. No doubt all this will bring a terrible hurt to Danny's grandchildren, his wife Brandi and other relatives. They must feel badly that all this must be drug out into the whole world to see concerning Danny and Tommy.
>
> I'm not saying to not discuss it at all--but can't you all just email each other privately. This should not be here in public. It is hurting many innocent people. I think especially of the letter just published by Bob Pickle about Tommy. That should have never been published here because of the children/grandchildren. That letter was too graphic to be posted on a Christian public forum. I'm NOT saying that it should not be discussed at all or that something shouldn't be done--I'm just saying it should not be put out for everyone to read.
>
> Why can't you form an email group and discuss all this privately. Please, for the sake of the children who are reading on this forum.

The clear answer to your question, Lee, is that with knowledge comes the power to make informed decisions. If information that is important for the public at large to be aware of is kept within private discussions other parents, who are unaware of the dangers, cannot make the informed decisions that will protect their children.

Any child who is reading this forum most likely has the maturity, IMO, to understand the importance of the posted information.

What makes you feel that this discussion will hurt Danny's grandchildren? Keeping this kind of behavior private is one of the key ways this type of abuse flourishes.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 6 2007, 11:08 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 6 2007, 01:05 PM)
>
> The clear answer to your question, Lee, is that with knowledge comes the power to make informed decisions. If information that is important for the public at large to be aware of is kept within private discussions other parents, who are unaware of the dangers, cannot make the informed decisions that will protect their children.
>
> Any child who is reading this forum most likely has the maturity, IMO, to understand the importance of the posted information.
>
> What makes you feel that this discussion will hurt Danny's grandchildren? Keeping this kind of behavior private is one of the key ways this type of abuse flourishes.

ITA! Keeping it "private" and "quiet as kept" is what makes more victims.

I wonder if those that are saying this should be on the hush-hush would want it all on the hush-hush if it was their child/grandchild/niece-nephew that was victimized..... Oh. Of course not. This would be the same person that would be hot and mad as e'rything that NOBODY TOLD THEM ABOUT THE MAN MOLESTING IN THE PAST!

Sorry...but this is a sore spot for me. The SDA Church (and other churches in general) tend to want to cover up sex based crimes; but we'll go visit someone and try to evangalize in jail?

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 6 2007, 11:28 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Jan 6 2007, 05:03 AM)
>
> Seriphim;
>
> The victim can make it through. There are many victims alive and well today, but life is not the same as you have stated.
>
> What about the perpetrator?
>
> There are so many things that happen to children, and that influence them to do many things.
> ...
> Now what? We will never convince someone who sees the sky as GREEN that the sky is actually BLUE

Actually, nothing in my testimony says "life is the same" or that it will ever be the same again, nor will claiming such make it so. I have testified to the fact that we do not have to "stay" physical, emotional and/or spiritual victims of the deceiver through the actions of the perpetrator(s).

As for as the perpetrator is concerned well, we prayed about it and took the time, prior to the sentencing hearing, to take "Bible Answers" and "Steps to Christ" to take to him. His mother was there, who we also kept in prayer during the hearings and still do, and I was able to talk to her and encourage her. Since we were not sure if we could give him the book we wanted to share, we asked her to be sure he gets them. I am not sure how his life has been since he was incarcerated but I pray that he, and those who were with him, realizes how good God is and will sincerely open their hearts to Christ Jesus.

Obviously life is not going to be "the same". My point is that the victim can and should let go of the fear, anger and bitterness that will destroy them from the inside out if he/she is not shown the love and mercy of God through loving and supportive family and friends. It is a long and difficult process for most people, and we acknowledge that our testimony, is just that ours. We can only encourage others to look ever to Jesus, He is wiling to aid you, He will carry you through.

Be Blessed

Posted by: gracetoyou Jan 6 2007, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 12:43 PM) ☐
>
> I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?
>
> Think of who may be reading what you are posting. No doubt all this will bring a terrible hurt to Danny's grandchildren, his wife Brandi and other relatives. They must feel badly that all this must be drug out into the whole world to see concerning Danny and Tommy.
>
> I'm not saying to not discuss it at all--but can't you all just email each other privately. This should not be here in public. It is hurting many innocent people. I think especially of the letter just published by Bob Pickle about Tommy. That should have never been published here because of the children/grandchildren. That letter was too graphic to be posted on a Christian public forum. I'm NOT saying that it should not be discussed at all or that something shouldn't be done--I'm just saying it should not be put out for everyone to read.
>
> Why can't you form an email group and discuss all this privately. Please, for the sake of the children who are reading on this forum.

Do you feel the same compassion for Linda, her children, relatives and friends who were hurt by the public divorce and trashing of Linda's reputation? Danny's the one who opened up this slimy can of worms when he ditched Linda and married Brandi.

"He who digs a pit will fall into it, and he who rolls a stone, it will come back on him. Prov. 26:27
"The measure you give will be the measure you get." Matt. 7:1

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 6 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 6 2007, 10:08 AM)
>
> ITA! Keeping it "private" and "quiet as kept" is what makes more victims.
>
> I wonder if those that are saying this should be on the hush-hush would want it all on the hush-hush if it was their child/grandchild/niece-nephew that was victimized..... Oh. Of course not. This would be the same person that would be hot and mad as e'rything that NOBODY TOLD THEM ABOUT THE MAN MOLESTING IN THE PAST!
>
> Sorry...but this is a sore spot for me. The SDA Church (and other churches in general) tend to want to cover up sex based crimes; but we'll go visit someone and try to evangalize in jail?

PrincessDrRe, it should be a sore spot for all of us, IMO. Honesty and transparency on this subject should not be viewed as shameful in a church. It, instead, demonstrates that the church values their members as much as our Lord does.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 6 2007, 05:50 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 12:43 PM)
>
> I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?
>
> Think of who may be reading what you are posting. No doubt all this will bring a terrible hurt to Danny's grandchildren, his wife Brandi and other relatives. They must feel badly that all this must be drug out into the whole world to see concerning Danny and Tommy.
>
> I'm not saying to not discuss it at all--but can't you all just email each other privately. This should not be here in public. It is hurting many innocent people. I think especially of the letter just published by Bob Pickle about Tommy. That should have never been published here because of the children/grandchildren. That letter was too graphic to be posted on a Christian public forum. I'm NOT saying that it should not be discussed at all or that something shouldn't be done--I'm just saying it should not be put out for everyone to read.
>
> Why can't you form an email group and discuss all this privately. Please, for the sake of the children who are reading on this forum.

One more time....

What if it's your child the next time? Will you still want it to be "kept quiet"?

Posted by: Pickle Jan 6 2007, 06:19 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 6 2007, 10:43 AM)
>
> I am speaking in a general sense here. Would it be possible to discuss this privately between all of > you? Does all this have to be aired for all the world to see?

)ne way to look at it is that there is a very easy way to shut all of the discussion down regarding 'ommy, Danny, and 3ABN. All we need is for Danny to make certain choices, and it's all over.

'hus far he hasn't wanted to do that. I hope he changes his mind soon before it gets any worse.

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 6 2007, 06:44 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 6 2007, 07:19 PM) ☐
>
> One way to look at it is that there is a very easy way to shut all of the discussion down regarding Tommy, Danny, and 3ABN. All we need is for Danny to make certain choices, and it's all over.
>
> Thus far he hasn't wanted to do that. I hope he changes his mind soon before it gets any worse.

f Danny makes certain choices, the discussion about Tommy and child molestation charges and :eeping other kids safe will shut down? Did I really just read that? This is just about Danny?

\nd the choice is what?

Posted by: Pickle Jan 6 2007, 06:56 PM

Maybe I should have worded that better. There may need to be choices made by several others too.

The average person looking on can probably describe what sort of choices need to be made, and what don't need to be made.

If the choices that need to be made had been made long ago, we wouldn't be discussing any of this today.

Posted by: Ed White Jan 6 2007, 06:57 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 6 2007, 06:19 PM) ☐
>
> One way to look at it is that there is a very easy way to shut all of the discussion down regarding Tommy, Danny, and 3ABN. All we need is for Danny to make certain choices, and it's all over.
>
> Thus far he hasn't wanted to do that. I hope he changes his mind soon before it gets any worse.

'ickle your suggestion is the healthy approach, for our favorite inspired author says "Most difficulities :ould be cleared up in five minuites if we would only humble ourselves and say we are sorry". If this vere to take place would it disappoint some that are reading here only to feed on the gossip? I hope nost of us would rejoyce, but you are right Danny is the key player to make this happen. But he has :tated on 3ABN a number of times that he knowns right from wrong in saying "Confession is GOOD for the soul, but BAD on the reputation". May he make a "good" decision this time around.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 6 2007, 09:03 PM

On this, Ed, I agree with you.

I also think whoever participated in that scandalous tribute should apologize too.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 7 2007, 12:36 AM

Say it like this. It wouldn't just "go away" for the children (now adults) that Tommy molested and that Danny knew about and did nothing for.

Now.

Why don't someone address that? A man "of the church" that knows children are being molested and doesn't do a thang about it?

Somebody address that.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jan 7 2007, 12:38 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 7 2007, 12:36 AM)
>
> Say it like this. It wouldn't just "go away" for the children (now adults) that Tommy molested and that Danny knew about and did nothing for.
>
> Now.
>
> Why don't someone address that? A man "of the church" that knows children are being molested and doesn't do a thang about it?
>
> Somebody address that.

Posted by: Johann Jan 7 2007, 05:10 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 05:03 AM)
>
> On this, Ed, I agree with you.
>
> I also think whoever participated in that scandalous tribute should apologize too.

Very good!

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 07:05 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 7 2007, 12:36 AM)
>
> Say it like this. It wouldn't just "go away" for the children (now adults) that Tommy molested and that Danny knew about and did nothing for.

You are absolutely right.

But if there were some apologies and appropriate steps taken regarding the 3ABN personnel that were involved in deceit and cover up regarding this issue, then while some may have to live with it all to the end of their days, these issues would disappear from such widespread, public scrutiny.

It is the persistant refusal to make amends that drives this public exposure.

I hope what a pastor told me last night is incorrect regarding a soon coming statement by the 3ABN board. If he was correct, I fear it will only add fuel to the fire. But maybe he was told wrong. Let's pray so.

Posted by: watchbird Jan 7 2007, 07:53 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 08:05 AM)
>
> You are absolutely right.
>
> But if there were some apologies and appropriate steps taken regarding the 3ABN personnel that were involved in deceit and cover up regarding this issue, then while some may have to live with it all to the end of their days, these issues would disappear from such widespread, public scrutiny.
>
> It is the persistant refusal to make amends that drives this public exposure.
>
> I hope what a pastor told me last night is incorrect regarding a soon coming statement by the 3ABN board. If he was correct, I fear it will only add fuel to the fire. But maybe he was told wrong. Let's pray so.

I think the time is far past when any action from 3abn persons could make enough "apologies" or take any "appropriate steps" that would make the issues "disappear" from "widespread, public scrutiny". There needs to be a complete and permanent website where all these things are put on public display and left there.... not only for the latecomers who have not yet heard what has been going on at 3ABN, but also as a reminder to all who come to look at how evil was once harbored in an SDA supported institution, thus serving as a deterent to those who take those first steps of covering up and excusing sin. It also needs to be there as source material for the historians who will need to have the basic information available as they sort through it and do their varied analyses on it for the benefit of future generations, as well as today's readers.

As to what you have heard about what the board may be going to say.... I think we should hear about it here.... many hands make light work when there is sifting of truth from falsehood. If it is an untrue rumor, maybe someone here will prove it to be so. If it is truth, then we need the warning ahead of time that you could give, for if, as you seem to imply, this is not something which will aid in an actual cleanup of 3abn... then all need to know about it while there may still be time to prevent it happening.

As for "fuel to the fire".... I am recalling the fires of Battle Creek.... maybe it is in the Lord's provision that enough fuel be added so the fires, when they come, will completely consume all that needs to be consumed. In recalling the fires of Battle Creek, I am also recalling the statement made by one of the firemen whom my father knew personally.... that it seemed to those who fought the fires as though they were pouring kerosene on the fires rather than water. These Battle Creek firemen knew from experience that God's fires consume water. Remember Mt. Carmel.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 7 2007, 09:46 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 06:05 AM) ☐
>
> You are absolutely right.
>
> But if there were some apologies and appropriate steps taken regarding the 3ABN personnel that were involved in deceit and cover up regarding this issue, then while some may have to live with it all to the end of their days, these issues would disappear from such widespread, public scrutiny.
>
> It is the persistant refusal to make amends that drives this public exposure.

Not to mention that there has been a persistant refusal to even admit that any abuse happened except for "allegations about 30 years ago" that allegedly didn't involve any "physical actions" (a minimization of the very nature and impact of molestation) along with the claim that "Tommy appologized to the kids and offered recompense". He apologized to multiple kids for allegations? Is that a sanitized and indirect way of admitting Tommy's guilt? Or What?

> QUOTE
>
> I hope what a pastor told me last night is incorrect regarding a soon coming statement by the 3ABN board. If he was correct, I fear it will only add fuel to the fire. But maybe he was told wrong. Let's pray so.

If this isn't priviledged information it does seem that it would be good to share it here.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 10:31 AM

PB,

The only one I know of that Walt's words could possibly apply to is Brad Dunning, and he told me that Tommy had never apologized to him at all. Tommy called him a liar instead.

That's all I'll say for now.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 7 2007, 12:04 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 08:31 AM) ☐

> PB,
>
> The only one I know of that Walt's words could possibly apply to is Brad Dunning, and he told me that Tommy had never apologized to him at all. Tommy called him a liar instead.
>
> That's all I'll say for now.

Bob,

Do NOT be surprised by ANYTHING that "board" does or says - for remember, it's not really them at all, is it?

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 10:01 PM

Mr. Unnamed Person, for whom this thread was started,

You hoo! Where are you?

You accused Glenn Dryden of jealousy, right? I gave you an opportunity to vindicate Tommy Shelton, right? How come you've been so long in making some sort of attempt at it?

You have defended him in the past, haven't you? When that letter was sent to Tommy on the letterhead of the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois, dated October 25, 1985, you with a number of others wrote letters of support for Tommy, did you not? You didn't believe Brad Dunning's tale, correct?

Well, if you defended him back then, please inform us why you are so slow to do it now.

And remember, we still have that seventh alleged victim in the wings, getting his thoughts together, pondering whether he should put it all in writing or not.

To everyone else,

If anyone thinks the above is out of character for me, you'll understand why I wrote that shortly, in my next post.

If you've ever raised kids, you know that there have to be consequences for wrong behavior. No consequences? That is one of the most unkind, unmerciful things you can do. And if you raise kids that way, you are only preparing them for the fires of hell, for they will grow up thinking that they can sin all they please and God won't give them any consequences either.

Ellen White wrote, "A law that has no penalty is of no force." How true. Have a rule in the state, home, church, or school that has no penalty, or a penalty that never gets enforced, it is as if the rule wasn't even there.

We want mercy for Tommy Shelton as well as justice. But no consequences for such deeds is neither just nor merciful. It is the most unloving thing a person can do.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 10:21 PM

Okay, I confess. The reason Mr. Unnamed Person, the one who was angry at me nine days ago and who threatened Dryden shortly thereafter, the reason he hasn't risen to the occasion and vindicated Tommy is rather simple.

- He to this day believes Dryden was jealous of Tommy.
- He is a brother of alleged victim Roger Clem.
- He came across BSDA by accident and was shocked to find his brother mentioned by name and got angry.
- On last Monday he wrote Gailon and me and apologized.
- On Tuesday night he called me and told me that for the first time in his life, just an hour before, he had told someone that what Tommy did to Roger he had done to him as well.

In other words, Mr. Unnamed Person who we had hoped would vindicate Tommy is in fact our seventh victim.

I just got done talking to him on the phone, and he says that what Brad Dunning says Tommy told him, Tommy also told our seventh victim.

Consider the implications: Tommy's chief defense is that Dryden was jealous. Here is a fellow, brother of Roger Clem, who still believes Dryden was jealous, and yet he testifies that the allegations against Tommy are TRUE. Thus, Tommy is left without a defense!

More to come.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 10:35 PM

Here is another letter from the other brother of Roger Clem, and brother of the seventh victim.

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: In Response To Your Message....
Date: Thu, 04 Jan 2007 12:15:17 -0600
From: Scott Clem

Hi, Bob!

I am contacting you in response to your telephone message of Wed., Jan. 3. My apologies for being so long in getting back with you.

...

First of all, I want to make you aware that I know a little about who you are, having read your posts at Maritime SDA Online. I want you to know that I fully support your efforts to clean up the mess at 3ABN, and that my prayer is for successful results for the good of 3ABN and it's viewers, and most importantly, for the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

I wish to make it clear that, though I am Southern Baptist, I hold nothing against the Seventh Day Adventist Church, any of it's members, or 3ABN personally. My problem, as I am sure is the same with you, is the un-Christian conduct so rampant at 3ABN. Such conduct serves no purpose but to undermine the original intended objective of 3ABN and to embarrass the SDA Church. Those responsible for this misconduct must be exposed and dealt with, and I applaud your efforts to do just that.

As you now know, both of my brothers are victims of past molestation by 3ABN vice president Tommy Shelton, who served as our pastor at Ezra Church of God at the time that the molestations took place. There is also evidence that my brothers are not the only victims. While I have never been a victim of any type of sexual abuse, I am greatly enraged by such actions, particularly as such a despicable act has been perpetrated on my brothers by someone in whom our entire family had placed so much trust and confidence for so many years. Few things in life have cut me so deeply as this situation, and the human side of me wants to see Tommy Shelton fall to the most harsh and swift justice known to man in response to his devilish actions. It is my feeling that the Lord, though he still loves Tommy, also desires that he pay for his actions. Tommy's conduct is clearly not of God.

I am equally pained by the fact that our late mother, who died of cancer on Dec. 1, 2001, left this world never having known that two of her children were victimized by Tommy in this way. She remained steadfast in her support of Tommy due to this lack of knowledge. At the same time, I consider everyone involved in this ordeal, with the obvious exception of Tommy, to be completely blameless. Mom never knew the truth, and I can guarantee you that if she had, she would have turned on Tommy in the blink of an eye. As well, while I cannot say that I truly understand what my brothers went through, I can somehow understand why they waited so long to come forward. Feelings of guilt and embarrassment are commonplace with victims of sexual abuse for many years after the abuse has taken place. I also know that my brothers were fearful of hurting Mom or other family members by coming forward with this information, and/or of what might happen in the aftermath. Our family is hurt and angered by this, but this pain and anger is not directed at, nor is it the fault of, my brothers. I am just glad that they have both realized the importance of coming forward, as it will be a major step on their road to recovery and toward bringing Tommy to justice for what he has done. Simply put, it is my observation that, of all the numerous people involved in this terrible situation, the blame for it's entirety rests solely on one person, and that would be one Tommy Shelton. May God, in this situation, forego His endless mercy and leave Tommy to face the consequences that he really deserves!

As for the other information that I may provide for your continuing investigation, ... [What follows is a legal matter that I would like to verify before posting.]

Again, I state that I have nothing against 3ABN personally, but I support and applaud your efforts to get a stranglehold on the situation as it stands now. I wish to see 3ABN become a great powersource for the furtherance of God's Kingdom, but I can no longer believe that this will happen under the leadership of Danny and Tommy Shelton. It appears to me that, in order for 3ABN to move forward as a ministry, Danny and Tommy must be ousted. While we should continue to pray for them, it is clear that the situations in which they have placed 3ABN will necessitate their removal. Otherwise, 3ABN will surely fall, and I really do not believe that it has to come to that.

On an added note, some of these situations, if placed for investigation by the federal government, could result in the revocation of 3ABN's licenses. Perhaps the best course of action would be to recommend to Dr. Walt Thompson that steps be taken in the very near future to remove Danny and Tommy so that 3ABN will have a fighting chance to save it's authority to broadcast. At this point, it could be in serious jeopardy.

To tell you the honest truth, I would very much welcome an opportunity to work with 3ABN in whichever ways ..., but I will not even make an attempt at such an arrangement as long as 3ABN is under the facist thumb of Danny Shelton and his child molester brother Tommy. God does not honor such things, and I refuse to do so as well. As a past volunteer at 3ABN, I would love to re-establish a friendship with the network, and my hope is that, in the foreseeable future, I will be able to do so. As things stand right now, this just cannot happen.

Again, my best to you and those working with you to bring back some order to 3ABN. It is my hope and prayer that your investigations will bring Danny and Tommy and all other guilty parties to justice and restore 3ABN to her former self for the glory of God. If you need anything else from me, please do not hesitate to contact me.

In Christ,

Scott Clem

Posted by: roxe Jan 7 2007, 11:00 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 7 2007, 06:53 AM)
>
> I think the time is far past when any action from 3abn persons could make enough "apologies" or take any "appropriate steps" that would make the issues "disappear" from "widespread, public scrutiny". There needs to be a complete and permanent website where all these things are put on public display and left there.... not only for the latecomers who have not yet heard what has been going on at 3ABN, but also as a reminder to all who come to look at how evil was once harbored in an SDA supported institution, thus serving as a deterent to those who take those first steps of covering up and excusing sin. It also needs to be there as source material for the historians who will need to have the basic information available as they sort through it and do their varied analyses on it for the benefit of future generations, as well as today's readers.
>
> As to what you have heard about what the board may be going to say.... I think we should hear about it here.... many hands make light work when there is sifting of truth from falsehood. If it is an untrue rumor, maybe someone here will prove it to be so. If it is truth, then we need the warning ahead of time that you could give, for if, as you seem to imply, this is not something which will aid in an actual cleanup of 3abn... then all need to know about it while there may still be time to prevent it happening.
>
> As for "fuel to the fire".... I am recalling the fires of Battle Creek*.... maybe it is in the Lord's* provision that enough fuel be added so the fires, when they come, will completely consume all that needs to be consumed. In recalling the fires of Battle Creek, I am also recalling the statement made by one of the firemen whom my father knew personally.... that it seemed to those who fought the fires as though they were pouring kerosene on the fires rather than water. These Battle Creek firemen knew from experience that God's fires consume water. Remember Mt. Carmel.

i agree...
you said it good, WB!!

Posted by: lurker Jan 8 2007, 09:30 AM

It should be clear now that this was not just a gossip session. Without the warm welcome of the "Boss" and of Daryl to those who needed a place for open discussion, the brother(s) would not have come forward.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 8 2007, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Jan 8 2007, 09:30 AM)
>
> It should be clear now that this was not just a gossip session. Without the warm welcome of the "Boss" and of Daryl to those who needed a place for open discussion, the brother(s) would not have come forward.

Just for clarification, Roger came forward in his community in 2003, so that was unrelated to BSDA.

But it was BSDA that let us know what church Tommy had pastored in Virginia, which then allowed us to contact Pastor Dryden last August. And that eventually put us in touch with Roger Clem. All this stuff posted at BSDA and Maritime convinced Roger's brother to come forward.

Now everyone who hasn't gone through all of what they have can just keep silent. Imagine what it takes to come forward, all the horrible memories that come back and the shame of it all. Imagine the thoughts that haunt you: Should I have come forward sooner? Would another victim have been spared if I had? Should I come forward now? Might it help save a child from a predator if I do?

Thank God you don't have thoughts like these to wrestle with if you don't. And if you don't, PLEASE refrain from some of the totally senseless comments that have been made heretofore if you are tempted to criticize.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jan 8 2007, 09:51 AM

Yes, this does show that what is being posted here and at the Maritime forum is productive in this known way and probably also in ways not yet known to us.

Posted by: simplysaved Jan 8 2007, 10:45 AM

Professional Counselor Cap On

As a victim and survivor of abuse personally and a counselor/clinician for over 12 years (including batterers and sex-offenders, I know what I am speaking to and have treated. No matter how wrong and sinful the allegations are, if the behavior has occured he IS sick and needs help as much as those who have been hurt. If alleged perpetrators do not receive help, the cycle continues and there is no healing. Healing needs to happen both for the survivor and alleged perpetrator--as most perpetrators were victims themselves.

Professional Counselor Cap Off

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 5 2007, 10:11 PM)
>
> Please, please, don't give me the 'mental illness line'. Some people might be mad. Others are just plain BAD!
>
> Many years ago, I 'nursed' a Methodist Minister, who had been sexually abusing his daughter from when she was 6 weeks old. Apparently, his wife was part of the sorid actions.
>
> He was supposed to be 'my patient', and I was told that I'd just have to learn to be objective, when I said that I'd just turn him over to the Police. I believe that I was and am still objective. They did find someone else who would be 'his nurse and counsellor'.
>
> Put those 'rock spiders' in the prison system, where they belong, rather than allowing them to come into the 'mental health system'; hiding out, staying there for awhile and then go back into society, to abuse/re-offend yet again.
>
> Please don't insult the victims of these herious acts, by letting the perpetrators get away will an alleged 'mental illness'. Put them where they belong - in prison (and throw away the key).

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 8 2007, 11:03 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Jan 8 2007, 11:45 AM)
>
> Professional Counselor Cap On

> No matter how wrong and sinful the allegations are, if the behavior has occured he IS sick and needs help as much as those who have been hurt.
>
> Professional Counselor Cap Off

f the behavior has occurred, the allegations are neither wrong nor sinful.... even if public. If he is nrepentant and in denial about the depraved nature of his predilections, then all secrecy does is nable him to victimize someone else's children.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Skyhook Jan 8 2007, 12:31 PM

simplysaved, isn't it generally believed that pedophiles are not very good candidates for therapy in that they seldom if ever get over thier sexual preferences? From what I have heard and read, it is very predictable that they will offend again even after long periods of incarceration, and supposedly, counseling within the CJ system or places like state hospitals. What is your view on that?
BTW, I have a grandaughter who was molested at age 4 by her father, who did some time and was released on a technicality. He is now wanted for failure to register as a sex offender after leaving the area. My grandaughter is now a young woman, and had a lot of counseling as a child, but is not doing as well as I would like, (or as she would like.)

Posted by: Observer Jan 9 2007, 07:12 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 9 2007, 04:23 AM)
>
> * Professional hat on*
>
> After 35 years in like positions, I'm still waiting for the 'miracle cure'. I'm yet to see even one.
>
> Professional hat off

he Conference in which I live has a convicted child molester as a member of one it it's congregations. e went to prison. He has served his time. He has been discharged.

e tells people:

did it.

was guilty.

t was wrong.

could do it again.

should not be around children.

ou should supervise me at all times when I am either attending church functions, or on church property.

Folks, that man is as close to a cure as I have seen. Yet, he is not cured. But, he has taken responsibility. He has accepted his need to be supervised so that he does not offend again.

And, the congregation has accepted the responsibility to supervise him.

Posted by: Johann Jan 9 2007, 07:59 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 9 2007, 01:23 PM) ☐
>
> * Professional hat on*
>
> After 35 years in like positions, I'm still waiting for the 'miracle cure'. I'm yet to see even one.
>
> Professional hat off

This is very difficult to deal with. A God-fearing lady preparing to meet her Lord, who had been a widow for about 35 years, told me that her husband had homosexual tendencies. She knew he had severe fights with himself, where God gave him strength to overcome.

It seemed like his fights with himself made him a rather strict and conservative Seventh-day Adventist. But when he faced death he called a number of people to him and asked their forgiveness for how strict he had been towards them. . . And he was in constant prayer until he took his last breath.

Peace with God and your fellow men is what Christianity is more about than any doctrine. This is not possible as long as you make others scapegoats of your own failings, and keep on accusing them falsely to the whole world. But this is where even the worst of sinners can find salvation - by confessing both to God and to those you have done wrong to. And to those you have deceived through TV broadcasts. And thereafter be willing to be under supervision.

Just stating, either 'I have not done it', or that God has fogiven me, so you cannot condemn me for it, does not delete an open sin. God forgives a secret sin that is not confessed openly, but He will not forgive a sin committed against others, nor making others a scapegoat for your sins, unless these sins are dealt with, with asking forgiveness and restitution made to the victims.

It is diffucult for me to tell you that this woman was my own mother. . . I had not known, but recognized the symptoms when she mentioned them. I was there when my father called some of the breathren to his deathbed to make his confession, and I was with him when he said his last word - in the middle of a prayer. I will always be grateful the Lord permitted me to experience this.

Posted by: September Jan 9 2007, 09:41 AM

Johann, that was a beautiful testimony...thank you for sharing that. It's proof that God never gives up and will hold out for one of His children until the very last moment if need be.

Blessings to you!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 9 2007, 10:31 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 9 2007, 06:12 AM)
>
> The Conference in which I live has a convicted child molester as a member of one it it's congregations. He went to prison. He has served his time. He has been discharged.
>
> He tells people:
>
> I did it.
>
> I was guilty.
>
> It was wrong.
>
> I could do it again.
>
> I should not be around children.
>
> You should supervise me at all times when I am either attending church functions, or on church property.
>
> Folks, that man is as close to a cure as I have seen. Yet, he is not cured. But, he has taken responsibility. He has accepted his need to be supervised so that he does not offend again.
>
> And, the congregation has accepted the responsibility to supervise him.

This is called accountability. While not cured it is the only way to limit the likelihood of him reoffending. It gives the parents and fellow church family members the knowledge they need to protect their children.

Interestingly enough, without this frank openness and lack of accountablility it is likely that more would be victimized.

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 9 2007, 01:18 AM)
>
> OK I'll bite. Some families are so dysfunctional that clear boundaries have never been in place. The wall has been broken down between acceptable adult/child love and sexual love. Once this wall is broken down, it is hard to rebuild. In such a home, actions that seem abhorrent to most of us are no big deal. It is here that the larger community will have to put on appropriate pressure to get results.

Ralph, how true this is! And we, here on the 3abn forum, are part of that larger community so we can't be silent.

Posted by: sister Jan 9 2007, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 9 2007, 03:18 AM)
>
> OK I'll bite. Some families are so dysfunctional that clear boundaries have never been in place. The wall has been broken down between acceptable adult/child love and sexual love. Once this wall is broken down, it is hard to rebuild. In such a home, actions that seem abhorrent to most of us are no big deal. It is here that the larger community will have to put on appropriate pressure to get > results.

Vith my knowledge of the Shelton family, I would say the above explanation is the situation that xists there and why such abhorrent actions of one family member is so easily tolerated by other amily members. Clear boundaries that should exist within a family are not present there and the ame dysfunctional attitudes have been carried over into the administration of 3ABN: a Shelton family usiness with dysfunctional Shelton family "values", in my opinion.

Posted by: Clay Jan 9 2007, 01:56 PM

there is no cure for pedophilia.... I stated that before..... talk therapy will not work... there are some things chemically that could be done but that would have to be in conjunction with strict accountability, i.e. knowing where the person was all the time, knowing who he was talking to, etc....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 9 2007, 02:09 PM

Got a lot to speak on so let me get started....

> QUOTE(ToB1nJC @ Jan 5 2007, 01:39 PM)
>
> I wasn't a member here when you first asked but here is what I would have answered: I would never let someone I didn't know babysit for me. Period!

..but see that's the main point. Many folks "claim" to "know" Tommy Shelton - and don't realize that e is a molestor. A child rapist! That being said.... well...you know the question.....

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 8 2007, 02:31 PM)
>
> simplysaved, isn't it generally believed that pedophiles are not very good candidates for therapy in that they seldom if ever get over thier sexual preferences? From what I have heard and read, it is very predictable that they will offend again even after long periods of incarceration, and supposedly, counseling within the CJ system or places like state hospitals. What is your view on that?

or the most part pedophiles and child molesters rarely get over their obsession w/ children and exual relationships w/ children. They are the hardest to "rehabilitate" per se.....

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 9 2007, 04:18 AM)
>
> OK I'll bite. Some families are so dysfunctional that clear boundaries have never been in place. The wall has been broken down between acceptable adult/child love and sexual love. Once this wall is broken down, it is hard to rebuild. In such a home, actions that seem abhorrent to most of us are no big deal. It is here that the larger community will have to put on appropriate pressure to get results.

rue...so true.

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 9 2007, 09:12 AM)
>
> The Conference in which I live has a convicted child molester as a member of one it it's > congregations. He went to prison. He has served his time. He has been discharged.

>
> He tells people:
>
> I did it.
>
> I was guilty.
>
> It was wrong.
>
> I could do it again.
>
> I should not be around children.
>
> You should supervise me at all times when I am either attending church functions, or on church property.
>
> Folks, that man is as close to a cure as I have seen. Yet, he is not cured. But, he has taken responsibility. He has accepted his need to be supervised so that he does not offend again.
>
> And, the congregation has accepted the responsibility to supervise him.

..and that is the ultimate form of "responsibility" that I have ever heard of from a convicted child nolestor. To admit that he must be supervised....that says that it's still in his heart. He may not be acting" on it...but he knows that it's there...and that's way deep....

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 9 2007, 02:36 PM) ☐
>
> I know someone who had, I think, a good Christian counselor for a particular issue, and later had someone who perhaps caused a good bit of difficulty, or at least didn't help things any, resulting in a lot of grief.
>
> Anyone who studies a bit of Freud, who, if I recall correctly, thought God was a volcano, can understand why Ellen White wrote the warnings she did about psychology. Yet not everyone who has the title of psychologist has a mind that is in the gutter like Freud's was.

reud is not as "twisted" as folks may believe. They look at his beliefs about attraction to nother/father and not the "whole" picture. Freud studied the Bible more than many a SDA has (he vas documented as reading the Bible 5+ times front to back and a deep "studier" of the word).

verything that everyone writes is not to be followed at all times. Everything that Freud writes is not o be followed; however he had plenty good to discuss in regards to Psychotherapy and sychotherapeutic interventions.

s for EG White's "warnings" about Psychology; psychology is not just "tell me your thoughts" - sychology is also the discussion of why you feel the way you feel, why you are having trouble getting ver the fact that you saw your Mommy kill your sister, and how do you cope with the death of your ather. You can pray. Yeah - you sure can. However the Bible also states to "consider/go to the hysician"...which is what I will be upon finishing my studies, a Doctor of Psychology.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 9 2007, 03:56 PM) ☐
>
> there is no cure for pedophilia.... I stated that before..... talk therapy will not work... there are some things chemically that could be done but that would have to be in conjunction with strict accountability, i.e. knowing where the person was all the time, knowing who he was talking to, etc....

Again - just as above...I agree.

Carry on!

☒ sn

Posted by: Observer Jan 9 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 9 2007, 12:56 PM) ☐
>
> there is no cure for pedophilia.... I stated that before..... talk therapy will not work... there are some things chemically that could be done but that would have to be in conjunction with strict accountability, i.e. knowing where the person was all the time, knowing who he was talking to, etc....

Chemical castration (or physical) will not solve the problems. Sexuality begins in the brain. The brain remains the same following castration.

Folks: You do not need genitalia to molest a child.

Posted by: Clay Jan 9 2007, 02:21 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 9 2007, 02:11 PM) ☐
>
> Chemical castration (or physical) will not solve the problems. Sexuality begins in the brain. The brain remains the same following castration.
>
> Folks: You do not need genitalia to molest a child.

I did not say chemical castration will solve the problem... I said there are some things that can be done chemically IN CONJUNCTION with strict accountability... having said that there are some meds that would indeed block some of those receptors in the brain and dampen the sex drive... which is one of the reasons some people prefer not to take meds for some psychiatric problems because the unwanted side effect is sex drive dampening...

Posted by: Aunt B Jan 9 2007, 09:58 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 9 2007, 07:38 PM) ☐
>
> Molestation is not only about the act of penetration. It is about the sexual preying on of a child. Although it may not be called "molestation" out and out - Molestation has many different forms. If an adult asks a child to masturbate them; that's a form of molestation. If an adult masturbates and forces a child to watch; that's a form of molestation If an adult asks a child to look at a > pornagraphic magazine with them; that is a form of molestation. If an adult just brushes up against a child for sexual gratification (frotteurism) that is a form of molestation.

>
> Molestation goes way, WAY farther than just sex with a child. ...and many of the acts may seem "innocent" to others but are just as damaging as actual penetration sex.

an I be next in line after Peaceful? I recently earned my bachelors degree in psychology; good for ou for working on your Phd. I appreciate all you are saying here regarding counseling, therapy etc. eep educating people regarding the science of psychology!

see the results of molestation of children every day. As one who works with children who are in reatment foster care, almost 100% have been molested in some way. I have known of situations here the perpetrator didn't think he had done anything wrong, because there was no penetration. (a ifferent situation than the rationalization that there had been "no touching" in the Walt Thompson etter) It is hard, long work to help these kids to heal.

unt B

Posted by: inga Jan 9 2007, 10:54 PM

> UOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 9 2007, 07:38 PM)
>
> The aspect of "self-disclosure" does not weaken others - if you have ever been in a church that has a "Witness" section of service - people will talk about how the "LORD blessed them when they were in their lowest state." That's not weakening anyone...that is giving glory to GOD!

es, indeed!

> UOTE
>
> When you have "been through" and can discuss with someone how you "came through" and show them through coping skills, helps, and prayer how they can come through that is COUNSELING and there is nothing ethically or morally wrong with that. The actual admittance of your own short-comings assists people in realizing that they are not alone and they too can make it out of their despair.

s administrator of several online support lists, I can vouch for that. It is amazing to see how such a ittle thing as just knowing that others are having the same struggle can actually be liberating.

nother thing I've observed is that admitting the exact nature of a problem, rather than denying it, is lso liberating. Then it's possible to actually deal with the problem behavior, rather than spending all ne's energy on suppression and denail.

> UOTE
>
> My LORD. I hope you are not counseling ANYONE feeling that you are so above them that you cannot share of yourself to assist in their struggles....

ndeed!!! It sounds to me as though Ed White considers his preachy advice as "counseling." I don't ee that as counseling at all. Furthermore, I see it as unlikely to help anyone. Genuine sharing by a ay person is likely to do more good than all the preaching from one who takes the position of being superior to the one in need.

Posted by: Ed White Jan 10 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 10 2007, 09:05 AM)
>
> Though usually not nearly as quickly as those who stand in need of it and are in denial of that fact...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

There is no question Mr. J. that Tommy Shelton needs help, but maybe him & his brother have been looking for love in all the wrong places all these years. Black Hills could help if those counselors trained wrong don't get in the way to true lasting healing.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 10 2007, 12:00 PM

> QUOTE(Ed White @ Jan 10 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> There is no question Mr. J. that Tommy Shelton needs help, but maybe him & his brother have been looking for love in all the wrong places all these years. Black Hills could help if those counselors trained wrong don't get in the way to true lasting healing.

You presume I am speaking of the Sheltons... and in doing so, you err... They are not the only ones who could benefit from counseling... nor are they the only ones in denial about it.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: simplysaved Jan 10 2007, 01:52 PM

Ed:

Until there are present charges placed through the courts there will be little humanly possible to be done.

Prayer and faith are the only ways to handle this for now.

> QUOTE(Ed White @ Jan 10 2007, 12:16 PM)
>
> There is no question Mr. J. that Tommy Shelton needs help, but maybe him & his brother have been looking for love in all the wrong places all these years. Black Hills could help if those counselors trained wrong don't get in the way to true lasting healing.

Posted by: Clay Jan 10 2007, 01:58 PM

this thread was split, the posts that dealt with counseling have been moved to the Cafe....

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 10 2007, 11:49 PM

It might be interesting to note that Tommy will be back at 3ABN in a couple of weeks to tape music with Dan. That took a long time!

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 11 2007, 12:50 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 11 2007, 03:49 PM)
>
> It might be interesting to note that Tommy will be back at 3ABN in a couple of weeks to tape music with Dan. That took a long time!

Wonder why I'm not surprised???? Things go on, just as before.

Posted by: Fran Jan 11 2007, 03:48 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 11 2007, 12:50 AM)
>
> Wonder why I'm not surprised???? Things go on, just as before.

This is sick!

Posted by: watchbird Jan 11 2007, 07:45 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Jan 11 2007, 04:48 AM)
>
> This is sick!

More than sick. Defiantly evil.

Posted by: Ed White Jan 11 2007, 08:45 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Jan 11 2007, 03:48 AM)

> This is sick!

Just "mending broken people" with flour paste when super glue is within reach.

Posted by: Johann Jan 11 2007, 12:06 PM

> QUOTE(Aunt B @ Jan 10 2007, 05:58 AM) ☐
>
> Can I be next in line after Peaceful? I recently earned my bachelors degree in psychology; good for you for working on your Phd. I appreciate all you are saying here regarding counseling, therapy etc. Keep educating people regarding the science of psychology!
>
> ---
>
> Aunt B

In my youth I attended a school in Norway that was in many ways patterned accoording to the instructions given by Ellen White. We used her writings as a number of our textbook. In our English classes we read Steps to Christ, Education, and Evangelism, and many of our termpapers were based on the writings of Ellen White. It was from her writings the leaders of our school gathered how importand a science it is to study how the human mind works. As a consequence we had several classes in psychology. I'd say these courses were of great benefit to me, and there was nothing in the textbooks used that turned the mind away from God as our Creator and Savior. So lets beware of downgrading all psychology. It is a very important subject.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 11 2007, 01:14 PM

Ok so they believe themselves some serious singers and musicians? I have never heard them sing or play.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 10 2007, 09:49 PM) ☐
>
> It might be interesting to note that Tommy will be back at 3ABN in a couple of weeks to tape music with Dan. That took a long time!

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 11 2007, 01:47 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 11 2007, 02:14 PM) ☐
>
> Ok so they believe themselves some serious singers and musicians? I have never heard them sing or play.

Trust me, you haven't missed much...well, I take that back...it is good if you have trouble falling asleep...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 11 2007, 03:28 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jan 11 2007, 02:47 PM) ☐
>
> Trust me, you haven't missed much...well, I take that back...it is good if you have trouble falling asleep...

Tommy is actually extremely musically talented.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 11 2007, 03:35 PM

Gotcha'!

> QUOTE
>
> Trust me, you haven't missed much...well, I take that back...it is good if you have trouble falling asleep...

Now, he plays the piano, right? I can see this being true............

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 11 2007, 01:28 PM) ☐
>
> Tommy is actually extremely musically talented.

Posted by: Noahswife Jan 11 2007, 04:24 PM

Because I do not watch 3ABN I had not realized there was a connection between the Black Hills Health and Education Center and 3ABN. No wonder my mother, who I have discussed elsewhere, was so happy Tommy was going there to take care of his "physical" health issues.

Does anyone here know if 3ABN or Black Hills promotes the writings of Pastor Dennis Smith and especially his book Spirit Baptism & Deliverance?

As for the consequences of abuse, I have spent most of my adult life in the field of disability law. I have found that a very high percentage of my clients who had disabling pain in excess of physical findings were molested or sexually abused in the past and few, if any, received counseling even when they reported the abuse. Few of the perpetrators were charged as most, and the majority were women, found little if any support from their families and in particular their mothers.

I want to believe this is changing with this generation of women. Do our posters who deal with this know if women today are more likely to believe their children? In my city last year, two young children died in a fire set by their mother rather than deal with the accusations that they had been molested by their father. The mother has been found incompetent to stand trial........

noahswife

Posted by: inga Jan 12 2007, 12:05 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Jan 11 2007, 05:24 PM) ☐
>
> Because I do not watch 3ABN I had not realized there was a connection between the Black Hills Health and Education Center and 3ABN.

I never considered a connection between them any greater than the connection between other speakers and 3ABN.

I sure hope Dick Nunez is not "connected" with 3ABN, other than their hosting his healt/exercise show.

Barbara Kerr was more closely connected with 3ABN because she actually worked on the set there. I believe Dick Nunez's show is actually filmed at his facility, though I may be wrong, since I haven't watched him for a while ...

Posted by: sister Jan 12 2007, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 12 2007, 01:05 AM) ☐
>
> I never considered a connection between them any greater than the connection between other speakers and 3ABN.
>
> I sure hope Dick Nunez is not "connected" with 3ABN, other than their hosting his healt/exercise show.
>
> Barbara Kerr was more closely connected with 3ABN because she actually worked on the set there. I believe Dick Nunez's show is actually filmed at his facility, though I may be wrong, since I haven't watched him for a while ...

Sorry, Inga, Dick Nunez's exercise show was not filmed at Black Hills, but on a set at 3ABN.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 12 2007, 01:11 PM

Because someone's show is on, or taped at, 3abn does that make them part of Danny's problem? Amazing Facts is broadcast on mainline networks that show all kind of filth but does that make them also filthy? I don't have the answers, just a few questions.

Richard

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 12 2007, 01:08 PM)
>
> Sorry, Inga, Dick Nunez's exercise show was not filmed at Black Hills, but on a set at 3ABN.

Posted by: daylily Jan 12 2007, 01:27 PM

Personally, I'm thankful that all those different shows are taped or aired by 3ABN. I enjoy watching them. I rarely watch Danny or some of the others now but I did watch Jon Paulien on 3ABN Live a week or so ago. I can't bring myself to watch Kay Kuzma either. But I like the cooking shows, Dick Nunez's program, the health programs, and quite a few others.

Posted by: inga Jan 12 2007, 03:16 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 12 2007, 01:08 PM)
>
> Sorry, Inga, Dick Nunez's exercise show was not filmed at Black Hills, but on a set at 3ABN.

Thanks, Sister, for the facts on the matter.

That makes Dick as dependent on Dan Shelton as Barbara Kerr was. And, as I understand it, she still has not received the tapes of the shows that were taped there.

Posted by: sister Jan 20 2007, 10:20 PM

The following information comes from Gailon Arthur Joy. I will make no comments other than to say, that Duane Clem is the brother of Roger Clem, whose testimony is also on BSDA. And I, too, weep for these victims...

Sister

Read and weep; This is number seven of what is now ten and counting. Notice many contacts came while Tommy was at 3ABN late 80's and early 90--91. Think we will find others in the contemporary period? Wonder if there are more in Dunn Loring?

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter

Gentlemen,

Here is the long awaited statement. You have my OK to use it in whatever way you feel necessary, and you may include my name. This has been extremely hard to do, but I think it had to be done.

--- statement follows ---

It has taken me a long time to get to the point where I felt I could write this. In light of recent events and allegations brought forth by other parties, I feel it has become necessary to compose this statement.

Let me begin by saying that I am not writing out of a spirit of vengeance or animosity. I had never planned on sharing what happened with anyone else. I was prepared to take this to my grave. I had forgotten, or at least pushed back, the feelings of shame and resentment I had about this situation, but in recent days a lot of that has been brought back. I do not, however, blame anyone who has been DIRECTLY affected by this for coming forward.

Tommy Shelton was my pastor for many years at the Ezra Church of God in West Frankfort, IL. I began attending with my mother, sister and 2 brothers around 1974 or so, and my father became a Christian and began coming with us shortly after I graduated high school in 1984. Tommy and I were never really close until I began attending the Christian school our church operated. Over the next few years, we would spend a lot of time talking, as I was dealing with depression issues and he was counseling with me.

When the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois decided to suspend Tommy's ministerial credentials in 1985, I was one of several who wrote a letter in his defense. I was also questioned by a detective at the West Frankfort Police Department. I had been on a few overnight trips with him, and gave testimony that nothing had happened that would substantiate the allegations being made against him. At the time, this was true. It was, unfortunately, about to change.

Sometime in late 1985 or early 1986, Tommy came to me and said he had an unusual medical problem and asked for my help. I was shocked. I had previously been told by two other young men that he had said the same thing to them, but I could not believe that they were telling me the truth, even though they told me identical stories at 2 different times. Now, I was hearing these words from my pastor. I felt trapped. I wanted to say something right then, but I didn't. I had vigorously defended him against allegations in the past, and had even lost friends because of it. I had written a letter saying nothing had happened to me. I had told the police nothing happened. Now, here I was, 19 years old, with NO ONE I felt I could talk to about it.

Over the next few months, Tommy and I would meet at his house, the church, the original 3ABN building and even one night on a back country road, anywhere he thought no one would see us. There was a lot of inappropriate touching, but nothing further. He wanted much more out of it, but I couldn't let it happen because in my heart I knew it wasn't right. I was wrestling with thoughts like "What if someone finds out? What will happen to the church....his family...my family? Who would believe me anyway?"

Whenever he would be touching me, I would get muscle spasms in my back. I guess it was because I was so tense. More than once he sensed that I was in pain, and a couple of times he even accused me of "faking it" because I didn't care or didn't want to help him. I really started questioning if I was in the wrong. It was constant mental and emotional turmoil.

On one occasion, I had been hired by a television and appliance rent-to-own company as an assistant manager, and was to travel to the main office about an hour away for 2 days of training. The company said they would get me a motel room so I wouldn't have to drive back and forth. When Tommy found this out, he decided that it would be a good opportunity for him to come down to my room and no one would ever know the difference. I paid very little attention to my training all day long because I was dreading what was going to happen that night. Finally, as the supervisor was going to reserve the room, I told him that "something had come up" and I was going to have to drive back home, so I wouldn't need the room after all. I lied. I don't remember what excuse I gave Tommy for not staying the night down there, but I know I lied to him also. I really didn't want to drive back and forth, but I hated the thought of another "meeting" worse. I loved my pastor and didn't want to hurt him, b ut I didn't know how much longer I could keep this up. I was now lying to try to avoid it.

Finally, he said he realized that I was uncomfortable and decided we shouldn't be doing this. It was like a thousand pound weight was gone. I felt free. The problem is that I felt such a release that I didn't consider the fact that this had already happened before, or so I had been told. I never told anyone. It is because of my silence, I feel, that others have been harmed. That is one of my big regrets and I will carry that guilt for the rest of my days. There is nothing I can ever do to change that. I only hope that in some way, speaking out now will help put an end to it once and for all.

I am happy to say that God has been with me through it all. I am still attending church faithfully, and have been working with teens at church for the past 10-12 years. I was ordained as a General Baptist minister in September of 2005, and have served as a youth pastor and Sunday School teacher at churches I have attended previously. I am pleased to be able to say that I do NOT have any homosexual desires or tendencies as a result of my experience. If anything, it has made me abhor and detest it even more than I ever did before. In addition, it is very possible that I will be dealing with a young person in the future facing similar issues, and God may have allowed me to go through this so I would know how to help them. All things DO work together for good to those who love God!

In conclusion, I want to say that I do NOT hate Tommy Shelton, nor do I want to see him or his family destroyed. I grew up with the Shelton kids. They're almost like family to me. I hope that my coming forward doesn't end our friendships, although I'm sure it will never be the same from this point forward.

I ask all who read this to please pray for all those who have been directly involved, our families, our churches and yes, for Tommy Shelton also. It is my opinion that he needs to be out of the ministry right now, but he also needs the Lord's leadership as he deals with past issues. Our God is a God of judgment, but He is also a God of forgiveness and restoration. I want that restoration for Tommy and everyone else who has been affected by this. Snide remarks and hateful comments won't solve anything or bring healing to anyone, only God's touch can do that.

Thank you for your prayers and thoughts as we all try to put this behind us. God bless.

Duane Clem

Posted by: calvin Jan 20 2007, 10:58 PM

Why can't somebody file charges?

Posted by: Clay Jan 20 2007, 10:59 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 20 2007, 10:58 PM) ☐
>
> Why can't somebody file charges?

yanno.....

Posted by: lookin4truth Jan 20 2007, 11:20 PM

I believe in some previous posts it was noted that the statute of limitations, in the state of Illinois, was recently extended, to cover the victim up to the age of 38.

If I did my math correctly, Duane Clem is approximately 40 years old. He stated that the abuse occurred in 1985 or 1986, and he was about 19 at the time.

By reading Roger Clem's statement, it appears he may be within the new statute of limitations.

Brad Dunning stated he was 14 at the time of his encounter with Tommy. That was in the 1982-1983 timeframe, which would make him about 38.

I am not sure what the limit is in Virginia, but if the victim, who was a minor at the time of the abuse, would choose to press charges, it is possible that there may be a case there.

Someone with legal experience may wish to comment on whether civil law suits are a possibility.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 20 2007, 11:43 PM

Dear Duane Clem,

Thank you for this brave move!

Praise God that He has sustained you and led you through the valley. I know you have regrets for not coming forward earlier but now you have set the record straight and that was important to do. You have laid another stepping stone onto the path leading out of darkness and into the marvelous light of truth! Perhaps others will be encouraged to follow your example.

Any time sin is exposed it can turn some against the one bringing it to light. It is painful to be rejected for telling the truth and I pray this doesn't happen for you. While it is important for Tommy Shelton's salvation to be allowed to experience the consequences of his actions, hate for him should not be among them. He is precious to the Lord, just as each of us are, in spite of his despicable sins.

Posted by: Ralph Jan 21 2007, 12:37 AM

Sex offenders whom we knew to be guilty beyond the shadow of a doubt are walking the streets today. They were declared "not guilty" because they had a sharp lawyer who defended the dark side and was able to to bring question because of some technicality. "Not Guilty" is not necessarily synonymous with "Innocent."

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 21 2007, 12:45 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 21 2007, 01:37 AM)
>
> Sex offenders whom we knew to be guilty beyond the shadow of a doubt are walking the streets today. They were declared "not guilty" because they had a sharp lawyer who defended the dark side and was able to to bring question because of some technicality. "Not Guilty" is not necessarily synonymous with "Innocent."

Amen.

Posted by: Ralph Jan 21 2007, 12:55 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 20 2007, 09:58 PM)
>
> Why can't somebody file charges?

Sorry, Calvin. I should have had this quote at the top of my previous post.

Posted by: Observer Jan 21 2007, 06:36 AM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 20 2007, 10:20 PM)
>
> I believe in some previous posts it was noted that the statute of limitations, in the state of Illinois, was recently extended, to cover the victim up to the age of 38.
>
> If I did my math correctly, Duane Clem is approximately 40 years old. He stated that the abuse occurred in 1985 or 1986, and he was about 19 at the time.
>
> By reading Roger Clem's statement, it appears he may be within the new statute of limitations.
>
> Brad Dunning stated he was 14 at the time of his encounter with Tommy. That was in the 1982-1983 timeframe, which would make him about 38.
>
> I am not sure what the limit is in Virginia, but if the victim, who was a minor at the time of the abuse, would choose to press charges, it is possible that there may be a case there.
>
> Someone with legal experience may wish to comment on whether civil law suits are a possibility.

According to a published report, an attorney involved in this case as a representative of an involved party states that an extension of the statute of limitations would be unconstitutional, and that his client would vigorusly fight its application to him.

As I am not an attorney, I cannot comment on that legal opinion.

The bottom line is: As has been stated before, things may not be a simple as they seem on the surface.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 21 2007, 08:35 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 21 2007, 06:36 AM)
>
> According to a published report, an attorney involved in this case as a representative of an involved party states that an extension of the statute of limitations would be unconstitutional, and that his client would vigorusly fight its application to him.
>
> As I am not an attorney, I cannot comment on that legal opinion.

> bottom line is: As has been stated before, things may not be a simple as they seem on the surface.

question, does God see a value in YOU? Does God see a value in Tommy? It doesn't appear that he s SDA, and this is your witness to him????? How, my friend can you open the Word and offer the aving grace of Jesus, thru the Truth of His Word after you have cried crucified him. Have mercy! "And he King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one f the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matthew 25:40. These allegations, the ossip, this faultfinding, the slander is not yours to be meddling with.
t might be helpful, to be sounding the Trumpet of a soon coming King, the message of a saving race, a message of a forgiving God.
y encouragement to Tommy is this:
ot even a sparrow falls to the ground without the Father's notice. Satan's hatred against od leads him to delight in destroying even the dumb creatures. It is only through God's rotecting care that the birds are preserved to gladden us with their songs of joy. But He oes not forget even the sparrows. "Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many parrows." Matthew 10:31

Posted by: Observer Jan 21 2007, 09:28 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 21 2007, 07:35 AM) ☐
>
> I question, does God see a value in YOU? Does God see a value in Tommy? It doesn't appear that he is SDA, and this is your witness to him????? How, my friend can you open the Word and offer the saving grace of Jesus, thru the Truth of His Word after you have cried crucified him. Have mercy! "And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matthew 25:40. These allegations, the gossip, this faultfinding, the slander is not yours to be meddling with.
> It might be helpful, to be sounding the Trumpet of a soon coming King, the message of a saving Grace, a message of a forgiving God.
> My encouragement to Tommy is this:
> Not even a sparrow falls to the ground without the Father's notice. Satan's hatred against God leads him to delight in destroying even the dumb creatures. It is only through God's protecting care that the birds are preserved to gladden us with their songs of joy. But He does not forget even the sparrows. "Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows." Matthew 10:31 hat prompted that reply I do not know. I simply made a comment on the legal issues, and off you ent on your own agenda with no reference to me or my post. Oh well!

Posted by: watchbird Jan 21 2007, 09:52 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 21 2007, 10:28 AM) ☐
>
> What prompted that reply I do not know. I simply made a comment on the legal issues, and off you went on your own agenda with no reference to me or my post. Oh well!

Fear not those that call evil good and good evil. There is but one remedy for sinners... and when Tommy repents is the time to give "encouragement" and the assurance of God's blessing. Until then, all those that coddle him and protect them are but encouraging him in his evil ways... and thus in a very real sense, becoming partners with him in his sins.

Their fate is not an enviable one.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 21 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 21 2007, 08:52 AM) ☐
>
> Fear not those that call evil good and good evil. There is but one remedy for sinners... and when Tommy repents is the time to give "encouragement" and the assurance of God's blessing. Until then, all those that coddle him and protect them are but encouraging him in his evil ways... and thus in a very real sense, becoming partners with him in his sins.
> Their fate is not an enviable one.

This is such an important point!

Eye witness seems to be overlooking two key factors when she complains about the "witness" SDA's are having on this non-SDA, Tommy Shelton, by exposing his sins:

1. Tommy, by his claim of Christianity, is considered a brother no matter what denomination he has chosen. As a Christian he has the same obligation to God's law. He has been around the "witness" of SDAs at 3abn for many years and still remains a non-SDA.

2. I would ask what "witness" the SDAs involved at 3abn are having in the West Franfort/Thompsonville communities as they strive to keep Tommy's alleged sinful behavior hidden by denials and intimidation?

Posted by: daylily Jan 21 2007, 02:14 PM

Eyewitness said "My encouragement to Tommy is this:" and quotes Matthew 10:31.

And my encouragement to Linda Shelton, the Clem brothers and others would be this:

Not even a sparrow falls to the ground without the Father's notice. Satan's hatred against God leads him to delight in destroying even the dumb creatures. It is only through God's protecting care that the birds are preserved to gladden us with their songs of joy. But He does not forget even the sparrows. "Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows." Matthew

10:31

Posted by: lookin4truth Jan 21 2007, 04:02 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 21 2007, 09:35 AM) ☐
>
> It doesn't appear that he is SDA, and this is your witness to him?????

Eyewitness,

This is a good point you bring up, and it has always made me wonder. I have spoken to people who were shocked to find he wasn't Adventist.

Tommy Shelton was raised Seventh-day Adventist. He left the SDA, and pastored denominational churches. He taught against keeping the Sabbath.

Then he came back to 3ABN, where people around the world think he is an Adventist. How can 3ABN have someone who doesn't believe SDA doctrine in a key ministry position.

How can Tommy make his living helping to propagate doctrine, which he preaches is false.

Just a few thoughts that come to mind.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 21 2007, 05:11 PM

This just goes to prove the point, that Danny and the Shelton's control 3abn, not the board which seems to be there mostly for looks, not the contributers, who I'm sure would not be giving if they knew the truth about all that has been going on.

Richard

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 21 2007, 05:02 PM) ☐
>

> Eyewitness,
>
> This is a good point you bring up, and it has always made me wonder. I have spoken to people who were shocked to find he wasn't Adventist.
>
> Tommy Shelton was raised Seventh-day Adventist. He left the SDA, and pastored denominational churches. He taught against keeping the Sabbath.
>
> Then he came back to 3ABN, where people around the world think he is an Adventist. How can 3ABN have someone who doesn't believe SDA doctrine in a key ministry position.
>
> How can Tommy make his living helping to propagate doctrine, which he preaches is false.

> Just a few thoughts that come to mind.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 21 2007, 06:27 PM

Innocent children were molested...... adults are dealing with wounds to their innocence of childhood.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 22 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 21 2007, 05:27 PM)
>
> Innocent children were molested...... adults are dealing with wounds to their innocence of childhood.

nd three of those innocent children have now made their identities know to all of us. They are no onger anonymous. Let us hope that more of them are encouraged to come forward and take ppropriate actions.

Posted by: Johann Jan 24 2007, 11:36 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 23 2007, 02:55 AM)
>
> And three of those innocent children have now made their identities know to all of us. They are no longer anonymous. Let us hope that more of them are encouraged to come forward and take appropriate actions.

understand one more is appearing, one who was quite young.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 24 2007, 11:51 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 25 2007, 12:36 AM)
>
> I understand one more is appearing, one who was quite young.

Quite young" = "under 18"

Posted by: Johann Jan 25 2007, 04:47 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 25 2007, 07:51 AM)
>
> "Quite young" = "under 18"

minus elleven years =

Posted by: Spike Jan 25 2007, 06:29 PM

I was reading a post on martime by Crater how those in the know have a responsibility to report this kind of behavior to the right authorities especially as he was in charge of Kids Time. Crater also mentioned something about the board being held responsilbe . Isn't it time something was done.
I would hate to see 3abn go under, but what is more important 3abn or the safety of one child.
I think what was done to Linda was a terrible thing and I hope she will be able to have another ministry someday. But if it comes to 3abn or the safety of a child I take the childs safety any day.

God is not limited in using other ways to get the gospel out.

If I were a parent that had a child that had much contact with TS I would be having a serious talk with my child.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 26 2007, 08:37 PM

Taken from http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-mom-1.htm.

Broken-Hearted Mother #1

[As alleged victims of Tommy Shelton talk to their old friends, yet more are coming forward. Just yesterday a new one came forward, one who remembers well an incident that allegedly occurred when he was eight years old.

He called his mother first and told her his story before he called us. Can you imagine what it must be like to be a mother and get a phone call like that?

Read her statement below and feel her pain as she unburdens her soul.

It should be noted that she confirms that Tommy did excuse his propositioning of around 14-year-old Brad Dunning by saying that he was trying to expose Brad's own homosexual activity.

- This was a story previously told to us by Duane Clem, which he said that he was told back in the early '80's when Brad and his family complained about what Tommy had done.
- Yet when we asked Duane whether he had heard anything about such problems with Brad prior to Tommy getting into trouble, he said that he had not.
- When we asked Pastor Brad Dunning about this story, he told us that that was the first time he had ever heard of such a thing.

Thus, unfortunately, we have here evidence that Tommy Shelton was not beyond slandering someone's reputation in order to escape getting into trouble over serious allegations. We hope that this apparent tendency does not run in the family.]

Her Letter Arrives

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Re: Discussion Yesterday
Date: Thu, 25 Jan 2007 19:42:55 -0800 (PST)

Bob,

As promised yesterday, I am sending you a letter from a broken-hearted mother. To keep 's confidentiality at this time, I would rather you didn't use my name. ... I check the website everyday and am impressed with all the new information posted.

Thanks,

****** ******

Letter of a Mother of an Alleged Victim of Tommy Shelton

Dear ******,

I cannot begin to tell you the grief and heartache I feel right now. If I start at the beginning, I can tell you my husband and I were staunch supporters of Tommy Shelton for all the years he ministered at Ezra Church of God. My family attended there when it was a small, one room building with an outhouse. Tommy performed our wedding ceremony in that small church. We continued as part of his following into the new building across the street. That building, by the way, was built by his brothers (Shelton Construction) and is one foot shorter on one side than the other. Danny, evidently, had not found his true calling at that time.

I worked closely with Tommy for all those years, and each time allegations would arise, he would call me into his office and recite the cover-up story he had carefully planned. He personally told me about Brad Dunning and the mistake he (Tommy) admitted making by trying to meet with him alone to find out if he had indeed made advances to the other boys in school. He again called me into his office when he was caught with another student from school in a bald-faced lie. He was very convincing to be sure. As I said, I stood against his accusers because I thought there was no way any of this could be true. The students had grudges against him and other people misunderstood the situation, excuses he spoon-fed his followers and we regurgitated at appropriate times.

As a mother, I will never forgive myself for my own absorption and mindless following of Tommy's plight that I missed clues within my own family. For that reason, it took 25 years for my own son to admit that he, also, had been abused by Tommy. The scabs that had covered his own pain for so many years were ripped away this week when new allegations arose and more of his friends broke their long, overdue silence. A dam broke when he was forced to step back to that dark place he had sealed up so long ago. His only excuse was that he knew I hadn't believed all the other boys, and he didn't think I would believe him either. Because of this simple statement, I will live with my own guilt and regret for the rest of my life.

Also, in hindsight, I blame Carol as much as Tommy. How could you, as a mother, turn a blind eye to what you knew he was doing? You were condoning it by keeping your silence. How could you rob us mothers of the opportunity to help our sons grieve and help them begin their healing? You turned your cold heart to us and allowed Tommy to continue with his sickness clear across the United States. You did him no favors by "forgiving" him, when what he needed was help to get well. Instead, he kept infecting others and you stood at his side and helped him. As far as I know, you stand there today with the same blood on your hands.

Professionally, I have a Master's degree in Social Work. When I look back at the church in those years under Tommy's leadership, I see that the black seed of his sin was at the very core. I see the many families he split in two because of his lies and cover-ups. Some of these never recovered. When I look at the lives of the boys he abused and see where each of them is today, I know that many have internalized the abuse and are still living with the guilt he placed on their heads. The guilt that forced them to face their feelings alone as they kept their silence against the man placed before them in a position of power and authority by their own parents. The boys who have never worked through the process of grieving over what they lost. There should be a special punishment for a person who abuses the trust of children and shatters their dreams; a special punishment for the man who ripped the joys and pleasures of childhood from young boys and changed their self-perceptions forever.

Moreover, can anyone imagine the guilt and regret of the mothers who failed to be there when their children needed them the most? Mothers who will always feel they failed at the job God blessed them with by not doing enough to protect their children against this evil.

Anyone still protecting him, Carol, Danny, 3ABN, or the attorney who keeps spouting about statute of limitations, your hands will also be held accountable for the evil you work to cover up. There is no "statute of limitations" on the pain and suffering these boys feel—it doesn't go away after a set number of years—it's there for the rest of their lives. Come forward now and get him the help he needs. He admits to having a "sickness" and you have failed him as we have failed our children. Help the healing begin for everyone involved before any more time goes by.

From a mother's heart.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 26 2007, 08:51 PM

Wow. The tears of this earth will dry up someday. Even so come Lord Jesus.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 26 2007, 09:37 PM) ☐
>
> Taken from http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-mom-1.htm.
>
> # Broken-Hearted Mother #1
>
> [As alleged victims of Tommy Shelton talk to their old friends, yet more are coming forward. Just yesterday a new one came forward, one who remembers well an incident that allegedly occurred when he was eight years old.
>
> He called his mother first and told her his story before he called us. Can you imagine what it must be like to be a mother and get a phone call like that?
>
> Read her statement below and feel her pain as she unburdens her soul.
>
> It should be noted that she confirms that Tommy did excuse his propositioning of around 14-year-old Brad Dunning by saying that he was trying to expose Brad's own homosexual activity.
>
> - This was a story previously told to us by Duane Clem, which he said that he was told back in the early '80's when Brad and his family complained about what Tommy had done.
> - Yet when we asked Duane whether he had heard anything about such problems with Brad prior to Tommy getting into trouble, he said that he had not.
> - When we asked Pastor Brad Dunning about this story, he told us that that was the first time he had ever heard of such a thing.

Thus, unfortunately, we have here evidence that Tommy Shelton was not beyond slandering someone's reputation in order to escape getting into trouble over serious allegations. We hope that this apparent tendency does not run in the family.]

Her Letter Arrives

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Re: Discussion Yesterday
Date: Thu, 25 Jan 2007 19:42:55 -0800 (PST)

Bob,

As promised yesterday, I am sending you a letter from a broken-hearted mother. To keep 's confidentiality at this time, I would rather you didn't use my name. ... I check the website everyday and am impressed with all the new information posted.

Thanks,

****** ******

Letter of a Mother of an Alleged Victim of Tommy Shelton

Dear ******,

I cannot begin to tell you the grief and heartache I feel right now. If I start at the beginning, I can tell you my husband and I were staunch supporters of Tommy Shelton for all the years he ministered at Ezra Church of God. My family attended there when it was a small, one room building with an outhouse. Tommy performed our wedding ceremony in that small church. We continued as part of his following into the new building across the street. That building, by the way, was built by his brothers (Shelton Construction) and is one foot shorter on one side than the other. Danny, evidently, had not found his true calling at that time.

I worked closely with Tommy for all those years, and each time allegations would arise, he would call me into his office and recite the cover-up story he had carefully planned. He personally told me about Brad Dunning and the mistake he (Tommy) admitted making by trying to meet with him alone to find out if he had indeed made advances to the other boys in school. He again called me into his office when he was caught with another student from school in a bald-faced lie. He was very convincing to be sure. As I said, I stood against his accusers because I thought there was no way any of this could be true. The students had grudges against him and other people misunderstood the situation, excuses he spoon-fed his followers and we regurgitated at appropriate times.

As a mother, I will never forgive myself for my own absorption and mindless following of Tommy's plight that I missed clues within my own family. For that reason, it took 25 years for my own son to admit that he, also, had been abused by Tommy. The scabs that had covered his own pain for so many years were ripped away this week when new allegations arose and more of his friends broke their long, overdue silence. A dam broke when he was forced to step back to that dark place he had sealed up so long ago. His only excuse was that he knew I hadn't believed all the other boys, and he didn't think I would believe him either. Because of this simple statement, I will live with my own guilt and regret for the rest of my life.

Also, in hindsight, I blame Carol as much as Tommy. How could you, as a mother, turn a blind eye to what you knew he was doing? You were condoning it by keeping your silence. How could you rob us mothers of the opportunity to help our sons grieve and help them begin their healing? You turned your cold heart to us and allowed Tommy to continue with his sickness clear across the United States. You did him no favors by "forgiving" him, when what he needed was help to get well. Instead, he kept infecting others and you stood at his side and helped him. As far as I know, you stand there today with the same blood on your hands.

> Professionally, I have a Master's degree in Social Work. When I look back at the church in those years under Tommy's leadership, I see that the black seed of his sin was at the very core. I see the many families he split in two because of his lies and cover-ups. Some of these never recovered. When I look at the lives of the boys he abused and see where each of them is today, I know that many have internalized the abuse and are still living with the guilt he placed on their heads. The guilt that forced them to face their feelings alone as they kept their silence against the man placed before them in a position of power and authority by their own parents. The boys who have never worked through the process of grieving over what they lost. There should be a special punishment for a person who abuses the trust of children and shatters their dreams; a special punishment for the man who ripped the joys and pleasures of childhood from young boys and changed their self-perceptions forever.
>
> Moreover, can anyone imagine the guilt and regret of the mothers who failed to be there when their children needed them the most? Mothers who will always feel they failed at the job God blessed them with by not doing enough to protect their children against this evil.
>
> Anyone still protecting him, Carol, Danny, 3ABN, or the attorney who keeps spouting about statute of limitations, your hands will also be held accountable for the evil you work to cover up. There is no "statute of limitations" on the pain and suffering these boys feel—it doesn't go away after a set number of years—it's there for the rest of their lives. Come forward now and get him the help he needs. He admits to having a "sickness" and you have failed him as we have failed our children. Help the healing begin for everyone involved before any more time goes by.
>
> From a mother's heart.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 26 2007, 10:34 PM

Have Mercy!!! So many damaged lives.

Posted by: Hawk Jan 27 2007, 02:11 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 26 2007, 10:34 PM)
>
> Have Mercy!!! So many damaged lives.

'es, and the damage is not completed. 3ABN, ASI, the Shelton family, people such as Bystander, "Eye Vitness", Alethia and others will continue to pour salt into the wounds of these damaged souls and ;upport threats to litigate against anyone who dares tell of what happened. Abuse, molestation, and nalicious attack on hurting people is their "christian" witness of 3ABN and the Adventist church to the vorld. Maybe the news agencies would like to help clean up this mess. Maybe they should. Time for hem to see the documents on save3abn.com. Time for the world to see them.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 27 2007, 05:26 AM

Hitler is reported to have said, "Make the lie big, make it simple, keep saying it, and eventually they will believe it."

Let's face it, this whole matter is so bizarre, the average Adventist when they first hear a bit of it, say, "That can't possibly be true." Can you blame them?

Who would ever believe that Danny Shelton, according to his own 3ABN board chairman, would tell him that the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations are 30 years old, when he must have known that there had been problems in Virginia just a few years before, and when an eye witness was in Danny's house with Danny around late 1985 when Tommy was beside himself as an alleged victim and his parents were returning a car Tommy had given the boy?

Who ever would imagine that a 3ABN attorney would threaten a non-Adventist pastor in 2003 and a non-Adventist church in 2007 in order to silence these child molestation allegations, and that Danny would refuse to answer whether 3ABN had paid the attorney to do that in 2003 when the letter written by that attorney was only on behalf of Tommy, and that that 2003 letter would base its threats of legal action solely on the logic that, "Even if the actions did occur," the statue of limitations has run out?

Regarding the statute of limitations, the one who came forward this week may still be able to press charges or sue, since he says he was about 8 at the time. Perhaps Riva can think of another way to silence the fellow.

But back to the main point: This is so bizarre, Adventists have a hard time swallowing this, since it is so contrary to everything they believe in. And I for one can't blame anyone who is in utter shock or denial.

Posted by: Clay Jan 27 2007, 10:33 AM only adventists who refuse to see the truth.... before they were adventist, they were people, and people can and will do evil things to other people.... add to the mix limited education and lots of money.... you have a hot mess....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 27 2007, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(Hawk @ Jan 27 2007, 01:11 AM)
>
> Yes, and the damage is not completed. 3ABN, ASI, the Shelton family, people such as Bystander, "Eye Witness", Alethia and others will continue to pour salt into the wounds of these damaged souls and support threats to litigate against anyone who dares tell of what happened. Abuse, molestation, and malicious attack on hurting people is their "christian" witness of 3ABN and the Adventist church to the world. Maybe the news agencies would like to help clean up this mess. Maybe they should. Time for them to see the documents on save3abn.com. Time for the world to see them.

Hawk, the majority here on the 3abn forum want to do all in our power to stop the salt on the wounds! Yes, there are those with eyes and judgement clouded by the sick system that appears to be in control at 3abn. They come here with their desperate lies and fiery darts inspired by the father of lies but can see them for what they are.

As more and more Seventh-day Adventists become aware of the dispicable victimization of so many young people, the robbing of their innocence, the devastating impact on their lives and the lies and cover ups by those claiming to be followers of Christ, as more SDAs read the poignant account from the mother of one of these victims, I believe you will see an outcry by true Christians that will begin to set things right!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 27 2007, 04:30 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 27 2007, 11:33 AM)
>
> before they were adventist, they were people, and people can and will do evil things to other people....

Adventist, Catholic, Jewish, Atheist...as far as I know, there are child molesters in all categories. However, the most vicious are those who hide behind a robe of religion.

Posted by: Salli Jan 27 2007, 04:34 PM

Broken-hearted Mother

So sorry for you.

As I live in West Frankfort and once worked at 3ABN where I learned not to trust anyone in power. If the leadership of 3ABN is a picture of God then God is unfair.

We are taught as I was to trust preachers, teachers, and police they are here to help you. The worst offenders comes from those who children trust. Until that attitude changes they will be taken advantage of.

Until we learn to teach our children only to trust God and not those who rule over them. There are the Hitlers in power who will take advantage of the weaker. We need to teach our children to think before they obey anyone. If a few parents, school & church boards, superiers, and and protectors of the offenders were punished along with the offenders maybe things would change.

S

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 27 2007, 04:42 PM

> QUOTE(Salli @ Jan 27 2007, 03:34 PM)
>
> Broken-hearted Mother
>
> So sorry for your lost.
>
> As I live in West Frankfort and once worked at 3ABN where I learned not to trust anyone in power. If the leadership of 3ABN is a picture of God then God is unfair.
>
> We are taught as I was to trust trust preachers, teachers, and police they are here to help you. The worst offenders comes from those who children trust. Until that attitude changes they will be taken advantage of.
>
> Until we learn to teach our children only to trust God and not those who rule over them. There are the Hitlers in power who will take advantage of the weaker. We need to teach our children to think before they obey anyone. If a few parents, school & church boards, superiers, and and protectors of the offenders were punished along with the offenders maybe things would change.
>
> S

Salli, welcome to the 3abn forum on BSDA!

I hope you know that God is not represented by those who would victimize young people while wearing the robes of religion. Those who would do such things are the followers of a far different being! How sad that our children and even our selves are sometimes not safe from those who portray themselves as trustworthy men of God.

Posted by: inga Jan 27 2007, 07:54 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 27 2007, 05:42 PM)
>
> Salli, welcome to the 3abn forum on BSDA!
>
> I hope you know that God is not represented by those who would victimize young people while wearing the robes of religion. Those who would do such things are the followers of a far different being! How sad that our children and even our selves are sometimes not safe from those who portray themselves as trustworthy men of God.

welcome.gif Salli!

I agree with everything PB says. Please realize that it is the work of Satan to misrepresent the character of God. And Tommy and Danny Shelton are aiding Satan in that work. It is very likely that the Shelton brothers have scars from their own childhood, but that does not excuse their behavior now.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 29 2007, 05:46 PM

I read an interesting article online today and thought it might be appropriate to quote a bit of it here.

> QUOTE
>
> SAN JOSE, California (AP) -- A man prosecutors said was one of the nation's most prolific child molesters was sentenced Monday to 150 years in prison for abusing two 12-year-old boys.

This next quote is disturbing but very typical of the twisted thinking that justifies this damaging behavior:

> QUOTE
>
> Schwartzmiller, who represented himself during his October trial, told jurors that he was innocent and maligned by a society that does not accept men who love boys.

http://www.cnn.com/2007/LAW/01/29/molester.sentenced.ap/

Posted by: Pickle Feb 1 2007, 09:42 AM

> QUOTE("Committee to Protect Journalists")
>
> ## Mexican reporter says coverage of priest abuse case sparks threats
>
> New York, January 17, 2007—The Committee to Protect Journalists is alarmed by reports that Mexican reporter Sanjuana Martínez has been threatened for her coverage of allegations that a Catholic priest sexually abused dozens of boys in Mexico and the United States and that two cardinals sought to protect the priest.
>
> Martínez told CPJ that she began receiving death threats in September 2006, when she began covering the case extensively for the Mexico City daily La Jornada and the daily news program "Hoy por hoy" on W Radio. Martínez also wrote a book about the case, Manto Púrpura (Purple Cloak), which was released in December. ...
> (http://www.cpj.org/news/2007/americas/mexico17jan07na.html)

Interesting. How many more parallels are we going to see? Yesterday Gailon says he finally got a threatening sounding letter from an attorney, but he did say it didn't have any claws.

It's ridiculoous. Why is Danny getting so desperate? All he has to do is come clean. But the fact that he refuses suggests that he knows that he can't. And perhaps his pride prevents him from saying those few words that melt most hearts: "I am sorry. Will you forgive me?"

But he should remember that only God is infallible. Adventists don't believe in papal infallibility.

If only Lucifer had humbled himself in repentance way, way back, before he got kicked out of heaven, we wouldn't be in this mess today. Let that be a lesson to us all.

Posted by: Pickle Feb 1 2007, 10:19 AM

> QUOTE(Canada.com)
>
> ## Priest blames girls for abuse he caused
>
> Lawyer speaks at workshop after visiting pedophile in prison
>
> Roberta Pennington, CanWest News Service
> Published: Thursday, January 18, 2007
>
> WINDSOR - Convicted pedophile Reverend Charles Sylvestre blames his victims, other clergy and a school principal for the abuse he caused nearly 50 young girls, Ontario Crown Paul Bailey said yesterday.
>
> "What we have here is a man who minimized his own involvement, blamed others, showed no [remorse] whatsoever to the psychological carnage that he caused," Mr. Bailey said. ...
> (http://www.canada.com/nationalpost/story.html?id=a9b28207-58bd-4e0d-b8fe-57be11a56f73)

Just too many similarities.

The undiluted second angel's message says, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen." And Rev. 18 says, "Come out of her my people." As W. D. Frazee pointed out to a group of Country Life workers in 1983, not only do we have to come out of Babylon, but Babylon has to come out of us.

Hmm. Does anyone think any of the language in Rev. 18:2 fits this situation?

Now understand, I'm one who will fight tooth and nail against the idea that the Adventist Church is Babylon. We're not Babylon. We're nauseating Laodicea, the people who think they are rich and increased with goods and in need of nothing, and instead are wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked. We're the people whom Jesus says He is about to spew out of His mouth, and that means cease to intercede for, not confess our names before the Father anymore.

Yet we are told that "the church may appear as about to fall." Is another prophecy being fulfilled before our very eyes?

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 11:59 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 1 2007, 10:19 AM)
>
> Just too many similarities.
>
> The undiluted second angel's message says, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen." And Rev. 18 says, "Come out of her my people." As W. D. Frazee pointed out to a group of Country Life workers in 1983, not only do we have to come out of Babylon, but Babylon has to come out of us.
>
> Hmm. Does anyone think any of the language in Rev. 18:2 fits this situation?
>
> Now understand, I'm one who will fight tooth and nail against the idea that the Adventist Church is Babylon. We're not Babylon. We're nauseating Laodicea, the people who think they are rich and increased with goods and in need of nothing, and instead are wretched, miserable, poor, blind, and naked. We're the people whom Jesus says He is about to spew out of His mouth, and that means cease to intercede for, not confess our names before the Father anymore.
>
> Yet we are told that "the church may appear as about to fall." Is another prophecy being fulfilled before our very eyes?

Pickle first of all Tommy Shelton is not a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church! Second he has not been convicted of any crime! Thirdly with your idea of restoration, love and ministry, I really doubt that Tommy Shelton could ever look at the Remnant Church as being that which it was called to be.
The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.)
Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ.
Right at the end of the second angels message is something that needs to be looked at. The "fornication" in a spiritual sense this would be the merging of two principles that cannot merge, "salvation by faith" and "salvation by works".
It appears much that you preach the salvation by works. My friend it is only through the Blood of Jesus and His Righteousness that you, I, and Mr. Shelton are saved. Martin Luther struggled with this same thing many years ago.
It is not you Mr. Pickle who can offer forgiveness to Mr. Tommy Shelton. It is not you Pickle that Tommy Shelton (if guilty of these alluded offenses) would confess His doing too, this my friend is the concept of the Priest in those denominations we are so familiar with as SDA's.

You appear to make yourself of some great importance, finding a place to condem, correct, and deman. Do you Pickle have some sort of self worship going on? Isn't man worshiped when we have not time to seek God's power, His presence, and His control of situation and happenings in our lives.

Is seems you have called yourself to stand as some sort of judge and excutioner for Mr. Shelton .

Friend there is one common thread that runs through the Three Angles Message and it's personal. It is YOU fear God, YOU give glory to Him, YOU worship Him. Its also the warning of Self worship and the invitation to the deeper life of worshiping and TRUSTING GOD.

The message that you and I should be proclaiming to the world and to Mr. Shelton is Jesus Saves and Jesus Forgives Sin!

What is your witness Pickle? Where is it? Your respect of person's in this is evident! Is this not sin? So how is it that what you do, and your respect of person (yourself, Linda) a lesser sin that what you have accussed Mr. Shelton of? I understand sin in whatever form will not be in heaven.

I cry to you as Elijah called to the people, as John the Baptist called to the people, and as part of the Remnant Church and the last message of time. REPENT and turn from your evil ways. Give Glory and Honor and Power to the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is His Righteousness that will save you.

"Not by power not by might but by my spirit says the Lord."

You have the duty to sound the alarm, which has been done repeatedly. Can you not trust the Lord to use all that you have brought forward? Is God lacking and his arm shortened in this matter? God Forbid! Pickle fall to your knees and humble yourself in the presence of God Almighty!

Its not your profession of SDA that has called you to this stand, it is not the credentials as pastor that has called you to this postion. It has not been the Lord that called you to such either, for our Lord is a loving God and He does not burn people forever and ever and ever.

Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 12:20 PM

Be SDA or not, he was a minister of God who prayed upon the young male members of his church, and basically everywhere he went. Those Catholic priests went for years with out being convicted opr disciplined in any manner, they were still guilty. Tommy is right where they were before they were finally caught. Thing is somebody had to talk aobut it, bring it out, shed some light on that which was done in darkness. I am just not understanding you and others defending and condoning his behavior. As a married man it was wrong let along, calling himself a Man of God.

You, also, are welcome to boycott BSDA in protest. We will miss you........really.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 09:59 AM)
>
> Pickle first of all Tommy Shelton is not a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church! Second he has not been convicted of any crime! Thirdly with your idea of restoration, love and ministry, I really doubt that Tommy Shelton could ever look at the Remnant Church as being that which it was called to be.
>
> The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.) Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ.
>
> Right at the end of the second angels message is something that needs to be looked at. The "fornication" in a spiritual sense this would be the merging of two principles that cannot merge, "salvation by faith" and "salvation by works".
>
> It appears much that you preach the salvation by works. My friend it is only through the Blood of > Jesus and His Righteousness that you, I, and Mr. Shelton are saved. Martin Luther struggled with this same thing many years ago.

> It is not you Mr. Pickle who can offer forgiveness to Mr. Tommy Shelton. It is not you Pickle that Tommy Shelton (if guilty of these alluded offenses) would confess His doing too, this my friend is the concept of the Priest in those denominations we are so familiar with as SDA's.
> You appear to make yourself of some great importance, finding a place to condem, correct, and deman. Do you Pickle have some sort of self worship going on? Isn't man worshiped when we have not time to seek God's power, His presence, and His control of situation and happenings in our lives.
> Is seems you have called yourself to stand as some sort of judge and excutioner for Mr. Shelton .
> Friend there is one common thread that runs through the Three Angles Message and it's personal. It is YOU fear God, YOU give glory to Him, YOU worship Him. Its also the warning of Self worship and the invitation to the deeper life of worshiping and TRUSTING GOD.
> The message that you and I should be proclaiming to the world and to Mr. Shelton is Jesus Saves and Jesus Forgives Sin!
> What is your witness Pickle? Where is it? Your respect of person's in this is evident! Is this not sin? So how is it that what you do, and your respect of person (yourself, Linda) a lesser sin that what you have accussed Mr. Shelton of? I understand sin in whatever form will not be in heaven.
> I cry to you as Elijah called to the people, as John the Baptist called to the people, and as part of the Remnant Church and the last message of time. REPENT and turn from your evil ways. Give Glory and Honor and Power to the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is His Righteousness that will save you.
> "Not by power not by might but by my spirit says the Lord."
> You have the duty to sound the alarm, which has been done repeatedly. Can you not trust the Lord to use all that you have brought forward? Is God lacking and his arm shortened in this matter? God Forbid! Pickle fall to your knees and humble yourself in the presence of God Almighty!
> Its not your profession of SDA that has called you to this stand, it is not the credentials as pastor that has called you to this postion. It has not been the Lord that called you to such either, for our Lord is a loving God and He does not burn people forever and ever and ever.
> Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 1 2007, 12:26 PM

How long have the charges against Tommy Shelton been discussed here? Since late 2006? Would Tommy Shelton be more likely to be interested in becoming SDA if everyone here were to turn a blind eye to the testimonies of the Clem Brothers and Brad Dunning or the hurting mother of a younger victim?

How long has Tommy Shelton been exposed to all of the Remnant working at 3abn? How long has he seen his SDA brethren work to cover up his alleged damaging behavior by lies and intimidation? That witness by the Remnant working at 3abn didn't seem to do much to woo him in, did it?

I have personally stated many times that Tommy Shelton is one of God's children, purchased by the same blood that Jesus shed for all of us. I am praying that he will break out of his denial, claim the salvation that Jesus offers and truly repent and provide restitution to his victims.

Please, if you are going to cry to anyone as Elijah and John the Baptist to repent and turn from your evil ways, cry to Danny Shelton and his brother Tommy for their own sakes and that of the wonderful ministry of 3abn!!!

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 12:33 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 09:59 AM)

> Pickle first of all Tommy Shelton is not a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church! Second he has not been convicted of any crime! Thirdly with your idea of restoration, love and ministry, I really doubt that Tommy Shelton could ever look at the Remnant Church as being that which it was called to be.
> The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.)
> Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ.
> Right at the end of the second angels message is something that needs to be looked at. The "fornication" in a spiritual sense this would be the merging of two principles that cannot merge, "salvation by faith" and "salvation by works".
> It appears much that you preach the salvation by works. My friend it is only through the Blood of Jesus and His Righteousness that you, I, and Mr. Shelton are saved. Martin Luther struggled with this same thing many years ago.
> It is not you Mr. Pickle who can offer forgiveness to Mr. Tommy Shelton. It is not you Pickle that Tommy Shelton (if guilty of these alluded offenses) would confess His doing too, this my friend is the concept of the Priest in those denominations we are so familiar with as SDA's.
> You appear to make yourself of some great importance, finding a place to condem, correct, and deman. Do you Pickle have some sort of self worship going on? Isn't man worshiped when we have not time to seek God's power, His presence, and His control of situation and happenings in our lives.
> Is seems you have called yourself to stand as some sort of judge and excutioner for Mr. Shelton .
> Friend there is one common thread that runs through the Three Angles Message and it's personal. It is YOU fear God, YOU give glory to Him, YOU worship Him. Its also the warning of Self worship and the invitation to the deeper life of worshiping and TRUSTING GOD.
> The message that you and I should be proclaiming to the world and to Mr. Shelton is Jesus Saves and Jesus Forgives Sin!
> What is your witness Pickle? Where is it? Your respect of person's in this is evident! Is this not sin? So how is it that what you do, and your respect of person (yourself, Linda) a lesser sin that what you have accussed Mr. Shelton of? I understand sin in whatever form will not be in heaven.
> I cry to you as Elijah called to the people, as John the Baptist called to the people, and as part of the Remnant Church and the last message of time. REPENT and turn from your evil ways. Give Glory and Honor and Power to the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is His Righteousness that will save you.
> "Not by power not by might but by my spirit says the Lord."
> You have the duty to sound the alarm, which has been done repeatedly. Can you not trust the Lord to use all that you have brought forward? Is God lacking and his arm shortened in this matter? God Forbid! Pickle fall to your knees and humble yourself in the presence of God Almighty!
> Its not your profession of SDA that has called you to this stand, it is not the credentials as pastor that has called you to this postion. It has not been the Lord that called you to such either, for our Lord is a loving God and He does not burn people forever and ever and ever.
> Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

ye witnesss,

n this country(USA) we removed from office a sitting congressman for sending suggestive emails to nderage young people. NOW please show me were were are to hold our pastors no matter what hurch they are grouped with, to lower standard then our political leaders?

ye witness , I do not believe that Mr. Pickle is trying to scorn or burn Tommy S. over and over again, nly just trying to get the Shelton Brothers to stop playing Games. You my friend are only aiding in hose games. The bottom line is that only God can forgive sin I am sure that Mr. Pickle would full gree with that, but the same God that can forgive has stated in his word that for Public sins there eeds to be public confession that has not been forthcoming in the least period.

So after Tommy confesses and Mr. pickle still goes after him then you will have grounds to complain, until that time please try and be understanding if some of us do not want to sit by and watch the gospel being made a mockery.

Erik W.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 1 2007, 10:26 AM) ☐
>
> How long have the charges against Tommy Shelton been discussed here? Since late 2006? Would Tommy Shelton be more likely to be interested in becoming SDA if everyone here were to turn a blind eye to the testimonies of the Clem Brothers and Brad Dunning or the hurting mother of a younger victim?
>
> How long has Tommy Shelton been exposed to all of the Remnant working at 3abn? How long has he seen his SDA brethren work to cover up his alleged damaging behavior by lies and intimidation? That witness by the Remnant working at 3abn didn't seem to do much to woo him in, did it?
>
> I have personally stated many times that Tommy Shelton is one of God's children, purchased by the same blood that Jesus shed for all of us. I am praying that he will break out of his denial, claim the salvation that Jesus offers and truly repent and provide restitution to his victims.
>
> Please, if you are going to cry to anyone as Elijah and John the Baptist to repent and turn from your evil ways, cry to Danny Shelton and his brother Tommy for their own sakes and that of the wonderful ministry of 3abn!!!

amen, amen amen

Posted by: sister Feb 1 2007, 12:35 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 12:59 PM) ☐
>
> Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

Eye Witness, your arguments are based upon the false assumption quoted above. If the assumption is false, then the conclusion arrived from it must in turn be false. Pickle has never claimed that God "called" him to "scorn" Tommy Shelton. He has also made statements here, that he came searching truth, neither as a supporter of Danny or Linda Shelton. Within the framework of that investigation he has gone directly to the sources to hear their testimony. Where he found conflicting statements, he sought further for answers. Those answers lead to the information regarding the allegations of sexual molestation against Tommy Shelton. Rather than merely accepting second hand allegations he sought out the victims. It is the testimony of the victims that speak against Tommy Shelton. The Bible say that it takes the testimony of two or more witnesses to convict a man of sin. In the case of Tommy Shelton the testimonies have exceeded two a number of times over and more victims are still coming forward.

Eye Witness, isn't time to set aside this charade of trying to misrepresent and discredit the messenger in order to silence the message? This dog doesn't hunt here...

Sister

Posted by: Observer Feb 1 2007, 12:40 PM

Re: "WINDSOR - Convicted pedophile Reverend Charles Sylvestre blames his victims, other clergy and a school principal for the abuse he caused nearly 50 young girls, Ontario Crown Paul Bailey said yesterday.

"What we have here is a man who minimized his own involvement, blamed others, showed no [remorse] whatsoever to the psychological carnage that he caused," Mr. Bailey said. ... (http://www.canada.com/nationalpost/story.h...fe-57be11a56f73)"

That attitude is not uncommon. I once worked with a highly educated, hilghly paid male who blamed the 4 YO female that he molested: How was he expected to respond to her? She walked in front of him naked! What would any normal male do?

For those who were unable to logon to the above URL try this one:

http://www.canada.com/nationalpost/story.html?id=a9b28207-58bd-4e0d-b8fe-57be11a56f73

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 12:50 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 12:20 PM)
>
> Be SDA or not, he was a minister of God who prayed upon the young male members of his church, and basically everywhere he went. Those Catholic priests went for years with out being convicted opr disciplined in any manner, they were still guilty. Tommy is right where they were before they were finally caught. Thing is somebody had to talk aobut it, bring it out, shed some light on that which was done in darkness. I am just not understanding you and others defending and condoning his behavior. As a married man it was wrong let along, calling himself a Man of God.
>
> You, also, are welcome to boycott BSDA in protest. We will miss you........really.

Tommy (if convicted and is guilty of these allogations) was wrong to prey upon young males period. His relationship with God, his forgiveness with God, is not your business. You business is to witness to millions upon millions in this world of a Father who offers saving grace and mercy. HE (God) can change peoples lives. NOt you.
You are only making MR. Shelton your prey. Do two wrong make a right? Tell me are you looking for some sort of self satisfaction in your prey process? Sounds like to me that this is could be a problem in your prey on him and in his alleged prey on them. As I have stated the alarm has been sounded and sounded over, and over again. Let God be God and let the judicial system do their job. And as a christian (if you are) then do your job and witness about Jesus and his power to change lives. Has Jesus done anything for you? Has he changed your life in any way? If not, then let me introduce to you the creator of this world. The very one that hung the planets in space on nothing. He has deliever many from the hands of Satan and He can do the same for you today. He loves you, He created you to serve Him. He has made promise after promise in His word for you. H e wants you in his kingdom and He wants Tommy Shelton there also. God is all powerful, all knowing and not one thing passes by that He does not know about or can not attend to. He also knows every desire of your heart, every feeling that you possess at this minute. It is He that is so very much in love with you even when He is not on your mind. Ask for His forgiveness for your wrong doings, ask Him to become Lord of you life, forgive those around you and trust God and believe Him not just believe in Him.

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 1 2007, 01:10 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 09:59 AM)
>
> Pickle first of all Tommy Shelton is not a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church! Second he has not been convicted of any crime! Thirdly with your idea of restoration, love and ministry, I really doubt that Tommy Shelton could ever look at the Remnant Church as being that which it was called to be.
> The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.)
> Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ.
> Right at the end of the second angels message is something that needs to be looked at. The "fornication" in a spiritual sense this would be the merging of two principles that cannot merge, "salvation by faith" and "salvation by works".
> It appears much that you preach the salvation by works. My friend it is only through the Blood of Jesus and His Righteousness that you, I, and Mr. Shelton are saved. Martin Luther struggled with this same thing many years ago.
> It is not you Mr. Pickle who can offer forgiveness to Mr. Tommy Shelton. It is not you Pickle that Tommy Shelton (if guilty of these alluded offenses) would confess His doing too, this my friend is the concept of the Priest in those denominations we are so familiar with as SDA's.
> You appear to make yourself of some great importance, finding a place to condem, correct, and deman. Do you Pickle have some sort of self worship going on? Isn't man worshiped when we have not time to seek God's power, His presence, and His control of situation and happenings in our lives. Is seems you have called yourself to stand as some sort of judge and excutioner for Mr. Shelton .
> Friend there is one common thread that runs through the Three Angles Message and it's personal. It is YOU fear God, YOU give glory to Him, YOU worship Him. Its also the warning of Self worship and the invitation to the deeper life of worshiping and TRUSTING GOD.
> The message that you and I should be proclaiming to the world and to Mr. Shelton is Jesus Saves and Jesus Forgives Sin!
> What is your witness Pickle? Where is it? Your respect of person's in this is evident! Is this not sin? So how is it that what you do, and your respect of person (yourself, Linda) a lesser sin that what you have accussed Mr. Shelton of? I understand sin in whatever form will not be in heaven.
> I cry to you as Elijah called to the people, as John the Baptist called to the people, and as part of the Remnant Church and the last message of time. REPENT and turn from your evil ways. Give Glory and Honor and Power to the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is His Righteousness that will save you. "Not by power not by might but by my spirit says the Lord."
> You have the duty to sound the alarm, which has been done repeatedly. Can you not trust the Lord to use all that you have brought forward? Is God lacking and his arm shortened in this matter? God Forbid! Pickle fall to your knees and humble yourself in the presence of God Almighty!
> Its not your profession of SDA that has called you to this stand, it is not the credentials as pastor that has called you to this postion. It has not been the Lord that called you to such either, for our Lord is a loving God and He does not burn people forever and ever and ever.
> Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 01:12 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 1 2007, 12:35 PM) ☐
>
> Eye Witness, your arguments are based upon the false assumption quoted above. If the assumption is false, then the conclusion arrived from it must in turn be false. Pickle has never claimed that God "called" him to "scorn" Tommy Shelton. He has also made statements here, that he came searching truth, neither as a supporter of Danny or Linda Shelton. Within the framework of that investigation he has gone directly to the sources to hear their testimony. Where he found conflicting statements, he sought further for answers. Those answers lead to the information regarding the allegations of sexual molestation against Tommy Shelton. Rather than merely accepting second hand allegations he sought out the victims. It is the testimony of the victims that speak against Tommy Shelton. The Bible say that it takes the testimony of two or more witnesses to convict a man of sin. In the case of Tommy Shelton the testimonies have exceeded two a number of times over and more victims are still coming forward.
>
> Eye Witness, isn't time to set aside this charade of trying to misrepresent and discredit the messenger in order to silence the message? This dog doesn't hunt here...
>
> Sister

Sister what Pickle has posted, what Pickle has investigated and brought forward to the people are statements that are unfounded. Where are these people? Why have they not went to the authorities? One statement I read said that the person went to the authorities and there was nothing done? Why? Was there no evidence? How can you on someone draw a conclusion and find that because someone said it that it is truth.
Do you not know that their are people whom this is the only way they can get attention. It is with such methods at like this. I have questioned are any of these really just homosexuals, they don't have a case in the courts because they are known in the community as homosexuals. I don't know, but none of this without court proceedings, convictions is justified. If its court facts then weigh it, wallow in it, To do so without, well it just doesn't make since, not for what is suppose to be "christians".
Have you thought about how many of those sort of burdened people that have peverted ways get on this forum and get their statisfaction from reading about this gore. Their minds work differently than ours and they can find the content exciting, arousing. You and all those who have over and over and over went through this stuff are giving them more and more satisfaction. Have you ever thought about it? Give it some thought. This stuff is unhealthy for the poster for the readers and for the perverted as well. Posting the example of this incident and that incident this only helps those with the sickness to picture in their minds exactly the act they have either committed or would like to commit. This could be an asset to some child or whatever to become a victim today. Please I beg you, for those who this gore could hurt, stop giving Satan tools.
Ted Bundy was all about written material and pictures and so on. Please stop it folks you are enhancing what could be death for some who fall victim to the preversion.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 01:13 PM

Oh but it is my buisness, you see I belong to SDA church,and 3ABN, although an independent ministry, is an independent SDA ministry. All the programming on their is Adventist in their beliefs and doctrine. They carry all of our major events. So it is my business to make sure we nip this mess in the bud, before it this network TV. Do you realy think they will over look this in light of the problems with Catholic priests? Another religious leader praying on young boys and men? We just had the preacher a few months ago with the homosexual affair? Yes, it IS my business.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 10:50 AM)
>
> Tommy (if convicted and is guilty of these allogations) was wrong to prey upon young males period. His relationship with God, his forgiveness with God, is not your business. You business is to witness to millions upon millions in this world of a Father who offers saving grace and mercy. HE (God) can change peoples lives. NOt you. You are only making MR. Shelton your prey. Do two wrong make a right? Tell me are you looking for some sort of self satisfaction in your prey process? Sounds like to me that this is could be a problem in your prey on him and in his alleged prey on them. As I have stated the alarm has been sounded and sounded over, and over again. Let God be God and let the judicial system do their job. And as a christian (if you are) then do your job and witness about Jesus and his power to change lives. Has Jesus done anything for you? Has he changed your life in any way? If not, then let me introduce to you the creator of this world. The very one that hung the planets in space on nothing. He has deliever many from the hands of Satan and He can do the same for you today. He loves you, He created you to serve Him. He has made promise after promise in His word for you. H e wants you in his kingdom and He wants Tommy Shelton there also. God is all powerful, all knowing and not one thing passes by that He does not know about or can not attend to. He also knows every desire of your heart, every feeling that you possess at this minute. It is He that is so very much in love with you even when He is not on your mind. Ask for His forgiveness for your wrong doings, ask Him to become Lord of you life, forgive those around you and trust God and believe Him not just believe in Him.

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 11:12 AM)
>
> Sister what Pickle has posted, what Pickle has investigated and brought forward to the people are statements that are unfounded. Where are these people? Why have they not went to the authorities? One statement I read said that the person went to the authorities and there was nothing done? Why? Was there no evidence? How can you on someone draw a conclusion and find that because someone said it that it is truth.
> Do you not know that their are people whom this is the only way they can get attention. It is with such methods at like this. I have questioned are any of these really just homosexuals, they don't have a case in the courts because they are known in the community as homosexuals. I don't know, but none of this without court proceedings, convictions is justified. If its court facts then weigh it, wallow in it, To do so without, well it just doesn't make since, not for what is suppose to be "christians".
> Have you thought about how many of those sort of burdened people that have peverted ways get on this forum and get their statisfaction from reading about this gore. Their minds work differently than ours and they can find the content exciting, arousing. You and all those who have over and over and over went through this stuff are giving them more and more satisfaction. Have you ever thought about it? Give it some thought. This stuff is unhealthy for the poster for the readers and for the perverted as well. Posting the example of this incident and that incident this only helps those with the sickness to picture in their minds exactly the act they have either committed or would like to commit. This could be an asset to some child or whatever to become a victim today. Please I beg you, for those who this gore could hurt, stop giving Satan tools.
> Ted Bundy was all about written material and pictures and so on. Please stop it folks you are enhancing what could be death for some who fall victim to the preversion.

eye witness,

what would you have us to do look the other way, that certainly is satans tool has well.

ERIK

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 1 2007, 01:20 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 01:50 PM)
>
> Tommy (if convicted and is guilty of these allogations) was wrong to prey upon young males period. His relationship with God, his forgiveness with God, is not your business. You business is to witness to millions upon millions in this world of a Father who offers saving grace and mercy. HE (God) can change peoples lives. NOt you.

EW, you obviously don't know your place. It's not your place to tell anyone here or elsewhere about what their business is.

A lil advice. You would be better served taking your own advice and, let the Holy Spirit work with your attitude. Let Him tame that tongue of yours... Don't be a stumbling block, just keep movin and keep YOUR eyes on Jesus. Ta ta

---

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 1 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> Eye witnesss,
>
> In this country(USA) we removed from office a sitting congressman for sending suggestive emails to underage young people. NOW please show me were were are to hold our pastors no matter what church they are grouped with, to lower standard then our political leaders?
>
> Eye witness , I do not believe that Mr. Pickle is trying to scorn or burn Tommy S. over and over again, only just trying to get the Shelton Brothers to stop playing Games. You my friend are only aiding in those games. The bottom line is that only God can forgive sin I am sure that Mr. Pickle would full agree with that, but the same God that can forgive has stated in his word that for Public sins there needs to be public confession that has not been forthcoming in the least period.
>
> So after Tommy confesses and Mr. pickle still goes after him then you will have grounds to complain, until that time please try and be understanding if some of us do not want to sit by and watch the gospel being made a mockery.
>
> Erik W.
> amen, amen amen

until that time please try and be understanding if some of us do not want to sit by and watch the gospel being made a mockery.

The mockery of the Gospel is found in each and every one of our lives, if we are profession christians, and sin. Do you sin?

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 1 2007, 01:20 PM)
>
> EW, you obviously don't know your place. It's not your place to tell anyone here or elsewhere about what their business is.
>
> A lil advice. You would be better served taking your own advice and, let the Holy Spirit work with your attitude. Let Him tame that tongue of yours... Don't be a stumbling block, just keep movin and keep YOUR eyes on Jesus. Ta ta

I should have frazed that a little differently. The Bible gave christians the great commission. Some will and some won't. There are those who serve and there are those who don't.
Ta Ta

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 1 2007, 01:20 PM)
>
> EW, you obviously don't know your place. It's not your place to tell anyone here or elsewhere about what their business is.
>
> A lil advice. You would be better served taking your own advice and, let the Holy Spirit work with your attitude. Let Him tame that tongue of yours... Don't be a stumbling block, just keep movin and keep YOUR eyes on Jesus. Ta ta

Hey is that your picture? Which one are you the naked man or the naked women.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 1 2007, 01:33 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 12:59 PM)
>
> ... The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.)
> Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ...

Again, you have forgotten your place. Calling either the Adventist church or BSDA Babylon is not a wise thing.

Posted by: Clay Feb 1 2007, 01:36 PM

Eyewitness... you better get of of 3abn's computer... they may need it to do some other productive things.... as for your little tirades...

talk to the hand....

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 1 2007, 01:36 PM) ☐
>
> Eyewitness... you better get of of 3abn's computer... they may need it to do some other productive things.... as for your little tirades...

>
>
> talk to the hand....

lay talk to the hand cause the mind is not with you.

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 11:30 AM)
>
> until that time please try and be understanding if some of us do not want to sit by and watch the gospel being made a mockery.
>
> The mockery of the Gospel is found in each and every one of our lives, if we are profession christians, and sin. Do you sin?
> I should have frazed that a little differently. The Bible gave christians the great commission. Some will and some won't. There are those who serve and there are those who don't.
> Ta Ta
> Hey is that your picture? Which one are you the naked man or the naked women.

ye Witness,

How do you mean that if i sin i am making mockery of the gospel?

Secondly, to answer your Question yes i do, sadly must go to cross daily to confess various things.

Thirdly, it is a mockery of the gospel to have repent offender by all appearances unrepentant on top of that out proclaiming the gospel has a pastor, IF tommy has repented then i am the first to give him second chances but he has not has proven by the letter mike riva wrote in jan. 2007 so please do lower my sin or tommy's by comparing them. they are different yet all sin places a barrier between us and god. WERE the difference comes in is unrepeated of sin removes from the saving power of the gospel until such time has place ourselves back under the cross.

please do not try and defend the actions of tommy by looking for sin in my life or anyones else's it does nothing to remove tommys actions or guilt.

erik

Posted by: Clay Feb 1 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 01:40 PM)
>
> Clay talk to the hand cause the mind is not with you.

eye witness we are giving you the benefit of the doubt regarding your possessing a mind... its clear you don't possess common sense.....

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 01:55 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 1 2007, 01:33 PM)
>
> Again, you have forgotten your place. Calling either the Adventist church or BSDA Babylon is not a wise thing.

You have twisted some of those words. The Seventh Day Adventist church is not Babylon. They are the Remnate Church one that will carry the message of the Third Elijah to the entire world, including you, and dear friend it is Christ our Righteousness. This is the part of the Three Angles Message that, well even you may not understand. See what I am saying right now is this: Without this relationship with God, which is the entire basis of the Christian life, the Seventh Day Adventist religion becomes nothing more than some kind of moralistic club or society. Many can get caught up in sounding trumpets, and keeping the law, but seem to forget about Christ Our Righteousness. See Salvation is either totally through faith in Christ alone or tatally through your own words. There is no middle ground. To attempt combining the two is to attempt the impossible.

Posted by: task force Feb 1 2007, 02:03 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 11:59 AM)
>
> Pickle first of all Tommy Shelton is not a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church! Second he has not been convicted of any crime! Thirdly with your idea of restoration, love and ministry, I really doubt that Tommy Shelton could ever look at the Remnant Church as being that which it was called to be.
>
> The tower of Babel resulted in confusion, Babylon has always been confusing. Babel represents a mixture of conflicting ideas. (Much like the forums seen here.)
>
> Remember that there are only two kinds of people in the world -those who know God, and those who don't know God. And both types can be found in every church, including your own. It takes more than having a name written on the church books to be a Christian. A Christian is one who KNOWS Jesus Christ.
>
> Right at the end of the second angels message is something that needs to be looked at. The "fornication" in a spiritual sense this would be the merging of two principles that cannot merge, "salvation by faith" and "salvation by works".
>
> It appears much that you preach the salvation by works. My friend it is only through the Blood of Jesus and His Righteousness that you, I, and Mr. Shelton are saved. Martin Luther struggled with this same thing many years ago.
>
> It is not you Mr. Pickle who can offer forgiveness to Mr. Tommy Shelton. It is not you Pickle that Tommy Shelton (if guilty of these alluded offenses) would confess His doing too, this my friend is the concept of the Priest in those denominations we are so familiar with as SDA's.
>
> You appear to make yourself of some great importance, finding a place to condem, correct, and deman. Do you Pickle have some sort of self worship going on? Isn't man worshiped when we have not time to seek God's power, His presence, and His control of situation and happenings in our lives. Is seems you have called yourself to stand as some sort of judge and excutioner for Mr. Shelton .
>
> Friend there is one common thread that runs through the Three Angles Message and it's personal. It is YOU fear God, YOU give glory to Him, YOU worship Him. Its also the warning of Self worship and the invitation to the deeper life of worshiping and TRUSTING GOD.
>
> The message that you and I should be proclaiming to the world and to Mr. Shelton is Jesus Saves and Jesus Forgives Sin!
>
> What is your witness Pickle? Where is it? Your respect of person's in this is evident! Is this not sin? So how is it that what you do, and your respect of person (yourself, Linda) a lesser sin that what you have accussed Mr. Shelton of? I understand sin in whatever form will not be in heaven.
>
> I cry to you as Elijah called to the people, as John the Baptist called to the people, and as part of the Remnant Church and the last message of time. REPENT and turn from your evil ways. Give Glory and Honor and Power to the Lord Jesus Christ. For it is His Righteousness that will save you.
>
> "Not by power not by might but by my spirit says the Lord."
>
> You have the duty to sound the alarm, which has been done repeatedly. Can you not trust the Lord to use all that you have brought forward? Is God lacking and his arm shortened in this matter? God Forbid! Pickle fall to your knees and humble yourself in the presence of God Almighty!
>
> Its not your profession of SDA that has called you to this stand, it is not the credentials as pastor that has called you to this postion. It has not been the Lord that called you to such either, for our Lord is a loving God and He does not burn people forever and ever and ever.
>
> Yet you proclaim God has called you to scorn this man for months on end, over, and over, and over.

Eye Witness, You say their are no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 1 2007, 02:06 PM

Anyway, I'm shaking the dust off of my feet, in light of the following:
Pro 26:5 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit.

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 1 2007, 01:33 PM)
>
> Again, you have forgotten your place. Calling either the Adventist church or BSDA Babylon is not a wise thing.

You have twisted again the words there seraphim. Again an example of what happens when he said, she said. Seventh Day Adventist are people who are the Remnant who have a relationship with God, which is the entire bases of the Christian life, the Seventh-day Adventist religion becomes nothing more than some kind of moralistic club or society with out the relationship with Jesus and understanding Christ our Righteousness.

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 08:55 PM)
>
> You have twisted some of those words. The Seventh Day Adventist church is not Babylon. They are the Remnate Church one that will carry the message of the Third Elijah to the entire world, including you, and dear friend it is Christ our Righteousness. This is the part of the Three Angles Message that, well even you may not understand. See what I am saying right now is this: Without this relationship with God, which is the entire basis of the Christian life, the Seventh Day Adventist religion becomes nothing more than some kind of moralistic club or society. Many can get caught up in sounding trumpets, and keeping the law, but seem to forget about Christ Our Righteousness. See Salvation is either totally through faith in Christ alone or tatally through your own words. There is no middle ground. To attempt combining the two is to attempt the impossible.

Aren't we getting... ofl ?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 1 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 1 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> Eye Witness... If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

TF be advised you have bitten off much more than you can swallow. Now, if that's your thing fine, but I suggest that you please take your preferences some place other than here. Just tryin to be helpful. Don't let the door hit'cha, where the good... on your way out.

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 1 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Eye Witness, You say their are no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

There has been no filings with any authorities anywhere. Tommy's record is clean. There are no convictions or there would be a filing on that. This that you read is all gossip nothing of substantial facts in any police station, judicial court ect. About the consenting adult thing. Well if it happened, I guess that, in this case it would be a homosexual relationship.

This post was edited for content Eyewtiness you can only question the validity of Duane's testimony, not guess at his sexual orientation.

We must realise though that Jesus still loves him and he also is welcome to the Living Water that Jesus offers to all. His healing can come through Jesus, if he but surrenders. I am amazed how people are trying to say that the man named Pickle is to bring Clem healing. There is no human on this earth that can bring healing for anyone in any situation.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 1 2007, 02:33 PM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 1 2007, 03:07 PM)
>
> Aren't we getting... ofl ?

.... WHAT?!?... you dare suggest that a good Pentecostal preacher is "getting off topic"??? Impossible.... when they are "on a roll" EVERYTHING is "on topic" and "fair game" for their gunfire.... .....

Just take cover.... sofa1.gif .... relax.... there are some firm hands on the tiller here.... but... this kind need to be given enough opportunity to fully expose their character.....

Peace... ......

Posted by: Brenda Feb 1 2007, 02:40 PM

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 2 2007, 07:03 AM)
>
> Eye Witness, You say their are [b]no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

Now what has Duane Clem's dating history to do with this story?

One possible answer - He is and was homosexual and was happy with what Tommy Shelton did/is alleged to have done.

Problem - this flies in the face of Duane's own testimony

Two - He was so scarred by what happened/allegedly happened that he has not felt able to form a relationship with anyone since.

Just my cogitations.

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 02:48 PM

[quote name='Brenda' date='Feb 1 2007, 09:40 PM' post='174410']

Now what has Duane Clem's dating history to do with this story?

My thoughts: E.W. and T.F. are desperately trying to make Duane look very bad so T.S. can look better.

Not working for me!

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 1 2007, 01:42 PM) ☐
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> How do you mean that if i sin i am making mockery of the gospel?
>
> Secondly, to answer your Question yes i do, sadly must go to cross daily to confess various things.
>
> Thirdly, it is a mockery of the gospel to have repent offender by all appearances unrepentant on top of that out proclaiming the gospel has a pastor, IF tommy has repented then i am the first to give him second chances but he has not has proven by the letter mike riva wrote in jan. 2007 so please do lower my sin or tommy's by comparing them. they are different yet all sin places a barrier between us and god. WERE the difference comes in is unrepeated of sin removes from the saving power of the gospel until such time has place ourselves back under the cross.
>
> please do not try and defend the actions of tommy by looking for sin in my life or anyones else's it does nothing to remove tommys actions or guilt.
>
> erik

You have said that Tommy is "unrepentant" and that it has not been proven to you that he has repented.
Do you know Tommy personally? Have you talked to him personally about this "unrepentance?" If you haven't , then maybe you have judged him wrongly. His repentance is "between" him and God, just as yours is.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 1 2007, 02:55 PM

Yes the other team failed with their tactics so lets try it another way but still saying the same things. Bottom line is it DON'T Matter what their sexual preference is Tommy was married at the time & was having relationships outside of his marriage so on that grounds alone he was committing adultery in their own words. Still wrong. But to belittle the ones that have come forward with their stories & even the mom of one of the victims who was 8 or 9 at the time is just wrong of them & then they have the nerve to bring their bs in here. That dog don't hunt here.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 03:00 PM

Here is the problem EW. We dont' have to know him personally. If, inded, Tommy is of the mind that his victims were "consenting" adults, and him approaching them for sex was ok because they were of age(forgetting about the married pastor part), and generally in denial about the whole situation, why would he repent? He believes he did nothing wrong.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> You have said that Tommy is "unrepentant" and that it has not been proven to you that he has repented.
> Do you know Tommy personally? Have you talked to him personally about this "unrepentance?" If you haven't , then maybe you have judged him wrongly. His repentance is "between" him and God, just as yours is.

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 03:16 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 03:00 PM)
>
> Here is the problem EW. We dont' have to know him personally. If, inded, Tommy is of the mind that his victims were "consenting" adults, and him approaching them for sex was ok because they were of age(forgetting about the married pastor part), and generally in denial about the whole situation, why would he repent? He believes he did nothing wrong.

Did he do anything wrong princessdi? Can you plug up the chair and pull the switch? Have you already written the prison sentence term? If you can and if you think you can then why don't you administer the punishment that you have determined? Could it be that you are no body in the judicial system who handles the crimes of the land. Are you saying that america's judicial system is lacking and you can improve on it? Are you just a bystander feeding on unfactual evidence and pointing a loaded gun at someone because your you, and you think your in the know?
Maybe your right knowing him personally has nothing to do with anything and not knowing him persoanlly puts you just as far out in left field. One person who knows it all, and can fix all is the Lord.
You know absolutly nothing if Tommy is in denial or if he isn't. It's not you forgiveness, or your determination of any facts that will make a difference in court or with God.
Involving yourself with such is just being a busy body.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 1 2007, 03:28 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 04:16 PM)
>
> Did he do anything wrong princessdi? Can you plug up the chair and pull the switch? Have you already written the prison sentence term? If you can and if you think you can then why don't you administer the punishment that you have determined? Could it be that you are no body in the judicial system who handles the crimes of the land. Are you saying that america's judicial system is lacking and you can improve on it? Are you just a bystander feeding on unfactual evidence and pointing a loaded gun at someone because your you, and you think your in the know?
> Maybe your right knowing him personally has nothing to do with anything and not knowing him persoanlly puts you just as far out in left field. One person who knows it all, and can fix all is the Lord.
> You know absolutly nothing if Tommy is in denial or if he isn't. It's not you forgiveness, or your determination of any facts that will make a difference in court or with God.

> Involving yourself with such is just being a busy body.

And do you know Di... or any of the rest of us personally? Turn your questions upon yourself. Do you or an instant think that there are not people on here who DO know Tommy personally? Is YOUR opinion the only one in the world that counts?

A pox on your attitude... be it unto you as you have tried to do to others....

....

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 03:30 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 10:16 PM)
>
> Involving yourself with such is just being a busy body.

Your techniques notworkir because we can't wash our hands and close our eyes to abuse being perpetrated.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 03:37 PM

EW, Evidence in the form of letters from victims has been repsented here. If you have credible testimony to the contrary present it. If you don't just concede this one. Now, you dont' really believe Tommy is innocnet either, or else you would not trying to be justifying his actions, Trying to infer that Duane is gay, trying "adjust" the ages of the young men to make it "homosexual" affairs, instead of child molestation.

I am not saying anything aobut our judicial system only that in the case of the Catholic priests Somebody finally talking about it and the new media is what jumpstarted them into action.

Also, you really need to watch your tone.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 01:16 PM)
>
> Did he do anything wrong princessdi? Can you plug up the chair and pull the switch? Have you already written the prison sentence term? If you can and if you think you can then why don't you administer the punishment that you have determined? Could it be that you are no body in the judicial system who handles the crimes of the land. Are you saying that america's judicial system is lacking and you can improve on it? Are you just a bystander feeding on unfactual evidence and pointing a loaded gun at someone because your you, and you think your in the know?
> Maybe your right knowing him personally has nothing to do with anything and not knowing him persoanlly puts you just as far out in left field. One person who knows it all, and can fix all is the > Lord.

> You know absolutly nothing if Tommy is in denial or if he isn't. It's not you forgiveness, or your determination of any facts that will make a difference in court or with God.
> Involving yourself with such is just being a busy body.

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 03:38 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> You have said that Tommy is "unrepentant" and that it has not been proven to you that he has repented.
> Do you know Tommy personally? Have you talked to him personally about this "unrepentance?" If you haven't , then maybe you have judged him wrongly. His repentance is "between" him and God, just as yours is.

W,

ou are 100% correct that i do not personally know Tommy S., in fact for his sake it is lucky that i do ot know him because he would be getting a earful from me about his whole mess.

econdly, IF, IF tommy S. is repented of his actions against this young men, then HE WOULD IN NO WAY have allowed the letter written by a Mr. Mike Riva in jan. 2007. or if it was done with out his nowledge then has soon has he is aware of it he will post in a very public manner a rebutal of mr. iva's letter.

o far that has not happened so i think it is VERY, VERY safe to have deep, deep questions about his evel of repentance.

rik

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 1 2007, 03:49 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 1 2007, 04:38 PM)
>
> Secondly, IF, IF tommy S. is repented of his actions against this young men, then HE WOULD IN NO WAY have allowed the letter written by a Mr. Mike Riva in jan. 2007. or if it was done with out his knowledge then has soon has he is aware of it he will post in a very public manner a rebutal of mr. Riva's letter.

f he was repentant, this entire line of discussion would not have seen the light of day... these epeated attempts to conceal, deny, change the subject, condemn the victims, et cetera et cetera et cetera (think Yul Brynner in The King and I... but i digress...)

There is a reason Achan's family had to die with him; aiding and abetting is no better than the act itself... one would think a family and friends with so many numbered among them that are supposed to be so learned in the word would have picked up on that before they set out to defend Tommy by any means necessary...

But i guess when one's conscience is seared as if with a hot iron, repentance is only a fruit of getting caught...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 04:00 PM

I edited out he inflammatory portion of Eye Witness' post, because it was mean and meant to defame the character of Mr. Clem.

Now here is a NEWS FLASH!!!! for all of you who didn't know. Your claim that "Mr. Clem is and was homsexual therefore he liked and wanted it", is bogus. Not every homosexual wants to have sex with every man walking. That is part of a sterotype. Besides he said he didn't like at all. You need to take his word for it, they are his feelings and you should not invalidate them. Besides, it is telling of the fact that you believe Tommy did indeed approach these young men, and that he, indeed, is homosexual. Seeing as that is damagin to Mr, Shelton, you might want to let that go.That being said:

We will have no more speculation as to the orientation of the victims who have stopped forward ******

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 2 2007, 07:03 AM)
>
> Eye Witness, You say their are [b]no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

> QUOTE
>
> Now what has Duane Clem's dating history to do with this story?
>
> One possible answer - He is and was homosexual and was happy with what Tommy Shelton did/is alleged to have done.
>
> Problem - this flies in the face of Duane's own testimony
>
> Two - He was so scarred by what happened/allegedly happened that he has not felt able to form a relationship with anyone since.

> Just my cogitations.

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 04:10 PM

[quote name='awesumtenor' date='Feb 1 2007, 01:49 PM' post='174433']
If he was repentant, this entire line of discussion would not have seen the light of day... these repeated attempts to conceal, deny, change the subject, condemn the victims, et cetera et cetera et cetera (think Yul Brynner in The King and I... but i digress...)

AMen

Posted by: eye witness Feb 1 2007, 04:30 PM

*This post has been edited for content. I said that we would have no more speculation of the sexual orientation of any of the victims who have stepped forward, and I meant it. Perhaps, after a 48 hr.s time out, you will have some different conversation****

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 1 2007, 03:38 PM) ☐
>
> EW,
>
> You are 100% correct that i do not personally know Tommy S., in fact for his sake it is lucky that i do not know him because he would be getting a earful from me about his whole mess.
>
> Secondly, IF, IF tommy S. is repented of his actions against this young men, then HE WOULD IN NO WAY have allowed the letter written by a Mr. Mike Riva in jan. 2007. or if it was done with out his knowledge then has soon has he is aware of it he will post in a very public manner a rebutal of mr. Riva's letter.
>
> So far that has not happened so i thing it is VERY, VERY safe to have deep, deep questions about his level of repentance.
>
> Erik

rik, erik, erik, what you think he should do, does not make the man guilty or innocent. His level of epentance in your eyes does not make a hoot either.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 03:37 PM) ☐
>
> EW, Evidence in the form of letters from victims has been repsented here. If you have credible > testimony to the contrary present it. If you don't just concede this one. Now, you dont' really believe Tommy is innocnet either, or else you would not trying to be justifying his actions, Trying to infer that Duane is gay, trying "adjust" the ages of the young men to make it "homosexual" affairs, instead of child molestation.

>
> I am not saying anything aobut our judicial system only that in the case of the Catholic priests Somebody finally talking about it and the new media is what jumpstarted them into action.
>
> Also, you really need to watch your tone.

don't know what tone I am typing in. Is it the color? I'll switch. I thought they were all there to be ised. I don't type in caps. Please enlighten me on the tone. I am not pleading Tommy innocent or juilty. What has been asked is where do you stand?

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 04:44 PM

I don't know what tone I am typing in. Is it the color? I'll switch. I thought they were all there to be used. I don't type in caps. Please enlighten me on the tone.

I am not addressing this at all, grown folks know when they have attitude problems

I am not pleading Tommy innocent or guilty. What has been asked is where do you stand?

I stand with the fact that there are at lest four letters here from victims and relatives who have the same story aobut Tommy Shelton, and until I get some equally convincing evidence, it is more than possible that he is guilty, but it should be investigated either way. Besides, I have three of you here, not proclaiming Tommy's innocence per se, but only making him guilty of having homosexual affairs. Which means you even believe something happened. I have always said that they should not allowed him to be at 3ABN until an investigation was done. If he is innocent, so be it, if not, then we have one more sexual predator off the streets. Simple!

Posted by: erik Feb 1 2007, 05:34 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 02:30 PM)
>
> *This post has been edited for content. I said that we would have no more speculation of the sexual orientation of any of the victims who have stepped forward, and I meant it. Perhaps, after a 48 hr.s time out, you will have some different conversation****
> Erik, erik, erik, what you think he should do, does not make the man guilty or innocent. His level of repentance in your eyes does not make a hoot either.
> I don't know what tone I am typing in. Is it the color? I'll switch. I thought they were all there to be used. I don't type in caps. Please enlighten me on the tone. I am not pleading Tommy innocent or guilty. What has been asked is where do you stand?

:W,

'our right what i think does not matter, but what God thinks does!

Secondly, on the whole issue of repentance: "like my mother told me when i was young ACTIONS speak MUCH louder then words."

this is why the letter from Mr. Riva speaks so loud because it is action that can not be explained away.

Thridly, here is news headline about what happens in the real world when an affair happens.

AIDE QUITS AS NEWSOM'S AFFAIR WITH HIS WIFE IS REVEALED Campaign manager confronts mayor, who is 'in shock'

Erik

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 1 2007, 07:06 PM

IMO EW was successful today. She came here to divert attention and we all fell for it, myself included. She switched our focus from the important issues to the non important ones, and herself. How to prevent it? I have no idea.

Richard

Posted by: PaperTigers Feb 1 2007, 07:09 PM

we could just ignore her ... but that is easier said than done..

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 07:11 PM

Time out works real good!

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 1 2007, 05:06 PM)
>
> IMO EW was successful today. She came here to divert attention and we all fell for it, myself included. She switched our focus from the important issues to the non important ones, and herself.
> How to prevent it? I have no idea.
> Richard

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 1 2007, 07:23 PM

Of course the truth be known if the 3abn camp would just shut up there would be a lot less written here. They just don't seem smart enough to get that.

Richard

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 08:11 PM)
>
> Time out works real good!

Posted by: princessdi Feb 1 2007, 07:26 PM

Come on now, Richard! You are asking waaaay too much of them! LOL!!

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 1 2007, 05:23 PM)
>
> Of course the truth be known if the 3abn camp would just shut up there would be a lot less written here. They just don't seem smart enough to get that.
>
> Richard

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 1 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> Of course the truth be known if the 3abn camp would just shut up there would be a lot less written here. They just don't seem smart enough to get that.
>
> Richard

I was thinking exacly the same thing. They keep a lot of the drama going.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 1 2007, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 1 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Eye Witness, You say their are no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated > a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

Vell, if you really must know, why don't you just ask me instead of engaging in gossip?

)uane Clem

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 12:01 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 1 2007, 09:09 PM)
>
> I was thinking exacly the same thing. They keep a lot of the drama going.

was just thinking the same about you hoty. By the way, your info that Tommy was coming back on veeks ago never happened.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 2 2007, 12:02 AM

> QUOTE(task force @ Feb 1 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> Eye Witness, You say their are no convictions against Tommy Shelton, were there ever any charges filed against him with the arthorities? Anywhere, anytime? I want to ask you this because it is my understanding that the Clem man that wrote the letter that G. Joy has posted, is about 40 years old now. It that is true, then Clem must have been 19 or 20 when this thing was suppose to have happened. Wouldn't that just be a "consenting" adult?. Do you know anything about D. Clem? I understand that he has never been married, has never had a girlfriend, and has never even dated a girl. If I am wrong, correct me if you know about that.

'his is must be the lowest thing I've ever seen posted here. This is nothing more than a request for ny information that would make Duane's credibility lowered. You should really spend some time out vhile you reassess the situation. In fact, try spending some time praying before you post something o hideous.

'ou are implying some things here just shows your inner self. And I am not liking what you're howing. Shame on you.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 1 2007, 11:47 PM)
>
> Well, if you really must know, why don't you just ask me instead of engaging in gossip?
>
> Duane Clem

You're right. the key word is ENGAGING. In order to engage their must be others involved and there certainly is on this forum. Why is it ok for them to engage in gossip? There have been so many assumptions, accusations, half truths and lies told here that it makes ones head spin.

[quote name='husbandoftheyear' date='Feb 2 2007, 12:02 AM' post='174562']
This is must be the lowest thing I've ever seen posted here. This is nothing more than a request for any information that would make Duane's credibility lowered. You should really spend some time out while you reassess the situation. In fact, try spending some time praying before you post something so hideous.

So hideous??? Maybe you missed the post by Fran last night that said Texas might pass a law to give the death penalty to 3 time sex offenders. She then said come on down to Texas Tommy but please wait until the law is passed. Now that is hideous, unchristian, spiteful and unfeeling. Yet I never saw anyone warn or reprimand her on that post.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 1 2007, 07:26 PM)
>
> Come on now, Richard! You are asking waaaay too much of them! LOL!!

Now how can we shut up when the administrators play favorites. Maybe you missed the post by Fran last night that said Texas might pass a law to give the death penalty to 3 time sex offenders. She then said come on down to Texas Tommy but please wait until the law is passed. Now that is hideous, unchristian, spiteful and unfeeling. Yet I never saw anyone warn or reprimand her on that post.
Now really di, how could you take off eyewitness for hinting at something but not take off Fran for this terrible remark? We might be of differing opinions here but no one can say that something like that should be allowed here.
Am I right?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 2 2007, 12:21 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 01:10 AM)
>
> snipped

You seem unable to grasp that this forum doesn't originate from Thompsonville... and being here is not a right; it's a privilege... a privilege that for you was revoked...

Dont get too comfy...

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 01:01 AM)
>
> snipped

Is this the best you can do, Danny? What's next? A rousing rendition of " I'm rubber, you're glue" or "sticks and stones", perhaps?

I bet Pat Robertson doesn't play such childish games...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Ralph Feb 2 2007, 12:29 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 1 2007, 10:47 PM)
>
> Well, if you really must know, why don't you just ask me instead of engaging in gossip?
>
> Duane Clem

I notice that Bystander didn't take you up on your offer. Strange.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 12:32 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 2 2007, 12:29 AM)
>
> I notice that Bystander didn't take you up on your offer. Strange.

Not strange at all. He appears to be a coward. I have no problem posting my name. I have nothing to hide. Bystander wants to launch little doubt grenades under the cover of a screen name. Cowardice to the "n"th degree.

Duane Clem

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 2 2007, 12:47 AM

I ran across this site, and thought it might help answer a few questions.

http://www.bullyonline.org/workbully/bystand.htm

Sad that this word, and others, is used by aggresors...

Posted by: inga Feb 2 2007, 12:54 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 02:12 PM)

> Do you not know that their are people whom this is the only way they can get attention. It is with such methods at like this. I have questioned are any of these really just homosexuals, they don't have a case in the courts because they are known in the community as homosexuals.
> **...
> Have you thought about how many of those sort of burdened people that have peverted ways get on this forum and get their statisfaction from reading about this gore. Their minds work differently than ours and they can find the content exciting, arousing.

You, "eye witness," are despicable and perverted to further assault the victims with your innuendo!!!

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 2 2007, 01:03 AM

You are right seraph|m that sure does answer a lot & its right on target no wonder they picked the name they did.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 01:15 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Feb 1 2007, 01:12 PM)
>
> Sister what Pickle has posted, what Pickle has investigated and brought forward to the people are statements that are unfounded. Where are these people? Why have they not went to the authorities? One statement I read said that the person went to the authorities and there was nothing done? Why? Was there no evidence? How can you on someone draw a conclusion and find that because someone said it that it is truth.
> Do you not know that their are people whom this is the only way they can get attention. It is with such methods at like this. I have questioned are any of these really just homosexuals, they don't have a case in the courts because they are known in the community as homosexuals. I don't know, but none of this without court proceedings, convictions is justified. If its court facts then weigh it, wallow in it, To do so without, well it just doesn't make since, not for what is suppose to be "christians".
> Have you thought about how many of those sort of burdened people that have peverted ways get on this forum and get their statisfaction from reading about this gore. Their minds work differently than ours and they can find the content exciting, arousing. You and all those who have over and over and over went through this stuff are giving them more and more satisfaction. Have you ever thought about it? Give it some thought. This stuff is unhealthy for the poster for the readers and for the perverted as well. Posting the example of this incident and that incident this only helps those with the sickness to picture in their minds exactly the act they have either committed or would like to commit. This could be an asset to some child or whatever to become a victim today. Please I beg you, for those who this gore could hurt, stop giving Satan tools.
> Ted Bundy was all about written material and pictures and so on. Please stop it folks you are enhancing what could be death for some who fall victim to the preversion.

Questioning the sexual orientation of myself and other victims does nothing but make you look like a fool. It WILL NOT shut us down. The more of these posts I read, the more determined I am to see that justice is finally done.

Keep talking. I'm just getting started.

Duane Clem

Posted by: inga Feb 2 2007, 01:59 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 02:15 AM)
>
> Questioning the sexual orientation of myself and other victims does nothing but make you look like a fool. It WILL NOT shut us down. The more of these posts I read, the more determined I am to see that justice is finally done.
>
> Keep talking. I'm just getting started.
>
> Duane Clem

Go, Duane, go!!

Sometimes anger is a positive emotion. It provides the push to do something that needs to be done.

Posted by: Fran Feb 2 2007, 02:24 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 12:01 AM)
>
> I was just thinking the same about you hoty. By the way, your info that Tommy was coming back on weeks ago never happened.

Why?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 03:43 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 2 2007, 01:59 AM)
>
> Go, Duane, go!!
>
> Sometimes anger is a positive emotion. It provides the push to do something that needs to be done.

Each and every post that attacks me or another victim just gives me more resolve to see this through. Danny, Tommy nor any of their apologists will deter me.

Have you noticed the tone of their posts? There is not one scrap of evidence to vindicate Tommy. All they can do is call names and question motives. That's the mark of someone who knows that they're fighting a losing battle.

I'm in this for the duration. I'm not going anywhere. Count on it.

Duane Clem

Posted by: Observer Feb 2 2007, 08:39 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 02:43 AM)
>
> Each and every post that attacks me or another victim just gives me more resolve to see this through. Danny, Tommy nor any of their apologists will deter me.
>
> Have you noticed the tone of their posts? There is not one scrap of evidence to vindicate Tommy. All they can do is call names and question motives. That's the mark of someone who knows that they're fighting a losing battle.
>
> I'm in this for the duration. I'm not going anywhere. Count on it.
>
> Duane Clem

Duane:

I hope that you do not associate those who attack you with Seventd-day Adventists. We are behind you, friend. We support you. Thanks for your courage in the face of great adversity.

Posted by: caribbean sda Feb 2 2007, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 05:43 AM)
>
> Each and every post that attacks me or another victim just gives me more resolve to see this through. Danny, Tommy nor any of their apologists will deter me.
>
> Have you noticed the tone of their posts? There is not one scrap of evidence to vindicate Tommy. All they can do is call names and question motives. That's the mark of someone who knows that they're fighting a losing battle.
>
> I'm in this for the duration. I'm not going anywhere. Count on it.
>
> Duane Clem

Their tactic is to discredit the victims and remove the scrutiny from the abuser. It's not a new strategy...yet they employ it nevertheless...

To quote someone we all know..."how tiresome they are"

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 2 2007, 08:52 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 02:15 AM) ☐
>
> Questioning the sexual orientation of myself and other victims does nothing but make you look like a fool. It WILL NOT shut us down. The more of these posts I read, the more determined I am to see that justice is finally done.
>
> Keep talking. I'm just getting started.
>
> Duane Clem

Smoke and mirrors...that's what the Danny apologists are all about...all talk, no substance...don't worry, truth ALWAYS, ALWAYS, prevails.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 2 2007, 09:05 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 2 2007, 01:47 AM) ☐
>
> I ran across this site, and thought it might help answer a few questions. ☐
>
> http://www.bullyonline.org/workbully/bystand.htm
>
> Sad that this word, and others, is used by aggresors...

The serial bully:

* is a convincing, practised liar and when called to account, will make up anything spontaneously to fit their needs at that moment
* has a Jekyll and Hyde nature - is vile, vicious and vindictive in private, but innocent and charming in front of witnesses; no-one can (or wants to) believe this individual has a vindictive nature - only the current target of the serial bully's aggression sees both sides; whilst the Jekyll side is described as "charming" and convincing enough to deceive personnel, management and a tribunal, the Hyde side is frequently described as "evil"; Hyde is the real person, Jekyll is an act
* excels at deception and should never be underestimated in their capacity to deceive
* uses excessive charm and is always plausible and convincing when peers, superiors or others are present (charm can be used to deceive as well as to cover for lack of empathy)
* is glib, shallow and superficial with plenty of fine words and lots of form - but there's no substance
* is possessed of an exceptional verbal facility and will outmanoeuvre most people in verbal interaction, especially at times of conflict * is often described as smooth, slippery, slimy, ingratiating, fawning, toadying, obsequious, sycophantic
* relies on mimicry, repetition and regurgitation to convince others that he or she is both a "normal" human being and a tough dynamic manager, as in extolling the virtues of the latest management fads and pouring forth the accompanying jargon

* is unusually skilled in being able to anticipate what people want to hear and then saying it plausiblyhttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/style_images/blue-glass/folder_rte_images/bold.gif Bold
* cannot be trusted or relied upon
* fails to fulfil commitments
* is emotionally retarded with an arrested level of emotional development; whilst language and intellect may appear to be that of an adult, the bully displays the emotional age of a five-year-old
* is emotionally immature and emotionally untrustworthy
* exhibits unusual and inappropriate attitudes to sexual matters, sexual behaviour and bodily functions; underneath the charming exterior there are often suspicions or hints of sex discrimination and sexual harassment, perhaps also sexual dysfunction, sexual inadequacy, sexual perversion, sexual violence or sexual abuse
* in a relationship, is incapable of initiating or sustaining intimacy
* holds deep prejudices (eg against the opposite gender, people of a different sexual orientation, other cultures and religious beliefs, foreigners, etc - prejudiced people are unvaryingly unimaginative) but goes to great lengths to keep this prejudicial aspect of their personality secret
* is self-opinionated and displays arrogance, audacity, a superior sense of entitlement and sense of invulnerability and untouchability
* has a deep-seated contempt of clients in contrast to his or her professed compassion
* is a control freak and has a compulsive need to control everyone and everything you say, do, think and believe; for example, will launch an immediate personal attack attempting to restrict what you are permitted to say if you start talking knowledgeably about psychopathic personality or antisocial personality disorder in their presence - but aggressively maintains the right to talk (usually unknowledgeably) about anything they choose; serial bullies despise anyone who enables others to see through their deception and their mask of sanity
* displays a compulsive need to criticise whilst simultaneously refusing to value, praise and acknowledge others, their achievements, or their existence
* shows a lack of joined-up thinking with conversation that doesn't flow and arguments that don't hold water
* [/b]flits from topic to topic so that you come away feeling you've never had a proper conversation
* refuses to be specific and never gives a straight answer * is evasive and has a Houdini-like ability to escape accountability
* undermines and destroys anyone who the bully perceives to be an adversary, a potential threat, or who can see through the bully's mask
* is adept at creating conflict between those who would otherwise collate incriminating information about them * is quick to discredit and neutralise anyone who can talk knowledgeably about antisocial or sociopathic behaviors
* may pursue a vindictive vendetta against anyone who dares to held them accountable, perhaps using others' resources and contemptuous of the damage caused to other people and organisations in pursuance of the vendetta
* is also quick to belittle, undermine, denigrate and discredit anyone who calls, attempts to call, or might call the bully to account
* gains gratification from denying people what they are entitled to
* is highly manipulative, especially of people's perceptions and emotions (eg guilt)
* poisons peoples' minds by manipulating their perceptions
* when called upon to share or address the needs and concerns of others, responds with impatience, irritability and aggression
* is arrogant, haughty, high-handed, and a know-all
* often has an overwhelming, unhealthy and narcissistic attention-seeking need to portray themselves as a wonderful, kind, caring and compassionate person, in contrast to their behaviour and treatment of others; the bully sees nothing wrong with their behavior and chooses to remain oblivious to the discrepancy between how they like to be seen and how they are seen by others
* is spiritually dead although may loudly profess some religious belief or affiliation
* is mean-spirited, officious, and often unbelievably petty
* is mean, stingy, and financially untrustworthy * is greedy, selfish, a parasite and an emotional vampire
* is always a taker and never a giver

* is convinced of their superiority and has an overbearing belief in their qualities of leadership but cannot distinguish between leadership (maturity, decisiveness, assertiveness, co-operation, trust, integrity) and bullying (immaturity, impulsiveness, aggression, manipulation, distrust, deceitfulness)  often fraudulently claims qualifications, experience, titles, entitlements or affiliations which are ambiguous, misleading, or bogus  often misses the semantic meaning of language, misinterprets what is said, sometimes wrongly thinking that comments of a satirical, ironic or general negative nature apply to him or herself  knows the words but not the song  is constantly imposing on others a false reality made up of distortion and fabrication  sometimes displays a seemingly limitless demonic energy especially when engaged in attention-seeking activities or evasion of accountability and is often a committeeaholic or apparent workaholic

Responsibility

The serial bully appears to lack insight into his or her behaviour and seems to be oblivious to the crassness and inappropriateness thereof; however, it is more likely that the bully knows what they are doing but elects to switch off the moral and ethical considerations by which normal people are bound. If the bully knows what they are doing, they are responsible for their behaviour and thus liable for its consequences to other people. If the bully doesn't know what they are doing, they should be suspended from duty on the grounds of diminished responsibility and the provisions of the Mental Health Act should apply.

Hmmm... sound like anyone we know?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: västergötland Feb 2 2007, 09:51 AM

Wonders how this list would differ from a definition of a psycopath(however that is spelled...)?

Posted by: watchbird Feb 2 2007, 09:58 AM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Feb 2 2007, 10:51 AM) ☐
>
> Wonders how this list would differ from a definition of a psycopath(however that is spelled...)?

I think the word you want is actually sociopath.... and if so, the answer is... not much.

Posted by: Clay Feb 2 2007, 10:00 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 2 2007, 09:58 AM) ☐
>
> I think the word you want is actually sociopath.... and if so, the answer is... not much.

however they use to use the term psychopath...

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 11:38 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 2 2007, 08:39 AM)
>
> Duane:
>
> I hope that you do not associate those who attack you with Seventd-day Adventists. We are behind you, friend. We support you. Thanks for your courage in the face of great adversity.

Absolutely not. I have many friends in the SDA church. I know I'm among friends here for the most part. I appreciate everyone's support and I don't take it for granted.

Danny Shelton doesn't scare me, nor do any of his apologists. The smear and run tactics of the past are drawing to a close. It just won't work anymore.

BTW, dewayneholden, if you read this, and if you're who I think you are, I believe you may be hiding something that happened to you in the past as well. I know I reacted the same way when I realized I was going to have to face it. NOW is the time to come forward while there are people to stand with you.

Duane Clem

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 2 2007, 12:00 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 10:38 AM)
>
> Absolutely not. I have many friends in the SDA church. I know I'm among friends here for the most part. I appreciate everyone's support and I don't take it for granted.

Yes you are! Friends who think of you as a brother in Christ and will continue to support you no matter how strong the threats and intimidation become!

> QUOTE
>
> Danny Shelton doesn't scare me, nor do any of his apologists. The smear and run tactics of the past are drawing to a close. It just won't work anymore.

> QUOTE
>
> BTW, dewayneholden, if you read this, and if you're who I think you are, I believe you may be hiding something that happened to you in the past as well. I know I reacted the same way when I realized I was going to have to face it. NOW is the time to come forward while there are people to stand with you.

> Duane Clem

hope he is listening.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 2 2007, 12:59 PM

Nope you are as wrong as two left shoes. There is sufficient evidence that Tommy is, indeed, a sex offender. Sorry, victim's testimonies work for me, also for Fran, or she would not have made such a statement. Perhaps, her comments were a bit over the top, but I believe them to out of frustration of no action being taken at all,a nd those like you here trying to see that non ever is taken. Besides, even you all not denying it and are convinced something happened, you are just trying to make it consentual(as if that is better, but I guess you are just trying to keep Tommy out of prison)Eye witness' "gaydar" does not work for me, and may not even work for her, we don't know. Fact is we would not being here having this discussion had not Tommy approached this young man for sex. Oh yes, also by trying to say that these were consentual homosexual encounters, you are also admitting that Tommy is at the very least bi-sexual.

Now, once again, you are here just asking us to trust you that first hand testimonies of the victim is not even a lie, but that you are just trying to discredit it in some way. notworkir

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 1 2007, 10:10 PM)
>
> Now how can we shut up when the administrators play favorites. Maybe you missed the post by Fran last night that said Texas might pass a law to give the death penalty to 3 time sex offenders. She then said come on down to Texas Tommy but please wait until the law is passed. Now that is hideous, unchristian, spiteful and unfeeling. Yet I never saw anyone warn or reprimand her on that post.
>
> Now really di, how could you take off eyewitness for hinting at something but not take off Fran for this terrible remark? We might be of differing opinions here but no one can say that something like that should be allowed here.
> Am I right?

__Let me add this, just one more time. Your post to me consists of questions for the dmins about action taken or not taken in specific instances. Please, and this is my last ime asking, PM Calvin or Clay or myself with any questions you have in this area.__

Posted by: Clay Feb 2 2007, 01:31 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 12:10 AM)
>
> Now how can we shut up when the administrators play favorites. Maybe you missed the post by Fran last night that said Texas might pass a law to give the death penalty to 3 time sex offenders. She then said come on down to Texas Tommy but please wait until the law is passed. Now that is hideous, unchristian, spiteful and unfeeling. Yet I never saw anyone warn or reprimand her on that > post.

> Now really di, how could you take off eyewitness for hinting at something but not take off Fran for this terrible remark? We might be of differing opinions here but no one can say that something like that should be allowed here.
> Am I right?

avorites? You are my favorite Bystander.... I like to take every opportunity to remind you that you ıre wrong.... oh and that you don't keep your word, even though you couch it in language i.e. "I :hanged my mind...." you keep posting, and I will keep reminding you of how tenuous your position s....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 02:25 PM

[quote name='princessdi' date='Feb 2 2007, 11:59 AM' post='174692']
Nope you are as wrong as two left shoes. There is sufficient evidence that Tommy is, indeed, a sex offender. Sorry, victim's testimonies work for me, also for Fran, or she would not have made such a statement. Perhaps, her comments were a bit over the top, but I believe them to out of frustration of no action being taken at all,a nd those like you here trying to see that non ever is taken. Besides, even you all not denying it and are convinced something happened, you are just trying to make it consentual(as if that is better, but I guess you are just trying to keep Tommy out of prison)Eye witness' "gaydar" does not work for me, and may not even work for her, we don't know. Fact is we would not being here having this discussion had not Tommy approached this young man for sex. Oh [color=#FF6666]yes, also by trying to say that these were consentual homosexual encounters, you are also admitting that Tommy is at the very least bi-sexual.

Wrong on all counts. I am speculating on what could have been or not. I am asking questions, could it be that way or not. So many of the comments on this forum are "speculation" so do not put words into my mouth. I question your decision making when you make a statement as fact: "[b]Tommy approached this young man for sex" without even saying "It appears he did, or he might have or even, if he did. To state that type of accusation as a fact might be against the law. I don't know, I am not a lawyer, but I would think you would be more careful.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 2 2007, 12:31 PM)
>
> favorites? You are my favorite Bystander.... I like to take every opportunity to remind you that you are wrong.... oh and that you don't keep your word, even though you couch it in language i.e. "I changed my mind...." you keep posting, and I will keep reminding you of how tenuous your position is....

Vhy thank you Clay, I feel all warm inside.........

Posted by: roxe Feb 2 2007, 02:30 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 02:43 AM)
>
> Each and every post that attacks me or another victim just gives me more resolve to see this through. Danny, Tommy nor any of their apologists will deter me.
> Have you noticed the tone of their posts? There is not one scrap of evidence to vindicate Tommy. All > they can do is call names and question motives. That's the mark of someone who knows that they're fighting a losing battle.

> I'm in this for the duration. I'm not going anywhere. Count on it.
> Duane Clem

uane, please watch your back...
ull your friends around you and watch your back, OK??

truly don't want you "going anywhere"...

nuch prayers for your safety hug.gif love your spunky courage!!

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 02:32 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 12:15 AM)
>
> Questioning the sexual orientation of myself and other victims does nothing but make you look like a fool. It WILL NOT shut us down. The more of these posts I read, the more determined I am to see that justice is finally done.
>
> Keep talking. I'm just getting started.
>
> Duane Clem

uane, if that is your burden, then do it, in a court of law, where it belongs. Justice is not being done n this forum and you know that. It is accomplishing nothing here because bsda doesn't have the uthority or power to see that any "justice" is done. You are coming here to get friendship, and I can nderstand that, but nothing else is being accomplished.

Posted by: Clay Feb 2 2007, 02:36 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> Duane, if that is your burden, then do it, in a court of law, where it belongs. Justice is not being done on this forum and you know that. It is accomplishing nothing here because bsda doesn't have the authority or power to see that any "justice" is done. You are coming here to get friendship, and I can understand that, but nothing else is being accomplished.

nd you would know this how? You don't know why Duane would come here, likewise who are you to ell him what he needs to do?? Standing in the corner would be a good activity for you at this noment....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 2 2007, 02:38 PM

[quote name='princessdi' date='Feb 2 2007, 11:59 AM' post='174692']
[color=#993399]
Frans statement was "a little over the top?" She invited Tommy S to Texas to receive the "death penalty." Calling that "a little over the top" speaks for itself.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 2 2007, 01:36 PM)
>
> and you would know this how? You don't know why Duane would come here, likewise who are you to tell him what he needs to do?? Standing in the corner would be a good activity for you at this moment....

I could....but it wouldn't change the truth of what I said

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 2 2007, 03:08 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 02:15 AM)
>
> Questioning the sexual orientation of myself and other victims does nothing but make you look like a fool. It WILL NOT shut us down. The more of these posts I read, the more determined I am to see that justice is finally done.
>
> Keep talking. I'm just getting started.
>
> Duane Clem

Duane,

I do not know if this is a question that you can or are willing to answer. I have not seen it asked of you but maybe I have missed something.

Can you tell us whether you have sought legal counsel as to what your civil and criminal legal rights are when considering your personal set of facts?

I am so weary of post after post of people ignoring the signed statements of those such as yourself who have claimed they or a relative were victimized. (Please understand I am not questioning the validity of your statements or those of the others because the number of them and the indepedent recollections do a great deal to support your credibility IMHO).

I think you could deflect some of the TS apologists barbs regarding the lack of documented legal proceedings if you could tell us, if you can or want to, that you have discussed this with someone who could, with knowledge, advise you of your legal rights. I am not asking that you tell us what they advised you or if you are pursuing legal action, I just would like to be assured that you know your civil and legal rights.

nw

Posted by: princessdi Feb 2 2007, 03:10 PM

Ok, I can go with you on that one....fair enough. I am not an unreasonable woman.

Rephrase:
"Fact is we would not being here having this discussion, if according to the victims letter, Tommy had not approached this young man for sex".

Feel better now.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 12:25 PM)
>
> Wrong on all counts. I am speculating on what could have been or not. I am asking questions, could it be that way or not. So many of the comments on this forum are "speculation" so do not put words into my mouth. I question your decision making when you make a statement as fact: "[b] Tommy approached this young man for sex" without even saying "It appears he did, or he might have or even, if he did. To state that type of accusation as a fact might be against the law. I don't know, I am not a lawyer, but I would think you would be more careful.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 2 2007, 04:12 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 02:32 PM)
>
> Duane, if that is your burden, then do it, in a court of law, where it belongs. Justice is not being done on this forum and you know that. It is accomplishing nothing here because bsda doesn't have the authority or power to see that any "justice" is done. You are coming here to get friendship, and I can understand that, but nothing else is being accomplished.

You want to give me advice, and won't even identify yourself?

I have asked you numerous times to explain a couple of statements you made about me. I even sent you a PM asking you for an answer. You have STILL not responded.

I don't think I need any advice from you.

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 2 2007, 03:08 PM)
>
> Duane,
>
> I do not know if this is a question that you can or are willing to answer. I have not seen it asked of you but maybe I have missed something.
>
> Can you tell us whether you have sought legal counsel as to what your civil and criminal legal rights are when considering your personal set of facts?
>
> I am so weary of post after post of people ignoring the signed statements of those such as yourself who have claimed they or a relative were victimized. (Please understand I am not questioning the validity of your statements or those of the others because the number of them and the indepedent recollections do a great deal to support your credibility IMHO).
>
> I think you could deflect some of the TS apologists barbs regarding the lack of documented legal > proceedings if you could tell us, if you can or want to, that you have discussed this with someone who could, with knowledge, advise you of your legal rights. I am not asking that you tell us what they advised you or if you are pursuing legal action, I just would like to be assured that you know your civil and legal rights.

>
> nw

can't comment on that right now. I will say that I know I have certain rights, and I am acquainted vith those who can help me understand my options.

hope this helps make you feel better.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 2 2007, 06:44 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 05:12 PM)
>
> I can't comment on that right now. I will say that I know I have certain rights, and I am acquainted with those who can help me understand my options.
>
> I hope this helps make you feel better.

'hank you Duane for answering my question. And yes, it does make me feel better. I am always :oncerned that competent legal advise is obtained. I have spent too many years seeing christians ıccept the advise of laymen rather than seeking legal counsel resulting in destroyed familes, riendships, and businesses and in divided churches. As you can see from many posts on these topics nany think they know what the law means but clearly do not.

.ike you, I get frustrated when I ask specific questions that generally seem to be ignored. I do not :laim to have any personal knowledge of any facts at issue but I do know how to distinguish between ;peculation, subterfuge, red herrings, hearsay evidence, BS and facts that can be verified.

łow I would love to take a sworn deposition of each and every one that has posted statements they :laim to have first hand knowledge of....

ıw

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 3 2007, 01:06 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 2 2007, 01:01 AM)
>
> I was just thinking the same about you hoty. By the way, your info that Tommy was coming back on weeks ago never happened.

3ut I bet he's still drawing a paycheck from 3ABN

Posted by: Pickle Feb 18 2007, 01:12 PM

I received this open letter last night anonymously. This is the very type of thing I asked Danny for last November, and I wish so much that it had been sent to me back then. Why has it taken so long to get it?

Hopefully it will answer some of our questions.

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Letter from Tommy Shelton to CCOG, Dunn Loring, VA
Date: Sat, 17 Feb 2007 17:47:14 -0800 (PST)
From: No One You Know

An Open Letter

To the many I have loved through the years. I am sending you this letter in response to an open letter that was sent to many, if not all, of you from Pastor Glenn Dryden. This letter is not meant as revenge, but so that you might be informed of the other side of the story.

From my first hearing of allegations against me at the Community Church of God I determined to say as little as possible in order to keep as much harmony among the congregation as possible. In the very beginning, I determined not to even express my guilt or innocence fearing people may tend to choose sides and be divided. I wanted to go through proper channels and wait to see how it would all be handled. I should mention that I was not contacted by the church to let me know that allegations had been made against me. In fact, for those who don't know, I first found out about allegations from someone who had seen it posted on the internet with Glenn Dryden's name signed to it. Upon checking into it, I found that the allegations against me had been put on the internet for the world to see at least two weeks before the church body was even informed. Not only were allegations from the Community Church of God posted, but postings of letters, accusations and copies of personal documents going back more than 20 years - all signed by Pastor Glenn Dryden.

Realizing that this issue had become public over the internet and then taken before the church, without my knowing it, I decided to write to the board expressing my position. A number of other lay people and pastors also began writing to the board expressing their disagreement, if not outrage, that a pastor would handle this situation in such an unbiblical way. To my knowledge these letters, mine or others, have not been read to the congregation or even at the meeting of the church staff.

Since no one has contacted me to advise, inform or let us know what the purpose is of the meetings which are being held, and since there have been more postings on the internet, as recent as January 16, and since Pastor Glenn Dryden has written an open letter to the congregation (and sent it to some outside the church as well) I find it necessary to write an open letter myself. I would in no way have been the first to write an open letter, but his actions have now compelled me to give another side.

My letter will basically be an answer to his "rationale" for handling this situation as he has. It is lengthy but I beg a few minutes of your time to hear the other side of the story.

I will begin with the opening paragraph of his cover sheet where he admits to "cooperating with certain Seventh Day Adventist "ecclesiastical investigators" who were looking into Tommy Shelton's conduct while he pastored in Illinois as well as presently in his employment at the 3ABN Seventh Day Adventist television ministry in Illinois."

These men are not "ecclesiastical investigators" for the Seventh Day Adventist. They hold no official position, and have no authority in the Seventh Day Adventist Church to investigate anything or anybody. By next week I will have in hand an official statement from the Illinois Conference President of SDA, stating that these men do not work for the Seventh-Day-Adventist church and were not authorized to investigate anyone. Gailon Joy, one of the "self appointed investigators" was convicted of embezzlement in the 80's. Although one may get the impression after talking with him that he is a lawyer, he is not. His conviction was appealed 3 times but the conviction remained. We have evidence of his unscrupulous dealings in recent months and years and you will also hear in the near future that he is being held accountable for his slander in a court of law.

The web site that your pastor was cooperating with is a garbage dump whose purpose is to destroy my brother and Three Angels broadcasting Network. This is how I got into the mix. In endeavoring to bring down my brother, his ex-wife gathered a group together to bring down all Board Members and Executives of the network.

The mentality of many of those who actively post on the web sites that Pastor Dryden gave information to can be seen in a few excerpts taken from the sites.

(highlights are mine)

"Unless Danny can prove otherwise that he did not kill his first wife we should probably believe that Fran and Johann are correct that Danny is a murderer. They have also said that he is a child molester, adulterer, liar, thief, conman, burglar, vandal, and almost every other crime in the book. Almost like Hitler, except Hitler did it a lot more times. If Danny has not done all this then obviously blacksda and the people who have provided this information can later apologize. (same posting) The fact that they actually witnessed these things, including murder attempts, with physicality adds another dimension for those who are weaker who require both faith and sight. But those who are pure can go based on faith that Danny did these things alone based on the word of testimony and without the need for worldly evidence."

Danny's first wife was killed in a car accident. She was hit head on by an oncoming car. Any suggestion of ANYTHING else is a black lie. Notice the mentality - If Danny has not done all of this ....can later apologize. In other words, put it out there, do the damage and apologize later if it is not true. Notice the scary statement - but those who are "pure" can go based on "faith" that Danny did these things. This is typical of the numerous postings on the sight. Many things we have viewed on the site do not even have an element of truth.

For example, Gailon Joy posted an article that stated that 3ABN gave me a check for $10,000 to get me out of a child molestation case while I lived in Manassas, VA. No check was produced (because it doesn't exist) and I challenge anyone to check every county in Virginia and see if such a case ever existed.

These are the kinds of people that Pastor Dryden has been comfortable "cooperating with." Following is an excerpt from one of his conversations posted on the internet. I quote:

(highlights are mine)

" I am sure we share similar emotions regarding this matter. Perhaps an argument may be made for the criticism you have received regarding the e-mail postings, but I should tell you that they have served to make me comfortable communicating with both you and Mr. Joy and if they serve to put pressure on Danny and Tommy, you may carry the criticism as a badge of commendation."

How sad that he would welcome pressure be put on my brother. He knows absolutely nothing about my brother's situation except what he has been told by the "self appointed investigators" The truth is, no statement against my brother, or 3ABN, has been made by the General Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist Church or by any of it's top leadership. To the contrary, ASI, one of the most prestigious organizations in the Adventist denomination just came out with a statement in support of Danny and 3ABN - and in the same statement revealed much about Gailon Joy.

In paragraph five of his cover letter, Pastor Dryden next points you to two web sites to read a number of letters from those who came forward against me.

He fails to mention that he is the one who supplied the names of these people to "the self appointed investigators" who called these people asking for statements to be published on the internet. We can only guess as to what kind of pressure these people were put under (I've been told - I can't confirm) that one was told by the " self appointed investigators" that he had better say something quickly because I intended a lawsuit and was planning to drag him into it, which of course, is not true.

Pressure would certainly seem to explain a lot concerning one person who came forward against me, because just days prior to his posting about me, he wrote (copied from the internet)

"Your "informant", Glenn Dryden, is not a credible source of information. ... accusations .... the same reason as the ones he is leveling against Tommy Shelton: JEALOUSY. Glenn Dryden is a spiteful, vindictive backstabber when someone crosses him. He has done this with numerous people over the past several years .... I had to threaten him with legal action myself to get him to shut his mouth."

Sad to say, some of the people whose names Pastor Dryden released to the internet group, are now going through character assassination themselves because of their statements, by people who knew them "way back when" and have reason to doubt their testimony. His actions of hurt are far more reaching than just "bringing me down."

In the next to the last paragraph of his cover page, Pastor Dryden says: "Please know Sister Judy and I have in no way sought to be placed in the position we are in. We must, however, be conscientious to do what we can to protect young people."

In 2001 he made a similar statement to the Ezra Church of God in a meeting that he taped and sent out to various churches. He said, "I never hunted out information, it seemed to drop into my lap." These statements are not convincing, in light of the fact that just last week he called a former member of the Dunn Loring congregation to ask if I had ever spent time alone with his sons and said that he was calling others who had sons to ask the same question. I am also aware of a phone call that was made in 2003, from Illinois to Virginia, asking similar questions.

Secondly, he states that he is doing what he can to protect young people. What young people?

I have worked for the last 6 years in an environment where there are NO young people.

(I understand that you pastor has mentioned the 3ABN Kids Time program - that these children could possibly be in danger. Kids Time hasn't even been taped in two years, - It's all reruns - and when it was being taped, it was in a studio two miles from were I worked and when I did go over to accompany a guest, it was in a studio filled with parents and camera people for an hour or so two or three times per season). I attend a church where there are NO young people. I live in a rural area where there are NO young people for miles. I have not preached a campmeeting where there were young people for over five years. I live 800 miles from the young people at Community Church of God. How could this be his real motive?

Now, on to the Open Letter - I will give my opinion on certain things, but I will also point out definite discrepancies. As you will see, although Pastor Dryden's letter sounds as though he knows all the details of my life for the past 20 plus years, he was NOT in Illinois 20 yrs. ago and has had to rely on what he has been told, and I will prove that much of it is not accurate.

Early on in his open letter, Pastor Dryden quotes from a book by Marie M. Fortune apparently as an important guide for his drastic actions against me thus far. He quotes her before he quotes scripture. It is interesting that he quotes from a book whose author is a feminist and lesbian. The following taken from this web site. http://www.faithandfeminism.org/stories.

"I have been an ordained Christian pastor for 30 years. I have been a feminist even longer. I have always had a love-hate relationship with my church. (later in the article she says) My own denomination, the United Church of Christ, has come a long way in the past 30 years. It has always supported me from my ordination without a job to these years of my ministry at FaithTrust Institute. Moreover it has more recently supported me as a lesbian in my ministry and in my right to marry. So this is a faith community where I can go and be loved and not have to fight all the time for acceptance. I can spend that energy at work in the world trying to live the Gospel as I see it." (notice - as she sees it)

Marie Fortune quotes Willard Gaylin. In my search on the internet, although I found dozens and dozens of articles about him, and by him, I found nothing that expressed a personal Christian experience. Following is a short bio:

Willard Gaylin, MD
Clinical professor of psychiatry at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons, specializing in the private practice of psychiatry and psychoanalysis. He is presently serving on the board of directors of several organizations including: Planned Parenthood..

Planned Parenthood - an organization promoting abortion rights etc.

So in his opening remarks, Pastor Dryden quotes from a feminist, lesbian minister and a man who is not a theologian but a psychiatrist. And based on statements from their books that declare "we must dignify him (the offender) by making him pay for the evil actions he commits"- and that "negative consequence may be the most direct route to repentance," he then states in bold: "Tommy Shelton deserves the opportunity to repent and to amend his life according to the will of God.

II Cor. 7:10 says, "For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death." True repentance comes from God - it's a gift - not consequences or having to "pay." Negative consequences may cause one to try to change behavior for a time, but true repentance only comes from God through godly sorrow - As the verse says, "...but the sorrow of the world - (getting caught - consequences etc) worketh death.

If Pastor Dryden believes that I need to repent, repentance will not be brought about by shaming me before the whole world on the internet - humiliating my wife and children by those very actions. He concludes that I am an unbeliever.... What lost man, me or anyone else, would listen to a man that is trying to destroy him in the eyes of everyone he has ever known. If his efforts are to bring repentance and win me to Jesus, he certainly has missed the mark.

I will move now to the Boy Scouts of America "analogy." I'm not sure of the purpose of the analogy since intelligent people can easily understand the facts (as Pastor Dryden sees them) without an analogy. But if I were a member of Ezra Church of God or Community Church of God, I would probably take exception to a couple of points in the analogy.

First the insult to parents at Ezra: Quote: "Subsequently, inexplicably, certain Boy Scout troop parents determine this scoutmaster's charisma, gifts and abilities outweigh any potential risk and they ask him to lead their sons in scouting activities." Implication - certain parents at Ezra were so captivated by my charm that they could not make intelligent decisions concerning their children. That is a slap in the face to those loving parent who attend Ezra in those days.

Second, the implication of irresponsibility on the part of Community Church of God leaders - foremost, Bro. and Sis. Wood.: "The scoutmaster learns the BSA has need of scoutmasters in his new venue. He approaches this state's Area Council, his offer of assistance is accepted and he takes the helm of another scout troop, astonishingly, without any representative of this state's Area Council confirming his character with a representative of the former state's Area Council." He makes a similar statement on the internet for the world to see - I quote: "Also in the late 1980s there was mention of "allegations" at the time of his receiving ministerial credentials from the Ministerial Council of the Church of God, Inc., but assurance was given by Council leadership that there was no substance to these allegations. No indication of their nature was given either - not to me at any rate."

This statement could mean no other than Bro. and Sis. Wood who headed up the Ministerial Council of the Church of God, Inc., at the time. These two statements imply either irresponsibility, or cover-up on the part of the Woods. Let me set the record straight. Bro. and Sis. Wood was neither irresponsible nor were they part of a cover-up. They acted in good faith both in my ordination with the Ministerial Council of the Church of God and in the call to be pastor of the Community Church of God.

They called me in the middle 80's after hearing of allegations to offer prayer and support and yes, years later called me to come to Dunn Loring knowing of the allegations. They based their decision on information they had. For example they knew of a police investigation that yielded no evidence and resulted in no charges. They were aware that my chairman of the board was a well respected State Patrolman and would have known the details of the investigation, and supported me fully. They also knew people that they respected who were supporting me like Ben Jordan who was part of the congregation at the time and actually went to the police to testify in my behalf. Things like the above caused them to be confident in calling me to come to Dunn Loring. NO FAULT can be laid at the feet of Bro. and Sis. Wood.

Pastor Dryden titles the next portion of his letter "Following are Facts." They are NOT facts! Quote:

"a disciplinary process following the principle given in Matthew 18:15-17 was initiated by the Illinois General Assembly (IGA). Rather than submit to this disciplinary process, Tommy and his supporters stymied it and divided the congregation of the Ezra Church of God from the Anderson Church of God movement of which they had been a part for sixty-five years. The directive of Matthew 18:15-17 was followed by IGA and accordingly Tommy was "treated like an unbeliever"

I can disprove these statements with excerpts from a letter dated Dec. 13, 1987. This letter was written to George L. Newton and the Credentials Committee (IGA), and was written by A.J. Mitchell, Chairman of the Board, Ezra Church of God. A.J. was Chairman of the Board at Ezra for many years. He was one of the most respected men in W. Frankfort, an Illinois State Patrolman, a member of civic organizations in the community - Bus director at Ezra, Sunday School teacher and a respected Christian in our community. I had the privilege of leading A.J. to the Lord. He is now deceased. Some of you may remember him coming to Gerri Lynn's wedding in 1999.

Was Matthew 18 followed by the (IGA) - Quote from A.J. Mitchell's letter:

".......Since you said your suspension of Tommy was done "...pending the results of the official police investigation....", what were the results of the investigation? Was he found guilty? If so, guilty of what? Who judged him guilty? I must assume that you feel that he was found guilty of something or you would not have decided to revoke his ordination. If he was found guilty of something, whatever you feel that might be, you gave him no room for repentance. You do feel that a person can repent, don't you?"

In the same letter he talks about a letter from the (IGA) that never reached our church but was sent to area churches registered......A.J. says, : "I am very disturbed that we learned of such a letter through a teenager who honestly had no business knowing of the contents of the letter. This action exemplifies the methods typically used throughout the entire ordeal which we have tolerated for the past several months." (highlights mine)

The facts are, the first allegation was made in September of 1985 and my credentials were suspended on October 25, 1985 without anyone contacting me (IGA did not follow Matt. 18) The next correspondence I have with the committee in my records is dated January 29, 1987 - over a year later.

On a tape previously mentioned taped at Ezra Church of God in 2001, Pastor Dryden states that I erred in not resigning when accusations were first made. He says my sin was the sin of division because of not resigning.

I did resign immediately upon hearing of accusations. I resigned the church and a pastor from the First Church of God who had just resigned that church, came to be the interim pastor.

I Quote from a letter dated Nov. 1, 1985 from one of the pillars of the church to the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois ....".I might bring to your attention, now, that Brother Tommy resigned as Pastor from the Ezra Church of God , Sept. 15, 1985. This should have been a major influence in your decision, and, it is all the more reason that the action your committee has taken is completely out of order!"

For at least the next 9 months I did not preach and I ceased activities in the Church of God as instructed. I worked at 3ABN during that time, in construction, as it was just being built at the time. I never contacted the church - never asked about being reinstated - had no aspirations of returning - did no preaching etc. About 9 months after leaving the church, A.J Mitchell, representing Ezra Church of God, came to our home and asked me to come back as pastor. I told him that it was useless to try to minister if the church was divided. He assured me that those who chose to leave were already gone and that the church was united in wanting me to come back.

At that point, with there still being no decision made by the credential committee, I decided to go back and pastor a group of people who loved me whether the committee said I could or not. (God had called me there, they did not) Pastor Dryden makes it appear that a "small group of supporters" and I divided the church - that a small minority made the decision for the church . Not True! We lost less than one fourth of the congregation and as already stated, that happened in the very beginning. 9 months later, the church was totally united in asking me to come back.

As to the statement that we : "divided the congregation of the Ezra Church of God from the Anderson Church of God movement of which they had been a part for sixty-five years."

Quoting from a letter to Arthur Tucker from A.J. Mitchell dated Feb. 8, 1988, A.J. writes:

"I'm sure that you know by now that on October 29, 1987 the Ministerial Credentials Committee of the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois decided to disfellowship the Ezra Church of God. We were literally kicked out or "excommunicated" from the Anderson movement because we refused to fire our pastor, Tommy Shelton. "

In his previous letter dated Dec. 13, 1987 A.J. writes....." On October 25, 1985, you advised Brother Tommy to "...cease all activities related to ministries of the Church of God until you are further advised by this committee." As if that were not enough, you now have told the Ezra Church of God to get rid of our preacher or no longer be on the "approved list", whatever that means. The most recent letter of November 3, 1987 implies that the General Assembles of the Church of God in Illinois and Anderson, Indiana will no longer "associate" with the people of the Ezra Church of God. That statement smacks strongly of denominationalism, which is totally uncharacteristic of the Church of God."

(This was two years after it all began)

Pastor Dryden speaks as if a the congregation blindly followed me without thought to the past, or to the future. Hear from A.J.'s heart - again from the letter of Dec. 13, 1987 to the Credential Committee - Quote:

"If it were possible (and it is not) I would attempt to convey to you the hurt, embarrassment and disappointment that we feel. Mere words could never do that. You would have to be on the receiving end of the situation. The Ezra Church of God was established on October 13, 1919. Since that time it has been a part of the Anderson based Church of God Reformation movement. Our parents and grandparaents attended the church and were saved under the preaching of great men and women of the Church of God. Because of that fact, the Church of God is the only church many of us have ever known. Tommy Shelton has been the only pastor that many of our congregation have ever had. We were saved under his preaching and he has been a friend, a brother and pastor. Webster states that the word "pastor" is derived from the word "pascere" which means "to feed." Brother Tommy has fed his flock the word of God for many years. A pastor is likened to the pastor of a flock. In that capacity, Brother Tommy has cared for our people. He has married our young and buried our dead. He has faithfully followed the leadership of the Holy Spirit. He has laughed with us and cried with us, sharing our joy and our misfortune. He has measured out the appropriate proportions of love and discipline, holding true to the Word of God when many Church of God preachers became extremely liberal in their preaching and teaching."

As a congregation we had considered leaving the Anderson movement long before any of this came up for some of the same reasons that the Community Church of God is not part of the Anderson movement. We never took the final step, but it was made for us when the church was ordered to fire me after my credentials were revoked in 1987 (almost two years after it all began).

Pastor Dryden also maintains that I refused to meet with Church of God authorities. I have a letter dated May 26, 1987 from Foster C. Brock, Jr. Chairperson, States Credential's Committee. He writes:

Dear Mr. Shelton:

On June 2, we will be having a State Credential's Committee Meeting at 10:00 AM. Your situation will be discussed again at this meeting. Your presence at this meeting is required so that we might hopefully make some final decision to clear up this matter.

I cannot emphasize enough the importance of your presence at this meeting and I thank you for making the effort to be there and in this act we appreciate your cooperation with us.

Sincerely,

Foster Brock

I did attend that meeting. The proof of that can be verified by two sources. First, Bro. James Darden my associate pastor went with me. Secondly I have a letter from my mother dated June 16, 1987 (fourteen days after the meeting) in which she wrote to the Committee. An excerpt from her letter is as follows:

"My son, Tommy Shelton, has just recently returned from a meeting he had with your committee, and told me of the letter you read him saying his father brought charges against him concerning his behavior, and I want to tell you this is the most disgusting lie that has ever been told on anyone?"........ She continued by asking for the name of the person so that that person could be confronted. She never received a response to her letter. - The point being, she states that I had recently returned from a meeting with the committee.

Pastor Dryden mentions three occasions where he invited me to meet with him and his board/committee and I did not respond. That's true, but none of the invitations had to do with allegations.

All three invitations had to do with a letter of apology that the church at Ezra deemed necessary to write to the (IGA) and if I understand right, to be read also at the local campmeeting.

My understanding is that it was a letter from the church apologizing for attitudes/actions during the time, and following the suspension of my credentials.

I had no interest in contributing anything to that action as I believed, and still do, that if an apology was necessary, it should have been from individuals who felt they needed to apologize, not an apology from the church at large. My reasoning? Numbers of people in the congregation NEVER wrote letters of any kind to the (IGA), never mistreated anyone in the other churches and remained Christian throughout the entire ordeal. If a few individuals, who in hindsight, felt they acted unchristian, in my opinion, they should have written their individual apologies.

Far from the need of an apology, the memories of my family and me are the ungodly and unholy things that were committed against our church, and us personally, in the name of God by other "Christians." We remember how our church signs on the Highway were sprayed with black paint - how our church was broken into - how our church bus was written all over calling my wife and daughters whores, and the word queer written not only on the church bus, but our house. We remember (check with my children) the nights that we received phone calls in the middle of the night with bomb threats and we had to leave our home, drive down the road and wait for our home to blow up - we remember Gerri Lynn receiving a phone call (she was 9 ½ years old) that she was dead meat - we remember the letters that frequently came trashing our whole family and the church. We also remember how that after I resigned, how that not one minister or church with the exception of Sis. Lucy and Bro. Joe Daniels, ever called Carol to see if we had food, to offer comfort to the kids and her........nothing!

Quoting again from the letter that A.J. wrote to Arthur Tucker ........"It is difficult to comprehend what has happened to our church in the last two years. One of the most disheartening aspects of the entire matter is that few pastors and Christians in the Church of God movement have extended a hand to our church or our pastor. ....Support from the Church of God pastors in Illinois was virtually non-existent.........Most of us at Ezra have suffered tremendously simply because it seemed that no one cared about our pastor, our people or the future of our church......"

A.J.'s words do not sound like the words of someone who needed to repent for his discord, division, ought and strife - as stated in the "apology" statement. I did not respond to Glenn's letters because I was not interested in any written apology drafted by him, a man who was not there when it happened, who did not suffer the pain that many suffered, which apology was drafted more than 15 years after the fact - after many of the Godly men and women who played major rolls in it all, were already deceased.

Many of those voting to send the apology to (IGA) did not attend Ezra Church of God in the 80's and knew nothing about any of it until the meeting that was held by Pastor Dryden in 2001.

In that meeting he said that he envisioned revival breaking out when the apology was extended. Instead as a result of the 2001 meeting, some left the church (this is undeniable), others told us personally that "they would not leave - they were there before Pastor Dryden came, and they would be there afterwards and would anxiously awaited his leaving." There was no revival that broke out, only more hurt over the past, and discord among many in the congregation.

So no, I did not respond to his three invitations to meet with him/committee for reasons stated above. He failed (as far as I know) to tell you, that after an accuser came forward that had not done so in the 80's that I called Pastor Glenn and ask to read a statement that I had written. The statement was not intended to be an "end all" it was only a first move to open the door for talks. He immediately cut me off and said that if I wanted to talk it would be face to face and in the presence of board members.

My wife can verify the conversation which lasted less than two minutes - even when I said, please, I'm begging you to listen, this is just a beginning.....he uncompassionately cut me off and reaffirmed his earlier position. From that moment I decided I would never be involved in dialogue with anyone in his presence.

Pastor Dryden further states in his letter: " I will reiterate here that in the case of Tommy Shelton it is my opinion, though there are different congregations in different states, leaders of one "organization" or entity, the corporate church of God, have attempted to bring him to accountability. As a pastor of the church of God I am one of those leaders who have been involved in this attempt. Tommy Shelton has been approached by leaders of the church of God over an almost twenty year period. Incomprehensibly, he has succeeded in circumventing church discipline."

The above paragraph is simply not true. If there have been any efforts since 1987 to bring me to accountability by the Church of God or it's leadership (other than Glenn Dryden) I nor my wife or children are aware of it, and we demand names and dates to refresh our memory, if it is possible to forget something of that magnitude.

To the contrary, when I surrendered my credentials in 2001 to the Ministerial Council in Virginia, it appeared that no one cared. I didn't receive an acknowledgement, and neither my family nor I received any phone calls from anyone on the Council offering Gal. 6:1 restoration, or help of any kind. Glenn's statement that I have been approached by leaders of the Church of God over a 20 year period is absolutely not true. I was a very visible person in the Church of God. I spoke at numerous revivals and campmeetings each year - or song director or musician at large endeavors - my Bible studies and videos were being used by churches in many states. If I were being sought for 20 years to be brought into accountability, I wouldn't have been hard to find me and I certainly would not have been offered the speaking opportunities that were afforded me, as news travels fast in Church of God circles.

The only leadership trying to do whatever it is he is trying to do, is Glenn Dryden. And my question is, does the Church of God allow a leader, acting on his own, to do all that Pastor Dryden has done to "bring me to accountability?" Has he followed Church of God example?

Has the Church of God, Anderson or Independent, ever put what they believe to be another man's sins on the internet?

Is there precedence in the Church of God for giving negative information to someone of another denomination without checking to know who they are?

Does the Church of God condone a leader sending a letter to the General Conference of the Seventh Day Adventist revealing scandal in the Church of God?

Pastor Dryden not only sent a letter to the General Conference of SDA, but to the Chairman of the Board of 3ABN and to the head of the Hope Channel - another SDA television network. The leaders of the General Conference didn't even know me - I have never been to the Hope Channel and don't know its leader - and the letter to the chairman of the board could only have been to try to take my job. The Church of God does not operate this way, and one of it's leaders should not either. In truth, many pastors I have spoken with feel he should be disqualified as a leader for following such an unbiblical path.

I will now show you a couple of letters that Pastor Dryden allowed to be published on the internet for the world to see. While reading them, ask yourself, would I want this published about my loved one - husband - child - wife - dad, even if it were all true? In my opinion a godly, compassionate man would have handled all of this within the confines of the church, if for no other reasons, than for the sake of Carol, Valerie and Brad, Gerri Lynn and Jason and Rick - people you all know and love. Their lives will never be the same.

If it were all true, think of what they would have already gone through - then for each of them to have to face more humiliation everyday as they meet people who have been on the internet and read Pastor Dryden's letters - no matter how far from home they go.

May 14, 2003

Dr. Walter Thompson
*** *** ***
*** ***, *** *****
Dear Dr. Thompson:
Greetings in the holy name of our Lord Jesus!

It is my understanding that you serve as chairman of the board of directors of Three Angels Broadcasting Network. From 3ABN's web site it appears an invitation to minister has been extended to this congregation's former pastor, Tommy Ray Shelton.

Constrained by an ethical, if not legal, obligation, I am compelled to advise you that Tommy Ray Shelton is not in good standing with either of the two associations by which he was first presented with ministerial credentials. At least six boys in our community were sexually abused by Tommy Ray Shelton during the periods he served as pastor of this congregation.

Some of these young men and some parents are willing to corroborate the information I am giving you, if necessary. Please contact me for their phone numbers that I may alert them to a pending call.

I also will put you in touch with the two associations referenced above. Either I or members of this congregation's leadership will answer any questions you may have regarding this correspondence.
In our Lord's service,

Pastor Glenn Dryden

ACTION ITEMS SUGGESTED FOR TOMMY SHELTON
Expediency recommended :
Senate Bill 1035 extending statute of limitations goes into effect as soon as signed by Governor Blagojevich. This could be within the next thirty days.
Note http://www.legis.state.il.us

Tommy should retain an attorney to represent him as well as to serve him in contacting victims and their families, all at Tommy's expense.

A full disclosure of all victims and details should be made to the Franklin County Sheriff's Office (Investigator Kevin Skurat, 618-435-8187). This disclosure should include pertinent incidences in other states as well as in other jurisdictions in Illinois in addition to Franklin County.

Tommy should cooperate in the placement of his name and pertinent information on appropriate sex offenders lists, as the law may require in the state of his residence or in Illinois.

Tommy should agree to reimburse any of the victims or their family members for the expenses of counseling they have received. He should further agree to pay for any future counseling required by any of the victims or their family members. Contact should be made by his attorney with the victims through their parents if necessary. Pastor Glenn Dryden of the Ezra Church of God (--*) should be consulted as to the victims of whom he is aware and as to which of these may be contacted directly. Other victims may wish to maintain anonymity. Apart from necessary contact by law enforcement personnel, their wishes should be respected.

Tommy should issue written apologies over his signature to all victims and to their parents. Again, contact with victims should be made through their parents if necessary.

Tommy also should issue written apologies over his signature for his deceit, as well as inappropriate behavior, etc., to the congregation of the Ezra Church of God, West Frankfort, Illinois, the congregation of the Community Church of God, Dunn Loring, Virginia, the state office of the General Assembly Of The Church Of God In Illinois and to the Ministerial Council of the Church of God headquartered in Virginia.

Subject: FROM PASTOR DRYDEN
Date: Sun, 3 Dec 2006 21:03:14 -0500
From: Glenn Dryden

Statement of Pastor Glenn Dryden

Three instances of misconduct on the part of Tommy Shelton while he served as pastor at the Community Church of God, Dunn Loring, Virginia, have been reported to me in the brief time I have served as pastor of this congregation.

The most egregious of these instances involved a male who was a minor at the time.

In another correspondence with the "investigators" he says: You may make public my 2003 letter to Dr. Thompson and action items (which were compiled by the congregation of the Ezra Church of God) and may note that the action items were also sent to Mike Riva, Tommy's attorney, with my reply to his letter of June 13, 2003. You may note that I gave you my permission to do so.

Now to my last comment about Pastor Dryden's open letter. "It is my assertion as well that years ago the church [in the corporate sense of our understanding of the church] complied with the principle set forth in Matthew 18:15-17 and concluded Tommy Shelton "be treated like an unbeliever" (Contemporary English Version), a "sexually immoral" person (I Corinthians 5)." (his underlining)

"Indeed Tommy Shelton is a sexually immoral individual such as the one the Apostle Paul spoke of in I Corinthians 5 and, like that man, is worthy of expulsion from fellowship with the church of God."

How can a man who has not seen or talked to me in over 6 years say that Tommy Shelton "IS" a sexually immoral individual? For argument sake let's say that every charge against me is true, how can he know that in the last 6 years I have not repented? The CCOG board has numbers of letters from people at 3ABN who worked with me every day who have testified to my Christian experience and walk with the Lord over these last many years. There has not been one rumor of any kind - sexual immorality, dishonesty, deceit or any other of the sins Glenn accuses me of. How can any man of God say with certainty that I "am" a sexually immoral person. I repeat, if it were all true - do we not believe in repentance and forgiveness? For six years no one has questioned my Christian experience and actually for the six years prior, when I was with you all, you didn't question it either.

In fact, the vast majority of you sensed the presence of the Holy Spirit in our services, you told me that you learned and were drawn closer to God through our ministry there. I'm not saying that I wasn't human - not saying that I didn't have issues that I struggled with - not saying that I didn't make mistakes - or never miscommunicated something etc. but I was not a sexually immoral person. Check back to what you felt in your own spirit while we were there. Glenn's statement in this regard is judging and the Bible condemns it. This statement will also make him liable in a court of law as he cannot say I "am" a sexually immoral person without present proof.

O.K., so where do we go from here? Pastor Dryden says since I am a sexually immoral person like Paul talked about in I Cor. 5, I should be expulsed from the Church of God.

Does he not realize that already happened 1987 - expulsed from the Anderson movement. Then, fellowship was broken with the independent Church of God when I returned my credentials in 2001. Now if that is not enough expulsion, my ministry, name and character was assassinated on the internet by the hand of one man, Glenn Dryden.

In addition to my ruination in the Church of God, I have also been ruined in the Seventh-Day-Adventist Church (world wide, as I ministered in music around the world). Not only is my music ministry ruined among the Adventist, but my two daughter's ministry is ruined as well.

I can never preach, teach, sing or play in the Church of God or Adventist church again at this point.

In addition, because of the pressure (that your pastor hoped for, by his own admission) from the scandalizing on the internet, it was necessary for me to leave my job because of the stress to my heart due to constant high blood pressure. So on top of all of the other expulsions I am expulsed from my job, and not able to draw social security until April. If all of this is not expulsion, I don't know what is. But he must want something more for he continues to seek "new evidence" even as late as last week. Although he has stated in 2001 everything "seemed to drop into my lap" he continues seeking. For what purpose??? I AM ALREADY EXPULSED!

As I see it, The Church at Dunn Loring has only one biblical avenue to pursue. The church cannot bring reconciliation between my accusers and me. That can only be accomplished between them and me, and both parties have to want it.

If the Church wants to be the Church, the avenue it must take is to continue beyond

1 Corinthians 5, to it's completion in II Corinthians, chapter 2. In I Corinthians 5, your Pastor has already pointed out that the incestuous (sexually immoral) person should be expulsed or as the Amplified Bible calls it, censured. That has already happened.

What the Pastor has failed to point out is that Paul does not leave the sexually immoral person expulsed. He tells the church what their responsibility is to that person, and his instructions are clear and found in II Corinthians 2:6-8. Clark's commentary tie the two passages together beautifully and I give the passage from the Amplified Bible because it so understandable.

Verse 6 – For such a one this censure by the majority (which he has received is) sufficient (punishment). 7. So (instead of further rebuke, now) you should rather turn and (graciously) forgive and comfort and encourage (him), to keep him from being overwhelmed by excessive sorrow and despair. 8. I therefore beg you to reinstate him in your affections and assure him of your love for him; Verse 11 says, "To keep Satan from getting the advantage over us ....

There you have the Bible path at this point. Glenn says I should be rebuked before all – I have been (before the whole world) – he says I should be treated as an unbeliever – I have been, by him - he says I should be expulsed – I have been and much, much more. The only biblical avenue for the church to take is, II Corinthians 2:6-8, and that is where it must end – now – not months down the road as Pastor Dryden suggested in his letter.

Just as Glenn Dryden gave a list of action items for me which included registering as a sex offender and making apologies to Ezra and Dunn Loring etc. I would suggest that there should be some apologies on his part. He should start with my wife and children for the "unnecessary" hurt by his actions on the internet. It would have been painful enough for them had it been handled within the church, but the internet was cruel and unreasonable punishment for them. And it is not over for my family either. An Adventist magazine with thousands of subscribers is planning, and may already have, published an article about me in the coming issue – it's source of information – Gailon Joy – Gailon's source, Glenn Dryden. My family has yet to face that humiliation.

He should apologize to the Seventh-day-Adventist church for the confusion and disharmony it has created in its congregations, and to the Churches of God where he has sent letters that have set people against people. This is not to say that if he were convicted by God to handle this issue that he should not have gotten involved. It is to say that there was a Bible way – the internet was not the Bible way – letters to people of other denominations was not the Bible way – calling people on the phone looking for accusations was not the Bible way. Had the Bible way been followed who knows what God might have done. As it is, the brokenness and hurt which has now reached around the world will never all be mended.

One last thought, let's say I'm innocent, or I am forgiven.......at whose hand will the blood of those souls that may have been saved under my continued ministry, be required? I would fear to be the one who shut down the ministry of one whose fruit in the past 20 years show he was used of God in some measure whether great or small.

I love all of you at the Community Church of God. You know that.... I was with you six years. My family's and my life are richer and fuller because of our time with you. I am so sorry for all of the pain that this has caused.

Our prayer is that each of you will decide in your heart to follow II Corinthians 2.

Don't wrestle with guilty or innocent, just determine to follow I Corinthians 5 to it's completion in II Corinthians 2:6-8 – not just in this matter but in every situation that you may face in the future.

God Bless you individually and the Community Church of God as a whole,

Tommy Shelton

Posted by: sister Feb 18 2007, 02:28 PM

QUOTE

> One last thought, let's say I'm innocent, or I am forgiven.......at whose hand will the blood of those souls that may have been saved under my continued ministry, be required? I would fear to be the one who shut down the ministry of one whose fruit in the past 20 years show he was used of God in some measure whether great or small.

The line quoted above is a strange statement for one to make who claims to be innocent: "One last thought, let's say I'm innocent, or I am forgiven." For Tommy to end his letter this way can certainly bring doubt to the minds of the readers concerning Tommy's own conviction whether he is innocent or has repented of his sins and is forgiven.

Compare the above statement from Tommy Shelton with the statements of Linda Shelton from her letter poster on BSDA, quoted below:

> QUOTE
>
> The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband.

> QUOTE
>
> It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"! The world is waiting with baited breath!

Linda calls for all evidence to be publically produced. And Tommy? Just something to consider...

Sister

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 18 2007, 02:53 PM

I don't recall reading anywhere that anyone has denied that the email labeled as a confession from Tommy is not in fact written by him.

see: http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm

There is nothing in this letter that would cause me to conclude that Tommy has not done what has been alleged. Failure to out right deny the allegations when given the opportunity to do so I find significant.

Tommy again uses conversational terrorism to blame his accusers for the pain caused his family and the loss of any souls who learn of the allegations.

I wonder if Tommy ever blames Danny for this new public awareness of Tommy's past that may have gone entirely unnoticed if Danny had handled Linda's removal at 3abn and their divorce differently?

I wonder if Tommy sent this letter after talking to his legal representative?

nw

Posted by: Grace Feb 18 2007, 03:16 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 18 2007, 09:53 PM)
>
> I don't recall reading anywhere that anyone has denied that the email labeled as a confession from Tommy is not in fact written by him.
>
> see: http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm
>
> There is nothing in this letter that would cause me to conclude that Tommy has not done what has been alleged. Failure to out right deny the allegations when given the opportunity to do so I find significant.
>
> Tommy again uses conversational terrorism to blame his accusers for the pain caused his family and the loss of any souls who learn of the allegations.
>
> I wonder if Tommy ever blames Danny for this new public awareness of Tommy's past that may have gone entirely unnoticed if Danny had handled Linda's removal at 3abn and their divorce differently?
>
> I wonder if Tommy sent this letter after talking to his legal representative?
>
> nw

Very true, NW. I see conversational terrorism (thanks for your post on that, NW!) all over TS's letter, especially accusing others of having done such unfair and abusive things to him (and his family), playing the "poor me" and the "I'm such a nice guy"... His game is blaming his accusers of all sort of evil things, discrediting them... but never addressing the real issue: Is he guilty or is he not? He must know by now that he can't play "innocent", so he tries to play "victim".

notworkir

Posted by: Lenni Feb 18 2007, 04:20 PM

[quote name='Pickle' date='Feb 18 2007, 01:12 PM' post='179087']
I received this open letter last night anonymously. This is the very type of thing I asked Danny for last November, and I wish so much that it had been sent to me back then. Why has it taken so long to get it?

Hopefully it will answer some of our questions.

Tommy's wife, Carol, also wrote an "open letter" addressed to the church at Dunn Loring. When I read it, I wanted to scream. I don't have it in front of me right now but she states that she believes all of us have been victimized in one way or another and, basically, states that it is our own responsibility to get the help we need and essentially get over it. I reread it again last night and I'm still fuming over it!

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 18 2007, 05:07 PM

Can you say ENABLER?

nw

Posted by: dedication Feb 18 2007, 05:19 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 3 2007, 10:22 PM)
>
> Personally I know that the Mundalls wrote out a statement and signed it and it was given to the Illinois Conference President at the time. How do I know this is true? Directly from the mouth of the Mundall source. Are allegations of child molestation against Tommy Shelton included in this document, YES. How do I know, from the same Mundall source. When will the document be released? At the appropriate time and place.
>
> ..... Since the Illinois Conference President was also a sitting memeber of the 3ABN board, it appears that the Mundalls gave their evidence to an official whom they believed would both have influence and be above reproach since he was not controlled financially by 3ABN. Also, keep in mind that Tommy Shelton was not then, nor has he been since, a member of the SDA church. Thus SDA church has no authority over Tommy. But since Danny Shelton publically claims not to be independent, but rather a supporting ministry of the SDA church, it should have influence with him in regard to these matters.
>
> Sister

I have lots of Questions-- concerning things that don't quite add up.

The statement has been made that Danny misled the 3ABN board into thinking Tommy's perverse activities were 30 years old.
The statement has been made that Elder Thompson accepted this to be true because Danny lied to him.

But NOW I read that in 1991 the board was made fully aware of Tommy's propensities to sin -- (that's only 15 years ago) so they were NOT ignorant at all. They KNEW!

A statement was also made that Danny put 3ABN and the Illinois conference in financial jeopardy by lying to them about Tommy, but now I find out that the 3ABN board and the Illinois conference already knew about the problem.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 18 2007, 05:41 PM

lenni,
Do you have access to the letter from Carol? If so, could you post it?

PB

Posted by: Pickle Feb 18 2007, 06:02 PM

I agree, Dedication, it doesn't quite make sense.

Now if we look at Tommy's open letter, he claims in it that the first allegations were raised in September 1985, which doesn't jive with either Brad Dunning's recollections (1982-1983) or Walt Thompson's statements (30 years ago).

One thing that puts it possibly in a different light is to look at who was on the board in 1991 compared with 2003. Whoever was not on the board in 1991 would not necessarily know in 2003 what happened back then.

And how much the current conference administration knew about 1991 is uncertain to me at this point.

Yet a plaintiff might argue that they should have known more than they did (Danny's statements to Walt in 2003 do not help), and would a jury agree?

Dedication,

I just looked and Walt Thompson, according to the December 2005 issue of 3ABN World, had been on the board at that time nearly 20 years.

Unfortunately, that raises questions about the truthfulness of Dr. Thompson when he said the allegations were about 30 years old. How could he say that if he was present at the board meetings that took up the issue in 1991?

Or are we missing something?

Bob

Posted by: dedication Feb 18 2007, 06:15 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 6 2007, 12:42 AM) ☐
>
> I am proud of Brad and proud of his relatives. He had trust enough in them to speak up and they believed him and took the appropriate action. When a youth has that kind of support, he can meet up with unfortunate incidents, and yet come out on top. Brad has demonstrated this in his life.
>
> It is a delicate task to caution a child and yet not make him/her suspicious of everyone.

Excellent thoughts!!
Yes, justice should be served to perpetrators, and I'm still wondering why action wasn't taken in 1991 and why the board and the Illinios Conference are depicted as "unknowing" when it was just shown that they KNEW....

But your thoughts are right on target, for the only real safety for our young people in a world gone crazy with sexual perversions, pronography, and exploitation is to train our young people to recognize and resist danger.

Personally I find the governments rather hypocritical -- on the one hand they are tough on "perpetrators" -- which they should be, --- but on the other hand they allow more and more outright provocative material to float around in every public place (and even invading uninvited into private space) that only feeds the beastly propensities that make up the drives of the perpetrators.

We do need to teach our young people to recognize and resist evil, even if it comes from a "respected" source. And yes, that is an important and delicate task!!!

This world will never be a safe place prior to the new earth.

What I find even more disturbing about Tommy's approach -- much more disturbing than any assumed medical condition is how he brings GOD into the mess, and actually uses the name of the Holy Righteous God to promote sin.

> QUOTE
>
> QUOTE
> "He said that he had prayed about it, and God showed him how that he could be healed. He told me that God showed him that...............

That is taking the name of the Lord in vain in the most hideous way.

Posted by: dedication Feb 18 2007, 07:22 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 06:02 PM)
>
> I agree, Dedication, it doesn't quite make sense.
>
> Now if we look at Tommy's open letter, he claims in it that the first allegations were raised in September 1985, which doesn't jive with either Brad Dunning's recollections (1982-1983) or Walt Thompson's statements (30 years ago).

Well -- Brad may be referring to the time he was actually experiencing the problem.

Tommy may be reporting the time allegations were actually raised. Which of course would be later than the actual time the activity took place.

And W. Thompson was probably speaking in rounded figures pushing the 80's as far into the past as rounding would allow. After all -- the emphases meant by his statement was "it was a looong time ago".

> QUOTE
>
> One thing that puts it possibly in a different light is to look at who was on the board in 1991 compared with 2003. Whoever was not on the board in 1991 would not necessarily know in 2003 what happened back then.
>
> And how much the current conference administration knew about 1991 is uncertain to me at this point.

Though there are probably new members -- things like that usually are not forgotten by those who were there earlier, and one of the function of a board is to "discuss" matters and enlighten new members on the particulars.

> QUOTE
>
> Yet a plaintiff might argue that they should have known more than they did (Danny's statements to Walt in 2003 do not help), and would a jury agree?
>
> I just looked and Walt Thompson, according to the December 2005 issue of 3ABN World, had been on the board at that time nearly 20 years.
>
> Unfortunately, that raises questions about the truthfulness of Dr. Thompson when he said the allegations were about 30 years old. How could he say that if he was present at the board meetings that took up the issue in 1991?

I think the point of Danny lying to the board isn't totally true. It may well have been all the "older" members justifying their hiring of Tommy by saying -- "it was a loong time ago -- about 30 years." The board would have KNOWN.

"Or are we missing something?"

Bob

Probably -- life situations can be pretty complex with lots of angles.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 18 2007, 08:40 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 02:12 PM) ☐
>
> ...he states that he is doing what he can to protect young people. What young people?
>
> I have worked for the last 6 years in an environment where there are NO young people.

> ... I attend a church where there are NO young people. I live in a rural area where there are NO young people for miles. I have not preached a campmeeting where there were young people for over five years. I live 800 miles from the young people at Community Church of God. How could this be his real motive?
> ... Tommy Shelton

ttp://fbcoh.org/greet1.html
October 15-18 we're having our Fall Revival with Rev. Tommy Shelton preaching. It will meet nightly t 6:30 p.m. ... great singing, preaching, and fellowship."

ttp://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/1oct06.pdf
attachmentid=759]
ray for our preaching evangelist, Tommy Shelton. Tommy has asked that we pray that the Holy Spirit ould guide him in exactly what to preach in each specific service. Tommy's desire is to be emptied of imself and filled with the Holy Spirit.

ttp://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/8oct06.pdf
ear First Baptist Friends s I look forward with anticipation to the upcoming Revival meetings, I am reminded that although we ay set aside a time for revival, God must send it. He is not only willing to send revival, but longs to end it. The only thing that can hinder revival from coming to us is an unprepared heart. True revival omes to us when we, like Isaiah, catch a glimpse of the Lord high and lifted up, and in the light of His oliness, see our great need. R.A. Torry gave a prescription for revival, which I quote: First, let a few hristians get thor-oughly right with God. If this is not done, the rest will come to nothing. Second, let hem bind them-selves together to pray for revival until God opens the windows of heaven and comes own. Third, let them put themselves at the disposal of God for His se as He sees fit in winning others to Christ. That is all. I have given this prescription around the orld...and in no instance has it failed. It cannot fail.
ooking forward to being with you ...Tommy

ttp://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/15oct06.pdf
HAT BLESSING... to have Tommy and Carol Shelton with us this week, as Tommy preaches our evival. They live in Marion, Kentucky, and have been married for 43 years. They have three grown hildren. Tommy pastored two churches over a twenty-five year span, one in Kentucky and the other n the Washington D.C. area.

ttp://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/22oct06.pdf
...I was reminded of Tommy Shelton's message on Wednesday evening from Proverbs 4:23. "Keep hy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." (KJV) If we are to become all God called s to be, we must guard our spiritual hearts. ...

o you think this church has NO youth?

Posted by: roxe Feb 18 2007, 08:51 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 12:12 PM) ☐
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> <snip>
> II Cor. 7:10 says, "For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death." True repentance comes from God - it's a gift - not > consequences or having to "pay." Negative consequences may cause one to try to change behavior for a time, but true repentance only comes from God through godly sorrow - As the verse says, "... but the sorrow of the world - (getting caught - consequences etc) worketh death.

> <snip>
> Tommy Shelton

s his interpretation of this verse correct??

s he saying he should NOT have to suffer getting caught or any consequences??

vonder who helped him write this letter... or if someone else wrote it...

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 18 2007, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 11:12 AM)
>
> I received this open letter last night anonymously. This is the very type of thing I asked Danny for last November, and I wish so much that it had been sent to me back then. Why has it taken so long to get it?
>
> Hopefully it will answer some of our questions.
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: Letter from Tommy Shelton to CCOG, Dunn Loring, VA
> Date: Sat, 17 Feb 2007 17:47:14 -0800 (PST)
> From: No One You Know
>
> An Open Letter
>
> To the many I have loved through the years. I am sending you this letter in response to an open letter that was sent to many, if not all, of you from Pastor Glenn Dryden. This letter is not meant as revenge, but so that you might be informed of the other side of the story......................
> Tommy Shelton

ould this be what bystander and wwjd (and the gang) may have been up too the past few days they ave not been here posting??

Posted by: Pickle Feb 18 2007, 10:00 PM

> QUOTE(dedication @ Feb 18 2007, 07:22 PM)
>
> Well -- Brad may be referring to the time he was actually experiencing the problem.
>
> Tommy may be reporting the time allegations were actually raised. Which of course would be later than the actual time the activity took place.

We know for a fact, based on Brad's account, that this cannot be true. Immediately after being propositioned, Brad left the school and went home and told his family. Thus there is no room in his account for a delay of a couple years.

The only possibility would be that Brad got the date wrong. But then we'd have other people getting their dates wrong too. Sherry Avery's account has Tommy getting caught in October 1984, and that was after there were other allegations already floating around.

Is it even possible to have the allegations occur first in September 1985, with Tommy's resignation happening that soon afterwards, followed the next month by the suspension of his credentials, given all the accounts that have been collected thus far?

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 18 2007, 08:40 PM) ☐
>
> http://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/15oct06.pdf
> WHAT BLESSING... to have Tommy and Carol Shelton with us this week, as Tommy preaches our Revival. They live in Marion, Kentucky, and have been married for 43 years. They have three grown children. Tommy pastored two churches over a twenty-five year span, one in Kentucky and the other in the Washington D.C. area.

Could someone please explain why the Ezra Church of God in IL is not listed as a third church? Out of the three churches, was he not longer at Ezra than anywhere else? Or was he at Marion before he was at Ezra as well as at Marion for a year in the last half of the '80's?

Posted by: Pickle Feb 18 2007, 10:35 PM

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Tommy: Two questions about your open letter.
Date: Sun, 18 Feb 2007 11:58:27 -0600
To: Tommy Shelton
CC: Mollie Steenson, Pastor Lomacang, Fallible Human Being, Joe Smith, Danny Shelton, Elder Ken Denslow, Walt Thompson

Hello Tommy.

Last night someone forwarded to me your open letter to the Dunn Loring congregation. If there is any chance that this letter is not genuine, please let me know at your earliest convenience.

I haven't read it in its entirety yet, and will look forward to hopefully finding some information in it that will put things in a drastically different light. My only regret is that Danny did not send me anything along these lines in November as requested, as perhaps it could have prevented some misunderstanding, if there really have been any misunderstandings.

Here are two things that I did notice that caused me a little concern. You wrote (assuming that this letter is really genuine):

> QUOTE(Tommy Shelton)
>
> "In addition, because of the pressure (that your pastor hoped for, by his own admission) from the scandalizing on the internet, it was necessary for me to leave my job because of the stress to my heart due to constant high blood pressure."

And yet, contrary to the above, you and Danny on the air on New Year's Eve said that your health problems and your retirement were due to:

- Your tremendous schedule.
- Weekend traveling.
- Long commuting.
- And above everything else, a ferry.

Question: Are you admitting in your open letter that both you and Danny lied on the air as to the real reason you were retiring three months early from 3ABN, or do you have a way to explain this apparent discrepancy?

You also wrote:

> QUOTE(Tommy Shelton)
>
> "These men are not 'ecclesiastical investigators' for the Seventh Day Adventist. They hold no official position, and have no authority in the Seventh Day Adventist Church to investigate anything or anybody. By next week I will have in hand an official statement from the Illinois Conference President of SDA, stating that these men do not work for the Seventh-Day-Adventist church and were not authorized to investigate anyone."

Question: Isn't this a tad bit dishonest, given the facts that:

- It was an Adventist church pastor or administrator that got the 2003 Glenn Dryden letter to Gailon Joy for him to look at on August 15, 2006, after which he launched his investigation?
- It was an NAD or GC officer that arranged for the 3ABN board to ask ASI to review the various allegations and evidence uncovered by Gailon against Danny Shelton et. al., including the allegations raised in Glenn Dryden's 2003 letter?
- Some of the individuals involved in the "investigation" are retired pastors/administrators, and/or other individuals who currently hold credentials issued by the denomination?

It just seems like your statement may be splitting hairs and giving a distorted picture of what is really going on. While Gailon wasn't officially authorized to investigate, he was unofficially asked to investigate, etc. And I find it difficult to believe that a man like Elder Denslow would be helping to distort the picture of what has been going on.

I trust that I will not have to wait nearly three months to receive an open letter from an anonymous person that answers these simple questions.

Bob

Posted by: lurker Feb 19 2007, 07:34 AM

Here is new article on the 3ABN scandal that I just found this morning. Thought you all would like to read/share it. http://tinyurl.com/2xlw3e

---

Posted by: Grace Feb 19 2007, 07:46 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 19 2007, 02:34 PM)
>
> Here is new article on the 3ABN scandal that I just found this morning. Thought you all would like to read/share it. http://tinyurl.com/2xlw3e

Thank you, Lurker! Very interesting. Seems that truth is getting more and more known.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 19 2007, 05:35 AM)
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: Tommy: Two questions about your open letter.
> Date: Sun, 18 Feb 2007 11:58:27 -0600
> To: Tommy Shelton
> CC: Mollie Steenson, Pastor Lomacang, Fallible Human Being, Joe Smith, Danny Shelton, Elder Ken Denslow, Walt Thompson
>
> Hello Tommy.
>
> Last night someone forwarded to me your open letter to the Dunn Loring congregation. If there is any chance that this letter is not genuine, please let me know at your earliest convenience.
>
> I haven't read it in its entirety yet, and will look forward to hopefully finding some information in it that will put things in a drastically different light. My only regret is that Danny did not send me anything along these lines in November as requested, as perhaps it could have prevented some misunderstanding, if there really have been any misunderstandings.
>
> Here are two things that I did notice that caused me a little concern. You wrote (assuming that this letter is really genuine):
>
> And yet, contrary to the above, you and Danny on the air on New Year's Eve said that your health problems and your retirement were due to:
>
> - Your tremendous schedule.
> - Weekend traveling.
> - Long commuting.
> - And above everything else, a ferry.
>
> Question: Are you admitting in your open letter that both you and Danny lied on the air as to the real reason you were retiring three months early from 3ABN, or do you have a way to explain this apparent discrepancy?
>
> You also wrote:
>
> Question: Isn't this a tad bit dishonest, given the facts that:
>
> - It was an Adventist church pastor or administrator that got the 2003 Glenn Dryden letter to Gailon Joy for him to look at on August 15, 2006, after which he launched his investigation?
> - It was an NAD or GC officer that arranged for the 3ABN board to ask ASI to review the various allegations and evidence uncovered by Gailon against Danny Shelton et. al., including the allegations raised in Glenn Dryden's 2003 letter?
> - Some of the individuals involved in the "investigation" are retired pastors/administrators, and/or other individuals who currently hold credentials issued by the denomination?
>
> It just seems like your statement may be splitting hairs and giving a distorted picture of what is really going on. While Gailon wasn't officially authorized to investigate, he was unofficially asked to investigate, etc. And I find it difficult to believe that a man like Elder Denslow would be helping to distort the picture of what has been going on.
>
> I trust that I will not have to wait nearly three months to receive an open letter from an anonymous person that answers these simple questions.

> Bob

nd thank you, Pickel! Waiting for their answer...

Posted by: brother4life Feb 19 2007, 11:30 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 3 2007, 01:06 AM)
>
> But I bet he's still drawing a paycheck from 3ABN

alk about speculation! You bet?

Posted by: brother4life Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 2 2007, 03:43 AM)
>
> I'm in this for the duration. I'm not going anywhere. Count on it.
>
> Duane Clem

ust curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to ee that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? o you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two randchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?

ersonally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he ands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory f God?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 02:27 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 12:07 PM)
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?

> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

re you trying to say that if someone is guilty of breaking the law, has to go to jail/prision, that it's he victims/lawyers/judge or anyone that had to do with the justice coming about, fault for bringing bout that justice? That they should feel guilty because they had a part in a criminal getting the ushishment that the law requires for that person if they break the law? That those that the criminal eaves behind, THEIR pain is more important then the victim's pain? Surely you are not saying this. ery interesting thinking, as I only know a handful of people personally that think this dysfunctional.

on't play that guilt trip here. No one here will take that trip with you.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 18 2007, 07:40 PM)
>
> http://fbcoh.org/greet1.html
> "October 15-18 we're having our Fall Revival with Rev. Tommy Shelton preaching. It will meet nightly at 6:30 p.m. ... great singing, preaching, and fellowship."
> http://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/1oct06.pdf
> [attachmentid=759]
> Pray for our preaching evangelist, Tommy Shelton. Tommy has asked that we pray that the Holy Spirit would guide him in exactly what to preach in each specific service. Tommy's desire is to be emptied of himself and filled with the Holy Spirit.
>
> http://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/8oct06.pdf
> Dear First Baptist Friends
> As I look forward with anticipation to the upcoming Revival meetings, I am reminded that although we may set aside a time for revival, God must send it. He is not only willing to send revival, but longs to send it. The only thing that can hinder revival from coming to us is an unprepared heart. True revival comes to us when we, like Isaiah, catch a glimpse of the Lord high and lifted up, and in the light of His Holiness, see our great need. R.A. Torry gave a prescription for revival, which I quote: First, let a few Christians get thor-oughly right with God. If this is not done, the rest will come to nothing. Second, let them bind them-selves together to pray for revival until God opens the windows of heaven and comes down. Third, let them put themselves at the disposal of God for His use as He sees fit in winning others to Christ. That is all. I have given this prescription around the world...and in no instance has it failed. It cannot fail.
> Looking forward to being with you ...Tommy
>
> http://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/15oct06.pdf
> WHAT BLESSING... to have Tommy and Carol Shelton with us this week, as Tommy preaches our Revival. They live in Marion, Kentucky, and have been married for 43 years. They have three grown children. Tommy pastored two churches over a twenty-five year span, one in Kentucky and the other in the Washington D.C. area.
>
> http://www.fbcoh.org/oppimag/22oct06.pdf
> ....I was reminded of Tommy Shelton's message on Wednesday evening from Proverbs 4:23. "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." (KJV) If we are to become all God called us to be, we must guard our spiritual hearts. ...

> Do you think this church has NO youth?

s I read Tommy's Open Letter, I thought of this instance as well. Does anyone know if this church is nade up of only mature folk?

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 09:00 PM)
>
> Could someone please explain why the Ezra Church of God in IL is not listed as a third church? Out of the three churches, was he not longer at Ezra than anywhere else? Or was he at Marion before he was at Ezra as well as at Marion for a year in the last half of the '80's?

his is certainly confusing. If it is an oversight, it certainly is a glaring one.

Posted by: Grace Feb 19 2007, 02:42 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 19 2007, 09:27 PM)
>
> Are you trying to say that if someone is guilty of breaking the law, has to go to jail/prision, that it's the victims/lawyers/judge or anyone that had to do with the justice coming about, fault for bringing about that justice? That they should feel guilty because they had a part in a criminal getting the pushishment that the law requires for that person if they break the law? That those that the criminal leaves behind, THEIR pain is more important then the victim's pain? Surely you are not saying this. Very interesting thinking, as I only know a handful of people personally that think this dysfunctional.
>
> Don't play that guilt trip here. No one here will take that trip with you.

totally agree.

rother4life, I'm sorry to say that I find your last intervention totally outrageous.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 19 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM)
>
> Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?

his is from one of the letters at Save3ABN.com, Broken-Hearted Mother #2. Here's the link and uote:

ttp://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-mom-2.htm

"I remember when things began to heat up for Tommy Shelton, he came by our home and asked my son to come outside and talk. Later, I learned that he had told my son that if he told anyone, Carol Shelton would kill herself. Not only did he use his wife, but also his daughter as a pawn. This was not his only threat against my son. I won't write what the other threats were that were made at this time, but they would make you sick!"

Brother4Life,

Do you see a theme in this quote from Broken-Hearted-2 that looks similar to what you just wrote?

Pete

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 12:07 PM) ☐
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

Brother4life,

Can i ask why you would think that if tommy is guilty that the victims should not have the right to see justice done?

Also if someone shoot tommy, you say well i think we should not punish that person because of 1 cor. 10:31?

Erik

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 19 2007, 12:47 PM) ☐
>
> This is from one of the letters at Save3ABN.com, Broken-Hearted Mother #2. Here's the link and quote:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-mom-2.htm
>
> "I remember when things began to heat up for Tommy Shelton, he came by our home and asked my son to come outside and talk. Later, I learned that he had told my son that if he told anyone, Carol Shelton would kill herself. Not only did he use his wife, but also his daughter as a pawn. This was not his only threat against my son. I won't write what the other threats were that were made at this time, but they would make you sick!"
>
> Brother4Life,

> Do you see a theme in this quote from Broken-Hearted-2 that looks similar to what you just wrote?
>
> Pete

P, ow we are dancing on words, great question.

rik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 03:15 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 01:07 PM)
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

rother4life,
et's say, for the sake of argument, that all of the evidence written here and at save3abn.com about ommy Shelton is true including the testimonies of several of the victims and the emailed confession y Tommy Shelton to one of the victims. Should he have a special dispensation to avoid justice ecause he has a wife that would be left alone or grandchildren that would miss their grandfather? hould he not be held accountable for his actions against those in his trust?

ur Lord was really clear when He told His disciples "Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's..."

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 19 2007, 01:47 PM)
>
> This is from one of the letters at Save3ABN.com, Broken-Hearted Mother #2. Here's the link and quote:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-mom-2.htm
>
> "I remember when things began to heat up for Tommy Shelton, he came by our home and asked my son to come outside and talk. Later, I learned that he had told my son that if he told anyone, Carol Shelton would kill herself. Not only did he use his wife, but also his daughter as a pawn. This was not his only threat against my son. I won't write what the other threats were that were made at this time, but they would make you sick!"
>
> Brother4Life,
>
> Do you see a theme in this quote from Broken-Hearted-2 that looks similar to what you just wrote?

> Pete

)ne has to wonder why he didn't consider the impact of his actions on his family but instead ıttempted to transfer that into the responsibility of his victims.

Posted by: lurker Feb 19 2007, 03:18 PM

Prisons would be empty if every that excuse worked in court. "But judge, I have a family."

Posted by: Pickle Feb 19 2007, 03:35 PM

The following is sent in regard to Tommy Shelton's recent open letter to the Dunn Loring congregation.

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Open Letter to Dunn Loring: three discrepancies
Date: Mon, 19 Feb 2007 15:28:52 -0600
To: Tommy Shelton
CC: Mollie Steenson, Pastor Lomacang, Fallible Human Being, Joe Smith, Danny Shelton, Elder Ken Denslow, Walt Thompson

Hello Tommy.

I've taken a look at your letter now, and I can see that you have made some references to some documents that would be very helpful in potentially exonerating you. If you can forward these to me, I will see what I can to do to get them posted.

I do see some additional spots in your letter that raise some questions. For example, you write:

> QUOTE(Tommy Shelton)
>
> "Not only were allegations from the Community Church of God posted, but postings of letters, accusations and copies of personal documents going back more than 20 years - all signed by Pastor Glenn Dryden."

;ince Roger Clem's letter was posted back on December 6, 2006, and since it was never signed by 'astor Dryden, I'm unsure how you can make this claim. Was this just an example of an inadvertent ;lip?

'ou write:

> QUOTE(Tommy Shelton)
>
> "We can only guess as to what kind of pressure these people were put under (I've been told - I can't confirm) that one was told by the 'self appointed investigators' that he had better say something quickly because I intended a lawsuit and was planning to drag him into it, which of course, is not true."

'here are two simple reasons why you have not been able to confirm this:

1. You never contacted us to ask us about it, which is peculiar in light of your use of Matthew 18 in your letter. (Why spread unconfirmed rumors in a letter that appears to be against the spreading of unconfirmed rumors?)

2. It can't be confirmed because it simply isn't true. If you wish to know what was said, feel free to call Gailon or myself.

You write:

> QUOTE(Tommy Shelton)
>
> "The facts are, the first allegation was made in September of 1985 ...."

If this is true,

- Why did Walt Thompson tell me at the end of November 2006 that the allegations were about 30 years old?
- Why does Brad Dunning say that the incident with him, after which he immediately blew the whistle, happened in 1982-1983? Was he mistaken?

That's it for now. Hope to hear from you soon.

Bob

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 19 2007, 05:11 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 11:00 PM)
>
> Could someone please explain why the Ezra Church of God in IL is not listed as a third church? Out of the three churches, was he not longer at Ezra than anywhere else? Or was he at Marion before he was at Ezra as well as at Marion for a year in the last half of the '80's?

I assume that the Washington DC church is accounting for the church in Dunn Loring (I believe Dunn Loring is not too far from DC) and the KY church for Ezra. (I realize that Ezra is not in KY)

Someone either made a wrong assumption when creating the bulletin or they were given the wrong information. Whether it was intentional or not is an unknown.

Only assumptions

Posted by: Lenni Feb 19 2007, 05:42 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM)
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?

> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

f Tommy goes to prison, he didn't need any help from anybody.

Hey Duane I have a few questions of my own:

Did you want to be molested?

Did you want to be taken advantage of by someone you trusted?

Did you want your brother to go through it too?

Did you want to live with this burden in silence for the last 20 years?

Did you want a bunch of strangers questioning your account of what happened, your motives for coming forward, your reason for not doing it sooner, etc.?

brother4life, maybe you should ponder this for awhile.

Posted by: andithomas1 Feb 19 2007, 05:46 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM) ☐
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

This has got to be a joke because a no person in their right mind would come to this type of conclusion. Give me strength.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 19 2007, 07:03 PM

> QUOTE(roxe @ Feb 18 2007, 09:51 PM) ☐

> is his interpretation of this verse correct??
>
> is he saying he should NOT have to suffer getting caught or any consequences??
>
> wonder who helped him write this letter... or if someone else wrote it...

No; his application of the verse is not correct. The incident Paul is alluding to in 2Cor 7 is the man in 1Cor 5 who was committing fornication with his father's wife. Taken together you see that the church's esponse swung from one extreme to another. In 1Cor 5, even though his sin was open and flagrant, he church did nothing. After receiving Paul's letter, the church undertook discipline on that member but did so in a manner that it was punitive and not redemptive and even after the man has manifest he fruits of repentance no forgiveness was being extended towards him. IOW, in 1Cor 5 the church hought themselves showing mercy with no thought of justice; in 2Cor 7 they have swung to the other end and are applying justice without mercy.

The text neither states nor implies that the guilty party should face no consequences; it merely points out that the purpose of church discipline is to elicit "godly sorrow" and fruits of repentance; the end esult sought is the redemption of the erring member and that cannot be attained in the extremes where the action taken is punitive on the one hand or where a blind eye is turned to flagrant sin and no action is taken at all on the other.

n His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 19 2007, 07:08 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Feb 19 2007, 06:46 PM) ☐
>
> This has got to be a joke because a no person in their right mind would come to this type of conclusion. Give me strength.

Unfortunately there are people who find this type of thinking normal.

That is - until it happens to them!

Posted by: 2shine4Him Feb 19 2007, 07:58 PM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM) ☐
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the > glory of God?

think most everyone missed the point brother4life is trying to make. I think he is saying that, as hristians, whether SDA, Baptist, or Church of God, etc., we are all called to take the high road; to orgive as we desire to be forgiven. Didn't Tommy write a letter to Duane asking forgiveness? What hould be the Christian response? Yes, we are to render unto Ceasar what is Ceasar's, but even Peter n Acts 5:29 said "we ought to obey God rather than man", which says to me that God's law trumps nan's law. By taking the high road, this does not mean that we are to sweep anything under the rug; nd it is not a crime to want the person held accountable. Rightly so. But isn't there a right way and a vrong way to go about this? Airing dirty laundry, presumed or factual, all over the web is not the way o seek justice.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 19 2007, 08:06 PM

And since other ways of obtaining justice failed what would you suggest? It seems that these forums are getting results. It may not be pretty but it seems to be working. If there is a better way I'd like to hear what it is.

Richard

> QUOTE(2shine4Him @ Feb 19 2007, 08:58 PM) ☐
>
> I think most everyone missed the point brother4life is trying to make. I think he is saying that, as Christians, whether SDA, Baptist, or Church of God, etc., we are all called to take the high road; to forgive as we desire to be forgiven. Didn't Tommy write a letter to Duane asking forgiveness? What should be the Christian response? Yes, we are to render unto Ceasar what is Ceasar's, but even Peter in Acts 5:29 said "we ought to obey God rather than man", which says to me that God's law trumps man's law. By taking the high road, this does not mean that we are to sweep anything under the rug; and it is not a crime to want the person held accountable. Rightly so. But isn't there a right way and a wrong way to go about this? Airing dirty laundry, presumed or factual, all over the web is not the way to seek justice.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 19 2007, 08:07 PM

> QUOTE(2shine4Him @ Feb 19 2007, 08:58 PM) ☐
>
> I think...

shine, have you ever been sexually assualted? Do you have any children who have ever been exually assualted? Yes or No?

Posted by: andithomas1 Feb 19 2007, 08:17 PM

> QUOTE(2shine4Him @ Feb 19 2007, 07:58 PM)
>
> I think most everyone missed the point brother4life is trying to make. I think he is saying that, as Christians, whether SDA, Baptist, or Church of God, etc., we are all called to take the high road; to forgive as we desire to be forgiven. Didn't Tommy write a letter to Duane asking forgiveness? What should be the Christian response? Yes, we are to render unto Ceasar what is Ceasar's, but even Peter in Acts 5:29 said "we ought to obey God rather than man", which says to me that God's law trumps man's law. By taking the high road, this does not mean that we are to sweep anything under the rug; and it is not a crime to want the person held accountable. Rightly so. But isn't there a right way and a wrong way to go about this? Airing dirty laundry, presumed or factual, all over the web is not the way to seek justice.

I do believe this type of thinking allowed priest to have a field day molesting young boys and girls in the Catholic church for so many years. Did this help that church-NO and this type of thinking will not help 3ABN. If the accusations against this man is true-get the shackles and leg-irons and off to the big house you go.

Posted by: roxe Feb 19 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 19 2007, 06:03 PM)
>
> No; his application of the verse is not correct. The incident Paul is alluding to in 2Cor 7 is the man in 1Cor 5 who was committing fornication with his father's wife. Taken together you see that the church's response swung from one extreme to another. In 1Cor 5, even though his sin was open and flagrant, the church did nothing. After receiving Paul's letter, the church undertook discipline on that member but did so in a manner that it was punitive and not redemptive and even after the man has manifest the fruits of repentance no forgiveness was being extended towards him. IOW, in 1Cor 5 the church thought themselves showing mercy with no thought of justice; in 2Cor 7 they have swung to the other end and are applying justice without mercy.
>
> The text neither states nor implies that the guilty party should face no consequences; it merely points out that the purpose of church discipline is to elicit "godly sorrow" and fruits of repentance; the end result sought is the redemption of the erring member and that cannot be attained in the extremes where the action taken is punitive on the one hand or where a blind eye is turned to flagrant sin and no action is taken at all on the other.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

thank you , awesum, for your explanation... you a good teacher!

using scripture to justify oneself is fraught with danger.

cuz "It is God who justifies..." Rom 8:33

Posted by: calvin Feb 19 2007, 08:51 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 19 2007, 03:35 PM)

> The following is sent in regard to Tommy Shelton's recent open letter to the Dunn Loring congregation.
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: Open Letter to Dunn Loring: three discrepancies
> Date: Mon, 19 Feb 2007 15:28:52 -0600
> To: Tommy Shelton
> CC: Mollie Steenson, Pastor Lomacang, Fallible Human Being, Joe Smith, Danny Shelton, Elder Ken Denslow, Walt Thompson
>
> Hello Tommy.
>
> I've taken a look at your letter now, and I can see that you have made some references to some documents that would be very helpful in potentially exonerating you. If you can forward these to me, I will see what I can to do to get them posted.
>
> I do see some additional spots in your letter that raise some questions. For example, you write:
> Since Roger Clem's letter was posted back on December 6, 2006, and since it was never signed by Pastor Dryden, I'm unsure how you can make this claim. Was this just an example of an inadvertent slip?
>
> You write:
> There are two simple reasons why you have not been able to confirm this:
>
> 1. You never contacted us to ask us about it, which is peculiar in light of your use of Matthew 18 in your letter. (Why spread unconfirmed rumors in a letter that appears to be against the spreading of unconfirmed rumors?)
> 2. It can't be confirmed because it simply isn't true. If you wish to know what was said, feel free to call Gailon or myself.
>
> You write:
> If this is true,
>
> - Why did Walt Thompson tell me at the end of November 2006 that the allegations were about 30 years old?
> - Why does Brad Dunning say that the incident with him, after which he immediately blew the whistle, happened in 1982-1983? Was he mistaken?
>
> That's it for now. Hope to hear from you soon.
>
> Bob

ust what is your point in sending these emails to DS and WT and posting them here? They have not esponded in months. So why do you continue making yourself a nusiance?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 10:49 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Feb 19 2007, 04:46 PM)
>
> This has got to be a joke because a no person in their right mind would come to this type of conclusion. Give me strength.

Vhile we certainly need to respond with our own opinions, let's keep in mind that brother4life is quite young so we need to cut him a little slack while his judgement matures, IMO.

It is good that he is here, flexing his muscles, learning about the issues and being exposed to how the majority of the public at large view this saga. This may even end up having an impact on how he views the situation.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(2shine4Him @ Feb 19 2007, 05:58 PM) ☐
>
> Didn't Tommy write a letter to Duane asking forgiveness?

Hi 2shine4him and welcome!
Can you tell me what you are referring to above? Where Tommy wrote this letter asking for forgiveness from Duane? Are you asking if he did, or alluding that he did? Could you show me this letter?

Posted by: Pickle Feb 19 2007, 11:26 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 19 2007, 08:51 PM) ☐
>
> Just what is your point in sending these emails to DS and WT and posting them here? They have not responded in months. So why do you continue making yourself a nusiance?

It's a way to get the issues out into the open, without talking behind their back.

Note that the email in question was sent to Tommy. Of course, since Danny and Walt are involved, they have a right to get a CC of it. But the questions were directed to Tommy.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 12:20 AM

> QUOTE(brother4life @ Feb 19 2007, 02:07 PM) ☐
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

You have a lot of nerve to write something like that to me. I have done NOTHING to contribute to whether Tommy spends time in prison or not. HE committed the acts, not me.

I don't need your sad stories or Scriptures taken out of context. To be blunt, this doesn't concern you, so butt out.

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 02:06 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 19 2007, 10:20 PM) ☐
>
> You have a lot of nerve to write something like that to me. I have done NOTHING to contribute to whether Tommy spends time in prison or not. HE committed the acts, not me.
>
> I don't need your sad stories or Scriptures taken out of context. To be blunt, this doesn't concern you, so butt out.

stand firm, Daune.

We are praying for you

Erik

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 02:23 AM

> QUOTE(2shine4Him @ Feb 19 2007, 07:58 PM) ☐
>
> I think most everyone missed the point brother4life is trying to make. I think he is saying that, as Christians, whether SDA, Baptist, or Church of God, etc., we are all called to take the high road; to forgive as we desire to be forgiven. Didn't Tommy write a letter to Duane asking forgiveness? What should be the Christian response? Yes, we are to render unto Ceasar what is Ceasar's, but even Peter in Acts 5:29 said "we ought to obey God rather than man", which says to me that God's law trumps man's law. By taking the high road, this does not mean that we are to sweep anything under the rug; and it is not a crime to want the person held accountable. Rightly so. But isn't there a right way and a wrong way to go about this? Airing dirty laundry, presumed or factual, all over the web is not the way to seek justice.

On 2/7/07 in "A Suggested End To The Conflict" I posted the following:

> QUOTE
>
> Mystery man, thanks for your comments.
>
> Speaking for myself, I do believe in my heart I have forgiven Tommy, but because of the very nature of what he did, he must be prevented from doing it again. It has happened over and over and over. Forgiveness does not include overlooking sin, especially when there is the potential of others being harmed.

I'd appreciate it if, in the future, you would read all the posts before insinuating that I haven't responded in a "Christian" manner.

Or, better yet, mind your own business.

Posted by: Grace Feb 20 2007, 02:38 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 20 2007, 07:20 AM)
>
> You have a lot of nerve to write something like that to me. I have done NOTHING to contribute to whether Tommy spends time in prison or not. HE committed the acts, not me.
>
> I don't need your sad stories or Scriptures taken out of context. To be blunt, this doesn't concern you, so butt out.

I like your answer, Duane. It's true, straight and simple. I especially like the part that I've underlined here. And if somebody still doesn't understand, it's because he or she doesn't want to.

Praying for you, bro!

Posted by: Observer Feb 20 2007, 07:15 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Just curious, Duane. To what end to you intend to see this through? How far are you willing to go to see that justice is served? Do you want to see your former Pastor and friend Tommy sitting in prison? Do you want Carol to be all alone there in that home across the river? Do you want those two grandchildren to have to do without their grandfather just so your desire for "justice" can be satisfied?
>
> Personally, I don't know whether he's guilty or not guilty. But 1 Corinthians 10:31 comes to mind: "Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." When and if he lands in prison, will you be able to say that you helped put a man in prison, guilty or not, to the glory of God?

Forgiveness does not equate to a release from consequences.

If a church treasurer steals offerings, that person should never be a treasurer again. Their weakness has been revealed.

The Bible teaches consequences.

Life teaches consequences. I work in a hospital. I see every day the consequences of a person who has used tobacco, alcohol and illegal drugs.

Recently someone ran into my automobile while I was stopped at a stop sign. I have forgiven the person who did it. The driver's spouse hasseled me to the point where the local police came out to calm him down. He did not want me to call the State Police as they would ticket her--obviously I was seeking revenge. I have forgiven the woman who ran into me. But. her insurance company is going to pay for the repair of my car. As to what the State Police did when they arrived, that was up to them. My forgiveness did not require that I pay for the damage to my car, or that I take steps to prevent her from getting a ticket, points on her driveing record, and a potential increase in her insurance preimumn.

A Christian should forgive the person who molested them. That is part of the healing process. But, that does not mean that the Christian is required to realease thaat person from the cosequencesl. It is O.K. to forgive and press charges in: criminal court, civil court, and/or the court of public opinion. That choice belongs to the molested person, and is Biblical.

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 19 2007, 11:20 PM) ☐
>
> You have a lot of nerve to write something like that to me. I have done NOTHING to contribute to whether Tommy spends time in prison or not. HE committed the acts, not me.
>
> I don't need your sad stories or Scriptures taken out of context. To be blunt, this doesn't concern you, so butt out.

Yes, you are not responsible. People are responsible for the acts that they commit, to include the consequences of those acts.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 20 2007, 10:07 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 18 2007, 11:00 PM) ☐
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > dedication Feb 18 2007, 07:22 PM
> >
> > Well -- Brad may be referring to the time he was actually experiencing the problem.
> >
> > Tommy may be reporting the time allegations were actually raised. Which of course would be later than the actual time the activity took place.
>
> We know for a fact, based on Brad's account, that this cannot be true. Immediately after being propositioned, Brad left the school and went home and told his family. Thus there is no room in his account for a delay of a couple years.
>
> The only possibility would be that Brad got the date wrong. But then we'd have other people > getting their dates wrong too. Sherry Avery's account has Tommy getting caught in October 1984, and that was after there were other allegations already floating around.

>
> Is it even possible to have the allegations occur first in September 1985, with Tommy's resignation happening that soon afterwards, followed the next month by the suspension of his credentials, given all the accounts that have been collected thus far?

t appears a bit too late to be acting so unsure of yourself, and what you have already published to the vorld. Bob. You've been telling everybody what's what, for months now, and it seems you are going to)e sued because of it.

\FAIC your and GJ's investigation has been sloppy, and one sided from the beginning -- only seeking o find things to support the prosecution and allegations against 3ABN and all involved, instead of ›xamining both sides and getting all the facts in a unbiased manner. The reporting is irresposible and ›yperbolic and yes, just as in another recent comparison, just like and having as much merit as ırticles in the National Enquirer.

have had questions about these dates since you first posted all this dirty laundry and accusations.

Nilliam Bradford Dunning:
We then went to the West Frankfort Police Department and filed a formal complaint. To my ‹nowledge, no charges were brought against Tommy." source: Save3ABN Not@2007 )id anyone else ever file a complaint? Not that you've reported. If that's the case then the letter of ›uspension in 1985 seems to be referring to Brad Dunnings complaint.

.etter of suspension October 25, 1985 "The ordination of Tommy Shelton has been suspended mmediately until further notice pending the results of the official police investigation :oncerning criminal sexual abuse charges against him. This action is effective this day, October !5, 1985."

'his action was taken for the following reasons: ...... 3. We have been advised that an nvestigation is underway by the West Frankfort Illinois Police Department concerning :riminal sexual abuse charges against you. source: Save3ABN Not@2007

\s far as Sherry Avery's statement, it seems to me you already know Duane Clem said he was the 'oung man of 20, she was talking about and he dates that in late 1985 early 1986, after the nvestigation. So why are you acting confused about her date?

ᑊle also says:
When the General Assembly of the Church of God in Illinois decided to suspend Tommy's ministerial :redentials in 1985, I was one of several who wrote a letter in his defense. I was also questioned by a letective at the West Frankfort Police Department. I had been on a few overnight trips with him, and jave testimony that nothing had happened that would substantiate the allegations being made against ıim. At the time, this was true..." source: Save3ABN Not@2007

\nd, regarding Glen Drydens actions and accusations after the problems in 1985, Duane Clem also vrote:

Your "informant", Glenn Dryden, is not a credible source of information. He also made some hideous ıccusations against me a few years back. They were for the same reason as the ones he is leveling ıgainst Tommy Shelton: JEALOUSY. Glenn Dryden is a spiteful, vindictive backstabber when someone :rosses him. He has done this with numerous people over the past several years, and took the Ezra Church of God down nearly to the point of closure. I had to threaten him with legal action myself to get him to shut his mouth." source: Save3ABN Not@2007

"To date, I have never spoken with Dr. Walt Thompson regarding this issue, nor at any other time as best I can recall. I will say that I agree with what the unnamed individual from the Church of God reportedly told Dr. Thompson but it was NOT me, and I can honestly say I have no idea who it was." source: Save3ABN Not@2007

> QUOTE
>
> Walt Thompson's letter to you Bob, as quoted on your save3abn not @ 2007 website:
> As I recall the events of 2003, I received a call from Brad Thorp from the General Conference telling me of Pastor Dryden's accusations. Brad appropriately told me that it was not his concern, and that it was ours to handle. As I recall, I contacted pastor Dryden and heard his side of the story following which I received the letter that is circulating. I was at 3abn at the time and spoke at length with Danny about the matter. He shared with me the details as he understood them. Whether or not I was aware of what generated the letter at that time, I do not remember. Based upon my understanding that Dryden had had a long standing feud with Tommy over factors unrelated to the above accusations, it did not seem indicated to approach the boys in question directly, having been informed that no case had ever been filed with the courts or legal disposition made. We then discussed the situation with the full board. Given the alleged events had occured many years before, attempts had been made to make things right, and no legal action had been taken, we did not see any reason to pursue the issue further nor to follow through with his recommendations. In my reply to pastor Dryden I merely thanked him for fulfilling his obligation to us. (I will make this one further comment. Whereas there are many accusations on the Internet alledging that Danny cannot be trusted, I disagree. I have known Danny now since the beginning of the ministry. Now more than 23 years. I have been fully appraised of many of the difficulties that he has faced during that time. While Danny sees things from his perspective, as we all do, he is honest and trustworthy. I have found no reason to distrust his reports to me. Yes, there are occasions when after having spoken with both sides of an issue it has been a matter of he said vs she said, but in all situations where I could know the facts, Danny has proven true.)
>
> Subsequently, after this issue has been brought back to the forefront (I think there is only one person who could have known about this and brought it to world wide attentionm, and that person was then on the board and voted with the concensus) [Linda Shelton] I contacted the only person from the Chruch of God that I could find that knew about the situation, and who had been present and witness to the events. (Accept for pastor Dryden's personal accounts, there are apparently no other records of the allegations) The picture that was painted by that leader of the Church was exactly as portrayed earlier by Danny. Dryden was jealous of Tommy and was out to get him - a jealousy that has continued to the present. I was again informed that the DA knew about the allegations and not finding a basis, refused to act against Tommy. I have been informed that the Church of God is a congregational type or organization with different jurisdictions in different states and that there was no higher authority that I could speak with to resolve the issue further It was not entirely clear to me how that worked. I was also told that one leader pestered Tommy over and over again until Tommy voluntarily gave up his ministerial license. These are the facts as I have been able to sort them out.

Clearly as Duane first made his statements and accusations against Tommy on January 20, 2007, and said before that time he had never said this to anyone. He has nothing to do with your hyperbolic case and accusations against 3ABN, could have nothing to do with Danny's relating what he knew about past events, (unless in the role of a defender of Tommy) , or your false claim that Walt Thompson was irresponsible in checking it out, or your false claim that WT covered for DS.

> QUOTE

> "Here you can read the story of how 3ABN president Danny Shelton ended up in the present crisis. Based on the testimony of Dr. Walt Thompson, his own board chairman and staunch defender, Danny must have lied in a major way about the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations in 2003. No other explanation has been forthcoming, and it is fairly clear that such a prevarication puts 3ABN in extreme financial jeopardy if yet another alleged incident takes place....all these things pale in significance when compared to the number of young lives that are put at risk when you lie in order to cover up child molestation allegations."

What was it exactly that you are claiming was known lied about and covered up, Bob?

You are in communication with Dryden, have access to all you claim that WT did from him, and claim DS knew and lied about, and you don't even have the details, or statements regarding any of the things you are finding fault with 3 ABN for, and how long and hard have you and Joy been working on this so called "investigation" of yours????

This? The only other statement with names which you have published from a woman who first made her statement in 2007, while her son has made none? A woman who accuses and says she blames Carol Shelton for covering for her husband while stating she and her son both lied to Carol about it:

Letter of Charlotte Hopper, Mother of Greg Houseworth:
"I, like many others in the beginning of this mess, believed Tommy Shelton......When one of the boys came forward, I remember asking my son if it had happened to him. At that time he told me "no," but he said, "Mom,  is not lying about it!" As time went on, my son finally came to me and told me that it had happened to him.....As for Carol Shelton, all along she has covered up for Tommy. One time at church, she asked me to go down to the teenage girls' classroom. There she asked me if Tommy had done anything to my son. I, not wanting to hurt her and her children, told her "no." At a later date she asked my son to meet her at McDonalds restaurant in West Frankfort. She asked him the same question. He, not wanting to hurt her, answered her in the same way. It's funny how she never worried about all the boys in their hurts and fears! I wonder when Carol Shelton stands before the Lord, what will her answer be then!.....As far as Danny Shelton is concerned, he has always covered this up......I am the mother who went to Pastor Dryden when I learned Tommy Shelton was going to Dunn Loring. Pastor Dryden listened to what I had to say, but at that time he had no idea that my son was one of Tommy's victims. " source: Save3ABN Not@2007

How can Danny and Carol be blamed for knowing about this, when it was never said till now, and Carol asked and was lied to?

How can you in all honesty use any of this to accuse Ds, WT, and 3ABN with and try to bring them down? How can you live with what you have done and are still doing?

The words "victims" are thrown about freely, by Dryden, you and Joy, here, there and everywhere, and IF there are in fact "victims" then it needs to be dealt with, by the law and by the "CHURCH OF GOD" I have said this repeatedly.

If, as it is now appearing, this has been dealt with in the past, Leave it there or at least have the honesty to report that.

I believe you have erred greatly and are guilty of grievous sin. And I hope and pray that you and all who have been mislead by you in this rush to judgment and condemnation against 3ABN in this regard, can wake up and see that before it is too late.

~ Aletheia

62

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Hope Tv

Posted by: summertime Nov 18 2006, 11:48 PM

Today was Sabbath and I am still housebound because of surgeries that were necessary, so I have not been able to go to church.

But for the past 24 hours I have been blessed by HOPE TV ---- many new programs and things of interest that both old and new SDA members would find to be a great blessing. For just a little while this morning I watched 3ABN and saw a lot of reruns, however good or not so good they may have been. But Hope TV has made advances and have been adding new stations and programming headed by Kandus and Brad Thorp which has certainly blessed my Sabbath and I just want to tell all of you to try to install HOPE into your homes, if you do not already have it. I have not heard one word of defense, backbiting or excuses for anything that has been said on HOPE. It was a day of Sabbath Blessings from beginning to end. I am thankful that 3ABN may or may not have been blessings to God's people who really want to hear the truth from whom they believe are honest sincere people. but I would not for the world eliminate HOPE TV and I so much want to encourage all of you to enjoy it as much as possible. They are growing throughout the world and my contributions will certainly be sent to them to help to finish God's work.

Hope TV personnel are building this network by good honest work and honest contributions--they speak of no miracles falling into their laps--nor do they speak of dreams and visions from God--only the miracles of God which he gives to help finish the work that we all want to see completed. 'summertime'

Posted by: Skyhook Nov 19 2006, 02:04 AM

Amen to that summertime. I have noticed an improvement in thier programing and noticed another differences. No "celebrities." Some good speakers. They have a ways to go. I hope they can replace the old hospital drama series soon. I'm sure it takes time, money and people with media experience and technical expertise to build it up to what it can be. I pray that they get the right people involved who can make sanctified decisions about programing and about who becomes involved in front of the cameras on a regular basis.

Posted by: Johann Nov 19 2006, 04:20 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Nov 19 2006, 10:04 AM) ☐
>
> Amen to that summertime. I have noticed an improvement in thier programing and noticed another differences. No "celebrities." Some good speakers. They have a ways to go. I hope they can replace the old hospital drama series soon. I'm sure it takes time, money and people with media experience and technical expertise to build it up to what it can be. I pray that they get the right people involved who can make sanctified decisions about programing and about who becomes involved in front of the cameras on a regular basis.

HOPE needs our financial support to improve their programs even more. They surely have done a lot with what they have.

Posted by: paleface Nov 19 2006, 04:29 PM

Instead of purchasing Christmas gifts for someone else that may not appreciate said gift, we are sending a financial love gift to The HOPE channel and also equal amount to LLBN TV. We are enjoying both channels as both networks are producing very good programming about our Lord Jesus Christ and His love.

Paleface

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Nov 19 2006, 05:11 PM

We watch both Hope TV and LLNB.

It is nice to have these alternatives to 3ABN.

Posted by: summertime Nov 20 2006, 09:07 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Nov 19 2006, 05:11 PM)
>
> We watch both Hope TV and LLNB.
>
> It is nice to have these alternatives to 3ABN.

We also really like to watch LLNB and especially the SAFE TV.

Posted by: Johann Nov 23 2006, 01:22 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Nov 20 2006, 05:07 PM)
>
> We also really like to watch LLNB and especially the SAFE TV.

I believe LLNB is greatly increasing these days through what 3ABN discarded together with Linda.

Posted by: Johann Nov 29 2006, 12:09 PM

NEWS RELEASE Nov. 29, 2006
General Inquiries: Jennifer Stymiest
Email: stymiestj@gc.adventist.org

Young South Africans to Dialogue with President of World Church

Silver Spring, MD, USA...Hope Channel will feature Let's Talk South Africa live on December 3, 2006, Sunday, with Pastor Jan Paulsen. Pastor Paulsen, president of the Seventh-day Adventist World Church, will visit with young people from seven different regions in Africa, including Angola and Malawi.

"Although participants differ in age and embrace a diversity of cultures, backgrounds, education and interests, many of their concerns transcend these boundaries, says Andre Brink, producer for Let's Talk South Africa. "Pastor Paulsen believes that youth are the future of the church and the program will enable the President to keep in touch with issues faced by the youth."
According to Brink, over 80 percent of church members in the Southern Africa-Indian Ocean region are young. Organizers expect some of the topics discussed will focus on HIV/AIDS, relationships, church politics, as well as the role of women in the Adventist Church.
Let's Talk South Africa is produced by the General Conference Communication Department and directed by the Adventist Media Center in the Southern African-Indian Ocean region of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.
Broadcast times for December 3 are:

LIVE programme:
Dec 03 1200 GMT on HC, HCI, HCE
Dec 03 0700 EST
=====================
Rebroadcasts on Hope Channel: Hope Channel International
Dec 04 0200GMT Dec 3, 1900
Dec 03 2100 EST Dec 4, 0800, 1200

Dec 04 1600 GMT Dec 5, 1800
Dec 04 1100 EST

Dec 10 0200 GMT
Dec 09 2100 EST

Hope Channel Europe
Dec 3 1900
Dec 7 0700
Dec 9 2100

For more information and broadcast times, please visit www.hopetv.org. To find out more about the mission of Let's Talk, visit www.letstalk.adventist.org.

Posted by: Johann Dec 1 2006, 03:01 AM

NEWS RELEASE November 30, 2006

General Inquiries: Jennifer Stymiest
Email: stymiestj@gc.adventist.org

Media Contacts: Ray Dabrowski
Email: dabrowskir@gc.adventist.org

Women to Dialogue with Head of World Church on Hope Channel

Silver Spring, MD, USA...Hope Channel will feature Time to Talk live on Thursday, December 14, 2006, with Pastor Jan Paulsen. Pastor Paulsen, president of the Seventh-day Adventist World Church, will visit with women from England, South Africa, and the U.S. This one hour unscripted dialogue will be broadcast from the Hope Channel studios at the world headquarters of the Adventist Church in Silver Spring, with satellite links to studios in London and Cape Town.

"I am hoping that this dialogue will have a trickle-down impact from Pastor Paulsen to those he speaks and works with—in all levels of the world church," says Heather-Dawn Small, director of the Department of Women's Ministries for the world church and one of the coordinating offices of this Time to Talk event.

"This is intended as a discussion—not just one-way communication," says Pastor Paulsen. "I want to know what's on women's minds, understand their concerns, and hear their ideas. The women of our church embrace such a diversity of cultures, backgrounds, education, and interests. And yet there are certain significant issues that transcend lines of nationality and language, and these are what I hope we will focus on during our time together."

Abuse, poverty, health, and leadership are among the issues that are expected to feature in this one-hour dialogue.

Broadcast times for Thursday, December 14 are:

Hope Channel U.S.: 2 p.m. EST
Hope Channel International: 1900 GMT
Hope Channel Europe: 1900 GMT

Pastor Jan Paulsen has been president of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists since 1999. Originally from Norway, he has lived in Denmark, Germany, Ghana, Nigeria, and the United States. Since becoming president of this 15-million member church, Pastor Paulsen has looked for ways to improve communication with not only church administration, but young people and women.

For more information and broadcast times, please visit www.hopetv.org. To learn more about resources and programs of the Department of Women's Ministries, visit http://.wm.gc.adventist.org.

Posted by: Johann Dec 11 2006, 05:46 AM

> QUOTE
>
> please visit www.hopetv.org.

If you happen to be where HOPE is not available but you have broadband access then you find a link to watch HOPE on www.hopetv.org. Even if you are working with something else on your computer, you can leave the HOPE sound on in the background, and then switch back to the picture any time you like to see too.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 24 2007, 12:10 AM

Brad Thorp and family and friends from HopeTV were at Canadian University College tonight. They had a fantastic program. They will have the two church services and a musical program tomorrow.

Posted by: daylily Feb 24 2007, 07:23 AM

Johann, glad to see you back!!

I enjoy Hope very much also but it seems to me that Hope has more "sda-churchy" programing rather than programing that would appeal to the non-sda or the non-Christian. I speak as one who read my way into the SDA church from the Baptist faith, also a Lutheran background. I've often taped 3ABN programs and shared them with my non-SDA family and friends, but I really don't see much on Hope that I could do that with except for the new health programs. I agree that Hope is inproving rapidly and I hope to see more sharing-type programs.

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:18 PM

NEWS RELEASE February 21, 2007
Contact: Viola Hughes
Tel: 301.680.6689

Revelations from the Lost Pages of History

Silver Spring, MD, USA...The Seventh Day, a five-part documentary series tracing the history of the Sabbath, will premiere on Hope Channel beginning Friday, April 6, 2007.
Subtitled Revelations from the Lost Pages of History, the series highlights 2,000 years of conflict over the Christian day of worship. From the revolutionary Sabbath teachings of Jesus to the Sabbath-keeping Taiping Revolution in the 19th century China, from the first Sunday-keeping churches in Rome and Alexandria to the Sabbath-keeping reformers of 15th century Russia, The Seventh Day tells the story of the Sabbath as it has never been told before.
Produced by northern California-based LLT Productions, The Seventh Day is hosted by Hal Holbrook and features interviews with over 50 scholars from Catholics, Jewish, Orthodox and Protestant communions.
"While Seventh-day Adventist viewers appreciate the historical presentation that confirms their beliefs about the true Sabbath, we have always had the general television audience in mind," says Jim Wood, writer and associate producer. "The Seventh Day is designed to raise questions in the minds of people who have always taken for granted that Sunday is the biblical Sabbath."
The Seventh Day is based on a concept proposed by James Arrabito, an Adventist artist and lay evangelist who traveled the world for three years tracing evidence of Sabbath keeping. Tragically, in 1990 James and two of his sons were killed in a weather-related plane crash in Alaska. His wife, Pat Arrabito, continued the effort as executive producer. Jeff Wood brought The Seventh Day project to completion as producer/director.
Please see following pages for the broadcast schedule. Please click here <http://316creative.com/viola.htm> to download posters you may use for promotion in your local church.
For more information about the Hope Channel and/or broadcast times, please visit www.hopetv.org. To learn more about The Seventh Day series, visit http://www.the7thday.org.

Hope Channel & Esperanza TV schedule (Please note ETV programs are in Spanish)
Date Time-GMT Date Time-EDT/PDT
Apr 07 00:00-01:00 Apr 06 8-9:00 pm ET/5-6:00 pm PT
03:00-04:00 11 pm-12:00 am ET/8-9:00 pm PT
20:00-21:00 Apr 07 4-5:00 pm ET/1-2:00 pm PT

Apr 09 01:00-02:00 Apr 08 9-10:00 pm ET/6-7:00 pm PT
Apr 14 00:00-01:00 Apr 13 8-9:00 pm ET/5-6:00 pm PT
03:00-04:00 11 pm-12:00 am ET/8-9:00 pm PT
20:00-21:00 Apr 14 4-5:00 pm ET/1-2:00 pm PT

Apr 16 01:00-02:00 Apr 15 9-10:00 pm ET/6-7:00 pm PT
Apr 21 00:00-01:00 Apr 20 8-9:00 pm ET/5-6:00 pm PT
03:00-04:00 11 pm-12:00 am ET/8-9:00 pm PT
20:00-21:00 Apr 21 4-5:00 pm ET/1-2:00 pm PT

Apr 23 01:00-02:00 Apr 22 9-10:00 pm ET/6-7:00 pm PT
Apr 28 00:00-01:00 Apr 27 8-9:00 pm ET/5-6:00 pm PT

03:00-04:00 11 pm-12:00 am ET/8-9:00 PT
20:00-21:00 Apr 28 4-5:00 pm ET/1-2:00 PT

Apr 30 01:00-02:00 Apr 29 9-10:00 pm ET/6-7:00 PT
May 05 00:00-01:30 May 04 8-9:30 pm ET/5-6:00 PT
03:00-04:30 11 pm-12:30 am ET/8-9:30 PT
20:00-21:30 May 05 4-5:30 pm ET/1-2:30 PT

May 07 01:00-02:30 May 06 9-10:30 pm ET/6-7:30 PT

Esperanza South America - Spanish broadcast schedule unavailable at this time. Please continue to check our website for updated information.

Hope Channel Europe
Date Time-GMT
Apr 06 19:00-20:00
Apr 07 18:00-19:00
Apr 13 19:00-20:00
Apr 14 18:00-19:00
Apr 20 19:00-20:00
Apr 21 18:00-19:00
Apr 27 19:00-20:00
Apr 28 18:00-19:00
May 04 19:00-20:30
May 05 18:00-19:30

Hope Channel International
Date Time-GMT
Apr 06 12:30-13:30
Apr 07 10:00-11:00
18:00-19:00
Apr 13 12:30-13:30
Apr 14 10:00-11:00
18:00-19:00
Apr 21 12:30-13:30
Apr 22 10:00-11:00
18:00-19:00
Apr 27 12:30-13:30
Apr 28 10:00-11:00
18:00-19:00
May 04 12:00-13:30
May 05 10:00-11:30
18:00-19:30

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 26 2007, 02:13 PM

Here is an article on Blue Mountain TV that I just read at Ground 7 news.

http://news.adventist.org/data/2007/01/1171988864/index.html.en?&template=printer.html

nw

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 02:39 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 26 2007, 10:13 PM)
>
> Here is an article on Blue Mountain TV that I just read at Ground 7 news.
>
> http://news.adventist.org/data/2007/01/1171988864/index.html.en?&template=printer.html
>
> nw

Even Doug Batchelor can be seen elsewhere than on 3ABN. So why not watch him on the official channel of your churchÖ

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 26 2007, 07:56 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 26 2007, 02:39 PM)
>
> Even Doug Batchelor can be seen elsewhere than on 3ABN. So why not watch him on the official channel of your church?

This Hope Channel letter from Kandus Thorp is very encouraging news.

(Note: I re-formatted the Kandus Thorp letter for legibility on the BlackSDA platform. Highlighted text is also mine.)

February 16, 2007

Dear friends,

I'm writing tonight from Nairobi, Kenya. Joe Sloan and I have just concluded three long, intensive days of meetings with division, union, conference and church leadership. This September, in partnership with the East-Central Africa Division, Hope Channel has an extremely ambitious project in Nairobi.

The project is three-fold:

1. Tape the first ever African NET programme with the ECD president, Pr Geoffrey Mbwana preaching in his mother language of Kiswahili and with live audience at the Nairobi Central Church. (17 programmes broadcast by one-week delay on Hope Channel International) Translation in English and French languages.

2. Set up and outfit the worship room at the division headquarters for production. This will be the temporary location for media centre in this region. (See attached photo of ECD grounds and Admin buildings).

3. Train local staff and film in new studio site (and on stage at Central Church) live-to-tape 100 ½ hour shows featuring Family Life, Health Ministries and the best music of this region of the world.

By God's grace we believe He will give us success. God has blessed all the appointments, discussions and plans in Zambia, Philippines and now, Kenya. We are thrilled with the overwhelming enthusiasm and support.

We would like to invite you to take a few minutes and go to our website and see this very latest development for Hope Channel. Click on Project Hope '07—the Ultimate Media Mission Trip! If you like to travel and have thought about a mission trip, maybe this is an opportunity for you.

Participate in an exciting form of evangelism using your talents and gifts in media production. Share your skills and knowledge with young, eager and talented media personnel.

We are looking for volunteers to join us in these hectic three week production intensive projects in Zambia, Philippines and Kenya . Producer/ Director, Andrew Hunt from the Adventist Media Centre in Sydney, Australia will be on site directing and coaching the local media teams in Zambia and the Philippines.

Joe Sloan and the HC production team from the GC will be on site in Kenya to direct production and train the new media team here. Each location has launched into serious pre-production work following a carefully outlined Preparation Timeline. Your work on location to tape and edit additional packages and graphics will significantly enhance and add production value.

We sincerely believe that God is asking His church to step out and bring Adventist TV to the hearts of viewers in a culturally adapted way.

I've been inspired recently by Isaiah 43: 1, 10 - 12 and a rather obscure quote in Reflecting Christ:

"These last-day witnesses are bold soldiers of Jesus Christ. They have tasted of the powers of the world to come. Their feet are not on sliding sand, but on solid rock. They are not easily moved away from the faith once delivered to the saints. These will be strengthened with their leader to cope with difficulties. They are messengers of righteousness, representatives of Christ, revealing the triumphs of grace. From these chosen men of God the truth will shine forth. It will be heard from their lips, reflected in their countenances, and demonstrated in their lives."

Hope Channel affords a powerful form of witness. Will you pray for Project Hope this year and even consider coming to join us?

Thanks so much!

Kandus Thorp

Corporate Headquarters:
Hope Channel
P.O. Box 4000
Silver Spring, MD 20914
Phone: 301.680.6689
Fax: 301.680.5147

E-mail: info@hopetv.org
www.hopetv.org

Donation Center:

Hope Channel
P.O. Box 5303
Thousand Oaks, CA 91359

Posted by: Ralph Feb 26 2007, 09:48 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 26 2007, 06:56 PM) ☐
>
> This Hope Channel letter from Kandus Thorp is very encouraging news.
>
> February 16, 2007
>
> Dear friends,
>
> I'm writing tonight from Nairobi, Kenya.

Thanks Pete for the news letter. I believe they are home now. On Friday, Brad flew into Edmonton from Australia and Kandus flew in from Nairobi. As Kandus was watching Brad get the luggage, she was startled by a man's hand on her shoulder. Their son had flown in from Walla Walla. They have one son attending Canadian University College, so it was almost a family reunion for them.

It was a fantastic weekend and the messages that they all gave was full of HOPE. In question period, I asked Brad if their programming was affected when SkyAngel lost channels, and he said that they are on a different system, so that they did not lose any programming.

If you have broad band internet service, you can pick up 3abn, Hope and Loma Linda there. I also enjoy the music from Walla Walla. The URL's are below.

http://www.3abn.org
http://www.hopetv.org
http://www.llbn.com/
http://www.hymnsandfavorites.com/

Posted by: daylily Feb 28 2007, 07:33 AM

Johann, thanks so much for posting that information about the history of the Sabbath programming. I'm putting that on my calendar and announcing it in church for those who have Hope TV.

NW, I hadn't heard about Blue Mt. Thanks for sharing that link.

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 03:36 PM

Thursday, February 28, 2007

Hope Channel is sponsoring its annual reception at the National Association of Broadcasters show this coming April 17 from 7:00 - 10:00 p.m. ALL Adventist Radio, TV persons attending the NAB are welcome to attend. Light refreshments will be provided. Come join this time of reports and informal networking. Hope Channel will be presenting a report of development and plans for expanded programming and world-wide distribution. This is a time for Adventist Producers, Technical staff and broadcasting personnel to meet and network.

Location information:

Event: Hope Channel Reception

Location: Circus Circus Hotel

(Downstairs meeting rooms - check the information bulletin board)

City: Las Vegas, Nevada

Date: Tuesday evening April 17

Time: 7:00 - 10:00 p.m.

Cost: Free: There is NO cost for admission.

= = = =

Brad Thorp, Director

Hope Channel

www.HopeTV.org

President@HopeTV.org

"Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing and that you may abound in HOPE! (Romans 15:13)

63

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ An Open Letter From Carol Shelton

Posted by: calvin Feb 19 2007, 03:25 PM

More of the same. No apology. Now that this is public, we (Tommy's family) are the victims. Discredit everyone that brings this information public.

Attached File(s)
☐ DOC021907.pdf (425.82k) Number of downloads: 283

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 03:55 PM

Carol,

I feel your pain, and i am sorry that it seems to you that this all an attack of a former Co-worker.

But, it seems to me if you want to clear your husbands name, you might focus up on the facts of the charges.

Also it seemed to me that you said in your letter that you do not know for sure one way or the other if the charges agianst your dear husband are true or false. Has his wife i would think you would want to know for sure one way or the other.

May God bless you has you live out what must the painful time of your life.

Erik

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 19 2007, 04:23 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 19 2007, 04:55 PM) ☐
>
> Also it seemed to me that you said in your letter that you do not know for sure one way or the other if the charges agianst your dear husband are true or false. Has his wife i would think you would want to know for sure one way or the other.

This I find hard to believe... because the wife almost always knows... even when the husband thinks he's gotten away with it... when it blows up in hubby's face, she may put on a public face of standing by her man and denying the allegations categorically... but behind closed doors, away from the public eye... she knows her husband's proclivities and knows when he messes up. Carol Shelton has been married to Tommy for 43 years and he's been on the downlow for most, if not all of that

To: Calvin/Pickler

Re: Open letter from Carol Shelton

10 pages

Note: I do not know who hand wrote on page 9 of the letter.

An Open Letter from Carol Shelton

Like my husband, I have been reluctant to tell my side of this "sad story" as your pastor called it as he expressed " his opinion" of our lives and our hearts in the open letter to you a few weeks ago. My husband did not ask me to write this, nor did he give me the words to say—I have a mind of my own- though some may think I'm manipulated and deceived. I am speaking now mainly because of the extensive damage this whole situation has done to innocent people all over the world ; to 3ABN, to the whole Shelton family and because of the confusion and pain many of you are going through. I have written to your pastor expressing my concern for how he has handled our lives and our hearts. More in regards to that letter will follow. I also write this because I live with Tommy and know he has always had a heart to serve God, to show love to others and would never intentionally harm anyone . I write this for myself only because what has been inferred about me will no doubt harm my Christian influence for years to come. I want a restoration and healing for everyone concerned in this "sad story".

Proverbs 18:17 says, "He who states his case first seems right until his rival comes and cross examines him." Then, Prov.18:13 says, "He who answers a matter before he hears the facts, it is folly and shame to him (to give judgments before hearing the whole case and express an opinion)."Amplified Version.

So, I state my case in "my sad story" and Tommy will state his case through his letter. Since we weren't the first to state our case and you didn't get all the correct facts, I hope you will love us enough to listen to "our side of the story." I would hope that you would listen with an open mind and heart—I know those of you who really love us will.

First, let me say that Tommy nor I have the mind-set or heart to have an attitude of wanting to "make him pay" toward Bro.Glenn , though he has hurt us and our family immeasurably. The Lord said," Vengeance is mine, I will repay". I'm sure all of us could give the testimony that God has been true to His Word concerning any disobedience in our lives. He has His own special way of correcting us, but I believe He usually does it with as much compassion as possible for everyone who will be affected. Humiliating and shaming a person can never cause a true repentance but tends to drive them further into themselves to deal with their own aloneness. And the shame digs deepest when it's our own people who reject us and shame us because they feel shamed by us. Grace is the gift God gave us so that we could give it to others; grace says you are accepted before you become acceptable. Unconditional love and mercy draws us to God and each other. A spiritual person will seek to restore a person they feel has fallen , a religious one will destroy, whether intentional or not. Galatians 6:1 says:" Brethren, if any person is overtaken in misconduct or sin of any sort, you who are spiritual(who are responsive to and controlled by the Spirit) should set him right and restore and reinstate him: without any sense of superiority, and with all gentleness, keeping an attentive eye on yourself, lest you should be tempted also." Amplified version.

In response to Tommy's open letter, one man replied he hopes Tommy will handle everything with grace and dignity. We feel that we both have responded to Bro.Glenn's lack of gentleness and desire for restoration and reinstatement with grace and dignity, but he's the one in need of both qualities toward us. Since he and others feel we're both such horrible sinners, why has he never come to us to offer a helping hand? He won't even respond to my questions I sent him in an e-mail. I feel like David must have felt when he said, "I would rather fall into the hands of an angry God than into the hands of man." Our whole family has fallen into the hands of a mob-like spirit whose apparent goal is to destroy us in one way or another.

Whoever wrote that book Bro.Glenn quoted from could have no real comprehension of God's love or grace. To say, " we must dignify someone by making him pay for the evil actions he commits and we show him respect by making him accountable" in no way sounds like someone who is giving us "grace and peace" as Bro.Glenn professed to you that he desired for us. His lack of compassion toward us has never lined up with his words expressed to you of how he loves us and requests prayer for us. At least, these are our feelings and our opinion, and I'll base some of it on what I continue to say.

As some of the board members can tell you, I have recently written a seven page e-mail to Bro.Glenn asking him some questions concerning his conduct toward me personally, and toward Tommy. I believe I wrote him with respect, love and grace, sincerely requesting a reply to many things I didn't understand. I was hoping for healing through some sort of dialogue, since he has never contacted us to talk with us personally in any effort toward restoration concerning the accusations against us. I told him I didn't consider us enemies and believed the real enemy is the devil. He's the one who wants to "kill, steal and destroy" and wants to use us against each other for his purposes. In my letter, I also said that nothing I had to say was said in judgment or condemnation, but felt God would have me express to him what I saw in him-- ways that I felt Satan was deceiving him to destroy his ministry as well as ours. I asked him to try to put himself in our shoes and try to feel what we were feeling, in other words, " do unto others as you would have them do to you." I asked to hear from his side of the story, and asked him twice to feel free to tell me if I had in any way offended him, because it's only by seeing the truth about ourselves that changes us into the image of Christ.

In about five days, Bro.Glenn sent me a nice card, with these words hand-written to me: "Dear Sister Carol, I did receive your letter e-mailed yesterday. I will not be replying further to it. We continue to hold up you and your family in our prayers. Brother Glenn.."

My feelings were that I would rather he respect me by answering my sincere, heart-felt questions than say he was praying for me. So, since he didn't answer them, I am sending some of them on to you, so that you might possibly see a little more clearly my side of this "sad story." Also, I was told that some of you had a few of the same questions. Here is what I asked him:

1. Why wasn't Tommy given a personal invitation to take part in the Woods' anniversary celebration there? We felt he was slighted, largely because of what you must have said. Is that true? And if so, why?

I didn't tell Bro.Glenn this, but Tommy was deeply hurt, as he had only received a general invitation like anyone else would have—with no special respect like a former pastor should have had, (in our opinion) Possibly, no hurt was intended, or he had nothing to do with it, but why no explanation or response?

2. Why was our names omitted in the 2002 church directory, while the names of every other pastor associated with the Dunn Loring church were published? Was that also because of your opinion of us? It appears to us that someone didn't want anyone from there calling us or loving us. Was it you? If not true then, it appears to be true now.
3. Remember when a young couple from your congregation in Ezra called Tommy for counseling while we were at Dunn Loring? You apparently were offended at them and Tommy, because you called Tommy and told him not to counsel with them anymore. Would you rather they not get help with their problems than to call on us? God did use us to help them both, so, at least God didn't see the wrong in what any of us had done, and pleasing God is what matters the most.

4. I will shorten this question from the original letter I wrote him, but this is the essence of the hurt experienced. Brad, Valerie and I visited his church at Ezra shortly after we moved to KY. He didn't acknowledge that we were there, until during the prayer request time when I raised my hand, then he welcomed us. I felt since I had been the pastor's wife for 18 years at that church, he should have at least shown me the respect he would have shown any pastor's wife who came there. Also, while there, an older lady whom I had loved dearly refused to hug me when I attempted to hug her. But, after Bro.Glenn left that church, she sent us a Christmas card, and seemed her old, friendly self. I wanted to know why that would be? But still no response.
5. A very big hurt to me was when Sis.Lucy went to him upset because he had sent the tape of accusations from Ezra to many churches (in 2001) She asked him why he didn't at least speak with me first, he said, "because, in my opinion and estimation, Sis.Carol's words are not credible concerning her husband's situation." Sis.Lucy and I felt like he was calling me a liar, because that's what not credible means, my words aren't believable. I wrote Bro.Glenn a letter this past December asking him, "Whatever gave you the right to make that judgment of me?" Then I said, "It had to be from listening to what others had to say; people who had no idea what I was going through in my mind, heart and soul. It was a time in my life when I was dealing with the accusations against Tommy, the hurt of friends forsaking me, the confusion, my chronic depression , along with my own insecurities and hurts from my own childhood wounds. Yet, all through the situation, I didn't lie to anyone." This was Bro.Glenn's reply to my expression of the pain he caused me by judging me: "Sister Judy and I met with Pastor Tedrick at her request. During the course of our time together, she asked a question which elicited my estimation of your credibility. With hesitation I responded to Pastor Tedrick that I had reason to question your credibility as it relates to matters involving your husband. I did not call you a liar nor did my sentiments then nor do they now permit the use of such strong language. I regret the pain you have suffered as a consequence of this miscommunication. In our Lord's service, Brother Glenn."

In this recent seven page letter to him, I said, "I know you replied to my letter I wrote you in December, but felt like there was no use to say any more, because I felt you skirted the whole issue. It seemed you blamed Sis.Lucy for having the meeting, asking the question, and misrepresenting your statement. The regret for the pain I suffered as a consequence of the miscommunication didn't seem like any kind of an apology for what you had done, but what she had done. My pain was from you saying my words weren't credible without asking me anything about the situation—everyone's' words were true and believable, except mine . Since Bro.Keith is Chairman of the CAB, I sent him my letter to you, along with your response, hoping that he could give me some insight into what else you might be saying, because sometimes it takes another party looking on to see more clearly."

I had many more questions for Bro.Glenn that were still left unanswered, but they were more of a personal nature, so I won't write them here. Maybe someday he will at least show me the respect to try to answer them.

At this point I would like to share what I believe Jesus' attitude was about sin. The sinner was always confronted in love, not shamed, and told to "go and sin no more." His unconditional love changed the woman caught in the "very act" of adultery. The law said to stone her, and many took up stones to do so, but Jesus said, " You who are without sin, cast the first stone." Man tends to categorize sin into " little sins" and " big sins", but in Scripture, I don't believe Jesus was any more upset with the "big sins' in our eyes, than He was at the "little sins" of judgmentalism and the attitude of most of the Pharisees who said in their hearts , "I thank God I'm not as other men." If we would all be honest, we could all probably admit to that attitude at some time in our life when people have hurt us. We can't comprehend them doing it, because we never would, but it's only because we don't have that particular weakness. We so convince ourselves of that fact, that we can't see the sin in our own life and how we have hurt, maybe even that person we're condemning, with things we have done.

Any of you ladies who came to my meetings where I shared what I had learned concerning emotional healing, may remember what I taught. I said that God had taught me through a very hurtful experience that "if I were that person, I would do exactly as they have done to me, because I would be that person. I would have their same parents who had not met all of their needs, as no parent can; I would have their same life experiences, and I would have their personality weaknesses." God showed me what real, unconditional love and grace was when He quietly spoke that truth to my heart when I was experiencing anger and judgmentalism toward someone who had hurt me. That was in 1990, and because of God's grace to me, He has enabled me to give that same grace to everyone who has hurt me since that time, (including Bro.Glenn). It never excuses anyone's sin, or the need for loving confrontation, but it takes away the condemning, self-righteous spirit that can so easily be found in all of us.

The counselor also told me one of the most important truths concerning relationships with others that I've ever learned. I was so angry at how people had treated me, all I could see was they needed help. The counselor said, "the truth is, the only one you can fix is yourself through allowing God's love to change you inside, when you do that, your Christian attitude will begin to change others." It's only unconditional love that will draw others to Christ. I have found there is victory, comfort, and peace in knowing people don't have the power over me to make me hate them ; it's my choice and my responsibility alone, no-one can do it for me. Yes, people have made me angry when I see them hurting those I love, but grace has enabled me to "not let the sun go down on my anger", nor even expect them to apologize before I will love them.

God has protected me from what most churches believe to be the "big sins". I've never smoked, drank alcohol, nor committed fornication or adultery; but I have committed a big sin in God's eyes because he said if we hate, it is as if we have murdered. Because I hated myself I couldn't have God's love or acceptance toward others. Before I had counseling, my attitude of selfishness, pride, anger, criticism, and judgmentalism, and my chronic depression caused me to hurt those I loved the most and everyone around me. I had a deep heart's desire to love God; I wasn't "living in sin"—I was going to church, paying tithe, reading my Bible, even fasting, but those "feelings" were still inside if someone didn't act the way I wanted them to or hurt me in some way. The Bible says, " My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge". I was almost completely destroyed, but God delivered me!!

5

It just occurred to me that this whole scene of those who are trying to prove to church people all over the world that the whole Shelton family are the "biggest sinners" of all is really funny. Because, as for myself, I agree with them, because I agree with Paul who said "I am the chief of sinners", and I've never heard any of the Shelton's say they have never sinned, nor have I seen a haughty attitude about how "good" they were. If we have the attitude of Paul, we won't have to prove to anyone that someone else is worse, because we are the chief of sinners. If everyone else is the little Indian, they don't bother the chief. God isn't surprised that we're the chief of sinners, He told us we all were to consider ourselves in that way .The problem is –that too many seem to have the Pharisee's attitude and "thank God they are not as other men." I think we might all be in the same boat. I don't take sin lightly or the damage it does to others, because I totally see the damage my "little sins" have done to everyone around me, and so also to the cause of Christ.

If someone decides I'm like the scum of the earth that judgement of me doesn't make it so, because they don't know where my heart is with God. That's their problem not mine, and only God can fix it as they allow it. And if that person decides they no longer want fellowship with me, then they can let Satan steal their joy of having one less person in their life to love – but as for me, I will love them anyway . I don't love and accept to the point that I don't have the courage to confront someone who is hurting themselves and others.

Your pastor has accused my husband of being at the present time "a sexually immoral individual". That's a pretty judgmental statement for any one to make about someone they haven't spoken with except for a two minute phone conversation in the past six years. And that conversation was because Tommy called him begging him to listen to what he had to say, but Bro.Glenn refused to listen, except on his terms before his board at Ezra. I'm sorry, but I can only feel that he's out to hurt us because of his lack of compassion. It doesn't mean he hasn't shown compassion to others, I'm just saying—to us, he has not shown compassion.

Bro.Glenn said on the tape that "someone who has been victimized is a likely candidate for continuing the victimization." I wonder if he has ever asked the accusers if they have ever had counseling? And, did he consider it long enough? Is he just as concerned about them being in the will of God and making sure they have the opportunity to repent if they're not living according to Biblical standards? I believe we've all been victimized in one way or another. It's our own responsibility to get the help we need and not blame others for our pain. I took my responsibility over 17 years ago, on my own , with no help from anyone, and I continue to take it, most of the time feeling only God understands me—I know that only He can help me. No one is at peace with God with anger and revenge consuming them. Apologies won't change their hearts—only true repentance for their own sins will comfort them.

Most Christian counselor's would advise the angry person to write a letter expressing their anger to the one who has hurt them in order to get the anger out, but not send the letter. Then later, write another letter expressing your hurt, and mail it to the person. I would extend that invitation to any one who has anything against me, instead of writing on the internet what they feel I have done, without speaking to me first. However, the truth still stands: my sincere apology for any hurt will not take away their anger, unforgiveness, or pain---only giving it to God will heal anything. We all attempt to change the past by our actions, but it will never work

I'd like to ask Bro.Glenn where he thinks all of my family will ever get the apology's due them for all the slander all over the world? Are we not expected to just let it go and forget about it as though it never happened? We'll have to, won't we? because we'll never meet the thousands who believe the worst of us, because they're just like he in judging our life and our heart.

I feel that's what Bro.Glenn did to me when he pointed every one of you to the web-site,(Save 3ABN,) where the "broken-hearted mother" said that Tommy had molested her son. She said that she held me just as accountable, because I guess she felt I knew all about it---if it happened, I did not know.. All I know is that thousands of people all over the world now judge me guilty of something I didn't do. I've heard since she wrote, that other women, who used to be my friends, have been on that web-site expressing their opinions of what they felt I knew. There's no way all of them could know all that I knew without speaking to me and knowing what my perceptions were at the times they were referring to. All they can express honestly are their own perceptions and feelings, of which I believe they did. I don't believe they are women who would lie, nor am I, but we all have our own perceptions. I know that I have wanted to be their friends, but apparently they don't think I'm worthy of their friendship. When I'm a friend to someone, I stay a friend even when I don't like or agree with what they're doing, even if I think it's sin and something I wouldn't do. When a friend of mine was divorcing her husband and had no grounds of adultery, I went to her and told her I felt it was wrong and she needed to consider her kids and Christian witness, but she didn't listen, and re-married. It didn't change my love and acceptance of her, even though I still think it was wrong---but since divorce is more "acceptable" in the church now---it seems alright to most. It also seems I've lost her friendship now, too, since she hasn't contacted me and no doubt knows what is going on. I guess some just think I'm too deceived or sinful to be hurt.

It's unbelievable to me that men Tommy counseled with while at Dunn Loring who had sexual sin in their life, men who he prayed with and loved un-conditionally when no one else would, that these same men would now condemn him and offer no words of comfort to him or to me or my family(nor have their wives). Men who he encouraged and never told anyone else about their failures, men he confided in and then they told others what he said that hurt him deeply. In my opinion, they have no comprehension of the grace of God, yet they can " preach the Word" and not be "made to pay" because only Tommy and I know their sin. These attitudes are the hardest things for me to deal with. And where are the apology's of these "men of God"? I guess we don't deserve any.

Yet Bro.Glenn felt for some reason that he "was commissioned by God as a watchman to bring us to repentance and make us pay." It sure didn't work, because I can't repent of something I wasn't guilty of and since Bro.Glenn has had basically no contact with Tommy in over six years, how would he know what he is doing now or where his heart is with God? And if I were considered a liar 20 years ago, does that make me one today? My feeling was that he had to prove that I was a liar, since I and Sis.Lucy denied his opinion. I really can't comprehend treating anyone as he has us I get angry at him for awhile, but then, my heart goes out to him because I feel so strongly that Satan is trying to destroy him and your church , as well as 3ABN and us.

Each one of us has their own "sad story" because Satan has tried to get us all and he uses people to do it. Even Bro.Glenn has his own" sad story" of his own personal life, that I'm sure he wouldn't want plastered all over the internet. I read recently: "Satan wants us to stop fighting as soldiers of the cross, and begin fighting as soldiers of our own opinions. For then, the war turns inward, and we begin to destroy one another, instead of fighting against Satan, our real enemy." What really matters is what God's Word says about how we should behave, not what our opinions are.

The devil wants to keep us all stuck in our anger and revenge instead of allowing our pain to drive us to God. If Satan can keep us angry at each other, we can't comfort one another and be the true church His Son died for.

Now, I would like to comment on the Scriptures Bro.Glenn referred to in his open letter to you concerning Matthew 18:15-17 . Of course, he said the Matthew 18;6 Scripture should be applied to Tommy. It says:" But whoso shall offend one of these little ones, which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea." My first thought was," Is Bro.Glenn referring everyone here because he wants them to think as he does that Tommy deserves a rope around his neck and drowned in the depth of the sea because little children aren't safe around him?" If he doesn't feel that--he still has been a part of the mob-like remarks going around on the internet to "stone him " and judging him as being content with his "homosexual lifestyle" They've also demanded "proof" that he has ever had a heart attack or really has high blood pressure. I'd like to know how anyone could "fake" a heart attack or high blood pressure. Someone who wants to believe something on anyone will believe it no matter how much proof you give them.

Anyway, it's my assertion that this Scripture does not apply to my husband. Bro.Glenn never explained his assertion, he just made it, and apparently expected everyone to take it as fact because he said it and felt it applied. I found in Clarke's Commentary the real reason for Jesus calling a little child to Him. It was to remind His disciples that their attitude must be that of a little child in order to enter heaven. They were wondering which of them would be the greatest in the temporal kingdom they thought Christ was setting up on earth. Jesus said their attitude needed to change to humility, and lack of prejudice; He was saying they couldn't enter the spiritual kingdom if they didn't have the mind of a child; not having a lust for power, worldly ambition, not acting superior—not seeking to be a ruler over another. And a little child is also known for their forgiving attitude and trust. Christ was saying that a child is an emblem of a genuine disciple. He said, any act of kindness done a disciple, He would consider as done to Himself. Also, whoever would act the part of the devil and put a stumbling-block in a disciples way by tempting them to sin would meet with extreme punishment (usually reserved for those committing parricide—murder of a close relative). Verse 7 says," it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!" The commentary says, "offences are referring to scandals, stumbling-blocks, and persecutions. Such is the wickedness of men that they will not come to Christ that they might have life, but desperately continue deceiving and being deceived . In such a state of things, offences, stumbling-blocks, and persecutions are unavoidable. Woe to that man—he who gives the offence and he who receives it, are both exposed to ruin."

8

It's my assertion from this reading that this Scripture passage more clearly alludes to Bro.Glenn's problem of being involved with a group of people who are persecuting and telling lies about a world-wide ministry dedicated to mending broken people, much more than it would apply to my husband's situation. The majority of the people at 3ABN are dedicated disciples of Christ, but are being treated with hostility by those who are "deceiving and being deceived". It also goes along with what I told Bro.Glenn in feeling Satan was trying to destroy his ministry as well as ours and 3ABN. He's the real enemy.

It's also interesting to me that the next Scripture passages go right into talking about how Jesus came to seek and save those who were lost and gives the parable of the one lost sheep. My recommendation to your pastor would be(if he thinks my husband "is a sexually immoral individual,") that he move on as well into the realm of the mind of Christ and go after that "one lost sheep". There's a lot of lost sheep in the world he should be going after, instead of trying to make anyone pay for their sins. As I said, my anger comes and goes with every statement made against my husband and his family, since I live with them and feel their spirit. Hopefully, my feelings are understandable to some of you--if not--you should walk in my shoes for just one day.

I would also recommend to your pastor that he re-consider Matthew 18:15-17 as the best course of action in any other dealings with "sinners among the church". I would recommend that he allow those offended to take their own responsibility and let Jesus be their Savior and Guide and Restorer. As the Good Shepherd, he is to watch over, not be a watchman over and control his sheep and take their responsibility. I believe that had Bro.Glenn listened to my husband over three years ago when he called to talk, and followed this scripture admonition, "to go and tell your brother his fault, between thee and him alone" none of us would be experiencing all the pain, confusion, and heartache we are now. But then, he said on the tape, " My loyalty is not to a fellow minister, but to God and toward healing and helping these scattered young men." I totally understand his desire to help anyone hurting who came to him, but does that excuse his total lack of compassion toward Tommy? Why shouldn't he have had at least enough loyalty to a fellow minister to just listen to him? I can't comprehend it.

Again, Satan has been at work, he has meant it for evil, but God wants to turn it around for good to any who will allow it. All things do work together for good to those who love God and to those who are called according to His purpose. I believe He loves us all equally—no-one is any better or any worse than another in His eyes. Our problem is, we don't look through His eyes at each other, if we did, we'd understand, accept and love as He does. I believe, as I'm sure most of you do, that your pastor and my husband were called and anointed of God and He has used them part in building the Kingdom. It's God's will and ours that we all continue to do that.

It's my Recommendation that we all work toward that end from now on and put each other in the hands and control of God, and [illegible], and letting [illegible] by [illegible] Love.

Love-in-Christ,
Sis.Carol

P.S. I think if I were you all and I put myself "in your shoes", after reading and dealing with all the "sad stories," "opinions," "assertions," "rationales," "premises," "analogies" and even "recommendations" from "both sides of the story", I would be saying , "Even so, come, Lord Jesus"!! ! (Rev.22:20) And the last verse in Rev.(V21) says:" The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."

Aren't you thankful for that "great day" coming when there will be no more "sad stories" to tell? I love you all.

time. If there were allegations from a woman she'd have flatly denied it... because she knows that's not how he rolls... but with each successive allegation from boys and young men, the best she can do is " I don't know for sure whether these charges are true or false"? Sounds like Hilary when the Monica Lewinsky mess blew up on Bill... and then as now... the wife's denials aside... she knew the charges were true because she knew that was what her husband liked. Carol's neither confirming nor denying the allegations is to give herself wiggle room in case they are proven true in a public forum; that gives her a degree of plausible deniability and she can, in a worst case scenario, paint herself as a victim of Tommy's deceptions... the wounded wife who believed him when he said the charges werent true...

But she knows... the same thing has happened too often in too many places for her not to know.

BTJM.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Ex3ABNViewer Feb 19 2007, 04:24 PM

I feel bad for the family members. What they need to realize it is not the victims fault or theirs, unless they knew it was taking place. What I do not understand is, if all of these rumors are false, why don't they just come out and say it? If they are true why don't they apologize? I have heard of people that literally got away with murder and when they became Christians many years later they turn themselves in and went to jail.

It would be sad if Tommy had to go to jail at his age but if he did do what he is accused of, think of what he did to those boys.

I would like 3ABN to make a list of all that they are accused of and answer the questions one by one. Unless I missed it, I cannot see in either Tommy or Carol's letters where they deny that he did these things, so that leads one to believe he is guilty. What other explanation is there?

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 04:52 PM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer @ Feb 19 2007, 02:24 PM)
>

> I feel bad for the family members. What they need to realize it is not the victims fault or theirs, unless they knew it was taking place. What I do not understand is, if all of these rumors are false, why don't they just come out and say it? If they are true why don't they apologize? I have heard of people that literally got away with murder and when they became Christians many years later they turn themselves in and went to jail.
>
> It would be sad if Tommy had to go to jail at his age but if he did do what he is accused of, think of what he did to those boys.
>
> I would like 3ABN to make a list of all that they are accused of and answer the questions one by one. Unless I missed it, I cannot see in either Tommy or Carol's letters where they deny that he did these things, so that leads one to believe he is guilty. What other explanation is there?

Great question

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 04:54 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 19 2007, 02:25 PM) ☐
>
> More of the same. No apology. Now that this is public, we (Tommy's family) are the victims. Discredit everyone that brings this information public.

Calvin,
Thank you for making this letter from Carol Shelton available for us to read.

Is the posted statement along with the PDF link from Carol or someone else?

PB

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 04:56 PM

> QUOTE(Ex3ABNViewer @ Feb 19 2007, 02:24 PM) ☐
>
> I feel bad for the family members. What they need to realize it is not the victims fault or theirs, unless they knew it was taking place. What I do not understand is, if all of these rumors are false, why don't they just come out and say it? If they are true why don't they apologize? I have heard of people that literally got away with murder and when they became Christians many years later they turn themselves in and went to jail.
>
> It would be sad if Tommy had to go to jail at his age but if he did do what he is accused of, think of what he did to those boys.
>
> I would like 3ABN to make a list of all that they are accused of and answer the questions one by one. Unless I missed it, I cannot see in either Tommy or Carol's letters where they deny that he did these things, so that leads one to believe he is guilty. What other explanation is there?

Besides if he admits this stuff happened there is a chance no one will press charges, I mean no has been able to make charges stick.

THe reason he can not admit at this point i think is that it would really destroy his brothers hopes of keeping 3Abn under his control.

Erik

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 19 2007, 06:56 PM

It's always easier to blame the person that brought out the secret instead of the person doing wrong.

Posted by: calvin Feb 19 2007, 07:09 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 19 2007, 04:54 PM) ☐
>
> Calvin,
> Thank you for making this letter from Carol Shelton available for us to read.
>
> Is the posted statement along with the PDF link from Carol or someone else?
>
> PB

The posted opening statement is my opinion after reading the letter. I created the PDF file from a fax of the letter sent ot me and Pickle.

Posted by: Chez Feb 19 2007, 07:27 PM

Carol had to have an inkling. I think that she didn't want to know that her husband was on the downlow. There were too many whispers and allegations. Don't you think taking boys on trips would have raised a red flag? I believe that the Spirit of God raised some questions to her; she just ignored them. God speaks in a still small. He usually doesn't scream at us.

Carol seems to want sympathy for Tommy and her, but what about the boys and the young men whose lives have been ruined? She talks about the lack of acknowledgement of her pastoral wife's presence when visiting the church. However, IMO, a pedophile is not a true servant of God. Therefore, she actually wasn't the wife of a pastor but of an alleged pedophile.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 07:29 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 19 2007, 05:27 PM) ☐
>
> Carol had to have an inkling. I think that she didn't want to know that her husband was on the downlow. There were too many whispers and allegations. Don't you think taking boys on trips would have raised a red flag? I believe that the Spirit of God raised some questions to her; she just ignored them. God speaks in a still small. He usually doesn't scream at us.
>
> Carol seems to want sympathy for Tommy and her, but what about the boys and the young men whose lives have been ruined? She talks about the lack of acknowledgement of her pastoral wife's presence when visiting the church. However, IMO, a pedophile is not a true servant of God. Therefore, she actually wasn't the wife of a pastor but of an alleged pedophile.

My thoughts? She knew.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 19 2007, 08:01 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 19 2007, 08:27 PM) ☐
>
> Carol had to have an inkling. I think that she didn't want to know that her husband was on the > downlow. There were too many whispers and allegations. Don't you think taking boys on trips would have raised a red flag? I believe that the Spirit of God raised some questions to her; she just ignored them. God speaks in a still small. He usually doesn't scream at us.

>
> Carol seems to want sympathy for Tommy and her, but what about the boys and the young men whose lives have been ruined? She talks about the lack of acknowledgement of her pastoral wife's presence when visiting the church. However, IMO, a pedophile is not a true servant of God. Therefore, she actually wasn't the wife of a pastor but of an alleged pedophile.

xactly very good points. IMO she knew.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:06 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 19 2007, 04:23 PM)
>
> But she knows... the same thing has happened too often in too many places for her not to know.
>
> BTJM.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

his is a great example of how wrong someone's opinion is when they attempt to explain the motives nd actions of a person they have never known. You have absolutely no knowledge of what Carol helton thinks, feels or acts in any given situation. If you did, you could never have wrote your assessment" of her character. Again, another perfect example how most of you put your judgments n something or someone that you know nothing about and have had no experience with. This is proof eyond a shadow of a doubt that you can have no valid opinions where you are ompletely ,ignorant ,of the facts. Proverbs 18:13 says: He that answereth a matter before he heareth t, it is folly and shame unto him.
roverbs 18:6 a self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
, on the other hand of known Carol for many many years. The woman that you talk about giving erself wiggle room and painting herself as the victim and wounded wife could not get any further rom the truth. The following comments from others are, again, ridiculous since they do not know her haracter or nature. As usual, She is nothing like the person that you depict. She is a wonderful, odly, spiritual person who has always treated others as she would like to be treated. She doesn't ossip, she doesn't look down on others, she is never judgmental and has nothing but love and oncern for others. She is quiet, never draws attention to herself except for the love of Jesus that hines through her.
rom someone who "truly Knows" her, my prayer is that we could all be like Carol.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 19 2007, 09:11 PM

I guess if you truely "know" her then we should be able to surmise who you are

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:06 PM)

> This is a great example of how wrong someone's opinion is when they attempt to explain the motives and actions of a person they have never known. You have absolutely no knowledge of what Carol Shelton thinks, feels or acts in any given situation. If you did, you could never have wrote your "assessment" of her character. Again, another perfect example how most of you put your judgments on something or someone that you know nothing about and have had no experience with. This is proof beyond a shadow of a doubt that you can have no valid opinions where you are completely ,ignorant ,of the facts. Proverbs 18:13 says: He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him.
> Proverbs 18:6 a self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
> I, on the other hand of known Carol for many many years. The woman that you talk about giving herself wiggle room and painting herself as the victim and wounded wife could not get any further from the truth. The following comments from others are, again, ridiculous since they do not know her character or nature. As usual, She is nothing like the person that you depict. She is a wonderful, godly, spiritual person who has always treated others as she would like to be treated. She doesn't gossip, she doesn't look down on others, she is never judgmental and has nothing but love and concern for others. She is quiet, never draws attention to herself except for the love of Jesus that shines through her.
> From someone who "truly Knows" her, my prayer is that we could all be like Carol.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 19 2007, 09:11 PM)
>
> I guess if you truely "know" her then we should be able to surmise who you are

Of course, since there is such a limited amount of people that know her personally.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 19 2007, 09:19 PM

Well with my twisted humor I was thinking....oh never mind, I don't want to get in trouble....yet.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:15 PM)
>
> Of course, since there is such a limited amount of people that know her personally.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 19 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 19 2007, 06:27 PM)
>
> Carol had to have an inkling. I think that she didn't want to know that her husband was on the downlow. There were too many whispers and allegations. Don't you think taking boys on trips would > have raised a red flag? I believe that the Spirit of God raised some questions to her; she just ignored them. God speaks in a still small. He usually doesn't scream at us.

here is a young man's prayer that goes something like this: "May be the kind of man that my mother hinks I am."

ometimes a woman sees a man through glasses of love, respect and trusting. To the pure, all things re pure. I can think of a number of cases where a close relative was the last one to know that there vas something amiss. Hindsight is 20/20, but foresight is not so clear.

nd I am saddened when one family member is shunned because of the sins of another. But that is vhat sin is like; it not only hurts the one who is sinning, but has ripple effect that can be more closely ompared to a Tsunami.

Vhen there are issues of this magnitude, most people do not know how to approach it, so they just void the discussion, and may inadvertently avoid talking to the people who are really hurting.

here had to be a time when Carol did not know, and a time later on when she did know. I am not oncerned just when the dawning of realization came. I am concerned about the emotional fallout, not nly to the alleged perpetrator and the alleged victims, but to other people who, through no fault of heir own, were caught in the middle of this mess.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 08:15 PM) ☐
>
> Of course, since there is such a limited amount of people that know her personally.

vwjd, think anybody who reads Carol's letter can learn a lot about her and who she is. It's all there in black nd white.

Posted by: Lenni Feb 19 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:06 PM) ☐
>
> This is a great example of how wrong someone's opinion is when they attempt to explain the motives and actions of a person they have never known. You have absolutely no knowledge of what Carol Shelton thinks, feels or acts in any given situation. If you did, you could never have wrote your "assessment" of her character. Again, another perfect example how most of you put your judgments on something or someone that you know nothing about and have had no experience with. This is proof beyond a shadow of a doubt that you can have no valid opinions where you are completely ,ignorant ,of the facts. Proverbs 18:13 says: He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him.

> Proverbs 18:6 a self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
> I, on the other hand of known Carol for many many years. The woman that you talk about giving herself wiggle room and painting herself as the victim and wounded wife could not get any further from the truth. The following comments from others are, again, ridiculous since they do not know her character or nature. As usual, She is nothing like the person that you depict. She is a wonderful, godly, spiritual person who has always treated others as she would like to be treated. She doesn't gossip, she doesn't look down on others, she is never judgmental and has nothing but love and concern for others. She is quiet, never draws attention to herself except for the love of Jesus that shines through her.
> From someone who "truly Knows" her, my prayer is that we could all be like Carol.

So wwjd, you're the only one on this board who personally knows her???

don't think so................................

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 10:22 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 07:15 PM)
>
> Of course, since there is such a limited amount of people that know her personally.

t would be nice if this was proven to be Carol writing it. I am not convinced it's her.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 19 2007, 10:26 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 19 2007, 09:22 PM)
>
> It would be nice if this was proven to be Carol writing it. I am not convinced it's her.

What makes you unsure?

Posted by: Lenni Feb 19 2007, 10:27 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 19 2007, 10:22 PM)
>
> It would be nice if this was proven to be Carol writing it. I am not convinced it's her.

don't know?!?! wwjd knows Carol personally and didn't seem to question the letter's authenticity. As well as wwjd seems to know Carol, he would surely spot a forgery don't you think?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 10:31 PM

> QUOTE(Lenni @ Feb 19 2007, 08:27 PM)
>
> I don't know?!?! wwjd knows Carol personally and didn't seem to question the letter's authenticity. As well as wwjd seems to know Carol, he would surely spot a forgery don't you think?

I would NOT put any weight to what WWJD says or doesn't say.
It sounds more like Shelly Quinn. JMO.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 19 2007, 10:32 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:06 PM)
>
> This is a great example of how wrong someone's opinion is when they attempt to explain the motives and actions of a person they have never known. You have absolutely no knowledge of what Carol Shelton thinks, feels or acts in any given situation. If you did, you could never have wrote your "assessment" of her character.

First of all, I stated it was my opinion... and never said you or anyone else had to agree.

> QUOTE
>
> Again, another perfect example how most of you put your judgments on something or someone that you know nothing about and have had no experience with. This is proof beyond a shadow of a doubt that you can have no valid opinions where you are completely ,ignorant ,of the facts.
> Proverbs 18:13 says: He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him.
> Proverbs 18:6 a self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.

Oh so now you are threatening to beat me? That, sir, is a beating I'm just gonna have to to take... assuming you are man enough to even try to cash the check your mouth wrote. Tell ya what... let me know what time your plane touches down at Dulles Airport and I'll pick you up. That work for you?

But you betta pack a lunch... because it's gonna be a looooooooong day for you...

> QUOTE
>
> I, on the other hand of known Carol for many many years.

That's special...

> QUOTE
>
> The woman that you talk about giving herself wiggle room and painting herself as the victim and wounded wife could not get any further from the truth. The following comments from others are, again, ridiculous since they do not know her character or nature. As usual, She is nothing like the person that you depict. She is a wonderful, godly, spiritual person who has always treated others as she would like to be treated. She doesn't gossip, she doesn't look down on others, she is never judgmental and has nothing but love and concern for others. She is quiet, never draws attention to herself except for the love of Jesus that shines through her.
> From someone who "truly Knows" her, my prayer is that we could all be like Carol.

Your argument is way short of compelling...you're gonna have to do better... all you have demonstrated is that you are prone to manifesting a lack of objectivity...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Chez Feb 19 2007, 10:37 PM

I feel sorry for Carol. Carol has been hurt by Tommy and IMO, she loves him. However, the man (she loves) loves boys. The intimate relationship(s) that he allegedly had (or has) with boys or young men should have been with Carol, his wife. Now the world knows what he has allegedly done. However, she has known longer than she would like to admit.

I had a friend who I was in denial about intellectually, but in my heart I knew that his preference was men. Intellectually, we can say "no", but the Spirit of God can tell us otherwise. It is up to us to acknowledge or ignore God's promptings. I believe that Carol did not want to admit or acknowledge, at first, what Tommy was doing. It was too painful. How could the man that she loved(s) and adored(s) do such things and profess to be a man of God? That's tough to fathom! We must keep Carol and her family in our prayers.

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 11:13 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Feb 19 2007, 08:37 PM)

> I feel sorry for Carol. Carol has been hurt by Tommy and IMO, she loves him. However, the man (she loves) loves boys. The intimate relationship(s) that he allegedly had (or has) with boys or young men should have been with Carol, his wife. Now the world knows what he has allegedly done. However, she has known longer than she would like to admit.
>
> I had a friend who I was in denial about intellectually, but in my heart I knew that his preference was men. Intellectually, we can say "no", but the Spirit of God can tell us otherwise. It is up to us to acknowledge or ignore God's promptings. I believe that Carol did not want to admit or acknowledge, at first, what Tommy was doing. It was too painful. How could the man that she loved(s) and adored(s) do such things and profess to be a man of God? That's tough to fathom! We must keep Carol and her family in our prayers.

Amen

Posted by: Grace Feb 20 2007, 03:21 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 20 2007, 06:13 AM)
>
> Amen

Yes, I feel compassion for Carol, but what bothers me in her letter is that with all her preaching about unconditional love and so and so, she doesn't seem to have a word of compassion for her husband's victims.

In her letter, I read a lot about how she and her husband have been mistreated and victimized by her husband's accusers, but where's her compassion for her husband's victims?

And there's no way she could presently ignore the truth about what her husband did to the boys and young men.

In her letter, she seems to be totally centered on her and her husband. She plays victim and shows her husband as a victim, when he is the perpetrator.

So, after all, to me she doesn't seem to be so lovely, holy and compassionate at all. I still feel compassion for her, though and will pray for her. But I don't buy her arguments!

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 20 2007, 06:20 AM

Does anybody really know what it is that the Church of God in Dunn Loring is looking into and investigating and why the letters from Tommy and Carol Shelton were sent?

In otherwords are they investigating Tommy Shelton, OR are they investigating the actions of their Pastor Glen Dryden???

I certainly don't know the facts here, and have many questions about what is not said, BUT....

From what has been posted it appears that Tommy Shelton was already investigated and disciplined by the Church of God -PAST TENSE.

"It appears" there has been no incidents reported or alleged since then, (and before you all freak out, check the dates in Tommy's letter, and on the save 3abn not @ 2007 website.)

Tommy and Carol's letters make perfect sense to me, IF they were being sent as a followup to the letter from the Attorneys to the Church of God concerning Pastor Glen Drydens of the Church of God's actions and agenda in the PRESENT TENSE, and the open letter he sent out after receiving that.

Of course I'm only interested in verifiable facts here, but I'm sure you can all continue to exercise your right to post your opinion of me, them, anyone, everyone or anything else, Instead -- as you choose.

~ Aletheia

Posted by: Green Cochoa Feb 20 2007, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 20 2007, 03:21 AM)
>
> Yes, I feel compassion for Carol, but what bothers me in her letter is that with all her preaching about unconditional love and so and so, she doesn't seem to have a word of compassion for her husband's victims.
>
> ...
>
> In her letter, she seems to be totally centered on her and her husband. She plays victim and shows her husband as a victim, when he is the perpetrator.
>
> ...

I must differ with the above perspective. The biggest victim in the situation happens to be the so-called perpetrator. We are ALL victims of sin. When a person succumbs to temptation, that individual falls prey to the wiles of the devil, thus becoming, in verity, a victim. The "perpetrator," being the most "at-fault" sinner in the situation, is thus the biggest victim.

In the sacrificial system, sacrifices were to be offered for "inadvertant" sins, or sins of "ignorance." There was no provision for "intentional" or "knowing" sin. Why? I believe it can only be because EVERY SIN is a sin of ignorance, in which we have fallen VICTIM to the devil. If we truly knew the truth, we would not choose to do those sins.

Unfortunately, the biggest victim is usually the biggest loser.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 20 2007, 08:00 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 07:20 AM)
>
> Of course I'm only interested in verifiable facts here, but I'm sure you can all continue to exercise your right to post your opinion of me, them, anyone, everyone or anything else, Instead -- as you choose.
>
> ~ Aletheia

You keep telling this same lie over and over again. The fact remains that you are utterly lacking in objectivity; accepting the uncorroborated statements of one side without any verification whatsoever while rejecting the statements of the other side even when the proof you demand is given you.

Your only interest is in doing your level best to discredit the eyewitnesses and first hand accounts of assorted acts of malfeasance on the part of danny's camp... not by refuting facts but rather by ad hominem attacks.

How about you come up with some proof Cindy? How about your making a rebuttal with verifiable facts rather than tossing around disparaging innuendo and outright false speculation.

How about your living up to the same standard you demand of those you disagree with?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Grace Feb 20 2007, 08:06 AM

> QUOTE(Green Cochoa @ Feb 20 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> I must differ with the above perspective. The biggest victim in the situation happens to be the so-called perpetrator. We are ALL victims of sin. When a person succumbs to temptation, that individual falls prey to the wiles of the devil, thus becoming, in verity, a victim. The "perpetrator," being the most "at-fault" sinner in the situation, is thus the biggest victim.
>
> In the sacrificial system, sacrifices were to be offered for "inadvertant" sins, or sins of "ignorance." There was no provision for "intentional" or "knowing" sin. Why? I believe it can only be because EVERY SIN is a sin of ignorance, in which we have fallen VICTIM to the devil. If we truly knew the truth, we would not choose to do those sins.
>
> Unfortunately, the biggest victim is usually the biggest loser.

With a difference: one of them (properly called the victim) was victimized by the other (which we call the perpetrator for good reason); the perpetrator harmed the victim and in so doing he usually harmed himself and his family, but he is the one responsible. I don't like to have everything mixed up! And I don't know who's the biggest victim, I suppose it depends on each situation. But I really get angry when perpetrators play "victim" instead of taking their own reponsibility.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 20 2007, 09:00 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 06:20 AM)
>
> Of course I'm only interested in verifiable facts here, but I'm sure you can all continue to exercise your right to post your opinion of me, them, anyone, everyone or anything else, Instead -- as you choose.
>
> ~ Aletheia

We don't have to post our opinion of you, we have A_letheia at Yahoo to do that for you.

At Yahoo, a poster named http://groups.yahoo.com/group/adventism_prophecy/message/9183 believes that the posts at BlackSda are as follows:

"Go to www.blacksda.com, and click on the 3abn forum also Maritime. It's all one sided, and hypocritical, and evil surmisings for the most part."

As you can see, when it comes to exercising the right to post an opinion of other people, A_letheia at the Yahoo's Adventism_Prophecy forum is doing quite well in that department.

If A_letheia is correct, and you are constantly posting along with all of those "evil" surmisers at BlackSDA, that makes you an "evil" surmiser, yourself. You can see that, can't you? The more you post here, the more "evil" you become. Isn't that the premise of what A_letheia is saying about you?

Just saying, "Of course, I'm only interested in verifiable facts," doesn't insulate you and separate you from the other posters.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 06:20 AM)
>
> In other words are they investigating Tommy Shelton, OR are they investigating the actions of their Pastor Glen Dryden???

I'm sure Glenn Dryden thanks you and your imagination for supplying that thought. By the way, Glenn is the correct spelling, not Glen.

Posted by: Carmel Feb 20 2007, 09:13 AM

So many words and not really much said...

Carol, you were quoting Proverbs few times.. go a little bit further and read what the 28:13 say..

He who covers his sins will not prosper,
But whoever confesses and forsakes them will have mersy.

Isn't that easy?

Carmel

Posted by: calvin Feb 20 2007, 09:13 AM

This is a discussion board. Opinions are always welcome here. No member has an obligation to respond to any question, or provide verifiable evidence of stated facts or opinion stated as facts, this includes scripture and EGW quotes.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 20 2007, 09:30 AM

> QUOTE(Grace @ Feb 20 2007, 04:21 AM)
>
> Yes, I feel compassion for Carol, but what bothers me in her letter is that with all her preaching > about unconditional love and so and so, she doesn't seem to have a word of compassion for her husband's victims.

>
> In her letter, I read a lot about how she and her husband have been mistreated and victimized by her husband's accusers, but where's her compassion for her husband's victims?
>
> And there's no way she could presently ignore the truth about what her husband did to the boys and young men.
>
> In her letter, she seems to be totally centered on her and her husband. She plays victim and shows her husband as a victim, when he is the perpetrator.
>
> So, after all, to me she doesn't seem to be so lovely, holy and compassionate at all. I still feel compassion for her, though and will pray for her. But I don't buy her arguments!

could not agree with you more.

he continues to volunteer to be a victim. Where is the responsibility.

o we know if any professional counselling was allegedly received on any occasion that allegations rose and a career move was made? What professional counselor would allow her to retain this ictim's cloke and blinders?

w

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 10:00 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 04:20 AM)
>
> Does anybody really know what it is that the Church of God in Dunn Loring is looking into and investigating and why the letters from Tommy and Carol Shelton were sent?
>
> In otherwords are they investigating Tommy Shelton, OR are they investigating the actions of their Pastor Glen Dryden???
>
> I certainly don't know the facts here, and have many questions about what is not said, BUT....
>
> From what has been posted it appears that Tommy Shelton was already investigated and disciplined by the Church of God -PAST TENSE.
>
> "It appears" there has been no incidents reported or alleged since then, (and before you all freak out, check the dates in Tommy's letter, and on the save 3abn not @ 2007 website.)
>
> Tommy and Carol's letters make perfect sense to me, IF they were being sent as a followup to the letter from the Attorneys to the Church of God concerning Pastor Glen Drydens of the Church of God's actions and agenda in the PRESENT TENSE, and the open letter he sent out after receiving that.
>
> Of course I'm only interested in verifiable facts here, but I'm sure you can all continue to exercise your right to post your opinion of me, them, anyone, everyone or anything else, Instead -- as you choose.

> ~ Aletheia

letheia,

am wondering when tommy was disciplined by the second church, i remember reading about the first hurch back in 1985, but never the second church.

an you provide so proof of that action, thank you.

econdly i have another question lots say for sake of discussion that the Glenn dryden is the worst erson in the world that he is attacking tommy out of a huge jealousy How does this change facts of Vhat Tommy did, I mean you act like Glenn was making tommy do all things that tommy has done.

ES, Alethiea we can say that Tommy's abuse of his position has A pastor is a FACT, there are now at east 7 written eyewitness accounts, add to the that Tommy and CArol in their own defense could not ay that what the boys have said DID NOT happen 100%. Tommy did something, Period.

Rik

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 10:52 AM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 19 2007, 09:19 PM)
>
> Well with my twisted humor I was thinking....oh never mind, I don't want to get in trouble....yet.

got it, Richard.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 12:40 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 19 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> It's always easier to blame the person that brought out the secret instead of the person doing wrong.

lothing else to add...just gonna repeat this quote.....

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 19 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> It's always easier to blame the person that brought out the secret instead of the person doing wrong.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 19 2007, 10:20 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd,
>
> I think anybody who reads Carol's letter can learn a lot about her and who she is. It's all there in black and white.

I beg to differ on your comment to wwjd. every post than each individual has written, has set a pattern of character in our minds about that person. If we were to meet that person face to face and spend time with them we might find they are completely opposite of the picture we have in our minds based on their posts. There is absolutely no way on earth you could know who a person is, what they think, what they feel or anything else based one written letter. WWJD said it all when he said the assumptions that you have made about Carol, from reading that letter, couldn't be farther from the truth. Now, can you possibly open your mind to think that wwjd, who has known her personally for many many years, should be listened to over, those of you, that have never met her, much less, spent time with her.

Posted by: Clay Feb 20 2007, 01:11 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 01:02 PM) ☐
>
> I beg to differ on your comment to wwjd. every post than each individual has written, has set a pattern of character in our minds about that person. If we were to meet that person face to face and spend time with them we might find they are completely opposite of the picture we have in our minds based on their posts. snip......

Naw... I think the tone of your posts is a reflection of your character..... don't need to meet you or spend time with you to see what kind of person you are... or are not... God forbid I was a runaway slave seeking refuge at your place..... you would no doubt turn me in..... During WWII in Germany would you just "stand by" as jewish brothers, sisters, and children were turned in and sent to their deaths?

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 20 2007, 01:19 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 20 2007, 11:00 AM) ☐
>
> Aletheia,
> I am wondering when tommy was disciplined by the second church, i remember reading about the first church back in 1985, but never the second church.
>
> Can you provide so proof of that action, thank you.
> Secondly i have another question lots say for sake of discussion that the Glenn dryden is the worst person in the world that he is attacking tommy out of a huge jealousy How does this change facts of What Tommy did, I mean you act like Glenn was making tommy do all things that tommy has done.

> YES, Alethiea we can say that Tommy's abuse of his position has A pastor is a FACT, there are now at least 7 written eyewitness accounts, add to the that Tommy and CArol in their own defense could not say that what the boys have said DID NOT happen 100%. Tommy did something, Period.
> ERik

don't know. I never said he was disciplined by a second Church. I don't even see any statements of alleged" victims or problems talked about in a second Church. Do you?

ll I know about all this is what has been posted. There's alot which to me remains unexplained and nanswered...

he only thing I know about is 1985, and something in 1991 as that was posted here and on save ABN. I believe that was all in Illinois.

he only thing I know for sure about the Dunn Loring Church of God is that Pastor Dryden is now there ehashing what happened in West Frankfort Illinois to his Church there.

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 11:19 AM)
>
> I don't know. I never said he was disciplined by a second Church. I don't even see any statements of "alleged" victims or problems talked about in a second Church. Do you?
>
> All I know about all this is what has been posted. There's alot which to me remains unexplained and unanswered...
>
> The only thing I know about is 1985, and something in 1991 as that was posted here and on save 3ABN. I believe that was all in Illinois.
>
> The only thing I know for sure about the Dunn Loring Church of God is that Pastor Dryden is now there rehashing what happened in West Frankfort Illinois to his Church there.

letheia,

am sure you have read enough to know that The ezra church 70's, 80's, and the dunning church 90's re in two different locations. So i guess i am realy wondering at this point how much you have really ead,a nd how much you have maybe written out a time line of things.

agree there is lot that is unexplained, like why tommy and carol can not just say he did not do in imple short words.

Rik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 20 2007, 01:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 12:02 PM) ☐
>
> I beg to differ on your comment to wwjd. every post than each individual has written, has set a pattern of character in our minds about that person. If we were to meet that person face to face and spend time with them we might find they are completely opposite of the picture we have in our minds based on their posts. There is absolutely no way on earth you could know who a person is, what they think, what they feel or anything else based one written letter. WWJD said it all when he said the assumptions that you have made about Carol, from reading that letter, couldn't be farther from the truth. Now, can you possibly open your mind to think that wwjd, who has known her personally for many many years, should be listened to over, those of you, that have never met her, much less, spent time with her.

Bystander,
Are you speaking to "you" in general or to "you" meaning specifically me, PeacefullyBewildered? If you are speaking to me specifically, I just don't know what you can base your post on because I have not posted any judgements or assumptions about Carol Shelton that could qualify as "farther from the truth".

I don't see how you can say that the lengthy letter from Carol S. didn't say a lot about who she is. Is wwjd saying that she misrepresented herself or she doesn't really have the feelings or think the thoughts she put down on paper? I would think that an affront to her!

Certainly there is more to Carol Shelton than what appears in that letter, but there is much there about the character and thoughts of the woman, IMO.

PB

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 01:54 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 01:19 PM) ☐
>
> I don't know. I never said he was disciplined by a second Church. I don't even see any statements of "alleged" victims or problems talked about in a second Church. Do you?
>
> All I know about all this is what has been posted. There's alot which to me remains unexplained and unanswered...
>
> The only thing I know about is 1985, and something in 1991 as that was posted here and on save 3ABN. I believe that was all in Illinois.
>
> The only thing I know for sure about the Dunn Loring Church of God is that Pastor Dryden is now there rehashing what happened in West Frankfort Illinois to his Church there.

He wasn't disciplined by a second church. As posted sometime ago, there were no allegations of any kind in the Dunloring church. The congregation was very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on. There were no rumors, allegations, or anything in question at all until Glenn Dryden became the pastor there. Odd isn't it?

Posted by: lookin4truth Feb 20 2007, 02:40 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> He wasn't disciplined by a second church. As posted sometime ago, there were no allegations of any kind in the Dunloring church. The congregation was very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on. There were no rumors, allegations, or anything in question at all until Glenn Dryden became the pastor there. Odd isn't it?

It is amazing to me that Bystander not only knows what everyone thinks at 3ABN, but now he claims to know that the congregation in Virginia was "very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on" , and that there were "no rumors".

Bystander, how do you know how the people in Virginia felt or thought?

How do you know there were no rumors?

Who told you everyone was so happy with Tommy as a pastor?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 02:46 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Feb 20 2007, 04:40 PM)
>
> It is amazing to me that Bystander not only knows what everyone thinks at 3ABN, but now he claims to know that the congregation in Virginia was "very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on" , and that there were "no rumors".
>
> Bystander, how do you know how the people in Virginia felt or thought?
>
> How do you know there were no rumors?
>
> Who told you everyone was so happy with Tommy as a pastor?

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 03:13 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 11:54 AM)
>
> He wasn't disciplined by a second church. As posted sometime ago, there were no allegations of any kind in the Dunloring church. The congregation was very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on. There were no rumors, allegations, or anything in question at all until Glenn Dryden became the pastor there. Odd isn't it?

Bystander if the 2nd church is not doing anything then why the open letters or the letter from the lawyer?

Erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 20 2007, 03:26 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 20 2007, 02:13 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander if the 2nd church is not doing anything then why the open letters or the letter from the lawyer?
>
> Erik

Great and insightful question, Erik!

Posted by: princessdi Feb 20 2007, 03:41 PM

You act as if this makes anything better. It never ceases to amaze me how far you all will go to defend TS's actions. Even by your own accounts(maintaining the young men were of the age of consent, and never, ever trying to maintain his innocence), he was at the very least having homosexual affairs with young men. He is/was a married pastor. There is no excuse you can give to make this any better. He is wrong, and they should not have let him work at 3ABN with these allegations hanging over him. They should have sidelined him, until they were setttled. It is as simple as that.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 11:54 AM) ☐
>
> He wasn't disciplined by a second church. As posted sometime ago, there were no allegations of any kind in the Dunloring church. The congregation was very sad when he left and would have loved for him to stay on. There were no rumors, allegations, or anything in question at all until Glenn Dryden became the pastor there. Odd isn't it?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 07:15 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 20 2007, 03:41 PM) ☐
>
> You act as if this makes anything better. It never ceases to amaze me how far you all will go to defend TS's actions. Even by your own accounts(maintaining the young men were of the age of consent, and never, ever trying to maintain his innocence), he was at the very least having homosexual affairs with young men. He is/was a married pastor. There is no excuse you can give to make this any better. He is wrong, and they should not have let him work at 3ABN with these allegations hanging over him. They should have sidelined him, until they were setttled. It is as simple as that.

Please purchase some new glasses. My post had nothing whatsoever to do with TS guilt or innocence. I was answering a question that was ask of me.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 20 2007, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 20 2007, 04:13 PM)
>
> Bystander if the 2nd church is not doing anything then why the open letters or the letter from the lawyer?
>
> Erik

Glenn Dryden....

Posted by: erik Feb 20 2007, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 05:15 PM)
>
> Please purchase some new glasses. My post had nothing whatsoever to do with TS guilt or innocence. I was answering a question that was ask of me.

But if tommy is guilty then the charges agianst Glenn Dryden true and his information needs to look at in that light.

If tommy is not guilty then Glenn Dryden is the jerk and false shepard that he is accused of being.

SO bystander tommy guilty or lack of guilty is everything.

ERik

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 20 2007, 06:25 PM)
>
> Glenn Dryden....

Aletheia, let ask you a simple question with a yes or no question.

DID Glenn Dryden make up stuff about tommy?

Follow up question,

Did Glenn Dryden force anyone to lie about Tommy?

"YEs or no to the best of your knowledge at this time.

ERik

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 20 2007, 05:41 PM)
>
> You act as if this makes anything better. It never ceases to amaze me how far you all will go to defend TS's actions. Even by your own accounts(maintaining the young men were of the age of consent, and never, ever trying to maintain his innocence), he was at the very least having homosexual affairs with young men. He is/was a married pastor. There is no excuse you can give to make this any better. He is wrong, and they should not have let him work at 3ABN with these allegations hanging over him. They should have sidelined him, until they were setttled. It is as simple as that.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 09:15 PM)
>
> Please purchase some new glasses. My post had nothing whatsoever to do with TS guilt or innocence. I was answering a question that was ask of me.

Bystander - Di's quote is directed at you due to comments you have made within this thread. ...or are you stating that no post that you have made in this thread had anything to do with TS's guilt or innocence? If this is what you are stating - then it's you who needs new glasses 'cause the one's you're lookin' through are rather rosy.... and dirty....and missing a lens.
(insertion of the name "Tommy" for clarification by PDR)

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 03:54 PM)
>
> He (Tommy) wasn't disciplined by a second church. As posted sometime ago, there were no allegations of any kind in the Dunloring church (against Tommy). The congregation was very sad when he (Tommy) left and would have loved for him (Tommy) to stay on. There were no rumors, allegations, or anything in question at all until Glenn Dryden became the pastor there. Odd isn't it?

*(Which would all "infer" that the man was not actually "guilty" per se [per your statement] of any wrong doing since you state that they "would have loved for him to stay on" [per your statement]. Assuming that no one [person with human DNA/Church] would want a known pedophile to stay on at their church; unless of course they were devoid of children. This statement by you therein states by omission that Tommy Shelton [not named; but who you were "inferring" to] is innocent.)*

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 08:34 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 20 2007, 10:27 PM)

> Bystander - Di's quote is directed at you due to comments you have made within this thread. ...or are you stating that no post that you have made in this thread had anything to do with TS's guilt or innocence? If this is what you are stating - then it's you who needs new glasses 'cause the one's you're lookin' through are rather rosy.... and dirty....and missing a lens.
> (insertion of the name "Tommy" for clarification by PDR)
>
> *(Which would all "infer" that the man was not actually "guilty" per se [per your statement] of any wrong doing since you state that they "would have loved for him to stay on" [per your statement]. Assuming that no one [person with human DNA/Church] would want a known pedophile to stay on at their church; unless of course they were devoid of children. This statement by you therein states by omission that Tommy Shelton [not named; but who you were "inferring" to] is innocent.)*

All right DrRe, you broke it down.

Posted by: inga Feb 22 2007, 12:53 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 02:02 PM)
>
> WWJD said it all when he said the assumptions that you have made about Carol, from reading that letter, couldn't be farther from the truth.

Now, how could you possibly know that the assumptions we have made "could not be farther from the truth.

Btw. Bystander, you do seem to exhibit multiple personalities, complete with differing verbal skills and attitudes. Most interesting.

As for Carol: I find her letter so sad!!

The letter is full of self-justification in the form of justifying Tommy. (In a case like this, self-justification and spouse-justification amounts to much the same thing.) It is utterly self-focused. So very sad! There is no healing for anyone who feels no need of it, as she clearly says she doesn't.

No even a passing thought of the victims.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 22 2007, 01:21 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 22 2007, 12:53 AM)

I will say it again. You have no idea what she feels. You DO NOT know her. I do. When you say she has no compassion blah blah, you are judging her. The word says to judge by their fruits. You don't know any of her fruits since she is a stranger to you. You judge on 1 letter written that should never have appeared here in the first place. She was addressing a certain discussion, certain individuals, in a certain situation. It is wrong in the eyes of God for you or anyone else here to judge someone's feelings, motives and character whom you have never even met.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 22 2007, 02:12 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 12:21 AM)
>
> .

Do get some sleep wwjd. The morning comes early.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 22 2007, 06:38 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 02:21 AM)
>
> ... blah blah...

Congratulations to wwJd (What Wouldn't Jesus Do)!

You have just earned the coveted "CLANGING CYMBAL" award . che band.gif che

I am proud of the boys that are now standing up to show what Men do in order to protect others.

PTL.gif

Posted by: Observer Feb 22 2007, 06:54 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 12:21 AM)
>
> I will say it again. You have no idea what she feels. You DO NOT know her. I do. When you say she has no compassion blah blah, you are judging her. The word says to judge by their fruits. You don't know any of her fruits since she is a stranger to you. You judge on 1 letter written that should never have appeared here in the first place. She was addressing a certain discussion, certain individuals, in a certain situation. It is wrong in the eyes of God for you or anyone else here to judge someone's feelings, motives and character whom you have never even met.

In counselling, one of the things that a counselor does is to confront people with how they present themselves, or to put it another way, with how they come across to others.

I may say to X: You come across to me as very angry. You may not be angry, but that is how you appear to me. I wonder of others might see you as angry, and relate to you as if you were angry. Do you want to present your self as an angry person?

Folks, many of the comments made here about people are essentially stating how someone has come across to them. It is likely that some of these people have only intended to give feedback, or to tell others how someone presented themself. It is not a judgement of a person to share how that person came across to them

It is also probable that some have intended to state that X was actually Y. So? Doing so is not necessarily sinful, and may not be a statement that X is sinful. If I were to say that X is an angry person, would I be accusing him of sn? I do not think so. Anger is an emotion. God created us with an emotional component to our very being. If I am angry, that is not sin, in my understanding of life. Now, I may act on my anger in a manner that is sinful. But, it is that act that is sinful. It is not the anger itself. God has given me the power, under the Holy Spirit, to chose not to act on my anger in a manner that is sinful.

I have refrained up to now from commenting on Carol's letter, if that is what it is. My comment now will be brief:

As I read it, I felt a lot of sorrow.

One element of my sorrow was for her, as a person, and the issues that she has had to face.

Another element of my sorrow was in how she appears, if that is her letter, to be facing those issues.

I feel compasion for her in several ways. One aspect of that is that she is a victim.

In another aspect, I would not criticize her for issues of what she knew, and when. In the impersonality of the Internet, and with no face to face interaction, I do not feel that such speculation is either productive or helpful.

In my thinking, those questions may be valid, but are better raised in a different venue than this Internet forum.

Our focus on primary individuals does not, in my thinking, require that we, at this time, attempt to cast the net in a manner to cover an area broad enough to entangle every fish that may have been entangled with a lessor degree of culpability.

To be specific, as I see things:

Focus on Danny, if you wish, but Brandy is not the major issue.

Focus on Tommy, if you wish, but his wife is not the major issue.

I will suggest that there is another aspect of this, so I will surface it:

Some have felt that the attempt of some people to focus on Linda is a result of a bias against women. Pass the buck from the responsible male to the female. In society today, this is sometimes expressed by: She seduced me. Etc.

If the above is true in regard to issues that involve Linda, let us not do the same in regard to Carol and Brandy.

Well, enough of my thoughts. That is all they are. I assume that others will disagree with some of what I have said, and respond accordingly. That is fine withe me.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 22 2007, 07:29 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 02:21 AM) ☐
>
> I will say it again. You have no idea what she feels. You DO NOT know her. I do. When you say she has no compassion blah blah, you are judging her.

There are plenty of people here that you do not know... and yet that has not stopped you from judging them on far less than 9 pages of what they've said; if you are going to be angry about what seems to you to be judgements made of someone based on "limited information"... you need to to deal with the judgements you have made of others first

> QUOTE
>
> The word says to judge by their fruits. You don't know any of her fruits since she is a stranger to you. You judge on 1 letter written that should never have appeared here in the first place.

Umm... in case you missed it... the latter two statements above are mutually exclusive

> QUOTE
>
> She was addressing a certain discussion, certain individuals, in a certain situation. It is wrong in the eyes of God for you or anyone else here to judge someone's feelings, motives and character whom you have never even met.

You have never met me... or Clay... or the majority of the people in this forum. You wouldn't know us if you ran into us on the street. Neither has Aletheia, Lee, Bystander, or the rest of your camp... Yet, all of you have done nothing but judge the motives, feelings of character of everyone who disagrees with you... often based on twisting things said if not by outright fabrications...so spare us the indignation... and speaking of which... have you made those plane reservations yet? You were talking about beating me the other day and I just want to make sure you have every opportunity to express yourself more fully in that regard. Maybe Danny will let you used the jet; then after you get scraped you wont have to endure the shame of having to fly commercial all busted up....

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 22 2007, 09:15 AM

while we don't know WWJD, we do know that he is a.... "dannyscribe"

Posted by: wwjd Feb 22 2007, 10:23 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 22 2007, 07:29 AM) ☐
>
> ..so spare us the indignation... and speaking of which... have you made those plane reservations yet? You were talking about beating me the other day and I just want to make sure you have every opportunity to express yourself more fully in that regard. Maybe Danny will let you used the jet; then after you get scraped you wont have to endure the shame of having to fly commercial all busted up....
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

I have no idea what you are talking about. The only "beating" I know about is this:
Proverbs 18: 6 A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes. Revised version says: A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
God knew us before we were formed in the womb. That being the case, I feel certain this scripture was written solely for you mr. j

---

Posted by: wwjd Feb 22 2007, 10:36 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 22 2007, 09:15 AM) ☐
>
> while we don't know WWJD, we do know that he is a.... "dannyscribe"

What would one call an accuser who had his accuse right in his area but didn't have the guts to make his accusations face to face........a scaredyscribe? ☒ than ☒ rofl

---

Posted by: Clay Feb 22 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 10:36 AM) ☐
>
> What would one call an accuser who had his accuse right in his area but didn't have the guts to make his accusations face to face........a scaredyscribe? ☒ than ☒ rofl sure whatever you say dannyscribe...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 22 2007, 10:40 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 09:36 AM)
>
> What would one call an accuser who had his accuse right in his area but didn't have the guts to make his accusations face to face........a scaredyscribe? than rofl

Or perhaps a wisescribe.

Posted by: Clay Feb 22 2007, 10:41 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 22 2007, 10:40 AM)
>
> Or perhaps a wisescribe.

thank you PB.... shows how much dannyscribe has NOT been paying attention....

Posted by: erik Feb 22 2007, 10:42 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 08:36 AM)
>
> What would one call an accuser who had his accuse right in his area but didn't have the guts to make his accusations face to face........a scaredyscribe? than rofl

WWJD,

Come on have you ever personally known someone how was sexually abused?

Is you have then you would realize how silly this post of yours is.

ERik

Posted by: Clay Feb 22 2007, 10:45 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Feb 22 2007, 10:42 AM)

> WWJD,
> Come on have you ever personally known someone how was sexually abused?
>
> Is you have then you would realize how silly this post of yours is.
> ERik

rik,
annyscribe (wwjd) is referring to the fact that I did not attend a 3abn rally in my area a few weeks go.... no biggie.... though it is interesting that behind the moniker of wwjd he accuses others of aving no guts..... where I am from that is called talking out of both sides of your mouth....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 22 2007, 10:49 AM

Perhaps a "scaredyscribe" is someone who knows the truth but is too afraid/proud/ignorant to call sin by its true name, too "scared" of the consequences one might face from the powers that be if the truth be revealed. In other words, perhaps a "scaredyscribe" is just a synonym for a dannyscribe.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 22 2007, 10:52 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 10:36 AM) ☐
>
> What would one call an accuser who had his accuse right in his area but didn't have the guts to make his accusations face to face........a scaredyscribe?

ou should know the answer to that. I haven't seen your name on a post yet.

Posted by: erik Feb 22 2007, 10:53 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 22 2007, 08:45 AM) ☐
>
> Erik,
> Dannyscribe (wwjd) is referring to the fact that I did not attend a 3abn rally in my area a few weeks ago.... no biggie.... though it is interesting that behind the moniker of wwjd he accuses others of having no guts..... where I am from that is called talking out of both sides of your mouth....

ell do not understand why all these supporters of dannys will put their names out, iam after all anny is the so perfect and awesome, so why they would not want the whole world to know there ame.

rik

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 22 2007, 10:58 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 11:23 AM) ☐
>
> I have no idea what you are talking about. The only "beating" I know about is this:
> Proverbs 18: 6 A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes. Revised version says: A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
> God knew us before we were formed in the womb. That being the case, I feel certain this scripture was written solely for you mr. j

And since you claim to be acting on God's behalf... as I said... that's I beating I'm just gonna have to take... so come with it... or stop letting your mouth write checks your hindparts cant cash... You want to call steve afraid... but I don't see you buying any plane or train or bus tickets to come back up that verse.

If you really thought the Lord was with you, you wouldn't be hiding like Saul from Goliath... You wanna talk smack? Fine... but You are the uncircumcised philistine here... and i am calling you out.

Put up or shut up.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 22 2007, 10:02 PM

Well alright!
☒ sn

Posted by: wwjd Feb 22 2007, 10:45 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 22 2007, 10:58 AM) ☐
>
> And since you claim to be acting on God's behalf... as I said... that's I beating I'm just gonna have to take... so come with it... or stop letting your mouth write checks your hindparts cant cash... You want to call steve afraid... but I don't see you buying any plane or train or bus tickets to come back up that verse.
>
> If you really thought the Lord was with you, you wouldn't be hiding like Saul from Goliath... You wanna talk smack? Fine... but You are the uncircumcised philistine here... and i am calling you out.
> Put up or shut up.
> In His service,Mr. J

You're calling me out? ☒ rofl You're calling me out? ☒ You have done went on over the edge mr. J You was hanging by a thread, but now you've done went on over. Man, don't take your anger out on the messenger. God's word said
: A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating. What are you going to do now, call God out? I give "the word" all the credit. In a million years, I could never have paired up anything as beautiful as you and this verse. Don't fight it, You were meant for each other.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 22 2007, 11:24 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> You're calling me out? rofl You're calling me out? You have done went on over the edge mr. J You was hanging by a thread, but now you've done went on over. Man, don't take your anger out on the messenger. God's word said
> : A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating. What are you going to do now, call God out? I give "the word" all the credit. In a million years, I could never have paired up anything as beautiful as you and this verse. Don't fight it, You were meant for each other.

I guess I'll just wait sn and see who shows up with the bruises. bo

Of course, if you were my children I'd stand you both nose to nose and make you give each other a hug.gif

---

Posted by: inga Feb 23 2007, 01:03 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 12:24 AM)
>
> Of course, if you were my children I'd stand you both nose to nose and make you give each other a hug.gif

Can that be done in cybrspace?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 06:47 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 11:45 PM)
>
> You're calling me out? rofl You're calling me out? You have done went on over the edge mr. J You was hanging by a thread, but now you've done went on over. Man, don't take your anger out on the messenger. God's word said
> : A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating. What are you going to do now, call God out? I give "the word" all the credit. In a million years, I could never have paired up anything as beautiful as you and this verse. Don't fight it, You were meant for each other.

There once was a time when I'd have said something extremely ugly about your mother here... but I'm gonna let that pitch go by without a swing...

It is clear you are only good for playing the braggart while anonymous...and that goes for your whole camp. Drop the anonymity and you scatter like roaches in the light... you need to go running back to the wizard of thompsonville and maybe he'll give you some courage... assuming he has any himself. Go back to helping Tommy rationalize his pedophilia and telling lies at Danny's behest...and generally being fawning and obsequious; stick to what you do best....

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: watchbird Feb 23 2007, 08:44 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 11:45 PM)
>
> You're calling me out? rofl You're calling me out? You have done went on over the edge mr. J You was hanging by a thread, but now you've done went on over. Man, don't take your anger out on the messenger. God's word said
> : A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating. What are you going to do now, call God out? I give "the word" all the credit. In a million years, I could never have paired up anything as beautiful as you and this verse. Don't fight it, You were meant for each other.

Nah... actually Mr J mispoke.... it wasn't him that "called you out".... He was only actin as God's voice and offerin himself as God's tool....

For you are correct.... ..... God's word said it..... you "called yourself out".... yup.... you are right... nothing so accurate could be dreamed up in a "million years" as these words from God's word.... Proverbs 18 to be exact... and you quoted from the amplified Bible, which consults the Septuagent as well as other original texts to substantiate their "amplification" of some texts..... so it is fully trustworthy for its insights into what the text means.....

(Read the whole chapter folks.... a better description of what is going on here with the dannyscribes simply couldn't be found... or constructed....)

Stand in front of the mirror and look yourself in the eye while someone reads this to you, Dannyscribe wwjd.... (what would jerks do).....

Let's just look at the immediate context of the verse you quoted for the moment.....

Proverbs 18:5-7

> To respect the person of the wicked and be partial to him, so as to deprive the [consistently] righteous of justice, is not good.
>
> A [self-confident] fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.

A [self-confident] fool's mouth is his ruin, and his lips are a snare to himself.

"his mouth invites a beating"..... .... Oh the irony of it.. Ain't it just "too precious".... "his [own] mouth invites a beating".

Drum roll and music rising in crescendo here.... "For the mouth of the Lo-ord hath spoken it...for the mouth of the Lo-ord hath spoken it".... And the glo-ory of the LORD shall be reveal-ed.... and all fle-esh shall see it toge-ether.... for the mouth of the LO-ORD hath spoken it......."

Oops... got a little carried away there.... carry on.....

TVsnack.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 09:05 AM

thank you for the correct dividing of the word.... dannyscribe (wwjd) in essence is asking for a beat down.... so not only do the apologists engage in doublespeak, and lying, and distraction by minutiae, they also WRONGLY divide the word..... figures as much.....

Posted by: calvin Feb 25 2007, 11:27 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 10:23 AM)
>
> I have no idea what you are talking about. The only "beating" I know about is this:
> Proverbs 18: 6 A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes. Revised version says: A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
> God knew us before we were formed in the womb. That being the case, I feel certain this scripture was written solely for you mr. j

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 22 2007, 10:58 AM)
>
> And since you claim to be acting on God's behalf... as I said... that's I beating I'm just gonna have to take... so come with it... or stop letting your mouth write checks your hindparts cant cash... You want to call steve afraid... but I don't see you buying any plane or train or bus tickets to come back up that verse.
>
> If you really thought the Lord was with you, you wouldn't be hiding like Saul from Goliath... You wanna talk smack? Fine... but You are the uncircumcised philistine here... and i am calling you out.

> Put up or shut up.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr J and wwjd, I don't know who started it but it stops now. We don't threaten fights or beatings. I can't think of anything more of an example of a personal attacks. Warning to both of you.

Posted by: Johann Feb 26 2007, 01:10 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 26 2007, 07:27 AM)
>
> Mr J and wwjd, I don't know who started it but it stops now. We don't threaten fights or beatings. I can't think of anything more of an example of a personal attacks. Warning to both of you.

Spare not the rod, friend or foe. All equal. An umpire is needed!

Posted by: Freedom Feb 26 2007, 08:18 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 22 2007, 11:23 AM)
>
> I have no idea what you are talking about. The only "beating" I know about is this:
> Proverbs 18: 6 A fool's lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes. Revised version says: A self-confident fool's lips bring contention, and his mouth invites a beating.
> God knew us before we were formed in the womb. That being the case, I feel certain this scripture was written solely for you mr. j

You need to start with Proverbs 18:1 - 3

People who don't get along with others are interested only in themselves; they go against all sound udgment.

A fool doesn't wish to understand what's being said' all he wants to do is to air his own opinion.

With wickedness comes contempt, and then come shame and dishonor.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 26 2007, 09:12 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 11:05 AM)

> thank you for the correct dividing of the word.... dannyscribe (wwjd) in essence is asking for a beat down.... so not only do the apologists engage in doublespeak, and lying, and distraction by minutiae, they also WRONGLY divide the word..... figures as much.....

3oomp/Mercilations/My LERD!

☒ sn

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 27 2007, 11:00 AM

Well, we know who Mr. J is, but we don't know who any of the Dannyscribes are. ...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 27 2007, 12:22 PM

Say that nah SE....

☒ sn

64

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Thompson Responds To Abrahamsen....

Posted by: Clay Jul 23 2006, 10:37 PM

(I happened to be perusing the threads on CA and Maritime and saw this letter in both places, but not here so I borrowed it...)

Below is a form letter Dr. Walther Thompson is sending out as a reaction to Dr. Arild Abrahamsen's document. You will find my comments in blue in between.

Dear 3abn friends,

I have maintained from the beginning that we have not seen Linda and the doctor in bed together. If that is the only legitimate designation of adultry, then we have no proof that adultery has been involved. Dr. Abrahamsen claims in his e mail that he has "never committed adultery, (emotional, physical, "spiritual"), and neither has Linda." If all of the things Dr. Abrahamsen talked about in his letter were true, than I would have to put some weight on this claim. Unfortunately, he has made many inaccurate statements and accusations about not only Danny, but Pastor Lomacang, Elder Denslow, Brenda Walsh, Kay Kuzma, myself and others. I know they are inaccurate because I was there to witness them. For this reason, I must question his other claims as well. I must ask you again, is it right for a woman to spend hours at a time secretely on the phone with another man - even if as claimed, they concerned her son? - when we have good evidence that her son was a peripheral matter, if at all.
[Johann Thorvaldsson] I was there too. . . see down below. . .

Is it right for a married woman to purchase a pregnancy test kit when she knows her husband is sterilized?

[Johann Thorvaldsson] This statement is ridiculous. Danny went into another woman's room, where he had no business, searching through a shopping bag where he found this pregnancy test. Looks like he needed so badly some evidence against Linda that he got a pregnancy test that he found in another woman's quarter, and then proclaimed to the whole world that now he had the proof!

Is it OK for one's wife to make plans to visit her doctor to spent time together seeing the sights of his homeland - a trip that was later made?

[Johann Thorvaldsson] When were these plans made and when did such a trip occur? Walt is really mixing up his chronology of events in this case, and this he has done frequently during this whole process

I have followed Linda's coming and going ever since 2003, and when did she make a trip together with Dr. Abrahamsen just to see the sights of his homeland? Be careful what statements you make, Walt! Irmgard tried to arrange a trip where Linda could see more of Norway, but Linda never went until Linda traveled to Bergen to attend Irmgard's funeral in August 2005. Such plans were never made while Danny and Linda were married.

Watch your chronology of events, Walt!

And what about other travel tickets that were purchased - even though the doctor claims no contacts were made?

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Are you referring to the tickets Mrs. Brenda Walsh bought? How can you blame Linda for Brenda making such travel plans? Watch your details, and chronology, Walt!

Is it proper for one's doctor to give his patient a nice wrist watch?

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Another ridiculous statement. In Scandinavia it is a custom to give one's hostess a gift. So Danny made the claim this was a sign of an engagement, claiming that this was a very expensive watch that Arild had given Linda. Now Walt merely calls it "nice"!

Arild and I received a catalog of things available on the aircraft. There was a rather cheap double-faced watch which interested Arild because it showed two time zones at the same time. So Arild bought it. Later we visited Linda and she gave us some tasty meals at Alyssa's place. So Arild gave Linda this watch as a token of our appreciation for her hospitality. I'm not sure Linda liked that watch very much. It really is not that "nice" and I have never seen her wearing it. But what methods doesn't a man use when he so desperately needs some proof that he has the right to divorce his wife?

Or to make a major loan of thousands of dollars?

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Another ridiculous statement. The gist of it is this: When Danny chased Linda out of their home, Linda bought a mobile home in Carbondale. I was there after she bought it. Elsewhere Walt has made reference to how nicely Danny treated Linda then, helping her improve the house, etc. If Danny had really wanted Linda back, why was he anxious she should move to Carbondale? And why did Danny lend Linda the money to buy this mobile home, if he really wanted to save their marriage? And what was Danny really doing in her house?

There were strong indications Danny made those installations merely to place hidden mikes at her place. Linda discovered evidence that these mikes were hidden around her. Danny wrote me e-mails where he bragged about how kind he was to Linda during this period, he even brought her flowers. . . This is what Danny told others as a play for the gallery. I had several talks with Linda during this period, and I sensed she was horrified at his brutality towards her. I called Walt and asked him if he would take the responsibility for Danny's actions, but he ridiculed me. This showed again that neither Walt nor any others of the counselors would listen to any signals Linda tried to give them. They were all in Danny's pocket.

Linda felt Carbondale was too close for comfort because she was constantly harassed by Danny there. And Alyssa was moving out of the apartment for students as she finished college. So Linda found a comfortable house in Springfield. Her main problem was that Walt and Danny had fired her, and without employment it was impossible for her to get a loan. Neither did she have any health insurance after she was fired, but Walt did not care as long as Danny got his will and a divorce.

Don't forget that Linda did not move to Springfield until September, and Danny succeeded in getting his divorce in June, and Brandy moved to Thompsonville shortly after that. Here an educated Christian steeps so low as to state that because a friend helps her got a loan to buy a home three months after her divorce, then she is unfaithful to her husband!!! And that this justifies the evil actions of that Board!!!

I thought timing was important in surgery, but I dare not risk my life having surgery done by a physician with no sense of chronology!!!

If these things are acceptable behavior for a wife, then perhaps our board has acted improperly. If, on the other hand you would not want your spouse doing these things, then I submit that Danny has grounds for doing what he has done.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Only a psychopath could convince the board that Linda's behavior was unacceptable.

The Dr. calls Danny a psychopath. It might be understandable if a non professional person made this kind of a statement, but if Danny is anything, he definitely is not a psychopath.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Walt's words could be stated by a person who is under the spell of a psychopath - and this, according to the experts - is a typical case.

The Dr. says that Linda never met with the small committee of the board. This is a blatantly false statement. He also said pastor Lomocang did not meet with Linda "during April and May" - possibly a correct statement because Linda had already written the pastor off. He had met with both he and Linda singly and together before that). We all met with her, but I will add this. A number of other meetings were sought, but were refused, postponed or canceled by Linda.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] At least you agree that this is true for the months of April and May. When else should the counseling have taken place?

I have a video tape of the live program in Green Bay where Linda told about her "new found friend." I don't think I ever referred to this as mind control.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] I'd like to see your copy of that video tape. Again, I think your chronology is rather faulty. Was this really a live program? I watched that program from Green Bay too, and I watched the hatred in Danny's eyes, and I heard the false statements he made in his so-called sermon!

The words you quote were not, as far as I recall, made in Green Bay. You must be referring to a cooking program where Linda appeared and used similar expressions, but where she never said what Danny and 3ABN now claims she said. That is pure manipulation of facts, and not very Christ-like to produce such things as a base for having Linda condemned by your Board.

Yes, we were anxious to help Linda.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] why didn't you, then? Why did you only listen to Danny and not to Linda? I spoke to you at that time, and I saw no signs in your expressions then that you were willing to listen to Linda!

The letter that I sent to her by registered mail when she was no longer responding to phone calls or e mails requested her to spend a month with some counselor acceptable by both her and us. She did not respond to that letter.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Why? Because Linda had not experienced that any of you were willing to listen to her side of the story. You were just deaf ears, because you knew that Danny would dislike it if you listened to her. This is why you all labeled her a liar.

I also saw the conditions you proposed to Linda at that time. You merely gave her the opportunity to accept the counselor you had prepared for her. The whole program smelled like brainwashing sessions. All that Danny wanted - and I have letters from him that show his sentiments - was for someone to manipulate Linda so that she would admit she had committed adultery, because Danny wanted, as he stated to me, Biblical grounds to marry another woman, something he now has done.

The doctor has labeled statements such as these as slander and ungodly. I don't think it is slander to speak truth, and we have not done anything with the intent to hurt Linda in any way. When people have come to us with questions we have tried to respond intelligently and factually.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] Calling falsehood truth is nothing but slander. If you did not intend to hurt Linda, why did you? Is that being honest?

This letter does not speak to many of Dr. Abrahamsen's statements, but I hope I have touched on enough to demonstrate that 3abn has earnestly and honestly tried to do things right in this difficult situation. I, for one have made every effort to follow the leading of the Spirit of God in the things I have been responsible for. I believe God's continued blessing on this ministry confirms our decisions, as difficult as they have been. For my part, I know Linda is hurting.

[Johann Thorvaldsson] And whose responsibility is that?

It is not because she was not forewarned - by a number of people who cared for her.
[Johann Thorvaldsson] How can you claim such evil actions are based on care?

We still care about Linda and those who have sided with her in this time. All remain in my prayers.

May God give you wisdom and understanding as you come to your own conclusions about this challenge to 3ABN.

Sincerely in Jesus' precious name,

Walter Thompson MD
[Johann Thorvaldsson]I'd hesitate stamping your evil actions with the name of my Savior. The angels must be weeping because of what you have done to Linda.

========

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 23 2006, 10:54 PM

Now I could have broke it down...but thank you - it was already done for me.

Poor Dr. Thompson - when it finally hits him; it's gonna hurt....bad.
sucks teeth

Posted by: 4reneyonly Jul 23 2006, 11:25 PM

Hurt? Maybe, but what if that hurt comes from the revelation that he was an active participant in the plan to rid 3ABN/Danny of Linda and the coverup of the same? That would be some kind of hurt/

Other than that, it is evident that the 3ABN machine is reving up to shut down the latest attempt to clarify this sordid biblical tale. Fasten your seatbelts, it's gonna be a bumpy ride

---

Posted by: beartrap Jul 23 2006, 11:52 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 23 2006, 11:54 PM)
>
> Now I could have broke it down...but thank you - it was already done for me.
>
> Poor Dr. Thompson - when it finally hits him; it's gonna hurt....bad.
> sucks teeth

If indeed he is hurt, it will still be nothing compared to the hurt that he has helped impose on others.

Posted by: Jvat Jul 24 2006, 09:00 AM

This is just so sad and it looks like it will get much worse before it gets better. Lord help us!

Posted by: rwelchcrs Jul 24 2006, 09:27 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Jul 24 2006, 09:00 AM) ☐
>
> This is just so sad and it looks like it will get much worse before it gets better. Lord help us!

It seems that Thompson and others have decided they've burned the bridges behind them. Like a Kamikazee pilot, once committed they will go all the way.

Posted by: calvin Jul 24 2006, 11:43 AM

The fact that 3abn felt a need to respond to Dr. A's letter is proof the letter is circulating and folks are asking questions, and not just us BSDAers seeking answers because 3abn can brush us off, but their core constituents who impact their continue viability as a going concern. 3abn is hoping that with each broadcast response to these allegations that that will settle it, but it won't. It continues to raise more questions.

Posted by: Jvat Jul 24 2006, 11:55 AM

Calvin, I am glad that you are optimistic about these developments. Because what I actually see happening, correct me, if I am wrong, is that 3ABN broadcasts a response, then gets quiet again, then their boat is rocked again and they broadcast another response and so it goes. I do not see their responses actually raising questions for the other side. But I am very much opened to correction here.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 24 2006, 02:53 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 23 2006, 10:37 PM) ☐
>
> Is it right for a married woman to purchase a pregnancy test kit when she knows her husband is sterilized?
>
> Sincerely in Jesus' precious name,
>
> Walter Thompson MD
>
> ========

http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/entrez/query.fcgi?cmd=Retrieve&db=PubMed&list_uids=15121555&dopt=Abstract

Division of Reproductive Health,
National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention,

Atlanta, Georgia 30341, USA. djj0@cdc.gov

"OBJECTIVE: To describe the pregnancy rates among women whose husbands underwent vasectomy. METHODS: Between 1985 and 1987, 573 women aged 18-44 years whose husbands underwent vasectomy in medical centers in 5 U.S. cities were enrolled in the U.S. Collaborative Review of Sterilization, a prospective cohort study of male and female sterilization. Women were interviewed by telephone at 1, 2, 3, and 5 years after their husbands underwent vasectomy. RESULTS: Among the 540 eligible women at risk for pregnancy, there were 6 pregnancies occurring from 6 to 72 weeks after vasectomy. The cumulative probability of failure per 1,000 procedures (95% confidence interval) was 7.4 (0.2, 14.6) 1 year after vasectomy and 11.3 (2.3, 20.3) at years 2, 3, and 5 [corrected]. CONCLUSION: Couples considering vasectomy should be counseled about the small, but real, risk of pregnancy following the procedure and that men are not sterile immediately after vasectomy. "

So, the answer to Dr. Thompson's question about rightness to purchase, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, is (drum roll please): YES, IT'S RIGHT

Also from a Medical Web site:

http://www.umm.edu/patiented/articles/when_chances_an_unexpected_pregnancy_after_a_vasectomy_000037_7.htm

"WHEN ARE THE CHANCES FOR AN UNEXPECTED PREGNANCY AFTER A VASECTOMY?

Reasons for Unexpected Pregnancies

Pregnancy rates after a vasectomy are estimated to be very low, about 1 in 2,000. There are two primary reasons for an unexpected pregnancy:

* Residual sperm were still alive when the partners had unprotected sex. This is the most common reason for an unexpected pregnancy after a vasectomy.
* Failure of the Procedure. In some cases it is due to a technical error, but most often it is due to recanalization -- when the cut ends of the vas spontaneously reconnect.

Men should have a follow-up examination a year after the procedure to be sure that there are no residual or new sperm. Although physicians urge men to return for such follow-up testing, in one study only 3% did so."

Posted by: vonessa Jul 24 2006, 04:07 PM

Have mercy.

Danny has a vasectomy and that he went and saw that Linda or some woman had a pregnancy kit. So Linda shouldn't check because Danny's thing does not work.

Why does the Dr. Thompson, bless his heart, think I need to know that?

The good Dr. would probably serve 3ABN better by renting his head out as a balloon and giving them the money.

Posted by: missthg Jul 24 2006, 04:25 PM

can you say a hot mess on toasy served up with some eggs and hashbrowns!

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Jul 24 2006, 02:07 PM)
>
> Have mercy.
>
> Danny has a vasectomy and that he went and saw that Linda or some woman had a pregnancy kit. So Linda shouldn't check because Danny's thing does not work.
>
> Why does the Dr. Thompson, bless his heart, think I need to know that?
>
> The good Dr. would probably serve 3ABN better by renting his head out as a balloon and giving them the money.

Posted by: Clay Jul 24 2006, 04:57 PM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Jul 24 2006, 04:25 PM)
>
> can you say a hot mess on toasy served up with some eggs and hashbrowns!

hot mess on toast with eggs and hashbrowns......

(for those who don't know that is liver on that toast)

Posted by: beartrap Jul 24 2006, 05:08 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Jul 24 2006, 05:07 PM)
>
> Have mercy.
>
> Danny has a vasectomy and that he went and saw that Linda or some woman had a pregnancy kit. So Linda shouldn't check because Danny's thing does not work.
>
> Why does the Dr. Thompson, bless his heart, think I need to know that?
>
> The good Dr. would probably serve 3ABN better by renting his head out as a balloon and giving them the money.

Eewwww! This is getting disgusting!

Also, that liver on toast thing that you posted, Clay... stomach is turning.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 24 2006, 10:09 PM

> QUOTE(missthg @ Jul 24 2006, 06:25 PM)
>
> can you say a hot mess on toasy served up with some eggs and hashbrowns!

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 24 2006, 06:57 PM)
>
> hot mess on toast with eggs and hashbrowns......

(for those who don't know that is liver on that toast)

Actually to me the liver on toast looks good.... I know I'm a mess too!

This jes keeps gettin' thicka and thicka....

sn

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jul 24 2006, 10:27 PM

> QUOTE
>
> This jes keeps gettin' thicka and thicka...

Guess they added too much flour to da gravy!!

rofl

Posted by: beartrap Jul 24 2006, 11:04 PM

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Jul 24 2006, 11:27 PM) ☐
>
> Guess they added too much flour to da gravy!!
>
> ☒ rofl ☒

Aaaaackkkk!!!! You two are completely gone! Stop!!! ☒ ☒ rofl (Doodoo! There are no smilies for laughing and gagging at the same time.)

Posted by: Johann Jul 24 2006, 11:50 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Jul 25 2006, 01:08 AM) ☐
>
> ☐ Eewwww! This is getting disgusting!
>
> Also, that liver on toast thing that you posted, Clay... stomach is turning.

Perhaps some of you sense what agonies we have suffered during the past 2½ years. Just picture us, Dr. Arild Abrahamsen, Beartrap, and I, entering the 3ABN auditorium on Thurday evening, May 28, 2004. Soon Danny Shelton announces to the audience that demons have joined the assembly, but measures are taken to have them removed. Some in the audience shout AMEN!

While something else is going on up front, Danny comes down to us, his own face appearing like a demon. It unsettled him when I greeted him with,

- Hi Danny, where is Linda?

- I don't know, but you must know, was his surprised reply. Then Danny left.

After the meeting Danny came driving towards where I was standing outside the church building. Seems like Arild was then talking to John Lomacang and/or Mark Finlay, and Beartrap was elsewhere. Danny announced that now he had notified the sherriff that we were to be removed from the premises unless we left on our own.

Then I asked Danny what proof he had against Linda. He immediately replied,

- The pregnancy test!

From this you can see that the surgeon Walt Thompson still throws his medical knowledge over board to honor Danny Shelton's claims to be the wise, all-knowing man who can prove everything. This is the attitude we have had to encounter all the time in dealing with this issue.

How would an independent investigation consider this?

Posted by: Freedom Jul 25 2006, 05:29 AM

Wow!
All these posts regarding 3ABN and gag orders on Linda and other 3ABN workers sure would make a GREAT DR. PHIL Show.

I can just hear him say, "GET REAL"!

rofl

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 23 2006, 09:37 PM)
>
> (I happened to be perusing the threads on CA and Maritime and saw this letter in both places, but not here so I borrowed it...)
> Below is a form letter Dr. Walther Thompson is sending out as a reaction to Dr. Arild Abrahamsen's document. You will find my comments in blue in between.
>
> Dear 3abn friends,
>
> I have maintained from the beginning that we have not seen Linda and the doctor in bed together. If that is the only legitimate designation of adultry, then we have no proof that adultery has been involved. Dr. Abrahamsen claims in his e mail that he has "never committed adultery, (emotional, physical, "spiritual"), and neither has Linda." If all of the things Dr. Abrahamsen talked about in his letter were true, than I would have to put some weight on this claim. Unfortunately, he has made many inaccurate statements and accusations about not only Danny, but Pastor Lomacang, Elder Denslow, Brenda Walsh, Kay Kuzma, myself and others. I know they are inaccurate because I was there to witness them. For this reason, I must question his other claims as well. I must ask you again, is it right for a woman to spend hours at a time secretely on the phone with another man - even if as claimed, they concerned her son? - when we have good evidence that her son was a peripheral matter, if at all.
> [Johann Thorvaldsson] I was there too. . . see down below. . .
>
> Is it right for a married woman to purchase a pregnancy test kit when she knows her husband is sterilized?
>
> [Johann Thorvaldsson] This statement is ridiculous. Danny went into another woman's room, where he had no business, searching through a shopping bag where he found this pregnancy test. Looks like he needed so badly some evidence against Linda that he got a pregnancy test that he found in another woman's quarter, and then proclaimed to the whole world that now he had the proof!
> Is it OK for one's wife to make plans to visit her doctor to spent time together seeing the sights of his homeland - a trip that was later made?
>
> [Johann Thorvaldsson] When were these plans made and when did such a trip occur? Walt is really mixing up his chronology of events in this case, and this he has done frequently during this whole process.....snip

---

Posted by: Jvat Jul 25 2006, 07:00 AM

I do not really wish to join the fray but just a niggling question in my mind. Why should a man officialy with only one child choose to become sterilised??? Truly, there are more questions than answers.

Posted by: Clay Jul 25 2006, 07:05 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Jul 25 2006, 08:00 AM)
>
> I do not really wish to join the fray but just a niggling question in my mind. Why should a man officialy with only one child choose to become sterilised??? Truly, there are more questions than answers.

lol.... well some men have the operation so they can ummmm play around and never worry about paternity problems.....

Posted by: Chez Jul 25 2006, 08:29 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Jul 25 2006, 07:00 AM)
>
> I do not really wish to join the fray but just a niggling question in my mind. Why should a man officialy with only one child choose to become sterilised??? Truly, there are more questions than answers.

This is exactly what I want to know. An acquaintance of mine recently revealed that her husband had a vasectomy without her approval (she alleged that he forged her name). Her reasoning was that he wanted to sleep around, thus experience sexual "freedom". What was Danny's reasoning for such a procedure?

Posted by: Freedom Jul 25 2006, 09:29 AM

RE: Dr. Walter Thompson releasing medical information to the public!

Hey, Dr. Thompson are you aware of the HIPPA laws that you have broken by posting Danny's meidcal information?

HIPPA laws are very very strict and carry huge fines, possible jail time and even possible loss of license/censure, etc.

Umm, I wonder ... as any reported him to the medical board, HIPPA, etc?
I would not want to be one of his patients if he so blatany releases and publishes medical information!

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Jul 24 2006, 02:07 PM)

> Have mercy.
>
> Danny has a vasectomy and that he went and saw that Linda or some woman had a pregnancy kit. So Linda shouldn't check because Danny's thing does not work.
>
> Why does the Dr. Thompson, bless his heart, think I need to know that?
>
> The good Dr. would probably serve 3ABN better by renting his head out as a balloon and giving them the money.

Posted by: Spike Jul 25 2006, 09:32 AM

I have been doing a lot of reading on the 3abn topics and the treatment of Linda and others and it is so sad and so wrong.

What I would like to know is where are the people that Linda has gotten to know over 20 yrs of ministry? I'm sure she has some who have stood by her and of course they are not at 3abn any more. But where are the others and have any of them tried to contact Linda. They can get in contact with her through her web site. So do they know the truth or are they sticking their heads in the sand but still spouting that the message needs to get out while they walk on past their sister in Christ as she bleeds by the side of the road.

Walt Thompson has a web site on end time events and all the different ministies are all busy running around doing Gods work or so they think, but you can go about doing all kinds of meetings and hold as many church offices as you can but when christ comes and says "what have you done unto the least of these" what will their answer be. It's "by beholding that we become changed" and if they were beholding Christ then Linda and the others that Danny, Walt, Kay, Brenda, John and many others have spit on and kicked as they walk on by would not still be bleeding and hurt. You cannot call yourself christian and act the way they have. They care more about whats in it for them then about whats right or really finding out what the truth is. But it all comes down to who's producing those vidios and publishing that book or cd.

I was told that when Danny was at Andrews a while back that when he introduced Brandy as his new wife he tuned to her and said " isn't she cute". What they didn't show on camera was a bunch of the old people getting up and walking out. (I don't remember when this was but my sister saw it on tv and was turned off by it)

We each have a part to play in helping the truth get out and I thank blacksda for letting the truth come out here. I've run out of ink copying stuff but people that I have spoken with want to know the truth and they believe it as they read it.
Thank you
Spike

Posted by: watchbird Jul 25 2006, 08:14 PM

In the letter from Walt Thompson posted by Clay, Walt Thompson merely mentions the now infamous "pregnancy test" by asking the question:

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 23 2006, 10:37 PM)

> [Walt Thompson] Is it right for a married woman to purchase a pregnancy test kit when she knows her husband is sterilized?

In another letter dated June 13, 2006 which Walt sent out to a variety of persons this June, he waxed much more eloquent in his description of the event. Here is that paragraph:

> QUOTE
>
> And as you might expect, Danny was by this time checking things out pretty carefully. One night she came home all cheery. While she and Danny were getting ready for bed, she left to do something else (I have forgotten what). While out, Danny found a sack of things in the closet. Upon opening it, he found a pregnancy test kit. (He is "fixed" so he cannot have more children.) When she found out that he had discovered it, she was at first angry because he had "snooped" in her things, and then told him she had just purchased it to see his reaction.

Actually, the bare facts of Walt's story are very close to what I heard from Linda's own lips, as I mentioned in the other thread, sometime in the winter of 2004-2005 time period, though the motive behind it and the use to which it was put are as different as day and night.

And what started out to be a practical joke was forged into an instrument of torture.

But before I tell the story, I'd like to make one other comment.

It is an accepted maxim in serious "goal setting" circles to point out that within a persons strong points lies the potention for their "weakest" points. While I don't know Linda personally, face to face, yet in the phone contacts I have had two things came through very strongly, and others who know her better have confirmed that these indeed are her very strong traits--even too strong at times. One of these is her ability to see good in everything and everyone--which is what sometimes causes her to not take a realistic look at people around her, or even of the danger she is in. And another is her exhuberant sense of humor--that can break out at the most unlikely times, again, even in the face of things at which it was really not wise to laugh.

With that in mind, let's turn to the story:

As Walt noted above, Danny had gotten into the habit of going through everything Linda had purchased whenever she came home from shopping -- as though he were looking for something, but doing so surreptitiously so as to partially conceal that he was doing so.

On this day when Linda and Alyssa were out shopping, Linda suddenly saw a display of pregnancy tests, was instantly struck with this really bright hillarious idea--and said to Alyssa, "Danny keeps 'looking for something'. Let's give him something to find!" So laughing like a couple teens, they bought one of the pregnancy tests and left it in the bottom of a shopping bag when they "put away" the things they had bought. They then pretended to go away, but watched like a couple kids with a big secret while Danny rooted around in their shopping stuff.

Now I must admit, my memory is a bit fuzzy here. I am not sure whether Alyssa was actually there when Danny found the pregnancy test and waved it in Linda's face or if Linda was alone and laughing at Danny for making such a big deal of a pregnancy test (when he knew beyond a shadow of a doubt that she didn't need any such thing at the time). and it was later when she told Alyssa about it that they laughed over it together. What I do recall distinctly is that even then, some six to eight months after things had come crashing down on her head, she still saw humor in the whole experience, and still burst out laughing as she described Dan's reaction.

Obviously at that time she did not realize the extent to which Danny would go in order to get rid of her, and she also didn't realize that the very worst thing one can do to a man is to laugh at him.

For Danny, as both Walt and Johann noted, from then on claimed that he had "proof". And Linda described how he would say to others, "and I have the receipt to prove it" -- which she still thought was hilarious, and she repeated it several times -- "an unused pregnancy test -- and the receipt which showed she bought it. This was his "proof".

As Johann just told us:

> QUOTE
>
> After the meeting Danny came driving towards where I was standing outside the church building. Seems like Arild was then talking to John Lomacang and/or Mark Finlay, and Beartrap was elsewhere. Danny announced that now he had notified the sherriff that we were to be removed from the premises unless we left on our own.
>
> Then I asked Danny what proof he had against Linda. He immediately replied,
>
> - The pregnancy test!

So ends the tale of the mysterious, unused, never intended to be used, infamous "pregnancy test".

But not the after effects.

Posted by: calvin Jul 25 2006, 09:00 PM

So you say Linda brought it, others say Danny planted it....and then Danny says he has his prove. Tell me why I should not remain skeptic?

Posted by: watchbird Jul 25 2006, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 25 2006, 09:00 PM)
>
> So you say Linda brought it, others say Danny planted it....and then Danny says he has his prove. Tell me why I should not remain skeptic?

Because you are intelligent enough to see how the stories all fit together--with the exception of Fran's speculation that perhaps Danny planted it--which I've never heard anyone else make, and since she has just admitted that she didn't know about that you can cross that one off.

The only real difference in the stories is the motives attributed to Linda. Linda says that she bought it as a "joke", to in some way "get back at" Danny for being so suspicious. Obviously her "joke" backfired on her. For Danny not only didn't catch on that she was trying to show how ridiculous his suspicions were, he used the "unused pregnancy test" as his "proof" that she had reason to suspect that she was pregnant...something that both he and she knew was not true...

So ....

And maybe I should have asked before I went into all that.....

Tell me why this episode should cause you to be a skeptic?

Posted by: Johann Jul 26 2006, 01:03 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 26 2006, 05:20 AM)
>
> Because you are intelligent enough to see how the stories all fit together--with the exception of Fran's speculation that perhaps Danny planted it--which I've never heard anyone else make, and since she has just admitted that she didn't know about that you can cross that one off.
>
> The only real difference in the stories is the motives attributed to Linda. Linda says that she bought it as a "joke", to in some way "get back at" Danny for being so suspicious. Obviously her "joke" backfired on her. For Danny not only didn't catch on that she was trying to show how ridiculous his suspicions were, he used the "unused pregnancy test" as his "proof" that she had reason to suspect that she was pregnant...something that both he and she knew was not true...
>
> So ....
>
> And maybe I should have asked before I went into all that.....
>
> Tell me why this episode should cause you to be a skeptic?

Well, as far as I recall I knew about this pregnancy test even before before Danny discovered it. Linda and Alyssa were talking about how they could catch Danny in all of his snooping around searching everywhere for his "proofs" of what wasn't there. They were joking and laughing at his strange behavior. This is when they discovered the pregnancy tests, and they laughed about it, and even sent the waves of their laughing to us, her best friends in Scandinavia.

According to Linda, Danny would usually start checking things already in the car, but even though they left the bag in the car for a while this time, Danny wasn't there to snoop. So they carried the bag into Alyssa's room. And this is where Danny took the bag. This is why I said he'd gone into another woman's room to get his "proof", because that is what happened. And you can be certain Alyssa will verify all of this, if needed.

Posted by: Clay Jul 26 2006, 08:57 AM control issues someone has.... I wonder if he is like some men who would sniff their wives as soon as they enter the house to see if there are any "strange scents?"

Posted by: Uncle Sam Jul 26 2006, 09:13 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 26 2006, 12:03 AM)

> Well, as far as I recall I knew about this pregnancy test even before before Danny discovered it. Linda and Alyssa were talking about how they could catch Danny in all of his snooping around searching everywhere for his "proofs" of what wasn't there. They were joking and laughing at his strange behavior. This is when they discovered the pregnancy tests, and they laughed about it, and even sent the waves of their laughing to us, her best friends in Scandinavia.
>
> According to Linda, Danny would usually start checking things already in the car, but even though they left the bag in the car for a while this time, Danny wasn't there to snoop. So they carried the bag into Alyssa's room. And this is where Danny took the bag. This is why I said he'd gone into another woman's room to get his "proof", because that is what happened. And you can be certain Alyssa will verify all of this, if needed.

Did Linda know Danny suspected her of having an affair at this point? If so, wasn't this a poor choice for a practical joke?

Posted by: Clay Jul 26 2006, 09:34 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jul 26 2006, 10:13 AM)
>
> Did Linda know Danny suspected her of having an affair at this point? If so, wasn't this a poor choice for a practical joke?

now you know sometimes we think some things are funny, not thinking that the person on the other end is not gonna be amused....

Posted by: watchbird Jul 26 2006, 10:25 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jul 26 2006, 09:13 AM)
>
> Did Linda know Danny suspected her of having an affair at this point? If so, wasn't this a poor choice for a practical joke?

At this time Linda knew that Danny was accusing her of "having an affair". She also knew that she wasn't having one, and was searching for ways to communicate that to him. She didn't have any even the ghost of an idea that Danny himself was guilty of what he was accusing her of, and she was completely baffled as to the reason for the increasing hostility with which he was treating her. And she was still, at least to some extent, buying into the "it must be my fault" philosophy which all abused persons hold--and even more so when they have been fed a steady diet of the extreme Pentecostal version of "it's the wifely duty to submit no matter what the issue".

So yes. It was a very poor idea to try and meet this with a practical joke. But Linda, with her "strong points" of seeing only the best in everyone and all situations (which had stood her in good stead throughout her lifetime so far) and her innate "sense of humor" (which had also been one of the ways she had successfully met the vicissitudes of life) was not thinking objectively as to the possible outcomes of her little "joke."

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 26 2006, 09:34 AM) ☐
>
> now you know sometimes we think some things are funny, not thinking that the person on the other end is not gonna be amused....

I suspect that a "sense of humor" is something that one either has or doesn't have. To the person who has one, it is a release from tension (hence the old saying "we laugh so we don't have to cry), or a way to put things in perspective (getting someone to see the humor in a situation often helps them see things in a larger context). But to the person who doesn't have one, humor has quite the opposite effects, and they tend to be more insulted than amused. And since they perceive the joke to be a "kick in the shins" rather than an attempt to lighten the situation, it tends to focus their attention even more on their own self and their perceived "kicked shins". And particularly when that person is himself guilty of what he is accusing others -- he is definitely "not gonna be amused".

Posted by: Johann Jul 26 2006, 03:07 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jul 26 2006, 05:13 PM) ☐
>
> Did Linda know Danny suspected her of having an affair at this point? If so, wasn't this a poor choice for a practical joke?

A poor choice or not? It is a fairly well known fact that the greatest fools in the world have a hayday exposing their wisdom after the thing has happened. Even worse fools are they who never comprehend that somone else could do things any different than how they would do things when they know the end results from the beginning. Can anyone decipher what I am trying to say?

Posted by: Spike Jul 26 2006, 04:46 PM

Did Danny really think Linda was having an affair (I don't think so) or was he looking for anything he could find that he could take to people and say look what I found. So when Linda bought the pg test she kind of handed Danny exactly what he was looking for and it just added fuel to the lies he had already been telling.

He must had been tickled pink when he found it.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 26 2006, 06:23 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 26 2006, 04:07 PM) ☐
>
> A poor choice or not? It is a fairly well known fact that the greatest fools in the world have a hayday exposing their wisdom after the thing has happened. Even worse fools are they who never comprehend that somone else could do things any different than how they would do things when they know the end results from the beginning. Can anyone decipher what I am trying to say?

You are saying that human beings have 20/20 hindsight.

Posted by: summertime Jul 28 2006, 08:03 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 26 2006, 11:25 AM)
>
> At this time Linda knew that Danny was accusing her of "having an affair". She also knew that she wasn't having one, and was searching for ways to communicate that to him. She didn't have any even the ghost of an idea that Danny himself was guilty of what he was accusing her of, and she was completely baffled as to the reason for the increasing hostility with which he was treating her. And she was still, at least to some extent, buying into the "it must be my fault" philosophy which all abused persons hold--and even more so when they have been fed a steady diet of the extreme Pentecostal version of "it's the wifely duty to submit no matter what the issue".
>
> So yes. It was a very poor idea to try and meet this with a practical joke. But Linda, with her "strong points" of seeing only the best in everyone and all situations (which had stood her in good stead throughout her lifetime so far) and her innate "sense of humor" (which had also been one of the ways she had successfully met the vicissitudes of life) was not thinking objectively as to the possible outcomes of her little "joke."
>
> I suspect that a "sense of humor" is something that one either has or doesn't have. To the person who has one, it is a release from tension (hence the old saying "we laugh so we don't have to cry), or a way to put things in perspective (getting someone to see the humor in a situation often helps them see things in a larger context). But to the person who doesn't have one, humor has quite the opposite effects, and they tend to be more insulted than amused. And since they perceive the joke to be a "kick in the shins" rather than an attempt to lighten the situation, it tends to focus their attention even more on their own self and their perceived "kicked shins". And particularly when that person is himself guilty of what he is accusing others -- he is definitely "not gonna be amused".

I had been watching 3ABN for a long time. Danny was the one who was always coming up with foolish statements and tellling about his own sense of humor. He loved to turn real statements into jokes. I remember him telling the 3ABN veiwers that he and Linda had flown on a commercial flight. (This was in the days before the private jets). I guess that Linda had become tired and went to sleep during the flight and had laid her head on his shoulder to sleep. He told it as a joke. He said that he called the flight attendent over and asked her if she would get this strange lady off of his shoulder. He thought that it was funny. At the time it was told Linda just smiled. I thought that it was strange for him to tell about it to millions of people. But that was Danny's way of using Linda for a pratical joke. I assumed that was their waya of relieving boredom on a long flight but it was really only funny to him. Could it have been that Linda had that pregnancy test for a joke between them to awaken his sense of humor which by that time had begun to fade.? Apparently they did tease and play jokes on one anaother during the 'good years'. Could this have been her way of holding his attention which also had begun to fade? He joked with her all the time on camera--even to the point of accusing her that he could get fleas from her dogs. Danny always thought that he was funny--even at times when it was inappropriate. He was fond of saying that he did not like dogs and Linda did not like his horses---big difference. Just a thought from the past

---

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 08:39 AM

Linda buying a pregnancy test kit knowing that her husband was sterile and suspicious of her having an affair was STUPID. It was a bad ideal. If it was me I would have not found it funny but only add fuel to my suspicious. I would think that if you are innocent of the accused affair that you would not do anything to add to your spouse's suspicious.

I hope that for those of you who are close to this story, are not so naïve to think that for others reading this that don't know Danny or Linda, that they could come to a conclusion that there is more to this than a practical joke played by Linda.

Posted by: summertime Jul 28 2006, 08:41 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 28 2006, 09:03 AM) ☐
>
> I had been watching 3ABN for a long time. Danny was the one who was always coming up with foolish statements and tellling about his own sense of humor. He loved to turn real statements into jokes. I remember him telling the 3ABN veiwers that he and Linda had flown on a commercial flight. (This was in the days before the private jets). I guess that Linda had become tired and went to sleep during the flight and had laid her head on his shoulder to sleep. He told it as a joke. He said that he called the flight attendent over and asked her if she would get this strange lady off of his shoulder. He thought that it was funny. At the time it was told Linda just smiled. I thought that it was strange for him to tell about it to millions of people. But that was Danny's way of using Linda for a pratical joke. I assumed that was their waya of relieving boredom on a long flight but it was really only funny to him. Could it have been that Linda had that pregnancy test for a joke between them to awaken his sense of humor which by that time had begun to fade.? Apparently they did tease and play jokes on one anaother during the 'good years'. Could this have been her way of holding his attention which also had begun to fade? He joked with her all the time on camera--even to the point of accusing her that he could get fleas from her dogs. Danny always thought that he was funny--even at times when it was inappropriate. He was fond of saying that he did not like dogs and Linda did not like his horses---big difference. Just a thought from the past

And could it have been, that since Danny and Linda were still living together, that Linda had thought that maybe she was pregnant? Vasectomies do fail---I know of an instance where the surgery of that type did reverse itself---Many men have asked for dna tests when their wives had children after he thought that he had taken care of that possibility. At any rate, this is just about the most stupid thing that Dr. Thompson could have told millions of people---not only stupid but a personal thing that should not have been said--I doubt that the whole world wants to know about Danny's virility. I know that I don't. About the young folks around here, they laugh at this story being told about a man who is the 'face of Adventism.'. Personal information? Not with Dr. Thompson.

Posted by: calvin Jul 28 2006, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 28 2006, 09:41 AM) ☐
>
> And could it have been, that since Danny and Linda were still living together, that Linda had thought that maybe she was pregnant? Vasectomies do fail---I know of an instance where the surgery of that type did reverse itself---Many men have asked for dna tests when their wives had children after he thought that he had taken care of that possibility. At any rate, this is just about the most stupid thing that Dr. Thompson could have told millions of people---not only stupid but a personal thing that should not have been said--I doubt that the whole world wants to know about Danny's virility. I know that I don't. About the young folks around here, they laugh at this story being told about a man who is the 'face of Adventism.'. Personal information? Not with Dr.

> Thompson.

Did not Johann and Watchbird say it was a pratical joke? Now you want to assume that Linda maybe thought she was pregnant or as other assumed that Danny must have planted the preganacy kit. What is this, Linda completely inocent, she can do no wrong?

Posted by: Clay Jul 28 2006, 08:57 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 09:39 AM) ☐
>
> Linda buying a pregnancy test kit knowing that her husband was sterile and suspicious of her having an affair was STUPID. It was a bad ideal. If it was me I would have not found it funny but only add fuel to my suspicious. I would think that if you are innocent of the accused affair that you would not do anything to add to your spouse's suspicious.
>
> I hope that for those of you who are close to this story, are not so naïve to think that for others reading this that don't know Danny or Linda, that they could come to a conclusion that there is more to this than a practical joke played by Linda.

People do stupid things all the time, so this does not surprise me.... as for your other idea that if you were innocent you would not do anything to fuel your spouse's suspicions.....well.... being the heathen that I am, I would just for the fun of it.... btjm.....

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 09:10 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 08:39 AM) ☐
>
> Linda buying a pregnancy test kit knowing that her husband was sterile and suspicious of her having an affair was STUPID. It was a bad ideal. If it was me I would have not found it funny but only add fuel to my suspicious. I would think that if you are innocent of the accused affair that you would not do anything to add to your spouse's suspicious.
>
> I hope that for those of you who are close to this story, are not so naïve to think that for others reading this that don't know Danny or Linda, that they could come to a conclusion that there is more to this than a practical joke played by Linda.

You are quite correct. As I have said before, I too thought it was stupid--and I don't think that it would take hindsight to say that. I think I have a sense of humor--but I also think that many "practical jokes"--especially those played between husbands and wives and even other family members are most always stupid, and sometimes even cruel. I think it helps others to see that it was what it was claimed to be from the beginning--an intended practical joke--when they see the atmosphere in which this was done, that of being the butt of Danny's "jokes" through the years (which is why Summertime's observations are so important a background for understanding this experience.) I've seen such atmospheres--the "jokes" almost always have "barbs" in them and are often more cruel than funny. And the one who is most often the victim eventually learns the game and takes their own turns at least occasionally.

So yes, as much as admire Linda for her obvious good points and believe totally in her innocence of the charges, I still think this was a stupid thing to do, and not only for the reason that it played into Danny's desires of making false accusations against her. It was also stupid from the fact that there are no winners in that kind of "I can top that" type of "jokes". Unfortunately, Linda did not seem to realize that playing a prank on a person who was addicted to playing pranks himself, was guaranteed to anger rather than amuse him.

But back to your comments on what your own reactions would have been. I can understand your reaction--but also I cannot see you playing the kind of stunts on your wife that Danny had pulled on Linda through the years--and in situations in which she had no choice but to take it gracefully and with "good humor". You impress me as one who would have a LOT more respect for your wife than to go out of your way to embarrass her by stupid "practical jokes" at her expense. So when you are evaluating this strange episode, it would be well to remember that Linda had had 19 years of training in this type of prank--that the perpetrator sees as funny but neither the victim nor the bystanders can even comprehend, much less think is ha-ha funny.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 28 2006, 08:57 AM) ☐
>
> People do stupid things all the time, so this does not surprise me.... as for your other idea that if you were innocent you would not do anything to fuel your spouse's suspicions.....well.... being the heathen that I am, I would just for the fun of it.... btjm.....

Exactly. It is only the innocent person who would do something like this. If one had the slightest bit of guilt they would definitely NOT have taken any chances on Danny finding something like this that might expose their guilt. Don't forget that Alyssa by now had her own apartment and that Linda was spending some time there. If the pg test had been bought for actual use, it would have been used on one of Linda's visits to Alyssa's apartment.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 28 2006, 11:11 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 28 2006, 09:10 AM) ☐
>
> So yes, as much as admire Linda for her obvious good points and believe totally in her innocence of the charges, I still think this was a stupid thing to do, and not only for the reason that it played into Danny's desires of making false accusations against her. It was also stupid from the fact that there are no winners in that kind of "I can top that" type of "jokes". Unfortunately, Linda did not seem to realize that playing a prank on a person who was addicted to playing pranks himself, was guaranteed to anger rather than amuse him.

Linda's father used to tell Linda that she had thin skin. That being the case, I cannot see Linda sitting by while Danny goes through everything with a magnifying glass. When I read about these search and seizures, I did not understand them to be a one-time event. Am I wrong?

There would come a point where enough is enough. Also, an intelligent person would start to pick up on the reasons behind the search and seizures as well.

Something similar happened to me when I was a student at an Adventist academy. Something was stolen and "they" started searching all of the dormitory rooms one-by-one for "it."

I remember how deeply offended I was when they got to my room and wanted to "search" it. Especially when one considers what the "it" was.

(It was something in the category of a manure shovel.)

I remember losing all respect for the people in my dorm room - which I shared with a roommate. That demotion of respect I felt hasn't changed to this day. (No, they never did find "it.")

Naturally, any self-respecting person would respond to a man going searching through everything with suspicous pretenses. We call our feelings "stupid" until it happens to us.

I don't think stupidity plays a role here. I think Linda Sheleton was trying to send Mr. Shelton a "don't tread on me" message which he used against her.

I also have another question: I have never seen the June 16th letter from Walter Thompson that Watchbird refers to. Is it posted on this site somewhere?

Posted by: watchbird Jul 28 2006, 12:15 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jul 28 2006, 11:11 AM)
>
> Linda's father used to tell Linda that she had thin skin. That being the case, I cannot see Linda sitting by while Danny goes through everything with a magnifying glass. When I read about these search and seizures, I did not understand them to be a one-time event. Am I wrong?

You are correct, and this comes through in both the letter where Walt Thompson wrote and in what I wrote, though perhaps I did not make it as strong as what it came through to me in Linda's telling of the story. Yes, Danny's searches had been going on for a long time, and Linda was getting rather tired of that fact, hence her commenting to Alyssa, "Let's give him something to find, for a change."

> QUOTE
>
> There would come a point where enough is enough. Also, an intelligent person would start to pick up on the reasons behind the search and seizures as well.
>
> Something similar happened to me when I was a student at an Adventist academy. Something was stolen and "they" started searching all of the dormitory rooms one-by-one for "it."
>
> I remember how deeply offended I was when they got to my room and wanted to "search" it. Especially when one considers what the "it" was.
>
> (It was something in the category of a manure shovel.)
>
> I remember losing all respect for the people in my dorm room - which I shared with a roommate. That demotion of respect I felt hasn't changed to this day. (No, they never did find "it.")
>
> Naturally, any self-respecting person would respond to a man going searching through everything with suspicous pretenses. We call our feelings "stupid" until it happens to us.
>
> I don't think stupidity plays a role here. I think Linda Sheleton was trying to send Mr. Shelton a "don't tread on me" message which he used against her.

I agree, though I have also used the word "stupid". A person's "space" is very important to them, and "abuse" is given and felt when their "space" is violated. And that space includes private areas in their own home, that no one else, even a spouse, invades.

> QUOTE
>
> I also have another question: I have never seen the June 16th letter from Walter Thompson that > Watchbird refers to. Is it posted on this site somewhere?

No, it is not. Unlike the May letter which was plainly labeled as being mass mailed to everyone, I only have two different copies of this one, each is personally addressed to a different individual, and there are minor differences in the introductory and closing paragraphs as would be appropriate for each individual. The interiors of the letters, howeve, are identical, so they seem to be a form letter, though not necessarily mass mailed. We talked about posting it here, but decided not to do so on the basis that we did not know how large a distribution had been made, and also that they were so very nearly like the mass mailing Walt had sent out the month before. We may change our minds later, but at the moment, the only thing on BSDA from those letters is the paragraph I quoted in #24 of this thread.

Posted by: inga Jul 28 2006, 02:10 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 09:39 AM)
>
> Linda buying a pregnancy test kit knowing that her husband was sterile and suspicious of her having an affair was STUPID.

Yes, I have to agree on that one.

I think God gave us a sense of humor to get us over the rough places in life, but IMO there are several subjects which are never appropriate subjects for a joke in a Christians life. Among these are the nature and characer of God and His Word and marriage.

Having said that, Linda's joke was no more stupid than most of the ones Danny told on screen in front of millions. Many were put-downs of Linda.

The way Watchbird tells it makes it evident that Linda had no idea of the seriousness of Danny's hunt for evidence and that he was really planning to get rid of her. As co-founder of the ministry she probably didn't even consider the possibility that she could be so easily ousted. However, with 20/20 hindsight, I'm quite sure Linda wouldn't do the same thing again if she could go back and do things over.

But how many of us have foresight that's as good as our hindsight?

Posted by: Observer Jul 29 2006, 03:49 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 28 2006, 07:39 AM)
>
> Linda buying a pregnancy test kit knowing that her husband was sterile and suspicious of her having an affair was STUPID. It was a bad ideal. If it was me I would have not found it funny but only add fuel to my suspicious. I would think that if you are innocent of the accused affair that you would not do anything to add to your spouse's suspicious.
>
> I hope that for those of you who are close to this story, are not so naïve to think that for others reading this that don't know Danny or Linda, that they could come to a conclusion that there is more to this than a practical joke played by Linda.

The comments made to me, and from some who have been strong supporters of Linda, are that it was a stupid thing to do, and Dr. Thompson has scored a point. There are fair-minded people who will think that there is more involved than a simple practical joke. So, let us look at the possibilities:

As claimed, it was a joke: If this is the case, Linda made an error in judgment. She did something that really was not funny, and it has now come back to hurt her. Hindsight is often better than one's thinking at the time of the action. Probably, all of us reading this thread can testify to times when we have made poor decisions.

This gives credence to the charges that Linda was unfaithful: O.K. Some will likely take this position. This is about much more than the divorce. If Linda was guilty as charged, should she at this point in her life be trashed as is happening to her? Should she not be allowed to get on with her life? As others have suggested, the continued attacks on her in an effort to stop her from getting on with her life is feeding the fire that continues to burn at the gates of 3ABN. But, this is more complex. Charges have been implied against Danny and others at 3ABN. Does not simple justice require that if Linda is treated one way, that same standard should be applied to those others, if proven to be true?

To those who support Linda: you have been injured, but it is not a deadly wound. Continue on.

To those who support the position taken by Danny and 3ABN: Truth has not yet been revealed in its fullness, justice has not yet been accomplished. This saga will continued to unfold. Stand-by for more.

Posted by: lurker Jul 29 2006, 07:11 AM

This whole thing reminds me of something that happened to me back in the 50's. First of all, I am a woman in spite of the name lurker. I worked in a hospital and had accidently left the wrist of a rubber glove in my uniform pocket. We reused them for rubber bands. They are those gloves that feel like condom material. My husband felt it in my pocket and thought he had found something untill he saw how huge it was and did his eyes ever bug out. In spite of his unreasonable jealousy I had to laugh about that one. Linda, if you read this, I know its not funny but only someone who has been there can appreciate that you've gotta laugh or cry.

Posted by: Clay Jul 29 2006, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Jul 29 2006, 07:11 AM)
>
> This whole thing reminds me of something that happened to me back in the 50's. First of all, I am a woman in spite of the name lurker. I worked in a hospital and had accidently left the wrist of a rubber glove in my uniform pocket. We reused them for rubber bands. They are those gloves that feel like condom material. My husband felt it in my pocket and thought he had found something untill he saw how huge it was and did his eyes ever bug out. In spite of his unreasonable jealousy I had to laugh about that one. Linda, if you read this, I know its not funny but only someone who has been there can appreciate that you've gotta laugh or cry.

ummm that could give a guy an inferiority complex.... almost immediately.....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 29 2006, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 28 2006, 09:57 AM)
>
> People do stupid things all the time, so this does not surprise me.... as for your other idea that if you were innocent you would not do anything to fuel your spouse's suspicions.....well.... being the heathen that I am, I would just for the fun of it.... btjm.....

He (H) - You cheatin' on my gurl?

She (S) - No baby - you know I ain't cheatin on you....

H - Yeah, I think you are cheatin on me. Where you been all day?

S - I've been at work. I work from 8 am to 5pm...and It's only 5:06pm now....

H - What you been doing since 5pm?

S - You know what....I'mma admit it. I was cheatin' for 1 minutes. Although it takes me 5 minutes to get home, we did it in one minute, I sped home and yes. I'm cheatin on you.

H - I knew it!

S - You stupid!

H - I knew it. Guess what? I've been cheatin on you too?

S - I been known you were cheatin on me.....I just haven't been cheatin on you....

H - You jes admitted it!

S - Dummy! Can you add up time....only one person in the world can do something in one minute ....you.

H - Ohhhhh. Now you're jes being mean....

S - No! I'm being truthful....I wasn't cheating on you...but you jes proved my Momma right. You only go about repeatedly accusing when you know you're dirty yourself....

H - Huh?

S - Nevermind....I gotta go pack a bag...

H - Where you going?

S - Duh! Where are you going.....

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jul 29 2006, 04:43 PM

Good one Re!! rofl

Posted by: Just a Guy Jul 29 2006, 09:22 PM

Did I misinterpret the Thompson letter or is he really comparing Linda to Lucifer?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 29 2006, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(Just a Guy @ Jul 29 2006, 09:22 PM) ☐
>
> Did I misinterpret the Thompson letter or is he really comparing Linda to Lucifer?

> QUOTE
>
> " God lost one of his closest companionswhen Lucifer went astray. More than that, myriads more angels left with him when he left heaven. Talk about grief or emotional pain. Experiences such as this with Linda, I think, help us to understand the pain of loss, and the reality of the war between God and Satan.

" More than that, myriads more angels left with him when he left heaven. "

Who do you think the evil angels who left with Lucifer are supposed to be? ☒ rofl

(You have three guesses, the first two don't count.)

Posted by: tall73 Jul 30 2006, 10:05 PM

I don't post a lot here, but have been reading through the letters. I have a lot of folks in my churches who support 3ABN and it is on both of our local cable networks. So the fall-out here if there is a scandal would be quite large.

I have seen a fair amount in favor of Linda so far. But I am having a hard time with this practical joke reasoning. If he is really controlling and abusive I have trouble believing she would bring on his wrath, especially when the picture painted so far is that she just went along with him on everything else.

It is just one point of evidence. But I agree that some points were scored. And they were scored more by the explanation than by the presence of the test itself. Finding a pregnancy test could be explained by failure rates, buying it for someone else, etc. But once you say it was a practical joke it makes it difficult to believe.

Stranger things have happened in reality. So we can't rule it out. But just saying how I feel reading through it.

Posted by: Johann Aug 1 2006, 05:50 AM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Jul 31 2006, 06:05 AM) ☐

> It is just one point of evidence. But I agree that some points were scored. And they were scored more by the explanation than by the presence of the test itself. Finding a pregnancy test could be explained by failure rates, buying it for someone else, etc. But once you say it was a practical joke it makes it difficult to believe.
>
> Stranger things have happened in reality. So we can't rule it out. But just saying how I feel reading through it.

Trouble with a discussion like this is that most of those who think they understand it best do not know Linda at all, nor get the feeling of the circumstances. Yes, it was a practical joke, but it was much more than that. As I have said before, Linda called some of her friends and laughed about it even before Danny discovered it. So we understood her way of thinking, even if we did not agree that she should have done it. We knew that it is cheap and disgraceful for hindsighters to downgrade the intentions of what is done as a joke in good faith.

Let me repeat: Linda was getting so tired of Danny searching through everywhere for evidence against her, and she knew he would not find anything. He was not having much success with his accusation of spiritual adultery, as attested by 3ABN, and Linda knew he had nothing.

The only thing on her mind at that time was to catch him snooping. She had to have something which would reveal that he was snooping through all of her things. She wanted to catch him red-handed! At the same time Alyssa and Linda wanted someting they could laugh about because it would be so ridiculous. They had no idea what they could use when they went shopping. It was when they discovered those pregnancy tests in the store they both agreed Danny would certainly reveal he had been snooping if he found the test in a bag.

When they took the shopping bag inside they caried it into Alyssa's room. Sure enough, it did not take long before he had snooped through the bag and brought out the test. Both of the women laughed at him, so Danny laughed too - until he got serious. They still could not see why he should get so serious about it.

Seriously, there are aspects in connection with this case that will not be discussed here. Certain things that can only be revealed in a more private investigation than what BSDA provides. It would have been so much better if Danny had not let Linda suffer so much for his own actions, disgracing her continually now for more tha two years because he made some serious mistakes. We could say this is human nature. Even Adam and Eve did it a long time ago. Perhaps a wife should take a lot of beating by her husband? But there imust be a limit...

Posted by: watchbird Aug 1 2006, 06:19 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 1 2006, 05:50 AM) ☐
>
> Trouble with a discussion like this is that most of those who think they understand it best do not know Linda at all, nor get the feeling of the circumstances. Yes, it was a practical joke, but it was much more than that. As I have said before, Linda called some of her friends and laughed about it even before Danny discovered it. So we understood her way of thinking, even if we did not agree that she should have done it. We knew that it is cheap and disgraceful for hindsighters to downgrade the intentions of what is done as a joke in good faith.
>
> Let me repeat: Linda was getting so tired of Danny searching through everywhere for evidence against her, and she knew he would not find anything. He was not having much success with his accusation of spiritual adultery, as attested by 3ABN, and Linda knew he had nothing.

> The only thing on her mind at that time was to catch him snooping. She had to have something which would reveal that he was snooping through all of her things. She wanted to catch him red-handed! At the same time Alyssa and Linda wanted someting they could laugh about because it would be so ridiculous. They had no idea what they could use when they went shopping. It was when they discovered those pregnancy tests in the store they both agreed Danny would certainly reveal he had been snooping if he found the test in a bag.
>
> When they took the shopping bag inside they caried it into Alyssa's room. Sure enough, it did not take long before he had snooped through the bag and brought out the test. Both of the women laughed at him, so Danny laughed too - until he got serious. They still could not see why he should get so serious about it.
>
> Seriously, there are aspects in connection with this case that will not be discussed here. Certain things that can only be revealed in a more private investigation than what BSDA provides. It would have been so much better if Danny had not let Linda suffer so much for his own actions, disgracing her continually now for more tha two years because he made some serious mistakes. We could say this is human nature. Even Adam and Eve did it a long time ago. Perhaps a wife should take a lot of beating by her husband? But there imust be a limit...

Thanks for these additional details, Johann. I, too, recall her describing how tired (frustrated) she was getting with Danny's continual snooping and how the "Let's give him something to find" thoughts were dominant in their mind as they embarked upon that "fateful" shopping trip.

Posted by: Clay Aug 1 2006, 07:35 AM

Johann said:

> QUOTE
>
> We could say this is human nature. Even Adam and Eve did it a long time ago. Perhaps a wife should take a lot of beating by her husband? But there imust be a limit...

Nope.... not ever... not even one.... which got me to thinking... if there is spiritual adultery then surely there must be spiritual physical abuse....

Posted by: simplysaved Aug 1 2006, 07:40 AM

Of course there is...we just call it "emotional abuse"...the results are dammage to the mental & spiritual psyche with physical repercussions in the long run (i.e. ulcers, heart problems, stress, etc)....emotional abuse is also ALWAYS a precursor and/or part of physical abuse/domestic violence.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 07:35 AM)
>
> Johann said:
> Nope.... not ever... not even one.... which got me to thinking... if there is spiritual adultery then surely there must be spiritual physical abuse....

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 1 2006, 08:51 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 1 2006, 05:50 AM) ☐
>
> Seriously, there are aspects in connection with this case that will not be discussed here. Certain things that can only be revealed in a more private investigation than what BSDA provides. It would have been so much better if Danny had not let Linda suffer so much for his own actions, disgracing her continually now for more tha two years because he made some serious mistakes.

It sounds like you may be waiting for a "more private investigation" that may never happen. So, if you have anything to add that people need to know, now may be your chance.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 1 2006, 09:35 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 1 2006, 08:51 AM) ☐
>
> It sounds like you may be waiting for a "more private investigation" that may never happen. So, if you have anything to add that people need to know, now may be your chance.

I think that Johann is referring to things that are going on in private even as we speak here in public. There are some things that will never be revealed to the public eye until after all is done and the dust has settled. Some of these are, as has been indicated at other times in other threads, for the protection of the privacy of the innocent victims. Some things are not being revealed because the final outcome has either not happened or has not been confirmed "beyond a reasonable shadow of a doubt". Some things are not being revealed because those who hold the information do not want to reveal it publicly so as to destroy its use in a court of law in case lawsuits do develop. And there are some things that are being passed from hand to hand that may not be posted in any forum, public or semi-private.

Our role here is to expose enough information in a publicly accessible place so as to warn against investing money in an organization that has been at best wasteful with what were intended to be the Lord's funds, and what appears from what has been learned to be serious misappropriations of funds from 3ABN as a ministry to the pockets of the owner of 3ABN--actions which are certainly not expected by donors, ones which they would consider unethical if they knew about them, and some of which may even be shown to be outright illegal fraud. The details of things of this kind, cannot wisely be displayed in public--as Fran has so aptly explained in other threads in this forum.

Our role here is also to expose things gradually enough so they can be absorbed by those to whom they come as a total shock. The question of what does the exposure of a perceived leader have on those who have depended on him for spiritual leadership is a real one, and we must expose what we expose in ways that will not merely shatter their trust in Dan Shelton and 3ABN, but will give them opportunities to transfer (or rebuild) trust in other spiritual leaders.

But ....

My apologies if I digress from your question. To return to that, the answer is "no" to the implications that Johann (and others) are merely "waiting" for someone else do to something. There are many people who are actively working behind the scenes. Not (so far as I know) in the "Private Investigator" sense that Calvin at first used the term, but in the sense of inspiring many to do their own "private investigations" of all sides of the many issues involved (rather than merely to accept without question the statements that have been made by Danny and other representatives of 3ABN) so as to arrive at their own conclusions. When enough people have done that, there will be action, and more will become public knowledge.

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 09:45 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 1 2006, 06:50 AM) ☐
>
> Trouble with a discussion like this is that most of those who think they understand it best do not know Linda at all, nor get the feeling of the circumstances. Yes, it was a practical joke, but it was much more than that. As I have said before, Linda called some of her friends and laughed about it even before Danny discovered it. So we understood her way of thinking, even if we did not agree that she should have done it. We knew that it is cheap and disgraceful for hindsighters to downgrade the intentions of what is done as a joke in good faith.

Who said anything about knowing it best? This whole discussion is about people evaluating. Or if it is something else it is just sick gossip. When you put things up for evaluation you have to anticipate the possibility that some will reject what you say.

Am I saying I know what happened? No. I am saying that as I read it this looks like a flimsy excuse.

As you said, we don't know Linda. So all we can go on is what you have said. And what you said here didn't convince me. And if I were on a jury just hearing this (and in a sense that is what this is) then I would give Dr. Thompson some points on the pregnancy test. Or more precisely I would give points on the supposed reason for it, as the pregnancy test itself could be explained.

> QUOTE
>
> Let me repeat: Linda was getting so tired of Danny searching through everywhere for evidence against her, and she knew he would not find anything. He was not having much success with his accusation of spiritual adultery, as attested by 3ABN, and Linda knew he had nothing.

> The only thing on her mind at that time was to catch him snooping. She had to have something which would reveal that he was snooping through all of her things. She wanted to catch him red-handed! At the same time Alyssa and Linda wanted someting they could laugh about because it would be so ridiculous. They had no idea what they could use when they went shopping. It was when they discovered those pregnancy tests in the store they both agreed Danny would certainly reveal he had been snooping if he found the test in a bag.

So in this one storyt even if we believe your account one hundred percent we have

-Linda conspiring to form a fabrication
-Linda laughing at Danny being embarrassed
-Linda thinking that (after being accused of an affair) Danny would have no problem with her buying a pregnancy test

And you wonder why this is not the most convincing part of your argument? I am not taking his side over this one piece of evidence, but I am saying this one piece of evidence is always going to be a weak spot in her case. At best it is an insight into the bad part of her character (not as it was portrayed, seeing the best in everyone, and having a good sense of humor). At worst it is a lie to cover up an actual affair. Either way it is a point for Danny's side.

> QUOTE
>
> Seriously, there are aspects in connection with this case that will not be discussed here. Certain things that can only be revealed in a more private investigation than what BSDA provides. It would have been so much better if Danny had not let Linda suffer so much for his own actions, disgracing her continually now for more tha two years because he made some serious mistakes. We could say this is human nature. Even Adam and Eve did it a long time ago. Perhaps a wife should take a lot of beating by her husband? But there imust be a limit...

And that is understood. In the same way it is understood that Danny says he has evidence that they are withholding, but which some say we have a right to see. We are not the actual judge in this case, fortunately. And we are not entitled to everything. But we do have to make evaluations so that we know whether to support the ministry or encourage others to. And we can only do that on the evidence provided. So if I don't buy all of the evidence on one side, don't consider it a slight. It is just what it is. The best I can do with the information present.

Posted by: Denny Aug 1 2006, 09:50 AM

To me the joke back fired on her and was a bad mistake imagine if Danny had bought some Victoria secret's lingerie and planted it for Linda to find as a joke and the 'joke' was not in her size......

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 09:52 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 1 2006, 10:35 AM)

> Our role here is to expose enough information in a publicly accessible place so as to warn against investing money in an organization that has been at best wasteful with what were intended to be the Lord's funds, and what appears from what has been learned to be serious misappropriations of funds from 3ABN as a ministry to the pockets of the owner of 3ABN--actions which are certainly not expected by donors, ones which they would consider unethical if they knew about them, and some of which may even be shown to be outright illegal fraud. The details of things of this kind, cannot wisely be displayed in public--as Fran has so aptly explained in other threads in this forum.

And this is why I am here, because there are a lot of donors that I know and have influence with, and I want to make a fair assessment. But fair means there may be evidence on both sides. The proponderance is what we are looking for. While your task is by necessity a one-sided one of demonstrating 3ABN's failings, ours cannot be if we are going to make a fair judgment.

> QUOTE
>
> Our role here is also to expose things gradually enough so they can be absorbed by those to whom they come as a total shock. The question of what does the exposure of a perceived leader have on those who have depended on him for spiritual leadership is a real one, and we must expose what we expose in ways that will not merely shatter their trust in Dan Shelton and 3ABN, but will give them opportunities to transfer (or rebuild) trust in other spiritual leaders.

This type of argument makes little sense to me. If you have a whole picture, give the whole picture. If you draw it out, letting people make comments on every little part, tantalizing, stirring the pot,.etc. it is a far worse effect on those viewing. It holds their attention for days and weeks and portrays the image that you all are just out to smear them. It would be best just to say what there is, bring it into the light of day, let people make their judgement and be done.

And if your goal is to warn supporters, what of those who need the whole picture to finally make a judgement? By then they will have given months more of support. This thing is already figured in years.

Posted by: lurker Aug 1 2006, 10:04 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Aug 1 2006, 10:50 AM) ☐
>
> To me the joke back fired on her and was a bad mistake imagine if Danny had bought some Victoria secret's lingerie and planted it for Linda to find as a joke and the 'joke' was not in her size......

Poor joke, maybe. But since she told people what she was going to do and why she was going to do it, I believe her. Besides she and her daughter did it together. It's not like she tried to make up an excuse after being found out.

I can see doing it just to bring things out into the open. You aren't thinking like a woman, tall. At least not like this woman. Sometimes abused women deliberately do things they know will provoke anger and I don't know why except maybe they hope to head off a huge tantrum from the abuser just by letting the abuser blow off some steam. And needing to get everything out in the open and make

Danny admit what he was up to just says it all for me.

Posted by: simplysaved Aug 1 2006, 10:05 AM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 09:45 AM)
>
> Who said anything about knowing it best? This whole discussion is about people evaluating. Or if it is something else it is just sick gossip. When you put things up for evaluation you have to anticipate the possibility that some will reject what you say.
> Am I saying I know what happened? No. I am saying that as I read it this looks like a flimsy excuse.
>
> As you said, we don't know Linda. So all we can go on is what you have said. And what you said here didn't convince me. And if I were on a jury just hearing this (and in a sense that is what this is) then I would give Dr. Thompson some points on the pregnancy test. Or more precisely I would give points on the supposed reason for it, as the pregnancy test itself could be explained.
> So in this one storyt even if we believe your account one hundred percent we have
>
> -Linda conspiring to form a fabrication
> -Linda laughing at Danny being embarrassed
> -Linda thinking that (after being accused of an affair) Danny would have no problem with her buying a pregnancy test
> And you wonder why this is not the most convincing part of your argument? I am not taking his side over this one piece of evidence, but I am saying this one piece of evidence is always going to be a weak spot in her case. At best it is an insight into the bad part of her character (not as it was portrayed, seeing the best in everyone, and having a good sense of humor). At worst it is a lie to cover up an actual affair. Either way it is a point for Danny's side.
> And that is understood. In the same way it is understood that Danny says he has evidence that they are withholding, but which some say we have a right to see. We are not the actual judge in this case, fortunately. And we are not entitled to everything. But we do have to make evaluations so that we know whether to support the ministry or encourage others to. And we can only do that on the evidence provided. So if I don't buy all of the evidence on one side, don't consider it a slight. It is just what it is. The best I can do with the information present.

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 1 2006, 11:04 AM)
>
> Poor joke, maybe. But since she told people what she was going to do and why she was going to do it, I believe her. Besides she and her daughter did it together. It's not like she tried to make up an excuse after being found out.
>
> I can see doing it just to bring things out into the open. You aren't thinking like a woman, tall. At least not like this woman. Sometimes abused women deliberately do things they know will provoke anger and I don't know why except maybe they hope to head off a huge tantrum from the abuser just by letting the abuser blow off some steam. And needing to get everything out in the open and make Danny admit what he was up to just says it all for me.

No, and I am not likely to ever think like a woman. I am a man. But these threads were started to make judgments. And I still have to do that despite my gender. I can try to put myself in her place, but I still can't think of a reason to give evidence for an affair as a joke.

If the truth is the truth then whether I am an abused woman or not it should be something that seems credible. I just don't see it as credible at this time. Others do.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 1 2006, 10:21 AM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 09:52 AM) ☐
>
> And this is why I am here, because there are a lot of donors that I know and I want to make a fair assessment. But fair means there may be evidence on both sides. The proponderance is what we are looking for.
> This type of argument makes little sense to me. If you have a whole picture, give the whole picture. If you draw it out, letting people make comments on every little part, tantalizing, stirring the pot,.etc. it is a far worse effect on those viewing. It holds their attention for days and weeks and portrays the image that you all are just out to smear them. It would be best just to say what there is, bring it into the light of day, let people make their judgement and be done.
>
> And if your goal is to warn supporters, what of those who need the whole picture to finally make a judgement? By then they will have given months more of support. This thing is already figured in years.

By your very insistence on us presenting "evidence" as though this is a court of law (which it is not) rather than a public bulletin board (which is all that it is) you are destroying your own credibility as a true seeker of knowledge and painting a picture of yourself as someone who has and wants to retain control over a vast number of people....once you have passed your judgement on the evidence.

That does not set well. Not well at all.

You have also painted a picture of yourself as being a very impatient and inconsiderate person.... tell it all now and let the chips fall where they may.....and one that is not willing to do their own "legwork" in learning the facts but wants someone to net out all they know and serve it up to you on your judges platter.

That "sets" even worse.

You also show distinct evidence that you have not even read through all of the information that has been posted on this board over the past two years.

If you want to have credibility and find answers here..... then first of all read all that has been said here..... in as nearly as possible chronological order. Pay attention to what people here thought when they began posting..... some as much as two years ago, more who began this spring after Danny's remarriage, and even more in the past few weeks. Note the pogression of their thought, note the things that caused them to change their minds or solidify their convictions. Learn to read between the lines by comparing one person's comments with another..... which in many cases fills out the sketchy narratives of each and gives life and depth to the allusions made by others.

You mention the matters of financial support. This topic was covered in great depth in a number of threads in the past. Just because our focus is elsewhere now does not mean that there has not been enough said on this board for many to make up their mind whether or not they should continue to send their money to 3ABN. That still may not be convincing to you. So be it. But if it is not, there is little likelihood that anything more we could say would be convincing.

And lastly..... stop worrying so much about those poor sheeple who depend on you to do their thinking for them and tell them what to think and where to send their money. If you are an SDA pastor, then you should be telling them to send it to the church coffers and supporting HOPETV no matter what the evidence on 3ABN. If you are not, then it is certainly none of your business to intersperse yourself between "your people" and the SDA church. Give them the BSDA 3ABN forum url, tell them you have seen things there that have made you wonder, and encourage them to all go and see for themselves.

So far, whenever I see a post from you, the thing that comes immediately to mind is the warning given by Ellen White to and about those who are not patient enough to unravel the difficulties themselves (or to wait for the Lord to unravel them) but attempt to "cut through the knot of difficulty", and in do doing make things much worse than they would be other wise.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 1 2006, 10:45 AM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 09:13 AM) ☐
>
> No, and I am not likely to ever think like a woman. I am a man. But these threads were started to make judgments. And I still have to do that despite my gender. I can try to put myself in her place, but I still can't think of a reason to give evidence for an affair as a joke.
>
> If the truth is the truth then whether I am an abused woman or not it should be something that seems credible. I just don't see it as credible at this time. Others do.

Maybe you should read this again Tall...the answer IS there, whether you accept it or not.
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10074&st=45&p=142808&#entry142808

Posted by: watchbird Aug 1 2006, 10:52 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 1 2006, 10:04 AM) ☐
>
> Poor joke, maybe. But since she told people what she was going to do and why she was going to do it, I believe her. Besides she and her daughter did it together. It's not like she tried to make up an excuse after being found out.
>
> I can see doing it just to bring things out into the open. You aren't thinking like a woman, tall. At least not like this woman. Sometimes abused women deliberately do things they know will provoke anger and I don't know why except maybe they hope to head off a huge tantrum from the abuser just by letting the abuser blow off some steam. And needing to get everything out in the open and make Danny admit what he was up to just says it all for me.

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 10:13 AM) ☐

> No, and I am not likely to ever think like a woman. I am a man. But these threads were started to make judgments. And I still have to do that despite my gender. I can try to put myself in her place, but I still can't think of a reason to give evidence for an affair as a joke.
>
> If the truth is the truth then whether I am an abused woman or not it should be something that seems credible. I just don't see it as credible at this time. Others do.

That's OK ... your credibility just dropped another notch. You admit you cannot think like a woman.... then don't presume to sit in judgement upon a woman. There is no requirement that truth, to be truth, must "seem credible". There is more than one place in the saga of Danny Shelton that people (including lawyers) have exclaimed, "Truth is stranger than fiction".

You say "these threads were started to make judgements." Wrong again. These threads were started to give people opportunity to tell their sides of their stories and place them in a place where every passerby who wanted to could stop and see and read and think. There are no demands made on anyone to come forward and tell their stories. There are no prohibitions on anyone coming and disputing what they see. You are free to believe or disbelieve the testimonies of those who speak.

I did not choose to tell the story of the pg test merely to "present evidence". Both Johann and I refrained from mentioning it so long as the accusations remained vague about the so called "evidence" that Danny claimed he had. Once that became specific in the last letter from Walt's mass mailings that was posted, it was time to tell Linda's side of that story, which both Johann and I did, and others confirmed was the same as what they had heard from Linda's lips. When you attack that story it does not matter whether you approve or disapprove of the action or not. In that sense it doesn't matter if you can "think like a woman" enough for it to appear rational to you. The only question that should concern you is whether or no it is true that Linda said this, and that she did this, and that she gave her reasons as we have reported them.

Frankly, your disbelief in the truthfulness of all of that would also not stand in a court of law merely on the grounds that it "didn't make sense to you". You would have to produce proof in order to show that Linda was lying about both the act and the reasons she had for doing the act. And hind sight 20/20 vision as to wether it was a wise move on her part simply won't "cut it" either. Her wisdom or the lack thereof is not the question. The only question is her truthfulness in what she told her friends, and her friends truthfulness in the way they related what they were told.

Now how about simmering down and taking a look at the other side, and analysing this with the same scrutiny that you have given the statements about Linda.

Danny and Walt's story differs only in one particular from that of Linda's..... so that is the only one we would need to examine. And that is the motive behind the act. Now how can Danny and Walt be considered accurate judges of another person's motives..... even if that person is the wife of one of them? Unless THEY can produce substantiating evidence.... really hard evidence..... that their interpretation of her motives is right and her own statements of what they were is wrong ... what right do you have to take their word for it rather than hers? Would THAT kind of judgement stand up in a court of law?

Posted by: Clay Aug 1 2006, 11:06 AM

part of being a compassionate person (which is what a pastor ought to be) is one's ability to put themselves in another's shoes as much as is possible.... we call it empathy.... while I am 100%, I can imagine what it must be like to have been Linda in that situation...and as I said earlier, I can see myself doing something to yank the chain of the one who was tormenting me..... but... that's just me....

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 11:18 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 1 2006, 10:21 AM) ☐
>
> By your very insistence on us presenting "evidence" as though this is a court of law (which it is not) rather than a public bulletin board (which is all that it is) you are destroying your own credibility as a true seeker of knowledge and painting a picture of yourself as someone who has and wants to retain control over a vast number of people....once you have passed your judgement on the evidence.

I did not insist on evidence. You put it on the internet before I ever knew it existed, for the purpose of making a statement about 3ABN. but if we are to take your purpose seriously we must evaluate it. The fact that it is not a court of law puts a higher standard in place. There are no built in measures to prevent lying (perjury charges etc.). There is no structure to how things are said. The jury gets to weigh in and sway the proceedings. No, it is not a courtroom. But we must still evaluate.

> QUOTE
>
> That does not set well. Not well at all.
>
> You have also painted a picture of yourself as being a very impatient and inconsiderate person.... tell it all now and let the chips fall where they may.....and one that is not willing to do their own "legwork" in learning the facts but wants someone to net out all they know and serve it up to you on your judges platter.

You are the ones saying you have access and that we don't know Linda or all the details. You are the ones trying to make your case. Now you criticize because we want it all served up? Either you are making a case or you are not. But don't assume we will all buy every part of it.

First you said that the reason it was put out in bits and pieces was to protect the reader. Now you are saying it is so that we can do our own legwork. Which is it? My point was that you are not protecting the reader by doing it. And you putting all the information out there does not preclude legwork. In fact it is a starting point for real legwork to happen.

As to you evaluating me perosnally, I am judging what you wrote of the situation. You are judging me because I disagree.

It is not impatience to want the whole story rather than just bits and pieces over time. And if you really want to dissuade giving to this ministry you could do so more effectively by putting it all out at once. Just as some were upset over the part by part delivering of the Dr.'s letter when it was clear the whole thing was out there. It was needless.

> QUOTE
>
> That "sets" even worse.
>
> You also show distinct evidence that you have not even read through all of the information that has > been posted on this board over the past two years.

Because I think that it was unlikely a person accused of having an affair would demonstrate otherwise by buying a pregnancy test? That does not at all prove that I have not read carefully.

It is not a sign of not reading to not agree with you in a particular.

> QUOTE
>
> If you want to have credibility and find answers here..... then first of all read all that has been said here..... in as nearly as possible chronological order. Pay attention to what people here thought when they began posting..... some as much as two years ago, more who began this spring after Danny's remarriage, and even more in the past few weeks. Note the pogression of their thought, note the things that caused them to change their minds or solidify their convictions. Learn to read between the lines by comparing one person's comments with another..... which in many cases fills out the sketchy narratives of each and gives life and depth to the allusions made by others.

And what happens when someone does all that and still thinks it unlikely that the pregnancy test was a joke?

> QUOTE
>
> You mention the matters of financial support. This topic was covered in great depth in a number of threads in the past. Just because our focus is elsewhere now does not mean that there has not been enough said on this board for many to make up their mind whether or not they should continue to send their money to 3ABN. That still may not be convincing to you. So be it. But if it is not, there is little likelihood that anything more we could say would be convincing.

All evidence has weight in the final picture. I cannot dismiss this evidence because of other things you have said. It may be that in the end it is determined that one side outweighs the other. But that does not mean that everything one side says is to be dismissed while the other side's take is always accepted.

> QUOTE
>
> And lastly..... stop worrying so much about those poor sheeple who depend on you to do their thinking for them and tell them what to think and where to send their money. If you are an SDA pastor, then you should be telling them to send it to the church coffers and supporting HOPETV no matter what the evidence on 3ABN. If you are not, then it is certainly none of your business to intersperse yourself between "your people" and the SDA church. Give them the BSDA 3ABN forum url, tell them you have seen things there that have made you wonder, and encourage them to all go and see for themselves.

Most of them don't have the internet. I am likely going to give them the letters. Of course they already have the ones from Danny. But I might not even do that if I don't think thereis a convincing reason to do so.

And no I don't tell them to just give to the church and Hopetv. God can use people outside of the church.

> QUOTE
>
> So far, whenever I see a post from you, the thing that comes immediately to mind is the warning given by Ellen White to and about those who are not patient enough to unravel the difficulties themselves (or to wait for the Lord to unravel them) but attempt to "cut through the knot of difficulty", and in do doing make things much worse than they would be other wise.

I am sorry you see it that way. But then you know even less of me than I know of Linda and Danny. So if it is possible that I am confused about this situation, i certainly leave open the possibility that you are wrong about me.

It boils down to this. You are trying to get people to do something based on your testimony. But we must evaluate your testimony. Telling me that I am impatient and don't deal with difficulties, and saying I am condemned by EGW etc. will not help you make that case with me.

If you don't want what you said evaluated then don't put it.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 11:06 AM) ☐
>
> part of being a compassionate person (which is what a pastor ought to be) is one's ability to put themselves in another's shoes as much as is possible.... we call it empathy.... while I am 100%, I can imagine what it must be like to have been Linda in that situation...and as I said earlier, I can see myself doing something to yank the chain of the one who was tormenting me..... but... that's just me....

I did say I am trying to put myself in her place, but I will still never think like a woman, as if all women thought alike to start with.

And if that is somehow seen as a disqualification then all the men in this post need to stop reading.

But it is obviously not a disqualification. Nor does my saying it mean I am not compassionate. If she was abused then she certainly did not deserve it, and is justified in feeling resentment. But as someone on the outside looking in I can't assume that she was abused, that she did buy it as a joke, etc.

Posted by: Clay Aug 1 2006, 11:20 AM

Tall,
either you will believe the info here or not... I don't think you have been here long enough or read enough to even evaluate what is really here.... in other words you do not have enough information yet to make a logical decision... you've come late to the party and you gotta catch up.... IMO.....

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 11:41 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 1 2006, 10:52 AM) ☐

> That's OK ... your credibility just dropped another notch. You admit you cannot think like a woman.... then don't presume to sit in judgement upon a woman. There is no requirement that truth, to be truth, must "seem credible". There is more than one place in the saga of Danny Shelton that people (including lawyers) have exclaimed, "Truth is stranger than fiction".

If I do not sit in judgment on the case then I cannot do what you hope I will do by ceasing to support 3ABN.

This was my whole point. The poster was making a point that because I am not a woman I can't judge this case. That is simply untrue. If that were the case then you can't judge Danny, not being a man. But certainly no one is making that statement.

> QUOTE
>
> You say "these threads were started to make judgements." Wrong again. These threads were started to give people opportunity to tell their sides of their stories and place them in a place where every passerby who wanted to could stop and see and read and think. There are no demands made on anyone to come forward and tell their stories. There are no prohibitions on anyone coming and disputing what they see. You are free to believe or disbelieve the testimonies of those who speak.

Here is what you said:

> QUOTE(watchbird)
>
> Our role here is to expose enough information in a publicly accessible place so as to warn against investing money in an organization that has been at best wasteful with what were intended to be the Lord's funds, and what appears from what has been learned to be serious misappropriations of funds from 3ABN as a ministry to the pockets of the owner of 3ABN--actions which are certainly not expected by donors, ones which they would consider unethical if they knew about them, and some of which may even be shown to be outright illegal fraud.

You said that you were here to warn those who would invest money. That is demanding a judgment. Even the idea that they are to come and read and think is asking for a judgment.

And you say there are no prohibitions on anyone disagreeing? Yet when I did I was called impatient inconsiderate controlling jumping to conclusions

and it was implied that I was less than compassionate, and thereby going against my calling.

Now which of those things addressed the actual facts of the case? None of them that I can see. So it comes across to me that disagreement leads to personal attacks against the one who disagrees.

> QUOTE

> I did not choose to tell the story of the pg test merely to "present evidence". Both Johann and I refrained from mentioning it so long as the accusations remained vague about the so called "evidence" that Danny claimed he had. Once that became specific in the last letter from Walt's mass mailings that was posted, it was time to tell Linda's side of that story, which both Johann and I did, and others confirmed was the same as what they had heard from Linda's lips. When you attack that story it does not matter whether you approve or disapprove of the action or not. In that sense it doesn't matter if you can "think like a woman" enough for it to appear rational to you. The only question that should concern you is whether or no it is true that Linda said this, and that she did this, and that she gave her reasons as we have reported them.

I am sure you would prefer not to tell it at all. Because it is indeed compromising evidence at face value.

And it is also right for you to give Linda's side of it. But if you say the concern is whether it is true or not, how do you expect us to evaluate that? We have to determine whether it sounds plausible, whether it fits the rest of the story, and whether those telling us sound credible. Again, that is a judment, and not everyone will agree with you. I also take into account the fact Danny did not in fact bring out this evidence right away. You all said he was hiding the evidence so he produced this. Either he was actually trying to protect Linda or he was grasping at straws and settled on this. But again, we have to evaluate.

> QUOTE
>
> Frankly, your disbelief in the truthfulness of all of that would also not stand in a court of law merely on the grounds that it "didn't make sense to you".

Of course it wouldn't. But in this discussion board we are in the place of the jury. And the jury is not on trial. And what the jury concludes from the evidence does stand in a court of law. They are the ones who decide the case. The difference is in a court of law you wouldn't know what they are thinking until the sentance was given. You couldn't go back and comment on their personal traits or try to convince them by other means. They would simply decide what they think.

> QUOTE
>
> You would have to produce proof in order to show that Linda was lying about both the act and the reasons she had for doing the act.

There is only one piece of uncontested evidence in the pregnancy test, and that is that there was one and that Danny found it by snooping. Anything else must be proved by those claiming it. You are one of those claiming something.

> QUOTE
>
> Now how about simmering down and taking a look at the other side, and analysing this with the same scrutiny that you have given the statements about Linda.

I have taken what you said with scrutiny, and have read the other posts too.

> QUOTE
>
> Danny and Walt's story differs only in one particular from that of Linda's..... so that is the only one we would need to examine. And that is the motive behind the act. Now how can Danny and Walt be considered accurate judges of another person's motives..... even if that person is the wife of one of them? Unless THEY can produce substantiating evidence.... really hard evidence..... that their interpretation of her motives is right and her own statements of what they were is wrong ... what right do you have to take their word for it rather than hers? Would THAT kind of judgement stand up in a court of law?

If I were on the jury I would have every right. And since you are presenting it for us in defense of Linda we have every right to form our opinion.

And if we can never judge a motive or try to determine whether something is truthful then we can never decide anything. And therefore your goal of discrediting 3ABN is hopeless.

Gotta go for a bit. I will check this later if I get time.

And Watchbird I have not at all said that I agree with Danny. His remarriage to me was sickening. It does seem as if he married someone that he had on the back burner for a while who was much younger. I didn't watch 3ABN much anyway because I just now got it in my area. But I can't watch at all now when he is on. This whole dispute came from me saying that I thought one point was strong for Danny. Perhaps you could evaluate that as well. I am not your enemy.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 11:20 AM) ☐
>
> Tall,
> either you will believe the info here or not... I don't think you have been here long enough or read enough to even evaluate what is really here.... in other words you do not have enough information yet to make a logical decision... you've come late to the party and you gotta catch up.... IMO.....

Clay, if I have read the information what more is there to do? Not everyone who reads posts.

What gives me the right to make a statement?

How long do I have to be here?'

And if I after reading the information am not informed enough to make a call on it, why is Watchbird, who knows nearly nothing of me able to make an informed decision about what kind of person I am ? I understand that she cares about those involved. I get that. But calling into question who I am does not help her case.

You know me from CF so you might be able to say a bit more about who I am.. So it is that much more upsetting that you imply I am not compassionate because I disagree. If that is your view, I can take it and evaluate it. But at this point I don't agree with it.

This whole thing blew up from one statement that I made that said I thought this was a strong point for Danny's case. I don't see why it needs to be more than that.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 1 2006, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 10:18 AM) ☐
>
> I did say I am trying to put myself in her place, but I will still never think like a woman, as if all women thought alike to start with.
>
> You don't have to think like a women to understand a women - you only have to listen to try to understand - and most things in life are completely hard to understand unless you have been in the same shoes as the person who has been through a particular situation.
>
> But it is obviously not a disqualification. Nor does my saying it mean I am not compassionate. If she was abused then she certainly did not deserve it, and is justified in feeling resentment. But as someone on the outside looking in I can't assume that she was abused, that she did buy it as a joke, etc.
>
> You should not assume anything - you should only listen, put all the available pieces together and accept what you see. If you choose not to, don't then tell the rest who have that they are wrong or have done wrong in their assessment of the enormous information that is available at this present moment. It all paints a big picture that has a whole lot more to do with just what happend to Linda. Patience is a virture, you will get more information as time goes along that is not yet posted. There is ample now to know that there is MUCH more to this whole thing that meets the eye. Do the homework, don't give up or conclude unless you have done so. And welcome to BSDA! It's one of the few places where you can get information from those that KNOW first hand. We are very fortunate for that.

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 11:53 AM

> QUOTE
>
> You should not assume anything - you should only listen, put all the available pieces together and accept what you see. If you choose not to, don't then tell the rest who have that they are wrong or have done wrong in their assessment of the enormous information that is available at this present moment. It all paints a big picture that has a whole lot more to do with just what happend to Linda. Patience is a virture, you will get more information as time goes along that is not yet posted. There is ample now to know that there is MUCH more to this whole thing that meets the eye. Do the homework, don't give up or conclude unless you have done so. And welcome to BSDA! It's one of the few places where you can get information from those that KNOW first hand. We are very fortunate for that.

First of all, thanks for the welcome.

I agree, we should not assume. I agree we should put the pieces together and accept what we see.

As to telling the rest they are wrong, I didn't. I said I don't agree with it.

And pages of "hot mess on toast" posts have been made taking one side over the other. Why is it wrong to express my view on it?

There are already letter writing campaigns etc. If there is still information to come why are we encoraging that? Is there or is there not enough information to decide yet? And is there only enough information to decide one way but not the other?

Alright, signing off...this time for real hopefully.

Posted by: simplysaved Aug 1 2006, 12:45 PM

The problem with this particular justification (that may be interfering with empathy here) is that an abused woman would be "terrified" to play any type of pratical joke...and unfortunately, that is how Linda has been presented in this situation. An abused woman would do EVERYTHING in her power to "be perfect" and not do anything that might upset the abuser....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 12:06 PM)
>
> part of being a compassionate person (which is what a pastor ought to be) is one's ability to put themselves in another's shoes as much as is possible.... we call it empathy.... while I am 100%, I can imagine what it must be like to have been Linda in that situation...and as I said earlier, I can see myself doing something to yank the chain of the one who was tormenting me..... but... that's just me....

Posted by: lurker Aug 1 2006, 01:48 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Aug 1 2006, 01:45 PM)
>
> The problem with this particular justification (that may be interfering with empathy here) is that an abused woman would be "terrified" to play any type of pratical joke...and unfortunately, that is how Linda has been presented in this situation. An abused woman would do EVERYTHING in her power to "be perfect" and not do anything that might upset the abuser....

You can never be perfect enough for an abuser! Never, never, never. He wants to be right. He wants to be right more than he wants to be loved. He wants to catch you at something so he can put you down about it. The cop who follows you long enough will find something to pull you over for if he is looking for something or wants to throw his weight around. So when he pulls you over, you hope it will be for something little so he doesn't keep looking and accuse you of something worse.

It is because he always was ascribing the very worst possible motives to Linda for everything she did or even for stuff she didn't do that the prhase "the dragon was wroth with the woman" keeps running through my head. What person now days wouldn't think that since the test was in Linda's daughter's bag that her mother had bought it for her or that the daughter had bought it and borrowed the money from her mother. Then when he brought it up, they would know he had been snooping. Who would have thought that he would go through the daughter's bag and jump to the conclusion that it was Linda's and that she thought there was a chance she herself was pregnant. That's a big jump! The worst he would be expected to believe was that Linda had thought that her daughter was pregnant and that if Linda's daughter was having a baby it might reflect badly on 3ABN if Linda remained there.

Do the words OUTTA CONTROL ring a bell with anyone?

Posted by: Clay Aug 1 2006, 02:29 PM

Tall said:

> QUOTE
>
> And if I after reading the information am not informed enough to make a call on it, why is Watchbird, who knows nearly nothing of me able to make an informed decision about what kind of person I am ? I understand that she cares about those involved. I get that. But calling into question who I am does not help her case.
>
> You know me from CF so you might be able to say a bit more about who I am.. So it is that much more upsetting that you imply I am not compassionate because I disagree. If that is your view, I can take it and evaluate it. But at this point I don't agree with it.

All I am saying is that there is 2 yrs worth of info that is quite interesting and suggests that the reason for the divorce was suspect.... I am not implying that you are not compassionate, I am saying that you should be able to put yourself in another person's shoes even though that person may be a woman..... you may still disagree but that's were I am coming from.....

My position remains unchanged, even IF Linda did everything she was accused of doing, Mr. Shelton should NOT have treated her in the manner that he did.. including making her sign a gag order under duress...

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 1 2006, 04:11 PM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 1 2006, 02:48 PM)
>
> Who would have thought that he would go through the daughter's bag and jump to the conclusion that it was Linda's and that she thought there was a chance she herself was pregnant. That's a big jump!

I had been thinking the same thing, but was wondering why nobody mentioned it. My guess is that 3ABN "needs" the pregnancy kit to be exclusively Linda's and not Alyssa's.

3ABN's spokesperson makes no mention of Alyssa, the same way they originally made no mention of Alyssa's brother, Nathan, being in Norway.

Posted by: tall73 Aug 1 2006, 05:11 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 03:29 PM)
>
> Tall said:
>
> All I am saying is that there is 2 yrs worth of info that is quite interesting and suggests that the reason for the divorce was suspect.... I am not implying that you are not compassionate, I am saying that you should be able to put yourself in another person's shoes even though that person may be a woman..... you may still disagree but that's were I am coming from.....

That was my point actually. You don't have to think like a woman to put yourself in someone else's place.

> QUOTE
>
> My position remains unchanged, even IF Linda did everything she was accused of doing, Mr. Shelton should NOT have treated her in the manner that he did.. including making her sign a gag order under duress...

That I agree with.

Posted by: Johann Aug 1 2006, 05:46 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 1 2006, 10:29 PM)
>
> All I am saying is that there is 2 yrs worth of info that is quite interesting and suggests that the reason for the divorce was suspect.... I am not implying that you are not compassionate, I am saying that you should be able to put yourself in another person's shoes even though that person may be a woman..... you may still disagree but that's were I am coming from.....
>
> My position remains unchanged, even IF Linda did everything she was accused of doing, Mr. Shelton should NOT have treated her in the manner that he did.. including making her sign a gag order under duress...

Why this picture of yourself, Clay? You face looks haggard, or something like that!

You summaries are explicit and thought provoking, keeping us on the track!

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 1 2006, 06:51 PM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 1 2006, 12:48 PM)
>
> It is because he always was ascribing the very worst possible motives to Linda for everything she did or even for stuff she didn't do that the prhase "the dragon was wroth with the woman" keeps running through my head. What person now days wouldn't think that since the test was in Linda's daughter's bag that her mother had bought it for her or that the daughter had bought it and borrowed the money from her mother. Then when he brought it up, they would know he had been snooping. Who would have thought that he would go through the daughter's bag and jump to the conclusion that it was Linda's and that she thought there was a chance she herself was pregnant. That's a big jump! The worst he would be expected to believe was that Linda had thought that her daughter was pregnant and that if Linda's daughter was having a baby it might reflect badly on 3ABN if Linda remained there.
>
> Do the words OUTTA CONTROL ring a bell with anyone?

THANK YOU THANK YOU THANK YOU!! Finally someone has said exactly what makes perfect sense, and exactly what Linda was trying to show, even in a humorous non-long term way (IOW, she had NO CLUE it would be used against her in the court of The 3abn Commune). This is NOT about a PG test! Don't you guys see it? It's about ANYTHING that can be SOMETHING to fit HIS GOAL. That's it. That's all there is to it. It could have been a hair brush if it would fit something! This has NOTHING to do with a PG test! He has used it to suit his needs. We can't think of him in normal terms. This is far from a normal situation where "someone finds a pg test and thinks the worst". There are clues written all over this, OPEN YOUR EYES. OK, I'm a bit over emotional....taking dogs for walk...

rofl

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 1 2006, 07:25 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Aug 1 2006, 07:51 PM)
>
> This is NOT about a PG test! Don't you guys see it? It's about ANYTHING that can be SOMETHING to fit HIS GOAL. That's it. That's all there is to it. It could have been a hair brush if it would fit something! This has NOTHING to do with a PG test! He has used it to suit his needs.

That's right. Anything "usable" would have worked. It really had nothing to do with any box in Alyssa's shopping bag.

I think any item would have worked if met his goals.

Posted by: Clay Aug 1 2006, 07:31 PM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 1 2006, 05:11 PM)
>
> That was my point actually. You don't have to think like a woman to put yourself in someone else's place.
> That I agree with.

then we are on the same page.... carry on....

> QUOTE(Johann @ Aug 1 2006, 05:46 PM)
>
> Why this picture of yourself, Clay? You face looks haggard, or something like that!
>
> You summaries are explicit and thought provoking, keeping us on the track!

the picture on my profile? I think that is my serious face.... being the head heathen takes its toll you know..... rofl

Posted by: Brennen Aug 1 2006, 07:47 PM

"Let me repeat: Linda was getting so tired of Danny searching through everywhere for evidence against her, and she knew he would not find anything. He was not having much success with his accusation of spiritual adultery, as attested by 3ABN, and Linda knew he had nothing."

Listen to this lie. Danny accused Linda of traveling to her "friend" one month (year before last) several times in that month. The truth is that the times he was acussing her of being away from the United States visiting her friend, I was in conversation with her on the phone while she was in her home in the US. What does that tell you. Is he making up things? This is another one that he did.

Posted by: sister Aug 1 2006, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 1 2006, 08:25 PM)
>
> That's right. Anything "usable" would have worked. It really had nothing to do with any box in Alyssa's shopping bag.
>
> I think any item would have worked if it met his goals.

Now this is the golden thread of truth hidden in the midst of this discussion. Please don't miss it. If you are willing to look beyond the smoke screen that Danny and Walt have pitched, in regard to the pregnancy test and switch paradigms there is something fundamental to this entire situation that Panama Pete has astutely observed: it really has nothing to do with the test itsself, the pregnancy test merely became a convenient means in reaching a premeditaed goal. Danny's goal to rid himself of Linda and as soon as was legally possible, to marry Brandy.

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 1 2006, 08:32 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Aug 1 2006, 07:16 PM)
>
> Now this is the golden thread of truth hidden in the midst of this discussion. Please don't miss it. If you are willing to look beyond the smoke screen that Danny and Walt have pitched, in regard to the pregnancy test and switch paradigms there is something fundamental to this entire situation that Panama Pete has astutely observed: it really has nothing to do with the test itsself, the pregnancy test merely became a convenient means in reaching a premeditaed goal. Danny's goal to rid himself of Linda and as soon as was legally possible, to marry Brandy.

EXACTLY Makes you then see why all the "other" things he has said have to fit....I am not missing it. I have known, and I am glad to see that it's coming out, because when people start to see the real monster behind the curtain, they will begin to see what is really going on here. As I have said, it's much bigger then just Linda. And Linda is seeing it too. But it's painful at the same time for her - talk about "new light" coming her way. As we all know and see what's really been going on, imagine (I dont' have too, I know) what she is figuring out, putting together and looking back at so many clues. She's on her own journey, and believe me, she's gettin it. And it's not only NOT pleasant, it's down right scary. She will never be the same. But my prayer is she will be a stronger person, by God's amazing and healing grace.

Posted by: watchbird Aug 2 2006, 07:12 AM

Let's put all these together. For here are the clues to understanding. (emphases in quotes added)

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 1 2006, 01:48 PM)
>
> You can never be perfect enough for an abuser! Never, never, never. He wants to be right. He wants to be right more than he wants to be loved. He wants to catch you at something so he can put you down about it. The cop who follows you long enough will find something to pull you over for if he is looking for something or wants to throw his weight around. So when he pulls you over, you hope it will be for something little so he doesn't keep looking and accuse you of something worse.
>
> It is because he always was ascribing the very worst possible motives to Linda for everything she did or even for stuff she didn't do that the prhase "the dragon was wroth with the woman" keeps running through my head. What person now days wouldn't think that since the test was in Linda's daughter's bag that her mother had bought it for her or that the daughter had bought it and borrowed the money from her mother. Then when he brought it up, they would know he had been snooping. Who would have thought that he would go through the daughter's bag and jump to the conclusion that it was Linda's and that she thought there was a chance she herself was pregnant. That's a big jump! The worst he would be expected to believe was that Linda had thought that her daughter was pregnant and that if Linda's daughter was having a baby it might reflect badly on 3ABN if Linda remained there.
>
> Do the words OUTTA CONTROL ring a bell with anyone?

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Aug 1 2006, 06:51 PM)
>
> THANK YOU THANK YOU THANK YOU!! Finally someone has said exactly what makes perfect sense, and exactly what Linda was trying to show, even in a humorous non-long term way (IOW, she had NO CLUE it would be used against her in the court of The 3abn Commune). [/b] That's it. That's all there is to it. It could have been a hair brush if it would fit something! This has NOTHING to do with a PG test! He has used it to suit his needs. We can't think of him in normal terms. This is far from a normal situation where "someone finds a pg test and thinks the worst". There are clues written all over this, OPEN YOUR EYES. OK, I'm a bit over emotional....taking dogs for walk... rofl

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 1 2006, 07:25 PM)
>
> That's right. Anything "usable" would have worked. It really had nothing to do with any box in Alyssa's shopping bag.
> I think any item would have worked if met his goals.

> QUOTE(sister @ Aug 1 2006, 08:16 PM)
>
> Now this is the golden thread of truth hidden in the midst of this discussion. Please don't miss it. If you are willing to look beyond the smoke screen that Danny and Walt have pitched, in regard to the pregnancy test and switch paradigms there is something fundamental to this entire situation that Panama Pete has astutely observed: it really has nothing to do with the test itsself, the pregnancy test merely became a convenient means in reaching a premeditaed goal. Danny's goal to rid himself of Linda and as soon as was legally possible, to marry Brandy.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Aug 1 2006, 08:32 PM)
>
> EXACTLY Makes you then see why all the "other" things he has said have to fit....I am not missing it. I have known, and I am glad to see that it's coming out, because when people start to see the real monster behind the curtain, they will begin to see what is really going on here. As I have said, it's much bigger then just Linda. And Linda is seeing it too. But it's painful at the same time for her - talk about "new light" coming her way. As we all know and see what's really been going on, imagine (I dont' have too, I know) what she is figuring out, putting together and looking back at so many clues. She's on her own journey, and believe me, she's gettin it. And it's not only NOT pleasant, it's down right scary. She will never be the same. But my prayer is she will be a stronger person, by God's amazing and healing grace.

Yes ...... yes........ YES!!........ ....

Especially put together the two sentences in red above......."Now this is the golden thread of truth hidden in the midst of this discussion." and " it's much bigger then just Linda." The issue is not just about "proving" Linda innocent nor judging her wisdom in the things she did. The searchlight needs to be taken off of Linda, the victim, and turned on the one who victimized her.

But not only that, the issue is much bigger than merely how Danny has treated Linda. she gains our attention and our sympathy (and it is right that she should) but WHY do we see her in the spotlight? Who is it that continually turns it on her ..... and why do they do so? Is it not so that we will be blinded to the one who keeps it focused on her? Is it also not so that we will not see what else there is going on in the shadows--not even the other victims that are suffering just as much even though not so publicly?

Here is the real problem I had with Tall's statement. Of course he has the same right the rest of us have to express his convictions. But Tall went beyond that and tied his convictions (or his doubts) in this one "Exhibit A" that was promoted as "proof of her guilt", to the entirely separate question of finances, when in fact this is an entirely different matter. Questions of financial support of 3ABN need to be tied to evidence as to how finances at 3ABN are handled. It is appropriate to determine the truth about what Linda has done, and even to explore various reasons why she might have done what she did. But WHATEVER the truth in this area, that does not change the truths and untruths in other areas. And we must not lose sight of those other areas in our eagerness to clear Linda's name and restore her reputation.

The Televangelist is still the most concise document we have that surveys these many other areas. since it gives a "bird's eye view" of the whole territory, giving only glimpses of specific "trees" in the forest and allusions to action seen below both past and present at the time of writing. And also iit can be compared to a "bird's eye view" in that it is in some ways "non-verbal"-- especially when it comes to giving specific names. But taking that along with Sister's "Unauthorized History" and other threads over the past two years, one can keep one's perspective of the whole at the same time one is focused on the details of one part, and one can find and insert specific names into the original document.

Essentially, the things put out by Walt Thompson and said by Danny cn be compared to "smoke screens" or magicians "mirrors" which are slanted in ways so we do not see what is, and we think we see what is not. Let's not be fooled by the "smoke and mirrors" used on the 3ABN set(up), nor let them drive nor lure us away from turning our own spotlights on the persons and areas who are standing behind the curtain or concealed in the shadows.

Posted by: tall73 Aug 2 2006, 10:46 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 2 2006, 08:12 AM) ☐
>
> Here is the real problem I had with Tall's statement. Of course he has the same right the rest of us have to express his convictions. But Tall went beyond that and tied his convictions (or his doubts) in this one "Exhibit A" that was promoted as "proof of her guilt", to the entirely separate question of finances, when in fact this is an entirely different matter.

The finances are a different matter. But you tied them in with your response when you said that it was your role to inform people of what they were like so that they would stop supporting them.

> QUOTE
>
> Questions of financial support of 3ABN need to be tied to evidence as to how finances at 3ABN are handled. It is appropriate to determine the truth about what Linda has done, and even to explore various reasons why she might have done what she did. But WHATEVER the truth in this area, that does not change the truths and untruths in other areas. And we must not lose sight of those other areas in our eagerness to clear Linda's name and restore her reputation.

It is well and good to investigate their finances, and from the details it looks troubling. But supporters would have equal pause in giving if they failed morally again and again and did not repent, and kept on appearing on television. So no, they are not separate. The question of financial support is the one I brought up and it is directly related to the marital saga, and in that respect to exhibit "A". I have made no comment that I recall on their financial dealings yet, but only on the goal of interrupting support.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Aug 13 2006, 09:47 PM

Putting all of this together.....

Why is Danny taking off for "3 months" or so?

☒ sn

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 13 2006, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Aug 13 2006, 08:47 PM) ☐
>
> Putting all of this together.....
>
> Why is Danny taking off for "3 months" or so?
>
> ☒ sn

Princess di said it well in the http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10422
Post #14

Posted by: watchbird Feb 26 2007, 10:35 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Aug 1 2006, 08:25 PM) ☐
>
> That's right. Anything "usable" would have worked. It really had nothing to do with any box in Alyssa's shopping bag.
>
> I think any item would have worked if met his goals.

bum

Time to bump this up to the head of the list where it will be handy for those who love to root around in shopping bags hidden in out of the way places for stray bits of evidence..... errrrr.... 'scuse the mixing of metaphors .....

BUT... while it's title doesn't seem to fit the topic, nor the final posts above seem to be about it, this is, in fact, the thread where the majority... though not all.... of the discussion went on about the now infamous pg text.... though never used.... or used in strange and curious ways ... however one wishes to look at it (double entendres intended where ever detected, or even suspected).....

Have at it folks... dig in and share with your neighbors..... tableta .... gossip ......

.... TVsnack. ....

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 26 2007, 11:53 AM

After reading this thread (thanks watchbird) I have a new opinion: I think what Linda and her daughter did was hilarious (the joke), even if it wasn't wise. To have that kind of man in the house--always suspicious--is the very root of evil in a home. Education, last chapter I think, describes what happens when men are always looking out of the corner of their eye at their family. Dark clouds of doubt aways hanging overhead. What a horrible way to build trust. I still think God hadn't been in that marriage for some time.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 26 2007, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 26 2007, 12:53 PM)
>
> After reading this thread (thanks watchbird) I have a new opinion: I think what Linda and her daughter did was hilarious (the joke), even if it wasn't wise. To have that kind of man in the house--always suspicious--is the very root of evil in a home. Education, last chapter I think, describes what happens when men are always looking out of the corner of their eye at their family. Dark clouds of doubt aways hanging overhead. What a horrible way to build trust. I still think God hadn't been in that marriage for some time.

You're welcome. Actually it's been awhile so I'm not sure how much is here either. I know there is some discussion elsewhere that helps paint a picture of how humor was used in their house... which also would be a factor in why she did what she did.

Posted by: Johann Feb 27 2007, 08:03 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Feb 26 2007, 07:53 PM) ☐
>
> After reading this thread (thanks watchbird) I have a new opinion: I think what Linda and her daughter did was hilarious (the joke), even if it wasn't wise. To have that kind of man in the house--always suspicious--is the very root of evil in a home. Education, last chapter I think, describes what happens when men are always looking out of the corner of their eye at their family. Dark clouds of doubt aways hanging overhead. What a horrible way to build trust. I still think God hadn't been in that marriage for some time.

Danny Shelton once described what was going on between him and Linda as a spirituial warfare which he insisted he had a patent on understanding. I agreed with him that it was a spiritual warfare, but I feared that he was on the wrong side of the fence.

What you say here, Laurence, I believe is a truth that some people do not perceive. I noticed that God was no longer in that marriage as far as Danny was concerned already when we all - Danny, Linda, Tommy, and I travelled together through Europe several months before the break. Already then I breathed a prayer, Lord save this marriage! But a marriage needs two people to be in agreement to stay together.

Posted by: Clay Feb 27 2007, 08:46 AM

Danny had NO grounds for divorce.... none biblically that is..... so he contrived a story and some people have believed it from day one.... However the fact remains.... he had NO grounds for divorce....

65

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Old- (see New Thread)

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 23 2007, 12:57 PM

This thread started in order to summarize a topic, but was quickly pulled off topic. Please see the new thread. Sorry for the inconvenience.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:09 PM

thank you for summarizing this information....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:29 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Feb 23 2007, 12:57 PM)
>
> I
>
> g. Total number of alleged victims may be 20, as low as 14 or as high as an unknown number.

Wow, with those kinds of numbers (that you "heard" about and "estimated") over that many years, you would think at least 1 person could have proved something, wouldn't you. Also, if it so obvious, and so many problems, LS would have had to have known all about it. Why did she approach him about helping her write songs? Which they did. Why did she hire him in her department after he moved back from dunloring and why did she travel and sing with him up until she left 3abn?
Don't waste anyones time on "her husband must have forced her". I am sure DS could have cared less if she wanted to have TS write songs with her. That was her choice.
Be real people, if Ds is to be held accountable for what he did or did not know, LS would have to face the exact same accountability. You either need to make a public call for her accountability or drop your accusations with DS about what he did or did not know at what time.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:33 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:29 PM)
>
> Wow, with those kinds of numbers (that you "heard" about and "estimated") over that many years, you would think at least 1 person could have proved something, wouldn't you. Also, if it so obvious, and so many problems, LS would have had to have known all about it. Why did she approach him about helping her write songs? Which they did. Why did she hire him in her department after he moved back from dunloring and why did she travel and sing with him up until she left 3abn?
> Don't waste anyones time on "her husband must have forced her". I am sure DS could have cared less if she wanted to have TS write songs with her. That was her choice.
> Be real people, if Ds is to be held accountable for what he did or did not know, LS would have to face the exact same accountability. You either need to make a public call for her accountability or drop your accusations with DS about what he did or did not know at what time.

spreading the blame around now is that what you are suggesting bystander? Not enough that you stand by and do nothing, but you wish to hold both Danny and Linda responsible for the molestation perpetrated by Tommy? you sir have gall.... and the nerve to make the inference that because it cannot be proven it must not have happened....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:33 PM)
>
> spreading the blame around now is that what you are suggesting bystander? Not enough that you stand by and do nothing, but you wish to hold both Danny and Linda responsible for the molestation perpetrated by Tommy? you sir have gall.... and the nerve to make the inference that because it cannot be proven it must not have happened....

Again, even though I wasn't talking to you......Give me one reason That LS wouldn't be held accountable if DS should be? Just one (that actually makes sense of course) You say DS was aware of everything, then so was Linda, You say DS was wrong to hire him, He was under Linda, she hired him. What is sauce for the goose, as they say....You know I'm right clay, well...most any "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> Again, even though I wasn't talking to you......Give me one reason That LS wouldn't be held accountable if DS should be? Just one (that actually makes sense of course) You say DS was aware of everything, then so was Linda, You say DS was wrong to hire him, He was under Linda, she hired him. What is sauce for the goose, as they say....You know I'm right clay, well...most any "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right.

I was talking to you.... and I don't have to give you any reason... in fact your logic is flawed and all one has to do is read a few of your comments to see what you are doing.... dannyscribing.... thats all it amounts too.... the only thing I do know about you, and its not that you are right, is that you are committed to danny come hell or high water.... that you will do all you can to divert people from the real issues and the truth.... that if we say the sky is blue you will suggest its green....

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 23 2007, 01:51 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:29 PM)
>
> Clang, Clang, Clang......

Way

This topic has NOTHING to do with Danny or Linda. If you have any information to contribute to this topic, please do so. Otherwise please stay on topic.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:38 PM)
>
> well...most any "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right.

Again This belongs in the comedy section.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 01:52 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:43 PM)
>
> I was talking to you.... and I don't have to give you any reason... in fact your logic is flawed and all one has to do is read a few of your comments to see what you are doing.... dannyscribing.... thats all it amounts too.... the only thing I do know about you, and its not that you are right, is that you are committed to danny come hell or high water.... that you will do all you can to divert people from the real issues and the truth.... that if we say the sky is blue you will suggest its green....

I knew you couldn't give me one good reason

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 01:57 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 01:52 PM)
>
> I knew you couldn't give me one good reason

didn't have to.... just making people aware that you are trying to hijack a thread.....

Posted by: Fran Feb 23 2007, 01:58 PM

wrong thread....

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 23 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Feb 23 2007, 03:58 PM)
>
> wrong thread....

Now that is a much nicer inside voice from the initial form of this post. The original form seemed to be about Linda Worship.

- FHB

Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:23 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 01:57 PM)
>
> didn't have to.... just making people aware that you are trying to hijack a thread.....

Well by all means, move to one you think more appropriate and give me a reason.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:23 PM)
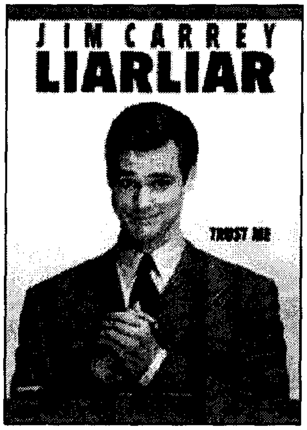
>
> Well by all means, move to one you think more appropriate and give me a reason.

let's see I already told you that you are full of untruths.... as as my mother would say, why ask the truth from a person who is full of untruths?



Posted by: Bystander Feb 23 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 23 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> let's see I already told you that you are full of untruths.... as as my mother would say, why ask the truth from a person who is full of untruths?

If only you would address the question instead of name calling. You don't because you can't but are too prideful to admit you can't. It is actually a simple questions but you have made several posts full of junk to avoid the answer. Ok, well, I tried, I'm bored now.

Posted by: lookin4truth Feb 23 2007, 02:59 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:29 PM)
>
> Wow, with those kinds of numbers (that you "heard" about and "estimated") over that many years, you would think at least 1 person could have proved something, wouldn't you. Also, if it so obvious, and so many problems, LS would have had to have known all about it. Why did she approach him about helping her write songs? Which they did. Why did she hire him in her department after he moved back from dunloring and why did she travel and sing with him up until she left 3abn?
> Don't waste anyones time on "her husband must have forced her". I am sure DS could have cared less if she wanted to have TS write songs with her. That was her choice.
> Be real people, if Ds is to be held accountable for what he did or did not know, LS would have to face the exact same accountability. You either need to make a public call for her accountability or drop your accusations with DS about what he did or did not know at what time.

Once again, Bystander doesn't offer any defense for Tommy. Instead he tries to change the subject to other people, and hijack the thread to take the attention off of the crimes committed by Tommy.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 04:24 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 02:29 PM)
>
> Wow, with those kinds of numbers (that you "heard" about and "estimated") over that many years, you would think at least 1 person could have proved something, wouldn't you...
>
> > QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 05:54 PM)
> >
> > This email was forwarded to me with permission to post it. I will do so.
> >
> > 3ABN income is public record. I guess anyone can get them. The question should be asked, Why > did Linda make more money than Danny when she was working there. She was only Vice President. She should be making less. Did it ever occur to anyone that she felt she deserved more than the President. A very inflated view of one's self I would think.

>
> 1.. Clang, clang, clang...
>
> 2..The figures represented show his benefits except Health Insurance even including several thousand dollars that he pays annually for use of a company car that shows up on his income tax as a benefit thus raising the bottom line of his total income a year. Also, in 2004 and 2005 he chose to work through much of his vacation time and was paid for it, which also shows up on the bottom line of total salary.
>
> 3..Records show Yada, wah, blah, blah, blah
>
> 4.. Blay, blah, yada, clang (notice the enclosed documents as proof! (I have a copy of the documents but can't seem to scan them on. I will try again later.) Bystander
>
> ... Clang, clang, clang
>
> 5.. Yada yada
> 6.. Blah blah blah...
> 7.. Clang, clang...
> 8..Yada yada...
> 9.. Blah blah blah...
> 10.. Clang, clang, yada, blah, blah...
>
> Fact: Linda handled the biggest part of the finances. 3abn has access to thousands and thousands of checks written over the years for bills, groceries, purchases, utilities, ect ect in Linda's handwriting and Linda's signature
>
> Fact: Danny does not give himself raises. Only the 3ABN board of Directors can give him a raise.
>
> Fact: While Danny and Linda were married and they had two incomes to pay the bills, it has already been noticed that Linda chose to make more than Danny. The 3ABN board has never voted for Linda to make more money than Danny as President. As minutes to 3ABN board meeting will reflect Danny refused cost of living raises that all salaried employees get each year. Linda continued to take her money. This is how she went from making her salary of several thousand dollars a year less than Danny to making several thousands of of dollars a year more than Danny.

OK, Bystander, now you claim DS did not take his cost of living increases correct? So the next logical step, in this fact finding mission, is that DS did make more money than LS from the start, right? Now the logical progression is that her income will increase gradually. However, that does not prove that she ended up making more money than DS, it only means she was making more than she had been previously. Now, Bystander, according to your logic, because LS continued to take her cost of living increases which she had every legal right to do, and she may have started making more money than him, which you have not given any verifiable proof of btw , LS is at fault due to the fact that he did not take his cost of living increases? Do you smell the mess you are trying to ask us to swallow? We do.

> QUOTE
>
> Fact; Danny has never faulted her for taking what the board had voted for her to take. He just didn't feel that they needed the total amount awarded by the board for salaries.

> Folks don't waste your time trying to tear this up, this has all been verified.
>
> You either need to make a public call for... accountability or drop your accusations with DS about what he did or did not know at what time.

Wait didn't you say above that you could not scan the documents you claim to have? And, it is nteresting to note that, based on your claims, DS did not fault her for taking her cost of living ncreases, yet you obviously do. Why is that? Again, where is ALL this verified. Oh yes, in the docuents you can't scan. Or, is it possible an imaginary dog ate your homework?

Oh and this is all verified based on what, YOUR word?

Bystander you have the nerve to say to Whtz Happenin:

> QUOTE
>
> Wow, with those kinds of numbers (that you "heard" about and "estimated") over that many years, you would think at least 1 person could have proved something, wouldn't you.

Knowing you said this:

> QUOTE
>
> (notice the enclosed documents as proof! (I have a copy of the documents but can't seem to scan them on. I will try again later.) Bystander

Speaking of "accountability" this is what the word of God says:

Lev 19:35 Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in meteyard, in weight, or in measure.
Mat 7:2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.

Mat 12:37 For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.

Let them that hath an ear hear...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 05:03 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 12:38 PM)
>
> Again, even though I wasn't talking to you......Give me one reason That LS wouldn't be held accountable if DS should be? Just one (that actually makes sense of course) You say DS was aware of everything, then so was Linda, You say DS was wrong to hire him, He was under Linda, she hired him. What is sauce for the goose, as they say....You know I'm right clay, well...most any "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right.

Bystander, when you are posting on an open forum you are "talking" to all of us, even when you are directing your post to someone else. If you seek privacy in your dialogue, PM.

If Tommy is guilty, he is accountable. If Danny knew, he was accountable. If Linda knew, she was accountable. If you knew, you are accountable. If wwjd knew, he is accountable. If the BoD knew, they are accountable.

PB

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 06:18 PM) ☐
>
> Whtz Happenin,
>
> This is a great start! It looks like you put a lot of time into this. Thank you! It will be interesting how the time line evolves, now, as it continues to be fleshed out.
>
> PB

Fact: It amounts to a bunch of accusations, and very little facts and evidence PB.

When the time of trouble comes, God's people will be convicted and found guilty and sentenced to death this same way, no doubt you'll read it all and think, well that's a great start, if a majority claims it's true, it must be???

Am I proclaiming, T.S. innocent or guilty? No!

I'm simply saying, you are all in a rush to judgment and have condemned a man already without "proving all things", and that brings shame on the people proclaiming God's name and professing to be part of the remnant Church.

Don't bother with the I don't judge, protests P.B. They are weak and tired...
I know, You have said over and over " I would like to see Tommy proved innocent" thinking apparently that it makes you look fair.

But what that really means is you don't believe he's innocent till proven guilty, you've already judged him and condemned him.

Sad...

gonna move this comment to the other thread....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 23 2007, 03:38 PM) ☐
>
> Again, even though I wasn't talking to you......Give me one reason That LS wouldn't be held accountable if DS should be? Just one (that actually makes sense of course) You say DS was aware of everything, then so was Linda, You say DS was wrong to hire him, He was under Linda, she hired him. What is sauce for the goose, as they say....You know I'm right clay, well...most any > "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right.

Jes as I was about to say it.....

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 07:03 PM)
>
> Bystander, when you are posting on an open forum you are "talking" to all of us, even when you are directing your post to someone else. If you seek privacy in your dialogue, PM.

Someone else said it for me.....

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 07:03 PM)
>
> If Tommy is guilty, he is accountable. If Danny knew, he was accountable. If Linda knew, she was accountable. If you knew, you are accountable. If wwjd knew, he is accountable. If the BoD knew, they are accountable.

Perfectly stated. ...and if you have a child - and you allow them to be in the company of someone who has molested in the past and you know it you are not acting as a parent.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 07:23 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 23 2007, 08:15 PM)
>
> QUOTE Bystander:
> "Again, even though I wasn't talking to you......Give me one reason That LS wouldn't be held accountable if DS should be? Just one (that actually makes sense of course) You say DS was aware of everything, then so was Linda, You say DS was wrong to hire him, He was under Linda, she hired him. What is sauce for the goose, as they say....You know I'm right clay, well...most any "reasonable" thinking person knows I'm right."
>
> Jes as I was about to say it.....
>
> Someone else said it for me.....
> "QUOTE PeacefullyBewildered:
> "If Tommy is guilty, he is accountable. If Danny knew, he was accountable. If Linda knew, she was accountable. If you knew, you are accountable. If wwjd knew, he is accountable. If the BoD knew, they are accountable."
>
> Perfectly stated. ...and if you have a child - and you allow them to be in the company of someone who has molested in the past and you know it you are not acting as a parent.

You say one thing and do another...

All of your ire is against Danny Shelton, not once has one person who has over and over proclaimed T.S. a pedophile and Child molester proven that, or condemned or found fault with Linda Shelton.

And Re when you stand in court as you keep saying you are willing to do, and you will.

For we will all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. How are you going to justify your personal accusations and condemnations?

Do you have facts and evidence to back it up? Have you rendered a righteous judgment?

I hope so...

For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 07:31 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 07:55 PM) ☐
>
> Fact: It amounts to a bunch of accusations, and very little facts and evidence PB.

Which is your stock in trade, Cindy.

> QUOTE
>
> When the time of trouble comes, God's people will be convicted and found guilty and sentenced to death this same way, no doubt you'll read it all and think, well that's a great start, if a majority claims it's true, it must be???

And I bet you'll be the first one in line to get your very own Schutzstaffel uniform... Herr Himmler would be so proud... and your first act of 'loyalty' would be pointing out those very people of God... " there they are, herr capitan; they are all members of those seditious seventh-day adventists"

> QUOTE
>
> Am I proclaiming, T.S. innocent or guilty? No!

And of course your trying to paint his actions as those of consenting adults was just your practicing for the school debate team?

> QUOTE
>
> I'm simply saying, you are all in a rush to judgment and have condemned a man already without "proving all things", and that brings shame on the people proclaiming God's name and professing to be part of the remnant Church.

You do realize the more you make this claim the bigger a hypocrite you make yourself... right now you are dwarfing the statue of liberty

> QUOTE
>
> Don't bother with the I don't judge, protests P.B. They are weak and tired...
> I know, You have said over and over " I would like to see Tommy proved innocent" thinking apparently that it makes you look fair.

Since fairness was never your desired end, you dont have that to worry about do you, Cindy...

> QUOTE
>
> But what that really means is you don't believe he's innocent till proven guilty, you've already judged him and condemned him.
> Sad...

Ummm no; you have this forum confused with the Church of God establishment in Illinois and Virginia who both came to the same conclusion about the same person... and based on their investigation, they found him guilty and he lost his ministerial credentials as a result of it...but if you think Tommy is 'innocent'... let him watch your son... overnight... put your money where your mouth is and put your male child in his care... I dare you.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 07:34 PM

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 07:38 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

You better start stocking up on Nestea, then...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:44 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 09:23 PM)

> You say one thing and do another...
>
> All of your ire is against Danny Shelton, not once has one person who has over and over proclaimed T.S. a pedophile and Child molester proven that, or condemned or found fault with Linda Shelton.
>
> And Re when you stand in court as you keep saying you are willing to do, and you will.
>
> For we will all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. How are you going to justify your personal accusations and condemnations?
>
> Do you have facts and evidence to back it up? Have you rendered a righteous judgment?
>
> I hope so...
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

The exact same fact and evidence you require of me is the exact same facts and evidence you will have to have when you see me in court. I promise - IF/WHEN I go to court I will prevail. GOD is with me. I PROMISE.

A "threat" is mere empty words. I PROMISE.

Now Aletheia....

I know I have to stand before the judgement seat of CHRIST. I hope that you will be standing also and not slain by the brightness of his coming. With that being said you can direct all "threats" in PM. I can send you all contact information necessary for my process summons - however note this: If/when sued I am not just counter-suing "just" Danny Shelton and Tommy Shelton. I will place everyone on suit that works for 3ABN currently that know of the truth and are denying it. (As a "unit" if you will).

Play if you wanna. Like I said. I don't play.

In the name of JESUS I rebuke you satan! In the name of JESUS!!! You are rebuked satan! Your lies and means of twisting words are not welcome here on this blessed Sabbath day! IN THE NAME OF JESUS satan YOU MUST BOW BEFORE THE LORD!

Posted by: lookin4truth Feb 23 2007, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

It's good you know the verse you quoted above.

Keep this one in mind also.

Rom 1:32 Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them.

Tommy wrote an open letter. In it he tried to guilt those who would expose his sin.
Carol wrote an open letter. In it she blamed others for the problems her husband caused.

If Tommy is innocent, why does he not proclaim his innocence, instead of trashing those who know the truth.

And there are those who know the truth.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 23 2007, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 23 2007, 05:24 PM)
>
> OK, Bystander, now you claim DS did not take his cost of living increases correct? So the next logical step, in this fact finding mission, is that DS did make more money than LS from the start, right? Now the logical progression is that her income will increase gradually. However, that does not prove that she ended up making more money than DS, it only means she was making more than she had been previously. Now, Bystander, according to your logic, because LS continued to take her cost of living increases which she had every legal right to do, and she may have started making more money than him, which you have not given any verifiable proof of btw , LS is at fault due to the fact that he did not take his cost of living increases? Do you smell the mess you are trying to ask us to swallow? We do.
>
> You either need to make a public call for... accountability or drop your accusations with DS about what he did or did not know at what time.
>
> Wait didn't you say above that you could not scan the documents you claim to have? And, it is interesting to note that, based on your claims, DS did not fault her for taking her cost of living increases, yet you obviously do. Why is that? Again, where is ALL this verified. Oh yes, in the docuents you can't scan. Or, is it possible an imaginary dog ate your homework?
>
> Oh and this is all verified based on what, YOUR word?
>
> Bystander you have the nerve to say to Whtz Happenin: Knowing you said this:
>
> Speaking of "accountability" this is what the word of God says:
>
> Lev 19:35 Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment, in meteyard, in weight, or in measure.
> Mat 7:2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.
>
> Mat 12:37 For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned.
>
> Let them that hath an ear hear...

Bystander your ride is here:

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> You say one thing and do another...
>
> Do you have facts and evidence to back it up? Have you rendered a righteous judgment?
>
> I hope so...
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

Thank you for agreeing. Bystander does tend to say one thing then do another, has trouble with his "verifiable" fact/evidence and, to top it off, does not render righteous judgment.

And Aletheia, since you put it so eloquently, there is nothing to be added:

> QUOTE
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

As mentioned previously, Bystander your ride is here and we don't want to hold y'all up.

Attached Image

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 07:51 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 23 2007, 08:31 PM)
>
> Ummm no; you have this forum confused with the Church of God establishment in Illinois and Virginia who both came to the same conclusion about the same person... and based on their investigation, they found him guiltyIn His service,
> Mr. J

You must have information and evidence that I don't...

I know of the letter of suspension in Illinois, pending an investigation, which referred to a police investigation -- and that no charges were filed.

But the findings of the Ezra Church of God?

Nope haven't seen it.

The Virginaia Church? haven't even seen any documentation from them, haven't seen one alleged victims statement , or even any support from them for Dryden.

Do you have facts and evidence Mr Josey???? because I'd really like to see what your justification is for your claims here...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 07:53 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 23 2007, 09:44 PM)
>
> In the name of JESUS I rebuke you satan! In the name of JESUS!!! You are rebuked satan! Your lies and means of twisting words are not welcome here on this blessed Sabbath day! IN THE NAME OF JESUS satan YOU MUST BOW BEFORE THE LORD!

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 08:00 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 23 2007, 08:45 PM)
>
> Bystander your ride is here:
>
> Thank you for agreeing. Bystander does tend to say one thing then do another, has trouble with his "verifiable" fact/evidence and, to top it off, does not render righteous judgment.
>
> And Aletheia, since you put it so eloquently, there is nothing to be added:
> [b][/b]
>
> As mentioned previously, Bystander your ride is here and we don't want to hold y'all up.
>
> Attached Image

Seraphim, I tend to ignore you, and the reason is because your fruits are always showing.

But, for the record here, don't thank me, for I don't agree with you

---

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 08:01 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:51 PM)
>
> You must have information and evidence that I don't...

I have a great many things you don't... a happy marriage, common sense and a clue for starters...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 08:08 PM

Re? Is that how you prove truth, and justify yourself???

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 23 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > QUOTEawesumtenor
> > Ummm no; you have this forum confused with the Church of God establishment in Illinois and Virginia who both came to the same conclusion about the same person... and based on their investigation, they found him guiltyIn His service,
> > Mr. J
> >
> > Quote:Aletheia:
> >
> > You must have information and evidence that I don't...
> >
> > I know of the letter of suspension in Illinois, pending an investigation, which referred to a police investigation -- and that no charges were filed.
> >
> > But the findings of the Ezra Church of God?
> >
> > Nope haven't seen it.
> >
> > The Virginaia Church? haven't even seen any documentation from them, haven't seen one alleged victims statement , or even any support from them for Dryden.
> >
> > Do you have facts and evidence Mr Josey???? because I'd really like to see what your justification is for your claims here...
>
> I have a great many things you don't... a happy marriage, common sense and a clue for starters...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

In otherwords you enter discussions, argue, make unsupported claims and accusations, and when asked for evidence, this is how you justify yourself and prove things?

So long as the readers here can see that...

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 08:13 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 07:23 PM)
>
> You say one thing and do another...
>
> All of your ire is against Danny Shelton, not once has one person who has over and over proclaimed T.S. a pedophile and Child molester proven that, or condemned or found fault with Linda Shelton.
>
> And Re when you stand in court as you keep saying you are willing to do, and you will.
>
> For we will all stand before the judgment seat of Christ. How are you going to justify your personal accusations and condemnations?
>
> Do you have facts and evidence to back it up? Have you rendered a righteous judgment?
>
> I hope so...
>
> For all liars, and all those who love lies will not enter the city and will be cast into the lake of fire.

While the rest of you have done a more-than-adequate job poking holes in this, I am compelled to respond.

Here are the tactics in this post by Aletheia:
1. Claim that this is all about Danny, which it is manifestly not
2. Divert the discussion away from Tommy back to the allegations Danny & Co made against Linda, which have never been substantiated in any meaningful way
3. Threaten Re' (and by extension the other posters) with appearing in court under a lawsuit
4. But then switch to making a threat about judgment day and hellfire and appearing before God, so no one can say they were threatened with a lawsuit
5. Pretend all the facts and evidence on this site and save3abn.com don't exist

By the way, I found out I know Re' from SWAU days, I wouldn't want to be on the other side of the courtroom from her.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:08 PM)
>
> Re? Is that how you prove truth, and justify yourself???
> In otherwords you enter discussions, argue, make unsupported claims and accusations, and when asked for evidence, this is how you justify yourself and prove things?
>
> So long as the readers here can see that...

Here are the tactics in this post by Aletheia:

1. Accuse others of exactly what she's been doing since December 6
2. Ignore all the evidence placed on these boards by eyewitnesses and victims of the Sheltons and pretend it isn't there.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 23 2007, 08:15 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 09:08 PM)
>
> Re? Is that how you prove truth, and justify yourself???
> In otherwords you enter discussions, argue, make unsupported claims and accusations, and when asked for evidence, this is how you justify yourself and prove things?
>
> So long as the readers here can see that...

Mat 7:2 For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. 3 And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? 4 Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye? 5 Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.

Keep on Cindy... you are talking about yourself with every comment... and doing a far better job of showing yourself weighed in the balance and found wanting than I or any other could...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 09:08 PM)
>
> While the rest of you have done a more-than-adequate job poking holes in this, I am compelled to respond.
>
> Here are the tactics in this post by Aletheia:
> 1. Claim that this is all about Danny, which it is manifestly not

Dude where have you been? Look all around you these people don't care about Tommy Shelton, except as a means to bring Danny and 3ABN down. they are only concerned with Children that may be harmed because he was employed by 3ABN.

Save3ABN and the little group of "Investigators" has never been concerned with bringing Tommy to justice if he''s guilty.

They just want Danny and all to step down.

Go ahead quote something from them to prove what I say error.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 08:23 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 05:55 PM) ☐
>
> Fact: It amounts to a bunch of accusations, and very little facts and evidence PB.
>
> When the time of trouble comes, God's people will be convicted and found guilty and sentenced to death this same way, no doubt you'll read it all and think, well that's a great start, if a majority claims it's true, it must be???
>
> Am I proclaiming, T.S. innocent or guilty? No!
>
> I'm simply saying, you are all in a rush to judgment and have condemned a man already without "proving all things", and that brings shame on the people proclaiming God's name and professing to be part of the remnant Church.
>
> Don't bother with the I don't judge, protests P.B. They are weak and tired...
> I know, You have said over and over " I would like to see Tommy proved innocent" thinking apparently that it makes you look fair.
>
> But what that really means is you don't believe he's innocent till proven guilty, you've already judged him and condemned him.
> Sad...
>
> gonna move this comment to the other thread....

Thank you for your comments. You have a right to come to your own conclusions and to have your own opinions.

I would really appreciate it if you could go over to save3abn and read the email that Tommy sent to Duane Clem. Here's the link:

http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm

After you have read that, please come back and tell me if it proves anything. I'm really interested in your take on what Tommy writes in that email. Pay close attention to where he says "you resisted every attempt that I ever made". Does that sound like Duane was a willing participant?

You can continue to discount the evidence, the statements and Tommy's confession if that is what makes you comfortable. You can continue to attack those who are compelled by that evidence and feel duty-bound to call for accountability for the sake of those who claim to have been victimized.

When you see the evidence and hear the victims' statements, is it really a Christian reaction to turn away, put your finger to your lips and say "Shhhhhhhh!". There isn't a soap strong enough to wash that kind of blood off of your hands.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 08:30 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:16 PM) ☐

> Dude where have you been? Look all around you these people don't care about Tommy Shelton, except as a means to bring Danny and 3ABN down. they are only concerned with Children that may be harmed because he was employed by 3ABN.
>
> Save3ABN and the little group of "Investigators" has never been concerned with bringing Tommy to justice if he''s guilty.
>
> They just want Danny and all to step down.
>
> Go ahead quote something from them to prove what I say error.

Tactics used in this post by Aletheia
1. Pretend she hasn't already seen what she asks for--if she really has read all the threads as the denizens have begged her to do for weeks
2. Stonewall by asking the poster to return through months of posts to dig up quotes from the period in which most of these people were still open-minded, waiting for the evidence
2. Make accusations about hidden intentions on the part of save3abn.

But wait, I do have a response!

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 23 2007, 08:03 PM)
>
> Pray the Lord to cause us to hear His still, small voice, making clear His will for the direction we should take, as King Jehoshaphat did in 2 Chronicles, chapter 20, when—surrounded by his enemies (that God did not permit him to destroy)—he proclaimed a fast in all Judah, and assembled the people for prayer. We will look to the Lord for all the answers, and trust He will provide the plan for victory!
>
> In honor of 3ABN's day of fasting and prayer, we invite everyone to join with them in praying that God will reveal to them the true source of difficulty, the true enemy within.
>
> We would also like to extend to them the offer that we will cease publishing additional material about the various allegations once an adequate plan is put into place to address the various issues in a thorough, impartial, meaningful, and Christian way, something we have been asking for for more than six months.
>
> In the blessed hope,
> Gailon Arthur Joy
> AUReporter
> --

So--there you have it. Gailon asks 3ABN to address the issues. That was the whole point from Day One.

So what kind of magic are you going to conjure up to get us going in another direction?

This just in (or not ...) to our news desk: Aletheia is not interested in truth. Aletheia is interested in defending, diverting, dissembling and denial. Hence she keeps posting after promising it's the last one.

What's embarassing is that she keeps all of us going on so. I'm ashamed. ☒ s ☒

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 08:33 PM

As a Dannyscribe, (or Dannynite) you offer up red herrings to divert attention away from the perp of the crimes. Same old same old, you can't attack the message so you attack the messenger. And in so doing you further the work of those bringing out the truth about Tom/Dan and company. Why don't you try to dispute the evidence, or offer some of your own if you are so sure of the innocence of Tommy and the coverup by Danny? How sad the the appologist have nothing more to offer than this.

Richard

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 09:16 PM)
>
> Dude where have you been? Look all around you these people don't care about Tommy Shelton, except as a means to bring Danny and 3ABN down. they are only concerned with Children that may be harmed because he was employed by 3ABN.
>
> Save3ABN and the little group of "Investigators" has never been concerned with bringing Tommy to justice if he''s guilty.
>
> They just want Danny and all to step down.
>
> Go ahead quote something from them to prove what I say error.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 08:34 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 10:08 PM)
>
> Re? Is that how you prove truth, and justify yourself???

Exactly the same way you don't "counter-prove"?

Read below demon of satan!
......and that is exactly what you are. A demonic force of satan. You have come on this board - trying to pin molestation charges back on adult survivors - by trying to make them legal and consenting. Not just the fact that it was molestation; but sex with someone of the same sex, by a married Pastor, with a CHILD! Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS! Read below demon of satan!

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 23 2007, 09:44 PM)
>
> .....In the name of JESUS I rebuke you satan! In the name of JESUS!!! You are rebuked satan! Your lies and means of twisting words are not welcome here on this blessed Sabbath day! IN THE NAME OF JESUS satan YOU MUST BOW BEFORE THE LORD!

...and AMEN again....

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 10:13 PM)
>
> By the way, I found out I know Re' from SWAU days, I wouldn't want to be on the other side of the courtroom from her.

Tell 'em SE.....TELL THEM!
...again..... I don't play.
THEY DON'T KNOW ME!!!

BTW and really ofl

SE....the next degree after the Ph.D. ..... Law. I have a friend that I will be opening a counseling center with - and we thought about it...why not also offer like a "legal" clinic for those that are in need of legal services at a low-no cost also... pray on that one for me SE.

Now. BOT!

I did have Aletheia on ignore. I will now make sure to NOT have this demon on ignore. Why? I am building my case now. Since I have been "warned" I want to make sure that I have all my evidence (or lack thereof) in line for court.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 23 2007, 08:34 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 09:23 PM)
>
> Thank you for your comments. You have a right to come to your own conclusions and to have your own opinions.
>
> I would really appreciate it if you could go over to save3abn and read the email that Tommy sent to Duane Clem. Here's the link:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm
>
> After you have read that, please come back and tell me if it proves anything. I'm really interested in your take on what Tommy writes in that email. Pay close attention to where he says "you resisted every attempt that I ever made". Does that sound like Duane was a willing participant?
>
> You can continue to discount the evidence, the statements and Tommy's confession if that is what makes you comfortable. You can continue to attack those who are compelled by that evidence and feel duty-bound to call for accountability for the sake of those who claim to have been victimized.
>
> When you see the evidence and hear the victims' statements, is it really a Christian reaction to turn away, put your finger to your lips and say "Shhhhhhhh!". There isn't a soap strong enough to wash that kind of blood off of your hands.

PD, Where is Duane's reply to Tommy, and why didn't he hand it over to be published, instead of only giving Tommy's private apology and letting some anonymous person who sounds alot like you ridicule and interpret it in the worst possible light?

Is that the same letter Tommy has, or has it been edited?

I'm thinking you need to ask these kind of questions.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 08:37 PM

forcibly removes tongue from cheek

I can't figure it out, Richard. The Dannyscribes come on here, and stir the pot, and beg for whatever they think will divert the discussion. All they accomplish is making Gailon, Bob and Greg look better for what they're doing.

Now, Aletheia, I'm serious. Maybe you can't see it, but I assure you that if you really want to help Danny & Co (and this isn't some kind of weird hobby), stop posting. You're not making them look less culpable. You're hurting them.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 23 2007, 08:33 PM)
>
> As a Dannyscribe, (or Dannynite) you offer up red herrings to divert attention away from the perp of the crimes. Same old same old, you can't attack the message so you attack the messenger. And in so doing you further the work of those bringing out the truth about Tom/Dan and company. Why don't you try to dispute the evidence, or offer some of your own if you are so sure of the innocence of Tommy and the coverup by Danny? How sad the the appologist have nothing more to offer than this.
>
> Richard

Posted by: lookin4truth Feb 23 2007, 08:39 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 09:34 PM)
>
> PD, Where is Duane's reply to Tommy, and why didn't he hand it over to be published, instead of only giving Tommy's private apology and letting some anonymous person who sounds alot like you ridicule and interpret it in the worst possible light?
>
> Is that the same letter Tommy has, or has it been edited?
>
> I'm thinking you need to ask these kind of questions.

Spin again Aletheia. Make sure not to focus on Tommy's admission of guilt, instead ask about Duane's response to it.

Take the focus off of Tommy, cause that's all you ever try to do.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 08:41 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> PD, Where is Duane's reply to Tommy, and why didn't he hand it over to be published, instead of only giving Tommy's private apology and letting some anonymous person who sounds alot like you ridicule and interpret it in the worst possible light?
>
> Is that the same letter Tommy has, or has it been edited?
>
> I'm thinking you need to ask these kind of questions.

Tactics used in this post by Aletheia:
1. Bring in irrelevant questions
2. Pretend like common sense and a bit of time wouldn't lead to the same conclusions
3. Discount supplied evidence

I'm serious, ma'am. You're hurting your own cause.

Posted by: Clay Feb 23 2007, 08:43 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 08:37 PM)
>
> forcibly removes tongue from cheek
>
> I can't figure it out, Richard. The Dannyscribes come on here, and stir the pot, and beg for whatever they think will divert the discussion. All they accomplish is making Gailon, Bob and Greg look better for what they're doing.
>
> Now, Aletheia, I'm serious. Maybe you can't see it, but I assure you that if you really want to help Danny & Co (and this isn't some kind of weird hobby), stop posting. You're not making them look less culpable. You're hurting them.

naw SE, we want them to keep posting.... as Re' said, the more they post the more evidence they give... and should it ever see the inside of a courtroom, wwjd, bystander and all the other dannyscribes will no longer be able to hide behind a screenname.... they will have to own the words they have posted here.... that would be interesting.....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 08:44 PM

They are always complaining about all the posts on here against Danny and co but the FACT is if they wouldn't keep replying there would not be near the leval of posts that there is. The Dannyscribes and Dannynites are doing more to hurt him that the FOD (foes of Danny) ever will.

Hope you didn't hurt yourself removing your tongue.

Richard

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 09:37 PM)
>
> forcibly removes tongue from cheek
>
> I can't figure it out, Richard. The Dannyscribes come on here, and stir the pot, and beg for whatever they think will divert the discussion. All they accomplish is making Gailon, Bob and Greg look better for what they're doing.
>
> Now, Aletheia, I'm serious. Maybe you can't see it, but I assure you that if you really want to help Danny & Co (and this isn't some kind of weird hobby), stop posting. You're not making them look less culpable. You're hurting them.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 23 2007, 08:46 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 23 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> Bystander your ride is here:
>
> Thank you for agreeing. Bystander does tend to say one thing then do another, has trouble with his "verifiable" fact/evidence and, to top it off, does not render righteous judgment.
>
> And Aletheia, since you put it so eloquently, there is nothing to be added:
>
> As mentioned previously, Bystander your ride is here and we don't want to hold y'all up.
>
> ☒ Attached Image

Double-speak, Double-speak, DOUBLE-SPEAK!!!

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 10:30 PM)
>
> Tactics used in this post by Aletheia
> 1. Pretend she hasn't already seen what she asks for--if she really has read all the threads as the denizens have begged her to do for weeks
> 2. Stonewall by asking the poster to return through months of posts to dig up quotes from the period in which most of these people were still open-minded, waiting for the evidence
> 2. Make accusations about hidden intentions on the part of save3abn.
>
> But wait, I do have a response!

> So--there you have it. Gailon asks 3ABN to address the issues. That was the whole point from Day One.
>
> So what kind of magic are you going to conjure up to get us going in another direction?
>
> This just in (or not ...) to our news desk: Aletheia is not interested in truth. Aletheia is interested in defending, diverting, dissembling and denial. Hence she keeps posting after promising it's the last one.
>
> What's embarassing is that she keeps all of us going on so. I'm ashamed.

I'm only going far enough to continue collecting my evidence....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 08:52 PM

It would seem that most of the Dannynites got the memo about not posting tonight. Or maybe since several of them might be just one of them they are out, well, maybe they are flying on that Citation VI to another beg-a-thon.

(My dog begs but he don't know any better)

Richard

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 23 2007, 08:55 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 23 2007, 08:52 PM)
>
> It would seem that most of the Dannynites got the memo about not posting tonight. Or maybe since several of them might be just one of them they are out, well, maybe they are flying on that Citation VI to another beg-a-thon.
>
> (My dog begs but he don't know any better)
>
> Richard

Or to the law offices in MN ...

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 23 2007, 08:58 PM

What? On the Sabbath? No my guess is the only manservants employed today are the pilots, not the 14 lawyers. (Or did I hear it's up to 18 now?)

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 09:55 PM) ☐
>
> Or to the law offices in MN ...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 23 2007, 09:04 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 23 2007, 07:34 PM) ☐
>
> PD, Where is Duane's reply to Tommy, and why didn't he hand it over to be published, instead of only giving Tommy's private apology and letting some anonymous person who sounds alot like you ridicule and interpret it in the worst possible light?
>
> Is that the same letter Tommy has, or has it been edited?
>
> I'm thinking you need to ask these kind of questions.

A/C, how do we even know that Duane replied to Tommy's email? Perhaps he will read your question and provide you with an answer. Tommy's email is a pretty solid piece of evidence all on its own.

BTW, are you accusing me of being the person who, by living through the devastating experiences of molestation as a child, has learned what pedophiles do to groom and control their victims before, during and after victimizing them? Are you saying that what I post here sounds like that anonymous person who has an insight into the mind of a predator and was able to read between the carefully crafted lines of Tommy's "confession" and see the true message? Interesting.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 24 2007, 04:18 AM

Re? Is that how you prove truth, and justify yourself???

> QUOTE
>
> Princess Dr Re:
> Exactly the same way you don't "counter-prove"?
>
> Read below demon of satan!
> ......and that is exactly what you are. A demonic force of satan. You have come on this board - trying to pin molestation charges back on adult survivors - by trying to make them legal and consenting. Not just the fact that it was molestation; but sex with someone of the same sex, by a married Pastor, with a CHILD! Satan the LORD rebuke you in the name of JESUS! Read below demon of satan!
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > QUOTE:PrincessDrRe:

> > .....In the name of JESUS I rebuke you satan! In the name of JESUS!!! You are rebuked satan! Your lies and means of twisting words are not welcome here on this blessed Sabbath day! IN THE NAME OF JESUS satan YOU MUST BOW BEFORE THE LORD! Amen!
>
> ...and AMEN again....

And this because I asked you if you could prove and support your constant accusations? You need to calm down woman, and think!

1. I have said 3ABN is NOT GUILTY of the accusations Joy and Pickle have made about them in regard to T.S. and I have explained why.
2. I have only stated T.S. is innocent till proven guilty, but tend to believe that what has been brought up is from the past and was investigated and taken care of then.
3. Anything which may be new is a legal issue and if there is merit to the allegations of sexual assualt and molestation and he is a pedophile then he needs to be charged. It is a State and a Church of God issue.
4. I have said If you believe him guilty and are concerned about children, then you need to realize, Pickle and Joy going after his former employer (3ABN), does not protect children elsewhere, nor can 3ABN charge T.S. with a crime.

Do you honestly have a problem with that?

I am writing this because I am concerned about you, for one. I don't want sin lying at your door, I want you to one day soon be praising God in the congregation of the saints and not weeping and wailing.

You are accountable for the things you say about others, and you better be able to give a just cause and reason when it comes to both God's court, -- and a civil court since you have now jumped to that conclusion.

If you can't answer me here, how can you answer that question in a court of law, and How will you answer God as every idle word will enter into the judgment, and you've said much more here then just an idle word.

I believe reasonable people would see the inconsistancies and lack of evidence and holes in the accusations posted on Save-3ABN and have a reasonable doubt, and so would not repeat it as fact till all is proved.

1. This is the internet, people lie.

2. In order to figure out the truth, you have to do more then listen to rumors and accusations. You need to check out both sides, and all involved, and verify what is factual and what is not.

3. It is not reaasonable, nor Christian to just accept what some people say without doing so, and call others liars, and child molesters, and demon possessed without doing so.

4. Repeating unsupported opinions or personal judgments will not help you in a court, nor work as a defense, as if you go to court it is those things you will be being sued about. You will be needing to give the reasons and facts, just as I asked you for.

If you are really thinking you'll be called to court or sued, and taking notes, then I suggest you start being able to explain your position and why, because calling a lawyer Satan and rebuking him, or telling him he needs to read eveything posted on BSDA, or asking him if he'd leave his children with T.S. won't work there either.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 24 2007, 10:03 AM

This wasn't written to me, but I HAD to respond.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 24 2007, 04:18 AM)
>
> 1. I have said 3ABN is NOT GUILTY of the accusations Joy and Piclkle have made about them in regard to T.S. and I have explained why.
>
> I see. So, you need proof that myself and other victims are "telling the truth", but you already know that 3ABN is "not guilty" without seeing any such proof from them.
>
> 2. I have only stated T.S. is innocent till proven guilty, but tend to believe that what has been brought up is from the past and was investigated and taken care of then.
>
> Are you really that blind? Read my statement again, I just came forward for the first time in January of this year. How could it have already been investigated? The same goes for my brother and at least 4 others that I know of personally. You can't see that because you don't want to see it.
>
> 3. Anything which may be new is a legal issue and if there is merit to the allegations of sexual assault and molestation and he is a pedophile then he needs to be charged. It is a State and a Church of God issue.
>
> There are allegations outside the Church of God.
>
> 4. I have said If you believe him guilty and are concerned about children, then you need to realize, Pickle and Joy going after his former employer (3ABN), does not protect children elsewhere, nor can 3ABN charge T.S. with a crime.
>
> It has been explained time and again why 3ABN may have some liability here. Again, you're just here to exonerate Tommy, Danny and 3ABN, so you're not going to listen to anything else.
>
> Do you honestly have a problem with that?
>
> I am writing this because I am concerned about you, for one. I don't want sin lying at your door, I want you to one day soon be praising God in the congregation of the saints and not weeping and wailing.
>
> You are accountable for the things you say about others, and you better be able to give a just cause and reason when it comes to both God's court, -- and a civil court since you have now jumped to that conclusion.
>
> If you can't answer me here, how can you answer that question in a court of law, and How will you answer God as every idle word will enter into the judgment, and you've said much more here then just an idle word.
>
> I believe reasonable people would see the inconsistancies and lack of evidence and holes in the accusations posted on Save-3ABN and have a reasonable doubt, and so would not repeat it as fact till all is proved.
> !. This is the internet, people lie.
>
> 2. In order to figure out the truth, you have to do more then listen to rumors and accusations. You need to check out both sides, and all involved, and verify what is factual and what is not.
>
> 3. It is not reaasonable, nor Christian to just accept what some people say without doing so, and > call others liars, and child molesters, and demon possessed without doing so.

>
> 4. Repeating unsupported opinions or personal judgments will not help you in a court, nor work as a defense, as if you go to court it is those things you will be being sued about. You will be needing to give the reasons and facts, just as I asked you for.
>
> If you are really thinking you'll be called to court or sued, and taking notes, then I suggest you start being able to explain your position and why, because calling a lawyer Satan and rebuking him, or telling him he needs to read eveything posted on BSDA, or asking him if he'd leave his children with T.S. won't work there either.
>
> You constantly suggest that myself and other victims and their families may be lying. You question constantly how old we were, did we consent, were charges filed, etc.... Have you ever considered that you have numerous SIGNED statements that all basically tell the same story, and yet Tommy and Carol both write lengthy letters and neither of them deny the allegations? It's hard to get the "other side of the story" when the other side won't respond.
>
> Court, court, court. I'm so sick of seeing that word. If someone wants to sue me for what I've said, then have at it. I'll say it all again before a judge, and then some. Empty threats of being sued accomplish NOTHING.
>
> One of two things is going on here. You are either completely dedicated to the cause of refuting and discrediting anyone who speaks out against sexual abuse, or you have a comprehension problem. I'll let you decide which one it is.
>
> Don't bother asking me any more questions, or trying to get others to do so. You and I are through talking. "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple." Romans 16:17-18 KJV

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 24 2007, 11:01 AM

I came across the following quote this morning:

The very powerful and the very stupid have one thing in common. Instead of altering their views to fit the facts, they alter the facts to fit their views...which can be very uncomfortable if you happen to be one of the facts that needs altering. .... Doctor Who

nw

Posted by: Clay Feb 24 2007, 11:09 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 24 2007, 11:01 AM) ☐
>
> I came across the following quote this morning:
>
> The very powerful and the very stupid have one thing in common. Instead of altering their views to fit the facts, they alter the facts to fit their views...which can be very uncomfortable if you happen > to be one of the facts that needs altering. .... Doctor Who

>
> nw

great statement.....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 24 2007, 11:40 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 24 2007, 09:03 AM)
>
> This wasn't written to me, but I HAD to respond.
>
> I see. So, you need proof that myself and other victims are "telling the truth", but you already know that 3ABN is "not guilty" without seeing any such proof from them.
>
> Are you really that blind? Read my statement again, I just came forward for the first time in January of this year. How could it have already been investigated? The same goes for my brother and at least 4 others that I know of personally. You can't see that because you don't want to see it.
>
> There are allegations outside the Church of God.
>
> It has been explained time and again why 3ABN may have some liability here. Again, you're just here to exonerate Tommy, Danny and 3ABN, so you're not going to listen to anything else.
>
> You constantly suggest that myself and other victims and their families may be lying. You question constantly how old we were, did we consent, were charges filed, etc.... Have you ever considered that you have numerous SIGNED statements that all basically tell the same story, and yet Tommy and Carol both write lengthy letters and neither of them deny the allegations? It's hard to get the "other side of the story" when the other side won't respond.
>
> Court, court, court. I'm so sick of seeing that word. If someone wants to sue me for what I've said, then have at it. I'll say it all again before a judge, and then some. Empty threats of being sued accomplish NOTHING.
>
> One of two things is going on here. You are either completely dedicated to the cause of refuting and discrediting anyone who speaks out against sexual abuse, or you have a comprehension problem. I'll let you decide which one it is.
>
> Don't bother asking me any more questions, or trying to get others to do so. You and I are through talking. "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple." Romans 16:17-18 KJV

Duane, your words may fly right past those locked in denial, but they will be heard and will help and educate many others!

hug.gif

It is so sad that Aletheia and some others find it so easy to discount the truth in order to paint a picture of this situation that they can be comfortable with.

PB

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Feb 24 2007, 01:45 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 24 2007, 11:03 AM)
>
> This wasn't written to me, but I HAD to respond.

Duane, This is why we must continually keep our eyes fixed on Jesus.

Psalm 141:8-9
But my eyes are upon You, O GOD the Lord;
In You I take refuge;
Do not leave my soul destitute.
Keep me from the snares they have laid for me,
And from the traps of the workers of iniquity. (NKJV)

Keep it up and know that many are praying for you and all involved!

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 23 2007, 07:31 PM)
>
> Which is your stock in trade, Cindy.
>
> .. put your money where your mouth is and put your male child in his care... I dare you.
>
> In His service,
> Mr.

Ts own daughter puts her son in his grandparents care and has hundreds of times. That says far more to me than any of you or anyone else's rhetoric. The daughter was raised with him, you weren't. She was there during those time periods, you weren't, she knows if he is guilty or innocent, you don't, and she also knows, if guilty of any of the accusations, if there has been true repentance and life reformation, you don't.

And before you start attacking her character, She is one of the finest christian women that I know. She is also a great mother. Very protective, very loving and raises her children in the admonition of the Lord. If she thought for one half of a second that her son was at risk with his grandpa she would never ever leave him there.
Now, although, Mr. J, you are all knowing, and feel yourself to be the alpha and omega, I am sorry. You will have to come off of your high horse on this one. Your knowledge of the subjects and subject matter, compared to hers, renders you, Clueless.
BTW, Now we can add to your growing list of name calling, Nazi. That is what you were calling aletheia wasn't it? Someone said your were an elder in your church. Shame on you.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 02:24 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 23 2007, 08:23 PM) ☐
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm
>
> After you have read that, please come back and tell me if it proves anything. I'm really interested in your take on what Tommy writes in that email. Pay close attention to where he says "you resisted every attempt that I ever made". Does that sound like Duane was a willing participant?

If the letter is legit, then I see a letter of apology and a request for forgiveness. Many of you have said that is all you would like to see. You are not a lynch mob and would only like to see repentance. I see that, here. It is not for you to judge whether or not something happened to anyone else or if it did, were they apologized too and so on....Duane says this happened to him and says he was sent a letter asking forgiveness. All of you have used this letter as a neon sign of TS's guilt but no one mentions the purpose of said letter. Apology, forgiveness.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 23 2007, 08:37 PM) ☐
>
> forcibly removes tongue from cheek
>
> I can't figure it out, Richard. The Dannyscribes come on here, and stir the pot, and beg for whatever they think will divert the discussion. All they accomplish is making Gailon, Bob and Greg look better for what they're doing. ☐

I am sorry soul expresso, nothing in the world could make what gailon/bob/joy are doing, look better.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 02:41 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 24 2007, 10:03 AM) ☐
>
> This wasn't written to me, but I HAD to respond.

Duane, I would like to ask you a couple ofquestions and I ask them respectfully. Of course, you don't have to answer, that is your perogative. I have commented on another post about the letter from TS on the joy site. I pointed out that this is used for TS guilt but no one comments on the fact that it is a letter of apology and a request for forgiveness. I have read on one of your posts that says an apology is all you want. It looks like you had that. Am I wrong? If I am correct, why has the apology been ignored and you obviously have felt a need to come to Joys site and bring public retribution. After all, the word says if we have ought with a brother....between them two....So, my point is, if you are going to respond that he hasn't apologized to others (if there is guilt there) wouldn't that be between he and God? All you can go on is what happened between you and he. You say the letter posted is from TS so at the time you received it, shouldn't forgiveness have been granted? You are not accountable to God for any other situation, only yours. I truly am trying to understand this situation. My other question is: Did you reply to that letter of apology? If so, shouldn't it, in all fairness, be posted along with the TS letter, regardless of what it says?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 24 2007, 03:22 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 03:08 PM) ☐
>
> Ts own daughter puts her son in his grandparents care and has hundreds of times. That says far more to me than any of you or anyone else's rhetoric.

there are plenty of pedophiles who dont prey on their own household... that doesn't make them any less a sexual predator.

> QUOTE
>
> The daughter was raised with him, you weren't. She was there during those time periods, you weren't, she knows if he is guilty or innocent, you don't, and she also knows, if guilty of any of the accusations, if there has been true repentance and life reformation, you don't.

Talk to the mental health professionals who deal with the victims of sexual predators and you will realize how clueless you are here. There are several in the forum, BTW... and even if all you've said here is true... that still doesnt mean he would not molest Cindy's child or mine or someone else not related to him by blood.

> QUOTE
>
> And before you start attacking her character, She is one of the finest christian women that I know. She is also a great mother. Very protective, very loving and raises her children in the admonition of the Lord. If she thought for one half of a second that her son was at risk with his grandpa she would never ever leave him there.

You need to work on that whole presumption thing you have going on...

> QUOTE
>
> Now, although, Mr. J, you are all knowing, and feel yourself to be the alpha and omega, I am sorry. You will have to come off of your high horse on this one. Your knowledge of the subjects and subject matter, compared to hers, renders you, Clueless.

You attribute to me that which is the sole province of God and yet I'm supposed to be the clueless one? I'll tell you what... if you can show any statement I've made where I claimed to be omniscient or possessed any of the earmarks of divinity... ever... I will concede that you are right on every point...and if you cannot show such a statement you leave BSDA and never return... the problem for you is the same people that will read this will read the post you made to Duane Clem where you are making so much stink about TS' letter of apology and his requesting forgiveness... there has to be guilt for him to seek forgiveness; there has to be wrongdoing on his part toward Duane for him to apologize. You and Cindy and others keep trying to insist that he did nothing but the problem is that he has already admitted to it. The conversations you are having with different people dont exist in a vacuum; the things you concede in talking to Duane remain conceded when you speak to me... and vice versa.

Talking to Duane, you admit that confession was made and forgiveness sought by TS; once you did that, the rest of this nonsense about his daughter and grandson is irrelevant. He's a pederast even if he manages to resist the incestuous inclinations.

> QUOTE
>
> BTW, Now we can add to your growing list of name calling, Nazi. That is what you were calling aletheia wasn't it? Someone said your were an elder in your church. Shame on you.

If the shoe fits... then she will wear it... and as far as my church is concerned there are myriad folk here who know my pastor... and unlike you I dont hide underneath a burqha of anonymity or play other punk games to keep people from attributing what I say to me... so he knows where I stand.. If your camp doesnt want to be yiewed as putting out Goebbels-esque propaganda, then stop putting out revisionist history that doesnt even remain consistent from poster to poster.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: JustTana Feb 24 2007, 04:16 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 23 2007, 09:33 PM)
>
> As a Dannyscribe, (or Dannynite) you offer up red herrings to divert attention away from the perp of the crimes. Same old same old, you can't attack the message so you attack the messenger. And in so doing you further the work of those bringing out the truth about Tom/Dan and company. Why don't you try to dispute the evidence, or offer some of your own if you are so sure of the innocence of Tommy and the coverup by Danny? How sad the the appologist have nothing more to offer than this.
>
> Richard

Sorry, I was 'encouraged' to remove my answer to this quote.

JT

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 24 2007, 04:26 PM

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 24 2007, 11:17 PM

X-3abn stated:

> QUOTE
>
> You constantly suggest that myself and other victims and their families may be lying. You question constantly how old we were, did we consent, were charges filed, etc.... Have you ever considered that you have numerous SIGNED statements that all basically tell the same story, and yet Tommy and Carol both write lengthy letters and neither of them deny the allegations? It's hard to get the "other side of the story" when the other side won't respond.
>
> Court, court, court. I'm so sick of seeing that word. If someone wants to sue me for what I've said, then have at it. I'll say it all again before a judge, and then some. Empty threats of being sued accomplish NOTHING.
>
> One of two things is going on here. You are either completely dedicated to the cause of refuting and discrediting anyone who speaks out against sexual abuse, or you have a comprehension problem. I'll let you decide which one it is.
>
> Don't bother asking me any more questions, or trying to get others to do so. You and I are through talking. "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple." Romans 16:17-18 KJV

And I agree whole heartedly!

Aletheia. I stand firm. You are a demonic force of satan. I rebuke thee in the name of JESUS. If someone wants to sue me for believing that someone has been molested - then so be it. Again. I need some school loans paid off and my next education paid.... until then.

Satan be the rebuked in the name of JESUS CHRIST our Savior!

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 24 2007, 01:01 PM) ☐
>
> ...The very powerful and the very stupid have one thing in common. Instead of altering their views to fit the facts, they alter the facts to fit their views...which can be very uncomfortable if you happen to be one of the facts that needs altering. .... Doctor Who

My LORD! ...and so fitting.....

☒

Posted by: Lenni Feb 25 2007, 05:24 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 02:08 PM) ☐
>
> Ts own daughter puts her son in his grandparents care and has hundreds of times. That says far more to me than any of you or anyone else's rhetoric. The daughter was raised with him, you > weren't. She was there during those time periods, you weren't, she knows if he is guilty or innocent, you don't,

Actually, the (alleged) victims know too

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 02:08 PM)
>
> and she also knows, if guilty of any of the accusations, if there has been true repentance and life reformation, you don't.
>
> ,

Wouldn't you think that some if not all of the alleged victims would be aware of "true repentance and life reformation". I mean, that would be pretty hard to keep secret considering the fact that you would think he would want to go back to each one of them and do whatever he could to ease their pain and show true remorse.

When TS asked Duane's brother what he wanted him to do and got the answer, he refused to do it. Now if the allegations are true and he had experienced true repentance and a life reformation, why would he have a problem with doing what was asked of him or, at the very least, publicly admitting what he did to keep these young men from continually being harassed and and having their character questioned? If the allegations are not true, then why did he ask the question in the first place?

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 02:08 PM)
>
> And before you start attacking her character, She is one of the finest christian women that I know. She is also a great mother. Very protective, very loving and raises her children in the admonition of the Lord. If she thought for one half of a second that her son was at risk with his grandpa she would never ever leave him there.
> Now, although, Mr. J, you are all knowing, and feel yourself to be the alpha and omega, I am sorry. You will have to come off of your high horse on this one. Your knowledge of the subjects and subject matter, compared to hers, renders you, Clueless.
> BTW, Now we can add to your growing list of name calling, Nazi. That is what you were calling aletheia wasn't it? Someone said your were an elder in your church. Shame on you.

So if you know the family so well, have you ever asked TS if these allegations were true? What was his response?

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 25 2007, 07:48 PM

I find it more than a little telling that wwjd and Byletheia ignore the facts that have been proven right here from thread to thread. Yet from thread to thread they have the nerve present themselves as honest men presenting the truth, as they know it.

Fact 1
Bystander/wwjd - Have both came into BSDA under false pretenses.

Fact 2

Bystander/wwjd - Purported that they did not know each other, but were caught using the same computer.

Fact 3
Bystander/wwjd - Create a third online personality from the same computer and got caught and removed from BSDA. Then after much wailing and gnashing of teeth, our merciful BSDA admin staff allowed liar liar back into BSDA.

Fact 4
Bystander/wwjd - After being caught at their lies, decide to come out of the closet, so to speak, and claim to be sorry for lying, yet continue to accuse other members (the victims of DS/TS) of not providing any proof, in other words Bystander/wwjd the PROVEN liars claim that the victims and other members of BSDA of lying.

It is interesting to note neither Bystander/wwjd will acknowledge these PROVEN facts from their own mouthss/actions... why is that? Thees are PROVEN FACTS, and more have been presented, yet Bystander/wwjd refuse to look at them..

With all these PROVEN/VERIFIABLE FACTS why is anyone giving the liar liars the time of day?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 08:15 PM

Because it's amusing? rofl

> QUOTE
>
> With all these PROVEN/VERIFIABLE FACTS why is anyone giving the liar liars the time of day?

Posted by: Clay Feb 25 2007, 08:32 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Feb 25 2007, 07:48 PM)
>
> I find it more than a little telling that wwjd and Byletheia ignore the facts that have been proven right here from thread to thread. Yet from thread to thread they have the nerve present themselves as honest men presenting the truth, as they know it.
>
> Fact 1
> Bystander/wwjd - Have both came into BSDA under false pretenses.
>
> Fact 2
> Bystander/wwjd - Purported that they did not know each other, but were caught using the same computer.
>
> Fact 3

> Bystander/wwjd - Create a third online personality from the same computer and got caught and removed from BSDA. Then after much wailing and gnashing of teeth, our merciful BSDA admin staff allowed liar liar back into BSDA.
>
> Fact 4
> Bystander/wwjd - After being caught at their lies, decide to come out of the closet, so to speak, and claim to be sorry for lying, yet continue to accuse other members (the victims of DS/TS) of not providing any proof, in other words Bystander/wwjd the PROVEN liars claim that the victims and other members of BSDA of lying.
>
> It is interesting to note neither Bystander/wwjd will acknowledge these PROVEN facts from their own mouthss/actions... why is that? Thees are PROVEN FACTS, and more have been presented, yet Bystander/wwjd refuse to look at them..
>
> With all these PROVEN/VERIFIABLE FACTS why is anyone giving the liar liars the time of day?

excellent summary....

Posted by: Lee Feb 25 2007, 08:49 PM

Sera--your summary is incorrect. Bystander explained that he and wwjd are both sharing a computer. They did not create a "third" personality. It was a real person and what he had to say was true. They were not doing anything deceptive at all. The "third" person also was using their computer, who was a visiting nephew.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 25 2007, 08:54 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 09:49 PM)
>
> Sera--your summary is incorrect. Bystander explained that he and wwjd are both sharing a computer. They did not create a "third" personality. It was a real person and what he had to say was true. They were not doing anything deceptive at all. The "third" person also was using their computer, who was a visiting nephew.

Don't you have anything better to do than tell lies to cover other people's lies? They were busted; get over it.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Lee Feb 25 2007, 09:04 PM

Mr. Josey--I was telling the truth. I don't need to "get over" anything.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 25 2007, 09:14 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 10:04 PM) ☐
>
> Mr. Josey--I was telling the truth. I don't need to "get over" anything.

Lee, you wouldn't know truth if ya tripped over it...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: wwjd Feb 25 2007, 09:28 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 25 2007, 08:54 PM) ☐
>
> Don't you have anything better to do than tell lies to cover other people's lies? They were busted; get over it.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Lee was almost correct. We all know that I and bystander use the same computer. As for your accusation that a "third" personality was invented...Not only is that not true, that person wasn't even using the same computer. As explained to Calvin and he was ok with understanding it. The person lives at least 6 or7 miles away but does have the same server. In no way was a third person invented or using our computer. If Calvin did not understand that, we would not be back on. Nowhere did we say we lied nor did we apologize for a third person when they're wasn't any. Neither was there a "bust" once Calvin looked into it and saw the truth.
Also in my very first post, I said I had known the sheltons for many years and I brought up a post by bystander. Where did I say I didn't know who Bystander was?
You can call us liars, and we will just join the club with all of the rest of the people you have called the same name. You are very free with your name calling. Trouble is there is very little substance to your reasons for calling such names. One would think you just do it, because you enjoy it.
If that makes you happy, go to it. We know better and so does God.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 25 2007, 09:42 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 25 2007, 11:28 PM) ☐
>
> Lee was almost correct. We all know that I and bystander use the same computer. As for your accusation that a "third" personality was invented...Not only is that not true, that person wasn't even using the same computer. As explained to Calvin and he was ok with understanding it. The person lives at least 6 or7 miles away but does have the same server. In no way was a third person invented or using our computer. If Calvin did not understand that, we would not be back on. Nowhere did we say we lied nor did we apologize for a third person when they're wasn't any. Neither was there a "bust" once Calvin looked into it and saw the truth.

> Also in my very first post, I said I had known the sheltons for many years and I brought up a post by bystander. Where did I say I didn't know who Bystander was?
> You can call us liars, and we will just join the club with all of the rest of the people you have called the same name. You are very free with your name calling. Trouble is there is very little substance to your reasons for calling such names. One would think you just do it, because you enjoy it.
> If that makes you happy, go to it. We know better and so does God.

Mr. J's anger is evident - however the reason is not so at this point.

Mr. J. maybe you can share with us what your main point is in the whole 3ABN issue. I can't find, through searching your posts here in the 3ABN forum, what your main contention, well, any significant contention is. You seem very angry at the church, at 3ABN, at anything that doesn't align perfectly with your own personal theology. What evidence have you presented? What point do you have to make - other than railing at 3ABN?

Many have been the object of your derision when they didn't deserve it. You have held yourself up as a paragon of perfection claiming that any an all individuals that disagree with you even on a miniscule point are somehow from the Devil. You can quote scripture - that doesn't make you holy or sanctified or saved, after all the Devil knows scripture backwards and forwards. You can quote Mrs. White, that doesn't mean you alone have applied her guidance correctly.

I fully expect to receive your wrath with this post - but in the name of the Lord I will endure whatever slings and arrows you decide to send my way. Why? Because I am sure that the Lord is in charge and I do not post without prayerful consideration before I do. Question me, belittle me, disparage me, cast dispersion on my character - but remember that God does guide and direct and you do not have the market cornered on his guidance and direction.

- FHB

Posted by: Clay Feb 25 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 25 2007, 09:28 PM)
>
> Lee was almost correct. We all know that I and bystander use the same computer. As for your accusation that a "third" personality was invented...Not only is that not true, that person wasn't even using the same computer. As explained to Calvin and he was ok with understanding it. The person lives at least 6 or7 miles away but does have the same server. In no way was a third person invented or using our computer. If Calvin did not understand that, we would not be back on.
> Nowhere did we say we lied nor did we apologize for a third person when they're wasn't any.
> Neither was there a "bust" once Calvin looked into it and saw the truth.
> Also in my very first post, I said I had known the sheltons for many years and I brought up a post by bystander. Where did I say I didn't know who Bystander was?
> You can call us liars, and we will just join the club with all of the rest of the people you have called the same name. You are very free with your name calling. Trouble is there is very little substance to your reasons for calling such names. One would think you just do it, because you enjoy it.
> If that makes you happy, go to it. We know better and so does God.

wwjd.... wrote this....

> QUOTE
>
> I've appreciated all of you who have taken a stand against the devil's trash written on this web-site, among the most recent being that written by the person called "Bystander". Thank God for > people like that who aren't afraid to speak truth in defense of wrong doing.

interesting statement from a person who was using the same computer.... the statement gives the illusion that you have no idea who bystander is.... but you did know.... and yet you shaded the truth..... interesting indeed..... so now lets hear your spin....

Posted by: wwjd Feb 25 2007, 10:01 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 25 2007, 09:42 PM) ☐
>
> Mr. J's anger is evident - however the reason is not so at this point.
>
> Mr. J. maybe you can share with us what your main pint is in the whole 3ABN issue. I can't find, through searching your posts here in the 3ABN forum, what your main contention, well, any significant contention is. You seem very angry at the church, at 3ABN, at anything that doesn't align perfectly with your own personal theology. What evidence have you presented? What point do you have to make - other than railing at 3ABN?
>
> Many have been the object of your derision when they didn't deserve it. You have held yourself up as a paragon of perfection claiming that any an all individuals that disagree with you even on a miniscule point are somehow from the Devil. You can quote scripture - that doesn't make you holy or sanctified or saved, after all the Devil knows scripture backwards and forwards. You can quote Mrs. White, that doesn't mean you alone have applied her guidence correctly.
>
> I fully expect to recieve your wrath with this post - but in the name of the Lord I will endure whatever slings and arrows you decide to send my way. Why? Because I am sure that the Lord is in charge and I do not post without prayerful consideration before I do. Question me, belittle me, disparage me, cast dispersion on my character - but remember that God does guide and direct and you do not have the market cornered on his guidence and direction.
>
> FHB The Lord must be guiding both of our thoughts along the same line. Earlier, I too, was wondering, what, if any, had Mr. J contributed to the 3abn story. Just like Clay, he calls names, points fingers, and talks down to everyone that doesn't agree but I have failed to see where his "ire" comes from.
> Thanks for stating it so well.
>
> - FHB

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 25 2007, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE
>
> I've appreciated all of you who have taken a stand against the devil's trash written on this web-site, among the most recent being that written by the person called "Bystander". Thank God for people like that who aren't afraid to speak truth in defense of wrong doing.

I agree - this statement makes it sound like they don't know each other...knowing good and well that they do.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 10:49 PM)
>
> Sera--your summary is incorrect. Bystander explained that he and wwjd are both sharing a computer. They did not create a "third" personality. It was a real person and what he had to say was true. They were not doing anything deceptive at all. The "third" person also was using their computer, who was a visiting nephew.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 25 2007, 10:54 PM)
>
> ...They were busted; get over it.

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 11:04 PM)
>
> Mr. Josey--I was telling the truth. I don't need to "get over" anything.

Lee fails to realize that Bystander/WWJD came back and admitted to using the same computer. Now - I don't know about 3ABN - and other "huge" corporations - but two people in an office/home/small area cannot use the same computer and not pass each other and not "know" each other or know "about" each other. They (Bystander and WWJD) were busted out on this aspect.

Now - what's the spin on the "nephew" - who was visiting.... Lee - since you have explanations for everything - what you got on dat?

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 25 2007, 10:37 PM

Isn't this a white lie along the lines of spiritual adultery? Deceptive without actually telling a flat out lie? Same old same old.

Richard

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 25 2007, 11:33 PM)
>
> I agree - this statement makes it sound like they don't know each other...knowing good and well that they do.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 25 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE
>
> FHB The Lord must be guiding both of our thoughts along the same line. Earlier, I too, was wondering, what, if any, had Mr. J contributed to the 3abn story. Just like Clay, he calls names, points fingers, and talks down to everyone that doesn't agree but I have failed to see where his "ire" comes from....

I do believe his strong statements come from a place of you get what you put out. Folks on here have called victims of molestation willing participants. Folks have been threatened with lawsuits and court. Folks have been called an outright lie.

You cannot possibly continue to throw mess around and not get some splash back of something on your shirt....

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 26 2007, 12:37 AM)
>
> Isn't this a white lie along the lines of spiritual adultery? Deceptive without actually telling a flat out lie? Same old same old.

Sho' is..... sn

Kinda like when my Mother didn't want to talk to a lady in the neighborhood - and when she called she jumped in the tub and told me to tell her..."Tell her I'm in the tub and will call her back later..."

Technically - she wasn't lying...

Posted by: calvin Feb 25 2007, 10:50 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 25 2007, 08:49 PM)
>
> Sera--your summary is incorrect. Bystander explained that he and wwjd are both sharing a computer. They did not create a "third" personality. It was a real person and what he had to say was true. They were not doing anything deceptive at all. The "third" person also was using their computer, who was a visiting nephew.

Lee is correct. There was no third personality, I am pretty sure of that. As Bystander stated in this thread, both bystander and wwjd where allowed back in after my investigation. By the way, I am well schooled in the operations and working the Internet Protocol (IP), having assigned IP addresses as a Network Manager with a 700 node network, and IT Director.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 25 2007, 11:59 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 25 2007, 09:50 PM)
>
> Lee is correct. There was no third personality, I am pretty sure of that. As Bystander stated in this thread, both bystander and wwjd where allowed back in after my investigation. By the way, I am well schooled in the operations and working the Internet Protocol (IP), having assigned IP addresses as a Network Manager with a 700 node network, and IT Director.

Calvin,

So dewayneholden, the nephew of either wwjd and Bystander (per Lee), was a separate user posting from a separate computer? I understand why his post was quickly erased but was dewayneholden permanently banned?

PB

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 26 2007, 12:22 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 25 2007, 11:40 PM)
>
> I do believe his strong statements come from a place of you get what you put out. Folks on here have called victims of molestation willing participants. Folks have been threatened with lawsuits and court. Folks have been called an outright lie.
>
> You cannot possibly continue to throw mess around and not get some splash back of something on your shirt....
> Sho' is.....
>
> Kinda like when my Mother didn't want to talk to a lady in the neighborhood - and when she called she jumped in the tub and told me to tell her..."Tell her I'm in the tub and will call her back later..."
>
> Technically - she wasn't lying...

DrRe: And FHB's accusations of anger is simply another RED HERRING. In other words it is another lie to evade the Proven/Verifiable facts regarding the lies told by the by/wwjd. Which proves that they have no credibility...

BTW HH, where is that RED Herring?.

Posted by: calvin Feb 26 2007, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 25 2007, 11:59 PM)
>
> Calvin,

> So dewayneholden, the nephew of either wwjd and Bystander (per Lee), was a separate user posting from a separate computer? I understand why his post was quickly erased but was dewayneholden permanently banned?
>
> PB

Yes to both questions.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 26 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 25 2007, 10:42 PM) ☐
>
> Mr. J's anger is evident - however the reason is not so at this point.

yes, I have to be the "angry black man" in your conspiracy theory... I suppose you have to hang that on someone...

> QUOTE
>
> Mr. J. maybe you can share with us what your main point is in the whole 3ABN issue. I can't find, through searching your posts here in the 3ABN forum, what your main contention, well, any significant contention is. You seem very angry at the church, at 3ABN, at anything that doesn't align perfectly with your own personal theology. What evidence have you presented? What point do you have to make - other than railing at 3ABN?

I will tell you that if you will tell me how your throwing stones while hiding in the shadows to prevent them from being lobbed back at you is in any wise consistent with the Christianity you profess.

> QUOTE
>
> Many have been the object of your derision when they didn't deserve it.

There are over 2000 members of BSDA; quantify 'many'... then prove they were undeserving... like the victims of Tommy Shelton were undeserving of the spite and derision from your camp, the contemptible innuendos and claims of their being consenting partners for Tommy's proclivities... when you can show I have done any like that... including the persons in your camp... then there may be truth in this allegation...

> QUOTE
>
> You have held yourself up as a paragon of perfection claiming that any an all individuals that disagree with you even on a miniscule point are somehow from the Devil.

This is becoming a constant refrain from your camp... as I said to your boy wwjd... show me where I have claimed perfection in any wise...much less holding myself up as a 'paragon of perfection'... or that all who disagree with me are "from the devil". You claim I do it continually, so you should not have any difficulty citing myriad posts when I have stated such.

You cant because I have never made such claims.

> QUOTE
>
> You can quote scripture - that doesn't make you holy or sanctified or saved, after all the Devil knows scripture backwards and forwards. You can quote Mrs. White, that doesn't mean you alone have applied her guidance correctly.

Again, I have never claimed to be the sole correct interpreter of EGW... but thank you for acknowledging that my application of her guidance was, in fact, correct. I have never quoted a scripture at any time to anyone in order to effect justification, sanctification or to be endowed with any personal holiness so again, you are firmly in the realm of either false witness against me or puerile delusion; you choose which.

> QUOTE
>
> I fully expect to receive your wrath with this post - but in the name of the Lord I will endure whatever slings and arrows you decide to send my way. Why? Because I am sure that the Lord is in charge and I do not post without prayerful consideration before I do. Question me, belittle me, disparage me, cast dispersion on my character - but remember that God does guide and direct and you do not have the market cornered on his guidance and direction.
>
> - FHB

For all of the questioning, belittling, disparagement (and BTW, one casts aspersion on another's character... yeah; you've done that here too) that you have done in this post, you have made two statements of truth... That my application of EGW is infact true and correct and that I am being guided by God. I am sure it wasn't your intent to acknowledge either... but as you said... sometimes you let God lead. the rest is your working out the haterade in your system.

I am sorry to inform you that you don't rate my wrath... none of you does. you do, however have my pity... which, as this post shows, is certain to inculcate your wrath... but I'm not concerned one way or the other; I've been called worse... by better people... who were man enough to show their faces and state their names.

Neither you nor anyone else in your camp has refuted anything I've said BTW... you've complained that it wasn't said nice enough for your liking; you've supposed that since I have generally been right, that I must think I am always right... which is an errant supposition at best and an outright lie at worst... you've danced around the issues and done your level best to make me the issue to take the heat off the actual discussion...but you have refuted zip...nada. nil.. nothing.. zippo.

And your constant bombardment of weapons of mass distraction doesn't change that.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 09:56 AM

thats what I'm talkin bout.... everything Bro J said.... and said it well...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 26 2007, 09:08 PM

Well alright!

sn

67

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Melody

Posted by: John S Feb 24 2007, 06:27 PM

Messages from Alyssa and Barbara Kerr are enough. But there's much more that needs to be cleared up. For example, Melody Shelton's adulterous situation and being promoted by Danny as a very spiritual girl. Just try to find the date of her latest marriage and put with that the date of her latest child's birth. The 3ABN Board has been negligent in taking Danny to task for the Melody situation. She should not be permitted to sing on their programs. All the other sexual allegations need to be looked into also. The financial allegations need to be looked into. Tommy's gone now which is good. Danny's time of involvement with Brandy needs to be investigated and I believe it will be seen the present situation is a state of adultery. Both Danny and the Board state there is no evidence of adultery on Linda's part. They both used the term "spiritual adultery." That really is an oxymoron. There is no such thing listed in the Bible as grounds for divorce and remarriage. Again, I believe the Board has been negligent in its duty. We certainly cannot donate funds to 3ABN any longer until this thing is cleared up. How could a minister working with 3ABN perform Danny's latest marriage. The ASI could have them disconnected from the ASI but I believe it will take legal action from the Attorney General to hit them on the financial allegations before anything will get cleared up. John S

Posted by: Clay Feb 24 2007, 09:51 PM

I believe somewhere it was indicated that Melody was off limits....

Posted by: calvin Feb 24 2007, 10:03 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 24 2007, 09:51 PM)
>
> I believe somewhere it was indicated that Melody was off limits....

It is off limits, and some of you knew that! Yet you jumped at the opportunity to indulge yourself in exposing dirt on what I consider a bit player in this whole saga. This woman pass marriages and whatever does not deserve to be exposed here.

66

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Locked Post

Posted by: John S Feb 24 2007, 10:38 PM

I had no idea what I said in my post was off limits. I'm sorry. Please delete my post (Melody). Thank you. John S.

Posted by: calvin Feb 24 2007, 10:55 PM

> QUOTE(John S @ Feb 24 2007, 10:38 PM) ☐
>
> I had no idea what I said in my post was off limits. I'm sorry. Please delete my post (Melody). Thank you. John S.

No problem John, you are new and had no way of knowing. Your initial post was alright, but what followed was the problem. Her past personal life had nothing or very little to do with 3ABN.

Powered by Invision Power Board (http://www.invisionboard.com)

68

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ A Time For Prayer And Fasting

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 22 2007, 09:38 AM

As the department heads at 3abn begin their hours of fasting and prayer, those members here who wish to do the same are invited to raise their voices to our Lord as well.

James 5:13-16 says:
13 Is any one of you in trouble? He should pray. Is anyone happy? Let him sing songs of praise.
14 Is any one of you sick? He should call the elders of the church to pray over him and anoint him with oil in the name of the Lord. 15 And the prayer offered in faith will make the sick person well; the Lord will raise him up. If he has sinned, he will be forgiven. 16 Therefore confess your sins to each other and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The prayer of a righteous man is powerful and effective.

PB

Posted by: Grace Feb 22 2007, 10:02 AM

Our Heavenly Father,

I want to be united in prayer with all those who are praying to you for help. I open my heart to you and confess my hardness and rebellion. Please forgive me in Jesus name and hear my prayer. May your Kingdom come. May your Name be sanctified by all of us your children. Forgive us for taking your Name in vain and for bringing shame to you by our bad actions. May your Holy Spirit work in our hearts to produce repentance, healing and change. We pray for the 3ABN ministry: the leaders, the workers, the viewers, their families. For the victims of unfair treatment, of abuse. For all who are deceived. For all who suffer. Glory to you, dear Lord!

In Jesus name,

Amen

Posted by: September Feb 22 2007, 10:04 AM

Dear Lord,

I want to uplift 3ABN this morning to You, the Healer and Mender of broken hearts. I pray that the hearts of the leadership at 3ABN will be open to hearing Your still small voice. I leave 3ABN and its leadership in Your capable hands...let nothing happen that is against Your perfect will.

I also pray for those who have come forward on this board who were sabatoged by the evil one through one of Your children. May their hearts be healed as only You can heal. May You remind them that You are faithful, that You care, and that You long to turn their pain into something beauitful that only serves to strengthen Your bond with them.

I also pray for those who have come here defending the above actions. May you soften their hearts and may they be open to compassion, understanding and truth.

I pray also for those who are working at 3ABN right now that have gone against the grain so to speak to speak out against deception lies. May Your everlasting arms of protection, grace, and peace sustain them.

Oh God, my heart is heavy for all that is going on there. Please help me not to pass judgement hastilly, help me to be slow to speak, reflecting of Your mercy, justice, and compassion for ALL for whom You died.

In Jesus' Name...Amen

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 22 2007, 10:17 AM

Dear LORD,

We come before you today, asking that you help us put away any cherished sin or earthly distraction. Open our hearts and minds to the working of Your Holy Spirit so that we can grow in our understanding and in our witness of You.

You know the hearts of every one on this little rebel planet, hearts you desire to make Your own. You know the details of this situation that we have a burden to see resolved. You know the victims, the victimizers, the true in heart and those that have chosen to follow Your accuser.

We would ask you, LORD, to open the eyes of those in prayer - both here and at 3abn - that all can clearly see Your will, that all can clearly see the true state of the ministry that is taking your Word to the world. For those who are in denial or are too proud to see truth, please urge them to see through Your eyes. Help those who have tried to hide things to the detriment of those injured by sin to desire to change course, to see how highly You value those hurting ones, and to take steps towards true repentance, restitution and restoration.

Please place a hedge of protection around those employees of 3abn who are aware of the problems and are speaking out, calling sin by its right name.

We ask all these things in the name of our Savior, Jesus Christ, and according to Your will.

Amen

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 22 2007, 10:43 AM

Lord we come... with knee bent and body bowed... knowing we are not so worthy as to even abide in your presence and knowing that it is by your mercy alone that we are not consumed. We come bewailing our manifold sins and wickednesses knowing they are loathsome and grievous in your sight, asking your forgiveness. Father there has been confusion and deception and the covering of sin in the camp of 3abn. There has been oppression and idolatry; there has been the many continually forced under the yoke of the few and their cry has reached even to the very throne of grace. The name of God has been taken in vain by those who bear the spirit of Hophni and Phineas who serve self where they should be serving God and by those who are sleeping dogs, loving to slumber, blind guides... watchmen who see the thief and still do not sound the alarm... and yet you still say Come, let us reason together...saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. 19 If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land: 20 But if ye refuse and rebel, ye shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it. 21 How is the faithful city become a harlot! it was full of judgment; righteousness lodged in it; but now murderers. 22 Thy silver is become dross, thy wine mixed with water: 23 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loveth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they judge not the fatherless, neither doth the cause of the widow come unto them. 24 Therefore saith the Lord, the LORD of hosts, the mighty One of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine adversaries, and avenge me of mine enemies: 25 And I will turn my hand upon thee, and purely purge away thy dross, and take away all thy tin:

26 And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counselors as at the beginning: afterward thou shalt be called, The city of righteousness, the faithful city.

The time Lord has come for you to show up and speak from the whirlwind as you did with Job and show your people their sins and let them know that you are still willing to abundantly pardon...and that if they humble themselves and pray and seek your face and turn from their wicked ways then you will hear from heaven. Let those who think they alone remain faithful that you have many who have not bowed the knee to Baal and give them the resolve to continue to walk upright. cast down every vain imagination and every idol; comfort the afflicted and the oppressed and those who have received iniquity and wickedness and betrayal from the very ones tasked with leading this flock. Give those who need it Holy boldness to speak truth to power and send your angels to make up the hedge about those who, when you call on them to seek your face, their hearts reply "thy face will I seek... but above all things, come quickly, Lord Jesus because you promise in your word that He that shall come will come and will not tarry... for we ask it in Jesus' name..

AMEN.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: daylily Feb 22 2007, 11:06 AM

Father,

You alone are wise enough to know what needs to be done and to see that it is done. I just pray that all things are done to Your honor and glory and to the salvation of all those involved.

Amen

Posted by: inga Feb 22 2007, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Feb 21 2007, 05:26 PM)
>
> Prayer Requests February 21
>
> Special Request
>
> God has impressed 3ABN's administrative staff that we need to call for a day of fasting and prayer to seek His face. This special season of prayer has been scheduled for:
>
> Thursday, February 22, 2007, 9:30am—4:30pm
>
> Pray the Lord to cause us to hear His still, small voice, making clear His will for the direction we should take

Please, folks, let's all join the 3ABN folks in this prayer!

Let's pray that the Holy Spirit will work mightily at 3ABN. "And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment." (John 16:8)

Dear Father, we so much need your Holy Spirit in our lives, not just in the lives of those administering 3ABN. We need You because without you we can do nothing. At times some of us here have posted in a way that is not honoring Your name. Please forgive us. Please cleanse us. Please give us the white raiment, the gold and the eye salve that you have promised.

Please, Father, keep us from being pulled down by the evil we behold even while we want to be instrumental in uprooting that evil. We realize that we can do nothing good while we ourselves are not totally submitted to You.

Father, I ask You to take my heart because I cannot give it. Take it and mold it according to Your will. Make me an instrument in Your hands.

And, Father, I ask you to reveal Yourself in a mighty way in the 3ABN prayer session right now. Please be there in the person of Your Holy Spirit to do the work Jesus said You would do. I pray the same for myself, knowing full well that the results are not always pleasant. But as long as You do the work, the results are to Your honor and our salvation.

Posted by: roxe Feb 22 2007, 09:19 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 22 2007, 10:06 AM)
>
> Father,
> You alone are wise enough to know what needs to be done and to see that it is done. I just pray that all things are done to Your honor and glory and to the salvation of all those involved.
> Amen

> QUOTE
>
> by inga:

Dear Father, we so much need your Holy Spirit in our lives, not just in the lives of those administering 3ABN. We need You because without you we can do nothing. At times some of us here have posted in a way that is not honoring Your name. Please forgive us. Please cleanse us. Please give us the white raiment, the gold and the eye salve that you have promised.
Please, Father, keep us from being pulled down by the evil we behold even while we want to be instrumental in uprooting that evil. We realize that we can do nothing good while we ourselves are not totally submitted to You.
Father, I ask You to take my heart because I cannot give it. Take it and mold it according to Your will. Make me an instrument in Your hands.
And, Father, I ask you to reveal Yourself in a mighty way in the 3ABN prayer session right now. Please be there in the person of Your Holy Spirit to do the work Jesus said You would do. I pray the same for myself, knowing full well that the results are not always pleasant. But as long as You do the work, the results are to Your honor and our salvation.

and

69

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Could I Have Been A Victim Of Tommy Shelton?

Posted by: PJMusic Feb 19 2007, 09:17 PM

First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this. I have been friends with Tommy's kids for a very long time. They are wonderful kids and I really feel sorry for them for all that they are having to go through. I have nothing to gain by writing this, but feel I should, as I was part of the Ezra congregation and my family was impacted by this as well. Some of you on this board don't believe what has happened, but I can tell you that as a teenager who was in this church, and what I was able to see, there is truth to these allegations.

I first started attending Ezra Church of God in 1974. I remember Tommy Shelton coming to my house and inviting my family to church. I was outside playing when this happened. From then, until 1987 I attended the church, except for about a span of a year or so between that time, during the mid-80's when the scandal hit.

I started attending the Ezra Church of God Christian School when I was 13. I was a classmate of Brad Dunning, Duane, Roger, Scott, Ricky, Greg, etc. These guys were my friends also, as we played basketball together, sang together, etc. I knew Ricky since he was about 5 or 6. Greg was one of my best friends.

I also recall the day when Brad stopped going to the school. Around this time I had heard rumors of what might be happening.

I watched as the split of the church took place in mid-80's and watched as my family was shunned by the church as they had sided with the few who believed the accusations were true. Many mean things came my family's way after all this happened. My family was friends with Sherry and others who were against Tommy. We had stopped attending the church for a time, although I myself went back, because of my involvement with different parts of the church at that time, like music and I lived with a family that attended the church as well. I remember well the "nervous breakdown" Tommy had. I also watched as certain teen guys seemed to always be with him, driving with him, pulling up in the same vehicle with him. I would watch as they would just follow behind and go straight back to Tommy's office before evening church service would begin. I even remember the song Tommy wrote during this breakdown called Sometimes I Just Want to go Home. I even remember the lyrics.

For some unknown reason in around 1984 or 85, Tommy bought me a new pair of black shoes. I remember us going up to Payless to get them. I felt good wearing them, because my other shoes were not that great and getting new shoes for me was really unaffordable with me family.

I have been on a trip to a music studio in Flora. I also was offered to drive but declined as I didn't feel comfortable. I remember being at the studio. (Their fridge only had TAB soda). For some reason, I was allowed to miss school to go on this trip.
On the drive back, Tommy asked me a strange question. He asked me if I wanted to ask him some personal questions. This made me feel quite uncomfortable, even at that age. I was not close to anyone, even my parents, so right away did not feel right even saying anything personal. The best thing I could come up with was "Do you think it's ok to have a girlfriend?". After his quick explanation of if it was ok (can't remember the answer), he pressed me once more for personal questions, which I had none I wanted to ask. It just all seemed awkward to me.

I have thus far never spoken of what I am about to write to anyone, but in light of what has come up, I feel I had to bring it up. I didn't feel comfortable discussing that type of thing back then so I remained quiet. I did not want confrontation.

I myself was never a victim. However I was told by one of the guys who has not come forward of what had happened to him. He told me once about something Tommy says to help gain trust. It's a story of David and Jonathan, and how the bible talks about a "special love" between them. Tommy then compares this to him and this guy. He then tells me that after that, Tommy asks for this guy to do something for him. This all took place in the mid 80's, when I was about 15 or 16. I won't go in detail as to what was asked and done further to him, but it is along the lines of Duane's letter.

I am not sure why I stayed with Ezra even after my family left due to the scandal that started. My own family was disappointed in me when they found out that I had started attending there again. I already knew the things against Tommy at this time, but still I stayed, maybe feeling that as long as it never happened to me, then it's ok. The only friends I ever knew attended there. Without going there, I had no friends. I had always had this jealousy at the time that I was never included in anything that the other guys had, like being asked to sing, or participate in things. Maybe it was because I didn't sing good. I played piano, which ironically was inspired to me by Tommy.

As for Danny, well I can only give personal views on him. I didn't really care to much for him, as he did construction on the school and would play basketball with the team during P.E. He was a good shooter though but on a personal level, well he seemed quite demanding and cocky.

I really don't know what to think about all this. Some relief perhaps as I know of victims who have not come forward, many who were my friends. I only hope that something finally gets done so there can be some closure.

I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. This site only brings contention and separation. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down. I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

Posted by: lookin4truth Feb 19 2007, 09:28 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring > it down.

WWJD,

I am not trying to give you a hard time. I was just wondering why you would read this letter, and then say that the allegations against 3ABN are not true.

You did not say the allegations against Tommy are not true, and that is what this post was all about.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 19 2007, 09:28 PM

Welcome PJMusic to BSDA. There is much to be gained from writing things down and getting things off your chest. Hopefully you will be made welcome here, dispite a few of those that will put you down.

Richard

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 10:17 PM) ☐
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this. I have been friends with Tommy's kids for a very long time. They are wonderful kids and I really feel sorry for them for all that they are having to go through. I have nothing to gain by writing this, but feel I should, as I was part of the Ezra congregation and my family was impacted by this as well. Some of you on this board don't believe what has happened, but I can tell you that as a teenager who was in this church, and what I was able to see, there is truth to these allegations.
>
> I first started attending Ezra Church of God in 1974. I remember Tommy Shelton coming to my house and inviting my family to church. I was outside playing when this happened. From then, until 1987 I attended the church, except for about a span of a year or so between that time, during the mid-80's when the scandal hit.
>
> I started attending the Ezra Church of God Christian School when I was 13. I was a classmate of Brad Dunning, Duane, Roger, Scott, Ricky, Greg, etc. These guys were my friends also, as we played basketball together, sang together, etc. I knew Ricky since he was about 5 or 6. Greg was one of my best friends.
>
> I also recall the day when Brad stopped going to the school. Around this time I had heard rumors of what might be happening.
>
> I watched as the split of the church took place in mid-80's and watched as my family was shunned by the church as they had sided with the few who believed the accusations were true. Many mean things came my family's way after all this happened. My family was friends with Sherry and others who were against Tommy. We had stopped attending the church for a time, although I myself went back, because of my involvement with different parts of the church at that time, like music and I lived with a family that attended the church as well. I remember well the "nervous breakdown" Tommy had. I also watched as certain teen guys seemed to always be with him, driving with him, pulling up in the same vehicle with him. I would watch as they would just follow behind and go straight back to Tommy's office before evening church service would begin. I even remember the song Tommy wrote during this breakdown called Sometimes I Just Want to go Home. I even remember the lyrics.
>
> For some unknown reason in around 1984 or 85, Tommy bought me a new pair of black shoes. I > remember us going up to Payless to get them. I felt good wearing them, because my other shoes were not that great and getting new shoes for me was really unaffordable with me family.

>
> I have been on a trip to a music studio in Flora. I also was offered to drive but declined as I didn't feel comfortable. I remember being at the studio. (Their fridge only had TAB soda). For some reason, I was allowed to miss school to go on this trip.
> On the drive back, Tommy asked me a strange question. He asked me if I wanted to ask him some personal questions. This made me feel quite uncomfortable, even at that age. I was not close to anyone, even my parents, so right away did not feel right even saying anything personal. The best thing I could come up with was "Do you think it's ok to have a girlfriend?". After his quick explanation of if it was ok (can't remember the answer), he pressed me once more for personal questions, which I had none I wanted to ask. It just all seemed awkward to me.
>
> I have thus far never spoken of what I am about to write to anyone, but in light of what has come up, I feel I had to bring it up. I didn't feel comfortable discussing that type of thing back then so I remained quiet. I did not want confrontation.
> I myself was never a victim. However I was told by one of the guys who has not come forward of what had happened to him. He told me once about something Tommy says to help gain trust. It's a story of David and Jonathan, and how the bible talks about a "special love" between them. Tommy then compares this to him and this guy. He then tells me that after that, Tommy asks for this guy to do something for him. This all took place in the mid 80's, when I was about 15 or 16. I won't go in detail as to what was asked and done further to him, but it is along the lines of Duane's letter.
>
> I am not sure why I stayed with Ezra even after my family left due to the scandal that started. My own family was disappointed in me when they found out that I had started attending there again. I already knew the things against Tommy at this time, but still I stayed, maybe feeling that as long as it never happened to me, then it's ok. The only friends I ever knew attended there. Without going there, I had no friends. I had always had this jealousy at the time that I was never included in anything that the other guys had, like being asked to sing, or participate in things. Maybe it was because I didn't sing good. I played piano, which ironically was inspired to me by Tommy.
>
> As for Danny, well I can only give personal views on him. I didn't really care to much for him, as he did construction on the school and would play basketball with the team during P.E. He was a good shooter though but on a personal level, well he seemed quite demanding and cocky.
>
> I really don't know what to think about all this. Some relief perhaps as I know of victims who have not come forward, many who were my friends. I only hope that something finally gets done so there can be some closure.
>
> I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Feb 19 2007, 09:28 PM)
>
> WWJD,
>
> I am not trying to give you a hard time. I was just wondering why you would read this letter, and > then say that the allegations against 3ABN are not true.

>
> You did not say the allegations against Tommy are not true, and that is what this post was all about.

Because unlike others here, I don't comment on things that I don't know the actual facts or details involved. I do know about many of the false accusations thrown at 3abn because, under the circumstances, I have made it my business to know.

Posted by: PJMusic Feb 19 2007, 09:35 PM

WWJD,

Honestly, I really don't care about 3ABN. Sure I've been there when it first started, but I really only watch because I see people on there I know personally, people I grew up with, and can tell my wife and show her that I know them. I even wrote a song once that someone sang on there. However, this was not about 3ABN though thus the topic.

Posted by: IMM Feb 19 2007, 09:35 PM

Welcome, PJMusic. Telling your story must have taken a lot of courage.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet.
>
> edited for content..... not appropriate......

WWJD, if you are not a victim, a parent of a victim, or a professional counselor, how can you decide what will bring closure to someone else?

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 19 2007, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 07:17 PM)
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this. I have been friends with Tommy's kids for a very long time. They are wonderful kids and I really feel sorry for them for all that they are having to go through. I have nothing to gain by writing this, but feel I should, as I was part of the Ezra congregation and my family was impacted by this as well. Some of you on this board don't believe what has happened, but I can tell you that as a teenager who was in this church, and what I was able to see, there is truth to these allegations.

I first started attending Ezra Church of God in 1974. I remember Tommy Shelton coming to my house and inviting my family to church. I was outside playing when this happened. From then, until 1987 I attended the church, except for about a span of a year or so between that time, during the mid-80's when the scandal hit.

I started attending the Ezra Church of God Christian School when I was 13. I was a classmate of Brad Dunning, Duane, Roger, Scott, Ricky, Greg, etc. These guys were my friends also, as we played basketball together, sang together, etc. I knew Ricky since he was about 5 or 6. Greg was one of my best friends.

I also recall the day when Brad stopped going to the school. Around this time I had heard rumors of what might be happening.

I watched as the split of the church took place in mid-80's and watched as my family was shunned by the church as they had sided with the few who believed the accusations were true. Many mean things came my family's way after all this happened. My family was friends with Sherry and others who were against Tommy. We had stopped attending the church for a time, although I myself went back, because of my involvement with different parts of the church at that time, like music and I lived with a family that attended the church as well. I remember well the "nervous breakdown" Tommy had. I also watched as certain teen guys seemed to always be with him, driving with him, pulling up in the same vehicle with him. I would watch as they would just follow behind and go straight back to Tommy's office before evening church service would begin. I even remember the song Tommy wrote during this breakdown called Sometimes I Just Want to go Home. I even remember the lyrics.

For some unknown reason in around 1984 or 85, Tommy bought me a new pair of black shoes. I remember us going up to Payless to get them. I felt good wearing them, because my other shoes were not that great and getting new shoes for me was really unaffordable with me family.

I have been on a trip to a music studio in Flora. I also was offered to drive but declined as I didn't feel comfortable. I remember being at the studio. (Their fridge only had TAB soda). For some reason, I was allowed to miss school to go on this trip.
On the drive back, Tommy asked me a strange question. He asked me if I wanted to ask him some personal questions. This made me feel quite uncomfortable, even at that age. I was not close to anyone, even my parents, so right away did not feel right even saying anything personal. The best thing I could come up with was "Do you think it's ok to have a girlfriend?". After his quick explanation of if it was ok (can't remember the answer), he pressed me once more for personal questions, which I had none I wanted to ask. It just all seemed awkward to me.

I have thus far never spoken of what I am about to write to anyone, but in light of what has come up, I feel I had to bring it up. I didn't feel comfortable discussing that type of thing back then so I remained quiet. I did not want confrontation.
I myself was never a victim. However I was told by one of the guys who has not come forward of what had happened to him. He told me once about something Tommy says to help gain trust. It's a story of David and Jonathan, and how the bible talks about a "special love" between them. Tommy then compares this to him and this guy. He then tells me that after that, Tommy asks for this guy to do something for him. This all took place in the mid 80's, when I was about 15 or 16. I won't go in detail as to what was asked and done further to him, but it is along the lines of Duane's letter.

I am not sure why I stayed with Ezra even after my family left due to the scandal that started. My own family was disappointed in me when they found out that I had started attending there again. I already knew the things against Tommy at this time, but still I stayed, maybe feeling that as long as it never happened to me, then it's ok. The only friends I ever knew attended there. Without going there, I had no friends. I had always had this jealousy at the time that I was never included in anything that the other guys had, like being asked to sing, or participate in things. Maybe it was because I didn't sing good. I played piano, which ironically was inspired to me by Tommy.

> As for Danny, well I can only give personal views on him. I didn't really care to much for him, as he did construction on the school and would play basketball with the team during P.E. He was a good shooter though but on a personal level, well he seemed quite demanding and cocky.
>
> I really don't know what to think about all this. Some relief perhaps as I know of victims who have not come forward, many who were my friends. I only hope that something finally gets done so there can be some closure.
>
> I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Thank you for posting in BSDA. Welcome ☒ welc

Thank you for your story. You are very brave for comming forth to give your TRUTH story. You don't have to be religious to have a close communion with Jesus. HE is still guiding you with your love for gospel music. Carry on. I will be praying for you.
Rosyroi

Posted by: roxe Feb 19 2007, 09:46 PM

Welcome to BSDA, PJMusic!!

thank you for your courage in telling your story... and even tho you say you could have been a victim, it appears to me that you are a "verbal" victim... praise the Lord it wasn't worse for you.

IMO, you don't need to answer anyone who makes you feel uncomfortable... your story speaks for itself.

God Bless!

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 19 2007, 09:54 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 07:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet.
>
> edited for content..... not appropriate......

Why should I not be surprised. I imagine Jesus crying over that post. Because I am.
Rosyroi

Posted by: watchbird Feb 19 2007, 10:00 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 10:17 PM)
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this. . . .
>
> . . . . . .
>
> I really don't know what to think about all this. Some relief perhaps as I know of victims who have not come forward, many who were my friends. I only hope that something finally gets done so there can be some closure.
>
> I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Blessings on you PJM for bringing your experience, your confirmation of the experiences of others, and most of all your own need for closure and community to us here on BSDA.

I know feelings similar to yours, as I too sometimes wonder how it was.... in a place and time far removed from yours.... that I escaped without becoming a victim as I learned years later some of my friends had been by a certain sexual predator. There is a feeling of wonderment that still haunts me when I think about it... when I look back and see new meaning in old experiences that either completely baffled me at the time or that I realized years later I had completely misread at the time.

How fortunate I was... how fortunate you are... to have been protected even when you were not fully aware of being so protected. And how fortunate your friends are now that you have stepped up to stand beside them affirming their experiences as you have done.

Surely.... as one gives, so shall it be given to him again... and in your attempts here to help bring closure to your friends who were more directly victimized than you, you, yourself, will indeed be blessed and will find closure for your own wounds of the spirit and psyche.

As you may have already seen, there are those here who will harrass and speak ill of you. But by doing so, they also will come under the law of "as one gives, so shall it be given to him again", and those who give such taunts and barbs as some pass out, will indeed receive as they have given, and by stepping forward as you have, you will help them reveal the kinds of persons which they are.... and this also will help bring closure to the victims as their abusers are stripped of their false facades and stand revealed for what they are.

Blessings upon you, may God give you peace, and may He draw you to Himself through this new experience of fellowshipping with those who are working to expose evil and bring deliverance to the abused and oppressed.

Once upon a time. . . . .

At a different place
And in a different age
I scattered words
Upon a page . . .

Lest I forget . . .

To rage

Against the falling
Of a blade.

About that other time
And need,
From scattered words
Upon the page
I read . . .

Lest I forget . . .

To bleed

With you
Whose wounds
Are not on view . . .
With you . . .
The walking Wounded.

May your sojourn with us here bring peace and healing for the wounds you and your friends have held out of sight all these many years...... .....

Posted by: roxe Feb 19 2007, 10:02 PM

edited post...

i refuse to get caught up in

Posted by: IMM Feb 19 2007, 10:03 PM

WB, that was touching. Thanks for sharing it.

Posted by: roxe Feb 19 2007, 10:08 PM

> QUOTE(IMM @ Feb 19 2007, 09:03 PM)
>
> WB, that was touching. Thanks for sharing it.

Posted by: erik Feb 19 2007, 11:02 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 07:17 PM)
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this. I have been friends with Tommy's kids for a very long time. They are wonderful kids and I really feel sorry for them for all that they are having to go through. I have nothing to gain by writing this, but feel I should, as I was part of the Ezra congregation and my family was impacted by this as well. Some of you on this board don't believe what has happened, but I can tell you that as a teenager who was in this church, and what I was able to see, there is truth to these allegations.

Thank you for having the courage to stand up and tell the truth.

I am proud of you, and will pray that you and your friends will find the healing you need.

Erik

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 07:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. This site only brings contention and separation. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down. I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

WWJD,

SO are calling this guy a lair?

If so what Proof do you have that he is lying?

THE problem for 3abn is this WWJD, tommy problem is now their problem because they defended him with out knowing all the facts.

If the charges that these young men are bring forward have no truth to them why in Tommy and carol's letters do neither of them list the guys names and say that they are lying, instead they went after a fellow pastor?

Just give some anwser and thought to these questions?

Erik

Posted by: Ralph Feb 20 2007, 12:04 AM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 08:17 PM)
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this.
>
> ......
>
> As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Thanks so much for writing. Sometimes thoughts are like fog around us and when we write, that fog is condensed into words that we can see and deal with. Just writing often gives a sense of peace. For a while you may wonder if it was worth it. Let me assure that it certainly was. And I hope that your willingness to write will give others the courage to speak out. There is healing in talking about these things.

I have often noticed that people look at youthful experiences through the eyes of an adult and wonder, why didn't I do this? or why didn't I say that? If any readers feel that way, just look at a youth that was your age, and ask yourself whether he would do any differently than you did at that age.

It wasn't until the last few years that we realized how traumatic such an experience can be for an adolescent.

I just pray that God will put His arms of love around you and give you the peace and the closure that you are seeking.

Posted by: Grace Feb 20 2007, 03:25 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 20 2007, 07:04 AM)
>
> Thanks so much for writing. Sometimes thoughts are like fog around us and when we write, that fog is condensed into words that we can see and deal with. Just writing often gives a sense of peace. For a while you may wonder if it was worth it. Let me assure that it certainly was. And I hope that your willingness to write will give others the courage to speak out. There is healing in talking about these things.
>
> I have often noticed that people look at youthful experiences through the eyes of an adult and wonder, why didn't I do this? or why didn't I say that? If any readers feel that way, just look at a youth that was your age, and ask yourself whether he would do any differently than you did at that age.
>
> It wasn't until the last few years that we realized how traumatic such an experience can be for an adolescent.
>
> I just pray that God will put His arms of love around you and give you the peace and the closure that you are seeking.

Amen!

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 20 2007, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. This site only brings contention and separation. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down. I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

I'm sorry, WWJD, but I am angered by your post and fail to see any connection at all between what you said here and what MY Jesus would do. Your tone is very condescending and disrespectful, and implies that PJMusic must be told what to do, unable to make his own choices. How do you know what his post might have resolved for him? You don't!!! Although Jesus does.

I came to BSDA with no preconceived ideas, but your attitude is certainly helping me to lean in a particular direction... Sorry, but I think I may need to go and pray again today for God to help me deal with attitudes like yours...

I'm now officially disgusted.

BTW, thank you, PJMusic for having the courage to share your experience. Please don't ever lose sight of Jesus, and remember, there is a HUGE difference between being religious and being spiritual.

God bless you, your family and friends.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 10:59 AM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> I really don't know what to think about all this. Some relief perhaps as I know of victims who have not come forward, many who were my friends. I only hope that something finally gets done so there can be some closure.
>
> I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

And this, ladies and gentlemen, is a first hand account of the damage this has done to someone who wasn't even directly affected. This is more far reaching than any of us realize, I believe.

PJMusic, thank you for your post. Yes, I think you could have (and would have) been a victim. Actually, in a way, you ARE a victim. I believe I know who you are. Feel free to PM me if you'd like to talk. I'm not interested in religion, either. (See my signature) It took years for me to realize that a relationship with Jesus is not about "do"s and "don't"s. It's about simply trusting in Him and letting Him lead. Don't feel like you can never be right with God because you can't "follow the rules."

I'd love to hear from you. It may take me a while to respond because I'll be on the road a lot this week but I WILL write back.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 20 2007, 11:26 AM

> QUOTE
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet.

You lack sufficient evidence or qualifications to make this determiniation.

> QUOTE
>
> This site only brings contention and separation.

Yet, I have been gone for 5 days, and you are still here. If you believe this to be the case.....be gone!

> QUOTE
>
> The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down.

This letter is not about 3ABN, but about Tommy Shelton, to my knowledge they are not one in the same. If you have no answer, question or comment to make on the allegations, or better yet this specific allegation you should not have posted to this thread. You only allowed the enemy to you use you to discourage. Basically, you post is ofl

> QUOTE
>
> I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

Once again.......be gone!

Posted by: Aunt B Feb 20 2007, 11:29 AM

Thank you for coming forward and speaking out PJM, and welc to BSDA.

While there are a few here who are critical, there are many more who will be supportive and stand beside you. I'm sure that the friends you have mentioned (who have come forward as victims of TS) appreciate your support as well.

God bless you, and I pray that you see Jesus here, in at least some of us.

Aunt B

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 20 2007, 11:34 AM

Does anyone else find it chilling that not only was a pastor involved and abusing his position of trust but that he used a biblical story to gain confidence and achieve his goals?

If find this even more upsetting if that is possible.

nw

I add my heartfelt support and prayers to all the others, PJM.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 20 2007, 12:11 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 19 2007, 10:17 PM)
>
> First of all,I want to say how difficult it is to type this.
>
> I am not religious, and as of now have not intention of being religious, although I have some values. My mind is always in gospel music even though I could never live that lifestyle. But I do hope that the right thing is done. I truly feel that I could have been a victim because there are similarities as to what favors were done for me to gain trust that had also happened to my friends. Tommy is a very convincing individual and knows how to gain trust. As ne who once attended Ezra and a friend of these victims from Ezra, we do need closure.

Bless you PJMusic and ☒ welcome.gif

It is truly unfortunate that so many lives have been tragically altered by the behavior of a few, in comparison. We can only pray that the Lord will give you and the many other victims strength and peace.

The fact that you had personal contact with the one who victimized others, the fact that you were placed in a position to be alone with this person and made to feel uncomfortable, the fact that all your lives, your families, and your friends, were altered by the events of your childhood makes it clear that you are also a victims.

Please consider however that we can thank the Lord Jesus that none of you have to stay victims. We praise the Lord Jesus, with and for you, that He has given you the strength and courage to speak up. Also please know that religion is not what God wants us to experience. It is "relationship" that He desires, for and with us. You, and all of the other brave souls who have spoken up, are closer to the Lord then any who has never known what it is like to be a victim of abuse.

Be Blessed and Safe in the arms of Jesus,

Mrs. Josey aka Sera/Eze 3:18

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 12:25 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 11:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. This site only brings contention and separation. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down. I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 11:33 PM)
>
> Because unlike others here, I don't comment on things that I don't know the actual facts or details involved. I do know about many of the false accusations thrown at 3abn because, under the circumstances, I have made it my business to know.

1. The OP may be under the "3ABN" title threads - but is not about 3ABN; this single thread is about Tommy Shelton and questions the OP had in regards to being a victim of Tommy Shelton.

Now.

You cannot tell someone what they feel, their motives for posting, or how/if it will resolve anything or not. This is not why the OP posted. The church (as a whole - SDA's & Others...) does enough condemnation of people. ...and then you - come on the internet - on a website - where someone is posting and actually asking a question - and come out sounding very much like...well.... ignorant. That's the nicest way I could say it on this thread/board. I wanted to say it another way..... but you know what you are when you act this way.

2. The more you speak - the more you actually "help" Tommy, Danny, and the "camp" look worse. It's beyond sad that you could come at someone that is "new" to the board - who is asking questions - like this.

3. Per Jesus and the way we are suppose to act - you....cannot possibly be serious about the way you treat people on this board. You do this as a "fun" act. or...as I said prior.... you are diagnosable. I now lean towards the latter - this one in fact. That you have some.... some mental psychosis that causes you to lash out at other...those of which you are not familiar with. Those that ask for help.

I have run into others like you. Those that actually "take pleasure" in hitting someone when they are down. Those that have no remorse. Those that have a gall-filled soul.

....and this is sad indeed.

Posted by: PJMusic Feb 20 2007, 12:26 PM

Thank you all for the support.

I believe part of the reason I am torn between this whole thing also, is because I play piano, and my inspiration at the time I started playing was because of Tommy. He has also given me tips and pointers on how to play. Even my style of playing is similar to his. I learned by watching him play. I guess maybe that is why also I felt that as long as none of this happened to me firsthand, then I was "safe". Even after knowing that all this was happening, I still visited Tommy and his family in 1997. Never did I bring anything like this up, but I had known all this time what had happened. I guess I was the type that wanted to get along with everyone, but deep down I somehow wanted some type of "justice".

Speaking from the heart, I am no Christian, and I as of now it is not my plan to be. Unfortunately I had seen that being associated with such seems to show how scandalous things can be. I am more concerned for the friends I had back in West Frankfort and how they are affected. I am sorry for them and I hope that they are able to work their way through this.
I'm not going to pass judgement on Tommy and give my thoughts on what I feel should be done, but I do hope that justice will be served. My friends were hurt. And there are more victims that I know of that will probably not come forward probably due to embarrassment or maybe just wanting this all to pass without them. I just hope this issue can be pursued.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 12:28 PM

> QUOTE(IMM @ Feb 19 2007, 11:35 PM)
>
> WWJD, if you are not a victim, a parent of a victim, or a professional counselor, how can you decide what will bring closure to someone else?

I also agree.

Even a professional counselor/therapist (which I am) cannot tell someone what closure they will get or what they will feel.

The nerve. The gall.

That is beyond sad....it's actually asinine.....

http://www.m-w.com/dictionary/asinine<<<---Click Here!!!

Main Entry: as·i·nine Pronunciation: 'a-s&-"nIn
Function: adjective
Etymology: Latin asininus, from asinus ass
1 : extremely or utterly foolish <an asinine excuse>
2 : of, relating to, or resembling an ass synonym see SIMPLE
- as·i·nine·ly adverb
- as·i·nin·i·ty /"a-s&-'ni-n&-tE/ noun

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 20 2007, 11:25 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 20 2007, 12:26 PM)
>
> Thank you all for the support. ...I'm not going to pass judgement on Tommy and give my thoughts on what I feel should be done, but I do hope that justice will be served. My friends were hurt. And there are more victims that I know of that will probably not come forward probably due to embarrassment or maybe just wanting this all to pass without them. I just hope this issue can be pursued.

You could have been a victim, no doubt about it. And since I had a strange experience akin to this back in college, I can say you have some real guts to post this. Thank you--the more people that come forward, the easier it will be for others. Then maybe Danny, Tommy & Co will start coughing up some answers.

This person could stand to cough up some answers:

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:24 PM)
>
> I can't imagine who told you that you would receive closure by posting on the internet. This site only brings contention and separation. The allegations against 3abn are not true but the people involved will use anything and anyone to bring it down. I am sorry if you were told that posting here will resolve anything. It won't.

Well, wwjd, if you're wondering where the contention is coming from ...

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:33 PM)
>
> Because unlike others here, I don't comment on things that I don't know the actual facts or details involved. I do know about many of the false accusations thrown at 3abn because, under the circumstances, I have made it my business to know.

What are you doing right in these posts? Could you possibly be commenting on things you know nothing about--like PJMusic's experience? What do you know about that? Were you ever victimized by anyone? How would you know? Oh--maybe you don't?

And if you know so much about what's going on behind the scenes, where's the documentation?

Here we have an eyewitness account of some weird junk going on, elsewhere we have experiences of full-fledged victims, and so far, all we've got from you or anyone else at 3ABN (who are you really?) is dissembling and denial. (And I count the recent additions from Tommy and Carol.)

Put up or shut up, wwjd. Potshots at people who have been hurt is not a good way to make nice with this board you find so contentious.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 21 2007, 03:53 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 20 2007, 11:26 AM)
>
> Thank you all for the support.
>
> I believe part of the reason I am torn between this whole thing also, is because I play piano, and my inspiration at the time I started playing was because of Tommy. He has also given me tips and pointers on how to play. Even my style of playing is similar to his. I learned by watching him play. I guess maybe that is why also I felt that as long as none of this happened to me firsthand, then I was "safe". Even after knowing that all this was happening, I still visited Tommy and his family in 1997. Never did I bring anything like this up, but I had known all this time what had happened. I guess I was the type that wanted to get along with everyone, but deep down I somehow wanted some type of "justice".
> Speaking from the heart, I am no Christian, and I as of now it is not my plan to be. Unfortunately I had seen that being associated with such seems to show how scandalous things can be. I am more concerned for the friends I had back in West Frankfort and how they are affected. I am sorry for > them and I hope that they are able to work their way through this.

> I'm not going to pass judgement on Tommy and give my thoughts on what I feel should be done, but I do hope that justice will be served. My friends were hurt. And there are more victims that I know of that will probably not come forward probably due to embarrassment or maybe just wanting this all to pass without them. I just hope this issue can be pursued.

Your post brought into focus a problem that I had realized, but had never put into words. If I read correctly, you are asking, Is it possible for me to separate the good things that I really appreciate from the bad things that I know about a person -- or must I throw the good out with the bad?

Cognitively, we know the answer, but emotionally, we find it more difficult to make this split, for emotionally we see a person as a whole, and find it difficult to say that one part is very good and one part is very bad.

Could it be that you are also concerned about the fallout from associating with him? Could you be asking, will people who see me play the piano recognize that style, and will they associate me with my teacher in a negative way?

I know that I am on thin ice here, so would appreciate feedback from both PJMusic and from the people who understand psychology far better than I do.

Posted by: PJMusic Feb 21 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 21 2007, 01:53 PM)

> Your post brought into focus a problem that I had realized, but had never put into words. If I read correctly, you are asking, Is it possible for me to separate the good things that I really appreciate from the bad things that I know about a person -- or must I throw the good out with the bad?
>
> Cognitively, we know the answer, but emotionally, we find it more difficult to make this split, for emotionally we see a person as a whole, and find it difficult to say that one part is very good and one part is very bad.
>
> Could it be that you are also concerned about the fallout from associating with him? Could you be asking, will people who see me play the piano recognize that style, and will they associate me with my teacher in a negative way?
>
> I know that I am on thin ice here, so would appreciate feedback from both PJMusic and from the people who understand psychology far better than I do.

I honestly don't know how to answer this. Perhaps part of what I see is guilt because I carried alot of this in me, and although I have gotten along with Tommy Shelton's family, I feel I had to post because otherwise I'd be hiding something. I feel guilty in a way because of the time spent on me to play piano, the encouragement of playing for the church, etc. Yet all along I knew what had been done to my friends.
It bothered me that Tommy was the pastor of the church I grew up in in my childhood and teenage years, this same church that helped teach me values I have, knowledge of the bible, the path of almost being a preacher or musician. And this church also could have done something then.
The memories I have of singing in the group I was in, being in the school that was part of the church, is all now marred by these things coming out. I know it should have long ago.
Had all this happened to me as a direct victim, I probably would not have said anything, either from embarrassment, or for not being included in further church activities. I was so jealous of the other guys getting to be involved in so much, being allowed to sing. I remember the hurt I felt when the quartet I sang in, sang as a trio instead while I watched from the audience, excluding me. I was just not good enough. I cannot fathom how I can be blessed in a sermon by a person who did evil things. So parts of me are angry, parts guilty, parts hurt. I turned my back on God when I saw things didn't work out for me the way I hoped. And I believe all this stemmed from this issue in some way. It's not blame, it's just the way I see it. I have kept the bitterness since then. Maybe it was well founded because of how the pastor, leaders and people I was to look up to, did not help when they should have. Sure their hindsight might see how they should have reacted, but as Tommy once told me when I was scolded in school "The damage cannot be undone".

I can no longer believe in the common phrases of "everything happens for a reason", or "God works in mysterious ways", and other little catchphrases that churches use to help try to ease suffering. It angers me that this is the best type of advice that I can ever hear. If I had a choice, I wish I never believed, but unfortunately I have to believe. The church and pastor I was in made sure of that.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 21 2007, 05:32 PM

PJM,

Bear in mind that the gift you have, regardless of what person may have played a part in your interest it playing, it is a God given gift. PJM, It was God, not Tommy Shelton, who gave you the strength to push on and persevere despite the circumstances.

It was the actions of the Pastor, who was supposed to help teach you to guarding the avenues of your soul, that instilled fear and guilt in you while the Lord helped you to become the person who was able to speak the truth about what you experienced, so others might know that they are not alone. Tommy did not do that for you, God did. In spite of what help he may have given you or what was done to gain your trust, the fact is all good things come from God. God can use people to help others, in spite of themselves.

Seeing that all good things come from God keep this in mind, satan knows the PR game bro. and he is the master of lies. Satan has had thousands of years to perfect his art of manipulation. It is God who is to be acknowledged for the gifts and any other good thing that has come into your life.

Be Blessed

Posted by: Ralph Feb 21 2007, 06:06 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 21 2007, 04:04 PM)
>
> I honestly don't know how to answer this.
> ------

You did a wonderful job of answering it. Thanks so much for sharing this with us. I can only imagine what you are going through as you write. You mention the anger, the guilt and the hurt. I just wish we could talk and weep together.

I have no platitudes to offer. Like you, I find them hollow. Please continue to talk over these things.

You've heard it before, but I want to say it again, It's not your fault. It's not your fault . It's not your fault.

Posted by: JustTana Feb 21 2007, 06:28 PM

Dear PJMusic:

Please know that your musicality is truly a gift from God. Thank you for giving Tommy credit for how he helped you with it, but that in NO WAY makes you a part of his sins. And I, too, am very glad that you were spared the pain of physical abuse by Tommy. The emotional abuse you endured in feeling sorrow for your friends who went through it was traumatic enough. I do not blame you for not speaking out either to your parents or to your friends. Again, you are not responsible for what happened to them. The fault lie squarely in Tommy's lap.

I know how you feel. I was raped by a family member (not my father!) when I was nine years old and never said a word about it because I felt that maybe I was partly responsible for what happened. We were very poor at the time and he offered me candy if my memory serves me. I know now that this person was jealous of me from the time I was born and he took it out on me - he was very sly because he knew the trouble he would get in if the 'powers that be' found out what he was doing. He had been punished in the past and blamed me for it.

Now, a question for everybody else: In light of the Oprah Show today and the mention of the fear that is put into victims more often than not - What dire consequenses might Tommy have threatened those little boys with which allowed them to stay quiet - Oh, that's right! CAROL might KILL HERSELF and it will be YOUR FAULT! And there probably were other threats as well. . . .

Just a thought!

JT

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 21 2007, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Feb 21 2007, 04:04 PM)
>
> I can no longer believe in the common phrases of "everything happens for a reason", or "God works in mysterious ways", and other little catchphrases that churches use to help try to ease suffering. It angers me that this is the best type of advice that I can ever hear. If I had a choice, I wish I never believed, but unfortunately I have to believe. The church and pastor I was in made sure of that.

PJMusic,
I can understand your bitterness and how what you have gone through has sullied your outlook on your past life experiences. The tendrils of sin touch far more than those in its immediate grip. The actions of the sinner are far reaching, far greater then the one committing the sin realizes or grasps. Satan understands this oh, so well and I imagine chortles with glee when one submits to his plans.

The common phrases you mentioned can feel not like words of encouragement but rather like attempts at minimizing the gravity of the experience or victimization. This is typical of the impotency of the denial that often surrounds situations such as this.

It certainly does not bring hope and healing to think that God would allow such things to happen for a reason! The truth is that Satan is behind all of this sin and suffering and hopelessness. The only silver lining I can offer, as one who was victimized, is that after sin has rampaged through your life due to the choices of one under Satan's spell, God can pick you up and help you to use the experience to benefit yourself and others.

There will come a point in Earth's history when all will see clearly the father of all lies and all suffering. And there will be no more of either!

hug.gif

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 21 2007, 09:36 PM

70

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Another newbie critical of BSDA

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 02:47 PM

I am a new addition to this forum. Not because I want to be but because I cannot keep silent. Someone told me about this websight but I couldn't comprehend it so checked it out myself. My first thoughts were that this was a nice SDA page. I began to scroll down to check out the headings. Beliefs of the Adventist church, activities, family topics, meetings being held and then shockingly "the 3ABN saga!!! I cannot begin to explain my shock and shame as I began to read what has been written here. The accusations, arguments, name calling and gossip has made me ashamed to be a Seventh Day Adventist. That a supposedly christian web site would host this garbage, and some of these people's comments is without excuse. this "forum" goes against any and all biblical principles and moral ethics. I have read of an "investigation" of 3ABN and it's people by someone named Pickle and Gailon. They have shown private emails, made info from private calls public, have insisted on answers from the president of the network, Danny Shelton, and have made statements that they would like to clear 3ABN if only they could get straight and clear answers. Well, I have some questions of my own. Who are Pickle and Gailon? What authority do they have to question and investigate anything or anybody? Who, if anyone, put them in charge and gave them the right to dig into anyone's personal lives? The old saying fits here, "who died and left them in charge." Do they have special credentials that I am ignorant of. I have seen even legal topics explained and assessed and told what this or that means in that instance like we were children and they were law proffessors. I have read continually their opinions on something they have read or heard and then stated as fact. As in, " Joe didn't answer Mary's question so obviously this means that Joe is trying to hide the fact that he did ect. ect... My second question would be " are we as a people that hungry for gossip and dirt that we would spend hours on end not only reading this drivel but adding our little 2 cent comments as to the guilt or innocence of people that we have never met and know nothing about except for the pictures that have been painted here. Worse than our comments is our judgements. We are making judgements here that are destroying people, families, and a world wide ministry on gossip, discussions and heresay by people that have no more power or authority that you or I.
This divorce that I keep reading about between Danny & Linda Shelton means what..... Howmany of you readers out there have been divorced. How many of you have had a "bitter" divorce? How many of you that answered yes to those 2 questions would like it posted and publisized for all the world to see? Now add to that the rumors and "tall tales" that were told on you from your ex's side then combine that with the "tall tales" that came from your side against your ex then multiply that tenfold by the time it got retold 100 hundred times and what you will come up with is the "black sda web site of "the saga of 3ABN."
Do the people involved headlong in this, not have lives of their own? Do they not have problems of their own that they should be working on? Obviously that have big problems or they wouldn't be wasting time destroying everything and everybody in their path.
I have read several excerpts about accusations made by a church of God minister against one of the Shelton Brothers. According to this forum that makes it gospel. The irony of this is that normall we as Adventists turn up our nose at another denomination, especially the minister of another denomination and usually give them no credibility whatsoever. Now because statements from him give us the "supposed dirt" we long to hear, he has all the credibility in the world. What a laugh on our own people.
I understand that both Shelton parents are dead, the father for over 30 years, and yet, accusations, harsh comments and judgements have flew over the internet against people that not only you have never met, but are deceased and not here to defend themselves. This is a sin against God. 3 or 4 people are relaying horrible things on the world wide internet and say that they got some info from someone else who heard it from someone else and so...it must be true and fact.The way I see it, these people that are in the limelight are victims not the enemy. Just as movie stars are attacked and lied and gossiped about in the secular world, so it is with the people that have been involved in the works of 3ABN. In our adventist denomination they were the "stars" and we, we are the writers of the "Enquirer" and "The Star" gossip magazines. We are starved for every little morsel on these people's lives whether it be true or false. We have a secret jealous need to take them down because they had some popularity and were in the limelight. How sad that we overlook the fact that they were in the limelight because they were spreading the gospel to all the world.

People on this forum,....how low have we fallen to be pulled into this blasphemous nonsense? If 3ABN is having problems my guess would be that most of it is from what is being written here and on other sites. The bible tells us that we are to turn a deaf ear to gossip, rumors and assumptions and instead pray for the people in question that may be going through a difficult time. Think dear people how many of these problems might have already been resolved if we would have spent as much time on our knees in behalf of all of these people as we have spent attacking, discussing and arguing over them on this web site.
A Bystander

Posted by: Clay Jan 7 2007, 02:50 PM

Bystander..... BSDA aint for everyone... perhaps you would do will to stand somewhere else...

Posted by: Lee Jan 7 2007, 03:05 PM

Bystander! you are completely correct in what you have stated. Now be prepared to be attacked for saying it--or totally ignored.

Seems I remember something about a verse in the Bible saying something about "itching ears."

What is worse Bystander is that this is a PUBLIC forum--anyone can come on here and read all that is said on here. Sad isn't it.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 03:15 PM

Bystander,

Go ask your conference president or conference secretary about the ramifications of what we are talking about.

A former conference official called me Friday and said that when he came back from Risk Management meetings, he would feel like crawling under his desk and hiding. He said that they would tell him that regarding these kind of issues, they had a million and a half dollars per year, and after that they were on their own.

So ask your conference secretary or president what would happen in your conference if they had received a letter alerting them to the fact that there was an alleged pedophile around their academy, and they did nothing about it except sweep it under the rug. Ask them if they might open themselves up to potential lawsuits costing millions.

Now that isn't quite what we have here. We have no indication that I know of that the IL Conf. has covered up anything. But we do have evidence that Danny has, and because the Conf. Pres. sits on the 3ABN board, and the 3ABN General Manager sits on the conference committee, it seems to me that a case could be made that the conference committee should have known about this potential risk. And if that were to happen in a lawsuit over a molested academy student, there possibily could be huge damages, not to mention lives unnecessarily adversely hurt by a pedophile.

Don't take my word for it. Ask the powers that be in your conference.

And remember, a lot of stuff was being bantered around in this forum long before I came along.

Posted by: rwelchcrs Jan 7 2007, 03:15 PM

(Sigh) Bystander is just another in a series of wide-eyed innocents who stumble upon this sight and jump to quick conclusions without taking extra time to read and study the pinned threads. Perhaps it would be well to have an advisory statement at the start of each thread in which new readers can be directed to the pinned items before reading current threads, otherwise, this trend will continue. People are going to be "shocked" over and over and over....

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 03:15 PM

Lee, this is not an attack.

But I would like to point out that you were the one who suggested that if a minor child was consenting when Tommy allegedly molested him, that makes it different, correct? Didn't you suggest that?

I don't believe you've retracted that comment yet. Would you like to do that now?

You see, if Danny has a lot of defenders come on here and make statements like that, it's not going to help him one bit.

A fellow I was talking to yesterday pointed out to me that legally, a minor cannot consent. I hadn't thought of that, but I think that is true.

If you want to make sure your statements have any credibility, you really need to retract that comment.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 7 2007, 03:20 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 03:26 PM) ☐
>
> Hi Calvin.
>
> If I have not done so here, I have done so elsewhere, and Fallible, if he chooses, can confirm this. I have point blank said that Walt never said, "Danny lied to me." But by admitting that Danny was the source of the clearly bogus information, he did essentially admit that Danny misled him, even though he never said, "Danny misled me."

Bob,

Here a few of the statements that occured over on Maritime. You have also made similar claims here, using the exact same wording.

From Maritime:

"Notice that before Dr. Thompson makes his startling admissions, I state quite clearly in pargraph three above," "The Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations show the importance of this. Walt Thompson admitted that Danny Shelton had essentially misled him regarding the serious nature, wide extent, and recent timing of those allegations, and he also admitted that both he and the 3ABN board had taken Danny's word for it without doing their own independent investigation."

"But what I have proven conclusively is that Walt claims that Danny told him things that were contrary to the facts. "

"Thus we have Walt admitting that Danny told him something that was false"

"The only person that told me anything about Danny being guilty of a cover up was Walt."

(This last one is also evidence that you are willing to put your assumptions and conclusions into other peoples mouths as though they were their words.)

This is not an isolated incident as you did the same thing with Danny over on Maritime turning the following words he wrote to you in an email:

> QUOTE
>
> "She told me that she was going to go lay out by the swimming pool. I decided to go look in her car for any evidence to support the PI's claim that had not been mailed to me yet. Our car door was locked. Yes, I'm aware that she claims it was her car but I have proof that it is titled to both she and I even unto this day. She didn't apparently remember that I too had keys to this Toyota Sequoia. I opened the car door and opened the glove compartment. What did I see? Yes, I saw the same watch described to me by the PI.
>
> ...
>
> I then pulled the picture of the watch from underneath my shirt and showed it to her at which point she yelled out, 'I can't believe you broke into my car and got into my personal belongings! This is abuse!' "

Into the following statement:

> QUOTE
>
> "Danny claimed he broke into Linda's Toyota Sequoia."

As Alethia points out, rather than addressing the problem here, you attempt to divert the discussion in other directions.

If you are willing to attribute words to individuals you are "investigating" that they clearly have not said. Then what questions should arise in regards to your investigative methods?

- fhb

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 03:28 PM

[quote name='Bystander' date='Jan 7 2007, 02:47 PM' post='168151']
I am a new addition to this forum. Not because I want to be but because I cannot keep silent. Someone told me about this websight but I couldn't comprehend it so checked it out myself. My first thoughts were that this was a nice SDA page. I began to scroll down to check out the headings. Beliefs of the Adventist church, activities, family topics, meetings being held and then shockingly "the 3ABN saga!!! I cannot begin to explain my shock and shame as I began to read what has been written here. The accusations, arguments, name calling and gossip has made me ashamed to be a Seventh Day Adventist. That a supposedly christian web site would host this garbage, and some of these people's comments is without excuse. this "forum" goes against any and all biblical principles and moral ethics. I have read of an "investigation" of 3ABN and it's people by someone named Pickle and Gailon. They have shown private emails, made info from private calls public, have insisted on answers from the president of the network, Danny Shelton, and have made statements that they would like to clear 3ABN if only they could get straight and clear answers. Well, I have some questions of my own. Who are Pickle and Gailon? What authority do they have to question and investigate anything or anybody? Who, if anyone, put them in charge and gave them the right to dig into anyone's personal lives? The old saying fits here, "who died and left them in charge." Do they have special credentials that I am ignorant of. I have seen even legal topics explained and assessed and told what this or that means in that instance like we were children and they were law proffessors. I have read continually their opinions on something they have read or heard and then stated as fact. As in, " Joe didn't answer Mary's question so obviously this means that Joe is trying to hide the fact that he did ect. ect... My second question would be " are we as a people that hungry for gossip and dirt that we would spend hours on end not only reading this drivel but adding our little 2 cent comments as to the guilt or innocence of people that we have never met and know nothing about except for the pictures that have been painted here. Worse than our comments is our judgements. We are making judgements here that are destroying people, families, and a world wide ministry on gossip, discussions and heresay by people that have no more power or authority that you or I.

This divorce that I keep reading about between Danny & Linda Shelton means what..... Howmany of you readers out there have been divorced. How many of you have had a "bitter" divorce? How many of you that answered yes to those 2 questions would like it posted and publisized for all the world to see? Now add to that the rumors and "tall tales" that were told on you from your ex's side then combine that with the "tall tales" that came from your side against your ex then multiply that tenfold by the time it got retold 100 hundred times and what you will come up with is the "black sda web site of "the saga of 3ABN."

Do the people involved headlong in this, not have lives of their own? Do they not have problems of their own that they should be working on? Obviously that have big problems or they wouldn't be wasting time destroying everything and everybody in their path.

I have read several excerpts about accusations made by a church of God minister against one of the Shelton Brothers. According to this forum that makes it gospel. The irony of this is that normall we as Adventists turn up our nose at another denomination, especially the minister of another denomination and usually give them no credibility whatsoever. Now because statements from him give us the "supposed dirt" we long to hear, he has all the crediblity in the world. What a laugh on our own people.

I understand that both Shelton parents are dead, the father for over 30 years, and yet, accusations, harsh comments and judgements have flew over the internet against people that not only you have never met, but are deceased and not here to defend themselves. This is a sin against God. 3 or 4 people are relaying horrible things on the world wide internet and say that they got some info from someone else who heard it from someone else and so...it must be true and fact.The way I see it, these people that are in the limelight are victims not the enemy. Just as movie stars are attacked and lied and gossiped about in the secular world, so it is with the people that have been involved in the works of 3ABN. In our adventist denomination they were the "stars" and we, we are the writers of the "Enquirer" and "The Star" gossip magazines. We are starved for every little morsel on these people's lives whether it be true or false. We have a secret jealous need to take them down because they had some popularity and were in the limelight. How sad that we overlook the fact that they were in the limelight because they were spreading the gospel to all the world.

People on this forum,....how low have we fallen to be pulled into this blasphemous nonsense? If 3ABN is having problems my guess would be that most of it is from what is being written here and on other sites. The bible tells us that we are to turn a deaf ear to gossip, rumors and assumptions and instead pray for the people in question that may be going through a difficult time. Think dear people how many of these problems might have already been resolved if we would have spent as much time on our knees in behalf of all of these people as we have spent attacking, discussing and arguing over them on this web site.

A Bystander

The facts I stated have nothing to do with who is right and who is wrong which is what you all keep going back to. It is the accountability that we have as christians not to crucify others that we literally know nothing about except what "we have heard." No one answered that because to argue would be to argue with what is plainly in the word. Hey, don't kill he messenger.

Posted by: caribbean sda Jan 7 2007, 03:30 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 04:47 PM)
>
> I am a new addition to this forum. Not because I want to be but because I cannot keep silent. Someone told me about this websight but I couldn't comprehend it so checked it out myself. My first thoughts were that this was a nice SDA page. I began to scroll down to check out the headings. Beliefs of the Adventist church, activities, family topics, meetings being held and then shockingly "the 3ABN saga!!! I cannot begin to explain my shock and shame as I began to read what has been written here. A Bystander

...but like the moth to a flame, you won't stay away. Welcome to BSDA ☒ welc

---

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 03:37 PM

Fallible, you come across as if all you want to do is argue.

"That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought" (Is. 29:21).

You know what I meant, and my meaning was crystal clear. And you also know why what was said got said the way it was said.

The point regarding Danny's claim was about what make and model the car was, not the word "broke," and you know it. And you also know that I admitted my error in not wording it more like, "Danny claimed that he entered Linda's Toyota Sequoia without her permission," which would be entirely true, and which some would say means almost the same as "broke into."

You will also recall that you too made an admission of error, an admission of falsely accusing me for posting a reply from Danny, when I had never gotten a reply from Danny at all. When I pointed out that you were mistaken in something and that you needed to read eveything again, you insisted that you were correct and continued arguing, more than once I think. But finally you did admit your error, and I thanked you for that.

And since you made that admission, like I made mine, I haven't brought it up again. Now, why have you brought this up again over here?

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 03:39 PM

I am thankful you made the comparison. Just as a flame is dangerous to a moth, so are the things that are being said here a danger to our denomination and christians in general.

Posted by: caribbean sda Jan 7 2007, 03:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 05:39 PM)
>
> I am thankful you made the comparison. Just as a flame is dangerous to a moth, so are the things that are being said here a danger to our denomination and christians in general.

People have a right to express their opinions and that's what we do here...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 7 2007, 03:44 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 7 2007, 02:05 PM)
>
> Bystander! you are completely correct in what you have stated. Now be prepared to be attacked for saying it--or totally ignored.
>
> Seems I remember something about a verse in the Bible saying something about "itching ears."
>
> What is worse Bystander is that this is a PUBLIC forum--anyone can come on here and read all that is said on here. Sad isn't it.

Everybody has the right to express their opinions here on BSDA. That's the way that Calvin, in true wisdom, has set it up.

It's true that this is a public forum. Just keep in mind that 3abn is also public, far more so than this little section of BlackSDA.com.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 7 2007, 03:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 7 2007, 04:50 PM)
>
> Bystander..... BSDA aint for everyone... perhaps you would do will to stand somewhere else...

I agree.

Take what you like...don't take what you don't like. Jes like TV - you don't have to look at it all.

With that being said....

"How many of you proponents/opponents would allow Tommy Shelton to babysit your children/grandchildren/nieces & nephews?"

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 03:48 PM

Bystander,

Come up with another way to get resolution to all the problems, and I'm all ears.

Speak honestly. When you say, "we literally know nothing about except what 'we have heard,' " it may be true of you, but it isn't true of everyone.

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> ... the things that are being said here a danger to our denomination ....

That is exactly and precisely why I have spoken up.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 03:48 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Jan 7 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> ...but like the moth to a flame, you won't stay away. Welcome to BSDA ☒ welc

so glad you made that comparison. As a flame is a danger to a moth so is the words on this site a danger to Adventists and christians in general

---

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 7 2007, 03:58 PM

Just because folks IGNORE the question that doesn't mean it will go away. On the contrary - it will come up again...and began to come closer, and closer to the homes of those that IGNORE the question!

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 7 2007, 05:45 PM)
>
> "How many of you proponents/opponents would allow Tommy Shelton to babysit your children/grandchildren/nieces & nephews?"
>
> ☒ sna

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 05:48 PM)
>
> so glad you made that comparison. As a flame is a danger to a moth so is the words on this site a danger to Adventists and christians in general

"Would you allow Tommy Shelton to babysit your children/grandchildren/nieces & nephews?"

What about the danger to children (and now adults that were never allowed to process this crime against them)?

Imma keep asking it until someone realizes that this is beyond some "spiritual adultery" or some "mis-appropriated funds"....SOMEONE'S CHILD WAS RAPED. SOMEONE'S CHILDREN WERE VIOLATED!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 7 2007, 04:00 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 04:48 PM)
>
> so glad you made that comparison. As a flame is a danger to a moth so is the words on this site a danger to Adventists and christians in general

The actions that have been taken by Dan and his family are dangerous...

There are too many people willing to stick their heads in the sand and hope that things aren't really how they seem. And I'm sorry for you that they are just what they seem.

Posted by: caribbean sda Jan 7 2007, 04:04 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jan 7 2007, 05:58 PM)
>
> What about the danger to children (and now adults that were never allowed to process this crime against them)?
>
> Imma keep asking it until someone realizes that this is beyond some "spiritual adultery" or some "mis-appropriated funds"....SOMEONE'S CHILD WAS RAPED. SOMEONE'S CHILDREN WERE VIOLATED!

Re, with all their righteous indignation, your question is never factored into the equation, and I fear that you will not get an answer...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 7 2007, 04:06 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Jan 7 2007, 06:04 PM)
>
> Re, with all their righteous indignation, your question is never factored into the equation, and I fear that you will not get an answer...

....until it's their children/grandchildren/nieces & nephews that come to them and admit that they were "touched".....

Going to go calm down.....

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:15 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 03:48 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> Come up with another way to get resolution to all the problems, and I'm all ears.
>
> Speak honestly. When you say, "we literally know nothing about except what 'we have heard,' " it may be true of you, but it isn't true of everyone.
> That is exactly and precisely why I have spoken up.

Again, who are you and gives you the right to come up with "resolutions to anybody's problems." When I said that time spent on your knees for anyone or any ministry having problems would be so much better spent than this junk....how can you or anyone disagree with that? How can you disagree with the biblical principles applied to what you all are doing here? You can't. All you can do is go back to he said, she said and they said. I really don't mean this in a hateful or smart way, but you and several others that have decided to "investigate" into this subject are really nobodies just like the rest of us, who have placed yourselves in "charge" of something you have deemed "an investigation" and in doing so are having your 10 minutes of fame by giving yourselves credibility to people who don't know any better or have never ask who or what you are and what is your "official role" in this matter. Not only would I guess that you have never been to this ministry or talked or even "met" these people but I would also say that's just as well because you wouldn't have a right to talk to them about anything. Because why? Because none of this is anybody's business except those that are directly involved. all you and others have succeeded in doing is making whatever problems thay might have, infinitely worse. YOU ARE NOT IN CHARGE, GAILON IS NOT IN CHARGE, NO ONE IS IN CHARGE BUT GOD. What a waste of your and other people's time.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 7 2007, 04:00 PM)
>
> The actions that have been taken by Dan and his family are dangerous...
>
> There are too many people willing to stick their heads in the sand and hope that things aren't really how they seem. And I'm sorry for you that they are just what they seem.

And how would you know that things are just what they seem? Only by what you have read on here and saw discussed. See my point? Do you know these people have you spent anytime around them have you been to their ministry? No, you have come to these judgments and conclusions because of what you have heard. How can anyone not see that?

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Jan 7 2007, 04:04 PM)

> Re, with all their righteous indignation, your question is never factored into the equation, and I fear that you will not get an answer...

I will factor that question into the equation. Who said someone's child was Raped? This Pickle person or Gailon somebody? You have made up your minds with absolutely no evidence of any kind. The very fact that you could make the statement that "somebody's child was raped" and make it as fact says it all about the influence that a few unimportant people have had on this site.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 7 2007, 04:17 PM

Bystander!.....you are still here! I really thought your first post would be your last! Welcome!
Feel free, cruise the sight, play in the arcade, join us in Live Chat, visit the music forum, Sista' Talk, Cafe, Health Forum, and the many other forums. 3ABN is only one.

Just one more thought. Danny asks for the public to "donate" funds to 3ABN, that makes him answerable to the public in that he needs to be true to all he claims to be. If he doesn't, questions are going to be asked. Plus, I know you have had time to read everything, the information is quite considerable. BSDA did not make these issues(in particular the divorce) public, Danny and 3ABN did. So I hope you are sending them a flaming email also.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 02:06 PM) ☐
>
> Again, who are you and gives you the right to come up with "resolutions to anybody's problems." When I said that time spent on your knees for anyone or any ministry having problems would be so much better spent than this junk....how can you or anyone disagree with that? How can you disagree with the biblical principles applied to what you all are doing here? You can't. All you can do is go back to he said, she said and they said. I really don't mean this in a hateful or smart way, but you and several others that have decided to "investigate" into this subject are really nobodies just like the rest of us, who have placed yourselves in "charge" of something you have deemed "an investigation" and in doing so are having your 10 minutes of fame by giving yourselves credibility to people who don't know any better or have never ask who or what you are and what is your "official role" in this matter. Not only would I guess that you have never been to this ministry or talked or even "met" these people but I would also say that's just as well because you wouldn't have a right to talk to them about anything. Because why? Because none of this is anybody's business except those that are directly involved. all you and others have succeeded in doing is making whatever problems thay might have, infinitely worse. YOU ARE NOT IN CHARGE, GAILON IS NOT IN CHARGE, NO ONE IS IN CHARGE BUT GOD. What a waste of your and other people's time.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:28 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 7 2007, 04:17 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander!.....you are still here! I really thought your first post would be your last! Welcome!
> Feel free, cruise the sight, play in the arcade, join us in Live Chat, visit the music forum, Sista' Talk, Cafe, Health Forum, and the many other forums. 3ABN is only one.
>
> Just one more thought. Danny asks for the public to "donate" funds to 3ABN, that makes him answerable to the public in that he needs to be true to all he claims to be. If he doesn't, questions > are going to be asked. Plus, I know you have had time to read everything, the information is quite considerable. BSDA did not make these issues(in particular the divorce) public, Danny and 3ABN did. So I hope you are sending them a flaming email also.

I see the point on accountability to the public because of funds being donated and until Mr Shelton comes to your church or your community and or puts a statement on air, you have no physical evidence or otherwise of any wrong doing. What if the ex wife has been lying all of this time, determined to bring her ex and the ministry down out of revenge that she was found out? I have read as much on other sites but Do you see in any of my posts that I am taking that as gospel and have I taken it upon myself to crucify her and her friends and family. Of course not, because there are rumors, gossip and heresay that come from all sides. We do not have the right to judge any of these people with only what is being vollied back and forth around all sides.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 04:28 PM

Bystander,

How do you know I haven't prayed about this?

Do you think the Seventh-day Adventist Church is a papacy or something, where the members have no voice whatsoever? Not at all. We are a representative democracy, similar to the U.S. government.

Or do you feel that in national affairs we should all keep our mouths shut, whether we think the taxes are too high or too low, whether we feel we're doing too much or too little in Iraq?

> QUOTE(Ellen G. White)
>
> "Some make it a point to question, and doubt, and find fault, because others do the work that God has not laid upon themselves. These stand directly in the way to hinder those upon whom God has laid the burden of reproof, and of correcting the sins that are prevailing, that his frown may be turned away from his people. Should a case like Achan's be among us, there are many who would accuse those who might act the part of Joshua in searching out the wrong, of having a fault-finding, wicked spirit. God is not to be trifled with, and his warnings disregarded with impunity by a perverse people" (RH 6/8/1886).

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:34 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 7 2007, 04:28 PM)
>
> Bystander,
>
> How do you know I haven't prayed about this?
>
> Do you think the Seventh-day Adventist Church is a papacy or something, where the members have no voice whatsoever? Not at all. We are a representative democracy, similar to the U.S. government.
>
> Or do you feel that in national affairs we should all keep our mouths shut, whether we think the > taxes are too high or too low, whether we feel we're doing too much or too little in Iraq?

You couldn't have spent too much time in prayer your on here too much. And, evidently when you are not you are very busy making phone calls, reading emails, you know, investigative stuff....You have never answered me as to who you are and what are your qualifications to have stepped up out of the masses and put yourself in charge.

Posted by: watchbird Jan 7 2007, 04:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 05:15 PM)
>
> Again, who are you and gives you the right to come up with "resolutions to anybody's problems."

Just one question.... Who are YOU and who gives YOU the right to come here and criticize people that you don't know?!?

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:44 PM

Have you truly ask yourself deep down inside the question. What if, just what if, I am wrong and coming to the wrong conclusions. If I am, how many lives, reputations, and families have I destroyed. If I am wrong and have a hand in bringing down that ministry, how many souls will be lost that would have been saved through the 3ABN network. If, I am wrong, How would I ever reach the thousands of people that have read what I have put out there, to make it right. If I have been wrong in my opinions, insinuations, and conclusions that I have come to, what will I face in my accountability before the God of the Universe. If, I have been wrong, how will I face myself in the mirror everday knowing the havoc That I and others have wreaked on People that have not done any wrong?
I have ask about your credentials. credentials? Who would want credentials to put themselves in the position that you have.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 7 2007, 04:47 PM

Bystander, I know this is not the name you were given at birth. Please don't ask of others that which are unwilling to give yourself. No one owes you an answer to any question, especailly since you are asking after being a member 30 mins.

Also, I am going to ask to refrain from personal attacks opn other members. That is an official request, BTW.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 02:34 PM)
>
> You couldn't have spent too much time in prayer your on here too much. And, evidently when you are not you are very busy making phone calls, reading emails, you know, investigative stuff....You have never answered me as to who you are and what are your qualifications to have stepped up out of the masses and put yourself in charge.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:47 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 7 2007, 04:43 PM)
>
> Just one question.... Who are YOU and who gives YOU the right to come here and criticize people that you don't know?!?

Who am I? Someone who is trying to give you people a taste of your own medicine because criticizing people you don't know is exactly what you doing in spades.

Posted by: erik Jan 7 2007, 04:48 PM

I will factor that question into the equation. Who said someone's child was Raped? This Pickle person or Gailon somebody? You have made up your minds with absolutely no evidence of any kind. The very fact that you could make the statement that "somebody's child was raped" and make it as fact says it all about the influence that a few unimportant people have had on this site. [/quote]

Bystander,

Either you have not read very much has you claim or you are discounting the two direct letters from "victims" of Tommy S. Combine that with the copy of the letter from the Leadership of the church that Tommy was a pastor in makes the case quite clear that something wrong was going on, and either 3abn and Danny have been covering for Tommy or they are sticking their heads in the sand about his past.

I started reading and watch this site over a year ago, this is the first item i have ever felt the need to post a reply because it is very clear to me that you have not in fact read every thing there is to read on this subject at this forum.

Secondly, lets look at the actions of Danny and Linda since "alleged Affair" which got all this out in the open. GO find are read Linda's website It speaks volumes for were she is at on this topic, and then go read the stuff and charges made by Danny you will see a crystal clear difference between the two sides. One that to me has spoken volumes about who is in the wrong and who is not.

Thirdly, I would add that when i first started looking at this information i was sure that Danny S. was being attacked by Satan because all the Good he was doing, but sadly i am now quite sure it is more of a case of be sure your sins will find you out.

Erik

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 7 2007, 04:47 PM)

> Bystander, I know this is not the name you were given at birth. Please don't ask of others that which are unwilling to give yourself. No one owes you an answer to any question, especailly since you are asking after being a member 30 mins.
>
> Also, I am going to ask to refrain from personal attacks opn other members. That is an official request, BTW.

I have ask for no one's name that is obvious. Please refrain from personal attacks on members? But the members can make their personal attacks on anyone. Double standards. Also I don't have to be a member more than 30 minutes to know and see what is right and wrong.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 7 2007, 04:54 PM

"You People'? Bystander you do realize that the "B" in BSDA stands for "black". "you people does nto go over teal well here....

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 02:47 PM)
>
> Who am I? Someone who is trying to give you people a taste of your own medicine because criticizing people you don't know is exactly what you doing in spades.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 04:56 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Jan 7 2007, 04:48 PM)
>
> I will factor that question into the equation. Who said someone's child was Raped? This Pickle person or Gailon somebody? You have made up your minds with absolutely no evidence of any kind. The very fact that you could make the statement that "somebody's child was raped" and make it as fact says it all about the influence that a few unimportant people have had on this site.
> Bystander,
>
> Either you have not read very much has you claim or you are discounting the two direct letters from "victims" of Tommy S. Combine that with the copy of the letter from the Leadership of the church that Tommy was a pastor in makes the case quite clear that something wrong was going on, and either 3abn and Danny have been covering for Tommy or they are sticking their heads in the sand about his past.
>
> I started reading and watch this site over a year ago, this is the first item i have ever felt the need to post a reply because it is very clear to me that you have not in fact read every thing there is to read on this subject at this forum.
>
> Secondly, lets look at the actions of Danny and Linda since "alleged Affair" which got all this out in the open. GO find are read Linda's website It speaks volumes for were she is at on this topic, and then go read the stuff and charges made by Danny you will see a crystal clear difference between the two sides. One that to me has spoken volumes about who is in the wrong and who is not.
> Erik what makes you think Linda shelton's web site should be believable anymore than anything else. Maybe it is credible, maybe it isn't. Do you know for a fact that "victim's" wrote letters or that > they could have been forged? If not forged do you know these people and their past where maybe it could be possible that they have had an ax to grind with The older shelton brother and or 3 Abn and see this as a prize opportunity to do so? Maybe so, maybe not. I only ask these questions to point out there are way too many things that we do not know or have the answers to to be making judgments.

>
> Thirdly, I would add that when i first started looking at this information i was sure that Danny S. was being attacked by Satan because all the Good he was doing, but sadly i am now quite sure it is more of a case of be sure your sins will find you out.
>
> Erik

Posted by: erik Jan 7 2007, 05:01 PM

Bystander,

you quoted my whole reply, but then said nothing does that mean you agree with me?

Posted by: Pickle Jan 7 2007, 05:02 PM

Bystander,

I got the victim's letters directly from them. Linda never told me about them. Linda didn't even tell me about Glenn Dryden. Other than around 1989, I've never talked to Linda until just a few weeks ago, and I talked to Dryden in August.

Why would you blame it all on Linda? That is Danny's strategy, as he has made very clear to me. It seems strange that you would indulge in such speculations without a shred of evidence. Do you "work" for him?

Posted by: princessdi Jan 7 2007, 05:08 PM

Uh Bystander, that was a official request, from Admin staff. I am almost sure you don't want to challenge me in that area. Now unless you are Danny or someone close to him, I fail to see your problem. Besides no one has attacked anyone. People here have brought out facts, as they know them. some have been proven wrong, some right, some yet to be proven at all, but as I said before, I am sure you have not taken the time to read the vast amounts ofn info available in this forum. Might be best that you take the time to read at least a bit of it, then comment.

Just a recap:

You said:

> QUOTE
>
> You have never answered me as to who you are and what are your qualifications to have stepped up out of the masses and put yourself in charge.

Now unless I am mistaken you just asked for someone's identity, and more.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 7 2007, 02:51 PM) ☐
>
> I have ask for no one's name that is obvious. Please refrain from personal attacks on members? But the members can make their personal attacks on anyone. Double standards. Also I don't have to be a member more than 30 minutes to know and see what is right and wrong.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 7 2007, 05:09 PM

Erik, Why do you think that Linda Shelton's website is a true reflection of her sincerity? Maybe it is, maybe it isn't. is it possible that she has fabricated and spread all of this because she was caught and dismissed and therefore wants to take down Danny Shelton and 3ABN. Maybe so maybe not. As far as the allegations to the older brother, do you know for a fact that these letters were indeed written by "victims" and not forged? An if authentic do you know the far reaching pasts of these people? Could they have had an ax to grind for years against Tommy Shelton and or 3ABN and are using this as the greatest oppurtunity in the world to grind that ax? maybe so, maybe not. My point here is this, there are way too many unanswered questions and way too many involved details that we cannot possible come to a point of passing judgment on any of these people. That is why that only God is the judge and we have no right to be. Only he has the answers to all the unanswered questions and only he knows the motives of the heart for the people involved and the ones that are doing the crucifying here. I am so glad that the responsibility is His and His alone.

