Then there is the ratings and support contributions factor. I think we all saw how Shiloh has supported 3ABN at the 10 Comm. Weekend, and in 'on the Road" tapings. This would not be accomplished if there was not at least a basic "representation" in front and behind the cameras. It is often enough for some blacks. However, Danny makes far too many politically incorrect statements regarding race. It shows that the blacks closest to him(JL, AC) have not, in love, corrected him, and have also allowed him to get way with phrases like them "being a credit to their race" and " I like you, you are different from most blacks" It is innate, and he would have to put forth great effort to retrain or at least educate himself. However being in So. IL and large and in charge, he doesn't' put forth the effort. So I do doubt that Danny does not consider color when it comes to 3ABN because he would need to in order to ensure the success of the network. There is one question which needs to be asked, though. How many of these people you say he holds in such high regard are truly his friends, not just part of the 3ABN family, but and extended part of the Shelton Family? Welcome at Family gatherings, etc.? I am sincerely asking, because if you say any number of them then I am wrong, and I don't mind being wrong, especially in this case.

DB, is quite another story. He is more savvy, and subtle, as he would have to be here in Northern Cali, where rasicm is really not supposed to exist. We know from history that southerners we just up front with theirs, Northerners, show you the house in the "black "neighborhood and make a habit of white flight when too many minorities find theirs. As I said before, you are hard pressed to find a black face in DB church. I know, have have watched his program, and if they are there the camera man rarely catches them. The Sacramento area is growing mainly because the Bay Area Housing is just so expensive. Many from the urban areas who found themselves in a position to buy, have bought there and the surrounding areas. I am a growing number of those minorities have found their way to Sacramento Central, instead of Capitol City(black church). DB and his members are now talking of moving their church.......to an area with.....less minorities. Subtlety is the name of the game here. Now, if you ask them they will have five reasons, except the one that is "understood". Believe me, I am Cali born and bred and fourth Generation Adventist, product of a white conference, I know it when I see it.

In short, and as Clay, AT and Sera have already said, the presence of blacks(minorities) by no means indicates the absence of racism.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 10 2007, 10:01 PM)
>
> No Sera, the Sheltons are not from Tville but from the same county. The fact that t'ville doesn't have a chapter of kkk is a moot point because the whole county is geared that way. There are chapters in the county but they certainly don't publicize it in any way. If, as you suggest, the Shelton's looked upon people of color the way most of the county does, they would have never employed them in the first place much less put them in leadership positions. Then there is the fact that they all socialize away from the work place quite often.
> You need to read the first hand information that Calvin gave. He is correct.

Posted by: daylily May 11 2007, 06:45 PM

All Southerners are not racist :-)

I remember seeing Danny on some on-the road program with Samuel Thomas. Danny made some remark that I immediately interpreted as rascist, but he was making a joke. Pastor Thomas had already gone back stage but he came back out, put his arm around Danny and made some comment to let Danny know he had crossed a line. I wish I could remember what they both said but I can't. Danny was rather sheepish.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 May 12 2007, 09:06 AM

Posted by: Noahswife May 12 2007, 09:18 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 11 2007, 01:01 PM)
>
> Just four letters Eirene-------EEOC.

Hey Sis h

Speaking of the EEOC......

Do any of the DS supporters have any news regarding any pending investigations there?

just wondering

nw
C"i"

Posted by: seraph|m May 12 2007, 09:25 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ May 12 2007, 12:18 PM)
>
> Hey Sis h
>
> Speaking of the EEOC......
>
> Do any of the DS supporters have any news regarding any pending investigations there?
>
> just wondering
>
> nw
> C"i"

Posted by: HUGGINS130 May 12 2007, 02:17 PM

sn

Posted by: SandyColorado May 12 2007, 05:49 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 8 2007, 08:31 PM)
>
> Exactly. The question, as I understood it, was how many wives prior to the current one. The previous wife was mother to three of his five children, including Micah, who died in a freak accident a few years back.

I thought that I would throw this comment in - even though I am late on the subject. I stayed home from church today and watched a video from the Christmas after Micah died. Doug was preaching in my church that day. He made the comment " This is a bittersweet time for our family... We had 6 - we lost one. And when you get together and see all the children you don't say - Well at least there are 5 left. Any parent says - There is an empty chair."

I had heard sometime in the past that between his first marriage and Karen that he was with another woman for a while, and they had a kid together. I didnt't mention this earlier, because I couldn't prove the number of kids until I heard the video again today.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 12 2007, 06:12 PM

> QUOTE(SandyColorado @ May 12 2007, 03:49 PM)
>
> I thought that I would throw this comment in - even though I am late on the subject. I stayed home from church today and watched a video from the Christmas after Micah died. Doug was preaching in my church that day. He made the comment " This is a bittersweet time for our family... We had [b]6 - we lost one. And when you get together and see all the children you don't say - Well at least there are 5 left. Any parent says - There is an empty chair." [/b]

> I had heard sometime in the past that between his first marriage and Karen that he was with another woman for a while, and they had a kid together. I didnt't mention this earlier, because I couldn't prove the number of kids until I heard the video again today.

Sandy
What a poignant message from Doug. Thank you for bringing it to us.

have not heard about a woman between his first wife and Karen, let alone that there was a child.

PB

Posted by: mozart May 12 2007, 11:06 PM

> QUOTE(SandyColorado @ May 12 2007, 05:49 PM) ☐
>
> I thought that I would throw this comment in - even though I am late on the subject. I stayed home from church today and watched a video from the Christmas after Micah died. Doug was preaching in my church that day. He made the comment " This is a bittersweet time for our family... We had 6 - we lost one. And when you get together and see all the children you don't say - Well at least there are 5 left. Any parent says - There is an empty chair."

well, i'm not even sure if this is worth discussing but he always refers to the 3 younger ones as "our second itter" (with that famous smirk of his). i'm pretty sure there are 6 all together but never have heard him mention another marriage. it doesn't really matter to me unless there is some awful skeleton in his closet which i doubt.

Posted by: roxe May 13 2007, 09:28 PM

when i was a member of sac central in the mid 90's, more than once Doug introduced to the church audience a girl as his "child" who was older than the "first litter"... so i figured these girls were possibly conceived during his stint in the cave. i can't remember if there were two or three...

he wasn't a christian going into the cave, and was barely one on coming out... so to me it would be common youthful flings. i've read his book several times, and he says nothing in it about these "children"... and i can't remember how long it was after coming out of the cave that he began his first marriage...

he has hinted that he has done jail time... and other hints led me to believe that there is nothing he hasn't participated in as a non-christian. he has quite a testimony to the power of Jesus in his life... still has some rough edges but the Lord isn't finished with him yet...

perhaps he is like Moses Primo... doesn't want to know and doesn't care about DS problems... just wants to spread the gospel.... and go home!

Posted by: from-the-pew May 14 2007, 07:15 AM

> QUOTE(roxe @ May 13 2007, 10:28 PM) ☐
>
> when i was a member of sac central in the mid 90's, more than once Doug introduced to the church audience a girl as his "child" who was older than the "first litter"... so i figured these girls were possibly conceived during his stint in the cave. i can't remember if there were two or three...
>
> he wasn't a christian going into the cave, and was barely one on coming out... so to me it would be > common youthful flings. i've read his book several times, and he says nothing in it about these "children"... and i can't remember how long it was after coming out of the cave that he began his first marriage...

>
> he has hinted that he has done jail time... and other hints led me to believe that there is nothing he hasn't participated in as a non-christian. he has quite a testimony to the power of Jesus in his life... still has some rough edges but the Lord isn't finished with him yet...
>
> perhaps he is like Moses Primo... doesn't want to know and doesn't care about DS problems... just wants to spread the gospel.... and go home!

le also repeatedly introduced Micah as his "oldest".

Posted by: lurker May 14 2007, 09:49 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 14 2007, 07:15 AM) ☐
>
> He also repeatedly introduced Micah as his "oldest".

found this interesting page translated from Korean. No idea why it was originally in Korean.

ttp://tinyurl.com/2ubwxh

Posted by: LaurenceD May 14 2007, 10:03 AM

> QUOTE(lurker)
>
> I found this interesting page translated from Korean. No idea why it was originally in Korean.
>
> http://tinyurl.com/2ubwxh

Name: It is more wrong in the [su] the [tu] word boat chiller (Douglas Edward Batchelor) Wife: Car [leyn] this boat chiller (Karen J. (Ensminger) Batchelor) of me

low there's a good moniker for ya, "boat chiller."

Posted by: from-the-pew May 14 2007, 11:25 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ May 14 2007, 11:49 AM) ☐
>
> I found this interesting page translated from Korean. No idea why it was originally in Korean.
>
> http://tinyurl.com/2ubwxh

Interesting...a twist on my mind to comprehend! whatcha notin' there, lurker?

I noticed that it said at the bottom: "Children: 5 people"

Sandy, What was the name of the program that mentioned 6?

(Note: I have now found ONE location that lists 6 children, and gives their names.)

Posted by: seraph|m May 14 2007, 12:31 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 11 2007, 03:01 AM)
>
> No Sera, the Sheltons are not from Tville but from the same county...
>
> If, as you suggest, the Shelton's...
>
> Then there is the fact that they all socialize away from the work place quite often.
> You need to read the first hand information that Calvin gave. He is correct.

My question was as follows:

> QUOTE
>
> [size=](seraph|m @ May 9 2007, 02:02 PM) *
> Is not the Shelton clan (family) from Tville? If so, then...[/size]

Actually Eirene, I did not "suggested" anything. Thus, "you NEED" to work on your reading and comprehension skills and learn to address the questions asked, rather than the ones imagined.

Posted by: SandyColorado May 15 2007, 11:05 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 14 2007, 10:25 AM)
>
> Interesting...a twist on my mind to comprehend! whatcha notin' there, lurker?
>
> I noticed that it said at the bottom: "Children: 5 people"
> Sandy, What was the name of the program that mentioned 6?
>
> (Note: I have now found ONE location that lists 6 children, and gives their names.)

It wasn't on a program. It was a VHS tape that was made at my home church on Christmas Day. He was preaching there. He also had mentioned to our pastor that he was visiting his daughter - that is why he was in town for Christmas.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ How Do Local Thompsonville Residents Feel About 3abn?...

Posted by: watchbird May 10 2007, 07:14 AM

In the thread "What He Said! (db On Commandment #7), Doug B. on Adultery", post #48, LaurenceD raised the first of the two questions in this thread title, saying, "Does anyone know how local Thompsonville residents really feel about 3abn?"

IMO this question, along with its companion one... How does their relationship with Danny Shelton and 3abn affect their view of the SDA church as a whole?.... deserves to be considered under a thread specifically devoted to them.

These questions have been raised on BSDA in previous times, but always within some specific context which causes the comments to be so scattered that it is extremely difficult to find them and form a coherent picture of the answers. So I invite those who have previously made comments in this area to return now and share what your observations have been. But since some are not currently posting, perhaps others will find and bring the specific urls to their comments so we can have those all gathered in this one place.

For starters, I'll bring Laurence D's full question from the thread in which he made it, followed by a couple responses to that.

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 9 2007, 09:10 AM)
>
> Does anyone know how local Thompsonville residents really feel about 3abn?
>
> It sounds like the community's negative perception of the compound was based on 3abn trying to get out of paying it's fair share of taxes, not racial issues. The judge put it this way: In a letter attached to the 2000 year application, the Village of Thompsonville adamantly (emphasis in original attachment) opposed the requested exemption. The Board of Review of Franklin County, the Cave township supervisor, and the Cave Township Board had a similar reaction.

To which I responded....

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 9 2007, 10:51 AM)
>
> The problems between Thompsonville residents and 3abn go back a lot farther and are much more widespread than merely the property tax issues.
>
> Duane Clem, PJMusic, Beartrap, and others on BSDA who are or have been residents of T'ville could give a lot of first hand testimony from the community side of things. But before you do try to contact them privately...."do your homework" right here on the board to see what they have already said.
>
> You'll need the search function and patience... but here is one
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9766&view=findpost&p=129307
>
> Dig, dig, dig..... ...... and keep digging....

And I will add here, that clicking on "http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9766&view=findpost&p=129307" above or here will take you to a statement made by Beartap last year (May 2006) in response to a question raised by Clay.

And I certainly agree with the positition he took there... that there is no one better qualified to answer that than are Thompsonville residents themselves.

Aletheia, though has an interesting view of going direct to the people who are directly involved...

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 9 2007, 11:15 AM)
>
> And if you only consult those who have an axe to grind, you know what you will find before even looking, so why bother???

.... You are so funny Cindy....

Lessee... that means that we should never consult anyone who has been victimized so that they have a negative view of Danny Shelton and his gang.... OK.... ... Got it....

So now you have explained your own criteria as to whom to "consult" for your information... only those who are the abusers of victims.... Thank you very much...... sig .....Now we understand a little bit more as to why it seems that you never see anything but one side of any story... and which side that is. Very interesting.

But for those of us who think that we will get the most accurate information from victims and/or those who have personal acquaintance with those who are either victims or fear becoming victims.... again I invite area residents and/or those who are acquainted with area residents to give us their comments on the questions raised in this thread title.

Let the testimonies begin......

.... TVsnack. ....

Posted by: Aletheia May 10 2007, 07:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 10 2007, 09:14 AM)
>
> Aletheia, though has an interesting view of going direct to the people who are directly involved...
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > And if you only consult those who have an axe to grind, you know what you will find before even looking, so why bother???
>
> .... You are so funny Cindy....

> Lessee... that means that we should never consult anyone who has been victimized so that they have a negative view of Danny Shelton and his gang.... OK.... ... Got it....

No, that is not what I meant at all. I didn't say that, you did. "Victims" and "those with an axe to grind" are not the same thing.

There are some here who have an agenda to bring 3ABN down, an axe to grind. They profess the opposite with their mouth, but their works prove different. Everything they say is negative, those they talk of are always portrayed in the worst possible light, and every evil motive and intent attatched to any incident they relate.

And although their claims and words are unending, more often then not, what they say can not be substantiated and contains no evidence, and involves evil surmising, if they do include any details which can be verified, what they say is even proven false, many times by those who really are directly involved and do have the evidence to support what they say...

Therefore I, having read their writings, and found them untrustworthy, will not depend on them to tell me what Thompsonville thinks of 3ABN. It would be an unbalanced and warped view.

Of course that's your view, so I understand you will want to advance that here where those with that view are he majority.

But this small little world does not represent Adventism or any one else really outside these forums..

So carry on with your work, and do as you are compelled to.

All, the readers and lurkers are free to judge and decide for themselves.

Posted by: awesumtenor May 10 2007, 07:57 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 10 2007, 09:47 AM)
>
> There are some here who have an agenda to bring 3ABN down, an axe to grind. They profess the opposite with their mouth, but their works say the opposite. Everything they say is negative, those they talk of are always portrayed in the worst possible light, and every evil motive and intent attatched to any incident they relate, and although their claims and words are unending.
>
> More often then not, what they say can not be substantiated and contains no evidence, and involves evil surmising, if they include any details which can be verified, it's proven false. Therefore I, having read their writings, will not depend on them to tell me what Thompsonville thinks of 3ABN. It would be an unbalanced and warped view.

There are some here who have an agenda to bring Linda Shelton down, an axe to grind. They profess the opposite with their mouth, but their works say the opposite. Everything they say is negative, those they talk of are always portrayed in the worst possible light, and every evil motive and intent attatched to any incident hey relate, and although their claims and words are unending.

More often then not, what they say can not be substantiated and contains no evidence, and involves evil surmising, if they include any details which can be verified, it's proven false. Therefore I, having read their writings, will not depend on them to tell me what any should think of Linda Shelton. It would be an unbalanced and warped view.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: LaurenceD May 10 2007, 08:50 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird)
>
> In the thread "What He Said! (db On Commandment #7), Doug B. on Adultery", post #48, LaurenceD raised the first of the two questions in this thread title, saying, "Does anyone know how local Thompsonville residents really feel about 3abn?"
>
> ....
>
> but here is one sample.....

Thanks for that, wb. I think I'll post Beartrap's comments over here...from that link.

> Clay, its not just the money to pay people off. Any individual who would dare to do as you have suggested will be publicly torn to pieces on 3ABN, Danny and his lawyers etc. will call their friends and family telling stories and claiming to have evidence of stuff, and we all know that Danny NEVER lets go. years later he will still be hounding that persons steps. He has done it to so many of us already that it is a well known, established fact with the 3ABN insiders, and many of the top church leadership know the same thing. Talk to the local people in the Thompsonville/West Frankfort community. They will say the same thing and tell you that it goes back 4 or 5 decades. They will also tell you that 3ABN is a cult commune and that any contact with 3ABN is conspicuously avoided by most locals. They will tell you that 3ABN and Danny Shelton have demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Seventh-day Adventist Church is a cult.
>
> Open invitation. Come to Thompsonville and eat dinner at the Thompsonville Cafe, and just ask the other diners about 3ABN and Danny. Go to West Frankfort and have dinner at Hungrys on W. Main, and ask. Go to the barbershops, the lodges, the local churches of any denomination, the library, and ask. Ask the Summers family who donated the first two acres of property to Danny for 3ABN what they think about that donation now. Come on out here and ask.
>
> Having asked them personally you will gerenally get an ear full. But ask if they would be willing to go public with this info and see what their reaction is. Ask them why they are so afraid of Danny; too afraid to go public. Yes, ask that too. -Beartrap

I also remember a couple comments made about Thompsonville, regarding the percentage of ethnic population. Someone posted the statistics from the town's website, I think.

I'd be intererested in views from local residients, like letters to the editor, etc. Anything ever been published like that?

I found Beartrap's comment about locals fearing DS pretty funny. Out here that sounds like childsplay. Tell the TV cowboy to come out west, we'd teach him some manners. Out here we sharpen our axes on the wind...and split the difference with what's left.

Posted by: Skyhook May 10 2007, 09:19 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 10 2007, 09:50 AM)
>
> I found Beartrap's comment about locals fearing DS pretty funny. Out here that sounds like childsplay. Tell the TV cowboy to come out west, we'd teach him some manners. Out here we sharpen our axes on the wind...and split the difference with what's left.

LaurenceD, you sound just like my grandpa. He use to say things like that. But maybe not quite so poetic. I recall him saying "When things get too tough for everybody else, that's when us cowboys like it best."

Posted by: caribbean sda May 10 2007, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 10 2007, 10:50 AM)
>
> Out here we sharpen our axes on the wind...and split the difference with what's left.

...enough said!

Posted by: watchbird May 10 2007, 10:57 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 10 2007, 10:50 AM)
>
> Thanks for that, wb. I think I'll post Beartrap's comments over here...from that link.
>
>> Clay, its not just the money to pay people off. Any individual who would dare to do as you have suggested will be publicly torn to pieces on 3ABN, Danny and his lawyers etc. will call their friends and family telling stories and claiming to have evidence of stuff, and we all know that Danny NEVER lets go. years later he will still be hounding that persons steps. He has done it to so many of us already that it is a well known, established fact with the 3ABN insiders, and many of the top church leadership know the same thing. Talk to the local people in the Thompsonville/West Frankfort community. They will say the same thing and tell you that it goes back 4 or 5 decades. They will also tell you that 3ABN is a cult commune and that any contact with 3ABN is conspicuously avoided by most locals. They will tell you that 3ABN and Danny Shelton have demonstrated beyond a doubt that the Seventh-day Adventist Church is a cult.
>>
>> Open invitation. Come to Thompsonville and eat dinner at the Thompsonville Cafe, and just ask the other diners about 3ABN and Danny. Go to West Frankfort and have dinner at Hungrys on W. Main, and ask. Go to the barbershops, the lodges, the local churches of any denomination, the library, and ask. Ask the Summers family who donated the first two acres of property to Danny for 3ABN what they think about that donation now. Come on out here and ask.
>>
>> Having asked them personally you will gerenally get an ear full. But ask if they would be willing to go public with this info and see what their reaction is. Ask them why they are so afraid of Danny; too afraid to go public. Yes, ask that too. -Beartrap

> I found Beartrap's comment about locals fearing DS pretty funny. Out here that sounds like childsplay. Tell the TV cowboy to come out west, we'd teach him some manners. Out here we sharpen our axes on the wind...and split the difference with what's left.

\h... but the question is... what happens when the wind is blown away by the cyberwind... and the axes hemselves are borne away out of your hands?

ead it again, Laurence. Put yourselves in the shoes of the writer.... and know that he writes the true entiments of MANY individuals... both lowly and highly placed. If you read with your heart you will find it nything but "funny".

\s it is written in the book of SeaGull lore.....
See that you do not estimate danger by the antics of a tiny cub.... but take you heed to the Tiger mom overing protectively nearby."

.... ☒ angel.gi ....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 10 2007, 11:06 AM

On February 28, 2007, Bystander shared his perspective of Thompsonville:

> QUOTE
>
> Richard, don't twist my words. First of all 3abn didn't say it, I did. Second of all, I too, grew up in a farming community and have nothing against farmers. I do have something against a town of 600 people that try to push religious entities out by trying to tax what shouldn't be taxed, by referring to SDA's as weirdo's and oh, did I mention, they don't like other races there. They didn't have any ethnic variety until 3abn. The ministry has brought in african americans, spanish, puerto rican, and the community doesn't like it. There is still a KKK in the county. Now that is disgusting.

o which husbandoftheyear posted in reply:
ttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12650&view=findpost&p=181347

> QUOTE
>
> It is true that Thompsonville is a small town.
>
> It is true that the community is predominately inhabited by whites.
>
> It is true that the KKK had a very large following in Southern Illinois, but it is not centered in Thompsonville. They haven't had a rally since the early 90s (in Benton BTW).
>
> Your comment on how 3ABN has brought other nationalities into 3ABN is a farce at best. Yes, there are people from all over the world that come to 3ABN to do programs, but they don't settle in Thompsonville. I only know of one hispanic family that live in Thompsonville. Most (like 95%+) of the non-whites that work at 3ABN live outside of Thompsonville. So the local government obviously couldn't have been outraged because of that.
>
> I know several people on the city board that I talked to when they asked for 3ABN to be taxed. It was not out of malice or racism as you would have us believe.

> Perhaps they were a little upset when (white) 3ABN emplyees were caught stealing electricity from the city among other things...? Perhaps it's the way that many of the businesses were treated so poorly by 3ABN that made them realize that the station was not really a ministry but a business disguised as a ministry. And obviously the legal system agreed.

asked Duane Clem if Bystander's characterization of Thompsonville was accurate and he posted:

ıttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=12650&st=165&p=181390&#entry181390

> QUOTE
>
> No. Thompsonville as a whole doesn't have a problem with SDAs or people from other countries. What they don't like about 3ABN is -- Danny Shelton.

hope that HOTY and Duane Clem will add more of their perspectives.

Posted by: LaurenceD May 10 2007, 12:14 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird)
>
> Read it again, Laurence. Put yourselves in the shoes of the writer.... and know that he writes the true sentiments of MANY individuals... both lowly and highly placed. If you read with your heart you will find it anything but "funny".

)h, I believe Beartrap all the way. Out here we'd find it a joke it some TV personality tried to intimidate us he way DS has the locals. We'd think it was funny, childish. Any urban cowbay that came out on the high lesert around here, and couldn't find a quick cure for verbal diarrhea, would have to pony up and hit the ıighway where he came from. We wouldn't tolerate that for one minute.

for Skyhook: and like my grandfather use to say, "his hat blew off a manure pile and he went to look for it.") ol!

‹******

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> I do have something against a town of 600 people that try to push religious entities out by trying to tax what shouldn't be taxed

'hanks for the links, PB. Good stuff. Now I can rest assure that Bystander and all his ilk have no idea what hey were doing wrong when the judge ruled against them. If they do understand what they were doing vrong, not one of the defenders has ever offered even a clue.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee May 10 2007, 10:57 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 10 2007, 11:06 AM) ☐

> I hope that HOTY and Duane Clem will add more of their perspectives.

Your wish is my command....

I was talking to someone just last week about 3ABN. Keep in mind that this man is not even a Christian. He has worked for Danny and 3ABN in the past, and he said that he believed that 3ABN would "go down" if steps weren't taken to remove Danny. He doesn't want to see the ministry fold and has nothing against foreigners or SDAs.

Don't believe all the bilge about people in Thompsonville hating 3ABN because of SDAs or people from other countries. It's nonsense.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 11 2007, 10:56 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ May 10 2007, 09:57 PM)
>
> Your wish is my command....
>
> I was talking to someone just last week about 3ABN. Keep in mind that this man is not even a Christian. He has worked for Danny and 3ABN in the past, and he said that he believed that 3ABN would "go down" if steps weren't taken to remove Danny. He doesn't want to see the ministry fold and has nothing against foreigners or SDAs.
>
> Don't believe all the bilge about people in Thompsonville hating 3ABN because of SDAs or people from other countries. It's nonsense.

Duane,

Thank you!

Posted by: Eirene May 11 2007, 12:09 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ May 10 2007, 11:57 PM)
>
> Your wish is my command....
>
> I was talking to someone just last week about 3ABN. Keep in mind that this man is not even a Christian. He has worked for Danny and 3ABN in the past, and he said that he believed that 3ABN would "go down" if steps weren't taken to remove Danny. He doesn't want to see the ministry fold and has nothing against foreigners or SDAs.
>
> Don't believe all the bilge about people in Thompsonville hating 3ABN because of SDAs or people from other countries. It's nonsense.

Well Duane, that would be a matter of opinion wouldn't it? You state it as if it were a factual conclusion when it is not. I have been to T'ville also. I have ate at the restaurant that is the beehive of gossip and also where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn. I have heard the N word being spouted more than once. I have also heard about the "outsiders" that 3abn has brought in. I was also told by a local that did not know I knew anything about 3abn that they were an sda cult and had hidden tunnels and weapons!! They didn't like all the property that 3abn had purchased through the years and yet it was the locals that sold it to them. Let's use a little sense here. We have a community of 600 people and where things have stayed the same for as long as anyone can remember. The old timers like it that way. Then along comes a massive complex that eventually grows to 140 + employees and that disturbs the whole way of things. Put that together with the fact of the racial bias there and the name of sda's who some still connect with David Koresh, and you have something to gripe and gossip about while you're having your daily cup of coffee and piece of pie.

There are a few who do think it is an asset to have 3abn there because of the big economy boost it gives the community. Those are usually the younger ones that are trying to build up the town and know things have to change to do that.
Think about the spin that others have put on this. Danny really has no contact with those locals other than at the feed store and the Adventist health food restaurant where it is usually just employees of 3abn and Adventist. So one would ask how Danny himself could be treating anyone so terrible that they hate 3abn over it? Or that Danny has done something so horrible to someone that it has caused ill will in the whole town? Please....
Then there is Duane's report that a NON christian who USED to work for 3abn said if DS wasn't put out, HE felt it would go down. Let's examine that.
If he is a non christian then he isn't privy at all to the adventist circles, conference, leadership, ect. So, how could he possibly have evidence to form such an opinion? Everybody has an opinion but it only counts if they have valid information, credible sources and at least some, first hand information of the subject matter.

If he was referring to the opinions of some of those in T'ville, that would mean nothing since those people could do nothing whatsoever to make a change in leadership.

Either way, repeating what this person said and his "opinion" adds up to a big fat zero.
If something like this would have come from our side, the people here would have jumped all over us for trying to make a point from someone who knows nothing.

Posted by: princessdi May 11 2007, 12:45 PM

So, where is 3ABN's community out reach program. Danny(and Linda) should have come to town as christians and becoming a part of that community. The inhabiatants didn't get 3ABN were isolated from the them out of the blue. they look like and act like a "compound" and a cult. Danny even took the church amoved it onto his land. So now the church isn't even a part of or serving the community. The church is not approachable, as it should be. It was 3ABN's responsiblity to come in as part of the community, as a christian community within the community. You know letting their light so shine and all.........Ok, so if this post was to help Danny out, maybe you should not have posted it.

Posted by: Pickle May 11 2007, 12:49 PM

Well Eirene, I had one local tell me that Danny had personally threatened them with drowning or hanging if they didn't back off of the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations.

Now since after talking to lots of people only one has told me that, there is a possibility that that person was mistaken, but given everything else that's going on, you never know.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 11 2007, 01:47 PM

Eirene,
Your post raises some questions in my mind...

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 11 2007, 10:09 AM)
>
> Well Duane, that would be a matter of opinion wouldn't it? You state it as if it were a factual conclusion when it is not. I have been to T'ville also. I have ate at the restaurant that is the beehive of gossip and also where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn. I have heard the N word being spouted more than once. I have also heard about the "outsiders" that 3abn has brought in. I was also told by a local that did not know I knew anything about 3abn that they were an sda cult and had hidden tunnels and weapons!!

> They didn't like all the property that 3abn had purchased through the years and yet it was the locals that sold it to them.

.. How much time have you spent in T'ville?
!. How many of the T'ville residents have you spoken with?
}. What did you say to the ones spouting the "N" word more than once?
|. Was it a T'ville resident that told you about the "outsiders" 3abn has brought in?
;. Did you attempt to show the local who felt 3abn was a cult with hidden tunnels and weapons that the)erception was inaccurate?

> QUOTE
>
> Let's use a little sense here. We have a community of 600 people and where things have stayed the same for as long as anyone can remember. The old timers like it that way. Then along comes a massive complex that eventually grows to 140 + employees and that disturbs the whole way of things. Put that together with the fact of the racial bias there and the name of sda's who some still connect with David Koresh, and you have something to gripe and gossip about while you're having your daily cup of coffee and piece of pie.
> There are a few who do think it is an asset to have 3abn there because of the big economy boost it gives the community. Those are usually the younger ones that are trying to build up the town and know things have to change to do that.

'm certain all of us are familiar with those older folks who are set in their ways. (Cover your eyes Aletheia, or I'm going to say it again)
:very one of those bigoted, set-in-their-ways folk are precious to Jesus. He died for them just as surely as He lied for those inside the 3abn "compound". Pray, pray, pray that everyone inside of 3abn will look outside the)roperty line and see those T'ville residents who are angry at and suspicious of 3abn with Jesus' eyes. Rejoice hat the younger generation sees the economic value of 3abn to their town and knows the town needs to :hange. Get out there and show both sets of T'ville folk what it means to be a Seventh-day Adventist :hristian. Connect with them!

> QUOTE
>
> Think about the spin that others have put on this. Danny really has no contact with those locals other than at the feed store and the Adventist health food restaurant where it is usually just employees of 3abn and Adventist. So one would ask how Danny himself could be treating anyone so terrible that they hate 3abn over it? Or that Danny has done something so horrible to someone that it has caused ill will in the whole town? Please....
> Then there is Duane's report that a NON christian who USED to work for 3abn said if DS wasn't put out, HE felt it would go down. Let's examine that.
> If he is a non christian then he isn't privy at all to the adventist circles, conference, leadership, ect. So, how could he possibly have evidence to form such an opinion? Everybody has an opinion but it only counts if they have valid information, credible sources and at least some, first hand information of the subject matter.
>
> If he was referring to the opinions of some of those in T'ville, that would mean nothing since those people could do nothing whatsoever to make a change in leadership.
>
> Either way, repeating what this person said and his "opinion" adds up to a big fat zero.
> If something like this would have come from our side, the people here would have jumped all over us for trying to make a point from someone who knows nothing.

.. WHY?! Why has Danny had no contact with those locals other than the feed store and the restaurant? See)i's response on this one!!!!
!. If Danny has not been unkind to anyone and a town has developed such ill will one would have to ask why. s the whole town evil? That seems unlikely.
}. How would not being privy to adventist circles, conferences and leadership impede this non-christian's ıbility to form an opinion on Danny's character? Danny's actions towards this person and others would speak ar more loudly than anything anyone in adventist circles, the conference or leadership could say. Personal :xperience would count as credible sources, Eirene. I don't think you came anywhere close to making your case against Duane's non-Christian former 3abn employee contact's opinion.

4. Your use of the word "ect." is of great interest.

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 11 2007, 05:40 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 11 2007, 01:47 PM)
>
> 4. Your use of the word "ect." is of great interest.

.... It's like deja vu all over again!

Posted by: mozart May 11 2007, 07:50 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 11 2007, 11:09 AM)
>
> Well Duane, that would be a matter of opinion wouldn't it? You state it as if it were a factual conclusion when it is not. I have been to T'ville also. I have ate at the restaurant that is the beehive of gossip and also where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn. I have heard the N word being spouted more than once. I have also heard about the "outsiders" that 3abn has brought in. I was also told by a local that did not know I knew anything about 3abn that they were an sda cult and had hidden tunnels and weapons!! They didn't like all the property that 3abn had purchased through the years and yet it was the locals that sold it to them.
> Let's use a little sense here.

Well folks, let's use a little logic in discerning this post. Considering that Eirene is "the tiger lady" when it comes to anyone saying anything negative about certain 3ABN employees, what are the odds that she actually heard all this she eludes to OR is this just what she has been told has been said by "a bunch of old racist people who don't like change" (tongue in cheek by me). GIMME A GIGANTIC BREAK
Since Eirene doesn't answer questions PB. , don't hold your breath. i'll just go back to bangin me head.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee May 12 2007, 12:08 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 11 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> Well Duane, that would be a matter of opinion wouldn't it? You state it as if it were a factual conclusion when it is not. I have been to T'ville also. I have ate at the restaurant that is the beehive of gossip and also where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn. I have heard the N word being spouted more than once. I have also heard about the "outsiders" that 3abn has brought in. I was also told by a local that did not know I knew anything about 3abn that they were an sda cult and had hidden tunnels and weapons!! They didn't like all the property that 3abn had purchased through the years and yet it was the locals that sold it to them.
> Let's use a little sense here. We have a community of 600 people and where things have stayed the same for as long as anyone can remember. The old timers like it that way. Then along comes a massive complex > that eventually grows to 140 + employees and that disturbs the whole way of things. Put that together with the fact of the racial bias there and the name of sda's who some still connect with David Koresh, and you have something to gripe and gossip about while you're having your daily cup of coffee and piece of pie.

> There are a few who do think it is an asset to have 3abn there because of the big economy boost it gives the community. Those are usually the younger ones that are trying to build up the town and know things have to change to do that.
> Think about the spin that others have put on this. Danny really has no contact with those locals other than at the feed store and the Adventist health food restaurant where it is usually just employees of 3abn and Adventist. So one would ask how Danny himself could be treating anyone so terrible that they hate 3abn over it? Or that Danny has done something so horrible to someone that it has caused ill will in the whole town? Please....
> Then there is Duane's report that a NON christian who USED to work for 3abn said if DS wasn't put out, HE felt it would go down. Let's examine that.
> If he is a non christian then he isn't privy at all to the adventist circles, conference, leadership, ect. So, how could he possibly have evidence to form such an opinion? Everybody has an opinion but it only counts if they have valid information, credible sources and at least some, first hand information of the subject matter.
>
> If he was referring to the opinions of some of those in T'ville, that would mean nothing since those people could do nothing whatsoever to make a change in leadership.
>
> Either way, repeating what this person said and his "opinion" adds up to a big fat zero.
> If something like this would have come from our side, the people here would have jumped all over us for trying to make a point from someone who knows nothing.

mmm...who to believe? Let's see:

have lived in Franklin County and in/around Thompsonville my whole life.
irene says, "Oh yeah? Well, I went there one time!"

ou decide...

lso, why in the world are the dannyscribes always trying to convice everyone that the locals hate 3ABN?
hat makes NO sense to me at all.

he vast majority of the people I have talked to have no beef with 3ABN or Adventists. Mention Danny helton's name and it's often a different story.

Posted by: Aletheia May 12 2007, 05:15 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ May 11 2007, 02:49 PM) ☐
>
> Well Eirene, I had one local tell me that Danny had personally threatened them with drowning or hanging if they didn't back off of the Tommy Shelton child molestation allegations.
>
> Now since after talking to lots of people only one has told me that, there is a possibility that that person was mistaken, but given everything else that's going on, you never know.

epeating evil reports about someone without proof is what Bob?

id Christ ever do that?

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 11 2007, 03:47 PM) ☐

> I'm certain all of us are familiar with those older folks who are set in their ways. (Cover your eyes Aletheia, for I'm going to say it again)
> Every one of those bigoted, set-in-their-ways folk are precious to Jesus. He died for them just as surely as He died for those inside the 3abn "compound". Pray, pray, pray that everyone inside of 3abn will look outside the property line and see those T'ville residents who are angry at and suspicious of 3abn with Jesus' eyes. Rejoice that the younger generation sees the economic value of 3abn to their town and knows the town needs to change. Get out there and show both sets of T'ville folk what it means to be a Seventh-day Adventist Christian. Connect with them!

ʼB,

Vhy should I cover my eyes? Because you, not even knowing the people you are talking about or how they eel, or treat others,, or the facts, have nevertheless made your self a witness against them in your posts iere to be read by others? As well as making yourself the judge, and jury, and convicted them and are are igzin pronouncing your judgment and condemnation of them saying they don't love others and know they are recious souls God loves and Jesus died for, and need to start thinking that and acting like it?

Sorry I won't close my eyes to that. You need to repent of your arrogant self righteous judgments, and false iccusations. For your opinions can not justify your continuing sin, and you too are someone precious Jesus lied for, don't make that to no effect, please.

n addition, in response to your one sided interogation of Eirene here, )arrell Mundall and Duane Clem were both fired from 3ABN, and are not impartial or unbiased. Both are here o attack and accuse 3ABN and D.S. ect, and have done so repeatedly. You asked for their testimony as if it epresents Thompsonville knowing that.

lave you thought of talking to anyone from there who is not involved here and has no bias either for or igainst 3ABN??

think that might help to clarify all this. :-)

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ May 12 2007, 02:08 AM) ☐
>
> Hmmm...who to believe? Let's see:
>
> I have lived in Franklin County and in/around Thompsonville my whole life.
> Eirene says, "Oh yeah? Well, I went there one time!"
>
> You decide...
>
> Also, why in the world are the dannyscribes always trying to convice everyone that the locals hate 3ABN? That makes NO sense to me at all.

irene didn't say that, you did Duane. And have no facts to even support your view.

nd we didn't start this thread, nor were we trying to convince anybody that Thompsonville doesn't like D.S. r 3ABN, you all did. We are simply saying the reasons the accusers give are their personal bias and view, but iot correct.

Ve have the right to disagree, right?

'ou don't speak for or represent all of Thompsonville, right?

Posted by: Johann May 12 2007, 09:03 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 12 2007, 01:15 PM) ☐
>
> Repeating evil reports about someone without proof is what Bob?
>
> And we didn't start this thread, nor were we trying to convince anybody that Thompsonville doesn't like D.S. or 3ABN, you all did. We are simply saying the reasons the accusers give are their personal bias and view, but not correct.
>
> We have the right to disagree, right?
>
> You don't speak for or represent all of Thompsonville, right?

When I first arrived at 3ABN I was greatly impressed, both with the facilities and with the Christian people at 3ABN.

- You must be making a great impact on the local community, I said.

- No, they all hate us, replied Danny Shelton.

Was he stating the truth?

Posted by: Aletheia May 12 2007, 09:13 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 12 2007, 11:03 AM) ☐
>
> When I first arrived at 3ABN I was greatly impressed, both with the facilities and with the Christian people at 3ABN.
>
> - You must be making a great impact on the local community, I said.
>
> - No, they all hate us, replied Danny Shelton.
>
> Was he stating the truth?

edited for content....... Cindy you are on thin ice.....

> QUOTE
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9767&view=findpost&p=131255
> As has been reported elsewhere anyone reporting is in danger of being fired. It is very difficult to sell a home at T'ville. Slander and threats make it difficult to get another job once you no longer are in accord with 3ABN.
>
> I was quite impressed with 3ABN when I first arrived there. It was a surprise to me that I was told "They all hate us!" when I exclaimed that 3ABN must make an impact on the local community. Even Danny himself was fully aware of the hate towards him by the locals, but he expected persecution.
>
> So I went out into the community to find the reason for this "hate." At some quarters I was told that if > they all merely had the faith of Linda they would accept her religion. But it was difficult to swallow the falsehood and cheating that 3ABN was known for in the area.

Duane of course disagrees with you... And, are you really a Dannyscribe?!? rofl

Duane Clem wrote above:
Also, why in the world are the dannyscribes always trying to convice everyone that the locals hate 3ABN?
That makes NO sense to me at all.

The vast majority of the people I have talked to have no beef with 3ABN or Adventists.

- edited to add bold text

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 12 2007, 09:38 AM

Let's put this down in small words so everyone can understand.

According to Duane, the community does not have a problem with Adventists or even with 3ABN. They have a problem with Danny.

Danny tells Johann "They all hate us." Perhaps Danny misread the community's feelings? "We don't hate all of you--just Danny."

I would hasten to add that hatred is not something I wish anyone would deal in.

Posted by: seraph|m May 12 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE
>
> D' date='May 10 2007, 03:14 PM' post='194940']
> Oh, I believe Beartrap all the way. Out here we'd find it a joke it some TV personality tried to intimidate us the way DS has the locals. We'd think it was funny, childish. Any urban cowbay that came out on the high desert around here, and couldn't find a quick cure for verbal diarrhea, would have to pony up and hit the highway where he came from. We wouldn't tolerate that for one minute.
>
> (for Skyhook: and like my grandfather use to say, "his hat blew off a manure pile and he went to look for it.") lol!
>
> **********
> Thanks for the links, PB. Good stuff. Now I can rest assure that Bystander and all his ilk have no idea what they were doing wrong when the judge ruled against them. If they do understand what they were doing wrong, not one of the defenders has ever offered even a clue.

A clue? WHERE, where?

Posted by: mozart May 12 2007, 10:30 AM

Cindy, you have a very abstract mind. Kinda reminds me of a Jackson Pollock painting.

If you could control your emotions a bit better, then I think your posts would make more sense.
Take deep breaths, go for long walks, clear the mind. Think about the point you are trying to make and how you can make that point. Attack the message with vigor if you must, but try to do it without attacking the messenger. Information is much more effective than emotions. Just trying to help you out sister, of which i'm thinkin', you will say you don't need my help. ☒ s

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 12 2007, 09:13 AM) ☐
>
> Yeah I remember reading where you are arguing how they do, right between you and Watchbird ect libelling and surmising and insinuating that danny killed his first wife and made an attempt on Linda's life as well-- in that peice of garbage, and gossip rag called the unauthorizd history thread:
> Duane of course disagrees with you... And, are you really a Dannyscribe?!? ☒ rofl
> Duane Clem wrote above:
> Also, why in the world are the dannyscribes always trying to convice everyone that the locals hate 3ABN? That makes NO sense to me at all.
>
> The vast majority of the people I have talked to have no beef with 3ABN or Adventists.

Posted by: Aletheia May 12 2007, 11:06 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 12 2007, 11:38 AM) ☐
>
> Let's put this down in small words so everyone can understand.
>
> According to Duane, the community does not have a problem with Adventists or even with 3ABN. They have a problem with Danny.
>
> Danny tells Johann "They all hate us." Perhaps Danny misread the community's feelings? "We don't hate all of you--just Danny."

small words: if Duane is right, then Johann's wrong. And vice versa.

according to Johann they have a problem with 3ABN, not just Danny, and he used the word "ALL"
and of course his only exception to that was Linda...

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s...st&p=131255
As has been reported elsewhere anyone reporting is in danger of being fired. It is very difficult to sell a home at T'ville. Slander and threats make it difficult to get another job once you no longer are in accord with 3ABN.

I was quite impressed with 3ABN when I first arrived there. It was a surprise to me that I was told "They all hate us!" when I exclaimed that 3ABN must make an impact on the local community. Even Danny himself was fully aware of the hate towards him by the locals, but he expected persecution.

So I went out into the community to find the reason for this "hate." At some quarters I was told that if they ALL merely had the faith of Linda they would accept her religion. But it was difficult to swallow the falsehood and cheating that 3ABN was known for in the area.

Posted by: Aletheia May 12 2007, 11:44 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 12 2007, 12:30 PM)
>
> Cindy, you have a very abstract mind. Kinda reminds me of a Jackson Pollock painting.
> If you could control your emotions a bit better, then I think your posts would make more sense.
> Take deep breaths, go for long walks, clear the mind. Think about the point you are trying to make and how you can make that point. Attack the message with vigor if you must, but try to do it without attacking the messenger. Information is much more effective than emotions. Just trying to help you out sister, of which i'm thinkin', you will say you don't need my help.

Yeah, well maybe I'm just a schitzophrenic idiot, who can't comprehend or understand, and is over taken by fits of sudden rage, ect, and maybe NOT, but speaking of AbStRaCt....

when I previously wrote:

"Second, Walt Thompson NEVER said there was no proof of adultery, he, as the Chairman of the board said in answer to Linda being fired, that he had never accused Linda of adultery, because where her job was concerned that wasn't their concern, and she was not fired for that. When his words were first taken out of context he clarified that himself by letter which is posted here on this forum. "

you asked:

"can you please provide me with a link to that?"

I overlooked that in my answer to you, and didn't realize that till later, I apologise. It was in a private letter which was originally published by Gregory Matthews on Maritime, and then quoted here by icedragon.

Here you go:

> QUOTE
>
> Linda said on her web site recently that I had told Johann a year before that I had never accused her of adultery. She was correctly quoting a portion of my statement to Johann, but what she did not bother to say is that I was defending 3ABN against an accusation that we had fired her for adultery. I was merely telling him that it was for defiance of her board that she was let go, not because of adultery, an accusation, it is true, I never stated. As you can see from the few things I have included here, we have had ample evidence to suggest adultery, but it is true, we have not seen the two of them in bed together.
>
> Our position on the board all through this process was to take the high road and not to tell things like this to the public, attempting to protect Linda from even more hurt that she was doing to herself. In all of our public statements, we have tried to be discrete. To protect the ministry from a public confrontation, we also gave Linda a good settlement with the agreement that she would not bad mouth 3ABN. And while she has partially fulfilled her obligation, her "friends" have kept the pot boiling - contrary to her agreement.
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10845&view=findpost&p=151526

Soory about the folks, now back to your previous "programming"

Posted by: runner4him May 12 2007, 12:03 PM

Edited..................sorry!

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 12 2007, 12:31 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ May 12 2007, 12:03 PM)
>
> edted.....

Dear Runner4him,

I can assure you that nobody has killed anyone -- now or ever -- and nobody is implying that somebody has done so, or planned to do so -- and that topic is "way off the charts" so to speak. So, please don't ask for any responses or comments on that topic.

I also believe that these comments need to be erased from the board.

Pete

Posted by: watchbird May 12 2007, 12:42 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 12 2007, 02:31 PM)
>
> Dear Runner4him,
>
> I can assure you that nobody has killed anyone -- now or ever -- and nobody is implying that somebody has done so, or planned to do so -- and that topic is "way off the charts" so to speak. So, please don't ask for any responses or comments on that topic.
>
> I also believe that these comments need to be erased from the board.
>
> Pete

I agree with Pete. Runner.... Aletheia is just trying to get others in trouble by luring them into forbidden territory (again). Don't let her trick you this way.

Posted by: runner4him May 12 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 12 2007, 12:42 PM)
>
> I agree with Pete. Runner.... Aletheia is just trying to get others in trouble by luring them into forbidden territory (again). Don't let her trick you this way.

Thank you very much Watchbird and PP...I edited my post. So sorry. I have lots to learn. Blessings!

Posted by: seraph|m May 12 2007, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ May 12 2007, 04:02 PM)
>
> Thank you very much Watchbird and PP...I edited my post. So sorry. I have lots to learn. Blessings!

☒ welcome.gif again runner4Him. I hope your time on the BSDA track will be fruitful and long lasting.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 12 2007, 06:02 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 12 2007, 03:15 AM)
>
> PB,
>
> Why should I cover my eyes? Because you, not even knowing the people you are talking about or how they feel, or treat others,, or the facts, have nevertheless made your self a witness against them in your posts here to be read by others? As well as making yourself the judge, and jury, and convicted them and are are agzin pronouncing your judgment and condemnation of them saying they don't love others and know they are precious souls God loves and Jesus died for, and need to start thinking that and acting like it?
>
> Sorry I won't close my eyes to that. You need to repent of your arrogant self righteous judgments, and false accusations. For your opinions can not justify your continuing sin, and you too are someone precious Jesus died for, don't make that to no effect, please.

Cindy,

Why should you cover your eyes? To keep you from the sin of misjudging me and my motives. My reminder, that you have twice now labeled judgmental, was made because of the things that were being said about the folks in Thompsonville by representatives of Danny Shelton.

Your friend Bystander, who presented himself as a spokesperson of Danny and 3abn, was quite clear in his characterization of the people of Thompsonville. Eirene, in the post I was responding to, was quite clear in her characterization of the people of Thompsonville. Both of these people, who may or may not be a part of the Shelton family, seemed to be casting the residents of Thompsonville in quite a derogatory light, pointing out their many negative characteristics. Neither characterization contained any hint that those supposedly bigoted, suspicious and judgmental townfolk were of any value. Never was there a hint that these folks also needed the Good News to be spread to them. Instead, the picture that was painted by their words was "Us versus Them - the 3abn beacon of light to the world surrounded by the 600 evil demons residing in Thompsonville."

Does Eirene personally know Danny? Should I trust that her information is accurate when she says Danny only goes into T'ville to buy feed for his animals and to visit the vegetarian restaurant? I would love to hear, from Danny or anybody else at 3abn who knows the answer, why there has not been Christian outreach to the residents of Thompsonville by 3abn. Danny flies around the world to promote the ministry of 3abn and yet he cannot walk into Thompsonville to repair the breach that seems to exist between him and the T'ville residents? I am reminded of that wonderful TCW sermon on the greatest commandment given by Dwight Nelson just one week ago. He said "Love God supremely and thy neighbor impartially". The following texts were a part of his message.

Matthew 22:36 - 39 says:
36 "Teacher, which is the greatest commandment in the Law?" 37 Jesus replied: " 'Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your mind.' 38 This is the first and greatest commandment. 39And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' 40 All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments."
James 2:12 + 13 says:
12 Speak and act as those who are going to be judged by the law that gives freedom, 13 because judgment without mercy will be shown to anyone who has not been merciful. Mercy triumphs over judgment!
1John 4:19 - 21 says:
19 We love because he first loved us. 20 If anyone says, "I love God," yet hates his brother, he is a liar. For anyone who does not love his brother, whom he has seen, cannot love God, whom he has not seen. 21 And he has given us this command: Whoever loves God must also love his brother.
And what did I say that provoked such a response from you?

> QUOTE
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13529&view=findpost&p=195088
> I'm certain all of us are familiar with those older folks who are set in their ways. (Cover your eyes Aletheia, for I'm going to say it again)
> Every one of those bigoted, set-in-their-ways folk are precious to Jesus. He died for them just as surely as He died for those inside the 3abn "compound". Pray, pray, pray that everyone inside of 3abn will look outside the property line and see those T'ville residents who are angry at and suspicious of 3abn with Jesus' eyes. Rejoice that the younger generation sees the economic value of 3abn to their town and knows the town needs to change. Get out there and show both sets of T'ville folk what it means to be a Seventh-day Adventist Christian. Connect with them!

> QUOTE
>
> In addition, in response to your one sided interogation of Eirene here, > Darrell Mundall and Duane Clem were both fired from 3ABN, and are not impartial or unbiased. Both are here to attack and accuse 3ABN and D.S. ect, and have done so repeatedly. You asked for their testimony as if it represents Thompsonville knowing that.
>
> Have you thought of talking to anyone from there who is not involved here and has no bias either for or against 3ABN??
>
> I think that might help to clarify all this. :-)

I don't understand what you mean by my "one sided interogation" of Eirene. I listed the questions her post had raised for me and I hope she will provide me with some clarification. I don't recall ever reading anything from either Derrell Mundall or Duane Clem that would lead me to believe that they are repeatedly attacking or accusing 3abn. I have seen negative opinions from them about Danny Shelton, but not anything negative about 3abn. Furthermore, it seems as though you are insinuating that their opinions are not to be trusted. Are you accusing them of bearing false witness?

If you will review the post you seem to be referring to you will see that I was not asking Derrell for his testimony.

> QUOTE
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13529&view=findpost&p=194935
>
> I hope that HOTY and Duane Clem will add more of their perspectives.

And yes, I did notice that you used the infamous "ect" in your post. I don't know if it was a simple early morning typo, a playful chide, or if it is an indication that you might have copied/pasted something into your post from another source, but I did notice it.

I appreciate the Christian concern you expressed for me even though it is mistaken and came off as rather judgmental. I hope that you will grow to realize that I care for each one of you on "the other side", Danny and Tommy included, because we are all a part of the Body of Christ and, therefore, brothers and sisters.

Posted by: Eirene May 12 2007, 06:32 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 11 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> Well folks, let's use a little logic in discerning this post. Considering that Eirene is "the tiger lady" when it comes to anyone saying anything negative about 3ABN, what are the odds that she actually heard all this she eludes to OR is this just what she has been told has been said by "a bunch of old racist people who don't like change" (tongue in cheek by me). GIMME A GIGANTIC BREAK
> Since Eirene doesn't answer questions PB. , don't hold your breath. i'll just go back to bangin me head.

Well Mozart. Your allegations are way off base as usual. In fact since my post said "I" had been to the Tville restaurant and heard these things, it seems you are calling me a liar. Not nice. Not christian. I said "I" had heard it myself from the locals and that is exactly what I meant. This is "firsthand" information. From me. I wonder how many times you have been wrong in your many other speculations? You should consider this carefully mozart as your previous posts have lots of speculation, innuendo, allegation and a repetition of gossip. The Word tells us as we judge, so shall we be judged. This is not a game and all the gossip and rumor that is spread here could mean the difference between eternal life or a soul lost.

Posted by: awesumtenor May 12 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 12 2007, 07:15 AM)
>
> Repeating evil reports about someone without proof is what Bob?
>
> Did Christ ever do that?
> PB,
>
> Why should I cover my eyes? Because you, not even knowing the people you are talking about or how they feel, or treat others,, or the facts, have nevertheless made your self a witness against them in your posts here to be read by others? As well as making yourself the judge, and jury, and convicted them and are are agzin pronouncing your judgment and condemnation of them saying they don't love others and know they are precious souls God loves and Jesus died for, and need to start thinking that and acting like it?
>
> Sorry I won't close my eyes to that. You need to repent of your arrogant self righteous judgments, and false accusations. For your opinions can not justify your continuing sin, and you too are someone precious Jesus died for, don't make that to no effect, please.

Cindy, have even read any of your own posts? If you had you'd realize that you should be the last person to say the above to anyone...

Rev 3:17-19 Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: (18) I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eye salve, that thou mayest see. (19) As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent.

Assuming of course you have an ear to hear...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Pickle May 12 2007, 10:03 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 12 2007, 11:44 AM) ☐
>
> "Second, Walt Thompson NEVER said there was no proof of adultery, he, as the Chairman of the board said in answer to Linda being fired, that he had never accused Linda of adultery, because where her job was concerned that wasn't their concern, and she was not fired for that. When his words were first taken out of context he clarified that himself by letter which is posted here on this forum. "

I think this is in error. See http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-walt-admits-no-evidence.htm where Walt writes on march 7, 2005:

> QUOTE(Walt Thompson)
>
> So far as accusing Linda of adultery, I will say here again in writing that I have never accused linda of adultery. I do not know whether or not that has taken place, and it is has never been a factor in my decisions or recommendations. ...
>
> ...
>
> The letter that you refer to that I wrote to the 3ABN family does not accuse Linda of adultery. If any have interpreted it to say that, perhaps you may accept a bit of the credit for reading that element into it. But that idea was not written into the letter, nor was it intended to be implied. In fact, the specific effort was made to avoid making such an insinuation since frankly, I have never had the kind of evidence needed whereby to make such an accusation.

Posted by: mozart May 12 2007, 10:29 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ May 12 2007, 10:03 PM) ☐
>
> I think this is in error. See http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-walt-admits-no-evidence.htm where Walt writes on march 7, 2005:

thank you very much mr. p. this is the statement i was referring to.
****

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 12 2007, 06:32 PM) ☐
>
> Well Mozart. Your allegations are way off base as usual. In fact since my post said "I" had been to the > Tville restaurant and heard these things, it seems you are calling me a liar. Not nice. Not christian. I said "I" had heard it myself from the locals and that is exactly what I meant. This is "firsthand" information. From me. I wonder how many times you have been wrong in your many other speculations? You should consider this carefully mozart as your previous posts have lots of speculation, innuendo, allegation and a repetition of gossip. The Word tells us as we judge, so shall we be judged. This is not a game and all the gossip and rumor that is spread here could mean the difference between eternal life or a soul lost.

ou forgot to say JMO.
o it doesn't seem that way at all. i still doubt very seriously that you heard all you stated. in one visit to one estaurant? just too hard to believe. if, as you swear you did exactly what you say, what was your response o these awful, predjudiced heathens?????
lease enlighten us with your defending words or could it be, you are possibly a lot braver online than in real ife? tell us what you said to them. did you accuse them of racism? how about speculation, innuendo, llegation and a repetition of gossip? i'm listening.
ou know, it completely blows my mind how you love to expound scripture to condemn and then turn right round and do exactly what you are using scripture to warn us not to do.

Posted by: Noahswife May 13 2007, 11:12 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 12 2007, 11:29 PM)
>
> you know, it completely blows my mind how you love to expound scripture to condemn and then turn right around and do exactly what you are using scripture to warn us not to do.

o, have you found a clone/finger/borg/scribe that has not? Seems to be a common genetic/personality trait.

ut again, thats JMO.

w
"i"

Posted by: Eirene May 13 2007, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 12 2007, 11:29 PM)
>
> thank you very much mr. p. this is the statement i was referring to.
> **
>
> you forgot to say JMO.
> no it doesn't seem that way at all. i still doubt very seriously that you heard all you stated. in one visit to one restaurant? just too hard to believe. if, as you swear you did exactly what you say, what was your response to these awful, predjudiced heathens?????
> please enlighten us with your defending words or could it be, you are possibly a lot braver online than in real life? tell us what you said to them. did you accuse them of racism? how about speculation, innuendo, allegation and a repetition of gossip? i'm listening.
> you know, it completely blows my mind how you love to expound scripture to condemn and then turn right around and do exactly what you are using scripture to warn us not to do.

Really? First of all I didn't say "one" visit. As to "one" restaurant, other than the health food restaurant, there is only "one" restaurant in T'ville. Since you seem to know so much why didn't you that?
As to what all I said or my responses, explain to me why I would continue this communication with somone, who again, is calling me a liar. You "doubt" I heard all I stated? This just proves that you are unwilling to listen to first hand information if it goes against what you want to believe. You are not about "truth". You are about whatever you think will make 3abn look bad. Had I said that I had heard the locals saying that they don't like 3abn because they didn't like Danny Shelton, you would have accepted it, repeated it, and expounded on it. There would have been no "doubting" my word in that scenerio. Because that is the scenerio you want to hear.
No my friend, it is not I that is a coward "off" line. A coward is afraid to except facts given because it doesn't agree with their own bias against 3abn and those that work there.

Posted by: Lenni May 13 2007, 01:45 PM

I know a lot of people in T'ville and I would disagree with the notion that a majority of them have a problem with 3ABN. I still go to church in T'ville (non-SDA) and there are plenty of compliments being given to people who work at or are associated with 3ABN. I also know the mayor - he's a Christian and one of the best guys in the world. His beef is over taxes and such issues. He is the mayor and the people of T'ville voted him in to watch out for the best interest of the town but I have never heard him say anything derogatory about the ministry of 3ABN.

I agree that most of the comments I hear are about Danny or Tommy but it's not like they sit around having bashing sessions all the time. They have more important things that they would rather talk about.

T'ville residents are good people. A lot of them are good friends of mine. To state "They all hate us" is not really painting a fair picture of them.

But that's just my personal observation!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 13 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(Lenni @ May 13 2007, 11:45 AM)
>
> I know a lot of people in T'ville and I would disagree with the notion that a majority of them have a problem with 3ABN. I still go to church in T'ville (non-SDA) and there are plenty of compliments being given to people who work at or are associated with 3ABN. I also know the mayor - he's a Christian and one of the best guys in the world. His beef is over taxes and such issues. He is the mayor and the people of T'ville voted him in to watch out for the best interest of the town but I have never heard him say anything derogatory about the ministry of 3ABN.
>
> I agree that most of the comments I hear are about Danny or Tommy but it's not like they sit around having bashing sessions all the time. They have more important things that they would rather talk about.
>
> T'ville residents are good people. A lot of them are good friends of mine. To state "They all hate us" is not really painting a fair picture of them.
>
> But that's just my personal observation!

Lenni,

Thank you for weighing in with your perspective! If you have read this entire thread, would you be willing to comment on Eirene's post from page 1? Here's the link:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13529&view=findpost&p=195075

PB

Posted by: Lenni May 13 2007, 02:39 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 13 2007, 03:04 PM)
>
> Lenni,
>
> Thank you for weighing in with your perspective! If you have read this entire thread, would you be willing to comment on Eirene's post from page 1? Here's the link:
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13529&view=findpost&p=195075
>
> PB

Well, Eirene is entitled to state her observations just the same as I am. I wasn't there the day(s) the conversation about 3ABN took place in the restaurant so I can't supply an observation about that. I have eaten in the restaurant several times and still go there after church some Sundays and occasionally on a weeknight so I am familiar with the place and the "regulars" and I don't recall hearing any 3ABN bashing going on. They are usually just catching up with neighbors and friends that come in.

I'm not saying it doesn't happen. People get frustrated and they vent. What I'm saying is there is no apparent vendetta against 3ABN as it seems some are suggesting. At least it's not apparent to me and I am there probably 5-6 times a week.

I also disagree with the impression that only the younger people are the ones welcoming 3ABN. There is one couple born and raised there and another couple that have been there the better part of 60 years that think 3ABN employees are the peaches of the crop and said just the other day how sweet they thought Danny's wife is. I talk to alot of the older, life long residents on a regular basis and, again, they really don't vocalize an issues with 3ABN's ministry.

As far as racial bias, I just don't see it. I guess I would ask how many times Eirene has been to T'ville and what she based this opinion on. Was it just the one conversation? Was the derogatory word uttered by just one person or were several spouting it? I agree it should have never been said and there is no excuse for it. What we need to remember is that there is always someone in every group that fails to employ compassion, good sense and tact in their conversations however I don't think it's fair, or even Christ-like to allow that to shroud the entire town of people.

I stand by my synopsis - T'ville residents are good people!

Posted by: seraph|m May 13 2007, 02:49 PM

These questions and comments are worth repeating.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 11 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> So, where is 3ABN's community out reach program.
>
> Danny(and Linda) should have come to town as christians and becoming a part of that community.
>
> The inhabiatants didn't get 3ABN were isolated from the them out of the blue. they look like and act like a "compound" and a cult. Danny even took the church amoved it onto his land.
>
> So now the church isn't even a part of or serving the community. The church is not approachable, as it should be. It was 3ABN's responsiblity to come in as part of the community, > as a christian community within the community.

>
> You know letting their light so shine and all.........Ok, so if this post was to help Danny out, maybe you should not have posted it.

IJM, but, from what I gather from various comments this isolated compound is not a good representation of vhat the Seventh day Adventist church is about.

Posted by: beartrap May 13 2007, 03:41 PM

> QUOTE(Lenni @ May 13 2007, 12:39 PM)
>
> T'ville residents are good people!

greed! T'ville residents are good normal people. Many of the residents of that town enjoy the company of wen and Ann Troy. Owen and Ann are an elderly couple living in T'ville and they are both black, but the ocals like them. They have interacted closely with the community since moving there. Many of the locals ave also become friends with a number of the employees at 3ABN.

also agree with your statement about the mayor. Ralph is a very fine upstanding gentleman and Christian of he Baptist persuasion. LOL! I once ran against him for the mayoral seat and lost by a substantial margin. My ne foray into politics. I consider him a well respected friend.

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ May 13 2007, 12:49 PM)
>
> MIJM, but, from what I gather from various comments this isolated compound is not a good representation of what the Seventh day Adventist church is about.

do know the pastor of another local church who went out to 3ABN one night and annointed the buildings vith oil, prayed over them, commanded the devil to leave, and claimed this ministry for God. As many have aid, the issues seem to be with individuals as opposed to 3ABN or the church, however, those issues do tend o color opinions of of 3ABN and the church, but thats JMO.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 13 2007, 04:02 PM

> QUOTE(Lenni @ May 13 2007, 01:39 PM)
>
> Well, Eirene is entitled to state her observations just the same as I am. I wasn't there the day(s) the conversation about 3ABN took place in the restaurant so I can't supply an observation about that. I have eaten in the restaurant several times and still go there after church some Sundays and occasionally on a weeknight so I am familiar with the place and the "regulars" and I don't recall hearing any 3ABN bashing going on. They are usually just catching up with neighbors and friends that come in.
>
> I'm not saying it doesn't happen. People get frustrated and they vent. What I'm saying is there is no apparent vendetta against 3ABN as it seems some are suggesting. At least it's not apparent to me and I am there probably 5-6 times a week.
>
> I also disagree with the impression that only the younger people are the ones welcoming 3ABN. There is one couple born and raised there and another couple that have been there the better part of 60 years that think 3ABN employees are the peaches of the crop and said just the other day how sweet they thought

> Danny's wife is. I talk to alot of the older, life long residents on a regular basis and, again, they really don't vocalize an issues with 3ABN's ministry.
>
> As far as racial bias, I just don't see it. I guess I would ask how many times Eirene has been to T'ville and what she based this opinion on. Was it just the one conversation? Was the derogatory word uttered by just one person or were several spouting it? I agree it should have never been said and there is no excuse for it. What we need to remember is that there is always someone in every group that fails to employ compassion, good sense and tact in their conversations however I don't think it's fair, or even Christ-like to allow that to shroud the entire town of people.
>
> I stand by my synopsis - T'ville residents are good people!

.enni,

'hank you so much! It is good have your synopsis to include in this mix of opinions in this thread.

\s you are someone who is very familiar with Thompsonville and its residents, your opinions hold a huge deal)f weight with me and I appreciate you helping to flesh out the picture of these folks! It is interesting that here are some who have painted a very different portrait of the town, its people and their attitudes. One nust wonder if it is simply like the story of the blind men describing the elephant from the limited areas they ıre touching or if it is from a far more sinister motiviation. I pray it is not the latter.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 13 2007, 04:14 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ May 13 2007, 02:41 PM) ☐
>
> Agreed! T'ville residents are good normal people. Many of the residents of that town enjoy the company of Owen and Ann Troy. Owen and Ann are an elderly couple living in T'ville and they are both black, but the locals like them. They have interacted closely with the community since moving there. Many of the locals have also become friends with a number of the employees at 3ABN.

'm guessing that the one or ones using the "N" word around Eirene were not among the many residents who :njoy the Troys!

> QUOTE
>
> I also agree with your statement about the mayor. Ralph is a very fine upstanding gentleman and Christian of the Baptist persuasion. LOL! I once ran against him for the mayoral seat and lost by a substantial margin. My one foray into politics. I consider him a well respected friend.

3eartrap, good for you, young man, for having the guts to throw your political hat into the ring of town)olitics!

> QUOTE
>
> I do know the pastor of another local church who went out to 3ABN one night and annointed the buildings with oil, prayed over them, commanded the devil to leave, and claimed this ministry for God. As many have said, the issues seem to be with individuals as opposed to 3ABN or the church, however, those issues do tend to color opinions of of 3ABN and the church, but thats JMO.

Vow, what perceived issue would have caused a pastor to take such action? If the ministry and, perhaps, :ven the church are perceived as turning a blind eye and do not eventually deal with issues that are hurting he relationship with the people living nearby, I can understand how that would eventually color opinions ıbout both.

Posted by: princessdi May 13 2007, 05:29 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 13 2007, 03:14 PM)
>
> I'm guessing that the one or ones using the "N" word around Eirene were not among the many residents who enjoy the Troys!

.........and felt "comfortable" enough around her to use it.......... There is a belief that those who make it thier buisness to tell of such conversations, rarely tell their own part in those conversaiont.

Posted by: mozart May 13 2007, 07:05 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 11 2007, 10:09AM)
>
> " I have been to T'ville also. I have ate at the restaurant that is the beehive of gossip and also where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn. I have heard the N word being spouted more than once. I have also heard about the "outsiders" that 3abn has brought in. I was also told by a local that did not know I knew anything about 3abn that they were an sda cult and had hidden tunnels and weapons!! They didn't like all the property that 3abn had purchased through the years and yet it was the locals that sold it to them".

Here is your quote Eirene. You say you "ate" (ate = one time) at THE (the = one) restaurant. So, "Where's the beef?"
You say this place is the "beehive of gossip...where you can learn a lot about the locals vs 3abn" Are you saying you base that opinion on the ONE time you ATE at the ONE restaurant you mention? You say you heard the "N" word more that once. Where was that heard? Same place? Same time? You say you heard about the "outsiders....." My question again. Where did you hear that one? You say you were "also told by a local......blah blah blah"
Again, where was this told to you? You make all these statements prefaced by saying you "have been to T'ville also" and you "ate at "the" restaurant.
Then you write another reply to me with all these elusive statements and rhetorical questions. But not one honest answer. Why should anyone believe you? You can't even answer one question honestly. Then you dare to condemn others?

> QUOTE(Eirene @ May 13 2007, 01:01 PM)
>
> Really? First of all I didn't say "one" visit. So how many visits were there Eirene? As to "one" restaurant, other than the health food restaurant, there is only "one" restaurant in T'ville. So, your point is? there must be ONE restaurant that you were talking about. What IS your point??
> Since you seem to know so much why didn't you that? Why didn't I what?
> As to what all I said or my responses, explain to me why I would continue this communication with somone, who again, is calling me a liar. You "doubt" I heard all I stated? But you ARE continuing Eirene. Again Lots of words but no answers to very simple questions. Either you are telling the truth or you aren't.
> This just proves that you are unwilling to listen to first hand information if it goes against what you want to believe. What proves that? The fact I don't believe your twisted, skewed observation of the citizens of Thompsonville?
> You are not about "truth". You are about whatever you think will make 3abn look bad. I love 3ABN. I want 3ABN to flourish anew.
> Had I said that I had heard the locals saying that they don't like 3abn because they didn't like Danny > Shelton, you would have accepted it, I would? repeated it, Show me where I have repeated anything? and expounded on it. There would have been no "doubting" my word in that scenerio. Because that is the scenerio you want to hear.

> ahh, this is where we get into some real side-stepping. A person is afraid of answering your direct questions so they condemn you instead. This is very familiar strategy. You are just playing word games that aren't making any sense. You make outlandish statements but refuse to answer any questions that might validate those statements. You certainly did expound on those people in that "one" restaurant in town that are not here to debate with you. You certainly did shoot yourself in the foot by making it look like the whole town of Thompsonville is a bunch of red-neck racists who hate 3ABN. If what you say is true, why didn't you have the courage to defend 3ABN? If what you say is true, why do you think those people feel that way? Is it just because they are terrible people who are completely evil?
> No my friend, it is not I that is a coward "off" line. I think anyone reading this would respectfully disagree, Eirene. If those things happened and you didn't say anything in the defense of 3ABN then you are a coward. If you were as true blue as you would like us to think, you would have said something back to them. If you did say anything in defense of 3ABN you would have told us. So......Guilty by elimination or avoidance of the question? If you were being honest, you would have just answered the question.
> A coward is afraid to except facts given because it doesn't agree with their own bias against 3abn and those that work there. A Coward is someone who picks on someone smaller or weaker than them and/or won't stand up for what they believe in! Being a coward has nothing to do with bias. Nothing you have said here proves anything except that you are a side-stepper who won't answer questions and your only defensive action is to attack those who ask the questions. You would have done yourself a better service if you had said nothing at all than to make such a convoluted reply to avoid accountability.

fou apparently are very confused so let me clear some things up for you.

: have no problem with the ministry of 3ABN. I have loved and supported and "trusted" them for LO years! This is not about the ministry of 3ABN. The very basic facts, Eirene are that this is about :ertain individuals. I don't like any of this, nor do I want any of this negativity to be true. But, :here is no doubt, much of it is. I do not want to bring Danny or anyone else down. I want to bring :he truth out. I was addressing you and your half-truths. Do you really think you can come in here ınd tell all these tales and not expect someone to question you? Be accountable Eirene.

Since you don't seem to understand, these are the things I have a problem with:
....lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, ınthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce lespisers of those that are good,
:raitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;
ıaving a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof from such turn away.
:or of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly vomen laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.

:f I find that anyone at 3ABN or anywhere else in any ministry has done any of that, you can be ıure I'm going to do my part to bring them into accountability. Do you really think you can play :hese silly little word games and make anyone listen to you? If that is so, then you need to re-evaluate yourself and the things you say here.

fou would do well to study this post below: Thank you so much Lenni. ☒ than

> QUOTE
>
> Well, Eirene is entitled to state her observations just the same as I am. I wasn't there the day(s) the conversation about 3ABN took place in the restaurant so I can't supply an observation about that. I have eaten in the restaurant several times and still go there after church some Sundays and occasionally on a weeknight so I am familiar with the place and the "regulars" and I don't recall hearing any 3ABN bashing > going on. They are usually just catching up with neighbors and friends that come in.

>
> I'm not saying it doesn't happen. People get frustrated and they vent. What I'm saying is there is no apparent vendetta against 3ABN as it seems some are suggesting. At least it's not apparent to me and I am there probably 5-6 times a week.
>
> I also disagree with the impression that only the younger people are the ones welcoming 3ABN. There is one couple born and raised there and another couple that have been there the better part of 60 years that think 3ABN employees are the peaches of the crop and said just the other day how sweet they thought Danny's wife is. I talk to alot of the older, life long residents on a regular basis and, again, they really don't vocalize an issues with 3ABN's ministry.
>
> As far as racial bias, I just don't see it. I guess I would ask how many times Eirene has been to T'ville and what she based this opinion on. Was it just the one conversation? Was the derogatory word uttered by just one person or were several spouting it? I agree it should have never been said and there is no excuse for it. What we need to remember is that there is always someone in every group that fails to employ compassion, good sense and tact in their conversations however I don't think it's fair, or even Christ-like to allow that to shroud the entire town of people.
>
> I stand by my synopsis - T'ville residents are good people!

Posted by: Hawk May 13 2007, 09:09 PM

Thompsonville is a small town where secrets dont last, and a town where the people are alleged to be racist. Since Eirene seems to be such a "close" Bystander to DS, maybe "she" would like to tell us the meaning of the term Danny and the other Sheltons use when they refer to certain group people by a letter of the alphabet (Not "N"). Lets see. Could it be "H", "I", or maybe "J"? Something else? Does that mean anything to you Eirene? If you shed some "light" on this, I promise I'll run outside and do a little dance. Capiche?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 13 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(Hawk @ May 13 2007, 07:09 PM) ☐
>
> Thompsonville is a small town where secrets dont last, and a town where the people are alleged to be racist. Since Eirene seems to be such a "close" Bystander to DS, maybe "she" would like to tell us the meaning of the term Danny and the other Sheltons use when they refer to certain group people by a letter of the alphabet (Not "N"). Lets see. Could it be "H", "I", or maybe "J"? Something else? Does that mean anything to you Eirene? If you shed some "light" on this, I promise I'll run outside and do a little dance. Capiche?

Hawk,

don't have a clue what group you are talking about but I'd love to be there to watch you run out side and do your little dance! ☒ rofl ☒ ☒

PB

Posted by: princessdi May 13 2007, 10:46 PM

It seems to me that I heard something aobut another beign thrown around in more private circles .....a substitution for the "n"....but bo the beginnign of the alphabet.........

> QUOTE(Hawk @ May 13 2007, 07:09 PM)
>
> Thompsonville is a small town where secrets dont last, and a town where the people are alleged to be racist. Since Eirene seems to be such a "close" Bystander to DS, maybe "she" would like to tell us the meaning of the term Danny and the other Sheltons use when they refer to certain group people by a letter of the alphabet (Not "N"). Lets see. Could it be "H", "I", or maybe "J"? Something else? Does that mean anything to you Eirene? If you shed some "light" on this, I promise I'll run outside and do a little dance. Capiche?

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Save 3abn Website

Posted by: inga Jan 12 2007, 11:01 PM

Here is the link to the Save 3ABN web site:

http://www.save3abn.com/

So far, there is only one article on the New Year's tribute to Tommy Shelton.

I wish that, instead of just posting re Tommy Shelton that there were an introduction to the topic -- something to the effect of a house-cleaning being needed in order to Save 3ABN. Then posting the info on Tommy would make more sense.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 12 2007, 11:35 PM

This is the first time I have seen Tommy. Y'all know I had no use for 3ABN ever, so I wouldn't know any of thiese people if the walked up and slapped me.

HAIRSTYLIST HAT ON***

What in the world is that Tommy has on his head? Can they just hire a decent stylist? They are on TV world wide, for heaven's sake!! If they weren't so scandalous, I would apply for the job! Plus they would allow somebody like me who would go Sista' Gurl on them and they foolishness, and then call Oprah! LOL!!
HAIRSTYLIST HAT OFF***

On a serious note, did CA Murray have a stroke or something?

Ok Sorry for going ofl . Back to our regularly schedule programming............

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 13 2007, 08:06 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 13 2007, 12:35 AM)
>
> This is the first time I have seen Tommy. Y'all know I had no use for 3ABN ever, so I wouldn't know any of thiese people if the walked up and slapped me.
> HAIRSTYLIST HAT ON***
>
> What in the world is that Tommy has on his head? Can they just hire a decent stylist? They are on TV world wide, for heaven's sake!! If they weren't so scandalous, I would apply for the job! Plus they would allow somebody like me who would go Sista' Gurl on them and they foolishness, and then call Oprah! LOL!!
> HAIRSTYLIST HAT OFF***
>
> On a serious note, did CA Murray have a stroke or something?

> Ok Sorry for going off . Back to our regularly schedule programming............

.OLOL!! Di, that's funny....

Posted by: watchbird Jan 13 2007, 08:46 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 13 2007, 12:35 AM)
>
> This is the first time I have seen Tommy. Y'all know I had no use for 3ABN ever, so I wouldn't know any of thiese people if the walked up and slapped me.
> HAIRSTYLIST HAT ON***
>
> What in the world is that Tommy has on his head? Can they just hire a decent stylist? They are on TV world wide, for heaven's sake!! If they weren't so scandalous, I would apply for the job! Plus they would allow somebody like me who would go Sista' Gurl on them and they foolishness, and then call Oprah! LOL!!
> HAIRSTYLIST HAT OFF***

ssst, Di... it's a rug. You probably don't do rugs anyhow... (I can think of some other comments on rugs...
ut ..... oh well.... nuf sed....

Posted by: Clay Jan 13 2007, 08:55 AM

so we have Tommy with a bad haripiece and Lomacang with plastic hair.... I think there are some hair issues at 3ABN......

Posted by: inga Jan 13 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 09:55 AM)
>
> so we have Tommy with a bad haripiece and Lomacang with plastic hair.... I think there are some hair issues at 3ABN......

Vish that were all!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 13 2007, 11:18 AM

Tommy is also a hairstylist...

Posted by: Clay Jan 13 2007, 11:50 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 13 2007, 11:18 AM) ☐
>
> Tommy is also a hairstylist...

no he's not..... ☒ rofl

Posted by: beartrap Jan 13 2007, 12:15 PM

Posted by: Skyhook Jan 13 2007, 12:34 PM

It looks like CA Murray might have a mild case of Bells Palsy. Probably not a stroke.

Posted by: Ed White Jan 13 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 11:50 AM) ☐
>
> no he's not..... ☒ rofl

Seeing this "no he is not" and "yes he is" on a lot of Adventist forums I found a clipping in my 103 year old mother's bible that still can sing most every song in hmynal from memory these words between two arguers.
=============
M R ducks!
M R not!
M R too!
C M wings?
Why, M R ducks!
=========
But rarely are Adventist forum members willing to admit to futher light when shown documented evidence.
"C M wings?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 13 2007, 02:19 PM

I haven't noticed anything about CA Murray and I saw him last week. Can you give more info please?

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 12:50 PM) ☐
>
> no he's not..... ☒ rofl

He even does his wife's hair.

Posted by: lookin4truth Jan 13 2007, 02:54 PM

Please folks,

I am requesting that everyone please refrain from personal attacks.

It breaks my heart to see a search for facts turn to making fun of a man, and bringing his family into it. Even if a man is found guilty, his family should not be ridiculed.

Please put yourself in the place of those who are truly suffering because of the facts, which are being brought to light.

I have only posted a few times. I don't think any of the comments I have made have been made in such a way as to crush, destroy, or embarrass. If any of my comments have been taken that way, I apologize first to God, then to all who have read them.

I hope we will all try to act in love, even though sometimes love has to be tough.

Posted by: calvin Jan 13 2007, 03:30 PM

Tommy wearing a rug and CA talking out the side of his mouth like he's had a stroke is the truth. This is the BSDA way lookin4truth, we have fun here and often don't take everything seriously. Or maybe it's a Black thang that the rest don't get

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 13 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> Please folks,
>
> I am requesting that everyone please refrain from personal attacks.
>
> It breaks my heart to see a search for facts turn to making fun of a man, and bringing his family into it. Even if a man is found guilty, his family should not be ridiculed.
>
> Please put yourself in the place of those who are truly suffering because of the facts, which are being brought to light.
>
> I have only posted a few times. I don't think any of the comments I have made have been made in such a way as to crush, destroy, or embarrass. If any of my comments have been taken that way, I apologize first to God, then to all who have read them.
>
> I hope we will all try to act in love, even though sometimes love has to be tough.

Posted by: Johann Jan 13 2007, 03:43 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 13 2007, 11:30 PM)
>
> Tommy wearing a rug and CA talking out the side of his mouth like he's had a stroke is the truth. This is the BSDA way lookin4truth, we have fun here and often don't take everything seriously. Or maybe it's a Black thang that the rest don't get

I learned to comprehend that thang in college, and the more I hear it the more I feel at home. Although I am not able to verbalize it myself, I just love it. Would love to hear it next door in heaven. A lot of solid Christianity can be preached in that thang.

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 13 2007, 04:07 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 13 2007, 03:54 PM)
>
> Please folks,
>
> I am requesting that everyone please refrain from personal attacks.
>
> It breaks my heart to see a search for facts turn to making fun of a man, and bringing his family into it. Even if a man is found guilty, his family should not be ridiculed.
>
> Please put yourself in the place of those who are truly suffering because of the facts, which are being brought to light.
>
> I have only posted a few times. I don't think any of the comments I have made have been made in such a way as to crush, destroy, or embarrass. If any of my comments have been taken that way, I apologize first to God, then to all who have read them.
>
> I hope we will all try to act in love, even though sometimes love has to be tough.

Making an observation is not a personal attack. Accusing anyone here of doing so does not make it the truth.

Also, bear in mind if you are going to take an offering for forgiveness to the Lord you must "first" go to those you have offended, according to scripture. Then, take his offering to the Lord after you have made things right with the one(s) you have offended.

Be Blessed

Posted by: Skyhook Jan 13 2007, 04:45 PM

My statement about CA Murray was in no way meant as an attack. When I first saw him on TV the first thing I noticed was that his face is asymetrical. One side seems to slightly droop down. This is what happens when a person has Bells Palsy. I have known people with that condition, and I have seen the symptoms gradually subside. I understand it is a real drag to have it, but CA's is not nearly as bad as I have seen. IF that is what he has; I don't really know, and it is not really important, it is just that it is very noticable at first.

Posted by: paleface Jan 13 2007, 04:46 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 10:50 AM)
>
> no he's not..... ☒ rofl

Clay,

What do you mean "Lomacang's plastic hair?"

Posted by: Clay Jan 13 2007, 07:07 PM

> QUOTE(paleface @ Jan 13 2007, 04:46 PM) ☐
>
> Clay,
>
> What do you mean "Lomacang's plastic hair?"

on t.v. it looks plastic.....

like that.....

Posted by: paleface Jan 13 2007, 07:36 PM

OK. At least it is neat and well groomed and is not flying in his eyes and is under control.
Next page.

Posted by: sister Jan 13 2007, 07:58 PM

> QUOTE(paleface @ Jan 13 2007, 08:36 PM) ☐
>
> Next page.

I watched the video. It is strange when Tommy and Danny refer to Tommy one and one half hours commute to work. Why doesn't Tommy live where he works? It would seem reasonable if he has such a long commute he would want to move closer to 3ABN. Doesn't anyone wonder why?

Posted by: Ed White Jan 13 2007, 08:03 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 13 2007, 07:58 PM) ☐
>
> I watched the video. It is strange when Tommy and Danny refer to Tommy one and one half hours commute to work. Why doesn't Tommy live where he works? It would seem reasonable if he has such a long commute he would want to move closer to 3ABN. Doesn't anyone wonder why?

Maybe the state of Ill has a wanted poster out on him???

Posted by: Clay Jan 13 2007, 08:03 PM

> QUOTE(paleface @ Jan 13 2007, 07:36 PM)
>
> OK. At least it is neat and well groomed and is not flying in his eyes and is under control.
> Next page.

that's cause it's plastic.....

Posted by: watchbird Jan 13 2007, 08:11 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 13 2007, 08:58 PM)
>
> I watched the video. It is strange when Tommy and Danny refer to Tommy one and one half hours commute to work. Why doesn't Tommy live where he works? It would seem reasonable if he has such a long commute he would want to move closer to 3ABN. Doesn't anyone wonder why?

I think you explained this to us once.... it's been awhile. Some have maybe forgotten the details. Some maybe never found that chapter. Perhaps you could tell the story again?

Thanks.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 13 2007, 08:37 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Jan 13 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> My statement about CA Murray was in no way meant as an attack. When I first saw him on TV the first thing I noticed was that his face is asymetrical. One side seems to slightly droop down. This is what happens when a person has Bells Palsy. I have known people with that condition, and I have seen the symptoms gradually subside. I understand it is a real drag to have it, but CA's is not nearly as bad as I have seen. IF that is what he has; I don't really know, and it is not really important, it is just that it is very noticable at first.

And, oh should you hear that man preach! You want to talk annointed? CA preaches that way. Reminds me of my college days when our choir would go out to churches in the SF East Bay.

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 13 2007, 06:07 PM)
>
> on t.v. it looks plastic.....

> like that.....

y baby brother used to do things with his hair to draw attention away from his ears also.

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 13 2007, 06:58 PM) ☐
>
> I watched the video. It is strange when Tommy and Danny refer to Tommy one and one half hours commute to work. Why doesn't Tommy live where he works? It would seem reasonable if he has such a long commute he would want to move closer to 3ABN. Doesn't anyone wonder why?

erhaps he enjoys the scenery he can see on his drive between the states.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 13 2007, 08:54 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 13 2007, 09:37 PM) ☐
>
> My baby brother used to do things with his hair to draw attention away from his ears also.

id your baby brother's head look like a '55 Buick with the doors open?

es' wonderin'...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 13 2007, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 13 2007, 07:58 PM) ☐
>
> I watched the video. It is strange when Tommy and Danny refer to Tommy one and one half hours commute to work. Why doesn't Tommy live where he works? It would seem reasonable if he has such a long commute he would want to move closer to 3ABN. Doesn't anyone wonder why?

had heard that he was not allowed to live in Illinois. I surely do not know how true that is... I am still eading all of this history. I have been reading for over a week now, and do not see an end in sight...just a ewbie...

Posted by: princessdi Jan 13 2007, 10:39 PM

Stop it, HOTY!!!! No he ain't! Revoke his license now!!! rofl

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 13 2007, 09:18 AM)
>
> Tommy is also a hairstylist...

Posted by: Ed White Jan 13 2007, 10:44 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 13 2007, 08:54 PM)
>
> Did your baby brother's head look like a '55 Buick with the doors open?
>
> Jes' wonderin'...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J. with your bag of jokes more so in the thelology section than here, I was wondering if you are moonlighting and writing jokes for the world richest caveman? His material looks kinda like your style, sorta empty.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 13 2007, 10:57 PM

What I said about CA was said in all seriousness. Because I was thinking a stroke or bell palsy. I first notice his right eye.

And now that I know he is also a cosmetologist, I wil talk about that bad rug Tommy has, he knows better......... Just a ruckus!!!

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 13 2007, 12:54 PM)
>
> Please folks,
>
> I am requesting that everyone please refrain from personal attacks.
>
> It breaks my heart to see a search for facts turn to making fun of a man, and bringing his family into it. Even if a man is found guilty, his family should not be ridiculed.
>
> Please put yourself in the place of those who are truly suffering because of the facts, which are being brought to light.

> I have only posted a few times. I don't think any of the comments I have made have been made in such a way as to crush, destroy, or embarrass. If any of my comments have been taken that way, I apologize first to God, then to all who have read them.
>
> I hope we will all try to act in love, even though sometimes love has to be tough.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 14 2007, 01:29 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 13 2007, 07:54 PM)
>
> Did your baby brother's head look like a '55 Buick with the doors open?
>
> Jes' wonderin'...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

ope, more like a '56 Chevy with the doors ajar.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jan 14 2007, 08:33 AM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 13 2007, 11:24 PM)
>
> I had heard that he was not allowed to live in Illinois. I surely do not know how true that is... I am still reading all of this history. I have been reading for over a week now, and do not see an end in sight...just a newbie...

'es, I did the same thing when I first came here.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jan 14 2007, 03:15 PM

> QUOTE
>
> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 13 2007, 11:24 PM) *
>
> I had heard that he was not allowed to live in Illinois. I surely do not know how true that is... I am still reading all of this history. I have been reading for over a week now, and do not see an end in sight...just a newbie...

I think you are correct in that. I think that was one of the stipulations of the whole thing of no charges being pressed at the time if memory serves but from what I was told. I don't think he should even be allowed to work in the state or around children period.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 06:53 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 12 2007, 11:01 PM)
>
> Here is the link to the Save 3ABN web site:
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/
>
> So far, there is only one article on the New Year's tribute to Tommy Shelton.
>
> I wish that, instead of just posting re Tommy Shelton that there were an introduction to the topic -- something to the effect of a house-cleaning being needed in order to Save 3ABN. Then posting the info on Tommy would make more sense.

New Year's Eve Tribute to Tommy Shelton
While serving as a Church of God minister, Danny Shelton's brother, Tommy Shelton, was accused by multiple people in two states over multiple decades of sexual misconduct and child molestation involving men and teenage boys. Just recently in Virginia another alleged victim has come forward where Tommy pastored from 1995 to around late 2000. This alleged victim was a minor at the time of the alleged incident (s), and thus this allegation possibly might put Tommy behind bars. The pastor there of that Church of God congregation issued a statement about the new allegations on December 3, 2006, which was made public two days later.

The following weekend Tommy was to have joined other 3ABN staff at the Lauderhill, Florida, Seventh-day Adventist Church for a 3ABN rally, but he was unable to attend because of an alleged sudden illness. (In 2004 or 2005, a letter sent by an alleged victim in Illinois accused Tommy of having illnesses whenever these sorts of allegations arise, and of suddenly recovering when everything settles down again.) On December 9, a close family member to Tommy wrote and essentially attributed his sudden health problems to these old and new allegations

Dear Friends Do not put your trust in this statement . You are being deceived. The family member refered to by Gailon is a very close friend of mine and have recept of this very document. Gailon has twisted the statement to suit his agenda. I can prove what I am saying.

Posted by: sister Jan 15 2007, 07:05 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 07:53 PM)
>
> On December 9, a close family member to Tommy wrote and essentially attributed his sudden health problems to these old and new allegations
> Dear Friends Do not put your trust in this statement . You are being deceived. The family member refered to by Gailon is a very close friend of mine and have recept of this very document. Gailon has twisted the statement to suit his agenda. I can prove what I am saying.

The burden of proof is upon you, since you claim you can prove what you are saying. I think the expression is, "put up or shut up". Which is it eyewitness?

Sister

Posted by: Clay Jan 15 2007, 07:06 PM

then prove it....

Posted by: calvin Jan 15 2007, 07:10 PM

This is a tough crowd eyewitness. You can't just wave a smiley and throw stuff out here. We will call you on it everytime or rather throw back in your face to prove your point.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 15 2007, 07:18 PM

Is it not true that Teresa attributed Tommy's health problems to "gossip" on Dec. 9?

And given the fact that these new and old allegations were made public just four days previously, would that not be attributing his health problems to the allegations, which on this very board have been called gossip by Danny's supporters?

And would her statement also qualify as being contradictory to the claim that Tommy's health problems were due to a "tremendous schedule," "weekend travelling," "driving" from Kentucky, and the worst thing of all, that "ferry"?

I've been told by someone who has ridden that ferry that it is a very relaxing ride. They thought perhaps that a different sort of ferry was meant by Danny and Tommy. Given the fact that when Shelly Quinn on August 10 said Salome she really meant Linda's daughter, I'd say that's possible.

Your thoughts?

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 15 2007, 07:05 PM)
>
> The burden of proof is upon you, since you claim you can prove what you are saying. I think the expression is, "put up or shut up". Which is it eyewitness?
>
> Sister

[b][color=#993399]Sister you were very quick to respond. I am not very good on the automation but can fill your request. I Know my friend who sent this email. She is very spiritual. A kind person.
This is the email that she sent me. Now do you find anything in this email that points the finger of petophilia or child molestation as the source of Tommy's stress ? I sure don't. Looks to me like someone is reading something that is not there![color=#993399][b]
Eye Witness

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: RE: [SPAM] Looks like a good address
From:

Date: Sat, December 09, 2006 8:04 pm
To: linda@lindashelton.org

I do know that Tommy is in very, very, bad health. His blood pressure is way out of control way past stroke stage and its not coming down. Whomever is causing him grief will have his blood on their hands if he passes. I suppose ----- is really having a ruff time to, no one wants to lose their loved one. Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 15 2007, 08:34 PM

VERY interesting.....

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 09:27 PM) ☐
>
> [b][color=#993399]Sister you were very quick to respond. I am not very good on the automation but can fill your request. I Know my friend who sent this email. She is very spiritual. A kind person.
> This is the email that she sent me. Now do you find anything in this email that points the finger of petophilia or child molestation as the source of Tommy's stress ? I sure don't. Looks to me like someone is reading something that is not there![color=#993399][b]
> Eye Witness
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: RE: [SPAM] Looks like a good address
> From:
> Date: Sat, December 09, 2006 8:04 pm
> To: linda@lindashelton.org
>
> I do know that Tommy is in very, very, bad health. His blood pressure is way out of control way past stroke stage and its not coming down. Whomever is causing him grief will have his blood on their hands if he passes. I suppose ----- is really having a ruff time to, no one wants to lose their loved one. Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 08:39 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 07:18 PM) ☐
>
> Is it not true that Teresa attributed Tommy's health problems to "gossip" on Dec. 9?
>
> And given the fact that these new and old allegations were made public just four days previously, would that not be attributing his health problems to the allegations, which on this very board have been called gossip by Danny's supporters?
>
> And would her statement also qualify as being contradictory to the claim that Tommy's health problems were due to a "tremendous schedule," "weekend travelling," "driving" from Kentucky, and the worst thing of all, that "ferry"?
>
> I've been told by someone who has ridden that ferry that it is a very relaxing ride. They thought perhaps > that a different sort of ferry was meant by Danny and Tommy. Given the fact that when Shelly Quinn on August 10 said Salome she really meant Linda's daughter, I'd say that's possible.

>
> Your thoughts?

ickle I guess the statement I just sent to Sister you need to read it. In context not trying to prove anything. am sure Linda knows there was no finger pointing toward Tommy. Why did you add that part. Honestly I on't think a family member would point such a finger! DO YOU?

Posted by: princessdi Jan 15 2007, 08:53 PM

I don't think that there was any question of Tommy being in poor helath. I think it was mentioned that he attended some place down south for his conditions at one point. However, there is always a cause. Stress being a huge factor in any illness especially BP and heart diseases. Plus, it is just too darn convenient. With all these allegations flying around, Tommy is a liability at this point. they should have just sidelined him until it was all settled, if it was false, then he can come back, If true, well they will have to cross that bridge when they came to it.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 06:27 PM)
>
> [b][color=#993399]Sister you were very quick to respond. I am not very good on the automation but can fill your request. I Know my friend who sent this email. She is very spiritual. A kind person.
> This is the email that she sent me. Now do you find anything in this email that points the finger of petophilia or child molestation as the source of Tommy's stress ? I sure don't. Looks to me like someone is reading something that is not there![color=#993399][b]
> Eye Witness
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: RE: [SPAM] Looks like a good address
> From:
> Date: Sat, December 09, 2006 8:04 pm
> To: linda@lindashelton.org
>
> I do know that Tommy is in very, very, bad health. His blood pressure is way out of control way past stroke stage and its not coming down. Whomever is causing him grief will have his blood on their hands if he passes. I suppose ----- is really having a ruff time to, no one wants to lose their loved one. Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 15 2007, 08:55 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 08:39 PM)
>
> Pickle I guess the statement I just sent to Sister you need to read it. In context not trying to prove anything. I am sure Linda knows there was no finger pointing toward Tommy. Why did you add that part. Honestly I don't think a family member would point such a finger! DO YOU?

Eye Witness,

Assume for the sake of discussion that at least some of the allegations against the Shelton clan are true. Then we have the possibility that anything said by any of them could be a half-truth or a bald-faced lie. I'm not saying that what you quoted is. I'm just saying that if we are going to objectively look at this, we have to leave that possibility open.

I think you should have included the following sentence also found in the same paragraph that you quoted from that Shelton family member: "Then, I don't see why people want to murder others with their tongues." And here is a sentence you did quote: "Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be."

If nothing else, it does sound as if this Shelton family member is saying that some of the negative comments made about Linda are nothing more than gossip.

Now Eye Witness, what "gossip" and murdering with the tongue was this Shelton family member referring to in regard to Tommy, if she was not referring to the new and old allegations against Tommy? That is the critical question. And if you can't come up with any other possibility, then what Gailon has on his website is 100% accurate.

Posted by: inga Jan 15 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 09:27 PM)
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: RE: [SPAM] Looks like a good address
> From:
> Date: Sat, December 09, 2006 8:04 pm
> To: linda@lindashelton.org
>
> I do know that Tommy is in very, very, bad health. His blood pressure is way out of control way past stroke stage and its not coming down. Whomever is causing him grief will have his blood on their hands if he passes. I suppose ----- is really having a ruff time to, no one wants to lose their loved one. Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be.

I've read this before somewhere. And it still says the same thing as I remember it saying...
Tommy is in very bad health, including high blood pressure. And the statement implies that "gossip" is contributing to the current stress or poor health.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 09:29 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 15 2007, 09:09 PM)
>
> I've read this before somewhere. And it still says the same thing as I remember it saying...
> Tommy is in very bad health, including high blood pressure. And the statement implies that "gossip" is contributing to the current stress or poor health.

Inga my dear friend we do know that stress is bad and causes health problems. However the quote above does not even hint toward any of the allegations named by Pickle and Gailon Joy. What it does say is that gossip can kill and I am sure Linda can verify that herself. Probably Linda has aged and found heartaches and pains from all this gossip about her, whether true or false. While trying to prove her innocents. Gossip does work on one! Can you imagine if she had the heart problems, high blood pressure, cholestrol, two stints in the main arteries and a seddantary kind of job? All of these conditions spell an early death.

Eye Witness

Posted by: Pickle Jan 15 2007, 09:47 PM

Eye Witness,

You're not making sense.

First of all, Tommy's accusers claim that he puts on an act whenever these allegations surface, and so, if you are going to be objective, you have to keep the possibility open that Tommy isn't having much in the way of health problems at all.

Now if you can produce documentation that he has indeed had stints and such, that would be most helpful. But we certainly can't just take Danny or Tommy's word for it since we have proven where they have been less than truthful.

Secondly, it is quite clear what "gossip" Teresa was referring to on December 9, since the new allegations went public on December 5, and since you haven't suggested anything other than the child molestation allegations, you yourself must certainly know that that was what she was referring to.

And yet you are so bold as to say that that quote does not hint at all at those allegations. Thus, you aren't making any sense whatsoever.

If that wasn't what Teresa was referring to, she shouldn't have written something so vague, because Johann called me and told me that that was how Linda took what Teresa had written.

Now if Teresa meant something else, then by all means find out what she meant and post it here so Gailon can make sure he has his facts straight.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 08:55 PM)
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> Assume for the sake of discussion that at least some of the allegations against the Shelton clan are true. Then we have the possibility that anything said by any of them could be a half-truth or a bald-faced lie. I'm not saying that what you quoted is. I'm just saying that if we are going to objectively look at this, we have to leave that possibility open.
>
> I think you should have included the following sentence also found in the same paragraph that you quoted from that Shelton family member: "Then, I don't see why people want to murder others with their tongues." And here is a sentence you did quote: "Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that can be."
>
> If nothing else, it does sound as if this Shelton family member is saying that some of the negative comments made about Linda are nothing more than gossip. Of course everything that has been said is not true. Haven't you played the gossip game when you were a child? Did the end always sound like the beginning? I don't think so.
>
> Now Eye Witness, what "gossip" and murdering with the tongue was this Shelton family member referring to in regard to Tommy, if she was not referring to the new and old allegations against Tommy? That is the critical question. And if you can't come up with any other possibility, then what ickle I have bolded at the top what I am refering to. I guess that you really have read alot into this email vhen you have the whole email, as obviously I do also. Yet does this email not also talk about the stress that he and Linda have in their personal lives, yet you have assumed she is making application toward Tommy's llegations. You have put words into this statement that were not there. I have read them on this chat site nd in Gailon Joys web page. She did not say those things! One minute you quote almost accuratly then nother time or place you are inaccurate. The quote is the quote so let the quote be quoted.

> Gailon has on his website is 100% accurate.

bout the whole email do you also have the part where it talks about Linda not visiting the chatsites? That it s also out of her control? Her only prayers is the Lord's will be done? Are you the LORD? I question this ecause what was written to her personally was posted here, on this site, so either she does come here or ou are her mouth piece! Then if you are her mouth piece how can you present an unbias view for all these ear people on this chat site?

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 15 2007, 10:09 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> Pickle I have bolded at the top what I am refering to. I guess that you really have read alot into this email when you have the whole email, as obviously I do also. Yet does this email not also talk about the stress that she and Linda have in their personal lives, yet you have assumed she is making application toward Tommy's allegations. You have put words into this statement that were not there. I have read them on this chat site and in Gailon Joys web page. She did not say those things! One minute you quote almost accuratly then another time or place you are inaccurate. The quote is the quote so let the quote be quoted.
>
> About the whole email do you also have the part where it talks about Linda not visiting the chatsites? That it is also out of her control? Her only prayers is the Lord's will be done? Are you the LORD? I question this because what was written to her personally was posted here, on this site, so either she does come here or you are her mouth piece! Then if you are her mouth piece how can you present an unbias view for all these dear people on this chat site?

...there's something very familiar about this all....anyone else sense it?

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 10:22 PM

[quote name='Pickle' date='Jan 15 2007, 08:55 PM' post='170209']
Eye Witness,

Assume for the sake of discussion that at least some of the allegations against the Shelton clan are true. Then we have the possibility that anything said by any of them could be a half-truth or a bald-faced lie. I'm not saying that what you quoted is. I'm just saying that if we are going to objectively look at this, we have to leave that possibility open.

State v. Joy, 149 Vt. 607, 549 A.2d 1033 (Vt., 1988) from Fastcase

Well this tells me that all these such confidential informants can't truly be trusted.
For instance you use Gailon Joy as one for your sources for truth. Now it has been posted on BSDA that he had been acquited of embezzelment. Please refer to the link above that I found on the world wide web. There is a guilty verdict here, so does this mean everything he says is a lie? After all you said lets leave the door open!

Eye Witness
P.S. I try my best to have proof before proceeding forward.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 15 2007, 10:29 PM

Eye Witness,

Tell us clearly what the gossip was that Teresa referred to that was affecting Tommy's blood pressure. After you do that, maybe we can move on to another topic, but not till then.

Eye Witness,

Sure, since Gailon was convicted for stealing his own money, if we oversimplify the picture a bit, then we have to keep open the possibility that he may steal his own money at other times too.

But for your information, in these various issues, I have not made Gailon my source of truth.

For example, when Tommy Shelton writes, "As you well know, I had a big problem and should have gotten help years ago or got out of the ministry. ... I have been honest with her that some inappropriate things happened ...," I take his word for it. And so should you.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 10:23 PM)
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> Tell us clearly what the gossip was that Teresa referred to that was affecting Tommy's blood pressure. After you do that, maybe we can move on to another topic, but not till then.

Brother Pickle I would have to say that I would think that Teresa could have been talking about all the gossip about the family, and then well lets face it Pickle you have literally made some huge accusations. Lets just say for argument sake that Tommy is 100% innocent! Now lets look at the damage that has been done to his life, his family, his wife, his children, grandchildren, and the list can go on and on. The commandments say THOU SHALT NOT KILL! Do you find that only murder can be committed with an object. Yet the tongue is refered to in the bible as lethal. So just consider Pickle the man's life being torn apart. Now lets look at the other side. If he is 100% guilty we are not to take the Law of the land into our own hands. God, my friend knows every detail of your heart, my heart, and Tommys heart and our lives and the hairs on our head. Even if you or anyone else thinks poorly of them.
As far as proving the stints and health problem exist well maybe I can get the name of the hospital where the work was done. Of course we may all get to see the autopsy report instead. Blessing in your house hold.
Eye Wintess

Posted by: princessdi Jan 15 2007, 10:54 PM

I already said they need to send in the next team, this on is failing miserably. Now,w e got one who is providing emails that are very clear, and then they are saying that is not what they are saying. Folsk is getting awful desperate.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 15 2007, 08:09 PM)
>
> ....there's something very familiar about this all....anyone else sense it?

Posted by: eye witness Jan 15 2007, 10:57 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 10:29 PM)
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> Tell us clearly what the gossip was that Teresa referred to that was affecting Tommy's blood pressure. After you do that, maybe we can move on to another topic, but not till then.
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> Sure, since Gailon was convicted for stealing his own money, if we oversimplify the picture a bit, then we have to keep open the possibility that he may steal his own money at other times too.
>
> I am sorry the document that I have here says that he took the money from Stacey Fuel and Lumber Company, he deposited the money into his own personal account. I think maybe you need to do some follow up on this. No one is convicted of stealing from themselves. Please. Gailon says that he was not convicted at all but . . .that's not what the court says. I do trust the system! I wish you would check it out and see if you have been snowed. You know I have had some other hits that seem to take my thoughts to even, well maybe more charges.
>
> But for your information, in these various issues, I have not made Gailon my source of truth. That's Wise my Friend!
>
> For example, when Tommy Shelton writes, "As you well know, I had a big problem and should have gotten help years ago or got out of the ministry. ... I have been honest with her that some inappropriate things happened ...," I take his word for it. And so should you.

I will believe that Tommy is guilty if Tommy is guilty. Believe me it won't be you or anyone on here that will convience me of that. I will not call condemnation on someone. I hope that you did not edit the above statement to fit your agenda. Condemnation? This comes when solid concrete proof is given on judgment day! Court documents are pretty concrete. I really don't know who is worthy of working in any of God's ministries. We, you and I are far from worthy. We were born with the flesh and we will die in the flesh.
Eye Witness

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 15 2007, 11:26 PM

eye witness,

There was a nice young man on the 3abn Today show January 11th named Nyse Collins who has a ministry called Nyse Lifestyle. He described his lifestyle counseling ministry and it might be prudent for you, Danny, Teresa, and the Tommy Shelton family to review what he said are the three main reasons for illness. I can't remember the exact wording he used but the three are:

1. Some illnesses happen, like in Job's case, to bring glory to God.
2. Some illnesses come due to poor health habits.
3. Some illnesses are caused by unrepented, cherished sin.

Nyse Collins gave numerous instances about #3. They were very compelling.

Posted by: Observer Jan 16 2007, 05:09 AM

Re: "Now it has been posted on BSDA that he [Mr. Joy] had been acquited of embezzelment."

I believe that you meant that Mr. Joy had been convicted of embezzelment.

Yes, he has. The story has been told. You can draw your own conclusions. Let me ask you: What conclusions do you draw from the fact that Mr. Joy filed a lawsuit against the agency that accused him, and won a $40,000.00 judgement against that agency, which was paid to him?

The law is strange, is it not?

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 16 2007, 05:11 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 16 2007, 01:29 PM)
>
> Inga my dear friend we do know that stress is bad and causes health problems. However the quote above does not even hint toward any of the allegations named by Pickle and Gailon Joy. What it does say is that gossip can kill and I am sure Linda can verify that herself. Probably Linda has aged and found heartaches and pains from all this gossip about her, whether true or false. While trying to prove her innocents. Gossip does work on one! Can you imagine if she had the heart problems, high blood pressure, cholestrol, two stints in the main arteries and a seddantary kind of job? All of these conditions spell an early death.
> Eye Witness

There were many references to stress made by Danny, as he praised Tommy for all his hard work in the 11 - NO 12 years he had been at 3ABN, during that pathetic New Year's Eve interview.

There were also references made to all the travelling he had to do. A jolly long way to travel all the time! Why not move closer to his employment? No sympathy from me on that score. I used to travel 1 1/2 hours into the city to work, years ago. That just goes with the territory.

And there were several references to coming back on a 'voluntary basis', which left me with the distinct impression that this was a 'fake farewell' , along with 'false testimonies by his associates, and that there were other matters waiting in the wings. STRESS is always a convenient excuse to use, if one wants to run from accountability.

blc

Posted by: Observer Jan 16 2007, 05:18 AM

Re: "I am sorry the document that I have here says that he took the money from Stacey Fuel and Lumber Company, he deposited the money into his own personal account. I think maybe you need to do some follow up on this. No one is convicted of stealing from themselves. Please. Gailon says that he was not convicted at all but . . .that's not what the court says. I do trust the system! I wish you would check it out and see if you have been snowed. You know I have had some other hits that seem to take my thoughts to even, well maybe more charges."

Let us establish the facts as I understand and remember them:

1) Yes Mr. Joy took money and deposited it into his personal account. [NOTE: I will take your word that it was the lumber company that you mentioned.]

2) Yes, Mr. Joy was convicted of embezzlement.

3) Mr. Joy had clearly stated that he was so convicted. I do not know where you got your information that he denies it.

4) Under the law in the State where the conviction took place, one may be convicted of embezzleing money that one is entitled to, if one has not yet been given that money. That was the case. Mr. Joy should have passed that money on to the other, and then waited for them to send it back to him, as they owed him the money that he took.

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 07:10 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 15 2007, 11:54 PM)
>
> I already said they need to send in the next team, this on is failing miserably. Now,w e got one who is providing emails that are very clear, and then they are saying that is not what they are saying. Folsk is getting awful desperate.

I happen to agree with you entirely, Princessdi. I see the same desperate attempts to side track the issues as has been done before, and failed. The more truth that is revealed, the greater the desperation becomes. If eyewitness is so close to the situation, perhaps he should ask Rick Shelton his opinion of the allegations made against his father and publish that email. It might make a very interesting read.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 08:05 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 06:10 AM)
>
> I happen to agree with you entirely, Princessdi. I see the same desperate attempts to side track the issues as has been done before, and failed. The more truth that is revealed, the greater the desperation becomes. If eyewitness is so close to the situation, perhaps he should ask Rick Shelton his opinion of the allegations made against his father and publish that email. It might make a very interesting read.

Sister, eye witness is a "she".

I think it would be quite prudent for her to speak to Rick Shelton as you suggest. If he is at liberty to tell her the truth perhaps she will have the ears to hear the truth. Unfortunately, there is this thing called "denial" that can be at play in some dysfunctional systems so that even direct, first person testimony can't pierce through. I know this from personal experience.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 07:10 AM) ☐
>
> I happen to agree with you entirely, Princessdi. I see the same desperate attempts to side track the issues as has been done before, and failed. The more truth that is revealed, the greater the desperation becomes. If eyewitness is so close to the situation, perhaps he should ask Rick Shelton his opinion of the allegations made against his father and publish that email. It might make a very interesting read.

Oh my what on earth can you possible be saying. My goodness, that Rick would write such a thing about his father??? I can't possible believe this! Where did you hear such, such a malicious tale. Sister have you considered the verses in Psalm 64:7&8 "But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded. So they shall make thier own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away." God does not change, he does not lie. So repeating such evil will find you in a serious way.
Teresa Reiman

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 10:08 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 08:27 PM) ☐
>
> [b]Sister you were very quick to respond. I am not very good on the automation but can fill your request.
> I Know my friend who sent this email. She is very spiritual. A kind person.
> This is the email that she sent me. Now do you find anything in this email that points the finger of petophilia or child molestation as the source of Tommy's stress ? I sure don't. Looks to me like someone is reading something that is not there![color=#993399][b]
> Eye Witness
>
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: RE: [SPAM] Looks like a good address
> From:
> Date: Sat, December 09, 2006 8:04 pm
> To: linda@lindashelton.org
>
> I do know that Tommy is in very, very, bad health. His blood pressure is > way out of control way past stroke stage and its not coming down.
> Whomever is causing him grief will have his blood on their hands if he > passes. I suppose ----- is really having a ruff time to, no one wants to > lose their loved one. Gossip, we both know how the pressure from that > can be.

> QUOTE
>
> On December 9, a close family member to Tommy wrote and essentially attributed his sudden health problems to these old and new allegations [color=#003300]Well the two statements are different that is for sure. We all know that Tommy has had health problems. We also know that it hereditary, because his father died at 51 after his 3rd heart attack. The whole immediate family fight against this disease. Tommy Sr. was a very big worrier (stress). This was not from allegations. This was from LIFE.

Teresa Reiman

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 09:08 AM) ☐
>
> Well the two statements are different that is for sure. We all know that Tommy has had health problems. We also know that it hereditary, because his father died at 51 after his 3rd heart attack. The whole immediate family fight against this disease. Tommy Sr. was a very big worrier (stress). This was not from allegations. This was from LIFE.
> Teresa Reiman

If Tommy's health problems are hereditary and the stress is from being a big worrier and not from allegations as you state, why are there those writing emails saying that if he passes the blood will be on the gossipers? I guess I may be getting confused but things are just not adding up in this area.

Posted by: Johann Jan 16 2007, 10:46 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 05:53 PM) ☐
>
> Oh my what on earth can you possible be saying. My goodness, that Rick would write such a thing about his father??? I can't possible believe this! Where did you hear such, such a malicious tale. Sister have you considered the verses in Psalm 64:7&8 "But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded. So they shall make thier own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away." God does not change, he does not lie. So repeating such evil will find you in a serious way.
> Teresa Reiman

Welcome, Terresa. It is a little hard for me to understand what you are hinting at. Could you explain it somewhat clearer? What evil is being repeated?

Posted by: watchbird Jan 16 2007, 10:48 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:53 AM) ☐
>
> Oh my what on earth can you possible be saying. My goodness, that Rick would write such a thing about his father??? I can't possible believe this! Where did you hear such, such a malicious tale. Sister have you considered the verses in Psalm 64:7&8 "But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded. So they shall make thier own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away." God does not change, he does not lie. So repeating such evil will find you in a serious way.
> Teresa Reiman

Your chosen BSDA name is intriguing. While it is beyond the bounds of propriety on BSDA to ask for the identity of a poster who is using a pseudonym.... it does seem as though, since the name you are using APPEARS to be a real name, and since the name "Teresa" has recently been mentioned here as the sender of a certain letter.... perhaps you would be willing to confirm or deny that you are that same "Teresa". And if you are the same, then perhaps you would be willing to clarify the questions that have been raised about what you meant in that letter.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 16 2007, 10:59 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 16 2007, 11:48 AM)
>
> Your chosen BSDA name is intriguing. While it is beyond the bounds of propriety on BSDA to ask for the identity of a poster who is using a pseudonym.... it does seem as though, since the name you are using APPEARS to be a real name, and since the name "Teresa" has recently been mentioned here as the sender of a certain letter.... perhaps you would be willing to confirm or deny that you are that same "Teresa". And if you are the same, then perhaps you would be willing to clarify the questions that have been raised about what you meant in that letter.

Is Teresa Reiman, in fact, Mrs. Tommy Shelton? Hiding behind a maiden name, peut-etre, in an attempt to look somewhat objective?

Possibly... and the question is rhetorical; I dont expect an answer... truthful or otherwise.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:53 AM)
>
> Oh my what on earth can you possible be saying. My goodness, that Rick would write such a thing about his father??? I can't possible believe this! Where did you hear such, such a malicious tale. Sister have you considered the verses in Psalm 64:7&8 "But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded. So they shall make thier own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away." God does not change, he does not lie. So repeating such evil will find you in a serious way.
> Teresa Reiman

I can only rely by asking the same questions as Johann:

"It is a little hard for me to understand what you are hinting at. Could you explain it somewhat clearer? What evil is being repeated?"

Sister

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 11:37 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 16 2007, 10:59 AM)
>
> Is Teresa Reiman, in fact, Mrs. Tommy Shelton? Hiding behind a maiden name, peut-etre, in an attempt to look somewhat objective?
>
> Possibly... and the question is rhetorical; I dont expect an answer... truthful or otherwise.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

As I have scrolled these many sites. I find, if you wanted an answer, you could get banned pretty quick. So we best just leave that alone. What do you think?
There is a letter with the name Teresa mentioned on it. I see that Eye Witness knows her. Sounds like pretty well, she produced the document! Looks to me like someone, Gailon Joy added some of his own thoughts. I understand that Pickle has done the same thing as well and on many other documents as well.
Its incredible to see all of these individuals who have a point they must prove talk but don't listen. Post but don't read. They also want to control. Eye Witness addressed some other issues and Pickle just didn't respond. I wonder why? Is there some concern now that Eye Witness my have a whole lot more? Could it be Eye Witness has more than a title to a car? And if Eye Witness does then why wouldn't Pickle want to hear it? People say they want truth but do they?
Mr. J the object to look at is not the identy of who is who but, is this truth and as I have noticed can this be verified!
Teresa Reiman

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 11:41 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 15 2007, 10:40 PM)
>
> ... Pickle you have literally made some huge accusations.

Pardon me?

First of all, I'm not the one making the accusations. Roger Clem, Brad Dunning, and too many other alleged vicitms are the ones who've made the accusations, not me.

Secondly, Tommy admitted doing things, as I already pointed out. Thus, he admits that at least some of these accusations are true. Want to see where? Try http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-confession.htm.

Thirdly, even if Tommy was lying and the accusations really are untrue after all, that doesn't get Danny off the hook from his reprehensible, ungodly, abominable deceit about and covering up of these allegations, and his threats against those who have concerns about these things.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 11:42 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 09:37 AM)
>
> As I have scrolled these many sites. I find, if you wanted an answer, you could get banned pretty quick. So we best just leave that alone. What do you think?
>
> Teresa Reiman

Dear "Teresa"

You have clearly misunderstood what happens on "these many sites". Here at BSDA, you don't get banned when you tell the truth. You don't even get banned when you tell lies. You will get banned if you break the rules as Calvin has stated. Maybe you should read those? They don't mention telling the idea of honesty - although some are not capable of honesty - as something to ban you. So maybe you can think of another excuse? And, asking for answers is one of the main reasons this site exists...again, can't get banned for wanting answers. You are clearly confused, or something, IMO.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 16 2007, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:37 PM) ☐
>
> As I have scrolled these many sites. I find, if you wanted an answer, you could get banned pretty quick. So we best just leave that alone. What do you think?
> There is a letter with the name Teresa mentioned on it. I see that Eye Witness knows her. Sounds like pretty well, she produced the document! Looks to me like someone, Gailon Joy added some of his own thoughts. I understand that Pickle has done the same thing as well and on many other documents as well. Its incredible to see all of these individuals who have a point they must prove talk but don't listen. Post but don't read. They also want to control. Eye Witness addressed some other issues and Pickle just didn't respond. I wonder why? Is there some concern now that Eye Witness my have a whole lot more? Could it be Eye Witness has more than a title to a car? And if Eye Witness does then why wouldn't Pickle want to hear it? People say they want truth but do they?
> Mr. J the object to look at is not the identy of who is who but, is this truth and as I have noticed can this be verified!
> Teresa Reiman

Whatever, lady... you and those of your ilk keep running with the same tactic, trying to defame the messenger in the hope that folk will stop listening to what they are saying...

Prove them wrong... if you can... or admit that you cant.

If you could, I believe it would have been done a long time ago... since it was requested a long time ago and nothing has been produced aside from the ad hominem games and the " oh we have proof but you'll just have to trust us" foolishness.

Cut to the chase.

Put up or shut up.

Your move.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 11:53 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 16 2007, 10:46 AM) ☐
>
> Welcome, Terresa. It is a little hard for me to understand what you are hinting at. Could you explain it somewhat clearer? What evil is being repeated?

There is so much on here that is fabricated. Just read all the stuff. The Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about slander, gossip and talebearing.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 11:56 AM

Tommy's wife's name is Carol. Ronnie's wife's name is Teresa. I have no idea what her maiden name is.

Teresa, if Walt Thompson is correct that Danny told him that the allegations are 30 years old, what sort of disciplinary action do you feel should be taken against Danny, since the allegations are clearly not just that old?

I just want to make sure we're on the same page as far as the seriousness of everything goes. Then we can proceed to evaluate the credibility of the various witnesses.

And those witnesses include one that claims to have been in the house with Tommy laying on the floor and with Danny standing there about 21 years ago when an alleged victim and his parents were bringing a gift car back to Tommy. This witness says Tommy was beside himself and saying, "I can't believe he's doing this to me. Call Alison. He's the only one who can fix this." So we have an account that puts Danny in the know 21 years ago, and that's a lot sooner than 30 years ago.

And then there's the victims who say that Tommy has never apologized, contrary to what Walt says that Danny told him.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 11:53 AM)
>
> There is so much on here that is fabricated. Just read all the stuff. The Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about slander, gossip and talebearing.

Which has? I for one would much appreciate your sharing what you know for sure and can prove for sure has been fabricated about Tommy.

And if you are that much in the know, I would hazard a guess that you must indeed be Teresa Shelton.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 16 2007, 11:47 AM)
>
> Whatever, lady... you and those of your ilk keep running with the same tactic, trying to defame the messenger in the hope that folk will stop listening to what they are saying...
>
> Prove them wrong... if you can... or admit that you cant.
>
> If you could, I believe it would have been done a long time ago... since it was requested a long time ago and nothing has been produced aside from the ad hominem games and the " oh we have proof but you'll just have to trust us" foolishness.
>
> Cut to the chase.
>
> Put up or shut up.
>
> Your move.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J you are a very direct talker. Your words lack emotion but I will assume you are a kind person. I believe that the True Messenger has already defamed your messenger. Please take sometime today for a daily devotional and read what the True Messenger has to say about your messenger.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 12:10 PM

This is just a point of reference. I just want to ask exactly how many Sheltons there are. i.e. brother, sisters, and are we talking cousins, etc?

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 05:10 AM)
>
> I happen to agree with you entirely, Princessdi. I see the same desperate attempts to side track the issues as has been done before, and failed. The more truth that is revealed, the greater the desperation becomes. If eyewitness is so close to the situation, perhaps he should ask Rick Shelton his opinion of the allegations made against his father and publish that email. It might make a very interesting read.

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 16 2007, 12:16 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 01:05 PM)
>
> Mr. J you are a very direct talker. Your words lack emotion but I will assume you are a kind person. I believe that the True Messenger has already defamed your messenger. Please take sometime today for a daily devotional and read what the True Messenger has to say about your messenger.

whah! Green eggs and wham? sn

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 16 2007, 12:20 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 01:05 PM)
>
> Mr. J you are a very direct talker. Your words lack emotion but I will assume you are a kind person. I believe that the True Messenger has already defamed your messenger. Please take sometime today for a daily devotional and read what the True Messenger has to say about your messenger.

I don't have a messenger... and what is demanded of you is no different than was was required of the other side. If you had actually bothered to read what is here, you'd know that.

Still waiting for you to give specific facts that refute specific things stated.

If you are unwilling or unable to do that, just say so and the things you say will be given the proper value that they merit.

Still your move... and the clock is ticking.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 11:56 AM)
>
> Tommy's wife's name is Carol. Ronnie's wife's name is Teresa. I have no idea what her maiden name is.
>
> Teresa, if Walt Thompson is correct that Danny told him that the allegations are 30 years old, what sort of disciplinary action do you feel should be taken against Danny, since the allegations are clearly not just that old?
>
> I just want to make sure we're on the same page as far as the seriousness of everything goes. Then we can proceed to evaluate the credibility of the various witnesses.
>
> And those witnesses include one that claims to have been in the house with Tommy laying on the floor and with Danny standing there about 21 years ago when an alleged victim and his parents were bringing a gift car back to Tommy. This witness says Tommy was beside himself and saying, "I can't believe he's doing this to me. Call Alison. He's the only one who can fix this." So we have an account that puts Danny in the know 21 years ago, and that's a lot sooner than 30 years ago.
>
> And then there's the victims who say that Tommy has never apologized, contrary to what Walt says that Danny told him.
> Which has? I for one would much appreciate your sharing what you know for sure and can prove for sure has been fabricated about Tommy.
>
> And if you are that much in the know, I would hazard a guess that you must indeed be Teresa Shelton.

Pickle Well as we proceed here. I will not address the subjects of guilty or innocent. For one, it will make no difference what I think. Two, with what judgment one uses the same they will receive. Again idenity has nothing to do with truth! The big thing is that when a statement goes out it needs to be, only, Pickle what the statment is! Without your tanted insinuation placed upon it.
Your bidding I understand is truth. Your goal is justice. Tell me Pickle who do you have in mind that could take the Danny position and preform this to your standards? I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
Teresa Reiman

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 12:26 PM

Welcome to BSDA Teresa.

Well, I guess I asked for the next team, but I thought it would be better somehow. Teresa. talking in riddles will not help, only hard evidence to refute that which has already been presented. If you have it, post it. If you don't, lurking might be the best thing for you to do. We already know that you disagree witht he evidence so far. No one is going to change their minds just because you say so.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:05 AM)
>
> Mr. J you are a very direct talker. Your words lack emotion but I will assume you are a kind person. I believe that the True Messenger has already defamed your messenger. Please take sometime today for a daily devotional and read what the True Messenger has to say about your messenger.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 12:33 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:23 AM)
>
> I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
> Teresa Reiman

I'm clearly not Mr. Pickle, but may I ask you something? What gives you the absolute knowledge that God CALLED Danny Shelton? It's just a question. I think the answers that come to your mind might need to really be thought over, and please, use bible examples when you are thinking it over.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 12:58 PM

God doesn't need anybody to do anything. However, He uses whom ever He chooses. Now, God could have very well called Danny. Many people are yet and still being blessed by that ministry, but we can ask King Saul about having that favor taken away.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:23 AM)
>
> Pickle Well as we proceed here. I will not address the subjects of guilty or innocent. For one, it will make no difference what I think. Two, with what judgment one uses the same they will receive. Again idenity has nothing to do with truth! The big thing is that when a statement goes out it needs to be, only, Pickle what the statment is! Without your tanted insinuation placed upon it.
> Your bidding I understand is truth. Your goal is justice. Tell me Pickle who do you have in mind that could take the Danny position and preform this to your standards? I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
> Teresa Reiman

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 16 2007, 01:00 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 16 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> Welcome to BSDA Teresa.
>
> Well, I guess I asked for the next team, but I thought it would be better somehow. Teresa. talking in riddles will not help, only hard evidence to refute that which has already been presented. If you have it, post it. If you don't, lurking might be the best thing for you to do. We already know that you disagree witht he evidence so far. No one is going to change their minds just because you say so.

Lurking sounds like a plan, in light of the following:

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 01:23 PM)
>
> I will not address the subjects of guilty or innocent. For one, it will make no difference what I think.

> Teresa Reiman

;ounds to me like TR's work here is done.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 16 2007, 10:58 AM)
>
> God doesn't need anybody to do anything. However, He uses whom ever He chooses. Now, God could have very well called Danny. Many people are yet and still being blessed by that ministry, but we can ask King Saul about having that favor taken away.

;od uses not only whom ever He chooses, but whatever He chooses. He wastes nothing. There is nothing ;aying anyone is called, but God will use anything to reach people. That by NO MEANS protects or guarentees)S or anyone of anything. Many people have poored blood sweat and tears (and TONS OF MONEY) into that ninstry, FOR GOD. Hopefully not for Danny Shelton. Stop assuming that DS is hand in hand with God just)ecause of what you SEE on TV. There is much more to the "behind the scenes" of someone's real life then vhat is seen on the television. If we don't wake up and realize it's not a PERSON, it's a GOD that does ınything good, we shall surely follow a MAN instead of a God. And btw, you do reap what you sew, and that joes for anyone "doing" God's will - as they may say. What happens to a person in this life is largely a :onsequence of their "fruits" and that happens by way of the other people on this planet that we have to live vith. God uses them as well - for His purpose. We have laws of the land, and also morality. If you break hose, it's bound to come back to you, one way or another, and often in many ways. If you mistreat ;omeone, God can surely bring that to the table and make you face it. None of us are exempt from that. Do ʼou think this happens magically??? It happens through justice of the land, done through people, based on)rincipal and example, and that's found in the bible too.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 01:13 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> I'm clearly not Mr. Pickle, but may I ask you something? What gives you the absolute knowledge that God CALLED Danny Shelton? It's just a question. I think the answers that come to your mind might need to really be thought over, and please, use bible examples when you are thinking it over.

am very sorry for calling you Pickle my mistake. You ask was Danny called? What other human to that point :ould of done or should I say has been done only by HUMAN efforts? Danny was uneducated, poor man, really ıo connections he didn't know anyone but the Saviour. No one else to that day had ever attempted such a ask. The SDA Church itself has not been able to expand to the degree of 3ABN to this day. all the chuches TV)utreach to the entire world... together... doesn't amount to 3ABN's coverage. Does this sound like the work)f a human? Lets look at Moses. Speach problem, eduacated in a heathen land. David the lest likly canidate ınd look what God did with him. Abraham was old, Jacob was insecure, Leah was unattractive, Joseph was ıbused, Gideon was poor, Samson was codependent, Rahab was immoral, David had an affair and all kinds of amily problems, Elijah was suicidal, Jermiah was depressed, Jonah was reluctant, Naomi was a widow, John he Baptist was eccentric to say the least, Peter was impulsive and hot tempered, Martha worried alot, The ;amaritan women had several failed marriages, Zacchaeus was unpopular, Thomas had doubts, Paul had poor ıealth, and Timothy was timid. That will give you quite a varity misfits but God used each of them in His ;ervice. So I would say Danny Shelton is in good company and his humaness shows through just as like these ıbove. Did God call these men? Did God call Danny? Look at the fruits of the labor.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 01:17 PM

Ok?!! Since she ain't answering questions?!!

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Jan 16 2007, 11:00 AM)
>
> Lurking sounds like a plan, in light of the following:
>
> Sounds to me like TR's work here is done.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 01:26 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 11:13 AM)
>
> I am very sorry for calling you Pickle my mistake. You ask was Danny called? What other human to that point could of done or should I say has been done only by HUMAN efforts? Danny was uneducated, poor man, really no connections he didn't know anyone but the Saviour. No one else to that day had ever attempted such a task. The SDA Church itself has not been able to expand to the degree of 3ABN to this day. all the chuches TV outreach to the entire world... together... doesn't amount to 3ABN's coverage. Does this sound like the work of a human? Lets look at Moses. Speach problem, eduacated in a heathen land. David the lest likly canidate and look what God did with him. Abraham was old, Jacob was insecure, Leah was unattractive, Joseph was abused, Gideon was poor, Samson was codependent, Rahab was immoral, David had an affair and all kinds of family problems, Elijah was suicidal, Jermiah was depressed, Jonah was reluctant, Naomi was a widow, John the Baptist was eccentric to say the least, Peter was impulsive and hot tempered, Martha worried alot, The samaritan women had several failed marriages, Zacchaeus was unpopular, Thomas had doubts, Paul had poor health, and Timothy was timid. That will give you quite a varity misfits but God used each of them in His service. So I would say Danny Shelton is in good company and his humaness shows through just as like these above. Did God call these men? Did God call Danny? Look at the fruits of the labor.

You did not make a mistake by calling me Mr. Pickle. I just jumped in to your comment towards him, so I stated I am not him, but addressing part of your comment.
As to what you said here, and I'm sure I won't be the only one addressing this, I will comment on your thinking, which I have colored in red.

Have you decided that God did it or Danny? I can't tell by your words...it seems somewhat worshipful of a man to me...
God can do anything in spite of a person. But, you are giving credit to Danny as if he got this done thru God. A man can be VERY determined to do anything he sets his mind to (and if you know DS, he is all about determination and not giving up when he wants something) and so based on his motives and minipulation tactics, he could very well get something accomplished like this. You're picture of how this happend has been given to you by DS as well. It is given to you, and others for the purpose of saying "God did this and used me" for credibility sake. You are looking to a man and assuming GOD did this. God may have made something good come from what DS set out to do for many reasons that could have been very selfishly motivated. I will not assume anything as you have - I certainly can not take DS word on how things came about as I know that he has exagerated and mislead in this area to give a picture he wanted out in order to gain support and to promote exactly what you have now projected. Again, do you really know his fruits? If you are to find out his fruits, as you willing to admit he is a mere man who is faulty and God used that building and those volunteers in spite of the man? This picture is much bigger then you would like to sum up in your mind. Why don't you let God show you exactly what He has done in spite of DS and his real motives. Don't be mesmerized by what you have been taught and lead to see. Open your eyes.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 01:26 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 01:09 PM)
>
> God uses not only whom ever He chooses, but whatever He chooses. He wastes nothing. There is nothing saying anyone is called, but God will use anything to reach people. That by NO MEANS protects or guarentees DS or anyone of anything. Many people have poored blood sweat and tears (and TONS OF MONEY) into that minstry, FOR GOD. Hopefully not for Danny Shelton. Stop assuming that DS is hand in hand with God just because of what you SEE on TV. There is much more to the "behind the scenes" of someone's real life then what is seen on the television. If we don't wake up and realize it's not a PERSON, it's a GOD that does anything good, we shall surely follow a MAN instead of a God. And btw, you do reap what you sew, and that goes for anyone "doing" God's will - as they may say. What happens to a person in this life is largely a consequence of their "fruits" and that happens by way of the other people on this planet that we have to live with. God uses them as well - for His purpose. We have laws of the land, and also morality. If you break those, it's bound to come back to you, one way or another, and often in many ways. If you mistreat someone, God can surely bring that to the table and make you face it. None of us are exempt from that. Do you think this happens magically??? It happens through justice of the land, done through people, based on principal and example, and that's found in the bible too.

Justice of the Land is located. . . Not here! This has no bearing on anything but reputation. God has used people all through the Bible and people have tried to use God also. The first will work, the second will only cause personal destruction on ones own condition. We say we trust the Lord but DO WE? Is this all to Big for God? The Ark was literally used in a Battle, they had God in the box and they took Him to battle with them. Guess what the Ark was captured. We can't put God in a Box. We can't use Him. He says, Trust Me.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 01:27 PM

Ok Sonshine, you do realize you and I are in agreement, right? Like I said, once called, you can always be "uncalled"(sorry work from the Princess dictionary), Ask King Saul.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 11:09 AM)
>
> God uses not only whom ever He chooses, but whatever He chooses. He wastes nothing. There is nothing saying anyone is called, but God will use anything to reach people. That by NO MEANS protects or guarentees DS or anyone of anything. Many people have poored blood sweat and tears (and TONS OF MONEY) into that minstry, FOR GOD. Hopefully not for Danny Shelton. Stop assuming that DS is hand in hand with God just because of what you SEE on TV. There is much more to the "behind the scenes" of someone's real life then what is seen on the television. If we don't wake up and realize it's not a PERSON, it's a GOD that does anything good, we shall surely follow a MAN instead of a God. And btw, you do reap what you sew, and that goes for anyone "doing" God's will - as they may say. What happens to a person in this life is largely a consequence of their "fruits" and that happens by way of the other people on this planet that we have to live with. God uses them as well - for His purpose. We have laws of the land, and also morality. If you break those, it's bound to come back to you, one way or another, and often in many ways. If you mistreat someone, God can surely bring that to the table and make you face it. None of us are exempt from that. Do you think this happens magically??? It happens through justice of the land, done through people, based on principal and example, and that's found in the bible too.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 01:31 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 11:26 AM)
>
> Justice of the Land is located. . . Not here! This has no bearing on anything but reputation. God has used people all through the Bible and people have tried to use God also. The first will work, the second will only cause personal destruction on ones own condition. We say we trust the Lord but DO WE? Is this all to Big for God? The Ark was literally used in a Battle, they had God in the box and they took Him to battle with them. Guess what the Ark was captured. We can't put God in a Box. We can't use Him. He says, Trust Me.

If you are being deceived, would you like to know it or not? Would you rather sit in your ideas of what feels warm and fuzzy, part of that is thinking you see God doing what you THINK God is doing, or would you like to see more of the picture? God wants us to SEE, not be deceived.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 16 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> I am very sorry for calling you Pickle my mistake. You ask was Danny called? What other human to that point could of done or should I say has been done only by HUMAN efforts? Danny was uneducated, poor man, really no connections he didn't know anyone but the Saviour. No one else to that day had ever attempted such a task. The SDA Church itself has not been able to expand to the degree of 3ABN to this day. all the chuches TV outreach to the entire world... together... doesn't amount to 3ABN's coverage. Does this sound like the work of a human?

You believe that Horatio Alger "pulled himself up by his own bootstraps" story if ya wanna... Joel Osteen has an even better story... should we assume he is anointed of God even more than Danny?

Come on Teresa, you can do better than this.

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 02:26 PM)
>
> Justice of the Land is located. . . Not here! This has no bearing on anything but reputation. God has used people all through the Bible and people have tried to use God also. The first will work, the second will only cause personal destruction on ones own condition. We say we trust the Lord but DO WE? Is this all to Big for God? The Ark was literally used in a Battle, they had God in the box and they took Him to battle with them. Guess what the Ark was captured. We can't put God in a Box. We can't use Him. He says, Trust Me.

Problem isn't trusting God... problem is you, and those who are allied with you, are also saying "trust me"...

...and you aint God.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 01:36 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 16 2007, 11:27 AM)
>
> Ok Sonshine, you do realize you and I are in agreement, right? Like I said, once called, you can always be "uncalled"(sorry work from the Princess dictionary), Ask King Saul.

Yes, di, I see we are in agreement . My feeling is also that while you can be uncalled, I really can't and won't say that someone has been called. And I have been around a lot of so called "called" people. To me that changes the direction (I'm sure there is a better word for this) in ones mind of what happens and can happen, the human phyche can be mislead if you are locked in to this "no matter what" thinking. I've seen it in my own family, and it terrifies me to see it - this hanging on to a man rather then a God. To me it holds you back from really seeing evil and sin in all its forms.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 16 2007, 01:44 PM

Well, now we do have to look at the fact that the ministry is still there and blessing people, bringing them to Christ. We can't discount the many people who still say it is a blessing to them daily. We also know that there are Godly people working there, some of our members here, the Eakins, etc. who are true Christian people ministering. So, Danny could have been called to start it, but like Saul his sinful ways are causing him to be "uncalled". He is suffering the consequences of his personal choices.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 11:36 AM)
>
> Yes, di, I see we are in agreement . My feeling is also that while you can be uncalled, I really can't and won't say that someone has been called. And I have been around a lot of so called "called" people. To me that changes the direction (I'm sure there is a better word for this) in ones mind of what happens and can happen, the human phyche can be mislead if you are locked in to this "no matter what" thinking. I've seen it in my own family, and it terrifies me to see it - this hanging on to a man rather then a God. To me it holds you back from really seeing evil and sin in all its forms.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 01:45 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> You did not make a mistake by calling me Mr. Pickle. I just jumped in to your comment towards him, so I stated I am not him, but addressing part of your comment.
> As to what you said here, and I'm sure I won't be the only one addressing this, I will comment on your thinking, which I have colored in red.
> Have you decided that God did it or Danny? I can't tell by your words...it seems somewhat worshipful of a man to me...
> God can do anything in spite of a person. But, you are giving credit to Danny as if he got this done thru God. A man can be VERY determined to do anything he sets his mind to (and if you know DS, he is all about determination and not giving up when he wants something) and so based on his motives and minipulation tactics, he could very well get something accomplished like this. You're picture of how this happend has been given to you by DS as well. It is given to you, and others for the purpose of saying

> "God did this and used me" for credibility sake. You are looking to a man and assuming GOD did this. God may have made something good come from what DS set out to do for many reasons that could have been very selfishly motivated. I will not assume anything as you have - I certainly can not take DS word on how things came about as I know that he has exagerated and mislead in this area to give a picture he wanted out in order to gain support and to promote exactly what you have now projected. Again, do you really know his fruits? If you are to find out his fruits, as you willing to admit he is a mere man who is faulty and God used that building and those volunteers in spite of the man? This picture is much bigger then you would like to sum up in your mind. Why don't you let God show you exactly what He has done in spite of DS and his real motives. Don't be mesmerized by what you have been taught and lead to see. Open your eyes.

read what you have written with an open mind. Really, and for 20 years that ministry has been going. Um, iave we fogotten that the majority of these 20 years, there was a lady named Linda who backed, supported, ind well according to you was part of some huge deception. See some how the picture has narrowed here. lave you always felt this way about 3ABN? Oh, I assume that there are those who look to humans in some dolistic way. That would be very scary place to be. Personally I can see a good work in the ministry and that vas with Linda and Danny, and how it is now. This ministry will go on to witness for our Lord. They didn't,)anny don't make the ministry

---

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 16 2007, 01:49 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 11:53 AM)
>
> There is so much on here that is fabricated. Just read all the stuff. The Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about slander, gossip and talebearing.

'ardon me, but that is one of the best NON-answers I have seen! Excellent ability to subvert the original, varm and sincere question posed to you by Johann. I am not in either "camp" here, just trying to learn from hose who have firsthand knowledge of what happened. It surely does sound to me like you have some elevant information, but prefer to dance around it rather than just putting it out there. In no way is this neant as an attack...just an observation...

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 01:56 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 11:45 AM)
>
> I read what you have written with an open mind. Really, and for 20 years that ministry has been going. Um, have we fogotten that the majority of these 20 years, there was a lady named Linda who backed, supported, and well according to you was part of some huge deception. See some how the picture has narrowed here. Have you always felt this way about 3ABN? Oh, I assume that there are those who look to humans in some idolistic way. That would be very scary place to be. Personally I can see a good work in the ministry and that was with Linda and Danny, and how it is now. This ministry will go on to witness for our Lord. They didn't, Danny don't make the ministry

I am specifically talking of a mans motives. Nothing more. Read what I said. There are people who have given their money and time in dedication to that ministry that has done good. NO one said it hasn't. Linda gave 200%. There are people there now that are doing the same. This has nothing to do with that. This has to do with a mans motives to get what he wants for any reason. I will never assume anything, that includes his motives. That is my point. Called or uncalled. It makes no differnce to me. That fact remains that this mans motives are extremely questionable. And yes, even Linda may also wonder now as well. People can be in the same house and same business and be on very different pages. Only God knows the heart of a person. We have the fruits to go by, and that's isn't numbers coming into the church - many people can accomplish numbers. God gets the numbers, not a man.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 16 2007, 11:44 AM) ☐
>
> Well, now we do have to look at the fact that the ministry is still there and blessing people, bringing them to Christ. We can't discount the many people who still say it is a blessing to them daily. We also know that there are Godly people working there, some of our members here, the Eakins, etc. who are true Christian people ministering. So, Danny could have been called to start it, but like Saul his sinful ways are causing him to be "uncalled". He is suffering the consequences of his personal choices.

Yes, Di, maybe he was, or maybe he wasn't, but God got the job done in spite of him. There are other people involved in this ministry (that includes Linda) that were in it for just the obvious reaching people for the Lord reasons (to be clear on what I am saying the reasons are). And thank God He has done what He has through it. At the same time, I have also seen a large group of people who have come to worship Danny, not God. Even Linda warned Danny this was not right.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 16 2007, 01:49 PM) ☐
>
> Pardon me, but that is one of the best NON-answers I have seen! Excellent ability to subvert the original, warm and sincere question posed to you by Johann. I am not in either "camp" here, just trying to learn from those who have firsthand knowledge of what happened. It surely does sound to me like you have some relevant information, but prefer to dance around it rather than just putting it out there. In no way is this meant as an attack...just an observation...

Snoopy Topics are the question. Which topic will be discussed to prove fabrication. Johann and Pickles control this. There is much fabrication, on what points I will comment, is my choice.
Eye Witness tried to open some opportunity on some facts and they choose to not talk. They only want to discuss a charge that no one can prove but the court of law. Could it be that people are being lead by a deception here? Could there be another motive to all this, this stuff? Who is winning? I guess really who are the players? The bigger question what is the prize in the end, if there ever is one? I not dancing just showing some respect.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:04 PM) ☐
>
> Snoopy Topics are the question. Which topic will be discussed to prove fabrication. Johann and Pickles control this. There is much fabrication, on what points I will comment, is my choice.
> Eye Witness tried to open some opportunity on some facts and they choose to not talk. They only want to discuss a charge that no one can prove but the court of law. Could it be that people are being lead by a deception here? Could there be another motive to all this, this stuff? Who is winning? I guess really who > are the players? The bigger question what is the prize in the end, if there ever is one? I not dancing just showing some respect.

Where is the fabrication? Tell me. I'm listening.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 02:13 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM) ☐
>
> Without your tanted insinuation placed upon it.

beg your pardon.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM) ☐
>
> I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?

Are you suggesting we should stand back and wait for God to send a lightning bolt? Do you honestly think hat's the kindest, mopst merciful, most godly approach?

And do you think we should just stand back and let Danny compromise the financial security of the denomination through his lies and cover up, if Walt Thompson's account of what Danny told hium be correct? think not.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 16 2007, 02:18 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 01:56 PM) ☐
>
> I am specifically talking of a mans motives. Nothing more. Read what I said. There are people who have given their money and time in dedication to that ministry that has done good. NO one said it hasn't. Linda gave 200%. There are people there now that are doing the same. This has nothing to do with that. This has to do with a mans motives to get what he wants for any reason. I will never assume anything, that includes his motives. That is my point. Called or uncalled. It makes no differnce to me. That fact remains that this mans motives are extremely questionable. And yes, even Linda may also wonder now as well. People can be in the same house and same business and be on very different pages. Only God knows the heart of a person. We have the fruits to go by, and that's isn't numbers coming into the church - many people can accomplish numbers. God gets the numbers, not a man.
> Yes, Di, maybe he was, or maybe he wasn't, but God got the job done in spite of him. There are other people involved in this ministry (that includes Linda) that were in it for just the obvious reaching people for the Lord reasons (to be clear on what I am saying the reasons are). And thank God He has done what He has through it. At the same time, I have also seen a large group of people who have come to worship Danny, not God. Even Linda warned Danny this was not right.

Yes this goes with the territory of being on TV. The falicy of people. Out of Danny and Linda's control of course. That is within the person who is doing the following. So Linda warned Danny, what suggestions would you make to Danny to stop these people who seek after an idol. Can man change man's heart? Not at all. This s the Holy Spirits job. I am sure Linda would tell you as well that she has such people still to this day. What can she do? Pray for them! Wasn't there even a time when Linda got her hair cut because a person wanted a keep sack? That would . .. .not set with me well either. But what can you do?

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> I beg your pardon.
> Are you suggesting we should stand back and wait for God to send a lightning bolt? Do you honestly think that's the kindest, mopst merciful, most godly approach?
>
> And do you think we should just stand back and let Danny compromise the financial security of the denomination through his lies and cover up, if Walt Thompson's account of what Danny told hium be correct? I think not.

Please clarify one time I read a big seperation from the denomination then I read they are linked. I can better answer when it is stated correctly.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 02:21 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:18 PM)
>
> Yes this goes with the territory of being on TV. The falicy of people. Out of Danny and Linda's control of course. That is within the person who is doing the following. So Linda warned Danny, what suggestions would you make to Danny to stop these people who seek after an idol. Can man change man's heart? Not at all. This is the Holy Spirits job. I am sure Linda would tell you as well that she has such people still to this day. What can she do? Pray for them! Wasn't there even a time when Linda got her hair cut because a person wanted a keep sack? That would . .. .not set with me well either. But what can you do?
> Please clarify one time I read a big seperation from the denomination then I read they are linked. I can better answer when it is stated correctly.

Again, I am not talking of the people watching the tv with regard to the "prophet" idea and worship of a man, although that has taken place as well - I am talking of the man, DS. Linda told him, he didn't mind, and he allowed the worship- and let me remind you , this came from WITH IN the compound, not the tv screen. Danny likes it. Plain and simple.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 02:24 PM

I think, Teresa, that somehow you are part of the cover up. Don't know how else to describe it.

There is sin in the camp, and until it is taken care of, God will not bless His people as He wants to do. Lying, attacking, accusing, distracting, threatening, intimidating, all to cover up allegations of a) child molestation and b) propositioning men, allegations that Tommy himself admits to, at least in part, and you choose to be part of that? Why? Why would you be involved in something so ungodly?

Whether the allegations prove true or false, this is absolutely the wrong way to deal with such allegations. If you think otherwise, go talk to a conference administrator somewhere. Go talk to your insurance agent. Go talk to your sheriff or police chief. Go talk to the local Catholic bishop.

And then come here and tell us what they had to say.

Posted by: watchbird Jan 16 2007, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 03:04 PM)
>
> The bigger question what is the prize in the end, if there ever is one? I not dancing just showing some respect.

The prize in the end is the glory of God... the releasing of prisoners of fear... and the exposure and dethronement of evil.

Yes, Teresa, whoever you are and for whatever reason, you ARE "dancing" rather than showing respect to those who are attempting to dialogue with you. And you are are not only showing disrespect to us, but you are showing disrespect for yourself.... for you are tripping over your own feet.

You would be well advised... if you have any shred of self-respect even... to either answer the questions directly or stop making more oblique accusations. If you have specific complaints... for example that you object to your letter having been made public... then have the guts to say exactly that. Own the letter and explain why you wrote it and why you aren't brave enough to own up to it now. If you don't... then give up on the distraction game. This group is not that easily distracted and you are liable to get trampled in the mud if you try to play it.

As it is, you are doing nothing but continually making yourself look more emptyheaded and crass.

It is not too late to redeem yourself... .this is a very forgiving and understanding group to anyone who is playing fair and honest with them.

Posted by: Johann Jan 16 2007, 02:59 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 07:53 PM)
>
> [/b]
>
> There is so much on here that is fabricated. Just read all the stuff. The Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about slander, gossip and talebearing.

I'd still like you to give a reply to my question. You have noticed that I am not the only one who would like you to answer.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 03:01 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 12:07 PM)
>
> Where is the fabrication? Tell me. I'm listening.

I too am still waiting for your answer, Teresa.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 04:45 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:53 AM)
>
> [/b]
>
> There is so much on here that is fabricated. Just read all the stuff. The Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about slander, gossip and talebearing.

And the Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about immoral behavior.
Have you read 1Corinthians 5? I suggest you do so. It is very clear on the bad influence those who claim to be Christians but instead have the fruits of fallen Lucifer. It is also clear on what to do with these dangerous people.

Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.

So you, eye witness, kaiser Schlobotnick, Bystander, wwjd and others who seem to interpret what we are doing here on the 3abn Forum as gossip and slander are in an interesting position. You are harshly judging those of us who are loyal to God and have a burden to expose some dangerous conditions in a ministry that was set up to spread the undiluted message, but all the while allowing behavior to flourish around you that is damaging to the reputation of that ministry, the Seventh-day Adventist church and the character of Christians in general.

Yes, we are all sinners saved by Grace. But when there are cherished sins that are unrepented of, damaged lives that have not received proper restitution and an intentional cover up of the behavior, how can that Grace truly be available?

I know for myself, when I admit to those I have harmed that I was wrong it is a liberating experience. It is good for the soul!

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 04:48 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 16 2007, 02:45 PM)
>
> And the Bible and Ellen White have plenty to say about immoral behavior.
> Have you read 1Corinthians 5? I suggest you do so. It is very clear on the bad influence those who claim to be Christians but instead have the fruits of fallen Lucifer. It is also clear on what to do with these dangerous people.
>
> Beware lest you deal harshly with those who you think have made mistakes, while others, more guilty and more deserving of reproof, who should be severely rebuked for their unChristlike conduct, are sustained and treated as friends."--RH Mar. 12, 1895.
>
> So you, eye witness, kaiser Schlobotnick, Bystander, wwjd and others who seem to interpret what we are doing here on the 3abn Forum as gossip and slander are in an interesting position. You are harshly judging those of us who are loyal to God and have a burden to expose some dangerous conditions in a ministry that was set up to spread the undiluted message, but all the while allowing behavior to flourish around you that is damaging to the reputation of that ministry, the Seventh-day Adventist church and the character of Christians in general.
>
> Yes, we are all sinners saved by Grace. But when there are cherished sins that are unrepented of, damaged lives that have not received proper restitution and an intentional cover up of the behavior, how > can that Grace truly be available?

>
> I know for myself, when I admit to those I have harmed that I was wrong it is a liberating experience. It is good for the soul!

hank you PB - I appreciated your comments here.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 05:46 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 02:18 PM)
>
> Please clarify one time I read a big seperation from the denomination then I read they are linked. I can better answer when it is stated correctly.

he fact that a) 3ABN general manager Mollie Steenson sits on the conference committee, b) the conference resident sits on the 3ABN board, c) a conference academy campus sits on the 3ABN campus, from what I nderstand, and d) the conference was apparently concerned in the early '90's about Tommy's problems, ould be used by a plaintiff in a lawsuit to go after the conference as well as 3ABN if recent incidents have ccurred or if new indidents occur in the future.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 16 2007, 06:09 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 05:46 PM)
>
> The fact that a) 3ABN general manager Mollie Steenson sits on the conference committee, b) the conference president sits on the 3ABN board, c) a conference academy campus sits on the 3ABN campus, from what I understand, and d) the conference was apparently concerned in the early '90's about Tommy's problems, could be used by a plaintiff in a lawsuit to go after the conference as well as 3ABN if recent incidents have occurred or if new indidents occur in the future.

ello Pickle. I been away for a while, but now I am back and reading to catch up. You made some interesting tatements above... Do you have documentation that Mollie sits on the Ill. conference board? She may, I eally don't know that's why I'm asking. Also, do you have documentation that 3ABn has a conference cademy campus there? I'm not aware of that either, again, that's why I'm asking for your proof.

oe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 06:29 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 07:09 PM)
>
> Hello Pickle. I been away for a while, but now I am back and reading to catch up. You made some interesting statements above... Do you have documentation that Mollie sits on the Ill. conference board? She may, I really don't know that's why I'm asking. Also, do you have documentation that 3ABn has a conference academy campus there? I'm not aware of that either, again, that's why I'm asking for your > proof.

>
> Joe

t isn't a secret...they talk about it on 3ABN quite often...

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 06:34 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 10:53 AM)
>
> Oh my what on earth can you possible be saying. My goodness, that Rick would write such a thing about his father??? I can't possible believe this! Where did you hear such, such a malicious tale. Sister have you considered the verses in Psalm 64:7&8 "But God shall shoot at them with an arrow; suddenly shall they be wounded. So they shall make thier own tongue to fall upon themselves: all that see them shall flee away." God does not change, he does not lie. So repeating such evil will find you in a serious way.
> Teresa Reiman

Teresa, again I am asking the same questions as Johann in egard to the statement you have made about me, that I have uoted above for the second time:

"It is a little hard for me to understand what you are hinting at. Could you explain it somewhat clearer? What evil is being repeated?"

As long as you keep sidestepping the issue, I will continue to ask he same question...

Sister

Posted by: Observer Jan 16 2007, 06:41 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 05:09 PM)
>
> Hello Pickle. I been away for a while, but now I am back and reading to catch up. You made some interesting statements above... Do you have documentation that Mollie sits on the Ill. conference board? She may, I really don't know that's why I'm asking. Also, do you have documentation that 3ABn has a conference academy campus there? I'm not aware of that either, again, that's why I'm asking for your proof.
>
> Joe

oe:

ou can find your answers in official both records denominational and other official records. Here is what you vill find:

1) Academy: Bob Pickle made a short one sentence statement in regard to this. The actual facts are available on denominational websites. They will reveal a relationship, as Bob has stated. Some might believe that the extent of that relationship properly takes more than the one sentence that Bob made in describing it. But, Bob was correct in his essential comment. There is a relationship (unless changed in the past few weeks). That relationship is such that under some conditions attempts could be made to hold the IL Conference financially liable. Bob is correct in that.

2) IL Conference sitting on the 3-ABN Board: That has officially existed for some time. Unless it has recently changed, which I doubt, he still does.

3) 3-ABN on the IL Conference Executive Board: In more recent times that has been true. Unless there has been a recent change, 3-ABN still has a person on the IL Conference Board.

4) Under some conditions # 2 & 3 could result in people attempting to hold the IL Conference financially liable. It is a potential problem. Bob is correct.

NOTE: The conditions under which 3-ABN added a person to the IL Conference Board are clearly within denominational policy.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 16 2007, 06:51 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 06:09 PM) ☐
>
> Hello Pickle. I been away for a while, but now I am back and reading to catch up. You made some interesting statements above... Do you have documentation that Mollie sits on the Ill. conference board? She may, I really don't know that's why I'm asking. Also, do you have documentation that 3ABn has a conference academy campus there? I'm not aware of that either, again, that's why I'm asking for your proof.
>
> Joe

Hi Joe.

Check out http://www.bvanet.org/. Up at the top look at the banner. It says that Broadview Academy has a campus at Thompsonville. That campus is part of a pilot project that just started, so I am a little unclear what exactly is happening this year. It got voted by May of last year as indicated by http://www.kdenslow.blogspot.com/, which says that the location of this satellite campus is supposed to be the Thompsonville school. I'm told there was talk about building dormitories as well.

As far as Mollie sitting on the conference committee goes, all I can say is that when I mentioned this in relation to another issue to some folks that work for the conference office there, they didn't correct me on that one, while they did correct me on another personnel issue.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 16 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 16 2007, 06:41 PM) ☐
>
> Joe:
>
> You can find your answers in official both records denominational and other official records. Here is what you will find:
>
> 1) Academy: Bob Pickle made a short one sentence statement in regard to this. The actual facts are > available on denominational websites. They will reveal a relationship, as Bob has stated. Some might believe that the extent of that relationship properly takes more than the one sentence that Bob made in describing it. But, Bob was correct in his essential comment. There is a relationship (unless changed in the past few weeks). That relationship is such that under some conditions attempts could be made to hold the IL Conference financially liable. Bob is correct in that.

>
> 2) IL Conference sitting on the 3-ABN Board: That has officially existed for some time. Unless it has recently changed, which I doubt, he still does.
>
> 3) 3-ABN on the IL Conference Executive Board: In more recent times that has been true. Unless there has been a recent change, 3-ABN still has a person on the IL Conference Board.
>
> 4) Under some conditions # 2 & 3 could result in people attempting to hold the IL Conference financially liable. It is a potential problem. Bob is correct.
>
> NOTE: The conditions under which 3-ABN added a person to the IL Conference Board are clearly within denominational policy.

UOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 05:46 PM)

he fact that a) 3ABN general manager Mollie Steenson sits on the conference committee, b) the conference resident sits on the 3ABN board, c) a conference academy campus sits on the 3ABN campus, from what I nderstand, and d) the conference was apparently concerned in the early '90's about Tommy's problems, ould be used by a plaintiff in a lawsuit to go after the conference as well as 3ABN if recent incidents have ccurred or if new indidents occur in the future.

'm not asking about liabilities.... I said show me the documents that Mollie, not just any person, sits on the onference committee, and she might, I don't know....
also said show me the conference academy or it's campus,,,, I want to see that because the last time I was here....THEY DIDN'T HAVE ONE!...I don't know how I could have missed something that big. rofl Joe http://tinyurl.com/2gj4pe shows pictures of BVA students working with 3ABN.

---

Posted by: lurker Jan 16 2007, 07:00 PM

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 16 2007, 07:03 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 06:09 PM) ☐
>
> Hello Pickle. I been away for a while, but now I am back and reading to catch up. You made some interesting statements above... Do you have documentation that Mollie sits on the Ill. conference board? She may, I really don't know that's why I'm asking. Also, do you have documentation that 3ABn has a conference academy campus there? I'm not aware of that either, again, that's why I'm asking for your proof.
>
> Joe

t's not really a "documentation" type of issue, but it's there for those who seem to need or want it.

n 2005, Mollie Steenson was listed in the constituency newsletter. Click the link and look at the PDF file if ou wish.

I haven't checked since then. At that time, there were three people, working with 3ABN, listed on the executive committee. Just go to the PDF newsletter and look in the blue box on the right-hand side of page 2.

2005

http://www.illinoisadventist.org/constituency_newsletter.pdf

Executive Committee
ADMINISTRATION
E) Kenneth A. Denslow , Chair
E) Kyoshin Ahn, Secretary
E) Duane Rollins
SOUTH
E) Dale Barnhurst (Marion)
L) Mollie Steenson (Thompsonville)
CENTRAL
L) Ed Pierce (Danville)
E) John Stanton (Springfield)
NORTHWEST
E) Randy Siebold (Academy)
L) Gail Wein (N Aurora)
L) Lyn Gatling (Moline)
NORTH CHICAGOLAND
E) Sean Kim (Chicago Unity)
L) Homer Ma (Northbrook)
E) Maureen Plumb (North Shore)
L) To be Filled
SOUTH CHICAGOLAND
L) Deborah Scott (Bolingbrook)
L) Emmanuel Lacson (Hinsdale Fil-Am)
E) Hinsdale Senior Pastor
L) Todd Werner (Hinsdale)
HISPANIC
L) Elena Pena (Belvidere)
L) Silvia Caines (W Suburban Hispanic)
E) Rodolfo Rosales (Lakeview Hispanic,
North Hispanic, Pilson Hispanic)
L=Layperson
E=Employee

Posted by: eye witness Jan 16 2007, 07:12 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 06:55 PM)
>
> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 05:46 PM)
>
> The fact that a) 3ABN general manager Mollie Steenson sits on the conference committee, b) the conference president sits on the 3ABN board, c) a conference academy campus sits on the 3ABN campus, from what I understand, and d) the conference was apparently concerned in the early '90's about Tommy's problems, could be used by a plaintiff in a lawsuit to go after the conference as well as 3ABN if recent incidents have occurred or if new indidents occur in the future.
> I'm not asking about liabilities.... I said show me the documents that Mollie, not just any person, sits on the conference committee, and she might, I don't know....
> I also said show me the conference academy or it's campus,,,, I want to see that because the last time I was there....THEY DIDN'T HAVE ONE!...I don't know how I could have missed something that big.
> rofl Joe

Well Joe you got an answer. You said you didn't know and poof there it is. Panama Pete has filled you in. I am a little of apprehensive of Mollie being on that! ☐

Posted by: Lee Jan 16 2007, 07:22 PM

Teresa is from another Country, obviously. I would appreciate it if you all would cut her some slack in that English may not be her "first" langauge. You know, as in some "Christian" kindness.

And no, I do not know Teresa--never heard of her until I read her posts on here. But really, I think her HEARING is fine, no need to yell at her.

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 07:28 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 07:55 PM) ☐
>
> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 05:46 PM)
>
> The fact that a) 3ABN general manager Mollie Steenson sits on the conference committee, b) the conference president sits on the 3ABN board, c) a conference academy campus sits on the 3ABN campus, from what I understand, and d) the conference was apparently concerned in the early '90's about Tommy's problems, could be used by a plaintiff in a lawsuit to go after the conference as well as 3ABN if recent incidents have occurred or if new indidents occur in the future.
> I'm not asking about liabilities.... I said show me the documents that Mollie, not just any person, sits on the conference committee, and she might, I don't know....
> I also said show me the conference academy or it's campus,,,, I want to see that because the last time I was there....THEY DIDN'T HAVE ONE!...I don't know how I could have missed something that big.
> ☒ rofl Joe

Joe Smith,

The website for Broadview Academy has the following listing under staff:

Genny Grinley, Thompsonville Campus, Facilitator
618-627-2065, Thompsonville Campus

Why don't you call the above listed telephone number, ask for Genny Grinley and get the information directly from her. I am sure that Ms. Grinley can give you directions to the exact location of the Thompsonville Campus of Broadview Academy. Mr. Pickle, is not a resident of Thompsonville and can not just jump into his car and take a picture of the school and post it on this site. Since you know the way to 3ABN, you can do you own leg work or let your fingers do the walking and call Genny Grinley.

Sister

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 16 2007, 08:22 PM) ☐
>
> Teresa is from another Country, obviously. I would appreciate it if you all would cut her some slack in that English may not be her "first" langauge. You know, as in some "Christian" kindness.
>
> And no, I do not know Teresa--never heard of her until I read her posts on here. But really, I think her ee, why do you assume that Teresa is from another country? Why is it obvious? Why do you assume that nglish is not her first language? Please, enlighten me....

> HEARING is fine, no need to yell at her.

ohann and I have repeatedly asked Teresa to explain the content of what she is saying, I am not addressing nything else. I simply want to know what she means when she says the following: "My goodness, that Rick vould write such a thing about his father???" What thing is Teresa referring to in this sentence and when she peaks about evil. And why is she unwilling to answer these questions?

ister

Posted by: eye witness Jan 16 2007, 07:30 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM)
>
> Pickle Well as we proceed here. I will not address the subjects of guilty or innocent. For one, it will make no difference what I think. Two, with what judgment one uses the same they will receive. Again idenity has nothing to do with truth! The big thing is that when a statement goes out it needs to be, only, Pickle what the statment is! Without your tanted insinuation placed upon it.
> Your bidding I understand is truth. Your goal is justice. Tell me Pickle who do you have in mind that could take the Danny position and preform this to your standards? I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
> Teresa Reiman

Vell I see that Pickle has evaded your questions unless I have over looked his answer, but don't feel bad he ias done the same with me. I am still waiting for his reply to my question? Maybe in the near future and naybe not! To anyone who is reading this WHO DO YOU THINK CAN FILL THE DANNY POISITON?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 07:35 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 16 2007, 06:22 PM)
>
> Teresa is from another Country, obviously. I would appreciate it if you all would cut her some slack in that English may not be her "first" langauge. You know, as in some "Christian" kindness.
>
> And no, I do not know Teresa--never heard of her until I read her posts on here. But really, I think her HEARING is fine, no need to yell at her.

Iow are you deducing that Teresa is from another country? Has she told us such? Does she mention it omewhere here on the forum? Is it her misspelled words or imperfect grammer? I really would like to know iow you came up with that.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 16 2007, 06:30 PM)
>
> Well I see that Pickle has evaded your questions unless I have over looked his answer, but don't feel bad he has done the same with me. I am still waiting for his reply to my question? Maybe in the near future and maybe not! To anyone who is reading this WHO DO YOU THINK CAN FILL THE DANNY POISITON?

3abn functioned when Linda left and it will continue if Danny leaves if it is God's will.

Posted by: sister Jan 16 2007, 07:48 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 16 2007, 08:35 PM) ☐
>
> 3abn functioned when Linda left and it will continue if Danny leaves if it is God's will.

No human being is irreplaceable in any position in any ministry or organization, if that were not the case, the world as we know it would have crumbled long ago. Obviously the time of grief varies, but if it is God's will for an organization or ministry to continue, a replace will be found. God called David long before Saul's death. Hopefully, we will not have to wait for Danny's death for his replacement at 3ABN, especially as the investigations of several government agencies continue to discover further evidence of illegal activities.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 16 2007, 07:57 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 09:47 PM) ☐
>
> Eye Witness,
>
> You're not making sense.
>
> First of all, Tommy's accusers claim that he puts on an act whenever these allegations surface, and so, if you are going to be objective, you have to keep the possibility open that Tommy isn't having much in the way of health problems at all.
>
> Now if you can produce documentation that he has indeed had stints and such, that would be most helpful. But we certainly can't just take Danny or Tommy's word for it since we have proven where they have been less than truthful.
>
> Secondly, it is quite clear what "gossip" Teresa was referring to on December 9, since the new allegations went public on December 5, and since you haven't suggested anything other than the child molestation allegations, you yourself must certainly know that that was what she was referring to.
>
> And yet you are so bold as to say that that quote does not hint at all at those allegations. Thus, you aren't making any sense whatsoever.
>
> If that wasn't what Teresa was referring to, she shouldn't have written something so vague, because Johann called me and told me that that was how Linda took what Teresa had written.
>
> Now if Teresa meant something else, then by all means find out what she meant and post it here so Gailon can make sure he has his facts straight.

Galion really needs to pull that quote out of his web site statement and you Pickle need to pull that out of your statements as well!!! Why? Because you are not using it in context with the rest of the communication that Linda and Teresa has conversed in. This is only the tip of a communication process that has gone on hit and miss for years. Its shocking to see that Linda would hand this email over to someone to use in this way. Expecially when Linda says "She has absolutly nothing to do with the controversy the Shelton family is facing at this time. I do not visit the chatsites...."

They have shared tears and joy, I am told. Not about Tommy but about the many different attacks from the many different ways the attacks have occured. I guess they have spent many hours on the phone, in email and visiting, after all, they were related for a while.
If Linda has nothing to do with the controversey of the Shelton family, why is she pulling in innocent people to create more of a mess? That would be a good question for you to ask her since you are so close to her.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 16 2007, 08:02 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 16 2007, 07:22 PM)
>
> Teresa is from another Country, obviously. I would appreciate it if you all would cut her some slack in that English may not be her "first" langauge. You know, as in some "Christian" kindness.

I don't know who Teresa is, but there have been plenty of people around West Frankfort with that same name. I have no information to indicate Teresa is orginally from outside the English-speaking community.

As I said, there have been plenty of people with the name Teresa around. Here's just one example:

ofl

"ABA, NIGERIA Friday, November 28, 2003
By Marti Schneider

At our nine o'clock meeting this morning, the King's Heralds sang a small concert for our entire group. We have really appreciated their ministry here . . . both in their music and in their presence. We could feel their support, their heart for ministry, their care for people. It was our last group meeting.

When Elder Folkenberg asked the speakers from the outlying evangelistic meetings to tell what this experience meant to them, Teresa Shelton summed it up by saying, "I have spoken tremblingly to 20-some people . . . but now I am an evangelist!" She and Ronnie Shelton had separate evangelistic series going. There were good testimonies from all of the teams."

Posted by: calvin Jan 16 2007, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 16 2007, 12:23 PM)
>
> Tell me Pickle who do you have in mind that could take the Danny position and preform this to your standards?
> Teresa Reiman

I can do it. I can put on some cowboy boots, a bright mock turtleneck and read from cue cards. The only problem I would have is devorcing Jean and marrying a spring chicken.

Posted by: Lee Jan 16 2007, 08:29 PM

you know, in looking my post over, I shouldn't have said "Teresa is from another Country" because I don't know any more than you do. But as I read her posts, she reminded me of some of people who have come here from Russia and other countries, sometimes their English is different, or words will be missing from their sentences and words misspelled.

I believe she "might" (sorry to have said it incorrectly in the first place) be from another Country, but only she can say where she is from, if she hasn't been banned from this site already.

Posted by: lurker Jan 16 2007, 08:31 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 16 2007, 09:16 PM)
>
> I can do it. I can put on some cowboy boots, a bright mock turtleneck and read from cue cards. The only problem I would have is devorcing Jean and marrying a spring chicken.

☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

That's a good one, Calvin.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 16 2007, 08:34 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 16 2007, 05:09 AM)
>
> Re: "Now it has been posted on BSDA that he [Mr. Joy] had been acquited of embezzelment."
>
> I believe that you meant that Mr. Joy had been convicted of embezzelment.
>
> Yes, he has. The story has been told. You can draw your own conclusions. Let me ask you: What conclusions do you draw from the fact that Mr. Joy filed a lawsuit against the agency that accused him, and won a $40,000.00 judgement against that agency, which was paid to him?The law is strange, is it not?

I would be interested in where that is posted on BSDA.... If anyone knows. I recieved an email from Mr. Joy denying any convictions on that charge... As I said, I have documentation saying he was found quilty. It is my understanding there is more than one charge. He may have been vindicated on some charges, but not on others. Observer, if you have the other side of the story, please tell me where I can find it.

Joe

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 16 2007, 08:38 PM

Calvin, I think you should apply for the job. I think you would change things even more in the next "two and a half years"! I can see you bringing many people to the Lord!! I mean that sincerely too!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 08:41 PM

There is not a campus on 3ABN property. I have been hearing for several months about the desire or plans to have an academy on hand. But why wouldn't we...when Dan's grandchildren were old enough to start school, poof, a 3ABN school opens. And now that they are getting older, poof, it's time for an academy!

Broadview is part of a new program on 3ABN and they have been at the station to discuss this, so it's logical that they would have pictures of them on site.

HOTY

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 16 2007, 08:52 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 07:48 PM)
>
> No human being is irreplaceable in any position in any ministry or organization, if that were not the case, the world as we know it would have crumbled long ago. Obviously the time of grief varies, but if it is God's will for an organization or ministry to continue, a replace will be found. God called David long before Saul's death. Hopefully, we will not have to wait for Danny's death for his replacement at 3ABN, especially as the investigations of several government agencies continue to discover further evidence of illegal activities.

Sister, as you have so often said.... PUT UP OR SHUT UP... Let's see the proof.

Also, sister.... who would you like to see in the "Danny" position.... possibly Linda???

Joe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 09:52 PM)
>
> [/b]
>
> Also, sister.... who would you like to see in the "Danny" position.... possibly Linda???

Couldn't 3ABN function under its board? I mean, that is what they are there for, right?

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 16 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 16 2007, 08:41 PM)
>
> There is not a campus on 3ABN property. I have been hearing for several months about the desire or plans to have an academy on hand. But why wouldn't we...when Dan's grandchildren were old enough to > start school, poof, a 3ABN school opens. And now that they are getting older, poof, it's time for an academy!

>
> Broadview is part of a new program on 3ABN and they have been at the station to discuss this, so it's logical that they would have pictures of them on site.
>
> HOTY

:onference people were there some 3 years ago to talk about this project.. I saw them there myself.
3Ut nothing came of it because of a lack of money. The conference wanted 3ABN to foot the bill, which they vere not able to do. The conference was needing.... big time ...to close Broadview who had been operating in he RED for some time. Conference had no money... 3ABN had no money. Wonder what changed?? If it :hanged...
\gain I would ask, if there is a campus, where are the buildings... where are the students? and where will hey be living??

oe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 16 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 10:05 PM)
>
> Conference people were there some 3 years ago to talk about this project.. I saw them there myself.
> BUt nothing came of it because of a lack of money. The conference wanted 3ABN to foot the bill, which they were not able to do. The conference was needing.... big time ...to close Broadview who had been operating in the RED for some time. Conference had no money... 3ABN had no money. Wonder what changed?? If it changed...
> Again I would ask, if there is a campus, where are the buildings... where are the students? and where will they be living??
>
> Joe

'hat's what I'm saying, Joe. There are no buildings, campus, or students as of yet.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 16 2007, 11:58 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 16 2007, 07:16 PM)
>
> I can do it. I can put on some cowboy boots, a bright mock turtleneck and read from cue cards. The only problem I would have is devorcing Jean and marrying a spring chicken.

:alvin, seriously, you wouldn't have to change your clothes or your lovely wife. I think you'd be perfect for he position!!!

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 07:34 PM)
>
> I would be interested in where that is posted on BSDA.... If anyone knows. I recieved an email from Mr. Joy denying any convictions on that charge... As I said, I have documentation saying he was found quilty. It is my understanding there is more than one charge. He may have been vindicated on some charges, but not on others. Observer, if you have the other side of the story, please tell me where I can find it.

> Joe

oe, why don't you post the email and the other documentation you have found.

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 17 2007, 04:00 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 16 2007, 02:40 PM)
>
> Brother Pickle I would have to say that I would think that Teresa could have been talking about all the gossip about the family,
>
> If he is 100% guilty we are not to take the Law of the land into our own hands. God, my friend knows every detail of your heart, my heart, and Tommys heart and our lives and the hairs on our head. Even if you or anyone else thinks poorly of them.

size=2]Seems to me like there's some desperate people here, trying to send up a smoke screen and take eople's minds off the issue at hand - CHILD MOLESTATION. It seems like these desperadoes are all oming from one particular corner. Yes. God DOES KNOW everything about each one of us, and He holds us ccountable to do what we can, to protect children everywhere.

ommy chose the way he wanted to go, when he ignored the requests that particular victims made, to go to aw enforcement authorites and all that went with that request.

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 16 2007, 02:40 PM)
>
> As far as proving the stints and health problem exist well maybe I can get the name of the hospital where the work was done. Of course we may all get to see the autopsy report instead. Blessing in your house hold.
> Eye Wintess

orry Eye Witness. I have been called a 'bleeding heart' at times, but I'm certainly not losing any sleep over ommy having a 'health problem'. It's mighty convenient isn't it? Yes. STRESS can kill. Confession and epentence CAN bring healing. Maybe, there's a number of members of a particular family who should onsider that, instead of handing it down through generation after generation. DENIAL NEVER HEALS color=#CC0000].

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 04:23 AM)
>
> Tell me Pickle who do you have in mind that could take the Danny position and preform this to your standards? I question, if God called Danny to build such a ministry, would God need you to take him out?
> Teresa Reiman

ardon me Teresa, but is God not big enough, that He can chose someone other than Danny to run 3ABN? No ne person is indispensible. Anyone of us can be replaced. NO ONE is that perfect - except God alone.

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 17 2007, 04:17 AM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 17 2007, 11:30 AM)

> To anyone who is reading this WHO DO YOU THINK CAN FILL THE DANNY POISITON?

No one is indispensible. God can choose whomsoever He wants. No doubt, there are many talented, sincere and loyal people who could do the job admirably.

Posted by: Observer Jan 17 2007, 05:08 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 07:34 PM)
>
> I would be interested in where that is posted on BSDA.... If anyone knows. I recieved an email from Mr. Joy denying any convictions on that charge... As I said, I have documentation saying he was found quilty. It is my understanding there is more than one charge. He may have been vindicated on some charges, but not on others. Observer, if you have the other side of the story, please tell me where I can find it.
>
> Joe

oe:

Mr. Joy was convicted of one charge. Multiple other charges were dropped. So, technically he was neither aquited nor convicted of those charges.

Posted by: Observer Jan 17 2007, 07:08 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 17 2007, 04:08 AM)
>
> Joe:
>
> Mr. Joy was convicted of one charge. Multiple other charges were dropped. So, technically he was neither aquited nor convicted of those charges.

oe:

On November 23, I posted the following in a thread, in BSDA, titled "The Investigator of 3Abn [sic.].:

In the interests of transparency, and openness, I am making the following brief statements:

1) The GAJ who was convicted of the crime of embezzlement in the VT, is the GAJ who is presently conducting an investigation into this 3-ABN mess.

2) Mr. Joy has advised several of us, to include Linda Shelton, of the details of that conviction that have not been publicly presented before.

3) Mr. Joy was charged under Title 13, part I, Chapter 57 "Larceny and Embezzlement, Subchapter II, and Section 2531. In my mind a critical part of that statute is the following: "[One may be convicted of embezzlement] notwithstanding [that] he may have an interest in such money or property,. . ." In simple anguage: One may be convicted even if one had a right to that money.

4) The above statue allows one convicted of the crime to be imprisoned for up to ten years, and fined up to $500.00. It should be noted that GAJ was not sentenced to prison.

5) The charge against Mr. Joy began in 1980, and continued through the end of 1984. It was brought by an organization which was essentially VT. Legal Aid (LSCVT).

6) LSCVT first brought the claim against Mr. Joy in the Vt. Superior Court. They lost.

7) The LSCVT then attempted to file in a Federal Court. They failed.

8) At that time the LSCVT attempted to settle with Mr. Joy for the payment of $1,500.00, which would be made to them, and an agreement to change certain collection rules.

NOTE: In all of the above, the charges were made against Credit Management Services Corporation (CMSC), and not Mr. Joy, personally.

9) Mr. Joy did not want CMSC to settle. As a result, he bought out the other owners of the corporation, and became a personal defendant in the litigation.

10) During this process, Mr. Joy obtained a $40,000 judgment against the LSCVT for misuse of process. That judgment was paid.

11) In the litigation that LSCVT had brought, there were 58 named plaintiffs. The Court dismissed 57 of those plaintiffs, and trial went forward with one plaintiff.

12) During this litigation, Mr. Joy controlled five different companies. He put all five of them on the line, so to speak, in order to defend his innocence. As a result, all five closed.

13) In the final end, he was convicted. He was required to pay the sum of $1,152.15 to the plaintiff.

14) Mr. Joy acknowledges his conviction. As he was the sole owner at the time of the conviction, he accepts responsibility for that conviction. He does not challenge his conviction. At the time the charges were first brought, he was not the sole owner of CMSC, and he owned less than 50 per-cent of the stock in that company. As he bought out all of the other owners under conditions where he released them from responsibility for the charges, he at the time of the conviction became solely responsible for the crime.

15) It would have been far easier to have settled the case for the required $1,500 payment when that offer was made. However, Mr. Joy believed that he was innocent. He chose not to buckle under to the pressure, and to defend his innocence. Of the 58, he stands convicted of one.

16) Yes, he exercised his legal right to defend himself. Once a definitive decision was made, he stopped the appeals, made the payment, and went on with his life. He accepted responsibility.

Folks, as I have stated from the beginning: Yes, he has been convicted of a crime. His conviction came about due to the fact that he, at the time of the conviction, was the sole owner of the corporation. It should be remembered that at the time of the commission of the crime, he was not. To me this appears to be more a crime of lack of attention to detail, and/or sloppy bookkeeping. Further, he may very well have had a right to the monies. That issues was not determined by the Court, as VT law ruled that out as a defense.

Folks, one cannot rightfully state that Mr. Joy intended to obtain monies that were not rightfully his.

All one can state is that he was convicted of a crime that was essentially inattention to detail. He paid a very large price for that omission.

Make the best of this, folks.

We believe in transparancy, and oppeness.

Let us move on to more important issues.

NOTE: In regard to item # 12: With the purchase of CMSC, and before the litigation was completed, he controlled five companies. When the litigation began he did not control that many.

This post has been edited by Observer: Nov 23 2006, 04:33 AM"

Joe, it may be helpful for you to read the whole thread as there are more comments on this situation in that thread.

If you question anything that I have said, you can check it out, and either verify or prove incorrect. I am open to either.

Posted by: sister Jan 17 2007, 09:03 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 17 2007, 05:00 AM)
>
> [size=2]Seems to me like there's some desperate people here, trying to send up a smoke screen and take people's minds off the issue at hand - CHILD MOLESTATION. It seems like these desperadoes are all coming from one particular corner. Yes. God DOES KNOW everything about each one of us, and He holds us accountable to do what we can, to protect children everywhere.
>
> Tommy chose the way he wanted to go, when he ignored the requests that particular victims made, to go to law enforcement authorites and all that went with that request.
>
> Sorry Eye Witness. I have been called a 'bleeding heart' at times, but I'm certainly not losing any sleep over Tommy having a 'health problem'. It's mighty convenient isn't it? Yes. STRESS can kill. Confession and repentence CAN bring healing. Maybe, there's a number of members of a particular family who should consider that, instead of handing it down through generation after generation. DENIAL NEVER HEALS [color=#CC0000].
>
> Pardon me Teresa, but is God not big enough, that He can chose someone other than Danny to run 3ABN? No one person is indispensible. Anyone of us can be replaced. NO ONE is that perfect - except God alone.

Well said Ozzie. The temperature must surely be rising quickly under Danny and Tommy to have such a strong smoke screen rise up on BSDA.

So, Danny, do you and Tommy really think your most recent threat of lawsuits against Pastor Glenn Dryden and the Dunn Loring, Church of God, Board of Trustees will stop the information about Tommy being distributed? A person can not be convicted of slander and libel who has told the truth. The truth is that children who were molested by Tommy, in Virginia and Illinois, are now adults and are coming forward with their testimony of the heinous acts perpatrated against them. Your threats of legal action will no longer work. There are too many victims willing to tell the truth publically. Remember the truth welcomes investatgation and with that investatgation, the verification of the allegations against Tommy.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 17 2007, 07:12 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 16 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> I beg your pardon.
> Are you suggesting we should stand back and wait for God to send a lightning bolt? Do you > honestly think that's the kindest, mopst merciful, most godly approach?

>
> And do you think we should just stand back and let Danny compromise the financial security of the denomination through his lies and cover up, if Walt Thompson's account of what Danny told hium be correct? I think not.

ickle sounds very much like handwriting on the wall for Belshazzar, and Nebuchadnezzar was another nstance. Gosh I guess Ananis and Sapphira would be another, it wasn't Peter that took them out, but the ord himself. Peter told them personally that they had messed up and the Lord did the rest.
he direction of Matthew 18:15-17. are steps that God sets up for His bidding. So if you have been called do uch, do you have documentation showing you are following the proper steps. After all aren't you doing all his for the up holding of Christianity? Have you talked with Danny? If so, have you then taken a brother and poke with him? If so, then where is your communication with the church? I do hope that all these documents re found here as well! Now I am sure your going to say you have completed all these steps. So what is the ext step the bible says to do? Doesn't it say but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee a eathen and a publican. It does not say that you are to broadcast to the world and cast stones until you have illed the man. Instead it says let who is without sin cast the first stone. I ask you are you a sinner? If you re then stop casting stones and let God handle it. He will do a much better job at His work than you.
eresa Reiman

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 17 2007, 07:36 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 17 2007, 09:03 AM)
>
> Well said Ozzie. The temperature must surely be rising quickly under Danny and Tommy to have such a strong smoke screen rise up on BSDA.
>
> ---
>
> So, Danny, do you and Tommy really think your most recent threat of lawsuits against Pastor Glenn Dryden and the Dunn Loring, Church of God, Board of Trustees will stop the information about Tommy being distributed? A person can not be convicted of slander and libel who has told the truth. The truth is that children who were molested by Tommy, in Virginia and Illinois, are now adults and are coming forward with their testimony of the heinous acts perpatrated against them. Your threats of legal action will no longer work. There are too many victims willing to tell the truth publically. Remember the truth welcomes investatgation and with that investatgation, the verification of the allegations against Tommy.

ister you have really put alot into this. What do you look to gain from all of this that you have wrote? You re speaking to air. Gosh, you write this like maybe you could be Linda Lenz, Moore, Shelton, __________.
nteresting.

Posted by: Johann Jan 17 2007, 07:59 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 18 2007, 03:36 AM)
>
> Sister you have really put alot into this. What do you look to gain from all of this that you have wrote? You are speaking to air. Gosh, you write this like maybe you could be Linda Lenz, Moore, Shelton, __________.
> Interesting.

Yes, interesting indeed, because you make the same mistake as many other defenders of your cause have done. You indicate that Sister is Linda. I can vouch for that these are two very distinctive persons, and that Sister has most of her information from a different source than from Linda.

It is so true that Sister has, and is, putting a lot into this. Her goal is to glorify God, and to reveal the truth that she knows from her own experience. She knows that the utter falsehood you are hiding is not to the glory of God.

Theresa, this is true for me too. I failed back in 2004 because I was afraid of Danny when he threatened to have me put in prison because I wanted to reveal the truth as I had experienced it. I was scared and ran away, but with God's help, this will never happen again. I do not fear Danny's prison. To me it means more to stand on the side of truth, and I appeal to you to be honest too. Or you may have problems on the final day of this world's history. Therefore, remember that the truth will make you free. Stop hiding in the mist of wickedness

---

Posted by: Ralph Jan 17 2007, 08:00 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 06:36 PM)
>
> Sister you have really put alot into this. What do you look to gain from all of this that you have wrote? You are speaking to air. Gosh, you write this like maybe you could be Linda Lenz, Moore, Shelton, __________. Interesting.

I am amused (for lack of a better word) how you try to divert the attention of the reader from the issue being discussed.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 17 2007, 08:08 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 17 2007, 08:00 PM)
>
> I am amused (for lack of a better word) how you try to divert the attention of the reader from the issue being discussed.

I was just amazed at sister writing to the air. Found it very interesting how she talks as if she is Linda Shelton. But I just came from Whats Happening With Linda and read she would never say or do something to deliberatly bash someone. Well, of course this is probably just what someone else thinks about her. Eye Witness has already shown proof that she will if it's to make her case.
Teresa Reiman

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 17 2007, 08:22 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 06:08 PM)
>
> I was just amazed at sister writing to the air. Found it very interesting how she talks as if she is Linda Shelton. But I just came from Whats Happening With Linda and read she would never say or do something to deliberatly bash someone. Well, of course this is probably just what someone else thinks about her. Eye Witness has already shown proof that she will if it's to make her case.

> Teresa Reiman

un, no need to be amazed, except you should be amazed that things are no longer secret. You're the one alking to the air. nothing you are saying makes any sense. Don't need to keep going in circles over this - it's ot Linda, so maybe you should just accept it. AND, just because others know many of the things that all of ou know Linda does know, also means they can tell what they know without getting it from Linda. And from here I sit, and I am sure I'm not alone, Eye witness hasn't shown any proof of anything. Of course, it is bvious you will say anything you want to get whatever response you seem to need to get.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 17 2007, 08:35 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 17 2007, 08:22 PM)
>
> hun, no need to be amazed, except you should be amazed that things are no longer secret. You're the one talking to the air. nothing you are saying makes any sense. Don't need to keep going in circles over this - it's not Linda, so maybe you should just accept it. AND, just because others know many of the things that all of you know Linda does know, also means they can tell what they know without getting it from Linda. And from where I sit, and I am sure I'm not alone, Eye witness hasn't shown any proof of anything. Of course, it is obvious you will say anything you want to get whatever response you seem to need to get.

ell thank you for you thoughts. I guess what Eye Witness has shown, is what it is, to those who want to ead it, and put pieces together. As far as making sense we make a pretty good match. I guess we can all say hings to get whatever response that we want. One thing about a circle it will eventually end up where it tarted.
eresa Reiman

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 17 2007, 08:37 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 07:12 PM)
>
> The direction of Matthew 18:15-17. are steps that God sets up for His bidding. So if you have been called do such, do you have documentation showing you are following the proper steps.
> Teresa Reiman

was just reading an interesting editorial by Ted Olsen that refers to Matthew 18. Here it is:

ttp://www.christianitytoday.com/ct/2007/february/6.22.html

ottom-Up Discipline hat do you do when your pastor--or your entire denomination--trays?

he bottom line was:

A church's desire to be praised by cultural elites and a pastor's desire for sexual gratification are ot that different. Pride deafens a denomination called back to Scriptures it thinks are outmoded, nd it mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners.

There may be no Matthew 18 chapter for disciplining pastors neatly, but becoming more familiar with the thousands of verses on pride and humility would make the need for such discipline less frequent."

This author is saying that "pride deafens a denomination." Is this a possibility? When we become overcome by our own sense of pride, do we become a deaf denomination?

What about the part where Ted Olsen says that pride "mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners?"

By any chance, do you think that pride, inordinate self-esteem, could play a part in the House of Shelton? Could no one ever fill Danny Shelton's shoes?

Just asking.

Pete

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 17 2007, 08:37 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 06:35 PM)
>
> Well thank you for you thoughts. I guess what Eye Witness has shown, is what it is, to those who want to read it, and put pieces together. As far as making sense we make a pretty good match. I guess we can all say things to get whatever response that we want. One thing about a circle it will eventually end up where it started.
> Teresa Reiman

you're welcome! anytime!
and I'd say you described yourself quite well.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 17 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 17 2007, 08:37 PM)
>
> I was just reading an interesting editorial by Ted Olsen that refers to Matthew 18. Here it is:
>
> http://www.christianitytoday.com/ct/2007/february/6.22.html
>
> ## Bottom-Up Discipline
> ## What do you do when your pastor--or your entire denomination--strays?
>
> The bottom line was:
>
> "A church's desire to be praised by cultural elites and a pastor's desire for sexual gratification are not that different. Pride deafens a denomination called back to Scriptures it thinks are outmoded, and it mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners.
>
> There may be no Matthew 18 chapter for disciplining pastors neatly, but becoming more familiar with the thousands of verses on pride and humility would make the need for such > discipline less frequent."

>
> This author is saying that "pride deafens a denomination." Is this a possibility? When we become overcome by our own sense of pride, do we become a deaf denomination?
>
> What about the part where Ted Olsen says that pride "mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners?"
>
> By any chance, do you think that [b] *pride, inordinate self-esteem, could play a part in the House of Shelton? Could no one ever fill Danny Shelton's shoes?[/b]
>
> Just asking.
>
> Pete

My response to your statement above is First Danny Shelton is not a Pastor and the Church is not deaf. Pride s an inward problem and I would not be able to determine that. Inordinate self-esteem I don't see. He has nodest attire, no fancy this and that. Can someone else fill Danny's shoes? If the Lord has someone else, He vants, to fill the position of Danny at 3ABN, then that person would be able to do the task for they would be ead by the Lord.

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 17 2007, 08:37 PM)
>
> I was just reading an interesting editorial by Ted Olsen that refers to Matthew 18. Here it is:
>
> http://www.christianitytoday.com/ct/2007/february/6.22.html
>
> ## Bottom-Up Discipline
> ## What do you do when your pastor--or your entire denomination--strays?
>
> The bottom line was:
>
> "A church's desire to be praised by cultural elites and a pastor's desire for sexual gratification are not that different. Pride deafens a denomination called back to Scriptures it thinks are outmoded, and it mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners.
>
> There may be no Matthew 18 chapter for disciplining pastors neatly, but becoming more familiar with the thousands of verses on pride and humility would make the need for such discipline less frequent."
>
> This author is saying that "pride deafens a denomination." Is this a possibility? When we become overcome by our own sense of pride, do we become a deaf denomination?
>
> What about the part where Ted Olsen says that pride "mutes a pastor who won't admit his failures to accountability partners?"
>
> By any chance, do you think that pride, inordinate self-esteem, could play a part in the House of Shelton? Could no one ever fill Danny Shelton's shoes?
>
> Just asking.
>
> Pete

Vhy is Danny going somewhere?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 17 2007, 10:05 PM)
>
> Why is Danny going somewhere?

Are you volunteering for the removal committee?

Posted by: princessdi Jan 17 2007, 09:44 PM

See! That's why he be our Fearless Leader!! rofl

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 16 2007, 06:16 PM)
>
> I can do it. I can put on some cowboy boots, a bright mock turtleneck and read from cue cards. The only problem I would have is devorcing Jean and marrying a spring chicken.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 10:25 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jan 16 2007, 09:16 PM)
>
> I can do it. I can put on some cowboy boots, a bright mock turtleneck and read from cue cards. The only problem I would have is devorcing Jean and marrying a spring chicken.

Finally - a man who loves his wife! And here I thought I was the only one.

No spring chickens for me either! My wife become more beautiful every day!

(Yes, ladies, I'm a little mushy sometimes than)

Posted by: princessdi Jan 17 2007, 10:28 PM

That's why she dubbed you HOTY!!!

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 17 2007, 08:25 PM)
>
> Finally - a man who loves his wife! And here I thought I was the only one.
>
> No spring chickens for me either! My wife become more beautiful every day!
>
> (Yes, ladies, I'm a little mushy sometimes than)

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 17 2007, 11:28 PM)
>
> That's why she dubbed you HOTY!!!

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 17 2007, 10:40 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 16 2007, 08:57 PM)
>
> Couldn't 3ABN function under its board? I mean, that is what they are there for, right?

A board cannot do day to day operations because either all the board members would have to be there or they would have to be on a constant conference call. Have you seen the list of 3ABN board members and where they live? there has to be "in house" direction and decisions made by someone there...it is a fair question however.

Joe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 10:43 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 11:40 PM)
>
> A board cannot do day to day operations because either all the board members would have to be there or they would have to be on a constant conference call. Have you seen the list of 3ABN board members and where they live? there has to be "in house" direction and decisions made by someone there...it is a fair question however.
>
> Joe

Do you honestly think Dan is the one who does the "day to day" work? That's hilarious. Mollie has been running the place for years. Dan complicates matters more than helps.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 17 2007, 10:56 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 16 2007, 11:58 PM)
>
> Calvin, seriously, you wouldn't have to change your clothes or your lovely wife. I think you'd be perfect for the position!!!
> Joe, why don't you post the email and the other documentation you have found.

It was sent to me in a private email and I don't have the right to post it without permission. However I may be able to get permission, we'll see.

Joe

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 17 2007, 10:43 PM)
>
> Do you honestly think Dan is the one who does the "day to day" work? That's hilarious. Mollie has been running the place for years. Dan complicates matters more than helps.

That's your version.... I've been in her office too many times when Danny/ and or Linda came in and gave her directions. I would venture to say that Linda would say that Mollie jumped when she barked at her at least that's my take on it... to each his own I guess.

PS. by the way.. who do you think trained Mollie? Danny and Linda

Joe

Posted by: princessdi Jan 17 2007, 10:58 PM

Joe, I think the key words here are.........and Linda..........

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> That's your version.... I've been in her office too many times when Danny/ and or Linda came in and gave her directions. I would venture to say that Linda would say that Mollie jumped when she barked at her at least that's my take on it... to each his own I guess.
>
> PS. by the way.. who do you think trained Mollie? Danny and Linda
>
> Joe

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 11:56 PM)
>
> PS. by the way.. who do you think trained Mollie? Danny and Linda
>
> Joe

I believe you made another point for me...the one where I cringe to think of what happens when she has total control.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 17 2007, 11:13 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 17 2007, 11:05 PM)
>
> I believe you made another point for me...the one where I cringe to think of what happens when she has total control.

If she was primarily trained by Linda.... she should be OK to handle it now??

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 17 2007, 11:27 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 16 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> You did not make a mistake by calling me Mr. Pickle. I just jumped in to your comment towards him, so I stated I am not him, but addressing part of your comment.
> As to what you said here, and I'm sure I won't be the only one addressing this, I will comment on your thinking, which I have colored in red.
> Have you decided that God did it or Danny? I can't tell by your words...it seems somewhat worshipful of a man to me...
> God can do anything in spite of a person. But, you are giving credit to Danny as if he got this done thru God. A man can be VERY determined to do anything he sets his mind to (and if you know DS, he is all about determination and not giving up when he wants something) and so based on his motives and minipulation tactics, he could very well get something accomplished like this. You're picture of how this happend has been given to you by DS as well. It is given to you, and others for the purpose of saying "God did this and used me" for credibility sake. You are looking to a man and assuming GOD did this. God may have made something good come from what DS set out to do for many reasons that could have been very selfishly motivated. I will not assume anything as you have - I certainly can not take DS word on how things came about as I know that he has exagerated and mislead in this area to give a picture he wanted out in order to gain support and to promote exactly what you have now projected. Again, do you really know his fruits? If you are to find out his fruits, as you willing to admit he is a mere man who is faulty and God used that building and those volunteers in spite of the man? This picture is much bigger then you would like to sum up in your mind. Why don't you let God show you exactly what He has done in spite of DS and his real motives. Don't be mesmerized by what you have been taught and lead to see. Open your > eyes.

don't think you understood what she was saying. She wasn't giving credit to Danny, her whole point was ow God USED Danny to accomplish a HUGE job that the organized SDA church had not been able to do.... nd not to this day as far as that goes. There are tooo many things that HAD to be "God things"... Linda used hat phrase a lot in reference to these miracles for 20 years... So what changed? Are they not miracles any onger just because Linda is not there? Sorry, you can't change the past.

oe

re they no longer miracles because Linda is not there now?

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 17 2007, 11:34 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 09:27 PM)
>
> I don't think you understood what she was saying. She wasn't giving credit to Danny, her whole point was how God USED Danny to accomplish a HUGE job that the organized SDA church had not been able to do.... and not to this day as far as that goes. There are tooo many things that HAD to be "God things"... Linda used that phrase a lot in reference to these miracles for 20 years... So what changed? Are they not miracles any longer just because Linda is not there? Sorry, you can't change the past.
>
> Joe
>
> Are they no longer miracles because Linda is not there now?

ame the miracles.
od uses what He sees fit to use - if he can use a donkey, he can use anything or anyone. This does not nean however that Danny is special or unique (or anybody that wants all the credit for what "they" have lone - like old Nebby, Danny resembles him). And it certainly gives him no right to claim he's a prophet or llow someone else to claim it for him.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 17 2007, 11:46 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 16 2007, 02:59 PM)
>
> I'd still like you to give a reply to my question. You have noticed that I am not the only one who would like you to answer.

ohann, are you saying that everything that is posted here about Danny and Linda is TRUE? surely you are ot that gullible.... maybe it would be helpful for you to re-read or review everything posted, and then ask ourself............... could anybody be that bad??? wouldn't God have taken him out years ago? Did Danny ust go bad about 2-3 years ago? the rest of the time, when you had faith in him.... and was employed by 3ABN... was he God's man then??

Joe

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 17 2007, 11:49 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 09:46 PM)
>
> could anybody be that bad??? wouldn't God have taken him out years ago? Did Danny just go bad about 2-3 years ago? the rest of the time, when you had faith in him.... and was employed by 3ABN... was he God's man then??
>
> Joe

yes no
no
no idea

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 18 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 16 2007, 07:34 PM)
>
> I would be interested in where that is posted on BSDA.... If anyone knows. I recieved an email from Mr. Joy denying any convictions on that charge... As I said, I have documentation saying he was found quilty. It is my understanding there is more than one charge. He may have been vindicated on some charges, but not on others. Observer, if you have the other side of the story, please tell me where I can find it.
>
> Joe

This is a pretty provocative claim. That is why I encouraged you to post the email and documentation.

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 09:56 PM)
>
> It was sent to me in a private email and I don't have the right to post it without permission. However I may be able to get permission, we'll see.
>
> Joe

That would be a wise idea for without your documentation, the claim you make in your previous post doesn't carry any strength, IMO.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 18 2007, 12:34 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 15 2007, 09:47 PM)
>
> Eye Witness,

> You're not making sense.
>
> First of all, Tommy's accusers claim that he puts on an act whenever these allegations surface, and so, if you are going to be objective, you have to keep the possibility open that Tommy isn't having much in the way of health problems at all.
>
> Now if you can produce documentation that he has indeed had stints and such, that would be most helpful. But we certainly can't just take Danny or Tommy's word for it since we have proven where they have been less than truthful.

)on't know if she has any proof... but I do ..Hope this helpful.

\ few months after the death of Tommy's mother....he had a Heart Attack while in Nashville. They were :lose..He was Transferred to Sentential Hospital in Nashville where he had a stint on his left main artery put n... and they used a balloon on another artery too close to the stint to unclog it. Pastor ------------- and 3)thers were there for the procedure.
\round six weeks later, Tommy entered Fairfax County Hospital in Virginia for another heart cath and they did ınother balloon procedure because the earlier stint had collapsed. A couple of weeks later he was back)ecause the incision became infected.
n 2003 he was hospitalized in St. Thomas where the heart specialist told him, he was hours away from ınother heart attack. He was sent straight to Nashville and had a team waiting on him when he arrived. This ime it was the main right artery. He got another stint.
\ few months after the Blackhills program, he went in again for another heart cath to make sure there were ıo more clots. There were none.
'here are multitudes of people who know about his high blood pressure .....it is heredity. His father died of ıis 3rd heart attack at the age of 51.... most of Tommy's brothers and sister also have HIGH blood pressure ınd high cholesterol and take medications for them.

oe

Posted by: sister Jan 18 2007, 08:49 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 18 2007, 12:34 AM) ☐
>
> Name the miracles.
> God uses what He sees fit to use - if he can use a donkey, he can use anything or anyone. This does not mean however that Danny is special or unique (or anybody that wants all the credit for what "they" have done - like old Nebby, Danny resembles him). And it certainly gives him no right to claim he's a prophet or allow someone else to claim it for him.

agree with you, sonshineonme, only I might have been tempted to use the term jackass, rather than lonkey. Which one is correct in the KJV? Well, it really doen't matter...

Posted by: sister Jan 18 2007, 09:11 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 17 2007, 11:56 PM) ☐
>
> That's your version.... I've been in her office too many times when Danny/ and or Linda came in and gave her directions. I would venture to say that Linda would say that Mollie jumped when she barked at her at least that's my take on it... to each his own I guess.

> PS. by the way.. who do you think trained Mollie? Danny and Linda oe, if you really knew Mollie, you would know that she doesn't jump for anyone and that the only one who lid any "barking" at 3ABN was Fluffy.
>
> Joe

s to the question of who trained Mollie, that training came from her formal education when she attended ollege in New Orleans, where she met her husband Hal, and through the experience she gained in running a ery successful ministry with him after they were married. I too have been in and out of Mollie's office and eard her make the following statement in front of Dan, when Linda was not present: "Danny thinks he runs ABN, but it is really myself, Linda and Mom Ford." Well, now both Linda and Mom Ford are gone from the cene and only Mollie remains. So who does that leave in charge of 3ABN? Danny could drop dead of a heart ttack today and the "business" of 3ABN would carry on without a pause. Mollie would continue managing the usiness as usual and Hal would do the preaching. There is only one final purging of the ministry necessary or Mollie's dream to come true. And once that happens how long do you think it will take for Mollie to "purge he ministry" of the rest of the Shelton family?

nd if Mollies falls? Well, Shelly and J.D. Quinn would be more than happy to step over Mollie and Hal and ake the reins of 3ABN...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 18 2007, 04:31 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 18 2007, 10:11 AM) ☐
>
> Joe, if you really knew Mollie, you would know that she doesn't jump for anyone and that the only one who did any "barking" at 3ABN was Fluffy.
>
> As to the question of who trained Mollie, that training came from her formal education when she attended college in New Orleans, where she met her husband Hal, and through the experience she gained in running a very successful ministry with him after they were married. I too have been in and out of Mollie's office and heard her make the following statement in front of Dan, when Linda was not present: "Danny thinks he runs 3ABN, but it is really myself, Linda and Mom Ford." Well, now both Linda and Mom Ford are gone from the scene and only Mollie remains. So who does that leave in charge of 3ABN? Danny could drop dead of a heart attack today and the "business" of 3ABN would carry on without a pause. Mollie would continue managing the business as usual and Hal would do the preaching. There is only one final purging of the ministry necessary for Mollie's dream to come true. And once that happens how long do you think it will take for Mollie to "purge the ministry" of the rest of the Shelton family?
>
> And if Mollies falls? Well, Shelly and J.D. Quinn would be more than happy to step over Mollie and Hal and take the reins of 3ABN...

couldn't have said it any better. Mollie is the one who runs 3ABN's daily responsibilities. Dan comes in with is demands, tapes a program, checks the money, and goes away.

od help us all if the whole lot of them are not thrown out together!

Posted by: Johann Jan 18 2007, 05:12 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 07:46 AM) ☐

> Johann, are you saying that everything that is posted here about Danny and Linda is TRUE? surely you are not that gullible.... maybe it would be helpful for you to re-read or review everything posted, and then ask yourself................ could anybody be that bad??? wouldn't God have taken him out years ago? Did Danny just go bad about 2-3 years ago? the rest of the time, when you had faith in him.... and was employed by 3ABN... was he God's man then??
>
> Joe

OK Joe, let's be honest about it! You give me right here a list of the obvious falsehoods posted, and I will have those things cancelled, providing you will give me a verifation the things are not true.

Yes, Joe, I was convinced Danny was God's man until I discovered how he was making false accusations against Linda, just so that he could get rid of her. I knew that a man of God would never do such things.

appealed to Danny. I tried to get Walt help Danny outline how their marriage could be restored, but all to no avail.

Posted by: sister Jan 18 2007, 05:26 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 18 2007, 05:31 PM)
>
> I couldn't have said it any better. Mollie is the one who runs 3ABN's daily responsibilities. Dan comes in with his demands, tapes a program, checks the money, and goes away.
>
> God help us all if the whole lot of them are not thrown out together!

HOTY, did you say checks the money or takes the money? Oh, sorry, I forgot to put on my glasses.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 18 2007, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 18 2007, 06:26 PM)
>
> HOTY, did you say checks the money or takes the money? Oh, sorry, I forgot to put on my glasses.

So right - my mistake!

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 19 2007, 04:07 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 04:34 PM)
>
> His father died of his 3rd heart attack at the age of 51.... most of Tommy's brothers and sister also have HIGH blood pressure and high cholesterol and take medications for them. Joe

Are you sure that his father was 51 when he died? I could have sworn that I heard Danny say, during that phony farewell on New Years Eve, that his father was 36 when he suffered a heart attack and died? Please correct me if I'm wrong.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 09:06 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 19 2007, 03:07 AM)
>
> Are you sure that his father was 51 when he died? I could have sworn that I heard Danny say, during that phony farewell on New Years Eve, that his father was 36 when he suffered a heart attack and died? Please correct me if I'm wrong.

His father suffered his first heart attack at 36. The third one, at 51, is the one that caused him to die.

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 19 2007, 10:28 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 19 2007, 04:07 AM)
>
> Are you sure that his father was 51 when he died? I could have sworn that I heard Danny say, during that phony farewell on New Years Eve, that his father was 36 when he suffered a heart attack and died? Please correct me if I'm wrong.

I am very sure. Tommy Shelton SR. was born in 1922 and died in July 1974. He would have been 52 if he had lived to his next birthday in Nov. What Danny should have clarified, was his dad's first heart attack was at age 36. the 2nd, was in his 40's and the killer attack was at 51 and some months.

Hope this is helpful
Joe

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 16 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> you know, in looking my post over, I shouldn't have said "Teresa is from another Country" because I don't know any more than you do. But as I read her posts, she reminded me of some of people who have come here from Russia and other countries, sometimes their English is different, or words will be missing from their sentences and words misspelled.
>
> I believe she "might" (sorry to have said it incorrectly in the first place) be from another Country, but only she can say where she is from, if she hasn't been banned from this site already.

Well, it looks like she hasn't been banned yet, anyway.... Her name does appear to be "German."

Joe

Posted by: Joe Smith Jan 19 2007, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 16 2007, 07:48 PM)
>
> No human being is irreplaceable in any position in any ministry or organization, if that were not the case, the world as we know it would have crumbled long ago. Obviously the time of grief varies, but if it is God's will for an organization or ministry to continue, a replace will be found. God called David long before Saul's death. Hopefully, we will not have to wait for Danny's death for his replacement at 3ABN, especially as the investigations of several government agencies continue to discover further evidence of illegal activities.

Well SISTER, I am still waiting for the proof.... this is the 2nd time I have ask for it.

Quoting you.... "Put up or shut up"..

By the way, we all know the 'GAG ORDER' is up..... so why isn't Linda speaking out now???

Joe

Posted by: Clay Jan 19 2007, 10:40 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 10:39 AM)
>
> Well SISTER, I am still waiting for the proof.... this is the 2nd time I have ask for it.
>
> Quoting you.... "Put up or shut up"..
>
> By the way, we all know the 'GAG ORDER' is up..... so why isn't Linda speaking out now???
>
> Joe

taunting now JS? interesting....

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 19 2007, 10:44 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 19 2007, 08:40 AM)
>
> taunting now JS? interesting....

desperation has many motives

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 19 2007, 10:45 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 19 2007, 11:40 AM)

> taunting now JS? interesting....

Obviously his bleeding heart act to calvin was meant as "do as I say, not as i do" fare...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 19 2007, 11:31 AM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 11:39 AM)
>
> Well SISTER, I am still waiting for the proof.... this is the 2nd time I have ask for it.
>
> Quoting you.... "Put up or shut up"..
>
> By the way, we all know the 'GAG ORDER' is up..... so why isn't Linda speaking out now???
>
> Joe

"Pastor" Smith, if you find this whole discourse so offensive and un-Christian, why are you still here, actively participating in the discussion? Seems like you wouldn't want to touch us heathens with a ten-foot pole.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 19 2007, 01:39 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 19 2007, 10:39 AM)
>
> Well SISTER, I am still waiting for the proof.... this is the 2nd time I have ask for it.
>
> Quoting you.... "Put up or shut up"..
>
> By the way, we all know the 'GAG ORDER' is up..... so why isn't Linda speaking out now???
>
> Joe

Joe, have you noticed (you obviously have) how many times sister has said put up or shut up and the first time you say it, it is taken as a threat. The allegations of "investigations" were addressed sufficiently, last night, to the whole world, even the FBI & IRS were addressed and answered. I loved Mollie Steenson's comment when she addressed the "rumors" of undercover investigations by saying "if they are undercover how do these people (that are spreading the rumoring) know about them? Exactly. Anyone who fails to see that there are truly not any investigations going on, doesn't want to see it. I'm with Joe. If there is investigations, come forward and show proof. 3ABN made a claim on world wide television knowing that if they lied, both the IRS and FBI would be very upset. So, accusers, go ahead and expose your proof of these investigations because, if you are telling the truth about them, you might be telling a lot of truths. If you are not being truthful about them, you might not be being truthful in many of your other accusations.

The accusations have been made here, that the leadership of 3abn isn't accountable to anyone. What about the "accountability factors" that Larry Ewing so beautifully explained?
There's Danny who can't take one penny without the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) making a record of it.

Then there is a very professional 3ABN board of Directors who hold Larry E. accountable and then there's the outside audit each year.
How does all that line up with lies about no accountability? Oops, I forgot. All of these people are naive, stupid or involved. Funny, HOTY has said most of the people there are wonderful God fearing christians that are there because they want to work for our Lord. Yet, as stated before, many departments and the people in them would have to be corrupt or going along with the corruption to make this the den of iniquity that this forum paints it to be.
NEXT.....

What about the comments made on the live that the board has NOT ask Danny to resign? Who can refute it? He is still here.
The little group here is only showing their ignorance to claim that a large board of proffesional people, all of the accountants in the accounting office, the outside auditors and everybody in 3ABN administrative positions are all naive, stupid or are involved in all kinds of coverups. That just defies logic. Some of the comments made here only proves that the group on this forum refuse to hear any "real" truth and/or proof presented if it is on the positive side of 3ABN instead of on the negative.

Where is Gailon Joy in all of this? He has made a lot of statements. Is he still willing to come back with his false allegations with substantial proof. His post certainly did not contain anything but trying to pick words apart.
Well Joe, I guess we will both be accused of making threats just because we repeat sisters phrase of "put up or shut up."

Posted by: Clay Jan 19 2007, 01:50 PM

Bystander, I thought you were going to go stand somewhere else.... I see you are still here..... what would that make you?

Bystander you said on January 7th:

> QUOTE
>
> mr. J if you read all of my posts today then you know I have stated I came today and will leave today after having my say. God cannot be happy with time spent on this gossip. Your post only confirms what I have been saying all afternoon. That you have swallowed hook line and sinker whatever it is you have been reading the past 2 years.

Today is the 19th... and here you are posting.... I guess that means either you lied when you said you were leaving, or you are a double minded person... whom the bible says is unstable in all their ways..... which might it be?

Posted by: Bystander Jan 19 2007, 01:53 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 19 2007, 01:50 PM)
>
> Bystander, I thought you were going to go stand somewhere else.... I see you are still here..... what would that make you?
>
> Bystander you said on January 7th:
> Today is the 19th... and here you are posting.... I guess that means either you lied when you said you were leaving, or you are a double minded person... whom the bible says is unstable in all their ways.....

> which might it be?

Sorry, Clay, that doesn't make me a liar. It means I changed my mind, as many have done on this forum, when I saw a real "need" to post some "truth"
The fact that you would be so quick to insinuate that I am a liar shows where your heart lies.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 01:57 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 19 2007, 01:50 PM)
>
> Bystander, I thought you were going to go stand somewhere else.... I see you are still here..... what would that make you?
>
> Bystander you said on January 7th:
> Today is the 19th... and here you are posting.... I guess that means either you lied when you said you were leaving, or you are a double minded person... whom the bible says is unstable in all their ways..... which might it be?

And if a person knew about potential problems of child molestation, why would they have a liking for the word bystander."

Who would ever act as a bystander if they thought there was a chance something unsavory going on?

As one pastor once said in his sermon, there is no such thing as an "innocent" bystander.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 19 2007, 02:03 PM

Pete, Pete, Is attacking my user name all you can come up with? What a leap you made from taking my innocent name and twisting it that somehow I am a "bystander" doing nothing while someone is getting molested? C'mon....

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Pete, Pete, Is attacking my user name all you can come up with? What a leap you made from taking my innocent name and twisting it that somehow I am a "bystander" doing nothing while someone is getting molested? C'mon....

You said, " The allegations of "investigations" were addressed sufficiently, last night, to the whole world...."

s that really true? Addressed sufficiently?

think not. Join the Catholic priesthood if you're thinking like that.

Pete

Posted by: Bystander Jan 19 2007, 02:18 PM

Pete, you are so one track minded. I said specifically in my post that all the rumors flying around in here about investigations by the IRA and FBI and whatever other law enforcement agencies that people here have thought up, was shown to be a total lie. The reason that I addressed those agencies are because they are "real". They actually have "real" trained investigators that have "real" credentials and everything. So, obviously, 3abn is not under any "real" investigations by any "real" law enforcement agencies. Thus let's squelch all the lies and rumors applying to such. Doesn't that seem reasonable.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 19 2007, 02:28 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 02:18 PM)
>
> Pete, you are so one track minded. I said specifically in my post that all the rumors flying around in here about investigations by the IRA and FBI and whatever other law enforcement agencies that people here have thought up, was shown to be a total lie. The reason that I addressed those agencies are because they are "real".

You said "all" investigations. Now, you say, its really all the investigations except the ones they chose not to mention last night."

That's very different from "all investigations."

You said they were all addressed sufficiently. That's the idea you were trying to leave in the readers' minds.

It's good to know you really didn't mean all. Maybe you meant some? A few? The ones they chose to mention?

Your's Truly,

Pete's One Track Mind

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 02:31 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 01:03 PM)
>
> Pete, Pete, Is attacking my user name all you can come up with? What a leap you made from taking my innocent name and twisting it that somehow I am a "bystander" doing nothing while someone is getting molested? C'mon....

Dear Brother Bystander,

If you can provide convincing evidence that there is no truth to the allegations against Tommy Shelton, if you can refute the testimonies of the Clem brothers and Pastor Dunning, if you can show evidence to refute the claims in Pastor Glenn Dryden's warning letter of May, 2003, and if you can convince me that Tommy's emailed confession to alleged victim #7 does not mean what it says I will gladly leave this forum and let God deal with any other issues that might be present at 3abn.

If you are unable to gather the above evidence, I will need to follow the burden that God has placed on my heart and continue to do what I can to bring this truth to light and pray for healing for all involved.

PeacefullyBewildered

Posted by: sister Jan 19 2007, 02:42 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 03:18 PM) ☐
>
> Pete, you are so one track minded. I said specifically in my post that all the rumors flying around in here about investigations by the IRA and FBI and whatever other law enforcement agencies that people here have thought up, was shown to be a total lie. The reason that I addressed those agencies are because they are "real". They actually have "real" trained investigators that have "real" credentials and everything. So, obviously, 3abn is not under any "real" investigations by any "real" law enforcement agencies. Thus let's squelch all the lies and rumors applying to such. Doesn't that seem reasonable.

Personally, I have not mentioned nor heard mentioned the FBI, here, except by you Bystander and last night by Danny and company. What I will say is there is an investation by the EEOC, which implacates both Danny and Mollie as well as the head of Trust Services, Leonard Westfahl. I did notice that nothing was said about that situation last night. And Bystander we both know what you, ahh, Danny calls Black people behind their back as he laughs at them. I will not repeat the term here, personally I find it degrading and so as not to offend anyone else.

Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands?

Sister

Posted by: Bystander Jan 19 2007, 03:12 PM

[quote name='sister' date='Jan 19 2007, 02:42 PM' post='17118

Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands?

Sister
[/quote]
First of all, prove it. Prove where this agency is investigating. Now, I saw recently where Calvin said he is tired of people trying to identify each other and he doesn't want it to continue. I see this has not affected you with your constant insinuations toward myself and others. EVen though I have no responsibility to answer to you in anyway, I will, simply to put one more of your rumors to rest. I can promise you, and give you my word as a fellow believer that I AM NOT DANNY SHELTON AND NEITHER AM I A SPOKESPERSON FOR HIM.
You constantly say or insinuate that the only people that might defend 3abn on this forum would be close friends of Danny S. and/or his family. I have news for you sister. Despite your "Destroy 3ABN" campaign, despite the measures that you have used to pull people into your web of deceit, there are still thousands and thousands of viewers out there who love and support 3ABN and the message it takes to the world. I am one of these. CALVIN where are you when one of your own tries to plant sees of identity on others?

Posted by: sister Jan 19 2007, 03:21 PM

Bystander, you quoted the following, but neglected to address it, neither was it addressed on the "dead" live last night. Where is the accountability in regard to the previous statement I made and you quoted:

"Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands? "

Sister

P.S. Bystander, I am not trying to "destroy 3ABN" , it is my desire it is saved. And I have spun no web of deceit, nor attempted to draw others into such a web. I tell the truth in the hope that by doing so the web of lies and deceit that have been spun by Danny Shelton will be subjected to the light and the ministry will be purged from the cancer that could kill 3ABN if let to it's own devices.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 19 2007, 04:26 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Jan 19 2007, 11:31 AM)
>
> "Pastor" Smith, if you find this whole discourse so offensive and un-Christian, why are you still here, actively participating in the discussion? Seems like you wouldn't want to touch us heathens with a ten-foot pole.

Nuggie I would ask if 3ABN is so offensive to you then why do you watch the programing and why do you come here???? I have read over and over if you don't like the content don't come back. It's a fair question, Why do you keep coming back?

Addressing the latter part, maybe the Pastor is coming here to witness (your words)= "to you heathen".

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 04:30 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 05:26 PM)
>
> Nuggie I would ask if 3ABN is so offensive to you then why do you watch the programing and why do you come here???? I have read over and over if you don't like the content don't come back. It's a fair question, Why do you keep coming back?
>
> Addressing the latter part, maybe the Pastor is coming here to witness (your words)= "to you heathen".

Not speaking in German today?

rofl

Posted by: inga Jan 19 2007, 04:34 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 05:30 PM)
>
> Not speaking in German today?
> rofl

Ja, Teresa, es wuerde mir Spass machen wenn wir uns ein bisschen auf Deutsch unterhalten koennten.

Wir haben hier viel Schnee. Was macht das Wetter by Euch? h

Inge (diesmal auf Deutsch gescrieben)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 04:35 PM

Bystander, what you and some others are not getting is that this forum is not, I repeat NOT waging a "Destroy 3ABN" campaign. We are making a concerted effort to HEAL 3ABN!

Teresa, I don't know Huggies motives for continuing to watch the 3ABN programming, but as for me I continue to watch 3ABN because there are MANY programs on there that are a spiritual blessing to me.

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 19 2007, 04:35 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 03:21 PM)
>
> Bystander, you quoted the following, but neglected to address it, neither was it addressed on the "dead" live last night. Where is the accountability in regard to the previous statement I made and you quoted:
>
> "Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands? "
>
> Sister
>
> P.S. Bystander, I am not trying to "destroy 3ABN" , it is my desire it is saved. And I have spun no web of deceit, nor attempted to draw others into such a web. I tell the truth in the hope that by doing so the web of lies and deceit that have been spun by Danny Shelton will be subjected to the light and the ministry will be purged from the cancer that could kill 3ABN if let to it's own devices.

Sister The Dead Know Nothing! It was very much live and going forth with TRUTH. I see Joe has asked several times for a response from you and there is no responses. Would it be safe to say that really the claim of the FBI investigations and other agencies is "dead".
Put up of Shut up! rofl

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 01:42 PM) ☐
>
> Personally, I have not mentioned nor heard mentioned the FBI, here, except by you Bystander and last night by Danny and company. What I will say is there is an investation by the EEOC, which implacates both Danny and Mollie as well as the head of Trust Services, Leonard Westfahl. I did notice that nothing was said about that situation last night. And Bystander we both know what you, ahh, Danny calls Black people behind their back as he laughs at them. I will not repeat the term here, personally I find it degrading and so as not to offend anyone else.
>
> Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands?
>
> Sister

Teresa, sister HAS answered the questions, you just didn't catch it.

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 03:35 PM) ☐
>
> Sister The Dead Know Nothing! It was very much live and going forth with TRUTH. I see Joe has asked several times for a response from you and there is no responses. Would it be safe to say that really the claim of the FBI investigations and other agencies is "dead".
> Put up of Shut up! ☒ rofl

As sister pointed out, it was Bystander and Danny that mentioned "FBI investigations" not sister.

Pastor Joe and Teresa, I will make the same proposal I did to Bystander earlier today:

If you can provide convincing evidence that there is no truth to the allegations against Tommy Shelton, if you can refute the testimonies of the Clem brothers and Pastor Dunning, if you can show evidence to refute the claims in Pastor Glenn Dryden's warning letter of May, 2003, and if you can convince me that Tommy's emailed confession to alleged victim #7 does not mean what it says I will gladly leave this forum and let God deal with any other issues that might be present at 3abn.

If you are unable to gather the above evidence, I will need to follow the burden that God has placed on my heart and continue to do what I can to bring this truth to light and pray for healing for all involved.

PeacefullyBewildered

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 04:45 PM

Tommy Shelton hasn't been the only sexual predator at 3ABN...

Posted by: Teresa Reiman Jan 19 2007, 04:45 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 04:30 PM) ☐

> Not speaking in German today?
> rofl

Noo vohr-behsk roh-mew-nehsh-teh Domnule

Posted by: sister Jan 19 2007, 05:12 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 05:45 PM)
>
> Tommy Shelton hasn't been the only sexual predator at 3ABN...

HOTY, why don't you give us a little more info...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 05:50 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 04:12 PM)
>
> HOTY, why don't you give us a little more info...

Yes HOTY, seems that would be prudent.

Posted by: Clay Jan 19 2007, 06:00 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 01:53 PM)
>
> Sorry, Clay, that doesn't make me a liar. It means I changed my mind, as many have done on this forum, when I saw a real "need" to post some "truth"
> The fact that you would be so quick to insinuate that I am a liar shows where your heart lies.

I am not insinuating anything.... I am pointing out the obvious... you said you were leaving and yet here you are..... as for the need to post truth, you wouldn't know it if it smacked you.... so spare us... post your opinion and leave it at that.....

Danny Shelton apologists..... tiresome.....

Posted by: inga Jan 19 2007, 07:47 PM

Hi PB,

I'm just curious whether any of the shows that you refer to below are ones that feature the main characters under discussion here.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 05:35 PM) ☐
>
> as for me I continue to watch 3ABN because there are MANY programs on there that are a spiritual blessing to me.

What kind of difference would it make if the main individuals discussed here were no longer there?

Posted by: Lee Jan 19 2007, 08:16 PM

Clay--I'm sure you know that a woman can change her mind at any time!! ☒

Posted by: Clay Jan 19 2007, 08:22 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 19 2007, 08:16 PM) ☐
>
> Clay--I'm sure you know that a woman can change her mind at any time!! ☒

then don't be making grand pronouncements about your saying your piece then exiting.....

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 19 2007, 08:29 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 01:39 PM) ☐
>
> Joe, have you noticed (you obviously have) how many times sister has said put up or shut up and the first time you say it, it is taken as a threat. The allegations of "investigations" were addressed sufficiently, last night, to the whole world, even the FBI & IRS were addressed and answered.

Hi Mr. Bystander,

I did not know anything about FBI or IRS allegations or investigations or alleged investigations... Would you care to expound on that comment?

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 01:39 PM) ☐
>
> The accusations have been made here, that the leadership of 3abn isn't accountable to anyone. What about the "accountability factors" that Larry Ewing so beautifully explained?
> There's Danny who can't take one penny without the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) making a record of it.
> Then there is a very professional 3ABN board of Directors who hold Larry E. accountable and then there's the outside audit each year.

What exactly does an audit accomplish? How is it done? Who does this audit? How were they selected? I'm not trying to sound like I am demanding answers - these are just some questions that came to my mind...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 08:35 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 19 2007, 06:47 PM)
>
> Hi PB,
>
> I'm just curious whether any of the shows that you refer to below are ones that feature the main characters under discussion here.
> What kind of difference would it make if the main individuals discussed here were no longer there?

Some of the shows I refer to are:

It Is Written
Breath of Life
Wonderfully Made
Teen Pathways
Tiny Tots
Kids Time
Back To Nature
Voice of Prophecy
Body and Spirit
In the Footsteps of Paul
Battles of Faith
Hans Diehl's health shows
All the General Youth Conferences
All of the cooking shows
Anything with Doug Batchelor
Anything with David Asherick(sp?) and Nathan Renner
Anything with Dwight Nelson
Many of the "On The Road" programs

I watch 3abn Today nearly every weekday during my job and the ministries featured are often great. As far as the main characters under discussion here are concerned, I do see them in a different light now and it makes me sad. I constantly pray for them and for 3abn.

Posted by: Chez Jan 19 2007, 09:02 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Jan 19 2007, 08:35 PM)
>
> Some of the shows I refer to are:
>
> It Is Written
> Breath of Life
> Wonderfully Made
> Teen Pathways
> Tiny Tots
> Kids Time
> Back To Nature
> Voice of Prophecy
> Body and Spirit
> In the Footsteps of Paul
> Battles of Faith
> Hans Diehl's health shows
> All the General Youth Conferences

> All of the cooking shows
> Anything with Doug Batchelor
> Anything with David Asherick(sp?) and Nathan Renner
> Anything with Dwight Nelson
> Many of the "On The Road" programs
>
> I watch 3abn Today nearly every weekday during my job and the ministries featured are often great. As far as the main characters under discussion here are concerned, I do see them in a different light now and it makes me sad. I constantly pray for them and for 3abn.

B, I'm slow. What are you saying?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 09:11 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 06:12 PM)
>
> HOTY, why don't you give us a little more info...

wasn't trying to be coy, I just didn't think this was a secret.

ince I have children, I make it a point to regularly check the national list of sex offenders. It is a very good abit for parents to get into and would suggest that everyone do this. (Not to say that there isn't forgiveness nd a change of heart, but preparation is always a plus. And I wouldn't take any chances!)

here are two people that I know of that are on that list that have been or are currently working at 3ABN. ou may check the facts out for yourself at www.nsopr.gov Just type in their names or town and click for a icture.

ne is Herb Grimm. He is no longer at 3ABN that I know of. The other is Bill (William) Cochran who is urrently working in the Production department and on the Production Truck. I do not know the specifics in ither of their cases.

or the bleeding hearts out there, there is no mistake here since their pictures are also on the site. It is as imple as that.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 09:12 PM

> QUOTE(Chez @ Jan 19 2007, 08:02 PM)
>
> PB, I'm slow. What are you saying?

nga was asking me if any of the shows that I find a blessing in on 3abn had the main characters being iscussed here. I listed some of the shows that I find spiritually blessing on 3abn. I didn't fully answer Inga's uestion because I wouldn't know what impact there would be if the main individuals discussed here were no onger there.

don't have 3abn but it is constantly on where I work so I see it often during the week. I enjoy and have een blessed by many of the programs. That's what I'm saying.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 09:26 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 08:11 PM) ☐
>
> I wasn't trying to be coy, I just thought that this wasn't a secret.
>
> Since I have children, I make it a point to regularly check the national list of sex offenders. It is a very good habit for parents to get into and would suggest that everyone do this. (Not to say that there isn't forgiveness and a change of heart, but preparation is always a plus. And I wouldn't take any chances!)
>
> There are two people that I know of that are on that list that have been or are currently working at 3ABN. You may check the facts out for yourself at www.nsopr.gov Just type in their names or town and click for a picture.
>
> One is Herb Grimm. He is no longer at 3ABN that I know of. The other is Bill (William) Cochran who is currently working in the Production department and on the Production Truck. I do not know the specifics in either of their cases.
>
> For the bleeding hearts out there, there is no mistake here since their pictures are also on the site. It is as simple as that.

Yes, HOTY, it is a very good habit to get into!

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 19 2007, 09:49 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jan 19 2007, 02:42 PM) ☐
>
> Personally, I have not mentioned nor heard mentioned the FBI, here, except by you Bystander and last night by Danny and company. What I will say is there is an investation by the EEOC, which implacates both Danny and Mollie as well as the head of Trust Services, Leonard Westfahl. I did notice that nothing was said about that situation last night. And Bystander we both know what you, ahh, Danny calls Black people behind their back as he laughs at them. I will not repeat the term here, personally I find it degrading and so as not to offend anyone else.
>
> Another question for you? What happens to the cash donations that come into 3ABN, do they still go to Mollie Sue and Danny, BEFORE they are sent to the accounting department to be posted? And what about the cash donations that come in at the Ralley's and go back in a briefcase with Danny on the jet and are not receipted in accounting until the following Monday? What about the cash that comes into Trust Services? And what about the trips Danny has personally made to individuals that want to place their large cash donations directly into his hands?
>
> Sister

I was killing time while getting the oil changed in my car today and got interested in an article about Sherron Watkins, the Enron whistleblower. I have always had a great deal of respect for her courage so this recent interview with her caught my eye. The more I read, the more parallels I began to see with what I have been reading about 3ABN's situation. I truly believe in the work the ministry is doing, but I believe God is doing it, not Dan or Mollie or anyone else. Anyway, here are a few Sherron Watkins quotes that caught my eye - I especially like the last one:

"The CEO of a company must have pristine ethics if there is to be any hope of ethical behavior from the employees."

"How in the world did a qualifired and talented independent board of directors waive Enron's code of conduct twice?...their judgment was severely clouded..."

"There were managers within Enron, actually in the room when Enron's questionable accounting structures were hatched, and they complained - they tried to stop their birth. But in every case that person was shot down. Others soon realized to protest was fruitless and they just left the company. Or they reacted the only way they knew how - they posted comments on Yahoo's message board."

"I think there are difficult moments of truth when leadership is tested. And if these moments are not faced honestly, if the hard decision is not made at the point, it becomes next to impossible to return to the right path. It is that rationalization we spoke of before. Once you start to rationalize, you're stuck."

"I am sure you have heard of the analogy of a frog in boiling water. If a frog is thrown in a pot of boiling water it will jump out and save itself. If a frog is in a pot of cool water that is slowly heated, he'll stay in the pot until he boils to death."

"From bosses to managers to staff, we must realize when we are in a pot of water that has gone from cool to lukewarm. We must recognize that moment of truth, we must address it and then act. Once the water is heated past lukewarm, we won't have the willpower to jump out."

"The major point I sress now is how and why company leaders must have a zero tolerance policy for ethically challenged employees. It is probably the hardest role of a CEO, but when he or she discovers that an employee has violated the company's value system, that person must go."

"All it takes for evil to prevail is for good people to do nothing...Being an ethical person is more than knowing right from wrong. It is having the fortitude to do right even when there is much at stake."

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 10:00 PM

Where is that fainting smilie when I need it?!! Mercy! HOTY now you know you done already got on Danny's last never this week! as-if

---

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 07:11 PM)
>
> I wasn't trying to be coy, I just didn't think this was a secret.
>
> Since I have children, I make it a point to regularly check the national list of sex offenders. It is a very good habit for parents to get into and would suggest that everyone do this. (Not to say that there isn't forgiveness and a change of heart, but preparation is always a plus. And I wouldn't take any chances!)
>
> There are two people that I know of that are on that list that have been or are currently working at 3ABN. You may check the facts out for yourself at www.nsopr.gov Just type in their names or town and click for a picture.
>
> One is Herb Grimm. He is no longer at 3ABN that I know of. The other is Bill (William) Cochran who is currently working in the Production department and on the Production Truck. I do not know the specifics in either of their cases.
>
> For the bleeding hearts out there, there is no mistake here since their pictures are also on the site. It is as simple as that.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 19 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Jan 19 2007, 07:49 PM) ☐
>
> I was killing time while getting the oil changed in my car today and got interested in an article about Sherron Watkins, the Enron whistleblower. I have always had a great deal of respect for her courage so this recent interview with her caught my eye. The more I read, the more parallels I began to see with what I have been reading about 3ABN's situation. I truly believe in the work the ministry is doing, but I believe God is doing it, not Dan or Mollie or anyone else. Anyway, here are a few Sherron Watkins quotes that caught my eye - I especially like the last one:
>
> "The CEO of a company must have pristine ethics if there is to be any hope of ethical behavior from the employees."
>
> "How in the world did a qualifired and talented independent board of directors waive Enron's code of conduct twice?...their judgment was severely clouded..."
>
> "There were managers within Enron, actually in the room when Enron's questionable accounting structures were hatched, and they complained - they tried to stop their birth. But in every case that person was shot down. Others soon realized to protest was fruitless and they just left the company. Or they reacted the only way they knew how - they posted comments on Yahoo's message board."
>
> "I think there are difficult moments of truth when leadership is tested. And if these moments are not faced honestly, if the hard decision is not made at the point, it becomes next to impossible to return to the right path. It is that rationalization we spoke of before. Once you start to rationalize, you're stuck."
>
> "I am sure you have heard of the analogy of a frog in boiling water. If a frog is thrown in a pot of boiling water it will jump out and save itself. If a frog is in a pot of cool water that is slowly heated, he'll stay in the pot until he boils to death."
>
> "From bosses to managers to staff, we must realize when we are in a pot of water that has gone from cool to lukewarm. We must recognize that moment of truth, we must address it and then act. Once the water is heated past lukewarm, we won't have the willpower to jump out."
>
> "The major point I sress now is how and why company leaders must have a zero tolerance policy for ethically challenged employees. It is probably the hardest role of a CEO, but when he or she discovers that an employee has violated the company's value system, that person must go."
>
> "All it takes for evil to prevail is for good people to do nothing...Being an ethical person is more than knowing right from wrong. It is having the fortitude to do right even when there is much at stake."

Thank you snoopy. Nice addition to the thread. ☒

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 19 2007, 08:00 PM) ☐
>
> Where is that fainting smilie when I need it?!! Mercy! HOTY now you know you done already got on Danny's last never this week! ☒ as-if

Maybe we should ask the boss for a smiley like that now Di - I think it's probably time anyway!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 10:23 PM

Perhaps an "I got fired" sign should come next...

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 19 2007, 10:25 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> Perhaps an "I got fired" sign should come next...

oh dear, did you?

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 10:33 PM

Aaawww! HOTY, did you? I have to admit, though, not sure that I am really that sad about it, except for the strain it puts on you being unemployed. if the answer is yes, you know we gots to get the details.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> Perhaps an "I got fired" sign should come next...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 19 2007, 10:34 PM

NO! I did not get fired.

But I'm sure I would be!

Better get that sign up and running quick!

(I think I have some time left in me. I don't believe the Lord is ready for me to go just yet.)

Posted by: princessdi Jan 19 2007, 10:37 PM

Whew!!!!

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> NO! I did not get fired.
>
> But I'm sure I would be!
>
> Better get that sign up and running quick!

> (I think I have some time left in me. I don't believe the Lord is ready for me to go just yet.)

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 19 2007, 10:52 PM

Snoopy, thank you so much for posting the quotes from that article! It really did bring a lot to this discussion.

It is quite notable that all of the statements are applicable and, as you point out, especially the last one.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 20 2007, 01:00 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_?Pete @ Jan 19 2007, 02:28 PM)
>
> Your's Truly,
>
> Pete's One Track Mind

like a person that admits their weaknesses. Many of us can be one track minded at times, so don't feel bad. nyway, No I am not addressing some or part of investigations. I said all and I meant all. Sister is the one vho through in this EEOC thing in. No, they are not under investigation by that organization either. Even if hey were investigated every which way that would not make them guilty of anything.

s far as sisters questions about cash being carried on the plane, if it is so..then..Linda was on that plane nany many many times with that cash too. I am sure people handed her donations, at times, also. Was that k then because it was Linda and not Danny S? IF any allegations toward Tommy S. are true and go back nany many years as has been stated here, then Linda would also have been aware of those allegations. Yet I ave seen Tommy & Linda on the air many times together doing music in the studio and at the Live Rally's hat were "on the road." Obviously they all traveled together to these events. The job that Tommy S. held efore he took over production was something in programming and would therefore be under Linda's epartment. Obviously she didn't have a problem with putting him in that position. Many of the accusations nade toward Danny S. and other administrative heads was supposed to have happened while linda was there s 2nd in charge. So where was she while all of these alleged things were going on. if she was totally blivious to the many charges presented here, then she was a complete failure at her job of Vice President. If he closed her eyes to these alleged sins , then she was doing exactly what Danny S. is accused of doing and hould be hung out to dry in the same manner you are trying to hang him out. Last but not least, if she vasn't oblivious, and she didn't close her eyes purposly to these events, there is only one other option....she vas in on everything and therefore was part of the alleged "corrupt administration." After all, I have read on his site that Linda gave 200% to the ministry. If so that certainly puts her " In the Know" with day to day appenings on the premises. No matter how you spin it folks, Linda was not a "victim."

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 20 2007, 01:08 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 02:00 AM)
>
> After all, I have read on this site that Linda gave 200% to the ministry. If so that certainly puts her " In the Know" with day to day happenings on the premises. No matter how you spin it folks, Linda was not a "victim."

Whether Linda was innocent or not of the same things as Dan, she ended up a victim in the end.

How can you justify the diffence in treatment that Linda and Tommy received. If both are guilty of what they've been accused of, then why was the treatment so severe for one and the other soft as Charmin?

Don't assume that this site is pro-Linda, anti-Dan, because that isn't the case.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 20 2007, 01:12 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 11:00 PM)
>
> I like a person that admits their weaknesses. Many of us can be one track minded at times, so don't feel bad. Anyway, No I am not addressing some or part of investigations. I said all and I meant all. Sister is the one who through in this EEOC thing in. No, they are not under investigation by that organization either. Even if they were investigated every which way that would not make them guilty of anything.
>
> As far as sisters questions about cash being carried on the plane, if it is so..then..Linda was on that plane many many many times with that cash too. I am sure people handed her donations, at times, also. Was that ok then because it was Linda and not Danny S? IF any allegations toward Tommy S. are true and go back many many years as has been stated here, then Linda would also have been aware of those allegations. Yet I have seen Tommy & Linda on the air many times together doing music in the studio and at the Live Rally's that were "on the road." Obviously they all traveled together to these events. The job that Tommy S. held before he took over production was something in programming and would therefore be under Linda's department. Obviously she didn't have a problem with putting him in that position. Many of the accusations made toward Danny S. and other administrative heads was supposed to have happened while linda was there as 2nd in charge. So where was she while all of these alleged things were going on. if she was totally oblivious to the many charges presented here, then she was a complete failure at her job of Vice President. If she closed her eyes to these alleged sins , then she was doing exactly what Danny S. is accused of doing and should be hung out to dry in the same manner you are trying to hang him out. Last but not least, if she wasn't oblivious, and she didn't close her eyes purposly to these events, there is only one other option....she was in on everything and therefore was part of the alleged "corrupt administration." After all, I have read on this site that Linda gave 200% to the ministry. If so that certainly puts her " In the Know" with day to day happenings on the premises. No matter how you spin it folks, Linda was not a "victim."

Then I suggest you stop "spinning it". DS is corrupt, anyone in his path is tainted and that's it in a nut shell.

Posted by: Bystander Jan 20 2007, 01:38 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 20 2007, 01:08 AM)
>
> Whether Linda was innocent or not of the same things as Dan, she ended up a victim in the end.
>
> How can you justify the diffence in treatment that Linda and Tommy received. If both are guilty of what they've been accused of, then why was the treatment so severe for one and the other soft as Charmin?
>
> Don't assume that this site is pro-Linda, anti-Dan, because that isn't the case.

First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

Posted by: Brenda Jan 20 2007, 01:55 AM

Bystander, I could apply your name to myself - I am a bystander with no direct interest in either side of all this discussion.

But I have read most of what has been posted - and if you had, you would know that one of the points of contention in the divorce was the reliability of the evidence of Linda's wrongdoing. For instance, when she was alleged to have been with the doctor in one place, Johann as a first hand witness put her some where else, without the doctor.

She received monetary compensation, and I am no judge of its adequacy, but with that had to accept a gag order while the other party to the marriage was free to say whatever he liked about her on world wide television.

Linda not a victim? What is your definition of a victim?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 20 2007, 01:55 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 02:38 AM) ☐
>
> First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

You really have a distorted ability to justify this. Linda was "let go" after some "supposed" proof was out there. Did you see it? Who exactly did see it? I didn't know it was possible to take pictures of spiritual adultery. (I'll have to figure out how to do that.) Linda - who was also a major factor on the 3ABN lineup was pulled virtually overnight. She's been bashed and bashed and bashed since then. And Tommy got a plaque. Isn't that sweet? (Let's get it straight - Tommy had a stEnt put in and had health problems before he came back to 3ABN this last time. His heart attack was not recently which you would lead everyone to believe.) I never said he wasn't in poor health. But which came first - the problem or the PROBLEM?

I don't know how you compare apples, but I think one's missing.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 20 2007, 02:35 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 11:55 PM)
>
> You really have a distorted ability to justify this. Linda was "let go" after some "supposed" proof was out there. Did you see it? Who exactly did see it? I didn't know it was possible to take pictures of spiritual adultery. (I'll have to figure out how to do that.) Linda - who was also a major factor on the 3ABN lineup was pulled virtually overnight. She's been bashed and bashed and bashed since then. And Tommy got a plaque. Isn't that sweet? (Let's get it straight - Tommy had a stEnt put in and had health problems before he came back to 3ABN this last time. His heart attack was not recently which you would lead everyone to believe.) I never said he wasn't in poor health. But which came first - the problem or the PROBLEM?
>
> I don't know how you compare apples, but I think one's missing.

hoty, you know you are wasting your time. this bystander is a button pusher who has no interest in truth. he/she/they have definite reality issues (and a definite agenda). spin distract spin distract spin. tiring for sure, but it doesn't change the truth nor the facts. let them beleive what they apparently need to (or say what they need too). it's their loss to be in the darkness.

Posted by: calvin Jan 20 2007, 02:17 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 01:38 AM)
>
> First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

Nobody can make a claim that BSDA is pro or anti either one of them. Not when everyone is allowed come down on either side of the discussion within what I think are very broad parameters. Your story of events and explanation only serves to justify the openness of this place to express your opinions, nothing more. BSDA takes no position.

Posted by: Clay Jan 20 2007, 02:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 01:38 AM)
>
> First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health > reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

ou are still here? thought you were going to go stand somewhere else..... just cant resist letting hose fingers do the talkin huh?

Posted by: JustTana Jan 20 2007, 04:47 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Jan 19 2007, 10:11 PM)
>
> I wasn't trying to be coy, I just didn't think this was a secret.
>
> Since I have children, I make it a point to regularly check the national list of sex offenders. It is a very good habit for parents to get into and would suggest that everyone do this. (Not to say that there isn't forgiveness and a change of heart, but preparation is always a plus. And I wouldn't take any chances!)
>
> There are two people that I know of that are on that list that have been or are currently working at 3ABN. You may check the facts out for yourself at www.nsopr.gov Just type in their names or town and click for a picture.
>
> One is Herb Grimm. He is no longer at 3ABN that I know of. The other is Bill (William) Cochran who is currently working in the Production department and on the Production Truck. I do not know the specifics in either of their cases.
>
> For the bleeding hearts out there, there is no mistake here since their pictures are also on the site. It is as simple as that.

ear HOTY:

know for sure that you are telling the truth as I have wondered for some time about Herb Grimm. You have nswered my questions because while I knew that he had moved down to that area, I was not certain that he ad ever worked at 3ABN.

o folks, YOU CAN TRUST WHAT HOTY SAYS because Herb's first wife was a classmate of mine many years go as was his twin brother's wife. Herb's sister-in-law told me not long before he and his second wife, Sue, noved down to Thompsonville that Herb had molested her son, his nephew, when he was over at Herb's ouse playing with his cousin. How many times this happened before she found out about it I don't know.

hanks for the honest reporting, HOTY.

ustTana

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 20 2007, 05:11 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 12:00 AM)

> IF any allegations toward Tommy S. are true and go back many many years as has been stated here, then Linda would also have been aware of those allegations.

Brother Bystander,

While you are certainly entitled to your opinion and are equally entitled to have your own interpretation of history, I would like to make a small correction on part of what you posted.

Walt said he was told by someone that the allegations against Tommy went back approximately 30 years. Yes, Walt stated that and it was posted here. What Bob Pickle stated here was vastly different from what Walt stated. Bob was recently told that there are allegations of molestation against Tommy by several more males, including a minor, from Tommy's stint as a Pastor in Virginia in the 1995 - 2000 time period.

Sister PeacefullyBewildered

Posted by: Nuggie Jan 20 2007, 11:08 PM

> QUOTE(Teresa Reiman @ Jan 19 2007, 05:26 PM) ☐
>
> Nuggie I would ask if 3ABN is so offensive to you then why do you watch the programing and why do you come here???? I have read over and over if you don't like the content don't come back. It's a fair question, Why do you keep coming back?
>
> Addressing the latter part, maybe the Pastor is coming here to witness (your words)= "to you heathen".

sigh First of all, did I ever say that 3ABN is offensive to me? I couldn't care less about 3ABN programming because I don't watch it...ever. If you would get down off that high horse every now and then and pay attention to reality down here on terra firma you might've actually read my post instead of reading nto it words that I've never said. What I do find offensive is the hypocrisy and legalism that's being held up by pseudo-Christians as the new standard of "rightness" for Adventists. Second, I come back here because I choose to. Simple enough. The birth date on my drivers license indicates that I am an adult by all societal measures and, therefore, I am free to make my own decisions. I've never questioned the moral integrity or Christian-ness" of this board or its owner, so my actions relative to BSDA are not on trial, nor are they any of your concern. I questioned the "Pastor" (whom you seem compelled to defend) because he wants to be holier han everyone else. When you do stuff like that, expect to be questioned.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 20 2007, 11:35 PM

Now BSDA is neither pro or anti anyone. Now indivudal members can be pro or con. I think you also, have posted with reading. I suggest you go back and do that. Especially if you "understand' that Linda was "compensated extrene,y well". I can tell you that it was jsut posted that 3ABN is worth several millions just last week, Linda got approx. $250,000.00. She was co-founder, she got shafted. Liek I said go back and read.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 19 2007, 11:38 PM) ☐
>
> First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been > through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

Posted by: Observer Jan 21 2007, 06:47 AM

Re: ". . . Linda was 'compensated extrene,y [sic.] well'. . . . just last week, Linda got approx. $250,000.00. She was co-founder, she got shafted."

Is this saying that Linda recieved 250 K last week? If so, is this a brand-new settlement? Or is the 250 K amount the total amount recieved over the time period covered by the settlement agreement?

Whatever it is, it is a settlement of something. As such, it is a clear statement that the involved parties (Linda, Danny, 3-ABN, or whoever) all agreed that 250 K was a fair amount for the issues resolved. As such, I would not say that she was compensated extremely will. The best that can be said is that all agree that she was compensated fairly. [NOTE: There may be legal reasons to challenge it as a fair settlement.]

It should be noted that the origonal settlement agreement, did not settle everything. It did leave some issues unresolved. If the 250 K is a recent settlement of those issues than that is what it is. It is an agreement between Linda, Danny, and 3-ABN that settles the unresolved issues for 250 K. If that is what it is, it should put the lie to the statements by some that Linda wanted multiple millions of dollars. If Linda wanted that much she would not settle for a mere 250 K. She would take her chance on a jury trial.

NOTE: I am making some general comments. I know that the last part of my quote is: ". . . she got shafted."

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 21 2007, 04:31 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 02:38 AM) ☐
>
> First off of course this site is pro linda anti dan. How can I justify the difference? Easy. I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved, after a time, that the marriage would not be reconciled. Even with the reasons of dismissal It is again my understanding that when Linda left, she was compensated extremely well (and that is an understatement) for her years of service. I was told that Tommy S. was not in any way, dismissed. He retired due to health reasons which I believe Joe smith named hospitals and dates and also heart surgeries that he has been through. So we know that this was not an excuse to hide the allegations that Danny got rid of him. Either he has had a heart attack or he hasn't. Either he has had stint and balloon heart surgeries as Joe stated or he has not. Any doubters please, check the hospitals that Joe named. you will find it is all true that he is in severly poor health due to heart problems. HOTY You can only compare apples to apples. These circumstances are in no way related.

’ou forgot something... either he has a history of child molestation or he does not.

ˉhere has been plenty offered to say he does... none of which you or any other has yet to refute.

ˉhe evidence was sufficient that the church that ordained him pulled his credentials on account of them.

’ou and others claim that the claims are unfounded.

›rove that.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: inga Jan 22 2007, 03:01 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Jan 20 2007, 02:38 AM)
>
> I understand that Linda was let go after proof was found of wrong doing and it was understood by those involved

Either you are extremely gullible or your are knowingly defending the indefensible.

With all the public trashing of Linda going on, the claim that the "proof" has not been made public to "spare Linda" just doesn't fly any more.

And no proof of Linda's wrong doing has been presented!

Posted by: Johann Jan 22 2007, 05:08 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 22 2007, 11:01 AM)
>
> Either you are extremely gullible or your are knowingly defending the indefensible.
>
> With all the public trashing of Linda going on, the claim that the "proof" has not been made public to "spare Linda" just doesn't fly any more.
>
> And no proof of Linda's wrong doing has been presented!

Sounds like they are "scared" presenting their final "proof". Is it is too closely associated with the favorite 3ABN "demon" to present it to an audience that belives in Jesus Christ who rebukes the demons?

Posted by: Pickle Jan 22 2007, 01:55 PM

> QUOTE(Joe Smith @ Jan 18 2007, 12:34 AM)
>
> Don't know if she has any proof... but I do ..Hope this helpful.
>
> A few months after the death of Tommy's mother....he had a Heart Attack while in Nashville. They were close..He was Transferred to Sentential Hospital in Nashville where he had a stint on his left main artery put in... and they used a balloon on another artery too close to the stint to unclog it. Pastor ------------- and 3 others were there for the procedure.
> Around six weeks later, Tommy entered Fairfax County Hospital in Virginia for another heart cath and they did another balloon procedure because the earlier stint had collapsed. A couple of weeks later he was back because the incision became infected.
> In 2003 he was hospitalized in St. Thomas where the heart specialist told him, he was hours away from another heart attack. He was sent straight to Nashville and had a team waiting on him when he arrived. This time it was the main right artery. He got another stint.
> A few months after the Blackhills program, he went in again for another heart cath to make sure there > were no more clots. There were none.

> There are multitudes of people who know about his high blood pressure .....it is heredity. His father died of his 3rd heart attack at the age of 51.... most of Tommy's brothers and sister also have HIGH blood pressure and high cholesterol and take medications for them.
>
> Joe

oe,

ould you fill in the missing dates for us?

ccording to Tommy's alleged victims, he has these health problems whenever allegations surface. I think we eed to have solid dates, including the month, for each event that you mention, in order to disprove any such onnection.

ou mention 2003, and we know there were new allegations that arose in 2003.

hen exactly did Tommy's mother die? When exactly did Tommy go to Black Hills?

Posted by: lurker Jan 22 2007, 03:15 PM

I happen to have this information myself so in case Joe doesn't answer you-Goldie Seddon -
Tommy Shelton's mother
Death Date: 15 May 1999

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 22 2007, 03:30 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 22 2007, 02:55 PM)
>
> Joe,
>
> Could you fill in the missing dates for us?
>
> According to Tommy's alleged victims, he has these health problems whenever allegations surface. I think we need to have solid dates, including the month, for each event that you mention, in order to disprove any such connection.
>
> You mention 2003, and we know there were new allegations that arose in 2003.
>
> When exactly did Tommy's mother die? When exactly did Tommy go to Black Hills?

'm starting to think a couple people could have lucrative careers with the national Enquirer.

ob, rather then asking Joe to prove all, Can't you or Gailon call Black Hills, or ask Linda?

r since she doesn't have a "gag order" of any kind at the present, couldn't she just post here and peak for herself, and tell us? or not

R MAYBE, Since Derrell Mundall is a member here, and in touch with her (Being that he is the registered wner, Administrator and tech, contact for her website) maybe he could clarify???, or have her give her input bout this whole Tommy dilemma on her website???? Does she support what you are all doing and agree with our new website?

Linda was working at 3ABN when Tommy previously was, around the time all this happened, and knows about his health, she knows when he went to Black Hills. In the website you and Gailon put up you have the New Years tribute where all this was being talked about by Danny and Tommy.

Linda was also on the board and knows about Drydens letter and what happened on the board.

Did Tommy's "alleged victims" claim he was so good at faking health problems that Doctors did heart surgery and put stints in?

That seems very unlikely.

Really so far...

There are far more people testifying to the fact that he does have high blood pressure and cholesteral problems and has had a major heart attack and surgery twice, then there are testifying about him faking it.

As a matter of fact Bob, it's you who keeps claiming this for these anonymous "alleged victims".

So it's actually your versian against every other person who claims to know about it, so far..

Posted by: beartrap Jan 22 2007, 05:13 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 04:30 PM)
>
> OR MAYBE, Since Derrell Mundall is a member here, and in touch with her (Being that he is the registered owner, Administrator and tech, contact for her website) maybe he could clarify???, or have her give her input about this whole Tommy dilemma on her website???? Does she support what you are all doing and agree with your new website?

Derrell Mundall bought the domain and gave it and everything about it to Linda over two years ago. He is not her administrator, tech, or contact. If she cares to communicate something, she will. If not, she won't.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 22 2007, 05:44 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 01:30 PM)
>
> I'm starting to think a couple people could have lucrative careers with the national Enquirer.
>
> Bob, rather then asking Joe to prove all, Can't you or Gailon call Black Hills, or ask Linda?
>
> Or since she doesn't have a "gag order" of any kind at the present, couldn't she just post here and speak for herself, and tell us? or not
>
> OR MAYBE, Since Derrell Mundall is a member here, and in touch with her (Being that he is the registered owner, Administrator and tech, contact for her website) maybe he could clarify???, or have her give her input about this whole Tommy dilemma on her website???? Does she support what you are all doing and agree with your new website?
>
> Linda was working at 3ABN when Tommy previously was, around the time all this happened, and knows about his health, she knows when he went to Black Hills. In the website you and Gailon put up you have the New Years tribute where all this was being talked about by Danny and Tommy.
>
> Linda was also on the board and knows about Drydens letter and what happened on the board.

> Did Tommy's "alleged victims" claim he was so good at faking health problems that Doctors did heart surgery and put stints in?
>
> That seems very unlikely.
>
> Really so far...
>
> There are far more people testifying to the fact that he does have high blood pressure and cholesteral problems and has had a major heart attack and surgery twice, then there are testifying about him faking it.
>
> As a matter of fact Bob, it's you who keeps claiming this for these anonymous "alleged victims".
>
> So it's actually your versian against every other person who claims to know about it, so far..

lthia, where do you get your information? You speak as though you know for sure, when clearly you do not, ince for example Derrell Mundall has nothing to do with Linda's site as you put it. Also, it is interesting that ou are among the crowd that want first hand information, as we all do, yet you don't accept it and then ASK omeone to speak for someone else? ☐

Posted by: Brenda Jan 22 2007, 06:42 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 07:30 AM) ☐
>
> I'm starting to think a couple people could have lucrative careers with the national Enquirer.
>
> Bob, rather then asking Joe to prove all, Can't you or Gailon call Black Hills, or ask Linda?
>
> Or since she doesn't have a "gag order" of any kind at the present, couldn't she just post here and speak for herself, and tell us? or not ☒
>
> OR MAYBE, Since Derrell Mundall is a member here, and in touch with her (Being that he is the registered owner, Administrator and tech, contact for her website) maybe he could clarify???, or have her give her input about this whole Tommy dilemma on her website???? Does she support what you are all doing and agree with your new website?
>
> Linda was working at 3ABN when Tommy previously was, around the time all this happened, and knows about his health, she knows when he went to Black Hills. In the website you and Gailon put up you have the New Years tribute where all this was being talked about by Danny and Tommy.
>
> Linda was also on the board and knows about Drydens letter and what happened on the board.
>
> Did Tommy's "alleged victims" claim he was so good at faking health problems that Doctors did heart surgery and put stints in?
>
> That seems very unlikely.
>
> Really so far...
>
> There are far more people testifying to the fact that he does have high blood pressure and cholesteral problems and has had a major heart attack and surgery twice, then there are testifying about him faking it.
>
> As a matter of fact Bob, it's you who keeps claiming this for these anonymous "alleged victims".
>
> So it's actually your versian against every other person who claims to know about it, so far..

Does any one here actually doubt that Tommy Shelton has had these medical problems?

It is entirely possible that stress related to his lifestyle and its consequences has contributed to his health issues, and that could include an acute exascerbation of his symptoms.

I for one do not accuse him of faking anything.

But those symptoms do not remove the necessity for answering the questions raised by his victims, not all of whom are now anonymous.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 22 2007, 06:45 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> Did Tommy's "alleged victims" claim he was so good at faking health problems that Doctors did heart surgery and put stints in?

The procedure uses a tube called a stent, not a stint.

However, when these Southern Illinois spin doctors told it to you with their rural drawl, it came out "stints" didn't it?

And you took it at face value?

You actually know there are stents?

Just wondering, since you were the one that warned everyone at Maritime SDA Online that motor vehicle registrations are easily forged. But you seem to have absolutely no problem accepting these "stints" as something that actually happened?

It's too bad that Ted Haggard -- Colorado Springs -- didn't know about your "stints" theory. He could have run away and hidden, too.

Pete

Posted by: lookin4truth Jan 22 2007, 07:21 PM

There has been much Back and Forth regarding Tommy Shelton's health condition.

He may or may not have had the medical procedures, which have been discussed in these forums.

The fact is that victims have come forward, some who have been willing to open themselves up to ridicule. Tommy admitted in the letter, which has been posted on these forums, and on Save3abn.com, that he is guilty of inappropriate acts with Duane Clem.

If this man is a pedophile, what difference does it make if he is in good health or not? His physical illnesses do not give him the right to commit, nor protect him from the consequences of his crimes.

Those who wish to try and make his health issues the focus cannot change the fact that he has sexually abused, and that at least some of the victims were minors at the time of the abuse.

Posted by: Clay Jan 22 2007, 07:27 PM

thank you looking4truth.... you hit the nail on the head..... the health issue was brought up as a distraction.... the FACT is the man molested people....can't get around that.... what is obscene is that the Danny's apologists would excuse the molestation because he is reportedly in bad health...

Just wait, when Danny claims to have prayed for forgiveness for all he has done wrong, his apologists will then use that as proof that this situation no longer be discussed....

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 22 2007, 07:36 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 21 2007, 12:35 AM)
>
> ... I suggest you go back and do that. Especially if you "understand' that Linda was "compensated extrene,y well". I can tell you that it was jsut posted that 3ABN is worth several millions just last week, Linda got approx. $250,000.00. She was co-founder, she got shafted. Liek I said go back and read.

P-Di it is obvious, to me, that you are speaking of what 3ABN is worth and that this information was posted just last week.

> QUOTE
>
> it was posted that 3ABN is worth several millions just last week

Yet below we find the following is noted:

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 21 2007, 07:47 AM)
>
> Re: ". . . Linda was 'compensated extrene,y [sic.] well'. . . . just last week, Linda got approx. $250,000.00. She was co-founder, she got shafted."
>
> Is this saying that Linda recieved 250 K last week? If so, is this a brand-new settlement? Or is the 250 K amount the total amount recieved over the time period covered by the settlement agreement?
>
> Whatever it is, it is a settlement of something. As such, it is a clear statement that the involved parties (Linda, Danny, 3-ABN, or whoever) all agreed that 250 K was a fair amount for the issues resolved...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 22 2007, 07:38 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 02:30 PM)
>
> Did Tommy's "alleged victims" claim he was so good at faking health problems that Doctors did heart surgery and put stints in?
>
> That seems very unlikely.

> Really so far...
>
> There are far more people testifying to the fact that he does have high blood pressure and cholesteral problems and has had a major heart attack and surgery twice, then there are testifying about him faking it.
>
> As a matter of fact Bob, it's you who keeps claiming this for these anonymous "alleged victims". So it's actually your versian against every other person who claims to know about it, so far..

Cindy,
You have an interesting "version" of what has been posted here. In his letter to Tommy Shelton, Roger Clem states:

When someone would confront you about what you did, you would try to take the attention off of what you did by having some sort of health problem (loss of memory, heart problems, nervous breakdown). It seemed odd to me that you recovered quick when you realized that you were in the clear. "

This is an eyewitnesses testimony. Roger doesn't say Tommy is "faking" it, just that Tommy's health problems conveniently would surface when someone would confront him about the abuse and that it seemed odd to Roger that Tommy would recover quickly when the heat was off.

Also, the "alleged victims" you are referring to are no longer anonymous but have stepped forward to bring orward this behavior that allegedly victimized them in their youth.

would invite you to read their words yourself, Cindy. I would also invite you to go and read the confession email from Tommy Shelton himself to victim #7 at http://www.save3abn.com .

Duane Clem testimony:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=11955&st=120&p=171419&#entry171419

Scott Clem testimony:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=11955&st=90&p=168297&#entry168297

Roger Clem letter to Tommy:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=11633&st=45&p=162245&#entry162245

Brad Dunning testimony:
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=11955&st=30&p=167570&#entry167570

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Jan 22 2007, 07:46 PM

If in fact DS actually owns 3abn then it's true Linda got the shaft. But does he own it? Can he sell it and pocket the proceeds? Believe me I'm not one to defend Danny but I have to ask the questions. Did Linda really get the shaft based on the net worth of 3abn? Granted she got shafted in many other ways but I'm not convinced she did because of the worth of business unless Danny's name is on the title. Who actually owns 3abn?

Richard

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Jan 22 2007, 08:36 PM)
>
> P-Di it is obvious, to me, that you are speaking of what 3ABN is worth and that this information was posted just last week.

> Yet below we find the following is noted:

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Jan 22 2007, 07:49 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 22 2007, 06:21 PM)
>
> There has been much Back and Forth regarding Tommy Shelton's health condition.
>
> He may or may not have had the medical procedures, which have been discussed in these forums.
>
> The fact is that victims have come forward, some who have been willing to open themselves up to ridicule. Tommy admitted in the letter, which has been posted on these forums, and on Save3abn.com, that he is guilty of inappropriate acts with Duane Clem.
>
> If this man is a pedophile, what difference does it make if he is in good health or not? His physical illnesses do not give him the right to commit, nor protect him from the consequences of his crimes.
>
> Those who wish to try and make his health issues the focus cannot change the fact that he has sexually abused, and that at least some of the victims were minors at the time of the abuse.

xcellent points, lookin4truth!

would just point out that even if some of the alleged victims were not minor children at the time of the nanipulation and abuse, the fact that Tommy was in a position of power makes his alleged actions qualify as astoral sexual abuse which still, as the Clem brothers' testimony reveals, had devastating effects on them.

Posted by: seraph|m Jan 22 2007, 07:51 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Jan 22 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> ...
> Richard

Vhatever. The point I was making is that Di was misquoted. That was either intentional or not.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 22 2007, 07:44 PM)
>
> Althia, where do you get your information? You speak as though you know for sure, when clearly you do not, since for example Derrell Mundall has nothing to do with Linda's siteas you put it. Also, it is interesting that you are among the crowd that want first hand information, as we all do, yet you don't accept it and then ASK someone to speak for someone else?

SSM,

You need to do a little research yourself. Aletheia is spot on! If you want to see for yourself take a look:

http://www.namesarecheap.com/cgi/whois2.cgi?fqdn=lindashelton&tld=.org&=Whois

Pay special attention to:

Registrant Name:Derrell Mundal
Registrant Email:derrell@mundall.com
Admin Name:Derrell Mundall
Admin Email:derrell@mundall.com
Tech Name:Derrell Mundall
Tech Email:derrell@mundall.com

I think that makes it rather clear that Derrell Mundall is certainly involved in Linda Shelton's website. I know that beartrap claims it was purchased for and given to Linda - but the fact remains DM is the Admin and Tech name attached to the site. Let him come here and explain any differences in the facts.

There is a significant difference between accepting "first hand information" and accepting what anyone with an ax to grind wants to say.

- fhb

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 22 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 07:50 PM)
>
> SSM,
>
> You need to do a little research yourself. Aletheia is spot on! If you want to see for yourself take a look:
>
> http://www.namesarecheap.com/cgi/whois2.cgi?fqdn=lindashelton&tld=.org&=Whois
>
> Pay special attention to:
>
> Registrant Name:Derrell Mundal
> Registrant Email:derrell@mundall.com
> Admin Name:Derrell Mundall
> Admin Email:derrell@mundall.com
> Tech Name:Derrell Mundall
> Tech Email:derrell@mundall.com
>
> I think that makes it rather clear that Derrell Mundall is certainly involved in Linda Shelton's website. I know that beartrap (= Derrell Mundall?) claims it was purchased for and given to Linda - but the fact remains DM is the Admin and Tech name attached to the site. Let him come here and explain any differences in the facts.
>
> There is a significant difference between accepting "first hand information" and accepting what anyone with an ax to grind wants to say.
>
> - fhb

Yes, I paid very close attention to what is says on the site - I also noticed that it says in at least two places on the same page:

"This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity."

beartrap has told us that Derrell gave it over to Linda over two years ago. Just because someone sets up a website for someone else does not make them a spokesman for the person using the website.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 10:34 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 12:20 AM)
>
> Yes, I paid very close attention to what is says on the site - I also noticed that it says in at least two places on the same page:
> "This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity."
>
> beartrap has told us that Derrell gave it over to Linda over two years ago. Just because someone sets up a website for someone else does not make them a spokesman for the person using the website.

SSM,

Go ahead and hide behind that weak point. A disclaimer does not mean that beartrap is correct. Linda's site has no link to a "webmaster" so based on the information that IS available one must logically assume that Derrell is indeed the Admin and Tech contact for Linda's site. If he did turn it over to Linda why hasn't that information been changed? It seems that if you turn a domain over to another individual and planned on having no other involvement with it whatsoever, you would also alter the Admin and Tech contact info.

You can check any search tool and discover the same exact information. Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved. Additionally, it seems rather copasetic that Derrel would be managing and maintaining Linda's site as they both would be upset with 3ABN.

- FHB

Posted by: princessdi Jan 22 2007, 10:54 PM

Observer the meaning is:

There was a post last week that stated how much 3ABN was worth for the last couple of years, and it was several million dollars. Linda got payment totalling close to $250,000.00. duerint the time this ministry was valued at several million dollars....she got shafted. as co-founder she should have been bought out for half the value of the ministry/business. It was by no means fair, while included within a statement whic kept her quiet while Danny blasted away at her character, even to this day. Got it now.............

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jan 21 2007, 04:47 AM)
>
> Re: ". . . Linda was 'compensated extrene,y [sic.] well'. . . . just last week, Linda got approx. $250,000.00. She was co-founder, she got shafted."
>
> Is this saying that Linda recieved 250 K last week? If so, is this a brand-new settlement? Or is the 250 K amount the total amount recieved over the time period covered by the settlement agreement?
>
> Whatever it is, it is a settlement of something. As such, it is a clear statement that the involved parties (Linda, Danny, 3-ABN, or whoever) all agreed that 250 K was a fair amount for the issues resolved. As such, I would not say that she was compensated extremely will. The best that can be said is that all agree that she was compensated fairly. [NOTE: There may be legal reasons to challenge it as a fair settlement.]

> It should be noted that the origonal settlement agreement, did not settle everything. It did leave some issues unresolved. If the 250 K is a recent settlement of those issues than that is what it is. It is an agreement between Linda, Danny, and 3-ABN that settles the unresolved issues for 250 K. If that is what it is, it should put the lie to the statements by some that Linda wanted multiple millions of dollars. If Linda wanted that much she would not settle for a mere 250 K. She would take her chance on a jury trial.
>
> NOTE: I am making some general comments. I know that the last part of my quote is: ". . . she got shafted."

So you, too have been posting without reading! This is just hilarious. FHB you might want to give this up. I can tell that you are being given a great kindness right about now. Please concede that Beartrap is correct. Now, I am really calling for the next team. All of you now should be fired for your lack of knowledge.

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> SSM,
>
> Go ahead and hide behind that weak point. A disclaimer does not mean that beartrap is correct. Linda's site has no link to a "webmaster" so based on the information that IS available one must logically assume that Derrell is indeed the Admin and Tech contact for Linda's site. If he did turn it over to Linda why hasn't that information been changed? It seems that if you turn a domain over to another individual and planned on having no other involvement with it whatsoever, you would also alter the Admin and Tech contact info.
>
> You can check any search tool and discover the same exact information. Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved. Additionally, it seems rather copasetic that Derrel would be managing and maintaining Linda's site as they both would be upset with 3ABN.
>
> - FHB

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 10:56 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 23 2007, 12:54 AM)
>
> So you, too have been posting without reading! This is just hilarious. FHB you might want to give this up. I can tell that you are being given a great kindness right about now. Please concede that Beartrap is correct.

No.

Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information nakes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't nvolved.

FHB

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 22 2007, 11:02 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> No.
>
> Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved.
>
> - FHB

I guess you have called Beartrap (and me) a liar. You don't have to accept it if you don't want to.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 11:07 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 01:02 AM)
>
> I guess you have called Beartrap (and me) a liar. You don't have to accept it if you don't want to.

SSM,

Let's makes this perfectly clear. I said:

> QUOTE
>
> A disclaimer does not mean that beartrap is correct.

Beartrap could very well be mistaken, have been feed false information, or misunderstood what he was told. Who knows. The fact remains that:

> QUOTE
>
> Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved.

I don't see anywhere that I call you or beartrap a liar. I am merely pointing out that your claim that Derrell isn't involved does not match up with the verifiable information. So, make of that what you will.

- FHB

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 22 2007, 11:19 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 09:07 PM)
>
> SSM,

> Let's makes this perfectly clear. I said:
> Beartrap could very well be mistaken, have been feed false information, or misunderstood what he was told. Who knows. The fact remains that:
> I don't see anywhere that I call you or beartrap a liar. I am merely pointing out that your claim that Derrell isn't involved does not match up with the verifiable information. So, make of that what you will.
>
> - FHB

eartrap did not make a mistake, and neither did I when telling you that the site says
This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity. "
f you don't accept what beartrap is telling regarding this, you are in essence calling him a liar.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 11:41 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 01:19 AM)
>
> beartrap did not make a mistake, and neither did I when telling you that the site says
> "This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity. "
> If you don't accept what beartrap is telling regarding this, you are in essence calling him a liar.

SM,

ttp://www.pir.org/Search/WhoIsSearchResults.aspx?txtWhoIsSearch=lindashelton ttp://www.register.com/retail/whois_info.rcmx?requestType=validate_challenge

ttp://whois.domaintools.com/lindashelton.org

disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the nformation to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the nformation is the same.

FHB

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 22 2007, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 09:41 PM)
>
> SSM,
>
> http://www.pir.org/Search/WhoIsSearchResults.aspx?txtWhoIsSearch=lindashelton
>
> http://www.register.com/retail/whois_info.rcmx?requestType=validate_challenge
>
> http://whois.domaintools.com/lindashelton.org
>
> A disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the information to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the information is the same.

> - FHB

f you choose to believe what you see as the actual and accurate literal truth, then that is your choice. eartrap has not lied. It was turned over to Linda. The end.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 22 2007, 11:50 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 01:47 AM)
>
> If you choose to believe what you see as the actual and accurate literal truth, then that is your choice. Beartrap has not lied. It was turned over to Linda. The end.

SM,

kay, let's play your little game. If (and there is not evidence that substantiates this) Derrell turned over the omain name to Linda it doesn't mean he doesn't maintain the site for her. It doesn't mean that he isn't still he Admin and Tech contact for the site. Let him come here and show us the transfer and make the claim that e isn't involved in any way, shape, or form.

FHB

Posted by: inga Jan 22 2007, 11:53 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 12:19 AM)
>
> beartrap did not make a mistake, and neither did I when telling you that the site says
> "This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity. "
> If you don't accept what beartrap is telling regarding this, you are in essence calling him a liar.

s owner of numerous domain names myself, I know that the reality is that the information at the domain egistrars is often hopelessly out of date. They don't care a whit, as long as they have a working credit card n file. ;-) And they don't care whose credit card it is.

t is likely that Derrel got the domain name for Linda, then turned it over to her just as he said, including asswords to the registrar site. By what FHB says, the info at the registrar site is not updated to reflect resent reality.

hat proves nothing.

hether Linda or Derrel choose to update the info is up to them.

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 22 2007, 11:57 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 23 2007, 12:19 AM)
>
> beartrap did not make a mistake, and neither did I when telling you that the site says
> "This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity. "

> If you don't accept what beartrap is telling regarding this, you are in essence calling him a liar.

Vell here's where I got the information from and this site does not have that disclaimer for it's the original vhois server, it also has the Domain history...

ttp://whois.domaintools.com/lindashelton.org

nd why is Beartrap talking about himself in the third person and why are you acting like Beartrap is not errell Mundall, and can't answer for himself?
urely it's not a secret, when he's told people that's who he is and members here have posted that very thing o me?

gain, I would like to know what Linda has to say about this whole Tommy case since she has no gag order nd Bob and Gailon have both been so vocal about how open Linda's side wants to be...

Posted by: princessdi Jan 23 2007, 12:03 AM

Ok, I was trying to help you out......have it your way........

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 08:56 PM)
>
> No.
>
> Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved.
>
> - FHB

would answer ya'll like that, too. Sheesh!!! I said we needed motto #2!

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 09:57 PM)
>
> Well here's where I got the information from and this site does not have that disclaimer for it's the original whois server, it also has the Domain history...
>
> http://whois.domaintools.com/lindashelton.org
> And why is Beartrap talking about himself in the third person and why are you acting like Beartrap is not Derrell Mundall, and can't answer for himself?
> Surely it's not a secret, when he's told people that's who he is and members here have posted that very thing to me?
>
> Again, I would like to know what Linda has to say about this whole Tommy case since she has no gag order and Bob and Gailon have both been so vocal about how open Linda's side wants to be...

'm going to try one more time.......FHB, don't post another word until you read post #265.

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 09:41 PM)

> SSM,
>
> http://www.pir.org/Search/WhoIsSearchResults.aspx?txtWhoIsSearch=lindashelton
>
> http://www.register.com/retail/whois_info.rcmx?requestType=validate_challenge
>
> http://whois.domaintools.com/lindashelton.org
>
> A disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the information to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the information is the same.
>
> - FHB

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 23 2007, 12:05 AM

> QUOTE(Brenda @ Jan 23 2007, 10:42 AM) ☐
>
> Does any one here actually doubt that Tommy Shelton has had these medical problems?
>
> It is entirely possible that stress related to his lifestyle and its consequences has contributed to his health issues, and that could include an acute exascerbation of his symptoms.
>
> I for one do not accuse him of faking anything.
>
> But those symptoms do not remove the necessity for answering the questions raised by his victims, not all of whom are now anonymous.

I agree Brenda, and am not disputing that he has a genetic predisposition to cardiac problems, and most likely has the stent (mentioned) inserted, along with becoming ill, whenever there is a crisis.

Stress is bound to exacerbate his condition. Does that mean that we should ignore the fact of pedaphilia, that some seem to think is an extenuating circumstance?

As Brenda said above, his symptoms do NOT remove the necessity for answering the questions raised by HIS VICTIMS; especially in light of the fact, that SOME are now known. As is usual with any person who engages in this behaviour, I believe that there would be many more victims who have not come forward.

Apparently, there is a history of memory loss, 'nervous breakdown' (whatever that really means) and those are usually initiated by stress also. With the thought of being held accountable, it's no wonder that Tommy is feeling stressed.

Should he be excused? NO.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Jan 23 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 23 2007, 01:53 AM) ☐
>
> As owner of numerous domain names myself, I know that the reality is that the information at the domain > registrars is often hopelessly out of date. They don't care a whit, as long as they have a working credit card on file. ;-) And they don't care whose credit card it is.

>
> It is likely that Derrel got the domain name for Linda, then turned it over to her just as he said, including passwords to the registrar site. By what FHB says, the info at the registrar site is not updated to reflect present reality.
>
> That proves nothing.
>
> Whether Linda or Derrel choose to update the info is up to them.

nga, ccording to the latest domain history entry on whois.com (dated January 22, 2007) it indicates that Derrell s the owner and operator of the domain lindashelton.org. That would be rather current information.

also own a number of domain names so I am not just talking out the top of my hat. I also did not say that he info at the registrar site is not up to date.

FHB

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Jan 23 2007, 02:03 AM)
>
> Ok, I was trying to help you out......have it your way........
> I'm going to try one more time.......FHB, don't post another word until you read post #265.

55 or 265? Trying to help me out?

FHB

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 23 2007, 12:12 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 07:30 AM)
>
> Really so far...
>
> There are far more people testifying to the fact that he does have high blood pressure and cholesteral problems and has had a major heart attack and surgery twice, then there are testifying about him faking it.

ctually, I have not seen anyone deny that Tommy has "high blood pressure and cholesteral problems".

rom where I sit, this is being used as an EXCUSE for Tommy's behviour and a further EXCUSE as to why we hould go all mambi-pambi on him, instead of calling sin by it's right name, and holding Tommy accountable or his actions.

Posted by: princessdi Jan 23 2007, 12:14 AM

My bad, FHB. Make that Post #264. Ok now that is your very last clue.........no posting util you get the answer, ok?

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 10:10 PM) ☐
>
> 255 or 265? Trying to help me out?
>
> - FHB

Posted by: Ozzie Jan 23 2007, 12:22 AM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Jan 23 2007, 11:21 AM) ☐
>
> If this man is a pedophile, what difference does it make if he is in good health or not? His physical illnesses do not give him the right to commit, nor protect him from the consequences of his crimes.
>
> Those who wish to try and make his health issues the focus cannot change the fact that he has sexually abused, and that at least some of the victims were minors at the time of the abuse.

AMEN!

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 23 2007, 01:50 PM) ☐
>
> SSM,
>
> You need to do a little research yourself. Aletheia is spot on! If you want to see for yourself take a look:
>
> http://www.namesarecheap.com/cgi/whois2.cgi?fqdn=lindashelton&tld=.org&=Whois
>
> Pay special attention to:
>
> Registrant Name:Derrell Mundal
> Registrant Email:derrell@mundall.com
> Admin Name:Derrell Mundall
> Admin Email:derrell@mundall.com
> Tech Name:Derrell Mundall
> Tech Email:derrell@mundall.com
>
> I think that makes it rather clear that Derrell Mundall is certainly involved in Linda Shelton's website. I know that beartrap claims it was purchased for and given to Linda - but the fact remains DM is the Admin and Tech name attached to the site. Let him come here and explain any differences in the facts.
>
> There is a significant difference between accepting "first hand information" and accepting what anyone with an ax to grind wants to say.
>
> - fhb

Maybe, they need to read the 'fine print'.

Tech City:Thompsonville
Tech State/Province:Illinois
Tech Postal Code:62890
Tech Country:US
Tech Phone:+1.6189231134

Tech Phone Ext.:
Tech FAX:
Tech FAX Ext.:
Tech Email:derrell@mundall.com
Name Server:NS1.SECURESERVER.NET
Name Server:NS2.SECURESERVER.NET

This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 23 2007, 12:35 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 22 2007, 11:57 PM)
>
> Again, I would like to know what Linda has to say about this whole Tommy case since she has no gag order and Bob and Gailon have both been so vocal about how open Linda's side wants to be...

Who told you that there is no gag order?

It's the contract payments that ended in December, not the promise to keep quiet.

Pete

Posted by: Ralph Jan 23 2007, 12:39 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 10:41 PM)
>
> A disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the information to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the information is the same.
>
> - FHB

Maybe this is the same reason that the word alleged is used when discussing the alleged abuse by Tommy Shelton of the alleged victims. Remember, "A disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the information to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the information is the same."

You have a unique way of allegedly sidetracking the discussion from the important issues.

Allegedly written by Ralph

Posted by: princessdi Jan 23 2007, 12:42 AM

Ok, I thought this was also common knowledge.................. cue Mission Impossible music..........

FHB, Cindy, you assigment, should you choose to accept it, is to read and get a working knowledge of all the facts before posting again, or just post question for information purposes only.......this message will not self destruct and remain as a reminder that you should not be posting until you are informed.......................

Cue music.........fade to black.........

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 22 2007, 10:35 PM)
>
> Who told you that there is no gag order?
>
> It's the contract payments that ended in December, not the promise to keep quiet.
>
> Pete

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 23 2007, 06:45 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 11:34 PM)
>
> Go ahead and hide behind that weak point. A disclaimer does not mean that beartrap is correct. Linda's site has no link to a "webmaster" so based on the information that IS available one must logically assume that Derrell is indeed the Admin and Tech contact for Linda's site. If he did turn it over to Linda why hasn't that information been changed? It seems that if you turn a domain over to another individual and planned on having no other involvement with it whatsoever, you would also alter the Admin and Tech contact info.

It is plain that we can add domain name registration to the ever growing list of things regarding which you are utterly clueless.

Do your homework and you'll realize why the presumption you've made is wrong.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 23 2007, 07:15 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 23 2007, 01:35 AM)
>
> Who told you that there is no gag order?
>
> It's the contract payments that ended in December, not the promise to keep quiet.
>
> Pete

Well Bob Pickle , for one... He claims it's obvious, and most people know that just by reading the contract...

> QUOTE
>
> ---- Original Message -----
> From: Bob
> To: ~ Cindy
> Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 8:33 AM
> Subject: Re: opinion?
>
> Here's my opinion: Don't post it.
>
> Whether rightly or wrongly, you have gotten a reputation that will be difficult to change. It's just the facts. And if you post this you will not gain anything.
>
> For example, you were the one who asked online in huge letters, "Is there a lawyer in the house?" Now if you interpret Johann's statement as being a threat, it will further convince people that you are terribly confused and don't have a clue about what you are talking about.
>
> Do you really want that?
>
> Bob
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: ~ Cindy
> To: Bob
> Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 8:58 AM
> Subject: Re: opinion?
>
> No Bob, I am not going to quote you.
>
> But my "Is there a lawyer in the house?" was in reference to whether the contract between Linda and 3 ABN was still binding after the 24 mos, and I was hoping for one would answer. Don't you think thats a valid question?
>
> But, that was, and is totally unrelated to Johann or anything I have asked him or posted about with him.
>
> You think Johann was talking about that?
>
> That doesn't even make sense.
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: Bob
> To: ~ Cindy
> Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 11:52 AM
> Subject: Re: opinion?
>
> Hi Cindy.
>
> When I said, "Don't post it," I was talking about what you were thinking of posting, not my opinion. Of course, it would not be wise to post my opinion either.
>
> Most folks who read the contract can tell that it is only good through December 2006. People will react negatively to your even asking that question since it seems so obvious to them just from reading it.

You may still wonder about many things, but it isn't wise for you to ask every question that comes to your mind. If at all possible, pick questions that most folks would think are good questions. And if you aren't sure if you can do that, it would be better if you were just a lurker.

You don't mind me being honest, do you?

Johann's message to you makes sense to me in light of your post. And if he could have worded it slightly better to communicate his thoughts better, well, he wouldn't be the only one that could do that in this matter.

I think at this point it would probably be better to just be a lurker. I had a pastor call me today who reads these forums, and he thought about the same.

See you.

Bob

----- Original Message -----
From: ~ Cindy
To: Bob
Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 12:29 PM
Subject: Re: opinion?

Well Bob, Johann and I are still emailing back and forth. I do appreciate your honesty, but you have to know that what you just said clearly shows your take on everything and where you stand, and that changes everything. I reserve the right to repeat or post anything you write, from here on out. Just as you do with those you receive emails from..

I am NOT going to be censored nor adjust my thinking or questions to not rattle or disturb or make angry the majority, nor just lurk. Running with the crowd and letting them rule you is NEVER a good thing, for the majority is lost.

The majority thinks stating the obvious about the contract is a bad thing, and wish to keep it quiet??

How very opposite of honest people. Why are you with, and representing them?

I am sure many would like me to shut up and go away, but me thinks people protest way too much. The more people attack and get upset with me personally rather then dealing with the subject, the more I think they are doing so because there is something really rotten they are hiding and doing.

Christians NEVER fear questions. Why be afraid of the truth?

I never am

----- Original Message -----
From: Bob
To: ~ Cindy
Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 2:42 PM
Subject: Re: opinion?

Cindy,

What you don't realize is that the pastor who called me put it a lot less kindly than how I worded the gist of his conversation.

You write:

> "The majority thinks stating the obvious about the contract is a bad thing, and wish to keep it quiet??"
>
> I don't understand this statement of yours. Since I stated that the majority would think that the contract just runs through December 2006, and that is what is obvious to them, then why would the majority want to keep that quiet?
>
> The fact that you would make this statement does not put you in the best light, and gives the impression that you just want to argue. In saying that I'm only using words others have used when they have referred to other things you have said.
>
> What people wonder is whether it is possible to carry on a constructive conversation with you, not because they are afraid of being asked questions, but because of the type of questions that get asked.
>
> "The majority thinks stating the obvious about the contract is a bad thing, and wish to keep it quiet??"
>
> It comes across as if you want to argue that the sky is green with purple polka dots, rather than blue. Are you saying that the obvious is contrary to what I said it was, and thus are you trying to argue that the contract is really perpetual? That is utter nonsense, and most folks who read the contract know that it is. So why would they want to argue with someone who says otherwise? Why would they even think about taking that person seriously?
>
> Bob
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: ~ Cindy
> To: Bob
> Sent: Tuesday, January 02, 2007 3:43 PM
> Subject: Re: opinion?
>
> Bob, why should I care about people's opinions, such as an anonymous pastor, or be controlled by them?
>
> And it is not obvious people think the contract is tempory for no one, not one single person, has said that in response to me. They are all claiming the opposite.
>
> And believe it or not, it is possible for people who are unbiased and aren't afraid of being questioned, or for others to be, to answer me and hold a normal conversation. I've had many of those in private messenger here and on maritime. It's the only way to do so without being verbally assualted and accused of falsehoods.
>
> I am well aware that many are intent on painting me as stupid, irrelevant, having a learning disability, and unable to be understood, and not being able to understand. I read all the posts. But this I know. Christians do not react to fellow Christians in this way. They do not respond to questions with ad hominems. Apparently you are one of those people.
>
> At this point, I think it would be best if you didn't e-mail me anymore.

edited to add this: bold text was added by me for emphasis

Posted by: Clay Jan 23 2007, 07:17 AM

FHB, Cindy and the other Danny apologists (that would be Joe Smith, Bystander, EyeWitness, and the other pretenders who have waltzed through here).... IMO you are totally clueless.... and I say that in love....

disclaimer: the views expressed by me do not reflect the opinions of the management of BSDA.

> The Danny apologists engage in minimizing what Danny has done, and what Tommy Shelton has done...then they attempt to get the discussion sidetracked with minutiae...... tiresome they are.....

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 23 2007, 07:32 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 23 2007, 12:50 AM)
>
> Let him come here and show us the transfer and make the claim that he isn't involved in any way, shape, or form.
>
> - FHB

Why? I don't remember him being on trial...

Always skirting around the real issues!

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 23 2007, 07:51 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 23 2007, 08:17 AM)
>
> FHB, Cindy and the other Danny apologists (that would be Joe Smith, Bystander, EyeWitness, and the other pretenders who have waltzed through here).... IMO you are totally clueless.... and I say that in love....
>
> disclaimer: the views expressed by me do not reflect the opinions of the management of BSDA.
>
> The Danny apologists engage in minimizing what Danny has done, and what Tommy Shelton has done...then they attempt to get the discussion sidetracked with minutiae...... tiresome they are.....

I can only speak for myself. I am not a Danny apologist, I don't know the man, and the first time I ever watched 3ABN was 10 commandments weekend, and since being on this forum, as posters here keep referring to broadcasts.

As far as Tommy goes, if he's guilty that will be proved. For many that has been proved by what has been posted here, for me, the evidence here needs to be verified as factual. So, I am trying to do that for myself, off these boards.

What I find sTrAnGe here is that with so many talking about Danny's guilt, they cannot seem to understand that for honest people who look at the whole situation in a unbiased way, most of what they find Danny at fault for, are the same things they refuse to find Linda at fault for.

"The Linda apologists" all claim they are not trying to defend her yet accuse all who mention her, or question her stance and accountability as being "Danny apologists"

This is surely strange behavior to me.

I constantly have to remind myself, that Linda can not be found gulty based on the characters, methods, tactics and spirit of those siding with her here.

On the otherhand, if I had such defending me, I'd have to speak up for myself and ask them to stop from shame, and embarassment.

Thus my question on several occasions:

Where is Linda's voice in all this?

My opinion also.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 23 2007, 08:29 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 22 2007, 11:56 PM)
>
> No.
>
> Derrell is the Owner, Admin, and Tech contact for lindashelton.org. The available, verifiable information makes that unmistakeably clear. When that information indicates otherwise then we will know that he isn't involved.
>
> - FHB

There are dozens of domains which have me as Admin and Tech Contact from when I used to work for an ISP because I was the one who submitted the request to the domain name registrarand who set their web site up... and once they were set up and I turned them over I have not had any further involvement with the domains, the information presented on those web sites or anything else pertaining to them...even though my name remains in their WHOIS information.

In order to keep people from hijacking domain names, domain name registrars make it painfully inconvenient to change the contact information for a domain... and most companies dont bother to change the info.. even when the person listed may no longer be with the company or may no longer have any involvement with the domain in question.

You are going to have to do better than this if you are going to 'prove' beartrap a liar... at this point you've proven squat.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 23 2007, 09:38 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 07:15 AM)
>
> Well Bob Pickle , for one... He claims it's obvious, and most people know that just by reading the contract...

The contract payments to Linda did end in December. That is the part that is obvious.

What is not so obvious is that those payments, in part, were for the promise of confidentiality. There is no time limit on the promise of confidentiality.

When you visit a law firm, a hospital or a real estate agency, you have a contract. Those contracts end when you get well, finish your legal business, or sell your house.

The contracts do not give the hospital the right to publish your health problems , the law firm the right to publish your will, or the real estate agency the right to tell why you sold your house. Those promises of confidentiality continue after you have moved on with your life.

Bob Pickle mentioned to you that he had an "opinion." And he specifically told you it would not be wise to publish that opinion. You should have listened to him.

> QUOTE(Pickle)
>
> Of course, it would not be wise to post my opinion either . Most folks who read the contract can tell that it is only good through December 2006.

However, if Linda does decide to publish books, you will be happy to know that Linda is free to publish fictional novels on any subject under the sun. Therefore, you could actually receive your request of hearing "Linda's voice" at some point in the future.

Posted by: Pickle Jan 23 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 23 2007, 09:38 AM) ☐
>
> The contract payments to Linda did end in December. That is the part that is obvious.
>
> What is not so obvious is that those payments, in part, were for the promise of confidentiality. There is no time limit on the promise of confidentiality.

Pete,

Ellen White wrote that a law that has no penalty is of no force.

Is there any penalty in the contract for speaking out after the final payment is received? Is there any penalty that could be conjured up and stick in court?

Posted by: Lee Jan 23 2007, 10:11 AM

Of course Linda can talk now on this board. To say otherwise goes against the freedoms of our Country. She has a free will and she can come on here and defend herself. Says WHO that Linda made a "promise" of confidentiality??--then WHY is she writing a book? Oh-excuse me, an "alledged" book!

To say otherwise is putting your head in the sand.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 23 2007, 10:25 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Jan 23 2007, 11:11 AM) ☐
>
> She has a free will and she can come on here and defend herself.

The same goes for Danny and Tommy and the 3ABN board... ergo there is no need for you and others to do it, is there...

Do you ever consider the ramifications of what you say on the things that you do? Given the frequency with which you are hoist by your own petard, I would have to conclude you do not... pity.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 23 2007, 10:36 AM

> QUOTE(Ozzie @ Jan 22 2007, 10:22 PM)
>
> AMEN!
> Maybe, they need to read the 'fine print'.
>
> Tech City:Thompsonville
> Tech State/Province:Illinois
> Tech Postal Code:62890
> Tech Country:US
> Tech Phone:+1.6189231134
> Tech Phone Ext.:
> Tech FAX:
> Tech FAX Ext.:
> Tech Email:derrell@mundall.com
> Name Server:NS1.SECURESERVER.NET
> Name Server:NS2.SECURESERVER.NET
> This information was obtained from a different whois server, so we cannot verify its authenticity.

I read it

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 23 2007, 11:22 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 23 2007, 10:01 AM)
>
> Pete,
>
> Ellen White wrote that a law that has no penalty is of no force.
>
> Is there any penalty in the contract for speaking out after the final payment is received? Is there any penalty that could be conjured up and stick in court?

Yes, I think there are penalties.

I think this area of law is called "breach of contract."

Wikipedia:

"Breach of contract is a legal concept in which a binding agreement or bargained-for exchange is not honored by one or more of the parties to the contract by non-performance or interference with the other party's performance."

Writing a non-fiction account would likely be considered "non-performance" since Linda received money with the stipulation she would remain silent. There is likely no expiration on that promise. This silence was part of the "bargained-for-exchange" that Linda agreed to.

So, if silence was part of the contract, and that part of the contract is broken at a later date, the other party could ask for a remedy from the court, depending on the breach.

This violation is no different than if your law firm or medical clinic discloses your legal and medical affairs to the public - without your permission - at a much later date, long after you've paid your legal and medical fees, and moved on.

However, Linda is protected by the First Amendment when it comes to writing books. She can write fiction to no end.

However, I'm not an Illinois lawyer, so my opinion should not be construed with giving legal advice. All of what I have said would have to be verified by someone who is licensed there and can work directly with the person who signed the contract.

Posted by: Johann Jan 23 2007, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 23 2007, 07:22 PM)
>
> Yes, I think there are penalties.
>
> - - -
>
> So, if silence was part of the contract, and that part of the contract is broken at a later date, the other party could ask for a remedy from the court, depending on the breach.
>
> - - -
>
> However, Linda is protected by the First Amendment when it comes to writing books. She can write fiction to no end.
>
> - - -

What if - and this is merely a "what if" question - Liinda should welcome appearing in court to defend her right to speak out, and to have the "gag order" made invalid?

Posted by: princessdi Jan 23 2007, 11:41 AM

Cindy, I am going to say this just one more time. Danny is guilty in my eyes, and many others because at one point in this sordid mess he has lied and exhibited behavior not befitting a christian, including his treatment of his Linda(for me it was the fact that he lied when he came through the dorr at BSDA). Simple as that!

What you fail to realize if that you are called an apologist, because even with letters posted by two of Tommy Shelton's victims, you refuse to believe, or it just doesn't matter to you. You asked for first hand, you got first hand, and you still don't believe it. Nobody is minimizing the actions of Linda, mainly becuase there have been none to speak of. She has been quietly going about her business.

As late as last night a question was brought about Linda's website, and it was answered from the horses mouth(begging you forgiveness Derrell), but for some reason you and FHB are having a problem with the answer. Now, it seems to me that there is not reason for you to be here asking questions, if you aren't going to accept the answers. There is very little second or third hand information here, but because neither of you even took the time to read, you don't know that.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 05:51 AM)
>
> I can only speak for myself. I am not a Danny apologist, I don't know the man, and the first time I ever watched 3ABN was 10 commandments weekend, and since being on this forum, as posters here keep referring to broadcasts.
>
> As far as Tommy goes, if he's guilty that will be proved. For many that has been proved by what has been posted here, for me, the evidence here needs to be verified as factual. So, I am trying to do that for myself, off these boards.
>
> What I find sTrAnGe here is that with so many talking about Danny's guilt, they cannot seem to understand that for honest people who look at the whole situation in a unbiased way, most of what they find Danny at fault for, are the same things they refuse to find Linda at fault for.
>
> "The Linda apologists" all claim they are not trying to defend her yet accuse all who mention her, or question her stance and accountability as being "Danny apologists"
>
> This is surely strange behavior to me.
>
> I constantly have to remind myself, that Linda can not be found gulty based on the characters, methods, tactics and spirit of those siding with her here.
>
> On the otherhand, if I had such defending me, I'd have to speak up for myself and ask them to stop from shame, and embarassment.
>
> Thus my question on several occasions:
>
> Where is Linda's voice in all this?
> My opinion also.

Posted by: Snoopy Jan 23 2007, 12:13 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 23 2007, 11:22 AM)
>
> Yes, I think there are penalties.
>
> I think this area of law is called "breach of contract."
>
> Wikipedia:
>
> "Breach of contract is a legal concept in which a binding agreement or bargained-for exchange is not honored by one or more of the parties to the contract by non-performance or interference with the other party's performance."
>
> Writing a non-fiction account would likely be considered "non-performance" since Linda received money with the stipulation she would remain silent. There is likely no expiration on that promise. This silence was part of the "bargained-for-exchange" that Linda agreed to.
>
> So, if silence was part of the contract, and that part of the contract is broken at a later date, the other party could ask for a remedy from the court, depending on the breach.

> This violation is no different than if your law firm or medical clinic discloses your legal and medical affairs to the public - without your permission - at a much later date, long after you've paid your legal and medical fees, and moved on.
>
> However, Linda is protected by the First Amendment when it comes to writing books. She can write fiction to no end.
>
> However, I'm not an Illinois lawyer, so my opinion should not be construed with giving legal advice. All of what I have said would have to be verified by someone who is licensed there and can work directly with the person who signed the contract.

:ven if Linda did breach the contract by writing a non-fictional book, wouldn't she only be liable to the extent ›f the compensation she received to stay quiet, ie, $250K? Not that a quarter of a million dollars isn't a lot of noney, but wouldn't book royalties cover that cost with a substantial margin left over?

Posted by: Spike Jan 23 2007, 01:36 PM

So the $64,000.00 question is why would they want to keep her quiet? If DS and 3abn are such an honorable and upstanding organization why the gag order? I mean they have nothing to hide right.

The answers are here if you are truly seeking for them!

Posted by: Aletheia Jan 23 2007, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 23 2007, 09:29 AM)
>
> There are dozens of domains which have me as Admin and Tech Contact from when I used to work for an ISP because I was the one who submitted the request to the domain name registrarand who set their web site up... and once they were set up and I turned them over I have not had any further involvement with the domains, the information presented on those web sites or anything else pertaining to them...even though my name remains in their WHOIS information.

ntersesting...

’ou weren't listed as the Registrant like Derrell, and billed on all those accounts were you?
)r if you were listed as Registrant {Registered owner]you at least knew to list Billing contact info separately ;o that you weren't billed, when it was time to register or update the registry?

'm presuming you weren't for if that was the case, you'd certainly have something to do with all those vebsites...

'his is standard for all personal websites and domains....

lame Server Modification
Vho has access to modify a domain name or account?

)nly the registrant is authorized to request for login information or modifications to an account/domain.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 23 2007, 09:29 AM)
>
> In order to keep people from hijacking domain names, domain name registrars make it painfully inconvenient to change the contact information for a domain... and most companies dont bother to change > the info.. even when the person listed may no longer be with the company or may no longer have any involvement with the domain in question.

ımmmm...

t's actually very quick and simple. This is pretty standard too.

ˉhe registrar for LindaShelton.org is Wild West domains.

Vild West Domains FAQ

ɨow do I modify my account information?
ˉo modify your account information, log into your account and click on "Account Information" and then on Update Contact Information." Make the necessary changes and press submit.

ɨow do I modify my domain registration WhoIS information?

ˉhe contact information for an account is the WhoIS information for all the registrations within that account. Jpdating the account information for your account, will update the domain registration owned by your ıccount.

Posted by: Clay Jan 23 2007, 01:39 PM

> QUOTE(Spike @ Jan 23 2007, 01:36 PM) ☐
>
> So the $64,000.00 question is why would they want to keep her quiet? If DS and 3abn are such an honorable and upstanding organization why the gag order? I mean they have nothing to hide right.
>
> The answers are here if you are truly seeking for them!

ːxactly.... start with that basic question...

Posted by: Pickle Jan 23 2007, 01:42 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jan 23 2007, 11:22 AM) ☐
>
> Yes, I think there are penalties.

ˉhe contract specifically says that if she violates the contract by talking negatively in public, the payments will ›e terminated. That is the only penalty mentioned. There is nothing in it about having to pay back previous ›ayments already made.

personally feel that there is nothing that really can make the contract binding past Dec. 2006.

Posted by: Spike Jan 23 2007, 01:55 PM

Someone said Linda might be writing a book. I think maybe she needs to, but it should be a combined effort of all that DS has wronged. I'm sure that list is quite long and would make for a most interesting read.

Posted by: Clay Jan 23 2007, 01:59 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> Intersesting...
>
> You weren't listed as the Registrant like Derrell, and billed on all those accounts were you?
> Or if you were listed as Registrant {Registered owner]you at least knew to list Billing contact info separately so that you weren't billed, when it was time to register or update the registry?
>
> I'm presuming you weren't for if that was the case, you'd certainly have something to do with all those websites...
>
> This is standard for all personal websites and domains....
>
> Name Server Modification
> Who has access to modify a domain name or account?
>
> Only the registrant is authorized to request for login information or modifications to an account/domain.
> hmmmm...
>
> It's actually very quick and simple. This is pretty standard too.
>
> The registrar for LindaShelton.org is Wild West domains.
>
> Wild West Domains FAQ
>
> How do I modify my account information?
> To modify your account information, log into your account and click on "Account Information" and then on "Update Contact Information." Make the necessary changes and press submit.
>
> How do I modify my domain registration WhoIS information?
>
> The contact information for an account is the WhoIS information for all the registrations within that account. Updating the account information for your account, will update the domain registration owned by your account.

weapons of mass distraction.... only one problem... this aint sabbath school... we pay attention and we can see right through your attempt...... ever work for the Bush White House cause what you are doing is right out of their play book.....

Posted by: inga Jan 23 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Jan 23 2007, 01:39 AM)
>
> Maybe this is the same reason that the word alleged is used when discussing the alleged abuse by Tommy Shelton of the alleged victims. Remember, "A disclaimer doesn't mean the information isn't true, it is an effort to insure no legal responsibility for the information to avoid legal situations later on. The fact remains that no matter where you look it up the information is the same."

> You have a unique way of allegedly sidetracking the discussion from the important issues.
> Allegedly written by Ralph ell said!

llegedly Inga

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 23 2007, 02:16 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Jan 23 2007, 01:42 PM)
>
> The contract specifically says that if she violates the contract by talking negatively in public, the payments will be terminated. That is the only penalty mentioned. There is nothing in it about having to pay back previous payments already made.
>
> I personally feel that there is nothing that really can make the contract binding past Dec. 2006.

our interpretation seems to be exactly what the contract says. The contract says that termination of contract ayments is the remedy for non-compliance.

o, Pickle, you feel the contract is written so that the Munchkin Coroner can say it is "most assuredly dead."

hat's a good point of view. I like that one. But, I hope somebody checks with an expert, first.

question the wisdom of 3ABN creating a gag order that only lasted 24 months, if that was their intent.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 23 2007, 02:20 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 02:38 PM)
>
> Intersesting...
>
> You weren't listed as the Registrant like Derrell, and billed on all those accounts were you?
> Or if you were listed as Registrant {Registered owner]you at least knew to list Billing contact info separately so that you weren't billed, when it was time to register or update the registry?
>
> I'm presuming you weren't for if that was the case, you'd certainly have something to do with all those websites...
>
> This is standard for all personal websites and domains....
>
> Name Server Modification
> Who has access to modify a domain name or account?
>
> Only the registrant is authorized to request for login information or modifications to an account/domain.
> hmmmm...
>
> It's actually very quick and simple. This is pretty standard too.
>
> The registrar for LindaShelton.org is Wild West domains.

> Wild West Domains FAQ
>
> How do I modify my account information?
> To modify your account information, log into your account and click on "Account Information" and then on "Update Contact Information." Make the necessary changes and press submit.
>
> How do I modify my domain registration WhoIS information?
>
> The contact information for an account is the WhoIS information for all the registrations within that account. Updating the account information for your account, will update the domain registration owned by your account.

hat allows you to submit it... it declares your intent to change it... it doesnt, however, change it. To avoid hings like lawsuits, the registrar is going to check that 8 ways from sunday before the contact info is actually hanged. What you see here gets the process started online... but the bulk of the work is done offline and nvolves things like originals of notarized documents on company letterhead... things one cannot submit nline.

ice try, Cindy...but again... no cigar.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: inga Jan 23 2007, 02:42 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Jan 23 2007, 01:10 AM)
>
> Inga,
>
> According to the latest domain history entry on whois.com (dated January 22, 2007) it indicates that Derrell is the owner and operator of the domain lindashelton.org. That would be rather current information.
>
> I also own a number of domain names so I am not just talking out the top of my hat. I also did not say that the info at the registrar site is not up to date.

wning a number of domain names clearly doesn't make you an expert. Where did you find an entry that aid the info on file was updated January 22, 2007?
his is what the whois server says today (Jan 23, 2007):
omain Name:LINDASHELTON.ORG reated On:12-Jun-2004 18:34:26 UTC
ast Updated On:07-Jun-2006 18:58:27 UTC xpiration Date:12-Jun-2009 18:34:26 UTC
ponsoring Registrar:Wild West Domains, Inc. (R120-LROR)

he information says that the last time anything was updated on the domain was Jun 7, 2006. And it is vident that the "updating" consisted of renewing the domain name for 3 years. That could mean that no nore "updating' will be done till Jun 2009. Furthermore, if Derrell shared the login information and password, nyone could make the changes. Further beyond that, if Derrell himself made the changes and paid for three ears of hosting ($27.00 or so), it would not prove that he was involved with the content of the web site in ny manner whatsoever. I personally own domains and host sites with whose content I am in no way nvolved.

lot that it really matters, because, as I said, the registrar doesn't care a whit whether or not the information s current, as long as they have a current credit card on fiel. And if you don't believe Derrell, you'll not likely elieve anyone else. Not that that matters either.

This is all just a red herring to distract from the real issues.

These are the despicable behavior of Dan Shelton towards not only Linda Shelton but towards other ex-employees as well, not to mention breaking of trust in the handling of funds entrusted to him. Further issues include Dan's knowingly employing a man previously fired for sexual misconduct with minors.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jan 23 2007, 02:49 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 23 2007, 02:42 PM)
>
> This is all just a red herring to distract from the real issues.
>
> These are the despicable behavior of Dan Shelton towards not only Linda Shelton but towards other ex-employees as well, not to mention breaking of trust in the handling of funds entrusted to him. Further issues include Dan's knowingly employing a man previously fired for sexual misconduct with minors.

A red herring?

It looks like the entire Portuguese fleet came to port with a full catch.

Posted by: inga Jan 23 2007, 02:58 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 23 2007, 12:39 PM)
>
> What if - and this is merely a "what if" question - Liinda should welcome appearing in court to defend her right to speak out, and to have the "gag order" made invalid?

H'mm ... maybe someone close to Linda should encourage her to make a public statement as a challenget to 3ABN lawyers?

I suspect that Linda will not want to get involved in defending herself, because that is not generally productive. It is far better to leave the defense to supporters.

But perhaps it would be good for her to release a statement that would help in cleaning up some of the mess at 3ABN. She would need counsel to ensure that corroboration for anything she might say is available and forthcoming, etc. .

Very likely 3ABN lawyers would threaten. I suspect it's unlikely that they would actually bring charges. They have usually played the bully, and bullies are known for not following through.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Letter From Linda Shelton @ Www.lindashelton.org - Feb. '07

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 15 2007, 12:18 AM

NOTE: Her letter of demand, posted March 2nd, 2007 now on her website. To go right there, click here http://www.lindashelton.org

In keeping with Linda Shelton requiring an open and transparent ASI sponsored hearing, Linda has now published a letter that includes a clear demand that 3ABN and Danny Shelton produce the evidence they claim to have for inspection and verification to the entire church membership and to the stockholders in the pews. Danny Shelton in various forms and under various alias has repeatedly referenced evidence that he claims to have thereby giving him a basis for divorce and remarriage. The chairman of 3ABN on AToday has made it clear they have no proof of an adulterous affair. Linda Shelton and Arild Abrahamsen have repeatedly asserted that there is no basis for divorce, that no inappropriate relationship occurred and that there is no evidence to support the Danny Shelton claims.

We have repeatedly asserted that if there is no proof, then a remarriage would constitute an adulterous relationship. Danny Shelton was married at 3ABN in March 2006 to a Brandy Murray, a 3ABN employee that reportedly arrived at 3ABN of Thompsonville in July of 2004.

Here is the letter from Linda in its entirety and is also available at www.LindaShelton.org and on www.save3ABN.com . I believe it reflects the same Linda, a bit stronger and less naive than in the past, but as deeply committed to her relationship with the Lord as we all remember so well on that porch at 3ABN.

Linda Shelton does respond to e-mail and will be happy to have a concert or a deeply spiritual service at your location, wherever you may be.

February, 2007

My warmest greetings,

A couple approached me, with tears in their eyes, and said, "We have just missed you and we wanted to see you to make sure you were okay." As I saw the pain in their eyes, over the events that have transpired in my life in the last few years, it was as if my heart was pierced again. "We are just so happy to see you smiling, in church and still serving God." Our meeting took place a few months ago at the Bible Chapel Seventh-day Adventist Church, where I am a member. I enjoyed my visit with this caring Christian couple and the compassion and love they showed toward me.

Some people act surprised that I am still a member of the SDA church. But why? God is still the same awesome God that He always has been, the incredible Bible truths embraced by the Seventh-day Adventists are still just as true today as they ever were and although a "thousand shall fall on my right and a thousand fall on my left" nothing will ever change these facts. We must hold firm to our faith during troubled times!

Many have written to me over the past many months asking me to update my website. This I have prayerfully considered for quite some time, nearly a year. Quite frankly, I just have not known what to say. I feel that this scandal has made a large, festering open wound in my Church. Perhaps the truth revealed will ultimately bring the healing that everyone needs. Then we can grieve together and move on. I am certain, in essence, I have died a thousand deaths over the events of the last couple of years. But, with the Lords blessing, I will try to address issues which have been brought to my attention in the kindest manner possible.

For the first time in nearly three years I will not simply deny the accusations, but will directly address certain issues. I do not take pleasure in speaking of these things. I think I have always been the one who would rather receive hurt, than be the one to inflict hurt upon others. But during the course of this last year I learned some valuable lessons through Dr. Mable Dunbar of Pollys Place Network, she has been an incredible support and help to me. Mable is a woman who truly loves the Lord and is not afraid to stand up for what she believes is right, even if a whole army would stand against her.

Pollys Place Network is a ministry which empowers abused lives and aids them through their difficult circumstances. It is a marvelous organization and so needed for this age when Satan has focused his wrath upon breaking up the security and circle of love God intended for our families. I videotaped some interviews, for Pollys Place, at the SDA Conference office in Spokane, Washington with several individuals who had been through incredibly painful situations. Each of them, in essence, had the same healing story. It was when they were able to come forward and expressed the truth about what happened to them, that their healing came. Inspired by these individuals, now I can accept and believe it is Gods job to protect the ministry I have loved and co-founded, and its my right and my healing to tell the truth about what has occurred.

I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

John Knox once said, "Kings (or leaders) have not an absolute power to do in their government what pleases them, but their power is limited by Gods Word; so that if they strike where God has not commanded, they are but murderers; and if they spare where God has commanded to strike, they and their thrones are criminal and guilty of the wickedness which abounds upon the face of the earth, for lack of punishment." John knew his Bible. It is a Biblical principle that if we see a wrong and only look the other way or feebly say, "I will let the Lord deal with that one," then that wickedness is applied to our slate, plain and simple.

The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband. I loved, trusted and believed in him to a fault. Imagine my shock when I realized that the false allegations in the form of libel, slander and defamation directed my way were initiated by two of the closest people to me on planet earth; one was my beloved partner and the other was my closest lady friend. I loved them both and trusted them both to the point that their close communication did not bother me in the least. I know that sounds naive, but I did not believe that Dan would do anything that would harm the ministry we had built together.

In 2004 there was a tremendous outcry at my departure. There was suspicion over how swiftly I was fired from my position and divorced. There was suspicion over the fact that I never had the opportunity to talk to the Board and defend myself. There was suspicion over the fact that every trace of my presence was completely cleared out of the campus of 3ABN, even before my termination, as well as the website, television and radio broadcasts. I was made a sacrificial lamb in a scheme calculated to remove me from both my home and my ministry through an orchestrated campaign of malicious lies circulated around the globe. No words can begin to describe the absolute agony this has brought to my life, but there are other victims as well, and may God bless and spare the young lives and tender souls who have also felt the stinging thrust of this sword of scandal.

It has completely broken my heart to see the emails and letters which have come from the Chairman of the Board, Dan and others at 3ABN, to hear of the television and radio programs where erroneous references have been made to the situation, to watch the ministry that I helped build with much devotion used to destroy me and also to hear of the reports of what is being said on the SDA chat sites about me today by those bent on my destruction...nearly three years later.

It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"! The world is waiting with baited breath!

The stakes are high. I, as well as others, have personally experienced electronic surveillance, email theft, interception of cell phone calls, post divorce entry into my private residence to the point where charges were filed with the police. It is not easy to live your life when you feel that you can never know for sure if you are being followed, watched or recorded...even now. I have had invitations to do ministry thwarted because of continued allegations by those, who, like wolves in sheeps clothing, attempted to stop my ministry.

I want to make this absolutely clear: I left my home because I was not safe, I was not welcome. I was witnessing the murder of my reputation and ministry day by day. I stayed as long as I felt I could. I hoped, believed and prayed that things would change but they only got worse. The statements made that I left my husband for another man are absolutely and totally false. Any thinking person would realize that I had everything a Christian woman could have wanted in this life: a husband I loved and the opportunity to minister to millions of people about the tremendous love of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, though the ministry that we spent so many years building together. Although two of the people who I loved best have called me "Gomer", yet a more accurate term would be "Hosea", which I would only discover later. But I prefer simply, Linda, "SAVED by the Blood of the Lamb!"

I do not visit the chat sites. This has been a mega-trial for me and my way of coping has been to try and focus on other things. I realize that the individuals which make up our Church need healing from this disaster too. And perhaps the chat sites have served to help people give expression to their frustrations and hurts in this situation. I am grateful to each of you who have prayed and interceded for me. It has meant so much during my dark days. Youâ€™ll never know just how much!

Now my kids are grown and I am alone...but not really alone, although I have not husband. Now I belong to everyone and everyone belongs to me! And I still sing, "Thank you for being my family, thank you for being my friends: May God bless and keep you in all that you may do until we meet again!"

It is my goal to just make your journey and mine a little lighter and brighter. I have faith that the Lord still has a work for me to do, a new ministry. I am ready and available for church services, week of prayer, concerts, etc. as the Lord opens the doors. I do not know what my future holds, but God does and that's enough for me.

Just in closing I want to make an appeal to you to get out your binoculars, dust them off, bring them into focus and then search... Love your neighbor enough to be a Good Samaritan. When he is broken and bleeding in the middle of the road, focus your binoculars with the love of Christ, but don't stop there, reach out and meet his need in his time of crisis. Christianity is not something that "just happens". True Christianity occurs when a decided action is taken...when we search, when we fill a need, when we mend a broken heart and when we are just "there" for hurting people. There is a lot of them. But there are too few Christians who focus their binoculars with love.

Thank you for being my family! Stay close to the Shepherd!

Blessings to you and yours

Linda Shelton

Additional info to be considered before responding (this is also post #27.....

> QUOTE
>
> Folks, in regard to Linda's letter, I have the word:
>
> Linda was working in connection with some other people to develop a letter that she could post on her website. That letter had NOT yet reached its final form.
>
> The letter that was posted was a working draft. It had been extensively revised by another person working with Linda on its preparation. Some of Linda's comments were removed from that letter, and some comments from another person were added to it.
>
> It was sent to Linda with the intention that she review it to see what changes, if any, she would make to that draft. Linda did not consider it to be in the final form that she wanted to post on her website.
>
> She was not asked if she would permit it to be posted on the Internet prior to her posting it on her website. She would have denied permission if she had been asked. When Linda first learned that it was posted on the Internet, she asked that it be removed. She has been informed that it is to late to remove anything. So, the letter stands, and will remain posted on the Internet.
>
> While the letter posted was not the final version of what Linda would have posted, she is clear that she was working with other people to prepare a letter to be posted on her website.
>
> She plans to later post such on her website. She is considering her options in view of the fact that this > draft was posted. She will probably make some revisions in the letter that she posts on her site. But, that will be done in the context of what has been posted here.

Posted by: Fran Feb 15 2007, 12:26 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 15 2007, 12:18 AM)

Shall we all rise as we sing the Doxology!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 15 2007, 12:38 AM

Our prayers are with you, Linda. Keep leaning on those Everlasting Arms!

Posted by: erik Feb 15 2007, 01:43 AM

TO linda,

I realize you do not come here, but if you ever do, I have been praying that the Lord would open a Door to end this whole mess, and your courage I believe has openned that door.

Praise God whom controls all things in the end.

YOur story reminded me of some of my feeling after my baby son died, I learned to walk by faith for the first time and i can say that God Does work all things for good for those that Trust him.

Erik

Posted by: Fran Feb 15 2007, 03:08 AM

Linda;

One day I would like to meet you if it the Lord's will. I would like to tell you what your silent witness has done for me.

However, your walk has been so public, thanks to your ex-spouse, and I see that it took a miracle of love and grace for you to stand today. "You have been broken and spilled out for the love of You, Jesus."

Have you ever had a foam throw pillow that got buried under a heavy pile of blankets? Then one day you find it, but it is flatter than a pancake? Yet you take it out to give it room to expand and eventually it does!

We are like that pillow. Some of us have been under a heavy load for years, however, 3 years ago someone (God) took you away from your oppression and has given you room to grow. Just like that pillow, you can now stand tall and bring this travesty to an end.

May your "pillow" grow even larger than it ever was before.

We are family.

Much love,
Fran

Posted by: Grace Feb 15 2007, 04:54 AM

Praise the Lord for Linda's letter!!! I have been blessed reading it. It's very encouraging to see the Lord at work in her life. I'm so glad to see that though she's gone through the fire of terrible tribulations she's stayed firm in the Lord. Alleluia!!!
I'll be praying even more now. I imagine that the devil will do everything in his power to annul Linda's strong witness for truth. I pray for protection for Linda and for the Holy Spirit to work in peoples hearts so truth can shine. And, if possible, I would like for the 3ABN ministry to be spared through confession and repentance. Oh, Lord, hear our prayers! Amen!

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 05:30 AM

Linda's letter is not yet posted on her website. It is expected to be posted there shortly.

NOTE: Linda's reputation has been so trashed that she believes that she has nothing to lsoe by making everything public. So, 3-ABN, Danny, Dr. Thompson: Bring it on.

As stated, the issue of making it all public was a major factor in the failure of ASI to mediate a resolution to the issues. LInda wanted a public record for the world to see, where each perosn could make up their own mind. ASI (apparently 3-ABN, Danny ?) did not.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 15 2007, 05:47 AM

In my opinion, this has no substance, for the most part it is just: ☒ cut and I think all this talk of lawsuits, is what stirred this rally the troops letter.

What did she really say?

1. "I'm persecuted" -- No proof or evidence

2. "I don't visit the chat sites... " -- This is a bit much if you are aquainted with any of the behind the scenes garbage. In any case all her friends and supporters do, and her representatives have a website, slandering 3ABN and this letter will appear in both ...

3. Prove I committed Adultery!

Calling what you think is a bluff is not always good. Be careful what you ask for, you just might get it...

I know..

☒ ☒ arau ☒ ☒ giljoti

All I can say is THANK GOD THIS IS ALMOST OVER.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 15 2007, 06:15 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 15 2007, 06:30 AM) ☐
>
> As stated, the issue of making it all public was a major factor in the failure of ASI to mediate a resolution to the issues. LInda wanted a public record for the world to see, where each perosn could make up their own mind. ASI (apparently 3-ABN, Danny ?) did not.

The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.

Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...

Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.

She must think people are stupid.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 15 2007, 06:22 AM

Linda says she was 100% faithful to Danny. Was that only during the marriage? Was there ever a time she was with the Dr, romantically? What about when Danny's people say he took her to the airport so she could be with the Dr?

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 15 2007, 06:38 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 06:47 AM) ☐
>
> In my opinion, this has no substance, for the most part it is just: ☒ cut and I think all this talk of lawsuits, is what stirred this rally the troops letter.

IMO, since glenetta was invited to leave you have taken up the mantle to trash Linda again... and you dont even have the benefit of being cute or fluffy

> QUOTE

> What did she really say?
>
> 1. "I'm persecuted" -- No proof or evidence

"No proof or evidence" that you are willing to acknowledge != no proof or evidence

> QUOTE
>
> 2. "I don't visit the chat sites... " -- This is a bit much if you are aquainted with any of the behind the scenes garbage. In any case all her friends and supporters do, and her representatives have a website, slandering 3ABN and this letter will appear in both ...

Funny how when the same is alleged of Danny you dont have this response

> QUOTE
>
> 3. Prove I committed Adultery!
>
> Calling what you think is a bluff is not always good. Be careful what you ask for, you just might get it...
> I know..

You're projecting again, Cindy... her situation is not your situation... so you know nothing

> QUOTE
>
> ☒ ☒ argu ☒ ☒ giljoti
>
> All I can say is THANK GOD THIS IS ALMOST OVER.

and when it is over, who will you turn your vitriol on, Cindy? You are still not over your own divorce; your continued projection issues and the obvious displaced anger in your posts shows that...that is what you should be concentrating on bringing to an end... seek professional help, Cindy... unless you actually want to die bitter and alone... if that is your intent then just keep doing what you're doing...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 15 2007, 07:05 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM) ☐
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed > adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.

> She must think people are stupid.

l_etheia, your posts this morning certainly show the true spirit at work in you. All pretense has been ropped and the bitter pus is oozing.

'll be praying for you, sister.

Posted by: Clay Feb 15 2007, 07:06 AM

good letter..... let's pin it to the top for awhile....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 15 2007, 07:11 AM

Not only is it a great letter but it's a chance for the appologist to show their true colors and advance Linda's cause by posting on this thread. As we've already seen this morning. (They just don't get it....)

Richard

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 15 2007, 08:06 AM) ☐
>
> good letter..... let's pin it to the top for awhile....

Posted by: watchbird Feb 15 2007, 07:40 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 06:47 AM) ☐
>
> Calling what you think is a bluff is not always good. Be careful what you ask for, you just might get it...
> I know..
>
> araue giljoti
>
> All I can say is THANK GOD THIS IS ALMOST OVER.

ood advice, Cindy.

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Feb 15 2007, 08:11 AM) ☐
>
> Not only is it a great letter but it's a chance for the appologist to show their true colors and advance Linda's cause by posting on this thread. As we've already seen this morning. (They just don't get it....)
>
> Richard

es, it does seem as though not only does Linda reveal the same spirit which she has shown since "the eginning" of her ordeal, but that Cindy has also (and dramatically) revealed the spirit with which she has posted on this topic since "the beginning" of her time with us.

Scripture gives us the principle that when one judges others without sufficient cause, one reveals one's own self by the type of judgment one passes. But seldom does one so clearly portray their own inner attitude as Cindy as done for us here.... including her own execution and plea for it to be speedy.

Very interesting. Very interesting indeed.

God the Righteous Judge will continue guiding in the process of bringing both good and evil to the light of day........ ....

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 07:42 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM)
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

Aletheia, You have made several false statements. As I was involved in the ASI mediation, and you were not, as far as I know, but I really do not know who you are, your information is faulty.

To respond to you, I will post a series of responses. People will then be able to judge for themself the truth.

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 07:55 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM)
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

Aletheia:

In early December, I recieved an e-mail from Mr. Lance. Quoted below are a couple of paragraphs from that e-mail that I believe are important:

> QUOTE
>
> I know there are many issues being discussed. I have counted at least 23 in the last few weeks. Some issues are already the subject of ongoing litigation. The request from the 3ABN Board of Directors to ASI was: ..."request to ASI that it establish a commission to evaluate and determine Danny's' legal and moral right to remarry". ASIs' membership criteria includes a component that requires the applicant or its leaders to be in regular standing with the SDA Church. We check that factor in every application. Membership in the SDA Church is the exclusive province of the local church (except for membership in the "Conference Church", not involved here). The rather unique situation of the Church associated with 3ABN creates a different perspective from the typical SDA Church on matters of membership.
>
> All of us know ASI has no jurisdiction to act as a court with authority to make orders and awards that disputants are required to follow. What we may have that could be of assistance is some stature and credibility that would make its' findings hard for the parties to ignore. This can only have a possibility of succeeding if the parties support and respect that potential. Because of ASI's membership requirements there is some logic for ASI's involvement on issues that directly reflect on 3ABNs' membership status in ASI. We believe that ASI could properly focus on issues revolving around the biblical appropriateness of the Shelton's divorce and Danny's subsequent remarriage, issues relating to Linda's and Danny's employment status at 3ABN and actions taken concerning Linda's membership in the local SDA Church.

GM:

1) You will note that ASI accepted a request from 3-ABN to examine Danny's legal and moral right to remarry. That is clearly a one-sided approach that appears to benefit Danny and 3-ABN. As you know, one of the issues was whether or not Linda had a Biblical right to divorce Danny and to remarry. In fairness, the examination should clearly have been expanded to include this aspect: Did Linda have a Biblical right to divorce Danny and to remarry.

2) In mediation, an impartial mediator never accepts the boundaries that one party wants. Rather, the impartial mediator discusses boundaries and limitations with both sides. Only when both sides agree upon those limitations does mediation begin.

3) As I have said, several times: I agree with Mr. Lance that the majority of the issues lie outside of the ability of ASI to resolve. Those issues, if ever resolved lie in the area of the civil authorities.

> QUOTE
>
> You may have learned that it is the ASI position that there needs to be a balance between the process of being open and on the other hand be respectful of the legitimate privacy concerns of the parties. Government, worldly businesses, charitable organizations and the Church all recognize this need. When sensitive personnel matters are under consideration Boards typically go into executive session for such discussions. Accordingly we expect that this process would do the same and that information and documentation would be received and held in confidence by all of the parties and their representatives. At the conclusion of the matter the Panelists findings of facts and recommendations would become publicly available.

Aletheia, Here Mr. Lance states that the facts and recommendations would become public. His statement is fairly clear that the reasons for those recommendations would be held in confidence. That was unacceptable to Linda. Her reputation has been so trashed that it was a fundamental position of ours that the reasons for the recommendations should be laid out in a manner that any person would be able to access those and decide themselves as to whether or not the charges were true. Linda believes that she has nothing to lose in this. There is a very clear difference of opinon on the issue of making things public. This was one of the reasons the ASI attempt failed.

Aletheia, you are wrong when you attempt to imply that ASI wanted it to be more open than Linda wanted.

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 08:19 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM) ☐
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

Aletheia:

Here is the response that I made to Mr. Lance. As it was a long response, I have removed material that appears to go beyond the issues that you suggested:

> QUOTE
>
> Response to ASI
> HL 061203
>
> Introduction:
>
> Overall I was encouraged by the outreach that Harold Lance has made to us. It is a good start. It reflects a good tone (spirit). In many ways it reflects where I am. Of course, I am going to think a document is good when it agrees with me. ☐
>
> It seems to agree with my assessment of what must be accomplished if ASI can establish a panel that can achieve some degree of resolution. If he has read what I have previously posted on the Internet, he knows that I have stated that the following are the critical issues that the respective parties must agree upon if this panel is to be effective:
>
> 1) They must agree upon the issues to be considered.
> 2) They must agree upon the aim of the panel, or to put it another way, what the expected results are.
> 3) They must agree upon the process.
>
> NOTE: In my previous public posts, I have expanded upon the above slightly.
>
> In my understanding of what Harold has written, he also sees the above as critical issues.

I have reflected upon his document overnight. Without detracting from what I consider to be an excellent document, I will suggest that it contains a number of issues that need further clarification, and agreement by the parties. It is my intention in my response to identify those and to comment upon them. Any references that I may make to "critical issues," unless otherwise identified, will reference the three listed above. To identify my point for discussion, I will quote from Harold's document with a "Re:" followed by either the quotation, or a brief summary of a point in his document.

Discussion:

a) Re: ". . . request to ASI [by 3-ABN] that it establish a commission to evaluate and determine Danny's' [sic] legal and moral right to remarry."

This falls under my critical issue # 1.

This request seems to limit the issues that are to be considered by this commission. Perhaps that is O.K., if the respective parties agree to this. In my mind, the marital issues, which have some importance, are much less important than other issues. Again, what do the respective parties want, and agree to?

A larger issue is that this wording restricts the marital issues to Danny and Linda, their divorce, and Danny's remarriage. I will suggest that the marital issues are much larger than this focus. Danny has been charged, rightly or wrongly, I do not know, with sexual misconduct, during the time that he was married to Linda, and following the divorce, prior to his marriage to Brandi. These issues are clearly marital issues, yet they lie outside of the narrow focus as requested by 3-ABN.

I acknowledge that this commission cannot be expected to consider every one of the issues that are considered important by everyone. But, I think it is important that this commission issue a statement of such limitations, and that therefore interested parties are free to pursue redress in other venues, to include the civil authorities. After all, God established civil government, and directed all of us to submit to its rule, when not in conflict with God. This all is related to my critical issue # 2.

Re: "ASI has no jurisdiction. . . [and is without} authority to make orders and awards that disputants are required to follow."

I agree wholeheartedly with the above. ASI is very limited in what it can accomplish. To place what Harold then states in words of my own: ASI can only make findings of fact, and recommendations. Again, this is related to my critical issue # 2. With this perspective, ASI cannot require binding resolution. There must be an acknowledgement that the parties are free to reject, and to see other venues for resolution. If any of the parties should do so, the findings of fact, and recommendations of the Commission would play a role as to how the SDA public perceived this situation. From this perspective, I believe that the parties would carefully consider such findings and recommendations, before rejecting them. I believe that this would be helpful.

c) Re: The Biblical appropriateness of the divorce and the remarriage.

We are on uncertain ground with this one, as important as it is. Regardless of the CHURCH MANUAL, we as a denomination do not agree with what constitutes Biblical grounds, and remarriage following divorce. In my personal opinion, as applied to this situation Biblical grounds must be limited to sexual misconduct, and what is commonly considered to be adultery. This presents us with a problem. Danny and 3-ABN (Dr. Thompson) have clearly stated, many times, that they have no proof that Linda violated what I have just laid out above. From this standpoint, by the thinking of some, with this admission from Danny and 3-ABN, the Commission can only find that Linda did not provide Danny with Biblical grounds for divorce. I agree with that position, until it is proven to me that she did commit adultery.

NOTE: In my mind, and that of many conservative SDAs so-called "spiritual adultery" and adultery in one's thoughts are not Biblical grounds. ASI will clearly, in my mind be off the conservative platform if it suggests any such do constitute Biblical grounds. Any such opinion coming from it will highly disturb its conservative base of support.

[I have removed a very short paragraph—GM.]

There is also another issue here that is raised due to the fact that the SDA church is divided in regard to what are Biblical grounds for divorce and remarriage. It is a fundamental issue under law that people be treated equally. It is likely that people are not treated equally in this issue, and are treated according to the congregation in which they find themselves. The ASI Committee should consider not only Biblical grounds, the CHRUCH MANUAL, but also the typical way that people are treated today in SDA congregations. I.e. They should not treat either Danny or Linda more strictly than they would be treated in the typical local congregation. This is required by basic fairness.

Retention in a position of spiritual leadership is an appropriate consideration. I.e. A person might be retained in church membership, yet removed from a position of major ministry. When such is done, there is an obligation to treat all in the same manner. E.g. If Linda is to be examined as to her conduct, and whether or not she should be retained in a position of spiritual leadership, so also should Danny be examined. And, her treatment should also be examined in relation to other people who may also have been charged with sexual misconduct.

d) Re: Issues of Danny and Linda's employment:

ASI can only recommend. It cannot enforce. ASI potentially could recommend that Danny be relieved from all employment at 3-ABN, if this was thought to be appropriate. However, it is a stretch of the imagination to believe that such would happen if ASI were to recommend it.

As to Linda: Realistically, she could not effectively return to 3-ABN unless there was a major change in leadership to include the Board. She simply would not be allowed to effectively work there, and would likely be marginalized.

e) Re: Issues regarding Linda's membership:

Linda is presently a member, in good standing, in a SDA Church recognized by a recognized SDA Conference. Her membership should not be an issue.

Should ASI consider how she was treated by her church of former membership? Perhaps? Maybe? I am not certain? What would be accomplished? Within the denominational rules that are supposed to govern such, local congregations have the authority, right or wrong. Perhaps the best that could be said might be so say that the relationship between Linda, the local congregation, the Conference and its leadership, and 3-ABN, was of such a nature that denominational rules in existence did not provide the guidance that was needed, and that therefore issues of potential ethical conflicts arise out of this situation.

NOTE: I am not attempting to prejudge the case, or to suggest that there is only one conclusion that the Committed may make. I think that there are many aspect of this case that present very hard questions and I am not certain that ASI can resolve them. Perhaps, however, they can raise issues that may be resolved for future situations should they rise again.

[I have removed a major section of material which deals with issues outside of what Aletheia mentioned—GM.]

The issue of a record is important. There must be enough detail to provide a historical record for the future.

`i) Re: Balance between privacy and openness.

There is a clear place for privacy. Women who accuse someone of sexual misconduct must have some expectation of privacy. Society in general recognizes such.

However, society distinguishes between common people and public figures. Danny and Linda are both public figures. Both have been accused publicly of major sins. Neither rightly has the expectation of privacy that a common person might have. In any case, with the publication of their alleged sins for the world to read, privacy in [is] not the answer at this time. In fairness to both of them, a final report should report findings on the accusations that have been made against them. As public figures, the SDA public needs to know such findings. If this is not done, these issues will not go away. They will remain in public view and under public discussion.

I have removed a very short paragraph as it dwelt with an issue outside of what Aletheia mentioned—GM.]

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM)
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

Aletheia:

Writing to Mr. Lance on December 11, I stated the following:

> QUOTE
>
> Harold:
>
> I appreciate the time and effort that you have expended in making this response. It is clear that you have thoughtfully read the comments that have been made to you. I agree with much of what you have said. This mess could turn into litigation that conceivably could result in the expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars. Under some circumstances the idea of it costing tens of thousands of dollars is a gross underestimate. I agree that the Church does not have a process that is suitable for the situation that we are facing. I also think that it is not possible for some of these issues to be resolved outside of the civil realm.
>
> However, I do believe that it is possible for ASI to be involved in this situation in a manner that will be helpful. But, that is only if the respective parties can come to an agreement that allows for that. I am not certain that such an agreement will be reached.
>
> I will make some personal responses to your post to us. I will identify them with my initials (GM), to distinguish them from your comments. It should be noted that my response is simply that, my personal response. It may, or may not agree with that of others of us. In this issue, Mr. Joy is the primary person who is representing the interests of Linda Shelton.
>
> WILL OUR PROCESS CONFLICT WITH THE PENDING ASSET DIVISION LITIGATION?
>
> GM: This is clearly an area that should not be decided by any independent panel. This belongs to the civil realm. In my opinion, it is Biblical for some issues to be left to t he civil realm. Further, that is consistent with the CHURCH MANUEL. Some issues simply cannot be decided outside to the civil authorities. This also applies to a number of issues. Included in these would be criminal matters, and certain financial matters, and issues of taxation.

If we agree on the above, I believe that it is critical for the ASI panel to issue a statement that certain specific matters belong in the civil realm, and people who pursue those issues in civil courts, or cooperate with such, are on Biblical grounds for doing so.

Is ASI willing to issue such a statement?

IS ASI IMPARTIAL OR IN DANNY'S HIP POCKET?

GM: There will always be people who will believe that ASI should not be involved. In one sense, probably most people involved in this will have some sort of a bias. We are never going to change the mind of those who believe that ASI should not be involved. The issue is: Can we structure a process that the respective parties can agree to, and is as fair as possible?

SINCE THERE ARE MANY OTHER CONCERNS WHY LIMIT THE ISSUES TO THOSE SUGGESTED?

GM: You are correct that ASI probably cannot deal with all of the issues that have surfaced. There are many reasons for that. The decisions as to what issues to deal with cannot be made unilaterally. If ASI does that it will immediately be seen in a negative light. The decisions as to what issues to deal with must be made by the parties involved. That is the first issue: What are the issues to be considered?

The second issue is as I have referenced earlier: What about the other issues? How should people work to resolve them? As some are likely to only be resolved in the civil realm, will ASI publicly state that people who do such are acting appropriately?

DO ACTIVITIES AND PERSONNEL ACTIONS THREATEN LIABILITY FOR THE SDA CHURCH?

GM: I am one who has clearly raised this issue. In discussions that I have had with other people, it is clear to me that I have not been clear in what I was attempting to communicate. Let me attempt to state this issue in a better form: I DO NOT believe that either 3-ABN or the denomination has so-called ascending liability for the past actions of any person during a time when they were not employed by 3-ABN. It would be a stretch to conclude otherwise. However, I do believe that should a person accused of prior criminal acts commit such acts in the future, while in a relationship with 3-ABN, that such could involve both 3-ABN and/or the IL Conference in liability. That liability could be based upon the failure of both 3-aBN and/or the IL Conference to exercise due prudence in assigning duties to an individual whom they knew has been accused of criminal or immoral acts in the past.

Re: "IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT THE INTERCHAGES, CONTAINING DEROGATORY INFORMATION, STOP AMONG THE PARTIES AND THEIR TEAM MEMBERS."

GM: Harold, you have been unable to stop Danny from fueling the fires that you understandably object to. Further, the supporters of 3-ABN are independent, and not controlled by Danny. They continue to engage in such. They can not be stopped. As long as they do such, others will respond.

So, also those who support Linda are independent, and not controlled by either Linda, or us. We cannot stop them. As long as people supporting Linda engage in such, those who support 3-ABN will respond.

Harold, I understand what you are asking. It is not possible for either you or for us.

SHOULD AN SDA JUDGE BE USED TO CONDUCT THE PROCEEDINGS?

GM: Point taken, if the parties agree to such.

DO PARTIES WHO MAY BE "PUBLIC FIGURES" GIVE UP THEIR RIGHT TO PRIVACY?

GM: No, anyone who understands the law knows that public figures do not give up all rights to privacy. But, U.S. law clearly limits the rights to privacy of pubic figures over non-public figures.

Further, public figures to have a right, if conditions are met, to recover damages for slander, libel, and defamation of character. Those who understand the law know that this cuts both ways. It is likely that neither side is guilty to the exclusion of the other side. Should one side litigate over these issues, it is likely that counter-suits will be filed against the side that initiated the litigation.

In addition, I could propose situation in which neither side would want to litigate these issues. It is correct that "truth" may sometimes not be a defense against such a lawsuit. But, I can imagine where a side would not want to litigate an issue that they might win due to discovery and public exposure during a trial.

One fundamental issue is simply this: Public charges have been made against public individuals, and 3-ABN that will not go away unless they are resolved in public. To publicly resolve them, there may have to be some public exposure of facts that are typically protected by confidentiality in denominational circles. A failure to do this will likely result in continued discussion in public.

Let me add an additional factor: The so-called media is following this more closely that some may know. I have been asked to write an article for publication on one aspect of this which I declined to write at that time. There are others who have been approached in a similar manner, to include the secular media. Herald, I predict that if this is not resolved, and fairly soon, the media, to include the secular media, will begin reporting aspects of this which none can control. If ASI cannot resolve this, the world at large may do so.

SHOULD THE PANEL INCLUDE EXPERTS THAT COULD ASSIST IN THEIR COMPREHENSION OF THE INFORMATION?

GM: My comment on "transference" could be satisfied by a witness, rather than a member. Regardless, my point is taken, and you seem to have heard it.

WHAT STANDARD IS TO BE USED IN WEIGHING THE BIBLICAL DIVORCE REMARRIAGE ISSUE?

GM: Yes the CHUCH MANUAL is the standard. But, that can be understood and enforced in various ways. As an attorney you know that while "statute law" is the standard, "case law is always considered. My point is made. As I have previously stated, the "gold standard" among conservative SDAs is physical adultery. It > has been clearly stated by 3-ABN that proof of such does not exist. If ASI strays away from that gold standard of adultery, it will lose status among conservative SDAs.

>
> WHAT STANDARD WILL BE USED IN ALLOWING INFORMATION TO BE CONSIDERED ?
>
> GM: Sounds good as I understand it.
>
> HOW WILL PANEL PROCEED AND THE QUESTIONING OCCUR?
>
> GM: The representative must be the one chosen by the party. In other words, ASI cannot exclude anyone from being a representative.
>
> Re: "The hearing will be confidential and private, not recorded or reported by > the panel, the parties, or the representative."
>
> GM: I understand. I have some concern. This scandal is public. There must be enough information given to the public to resolve their issues. Harold, the public has a stake in this. All parties, to include 3-ABN have a major interest in this being resolved in the mind of the public.
>
> Re: "Thank you for your patience in awaiting my thoughts. Please read this > carefully. If you have questions feel free to express them. Whenever we have > clarified adequately we will put our process information into a document > that we can all sign on to, then begin the details of scheduling, etc."
>
> GM: And thank you for the effort you have put into this.
>
> Gregory Matthews

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 08:32 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 05:15 AM)
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.

> She must think people are stupid.

letheia:

have other things to do. So, I am going to do them now.

eep in mind that we who were involved in the attempt by ASI to mediate have pretty good records. If you vant to debate and challenge us, we can probably rebut what you say.

ou have clearly made statements that were inaccurate. I can provide further support for my position.

am very serious in appreciateing the efforts of Mr. Lance to effect this resolution. But, certain of the ositions that he and ASI took made an ASI mediated resolution impossible. He, in his statement posted on he 3-ABN website has made statements that are false. I do not attribute that to any personal dishonesty in im. I consider him to be an honest person. I could easily sit down with him and have a pleasent conversation vith him. But, he failed to understand some of the dynamics that went on in the process. That failure ontributed, in my mind, to the failure to obtain agreement on the process. He came to us with an agenda of vhat and how. In mediation all parties must have a part in selecting the what and the how. Otherwise failure ccurs. The failure that occured clearly demonstrates the correctness of my position.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 15 2007, 08:35 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Feb 15 2007, 07:22 AM)
>
> Linda says she was 100% faithful to Danny. Was that only during the marriage? Was there ever a time she was with the Dr, romantically? What about when Danny's people say he took her to the airport so she could be with the Dr?

ou're kidding, right?

f you have read all of what is on this site, you would know that these questions have been asked and nswered.

f you have not read all of what is here then you need to do your homework. If you feel that is not worth the ime it will take you would be better served not to engage in the topic than doing so ignorantly... but you're ot Gordie Howe... so you shouldnt need to get someone to do your thinking for you...

n His service,
Ir. J

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 15 2007, 08:56 AM

As I was reading Linda's letter I kept wondering what spin the Danny apologists would put out there. At the end of the letter, I thought surely Linda's request for Danny to show all this rock-solid evidence that he claims he has would be welcomed by people on both sides of the argument. But, incredibly, I see by reading Alethia's response that they've sunk to a new low. I can't wait to see what darts the others have to throw.

I've never met Linda and have no feelings for her either way, but I am impressed with the tone of her letter. Unlike the vitriol and hate that seeps through every word posted by Danny and his crew, Linda never once bashed her accusers, even though some would say she would be completely justified in doing so, and never condemned them all to hell. Whether she's right or wrong, innocent or guilty, I appreciate her approach to the whole situation.

Posted by: simplysaved Feb 15 2007, 09:34 AM

I agree with you.... the tone of the letter is becoming a servant of Christ.

If nothing else, it definitely serves as a reminder of how we as Christians need to handle difficulty, criticism, and scrutiny...

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 15 2007, 09:56 AM)
>
> As I was reading Linda's letter I kept wondering what spin the Danny apologists would put out there. At the end of the letter, I thought surely Linda's request for Danny to show all this rock-solid evidence that he claims he has would be welcomed by people on both sides of the argument. But, incredibly, I see by reading Alethia's response that they've sunk to a new low. I can't wait to see what darts the others have to throw.
>
> I've never met Linda and have no feelings for her either way, but I am impressed with the tone of her letter. Unlike the vitriol and hate that seeps through every word posted by Danny and his crew, Linda never once bashed her accusers, even though some would say she would be completely justified in doing so, and never condemned them all to hell. Whether she's right or wrong, innocent or guilty, I appreciate her approach to the whole situation.

Posted by: Clay Feb 15 2007, 09:37 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 06:15 AM)
>
> The facts are ASI was to consider the issue of Linda and Danny's divorce and his remarriage with evidence submitted by both sides, and witnesses for each. Their findings and the reasons for them were to be made PUBLIC.
>
> Danny and 3 ABN agreed. Linda's side, including you, did not. You wanted to discuss other thiings...
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

you comments reflect the fact that you have no clue... not to mention your favorite beverage must be haterade....

Posted by: erik Feb 15 2007, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 03:47 AM)
>
> In my opinion, this has no substance, for the most part it is just: ☒ cut and I think all this talk of lawsuits, is what stirred this rally the troops letter.
>
> What did she really say?
>
> 1. "I'm persecuted" -- No proof or evidence
>
> 2. "I don't visit the chat sites... " -- This is a bit much if you are aquainted with any of the behind the scenes garbage. In any case all her friends and supporters do, and her representatives have a website, slandering 3ABN and this letter will appear in both ...
>
> 3. Prove I committed Adultery!
>
> Calling what you think is a bluff is not always good. Be careful what you ask for, you just might get it... I know..
>
> ☒ ☒ araue ☒ ☒ giljoti
>
> All I can say is THANK GOD THIS IS ALMOST OVER.

Then bring the proof, if she is bluffing, other wise you are bluffing, so i say be quiet and let the proof speak for you.

Erik

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 15 2007, 11:52 AM

"I don't visit the chat sites... " -- This is a bit much if you are aquainted with any of the behind the scenes garbage. In any case all her friends and supporters do, and her representatives have a website, slandering 3ABN and this letter will appear in both ...

Alethia,

Apparently you are aquainted with the behind the scenes garbage. How about some transparency and open explanation what you mean by that?

I don't know what you mean by supporter of Linda. If you mean spiritual supporter then I spiritually support Linda. If you ask me to be your spiritual supporter I will be happy to do that too. There is no conflict of interest. Last time I looked in the Bible God didn't say anything about supporting one person and not supporting another. Do you know that God even Loves Hitler?

When I read Linda's letter it contained the same loving caring Christ centered way she always portrayed when she would sit on the porch talking to us lifting us up to God in prayer when she was co-founder of 3ABN. This time her walk with Jesus is even closer than ever.

I am so sorry you are hurting so much. I will keep you in my prayers daily so that you and Jesus can become good friends again and begin to heal so your heart can be so overfilled with Love that it spills out in your life to those around you and you can begin to minister to others showing them God healed you so God can heal them also.

Jesus loves me this I know. I die daily when I ask the Holy Spirit to take out my filty rags righteousnes and fill me up with Holy Spirit righteousness so I can be more loving and caring and helping to others around me and point to Jesus how Loves them too.

Sending Linda's letter to as many sites as possible will be a wonderful witnes of Linda's relying on her relationship with Jesus. Thank you.

Rosyroi... A Rose for you to smell and think of Jesus and HIS Love for you.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 15 2007, 12:13 PM

Aletheia,

It is a curious thing, your behavior.

Do you seriuosly feel you are stating comments that cause a person to think? I don't think that is what you are about.

You might consider what your personal issues really are with Linda, because there is NOTHING productive about your attitude whatsoever.

Your comments only serve to show you angry, bias, and worshipful of a man inspite of the warnings and proof. You have only more pits to fall into at this rate.

This is sad.

And I too can't wait until this situation is resolved, in every area.

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 12:52 PM

Folks, in regard to Linda's letter, I have the word:

Linda was working in connection with some other people to develop a letter that she could post on her website. That letter had NOT yet reached its final form.

The letter that was posted was a working draft. It had been extensively revised by another person working with Linda on its preparation. Some of Linda's comments were removed from that letter, and some comments from another person were added to it.

It was sent to Linda with the intention that she review it to see what changes, if any, she would make to that draft. Linda did not consider it to be in the final form that she wanted to post on her website.

She was not asked if she would permit it to be posted on the Internet prior to her posting it on her website. She would have denied permission if she had been asked. When Linda first learned that it was posted on the Internet, she asked that it be removed. She has been informed that it is to late to remove anything. So, the letter stands, and will remain posted on the Internet.

While the letter posted was not the final version of what Linda would have posted, she is clear that she was working with other people to prepare a letter to be posted on her website.

She plans to later post such on her website. She is considering her options in view of the fact that this draft was posted. She will probably make some revisions in the letter that she posts on her site. But, that will be done in the context of what has been posted here.

Posted by: Clay Feb 15 2007, 12:57 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 15 2007, 12:52 PM)
>
> Folks, in regard to Linda's letter, I have the word:
>
> Linda was working in connection with some other people to develop a letter that she could post on her website. That letter had NOT yet reached its final form.
>
> The letter that was posted was a working draft. It had been extensively revised by another person working with Linda on its preparation. Some of Linda's comments were removed from that letter, and some comments from another person were added to it.
>
> It was sent to Linda with the intention that she review it to see what changes, if any, she would make to that draft. Linda did not consider it to be in the final form that she wanted to post on her website.
>
> She was not asked if she would permit it to be posted on the Internet prior to her posting it on her website. She would have denied permission if she had been asked. When Linda first learned that it was posted on the Internet, she asked that it be removed. She has been informed that it is to late to remove anything. So, the letter stands, and will remain posted on the Internet.
>
> While the letter posted was not the final version of what Linda would have posted, she is clear that she was working with other people to prepare a letter to be posted on her website.
>
> She plans to later post such on her website. She is considering her options in view of the fact that this draft was posted. She will probably make some revisions in the letter that she posts on her site. But, that will be done in the context of what has been posted here.

so then what are we to do with the letter we have?

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 01:00 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 15 2007, 11:57 AM)
>
> so then what are we to do with the letter we have?

It can remain posted here. It is to late to recall it. Let it remain.

Posted by: Clay Feb 15 2007, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 15 2007, 01:00 PM)
>
> It can remain posted here. It is to late to recall it. Let it remain.

true.... but since it is a draft.... I will unpin it and hope that the finalized copy comes out soon....

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 15 2007, 01:17 PM

Well, we have the general idea, anyway.

I applaud Linda for working on this. Hopefully it will lead to greater healing of her own hurt as well as to resolution of this issue as a smudge on the church's reputation.

Then, will it lead to the openness in dealing with all the other problems at 3ABN?

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 15 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Here is the letter from Linda in its entirety and is also available at www.LindaShelton.org and on www.save3ABN.com .

The question I have is why was this letter presented here as something Linda was ready to publish. Implicit in the OP was that Linda had approved the letter. Makes me wonder what else has been presented as "fact" that really isn't.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 15 2007, 02:28 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 15 2007, 12:12 PM)
>
> The question I have is why was this letter presented here as something Linda was ready to publish.

> Implicit in the OP was that Linda had approved the letter. Makes me wonder what else has been presented as "fact" that really isn't.

he letter was understood as being the final copy. That was a misunderstanding. The final is to come soon. It von't change in context. It was a simple misunderstanding and it was caught immediately and also omminicated immediately here. Observer explained it well. Mistakes happen. It was aknowledged and that peaks for it'self. We are only human

---

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 15 2007, 02:34 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 15 2007, 03:28 PM)
>
> The letter was understood as being the final copy. That was a misunderstanding. The final is to come soon. It won't change in context. It was a simple misunderstanding and it was caught immediately and also comminicated immediately here. Observer explained it well. Mistakes happen. It was aknowledged and that speaks for it'self. We are only human

Vell I'm certainly interested in what editing and changes will be in the final copy, after the replies here...

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 02:48 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 01:24 PM)
>
> Watchbird and PB why don't you go answer Uncle Sam in the appropriate thread so he can answer you too?
>
> Off topic discussion is never caused by just one...
> Observer, I just read your really long multiple replies to me ...
>
> have you ever heard of the KISS principle? as in Keep it simple silly?
>
> I'll get back to you, with a simple rebuttal.

es, I have heard of the KISS (Keep It Simple Stupid) mantra.

ut, that mantra does not work with some people.

ou kept it simple, without any backup documentation. Thus I could not respond to a simple cited item of locumention. To keep from being accuse of selective editing, I had to respond to you at some length.

lowever, in reality, I did keep it short in relation to the amount of material published. So, I did adhere to our mantra.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 15 2007, 01:28 PM)

> The letter was understood as being the final copy. That was a misunderstanding. The final is to come soon. It won't change in context. It was a simple misunderstanding and it was caught immediately and also comminicated immediately here. Observer explained it well. Mistakes happen. It was aknowledged and that speaks for it'self. We are only human

As I have said many times, we are imperfect. You will catch us in mistakes. This will not be the last one.

However, I would rather publish a mistake that I have discovered than to be accused of covering it up in the hope that no one would learn about it.

I do not know exactly what Linda will publish on her website. I do not know in what ways it will differ from the letter posted here. But, I do beleive that whatever Linda published on her website will be close to what was posted here. In any case, we will just have to wait to see.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 01:34 PM)
>
> Well I'm certainly interested in what editing and changes will be in the final copy, after the replies here...

It is nice to know that you are now a fan of Linda's literary efforts.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 15 2007, 02:56 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 15 2007, 03:48 PM)
>
> However, I would rather publish a mistake that I have discovered than to be accused of covering it up in the hope that no one would learn about it.

Well spoken observer.

nw

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 15 2007, 03:06 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 15 2007, 06:15 AM)
>
> Yet here comes Linda and all that she demands now to be made public is proof that she committed adultery??? That could have already been done had she agreed.
> She must think people are stupid.

This is what you said in December, Aletheia. I highlighted a few of your sentences.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Dec 20 2006, 08:50 PM)
>
> 1. I didn't come here asking for people to just say things, anybody can say anything, even liars and deceivers. I have only been looking for verifiable facts and evidence. My questions have been concerned with getting to that.
>
> 2. I am not trying to defend Danny personally, for I don't know him, but I can't help but notice there is an awful lot about him on this forum which hasn't been proven.
>
> 3. I am concerned about the truth and I am concerned about 3ABN's ministry and outreach, it is a wonderful tool to reach millions all over the world and I hope to see it continue to be so, to the glory Of God, and help reach his people and prepare them.
>
> 4. If people can't understand that, then I guess that's their problem, not mine.
>
> ~ Aletheia

Linda is also demanding the verifiable facts and evidence and truth as are you.

Since you are concerned about the truth, as you say you are, you should be pleased with Linda's demand for the exact same evidence, which 3ABN has claimed to have in their possession.

You also said:

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Jan 23 2007, 07:51 AM)
>
> On the otherhand, if I had such defending me, I'd have to speak up for myself and ask them to stop from shame, and embarassment.
>
> Thus my question on several occasions:
>
> Where is Linda's voice in all this?

Linda is speaking up for herself as you can see from this rough draft of her letter.

You're hearing "Linda's voice" as you have requested "on several occasions."

Once again, you should be pleased with that.

Posted by: Clay Feb 15 2007, 03:07 PM

gonna move the questions about the pregnancy test to that thread.....

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 15 2007, 05:52 PM

I posted to this effect the other day but I'll say it again (I hope this doesn't count as double posting): unless you're an eyewitness yourself, anything anyone tells you is hearsay--until established in a court of law.

I don't know whether scans of original documents count--legally speaking. And this isn't a court anyway, no such thing as an online court. I'm not a legal person, but I've had enough contact with this sort of stuff to know you have to be careful.

You don't come to the Internet, generally, looking for verifiable evidence on a topic like this. Especially not a message board.

What you can do is look at the various versions of hearsay and try to weigh them. It can be exhausting, reading all the threads; I reviewed them this morning again. I don't pretend to have covered all of them, but the overall picture is that there's a lot of nefarious business at the network, and no one there can seem to refute it.

I say "there" and mean "here." 3ABN folks post here all the time trying to spin the discussion in every way they can, but if they had any good proof they could talk about -- wouldn't it have come up by now? The pregnancy test? Please.

Linda has done the whole church a service by beginning this letter. The hearsay stops, the real evidence begins to emerge--such as it is.

NOTE: I've gone back and edited some of my posts to use more precise language. I've changed none of the content. This one I'm leaving like it is so the conversation with PB makes sense to lurkers. PB believed that I was muddying the waters by the use of the term "hearsay." I meant it in a legal sense, but that nuance might be lost on some lurkers. What we see here on these boards is one person's word against another, but I've spent hours and hours reading through this stuff and the pattern that emerges is this: 3ABN has some stuff to hide, maybe a lot. Probably a lot. That's my interpretation of what I see here and elsewhere on the net, including save3abn.com.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 15 2007, 07:40 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 15 2007, 04:52 PM)
>
> I posted to this effect the other day but I'll say it again (I hope this doesn't count as double posting): unless you're an eyewitness yourself, anything anyone tells you is hearsay--until established in a court of law.
>
> I don't know whether scans of original documents count--legally speaking. And this isn't a court anyway, no such thing as an online court. I'm not a legal person, but I've had enough contact with this sort of stuff to know you have to be careful.
>
> You don't come to the Internet, generally, looking for verifiable evidence on a topic like this. Especially not a message board.
> What you can do is look at the various versions of hearsay and try to weigh them. It can be exhausting, reading all the threads; I reviewed them this morning again. I don't pretend to have covered all of them, but the overall picture is that there's a lot of nefarious business at the network, and no one there can seem to refute it.
>
> I say "there" and mean "here." 3ABN folks post here all the time trying to spin the discussion in every way they can, but if they had any good proof they could talk about -- wouldn't it have come up by now? The pregnancy test? Please.
>
> Linda has done the whole church a service by beginning this letter. The hearsay stops, the real evidence begins to emerge--such as it is.

SoulEspresso,

I agree that this isn't an online court and we must take care when attempting to discern what is true and equally take care when we decide that what we see is actual evidence. However, in this particular instance, we have a wealth of information that comes from first-hand eyewitnesses, folks that have actually experienced the saga for themselves. They can provide their pieces of the puzzle and, when looked at as a whole, we can get a pretty good indication of what the true picture is.

To date, no one from the Thompsonville/West Frankfort area has challenged Tommy's emailed confession that is posted over on save3abn.com. So, unless someone brings convincing proof that it is fake I believe the heresay was stopped for that subject and the real evidence is emerging.

This draft copy of Linda's letter that we are now privy to adds to the picture that is developing.

PB

Posted by: Observer Feb 15 2007, 09:38 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 15 2007, 01:12 PM)
>
> The question I have is why was this letter presented here as something Linda was ready to publish. Implicit in the OP was that Linda had approved the letter. Makes me wonder what else has been presented as "fact" that really isn't.

Linda has been charged with being responsible for just about everything that her supporters say about her. They tell us that we who support her could not know X if Linda had not told us X.

Well, the publication of this draft letter demonstrates that people who support Linda are not acting under her control.

Here is how the situation developed, and the facts became known.

1) Daryl F. of MSDAOL, and I acting independently checked our Linda's website and noted that it had not been posted there. Both of us attempted to make contact with Linda. Daryl succeeded before I made contact with her.

2) When Daryl made the contact, and Linda told him the facts, Daryl contacted me. I attempted to contact Linda, and succeeded. Linda told me, as I related it here.

3) When I discovered that the letter had not been posted on Linda's website, I wondered. However, in the early days of Linda's website, Linda was working with others, as I recall, to keep the website going. As I remember, sometimes her letters, etc. were not posted immediately on her website by the webmaster. So, I thought that might have been the case. But, I wanted to tell Linda about the letter that had been posted on three forums.

4) Then when Daryl informed me of his contact with Linda, I re-doubled my efforts to contact her, and I did.

So that is how this all came about.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 15 2007, 09:41 PM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Feb 15 2007, 10:56 AM)
>
> .....I've never met Linda and have no feelings for her either way, but I am impressed with the tone of her letter. Unlike the vitriol and hate that seeps through every word posted by Danny and his crew, Linda never once bashed her accusers, even though some would say she would be completely justified in doing > so, and never condemned them all to hell. Whether she's right or wrong, innocent or guilty, I appreciate her approach to the whole situation.

..because - even if (big IF) she was guilty - she has handled this in a very CHRISTlike way. Danny and the ang on the other hand have talked about her worse than a dog. With which; makes one wonder if they are eing CHRISTlike or no....

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 15 2007, 02:13 PM) ☐
>
> Aletheia,
>
> It is a curious thing, your behavior.
>
> Do you seriuosly feel you are stating comments that cause a person to think? I don't think that is what you are about.
>
> You might consider what your personal issues really are with Linda, because there is NOTHING productive about your attitude whatsoever.
> Your comments only serve to show you angry, bias, and worshipful of a man inspite of the warnings and proof. You have only more pits to fall into at this rate.
>
> This is sad.
>
> And I too can't wait until this situation is resolved, in every area.

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 16 2007, 02:10 AM

I am glad that she is finally speaking because hopefully the truth can come out. I think we are at a cross road here, either Linda is a liar or she is telling the truth there is no middle ground. She has express 100% that she is not guilty of adultry. She has asked for the proof that Danny has stated that He had concerning her supposed adultry. Now if Danny does not provide the proof Him and the others at 3abn in my eyesight will forever be tainted as liars and mere pretenders.

I find it very difficult to understand how the board members could dismiss Linda without providing her with the reason as to why. The fact that she must ask for that information is by its very nature suspect to say the least. And why would they not just give her the information before now so she could do what she wanted with it? I have been in many a board meeting where the individual that was being disfellowshiped or put our was not there, in every case we the board sent them a letter explaining the reason we disfellowshiped them and all pertinent information via a certified letter.

I have enjoyed the many years that I watched Danny, Linda on 3abn but I am impartial to either of them. I have also contibuted to them finacially tho I have stopped at this time. It is my prayer that Her request is answered promptly without excuse.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 16 2007, 06:52 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 15 2007, 07:40 PM) ☐
>
> SoulEspresso,
>
> I agree that this isn't an online court and we must take care when attempting to discern what is true and

> equally take care when we decide that what we see is actual evidence. However, in this particular instance, we have a wealth of information that comes from first-hand eyewitnesses, folks that have actually experienced the saga for themselves. They can provide their pieces of the puzzle and, when looked at as a whole, we can get a pretty good indication of what the true picture is.
>
> To date, no one from the Thompsonville/West Frankfort area has challenged Tommy's emailed confession that is posted over on save3abn.com. So, unless someone brings convincing proof that it is fake I believe the heresay was stopped for that subject and the real evidence is emerging.
>
> This draft copy of Linda's letter that we are now privy to adds to the picture that is developing.
>
> PB

'm using hearsay in a technical sense. What I mean is this; unless I'm an eyewitness myself, anything nyone tells me is hearsay to me until it's been established in a court of law and/or by other evidence.

tip heavily toward believing Linda was wronged (and that there's other nefarious business afoot) because nuch of the hearsay on this site and on save3abn.com is more credible. Why is it more credible? Because hese other people are eyewitnesses and have posted documentation--and some of them have identified hemselves, bless them. Those than haven't identified themselves want to keep their jobs, I understand that.

ut since I'm not an eyewitness, haven't seen the original copies of the documents, I still consider it hearsay. n other words, it's not hearsay to them because they saw it with their own eyes, but it's hearsay to me when hey tell me. Does that make sense?

nother reason I believe Linda was wronged and that there's other nefarious business afoot is the attitude of ertain posters who will go to great lengths to defend Danny and try to paint 3ABN in a good light, even when hey have to misquote, contradict themselves, etc. They claim to be eyewitnesses, too, but they don't have ames and dates like the others do--all they have is the desire to stir things up and defend their boy.

he third reason? AToday's article. AToday is a news magazine, and they can't publish libelous stuff. What hey got was established enough by credible sources that they figured their story would stand up in court--not s testimony, but that it wasn't libel the way it was written.

hose of us who find ourselves frustrated with these people are sometimes guilty of a rough spirit--no worse han theirs, mind you, but they're not the Standard (by the way, I haven't seen in any of that in you, PB). 've tried to keep myself in a positive tone but when I catch them in an obvious act of deception I get mad.

t's too bad there's no arbiter in this case. Because it fell through, this tale is going to hit the secular press oon. I bet they're lurking, waiting for as much data as possible before blowing open the story. And they will e merciless, far more than AToday--because they don't care about a church or its reputation.

Posted by: Observer Feb 16 2007, 07:26 AM

> QUOTE
>
> It's too bad there's no arbiter in this case. Because it fell through, this tale is going to hit the secular press soon. I bet they're lurking, waiting for as much data as possible before blowing open the story. And they will be merciless, far more than AToday--because they don't care about a church or its reputation.

few comments, and you are on target:

was once asked to write an article for the media. I refused to write one with the focus they wanted.

major figure in this mess was approached, some time back, and asked to cooperate in writing a an article or major national publication in the seccular media (i.e. not associated with the SDA press). That person also refused.

Some of us believe that once litigation begins, the seccular media will begin to run with this developing story. We think that it is possible that 3-ABN/Danny will soon begin litigation. That litigation may be focused on issues that are not of great interest to the seccular media--trademark issues associated with the website <save31bn>. But, if a lawsuit is filed against Linda, the media may jump on that like a flea jumping on a dog, on a hot summer day. That, in my opinion, would be a public relations disaster for 3-ABN.

Frankly, God is more concerned about truth, righteous, justice, mercy, and other such, than reputation. As 3-ABN is independent, and not a denominational entity, the reputation of the denomination may not suffer as much as some would have us to beleive.

In any case, the reputation of the denomination is less important than is God's standards of righteousness. It is better for us to take damage to reputation than to cover-up wrong doing, if that is the case.

We say that we do not want to destroy 3-ABN. I do not believe that we could do so, if we wanted to do so. 3-ABN is in God's hands for as long as 3-ABN is in compliance with the mission of God for it. If 3-ABN is destroyed, whatever that may mean, it will be because such was in the will of God for it.

The Bible is clear that there are times in human and spiritual history that God does destroy, so to speak, so that God can build anew.

God destroyed the Earth with a flood, so that God could build anew.

God will at a later tieme destroy the Earth with fire so that God can build anew.

God burned Battle Creek so that God could build anew out of the ashes of Battle Creek. That destruction came only after God had sent warnigs by humans, which were rejected.

If God allows 3-ABN to be destroyed, so to speak, there are two possibilities:

a) God can reconstitute 3-ABN again, out of those ashes, and 3-ABN can again fill the role that God gives it.

God can leave it in ashes, as Hope TV may fill the role that God intended for 3-ABN, and for which 3-ABN departed, and went another direction. I am not saying that 3-ABN has done such. I am saying that God is in charge. God will accomplish His purpose with or without 3-ABN, according to 3-ABNs willingness to follow what God lays out for them.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 16 2007, 07:53 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 16 2007, 08:26 AM)
>
> We say that we do not want to destroy 3-ABN. I do not believe that we could do so, if we wanted to do so. 3-ABN is in God's hands for as long as 3-ABN is in compliance with the mission of God for it. If 3-ABN is destroyed, whatever that may mean, it will be because such was in the will of God for it.
>
> The Bible is clear that there are times in human and spiritual history that God does destroy, so to speak, so that God can build anew.
>
> God destroyed the Earth with a flood, so that God could build anew.
>
> God will at a later tieme destroy the Earth with fire so that God can build anew.
>
> God burned Battle Creek so that God could build anew out of the ashes of Battle Creek. That destruction > came only after God had sent warnigs by humans, which were rejected.

>
> If God allows 3-ABN to be destroyed, so to speak, there are two possibilities here is a big difference here. In your examples God carried out the judgments, NOT MAN. His servants role vas only to rebuke and warn...

'ou claim "if God allows 3ABN to be destroyed.." that indicates it is others attempting to do the destroying.

nd indeed such appears to be the situation.

Vhat will you conclude IF God does not allow 3ABN to be destroyed?

Posted by: Observer Feb 16 2007, 08:46 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 16 2007, 06:53 AM)
>
> There is a big difference here. In your examples God carried out the judgments, NOT MAN. His servants role was only to rebuke and warn...
>
> You claim "if God allows 3ABN to be destroyed.." that indicates it is others attempting to do the destroying.
>
> And indeed such appears to be the situation.
> What will you conclude IF God does not allow 3ABN to be destroyed?

letheia:

o, I am not indicating that others are attemptiing to destroy 3-ABN. If a lightening bolt set a building on fire, od would have allowed it, but humans would not have done it. Your logic is a typical mesrepresentation of ny statement.

f God does not allow 3-ABN to be destroyed, I will give thanks to God that God has been able to reform 3-BN, and again use it according to God's purpose.

'es, in my examples, God did not use humans to destroy. However, I assume that you know Scripture well nough to know that there are many examples in the Bible where God did use people to destroy so that God ould rebuild. So, I do not think that I will need to cite them here.

gain, the questions as to humans destroying 3-ABN is not revelant for our purpose. It's destruction is not ur goal. If it is destroyed, it will likely be because people rejected God's call to change. In that examples that gave (flood, etc.) that is very clear. It is upon those people that the responsibility for the destruction that ame rests.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 16 2007, 10:43 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 16 2007, 10:46 AM)
>
> . . . It's destruction is not our goal . . .

Gregory,

In regards to this, and I posted this in the Thursday night thread but it applicable here, how is one to interpret the following statements in Gailon Joy's plea to G. Spence a the save3abn site?

"Will require very aggressive litigation team but assets of the ministry, it's founder and directors are substantial."

"In my experience, strong possibility of recovery from jury demand and believe we have documentary foundation for punitive damages"

The very site that claims it exists to "save" the ministry for God has petitioned a high power attorney to assist in draining it of its financial resources. How is one not to come to the conclusion that there are those in the "small group", of which you are a part, that 3ABN's demise is the desired outcome?

This along with other comments made on various BBS and on Gailon's site indicate that there are a a number of individuals who do desire to see 3ABN disappear. Their desire is to take a ministry that has reached tens of thousands of people with the love of God and the message of His soon return and the joy that each one of us can be carried away in the clouds - and shut it down.

- FHB

Posted by: Observer Feb 16 2007, 11:18 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 16 2007, 09:43 AM)
>
> Gregory,
>
> In regards to this, and I posted this in the Thursday night thread but it applicable here, how is one to interpret the following statements in Gailon Joy's plea to G. Spence a the save3abn site?
>
> "Will require very aggressive litigation team but assets of the ministry, it's founder and directors are substantial."
>
> "In my experience, strong possibility of recovery from jury demand and believe we have documentary foundation for punitive damages"
>
> The very site that claims it exists to "save" the ministry for God has petitioned a high power attorney to assist in draining it of its financial resources. How is one not to come to the conclusion that there are those in the "small group", of which you are a part, that 3ABN's demise is the desired outcome?
>
> This along with other comments made on various BBS and on Gailon's site indicate that there are a a number of individuals who do desire to see 3ABN disappear. Their desire is to take a ministry that has reached tens of thousands of people with the love of God and the message of His soon return and the joy that each one of us can be carried away in the clouds - and shut it down.
>
> - FHB

O. K. Let us apply the above to the situation in a court of law:

1) If punitive damages were to be awarded, it is a stretch to believe that theye would be awarded in an amount that would destroy 3-ABN. Most of the time U. S. courts have some modicum of reasonableness. Look at the tobacco companies. Punitive damages have not been awarded in an amount that has destroyed them.

2) Certainly some punitive damages could (?) be awarded to a number of people to include Linda. But, again, I find it a stretch to believe that any court would order the assets of 3-ABN to be liquidated in order to pay damages. Look to the Roman Catholic chruch. Regional assest that belong to it have not been liquidated in total.

3) Under the right set of circumstances, should they come into being, a court could potentially order a change in management, and policy.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 16 2007, 11:24 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 16 2007, 01:18 PM)
>
> O. K. Let us apply the above to the situation in a court of law:
>
> 1) If punitive damages were to be awarded, it is a stretch to believe that theye would be awarded in an amount that would destroy 3-ABN. Most of the time U. S. courts have some modicum of reasonableness. Look at the tobacco companies. Punitive damages have not been awarded in an amount that has destroyed them.
>
> 2) Certainly some punitive damages could (?) be awarded to a number of people to include Linda. But, again, I find it a stretch to believe that any court would order the assets of 3-ABN to be liquidated in order to pay damages. Look to the Roman Catholic chruch. Regional assest that belong to it have not been liquidated in total.
>
> 3) Under the right set of circumstances, should they come into being, a court could potentially order a change in management, and policy.

Gregory,

While your response is reasoned and contains a possible logical look at what could happen, it doesn't answer my question or comment on my point.

My point: It seems obvious that Gailon Joy and others in his "small group" do want to see an end to 3ABN.

My question: How is one to interpret his statements any other way than supporting the idea that he has no problem with the disappearance of 3ABN.

- FHB

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 16 2007, 11:26 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 15 2007, 11:38 PM)
>
> Linda has been charged with being responsible for just about everything that her supporters say about her. They tell us that we who support her could not know X if Linda had not told us X.
>
> Well, the publication of this draft letter demonstrates that people who support Linda are not acting under her control.

> Here is how the situation developed, and the facts became known.
>
> 1) Daryl F. of MSDAOL, and I acting independently checked our Linda's website and noted that it had not been posted there. Both of us attempted to make contact with Linda. Daryl succeeded before I made contact with her.
>
> 2) When Daryl made the contact, and Linda told him the facts, Daryl contacted me. I attempted to contact Linda, and succeeded. Linda told me, as I related it here.
>
> 3) When I discovered that the letter had not been posted on Linda's website, I wondered. However, in the early days of Linda's website, Linda was working with others, as I recall, to keep the website going. As I remember, sometimes her letters, etc. were not posted immediately on her website by the webmaster. So, I thought that might have been the case. But, I wanted to tell Linda about the letter that had been posted on three forums.
>
> 4) Then when Daryl informed me of his contact with Linda, I re-doubled my efforts to contact her, and I did.
>
> So that is how this all came about.

es, I did wonder why it wasn't on even one of those two websites, particularly Linda's own website, specially when I was told they were on there. This prompted me to inquire about it to Linda and to the main erson of the other website, which prompted Linda to respond accordingly. Linda, at first asked me if they ould be removed, but before I could respond, she realized it was to late and decided to leave them there.

n light of the draft letter, I will be glad when the final one appears.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 16 2007, 11:31 AM

The charge that there is a desire to destroy 3ABN only flies if one believes that 3ABN cannot exist without DS and the current leadership.

If this is the case, then it is not God's ministry... the benefit derived from it by viewers notwithstanding.

God doesn't do single points of failure; if it is truly His ministry then He will, if need be raise someone up who had nothing to do with the failings of the current leadership to carry it forward.

God doesn't need DS... or any other man and just because someone may hold a position now does not mean that he is indispensable

As was shown with Nebuchadnezzar, God can depose and maintain without the one engulfed by his hubris... there be a lesson in that for those with ears to hear...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 16 2007, 11:32 AM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 16 2007, 11:24 AM)

> Gregory,
>
> While your response is reasoned and contains a possible logical look at what could happen, it doesn't answer my question or comment on my point.
>
> My point: It seems obvious that Gailon Joy and others in his "small group" do want to see an end to 3ABN.
>
> My question: How is one to interpret his statements any other way than supporting the idea that he has no problem with the disappearance of 3ABN.
>
> - FHB

Vell, you can't tell from what you posted here that he "has no problem" with the disappearance of 3ABN. All ve know is that he believes that substantial punitive damages are possible or even likely. The existence of ABN doesn't factor into his statements.

think what Greg is saying is that courts don't award such large punitive damages that those who have to ay them are wiped out.

ut even the court of public opinion would eventually forgive the channel, if Danny loses in court. They may ot forgive him. People are more tolerant of adultery than public and malicious deceit.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Feb 16 2007, 11:33 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 16 2007, 01:31 PM) ☐
>
> . . . God doesn't need DS...
>
> Mr. J

n this point you and Danny agree as he said the same last night.

FHB

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 16 2007, 11:49 AM

I am not aware of anybody, especially in this so-called small group, that wants 3ABN itself to come to an end.

I, for one, definitely doesn't want to see 3ABN come ot an end.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 16 2007, 12:01 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 16 2007, 12:31 PM) ☐
>
> The charge that there is a desire to destroy 3ABN only flies if one believes that 3ABN cannot exist without DS and the current leadership.
>
> If this is the case, then it is not God's ministry... the benefit derived from it by viewers notwithstanding.
>
> God doesn't do single points of failure; if it is truly His ministry then He will, if need be raise someone up > who had nothing to do with the failings of the current leadership to carry it forward.

>
> God doesn't need DS... or any other man and just because someone may hold a position now does not mean that he is indispensable
>
> As was shown with Nebuchadnezzar, God can depose and maintain without the one engulfed by his hubris... there be a lesson in that for those with ears to hear...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

xactly, Kevin... and the "charge" is MADE because those who make it equate Danny with 3abn such that any nove against Danny is equated with a move against 3abn as a separate entity.

he facts are... as we have noted here on BSDA many times... that it is Danny himself that makes that quation... and who has said multiple times that 3abn in HIS baby... and that NO ONE is going to take "HIS ABY" away from him.

hose who are uncovering the evil at 3abn are wanting to SAVE 3abn from the evil being perpetrated by its resent owner/directors. If those owner/directors will not allow 3abn to be saved from the evil that has xuded from its pores increasingly over the years... then they themselves will be the ones who destroy 3abn. nd those who wished to have saved it for future use by God will have failed in their mission.... even though hey succeed in exposing and destroying the evil.

t looks to be a hopeless muddle ... from a human point of view... But God is still working through the events nd persons responsible... on all sides of the issue... and eventually He will reveal to all ... all that needs to e revealed. And eventually Right and Justice will prevail.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 16 2007, 12:34 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 16 2007, 12:33 PM)
>
> On this point you and Danny agree as he said the same last night.
>
> - FHB

he difference is, I actually believe it...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 16 2007, 12:41 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 16 2007, 12:34 PM)
>
> The difference is, I actually believe it...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

ell, if Danny meant what he said, he should step down immediately and allow a free and open inquiry into all aspects in question at 3ABN.

But if he doesn't believe God just has to have him, why are his acolytes equating him with the "anointed ones" of the Bible? (Hebrew--"messiahs") Why is questioning him the same as questioning God? This isn't hearsay either, it was broadcast over 3ABN ...

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 16 2007, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 16 2007, 01:41 PM)
>
> Well, if Danny meant what he said, he should step down immediately and allow a free and open inquiry into all aspects in question at 3ABN.
>
> But if he doesn't believe God just has to have him, why are his acolytes equating him with the "anointed ones" of the Bible? (Hebrew--"messiahs") Why is questioning him the same as questioning God? This isn't hearsay either, it was broadcast over 3ABN ...

guess you no longer need a golden calf to have idolatry in the camp...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: andithomas1 Feb 16 2007, 01:05 PM

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Feb 16 2007, 10:43 AM)
>
> Gregory,
>
> In regards to this, and I posted this in the Thursday night thread but it applicable here, how is one to interpret the following statements in Gailon Joy's plea to G. Spence a the save3abn site?
>
> "Will require very aggressive litigation team but assets of the ministry, it's founder and directors are substantial."
>
> "In my experience, strong possibility of recovery from jury demand and believe we have documentary foundation for punitive damages"
>
> The very site that claims it exists to "save" the ministry for God has petitioned a high power attorney to assist in draining it of its financial resources. How is one not to come to the conclusion that there are those in the "small group", of which you are a part, that 3ABN's demise is the desired outcome?
>
> This along with other comments made on various BBS and on Gailon's site indicate that there are a a number of individuals who do desire to see 3ABN disappear. Their desire is to take a ministry that has reached tens of thousands of people with the love of God and the message of His soon return and the joy that each one of us can be carried away in the clouds - and shut it down.
>
> - FHB

If you will look in the Bible-God used others to bring judgement on Israel when they wouldn't repent and do his will. What makes you think God won't bring judgement on 3ABN if they don't come clean. Israel was supposed to do much more than 3abn could ever do-look what happened to them in their history. No human institution has the right to trample on God's people and think they are immune from judgement.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 16 2007, 05:58 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 16 2007, 05:52 AM)
>
> I'm using hearsay in a technical sense. What I mean is this; unless I'm an eyewitness myself, anything anyone tells me is hearsay to me until it's been established in a court of law and/or by other evidence.
>
> I tip heavily toward believing Linda was wronged (and that there's other nefarious business afoot) because much of the hearsay on this site and on save3abn.com is more credible. Why is it more credible? Because these other people are eyewitnesses and have posted documentation--and some of them have identified themselves, bless them. Those than haven't identified themselves want to keep their jobs, I understand that.
>
> But since I'm not an eyewitness, haven't seen the original copies of the documents, I still consider it hearsay. In other words, it's not hearsay to them because they saw it with their own eyes, but it's hearsay to me when they tell me. Does that make sense?

SoulEspresso,

Yes, now I do understand. You are using the word "hearsay" as it applies in a legal setting. My only hesitation is that there are some here who would misread your intended usage, those who have been charging many of us with believing in and spreading rumors. As you'll notice, the common usage of the word "hearsay" would tend to bolster their claims of rumor, gossip and slander, if they did not discern that you were using it in the legal sense.

From TheFreeDictionary:

Hearsay, n.

1. Unverified information heard or received from another; rumor.
2. Law Evidence based on the reports of others rather than the personal knowledge of a witness and therefore generally not admissible as testimony.

Since this forum is not a legal courtroom, the process of building a case for truth is held to a slightly different standard. If Duane Clem tells me that he was a victim of pastoral sexual abuse as a young man by the pastor of his church and then I read the emailed confession Duane received from that very pastor, I believe that I can safely conclude that Duane's testimony is truthful. In this court of public opinion, the use of the word "hearsay" may be a bit of a sticky wicket, diverting the minds of some from the fine points that you are bringing forward.

In the case of those people who have been eye witnesses to certain events, such as sister and HOTY, etc., our job is to determine whether or not they are credible witnesses. If deemed credible, their first-hand testimonies should be able to be viewed as factual. I believe it is an injustice to them to characterize their testimonies as hearsay when repeated by others. Certainly, if we were to be witnesses in a court of law, reporting what we have heard from them would qualify as hearsay - but not here and not in normal every day life.

> QUOTE
>
> Another reason I believe Linda was wronged and that there's other nefarious business afoot is the attitude of certain posters who will go to great lengths to defend Danny and try to paint 3ABN in a good light, even when they have to misquote, contradict themselves, etc. They claim to be eyewitnesses, too, but they don't have names and dates like the others do--all they have is the desire to stir things up and defend their boy.
>
> The third reason? AToday's article. AToday is a news magazine, and they can't publish libelous stuff. What they got was established enough by credible sources that they figured their story would stand up in court-- > not as testimony, but that it wasn't libel the way it was written.

>
> Those of us who find ourselves frustrated with these people are sometimes guilty of a rough spirit--no worse than theirs, mind you, but they're not the Standard (by the way, I haven't seen in any of that in you, PB). I've tried to keep myself in a positive tone but when I catch them in an obvious act of deception I get mad.
>
> It's too bad there's no arbiter in this case. Because it fell through, this tale is going to hit the secular press soon. I bet they're lurking, waiting for as much data as possible before blowing open the story. And they will be merciless, far more than AToday--because they don't care about a church or its reputation.

rom all that I have seen lately, you have done a great job keeping your positive tone. I understand how empting it is to get frustrated or mad at the deceptive practices of some. Just try to keep seeing them hrough the eyes of Jesus and divert that emotion with a little prayer for them.

B

Posted by: Lee Feb 16 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(andithomas1 @ Feb 16 2007, 02:05 PM) ☐
>
> If you will look in the Bible-God used others to bring judgement on Israel when they wouldn't repent and do his will. What makes you think God won't bring judgement on 3ABN if they don't come clean. Israel was supposed to do much more than 3abn could ever do-look what happened to them in their history. No human institution has the right to trample on God's people and think they are immune from judgement.

Vhat makes people think God won't bring judgment on them for all the ies/insinuations/insinuations/suggestions and outright blatent gossip against a ministry God set up?
t is a serious thing to go against the will of God--to desire to work against his purposes!

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 16 2007, 11:05 PM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 16 2007, 10:14 PM) ☐
>
> What makes people think God won't bring judgment on them for all the lies/insinuations/insinuations/suggestions and outright blatent gossip against a ministry God set up? It is a serious thing to go against the will of God --to desire to work against his purposes!

'es, it is a serious thing to go against the will of God.

ıttp://preteristarchive.com/StudyArchive/t/televangelists.html warns us this way:

The Holy Ghost is upon me...The day is coming when those that attack us will drop dead. You say, 'What did 'ou say?' I speak this under the anointing of the Spirit. Can I tell you something? Don't touch God's ervants; it's deadly...Woe to you that touch God's servants. You're going to pay. 'And the day will come," he Lord said that to me. He said, "The day will come when I will punish instantly. Woe to those that ouch my chosen.' They will fear us. Hear this: today they mock us; tomorrow they will fear us." - "Miracle nvasion Rally," Anaheim Convention Center, 11/22/91

Do you think that it would be deadly for me to question Benny Hinn? He is the Lord's chosen, isn't he? If he says the Holy Ghost is upon him, do I have a right to quesiton that?

God told Benny Hinn, right?

If I have relatives that want to climb up on the stage with Benny at the Miracle Invasion "Rally" do I have a right to say anything, or will my opposition to "the chosen" cause my demise?

Notice also that Benny Hinn has "the anointing." Can I question someone who has been anointed?

And remember, when the chosen has been anointed, that's just not for one day, either, as I learned watching 3ABN on a Thursday night.

Things to think about.

Posted by: Observer Feb 17 2007, 05:23 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 16 2007, 09:14 PM)
>
> What makes people think God won't bring judgment on them for all the lies/insinuations/insinuations/suggestions and outright blatent gossip against a ministry God set up? It is a serious thing to go against the will of God--to desire to work against his purposes!

God established a ministry at Battle Creek. And the people learned that establishment by God did not mean that it would always remain God's ministry doing God's will. It's leadership rejected the leading of God, and went their own way. God sent warnings. They refused to listen. God burned Battle Creek, and our of those ashes built a ministry that was again in conformity to God's will. In that process the leadership either repented of their rebellion or they were removed and replaced.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 17 2007, 08:56 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 17 2007, 04:23 AM)
>
> God established a ministry at Battle Creek. And the people learned that establishment by God did not mean that it would always remain God's ministry doing God's will. It's leadership rejected the leading of God, and went their own way. God sent warnings. They refused to listen. God burned Battle Creek, and our of those ashes built a ministry that was again in conformity to God's will. In that process the leadership either repented of their rebellion or they were removed and replaced.

This is an excellent example. Thank you.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 09:32 AM

GOD can establish something - (the Garden of Eden) and if those that he "establishes" with don't act right (Adam & Eve) GOD can evict them....

Didn't he do that?

Merinate on dat.

Posted by: jene Feb 17 2007, 11:43 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 17 2007, 10:32 AM)
>
> GOD can establish something - (the Garden of Eden) and if those that he "establishes" with don't act right (Adam & Eve) GOD can evict them....
>
> Didn't he do that?
>
> Merinate on dat.

You betta preach girl!!!!!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 01:06 PM

> QUOTE(jene @ Feb 17 2007, 01:43 PM)
>
> You betta preach girl!!!!!

I'm jes sayin'.....you know?

Posted by: lurker Feb 17 2007, 01:23 PM

The annointed one is Jesus isn't he? The messiah? The christ? Does that make others who claim to be the annointed one antichrists?

Posted by: watchbird Feb 17 2007, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Feb 17 2007, 02:23 PM)
>
> The annointed one is Jesus isn't he? The messiah? The christ? Does that make others who claim to be the annointed one antichrists?

Oooooooooooo..... you WENT there..... ....

yes you did..... ....

....

sofa1.gif

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 17 2007, 01:54 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 17 2007, 11:46 AM)
>
> Oooooooooooo..... you WENT there..... ....
>
> yes you did..... ....
> ....
>
> sofa1.gif

Yes - he did.

You beat me WB. I was thinking of a reply to this thought....

This is not the first time that this "thought" has come to mind.

It is an interesting time we live in.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 17 2007, 02:28 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 17 2007, 02:54 PM)
>
> Yes - he did.
>
> You beat me WB. I was thinking of a reply to this thought....
>
> This is not the first time that this "thought" has come to mind.
>
> It is an interesting time we live in.

Pentecostals frequently say things that are downright blasphemous if we stop to think about them. See http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12554&view=findpost&p=178837 where he uses Benny Hinn as an example. Problem is, that they are said in such a pious tone surrounded by so much "God talk" that turning our "thinker" off is almost as automatic as bowing our heads and closing our eyes for prayer. (Or has the Pentecostal influence taken hold so much that we don't bow our heads or close our eyes in prayer any more?)

Maybe we need to move past "Kindergarten Ten Commandments" class content.... where "taking the Lord's name in vain" applies only to using swear words.... and move on to "Basic Principles of Ten Commandment Applications 101"... where it is recognized that "taking the Lord's Name in vain" applies also to a lot of other areas.... including even calling ourselves "Christian" whether or not we live like Christians would. To say nothing of appying to ourselves labels and terms used in scripture for God's specially chosen prophets and messengers.

What a sad day for Adventism when we allow our church to be represented by those who spout Pentecostal jargon that is indistinguishable from the most extreme of popular Pentecostal Televangelists...... and even dare to label it "conservative Adventism"! ....

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 17 2007, 02:43 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 17 2007, 02:28 PM)
>
> Pentecostals frequently say things that are downright blasphemous if we stop to think about them. See http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12554&view=findpost&p=178837 where he uses Benny Hinn as an example.
> What a sad day for Adventism when we allow our church to be represented by those who spout Pentecostal jargon that is indistinguishable from the most extreme of popular Pentecostal Televangelists...... and even dare to label it "conservative Adventism"! ....

And because we don't frequent Pentecostal meetings many of us remain unaware of the source of this Pentecostal jargon. Yes, it truly will be a sad day when our theology becomes indistinguishable from the Pentecostal theology.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 17 2007, 04:23 PM

> QUOTE
>
> lurker Posted Today, 02:23 PM:
> The annointed one is Jesus isn't he? The messiah? The christ? Does that make others who claim to be the annointed one antichrists?
>
> watchbird Posted Today, 02:46 PM
> Ooooooooooo..... you WENT there..... ....
>
> yes you did..... ....
>
> ....

> sofa1.gif
>
> sonshineonme @ Feb 17 2007, 02:54 PM:
>
> Yes - he did.
>
> You beat me WB. I was thinking of a reply to this thought....
>
> This is not the first time that this "thought" has come to mind.
>
> It is an interesting time we live in.
>
> watchbird' 03:28 PM:
> Pentecostals frequently say things that are downright blasphemous if we stop to think about them. See http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12554&view=findpost&p=178837 where he uses Benny Hinn as an example. Problem is, that they are said in such a pious tone surrounded by so much "God talk" that turning our "thinker" off is almost as automatic as bowing our heads and closing our eyes for prayer. (Or has the Pentecostal influence taken hold so much that we don't bow our heads or close our eyes in prayer any more?)
>
> Maybe we need to move past "Kindergarten Ten Commandments" class content.... where "taking the Lord's name in vain" applies only to using swear words.... and move on to "Basic Principles of Ten Commandment Applications 101"... where it is recognized that "taking the Lord's Name in vain" applies also to a lot of other areas.... including even calling ourselves "Christian" whether or not we live like Christians would. To say nothing of appying to ourselves labels and terms used in scripture for God's specially chosen prophets and messengers.
>
> What a sad day for Adventism when we allow our church to be represented by those who spout Pentecostal jargon that is indistinguishable from the most extreme of popular Pentecostal Televangelists...... and even dare to label it "conservative Adventism"! ....
>
> Panama_Pete Posted Today, 03:43 PM:
> And because we don't frequent Pentecostal meetings many of us remain unaware of the source of this Pentecostal jargon. Yes, it truly will be a sad day when our theology becomes indistinguishable from the Pentecostal theology.

Vhat about biblical Jargon?

'es, Jesus is, the Christ, THE* annointed one, even as he is THE* light of the world, yet he said:"Ye ıre the light of the world"

Vhy?
.Jo 4:4 Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he hat is in the world.

:very Priest was anointed in the Old Covenant, and in the New?
.Pe 2:5 Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual ;acrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.

Ve are ALL called to the ministry of God, All called to bear the good news, and to be witnesses for our :reator and his truth.

t is sad to me that in seeking to find fault with DS or a3ABN, you mock and ridicule, feigning shock and treating sacred truths like a joke. Petacostalism? It seems plain,"You err, not knowing the scriptures":. Why, rather then denying truth, should these words not apply to yourselves? Our God is Good he is gracious and merciful and gives plentifully to all who come to him in faith.

1Jo 2:18 Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time.
19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would [no doubt] have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.
20But ye have an unction[anointing] from the Holy One, and ye know all things.
:21I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.

1Jo 2:24-27 Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father. And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life. These things have I written unto you concerning them that seduce you. But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him. And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.

2Cr 1:20 For all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us. Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

Let's stick to and be grounded in The Word.

~ Aletheia

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 17 2007, 04:31 PM

So we are all annointed? Then are people saying that Danny is more anointed that the rest of us?

Richard

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 17 2007, 05:23 PM) ☐
>
> What about biblical Jargon?
>
> Yes, Jesus is, the Christ, THE annointed one, even as he is THE light of the world, yet he said":Ye are the light of the world"
>
> Why?
> 1Jo 4:4 Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.
>
> Every Priest was anointed in the Old Covenant, and in the New?
> 1Pe 2:5 Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.
>
> We are ALL called to the ministry of God, All called to bear the good news, and to be witnesses for our Creator and his truth.
> It is sad to me that in seeking to find fault with DS or a3ABN, you mock and ridicule, feigning shock and treating sacred truths like a joke. Petacostalism? It seems plain,"You err, not knowing the scriptures":. Why, rather then denying truth, should these words not apply to yourselves? Our God is Good he is > gracious and merciful and gives plentifully to all who come to him in faith.

>
> 1Jo 2:18 Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time.
> 19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would [no doubt] have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.
> 20But ye have an unction[anointing] from the Holy One, and ye know all things.
> :21I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
>
> 1Jo 2:24-27 Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father. And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life. These things have I written unto you concerning them that seduce you. But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him. And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.
>
> 2Cr 1:20 For all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us. Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.
> Let's stick to and be grounded in The Word.
>
> ~ Aletheia

Posted by: watchbird Feb 17 2007, 04:40 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 17 2007, 05:23 PM) ☐
>
> Let's stick to and be grounded in The Word.
>
> ~ Aletheia

his would be a very good principle. It will not, however, be helpful unless we have learned enough spiritual liscernment to recognize Pentecostal "scripture twisting" when we see it. For there is hardly anyone who juotes more scripture than a Pentecostal.

3ut when the fundamental belief system upon which we stand when we read scripture is different... then the nterpretations and applications are going to be different.

nd we will drift from a truly scriptural ground to a spiritualistical ground.... and we will not know when Satan nsinuates himself into the doctrines in his predicted "angel of light" disguise.

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 17 2007, 04:44 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 17 2007, 12:05 AM) ☐
>
> Yes, it is a serious thing to go against the will of God.

> http://preteristarchive.com/StudyArchive/t/televangelists.html warns us this way:
>
> "The Holy Ghost is upon me...The day is coming when those that attack us will drop dead. You say, 'What did you say?' I speak this under the anointing of the Spirit. Can I tell you something? Don't touch God's servants; it's deadly...Woe to you that touch God's servants. You're going to pay. 'And the day will come," the Lord said that to me. He said, "The day will come when I will punish instantly. Woe to those that touch my chosen.' They will fear us. Hear this: today they mock us; tomorrow they will fear us." - "Miracle Invasion Rally," Anaheim Convention Center, 11/22/91
>
> Do you think that it would be deadly for me to question Benny Hinn? He is the Lord's chosen, isn't he? If he says the Holy Ghost is upon him, do I have a right to quesiton that?
>
> God told Benny Hinn, right?
>
> If I have relatives that want to climb up on the stage with Benny at the Miracle Invasion "Rally" do I have a right to say anything, or will my opposition to "the chosen" cause my demise?
>
> Notice also that Benny Hinn has "the anointing." Can I question someone who has been anointed?
>
> And remember, when the chosen has been anointed, that's just not for one day, either, as I learned watching 3ABN on a Thursday night.
>
> Things to think about.

Ve aren't cult Busters Pete, that would be those in the antichrist system.

Ve are to bring down NO ministry, whether Benny Hinn's or 3ABN's.

Varn about sin and error? Yes, only as as did Christ hurch discipline within our own denomination? Yes, only as Christ commanded.

hat is all.

nd you and Observer (post#64) both ignored Lee's question about what kind of judgments will God bring for lander talebearing, gossip, etc?

--edited for content by Aletheia--

Posted by: Observer Feb 17 2007, 04:57 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 17 2007, 03:44 PM)
>
> We aren't cult Busters Gregory, that is the antichrist.
>
> We are to bring down NO ministry, whether Benny Hinn's or 3ABN's.
>
> Warn about sin and error? Yes, as did Christ
>
> Church discipline within our own denomination? Yes,as Christ commanded.
>
> That is all.
>
> And you ignored Lee's question what kind of judgments will God bring for slander talebearing, gossip, etc?

Aletheia, your quote was from Panama Pete, not me--Gregory Matthews.

Posted by: Treniece Feb 17 2007, 04:57 PM

Here is my human judgment. Based upon my observation of Linda on 3abn she doesn't seem to be a person who would commit adultery easily, so I don't think she committed adultery with the doctor. However, she does seem to be a very head strong person who is very confident of herself and the decisions that she makes. I have not read all of the threads, but from my understanding she was advised by several persons concerning her relationship with the doctor and that it was uneccessary to take a trip to see him. It seems that she was ignoring all the advice given to her, that is probably why she is being accused now of things she may not have done.

Linda's letter sounds good but has she ever given any detailed proof of her whereabouts with the doctor at all times she was with him. Was she ever alone with him behind closed doors for a long period of time. Maybe she should give some proof that she did not commit adultery with the doctor since the other side doesn't have any proof that she did commit adultery.

The question arises in my mind: Was Linda a person who was willing to take advice from other persons. Yes, Danny may have major faults, but I think Linda has helped to contribute to her dismissal from 3abn.

These thoughts are my human judgment, I may be wrong.

Posted by: Observer Feb 17 2007, 05:08 PM

> QUOTE
>
> I think Linda has helped to contribute to her dismissal from 3abn.

It has been said that many people at 3-ABN did not like her, and were glad to see her gone (not an exact quote). So what? I do not have to like my boss. I have to work with him. People at 3-ABN did not have to like her.

Other statements have been made about Linda that reflect badly upon her leadership. So what? According to statements released by 3-ABN she was fired due to an inappropriate relationship with a male not her husband. On that basis nothing else is important. It the real issue had been Linda's incompetence, she could have been fired if found to be incompetent. That was not why she was fired.

We who are on the so-called Linda's Team have never claimed that Linda was perfect.

Our issue is what we believe to be false charges that imply adultery, on some level, and the way she was treated in this process.

If she had been fired because the staff did not like her, or that she was incompetent, we would not be in this situation today.

Linda worked at 3-ABN for some 18 - 20 years. That was more than enough time for people to see her faults, and fire her, if those faults existed. Why would any organization keep an employee for going on almost 20 years if they were not liked by the staff, and incompetent?

Posted by: Aletheia Feb 17 2007, 05:16 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 17 2007, 05:57 PM) ☐
>
> Aletheia, your quote was from Panama Pete, not me--Gregory Matthews.

OoOops... I apologise for my mistake. I'll edit my post. Thanks for letting me know.

Posted by: Treniece Feb 17 2007, 05:16 PM

Where is the proof that she committed adultery and where is the proof that she did not commit adultery. Everyone seems to be using their own human judgment, including Danny Shelton and the other person who it seems helped in making the accussation of adultery.

Posted by: Observer Feb 17 2007, 05:22 PM

> QUOTE
>
> 2Cr 1:20 For all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us. Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming. If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.

I like to check Scriptural references. The above quote appears to be from the KJV (not the NKJV), and a mis-mash from 2 Corinthians 1: 20 and 21 and I John 2:28. So it does not appear to me to be a direct quote from I Cor. 1:20, but additional Biblical material was added, with out giving the source.

It is clear that the Bible does refer to God's people being anointed, especially in the Old Testament, but also in the New Testament. That is more often used in reference to OT prophets, and kings.

But, to use a phrase such as "The Anointed One," is much more specific. Used in that way one might justly think of Christ.

In any case, I would not use such a phrase to apply to a human unless I considered that person to be either comparable to Christ, or to be a prophet such as Samuel in the OT.

I would not use that of Danney Shelton, as I do not make those comparisons.

Posted by: jene Feb 17 2007, 05:28 PM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Feb 17 2007, 05:57 PM) ☐
>
> Here is my human judgment. Based upon my observation of Linda on 3abn she doesn't seem to be a person who would commit adultery easily, so I don't think she committed adultery with the doctor. However, she does seem to be a very head strong person who is very confident of herself and the decisions that she makes. I have not read all of the threads, but from my understanding she was advised > by several persons concerning her relationship with the doctor and that it was uneccessary to take a trip to see him. It seems that she was ignoring all the advice given to her, that is probably why she is being accused now of things she may not have done.

>
> Linda's letter sounds good but has she ever given any detailed proof of her whereabouts with the doctor at all times she was with him. Was she ever alone with him behind closed doors for a long period of time. Maybe she should give some proof that she did not commit adultery with the doctor since the other side doesn't have any proof that she did commit adultery.
>
> The question arises in my mind: Was Linda a person who was willing to take advice from other persons. Yes, Danny may have major faults, but I think Linda has helped to contribute to her dismissal from 3abn.
>
> These thoughts are my human judgment, I may be wrong.

)K Treniece, before everyone has a coniption fit please read the posts and other threads for that matter. .inda feels that she was given biased advice (http://www.lindashelton.org/questions.html) After reading more nfo from first hand eyewitnesses I think that you may be able to see that Linda's naivete was definitely)reyed upon.

\s for your quote in bold up above.....How in the world can you prove that you did not do something? I can ;ay that you, Treniece are a whore who was "working" last night. How are you going to prove that is not true? 'ou can't!! I know I'm being way too dramatic but please understand my point. It is for that reason that our ustice system is built on the principle of innocent until proven guilty, not the other way around. There is a :ertain amount of insecurity and paranoia at hand when a husband does not want his wife to fly out and meet)r conversate with a doctor who is treating her son. A doctor I might add that may very well be her only son's ast resort.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 17 2007, 05:34 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Feb 17 2007, 04:44 PM) ☐
>
> We aren't cult Busters Gregory, that is the antichrist.
>
> We are to bring down NO ministry, whether Benny Hinn's or 3ABN's.
>
> Warn about sin and error? Yes, as did Christ
>
> Church discipline within our own denomination? Yes,as Christ commanded.
>
> That is all.
>
> And you ignored Lee's question what kind of judgments will God bring for slander talebearing, gossip, etc?

\ctually, it was I who mentioned Benny Hinn, not Gregory.

\s for Lee's question, it seems to be based on the false premise that concerns have been falsehoods, and that udgement is the next order of business. I think that conclusion is a little presumptuous, therefore, the]uestion is, at the very least, premature.

\s for Benny Hinn in my post, there's nothing there about "bringing down" Benny Hinn or anybody else.

;ome have now thought that maybe Hope Channel would be better. Therefore, they have mentioned going to he cable companies and seeing if room could be found for Hope Channel, even if it means replacing 3ABN.

If Hope Channel did replace 3ABN on some cable systems, technically, that would be correct to say that some were requesting 3ABN be removed. As Seventh-day Adventists, there should be nothing wrong with promoting the Hope Channel.

I realize that some people will see promoting the Hope Channel as "bringing down" 3ABN. However, if the 3ABN folks can't get their act together, that's the way the cookie is going to crumble.

And there's no need to re-edit your post, I already saw it and I am responding to it.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 17 2007, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Feb 17 2007, 02:57 PM)
>
> Here is my human judgment. Based upon my observation of Linda on 3abn she doesn't seem to be a person who would commit adultery easily, so I don't think she committed adultery with the doctor. However, she does seem to be a very head strong person who is very confident of herself and the decisions that she makes. I have not read all of the threads, but from my understanding she was advised by several persons concerning her relationship with the doctor and that it was uneccessary to take a trip to see him. It seems that she was ignoring all the advice given to her, that is probably why she is being accused now of things she may not have done.
>
> Linda's letter sounds good but has she ever given any detailed proof of her whereabouts with the doctor at all times she was with him. Was she ever alone with him behind closed doors for a long period of time. Maybe she should give some proof that she did not commit adultery with the doctor since the other side doesn't have any proof that she did commit adultery.
>
> The question arises in my mind: Was Linda a person who was willing to take advice from other persons. Yes, Danny may have major faults, but I think Linda has helped to contribute to her dismissal from 3abn.
>
> These thoughts are my human judgment, I may be wrong.

Treneice,
Recall that Linda went to Norway with Brenda (her then best friend) to visit her son Nathan in treatment. They were there 3 days I think it was. Wasn't that the only time she was there during her marriage? Those advising her were doing so based on what they were fed by DS, which with the help of Brenda, was the outward begining of getting rid of Linda.

Posted by: Treniece Feb 17 2007, 05:59 PM

Brenda seems to be a nice person. Never judge a book by its cover - I guess. It seems the things said about Tommy are true and I never would have thought him to be that type of a person, in fact I thought he was a long time Adventist.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 06:01 PM

SDA's are rapist, thieves, liars, molesters, spousal abusers, even murders.

I know you aren't - but we should not ever get it twisted. This denomination does everything and anything...... why? Because sin exists!

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 17 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 17 2007, 04:01 PM)
>
> SDA's are rapist, thieves, liars, molesters, spousal abusers, even murders.
>
> I know you aren't - but we should not ever get it twisted. This denomination does everything and anything...... why? Because sin exists!

It ALWAYS gets me when I hear someone say "but, I thought he/she is an SDA" or "but they are adventists" or "not an adventist". The presumption that being an SDA makes you something other then a sinful person, someone exempt from a particular behaviour, has ofen become a suprising dissapointment. We put these kinds of expectations on people simply because they claim to be SDA, which is also why we have so much righteous judgement that goes on too - you know, being an SDA gives you the authority to judge because YOU know better, because you are special, you are an SDA after all! You suddenly have been elavated to a super-christian position.... I had a boss that saw himself this way and the judgement of others always came rolling from his lips.....he felt justified to make the calls everytime. He hurt many people and never seem to care.

The devil has thought of everything. The scary similarity is that the Jews did the same thing. And they missed the proverbial boat.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 06:11 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 17 2007, 08:10 PM)
>
> It ALWAYS gets me when I hear someone say "but, I thought he/she is an SDA" or "but they are adventists" or "not an adventist". The presumption that being an SDA makes you something other then a sinful person, someone exempt from a particular behaviour, has ofen become a suprising dissapointment. We put these kinds of expectations on people simply because they claim to be SDA, which is also why we have so much righteous judgement that goes on too - you know, being an SDA gives you the authority to judge because YOU know better, because you are special, you are an SDA after all! You suddenly have been elavated to a super-christian position.... I had a boss that saw himself this way and the judgement of others always came rolling from his lips.....he felt justified to make the calls everytime. He hurt many people and never seem to care.
>
> The devil has thought of everything. The scary similarity is that the Jews did the same thing. And they missed the proverbial boat.

OOOoooo!!!

Dead on pernt!

Posted by: Observer Feb 17 2007, 06:38 PM

> QUOTE
>
> And you and Observer (post#64) both ignored Lee's question about what kind of judgments will God bring for slander talebearing, gossip, etc?

O.K. Aletheia: When did you stop beating your husband with a cat-o-nine tails?

I know that the above question is an example of a classic question that is taught in many classes devoted to debate and other such. The best response is simply to ignore it. You probably will respond to my question. You will probably do so successfully. But the classic response to a question of that type is to simply ignore it.

You reference a question in that same classic mode that I simply ignored, in part. However, I did address it in part. Your question assumed that a ministry God began would continue to be a minsitry of God. I pointed out that in the past ministries which God began departed from the plan of God, and reached a point where they were no longer ministries of God. I spoke in part to your question!

NOTE: For the purists here who would like a response from me in regard to my question: I do not know anything at all as to whether or not Alethieia is married, to a male, or whether or not she beats a husband with a cat-o-nine tails. Please do not assume that I am making a statement in my question to her as to how she relates to a husband.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 17 2007, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Feb 17 2007, 04:59 PM)
>
> Brenda seems to be a nice person. Never judge a book by its cover - I guess. It seems the things said about Tommy are true and I never would have thought him to be that type of a person, in fact I thought he was a long time Adventist.

Treniece,
Just out of curiosity, how have you come to the conclusion that the things said about Tommy are true? While I am inclined to agree with you, I'm interested in how you got there.

I also have had a hard time believing that the Brenda I thought I knew from watching her on cooking shows, Kids Time and various other productions would do the things she is reported to have done. Of course, how well do we actually know someone by their actions on the television screen?

Regarding thinking Tommy was a long time Adventist, I think you hit on a key, or at least a significant problem here. Unless one is privy to the behind-the-scenes lives of the folks on 3abn, viewers are left to conclude that those participating in the 3abn ministry are SDA.

PB

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 17 2007, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Feb 17 2007, 08:38 PM)
>
> O.K. Aletheia: When did you stop beating your husband with a cat-o-nine tails?
>
> I know that the above question is an example of a classic question that is taught in many classes devoted to debate and other such. The best response is simply to ignore it. You probably will respond to my question. You will probably do so successfully. But the classic response to a question of that type is to simply ignore it.
>
> You reference a question in that same classic mode that I simply ignored, in part. However, I did address it in part. Your question assumed that a ministry God began would continue to be a minsitry of God. I > pointed out that in the past ministries which God began departed from the plan of God, and reached a point where they were no longer ministries of God. I spoke in part to your question!

>
> NOTE: For the purists here who would like a response from me in regard to my question: I do not know anything at all as to whether or not Alethieia is married, to a male, or whether or not she beats a husband with a cat-o-nine tails. Please do not assume that I am making a statement in my question to her as to how she relates to a husband.

☒ ☒ rofl ☒

'm okay....carry on......

☒

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 18 2007, 01:20 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 16 2007, 05:58 PM) ☐
>
> SoulEspresso,
>
> Yes, now I do understand. You are using the word "hearsay" as it applies in a legal setting. My only hesitation is that there are some here who would misread your intended usage, those who have been charging many of us with believing in and spreading rumors. As you'll notice, the common usage of the word "hearsay" would tend to bolster their claims of rumor, gossip and slander, if they did not discern that you were using it in the legal sense.
>
> From TheFreeDictionary:
>
> Hearsay, n.
>
> 1. Unverified information heard or received from another; rumor.
> 2. Law Evidence based on the reports of others rather than the personal knowledge of a witness and therefore generally not admissible as testimony.
>
> Since this forum is not a legal courtroom, the process of building a case for truth is held to a slightly different standard. If Duane Clem tells me that he was a victim of pastoral sexual abuse as a young man by the pastor of his church and then I read the emailed confession Duane received from that very pastor, I believe that I can safely conclude that Duane's testimony is truthful. In this court of public opinion, the use of the word "hearsay" may be a bit of a sticky wicket, diverting the minds of some from the fine points that you are bringing forward.
>
> In the case of those people who have been eye witnesses to certain events, such as sister and HOTY, etc., our job is to determine whether or not they are credible witnesses. If deemed credible, their first-hand testimonies should be able to be viewed as factual. I believe it is an injustice to them to characterize their testimonies as hearsay when repeated by others. Certainly, if we were to be witnesses in a court of law, reporting what we have heard from them would qualify as hearsay - but not here and not in normal every day life.

'B,

'hanks for the good point. I don't know if I'll be able to correct my posts (I'm sure there's a way to do them ıll in one spot if I could figure it out) but I'll see what I can do. Anyway I'll try to find a better way of putting t in future.

Yeah, I believe these people, all of them--particularly Duane. I don't know any man who would make up a story like that just to bring someone else down. They are credible witnesses to me and I don't want to cast a bad light on their story.

Soul

Posted by: SoulEspresso Feb 18 2007, 01:52 AM

Okay, a lot of it's fixed--no content changed, just precision of language. The last thing I want to do is cast doubt on the testimony of people I happen to believe.

I left this conversation pretty much intact because it wouldn't make sense to delete every reference to and explanation of hearsay.

Hope this clarifies.

Posted by: ida Feb 18 2007, 04:28 AM

> QUOTE(Lee @ Feb 17 2007, 04:14 AM)
>
> What makes people think God won't bring judgment on them for all the lies/insinuations/insinuations/suggestions and outright blatent gossip against a ministry God set up? It is a serious thing to go against the will of God--to desire to work against his purposes!

Are you really saying that since God set up this ministry, no repulsive sin can enter inside those sacred walls?

Posted by: Observer Feb 18 2007, 05:15 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 17 2007, 08:15 PM)
>
> rofl
>
> I'm okay....carry on......

In my approach to life, it is O.K. to interject some humor into situaitons.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 18 2007, 06:04 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Feb 18 2007, 12:52 AM)

> Okay, a lot of it's fixed--no content changed, just precision of language. The last thing I want to do is cast doubt on the testimony of people I happen to believe.
>
> I left this conversation pretty much intact because it wouldn't make sense to delete every reference to and explanation of hearsay.
>
> Hope this clarifies.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 06:54 PM

I just received an update from Linda regarding her letter and website.

She has been working making a few minor revisions (grammar changes, etc.) to her already released letter. The content and context will remain the same and it will be posted on her website.

With that, Linda is updating and changing the question and letter sections on her website as well as posting an event schedule section showing some of her upcoming engagements.

Her website is due to be updated sometime this week. As soon as her Webmaster gets it loaded there, I will bring the letter back here. I will leave the original and add the second below it. At that time, I will ask Clay if he can re-pin it.
(Thanks Clay!)

Posted by: wwjd Feb 19 2007, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 19 2007, 06:54 PM)
>
> I just received an update from Linda regarding her letter and website.
>
> posting an event schedule section showing some of her upcoming engagements.
>
> Her website is due to be updated sometime this week. As soon as her Webmaster gets it loaded there, I will bring the letter back here. I will leave the original and add the second below it. At that time, I will ask Clay if he can re-pin it.
> (Thanks Clay!)

thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told therwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. verything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just glad you admit t.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 19 2007, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 07:13 PM)
>
> I thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told otherwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. Everything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just glad > you admit it.

So, do you have a question then? Or did you want to move on to another thread now and post some more of your "type" of comments? You know, the jealous, hateful, evil kind. Sad.

p.s. you should take lessons on your kind of thinking, just a suggestion.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 19 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:13 PM)
>
> I thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told otherwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. Everything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just glad you admit it.

sn't it interesting that because someone says they got one piece of information from Linda you assume that Linda is their ONLY source of information.

sn't it interesting that you equate getting information from someone as being a "puppet on a string".

Since neither is true... either with me or with sonshineonme... and since neither assumption qualifies as a general rule as to how people relate to each other or to their information sources.... I am left with only one conclusion.... and that is that this is the way you must relate to YOUR sole information source.

Very interesting.....

So sad...... ......

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 01:03 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 09:13 PM)
>
> I thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told otherwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. Everything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just glad you admit it.

Doing everything seemingly possible except refuting accusatory talk in our neighborhood.

can you break the code?)

Posted by: IMM Feb 20 2007, 07:06 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 20 2007, 01:03 AM)

> Doing everything seemingly possible except refuting accusatory talk in our neighborhood.
>
> (can you break the code?)

Good one, Duane!

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 20 2007, 11:17 AM

> QUOTE(IMM @ Feb 20 2007, 07:06 AM) ☐
>
> Good one, Duane!

Thank you.....thank you.... ☒ than

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 12:49 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 11:13 PM) ☐
>
> I thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told otherwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. Everything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just glad you admit it.

....and everything you post is from Danny/Tommy/Funky Bunch and has a spin on it.

Whut?

Glad you admitted it too.... (by omission)....

☒ sn

Posted by: sister Feb 20 2007, 01:07 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 19 2007, 10:13 PM) ☐
>
> I thought you and watchbird had said before that you were not getting your info from Linda. Watchbird told otherwise last week and now so are you. So all of the puppet on a string comments have been and are true. Everything you post is from her and has her spin on it. Everyone already knew it anyway, just > glad you admit it.

ctually, WWJD, you are confusing the ladies that post here, I am the one who stated that I have never osted any information that I received from Linda Shelton. I wrote the entire "An Unauthorized History of ABN" without any input from Linda Shelton.

ister

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 01:50 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Feb 20 2007, 01:07 PM)
>
> Actually, WWJD, you are confusing the ladies that post here, I am the one who stated that I have never posted any information that I received from Linda Shelton. I wrote the entire "An Unauthorized History of 3ABN" without any input from Linda Shelton.
>
> Sister

ever? never have posted anything told to you by Linda? Maybe you should start reading all the way back to our first posts up until now. You might want to rethink that statement.

Posted by: Clay Feb 20 2007, 01:54 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 01:50 PM)
>
> Never? never have posted anything told to you by Linda? Maybe you should start reading all the way back to your first posts up until now. You might want to rethink that statement.

ou might want to cut sister some slack.... remember it was you who said you were not ever coming back, ut like a modern day Thomas Jefferson you have repeatedly returned to the slave quarters to meet with ally Hemmings...... the only difference between you and T.J. you have not been able to have your way with s.... though you continue to try....

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 02:03 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 20 2007, 01:54 PM)
>
> you might want to cut sister some slack.... remember it was you who said you were not ever coming back, but like a modern day Thomas Jefferson you have repeatedly returned to the slave quarters to meet with Sally Hemmings...... the only difference between you and T.J. you have not been able to have your way with us.... though you continue to try....

lay, can you not come up with some more original material? I would be rich if I had a quarter for everytime ou have brought that up. I changed my mind when I saw more and more lies being told. Get over it.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 02:06 PM

How can you take the toothpick outta your brother's eye when you have a telephone pole in your own?

I see.....

Posted by: Clay Feb 20 2007, 02:08 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Clay, can you not come up with some more original material? I would be rich if I had a quarter for everytime you have brought that up. I changed my mind when I saw more and more lies being told. Get over it.

you get over it... or do you have jungle fever?

Posted by: Bystander Feb 20 2007, 02:13 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 20 2007, 02:08 PM)
>
> you get over it... or do you have jungle fever?

Maybe we could take up a collection to get you some better material.

Posted by: Clay Feb 20 2007, 02:15 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 20 2007, 02:13 PM)
>
> Maybe we could take up a collection to get you some better material.

you learned how to take up collections from Danny I am sure.... but that's okay..... this is about you and your addiction to us.... you can admit you have "the fever" its okay.... really it is....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 20 2007, 02:31 PM

Da-da-da-da-dum-dee-da-da-da-da-dum-de-da-da-da-da-dum-dee-...
"we're in love...."

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 21 2007, 08:00 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 20 2007, 12:31 PM)
>
> Da-da-da-da-dum-dee-da-da-da-da-dum-de-da-da-da-da-dum-dee-...
> "we're in love...."

Posted by: Treniece Feb 24 2007, 05:21 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 17 2007, 06:10 PM)
>
> It ALWAYS gets me when I hear someone say "but, I thought he/she is an SDA" or "but they are adventists" or "not an adventist". The presumption that being an SDA makes you something other then a sinful person, someone exempt from a particular behaviour, has ofen become a suprising dissapointment. We put these kinds of expectations on people simply because they claim to be SDA, which is also why we have so much righteous judgement that goes on too - you know, being an SDA gives you the authority to judge because YOU know better, because you are special, you are an SDA after all! You suddenly have been elavated to a super-christian position.... I had a boss that saw himself this way and the judgement of others always came rolling from his lips.....he felt justified to make the calls everytime. He hurt many people and never seem to care.
>
> The devil has thought of everything. The scary similarity is that the Jews did the same thing. And they missed the proverbial boat.

When I said I thought he was a long time adventist I did not mean that being an adventist makes you something other than a sinful person. I only was expressing my shock to find out that he was a pastor of another organization, because I thought all the Shelton brothers were adventist.

I agree with your statements.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 24 2007, 06:23 PM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Feb 24 2007, 05:21 PM)
>
> I only was expressing my shock to find out that he was a pastor of another organization, because I thought all the Shelton brothers were adventist.
>
> I agree with your statements.

The http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-ordination-suspended.htm was addressed to the Reverend Tommy Shelton.

Linda was, and is, an Adventist. Yet, it was Linda Shelton who was the wayward soul who needed to be replaced as programming manager with Reverend Tommy Shelton? I cannot buy into the logic of that argument. (I doubt the 3ABN Board of Directors has an answer for that one, either.)

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 24 2007, 06:56 PM

The 3abn board? aka Danny's rubber stamp?

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 24 2007, 07:23 PM)
>
> The http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-ordination-suspended.htm was addressed to > the Reverend Tommy Shelton.
>
> Linda was, and is, an Adventist. Yet, it was Linda Shelton who was the wayward soul who needed to be replaced as programming manager with Reverend Tommy Shelton? I cannot buy into the logic of that argument. (I doubt the 3ABN Board of Directors has an answer for that one, either.)

Posted by: Fran Feb 24 2007, 07:13 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 24 2007, 06:23 PM)
>
> The http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-ordination-suspended.htm was addressed to > the Reverend Tommy Shelton.
>
> Linda was, and is, an Adventist. Yet, it was Linda Shelton who was the wayward soul who needed to be replaced as programming manager with Reverend Tommy Shelton? I cannot buy into the logic of that argument. (I doubt the 3ABN Board of Directors has an answer for that one, either.)

I am really curious.

How many of Danny's brothers and sisters are Seventh-day Adventists in good standing?

There are many, many 3ABN viewers that think he, Tommy, is/was an Adventist.

He was an Adventist at one time wasn't he?

Why did he leave Adventism?

Is Kenny still a preacher?

To what denomination does he belong?

Did he ever start an Adventist supporting ministry?

What happened?

Does he still have this ministry?

Is he an Adventist church member today?

Is Ronnie a credintialed Adventist pastor?

Is Tammy an Adventist?

Who am I missing?

How many non-Adventists are there at 3ABN as employees or in TV programming?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 24 2007, 09:38 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 24 2007, 06:23 PM) ☐
>
> The http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-ordination-suspended.htm was addressed to the Reverend Tommy Shelton.
>
> Linda was, and is, an Adventist. Yet, it was Linda Shelton who was the wayward soul who needed to be replaced as programming manager with Reverend Tommy Shelton? I cannot buy into the logic of that argument. (I doubt the 3ABN Board of Directors has an answer for that one, either.)

This would imply that Linda being an adventist automatically made her a better christian than someone of another denomination. Next, at the Time of Linda's replacement, as you all have pointed out he was no longer "reverend" and hadn't been for some years.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 24 2007, 11:32 PM

One mo' gen....

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 20 2007, 04:06 PM) ☐
>
> How can you take the toothpick outta your brother's eye when you have a telephone pole in your own?
>
> I see.....

Posted by: JustTana Feb 25 2007, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 10:38 PM)
>
> This would imply that Linda being an adventist automatically made her a better christian than someone of another denomination. Next, at the Time of Linda's replacement, as you all have pointed out he was no longer "reverend" and hadn't been for some years.

So? What does that prove, WWJD??!

JT

Posted by: Johann Feb 25 2007, 03:06 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 25 2007, 05:38 AM)
>
> This would imply that Linda being an adventist automatically made her a better christian than someone of another denomination. Next, at the Time of Linda's replacement, as you all have pointed out he was no longer "reverend" and hadn't been for some years.

And which church did you claim to belong to?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 26 2007, 12:36 AM

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 26 2007, 10:20 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 24 2007, 09:38 PM)
>
> This would imply that Linda being an adventist automatically made her a better christian than someone of another denomination. Next, at the Time of Linda's replacement, as you all have pointed out he was no longer "reverend" and hadn't been for some years.

Really?

http://www.dailyregister.com/calendar/?showdate=2006-09-24

(halfway down, left side of page)

Posted by: Clay Feb 26 2007, 10:26 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 26 2007, 10:20 AM)

> Really?
>
> http://www.dailyregister.com/calendar/?showdate=2006-09-24
>
> (halfway down, left side of page)

you were referring to this announcement?

> QUOTE
>
> - Gospel concert 6 p.m. at Faith Chapel (9555 Old Route 13) west of Harrisburg with the Rev. Gary Clark, the Rev. Tommy Shelton (musician) and the Rev. Chuck Jackson (music minister). For details, you may call (618) 982-2389 or 841-7590.

Posted by: Johann Feb 28 2007, 03:41 PM

☒ ofl - why not get back to the topic: When will 3ABN make known the real reason - trustworthy reason - why Linda was dismissed?

☒ b

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 04:34 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 28 2007, 04:41 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ ofl - why not get back to the topic: When will 3ABN make known the real reason - trustworthy reason - why Linda was dismissed?
>
> ☒ b

It is doubtful if 3abn will ever officialy admit anything about anything. But the reason Linda was dismissed is very plain.... She was dismissed because Danny didn't want her around any more.

Now as to why he didn't want her around..... there is probably no single answer to that. And since speculating about motives is not a good thing to do, we shall probably have to be content to notice what things he has changed since he got rid of her. The most obvious, of course, is that he has a new wife..... one that is much younger.

But there may be other changes also that are significant in other areas.... types of programming.... doctrinal emphases..... the way workers are treated..... perhaps others more familiar with things both before and after Linda left may have noticed changes that may be significant.

Of course, we do not know that spring 2004 was actually the watershed. It could be that Danny was already making changes.... at least some of which caused added friction between the two. Some have seen their going for a private jet plane as a significant watershed. Some have seen the court case over the property tax exemption as significant. It would be interesting to hear what others observed in the way of significant changes over the last 5 years or so.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 05:25 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 04:34 PM)
>
> It is doubtful if 3abn will ever officialy admit anything about anything. But the reason Linda was dismissed is very plain.... She was dismissed because Danny didn't want her around any more.
>
> But there may be other changes also that are significant in other areas.... types of programming.... doctrinal emphases..... the way workers are treated..... perhaps others more familiar with things both before and after Linda left may have noticed changes that may be significant.

Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one. You are making big statements by saying Danny didn't want her around...Unless you are a physic mind reader, you couldn't possibly know what DS was thinking about anything. I have never seen it addressed here, how DS catered to her, bragged on her to everyone, constantly told her and others how beautiful he thought she was..and then all of a sudden....he wanted to get rid of her? c'mon. Anyone that was around them for any length of time would reach for a "hurl" bucket at the way he "fawned" over her and gave her her way about most everything. His biggest fault was putting her up on a pedestal so, in a way, he was somewhat responsible for her resulting attitude.
Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
BTW, since the doc and LS was strickley a professional relationship over her son, why was she going to Norway to see him, without Nathan, right after the divorce. mmm maybe she was out of phone minutes
As far as your "changes" remark at 3abn. Yes, the programming improved significantly according to the biggest percentage of viewers. And, "the way workers were treated" vastly improved once LS was gone. Most employees would tell you that. Some said "it was like a load was lifted off of their shoulders while others said the whole atmosphere had become so much more spirit filled. Then, according to some that I knew that worked on the 3abn truck crew LS had their pay at a pathetic level and would not give them a raise. As soon as she was gone, her replacement couldn't believe how little they were being paid and immediately rectified the pay scale. After all they have a huge sacrifice having to be away from their families for weeks at a time.
Truthfully,if you ask most of the workers, they will tell you they can't really think of anything negative that has come from her, not, being at 3abn.

Posted by: watchbird Feb 28 2007, 05:39 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:25 PM)
>
> Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one.

You'd do better to keep on ignoring 'em, Bystander. You're wasting your time rehashing the same old lines that I've heard over and over again.

Didn't buy them the first time around... ain't buying them now. ....

Shove off now......

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 28 2007, 06:02 PM

So Linda was less than perfect. But we all knew that.

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:25 PM)
>
> Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one. You are making big statements by saying Danny didn't want her around...Unless you are a physic mind reader, you couldn't possibly know what DS was thinking about anything. I have never seen it addressed here, how DS catered to her, bragged on her to everyone, constantly told her and others how beautiful he thought she was..and then all of a sudden....he wanted to get rid of her? c'mon. Anyone that was around them for any length of time would reach for a "hurl" bucket at the way he "fawned" over her and gave her her way about most everything. His biggest fault was putting her up on a pedestal so, in a way, he was somewhat responsible for her resulting attitude.
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
> BTW, since the doc and LS was strickley a professional relationship over her son, why was she going to Norway to see him, without Nathan, right after the divorce. mmm maybe she was out of phone minutes
> As far as your "changes" remark at 3abn. Yes, the programming improved significantly according to the biggest percentage of viewers. And, "the way workers were treated" vastly improved once LS was gone. Most employees would tell you that. Some said "it was like a load was lifted off of their shoulders while others said the whole atmosphere had become so much more spirit filled. Then, according to some that I knew that worked on the 3abn truck crew LS had their pay at a pathetic level and would not give them a raise. As soon as she was gone, her replacement couldn't believe how little they were being paid and immediately rectified the pay scale. After all they have a huge sacrifice having to be away from their families for weeks at a time.
> Truthfully,if you ask most of the workers, they will tell you they can't really think of anything negative that has come from her, not, being at 3abn.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 28 2007, 06:14 PM

Ok, Sorry! I jes' couldn't help it! I likes that WB! sn

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 03:39 PM)
>
> You'd do better to keep on ignoring 'em, Bystander. You're wasting your time rehashing the same old lines that I've heard over and over again.
>
> Didn't buy them the first time around... ain't buying them now. ....
>
> Shove off now......

Posted by: Bystander Feb 28 2007, 06:25 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 05:39 PM)
>
> You'd do better to keep on ignoring 'em, Bystander. You're wasting your time rehashing the same old lines that I've heard over and over again.
>
> Didn't buy them the first time around... ain't buying them now. ....
>
> Shove off now......

Honestly, the truth doesn't have to be "bought". It is what it is. Also no one has rehashed anymore than you. No matter how hard you try to give your "tarnished" version of events, someone will always be around to tell what "really" happened. So, you better run along to bow and scrape and get a new story for tomorrow.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 28 2007, 06:27 PM

Problem for me BS is that Linda never came here lying through her teeth, to my knowledge, Danny did, so based on his own actions Danny's credibility is in the toilet, at least for me. I'll say it again, I hates a thief and a liar, nothing worse except somebody who will lie if they look at you! An unsolicited lie, if you please. I will also reiterate that Danny cut off his nose in spite of his face, because he is the reason we can't ask questions of Linda. Now, by his own hand he is the only one left to answer the accusers. That is how satan leads you out onto a brand while he is sawing it off at the base. Shame isn't it?

BTW, right "after" the divorce LS was free to fly, drive, walk or crawl to "see" anybody she wanted. That is a moot point. Now, is she was like Danny, and remarried to said Dr. then you would at least have a leg to stand, right now, you need to let that one go.

Also, BS, taking pots shots at LS while you know she can't defend herself is beneath you. Down right un-Christ-like. Danny can come here anytime(and probably does) to defend anything said here about him, Linda can't. Cheap shots, especially on a woman, speak volumes about your own manhood......BTJM....

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 03:25 PM)
>
> Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one. You are making big statements by saying Danny didn't want her around...Unless you are a physic mind reader, you couldn't possibly know what DS was thinking about anything. I have never seen it addressed here, how DS catered to her, bragged on her to everyone, constantly told her and others how beautiful he thought she was..and then all of a sudden....he wanted to get rid of her? c'mon. Anyone that was around them for any length of time would reach for a "hurl" bucket at the way he "fawned" over her and gave her her way about most everything. His biggest fault was putting her up on a pedestal so, in a way, he was somewhat responsible for her resulting attitude.
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
> BTW, since the doc and LS was strickley a professional relationship over her son, why was she going to Norway to see him, without Nathan, right after the divorce. mmm maybe she was out of phone minutes
>
> As far as your "changes" remark at 3abn. Yes, the programming improved significantly according to the biggest percentage of viewers. And, "the way workers were treated" vastly improved once LS was gone. Most employees would tell you that. Some said "it was like a load was lifted off of their shoulders while others said the whole atmosphere had become so much more spirit filled. Then, according to some that I knew that worked on the 3abn truck crew LS had their pay at a pathetic level and would not give them a raise. As soon as she was gone, her replacement couldn't believe how little they were being paid and immediately rectified the pay scale. After all they have a huge sacrifice having to be away from their > families for weeks at a time.

> Truthfully,if you ask most of the workers, they will tell you they can't really think of anything negative that has come from her, not, being at 3abn.

Posted by: LaurenceD Feb 28 2007, 06:46 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander)
>
> No matter how hard you try to give your "tarnished" version of events, someone will always be around to tell what "really" happened. So, you better run along to bow and scrape and get a new story for tomorrow.

ust a suggestion...

ou could improve your image and credibility with others by about 35% if you not post things like this. It only dds to the impression that we're dealing with a character here that's sarcastic, feels cornered, has gotten corched, and is fairly immature. This kind of unChrist-like sarcastic tone supercedes and wipes away nything good you may have to say.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 28 2007, 07:56 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 05:25 PM)
>
> Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one. You are making big statements by saying Danny didn't want her around...Unless you are a physic mind reader, you couldn't possibly know what DS was thinking about anything. I have never seen it addressed here, how DS catered to her, bragged on her to everyone, constantly told her and others how beautiful he thought she was..and then all of a sudden....he wanted to get rid of her? c'mon. Anyone that was around them for any length of time would reach for a "hurl" bucket at the way he "fawned" over her and gave her her way about most everything. His biggest fault was putting her up on a pedestal so, in a way, he was somewhat responsible for her resulting attitude.
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
> BTW, since the doc and LS was strickley a professional relationship over her son, why was she going to Norway to see him, without Nathan, right after the divorce. mmm maybe she was out of phone minutes
>
> As far as your "changes" remark at 3abn. Yes, the programming improved significantly according to the biggest percentage of viewers. And, "the way workers were treated" vastly improved once LS was gone. Most employees would tell you that. Some said "it was like a load was lifted off of their shoulders while others said the whole atmosphere had become so much more spirit filled. Then, according to some that I knew that worked on the 3abn truck crew LS had their pay at a pathetic level and would not give them a raise. As soon as she was gone, [/b] couldn't believe how little they were being paid and immediately rectified the pay scale. After all they have a huge sacrifice having to be away from their families for weeks at a time.
> Truthfully,if you ask most of the workers, they will tell you they can't really think of anything negative that has come from her, not, being at 3abn.

1. Linda Shelton has already responded to this. She says she had no power over how much employees were paid. Linda said she wanted to give Sandra Juarez a raise, but was overruled by her ex-husband, Danny Shelton. Danny does all hiring and firing. Period. Everybody knows that. You know it. I know it. So just stop with this nonsense.

2. Her Replacement = Tommy Shelton. We already know who "her replacement" was, so you might as well spell it out: Linda was replaced by a Reverend dismissed by another denomination. His name is Tommy Shelton, but I suppose just calling him "her replacement" sounds better? You have your marching orders to focus everyone's attention on demonizing Linda - and away from all other core issues? That's what you're getting paid to do as part of your "mending broken people" agenda? Just asking.

3. As for any trip to Norway, the Norwegian doctor, Arild Abrahamsen, has already written and distributed his account.

4. Linda lost her health insurance when she was summarily fired by her ex-husband. You know that. The Norwegian doctor, aware of what had happened, gave Linda access to his medical clinic after the loss of the insurance. Why keep trying to make that something it is not. Even you, yourself, say Linda Shelton was already divorced at that time.

5. I was in Thompsonville shortly after Danny asked for a divorce. I saw no such fawning as you describe. When Linda started the radio network on December 31, 1999, Danny went on the air shortly thereafter and said several times, "I have no vision for radio," with Linda Shelton sitting right next to him on the air. This certainly didn't look like bragging over Linda to me. It came across to me as a message to viewers saying, "Radio is not part of the Great Danny Shelton Vision, so please take note, everyone." But Linda's radio network succeeded anyway, despite Danny's admonition to his viewers. And things were never the same after that.

Linda held a 3ABN Radio School beginning on Monday, March 8, 2004. It was a sold-out event. The Radio Network was succeeding. Danny could see that and he was not happy. If Danny was going to get rid of Linda, he'd have to do it before she added a dozen more radio stations.

Danny demanded his divorce, the night before the radio school started, on Sunday, March 7, 2004. Danny just couldn't handle Linda's success and he was determined to put a stop to it. Linda, not being streetwise, could not suspect what was going on or how her demise was linked to her own success in radio.

Mollie Steenson had gone to India, and I believe she was not in Thompsonville, on Sunday evening, March 7, 2004, when Danny demanded his divorce and put his plan into action. Mollie came back to Thompsonville and was in her office by midweek, but everything was already in motion. My opinion is that Mollie Steenson either couldn't be trusted to help destroy Linda Shelton, or Mollie wanted to distance herself from the planned event, so it was done while she, Mollie, was out of the country - in India, no less. Was that trip to India planned in advance by someone for such a reason? I've decided in my own mind that it was.

6. I don't see that "programming improved" with the Reverend Tommy Shelton sitting in Linda's old office. But that's in the eye of the beholder. Maybe an endless array of scolding, talking heads at 3ABN pleases you. There's nothing special about Shelley Quinn with her veiled excoriation using "John the Baptist" or John Lomacang's version of the same using his "Moses - Touch Not the Lord's Anointed" blatherments. The expoundings of these two strike me as nothing but desperate and weird.

6. Bystander, you keep regurgitating the same old garbage over and over trying so hard to re-write history. It is not working, so give it up. The reason you skip responding to Watchbird is that she knows the timeline, and you cannot deal with that; Your job is to deliver your mudballs to people who you think cannot tell the difference.

7. The entire 3ABN defense from the very beginning has been, "Nobody will be able to criticize us, because they are all stupid and will never be able to figure out what we did for sure," id est, "Nobody knows me and Linda" ad infinitum. Your only purpose on this forum. Bystander, is to muddy the waters with your little mudballs and to make sure it all stays muddy. Everybody can see that, so this must be about your personal paycheck. It certainly cannot be about truth or justice. Not knowing who you are, this is all about your own personal bank account, right? Are you willing to do anything to keep those paychecks coming, no matter what? Am I close? I think I am right on target. I think it is all about money, your money, Bystander, and nothing else. I think everything and everyone comes a distant second with you.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 28 2007, 08:02 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 28 2007, 08:56 PM) ☐
>
> 5. I was in Thompsonville shortly after Danny asked for a divorce. I saw no such fawning as you describe. When Linda started the radio network on December 31, 1999, Danny went on the air shortly thereafter and said several times, "I have no vision for radio," with Linda Shelton sitting right next to him on the air. This certainly didn't look like bragging over Linda to me. It came across to me as a messsage to viewers saying, "Radio is not part of the Great Danny Shelton Vision, so please take note, everyone." But Linda's radio network succeeded anyway, despite Danny's admonition to his viewers. And things were never the same after that.

No, PP, I didn't see the "fawning" over Linda either. But I did see him belittle her in front of people many times.

It's all a game. One face on camera. One face off. Same old, same old.

Posted by: Clay Feb 28 2007, 08:05 PM

thanks Pete for outlining the info we have covered... sometimes its good to see it outlined like that and remind those whose goal it is to distract that we still have a grasp of the basic facts... not theory but facts....

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 28 2007, 11:23 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 05:25 PM) ☐
>
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?

Now, since we all know how much you HATE hearsay and second hand information, one has to assume you were in the car with them on this trip. Is that correct?

Posted by: Johann Mar 1 2007, 04:20 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 1 2007, 01:25 AM) ☐
>
> - - -
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
> - - -

This is another sign that truth is not in Bystander. Who told you Danny drove Linda to the airport when she came to see us in Norway? I very well remember what Linda looked like after how Danny had treated her in connecion with the divorce. She needed to get away, and Irmgard and I were so happy to see her again after her ordeal. She did not ride with Danny to the airport. This is but another attempt by Danny to project his actions in a different direction attempting thereby to gain the sympathy of others for actions he claims he did, but which he actually never did.

It is true that Danny drove to the airport, but not in the same car as Linda. He merely projects Linda over into his car. Linda was greatly surpriced to see him at the airport. It was dawning on him he made a grave mistake by divorcing Linda, and that he had to tell his audience stories to gain their sympathy. This is but one of his many vain attempts, and you, Bystander, accept his delusions, line hook and sinker, in an attempt to deceive the world. One more star in that crown of deception you are presenting on this net.

You even claimed he was attemting all the way to the airport to get Linda to reconsider. Since you are so certain, were you in that car?

Posted by: Nuggie Mar 1 2007, 05:53 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 28 2007, 06:25 PM)
>
> Though I usually ignore your posts, watchbird, I could not help but respond to this one. You are making big statements by saying Danny didn't want her around...Unless you are a physic mind reader, you couldn't possibly know what DS was thinking about anything. I have never seen it addressed here, how DS catered to her, bragged on her to everyone, constantly told her and others how beautiful he thought she was..and then all of a sudden....he wanted to get rid of her? c'mon. Anyone that was around them for any length of time would reach for a "hurl" bucket at the way he "fawned" over her and gave her her way about most everything. His biggest fault was putting her up on a pedestal so, in a way, he was somewhat responsible for her resulting attitude.
> Also, if he just "wanted to get rid of her" why, right after the divorce, did he degrade himself buy taking her to the airport to catch her flight to Norway (without Nathan) knowing where she was going and who she was going to see, and still, tried to talk her into reconciliation all the way there?
> BTW, since the doc and LS was strickley a professional relationship over her son, why was she going to Norway to see him, without Nathan, right after the divorce. mmm maybe she was out of phone minutes
>
> As far as your "changes" remark at 3abn. Yes, the programming improved significantly according to the biggest percentage of viewers. And, "the way workers were treated" vastly improved once LS was gone. Most employees would tell you that. Some said "it was like a load was lifted off of their shoulders while others said the whole atmosphere had become so much more spirit filled. Then, according to some that I knew that worked on the 3abn truck crew LS had their pay at a pathetic level and would not give them a raise. As soon as she was gone, her replacement couldn't believe how little they were being paid and immediately rectified the pay scale. After all they have a huge sacrifice having to be away from their families for weeks at a time.
> Truthfully,if you ask most of the workers, they will tell you they can't really think of anything negative that has come from her, not, being at 3abn.

OK, let me see if I've got this straight...you want us to believe that Linda had so much power at 3ABN that she controlled programming, employee morale and workers' salary? You want us to believe that Danny was impotent and powerless to do anything to break Linda's control. You want us to believe that Danny, the founder and person to whom God gave this wonderful "vision" let Linda get all the power and control everything he felt that the Lord specifically gave to him. Yet with all this power that she supposedly had the 3ABN board was quick to summarily dismiss her and bind her up with a gag order. Yeah...OK...and Bill Gates is just a front for Microsoft...I'm really the President.:.

Posted by: Observer Mar 1 2007, 06:33 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Danny was impotent . . .

While I know what you meant, and said, it would be best if you do not post anything that might result in others accusing us of posting inaccurate, or inappropriate information about a medical condition. The way some people attempt to twist what is posted, I can immagine someone doing such. And, I am thinking of one person who might quickly jump on that. That person regularly mis-quotes me.

Posted by: watchbird Mar 1 2007, 07:26 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 1 2007, 05:20 AM)
>
> This is another sign that truth is not in Bystander. Who told you Danny drove Linda to the airport when she came to see us in Norway? I very well remember what Linda looked like after how Danny had treated her in connecion with the divorce. She needed to get away, and Irmgard and I were so happy to see her again after her ordeal. She did not ride with Danny to the airport. This is but another attempt by Danny to project his actions in a different direction attempting thereby to gain the sympathy of others for actions he claims he did, but which he actually never did.
>
> It is true that Danny drove to the airport, but not in the same car as Linda. He merely projects Linda over into his car. Linda was greatly surpriced to see him at the airport. It was dawning on him he made a grave mistake by divorcing Linda, and that he had to tell his audience stories to gain their sympathy. This is but one of his many vain attempts, and you, Bystander, accept his delusions, line hook and sinker, in an attempt to deceive the world. One more star in that crown of deception you are presenting on this net.

Didn't you mispeak, Johann? Rather than calling this a "star in that crown of deception" should you not be calling it "one more knot in the web of deception" BS is weaving for presentation to this net?

> QUOTE
>
> You even claimed he was attemting all the way to the airport to get Linda to reconsider. Since you are so certain, were you in that car?

Doesn't work. If he were actually in "that car".... then then he could not be "certain" of something that was not true. So either BS is the creator of this particular "knot" or is a direct accomplice to the untruth of the assertion.... or else he is someone who accepts what Danny says as the truth and passes it off to the world as though he (BS) actually knew the difference between facts and fabrications.

Some questions this brings to mind, Johann..... When Danny drove to the airport.... was he following Linda? Did he know she was headed for the airport? If so, how did he know? Did he know her destination? If so, how did he know? If not, was his purpose in following her an attempt to learn her destination? At what point did the hired Private Investigaters pick up Linda's trail? And the final question..... Doesn't it strike you as strange that he kept her under surveilance even AFTER the divorce was final?

Posted by: Johann Mar 1 2007, 03:24 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Mar 1 2007, 03:26 PM)
>
> \- - -
>
> And the final question..... Doesn't it strike you as strange that he kept her under surveilance even AFTER the divorce was final?

It takes a lot of surveilance to attempt to cover one's tracks. Danny once told me that his friend, Garvin McNeilus would never desert him, regarless of what he'd do. He claimed that is true friendship. Danny also told me that Garvin would pay for Private Investigators as long as Linda is alive. What does he need that for since he divorced her?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 2 2007, 06:35 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 1 2007, 05:24 PM)
>
> It takes a lot of surveilance to attempt to cover one's tracks. Danny once told me that his friend, Garvin McNeilus would never desert him, regarless of what he'd do. He claimed that is true friendship. Danny also told me that Garvin would pay for Private Investigators as long as Linda is alive. What does he need that for since he divorced her?

This speaks volumes....

☒ sn

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 07:02 PM

Control control control. Control freak.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 1 2007, 04:24 PM)
>
> It takes a lot of surveilance to attempt to cover one's tracks. Danny once told me that his friend, Garvin McNeilus would never desert him, regarless of what he'd do. He claimed that is true friendship. Danny also told me that Garvin would pay for Private Investigators as long as Linda is alive. What does he need that for since he divorced her?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 2 2007, 07:10 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 14 2007, 10:18 PM)

NOTE: Her letter of demand, posted March 2nd, 2007 now on her website. To go right there, click here http://www.lindashelton.org

In keeping with Linda Shelton requiring an open and transparent ASI sponsored hearing, Linda has now published a letter that includes a clear demand that 3ABN and Danny Shelton produce the evidence they claim to have for inspection and verification to the entire church membership and to the stockholders in the pews. Danny Shelton in various forms and under various alias has repeatedly referenced evidence that he claims to have thereby giving him a basis for divorce and remarriage. The chairman of 3ABN on AToday has made it clear they have no proof of an adulterous affair. Linda Shelton and Arild Abrahamsen have repeatedly asserted that there is no basis for divorce, that no inappropriate relationship occurred and that there is no evidence to support the Danny Shelton claims.

We have repeatedly asserted that if there is no proof, then a remarriage would constitute an adulterous relationship. Danny Shelton was married at 3ABN in March 2006 to a Brandy Murray, a 3ABN employee that reportedly arrived at 3ABN of Thompsonville in July of 2004.

Here is the letter from Linda in its entirety and is also available at www.LindaShelton.org and on www.save3ABN.com . I believe it reflects the same Linda, a bit stronger and less naive than in the past, but as deeply committed to her relationship with the Lord as we all remember so well on that porch at 3ABN.

Linda Shelton does respond to e-mail and will be happy to have a concert or a deeply spiritual service at your location, wherever you may be.

February, 2007

My warmest greetings,

A couple approached me, with tears in their eyes, and said, "We have just missed you and we wanted to see you to make sure you were okay." As I saw the pain in their eyes, over the events that have transpired in my life in the last few years, it was as if my heart was pierced again. "We are just so happy to see you smiling, in church and still serving God." Our meeting took place a few months ago at the Bible Chapel Seventh-day Adventist Church, where I am a member. I enjoyed my visit with this caring Christian couple and the compassion and love they showed toward me.

Some people act surprised that I am still a member of the SDA church. But why? God is still the same awesome God that He always has been, the incredible Bible truths embraced by the Seventh-day Adventists are still just as true today as they ever were and although a "thousand shall fall on my right and a thousand fall on my left" nothing will ever change these facts. We must hold firm to our faith during troubled times!

Many have written to me over the past many months asking me to update my website. This I have prayerfully considered for quite some time, nearly a year. Quite frankly, I just have not known what to say. I feel that this scandal has made a large, festering open wound in my Church. Perhaps the truth revealed will ultimately bring the healing that everyone needs. Then we can grieve together and move on. I am certain, in essence, I have died a thousand deaths over the events of the last couple of years. But, with the Lords blessing, I will try to address issues which have been brought to my attention in the kindest manner possible.

For the first time in nearly three years I will not simply deny the accusations, but will directly address certain issues. I do not take pleasure in speaking of these things. I think I have always been the one who would rather receive hurt, than be the one to inflict hurt upon others. But during the course of this last year I learned some valuable lessons through Dr. Mable Dunbar of Pollys Place Network, she has been an incredible support and help to me. Mable is a woman who truly loves the Lord and is not afraid to stand up for what she believes is right, even if a whole army would stand against her.

Pollys Place Network is a ministry which empowers abused lives and aids them through their difficult circumstances. It is a marvelous organization and so needed for this age when Satan has focused his wrath upon breaking up the security and circle of love God intended for our families. I videotaped some interviews, for Pollys Place, at the SDA Conference office in Spokane, Washington with several individuals who had been through incredibly painful situations. Each of them, in essence, had the same healing story. It was when they were able to come forward and expressed the truth about what happened to them, that their healing came. Inspired by these individuals, now I can accept and believe it is Gods job to protect the ministry I have loved and co-founded, and its my right and my healing to tell the truth about what has occurred.

I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

John Knox once said, "Kings (or leaders) have not an absolute power to do in their government what pleases them, but their power is limited by Gods Word; so that if they strike where God has not commanded, they are but murderers; and if they spare where God has commanded to strike, they and their thrones are criminal and guilty of the wickedness which abounds upon the face of the earth, for lack of punishment." John knew his Bible. It is a Biblical principle that if we see a wrong and only look the other way or feebly say, "I will let the Lord deal with that one," then that wickedness is applied to our slate, plain and simple.

The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband. I loved, trusted and believed in him to a fault. Imagine my shock when I realized that the false allegations in the form of libel, slander and defamation directed my way were initiated by two of the closest people to me on planet earth; one was my beloved partner and the other was my closest lady friend. I loved them both and trusted them both to the point that their close communication did not bother me in the least. I know that sounds naive, but I did not believe that Dan would do anything that would harm the ministry we had built together.

In 2004 there was a tremendous outcry at my departure. There was suspicion over how swiftly I was fired from my position and divorced. There was suspicion over the fact that I never had the opportunity to talk to the Board and defend myself. There was suspicion over the fact that every trace of my presence was completely cleared out of the campus of 3ABN, even before my termination, as well as the website, television and radio broadcasts. I was made a sacrificial lamb in a scheme calculated to remove me from both my home and my ministry through an orchestrated campaign of malicious lies circulated around the globe. No words can begin to describe the absolute agony this has brought to my life, but there are other victims as well, and may God bless and spare the young lives and tender souls who have also felt the stinging thrust of this sword of scandal.

It has completely broken my heart to see the emails and letters which have come from the Chairman of the Board, Dan and others at 3ABN, to hear of the television and radio programs where erroneous references have been made to the situation, to watch the ministry that I helped build with much devotion used to destroy me and also to hear of the reports of what is being said on the SDA chat sites about me today by those bent on my destruction...nearly three years later.

It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"! The world is waiting with baited breath!

The stakes are high. I, as well as others, have personally experienced electronic surveillance, email theft, interception of cell phone calls, post divorce entry into my private residence to the point where charges were filed with the police. It is not easy to live your life when you feel that you can never know for sure if you are being followed, watched or recorded...even now. I have had invitations to do ministry thwarted because of continued allegations by those, who, like wolves in sheeps clothing, attempted to stop my ministry.

I want to make this absolutely clear: I left my home because I was not safe, I was not welcome. I was witnessing the murder of my reputation and ministry day by day. I stayed as long as I felt I could. I hoped, believed and prayed that things would change but they only got worse. The statements made that I left my husband for another man are absolutely and totally false. Any thinking person would realize that I had everything a Christian woman could have wanted in this life: a husband I loved and the opportunity to minister to millions of people about the tremendous love of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, though the ministry that we spent so many years building together. Although two of the people who I loved best have called me "Gomer", yet a more accurate term would be "Hosea", which I would only discover later. But I prefer simply, Linda, "SAVED by the Blood of the Lamb!"

I do not visit the chat sites. This has been a mega-trial for me and my way of coping has been to try and focus on other things. I realize that the individuals which make up our Church need healing from this disaster too. And perhaps the chat sites have served to help people give expression to their frustrations and hurts in this situation. I am grateful to each of you who have prayed and interceded for me. It has meant so much during my dark days. Youâ€™ll never know just how much!

Now my kids are grown and I am alone...but not really alone, although I have not husband. Now I belong to everyone and everyone belongs to me! And I still sing, "Thank you for being my family, thank you for being my friends: May God bless and keep you in all that you may do until we meet again!"

It is my goal to just make your journey and mine a little lighter and brighter. I have faith that the Lord still has a work for me to do, a new ministry. I am ready and available for church services, week of prayer, concerts, etc. as the Lord opens the doors. I do not know what my future holds, but God does and that's enough for me.

Just in closing I want to make an appeal to you to get out your binoculars, dust them off, bring them into focus and then search... Love your neighbor enough to be a Good Samaritan. When he is broken and bleeding in the middle of the road, focus your binoculars with the love of Christ, but don't stop there, reach out and meet his need in his time of crisis. Christianity is not something that "just happens". True Christianity occurs when a decided action is taken...when we search, when we fill a need, when we mend a broken heart and when we are just "there" for hurting people. There is a lot of them. But there are too few Christians who focus their binoculars with love.

Thank you for being my family! Stay close to the Shepherd!

Blessings to you and yours

Linda Shelton

Additional info to be considered before responding (this is also post #27.....

ere is her completed letter. As I mentioned in a post earlieron this thread, once he finished her letter, I would also post it under the first letter. Her letter is on er website as well..

ebruary, 2007

y warmest greetings,

couple approached me, with tears in their eyes, and said, "We have just missed you and we wanted to see ou to make sure you were okay." As I saw the pain in their eyes, over the events that have transpired in my ife in the last few years, it was as if my heart was pierced again. "We are just so happy to see you smiling, in hurch and still serving God." Our meeting took place a few months ago at the Bible Chapel Seventh-day dventist Church, where I am a member. I enjoyed my visit with this caring Christian couple and the ompassion and love they showed toward me.

ome people act surprised that I am still a member of the SDA church. But why? God is still the same wesome God that He always has been, the incredible Bible truths embraced by the Seventh-day Adventists re still just as true today as they ever were and although a "thousand shall fall on my right and a thousand all on my left" nothing will ever change these facts. We must hold firm to our faith during troubled times!

any have written to me over the past many months asking me to update my website. This I have prayerfully onsidered for quite some time, nearly a year.

uite frankly, I just have not known what to say. I feel that this scandal has made a large, festering open vound in my Church. Perhaps the truth revealed will ultimately bring the healing that everyone needs. Then ve can grieve together and move on. I am certain, in essence, I have died a thousand deaths over the events f the last couple of years. But, with the Lords blessing, I will try to address issues which have been brought o my attention in the kindest manner possible.

For the first time in nearly three years I will not simply deny the accusations, but will directly address certain issues. I do not take pleasure in speaking of these things. I think I have always been the one who would rather receive hurt, than be the one to inflict hurt upon others. But during the course of this last year I learned some valuable lessons through Dr. Mable Dunbar of Pollys Place Network, she has been an incredible support and help to me.

Mable is a woman who truly loves the Lord and is not afraid to stand up for what she believes is right, even if a whole army would stand against her.

Pollys Place Network is a ministry which empowers abused lives and aids them through their difficult circumstances. It is a marvelous organization and so needed for this age when Satan has focused his wrath upon breaking up the security and circle of love God intended for our families. I videotaped some interviews, for Pollys Place, at the SDA Conference office in Spokane, Washington with several individuals who had been through incredibly painful situations. Each of them, in essence, had the same healing story. It was when they were able to come forward and expressed the truth about what happened to them, that their healing came. Inspired by these individuals, now I can accept and believe it is Gods job to protect the ministry I have loved and co-founded, and its my right and my healing to tell the truth about what has occurred.

I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

John Knox once said, "Kings (or leaders) have not an absolute power to do in their government what pleases them, but their power is limited by Gods Word; so that if they strike where God has not commanded, they are but murderers; and if they spare where God has commanded to strike, they and their thrones are criminal and guilty of the wickedness which abounds upon the face of the earth, for lack of punishment." John knew his Bible. It is a Biblical principle that if we see a wrong and only look the other way or feebly say, "I will let the Lord deal with that one," then that wickedness is applied to our slate, plain and simple.

The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband. I loved, trusted and believed in him to a fault. Imagine my shock when I realized that the false allegations in the form of libel, slander and defamation directed my way were initiated by two of the closest people to me on planet earth; one was my beloved partner and the other was my closet lady friend. I loved them both and trusted them both to the point that their close communication did not bother me in the least. I know that sounds naive, but I did not believe that Dan would do anything that would harm the ministry we had built together.

In 2004 there was a tremendous outcry at my departure. There was suspicion over how swiftly I was fired from my position and divorced. There was suspicion over the fact that I never had the opportunity to talk to the Board and defend myself. There was suspicion over the fact that every trace of my presence was completely cleared out of the campus of 3ABN, even before my termination, as well as the website, television and radio broadcasts. I was made a sacrificial lamb in a scheme calculated to remove me from both my home and my ministry through an orchestrated campaign of malicious lies circulated around the globe.

No words can begin to describe the absolute agony this has brought to my life, but there are other victims as well, and may God bless and spare the young lives and tender souls who have also felt the stinging thrust of this sword of scandal.

It has completely broken my heart to see the emails and letters which have come from the Chairman of the Board, Dan and others at 3ABN, to hear of the television and radio programs where erroneous references have been made to the situation, to watch the ministry that I helped build with much devotion used to destroy me and also to hear of the reports of what is being said on the SDA chat sites about me today by those bent on my destruction...nearly three years later.

It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"!

The world is waiting with baited breath!

The stakes are high. I, as well as others, have personally experienced electronic surveillance, email theft, interception of cell phone calls, post divorce entry into my private residence to the point where charges were filed with the police. It is not easy to live your life when you feel that you can never know for sure if you are being followed, watched or recorded...even now. I have had invitations to do ministry thwarted because of continued allegations by those, who, like wolves in sheeps clothing, attempted to stop my ministry.

I want to make this absolutely clear: I left my home because I was not safe, I was not welcome. I was witnessing the murder of my reputation and ministry day by day. I stayed as long as I felt I could. I hoped, believed and prayed that things would change but they only got worse. The statements made that I left my husband for another man are absolutely and totally false. Any thinking person would realize that I had everything a Christian woman could have wanted in this life: a husband I loved and the opportunity to minister to millions of people about the tremendous love of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, through the ministry that we spent so many years building together. Although two of the people who I loved best have called me "Gomer", yet a more accurate term would be "Hosea", which I would only discover later. But I prefer simply, Linda, "SAVED by the Blood of the Lamb!"

I do not visit the chat sites. This has been a mega-trial for me and my way of coping has been to try and focus on other things. I realize that the individuals which make up our Church need healing from this disaster too.

And perhaps the chat sites have served to help people give expression to their frustrations and hurts in this situation. I am grateful to each of you who have prayed and interceded for me. It has meant so much during my dark days. You will never know just how much!

Now my kids are grown and I am alone...but not really alone, although I have no husband. Now I belong to everyone and everyone belongs to me! And I still sing, "Thank you for being my family, thank you for being my friends: May God bless and keep you in all that you may do until we meet again!"

It is my goal to just make your journey and mine a little lighter and brighter. I have faith that the Lord still has a work for me to do, a new ministry. I am ready and available for church services, week of prayer, concerts, etc. as the Lord opens the doors. I do not know what my future holds, but God does and that's enough for me.

Just in closing I want to make an appeal to you to get out your binoculars, dust them off, bring them into focus and then search... Love your neighbor enough to be a Good Samaritan. When he is broken and bleeding in the middle of the road, focus your binoculars with the love of Christ, but don't stop there, reach out and meet his need in his time of crisis. Christianity is not something that "just happens". True Christianity occurs when a decided action is taken...when we search, when we fill a need, w hen we mend a broken heart and when we are just "there" for hurting people. There are many of them. But there are too few Christians who focus their binoculars with love.

Thank you for being my family! Stay close to the Shepherd!

Blessings to you and yours,

Linda Shelton

NOTE: Her letter of demand, posted March 2nd, 2007 now on her website. To go right there, click here http://www.lindashelton.org

---

Posted by: wwjd Mar 2 2007, 09:07 PM

[quote name='sonshineonme' date='Mar 2 2007, 07:10 PM' post='181762']
Here is her completed letter. As I mentioned in a post earlieron this thread, once she finished her letter, I would also post it under the first letter. Her letter is on her website as well..

Why is this being posted again. Wasn't the first one that got jerked off ,already posted here, and the second "corrected" one posted also. And as mentioned, it is also posted on her web. One can only take so much nausea, before one hurls.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Mar 2 2007, 09:13 PM

wwjd wrote:

> QUOTE
>
> Why is this being posted again. Wasn't the first one that got jerked off ,already posted here, and the second "corrected" one posted also. And as mentioned, it is also posted on her web. One can only take so much nausea, before one hurls.

So did anyone force you to read it? I'm glad it got posted again personally. In fact I think we should all make a few copies to hand out at church tomorrow.

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 2 2007, 09:19 PM

If any man would hurl on thy coat, offer him you cloak also. Wait....how does that go? And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. Mat 5:40

> QUOTE(wwjd)
>
> One can only take so much nausea, before one hurls.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 2 2007, 09:42 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 2 2007, 07:13 PM)
>
> wwjd wrote:Why is this being posted again. Wasn't the first one that got jerked off ,already posted here, and the second "corrected" one posted also. And as mentioned, it is also posted on her web. One can only take so much nausea, before one hurls.

Read it again...you could use it.
It was never "jerked" off anywhere.

It was posted before it was grammatically corrected, etc.
I told all, as I posted the first letter with the understanding it was complete, that I would post the finished one again (I can tell you don't really take the time to read the posts here) and that is just what I did. Why don't you get seek some personal counseling/attention for your apparent issues. I'm sure they are hindering peace and happiness in your life.

You can't possibly post these kinds of comments and expect to gain "credibilty", but you only gain negative attention and seek to provoke a less then christian spirit back at you. But I will only say this, I pray for you and those like you, that you let go and let God heal your spirit.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 2 2007, 10:53 PM

> QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Mar 2 2007, 08:13 PM) ☐
>
> wwjd wrote:
> So did anyone force you to read it? I'm glad it got posted again personally. In fact I think we should all make a few copies to hand out at church tomorrow.

Why that's a great idea!

Posted by: Treniece Mar 3 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Feb 17 2007, 08:50 PM) ☐
>
> Treniece,
> Just out of curiosity, how have you come to the conclusion that the things said about Tommy are true? While I am inclined to agree with you, I'm interested in how you got there.
>
> I also have had a hard time believing that the Brenda I thought I knew from watching her on cooking shows, Kids Time and various other productions would do the things she is reported to have done. Of course, how well do we actually know someone by their actions on the television screen?
>
> Regarding thinking Tommy was a long time Adventist, I think you hit on a key, or at least a significant problem here. Unless one is privy to the behind-the-scenes lives of the folks on 3abn, viewers are left to conclude that those participating in the 3abn ministry are SDA.
>
> PB

I am inclined to believe the things said about Tommy are true after reading the thread on the article produced by the AToday magazine (I think thats the name of the magazine). Too many allegatins at different times by more than 3 persons.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 3 2007, 11:21 AM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Mar 3 2007, 08:53 AM) ☐
>
> I am inclined to believe the things said about Tommy are true after reading the thread on the article produced by the AToday magazine (I think thats the name of the magazine). Too many allegatins at > different times by more than 3 persons.

reniece,

believe you are wise in your method of verifying truth!

B

Posted by: Bystander Mar 3 2007, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE(Treniece @ Mar 3 2007, 09:53 AM)
>
> I am inclined to believe the things said about Tommy are true after reading the thread on the article produced by the AToday magazine (I think thats the name of the magazine). Too many allegatins at different times by more than 3 persons.

s far as believing anything from A today, where do you think they got most of their information? Try the oy/pickle website.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Mar 4 2007, 12:18 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 02:22 PM)
>
> As far as believing anything from A today, where do you think they got most of their information? Try the joy/pickle website.

onder where all the victims and their families got their information?

Posted by: SoulEspresso Mar 4 2007, 01:08 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 3 2007, 02:22 PM)
>
> As far as believing anything from A today, where do you think they got most of their information? Try the joy/pickle website.

ope, they're better journalists than that. If you know how journalists work (I was one for awhile), you can ook at the paragraphs and see who they talked to. People at the churches. People at the conference. Heck, hey even talked to Danny.

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Mar 4 2007, 12:18 AM)
>
> Wonder where all the victims and their families got their information?

Clearly ... from the article they talked to victims too. Otherwise they wouldn't have published their names.

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 02:41 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Mar 4 2007, 12:18 AM)
>
> Wonder where all the victims and their families got their information?

Duane, a post was written to you some time ago. I don't know if you didn't want to answer (which is your perogative) or if you just missed it, so I will ask again.

Did you write a reply to TS's letter you say was sent to you. If so why was it not published also? My other question. You say all you are seeking is an apology, if so, wasn't that what the letter was about? Please don't say that there are others he needs to apologize to. If so, that is between him, them and God. You are only responsible for you and him alone. If that is his letter, he apologized a long time ago, so why are you here if that is all you wanted?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Mar 4 2007, 06:54 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 02:41 AM)
>
> Duane, a post was written to you some time ago. I don't know if you didn't want to answer (which is your perogative) or if you just missed it, so I will ask again.
>
> Did you write a reply to TS's letter you say was sent to you. If so why was it not published also? My other question. You say all you are seeking is an apology, if so, wasn't that what the letter was about? Please don't say that there are others he needs to apologize to. If so, that is between him, them and God. You are only responsible for you and him alone. If that is his letter, he apologized a long time ago, so why are you here if that is all you wanted?

I feel no need to answer someone who hides behind a screen name to try to discredit me. I'll be happy to answer when someone is man or woman enough to sign their name to the question.

Another thought: If all the ones speaking out are in the wrong, why do we have no problem signing our names while the "defenders of the truth" hide in anonymity?

Just wondering....

Posted by: Eirene Mar 4 2007, 08:14 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Mar 4 2007, 06:54 AM)
>
> I feel no need to answer someone who hides behind a screen name to try to discredit me. I'll be happy to answer when someone is man or woman enough to sign their name to the question.
>
> Another thought: If all the ones speaking out are in the wrong, why do we have no problem signing our > names while the "defenders of the truth" hide in anonymity?

>
> Just wondering....

'm just wondering.... how T. Shelton is to stopped, and prevented from molesting any other boys, if no one is willing to go to the authorities and report any of this, and sign their name?

Whether someone signs their name or not, I think this is an important concern which needs to be addressed. think that this should be the #1 concern here, but I don't see anyone talking about protecting future victims, or preventing more abuse.

What is your thinking on this, Mr Clem? Do you know what, if anything, is being done about this?

Posted by: wwjd Mar 4 2007, 08:21 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Mar 4 2007, 06:54 AM)
>
> I feel no need to answer someone who hides behind a screen name to try to discredit me. I'll be happy to answer when someone is man or woman enough to sign their name to the question.
>
> Another thought: If all the ones speaking out are in the wrong, why do we have no problem signing our names while the "defenders of the truth" hide in anonymity?
>
> Just wondering....

Fair enough if you don't want to answer. But who are your defenders of truth? Watchbird, sonshineonme, sister, peacefully bewildered, lurker, panama pete, lookin4truth, hershey99, paper tiger, soul expresso, DrRe, shall I continue?.............

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 05:04 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 04:21 PM)
>
> Fair enough if you don't want to answer. But who are your defenders of truth? Watchbird, sonshineonme, sister, peacefully bewildered, lurker, panama pete, lookin4truth, hershey99, paper tiger, soul expresso, DrRe, shall I continue?.............

Honestly, I think many of them have better reasons to hide their identity than you do. Isn't that right Mr. wwjd? So why don't just show then how to do it? I am not hiding.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 08:24 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 05:04 PM)
>
> Honestly, I think many of them have better reasons to hide their identity than you do. Isn't that right Mr. wwjd? So why don't just show then how to do it? I am not hiding.

You "think" they have better reasons to hide than I do?

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 09:17 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 04:24 AM)
>
> You "think" they have better reasons to hide than I do?

Yes, unless you are hiding from Mr. L. Westphal.

Posted by: Bystander Mar 4 2007, 09:23 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> Yes, unless you are hiding from Mr. L. Westphal.

Oh, so you are saying that some of them are....Like ex employees of Mr. L
Thanks, that helps a bunch.....

Posted by: Johann Mar 4 2007, 09:52 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 05:23 AM)
>
> Oh, so you are saying that some of them are....Like ex employees of Mr. L
> Thanks, that helps a bunch.....

Helping whom?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 4 2007, 11:41 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 07:21 AM)

> Fair enough if you don't want to answer. But who are your defenders of truth? Watchbird, sonshineonme, sister, peacefully bewildered, lurker, panama pete, lookin4truth, hershey99, paper tiger, soul expresso, DrRe, shall I continue?..............

wwjd,

My husband is an unbeliever but allows me to pursue truth as I judge important. When I checked out this 3abn forum to see if what a friend was saying was true, I searched and found truth indeed! My husband is not happy that I am involved in this hot-button issue, but he sees the importance of exposing the abuse that has been reported and even he sees as verified.

One condition he has asked me to honor is for me to remain anonymous. He feels that what he has heard of Danny Shelton's tactics are of concern enough that he doesn't want one of his hired "thugs" showing up on our doorstep to try to intimidate this old grandma into backing down from this pursuit.

BTW, when I tried to get the story from Danny and others at 3abn, all I got was snubbed. I did not enjoy the free access that Bystander, wwjd and others have had.

PB

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 12:05 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 4 2007, 09:41 PM)
>
> wwjd,
>
> My husband is an unbeliever but allows me to pursue truth as I judge important. When I checked out this 3abn forum to see if what a friend was saying was true, I searched and found truth indeed! My husband is not happy that I am involved in this hot-button issue, but he sees the importance of exposing the abuse that has been reported and even he sees as verified.
>
> One condition he has asked me to honor is for me to remain anonymous. He feels that what he has heard of Danny Shelton's tactics are of concern enough that he doesn't want one of his hired "thugs" showing up on our doorstep to try to intimidate this old grandma into backing down from this pursuit.
>
> BTW, when I tried to get the story from Danny and others at 3abn, all I got was snubbed. I did not enjoy the free access that Bystander, wwjd and others have had.
> PB

Wow PB, this has been quite a journey for you, and your husband. He sounds very wise as well.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 5 2007, 12:14 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 4 2007, 11:05 PM)
>
> Wow PB, this has been quite a journey for you, and your husband. He sounds very wise as well.

I have to admit that this journey has not taken me where I thought I would go. Truth is surprising that way sometimes!

My husband is wise and a sweetheart. I pray that he will one day open his heart to the Lord again.

Posted by: Fran Mar 5 2007, 12:16 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 4 2007, 09:17 PM)
>
> Yes, unless you are hiding from Mr. L. Westphal.

Boy, Johann, I understand what you are saying! I am so glad I came tonight!

Posted by: Ralph Mar 5 2007, 12:23 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 4 2007, 10:41 PM)
>
> One condition he has asked me to honor is for me to remain anonymous. He feels that what he has heard of Danny Shelton's tactics are of concern enough that he doesn't want one of his hired "thugs" showing up on our doorstep to try to intimidate this old grandma into backing down from this pursuit.

Your husband is very wise. I keep everything backed up. Even if my PC were compromised, I would lose very little information.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 5 2007, 12:23 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 4 2007, 10:14 PM)
>
> I have to admit that this journey has not taken me where I thought I would go. Truth is surprising that way sometimes!
>
> My husband is wise and a sweetheart. I pray that he will one day open his heart to the Lord again.

He will. I will pray for him.

Posted by: Johann Mar 5 2007, 12:44 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 5 2007, 05:23 AM)
>
> Oh, so you are saying that some of them are....Like ex employees of Mr. L
> Thanks, that helps a bunch.....

That leaves him (LW) pretty much alone. I understand he was trying to make an impression on the graduates of Loma Linda University last week-end. How many helpers does he have left by now? He was trying to cover up some of the pictures he displayed! Smart!!!! rofl

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Mar 6 2007, 10:04 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 5 2007, 01:44 PM)
>
> That leaves him (LW) pretty much alone. I understand he was trying to make an impression on the graduates of Loma Linda University last week-end. How many helpers does he have left by now? He was trying to cover up some of the pictures he displayed! Smart!!!! rofl

I am a little lost. Care to give more info into this new subject between you, WWJD, and BS.

Posted by: Johann Mar 7 2007, 05:03 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Mar 5 2007, 08:16 AM)
>
> Boy, Johann, I understand what you are saying! I am so glad I came tonight!

It's good that you are around, Fran. I'd better get back to the Nobel story.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Mar 7 2007, 06:04 AM)
>
> I am a little lost. Care to give more info into this new subject between you, WWJD, and BS.

We'll leave that to the investigation of the Internal Intelligence.

Posted by: Johann Mar 12 2007, 12:57 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Mar 7 2007, 06:04 AM)
>
> I am a little lost. Care to give more info into this new subject between you, WWJD, and BS.

Just a slight clue. Mr. L. Westphal was recently featured with a cover portrait on 3ABN World Magazine. He is evidently a very valuable man to 3ABN because of the millions he gets 3ABN annually in annuities. His main office was, when I last talked to him, at Loma Linda, CA, and I suspect he is still there because a few days he was seen putting up a booth for 3ABN by the University. In connection with that booth he was displaying a large poster where he made a futile attempt covering up the center picture featuring Danny and Linda.

Why was he using this? Why was he attempting to conceal the center picture?

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 12 2007, 01:29 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Mar 12 2007, 01:57 PM)
>
> In connection with that booth he was displaying a large poster where he made a futile attempt covering up the center picture featuring Danny and Linda.

And now paraphrasing a famous radio commentator,

I get the "rest of the story"

Thanks.

nw
C"i"

Posted by: Johann Mar 16 2007, 05:05 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 12 2007, 09:29 PM)
>
> And now paraphrasing a famous radio commentator,
>
> I get the "rest of the story"
>
> Thanks.
>
> nw
> C"i"

And in a few hours we can all enjoy resting in the Lord on His Holy Day - the Sabbath! What a joy!

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 18 2007, 06:44 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 2 2007, 06:10 PM)
>
> Bumping up.
>
> To keep balance in this, it helps to remember all the pieces of this puzzle. Linda finally speaks here. That's her right. Will DS dislike this little kink in things? I think so. Does she have anything to lose by requesting full disclosure? NO, unless she were guilty of the trash that has been told of her. Does DS have the guts to admit he went to far?.

February, 2007

My warmest greetings,
A couple approached me, with tears in their eyes, and said, "We have just missed you and we wanted to see you to make sure you were okay." As I saw the pain in their eyes, over the events that have transpired in my life in the last few years, it was as if my heart was pierced again. "We are just so happy to see you smiling, in church and still serving God." Our meeting took place a few months ago at the Bible Chapel Seventh-day Adventist Church, where I am a member. I enjoyed my visit with this caring Christian couple and the compassion and love they showed toward me.

Some people act surprised that I am still a member of the SDA church. But why? God is still the same awesome God that He always has been, the incredible Bible truths embraced by the Seventh-day Adventists are still just as true today as they ever were and although a "thousand shall fall on my right and a thousand fall on my left" nothing will ever change these facts. We must hold firm to our faith during troubled times!

Many have written to me over the past many months asking me to update my website. This I have prayerfully considered for quite some time, nearly a year.

Quite frankly, I just have not known what to say. I feel that this scandal has made a large, festering open wound in my Church. Perhaps the truth revealed will ultimately bring the healing that everyone needs. Then we can grieve together and move on. I am certain, in essence, I have died a thousand deaths over the events of the last couple of years. But, with the Lords blessing, I will try to address issues which have been brought to my attention in the kindest manner possible.

For the first time in nearly three years I will not simply deny the accusations, but will directly address certain issues. I do not take pleasure in speaking of these things. I think I have always been the one who would rather receive hurt, than be the one to inflict hurt upon others. But during the course of this last year I learned some valuable lessons through Dr. Mable Dunbar of Pollys Place Network, she has been an incredible support and help to me.

Mable is a woman who truly loves the Lord and is not afraid to stand up for what she believes is right, even if a whole army would stand against her.

Pollys Place Network is a ministry which empowers abused lives and aids them through their difficult circumstances. It is a marvelous organization and so needed for this age when Satan has focused his wrath upon breaking up the security and circle of love God intended for our families. I videotaped some interviews, for Pollys Place, at the SDA Conference office in Spokane, Washington with several individuals who had been through incredibly painful situations. Each of them, in essence, had the same healing story. It was when they were able to come forward and expressed the truth about what happened to them, that their healing came. Inspired by these individuals, now I can accept and believe it is Gods job to protect the ministry I have loved and co-founded, and its my right and my healing to tell the truth about what has occurred.

I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

John Knox once said, "Kings (or leaders) have not an absolute power to do in their government what pleases them, but their power is limited by Gods Word; so that if they strike where God has not commanded, they are but murderers; and if they spare where God has commanded to strike, they and their thrones are criminal and guilty of the wickedness which abounds upon the face of the earth, for lack of punishment." John knew his Bible. It is a Biblical principle that if we see a wrong and only look the other way or feebly say, "I will let the Lord deal with that one," then that wickedness is applied to our slate, plain and simple.

The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband. I loved, trusted and believed in him to a fault. Imagine my shock when I realized that the false allegations in the form of libel, slander and defamation directed my way were initiated by two of the closest people to me on planet earth; one was my beloved partner and the other was my closet lady friend. I loved them both and trusted them both to the point that their close communication did not bother me in the least. I know that sounds naive, but I did not believe that Dan would do anything that would harm the ministry we had built together.

In 2004 there was a tremendous outcry at my departure. There was suspicion over how swiftly I was fired from my position and divorced. There was suspicion over the fact that I never had the opportunity to talk to the Board and defend myself. There was suspicion over the fact that every trace of my presence was completely cleared out of the campus of 3ABN, even before my termination, as well as the website, television and radio broadcasts. I was made a sacrificial lamb in a scheme calculated to remove me from both my home and my ministry through an orchestrated campaign of malicious lies circulated around the globe.

No words can begin to describe the absolute agony this has brought to my life, but there are other victims as well, and may God bless and spare the young lives and tender souls who have also felt the stinging thrust of this sword of scandal.

It has completely broken my heart to see the emails and letters which have come from the Chairman of the Board, Dan and others at 3ABN, to hear of the television and radio programs where erroneous references have been made to the situation, to watch the ministry that I helped build with much devotion used to destroy me and also to hear of the reports of what is being said on the SDA chat sites about me today by those bent on my destruction...nearly three years later.

It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"!

The world is waiting with baited breath!

The stakes are high. I, as well as others, have personally experienced electronic surveillance, email theft, interception of cell phone calls, post divorce entry into my private residence to the point where charges were filed with the police. It is not easy to live your life when you feel that you can never know for sure if you are being followed, watched or recorded...even now. I have had invitations to do ministry thwarted because of continued allegations by those, who, like wolves in sheeps clothing, attempted to stop my ministry.

I want to make this absolutely clear: I left my home because I was not safe, I was not welcome. I was witnessing the murder of my reputation and ministry day by day. I stayed as long as I felt I could. I hoped, believed and prayed that things would change but they only got worse. The statements made that I left my husband for another man are absolutely and totally false. Any thinking person would realize that I had everything a Christian woman could have wanted in this life: a husband I loved and the opportunity to minister to millions of people about the tremendous love of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, through the ministry that we spent so many years building together. Although two of the people who I loved best have called me "Gomer", yet a more accurate term would be "Hosea", which I would only discover later. But I prefer simply, Linda, "SAVED by the Blood of the Lamb!"

I do not visit the chat sites. This has been a mega-trial for me and my way of coping has been to try and focus on other things. I realize that the individuals which make up our Church need healing from this disaster too.

And perhaps the chat sites have served to help people give expression to their frustrations and hurts in this situation. I am grateful to each of you who have prayed and interceded for me. It has meant so much during my dark days. You will never know just how much!

Now my kids are grown and I am alone...but not really alone, although I have no husband. Now I belong to > everyone and everyone belongs to me! And I still sing, "Thank you for being my family, thank you for being my friends: May God bless and keep you in all that you may do until we meet again!"

>
> It is my goal to just make your journey and mine a little lighter and brighter. I have faith that the Lord still has a work for me to do, a new ministry. I am ready and available for church services, week of prayer, concerts, etc. as the Lord opens the doors. I do not know what my future holds, but God does and that's enough for me.
>
> Just in closing I want to make an appeal to you to get out your binoculars, dust them off, bring them into focus and then search... Love your neighbor enough to be a Good Samaritan. When he is broken and bleeding in the middle of the road, focus your binoculars with the love of Christ, but don't stop there, reach out and meet his need in his time of crisis. Christianity is not something that "just happens". True Christianity occurs when a decided action is taken...when we search, when we fill a need, w hen we mend a broken heart and when we are just "there" for hurting people. There are many of them. But there are too few Christians who focus their binoculars with love.
>
> Thank you for being my family! Stay close to the Shepherd!
>
> Blessings to you and yours,
>
> Linda Shelton
>
> NOTE: Her letter of demand, posted March 2nd, 2007 now on her website. To go right there, click here http://www.lindashelton.org

---

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 22 2007, 08:13 PM

Bump (yes, I want to bump this again)

Posted by: mozart Mar 22 2007, 09:41 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 28 2007, 07:56 PM)
>
> 1. Linda Shelton has already responded to this. She says she had no power over how much employees were paid. Linda said she wanted to give Sandra Juarez a raise, but was overruled by her ex-husband, Danny Shelton. Danny does all hiring and firing. Period. Everybody knows that. You know it. I know it. So just stop with this nonsense.
>
> 2. Her Replacement = Tommy Shelton. We already know who "her replacement" was, so you might as well spell it out: Linda was replaced by a Reverend dismissed by another denomination. His name is Tommy Shelton, but I suppose just calling him "her replacement" sounds better? You have your marching orders to focus everyone's attention on demonizing Linda - and away from all other core issues? That's what you're getting paid to do as part of your "mending broken people" agenda? Just asking.
>
> 3. As for any trip to Norway, the Norwegian doctor, Arild Abrahamsen, has already written and distributed his account.
>
> 4. Linda lost her health insurance when she was summarily fired by her ex-husband. You know that. The Norwegian doctor, aware of what had happened, gave Linda access to his medical clinic after the loss of the insurance. Why keep trying to make that something it is not. Even you, yourself, say Linda Shelton was already divorced at that time.
>
> 5. I was in Thompsonville shortly after Danny asked for a divorce. I saw no such fawning as you describe. When Linda started the radio network on December 31, 1999, Danny went on the air shortly thereafter and > said several times, "I have no vision for radio," with Linda Shelton sitting right next to him on the air. This certainly didn't look like bragging over Linda to me. It came across to me as a message to viewers saying, "Radio is not part of the Great Danny Shelton Vision, so please take note, everyone." But Linda's radio network succeeded anyway, despite Danny's admonition to his viewers. And things were never the same after that.

>
> Linda held a 3ABN Radio School beginning on Monday, March 8, 2004. It was a sold-out event. The Radio Network was succeeding. Danny could see that and he was not happy. If Danny was going to get rid of Linda, he'd have to do it before she added a dozen more radio stations.
>
> Danny demanded his divorce, the night before the radio school started, on Sunday, March 7, 2004. Danny just couldn't handle Linda's success and he was determined to put a stop to it. Linda, not being streetwise, could not suspect what was going on or how her demise was linked to her own success in radio.
>
> Mollie Steenson had gone to India, and I believe she was not in Thompsonville, on Sunday evening, March 7, 2004, when Danny demanded his divorce and put his plan into action. Mollie came back to Thompsonville and was in her office by midweek, but everything was already in motion. My opinion is that Mollie Steenson either couldn't be trusted to help destroy Linda Shelton, or Mollie wanted to distance herself from the planned event, so it was done while she, Mollie, was out of the country - in India, no less. Was that trip to India planned in advance by someone for such a reason? I've decided in my own mind that it was.
>
> 6. I don't see that "programming improved" with the Reverend Tommy Shelton sitting in Linda's old office. But that's in the eye of the beholder. Maybe an endless array of scolding, talking heads at 3ABN pleases you. There's nothing special about Shelley Quinn with her veiled excoriation using "John the Baptist" or John Lomacang's version of the same using his "Moses - Touch Not the Lord's Anointed" blatherments. The expoundings of these two strike me as nothing but desperate and weird.
>
> 6. Bystander, you keep regurgitating the same old garbage over and over trying so hard to re-write history. It is not working, so give it up. The reason you skip responding to Watchbird is that she knows the timeline, and you cannot deal with that; Your job is to deliver your mudballs to people who you think cannot tell the difference.
>
> 7. The entire 3ABN defense from the very beginning has been, "Nobody will be able to criticize us, because they are all stupid and will never be able to figure out what we did for sure," id est, "Nobody knows me and Linda" ad infinitum. Your only purpose on this forum. Bystander, is to muddy the waters with your little mudballs and to make sure it all stays muddy. Everybody can see that, so this must be about your personal paycheck. It certainly cannot be about truth or justice. Not knowing who you are, this is all about your own personal bank account, right? Are you willing to do anything to keep those paychecks coming, no matter what? Am I close? I think I am right on target. I think it is all about money, your money, Bystander, and nothing else. I think everything and everyone comes a distant second with you.

'ou make some great points Pete. [don't let BS get to you]

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 22 2007, 09:49 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Mar 22 2007, 10:41 PM)
>
> You make some great points Pete. [don't let BS get to you] hanks for the chuckle. edited content......

Posted by: mozart Mar 22 2007, 10:23 PM

hope you don't mind me posting inside your post.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 28 2007, 04:34 PM)
>
> It is doubtful if 3abn will ever officialy admit anything about anything. But the reason Linda was dismissed is very plain.... She was dismissed because Danny didn't want her around any more.
>
> Isn't this pretty much what Walt Thompson said to her, when he wrote something to the effect that he didn't care about their personal problems all he knew was the president didn't want the vice-president anymore. (now that's cold)
>
> Now as to why he didn't want her around..... there is probably no single answer to that. And since speculating about motives is not a good thing to do, we shall probably have to be content to notice what things he has changed since he got rid of her. The most obvious, of course, is that he has a new wife..... one that is much younger.
>
> I'm not so sure we should concentrate on "younger woman" so much. nowadays lots of women look better at 40 than they did at 20 plus they got the smarts. sad to say some guys are afraid of smarts. (i'm not one of them. the smarter my wife is the easier it is on me. rofl) seriously tho', i think that's what is probably more accurate. why else would he be in such a panic to discredit her. he's terrified of what she knows. can anyone say the word: "gag"? what he seems to have forgotten or maybe never appreciated, however, is that she has class.
>
> But there may be other changes also that are significant in other areas.... types of programming.... doctrinal emphases..... the way workers are treated..... perhaps others more familiar with things both before and after Linda left may have noticed changes that may be significant.
>
> Of course, we do not know that spring 2004 was actually the watershed. It could be that Danny was already making changes.... at least some of which caused added friction between the two. Some have seen their going for a private jet plane as a significant watershed. Some have seen the court case over the property tax exemption as significant. It would be interesting to hear what others observed in the way of significant changes over the last 5 years or so.

seems to me, power and control got the best of DS

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Mar 1 2007, 05:53 AM)
>
> OK, let me see if I've got this straight...you want us to believe that Linda had so much power at 3ABN that she controlled programming, employee morale and workers' salary? You want us to believe that Danny was impotent and powerless to do anything to break Linda's control. You want us to believe that Danny, the founder and person to whom God gave this wonderful "vision" let Linda get all the power and control everything he felt that the Lord specifically gave to him. Yet with all this power that she supposedly had the 3ABN board was quick to summarily dismiss her and bind her up with a gag order. Yeah...OK...and Bill Gates is just a front for Microsoft...I'm really the President...

Oh kewl!!!!!!!!!! Can i borrow a few bucks?

Posted by: mozart Mar 22 2007, 10:44 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 4 2007, 02:41 AM)

> Duane, a post was written to you some time ago. I don't know if you didn't want to answer (which is your perogative) or if you just missed it, so I will ask again.
>
> Did you write a reply to TS's letter you say was sent to you. If so why was it not published also? My other question. You say all you are seeking is an apology, if so, wasn't that what the letter was about? Please don't say that there are others he needs to apologize to. If so, that is between him, them and God. You are only responsible for you and him alone. If that is his letter, he apologized a long time ago, so why are you here if that is all you wanted?

N APOLOGY??? FOR CRYING OUT LOUD!!! TS should buy him a "beamer" and praise the Lord he's not ehind bars. Apology indeed!!!

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 5 2007, 12:23 AM) ☐
>
> He will. I will pray for him.

ne too! PB Let's take a moment from this disheartening fiasco and pray for PB and her husband.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 27 2007, 06:41 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 28 2007, 06:56 PM) ☐
>
> 1. Linda Shelton has already responded to this. She says she had no power over how much employees were paid. Linda said she wanted to give Sandra Juarez a raise, but was overruled by her ex-husband, Danny Shelton. Danny does all hiring and firing. Period. Everybody knows that. You know it. I know it. So just stop with this nonsense.
>
> 2. Her Replacement = Tommy Shelton. We already know who "her replacement" was, so you might as well spell it out: Linda was replaced by a Reverend dismissed by another denomination. His name is Tommy Shelton, but I suppose just calling him "her replacement" sounds better? You have your marching orders to focus everyone's attention on demonizing Linda - and away from all other core issues? That's what you're getting paid to do as part of your "mending broken people" agenda? Just asking.
>
> 3. As for any trip to Norway, the Norwegian doctor, Arild Abrahamsen, has already written and distributed his account.
>
> 4. Linda lost her health insurance when she was summarily fired by her ex-husband. You know that. The Norwegian doctor, aware of what had happened, gave Linda access to his medical clinic after the loss of the insurance. Why keep trying to make that something it is not. Even you, yourself, say Linda Shelton was already divorced at that time.
>
> 5. I was in Thompsonville shortly after Danny asked for a divorce. I saw no such fawning as you describe. When Linda started the radio network on December 31, 1999, Danny went on the air shortly thereafter and said several times, "I have no vision for radio," with Linda Shelton sitting right next to him on the air. This certainly didn't look like bragging over Linda to me. It came across to me as a message to viewers saying, "Radio is not part of the Great Danny Shelton Vision, so please take note, everyone." But Linda's radio network succeeded anyway, despite Danny's admonition to his viewers. And things were never the same after that.
>
> Linda held a 3ABN Radio School beginning on Monday, March 8, 2004. It was a sold-out event. The Radio Network was succeeding. Danny could see that and he was not happy. If Danny was going to get rid of Linda, he'd have to do it before she added a dozen more radio stations.
>
> Danny demanded his divorce, the night before the radio school started, on Sunday, March 7, 2004. Danny just couldn't handle Linda's success and he was determined to put a stop to it. Linda, not being streetwise, could not suspect what was going on or how her demise was linked to her own success in radio.

> Mollie Steenson had gone to India, and I believe she was not in Thompsonville, on Sunday evening, March 7, 2004, when Danny demanded his divorce and put his plan into action. Mollie came back to Thompsonville and was in her office by midweek, but everything was already in motion. My opinion is that Mollie Steenson either couldn't be trusted to help destroy Linda Shelton, or Mollie wanted to distance herself from the planned event, so it was done while she, Mollie, was out of the country - in India, no less. Was that trip to India planned in advance by someone for such a reason? I've decided in my own mind that it was.
>
> 6. I don't see that "programming improved" with the Reverend Tommy Shelton sitting in Linda's old office. But that's in the eye of the beholder. Maybe an endless array of scolding, talking heads at 3ABN pleases you. There's nothing special about Shelley Quinn with her veiled excoriation using "John the Baptist" or John Lomacang's version of the same using his "Moses - Touch Not the Lord's Anointed" blatherments. The expoundings of these two strike me as nothing but desperate and weird.
>
> 6. Bystander, you keep regurgitating the same old garbage over and over trying so hard to re-write history. It is not working, so give it up. The reason you skip responding to Watchbird is that she knows the timeline, and you cannot deal with that; Your job is to deliver your mudballs to people who you think cannot tell the difference.
>
> 7. The entire 3ABN defense from the very beginning has been, "Nobody will be able to criticize us, because they are all stupid and will never be able to figure out what we did for sure," id est, "Nobody knows me and Linda" ad infinitum. Your only purpose on this forum. Bystander, is to muddy the waters with your little mudballs and to make sure it all stays muddy. Everybody can see that, so this must be about your personal paycheck. It certainly cannot be about truth or justice. Not knowing who you are, this is all about your own personal bank account, right? Are you willing to do anything to keep those paychecks coming, no matter what? Am I close? I think I am right on target. I think it is all about money, your money, Bystander, and nothing else. I think everything and everyone comes a distant second with you.

ete, this was very well stated. Thank you! Kudos!

Posted by: sonshineonme May 7 2007, 11:13 PM

bump

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 14 2007, 11:18 PM)
>
> NOTE: Her letter of demand, posted March 2nd, 2007 now on her website. To go right there, click here http://www.lindashelton.org
> In keeping with Linda Shelton requiring an open and transparent ASI sponsored hearing, Linda has now published a letter that includes a clear demand that 3ABN and Danny Shelton produce the evidence they claim to have for inspection and verification to the entire church membership and to the stockholders in the pews. Danny Shelton in various forms and under various alias has repeatedly referenced evidence that he claims to have thereby giving him a basis for divorce and remarriage. The chairman of 3ABN on AToday has made it clear they have no proof of an adulterous affair. Linda Shelton and Arild Abrahamsen have repeatedly asserted that there is no basis for divorce, that no inappropriate relationship occurred and that there is no evidence to support the Danny Shelton claims.
>
> We have repeatedly asserted that if there is no proof, then a remarriage would constitute an adulterous relationship. Danny Shelton was married at 3ABN in March 2006 to a Brandy Murray, a 3ABN employee that reportedly arrived at 3ABN of Thompsonville in July of 2004.
>
> Here is the letter from Linda in its entirety and is also available at www.LindaShelton.org and on www.save3ABN.com . I believe it reflects the same Linda, a bit stronger and less naive than in the past, but as deeply committed to her relationship with the Lord as we all remember so well on that porch at 3ABN.

Linda Shelton does respond to e-mail and will be happy to have a concert or a deeply spiritual service at your location, wherever you may be.

February, 2007

My warmest greetings,

A couple approached me, with tears in their eyes, and said, "We have just missed you and we wanted to see you to make sure you were okay." As I saw the pain in their eyes, over the events that have transpired in my life in the last few years, it was as if my heart was pierced again. "We are just so happy to see you smiling, in church and still serving God." Our meeting took place a few months ago at the Bible Chapel Seventh-day Adventist Church, where I am a member. I enjoyed my visit with this caring Christian couple and the compassion and love they showed toward me.

Some people act surprised that I am still a member of the SDA church. But why? God is still the same awesome God that He always has been, the incredible Bible truths embraced by the Seventh-day Adventists are still just as true today as they ever were and although a "thousand shall fall on my right and a thousand fall on my left" nothing will ever change these facts. We must hold firm to our faith during troubled times!

Many have written to me over the past many months asking me to update my website. This I have prayerfully considered for quite some time, nearly a year. Quite frankly, I just have not known what to say. I feel that this scandal has made a large, festering open wound in my Church. Perhaps the truth revealed will ultimately bring the healing that everyone needs. Then we can grieve together and move on. I am certain, in essence, I have died a thousand deaths over the events of the last couple of years. But, with the Lords blessing, I will try to address issues which have been brought to my attention in the kindest manner possible.

For the first time in nearly three years I will not simply deny the accusations, but will directly address certain issues. I do not take pleasure in speaking of these things. I think I have always been the one who would rather receive hurt, than be the one to inflict hurt upon others. But during the course of this last year I learned some valuable lessons through Dr. Mable Dunbar of Pollys Place Network, she has been an incredible support and help to me. Mable is a woman who truly loves the Lord and is not afraid to stand up for what she believes is right, even if a whole army would stand against her.

Pollys Place Network is a ministry which empowers abused lives and aids them through their difficult circumstances. It is a marvelous organization and so needed for this age when Satan has focused his wrath upon breaking up the security and circle of love God intended for our families. I videotaped some interviews, for Pollys Place, at the SDA Conference office in Spokane, Washington with several individuals who had been through incredibly painful situations. Each of them, in essence, had the same healing story. It was when they were able to come forward and expressed the truth about what happened to them, that their healing came. Inspired by these individuals, now I can accept and believe it is Gods job to protect the ministry I have loved and co-founded, and its my right and my healing to tell the truth about what has occurred.

I am co-authoring a book and its purpose is to share the silver lining of the amazing lessons the Lord has taught me through this crisis. I feel the Lord has lifted a veil and allowed me to see the world that He sees, a world far different than we see. I see that the darts of false allegations that Satan has thrown toward me and my ministry were not directed solely for my downfall, but the aim was much wider. Although I was the apparent target, Satan was attempting to destroy the ministry I loved and co-founded and cripple the witness of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. My perspective has been forever changed through my experiences and my book will give me the opportunity to share these lessons more fully with all of you. (I will keep you posted as to the release date of this book.)

John Knox once said, "Kings (or leaders) have not an absolute power to do in their government what pleases them, but their power is limited by Gods Word; so that if they strike where God has not commanded, they are but murderers; and if they spare where God has commanded to strike, they and their thrones are criminal and guilty of the wickedness which abounds upon the face of the earth, for lack of punishment." John knew his Bible. It is a Biblical principle that if we see a wrong and only look the other way or feebly say, "I will let the Lord deal with that one," then that wickedness is applied to our slate, plain and simple.

The most devastating blow a televangelist can get is the false accusation of adultery. Although I have already made this statement on my website I want to address those of you who have loved and valued my Christianity, integrity and my ministry for the 19 years that I was at 3ABN. I want to clearly emphasize that I was 100% faithful to my husband. I loved, trusted and believed in him to a fault. Imagine my shock when I realized that the false allegations in the form of libel, slander and defamation directed my way were initiated by two of the closest people to me on planet earth; one was my beloved partner and the other was my closest lady friend. I loved them both and trusted them both to the point that their close communication did not bother me in the least. I know that sounds naive, but I did not believe that Dan would do anything that would harm the ministry we had built together.

In 2004 there was a tremendous outcry at my departure. There was suspicion over how swiftly I was fired from my position and divorced. There was suspicion over the fact that I never had the opportunity to talk to the Board and defend myself. There was suspicion over the fact that every trace of my presence was completely cleared out of the campus of 3ABN, even before my termination, as well as the website, television and radio broadcasts. I was made a sacrificial lamb in a scheme calculated to remove me from both my home and my ministry through an orchestrated campaign of malicious lies circulated around the globe. No words can begin to describe the absolute agony this has brought to my life, but there are other victims as well, and may God bless and spare the young lives and tender souls who have also felt the stinging thrust of this sword of scandal.

It has completely broken my heart to see the emails and letters which have come from the Chairman of the Board, Dan and others at 3ABN, to hear of the television and radio programs where erroneous references have been made to the situation, to watch the ministry that I helped build with much devotion used to destroy me and also to hear of the reports of what is being said on the SDA chat sites about me today by those bent on my destruction...nearly three years later.

It was the false accusation of adultery which caused the loss of my marriage, my reputation, my employment, and everything else. I challenge the 3ABN Board to produce the "irrefutable evidence" which caused a co-founder, a life-time Board member, Vice-President and Secretary of the Board to be removed in that May, 2004 meeting! I am asking, no demanding, that the information is made public, at my request! Cast aside these pretended desires to "spare me"! The world is waiting with baited breath!

The stakes are high. I, as well as others, have personally experienced electronic surveillance, email theft, interception of cell phone calls, post divorce entry into my private residence to the point where charges were filed with the police. It is not easy to live your life when you feel that you can never know for sure if you are being followed, watched or recorded...even now. I have had invitations to do ministry thwarted because of continued allegations by those, who, like wolves in sheeps clothing, attempted to stop my ministry.

I want to make this absolutely clear: I left my home because I was not safe, I was not welcome. I was witnessing the murder of my reputation and ministry day by day. I stayed as long as I felt I could. I hoped, believed and prayed that things would change but they only got worse. The statements made that I left my husband for another man are absolutely and totally false. Any thinking person would realize that I had everything a Christian woman could have wanted in this life: a husband I loved and the opportunity to minister to millions of people about the tremendous love of my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, though the ministry that we spent so many years building together. Although two of the people who I loved best have called me "Gomer", yet a more accurate term would be "Hosea", which I would only discover later. But I prefer simply, Linda, "SAVED by the Blood of the Lamb!"

I do not visit the chat sites. This has been a mega-trial for me and my way of coping has been to try and focus on other things. I realize that the individuals which make up our Church need healing from this disaster too. And perhaps the chat sites have served to help people give expression to their frustrations and hurts in this situation. I am grateful to each of you who have prayed and interceded for me. It has meant so much during my dark days. Youâ€™ll never know just how much!

Now my kids are grown and I am alone...but not really alone, although I have not husband. Now I belong to everyone and everyone belongs to me! And I still sing, "Thank you for being my family, thank you for being my friends: May God bless and keep you in all that you may do until we meet again!"

It is my goal to just make your journey and mine a little lighter and brighter. I have faith that the Lord still has a work for me to do, a new ministry. I am ready and available for church services, week of prayer, concerts, etc. as the Lord opens the doors. I do not know what my future holds, but God does and that's enough for me.

Just in closing I want to make an appeal to you to get out your binoculars, dust them off, bring them into focus and then search... Love your neighbor enough to be a Good Samaritan. When he is broken and bleeding in the middle of the road, focus your binoculars with the love of Christ, but don't stop there, reach out and meet his need in his time of crisis. Christianity is not something that "just happens". True Christianity occurs when a decided action is taken...when we search, when we fill a need, when we mend a broken heart and when we are just "there" for hurting people. There is a lot of them. But there are too few Christians who focus their binoculars with love.

Thank you for being my family! Stay close to the Shepherd!

Blessings to you and yours

Linda Shelton

Posted by: steffan May 8 2007, 01:58 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 27 2007, 07:41 PM)
>
> Pete, this was very well stated. Thank you! Kudos!

Vell stated? rofl Pete and SSOM I got a suggestion for you. Why don't you act like adults and call the :FO at 3abn. Ask him who set the salaries for the production people. Next ask him how she wanted salaries o work for the truck crew where they would be paid practically nothing and even less if they were a ›assenger in the truck as opposed to the driver. Ask him what a nightmare that created for the accounting lepartment.
Vext, ask to speak to Linda's personal assistant and secretary who worked for many years for Linda. Then, isk her if Linda set salaries for production people and if it was she that decided if anyone would get a raise, iow much of one, or, not any at all.
Vhen you find that the answers from 2 different people are the same, then it would seem you could conclude hat Linda may not be telling the truth. And, if she isn't, how many other things has she not told the truth on?
t would be a lot of trouble but, you could always recruit some of those employees who went to her (her ;ecretary) to ask for a raise and through her secretary, turned them down.
Vhen your done with those assignments, then you could call Mollie and ask her who does 95% of the hiring ind firing. It isn't Danny. To be even more detailed, even though Mollie does most of it if that person is going nto production, the production manager certainly has a big say if he wants to take on that person in his lepartment. Linda was not only production manager, she was Vice President. She had plenty to say about vho would work in her department.
Iow funny that you all think that Danny has time to do all these corrupt things, like doctoring books, ›lackballing Linda, work on people like DB to join with him, travel constantly, is aware of everybody that
:omes and goes at 3abn, is constantly hatching plans with those that work for him, sets everybody's salaries, ules the board, runs the church (which is conference) and still, still has time to hire and fire everyone.
rofl

Vow that is one incredible man.

Aaybe the ignorance shown here on these subjects is because you can't comprehend the immensity of the ninistry complex, old and new, the grounds the different buildings, departments and then they have approx
.50 employees right there with probably 50 more elsewhere, especially 3abn Russia. So if that is why you
:an't seem to comprehend that it is impossible For Danny to be all seeing and all knowing and involved in inything that moves, please, get some pictures, books, descriptions, or better yet go there yourself to check t out. Maybe then you will see the foolishness of your accusations.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 27 2007, 07:41 PM)
>
> Pete, this was very well stated. Thank you! Kudos!

›opps forgot something. If your scenerio about radio was correct Pete, then why did the radio department
:eep chugging right along adding more and more stations. If it was such a sore spot Danny would have done iway with it. Sorry friend. The take on radio is one of the more ridiculous things I have read here and that is ;aying something.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin May 8 2007, 02:19 AM

> QUOTE(steffan @ May 8 2007, 03:58 AM)
>
> Well stated? rofl Pete and SSOM I got a suggestion for you. Why don't you act like adults and call the CFO at 3abn. Ask him who set the salaries for the production people. Next ask him how she wanted salaries to work for the truck crew where they would be paid practically nothing and even less if they were a passenger in the truck as opposed to the driver. Ask him what a nightmare that created for the accounting department.
> Next, ask to speak to Linda's personal assistant and secretary who worked for many years for Linda. Then, ask her if Linda set salaries for production people and if it was she that decided if anyone would get a raise, how much of one, or, not any at all.
> When you find that the answers from 2 different people are the same, then it would seem you could conclude that Linda may not be telling the truth. And, if she isn't, how many other things has she not told the truth on?
> It would be a lot of trouble but, you could always recruit some of those employees who went to her (her secretary) to ask for a raise and through her secretary, turned them down.
> When your done with those assignments, then you could call Mollie and ask her who does 95% of the hiring and firing. It isn't Danny. To be even more detailed, even though Mollie does most of it if that person is going into production, the production manager certainly has a big say if he wants to take on that person in his department. Linda was not only production manager, she was Vice President. She had plenty to say about who would work in her department.
> How funny that you all think that Danny has time to do all these corrupt things, like doctoring books, blackballing Linda, work on people like DB to join with him, travel constantly, is aware of everybody that comes and goes at 3abn, is constantly hatching plans with those that work for him, sets everybody's salaries, rules the board, runs the church (which is conference) and still, still has time to hire and fire everyone. rofl
> Now that is one incredible man.
> Maybe the ignorance shown here on these subjects is because you can't comprehend the immensity of the ministry complex, old and new, the grounds the different buildings, departments and then they have approx 150 employees right there with probably 50 more elsewhere, especially 3abn Russia. So if that is why you can't seem to comprehend that it is impossible For Danny to be all seeing and all knowing and involved in anything that moves, please, get some pictures, books, descriptions, or better yet go there yourself to check it out. Maybe then you will see the foolishness of your accusations.
> oopps forgot something. If your scenerio about radio was correct Pete, then why did the radio department keep chugging right along adding more and more stations. If it was such a sore spot Danny would have done away with it. Sorry friend. The take on radio is one of the more ridiculous things I have read here and that is saying something.

It is like Eirene never missed a beat. Steffan picked up right where she left off. I wish they would tell how they really feel.

Posted by: awesumtenor May 8 2007, 10:22 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ May 8 2007, 04:19 AM)
>
> It is like Eirene never missed a beat. Steffan picked up right where she left off. I wish they would tell how they really feel.

that will have to happen when they get out of the sin bin... steffan is serving a 2 minute minor for cross-checking and eirene has a 5 minute major for misconduct...both run the risk of game misconducts and ejections if they persist tho...

With apologies to Lord Stanley...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi May 8 2007, 10:46 AM

Ok, so this is the umphteenth time we have heard Danny, and the clones mention about calling him and he weill answer. Please, somebody let's take up this challenge. Somebody call 3ABN, as for Danny(CFO, walt who ever), and say that Steffan and the rest of his supporters here at BSDA said we could call and get the answers to the questions he has list. Can somebody help us out here, and bring back are report. Once of their main claims is that nobody ever called Danny to ask him anything............except Bob, who they then called a pest, etc., but hey at least we can take that out of their arsernal. What do you say? Somebody?

> QUOTE
>
> Well stated? ☒ rofl Pete and SSOM I got a suggestion for you. Why don't you act like adults and call the CFO at 3abn. Ask him who set the salaries for the production people. Next ask him how she wanted salaries to work for the truck crew where they would be paid practically nothing and even less if they were a passenger in the truck as opposed to the driver. Ask him what a nightmare that created for the accounting department.
> Next, ask to speak to Linda's personal assistant and secretary who worked for many years for Linda. Then, ask her if Linda set salaries for production people and if it was she that decided if anyone would get a raise, how much of one, or, not any at all............

Posted by: Pickle May 8 2007, 11:21 AM

Yes, someone please call. And see if you can get documentation to support the claims. For example, are they any memos by Linda or minutes of meetings that attribute these actions to her?

Personally, I would find such things quite helpful. Thus far all I have is her word that it wasn't her idea, and that someone came to her telling her this needed to be done. If she's lying I want to know, and I want to see documents that establish that.

But it should be someone else that calls. If Larry hung up on Gailon, what do you think he will do if I call?

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 8 2007, 01:39 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ May 8 2007, 02:58 AM) ☐
>
> Pete and SSOM I got a suggestion for you. Why don't you act like adults and call the CFO at 3abn.

When I was at 3ABN, doing whatever it was I was doing, it was Danny Shelton who made the ultimate decisions concerning me. Mollie Steenson told me, herself, that final decisions were made by Danny. Another manager, on another occasion, told me the exact same thing when they were considering someone for employment.

As for the CFO, past experience seems to indicate that the CFO isn't going to say anything to the outside world.

As for the radio network, I was told ASI -- and others -- earmarked a big chunk of money to help launch it on December 31, 1999. Therefore, it wasn't politically feasible for Danny to forsake the backing of ASI, after ASI agreed to donate that money.

As you know, Steffan, if the recently announced merger between 3ABN and Amazing Facts is completed as planned, ASI Missions will be the constituency calling the shots at 3ABN, and some of those people are enthusiastic about radio.

Since we're talking production:

Steffan, did you see any of those videos Linda made? What do you think of them? Do you think the people who helped make those videos did a professional job? Were you pleased with the results? What's your take?

Posted by: sonshineonme May 8 2007, 01:58 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 8 2007, 09:46 AM) ☐
>
> Ok, so this is the umphteenth time we have heard Danny, and the clones mention about calling him and he weill answer. Please, somebody let's take up this challenge. Somebody call 3ABN, as for Danny(CFO, walt who ever), and say that Steffan and the rest of his supporters here at BSDA said we could call and get the answers to the questions he has list. Can somebody help us out here, and bring back are report. Once of their main claims is that nobody ever called Danny to ask him anything............except Bob, who they then called a pest, etc., but hey at least we can take that out of their arsernal. What do you say? Somebody?

I'm certain that my memory is correct that I have read posts here from people who have written DS and gotten replies (haven't those replies been shared?). There are numerous emails that are basically form letters, not personal or individual, which really means everyone asked the same direct questions, and got (more) general types answers - IOW, no answers.

I personally, 3 (almost now) years ago wrote the MINISTERIAL staff at 3abn's website, asking very normal questions like "where is linda now? what has happened?", and NEVER got an any kind of an answer at all.

I have emailed "walt" several times, about a year ago, and I could tell then that the replies were not all coming from the same person. Very clearly.

I won't waste my time writing them anymore, I know their MO. It's been clear from the beginning, and no matter who or what tried to get involved to find out anything, they have never had any intention of telling any more then they have already alluded to. ALLUDED TO. Do you think I could accept it then? And now? No. And, I'm not the only one, unfortunately for them.

Posted by: princessdi May 8 2007, 02:10 PM

Thank you Sonshine! I knew this, but just wanted it pointed out. I still find it hard to believe that any of the Dannyites even part their lips to say call 3ABn for anything. Bob, spent so much time with emails and calls to them, I even questioned his sanity(jk), but they called him a pest and said he was harrassing WT and DS with his constant asking of questions. They can't have it both ways. Now if they were going to answer these questions, I would think they would have answered Bob just to stop him from calling and writing. But hey, Danny said he was waiting on ASI's investigation, and ASI said they were in no position to investigate, and rightly so. So what is the problem now?

Ok, so now Steffan and Eirene(upon your return), Aletheia , Lee, FHB, and all the rest, please dont' ask anyone else to contact 3ABn. Nobody here is fool enought o believe that they will anwer the call or the email let alone the questions. Let it go!

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 8 2007, 04:49 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 8 2007, 02:10 PM)
>
> Ok, so now Steffan and Eirene(upon your return), Aletheia , Lee, FHB, and all the rest, please dont' ask anyone else to contact 3ABn. Nobody here is fool enought o believe that they will anwer the call or the email let alone the questions. Let it go!

BUT ... if all the members here and all the lurkers who haven't registered call and ask them ... maybe they'll make some additions to their FAQ page ...

3ABN phone
Phone: 618-627-4651
Fax: 618-627-2726

Office Hours
8:00 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Central Time, Monday-Thursday
8:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Central Time, Friday

Posted by: Rosyroi May 8 2007, 05:09 PM

AMEN!!!

Early 2004 after hearing about those nasty emails that Walt sent out I wanted to find out for myself what was going on. After all 3ABN sent out the letters and email they should explain why they did it. All I got was a generic bland email from someone by the name of Mom Ford. I have no idea who Mom Ford is but as far as I was concerned it was like not receiving a reply from anyone. In my opinion Danny orchestrated the lies from 3ABN. From that I don't believe anyone who is admin at 3ABN can be believed.

I am VERY disappointed with the way 3ABN handled the whole situation. I stopped giving my meager funds to them and diverted to more worthy causes like Gospel Outreach. (GO does not keep any more than 10% of funds for office supplies. Rest go to missionary work to 10/40 window. Yes Dan Matthews was intervewed by Danny Shelton about GO) I don't have the full information with me. Basically they use people who already live in the country as missionaries and give a stipend to the missionaries to teach and give Bible studies ONE ON ONE the Gospel of Jesus Christ. I feel that my meager funds would go lot further than sending to Danny so he can fuel his jet or fuel his fancy truck.

sorry. got ofl got a bit too

Rosyroi

Posted by: Fran May 8 2007, 05:35 PM

http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/hearings/pt/pt04-1.pdf

Page 6 of 46

#10. The president's duties include ... selecting, employing, supervising, and discharging personnel; ...

This is official and straight from the court findings document.

Posted by: mozart May 8 2007, 05:53 PM

well, back in '04, i called and emailed about 3 or 4 times to ask "what happened to linda, where is linda, how is linda".
my daughter called and emailed and got nothng then wrote them snail mail and told them "we have a right to know more than 2 sentences about what happened to linda and how she is!".
recently i have share a dozen or more emails with WT and got nothing but spin.
so, any of you DS supporters got any more suggestions?

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 8 2007, 09:46 AM)
>
> Ok, so this is the umphteenth time we have heard Danny, and the clones mention about calling him and he weill answer. Please, somebody let's take up this challenge. Somebody call 3ABN, as for Danny(CFO, walt who ever), and say that Steffan and the rest of his supporters here at BSDA said we could call and get the answers to the questions he has list. Can somebody help us out here, and bring back are report. Once of their main claims is that nobody ever called Danny to ask him anything.............except Bob, who they then called a pest, etc., but hey at least we can take that out of their arsernal. What do you say? Somebody?

James R. Greupner's Rollover Contribution Form
page 1

James R. Greupner's Rollover Contribution Form page 2

This page contained his SSN, birthdate, amount to rollover, Interchange Opportunity Fund 401(k) account #, and wire transfer info including a National Financial Services Corp. account #.

James R. Greupner's Rollover Contribution Form

page 3

This page contained a client code.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Statement - Alyssa Moore

Posted by: source Oct 3 2006, 10:03 PM

July 7, 2006

This is a formal statement which is long overdue. I did not disclose this information when the events occurred because I did not want to hurt my mother. I did not want to cause trouble with 3 ABN, and I was too embarrassed to talk about it. Now that some time has passed and circumstances have changed I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others from being exposed to the same treatment that I have experienced.

1) The repeated inappropriate actions from my ex-stepfather, Danny Shelton, occurred in the summer of the year 2000.

2) I had been away at school for some years. I was happy to be returning home to attend a local University.

3) My mother always went to bed rather early. Her bedroom was upstairs and my bedroom was downstairs. Danny started coming into my room getting into my bed and rubbing my back. He seemed to "accidentally" get too low. I told him I did not want a back rub. He ignored me. This happened repeatedly.

4) I began locking my bedroom door every night. Sometimes he would come to the door and knock again and again. I did not answer. He then repeatedly unlocked my bedroom door and came into my room. He would then get into my bed. I was not comfortable with this but I was so tired I still fell asleep. I awoke sometimes with his hands in inappropriate places. He would say "Oh, I'm sorry. I thought it was your Mom." He told me not to tell my Mom. I told him to stay out of my room. He still came. I started sleep on the living room couch so that he could not lie beside me.

5) I felt threatened and very uncomfortable with these things, so I made arrangements to move out.

Signed,

____

Alyssa Moore (daughter of Linda Shelton)

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 3 2006, 10:13 PM

Honey, there are no words to say but "I am sorry that this happened to you"....and am praying for you....

I do not know whether or not you are Linda Shelton's daughter...but it appears as though you have been hurt and traumatized by someone who allowed Satan to take over their lives for a moment.

> QUOTE(source @ Oct 3 2006, 10:03 PM)
>
> July 7, 2006
> This is a formal statement which is long overdue. I did not disclose this information when the events occurred because I did not want to hurt my mother. I did not want to cause trouble with 3 ABN, and I was > too embarrassed to talk about it. Now that some time has passed and circumstances have changed I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others from being exposed to the same treatment that I have experienced.

>
> 1) The repeated inappropriate actions from my ex-stepfather, Danny Shelton, occurred in the summer of the year 2000.
>
> 2) I had been away at school for some years. I was happy to be returning home to attend a local University.
>
> 3) My mother always went to bed rather early. Her bedroom was upstairs and my bedroom was downstairs. Danny started coming into my room getting into my bed and rubbing my back. He seemed to "accidentally" get too low. I told him I did not want a back rub. He ignored me. This happened repeatedly.
>
> 4) I began locking my bedroom door every night. Sometimes he would come to the door and knock again and again. I did not answer. He then repeatedly unlocked my bedroom door and > came into my room. He would then get into my bed. I was not comfortable with this but I was so tired I still fell asleep. I awoke sometimes with his hands in inappropriate places. He would say "Oh, I'm sorry. I thought it was your Mom." He told me not to tell my Mom. I told him to stay out of my room. He still came. I started sleep on the living room couch so that he could not lie beside me.
>
> 5) I felt threatened and very uncomfortable with these things, so I made arrangements to move out.
>
> Signed,
>
> ________________
> Alyssa Moore (daughter of Linda Shelton)

May God help you find healing and inner peace to move on and live the life that He created for you. ☐

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 3 2006, 10:18 PM

> QUOTE(source @ Oct 3 2006, 09:03 PM) ☐
>
> July 7, 2006
> This is a formal statement which is long overdue. I did not disclose this information when the events occurred because I did not want to hurt my mother. I did not want to cause trouble with 3 ABN, and I was too embarrassed to talk about it. Now that some time has passed and circumstances have changed I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others from being exposed to the same treatment that I have experienced.
>
> Signed,
>
> ________________
> Alyssa Moore (daughter of Linda Shelton)

Source, did you have permission from Linda's daughter to post this letter here? Just curious.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Oct 3 2006, 10:29 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 3 2006, 10:18 PM)
>
> Source, did you have permission from Linda's daughter to post this letter here? Just curious.

She says, "I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others...."

So, apparently -- on the face of it -- it is meant to be shared.

Posted by: calvin Oct 3 2006, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 3 2006, 10:18 PM)
>
> Source, did you have permission from Linda's daughter to post this letter here? Just curious.

Source had my permission to post the letter. This letter is in the public domain and has been distributed broadly throughout Adventist circles. Many of you insiders where aware of it

---

Posted by: watchbird Oct 3 2006, 10:45 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Oct 3 2006, 10:29 PM)
>
> She says, "I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others...."
>
> So, apparently -- on the face of it -- it is meant to be shared.

This is simply not true.... that it was "meant to be shared" on any forum..... and it is a real violation of express instructions that were sent out with each copy of this letter where the permission to share was very specifically limited to "ministers and church leaders", and where it was expressly directed to NOT post it on any public forum. I would hope that Calvin would make an exception of not pulling any posts and would pull this one. It was also requested that her name not be used in any discussions on a public forum, but only to identify her as Linda's daughter. That may seem like a minute distinction to some, but one's name is a very important and precious thing, and I am extremely saddened that someone would brazenly go against her express wishes in this regard.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 3 2006, 10:36 PM)
>
> Source had my permission to post the letter. This letter is in the public domain and has been distributed broadly throughout Adventist circles. Many of you insiders where aware of it.

Yes we were, and we shared with you assuming you would honor her and our request to respect her wishes as to distribution. I am exceedingly disappointed in your actions regarding this.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Oct 3 2006, 11:46 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 3 2006, 10:45 PM)
>
> This is simply not true.... that it was "meant to be shared" on any forum..... and it is a real violation of express instructions that were sent out with each copy of this letter where the permission to share was very specifically limited to "ministers and church leaders", and where it was expressly directed to NOT post it on any public forum.

Well, I accept Watchbird's comment as true.

This is the first time I, for one, have seen such a letter.

Posted by: beartrap Oct 4 2006, 12:01 AM

Nonetheless, it is out. There is way to unring the proverbial bell.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 07:16 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Oct 3 2006, 11:46 PM)
>
> Well, I accept Watchbird's comment as true.
>
> This is the first time I, for one, have seen such a letter.

Since I am assuming that you are neither a pastor nor a church leader.... which we loosely translated as either Conference administrators or lay leaders, especially if they were in abuse counseling professions.... then you should not have received one. And it is quite possible that all who are in that category have not yet received a copy.... it is a very large task to send them out.

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Oct 4 2006, 12:01 AM)
>
> Nonetheless, it is out. There is way to unring the proverbial bell.

You are so correct. That being the case, it would seem to me that the best route to take from here.... "go with the flow" as Calvin says.... will be to give a certain and clear "ring" to the bell.

For starters, let's look at some of the history of the sending of this statement. It was, as I have noted, to be distributed only by email, and it was to always be accompanied by the cover letter with which it was originally sent. It was channeled through Johann, with him sending out the first waves, and others who received it sending it on to others who fit the criteria specified. That first wave included several of the top leaders of our church as well as some of the primary persons involved in the 3abn saga for the last two plus years.

It was first distributed shortly before the ASI Conference this summer, and came to Danny's attention at that time. His reaction was to first of all claim that Alyssa didn't really do it of her own initiative, that he had talked to her since the statement came out, and that it meant nothing.... in reality he and Alyssa were very "close friends". Some who heard his reaction at ASI checked with Alyssa and found that there was no truth in what Danny was saying, and in fact Danny did not even have Alyssa's current phone numbers.

At about the same time, or shortly thereafter, Alyssa made notarized copies of her statement and mailed them in hard copy to selected top church officers. This, I am told, created such a great stir in the GC waters that it sent 3abn into a "circle the wagons" mode, which was made obvious in their "3ABN Today LIVE" two hour special which was shown multiple times the weekend of August 11-13.

Note that we have previously discussed this on BSDA under the thread entitled, "3abn Presents "the Battle ..." Don't Miss It, Special program rerun times...." where we noted that Shelly Quinn's sermon in particular was best understood by those of us who knew of the statement made by Alyssa. See http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10422

At present, I am told that 3abn is demanding a "hearing" with Alyssa.... something that some of us feel is a rather inhumane way for her to go, and are hoping that she will refuse. Something as difficult for her to handle as this has to be, certainly should be handled in a counseling atmosphere rather than an adversarial one. But this is one of those things which are currently residing under the "we have to wait and see" rubric .... trusting that God has supplied her with wise and kind counselors.... both legal and psychological.... so that she is having all the help necessary to move through whatever lies ahead in this area.

Others are, I am sure, much more acquainted with the details of what it must have been like growing up as a step-daughter in the Danny Shelton household, with Melody and Danny's relationship as the closest "model" on which to build her concepts of what a father/daughter relationship should "look like". I hope that they will give us some insights into that.

Others who are reading here are trained counselors.... I hope they will now speak up and discuss in a general and professional way the hurdles and phases of healing that someone who has undergone experiences like this have to face and go through.

We have already heard from Barbara Kerr, who seemingly was the first to learn what had happened and pass it on to Linda.... who until that time had not known of it. She shared something of the way she learned about it with us in the thread pinned at the top of the menu, entitled, http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489. You'll find her comments on this near the end of her original letter. While I am sure there is still much that she knows that she will not share with us because of the delicate and personal nature of the information, I do hope Barb will come back and help us in our understanding of what has and is going on in this area.

May we be especially kind and loving in our discussion of this topic is my prayer today.

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 07:41 AM

she does not need to meet with 3ABN.... she alleges inappropriate behavior, file criminal charges and let the chips fall where they may.....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 07:54 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 4 2006, 05:16 AM)
>
> At present, I am told that 3abn is demanding a "hearing" with Alyssa.... something that some of us feel is a rather inhumane way for her to go, and are hoping that she will refuse. Something as difficult for her to handle as this has to be, certainly should be handled in a counseling atmosphere rather than an adversarial one. But this is one of those things which are currently residing under the "we have to wait and see" rubric .... trusting that God has supplied her with wise and kind counselors.... both legal and psychological.... so that she is having all the help necessary to move through whatever lies ahead in this area.
>
> May we be especially kind and loving in our discussion of this topic is my prayer today.

I am not a counselor but, in my opinion, Alyssa has already taken one of the most stressful steps by sharing her experience with conference leaders. I'm fairly certain she would have carefully thought about all of the ramifications coming forward could lead to, including "hearings" on the issue.

I'm concerned that if she refuses it could be viewed and exploited as an admission that her claims are unfounded. Of course, the venue of any such hearings should certainly be neutral and non-adversarial before consenting to their demands.

This young woman has proven that she has endurance just by the fact that she has survived the rigors of becoming a doctor - no light task! I'm not saying that a hearing would be a walk in the park for her, just that she appears to have the moxie to withstand it.

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 07:58 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 4 2006, 08:54 AM) ☐
>
> I'm concerned that if she refuses it could be viewed and exploited as an admission that her claims are unfounded. Of course, the venue of any such hearings should certainly be neutral and non-adversarial before consenting to their demands.
>
> This young woman has proven that she has endurance just by the fact that she has survived the rigors of becoming a doctor - no light task! I'm not saying that a hearing would be a walk in the park for her, just that she appears to have the moxie to withstand it.

there is no rule written anywhere that says she is obligated to meet with people from 3abn who is owned and operated by the alleged perp.... and they are stupid for even requesting it..... she needs to file charges, hire a lawyer and let whomever talk to the lawyer....

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 08:02 AM

I agree 100%....no "alleged sexual abuse victim" should ever have to face an alleged perpetrator in this context....that would do nothing but re-traumatize the victim....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 07:58 AM) ☐
>
> there is no rule written anywhere that says she is obligated to meet with people from 3abn who is owned and operated by the alleged perp.... and they are stupid for even requesting it..... she needs to file charges, hire a lawyer and let whomever talk to the lawyer....

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 08:07 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:02 AM) ☐
>
> I agree 100%....no "alleged sexual abuse victim" should ever have to face an alleged perpetrator in this context....that would do nothing but re-traumatize the victim....

yanno.... your comment is definitely on point... I think folks have lost their mind.... she is not obligated to meet with them ever....

Posted by: lurker Oct 4 2006, 08:09 AM

If Alyssa meets with the 3ABN people, she would be "put on trial" as to her truthfullness. She would be in the same position as they attempted to put Linda in when they tried to censure her. Alyssa's words will be twisted if she meets with them. Her words will likely be twisted and/or lied about if she even communicates privately with any of them especially with Danny.

She has spoken.

Posted by: calvin Oct 4 2006, 08:17 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 3 2006, 11:45 PM)
>
> This is simply not true.... that it was "meant to be shared" on any forum..... and it is a real violation of express instructions that were sent out with each copy of this letter where the permission to share was very specifically limited to "ministers and church leaders", and where it was expressly directed to NOT post it on any public forum. I would hope that Calvin would make an exception of not pulling any posts and would pull this one. It was also requested that her name not be used in any discussions on a public forum, but only to identify her as Linda's daughter. That may seem like a minute distinction to some, but one's name is a very important and precious thing, and I am extremely saddened that someone would brazenly go against her express wishes in this regard.
>
> Yes we were, and we shared with you assuming you would honor her and our request to respect her wishes as to distribution. I am exceedingly disappointed in your actions regarding this.

Then Watchbird you are going to have to be disappointed. You did request that this letter not be published here, some request are honored some are not. That's the way it works. We are way too far into this saga to start protecting people. I find it ironic that you would make such a request since you have been very vocal in your opinion of others associated with this ministry. I suspect some of those individuals would rather not be discussed on BSDA either.

Alyssa put this letter out there, that put it in play for discussion here or anywhere else. Maybe those of you who know Alyssa should let her know that she can't be so naïve to think that she can have any control over the media to which a communication is distributed or where it may end up...and Watchbird you are not that naïve either.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 08:30 AM

That is not the clinical or spiritual concern...bottom line is Matthew 18 does not refer to IMHO and professional opinion, to abuse or power-based (control) situations; in those instances you do need to have a second person--and physical advocate for emotional support...I stand corrected: The moment that an "alleged victim" tells you "NO" or "STOP" they have come to you one on one...the next step is getting help (i.e. getting another brother/sister involved).

In this situation, an alleged victim would be intimidated by a corporation trying to determine what did or did not happen---their concerns are secondary and totally out of line.

> QUOTE(lurker @ Oct 4 2006, 08:09 AM)
>
> If Alyssa meets with the 3ABN people, she would be "put on trial" as to her truthfullness. She would be in the same position as they attempted to put Linda in when they tried to censure her. Alyssa's words will be twisted if she meets with them. Her words will likely be twisted and/or lied about if she even > communicates privately with any of them especially with Danny.

>
> She has spoken.

hank you for saying that....while I am very sensitive to this kind of situation clinically and otherwise, we ave to be very careful what we put out in the public---because when we do, you can't cry foul and demand hat certain issues/allegations be off limits...

erhaps that is why God gave EGW the counsel that we should try to resolve most issues privately and not in ublic...or as the Bible says more specifically, sometimes we have to allow God to decide what needs to be ublic...even allowing ourselves to be "defrauded" in something, because the end damage is often unexpected nd far more reaching....

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 08:17 AM)
>
> Then Watchbird you are going to have to be disappointed. You did request that this letter not be published here, some request are honored some are not. That's the way it works. We are way too far into this saga to start protecting people. I find it ironic that you would make such a request since you have been very vocal in your opinion of others associated with this ministry. I suspect some of those individuals would rather not be discussed on BSDA either.
>
> Alyssa put this letter out there, that put it in play for discussion here or anywhere else. Maybe those of you who know Alyssa should let her know that she can't be so naïve to think that she can have any control over the media to which a communication is distributed or where it may end up...and Watchbird you are not that naïve either.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 05:58 AM)
>
> there is no rule written anywhere that says she is obligated to meet with people from 3abn who is owned and operated by the alleged perp.... and they are stupid for even requesting it..... she needs to file charges, hire a lawyer and let whomever talk to the lawyer....

Vhich is exactly why I submitted that the venue should be neutral and non-adversarial. I believe that as an lleged victim of this sexual abuse she has a responsibility to herself to file charges and take her power back. ut that is my own opinion and I speak from experience. The perve who assaulted me died before I could face im in court and watch him be brought to justice.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 09:10 AM

Agreed...What we sometimes consider the persuit of "justice" may often lead (unintentionally) to exploitation in another area...one in which we cannot protect those who need it the most...

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 4 2006, 08:47 AM)
>
> Which is exactly why I submitted that the venue should be neutral and non-adversarial. I believe that as an alleged victim of this sexual abuse she has a responsibility to herself to file charges and take her power back. But that is my own opinion and I speak from experience. The perve who assaulted me died before I > could face him in court and watch him be brought to justice.

pray that you now feel free and safe from harm...

Posted by: västergötland Oct 4 2006, 09:23 AM

I wonder if we sometimes deprive people of justice in the name of "protecting" them? Maybe the only person who is really protected by this "protectionism" is the potential "criminal"? An organisation that is presumably built on a foundation of truth has everything to win and nothing to lose from transparency and everything to lose and nothing to win from hiding embarasing things.
This is all embarasing to the church that this has happened and for every step that is taken to push it under the radarscreen of the general public or hide it under the rug, it will be ten times as embarasing when the truth is finaly light up on the hilltop where all truth will eventually end.
It is also my oppinion that those people who will be hurt by this revelation today will be twise as hurt tomorrow if the delay is intentionally caused by probably wellmeaning people. The proverbial paved road to hell...

On the whole, I dont see what anyone with honest intentions could possibly gain by pushing things into the future...

Posted by: caribbean sda Oct 4 2006, 09:27 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 11:17 AM)
>
> Alyssa put this letter out there, that put it in play for discussion here or anywhere else. Maybe those of you who know Alyssa should let her know that she can't be so naïve to think that she can have any control over the media to which a communication is distributed or where it may end up...and Watchbird you are not that naïve either.

'ou're right Calvin...before anything is committed to writing and distributed anywhere...the writer should ealize that his or her communication has the potential to reach a wider audience than is intended...and if hat is unacceptable to him or her, then the choice should be made whether or not to write and send. Anytime omething is written down, the chance of it ending up in places other than where it was intended to go is reat...(just ask a former congressman from Florida)... Now i'm not saying that we shouldn't be sensitive to he matter currently in discussion, we should...but that's the reality of it

---

Posted by: Nuggie Oct 4 2006, 09:33 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 09:17 AM)
>
> Then Watchbird you are going to have to be disappointed. You did request that this letter not be published here, some request are honored some are not. That's the way it works. We are way too far into this saga to start protecting people. I find it ironic that you would make such a request since you have been very vocal in your opinion of others associated with this ministry. I suspect some of those individuals would rather not be discussed on BSDA either.
>
> Alyssa put this letter out there, that put it in play for discussion here or anywhere else. Maybe those of you who know Alyssa should let her know that she can't be so naïve to think that she can have any control over the media to which a communication is distributed or where it may end up...and Watchbird you are not that > naïve either.

ou're on point as always, Calvin...once this letter was put in circulation it became fair game for discussion nywhere. Whoever's counseling this young lady should have told her that. But now is not the time to pick nd choose what should be discussed...folks haven't exactly been circumspect in what they put out there-- ither directly or through insinuation.

'm kinda tired of the whole saga, really...think I'll just go back to lurk mode ☒ sn ...carry on...

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 09:40 AM

But the concern is that according to watchbird, Allyssa did not want this to become public but to be handled by the church leaders...if that is the case, she has been re-victimized by having this letter posted. And that IMHO is sin and wrong.

As an alleged victim she has the right to her dignity and part of re-gaining control and enpowerment is to be able to choose how, when, and where you share your experience. This would then further take away her power....bottom line it is about the VICTIM and not what outsiders feel is right.

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 4 2006, 09:23 AM) ☐
>
> I wonder if we sometimes deprive people of justice in the name of "protecting" them? Maybe the only person who is really protected by this "protectionism" is the potential "criminal"? An organisation that is presumably built on a foundation of truth has everything to win and nothing to lose from transparency and everything to lose and nothing to win from hiding embarasing things.
> This is all embarasing to the church that this has happened and for every step that is taken to push it under the radarscreen of the general public or hide it under the rug, it will be ten times as embarasing when the truth is finaly light up on the hilltop where all truth will eventually end.
> It is also my oppinion that those people who will be hurt by this revelation today will be twise as hurt tomorrow if the delay is intentionally caused by probably wellmeaning people. The proverbial paved road to hell...
>
> On the whole, I dont see what anyone with honest intentions could possibly gain by pushing things into the future...

Posted by: Denny Oct 4 2006, 09:47 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 04:40 PM) ☐
>
> But the concern is that according to watchbird, Allyssa did not want this to become public but to be handled by the church leaders...if that is the case, she has been re-victimized by having this letter posted. And that is sin and wrong.
>
> As an alleged victim she has the right to her dignity and part of re-gaining control and enpowerment is to be able to choose how, when, and where you share your experience. This would then further take away her power....bottom line it is about the VICTIM and not what outsiders feel is right.

f this is true I am sorry Ms Moore does not go to the police and report this . It is not the time to go into 'let he church handle it' mode unfortunately we all know what happens when that line is used it tends to mean cover it up time and blame the victim'.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 09:50 AM

This is one of the main reasons victims do not go forward with allegations....I do not presume to know what is true or false here, but if the allegation is true and the alleged victim asked for it to be forwarded only to church leaders and GC...

I would still want the church to be a part of it even if I went to the police....I don't see why it has to be an either or....

But she needed to press charges as a private citizen...

> QUOTE(Denny @ Oct 4 2006, 09:47 AM)
>
> If this is true I am sorry Ms Moore does not go to the police and report this . It is not the time to go into 'let the church handle it' mode unfortunately we all know what happens when that line is used it tends to mean 'cover it up time and blame the victim'.

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 09:52 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 10:50 AM)
>
> This is one of the main reasons victims do not go forward with allegations....I do not presume to know what is true or false here, but if the allegation is true and the alleged victim asked for it to be forwarded only to church leaders and GC...
>
> I would still want the church to be a part of it even if I went to the police....I don't see why it has to be an either or....
>
> But she needed to press charges as a private citizen...

asking the church to handle it is sort of like the fox guarding the hen house... something may or may not be done.... go to the police...

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 09:55 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 08:17 AM)
>
> Then Watchbird you are going to have to be disappointed. You did request that this letter not be published here, some request are honored some are not. That's the way it works. We are way too far into this saga to start protecting people. I find it ironic that you would make such a request since you have been very vocal in your opinion of others associated with this ministry. I suspect some of those individuals would rather not be discussed on BSDA either.
>
> Alyssa put this letter out there, that put it in play for discussion here or anywhere else. Maybe those of you who know Alyssa should let her know that she can't be so naïve to think that she can have any control over the media to which a communication is distributed or where it may end up...and Watchbird you are > not that naïve either.

ou are correct. I am not. And on second thoughts today, I am grateful for the time lag that has occurred, nd am satisfied that this is the appropriate time to have brought it out. I think the time lag has worked to veryone's advantage, including Alyssa.... as well as those of us who now are freed to explore the topic. The elay has given time to see what others would do with the information.... so we all have better perspectives rom which to comment than we did a couple months ago when it first came out.

o thank you for the delay.... and let's move along from here.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 09:56 AM

Says a man (with all do respect) that works out on a regular basis....being a victim is a different ballgame...especially a female one....You need that support from your church support system....

Better yet ask God what to do...and do whatever He says...if He says go straight to the police, go to the police....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 10:52 AM)
>
> asking the church to handle it is sort of like the fox guarding the hen house... something may or may not be done.... go to the police...

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:56 AM)
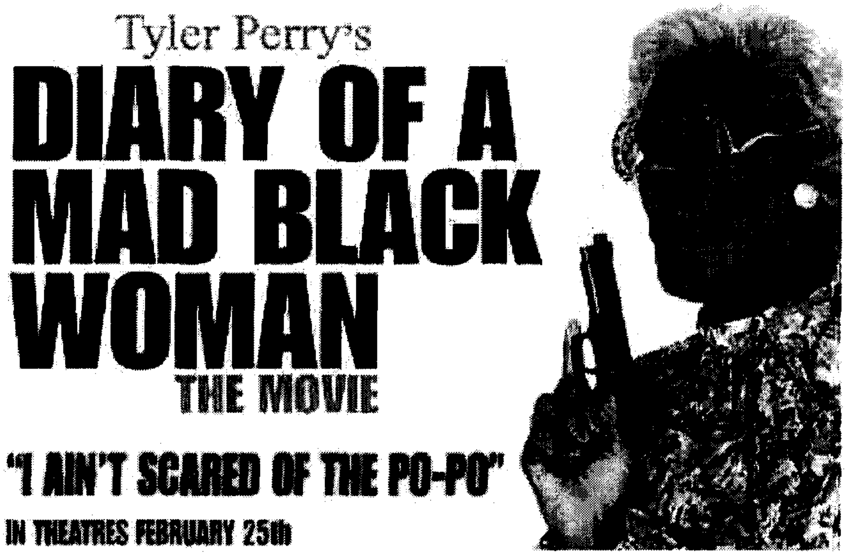
>
> Says a man (with all do respect) that works out on a regular basis....being a victim is a different ballgame...especially a female one....You need that support from your church support system....
>
> Better yet ask God what to do...and do whatever He says...if He says go straight to the police, go to the police....

ictims male or female want justice.... the church has a history of NOT being supportive, of telling victims OT to press charges.... as one who is in law enforcement as well as a an advocate for patient rights, I say o to the po po....



Posted by: Denny Oct 4 2006, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 04:56 PM)
>
> Says a man (with all do respect) that works out on a regular basis....being a victim is a different ballgame...especially a female one....You need that support from your church support system....
>
> Better yet ask God what to do...and do whatever He says...if He says go straight to the police, go to the police....

Does one really expect to get support from the perpretors employer that is what the church is in this case - a indirect employer so from the start church is not neutral. Using this as an example being a victim does not mean common sense goes out the window. But like you said Go to God first.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 10:05 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:40 AM)
>
> But the concern is that according to watchbird, Allyssa did not want this to become public but to be handled by the church leaders...if that is the case, she has been re-victimized by having this letter posted. And that IMHO is sin and wrong.
>
> As an alleged victim she has the right to her dignity and part of re-gaining control and enpowerment is to be able to choose how, when, and where you share your experience. This would then further take away her power....bottom line it is about the VICTIM and not what outsiders feel is right.

I think this last is why we tried to honor her requests to limit distribution as long as possible. I do not personally know if she has come to terms with the recognition that it could not stay in limited circulation for very long or not. I do know that she was amply warned at the time that this would be the case.... sooner or later, with as wide a circulation as she was allowing, someone would ignore the requests and throw it wide open.

I don't think that she has been "re-victimized" by the opening of this to the public now. She has had some time to know just how much the church leaders will do and what they will not do. They have been given their chance..... and they did not choose to act, at least not in a way that was visible and that plainly suspended the abuser.

Hopefully she will see this ... or come to see it shortly ... as freeing her to proceed with legal action against him.... something that is very hard for some segments of Adventism to accept as being right and proper.

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:50 AM)
>
> This is one of the main reasons victims do not go forward with allegations....I do not presume to know what is true or false here, but if the allegation is true and the alleged victim asked for it to be forwarded only to church leaders and GC...
>
> I would still want the church to be a part of it even if I went to the police....I don't see why it has to be an either or....
>
> But she needed to press charges as a private citizen...

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 10:17 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:56 AM)
>
> Says a man (with all do respect) that works out on a regular basis....being a victim is a different ballgame...especially a female one....You need that support from your church support system....
>
> Better yet ask God what to do...and do whatever He says...if He says go straight to the police, go to the police....

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 10:01 AM)
>
> victims male or female want justice.... the church has a history of NOT being supportive, of telling victims NOT to press charges.... as one who is in law enforcement as well as a an advocate for patient rights, I say go to the po po....

Agreed... but SS has a point also.... that there is support a victim needs that is personal and up-close and has little or nothing to do with the "support" that seeks for and administers justice.

I think the delay periods ... and there were two quite different ones ... the one from the time that she first told Barbara Kerr about it until the time she had gathered a private support system sufficiently strong to enable her to make the public statement.... and the second one from the time that went out to the present. I'm very sure that she added to her support system after the release of the statement. And while I'm not a professional in this area, I think that would be very important in strengthening her for the public and legal steps that she will need to face next.

One additional note to this is that the GC has, in the last few years.... not sure just when.... taken formal positions about what steps to take in cases like this.... and they DO include notifying the law enforcement agencies immediately upon the allegations....

Why haven't the Family Ministries personell been involved in any of the 3abn allegations? I wish I knew. Does anyone have any direct lines to any of them?

Posted by: Ralph Oct 4 2006, 10:19 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Oct 3 2006, 09:29 PM)
>
> She says, "I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others...."
>
> So, apparently -- on the face of it -- it is meant to be shared.

You are correct in saying, "on the face of it -- it is meant to be shared."
"Source" did not send the full text of the cover letter that "Watchbird" alluded to.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 3 2006, 09:45 PM)
>
> ... and it is a real violation of express instructions that were sent out with each copy of this letter where the permission to share was very specifically limited to "ministers and church leaders", and where it was expressly directed to NOT post it on any public forum.

With such a violation of trust, I can plainly see why others are reticent on speaking out.

Posted by: vonessa Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM

I read this last night, and woke up inspired (little "i") to say that if Source meant to be private, she wouldn't have given it to anybody and kept it secret. Like you said, she wouldn't have told nobody if she wanted to keep it off line. She has counted the cost of telling this so that the curse of the flesh that Danny Shelton has brought forward might be revealed before us. If information exists, it is speech freedom, and the Holy Spirit has been in this discussion all the way along as it has revealed all hidden secrets as people have been inspired to share.

We have been shown that Danny had other problems, such as admitting to being responsible for the death of his first wife, and others that have been demonstrated here before us. Now we must pray that the details will not remain in the shadows for long but that all might be made plain so that when the Lord withdraws his blessing from 3ABN, it will be clear as to why it was done. Those with information or ideas about what may have happened must come forward because we cannot expect the Lord's blessing without doing our part.

Calvin, may you be blessed for encouraging this necessary discussion to continue. And thank you Source for posting this. Without the Lord, this discussion would have ended months ago, but through His Spirit of discernment it will hold fast.

Posted by: awesumtenor Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 4 2006, 11:17 AM)
>
> Why haven't the Family Ministries personell been involved in any of the 3abn allegations? I wish I knew.

> Does anyone have any direct lines to any of them?

Vouldn't Kay Kuzma be a part of the church Family Ministries department or does she just play one for her :olumn in the Review?

f she is, I can see why there would be reluctance to put any confidence in them...

n His service,
Ar. J

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 10:32 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM) ☐
>
> Wouldn't Kay Kuzma be a part of the church Family Ministries department or does she just play one for her column in the Review?
>
> If she is, I can see why there would be reluctance to put any confidence in them...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

don't think so. I think she has her own "independent ministry" .... or business.... not sure what she calls it. nd must be under some contract with 3abn.... and she writes a colum for Adventist Review. Have no idea, eally as to what the GCFM folk think of her.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 10:48 AM

The recent case at Camp Wagner in Lake Region is an good example of support on all levels....the church was as progressive as the parents and supportive of what the families did as private citizens without excuse or cover-ups....

> QUOTE(Denny @ Oct 4 2006, 10:01 AM) ☐
>
> Does one really expect to get support from the perpretors employer that is what the church is in this case - a indirect employer so from the start church is not neutral. Using this as an example being a victim does not mean common sense goes out the window. But like you said Go to God first.

Posted by: TLC Oct 4 2006, 11:02 AM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM) ☐
>
> I read this last night, and woke up inspired (little "i") to say that if Source meant to be private, she wouldn't have given it to anybody and kept it secret. Like you said, she wouldn't have told nobody if she wanted to keep it off line. She has counted the cost of telling this so that the curse of the flesh that Danny Shelton has brought forward might be revealed before us. If information exists, it is speech freedom, and the Holy Spirit has been in this discussion all the way along as it has revealed all hidden secrets as people > have been inspired to share.

>
> We have been shown that Danny had other problems, such as admitting to being responsible for the death of his first wife, and others that have been demonstrated here before us. Now we must pray that the details will not remain in the shadows for long but that all might be made plain so that when the Lord withdraws his blessing from 3ABN, it will be clear as to why it was done. Those with information or ideas about what may have happened must come forward because we cannot expect the Lord's blessing without doing our part.
>
> Calvin, may you be blessed for encouraging this necessary discussion to continue. And thank you Source for posting this. Without the Lord, this discussion would have ended months ago, but through His Spirit of discernment it will hold fast.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 11:16 AM

I respectfully disagree with the "by any means necessary" perspective when it comes to people who are "alleged victims".

What God allows and God's Divine Will ARE NOT the same...

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 11:37 AM

Vonessa, your posts would be much more appreciated if you were a little more careful in your recital of information. It is difficult sometimes to know if you are exaggerating for effect, or are careless in your reading, or are deliberately making unwarrented claims and conclusions that will give new readers a wrong impression as to what has been said here.

Examples from your recent post ....

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM)
>
> I read this last night, and woke up inspired (little "i") to say that if Source meant to be private, she wouldn't have given it to anybody and kept it secret. Like you said, she wouldn't have told nobody if she wanted to keep it off line. She has counted the cost of telling this so that the curse of the flesh that Danny Shelton has brought forward might be revealed before us. If information exists, it is speech freedom, and the Holy Spirit has been in this discussion all the way along as it has revealed all hidden secrets as people have been inspired to share.

There is no indication that Source is the author of the statement he posted.

> QUOTE
>
> We have been shown that Danny had other problems, such as admitting to being responsible for the death of his first wife, and others that have been demonstrated here before us.

No.... we have NOT "been shown" any such thing. There have been some questions asked that indicated that some have had suspicions of that ... but there has been nothing "shown" ... and there was certainly never any speculation that Danny had admitted to any such responsibility.

> QUOTE
>
> Now we must pray that the details will not remain in the shadows for long but that all might be made plain so that when the Lord withdraws his blessing from 3ABN, it will be clear as to why it was done. Those with information or ideas about what may have happened must come forward because we cannot expect the > Lord's blessing without doing our part.

Ve would, I am sure, appreciate this paragraph much more had you not embedded it in untrue allegations as o what has been said here as you have done.

Posted by: paleface Oct 4 2006, 11:47 AM

Isn't "Source" a "m" meaning male?

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(paleface @ Oct 4 2006, 11:47 AM)
>
> Isn't "Source" a "m" meaning male?

.... Blush.... sorry. ...... And in a post where I wuz complaining about someone not reading carefully!

shall go edit it real quick!

hank you much .... if'n I gotta "eat crow" I'd shur druther it'd be fresh!

sn

Posted by: calvin Oct 4 2006, 12:36 PM

> QUOTE(vonessa @ Oct 4 2006, 10:28 AM)
>
> We have been shown that Danny had other problems, such as admitting to being responsible for the death of his first wife, and others that have been demonstrated here before us.

onessa you are finish here. I have said on a number of occasions that we are limiting our discussion of anny Shelton to as it relates to 3ABN. We are NOT going to speculate on his prior life. Vonessa you have een here long enough to know better....and I will continue putting people out if you can't follow this one imple guideline.

Posted by: calvin Oct 4 2006, 02:18 PM

Wha I do, scare eveybody off? I anit mad at jus

Posted by: västergötland Oct 4 2006, 02:42 PM

Simply, read this and ponder together with my last post in the thread.

1Pe 2:13 Be subject to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake: whether to the king, as supreme;
1Pe 2:14 or unto governors, as sent by him for vengeance on evil-doers and for praise to them that do well.
1Pe 2:15 For so is the will of God, that by well-doing ye should put to silence the ignorance of foolish men:
1Pe 2:16 as free, and not using your freedom for a cloak of wickedness, but as bondservants of God.
1Pe 2:17 Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.
1Pe 2:18 Servants, be in subjection to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward.
1Pe 2:19 For this is acceptable, if for conscience toward God a man endureth griefs, suffering wrongfully.

1Pe 2:20 For what glory is it, if, when ye sin, and are buffeted for it, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye shall take it patiently, this is acceptable with God.

Posted by: princessdi Oct 4 2006, 02:42 PM

You know how it is when one child gets a whooppin' the rest get quiet! LOL!!!

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 01:18 PM)
>
> Wha I do, scare eveybody off? I anit mad at jus

Posted by: Chez Oct 4 2006, 03:11 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Oct 4 2006, 03:42 PM)
>
> You know how it is when one child gets a whooppin' the rest get quiet! LOL!!!

I know that's real. We are making sure that we're behaving.

Posted by: Nuggie Oct 4 2006, 03:19 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Oct 4 2006, 02:42 PM)
>
> You know how it is when one child gets a whooppin' the rest get quiet! LOL!!!

Girl, that's for real...we stay out of sight for the rest of the night just in case there's some residual whooppin' or whooppin' by association!

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 4 2006, 03:26 PM

bot

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ Oct 4 2006, 04:19 PM)
>
> Girl, that's for real...we stay out of sight for the rest of the night just in case there's some residual whooppin' or whooppin' by association!

Posted by: seeshell Oct 4 2006, 03:30 PM

Oh yeah, remember that feeling when a sibling got whupped...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 03:33 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 09:01 AM)
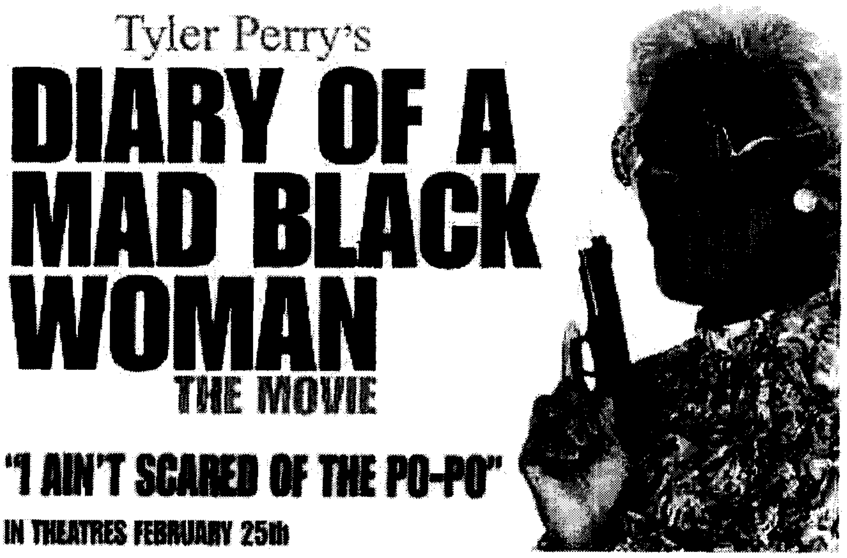
>
> victims male or female want justice.... the church has a history of NOT being supportive, of telling victims NOT to press charges.... as one who is in law enforcement as well as a an advocate for patient rights, I say go to the po po....



Many churches have counseled victims not to press charges. That has allowed the perps to find more victims. Not a good idea.

Posted by: Clay Oct 4 2006, 03:39 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 4 2006, 03:33 PM)
>
> Many churches have couseled victims not to press charges. That has allowed the perps to find more victims. Not a good idea.

thank you PB.... thats where I am coming from... churches want to keep it inhouse and the perp goes on.... in some cases continuing for years, harming who knows how many...

Posted by: västergötland Oct 4 2006, 03:41 PM

There is an old fable. It tells of a man with a tame bear. The man went to sleap and a while later a fly sat down on mans nose. Now this was a nice bear who loved his master and would not want him to be disturbed by a fly in his sleap. So the bear lifted his paw and smacked the fly, and unfortunately the mans head aswell. The man was never again disturbed by any flies, in fact, he was never disturbed at all after that.

From this fable we get a saying that would roughly translate to "bears service". Something which has all good intentions but with clearly opposite and probably catastrophic results. I do not know if this same or a similar saying exists in english or not.

Now to link this to the thread. How can we be sertain that this fable doesnt have anything to teach in this situation that is presently discussed in this thread?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 03:48 PM

> QUOTE(seeshell @ Oct 4 2006, 02:30 PM)
>
> Oh yeah, remember that feeling when a sibling got whupped...

In my family I, as the oldest, was the Whoopee. My younger siblings learned from my mistakes. They mostly turned out better than me as well...hmmmm.

Posted by: Jewel50 Oct 4 2006, 03:53 PM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Oct 4 2006, 07:47 AM)
>
> If this is true I am sorry Ms Moore does not go to the police and report this . It is not the time to go into 'let the church handle it' mode unfortunately we all know what happens when that line is used it tends to mean 'cover it up time and blame the victim'.

A thousand AMENS to the part about how the church tends to cover it all up and blame the victum. I can testify to that. She needs turn him in, but not to the church sorry to say. They just do nothing to help victums.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 03:58 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 4 2006, 02:41 PM)
>
> There is an old fable. It tells of a man with a tame bear. The man went to sleap and a while later a fly sat down on mans nose. Now this was a nice bear who loved his master and would not want him to be disturbed by a fly in his sleap. So the bear lifted his paw and smacked the fly, and unfortunately the mans head aswell. The man was never again disturbed by any flies, in fact, he was never disturbed at all after that.
>
> From this fable we get a saying that would roughly translate to "bears service". Something which has all good intentions but with clearly opposite and probably catastrophic results. I do not know if this same or a similar saying exists in english or not.
>
> Now to link this to the thread. How can we be sertain that this fable doesnt have anything to teach in this situation that is presently discussed in this thread?

Personally I can't think of of any U.S. sayings except for possibly "his intentions were good". It is my opinion that the "bears service" could apply here.

I would love to see the Swedish word or words that translates "bears service", and a phonetic pronunciation would be nice as well. It sounds like a term I would like to incorporate into my vocabulary.

Posted by: sister Oct 4 2006, 04:28 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 4 2006, 04:41 PM)
>
> There is an old fable. It tells of a man with a tame bear. The man went to sleap and a while later a fly sat down on mans nose. Now this was a nice bear who loved his master and would not want him to be disturbed by a fly in his sleap. So the bear lifted his paw and smacked the fly, and unfortunately the mans head aswell. The man was never again disturbed by any flies, in fact, he was never disturbed at all after that.
>
> From this fable we get a saying that would roughly translate to "bears service". Something which has all good intentions but with clearly opposite and probably catastrophic results. I do not know if this same or a similar saying exists in english or not.
>
> Now to link this to the thread. How can we be sertain that this fable doesnt have anything to teach in this situation that is presently discussed in this thread?

I think the english expression that would best fit this situation is: "The road to hell is paved with good intentions."

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 04:48 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 02:18 PM)

> Wha I do, scare eveybody off? I anit mad at jus ish .... for two hours nobody posted in this thread ... and you think you scared us all off? Hey ... don't we get IO time for a life off of your screen. Give us a break .... slave driver!!!!!

2n b whi

Ve'll be back soon....... tableta ..... band.gif .....

Posted by: princessdi Oct 4 2006, 04:53 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 4 2006, 03:48 PM)
>
> Jish .... for two hours nobody posted in this thread ... and you think you scared us all off? Hey ... don't we get NO time for a life off of your screen. Give us a break .... slave driver!!!!!
>
> 2n b whi
>
> We'll be back soon....... tableta ..... band.gif .....

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 04:59 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 4 2006, 03:41 PM)
>
> There is an old fable. It tells of a man with a tame bear. The man went to sleap and a while later a fly sat down on mans nose. Now this was a nice bear who loved his master and would not want him to be disturbed by a fly in his sleap. So the bear lifted his paw and smacked the fly, and unfortunately the mans head aswell. The man was never again disturbed by any flies, in fact, he was never disturbed at all after that.
>
> From this fable we get a saying that would roughly translate to "bears service". Something which has all good intentions but with clearly opposite and probably catastrophic results. I do not know if this same or a similar saying exists in english or not.
>
> Now to link this to the thread. How can we be sertain that this fable doesnt have anything to teach in this situation that is presently discussed in this thread?

K..... color me dense. I'm not getting the connection...maybe because I'm not sure what "situation that is presently discussed" means in this context.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 05:28 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 4 2006, 03:59 PM)
>
> OK..... color me dense. I'm not getting the connection...maybe because I'm not sure what "situation that is presently discussed" means in this context.

Perhaps that by trying to protect Alyssa from the trauma of confronting her attacker they are actually causing her damage in the long run. That's what I got anyway.

Posted by: AmeliaLD Oct 4 2006, 06:27 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 11:36 AM)
>
> I have said on a number of occasions that we are limiting our discussion of Danny Shelton as it relates to 3ABN. We are NOT going to speculate on his prior life.

How far in the past does a matter have to occur for it to be "prior life"? Just curious 'cause 6 years is a fair bit of time Or do you mean Dannys life before Linda?

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Oct 4 2006, 07:01 PM

I was wondering the same thing.

If the prior life is connected to the present life, then isn't it relevant?

As far as this topic goes, at MSDAOL, I as the Administrator there agreed not to post it there, and, even though it has now been posted here, unless I am relieved from this agreement, I do not plan on posting it there.

Posted by: sister Oct 4 2006, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Oct 4 2006, 08:01 PM)
>
> I was wondering the same thing.
>
> If the prior life is connected to the present life, then isn't it relevant?

The official rule at BSDA is that everything that took place before the founding of 3ABN is off limits, relevant or not...

Posted by: Uncle Sam Oct 4 2006, 07:27 PM

Not to defend the GC but...Don't you think it is a little suspicious to them that it is Linda's daughter making the accusations? If, they believe Linda had an affair than couldn't this be "revenge" ? So there may not be any credibility...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 4 2006, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Oct 4 2006, 03:42 PM) ☐
>
> You know how it is when one child gets a whooppin' the rest get quiet! LOL!!! ☒

There were a whole bunch in my family and a whole lotta silence!
☒ rofl

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 4 2006, 08:04 PM

I'm going to apologize now for making everyone thoroughly upset but it's my opinion...

For months this issue has been discussed and I can't count how any times people on the inside said something to the effect of how critical it was to get people on BSDA so that people would know what was happening at 3ABN. (Without specifics of course) Now, after this incredible statement is published (inevitably), "source" is smacked on the hands.

I would normally be the first to say that it would have been appropriate to follow instructions given by the victim. HOWEVER, this is too great and public of a matter to be dealt with quietly and within the confines of the church.

Time and time again history has proven that most organizations choose to keep their secrets secret. So, I'm really unsure as to why this being published is a bad thing. With this statement in the open, the public has something solid to stand on.

3ABN chose years ago to keep Scott Grady's secrets secret and he went on to unknowing victims. IF GIVEN THE CHANCE 3ABN WILL DO IT AGAIN! DOESN'T ANYONE SEE? By allowing the information out it FORCES the issue to be looked at differently, and I dare say, more seriously since the church and the "business" have much more to worry about.

HAVE WE ALL FORGOTTEN THAT IT IS US THAT FUNDS THESE ENTITIES?

Posted by: calvin Oct 4 2006, 08:23 PM

> QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Oct 4 2006, 06:27 PM) ☐
>
> How far in the past does a matter have to occur for it to be "prior life"? Just curious 'cause 6 years is a fair bit of time Or do you mean Dannys life before Linda?

Somebody help me here, but I believe 3abn started in the mid-80's? That gives us 20+ years of stuff to talk about. Danny started 3abn with Linda as his wife. Whatever happen with his frist wife is out of scope.

Posted by: sister Oct 4 2006, 08:38 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Oct 4 2006, 08:27 PM) ☐
>
> Not to defend the GC but...Don't you think it is a little suspicious to them that it is Linda's daughter making the accusations? If, they believe Linda had an affair than couldn't this be "revenge" ? So there may not be any credibility...

Uncle Sam, it sounds like to must have watched the "behind the scenes" program where Shelly Quinn preached on this very subject. In her sermon she accused the mother of using her daughter to make accusations against God's annointed prophet. She said they did not blame the daughter, that is was a scheme of the mother and the daughter was only a pawn in the game. It was clearly intended to give the spin you are now suggesting. Perhaps that is where you got this notion?

This is exactly what Danny Shelton and Walt Thompson want you to believe: everyone is a pathological liar who testifies of the heinous acts that Danny has done against them. The premise they have built their house of cards upon is that we are gullible enough to believe everyone is wrong who opposes Danny and that Danny's word is unquestionable truth. I would say LOL at this point, because it is such a ridiculous concept, but to the victims it really isn't very funny...

Posted by: Uncle Sam Oct 4 2006, 08:43 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Oct 4 2006, 07:38 PM) ☐
>
> Uncle Sam, it sounds like to must have watched the "behind the scenes" program where Shelly Quinn preached on this very subject. In her sermon she accused the mother of using her daughter to make accusations against God's annointed prophet. She said they did not blame the daughter, that is was a scheme of the mother and the daughter was only a pawn in the game. It was clearly intended to give the spin you are now suggesting. Perhaps that is where you got this notion?
>
> This is exactly what Danny Shelton and Walt Thompson want you to believe: everyone is a pathological liar who testifies of the heinous acts that Danny has done against them. The premise they have built their house of cards upon is that we are gullible enough to believe everyone is wrong who opposes Danny and that Danny's word is unquestionable truth. I would say LOL at this point, because it is such a ridiculous concept, but to the victims it really isn't very funny...

I did not see that particular show. I am not saying it didn't happen but it would be nice if someone would come forward with something that doesn't seem to have a grudge against Danny...is that something in the works?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 4 2006, 09:24 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Oct 4 2006, 09:43 PM) ☐
>
> it would be nice if someone would come forward with something that doesn't seem to have a grudge > against Danny...is that something in the works?

'm sorry, Uncle Sam, but that just doesn't make any sense.

Vould anyone be able to make any accusation without it looking like a grudge? If so, it would be a :ompliment and not an accusation...

Posted by: Lee Oct 4 2006, 09:30 PM

How old was this girl when these things happened to her? It sounded like she was "college" age? Would that be 18 or older? I don't know how old she was in 2000 when she said these things happened.

But would she be considered an adult at the time these things happened? Would this make a difference in a court of law?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 4 2006, 10:42 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Oct 4 2006, 07:04 PM)
>
> I'm going to apologize now for making everyone thoroughly upset but it's my opinion...
>
> For months this issue has been discussed and I can't count how any times people on the inside said something to the effect of how critical it was to get people on BSDA so that people would know what was happening at 3ABN. (Without specifics of course) Now, after this incredible statement is published (inevitably), "source" is smacked on the hands.
>
> I would normally be the first to say that it would have been appropriate to follow instructions given by the victim. HOWEVER, this is too great and public of a matter to be dealt with quietly and within the confines of the church.
>
> Time and time again history has proven that most organizations choose to keep their secrets secret. So, I'm really unsure as to why this being published is a bad thing. With this statement in the open, the public has something solid to stand on.
>
> 3ABN chose years ago to keep Scott Grady's secrets secret and he went on to unknowing victims. IF GIVEN THE CHANCE 3ABN WILL DO IT AGAIN! DOESN'T ANYONE SEE? By allowing the information out it FORCES the issue to be looked at differently, and I dare say, more seriously since the church and the "business" have much more to worry about.
>
> HAVE WE ALL FORGOTTEN THAT IT IS US THAT FUNDS THESE ENTITIES?

Vhen I read Source's post I noticed that he didn't make an introduction to the information he was posting as have seen when others have posted letters not their own - such as Barbara Kerr's and chapters of The 'elevangelist.

3eing fairly new I thought perhaps it was protocol to introduce and state whether permission had been given. didn't feel I was slapping his hand. I was glad to finally read the much spoken of letter.

Jow, who is Scott Grady and what did he do and who kept it secret and WHY?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 4 2006, 11:01 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 4 2006, 11:42 PM)
>
> Now, who is Scott Grady and what did he do and who kept it secret and WHY?

Boy are you in for a treat ... it's like hot fudge on top of this hot mess...

Scott Grady was a director who worked for 3ABN for quite a few years. Several women went to administration when Scott started sexually harassing them. Years later melody went to mollie saying that she was receiving calls from scott that were sexual in nature and had them recorded. (I should note that is speculated by many that it was actually an affair.) And to clear one thing - I was a first-hand witness to the harassent of 2 of the women and was willing to testify as were other men at the station - not counting the women. So whether scott and melody had an affair is secondary.

Once Dan heard what was happening, scott was suspended from the production truck and soon after even more women came out of the woodwork. Scott was NOT fired and there were no legal actions taken. With a dozen women's testimonies of the harassment, 3ABN felt that there were "no legal options."

He was allowed to resign and continues to work in ministries around the world. Nothing was done nor was there even a "kiss my rear end" for the women who were abused. Not a meeting, not a letter, nothing.

Scott's reputation is in tact as far as I know...that's 3ABN justice!

Posted by: västergötland Oct 4 2006, 11:48 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 4 2006, 11:59 PM)
>
> OK..... color me dense. I'm not getting the connection...maybe because I'm not sure what "situation that is presently discussed" means in this context.

Who is the man getting smacked by his bear pal? Who is the bear doing the smacking? Come on, the context is in my other posts in this thread.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 5 2006, 03:55 AM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 4 2006, 11:48 PM)
>
> Who is the man getting smacked by his bear pal? Who is the bear doing the smacking? Come on, the context is in my other posts in this thread.

Those were my questions exactly. And I've examined your other posts.... and I still don't know. Maybe you could PM me on it.

Posted by: västergötland Oct 5 2006, 05:05 AM

What if Alyssa is the bearowner? Who around is trying to help? What do I think about the actions so far presented?

If a crime has been done, it should be brought before a judge (and since in US, also a Jury). If a crime has not been done, alot of people in this forum have some explaining to do.

If a crime has been done and you bring it before the church rather than the court of law, watch out for those bear paws flying around.

Posted by: summertime Oct 5 2006, 08:25 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Oct 4 2006, 07:01 PM)
>
> I was wondering the same thing.
>
> If the prior life is connected to the present life, then isn't it relevant?
>
> As far as this topic goes, at MSDAOL, I as the Administrator there agreed not to post it there, and, even though it has now been posted here, unless I am relieved from this agreement, I do not plan on posting it there.

Daryl, in all sincerity I wish that you would give us the reason that you have decided not to post Alyssia's letter on MSDOL. Is it that you do not believe the authenticity of the letter, or that you are protecting 3ABN from it being posted, or since you have already read it on BSDA you feel that you are relieved of the responsibility of it being posted so that all can read it, or that the SDA conference should be left to cover up the wrongs of its leaders so that it can remain strong in the eyes of the beholder?. Would it have been better if Alyssia would have taken her story to the courts way back in the year 2000? I feel that she will take the beating so that the perp can remain strong.

Posted by: justme Oct 5 2006, 08:31 AM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 5 2006, 07:05 AM)
>
> What if Alyssa is the bearowner? Who around is trying to help? What do I think about the actions so far presented?
>
> If a crime has been done, it should be brought before a judge (and since in US, also a Jury). If a crime has not been done, alot of people in this forum have some explaining to do.
>
> If a crime has been done and you bring it before the church rather than the court of law, watch out for those bear paws flying around.

Some 20 years or so ago when the actions allegedly took place that raise questions about Tommy, there was not nearly the "outcry" that there is today. So there are more chances of justice for earlier victims now than there was then. For one thing there is more outrage in general than there used to be. And there are more and better investigative techniques available now. Convictions are more prevalent. Sentences are longer and more appropriate. National sex-offender registration and reporting is taking place and tracking is improving.

It occurs to me that the way a law is written will determine whether a crime has been committed or not. In most states it seems that a person must be under "the age of consent" for a crime to have been committed. If the victim is OF the "age of consent" ("AOC" for now) then it depends on if there was or was not consent. If the victim has not been reached AOC then it mat called "a statutory crime", or "crimes against children".

I wonder what age Alyssa was at the time the allegations took place. When I say "allegations" I do NOT mean to MINIMIZE anything! It's a term I HAVE TO USE at this time.

When all is said and done with this fiasco, I do hope we all learn to become more aware of questions we should be asking before we "start plopping down our hard-earned dollars" or "put people up on pedestals" just because they might happen to have a "silver tongue", or because they have cute grandchildren. Who said, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure"? (so far it's taking a lot of pounding to try to cure)

Can we also explore / discuss some ways to become "Wise as serpents but harmless as doves"?

Posted by: Observer Oct 5 2006, 08:39 AM

Alyssia was 18, or over, and therefore had reached the age of consent.

The alleged offense was therefore not a crime against a minor. It might fall into the catagory of a crime of sexual assult.

Posted by: Observer Oct 5 2006, 08:50 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Oct 5 2006, 08:25 AM) ☐
>
> Daryl, in all sincerity I wish that you would give us the reason that you have decided not to post Alyssia's letter on MSDOL. Is it that you do not believe the authenticity of the letter, or that you are protecting 3ABN from it being posted, or since you have already read it on BSDA you feel that you are relieved of the responsibility of it being posted so that all can read it, or that the SDA conference should be left to cover up the wrongs of its leaders so that it can remain strong in the eyes of the beholder?. Would it have been better if Alyssia would have taken her story to the courts way back in the year 2000? I feel that she will take the beating so that the perp can remain strong.

In the area where I live, the media has generally agreed not to publish the names of claimed victims of sexual assult, unless that person either releases the media, or goes public.

That is the rationale behind Daryl not publishing Alyssia's statement.

Alyssia clearly stated that she was providing her statement to denominmational officials, did not want it published on the Internet, and did not want her name disclosed on the Internet. She also stated that everyperson who recieved her statemet must also be given her limitations on disclosure.

Someone, I do not know who, provided Alyssia's statement to another person without the limitations on disclosure. That person promptly posted both the statement, and the name, in MSDAOL.

When the person was taken to task for violating Alyssia's limitations, he promptly requested that the statement be removed. Due to the fact that Alyssia has never given permission for the wide-spread circulaltion that her statement has recieved, Daryl has not allowed it to be posted.

That position is an honorable one.

Yes, Alyssia should have known that someone would eventually leak it. But, it did stay secret for a period of time.

Yes, that statement has been circulated so widely that there may no longer be any reason to keep it secret. Perhaps it is now ethical to publish it due to its wide circulation.

But, people differ on ethical issues. Daryl has taken an ethical stand. That does not mean that BSDA is unethical for doing differently. People differ as to how they apply ethics to life.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 5 2006, 08:58 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Oct 5 2006, 08:25 AM)
>
> Daryl, in all sincerity I wish that you would give us the reason that you have decided not to post Alyssia's letter on MSDOL. Is it that you do not believe the authenticity of the letter, or that you are protecting 3ABN from it being posted, or since you have already read it on BSDA you feel that you are relieved of the responsibility of it being posted so that all can read it, or that the SDA conference should be left to cover up the wrongs of its leaders so that it can remain strong in the eyes of the beholder?. Would it have been better if Alyssia would have taken her story to the courts way back in the year 2000? I feel that she will take the beating so that the perp can remain strong.

He already gave it, Summertime. Daryl committed to keeping her name off of his forum in accordance with her written instructions. And whatever other faults Daryl has, he is a man of his word. If he receives different written instructions, I am sure he will bring it to his forum. (And don't think this is a backhanded slap at Calvin, either. Calvin made no such committment, so he was free to adhere to the request as long as he thought best, and to make a different judgement call when he thought best.)

IMO, it does no one any good to make hindsight comments on what Alyssa should have done back in the year 2000. It is quite obvious that she was not strong enough at that point to even confide fully in enuogh people to form a support base from which she might have been able to press charges. And with her limited financial resources, what would have been the chances of her winning such a case had she done so? With the battalion of lawyers that Danny's supporters could have mustered? Absolutely worse that zero! Certainly had she done so there, she would have merely "taken a beating" and the "perp" would have remained strong.

The Lord's timing is best. Let us concentrate on becoming part of Alyssa's support group rather than adding our criticism to the burden she already has to carry.

And beyond becoming "just" a "support group", I think it would be helpful for us to do some analysis of the factors which cause the sense of powerlessness to resist which all those who grow up in a home where a family member .... especially a father or father figure.... moves beyond appropriate bounds in showing physical "affection". Where are our counselors who are dealing with this almost every day in their work? Can we hear from some of them in this area?

> QUOTE(Observer @ Oct 5 2006, 08:39 AM)
>
> Alyssia was 18, or over, and therefore had reached the age of consent.
>
> The alleged offense was therefore not a crime against a minor. It might fall into the catagory of a crime of sexual assult.

It is hardly conceivable that the allegations that cover the 2000 time period were the first that could have been made. Alyssa is still growing in her capacity to handle the past.... and perhaps even now she does not fully recognize or understand the steps that were taken before that fateful summer that she identifies. Let's keep in mind that we are not judges. Nor are we her counselors. But given those caveates, it is still important for us to learn the dynamics that lead up to situations like this ... not merely to help Alyssa recognize them..... doubtless her counselors are doing that. But for the benefit of mothers who need help in recognizing the signs that their girls are at risk.... and for other women who are still struggling with memories and shame.... discussing the dynamics of these homes can, I think, be of real benefit.

Posted by: Observer Oct 5 2006, 09:12 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 5 2006, 07:58 AM)
>
> He already gave it, Summertime. Daryl committed to keeping her name off of his forum in accordance with her written instructions. And whatever other faults Daryl has, he is a man of his word. If he receives different written instructions, I am sure he will bring it to his forum. (And don't think this is a backhanded slap at Calvin, either. Calvin made no such committment, so he was free to adhere to the request as long as he thought best, and to make a different judgement call when he thought best.)
>
> IMO, it does no one any good to make hindsight comments on what Alyssa should have done back in the year 2000. It is quite obvious that she was not strong enough at that point to even confide fully in enuogh people to form a support base from which she might have been able to press charges. And with her limited financial resources, what would have been the chances of her winning such a case had she done so? With the battalion of lawyers that Danny's supporters could have mustered? Absolutely worse that zero! Certainly had she done so there, she would have merely "taken a beating" and the "perp" would have remained strong.
>
> The Lord's timing is best. Let us concentrate on becoming part of Alyssa's support group rather than adding our criticism to the burden she already has to carry.
>
> And beyond becoming "just" a "support group", I think it would be helpful for us to do some analysis of the factors which cause the sense of powerlessness to resist which all those who grow up in a home where a family member .... especially a father or father figure.... moves beyond appropriate bounds in showing physical "affection". Where are our counselors who are dealing with this almost every day in their work? Can we hear from some of them in this area?
> It is hardly conceivable that the allegations that cover the 2000 time period were the first that could have been made. Alyssa is still growing in her capacity to handle the past.... and perhaps even now she does not fully recognize or understand the steps that were taken before that fateful summer that she identifies. Let's keep in mind that we are not judges. Nor are we her counselors. But given those caveates, it is still important for us to learn the dynamics that lead up to situations like this ... not merely to help Alyssa recognize them..... doubtless her counselors are doing that. But for the benefit of mothers who need help in recognizing the signs that their girls are at risk.... and for other women who are still struggling with memories and shame.... discussing the dynamics of these homes can, I think, be of real benefit.

I understand. My comment regarding her age, was specific to the events she described in her statement.

Yes, there may be more.

Posted by: Chez Oct 5 2006, 10:04 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 5 2006, 08:58 AM)
>
> He already gave it, Summertime. Daryl committed to keeping her name off of his forum in accordance with her written instructions. And whatever other faults Daryl has, he is a man of his word. If he receives different written instructions, I am sure he will bring it to his forum. (And don't think this is a backhanded slap at Calvin, either. Calvin made no such committment, so he was free to adhere to the request as long as he thought best, and to make a different judgement call when he thought best.)

> IMO, it does no one any good to make hindsight comments on what Alyssa should have done back in the year 2000. It is quite obvious that she was not strong enough at that point to even confide fully in enuogh people to form a support base from which she might have been able to press charges. And with her limited financial resources, what would have been the chances of her winning such a case had she done so? With the battalion of lawyers that Danny's supporters could have mustered? Absolutely worse that zero! Certainly had she done so there, she would have merely "taken a beating" and the "perp" would have remained strong.
>
> The Lord's timing is best. Let us concentrate on becoming part of Alyssa's support group rather than adding our criticism to the burden she already has to carry.
>
> And beyond becoming "just" a "support group", I think it would be helpful for us to do some analysis of the factors which cause the sense of powerlessness to resist which all those who grow up in a home where a family member .... especially a father or father figure.... moves beyond appropriate bounds in showing physical "affection". Where are our counselors who are dealing with this almost every day in their work? Can we hear from some of them in this area?
> It is hardly conceivable that the allegations that cover the 2000 time period were the first that could have been made. Alyssa is still growing in her capacity to handle the past.... and perhaps even now she does not fully recognize or understand the steps that were taken before that fateful summer that she identifies. Let's keep in mind that we are not judges. Nor are we her counselors. But given those caveates, it is still important for us to learn the dynamics that lead up to situations like this ... not merely to help Alyssa recognize them..... doubtless her counselors are doing that. But for the benefit of mothers who need help in recognizing the signs that their girls are at risk.... and for other women who are still struggling with memories and shame.... discussing the dynamics of these homes can, I think, be of real benefit.

had often wondered about Alyssa. How was it for her living in the house with Danny? Now, we know. The lace where she should have felt safe was far from safe. She couldn't tell anybody about what Danny was loing to her, not even her mother. I applaud her bravery in sharing this information (even if it should have een restricted to a small group of people). We must pray for her continued healing and for Linda and lathan.

Posted by: inga Oct 5 2006, 10:36 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 4 2006, 08:41 AM) ☐
>
> she does not need to meet with 3ABN.... she alleges inappropriate behavior, file criminal charges and let the chips fall where they may.....

es!!!!!

f Alyssa were the only one to have experienced inappropriate advances by Danny, it would be more difficult. ut if she can secure the cooperation of others, there is some reason to expect success in a lawsuit.

t is true that "brethren" are not to go to law against each other. However, the biblical precedent is clear that, f all the allegations are true, Danny should long ago have been disfellowshipped for his sexual misconduct nd would therefore no longer be a "brother in the church."

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Oct 4 2006, 09:02 AM) ☐
>
> I agree 100%....no "alleged sexual abuse victim" should ever have to face an alleged perpetrator in this context....that would do nothing but re-traumatize the victim....

Indeed!!!

For 3ABN to even request such a "hearing" is to attempt to intimidate her and thus re-abuse her.

Posted by: Ralph Oct 5 2006, 11:08 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Oct 4 2006, 08:38 PM) ☐
>
> Uncle Sam, it sounds like to must have watched the "behind the scenes" program where Shelly Quinn preached on this very subject. In her sermon she accused the mother of using her daughter to make accusations against God's annointed prophet. She said they did not blame the daughter, that is was a scheme of the mother and the daughter was only a pawn in the game. It was clearly intended to give the spin you are now suggesting. Perhaps that is where you got this notion?
>
> This is exactly what Danny Shelton and Walt Thompson want you to believe: everyone is a pathological liar who testifies of the heinous acts that Danny has done against them. The premise they have built their house of cards upon is that we are gullible enough to believe everyone is wrong who opposes Danny and that Danny's word is unquestionable truth. I would say LOL at this point, because it is such a ridiculous concept, but to the victims it really isn't very funny...

Right on, Sister. Now that we have seen the post regarding Linda's daughter, new comers may wish to review the transcript of the sermons by John Lomacang and Shelley Quinn that I mentioned in a http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10717&view=findpost&p=150828. I talked to some people who had watched the program who did not know the background. Even they knew that there was something wrong, but I have a hunch that most of them did not catch on to Shelley's introductory story about John the Baptist.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Oct 5 2006, 11:44 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Oct 5 2006, 10:08 AM) ☐
>
> Right on, Sister. Now that we have seen the post regarding Linda's daughter, new comers may wish to review the transcript of the sermons by John Lomacang and Shelley Quinn that I mentioned in a http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10717&view=findpost&p=150828. I talked to some people who had watched the program who did not know the background. Even they knew that there was something wrong, but I have a hunch that most of them did not catch on to Shelley's introductory story about John the Baptist.

I have read what Shelly and John said on that particular show. I think it was disgusting, but once again we have she said he said. I am sure Danny will deny this...are there others that will come forward?

Posted by: watchbird Oct 6 2006, 09:38 AM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Oct 5 2006, 05:05 AM) ☐
>
> What if Alyssa is the bearowner? Who around is trying to help? What do I think about the actions so far presented?
>
> If a crime has been done, it should be brought before a judge (and since in US, also a Jury). If a crime has > not been done, alot of people in this forum have some explaining to do.

>
> If a crime has been done and you bring it before the church rather than the court of law, watch out for those bear paws flying around.

hanks.... I think I've "got it" this time around.... and I think I am in total agreement.

here is, no doubt, situations in which "bear paws" are the instrument/tool of choice .... but NOT, I think, for ither doing facial surgery or healing wounds to the psyche.

o yes, I agree..... we need to be very careful to "watch out" for anything that looks like "bear claws" and not llow ourselves to be unthinkingly drawn into support of that type of "help".

Posted by: icedragon Oct 8 2006, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(source @ Oct 3 2006, 11:03 PM)
>
> July 7, 2006
> This is a formal statement which is long overdue. I did not disclose this information when the events occurred because I did not want to hurt my mother. I did not want to cause trouble with 3 ABN, and I was too embarrassed to talk about it. Now that some time has passed and circumstances have changed I feel the need to share this information. I want to spare others from being exposed to the same treatment that I have experienced.
>
> 1) The repeated inappropriate actions from my ex-stepfather, Danny Shelton, occurred in the summer of the year 2000.
>
> 2) I had been away at school for some years. I was happy to be returning home to attend a local University.
>
> 3) My mother always went to bed rather early. Her bedroom was upstairs and my bedroom was downstairs. Danny started coming into my room getting into my bed and rubbing my back. He seemed to "accidentally" get too low. I told him I did not want a back rub. He ignored me. This happened repeatedly.
>
> 4) I began locking my bedroom door every night. Sometimes he would come to the door and knock again and again. I did not answer. He then repeatedly unlocked my bedroom door and > came into my room. He would then get into my bed. I was not comfortable with this but I was so tired I still fell asleep. I awoke sometimes with his hands in inappropriate places. He would say "Oh, I'm sorry. I thought it was your Mom." He told me not to tell my Mom. I told him to stay out of my room. He still came. I started sleep on the living room couch so that he could not lie beside me.
>
> 5) I felt threatened and very uncomfortable with these things, so I made arrangements to move out.
>
> Signed,
>
> ____________________
> Alyssa Moore (daughter of Linda Shelton)

s this real??

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Oct 8 2006, 03:02 PM

Yes, it is real, as I have a signed copy, however, I received it on condition that I wouldn't post it on any forum, which I honoured and never did, and until given permission to do so, will not post it over at MSDAOL, or allow it to be posted there by anybody else.

I am still disappointed it has been posted here.

Posted by: Clay Oct 8 2006, 03:02 PM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Oct 8 2006, 03:55 PM)
>
> Is this real??

yes.... I have seen the emailed copy with her signature..... while that doesn't prove anything, she has not come forward to say its not real.....

Posted by: sonshineonme Oct 8 2006, 03:27 PM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Oct 8 2006, 01:55 PM)
>
> Is this real??

Yes, it is real, I also have a signed copy. It was not for public distribution. It was difficult enough to put it in writing as that means you are not keeping it a secret anymore - there are many emotions that go with stating it on paper - it moves from your mind (the experience itself which you have keep to yourself for obvious reasons) to actually being told, although on paper. When one makes that step, they hope to keep it still somewhat out of the public forum because of just what can happen by just anyones eyes - "it must be to get back at someone" or any of the other reasons people will determine other then accepting it for the plain truth that it is. Unless you have been through it yourself, I suppose you can not understand what it takes to actually "tell" on someone.

Posted by: Clay Oct 8 2006, 03:31 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Oct 8 2006, 03:02 PM)
>
> Yes, it is real, as I have a signed copy, however, I received it on condition that I wouldn't post it on any forum, which I honoured and never did, and until given permission to do so, will not post it over at MSDAOL, or allow it to be posted there by anybody else.
>
> I am still disappointed it has been posted here.

whateva Daryl... I don't know why... people want evidence and then refuse to provide it, choosing instead to hint at it, never directly stating what it is.... that gets old....

How do you know permission wasnt given? Additionally as I said before if something is gonna be done, those who can do will either have to tinkle or get off the potty.....

Posted by: sonshineonme Oct 8 2006, 03:42 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 8 2006, 02:31 PM) ☐
>
> whateva Daryl... I don't know why... people want evidence and then refuse to provide it, choosing instead to hint at it, never directly stating what it is.... that gets old....
>
> How do you know permission wasnt given? Additionally as I said before if something is gonna be done, those who can do will either have to tinkle or get off the potty.....

I'm not Daryl, but I do know that permission WAS NOT given.
It is not good to "hint" at things if it comes across as "nanny nanny boo-boo", and if that happened, that is too bad. The sad fact is that those given the letter/statement, and that's all the way to the top, knew that it was not for public distribution, and apparently did it anyway.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 8 2006, 04:25 PM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Oct 8 2006, 02:55 PM) ☐
>
> Is this real??

Yes, it is real. After it went out to the first wave of highly placed GC administrators and other key figures.... some of them became very proactive in sending it on to others in the permitted classifications of recipients and distribution methods.... so it has indeed had a wide distribution. However, whether or not that fact makes it technically in "the public domain", it is still a fact of equal or greater importance that it was a breach of Christian courtesy and committment to a hurting woman for someone to expose her to a wider audience than what she had stipulated as being the extent of her willingness to be so exposed.

But.... is this not the inevitable result, as Clay indicated, of the clammoring of those who will not accept a narrative account of anything but insist instead on "documented proof" from the abused person's own lips.... and then when even that is given, will not be satisfied with the word of others that they have seen the document, but insist on reading every bloodstained word themselves?

Doesn't scripture specify that the statement of a witness.... when confirmed by two or three others.... is sufficient evidence? Why is that not sufficient for readers of these forums? I have no idea who the person is who posted the document here.... but I am quite sure that had there not been the continual hue and cry for "Documentation.... documentation.... and more documentation!" that the person who posted this would not have so unthinkingly .... and unkindly..... exposed this dear bleeding sister in ways that she had expressly requested that she not be exposed.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Oct 8 2006, 06:49 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 8 2006, 03:25 PM) ☐
>
> Doesn't scripture specify that the statement of a witness.... when confirmed by two or three others.... is sufficient evidence? Why is that not sufficient for readers of these forums? I have no idea who the person is who posted the document here.... but I am quite sure that had there not been the continual hue and cry for "Documentation.... documentation.... and more documentation!" that the person > who posted this would not have so unthinkingly .... and unkindly..... exposed this dear bleeding sister in ways that she had expressly requested that she not be exposed.

'd appreciate knowing what scripture you are refering to here so I can study it.

Posted by: calvin Oct 8 2006, 07:46 PM

Daryl, Sonshineonme, Watchbird and anyone dissappointed that this letter is posted here, you will get over it.

Posted by: September Oct 8 2006, 08:19 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 8 2006, 08:46 PM)
>
> Daryl, Sonshineonme, Watchbird and anyone dissappointed that this letter is posted here, you will get over it.

Vow...

Posted by: sonshineonme Oct 8 2006, 08:30 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 8 2006, 06:46 PM)
>
> Daryl, Sonshineonme, Watchbird and anyone dissappointed that this letter is posted here, you will get over it.

o me it's not a matter of getting over it. I have accepted it being here. I am dissapointed that permission vas not given for it to be here and it was posted here anyway. That is the part that dissapoints me. It really ias nothing to do with whether it is here or not. I am specifically referring to someones request (Alyssa), iaive though it could be called, it was still what she asked. Why was that not respected? Does it matter what he "rest" of the people do? That is my only issue. The argument that others have been discussed does not fly vith me because these are different circumstances. Someone was violated, they put it in writing to a select jroup for specific reasons, and specifically asked it not be put in other places (such as a forum or on the nternet). I felt from the beginning that it would not remain that way, that someone would go against her vishes and "share" it with someone. I was just hoping we would follow her request here. If we could have re-isked her about it now, given some time has passed since she released it, maybe she would (or maybe not) iave agreed. But, I have not been told she was asked. So Calvin, while I appreciate all you do here, I would iave liked to see it handled differently - it may be good thinkg in theory that it is out there, but to me, it vasn't my call to make even though I have had the letter myself since she first wrote it.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 8 2006, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 8 2006, 07:46 PM)

> Daryl, Sonshineonme, Watchbird and anyone dissappointed that this letter is posted here, you will get over it.

:alvin, I already said I was "over it" and was moving on to whatever discussion was best now. My current esponse was not a further comment on what you had done, but as response to a question that was asked, ınd on what I believe is the thing that must have driven the person who asked you for permission to put it on. And my "pet peeve" in this is, as I said, the never satisfied cries for "documentation" (which, IMO, btw, ıre not nearly so prevelant and stonewalling here on BSDA as they are on Maritime) who call every bit of nformation "gossip" and even if documentation is provided it is only called "he says.... she says".

3ut again, I repeat.... I have accepted that you gave permission, that the thread is here to stay, and now that t is here that it will be discussed. What I am looking for is what to say in that discussion which will be the best for all concerned.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Oct 8 2006, 09:31 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 8 2006, 09:05 PM)
>
> Calvin, I already said I was "over it" and was moving on to whatever discussion was best now. My current response was not a further comment on what you had done, but as response to a question that was asked, and on what I believe is the thing that must have driven the person who asked you for permission to put it on. And my "pet peeve" in this is, as I said, the never satisfied cries for "documentation" (which, IMO, btw, are not nearly so prevelant and stonewalling here on BSDA as they are on Maritime) who call every bit of information "gossip" and even if documentation is provided it is only called "he says.... she says".
>
> But again, I repeat.... I have accepted that you gave permission, that the thread is here to stay, and now that it is here that it will be discussed. What I am looking for is what to say in that discussion which will be the best for all concerned.

3ince the letter is out I'll just comment on the way things are at the moment.

.et me put the "cynic hat" on for just a moment.

3eing increasingly cynical, I believe that giving the letter to General Conference personnel was the equivalent o putting the letter in a paper shredder.

really don't see the GC making the any momentous decisions in October if they've already been sitting on he letter for two months. They're completely done with the letter and they'll soon be out buying their :hristmas presents.

'he option of approved distribution routes may have been a good decision at the time, but it may have failed ollowing a certain "3ABN sponsor's" visit to the General Conference. We're told such a person was at the GC, ınd I doubt he left the building without getting his way.

\s a result of the sponsor running interference, this is the only place any decision makers (constituents and lonors) are ever going to see the letter. And, maybe, that's the best we can do for now. I have to believe hat there is some reason for it being here since I believe a Higher Power is ultimately in control.

:ynic hat is now back off.

Posted by: Fran Oct 9 2006, 12:07 AM

I have been thinking about what has transpired and believe there is so much more that we can't see that this letter was meant to be posted. It has started the ball rolling, so to speak.

Much of the garbage is coming out for the public to see. This letter has further affected the donations to 3ABN. This seriously needs to be done. If this goes to court, all evidence has to be brought up in discovery anyway.

Many knew of this years ago and could do nothing about it. Before this was all said and done, the story was going to get out. There are other involved, but have not had their letters published. In time they will be. We will have confirmation of the Shelton family's characteristics. They are not Christ like.

Since some accusations go way back, I assume the power of God was not grasped by them to allow God to deliver them from these habits of sin. It was their choice. Even at this late date, they still deny the facts presented.

But, think about it realistically and holistically. What is still under the rug? Much good is coming out of this investigation. There will be things come out that will put me/us to shame. Things that have nothing to do with this letter.

There are so many facets to the mess at 3ABN. Each one must be treated individually and not all as one. Problems of one kind must be addresses with problems of the same kind. Linda's daughter does not stand alone by any means.

Allysa, Hold your head high, honey. These actions you mention are wrong. Now that it is said, you are free from him. He can no longer have a hold on you again. Sometimes it helps to call this Danny person by a different name. Maybe Daniel. That really helps, believe it or not. When you speak of him, say the new name. It helps forgiveness to flow easier and you can experience a true release. Nothing will ever change these facts, they do fade, but the memories of your feelings and maybe even rage will be right there every time you hear of, or see abuse in any form.

Now, think about this "case". It does not begin or end with sexual abuse.

There are "serious" financial problems. These must be handled alone.

Employee problems are another mess.

Then we see they are breaking the very constitution of our country. The Declaration of Independence gives each person the right to the pursuit of happiness. 3ABN has not done this. They have interfered with many individuals right to pursue their happiness.

Many of the abused have no idea they have been abused. This is one I cry about. Many individuals will find they have had their right to the pursuit of happiness circumvented. When we hear, I/we will be hurt again, and so will they.

Then there are the outside problems. Who allowed this mess to happen? Who would be considered a shareholders of 3ABN? Who closed their eyes to the wrong doing and turned their backs to allow it to continue? This takes this case away from 3ABN and into the laps of others, and maybe even certain individuals, and other independent ministries.

The Thompsonville church is about to feel some REAL pain. So will the IL Conference, Union. NAD and GC.

From this letter, the line branches out and up like a genealogical tree. We may have to change the name of these threads to, "Ready, or not, here I come!"

Think about it. This is no longer just a Danny problem. The house of God needs to be cleaned up before Jesus comes. Something must be done to STOP this from happening again. May God help us as we watch this explode.

Posted by: Clay Oct 9 2006, 12:26 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Oct 8 2006, 09:31 PM)
>
> Since the letter is out I'll just comment on the way things are at the moment.
>
> Let me put the "cynic hat" on for just a moment.
>
> Being increasingly cynical, I believe that giving the letter to General Conference personnel was the equivalent to putting the letter in a paper shredder.
>
> I really don't see the GC making the any momentous decisions in October if they've already been sitting on the letter for two months. They're completely done with the letter and they'll soon be out buying their Christmas presents.
>
> The option of approved distribution routes may have been a good decision at the time, but it may have failed following a certain "3ABN sponsor's" visit to the General Conference. We're told such a person was at the GC, and I doubt he left the building without getting his way.
>
> As a result of the sponsor running interference, this is the only place any decision makers (constituents and donors) are ever going to see the letter. And, maybe, that's the best we can do for now. I have to believe that there is some reason for it being here since I believe a Higher Power is ultimately in control.
>
> Cynic hat is now back off.

good points Pete.... as I stated before, rarely do churches want to deal with issues like this, and usually counsel victims not to press charges.... it was naive to think that by making a statement and sending it only to church leaders that something would be done..... if its true, she should press charges and let the chips fall where they may...

Posted by: watchbird Oct 9 2006, 05:02 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Oct 8 2006, 04:25 PM)
>
> But.... is this not the inevitable result, as Clay indicated, of the clammoring of those who will not accept a narrative account of anything but insist instead on "documented proof" from the abused person's own lips.... and then when even that is given, will not be satisfied with the word of others that they have seen the document, but insist on reading every bloodstained word themselves?
>
> Doesn't scripture specify that the statement of a witness.... when confirmed by two or three others.... is sufficient evidence? Why is that not sufficient for readers of these forums? I have no idea who the person is who posted the document here.... but I am quite sure that had there not been the continual hue and cry for "Documentation.... documentation.... and more documentation!" that the person who posted this would not have so unthinkingly .... and unkindly..... exposed this dear bleeding sister in ways that she had expressly requested that she not be exposed.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Oct 8 2006, 06:49 PM)
>
> I'd appreciate knowing what scripture you are refering to here so I can study it.

Deuteronomy 17:6
Deuteronomy 19:15
Matthew 18:15-17

Posted by: watchbird Oct 9 2006, 05:54 AM

Amen to all that Fran has said.

With one caveate.... I'd like to modify one part of one point.... see below.....

> QUOTE(Fran @ Oct 9 2006, 12:07 AM) ☐
>
> I have been thinking about what has transpired and believe there is so much more that we can't see that this letter was meant to be posted. It has started the ball rolling, so to speak.
>
> Much of the garbage is coming out for the public to see. This letter has further affected the donations to 3ABN. This seriously needs to be done. If this goes to court, all evidence has to be brought up in discovery anyway.
>
> Many knew of this years ago and could do nothing about it. Before this was all said and done, the story was going to get out. There are other involved, but have not had their letters published. In time they will be. We will have confirmation of the Shelton family's characteristics. They are not Christ like.
>
> Since some accusations go way back, I assume the power of God was not grasped by them to allow God to deliver them from these habits of sin. It was their choice. Even at this late date, they still deny the facts presented.
>
> But, think about it realistically and holistically. What is still under the rug? Much good is coming out of this investigation. There will be things come out that will put me/us to shame. Things that have nothing to do with this letter.
>
> There are so many facets to the mess at 3ABN. Each one must be treated individually and not all as one. Problems of one kind must be addresses with problems of the same kind. Linda's daughter does not stand alone by any means.
>
> Allysa, Hold your head high, honey. These actions you mention are wrong. Now that it is said, you are free from him. He can no longer have a hold on you again. Sometimes it helps to call this Danny person by a different name. Maybe Daniel. That really helps, believe it or not. When you speak of him, say the new name. It helps forgiveness to flow easier and you can experience a true release. Nothing will ever change these facts, they do fade, but the memories of your feelings and maybe even rage will be right there every time you hear of, or see abuse in any form.

Amen to this also.... except for the choice of name.... not Daniel.... that name is an honorable one in scripture and one that magnifies the name of God (EL).... Daniel = God is my Judge.

Instead I suggest merely Dan...... Dan = judge. Some interesting things about Dan in scripture....

Genesis 49: 16-18 (Jacob's blessing/prophecy for each of his sons just before his death)
Dan shall judge his people,
As one of the tribes of Israel.

Dan shall be a serpent in the way,
A horned snake in the path,
That bites the horse's heels,
So that his rider falls backward.

For Your salvation I wait, O LORD.

Comparing Joshua 19 with Judges 18, one finds that the tribe of Dan were not content with the land that had been portioned out to them, but (according to at least one Bible Dictionary entry) found this too limited so they spied out another territory and took that by force and changed the name of the city to Dan.

And finally, compare Revelation 7.... where Dan is conspicuous by its absence.

But turning from scripture to the present..... Danny is, of course, an affectionate, diminutive form of either Dan or Daniel.... and here is something I have wondered about....... While all over the world people call him Danny..... in no communication with Linda have I ever heard her call him anything but Dan. So a question for those that knew her well before her ouster from 3abn.... Was this always the case? Did she always call him Dan?..... Or has she (consciously or unconsiously) done what Fran has suggested here and made a difference in the name by which she identifies him?

(Just a question.... I return you now to Fran's excellent analysis of what is and what must come to pass.)

> QUOTE
>
>]Now, think about this "case". It does not begin or end with sexual abuse.
>
> There are "serious" financial problems. These must be handled alone.
>
> Employee problems are another mess.
>
> Then we see they are breaking the very constitution of our country. The Declaration of Independence gives each person the right to the pursuit of happiness. 3ABN has not done this. They have interfered with many individuals right to pursue their happiness.
>
> Many of the abused have no idea they have been abused. This is one I cry about. Many individuals will find they have had their right to the pursuit of happiness circumvented. When we hear, I/we will be hurt again, and so will they.
>
> Then there are the outside problems. Who allowed this mess to happen? Who would be considered a shareholders of 3ABN? Who closed their eyes to the wrong doing and turned their backs to allow it to continue? This takes this case away from 3ABN and into the laps of others, and maybe even certain individuals, and other independent ministries.
>
> The Thompsonville church is about to feel some REAL pain. So will the IL Conference, Union. NAD and GC.
>
> From this letter, the line branches out and up like a genealogical tree. We may have to change the name of these threads to, "Ready, or not, here I come!"
>
> Think about it. This is no longer just a Danny problem. The house of God needs to be cleaned up before Jesus comes. Something must be done to STOP this from happening again. May God help us as we watch this explode.

Posted by: summertime Oct 9 2006, 07:49 AM

[

(Just a question.... I return you now to Fran's excellent analysis of what is and what must come to pass.)
[/quote]

A few years ago a son of one of our church members molested more than one child in the church school---particularly a girl of grade school age. WHen this came to light, the chaplain of the school knew that according to the law, this crime HAD TO BE REPORTED. The young man is in jail today and will be there for a while. Why was the GC not compelled to report this crime (and certainly it was a crime) to the civil authorities? Is it because the abused was of an older age than a grade school student? They have written proof of it in their hands---I have asked around and I hear that it is against the law for them NOT to report. Any more info along this line?

Posted by: Observer Oct 9 2006, 09:22 AM

Re: " . . . this crime HAD TO BE REPORTED."

Local law governs when such crimes have to be reported, and who it is that has to report such crimes. Clergy often fall into an exempt category and may or may not be required to report such. On that basis, I cannot say whether or not it had to be reported.

Posted by: summertime Oct 9 2006, 09:29 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Oct 9 2006, 09:22 AM)
>
> Re: " . . . this crime HAD TO BE REPORTED."
>
> Local law governs when such crimes have to be reported, and who it is that has to report such crimes. Clergy often fall into an exempt category and may or may not be required to report such. On that basis, I cannot say whether or not it had to be reported.

In this particular case, the Chaplain at the Academy was also a teacher there and was also the father of the last girl who was molested. Would that have made a difference as to whether he had to report it to the athorities?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Oct 9 2006, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Oct 9 2006, 10:29 AM)
>
> In this particular case, the Chaplain at the Academy was also a teacher there and was also the father of the last girl who was molested. Would that have made a difference as to whether he had to report it to the athorities?

In many (possibly all) states teachers, by law, are required to report any suspected abuse.

Posted by: simplysaved Oct 9 2006, 12:14 PM

All states are required to....

> QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Oct 9 2006, 12:29 PM)
>
> In many (possibly all) states teachers, by law, are required to report any suspected abuse.

Posted by: Observer Oct 9 2006, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Oct 9 2006, 08:29 AM)
>
> In this particular case, the Chaplain at the Academy was also a teacher there and was also the father of the last girl who was molested. Would that have made a difference as to whether he had to report it to the athorities?

There may have been a clergy exception?

Posted by: justme Oct 9 2006, 02:47 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Oct 9 2006, 01:48 PM)
>
> There may have been a clergy exception?

Acording to what we have understood she had reached the "age of condsent" for the state of Illinois. IF she was under the age of consent it would be a "statuatory" crime against a female of against a male "under age". Having reached the age of consent a victim apparently has the "option" of reporting it or not.

Option 1. Report it?
1. Tell mom and try to make her believe it.
2. Tell "someone", Tell whom?
3. Tell the sheriff? A Sheriff in Danny's pocket!
4. Tell the conference office? The one's on Dan's board?
5. Tell the GC? They already have enough of these stories to bury.
6. Threaten Dan that "someone is gonna get told". Her word against his?
7. Victims are scrutinized more than the "perps".
8. Mom will be faced with enormous embarrassment. He'll deny it anyway.
(you add options, too)

Option 2 Don't Report it?
1. Will it continue?
2. Will someone else be next?
3. Maybe the marriage will survive if I'm quiet.
4. I "may" avoid placing my pain in public.
5. I KNOW I am not the first. No one else is reporting either.Why talk?

(Right now I just can't imagine any more either way).

Posted by: icedragon Oct 11 2006, 05:07 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Oct 8 2006, 04:02 PM)
>
> Yes, it is real, as I have a signed copy, however, I received it on condition that I wouldn't post it on any forum, which I honoured and never did, and until given permission to do so, will not post it over at MSDAOL, or allow it to be posted there by anybody else.

> I am still disappointed it has been posted here.

So let me see according to the information that BSdA, CA, MSDOL have found that Danny abused his step son, Divorced his wife because she was getting help for her son and Danny would have had to face the problems that he caused and now is guilty of sexual assult of his ex-wifes daughter.? How could God have used a man like that. these problems probally didn't start yesterday they would have been on going during he whole development of 3ABN. that just does not sound possible. Any one else see this???

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 11 2006, 05:37 PM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Oct 11 2006, 06:07 PM)
>
> How could God have used a man like that. these problems probally didn't start yesterday they would have been on going during the whole development of 3ABN. that just does not sound possible. Any one else see this???

Exactly why is it so hard to understand that things like this happen? People have a side they want you to see and a side they don't. Look at history and tell me if you don't see people like this.
Take John W. Gacy & Jeff Dahmer. Family and neghbors said they were simply wonderful people - that was of course, before bodies were pulled out of their homes.

Not implying that anyone at 3ABN murdered anyone, just an analogy.)

Posted by: Uncle Sam Oct 11 2006, 07:28 PM

[quote name='husbandoftheyear' date='Oct 11 2006, 04:37 PM' post='156409']
Exactly why is it so hard to understand that things like this happen? People have a side they want you to see and a side they don't. Look at history and tell me if you don't see people like this.
Take John W. Gacy & Jeff Dahmer. Family and neghbors said they were simply wonderful people - that was of course, before bodies were pulled out of their homes.

We may not know a persons heart but God does. I have a hard time understanding too, if Danny has been "evil" all along why would God have chosen him? I believe he could have become corrupt overtime but I find it hard to believe he started out this way. I also understand many don't believe Danny was chosen and the miracle stories are made up. If that is true, why do people not speak out while they are enjoying the perks of being with Danny? Why wait until you have a falling out with him? That is where the credibility comes in....if someone had the courage, (because it is the right thing to do) to tell what Danny is doing while they are in his good graces than I believe the GC would have to listen....

Posted by: Tori Oct 11 2006, 08:38 PM

To those of us who are removed from 3 ABN it appears very much like a cult where you have a charismatic leader who is followed by a large group of well meaning, good people. Those who continue to think for themselves are demonized. The rest truly believe they are following God's spokesperson. And they follow, sometimes sacrificing their very lives in the process. I know from reading your posts that many of you believe that Danny has done God's work. I certainly can't judge that. There is good mixed in with so many torn lives. No one but God can untangle that. But we need to teach ourselves to continue thinking for ourselves. We need to teach our children that Christianity doesn't have to be fearful. It is fearful people who are willing to follow one person blindly. No one person has a monopoly on God. Hebrews 4:16......Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may recieve mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.

Posted by: sonshineonme Oct 11 2006, 08:53 PM

> QUOTE(Tori @ Oct 11 2006, 07:38 PM)
>
> To those of us who are removed from 3 ABN it appears very much like a cult where you have a charismatic leader who is followed by a large group of well meaning, good people. Those who continue to think for themselves are demonized. The rest truly believe they are following God's spokesperson. And they follow, sometimes sacrificing their very lives in the process. I know from reading your posts that many of you believe that Danny has done God's work. I certainly can't judge that. There is good mixed in with so many torn lives. No one but God can untangle that. But we need to teach ourselves to continue thinking for ourselves. We need to teach our children that Christianity doesn't have to be fearful. It is fearful people who are willing to follow one person blindly. No one person has a monopoly on God.
> Hebrews 4:16......Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may recieve mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.

Welcome Tori!
I appreciated your reply very much. You really said it quite well. This fear that you mentioned is truely key - and there are many aspects of "fear". It is VITAL that each person think for themselves, and ACT as well, having faith and trust in their Awesome Father in heaven that He will always be with them, and where there is this faith, there is no fear.

Posted by: justme Oct 11 2006, 08:55 PM

I wish I could agree that good things don't come from bad people. But it just hasn't been that way. Many a person who has become famous for doing good, has a side that could be infamous if found out.

The very satellites that carry Christian broadcasting may have been made by companies that abhor Christianity.

The companies that make the broadcast equipment, studio cameras, recorders, processors, antenae, etc. may be run by some of the most heathen persons.

Sky Angel had been a friend of SDA's for many years. Why did 3ABN vanish from that satellite? Of all the rumors that have circulated about the family that now runs Sky Angel not liking Danny's handling of the "mess", the actual bottom line is that, of all the channels that went off the air for a few days, only the top-watched, top-rated program providers were reinstated in the 7 restored channels. Of the three not reinstated in the lineup, 3ABN was the least watched of all the channels on Sky Angel. Even before the "mess" began. 3ABN was already losing market share before the "black out". So after they recovered 7 of the 10 "broken" channels, 3ABN didn't make the "cut".

All who work at 3ABN are there for personal reasons. Some are there to get experience in broadcasting technology and production.

Some want to be working "for the Lord" by making these programs available.

Some are there to feed thrir egos, and be "internationally recognized".

And the list goes on. Only those who can AFFORD to leave financially, reputation-wise, or for personal reasons, can and will leave. BUT will they "TATTLE" on the one who signed the paycheck? remember those who have been blacklisted and blackmailed for leaving or being fired. Who knows what lurks in the personnel files in Danny's office?

All hidden weaknesses, inherited and cultivated, must be brought into submission to God, or they will grow and eventually become overt as we have seen.

Another factor in personality and character display is physiology. Behavior medication and pain relievers often cause unpleasant personality changes. Sometimes a change that is criminal. Many crimes take place under the influence of drugs. Let's assume for example that he has a chronic neck/shoulder/back pain. If he takes certain meds he could lose control of otherwise controllable urges. OR he may NEED medication to control them. BUT there is NO excuse for these behaviors no matter what the underlying cause! Those around him should have counselled him to "knock-it-off"!

The GC has no clout with Danny, otherwise they would have owned 3ABN by now. It's too embarrassing now for the GC even to speak of. Are there other "Danny's" in the GC closets? And what is Danny holding over some heads at the GC?

Posted by: Skyhook Oct 11 2006, 10:10 PM

What justme said about the medication angle is something that is very often overlooked in situations where someone has personality changes, esp with criminal and other innapropriate behaviors.
Pain medications, muscle relaxants, all of the benzodiazapine anti-anxiety medications as well as many of the sleeping meds (not to mention the stimulants that are being prescribed these days for adult attention deficit disorder which has become a kind of fad diagnosis) all can cause personality changes such as irritability, impaired judgment, poor impulse control, diminished inhibitions, grandiosity, poor judgement and episodes of paranoia and rage. The abuse of stimulants can cause episodes of obsessive erotic/sexual behavior that can even be foriegn to the person's usual leanings. I don't know anything about Danny's drug or medical history, but it is an interesting angle.

Drugs were a major factor with Jim Jones. He was on uppers and downers for years, which could help explain a lot of his crazyness.

Posted by: Fran Oct 11 2006, 11:32 PM

> QUOTE(justme @ Oct 11 2006, 08:55 PM)
>
> ...
> All hidden weaknesses, inherited and cultivated, must be brought into submission to God, or they will grow and eventually become overt as we have seen.
>
> Another factor in personality and character display is physiology. Behavior medication and pain relievers often cause unpleasant personality changes. Sometimes a change that is criminal. Many crimes take place under the influence of drugs. Let's assume for example that he has a chronic neck/shoulder/back pain. If he takes certain meds he could lose control of otherwise controllable urges. OR he may NEED medication to control them. BUT there is NO excuse for these behaviors no matter what the underlying cause! Those around him should have counselled him to "knock-it-off"!
>
> The GC has no clout with Danny, otherwise they would have owned 3ABN by now. It's too embarrassing now for the GC even to speak of. Are there other "Danny's" in the GC closets? And what is Danny holding over some heads at the GC?

Very Good!

I am studying Face Profiling. It was written by an FBI Face Profiler, Mac Fulfer. He travels all over the world to help select jury's and does profiling for the FBI. He teaches profiling to Agencies that have a need. He also teaches in Universities. I have been looking at as many pics as I can of Danny and Linda, Myself and others and am really surprised at the accuracy of this science.

This has brought up to me a thought or two. John Q public has heard so long about Danny was God's Chosen! Was he? In my opinion, God used Linda. Every time she was on, she pointed everyone to Jesus.

Danny promotes Danny and Danny's miracles. Things starting getting bad when Linda left. Could it be that God's presence left with her?

Linda has placed herself at God's mercy and after all that has been done to her, she still says, "Though they slay me, Lord, I will follow thee!"

I believe God shielded her from the truths about Danny. The Lord knew what would have to happen. The Lord knew she needed to be out of harms way, safe in the arms of God.

God put information out to a chosen few. Knowing they would cry out loud until it was heard far and wide. Now others are joining in so we can see and hear "The Rest of the Story".

Even as this mess unfolds, you can visit Linda's website filled with courage and Godliness. Inspiration to the broken hearted. What a contrast!

Compare Linda's ministry with Danny's mess. Where do we find spiritual food?

There is wonderful programming on the air waves of 3ABN, by they are not produced by 3ABN. God has used the Word of these programs to save souls! Steve Wohlberg, Doug Batchelor, John Carter, ...

I used to watch Shelly Quinn every time she appeared. I don't watch her any longer. There is too much information out there for her not to know. After the story of how Herod gave his wife's daughter the head of John the Baptist, I became convinced she knew. She knew what she was doing. Shame on her.

I will not listen to John Lomacang any longer; no Hal or Mollie; I DO watch 3ABN Today to watch Danny kick himself in the face and marvel the fact that he is totally not with it! His vision of himself is not realistic, He is living a fantasy.

I believe Linda was the one teaching us how to have a relationship with God, the Father, Jesus the son, and the Holy Spirit. Just my opinion. Something to think about.

Posted by: sister Oct 12 2006, 06:57 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Oct 12 2006, 12:32 AM)
>
> Very Good!
>
> John Q public has heard so long about Danny was God's Chosen! Was he? In my opinion, God used Linda. Every time she was on, she pointed everyone to Jesus.
>
> I believe Linda was the one teaching us how to have a relationship with God, the Father, Jesus the son, and the Holy Spirit. Just my opinion. Something to think about.

Fran, I am in agreement with you. Could God have blessed Danny, an Achan in the camp of Isreal? No... But could the blessing upon 3ABN have been the result of Linda's faithfullness? Something very interesting to think about...

Posted by: SandyColorado Oct 12 2006, 11:52 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Oct 12 2006, 07:57 AM)

> Fran, I am in agreement with you. Could God have blessed Danny, an Achan in the camp of Isreal? No... But could the blessing upon 3ABN have been the result of Linda's faithfullness? Something very interesting to think about...

totally agree too. I have been reading Fran's take on this for quite a while (both here and CA) and she eems to have hit the nail on the head. I know that she has been saying for quite a while to "follow the oney" but this is more personal. This is what some of us have been thinking for a long time. God left the ouse when Linda left. All that is left is for Danny to poorly pick up the pieces and try to hold on to his sinking hip until it totally goes down. We need to continue to pray that only Danny sinks - not 3ABN.

Posted by: Aunt B Oct 12 2006, 03:41 PM

I agree with Fran that God's Spirit is with Linda. That is not to suggest that she is perfect, but that the fruit in her life shows that she is following Him and is willing to be used by Him. The testimony on her web site and that which she used to share on 3ABN show she has a relationship with Jesus. I also agree that God allowed her to be removed from 3ABN for a reason, as hard as it has been for her and for others to understand. As for Danny, what is the fruit of his life? Is it consistent with what he professes?

I appreciate Fran's comments, along with all the rest of you who have kept shedding light on this troubling story. So many of us have no way of knowing how to "research" to find the truth. Please keep your comments coming. I also appreciate BSDA and the willingness to allow access to the story as it plays out.

Posted by: paleface Oct 12 2006, 03:55 PM

I agree with you Aunt B and also Welcome to BSDA.

Posted by: summertime Oct 12 2006, 06:01 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Oct 11 2006, 11:32 PM) ☐
>
> I am studying Face Profiling.
> There is wonderful programming on the air waves of 3ABN, but they are not produced by 3ABN. God has used the Word of these programs to save souls! Steve Wohlberg, Doug Batchelor, John Carter, ...

ran, I believe in everything you have stated in this post except for one thing. Why are all three of these men hom you have mentioned, Steve Wohlberg, Doug Batchelor and John Carter so quick to sing the praises of abn and Danny and expound of Danny's faithfulness whenever they can? I, too, have thought these men to e soulsavers, yet they hold hands with the very person who has done harm to so many people. It actually akes me feel like turning the channel whenever they come along. Matter of fact, they are on my 'doubting' ist. I can understand them simply not saying anything against Danny but to speak for him when they have eard the truth never ceases to bewilder me.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Oct 12 2006, 06:31 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Oct 12 2006, 07:01 PM) ☐
>
> Why are all three of these men whom you have mentioned, Steve Wohlberg, Doug Batchelor and John Carter so quick to sing the praises of 3abn and Danny and expound of Danny's faithfulness whenever they can? I, too, have thought these men to be soulsavers, yet they hold hands with the very person who has > done harm to so many people.

łow many pastors would dare to get involved in the downfall of another?

I know, I know - Dan isn't a pastor - but plays the role.)

Posted by: justme Oct 12 2006, 09:29 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Oct 12 2006, 07:31 PM)
>
> How many pastors would dare to get involved in the downfall of another?
>
> (I know, I know - Dan isn't a pastor - but plays the role.)

t occurs to me that we would do well to remember that there is a "SHAKING" coming, ...soon. The children ›f God are going to be moved to take a stand for God, through Jesus.

:ver since the "Adventist Movement" began in the mid 19th century there have been "leaders" who are willing to let Achan's remain in the camp". God requires a purified church to become His Bride. We are told that here will be shaking, not only in the SDA church but in Christiandom at large.

have a sneeking suspicion that the third and fourth generation Adventists will see the end of "compromises" vith God. We need to stop playing "Let's Make A Deal" with God, and get down to scripture and prayer.

\lone with God! We are not saved as a 'body' nor as a denomination. We are saved individually. Thoes who ıave a working relationship with Jesus as the One to Whom we are "Engaged to Marry", are the ones He is :oming back for.

hat's why the call, "Come out of her, my people"! His people are coming out of her, now, but will soon come n the thousands. When the Holy Spirit has a people ready to accept these "baby Christians" without making un of them, without sneering at their jewelry, and other things that one can grow and mature into, as the łoly Spirit leads their hearts, THEN and only then will reform come, and the sophistication and headiness will ive unto themselves. But God will have Bride that will proclaim a "primitive gospel" to all the world. "Just the acts, man"!

he shaking will come as a result of the NEW converts who are on fire for God. The rockin'-chair adventists vill be truly taxed to understand this new enthusiasm. Some 'old-timers" will leave our church, others will ;hout "It's about time! But the Laodiceans will be replaced by the "remnant". A truly thrilling vision to behold!

hose who have been covering their own sins and making excuses for their problems will fall away. Some ıave always blamed others for their problems, and who act the role of a victim, will fall away first. They have or so long failed to accept the need for repentance and confession that they have actually driven away the łoly Spirit from their lives.

Vithout the Holy Spirit in the life we don't know right from wrong and certainly don't have The Comforter here to tell us how to overcome the sin. When sin in one's life no longer appears to be sin, we have lost our comforter", the Holy Spirit.

Vhen we sin against the Holy Spirit there is no turning back. Only God know when that happens in one's life. hat soul spends it's time looking for people to take advantage of, someone to dominate, someone to abuse, ;omeone to call his "The Anointed One".

t happened to Pharaoh when he refused to yield to the God of Moses. God hardened Pharaoh's heart. ›haraoh was told the he was a God. (Christian Science went THAt far back?) Clay hardens when it no longer ıas any water coming to it. Pharaoh refused to soften his heart, God (as in the Holy Spirit) was told, by ›haraoh, to stop trying to reach Pharaoh's heart. God withdrew and Pharaoh's son died, Israel walked out of Egypt. When 'the defiant one', Pharaoh, tried to over power God's deliverance of His children, Pharaoh and all his forces drowned.

It is an awesome thing to go against God and His written word, but the ultimate sin is to harden one's heart against The Holy Spirit. And refuse to admit the sin in one's life.

Pray that all God's children will "Stand up, stand up for Jesus, you soldiers of the cross.."

Everybody sing it, ... ever wonder why they don't sing this one anymore?

Posted by: meadbd Oct 12 2006, 11:04 PM

[quote name='justme' date='Oct 12 2006, 10:29 PM' post='156641']
It occurs to me that we would do well to remember that there is a "SHAKING" coming, ...soon. The children of God are going to be moved to take a stand for God, through Jesus.
===
Actually, the "SHAKJING" is not coming...It Is HERE!...and has been here for some time.
We are clearly in the 'time of the end'.

Let Jesus be the joy of our heart today and reveal His love to others.

Bill

Posted by: Ralph Oct 12 2006, 11:17 PM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Oct 11 2006, 07:28 PM)
>
> I also understand many don't believe Danny was chosen and the miracle stories are made up. If that is true, why do people not speak out while they are enjoying the perks of being with Danny? Why wait until you have a falling out with him? That is where the credibility comes in....if someone had the courage, (because it is the right thing to do) to tell what Danny is doing while they are in his good graces than I believe the GC would have to listen....

I don't think it was just a case of enjoying the perks of being with Danny that prevented anyone from speaking out. It was just a case of no one checking things out. In any large company it is normal for rumors to be floating around. Employees trust that their boss knows what he is doing and are usually more concerned about their own problems than they are with some rumor. But when something major goes wrong, then people start asking questions. It is easy afterwards to look back and see that things were wrong for a long time. Foresight is not so clear.

Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you.

I wish I could chat with Linda's daughter and tell her how proud I am of her for writing that statement. Probably that was the most difficult thing that she ever did, and took real courage. A person who is being treated the way Linda's daughter was treated usually has questions. "What's wrong with me ? What did I do wrong? Did I act inappropriately for him to do what he did? Is it my fault? I am sure I am the only one...." (An abused person looks inward and often is not able to see the true dynamics of the situation.)

I hope each of us can be here to give support for the people who are having a rough time right now. When we are in the middle of a mess like some of the readers have been, it is difficult to believe that there are good people -- people who really care. Right now so many people need a transfusion of hope.

Posted by: Johann Oct 13 2006, 06:03 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Oct 13 2006, 07:17 AM)
>
> I don't think it was just a case of enjoying the perks of being with Danny that prevented anyone from speaking out. It was just a case of no one checking things out. In any large company it is normal for rumors to be floating around. Employees trust that their boss knows what he is doing and are usually more concerned about their own problems than they are with some rumor. But when something major goes wrong, then people start asking questions. It is easy afterwards to look back and see that things were wrong for a long time. Foresight is not so clear.
>
> Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you.
>
> I wish I could chat with Linda's daughter and tell her how proud I am of her for writing that statement. Probably that was the most difficult thing that she ever did, and took real courage. A person who is being treated the way Linda's daughter was treated usually has questions. "What's wrong with me ? What did I do wrong? Did I act inappropriately for him to do what he did? Is it my fault? I am sure I am the only one...." (An abused person looks inward and often is not able to see the true dynamics of the situation.)
>
> I hope each of us can be here to give support for the people who are having a rough time right now. When we are in the middle of a mess like some of the readers have been, it is difficult to believe that there are good people -- people who really care. Right now so many people need a transfusion of hope.

Ralph, I sure appreciate what you are saying here, and I can assure you that at least Linda appreciates it too. Linda does not normally read anything on the net herself, but I made sure she could read what you had written. . .

Posted by: lurker Oct 13 2006, 06:51 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Oct 13 2006, 07:03 AM)
>
> Ralph, I sure appreciate what you are saying here, and I can assure you that at least Linda appreciates it too. Linda does not normally read anything on the net herself, but I made sure she could read what you had written. . .

This makes me feel bad that others have expressed how much admiration they feel for Linda's daughter also yet I have not said anything. Probably for each person that speaks up and says they appreciate her boldness, there are many who feel great that she has taken back the power in this situation. I would say to her, "You go girl! You rock!"

Posted by: Aunt B Oct 13 2006, 07:39 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Oct 13 2006, 12:17 AM)

> Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you.
>
> I wish I could chat with Linda's daughter and tell her how proud I am of her for writing that statement. Probably that was the most difficult thing that she ever did, and took real courage. A person who is being treated the way Linda's daughter was treated usually has questions. "What's wrong with me ? What did I do wrong? Did I act inappropriately for him to do what he did? Is it my fault? I am sure I am the only one...." (An abused person looks inward and often is not able to see the true dynamics of the situation.)
>
> I hope each of us can be here to give support for the people who are having a rough time right now. When we are in the middle of a mess like some of the readers have been, it is difficult to believe that there are good people -- people who really care. Right now so many people need a transfusion of hope.

his is all so true, and more of us need to communicate our support. Johann, please tell Linda and Alyssa here is a lot of love out here for them.

Posted by: Shannon Oct 13 2006, 11:44 PM

Someone I feel has been left out of this equation and needs to be considered is Dan's current wife's daughter (or children?). I know she has at least one young school-aged daughter. We can only hope and pray that she will escape the horror of a grown man who is supposed to play the role of father, protector, comforter and, most importantly, an image of God for her, coming into her bedroom in the middle of the night. I think of her often, as I happened to glimpse her at the spring 3ABN campmeeting (and before I knew ALL of the details I now know). A very pretty young girl. I hope Brandy's eyes will not be so filled with stars and wool that she will not see the signs. Please, please join me in praying for them.

Lord God, we know you are a Friend foremost of children and we know that this child is Yours. You love and value her infinitely. Lord, we pray that You will place a hedge of protection about her, so that no attempt to hurt her may prevail. Surround her always with warrior angels whose fiery swords will stay the enemy, yea wound him for trying. We pray that his every attempt will be met with personal suffering for himself, not just inconvenience or frustration. Father, be with this mother, who cannot have truly known what kind of man she was bringing into her daughter's life and her own. Help her be ever vigilant and watchful, taking special care to warn her daughter against men who would take advantage of her. Help her to be a praying mother. Remind her of her responsibility to her child(ren) first and foremost. Finally, Father, if the unspeakable has already happened, grant wisdom and courage to these hearts, determination, too. Help them stand up, get out, speak out. Thank you for granting us a portion of Your power. Help us to use it wisely. Thank you for hearing and answering our prayers. In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Oct 14 2006, 04:51 AM

Remember how they trumped up false accusations against Christ in hopes of sending Him to the cross?

The innocent Son of God allowed this to happen to Him for a reason.

God is obviously allowing this to happen to Linda and to others for a reason, however, Christ rose victoriously from the dead, and He will return victoriously to the sinful planet to redeem His saints.

I also believe that good will come out of this as it did with Joseph. After he was falsely accused and sent to prison for several years, Joseph was later released from prison and was second to the Pharoah himself.

So hang in there everybody, just as Joseph hung in there.

Posted by: JustTana Oct 14 2006, 09:10 PM

> QUOTE(Shannon @ Oct 14 2006, 01:44 AM)
>
> Someone I feel has been left out of this equation and needs to be considered is Dan's current wife's daughter (or children?). I know she has at least one young school-aged daughter. We can only hope and pray that she will escape the horror of a grown man who is supposed to play the role of father, protector, comforter and, most importantly, an image of God for her, coming into her bedroom in the middle of the night. I think of her often, as I happened to glimpse her at the spring 3ABN campmeeting (and before I knew ALL of the details I now know). A very pretty young girl. I hope Brandy's eyes will not be so filled with stars and wool that she will not see the signs. Please, please join me in praying for them.
>
> Lord God, we know you are a Friend foremost of children and we know that this child is Yours. You love and value her infinitely. Lord, we pray that You will place a hedge of protection about her, so that no attempt to hurt her may prevail. Surround her always with warrior angels whose fiery swords will stay the enemy, yea wound him for trying. We pray that his every attempt will be met with personal suffering for himself, not just inconvenience or frustration. Father, be with this mother, who cannot have truly known what kind of man she was bringing into her daughter's life and her own. Help her be ever vigilant and watchful, taking special care to warn her daughter against men who would take advantage of her. Help her to be a praying mother. Remind her of her responsibility to her child(ren) first and foremost. Finally, Father, if the unspeakable has already happened, grant wisdom and courage to these hearts, determination, too. Help them stand up, get out, speak out. Thank you for granting us a portion of Your power. Help us to use it wisely. Thank you for hearing and answering our prayers. In Jesus' name we pray, Amen.

Thank you, Shannon, for such a specific prayer for these little girls. It is also my prayer and I could not have put it more beautifully than you did.

JT

Posted by: tall73 Oct 19 2006, 01:06 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Oct 5 2006, 10:36 AM)
>
> It is true that "brethren" are not to go to law against each other. However, the biblical precedent is clear that, if all the allegations are true, Danny should long ago have been disfellowshipped for his sexual misconduct and would therefore no longer be a "brother in the church."
> Indeed!!!
>
> For 3ABN to even request such a "hearing" is to attempt to intimidate her and thus re-abuse her.

Is there a direct correlation between going to law in a dispute and going to the authorities in a criminal case? The case in Corinth appears to be more of a civil law suit. They were taking matters to judges to decide when the church had authority to rule in such trivial cases.

God established the authorities to punish the wrongdoer, according to Romans 13, and the text already cited in Peter's epistle. We are not to take vengeance and are to leave it to God's justice. But the role of the goverment is to "bear the sword."

If someone is criminally abusing people (which can be established in court if so), then they need to be prosecuted in my view.

Once the criminal courts have found them guilty it is pretty easy for the local church to make a case for disfellowshipping.

At the same time the pastor and church do play a role. They play a pastoral role to all involved. And they may try to avoid a protracted case by seeing whether the person really is guilty and asking them to come forward if they are.

But to me God establishes the governing authorities for a reason, and there is no conflict in taking criminal matters to the government.

We leave final judgment to God. We forgive for the hurts caused to us. But we also recognize the penalties for sin in this life, and that people need protection from those who do harm. Therefore the government has a legitimate role in punishing the wrong doer.

The original purpose of Paul's letter was to encourage submission to the goverment. However, it clearly outlines its role as structured by God.

Posted by: tall73 Oct 19 2006, 01:17 PM

[color=#3366FF]1Co 6:1 When one of you has a grievance against another, does he dare go to law before the unrighteous instead of the saints?
1Co 6:2 Or do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world is to be judged by you, are you incompetent to try trivial cases?
1Co 6:3 Do you not know that we are to judge angels? How much more, then, matters pertaining to this life!
1Co 6:4 So if you have such cases, why do you lay them before those who have no standing in the church?
1Co 6:5 I say this to your shame. Can it be that there is no one among you wise enough to settle a dispute between the brothers, 1Co 6:6 but brother goes to law against brother, and that before unbelievers?
1Co 6:7 To have lawsuits at all with one another is already a defeat for you. Why not rather suffer wrong? Why not rather be defrauded?
1Co 6:8 But you yourselves wrong and defraud--even your own brothers!

It appears that the issues in Corinth were primarily financial "defraudment" or disputes over money. That is a little different than sexual crimes, etc.

The church could settle a dispute and have restitution made. But they did not have authority to put to death, which was the work of the government.

Posted by: jodi Oct 21 2006, 06:32 PM

Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you

Yes, Barbara did have a very hard time trying to figure out what Danny was all about initially - but soon his 'real colors' became apparant. I had personal experience with this man also and finally, wrote him a letter asking him if anything he ever said was, in fact, the truth, because I knew personally, everything he said about Barbara was nothing but lies. He never responded to my email to him.

I am glad that with the investigation nearing its completion, the truth will come out and it can't come too soon for this person. Danny has done alot of damage and hurt alot of people and it is time that he be held accountable to all. THAT is Biblical. Restitution is Biblical, and oh, how he needs to make restitution....I am counting the days, hours and minutes!!

Posted by: sonshineonme Oct 21 2006, 06:49 PM

> QUOTE(jodi @ Oct 21 2006, 05:32 PM)
>
> Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you
>
> Yes, Barbara did have a very hard time trying to figure out what Danny was all about initially - but soon his 'real colors' became apparant. I had personal experience with this man also and finally, wrote him a letter asking him if anything he ever said was, in fact, the truth, because I knew personally, everything he said about Barbara was nothing but lies. He never responded to my email to him.
>
> I am glad that with the investigation nearing its completion, the truth will come out and it can't come too soon for this person. Danny has done alot of damage and hurt alot of people and it is time that he be held accountable to all. THAT is Biblical. Restitution is Biblical, and oh, how he needs to make restitution....I am counting the days, hours and minutes!!

Remember to pray for those that may stand in place to hear the "truths", that they will do the right thing. I personally (and honestly) do not have faith in them, that is my issue (pray for me too), but the most important thing to me is that God knows the truth, and that man will fail us time and time again, in the most dispicable ways even, so please pray that God's will be done and that justice can happen now too, not just when Jesus returns.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 4 2007, 08:16 PM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Oct 19 2006, 02:06 PM)
>
> Is there a direct correlation between going to law in a dispute and going to the authorities in a criminal case? The case in Corinth appears to be more of a civil law suit. They were taking matters to judges to decide when the church had authority to rule in such trivial cases.
>
> God established the authorities to punish the wrongdoer, according to Romans 13, and the text already cited in Peter's epistle. We are not to take vengeance and are to leave it to God's justice. But the role of the goverment is to "bear the sword."
>
> If someone is criminally abusing people (which can be established in court if so), then they need to be prosecuted in my view.
>
> Once the criminal courts have found them guilty it is pretty easy for the local church to make a case for disfellowshipping.
>
> At the same time the pastor and church do play a role. They play a pastoral role to all involved. And they may try to avoid a protracted case by seeing whether the person really is guilty and asking them to come forward if they are.
>
> But to me God establishes the governing authorities for a reason, and there is no conflict in taking criminal matters to the government.
>
> We leave final judgment to God. We forgive for the hurts caused to us. But we also recognize the penalties for sin in this life, and that people need protection from those who do harm. Therefore the government has a legitimate role in punishing the wrong doer.
>
> The original purpose of Paul's letter was to encourage submission to the goverment. However, it clearly outlines its role as structured by God.

Well said...

Posted by: Rosyroi Feb 4 2007, 09:20 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Oct 4 2006, 06:23 PM)
>
> Somebody help me here, but I believe 3abn started in the mid-80's? That gives us 20+ years of stuff to talk about. Danny started 3abn with Linda as his wife. Whatever happen with his frist wife is out of scope.

Wow! my memory isen't as bad as I thought it was. I thought that was what one of the Admin stated in another post. I just don't remember where I saw it.

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 6 2007, 06:25 PM

I can't believe I hadn't read this thread before, though I'd seen allusions to the information.

I'm ashamed to be an employee of this denomination. I can understand them not making this stuff public, for their own sake and Alyssa's -- but in God's name why hasn't the denomination publicly disassociated itself from 3ABN? Even if this were the only issue it would be enough.

Posted by: mozart May 6 2007, 06:32 PM

i recommend that he be sentenced to life doing ALL the "clean up" after Barbara and Linda's new cooking show. rofl

---

> QUOTE(jodi @ Oct 21 2006, 05:32 PM)
>
> Look at the tough time that Barbara Kerr had. Even if she was working closely with both Danny and Linda, she was confused. Things weren't as clear then as they seem now. Thank you so much for speaking out. I am so proud of you
>
> Yes, Barbara did have a very hard time trying to figure out what Danny was all about initially - but soon his 'real colors' became apparant. I had personal experience with this man also and finally, wrote him a letter asking him if anything he ever said was, in fact, the truth, because I knew personally, everything he said about Barbara was nothing but lies. He never responded to my email to him.
>
> I am glad that with the investigation nearing its completion, the truth will come out and it can't come too soon for this person. Danny has done alot of damage and hurt alot of people and it is time that he be held accountable to all. THAT is Biblical. Restitution is Biblical, and oh, how he needs to make restitution....I am counting the days, hours and minutes!!

Posted by: watchbird May 6 2007, 06:59 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 6 2007, 08:25 PM)

> I can't believe I hadn't read this thread before, though I'd seen allusions to the information.
>
> I'm ashamed to be an employee of this denomination. I can understand them not making this stuff public, for their own sake and Alyssa's -- but in God's name why hasn't the denomination publicly disassociated itself from 3ABN? Even if this were the only issue it would be enough.

'his is what a lot of us have been saying for nearly three years now. The answer is extremely complex. Keep oaming the forum... you will doubtless find other threads that may surprise you and that you can bump to he top. You may even find a few that are locked so that you can't bump them to the top. In that case all you :an do is to give the url of either the thread or some particular post in the thread to which you wish to draw ›ur attention.

'm not sure if this thread drew attention to the "through locked doors" vingette that was posted... I believe in ›ne of the "history" threads. But if you can find it... that throws some interesting light on this particular topic.

'hank you for bringing this one to the top. And please know that it did indeed have some effect on many in high places" even though not the complete effect that we would like to have seen. Still, as with other things n this saga, we have learned that each delay brings new revelations... thus in retrospect we can see God's ıand holding back the final acts of the drama until all has been sufficiently revealed.

f you noticed the dates... the Statement which began this thread was dated July 7, 2006, yet the thread was ıot begun until October 4, 2006. The reason for this time lag is partially explained in post #9, where I gave a ›it of the history of this document before it ever reached the BSDA forum.

n this post I referenced another thread that I had begun on August 13, 2006, ıttp://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10422&view=findpost&p=144786 which was the wo hour special, "The Battle Is The Lord's", starring Danny Shelton , John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses 'rimo, Shelley Quin, and Walter Thompson. This was the program in which they attempted to do "damage :ontrol" in regard to the Statement by Alyssa.

'ou may wish to bump that one to the top also.

Posted by: Treniece May 7 2007, 03:09 PM

Maybe DS has somewhat of a split personality, meaning he is able to cloak on a garb of spirituality that seems so genuine irrespective of the fact that he has major personality faults.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3abn Presents "the Battle ..." Don't Miss It

Posted by: watchbird Aug 13 2006, 10:35 AM

From the program guide on the 3ABN Website, http://www.3abn.org/broadcast_schedule.cfm comes this announcement (times are given in Central Standard Time....... adjust appropriately for your own time zone.

3:00 PM 3ABN Today LIVE - 1st Hour --- The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelley Quin, Walter Thompson

4:00 PM 3ABN Today LIVE - 2st Hour --- The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelley Quin, Walter Thompson

Some interesting things have been reported (and some interesting questions and speculations have been created) about what has been said on this program.

Here is your chance to see for youself ..... and even to make a video or audio tape and/or a transcription. Don't miss it.

Gather round.............. ☒ sna

.... ☒ TVsnack.

Posted by: September Aug 13 2006, 11:35 AM

I have a huge favor...we don't get 3ABN since it went off Sky Angel and the speakers on my computer are funky--they work when they want to work...would someone mind taping this program for me and I would pay for it? If so, let me know and I'll PM you.

Thanks!

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 13 2006, 11:35 AM) ☐
>
> From the program guide on the 3ABN Website, http://www.3abn.org/broadcast_schedule.cfm comes this announcement (times are given in Central Standard Time....... adjust appropriately for your own time zone.
>
> 3:00 PM 3ABN Today LIVE - 1st Hour --- The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelley Quin, Walter Thompson
>
> 4:00 PM 3ABN Today LIVE - 2st Hour --- The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelley Quin, Walter Thompson
>
> Some interesting things have been reported (and some interesting questions and speculations have been created) about what has been said on this program.
>
> Here is your chance to see for youself ..... and even to make a video or audio tape and/or a transcription. Don't miss it.

> Gather round.............. sn
>
> .... TVsnack.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 13 2006, 11:43 AM

> QUOTE
>
> I have a huge favor...we don't get 3ABN since it went off Sky Angel and the speakers on my computer are funky--they work when they want to work...would someone mind taping this program for me and I would pay for it? If so, let me know and I'll PM you.

don't either but if you go to their web site you can listen to it from there. I have it on in the background ight now waiting for the program to start. DUH if I read better I would have seen you said your speakers lon't always work right. Think I need to go back to bed! Maybe you'll get lucky today & your speakers vill work right!!

Posted by: September Aug 13 2006, 12:10 PM

Okay, I get the stupid award for the day...I think it helps to turn the volume up...the speakers are working! I probably shouldn't be left alone with myself today

---

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 13 2006, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Okay, I get the stupid award for the day...I think it helps to turn the volume up...the speakers are working! doh.gif I probably shouldn't be left alone with myself today

'oo funny now I don't feel so alone I'm always doing stupid stuff like that things that make me go

---

Posted by: msraccoon Aug 13 2006, 12:30 PM

Thanks so much, watchbird, for posting this topic. I will watch via my only option, the internet.

This website is the only way I hear about special programs.

msraccoon

Posted by: watchbird Aug 13 2006, 05:08 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 13 2006, 12:30 PM) ☐
>
> Thanks so much, watchbird, for posting this topic. I will watch via my only option, the internet.
>
> This website is the only way I hear about special programs.
>
> msraccoon

You're welcome.

I'll be interested in the thoughts of those who watched it. Though I suppose it may take some time for some of us to collect our thoughts enough to share them.

Posted by: PaperTigers Aug 13 2006, 06:39 PM

against my better judgement i watched it... thought i was going to be sick... but made it through...

☒ sn ☒ TVsnack.

i think i'm going to go behind the couch until the drama begins.

☒ (☒ sofa1.gif

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 13 2006, 07:06 PM

Well IMO it was nothing more than Damage Control. I think its coming at them from all sides & they have to do what they can to get the spotlight off of Danny so lets lay it on those that are Persecuting him!

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 13 2006, 07:42 PM

I watched a lot of it - till I got a long distance phone call, but read the "transcript" and learned a great deal. 1st of all, NOTHING is Danny's fault. It's the "persecutors" fault - all of it. This is all about the poor tragedy of poor Danny - the "chosen" one (their words) and if you don't believe and honor the "chosen one" then adversity will come upon you (upon WHO?).

I learned that even if Brandi writes something out on paper, she is still not aloud to read it aloud - it has to be read for her. I'm sorry to say, if she writes something out that is supposedly meaningful, then she should be encouraged to read it to everyone, otherwise she gives the appearance of a frightened child, and she is on stage after all - and that is another question....WHY is she there. If she is not comfortable being out in the eye of all, then why is she? Does she not have a choice? I get very tired of Danny using her as a....a....well, I can't put my finger on it exactly - it just isn't right, whatever it is. Something is very wrong here.

I learned that when you bring out all the big guns to do the fighting for "the chosen" one, the "chosen one" is really the puppeteer pulling strings in front of the world to see. Each one had their own subtlety to add - and some not so subtle. And of course, if you bring out all the "important" people, that is to say indirectly that this is IMPORTANT. Well, duh, you got that right. It's called MILK IT MILK IT MILK IT till you get it into the heads of all the people that you have fooled for so long that "it's all lies - see, how the devil works"....I could continue, but honestly, it makes me sick. And then there is Dr. Thompson, who said nothing more then "yes, ahem, I do what you need" or something to that affect (and that is NO lie) - keeping busy doing what needs to be done - after they discussed how far he came to sit there the whole time - from WI to IL. Whew, long drive! Bless his soul. ☒ bo

Alright, this is bringing the carnal nature out in me, and I will tuck it back in now, I have already felt sick enough to share a bucket with all my friends today that felt the same as we "endured" heresy going on in front of us.

I honestly pray that this situation, that is being played out before more then just the SDA church, but all angles in heaven and earth, and other worlds I might add, "stage 3" (abn) is going on and all are wondering, how will God's people respond? What will people learn (finally). What will God use out of all this to really save people, bring them to Him (God that is) and teach us? The Lord wastes nothing. He is saddened I am sure - by the whole darn mess (pardon my kosher cursing). But, like Calvin says, and so many times I could use this when it comes to 3abn/Danny Shelton - "It's all been said before". There are countless stories (examples) in the bible that make 3abn look like a re-run (and I am not talking about the 3abn live today show that is going to replay and replay to make sure the brainwashing gets in deep). If we know our bibles, we can spot the evil around us - those stories are lessons for now and time to come. Lets hope that God saves us all through this mess, and that His will is done.

my pennys worth of thougts... ☒

p.s. I am sure glad I have bsda in my life now. (although my husband thinks I am addicted...hmm, maybe so. There are healthy addictions, right?? RIGHT???)

Posted by: tall73 Aug 13 2006, 09:01 PM

So is this transcript publicly available?

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 13 2006, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(tall73 @ Aug 13 2006, 08:01 PM) ☐
>
> So is this transcript publicly available?

You'll notice my smiley after I said that? There were several of us watching this together, and for the section I missed while on the phone, I was able to go back through what the people I was watching this with said was being said. Make sense? That was the transcript that I was referring to. I did save that 20 page record of what was said among all of us watching, but I don't think I would consider that the type of transcript you are talking of. Now, if someone was able to tape this program, it would be better to watch it as there is nothing like first hand expirience. ☒ p.s. my guess is it will be on again....

Posted by: PaperTigers Aug 13 2006, 09:34 PM

i'm upset that i missed the part about him taking a "vacation" "absence" whatever it was that was said

---

Posted by: princessdi Aug 13 2006, 09:48 PM

It was slid in there at the very beginning of the second hour. Not really represented like a vacation, but something akin to the "self imposed" leave that Jimmy Swaggart took to reconsecrate and get in touch with what God wants for he and Brandy. He didn't really push it as a vacation, even though he called it that at least once. I think they really wanted people to think of them as vicitms who could not even minister in peace, and had to get away to escape all of these attacks. Maybe even with a little martydom thrown in for distances himself from 3ABN so they will no longer be under attack because of him.

> QUOTE(PaperTigers @ Aug 13 2006, 07:34 PM)
>
> i'm upset that i missed the part about him taking a "vacation" "absence" whatever it was that was said

---

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Aug 13 2006, 09:51 PM

I don't watch 3ABN at all so I can honestly say that I won't be seeing this program.
Did he say how long he would be gone....

Posted by: princessdi Aug 13 2006, 09:52 PM

Didn't mention "going" anywhere. Just trying to calssify the time taken in some way.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Aug 13 2006, 07:51 PM)
>
> What was it that was said about a vacation. Is he leaving to go somewhere?
> I don't watch 3ABN at all so I can honestly say that I won't be seeing this program. Did he say how long he would be gone....

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 13 2006, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Aug 13 2006, 08:51 PM)
>
> I don't watch 3ABN at all so I can honestly say that I won't be seeing this program.
> Did he say how long he would be gone....

I don't watch it either, only online today as there was a group of us that wanted to hear this for ourselves. That being said, I missed the time frame - my understanding was 3 monthes, but someone else can confirm this

---

Posted by: princessdi Aug 13 2006, 10:14 PM

Actually what Danny said was, "a few weeks, a month or two". I took that to mean the time is yet un specified. Vacations you plan for, make arrangements, etc.

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Aug 13 2006, 08:56 PM)
>
> I don't watch it either, only online today as there was a group of us that wanted to hear this for ourselves. That being said, I missed the time frame - my understanding was 3 monthes, but someone else can confirm this

---

Posted by: inga Aug 13 2006, 11:59 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 13 2006, 11:14 PM)
>
> Actually what Danny said was, "a few weeks, a month or two". I took that to mean the time is yet un specified. Vacations you plan for, make arrangements, etc.

That's a good observation, PrincessDi.

Some originally reported "three months."

Can anyone verify that the words "three months" were actually said in the original broadcast? (It's possible that today's version was altered.)

Posted by: Clay Aug 14 2006, 05:17 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Aug 13 2006, 11:59 PM)
>
> That's a good observation, PrincessDi.
>
> Some originally reported "three months."
>
> Can anyone verify that the words "three months" were actually said in the original broadcast? (It's possible that today's version was altered.)

I watched a tidbit, saw John L.'s sermon if you want to call it that.... IMO John L has become nothing more than a pulpit prostitute and Mr. Shelton would be his ummmmm manager (read pimp). While I am no prophet, I believe they have stopped doing the Lord's work some time ago.... btjm

---

Posted by: watchbird Aug 14 2006, 05:44 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 14 2006, 05:17 AM)

> I watched a tidbit, saw John L.'s sermon if you want to call it that.... IMO John L has become nothing more than a pulpit prostitute and Mr. Shelton would be his ummmmm manager (read pimp). While I am no prophet, I believe they have stopped doing the Lord's work some time ago.... btjm ou shoulda caught Shelly's "tidbits and sermon"...... that's where the applications and implications and just lain heretical doctrines were displayed in all their marvelous technicolor spinning......

nd the beat goes on....... ☒ b

Posted by: summertime Aug 14 2006, 07:49 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 14 2006, 05:44 AM) ☐
>
> You shoulda caught Shelly's "tidbits and sermon"...... that's where the applications and implications and just plain heretical doctrines were displayed in all their marvelous technicolor spinning......
>
> And the beat goes on....... ☒ b

re we talking about the 'John the Baptist' tidbit and sermon or was there more that could be posted here for hose of us who missed it?

Posted by: watchbird Aug 14 2006, 08:15 AM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Aug 14 2006, 07:49 AM) ☐
>
> Are we talking about the 'John the Baptist' tidbit and sermon or was there more that could be posted here for those of us who missed it?

Vell, John the Baptist was the main part of the sermon. What I meant by "tidbit" was the little speech she nade when she talked about the "prayer cards".

laving been involved with what Adventists called the "Spiritual Warfare and Deliverance Ministry" at one ime, and having researched that down to the aberrant doctrinal underpinnings, I am very sensitized to the alse teachings on prayer that have entered our church from the Pentecostals, with Roger Morneau being one f the doorways through which it entered. So the fact that they were using his book as the giveaway book of he evening was red flag enough to me, but then when Shelly started talking about the importance of what he called "Intercessory Prayer" ... I started taking notes.

nd sure enough, there was the link to the concept of us "being like Christ in this world" ... including his nediatorial role, which she more than merely alluded to, as she was explaining her initial statement that "our reatest calling is to Intercessory Prayer." And after speaking of Jesus role of a mediator who was "praying or us", she went on to describe in characteristic Pentecostal terms, how God has "put self-imposed handcuffs n himself" so that he does not act except in answer to our prayers, and that "Intercessory Prayer is the 'key' hat unlocks these handcuffs". (Phrases in quotes above are direct quotes as I wrote them down in my notes.)

he went on to speak of how when we commune with God, we become one with God ... and given the things hat have been said by various ones in this 3ABN Pentecostal group, as well as the immediate context, which unfortunately didn't get written out, this had the distinct impression of going well beyond the becoming one with God in our motives, actions, etc. and giving a mystical "oneness" that smacks of some of the old gnostic teachings (and is prevelant in some Christian circles even today).

With Shelly being the "heir apparent" to the throne ... at least so far as preachers are concerned ... this seems to me of vital importance to those who are considering who should stay and who should go .... if we ever do get to the "housecleaning" stage. This is why, if anyone has a sound recording and can make a written transcription, I would appreciate it greatly.

Posted by: västergötland Aug 14 2006, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 14 2006, 03:15 PM)
>
> Having been involved with what Adventists called the "Spiritual Warfare and Deliverance Ministry" at one time, and having researched that down to the aberrant doctrinal underpinnings, I am very sensitized to the false teachings on prayer that have entered our church from the Pentecostals, with Roger Morneau being one of the doorways through which it entered. So the fact that they were using his book as the giveaway book of the evening was red flag enough to me, but then when Shelly started talking about the importance of what she called "Intercessory Prayer" ... I started taking notes.

Could you explain more on this. Why is the kind of prayer Morneau wrote about a red flag?

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 08:57 AM

Now, Watchbird is right about being sensitive to the "penecostal" influences. She pointed out several things as we were watching. I have no such senstivity or even that I agree with the premise, and I see a future opportunity for a "spirited" discussion , but I disgress. However, I don't think the story of John the Baptist in modern terms was just to get the audiences attention. I know many a speaker who do this quite well. Shelly had an agenda. For those who are aware al that was missing was the names.........to protect the.......innocent.....or is it the guilty? Danny as John The Baptist? Help us!

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 14 2006, 06:15 AM)
>
> Well, John the Baptist was the main part of the sermon. What I meant by "tidbit" was the little speech she made when she talked about the "prayer cards".
>
> Having been involved with what Adventists called the "Spiritual Warfare and Deliverance Ministry" at one time, and having researched that down to the aberrant doctrinal underpinnings, I am very sensitized to the false teachings on prayer that have entered our church from the Pentecostals, with Roger Morneau being one of the doorways through which it entered. So the fact that they were using his book as the giveaway book of the evening was red flag enough to me, but then when Shelly started talking about the importance of what she called "Intercessory Prayer" ... I started taking notes.
>
> And sure enough, there was the link to the concept of us "being like Christ in this world" ... including his mediatorial role, which she more than merely alluded to, as she was explaining her initial statement that

> "our greatest calling is to Intercessory Prayer." And after speaking of Jesus role of a mediator who was "praying for us", she went on to describe in characteristic Pentecostal terms, how God has "put self-imposed handcuffs on himself" so that he does not act except in answer to our prayers, and that "Intercessory Prayer is the 'key' that unlocks these handcuffs". (Phrases in quotes above are direct quotes as I wrote them down in my notes.)
>
> She went on to speak of how when we commune with God, we become one with God ... and given the things that have been said by various ones in this 3ABN Pentecostal group, as well as the immediate context, which I unfortunately didn't get written out, this had the distinct impression of going well beyond the becoming one with God in our motives, actions, etc. and giving a mystical "oneness" that smacks of some of the old gnostic teachings (and is prevelant in some Christian circles even today).
>
> With Shelly being the "heir apparent" to the throne ... at least so far as preachers are concerned ... this seems to me of vital importance to those who are considering who should stay and who should go .... if we ever do get to the "housecleaning" stage. This is why, if anyone has a sound recording and can make a written transcription, I would appreciate it greatly.

Posted by: lurker Aug 14 2006, 09:09 AM

This was posted on the maritime forumin two different posts:
Repeatedly throughout the two hours of 3ABN Today Live, the idea was expressed that we do not need to respond to lies and accusations that people hurl against us. The battle is the Lord's, and we should let Him take care of it.

And yet Shelley had these words to say in the second hour:

Quote:

"As a faithful witness for God, he spoke out against a couple who had entered into a sinful relationship. Now the woman entangled in this situation became offended. She was embittered, and she felt scorned. And you know, there's something about her, that she was unconcerned about her relationship in the eyes of the Lord. Her worry revolved more around the possibility of losing her prominent position. So what did she do? She devised a plan to eliminate this one who had exposed her, and she enlisted the help of her young daughter. Now prompted by her mother, this daughter became entangled in the web of deceit, and she set out to set her mother's position and save it by destroying this man of God. What we see here is that the scheme was to go forward and go straight for the throat and have his head served up on a platter. Does this story sound familiar to you? To whom am I referring? John the Baptist, of course. ..."

"Now her mother's using her as a pawn. ..."

"Now how could such a holy, Spirit-filled man, who was hand-picked by God, and called to such an important ministry, fall victim to such vile persecution? Why would God allow it?" (Shelley Quinn on 3ABN Today Live, 2nd hour, replayed at 4pm CDT, Sunday, August 13, 2006)

What was she really getting at?

So it is quite clear that John's sermon about Moses was all about Danny, since he indicated as such. Thus, we would be overly naive if we didn't also conclude that Shelley's sermon was also about Danny.

That being so, one would naturally conclude that the couple involved in the sinful relationship was Linda Shelton and the Norwegian doctor, and that Danny was the one who condemned that relationship.

Thus we have here Linda being offended because her important position at 3ABN was threatened, and she has been embittered instead of being concerned about her relationship with the Lord.

And now Linda's daughter is involved in the web of deceit as both Linda and she go straight for Danny's throat.

Am I reading too much into it?

Posted by: watchbird Aug 14 2006, 09:17 AM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Aug 14 2006, 08:47 AM)
>
> Could you explain more on this. Why is the kind of prayer Morneau wrote about a red flag?

That is not exactly what I said....or at least it wasn't what I meant to say. What I meant was that I since I knew the kinds of things that Morneau wrote about prayer .... and knew that there were many of them with which I disagreed .... then the fact that they were giving away that book indicated to me (waved a red flag) as to what kinds of things they believed about prayer.

But to discuss all of those would take a lot more time than I have available at the moment. Probably the best I can do for now is to point you to the pages on the SDAnet/At Issue website, one on the topic of http://sdanet.org/atissue/prayer/index.htm and the other on the topic called http://sdanet.org/atissue/prayer/index.htm, which presents some material, including a couple book recommendations, on the related topics of prayer, the casting out of demons, and the differences between these beliefs and practices as presented in scripture and as held by some Pentecostals.... including some Adventists.

Since the Pentecostal version of all of these concepts, and more, seem to be held in by those directing 3ABN, reading these materials would be good background for understanding some of the sometimes mystifying things we are hearing coming from 3ABN persons ... both Adventist and non-Adventist.

Posted by: justme Aug 14 2006, 09:23 AM

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 14 2006, 11:09 AM)
>
> This was posted on the maritime forumin two different posts:
> Repeatedly throughout the two hours of 3ABN Today Live, the idea was expressed that we do not need to respond to lies and accusations that people hurl against us. The battle is the Lord's, and we should let Him take care of it.
>
> And yet Shelley had these words to say in the second hour:
> Quote:
> --
>
> "As a faithful witness for God, he spoke out against a couple who had entered into a sinful relationship. Now the woman entangled in this situation became offended. She was embittered, and she felt scorned. And you know, there's something about her, that she was unconcerned about her relationship in the eyes of the Lord. Her worry revolved more around the possibility of losing her prominent position. So what did she do? She devised a plan to eliminate this one who had exposed her, and she enlisted the help of her young daughter. Now prompted by her mother, this daughter became entangled in the web of deceit, and she set out to set her mother's position and save it by destroying this man of God. What we see here is that the scheme was to go forward and go straight for the throat and have his head served up on a > platter. Does this story sound familiar to you? To whom am I referring? John the Baptist, of course. ..."

>
> "Now her mother's using her as a pawn. ..."
>
> "Now how could such a holy, Spirit-filled man, who was hand-picked by God, and called to such an important ministry, fall victim to such vile persecution? Why would God allow it?" (Shelley Quinn on 3ABN Today Live, 2nd hour, replayed at 4pm CDT, Sunday, August 13, 2006)
> --
> What was she really getting at?
> So it is quite clear that John's sermon about Moses was all about Danny, since he indicated as such. Thus, we would be overly naive if we didn't also conclude that Shelley's sermon was also about Danny.
> :scratchchin:
>
> That being so, one would naturally conclude that the couple involved in the sinful relationship was Linda Shelton and the Norwegian doctor, and that Danny was the one who condemned that relationship.
>
> Thus we have here Linda being offended because her important position at 3ABN was threatened, and she has been embittered instead of being concerned about her relationship with the Lord.
>
> And now Linda's daughter is involved in the web of deceit as both Linda and Alyssa go straight for Danny's throat.
>
> Am I reading too much into it?

S I recall, in the Old Teasament there once was a man of God (Samuel?) who had a problem he couldn't olve, so he listened to "Soothe-Sayer", or "Supernatural Resource" , a.k.a. "witch". To whom does "this hosen one" listen most for his advice, his praises, his ego needs, .. is it MS, or SQ, or ... who fits the escription of the one who gives "The Chosen One" his "supernatural" marching orders?

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 09:24 AM

As Re' was say, You "dead on pernt". See how the story has bee twisted ever so slightly in that the actual Herodias wanted John the Baptist dead. Also, there was never any deciet, John told the truth and Herodias wanted him dead for it. Salome did not deceive Herod. Her and her mother merely took advantage of an opportunity. Herod was busy lusting after his step-daughter and asked the girl to dance(maybe this portion of the story instead more closely follows current events, Shelly may have been concentrating on the wrong part of the story) Offering her up to half of his kingdom. Anyway, You got it!!! 1,000 pts for you Lurker!!! Ooops!!! wrong thread!!!!

> QUOTE(lurker @ Aug 14 2006, 07:09 AM)
>
> This was posted on the maritime forumin two different posts:
> Repeatedly throughout the two hours of 3ABN Today Live, the idea was expressed that we do not need to respond to lies and accusations that people hurl against us. The battle is the Lord's, and we should let Him take care of it.
>
> And yet Shelley had these words to say in the second hour:
> Quote:
> --
>
> "As a faithful witness for God, he spoke out against a couple who had entered into a sinful relationship. Now the woman entangled in this situation became offended. She was embittered, and she felt scorned. And you know, there's something about her, that she was unconcerned about her relationship in the eyes of the Lord. Her worry revolved more around the possibility of losing her prominent position. So what did she do? She devised a plan to eliminate this one who had exposed her, and she enlisted the help of her young daughter. Now prompted by her mother, this daughter became entangled in the web of deceit, and > she set out to set her mother's position and save it by destroying this man of God. What we see here is that the scheme was to go forward and go straight for the throat and have his head served up on a platter. Does this story sound familiar to you? To whom am I referring? John the Baptist, of course. ..."

>
> "Now her mother's using her as a pawn. ..."
>
> "Now how could such a holy, Spirit-filled man, who was hand-picked by God, and called to such an important ministry, fall victim to such vile persecution? Why would God allow it?" (Shelley Quinn on 3ABN Today Live, 2nd hour, replayed at 4pm CDT, Sunday, August 13, 2006)
> --
> What was she really getting at?
> So it is quite clear that John's sermon about Moses was all about Danny, since he indicated as such. Thus, we would be overly naive if we didn't also conclude that Shelley's sermon was also about Danny.
>
> That being so, one would naturally conclude that the couple involved in the sinful relationship was Linda Shelton and the Norwegian doctor, and that Danny was the one who condemned that relationship.
>
> Thus we have here Linda being offended because her important position at 3ABN was threatened, and she has been embittered instead of being concerned about her relationship with the Lord.
>
> And now Linda's daughter Alyssa is involved in the web of deceit as both Linda and Alyssa go straight for Danny's throat.
>
> Am I reading too much into it?

Posted by: watchbird Aug 14 2006, 09:26 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 14 2006, 08:57 AM)
>
> Now, Watchbird is right about being sensitive to the "penecostal" influences. She pointed out several things as we were watching. I have no such senstivity or even that I agree with the premise, and I see a future opportunity for a "spirited" discussion , but I disgress. However, I don't think the story of John the Baptist in modern terms was just to get the audiences attention. I know many a speaker who do this quite well. Shelly had an agenda. For those who are aware al that was missing was the names.........to protect the.......innocent.....or is it the guilty? Danny as John The Baptist? Help us!

'es indeed. And this is the main thing we should get from this ...and I think it was exactly what Danny vanted us to get from it.

Iy additional point is that we can understand much more clearly exactly what she was saying and why she vas saying it if we understand her terms in their Pentecostal meanings rather than depending on our dventist use of the terms. "Anointing" for example, has quite a different meaning in Pentecostal circles than t does in mainstream Adventism. Again, I'll refer you to the urls I gave in my previous post as ones that will ielp you learn the difference in as brief a time as possible.

Posted by: Denny Aug 14 2006, 09:30 AM

Its a pity in their haste to gag Linda they did not gag themselves

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 10:18 AM

Ahhhh Gotcha' Watchbird. You are correct in your example. Might this be even an attempt to "attract" more than Adventist, say the TBN crowd, which, BTW, tend to be more "giving". It might make sense, if trouble is a brewin' as it is on the SDA front. Say GC gets it together and starts to air it's own programming on HopeTVand convinces Amazing Facts, etc to do the same.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Aug 14 2006, 08:26 AM) ☐
>
> Yes indeed. And this is the main thing we should get from this ...and I think it was exactly what Danny wanted us to get from it.
>
> My additional point is that we can understand much more clearly exactly what she was saying and why she was saying it if we understand her terms in their Pentecostal meanings rather than depending on our Adventist use of the terms. "Anointing" for example, has quite a different meaning in Pentecostal circles than it does in mainstream Adventism. Again, I'll refer you to the urls I gave in my previous post as ones that will help you learn the difference in as brief a time as possible.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Aug 14 2006, 11:00 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Its a pity in their haste to gag Linda they did not gag themselves :thumbdown:

☒ ☒ Right on Denny!! ☒ ☒

Posted by: calvin Aug 14 2006, 11:16 AM

I hope we are not over analyzing this program, reading more into it than what is there and creating our own feeding frizzy. We seem to be attaching some external motive behind nearly every phrase that was said. Maybe he is tired, wants some rest, spend some quality time with his new wife. As they say, "sometimes a cigar is just a cigar".

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 14 2006, 11:21 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 14 2006, 10:16 AM) ☐
>
> I hope we are not over analyzing this program, reading more into it than what is there and creating our own feeding frizzy. We seem to be attaching some external motive behind nearly every phrase that was said. Maybe he is tired, wants some rest, spend some quality time with his new wife. As they say, "sometimes a cigar is just a cigar".

That IS a possibility Calvin, except for the fact that it just so happens that last week the command was given to "get the mess straightened out down there" or it will be done by someone else (I won't give names). So, I know this has every thing to do with that. It is my gut belief that this is part of their strategy to "fix" the mess they are in. I just hope that all parties that should now be involved ARE getting in and getting it taken care of.

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 12:59 PM

Yeah I would say that, also, Calvin, but then the story about Herodias and Salome make no sense, and JL's sermon about the ungrateful COI giving Moses a hard time. Also, he really could have just said, "You know when Brandy and I got married, it wasn't a good time for a decent honeymoon or time alone, so we are taking it now",a nd people would have really understood that. There were too many qualifiers, and he didn't phrase it like a vacation. Like I said it was phrased something akin to Jimmy Swaggart self imposed censure. Spending the time listening to the Lord, etc.

You maybe right, but with their forces gathered, and the sermon's to bolster a discouraged Danny, I think for those to which they meant, clear messages were sent. Men are not usualy sensitive to subtlities of this sort. Just as an example: My Mom had a foster daughter, we will call Jane. Jane had a falling out one day with one of other girl cousins in the family, we will call Sally. Now what Jane did to get get back at Sally, was to start talking to the other kids about something that was happeneing in our family the next day, but that sally would not be able to attend. As Jane talked she also lead the kids out of the room they were in, into the hallway area. Now she continued this with several topics in which Sally could not take part. The results, Sally came into the living and told ther aunt that Jane and the other kids didn't like her, which was Jane's planned message for Sally. Sally got Jane's message loud and clear, but to the other kids, they were just talking about all the fun they were going to have and they never even noticed Sally was left out.

Sometimes, it is only meant to look like a cigar to those who were not meant to get the message. There are plenty here for whom that message was meant. Kind of a passive-aggressive thing. The offender appears competely innocent, while dropping emotional bombs the size of Hiroshima.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Aug 14 2006, 10:16 AM)
>
> I hope we are not over analyzing this program, reading more into it than what is there and creating our own feeding frizzy. We seem to be attaching some external motive behind nearly every phrase that was said. Maybe he is tired, wants some rest, spend some quality time with his new wife. As they say, "sometimes a cigar is just a cigar".

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 14 2006, 01:07 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 14 2006, 11:59 AM)
>
> ....You maybe right, but with their forces gathered, and the sermon's to bolster a discouraged Danny, I think for those to which they meant, clear messages were sent......
> Sometimes, it is only meant to look like a cigar to those who were not meant to get the message. There are plenty here for whom that message was meant. Kind of a passive-aggressive thing. The offender appears competely innocent, while dropping emotional bombs the size of Hiroshima.

You said it very well Di. Thank you

Posted by: Clay Aug 14 2006, 01:53 PM

If they wanted to try to compare Danny to someone, they should have used Joseph the husband of Mary...

Remember this (emphasis mine):

> QUOTE
>
> Mat 1:18-20 The birth of Jesus Christ took place in this way. His mother Mary had been promised to Joseph in marriage. But before they were married, Mary realized that she was pregnant by the Holy Spirit. (19) Her husband Joseph was an honorable man and did not want to disgrace her publicly. So he decided to break the marriage agreement with her secretly. (20) Joseph had this in mind when an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream. The angel said to him, "Joseph, descendant of David, don't be afraid to take Mary as your wife. She is pregnant by the Holy Spirit.

Joseph being an honorable man, had JUST cause to call off the marriage because she was pregnant, but he did NOT want to EMBARRASS her so he was going to do it secretly..... while contemplating how he was going to do that, the angel appeared to him in a dream....

Now compare that with what Mr. Shelton did.... While John L is comparing him to Moses, its clear that he cannot even be compared with Joseph, the husband of Mary, earthly father of Jesus... an honorable man...... nuff said....

Posted by: Freedom Aug 14 2006, 07:37 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Aug 14 2006, 11:59 AM)
>
> Yeah I would say that, also, Calvin, but then the story about Herodias and Salome make no sense, and JL's sermon about the ungrateful COI giving Moses a hard time. Also, he really could have just said, "You know when Brandy and I got married, it wasn't a good time for a decent honeymoon or time alone, so we are taking it now",a nd people would have really understood that. There were too many qualifiers, and he didn't phrase it like a vacation. Like I said it was phrased something akin to Jimmy Swaggart self imposed censure. Spending the time listening to the Lord, etc.
>
> You maybe right, but with their forces gathered, and the sermon's to bolster a discouraged Danny, I think for those to which they meant, clear messages were sent. Men are not usualy sensitive to subtlities of this sort. Just as an example: My Mom had a foster daughter, we will call Jane. Jane had a falling out one day with one of other girl cousins in the family, we will call Sally. Now what Jane did to get get back at Sally, was to start talking to the other kids about something that was happeneing in our family the next day, but that sally would not be able to attend. As Jane talked she also lead the kids out of the room they were in, into the hallway area. Now she continued this with several topics in which Sally could not take part. The results, Sally came into the living and told ther aunt that Jane and the other kids didn't like her, which was Jane's planned message for Sally. Sally got Jane's message loud and clear, but to the other kids, they were just talking about all the fun they were going to have and they never even noticed Sally was left out.
>
> Sometimes, it is only meant to look like a cigar to those who were not meant to get the message. There are plenty here for whom that message was meant. Kind of a passive-aggressive thing. The offender appears competely innocent, while dropping emotional bombs the size of Hiroshima.

Danny did take personal time off in the end of April. They went to Florida. And this wasn't for surgery or recovering from knee surgery.

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 08:00 PM

Ok, but the point is he didn't describe this time off as a vacation, not by activity, and barely by name.

> QUOTE(Freedom @ Aug 14 2006, 06:37 PM)
>
> Danny did take personal time off in the end of April. They went to Florida. And this wasn't for surgery or recovering from knee surgery.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Aug 14 2006, 09:01 PM

This reminds me of the time that Linda was taking "some time off."

Posted by: princessdi Aug 14 2006, 09:28 PM

............flesh and blood did not give this to you..........

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Aug 14 2006, 08:01 PM)
>
> This reminds me of the time that Linda was taking "some time off."

Posted by: Jvat Aug 14 2006, 09:29 PM

Did Linda take some time off?

Posted by: awesumtenor Aug 14 2006, 10:05 PM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Aug 14 2006, 10:29 PM)
>
> Did Linda take some time off?

That was the original story for her absence prior to their firing her, I believe...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: watchbird Aug 15 2006, 02:37 AM

For those who still haven't seen for themselves the broadcast we are talking about here .... you have another chance this morning, August 15.

Times given are USA Central Standard Time.

8:00 AM 3ABN Today LIVE - 1st Hour The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John

Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelley Quin, Walter Thompson
9:00 AM 3ABN Today LIVE - 2nd Hour The Battle Is The Lord's / Danny Shelton *, John Lomacang, Mollie Steinson, Moses Primo, Shelly Quin, Walter Thompson

---

Posted by: summertime Aug 15 2006, 06:45 AM

> QUOTE(Freedom @ Aug 14 2006, 07:37 PM) ☐
>
> Danny did take personal time off in the end of April. They went to Florida. And this wasn't for surgery or recovering from knee surgery.

Apparently Brandy came from the State of Florida---was her older child there with her father, and could Brandy have been visiting her parents?. We do not hear mnuch about Brandy's parents. I assume she has a Mother and Father and if they went to Florida maybe they went to visit her family. Also, does the youngest girl have a father who might live in Florida. I assume if she does have a father there she would want to visit him on occasion.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Aug 15 2006, 07:08 AM

It looks like they are repeating that program right now!

Posted by: msraccoon Aug 15 2006, 04:17 PM

Well, I watched this 2 hour whatever Sunday, and it was hard to do.

My history of 3ABN is that I viewed it for years on SkyAngel. I used to TAPE it so I could fast forward thru Danny's incessant, pompous babbling. I always hoped that Linda could shut him up and keep him from hogging the conversation with guests like Doug Batchelor.

Needless to say, I gave up and quit watching long before Linda was booted out. My 6th sense told me something was very wrong with Danny. I had a neighbor come in and notice Danny on TV once. She told me he was crazy and why was I watching.

So this was the first time I have seen Brandi the wallflower. Yes, what is she doing on the set? She is no Linda. I could hardly take her presence, little as it was.

Dr Thompson, so hesitant in his speech, still comes across as Danny's puppet.
Mollie's segment put me to sleep (really).

I have much more on my mind but enough for now.

msraccoon

Posted by: sonshineonme Aug 15 2006, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 15 2006, 03:17 PM) ☐
>
> My history of 3ABN is that I viewed it for years on SkyAngel. I used to TAPE it so I could fast forward thru Danny's incessant, pompous babbling. I always hoped that Linda could shut him up and keep him from hogging the conversation with guests like Doug Batchelor.
> Needless to say, I gave up and quit watching long before Linda was booted out. My 6th sense > told me something was very wrong with Danny. I had a neighbor come in and notice Danny on TV once. She told me he was crazy and why was I watching.

>
> msraccoon

feel your pain and suffering...what you stated here has always been my feeling too. I am in recovery now as have discovered I have not been the only one....makes me wonder just how many of us there are that have lways felt this way....when I told Linda this is how I felt, I felt a bit bad inside, two reasons - not a nice thing o hear about your husband, and the other reason was maybe it was ME? I think not. Actually, I know not. omes gots it, somes don't.

Posted by: Johann Aug 16 2006, 05:15 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Aug 16 2006, 12:51 AM)
>
> I feel your pain and suffering...what you stated here has always been my feeling too. I am in recovery now as I have discovered I have not been the only one....makes me wonder just how many of us there are that have always felt this way....when I told Linda this is how I felt, I felt a bit bad inside, two reasons - not a nice thing to hear about your husband, and the other reason was maybe it was ME? I think not. Actually, I know not. Somes gots it, somes don't.

eople, let's not complaimn too much. We have all reason to rejoice!

oday I talked to an editor I sold a dish to so that he could watch 3ABN - about 3 years ago. He told me how nuch he'd appreciated the programs then, until Linda disappeared.

Now 3ABN is not worth the time it takes to watch it, he told me, except for a few of the music programs vhich my wife enjoys. But I am so happy I can get HOPE with the same equipent.

o let's not despair, but rather turn to HOPE! Let everybody know there is HOPE. Therefore we no longer eed 3ABN!

Posted by: Lucyladye Aug 16 2006, 05:40 PM

I do not have access to HOPE TV or 3ABN except through Internet...and am thankful I have the choice of HOPE. Some of these people who side with Danny don't know half of what they think they know if they are continuously surprised at what they are learning.

Posted by: Ralph Aug 17 2006, 10:03 PM

> QUOTE(Lucyladye @ Aug 16 2006, 04:40 PM)
>
> ...Some of these people who side with Danny don't know half of what they think they know if they are continuously surprised at what they are learning.

Vhat does Danny have that I don't see? I could be duped into falling for something that John Lomacang or Shelly Quinn said -- but Danny? -- I don't think so. And yet he has a lot of seemingly intellignet people who apparently believe his every word. What am I missing? any-

---

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 01:01 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Aug 17 2006, 11:03 PM)
>
> What does Danny have that I don't see? I could be duped into falling for something that John Lomacang or Shelly Quinn said -- but Danny? -- I don't think so. And yet he has a lot of seemingly intellignet people who apparently believe his every word. What am I missing? any-that is our curse as humans.... every since Eve was deceived by that serpent, we humans are quite gullible, easily duped, readily believing that we can get something for nothing, which is why people continue to get conned out of their money...

Posted by: Jvat Aug 18 2006, 09:15 AM

Ralph, apparently Danny is just blessed with the gift of the garb. And some people, lots apparently, may be taken in by that.

Posted by: SandyColorado Aug 18 2006, 12:42 PM

I do want to make a comment about Danny taking a vacation. He mentioned one time several years ago that him and Linda had never had a real vacation. I remember my husband and I thinking that was terrible that they hadn't taken time to get away - just the two of them.

Guess things will be different with Brandy now. She must be worth taking a vacation with...

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 12:46 PM

> QUOTE(SandyColorado @ Aug 18 2006, 01:42 PM)
>
> I do want to make a comment about Danny taking a vacation. He mentioned one time several years ago that him and Linda had never had a real vacation. I remember my husband and I thinking that was terrible that they hadn't taken time to get away - just the two of them.
>
> Guess things will be different with Brandy now. She must be worth taking a vacation with...

yeah.... maybe... if that's what it is.... it could be a war counsel.... I think they said they were at war... or something like that....

Posted by: Chez Aug 18 2006, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Aug 17 2006, 11:03 PM)
>
> And yet he has a lot of seemingly intellignet people who apparently believe his every word. What am I missing? any-

So did David Koresh.

Posted by: Ralph Aug 18 2006, 11:38 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 11:46 AM)
>
> yeah.... maybe... if that's what it is.... it could be a war counsel.... I think they said they were at war... or something like that....

You may be right. I'll have to listen to what they said again. But surely you can't fool all the people all of the time. There appear to be some pretty big names backing him. There's gotta be something keeping them loyal. Money? Seeking high position? Fear? Ignorance? -- I want to believe that our church leaders are men of integrity.

> QUOTE(Chez @ Aug 18 2006, 08:05 PM)
>
> So did David Koresh.

Chez, that scares me.

Posted by: Clay Aug 18 2006, 11:47 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Aug 19 2006, 12:38 AM)
>
> You may be right. I'll have to listen to what they said again. But surely you can't fool all the people all of the time. There appear to be some pretty big names backing him. There's gotta be something keeping them loyal. Money? Seeking high position? Fear? Ignorance? -- I want to believe that our church leaders are men of integrity.
> Chez, that scares me.

wasn't it you that brought up the issue of gullibility? that's all I am saying... the leaders may be men of integrity.... then again they may not be... they may be gullible..... very gullible....

Posted by: BrotherBill Aug 19 2006, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Aug 15 2006, 05:17 PM)

> My history of 3ABN is that I viewed it for years on SkyAngel. I used to TAPE it so I could fast forward thru Danny's incessant, pompous babbling. I always hoped that Linda could shut him up and keep him from hogging the conversation with guests like Doug Batchelor.
>
> Needless to say, I gave up and quit watching long before Linda was booted out. My 6th sense told me something was very wrong with Danny. I had a neighbor come in and notice Danny on TV once. She told me he was crazy and why was I watching.
>
> msraccoon

could not agree with your post more. First, NO ONE shuts Danny up. He just is a talking machine, and that s so frustrating, particularly when there is a much more powerful Christian witness there like Doug Batchelor who could be doing the talking.

What frustrated me probably more than anything were the campmeetings when you had all these outstanding Speakers and Singers available, but then Danny would give the sermon, and his family would do most of the singing. What's with that?

Posted by: summertime Aug 19 2006, 01:22 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 18 2006, 01:01 AM)
>
> that is our curse as humans.... every since Eve was deceived by that serpent, we humans are quite gullible, easily duped, readily believing that we can get something for nothing, which is why people continue to get conned out of their money...

Or we hear him say that he was spoken to by God, and that makes us sit up and take notice. Until now---we know better

---

Posted by: Johann Sep 12 2006, 04:10 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Aug 14 2006, 09:53 PM)
>
> If they wanted to try to compare Danny to someone, they should have used Joseph the husband of Mary...
>
> Remember this (emphasis mine):
> Joseph being an honorable man, had JUST cause to call off the marriage because she was pregnant, but he did NOT want to EMBARRASS her so he was going to do it secretly..... while contemplating how he was going to do that, the angel appeared to him in a dream....
>
> Now compare that with what Mr. Shelton did.... While John L is comparing him to Moses, its clear that he cannot even be compared with Joseph, the husband of Mary, earthly father of Jesus... an honorable man...... nuff said....

reminded the administration of 3ABN of the story of Joseph and appealed to them to treat Linda that way oo - right at the beginning. They would not listen, because it seemed like they were forced to follow an agenda - to get rid of Linda at all costs.

Here I am referring to a post that is 4 weeks old. Am I disturbing? Seems like I hear the stillnesss that has settled over BSDA - the stillness before the STORM!

Posted by: Freedom Sep 12 2006, 05:01 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 12 2006, 02:10 PM)
>
> I reminded the administration of 3ABN of the story of Joseph and appealed to them to treat Linda that way too - right at the beginning. They would not listen, because it seemed like they were forced to follow an agenda - to get rid of Linda at all costs.
>
> Here I am referring to a post that is 4 weeks old. Am I disturbing? Seems like I hear the stillnesss that has settled over BSDA - the stillness before the STORM!

☒ rofl ☒ rofl ☒ rofl

KARBOOM, CRASH, THUNDER

Roll of thunder hear our cries.....

and in the roar of the storm, etc.
Someone in AUTHORITY in the room shouts, ORDER, ORDER in ......

Posted by: justme Sep 13 2006, 09:36 PM

According to a satellite system installer. Sky Angel doesn't miss 3ABN in their lineup. According to the satellite dish installer, "When the founder of Sky Angel, Robert, passed away recently, his children took over the administration of the satellite ministry.. Robert's daughter got 'fed up" with Danny Shelton and his attitudes and "pulled the plug" on 3ABN because it no longer fit their requirements as a Christian Satellite Television Ministry."

Apparently there have been so many questions about Sky Angel that the installers have been on the phone with technical assistance people at Sky Angel to solve technical problems. Of the 10 or so channels that "went down" on the Sky Angel satellite, only two or three could not be "restored", one of them being 3ABN.

Whether 3ABN was gone forever from Sky Angel because of technical; problems or because of Danny Shelton's attitudes is of lesser concern. But it should be of enormous interest to 3ABN that the very satellite system and re-broadcaster that put 3ABN onto the world scene in the very first place, has been taken away from them. 3ABN should consider these circumstances in light of the actions taken by the administrative staff at 3ABN. A good, l o n g look!

Remember that Sky Angel partnered with DISH Network to use the DISH Network satellite receivers and technical support from DISH to make it all happen. Now, of all things, Danny has the nerve to ask us to pressure DISH Network to let 3ABN into the regular DISH Network Programming Lineup. I spoke with Art Sahl about Danny's proposal. Art was very "kind" in his response when he said that DISH is in "negations" with Sky Angel about the situation. He did not say that it would depend upon the viewer's requests. 3ABN has been made Sky Angel look bad, so why would DISH want to carry 3ABN when the viewer ship is dropping off, anyway. Why would DISH want 3ABN programming that may eventually cause viewers to drop the premium DISH channels?

Now it is time for 3ABN to look at Danny and his "advisors", who helped him get into this mess. See if they want more of the same.

Few things have disappointed me as much of the years as seeing what 3ABN has done to itself. It is heartbreaking to see the seeds they have been sowing. Now it's time for the harvest, a very bitter harvest indeed.

Posted by: watchbird Oct 4 2006, 07:25 AM

While the latter posts in this thread veered somewhat from the original topic of the thread, since we are currently addressing the information about Alyssa's statement, it seemed a good idea to bump this up to the front page so it will be handier.... both for comment and for reading the history of our previous comments.

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 6 2007, 10:52 PM

This is worth re-reading in light of recent events.

I note with interest several positive comments about Doug Batchelor. I hope they still apply. I have nothing good to say about him until he proves me wrong and cleans house.

☒ IPB

Board Rules - Please Read Gallery Arcade Help Search Members Calendar

Welcome Guest (Log In | Register)

☒ Proverbs-Praise

☒ >

BlackSDA > General Fellowship > 3ABN

Latest Shouts In The Shoutbox -- View The Shoutbox ☒ Collapse

leehaw -- Hey Everybody!!
LeePaDee -- All afternoon... Hey
Clay -- hey Den
Denny -- afternoon all.
leehaw -- Nite Nite Sis! ☒ hug.gif Seraphim7 -- Good nite fam
princessdi -- ahhh
MsHoly1 -- The one for the Princess!
MsHoly1 -- You must ask?
princessdi -- Which Concert?

Skin Default [ ] Shout Clear Smilies BBCodes

Refresh

19 Pages ☐ « < 3 4 5 6 7 > » ☒ Start new

☐ 3ABN Forum Options ☐

	Topic Title	Replies	Topic Starter	Views	Last Action
✓	Lawsuit Secrecy ☐ 1 2 3 ...and other pieces of a bigger puzzle	30	sister	1,351	5th May 2007 - 11:37 PM Last post by: SoulEspresso
✓	Hit & Run Tactics ☐ 1 2 Some Humble Observations	21	Seraphim7	1,161	4th May 2007 - 07:35 PM Last post by: PrincessDrRe
✓	Change In 3-abn Leadership ☐ 1 2 3 » 19	277	Observer	10,023	3rd May 2007 - 03:20 PM Last post by: Rosyroi
✓	Dr. Arild Abrahamsen Speaks Out For Himself And Linda ☐ 1 2 3 » 9	124	Johann	4,452	3rd May 2007 - 10:22 AM Last post by: Johann
					2nd May 2007 -

✓	This Should Not Be News - Continuation ☐ 1 2 3 » 11 Letter from Danny Shelton to BSDA	160	calvin	8,996	05:36 PM Last post by: Rosyroi
✓	Scott Clem Statement - "i Am Not A Victim" ☐ Posted here at his request	3	PeacefullyBewildered	364	1st May 2007 - 08:38 PM Last post by: PrincessDrRe
✓	The Rosie Lies Of 26th April 2007, 02:08 Pm Allowed On Cf ☐ 1 2 3 not all forums are created equal	40	mozart	1,136	1st May 2007 - 07:55 PM Last post by: PrincessDrRe
✓	Doug Batchelor Responds ☐ 1 2 3 4	47	Observer	2,452	1st May 2007 - 03:54 PM Last post by: LaurenceD
✓	Amazing Facts News Release ☐ 1 2 3 » 6 www.amazingfacts.org	80	from-the-pew	3,237	28th April 2007 - 03:27 PM Last post by: mozart
✓	Pondering Visiting Pastor Doug ☐ 1 2 3	34	PJMusic	1,166	27th April 2007 - 12:48 PM Last post by: SoulEspresso
✓	Fare Well 3abn? ☐ 1 2 3 Amazing Facts Takeover?	35	Johann	2,282	25th April 2007 - 04:04 PM Last post by: Seraphim7
✓	3abn Booted From Sky Angel ☐ 1 2 3 » 5	68	Zephyr	2,319	22nd April 2007 - 04:01 PM Last post by: mozart
✓	Moved: Hi From Barbara Kerr In Norway A love letter to all	--	Johann	--	22nd April 2007 - 09:11 AM Last post by: calvin
✓	☐Letters Between Linda And The Thompsonville Church ☐ 1 2 3 » 12 J.L. re: counseling, censure & attempts at reconciliation	179	Aletheia	4,925	21st April 2007 - 11:19 AM Last post by: Snoopy
✓	Poll: 3ABN Viewing ☐ 1 2 3 4 Do you watch?	52	-wesleysimpson-	1,441	17th April 2007 - 06:15 PM Last post by: shinejoy

Enter Keywords | Search forum

19 Pages ☐ « < 3 4 [✓ 5] 6 7 > »

☒ Start new

12 User(s) are browsing this forum (8 Guests and 0 Anonymous Users)

4 Members: PECAN CUTE, muddy12, Yoogali, PJMusic

☐ New Replies
☐ No New Replies
☐ Hot Topic (New)
☐ Hot Topic (No New)

☐ Poll (New)
☐ Poll (No New)
☐ Locked Topic
☐ Moved Topic

|-- 3ABN Go

Order: Last Post Z-A Show All

Topics: All Go

☒

☒

Lo-Fi Version Time is now: 2nd July 2007 - 09:48 AM

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Lawsuit Secrecy

Posted by: sister May 3 2007, 08:13 AM

Why are the contents of the lawsuit against Pickle and Joy sealed? What does Danny and 3ABN have to hide?

I am assuming that the request to the court came from the long list of attorneys that Garwin McNeilus' money has bought and paid for, rather than from Pickle and Joy who have pushed for full disclosure in all matters: from Danny's divorce of Linda---without Biblical grounds---to his mismanagement of 3ABN and other covert activities. Why the secrecy if this is a simple matter of copyright infringement? What is it that 3ABN does not want the general public or the stockholders in the pews to know?

In the past Danny has only threaten lawsuits, claiming that financially he can drag anyone he chooses through the courts until they have been ruined and lost all their assets. His threats have always been nothing more than posturing, a paper tiger roaring loudly to frighten the underdog nipping at his ankles. Again I ask, why is he proceeding now? And more importantly, why the secrecy? What is Dan so afraid of Pickle and Joy discovering that he and McNeilus are now pulling out the big guns in an attempt to silence them and discredit any further information their investigation may bring to light or the means of spreading that information worldwide?

I know for a fact that the information that has been revealed to date concerning Danny Shelton and improprieties in the management of 3ABN on www.save3abn.org is only the tip of the iceberg in regard to what has actually taken place.

Donations have been down at 3ABN the entire first quarter. This fact was confirmed by Mollie Steenson on the Thursday night live, where the merger of 3ABN and Amazing Facts was announced. On the same program Danny also called out for the need of millions of dollars for the new merged organization. If both organizations are financially sound and will continue with their current operations at this time and merely combine their boards into one entity, why the sudden need for millions? Amazing Facts has speakers and potential programming, 3ABN already has the equipment and the studios, why the sudden need for millions of dollars pumped into the combined budget? What information is being withheld from the viewing public? Why has there been no information regarding the addition of other "self supporting" ministries to this new organization? Amazing Facts has been in negotiations with Weimar Institute and College to add them to the package. What other ministries will be brokered into the mix?

The matchmaker for the marriage of Amazing Facts and 3ABN was Garwin McNeilus. Garwin was the faceless man, in CA Murray's "dream", who did so much of the talking at the merger meeting in Colorado. He is the money man behind the scenes who pays for attorneys, provides locations for secret merger meetings, is the power and authority behind ASI and is silently building a new empire within the "self supporting ministries" of Adventism. This empire begins with the merging of 3ABN, Amazing Facts, Weimar Institute and College, and the support of unnamed persons and entities within ASI. The consortium that backs this marriage, headed by Garwin McNeilus, is a group of very wealthy SDA business men. Men who have money and desire for greater power. They made an attempt for a takeover in the running of OCI (Outposts Centers International) a little over 2 years ago, at that time the attempt failed. Now they build their base upon a broader foundation: 3ABN/Amazing Facts/Weimar Institute and College merger. What is their plan and what is their goal? And why is it so important for them to stop the investagations of Pickle and Joy?

Why the lawsuit now and the secrecy surrounding it's particulars? Follow the money trail...

Posted by: from-the-pew May 3 2007, 08:45 AM

I heard about the Weimar negotiations a couple months ago... I had thought that was finished, signed, and done... From what you're saying, its not?

Posted by: Observer May 3 2007, 09:02 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ May 3 2007, 08:13 AM)
>
> Why are the contents of the lawsuit against Pickle and Joy sealed? What does Danny and 3ABN have to hide?
>
> I am assuming that the request to the court came from the long list of attorneys that Garwin McNeilus' money has bought and paid for, rather than from Pickle and Joy who have pushed for full disclosure in all matters, from Danny's divorce of Linda---without Biblical grounds---to his mismanagement of 3ABN and other covert activities. Why the secrecy if this is a simple matter of copyright infringement? What is it that 3ABN does not want the general public or the stockholders in the pew to know?
>
> In the past Danny has always only threaten lawsuits, claiming that financially he can drag anyone he chooses through the courts until they have been ruined and lost all their assets. He threat have always been nothing more than posturing, a paper tiger roaring loudly to frighten the underdog nipping at his ankles. Again I ask, why is he proceeding now? And more importantly, why the secrecy? What is Dan so afraid of Pickle and Joy discovering that he and McNeilus are now pulling out the big guns in an attempt to silence them and discredit any further information their investigation may bring to light or the means of spreading that information worldwide?
>
> I know for a fact that the information that has been revealed to date concerning Danny Shelton and improprieties in the management of 3ABN on www.save3abn.org is only the tip of the iceberg in regard to what has actually taken place.
>
> Donations have been down at 3ABN the entire first quarter. This fact was confirmed by Mollie Steenson on the Thursday night live, where the merger of 3ABN and Amazing Facts was announced. On the same program Danny also called out for the need of millions of dollars for the new merged organization. If both organizations are financially sound and will continue with their current operations at this time and merely combine their boards into one entity, why the sudden need for millions? Amazing Facts has speakers and potential programming, 3ABN already has the equipment and the studios, why the sudden need for millions of dollars pumped into the combined budget? What information is being withheld from the viewing public? Why has there been no information regarding the addition of other "self supporting" ministries to this new organization? Amazing Facts has been in negotiations with Weimar Institute and College to add them to the package. What other ministries will be brokered into the mix?
>
> The matchmaker for the marriage of Amazing Facts and 3ABN was Garwin McNeilus. Garwin was the faceless man, in CA Murray's "dream", who did so much of the talking at the merger meeting in Colorado. He is the money man behind the scenes who pays for attorneys, provides locations for secret merger meetings, is the power and authority behind ASI and is silently building a new empire within the "self supporting ministries" of Adventism. This empire begins with the merging of 3ABN, Amazing Facts, Weimar Institute and College, and the support of unnamed persons and entities within ASI. The consortium that backs this marriage, headed by Garwin McNeilus, is a group of very wealthy SDA business men. Men who have money and desire for greater power. They made an attempt for a takeover in the running of OCI (Outposts Centers International) a little over 2 years ago, at that time the attempt failed. Now they build their base upon a broader foundation: 3ABN/Amazing Facts/Weimar Institute and College merger. What is their plan and what is their goal? And why is it so important for them to stop the investagations of Pickle and Joy?
>
> Why the lawsuit now and the secrecy surrounding it's particulars? Follow the money trail...

Let me clairfy a point:

The legal documents are sealed. That means that you and I can not read them.

Both Mr. Joy and Mr. Pickle, and thier accredited legal representatives can read them. They know exactly what those documents are. However, they, and their legal representative can not share that information with anyone else. Anyone who is discovered to have shared that information is subject to legal sanction. If an licensed attorney, that person could be subject to legal discipline in additon to judicial sanction.

As understood, this seal is thougth to be extremely restrictive. I.e. Anyone who understands U.S. law knows that there is another legal hearing scheduled in this case. Yet, those principles in this case cannot acknowledge that, and they cannot tell us when it is scheduled. They simply are unable to tell us what the focus of the lawsuit is, or anything about it.

I would expect that any early issue would be for the one side to request that the judge lift the seal, and make the records public. But, that is simply my expectation, and I do not know, as I have not been told such. That request would probably come in a series of proceedural requests. It is likely that both sides will be making proceedural requests.

Posted by: Grith May 3 2007, 09:22 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Isaiah 8
> 9 Associate yourselves, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces; and give ear, all ye of far countries: gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken in pieces; gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken in pieces.
> 10 Take counsel together, and it shall come to nought; speak the word, and it shall not stand: for God is with us.
> 11 For the LORD spake thus to me with a strong hand, and instructed me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying,
> 12 Say ye not, A confederacy, to all them to whom this people shall say, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid.

God reads the secrets of the heart. He is well acquainted with what is going through the minds of these men, and when He sees that the time is right, He will make it known. Their secrets will not remain secret. He will break the power of these men who desire power and prestige. He has already told us that it is the meek who will inherit the earth.

I am saddened by all that is happening, but my trust is in my heavenly Father who knows the end from the beginning. He has drawn a line somewhere though we don't see it, and He will not permit Danny Shelton or Garwin McNeilus or ASI businessmen or anyone to cross that line.

I was thinking about the story of Lucifer and how God did not destroy him immediately. He had to allow him to show his true colors. I believe that God may have allowed Linda to be removed out of 3abn that Danny and others connected with him would have opportunity to show their true colors. God set up 3abn and I believe that He will cleanse and purify it. And all those who have sought to destroy those with whom they disagree will find themselves caught in the net that they laid to entrap others. As SDAs we must be prepared for anything. We have already been told "Many a star that we have admired for its brilliancy will then go out in darkness. Chaff like a cloud will be borne away on the wind, even from places where we see only floors of rich wheat. All who assume the ornaments of the sanctuary, but are not clothed with Christ's righteousness, will appear in the shame of their own nakedness. 5T 81."

> QUOTE
>
> Psalm 9
> 15 The heathen are sunk down in the pit that they made: in the net which they hid is their own foot taken.
> 16 The LORD is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in the work of his own hands. Higgaion. Selah.
> 17 The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God.
> 18 For the needy shall not alway be forgotten: the expectation of the poor shall not perish for ever.
> 19 Arise, O LORD; let not man prevail: let the heathen be judged in thy sight.

> 20 Put them in fear, O LORD: that the nations may know themselves to be but men. Selah.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 3 2007, 11:28 AM

Sister,
Ah yes, why the litigation? Somebody must have gotten a little too close to uncovering the truth. And why the secrecy? We must remember that some people are of the opinion that image, no matter how false it may be, must be protected no matter what the cost or who must be sacrificed in the process.

Gregory,
Thank you for clarifying the response we should expect on the part of Bob and Gailon and their legal representatives due to the legal documents being sealed. It is difficult for all of us who have been so involved in the discussions of these issues to now not be allowed to be privy to the details of the suit that Bob and Gailon are facing but none should be particularly surprised that it is being played out in this manner.

Is it possible for the prosecution to litigate the entire case with the details sealed? That seems so unlikely, but could it happen?

Girth,
Bless you for bringing these thoughts to this discussion! I hope all those who are targets of this litigation and whose families are being impacted by the mechanism of such proceedings will take courage and remember that God IS in control. While He clearly expects us to participate in reproving sin, we can all have faith that His course of action will be true and His will done.

Posted by: Observer May 3 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ May 3 2007, 11:28 AM)
>
> Sister,
>
> Gregory,
> Thank you for clarifying the response we should expect on the part of Bob and Gailon and their legal representatives due to the legal documents being sealed. It is difficult for all of us who have been so involved in the discussions of these issues to now not be allowed to be privy to the details of the suit that Bob and Gailon are facing but none should be particularly surprised that it is being played out in this manner.
>
> Is it possible for the prosecution to litigate the entire case with the details sealed? That seems so unlikely, but could it happen?

'es, it could happen.

'ay attention to what I stated in the following:

> QUOTE
>
> I would expect that any early issue would be for the one side to request that the judge lift the seal, and make the records public. But, that is simply my expectation, and I do not know, as I have not been told such. That request would probably come in a series of proceedural requests. It is likely that both sides will be making proceedural requests.

The early days of litigation in cases such as this are typically involve with technical and proceedural issues. This is a time in whch if any party wants a change in venue, that request is made. In addition challenges are typically made to orders that have placed documents under seal or impoundment.

Typically, a party will request seal/impoundment. That will be granted on a temporary basis. That is to give the other side a chance to challenge before it becomes permanent. So, if this is any kind of a typical proceeding, the order to impound is not permanent. It simply provides some kind of a time-frame in which the request to impound can be challenged.

So, if this is typical, two of the priority issues for the next hearing would likely be a change in venue, if that is desired, and a challenge to the impoundment, if that is going to be made.

I could also expect some other proceedural and technical issues to be raised early on.

Typically, early on in the proceedings, one or both parties will ask for a summary judgement. That is simply a request for the judge to issue a ruling in that person's favor, without going to a full trial. Typically they are denied, but not always.

Early on in the process, both parties will likely ask the court to issue decrees that compel the other party to produce evidence, or compel people to give sworn testimony.

There is going to be a lot of legal manuvering as the two sides each seek their own best advantage. If this is allowed to take place in public view, it will be interesting to observe. If it is all kept under seal, we will have minimal information, and much unsubstantiated gossip. We shall just have to see what happens. I cannot predict what will happen.

Posted by: inga May 3 2007, 12:57 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ May 3 2007, 01:02 PM)
>
> There is going to be a lot of legal manuvering as the two sides each seek their own best advantage. If this is allowed to take place in public view, it will be interesting to observe. If it is all kept under seal, we will have minimal information, and much unsubstantiated gossip. We shall just have to see what happens. I cannot predict what will happen.

Litigants with a lot of money can also seek to wear down the opposition financially simply by a lot of legal maneuvering that involves a lot of legal costs. It is evident that Garwin McNeilus has enough financial resources to do just that. This would avoid the public exposure that would inevitably result from a trial -- exposure that would give 3ABN a lot of negative publicity. This wearing-down process is playing dirty, but then 3ABN & cohorts have never played "clean."

Gailon Joy and Bob Pickle may very well need a legal defense fund.

I'm wondering, though, on what basis Bob was served. He posted on this public forum, but he cannot be definitely tied to the web site, can he?

I assume that litigants must show some really good reasons to have all court proceedings kept private/sealed?

Posted by: Shiny Penny May 3 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 3 2007, 06:45 AM)

> I heard about the Weimar negotiations a couple months ago... I had thought that was finished, signed, and done... From what you're saying, its not?

Can you tell us a bit more about these negotiations? And did you find out what is the current status? Thanks.

Posted by: Observer May 3 2007, 01:16 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ May 3 2007, 11:57 AM) ☐
>
> Litigants with a lot of money can also seek to wear down the opposition financially simply by a lot of legal maneuvering that involves a lot of legal costs. It is evident that Garwin McNeilus has enough financial resources to do just that. This would avoid the public exposure that would inevitably result from a trial -- exposure that would give 3ABN a lot of negative publicity. This wearing-down process is playing dirty, but then 3ABN & cohorts have never played "clean."
>
> Gailon Joy and Bob Pickle may very well need a legal defense fund.
>
> I'm wondering, though, on what basis Bob was served. He posted on this public forum, but he cannot be definitely tied to the web site, can he?
>
> I assume that litigants must show some really good reasons to have all court proceedings kept private/sealed?

Re: Bob:

To answer your questions would potentially give the plaintiff an advantage, either to support their claim, or to et them know how Bob would defend against it.

mpounded documents: It must be assumed that this order is temporary. The defendents will have the opportunity to challenge. Most often when documents are impounded/sealed it is for a limited time. But, it can be forever. Yes, I suspect that the defendents will be able to mount a good case for making them available to the public. But, as I do not know why the plaintiff wanted them sealed, I can only speculate.

Posted by: watchbird May 3 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 3 2007, 10:45 AM) ☐
>
> I heard about the Weimar negotiations a couple months ago... I had thought that was finished, signed, and done... From what you're saying, its not?

Perhaps you could go back to the source from which you heard this and ask more questions and bring us word of what you learn.

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny @ May 3 2007, 03:02 PM) ☐
>
> Can you tell us a bit more about these negotiations? And did you find out what is the current status? Thanks.

f this is of interest to you, perhaps you could do some original investigation and bring us word. Both Weimar and Amazing Facts have websites, so you could find contact information there. You might even find someone listed whom you know and to whom you could direct your questions.

Posted by: Jnana15 May 3 2007, 02:27 PM

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny @ May 3 2007, 02:02 PM)
>
> Can you tell us a bit more about these negotiations? And did you find out what is the current status? Thanks.

Excuse me for asking, but you trying to gather information from a particular person so that they will have a lawsuit brought against them? This is the second time that I've seen your request for information. The other in a different thread.

Posted by: Shiny Penny May 3 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ May 3 2007, 01:27 PM)
>
> Excuse me for asking, but you trying to gather information from a particular person so that they will have a lawsuit brought against them? This is the second time that I've seen your request for information. The other in a different thread.

You are excused for asking. I'm asking a question because I want to know the answer - my question was to a particular person only in response to their earlier post or information in that person's earlier post. Anything wrong with that?

Actually, I'm a little surprised by your question...I thought here at BlackSDA we wanted to know everything. I'm asking questions. I'm hoping that I can get some answers. So far...the answers I've gotten have been vague or no answer at all.

But I shall keep on trying and hoping.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 3 2007, 12:27 PM)
>
> Perhaps you could go back to the source from which you heard this and ask more questions and bring us word of what you learn.
> If this is of interest to you, perhaps you could do some original investigation and bring us word. Both Weimar and Amazing Facts have websites, so you could find contact information there. You might even find someone listed whom you know and to whom you could direct your questions.

AF merging with Weimar is of a passing interest to me. I had not heard about it before Pew's post, and was hoping that someone here could provide some information. I suppose I could try and do this research myself, but I doubt I will find the time to do so. I was hoping that someone on this site had information that could be shared with us all.

About finding someone listed whom I know, well, most everyone around here is anonymous. So should I ask some of these people to identify themselves so that I determine whether I know them?

Anyway, I will ask Sister if she can share some info with us, since she's the one that originally brought it up.

> QUOTE(sister @ May 3 2007, 07:13 AM) ☐
>
> This empire begins with the merging of 3ABN, Amazing Facts, Weimar Institute and College, and the support of unnamed persons and entities within ASI.

Sister, Sister

Please let us know what you know about the AF Wiemar merger. Thank you. Shiny Penny

---

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 3 2007, 03:36 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ May 3 2007, 10:57 AM) ☐
>
> Litigants with a lot of money can also seek to wear down the opposition financially simply by a lot of legal maneuvering that involves a lot of legal costs. It is evident that Garwin McNeilus has enough financial resources to do just that. This would avoid the public exposure that would inevitably result from a trial -- exposure that would give 3ABN a lot of negative publicity. This wearing-down process is playing dirty, but then 3ABN & cohorts have never played "clean."
>
> Gailon Joy and Bob Pickle may very well need a legal defense fund.
>
> I'm wondering, though, on what basis Bob was served. He posted on this public forum, but he cannot be definitely tied to the web site, can he?
>
> I assume that litigants must show some really good reasons to have all court proceedings kept private/sealed?

Inga,
I know little of the legal system but what kind of legal maneuvering would involve a lot of legal costs for Bob and Gailon since they are "defendants"? I understand that their attornies/counsel/legal representatives must be proactive in insuring that every detail is in place for an even playing field. Are there really so many legal wranglings available to the plaintiffs that it could prove to be an insurmountable financial hardship to these men?

Posted by: LaurenceD May 3 2007, 03:39 PM

Shiny Penny...your questions are innocent enough, but there's also something kinda fishy. We're not easily fooled. Why not do a little horse trading? We might answer your questions if you begin by answering ours. I posted two for you this morning on the other thread. Let us get to know you for a while first.

BTW, I looked at a shiny penny today, just for good measure, and I saw copper colored skin, and copper colored hair on the image. And a nice little mansion on the back side. I was reminded to follow the money...as sister would say.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered May 3 2007, 03:52 PM

Shiny Penny,

It has been my experience here on BSDA that rather than wanting to know "everything", many of the folks here are most interested in finding the truth. As we all get to know one another better through out discussions we will know how to more properly respond to each other's questions. Sometimes folks get defensive simply because they don't know if the person's motive behind the question asked.

If you would like to know more first hand about any Weimar/AF relationship, I would suggest you might start with contacting them directly. Weimar College's web site can be found here:

http://www.weimarcollege.info/

Posted by: Jnana15 May 3 2007, 04:31 PM

[quote]quote name='Shiny Penny' date='May 3 2007, 04:17 PM' post='194040']

Actually, I'm a little surprised by your question...I thought here at BlackSDA we wanted to know everything. I'm asking questions. I'm hoping that I can get some answers. So far...the answers I've gotten have been vague or no answer at all. [quote][/quote]

Dig a little deeper and you will find the truth. Search other websites. That's how I stumbled onto this site, being nosey and seeking the truth.

[quote]About finding someone listed whom I know, well, most everyone around here is anonymous. So should I ask some of these people to identify themselves so that I determine whether I know them? [/quote]

I think that the Boss will tell you that this is a NO, NO. For a moment, you reminded me of someone who is banned from here.

Posted by: Shiny Penny May 3 2007, 06:15 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 3 2007, 01:39 PM)
>
> Shiny Penny...your questions are innocent enough, but there's also something kinda fishy. We're not easily fooled. Why not do a little horse trading? We might answer your questions if you begin by answering ours. I posted two for you this morning on the other thread. Let us get to know you for a while first.
>
> BTW, I looked at a shiny penny today, just for good measure, and I saw copper colored skin, and copper colored hair on the image. And a nice little mansion on the back side. I was reminded to follow the money...as sister would say.

LaurenceD - thanks for telling me that you had asked questions on another thread. I'm still new to navigating around bsda and had not seen your reply/questions. I've responded briefly on the other thread.

In that thread you asked me about my opinions. I'm not sure how my opinions will help anyone get to the truth (or facts). And what's more is my opinion is evolving as I learn more information or as I've taken more time to mull over the facts that I am aware of. So forgive me for not generously expressing my opinion.

An opinion is just what the person is thinking at the time, and not necessarily the truth of the matter. So pardon me for not expressing my opinion or not expressing it in detail.

My questions on this forum so far are about facts and about details. And I hope that if someone on this forum has the facts that they can be kind enough to share them. There are lots of opinions freely expressed that are not helpful to me in finding out the facts - or the truth.

Opinion vs fact --- at this point this is the question for me.

Shiny Penny

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ May 3 2007, 02:31 PM)
>
> Dig a little deeper and you will find the truth. Search other websites. That's how I stumbled onto this site, being nosey and seeking the truth.
> I think that the Boss will tell you that this is a NO, NO. For a moment, you reminded me of someone who is banned from here.

Jnana15 - I'm digging around here looking for the truth and finding some parts. Asking some questions and hoping to get closer to the whole. Thank you. Shiny Penny

---

Posted by: princessdi May 3 2007, 06:36 PM

Shiny Penny, Start diggin in the pinned thread of the 3ABN forum. They are pinned and closed because they contain documents, emails, etc. That is your best bet.

Posted by: watchbird May 3 2007, 07:01 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 3 2007, 03:27 PM)
>
> Perhaps you could go back to the source from which you heard this and ask more questions and bring us word of what you learn.
> If this is of interest to you, perhaps you could do some original investigation and bring us word. Both Weimar and Amazing Facts have websites, so you could find contact information there. You might even find someone listed whom you know and to whom you could direct your questions.

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny @ May 3 2007, 05:17 PM)
>
> AF merging with Weimar is of a passing interest to me. I had not heard about it before Pew's post, and was hoping that someone here could provide some information. I suppose I could try and do this research myself, but I doubt I will find the time to do so. I was hoping that someone on this site had information that could be shared with us all.
>
> About finding someone listed whom I know, well, most everyone around here is anonymous. So should I ask some of these people to identify themselves so that I determine whether I know them?

Penny, you will learn more if you read more carefully. Please read what I said again.

I was talking about finding people on the Weimar and Amazing Facts websites... not here. Weimar, being a college, no doubt has a goodly number of their staff listed. Amazing Facts has a number of choices on their response form. These are all real names of real people.

I gave you directions so you could locate things for yourself here on BSDA rather than standing like a panhandler on the street corner with his hand stretched out and a quavery call for donations. But when it comes to the Weimar deal... so far as I know, that has not been mentioned on BSDA before the recent mention. Facts regarding that will have to come from those involved. And they won't float in on cyberwings. Someone will have to find them and report to us here. It could be you as well as anyone else.

Posted by: Shiny Penny May 3 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 3 2007, 05:01 PM)
>
> Penny, you will learn more if you read more carefully. Please read what I said again.
>
> I was talking about finding people on the Weimar and Amazing Facts websites... not here. Weimar, being a college, no doubt has a goodly number of their staff listed. Amazing Facts has a number of choices on their response form. These are all real names of real people.
>
> I gave you directions so you could locate things for yourself here on BSDA rather than standing like a pan-handler on the street corner with his hand stretched out and a quavery call for donations. But when it comes to the Weimar deal... so far as I know, that has not been mentioned on BSDA before the recent mention. Facts regarding that will have to come from those involved. And they won't float in on cyberwings. Someone will have to find them and report to us here. It could be you as well as anyone else.

Watchbird - Sister posted information about AF/Weimar - she obviously knows something, so maybe she could provide some facts that she was referring to? You have a way with words "a pan-handler on the street corner with his hand stretched out and a quavery call for donations." That is such a wonderful description, oh that I could live up to it...and so far donations are slim, but growing! Shiny Penny

---

Posted by: watchbird May 3 2007, 07:21 PM

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny @ May 3 2007, 09:16 PM)
>
> Watchbird - Sister posted information about AF/Weimar - she obviously knows something, so maybe she could provide some facts that she was referring to? You have a way with words "a pan-handler on the street corner with his hand stretched out and a quavery call for donations." That is such a wonderful description, oh that I could live up to it...and so far donations are slim, but growing! Shiny Penny

Well... if that is the reputation you want to build... just keep on the way you are... you're making great progress.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 3 2007, 07:48 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 3 2007, 07:36 PM)
>
> Shiny Penny, Start diggin in the pinned thread of the 3ABN forum. They are pinned and closed because they contain documents, emails, etc. That is your best bet.

I agree.....

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 3 2007, 08:21 PM)
>
> Well... if that is the reputation you want to build... just keep on the way you are... you're making great > progress.

also agree....

lthough BSDA is a forum of "truth"...it is also a forum that requires READING.

. Read the threads.
. Ask questions.
. Repeat - read the threads.
. Ask questions.

he fact that you asked a question that is kinda "out of order" - (not asking "little things" first) states that ou may be suspect. That is all....

☒ sn

Posted by: runner4him May 3 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ May 3 2007, 08:13 AM)
>
> Why are the contents of the lawsuit against Pickle and Joy sealed?
> What does Danny and 3ABN have to hide?
>
> I am assuming that the request to the court came from the long list of attorneys that Garwin McNeilus' money has bought and paid for, rather than from Pickle and Joy who have pushed for full disclosure in all matters: from Danny's divorce of Linda---without Biblical grounds---to his mismanagement of 3ABN and other covert activities. Why the secrecy if this is a simple matter of copyright infringement? What is it that 3ABN does not want the general public or the stockholders in the pews to know?
>
> In the past Danny has only threaten lawsuits, claiming that financially he can drag anyone he chooses through the courts until they have been ruined and lost all their assets. His threats have always been nothing more than posturing, a paper tiger roaring loudly to frighten the underdog nipping at his ankles. Again I ask, why is he proceeding now? And more importantly, why the secrecy? What is Dan so afraid of Pickle and Joy discovering that he and McNeilus are now pulling out the big guns in an attempt to silence them and discredit any further information their investigation may bring to light or the means of spreading that information worldwide?
>
> I know for a fact that the information that has been revealed to date concerning Danny Shelton and improprieties in the management of 3ABN on www.save3abn.org is only the tip of the iceberg in regard to what has actually taken place.
>
> Donations have been down at 3ABN the entire first quarter. This fact was confirmed by Mollie Steenson on the Thursday night live, where the merger of 3ABN and Amazing Facts was announced. On the same program Danny also called out for the need of millions of dollars for the new merged organization. If both organizations are financially sound and will continue with their current operations at this time and merely combine their boards into one entity, why the sudden need for millions? Amazing Facts has speakers and potential programming, 3ABN already has the equipment and the studios, why the sudden need for millions of dollars pumped into the combined budget? What information is being withheld from the viewing public? Why has there been no information regarding the addition of other "self supporting" ministries to this new organization? Amazing Facts has been in negotiations with Weimar Institute and College to add them to the package. What other ministries will be brokered into the mix?
>
> The matchmaker for the marriage of Amazing Facts and 3ABN was Garwin McNeilus. Garwin was the faceless man, in CA Murray's "dream", who did so much of the talking at the merger meeting in Colorado. He is the money man behind the scenes who pays for attorneys, provides locations for secret merger meetings, is the power and authority behind ASI and is silently building a new empire within the "self > supporting ministries" of Adventism. This empire begins with the merging of 3ABN, Amazing Facts, Weimar Institute and College, and the support of unnamed persons and entities within ASI. The consortium that backs this marriage, headed by Garwin McNeilus, is a group of very wealthy SDA business men. Men who have money and desire for greater power. They made an attempt for a takeover in the running of OCI (Outposts Centers International) a little over 2 years ago, at that time the attempt failed. Now they build their base upon a broader foundation: 3ABN/Amazing Facts/Weimar Institute and College merger. What is their plan and what is their goal? And why is it so important for them to stop the investagations of Pickle and Joy?

>
> Why the lawsuit now and the secrecy surrounding it's particulars? Follow the money trail...

hank you Sister for all the above info. I just went to the save3abn web site and saw the new posting for today.....it is loaded! We can rejoice ven in the midst of this mess which appears like a dark cloud hanging over the church and His people. Truth vill prevail! Our God is an awesome God who IS able! Let us all bend the knee to Him and pray diligently so hat we might see Him perform a wonderous work not only with the current legal situation but also in each of is.

Posted by: sonshineonme May 3 2007, 09:09 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ May 3 2007, 07:57 PM)
>
> Thank you Sister for all the above info. I just went to the save3abn web site and saw the new posting for today.....it is loaded! We can rejoice even in the midst of this mess which appears like a dark cloud hanging over the church and His people. Truth will prevail! Our God is an awesome God who IS able! Let us all bend the knee to Him and pray diligently so that we might see Him perform a wonderous work not only with the current legal situation but also in each of us.

ou are so right r4h!! (btw, I use to be a runner too!)
just read up on the newest addition at save3abn, very exciting! Seems, Dan can't win either way.

Posted by: sonshineonme May 3 2007, 09:19 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ May 3 2007, 06:48 PM)
>
> I agree.....
>
> I also agree....
>
> Although BSDA is a forum of "truth"...it is also a forum that requires READING.
>
> 1. Read the threads.
> 2. Ask questions.
> 3. Repeat - read the threads.
> 4. Ask questions.
>
> The fact that you asked a question that is kinda "out of order" - (not asking "little things" first) states that you may be suspect. That is all....

☒ sn uch good points re, and as sp can see, many are pointing things out...hopefully, (shiny penny) listening and earning will take place....after all, we bsda'ers weren't born yesterday, now were we? We are pretty smart ookies, and we have seen it all here (well, we can always be more surprised I guess)....advice to SP, READ or yourself. That's what we do here. Then we discuss. I would try to follow this type of regime if I were you. therwise you will get more of the same you are getting now. Not much and ample suspicion....you don't vant that now do you?

Posted by: LaurenceD May 3 2007, 09:34 PM

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny)
>
> LaurenceD - thanks for telling me that you had asked questions on another thread. I'm still new to navigating around bsda and had not seen your reply/questions. I've responded briefly on the other thread.
>
> In that thread you asked me about my opinions. I'm not sure how my opinions will help anyone get to the truth (or facts). And what's more is my opinion is evolving as I learn more information or as I've taken more time to mull over the facts that I am aware of. So forgive me for not generously expressing my opinion.
>
> An opinion is just what the person is thinking at the time, and not necessarily the truth of the matter. So pardon me for not expressing my opinion or not expressing it in detail.
>
> My questions on this forum so far are about facts and about details. And I hope that if someone on this forum has the facts that they can be kind enough to share them. There are lots of opinions freely expressed that are not helpful to me in finding out the facts - or the truth.
>
> Opinion vs fact --- at this point this is the question for me.

> QUOTE(Shiny Penny)
>
> Re: Barbara Kerr - this one has me wondering. I read her letter(s) some time ago. Perhaps I should go and reread again, before replying to your question, but I do have other things to do and some of the letters are so long - I'm one of those people who likes things short and to the point. But I had thought why not release the tapes to her. I cannot recall ever reading why 3ABN would not release the tapes to her.
>
> About the State of Illinois case - isn't that being appealed? And help me out - what was 3ABN doing that was wrong? Do you know if they are still doing that stuff wrong?

addressing the bolded from the top above) on't worry, you're doing as good as anyone navigating around here. You came right into BSDA like a pro.

t probably wasn't obvious, but I wanted to know how you felt about those two question so we could get to now you. From your reluctance to read, retain, react, and commit...it looks like it will take a lot longer than sual to get to know you. So, be patience with us if we don't respond to your queries for a while. It' important o know what you've learned and how you feel about things first so we can know if our time will be well spent n education.

Yes, that's what we strive for also...facts and details. The supporting evidence for such is often strangely missing, so it's nice to know you won't be joining the others in making claims, or believing claims, that are merely typed and spoken fiats from the so-called authorities who are here merely to shape public perception, not to offer a balanced informed view based on demonstration. When they say something, it's like saying nothing at all.

Short and to the point has its place. There are times and places where this is not possible. If you take more time browsing around current discussions, and have little interest in reading the more important documents, we may not get very enthused digesting and regurgitating the real meat of the matter for you...although some of us do enjoy chewing the cud from time to time.

The letter from Barbara Kerr, that you are apparently familiar with, struck a chord deep in the heartland of many of us, and we found it to be a pivotal point in our understanding of the situation. If you have no reaction, nor opinion, about her very revealing comments, that's what we're looking for in getting to know you. It serves as a major barometric intidator of many things that go unsaid.

There's nothing I can do to help you out on the case 3abn vs. State of Illinois if your span of attention is waning. What's important is that you read it and offer your comments on the judges recommendation so we can get to know you, not you us, or trying to helping us in some way. We've been there and felt each other's reactions. Yours is still at large. We're here to study the facts and details, and there's no better place to find them, and no better place to point someone like yourself to than that case...so we know where you stand. It demands a polarized opnion agreeing or disagreeing...understanding or misunderstanding the rules.

Here's links for both the court case and BK's letter...

http://www.revenue.state.il.us/legalinformation/hearings/pt/pt04-1.pdf
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489&hl=Kerr

Reciprocity is the golden rule around here, so get back to us after giving these some thought. "Short and to the point" is not what years sorting through issues on this site is all about. You won't last long if that the expectation.

Posted by: Shiny Penny May 3 2007, 10:45 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ May 3 2007, 05:01 PM)
>
> Penny, you will learn more if you read more carefully. Please read what I said again.
>
> I was talking about finding people on the Weimar and Amazing Facts websites... not here. Weimar, being a college, no doubt has a goodly number of their staff listed. Amazing Facts has a number of choices on their response form. These are all real names of real people.

Thanks for clarifying. I did misunderstand your earlier post.

Posted by: Pickle May 4 2007, 06:18 AM

Shiny Penny,

Regarding A-Facts merging with Weimar, please see Doug Garcia's April 9, 2007, announcement at http://groups.yahoo.com/group/WeimarAlumni/message/530, a posting you can see only if you are a member of the list.

That announcement said,

> QUOTE(Doug Garcia)
> Hello Weimar Alumni,
>
> This weekend was the Amazing Facts board meeting and it has been reported to me that it appears we are heading for a merger with Weimar Institute.
>
> I'll try to pass on any official word when it is given.
>
> Just thought you'd all be interested in the progress.
>
> Douglas Garcia

Doug works for A-Facts, has worked at 3ABN, and is a Weimar Alumnus.

To all: Note the date of Doug Garcia's announcement.

Thus there was an A-Facts board meeting on Sunday, April 8, that apparently approved pursuing the merger with Weimar. Then came the same board's vote on Wednesday, April 18, to merge with 3ABN, followed by a staff meeting at Weimar, I'm told, in which the staff were told that the discussions about merging Weimar and A-Facts were on hold because of this development with 3ABN.

People have wondered whether the merger with 3ABN was in the works for a long time, as Danny stated on April 19, or whether this all was a sudden development, as Doug stated in a communication. The facts speak for themselves.

Posted by: dedication May 5 2007, 11:01 PM

Is there a connection between the merger and the serving of lawsuits?
It appears Danny's been threatening for some time -- but waits until the merger is announced before serving.

Posted by: runner4him May 5 2007, 11:35 PM

> QUOTE(dedication @ May 5 2007, 11:01 PM)
>
> Is there a connection between the merger and the serving of lawsuits?
> It appears Danny's been threatening for some time -- but waits until the merger is announced before serving.

Not the brightest light...............but who knows what they are thinking?? Very good question.....any ideas?

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 5 2007, 11:37 PM

> QUOTE(dedication @ May 5 2007, 10:01 PM)
>
> Is there a connection between the merger and the serving of lawsuits?
> It appears Danny's been threatening for some time -- but waits until the merger is announced before serving.

Snow job. Or whitewash.

By the way, I really like LaurenceD's post to Shiny Penny. Couldn't have said it better myself.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Hit & Run Tactics

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 07:42 PM

For those who don't seem to realize it, BlackSDA is a "DISCUSSION forum."

If you feel your comments, observations or opinions can not or, should not be scrutinized then maybe you should continue in CF where you can play hit and run and cry foul, while hiding behind the ops... and thus keep said comments, observations and opinions to yourself.

ANY member on BSDA has the right and ability to question and or comment on ANY post that is made here by another member. No one BSDA member is required to avoid any post just because the op of said post does not want their comments being challenged by any given member. That attitude is simply childish and not worthy of adults who desire sincere discussion, to learn and grow.

The regular attempts to distract from the subject of a thread by using passive aggressive accusations is lame at best. The gullible are swayed by such behavior but the more discerning know it for what it is, subtle attempts to use "EMOTIONAL BLACKMAIL" to get their way. Which is also childish behavior and not becoming believers who know who they are in Christ Jesus. Simply put, if you can't take it, don't dish it out.

These are 'my observations' and may or may not reflect the thoughts or opinions of others on BSDA. As you are entitled to your observations and opinions, so am I.

I apologize to any and all sensitive souls who may be, or will be, offended by my candid observations and suggestions.

Be Blessed

Posted by: mozart Apr 25 2007, 07:47 PM

meez agweed

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 25 2007, 06:42 PM)
>
> For those who don't seem to realize it, BlackSDA is a "DISCUSSION forum."
>
> If you feel your comments, observations or opinions can not or, should not be scrutinized then maybe you should continue in CF where you can play hit and run and cry foul, while hiding behind the ops... and thus keep said comments, observations and opinions to yourself.
>
> ANY member on BSDA has the right and ability to question and or comment on ANY post that is made here by another member. No one BSDA member is required to avoid any post just because the op of said post does not want their comments being challenged by any given member. That attitude is simply childish and not worthy of adults who desire sincere discussion, to learn and grow.
>
> The regular attempts to distract from the subject of a thread by using passive aggressive accusations is lame at best. The gullible are swayed by such behavior but the more discerning know it for what it is, subtle attempts to use "EMOTIONAL BLACKMAIL" to get their way. Which is also childish behavior and not becoming believers who know who they are in Christ Jesus. Simply put, if you can't take it, don't dish it out.

> These are 'my observations' and may or may not reflect the thoughts or opinions of others on BSDA. As you are entitled to your observations and opinions, so am I.
>
> I apologize to any and all sensitive souls who may be, or will be, offended by my candid observations and suggestions.
> Be Blessed

Posted by: Johann Apr 27 2007, 05:24 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 26 2007, 03:42 AM)
>
> For those who don't seem to realize it, BlackSDA is a "DISCUSSION forum."
>
> If you feel your comments, observations or opinions can not or, should not be scrutinized then maybe you should continue in CF where you can play hit and run and cry foul, while hiding behind the ops... and thus keep said comments, observations and opinions to yourself.
>
> ANY member on BSDA has the right and ability to question and or comment on ANY post that is made here by another member. No one BSDA member is required to avoid any post just because the op of said post does not want their comments being challenged by any given member. That attitude is simply childish and not worthy of adults who desire sincere discussion, to learn and grow.
>
> The regular attempts to distract from the subject of a thread by using passive aggressive accusations is lame at best. The gullible are swayed by such behavior but the more discerning know it for what it is, subtle attempts to use "EMOTIONAL BLACKMAIL" to get their way. Which is also childish behavior and not becoming believers who know who they are in Christ Jesus. Simply put, if you can't take it, don't dish it out.
>
> These are 'my observations' and may or may not reflect the thoughts or opinions of others on BSDA. As you are entitled to your observations and opinions, so am I.
> I apologize to any and all sensitive souls who may be, or will be, offended by my candid observations and suggestions.
>
> Be Blessed

his is how I have, generally, found BSDA

Posted by: Fran Apr 27 2007, 08:46 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 25 2007, 07:42 PM)
>
> For those who don't seem to realize it, BlackSDA is a "DISCUSSION forum."
>
> If you feel your comments, observations or opinions can not or, should not be scrutinized then maybe you should continue in CF where you can play hit and run and cry foul, while hiding behind the ops... and thus keep said comments, observations and opinions to yourself.
>
> ANY member on BSDA has the right and ability to question and or comment on ANY post that is made here by another member. No one BSDA member is required to avoid any post just because the op of said post does not want their comments being challenged by any given member. That attitude is simply childish and not worthy of adults who desire > sincere discussion, to learn and grow.

>
> The regular attempts to distract from the subject of a thread by using passive aggressive accusations is lame at best. The gullible are swayed by such behavior but the more discerning know it for what it is, subtle attempts to use "EMOTIONAL BLACKMAIL" to get their way. Which is also childish behavior and not becoming believers who know who they are in Christ Jesus. Simply put, if you can't take it, don't dish it out.
>
> These are 'my observations' and may or may not reflect the thoughts or opinions of others on BSDA. As you are entitled to your observations and opinions, so am I.
> I apologize to any and all sensitive souls who may be, or will be, offended by my candid observations and suggestions.
>
> Be Blessed

am blessed by BSDA.

do not agree with everyone, but I am accepted. This is important for me.

A used to be my home. I dropped in the other day and nothing had changed. The moderators were still oasting the members.

ere, I am blessed spiritually because of tolerance of others beliefs.

Posted by: runner4him Apr 27 2007, 09:08 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 27 2007, 08:46 PM)
>
> I am blessed by BSDA.
>
> I do not agree with everyone, but I am accepted. This is important for me.
>
> CA used to be my home. I dropped in the other day and nothing had changed. The moderators were still roasting the members.
>
> Here, I am blessed spiritually because of tolerance of others beliefs.

s a newbie (not sure if I spelled that right) let me say how much I appreciate this forum...a place to dialog, earn, share, a place to vent a little but with kindness and compassion...I guess I am addicted! I never knew bout this site until all the mess with 3abn. I am thankful for being accepted here too. I say Amen to being lessed by BSDA. Happy Sabbath!

Posted by: Jnana15 Apr 28 2007, 10:59 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ Apr 27 2007, 10:08 PM)
>
> As a newbie (not sure if I spelled that right) let me say how much I appreciate this forum...a place to dialog, learn, share, a place to vent a little but with kindness and compassion...I guess I am addicted! I never knew about this site until all the mess with 3abn. I am thankful for being accepted here too. I say Amen to being blessed by BSDA. Happy Sabbath!

runner4him, you took the words right out of my mouth. I feel welcome and right at home here.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 30 2007, 06:58 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 27 2007, 09:46 PM)
>
> I am blessed by BSDA.
>
> I do not agree with everyone, but I am accepted. This is important for me.
>
> CA used to be my home. I dropped in the other day and nothing had changed. The moderators were still roasting the members.
>
> Here, I am blessed spiritually because of tolerance of others beliefs.

I too agree!

Posted by: sonshineonme Apr 30 2007, 07:30 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Apr 30 2007, 05:58 PM)
>
> I too agree!

Meee tooo! I love this place. We are so lucky to have it and each other. It's a good thing.

Posted by: Johann May 1 2007, 06:09 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ May 1 2007, 03:30 AM)
>
> Meee tooo! I love this place. We are so lucky to have it and each other. It's a good thing.

I hope I don't hurt any feelings by stating that one of the things I really like here at BSDA is that variations in outer hues add to the total beauty and harmony. It is where the heart and sincerity count and Christian cords unite. Following discussions on black issues help me gain a better understanding of human aspects that are close to all of humanity. Keep it going!

Blessings,

Johann

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 1 2007, 08:41 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 1 2007, 08:09 AM)
>
> I hope I don't hurt any feelings by stating that one of the things I really like here at BSDA is that variations in outer hues add to the total beauty and harmony. It is where the heart and sincerity count and Christian cords unite. Following discussions on black issues help me gain a better understanding of human aspects that are close to all of humanity. Keep it going!

That doesn't hurt feelings....that's beautiful....

Posted by: mozart May 1 2007, 09:15 PM

rofl

quote name='PrincessDrRe' date='May 1 2007, 07:41 PM' post='193831']
That doesn't hurt feelings....that's beautiful....

[/quote] that was lovely johann. as are you. BTW what hue are you? should we open a new thread. lol

---

Posted by: Johann May 3 2007, 04:36 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 2 2007, 05:15 AM)
>
> that was lovely johann. as are you. BTW what hue are you? should we open a new thread. lol

In my youth I was a blue-eyed blond. Now I'm getting close to white. My face is kind of red so nobody can see the difference if I blush. Some years back I grew a beard and it was red. I have a red headed granddaughter. She may have gotten it from my red beard. So I go for colors, but have been envious of those who have brown eyes and dark brown skin. Black is also beautiful.

I was all taken by Clay's remarks that we should notice colors and not react as if it does not make a difference. I know our Creator enjoys colors too. So each of us can be proud and thankful for what has been given to us, and none of us must downgrade another because of colors.

A couple of days ago we went to a concert in a Lutheran Church in our neighborhood here in Iceland. One of the soloists is a Seventh-day Adventist with one of the richest bass voices I have heard. With tears in my eyes I listened to the three Negro Spirituals he had chosen to sing for us, and I again thought of the rich harmonies the best in our cultures, our faith, our racial distinctions, brings to us when our ears, eyes, and hearts are open to what God wants us to experience. (The same bass enriched our wedding ceremony about a year ago.)

While I'm at it I might was well share with you what happened last night when the Prime Minister of Iceland gave me such a warm handshake and appreciation, followed by the Minister of Education and the Minister of Finance. It so happened that I had just uttered a few words of appreciation for the delight that met me when I returned to Iceland after living so many years elsewhere in the world. Those warm handshakes and words of appreciation from the top political leaders of this country meant a lot to me. So the warm handshakes given here on BSDA in words make a deeper Christian experience in our lives. We see this in a stark contrast to how a self-appointed Christian leader demeaned his precious wife in bouts of jealousy and meanness, demanding of others that they cover his tracks with lies and deception. Such will never gain the acceptance of heaven.

Posted by: joyce May 3 2007, 05:59 AM

What Johann said is so true. We all gain so much from each other, and from the variety of cultures and races.
God made the birds and flowers in a variety of colors and patterns for our enjoyment. So he has made people in a variety of colors and designs all to add pleasure and enrichment to our short lives on earth.
I am always telling the young one's at church when we sing, "Jesus Loves the Litttle Children" how much God must love designing each baby differently from the last one. How much fun that must be to pick out the hair, eye, and skin color, and choose the shape of the nose and mouth and so on.
I will never forget the family of children who were so excited to get a red haired baby in the family. When they found out that another baby was on the way, they told their mother that they wanted a "chocolate baby" this time. Our family got a good laugh out of it as that was not in the genes, but kids naturally do like all peoples. And so should all of us.

Joyce

Posted by: caribbean sda May 3 2007, 07:03 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ May 1 2007, 10:41 PM)
>
> That doesn't hurt feelings....that's beautiful....

I quite agree, Re'...hey you got an extra kleenex?

Posted by: Johann May 3 2007, 10:26 AM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ May 3 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> I quite agree, Re'...hey you got an extra kleenex?

Divine love draws us together in faith and trust. Even with threats of court cases and all kinds of accusations.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 3 2007, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ May 3 2007, 08:03 AM)

> I quite agree, Re'...hey you got an extra kleenex?

sniffle Here you go....

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 3 2007, 11:26 AM)
>
> Divine love draws us together in faith and trust. Even with threats of court cases and all kinds of accusations.

Stop it Johann!

Posted by: Jnana15 May 3 2007, 10:14 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 3 2007, 11:26 AM)
>
> Divine love draws us together in faith and trust. Even with threats of court cases and all kinds of accusations.

I am so thankful to God that I found this site. Johann, you are really someone very special. If I don't get the priviledge of meeting you in person on this earth, meet me at the feet of Jesus in heaven. I plan on being there snotin' and crying that I made it.

Posted by: Snoopy May 3 2007, 11:38 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ May 3 2007, 10:14 PM)
>
> I am so thankful to God that I found this site. Johann, you are really someone very special. If I don't get the priviledge of meeting you in person on this earth, meet me at the feet of Jesus in heaven. I plan on being there snotin' and crying that I made it.

Could we schedule a BSDA reunion there? I'll be snotin' and cryin' as well, but I shore would luv to meet y'all....!!

Snoopy (been gone for a while...)

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 3 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ May 3 2007, 10:38 PM)

> Could we schedule a BSDA reunion there? I'll be snotin' and cryin' as well, but I shore would luv to meet y'all....!!
>
> Snoopy (been gone for a while...)

can't wait.

Posted by: princessdi May 4 2007, 12:07 AM

Well I know this is really ofl However, you really don't have to wait all that long. If time permits and The Lord says the same, we are planning a BSDA Reunion at GC 2010. Hope to see you all there!

Ok back to the BSDA Snotin' and Cryin' Love Fest!

Posted by: seraph|m May 4 2007, 05:42 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 4 2007, 03:07 AM) ☐
>
> Well I know this is really ofl However, you really don't have to wait all that long. If time permits and The Lord says the same, we are planning a BSDA Reunion at GC 2010. Hope to see you all there!
> Ok back to the BSDA Snotin' and Cryin' Love Fest!

Must we sling snot sooooo early in the mornin?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 4 2007, 07:35 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 4 2007, 02:07 AM) ☐
>
> Well I know this is really ofl However, you really don't have to wait all that long. If time permits and The Lord says the same, we are planning a BSDA Reunion at GC 2010. Hope to see you all there!

HOP anyone?

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Change In 3-abn Leadership

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 10:19 AM

Yesterday, April 18, Elder Doug Batchelor, of Amazing Facts, addressed the Board of the Sacramento Central SDA Church in regard to some changes in his duties. As I write this, Elder Batchelor is in flight to the HQ of 3-ABN, where in a special TV program, these changes will be announced. Then tomorrow, Elder Batchelor will fly back to Sacramento to preach Sabbath.

These changes have been approved by the President of the General Conference, the President of the NAD, ASI, and the Executive Board of 3-ABN.

Danny Shelton is resigning from his position as President of 3-ABN. I do not know, at this point what continued role Danny Shelton will have in the administration of 3-ABN. He is expected to announce today, that he wants to have more free time to devote to however he wants to spend his time.

Elder Doug Batchelor will become President of 3-ABN.

The two ministries are expected to continue but under the united leadership of Elder Batchelor.

Addition to my post:

I just got off of the telephone from talking to Molly at 3-ABN.

She confirms the basic story that I have posted.

In regard to my question as to whether or not Danny Shelton will step down as President, she tells me that Danny has informed the Board that he wants to step down. As she understands it, a final decision has not been made as to whether or not Danny would step down.

Without revealing my source, I suspect that Danny Shelton and Dough Batchelor have reached an agreement on this, which Molly may not be aware of, and that my announcement that he was resigning as President is correct.

Posted by: howdy Apr 19 2007, 10:41 AM

As if Batchelor was not already overloaded!! Sounds like he will keep those jet engines warm huh?

howdy

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 10:51 AM

Doug Batchelor has (wisely) tried to keep the "scandal" involving the Sheltons at a distance from himself... so why would he now jump with both feet into a situation where he would be working with Danny? Doug cannot afford to risk his rather large ministry. This makes me think that Danny will be moving to other pastures.

Edit for those who read here from the "other forum", who say I'm "falsely reporting": Reread what I said. I said, he's kept the SCANDAL involving the Sheltons at a distance from himself. NOT 3abn. He has continued his professional relationship with 3abn, unchanged, as far as I can tell. With all the accusations flying around, I still don't see him jeapordizing his ministry with Danny's involvement regardless of guilt or innocence. We shall see! Tonight will be enlightening.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 10:58 AM

It will be interesting to watch what direction 3abn takes after tonight.

Posted by: Fran Apr 19 2007, 11:07 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 19 2007, 11:19 AM) ☐
>
> Yesterday, April 18, Elder Doug Bachelor, of Amazing Facts, addressed the Board of the Sacramento Central SDA Church in regard to some changes in his duties. As I write this, Elder Bachelor is in flight to the HQ of 3-ABN, where in a special TV program, these changes will be announced. Then tomorrow, Elder Bachelor will fly back to Sacramento to preach Sabbath.
>
> These changes have been approved by the President of the General Conference, the President of the NAD, ASI, and the Executive Board of 3-ABN.
>
> Danny Shelton is resigning from his position as President of 3-ABN. I do not know, at this point what continued role Danny Shelton will have in the administration of 3-ABN. He is expected to announce today, that he wants to have more free time to devote to however he wants to spend his time.
>
> Elder Doug Bachelor will become President of 3-ABN.
>
> The two ministries are expected to continue but under the united leadership of Elder Bachelor.

What is UNITED leadership?

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 11:12 AM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 19 2007, 10:07 AM) ☐
>
> What is UNITED leadership?

Please read my addition to my first post.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 19 2007, 10:07 AM) ☐
>
> What is UNITED leadership?

Fran:

Thank you for pointing out what was an error in my post. I did not want to say "united" leadership. I meant to say "unified" to indicate that Elder Batchelor would lead both organizations.

Posted by: Clay Apr 19 2007, 11:14 AM

3ABN continues under new leadership.... is that a happy medium for all who had concerns?

Posted by: watchbird Apr 19 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 12:51 PM)
>
> Doug Batchelor has (wisely) tried to keep the "scandal" involving the Sheltons at a distance from himself... so why would he now jump with both feet into a situation where he would be working with Danny? Doug cannot afford to risk his rather large ministry. This makes me think that Danny will be moving to other pastures.

If there is no public acknowledgement of the problems that have been noted in the 3abn area... then this is not solution... it is just one more coverup... and nothing will have been accomplished. If this is a real change, it will not be glossed over, and past cruelties and errors ignored with no attempt at either change of personell who have been involved, or in reparations and public apologies to those who have been wronged... as well as hiring policies and salaries adjusted to suitable levels... and reparations paid for past injustices.

I'm not from Missouri... nor am I a "doubting Thomas"... but until I see real changes accomplished... reparations made, and guarantees for the future... I will just "wait and see".

..........☒ TVsnack.........☒ sofa1.gif..........

Posted by: calvin Apr 19 2007, 11:19 AM

This is only speculation but I suspect this will lead to an overhaul in the leadership and management of 3ABN.....and not just Doug as the front person with Danny pulling the strings in the background. 3ABN is a ministry but it is also a business. When a business has this many problems, typically a top leadership and management change is necessary in order for the new leader to be effective. These changes won't take place overnight but you can expect new management as the old are eased out the door.

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 11:26 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 11:19 AM)
>
> This is only speculation but I suspect this will lead to an overhaul in the leadership and management of 3ABN.....and not just Doug as the front person with Danny pulling the strings in the background. 3ABN is a ministry but it is also a business. When a business has this many problems, typically a top leadership and management change is necessary in order for the new leader to be effective. These changes won't take place overnight but you can expect new management as the old are eased out the door.

I agree with you.

I cannot immagine Elder Batchelor entering into the new relationship without some sort of agreement that changes would be made.

But, these may not happen overnight.

In one sense this story is developing. As it develops, there may be changes. We will simply have to watch and see exactly how it develops.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 11:32 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 09:16 AM) ☐
>
> If there is no public acknowledgement of the problems that have been noted in the 3abn area... then this is not solution... it is just one more coverup... and nothing will have been accomplished. If this is a real change, it will not be glossed over, and past cruelties and errors ignored with no attempt at either change of personell who have been involved, or in reparations and public apologies to those who have been wronged... as well as hiring policies and salaries adjusted to suitable levels... and reparations paid for past injustices.
>
> I'm not from Missouri... nor am I a "doubting Thomas"... but until I see real changes accomplished... reparations made, and guarantees for the future... I will just "wait and see".
>
> ....☒ TVsnack.........☒ sofa1.gif..........

Well, I have ancestors who are from Missouri and a grown son who lives there so someone will need to "Show Me" how things are going to be made right before I will feel that positive steps are being taken.

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 11:48 AM

Now is when the reality comes out: are the problems many have actually with the current leadership of 3abn, or with 3abn itself.

If the church at large (since it sounds like the GC Pres, NAD Pres, etc have given their approval) has decided to rescue 3abn, is the new management required to make apologies? Or can't they say: a new day has dawned, we're replacing so-and-so, and so-and-so, etc. (over time, of course. It is not usually wise to replace too many employees at once).

From my position, where I hold the current leadership responsible for their behavior (that being DS, certain management, and certain board members), the apologies need to come from those individuals whether or not they still are employed by 3abn.

While the new management can make a few statements of apology and moves of reconciliation where needed, if they get too involved in what the past management did, it could conceivably have bad repercussions for the new management.

From a Public Relations perspective (my background), any statements made by the new administration need to be very, very careful. They will want to start with a clean slate, not jump into a ugly mess.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 11:51 AM

Imagine my surprise when I first opened BSDA to see what new has happened since last night.

AM in total complete shock.

I agree with you watchbird

And the list goes on...

and on...

and on...

Rosyroi
@}---;---;-----

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 11:55 AM

Well, this could be a step in the right direction.

But for those of us on the sidelines who were becoming more and more, shall we say, uncomfortable with what we were seeing, it was always that Danny should step down from leading 3ABN *to allow a free and impartial investigation into the allegations against him and the other leaders. (Particularly Tommy, but also if there was complicity in any cover-ups by Walt, John L, Mollie, Shelley, etc.)

So the first part of the request may be coming true, but if the scandals are not addressed, it makes the church look much worse than before because it could be just one more cover-up.

rummage rummage I'm rearranging my sig file here ....

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 11:58 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 09:55 AM)
>
> Well, this could be a step in the right direction.
>
> But for those of us on the sidelines who were becoming more and more, shall we say, uncomfortable with what we were seeing, it was always that Danny should step down from leading 3ABN *to allow a free and impartial investigation into the allegations against him and the other leaders. (Particularly Tommy, but also if there was complicity in any cover-ups by Walt, John L, Mollie, Shelley, etc.)
>
> So the first part of the request may be coming true, but if the scandals are not addressed, it makes the church look much worse than before because it could be just one more cover-up.

I agree with you se ...

btw... love your new avatar.

Rosyroi
@}---;---;-----

Posted by: shinejoy Apr 19 2007, 12:00 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 09:19 AM)
>
> This is only speculation but I suspect this will lead to an overhaul in the leadership and management of 3ABN.....and not just Doug as the front person with Danny pulling the strings in the background. 3ABN is a ministry but it is also a business. When a business has this many problems, typically a top leadership and management change is necessary in order for the new leader to be effective. These changes won't take place overnight but you can expect new management as the old are eased out the door.

this does make sense thanks calvin

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 12:01 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 01:55 PM)
>
> Well, this could be a step in the right direction.
>
> But for those of us on the sidelines who were becoming more and more, shall we say, uncomfortable with what we were seeing, it was always that Danny should step down from leading 3ABN *to allow a free and impartial investigation into the allegations against him and the other leaders. (Particularly Tommy, but also if there was complicity in any cover-ups by Walt, John L, Mollie, Shelley, etc.)
>
> So the first part of the request may be coming true, but if the scandals are not addressed, it makes the church look much worse than before because it could be just one more cover-up.

I agree, SE.

I think that the investigation and scandal being addressed needs to happen. But I do not think that the new management should do the investigation. I think that the new management should, for the most part, confine its role in addressing the scandal to those things that pertain to the continuance of 3abn. Such as appropriate wage scales.

Thus, I find much reason to sit back and wait to see what happens! I hope and pray that this will work out to good of all.

Posted by: Fran Apr 19 2007, 12:06 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 19 2007, 12:51 PM)
>
> Imagine my surprise when I first opened BSDA to see what new has happened since last night.
>
> AM in total complete shock.
>
> I agree with you watchbird
>
> And the list goes on...
>
> and on...

> and on...
>
> Rosyroi
> @}---;---;-----

Another forum that receives posts from "both sides" said this:

> QUOTE
>
> Tomatoe said: P we are well aware of what Greg just said on bsda and are trying to straighten it out. DANNY SHELTON IS NOT RESIGNING AND WILL CONTINUE HIS ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES AT 3ABN. DOUG WILL BE PRESIDENT/DIRECTOR OF THE MERGER BUT WILL NOT BE INVOLVED IN DAY TO DAY OPERATIONS!
> This is not hard to understand.

> QUOTE
>
> Peacefully SDA asked: Who will be in charge of day-to-day operations?

> QUOTE
>
> Rosie55 replied: Peaceful, the same person who has always been running the day to day operations in the last 20 years!
>
> Danny Shelton

> QUOTE
>
> Tomatoe posted:Originally Posted by tomatoe
> Thank you Rosie, Yes as usual Mr. Joy puts into print totally incorrect information and DF runs to post that false information.
> Amazing Facts IS NOT TAKING OVER 3ABN. It is my understanding the ministries will MERGE to produce the most powerful media tool the SDA church has ever known. To reach the world with the love of Jesus Christ has always been the goal of both ministries. Doug Batchelors vision has always been evangelizing and 3abn has the media tools to make the most of it.
> If you want the correct Information watch 3abn's live tonight.
> Mr. Joy reports falsely, again, that DS started seeing Brandi right after the divorce. WRONG. Brandi did not even move to southern Illinois until late November of that year. He also states she was employed at 3abn by oct of that same year. That would be a majic trick since she lived in Florida until the move in late november.
> Over on bsda you even have observer and Johann questioning Mr. Joy's information! His own side!! People that ought to tell you something.

> QUOTE
>
> franny replied: If I spread out a calendar, and threw a tomato into the sky;
>
> What are the chances it would land smack dab in July?

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 12:10 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 12:01 PM)
>
> I think that the investigation and scandal being addressed needs to happen. But I do not think that the new management should do the investigation. I think that the new management should, for the most part, confine its role in addressing the scandal to those things that pertain to the continuance of 3abn. Such as appropriate wage scales.

100% agreed. Batchelor is probably in a role to provide pastoral care to those who must go, but he doesn't have the credentials to investigate such things any more than Lomacang has the credentials for counseling. Oops ... didn't mean to say that.

The stuff has gotten so terrible that if it goes under the carpet unaddressed, the thousands of people who have been to save3abn.com will definitely notice.

> QUOTE
>
> Thus, I find much reason to sit back and wait to see what happens! I hope and pray that this will work out to good of all.

Praying. Yes.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 12:17 PM

100% agreed. Batchelor is probably in a role to provide pastoral care to those who must go, but he doesn't have the credentials to investigate such things any more than Lomacang has the credentials for counseling. Oops ... didn't mean to say that.

Yeah, I have that problem, also SE! rofl

The stuff has gotten so terrible that if it goes under the carpet unaddressed, the thousands of people who have been to save3abn.com will definitely notice.
Praying. Yes.

I just want to know one thing.......Is Danny leaving as the founder of 3ABN or an employee? Does he get paid out, or does he get severance. I ask because in order to justify the amount of money they have given Linda, they said that Danny and Linda were employees of 3ABN, and no one owns it. Would Danny take $250K as a (generous according to some)severence?

Posted by: calvin Apr 19 2007, 12:19 PM

I would not expect any apology to be forthcoming. Nor an investigation. I see the church wanting this to be over. It has dragged on long enough. Just like you don't here from Linda on 3abn. Now I expect Danny to get the same treatment. It will be like he was never there.

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 12:48 PM)

> Now is when the reality comes out: are the problems many have actually with the current leadership of 3abn, or with 3abn itself.
>
> If the church at large (since it sounds like the GC Pres, NAD Pres, etc have given their approval) has decided to rescue 3abn, is the new management required to make apologies? Or can't they say: a new day has dawned, we're replacing so-and-so, and so-and-so, etc. (over time, of course. It is not usually wise to replace too many employees at once).
>
> From my position, where I hold the current leadership responsible for their behavior (that being DS, certain management, and certain board members), the apologies need to come from those individuals whether or not they still are employed by 3abn.
>
> While the new management can make a few statements of apology and moves of reconciliation where needed, if they get too involved in what the past management did, it could conceivably have bad repercussions for the new management.
>
> From a Public Relations perspective (my background), any statements made by the new administration need to be very, very careful. They will want to start with a clean slate, not jump into a ugly mess.

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 02:19 PM)
>
> I would not expect any apology to be forthcoming. Nor an investigation. I see the church wanting this to be over.

tend to agree with you.

y wishes are idealistic. My expectations.... more realistic!

sometimes, pessimistic. I'm one of those people who, when someone is really sick, thinks they will probably ie. Thankfully, I'm happily surprised 99% of the time!)

Posted by: Jnana15 Apr 19 2007, 12:27 PM

I just received a phone call from an Elder in our church about this information and I was going to PM Calvin to see if this was truth, and here it is. There is a three hour time difference for me, so I'm just slow in getting this news, but shocked.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Apr 19 2007, 12:31 PM

A while back Amazing Facts was planning on building their own studio, with this merger does that mean that will not be happening? Also, if the merge takes place does that mean Batchelor will be moving to Ill?

Posted by: calvin Apr 19 2007, 12:36 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Apr 19 2007, 12:27 PM)
>
> I just received a phone call from an Elder in our church about this information and I was going to PM Calvin > to see if this was truth, and here it is. There is a three hour time difference for me, so I'm just slow in getting this news, but shocked.

ley, come on Jnana. This is BSDA. 3ABN news is hotter that a Sanjaya look a like here.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 12:38 PM

hmmmmm That is a thought, because is I am not mistaken a new church, kind of a Wroship Center kind of thing was going along with that.

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Apr 19 2007, 10:31 AM)
>
> A while back Amazing Facts was planning on building their own studio, with this merger does that mean that will not be happening? Also, if the merge takes place does that mean Batchelor will be moving to Ill?

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 12:39 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 19 2007, 12:14 PM)
>
> 3ABN continues under new leadership.... is that a happy medium for all who had concerns?

ight now, there are many emotions for me... relief being the primary one. Relief that a situation has finally een dealt with. Not that I think simply appointing someone else as leader is going to instantly end the roblems, BUT I am thankful that they have chosen someone like Doug.

ABN and Doug are sure going to need our prayers more than ever, though. I can't say that I envy him, with ll the situations to sort out. I am so glad that God is in control of this. It could be such a positive change if he will of God is what is seeked after. We ought to all spend lots of time on our knees about this.

low the focus of 3ABN and 3ABN watchers will hopefully get back on track - to sharing the gospel message nd looking forward to Jesus's return. Praise the Lord!!!

Posted by: watchbird Apr 19 2007, 12:44 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 02:17 PM)
>
> I just want to know one thing.......Is Danny leaving as the founder of 3ABN or an employee? Does he get paid out, or does he get severance. Ia sk becuase in order to justify the amount of money they have given Linda, they said that Danny and Linda were employees of 3ABN, and no one owns it. Would Danny take $250K as a (generous according to some)severence?

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 02:19 PM)

> I would not expect any apology to be forthcoming. Nor an investigation. I see the church wanting this to be over. It has dragged on long enough. Just like you don't here from Linda on 3abn. Now I expect Danny to get the same treatment. It will be like he was never there.

Please note post #18 above... http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=191989
A few lines from that post.....

Another forum that receives posts from "both sides" said this:

QUOTE: Tomatoe said: P we are well aware of what Greg just said on bsda and are trying to straighten it out. DANNY SHELTON IS NOT RESIGNING AND WILL CONTINUE HIS ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES AT 3ABN. DOUG WILL BE PRESIDENT/DIRECTOR OF THE MERGER BUT WILL NOT BE INVOLVED IN DAY TO DAY OPERATIONS!
This is not hard to understand.

QUOTE: Peacefully SDA asked: Who will be in charge of day-to-day operations?

QUOTE: Rosie55 replied: Peaceful, the same person who has always been running the day to day operations in the last 20 years!

Danny Shelton

This does not sound to me as though Danny is going anywhere except right where he normally does.... nor is he relinquishing any of his duties... or powers... since if you will recall this has what has always been said about the function of the chairman of the board and the board itself. He may not even change his title as president of 3abn, since Doug's title is President/Director of the merger.

Looks to me like another case of "The more things change the more they stay the same."

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 02:39 PM)
>
> Right now, there are many emotions for me... relief being the primary one. Relief that a situation has finally been dealt with. Not that I think simply appointing someone else as leader is going to instantly end the problems, BUT I am thankful that they have chosen someone like Doug.
>
> 3ABN and Doug are sure going to need our prayers more than ever, though. I can't say that I envy him, with all the situations to sort out. I am so glad that God is in control of this. It could be such a positive change if the will of God is what is seeked after. We ought to all spend lots of time on our knees about this.
>
> Now the focus of 3ABN and 3ABN watchers will hopefully get back on track - to sharing the gospel message and looking forward to Jesus's return. Praise the Lord!!!

I hate to rain on your parade, holly... but I'd advise a little waiting and watching .... and some close scrutiny of the "find print"...... before you hire the praise band and set the date for the celebration......

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 12:19 PM)

> I would not expect any apology to be forthcoming. Nor an investigation. I see the church wanting this to be over. It has dragged on long enough. Just like you don't here from Linda on 3abn. Now I expect Danny to get the same treatment. It will be like he was never there.

I'm afraid you're right--at least, that's what they hope.

A lot of our church leaders don't really understand the reach of new media like the Internet, though. If Danny simply disappears, all that is, is a face-lift. Many, many people will know if the situation hasn't been dealth with, and in the long run it will undermine Doug's credibility too.

We Adventists have never been good at owning up to our shortcomings. SINS I should say.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 12:52 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 01:44 PM)
>
> I hate to rain on your parade, holly... but I'd advise a little waiting and watching .... and some close scrutiny of the "find print"...... before you hire the praise band and set the date for the celebration......

I dont think there is anything wrong with being positive and hopeful.

May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace as you trust in him, so that you may overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Romans 15:13 (New International Version)

Posted by: calvin Apr 19 2007, 12:53 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 12:44 PM)
>
> Please note post #18 above... http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=191989
> A few lines from that post.....
>
> Another forum that receives posts from "both sides" said this:
>
> QUOTE: Tomatoe said: P we are well aware of what Greg just said on bsda and are trying to straighten it out. DANNY SHELTON IS NOT RESIGNING AND WILL CONTINUE HIS ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES AT 3ABN. DOUG WILL BE PRESIDENT/DIRECTOR OF THE MERGER BUT WILL NOT BE INVOLVED IN DAY TO DAY OPERATIONS!
> This is not hard to understand.
>
> QUOTE: Peacefully SDA asked: Who will be in charge of day-to-day operations?
>
> QUOTE: Rosie55 replied: Peaceful, the same person who has always been running the day to day operations in the last 20 years!
>
> Danny Shelton
>
> This does not sound to me as though Danny is going anywhere except right where he normally does.... nor > is he relinquishing any of his duties... or powers... since if you will recall this has what has always been said about the function of the chairman of the board and the board itself. He may not even change his title as president of 3abn, since Doug's title is President/Director of the merger.

> Looks to me like another case of "The more things change the more they stay the same."
> I hate to rain on your parade, holly... but I'd advise a little waiting and watching .... and some close scrutiny of the "find print"...... before you hire the praise band and set the date for the celebration......

VB, they maybe saying all the right things and behaving like it is all one big love feast for awhile. I can tell ou from experience, there are no equal mergers in business no matter what is said. One is always going to e on top and has more influences on the direction and management of the company.

would think yall would be happy Danny is getting out of the way. There will be much more to come I am ure. And I was just thinking the 3abn saga was about ended.

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 12:56 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 02:53 PM)
>
> And I was just thinking the 3abn saga was about ended.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 12:58 PM

[/quote]
I would think yall would be happy Danny is getting out of the way. There will be much more to come I am sure. And I was just thinking the 3abn saga was about ended.
[/quote]

Apparently I am having to defend my relief and hope that things will get better.
OH well. I was always one to iceskate to my own drummer.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 12:59 PM

then besides putting a bandaid of crediblity on the wond, there is no real reason for AF to get involved with 3ABN besides their monthy check for air time. DB independent ministry in not in trouble, underder scandal or anything like that, What does he get out uniting with one that is bogged down in troubles?

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 10:44 AM)
>
> Please note post #18 above... http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?
> s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=191989
> A few lines from that post.....

> Another forum that receives posts from "both sides" said this:
>
> QUOTE: Tomatoe said: P we are well aware of what Greg just said on bsda and are trying to straighten it out. DANNY SHELTON IS NOT RESIGNING AND WILL CONTINUE HIS ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES AT 3ABN. DOUG WILL BE PRESIDENT/DIRECTOR OF THE MERGER BUT WILL NOT BE INVOLVED IN DAY TO DAY OPERATIONS!
> This is not hard to understand.
>
> QUOTE: Peacefully SDA asked: Who will be in charge of day-to-day operations?
>
> QUOTE: Rosie55 replied: Peaceful, the same person who has always been running the day to day operations in the last 20 years!
>
> Danny Shelton
>
> This does not sound to me as though Danny is going anywhere except right where he normally does.... nor is he relinquishing any of his duties... or powers... since if you will recall this has what has always been said about the function of the chairman of the board and the board itself. He may not even change his title as president of 3abn, since Doug's title is President/Director of the merger.
> Looks to me like another case of "The more things change the more they stay the same."

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 01:03 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 01:59 PM)
>
> then besides putting a bandaid of credibliity on the wond, there is no real reason for AF to get involved with 3ABN besides their monthy check for air time. DB independent ministry in not in trouble, underder scandal or anything like that, What does he get out uniting with one that is bogged down in troubles?

heard that 3ABN has a pretty sweet jet... hmmm...
ol j/k

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 01:04 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 02:59 PM)
>
> then besides putting a bandaid of credibliity on the wond, there is no real reason for AF to get involved with 3ABN besides their monthy check for air time. DB independent ministry in not in trouble, underder scandal or anything like that, What does he get out uniting with one that is bogged down in troubles?

xactly why I don't think Danny will stay.....

on't forget what Observer added to his first post.... (has everyone gone back and read it since he edited it?)

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 19 2007, 11:19 AM)

> Addition to my post:
>
> I just got off of the telephone from talking to Molly at 3-ABN.
>
> She confirms the basic story that I have posted.
>
> In regard to my question as to whether or not Danny Shelton will step down as President, she tells me that Danny has informed the Board that he wants to step down. As she understands it, a final decision has not been made as to whether or not Danny would step down.
>
> Without revealing my source, I suspect that Danny Shelton and Dough Batchelor have reached an agreement on this, which Molly may not be aware of, and that my announcement that he was resigning as President is correct.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 01:10 PM

Yeah Holly, that too! LOL!!!

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 11:03 AM)
>
> I heard that 3ABN has a pretty sweet jet... hmmm...
> lol j/k

Right FTP. I dont' see two men who are head considering being "under" anyone. Especially Doug, his ministry definitely doesn't need to be under 3ABN with it's troubles, and Danny has little man's disease,... ain't nobody tellin' him what to do! LOL!! Ooops, Did I say that out loud!

Anyway as Calvin says in business they call them mergers, but it is agreed that sooner or later one will be take over completely.

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 11:04 AM)
>
> exactly why I don't think Danny will stay.....
> Don't forget what Observer added to his first post.... (has everyone gone back and read it since he edited it?)

Posted by: no_cults Apr 19 2007, 01:15 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 12:53 PM)
>
> WB, they maybe saying all the right things and behaving like it is all one big love feast for awhile. I can tell you from experience, there are no equal mergers in business no matter what is said. One is always > going to be on top and has more influences on the direction and management of the company.

>
> I would think yall would be happy Danny is getting out of the way. There will be much more to come I am sure. And I was just thinking the 3abn saga was about ended.

Hopefully, this will resolve some issues and "right some wrongs".
However, I suspect this is nothing but a cleverly disguised cover-up.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 01:16 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 02:10 PM)
>
> Yeah Holly, that too! LOL!!!
>
> Right FTP. I dont' see two men who are head considering being "under" anyone. Especially Doug, his ministry definitely doesn't need to be under 3ABN with it's troubles, and Danny has little man's disease,... ain't nobody tellin' him what to do! LOL!! Ooops, Did I say that out loud!
>
> Anyway as Calvin says in business they call them mergers, but it is agreed that sooner or later one will be take over completely.

n a way, you have to feel a teensy bit sorry for Danny. He was one of the ones who started 3ABN, so to have o step down as the leader of it, its probably gotta hurt.
But maybe all of the things he has done wrong has built up to this. It just shows that God really is watching what you do with the things he bestows upon you. Makes me want to really watch my p's and q's.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 01:22 PM

I feel even sorrier because God HAS used him in a mighty way to establish that ministry. How eften do we see one error in judgement destroy the work of a lifetime? But it is till his choice, and he can always choose to do the right thing.

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 11:16 AM)
>
> In a way, you have to feel a teensy bit sorry for Danny. He was one of the ones who started 3ABN, so to have to step down as the leader of it, its probably gotta hurt.
> But maybe all of the things he has done wrong has built up to this. It just shows that God really is watching what you do with the things he bestows upon you. Makes me want to really watch my p's and q's.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 01:26 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 02:22 PM)

> I feel even sorrier because God HAS used him in a mighty way to establish that ministry. How eften do we see one error in judgement destroy the work of a lifetime? But it is till his choice, and he can always choose to do the right thing.

I think it was Prophets and Kings that I was reading that at the beginning of Solomon's life, he did everything that was right and walked witht the Lord, then slowly started becoming more worldly to make those around him happier. Then at the end of his life, he looked back and was so disappointed in himself about all the things he did wrong, and realized how many people he could have influenced for good, but didnt because of the choices he had made. Sad.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 01:29 PM

Exactly, Holly, as we studied in the SS lesson last quarter.

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 12:26 PM) ☐
>
> I think it was Prophets and Kings that I was reading that at the beginning of Solomon's life, he did everything that was right and walked witht the Lord, then slowly started becoming more worldly to make those around him happier. Then at the end of his life, he looked back and was so disappointed in himself about all the things he did wrong, and realized how many people he could have influenced for good, but didnt because of the choices he had made. Sad.

Posted by: caribbean sda Apr 19 2007, 01:39 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 03:10 PM) ☐
>
> I dont' see two men who are head considering being "under" anyone. Especially Doug, his ministry definitely doesn't need to be under 3ABN with it's troubles, and Danny has little man's disease,... ain't nobody tellin' him what to do! LOL!! Ooops, Did I say that out loud!
> Anyway as Calvin says in business they call them mergers, but it is agreed that sooner or later one will be take over completely.[/color]

We Island Dwellers have a saying, "Two man crab can't live in the same hole." So something or someone will have to give...

It would be interesting to see how this all plays out. Doug Bachelor is really into evangelism and 3ABN is the perfect venue from which to conduct those satellite crusades that he loves to do.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 01:40 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 02:29 PM) ☐
>
> Exactly, Holly, as we studied in the SS lesson last quarter.

I found that study a bit depressing. But, if we can learn from someone else's mistakes, we don't have to make them twice, right?

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 01:45 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 01:40 PM)
>
> But, if we can learn from someone else's mistakes, we don't have to make them twice, right?

... doesn't that mean we'd have to be teachable in the first place?

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 01:46 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 02:45 PM)
>
> ... doesn't that mean we'd have to be teachable in the first place?

You betcha.

Posted by: Nuggie Apr 19 2007, 01:59 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 12:36 PM)
>
> Hey, come on Jnana. This is BSDA. 3ABN news is hotter that a Sanjaya look a like here.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 02:36 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 11:52 AM)
>
> I dont think there is anything wrong with being positive and hopeful.
>
> May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace as you trust in him, so that you may overflow with hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.
>
> Romans 15:13 (New International Version)

Amen! But the wise person will keep both hopeful eyes open to make certain lumps don't start appearing under the new 3abn/AF carpet.

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 19 2007, 09:19 AM)
>
> Yesterday, April 18, Elder Doug Batchelor, of Amazing Facts, addressed the Board of the Sacramento Central SDA Church in regard to some changes in his duties. As I write this, Elder Batchelor is in flight to the HQ of 3-ABN, where in a special TV program, these changes will be announced. Then tomorrow, Elder Batchelor will fly back to Sacramento to preach Sabbath.
>
> These changes have been approved by the President of the General Conference, the President of the NAD, ASI, and the Executive Board of 3-ABN.
>
> Danny Shelton is resigning from his position as President of 3-ABN. I do not know, at this point what continued role Danny Shelton will have in the administration of 3-ABN. He is expected to announce today, that he wants to have more free time to devote to however he wants to spend his time.
>
> Elder Doug Batchelor will become President of 3-ABN.
>
> The two ministries are expected to continue but under the united leadership of Elder Batchelor.
>
> Addition to my post:
>
> I just got off of the telephone from talking to Molly at 3-ABN.
>
> She confirms the basic story that I have posted.
>
> In regard to my question as to whether or not Danny Shelton will step down as President, she tells me that Danny has informed the Board that he wants to step down. As she understands it, a final decision has not been made as to whether or not Danny would step down.
>
> Without revealing my source, I suspect that Danny Shelton and Dough Batchelor have reached an agreement on this, which Molly may not be aware of, and that my announcement that he was resigning as President is correct.

Someone needs to inform the 3abn apologists over on Christian Forums that they are getting somewhat faulty intel... Perhaps they will have some surprises waiting for them during the Live broadcast this evening.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 02:44 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 19 2007, 03:36 PM)
>
> Amen! But the wise person will keep both hopeful eyes open to make certain lumps don't start appearing under the new 3abn/AF carpet.

Who says my eyes arent open???

As I said before, I dont beleive the problems will miraculously disappear just by a change in management. But I beleive in looking at it in a positive light. It will take time to fully trust again, but I am hopeful that things will work out. We need to have a balanced attitude about this - some hopefulness and some guardedness.

Lots of praying for all those involved is what we need to be doing.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Apr 19 2007, 02:44 PM

If this is true about Danny Shelton resigning as President of 3ABN and Pastor Doug Batchelor taking over as President of 3ABN, and I hope it is, which I think it is, then it will definitely be a good step in the right direction.

Posted by: Snoopy Apr 19 2007, 02:50 PM

Hey! Maybe Doug Batchelor will release Barbara Kerr's cooking school tapes from prison...

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 19 2007, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Apr 19 2007, 03:44 PM)
>
> If this is true about Danny Shelton resigning as President of 3ABN and Pastor Doug Batchelor taking over as President of 3ABN, and I hope it is, which I think it is, then it will definitely be a good step in the right direction.

So I am not crazy to think that? Hoooooorayy! I was really wondering....

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 02:53 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 03:51 PM)
>
> So I am not crazy to think that? Hoooooorayy! I was really wondering....

No, you're not crazy to think that. There are other steps that would be very very good, but I'm cautiously cheering this one on!

As for those other steps, I'm not holding my breath! Course, I wasn't holding my breath for this to happen either!

Posted by: mozart Apr 19 2007, 02:56 PM

The best that can happen is they will clean that house. Get rid of all those who have been a part in any wrongdoing that has damaged 3ABN. Amazing Facts is a lot more than Doug Batchelor. If they are smarter than us; which i hope so, they will send a lot of folks packing. we can only pray that will happen quickly and we also should pray for a tremendous outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon all of us and especially upon those moving into the 3ABN Ministry. I pray the Holy Spirit will bless them with discernment and uprightness so that they will not be misguided or persuaded against conscience.

I ask that THIS day be the beginning of a Season of Prayer for God's will, not our will, to be done. Please Join Me.

"Our Father which art in Heaven, We pray this is the beginning of the pouring out of your wrath upon all those who have soiled and misused Your 3ABN ministry. I pray not our will, Lord, but Your Will Be Done. I pray our prayers will be Your Prayers, Father. Be merciful O' Lord upon all of us as we are all sinners. Help us to remember that, to forgive, to help and to heal. Be with us all Lord as we all go through this difficult time together and come out - together, putting aside all past anger and bitterness. We pray we are pleasing in YOUR sight, O' Lord, help us!"

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 03:01 PM

The following was posted by Rosie55 on Christian Forums:

> QUOTE
>
> Rosie55 said: This endeavor will not be a "unified but separate" situation. The two ministries will join together as one being jointly identified by both names as long as necessary, but eventually will likely be known as 3ABN. 3ABN has much greater world wide recognition and this makes the most sense.
>
> Organizational structure will undergo some tweaking with both Doug and Danny being intricately involved in the new ministry. The only other area of organizational change will be a melding of the two boards, the particulars to be decided in the future. There is no upheaval, but rather the formation of a stronger organization to deliver God's last day message to a wanting world - and even the devil himself will not succeed in stopping the spread of the message of salvation.
>
> The new entity is expected to gain the full support of the organized church and associations such as ASI indicating that there is widespread support of Doug, Danny, and both ministries.
>
> Gailon's speculation is merely that, or possibly wishful thinking. There is no connection between Linda changing legal representation as this has been on the table for some time and took on serious tones well before any change on Linda's part - no one is running scared contrary to what Gailon would have you believe.

(All bolding and color added by me)

This informative post by CF's Rosie55 is noteworthy.

What is of particular concern, in my opinion, is the statement that I have highlighted in red. If this is truly the message, that Danny has the widespread support by the organized church and ASI, I have to wonder if this is a positive step for Amazing Facts and the church. What will happen to the reputation of the SDA denomination if it is proven that Danny, some of his family members and possibly some on his board of directors knew that TS had abused his pastoral power and, instead of reaching out to help the victims heal he/they instead attempted to intimidate victims and cover up the abuse?

Posted by: mozart Apr 19 2007, 03:03 PM

Amen Calvin, would it be bad of us to give them an encouraging little boot shove?

> QUOTE(shinejoy @ Apr 19 2007, 11:00 AM)
>
> this does make sense thanks calvin

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 03:04 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 19 2007, 01:44 PM)
>
> Who says my eyes arent open???
>
> As I said before, I dont beleive the problems will miraculously disappear just by a change in management. But I beleive in looking at it in a positive light. It will take time to fully trust again, but I am hopeful that things will work out. We need to have a balanced attitude about this - some hopefulness and some guardedness.
>
> Lots of praying for all those involved is what we need to be doing.

HBG,
I was speaking rhetorically. I am also hopeful that this move will save 3abn, God's ministry. I certainly wasn't speaking of you for as anyone can clearly see by your avatar, your eyes are both wide open.

Posted by: mozart Apr 19 2007, 03:06 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 11:17 AM)
>
> 100% agreed. Batchelor is probably in a role to provide pastoral care to those who must go, but he doesn't have the credentials to investigate such things any more than Lomacang has the credentials for counseling. Oops ... didn't mean to say that.
>
> Yeah, I have that problem, also SE! rofl
>
> The stuff has gotten so terrible that if it goes under the carpet unaddressed, the thousands of people who have been to save3abn.com will definitely notice.
> Praying. Yes.
>
> I just want to know one thing.......Is Danny leaving as the founder of 3ABN or an employee? Does he get paid out, or does he get severance. I ask because in order to justify the amount of money they have given Linda, they said that Danny and Linda were employees of 3ABN, and no one owns it. Would Danny take $250K as a (generous according to some)severence?

Think he'd take a check. oops sorry that wasn't very nice. trying for humor as the adrenaline flows.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 03:13 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Apr 19 2007, 12:50 PM)
>
> Hey! Maybe Doug Batchelor will release Barbara Kerr's cooking school tapes from prison...

Snoopy
You took the words right out of my mouth
Rosyroi

Posted by: Johann Apr 19 2007, 03:17 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 19 2007, 11:01 PM)
>
> The following was posted by Rosie55 on Christian Forums:
>
> (All bolding and color added by me)
>
> This informative post by CF's Rosie55 is noteworthy.
>
> What is of particular concern, in my opinion, is the statement that I have highlighted in red. If this is truly the message, that Danny has the widespread support by the organized church and ASI, I have to wonder if this is a positive step for Amazing Facts and the church. What will happen to the reputation of the SDA denomination if it is proven that Danny, some of his family members and possibly some on his board of directors knew that TS had abused his pastoral power and, instead of reaching out to help the victims heal he/they instead attempted to intimidate victims and cover up the abuse?

PB, I share your concern, and I plead that all make this a matter of prayer.

Posted by: Snoopy Apr 19 2007, 03:30 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 19 2007, 04:13 PM)
>
> Snoopy
> You took the words right out of my mouth
> Rosyroi

Hi Rosyroi!

Great minds do think alike. I am obviously in GOOD company!!! ...

Snoopy

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 03:33 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 19 2007, 02:17 PM)
>
> PB, I share your concern, and I plead that all make this a matter of prayer.

I hope and pray that we all are doing so, Johann.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 03:40 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Apr 19 2007, 01:30 PM)
>
> Hi Rosyroi!
>
> Great minds do think alike. I am obviously in GOOD company!!! ...
>
> Snoopy

of course Snoopy.

Now where is Barbara so we can.... oops too soon to tell. Will just have to wait...

Posted by: freckleface Apr 19 2007, 03:58 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 19 2007, 03:40 PM)
>
> of course Snoopy.
>
> Now where is Barbara so we can.... oops too soon to tell. Will just have to wait...

As we speak a meeting is being held at 3ABN with all employees. Doug and Danny are speaking to them on the future of 3ABN.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 04:06 PM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 01:58 PM)
>
> As we speak a meeting is being held at 3ABN with all employees. Doug and Danny are speaking to them > on the future of 3ABN.

\mazing Facts will only employ SDAs. I wonder if that will be the case after the merger?

Posted by: Johann Apr 19 2007, 04:59 PM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 11:58 PM) ☐
>
> As we speak a meeting is being held at 3ABN with all employees. Doug and Danny are speaking to them on the future of 3ABN.

Ve must not forget all the wonderful and dedicated people that are employed by 3ABN, and also those who ave been programs there. Much is at stake for them all. Let's include them in our prayers.

Posted by: freckleface Apr 19 2007, 05:48 PM

Meeting is over. Bottom line, no changes just two ministries joining efforts and taking advantage of each others resources.

Question, then why merge?

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Apr 19 2007, 05:57 PM

3ABN may be able to be more selective in who they employ, however, I doubt they will be able to remove present non-SDA employees solely on the basis that they are not SDA.

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 08:48 PM) ☐
>
> Meeting is over. Bottom line, no changes just two ministries joining efforts and taking advantage of each others resources.
>
> Question, then why merge?

Vhat do you mean by "no changes"?

s Danny Shelton resigning as President of 3ABN with Pastor Doug Batchelor taking his place as President of ABN?

Posted by: freckleface Apr 19 2007, 06:17 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Apr 19 2007, 06:57 PM) ☐
>
> 3ABN may be able to be more selective in who they employ, however, I doubt they will be able to remove present non-SDA employees solely on the basis that they are not SDA.

> What do you mean by "no changes"?
>
> Is Danny Shelton resigning as President of 3ABN with Pastor Doug Batchelor taking his place as President of 3ABN?

anny said he wants to resign but Doug is not rushing to accept (Doug has not accepted). Funny thing, this is uch a great move but yet no one is moving.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 19 2007, 06:32 PM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 08:17 PM) ☐
>
> Danny said he wants to resign but Doug is not rushing to accept (Doug has not accepted). Funny thing, this is such a great move but yet no one is moving.

hades of 2004..... does anyone recall well enough to hear the echos.... Linda is terminated. Danny offers to esign... the board "persuades" him to not resign....

s I mentioned before.....

he more things change the more they stay the same....

.... ☒ sofa1.gif .... ☒ TVsnack. ....

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 06:35 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 08:32 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ sofa1.gif

'm beginning to think you've selected a good place to be....

Posted by: pmorris68 Apr 19 2007, 06:46 PM

Well nothing has changed in my opinion. Amazing facts is lilly white and so is 3ABN. So nothing has changed. I don't see any black folks in their videos or programs. So they will fit right in with 3ABN.
☒ 2n

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 06:50 PM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 06:17 PM)
> Funny thing, this is such a great move but yet no one is moving.

Well said!

And welc

...

Hmm ... here's a thought ... perhaps this is going down so that when the Sheltons' divorce proceedings lawsuits hit the fan, 3ABN can say, well, we're not just one ministry now. In other words, diffusing the fallout -- "Do you want to take down Amazing Facts as well as 3ABN?"

If that's true, this merger is dumber than a crate of anvils. Too many people know. save3abn.com passed 97,000 hits today. Doug had a viable and valuable ministry before now.

On the other hand, it could also allow Danny to slip gradually away rather than overnight. And allow that free and open investigation we've been praying for.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 07:11 PM

TVsnack.

Watching...

Rosyroi

Posted by: roxe Apr 19 2007, 07:41 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 05:50 PM)
>
> On the other hand, it could also allow Danny to slip gradually away rather than overnight.

taking the jet to another country without extradition to the US so he can skate free??

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Apr 19 2007, 08:32 PM

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Apr 19 2007, 07:46 PM)
>
> Well nothing has changed in my opinion. Amazing facts is lilly white and so is 3ABN. So nothing has changed. I don't see any black folks in their videos or programs. So they will fit right in with 3ABN.

hat is rather uncalled for. 3ABN has really worked hard over the last couple of years to put more "black olks" on the network. Just look at the Today program. Since CA Murray took over, you can bet more times hat not, it's a black person singing. You also have to take into consideration that percentages of lacks/whites in the area. It's been stated several times on here that the KKK still has a following there.

ust my two cents...

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 08:52 PM

HOTY!!!! Good to see you! Missed you Bro.!!!

PM's point is that in 2007 one or two black faces onregularly, and some brought into sing........is jsut not enough. Hisotrically there have been one or two "accetable" ones, tokens, if you will. there hsould be more, in more areas...singing still sounds like we are........entertaining............If you you would like to understand further, , you can PM and I will try to explain further, or just schedule some time in LC. I know that you are sincere, HOTY.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 09:11 PM

I think 3abn has done well in recent years to bring in more Black representation in programming, as well as in musical talent. I won't judge what the leadership's motivation has been to do so, but I certainly think it is a move forward. I would not characterize them as lily white by any stretch of the imagination. As far as Amazing Facts and Doug Batchelor, I used to watch a lot more of the Sabbath School and Church progamming from the Central church and I recall that the audience was not lily white.

Now, I know that some say there are those in leadership who make unChristian remarks behind closed doors, but the fact remains that there is a great move for more representation and that is a good thing.

hug.gif HOTY hug.gif

edited html

Posted by: msraccoon Apr 19 2007, 09:20 PM

Wow, talk about a letdown. Just finished listening to the not so great 3ABN live.

I am sad and very disappointed. I had always hoped that someday this godly man called Doug Batchelor would somehow help DS realize the error of his ways. And TS's grossly overlooked sins.

Now that Doug and ASI have crawled into bed with DS, words cannot express my frustration.

I have refused to listen to DS for several years because I consider him to be a narcissist; so full of himself. His "preaching" always takes a back seat to his stories, rambling and rambling about himself and his own interests. (Did you ever just want to slap him and say "get to the point"?)
I could see Linda's uneasiness at times about the way he talked instead of letting his guests talk.

Regretfully, I no longer believe that Doug is necessarily the preacher needed for the "last days". I have completely lost confidence in him. Just like all pastors I knew growing up, he chose not to address an issue such as sex, immorality, homosexuality, adultery. Just ignore it long enough and it will go away.

DS will now most certainly hide under the umbrella of Doug. This merger will probably kill any chance of Linda getting the justice that she so much deserves.

I do not for a moment believe that God's hand is in this so-called merger. I am ashamed of all the SDA leaders for their lack of calling Danny and Tommy to accountability. How can DS even speak of "bringing the undiluted 3-angels message to the whole world. HYPOCRITE he is.

msraccoon

Posted by: LaurenceD Apr 19 2007, 10:23 PM

I watched it.

After a whole lot of sharing of spiritual visions, literally, DS mentioned people might wonder what the advantages are to merging. He said he could talk about the financial advantages, but decided not to go there. Finances is always a big factor for big changes in direction, but not the only driving cause. I would suspect that DB will help bail out the 3abn ministry if funds are lacking, and together they can do cost share savings through this joint adventure.

3abn is without a strong evangelistic school...other than that which they import. Evangelism is what 3abn is suppose to be all about. Amazing Facts will nicely fill that void.

Some of the catch words were...dream, synergy, and marriage. Mollie made it clear, indirectly, that she was happy to do the work while the two guys did what they do best...evangelize. This appeared to be a statement that she wanted, no, expected, to still be in charge of what makes it all work...inspite of what the merger may mean for a new administration setup.

The better part of all this merger news is a new board will be created, representing three agencies (ASI, AF, 3abn) equally. If all goes well, this means it should be more balanced...rather than the hand-selected members only we see now. Diversity should take on a more meaningful definition.

The other thing not to overlook is that DB is a pretty crafty fella. His mind works very independently, regardless. He turned down two offers, very recently, from DS, to be president of 3abn...after carefully thinking it over both times. DS wouldn't give up though and finally found something DB felt he could use. DB will carefully, and artfully, take his time at uncovering any problems he senses. Now, all information associated with 3abn will come under his umbrella too. Nothing should be hidden or removed without his knowing about it...unless perhaps MS is still somehow directing the paper traffic and controlling the seldom seen files.

(BTW, one funny incident. While on live TV tonight, DS offered DB the presidency once again if he'd like it as well, but DR. Walt T. cautioned DS immediately saying he might want to change his mind about that)

One note of caution to AF should be to have all agreements clearly detailed...including risk management--past and future. Also, a good clause for for how unseen problems will be resolved in the event anything should go wrong through misunderstandings. Be careful Doug.

--my two cents.

Posted by: Fran Apr 19 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Apr 19 2007, 10:20 PM)
>
> Wow, talk about a letdown. Just finished listening to the not so great 3ABN live.
>
> I am sad and very disappointed. I had always hoped that someday this godly man called Doug Batchelor would somehow help DS realize the error of his ways. And TS's grossly overlooked sins.

> Now that Doug and ASI have crawled into bed with DS, words cannot express my frustration.
>
> I have refused to listen to DS for several years because I consider him to be a narcissist; so full of himself. His "preaching" always takes a back seat to his stories, rambling and rambling about himself and his own interests. (Did you ever just want to slap him and say "get to the point"?)
> I could see Linda's uneasiness at times about the way he talked instead of letting his guests talk.
>
> Regretfully, I no longer believe that Doug is necessarily the preacher needed for the "last days". I have completely lost confidence in him. Just like all pastors I knew growing up, he chose not to address an issue such as sex, immorality, homosexuality, adultery. Just ignore it long enough and it will go away.
>
> DS will now most certainly hide under the umbrella of Doug. This merger will probably kill any chance of Linda getting the justice that she so much deserves.
>
> I do not for a moment believe that God's hand is in this so-called merger. I am ashamed of all the SDA leaders for their lack of calling Danny and Tommy to accountability. How can DS even speak of "bringing the undiluted 3-angels message to the whole world. HYPOCRITE he is.
>
> msraccoon

will have to see action before I am able to accept this change as OK.

have seen the carpets come flying in to cover big stink before. However, this is the mother of all carpets lying in to cover up the 3ABN Mess!

he next thing we should see is Danny as president of ASI or some other politically correct position.

exual abusers in the SDA church are given new playgrounds where they can start their dastardly deeds all ver again. Thus destroying even more people/members.

olks, I am here to tell you I have seen it all my life. This is no different. The grassroots effort had to be illed.

o you feel dead yet?

he "church" uses the best insecticide; Silent killers. They usually aim for members of their own ongregations!

heir leaders would not have done anything bad if it had not been for those crazy members causing then to o it!

ou know how they are!

hey are so opinionated!

hat rights do they have any way?

hey asked to be members right?

f they (members) don't get it right, put them out.

e will use our undiluted messages to replace those grumbling insane members any way!

have been in the grandstands watching this play out over and over again.

have even been on the "wrong" side.

I am a SDA. The message is right. I have no other place to turn in my relationship with Christ. I have held on through things that would curl you hair. We must forgive 70*7.

Does this mean we should go quietly to our corners and ask forgiveness for speaking truth; then speak their lies to "make things go away"?

So as I see it, we have just seen the mother of all carpets cover all those sins at 3ABN.

These church actions or what I call "Actions by NO ACTION" have been around since the beginning of time. They are not about to go away now. Satan is one that tries over and over again. The stupid fool thinks he is going to get it right and win the great controversy! Oops, that won't happen; we've read the end of the book!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 19 2007, 10:44 PM

Something just doesn't ring true.

My 81-year-old mother was so upset that she called me, upset nearly to tears, before the first hour was over. She feels like two ministries are now in danger of being destroyed instead of just one.

Where miracle stories, dreams and amazing coincidences would have, before now, given us both goose bumps and hearts filled with joy, in the face of the obvious denial rampant in that room tonight it brought nothing but disappointment.

Near the end of the program, Doug Batchelor said that "they'll know us by our love for each other". Look out of the 3abn doors, Brother Doug, at the people of Thompsonville. Go and ask Duane and Roger Clem and the other alleged victims of pastoral abuse who have experienced the feelings flowing from the co-founder of 3abn towards them. Ask them about the love they see flowing from the leadership of 3abn. Is Christ being lifted up to those alleged victims and their loved ones? Or, has it made better business sense to allow those alleged victims to remain as necessary sacrifices to protect the image of the President and his family? If this is the case, there is a real danger of one day hearing those devastating words from the lips of our Redeemer found in Matthew 7:22-23:

22 Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' 23 Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 12:25 AM

Since AF is so much more than Doug B. I am hoping that they will concentrate on saving 3abn so it can do what it is meant to do and the wrongdoers will tend to their own matters on their own time with their own money. that's what i'm hoping. saving 3abn is #1 because getting the message to the lost and the hurting is #1. making people accountable is #2 but is not the ministry's job now. maybe that is what they are trying to separate which had to be done and should have been done long ago. long before they were millions in debt. i'm hoping that is what is being done. i think that we here and others directly involved will still have to be vigilent in bringing all wrongdoing to justice and also to protect the "ministry" from any more damage.

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 11:01 AM)
>
> I agree, SE.
>
> I think that the investigation and scandal being addressed needs to happen. But I do not think that the > new management should do the investigation. I think that the new management should, for the most part, confine its role in addressing the scandal to those things that pertain to the continuance of 3abn. Such as appropriate wage scales.

>
> Thus, I find much reason to sit back and wait to see what happens! I hope and pray that this will work out to good of all.

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 12:38 AM well, i think this whole guise is to distract from DS or anyone else who's done wrong to make any apologies. they just pretend to "graciously bow out". isn't it nice that some of the board members are so generous they would not argue for their position if it's all for the good. sorry for the sarcasm but what danny said about ken denslow saying it would be fine with him if they chose not to reappoint him if it was in the best interest of 3abn. rubbish. i think he couldn't wait to get out of that "hotseat".

the way mollie and shelly are jockeying really makes me nervous tho'. mollie wants to control all the paperwork/papertrails. do yall think DB is blind to her wiley ways?

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 01:10 PM)
>
> Yeah Holly, that too! LOL!!!
>
> Right FTP. I dont' see two men who are head considering being "under" anyone. Especially Doug, his ministry definitely doesn't need to be under 3ABN with it's troubles, and Danny has little man's disease,... ain't nobody tellin' him what to do! LOL!! Ooops, Did I say that out loud!
>
> Anyway as Calvin says in business they call them mergers, but it is agreed that sooner or later one will be take over completely.

Posted by: Whitey Apr 20 2007, 01:11 AM http://www.amazingfacts.org/news/read_news.asp?ID=138 BreakingNews : Doug/Danny Merging

Most all the comments in this thread till now tend to have a very depressive tenor for the future of SDA Media Evangelism via Satellite broadcasting. Is your reactions on this based so negatively because of the surface appearance of what the merger appears to imply?

I wish we could be closer to the mind of Christ on this matter. Can we not try at least to view the most superior divine Chess master still involved with His church on earth at this moment, still? We are the pawns, let Him be the player.

When we pray, let's do so in faith that He is going to change the present leadership of 3-ABN into a leadership group ruling with the integrity of Christians having the SDA mission goal in mind. If He is envisioning D.Batchelor as President of 3-ABN then pray that the dismissal of D.S. happens soon. Along with the others needing to be removed from the board game. Pray in expectation that all around D.S. will be eliminated at the same time that D.S. topples.

God is setting up the chess board and calling the shots.

He has foresight in getting at the King by eliminating slowly, slowly, the Bishops, Rooks, Knights and finally the present Queen piece by piece. The pawns never do have a chance to survive, now do they?

Time is on God's side. Power also.

There is coming a moment in the 3-ABN future when He is going to victoriously shout "checkmate"

Posted by: pmorris68 Apr 20 2007, 02:13 AM

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Apr 19 2007, 10:32 PM)
>
> That is rather uncalled for. 3ABN has really worked hard over the last couple of years to put more "black folks" on the network. Just look at the Today program. Since CA Murray took over, you can bet more times that not, it's a black person singing. You also have to take into consideration that percentages of blacks/whites in the area. It's been stated several times on here that the KKK still has a following there.
>
> Just my two cents...

UNCALLED FOR YOU SAY!!!!!! LOL!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
I crack up. How is that they have worked hard? AT WHAT? LORD HAVE MERCY!!!
I HAVE NEVER SEEN THEM AT A ANY BLACK CONFERENCE CONCERT or major event. I have never seen TAKE 6, Virtue, Duawne Starling or Favored, or Madison Mission choir or any GOSPEL choir on their network. And you say they have been working Hard??? HOW? WHEN????

I know for a FACT because in the position that I am in PRESIDENT OF A MUSICAL ORGANIZATION. I called 3ABN to ask them to come and be apart of the music and worship conferences which the NAD supports. I have yet to even get a real conversation with them about that. They hemmed and hawed around but the bottom line was they were NOT interested.

As for Amazing Facts...YES they are just as Lilly white. My church in Atlanta recently showed the video series about the last day events. Great video with great acting...they had the best animation I have seen almost as good as disney's. But in the entire video, there was NOT ONE BLACK FACE!!!!

It was SO obvious that our SOUTH ATLANTIC CONFERENCE PRESIDENT comented that he was hoping that didn't mean we were not going to heaven. Now I tell you...as an African American in this church in 2007. How can we preach love when CLEARLY we are not seeing the WHOLE TRUTH on racisim. It might not be intentional but it's clearly still here. 2 blacks on 1 one networks is NOT a true reflection of our church. So don't tell me about 3ABN trying. THey ain't trying. What they are trying to do is staying up in that hillbilly town and making money. And by no means do I feel they haven't done a great deal of good. But let's face it. Trying to appeal to all is not what they are doing.

I would gladly support both organizations. But honestly, I could care less whether they merge or to stay separate. But what I do care about is if the Black church supports 3ABN and Amazing facts, then the least they could do is make a REAL effort to provide African Americans apart of their programming and planning in a real way.

The fact remains in our church blacks and whites worship differently our music is different and we will NEVER agree on music. So white people have their thing and mean while the blacks struggle with ours. That is a fact. Until we accept that we all worship differently, there are always going to be this issue.

Posted by: Johann Apr 20 2007, 03:26 AM

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Apr 20 2007, 10:13 AM)
>
> UNCALLED FOR YOU SAY!!!!!! LOL!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
> I crack up. How is that they have worked hard? AT WHAT? LORD HAVE MERCY!!!
> I HAVE NEVER SEEN THEM AT A ANY BLACK CONFERENCE CONCERT or major event. I have never seen TAKE 6, Virtue, Duawne Starling or Favored, or Madison Mission choir or any GOSPEL choir on their network. And you say they have been working Hard??? HOW? WHEN????

I certainly share your concern. But I was clearly told by certain leaders at 3ABN that one reason they could not support Linda was her music style. It was too. . . whatever, for the ultra conservative idea of true religion. You may have noticed that the black singers and musicians who have been performing on 3ABN have not performed quite the way you are used to in your churches - at least that is my honest impression. Perhaps with the exception of the Walther Pearson programs, but was there ever any singing there?

It seems to me that HOPE is much more open and they use various styles of music and singing. So next time I suggest you try HOPE. In my opinion we need a greater contribution of the excellent black music to inspire us in the right direction for the Lord.

Posted by: pmorris68 Apr 20 2007, 04:04 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 20 2007, 04:26 AM)
>
> I certainly share your concern. But I was clearly told by certain leaders at 3ABN that one reason they could not support Linda was her music style. It was too. . . whatever, for the ultra conservative idea of true religion. You may have noticed that the black singers and musicians who have been performing on 3ABN have not performed quite the way you are used to in your churches - at least that is my honest impression. Perhaps with the exception of the Walther Pearson programs, but was there ever any singing there?
>
> It seems to me that HOPE is much more open and they use various styles of music and singing. So next time I suggest you try HOPE. In my opinion we need a greater contribution of the excellent black music to inspire us in the right direction for the Lord.

Amen!!

There was singing on his Net 2004 series. But usually when BOL is taped its always been good. But of course it's always going to be drama about music. I and UCAA usually don't get caught up in what kind of music is appropriate arguments. We simply encourage folks to do all things in Excellence.
That fact is lacking in our churches as well.

Posted by: erik Apr 20 2007, 05:30 AM

Hello all,

I have not post in sometime was praying and wondering How God was going to work.

Well i am concerned that this is going to turn into a sweep under the rug sin in the church yet again.

I also have to faith to at this time walk by faith that The God that promise to be the author and the finisher of my faith will be the author and the finisher of what he started at 3abn.

I noticed last night for the part that i watched that Doug seemed very on edge like he was being very careful what he said, Danny on the other hand seem to be like he was selling that things we just going to be dandy.

I also noticed that Danny really asked for the money to come, which tells me that God is having his people with the money that Danny has gotten used to coming in.

I also noticed that Danny could not help but mention how Satan would not like this merger and would try to stop it in some fashion with attacks on the internet.

My personal guess is Satan is not one bit happy about the merger but it might be for reasons that are far different then Danny S. thinks, like just maybe Satan will be sad to see Danny go.

I was also very struck by the Difference in on air attitudes between Doug, and Danny, Shelly, And Molly.

I would also add this is the first 3abn program i have watched in a long time.

In Closing I would like to pray that Doug's messages on apostasy will guide his running of 3abn.

Erik

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 20 2007, 05:44 AM

So what will we do in Heaven? There will be a lot of suprised people when we all learn to worship God with perfection.

---

band3.gif

y hug.gif che

Posted by: watchbird Apr 20 2007, 06:23 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 20 2007, 05:26 AM)
>
> I certainly share your concern. But I was clearly told by certain leaders at 3ABN that one reason they could not support Linda was her music style. It was too. . . whatever, for the ultra conservative idea of true religion. You may have noticed that the black singers and musicians who have been performing on 3ABN have not performed quite the way you are used to in your churches - at least that is my honest > impression. Perhaps with the exception of the Walther Pearson programs, but was there ever any singing there?

>
> It seems to me that HOPE is much more open and they use various styles of music and singing. So next time I suggest you try HOPE. In my opinion we need a greater contribution of the excellent black music to inspire us in the right direction for the Lord.

.et's be clear about something else regarding 3abn and music..... it is not only black singers and musicians vho look and sound different from what they do in other venues. White singers also sound and look lifferent... to say nothing of the fact that there are many other sounds and styles of music that are NEVER ;een or heard on 3abn.... and it has been this way from the very beginning. When I complained in the early lays when they took LLU church and Sabbath School off the air one of the two reasons I was given was that heir music did not fit 3abn "criteria". And I would not dignify their "criteria" by calling it "the ultra-:onservative view of religion".... Not very many true conservatives even tolerate the kind of music that Danny ;ends out over the airwaves.

;ure... no one has ever seen "black gospel" or "black contemporary" or "black choirs". But it is equally true hat no one has ever seen genuine "gospel", "southern gospel", contemporary, traditional or classical choirs, ırchestras, bands (whether worship, marching, or concert), orchestras, chamber music... or anything else ıther than the insipid, watered down, tightly controled versions of Dannystyle music. Even the singers who ıave a wide repetoire of music are not allowed freedom of choice and selection... or of movement. One singer vho "auditioned" for them told of chalk marks on the floor within which he had to keep his feet at all times.

'm not at all denying that Blacks have a legitimate "beef" with how they are [not] represented on 3abn. Just :now that it's not "all about color".... it's about narrow criteria that excludes everything that doesn't match)anny's particular mediocre tastes in music.

Posted by: Denny Apr 20 2007, 06:42 AM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Apr 20 2007, 12:44 PM)
>
> So what will we do in Heaven? There will be a lot of suprised people when we all learn to worship God with perfection.
>
> band3.gif

)on't you know the white Adventists will come over the side where the black Adventists live when they want o listen to our music - yes ~~racist garbage~~ words has been spilled from the mouths of Adventists.....

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 06:44 AM

You have well spoken, here.

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ Apr 19 2007, 12:48 PM)

> Now is when the reality comes out: are the problems many have actually with the current leadership of 3abn, or with 3abn itself.
>
> If the church at large (since it sounds like the GC Pres, NAD Pres, etc have given their approval) has decided to rescue 3abn, is the new management required to make apologies? Or can't they say: a new day has dawned, we're replacing so-and-so, and so-and-so, etc. (over time, of course. It is not usually wise to replace too many employees at once).
>
> From my position, where I hold the current leadership responsible for their behavior (that being DS, certain management, and certain board members), the apologies need to come from those individuals whether or not they still are employed by 3abn.
>
> While the new management can make a few statements of apology and moves of reconciliation where needed, if they get too involved in what the past management did, it could conceivably have bad repercussions for the new management.
>
> From a Public Relations perspective (my background), any statements made by the new administration need to be very, very careful. They will want to start with a clean slate, not jump into a ugly mess.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Apr 20 2007, 07:06 AM

I took notes on what happened on the live program pertaining to the merger, and here they are in numbered format:

3ABN Live Notes – April 19, 2007

1. Danny Shelton said he had offered Pastor Doug Batchelor a position with 3ABN and he turned it down.

2. Then Danny Shelton offered Pastor Doug Batchelor the position as president and he again turned it down.

3. Then they got the idea of merging the ministries, 3ABN and Amazing Facts.

4. Garwin McNeilius thought this would be a great merger.

5. Shelley Quinn said to Danny Shelton, "When you offered him (referring to Pastor Doug Batchelor) the presidency....."

6. Monday, April 16th, the 3ABN Board voted for merging with Amazing Facts.

7. Wednesday, April 18th, the Amazing Facts Board voted for merging with 3ABN.

8. New Board.

9. T9, page 221 quote re moving the world.

10. R&H 1890 quote re pressing together.

11. Join these ministries.....

12. 3ABN sees itself as a Supporting Ministry of the SDA Church, not as an Independent Ministry.

13. Danny Shelton alluded to Pastor Doug Batchelor as becoming President of 3ABN from this merger.

14. 3ABN and Amazing Facts will retain their individual identities.

15. Mollie will continue to take care of the Home Front (3ABN).

16. Dr. Walt Thompson said something about Danny Shelton's willingness to share the burden with Pastor Doug Batchelor.

17. The future officers are not decided however Doug Batchelor will be the likely President.

18. Danny may remain the CEO.

19. However things work out, Danny will not be leaving 3ABN.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 07:17 AM

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Apr 20 2007, 01:13 AM)
>
> UNCALLED FOR YOU SAY!!!!!! LOL!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
> I crack up. How is that they have worked hard? AT WHAT? LORD HAVE MERCY!!!
> I HAVE NEVER SEEN THEM AT A ANY BLACK CONFERENCE CONCERT or major event. I have never seen TAKE 6, Virtue, Duawne Starling or Favored, or Madison Mission choir or any GOSPEL choir on their network. And you say they have been working Hard??? HOW? WHEN????
>
> I know for a FACT because in the position that I am in PRESIDENT OF A MUSICAL ORGANIZATION. I called 3ABN to ask them to come and be apart of the music and worship conferences which the NAD supports. I have yet to even get a real conversation with them about that. They hemmed and hawed around but the bottom line was they were NOT interested.
>
> As for Amazing Facts...YES they are just as Lilly white. My church in Atlanta recently showed the video series about the last day events. Great video with great acting...they had the best animation I have seen almost as good as disney's. But in the entire video, there was NOT ONE BLACK FACE!!!!
>
> It was SO obvious that our SOUTH ATLANTIC CONFERENCE PRESIDENT comented that he was hoping that didn't mean we were not going to heaven. Now I tell you...as an African American in this church in 2007. How can we preach love when CLEARLY we are not seeing the WHOLE TRUTH on racisim. It might not be intentional but it's clearly still here. 2 blacks on 1 one networks is NOT a true reflection of our church. So don't tell me about 3ABN trying. THey ain't trying. What they are trying to do is staying up in that hillbilly town and making money. And by no means do I feel they haven't done a great deal of good. But let's face it. Trying to appeal to all is not what they are doing.
>
> I would gladly support both organizations. But honestly, I could care less whether they merge or to stay separate. But what I do care about is if the Black church supports 3ABN and Amazing facts, then the least they could do is make a REAL effort to provide African Americans apart of their programming and planning in a real way.
>
> The fact remains in our church blacks and whites worship differently our music is different and we will NEVER agree on music. So white people have their thing and mean while the blacks struggle with ours. That is a fact. Until we accept that we all worship differently, there are always going to be this issue.

pmorris,

That popping sound you hear is from my eyes as they are opened further to the color issue we have in our denomination. That 3abn would try to put on the facade of diversity while not expanding their narrow definition of acceptable music to include the very music that nourishes many in this country and around the world shows a lack of respect for the diversity they are outwardly promoting.

PrincessDi has similarly experienced and previously commented on the lack of color on the Amazing Facts video you refer to. I would invite you to add your perspective to the discussion we are having about the color line in our church over in the Adventist and Theology forums. http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=13208

I would like to point out that disagreement about music style is not just a black/white issue. In my own racially diverse congregation it has been a controversy for years. When a pastor decided to limit the old standard hymns to one per service and bring in a 3 - 4 song Praise Music segment to feed the younger members of the church, a group of more conservative members got up in arms. When that pastor left and our present pastor arrived he continued the Praise Worship service. The consequences have been a small trickle out of the church of some of those more conservative members who have moved their memberships to other SDA churches in the area. The benefits, though, have been that our congregation is growing and strengthening. I am even seeing some of the more conservative members who have stayed in the congregation start to catch the spirit of the worship service and find the blessing that has always been there.

PB

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 07:24 AM

But it still is not diverse nor is it representative of what is presented in most Black churches...that is the point.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 19 2007, 10:11 PM) ☐
>
> I think 3abn has done well in recent years to bring in more Black representation in programming, as well as in musical talent. I won't judge what the leadership's motivation has been to do so, but I certainly think it is a move forward. I would not characterize them as lily white by any stretch of the imagination. As far as Amazing Facts and Doug Batchelor, I used to watch a lot more of the Sabbath School and Church progamming from the Central church and I recall that the audience was not lily white.
>
> Now, I know that some say there are those in leadership who make unChristian remarks behind closed doors, but the fact remains that there is a great move for more representation and that is a good thing.
>
> ☒ hug.gif HOTY ☒ hug.gif
>
> edited html

Thanks for the transcript re-cap, Daryl! ☒

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Apr 20 2007, 08:06 AM) ☐
>
> I took notes on what happened on the live program pertaining to the merger, and here they are in numbered format:
>
> 3ABN Live Notes - April 19, 2007
>
> 1. Danny Shelton said he had offered Pastor Doug Batchelor a position with 3ABN and he turned it down.
>
> 2. Then Danny Shelton offered Pastor Doug Batchelor the position as president and he again turned it down.
>
> 3. Then they got the idea of merging the ministries, 3ABN and Amazing Facts.
>
> 4. Garwin McNeilius thought this would be a great merger.
>
> 5. Shelley Quinn said to Danny Shelton, "When you offered him (referring to Pastor Doug Batchelor) the presidency....."
>
> 6. Monday, April 16th, the 3ABN Board voted for merging with Amazing Facts.

> 7. Wednesday, April 18th, the Amazing Facts Board voted for merging with 3ABN.
>
> 8. New Board.
>
> 9. T9, page 221 quote re moving the world.
>
> 10. R&H 1890 quote re pressing together.
>
> 11. Join these ministries.....
>
> 12. 3ABN sees itself as a Supporting Ministry of the SDA Church, not as an Independent Ministry.
>
> 13. Danny Shelton alluded to Pastor Doug Batchelor as becoming President of 3ABN from this merger.
>
> 14. 3ABN and Amazing Facts will retain their individual identities.
>
> 15. Mollie will continue to take care of the Home Front (3ABN).
>
> 16. Dr. Walt Thompson said something about Danny Shelton's willingness to share the burden with Pastor Doug Batchelor.
>
> 17. The future officers are not decided however Doug Batchelor will be the likely President.
>
> 18. Danny may remain the CEO.
>
> 19. However things work out, Danny will not be leaving 3ABN.

Posted by: caribbean sda Apr 20 2007, 07:25 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Apr 20 2007, 08:42 AM)
>
> Don't you know the white Adventists will come over the side where the black Adventists live when they want to listen to our music - yes ~~racist garbage~~ words has been spilled from the mouths of Adventists.....

It's still hard to believe that someone actually spoke those words...but nothing surprises this Island Dweller anymore...

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 07:30 AM

The only thing to remember, Daryl, is that IF indeed this will truly be a merger, the two will not be able to remain separate entities. Danny will no doubt be a part of this in management, but I do not believe that he will be the president or the C.E.O. I just do not see Doug Batchelor answering to him...the since I got from the broadcast last night is that THEY WANT Doug Batchelor to become the neww leader--I may be wrong here, but that was how I took it.

PREACH TRUTH, PAULA!!!!

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Apr 20 2007, 03:13 AM)

> UNCALLED FOR YOU SAY!!!!!! LOL!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
> I crack up. How is that they have worked hard? AT WHAT? LORD HAVE MERCY!!!
> I HAVE NEVER SEEN THEM AT A ANY BLACK CONFERENCE CONCERT or major event. I have never seen TAKE 6, Virtue, Duawne Starling or Favored, or Madison Mission choir or any GOSPEL choir on their network. And you say they have been working Hard??? HOW? WHEN????
>
> I know for a FACT because in the position that I am in PRESIDENT OF A MUSICAL ORGANIZATION. I called 3ABN to ask them to come and be apart of the music and worship conferences which the NAD supports. I have yet to even get a real conversation with them about that. They hemmed and hawed around but the bottom line was they were NOT interested.
>
> As for Amazing Facts...YES they are just as Lilly white. My church in Atlanta recently showed the video series about the last day events. Great video with great acting...they had the best animation I have seen almost as good as disney's. But in the entire video, there was NOT ONE BLACK FACE!!!!
>
> It was SO obvious that our SOUTH ATLANTIC CONFERENCE PRESIDENT comented that he was hoping that didn't mean we were not going to heaven. Now I tell you...as an African American in this church in 2007. How can we preach love when CLEARLY we are not seeing the WHOLE TRUTH on racisim. It might not be intentional but it's clearly still here. 2 blacks on 1 one networks is NOT a true reflection of our church. So don't tell me about 3ABN trying. THey ain't trying. What they are trying to do is staying up in that hillbilly town and making money. And by no means do I feel they haven't done a great deal of good. But let's face it. Trying to appeal to all is not what they are doing.
>
> I would gladly support both organizations. But honestly, I could care less whether they merge or to stay separate. But what I do care about is if the Black church supports 3ABN and Amazing facts, then the least they could do is make a REAL effort to provide African Americans apart of their programming and planning in a real way.
>
> The fact remains in our church blacks and whites worship differently our music is different and we will NEVER agree on music. So white people have their thing and mean while the blacks struggle with ours. That is a fact. Until we accept that we all worship differently, there are always going to be this issue.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 07:40 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 20 2007, 05:23 AM)
>
> But it still is not diverse nor is it representative of what is presented in most Black churches...that is the point.

Simply,
Point taken and seconded. Just wonder if it is because of racism by the leadership or...?

Danny referred to Wently Phipp's proposed channel that is being developed. It will be interesting to see how that network feeds the flocks. I'll buy one of the new-fangled boxes they were advertising last night if Wently's channel truly represents Black worship services and music.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 20 2007, 08:03 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 09:40 AM)

> Simply,
> Point taken and seconded. Just wonder if it is because of racism by the leadership or...?
>
> Danny referred to Wently Phipp's proposed channel that is being developed. It will be interesting to see how that network feeds the flocks. I'll buy one of the new-fangled boxes they were advertising last night if Wently's channel truly represents Black worship services and music.

.... Excuse me... a white channel proposing to develop a black channel..... what am I missing? How is his anything but just an updated version of segregated churches, segregated conferences, and a segregated ieaven houldn't our aim be for all channels to be fully integrated? And if channels have specialties in programming, et that be along other lines than those which already divide us.... racial, doctrinal, an music styles. One can ee the appropriateness of LLBN, for example, being weighted towards health issues. One could see a vorship/inspiration channel staying away from doctrinal and health programing. One could see a music hannel carrying only music... either video or live performances. But IMO all channels should organize their rogramming so that no race or other group within the Adventist church feels left out of, or slighted by, the rogramming content or appearance. Not all programs need to appeal to all tastes, cultures, doctrinal biases, r races... but certainly the channel as a whole should offer a balanced fare with something for each ndividual.

.... TVsnack. ....

Posted by: vanburton Apr 20 2007, 08:12 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Apr 20 2007, 08:06 AM) ☐
>
> I took notes on what happened on the live program pertaining to the merger, and here they are in numbered format:
>
> 3ABN Live Notes – April 19, 2007
>
> 1. Danny Shelton said he had offered Pastor Doug Batchelor a position with 3ABN and he turned it down.
>
> 2. Then Danny Shelton offered Pastor Doug Batchelor the position as president and he again turned it down.
>
> 3. Then they got the idea of merging the ministries, 3ABN and Amazing Facts.
>
> 4. Garwin McNeilius thought this would be a great merger.
>
> 5. Shelley Quinn said to Danny Shelton, "When you offered him (referring to Pastor Doug Batchelor) the presidency....."
>
> 6. Monday, April 16th, the 3ABN Board voted for merging with Amazing Facts.
>
> 7. Wednesday, April 18th, the Amazing Facts Board voted for merging with 3ABN.
>
> 8. New Board.
>
> 9. T9, page 221 quote re moving the world.

> 10. R&H 1890 quote re pressing together.
>
> 11. Join these ministries.....
>
> 12. 3ABN sees itself as a Supporting Ministry of the SDA Church, not as an Independent Ministry.
>
> 13. Danny Shelton alluded to Pastor Doug Batchelor as becoming President of 3ABN from this merger.
>
> 14. 3ABN and Amazing Facts will retain their individual identities.
>
> 15. Mollie will continue to take care of the Home Front (3ABN).
>
> 16. Dr. Walt Thompson said something about Danny Shelton's willingness to share the burden with Pastor Doug Batchelor.
>
> 17. The future officers are not decided however Doug Batchelor will be the likely President.
>
> 18. Danny may remain the CEO.
>
> 19. However things work out, Danny will not be leaving 3ABN.

Vhere was JL? He was present at the other "live" defense shows of DS. Anyone know?

Posted by: Denny Apr 20 2007, 08:14 AM

I thought the channel was urban based or does urban automatically equate to black? What they need is a channel that appeals to youth the present set up from what I have seen looks so boring even for me who is a senior youth.

Posted by: RomFive5 Apr 20 2007, 08:37 AM

> QUOTE(Whitey @ Apr 20 2007, 02:11 AM)
>
> . . . I wish we could be closer to the mind of Christ on this matter. Can we not try at least to view the most superior divine Chess master still involved with His church on earth at this moment, still? We are the pawns, let Him be the player.
>
> . . . God is setting up the chess board and calling the shots. . . .

men and amen!! "Above the distractions of the earth He sits enthroned; all things are open to His divine urvey; and from His great and calm eternity He orders that which His providence sees best." 8T 272 can also be found in CC 77, FLB 42, and MH 417).

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 20 2007, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Apr 19 2007, 10:20 PM)

> Wow, talk about a letdown. Just finished listening to the not so great 3ABN live.
>
> I am sad and very disappointed. I had always hoped that someday this godly man called Doug Batchelor would somehow help DS realize the error of his ways. And TS's grossly overlooked sins.
>
> Now that Doug and ASI have crawled into bed with DS, words cannot express my frustration.
>
> I have refused to listen to DS for several years because I consider him to be a narcissist; so full of himself. His "preaching" always takes a back seat to his stories, rambling and rambling about himself and his own interests. (Did you ever just want to slap him and say "get to the point"?)
> I could see Linda's uneasiness at times about the way he talked instead of letting his guests talk.
>
> Regretfully, I no longer believe that Doug is necessarily the preacher needed for the "last days". I have completely lost confidence in him. Just like all pastors I knew growing up, he chose not to address an issue such as sex, immorality, homosexuality, adultery. Just ignore it long enough and it will go away.
>
> DS will now most certainly hide under the umbrella of Doug. This merger will probably kill any chance of Linda getting the justice that she so much deserves.
>
> I do not for a moment believe that God's hand is in this so-called merger. I am ashamed of all the SDA leaders for their lack of calling Danny and Tommy to accountability. How can DS even speak of "bringing the undiluted 3-angels message to the whole world. HYPOCRITE he is.
>
> msraccoon

am sorry you feel that way about the merger - its too bad so many are negative about it, instead of vatching to see what God has in mind. God is still in control, no matter what.
Vhat you said about bringing Danny and Tommy to light, did you expect them to address that on 3ABN last ight? A real investigation hasnt even begun yet, right? I think they want to approach this carefully. Don't get ne wrong, from what I have read and heard about this situation, it does seem that alot of hypocrisy and lishonesty and immorality has gone on, but we can hardly assume that the day that Doug was named resident would be the day to publicly reproach Danny and Tommy and whoever else. Lets just let it marinate or a little bit and pray as we wait.
ets try and focus on the positive - at least something has been done. It seems like so many are STILL omplaining, even though a step in the right direction (taking some of the power from Danny) has happened.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 20 2007, 09:03 AM)
>
> .... Excuse me... a white channel proposing to develop a black channel..... what am I missing? How is this anything but just an updated version of segregated churches, segregated conferences, and a segregated heaven
>
> Shouldn't our aim be for all channels to be fully integrated? And if channels have specialties in programming, let that be along other lines than those which already divide us.... racial, doctrinal, an music styles. One can see the appropriateness of LLBN, for example, being weighted towards health issues. One could see a worship/inspiration channel staying away from doctrinal and health programing. One could see a music channel carrying only music... either video or live performances. But IMO all channels should organize their programming so that no race or other group within the Adventist church feels left out of, or slighted by, the programming content or appearance. Not all programs need to appeal to all tastes, cultures, doctrinal biases, or races... but certainly the channel as a whole should offer a balanced fare with something for each individual.

> TVsnack.

men!!!

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 08:53 AM

rofl

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 20 2007, 08:03 AM)
>
> .... Excuse me... a white channel proposing to develop a black channel..... what am I missing? How is this anything but just an updated version of segregated churches, segregated conferences, and a segregated heaven
>
> Shouldn't our aim be for all channels to be fully integrated? And if channels have specialties in programming, let that be along other lines than those which already divide us.... racial, doctrinal, an music styles. One can see the appropriateness of LLBN, for example, being weighted towards health issues. One could see a worship/inspiration channel staying away from doctrinal and health programing. One could see a music channel carrying only music... either video or live performances. But IMO all channels should organize their programming so that no race or other group within the Adventist church feels left out of, or slighted by, the programming content or appearance. Not all programs need to appeal to all tastes, cultures, doctrinal biases, or races... but certainly the channel as a whole should offer a balanced fare with something for each individual.
>
> TVsnack.

hanks for making me laugh this morning....right when I needed it!

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Apr 20 2007, 09:53 AM

all of this coming from people of the book! Such is life

Posted by: Clay Apr 20 2007, 10:14 AM

> QUOTE(HUGGINS130 @ Apr 20 2007, 10:53 AM)

> all of this coming from people of the book! Such is life

o paraphrase some great quotes from the bible.... Whatever they are going to do, "do quickly...."

r maybe its, Jesus said to [them,] "are you betraying me with" a merger?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2007, 10:50 AM

It is definitely code for black" Den, you might add hispanic in there also, but when they refer to music or anything being urban, it generally mean "black".

> QUOTE(Denny @ Apr 20 2007, 06:14 AM)
>
> I thought the channel was urban based or does urban automatically equate to black? What they need is a channel that appeals to youth the present set up from what I have seen looks so boring even for me who is a senior youth.

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 10:51 AM

PB, this one is a denominational issue. How one runs a "supportive" or "independent" ministry can be reflective of one's personal convictions; the denominational nextwork and voice of it's ministries should be more reflective of the people it seeks to minister to and/or the membership.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 08:40 AM)
>
> Simply,
> Point taken and seconded. Just wonder if it is because of racism by the leadership or...?
>
> Danny referred to Wently Phipp's proposed channel that is being developed. It will be interesting to see how that network feeds the flocks. I'll buy one of the new-fangled boxes they were advertising last night if Wently's channel truly represents Black worship services and music.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 20 2007, 11:19 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 20 2007, 11:14 AM)
>
> to paraphrase some great quotes from the bible.... Whatever they are going to do, "do quickly...."
>
> or maybe its, Jesus said to [them,] "are you betraying me with" a merger?

ow is a merger a betrayal? curious

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 20 2007, 11:31 AM

Danny said last night that this would be "national news."

Our local media hasn't even picked it up yet. I'm sure the hole-in-the-wall West Frankfort paper will (they always try to pacify Danny for some reason), but I really don't expect to hear it anywhere else.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2007, 11:36 AM

This particular merger it is their motives, and the fact taht they are doing it in the Name of God.....for appearances only. The whole two hours for the sake of the pitch for funds at the end. Is their purpose really ministry. SJ says th at she is reading the Frank Perretti books. In those books religion was used as a front, the rank and file had no idea of the true purpose of the organization. That would be a betrayal to God and to the people who believe that being faithful to the "ministry" they are being faithful to God......because the ministry is of course following the voice of God.........you get my drift.

Now, before eveyone gets excited about rushing to judgment. The first thing which gives me pause is that done this way, Danny will still never have to repent or answer for the wrongs he ha done.....in the name of God and 3ABN. So from there motives of everyone invovled are suspect.

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 20 2007, 10:19 AM) ☐
>
> How is a merger a betrayal? curious

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 20 2007, 11:41 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2007, 12:36 PM) ☐
>
> This particular merger it is their motives, and the fact taht they are doing it in the Name of God.....for appearances only. The whole two hours for the sake of the pitch for funds at the end.

Yes, I picked up on that too. "Well, we don't really know how this will all take place and who will be on the board and what resources will be shared and what role we will all play....but we need your money."

Posted by: roxe Apr 20 2007, 12:25 PM

> QUOTE(vanburton @ Apr 20 2007, 07:12 AM) ☐
>
> Where was JL? He was present at the other "live" defense shows of DS. Anyone know?

i don't know... but perhaps he was out electrocuting, i mean, rewiring someone's house...

oops... sorry... ☒ ☒ rofl

i know i know, i just negated my appology with laughter...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 12:38 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 20 2007, 06:03 AM)
>
> .... Excuse me... a white channel proposing to develop a black channel..... what am I missing? How is this anything but just an updated version of segregated churches, segregated conferences, and a segregated heaven
>
> Shouldn't our aim be for all channels to be fully integrated? And if channels have specialties in programming, let that be along other lines than those which already divide us.... racial, doctrinal, an music styles. One can see the appropriateness of LLBN, for example, being weighted towards health issues. One could see a worship/inspiration channel staying away from doctrinal and health programing. One could see a music channel carrying only music... either video or live performances. But IMO all channels should organize their programming so that no race or other group within the Adventist church feels left out of, or slighted by, the programming content or appearance. Not all programs need to appeal to all tastes, cultures, doctrinal biases, or races... but certainly the channel as a whole should offer a balanced fare with something for each individual.
>
> ....TVsnack.................

WB,
You certainly called that one correctly! Separate channels could be nothing more than a slick technological way to separate the denomination by color. I wonder if 3abn and Wently Phipps have pondered on that one? Is Wently developing the channel or is Danny?

A fully integrated channel? Of course that should be the goal! Will Hope be our best bet? We will see. On the other hand, wouldn't all of the various channels being in the same little box, available to all viewers be rather like an integreted network? I'm sure someone will set me straight if I've stuck my foot in my mouth again. Of course, I have no idea exactly what Wently Phipp's channel will be like so perhaps I should just zip it and watch for awhile.

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 12:54 PM

The only thing to remember is that there ARE differences in the worship experiences and expression....some of you may be turned off by how I worship and I tell you with all due respect, I was not interested in most of the Adventist programming on either Hope or 3ABN....Having a separate channel does not make them racist; if no one else can be a part of it, then that would.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 01:38 PM)
>
> WB,
> You certainly called that one correctly! Separate channels could be nothing more than a slick technological way to separate the denomination by color. I wonder if 3abn and Wently Phipps have > pondered on that one? Is Wently developing the channel or is Danny?

>
> A fully integrated channel? Of course that should be the goal! Will Hope be our best bet? We will see. On the other hand, wouldn't all of the various channels being in the same little box, available to all viewers be rather like an integreted network? I'm sure someone will set me straight if I've stuck my foot in my mouth again. Of course, I have no idea exactly what Wently Phipp's channel will be like so perhaps I should just zip it and watch for awhile.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 20 2007, 01:00 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2007, 12:36 PM)
>
> This particular merger it is their motives, and the fact taht they are doing it in the Name of God.....for appearances only. The whole two hours for the sake of the pitch for funds at the end. Is their purpose really ministry. SJ says th at she is reading the Frank Perretti books. In those books religion was used as a front, the rank and file had no idea of the true purpose of the organization. That would be a betrayal to God and to the people who believe that being faithful to the "ministry" they are being faithful to God......because the ministry is of course following the voice of God.........you get my drift.
>
> Now, before eveyone gets excited about rushing to judgment. The first thing which gives me pause is that done this way, Danny will still never have to repent or answer for the wrongs he ha done.....in the name of God and 3ABN. So from there motives of everyone invovled are suspect.

He will have to answer to God, eventually. Isnt that the most imporant thing?
Even if he appeard on 3ABN and confessed everything he did wrong, got on his knees and begged for orgiveness (which, hopefully we would forgive), how many of us would trust him like we used to? does not aise hand
t would be wonderful if DS saw the error of his ways, but I honestly dont think that will happen, at least not admitted publicly. Even if it did happen, I would still wonder about the sincerity.
Maybe this is a great wakeup call, that no matter what, man is flawed, and the only one we can trust completely is God. We can't base our faith on an organization. We must base our faith on the God and His word to us.
God gave certain people certain talents and resources, and it is their choice to use them right. Obviously someone has misused these things and is paying for his choices now. Its now someone else's turn to use alents and resources, we will see what happens.
God will bless you for what you use to glorify Him. I am so glad that He will never let us down, and that we can rely on Him to turn something good out of this, as long as we focus on what is most important - spreading God's word.
He is coming so soon. Lets remember that. Soon all the heartache will be gone. How awesome to think that we won't have to be limited on time ever again - we will have eternity to get to know each other!!! Thats the one unfortunate thing about church, you just dont have time to talk with everyone that you want to.

Posted by: GrammieTana Apr 20 2007, 02:03 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Apr 19 2007, 11:20 PM)
>
> Wow, talk about a letdown. Just finished listening to the not so great 3ABN live.
>
> I am sad and very disappointed. I had always hoped that someday this godly man called Doug Batchelor would somehow help DS realize the error of his ways. And TS's grossly overlooked sins.

> Now that Doug and ASI have crawled into bed with DS, words cannot express my frustration.
>
> I have refused to listen to DS for several years because I consider him to be a narcissist; so full of himself. His "preaching" always takes a back seat to his stories, rambling and rambling about himself and his own interests. (Did you ever just want to slap him and say "get to the point"?)
> I could see Linda's uneasiness at times about the way he talked instead of letting his guests talk.
>
> Regretfully, I no longer believe that Doug is necessarily the preacher needed for the "last days". I have completely lost confidence in him. Just like all pastors I knew growing up, he chose not to address an issue such as sex, immorality, homosexuality, adultery. Just ignore it long enough and it will go away.
>
> DS will now most certainly hide under the umbrella of Doug. This merger will probably kill any chance of Linda getting the justice that she so much deserves.
>
> I do not for a moment believe that God's hand is in this so-called merger. I am ashamed of all the SDA leaders for their lack of calling Danny and Tommy to accountability. How can DS even speak of "bringing the undiluted 3-angels message to the whole world. HYPOCRITE he is.
>
> msraccoon

was really initially disappointed in the program but when I got to thinking about it, I realize that Doug 3atchelor can't just romp into the 3ABN offices and throw out people left and right just because I think that is vhat should be done. And I do!

Ie is going to need some time and some slack from us to make the changes that we would like to see. What ve need to do, I think, is keep messaging him to let him know where we stand on the issues. He will iutomatically take up the financial issues as they arise and that in itself should get rid of Danny sooner than ie even understands. In any case, Doug cannot do anything about the issues of pedophilia and sexual nisconduct. Those issues are separate from the running of 3ABN except for the immediate need to clearing)ut of anyone who is risking children and anyone else with that kind of behavior.

\s to the others, Doug will need to be very circumspect in his dealings with them. I suspect that in the long un, he has kept much of his private thoughts to himself and will let them out only as he sees fit within the)oundaries that need to be set up. I say that because of his refusal to accept the position that Danny 'offered' iim last night. He has a plan that he and God are working on, is what I see.

Ve have hashed and rehashed this situation so much that we think we have all of the answers and want to ;ee them acted upon post haste , but I still see that God is in control and will wait to pass udgement on Doug Batchelor. How many will join me in this?

4any prayers are needed!

3rammieTana

Posted by: Fran Apr 20 2007, 02:19 PM

Tomatoe seems to be the spokesman for 3ABN (Danny). Pinkpather007 has heard correctly. My question is: Who pulled the wool over whose eyes?

Pinkpanther007 http://www.christianforums.com/t5209775&page=7

QUOTE

> Originally Posted by tomatoe
> Of course he will have his position and will go on spearheading his team just the way DS will go on spearheading his. Who knows, by the time all of the details are ironed out, titles may change again. This is not something that either ministry has jumped into lightly or quickly. The details are mind boggling and will take plenty of time but, when the ink is dry Mollie will still continue her job as GM, DS was still continue his as leader of 3abn and Doug will continue his vision with Amazing Facts. All will work together to make the impossible, possible.

> QUOTE
>
> So, you said that Danny handed over the title but NOT the position. Doug will continue to head up AF and Danny will continue to head up 3ABN. So the hand over of the presidency of 3ABN by Danny to Doug was not real then? Again, if your assertion is correct it raises questions about the validity of everything else that was said tonight regarding this merger. This, BTW, was your assertion, not Danny's.

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 20 2007, 02:25 PM

You made a number of statements that I wholeheartedly agree with (after my reflection, as well.)

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 20 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> ...Doug Batchelor can't just romp into the 3ABN offices and throw out people left and right just because...
>
> He is going to need some time and some slack from us to make the changes ...
>
> In any case, Doug cannot do anything about the issues of pedophilia and sexual misconduct. Those issues are separate from the running of 3ABN except for the immediate need to clearing out of anyone who is risking children and anyone else with that kind of behavior.
>
> As to the others, Doug will need to be very circumspect in his dealings with them. I suspect that in the long run, he has kept much of his private thoughts to himself and will let them out only as he sees fit within the boundaries that need to be set up....
>
> He has a plan that he and God are working on, is what I see.
>
> We have hashed and rehashed this situation so much that we think we have all of the answers and want to see them acted upon post haste, but I still see that God is in control and will wait to pass judgement on Doug Batchelor. How many will join me in this?
>
> Many prayers are needed!
>
> GrammieTana

God IS in control here. I have much confidence in Doug Batchelor being a servant of God. I think we need to give him some space... and wait and see what happens over time. Nothing happens overnight!

Plus, just because I think a certain thing doesn't make it right! I'd be willing to guess that we could come up with several different opinions on what should be done, just among the members who have been posting here the past 2 days.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 02:33 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 20 2007, 11:54 AM) ☐
>
> The only thing to remember is that there ARE differences in the worship experiences and expression....some of you may be turned off by how I worship and I tell you with all due respect, I was not interested in most of the Adventist programming on either Hope or 3ABN....Having a separate channel does not make them racist; if no one else can be a part of it, then that would.

In my own church example, we had one Sabbath praise music session that included drums along with the guitars and piano. It was so loudly done that it was hard to hear the words above the music. A number of older members got up and left in protest. I could understand that, especially if they wore hearing aids, as the decibles of that particular group were making my ears hurt as well. I was tempted to leave for that reason alone. However, as the pastor brought the sermon I marveled at the spiritual blessing I would have missed if I had left.

Isn't this what we should be looking for no matter who is standing behind the pulpit or even their style of preaching? Are the words of the Holy Spirit to be ignored if the one speaking uses a different style? Would it harm us to open our ears to seek God's message no matter the color of the face it comes through?

Just wondering...

Posted by: erik Apr 20 2007, 02:36 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 20 2007, 09:31 AM) ☐
>
> Danny said last night that this would be "national news."
>
> Our local media hasn't even picked it up yet. I'm sure the hole-in-the-wall West Frankfort paper will (they always try to pacify Danny for some reason), but I really don't expect to hear it anywhere else.

Daune,

When i heard that last night it sound like danny was just trying to sound important, in fact i got that idea from most of the 3abn staff, moses being the main one that sound sincere, Doug seem very caged or reserved at least to me.

I am sure that danny is hurting for funds, i heard that 3 abn was running serious shortfall of cash, like in the seven figures.

Anyways keep the faith, and remember so many of us are proud of you for standing tall.

erik

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2007, 03:20 PM

ALL, let me repeat ALL music needs to be done well by those skilled in it either by education or natural talent. Loud definitely does not equal good. That being said, it probably was louder than your congregagation is used to, and that would also present a problem. I find that the complaints aobut loudness mostly accompanies the addition of "live" drums. There is usually no complaint abou those on a sound track. Service should minister to ALL so a balance is key.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 01:33 PM)
>
> In my own church example, we had one Sabbath praise music session that included drums along with the guitars and piano. It was so loudly done that it was hard to hear the words above the music. A number of older members got up and left in protest. I could understand that, especially if they wore hearing aids, as the decibles of that particular group were making my ears hurt as well. I was tempted to leave for that reason alone. However, as the pastor brought the sermon I marveled at the spiritual blessing I would have missed if I had left.
>
> Isn't this what we should be looking for no matter who is standing behind the pulpit or even their style of preaching? Are the words of the Holy Spirit to be ignored if the one speaking uses a different style? Would it harm us to open our ears to seek God's message no matter the color of the face it comes through?
>
> Just wondering...

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 20 2007, 03:23 PM

Someone somewhere on one of these threads made a remark about Danny having little guy syndrome. I had no idea he was short. I knew Linda was very tall.. taller than Barbara and I stood by her when she was in the area to see how tall Linda would be and I would guess that Barbara was at least 5' 5-8" tall. Hmmmm

I suppose so... guess I always considered the "little man syndrome" man to be about 5" 4" tall or shorter.

Gotta rethink this

Yep Danny was really in his prime last night. A brand new (seldom used? different style anyway) cowboy suit, not the usual matching jacket and turtle neck sweater. He took up almost 20 minutes telling his story before letting anyone else give their story.

I don't really like the idea of some of the folk sitting and others standing on the show last night and other Tuesday night live programs. Just doesn't set well with me. Walt leaning down over Danny's shoulder, etc. Just my opinion I like it that they are all sitting around in semi circle. It could be that it can't happen so the camera can pan Danny as much as possible and not look like it is focusing Danny that much.

Wonder how much bonus the camera man/woman gets for panning Danny certain number of times a program... sorry folk... guess I sound kinda not nice.

Have a happy Sabbath
Rosyroi

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 20 2007, 04:35 PM

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 20 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> I was really initially disappointed in the program but when I got to thinking about it, I realize that Doug Batchelor can't just romp into the 3ABN offices and throw out people left and right just because I think > that is what should be done. And I do!

>
> He is going to need some time and some slack from us to make the changes that we would like to see. What we need to do, I think, is keep messaging him to let him know where we stand on the issues. He will automatically take up the financial issues as they arise and that in itself should get rid of Danny sooner than he even understands. In any case, Doug cannot do anything about the issues of pedophilia and sexual misconduct. Those issues are separate from the running of 3ABN except for the immediate need to clearing out of anyone who is risking children and anyone else with that kind of behavior.
>
> As to the others, Doug will need to be very circumspect in his dealings with them. I suspect that in the long run, he has kept much of his private thoughts to himself and will let them out only as he sees fit within the boundaries that need to be set up. I say that because of his refusal to accept the position that Danny 'offered' him last night. He has a plan that he and God are working on, is what I see.
>
> We have hashed and rehashed this situation so much that we think we have all of the answers and want to see them acted upon post haste , but I still see that God is in control and will wait to pass judgement on Doug Batchelor. How many will join me in this?
>
> Many prayers are needed!
>
> GrammieTana

grabs grammie's hand* I am with ya!!! Our two hearts beat as one in this subject. Doug's attitude and lemeanor were admirably cautious on 3ABN. I really like how he let people say what they wanted to say, and lidn't seem in take-charge mode.

/ery well said, Grammie.

Posted by: YogusBearus Apr 20 2007, 04:35 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 20 2007, 01:00 PM)
>
> He will have to answer to God, eventually. Isnt that the most imporant thing?
> Even if he appeard on 3ABN and confessed everything he did wrong, got on his knees and begged for forgiveness (which, hopefully we would forgive), how many of us would trust him like we used to? does not raise hand
> It would be wonderful if DS saw the error of his ways, but I honestly dont think that will happen, at least not admitted publicly. Even if it did happen, I would still wonder about the sincerity.
> Maybe this is a great wakeup call, that no matter what, man is flawed, and the only one we can trust completely is God. We can't base our faith on an organization. We must base our faith on the God and His word to us.

\greed Holly and I might add that I think Danny is already answering for his actions. It doesn't take to long istening to the apologists to realize how panicked DS and crew are. I also believe that Danny will be nswering in a huge way not to far down the road. I'm convinced it is going to involve abuse of funds and hat will put DS out of business once and for all.

n the meantime we need to avoid giving more attention to DS than is deserved. The success of 3abn or AF :an't compare to what we as individuals can do in reaching others. I think we forget that at times and place o much credit in new technology evangelism.

Bear

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 20 2007, 04:42 PM

> QUOTE(YogusBearus @ Apr 20 2007, 05:35 PM)
>
> Agreed Holly and I might add that I think Danny is already answering for his actions. It doesn't take to long listening to the apologists to realize how panicked DS and crew are. I also believe that Danny will be answering in a huge way not to far down the road. I'm convinced it is going to involve abuse of funds and that will put DS out of business once and for all.
>
> In the meantime we need to avoid giving more attention to DS than is deserved. The success of 3abn or AF can't compare to what we as individuals can do in reaching others. I think we forget that at times and place to much credit in new technology evangelism.
>
> -Bear

Right. Attention back to reaching others is what is needed.

Posted by: inga Apr 20 2007, 05:15 PM

Well, PB, you've expressed my concerns/feelings rather well.

When I wrote to Doug Batchelor last year, I got a note back from his secretary worded as though Danny himself had written it, complete with twisting of my words to suit his purposes. Probably Doug didn't even see that note.

How much does Doug really know, I wonder?

He should know enough not to have pulled a foolish stunt such as a "merger" that leaves Danny and Molly in control.

I have faith only in God, none in "princes," such as Danny Shelton and Doug Batchelor.

H'mm ... putting them together like that does nothing for Danny and takes a lot from Doug, who used to have a pretty "clean" reputation, at least. Now some will wonder what he's got to hide.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 19 2007, 11:44 PM)
>
> Something just doesn't ring true.
>
> My 81-year-old mother was so upset that she called me, upset nearly to tears, before the first hour was over. She feels like two ministries are now in danger of being destroyed instead of just one.
>
> Where miracle stories, dreams and amazing coincidences would have, before now, given us both goose bumps and hearts filled with joy, in the face of the obvious denial rampant in that room tonight it brought nothing but disappointment.
>
> Near the end of the program, Doug Batchelor said that "they'll know us by our love for each other". Look out of the 3abn doors, Brother Doug, at the people of Thompsonville. Go and ask Duane and Roger Clem and the other alleged victims of pastoral abuse who have experienced the feelings flowing from the co-founder of 3abn towards them. Ask them about the love they see flowing from the leadership of 3abn. Is Christ being lifted up to those alleged victims and their loved ones? Or, has it made better business sense to allow those alleged victims to remain as necessary sacrifices to protect the image of the President and his family? If this is the case, there is a real danger of one day hearing those devastating words from the > lips of our Redeemer found in Matthew 7:22-23:

>
> 22 Many will say to me on that day, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and in your name drive out demons and perform many miracles?' 23 Then I will tell them plainly, 'I never knew you. Away from me, you evildoers!'

Posted by: inga Apr 20 2007, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 20 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> What we need to do, I think, is keep messaging him to let him know where we stand on the issues. He will automatically take up the financial issues as they arise and that in itself should get rid of Danny sooner than he even understands. In any case, Doug cannot do anything about the issues of pedophilia and sexual misconduct. Those issues are separate from the running of 3ABN except for the immediate need to clearing out of anyone who is risking children and anyone else with that kind of behavior. [snip]
> ...
>
> Many prayers are needed!
>
> GrammieTana

'es, Grammie, many prayers are needed!!

\nd I think it's very important that those who have a way of cluing Doug Batchelor in on what's been going)n at 3ABN behind the scenes should inform him as clearly as they can. It is quite possible that he's been)lind, perhaps willingly so. But he can't afford to be blind any longer ...

Posted by: steffan Apr 20 2007, 06:07 PM

> QUOTE(YogusBearus @ Apr 20 2007, 05:35 PM)
>
> Agreed Holly and I might add that I think Danny is already answering for his actions. It doesn't take to long listening to the apologists to realize how panicked DS and crew are. I also believe that Danny will be answering in a huge way not to far down the road. I'm convinced it is going to involve abuse of funds and that will put DS out of business once and for all.
>
> In the meantime we need to avoid giving more attention to DS than is deserved. The success of 3abn or AF can't compare to what we as individuals can do in reaching others. I think we forget that at times and place to much credit in new technology evangelism.
>
> -Bear

am sorry, I had to post here after hearing all that is being said here. It is too funny not to.
)oug and Danny had a meeting Thursday at 4pm central time with all of the 3abn employees. They were told hat this merge would not change any of their positions, work schedules or anything else. Doug made a point o say that he intends to keep his church in Sacramento and still run amazing facts and WOULD NOT have ıny say in day to day 3abn operations just as Danny will have no say in day to day operations of AF. Except or a merger of the boards and Danny and Doug taking more time to evangelize, most everything will remain as is. Doug and Danny, AF & 3abn will remain 2000 miles apart and will continue business as usual with Danny over 3abn and Doug over AF.

So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.

Posted by: YogusBearus Apr 20 2007, 06:15 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 07:07 PM)
>
> I am sorry, I had to post here after hearing all that is being said here. It is too funny not to.
> Doug and Danny had a meeting Thursday at 4pm central time with all of the 3abn employees. They were told that this merge would not change any of their positions, work schedules or anything else. Doug made a point to say that he intends to keep his church in Sacramento and still run amazing facts and WOULD NOT have any say in day to day 3abn operations just as Danny will have no say in day to day operations of AF. Except for a merger of the boards and Danny and Doug taking more time to evangelize, most everything will remain as is. Doug and Danny, AF & 3abn will remain 2000 miles apart and will continue business as usual with Danny over 3abn and Doug over AF.
> So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
> Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.

Thank you Steffan for clearing everything up for us so succinctly.

-Bear

Posted by: GrammieTana Apr 20 2007, 08:12 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 19 2007, 05:01 PM)
>
> The following was posted by Rosie55 on Christian Forums:
>
> (All bolding and color added by me)
>
> This informative post by CF's Rosie55 is noteworthy.
>
> What is of particular concern, in my opinion, is the statement that I have highlighted in red. If this is truly the message, that Danny has the widespread support by the organized church and ASI, I have to wonder if this is a positive step for Amazing Facts and the church. What will happen to the reputation of the SDA denomination if it is proven that Danny, some of his family members and possibly some on his board of directors knew that TS had abused his pastoral power and, instead of reaching out to help the victims heal > he/they instead attempted to intimidate victims and cover up the abuse?

gain, this and other posts seem to forget that Alyssa, Linda's daughter was accosted by Danny more than nce! We must also pray that this egregious behavior be recognized and punished to the fullest extent of the aw! Forgiveness is not the issue, for either DS or TS. It is also a separate issue from the 'change' in eadership of 3ABN. I certainly hope that Linda's new lawyer will make sure that this is not swept under the

blc

ug!!

T

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 09:15 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2007, 01:20 PM) ☐
>
> ALL, let me repeat ALL music needs to be done well by those skilled in it either by education or natural talent. Loud definitely does not equal good. That being said, it probably was louder than your congregagation is used to, and that would also present a problem. I find that the complaints aobut loudness mostly accompanies the addition of "live" drums. There is usually no complaint abou those on a sound track. Service should minister to ALL so a balance is key.

i, t was a youthful group that appeared to think, out of their sincere immaturity, that louder was better. It was heir one and only appearance on our stage.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 09:31 PM

Steffan,
I thought you lived in New York. Have you moved to the Thompsonville area so that you have first-hand knowledge of all that you have said below?

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 04:07 PM) ☐
>
> I am sorry, I had to post here after hearing all that is being said here. It is too funny not to.
> Doug and Danny had a meeting Thursday at 4pm central time with all of the 3abn employees. They were told that this merge would not change any of their positions, work schedules or anything else. Doug made a point to say that he intends to keep his church in Sacramento and still run amazing facts and WOULD NOT have any say in day to day 3abn operations just as Danny will have no say in day to day operations of AF. Except for a merger of the boards and Danny and Doug taking more time to evangelize, most everything will remain as is. Doug and Danny, AF & 3abn will remain 2000 miles apart and will continue business as usual with Danny over 3abn and Doug over AF.

e were aware of the meeting. One of our fellow BSDA members, freckleface reported to us the following esterday:

> QUOTE
>
> As we speak a meeting is being held at 3ABN with all employees. Doug and Danny are speaking to them on the future of 3ABN.

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=192048

> QUOTE
>
> So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
> Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.

Your statement that I have bolded above causes me some concerns. Do you have first hand knowledge from Doug Batchelor and his AF team that they are not worried about allegations and that they know they are false and shrug off the people behind it? Are these statements you have heard for yourself?

PB

Posted by: steffan Apr 20 2007, 09:57 PM

> QUOTE(erik @ Apr 20 2007, 03:36 PM)
>
> Daune,
>
> When i heard that last night it sound like danny was just trying to sound important, in fact i got that idea from most of the 3abn staff, moses being the main one that sound sincere, Doug seem very caged or reserved at least to me.
>
> I am sure that danny is hurting for funds, i heard that 3 abn was running serious shortfall of cash, like in the seven figures.
>
> Anyways keep the faith, and remember so many of us are proud of you for standing tall.
>
> erik

Well you heard wrong again. 3abn has always functioned on a break even basis, they aren't in debt but don't have anything saved either. That is cash we are talking about. At anytime of the ministry was desperate for funds they have millions of dollars of assets and some of those assets could be sold off if need be. Thankfully they have not had to do that.

Doug seemed caged and reserved? Why? It was his choice to do this merge now. It had been discussed at other times but he didn't feel the time was right until now. Those of you that keep insinuating that Doug was forced into this by someone, somehow in some way try to use your thinking caps to extract some common sense. AF is respected and so is Doug. It is a successful ministry and has been for a very long time. Now why would anyone and who would that be that would "force" Doug to merge with 3abn? People all your speculation is making no sense. How could it be any more simple that 2 great ministries joining together to increase their evangelizing power? You all need to get over your own misguided beliefs and agenda's and start praising God.

And Yes PB. I did get it firsthand that Doug could care less about the allegations on the internet. Just ask Gailon if Doug would take his call today.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 20 2007, 10:16 PM

hoping this discussion stays calm quiet and dignified during the Sabbath hours.
Wouldnt want to have it closed down again.

Happy Sabbath
Rosyroi

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 10:58 PM

thanks WB. that is the best and most balance and Christian answer I have heard on this subject.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 20 2007, 08:03 AM) ☐
>
> .... Excuse me... a white channel proposing to develop a black channel..... what am I missing? How is this anything but just an updated version of segregated churches, segregated conferences, and a segregated heaven
>
> Shouldn't our aim be for all channels to be fully integrated? And if channels have specialties in programming, let that be along other lines than those which already divide us.... racial, doctrinal, an music styles. One can see the appropriateness of LLBN, for example, being weighted towards health issues. One could see a worship/inspiration channel staying away from doctrinal and health programing. One could see a music channel carrying only music... either video or live performances. But IMO all channels should organize their programming so that no race or other group within the Adventist church feels left out of, or slighted by, the programming content or appearance. Not all programs need to appeal to all tastes, cultures, doctrinal biases, or races... but certainly the channel as a whole should offer a balanced fare with something for each individual.
>
> .... ☒ TVsnack ....

I thought "urban" meant diversified; of all races.

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2007, 10:50 AM) ☐
>
> It is definitely code for black" Den, you might add hispanic in there also, but when they refer to music or anything being urban, it generally mean "black".

just a thought; but maybe wintley phipps channel will not just be adventists either. has anybody heard it will be strictly adventist? maybe that should be another thread.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 12:38 PM)
>
> WB,
> You certainly called that one correctly! Separate channels could be nothing more than a slick technological way to separate the denomination by color. I wonder if 3abn and Wently Phipps have pondered on that one? Is Wently developing the channel or is Danny?
>
> A fully integrated channel? Of course that should be the goal! Will Hope be our best bet? We will see. On the other hand, wouldn't all of the various channels being in the same little box, available to all viewers be rather like an integreted network? I'm sure someone will set me straight if I've stuck my foot in my mouth again. Of course, I have no idea exactly what Wently Phipp's channel will be like so perhaps I should just zip it and watch for awhile.

God bless you hbg, i love what you've said here.

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 20 2007, 01:00 PM)
>
> He will have to answer to God, eventually. Isnt that the most imporant thing?
> Even if he appeard on 3ABN and confessed everything he did wrong, got on his knees and begged for forgiveness (which, hopefully we would forgive), how many of us would trust him like we used to? does not raise hand
> It would be wonderful if DS saw the error of his ways, but I honestly dont think that will happen, at least not admitted publicly. Even if it did happen, I would still wonder about the sincerity.
> Maybe this is a great wakeup call, that no matter what, man is flawed, and the only one we can trust completely is God. We can't base our faith on an organization. We must base our faith on the God and His word to us.
> God gave certain people certain talents and resources, and it is their choice to use them right. Obviously someone has misused these things and is paying for his choices now. Its now someone else's turn to use talents and resources, we will see what happens.
> God will bless you for what you use to glorify Him. I am so glad that He will never let us down, and that we can rely on Him to turn something good out of this, as long as we focus on what is most important - spreading God's word.
> He is coming so soon. Lets remember that. Soon all the heartache will be gone. How awesome to think that we won't have to be limited on time ever again - we will have eternity to get to know each other!!!
> Thats the one unfortunate thing about church, you just dont have time to talk with everyone that you want to.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 11:07 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 07:57 PM)
>
> Now why would anyone and who would that be that would "force" Doug to merge with 3abn?

Steffan, who said anything about Doug being forced to merge with 3abn?

> QUOTE
>
> And Yes PB. I did get it firsthand that Doug could care less about the allegations on the internet. Just ask Gailon if Doug would take his call today.

So Doug told you personally that he could care less about the allegations and that he knows they are false and that he shrugs off the people behind the allegations? Doug Batchelor actually told you these things?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 11:23 PM

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 20 2007, 07:12 PM)
>
> Again, this and other posts seem to forget that Alyssa, Linda's daughter was accosted by Danny more than once! We must also pray that this egregious behavior be recognized and punished to the fullest extent of the law! Forgiveness is not the issue, for either DS or TS. It is also a separate issue from the 'change' in leadership of 3ABN. I certainly hope that Linda's new lawyer will make sure that this is not swept under the rug!! blc
>
> GT

GT,
In your post #132, you quote my post regarding a statement by Rosie55 from Christian Forums:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=192244

Unfortunately, when you quoted my post, Rosie55's actual statement did not show up so the quote looks like she is responsible for my own opinion and comments.

To set the record straight, I am providing the link to my original post so anyone who wishes to may go and check out what Rosie55 actually posted:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=192033

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 11:34 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 11:07 PM)
>
> Steffan, who said anything about Doug being forced to merge with 3abn?
> So Doug told you personally that he could care less about the allegations and that he knows they are false and that he shrugs off the people behind the allegations? Doug Batchelor actually told you these things?

steffan is an antagonist PB. i wouldn't give his post any creedence if i were you. his posts on CF were of such a hostile & credulous nature i suggested ppl just ignore him completely and the mods there removed my post saying it was flaming. rofl go figure

---

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 21 2007, 08:25 AM

Yes, posters who come in here to distract and confuse are really to be ignored. I had thought forums were for posting what one is thnking through their fingers. Most posters respectfully disagree with each other and no one is kicked out of the forum.

When I read other posts I might agree or disagree with what is being posted but that doesn't give me the right to be rude to the other poster. I believe everyone has a right to their own opinions. Making statements in the forums to type out our opinions doesn't necessarily mean that what we post is meant as a truth to be written down in stone.

If ALL of us agree to use the ignore botton on the rude posters they won't have anyone to argue with and leave us alone. I am trying to do that myself.

If anyone disagrees with me please do so kindly. Love to all.

Thank Calvin for allowing us to post on the Sabbath day.

Rosyroi
@}---;---;-----

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 11:25 AM

Friday evening over on Christian Forum's, tomatoe replied to a post by truthmagnet about Danny Shelton's travel plans.
Tomatoe's post #164:

> QUOTE
>
> On Business TM. Try not to get too excited about it. Also it was hong kong and Taiwan. He has to go to many different countries to see about the possibilities of contracts, negotiations, etc etc for getting 3abn there.
> All this bologne about running from a lawsuit because Linda got a new lawyer is again, ridiculous. So what? 3abn has had a team of lawyers for months now. Putting all of these posts together from here and bsda here is what you guys have come up with.
> ASI, AF, THE general Conference and the boards of both ministries have gotten together in less than a week to come up with a plan to 1. Make DS step down, 2. Take over 3abn, 3. Cover up allegations against 3abn, or 4. The other groups named "forced" Doug to merge with 3abn for well we don't know why......continued
>
> All of the above happened almost overnight and the decisions will affect the entire Seventh Day Adventist denomination around the world, but, it was all done as a secret conspiracy and all the above named people and organizations were a party to it, because.....Linda got a new lawyer.
>
> Man...you guys are like Sherlock Holmes.
> http://www.christianforums.com/showpost.php?p=34111722&postcount=164

After reading this exchange, I, PeacefulSDA, gathered information from Observer/Greg Matthew's early posts from Thursday morning in the Change In 3-abn Leadership thread.
PeacefulSDA's reply in post #165:

> QUOTE
>
> tomatoe,
> 1. Mollie S. told Gregory Matthews that Danny told the 3abn board that he wants to step down.
> 2. Gregory Matthews said both ministries would continue but under the unified leadership of Doug Batchelor.
> 3. Steffan says he was told Doug does not believe the allegations and shrugs off the ones behind the allegations.
> 4. Who is saying the other groups have "forced" Doug to merge with 3abn? That is news to me. The only ones I have seen saying that are you and Steffan.
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=191971

> Someone did speculate this was as a result of Linda's new lawyer. That someone was mistaken in his speculation, obviously.
> http://www.christianforums.com/showpost.php?p=34112730&postcount=165

Early this morning, tomatoe replied to PeacefulSDA's post with some interesting and, perhaps, revealing information.

Tomatoe's post #166:

> QUOTE
>
> GREG M made those statements before the live. Mollie mispoke or Greg took her words wrong. Regardless it was straightened out before the live where you saw plainly that DS is going nowhere. Doug and Danny both, might eventually give their general managers a little more administrative power to free them up to evangelize in their own ways. Danny has had less and less time for programming the last few years which is why you see other hosts a lot of time on the live. He hopes to get back to hosting more often and interviewing guests. Even though he already travels a lot, that will probably increase also if he can get out from under the mountains of paperwork. Doug also hopes to do more programming and I am sure more of his revivals will be in the works. Doug will stay in sacramento and keep his church there. DS and 3abn will stay in southern IL. The plan at this point is for 3abn to become 3abn amazing facts but in probability will eventually just go back to 3abn period since that name is more known world wide.
>
> As far as the "forced" thing with Doug. I said that because I have read several comments of people saying "Doug looked caged" and Doug looked uncomfortable. What is the insinuation there? Obviously that he didn't want to do this. My point was how could that be? This was his choice. Nobody could make him do it or would even try to make him so why the ridiculous comments about him looking uncomfortable. They are both very happy to fullfill what they have been talking about doing for quite some time. Lots of details have been worked out and there are many more to go. Even their titles are not in stone yet. All they want people to understand, at this point, is that both ministries will function the same in day to day operations. Each leader at his own ministry. Doug will not be making rules for 3abn and Danny will not be for AF. Both are trying to free themselves up from some of the administrative duties, not add to them.
>
> And, it is true that Doug , amazing facts or his board are not concerned with internet allegations. Doug has worked closely enough with 3abn and DS through the years to know that these are rumors and speculation and sometimes out and out lies. He has spent weeks at a time at the facility and his conclusions speak for themselves. His board also, voted unanimously to merge with 3abn. They obviously didn't have reservations either. MMM I do believe that they know a lot more of the true facts than the everday posters here, who swear that 3abn is corrupt. That always amazes me when most have had no experience with 3abn or the people involved at all.
>
> Folks, save your time and energy by taking this merger as a wonderful world wide soul winning tool for the Adventist Denomination. You can accuse, twist, spin and throw around speculations all you want but it doesn't change the simple truth that it is, what it is, take it at face value...something wondeful.
> http://www.christianforums.com/showpost.php?p=34114326&postcount=166

What I have not personally been able to conclude from this post by tomatoe is how the merger is going to make things any different than they are at the present time. Here is a recap from tomatoe's post:

Both Doug and Danny "might eventually" give their GM's "a little more administrative power" so they can evangelize in their own ways.
Both ministries will remain in their home locations.
Titles for Doug and Danny are not yet set in stone.
Both ministries will function the same in day to day operations.
Both will remain the leaders of their own ministries.
Doug will not be making rules for 3abn and Danny will not be for AF.
Both are trying to free themselves up from some of the administrative duties, not add to them.

So, what has this merger actually accomplished besides the possible temporary name change to 3abn Amazing Facts? We know from the Live program that the two boards may have some member changes as they merge together. But, after reading the key points of tomatoe's post, what else is really changing? Even the stated goal on the Live program of combining forces for evangelism seems unlikely since tomatoe they will continue to "evangelize in their own ways".

It appears that Doug Batchelor's schedule is the biggest change in this merger because he will be spending a lot of time traveling back and forth from California to Illinois. Or will he even be doing that?

At this point, from what tomatoe has shared in his post, this merger between 3abn and Amazing Facts appears to be a change in name only. What do they hope to accomplish by this admittedly temporary name change? Will it add dollars to either coffer? Will it give either ministry more credibility. After carefully watching the Thursday evening Live program and now reading tomatoe's post, the whole point of the merger seems rather unclear.

Posted by: GrammieTana Apr 21 2007, 11:29 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 01:23 AM)
>
> GT,
> In your post #132, you quote my post regarding a statement by Rosie55 from Christian Forums:
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=192244
>
> Unfortunately, when you quoted my post, Rosie55's actual statement did not show up so the quote looks like she is responsible for my own opinion and comments.
>
> To set the record straight, I am providing the link to my original post so anyone who wishes to may go and check out what Rosie55 actually posted:
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13332&view=findpost&p=192033

Dear PB,

I am sorry if there was any confusion or offense taken by either you or Rosie55. I was simply responding to your comment and should have erased what was before it.

Again, Sorry. Still friends?

GT

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 11:50 AM

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 21 2007, 10:29 AM)
>
> Dear PB,
>
> I am sorry if there was any confusion or offense taken by either you or Rosie55. I was simply responding > to your comment and should have erased what was before it.

>
> Again, Sorry. Still friends?
>
> GT

T,
certainly wasn't being critical of you, just fixing a misperception that Rosie brought to my attention. Of ourse we're still friends! hug.gif

B

Posted by: GrammieTana Apr 21 2007, 12:02 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 20 2007, 06:35 PM)
>
> grabs grammie's hand* I am with ya!!! Our two hearts beat as one in this subject.* Doug's attitude and demeanor were admirably cautious on 3ABN. I really like how he let people say what they wanted to say, and didn't seem in take-charge mode.
>
> Very well said, Grammie.

hanks for the hand, hbg, h really do think that standing back and waiting patiently will give us all a much needed break from trying to hink for God. GP.g will win in the end.

T

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 01:50 PM)
>
> GT,
> I certainly wasn't being critical of you, just fixing a misperception that Rosie brought to my attention. Of course we're still friends! hug.gif
>
> PB

h, PB, Ah's so glad. sig hug.gif

T

Posted by: larryr Apr 21 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 19 2007, 10:19 AM)
>
> This is only speculation but I suspect this will lead to an overhaul in the leadership and management of 3ABN.....and not just Doug as the front person with Danny pulling the strings in the background. 3ABN is a ministry but it is also a business. When a business has this many problems, typically a top leadership and management change is necessary in order for the new leader to be effective. These changes won't take place overnight but you can expect new management as the old are eased out the door.

I'm thinking like you, Calvin: I saw what happened when I worked at HP during the merger with Compaq. Carly took charge as CEO and out went Compaq's president... I'm sincerely hoping that the same thing happens here (positively!) and that Doug takes over with Danny OUT!!! And, as Carly did at HP, Board members were replaced; so I hope this works the same way. I see this as the ONLY WAY to prevent Danny (and cronies) from creating further scandal.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 21 2007, 02:52 PM

> QUOTE(larryr @ Apr 21 2007, 02:23 PM)
>
> I'm thinking like you, Calvin: I saw what happened when I worked at HP during the merger with Compaq. Carly took charge as CEO and out went Compaq's president... I'm sincerely hoping that the same thing happens here (positively!) and that Doug takes over with Danny OUT!!! And, as Carly did at HP, Board members were replaced; so I hope this works the same way. I see this as the ONLY WAY to prevent Danny (and cronies) from creating further scandal.

Only problem with that analogy is that enough of the old HP board members... particularly the Hewlett and Packard family members insisted that Carly do things "the HP way" and her recalcitrance to do that ultimately got her sacked... will enough of the existing 3ABN way persist to such a degree that Doug Batchelor's efforts bear no fruit? Time will tell.

In His service,
Mr. J

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 11:57 PM)
>
> Well you heard wrong again. 3abn has always functioned on a break even basis, they aren't in debt but don't have anything saved either. That is cash we are talking about. At anytime of the ministry was desperate for funds they have millions of dollars of assets and some of those assets could be sold off if need be. Thankfully they have not had to do that.
>
> Doug seemed caged and reserved? Why? It was his choice to do this merge now. It had been discussed at other times but he didn't feel the time was right until now. Those of you that keep insinuating that Doug was forced into this by someone, somehow in some way try to use your thinking caps to extract some common sense. AF is respected and so is Doug. It is a successful ministry and has been for a very long time. Now why would anyone and who would that be that would "force" Doug to merge with 3abn? People all your speculation is making no sense. How could it be any more simple that 2 great ministries joining together to increase their evangelizing power? You all need to get over your own misguided beliefs and agenda's and start praising God.
> And Yes PB. I did get it firsthand that Doug could care less about the allegations on the internet. Just ask Gailon if Doug would take his call today.

So much for your leaving BSDA and never coming back again, Steffan... but we already knew you couldn't stay away, in spite of your posturing...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Apr 21 2007, 03:03 PM

If memory serves, seems like steffan referred to BSDA as a swamp.... and I do remember being told by steffan to slither back to "the swamp." Well.... glad to see you Steffan.... either you no longer view BSDA as a swamp, or you don't mind playing in the swamp.... either way, good to see you...

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 04:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 21 2007, 01:03 PM)
>
> If memory serves, seems like steffan referred to BSDA as a swamp.... and I do remember being told by steffan to slither back to "the swamp." Well.... glad to see you Steffan.... either you no longer view BSDA as a swamp, or you don't mind playing in the swamp.... either way, good to see you...

Clay,
In steffan's defense he did stay away from September until now. That took some pretty strong resolve, IMO! But if he came back just to play, he best remember to play carefully and mind the occasional hungry gators swimming by.

Posted by: Grith Apr 21 2007, 04:52 PM

I watched the program Thursday evening (thanks to seeing the announcement at BSDA). I've been reading the responses here, but I heard something that no one has commented on thus far. Danny stated that there had been a secret meeting in Denver with himself, DB, and Garwin McNeilus. That brought a few questions to mind:

---

1. Why did they have to meet with McNeilus? I know that he is very wealthy and apparently that gives him a lot of clout?
2. Why was it immportant to meet with McNeilus? Why was his input/counsel/approval needed?
3. Why was the meeting secret. From what I remember DS said that even Molly didn't know.
4. Why would it be so important to get one layman's OK but not all those other who are or have supported AF/3ABN?

Does anyone have any ideas?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 05:38 PM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 21 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> I watched the program Thursday evening (thanks to seeing the announcement at BSDA). I've been reading the responses here, but I heard something that no one has commented on thus far. Danny stated that there had been a secret meeting in Denver with himself, DB, and Garwin McNeilus. That brought a > few questions to mind:

>
> 1. Why did they have to meet with McNeilus? I know that he is very wealthy and apparently that gives him a lot of clout?
> 2. Why was it immportant to meet with McNeilus? Why was his input/counsel/approval needed?
> 3. Why was the meeting secret. From what I remember DS said that even Molly didn't know.
> 4. Why would it be so important to get one layman's OK but not all those other who are or have supported AF/3ABN?
>
> Does anyone have any ideas?

rith,
elcome to BSDA!

reat questions! I wondered what Garwin McNeilus' involvement was as well. It would be nice to see Stan mith's transcripts of the Denver meeting but I doubt that anyone here will be privy to them.

ll take your questions over to Christian Forums and see if tomatoe has any input.

B

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 06:03 PM

Grith,
No response from tomatoe yet. I'm not positive, but I seem to remember that Mollie was the only one at 3abn who knew about the Denver meeting and CA Murry had his dream about it and was afraid that Mollie would think he was phishing for info if he told her about it.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 21 2007, 07:19 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 06:45 PM)
>
> Clay,
> In steffan's defense he did stay away from September until now. That took some pretty strong resolve, IMO! But if he came back just to play, he best remember to play carefully and mind the occasional hungry gators swimming by.

ot posting != staying away

teffan spoke rather harshly of BSDA when he thought it was behind our backs and said he was never coming ack here again...

guess never is a variable length of time in his world... but in the real world where the rest of us live, such a ronouncement means he would not darken this doorstep again...

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: Grith Apr 21 2007, 07:29 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 07:03 PM)

> Grith,
> No response from tomatoe yet. I'm not positive, but I seem to remember that Mollie was the only one at 3abn who knew about the Denver meeting and CA Murry had his dream about it and was afraid that Mollie would think he was phishing for info if he told her about it.

PB, it may be that Molly knew. I can't quite remember. I was taking notes, but you know how fast DS talks, and I never did learn shorthand. I guess I will have to tune in to the rebroadcast tommorrow. Hmmm, on second thought, don't know if I really want to sit thru that 2 hours again.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 07:50 PM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 21 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> I watched the program Thursday evening (thanks to seeing the announcement at BSDA). I've been reading the responses here, but I heard something that no one has commented on thus far. Danny stated that there had been a secret meeting in Denver with himself, DB, and Garwin McNeilus. That brought a few questions to mind:
>
> 1. Why did they have to meet with McNeilus? I know that he is very wealthy and apparently that gives him a lot of clout?
> 2. Why was it immportant to meet with McNeilus? Why was his input/counsel/approval needed?
> 3. Why was the meeting secret. From what I remember DS said that even Molly didn't know.
> 4. Why would it be so important to get one layman's OK but not all those other who are or have supported AF/3ABN?
>
> Does anyone have any ideas?

Grith,
Here is the answer from tomatoe over on Christian Forums:

"Rosie is correct. There will be plenty of details that will still need to be worked out in the future. These things take time.
McNeilus was there because his family is heavily involved in ASI as well as world wide missions. His input was needed as to what involvement ASI might have in this merger. Also, to be able to bring the message into more and more global locations could have a direct influence on all of the mission work that the McNeilus's do in third world countries. It is a great decision for all concerned to have Mr. Mcneilus's input.

WHy the secrecy? To try to keep the false rumors, stories and allegations down to a minimum until the merger announcement was made. On these forums it has been bad enough as it is."

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 21 2007, 05:29 PM)
>
> PB, it may be that Molly knew. I can't quite remember. I was taking notes, but you know how fast DS talks, and I never did learn shorthand. I guess I will have to tune in to the rebroadcast tommorrow. Hmmm, on second thought, don't know if I really want to sit thru that 2 hours again.

Grith,
Well, just keep in mind that the information you wish to corroborate is in the first hour and then you would have confirmed it for yourself.

Posted by: Fran Apr 21 2007, 08:01 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 08:44 PM)
>
> Grith,
> Here is the answer from tomatoe over on Christian Forums:
>
> "Rosie is correct. There will be plenty of details that will still need to be worked out in the future. These things take time.
> McNeilus was there because his family is heavily involved in ASI as well as world wide missions. His input was needed as to what involvement ASI might have in this merger. Also, to be able to bring the message into more and more global locations could have a direct influence on all of the mission work that the McNeilus's do in third world countries. It is a great decision for all concerned to have Mr. Mcneilus's input.
>
> WHy the secrecy? To try to keep the false rumors, stories and allegations down to a minimum until the merger announcement was made. On these forums it has been bad enough as it is."

I envision a new Board position has been made.

It appears that control will change hands; just not what we are thinking will happen.

They said there would be a couple of positions filled from ASI. Go figure. It can't be that hard to see that money talks louder than the Right Thing to Do.

Posted by: rwelchcrs Apr 21 2007, 08:48 PM

I think it's too early to draw conclusions, but I'm somewhat troubled by the seeming joyfull anticipation of Amazing Facts joining hands with an organization badly tainted with credible allegations of moral and financial corruption. Some are saying Doug Batchelor does not believe the accusations and ignores the documentation.

I used to admire Danny Shelton and 3ABN.

I still admire Doug Batchelor and Amazing Facts.

Be careful, Pastor Doug.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 21 2007, 09:03 PM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Apr 21 2007, 10:48 PM)
>
> I think it's too early to draw conclusions, but I'm somewhat troubled by the seeming joyfull anticipation of Amazing Facts joining hands with an organization badly tainted with credible allegations of moral and financial corruption. Some are saying Doug Batchelor does not believe the accusations and ignores the documentation.
>
> I used to admire Danny Shelton and 3ABN.

> I still admire Doug Batchelor and Amazing Facts.
>
> Be careful, Pastor Doug.

lease don't think that everyone is greeting this move with "joyfull anticipation".

he old saying.... "Birds of a feather flock together" bears careful consideration.

his one also.... "One reveals his own character by the character of those with whom he associates most losely."

nd one more.....The golden rule.... "He who has the gold makes the rules."

Ve are looking at two TV actors. Let's not mistake role playing for something other than what it is.

.... ☒ TVsnack. .... ☒ sofa1.gif ....

Posted by: YogusBearus Apr 21 2007, 09:21 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 21 2007, 10:03 PM)
>
> Please don't think that everyone is greeting this move with "joyfull anticipation".
>
> The old saying.... "Birds of a feather flock together" bears careful consideration.
>
> This one also.... "One reveals his own character by the character of those with whom he associates most closely."
>
> And one more.....The golden rule.... "He who has the gold makes the rules."
>
> We are looking at two TV actors. Let's not mistake role playing for something other than what it is.
>
> .... ☒ TVsnack. .... ☒ sofa1.gif ....

INGO! And let's throw in one more word to cover the mystery man, C-O-N-T-R-O-L. All the ingredients for a ong running soap.

bear

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 21 2007, 10:15 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 21 2007, 11:25 AM)
>
> Yes, posters who come in here to distract and confuse are really to be ignored. I had thought forums were for posting what one is thnking through their fingers. Most posters respectfully disagree with each other and no one is kicked out of the forum.
>
> When I read other posts I might agree or disagree with what is being posted but that doesn't give me the right to be rude to the other poster. I believe everyone has a right to their own opinions. Making statements in the forums to type out our opinions doesn't necessarily mean that what we post is meant as a truth to be written down in stone.
>
> If ALL of us agree to use the ignore botton on the rude posters they won't have anyone to argue with and leave us alone. I am trying to do that myself.
>
> If anyone disagrees with me please do so kindly. Love to all.
>
> Thank Calvin for allowing us to post on the Sabbath day.
>
> Rosyroi
> @}---;---;-----

Y'all are killin us here Tryin to reinvent the wheel and say "I" did it.

The "let's ignore the rude ones" was suggested months ago. And we've been doing quite well at it.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 21 2007, 10:15 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 21 2007, 10:03 PM)
>
> Please don't think that everyone is greeting this move with "joyfull anticipation".
>
> The old saying.... "Birds of a feather flock together" bears careful consideration.
>
> This one also.... "One reveals his own character by the character of those with whom he associates most closely."
>
> And one more.....The golden rule.... "He who has the gold makes the rules."
>
> We are looking at two TV actors. Let's not mistake role playing for something other than what it is.
>
> .... TVsnack. .... sofa1.gif ....

Sorry, but I have to disagree with the "actors" comment if you are referring to them the way of TV actors. I think that is totally unfair. At least in reference to both of them.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 22 2007, 12:51 AM

Then why the merge? What is the point? If AF is going to continue to be Af and 3ABN is going to continue as 3ABN, and everythign and everybody the same. That is not the way mergers works. Now they can work quickly, and then line Sprint and Nextel, Waochvia Wrold Savings, etc. It might at ke a while for everything to be Sprint or Wachovia but that duality will not stay, eventually they weill be under one name, one company and ALL duplicity will be gond. There will be no co presidents/CEOs. Now anyone who believes the hype that one day the whole tamale won't be name either 3ABN or AF, then they are fooling themselves. My money's on AF, 3ABN is much too troubled by rumors, true or not. The really only way for it to be called 3ABN is that a thorough house cleaning is down and ALL those of questionable character be sent on their way. AF , on the other hand has an excellent repurtation right now, and DB is known as a man of integrity. As I said Danny needed AF's credibility.......not sure wht AF and DB are getting out of this other than not paying for airtime,a nd 24/7 network.

I

> QUOTE
>
> am sorry, I had to post here after hearing all that is being said here. It is too funny not to.
> Doug and Danny had a meeting Thursday at 4pm central time with all of the 3abn employees. They were told that this merge would not change any of their positions, work schedules or anything else. Doug made a point to say that he intends to keep his church in Sacramento and still run amazing facts and WOULD NOT have any say in day to day 3abn operations just as Danny will have no say in day to day operations of AF. Except for a merger of the boards and Danny and Doug taking more time to evangelize, most everything will remain as is. Doug and Danny, AF & 3abn will remain 2000 miles apart and will continue business as usual with Danny over 3abn and Doug over AF.
> So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
> Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 01:11 AM well let's see. a worldwide satellite network, a full tv studio and all the airtime you want. that's quite a bit. i think we all know the folks running AF aren't stupid. they are lots more than one man too! DB may be president of AF but he doesn't call all the shots does he? i don't believe for a second any of this is in name only. AF has lots to gain but also, everything to lose. they will gain control, no doubt. i think GM brought and bought this arrangement. hopefully it is with good intentions. DS said he was paying all the attorney bills so he knows exactly what is going on and who needs to move out of the way and out of the limelight. GM has the money. GM is giving the money; that's why he was at the meeting. just my opinion.

Then why the merge? What is the point? If AF is going to continue to be Af and 3ABN is going to continue as 3ABN, and everythign and everybody the same. That is not the way mergers works. Now they can work quickly, and then line Sprint and Nextel, Waochvia Wrold Savings, etc. It might at ke a while for everything to be Sprint or Wachovia but that duality will not stay, eventually they weill be under one name, one company and ALL duplicity will be gond. There will be no co presidents/CEOs. Now anyone who believes the hype that one day the whole tamale won't be name either 3ABN or AF, then they are fooling themselves. My money's on AF, 3ABN is much too troubled by rumors, true or not. The really only way for it to be called 3ABN is that a thorough house cleaning is down and ALL those of questionable character be sent on their way. AF , on the other hand has an excellent repurtation right now, and DB is known as a man of integrity. As I said Danny needed AF's credibility.......not sure wht AF and DB are getting out of this other than not paying for airtime,a nd 24/7 network.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 22 2007, 03:34 AM

But DB is building his own church/media center, etc. in Sacramento...........his old church from which he already tapes his show is up for sale. Now, I can see if this was apparently going to change any of that, but as it is, they say it won't I mean I can understand some of it, but that just cant' be all to take on 3ABN and all it's troubles. If it is, God bless them!

Posted by: Johann Apr 22 2007, 06:49 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 22 2007, 11:34 AM)
>
> But DB is building his own church/media center, etc. in Sacramento...........his old church from which he already tapes his show is up for sale. Now, I can see if this was apparently going to change any of that, but as it is, they say it won't I mean I can understand some of it, but that just cant' be all to take on 3ABN and all it's troubles. If it is, God bless them!

It is very difficult for anyone to verify the real reasons for this merger. Just now a friend called and voiced yet another unsubstantiated opinion, which reminds me that BSDA is not a court, but a place where we voice our opinions.

This friend feels that with the new lawyer appearing on the scene Danny fears that the question of Linda's future role in connection with 3ABN could be one of the reasons this proposed merge with Amazing Facts was propelled just now. Why? Because if it is revealed that Linda was wrongfully dismissed in 2004, that destroys Danny's credibility and he looses the face he so desperately tries to exhibit on every program, magazine and web page associated with 3ABN. This is why we see the desperate fight his supporters are still fighting on the Christian Forum or wherever their presence is still allowed. May God have mercy!

Let's pray His will be revealed, and His name glorified, and not a mere political image of . . . !!!

Posted by: LaurenceD Apr 22 2007, 08:43 AM

> QUOTE(Tomatoe via PeacefullyBewildered)
>
> "WHy the secrecy? To try to keep the false rumors, stories and allegations down to a minimum until the merger announcement was made. On these forums it has been bad enough as it is."

When I was watching that part, I got the feeling that it was necessary to emphasize the secrecy in order to give the dream more credibility. In the dream, someone related how they saw a long table and all the players sitting there, except for two--a man who the dreamer couldn't identify, and a woman). If you present the meeting as only known to two at 3abn (Danny and Mollie), how could anyone else possibly know, and how else could the dream be so accurate--except by inspiration? This helps support the merger to know God is behind it--even with dreams and visions.

About that time...Doug gave the dreamer a little friendly poke with his witty humor. He said the Bible says old men shall have dreams (and young men vsions). Everyone got a laugh out of that becasue the dreamer isn't that old!

Posted by: watchbird Apr 22 2007, 09:37 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 21 2007, 11:03 PM) ☐
>
> Please don't think that everyone is greeting this move with "joyfull anticipation".
>
> The old saying.... "Birds of a feather flock together" bears careful consideration.
>
> This one also.... "One reveals his own character by the character of those with whom he associates most closely."
>
> And one more.....The golden rule.... "He who has the gold makes the rules."
>
> We are looking at two TV actors. Let's not mistake role playing for something other than what it is.
>
> .... ☒ TVsnack. .... ☒ sofa1.gif ....

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 22 2007, 12:15 AM) ☐
>
> Sorry, but I have to disagree with the "actors" comment if you are referring to them the way of TV actors. I think that is totally unfair. At least in reference to both of them.

Holly, I will agree with you in part, but also stand by my statement. In general, professional actors can take on any character they want.... and they "become" or "create" that character so much that we identify them with the character for the duration of that movie..... until they take on another character when they "become" that other character in some other movie. So in that sense, the "cast" of the 3abn presentations are not like "TV actors"... for they always portray the same character each time they are on camera.

However, the point I am making is that these people come... like TV actors... into our living rooms.... they look us in the eye and talk to us seemingly one-on-one.... and we feel as though we knew them through and through, for we hear them tell the same stories over and over, make the same points, exhibit the same characteristics in varying circumstances. And as a result we judge their characters, motives, personalities, how they relate to persons in real life.... and many more aspects of them .... by what we have seen on the screen. And it is easy to forget that we do not, in fact, have any idea as to whether their screen image is the same as what they are in real life when they are interacting with real people.

But the impressions that we have from what we have seen sticks with us so strongly, that even when a number of persons, who know the individual personally, relate experiences to show something different.... it is extremely difficult... with some it is well nigh impossible... to believe any differently from our opinions formed while this person "sat with us in our living room" so many hours through so many years.

This is a phenomena of human nature. And it is one that is known and used by performers in all walks of life... including, sad to say, TV Evangelists as well as professional TV actors who change characters with a change of contract or script.

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 09:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 22 2007, 10:37 AM) ☐
>
> Holly, I will agree with you in part, but also stand by my statement. In general, professional actors can take on any character they want.... and they "become" or "create" that character so much that we identify them with the character for the duration of that movie..... until they take on another character when they

> "become" that other character in some other movie. So in that sense, the "cast" of the 3abn presentations are not like "TV actors"... for they always portray the same character each time they are on camera.
>
> However, the point I am making is that these people come... like TV actors... into our living rooms.... they look us in the eye and talk to us seemingly one-on-one.... and we feel as though we knew them through and through, for we hear them tell the same stories over and over, make the same points, exhibit the same characteristics in varying circumstances. And as a result we judge their characters, motives, personalities, how they relate to persons in real life.... and many more aspects of them .... by what we have seen on the screen. And it is easy to forget that we do not, in fact, have any idea as to whether their screen image is the same as what they are in real life when they are interacting with real people.
>
> But the impressions that we have from what we have seen sticks with us so strongly, that even when a number of persons, who know the individual personally, relate experiences to show something different.... it is extremely difficult... with some it is well nigh impossible... to believe any differently from our opinions formed while this person "sat with us in our living room" so many hours through so many years.
>
> This is a phenomena of human nature. And it is one that is known and used by performers in all walks of life... including, sad to say, TV Evangelists as well as professional TV actors who change characters with a change of contract or script.

\men!! Thank you for speaking out and giving us food for thought! This merger is troubling for many of us vho say little and are watching from the sidelines.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 22 2007, 09:50 AM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Apr 22 2007, 10:43 AM)
>
> When I was watching that part, I got the feeling that it was necessary to emphasize the secrecy in order to give the dream more credibility. In the dream, someone related how they saw a long table and all the players sitting there, except for two--a man who the dreamer couldn't identify, and a woman). If you present the meeting as only known to two at 3abn (Danny and Mollie), how could anyone else possibly know, and how else could the dream be so accurate--except by inspiration? This helps support the merger to know God is behind it--even with dreams and visions.
>
> About that time...Doug gave the dreamer a little friendly poke with his witty humor. He said the Bible says old men shall have dreams (and young men vsions). Everyone got a laugh out of that becasue the dreamer isn't that old!

'es Laurence... I think you have nailed this one correctly. And do note the comparison of this present ;ituation with the "vision" story which Danny has used through the years to "prove beyond the shadow of a loubt" that he had been divinely appointed to do just what he has done. That initial story must have been jetting a little stale... even to him... but now look... he has not merely one, but five or six such lreams/visions/miracles/signs stories on which to build his bigger and better Amazing Facts/3abn!

'm sure that if we knew all the "facts" one would indeed call them "amazing".... but I rather suspect we vould find them amazing in amazingly different ways from what the leaders of that ministy would prefer.

Posted by: inga Apr 22 2007, 10:18 AM

☒ welc to BlackSDA, Grith

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 21 2007, 05:52 PM)

> I watched the program Thursday evening (thanks to seeing the announcement at BSDA). I've been reading the responses here, but I heard something that no one has commented on thus far. Danny stated that there had been a secret meeting in Denver with himself, DB, and Garwin McNeilus. That brought a few questions to mind:
>
> 1. Why did they have to meet with McNeilus? I know that he is very wealthy and apparently that gives him a lot of clout?
> 2. Why was it immportant to meet with McNeilus? Why was his input/counsel/approval needed?
> 3. Why was the meeting secret. From what I remember DS said that even Molly didn't know.
> 4. Why would it be so important to get one layman's OK but not all those other who are or have supported AF/3ABN?
>
> Does anyone have any ideas?

And thanks for this contribution. Because I didn't personally watch 3ABNLive, I've relied on feedback from others, and you are the first to mention this extremely significant detail. It confirms my personal hunch on the matter that Garvin McNeilus possibly initiated this merger.

McNeilus characteristically controls things from the background. He does not reveal how much he contributes to whom. He does not take board positions, but when he asks to see anyone, he gets ushered right in. And folks listen to him. (Yes, money talks.)

It is fairly certain that McNeilus has been a big contributor to 3ABN (think in millions, rather than thousands). Just when contributions likely fell off due to Linda's leaving, Danny announced that contributions increased. If that is true -- which isn't necessarily so -- it's easy to see how one deep-pocketed contributor could have provided this "increase" to make things look good for one of his proteges.

If the rumor of 3ABN's 3-million-dollar deficit in the first quarter of 2007 is true, it is likely that McNeilus decided to quit propping up 3ABN.

McNeilus is also very likely a big contributor to Amazing Facts, a ministry not plagued by scandals such as those dogging 3ABN. Doug Batchelor's reputation is clean, so far. It doesn't take a genius to calculate that Doug's taking over 3ABN would "save 3ABN," which is what McNeilus would want to do.

As to why this meeting was "secret" ... I think you'll find the answer in what I suggested about McNeilus's habitual mode of operation. The fact that the rank and file of Adventists has no idea who Garvin McNeilus is testifies to his "secret" mode of operation. (I suspect that many ministries and missions owe their existence to the contributions of the McNeilus family.)

Posted by: no_cults Apr 22 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 20 2007, 02:33 PM)
>
> In my own church example, we had one Sabbath praise music session that included drums along with the guitars and piano. It was so loudly done that it was hard to hear the words above the music. A number of older members got up and left in protest. I could understand that, especially if they wore hearing aids, as the decibles of that particular group were making my ears hurt as well. I was tempted to leave for that reason alone. However, as the pastor brought the sermon I marveled at the spiritual blessing I would have missed if I had left.
>
> Isn't this what we should be looking for no matter who is standing behind the pulpit or even their style of preaching? Are the words of the Holy Spirit to be ignored if the one speaking uses a different style? Would it harm us to open our ears to seek God's message no matter the color of the face it comes through?

> Just wondering...

hoot.... I have heard that the big church in Arlington,Tx. even has smoke along vith guitars and drums. (second service)

lease, someone tell me that I am wrong!!!

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 20 2007, 03:23 PM)
>
> Someone somewhere on one of these threads made a remark about Danny having little guy syndrome. I had no idea he was short. I knew Linda was very tall.. taller than Barbara and I stood by her when she was in the area to see how tall Linda would be and I would guess that Barbara was at least 5' 5-8" tall. Hmmmm
>
> I suppose so... guess I always considered the "little man syndrome" man to be about 5" 4" tall or shorter.
>
> Gotta rethink this
>
> Yep Danny was really in his prime last night. A brand new (seldom used? different style anyway) cowboy suit, not the usual matching jacket and turtle neck sweater. He took up almost 20 minutes telling his story before letting anyone else give their story.
>
> I don't really like the idea of some of the folk sitting and others standing on the show last night and other Tuesday night live programs. Just doesn't set well with me. Walt leaning down over Danny's shoulder, etc. Just my opinion I like it that they are all sitting around in semi circle. It could be that it can't happen so the camera can pan Danny as much as possible and not look like it is focusing Danny that much.
>
> Wonder how much bonus the camera man/woman gets for panning Danny certain number of times a program... sorry folk... guess I sound kinda not nice.
>
> Have a happy Sabbath
> Rosyroi

'up... I have heard the same thing. Not only a short guy, but also ight in the hair department. Amazing what a good rug or transplant an do!

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 10:57 PM)
>
> Well you heard wrong again. 3abn has always functioned on a break even basis, they aren't in debt but don't have anything saved either. That is cash we are talking about. At anytime of the ministry was desperate for funds they have millions of dollars of assets and some of those assets could be sold off if need be. Thankfully they have not had to do that.
>
> Doug seemed caged and reserved? Why? It was his choice to do this merge now. It had been discussed at other times but he didn't feel the time was right until now. Those of you that keep insinuating that Doug was forced into this by someone, somehow in some way try to use your thinking caps to extract some > common sense. AF is respected and so is Doug. It is a successful ministry and has been for a very long time. Now why would anyone and who would that be that would "force" Doug to merge with 3abn? People all your speculation is making no sense. How could it be any more simple that 2 great ministries joining together to increase their evangelizing power? You all need to get over your own misguided beliefs and agenda's and start praising God.

> And Yes PB. I did get it firsthand that Doug could care less about the allegations on the internet. Just ask Gailon if Doug would take his call today.

xcuse me!! I understand that there was no call to Gailon!! Why would Steffan lie about this when the truth is hat Doug never called Gailon?? Let's get the facts straight and quit with the stories.

Posted by: no_cults Apr 22 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(steffan @ Apr 20 2007, 06:07 PM) ☐
>
> I am sorry, I had to post here after hearing all that is being said here. It is too funny not to.
> Doug and Danny had a meeting Thursday at 4pm central time with all of the 3abn employees. They were told that this merge would not change any of their positions, work schedules or anything else. Doug made a point to say that he intends to keep his church in Sacramento and still run amazing facts and WOULD NOT have any say in day to day 3abn operations just as Danny will have no say in day to day operations of AF. Except for a merger of the boards and Danny and Doug taking more time to evangelize, most everything will remain as is. Doug and Danny, AF & 3abn will remain 2000 miles apart and will continue business as usual with Danny over 3abn and Doug over AF.
> So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
> Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.

ou need to preach a little louder to those with the checkbooks.

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 02:07 PM

wow that is a huge and a hard to imagine possibility. in some ways, it would be great, but i don't see any way that linda could work with mollie and john l. etc. that possibility would be an incredible feat of attorneyism. however, what i was thinking is that to make some wrongs right, 3abn should have linda back in some way, if simply to have her own show and even that small part in comparison to what she was before all this. i think, and it's sad to say however, but that would be enough to make danny not want to be there anymore. apologies and reparations really need to be done towards linda, and i hope someday these folks will listen to God first.

the rerun is on now and i'm taping this time.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 22 2007, 06:49 AM) ☐
>
> It is very difficult for anyone to verify the real reasons for this merger. Just now a friend called and voiced yet another unsubstantiated opinion, which reminds me that BSDA is not a court, but a place where we > voice our opinions.

>
> This friend feels that with the new lawyer appearing on the scene Danny fears that the question of Linda's future role in connection with 3ABN could be one of the reasons this proposed merge with Amazing Facts was propelled just now. Why? Because if it is revealed that Linda was wrongfully dismissed in 2004, that destroys Danny's credibility and he looses the face he so desperately tries to exhibit on every program, magazine and web page associated with 3ABN. This is why we see the desperate fight his supporters are still fighting on the Christian Forum or wherever their presence is still allowed. May God have mercy!
>
> Let's pray His will be revealed, and His name glorified, and not a mere political image of . . . !!!

Posted by: lurker Apr 22 2007, 02:08 PM

Link to comments at the Spectrum blog about the merger announcement http://tinyurl.com/2hynlc

---

Posted by: no_cults Apr 22 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Apr 21 2007, 08:48 PM) ☐
>
> I think it's too early to draw conclusions, but I'm somewhat troubled by the seeming joyfull anticipation of Amazing Facts joining hands with an organization badly tainted with credible allegations of moral and financial corruption. Some are saying Doug Batchelor does not believe the accusations and ignores the documentation.
>
> I used to admire Danny Shelton and 3ABN.
>
> I still admire Doug Batchelor and Amazing Facts.
>
> Be careful, Pastor Doug.

feel the same way abt. DB. I also will be watching him close.
e's smart, but people aren't easily fooled.

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Apr 22 2007, 03:04 PM) ☐
>
> Shoot.... I have heard that the big church in Arlington,Tx. even has smoke along > with guitars and drums. (second service)
>
> Please, someone tell me that I am wrong!!!
>
> Yup... I have heard the same thing. Not only a short guy, but also > light in the hair department. Amazing what a good rug or transplant > can do!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 02:17 PM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Apr 22 2007, 12:04 PM)
>
> Shoot.... I have heard that the big church in Arlington,Tx. even has smoke along > with guitars and drums. (second service)
>
> Please, someone tell me that I am wrong!!!

NC,
Please don't misunderstand my post. I am not criticizing praise-style music worships. Just the ones that are so loud it hurts. Don't think I'd like a smoke machine going though...

The point of my post was that if we get too focused on things about our worship services that we find fault with or take exception to, we can miss the blessing the Holy Spirit has planned for us. If I had walked out of that service because of the loud music, I would have missed some spiritual food that I really, desperately needed that day. I stayed and and was sumptuously fed! (and my ears recovered fairly quickly)

> QUOTE(dkay @ Apr 22 2007, 12:04 PM)
>
> Excuse me!! I understand that there was no call to Gailon!! Why would Steffan lie about this when the truth is that Doug never called Gailon?? Let's get the facts straight and quit with the stories.

dkay, Steffan said that Gailon tried to call Doug and Doug would not talk to him. I haven't seen any corroboration that Gailon attempted to make the call. That is just what Steffan is reporting.

PB

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 02:24 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 03:17 PM)
>
> NC,
> Please don't misunderstand my post. I am not criticizing praise-style music worships. Just the ones that are so loud it hurts. Don't think I'd like a smoke machine going though...
>
> The point of my post was that if we get too focused on things about our worship services that we find fault with or take exception to, we can miss the blessing the Holy Spirit has planned for us. If I had walked out of that service because of the loud music, I would have missed some spiritual food that I really, desperately needed that day. I stayed and and was sumptuously fed! (and my ears recovered fairly quickly)
> dkay,
> Steffan said that Gailon tried to call Doug and Doug would not talk to him. I haven't seen any corroboration that Gailon attempted to make the call. That is just what Steffan is reporting.
>
> PB

Steffan is not telling the truth. Gailon never tried to call Doug. So sad that we cannot stick to the truth.

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 03:28 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 20 2007, 12:41 PM)
>
> Yes, I picked up on that too. "Well, we don't really know how this will all take place and who will be on the board and what resources will be shared and what role we will all play....but we need your money."

Just wondering.......if a new board is make up of AF, 3ABN, and ASI individuals...then where does that leave the majority of power....in Danny's pocket? Also can ASI have anyone on the board...since AF is an entity of the church? I understand ASI rules restrict membership to independent ministries and businesses and will not allow any church entity to belong. We are all watching and we are very concerned about this so called merger.

Posted by: hollybygolly Apr 22 2007, 03:44 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 22 2007, 10:37 AM)
>
> Holly, I will agree with you in part, but also stand by my statement. In general, professional actors can take on any character they want.... and they "become" or "create" that character so much that we identify them with the character for the duration of that movie..... until they take on another character when they "become" that other character in some other movie. So in that sense, the "cast" of the 3abn presentations are not like "TV actors"... for they always portray the same character each time they are on camera.
>
> However, the point I am making is that these people come... like TV actors... into our living rooms.... they look us in the eye and talk to us seemingly one-on-one.... and we feel as though we knew them through and through, for we hear them tell the same stories over and over, make the same points, exhibit the same characteristics in varying circumstances. And as a result we judge their characters, motives, personalities, how they relate to persons in real life.... and many more aspects of them .... by what we have seen on the screen. And it is easy to forget that we do not, in fact, have any idea as to whether their screen image is the same as what they are in real life when they are interacting with real people.
>
> But the impressions that we have from what we have seen sticks with us so strongly, that even when a number of persons, who know the individual personally, relate experiences to show something different.... it is extremely difficult... with some it is well nigh impossible... to believe any differently from our opinions formed while this person "sat with us in our living room" so many hours through so many years.
>
> This is a phenomena of human nature. And it is one that is known and used by performers in all walks of life... including, sad to say, TV Evangelists as well as professional TV actors who change characters with a change of contract or script.

Just because we watch people on 3ABN and Amazing Facts does not mean that we know every little detail about each of their lives. Might as well call our own pastors "actors", because we dont know what they are like at home, when no one but their own family is around, right? What's the point of having televised evangelism and christian programs? - Because they ALL must be "acting".
I firmly believe that man is fallible and imperfect. I also beleive that God wants us to have a little bit of faith in people - not to make or break us religously, but God has obviously chosen some to be more in the spotlight than others. Does this mean that we discount and doubt everything they do or say? Should we refuse to go to church because we might be listening to an "actor"? No way. Sounds like you are suspicious of just about everyone that is on TV. I would have to agree with that, if I watched regular cable TV on a regular basis, but 3ABN and Amazing Facts is decidedly different.

If you are meaning that we should have our eyes open, and question when evangelists and pastors don't seem to be living their lives according to what the Bible says, then I could see that. But having faith in NO one just because we have been disappointed by SOMEone, I just dont agree. Life would be pretty lonely and sad.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 03:46 PM

> QUOTE(dkay @ Apr 22 2007, 01:24 PM)
>
> Steffan is not telling the truth. Gailon never tried to call Doug. So sad that we cannot stick to the truth.

dkay,

Who is your source for this info? It would be great to be able to take this information to steffan.

PB

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 03:51 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 02:17 PM)
>
> NC,
> Please don't misunderstand my post. I am not criticizing praise-style music worships. Just the ones that are so loud it hurts. Don't think I'd like a smoke machine going though...
>
> The point of my post was that if we get too focused on things about our worship services that we find fault with or take exception to, we can miss the blessing the Holy Spirit has planned for us. If I had walked out of that service because of the loud music, I would have missed some spiritual food that I really, desperately needed that day. I stayed and and was sumptuously fed! (and my ears recovered fairly quickly) not sure how this subject got over here but, i'm borrowing this post from PP since i couldn't say it any better. This is (i think i have this subject thread going on over at the heading "your local church")
>
> PB

quote pinkpanther
"Even if wicked men talk the truth, some may receive it; but it does not bring those who talked it into any more favor with God. Wicked men are wicked men still, and according to the deception they practiced upon those who were beloved of God, and according to the confusion brought into the church, so will be their punishment; their sins will not remain covered, but will be exposed in the day of God's fierce anger. {EW 98.1}
These self-sent messengers are a curse to the cause. Honest souls put confidence in them, thinking that they are moving in the counsel of God and that they are in union with the church, and therefore suffer them to administer the ordinances, and, as duty is made plain that they must do their first works, allow themselves to be baptized by them. But when light comes, as it surely will, and they are aware that these men are not what they understood them to be, God's called and chosen messengers, they are thrown into trial and doubt as to the truth they have received and feel that they must learn it all over again; they are troubled and perplexed by the enemy about all their experience, whether God has led them or not, and are not satisfied until they are again baptized and begin anew. It is much more wearing to the spirits of God's messengers to go into places where those have been who have exerted this wrong influence than to enter new fields. God's servants have to deal plainly, act openly, and not cover up wrongs; for they are standing between the living and the dead and must render an account of their faithfulness, their mission, and the influence they exert over the flock of which the Lord has made them overseers. {EW 99.1}

Those who receive the truth and are brought into such trials would have had the truth the same if these men had stayed away and filled the humble place the Lord designed for them."
Early Writings

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 04:33 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 04:46 PM) ☐
>
> dkay,
>
> Who is your source for this info? It would be great to be able to take this information to steffan.
>
> PB

Very good source who spoke personally with Gailon.

dkay

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 07:32 PM

For those of you following steffan's claims that Gailon Arthur Joy called Amazing Facts sometime after the Thursday Night Live program on 3abn when the 3abn/AF merger was announced, I would submit the following first pararaph of an email I received. It is posted with full permission from Gailon Arthur Joy:

----- Original Message -----
From: G. Arthur Joy
To: *************
Sent: Sunday, April 22, 2007 4:54 PM
Subject: Re: Steffan's claims

I have not made any call to Doug Batchelor. We know that he was airborne Thursday until 3:00pm and doing his presentation at 3ABN staff meeting at 4:00pm and then the live at 8:00pm CDT. He was then airborne back to California from 10:00 am on Friday. And the most important note is that Amazing Facts was closed on Friday, as it is every Friday. So when would we have called to demand to speak with Doug Batchelor?

Gailon Arthur Joy
AUReporter

So, why would steffan make the claim he did? Is he bearing false witness? Someone certainly is.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 22 2007, 08:57 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 07:32 PM) ☐

> F
>
> So, why would steffan make the claim he did? Is he bearing false witness? Someone certainly is.

Questions:
1. So far has Joy's "reports" and claims always been factual?
2. Can someone help me to understand the importance of whether Joy called DB or he didn't?
3. If someone trustworthy told Steffan that Joy called and he repeated it, then it wouldn't be a lie would it?
4. Why are the items that we do know as facts having to repeated over and over and over?
5. What is hard to understand that Doug is not taking over or going to run 3abn?
6. What is hard to understand that Danny is not taking over or going to run AF?
7. How many times does it have to be stated that 3abn is NOT in debt and in fact have assets worth more than AF?
8. How hard is it to understand that since 3abn is not in debt all the speculation about Garwin M and his role is uneducated fantasy.
9. The actual role he has played in the merger as a rep of ASI and Global Missions has been explained, but is too hard to understand?
10. What is the meaning of the wild feeding frenzy on this merger?
11. What can't you except about 2 ministries joining to evangelize without running each other's ministries?
12. By continuing to speculate that one ministry will be able to take over the other shows a lack of business knowledge, common sense, is an insult to all of those involved in this merger and last but not least shows a general lack of intelligence...doesn't it?
13. Are we that ignorant as to think that specifications, rules, regulations and safeguards were not written up legally to avoid any possibility of #12 happening?
14. Can we not see that while major agreements, have been written in stone there will be plenty more smaller details worked out as they go?
15. How many of you that are spouting all of this stuff will slink off into the sunset when it doesn't come to pass?
16. When it happens exactly the opposite of your sad scenerios, how many of you will jump on something else with yet again, new scenerios and accusations and will pretend these previous ones, never happened?

> QUOTE(dkay @ Apr 22 2007, 04:33 PM) ☐
>
> Very good source who spoke personally with Gailon.
>
> dkay

I think that Steffan had a good source but since we all know that Joy always speaks exact truth, I am sure we should listen to him. And again, why anyone would waste time or energy on this phone call is beyond me. It amounts absolutely to nothing one way or the other.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 09:02 PM

Eirene,

Welcome to BSDA!

Posted by: Eirene Apr 22 2007, 09:05 PM

> QUOTE(hollybygolly @ Apr 22 2007, 03:44 PM)
>
> Just because we watch people on 3ABN and Amazing Facts does not mean that we know every little detail about each of their lives. Might as well call our own pastors "actors", because we dont know what they are like at home, when no one but their own family is around, right? What's the point of having televised evangelism and christian programs? - Because they ALL must be "acting".
> I firmly believe that man is fallible and imperfect. I also beleive that God wants us to have a little bit of faith in people - not to make or break us religously, but God has obviously chosen some to be more in the spotlight than others. Does this mean that we discount and doubt everything they do or say? Should we refuse to go to church because we might be listening to an "actor"? No way. Sounds like you are suspicious of just about everyone that is on TV. I would have to agree with that, if I watched regular cable TV on a regular basis, but 3ABN and Amazing Facts is decidedly different.
> If you are meaning that we should have our eyes open, and question when evangelists and pastors don't seem to be living their lives according to what the Bible says, then I could see that. But having faith in NO one just because we have been disappointed by SOMEone, I just dont agree. Life would be pretty lonely and sad.

Holly, you have made some excellent points. If we see it through the eyes of WB then we could say we are all actors. Don't we put on a better face at work than at home sometime? Do we sometimes show more patience with others than with our own families? So then, are we actors? No we are human beings who all fall short. By the grace of God, he takes up the slack. I have seen those on relegious programs that come across as fake and insincere and I have seen those that "what you see is what you get." Doug B. and Danny S. are 2 examples of the latter.
WB has shown ill will toward 3abn and it's people for quite some time and every post she makes on the subject is tainted with innuendo, extreme speculation, and all the negativity that she can muster. Therefore, IMO, she can't be taken seriously when she is obviously so one sided.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 09:25 PM

GAJ, the accused, directly says he did not make the call.

steffan says he was told he did.

All may decide who to believe.

Perhaps so much emphasis has been paid to the proposed 3abn/AF merger because so much conflicting information was initially put out by all sides. There are a few of us out here who are trying to understand what is really happening.

Perhaps a lot of questions would not have been raised if the merger announcement had been delayed until more of the details were ironed out. But for some reason, it was deemed important to get the preliminary merger info out before that was done. Why that was raises even more questions.

Eirene,

It is important because someone who claims to know Doug and even knows what Doug thinks about some issues has claimed that Gailon made that call. If he is bearing false witness that shows something of his character and what he is willing to do to support his opinions. Steffan, himself, has made a big deal of it, repeating it numerous times.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 22 2007, 09:44 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 09:25 PM)

> GAJ, the accused, directly says he did not make the call.
>
> steffan says he was told he did.
>
> All may decide who to believe.
>
> Perhaps so much emphasis has been paid to the proposed 3abn/AF merger because so much conflicting information was initially put out by all sides. There are a few of us out here who are trying to understand what is really happening.
>
> Perhaps a lot of questions would not have been raised if the merger announcement had been delayed until more of the details were ironed out. But for some reason, it was deemed important to get the preliminary merger info out before that was done. Why that was raises even more questions.
>
> Eirene,
>
> It is important because someone who claims to know Doug and even knows what Doug thinks about some issues has claimed that Gailon made that call. If he is bearing false witness that shows something of his character and what he is willing to do to support his opinions. Steffan, himself, has made a big deal of it, repeating it numerous times.

nd why would Steffan's credibility be in question and not Gailon's? Gailon could be telling the truth and the erson that told Steffan could have been mistaken or not. Either way, I hardly think Steffan would have urposely lied over something that doesn't amount to anything. If you would spend as much time checking on ailon's credibility in hundreds of statements, as you have one remark of Steffan's, we might get somewhere. ince this is such a major issue to you, why don't you just be patient and let's see if Doug takes any of ailon's or Pickles calls in the future, then let's give Steffan the benefit of the doubt that IF he is wrong he vas given wrong information and didn't lie, and let's always question any of Gailon's statements and stories ince he has been proven wrong so many times before.
air?

quote name='PeacefullyBewildered' date='Apr 22 2007, 09:25 PM' post='192510']
AJ, the accused, directly says he did not make the call.

teffan says he was told he did.

ll may decide who to believe.

erhaps so much emphasis has been paid to the proposed 3abn/AF merger because so much conflicting nformation was initially put out by all sides. There are a few of us out here who are trying to understand vhat is really happening.

erhaps a lot of questions would not have been raised if the merger announcement had been delayed until nore of the details were ironed out. But for some reason, it was deemed important to get the preliminary nerger info out before that was done. Why that was raises even more questions.

B, so if things are too confusing for you and there are so many things you don't understand, again, why lon't you wait patiently until even more details of the union are worked out and press releases are given. ntil that time the smart thing to do would be to drop the subject period.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 10:20 PM

Eirene,

Even Doug himself knows that many questions have been raised by the merger

---

> QUOTE
>
> Gregory,
>
> Here is a response from Pastor Batchelor. I know they are working hard on getting the most accurate answers for the many questions.
> Thank yo for your e-mail.
>
> Blessings,
> Pastor Harold White
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: [e-mail address deleted as it was a private one.]
> Sent: Sat, April 21, 2007 6:50 pm
> To: Harold White
> Subject: Answer for Common questions
>
> Dear friend,
> As expected, the historic announcement regarding plans to unite the ministries of Amazing Facts and 3ABN has generated a phenomenal response.
> E-mails expressing support and praise to God have been pouring in. The miraculous, providential and rapid leading of God in this event has taken everyone by surprise.
> "... and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly" (2 Chr 29:36).
> Naturally this exciting news has also raised many questions.
> In response, Amazing Facts and 3ABN are working to provide a series of answers to many of the most common questions.
> Because of the colossal, dynamic nature of this partnership, many organizational details still remain to be addressed. So we do not have all the answers at this point in time. Please continue checking the website for fresh updates and information as this incredible development unfolds.
> Thank you again for your words of support and encouragement and please continue to pray that God will mightily bless this united effort to proclaim the good news!
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=13377&view=findpost&p=192484

Yes, in hindsight it probably would have been wise for all sides to wait and see how things developed before launching into dialogue and debate, but that is not what happened. The very manner in which the merger was announced made that route pretty much of an impossibility.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 22 2007, 10:38 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 21 2007, 09:15 PM)
>
> Y'all are killin us here Tryin to reinvent the wheel and say "I" did it.
>
> The "let's ignore the rude ones" was suggested months ago. And we've been doing quite well at it.

Thank you for the laughter in your post to me.

Edited for content.......................Life is too short.

Rosyroi

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 06:24 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 22 2007, 08:49 AM)
>
> It is very difficult for anyone to verify the real reasons for this merger.

Especially when the explanations of those involved in the merger, are discounted and ignored, and the theories, surmisings, and opinions of people who are not involved, and do not know, are given more weight and validity, and used to discount them.

Which is why your friends surmisings are worthless. Why bother to post what even you admit is unsubstantiated, Johann? I can only see a desire to constantly malign and vilify.

Where did Christ ever do such a work as this?

> QUOTE
>
> Just now a friend called and voiced yet another unsubstantiated opinion, which reminds me that BSDA is not a court, but a place where we voice our opinions.[
>
> This friend feels that with the new lawyer appearing on the scene Danny fears that the question of Linda's future role in connection with 3ABN could be one of the reasons this proposed merge with Amazing Facts was propelled just now. Why? Because if it is revealed that Linda was wrongfully dismissed in 2004, that destroys Danny's credibility and he looses the face he so desperately tries to exhibit on every program, magazine and web page associated with 3ABN. This is why we see the desperate fight his supporters are still fighting on the Christian Forum or wherever their presence is still allowed. May God have mercy!
>
> Let's pray His will be revealed, and His name glorified, and not a mere political image of . . . !!!

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 25 2007, 07:03 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 07:24 AM)
>
> Why bother to post what even you admit is unsubstantiated, Johann? I can only see a desire to constantly malign and vilify.
>
> Where did Christ ever do such a work as this?

Dear Aletheia,

Johann Thorvaldsson served faithfully as a Seventh-day Adventist pastor for more than 50 years. He came to 3ABN as the European Marketing director with impressive credentials. He was, and is, well-regarded in his homeland. Frankly, he was the best person for the 3ABN marketing job.

Therefore, I really can't agree with you on your comments about the constant maligning and vilifying. I really don't think you're going to be able to make your labels stick to Johann, Aletheia, so you might as well refrain from attempting to do so; You're just wasting your time, even if you think you're talking past the posters here, to some unseen lurkers beyond.

Pete

Posted by: Johann Apr 25 2007, 09:26 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 02:24 PM)
>
> Especially when the explanations of those involved in the merger, are discounted and ignored, and the theories, surmisings, and opinions of people who are not involved, and do not know, are given more weight and validity, and used to discount them.
>
> Which is why your friends surmisings are worthless. Why bother to post what even you admit is unsubstantiated, Johann? I can only see a desire to constantly malign and vilify.
>
> Where did Christ ever do such a work as this?

Jesus Christ warned those He knew were not doing the right thing, and he always spoke in unsubstantiated parables. His listeners could take them or leave them.

Even then they said it was difficult to understand. . .

Posted by: Eirene Apr 25 2007, 09:38 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Apr 25 2007, 07:03 AM)
>
> Dear Aletheia,
>
> Johann Thorvaldsson served faithfully as a Seventh-day Adventist pastor for more than 50 years. He came to 3ABN as the European Marketing director with impressive credentials. He was, and is, well-regarded in his homeland. Frankly, he was the best person for the 3ABN marketing job.
>
> Therefore, I really can't agree with you on your comments about the constant maligning and vilifying. I really don't think you're going to be able to make your labels stick to Johann, Aletheia, so you might as well refrain from attempting to do so; You're just wasting your time, even if you think you're talking past > the posters here, to some unseen lurkers beyond.

>
> Pete

o because he was a pastor, he is above all this? C'mon....I have known many pastors that held rudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people r ministries that they didn't approve of.
ohann has condemned himself with his posts over the past how many months. Of course he has aligned, accused and labeled people as what he wants them to be.
o, no, I see no reason for Aletheia to "refrain" from telling the truth.

Posted by: Clay Apr 25 2007, 09:47 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 10:38 AM) ☐
>
> So because he was a pastor, he is above all this? C'mon....I have known many pastors that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people or ministries that they didn't approve of.
> Johann has condemned himself with his posts over the past how many months. Of course he has maligned, accused and labeled people as what he wants them to be.
> So, no, I see no reason for Aletheia to "refrain" from telling the truth.

re you a witness? If not, your word should be believed because what? You sound like the latest in the long ne of Danny apologists to grace BSDA.... lots of heat, but no light... lots of zeal but no knowledge.....

nless you have provable info, thanks for sharing your opinion, and undying support for Mr. Shelton....

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 09:57 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 25 2007, 11:47 AM) ☐
>
> are you a witness? If not, your word should be believed because what? You sound like the latest in the long line of Danny apologists to grace BSDA.... lots of heat, but no light... lots of zeal but no knowledge.....
>
> Unless you have provable info, thanks for sharing your opinion, and undying support for Mr. Shelton....

h come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a itness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... he is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her n the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, laims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not ine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. nd.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann as there also...

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 09:59 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 11:57 AM) ☐

> Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, and when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was hthere also...

That question has been asked and answered... you should pay more attention.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: runner4him Apr 25 2007, 10:13 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 09:57 AM)
>
> Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also...

I am new around here and know nothing about you but you sound like one angry chick! I have been amazed at the lack of compassion and respect for those who are trying to get to the truth. What has happened to values and the belief in diligently searching for answers to questions that are out there for all to see? When we are told to stop questioning and just blindly believe because of the demonstration of power here or there or maybe a prominant person is telling us it is not as it appears but there is a real answer but I am sorry I cannot tell you what that might be then I say STOP and do not go there and do not follow and do not support!

All of this brings to mind so many Biblical examples........

We are to be fruit inspectors and I am sorry if I offend you but you lack in some of the Fruit of the Spirit department.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 10:17 AM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ Apr 25 2007, 11:13 AM)
>
> I am new around here and know nothing about you but you sound like one angry chick! I have been amazed at the lack of compassion and respect for those who are trying to get to the truth. What has happened to values and the belief in diligently searching for answers to questions that are out there for all to see? When we are told to stop questioning and just blindly believe because of the demonstration of power here or there or maybe a prominant person is telling us it is not as it appears but there is a real answer but I am sorry I cannot tell you what that might be then I say STOP and do not go there and do not follow and do not support!
>
> All of this brings to mind so many Biblical examples........

> We are to be fruit inspectors and I am sorry if I offend you but you lack in some of the Fruit of the Spirit department.

Vell, you just got taken off her Christmas card list.

Posted by: Johann Apr 25 2007, 11:19 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 05:38 PM)
>
> So, no, I see no reason for Aletheia to "refrain" from telling the truth.

make a strong appeal to you to urge her to do that. It would be so much better for 3ABN if she did.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 05:57 PM)
>
> Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also...

Iot only was I there at all the places you mentioned, but my guardian angel was there too.

'ou are constantly asking for evidence. What evidence do you have that I was not there?

Vhat will you tell the Judge of Heaven and Earth if he asks you why you are making so many untruthful ;tatements?

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 25 2007, 01:19 PM)
>
> I make a strong appeal to you to urge her to do that. It would be so much better for 3ABN if she did.
> Not only was I there at all the places you mentioned, but my guardian angel was there too.
>
> You are constantly asking for evidence. What evidence do you have that I was not there?
>
> What will you tell the Judge of Heaven and Earth if he asks you why you are making so many untruthful statements?

First why don't you tell me what you are accusing me of lying about.

Here's what you responded to, what untruuthful statement? You can quote from this?

"Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also..."

> QUOTE(runner4him @ Apr 25 2007, 12:13 PM) ☐
>
> I am new around here and know nothing about you but you sound like one angry chick! I have been amazed at the lack of compassion and respect for those who are trying to get to the truth. What has happened to values and the belief in diligently searching for answers to questions that are out there for all to see? When we are told to stop questioning and just blindly believe because of the demonstration of power here or there or maybe a prominant person is telling us it is not as it appears but there is a real answer but I am sorry I cannot tell you what that might be then I say STOP and do not go there and do not follow and do not support!
>
> All of this brings to mind so many Biblical examples........
>
> We are to be fruit inspectors and I am sorry if I offend you but you lack in some of the Fruit of the Spirit department.

Please don't waste your time with me then.

I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about., You don't have to believe me, but I would encourage you to search for yourself, for we are all accountable to God, and your compassion doesn't seem to extend to those who are being slandered and maligned.

In my bible lies, evil surmisings, gossip and false witness are bad fruits.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 12:03 PM

Ok?!!!! ☒ ☒ rofl BTW, welcome to BSDA R4H! Hursh Duane! ☒

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 25 2007, 09:17 AM) ☐
>
> Well, you just got taken off her Christmas card list. ☒

I

> QUOTE
>
> am new around here and know nothing about you but you sound like one angry chick! I have been amazed at the lack of compassion and respect for those who are trying to get to the truth. What has happened to values and the belief in diligently searching for answers to questions that are out there for all > to see? When we are told to stop questioning and just blindly believe because of the demonstration of power here or there or maybe a prominant person is telling us it is not as it appears but there is a real answer but I am sorry I cannot tell you what that might be then I say STOP and do not go there and do not follow and do not support!

>
> All of this brings to mind so many Biblical examples........
>
> We are to be fruit inspectors and I am sorry if I offend you but you lack in some of the Fruit of the Spirit department.

Posted by: Clay Apr 25 2007, 12:08 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 10:57 AM)
>
> Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also...

'ou aren't a witness either right? So you know what again?

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 12:09 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 25 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> Ok?!!!! rofl

'm thinking you are now laughing in agreement due to your concerns that I understand and learn your lefinitions of what is, and is not, respect and disrespect in posting?

'm learning...
:arry on...

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 12:15 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> I'm thinking you are now laughing in agreement due to your concerns that I understand and learn your definitions of what is, and is not, respect and disrespect in posting?
>
> I'm learning...
> carry on...

One of these days you're gonna realize that your trying to think only gets you into trouble... your strong suit it is not...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 12:20 PM

First why don't you tell me what you are accusing me of lying about.

Here's what you responded to, what untruuthful statement? You can quote from this?

"Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also..."

I'm thinking you have not received your email today on what to and not to say. this is exactly what Johann menat in his post. You might no want to talk about what Linda did before the ink dried on the divorce papers. We do know that she did not get married before it was dry, like some other folks we know........As the saying goes, "if you live in a glass house............"

Oh yeah, and you have just one more time to refer to Johann by anything else but his name. You don't need any descriptors, we all know who he is, and we don't have two by the same name.

Please don't waste your time with me then.

I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about., You don't have to believe me, but I would encourage you to search for yourself, for we are all accountable to God, and your compassion doesn't seem to extend to those who are being slandered and maligned.

In my bible lies, evil surmisings, gossip and false witness are bad fruits.

Then you need to repent and stop doing all those things.....right? However, the thing to which you should pay attention in R4H post is that they have read many posts here and have found you to sound angry, and they don't know you from a can of paint(thanks again Sis, Kevin), but that comes through enough in your posts for them to pick it up. That in and of itself should give you pause about the road you are travelling.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 12:23 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 02:15 PM)
>
> One of these days you're gonna realize that your trying to think only gets you into trouble... your strong suit it is not...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

I already have a shadow. Why have you married yourself to me and my every post? I could set my watch now by your rapid appearance. If you are unaware of your behavior just do a search on all my posts, and see for yourself how obsessed you are. Have you no shame?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 12:30 PM

Lighten up Cindy! You are too young to be this uptight! Man!! Duane made a joke about the fact that you were not going to appreciate R4H's post, I laughed, you didn't, as per your response to that post. You could have laughed yourself, if you weren't so comsumed with someone else's anger.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 11:09 AM)
>
> I'm thinking you are now laughing in agreement due to your concerns that I understand and learn your definitions of what is, and is not, respect and disrespect in posting?
>
> I'm learning...
> carry on...

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 25 2007, 02:20 PM)
>
> First why don't you tell me what you are accusing me of lying about.
>
> Here's what you responded to, what untruuthful statement? You can quote from this?
>
> "Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also..."
>
> I'm thinking you have not received your email today on what to and not to say. this is exactly what Johann menat in his post. You might no want to talk about what Linda did before the ink dried on the divorce papers. We do know that she did not get married before it was dry, like some other folks we know........As the saying goes, "if you live in a glass house..........."
>
> Oh yeah, and you have just one more time to refer to Johann by anything else but his name. You don't need any descriptors, we all know who he is, and we don't have two by the same name.

Let me get this clear, and understand what the problem is here. You are referring to me saying "the icelander, Johann"? Meaning I can not refer to Johann location as being from Iceland, which is what his profile says, as in an "Icelander" ever again, or I will be banned?

And respectfully Diane, no, I disagree, not everyone (some of whom just wander in here to read, or follow the discussions regularly, or are members here) know that Johann (who claims he was always present with Linda in Illinois, USA, and in Norway, and that he is a witness to what was said or done, any time a argument of question arises about her is raised here on this forum) actually lives across the world from her, in Iceland.

> QUOTE
>
> Please don't waste your time with me then.
>
> I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about., You don't have to believe me, but I would encourage you to search for yourself, for we are all accountable to God, and your compassion doesn't seem to extend to those who are being slandered and maligned.
>
> In my bible lies, evil surmisings, gossip and false witness are bad fruits.
>
> Then you need to repent and stop doing all those things.....right? However, the thing to which you should pay attention in R4H post is that they have read many posts here and have found you to sound angry, and they don't know you from a can of paint(thanks again Sis, Kevin), but that comes through enough in your posts for them to pick it up. That in and of itself should give you pause about the road you are travelling.

As I said, what did I lie about? Fact: it was Johann who justified Linda's trip to see the Doctor immediatly following the divorce in June of 2004, and confirmed it for all in this forum, claiming he was her very best friend after Linda had been claiming for years that her relationship with the doctor was strictly proffesional. Danny as you know got married in March 2006, the ink was well dried by then.

If you want the link, I'll find it for you.

Posted by: Clay Apr 25 2007, 12:49 PM

Aletheia.... you stated you were not a witness so you have no facts.... you have opinions and conjecture....

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 12:55 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 02:23 PM)
>
> I already have a shadow. Why have you married yourself to me and my every post? I could set my watch now by your rapid appearance. If you are unaware of your behavior just do a search on all my posts, and see for yourself how obsessed you are. Have you no shame?

You wish a brotha was obsessed with you, dont you... wake up Muttley; you're dreamin' again 'cause this brotha doesn't do jungle fever. The more you continue to talk the more I doubt your version of how you came to be divorced, Cindy.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 01:04 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 25 2007, 09:17 AM)
>
> Well, you just got taken off her Christmas card list.

And, r4h, you just got put onto mine!

Cindy,
Your anger does show through time and time again. However, since you are my sister in Christ, if you will provide me with an address, I will happily add you to my own holiday card list!

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 09:39 AM)
>
> I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about., You don't have to believe me, but I would encourage you to search for yourself, for we are all accountable to God, and your compassion doesn't seem to extend to those who are being slandered and maligned.
>
> In my bible lies, evil surmisings, gossip and false witness are bad fruits.

Cindy,
Your diligent search for truth is already done? I have been searching since August, 2006 and would never feel comfortable characterizing that search as anything other than ongoing. But, that is just my opinion.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 01:04 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 25 2007, 02:49 PM)
>
> Aletheia.... you stated you were not a witness so you have no facts.... you have opinions and conjecture....

I am referring to the posts here, and what was said here. Do you need the links to them?,Or do you just want to keep pretending I didn't see them either?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 01:07 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 10:47 AM)
>
> Let me get this clear, and understand what the problem is here. You are referring to me saying "the icelander, Johann"? Meaning I can not refer to Johann location as being from Iceland, which is what his > profile says, as in an "Icelander" ever again, or I will be banned?

>
> And respectfully Diane, no, I disagree, not everyone (some of whom just wander in here to read, or follow the discussions regularly, or are members here) know that Johann (who claims he was always present with Linda in Illinois, USA, and in Norway, and that he is a witness to what was said or done, any time a argument of question arises about her is raised here on this forum) actually lives across the world from her, in Iceland.
> As I said, what did I lie about? Fact: it was Johann who justified Linda's trip to see the Doctor immediatly following the divorce in June of 2004, and confirmed it for all in this forum, claiming he was her very best friend after Linda had been claiming for years that her relationship with the doctor was strictly proffesional. Danny as you know got married in March 2006, the ink was well dried by then.
> If you want the link, I'll find it for you.

Search still seems to be unavailable, but I can tell you from my own memory, poor as it can be, that Johann said that Linda went to Norway to see her THREE best friends in the world - since most others had abandoned her. When Search works again, we shall see just what the context of his post was.

Posted by: Clay Apr 25 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 02:04 PM) ☐
>
> I am referring to the posts here, and what was said here. Do you need the links to them?,Or do you just want to keep pretending I didn't see them either?

but you have said you not a witness... likewise this is the internet, who really knows who posts what?

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 01:15 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 03:04 PM) ☐
>
> And, r4h, you just got put onto mine!
>
> Cindy,
> Your anger does show through time and time again. However, since you are my sister in Christ, if you will provide me with an address, I will happily add you to my own holiday card list!
> Cindy,
> Your diligent search for truth is already done? I have been searching since August, 2006 and would never feel comfortable characterizing that search as anything other than ongoing. But, that is just my opinion.

PB, I said nothing about my search for truth being done. I said:
have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about.,
There is much I do not post about, for I haven't found or recieved the answers I am looking for yet...

As far as anger goes. Here's the deal. I shut off my computer when I am angry and walk away, and don't post.

So I know, and God knows that there is no anger in my posts. (altho they are always full of typos and misspellings)

f you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....

Not to trust your judgments.

I'm sure that is not going to sit well with you, but that's just the way it is.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 01:28 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 11:15 AM) ☐
>
> PB, I said nothing about my search for truth being done. I said:
> I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about.,
> There is much I do not post about, for I haven't found or recieved the answers I am looking for yet...
>
> As far as anger goes. Here's the deal. I shut off my computer when I am angry and walk away, and don't post.
> So I know, and God knows that there is no anger in my posts. (altho they are always full of typos and misspellings)
>
> If you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....
>
> Not to trust your judgments.
>
> I'm sure that is not going to sit well with you, but that's just the way it is.

Okay. I will certainly accept your explanation and I am glad that your search for truth is not done. Whew! That did concern me.

If what comes through in your posts is not anger, then perhaps what some are seeing from time to time is a mean-spiritedness. You are certainly not the only one who vents in a less than Christian way so don't think I am singling you out. There is just a noticable desperation that comes through in your posts at times.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 03:07 PM) ☐
>
> Search still seems to be unavailable, but I can tell you from my own memory, poor as it can be, that Johann said that Linda went to Norway to see her THREE best friends in the world - since most others had abandoned her. When Search works again, we shall see just what the context of his post was.

I already tried to search also.

I don't want to argue back and forth over this kind of thing which has nothing to do with what I said anyway.

To clarify:
Yes that is what he said. Yet of the 3, the only very best friend who lives in Norway, is the Doctor and that's who I was referring to...

a strictly professional relationship, and having someone as "your very best friend" are two different things in most people's minds...

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 02:28 PM)
>
> Okay. I will certainly accept your explanation and I am glad that your search for truth is not done. Whew! That did concern me.
>
> If what comes through in your posts is not anger, then perhaps what some are seeing from time to time is a mean-spiritedness. You are certainly not the only one who vents in a less than Christian way so don't think I am singling you out. There is just a noticable desperation that comes through in your posts at times.

And that desperation is showing in the posts of several forum members. It has gotten more intense since the merger ploy was announced.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 03:28 PM)
>
> Okay. I will certainly accept your explanation and I am glad that your search for truth is not done. Whew! That did concern me.
>
> If what comes through in your posts is not anger, then perhaps what some are seeing from time to time is a mean-spiritedness. You are certainly not the only one who vents in a less than Christian way so don't think I am singling you out. There is just a noticable desperation that comes through in your posts at times.

You know what PB, believe your own thoughts, and see what you want to see. You appear to be very good at that. I am not here to keep defending myself from false assumptions, and accusations, and am at the point where replying to you just seems to be a waste of my time.

Toodles...

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 01:41 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 03:38 PM)
>
> > QUOTE
> >
> > If what comes through in your posts is not anger, then perhaps what some are seeing from time to time is a mean-spiritedness. You are certainly not the only one who vents in a less than Christian way so don't think I am singling you out. There is just a noticable desperation that comes through in your posts at times.
>
> You know what PB, believe your own thoughts, and see what you want to see. You appear to be very good > at that. I am not here to keep defending myself from false assumptions, and accusations, and am at the point where replying to you just seems to be a waste of my time.

> Toodles...

uid erat demonstratum. The prosecution rests.

n His service,
r. J

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 01:59 PM

Let me get this clear, and understand what the problem is here. You are referring to me saying "the icelander, Johann"? Meaning I can not refer to Johann location as being from Iceland, which is what his profile says, as in an "Icelander" ever again, or I will be banned?

And respectfully Diane, no, I disagree, not everyone (some of whom just wander in here to read, or follow the discussions regularly, or are members here) know that Johann (who claims he was always present with Linda in Illinois, USA, and in Norway, and that he is a witness to what was said or done, any time a argument of question arises about her is raised here on this forum) actually lives across the world from her, in Iceland.

Please don't insult me intelligence, Cindy. You did not mean that as a service to those guests to BSDA who are unfamiliar with Johann. If they read, like everyone else, they will find out soon enough who is is. I'm not buying it!

What you hatin'? I don't even think that Johann presence at any event was ever in question. What is your point? He IS an eyewitness, and you have chosen to believe those were who not over him. You have the problem, not him.

As I said, what did I lie about? Fact: it was Johann who justified Linda's trip to see the Doctor immediatly following the divorce in June of 2004, and confirmed it for all in this forum, claiming he was her very best friend after Linda had been claiming for years that her relationship with the doctor was strictly proffesional. Danny as you know got married in March 2006, the ink was well dried by then.
If you want the link, I'll find it for you.

Danny got married March 2006 the day after thejudge upheld the 2004 divorce. He was not free to marry before that(well, period, but that's a whole 'nother subject). It was being contested, remember. Linda may well have gone to Norway to visit her friend the Dr., but she is yet and still not married to him. Then answer this also, why did she then contest the 2004 Guam divorce, especially you Danny is claiming she had a man? Do you see where the story you have been given has too many wholes in it? Now go back and get the right answers.

You know, Cindy, the more you speak, the more I believe that it is more the case that you have been lied to, and you just repeat what you have been told. When you came here you were looking ofr answers, you kind of wanted the short cut. However, most just told you to read. I beleive there were some who were more than happy to help you "find" the information for which you were searching, and interpret it for you also. And bygolly some of them were or were close to an "insider" or two. A few heartfelt PMS and phone calls, and maybe even a visit or two sealed the deal. Now they send you in here and you hold on to and defend what they have told you as if it is your life's blood. If ALL they say were true, tell me, what is it you would have to gain from this angry tirade you have been on since December? I am really curious, because you are a woman on a serious mission. If we didn't know better I would say Danny was your man. What is it, honestly? I really am not trying to be offensive, or funny, just really concerned at this point.

No, it just means that you need to check yourself again. The key word in your statement below is "all". Remember this first comment today about your posts containing anger was made by someone who doesn't know any of us here. So you can't dismiss this as being from one or two people or a groups who you fell dont' care for you anyway. It apparently is deeper than that.

> QUOTE
>
> If you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....

Posted by: Observer Apr 25 2007, 02:00 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 01:15 PM)
>
> PB, I said nothing about my search for truth being done. I said:
> I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about.,
> There is much I do not post about, for I haven't found or recieved the answers I am looking for yet...
>
> As far as anger goes. Here's the deal. I shut off my computer when I am angry and walk away, and don't post.
> So I know, and God knows that there is no anger in my posts. (altho they are always full of typos and misspellings)
>
> If you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....
>
> Not to trust your judgments.
>
> I'm sure that is not going to sit well with you, but that's just the way it is.

O. K. You alone know whether or not you are angry.

I am personally willing to accept at face value any statement that you might make as to whether or not you are angry.

Now the question becomes as to how you present yourself. If others regulary claim that they see anger in you, you are presenting yourself in a manner that results in them seeing you as angry. That is something that you can change, if you want to change.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 02:06 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 25 2007, 03:53 PM)
>
> Let me get this clear, and understand what the problem is here. You are referring to me saying "the icelander, Johann"? Meaning I can not refer to Johann location as being from Iceland, which is what his profile says, as in an "Icelander" ever again, or I will be banned?

> And respectfully Diane, no, I disagree, not everyone (some of whom just wander in here to read, or follow the discussions regularly, or are members here) know that Johann (who claims he was always present with Linda in Illinois, USA, and in Norway, and that he is a witness to what was said or done, any time a argument of question arises about her is raised here on this forum) actually lives across the world from her, in Iceland.
>
> Please don't insult me intelligence, Cindy. You did not mean that as a service to those guests to BSDA who are unfamiliar with Johann. If they read, like everyone else, they will find out soon enough who is is. I'm not buying it!
>
> What you hatin'? I don't even think that Johann presence at any event was ever in question. What is your point? He IS an eyewitness, and you have chosen to believe those were who not over him. You have the problem, not him.
>
> As I said, what did I lie about? Fact: it was Johann who justified Linda's trip to see the Doctor immediatly following the divorce in June of 2004, and confirmed it for all in this forum, claiming he was her very best friend after Linda had been claiming for years that her relationship with the doctor was strictly proffesional. Danny as you know got married in March 2006, the ink was well dried by then.
> If you want the link, I'll find it for you.
>
> Danny got married March 2006 the day after thejudge upheld the 2004 divorce. He was not free to marry before that(well, period, but that's a whole 'nother subject). It was being contested, remember. Linda may well have gone to Norway to visit her friend the Dr., but she is yet and still not married to him. Then answer this also, why did she then contest the 2004 Guam divorce, especially you Danny is claiming she had a man? Do you see where the story you have been given has too many wholes in it? Now go back and get the right answers.
>
> You know, Cindy, the more you speak, the more I believe that it is more the case that you have been lied to, and you just repeat what you have been told. When you came here you were looking ofr answers, you kind of wanted the short cut. However, most just told you to read. I beleive there were some who were more than happy to help you "find" the information for which you were searching, and interpret it for you also. And bygolly some of them were or were close to an "insider" or two. A few heartfelt PMS and phone calls, and maybe even a visit or two sealed the deal. Now they send you in here and you hold on to and defend what they have told you as if it is your life's blood. If ALL they say were true, tell me, what is it you would have to gain from this angry tirade you have been on since December? I am really curious, because you are a woman on a serious mission. If we didn't know better I would say Danny was your man. What is it, honestly? I really am not trying to be offensive, or funny, just really concerned at this point.

am concerned also Di, for you because none of what you just wrote is true, that is why there is zero vidence to support, it, not even for not buying why I referred to Johann's location. I know why I did so, not ou. You can't read my thoughts or motives or intents. That is arrogance Di, and dangerous.

t's just like I tried to tell PB, go ahead and put faith in your own thoughts, see what you want to see, but it vill not justify the false witness, nor the evil surmisings before God.

nd that is all I have to say about it.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 11:38 AM)
>
> You know what PB, believe your own thoughts, and see what you want to see. You appear to be very good at that. I am not here to keep defending myself from false assumptions, and accusations, and am at the point where replying to you just seems to be a waste of my time.

> Toodles...

apologize if I struck a nerve.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 02:11 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 25 2007, 04:00 PM) ☐
>
> Now the question becomes as to how you present yourself. If others regulary claim that they see anger in you, you are presenting yourself in a manner that results in them seeing you as angry. That is something that you can change, if you want to change.

'ou know how that is, pastor... if one's only tool is a hammer, eventually everything starts looking like a ıail...

n His service,
Ar. J

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 02:43 PM

It appears we both did. I apologize also. I am praying that God will continue to work with you in this and all areas of your life.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 01:11 PM) ☐
>
> I apologize if I struck a nerve.

Posted by: Johann Apr 25 2007, 03:15 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 09:30 PM) ☐
>
> I already tried to search also.
>
> I don't want to argue back and forth over this kind of thing which has nothing to do with what I said anyway.
>
> To clarify:
> Yes that is what he said. Yet of the 3, the only very best friend who lives in Norway, is the Doctor and that's who I was referring to...
> a strictly professional relationship, and having someone as "your very best friend" are two different things in most people's minds...

.et me try to put this down in as small spoons as I can find right now, so you can discern something that has not been revealed to you yet.

Here is the story of my life:

I was born and lived in Denmark 1933-1938

With my parents I moved to and lived in Iceland 1938-1948.

Attended missionary school in Norway 1948-1951

Church School teacher and acting Conference Youth Director 1951-1952

Attending Emmanuel Missionary College 1952-1954 (Walt Thompson was there too)

Academy Bible teacher Iceland 1954-1955

Back to USA for further studies 1955-1958

Pastor in Denmark 1958-1963

Missionary, Bible teacher, West Africa 1963-1967

Teacher Iceland 1967-1968

Pastor Faeroe Islands 1968-1969

Departmental Director Norway 1969-1974

Departmental Director, pastor, Denmark, 1974-2002. Some traveling, especially to Sweden where I did graduate work.

As a retiree worked as Director of European Development for 3ABN 2002-2004. Lived in Denmark, but traveled all over Europe including trips to USA and Norway, by the way. I was there when Linda and Brenda were there.

Moved back to Norway March 2004-2006. So we were there to receive Linda, who became like a daughter to us. Linda told us we were, at that time, her only friends because all others had abandoned her by orders of Danny. That is why I said we were her best friends, and she felt she had to come and visit us. Other very good friends were added later, and some old ones came back to her.

Moved to Iceland 2006, but spent also several months in Norway. I love Iceland, but I have spent about 60 years in other parts of the world.

Now that you see the whole picture, can you now see why I was at different places at different times, and I have done much traveling all of my life. I was really there at the times I told you before, not trying to kid you.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 03:25 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 03:23 PM)
>
> I already have a shadow. Why have you married yourself to me and my every post? I could set my watch now by your rapid appearance. If you are unaware of your behavior just do a search on all my posts, and see for yourself how obsessed you are. Have you no shame?

Scripture speaks of how we should think and how we should carry ourselves. You seem to have imagined that Awesumt has an interest in you. Obviously you have become vain in your imagination.

My humble observation and suggestion is this Aletheia. I suggest you keep your mind stayed on the topics of conversation and Jesus that way you will not hurt or, embarrass yourself, on the world wide web no less, hoping that somebody who doesn't, wants to be close to you.

Be Blessed

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 03:47 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 25 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> Lighten up Cindy! You are too young to be this uptight! Man!! Duane made a joke about the fact that you were not going to appreciate R4H's post, I laughed, you didn't, as per your response to that post. You could have laughed yourself, if you weren't so comsumed with someone else's anger.

Apparently we seem to take ourself waaaaaay to seriously.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 05:15 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 25 2007, 06:15 PM)
>
> Let me try to put this down in as small spoons as I can find right now, so you can discern something that has not been revealed to you yet.
>
> Here is the story of my life:Now that you see the whole picture, can you now see why I was at different places at different times, and I have done much traveling all of my life. I was really there at the times I told you before, not trying to kid you.

Interesting bio bro. Though as an adult, with a life, one should not have to spoon feed anyone their life story, I understand there are some less discerning among us and thus may need some help.

Posted by: Fran Apr 25 2007, 05:25 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 25 2007, 03:15 PM)
>
> Let me try to put this down in as small spoons as I can find right now, so you can discern something that has not been revealed to you yet.
>
> Here is the story of my life:
>
> I was born and lived in Denmark 1933-1938
>
> With my parents I moved to and lived in Iceland 1938-1948.
>
> Attended missionary school in Norway 1948-1951
>
> Church School teacher and acting Conference Youth Director 1951-1952
>
> Attending Emmanuel Missionary College 1952-1954 (Walt Thompson was there too)

> Academy Bible teacher Iceland 1954-1955
>
> Back to USA for further studies 1955-1958
>
> Pastor in Denmark 1958-1963
>
> Missionary, Bible teacher, West Africa 1963-1967
>
> Teacher Iceland 1967-1968
>
> Pastor Faeroe Islands 1968-1969
>
> Departmental Director Norway 1969-1974
>
> Departmental Director, pastor, Denmark, 1974-2002. Some traveling, especially to Sweden where I did graduate work.
>
> As a retiree worked as Director of European Development for 3ABN 2002-2004. Lived in Denmark, but traveled all over Europe including trips to USA and Norway, by the way. I was there when Linda and Brenda were there.
>
> Moved back to Norway March 2004-2006. So we were there to receive Linda, who became like a daughter to us. Linda told us we were, at that time, her only friends because all others had abandoned her by orders of Danny. That is why I said we were her best friends, and she felt she had to come and visit us. Other very good friends were added later, and some old ones came back to her.
>
> Moved to Iceland 2006, but spent also several months in Norway. I love Iceland, but I have spent about 60 years in other parts of the world.
>
> Now that you see the whole picture, can you now see why I was at different places at different times, and I have done much traveling all of my life. I was really there at the times I told you before, not trying to kid you.

ohann;

ven without your impressive resume, I have always had the deepest respect, admiration and eep feelings that you were sent by God to care for Linda. You were like the birds God sent to feed lijah. You were called and you answered, "Yes, Lord, send me."

od knew you would fit the need! I also believe God sent the doctor also. I believe the three of ou were used to uphold Linda up before the Lord. She was weak, in shock, and needed to be elped so she could stand the onslaught that came on so suddenly. I do not believe Linda had a lue as to what had just happened.

believe your straight testimony. You have never spoken the truth to harm anyone. It just appens the witness called sin a sin. The day this is lost, is the day Jesus will surely come.

Posted by: mozart Apr 25 2007, 05:49 PM

wonder how someone knows "MANY PASTORS that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people or ministries that they didn't approve of."
what on earth have you done to get to know so MANY who behave so badly?? are any associated with 3abn?

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 08:38 AM) ☐
>
> So because he was a pastor, he is above all this? C'mon....I have known many pastors that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down

> people or ministries that they didn't approve of.
> Johann has condemned himself with his posts over the past how many months. Of course he has maligned, accused and labeled people as what he wants them to be.
> So, no, I see no reason for Aletheia to "refrain" from telling the truth.

s it possible that you should refrain from NOT telling the truth?

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 08:57 AM)
>
> Oh come on Clay, even you have to wonder how the icelander, Johann has convieniently been there or been a witness to every single event or happening which has to do with Linda which is brought up on this forum... She is indeed blessed to have him as her sole witness to so many things, why he even claimed to be with her in the hotel room with the Doctor, and to have been cut out of photographs of her and the Doctor together, claims to have "together" bought a "ugly cheap, oddly shaped watch, which he didn't like" (his words not mine) and claimed that he and the doctor together gave it to Linda thinking it an appropriate gift for her. and.... when she flew to Norway before the ink was dry on her divorce to see the Doctor, guess what? Johann was there also...

o she didn't go see the doctor alone right?

OUR ALLNESS statements are showing how much you are stretching things my dear.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 11:47 AM)
>
> Let me get this clear, and understand what the problem is here. You are referring to me saying "the icelander, Johann"? Meaning I can not refer to Johann location as being from Iceland, which is what his profile says, as in an "Icelander" ever again, or I will be banned?
>
> And respectfully Diane, no, I disagree, not everyone (some of whom just wander in here to read, or follow the discussions regularly, or are members here) know that Johann (who claims he was always present with Linda in Illinois, USA, and in Norway, and that he is a witness to what was said or done, any time a argument of question arises about her is raised here on this forum) actually lives across the world from her, in Iceland.
> As I said, what did I lie about? Fact: it was Johann who justified Linda's trip to see the Doctor immediatly following the divorce in June of 2004, and confirmed it for all in this forum, claiming he was her very best friend after Linda had been claiming for years that her relationship with the doctor was strictly proffesional.
> Danny as you know got married in March 2006, the ink was well dried by then.
> If you want the link, I'll find it for you.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 05:58 PM

I wonder how someone knows "MANY PASTORS that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people or ministries that they didn't approve of."
what on earth have you done to get to know so MANY who behave so badly??

Walking on the dark side of the force?

are any associated with 3abn?

Ok?? Because apparently she has run with a scandalous bunch...............

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 25 2007, 06:04 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 02:55 PM)
>
> You wish a brotha was obsessed with you, dont you... wake up Muttley; you're dreamin' again 'cause this brotha doesn't do jungle fever. The more you continue to talk the more I doubt your version of how you came to be divorced, Cindy.
>
> Tell the truth... your husband went into the witness protection program to get away from you, didn't he...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J, I am not defending Aletheia by any means, but I understand your quote above as being a very low blow and unacceptable. Am I reading it in the wrong way?

Posted by: mozart Apr 25 2007, 06:09 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 12:15 PM)
>
> ....As far as anger goes. Here's the deal. I shut off my computer when I am angry and walk away, and don't post.
> So I know, and God knows that there is no anger in my posts. (altho they are always full of typos and misspellings)
> If you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....
> Not to trust your judgments.
> I'm sure that is not going to sit well with you, but that's just the way it is.

Oh by gimmine, i've seen some people who have very little ability to look at themselves and see the truth, but this concludes my wondering about you dear and i mean that with love and sincerity. i hope i never post against what you may say here ever again because it is clear to me now that you do not have any idea "what is and what isn't". sweetie, you have so much anger it makes the shingles rattle. i know you think you are doing a great thing here for danny, but i say this with all honesty, you shouldn't be here doing this. anyone with as much anger as you have and then you say you don't show it...
that tells me you definitely need to find someone to help you figure yourself out and learn how to manage your life. you need to step back and take care of yourself AL. this isn't good. danny can take care of himself and that's what you need to do too. i'm sorry to have to say this openly, but PM isn't working. May God bless you.
I'm asking that no one chime in with snide remarks on this because i am being completely serious and do not mean this to sound condesending in any way.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 07:05 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 25 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> Oh by gimmine, i've seen some people who have very little ability to look at themselves and see the truth, but this concludes my wondering about you dear and i mean that with love and sincerity. i hope i never post against what you may say here ever again because it is clear to me now that you do not have any idea "what is and what isn't". sweetie, you have so much anger it makes the shingles rattle. i know you think you are doing a great thing here for danny, but i say this with all honesty, you shouldn't be here > doing this. anyone with as much anger as you have and then you say you don't show it...

> that tells me you definitely need to find someone to help you figure yourself out and learn how to manage your life. you need to step back and take care of yourself AL. this isn't good. danny can take care of himself and that's what you need to do too. i'm sorry to have to say this openly, but PM isn't working. May God bless you.
> I'm asking all the rest of you to not chime in with snide remarks on this because i am being completely serious.

o the moderators and those who do not wish to be called "dear" and "sweetie", I believe this man is not eing condescending to Cindy in any manner. I believe he is truthfully, sincerely concerned for her welfare nd I join him in that concern.

d sure miss her if she was go leave, though. As much as I don't agree with lots of her opinions, I enjoy eading them. Of course, I miss Bystander too.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 25 2007, 07:07 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Apr 25 2007, 06:04 PM)
>
> Mr. J, I am not defending Aletheia by any means, but I understand your quote above as being a very low blow and unacceptable. Am I reading it in the wrong way?

understand you are not defending her, but this is not Christian behavior, nor is the way it is eing handled acceptable to Christians such yourself, obviously. I was going to make a complaint nd then read the chatbox. Nothing has been done about any of his posts to her. At least 3 ppl ave told me they made complaints, one woman did so repeatedly and finally posted she believed r J was a internet stalker, she was mocked and still nothing was done. Perhaps PrincessDi can nswer your question?

Posted by: mozart Apr 25 2007, 07:11 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 06:05 PM)
>
> To the moderators and those who do not wish to be called "dear" and "sweetie", I believe this man is not being condescending to Cindy in any manner. I believe he is truthfully, sincerely concerned for her welfare and I join him in that concern.
>
> I'd sure miss her if she was go leave, though. As much as I don't agree with lots of her opinions, I enjoy reading them. Of course, I miss Bystander too.

m too old and too married to mean that any other way. anyone can tell you, that's just how i talk. i am very oncerned.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 07:17 PM

Number one, Please do not ever try to put me on the spot, again.

Ok, now the first thing is anyone can answer anything that is posted. Aletheia can put Awesumtenor on ignore and she wont' have to see anything he posts ever again, unless it is quoted. However, the comment will be removed, as it ws over the top.

Since the PM is not working until sometime this weekend, please if you can come into LC and use the PM feature there. I general have a sindow open to both the site an LC all day.

Also, can I ask, that, starting with myself, we all start minding our words. We all afterall, supposed to be grown, and christians at that. I am starting with myself, but I know this is a very heated topic some if not all tend to get a bit out of hand with our comments.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 06:07 PM)
>
> Nothing has been done about any of his posts to her. Perhaps PrincessDi can answer?

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 07:21 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Apr 25 2007, 09:04 PM)
>
> Mr. J, I am not defending Aletheia by any means, but I understand your quote above as being a very low blow and unacceptable. Am I reading it in the wrong way?

Yes, you are reading it the wrong way.

Here is another observation since you have obviously missed where her foolishness began. Aletheias clearly suggesting that the brother is stalking her online is the low brow, yet we do not see you crying foul. His pointing out very clearly that her accusation is waaaay off base should be seen for what it is, his observations, of her foolish behavior.

If you folks would stay on topic and avoid the attempts to make low brow accusations to distract from the subject... making comments to simply draw attention to oneself simply to sidetrack the discussion then much of such comments could and would be avoided.

That's my suggestion to those of you who are good at using weapons of mass distraction.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 07:29 PM

Cindy,

I've asked Di to delete the comment vis a vis your husband and I apologize for making it. While it was made tongue in cheek, it was, in retrospect, out of bounds and I should not have followed when you and eirene decided to go into the mire.

I will be more mindful of my footing on this particular slippery slope in the future.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 25 2007, 08:00 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 25 2007, 09:21 PM)
>
> Yes, you are reading it the wrong way.
>
> Here is another observation since you have obviously missed where her foolishness began. Aletheias clearly suggesting that the brother is stalking her online is the low > brow, yet we do not see you crying foul. His pointing out very clearly that her accusation is waaaay off base should be seen for what it is, his observations, of her foolish behavior.

>
> If you folks would stay on topic and avoid the attempts to make low brow accusations to distract from the subject... making comments to simply draw attention to oneself simply to sidetrack the discussion then much of such comments could and would be avoided.
>
> That's my suggestion to those of you who are good at using weapons of mass distraction.

eraph|m, y question to Mr. J only had to do with his statement, which he apologized for and I respect him for doing hat. Thank you Mr. J.
know that I have said things without thinking it completely through in the past and try to be quick to pologize when I realize it.

am not sure who you are trying to include me with in your "If you folks," "draw attention to oneself" and "to hose of you" comments.

gain, my intent was not to attack Mr. J or anyone else, but to only point out to a brother that he may have tepped over the line. In retrospect, maybe I should have sent him a PM.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Apr 25 2007, 08:11 PM

calvin you know in the bible there were special sabbath days that fell during the week...please exercise your authority and have a floating sabbath so you can shut this mess down for a day or so...LOL ☒ rofl

---

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 08:20 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ Apr 25 2007, 11:00 PM)
>
> seraph|m,
> My question to Mr. J only had to do with his statement, which he apologized for and I respect him for doing that. Thank you Mr. J.
> I know that I have said things without thinking it completely through in the past and try to be quick to apologize when I realize it.
>
> I am not sure who you are trying to include me with in your "If you folks," "draw attention to oneself" and "to those of you" comments.
>
> Again, my intent was not to attack Mr. J or anyone else, but to only point out to a brother that he may have stepped over the line. In retrospect, maybe I should have sent him a PM.

☒ It might have been wiser to PM, if you did not want anyone else to comment. But then, this is an OPEN orum for discussion. If you are not one to use said tactics then you are welcome to ignore said comments.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 08:39 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 25 2007, 06:20 PM)
>
> It might have been wiser to PM, if you did not want anyone else to comment. But then, this is an OPEN forum for discussion. If you are not one to use said tactics then you are welcome to ignore said comments.

Plus, PM is down until this weekend so very hard to use right now.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 09:12 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 25 2007, 11:39 PM)
>
> Plus, PM is down until this weekend so very hard to use right now.

Thanks for stating the obvious

Posted by: Pickle Apr 25 2007, 10:06 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 09:38 AM)
>
> C'mon....I have known many pastors that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people or ministries that they didn't approve of.

I know a televangelist that's done that too.

Posted by: runner4him Apr 26 2007, 05:28 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 01:15 PM)
>
> PB, I said nothing about my search for truth being done. I said:
> I have already done my diligent search for truth regarding what I am posting about.,
> There is much I do not post about, for I haven't found or recieved the answers I am looking for yet...
>
> As far as anger goes. Here's the deal. I shut off my computer when I am angry and walk away, and don't post.
> So I know, and God knows that there is no anger in my posts. (altho they are always full of typos and misspellings)
>
> If you all then, keep claiming to see what I know is not there, even after I have explained this before, I also know something else....
>
> Not to trust your judgments.
>
> I'm sure that is not going to sit well with you, but that's just the way it is.

I find the statement regarding becoming angry and then shutting off the computer and walking away somewhat revealing. Although I know nothing about you I can detect anger issues in your postings..just the way you seem to feel the need to respond to others and what they are posting. Maybe it is at the urging of those who are standing behind you that you feel the need to be stirred up so. I have to believe that the real reason we are all here is to become more informed and to share vital information to reach the truth about the mess that is and has been going on. I was in the dark for too long and I am a person who likes to look at the facts. It was not that long ago that I was a faithful watcher and promoter of 3ABN..you could find me in the cheering section of 3ABN. watching it, promoting it..sending the checks. Then...a certain letter came to my home about Linda and the rumors began to fly! I was, even then, blindly thinking..well, the rumors must be right..she must be guilty..and then..doubt about it all crept in. Even with the doubt I am sad to say that although I was no longer in the cheering section neither was I found on the questioning side..I was in the middle which is popular but not where God wants me to be. I even cautioned someone who I saw climbing onto the limb..don't go there..not popular..not comfortable. Now I say we must seek the truth..without anger or hostility that we might not be found wanting. For me it is imperative!

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 08:48 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 10:07 PM)
>
> ... one woman did so repeatedly and finally posted she believed Mr J was a internet stalker, she was mocked and still nothing was done.

Greetings Eirene and welcome to BlackSDA. Obviously you have your facts wrong so, I will attempt to help you as best I can.

Many of us, Awesumt included, have been members of one internet ministry or another for well over 10 years. And he, along with another 99 other charter members of BlackSDA, myself included, have been members here for over 5 years. So, it would stand to reason, if anyone is being followed around, it is Aletheia stalking him, not the other way around.

With that said, the lie (and it is a lie when it is NOT the truth) that Aletheia has stated and the lie you continue to perpetuate clearly suggests that your intent is malicious and simply designed to distract from the real issues discussed in each thread where said lie is introduced.

Finally, whether we should chalk this lie up to an over active imagination on Aletheias part or simple e wishful thinking is anyones guess but, rest assured, to continue to perpetuate this lie one must admit that ones intent is not at all to draw anyone to truth, which is found only in Christ Jesus.

Be Blessed

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 26 2007, 12:59 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ Apr 26 2007, 04:28 AM)
>
> I find the statement regarding becoming angry and then shutting off the computer and walking away somewhat revealing. Although I know nothing about you I can detect anger issues in your postings..just the way you seem to feel the need to respond to others and what they are posting. Maybe it is at the urging of those who are standing behind you that you feel the need to be stirred up so. I have to believe that the real reason we are all here is to become more informed and to share vital information to reach the truth about the mess that is and has been going on. I was in the dark for too long and I am a person who likes to look at the facts. It was not that long ago that I was a faithful watcher and promoter of > 3ABN..you could find me in the cheering section of 3ABN. watching it, promoting it..sending the checks. Then...a certain letter came to my home about Linda and the rumors began to fly! I was, even then, blindly thinking..well, the rumors must be right..she must be guilty..and then..doubt about it all crept in. Even with the doubt I am sad to say that although I was no longer in the cheering section neither was I found on the questioning side..I was in the middle which is popular but not where God wants me to be. I even cautioned someone who I saw climbing onto the limb..don't go there..not popular..not comfortable. Now I say we must seek the truth..without anger or hostility that we might not be found wanting. For me it is imperative!

unner4him,

Vhat a testimony! It is similar to what many others have experienced. We are glad that you are joining with hose of us who are seeking truth!

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 26 2007, 01:42 PM

I've been away from the computer for a few days, so it was ... er ... nice ... to come back.

I note with interest who was willing to apologize for inflammatory statements, and who was not.

Anyone who has been stalked would never make that kind of accusation lightly. I haven't, but I'm married to someone who has.

I also believe that certain individuals posting here are not, and were never, after the truth. They came to post as a favor to 3ABN or they were hired to do so with money or something else (no idea what, but oh well).

If you find a particular item a person says which is blatantly false, or if you find them consistently trying to divert discussions from the real issues, or generally obfuscating, denigrating, and playa hating (thanks Mr. J), why should you believe anything they say at all--for example, that they're not in regular contact with the powers at the channel?

Aspects of these discussions do generate light, but from some quarters all we get is hot air.

Makes for fun reading! ☒ sn

... as far as anger goes ... that was about the first thing Christ preached against in Matthew. There's a place for righteous anger--but anger is like nitroglycerin, it has to be handled with extreme care. And when it comes to sinful anger, like any other kind of sin, trying to see it in ourselves is like trying to look at our own eyeballs without a mirror.

I say that as someone who assumes himself to be fairly angry much of the time.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 02:02 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 26 2007, 04:42 PM) ☐
>
> I've been away from the computer for a few days, so it was ... er ... nice ... to come back.
>
> I note with interest who was willing to apologize for inflammatory statements, and *who was not.
>
> Anyone who has been stalked would never make that kind of accusation lightly. I haven't, but I'm married to someone who has.

Awesumt aka MrJ is also married to someone who has been stalked. Thus, he does not take said accusations lightly.

Peace

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2007, 02:40 PM

Since you "edited" you post since yesterday, I will answer the additional comments. Anyone who sent abuse reports this week has not been answered. PM is down, even for Admins. I am not sure to which indicident you are referring with the stalking thing. Howver, there has been absolutely NO stalking incidents here at BSDA. Now I see that SE is giving us all a good lesson on stalking. Know that someone posting in opossition even to ALL you rposts is not stalking. If they disagree with ALL you posts, they can post as many times as you do.

Oh yeah, just woman to woman, all that " I heard" and "somebody told me" stuff is messy. If you have an opinion state it and stand on with your on two feet. Since it seems you were not here for that exchange, it should be of no conern to you, and you should be highly suspect of those rushing to "provide" you an opinion of people you don't know.

Now, I really want this to be the end of this as Kevin has apologized and the offending statememens have been removed.

Back on Topic, please Everyone!

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 05:07 PM) ☐
>
> I understand you are not defending her, but this is not Christian behavior, nor is the way it is being handled acceptable to Christians such yourself, obviously. I was going to make a complaint and then read the chatbox. Nothing has been done about any of his posts to her. At least 3 ppl have told me they made complaints, one woman did so repeatedly and finally posted she believed Mr J was a internet stalker, she was mocked and still nothing was done. Perhaps PrincessDi can answer your question?

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 03:07 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 25 2007, 09:09 PM) ☐
>
> Oh by gimmine... anyone with as much anger as you have and then you say you don't show it...
> that tells me you definitely need to find someone to help you figure yourself out and learn how to manage your life. you need to step back and take care of yourself AL. this isn't good. danny can take care of himself and that's what you need to do too. i'm sorry to have to say this openly, but PM isn't working. May God bless you.
> I'm asking all the rest of you to not chime in with snide remarks on this because i am being completely serious.

I am sure most of us understand the point you are trying to make but, bear this in mind mozart. By saying that you are completely serious and are showing concern for this sisters obvious anger issues, you are suggesting that others of us are not serious or concerned. That is not the case.

The fact that BlackSDA has been here, as a ministry for many years, and those of us with a history here have been ministering to people for all those years is an indication that many of us are serious and concerned for the souls of others. People have been ministered to since the beginning and will continue to be ministered to, from various placed on BSDA, not just in the 3abn threads.

Some of the observations and suggestions, by those of us who have expressed them. are not expressed lightly and hold no less weight than those of any other member. Those observations may not be "wanted" but that does not invalidate said observations.

Just thought y'all should be aware of this.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 26 2007, 07:16 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 26 2007, 01:02 PM)
>
> Awesumt aka MrJ is also married to someone who has been stalked. Thus, he does not take said accusations lightly.
>
> Peace

I apologize if you thought I meant it that way.

As I'm still getting to know everyone here, I can understand his reaction to it a little better. Still glad he apologized--I value his perspective a lot and I think it highlights his credibility.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Apr 26 2007, 08:49 PM

I'm not sure if I should be on this thread or the AF news release thread. I came across something that I find interesting. I was over on the 3abn site to see what was happening on 3abn live. Danny was not there it was CA and Pastor Gonzales. I started looking at the topics on the page and there were two about the merger. I clicked on one and then the other and both of them had only the info that Doug gave from Sacramento. It also had yesterday's update with the questions that were asked and answered. It starts with the original announcement out of Sacramento and then the announcement about all the e-mails they have gotten for support and then the questions. There was absolutley nothing by Danny. Doug's release after the announcement of the merger was posted twice. Doesn't that seem strange since it is on 3abn? I could understand if I was reading at Af's website to see only Doug. Yesterday I think it was, I went to 3abn and it had Danny's and Doug's annoucement about the merger. NOT TODAY!!! Could this mean something that is not being said?

I would post it here but I don't know how to do that. You can check out 3abn yourself. Tell me what you all think this means, if anything

---

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 09:33 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 26 2007, 10:16 PM)
>
> I apologize if you thought I meant it that way.
>
> As I'm still getting to know everyone here, I can understand his reaction to it a little better. Still glad he apologized--I value his perspective a lot and I think it highlights his credibility.

As one who has experienced being stalked, first hand, I find it appalling that any woman would be so desperate as to lie, accusing anyone of that behavior, simply for attention and to distract from the op.

No need to apologize bro., my point was simply to note the facts.

Be Blessed

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 26 2007, 10:25 PM

> QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Apr 26 2007, 07:49 PM)
>
> I'm not sure if I should be on this thread or the AF news release thread. I came across something that I find interesting. I was over on the 3abn site to see what was happening on 3abn live. Danny was not there it was CA and Pastor Gonzales. I started looking at the topics on the page and there were two about the merger. I clicked on one and then the other and both of them had only the info that Doug gave from Sacramento. It also had yesterday's update with the questions that were asked and answered. It starts with the original announcement out of Sacramento and then the announcement about all the e-mails they have gotten for support and then the questions. There was absolutley nothing by Danny. Doug's release after the announcement of the merger was posted twice. Doesn't that seem strange since it is on 3abn? I could understand if I was reading at Af's website to see only Doug. Yesterday I think it was, I went to 3abn and it had Danny's and Doug's annoucement about the merger. NOT TODAY!!! Could this mean something that is not being said?
>
> I would post it here but I don't know how to do that. You can check out 3abn yourself. Tell me what you all think this means, if anything

Hi TB!!!
You are correct. I went and looked at the 3abn merger announcement and it is all from Amazing Facts. Don't know why there isn't a 3abn announcement. I wonder if yesterday's archives are available yet? Perhaps Cindy still has that archive web site address and could re-post it so we could check. If not, perhaps Search is working now.

Web archives for 3abn.org are not updated yet for any of 2007. Oh well.

http://web.archive.org/web/*/http://3abn.org

Posted by: inga Apr 27 2007, 12:58 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 26 2007, 11:25 PM)
>
> Hi TB!!!
> You are correct. I went and looked at the 3abn merger announcement and it is all from Amazing Facts. Don't know why there isn't a 3abn announcement. I wonder if yesterday's archives are available yet? Perhaps Cindy still has that archive web site address and could re-post it so we could check. If not, perhaps Search is working now.
>
> Web archives for 3abn.org are not updated yet for any of 2007. Oh well.
>
> http://web.archive.org/web/*/http://3abn.org

The AF press release quotes Danny Shelton & gives him plenty of credit. The site still features Danny Shelton pominently and inescapably.

Posted by: Johann Apr 27 2007, 03:33 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 05:38 PM)
>
> So because he was a pastor, he is above all this? C'mon....I have known many pastors that held grudges, were guilty of gossip and making false allegations and made it their job to tear down people or ministries that they didn't approve of.
> Johann has condemned himself with his posts over the past how many months. Of course he has maligned, accused and labeled people as what he wants them to be.
> So, no, I see no reason for Aletheia to "refrain" from telling the truth.

Eirene,

I challenge you, that if you are an honest person, then you will let me know where I have made false allegations. If I have, I must make it right, both to those I have wronged, and I must make it right with the Lord.

Since you have made this statement here on the net, I expect you to let me know right here, unless there is something you prefer to tell me more privately. Then you can write me at johann.a.rein@gmail.com.

Thank you!

Posted by: mozart Apr 27 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 26 2007, 02:07 PM)
>
> I am sure most of us understand the point you are trying to make but, bear this in mind mozart. By saying that you are completely serious and are showing concern for this sisters obvious anger issues, you are suggesting that others of us are not serious or concerned. That is not the case.
>
> The fact that BlackSDA has been here, as a ministry for many years, and those of us with a history here have been ministering to people for all those years is an indication that many of us are serious and concerned for the souls of others. People have been ministered to since the beginning and will continue to be ministered to, from various placed on BSDA, not just in the 3abn threads.
>
> Some of the observations and suggestions, by those of us who have expressed them. are not expressed lightly and hold no less weight than those of any other member. Those observations may not be "wanted" but that does not invalidate said observations.
>
> Just thought y'all should be aware of this.

i am sorry you were offended.

not the minutest suggestion that you stated ever crossed my mind or was intended, however, i have edited my post as follows:

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 27 2007, 05:03 PM)
>
> I'm asking that no one chime in with snide remarks on this because i am being completely serious and do not mean this to sound condesending in any way.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 27 2007, 08:39 PM

Getting back to the original op. Do we really expect that this change will really "change" anything?

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 19 2007, 01:19 PM)
>
> Yesterday, April 18, Elder Doug Batchelor, of Amazing Facts, addressed the Board of the Sacramento Central SDA Church in regard to some changes in his duties. As I write this, Elder Batchelor is in flight to the HQ of 3-ABN, where in a special TV program, these changes will be announced. Then tomorrow, Elder Batchelor will fly back to Sacramento to preach Sabbath.
>
> These changes have been approved by the President of the General Conference, the President of the NAD, ASI, and the Executive Board of 3-ABN.
>
> Danny Shelton is resigning from his position as President of 3-ABN. I do not know, at this point what continued role Danny Shelton will have in the administration of 3-ABN. He is expected to announce today, that he wants to have more free time to devote to however he wants to spend his time.
>
> Elder Doug Batchelor will become President of 3-ABN.
>
> The two ministries are expected to continue but under the united leadership of Elder Batchelor.
>
> Addition to my post:
>
> I just got off of the telephone from talking to Molly at 3-ABN.
>
> She confirms the basic story that I have posted.
>
> In regard to my question as to whether or not Danny Shelton will step down as President, she tells me that Danny has informed the Board that he wants to step down. As she understands it, a final decision has not been made as to whether or not Danny would step down.
>
> Without revealing my source, I suspect that Danny Shelton and Dough Batchelor have reached an agreement on this, which Molly may not be aware of, and that my announcement that he was resigning as President is correct.

Posted by: seraph|m May 1 2007, 03:29 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 1 2007, 06:00 PM)
>
> I do appreciate the apology Mr J, but ironically the part I found most offensive is still there.
> I do not wish a brotha was obsessed with me, nor do I care whether you are into jungle fever or not. My complaint was not about anything sexual at all. I apologise for asking why you had married yourself to me and my every posts" as in retrospect it appears to have given the wrong impression.
>
> As your wife was obviously upset by this, I apologise to her as well for not making myself clearer.
> Mostly I ignore you, as I am sure you have noticed, but I answered you that day hoping to appeal to your conscience.

Once again your imagination has gotten the better of you. It is not within your graps to upset either of us. Had I been upset, as an example, the smilies I used would have been more along the lines of blc or instead of the ones I actually used. Please do not project in our direction because it is useless.

Frainkly, in as simple terms as I can put them, I found the comment laughable, that is about it.

And again you have gone back to focusing on yourself and not the topic at hand. Please leave your weapons of mass distraction at the door.

Posted by: awesumtenor May 1 2007, 03:29 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ May 1 2007, 05:00 PM)
>
> I do appreciate the apology Mr J, but ironically the part I found most offensive is still there.
> I do not wish a brotha was obsessed with me, nor do I care whether you are into jungle fever or not. My complaint was not about anything sexual at all. I apologise for asking why you had married yourself to me and my every posts" as in retrospect it appears to have given the wrong impression.

No... that is not what you said... you and Eirene said I was stalking you... which implies a threat of assault.. sexual or otherwise... as for my responding to your posts... I do so... because I can... and because it's my prerogative. If you wish me to not respond to your posts, you would be better served to talk to people in PM or via email where you know only those who are in agreement with you will both read and respond.

> QUOTE
>
> As your wife was obviously upset by this, I apologise to her as well for not making myself clearer.
> Mostly I ignore you, as I am sure you have noticed, but I answered you that day hoping to appeal to your conscience.

You really should leave off lying; it doesn't become you and you don't do it well... never have... at least in this forum.

> QUOTE
>
> I simply wish you would reply to the topic, and "what" I write, instead of replying to or about me personally with insults, accusations and ridicule.
>
> I would welcome you posting on topic, even if you did it everytime I posted, but you do not.

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you... you want people when they reply to you to post "on topic"... yet you never do. All of your posts are about posters and not the content of posts.... because you can only attack posters' persons... because you are not a witness... to anything. You cannot speak to what happened on a certain day at a certain time because you werent there and you werent involved... but rather than acknowledge that you truly don't know you try to dredge up every and anything you can and if you have no facts, you will use rumor and innuendo and anything else to attack people... because you are ill equipped to deal with ideas.

Like I said before... if hypocrisy were the Kentucky Derby, you'd be Secretariat.

> QUOTE
>
> To me the harassment which I see and referred to, is caused by you disagreeing with me, but being unable to prove why you are correct and I am wrong, so you attack me instead. I believe you post right behind me, even as you did today immediatly after I posted for the first time in 5 orr 6 days with an insult and namecalling, because of your hatred of me, NOT lust.
> In addition > to me. The term "jungle fever" is bigotry based on ignorance
>
> I was in what is termed by the bigotted world and even so called Christians still making and emphasizing color lines, as a biracial marriage and relationship, for 20 years. But the truth is I did not fall in love with a color, I fell in love with a man, his race was the same as mine. Human. Our Son's are also human, and they are beautiful.
>
> I do not believe there is any signifigance in God's eyes whatsoever concerning the color of his children, other then a love of beauty, for everything he created has a variety of colors and is beatiful and good.
>
> If only his children could all see it that way.

☒ no

I suppose the crocodile tears are next...

The crux of the matter is in Matthew chapter 7... for by the measure you mete it shall be measured to you again. Treat people the way you want to be treated... you have not even been given a tenth of what you have have done to people since you came here and you are crying and complaining about how much you dont like it... if you dislike it so much, why is it your tactic of choice and why do you not have a problem when it is you on the giving end and di or Linda or Pickle or Gailon or Duane or anyone else who does not accept your version as either factual or valid.

As I said before... dont start none, wont be none

Period.

But the mods here are not going to let you throw stones at people while they prevent those people from throwing them back at you. Here they will come back at you... and as this post of yours makes it plain...you've discovered the ones throwing them back at you have better aim than you do... and when they hit you, they hurt more.

Most people realizing that would choose a different game... but it's on you one way or the other.

Your move.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Johann May 1 2007, 05:40 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 27 2007, 11:33 PM) ☐

> Eirene,
>
> I challenge you, that if you are an honest person, then you will let me know where I have made false allegations. If I have, I must make it right, both to those I have wronged, and I must make it right with the Lord.
>
> Since you have made this statement here on the net, I expect you to let me know right here, unless there is something you prefer to tell me more privately. Then you can write me at
>
> johann.a.rein@gmail.com.
>
> Thank you!

am bouncing this back for Eirene to see it and respond. I know she is not forced to, but I am pleading with ıer that she will react.

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 2 2007, 10:30 PM

An odd thing ... I heard today through a fairly reliable chain of connections that Mollie herself did not know about the merger (for lack of a better term) before the day it happened ... in other words, it was a big surprise to everybody at 3ABN. Anybody else hear it this way? Did I miss something?

Posted by: princessdi May 2 2007, 10:47 PM

Oh come one, SE!!! you know Mollie said she ahd a vision, and AC had a dream............

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 2 2007, 08:30 PM) ☐
>
> An odd thing ... I heard today through a fairly reliable chain of connections that Mollie herself did not know about the merger (for lack of a better term) before the day it happened ... in other words, it was a big surprise to everybody at 3ABN. Anybody else hear it this way? Did I miss something?

Posted by: from-the-pew May 3 2007, 07:05 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 2 2007, 11:30 PM) ☐
>
> An odd thing ... I heard today through a fairly reliable chain of connections that Mollie herself did not know about the merger (for lack of a better term) before the day it happened ... in other words, it was a big surprise to everybody at 3ABN. Anybody else hear it this way? Did I miss something?

heard them say in the 3ABN Live that Mollie was in attendance at the meeting where they decided to have he merger. This would have been prior to the announcement. Mollie was one of the individuals that CA nentioned seeing in his dream, sitting at the long table. (Along with Batchelor, one of Batchelor's managers, Garwin McNeilus, etc)

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 3 2007, 07:57 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 2 2007, 09:47 PM)
>
> Oh come one, SE!!! you know Mollie said she ahd a vision, and AC had a dream...........

Well, even if that were true (how would I know?), that doesn't mean she believed it. I can't remember how long ago she said the dream was. I believe in precognitive dreams, but sometimes it takes awhile to sink in what just happened.

Of course, I also believe they're perfectly capable of making that stuff up to add the divine stamp-of-approval to half-baked ideas. But that last phrase was my point--it adds to the evidence that this merger was a PR facelift/smokescreen, not a detailed plan.

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 3 2007, 06:05 AM)
>
> I heard them say in the 3ABN Live that Mollie was in attendance at the meeting where they decided to have the merger.

Day of? That's what I heard about her finding out.

Posted by: from-the-pew May 3 2007, 08:37 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 3 2007, 09:57 AM)
>
> Day of? That's what I heard about her finding out.

I thought that meeting was prior... didn't I hear there was a meeting somewhere else? Not California? or Illinois? Somehow, I'm thinking Texas... but I could just have Texas on the brain. (EDIT: Sister's post in other thread indicates meeting took place in Colorado)

I thought it was Shelley who found out day of....

hmm. Anyone have a transcript?

Posted by: Ralph May 3 2007, 08:54 AM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 3 2007, 07:37 AM)
>
> I thought that meeting was prior... didn't I hear there was a meeting somewhere else? Not California? or Illinois? Somehow, I'm thinking Texas... but I could just have Texas on the brain.
>
> I thought it was Shelley who found out day of....
>
> hmm. Anyone have a transcript?

I have an audio of the first hour. The first meeting was at Denver, Colorado. Molly was the only other person who was aware of the planned meeting place.

Posted by: from-the-pew May 3 2007, 08:57 AM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ May 3 2007, 10:54 AM)
>
> I have an audio of the first hour. The first meeting was at Denver, Colorado. Molly was the only other person who was aware of the planned meeting place.

Is my memory correct, or not, that when CA Murray recounted his dream, he mentioned Mollie sitting at the long table, at that meeting in Colorado?

Posted by: princessdi May 3 2007, 10:08 AM

In my own limited investigations, I have heard the word "if" said too many times for this to be a done deal as Danny described it. In fact, If you click here>>>>>>>>http://www.nadadventist.org/, You will find in the lower left hand corner an explanation of the status. Here is just a portion(emphasis mine):

"Amazing Facts and Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) announced on April 19 plans to unite the two international Christian media ministries. The boards of directors of both ministries are exploring the venture, which will join both ministries under a new board and create a more efficient and economical platform for global evangelism, according to Amazing Facts president Doug Batchelor. "

You might find what is almost missing of interest also.

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 3 2007, 06:57 AM)
>
> Well, even if that were true (how would I know?), that doesn't mean she believed it. I can't remember how long ago she said the dream was. I believe in precognitive dreams, but sometimes it takes awhile to sink in what just happened.
>
> Of course, I also believe they're perfectly capable of making that stuff up to add the divine stamp-of-approval to half-baked ideas. But that last phrase was my point--it adds to the evidence that this merger was a PR facelift/smokescreen, not a detailed plan.
> Day of? That's what I heard about her finding out.

Posted by: Ralph May 3 2007, 02:33 PM

> QUOTE(from-the-pew @ May 3 2007, 07:57 AM)
>
> Is my memory correct, or not, that when CA Murray recounted his dream, he mentioned Mollie sitting at the long table, at that meeting in Colorado?

CA Murray mentioned a woman that he did not recognize. Danny expanded on the sitting arrangement and said that the woman who CA did not recognize was Colleen.

Posted by: Rosyroi May 3 2007, 03:20 PM

Edited for content. Thank you for not replying to this post.

Rosyroi

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Dr. Arild Abrahamsen Speaks Out For Himself And Linda

---

Posted by: Johann Jul 13 2006, 07:12 AM

Arild Abrahamsen has long prayed sanity and truth would prevail, and that Walt Thompson and/or Danny Shelton would come to their senses. So he has kept silent these past two years. Now that Linda is still being persecuted and she is prevented from pursuing the ministry God has called her to do, he feels obliged to reveal his part of the story.

He has written his long letter, and only a few technicalities prevent these from being copied to this thread.

Stay tuned and watch out for his story right here.

Posted by: Johann Jul 13 2006, 01:29 PM

Many have indicated a desire to hear from Dr. Arild Abrahamsen in person. He has prepared this document, sent it to me, and asked me to post it here for him, with no changes in his wording. I am therefore doing this. Since it is rather lengthy, we are dividing it into small sections, so as to make it easier for any of you who wish to comment or ask questions on any section to do so. I am not adding any comments to his words other than one line at the top of each segment giving the identifying information as to the author and which section of his document is in that post.

Permission is granted by the author to copy and share this document so long as the document is used in its entirety without interior comments, deletions, or editing, and the author's name, place, and date of writing as well as the url of this BSDA forum on which it is being published are included.

Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section One.

Greetings from Norway;

My name is Dr. Arild Abrahamsen. I live in Svindal, Norway. I have been a medical doctor for more than 35 years. I am a member of the Moss SDA Church. I've been the Sabbath School superintendent for 14 years and the head elder for 4 years, which position I am presently serving. I am the Norwegian doctor who has been slandered by Dr. Walt Thompson, chairman of the board of 3ABN, Danny Shelton, John Lomacang and others.

Since I have observed the situation and the slander only getting worse, I feel it best to share my experience. I share my personal experience, what I have seen and heard. Much of this information has been verified by other sources, which include emails, letters and the personal experiences of others. I share my experience not to attack any individual or organization, but to bring the truth of this situation to the surface.

I have been shocked to observe the events of the last two years. I have made no public statement until now. I had hoped things would resolve themselves.

I visited Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson at 3ABN the last week of 2003. The purpose of the trip was to see them and visit the ministry, which I personally had been supporting for some time. I had never been to 3ABN previously, nor had I met the Shelton's. During this visit I discovered from the Thorvaldsson's that Linda Shelton's son, Nathan, was in a dangerous state of health because of an addiction to drugs and working in coalmines. I offered to see him. This visit resulted in an invitation for Nathan to come to Norway for treatments. Nathan came to Norway around January 20, 2004 along with his friend, Dava Vice. Linda came for a 3-½ day visit to support her son, the first week of February together with Brenda Walsh. This was the last time I saw Linda until the weekend she was fired.

I had a chance to visit with Nathan regularly. I learned from my conversations with Nathan that the roots of his drug problems were the relationships with his father and stepfather. Specifically he told me that Danny had turned his back on him. I shared this information with his mother on the phone. She told me that Danny said he had no responsibility towards Nathan since he was a product of her first marriage, so she felt she had to do what she could to help her son. There was nothing unusual in the occasional phone reports I gave Nathan's mother while he was in Norway. After Nathan returned home, I asked Linda to keep me updated on Nathan's progress.

To Be Continued

Posted by: Johann Jul 13 2006, 02:00 PM

Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section Two

I was shocked to discover in early March of 2004 that Danny was threatening to get Linda fired from 3ABN because of some conversations on the phone. In fact, she was threatened immediately with divorce. By this time Nathan had started with drugs again and Linda was seeking advice. I was also shocked to discover that Brenda had started circulating untrue statements as well. (Was it because Danny had admitted to some emotional involvement with Brenda?) I talked to Danny one time on the phone and found him to be unreasonable, unbalanced and very difficult to communicate with. Johann Thorvaldsson, a retired pastor of the SDA Church of 50 years, also was in communication with Danny, both by phone and email. We talked together and shared the same opinion that Danny was acting completely irrational and unreasonable towards his wife. It appeared he was attempting to leave an email trail filled with untruths to verify a position at a later time. The decision was made to stop the communication by phone with Linda.

Some weeks went by. Johann and Irmgard were getting treatments at my clinic and staying in my home during the Easter week in April, so I discovered from them that the situation was not improving for Linda. She was being harassed, threatened, and unreasonable demands by her husband were repeatedly being made to confess things she had not done. By this time, she was also suspended from her job at 3ABN, an order that was issued and enforced by her husband with no Board action. Things were so bad in the home that she found it necessary to go to her daughter's home in Springfield, Illinois for safety and rest on several occasions. Derrell Mundall, who was traveling often for 3ABN, reports rumors of Linda's so-called "affair" were in SDA churches in April 2004, when Linda was still living with Danny. When he inquired about the source of the rumors, people always pointed to Danny Shelton.

I could see from my 35 years of experience as a physician that Danny was a psychopath. Accusations were directed at me that I had done "mind control" over Linda. (Walt Thompson made the same accusations in his letters.) Linda was accused of sending "secret messages" to me over the television. Danny's emails and communications with Johann were completely crazy, and his reasoning often conflicted with his previous emails. Danny targeted Linda's few inner circle onfidants and slandered her to the point that even they backed away from her at this critical time. (Linda's "friends" did not want to lose their television privileges.) Johann and I concluded this was a man who was determined to get rid of his wife. We also concluded that Linda was in danger.

Things eventually progressed from emotional and mental abuse to physical abuse. In the midst of all this harassment Linda asked Danny, 'Why are you treating me like this?' He answered, 'Because I want you to get out.'

To Be Continued

Posted by: Uncle Sam Jul 14 2006, 02:32 AM

I appreciate you posting this but I have a couple of questions? If nothing happened as Danny says, did Linda and the Dr. ever have a relationship after the fact? Also, what happened to Danny's ex son in law? Why did him and Melody divorce? Was he also fired from 3ABN? Or was he too uncomfortable to work there?

Posted by: Observer Jul 14 2006, 03:23 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jul 14 2006, 01:32 AM)
>
> I appreciate you posting this but I have a couple of questions? If nothing happened as Danny says, did Linda and the Dr. ever have a relationship after the fact? Also, what happened to Danny's ex son in law? Why did him and Melody divorce? Was he also fired from 3ABN? Or was he too uncomfortable to work there?

This is mighty powerful, first-hand information. Thanks for posting it, Johann.

Linda denies ever having a relationship with Dr. A, of the nature of which she has been accused. As to the other questions regarding Melody, and her ex-husband, Johann knows more about that than I do.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 07:28 AM

Yes, this is indeed mighty first hand information!

Posted by: calvin Jul 14 2006, 07:55 AM

I believe you have just persuaded me to end much of the skepticism I had and get off the fence. I had been waiting and wanting to hear from the Norwegian doctor that treated Linda's son. It is hard for me to believe that Johann would fabricate this story. This side of the story needs to get out. Daryl, Gregory Matthews, Atoday, you need to point your members here to this story or get Johann's permission publish it at your place.

Johann, thank you for choosing BSDA as the media to get this side of the story out. My heart goes out to anyone who has been wronged and abused. Glad BSDA could help.

Posted by: September Jul 14 2006, 07:55 AM

I'm SO glad the truth is coming out! Keep it coming, Dr. A!

Posted by: Denny Jul 14 2006, 08:00 AM

When the gag is lifted Linda's story will be just as interesting. I have a feeling she may not say anything for the good of the 3ABN ministry but then maybe her friends can persuade her to defend herself and counter the other stories. We have this attitude in our church of not showing our dirty linen and those who dirty the linen get away with it over and over again.
I'm going to show this to the people I know watch 3ABN up to now I haven't said anythng regarding whats being said here.
I doubt it will make any difference most of them are older conservative West Indian Adventists (generally that mind set finds it hard to find anything connected to Adventism to be at fault)

Posted by: watchbird Jul 14 2006, 09:15 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 07:55 AM) ☐
>
> I believe you have just persuaded me to end much of the skepticism I had and get off the fence. I had been waiting and wanting to hear from the Norwegian doctor that treated Linda's son. It is hard for me to believe that Johann would fabricate this story. This side of the story needs to get out. Daryl, Gregory Matthews, Atoday, you need to point your members here to this story or get Johann's permission publish it at your place.
>
> Johann, thank you for choosing BSDA as the media to get this side of the story out. My heart goes out to anyone who has been wronged and abused. Glad BSDA could help.

And, speaking for all concerned, thank you BSDA for setting up this convenient place to which all can come to become informed.

As for permissions, do note the statement at the top of segment one, which applies to the whole document, which was cut into segments for ease of on-line readers who might want to respond to a specific point.

I'm sure Arild is pleased to learn that he is helping you "get off the fence". And just think, this is only segment two. There are five more to go.

Stay tuned.

☒ TVsnack.

Posted by: Chez Jul 14 2006, 09:32 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 14 2006, 10:15 AM) ☐
>
> And, speaking for all concerned, thank you BSDA for setting up this convenient place to which all can come to become informed.
>
> As for permissions, do note the statement at the top of segment one, which applies to the whole document, which was cut into segments for ease of on-line readers who might want to respond to a specific point.
>
> I'm sure Arild is pleased to learn that he is helping you "get off the fence". And just think, this is only segment two. There are five more to go.
>
> Stay tuned.
>
> ☒ TVsnack.

PRAISE GOD! PRAISE GOD! Finally, we are hearing Dr. Abrahamsen's voice. I look forward to reading more of the truth. The truth will prevail!

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 09:38 AM

Calvin,

I noticed that Johann also posted the segments of this letter over at Club Adventist with the exact wording and conditions as stated here, however, Johann did post it there without giving a URL to this topic, therefore, I have invited Johann to also post it over at MSDAOL.

And, yes, Calvin, this definitely makes it clear that something really is rotten in the state of Denmark, as Shakespeare would say.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 09:56 AM

Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section Three.

Considering the urgency of the situation I allowed the conversations to resume. Linda knew, with her high profile status, that confiding with local people regarding these issues would be very bad for the ministry. I had given counsel to people in difficulty in the past and felt I could be helpful from a distance in this situation. I encouraged Linda to fight for her marriage and ministry many times. This she really did, but she often had to leave her home to find refuge at her daughter's apartment in Springfield, even in the middle of the night because of Danny's behavior. At times like these she was afraid of him. She always returned to her home after a couple of days seeking to try to mend the marriage, but Danny would not allow this.

During the spring of 2004 Danny called my pastor in Norway. Danny tried to get me kicked out as an elder and as a member of the church. My pastor told me about the conversation and he said, "He is mentally sick, he needs professional help."

I find it very disturbing that Walt Thompson defended and continues to defend Danny although he was a witness repeatedly to the emotional and mental abuse that was taking place. At one point he witnessed Danny "trashing" his wife for five hours. I also find it disturbing that John Lomacang, Linda's former pastor, claims to have counseled extensively with Danny and Linda when this was far from the truth. During the months of April and May of 2004, when most of the activity was occurring in this situation, Linda NEVER saw John, who was supposed to be her pastor.

Coincidentally the handful of people supporting Danny and defending his actions has gained either power, position, airtime, homes, public endorsement or all of the above.

Stay Tuned for another section - or more

Posted by: simplysaved Jul 14 2006, 10:20 AM

Is it being suggested that Danny Shelton may have bipolar disorder and that this is reason for his choices over the past few years?

Will Dr. Abrahamsen be willing to do an interview here at BSDA related to what is presented in the letter?

The other question that I have related to the letter posted (in segments) is will/has the doctor formally sent the letter to:

1. NAD
2. 3ABN Board of Directors
3. All persons mentioned in the letter

Posted by: calvin Jul 14 2006, 10:24 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 10:38 AM) ☐
>
> Calvin,
>
> I noticed that Johann also posted the segments of this letter over at Club Adventist with the exact wording and conditions as stated here, however, Johann did post it there without giving a URL to this topic, therefore, I have invited Johann to also post it over at MSDAOL.
>
> And, yes, Calvin, this definitely makes it clear that something really is rotten in the state of Denmark, as Shakespeare would say.

That is good to hear Daryl. Now have you and CA opened up the letter to everyone to read or still hiding? It is now on the net, if available here, it is available everywhere. Why the privacy?

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 10:31 AM

Calvin,

I have placed the 3ABN topics into a forum that all Seventh-day Adventists can read.

Even though it is very public here, I prefer not to open it to the whole world there.

I also think Club Adventist isn't opening it up for the whole world to read either.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 10:32 AM

> QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Jul 14 2006, 10:32 AM) ☐
>
> I appreciate you posting this but I have a couple of questions? If nothing happened as Danny says, did Linda and the Dr. ever have a relationship after the fact? Also, what happened to Danny's ex son in law? Why did him and Melody divorce? Was he also fired from 3ABN? Or was he too uncomfortable to work there?

When Linda was fired by 3ABN she suddenly was without any medical insurance. Before the divorce she went to see a physician together with Danny, and he discovered something that had to be taken care of. Since she had no insurance Dr. Arild Abrahamsen offered to give her treatments without any charge. So Linda, and my wife, Irmgard, were often together in his treatment room - and Linda was also present at her funeral in the Adventist Church, Bergen, Norway. On that occasion Linda came forward and expressed her gratitute for Irmgard remaining a friend when all others abandoned her.

As for Danny's ex-son-in-law, there is coming something about him in another section. His story is so sad that he might not feel comfortable if I tell too much. I'll ask him privately how much he will let me give you of his story and encounter with the Shelton family.

Posted by: sister Jul 14 2006, 10:39 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Jul 14 2006, 11:20 AM) ☐
>
> Is it being suggested that Danny Shelton may have bipolar disorder and that this is reason for his choices over the past few years?

> Will Dr. Abrahamsen be willing to do an interview here at BSDA related to what is presented in the letter?
>
> The other question that I have related to the letter posted (in segments) is will/has the doctor formally sent the letter to:
>
> 1. NAD
> 2. 3ABN Board of Directors
> 3. All persons mentioned in the letter

Dr. A has stated, "I could see from my 35 years of experience as a physician that Danny was a psychopath." Bipolar disorder and being a psychopath are two very different conditions.

would say the following is a better discription of Danny Shelton's condition than biopolar disorder:

The standard clinical test for psychopathy, Robert Hare's PCL-R, evaluates 20 personality traits overall, but a subset of eight traits defines what he calls the "corporate psychopath" — the nonviolent person prone to the selfish, callous, and remorseless use of others." What environment is conducive for the attributes of a corporate psychopath" to combine with those of a "charismatic psychopath"? "Charismatic Psychopaths are charming, attractive liars. They are usually gifted at some talent or another, and they use it to their advantage in manipulating others. They are usually fast-talkers, and possess an almost demonic ability to persuade others out of everything they own, even their lives. Leaders of religious sects or cults, for example, might be psychopaths... often they come to believe in their own fictions. They are irresistible." Unfortunately, ndependent ministries, without external accountability, can become the ideal environment for this type of ndividual to prosper.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 10:50 AM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Jul 14 2006, 06:20 PM)
>
> Is it being suggested that Danny Shelton may have bipolar disorder and that this is reason for his choices over the past few years?
>
> Will Dr. Abrahamsen be willing to do an interview here at BSDA related to what is presented in the letter?
>
> The other question that I have related to the letter posted (in segments) is will/has the doctor formally sent the letter to:
>
> 1. NAD
> 2. 3ABN Board of Directors
> 3. All persons mentioned in the letter

'm in the process of mailing this to all involved - and anyone else who might be interested. If you can get me he e-mail addresses to all the members of the 3ABN Board of Directors I would be delighted. These have been witheld until now. Wonder why?

f you have friends or foes you'd like to share it with, I'll send you an original copy of the whole letter if you send me your e-mail address to

<johann@direkte.org>

Posted by: watchbird Jul 14 2006, 11:35 AM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 10:31 AM)
>
> Calvin,
>
> I have placed the 3ABN topics into a forum that all Seventh-day Adventists can read.
>
> Even though it is very public here, I prefer not to open it to the whole world there.

Daryl, surely you do not you think that only Adventists watch 3ABN. And if non-Adventists have heard the accusations and have risked their monies thinking they were giving direct to the Lord --- then shouldn't non-Adventists also have an equal opportunity to hear the other side of the stories?

> QUOTE
>
> I also think Club Adventist isn't opening it up for the whole world to read either.

So? Surely you aren't saying that you want your forum to be a carbon copy of Club Adventist.

Maybe you should give this whole thing a little more thought.

Posted by: September Jul 14 2006, 11:48 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 14 2006, 01:35 PM)
>
> Daryl, surely you do not you think that only Adventists watch 3ABN. And if non-Adventists have heard the accusations and have risked their monies thinking they were giving direct to the Lord --- then shouldn't non-Adventists also have an equal opportunity to hear the other side of the stories?
> So? Surely you aren't saying that you want your forum to be a carbon copy of Club Adventist.
>
> Maybe you should give this whole thing a little more thought.

I am one of those non-Adventists and I surely appreciate being able to read this and get the truth of this situation since I have long had suspicions. I was a member of CA, but found that I had to pay to read anything pertaining to 3ABN there. Fortunately I was directed here where the forum is open to anyone.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 11:48 AM

I think it may be appropriate to post something for all to see, but I would prefer that be done in an open environment in a different way than the way it is being done in our various forums.

What I will do is open up a new topic over at MSDAOL and see what the feeling is there about this.

Posted by: calvin Jul 14 2006, 11:50 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 14 2006, 11:35 AM)

> Daryl, surely you do not you think that only Adventists watch 3ABN. And if non-Adventists have heard the accusations and have risked their monies thinking they were giving direct to the Lord --- then shouldn't non-Adventists also have an equal opportunity to hear the other side of the stories?
> So? Surely you aren't saying that you want your forum to be a carbon copy of Club Adventist.
>
> Maybe you should give this whole thing a little more thought.

They have their reasons. Have to respect their decision to run their boards as they see fit.

Posted by: Clay Jul 14 2006, 12:11 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 12:50 PM)
>
> They have their reasons. Have to respect their decision to run their boards as they see fit.

yep.... even when it doesn't make any sense.... IMO of course...

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 14 2006, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 14 2006, 12:35 PM)
>
> And if non-Adventists have heard the accusations and have risked their monies thinking they were giving direct to the Lord --- then shouldn't non-Adventists also have an equal opportunity to hear the other side of the stories? So? Surely you aren't saying that you want your forum to be a carbon copy of Club Adventist.

I agree with Calvin, that it is your decision, Daryl, ultimately. However, I still think there are good people in the Adventist Church who cannot participate in perpetuating a lie.

In addition, non-adventist Christians must also wonder what happened to that Adventist woman with that dog, Fluffy.

I hope they have not walked away, disillusioned, believing absurd things happened that never happened.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 12:18 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 02:50 PM)
>
> They have their reasons. Have to respect their decision to run their boards as they see fit.

We are definitely not a carbon copy of any forum.

And, thank you, Calvin, for your post. That is what makes each of our forums unique.

Posted by: Clay Jul 14 2006, 12:25 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 12:18 PM)
>
> We are definitely not a carbon copy of any forum.
>
> And, thank you, Calvin, for your post. That is what makes each of our forums unique.

Uniqueness is overrated......

your forum and CA use the same or similiar software for the board? Your forum and CA choose to hide the info on 3abn so the "public" won't see it... while those two things don't make carbon copies, it is interesting....

Maybe its an adventist thing to hide the flaws and not discuss those issues unless they are glaring... otherwise deny, deny, deny..... just an observation..

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 14 2006, 12:45 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 14 2006, 11:50 AM)
>
> I'm in the process of mailing this to all involved - and anyone else who might be interested. If you can get me the e-mail addresses to all the members of the 3ABN Board of Directors I would be delighted. These have been witheld until now. Wonder why?
>
> If you have friends or foes you'd like to share it with, I'll send you an original copy of the whole letter if you send me your e-mail address to
>
> <johann@direkte.org>

There would be no reason to waste your time on the 3ABN Board of Followers . They are followers, Johann. They direct nothing that I can see.

The Chairman of the 3ABN Board of Followers is, most likely, at the point where he can no longer entertain any other versions than the ones he has allowed to be published under his name.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 14 2006, 11:50 AM)
>
> I'm in the process of mailing this to all involved
> <johann@direkte.org>

A copy, signed by Dr. Arild Abrahamsen, should be mailed to the Adventist Today mailing address.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 03:27 PM

Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section Four

At one point I had a conversation with Walt Thompson, Chairman of the Board of 3ABN. He asked me to stop all communication with Linda. This had also been communicated to Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson and others. I told him that it was obviously Danny's plan to isolate Linda from everyone at a time when she needed help. To me it was the Christian thing to answer her phone calls and the only humane thing to do for someone who was in crisis. Others did not come to Linda's aid because they did not want to lose whatever benefit they gained from 3ABN, whether it be a job, programming, promotions, etc. Walt was also the one who phoned Linda when she was suspended from the ministry by her husband. He instructed her that she must not come to the ministry (which she co-founded) without calling ahead of time because she must be supervised when at 3ABN. Danny broke into a locked bathroom to forcefully take her keys to 3ABN from her. Her hard drive of her computer was confiscated, her contact information taken and even her filing cabinets ravaged, all without any kind of Board action.

Linda was living in an impossible situation. Danny was "in her face" on a regular basis. At times he would say, "If you don't say you're a pathological liar, the marriage and 3ABN is over. If you don't say you're an adulterous woman the marriage and 3ABN is over for you. If you don't say you've given your heart to another man and that he is a demon the marriage and 3ABN is over..... etc." It even reached the point when he demanded her to say "Repeat after me." Johann and I received a couple emails, which said they were from Linda, but they were written by Danny. Linda saw her ministry being destroyed one day at a time. All of this was dehumanizing and terrifying to Linda, who was trying to hold things together. She very much realized what was at stake.

An "investigative committee" was put together by Walt Thompson to look into this situation. They were Walt Thompson, Bill Hulsey, Nick Miller and Kay Kuzma. Danny talked privately at length with each of these people. Linda did not. The committee as a whole never met with Linda at all. In one brief phone conversation with Kay Kuzma she told Linda, "The Board is not interested in you and Danny's personal problems. It is only interested in the fact that the President no longer wants his Vice-President." Johann Thorvaldsson testifies that he spoke with Kay the following day. She told him she was instructed to get Linda used to the idea of not being at 3ABN anymore and to try to get her involved in another ministry.

It's interesting that at the time Danny accused Linda for speaking on the phone to me, that he was in the practice of speaking regularly with Brenda, Linda's "friend." He also visited often with her in her 3ABN apartment in the night. A worker at 3ABN states that Brenda even went golfing with Danny behind Linda's back while she was working. As soon as Brenda saw where the tide was turning, she was no longer Linda's friend. She became an accuser as well.

About May 1, 2004 instructions were given to the production staff to wipe Linda's face off of the network by June 1, again with no Board action. All CD's, videos, literature and photos of Linda were stripped out of the Call Center. She was sent a document a few days later specifying that she was advised to get 30 days of counseling by counselors of "their" choice. If she did not agree to this in writing within 24 hours, her employment could be gone. She requested time for an attorney to look at the document. This was refused. Mail was flooding into the network with Linda's name on it. They were all returned to sender. Her scheduled speaking appointments for women's ministries were sabotaged by those in leadership at 3ABN.

Danny told those who worked for Linda that she was a pathological liar and to stay away from her. (He did not want them to hear the other side of the story.) At one point Linda told Walt that Dan was purposefully ruining her reputation and that she was not willing to be a martyr for 3ABN. Walt's response was "How else are we going to save the ministry?"

Stay tuned for another section of this letter - later

Posted by: Chez Jul 14 2006, 04:09 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 13 2006, 03:00 PM)
>
> Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section Two
> . We also concluded that Linda was in danger.
>
> Things eventually progressed from emotional and mental abuse to physical abuse. In the midst of all this harassment Linda asked Danny, 'Why are you treating me like this?' He answered, 'Because I want you to get out.'
>
> To Be Continued

My husband and I were talking about this. He mentioned the times that Linda was allegedly attacked by a dog. He was speculating about possible physical abuse from Danny.

This man (Danny Shelton) sounds EXTREMELY DANGEROUS! He appears to be a BULLY and those who are his verbal and silent supporters affirm his behavior or his misbehavior. They are co-conspirators or bystanders (supporters) of this madness.

I'M FURIOUS!!!!!!

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 05:17 PM

Thanks to Johann, we actually have the whole letter all in one post.

In other words, we at MSDAOL, already know the rest of the story.

Posted by: sister Jul 14 2006, 06:06 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 06:17 PM)
>
> Thanks to Johann, we actually have the whole letter all in one post.
>
> In other words, we at MSDAOL, already know the rest of the story.

Daryl, you may have the rest of this particular document posted at MSDAOL, but I am sure that your members who do not have access to the hidden 3ABN threads do not know the rest of this story. Even those priviliged few who have access still need to play catch up to have a fraction of the information that Calvin has allowed us to post at BSDA. Perhaps you might like to inform them where they can freely read the rest of the story, without censorship?

This is not the only true account that Johann has posted. But it is a very important revelation of first person testimony. He has also shared his personal interactions with Danny in other threads. Like a tapestry all the information woven together give a more complete picture of the reality of life under the absolute rulership of Danny Shelton, behind the scenes at 3ABN. Linda is only one victim, there are many more. And I am sure, if she were allowed to speak at this time, she would desire to see all Danny's victims vindicated.

Posted by: beartrap Jul 14 2006, 06:14 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jul 14 2006, 07:06 PM)
>
> Daryl, you may have the rest of this particular document posted at MSDAOL, but I am sure that your members who do not have access to the hidden 3ABN threads do not know the rest of this story. Even those priviliged few who have access still need to play catch up to have a fraction of the information that Calvin has allowed us to post at BSDA. Perhaps you might like to inform them where they can freely read the rest of the story, without censorship?
>
> This is not the only true account that Johann has posted. He has also shared his personal interactions with Danny in other threads. Like a tapestry all the information woven together give a more complete picture of the reality of life under the absolute rulership of Danny Shelton, behind the scenes at 3ABN. Linda is only one victim, there are many more. And I am sure, if she were allowed to speak at this time, she would desire to see all Danny's victims vindicated.

Amen Sister!

Posted by: Clay Jul 14 2006, 06:27 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 05:17 PM)
>
> Thanks to Johann, we actually have the whole letter all in one post.
>
> In other words, we at MSDAOL, already know the rest of the story.

whateva..... folks crack me up coming all late to the party, hiding the info they have and then gloating cause they got the last snippet of a letter......

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 14 2006, 06:37 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 08:55 AM)
>
> I believe you have just persuaded me to end much of the skepticism I had and get off the fence. I had been waiting and wanting to hear from the Norwegian doctor that treated Linda's son. It is hard for me to believe that Johann would fabricate this story. This side of the story needs to get out. Daryl, Gregory Matthews, Atoday, you need to point your members here to this story or get Johann's permission publish it at your place.
>
> Johann, thank you for choosing BSDA as the media to get this side of the story out. My heart goes out to anyone who has been wronged and abused. Glad BSDA could help.

...and it's free to all.....

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Jul 14 2006, 11:20 AM)
>
> Is it being suggested that Danny Shelton may have bipolar disorder and that this is reason for his choices over the past few years?

rom all I have read and heard I would do a stab diagnosis as follows:

xis I - [Clinical Disorders/other Conditions that may be of Clinical Attention] Bipolar NOS-296.80;
xis II - [Personality Disorder] Borderline Personality Disorder - 301.83; R/O - Mental Retardation/Aspergers yndrome; xis III -[General Medical Conditions] Deferred -(without medical records);
xis IV -[Psychosocial/Enviromental Problems/Issues] Divorce; Adultery Issues; Sick Child/Relative; mployment Problems; Interpersonal Relationship Problems
xis V- [Global Assessment of Functioning] (GAF) -31

ttp://www.psychnet-uk.com/dsm_iv/_misc/dsm_diagnosis.htm<<<---Click Here

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 14 2006, 01:11 PM)
>
> yep.... even when it doesn't make any sense.... IMO of course...

anny didn't "censor" his statements...why should the truth be censored?

> QUOTE(sister @ Jul 14 2006, 07:06 PM)
>
> Daryl, you may have the rest of this particular document posted at MSDAOL, but I am sure that your members who do not have access to the hidden 3ABN threads do not know the rest of this story. Even those priviliged few who have access still need to play catch up to have a fraction of the information that Calvin has allowed us to post at BSDA. Perhaps you might like to inform them where they can freely read the rest of the story, without censorship?
>
> This is not the only true account that Johann has posted. He has also shared his personal interactions with Danny in other threads. Like a tapestry all the information woven together give a more complete picture of the reality of life under the absolute rulership of Danny Shelton, behind the scenes at 3ABN. Linda is only one victim, there are many more. And I am sure, if she were allowed to speak at this time, she would desire to see all Danny's victims vindicated.

..and it's free to all @ BSDA.....

Posted by: Clay Jul 14 2006, 06:43 PM

Re.... borderline personality disorder.....

Johann... I saw the complete letter on the other site and copied the portion you have yet to post here.... I am posting it here for bsda.....

> QUOTE
>
> About May 1, 2004 instructions were given to the production staff to wipe Linda's face off of the network by June 1, again with no Board action. All CD's, videos, literature and photos of Linda were stripped out of the Call Center. She was sent a document a few days later specifying that she was > advised to get 30 days of counseling by counselors of their" choice. If she did not agree to this in writing within 24 hours, her employment could be gone. She requested time for an attorney to look at the document. This was refused. Mail was flooding into the network with Linda's name on it. They were all returned to sender. Her scheduled speaking appointments for women's ministries were sabotaged by those in leadership at 3ABN.

Danny told those who worked for Linda that she was a pathological liar and to stay away from her. (He did not want them to hear the other side of the story.) At one point Linda told Walt that Dan was purposefully ruining her reputation and that she was not willing to be a martyr for 3ABN. Walt's response was "How else are we going to save the ministry?"

Rumors of Linda's so-called "affair" were flying throughout the churches and the General Conference in May of 2004, rumors which were begun by her husband. It was communicated to me that Linda was going to be fired at the Board meeting, which would occur in May, following the 3ABN camp meeting.
Johann and I decided to go to the camp meeting and talk to the Board members and tell them the truth about the situation. When we walked into the 3ABN building we were surrounded by about 10 people. One person stood directly behind me for the entire service. Walt Thompson and Nick Miller (3ABN's attorney) asked us to leave. We stayed until nearly the end of the service. (At this camp meeting an announcement was made regarding Linda. There were tearful appeals by Danny, which raised a record-breaking amount of money for 3ABN. Danny also claims that an additional two million dollars was raised the year of their divorce.) When Johann and I went to the door, once again we were followed by a small crowd of people. I spoke to Mark Finley about the situation at length in the parking lot. John Lomacang tried to stop the conversation. He said 'It is not good for you to talk to him alone.' What was he afraid of? He was standing with me when Danny drove up and said that if I returned to camp meeting I would be arrested and thrown in jail. He had already talked to the Sheriff. I decided to not return, as it was Mark Finley's suggestion to avoid the possibility of disrupting the camp meeting for all of the people attending. Linda was staying in her daughter's apartment in Springfield, so we drove there on Saturday to stay in a hotel for the weekend. During this weekend we were followed by three private investigators all the time. What kind of actions was that, for a man that REALLY wanted to save his marriage?

It is my understanding that a one-sided conversation was illegally taped by Danny towards the end of May. With a mind set on framing his wife, her words have been misconstrued into saying what he wants people to think. She mentions a trip to Las Vegas. He explains to all that she is planning a rendezvous with "the doctor." In reality for weeks he has offered Linda larger and larger sums of money for her to go to Las Vegas and stay with her mother for six weeks to acquire residency, a requirement for couples that want a quick divorce. For weeks she refused. SHE NEVER WANTED A DIVORCE.

The events of the previous months eventually bring her to the place where she thinks this is maybe what she should do. She knew a separation was necessary. Danny takes her words from the phone call and adds his insinuations. He makes photo copies of her one sided conversation and distributes it. This is his main source of "proof" for his actions and re-marriage. They call it circumstantial evidence." To further cover their tracks Linda's accusers say that for her sake they don't want to tell "all she has done." They say this so people will accept their statements and imagine the worst. This is slander of the worst kind all coming from professed Christians.

Johann says he was fired from 3ABN for refusing to attest to something false Danny wanted him to put in writing about Linda. Derrell Mundall, Danny's ex-son-in-law, says he was given the option to resign or be fired because of his actions defending Linda. Others quit their jobs because they could not support the actions of the leaders. There is one thing many of these people have in common. Anyone who disagrees with Danny is slandered and discredited.

It's interesting that Danny's daughter recently was found to be pregnant out of wedlock. A quick wedding followed when Derrell, (her ex-husband & father of their four children), claims she had no grounds for re-marriage. It's also interesting that nobody asked Derrell about the issue of grounds at all when he was still a resident in Thompsonville. Also another married Shelton family member had a romantic encounter recently with a married employee of 3ABN. They were instructed to keep it quiet. They did. They all still work at 3ABN, and Melody is featured on the network. Is 3ABN all about standing for principle and values, or standing for those who happen to be in good graces with the President and the Shelton family ?

Another question that seems to be in the minds of many is "Why was Linda given $240,000 when all claim she was fired for a wrongdoing?" The only reason Linda signed this 3ABN contract was because she needed money to escape from a very irregular, abusive and impossible situation. Danny forced her to sign not only this contract, but another contract which sold him her half of their joint-owned home the same day.

Linda has suffered much emotional trauma and humiliation from all of this. She still has nightmares about these events. She did not feel ready to face the people of the SDA church for six months after all of this occurred. I encouraged her to begin again. She went for the first time around the end of November of 2004 in Springfield. The people welcomed her. She requested her membership to be transferred out of the Thompsonville church into the Springfield church in December of 2004. The Springfield pastor had previously worked at 3ABN and knew Linda. He did not believe the rumors and encouraged the church to put her to work. It was a healing time for her to teach Sabbath School and occasionally preach.

In June of 2005 things changed. Pastor Grady was transferred out of the Springfield church, although he wanted to stay, and a pastor from 3ABN was moved into the church. Within two weeks John Stanton met with Linda and told her she would be doing nothing on the platform. She told him that the church really needed the help and she hoped that if she was asked once in two months to teach a Sabbath School class that she would be able to do this. He told her that the orders had come from the conference level. (The Illinois conference President sits on 3ABN's Board and his parents work for 3ABN.) During our visit to the General Conference Session Johann and I visited with this pastor. He told us he thought Linda was a liar. I TOLD HIM THAT LINDA HAD NEVER BEEN UNFAITHFUL TO HER HUSBAND and that all the rumors from her husband were lies. But this man had TV interests to pursue and he was in close connection with Danny and John Lomacang.

The last week of October 2005, a letter came to Linda from John Lomacang, the pastor of the Thompsonville (3ABN) church. It stated that the church board had voted "to call a church business session to recommend to the church that you be placed under censure." Linda called John to ask him why.
He said it was because she had abandoned her marriage and ministry, which led to her divorce. (This is what Danny refers to as "grounds" to re-marry.) Linda planned to address the church business meeting. She wrote to Danny requesting a release from the restrictions of the contract she signed so she could openly share her side of the story. Danny denied this request. Because of this she felt forced to drop her membership there and then join another SDA church. This decision was made after much counsel with several SDA's. It's interesting that this recommendation for censure came almost 18 months after the fact. (Which kind of practice is this? Special for USA?) It's also interesting that all of this occurred while Danny was trying to gather evidence against Linda so he could re-marry.

Danny Shelton and the leadership of 3ABN are responsible for using the ministry of 3ABN to bring character assassination to Linda and others. In Linda's case, television and radio announcements were made denouncing her character. There was an announcement on the front page of 3ABN's website for many months. About 180,000 letters about Linda were sent to the mailing list at 3ABN. Videos about her were made and distributed. Magazine articles were written and submitted. Mailings were made to church officials. Many calls were taken at 3ABN where slanderous remarks about Linda were given over the phone. Many letters containing completely false statements were sent to many individuals. Danny even made his personal email address available over 3ABN so people could write to him and obtain his side of the story. They did a thorough job of character assassination.

Now two years later the "trashing" continues. It is inexcusable, especially for a proclaimed Christian ministry.

In conclusion I want to clearly state that I have not committed adultery (emotional, physical, "spiritual"), and neither has Linda. The conversations we had were not unusual or inappropriate. Linda is the victim of domestic violence, only this has resulted in worldwide effects for our Church.

Linda has sought for help at the General Conference level. She has sought the aid of pastors. No one has an answer. She has tried repeatedly to meet with a committee from the Board of 3ABN. This request has not been granted. Still the bulk emails and letters flow from 3ABN slandering the innocent.

This has been the most ungodly situation I have observed in my entire life. Any who find themselves not in good graces with Danny Shelton will find that their name is discredited and slandered in an attempt to destroy their influence. Linda has suffered the most with the loss of her job, her influence and reputation. But many others, including myself, have felt the heat coming from what is supposed to be a ministry representing Jesus Christ. This is an outrage. This is unacceptable. Accountability > of leaders is a must. (Can bad fruits come from good trees?) As Christians, it > is our duty to demand accountability and a high standard from leaders. I hope this testimony will fulfill the mission intended.

>
> Respectfully,
>
> Dr. Arild Abrahamsen

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 14 2006, 06:56 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 14 2006, 07:43 PM)
>
> Re.... borderline personality disorder.....

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Borderline_Personality_Disorder<<<--Click Here

http://www.stanford.edu/~corelli/borderline.html<<<--Click Here http://www.webmd.com/hw/mental_health/ty6803.asp<<<--Click Here

---

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 07:37 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 14 2006, 09:43 PM)
>
> Re.... borderline personality disorder.....
>
> Johann... I saw the complete letter on the other site and copied the portion you have yet to post here.... I am posting it here for bsda.....

Steve,

am personally glad you did that, as I personally dislike this one at a time, and particularly delayed sectional postings.

Posted by: rwelchcrs Jul 14 2006, 08:05 PM

I have been following this developing story for months. I think it has reached the point in which other ministries that use 3ABN for airtime should wake up and seriously consider pulling their programs off 3ABN and transferring to the HOPE Channel. The 3ABN scandal will cast it's shadow on other ministries by association once the general rank and file SDA membership get the true picture. I especially hope the people at Amazing Facts are paying attention.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Jul 14 2006, 08:19 PM

It certainly is a wake up call!!!!!

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 14 2006, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 07:19 PM)
>
> It certainly is a wake up call!!!!!

Now we gotta pray everyone wakes up and call's it out on the table, enough is enough. Linda needs her life back, and a HUGE apology from everyone who set out to destroy her. I'm sure she would just be happy with a life of minstry to others, as that is all she wants.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 08:27 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 15 2006, 02:43 AM)
>
> Re.... borderline personality disorder.....
>
> Johann... I saw the complete letter on the other site and copied the portion you have yet to post here.... I am posting it here for bsda.....

Thanks, Clay . . . I was going to do it, then fell asleep. Just woke up and was going to do it - here during the middle of the night - and then I discovered you got it.

Posted by: Observer Jul 14 2006, 09:45 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 07:55 AM)
>
> I believe you have just persuaded me to end much of the skepticism I had and get off the fence. I had been waiting and wanting to hear from the Norwegian doctor that treated Linda's son. It is hard for me to believe that Johann would fabricate this story. This side of the story needs to get out. Daryl, Gregory Matthews, Atoday, you need to point your members here to this story or get Johann's permission publish it at your place.
>
> Johann, thank you for choosing BSDA as the media to get this side of the story out. My heart goes out to anyone who has been wronged and abused. Glad BSDA could help.

Club Adventist has been publishing this letter all along in their 3ABN section.

Posted by: Johann Jul 14 2006, 10:01 PM

For those who like to read the whole letter in one setting, here it is again:

June 20, 2006

Greetings from Norway;

My name is Dr. Arild Abrahamsen. I live in Svindal, Norway. I have been a medical doctor for more than 35 years. I am a member of the Moss SDA Church. I've been the Sabbath School Superintendent for 14 years and the head elder for 4 years, which position I am presently serving. I am the Norwegian doctor who has been slandered by Dr. Walt Thompson, chairman of the board of 3ABN, Danny Shelton, John Lomacang and others.

Since I have observed the situation and the slander only getting worse, I feel it best to share my experience. I share my personal experience, what I have seen and heard. Much of this information has been verified by other sources, which include emails, letters and the personal experiences of others. I share my experience not to attack any individual or organization, but to bring the truth of this situation to the surface.

I have been shocked to observe the events of the last two years. I have made no public statement until now. I had hoped things would resolve themselves.

I visited Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson at 3ABN the last week of 2003. The purpose of the trip was to see them and visit the ministry, which I personally had been supporting for some time. I had never been to 3ABN previously, nor had I met the Shelton's. During this visit I discovered from the Thorvaldsson's that Linda Shelton's son, Nathan, was in a dangerous state of health because of an addiction to drugs and working in coalmines. I offered to see him. This visit resulted in an invitation for Nathan to come to Norway for treatments. Nathan came to Norway around January 20, 2004 along with his friend, Dava Vice. Linda came for a 3-½ day visit to support her son, the first week of February together with Brenda Walsh. This was the last time I saw Linda until the weekend she was fired.

I had a chance to visit with Nathan regularly. I learned from my conversations with Nathan that the roots of his drug problems were the relationships with his father and stepfather. Specifically he told me that Danny had turned his back on him. I shared this information with his mother on the phone. She told me that Danny said he had no responsibility towards Nathan since he was a product of her first marriage, so she felt she had to do what she could to help her son. There was nothing unusual in the occasional phone reports I gave Nathan's mother while he was in Norway. After Nathan returned home, I asked Linda to keep me updated on Nathan's progress.

I was shocked to discover in early March of 2004 that Danny was threatening to get Linda fired from 3ABN because of some conversations on the phone. In fact, she was threatened immediately with divorce. By this time Nathan had started with drugs again and Linda was seeking advice. I was also shocked to discover that Brenda had started circulating untrue statements as well. (Was it because Danny had admitted to some emotional involvement with Brenda?) I talked to Danny one time on the phone and found him to be unreasonable, unbalanced and very difficult to communicate with. Johann Thorvaldsson, a retired pastor of the SDA Church of 50 years, also was in communication with Danny, both by phone and email. We talked together and shared the same opinion that Danny was acting completely irrational and unreasonable towards his wife. It appeared he was attempting to leave an email trail filled with untruths to verify a position at a later time. The decision was made to stop the communication by phone with Linda.

Some weeks went by. Johann and Irmgard were getting treatments at my clinic and staying in my home during the Easter week in April, so I discovered from them that the situation was not improving for Linda. She was being harassed, threatened, and unreasonable demands by her husband were repeatedly being made to confess things she had not done. By this time, she was also suspended from her job at 3ABN, an order that was issued and enforced by her husband with no Board action. Things were so bad in the home that she found it necessary to go to her daughter's home in Springfield, Illinois for safety and rest on several occasions. Derrell Mundall, who was traveling often for 3ABN, reports rumors of Linda's so-called "affair" were in SDA churches in April 2004, when Linda was still living with Danny. When he inquired about the source of the rumors, people always pointed to Danny Shelton.

I could see from my 35 years of experience as a physician that Danny was a psychopath. accusations were directed at me that I had done "mind control" over Linda. (Walt Thompson made the same accusations in his letters.) Linda was accused of sending "secret messages" to me over the television.

Danny's emails and communications with Johann were completely crazy, and his reasoning often conflicted with his previous emails. Danny targeted Linda's few inner circle confidants and slandered her to the point that even they backed away from her at this critical time. (Linda's "friends" did not want to lose their television privileges.) Johann and I concluded this was a man who was determined to get rid of his wife. We also concluded that Linda was in danger.

Things eventually progressed from emotional and mental abuse to physical abuse. In the midst of all this harassment Linda asked Danny, 'Why are you treating me like this?' He answered, 'Because I want you to get out.'

Considering the urgency of the situation I allowed the conversations to resume. Linda knew, with her high profile status, that confiding with local people regarding these issues would be very bad for the ministry. I had given counsel to people in difficulty in the past and felt I could be helpful from a distance in this situation. I encouraged Linda to fight for her marriage and ministry many times. This she really did, but she often had to leave her home to find refuge at her daughter's apartment in Springfield, even in the middle of the night because of Danny's behavior. At times like these she was afraid of him. She always returned to her home after a couple of days seeking to try to mend the marriage, but Danny would not allow this.

During the spring of 2004 Danny called my pastor in Norway. Danny tried to get me kicked out as an elder and as a member of the church. My pastor told me about the conversation and he said, "He is mentally sick, he needs professional help."

I find it very disturbing that Walt Thompson defended and continues to defend Danny although he was a witness repeatedly to the emotional and mental abuse that was taking place. At one point he witnessed Danny "trashing" his wife for five hours. I also find it disturbing that John Lomacang, Linda's former pastor, claims to have counseled extensively with Danny and Linda when this was far from the truth. During the months of April and May of 2004, when most of the activity was ccurring in this situation, Linda NEVER saw John, who was supposed to be her pastor.

Coincidentally the handful of people supporting Danny and defending his actions has gained either power, position, airtime, homes, public endorsement or all of the above.

At one point I had a conversation with Walt Thompson, Chairman of the Board of 3ABN. He asked me to stop all communication with Linda. This had also been communicated to Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson and others. I told him that it was obviously Danny's plan to isolate Linda from everyone at a time when she needed help. To me it was the Christian thing to answer her phone calls and the only humane thing to do for someone who was in crisis.

Others did not come to Linda's aid because they did not want to lose whatever benefit they gained from 3ABN, whether it be a job, programming, promotions, etc. Walt was also the one who phoned Linda when she was suspended from the ministry by her husband. He instructed her that she must not come to the ministry (which she co-founded) without calling ahead of time because she must be supervised when at 3ABN. Danny broke into a locked bathroom to forcefully take her keys to 3ABN from her. Her hard drive of her computer was confiscated, her contact information taken and even her filing cabinets ravaged, all without any kind of Board action.

Linda was living in an impossible situation. Danny was "in her face" on a regular basis. At times he would say, "If you don't say you're a pathological liar, the marriage and 3ABN is over. If you don't say you're an adulterous woman the marriage and 3ABN is over for you. If you don't say you've given your heart to another man and that he is a demon the marriage and 3ABN is over..... etc." It even reached the point when he demanded her to say "Repeat after me." Johann and I received a couple emails, which said they were from Linda, but they were written by Danny. Linda saw her ministry being destroyed one day at a time. All of this was dehumanizing and terrifying to Linda, who was trying to hold things together. She very much realized what was at stake.

An "investigative committee" was put together by Walt Thompson to look into this situation. They were Walt Thompson, Bill Hulsey, Nick Miller and Kay Kuzma. Danny talked privately at length with each of these people. Linda did not. The committee as a whole never met with Linda at all. In one brief phone conversation with Kay Kuzma she told Linda, "The Board is not interested in you and Danny's personal problems. It is only interested in the fact that the President no longer wants his Vice-President." Johann Thorvaldsson testifies that he spoke with Kay the following day. She told him she was instructed to get Linda used to the idea of not being at 3ABN anymore and to try to get her involved in another ministry.

It's interesting that at the time Danny accused Linda for speaking on the phone to me, that he was in the practice of speaking regularly with Brenda, Linda's "friend." He also visited often with her in her 3ABN apartment in the night. A worker at 3ABN states that Brenda even went golfing with Danny behind Linda's back while she was working. As soon as Brenda saw where the tide was turning, she was no longer Linda's friend. She became an accuser as well.

About May 1, 2004 instructions were given to the production staff to wipe Linda's face off of the network by June 1, again with no Board action.

All CD's, videos, literature and photos of Linda were stripped out of the Call Center. She was sent a document a few days later specifying that she was advised to get 30 days of counseling by counselors of "their" choice. If she did not agree to this in writing within 24 hours, her employment could be gone. She requested time for an attorney to look at the document. This was refused. Mail was flooding into the network with Linda's name on it. They were all returned to sender. Her scheduled speaking appointments for women's ministries were sabotaged by those in leadership at 3ABN. Danny told those who worked for Linda that she was a pathological liar and to stay away from her. (He did not want them to hear the other side of the story.) At one point Linda told Walt that Dan was purposefully ruining her reputation and that she was not willing to be a martyr for 3ABN. Walt's response was "How else are we going to save the ministry?"

Rumors of Linda's so-called "affair" were flying throughout the churches and the General Conference in May of 2004, rumors which were begun by her husband. It was communicated to me that Linda was going to be fired at the Board meeting, which would occur in May, following the 3ABN camp meeting. Johann and I decided to go to the camp meeting and talk to the Board members and tell them the truth about the situation. When we walked into the 3ABN building we were surrounded by about 10 people. One person stood directly behind me for the entire service. Walt Thompson and Nick Miller (3ABN's attorney) asked us to leave. We stayed until nearly the end of the service. (At this camp meeting an announcement was made regarding Linda. There were tearful appeals by Danny, which raised a record-breaking amount of money for 3ABN. Danny also claims that an additional two million dollars was raised the year of their divorce.) When Johann and I went to the door, once again we were followed by a small crowd of people. I spoke to Mark Finley about the situation at length in the parking lot. John Lomacang tried to stop the conversation. He said 'It is not good for you to talk to him alone.' What was he afraid of? He was standing with me when Danny drove up and said that if I returned to camp meeting I would be arrested and thrown in jail. He had already talked to the Sheriff. I decided to not return, as it was Mark Finley's suggestion to avoid the possibility of disrupting the camp meeting for all of the people attending. Linda was staying in her daughter's apartment in Springfield, so we drove there on Saturday to stay in a hotel for the weekend. During this weekend we were followed by three private investigators all the time. What kind of actions was that, for a man that REALLY wanted to save his marriage?

It is my understanding that a one-sided conversation was illegally taped by Danny towards the end of May. With a mind set on framing his wife, her words have been misconstrued into saying what he wants people to think. She mentions a trip to Las Vegas. He explains to all that she is planning a rendezvous with "the doctor." In reality for weeks he has offered Linda larger and larger sums of money for her to go to Las Vegas and stay with her mother for six weeks to acquire residency, a requirement for couples that want a quick divorce. For weeks she refused. SHE NEVER WANTED A DIVORCE.

The events of the previous months eventually bring her to the place where she thinks this is maybe what she should do. She knew a separation was necessary. Danny takes her words from the phone call and adds his insinuations. He makes photo copies of her one sided conversation and distributes it. This is his main source of "proof" for his actions and re-marriage. They call it circumstantial evidence." To further cover their tracks Linda's accusers say that for her sake they don't want to tell "all she has done." They say this so people will accept their statements and imagine the worst. This is slander of the worst kind all coming from professed Christians.

Johann says he was fired from 3ABN for refusing to attest to something false Danny wanted him to put in writing about Linda. Derrell Mundall, Danny's ex-son-in-law, says he was given the option to resign or be fired because of his actions defending Linda. Others quit their jobs because they could not support the actions of the leaders. There is one thing many of these people have in common. Anyone who disagrees with Danny is slandered and discredited.

It's interesting that Danny's daughter recently was found to be pregnant out of wedlock. A quick wedding followed when Derrell, (her ex-husband & father of their four children), claims she had no grounds for re-marriage. It's also interesting that nobody asked Derrell about the issue of grounds at all when he was still a resident in Thompsonville. Also another married Shelton family member had a romantic encounter recently with a married employee of 3ABN. They were instructed to keep it quiet. They did. They all still work at 3ABN, and Melody is featured on the network. Is 3ABN all about standing for principle and values, or standing for those who happen to be in good graces with the President and the Shelton family ?

Another question that seems to be in the minds of many is "Why was Linda given $240,000 when all claim she was fired for a wrongdoing?" The only reason Linda signed this 3ABN contract was because she needed money to escape from a very irregular, abusive and impossible situation. Danny forced her to sign not only this contract, but another contract which sold him her half of their joint-owned home the same day.

Linda has suffered much emotional trauma and humiliation from all of this. She still has nightmares about these events. She did not feel ready to face the people of the SDA church for six months after all of this occurred. I encouraged her to begin again. She went for the first time around the end of November of 2004 in Springfield. The people welcomed her. She requested her membership to be transferred out of the Thompsonville church into the Springfield church in December of 2004. The Springfield pastor had previously worked at 3ABN and knew Linda. He did not believe the rumors and encouraged the church to put her to work. It was a healing time for her to teach Sabbath School and occasionally preach.

In June of 2005 things changed. Pastor Grady was transferred out of the Springfield church, though he wanted to stay, and a pastor from 3ABN was moved into the church. Within two weeks John Stanton met with Linda and told her she would be doing nothing on the platform. She told him that the church really needed the help and she hoped that if she was asked once in two months to teach a Sabbath School class that she would be able to do this. He told her that the orders had come from the conference level. (The Illinois conference President sits on 3ABN's Board and his parents work for 3ABN.) During our visit to the General Conference Session Johann and I visited with this pastor. He told us he thought Linda was a liar. I TOLD HIM THAT LINDA HAD NEVER BEEN UNFAITHFUL TO HER HUSBAND and that all the rumors from her husband were lies. But this man had TV interests to pursue and he was in close connection with Danny and John Lomacang.

The last week of October 2005, a letter came to Linda from John Lomacang, the pastor of the Thompsonville (3ABN) church. It stated that the church board had voted "to call a church business session to recommend to the church that you be placed under censure." Linda called John to ask him why. He said it was because she had abandoned her marriage and ministry, which led to her divorce. (This is what Danny refers to as "grounds" to re-marry.) Linda planned to address the church business meeting. She wrote to Danny requesting a release from the restrictions of the contract she signed so she could openly share her side of the story. Danny denied this request. Because of this she felt forced to drop her membership there and then join another SDA church. This decision was made after much counsel with several SDA's. It's interesting that this recommendation for censure came almost 18 months after the fact. (Which kind of practice is this? Special for USA?) It's also interesting that all of this occurred while Danny was trying to gather evidence against Linda so he could re-marry.

Danny Shelton and the leadership of 3ABN are responsible for using the ministry of 3ABN to bring character assassination to Linda and others. In Linda's case, television and radio announcements were made denouncing her character. There was an announcement on the front page of 3ABN's website for many months. About 180,000 letters about Linda were sent to the mailing list at 3ABN. Videos about her were made and distributed. Magazine articles were written and submitted. Mailings were made to church officials. Many calls were taken at 3ABN where slanderous remarks about Linda were given over the phone. Many letters containing completely false statements were sent to many individuals. Danny even made his personal email address available over 3ABN so people could write to him and obtain his side of the story. They did a thorough job of character assassination.

Now two years later the "trashing" continues. It is inexcusable, especially for a proclaimed Christian ministry.

In conclusion I want to clearly state that I have not committed adultery (emotional, physical, "spiritual"), and neither has Linda. The conversations we had were not unusual or inappropriate. Linda is the victim of domestic violence, only this has resulted in worldwide effects for our Church.

Linda has sought for help at the General Conference level. She has sought the aid of pastors. No one has an answer. She has tried repeatedly to meet with a committee from the Board of 3ABN. This request has not been granted. Still the bulk emails and letters flow from 3ABN slandering the innocent. This has been the most ungodly situation I have observed in my entire life. Any who find themselves not in good graces with Danny Shelton will find that their name is discredited and slandered in an attempt to destroy their influence. Linda has suffered the most with the loss of her job, her influence and reputation. But many others, including myself, have felt the heat coming from what is supposed to be a ministry representing Jesus Christ. This is an outrage. This is unacceptable. Accountability of leaders is a must. (Can bad fruits come from good trees?) As Christians, it is our duty to demand accountability and a high standard from leaders. I hope this testimony will fulfill the mission intended.

Respectfully,

Dr. Arild Abrahamsen

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 14 2006, 10:02 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jul 14 2006, 08:45 PM)
>
> Club Adventist has been publishing this letter all along in their 3ABN section.

Yes, but you can't get to it unless you pay money.

Posted by: calvin Jul 14 2006, 10:09 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Jul 14 2006, 12:18 PM)
>
> We are definitely not a carbon copy of any forum.
>
> And, thank you, Calvin, for your post. That is what makes each of our forums unique.

I believe BSDA has gained a lot in creditability as a result of the 3ABN threads. What set BSDA apart from other Adventist discussion venues it that we are a source for open and frank discussion of issues or anything facing our church...but of course we already knew that before the 3ABN saga. No hidden or special membership only discussion forums here. Apparently, this is what people are looking for as BSDA continues to grow in number and influence.

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 14 2006, 10:27 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 14 2006, 09:09 PM)
>
> I believe BSDA has gained a lot in creditability as a result of the 3ABN threads. What set BSDA apart from other Adventist discussion venues it that we are a source for open and frank discussion of issues or anything facing our church...but of course we already knew that before the 3ABN saga. No hidden or > special membership only discussion forums here. Apparently, this is what people are looking for as BSDA continues to grow in number and influence.

t's the only way to be.

Posted by: Siriss Jul 14 2006, 11:38 PM

Hmm...Club Adventist is publishing...Maritime is publishing...BSDA is publishing...????

Here all along, I thought it was Johann that was publishing.

Posted by: Clay Jul 14 2006, 11:49 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jul 14 2006, 10:45 PM)
>
> Club Adventist has been publishing this letter all along in their 3ABN section.

nd?

Posted by: Clay Jul 15 2006, 12:42 AM

> QUOTE(Siriss @ Jul 15 2006, 12:38 AM)
>
> Hmm...Club Adventist is publishing...Maritime is publishing...BSDA is publishing...????
>
> Here all along, I thought it was Johann that was publishing.

sda is not publishing.... it is providing the venue for whomever chooses to publish....

Posted by: Observer Jul 15 2006, 05:55 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 14 2006, 11:42 PM)
>
> bsda is not publishing.... it is providing the venue for whomever chooses to publish....

.K. I Will accept 40 lashes with a wet spaghetti noodle for making a factual misstatement.

Posted by: Jewel50 Jul 15 2006, 07:00 AM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Jul 14 2006, 07:05 PM) ☐
>
> I have been following this developing story for months. I think it has reached the point in which other ministries that use 3ABN for airtime should wake up and seriously consider pulling their programs off 3ABN and transferring to the HOPE Channel. The 3ABN scandal will cast it's shadow on other ministries by association once the general rank and file SDA membership get the true picture. I especially hope the people at Amazing Facts are paying attention.

Amen to this. All these people and yes I too hope the people at Amazing Facts will do this if they know what is going on. I have to admit that I would find it hard to believe that they do not. Is it just me or is the Hope channel showing more of Amazing Facts than before?

> QUOTE
>
> Nehemiah was chosen by God because he was willing to cooperate with the Lord as a restorer. Falsehood and intrigue were used to pervert his integrity, but he would not be bribed. He refused to be corrupted by the devices of unprincipled men, who had been hired to do an evil work. He would not allow them to intimidate him into following a cowardly course. When he saw wrong principles being acted upon, he did not stand by as an onlooker, and by his silence give consent. He did not leave the people to conclude that he was standing on the wrong side. He took a firm, unyielding stand for the right. He would not lend one jot of influence to the perversion of the principles that God has established. Whatever the course others might pursue, he could say, "So did not I, because of the fear of God."
> RH, May 2, 1899 par. 6

Posted by: Panama_Pete Jul 15 2006, 09:36 AM

> QUOTE(Jewel50 @ Jul 15 2006, 08:00 AM) ☐
>
> Amen to this. All these people and yes I too hope the people at Amazing Facts will do this if they know what is going on. I have to admit that I would find it hard to believe that they do not. Is it just me or is the Hope channel showing more of Amazing Facts than before?

In our town, the health inspectors are forced to publish their visits to restaurants in the newspaper, just to pressure the restaurants to fix the observed violations. A report to the restaurant about the rat turds, by itself, does not produce any urgency on the part of the restaurants. When customers read the newspaper and stop visiting the restaurants, that's when the cleaning takes place.

In a similar fashion, the Adventist Church must have received the reports of visible "rat turds" by now. As with restaurants, they need to read about themselves in the newspaper before they can clean house. The Church will do nothing until the general public reads about the turds -- and about the rats from which the turds came.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 15 2006, 11:48 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 15 2006, 12:09 AM)
>
> I believe BSDA has gained a lot in creditability as a result of the 3ABN threads. What set BSDA apart from other Adventist discussion venues it that we are a source for open and frank discussion of issues or anything facing our church...but of course we already knew that before the 3ABN saga. No hidden or special membership only discussion forums here. Apparently, this is what people are looking for as BSDA continues to grow in number and influence.

Dead on pernt!

> QUOTE(Siriss @ Jul 15 2006, 01:38 AM)
>
> Hmm...Club Adventist is publishing...Maritime is publishing...BSDA is publishing...????
>
> Here all along, I thought it was Johann that was publishing.

You gonna be alright. And in all honesty - let's break it down shall we?

IF someone writes a book - it is not that author that is "publishing" per se - but the "publishing company" who puts out the information. That person would be called the author.

Now.

If the Doctor wrote the letter - he wants the information to be out for all to see. He would be the author.

Now.

If Johann is publishing - then he would be the one responsible for the circulation of said letter which he is....

However....

If Johann uses "other venues" to disseminate the information (said letter) then those venues are also "publishing" as they are also responsible for the aforementioned letter/information being "published".

Now.

BSDA is to be considered one of those "other venues" of publication. Why? Clay and other "moderators" on said board can decide what information (letter) is "published" or not.

Therefore -

Johann is publishing; as he is disseminating the information by publishing the letter.
BSDA is publishing; as they are allowing the space to be used for publishing said letter.

"This ain't Sabbath School....."

I hope this explains it all.....

> QUOTE(Observer @ Jul 15 2006, 07:55 AM)
>
> O.K. I Will accept 40 lashes with a wet spaghetti noodle for making a factual misstatement.

Posted by: beartrap Jul 15 2006, 12:24 PM

It is claimed that the Adventist Church does not financially support 3ABN, yet they do. Every tithe and offering paying Seventh-day Adventist contributes to 3ABN. those tithes and offerings go through the layers of conferences up to the GC. The GC, and in many cases the conferences, allocates a certain amount of that money to go into It is Written, Amazing Facts, Breath of Life, Voice of Prophecy, etc. for the purpose of program distribution. Much of that money is then sent to 3ABN for payment on airtime. A few years ago, 3ABN was charging $1,200.00 per broadcast hour for each of those entities, and others, to be on the air. This makes the current scandals personally relevant to every thithe paying SDA. If people are concerned about their money going to support 3ABN and the Shelton family through the church programs, they should be raising their voices to the church leaders about a change in allocation for that funding.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 15 2006, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 15 2006, 11:48 AM)
>
> Dead on pernt!
> You gonna be alright. And in all honesty - let's break it down shall we?
>
> IF someone writes a book - it is not that author that is "publishing" per se - but the "publishing company" who puts out the information. That person would be called the author.
>
> Now.
>
> If the Doctor wrote the letter - he wants the information to be out for all to see. He would be the author.
>
> Now.
>
> If Johann is publishing - then he would be the one responsible for the circulation of said letter which he is....
>
> However....
>
> If Johann uses "other venues" to disseminate the information (said letter) then those venues are also "publishing" as they are also responsible for the aforementioned letter/information being "published".
>
> Now.
>
> BSDA is to be considered one of those "other venues" of publication. Why? Clay and other "moderators" on said board can decide what information (letter) is "published" or not.
>
> Therefore -
>
> Johann is publishing; as he is disseminating the information by publishing the letter.
> BSDA is publishing; as they are allowing the space to be used for publishing said letter.
>
> "This ain't Sabbath School....."

> I hope this explains it all.....
>
> ☒ sn

\ctually, not quite.

'he author is the author.

f he retains copyright to his writing, then he is technically the "publisher" as well.

f he distributes it privately, he is free to distribute it simultaneously to whoever he wishes, and is free to give)ermission for those who receive it to pass it on to others.

f he then hires a printing establishment to print and distribute it, the title page will not give the printing :stablishment as copyright holder, but will say something like, copyright by [author], and printed by [name of)rinting/publishing company] by permission of author. Depending on the explicit terms of the agreement, the)rinting company may have exclusive rights to print the book, meaning that even the author cannot allow ınyone else to reprint it until the term of the agreement has come to an end.

f the printing establishment also takes responsibility for editing and distributing the book, then they normally ısk for the copyright to be transferred to them and the author is not then free to do any other editing,)rinting, or distribution, and is not even free to give printing rights to any other person or entity until such a ime as the publishing company relinquishes their rights, or gives limited "rights" back to the author.

.ook in a few of your Pacific Press and Review and Herald books and you will see examples of some of these lifferent copyright/publishing/printing arrangements.

n the case of Arild Abrahamson's letter: He is the author. He has chosen to distribute it privately to ndividuals, the main one being Johann Thorvaldson. Johann has especially been entrusted with the task of ;ending it along to a number of venues and individuals which were previously agreed upon between the two)f them. Arild, however, has not given Johann publisher rights. That is, Arild remains the owner/author and s free to distribute it directly to whomever he pleases. Johann, being a close friend of Arild's, is following his nstructions as to where and how to send it, whether by email or by posting to a forum. He also did not give ohann editor rights. The instructions he gave to Johann were that no changes were to be made in the inished copy Arild sent to him.

n the case of posting to a forum, the forum does NOT become the publisher-- in fact, it does not even)ecome the printer. There are no "rights" transferred to the owner of the forum--and likewise no esponsibility or liability for its contents. The forum owners only provide bulletin board space and the thumbtacks" so to speak, for those who desire to post information on their board. The fact that they can, if hey choose, refuse to allow some things to be posted, in no way changes their status from mere board)wners/supervisors to that of "publisher".

'hus no matter how many boards or newsletters this letter might appear in, it is still the intellectual property)f Arild Abrahamson, and all other venues are merely "reprinting" or "reproducing"it. None of them are publishing" it.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 15 2006, 01:33 PM

Directly stated/answered quotes in RED.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 15 2006, 01:30 PM) ☐
>
> Actually, not quite.
>
> The author is the author.

> If he retains copyright to his writing, then he is technically the "publisher" as well.
>
> If he distributes it privately, he is free to distribute it simultaneously to whoever he wishes, and is free to give permission for those who receive it to pass it on to others.
>
> If he then hires a printing establishment to print and distribute it, the title page will not give the printing establishment as copyright holder, but will say something like, copyright by [author], and printed by [name of printing/publishing company] by permission of author. Depending on the explicit terms of the agreement, the printing company may have exclusive rights to print the book, meaning that even the author cannot allow anyone else to reprint it until the term of the agreement has come to an end.
>
> If the printing establishment also takes responsibility for editing and distributing the book, then they normally ask for the copyright to be transferred to them and the author is not then free to do any other editing, printing, or distribution, and is not even free to give printing rights to any other person or entity until such a time as the publishing company relinquishes their rights, or gives limited "rights" back to the author.
>
> Look in a few of your Pacific Press and Review and Herald books and you will see examples of some of these different copyright/publishing/printing arrangements.
>
> In the case of Arild Abrahamson's letter: He is the author. He has chosen to distribute it privately to individuals, the main one being Johann Thorvaldson. Johann has especially been entrusted with the task of sending it along to a number of venues and individuals which were previously agreed upon between the two of them. Arild, however, has not given Johann publisher rights. That is, Arild remains the owner/author and is free to distribute it directly to whomever he pleases. Johann, being a close friend of Arild's, is following his instructions as to where and how to send it, whether by email or by posting to a forum. He also did not give Johann editor rights. The instructions he gave to Johann were that no changes were to be made in the finished copy Arild sent to him.
>
> In the case of posting to a forum, the forum does NOT become the publisher-- in fact, it does not even become the printer. There are no "rights" transferred to the owner of the forum--and likewise no responsibility or liability for its contents. The forum owners only provide bulletin board space and the "thumbtacks" so to speak, for those who desire to post information on their board. The fact that they can, if they choose, refuse to allow some things to be posted, in no way changes their status from mere board owners/supervisors to that of "publisher".
>
> Thus no matter how many boards or newsletters this letter might appear in, it is still the intellectual property of Arild Abrahamson, and all other venues are merely "reprinting" or "reproducing"it. None of them are "publishing" it.

f the "author" does not disseminate the information - then they are not the "publisher" as they are not publishing anything" per se (to "prepare and issue").

ttp://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing

e can retain the copyright all he wants to - however if the information is not "issued" it is not published. I ould write an entire book. If I never tell anyone and it is never "put on market" or "issued" it is not ublished.

f course the "author" has the right to say who can read or not his works - however if he gives no ermission, and no one else reads said information how is he then a "publisher" being that the work is not issued"?

Arild, however, has not given Johann publisher rights."
f Arild did give permission to Johann to publish (or "issue") - per ttp://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing Then he is actually said "publisher" of the written iece/letter.

er the 2nd definition on http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing BSDA has brought the letter/written piece to public attention. Therefore they also can be called "publishers"

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Publishing

"Thus no matter how many boards or newsletters this letter might appear in, it is still the intellectual property of Arild Abrahamson, and all other venues are merely "reprinting" or "reproducing"it. None of them are "publishing" it."

There is no dispute that the letter/writing is the property of Arild Abrahamson - however per the definitions of publishing there is question as to who is publishing. I say that Arild is the Author. I also say that Arild is the publisher because he is bringing the issue to public attention. Johann is publishing as he is "issuing" the information and bringing it to public attention. I also state that BSDA (as well as the other forums) are publishing because they are an internet form of publishing or diseminating ("to issue") said letter/information/written piece.

http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/disseminate
http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Publishing
http://www.britannica.com/ebc/article-9376103
http://encarta.msn.com/encyclopedia_761567544/Book_Publishing.html
http://www.bartleby.com/65/bo/bookpubl.html

Posted by: watchbird Jul 15 2006, 02:12 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 15 2006, 01:33 PM)
>
> Directly stated/answered quotes in RED.
> If the "author" does not disseminate the information - then they are not the "publisher" as they are not "publishing anything" per se (to "prepare and issue").
>
> http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing
>
> He can retain the copyright all he wants to - however if the information is not "issued" it is not published. I could write an entire book. If I never tell anyone and it is never "put on market" or "issued" it is not published.
>
> Of course the "author" has the right to say who can read or not his works - however if he gives no permission, and no one else reads said information how is he then a "publisher" being that the work is not "issued"?
>
> "Arild, however, has not given Johann publisher rights."
> If Arild did give permission to Johann to publish (or "issue") - per http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing Then he is actually said "publisher" of the written piece/letter.
>
> Per the 2nd definition on http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing BSDA has brought the letter/written piece to public attention. Therefore they also can be called "publishers"
> http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Publishing
>
> "Thus no matter how many boards or newsletters this letter might appear in, it is still the intellectual property of Arild Abrahamson, and all other venues are merely "reprinting" or "reproducing"it. None of them are "publishing" it."
>
> There is no dispute that the letter/writing is the property of Arild Abrahamson - however per the definitions of publishing there is question as to who is publishing. I say that Arild is the Author. I also say that Arild is the publisher because he is bringing the issue to public attention. Johann is publishing as he is "issuing" the information and bringing it to public attention. I also state that BSDA (as well as the other forums) are publishing because they are an internet form of publishing or diseminating ("to issue") said letter/information/written piece.

> http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/disseminate
> http://dictionary.reference.com/browse/publishing
> http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Publishing
> http://www.britannica.com/ebc/article-9376103
> http://encarta.msn.com/encyclopedia_761567544/Book_Publishing.html
> http://www.bartleby.com/65/bo/bookpubl.html

Vhatever the technical definitions--in my "other life" I have had to sort these things out in real life with real ublishers, authors, copyright holders, printers holding contracts to "reprint", etc. Arild is author and in ommon law usage, all he has to have is proof that he was the first one to make it available to someone else o establish that he has "copyright" to it--though it could not be defended in a court of law since he did not egister it in a US copyright office. There is also a difference between distributor, publisher, and agent. ohann would be Arild's chosen agent or distributor, but not his "publisher". When Arild added the lines giving ermission to others to copy it under certain conditions, he established his rights, and others who copy it are nerely making "reprints" of it under his direct and limited permissions. They would only be publishers if they nade an agreement with him in which he granted them exclusive rights (which actually I don't think he could lo once he has released it with this permission statement) and which clearly stated the financial details of uch an arrangement.

ctualy --- I'm not even sure why we are having this discussion. It is, in essence, a private letter, which he as asked to be distributed by whatever means possible to as wide a reading audience as possible, and he as given his permissions for that in writing. What difference do the terms mean anyhow?

Posted by: beartrap Jul 15 2006, 02:16 PM

LOL! chasing a goose.

Posted by: Clay Jul 15 2006, 02:22 PM

whatever the semantics I am glad his side of the story is out.... there will still be skeptics and thats cool.... as I said on another forum, remind me not to call the church if something happens to me, I am sure the members will find a way to blame me for my plight and in essence shoot the wounded.... such toxic relationships.......

Posted by: watchbird Jul 15 2006, 02:25 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jul 15 2006, 09:36 AM) ☐
>
> In our town, the health inspectors are forced to publish their visits to restaurants in the newspaper, just to pressure the restaurants to fix the observed violations. A report to the restaurant about the rat turds, by itself, does not produce any urgency on the part of the restaurants. When customers read the newspaper and stop visiting the restaurants, that's when the cleaning takes place.
>
> In a similar fashion, the Adventist Church must have received the reports of visible "rat turds" by now. As with restaurants, they need to read about themselves in the newspaper before they can clean house. The Church will do nothing until the general public reads about the turds -- and about the rats from which the turds came.

think you have a point, and I'm sure there have been times during the last two years when some of us have ad the strong temptation to pick up the phone and call National Enquirer--or at least some Evangelical cult-vatch group who would love nothing better than to expose an Adventist fiasco.

ut I'm still hopeful that getting the information out to the general Adventist public, through private contacts, ulletin boards such as BSDA and whoever else wants to join in, as well as printed Adventist sources, will be enough to stir the Adventists themselves to demand that the Church sever their connection with the restaurants dealing in rat turds and aid in spreading the truth about such places to the church at large. Let's keep trying that a little longer before we turn the public bloodhounds loose.

Posted by: watchbird Jul 15 2006, 02:51 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 15 2006, 02:22 PM)
>
> whatever the semantics I am glad his side of the story is out.... there will still be skeptics and thats cool.... as I said on another forum, remind me not to call the church if something happens to me, I am sure the members will find a way to blame me for my plight and in essence shoot the wounded.... such toxic relationships.......

Ah yes, skeptics many .. though I'm not at all sure I find that "cool". I think this is my opening to mention that I have just found that I can get on Club Adventist 3ABN TOPICS again. Dunno why I was put off. Dunno why I am back on. I was always able to log in, but for about four months have been "denied access" to the 3ABN forum. Today I could get on. Maybe there are others here who lost their ability to get on and have quit trying. Try again. You may be admitted now.

Just had to put that in there so I could note that I think your latter statement seems more appropriate there than here.

Posted by: Clay Jul 15 2006, 02:54 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 15 2006, 02:51 PM)
>
> Ah yes, skeptics many .. though I'm not at all sure I find that "cool". I think this is my opening to mention that I have just found that I can get on Club Adventist 3ABN TOPICS again. Dunno why I was put off. Dunno why I am back on. I was always able to log in, but for about four months have been "denied access" to the 3ABN forum. Today I could get on. Maybe there are others here who lost their ability to get on and have quit trying. Try again. You may be admitted now.
>
> Just had to put that in there so I could note that I think your latter statement seems more appropriate there than here.
> I left this till last so it would hopefully be most prominent for a while.
>
> I think this is a VERY important point, and one that not everyone even thinks of when they think of supporting 3ABN or not supporting it.
>
> What this means is that we should voice our objections to our Church taking funds sent to Church entities and diverting it to 3ABN by paying to put Church produced programs on 3ABN. Are there more details we should know? Can you give us the proper channels through which to direct our objections to these programs being put on 3ABN?

what I mean watchbird is from the beginning there were those of us who smelled a rat and thought that Mr. Shelton was not being honest. As more info has come to light it has confirmed what we believed... as for the skeptics, hey they exist, and its not our fault if they are not "paying attention."

I think since the latest letter has been made public both forums are re-opening their 3abn threads... they should never have closed them in the first place....

Posted by: watchbird Jul 15 2006, 02:55 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Jul 15 2006, 12:24 PM) ☐
>
> It is claimed that the Adventist Church does not financially support 3ABN, yet they do. Every tithe and offering paying Seventh-day Adventist contributes to 3ABN. those tithes and offerings go through the layers of conferences up to the GC. The GC, and in many cases the conferences, allocates a certain amount of that money to go into It is Written, Amazing Facts, Breath of Life, Voice of Prophecy, etc. for the purpose of program distribution. Much of that money is then sent to 3ABN for payment on airtime. A few years ago, 3ABN was charging $1,200.00 per broadcast hour for each of those entities, and others, to be on the air. This makes the current scandals personally relevant to every thithe paying SDA. If people are concerned about their money going to support 3ABN and the Shelton family through the church programs, they should be raising their voices to the church leaders about a change in allocation for that funding.

I left this till last so it would hopefully be most prominent for a while.

I think this is a VERY important point, and one that not everyone even thinks of when they think of supporting 3ABN or not supporting it.

What this means is that we should voice our objections to our Church taking funds sent to Church entities and diverting it to 3ABN by paying to put Church produced programs on 3ABN. Are there more details we should know? Can you give us the proper channels through which to direct our objections to these programs being put on 3ABN

Posted by: princessdi Jul 15 2006, 02:58 PM

What makes us think that some victim will not? There are many more, are there not? Everyone is not willing to sacrifice themselves or even wait for retribution for the sake of the blessing it is to many. Some will be angered to the point of calling somebody. I keep saying, just because SDAs are low on the radar does not make us immune from those who are looking to take down televaaaaangelist. We know in the past, these stories make it to Primetime, 48hrs, 60 Minutes and other primtime newsmagazines, even if they have to spend three minutes explaining exactly who you are and where you come from.

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 15 2006, 12:25 PM) ☐
>
> I think you have a point, and I'm sure there have been times during the last two years when some of us have had the strong temptation to pick up the phone and call National Enquirer--or at least some Evangelical cult-watch group who would love nothing better than to expose an Adventist fiasco.
> But I'm still hopeful that getting the information out to the general Adventist public, through private contacts, bulletin boards such as BSDA and whoever else wants to join in, as well as printed Adventist sources, will be enough to stir the Adventists themselves to demand that the Church sever their connection with the restaurants dealing in rat turds and aid in spreading the truth about such places to the church at large. Let's keep trying that a little longer before we turn the public bloodhounds loose.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 15 2006, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 15 2006, 04:12 PM) ☐
>
> .... What difference do the terms mean anyhow?

I was ☒ ofl - however a "question"/statement about the "publishing" of the letter was made by someone (another poster="Siriss"). I answered the post with what I thought. You Watchbird - stated what you saw as wrong with my answer. I had a rebuttal..... If someone states I'm wrong and I can show where they are wrong that is what I'm going to do.

This happens when the entire thread/post is not read.

Carry on!

BOT!

☒ sn

Posted by: beartrap Jul 15 2006, 03:27 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 15 2006, 03:55 PM) ☐
>
> I left this till last so it would hopefully be most prominent for a while.
>
> I think this is a VERY important point, and one that not everyone even thinks of when they think of supporting 3ABN or not supporting it.
>
> What this means is that we should voice our objections to our Church taking funds sent to Church entities and diverting it to 3ABN by paying to put Church produced programs on 3ABN. Are there more details we should know? Can you give us the proper channels through which to direct our objections to these programs being put on 3ABN

In most cases it is part of the evangelism budget. I would think that contacting your own pastor, and then the office of the President at the local conference, the union, the division, and the GC with your objections would be the proper, and most effective way to make a difference. I would put it in writing and be reasonable, yet persistent.

Posted by: Siriss Jul 15 2006, 04:52 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jul 15 2006, 03:22 PM) ☐
>
> whatever the semantics I am glad his side of the story is out....

In an obscure way, this was all I was trying to get at in the first place. What does it matter who got to the story first? BSDA, and all other Internet forums are part of the human network. The information is now available (as it was given by the author)--and with patience, it will freely be given to all.

1 Corinthians 13:12

Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face.
Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known.

Posted by: graceful Jul 15 2006, 07:51 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 14 2006, 09:56 AM)
>
> Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section Three.
>
> Considering the urgency of the situation I allowed the conversations to resume. Linda knew, with her high profile status, that confiding with local people regarding these issues would be very bad for the ministry. I had given counsel to people in difficulty in the past and felt I could be helpful from a distance in this situation. I encouraged Linda to fight for her marriage and ministry many times. This she really did, but she often had to leave her home to find refuge at her daughter's apartment in Springfield, even in the middle of the night because of Danny's behavior. At times like these she was afraid of him. She always returned to her home after a couple of days seeking to try to mend the marriage, but Danny would not allow this.
>
> During the spring of 2004 Danny called my pastor in Norway. Danny tried to get me kicked out as an elder and as a member of the church. My pastor told me about the conversation and he said, "He is mentally sick, he needs professional help."
>
> I find it very disturbing that Walt Thompson defended and continues to defend Danny although he was a witness repeatedly to the emotional and mental abuse that was taking place. At one point he witnessed Danny "trashing" his wife for five hours. I also find it disturbing that John Lomacang, Linda's former pastor, claims to have counseled extensively with Danny and Linda when this was far from the truth. During the months of April and May of 2004, when most of the activity was occurring in this situation, Linda NEVER saw John, who was supposed to be her pastor.
>
> Coincidentally the handful of people supporting Danny and defending his actions has gained either power, position, airtime, homes, public endorsement or all of the above.
>
> Stay Tuned for another section - or more

Great....Good toknow that Dr.A is speaking out. Looking forward to more of this letter. Thanks Johann!

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 15 2006, 07:57 PM

> QUOTE(graceful @ Jul 15 2006, 06:51 PM)
>
> Great....Good toknow that Dr.A is speaking out. Looking forward to more of this letter. Thanks Johann!

Graceful, the whole letter is here - go up to post #44.

Posted by: Johann Jul 15 2006, 08:18 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jul 16 2006, 03:57 AM)
>
> Graceful, the whole letter is here - go up to post #44.

Good to see you out there, sonshineonme. I can assure you that great efforts are being done to send this letter to as many as possible. And we know now that it is being discussed among church leaders in different parts of the world. But much more can be done - so keep sending them out! And leave them in the hands of responsible people and everyone else!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 16 2006, 10:40 AM

What about sending the letter directly to churches pastors - directly.

> QUOTE(Siriss @ Jul 15 2006, 06:52 PM)
>
> In an obscure way, this was all I was trying to get at in the first place. What does it matter who got to the story first? BSDA, and all other Internet forums are part of the human network. The information is now available (as it was given by the author)--and with patience, it will freely be given to all.

..... ofl

You asked a question. If you didn't want anyone to "answer it" why ask it in the first place? I was just answering a post - that you posted.

Whose "publishing" is not that deep; however questions were asked as to "who" was actually publishing..... again - If you don't want anyone to answer a question per se - write it so the sarcasm is/can be seen. There are folks on here that read every post and try to answer/point people in the correct direction.

That's all I tried to do in regards to publishing and information about publishing.

I too am glad that the letter is being published/released/"issued" - and could care less who is doing the publishing/releasing/"issuing" as long as it is the (finally!) reached truth.

BOT!

sn

Posted by: sonshineonme Jul 16 2006, 10:45 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 15 2006, 07:18 PM)
>
> Good to see you out there, sonshineonme. I can assure you that great efforts are being done to send this letter to as many as possible. And we know now that it is being discussed among church leaders in > different parts of the world. But much more can be done - so keep sending them out! And leave them in the hands of responsible people and everyone else!

will do what I can. If everyone does what they can, it will be critical in the effort - only I still believe God will e the one multiplying things over and over - and if you were asking me (ok, ask me...) I would include ohann's account along with the Dr. and some others (you know who you are) in a small "info package" to all astors, all conferences prez's, all other independant ministries, and the GC officials (all of them). And, I now someone who may have the mailing list of 3abn, and that would also be a good group to send "info ackage". People need to know. It's much much bigger then just what happened to Linda - what was done to er was the unbelievable boldest embracement of SELF that has to be what pushes this over the top. There is very big picture here. This situation is symbolic of the mark of the beast to me - maybe we get a trial run?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 16 2006, 10:48 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 16 2006, 12:40 PM)
>
> What about sending the letter directly to churches pastors - directly.

Vhat about also sending the letter directly to other churches too!

mean - just like someone else said... NOT JUST SDA's WATCH 3ABN!

Posted by: watchbird Jul 16 2006, 11:24 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jul 16 2006, 10:45 AM)
>
> I will do what I can. If everyone does what they can, it will be critical in the effort - only I still believe God will be the one multiplying things over and over - and if you were asking me (ok, ask me...) I would include Johann's account along with the Dr. and some others (you know who you are) in a small "info package" to all pastors, all conferences prez's, all other independant ministries, and the GC officials (all of them). And, I know someone who may have the mailing list of 3abn, and that would also be a good group to send "info package". People need to know. It's much much bigger then just what happened to Linda - what was done to her was the unbelievable boldest embracement of SELF that has to be what pushes this over the top. There is a very big picture here. This situation is symbolic of the mark of the beast to me - maybe we get a trial run?

t is usually recommended that such information sheets should be no longer than one page--other wise they lon't get read--and they need to look like individual, personal contacts rather than a "mass mailing"--even if hey are, for the majoritysimply toss things aside rather than reading them. So for most, probably a very hort summary or "teaser" type questions would work best, then giving BSDA as an information source and rging people to go there for answers.

thers might respond best to a "headline" type announcement that highlights Abrahamson's announcement, iving only a sample, but again giving the BSDA source for the full document.

nd yes, I would agree that Johann's account of things is important, and also some others. The more different styles these communications are and the more directions that they come from, the better.

Posted by: Siriss Jul 16 2006, 11:51 AM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 16 2006, 11:40 AM) ☐
>
> What about sending the letter directly to churches pastors - directly.
>
> .....
>
> You asked a question. If you didn't want anyone to "answer it" why ask it in the first place? I was just answering a post - that you posted.
>
> Whose "publishing" is not that deep; however questions were asked as to "who" was actually publishing..... again - If you don't want anyone to answer a question per se - write it so the sarcasm is/can be seen. There are folks on here that read every post and try to answer/point people in the correct direction.
>
> That's all I tried to do in regards to publishing and information about publishing.
>
> I too am glad that the letter is being published/released/"issued" - and could care less who is doing the publishing/releasing/"issuing" as long as it is the (finally!) reached truth.
>
> BOT!

I apologize that the sarcasm was not as obvious to the general reader as it was to me. Point well taken.

Future posts--indeed, if there be any--authored by me will be more succint, direct and obvious to even the most casual observer.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 16 2006, 11:53 AM

> QUOTE(Siriss @ Jul 16 2006, 01:51 PM) ☐
>
> I apologize that the sarcasm was not as obvious to the general reader as it was to me. Point well taken.
>
> Future posts--indeed, if there be any--authored by me will be more succint, direct and obvious to even the most casual observer.

Being that others besides myself were even trying to define publishing - you can see where you were not as clear as you could have been in your sarcasm.

Apology accepted! After all - the actual point of the OP was to "get out the word of the matter" - regardless as to who/whom is publishing!

I would like to post it at AU....what do others think about that?

Posted by: sister Jul 16 2006, 02:44 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 16 2006, 12:53 PM)
>
> Being that others besides myself were even trying to define publishing - you can see where you were not as clear as you could have been in your sarcasm.
>
> Apology accepted! After all - the actual point of the OP was to "get out the word of the matter" - regardless as to who/whom is publishing!
>
> I would like to post it at AU....what do others think about that?

You go gurl. They need to hear it at AU. Afterwards you can fetch some sodie and join me in some fried meaty bits.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 16 2006, 02:50 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Jul 16 2006, 04:44 PM)
>
> You go gurl. They need to hear it at AU. Afterwards you can fetch some sodie and join me in some fried meaty bits.

Cool. I think the first place it should go is to the Seminary Building.... I'm gonna forward it on to some of my SDA Seminary friends right now.....

Uh-oh.....

Posted by: watchbird Jul 16 2006, 03:55 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 16 2006, 02:50 PM)
>
> Cool. I think the first place it should go is to the Seminary Building.... I'm gonna forward it on to some of my SDA Seminary friends right now.....
>
> Uh-oh.....

I'm curious as to what the "Uh-oh" means.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 16 2006, 04:04 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 16 2006, 04:55 PM)
>
> I'm curious as to what the "Uh-oh" means.

There are many supporters of Danny there - *(remember he and the new "Missie" were just here recently...)

Now mind you the church wasn't as full as one would have expected...but they have "support" here.... I'm jes wondering how the mess is gonna blow when it hits the fan.

I know we discussed it in my ethic class and a Seminary student that was in the class got "quite hot" under the collar - until he heard the instructor speak of the actions of Kuzma being "unethical"....

I don't know if he has been here or not - as I did put the website on the board for all to see...

We are jes a "hot mess on toast" when it comes to getting called on our own mess. You know, we like to take a big ol' broom and sweep it under the biggest rug...beating the lump down....

That's what my "Uh-oh" is coming from - I think I may even work on a play that includes pieces of this..... NOW THAT'S another "Uh-oh" waiting to happen at Ay.....

Posted by: LadyTenor Jul 16 2006, 11:43 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 16 2006, 06:04 PM)
>
> There are many supporters of Danny there - *(remember he and the new "Missie" were just here recently...)
>
> Now mind you the church wasn't as full as one would have expected...but they have "support" here.... I'm jes wondering how the mess is gonna blow when it hits the fan.
>
> I know we discussed it in my ethic class and a Seminary student that was in the class got "quite hot" under the collar - until he heard the instructor speak of the actions of Kuzma being "unethical"....
>
> I don't know if he has been here or not - as I did put the website on the board for all to see...
>
> We are jes a "hot mess on toast" when it comes to getting called on our own mess. You know, we like to take a big ol' broom and sweep it under the biggest rug...beating the lump down....
>
> That's what my "Uh-oh" is coming from - I think I may even work on a play that includes pieces of this..... NOW THAT'S another "Uh-oh" waiting to happen at Ay.....

Speak the truth and shame the devil!!!!!

Posted by: icedragon Jul 17 2006, 09:52 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Jul 14 2006, 01:45 PM)
>
> There would be no reason to waste your time on the [b]3ABN Board of Followers . They are followers, Johann. They direct nothing that I can see.
>
> The Chairman of the 3ABN Board of Followers is, most likely, at the point where he can no longer entertain any other versions than the ones he has allowed to be published under his name.
> A copy, signed by Dr. Arild Abrahamsen, should be mailed to the *[b]Adventist Today mailing address.[/b]

I have just sent a copy of an email of the letter to "Adventist Today"

Posted by: Denny Jul 17 2006, 10:03 AM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Jul 17 2006, 04:52 PM)
>
> I have just sent a copy of an email of the letter to [b]"Adventist Today"

I doubt they will publish and be damned

Posted by: Rand856 Jul 17 2006, 12:04 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Jul 15 2006, 04:27 PM)
>
> In most cases it is part of the evangelism budget. I would think that contacting your own pastor, and then the office of the President at the local conference, the union, the division, and the GC with your objections would be the proper, and most effective way to make a difference. I would put it in writing and be reasonable, yet persistent.

And if the Conference Officials don't wish to listen, mention "Mission Catalyst". The new Adventist Church growth outreach started by former Church Planter, Ron Gladden, where 90% of the tithe funds stay with the local church to further the work. You can bet those tithe funds aren't being allocated to 3ABN for Danny Shelton to fly around in a jet.

Posted by: Johann Jul 17 2006, 05:14 PM

> QUOTE(icedragon @ Jul 17 2006, 05:52 PM)

> I have just sent a copy of an email of the letter to [b]"Adventist Today"

God bless you, Icedragon! We need more people like you!

Posted by: summertime Jul 17 2006, 06:03 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jul 15 2006, 09:18 PM) ☐
>
> Good to see you out there, sonshineonme. I can assure you that great efforts are being done to send this letter to as many as possible. And we know now that it is being discussed among church leaders in different parts of the world. But much more can be done - so keep sending them out! And leave them in the hands of responsible people and everyone else!

hope that we are all following up on getting this letter out---I have been going through all my e-mail addresses and sending it out. I am sending them to church members and doing everything I can---even hough I am pretty much housebound right now my spare time is spent 'spreading the word'----I hope that it s spreading quickly--The truth needs to be told quickly.

Posted by: Johann Jul 17 2006, 06:22 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 18 2006, 02:03 AM) ☐
>
> I hope that we are all following up on getting this letter out---I have been going through all my e-mail addresses and sending it out. I am sending them to church members and doing everything I can---even though I am pretty much housebound right now my spare time is spent 'spreading the word'----I hope that it is spreading quickly--The truth needs to be told quickly.

God bless you!

Posted by: awesumtenor Jul 17 2006, 07:21 PM

> QUOTE(Rand856 @ Jul 17 2006, 02:04 PM) ☐
>
> And if the Conference Officials don't wish to listen, mention "Mission Catalyst". The new Adventist Church growth outreach started by former Church Planter, Ron Gladden, where 90% of the tithe funds stay with the local church to further the work. You can bet those tithe funds aren't being allocated to 3ABN for Danny Shelton to fly around in a jet.

Mission Catalyst isn't part of the Adventist church, although those who started it were formerly in denominational employ. Their unwillingness to adopt the church's model where the handling of tithe is concerned pretty much sealed their fate in that regard...

now return you to your regularly scheduled programming...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Jvat Jul 17 2006, 07:44 PM

Seems to me Awesumtenor, that Rand856 was implying that if the SDA Officials do not watch it, more funds will go into Mission Catalyst than the regular SDA Church. Correct me if I am wrong, Rand 856.

Posted by: LadyTenor Jul 17 2006, 09:29 PM

> QUOTE(summertime @ Jul 17 2006, 07:03 PM)
>
> I hope that we are all following up on getting this letter out---I have been going through all my e-mail addresses and sending it out. I am sending them to church members and doing everything I can---even though I am pretty much housebound right now my spare time is spent 'spreading the word'----I hope that it is spreading quickly--The truth needs to be told quickly.

The beauty of today's technology is that you need not leave your home to spread the word....

Posted by: denisebyers Jul 17 2006, 09:34 PM

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Jul 17 2006, 10:29 PM)
>
> The beauty of today's technology is that you need not leave your home to spread the word....

Hey Lady Tenor,
How did you get the whole letter whole? It's in bits and pieces, but I want to get the whole letter, so I can send it to others. Thanks, Denise :-)

Posted by: calvin Jul 17 2006, 09:50 PM

> QUOTE(denisebyers @ Jul 17 2006, 10:34 PM)
>
> Hey Lady Tenor,
> How did you get the whole letter whole? It's in bits and pieces, but I want to get the whole letter, so I can send it to others. Thanks, Denise :-)

I will post it in a separate topic for all.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 17 2006, 09:56 PM

Scroll up in this thread....the entire letter is posted in one of the post....check around pg 3-5 I think. I cut it directly from here and mailed it out to all my SDA contacts....

HTH!

A "new thread" has been started w/ the entire letter in one place....go there....

Posted by: no_cults Jul 17 2006, 09:59 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jul 16 2006, 03:55 PM)
>
> I'm curious as to what the "Uh-oh" means.

I expect that "it" will "hit the fan" when Linda's contract runs out. She signed a contract to not talk about specific things regarding the problems at 3abn. In return, she received ..... "hush money".

Also.... my understanding is that the settlement of the property has not yet been settled. I expect that a lot of stuff may come out in the next year.

Posted by: denisebyers Jul 18 2006, 08:01 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Jul 17 2006, 10:50 PM)
>
> I will post it in a separate topic for all.

Thanks y'all, as they say it down south! I have a lady I spoke with in church that is waiting for it. The last she heard was that Linda left Danny for someone else. I told her that was not so, and she is waiting to see that letter. Thanks again! Denise

---

Posted by: awesumtenor Jul 18 2006, 08:10 AM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Jul 17 2006, 08:44 PM)
>
> Seems to me Awesumtenor, that Rand856 was implying that if the SDA Officials do not watch it, more funds will go into Mission Catalyst than the regular SDA Church. Correct me if I am wrong, Rand 856.

That part is not in dispute; my point is that while those who started MCN had been Adventists, it, as an entity, is not part of the Adventist church.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Johann Jul 23 2006, 02:10 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Jul 17 2006, 12:04 AM)
>
> There are many supporters of Danny there - *(remember he and the new "Missie" were just here recently...)
>
> Now mind you the church wasn't as full as one would have expected...but they have "support" here.... I'm jes wondering how the mess is gonna blow when it hits the fan.
>
> I know we discussed it in my ethic class and a Seminary student that was in the class got "quite hot" under the collar - until he heard the instructor speak of the actions of Kuzma being "unethical"....
>
> I don't know if he has been here or not - as I did put the website on the board for all to see...
>
> We are jes a "hot mess on toast" when it comes to getting called on our own mess. You know, we like to take a big ol' broom and sweep it under the biggest rug...beating the lump down....
>
> That's what my "Uh-oh" is coming from - I think I may even work on a play that includes pieces of this..... NOW THAT'S another "Uh-oh" waiting to happen at Ay.....

Looks like you have a calling - or a mission?

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jul 23 2006, 04:55 PM

I've already sent the letter to a few "choice" teachers that I think will also forward the letter on.....

I also forwarded the letter on to all of my SDA friends on my e-mail list.

That should equal to about ...um......30+ people.....

Carry on!

☒ sn

Posted by: eye witness Jan 24 2007, 03:42 PM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Jul 17 2006, 09:59 PM)
>
> I expect that "it" will "hit the fan" when Linda's contract runs out.
> She signed a contract to not talk about specific things regarding > the problems at 3abn. In return, she received ..... "hush money".
> Also.... my understanding is that the settlement of the property > has not yet been settled. I expect that a lot of stuff may come > out in the next year.

December 2006 Linda is able to tell all! Where is she????? Maybe her 250k settlement has not ran out yet and so well she is still trying to "sue" for more (the true nature of her), and don't want to make hurt for herself.

So what her plan is, is to get people to "do all this garbage for her". While she tries to maintain some sort of innocent profile. Actor!!!!

Posted by: Clay Jan 24 2007, 03:46 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 24 2007, 03:42 PM)
>
> December 2006 Linda is able to tell all! Where is she????? Maybe her 250k settlement has not ran out yet and so well she is still trying to "sue" for more (the true nature of her), and don't want to make hurt for herself.
> So what her plan is, is to get people to "do all this garbage for her". While she tries to maintain some sort of innocent profile. Actor!!!!

whateva...... tiresome you are.... and I detect a little haterade.... clear to see you don't like Linda.... God forbid you are ever married and your hubby decides he wants a younger woman and kicks you to the curb....

Posted by: Johann Jan 24 2007, 04:30 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 24 2007, 11:46 PM)
>
> whateva...... tiresome you are.... and I detect a little haterade.... clear to see you don't like Linda.... God forbid you are ever married and your hubby decides he wants a younger woman and kicks you to the curb....

How do you know that he is not resting in his grave?

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 24 2007, 05:00 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 24 2007, 05:30 PM)
>
> How do you know that he is not resting in his grave?

Reminds me of a line from a movie... upon seeing the winning personality of a woman, one character remarks... " your husband aint dead, lady; he's hiding..."

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Jan 24 2007, 06:54 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 24 2007, 05:00 PM)

> Reminds me of a line from a movie... upon seeing the winning personality of a woman, one character remarks... " your husband aint dead, lady; he's hiding..."
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Posted by: inga Jan 24 2007, 07:09 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 24 2007, 04:42 PM)
>
> December 2006 Linda is able to tell all! Where is she????? Maybe her 250k settlement has not ran out yet and so well she is still trying to "sue" for more (the true nature of her), and don't want to make hurt for herself.
> So what her plan is, is to get people to "do all this garbage for her". While she tries to maintain some sort of innocent profile. Actor!!!!

t is not hard to sense a vindictive spirit in you, "eye witness" very close to Linda Shelton (several years ago). Experience has taught me that, lacking evidence, folks generally judge others by the only measuring stick they have -- themselves. Thus you are revealing an awful lot about yourself, "eye witness."

Seeing you are an eye witness (and I believe you), you should be able to tell us who told Linda that there was a "beauty queen" ready to take her place if she should fail to do exactly as she was told, no matter how inappropriate.

And where is that 'beauty queen' now?

It strikes me really strange that that "beauty queen" should be mentioned while Dan and Linda were still married!

I'm also wondering who chose this 'beauty queen' to take Linda's place? Did Dan choose, or did someone choose for him?

Posted by: daylily Jan 24 2007, 07:23 PM

Inga, that's exactly why I asked when Linda was told she might be replaced. It sounds like she was told this while they were still married. Was that a threat or was Danny just rambling and trying to indicate that to LInda that she was not irreplaceable at 3ABN?

Posted by: inga Jan 24 2007, 07:33 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Jan 24 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> Inga, that's exactly why I asked when Linda was told she might be replaced. It sounds like she was told this while they were still married. Was that a threat or was Danny just rambling and trying to indicate that to LInda that she was not irreplaceable at 3ABN?

Daylily, it sure sounds too specific to be rambling when Linda is told that there is a "beauty queen" ready o replace her.

Anyone remember the remarks Dan made about his current wife when he first showed her off?

Posted by: Johann Jan 24 2007, 11:18 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 25 2007, 03:33 AM) ☐
>
> Daylily, it sure sounds too specific to be rambling when Linda is told that there is a "beauty queen" ready to replace her.
>
> Anyone remember the remarks Dan made about his current wife when he first showed her off?

Restore our sluggish memories!

Posted by: roxe Jan 25 2007, 01:13 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 24 2007, 10:18 PM) ☐
>
> Restore our sluggish memories!

i heard Danny say on the air "Isn't she cute?" and "Isn't she the cutest?"
think it was shortly after the marriage... but can't remember what program...

btw, where is she now?? and what she doing??

Posted by: betrayed Jan 25 2007, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(roxe @ Jan 25 2007, 01:13 AM) ☐
>
> i heard Danny say on the air "Isn't she cute?" and "Isn't she the cutest?"
> think it was shortly after the marriage... but can't remember what program...
>
> btw, where is she now?? and what she doing??

I remember Danny making comments about Brandy during the Christmas holiday special before they were married. She was a cutie, etc.
I think he also mentioned that she was new to 3abn....

If one was to watch it again, they would hear the comments and notice Danny's infatuation with her at that time.

I knew then that he was going to marry her, then yep a couple of months later it was announced for all, that they were getting married.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 25 2007, 10:16 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Jan 24 2007, 07:09 PM)
>
> It is not hard to sense a vindictive spirit in you, "eye witness" very close to Linda Shelton (several years ago). Experience has taught me that, lacking evidence, folks generally judge others by the only measuring stick they have -- themselves. Thus you are revealing an awful lot about yourself, "eye witness."
>
> Seeing you are an eye witness (and I believe you), [b]you should be able to tell us who told Linda that there was a "beauty queen" ready to take her place if she should fail to do exactly as she was told, no matter how inappropriate.
>
> Linda refused to want her marriage. AND DANNY HAD NO OTHER INTEREST! Linda had another interest. There was only one Doctor for Nathan and only one Doctor that would accomodate her staying at his house. Her cooking for him and so on and so forth. Tell me Inga, would any man on the face of this earth tolerate his WIFE staying with another man, in his house, in his motel room ect. ?????? I think it was gracious that Danny laid out the grounds as "Spiritual Adultry", this according to the Bible is , Linda had left her first love. Now it looks like someday there will be a great revealing and then Linda may be labeled the term that she applied to HERSELF the "________________ of Revelation".
>
> And where is that 'beauty queen' now?
>
> The 'possible beauty queen' did not come along until two years after the divorce. What do you think, Danny should remain without wife and companion because His Wife (Linda) choose to dump him, (for a promise of Pardise in Norway, her favorite discription)? It was sometime after the divorce she was wearing a wedding band at the General Conference Session. Is she married? Oh by the way this was way before the New Wife of Danny's!
> See Linda made mention that all Danny would ever get to replace her was "a worn out dish rag". Linda really thought she was the one and only beauty queen. I think that was because for so many years Danny went on and on about her beauty, she got a bigger redder head.
> Inga there is so much, so much that anyone that gets on here and makes some sort of conclusion must understand. There is more. You can't base your opinion on just this stuff.
>
> It strikes me really strange that that "beauty queen" should be mentioned while Dan and Linda were still married!
>
> Inga the possible beauty queen was mentioned (whom is not the one Brandy, because she was not in the picture yet!) because Linda really seemed to believe that Danny would never get over her (Linda). Linda was sure that what she had choosen to do with the Doctor would tear Danny down, kill his self esteem and crumble him. BUT SHE WAS WRONG!! Praise God for the peace that God gave to Danny. I tell you the man has been hurt, and torn apart by her. No one seems to have any compassion for him, its always poor Linda. Well to some degree I do feel for poor Linda because now she sets with no doctor, no companion, no ministry (3ABN), and at this point knows that its all gone. What she saw in the Doctor, The doctor did not see in her! I don't know which caused the thinking of better, the Doctor or Linda or may be it was both. Now her only system of bitterness is to tear down the entire ministry. So I do feel for poor Linda in her state of being now.
>
> I'm also wondering who chose this 'beauty queen' to take Linda's place? Did Dan choose, or did someone choose for him?

Inga really what do you mean by this statement?

Posted by: Chez Jan 25 2007, 11:40 AM

[quote name='eye witness' post='172421' date='Jan 25 2007, 10:16 AM']

You actually shouldn't feel sorry for Linda. She is out of that "hell hole". You really should feel sorry for poor Brandi who is currently in that "hell hole".

Posted by: sonshineonme Jan 25 2007, 12:05 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 24 2007, 01:42 PM)
>
> December 2006 Linda is able to tell all! Where is she????? Maybe her 250k settlement has not ran out yet and so well she is still trying to "sue" for more (the true nature of her), and don't want to make hurt for herself.
> So what her plan is, is to get people to "do all this garbage for her". While she tries to maintain some sort of innocent profile. Actor!!!!

Thinking on this more, putting it together....I sense a STRONG spirit of jealousy and a deep underlying spirit of guilt. Eyewitness does need our prayers too - seriously.

Posted by: Spike Jan 25 2007, 12:17 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 25 2007, 11:05 AM)
>
> Thinking on this more, putting it together....I sense a STRONG spirit of jealousy and a deep underlying spirit of guilt. Eyewitness does need our prayers too - seriously.

Guilt is such a powerful emotion and unless we sumite it to the healing power of Jesus it will come out in uglyness and hatefulness. I will be one that will pray for Eyewitness also.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 25 2007, 09:01 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Jan 25 2007, 12:05 PM)
>
> Thinking on this more, putting it together....I sense a STRONG spirit of jealousy and a deep underlying spirit of guilt. Eyewitness does need our prayers too - seriously.

OH my lands, I am not jealous or have an underlying spirit of guilt. Why, oh why would I want to be where Linda is? Would you? By now she has used most of the 250k on court case after court case, with her own lawyers telling her that she don't have a case. She crys to all you people about poor Linda was treated unfair and all of her problems is the result of her own choices. The Board of ASI was willing to hear about Pooooor

Linda's side but HELLO Linda was not there. Reality she had no case once again. What she had was fear of truth that would put this chat forum in the reverse direction. Pro Danny and Pro 3ABN. Sorry for her. Linda is exposed again.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jan 25 2007, 09:27 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 25 2007, 10:01 PM)
>
> OH my lands, I am not jealous or have an underlying spirit of guilt. Why, oh why would I want to be where Linda is? Would you? By now she has used most of the 250k on court case after court case, with her own lawyers telling her that she don't have a case. She crys to all you people about poor Linda was treated unfair and all of her problems is the result of her own choices. The Board of ASI was willing to hear about Pooooor Linda's side but HELLO Linda was not there. Reality she had no case once again. What she had was fear of truth that would put this chat forum in the reverse direction. Pro Danny and Pro 3ABN. Sorry for her. Linda is exposed again.

The fact that you are here working diligently to discredit, disavow, disrupt and disrespect any and every one who does not join in with your danny worship says something else entirely...but I suppose if you continue to repeat this lie, eventually you will start believing it yourself.

As for this forum becoming "pro Danny" and "pro 3ABN"... you should really lay off smoking dust; it's making you delusional.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Clay Jan 25 2007, 09:32 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 25 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> OH my lands, I am not jealous or have an underlying spirit of guilt. Why, oh why would I want to be where Linda is? Would you? By now she has used most of the 250k on court case after court case, with her own lawyers telling her that she don't have a case. She crys to all you people about poor Linda was treated unfair and all of her problems is the result of her own choices. The Board of ASI was willing to hear about Pooooor Linda's side but HELLO Linda was not there. Reality she had no case once again. What she had was fear of truth that would put this chat forum in the reverse direction. Pro Danny and Pro 3ABN. Sorry for her. Linda is exposed again.

you are right... you are not jealous, or guilty.... neither do you have a clue.... there is one thing you are though.... tiresome.....

Posted by: Fran Jan 25 2007, 09:48 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 25 2007, 09:01 PM)
>
> OH my lands, I am not jealous or have an underlying spirit of guilt. Why, oh why would I want to be where Linda is? Would you? By now she has used most of the 250k on court case after court case, with her own lawyers telling her that she don't have a case. She crys to all you people about poor Linda was treated unfair and all of her problems is the result of her own choices. The Board of ASI was willing to hear about Pooooor Linda's side but HELLO Linda was not there. Reality she had no case once again. What she had > was fear of truth that would put this chat forum in the reverse direction. Pro Danny and Pro 3ABN. Sorry for her. Linda is exposed again.

'ou guys are desperate for Linda to start talking aren't you. You already know that Sister is not Linda, but ;ince she has the most information, you must discredit her.

\ctually, if she were Linda that would really give her high credibility. Every time you accuse Sister of being .inda, you are actually taking Sister's testimony even more credibility! Think about it!

.inda is not going to allow her buttons to be pushed. That is why she does not even read these threads. She ıas more important things to do.

.inda has shown everyone that she is better than the 3ABN group. She stands tall and silent. While, on the ›ther hand, the 3ABN group exhibits total hatred towards Linda. Who do I believe? I believe Linda and her :ontinued silence.

Vhy would I believe a group of people who are bent on destroying Linda? The venom is overpowering. Eye Vitness, think about what you are saying. Linda wasn't that bad. Danny lived with her for 20 years. He used o even talk about her in the positive.

believe Linda lived a life of abuse. I believe Danny is an abuser. Danny has to discredit her so no one will ;ee the true Danny.

t is too late. Our vision is 20/20 about his character. I believe he is a liar, an abuser, an adulterer, ımbezzler, and all around fake.

realize your loyalty is in Danny. Maybe you even helped him in his financial dealings. Maybe you got 'ewarded for your participation. Have your bank accounts been investigated? Especially those accounts that ›ABN has that bear your name.

f you are not Tammy and are Brenda, You need to fall on your knees and ask God to forgive you for being ;uch a large part of this mess by telling your lies.

f you are Brandi, please go home to your family. Things are about to get really ugly. You will be dragged hrough the same mud Danny will get pulled through. Brandi, Mistakes are easy to make. Things seem to be ı dream, but as you can now see, things are not as they seemed. Take a vacation and get away from it all. Get Trinity away from all this mess. She is innocent. Above all, keep Danny away from her. This man you narried is not what he seems.

f I am wrong on your identity, I apologize. If you are Shelley, get out while you are ahead. The Danny mud s smeared all over you too. If I have no clue who you are, my advice for you is to get as far away from this ness as soon as possible.

n all actuality you have greatly increased Linda's credibility. I would be proud to stand by Linda's side. She ;tands in a very good place. Now you have destroyed your credibility. I am still praying for you. Mothers can ›e vicious when it comes to their young. I pray that this mess will not harm you or your children, who ever 'ou are.

Posted by: eye witness Jan 25 2007, 09:57 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Jan 25 2007, 09:27 PM)
>
> The fact that you are here working diligently to discredit, disavow, disrupt and disrespect any and every one who does not join in with your danny worship says something else entirely...but I suppose if you continue to repeat this lie, eventually you will start believing it yourself.

> As for this forum becoming "pro Danny" and "pro 3ABN"... you should really lay off smoking dust; it's making you delusional.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

)ITTO

Posted by: Johann Jan 25 2007, 10:35 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 25 2007, 06:16 PM) ☐
>
> Inga really what do you mean by this statement?

\low you are revealing where your information comes from, Dr. eye witness! You see I was together with .inda all the time she was at the General Conference session at St. Louis. Both of us shook hands with a :ertain Mr. Danny Shelton while we were there. I can tell you that you are completely misinformed, because .inda never wore any kind of a ring while we were there.

)n the other hand I saw the ladies who repeatedly tried to get to talk to Linda alone, offering her that she :ould come and stay at some mountain resort. The only condition was that she would take counselling for our hours each day. When Linda still refused their generous offer on the third day, one of them burst out elling her that she must realize that since Eve sinned first, any divorce is the woman's fault, and that she ıeeded counelling to learn that biblical principle!

5o somebody made up the story she was wearing a wedding ring there?

\lmost as much rubbish as much of the other stuff you are claiming you saw as an eye witness! Does it all :ome from the same source as that one with the wedding ring?

Posted by: erik Jan 28 2007, 11:13 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Jan 25 2007, 08:35 PM) ☐
>

> Now you are revealing where your information comes from, Dr. eye witness! You see I was together with Linda all the time she was at the General Conference session at St. Louis. Both of us shook hands with a certain Mr. Danny Shelton while we were there. I can tell you that you are completely misinformed, because Linda never wore any kind of a ring while we were there.
>
> On the other hand I saw the ladies who repeatedly tried to get to talk to Linda alone, offering her that she could come and stay at some mountain resort. The only condition was that she would take counselling for four hours each day. When Linda still refused their generous offer on the third day, one of them burst out telling her that she must realize that since Eve sinned first, any divorce is the woman's fault, and that she needed counelling to learn that biblical principle!
>
> So somebody made up the story she was wearing a wedding ring there?
>
> Almost as much rubbish as much of the other stuff you are claiming you saw as an eye witness! Does it all come from the same source as that one with the wedding ring?

eyewitness,

well how about it if she was wearing a ring then did you get photos?

erik

Posted by: Rosyroi Jan 28 2007, 12:10 PM

> QUOTE(eye witness @ Jan 25 2007, 07:01 PM)
>
> OH my lands, I am not jealous or have an underlying spirit of guilt. Why, oh why would I want to be where Linda is? Would you? By now she has used most of the 250k on court case after court case, with her own lawyers telling her that she don't have a case. She crys to all you people about poor Linda was treated unfair and all of her problems is the result of her own choices. The Board of ASI was willing to hear about Pooooor Linda's side but HELLO Linda was not there. Reality she had no case once again. What she had was fear of truth that would put this chat forum in the reverse direction. Pro Danny and Pro 3ABN. Sorry for her. Linda is exposed again.

Since I am a regular member of BSDA now, do I assume you are talking to me also about Linda crying to me about how she has been treated unfair? Sorry to disappoint you. I am still waiting for proof of all those accusasions Danny and family had sent out via email about all the terrible things Linda had been doing. For all the bad things I had heard (there are more I heard that have not been addressed in this forum yet and will not mention them here) she would have been a pretty busy woman being in so many places at the same time. Still trying to figure it all out. But am leaning to Linda since I haven't had any positive feed back from Danny's camp yet. Guess I entered a lot of threads here. Sorry about that folks.

Posted by: inga Jan 28 2007, 02:04 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Jan 28 2007, 01:10 PM)
>
> But am leaning to Linda since I haven't had any positive feed back from Danny's camp yet. Guess I entered a lot of threads here. Sorry about that folks.

Go right ahead! That's the only way to learn.

Posted by: LaurenceD May 3 2007, 08:45 AM

(bump)

I hadn't read this thread before. If you're new around here, you might find it interesting to read the first page again. Just thought it was interesting that Dr. Abrahamsen says he's been slandered by the 3abn leadership. Looks like another 3abn double standard...dish it out but can't take it,. Sue, but don't sue me kind of thing.

On 'July 13 2006 (page 1), Johann wrote...

> Many have indicated a desire to hear from Dr. Arild Abrahamsen in person.
> He has prepared this document, sent it to me, and asked me to post it here for him, with no changes in his wording. I am therefore doing this. Since it is rather lengthy, we are dividing it into small sections, so as to make it easier for any of you who wish to comment or ask questions on any section to do so. I am not adding any comments to his words other than one line at the top of each segment giving the identifying information as to the author and which section of his document is in that post.

Permission is granted by the author to copy and share this document so long as the document is used in its entirety without interior comments, deletions, or editing, and the author's name, place, and date of writing as well as the url of this BSDA forum on which it is being published are included.

Letter from Dr. Abrahamsen, June 20, 2006, Section One.

> Greetings from Norway;
>
> My name is Dr. Arild Abrahamsen. I live in Svindal, Norway. I have been a medical doctor for more than 35 years. I am a member of the Moss SDA Church. I've been the Sabbath School superintendent for 14 years and the head elder for 4 years, which position I am presently serving. I am the Norwegian doctor who has been slandered by Dr. Walt Thompson, chairman of the board of 3ABN, Danny Shelton, John Lomacang and others.
>
> Since I have observed the situation and the slander only getting worse, I feel it best to share my experience. I share my personal experience, what I have seen and heard. Much of this information has been verified by other sources, which include emails, letters and the personal experiences of others. I share my experience not to attack any individual or organization, but to bring the truth of this situation to the surface.
>
> I have been shocked to observe the events of the last two years. I have made no public statement until now. I had hoped things would resolve themselves.
>
> I visited Johann and Irmgard Thorvaldsson at 3ABN the last week of 2003. The purpose of the trip was to see them and visit the ministry, which I personally had been supporting for some time. I had never been to 3ABN previously, nor had I met the Shelton's. During this visit I discovered from the Thorvaldsson's that Linda Shelton's son, Nathan, was in a dangerous state of health because of an addiction to drugs and working in coalmines. I offered to see him. This visit resulted in an invitation for Nathan to come to Norway for treatments. Nathan came to Norway around January 20, 2004 along with his friend, Dava Vice. Linda came for a 3-½ day visit to support her son, the first week of February together with Brenda Walsh. This was the last time I saw Linda until the weekend she was fired.
>
> I had a chance to visit with Nathan regularly. I learned from my conversations with Nathan that the roots of his drug problems were the relationships with his father and stepfather. Specifically he told me that Danny had turned his back on him. I shared this information with his mother on the phone. She told me that Danny said he had no responsibility towards Nathan since he was a product of her first marriage, so she felt she had to do what she could to help her son. There was nothing unusual in the occasional phone reports I gave Nathan's mother while he was in Norway. After Nathan returned home, I asked Linda to keep me updated on Nathan's progress.

Posted by: Johann May 3 2007, 10:22 AM

QUOTE(LaurenceD @ May 3 2007, 04:45 PM) ☐

> (bump)
>
> I hadn't read this thread before. If you're new around here, you might find it interesting to read the first page again. Just thought it was interesting that Dr. Abrahamsen says he's been slandered by the 3abn leadership. Looks like another 3abn double standard...dish it out but can't take it,. Sue, but don't sue me kind of thing.
>
> [/list]
> [/list]

These are facts that need to be known.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ This Should Not Be News - Continuation

Posted by: calvin Jul 15 2004, 09:07 PM

Hi, my name is Danny Shelton and I work for 3ABN. It's not a credit your Black SDA that it appears to be nothing more than a tabloid gossip page.
Not one of the people that I could see commenting have even attempted to contact me, that I know of, about all the things they are judging me of.
You do have some people in the "know" that you could find out some info from if it means that much to you. Pastor John Lomacang has spent many hours counseling with Linda and me and even made some recommendations to the board about our situation which the 3ABN board took very seriously.
As of late Pastor Mark Finley has counseled with both Linda and Me. He agrees with the decision the board has taken on this issue and so does Pastor John. Several others have also counseled us and all agree with the board's action.
Paula and Curtis have indeed been back to do more programming without me or Linda. Their program stands on it's own.
No one has been hurt like Linda and me have been through this whole situation. We still love each other and spend considerable time together.
This situation at 3ABN cannot be judged by onlookers as though you have the truth. Much of this is so personal you will probably never know what has really happened.
We encourage people not to take sides, except to support the work of God on this earth.
If 3ABN is of God it will continue to bring about good fruit.
If it is of Satan it will bring about bad fruit. You be the judge.
Please continue to pray for both Linda and me as we both want 3ABN to succeed in taking the gospel to the world.
Thanks for listening

Posted by: claborn Jul 15 2004, 09:45 PM

Thanks Calvin for sharing the letter. I would submit to Mr. Shelton that in the absence of information, people of all colors will fill in the blanks.... Go check out VOAF and see what was said there....If he didn't want to share their personal business, then they should have handled it maturely on 3ABN when the rift occurred, not mysteriously have Linda disappear and not mention anything....

As for his opinion of what BSDA is, how would he know since he has not fellowshipped with us?

Posted by: claborn Jul 15 2004, 10:18 PM

I just went back and read the responses to the first thread on this topic. I did not see anything that was tabloidish.... we discussed possibilities and didn't assign balme to anyone, giving them both benefit of the doubt.... all told there were only 53 comments.... On VOAF there were 233 comments on one thread and they closed the thread and then someone started it again and there are 44 more comments on this topic..... here are the links......

http://online-adventist.org/ubb/Forum8/HTML/000302.html
http://online-adventist.org/ubb/Forum8/HTML/000288.html

How does one conclude that we are not nothing more than tabloid gossip???????

Calvin edit if you need to.....

Posted by: princessdi Jul 15 2004, 11:36 PM

Ok, so did we, can we answer Danny? We got what information from another site, I personally knew nothing about it.

Probably, because I don't know all of the facts, and should not, I still believe there was a better way to handle things, but that is just me.

Just curious. How did he find out about us, and did he write the other SDA sites who had something to say? Did he completely miss the part about us agreeing that they both needed our prayers? Just asking.

Posted by: calvin Jul 16 2004, 01:49 AM

I sent a personal reply to him. But you can reply by stating your opinion here like we do with any other subject. Danny has been lurking here and probably will continue to do so or some other lurkers will get the message to him.

This ordeal is obviously very painful for him. As he said it is personal and we will never know all the facts. The fact of the matter are not important to me. Let's just keep them and the 3ABN ministry in our prayers.

I have no way of knowing why he chose to vent to me, or if he has done so on other boards and mailing lists.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 16 2004, 05:01 AM

They aired it, but let me just say this, we all sin and fall short of the glory of God!
Jesus told the jews to cast the first stone, and 3abn did, and that is all I have to say.

Posted by: kountzer Jul 16 2004, 05:06 AM

> QUOTE (claborn1960 @ Jul 16 2004, 03:45 AM)
>
> QUOTE
>
> how would he know since he has not fellowshipped with us?[/color] fellowshipping? Is that what this is?

DB

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 16 2004, 05:12 AM

> QUOTE (kountzer @ Jul 16 2004, 05:06 AM)
>
> fellowshipping? Is that what this is?
>
> DB

Yup, and you have just been DIS-fellowshipped!

Posted by: kountzer Jul 16 2004, 05:14 AM

QUOTE (claborn1960 @ Jul 16 2004, 03:45 AM)

QUOTE

> people of all colors will fill in the blanks

I've seen more diversity of opinion and people of color on 3ABN than I have seen just about anywhere else in this church.

dB

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 16 2004, 05:21 AM

You know Calvin this is another unfortunate situation where we have been attacked and if I am not mistaking we have the freedom of speech in this country. Something was put out there for discussion we did that, and we are looked upon as being gossipers. Now that is just not right. Just like Priness Di said, you had some of us here "SAYING PRAY FOR LINDA AND DANNY!" I do admit that there are things here that may seem like we think all of this was/is a joke but contrary to popular belief in some way I think all people here are saddened about this unfortunate situation.

A lot of times we as humans take circumstances and try to make the best out of them, and the returning back to TBN jokes if that offened anyone I apologize, but it was out of pure fun. Nothing to be taken personal.

I offer a sincere apology to anyone at 3abn that might have taken any of this too personal, but all we are doing here is discussing things pertinent to the SDA Worldwide church, from a point of view from people of color!

As your statement says Calvin, this isn't an official Church website, and you are not liable to answer to any of these charges about gossip or slander!

God bless you, for all you do I know you mean very very well, and I am sorry if I caused you any hardships due to my post!

Posted by: kountzer Jul 16 2004, 05:46 AM

QUOTE

> You know Calvin this is another unfortunate situation where we have been attacked and if I am not mistaking we have the freedom of speech in this country. Something was put out there for discussion we did that, and we are looked upon as being gossipers. Now that is just not right. Just like Priness Di said, you had some of us here "SAYING PRAY FOR LINDA AND DANNY!" I do admit that there are things here that may seem like we think all of this was/is a joke but contrary to popular belief in some way I think all people here are saddened about this unfortunate situation.
>
> A lot of times we as humans take circumstances and try to make the best out of them, and the returning back to TBN jokes if that offened anyone I apologize, but it was out of pure fun. Nothing to be taken personal.
>
> I offer a sincere apology to anyone at 3abn that might have taken any of this too personal, but all we are doing here is discussing things pertinent to the SDA Worldwide church, from a point of view from people of color!

> As your statement says Calvin, this isn't an official Church website, and you are not liable to answer to any of these charges about gossip or slander!
>
> God bless you, for all you do I know you mean very very well, and I am sorry if I caused you any hardships due to my post!

Watch out for dem yankees. They may try to bamboozle ya into their way of thinking, and have you show up at church on saturday.

DB

Posted by: Denny Jul 16 2004, 08:06 AM

I'm sorry he didn't read the messages that expressed prayers for them. I went to the 3ABN site and sent a positive e-mail expressing God's will for their lives including Linda, he probably missed that one too. Tis only human nature to lash out when hurt I suppose.

Posted by: claborn Jul 16 2004, 08:07 AM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jul 16 2004, 06:06 AM)

> fellowshipping? Is that what this is?
>
> DB

Yes DB, despite your being grumpy.... it is fellowship and you know what else? For all your grumbling, you enjoy reading the comments.... you like it here, now you can protest all you want, but your actions (which speak louder than words) suggest you enjoy the FELLOWSHIP here..... tableta

---

Posted by: calvin Jul 16 2004, 08:22 AM

QUOTE (PARADISE @ Jul 16 2004, 05:21 AM)

> You know Calvin this is another unfortunate situation where we have been attacked and if I am not mistaking we have the freedom of speech in this country. Something was put out there for discussion we did that, and we are looked upon as being gossipers. Now that is just not right. Just like Priness Di said, you had some of us here "SAYING PRAY FOR LINDA AND DANNY!" I do admit that there are things here that may seem like we think all of this was/is a joke but contrary to popular belief in some way I think all people here are saddened about this unfortunate situation.
>
> A lot of times we as humans take circumstances and try to make the best out of them, and the returning back to TBN jokes if that offened anyone I apologize, but it was out of pure fun. Nothing to be taken personal.
>
> I offer a sincere apology to anyone at 3abn that might have taken any of this too personal, but all we are doing here is discussing things pertinent to the SDA Worldwide church, from a point of view from people of color!
>
> As your statement says Calvin, this isn't an official Church website, and you are not liable to answer > to any of these charges about gossip or slander!

>
> God bless you, for all you do I know you mean very very well, and I am sorry if I caused you any hardships due to my post!

Paradise, no offense taken or apology needed on behalf of me. You summarized much of my email response to him. BSDA is a public open discussion board. We don't have any sacred cow subjects that are untouchable related to the Seventh-day Adventist church. Danny and Linda Shelton are public figures in the church and their ministry in 3ABN is well known. That puts them in play for discussion.

I did not address his charge of BSDA be a tabloid gossip column. I will address it now. There is often a thin line between gossip and information sharing in our discussions, and no doubt we cross that line at times. But BSDA is much more than tabloid gossip as he described us. This board is a mere reflection of your local church and the church at large. We have sinners here of all kind, all trying to make it to the kingdom.

What Danny may have failed to realize is that much of the discussion here and I suspect on other Adventist message boards, as well around the dinner table on Sabbath afternoons is in genuine interest for his ministry, some of whom have a financial interest (black people contribute to 3ABN too) and for them. As Di mentioned, many committed to pray for them and requested others to pray. But I can understand that when someone is hurting, they tend to see what they want to see.

Posted by: awesumtenor Jul 16 2004, 09:10 AM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jul 16 2004, 10:22 AM)

> I did not address his charge of BSDA be a tabloid gossip column. I will address it now. There is often a thin line between gossip and information sharing in our discussions, and no doubt we cross that line at times. But BSDA is much more than tabloid gossip as he described us. This board is a mere reflection of your local church and the church at large. We have sinners here of all kind, all trying to make it to the kingdom.

Even beyond this, when things do go beyond the bounds of propriety, this board, more than any other I've been a part of, can and does police itself without regard for who it is that needs to be rebuked...and if Danny Shelton lurks here alot, then he should have noticed that by now.

As I've said before, those who view this list negatively need to see the other unmoderated/quasi-moderated Adventist lists to get some perspective. Other lists have been far more speculative about the nature of the issues which the Sheltons are dealing with and far more vitriolic towards him, her or both of them... Most of the speculation here has centered around the action of the 3ABN organization and the possible motives behind said action, not around the personal issues of Danny and Linda Shelton. It appears to me Bro. Shelton is trying to spin this so he comes out blameless, by any means necessary... and having achieved a degree of influence through the 3ABN ministry he has lost sight of the fact that neither this list nor the opinions of those who frequent it are subject to his whim...also lost on him is the fact that he has been given a substantially fairer shake here than most other places.

I continue to pray for the Sheltons and the 3ABN ministry... and I continue to pray for you, Calvin, and for the ministry you have here.

In His service,
Kevin Josey

Posted by: princessdi Jul 16 2004, 09:49 AM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Jul 16 2004, 03:14 AM)

> I've seen more diversity of opinion and people of color on 3ABN than I have seen just about anywhere else in this church.
>
> dB

DB, I think you missed the point of this one. Steve was saying with 3ABN putting out only a bare minimum of information, most people, of all colors, will fill in the blanks or at least speculate about the rest of the facts.

I totally understand, Calvin. Last night I read those other site, plus Linda letter. Those other sight said things far worse than we did. Our main focus was the handling of the situation. My jaw dropped at some of the stuff I read on the other sites. I had no idea it was that bad.

Posted by: investigator Jul 16 2004, 09:52 AM

I have to agree with Calvin's post of today. I also believe that both Shelton's have been hurting, but it is information that has been put out there. Why can't it be discussed? Some of the things that are on ClubAdventist.com are about church matters and names are used and the issues are discussed more explicitly than here. I believe instead of attacking the website responses, Danny Shelton should continue to work on his situation. I sense that he is angry and lashing out and it is understandable because he is hurting.

Posted by: mizrobby Jul 16 2004, 10:31 AM

QUOTE (claborn1960 @ Jul 16 2004, 04:18 AM)

> I just went back and read the responses to the first thread on this topic. I did not see anything that was tabloidish.... we discussed possibilities and didn't assign balme to anyone, giving them both benefit of the doubt.... all told there were only 53 comments.... On VOAF there were 233 comments on one thread and they closed the thread and then someone started it again and there are 44 more comments on this topic..... here are the links......
>
> http://online-adventist.org/ubb/Forum8/HTML/000302.html
> http://online-adventist.org/ubb/Forum8/HTML/000288.html
>
> How does one conclude that we are not nothing more than tabloid gossip???????
>
> Calvin edit if you need to.....

Oh boy! I just read these sites and it seems to be so much anger and hatred there. And Shelton formed his mouth to say that BSDA is a tabloid/gossip site? He's got to be kidding!! The prayers that leave BSDA on their behalf just may be the prayers that keep 3ABN afloat! The other sites are indeed ripping them apart and definitely are not discreet in calling names. Indeed, Shelton is lashing out at the wrong parties and needs to re-direct...

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 16 2004, 01:37 PM

QUOTE (awesumtenor @ Jul 16 2004, 09:10 AM)

> Even beyond this, when things do go beyond the bounds of propriety, this board, more than any other I've been a part of, can and does police itself without regard for who it is that needs to be rebuked...and if Danny Shelton lurks here alot, then he should have noticed that by now.
>
> As I've said before, those who view this list negatively need to see the other unmoderated/quasi-moderated Adventist lists to get some perspective. Other lists have been far more speculative about the nature of the issues which the Sheltons are dealing with and far more vitriolic towards him, her or both of them... Most of the speculation here has centered around the action of the 3ABN organization and the possible motives behind said action, not around the personal issues of Danny and Linda Shelton. It appears to me Bro. Shelton is trying to spin this so he comes out blameless, by any means necessary... and having achieved a degree of influence through the 3ABN ministry he has lost sight of the fact that neither this list nor the opinions of those who frequent it are subject to his whim...also lost on him is the fact that he has been given a substantially fairer shake here than most other places.
>
> I continue to pray for the Sheltons and the 3ABN ministry... and I continue to pray for you, Calvin, and for the ministry you have here.
>
> In His service,
> Kevin Josey

I couldn't have said it better!

Posted by: dmizzle06 Jul 16 2004, 07:40 PM

QUOTE (PARADISE @ Jul 16 2004, 05:12 AM)

> Yup, and you have just been DIS-fellowshipped!

Posted by: dmizzle06 Jul 16 2004, 07:48 PM

Ok, something is very wrong with this man's letter. First of all, he says this is a tabloid site, whatever that means. Nobody gossips on here...well, at least that's not the main focus of this site. If he'd paid attention to the threads, he'd have known that. Secondly, he seems upset over the fact that no one attempted to get the story from the horse's mouth, yet he offered no explanation or details of the situation in his letter. And finally, as I mentioned in another thread, 3ABN isn't spreading the gospel to "all the world." I'd like to see a network of some sort where everyone can have access, not just a few Adventists who subscribe to it.

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 17 2004, 07:00 PM

QUOTE (dmizzle06 @ Jul 16 2004, 07:48 PM)

> Ok, something is very wrong with this man's letter. First of all, he says this is a tabloid site, whatever > that means. Nobody gossips on here...well, at least that's not the main focus of this site. If he'd paid attention to the threads, he'd have known that. Secondly, he seems upset over the fact that no one attempted to get the story from the horse's mouth, yet he offered no explanation or details of the situation in his letter. And finally, as I mentioned in another thread, 3ABN isn't spreading the gospel to "all the world." I'd like to see a network of some sort where everyone can have access, not just a few Adventists who subscribe to it.

Preach it

Posted by: TedOdell Jul 18 2004, 05:06 PM

the meanest, most racist, self-righteous....

Shelton's missive was nothing more than a rallying call for all of his supporters. They have a problem with us when we call them out! (by their right name). But, I'll keep my membership (and take my chances) in the conferences of us gossipers 'til Jesus comes.

If he spent as much time with Linda as he did while with BSDA, maybe she wouldn't have gotten her veggie-stella on.

Oh Dannyeee Boi ! Come to think about it, maybe a separate gossip channel wouldn't be all bad. Since all will know up front that it's all lies, nobody feelings ought to be hurt.

Posted by: pmorris68 Jul 18 2004, 10:19 PM

I have been resisiting posting anything about this. Now let me say this. I appauld the fact that the Chairman of 3ABN even went through the trouble to creating a committee to find the facts in this situation and unbiasley got other peoples opinion before doing what they did. But Danny and Linda Shelton have become public figures in our church. And he just needs to accept that fact and move on. Regardless of what has transpired between them, it needed to stay between them. But because she put it out there, well there you go. So now they have got to deal with the talking and conversations about it.

That is life!! NO matter what color you are pain is pain. And for their pain I pray God will comfort. But let's not forget this was self inflicted pain. Now MR. Shelton may not have intended this all to go down the way it has. But it has. So now the best thing for him to do is to pray and let it go and move on. While I understand no one's life is perfect if it were we would all be in heaven by now. We totally understand that in this world divorce is a ugly reality. But he needs to focus on healing and not lashing out at folks who are commenting on his life. He is only making it worse. That's my 2 cents.

Posted by: investigator Jul 19 2004, 10:03 AM

Ted, tell us how yur really feel!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Posted by: HUGGINS130 Jul 19 2004, 10:19 AM

Ok now that we have established the fact that no one is trying to gossip, what in the world happened. If she claimed that she hasn't cheated, what could have went wrong. I think this whole ordeal is just a bunch of junk, AND I didn't know that it was LINDA that brought all of this attention to herself... SAD SAD SAD!!!

Posted by: pmorris68 Jul 19 2004, 12:45 PM

QUOTE (investigator @ Jul 19 2004, 10:03 AM)

> Ted, tell us how yur really feel!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

I thought I got carried away!!

Posted by: calvin Jul 19 2004, 01:44 PM

Ted does not post here often, but if you know Ted, that was classic Ted. I must admit the "Veggie-Stella" jab had me

---

Posted by: princessdi Jul 19 2004, 02:06 PM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jul 19 2004, 11:44 AM)

> Ted does not post here often, but if you know Ted, that was classic Ted. I must admit the "Veggie-Stella" jab had me

I'm glad I am not the only one!! LOL!!! Sorry. I couldn't help that one!

Posted by: calvin Jul 19 2004, 02:22 PM

Yea, I know Di. I am not one who usually makes fun at someone's expense, but that jab was just down right funny. BTW, for all you White folks lurking out there, the reference is to the movie "How Stella Got Her Grove Back". You would have had to seen or heard of the movie to appreciate the humor.

Posted by: mizrobby Jul 19 2004, 08:38 PM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jul 19 2004, 07:44 PM)

> Ted does not post here often, but if you know Ted, that was classic Ted. I must admit the "Veggie-Stella" jab had me

Calvin--Indeed, you do know my husband well!!! Classic Ted for sure!! than

---

Posted by: mizrobby Jul 27 2004, 08:00 PM

QUOTE (calvin @ Jul 16 2004, 03:07 AM)

> Hi, my name is Danny Shelton and I work for 3ABN. It's not a credit your Black SDA that it appears to be nothing more than a tabloid gossip page.
> Not one of the people that I could see commenting have even attempted to contact me, that I know of, about all the things they are judging me of.

> You do have some people in the "know" that you could find out some info from if it means that much to you. Pastor John Lomacang has spent many hours counseling with Linda and me and even made some recommendations to the board about our situation which the 3ABN board took very seriously.
> As of late Pastor Mark Finley has counseled with both Linda and Me. He agrees with the decision the board has taken on this issue and so does Pastor John. Several others have also counseled us and all agree with the board's action.
> Paula and Curtis have indeed been back to do more programming without me or Linda. Their program stands on it's own.
> No one has been hurt like Linda and me have been through this whole situation. We still love each other and spend considerable time together.
> This situation at 3ABN cannot be judged by onlookers as though you have the truth. Much of this is so personal you will probably never know what has really happened.
> We encourage people not to take sides, except to support the work of God on this earth.
> If 3ABN is of God it will continue to bring about good fruit.
> If it is of Satan it will bring about bad fruit. You be the judge.
> Please continue to pray for both Linda and me as we both want 3ABN to succeed in taking the gospel to the world.
> Thanks for listening

Hi Family--Ted and I took a trip to Orlando this past weekend, and decided to visit the Patmos church. 3ABN was also at Patmos taping Sabbath services for their "On the Road" tour. Patmos' choir and the fellowship was awesome and we look forward to returning.

Now--Danny Shelton was the speaker of the hour, of course. His comments throughout the course of his presentation were interesting, to say the very least. After the choir sang, his comment was "y'all are serious about singing here"... Then after some rambling, he compared his coming to Patmos with his going to New York. He mentioned that a friend told him that whenever he saw a lot of Black people, don't be intimidated, just look them in the eye and say "what choo lookin' at?"...When in the program it was time for the offering, he made another comment saying, "in the Black churches, you say "lift the tithes"...

Many "Black" comments were made. IMHO, all were unnecessary. Were these supposed to be terms of endearment? When we visit "their" churches, should we make lots of "white" comments? Maybe this was his way of breaking the ice.

Many waited with baited breath for the sermon. Mr. Shelton based his sermon on Nehemiah's building of the wall--and not coming off that wall to defend his actions. Mr. Shelton equated Nehemiah with himself--and how he will not come off the wall to defend his actions re:3ABN and accusations made against him. Mr. Shelton pretty much ranted about silly women being led astray, lust, how tv and internet has entered the home, infidelity among women, how innocent conversation leads to destruction, Adventist chat rooms and rumors abounding and how folks are writing about him. That was the sermon.

I'm sure everyone in the room felt what he was alluding to and ranting about. I'm sure some of you may have seen the taping. I took notes, as I sometimes do in order to recall what the sermon was about.

Anyway, after services, I felt an obligation to talk with Mr. Shelton. I offered up a prayer so that my words would not cross my lips, but that the Holy Spirit would guide my tongue. I shook his hand, told him that I'm a member of BlackSDA, and let him know that the members of BlackSDA are strong Christians. I also told him that BlackSDA is in no way a gossip/tabloid column and his letter saying that we were was highly offensive. I also told him that the members of BlackSDA are continuing to lift him AND Linda and 3ABN up in prayer, and that if anyone is keeping 3ABN afloat, it is the prayers of BlackSDA. I didn't let his hand go or stop looking him in his eyes until he heard. He did say many times "I appreciate that".

If Mr. Shelton is lurking this site, I'm sure he will confirm all that I've said here.

Posted by: TedOdell Jul 27 2004, 08:11 PM

yep...that's what happened alright TED WUZ THERE!

Posted by: princessdi Jul 27 2004, 08:32 PM

You know, I had never even heard of Danny Shelton or Lida until this unfortunate situation. My first impression remains the same. They should have handled this a lot better, and he should preach when asked and refrain from causing more confusion. What MizRobby just relayed does not sound at al like the man who posted here with such righteous indignation. If people are talking about him, then it is this type of behavior exhibited by him and the board of 3ABN who fuel the fire.

Posted by: tarduke Jul 28 2004, 06:56 AM

Mzrobby I saw the braodcast of the Patmos service and can confirm some of what you report. The "black" comments were just plain stupid, I think. As soon as Danny started his talk on Nehemiah and I realized he was trying to use the Word I got turnned off.

Posted by: mizrobby Jul 28 2004, 07:43 AM

The comments were indeed uncalled for and ignorant, to say the very least. It showed the great divide--our church and your church. This is what you do and this is what we do. I think what bothered me the most is that persons laughed at the comments in order to placate him or make him feel more comfortable. God's love, grace and compassion was not brought out or emphasized. Only frustration and anger.

Has anyone had a speaking engagement at a "white" church? Do you feel compelled to make Black/White comments to break the ice?

But as I let Mr. Shelton know, BlackSDA members are praying for them--it's obvious that prayer is needed.

Welcome, Tarduke!

Posted by: statrei Jul 28 2004, 07:55 AM

QUOTE (mizrobby @ Jul 28 2004, 08:43 AM)

> Has anyone had a speaking engagement at a "white" church? Do you feel compelled to make Black/White comments to break the ice?

In the early nineties I preached at a white church in Tallahasse, FL. My topic was "Are You Black Enough?" That was my only reference to color.

Posted by: mizrobby Jul 28 2004, 08:46 AM

Darius--How were you received? What was your message behind the title? Sounds powerfully intriguing...

Posted by: statrei Jul 28 2004, 09:26 AM

When I announced the subject there was some visible shifting in the seats. But they stayed long enough to get the message. My text was from Jeremiah concerning the brand plucked from the burning. My thesis was that it was not enough to be singed by the heat from the Holy Spirit; we need to be burned by the Spirit. We need to be black enough. It was a good sermon, even if I say so myself.

Posted by: investigator Jul 28 2004, 01:49 PM

I saw the broadcast on Sabbath as I was getting ready to go to sabbath school.
I kept waiting for him to get into his sermon and waited quite a while before realizing that the sermon was all about him. The looks on the members faces told me some were bored, some had a wondering look and some were intently listening to what he was saying. I thought some of the comments were inappropriate for divine worship, but I believed he used the platform he was given to get some things off his chest. He said with the Lord's help he will not talk about this anymore. Let's hope that he sticks to his word. I just think he does not know a lot (any) of black people and he just does not know what to say. Perhaps someone in his area can become his friend and help him. It might just be me, but 3ABN is now kinda boring.

I'm still praying for him because he comes across as a awfully hurting person.

Posted by: dmizzle06 Jul 28 2004, 07:27 PM

QUOTE (mizrobby @ Jul 28 2004, 07:43 AM)

> The comments were indeed uncalled for and ignorant, to say the very least. It showed the great divide--our church and your church. This is what you do and this is what we do. I think what bothered me the most is that persons laughed at the comments in order to placate him or make him feel more comfortable. God's love, grace and compassion was not brought out or emphasized. Only frustration and anger.
>
> Has anyone had a speaking engagement at a "white" church? Do you feel compelled to make Black/White comments to break the ice?
>
> But as I let Mr. Shelton know, BlackSDA members are praying for them--it's obvious that prayer is needed.
>
> Welcome, Tarduke!

This is why there will always be a separation as far as black and white conferences are concerned. And some people wonder why we still need them!

Posted by: pmorris68 Jul 28 2004, 07:28 PM

Heck ain't no black or white heaven, so somebody going to real messed up on Judgement day, that's all I got to say. :

Posted by: kountzer Jul 28 2004, 08:27 PM

QUOTE

> Heck ain't no black or white heaven, so somebody going to real messed up on Judgement day, that's all I got to say. :

Word.

DB

Posted by: dmizzle06 Jul 28 2004, 09:57 PM

No racism or prejudice there either, so add some more to that total.

Posted by: Denny Jul 29 2004, 05:31 AM

QUOTE (dmizzle06 @ Jul 29 2004, 02:27 AM)

> This is why there will always be a separation as far as black and white conferences are concerned. And some people wonder why we still need them!

Do you think separation re-inforces the ignorance?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 6 2004, 11:10 PM

In most cases, when a person has been employed with an organization for 19 years or more, and a highly visible part of the organization, they are not sent off with a tersely worded "Statement Regarding Jane Doe."

Corporate America does not operate that way. Not ever.

Official, Corporate Statements usually look something like this.

(The following is a press release I wrote, myself. One like this should have gone out, instead of their Web-based, unsophisticated and unrefined statement.)

Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc.

For Immediate Release,

May 19, 2004

After nearly 20 years with Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Linda Shelton will be leaving to pursue other, important interests as a well-deserved break from her daily routine.

Those of us here at the network will greatly miss the energy, drive, commitment, and dedication that Linda put into every project or assignment on which she worked. She will be greatly missed by both the staff and network viewers around the world who have grown to know her.

We wish her the very best as she seeks new interests away from the network. Until her return, if ever, 3ABN will be in the capable hands of Danny Shelton, Mollie Steenson, Dee Hilderbrand, Robert Russell, Moses Primo, and the 3ABN team.

---30---

Therefore, my point is that I really don't need to know the ins and outs of the Linda Shelton story to know that properly worded press releases are not tersely written "Statements." And they're not called "Statements." Unless you're under oath and testifying to Congress.

Even a casual reader will see that this was not an appropriate way to terminate a long-term employee. It was embarrassing, humiliating, and degrading to the human spirit. It lacked basic compassion for the person involved and was not Christian in any sense of the word.

I agree with Billy Graham on this point: You don't have to kill someone to commit murder. All you have to do is ruin their reputation and make them unusable for the task God has prepared them to do.

Panama Pete

Posted by: princessdi Aug 6 2004, 11:34 PM

QUOTE (Panama_Pete @ Aug 6 2004, 09:10 PM)

> In most cases, when a person has been employed with an organization for 19 years or more, and a highly visible part of the organization, they are not sent off with a tersely worded "Statement Regarding Jane Doe."
>
> ...
>
> Panama Pete

Welcome Panama Pete, to BlackSDA!!! My name is Diane I am from Northern California(which is why I am still up). Continue to enjoy the site!

now to the topic. You would send out a press release such as you have written, if you really felt that way. If you didn't want to hurt or embarrass or just out right destroy the person, but when is is your intention to hurt, embarrass ans destroy......then you have the situation we now see.

Posted by: mema Aug 6 2004, 11:48 PM

I think before I can comment on this (which you all know that I am famous for), I should do some more research. I am upset that this individual would group everyone into this letter.

But as I said, I need to do some research.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 7 2004, 01:13 AM

QUOTE (mema @ Aug 6 2004, 11:48 PM)

> I am upset that this individual would group everyone into this letter.
>
> But as I said, I need to do some research.

I do not understand what you mean by "grouping everyone."

Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc., is a corporate entity. It exists completely and separately, by itself, as an Illinois corporation.

There is no "everyone."

I'm also curious to know what kind of "research" you mean.

Panama Pete

Posted by: kountzer Aug 7 2004, 04:35 AM

In most corporations the Prez is not married to the VP. Also, 3ABN is not a corporation. It is a non profit, self supporting christian organization and ministry. Big difference.

DB

Posted by: Panama_Pete Aug 7 2004, 05:08 AM

QUOTE (kountzer @ Aug 7 2004, 04:35 AM)

> In most corporations the Prez is not married to the VP. Also, 3ABN is not a corporation. It is a non profit, self supporting christian organization and ministry. Big difference.
>
> DB

When you step inside the front door of 3ABN, you'll see a plaque on the wall from the local Chamber of Commerce with the name "Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc." engraved on it.

It's a corporation. That's what the "inc" means. Non-profit status simply refers to its 501 C (3) identity with the Internal Revenue Service.

Secondly, it's a media corporation, as is the Washington Post, which also owns Newsweek and Cable One.

Katherine Meyer Graham took over the presidency of the Washington Post empire when her husband, Phil Graham, died.

So, husbands and wives have been involved in the media in the past, and they will continue to be involved in the media in the future.

Other examples of husbands and wives are:

Paul and Jan Crouch, Trinity Broadcasting Network
Marcus and Joni Lamb, Daystar Television Network
Garth and Tina Coonce, TCT Christian

And syndicated media:

Jack and Rexella Van Impe: "Jack Van Impe Presents"

James and Betty Robison: "Life Outreach International"
Dave and Joyce Meyer: "Joyce Meyer Ministries"
Creflo and Taffy Dollar: "World Changers Ministry"
James and Shirley Dobson: "Focus on the Family"

And of course - last, but certainly not least:

Curtis and Paula Eakins: "Health Seminars, Unlimited, Inc."

Posted by: claborn Aug 7 2004, 07:02 AM

Welcome Panama Pete.... enjoyed your contributions so far and I agree with your positon.....

Mema there is more than enough info on this site and another site (that I posted a link to in the other 3ABN thread) that you can get an idea of the mess that transpired....

Posted by: tarduke Aug 7 2004, 01:41 PM

Panama Pete you are correct. And thanks for these knowledgeable posts. This is what BSDA is about. That was a great simulated Press Release. You clearly must work in the industry. it's a pity that because of your association with BlackSDA you may not get that job at 3ABN.

QUOTE (Panama_Pete)

> Curtis and Paula Eakins: "Health Seminars, Unlimited, Inc."

I love that show on 3ABN. They are so natural together on TV in the kitchen. None of the phony public displays of affection "some others" on 3ABN were parading which always made me suspicious that all was not well.

And their recipes include stuff Black folk can actually eat! I always wondered if they were related to our boss on BlackSDA.

Posted by: sparkylyn Aug 7 2004, 06:10 PM

QUOTE (tarduke @ Aug 7 2004, 01:41 PM)

> QUOTE (Panama_Pete)
>
> > Curtis and Paula Eakins: "Health Seminars, Unlimited, Inc."
>
> I love that show on 3ABN. . . .And their recipes include stuff Black folk can actually eat! I always wondered if they were related to our boss on BlackSDA.

Yep, since you ask, they are related. Calvin and Curtis are brothers.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 7 2004, 06:28 PM

Panama Pete, I agree with you immensely. Because case in point happened recently with a telecom company here. The CEO was removed (private word is for questionable reasons) but the press release made out that he was getting a promotion.

Are the non-christian corporate entities more compassionate in their relation to others than us SDAs? And although I have seen correspondence from Linda Shelton to the effect that she and Danny are divorced, he continues on 3ABN as if nothing has happened. What example are we setting to others? Are we SDAs for real? Did these 3ABN actions really represent the creator? And if not, isn't a public apology in order?

Thank you Panama Pete for showing that there is a better way.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 8 2004, 02:52 AM

You all, Blacksda must be DA BOMB indeed! You all have gotten a good mention on this site. Check it out!

http://www.clubadventist.com/ubbthreads/showflat.php?Cat=&Number=131240&page=0&view=&sb=5&o=&fpart=3&vc=1&PHPSESSID=

Looks like more people are looking forward to some godly closure on this issue.

Posted by: oraphim Aug 8 2004, 11:51 AM

You know what we say about conversations of this sought in TrinBago?
Awl yuh like tuh much comess!

Posted by: mema Aug 8 2004, 11:58 AM

Nogossip,

THIS IS THE FIRST PART OF IT:

I CANNOT vouch for the letter other than it was posted on another forum (you all have the address cause I posted it...), and I wanted to share it here..... eyeopening......

posted July 29, 2004 09:33 Message What happened at 3ABN?

THE STORY OF LINDA SHELTON

By Johann Thorvaldsson

Former 3ABN liaison for Europe It is a fact that Linda Shelton has been fired - and Danny Shelton has told his version of events to the World audience. He warned us not to listen to rumors, so what are the facts of this heart-breaking experience? Unfortunately Linda Shelton has been judged and dismissed from the establishment she loved and helped build up - on the basis of rumors. Facts that have been twisted, embroidered and presented as real. This is quite a complicated matter. A few weeks ago I was in Southern Illinois, wanting to attend the camp meeting at 3ABN, together with a Norwegian medical doctor - the one Linda has been accused of committing spiritual adultery with. We went there in an attempt to clear up misunderstandings, all caused because my wife and I introduced this doctor to Danny and Linda Shelton. This doctor is also the head elder of the most flourishing conservative SDA church in Norway - and has for several years been a financial supporter of 3ABN. Some of the problems were caused because the 3ABN archives had misspelled the name of this supporter, so Danny was convinced he was an impostor. Later Danny has named him a devil, a demon, or evil spirit, or bad counselor - like he did during the transmission to the whole world on Thursday evening at Camp Meeting. Also during that meeting we were requested to leave the premises of 3ABN, and if we ever showed up again at the meetings the police would be requested to remove us as trespassing private property - and this at meetings where all are invited.

What is our crime? While my wife, Irmgard, and I were staying at 3ABN in December 2003, this doctor came to visit us, both to check Irmgard's illness and to see the studios of the ministry he was supporting and was a great fan of. Linda came to see us, and later she brought her son along, who had problems with drugs and related things. Nathan had been reluctant to see any other doctor, but a lasting friendship between the doctor and this young man was kindled. Many of his patients are young athletes, so he is used todealing with young people. The doctor invited Nathan to come and stay in Norway and receive treatments at his clinic for a month. Nathan brought his girlfriend along, and later Linda and Brenda Walsh spent 3 days there to check on things - and I had a visit with them too while they were there. At that time Nathan had merely been there for 10 days, and I did not recognize him when I saw him. He was a completely transformed person.

So after Linda returned to the States she'd call to find out how it was going with her son. Danny told me himself that he considered that if a married woman talks for more than 10 or 12 minutes with another man on the phone she'd be committing spiritual adultery - so these phone calls first branded Linda as an adulteress. And from there the ball has kept rolling with more and more accusations. Mark Finlay was willing to assist in coming to an understanding, but his offer was unacceptable to the 3ABN lawyer. Both the lawyer and the pastor urged me to stay out of this case and not support Linda. They claimed I'd soon be left out in the cold with no friends at all if I'd continue supporting Linda in her plight.

Can you imagine our Lord Jesus Christ telling me not to come to the aid of this frail woman because I'd be left out in the cold without friends? I have never heard such a statement before coming from people who are supposed to be the spiritual leaders of this great ministry. Is it any wonder that the support of 3ABN is dwindling?

With such men at the helm who make it their business and main concern to condemn Linda, is it any wonder that Linda seeks the support of her close friends - and also calls the doctor who was so kind to her son? Of course it might have avoided some misunderstandings and confusions if that doctor had been a woman. But what does the Apostle tell us? "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." Those two people have been branded before the whole world as adulterers, and you name it. I never dreamt such atrocities could take place at my favorite ministry, 3ABN

Now the woes of Linda Shelton are not hers alone any more. I was fired too, because I supported Linda. Officially it was because I refused to obey orders from my superiors at 3ABN. But I am fortunate that I get my sustentation from the church where I started my ministry more than 50 years ago. Even though I love the ministry of 3ABN, I serve the God of heaven and the God of Truth. Derrell Mundall, the father of Danny Shelton's grandchildren, who has served 3ABN faithfully for many years, has also been fired. What is his crime? He was too close and he knows the truth, and shared his knowledge with others. He supports Linda. He had no other employment when he was dismissed from 3ABN, so pray that he may soon find another fruitful ministry where he can use his talents. He chose truth instead of a steady employment, as so many other believers have done in the past. Before Derrell was fired he was told that he must remember it was Danny who received the vision from God to build this TV station. Therefore, he was told, he must regard the words of Danny Shelton as being the words of God. Long before Linda's dismissal, Dr. Kay Kuzma was assigned to help Linda manage after being fired. She was also supposed to interview staff members to find a good reason to fire her, so one wonders what really is behind this upheaval?

Danny mentioned a number of counselors who had helped the board come to the conclusion that she should be dismissed. You can ask Linda, but I don't think she ever talked to most of those counselors. In fact even before her dismissal she felt treated like a criminal when she approached the premises of 3ABN and was not permitted to enter without close supervision. The present general staff at 3ABN is probably not permitted to ask Linda any question. If anyone wants a contact to keep up their close friendship with Linda they have to write their note on a postcard, submit it to the leaders who will forward it to Linda. Such are the present premises of this woman whose ministry has meant so much to thousands of viewers, and who will not see her any more on the screen - as long as the present leadership has it their way.

Pray for 3ABN. Pray for justice. Pray for justice also for Linda.
Miracles still take place.
Christian regards

Steve Claborn (Clay)
"Where there is life, there is hope....."

Posted by: Amelia Aug 8 2004, 04:48 PM

QUOTE

> BTW, for all you White folks lurking out there, the reference is to the movie "How Stella Got Her Grove Back". You would have had to seen or heard of the movie to appreciate the humor.

From a lurking white folk. Saw it, got it, loved it. I Only wish the 3ABN situation were a simple laughing matter and not a huge praying one.

Posted by: claborn Aug 8 2004, 06:03 PM

QUOTE (Amelia @ Aug 8 2004, 05:48 PM)

> From a lurking white folk. h Saw it, got it, loved it. I Only wish the 3ABN situation were a simple laughing matter and not a huge praying one.

How did 3ABN get to this point is my question?

Posted by: princessdi Aug 8 2004, 06:07 PM

QUOTE (Amelia @ Aug 8 2004, 02:48 PM)

> From a lurking white folk. h Saw it, got it, loved it. I Only wish the 3ABN situation were a simple laughing matter and not a huge praying one.

Welcome, Amelia!! I agree! I continue to pray for this unfortuntate situation.

Posted by: friends Aug 26 2004, 09:47 PM

What happened to "mending broken people?" What does publicly humiliating someone through the media, websites and letters have to do with mending broken people? 3ABN should be ashamed of themselves. If Linda was 100% guilty of all that is being insinuated about her, the reponse should be quite different. When Joseph found out Mary was pregnant he decided to "put her away quietly." There's something wrong with this picture...especially as Linda herself proclaims her innocence on her website. I think the 3ABN Board should take another look at how their leaders have responded to this situation.

Posted by: tarduke Aug 27 2004, 07:35 AM

QUOTE (friends @ Aug 26 2004, 09:47 PM)

> What happened to "mending broken people?" What does publicly humiliating someone through the media, websites and letters have to do with mending broken people? ...heir leaders have responded to this situation.

I really liked that song. I don't hear it anymore on 3ABN.

I have to agree with you that this thing has not been handled properly by 3abn. My greatest concern is that any opportunity for Danny and Linda to even thinking of being reconciled was seriously frittered away by the dribbling of details about alleged infidelities and trying to make Linda out to be some kind of knucklehead.

Posted by: statrei Aug 27 2004, 07:37 AM

The answer is simple. As Adventists we are more interested in saving face than in saving people. The results are often horrific (witness Waco and now 3ABN).

Posted by: tarduke Aug 27 2004, 07:50 AM

QUOTE (statrei @ Aug 27 2004, 07:37 AM)

> The answer is simple. As Adventists we are more interested in saving face than in saving people. The results are often horrific (witness Waco and now 3ABN).

God forbid that 3ABN implodes (as some think it still might) and the media get involved (as is likely if the God forbidden happens), I can see the script already being written. "This was never an officially sanctioned ministry." Plausible deniability will rule the day.

Posted by: Jvat Aug 27 2004, 08:24 AM

If the conservative SDAs are true to form, the GC will pretend no real involvement in 3ABN but if the support for 3ABN shown at the ASI Convention is to be believed, they may just continue to give them support, even though the fat hits the fan. Because at this Convention, the president of the NAD, Don Scheider, was there endorsing 3ABN publicly for their tremendous work in winning souls. Danny was so moved that he was visibly in tears. That was played over last night on 3ABN today.

Posted by: Clay Mar 17 2006, 01:13 PM

This was the email that started our more intense dissection of the story, the spin, etc.... it didn't seem right then, and it doesn't seem right now....check out this thread from the beginning...

Posted by: simplysaved Mar 17 2006, 02:17 PM

Just read the entire thread....is the verdict here then that the 3ABN administration wanted to separate Linda from 3ABN because she talked to another man outside of her husband for 10-15 minutes on the phone?

Does the SDA church acknowledge spiritual adultery as being grounds for divorce--and is it even defined? Outside of this "context" I am not aware of it being used.

Since they are "public figures", did they even have grounds to be married to each other in the first place (as it was a second marriage for both)?

Posted by: Clay Mar 17 2006, 02:22 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Just read the entire thread....is the verdict here then that the 3ABN administration wanted to separate Linda from 3ABN because she talked to another man outside of her husband for 10-15 minutes on the phone?

yep... you read it right...

> QUOTE
>
> Does the SDA church acknowledge spiritual adultery as being grounds for divorce--and is it even defined? Outside of this "context" I am not aware of it being used.

and neither were we... and I have yet to hear someone use that as an excuse for divorce.....other than Mr. Shelton.....

> QUOTE
>
> Since they are "public figures", did they even have grounds to be married to each other in the first place (as it was a second marriage for both)?

Another insightful question... and Mr. Shelton had the gall to suggest we were tabloid....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 17 2006, 09:48 PM

> QUOTE(dmizzle06 @ Jul 16 2004, 08:48 PM)
>
> Ok, something is very wrong with this man's letter. First of all, he says this is a tabloid site, whatever that means. Nobody gossips on here...well, at least that's not the main focus of this site. If he'd paid attention to the threads, he'd have known that. Secondly, he seems upset over the fact that no one attempted to get the story from the horse's mouth, yet he offered no explanation or details of the situation in his letter. And finally, as I mentioned in another thread, 3ABN isn't spreading the gospel to "all the world." I'd like to see a network of some sort where everyone can have access, not just a few Adventists who subscribe to it.

Dead on Pernt!

> QUOTE(pmorris68 @ Jul 28 2004, 08:28 PM)
>
> Heck ain't no black or white heaven, so somebody going to real messed up on Judgement day, that's all I got to say. :

> QUOTE(dmizzle06 @ Jul 28 2004, 10:57 PM)
>
> No racism or prejudice there either, so add some more to that total.

> QUOTE(statrei @ Aug 27 2004, 08:37 AM)
>
> The answer is simple. As Adventists we are more interested in saving face than in saving people. The results are often horrific (witness Waco and now 3ABN).

Too, too dead on pernt!

"Spiritual Adultery" - if the definition is talking to anyone of the opposite sex for 10-15 minutes w/o your "spouse" present - then a grip of folks in de chach is cheatin' hard... jes by askin' "how is your day going? How's the kid at college?"

Somebody (to me) ain't "confident"....

JMO

Posted by: Clay Mar 18 2006, 02:08 AM

At the time we felt it was suspect too Re'...... and revisiting the thread after all this time, my opinion remains unchanged...

Posted by: Prisca Mar 18 2006, 07:41 AM

Spiritual Adultery. Hmm. I thought that was only possible against God. Now, adultery in different forms in which love is lost and other symptoms are exhibited, I've heard of as a cause for divorce in Adventism....but not "spiritual' adultery.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 18 2006, 11:45 AM

Counselors would say that when a man "pushes" that his wife or girlfriend is "cheating" w/o actual "proof" - normally; he himself has issues with being unfaithful....

Now I am begining to wonder....

Posted by: princessdi Mar 18 2006, 12:55 PM

Actually, the term "spiritual adultery" was only used in my experience by preachers to described the behavior of the COI when they would waunder after to gods of the other nations. Then, of course, they would be overrun, taken into captivity, cry out to God, know the drill.

It is very disturbing(not to mention extremely arrogant) that Danny would employ this term. For one, it says that he had no real proof, Secondly, I don't know much about Linda, but she could be of Jewish birth, but I know that Danny is not God or even a god.

But then, again, I know pastors who have accused their wives of much worse to "save" their own careers. One woman I know is still fighting the false accusations. Church folks wouls rather believe the lie.

Now, you are getting the pernt!

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Mar 17 2006, 12:17 PM)
>
> Just read the entire thread....is the verdict here then that the 3ABN administration wanted to separate Linda from 3ABN because she talked to another man outside of her husband for 10-15 minutes on the phone?
>
> Does the SDA church acknowledge spiritual adultery as being grounds for divorce--and is it even defined? Outside of this "context" I am not aware of it being used.
>
> Since they are "public figures", did they even have grounds to be married to each other in the first place (as it was a second marriage for both)?

Posted by: Prisca Mar 18 2006, 05:20 PM

He may not have proof, but he sure has something. There is something that she doesn't want revealed...something that she doesn't want to lose...something that might hurt the children, her perceived future, etc. ... like the lady in A Christmas Carol. When Alastairs gave Mrs. Dibble, was it, the money for a present, she asked what it was for "to keep me mouth shut?" she cocknied. We may never know.

Priscilla

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 18 2006, 07:25 PM

At Judgement Day will be a lot to say.....

Posted by: princessdi Mar 18 2006, 10:11 PM

She maybe thinking more about the ministry that he is. Sometimes things like this are a form of emotional abuse. If she perceives everyone, who really matters, is going to side with him, and he can prove it(which really is in the case), then she may not feel it is worth telling her side.

She didn't even immediately retain counsel for herself, or fight the legitimacy of this quickie divorce. I think it was because of the actions of the 3ABN board and the continued support of GC, without question or investigation into the situation. That can be pretty disheartening and discouraging. He is the one who needed the quickie divorce, that is more suspect to me than anything she maybe hiding. In fact, the reason she is saying nothing is because of the gag order forced upon her by him. I am sure she would have a whole lot more to say.

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 18 2006, 03:20 PM)
>
> He may not have proof, but he sure has something. There is something that she doesn't want revealed...something that she doesn't want to lose...something that might hurt the children, her perceived future, etc. ... like the lady in A Christmas Carol. When Alastairs gave Mrs. Dibble, was it, the money for a present, she asked what it was for "to keep me mouth shut?" she cocknied. We may never know.
>
> Priscilla

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 18 2006, 11:25 PM

I bet "what she would have to say" is that he is extremely jealous, has issues with her "having any say" in the marriage, and lastly.....

He's a cheater!

If he ain't - GOD forgive me; but the actions that were taken over a phone call merit (IMO) a man that is afraid of being found out as a cheater......

Posted by: Clay Mar 19 2006, 02:52 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 18 2006, 05:20 PM)

> He may not have proof, but he sure has something. There is something that she doesn't want revealed...something that she doesn't want to lose...something that might hurt the children, her perceived future, etc. ... like the lady in A Christmas Carol. When Alastairs gave Mrs. Dibble, was it, the money for a present, she asked what it was for "to keep me mouth shut?" she cocknied. We may never know.
>
> Priscilla

he something could be as you say in the form of a threat... if you don't cooperate then you will be cut off, or our name will be smeared etc.....

o much for loving your enemy...

Posted by: Prisca Mar 19 2006, 07:02 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 19 2006, 08:52 AM)
>
> the something could be as you say in the form of a threat... if you don't cooperate then you will be cut off, or your name will be smeared etc.....
>
> So much for loving your enemy...

h. protecting the 'work'..ahem!
emember when Samuel went to anoint David? God gave him a way 'out' to protect him from death or at east accusation. Go give sacrifices..always an appropriate thing to do. Our pet saying is,,we must be armless as doves but...

Posted by: Jvat Mar 19 2006, 09:30 PM

Let us keep praying for Linda who is no doubt sufering much from this ordeal.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 19 2006, 11:35 PM

> QUOTE(Jvat @ Mar 19 2006, 10:30 PM)
>
> Let us keep praying for Linda who is no doubt sufering much from this ordeal.

Posted by: Clay Mar 25 2006, 02:54 AM

Let's also pray for the new wife... I wonder if she understands the concept of spiritual adultery?

Posted by: Prisca Mar 25 2006, 08:32 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 25 2006, 08:54 AM)
>
> Let's also pray for the new wife... I wonder if she understands the concept of spiritual adultery?

Oh that a whole new direction, Steve. What if she does or doesn't? How will that affect her spirituality? For some women little is expected of the gentleman except that the previous person was unsuitable.

Priscilla

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 25 2006, 11:39 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 25 2006, 04:54 AM)
>
> Let's also pray for the new wife... I wonder if she understands the concept of spiritual adultery?

Oh snap! I didn't even think about that until now.....

Whoa...

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 25 2006, 10:32 AM)
>
> Oh that a whole new direction, Steve. What if she does or doesn't? How will that affect her spirituality? For some women little is expected of the gentleman except that the previous person was unsuitable.

If she does understand the concept - then SHE ALREADY KNOWS that her new "husband" is the only man in her life. PERIOD. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she cannot accept calls from any man (brother in the church, doctor, boss, Father, cousin) without her husband present. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she definately cannot travel anywhere over 10 miles without said husband.

If she does NOT understand the concept - then she is in for a heap of trouble......

How will this affect her spirituality? If she is not "grounded" in her faith/belief/love of GOD/CHRIST she will leave the church at the first inkling of "mess" like Linda - or other women (that we do/don't know about) have suffered....

or

It could make her stronger - understanding that even in the midst of de "Chach" there is bound to be a debil (devil) or two.....

JMO

Posted by: Prisca Mar 25 2006, 02:00 PM

Even if Danny wakes up in the middle of the night and decides that he was wrong and wants Linda back, he can't go back according to our interpretation of the Scriptures. Is that still binding? You can't go back....you just have to follow David, marry Bathsheba and continue forward with repentence and humility.

Priscilla

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 25 2006, 05:39 PM)
>
> Oh snap! I didn't even think about that until now.....

> Whoa...
>
> If she does understand the concept - then SHE ALREADY KNOWS that her new "husband" is the only man in her life. PERIOD. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she cannot accept calls from any man (brother in the church, doctor, boss, Father, cousin) without her husband present. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she definately cannot travel anywhere over 10 miles without said husband.
>
> If she does NOT understand the concept - then she is in for a heap of trouble......
>
> How will this affect her spirituality? If she is not "grounded" in her faith/belief/love of GOD/CHRIST she will leave the church at the first inkling of "mess" like Linda - or other women (that we do/don't know about) have suffered....
>
> or
>
> It could make her stronger - understanding that even in the midst of de "Chach" there is bound to be a debil (devil) or two.....
>
> JMO

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 25 2006, 06:45 PM

Whooooooo....

and THAT would be another whole heap o' mess.....

What if he did wake up and realize - "I was sooo wrong...."

Then he done messed with another woman's life, the life of her children, and .....um.....whooo....

I can't even wrap me head around dis one heyah!

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 26 2006, 02:29 PM

Will she be allowed to work anywhere but in his presence? How about the first wife, did she work with her husband? Ride into work with him, ride home with him. Eat out only if he is with you, and you better not try to tip the waiter. My observation is this sounds more and more like a jailer.

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 25 2006, 02:39 PM)
>
> Oh snap! I didn't even think about that until now.....
>
> Whoa...
>
> If she does understand the concept - then SHE ALREADY KNOWS that her new "husband" is the only man in her life. PERIOD. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she cannot accept calls from any man (brother in the church, doctor, boss, Father, cousin) without her husband present. SHE ALREADY KNOWS she definately cannot > travel anywhere over 10 miles without said husband.

>
> If she does NOT understand the concept - then she is in for a heap of trouble......
>
> How will this affect her spirituality? If she is not "grounded" in her faith/belief/love of GOD/CHRIST she will leave the church at the first inkling of "mess" like Linda - or other women (that we do/don't know about) have suffered....
>
> or
>
> It could make her stronger - understanding that even in the midst of de "Chach" there is bound to be a debil (devil) or two.....
>
> JMO

Posted by: Denny Mar 28 2006, 05:48 AM

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Mar 26 2006, 08:29 PM)
>
> Will she be allowed to work anywhere but in his presence? How about the first wife, did she work with her husband? Ride into work with him, ride home with him. Eat out only if he is with you, and you better not try to tip the waiter. My observation is this sounds more and more like a jailer.

think the the first wife passed away

Posted by: Prisca Mar 30 2006, 05:36 AM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Mar 28 2006, 11:48 AM)
>
> I think the the first wife passed away ou know! People say that as if it is the most honorable way to exit a marriage, but it is not always so.

riscilla

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 30 2006, 06:55 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 30 2006, 08:36 AM)
>
> You know! People say that as if it is the most honorable way to exit a marriage, but it is not always so.
> Priscilla

ome again? What exactly is "the most honorable way to exit a marriage"?

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 30 2006, 06:57 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 30 2006, 06:36 AM)
>
> You know! People say that as if it is the most honorable way to exit a marriage, but it is not always so.
> Priscilla

Only if the widow/widower had a hand in their spouse's demise... no, not much honor in that at all...

But if the spouse dies from illness or gets hit by a train, struck by lightning, eaten by crocodiles or whatever... their time was just up...not a matter of honorable or dishonorable per se; dead is dead.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Mar 30 2006, 11:24 AM

Please elaborate, Priscilla. If a spouse dies, then what else is there?

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 30 2006, 03:36 AM)
>
> You know! People say that as if it is the most honorable way to exit a marriage, but it is not always so.
> Priscilla

Posted by: seraph|m Mar 30 2006, 02:57 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 30 2006, 02:24 PM)
>
> Please elaborate, Priscilla. If a spouse dies, then what else is there?

Yanno,

Posted by: Prisca Mar 30 2006, 07:03 PM

I think Kevin was close to what I was thinking. The experience of being a widow for all those years taught me a lot about people's reactions and philosophy. Oh, Priscilla you're FREEEE to remarry, they would coo. You're a widow. No one ever asked me if I dun 'im in. No one ever asked me if I was a such a wonderful wife, that the poor man didn't mind dying and wouldn't make a good wife for anyone ever. Are the living spouses dripping in gold? I was baptized in perfection. If my present hubby steps out of line or our marriage has problems, they KNOW it ain't my fault...cause I was a widow! I noticed that when it was mentioned that Danny was a widower, I was wondering exactly what does that prove?

Priscilla

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 30 2006, 11:48 PM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 30 2006, 08:03 PM) ☐
>
> I think Kevin was close to what I was thinking. The experience of being a widow for all those years taught me a lot about people's reactions and philosophy. Oh, Priscilla you're FREEEE to remarry, they would coo. You're a widow. No one ever asked me if I dun 'im in. No one ever asked me if I was a such a wonderful wife, that the poor man didn't mind dying and wouldn't make a good wife for anyone ever. Are the living spouses dripping in gold? I was baptized in perfection. If my present hubby steps out of line or our marriage has problems, they KNOW it ain't my fault...cause I was a widow! I noticed that when it was mentioned that Danny was a widower, I was wondering exactly what does that prove?
>
> Priscilla

It proves nothing because it's not relevant to the mess he currently finds himself in... a mess of his own devising, BTW. He gets no sympathy for being a widower because he is now 2 marriages removed from that experience and the woman he married after his first wife died, he has divorced for what are spurious reasons at best.

I cant speak to how your marriage was to your first husband; I do know that we are rarely either as good or as bad as our publicity or the perceptions and presumptions of others make us out to be... as for the widow/widower being draped in "perfection"... the circumstances under which you became a widow would play a great part in how one is viewed... for example, I know a man whose wife was non compos mentis, bipolar and acutely psychotic... on medication and poorly controlled. She developed breast cancer and in spite of her clear mental defect, she was allowed to decline treatment, waiting instead for "divine healing."

He made no attempt to have her mental competence assessed even though it was clear that her lucidity was lacking and her mental state was at best questionable... nor did anyone in her family but as her husband... as the one tasked before God with loving her as Christ loved the church, IMO his negligence bordered on the criminal...and there is neither 'perfection' nor nobility in his becoming a widower... IMO... the fact that he, like Danny Shelton, had a replacement already lined up and remarried within a few months of his getting out of his marriage (Danny by divorce and this man by the death of his wife) says to me that both of them had another agenda all along, an agenda that did not include their respective then current spouses... and that agenda is how one rationalized letting his wife die from his indifference and the other to get rid of his wife by killing her character.

In His service,
Mr. J

In His service,

Posted by: Prisca Mar 31 2006, 05:39 AM

That's how I feel, Kevin. It proves nothing, but to the aaaah....faithful. It does. I feel I must be in another world as I listen to the faithful reasoning. After having such a wonderful first marriage, he was unprepared for the terror that awaited him in the second. As for the gentleman you mentioned, I could find an entire jury that would find him 'not guilty' because of so many factors, one of which is that she was out of control and therefore the decision made for her was just.

Priscilla

Posted by: awesumtenor Mar 31 2006, 09:15 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 31 2006, 06:39 AM) ☐
>
> That's how I feel, Kevin. It proves nothing, but to the aaaah....faithful. It does. I feel I must be in another world as I listen to the faithful reasoning. After having such a wonderful first marriage, he was unprepared for the terror that awaited him in the second.

Vho says his first marriage was wonderful? Or that his second was a terror? If His marriage to Linda was so iorrible, he would not have had to trump up these lame charges of "spiritual adultery" as a basis for divorcing ier or work so diligently to make sure that her side of things never saw the light of day.

> QUOTE
>
> As for the gentleman you mentioned, I could find an entire jury that would find him 'not guilty' because of so many factors, one of which is that she was out of control and therefore the decision made for her was just.
>
> Priscilla

Iope... remember the vow one takes when he marries... "for better or for worse, for richer or poorer, in ickness and in health..." ... not to mention both the priest and the levite were guilty before God for passing y on the other side...

f I knew my wife had a condition that would be terminal if untreated and I let her go untreated, that is lepraved indifference. Parents who have done that with their children have been prosecuted for nanslaughter; it should be no different if one is talking about an adult who is not competent to make the lecision of whether to be treated rationally. Her mental illness was a known quantity when he asked her to narry him and he married her anyway...

n His service,
Ar. J

Posted by: Denny Mar 31 2006, 09:34 AM

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Mar 31 2006, 02:03 AM) ☐
>
> I think Kevin was close to what I was thinking. The experience of being a widow for all those years taught me a lot about people's reactions and philosophy. Oh, Priscilla you're FREEEE to remarry, they would coo. You're a widow. No one ever asked me if I dun 'im in. No one ever asked me if I was a such a wonderful wife, that the poor man didn't mind dying and wouldn't make a good wife for anyone ever. Are the living spouses dripping in gold? I was baptized in perfection. If my present hubby steps out of line or our marriage has problems, they KNOW it ain't my fault...cause I was a widow! I noticed that when it was mentioned that Danny was a widower, I was wondering exactly what does that prove?
>
> Priscilla

re you trying to ~~confess~~ er tell us something?.... ☒

Posted by: Prisca Mar 31 2006, 08:13 PM

> QUOTE(Denny @ Mar 31 2006, 03:34 PM) ☐

> Are you trying to ~~confess~~ er tell us something?....

\s you probably know, there is a stage in grief where you actually begin to wonder, what could I have done? vas it my fault? Nah. I didn't do 'im in!

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 31 2006, 03:15 PM)
>
> Who says his first marriage was wonderful? Or that his second was a terror? If His marriage to Linda was so horrible, he would not have had to trump up these lame charges of "spiritual adultery" as a basis for divorcing her or work so diligently to make sure that her side of things never saw the light of day. Nope... remember the vow one takes when he marries... "for better or for worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness and in health..." ... not to mention both the priest and the levite were guilty before God for passing by on the other side...
>
> If I knew my wife had a condition that would be terminal if untreated and I let her go untreated, that is depraved indifference. Parents who have done that with their children have been prosecuted for manslaughter; it should be no different if one is talking about an adult who is not competent to make the decision of whether to be treated rationally. Her mental illness was a known quantity when he asked her to marry him and he married her anyway...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Posted by: Prisca Mar 31 2006, 08:25 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 31 2006, 03:15 PM)
>
> Who says his first marriage was wonderful? Or that his second was a terror? If His marriage to Linda was so horrible, he would not have had to trump up these lame charges of "spiritual adultery" as a basis for divorcing her or work so diligently to make sure that her side of things never saw the light of day. Nope... remember the vow one takes when he marries... "for better or for worse, for richer or poorer, in sickness and in health..." ... not to mention both the priest and the levite were guilty before God for passing by on the other side...
>
> If I knew my wife had a condition that would be terminal if untreated and I let her go untreated, that is depraved indifference. Parents who have done that with their children have been prosecuted for manslaughter; it should be no different if one is talking about an adult who is not competent to make the decision of whether to be treated rationally. Her mental illness was a known quantity when he asked her to marry him and he married her anyway...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

hear so many things in this post. One of which is that marriage vows should be taken seriously. However, in his case I can also see a lot of loopholes since I don't know the people. He just may have thought that God ıad given him a 'way of escape' . The mind can tell us all sorts of comforting things that cause us to act in a :ertain way. I know of two ladies who declined treatment and died, while their husbands reluctantly respected heir wishes. I know of several who took the treatment and died anyway. He may have really wrestled with he decision he made. Her family didn't come to the rescue like the Schiavo case?

\ word about the couple in question. I remember when they first showed up on the 'tube' holding hands and hanking God profusely for each other. It was so thick that I would actually avoid that segment at times. He told her she couldn't sing, because she couldn't harmonize. He constantly reminds us that he is uneducated...right up front with his feelings, words, and emotions. She was the 'polished' one of the two. He would tell how she led him to a spiritual awakening on a particular point..or dimension of his character. He liked to make jokes while she would just look quietly.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 31 2006, 08:42 PM

☒ sn

Posted by: princessdi Mar 31 2006, 10:24 PM

☒ p Move over, Re'! Trade you some popcorn for some fried meaty bits? ☒ pe

---

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 31 2006, 06:42 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ sn

Posted by: Prisca Apr 1 2006, 09:13 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 1 2006, 04:24 AM) ☐
>
> ☒ p Move over, Re'! Trade you some popcorn for some fried meaty bits? ☒ pe

Ya'll are bad. This is interesting stuff. I didn't have all this in mind when I started, but Kevin got me to thinking. There was a lesbian nurse where I worked at a hospital once. We were very surprised when she married. Several weeks later she was back. The story...the gentleman had a heart condition and during the honeymoon had another heart attack. We never could determine why she drove slowly past several hospitals until he died in the car. Some said she could only think of coming to the hospital where she worked, but others said, but...she was a nurse, she should have known that time rather than hospital loyalty was important. God is judge.

Priscilla

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 1 2006, 07:51 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 1 2006, 12:24 AM) ☐
>
> ☒ p Move over, Re'! Trade you some popcorn for some fried meaty bits? ☒ pe

How about grain & meat?

Gimmie a handful of popkern - I'll eat it with my hard-fried meaty bits!

Posted by: princessdi Apr 1 2006, 11:37 PM

Gurl!! That's why we sittin' down with some snacks!!! If it was a yawn, we got a smiley for that, too!

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Apr 1 2006, 07:13 AM)
>
> Ya'll are bad. This is interesting stuff. I didn't have all this in mind when I started, but Kevin got me to thinking. There was a lesbian nurse where I worked at a hospital once. We were very surprised when she married. Several weeks later she was back. The story...the gentleman had a heart condition and during the honeymoon had another heart attack. We never could determine why she drove slowly past several hospitals until he died in the car. Some said she could only think of coming to the hospital where she worked, but others said, but...she was a nurse, she should have known that time rather than hospital loyalty was important. God is judge.
>
> Priscilla

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 4 2006, 02:05 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 2 2006, 02:37 AM)
>
> Gurl!! That's why we sittin' down with some snacks!!! If it was a yawn, we got a smiley for that, too!

You're you is a mess.

Posted by: sister Apr 4 2006, 02:59 PM

As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so her refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 4 2006, 06:07 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 02:59 PM)
>
> As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so her refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

IF this is true, all I can say is and DIVORCE COURT COUNSELING to keep be from ...

...because I would box.gi che

Posted by: Clay Apr 4 2006, 06:51 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 02:59 PM)
>
> As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so her refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

nope.... it does not....

Posted by: sister Apr 4 2006, 08:02 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 03:59 PM)
>
> As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so he refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

This is true. So very sad, but true. I worked for one of the close family members, I know more about that family then I ever wanted to know. I also had contact with the man, himself.

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 4 2006, 08:45 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 08:02 PM)
>
> This is true. So very sad, but true. I worked for one of the close family members, I know more about that family then I ever wanted to know. I also had contact with the man, himself.

s I'm sorry...

Posted by: Clay Apr 7 2006, 08:30 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 09:02 PM)
>
> This is true. So very sad, but true. I worked for one of the close family members, I know more about that family then I ever wanted to know. I also had contact with the man, himself.

from your tone I guess its safe to say that you didn't particularly like the experience....

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 7 2006, 08:47 AM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 05:59 PM)
>
> As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so her refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

I find that kind of behaviour is very, very sad. One should make every effort to respect ones spouse, particularly in public.

Posted by: Prisca Apr 7 2006, 09:01 AM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 5 2006, 12:51 AM)
>
> nope.... it does not....

Sometimes those types of things would come up on the air as well, just a little 'lighter' and it was always passed off as...well, you know he came from humble beginnings and you can't take what he says seriously because he is only just joking, the way he was raised. He has come a long way. When his nephew became 'saved' in another Christian church, he said the Lord worked with him to make him understand that some people need to become Christians from another church so they can meet Jesus...then they can stand the doctrines that we have for them.

Priscilla

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 7 2006, 02:47 PM)
>
> I find that kind of behaviour is very, very sad. One should make every effort to respect ones spouse, particularly in public.

I agree with you, but what if the person thinks they are doing just that? A gentleman in our church, between bites began to 'low rate' his wife to the dinner guests...I married her for her looks, he said, and you can see what that got me! Her looks are gone... Folk just kept on eating, because he went on like that at every occasion. Heaven help us when the conversation lagged... One day he hollered out her age and some other remark. I asked him if he knew it was disrespectful. He laughed and said, THAT was a compliment...hahahahaha!

Priscilla

Posted by: princessdi Apr 7 2006, 01:35 PM

He knows it is disrespectful. What he was saying to you is that he could have said worse. In the words of Jenny that man's wife should "Run Forrest, run!!!!!

> QUOTE(Prisca @ Apr 7 2006, 08:01 AM) ☐
>
> Sometimes those types of things would come up on the air as well, just a little 'lighter' and it was always passed off as...well, you know he came from humble beginnings and you can't take what he says seriously because he is only just joking, the way he was raised. He has come a long way. When his nephew became 'saved' in another Christian church, he said the Lord worked with him to make him understand that some people need to become Christians from another church so they can meet Jesus...then they can stand the doctrines that we have for them.
>
> Priscilla
> I agree with you, but what if the person thinks they are doing just that? A gentleman in our church, between bites began to 'low rate' his wife to the dinner guests...I married her for her looks, he said, and you can see what that got me! Her looks are gone... Folk just kept on eating, because he went on like that at every occasion. Heaven help us when the conversation lagged... One day he hollered out her age and some other remark. I asked him if he knew it was disrespectful. He laughed and said, THAT was a compliment...hahahahaha!
> Priscilla

Posted by: Prisca Apr 8 2006, 05:55 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 7 2006, 07:35 PM) ☐
>
> He knows it is disrespectful. What he was saying to you is that he could have said worse. In the words of Jenny that man's wife should "Run Forrest, run!!!!!

I think you're right, Di, but he would confess his love for her and pat her bottom 'yes in public'. Preach about how wonderful married life is and then joke about how he should have married someone who could sing. She did run once, but he took to the road with tears and followed her.

Priscilla

Posted by: Clay Jan 29 2007, 07:29 PM

Danny's first letter to us.... the very first lie..... let me add that the links to the forum VOAF no longer work as that forum is no longer in existence.....

Posted by: watchbird Jan 29 2007, 07:45 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Jan 29 2007, 08:29 PM) ☐
>
> Danny's first letter to us.... the very first lie..... let me add that the links to the forum VOAF no longer > work as that forum is no longer in existence.....

....

)h... you mean the very first post in this thread was Danny's first letter to BSDA...... OK.... here's a quick link o it.... http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=1237&view=findpost&p=14731... .....

Posted by: Clay Jan 29 2007, 07:56 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Jan 29 2007, 07:45 PM)
>
> ....
>
> Oh... you mean the very first post in this thread was Danny's first letter to BSDA...... OK.... here's a quick link to it.... http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=1237&view=findpost&p=14731... .....

ight.... post #1 of this thread was our first official contact with Mr. Shelton... he came in lying..... specifically ıbout all the hours of counseling they received.... out and out lies....

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jan 29 2007, 08:00 PM

> QUOTE
>
> right.... post #1 of this thread was our first official contact with Mr. Shelton... he came in lying..... specifically about all the hours of counseling they received.... out and out lies....

Veren't you always told to do what you do best?? Nuff said!!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Jan 29 2007, 09:14 PM

OOOOOOOOoooooooooo!!!

Posted by: princessdi Jan 29 2007, 10:32 PM

Came here jes' lyin'... Then Bystander , WWJD, all the rest of them want me to believe a word coming form this man's mouth. We didn't even ask them a question, and he came here to tell them lies. I really hte a liar, but can't stand somebody that will jes' basically lie if you look at 'em!

I hope you all see, now that it makes me no difference what Linda did, what she knew, or nothing else. She didnt' come here lyin'.........Danny is a liar, he is not right, he cheated Linda, and dared her to talk about it, he let his ex offending brother be around children when he knew better, even if he lied to everyone else. He was supposed to give him a job somewhere he was away from them. Mending Broken Lives....Yeah right!

Posted by: princessdi Jan 30 2007, 12:23 PM

BUMP!

Posted by: Clay Mar 29 2007, 08:49 AM

time to bump this again.... check out some of the opening comments.... we even had Johann's story here back in 04.... and I posted it somehow.... or mema reposted it from where I posted it....

walk down memory lane... Calvin shared the email from Danny Shelton where he had the nerve to tell us " it is not a credit to your blacksda" which is not something you ever say to a black person.....

I think if he had not said anything we would have let him be....

Posted by: LadyTenor Mar 29 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Mar 29 2007, 10:49 AM)
>
> time to bump this again.... check out some of the opening comments.... we even had Johann's story here back in 04.... and I posted it somehow.... or mema reposted it from where I posted it....
>
> walk down memory lane... Calvin shared the email from Danny Shelton where he had the nerve to tell us " it is not a credit to your blacksda" which is not something you ever say to a black person.....
>
> I think if he had not said anything we would have let him be....

Exactly!!! If Danny had divorced Linda quietly, this fallout might never have occurred! Folks here on BSDA only got suspicious after Danny's behavior and his lies to us!!!

Posted by: Noahswife Mar 29 2007, 01:15 PM

> QUOTE(mizrobby @ Jul 27 2004, 09:00 PM)
>
> Hi Family--Ted and I took a trip to Orlando this past weekend, and decided to visit the Patmos church. 3ABN was also at Patmos taping Sabbath services for their "On the Road" tour. Patmos' choir and the fellowship was awesome and we look forward to returning.
>
> Now--Danny Shelton was the speaker of the hour, of course. His comments throughout the course of his presentation were interesting, to say the very least. After the choir sang, his comment was "y'all are serious about singing here"... Then after some rambling, he compared his coming to Patmos with his going to New York. He mentioned that a friend told him that whenever he saw a lot of Black people, don't be intimidated, just look them in the eye and say "what choo lookin' at?"...When in the program it was time for the offering, he made another comment saying, "in the Black churches, you say "lift the tithes"...
>
> Many "Black" comments were made. IMHO, all were unnecessary. Were these supposed to be terms of endearment? When we visit "their" churches, should we make lots of "white" comments? Maybe this was his way of breaking the ice.
>
> Many waited with baited breath for the sermon. Mr. Shelton based his sermon on Nehemiah's building of the wall--and not coming off that wall to defend his actions. Mr. Shelton equated Nehemiah with himself--and how he will not come off the wall to defend his actions re:3ABN and accusations made against him.

> Mr. Shelton pretty much ranted about silly women being led astray, lust, how tv and internet has entered the home, infidelity among women, how innocent conversation leads to destruction, Adventist chat rooms and rumors abounding and how folks are writing about him. That was the sermon.
>
> I'm sure everyone in the room felt what he was alluding to and ranting about. I'm sure some of you may have seen the taping. I took notes, as I sometimes do in order to recall what the sermon was about.
>
> Anyway, after services, I felt an obligation to talk with Mr. Shelton. I offered up a prayer so that my words would not cross my lips, but that the Holy Spirit would guide my tongue. I shook his hand, told him that I'm a member of BlackSDA, and let him know that the members of BlackSDA are strong Christians. I also told him that BlackSDA is in no way a gossip/tabloid column and his letter saying that we were was highly offensive. I also told him that the members of BlackSDA are continuing to lift him AND Linda and 3ABN up in prayer, and that if anyone is keeping 3ABN afloat, it is the prayers of BlackSDA. I didn't let his hand go or stop looking him in his eyes until he heard. He did say many times "I appreciate that".
>
> If Mr. Shelton is lurking this site, I'm sure he will confirm all that I've said here.

nteresting reading. Does anyone know if he has undergone any diversity training since this happened?

nfidelity only in regards to women? Did he really say that in a sermon? As for the comparison with ehemiah.....

Posted by: princessdi Mar 29 2007, 01:15 PM

We keep saying that, and this thread proves it! He should have bought a sports car instead!

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Mar 29 2007, 11:09 AM)
>
> Exactly!!! If Danny had divorced Linda quietly, this fallout might never have occurred! Folks here on BSDA only got suspicious after Danny's behavior and his lies to us!!!

Posted by: Clay Mar 29 2007, 02:05 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 29 2007, 02:15 PM)
>
> Interesting reading. Does anyone know if he has undergone any diversity training since this happened?
>
> Infidelity only in regards to women? Did he really say that in a sermon? As for the comparison with Nehemiah.....

ot to my knowledge and I suspect he still uses that infamous line, " some of my best friends are black eople...."

his line doesn't make him look any better....

> QUOTE

> He mentioned that a friend told him that whenever he saw a lot of Black people, don't be intimidated, just look them in the eye and say "what choo lookin' at?"...When in the program it was time for the offering, he made another comment saying, "in the Black churches, you say "lift the tithes"...

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 29 2007, 02:09 PM

This is really sad. My heart just dropped when I read all of these posts from the past.
My friend just got another e-mail from Danny this morning and I have almost convinced her to pass it on to others. The man has serious issues!

It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 29 2007, 02:34 PM

Praise God for you Jnana! You are better than I. There would have been tears, but not mine, after that comment. I have suspected, and I am just going to say this and be through that there is also a slight underlying racial kind of thing going on here also. I tis not a part of the main issues by any means, but it is there. I know all the arguments, and that I am now going to get a list of eithnic groups represented on 3ABN, etc. However, those of us who know, know it when we see it, no matter how pretty they fix it up.

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> This is really sad. My heart just dropped when I read all of these posts from the past.
> My friend just got another e-mail from Danny this morning and I have almost convinced her to pass it on to others. The man has serious issues!
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 29 2007, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven.

Don't forget the "red" heaven. Just maybe that's where all the sons of "Adam" will be, since "Adam" (and "Edom") are supposed to mean "red."

Posted by: Snoopy Mar 29 2007, 03:24 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> This is really sad. My heart just dropped when I read all of these posts from the past.
> My friend just got another e-mail from Danny this morning and I have almost convinced her to pass it on to others. The man has serious issues!
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

That makes my stomach hurt. Someone actually said that? I hope to be surrounded by black people in heaven...and white people...and red people...and yellow people...just like the song says - "red and yellow, black and white, all are precious in His sight"!!! The only "color" I expect in heaven will be that which radiates off each one of us, EQUALLY, from the glory of the presence of Jesus, our Saviour... I'd like to sing with everyone, too...!!!

Posted by: Pickle Mar 29 2007, 03:26 PM

What I was trying to say was that the only heaven there is may be the one for the sons of Adam, the "red" heaven.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 29 2007, 03:50 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> This is really sad. My heart just dropped when I read all of these posts from the past.
> My friend just got another e-mail from Danny this morning and I have almost convinced her to pass it on to others. The man has serious issues!
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

Jnan15,
There is a "white" heaven. I hear they have a chapter near Thompsonville.

But seriously, do you think there will be different skin colors in heaven? If so, I'll just bet it won't be an issue with anyone who is there.

Posted by: Johann Mar 29 2007, 03:52 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Mar 29 2007, 10:34 PM)
>
> Praise God for you Jnana! You are better than I. There would have been tears, but not mine, after that comment. I have suspected, and I am just going to say this and be through that there is also a slight underlying racial kind of thing going on here also. I tis not a part of the main issues by any means, but it is there. I know all the arguments, and that I am now going to get a list of eithnic groups represented on > 3ABN, etc. However, those of us who know, know it when we see it, no matter how pretty they fix it up.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 29 2007, 04:01 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 29 2007, 03:50 PM)
>
> But seriously, do you think there will be different skin colors in heaven? If so, I'll just bet it won't be an issue with anyone who is there.

)ne elder told me that before he was converted he was as prejudiced as any. But after he came to Jesus the .ord took that all away.

Posted by: Jnana15 Mar 29 2007, 04:28 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Mar 29 2007, 04:50 PM)
>
> Jnan15,
> There is a "white" heaven. I hear they have a chapter near Thompsonville.
>
> But seriously, do you think there will be different skin colors in heaven? If so, I'll just bet it won't be an issue with anyone who is there.

love Jesus with all of my heart and I truly believe that He sees no color as we do. Look at this world He has :reated, eventhough marred with sin. Lots of different shades of all colors and they are all beautiful.

just pray that Danny will tell self to go and sit down somewhere and let God take over 3ABN.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 29 2007, 04:33 PM

Now, that is exactly what he needs to do!

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 02:28 PM)
>
> I just pray that Danny will tell self to go and sit down somewhere and let God take over 3ABN.

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 29 2007, 05:00 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Mar 29 2007, 12:15 PM)

> Interesting reading. Does anyone know if he has undergone any diversity training since this happened?
>
> Infidelity only in regards to women? Did he really say that in a sermon? As for the comparison with Nehemiah.....

had forgotten about this NW! Of course that can happen as there is so much! A bit shocking, huh?

Posted by: lurker Mar 29 2007, 05:41 PM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Mar 29 2007, 05:00 PM)
>
> I had forgotten about this NW! Of course that can happen as there is so much! A bit shocking, huh?

Some are slicker in the way they hide it but D not only doesn't know. He doesn't know that he doesn't know.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Mar 29 2007, 05:47 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 03:09 PM)
>
> ....It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

Folks be "joking" when they say this...but you know in the back of jokes....
...lies a whole bunch of truth...

sn

Posted by: Clay Mar 29 2007, 06:45 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Mar 29 2007, 06:47 PM)
>
> Folks be "joking" when they say this...but you know in the back of jokes....
> ....lies a whole bunch of truth...
>
> sn

ruer things have been said in jest...... "it is not a credit to your blacksda....." yeah right...

Posted by: LadyTenor Mar 29 2007, 07:22 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 04:09 PM)
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 29 2007, 06:01 PM)
>
> One elder told me that before he was converted he was as prejudiced as any. But after he came to Jesus the Lord took that all away.

And that is exactly what is supposed to happen when one comes to Jesus...they are to become, as Paul says, a new being......

Posted by: lookin4truth Mar 29 2007, 08:32 PM

Act 17:26-28 And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation; (27) That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us: (28) For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring.

Red and Yellow, Black and White, They are precious in HIS sight, Jesus loves the little children of the world

All together now

Posted by: Bystander Mar 29 2007, 10:36 PM

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 4 2006, 01:59 PM)
>
> As far as Danny's first marriage goes, she was ten years older than him. It is common knowledge with his extended family, and they are not afraid to say it, that he was cheatin on her more than once. She had a daughter from another marriage. She, her daughter and their daughter Melody all had some meat on their bones, so her refered to them as "The Three Little Pigs". Does that sound like a man who was respectin' his wife?

Sister, I give up. You really have to get some more credible sources. How can you consistently have facts wrong? His first wife had 2 girls. Don't make allegations on any "cheatin" unless you can back it up with eyewitness testimony. Everyone else here might ignore your allegations without proof but I won't. Because someone said that someone said doesn't get it.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 29 2007, 10:45 PM

Uh Actually Sister, Don't answer this. If I remember correctly this was stated before it was established that first marriages, etc. were off limits. We will defintiely not rehash this one. BS look at the date on this post, It is almost a year ago. I think this is a good reminder*****

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Mar 29 2007, 08:36 PM)
>
> Sister, I give up. You really have to get some more credible sources. How can you consistently have facts wrong? His first wife had 2 girls. Don't make allegations on any "cheatin" unless you can back it up with eyewitness testimony. Everyone else here might ignore your allegations without proof but I won't. Because someone said that someone said doesn't get it.

Posted by: Hawk Mar 29 2007, 10:47 PM

Gone

Posted by: mozart Mar 29 2007, 10:53 PM

> QUOTE(Jnana15 @ Mar 29 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> This is really sad. My heart just dropped when I read all of these posts from the past.
> My friend just got another e-mail from Danny this morning and I have almost convinced her to pass it on to others. The man has serious issues!
>
> It's sad to say, many of our fellow Adventist believe that there is a "black" heaven and a "white" heaven. I was told by a member of a SDA church I was visiting that "she" was going to come on over to my side of heaven to hear us sing. I couldn't sing another note after that was said for the tears in my eyes.

UHOH........moron alert!! b Hello? what planet did you say she was from? gimminee cricket batman.

i'm not black and i rarely even think about this site being "black". weez all gist shades o' brown. (egg sept for those few eggheads around) XOXO jnana

---

Posted by: mozart Mar 29 2007, 11:05 PM

rofl thanks for the laugh mr. j. this mess do get heavy.

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Mar 30 2006, 06:57 AM)
>
> Only if the widow/widower had a hand in their spouse's demise... no, not much honor in that at all...
>
> But if the spouse dies from illness or gets hit by a train, struck by lightning, eaten by crocodiles or whatever... their time was just up...not a matter of honorable or dishonorable per se; dead is dead.

> In His service,
> Mr. J

Posted by: Johann Mar 29 2007, 11:15 PM

> QUOTE(LadyTenor @ Mar 30 2007, 03:22 AM)
>
> And that is exactly what is supposed to happen when one comes to Jesus...they are to become, as Paul says, a new being......

T, this is what we all need. Let's pray for such a renewal for all of us.

> QUOTE(Hawk @ Mar 30 2007, 06:47 AM)
>
> Gone

one, gone to a better land with beauty and purity. Where sins are forsaken and forgiven

---

Posted by: mozart Mar 29 2007, 11:22 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 29 2007, 03:23 PM)
>
> Don't forget the "red" heaven. Just maybe that's where all the sons of "Adam" will be, since "Adam" (and "Edom") are supposed to mean "red."

Well, I guess heaven's like a rainbow

Posted by: princessdi Apr 5 2007, 02:12 PM

BUMP!

Posted by: Clay Apr 6 2007, 08:22 AM

A quote from James Baldwin.....

> QUOTE
>
> No one is more dangerous than he who imagines himself pure in heart: for his purity, by definition, is unassailable.

that puts alot of this in perspective for me....

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 6 2007, 12:16 PM

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 6 2007, 02:21 PM

Or:

> QUOTE
>
> "No one is so blind as he who will not see."

Or:

> QUOTE
>
> "It is difficult to make a man see something when his salary depends on his not seeing it."

I don't know who the first is from, but the second is from Upton Sinclair.

Posted by: beartrap Apr 7 2007, 10:03 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 6 2007, 01:21 PM)
>
> Or:
> Or:
> I don't know who the first is from, but the second is from Upton Sinclair.

Upton Sinclair makes a profound statement there. That one will go into my book of quotes.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin May 2 2007, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(mizrobby @ Jul 27 2004, 10:00 PM)
>
> Hi Family--Ted and I took a trip to Orlando this past weekend, and decided to visit the Patmos church. 3ABN was also at Patmos taping Sabbath services for their "On the Road" tour. Patmos' choir and the fellowship was awesome and we look forward to returning.
>
> Now--Danny Shelton was the speaker of the hour, of course. His comments throughout the course of his presentation were interesting, to say the very least. After the choir sang, his comment was "y'all are serious about singing here"... Then after some rambling, he compared his coming to Patmos with his going to New York. He mentioned that a friend told him that whenever he saw a lot of Black people, don't be intimidated, just look them in the eye and say "what choo lookin' at?"...When in the program it was time for the offering, he made another comment saying, "in the Black churches, you say "lift the tithes"...

> Many "Black" comments were made. IMHO, all were unnecessary. Were these supposed to be terms of endearment? When we visit "their" churches, should we make lots of "white" comments? Maybe this was his way of breaking the ice.
>
> Many waited with baited breath for the sermon. Mr. Shelton based his sermon on Nehemiah's building of the wall--and not coming off that wall to defend his actions. Mr. Shelton equated Nehemiah with himself--and how he will not come off the wall to defend his actions re:3ABN and accusations made against him. Mr. Shelton pretty much ranted about silly women being led astray, lust, how tv and internet has entered the home, infidelity among women, how innocent conversation leads to destruction, Adventist chat rooms and rumors abounding and how folks are writing about him. That was the sermon.
>
> I'm sure everyone in the room felt what he was alluding to and ranting about. I'm sure some of you may have seen the taping. I took notes, as I sometimes do in order to recall what the sermon was about.
>
> Anyway, after services, I felt an obligation to talk with Mr. Shelton. I offered up a prayer so that my words would not cross my lips, but that the Holy Spirit would guide my tongue. I shook his hand, told him that I'm a member of BlackSDA, and let him know that the members of BlackSDA are strong Christians. I also told him that BlackSDA is in no way a gossip/tabloid column and his letter saying that we were was highly offensive. I also told him that the members of BlackSDA are continuing to lift him AND Linda and 3ABN up in prayer, and that if anyone is keeping 3ABN afloat, it is the prayers of BlackSDA. I didn't let his hand go or stop looking him in his eyes until he heard. He did say many times "I appreciate that".
>
> If Mr. Shelton is lurking this site, I'm sure he will confirm all that I've said here.

What do you now think of DS's "off the wall" comment he made, according to the post above.

Wonder if he still equates himself with Nehemiah?

Someone should write an article and title it, "DS is Off the Wall."

Posted by: runner4him May 2 2007, 02:07 PM

> QUOTE(Whtz Happenin @ May 2 2007, 01:17 PM) ☐
>
> What do you now think of DS's "off the wall" comment he made, according to the post above.
>
> Wonder if he still equates himself with Nehemiah?
>
> Someone should write an article and title it, "DS is Off the Wall."

am very offended by the "off the wall" comments above that DS made ......whatever my color might be I ind it very offensive and really lame to say things like that. I am not surprised since I think he lacks in the Christian Grace Department as well as many other areas. Is he even aware of his insulting remarks? Why does anyone do that sort of thing....need to comment white or black to break the ice or whatever? When will we really see each other....yes, really see each other. We belong to the Human Race...all equal in God's eyes...all precious....all different but unique and needing the same blood to cover us. I love the multiculture experience and respect amd embrace the differences. Amen and Amen!

Posted by: caribbean sda May 2 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(runner4him @ May 2 2007, 04:07 PM) ☐

> I am very offended by the "off the wall" comments above that DS made ......whatever my color might be I find it very offensive and really lame to say things like that. I am not surprised since I think he lacks in the Christian Grace Department as well as many other areas. Is he even aware of his insulting remarks? Why does anyone do that sort of thing....need to comment white or black to break the ice or whatever? When will we really see each other....yes, really see each other. We belong to the Human Race...all equal in God's eyes...all precious....all different but unique and needing the same blood to cover us. I love the multiculture experience and respect amd embrace the differences. Amen and Amen!

He's not the only one uttering such nonsense...only difference is that his words are heard around the world...

I've heard him make similar remarks on their road shows. You choke and say, "did I just hear him correctly?" Sadly, the answer is "yes!"

Posted by: Rosyroi May 2 2007, 05:36 PM

Edited for content....

Rosyroi

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Scott Clem Statement - "i Am Not A Victim"

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 27 2007, 05:36 PM

Dear BSDA family,

Much has been written here about the Clem brothers - Scott, Duane and Roger. Many are becoming very familiar with the impact that the admitted AND the alleged sexual abuse by Tommy Shelton has had on two of these brothers - Duane and Roger. At some point, some where in all of these discussions, a leap has apparently been made to include Scott in the allegations of abuse. The following statement, posted on Save3abn.com, is Scott's statement to set the record straight.

PB

-------- Original Message --------
From: Scott Clem
Subject: I Am NOT A Victim
Date: Wed, 25 Apr 2007 12:36:15 -0500

Hi, ******!

I feel that I need to address an issue which keeps reappearing, and I request that this message be posted on any and all appropriate websites which deal with the issues surrounding Tommy Shelton.

It is widely known that both of my brothers fell victim to inappropriate sexual behavior by Tommy, and since this information has gone public, statements have been made to me, or to others about me, in regard to whether or not the same fate had befallen me. While I can certainly understand this concern, it is troubling to me that certain individuals seem to have simply concluded within their own minds that I must have been a victim as well. This could potentially result in litigation if the wrong things are said to the wrong people, so I feel that the time has come for me to set the record straight.

The simple truth....I am NOT one of Tommy Shelton's victims. The despicable acts which were, unfortunately, perpetrated on my brothers were, fortunately, never perpetrated on me. For what reason, I am not sure, but I am glad that I was never victimized and I wish that my brothers and all of the other young men could say the same of themselves.

True as this may be, certain facts remain. Though I was not a victim myself, I am still experiencing my own degree of pain in this situation because of what my brothers and several friends have gone through. In light of this, I wish to make it perfectly clear that I am not making this statement in defense of Tommy Shelton. I am NOT defending that man, and I never will again! I am making this statement to protect those who have been misled into believing and advocating something that simply is not true.

The problem is this....the time could come when something is said to someone in regard to my "victimization", and those in Tommy's defense could, in the long run, use that as a basis for litigation against the person who made the statement when the truth comes out. I do not intend to give them the satisfaction. I repeat....I am NOT defending Tommy Shelton. As long as he has no chance of squirming his way out of trouble, I don't give a care what he has or what he does with it, but I am afraid that something is going to be said which could give his side even a small bit of credibility, and this just cannot happen.

At this point, there have been no direct accusations against Tommy in regard to me personally, but I am afraid that this may soon happen. I just want to make it very plain to everyone that I am not a victim, but that I stand with and support the victims who are now coming forward.

Thank you very much for your assistance in this matter.

In Christ,
Scott

http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-scott-clem-not-a-victim.htm

---

Posted by: mozart Apr 27 2007, 06:00 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 27 2007, 04:36 PM)
>
> Dear BSDA family,
> ....
>
> http://www.save3abn.com/tommy-shelton-victims-family-scott-clem-not-a-victim.htm

thanks for sharing this. i hadn't heard that rumor but i totally agree with him writing this letter for ppl to see. it was the smart thing to do. God bless him.

Posted by: Ozzie Apr 28 2007, 05:54 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 28 2007, 09:36 AM)
>
> At this point, there have been no direct accusations against Tommy in regard to me personally, but I am afraid that this may soon happen. I just want to make it very plain to everyone that I am not a victim, but that I stand with and support the victims who are now coming forward.
>
> Thank you very much for your assistance in this matter. In Christ,
> Scott

Thank you Scott for clarifying that. I believe too that it is good that you have spoken out before TS's side can come up with any more wild claims of persecution etc. God bless.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 1 2007, 08:38 PM

This shows that the "side" doesn't have to resort to "making up victims" for Tommy Shelton.... when in large there are enough existing. The fact that he supports his brother is beautiful...and the fact that he can come forward and admit that he is not a victim is admirable. What I like even better is that he acknowledges the abuse of his other brothers and does not state that it didn't "happen" to them....

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The Rosie Lies Of 26th April 2007, 02:08 Pm Allowed On Cf

---

Posted by: mozart Apr 29 2007, 06:09 PM

I copied and am pasting this here right away because I know that the biased mods over on CF will probably delete it as soon as they see it.

TRUTHMAGNET opened this thread today after rosie55's attempt to slander linda by opening a thread with the false title "3ABN Lawyer's Discussion. CF did not attempt to delete rosie55's thread even though it was falsly titled and created to slander and start gossip. rosie55 deleted her own thread when it did not go the way she had planned.

Originally Posted by Rosie55
#1
3ABN Lawyers Discussion
(Lie #1- false thread title; this was never meant to reveal "Lawyers Discussion")

Tomatoe:
I am still not understanding why Linda seems to want to take Danny to court.
(Lie #2 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion")

Could you tell me what she got at the time of the divorce and again why she would go to court again?
(Lie #3 - AGAIN? twisting the truth & not revealing "Lawyers Discussion")

Does Danny have assets that he didn't disclose before the divorce?
(Lie #4 - Asking for Deliberate Retorical Spin on Question- not asking for "Lawyers Discussion")

I am assuming she wants more money.
(Lie #5 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion" but assuming to slander and start gossip)

I'm curious, does Linda hold down a job?
(Lie #6 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion" and degrading Linda by inferring, by the usage of the term "hold down a job", that she is somehow irresponsible and has trouble "holding down a job" thus trying to start slanderous and degrading gossip)

What does she do to earn her living?
(Lie #7 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion" - question is irrelevant and trying to start demeaning gossip)

Thanks for making this more clear.
(Lie #8 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion" but accepting in advance of reply from tomatoe, not a lawyer, that his answers will make things more clear - subject reeking of pre-planned answers)

Oh, and this question is for Tomatoe ONLY. Thanks for respecting this.
(Lie #9 - not asking for "Lawyers Discussion" but trying to start demeaning gossip aimed at Linda)

If the motive of opening this public thread were seeking truth, then one has to wonder why the proposed query is for only one designated responder who is preliminarily set up as being the only one knowing the true answers that can clarify the original poster's confusion. Would that defy the definition of "FORUM"?

End Quote from Rosie55

****

Now we have tomatoe who made at least a dozen or two posts spinning his idealistic loyal views as facts. Best i recall, in the entire thread, there was not one "Lawyer Discussion" or documentation of any Lawyer

Discussions.

Originally Posted by tomatoe - (his last statement before thread was closed at Rosie55's request.)
Franny,
".....YOU are offended because Rosie opened a thread to refute false allegations? "
End Quote from tomatoe

Where is that part of Rosie's thread? Does she use invisible ink? Maybe the type is too small. I'm not finding it. Can you show me that again?

{Now Tomatoe; here's your script.
linda is taking danny to court just to get more money. she doesn't want to work, has spent the 3/4 million they gave her and now want's even more. she doesn't "hold down a job" because she had rather get more money out of danny than work. she doesn't want to earn her own living anymore. she wants danny to pay her way in the style she is accustomed. got that? love, mollie }

****

Slandering Linda was the ONLY point of the ROSIE55's thread. It had nothing to do with nor did it contain one sentence of "3ABN Lawyer's Discussion. Since they didn't get what they wanted out of it, they closed it down.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 29 2007, 07:21 PM

I'm finding it hard to understand why we want to bring stuff over here that isn't even fit for the forum it came from. We know what kind of stuff these folk say... we don't need to see it over and over again.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 29 2007, 07:29 PM

When I read it it looked to me as if one person was asking a question in one name and answered his/her own question in another name.

Just my own humble opinion.

Rosyroi

Posted by: Noahswife Apr 29 2007, 09:01 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 29 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> When I read it it looked to me as if one person was asking a question in one name and answered his/her own question in another name.
>
> Just my own humble opinion.
>
> Rosyroi

Hey Rosyroi

I had planned to respond to Mozart earlier but your comment points out something that can be documented. Many of us spell things wrong or make typographical errors. In fact this was pointed out several times in other threads.

What is interesting is that Rosie55 has made the same spelling error with a particular word that Joe Smith and Eyewitness made (for newbies these are banned posters). This same spelling error was made by another DS apologist that still posts here at BSDA. Now what kind of stretch would it be to assume that either the same person is writing all the material for posting or that IDs are shared? And Rosyroi, with all the hundreds and hundreds of posts here in the 3abn forum not a single other person has made the same spelling error.

Talk about things that make one go, hmmmmmmm.

nw
C"i"

Posted by: lookin4truth Apr 29 2007, 09:38 PM

QUOTE(Noahswife @ Apr 29 2007, 10:01 PM)

Hey Rosyroi h

I had planned to respond to Mozart earlier but your comment points out something that can be documented. Many of us spell things wrong or make typographical errors. In fact this was pointed out several times in other threads.

What is interesting is that Rosie55 has made the same spelling error with a particular word that Joe Smith and Eyewitness made (for newbies these are banned posters). This same spelling error was made by another DS apologist that still posts here at BSDA. Now what kind of stretch would it be to assume that either the same person is writing all the material for posting or that IDs are shared? And Rosyroi, with all the hundreds and hundreds of posts here in the 3abn forum not a single other person has made the same spelling error.

Talk about things that make one go, hmmmmmmm.

nw
C"i"

Hey Rosyroi h

I had planned to respond to Mozart earlier but your comment points out something that can be documented. Many of us spell things wrong or make typographical errors. In fact this was pointed out several times in other threads.

What is interesting is that Rosie55 has made the same spelling error with a particular word that Joe Smith and Eyewitness made (for newbies these are banned posters). This same spelling error was made by another DS apologist that still posts here at BSDA. Now what kind of stretch would it be to assume that either the same person is writing all the material for posting or that IDs are shared? And Rosyroi, with all the hundreds and hundreds of posts here in the 3abn forum not a single other person has made the same spelling error.

Talk about things that make one go, hmmmmmmm.

nw

> C"i" t's deja vu all over again

Sorry, couldn't resist

Posted by: Noahswife Apr 29 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Apr 29 2007, 10:38 PM)
>
> It's deja vu all over again
>
> Sorry, couldn't resist

Oh well making up for lost time not being here much the past 10 days.

Sorry

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 29 2007, 10:41 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Apr 29 2007, 08:38 PM)
>
> It's deja vu all over again
>
> Sorry, couldn't resist

Rosyroi

Rosyroi

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 29 2007, 11:51 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 29 2007, 06:21 PM)
>
> I'm finding it hard to understand why we want to bring stuff over here that isn't even fit for the forum it came from. We know what kind of stuff these folk say... we don't need to see it over and over again.

I tend to agree, WB ... but I don't disagree with mo for posting either. I might not have done it, but it is another brick in the wall, so to speak, of the kind of people that stand up on Danny's side. I wouldn't be surprised if Rosie55 reads, or used to read, on BSDA. If so, that person knows we're paying attention ...

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 12:35 AM

ROSY, are you referring to this thread or the ones posted at CF? BTW the mod deleted the entire truthmagnet thread less than a half hour after it was posted so i'm glad i brought it here to at least be seen. even tho' we are aware of the childish and devious shenanagans they play, i thought they were so clear and concise within this one little thread that it was worth seeing.

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 29 2007, 06:29 PM)
>
> When I read it it looked to me as if one person was asking a question in one name and answered his/her own question in another name.
>
> Just my own humble opinion.
>
> Rosyroi

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 12:47 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 29 2007, 06:21 PM)
>
> I'm finding it hard to understand why we want to bring stuff over here that isn't even fit for the forum it came from. We know what kind of stuff these folk say... we don't need to see it over and over again.

it may only prove a point that most of us already know, but i thought it painted a simple, open picture, that shows in one glimpse who these posters are. sorry you found this unfit and useless WB.

Posted by: Johann Apr 30 2007, 01:25 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 30 2007, 08:47 AM)
>
> it may only prove a point that most of us already know, but i thought it painted a simple, open picture, that shows in one glimpse who these posters are. sorry you found this unfit and useless WB.

Mozart, your post got me to the Christian Forums where I had not looked for a long time - to discover the thread is closad for now.

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 02:04 AM

yes Rosie55 closed her thread falsly & seductively titled "3ABN Lawyers Discussion" when it totally backfired on her. it is locked, but you can still read it.
Truthmagnet opened another thread this morning exposing Rosie55 and Tomatoe for the deceivers that they are and TMs new thread, that is pasted at the beginning here, got immediately and completely deleted by the CF mods who said it was flaming. i expected as much that is why i posted it here.
Truthmagnet exposes each bogus question by Rosie55 who's agenda was to slander and start rumors and negative gossip about Linda and trying to make it look like innocent questions and "confusion" for her that only tomatoe could clear up. they obviously had a script they were foolish enough to think they could get away with but it blew up in there face, however even with their flaming insults in the approx. 100posts in that thread, the CF mods never once intervened.. it had nothing to do with 3ABN lawyers discussions so TM opened a rebuttel thread and the CF mod deleted it almost immediately.

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 30 2007, 12:25 AM)
>
> Mozart, your post got me to the Christian Forums where I had not looked for a long time - to discover the thread is closad for now.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 30 2007, 06:07 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 30 2007, 04:04 AM)
>
> yes Rosie55 closed her thread falsly & seductively titled "3ABN Lawyers Discussion" when it totally backfired on her. it is locked, but you can still read it.
> Truthmagnet opened another thread this morning exposing Rosie55 and Tomatoe for the deceivers that they are and TMs new thread, that is pasted at the beginning here, got immediately and completely deleted by the CF mods who said it was flaming. i expected as much that is why i posted it here.
> Truthmagnet exposes each bogus question by Rosie55 who's agenda was to slander and start rumors and negative gossip about Linda and trying to make it look like innocent questions and "confusion" for her that only tomatoe could clear up. they obviously had a script they were foolish enough to think they could get away with but it blew up in there face, however even with their flaming insults in the approx. 100posts in that thread, the CF mods never once intervened.. it had nothing to do with 3ABN lawyers discussions so TM opened a rebuttel thread and the CF mod deleted it almost immediately.

The mods at CF, like the mods at CA are pro-Danny's camp... and have reached a point where they barely maintain a pretense of objectivity. If one is going to post there, they should know that those critical of DS et al are kept on a much shorter leash and given far less leeway than those who are DS supporters.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: watchbird Apr 30 2007, 07:09 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 30 2007, 02:47 AM)
>
> it may only prove a point that most of us already know, but i thought it painted a simple, open picture, that shows in one glimpse who these posters are. sorry you found this unfit and useless WB.

What I said was that I found it hard to understand.... s .... but I'm getting there.... crutch.gi

I also found it hard to understand why anyone... even a Danny or Dannyclone... would use "tomatoe" as a "public name"..... ......

...... then it hit me..... .... tom ..... tom ..... tom ..... tom .....

.... sofa1.gif ....

Posted by: Observer Apr 30 2007, 07:21 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 30 2007, 12:25 AM)
>
> Mozart, your post got me to the Christian Forums where I had not looked for a long time - to discover the thread is closad for now.

Same here, Johann. I went there for probably the 3rd or 4th (I do not remember exactly.) time.

I do not expect to go back soon.

Same song. Same verse. A broken record.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 30 2007, 08:27 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 30 2007, 06:09 AM)
>
> I also found it hard to understand why anyone... even a Danny or Dannyclone... would use "tomatoe" as a "public name"
>
> then it hit me..... .... tom ..... tom ..... tom ..... tom .....
>
> .... sofa1.gif ....

rofl

Spelling it "tomatoe" always reminds me of a certain ex-Vice President and another edible plant ...

Posted by: watchbird Apr 30 2007, 09:21 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 30 2007, 10:27 AM) ☐
>
> ☒ ☒ ☒ rofl
> Spelling it "tomatoe" always reminds me of a certain ex-Vice President and another edible plant ...

Don't think I want to "go there".....

But I've heard that in the "good old days" when politicians visited rural farm areas to make their campaign speeches...... local farmers brought bushels of tomatoes that were too rotten to be sold so the locals could express their negative "appreciation" in a rather direct way. I guess those tomatoes didn't have any say in being used in that way. But it seems as though we now have at least one which hurls himself at any who disagrees with him....

Interesting switcheroo..... ☐ ☒ .... ☐

Posted by: Noahswife Apr 30 2007, 09:59 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 30 2007, 11:21 AM) ☐
>
> But it seems as though we now have at least one which hurls himself at any who disagrees with him....
>
> Interesting switcheroo..... ☐ ☒ .... ☐

I noticed that WB.

However, I quickly discovered at CF that although this one does not mind being hurled he hates to be asked direct questions and refuses in his own words "to be grilled".

nw

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 10:04 AM

☒ rofl ☒ ☒ rofl

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 30 2007, 07:09 AM) ☐
>
> What I said was that I found it hard to understand.... ☒ sa .... but I'm getting there.... ☒ crutch.gi
>
> I also found it hard to understand why anyone... even a Danny or Dannyclone... would use "tomatoe" as a > "public name"..... ......

>
> ...... then it hit me..... .... tom .....
>
> .... sofa1.gif ....

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 10:25 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 30 2007, 06:07 AM)
>
> The mods at CF, like the mods at CA are pro-Danny's camp... and have reached a point where they barely maintain a pretense of objectivity. If one is going to post there, they should know that those critical of DS et al are kept on a much shorter leash and given far less leeway than those who are DS supporters.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

es you are correct. in fact i dont even like to go over there because of the excessive hostility. there is only ne adventist they have as a mod for our forums over there and she is quesitonable. i emailed them about hat last week and got a reply from a lady in "cusotmer concerns" who said: they may have other adventists they don't know?) that might (they don't know?) be in other forums but yes there is only one adventist for ur forum.
vonder when "Christians" became such good politicians? anyway, i have no doubt this one adventist is not nly predjudice but very nominal and "progressive" (they like to call it) but i've seen her say she and her astor husband don't believe in EGW but he can't admit that because of his job. i don't get ppl that go to a hurch they don't even believe in, especially if it's a pastor on the payroll.
ow before one of you goes ballistic on me assuming i think EGW is = to the Bible or John the Baptist or omething, i've never thought that. i've never called her a prophet. she asked ppl not to call her a prophet nd i respect her enough not to do that. i'm sure she had very good reason for saying that. i consider her ery good Bible counsel and i would say that whether i was an adventist or not. for those who pick her apart t the seams i say, if it doesn't bless you, don't read it. don't throw the baby out with the bath water. it tends o be a great loss when you do that.
o.......... sig BACK TO THE TOPIC.

tableta

Posted by: shinejoy Apr 30 2007, 10:37 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 30 2007, 07:21 AM)
>
> Don't think I want to "go there".....
>
> But I've heard that in the "good old days" when politicians visited rural farm areas to make their campaign speeches...... local farmers brought bushels of tomatoes that were too rotten to be sold so the locals could > express their negative "appreciation" in a rather direct way. I guess those tomatoes didn't have any say in being used in that way. But it seems as though we now have at least one which hurls himself at any who disagrees with him....

>
> Interesting switcheroo..... ....

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 30 2007, 07:21 AM)
>
> Don't think I want to "go there".....
>
> But I've heard that in the "good old days" when politicians visited rural farm areas to make their campaign speeches...... local farmers brought bushels of tomatoes that were too rotten to be sold so the locals could express their negative "appreciation" in a rather direct way. I guess those tomatoes didn't have any say in being used in that way. But it seems as though we now have at least one which hurls himself at any who disagrees with him....
>
> Interesting switcheroo..... ....

VOW interesting thought..

Posted by: calvin Apr 30 2007, 10:58 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 30 2007, 07:07 AM)
>
> The mods at CF, like the mods at CA are pro-Danny's camp... and have reached a point where they barely maintain a pretense of objectivity. If one is going to post there, they should know that those critical of DS et al are kept on a much shorter leash and given far less leeway than those who are DS supporters.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

..and I suspect they would put BSDA in the pro-Linda camp. Hey whatever

---

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 11:08 AM

I would put us in the "Fight for The Truth Camp". Thanks for letting us do that Boss.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 30 2007, 10:58 AM)
>
> ...and I suspect they would put BSDA in the pro-Linda camp. Hey whatever

---

Posted by: Noahswife Apr 30 2007, 11:27 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 30 2007, 08:07 AM) ☐
>
> The mods at CF, like the mods at CA are pro-Danny's camp... and have reached a point where they barely maintain a pretense of objectivity. If one is going to post there, they should know that those critical of DS et al are kept on a much shorter leash and given far less leeway than those who are DS supporters.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J,

I think another very important factor that we also need to take into consideration is that I have never once written a complaint to Clay, Di or Calvin here about another poster. I believe we are all adults and should be able to take as good as we give. I believe that as adults we should be able to discuss things and not throw out dynamite and run with no accountability for what was said. However, I get the impression that many supporters of DS that post here are constantly complaining.

I found myself at CF several times writing to the moderator when i began to see inconsistencies in how things were handled or posts edited. It was quickly my impression that like here, the screaming tomatoes and peaches etc were complaining and at CF they were being responded to. So I decided to do the same when I had time to. I typically found that my requests if documented were responded to and fairly handled.

So I think a major difference is that here at BSDA we know the admins and Calvin are not going to be bullied into giving in to demands by the DS apologists. That is not true there and I don't think that will change.

Off my soapbox now that i have said my 2 cents.

nw
C"i"

Posted by: daylily Apr 30 2007, 11:57 AM

One of Danny's favorite stories is about how he, his family and cousins picked tomatoes as children. They would throw rotten tomatoes at each other :-)

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 30 2007, 12:42 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 30 2007, 12:25 PM) ☐
>
> there is only one adventist they have as a mod for our forums over there and she is quesitonable.

She isn't even questionable; she is the wife of tall73 who is an SDA pastor who took Danny's side very early on and she tends to back her husband like Sapphira did Ananias...

There couldn't be a lesson in that, could there?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: princessdi Apr 30 2007, 12:54 PM

This is why I love you Gurl!!! Flesh and blood did not give this to you!!!

> QUOTE
>
> Mr. J,
>
> I think another very important factor that we also need to take into consideration is that I have never once written a complaint to Clay, Di or Calvin here about another poster. I believe we are all adults and should be able to take as good as we give. I believe that as adults we should be able to discuss things and not throw out dynamite and run with no accountability for what was said. However, I get the impression that many supporters of DS that post here are constantly complaining.
>
> I found myself at CF several times writing to the moderator when i began to see inconsistencies in how things were handled or posts edited. It was quickly my impression that like here, the screaming tomatoes and peaches etc were complaining and at CF they were being responded to. So I decided to do the same when I had time to. I typically found that my requests if documented were responded to and fairly handled.
>
> So I think a major difference is that here at BSDA we know the admins and Calvin are not going to be bullied into giving in to demands by the DS apologists. That is not true there and I don't think that will change.
>
> Off my soapbox now that i have said my 2 cents.
>
> nw
> C"i"

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 12:58 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 30 2007, 11:42 AM)
>
> She isn't even questionable; she is the wife of tall73 who is an SDA pastor who took Danny's side very early on and she tends to back her husband like Sapphira did Ananias...
>
> There couldn't be a lesson in that, could there?
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

well, turns out, she (sophia7, tall73's wife) is the one that deleted TMs thread. i have had several conversations with her and her husband and if they were more "watered-down" they would drown. in my dealings with the mods over at CF, it appears that they only respond if you complain. in fact that is what they have told me. just today sophia7 told me they don't have time to read every thread so they can only respond if someone makes a complaint so that is what i needed to do. i wrote them back and said "the opponents of Rosie55 and tomatoe are not cry-babies that run to momma if someone gives back what they dish out. i told her we don't believe in those hit and run tactics. "
not meaning to sound self-righteous or judgemental, but, it's truly sad how many unconverted souls are in the churches and even getting paid!!
i was thinking about that this morning while thinking about our church wondering why there is no growth. i imagined myself preaching to the church and saying, "there are so many lost souls out there..........and there are many in here as well". let's get those in here right with God before we go trying to bring anybody else in. it's amazing to think how many people forget "God is watching".

Posted by: Clay Apr 30 2007, 06:29 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 30 2007, 01:58 PM)
>
> well, turns out, she (sophia7, tall73's wife) is the one that deleted TMs thread. i have had several conversations with her and her husband and if they were more "watered-down" they would drown. in my dealings with the mods over at CF, it appears that they only respond if you complain. in fact that is what they have told me. just today sophia7 told me they don't have time to read every thread so they can only respond if someone makes a complaint so that is what i needed to do. i wrote them back and said "the opponents of Rosie55 and tomatoe are not cry-babies that run to momma if someone gives back what they dish out. i told her we don't believe in those hit and run tactics. "
> not meaning to sound self-righteous or judgemental, but, it's truly sad how many unconverted souls are in the churches and even getting paid!!
> i was thinking about that this morning while thinking about our church wondering why there is no growth. i imagined myself preaching to the church and saying, "there are so many lost souls out there...........and there are many in here as well". let's get those in here right with God before we go trying to bring anybody else in. it's amazing to think how many people forget "God is watching".

I rather like Sophia and Tall.... watered down, whatever does that mean? not everyone can be (or needs to be) a rabid sda.....

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 30 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 30 2007, 05:29 PM)
>
> I rather like Sophia and Tall.... watered down, whatever does that mean? not everyone can be (or needs to be) a rabid sda.....

Well, for another example, Pickle and I are probably not close on a number of issues, but I appreciate him because I know he's committed to the truth, as I am (or am trying to be).

One thing that I don't like about save3abn is that, at least on some pages, it assumes you are a true conservative if you oppose the current administration of 3abn. I think anyone with a sense of right-and-wrong would look at the facts and go, "Hey. Let's have some change at the top here, shall we?"

I don't know Sophia and Tall, I have my hands full checking this forum. But I have friends that are arch-conservatives, I have friends that have dropped out and become Presbyterians, and my best friend, who used to cut up with me in Youth Sabbath School, is these days something of a ... Buddhist ... sort of ... kinda Muslim too ... Hindu Christian ... yeah.

We ought to be careful of ad hominem attacks. A person who is right about some stuff might be dead wrong about others.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 30 2007, 09:56 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 29 2007, 10:35 PM)

> ROSY, are you referring to this thread or the ones posted at CF? BTW the mod deleted the entire truthmagnet thread less than a half hour after it was posted so i'm glad i brought it here to at least be seen. even tho' we are aware of the childish and devious shenanagans they play, i thought they were so clear and concise within this one little thread that it was worth seeing.

I should have clarified myself.

I perused CF to see what was going on. While I was reading the posts it appeared to me the poster rosie55 demanded that no one except the poster tomato reply to rosie55 questions. The questions and answers were deliberately made to make Linda look very very bad.

I am relying on a faulty memory for who was asking the questions and who was answering. As far as I am concerned it really doens't make any difference since I believe it was the same person doing the asking and answering.

Of course JimLarmore jumped in uninvited and added his strange two cents worth. Of course that was an added bonus for the person posting as two separate people. others added their questions that were NOT part of the printed planned program.

My understanding that the uninvited questions unanswered of course helped rosie55/tomato ask that the thread be shut down. By this time another day had passed. Not sure but I think this took about two or more days from start to finish. I didn't pay attention to when it started.

I am sure I most likely left out a lot of other information but this is the best I could come up with to make it as short as possible. Any error on my part will most likely be corrected by those who were more closely involved.

I applaud those who went in there and asked the questions that interrupted the thread.

I hope that answered your question.
Rosyroi

Posted by: Eirene Apr 30 2007, 10:23 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 30 2007, 09:56 PM)
>
> I should have clarified myself.
>
> I perused CF to see what was going on. While I was reading the posts it appeared to me the poster rosie55 demanded that no one except the poster tomato reply to rosie55 questions. The questions and answers were deliberately made to make Linda look very very bad.
>
> I am relying on a faulty memory for who was asking the questions and who was answering. As far as I am concerned it really doens't make any difference since I believe it was the same person doing the asking and answering.
>
> Of course JimLarmore jumped in uninvited and added his strange two cents worth. Of course that was an added bonus for the person posting as two separate people. others added their questions that were NOT part of the printed planned program.
>
> My understanding that the uninvited questions unanswered of course helped rosie55/tomato ask that the thread be shut down. By this time another day had passed. Not sure but I think this took about two or more days from start to finish. I didn't pay attention to when it started.
>
> I am sure I most likely left out a lot of other information but this is the best I could come up with to make it as short as possible. Any error on my part will most likely be corrected by those who were more closely > involved.

>
> I applaud those who went in there and asked the questions that interrupted the thread.
>
> I hope that answered your question.
> Rosyroi

irst off, let me say that I know for a fact that Rosie and tomatoe are 2 totally different people thousands of iles apart. OK ll of this hoopla is because Rosie started a thread where some actual truth could be told.
low many threads have been started here by lindanites telling her version of events that she has passed on o others? How many verses one lousy thread at CF to defend false allegations.
low how many times has your side complained about threads getting hijacked or going off topic as a istraction from our side? How many? Yet you do the same exact thing over at CF on Rosie's thread and are roud of it. She asked respectfully for certain questions to be answered but you all can't stand the 3abn ubject being discussed without bringing your dirt and allegations to the party.
s many threads as this forum has started against 3abn and yet you can't stand for 1 thread to be started in avor of 3abn. This board proves it. There was a thread started by bystander. Got shut down. A thread started y FHB, got shut down. A thread started by aletheia..Got shut down. Now we have 1 thread started at CF and ou all interfere because it counteracts the gossip and allegations that you love to spread so much.
n top of it you have alleged that Rosie and Tomatoe are the same person when they certainly aren't. You all re wrong about too many things, too many events, and too many accusations to be credible anymore.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 30 2007, 10:35 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 30 2007, 08:23 PM)
>
> First off, let me say that I know for a fact that Rosie and tomatoe are 2 totally different people thousands of miles apart. OK
> All of this hoopla is because Rosie started a thread where some actual truth could be told.
> How many threads have been started here by lindanites telling her version of events that she has passed on to others? How many verses one lousy thread at CF to defend false allegations.
> Now how many times has your side complained about threads getting hijacked or going off topic as a distraction from our side? How many? Yet you do the same exact thing over at CF on Rosie's thread and are proud of it. She asked respectfully for certain questions to be answered but you all can't stand the 3abn subject being discussed without bringing your dirt and allegations to the party.
> As many threads as this forum has started against 3abn and yet you can't stand for 1 thread to be started in favor of 3abn. This board proves it. There was a thread started by bystander. Got shut down. A thread started by FHB, got shut down. A thread started by aletheia..Got shut down. Now we have 1 thread started at CF and you all interfere because it counteracts the gossip and allegations that you love to spread so much.
> On top of it you have alleged that Rosie and Tomatoe are the same person when they certainly aren't. You all are wrong about too many things, too many events, and too many accusations to be credible anymore.

orry to disappoint you but I am on TRUTH side. In 2004 I heard some nasty rumors AGAINST Linda straight ROM 3ABN. Walt Thompson to be exact. Of course if you ask him if he wrote those nasty rumors he would eny it. I got my answer by comming here. the LORD sent me here. One rumor has not been mentioned in ere and I asked an employee if that rumor was truth. The employee said as far as they new it was not true. he rumor was false. And all the other rumors Walt sent out in email and letters were false also. These were EFORE the "Linda is having Spiritual Adultry rumors" ince you use the Evelyn Wood reading course I want to remind you that this was my opinion. I never said I rote the message in stone.

I see that you are still here writing and rebutting. You have not crossed the line yet. Those others who you so gallantly upheld had crossed the line. There are several wonderful folk here who desperately hope you don't cross the line either. They love bantering with you. So try to find that line not to cross so you may have the privilege of continuing your posting in BSDA.

That is my truth and I am sticking to it.

Rosyroi

Posted by: mozart Apr 30 2007, 11:54 PM

go back and read the first post opening this thread Eirene and see who has the agenda. even the title of the thread was a lie. who were the "lawyers" and where was the "discussion". tomatoe isn't a lawyer is he? i think not. the whole thing was designed by fools whose designs failed because they were built on sandy ground.
their evil plan backfired right in their faces exactly as it should have.
have some sense of reason please!

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 30 2007, 10:23 PM)
>
> First off, let me say that I know for a fact that Rosie and tomatoe are 2 totally different people thousands of miles apart. OK
> All of this hoopla is because Rosie started a thread where some actual truth could be told.
> How many threads have been started here by lindanites telling her version of events that she has passed on to others? How many verses one lousy thread at CF to defend false allegations.
> Now how many times has your side complained about threads getting hijacked or going off topic as a distraction from our side? How many? Yet you do the same exact thing over at CF on Rosie's thread and are proud of it. She asked respectfully for certain questions to be answered but you all can't stand the 3abn subject being discussed without bringing your dirt and allegations to the party.
> As many threads as this forum has started against 3abn and yet you can't stand for 1 thread to be started in favor of 3abn. This board proves it. There was a thread started by bystander. Got shut down. A thread started by FHB, got shut down. A thread started by aletheia..Got shut down. Now we have 1 thread started at CF and you all interfere because it counteracts the gossip and allegations that you love to spread so much.
> On top of it you have alleged that Rosie and Tomatoe are the same person when they certainly aren't. You all are wrong about too many things, too many events, and too many accusations to be credible anymore.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 30 2007, 10:23 PM)
>
> ... You all are wrong about too many things, too many events, and too many accusations to be credible anymore.

Ahhhhh...so does that mean that we were once credible? or are you just here to annoy us?

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 30 2007, 10:35 PM)
>
> Sorry to disappoint you but I am on TRUTH side. In 2004 I heard some nasty rumors AGAINST Linda straight FROM 3ABN. Walt Thompson to be exact. Of course if you ask him if he wrote those nasty rumors he would deny it. I got my answer by comming here. the LORD sent me here. One rumor has not been mentioned in here and I asked an employee if that rumor was truth. The employee said as far as they new it was not true. The rumor was false. And all the other rumors Walt sent out in email and letters were false also. These were BEFORE the "Linda is having Spiritual Adultry rumors"

> Since you use the Evelyn Wood reading course I want to remind you that this was my opinion. I never said I wrote the message in stone.
>
> I see that you are still here writing and rebutting. You have not crossed the line yet. Those others who you so gallantly upheld had crossed the line. There are several wonderful folk here who desperately hope you don't cross the line either. They love bantering with you. So try to find that line not to cross so you may have the privilege of continuing your posting in BSDA.
>
> That is my truth and I am sticking to it.
>
> Rosyroi

rofl rofl rofl oh dear me girl. i really needed that laugh. i can go to bed now. lol nite all
rofl rofl

Posted by: SoulEspresso May 1 2007, 07:59 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 30 2007, 09:23 PM)
>
> All of this hoopla is because Rosie started a thread where some actual truth could be told.
> How many threads have been started here by lindanites telling her version of events that she has passed on to others?

posted about this the other day, but having been here in the past, I can say with certainty that longtime nembers of BSDA withheld judgment for many months before evaluating the evidence proffered.

nd by the way, the most compelling evidence against Danny's character didn't come from Linda. It came rom Danny himself. I know he doesn't send it to you, Lord love ya, but he sent it to others.

h

Posted by: Johann May 1 2007, 10:26 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 1 2007, 03:59 PM)
>
> I posted about this the other day, but having been here in the past, I can say with certainty that longtime members of BSDA withheld judgment for many months before evaluating the evidence proffered.
>
> And by the way, the most compelling evidence against Danny's character didn't come from Linda. It came from Danny himself. I know he doesn't send it to you, Lord love ya, but he sent it to others.
>
> h

This is the message I get from far and wide, and this is why I have said so many times, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett May 1 2007, 12:06 PM

Yes, I am also disappointed in the moderation being done over at CF.

They closed down the 3AVBN Continued (2) topic. As I was the originator of that topic, I received a PM saying it was closed while under staff review. That was several days now. Upon discovery of the closed thread, I replied to the PM, but didn't even receive a courtesy reply, therefore, I PMed another person there today, and am now waiting to see what kind of a reply, if any, I will receive.

Here is what I actually said in my first PM in response to the closed thread message:

> QUOTE
>
> I noticed that you said the thread is closed for staff review.
>
> I am the Administrator of a SDA forum under the total leadership of Administrators and Forum Moderators who are members of the SDA Church. We are also deeply in discussions on the 3ABN situation there, as is another SDA forum.
>
> I am well aware that this presently closed thread contains posts that I am not happy with in the realm of Christian conduct, however, closing the thread only gives these offenders the victory. I would prefer you ban the offenders, temporarily or permanently, rather than close the thread.
>
> I know from my own experience that it isn't easy to moderate over these type of posts, threads, etc., however, I trust you will do the right thing.

I didn't ask a question, however, what I did say deserved a response, don't you think?

Posted by: mozart May 1 2007, 01:49 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 1 2007, 09:26 AM)
>
> This is the message I get from far and wide, and this is why I have said so many times, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy.

that is a fact. i'm sure some ppl go too far in some things that are said. there are people who just don't like other people so they are quick to judge and to believe anything that is said, plus things do get exaggerated depending on who's saying it, but when i doubt any of this, i stop and re-evaluate. not what other people say, but what my instincts have said for some time and i ignored them. several years before the divorce, i might add. the proving point always is what has come from Danny himself as well as those he has in his pocket. i don't believe everything i read, in fact maybe only half, and the rest i have in storage waiting to be convinced with rock solid evidence one way or the other. so, yes, Danny is his worst enemy. it's sad he and his allies blame linda for every single thing. i guess that's all they have. it was clear from the start that they thought if they smeared her while she was under a gag order that they'd have it made in the shade. that is dispicable, immoral behavior. yet, i still care about Danny. i still wish none of this were true. i'm not sure how much we will actually succeed at proving. we do have to remember that we all are guilty of something. so i don't like it when people demonize him. but i dislike it more, when he demonizes the woman he claimed to love for 20+yrs. the woman who stuck by his side to build the 3ABN ministry. the only thing that makes sense to me, is he is so afraid of what linda knows that he can't help himself. i don't think it is jealousy or anger that drives him against her. i think it's fear. all this bothers me, but that bothers me the most. it makes me afraid for him... nuff said.

let's all band together and pray for linda and nathan. let's not forget to that everyday. i hope she hears from him soon and i hope there are a lot of people close to her to help her get through this. blessings everyone, Mo

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ May 1 2007, 11:06 AM)
>
> Yes, I am also disappointed in the moderation being done over at CF.
>
> They closed down the 3AVBN Continued (2) topic. As I was the originator of that topic, I received a PM saying it was closed while under staff review. That was several days now. Upon discovery of the closed thread, I replied to the PM, but didn't even receive a courtesy reply, therefore, I PMed another person there today, and am now waiting to see what kind of a reply, if any, I will receive.
>
> Here is what I actually said in my first PM in response to the closed thread message:
> I didn't ask a question, however, what I did say deserved a response, don't you think?

i have dealt with them vigorously the past week so i know how biased they are. they closed that 3abn thread because they did not want it there; plain and simple. i seriously doubt it is under review by anyone there. i'm pretty sure it's been more than a week since they closed it. the bias is obvious. they instantly deleted truthmagnet's rebuttal to rosie55's bogus thread saying it was flaming, but they didn't say anthing to rosie55 about hers. she closed hers at her own request and they still left it up there so all can still read it. eventho' i have pointed out at least a dozen flaming remarks made by her and tomatoe, they ignore that.

i'm giving them a really hard time about it so i'll probably be banned soon. lol ask me if i care. i honestly don't because they are not a fair and unbiased forum and therefore corrupt. just my opinion.

Posted by: calvin May 1 2007, 02:05 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ May 1 2007, 01:06 PM)
>
> Yes, I am also disappointed in the moderation being done over at CF.
>
> They closed down the 3AVBN Continued (2) topic. As I was the originator of that topic, I received a PM saying it was closed while under staff review. That was several days now. Upon discovery of the closed thread, I replied to the PM, but didn't even receive a courtesy reply, therefore, I PMed another person there today, and am now waiting to see what kind of a reply, if any, I will receive.
>
> Here is what I actually said in my first PM in response to the closed thread message:
> I didn't ask a question, however, what I did say deserved a response, don't you think?

Well Daryl it would be nice if they sent you a response. But they are not obligated too. I know I don't respond to every PM send me for various reasons....and like the PM you sent to the admin at CF, many of the PMs I get are why did you do something or why don't you do something about this or the other. Often I find it unproductive to enter in a dialogue to explain my actions or what many may consider my inaction. I will only make a commitment to read the PM or email and take it under advisement. So, I would not expect anything more from an admin on another forum.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett May 1 2007, 05:34 PM

I would agree with you Calvin, however, their PM to me actually invited a response from me, therefore, respond I did.

I guess I am different in that respect though over at MSDAOL, as I do believe in giving a reason for my administrative actions there, which they may not always like, I will add.

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 1 2007, 07:55 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ May 1 2007, 09:59 AM)
>
> I posted about this the other day, but having been here in the past, I can say with certainty that longtime members of BSDA withheld judgment for many months before evaluating the evidence proffered.
>
> And by the way, the most compelling evidence against Danny's character didn't come from Linda. It came from Danny himself. I know he doesn't send it to you, Lord love ya, but he sent it to others.

Hello? I heard that!
insert "workin' neck" smilie here

> QUOTE(Johann @ May 1 2007, 12:26 PM)
>
> This is the message I get from far and wide, and this is why I have said so many times, Danny Shelton is Danny Shelton's worst enemy.

Again....you know?
insert "working neck" smilie here

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Doug Batchelor Responds

Posted by: Observer Apr 22 2007, 03:10 PM

I have sent a number of denominational leaders, and others involved in this Amazing Facts/3-ABN merger A series of questions. All received the same 12 questions. One received 13 questions. All were given an e-mail address to which they could respond to me. Slight changes in wording were made based upon the person to whom I was sending the e-mail. e.g. In the one to Danny Shelton, I asked if Doug Batchelor was going to be President. I worded it slightly different in the one to Elder Batchelor.

Here is the what I sent Elder Batchelor. I will shortly post his response:

> QUOTE
>
> Date: April 21, 2007
>
> To: Elder Doug Batchelor
>
> The April 19 announcement of a merger of Amazing Facts, and 3-ABN has been described as the most important SDA media announcement ever made. It has aroused intense interest among the supporters of both ministries. In some aspects, that announcement has confused people.
>
> In the interest of clarifying this situation I would appreciate it if you could respond to the questions that follow. Be aware, however, these questions, and your response to them, will be published on the Internet as that is where the most immediate interest has been generated. In the interest of accuracy, I will post your response exactly as written by you. I believe that it is important that people have accurate information which comes from informed people, who can speak with authority. In this issue, you are certainly such.
>
> Please place your responses following the questions.
>
> 1) In the corporate world, the word "merger" has specific connotations which involve changes in corporate structure and governmental registration. Typically, it will involve one or more independent corporate entities uniting into one corporate organization. Will this merger between 3-ABN and Amazing Facts result in one combined corporate organization so registered with the appropriate governmental agencies, or will 3-ABN and Amazing Facts continue as independently registered corporate bodies?
>
> 2) It is understood that 3-ABN and Amazing Facts are going to be governed by one united Board. Is this understanding accurate? If it is so, how are the members of that Board going to be selected?
>
> 3) Both Amazing Facts and 3-ABN have attempted to establish some a relationship with the Seventh-day Adventist Church, while remaining some degree of independence. It is thought by many that Amazing Facts has a closer relationship with the denomination than does 3-ABN, and that 3-ABN is more independent than is Amazing Facts. With this merger, how are those relationships to the SDA church expected to change?
>
> 4) Many understand 3-ABN as claiming to proclaim the "undiluted SDA gospel" in a manner that has not been done by any other SDA media. Is this merger going to effect any changes in the message proclaimed by Amazing Facts and 3-ABN? In other words, can we expect that either Amazing Facts will now begin to proclaim an undiluted SDA gospel, or that 3-ABN will now begin to proclaim a diluted gospel? While my question may seem trite, it is being asked by sincere people.

> 5) Informed sources close to this merger have told me that it is expected that you will become the President of this new organization, while other informed sources have told me that a decision on this has not been made. Do you expect to become the President of this organization?
>
> 6) I have also been given conflicting information in regard to the role that Danny Shelton will play in this new organization. What do you expect that his role will be in this new organization?
>
> 7) Do you expect that any major personnel changes will be made in either Amazing Facts or 3-ABN as a result of this merger? Will current employees, who are not members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, continue to be employed in their present role?
>
> 8) Is it expected that all employees of both organizations will transfer to a denominational pay and benefits schedule?
>
> 9) Can we expect that both organizations will be regularly audited according to the standards of the denomination?
>
> 10) Not-for-profit organizations have ethical and legal responsibilities in regard to the release of financial information to the public. Can we expect that this information will be made freely available to the public?
>
> 11) Corporate mergers always involve the assumption of responsibility by each organization for the actions of the other organization. What risks does Amazing Facts assume for past and future actions of 3-ABN? Conversely, what risks does 3-ABN assume for past and future actions of Amazing Facts?
>
> 12) Some believe that a benefit to Amazing Facts will be access to a fully equipped production studio, and a benefit to 3-ABN will be increased respectability due to a relationship with Amazing Facts. No benefit is seen to be in a reduced work-force. Others believe that Amazing Facts has much to gain due to an increased audience. What do you believe to be the benefits to each organization?
>
> I appreciate the time that you will expend in responding to my questions. This merger is of great interest to Seventh-day Adventists. The responses made to these questions will be very helpful and informative.
>
> If you do not believe that you can respond to these questions, or if you need some extended time to do so, I would appreciate a response to that effect.
>
> Gregory Matthews

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 22 2007, 03:04 PM)
>
> I have sent a number of denominational leaders, and others involved in this Amazing Facts/3-ABN merger A series of questions. All received the same 12 questions. One received 13 questions. All were given an e-mail address to which they could respond to me. Slight changes in wording were made based upon the person to whom I was sending the e-mail. e.g. In the one to Danny Shelton, I asked if Doug Batchelor was going to be President. I worded it slightly different in the one to Elder Batchelor.
>
> Here is the what I sent Elder Batchelor. I will shortly post his response:

Here is the response:

> QUOTE
>
> Gregory,
>
> Here is a response from Pastor Batchelor. I know they are working hard on getting the most accurate answers for the many questions.
> Thank yo for your e-mail.
>
> Blessings,
> Pastor Harold White
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: [e-mail address deleted as it was a private one.]
> Sent: Sat, April 21, 2007 6:50 pm
> To: Harold White
> Subject: Answer for Common questions
>
> Dear friend,
> As expected, the historic announcement regarding plans to unite the ministries of Amazing Facts and 3ABN has generated a phenomenal response.
> E-mails expressing support and praise to God have been pouring in. The miraculous, providential and rapid leading of God in this event has taken everyone by surprise.
> "... and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly" (2 Chr 29:36).
> Naturally this exciting news has also raised many questions.
> In response, Amazing Facts and 3ABN are working to provide a series of answers to many of the most common questions.
> Because of the colossal, dynamic nature of this partnership, many organizational details still remain to be addressed. So we do not have all the answers at this point in time. Please continue checking the website for fresh updates and information as this incredible development unfolds.
> Thank you again for your words of support and encouragement and please continue to pray that God will mightily bless this united effort to proclaim the good news!

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 22 2007, 04:05 PM

Gregory,

Great questions!

I read Doug Batchelor's response with great interest and was surprised by one of his statements. There are those who have said this merger has been in the works for quite some time and yet DB says:

The miraculous, providential and rapid leading of God in this event has taken everyone by surprise.
"... and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly" (2 Chr 29:36).

That took me by surprise. Once again, answers that have been given regarding this merger are not matching up with statements by those directly involved in the merger which just causes more confusion about the actual facts of this merger. Who are we to believe?

Posted by: Observer Apr 22 2007, 04:39 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 04:05 PM)
>
> Gregory,
>
> Great questions!
>
> I read Doug Batchelor's response with great interest and was surprised by one of his statements. There are those who have said this merger has been in the works for quite some time and yet DB says:
>
> The miraculous, providential and rapid leading of God in this event has taken everyone by surprise.
> "... and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly" (2 Chr 29:36).
>
> That took me by surprise. Once again, answers that have been given regarding this merger are not matching up with statements by those directly involved in the merger which just causes more confusion about the actual facts of this merger. Who are we to believe?

In the last 72 hours, or less, I have been given information by pepole who can be considered as having knowledge, which conflicts with other information that I am getting from other people who may be expected to have knowledge.

So, I can only say: This is a developing situation. People who think that they know, may not. We are going to have to wait to see.

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 06:57 PM

tomatoe-rosie55-stepphen-swarzteneger-tina turner-bruce-picassoi find it truly facinating that doug and danny have such close friends in these forums. ppl that know them so well that they know things about what is happening that doug and danny don't even know. they are such good friends with them that D & D have confided things to them that they haven't even told their immediate staff members yet and not only that, but they trust them so much, they give them carte blanche to post all that enlightening knowledge in these forums. it's just amazing isn't it?

one more thing i find truly facinating is these "know it alls" don't act Christian at all. they are sarcastic and demeaning and insulting to anyone they disagree with and they love to accuse us of extremely hateful, revengeful behavior. they love to keep repeating that we want to destroy this or that or him or her and no matter how many times we tell them otherwise they keep repeating themselves. it's just truly facinating that these are people that D & D know so well.

Posted by: george Apr 23 2007, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 22 2007, 03:39 PM)
>
> In the last 72 hours, or less, I have been given information by pepole who can be considered as having knowledge, which conflicts with other information that I am getting from other people who may be expected to have knowledge.
>
> So, I can only say: This is a developing situation. People who think that they know, may not. We are going to have to wait to see.

A source inside Amazing Facts said DB will become president of the new organization.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 07:06 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 22 2007, 06:39 PM) ☐
>
> In the last 72 hours, or less, I have been given information by pepole who can be considered as having knowledge, which conflicts with other information that I am getting from other people who may be expected to have knowledge.
>
> So, I can only say: This is a developing situation. People who think that they know, may not. We are going to have to wait to see.

Here's an idea for all. Why don't we just go by what was publically announced on the live, and announced in the press releases on both 3ABN and the Amazing facts websites, and also in the interview with Danny, as none of that is contradictory. Listen to any repeating those same exact things, discount those who are not, and then wait on further announcements, while refusing to surmise or theorize or rush to any judgments which may be proven false, as further developments and actions are made known?

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 07:18 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 22 2007, 06:05 PM) ☐
>
> Gregory,
>
> Great questions!
>
> I read Doug Batchelor's response with great interest and was surprised by one of his statements. There are those who have said this merger has been in the works for quite some time and yet DB says:
>
> The miraculous, providential and rapid leading of God in this event has taken everyone by surprise.
> "... and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly" (2 Chr 29:36).
>
> That took me by surprise. Once again, answers that have been given regarding this merger are not matching up with statements by those directly involved in the merger which just causes more confusion about the actual facts of this merger. Who are we to believe?

Why don't you just accept the explanation given by both D.S. and D.B. on the live? That is ,that Danny had approached Doug several times and even talked to others, and had even told Doug, why don't you be president, (subject to the vote of the board of cours)but Doug didn't feel that the timing was right, and when the merge discussion came together it did so quickly, they had a meeting on Monday and by Thursday, both boards had voted on it unanimously, and they were announcing it on 3ABN LIVE? that certainly doesn't contradict your quote above, does it?

And then let us practice patience:

> QUOTE

> DB wrote:
> "Naturally this exciting news has also raised many questions.
> In response, Amazing Facts and 3ABN are working to provide a series of answers to many of the most common questions.
> Because of the colossal, dynamic nature of this partnership, many organizational details still remain to be addressed. So we do not have all the answers at this point in time. Please continue checking the website for fresh updates and information as this incredible development unfolds."

Posted by: Observer Apr 25 2007, 07:43 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 06:18 AM) ☐
>
> Why don't you just accept the explanation given by both D.S. and D.B. on the live? That is ,that Danny had approached Doug several times and even talked to others, and had even told Doug, why don't you be president, (subject to the vote of the board of cours)but Doug didn't feel that the timing was right, and when the merge discussion came together it did so quickly, they had a meeting on Monday and by Thursday, both boards had voted on it unanimously, and they were announcing it on 3ABN LIVE? that certainly doesn't contradict your quote above, does it?
>
> And then let us practice patience:

Why are there so many questions?

Very simple, there are many questions because in the corporate world the word "merger" has precise meanings. People who hear it used recognize those meanaings. The reality is that those who use the term "merger," and this applies to people associated with both 3-ABN and Amazing Facts, have not supplied us with the specific answers to the questions that are raised by the use of the term "merger." And in their responses, those who defend 3-ABN are often responding in a manner that reminds one of the term "joint venture," as it is used in the corporate world. Folks, there are major differences between a joint venture and a merger.

Unfortunately, the responses to the questions that are being raised only raise more questions, and further confund the situation. In fact, they often present the planners as having embarked on a voyage of some undefined sort, without full prior planning, and without giving thought to the ramifications of what is being said.

It may very well be true that full prior planning and thought was given to this. But, if that is so, and if the word "merger" is used in its common meaning, then there are answers to the specific questions that are being raised. The fact that those answers are not being given, in a context where it must be assumed that they exist, further confounds this situation.

Folks, in the seccular world, it has long been learned that you go public with full information, before the so-called gossip begins. If you were unable to do that, and the gossip has begun, you respond with full information and facts. This is not being done.

All in all, it appears to me that 3-ABN is behind the power courve in their public relations, and did not learn much from the fiasco that errupted in the manner in which they handled Linda and those associated issues.

Well, when one in a time of crisis fails to learn the lessons that brought the crisis upon them, it can be assumed that those lessons will be repeated again, and again, until the lessons are learned.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 04:29 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 25 2007, 06:43 AM)
>
> Snip
>
> All in all, it appears to me that 3-ABN is behind the power courve in their public relations, and did not learn much from the fiasco that errupted in the manner in which they handled Linda and those associated issues.
> Well, when one in a time of crisis fails to learn the lessons that brought the crisis upon them, it can be assumed that those lessons will be repeated again, and again, until the lessons are learned.

Your entire post put into perspective why many questions were raised by the way that this "merger" was introduced. The 3abn public relations department needs some serious upgrading.

Posted by: inga Apr 26 2007, 12:09 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 08:06 AM)
>
> Here's an idea for all. Why don't we just go by what was publically announced on the live, and announced in the press releases on both 3ABN and the Amazing facts websites, and also in the interview with Danny, as none of that is contradictory.

Because ...
1) Danny has a history of regularly being careless with the truth. That means that anything he says is suspect.
2) 3ABN has a history of being a mouthpiece for Danny. Thus anything officially announced by 3ABN is equally suspect.
3) Amazing Facts and Doug Batchelor have so far had a clean reputation. But birds of a feather flock together. I am personally leery of official word from Amazing Facts because Doug's secretary, Bonnie Emsinger, replied to my inquiry in a manner that would easily pass as an email from Danny himself -- complete with cover-up and insinuations that were not called for...
d) As Gregory has pointed out, 3ABN and Amazing Facts have not given their constituency the kind of information that can reasonably be expected upon the announcement of a "merger."

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 26 2007, 12:52 PM

inga,
Any possibility you could share the content of that email with us?

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 01:02 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 26 2007, 03:09 PM)
>
> Because ...
> 1) Danny has a history of regularly being careless with the truth. That means that anything he says is > suspect.

> 2) 3ABN has a history of being a mouthpiece for Danny. Thus anything officially announced by 3ABN is equally suspect.
> 3) Amazing Facts and Doug Batchelor have so far had a clean reputation. But birds of a feather flock together. I am personally leery of official word from Amazing Facts because Doug's secretary, Bonnie Emsinger, replied to my inquiry in a manner that would easily pass as an email from Danny himself -- complete with cover-up and insinuations that were not called for... > d) As Gregory has pointed out, 3ABN and Amazing Facts have not given their constituency the kind of information that can reasonably be expected upon the announcement of a "merger."

Well said...

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 26 2007, 01:21 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 26 2007, 02:52 PM)
>
> inga,
> Any possibility you could share the content of that email with us?

here are a couple of emails posted at http://www.save3abn.com/news-releases-amazing-facts-3abn-pastor-loug.htm croll down to "Many Things on These Internet Websites Are Gossip and Unfounded" to see them. They may r may not be the email that inga referenced.

Posted by: Pickle Apr 26 2007, 02:01 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 26 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> Because ...
> 1) Danny has a history of regularly being careless with the truth. That means that anything he says is suspect.
> 2) 3ABN has a history of being a mouthpiece for Danny. Thus anything officially announced by 3ABN is equally suspect.
> 3) Amazing Facts and Doug Batchelor have so far had a clean reputation. But birds of a feather flock together. I am personally leery of official word from Amazing Facts because Doug's secretary, Bonnie Emsinger, replied to my inquiry in a manner that would easily pass as an email from Danny himself -- complete with cover-up and insinuations that were not called for... > d) As Gregory has pointed out, 3ABN and Amazing Facts have not given their constituency the kind of information that can reasonably be expected upon the announcement of a "merger."

wonder how many of these kind of emails are floating around.

find it troubling that we now have a situation in which both Danny and Amazing Facts are saying the same hing: The merger will result in both institutions being lay-led by a single board. Of course, the single board is o be expected. But the idea that A-Facts will no longer be a part of the denomination being suggested by oth sides suggests that there is a good bit of agreement between Danny and Doug on more issues than we now of.

Posted by: inga Apr 27 2007, 01:39 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 26 2007, 01:52 PM)
>
> inga,
> Any possibility you could share the content of that email with us?

You'll find it below.

It occurs to me that my email is even more applicable now, with the proposed merger, than it was when I wrote it.

Now that I look at it again, Bonnie Ensminger really didn't say much. What I found offensive was her reference to "investigator, judge and jury" and her reference to my "bitterness," which was not called for. It essentially skewed what I wrote into a very different sort of emotional climate. And this same pattern is also typical of Danny Shelton, as is the reference to doing the Lord's work when unpleasant (even amazing) facts are referenced.

When I wrote this, I was very concerned, hoping against hope that my last paragraphs were but a future possibility. I did want to get Doug's attention!

I used a feed-back form on the web site because I could not find any contact information for Doug Batchelor. I clearly indicated that I wished to address Doug, but I believe it's fairly certain that he never got to see my message.

My message is at the bottom, Bonnie's above mine. It is as I received it, with the exception of a few email headers which I deleted and my email address which I deleted as well.

> QUOTE
>
> Envelope-to: ****
> Delivery-date: Thu, 28 Sep 2006 23:22:58 -0500 > Received: from
> Subject: MAP
> Date: Thu, 28 Sep 2006 21:23:08 -0700
> References:
> From: "Bonnie Ensminger"
> To: *****
>
> Dear Inge:
>
> So many people want to put themself in the role of investigator, jury, judge and executioner. We need to allow the Lord to do what He alone is qualified to do, because He alone is the One aware of the things that are not known to the human mind and ear. I believe that the Lord is capable of putting things in order, even at the "head of the work," as Ellen White says. We don't want to be part of any gossip.
>
> Doug Batchelor is a friend of Danny Shelton, but it does not mean that he has to agree with everything that Danny does. To sever friendship and association is not beneficial to anyone, that alone the Lord's work.
>
> May God bless you and take away the bitterness and disillusionment that you spoke about. 'The battle is the Lord's." 1Samuel 17:47. God is control and every person will be judged by Him. In the mean time we need to not let the devil take us away from the work the Lord has given us--preach the Word so that Jesus can come!
>
> Warm regards,
>
> Bonnie Ensminger
> Secretary to Doug Batchelor
>
> -----Original Message-----

> From: Inge Anderson
> Sent: Monday, September 18, 2006 8:56 PM
> To: April Cohorst > Subject: Administration/Personnel
>
> Name: Inge Anderson
> Email Address:
> Comments: This is the closest contact to Pastor Doug that I can find on this website, and I wish to address myself to Pastor Doug.
>
> As a fourth-generation active Adventist & graduate of Andrews University, I cannot begin to express how disappointed, yes disillusioned, I am with Pastor Doug's continuing support of Danny Shelton and his shameful dealings. I realize that showing one's program on a network does not imply support of the morals of administrators of the network, but referring to Danny Shelton as "my friend" before millions serves to make us think that Pastor Doug is not what he appears to be either.
>
> What else are we supposed to think? Birds of a feather flock together, they say.
>
> If it is indeed true that Pastor Doug has the same morals or, more accurately, lack of morals as Danny Shelton, God cannot continue to bless his efforts. The fall-out from his public accolades of Danny Shelton, when so many of Danny's moral failings are clear enough for anyone to see, will not be light. I don't believe I exaggerate when I suspect there will be a heavy price to pay by those who knowingly (and ignorance at this point in time is hardly possible to claim) support Danny Shelton in his exploitation of the truth of God for personal gain AND support of his immoral desires.
>
> Are there NO men left who will "stand for the truth though the heavens fall"?
>
> Once upon a time, I thought that Doug was such a man. And it was also nice to see his wife on the show with her simple, direct manner, so suitable for a Christian wife.
>
> But now it seems that all of this is but good play-actiing -- just like Linda and Danny used to perform for their public and as Danny is continuing to do.
>
> So it is evident that Doug, too, has his price. The exposure that 3ABN can give to a "televangelist" is justification enough to "overlook" Danny's brazen immoral behavior, thus condoning it and joining him in the slime pit of immorality. Ah, yes, a bigger audience makes it all worth it... more dollars coming in...
>
> Ichabod! May God have mercy!

nge Anderson

Posted by: shaddo Apr 27 2007, 02:13 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 25 2007, 08:43 AM)
>
> Why are there so many questions?
>
> Very simple, there are many questions because in the corporate world the word "merger" has precise meanings. People who hear it used recognize those meanaings. The reality is that those who use the term "merger," and this applies to people associated with both 3-ABN and Amazing Facts, have not supplied us with the specific answers to the questions that are raised by the use of the term "merger." And in their responses, those who defend 3-ABN are often responding in a manner that reminds one of the term "joint venture," as it is used in the corporate world. Folks, there are major differences between a joint venture and a merger.
>
> Unfortunately, the responses to the questions that are being raised only raise more questions, and further confund the situation. In fact, they often present the planners as having embarked on a voyage of some > undefined sort, without full prior planning, and without giving thought to the ramifications of what is being said.

>
> It may very well be true that full prior planning and thought was given to this. But, if that is so, and if the word "merger" is used in its common meaning, then there are answers to the specific questions that are being raised. The fact that those answers are not being given, in a context where it must be assumed that they exist, further confounds this situation.
>
> Folks, in the seccular world, it has long been learned that you go public with full information, before the so-called gossip begins. If you were unable to do that, and the gossip has begun, you respond with full information and facts. This is not being done.
>
> All in all, it appears to me that 3-ABN is behind the power courve in their public relations, and did not learn much from the fiasco that errupted in the manner in which they handled Linda and those associated issues.
>
> Well, when one in a time of crisis fails to learn the lessons that brought the crisis upon them, it can be assumed that those lessons will be repeated again, and again, until the lessons are learned.

☒ rofl ☒ The real issues here are why is the "merger" taking place now, aka the lawsuit factor from Ms. Shelton, and why is the SDA church aka GC head hunters - so involved with the "spin factor" - even while hese so called "holy men" D&D - go around being deviously deviant to the point of turning real interested and sincere people against the "merger" even while they deny doing anything at all. This is BAD Business practice! But then again, you are dealing with "evangelists" not MBA Harvard grads! May God have mercy on us all!!! Our faith is NOT in these "leading men" but rather on the Solid Rock - the Truth as it is in Jesus! AMEN!!!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 27 2007, 06:08 AM

Whoo....I'mma stand behind the fan with a shield. This is gonna blow....
☒ sna

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 27 2007, 12:30 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 25 2007, 06:43 AM) ☐
>
> Well, when one in a time of crisis fails to learn the lessons that brought the crisis upon them, it can be assumed that those lessons will be repeated again, and again, until the lessons are learned.

Reminds me of an Aimee Mann song:

> QUOTE
>
> "It's not going to stop
> It's not going to stop
> It's not going to stop
> 'Til you wise up."

find it interesting that we're starting to refer to Doug & Danny as "D&D." Was that a deliberate pun, or was it an accident?

Posted by: rwelchcrs Apr 27 2007, 12:41 PM

Maybe Doug Batchelor sincerely believes that all the reports of wrongdoing at 3ABN are just unfounded rumors. Maybe he's absolutely sincere and has the best intentions in mind with this merger. If that's the case, then he must be very naive.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 27 2007, 12:53 PM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Apr 27 2007, 11:41 AM) ☐
>
> Maybe Doug Batchelor sincerely believes that all the reports of wrongdoing at 3ABN are just unfounded rumors. Maybe he's absolutely sincere and has the best intentions in mind with this merger. If that's the case, then he must be very naive.

I can't imagine that with 3ABN $3 million in the hole that he'd think there was nothing to the reports. He was always better at politics than theology anyway.

3ABN and AF "merge" in some way. The scandals either are covered behind the scenes or blow up publicly. All he has to say was, "I didn't know." He might be lying. But at the end of the day he has his own satellite channel.

rwelchcrs, I hope you're right. I want to believe that Doug is merely ignorant. But one doesn't become an evangelist consulted by National Geographic on prophecy by being a dummy.

Posted by: Johann Apr 27 2007, 03:56 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 27 2007, 08:53 PM) ☐
>
> 3ABN and AF "merge" in some way. The scandals either are covered behind the scenes or blow up publicly. All he has to say was, "I didn't know." He might be lying. But at the end of the day he has his own satellite channel.

A group was discussing this merger when one of the participants used the expression "amalgamation". Should he be punished?

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 27 2007, 04:02 PM

> QUOTE(rwelchcrs @ Apr 27 2007, 01:41 PM) ☐
>
> Maybe Doug Batchelor sincerely believes that all the reports of wrongdoing at 3ABN are just unfounded rumors. Maybe he's absolutely sincere and has the best intentions in mind with this merger. If that's the case, then he must be very naive.

Perhaps Doug Batchelor sees it as a way to rescue 3abn by letting Danny ease himself out while seeming to save face.
I notice that DB has recently been bringing in other people to "team teach" the Sabbath School lesson with him. I wondered if that was a way of easing himself out of that responsibility, although to me he is a better teacher than he is a preacher.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 27 2007, 05:26 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 27 2007, 03:02 PM)
>
> Perhaps Doug Batchelor sees it as a way to rescue 3abn by letting Danny ease himself out while seeming to save face. I notice that DB has recently been bringing in other people to "team teach" the Sabbath School lesson with him. I wondered if that was a way of easing himself out of that responsibility, although to me he is a better teacher than he is a preacher.

Skyhook,

This is an interesting thought. However, what pops into my mind is this:

Is it God's will that one of His leaders, one who has taken the call to spread the Gospel of His Kingdom in His name, should orchestrate a plan to help a "sinner" save face instead of calling sin by its right name and working towards repentance, reformation and restoration?

I was going to post the first paragraph from Testimonies Volume 3, #23 - Duty to Reprove Sin, but the White Estate website says the gateway is too busy right now.

http://www.nisbett.com/reference2/3t/3t027e.htm

Posted by: mozart Apr 27 2007, 05:50 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 27 2007, 11:30 AM)
>
> Reminds me of an Aimee Mann song:
> I find it interesting that we're starting to refer to Doug & Danny as "D&D." Was that a deliberate pun, or was it an accident?

i just made it up because it was faster to type. lol what is punny about it. i don't get it. duh guess me is outta tha loop. hehe

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 27 2007, 06:07 PM

PB, I hear what you are saying and I agree that it is clear in the Bible and SOP that sin should be called by its right name. Of course we do not really know what is on Doug Batchelor's mind regarding the many accusations or regarding Danny's future role, if any at 3abn. The scenario I described could happen whether or not Doug actually orchestrated it. As far as Danny "seeming to save face," I don't don't think he actually has a real chance to rescue his credibility as a representative of God or as "The Face of Adventism." I believe that there is just too much information out there for him to squirm out of this situation, even though he seems to have the type of personality that thinks he can get away with anything. I just suspect that what appears to be his raging narcissism will never let him believe that he is not the "annointed one" whom God called to spread the "undiluted 3 angel's message" to the world. So when and if he leaves, unless there is some dramatic change in events, he will leave seeing himself as a hero. Or if he is actually forced out he will claim that he is a martyr.

Of course, it is all speculation.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 27 2007, 06:10 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 27 2007, 04:07 PM)
>
> PB, I hear what you are saying and I agree that it is clear in the Bible and SOP that sin should be called by its right name. Of course we do not really know what is on Doug Batchelor's mind regarding the many accusations or regarding Danny's future role, if any at 3abn. The scenario I described could happen whether or not Doug actually orchestrated it. As far as Danny "seeming to save face," I don't don't think he actually has a real chance to rescue his credibility as a representative of God or as "The Face of Adventism." There is too much information out there for him to squirm out of this situation. I just suspect that what appears to be his raging narcissism will never let him believe that he is not the "annointed one" whom God called to spread the "undiluted 3 angel's message" to the world. So when and if he leaves, unless there is some dramatic change in events, he will leave seeing himself as a hero. Or if he is actually forced out he will claim that he is a martyr.
>
> Of course, it is all speculation.

And quite insightful speculation if I may say so.

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 27 2007, 06:17 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 27 2007, 07:10 PM)
>
> And quite insightful speculation if I may say so.

Thank you.

Posted by: lookin4truth Apr 27 2007, 07:23 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 27 2007, 06:50 PM)
>
> i just made it up because it was faster to type. lol what is punny about it. i don't get it. duh guess me is outta tha loop. hehe

Mozart,

If I am not mistaken, D&D stands for Dungeons and Dragons. It is a role-playing game.

L4T

Posted by: Fran Apr 27 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 27 2007, 05:26 PM)

Skyhook,

This is an interesting thought. However, what pops into my mind is this:

Is it God's will that one of His leaders, one who has taken the call to spread the Gospel of His Kingdom in His name, should orchestrate a plan to help a "sinner" save face instead of calling sin by its right name and working towards repentance, reformation and restoration?

I was going to post the first paragraph from Testimonies Volume 3, #23 - Duty to Reprove Sin, but the White Estate website says the gateway is too busy right now.

http://www.nisbett.com/reference2/3t/3t027e.htm

> QUOTE
>
> # Testimonies Vol. 3 - Duty to Reprove Sin
>
> I have been shown that God here illustrates how He regards sin among those who profess to be His commandment-keeping people. Those whom He has specially honoured with witnessing the remarkable exhibitions of His power, as did ancient Israel, and who will even then venture to disregard His express directions, will be subjects of His wrath. He would teach His people that disobedience and sin are exceedingly offensive to Him and are not to be lightly regarded. He shows us that when His people are found in sin they should at once take decided measures to put that sin from them, that His frown may not rest upon them all. But if the sins of the people are passed over by those in responsible positions, His frown will be upon them, and the people of God, as a body, will be held responsible for those sins. In His dealings with His people in the past the Lord shows the necessity of purifying the church from wrongs. One sinner may diffuse darkness that will exclude the light of God from the entire congregation. When the people realize that darkness is settling upon them, and they do not know the cause, they should seek God earnestly, in great humility and self-abasement, until the wrongs which grieve His Spirit are searched out and put away.

Comments like this are the very reason I question this merger. We do not get rid of sin by merging with it!

Judas was PART of Christ's followers. Jesus rid his workers of Judas by telling Judas to go ahead and do what he had to do!

It bothers me that Doug has taken on a ministry such as 3ABN. Are we flushing sin down the toilet and it just doesn't exist any more? Are they doing this all in the name of Jesus Christ. Reminds me of the book "All in the Name of God!"

Posted by: lurker Apr 28 2007, 11:54 AM

Had Christ cloaked their sins and applauded their piety, they would have accepted Him as their king; but they would not bear His fearless rebuke of their vices. The loveliness of a character in which benevolence, purity, and holiness reigned supreme, which entertained no hatred except for sin, they despised. Thus it has been in every age of the world. The light from heaven brings condemnation on all who refuse to walk in it. When rebuked by the example of those who hate sin, hypocrites will become agents of Satan to harass and persecute the faithful. "All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." 2 Timothy 3:12. {PP 607.5}

Posted by: mozart Apr 28 2007, 02:35 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Apr 27 2007, 06:23 PM)
>
> Mozart,
>
> If I am not mistaken, D&D stands for Dungeons and Dragons. It is a role-playing game.
>
> L4T

OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO. TY L4T.. guess that is kinda punny I played that once back in the early 80's. i thought it was very weird and the guys i was playing it with were even weirder. they took it very seriously. that was creepy.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 29 2007, 10:25 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 28 2007, 02:35 PM)
>
> OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO. TY L4T.. guess that is kinda punny I played that once back in the early 80's. i thought it was very weird and the guys i was playing it with were even weirder. they took it very seriously. that was creepy.

They do tend to be, um, socially unique. There's a certain appeal in it to people who really wish they were someone else.

I have no trouble with calling Doug & Danny D&D ... if someone googles D&D, I wonder how far down they'll have to scroll to end up on bsda ... ☒ ofi ... but my fault.

I am kinda hoping that Skyhook is right, in the sense that Doug would get Danny off the "hook" of national media exposure. Calling sin by its right name doesn't mean it gets splashed on the cover of Newsweek a la Jim and Tammy Faye.

I also agree it's too late for Danny to get away with it. If Doug is not the upright man we've all thought he was, and he tries to protect Danny, he'll go down too.

Posted by: mozart Apr 29 2007, 11:22 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 29 2007, 10:25 AM)

> They do tend to be, um, socially unique. There's a certain appeal in it to people who really wish they were someone else.
>
> I have no trouble with calling Doug & Danny D&D ... if someone googles D&D, I wonder how far down they'll have to scroll to end up on bsda ... ofl ... but my fault.
>
> rofl rofl rofl
>
> I am kinda hoping that Skyhook is right, in the sense that Doug would get Danny off the "hook" of national media exposure. Calling sin by its right name doesn't mean it gets splashed on the cover of Newsweek a la Jim and Tammy Faye.
>
> I also agree it's too late for Danny to get away with it. If Doug is not the upright man we've all thought he was, and he tries to protect Danny, he'll go down too.

AMEN & AMEN. I AGREE

Posted by: Eirene Apr 29 2007, 12:42 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 29 2007, 10:25 AM)
>
> They do tend to be, um, socially unique. There's a certain appeal in it to people who really wish they were someone else.
>
> I have no trouble with calling Doug & Danny D&D ... if someone googles D&D, I wonder how far down they'll have to scroll to end up on bsda ... ofl ... but my fault.
>
> I am kinda hoping that Skyhook is right, in the sense that Doug would get Danny off the "hook" of national media exposure. Calling sin by its right name doesn't mean it gets splashed on the cover of Newsweek a la Jim and Tammy Faye.
> I also agree it's too late for Danny to get away with it. If Doug is not the upright man we've all thought he was, and he tries to protect Danny, he'll go down too.

I agree. Trouble is splashing allegations all over the net is equivilent. It was wrong from the start and is wrong now.

Protect DS? From what? So let me see if I have this right. Your take on this is that Doug and AF have chosen to get mixed up in a corrupt ministry where Doug will end up having to deal with all the allegations against 3abn. Whether that would be kicking DS out or having to protect him. Is that right? They have a very succesful ministry so, they would put theirselves in the middle of all that grief....WHY? Doug has a good reputation but he would risk it to merge with 3abn? WHY?
And by your take and others, Danny would enter into a merger with no safeguards where he could just get "kicked out" or lose 3abn at anybodies whim. WHY?
Sorry, not working. DS and 3abn have not gotten where they are by being stupid and neither has AF. Each ministry will have safeguards in place to protect their positions, their assets and their ministries as a whole. There will be no "protecting" nor "cleaning house". Danny hasn't done anything to need protecting and 3abn is a clean house. Doug knows it, otherwise he wouldn't even be considering this merge. If both parties do not agree on the stipulations and safeguards for their ministries, the merge won't take place. It is that simple.

Posted by: Observer Apr 29 2007, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 29 2007, 11:42 AM)
>
> I agree. Trouble is splashing allegations all over the net is equivilent. It was wrong from the start and is wrong now.
>
> Protect DS? From what? So let me see if I have this right. Your take on this is that Doug and AF have chosen to get mixed up in a corrupt ministry where Doug will end up having to deal with all the allegations against 3abn. Whether that would be kicking DS out or having to protect him. Is that right? They have a very succesful ministry so, they would put theirselves in the middle of all that grief....WHY? Doug has a good reputation but he would risk it to merge with 3abn? WHY?
> And by your take and others, Danny would enter into a merger with no safeguards where he could just get "kicked out" or lose 3abn at anybodies whim. WHY?
> Sorry, not working. DS and 3abn have not gotten where they are by being stupid and neither has AF. Each ministry will have safeguards in place to protect their positions, their assets and their ministries as a whole. There will be no "protecting" nor "cleaning house". Danny hasn't done anything to need protecting and 3abn is a clean house. Doug knows it, otherwise he wouldn't even be considering this merge. If both parties do not agree on the stipulations and safeguards for their ministries, the merge won't take place. It is that simple.

I would not argue with your postion. You may be correct. But, if you are, you are talking about a joint ventrue.

In the legal and business world, when two companies merge, the merged company assumes all of the liabilities of each of the two, as they existed prior to the merger, and any liabialities that convey to either of the companies after the merger.

To call what is now being described a merger has been quite confusing.

Posted by: mozart Apr 29 2007, 06:25 PM

Eirene,
I think you have very selective reading skills. There has been much said that is intelligent observation, ideas, thoughts and opinions. you don't seem to have read or comprehended any of those dozens and dozens of post. i suggest you do more reading and less posting until you have a full spectrum of what has been said around here. it's nothing like the take you have given below.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 29 2007, 11:42 AM)
>
> I agree. Trouble is splashing allegations all over the net is equivilent. It was wrong from the start and is wrong now.
>
> Protect DS? From what? So let me see if I have this right. Your take on this is that Doug and AF have chosen to get mixed up in a corrupt ministry where Doug will end up having to deal with all the allegations against 3abn. Whether that would be kicking DS out or having to protect him. Is that right? They have a very succesful ministry so, they would put theirselves in the middle of all that grief....WHY? Doug has a good reputation but he would risk it to merge with 3abn? WHY?
> And by your take and others, Danny would enter into a merger with no safeguards where he could just get "kicked out" or lose 3abn at anybodies whim. WHY?

> Sorry, not working. DS and 3abn have not gotten where they are by being stupid and neither has AF. Each ministry will have safeguards in place to protect their positions, their assets and their ministries as a whole. There will be no "protecting" nor "cleaning house". Danny hasn't done anything to need protecting and 3abn is a clean house. Doug knows it, otherwise he wouldn't even be considering this merge. If both parties do not agree on the stipulations and safeguards for their ministries, the merge won't take place. It is that simple.

Posted by: Jnana15 Apr 29 2007, 06:48 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 29 2007, 07:25 PM) ☐
>
> Eirene,
> I think you have very selective reading skills. There has been much said that is intelligent observation, ideas, thoughts and opinions. you don't seem to have read or comprehended any of those dozens and dozens of post. i suggest you do more reading and less posting until you have a full spectrum of what has been said around here. it's nothing like the take you have given below.

☒ rofl ☒ ☒ The few times she has posted, I can tell she is from the Danite camp. ☒ sn

---

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 29 2007, 07:06 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 29 2007, 02:42 PM) ☐
>
> I agree. Trouble is splashing allegations all over the net is equivilent. It was wrong from the start and is wrong now.
>
> Protect DS? From what? So let me see if I have this right. Your take on this is that Doug and AF have chosen to get mixed up in a corrupt ministry where Doug will end up having to deal with all the allegations against 3abn. Whether that would be kicking DS out or having to protect him. Is that right? They have a very succesful ministry so, they would put theirselves in the middle of all that grief....WHY? Doug has a good reputation but he would risk it to merge with 3abn? WHY?
> And by your take and others, Danny would enter into a merger with no safeguards where he could just get "kicked out" or lose 3abn at anybodies whim. WHY?
> Sorry, not working. DS and 3abn have not gotten where they are by being stupid and neither has AF. Each ministry will have safeguards in place to protect their positions, their assets and their ministries as a whole. There will be no "protecting" nor "cleaning house". Danny hasn't done anything to need protecting and 3abn is a clean house. Doug knows it, otherwise he wouldn't even be considering this merge. If both parties do not agree on the stipulations and safeguards for their ministries, the merge won't take place. It is that simple.

irene,
ou must come up with something new to say and at least state your source.
TW, thanks for changing your font or unbolding. The other was extremely hard to read.

Posted by: MadeInHisImage Apr 29 2007, 09:34 PM

h I have been here on BSDA for 1 day and already I am truly concerned about the topics tht are posted here, especially about 3ABN. I am not an avid watcher of 3ABN simply because I find it very bland and does not suit my personal Caribbean flavor.... However I am uncomfortable about the way we subtly scandal our brothers and sisters. Instead I believe we should be lifting them up in prayer and help to ward off the attacks tht the evil one is making against the army and cause of Prince Emmanuel. To be honest I am actually surprised by the number of pple who follow up these posts and I am now questioning my reason for joining this site.... I even sense some amount of tension in some replys.... it ridiculous..... I do not disourage sharing of concerns but we ought to be more careful tht things like these dont become a "stumbling block" in someones way in their search for truth.... Question to all the pple reading this post "Is there anyother denomination tht has similar forums discussing all the ills plaguing their church on the net?"

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 29 2007, 10:00 PM

> QUOTE(MadeInHisImage @ Apr 29 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> h I have been here on BSDA for 1 day and already I am truly concerned about the topics tht are posted here, especially about 3ABN. I am not an avid watcher of 3ABN simply because I find it very bland and does not suit my personal Caribbean flavor.... However I am uncomfortable about the way we subtly scandal our brothers and sisters. Instead I believe we should be lifting them up in prayer and help to ward off the attacks tht the evil one is making against the army and cause of Prince Emmanuel. To be honest I am actually surprised by the number of pple who follow up these posts and I am now questioning my reason for joining this site.... I even sense some amount of tension in some replys.... it ridiculous..... I do not disourage sharing of concerns but we ought to be more careful tht things like these dont become a "stumbling block" in someones way in their search for truth.... Question to all the pple reading this post "Is there anyother denomination tht has similar forums discussing all the ills plaguing their church on the net?"

Hey, Made! welc

Have you read all the pinned threads at the top of this forum? What about save3abn.com?

I joined the forum some time back, went away for awhile, then came back again after the AToday article. The difference in tone between the regular posters' orginal comments and the ones they were posting when I came back was palpable. In other words, the folks that are or have become regulars here were skeptical at first, not really wanting to believe either side without more evidence.

Only one side, the side with concerns about 3ABN and who want a free and impartial investigation of these allegations, has stepped up with any evidence at all. Some of it is original documents. Some of it is eyewitness accounts by abuse victims.

I should be more precise. Eyewitness accounts and original documents constitute one set of evidence. The other side has provided evidence, but not the kind they think they're putting up. This second set of evidence is the work of Danny's apologists, called in bsda slang dannyscribes or dannynites or danites; their postings have grown so vitriolic, so hateful, so illogical and un-Christlike that one wonders what motivates them to post here. They get banned frequently for their behavior.

As we've been watching this thing unfold over time, we who have concerns have gotten pretty angry. Sometimes it comes through in ways that, yes, is less than helpful and may not be put the way Jesus would put it. Once in awhile we've been subject to corrective action by our mods here--which is fine.

But when we see people who have been hurt and destroyed by the leadership at 3ABN, is there a response appropriate other than anger?

Bottom line (and Eirene, pay attention): Adventists don't tolerate this kind of behavior. The reason these forums are the way they are (the reason this is all over the Internet) is because Danny and the 3ABN board have not responded to more subtle, private urgings by concerned people. It's been documented. Some of us have been praying for a year that it wouldn't take a major media story to create the change. But as someone (don't remember who) said, "If you don't clean up your church, the media will."

So, Made, ☒ welcome.gif and keep an open mind. Keep reading. ☒ God bless you for checking things out for yourself.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 29 2007, 10:10 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Apr 27 2007, 09:08 AM) ☐
>
> Whoo....I'mma stand behind the fan with a shield. This is gonna blow....
> ☒ sn

☒ TVsnack. Mind if I stand behind you? ☒

Posted by: Jnana15 Apr 29 2007, 11:59 PM

☒ plea scoot over and make room for me. ☒ sofa1.gif

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 29 2007, 11:10 PM) ☐
>
> ☒ TVsnack. Mind if I stand behind you? ☒

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Apr 27 2007, 07:08 AM) ☐
>
> Whoo....I'mma stand behind the fan with a shield. This is gonna blow....
> ☒ sn

Posted by: Jim Larmore May 1 2007, 02:30 PM

> QUOTE(MadeInHisImage @ Apr 29 2007, 09:34 PM)
>
> I have been here on BSDA for 1 day and already I am truly concerned about the topics tht are posted here, especially about 3ABN. I am not an avid watcher of 3ABN simply because I find it very bland and does not suit my personal Caribbean flavor.... However I am uncomfortable about the way we subtly scandal our brothers and sisters. Instead I believe we should be lifting them up in prayer and help to ward off the attacks tht the evil one is making against the army and cause of Prince Emmanuel. To be honest I am actually surprised by the number of pple who follow up these posts and I am now questioning my reason for joining this site.... I even sense some amount of tension in some replys.... it ridiculous..... I do not disourage sharing of concerns but we ought to be more careful tht things like these dont become a "stumbling block" in someones way in their search for truth.... Question to all the pple reading this post "Is there anyother denomination tht has similar forums discussing all the ills plaguing their church on the net?"

As one newbie to another I agree wholeheartedly with your assessement. I have been a lurker here and other places. When it comes to this subject I feel like for the most part many of the posters here can be less than kind at times. Also, if you read all of the information on this you will find many form opinions on hear-say and not authenticated facts. Putting it simply most of what I have read on this 3ABN fiasco is nothing more than gossip and has not served to glorify the Lord at all.

God Bless
Jim Larmore

Posted by: Clay May 1 2007, 03:03 PM

> QUOTE(Jim Larmore @ May 1 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> As one newbie to another I agree wholeheartedly with your assessement. I have been a lurker here and other places. When it comes to this subject I feel like for the most part many of the posters here can be less than kind at times. Also, if you read all of the information on this you will find many form opinions on hear-say and not authenticated facts. Putting it simply most of what I have read on this 3ABN fiasco is nothing more than gossip and has not served to glorify the Lord at all.
>
> God Bless
> Jim Larmore

then exercise your option and stop reading it, stop lurking in this part of this forum and spend your time reading in other sections.... since you are a newbie let me say that had you read this particular discussion from the beginning you would have a little more insight into the positions some here have taken.... however since you have come late to the party, mind already made up, I am not sure what you are trying to accomplish.....

Posted by: Jnana15 May 1 2007, 03:16 PM

> QUOTE(Jim Larmore @ May 1 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> As one newbie to another I agree wholeheartedly with your assessement. I have been a lurker here and other places. When it comes to this subject I feel like for the most part many of the posters here can be less than kind at times. Also, if you read all of the information on this you will find many form opinions on hear-say and not authenticated facts. Putting it simply most of what I have read on this 3ABN fiasco is nothing more than gossip and has not served to glorify the Lord at all.
>
> God Bless
> Jim Larmore

And what has Danny done to glorify the Lord? He is the MAIN reason that all of this mess started in my opinion. He just had to divorce his wife instead of taking his problems to the Lord and trying the forgivness route. Remember Hosea? In the bible? Gomer? Now I'm not saying that Linda is guilty, cause I don't believe that she is after following this Danny mess. Like my mama used to say, "He went sniffin' too fast for the young thang".

I really watch out for self-righteous people like you and the Dannyscribes.

Let me get myself off this soapbox before I get in trouble.

Posted by: mozart May 1 2007, 03:22 PM

it's just self-righteous drivil clay. that's what he does. he just came to hate and ridicule. IGGY works. i never read his post in any forums anymore. but he can't help himself by his own admission. he's addicted. go figure.

> QUOTE(Clay @ May 1 2007, 03:03 PM)
>
> then exercise your option and stop reading it, stop lurking in this part of this forum and spend your time reading in other sections.... since you are a newbie let me say that had you read this particular discussion from the beginning you would have a little more insight into the positions some here have taken.... however since you have come late to the party, mind already made up, I am not sure what you are trying to accomplish.....

Posted by: Clay May 1 2007, 03:23 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ May 1 2007, 04:22 PM)
>
> it's just self-righteous drivil clay. that's what he does. he just came to hate and ridicule. IGGY works. i never read his post in any forums anymore. but he can't help himself by his own admission. he's addicted. go figure.

thats what I thought...

Posted by: LaurenceD May 1 2007, 03:54 PM

> QUOTE(Jim Larmore)
>
> As one newbie to another I agree wholeheartedly with your assessement. I have been a lurker here and other places. When it comes to this subject I feel like for the most part many of the posters here can be less than kind at times. Also, if you read all of the information on this you will find many form opinions on hear-say and not authenticated facts. Putting it simply most of what I have read on this 3ABN fiasco is nothing more than gossip and has not served to glorify the Lord at all.

Jim, many of us shared our experience when we first came here. I explained how I went from one side to the other. If you've lurked, you must be aware there is a great deal of skepticism around here as we've watched people come and go, some get suspended for the reasons you've given, only to reappear under another username--or so it appears.

I'd be interested in what swayed you one way or the other, and also how you feel about scriptural application to 1) marriage/divorce; 2) child molesters; 3) Chrisitans going to the law to settle differences. Plus, maybe you have views on the 3abn vs. State of Illinois cas, the use of technology, rather than person to person ministry, to spread the most unique part of the 3 angel's message, whether the two ministries uniting is a "merger" or a "joint venture," and finally how you view a TV evangelist...divorced, carrying guns, dressed in a longhorn western blazer, exorbitant salary gleaned from his viewers, hopping on corporate jet to go preach the gospel to the poor, and suing anyone that offends his pride.

There is a certain wisdom found in the bleachers. Many of us do not know the players but are quite familiar with the games we are watching. Then there's the media--those who try and explain (or re-explain) what we actually see happening. We in the the bleachers are not easily fooled...so, it is always interesting to get to know a newbie.

Care to share? If not, you must understand.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Amazing Facts News Release

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 06:02 PM

News Release: 4/18/2007 3ABN AND AMAZING FACTS TO UNITE MINISTRIES

MEDIA RELEASE

"If Christians were to act in concert, moving forward as one, under the direction of one Power, for the accomplishment of one purpose, they would move the world."-- Testimonies, vol. 9, p. 221.

West Frankfort, IL - April 19, 2007 - Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) and Amazing Facts Ministries today announced upcoming plans for uniting the two international Christian media ministries. Lauding the global platform for evangelism this union will create, the Boards of Directors of both ministries unanimously approved moving toward joining the ministries under a new board and constituency.

Founded in 1984, 3ABN began broadcasting on November 23, 1986 and now transmits its signal to nine satellites that carry it to every inhabited continent with a potential viewing audience of hundreds of millions. In addition to its English-speaking television network, 3ABN operates 3ABN Books, 3ABN Radio and 3ABN Latino Television networks, along with a 3ABN television and radio production center in Nizhny Novgorod, Russia. The ministry has also announced plans to launch the 3ABN International Network before the year's end. The second largest Christian network in North America (in numbers of owned and operated UHF stations), 3ABN also has full-power stations in Papua New Guinea, Uganda, and the Philippines.

Beginning with a fifteen-minute radio broadcast in 1966, Amazing Facts has grown into a successful soul-winning dynamo. For over forty years Amazing Facts has provided strong evangelistic, ministry through an array of services that include evangelistic training through the Amazing Facts Center of Evangelism (AFCOE), a team of live itinerant evangelists, publishing, radio and television broadcasts, Bible school and a popular internet ministry.

While there are still a number of organizational details to be worked out, with good council both ministries are confident these things can be accomplished rapidly. For the immediate future we anticipate most of the normal operations at both ministries will remain the same. Our goal will be to optimize greater evangelistic impact to the world, more efficient service to the body of Christ and better stewardship of resources through this dynamic partnership.

In making the announcement, 3ABN's Founder Danny Shelton stated, "We're excited about uniting our ministries, which will accelerate our array of evangelistic services to reach the multitudes. The Spirit-filled speakers of Amazing Facts will share the undiluted truth of God's Word on 3ABN's global platform. The ministries will mobilize an army of Christians to conduct Bible studies in cities worldwide. Time is short—we need to maximize our efforts to reach lost souls."

Doug Batchelor, Amazing Facts President/Speaker, commented, "This uniting of ministries will expand our operations and forge an impressive team of Christian managers who bring their unique talents and reputation for visionary leadership to the new organization. Our union will surely lead to greater effectiveness and economy in spreading the gospel to the world. We're really excited about this comprehensive opportunity to communicate the good news of Jesus Christ."

Danny Shelton comments, "Through God's miraculous blessing He has allowed me to witness 23 years of the unfolding of the vision for 3ABN. I truly believe that this historic partnership with Amazing Facts is a continuation of the vision and can only say with calm assurance, God is leading."

Doug Batchelor states, "In 1844 Samuel Morse sent the first electronic message. Quoting from Numbers 23:23 'What hath God wrought!' Media has now become for the proclamation of the Gospel what the printing press was 500 years ago. The union of these two dynamic ministries represents a miraculous milestone and opportunity to fulfill the great commission. It's hard to describe the staggering potential! I simply stand in awesome wonder declaring. 'What hath God wrought!' As 3ABN and Amazing Facts join hands and hearts, wonderful things can happen to expand Jesus' Kingdom."

"The secret of our success in the work of God will be found in the harmonious working of our people. There must be concentrated action. Every member of the body of Christ must act his part in the cause of God, according to the ability that God has given him. We must press together against obstructions and difficulties, shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart.--Review and Herald, Dec. 2, 1890."

"'Press together; press together,' are the words of our divine Instructor. Unity is strength; disunion is weakness and defeat." {CH 517.3}

"Again and again the angel has said to me, 'Press together, press together, be of one mind, of one judgment,' Christ is the leader, and you are brethren; follow Him.--Letter 4, 1890." {Ev 102.1}

For More Information, Contact:
Amazing Facts
Office: 916.434.3880, ext. 3009
info@amazingfacts.org

Watch Doug Batchelor on an extraordinary 3ABN Today LIVE tonight at 8 p.m. (CT). He'll join host Danny Shelton with a major announcement that will change the face of global evangelism.

(Rebroadcast Sunday, April 22, at 3 p.m. central time.)

http://www.amazingfacts.org/news/read_news.asp?ID=138

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 19 2007, 06:08 PM

I say ☒ PTL.gif ☒ ☒

It will be a new Board of Directors, a new organization, where God's work can continue to go forth. Everyone should have what they want now, right?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2007, 06:14 PM

You will have to read the other threads...apparently nothing is changing...they are just uniting what they have............

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 19 2007, 05:08 PM)
>
> I say ☒ PTL.gif ☒ ☒
>
> It will be a new Board of Directors, a new organization, where God's work can continue to go forth. Everyone should have what they want now, right?

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 06:16 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 19 2007, 08:14 PM)
>
> You will have to read the other threads...apparently nothing is changing...they are just uniting what they have............

I'd say that how things look today, might now be how they look in a few months. A few changes may happen yet.

> QUOTE
>
> While there are still a number of organizational details to be worked out, with good council both ministries are confident these things can be accomplished rapidly. For the immediate future we anticipate most of the normal operations at both ministries will remain the same.

(bold emphasis mine)

Posted by: Snoopy Apr 19 2007, 06:22 PM

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 19 2007, 06:08 PM)
>
> I say PTL.gif
>
> It will be a new Board of Directors, a new organization, where God's work can continue to go forth. Everyone should have what they want now, right?

What about the alleged victims of TS and those who were allegedly wrongfully terminated from 3ABN? I don't think this does anything for them. Please don't get me wrong - if this is the Lord's will for His ministries, then so be it. Obviously we are all taught to forgive...I just think we should not be too quick to forget...BTJM...

Posted by: freckleface Apr 19 2007, 06:29 PM

I guess I wouldn't focus so much as to what is being said. I would focus more on what is not being said. Example: Why make an announcement of this magnitude and no plan of action. Why join ministries when neither one wants to be the head? Why is Doug being so cautious in taking a position such as president but willing to join forces?

Posted by: from-the-pew Apr 19 2007, 06:32 PM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 08:29 PM)
>
> I guess I wouldn't focus so much as to what is being said. I would focus more on what is not being said.

> Example: Why make an announcement of this magnitude and no plan of action. Why join ministries when neither one wants to be the head? Why is Doug being so cautious in taking a position such as president but willing to join forces?

'ly mind has been running wild with such questions. I wasn't sure how many of them I reallly wanted to 'oice!

'm hoping the LIVE presentation will help some, but not counting on it! 27 more minutes! (I've been counting lown since 4 hours...)

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Apr 19 2007, 06:42 PM

The Amazing Facts announcement says there will be a new board with a new constitution. This means one board and one president, etc. for both ministries, which sounds like a merging of the two to me.

This will not happen overnight, but it will happen.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 06:44 PM

Oh heavens.

I'm disgusted but not surprised. "Holy-holy-holy God-God-God ministry-ministry-ministry evangelism-ism-ism gospel-gospel-gospel." Blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah yak yak yak yak yak yak yak all the stuff's the same all the stuff's the same.

I don't want to be a stumbling block for anyone, so I apologize for my attitude. I'm not going to hide it though.

I really hope that "for the immediate future" means more than just "change is bound to come;" I hope it means that someone will be carefully lifting up the carpet and cleaning up the lumps they find.

Let's send all our friends to save3abn.com.

Posted by: lookin4truth Apr 19 2007, 06:51 PM

> QUOTE(Daryl Fawcett @ Apr 19 2007, 08:42 PM) ☐
>
> The Amazing Facts announcement says there will be a new board with a new constitution. This means one board and one president, etc. for both ministries, which sounds like a merging of the two to me.
>
> This will not happen overnight, but it will happen.

> QUOTE
>
> joining the ministries under a new board and constituency

'he quote says CONSTITUENCY not CONSTITUTION.

:onstituency

. a : a body of citizens entitled to elect a representative (as to a legislative or executive position) b : the 'esidents in an electoral district c : an electoral district

2 a : a group or body that patronizes, supports, or offers representation <creating...a grass-roots constituency for continuing the project -- Fred Reed> b : the people involved in or served by an organization (as a business or institution) <regards its corporate customers as its prime constituency -- Andrew Hacker>

By speaking of a new constituency, they may have been referring to the new viewers that would be brought to the network by the merge.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 19 2007, 06:55 PM

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Apr 19 2007, 06:51 PM)
>
> By speaking of a new constituency, they may have been referring to the new viewers that would be brought to the network by the merge.

...but don't most of Amazing Facts' supporters watch them on 3ABN? I guess it is on regular TV in some places, but at terrible hours...

Posted by: Jnana15 Apr 19 2007, 06:56 PM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 07:44 PM)
>
> Oh heavens.
>
> I'm disgusted but not surprised. "Holy-holy-holy God-God-God ministry-ministry-ministry evangelism-ism-ism gospel-gospel-gospel." Blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah yak yak yak yak yak yak yak all the stuff's the same all the stuff's the same.
>
> I don't want to be a stumbling block for anyone, so I apologize for my attitude. I'm not going to hide it though.
>
> I really hope that "for the immediate future" means more than just "change is bound to come;" I hope it means that someone will be carefully lifting up the carpet and cleaning up the lumps they find.
>
> Let's send all our friends to save3abn.com.

SE, I appreciate your honesty.

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 01:21 AM

maybe DB is being coy, extra careful until he has the control to do what needs to be done. he seemed uncomfortable in that seat and he sure looked like he was holding back a lot. you know how candid he is, he wasn't tonight. i dont think AF would take such a risk if they didn't have a really clever plan to get the control and then clean the house. hopefully DB won't lose his marriage or his family in this. i dont think he would take a "pretend" post as some of the dannyeyes are saying. i dont think he has time for those games. i think AF will only do this if they have full control. right now they are stacking their cards and it sure seems DS has no place else to turn. he might try to spin DB's wheels but i don't think he'll be successful. i think he sees that this part of his life is over. i can't see anymore filled auditoriums listening to him tell the same ol' story over and over. he's taking a slow boat to china (j/k) out of site/out of mind so AF can do their thing. first thing i'd do is hire a couple of secretary/spies for mollie and shelley..the only person i can trust up there anymore is moses. that man is one focused and devoted dude. God bless him. he's awesome.

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 06:29 PM) ☐
>
> I guess I wouldn't focus so much as to what is being said. I would focus more on what is not being said. Example: Why make an announcement of this magnitude and no plan of action. Why join ministries when neither one wants to be the head? Why is Doug being so cautious in taking a position such as president but willing to join forces?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 20 2007, 07:48 AM

> QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Apr 19 2007, 05:44 PM) ☐
>
> Oh heavens.
>
> I'm disgusted but not surprised. "Holy-holy-holy God-God-God ministry-ministry-ministry evangelism-ism-ism gospel-gospel-gospel." Blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah yak yak yak yak yak yak yak all the stuff's the same all the stuff's the same.
>
> I don't want to be a stumbling block for anyone, so I apologize for my attitude. I'm not going to hide it though.
>
> I really hope that "for the immediate future" means more than just "change is bound to come;" I hope it means that someone will be carefully lifting up the carpet and cleaning up the lumps they find.
> Let's send all our friends to save3abn.com.

Amen!

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 20 2007, 08:15 AM

He seemed uncomfortable (IMO) because he felt that they were trying to "make" him become the new president of this new entity and yet, this is not what he wants....OR he was uncomfortable because not enough of the structural details were in place. Both make good sense to me.

What was clear to me was that Pastor Doug batchelor is excited about the possibilities for the Kingdom of God and that this is of God.

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 20 2007, 02:21 AM) ☐
>
> maybe DB is being coy, extra careful until he has the control to do what needs to be done. he seemed uncomfortable in that seat and he sure looked like he was holding back a lot. you know how candid he is, he wasn't tonight. i dont think AF would take such a risk if they didn't have a really clever plan to get the control and then clean the house. hopefully DB won't lose his marriage or his family in this. i dont think he would take a "pretend" post as some of the dannyeyes are saying. i dont think he has time for those games. i think AF will only do this if they have full control. right now they are stacking their cards and it sure seems DS has no place else to turn. he might try to spin DB's wheels but i don't think he'll be successful. i think he sees that this part of his life is over. i can't see anymore filled auditoriums listening > to him tell the same ol' story over and over. he's taking a slow boat to china (j/k) out of site/out of mind so AF can do their thing. first thing i'd do is hire a couple of secretary/spies for mollie and shelley..the only person i can trust up there anymore is moses. that man is one focused and devoted dude. God bless him. he's awesome.

Posted by: caribbean sda Apr 20 2007, 08:25 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 20 2007, 03:21 AM)
>
> the only person i can trust up there anymore is moses. that man is one focused and devoted dude. God bless him. he's awesome.

Moses Primo does seem very steadfast and diligent in advancing the technological capabilites of 3ABN. I think he can work anywhere with his knowledge and skill.

Posted by: lurker Apr 20 2007, 10:09 AM

I have been trying to find out who is on Amazing Facts' present board. I have no clue but I hope the new and improved board will be more ethical and less wimpy than the current 3ABN board.

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 11:53 PM

Posted by: mozart Apr 21 2007, 12:19 AM

> QUOTE(freckleface @ Apr 19 2007, 06:29 PM)
>
> I guess I wouldn't focus so much as to what is being said. I would focus more on what is not being said. Example: Why make an announcement of this magnitude and no plan of action. Why join ministries when neither one wants to be the head? Why is Doug being so cautious in taking a position such as president but willing to join forces?

could it be because danny is flying off to china?

o me....doug looked very uncomfortable, slumped down in his chair like he wanted to slip out of site during he first half of the live show. then after the break and he went from the left side of danny (with walt hanging over his shoulder) to the right side of danny. he began to act a little more "into" the whole "love, light and positive wonders of it all" after that break. I thought he was very reserved, which i don't blame him for, but t sure seems like he acted a lot different after the break. you think maybe someone had a talk with him encouraging him to appear more upbeat and positive?) and maybe he let them know he didn't like walt breathing down his neck. if anyone has this recorded, take a look at that and let me know how it looks to you.

also, i don't want this to sound mean but shelley and mollie really nausiated me in the way they tried to ockey themselves to the highest position. they really over-acted their positiveness and enthusiasm over the whole thing. all starry eyed and beaming as if they'd seen this in "vision". shelley acts like she is positioning herself as the next Ellen White with her "dreams and visions and "you know mollie and i prayed about this very thing weeks ago" routine. God fogive me if i'm being a stumbling block but honestly, i think it was a bunch of "foney baloney". let's not forget how they spun tales about Linda and her daughter and "all those evil doers on the internet".

you have to be really careful what you believe about ppl who say they've dreamed dreams or had visions or "felt the Holy Spirit moving". it's important, so very important in these last days that we pray fervently for discernment. we need that so badly. Let's all memorize 2Cor. 11:13-15, 2Thess. 2:10-12 and 2Tim. Ch.3 and 4.
God be with us all, Mo

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 21 2007, 05:20 AM

Mo,

We also have to be careful that we are not projecting here either. Why would they not be happy? I WOULD if I were in that position. Not everything is a conspiracy. It is great news that a ministry they are involved with, 3ABN, is not only being re-picked by Sky Angel but the Dish Network as well!

☒ PTL.gif

and I will say this again regarding Pastor Doug Batchelor's demeanor:

> QUOTE(simplysaved @ Apr 20 2007, 08:15 AM) ☐
>
> He seemed uncomfortable (IMO) because he felt that they were trying to "make" him become the new president of this new entity and yet, this is not what he wants....OR he was uncomfortable because not enough of the structural details were in place. Both make good sense to me.
>
> What was clear to me was that Pastor Doug batchelor is excited about the possibilities for the Kingdom of God and that this is of God.

☒ happysabl EVERYONE!!!!! ☒

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 21 2007, 01:19 AM) ☐
>
> could it be because danny is flying off to china?
>
> to me....doug looked very uncomfortable, slumped down in his chair like he wanted to slip out of site during the first half of the live show. then after the break and he went from the left side of danny (with walt hanging over his shoulder) to the right side of danny. he began to act a little more "into" the whole "love, light and positive wonders of it all" after that break. I thought he was very reserved, which i don't blame him for, but it sure seems like he acted a lot different after the break. you think maybe someone had a talk with him (encouraging him to appear more upbeat and positive?) and maybe he let them know he didn't like walt breathing down his neck. if anyone has this recorded, take a look at that and let me know how it looks to you.
>
> also, i don't want this to sound mean but shelley and mollie really nausiated me in the way they tried to jockey themselves to the highest position. they really over-acted their positiveness and enthusiasm over the whole thing. all starry eyed and beaming as if they'd seen this in "vision". shelley acts like she is positioning herself as the next Ellen White with her "dreams and visions and "you know mollie and i prayed about this very thing weeks ago" routine. God fogive me if i'm being a stumbling block but honestly, i think it was a bunch of "foney baloney". let's not forget how they spun tales about Linda and her daughter and "all those evil doers on the internet".
> you have to be really careful what you believe about ppl who say they've dreamed dreams or had visions > or "felt the Holy Spirit moving". it's important, so very important in these last days that we pray fervently for discernment. we need that so badly. Let's all memorize 2Cor. 11:13-15, 2Thess. 2:10-12 and 2Tim. Ch.3 and 4.

> God be with us all, Mo

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 02:46 PM

My own opinion on Doug's demeanor on the Thursday Night Live program is that it was most likely a result what he shared with the audience at the beginning of the show - not having slept at all the night before. Add onto that two plane rides and the preparatory meetings in the days before and I think that would take a toll on any human being.

Posted by: vanburton Apr 21 2007, 07:09 PM

Just some thoughts on the quotes used in the press release (parenthetical comments are those of this poster):

"If Christians were to act in concert, (are 3abn and AF playing different tunes?) moving forward as one, (as one, not into one) under the direction of one Power, (they both, I believe, are acting under the One same power; they say it themselves) for the accomplishment of one purpose, (I also believe they already have the same purpose) they would move the world."-- Testimonies, vol. 9, p. 221.

"The secret of our success in the work of God will be found in the harmonious (Is there disharmony between 3abn and AF? They seem to already work in harmony together on several joint projects) working of our people. There must be concentrated (They both do this already very well) action. Every member of the body of Christ must act his part (They are both members, part of the body, PTL) in the cause of God, according to the ability that God has given him (Again, both entities have demonstrated wonderful abilities for spreading the gospel). We must press together against obstructions and difficulties, shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart. (Press together . . . they do this already)--Review and Herald, Dec. 2, 1890."

"'Press together; press together,' are the words of our divine Instructor. Unity is strength; disunion (There is no disunity, both, as members of the body are doing their part under One power and for the same purpose) is weakness and defeat." {CH 517.3}

"Again and again the angel has said to me, 'Press together, press together, be of one mind, (the mind of Christ) of one judgment, (that of brotherly love, and the human frailty that goes with it)' Christ is the leader, and you are brethren; follow Him.--Letter 4, 1890." {Ev 102.1}

So, why the merge? The only merge that makes sense is Christ in us, we in Him. That's the bottom line. Is bigger better?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 21 2007, 08:47 PM

vanburton,
You, a woman of few words, have once again brought some compelling thoughts to this discussion.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 21 2007, 10:20 PM

"The more things change, the more they stay the same"

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 12:40 AM

oh i don't mean to say the merger isn't good or real or blessed of God. it probably is, but in a way that the motives of those who brought it about are not as they planned. even tho' it may be a good thing, it doesn't mean it was done for the right reasons. what i am saying is i think that some of the ppl there on that show were faking happiness about the whole thing for various personal reasons. i believe that their super positive attitude was phoney. i think it was more about them trying to keep their positions, or possibly gain more ground with this change, than it was true happiness for the two ministries. i think they are hoping this merger will solve all the problems without any of them being held accountable for their wrongdoing. (and most of you know who "they" is) that this will take away a big portion of all the negative that has come their way and put the focus on other things. but.............the things that have been done and said, on air and off, cannot be allowed to be forgotten in all the hullabaloo of this huge event. yes we all wanted to see changes made at 3abn and i think we should be happy about that and Praise God for that and be supportive to AF. hopefully this will work and 3abn will be run right with a board that is actually a "board". that's just one half of the equation however. let's not forget the other half; holding accountable the few people who have behaved badly (to put it mildly), possibly done things illegally and dishonestly and deliberately hurt others. we can't let this huge thing be such a distraction as to accomplish the silencing of those who are speaking out and taking actions against that wrongdoing. so now, hopefully, 3abn will be saved. that's 1 down. but let's not be naive, or be deceived or cynical about what all else needs to be done. the discernment needed here is of Biblical porportions and by the grace of God, ALL will be resolved and restored. this is far from over and i pray that all of us here, including myself, will be discerning and stay focused on the truth. i pray that we will not be easily swayed or tricked or deceived or tempted. i pray that we will handle the tasks before us with grace and dignity and with all seriousness knowing that we do all things in the sight of God and that real human beings with real feelings and frailties are involved. I just want to say now that i have learned a lot about myself and what i say and how i say it and i appreciate all of you here. i believe all of us who speak out here are honestly trying to make a difference. May God guide us in all that we do and say and think. God bless,
Mo

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 22 2007, 09:16 PM

I watched the show and it seemed at times with all the talk of dreams and visions and "God told me this or that," like I was watching a group of Pentecostals. Shelly Quinn sounded as if she had received a psychic reading. God told her something about 3abn not doing well the first quarter of this year, but then it would not merely survive but thrive. Did anyone else catch that? I had to wonder if that meant that "survival" had been in question in her mind.

One of our local church member's daughter-in-law works for Amazing Facts. She describes Doug Batchelor as a strong-willed micro-manager. It is hard to imagine he and Danny being able to work together for any length of time.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 22 2007, 10:43 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 22 2007, 08:16 PM)
>
> I watched the show and it seemed at times with all the talk of dreams and visions and "God told me this or that," like I was watching a group of Pentecostals. Shelly Quinn sounded as if she had received a psychic reading. God told her something about 3abn not doing well the first quarter of this year, but then it would not merely survive but thrive. Did anyone else catch that? I had to wonder if that meant that "survival" had been in question in her mind....

That was so disappointing to watch

Rosyroi

Posted by: no_cults Apr 23 2007, 07:43 AM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 22 2007, 10:43 PM)
>
> That was so disappointing to watch
> Rosyroi

I agree.... same spinmeisters. No wonder DB was slumping in his chair. Must have been terribly embarrasing to him. Each one going on and on about their visions and building up themselves doing their best to act "up-beat" about this merger/takeover. Almost nearly funny, but more disgusting than anything else.

Anyone really believe that there would have been a merger w/o:

1. Severe financial troubles.
2. Perpetual rumours of DS's miss-deeds concerning marriage and subsequent re-marriage.
3. Exodus of employees very willing to speak out.
4. Problems with uses money which threaten their 501C2 designation.
5. Rumours which appear to be true concerning a family member's involvment in the abuse of young men and small boys..... (recently substantiated by many)

I am sure I have left out others, but this was NOT 3abn's idea. For DS to give up any of his power does not appear to be within his nature. He vigorously resisted a few years back when the church reached out and wanted a closer connection. To speak out and voice dissent with him meant you were probably not going to last too long with the organization. The very fact that board decisions are often (bragged about this) are unanimous votes says a lot. It is amazing how people will give up their principles just to have a little bit of air-time or the ego building boost of being on someone's board.... but I have seen it happen often. People will say something privately... but when given the opportunity to voice thier oppinions that could be controversial --- they keep thier mouths shut. Like Solomon said.. it is all about ego and vanity.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 23 2007, 08:20 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 02:46 PM)
>
> My own opinion on Doug's demeanor on the Thursday Night Live program is that it was most likely a result what he shared with the audience at the beginning of the show - not having slept at all the night before. Add onto that two plane rides and the preparatory meetings in the days before and I think that would take a toll on any human being.

Ahhhh, this was like a warm spring day following a bleak and cold winter.

Eirene

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 23 2007, 09:14 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 23 2007, 06:20 AM)
>
> Ahhhh, this was like a warm spring day following a bleak and cold winter.
>
> Eirene

Occam's Razor, my sister.

Posted by: inga Apr 23 2007, 10:38 PM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 22 2007, 10:16 PM)
>
> I watched the show and it seemed at times with all the talk of dreams and visions and "God told me this or that," like I was watching a group of Pentecostals. Shelly Quinn sounded as if she had received a psychic reading. God told her something about 3abn not doing well the first quarter of this year, but then it would not merely survive but thrive. Did anyone else catch that? I had to wonder if that meant that "survival" had been in question in her mind.

If she said "not only survive but thrive," then survival had surely entered her mind. ...

I haven't seen Doug majoring on dreams and visions, and I hope he's level-headed enough to do some housecleaning and sweep out all those Pentecostal infiltrators.

> QUOTE
>
> One of our local church member's daughter-in-law works for Amazing Facts. She describes Doug Batchelor as a strong-willed micro-manager. It is hard to imagine he and Danny being able to work together for any length of time.

I can believe it. And that sounds like very interesting times ahead for 3ABN staffers.

I have just one question: Where is Doug going to get that extra 24 hours a day he will need to fulfill another full-time job? I mean, he's already a pastor of a large church, president of Amazing Facts, and now ...?

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 02:01 AM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 22 2007, 10:43 PM)
>
> That was so disappointing to watch
> Rosyroi

This may be my harshest statement on here and i don't mean it that way it's just some things are harsh and this one is serious. I believe SHELLY QUINN IS POSITIONING HERSELF TO BE THE NEXT ELLEN WHITE. There's no,no,no,not any comparison. She's made me uncomfortable from the first time i laid eyes on her. i said; "that woman makes me nervous. that's a woman looking for fame. and she is, of course, deceived. (i would compare her to David Koresh being Christ incarnate) just beware ppl be very aware.

Posted by: Fran Apr 24 2007, 03:46 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 02:01 AM)
>
> This may be my harshed statement on here and i don't mean it that way it's just some things are harsh and this one is serious. I believe SHELLY QUINN IS POSITIONING HERSELF TO BE THE NEXT ELLEN WHITE. There's no,no,no,not any comparison. She's made me uncomfortable from the first time i laid eyes on her. i said; "that woman makes me nervous. that's a woman looking for fame. and she is, of course, deceived. (i would compare her to David Koresh being Christ incarnate) ppl better be very aware of that sly fox.

Mozart;

This is getting strange. The more I read your posts, the more I agree with your opinions!

It has taken me several years to see clearly that you may be exactly correct. I remember her before 3ABN. Her prayers were so spirit filled. When she prayed every one could "FEEL" what we were sure was the HOLY SPIRIT. At that time I felt she was being used by God.

I remember when she was in Texas and was offered a position at 3ABN. We all gathered and rejoiced and prayed for her success. This was before the IL vs. 3ABN Property Tax Lawsuit was ever heard of.

I can still remember her stumbling her words in front of the camera and how Linda allowed her continue to practice in front of the camera. I have to commend her for that patience with Shelley.

I would make sure I never missed her "Exalting God's Word" program. She got much better. Danny later gave her a position on Up Close. However, her popularity became greater than Danny's. Everyone, all together now, what happened to her next?

She is rarely seen in programing. She is so busy doing "Things" that she is no longer using her abilities for Christ in front of the camera. This last weekend I did see Exalting God's Word come on, but I turned it off.

I have not decided if she has been deceived, mislead, or if Danny has claimed her as an anointed one, too many times. I did, however, decide last year upon learning she and Danny made a killing on the 10 Commandment book, that my days of listening to Shelly Quinn were numbered.

My decision was sealed forever when she preached her Sermonette at the 3ABN "Roast Linda and Boast Danny" televised roasting/boasting party.

I believe she could be used of God still, but she does really need to get her humility back first.

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 24 2007, 11:02 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 03:01 AM)
>
> This may be my harshed statement on here and i don't mean it that way it's just some things are harsh and this one is serious. I believe SHELLY QUINN IS POSITIONING HERSELF TO BE THE NEXT ELLEN WHITE. There's no,no,no,not any comparison. She's made me uncomfortable from the first time i laid eyes on her. i said; "that woman makes me nervous. that's a woman looking for fame. and she is, of course, deceived. (i would compare her to David Koresh being Christ incarnate) ppl better be very aware of that sly fox.

Mozart, I didn't want to say it, but the thought crossed my mind that she thinks she is a prophet. Was she a charismatic before she became an Adventist?

Posted by: watchbird Apr 24 2007, 11:26 AM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 24 2007, 01:02 PM)
>
> Mozart, I didn't want to say it, but the thought crossed my mind that she thinks she is a prophet. Was she a charismatic before she became an Adventist?

Yes... and a minister.... so was Mollie Steenson.... and Hal Steenson. Don't know about C. A. Murray. Anyone have info on him?

Posted by: Eirene Apr 24 2007, 01:01 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 23 2007, 10:38 PM)
>
> If she said "not only survive but thrive," then survival had surely entered her mind. ...
>
> I haven't seen Doug majoring on dreams and visions, and I hope he's level-headed enough to do some housecleaning and sweep out all those Pentecostal infiltrators. I can believe it. And that sounds like very interesting times ahead for 3ABN staffers.
>
> I have just one question: Where is Doug going to get that extra 24 hours a day he will need to fulfill another full-time job? I mean, he's already a pastor of a large church, president of Amazing Facts, and now ...?

Inga, I think by your posts, it might be conducive for you to go back and read some facts here and at CF. Doug will not need another 24 hours. He has said over and over he wants to be freed up for more evangelism. The last thing he wants to do is run 3abn as well as his own church and ministry. There will be no "cleaning house." That is not Doug's position in this. Actually the titles haven't even been voted on much less confirmed. What he has made clear is that Danny will continue to run 3abn as CEO. Safeguards are in place where one ministry can't "take over" the other ministry. Even though it seems you are purposely choosing not to acknowledge the facts, that doesn't make your fantasies ,realities. Time will prove that eventually you must let go of your "dreams" of what you want to happen, and accept the accuality of what is going to happen.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 24 2007, 01:16 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 02:01 PM)
>
> There will be no "cleaning house." That is not Doug's position in this.

If that's the case, this merger is already doomed.

Posted by: caribbean sda Apr 24 2007, 01:45 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 24 2007, 01:26 PM)
>
> Yes... and a minister.... so was Mollie Steenson.... and Hal Steenson. Don't know about C. A. Murray. Anyone have info on him?

Clement A. Murray, otherwise known as C.A. Murray, attended Erie Community and Alliance College on a basketball scholarship, then graduated from Oakwood College with Bachelors degrees in Religion and Behavioral Science, before graduating from Andrews University with a Masters in Pastoral Ministry.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 24 2007, 03:06 PM

> QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Apr 24 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> Clement A. Murray, otherwise known as C.A. Murray, attended Erie Community and Alliance College on a basketball scholarship, then graduated from Oakwood College with Bachelors degrees in Religion and Behavioral Science, before graduating from Andrews University with a Masters in Pastoral Ministry.

Thank you.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 03:43 PM

that's definitely true and a good point but i personally would have rather been sitting in another seat.

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 21 2007, 01:46 PM)
>
> My own opinion on Doug's demeanor on the Thursday Night Live program is that it was most likely a result what he shared with the audience at the beginning of the show - not having slept at all the night before. Add onto that two plane rides and the preparatory meetings in the days before and I think that would take a toll on any human being.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 04:18 PM

Quote Fran
Mozart;
This is getting strange. The more I read your posts, the more I agree with your opinions!

Me: rofl what'd i do? lol

Quote Fran
....I have not decided if she has been deceived, mislead, or if Danny has claimed her as an anointed one, too many times. I did, however, decide last year upon learning she and Danny made a killing on the 10 Commandment book, that my days of listening to Shelly Quinn were numbered.

My decision was sealed forever when she preached her Sermonette at the 3ABN "Roast Linda and Boast Danny" televised roasting/boasting party.

I believe she could be used of God still, but she does really need to get her humility back first.....

ME: well, personally, i think it's much more than that. the woman said, "people all day have been saying i'm just bubbling out all over and i guess i am. i feel like a new bride!!! ☒ ☒ "

☒ the woman was scary.

(wonder if Ellen White was that excitable. NOT!)

anyway, i don't want to trash the woman but i just feel it in my bones. i do not think she is good for teaching or preaching religion. i used to be very heavily involved in the "new age". i can smell it. she's a prime candidate. i'm sorry if that offends anybody, but i have to say what i have to say to protect my God, my church and my friends. i pray the Lord will open her heart and change her completely, but, right now, her thinking and understanding is way off.
here is something i've wanted to share but the time just hasn't come up. now is the time:
http://www.angelfire.com/mo/PsychicOrSatan/Praying.html

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 04:30 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 24 2007, 10:26 AM) ☐
>
> Yes... and a minister....

more details please WB. i remember her telling what i thought was kind of her testimony. the impression she gave was that she was SDA and she told her husband that she had been studying and praying and just felt convicted that God has called her to preach! she asked her husband what he thought. i believe she said that her and her husband ran a business together. not sure if my memory serves me correctly on that one. seems this was on 3ABN not long after linda was fired. the hair on the back of my neck instantly came up. are you saying she was a preacher/minister prior to that? if so where?
thanks, Mo

Posted by: LaurenceD Apr 24 2007, 05:43 PM

Good insight, Mozart. SQ made me nervous from the first time I saw/heard her speak. Thursday night, she couldn't hold the past back any longer. The new bride started spilling out some of the old anointed terms like "synergy." But, the one that took the cake, and was a dead giveaway, was when she finally blurted out "birthing," and opened her arms, and grinned that divining smile. I thought for sure a dove was going to descend at any moment.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 07:47 PM

> QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Apr 24 2007, 05:43 PM) ☐
>
> Good insight, Mozart. SQ made me nervous from the first time I saw/heard her speak. Thursday night, she couldn't hold the past back any longer. The new bride started spilling out some of the old anointed terms like "synergy." But, the one that took the cake, and was a dead giveaway, was when she finally blurted out "birthing," and opened her arms, and grinned that divining smile. I thought for sure a dove was going to descend at any moment.

Desend or fall over dead?
thanks LD, but if i have any insight i can only praise the Lord for that. when i was delivered out of the "occult/new-age" i made God a promise. i said as i held up the Bible, "i will never again do anything that is not in THIS BOOK." then i prayed, "Lord, all i ask is discernment so i will never be deceived like this again." i know many times HE has blessed me with that. sometimes i use my own discernment, but i can usually tell when the Lord is showing me. May HE bless us all that way and have mercy on all who are deceived.
maybe we can start another thread on that; but let's not hijack this one. God bless our eyes, our hearts and our minds.

Posted by: roxe Apr 24 2007, 08:09 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 03:30 PM)
>
> more details please WB. i remember her telling what i thought was kind of her testimony. the impression she gave was that she was SDA and she told her husband that she had been studying and praying and just felt convicted that God has called her to preach! she asked her husband what he thought. i believe she said that her and her husband ran a business together. not sure if my memory serves me correctly on that one. seems this was on 3ABN not long after linda was fired. the hair on the back of my neck instantly came up. are you saying she was a preacher/minister prior to that? if so where?
> thanks, Mo

beginning last 27 Nov 06, watchbird and i engaged in a discussion about this over on Maritime... it is in the member only forum entitled "Independent Ministries". the thread name is "Abberant Doctrines & 3ABN?"

i think there are other threads within that same forum which speak on this topic also.

http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php

you can find the "register" button on this webpage along with the other navigation buttons, at the top of the page immediately below the forum logo.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(roxe @ Apr 24 2007, 08:09 PM)
>
> beginning last 27 Nov 06, watchbird and i engaged in a discussion about this over on Maritime... it is in the member only forum entitled "Independent Ministries". the thread name is "Abberant Doctrines & 3ABN?"
>
> i think there are other threads within that same forum which speak on this topic also.
>
> http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php
>
> you can find the "register" button on this webpage along with the other navigation buttons, at the top of the page immediately below the forum logo.

thank you kindly roxe

Posted by: roxe Apr 24 2007, 08:50 PM

you're welcome, mozart glad to help...

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 10:55 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 07:14 PM)
>
> thank you kindly roxe

i can't seem to find a thread called independent ministries there

---

Posted by: roxe Apr 25 2007, 12:04 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 10:55 PM)
>
> i can't seem to find a thread called independent ministries there mozart, you need to be registered member in order to see and read that forum... which is why i mentioned above about the register button...

can you see the "3ABN Issues Factual Information" forum on the main page? after you are registered, you will see the Independent Ministries forum just above that one.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 06:14 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 04:01 AM)
>
> This may be my harshest statement on here and i don't mean it that way it's just some things are harsh and this one is serious. I believe SHELLY QUINN IS POSITIONING HERSELF TO BE THE NEXT ELLEN WHITE. There's no,no,no,not any comparison. She's made me uncomfortable from the first time i laid eyes on her. i said; "that woman makes me nervous. that's a woman looking for fame. and she is, of course, deceived. (i would compare her to David Koresh being Christ incarnate) just beware ppl be very aware.

Intersetingly enough people said the same about Linda Shelton, and going by the testimony of who she repeated it to, she liked it.

But where S.Q. is concerned, you are off base. The Lord rebuke you. This is nothing more but evil surmising, and misjudging of motive and intent.

Perhaps you should examine your own motive and intent, for you are accoutable for every single, idle word..

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 07:24 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 08:14 AM)
>
> Intersetingly enough people said the same about Linda Shelton, and going by the testimony of who she repeated it to, she liked it.

You heard Linda say this? Oh... wait... that's right; you've never met or talked to Linda in your life.

> QUOTE
>
> But where S.Q. is concerned, you are off base. The Lord rebuke you. This is nothing more but evil surmising, and misjudging of motive and intent.

Given the accusation you just threw at Linda, your statement here is hypocritical in the extreme... have you no shame, Cindy?

> QUOTE
>
> Perhaps you should examine your own motive and intent, for you are accoutable for every single, idle word..

Physician, heal thyself...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 04:34 PM

Yep, things have certainly spiced up since Cindy returned.

Posted by: mozart Apr 25 2007, 06:54 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 05:14 AM)
>
> for you are accoutable for every single, idle word..

I ABSOLUTELY AM.

Intersetingly enough people said the same about Linda Shelton, and going by the testimony of who she repeated it to, she liked it.

you referring to linda in this way is "nothing more but evil surmising, and misjudging of motive and intent." and just plain lying. i don't believe a word. you absolutely made this up just to rebuff me. you live in another world AL.

But where S.Q. is concerned, you are off base. The Lord rebuke you.

if HE does, i'll accept it, but you don't give God orders, do you?

Perhaps you should examine your own motive and intent, for you are accoutable for every single, idle word..

Accountable, I am. Idle I am not.

Posted by: Grith Apr 26 2007, 09:44 AM

News Release: 4/25/2007 Frequently Asked Questions #1

Since announcing the intention to unite the ministries of Amazing Facts and 3ABN, we have received numerous good questions from ministry friends. Unfortunately, it is not practical to answer every e-mail in detail, but in the interest of transparency and keeping you informed, we have done our best below to provide some answers to the most common questions. Please keep checking our website regularly for updates as news develops.

Q. What is the estimated timeline for the proposed union?
A. All operations at both ministries will continue as normal for the next few months while subcommittees consider legal, organizational, and transitional issues. With God's blessing, we hope to have the details finalized as soon as possible.

Q. Does this mean Amazing Facts will move to Illinois or 3ABN will move to California?
A. No. There are beneficial reasons for both ministries to maintain a campus in their present locations; thus, there are currently no plans to transplant either ministry. However, some aspects of the ministries could be combined in the future for better efficiency and stewardship of God's resources.

Q. Does the proposed union mean control of 3ABN will be assumed by the SDA denomination?
A. No. Both Amazing Facts and 3ABN will fall under a new board to be led by laity. Although Amazing Facts and 3ABN are self-funded entities, both organizations are supportive of the denomination and encourage people to be active at their local church. This policy will continue under the new union. New bylaws are being prepared to preserve that grassroots principle of lay leadership.

Q. Is Doug Batchelor the new president of 3ABN?
A. No. Danny Shelton is still the president of 3ABN. Mr. Shelton is recommending Pastor Doug for the position of president of the new united organization, but this is a decision that must ultimately be confirmed by the new constituency and board.

Q.Will Doug Batchelor move to Illinois?
A. This is unlikely. Pastor Doug recognizes that should he accept this position, it will involve additional travel. He has spoken with his church and family about the added commitment this union would require on his part. His congregation understands this will reduce some percentage of his time at Sacramento Central, where he has served for nearly 14 years. However, Pastor Doug believes he can do more in serving the interests of global evangelism and church revival by maintaining his connection with church members while still employed as an active pastor.

Q. Will Amazing Facts or 3ABN change their name?
A. Both entities have strong name recognition. There are no plans at this time for either ministry to lose its unique identity or branding through this partnership.

Q. Will the union of these two ministries cause a change in 3ABN programming?
A. The programming at 3ABN is continually being evaluated and improved as the network strives for the highest production quality and content. New programs are introduced every month. This policy will continue in the new partnership.

Q. Will 3ABN continue to be open to and supportive of the many other ministries of the Seventh-day Adventist Church?
A. Absolutely! 3ABN will continue to welcome, uphold, and broadcast the many SDA ministries who are proclaiming the end-time truths God has entrusted to our Church.

Q. Why unite/partner if so many things will remain the same?
A. These two ministries complement each other highly in many areas. Uniting the evangelistic message and mission of Amazing Facts with the worldwide platform of 3ABN is an exciting opportunity that will surely impact the world for God's kingdom. In the past, Amazing Facts has actively explored the possibility of a 24-hour television network, while 3ABN has recently considered launching an evangelism training center. Each organization will now be able to share in the strengths of its partner. A united board will mean common goals and objectives, resources will be used more effectively, and combined ventures will have greater success. (We are currently preparing a more detailed explanation of the benefits for this union.)

Q. I typically receive a monthly letter from both Amazing Facts and 3ABN. Now that these two ministries are moving toward uniting, how should I respond with my monthly support?
A. Please remember that Amazing Facts and 3ABN are each sustained financially entirely by friends like you. Neither ministry receives any denominational or corporate support. At this time, the finances of both ministries will continue to be run separately. However, both will now need your generous support. Especially during this time of transition, and as we make bold evangelistic plans for the future, we will urgently need your continued help for both ministries. Please continue to give as you always have (or more, if possible) to see us through this time.

Posted by: Grith Apr 26 2007, 09:55 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Pastor Doug believes he can do more in serving the interests of global evangelism and church revival by maintaining his connection with church members while still employed as an active pastor. (bolded words my emphasis)

I have had much respect for DB. I have been blessed by his revival series in the past. But a question arises. In the latest press release, there is no indication that matters which have been written about here at BSDA and at save3abn.com will be addressed or investigated. (Of course, I understand that they might not want to "show their hand" if there are such plans.) Can anyone who desires to bring about revival in the church be effective in such a venture if they are, at the same time, ignoring blatant and open sin in people who are highly visible without and within the church? Especially if they are people with whom they are closely associated in ministry?

Posted by: Clay Apr 26 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 26 2007, 10:55 AM) ☐
>
> I have had much respect for DB. I have been blessed by his revival series in the past. But a question arises. In the latest press release, there is no indication that matters which have been written about here at BSDA and at save3abn.com will be addressed or investigated. (Of course, I understand that they might not want to "show their hand" if there are such plans.) Can anyone who desires to bring about revival in the church be effective in such a venture if they are, at the same time, ignoring blatant and open sin in people who are highly visible without and within the church? Especially if they are people with whom they are closely associated in ministry?

good observation....

Posted by: Pickle Apr 26 2007, 10:30 AM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 26 2007, 09:44 AM) ☐
>
> Q. Does the proposed union mean control of 3ABN will be assumed by the SDA denomination?
> A. No. Both Amazing Facts and 3ABN will fall under a new board to be led by laity. Although Amazing Facts and 3ABN are self-funded entities, both organizations are supportive of the denomination and encourage people to be active at their local church. This policy will continue under the new union. New bylaws are being prepared to preserve that grassroots principle of lay leadership.

If the merger will not put 3ABN under the control of the denomination, does that mean that the merger will take Amazing Facts away from denominational control?

Or will 3ABN remain lay led and Amazing Facts remain a denominational entity while both become a single lay-led entity under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?

Does anyone know how a denominational entity can be lay led and under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?

Posted by: watchbird Apr 26 2007, 11:16 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Apr 26 2007, 12:30 PM)
>
> If the merger will not put 3ABN under the control of the denomination, does that mean that the merger will take Amazing Facts away from denominational control?
>
> Or will 3ABN remain lay led and Amazing Facts remain a denominational entity while both become a single lay-led entity under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?
>
> Does anyone know how a denominational entity can be lay led and under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?

I think it is one of the illusions that many of us have had, that, since Doug Batchelor is an employed Adventist minister, that the ministry, Amazing Facts, must be a denominational entity. That is simply not the case. And the merger with 3abn shows very clearly that it is not the case.

For background in how the relationship between 3abn and the denomination has developed during the years, it would be instructive.... for those who have not done so yet.... to look up the documents on this site that were created in 1997. Briefly, in the spring of 97, Folkenberg tried to get 3abn to sign a contract with the church organization. 3abn refused, with Bill Hulsey writing a letter of explanation as to why an independent ministry would not consider having any kind of contract with the church organization. That letter also is on this site. We do not, however, have any of the correspondence that we are told continued on through the following months... culminating in an agreement between the two entities. We do, however, have the final document, which was signed by Folkenberg and the next two highest men in the church. It seems apparent that 3abn itself authored this, for essentially it was a very one-sided document... giving the church no lines of control over 3abn, but giving 3abn a blank check promise to promote them in all Divisions of the world.... which 3abn has used as their entry permit into churches around the world.

Interestingly enough.... this agreement was seemingly never questioned after Folkenberg was forced out of office just a few months later due to some shady negotiations with which he had been involved.

And all of this negotiation in 1997 needs to be set in the context of certain earlier private letters which I have personally seen, in which Folkenberg was expressing great displeasure because 3abn had refused a request for 3abn to include Al McClure, in his position as NAD President, to be included as a board member of 3abn!

The official questions and answers which are posted above which indicate that the new merged entities will remain as "supporting ministries" and will NOT become denominational entities... and also the statement about having a board that is composed of lay members... strongly suggests that 3abn is once more determined to not allow the church org to have any official voice in the direction they intend to go... and certainly no ability to control anything that they might do in the future.

Thus once more, the church is giving away its rights and obligations to retain responsibility for how it is represented to the world. The question arises, is this because they are already powerless to have any say in this matter? or.......

Again... more questions are raised than are answered with each new set of "answers" we get.

……………… ☒ TVsnack. ………………

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 26 2007, 12:01 PM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 26 2007, 08:55 AM) ☐
>
> I have had much respect for DB. I have been blessed by his revival series in the past. But a question arises. In the latest press release, there is no indication that matters which have been written about here at BSDA and at save3abn.com will be addressed or investigated. (Of course, I understand that they might not want to "show their hand" if there are such plans.) Can anyone who desires to bring about revival in the church be effective in such a venture if they are, at the same time, ignoring blatant and open sin in people who are highly visible without and within the church? Especially if they are people with whom they are closely associated in ministry?

Girth,
I share your concern. I truly hope that the following sentiments are not really how Doug Batchelor feels about allegations of sinful behavior being discussed here and elsewhere on the internet. Others over on Christian Forums have made similar declarations. I hope that Doug will answer for himself at some point so we get his position on the allegations first hand.

> QUOTE
>
> On 4/20/2007 at 4:07PM PDT, steffan said:
> SNIP
> So, all this business of Doug cleaning house or that he doesn't realize what he has gotten himself into is absolutely a huge laugh. He had 20 or so highly respected people on his board advising him as well as Danny's board advising him. AF and 3ABN has worked together closely for years. That is the reason the AF people are not worried about allegations. They know they are false and shrug off the people behind it. To say that Danny was running scared as stated above is, again, crazy. If he was running scared he would have resigned, not expanded, and remained in charge of 3abn.
> Not hard people, get a grip. As much as you hate to face it, that is the truth of it. As much as you want to read stuff into it, you can't. It is all good.
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index...dpost&p=192236
>
> On 4/20/2007 at 7:31PM PDT, PeacefullyBewildered said:
> Steffan,
> I thought you lived in New York. Have you moved to the Thompsonville area so that you have first-hand knowledge of all that you have said below?
> AND
> Your statement that I have bolded above causes me some concerns. Do you have first hand knowledge from Doug Batchelor and his AF team that they are not worried about allegations and that they know they are false and shrug off the people behind it? Are these statements you have heard for yourself?
> PB
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index...dpost&p=192255
>
> On 4/20/2007 at 7:57PM PDT, steffan said:
> And Yes PB. I did get it firsthand that Doug could care less about the allegations on the internet. Just ask Gailon if Doug would take his call today.
>
> http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index...dpost&p=192262

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 26 2007, 12:41 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 26 2007, 10:16 AM)
>
> The official questions and answers which are posted above which indicate that the new merged entities will remain as "supporting ministries" and will NOT become denominational entities... and also the statement about having a board that is composed of lay members... strongly suggests that 3abn is once more determined to not allow the church org to have any official voice in the direction they intend to go... and certainly no ability to control anything that they might do in the future.
>
> Thus once more, the church is giving away its rights and obligations to retain responsibility for how it is represented to the world. The question arises, is this because they are already powerless to have any say in this matter? or.......
>
> Again... more questions are raised than are answered with each new set of "answers" we get...............................

WB,

Who will ensure that these two ministries are actually representing and will continue to represent the doctrines of our church to the world wide audience? Are the board and constituency/layity going to be able to accomplish that?

So, potentially, there is to be a more powerful force with the uniting of these two ministries, which will be promoted by the SDA denomination, which will continue to be allowed to hold rallies in SDA churches, which will continue to gladly accept tithe, and yet - thanks to Folkenburg's 1997 contract negotiating skills - which will continue to allow little to no denominational oversite.

Well, one upside is of course that, at the present time, both ministries are still bringing new members into the SDA church.

Posted by: Fran Apr 26 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 26 2007, 11:16 AM)
>
> I think it is one of the illusions that many of us have had, that, since Doug Batchelor is an employed Adventist minister, that the ministry, Amazing Facts, must be a denominational entity. That is simply not the case. And the merger with 3abn shows very clearly that it is not the case.
>
> For background in how the relationship between 3abn and the denomination has developed during the years, it would be instructive.... for those who have not done so yet.... to look up the documents on this site that were created in 1997. Briefly, in the spring of 97, Folkenberg tried to get 3abn to sign a contract with the church organization. 3abn refused, with Bill Hulsey writing a letter of explanation as to why an independent ministry would not consider having any kind of contract with the church organization. That letter also is on this site. We do not, however, have any of the correspondence that we are told continued on through the following months... culminating in an agreement between the two entities. We do, however, have the final document, which was signed by Folkenberg and the next two highest men in the church. It seems apparent that 3abn itself authored this, for essentially it was a very one-sided > document... giving the church no lines of control over 3abn, but giving 3abn a blank check promise to promote them in all Divisions of the world.... which 3abn has used as their entry permit into churches around the world.

>
> Interestingly enough.... this agreement was seemingly never questioned after Folkenberg was forced out of office just a few months later due to some shady negotiations with which he had been involved.
>
> And all of this negotiation in 1997 needs to be set in the context of certain earlier private letters which I have personally seen, in which Folkenberg was expressing great displeasure because 3abn had refused a request for 3abn to include Al McClure, in his position as NAD President, to be included as a board member of 3abn!
> The official questions and answers which are posted above which indicate that the new merged entities will remain as "supporting ministries" and will NOT become denominational entities... and also the statement about having a board that is composed of lay members... strongly suggests that 3abn is once more determined to not allow the church org to have any official voice in the direction they intend to go... and certainly no ability to control anything that they might do in the future.
>
> Thus once more, the church is giving away its rights and obligations to retain responsibility for how it is represented to the world. The question arises, is this because they are already powerless to have any say in this matter? or.......
>
> Again... more questions are raised than are answered with each new set of "answers" we get.
>
> .... TVsnack. ....

Amazing Facts is a self supporting ministry of the North California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2007, 01:16 PM

I agree with WB. AF neither 3ABN are denominational entities. They are as they state "sefl funded' entities. Now the people involved for the most part are Adventist and promote Adventism at this time. But I think there is where the question came from, that one or both are presently seen as denominational entities. I also agree that is is an illusion that has been allowed to continue to each ministries advantage.

Now, as someone who's job is basically going under the same kind of thing. I can tell you now that this FAQ has "merger" written all over it. One will eventuall take over the other. Contrary to what Eirene has been screaming at us, Danny will not be running 3ABN as usual for now on. He will only be therefor the next few months while they work out the kinks. One very possibly being his departure, fortunately for him with a lot more grace and dignity he afforded Linda(and I am still asking willhe walk as a co founder or an employee and consider his 250K severance generous). All of those answers including "we currently have no plans" or "there are not plans at this time" means those is exactly the issues they are trying to work out. Doug will be President, Danny may or may not be in the background. They will be changing some or all of the programming, bethat schedule changes or trashing certain shows altogether....leaving the door wide open for the eventual and gradual elmination of shows like the Danny's show, especially is they are moving him from the forefront. They could possibly change the name by combining them or changin it altogether. Anything that is till being discussed or has no curretly plans is up for grabs which by this FAQ is everything, but Doug leaving CA and his church.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Apr 26 2007, 08:30 AM)

> If the merger will not put 3ABN under the control of the denomination, does that mean that the merger will take Amazing Facts away from denominational control?
>
> Or will 3ABN remain lay led and Amazing Facts remain a denominational entity while both become a single lay-led entity under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?
>
> Does anyone know how a denominational entity can be lay led and under the control of a board that is not a denominational entity?

rannie(I hope you don't mind), I believe it is more like, "Amazing Facts if a self supporting ministry eadquartered within the NCC of SDAs. That "self-supporting" pretty much ensures the conference has bsolutely no control over AF. It is only tied to the church because it is decidely SDA in it's orientation and eliefs. If they decided to become Baptist tomorrow(not gonna happen), the church would just have to let go nd let God. It is also what is aid in the language of this FAQ.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 26 2007, 10:48 AM)
>
> Amazing Facts is a self supporting ministry of the North California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Posted by: Pickle Apr 26 2007, 01:57 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 26 2007, 11:16 AM)
>
> I think it is one of the illusions that many of us have had, that, since Doug Batchelor is an employed Adventist minister, that the ministry, Amazing Facts, must be a denominational entity. That is simply not the case.

think you may be missing something.

-Facts is listed in the Adventist Yearbook. Weimar is not. They are in the same conference. Why the ifference if A-Facts is not a denominational entity?

ou might find a minister at a self-supporting ministry that is paid by the conference. But I think at A-Facts it sn't just Doug that is paid that way.

rom http://www.amazingfacts.org/news/read_news.asp?ID=68:

> QUOTE
>
> News Release: 4/17/2007 Employment Opportunities
>
> All applicants must be cleared or approved to work in the United States.
>
> Although Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The employment practices reflect religious preferences in harmony with the U.S. Constitution and controlling law, and it therefore hires only Seventh-day Adventist Church members in good standing.
>
> Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational employees.

> Employee transfers from other NAD denominational institutions are seamlessly accomplished.

hus there own website says that they are a denominational entity, a "NAD denominational insitution." Right?

m I missing something?

Posted by: watchbird Apr 26 2007, 02:50 PM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Apr 26 2007, 03:57 PM)
>
> I think you may be missing something.
>
> A-Facts is listed in the Adventist Yearbook. Weimar is not. They are in the same conference. Why the difference if A-Facts is not a denominational entity?

hat is a very good question. Maybe you could find out the answer for us.

> QUOTE
>
> You might find a minister at a self-supporting ministry that is paid by the conference. But I think at A-Facts it isn't just Doug that is paid that way.
>
> From http://www.amazingfacts.org/news/read_news.asp?ID=68:

> QUOTE
>
> QUOTE
> News Release: 4/17/2007 Employment Opportunities
>
> All applicants must be cleared or approved to work in the United States.
>
> Although Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The employment practices reflect religious preferences in harmony with the U.S. Constitution and controlling law, and it therefore hires only Seventh-day Adventist Church members in good standing.
>
> Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational employees. Employee transfers from other NAD denominational institutions are seamlessly accomplished.

> QUOTE
>
> Thus there own website says that they are a denominational entity, a "NAD denominational insitution." Right?
>
> Am I missing something?

think you are.... the phrase I bolded above perhaps?

f "Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational mployees"... doesn't that imply that they are NOT denominational employees?

he questions are...
ho cuts the checks for the employees? and

Where do the funds come from upon which the checks are drawn?

Does the Conference treasurer send out the checks?
Or does Amazing Facts pay their employees directly?

If the Conference treasurer sends out the checks... from what funds are these written? Are they in the Conference budget... or are they passed to the conference from donations specifically given to Amazing Facts?

Metinks dese guys 'r "playin wif our minds". .....

Best get out the magnifying glass and examine the "fine print".

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2007, 02:59 PM

WB, I would also point out this answer int he FAQ. It inferes that neither at this time is a denominational institution, nor will the become one.

> QUOTE
>
> Q. Does the proposed union mean control of 3ABN will be assumed by the SDA denomination?
>
> A. No. Both Amazing Facts and 3ABN will fall under a new board to be led by laity. Although Amazing Facts and 3ABN are self-funded entities, both organizations are supportive of the denomination and encourage people to be active at their local church. This policy will continue under the new union. New bylaws are being prepared to preserve that grassroots principle of lay leadership.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 26 2007, 03:02 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 26 2007, 04:50 PM)
>
> That is a very good question. Maybe you could find out the answer for us.
> I think you are.... the phrase I bolded above perhaps?
>
> If "Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational employees"... doesn't that imply that they are NOT denominational employees?
>
> The questions are...
> Who cuts the checks for the employees? and
> Where do the funds come from upon which the checks are drawn?
>
> Does the Conference treasurer send out the checks?
> Or does Amazing Facts pay their employees directly?
>
> If the Conference treasurer sends out the checks... from what funds are these written? Are they in the Conference budget... or are they passed to the conference from donations specifically given to Amazing Facts?
> Metinks dese guys 'r "playin wif our minds". .....
>
> Best get out the magnifying glass and examine the "fine print".

I think the operative words precede those you bolded; particularly the part that says:

"Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church
..."

Contrast that with 3ABN: "3ABN is not owned, operated or funded by any church, denomination or organization"... it then goes on to mention that many who staff and run 3abn are members of the Adventist church...

One part overtly states they are a part of the Adventist church; one part says that they are not... can two walk together except they be agreed?

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 26 2007, 03:22 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 26 2007, 06:02 PM)
>
> I think the operative words precede those you bolded; particularly the part that says:
>
> "Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church
> ..."
>
> Contrast that with 3ABN: "3ABN is not owned, operated or funded by any church, denomination or organization"... it then goes on to mention that many who staff and run 3abn are members of the Adventist church...
>
> One part overtly states they are a part of the Adventist church; one part says that they are not... can two walk together except they be agreed?
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mat 12:25 And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand:
Mar 3:25 And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand.
Luk 11:17 But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house [divided] against a house falleth.

Posted by: Observer Apr 26 2007, 07:32 PM

Amazing Facts. Is it, or is it not a Seventh-day Adventist institution? My take on it:

AF is clearly listed in the YEARBOOK as an institution of the Northern California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.. Yet it is though to have a some sort of independent status. So, what is the truth.

It should be noted that the YEARBOOK lists Moriah Media, also as an institution of the Northern California Conference, and lists it address as the same as the address for Amazing Facts.

Amazing Facts was registered with the State of California as a church in April 1947. Moriah Media was also registered with the State of California that same month, and it is listed as a religious organization, and apparently is a holding company for Amazing Facts television.

In the YEARBOOK the address for Amazing Facts is listed at the "title holding company" for Amazing facts.

My take on this is that this establishes Amazing Facts as a Seventh-day Adventist institution. However, it appears to be governed by a Board which is organizationally independent of the SDA Church. I acknowledge that it has SDA denominational leaders on that Board. So, some might challenge my statement as to its independence.

The reality is, as I see it, that the separate status of the Board releases the Northern California Conference from funding it. It allows AF to maintain its own control, and independence. Yet, the SDAs on the Board give the organized church a voice in its affairs.

Could it separate from the denomination? In theory yes, it could. However, it could probably be argued that such would not happen easily.

Let me illustrate how I believe that this relationship exists in practical terms. I live in a Conference where a group of SDAs established a congregation with the intent to do "cutting edge" ministry. They called themselves Grace Place. They established a formal relationship with the Rocky Mountain Conference. But they held title to the property that they owned, and they were independently controlled by a Board of their selection. The RM Conference acknowledged them as a SDA Church, and their minister was credentialed by the RM Conference, and on its payroll. It its development as a congregation, it later moved outside of the SDA Church, and became totally independent. The RM Conference withdrew recognition. It's minister went off of the payroll,. and was no longer credentialed by the SDA Church. But, for several years, it was an organized SDA church in the Rocky Mountain Conference.

I do not intend to imply that Amazing Facts will ever do what Grace Place did. My point it that the SDA Church does allow certain independent organizations to be knows as SDA institutions, who do have some degree of independence.

This is not true for all organizations.

Weimer College and Health Center is not so listed as an institution of the Northern California Conference.

3-ABN is not so listed under the Illinois Conference.

So, it can be fairly said that Amazing Facts is more closely related to the denomination than is 3-ABN.

Because of that close relationship AF follows denominaitonal policy in ways that other organizaitons may not.

AF hires SDAs. It follows a denominational pay scale. Policies are in effect that allow people to transfer between it and employment in the NAD. This does not happen withe other organizations. One cannot easily transfer in employment between 3-ABN and employent in the NAD in regard to service credit.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2007, 07:48 PM

Ok, I accept that Pastor. But what does that mean for the "merger"? Danny is not remotely interested in letting the denom have any kind of control ove 3ABN.

Posted by: Skyhook Apr 26 2007, 08:02 PM

Within the last 2 weeks I saw a little of a sermon by DB and he said that alhtough he is president of Amazing facts, he is a SDA minister and is paid as such, on the same scale as any other SDA minister. He seemed to be saying that even though he is also the senior pastor of the Sacramento Central Church, he does not double dip. He said that his conference salary is returned by Amazing Facts to the conference. I don't know how old that sermon was, and I didn't hear the whole thing, but that is what I understood from what he said.

Also, a few months ago there was a rumor here in NCC that DB wanted to move the Sac Central Church out to Roseville, not far from Sacramento, and also build a new media center there. Perhaps this merger is an alternate plan.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 26 2007, 08:17 PM

Yes, skyhook that has been the buzz for a while about the new media center in Roeville.

If that is what DB says, then his salary is paid by AF not the NCC. I am not sure why they are choosing to do it that way, though. Well, it is the same arrangement for JL at 3ABN, but they only pay a portion of his salary.

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 26 2007, 07:02 PM) ☐
>
> Within the last 2 weeks I saw a little of a sermon by DB and he said that alhtough he is president of Amazing facts, he is a SDA minister and is paid as such, on the same scale as any other SDA minister. He seemed to be saying that even though he is also the senior pastor of the Sacramento Central Church, he does not double dip. He said that his conference salary is returned by Amazing Facts to the conference. I don't know how old that sermon was, and I didn't hear the whole thing, but that is what I understood from what he said.
>
> Also, a few months ago there was a rumor here in NCC that DB wanted to move the Sac Central Church out to Roseville, not far from Sacramento, and also build a new media center there. Perhaps this merger is an alternate plan.

Posted by: Pickle Apr 26 2007, 08:28 PM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 26 2007, 07:32 PM) ☐
>
> Could it separate from the denomination? In theory yes, it could. However, it could probably be argued that such would not happen easily.

Before Amazing Facts can switch from being a denominational entity to an independent ministry, they probably will need to get the approval of their constituents, just like what I'm told was needed before they could move from Maryland to California.

Anyone know any constituents and what they think about the merger?

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 26 2007, 02:59 PM) ☐
>
> WB, I would also point out this answer int he FAQ. It inferes that neither at this time is a denominational institution, nor will the become one.

Actually, its very wording to me suggests that A-Facts is a denominational entity. The question wasn't, Will A-Facts and 3ABN come under denominational control? It was only, Will 3ABN come under such control?

And why ask the question at all? Because since a-Facts is a denominational entity, its merging with 3ABN raises that question. If A-Facts wasn't part of the denomination, the question wouldn't need to be asked.

By the way, PB has gotten official word that A-Facts is under the conferences umbrella, and that if the merger takes place, they no longer will be.

Posted by: Observer Apr 27 2007, 05:39 AM

> QUOTE(Skyhook @ Apr 26 2007, 07:02 PM)
>
> Within the last 2 weeks I saw a little of a sermon by DB and he said that alhtough he is president of Amazing facts, he is a SDA minister and is paid as such, on the same scale as any other SDA minister. He seemed to be saying that even though he is also the senior pastor of the Sacramento Central Church, he does not double dip. He said that his conference salary is returned by Amazing Facts to the conference. I don't know how old that sermon was, and I didn't hear the whole thing, but that is what I understood from what he said.
>
> Also, a few months ago there was a rumor here in NCC that DB wanted to move the Sac Central Church out to Roseville, not far from Sacramento, and also build a new media center there. Perhaps this merger is an alternate plan.

Yes, Doug Batchelor is listed in the YEARBOOK as a credentialed SDA minister. (See page 771 of the 2007 edition.)

Yes, it is likely that he salery is paid by the Northern California Conference, that he does not recieve additional salery, that he is paid on the same salery scale as other NCC clergy, and that Amazing Facts may return to the NCC part or all of his salery and benefits package.

Yes, Elder Batchelor has wanted for some time to move the Sacramento congregation to another location, and/or build a media center.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Apr 26 2007, 07:28 PM)
>
> Before Amazing Facts can switch from being a denominational entity to an independent ministry, they probably will need to get the approval of their constituents, just like what I'm told was needed before they could move from Maryland to California.
>
> Anyone know any constituents and what they think about the merger?
> Actually, its very wording to me suggests that A-Facts is a denominational entity. The question wasn't, Will A-Facts and 3ABN come under denominational control? It was only, Will 3ABN come under such control?
>
> And why ask the question at all? Because since a-Facts is a denominational entity, its merging with 3ABN raises that question. If A-Facts wasn't part of the denomination, the question wouldn't need to be asked.
>
> By the way, PB has gotten official word that A-Facts is under the conferences umbrella, and that if the merger takes place, they no longer will be.

If your last statement is accurate, that is earth-shaking information.

Posted by: inga Apr 27 2007, 08:23 AM

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Apr 26 2007, 09:28 PM)
>
> By the way, PB has gotten official word that A-Facts is under the conferences umbrella, and that if the merger takes place, they no longer will be.

If that's true, AF employees may lose a lot of benefits, because AF most likely cannot immediately offer the same benefits as the denomination ...

Otoh, it would, of course, leave room for AF to adopt the same ... ahem ... "frugal" business practices as 3ABN. (Think free labor, minimum wage, no retiremet benefits, etc. I'm sure current 3ABN employees can fill out more details.)

In that case, it might be a wise decision for AF employess to look at their employment options ...

I've seen so many "unbelievable" things happening in the last several years, that nothing can really surprise me any more ...

Posted by: Observer Apr 27 2007, 08:55 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 27 2007, 08:23 AM)
>
> If that's true, AF employees may lose a lot of benefits, because AF most likely cannot immediately offer the same benefits as the denomination ...
>
> Otoh, it would, of course, leave room for AF to adopt the same ... ahem ... "frugal" business practices as 3ABN. (Think free labor, minimum wage, no retiremet benefits, etc. I'm sure current 3ABN employees can fill out more details.)
>
> In that case, it might be a wise decision for AF employess to look at their employment options ...
>
> I've seen so many "unbelievable" things happening in the last several years, that nothing can really surprise me any more ...

It should be noted that if such were to happen, many of the employees would have earned retirement benefits, either present or future.

AF would then have to institute their salery and benefit package. Probably they would be able to match current denominational benefits and salery as it it likely that their present payroll expenses have come from their present income.

As to the future. . . . .?

If Doug Batchelor takes AF away from the denominational relationship that it presently has, how will that affect offering income?

If DB does the above, how will that affect DB's status as an credentialed SDA minister of the Northern California Conference, and asa pastor of Sacramento Central?

More questions? With each passing day, the questions increase.

Posted by: Grith Apr 27 2007, 09:05 AM

Today as I reading the forum, a quote from Ellen White came to mind. Whether you believe in the SOP or not, I believe you will find a great deal of truth in this statement with regards to the current situation with 3abn (and possibly AF, though I hope not). I am bolding some phrases that especially stand out.

> QUOTE
>
> Satan has gained marked advantage in ----- because the people of God have not guarded the outposts. The very men whose labors God has signified that He would accept if they were fully consecrated have been the ones to be deceived, to fail in their duties, and to prove a terrible burden and discouragement, instead of the help and blessing that they should have been. These men who have been trusted to keep the fort have well-nigh betrayed it into the hands of the enemy. They have opened the gates to a wily foe, who has sought to destroy them. {4T 211.2}
>
> Men of experience have seen stealthy hands slipping the bolts that Satan might enter; yet they have held their peace with apparent indifference as to the results. Some have been glad to see this, as it seemed an extenuation of their past neglect, which made it a necessity to call for others to fill the posts of responsibility that they had abused or neglected. This lack of watchfulness on the part of these newer incumbents seemed to excuse the former for their own want of faithfulness, as it showed that others were fully as derelict in duty. These persons do not realize that God holds them responsible for every advantage gained by the foe who is admitted to the fort. The desolation and ruin following lie at the door of the unfaithful sentinels, who, by their neglect, become agents in the hands of the adversary to win souls to destruction. Men in responsible positions should seek wisdom and guidance of God, and not trust to their own judgment and knowledge. Like Solomon they should earnestly pray for faith and light, and God will give them freely of His abundant supply. {4T 211.3}

Posted by: erik Apr 27 2007, 09:10 AM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 27 2007, 07:05 AM)
>
> Today as I reading the forum, a quote from Ellen White came to mind. Whether you believe in the SOP or not, I believe you will find a great deal of truth in this statement with regards to the current situation with 3abn (and possibly AF, though I hope not). I am bolding some phrases that especially stand out.

Grith,

Amen on your qoute.

erik

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 27 2007, 09:30 AM

> QUOTE(Grith @ Apr 27 2007, 07:05 AM)
>
> Today as I reading the forum, a quote from Ellen White came to mind. Whether you believe in the SOP or not, I believe you will find a great deal of truth in this statement with regards to the current situation with > 3abn (and possibly AF, though I hope not). I am bolding some phrases that especially stand out.

’es, AMEN!

Posted by: Fran Apr 28 2007, 02:50 AM

I found this post made by Tomatoe in response to Rosie55 on ChristianForum.com.

It actually says quite a bit.

> QUOTE
>
> Originally Posted by Rosie55
>
> Tomatoe--I know this is the week-end but I hope you can help me with more questions.
>
> This merger is interesting news to many people. Some are saying this is happening because Pastor Bachelor *is to take over 3abn because of Danny's sins.
>
> They are saying Pastor B. will take over 3ABN. We know you said this is not the case but that each will have their separate duties and titles.
>
> Some are saying Pastor B. is trying to "hide" Danny's supposed sins.
>
> I think these people are not understanding the real reasons for the merger.
>
> I know you've said it before but I guess my question is this: Is Doug taking over 3abn to hide Danny's supposed sins?

> QUOTE
>
> What people do not seem to be comprehending here is this merge is so much bigger than Danny or Doug.
>
> There are lots of people involved in this.
>
> Well respected people and leaders of the church.
>
> Doug has several conference people on his board and that are involved with AF.
>
> Danny has members of ASI and the conference on his and also plenty more that associate with 3ABN.
>
> How people think that 2 people could make this decision of a "cover up" and then make it happen is beyond me.
>
> 1. AF is a very successful ministry in it's own right, why get involved with 3abn if the Internet allegations are true?
>
> 2. Doug could not make this move without his board's approval. In order to get that approval he had to present them with the reasons and advantages for this merger. Covering Danny's sins was not one of those reasons that he brought to the table.
>
> 3. Why should AF or Doug cover Danny's sins if they were, indeed, true?

4. Why would AF and Doug want to take on anymore responsibilities than they already have with the Sacramento church and AF?

5. Why would Danny for any circumstances, just hand over the biggest media tool the denomination has ever known. Not to mention the 23 years it took him to build it.

6. Contrary to rumors, 3abn is not in debt and have several million more in assets than AF. So again, the rumors that 3abn needs AF to bail them out of financial problems are totally false.

Now the truth of the merger.

Simple. 2 great ministries together are stronger and can do more to evangelize the world than each on his own.

Putting the AF people with their evangelistic expertise with the 3ABN people and their media expertise is a win, win combination.

It combines ideas, boards and financial support to make more happen with less, by working together.

Each bring their talents and means to the table. Each have their areas of expertise and knowledge.

By merging your double even triple your ideas of bringing the 3 angels message to the world.

Why is AF willing to do this with all the allegations being spread?

Because they know they are not true.

Doug has worked too closely with 3ABN and Danny through through the years, to know what is truth and what is not.

AF knows they are unfounded and are therefore, willing to join hands together in one of the strongest moves and unions in the church's history.

Danny has offered the title of presidency to Doug while maintaining CEO/Founder title and remaining in control at 3ABN, while Doug remains in control of AF.

This merge isn't about day to day operations at either ministry.

Nor is it about a take over or Danny stepping aside.

Quite the opposite. Both men and ministries are about being even more involved in preaching, teaching, seminars, and raising funds to keep up with all the latest technology so the gospel can be spread to more and more remote areas.

Notice I said Danny has offered the title of Presidency.

That remains to be seen until the merged board is formed and titles are voted on. Some things have been worked out, many decisions are still to be made, but, know this:

Both ministries will continue under their present leadership with day to day operations remaining the same.

have separated the sentences for clearer understanding. Plus I added punctuation and spell checked these osts. Emphasis is mine.

Posted by: vanburton Apr 28 2007, 08:59 AM

It was said that this "merger" is about "Christians pressing together in harmonious unity shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart, in concentrated effort. Well then, why stop with just two? It seems that others should be sought out in a "mega-merge".

Let's see, there's IIW, VOP, BOL, FFT, LBM, ASI, and GO (sorry if I left out your favorite). How about The Carter Report or Maranatha or the countless others that DS has promoted?

Press together, unify. Why not go all the way? Then we could call it "The United Ministries of the Seventh-day Adventist Church".

If the 3abn/AF merge is BIG, think BIGGER!

(And don't forget all those other Christian ministries that are not SDA)

Posted by: mozart Apr 28 2007, 03:27 PM

Fran just quoted this long post from tomatoe from CF of which i'd like to comment on these few sentences.
This is the question to Tomatoe (who thinks he's an expert on these matters)

Q.- "Why is AF willing to do this with all the allegations being spread?

From Tomatoe:Because they know they are not true.
So, Amazing Facts has done an investigation into all allegations and found all to be untrue??? If this were true, why wouldn't they share that information and end all our debates???

Doug has worked too closely with 3ABN and Danny through through the years, to know what is truth and what is not.
soooooooooo.....just by working closely with someone makes you know what is truth in all their personal and business life???? ..... many diviorced people who have lived together and shared their lives together for years will say, "he/she is not who i thought they were. we lived together all those years and i thought we were very close but it seems i never knew him/her at all". doesn't it seem more reasonable that if you're married and don't know someone like you think you do that you can work with someone and not really know them as well as you think?

AF knows they are unfounded and are therefore, willing to join hands together in one of the strongest moves and unions in the church's history.
Again, IF Amazing Facts knows all this, they must be the only ones who KNOW all is unfounded and untrue, so why don't they tell us? why don't they tell those who are sure they know different?? why don't they clear the air so that things can go back to just "being about our Father's business???
If AF knows then they must have investigated, right? that's reasonable to assume. they have known of all the accusations and they have investigated all of them and they KNOW none are true so they feel confident about this merger but yet they don't feel confident letting US know what they know. doesn't that sound quite odd?

these are such rediculous statements.

it is more likely that AF does not know most of what is "the truth" and they probably don't even know of most of the allegations but they are thinking this is a great opportunity for both ministries and that those certain ppl from 3ABN who have accusations against them will be handling those allegations outside of 3ABN therefore the ministry will not continue to suffer the burdens of those 3ABN employees that have issues to deal with. I think GMc probably made AF that promise.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Pondering Visiting Pastor Doug

Posted by: PJMusic Apr 23 2007, 11:47 AM

Only in this past week have I even known that DB even is in Sacramento. Guess I don't keep up well. I am tempted to go and visit him, but not sure he would even see me. I would just want to say who I am, and where I am from (West Frankfort), even though I now reside in Sacramento, and then how the coverup of what Tommy has had an effect on me and the friends I grew up with. I would hope that he would at least listen, although I seriously doubt anything will come out of it. Although I don't really have anything to say on Danny, I do have the issue of Tommy and what had happened to my friends. I guess it's a more of trying to maybe personally enlighten based on my experience of what had happened.

Posted by: Observer Apr 23 2007, 12:07 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Apr 23 2007, 10:47 AM) ☐
>
> Only in this past week have I even known that DB even is in Sacramento. Guess I don't keep up well. I am tempted to go and visit him, but not sure he would even see me. I would just want to say who I am, and where I am from (West Frankfort), even though I now reside in Sacramento, and then how the coverup of what Tommy has had an effect on me and the friends I grew up with. I would hope that he would at least listen, although I seriously doubt anything will come out of it. Although I don't really have anything to say on Danny, I do have the issue of Tommy and what had happened to my friends. I guess it's a more of trying to maybe personally enlighten based on my experience of what had happened.

He is the pastor of the Sacramento Central Chruch.

You might drop him a note, tell him that you used to live in the 3-ABN area, and would like to talk to him about your personal experiences.

You can not lose, and maybe he just might see you.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 23 2007, 12:53 PM

PJM,

I completely agree with Gregory. Pray about it. I will, also. If the Lord wants you to have contact with Doug Batchelor, I know the doors will be opened for you.

PB

Posted by: inga Apr 23 2007, 10:24 PM

PJ, please don't let this thought drop. Just one person can sometimes make an incredible difference. Perhaps that one person is you. All you need to do is tell your story. Tell what you know from experience. And, of course, you know that Danny had Tommy working for him at 3ABN and effectively enabled his behavior.

May the Lord bless you and give you courage.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 23 2007, 10:50 PM

I join the others praying for you to be able to visit one on one with Doug and pray that the Lord will give you the right words to say that will help Doug be receptive to your story.

TVsnack.

Rosyroi
@}---;---;-----

Posted by: erik Apr 23 2007, 11:13 PM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 23 2007, 08:50 PM)
>
> I join the others praying for you to be able to visit one on one with Doug and pray that the Lord will give you the right words to say that will help Doug be receptive to your story.
>
> TVsnack.
>
> Rosyroi
> @}---;---;-----

PJmusic,

Maybe Like Easter you have been called for such a time has this.

We will be praying for you, to have wisdom and courage.

Erik

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 02:34 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Apr 23 2007, 11:13 PM)
>
> PJmusic,
>
> Maybe Like Easter you have been called for such a time has this.

> We will be praying for you, to have wisdom and courage.
>
> Erik

ou mean esther right?

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Apr 23 2007, 11:47 AM)
>
> Only in this past week have I even known that DB even is in Sacramento. Guess I don't keep up well. I am tempted to go and visit him, but not sure he would even see me. I would just want to say who I am, and where I am from (West Frankfort), even though I now reside in Sacramento, and then how the coverup of what Tommy has had an effect on me and the friends I grew up with. I would hope that he would at least listen, although I seriously doubt anything will come out of it. Although I don't really have anything to say on Danny, I do have the issue of Tommy and what had happened to my friends. I guess it's a more of trying to maybe personally enlighten based on my experience of what had happened.

think that is an awesome and brave thing to do. surrender and pray daily. not because that it's DB. but that ou would go tell this to anyone that you think would listen that might make a difference. i think you should e careful who you tell what you want to talk to him about. just be determinied to get in the door, saying it's ery personal. you might try talking to karen, his wife, if getting to him is too hard. but i say "you go girl." go o this thing. God bless you. !

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 24 2007, 11:14 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 24 2007, 02:34 AM)
>
> but i say "you go girl."

aybe you might NOT wanna say that. PJMusic is a guy.

orry, couldn't resist.

JMusic, if you feel like that is what you should do then go for it. You can show how this coverup has affected omeone like yourself, and what it has done to the rest of us as well.

Posted by: PJMusic Apr 24 2007, 12:20 PM

Thank u everyone for your support on this. I feel I have a very tough decision to make...

Posted by: Eirene Apr 24 2007, 01:09 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Apr 23 2007, 11:47 AM)
>
> Only in this past week have I even known that DB even is in Sacramento. Guess I don't keep up well. I am tempted to go and visit him, but not sure he would even see me. I would just want to say who I am, and where I am from (West Frankfort), even though I now reside in Sacramento, and then how the coverup of what Tommy has had an effect on me and the friends I grew up with. I would hope that he would at least listen, although I seriously doubt anything will come out of it. Although I don't really have anything to say on Danny, I do have the issue of Tommy and what had happened to my friends. I guess it's a more of trying to maybe personally enlighten based on my experience of what had happened.

And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 24 2007, 01:14 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 02:09 PM)
>
> And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.

PJMusic, this is simply another Danny apologist trying to hijack a thread.

Please ignore.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 24 2007, 01:27 PM

> QUOTE(PJMusic @ Apr 24 2007, 02:20 PM)
>
> Thank u everyone for your support on this. I feel I have a very tough decision to make...

I'd very strongly advise you to get local, face to face, counsel on this... not the directive kind, but the kind of counselor who talks with you through the reasons why you are thinking of this, what you think might be accomplished, what would happen to your inner self if you were not successful in what you want to accomplish. Personally, I see nothing that would be accomplished, since Doug is not the one who directly perpetrated the offenses toward you..... and he really has no direct control over the one who did. My thought would be that you should save any confrontation you do for a place where it might count for something... in a court of law for example... for these things have gone far beyond the person-to-person contact stage, and there is a good chance that there may be litigation from some of the abused. And you certainly do not need any of the surfacy type of interaction which Doug describes in his public presentations of how he interacts with others.

So I guess my bottom line thoughts would be for you to take time to think it through thoroughly... and... did you say you are IN Sacramento yourself? If so then I'd suggest that you visit his church and observe him in action. This might tell you a lot about what kind of reception you would get from him. Then you will have more information on which to base your decision. I know I have gone to meetings at times deliberately planning to meet the speaker afterwards... and sometimes I have done so, and established good relationships with them... and sometimes I have walked away without even introducing myself to them, having seen in their self-presentations.... or in their interactions with others.... that which warned me away.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 24 2007, 03:14 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 24 2007, 11:27 AM)
>
> I'd very strongly advise you to get local, face to face, counsel on this... not the directive kind, but the kind of counselor who talks with you through the reasons why you are thinking of this, what you think might be accomplished, what would happen to your inner self if you were not successful in what you want to accomplish. Personally, I see nothing that would be accomplished, since Doug is not the one who directly perpetrated the offenses toward you..... and he really has no direct control over the one who did. My thought would be that you should save any confrontation you do for a place where it might count for something... in a court of law for example... for these things have gone far beyond the person-to-person contact stage, and there is a good chance that there may be litigation from some of the abused. And you certainly do not need any of the surfacy type of interaction which Doug describes in his public presentations of how he interacts with others.
>
> So I guess my bottom line thoughts would be for you to take time to think it through thoroughly... and... did you say you are IN Sacramento yourself? If so then I'd suggest that you visit his church and observe him in action. This might tell you a lot about what kind of reception you would get from him. Then you will have more information on which to base your decision. I know I have gone to meetings at times deliberately planning to meet the speaker afterwards... and sometimes I have done so, and established good relationships with them... and sometimes I have walked away without even introducing myself to them, having seen in their self-presentations.... or in their interactions with others.... that which warned me away.

WB,

I think your words of caution are wise and I agree that PJ should think through what he hopes to accomplish and how he is going to proceed. Someone who can be a face-to-face soundingboard is also wise to consider. I especially agree with your second paragraph. This would be an excellent way to prepare and decide if he should attempt contact.

If the Lord is placing a burden on PJ's heart to reach out to Doug with his first-hand testimony, I believe He will clear the way and open the doors. PJ needs to be certain whether or not it is the wise thing to do. Your advice along all of our prayers will help to that end, as well.

Posted by: Whtz Happenin Apr 24 2007, 04:32 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 03:09 PM)
>
> And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.

Inside voice please. Bolding and CAPs just cause others to plug their ears.

> QUOTE
>
> "So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF?"

- This has everything to do with Doug and AF. This would be like marrying someone that has been accused of a crime and expecting to not be affected. Merger does not imply there will be two after the merger. When there is a confluence of two rivers, can you keep the water separate after the two rivers merge. If you merge onto a highway, can you drive without interacting with the traffic on the highway.

> QUOTE
>
> TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months.

Let's count - January, February, March, part of April - You say this like it has been a long time. Less than 4 months is a short span of time when we are talking about events that took place in the 80's. Oh, I forgot - all of this happened over thirty years ago according to DS.

We have already heard all of the excuses that you can come up with. And BTW, I think I will allow PJMusic, Duane and others tell their first-hand experiences without yelling at them.

PJMusic, Even considering whether to go and meet with Doug must show your friends in IL that you are still right there with them and will support them through it all. I am sure they are proud to call you a friend. Do not let others that do not have your best interest in mind influence your decisions on this or anything else.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 04:41 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 24 2007, 10:14 AM)
>
> Maybe you might NOT wanna say that. PJMusic is a guy.
>
> Sorry, couldn't resist.
>
> PJMusic, if you feel like that is what you should do then go for it. You can show how this coverup has affected someone like yourself, and what it has done to the rest of us as well.

OOOOPS! APOLOGIES PJ

Posted by: Fran Apr 24 2007, 05:36 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 01:09 PM)
>
> Eirene said: And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time.
>
> Eirene said: There were never any charges filed against TS. Fran said: Does this mean TS is innocent?
>
> Eirene said: No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and Fran said: This proves what?
>
> Eirene said: TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, Fran said: And this is relevant how?
>
> Eirene said: What would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Fran said: Now that is the $1,000,000.00 question!
>
> Eirene said: Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. Fran said: We don't mind your repetitivness.
>
> Eirene said: THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER. (Fran said: See below.)

You sound worried. Are you?

Posted by: princessdi Apr 24 2007, 05:55 PM

And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months.

So, you are another one that believes that what TS was doing was alright as long he didn't exatly get caught at it, the young men were over 17 and consenting adults, etc? No proven coverup doesn't mean there wasn't one, just one done all too well.

So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.
And you know this because you are Danny or Doug, presently on either board, GM? Or is this what you were told. Everyone was told that there were no plans, at present, for one to take over the other, but we also know they basically made the annoucement with no plan. Anything can happen. Like I said, you and the others are being fed information on the basis that you believe this is a ministry, and you believe in that ministry. This merger is a corporate move.I do, however, agree that htere is little that DB can do, besides maybe back out of the deal, since nothing seems to be concrete........... But also his response would tell something about his character

---

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 07:27 PM

WOW that is hard to read.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 24 2007, 05:36 PM) ☐
>
> You sound worried. Are you?

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 07:29 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 24 2007, 07:55 PM) ☐
>
> And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months.
>
> So, you are another one that believes that what TS was doing was alright as long he didn't exatly get caught at it, the young men were over 17 and consenting adults, etc? No proven coverup doesn't mean there wasn't one, just one done all too well.

The absence of one is not proof of the other.

The "3ABN investigators" (Not) will have their day in court. Until then, for your own sake, please try and keep an open mind.

Posted by: erik Apr 25 2007, 08:48 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 05:29 AM)
>
> The absence of one is not proof of the other.
>
> The "3ABN investigators" (Not) will have their day in court. Until then, for your own sake, please try and keep an open mind.

Aletheia,

IF you think that Going to Court will Clear TS, that is a wild joke His own words have hung him.

Also it sure is taking a long time to get to court, maybe the brilliant lawyers are not so sure of the case so they are waiting to see if the "guilty " will finally do something they can be nailed for.

Erik

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 09:17 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Apr 25 2007, 10:48 AM)
>
> Aletheia,
>
> IF you think that Going to Court will Clear TS, that is a wild joke His own words have hung him.
> Also it sure is taking a long time to get to court, maybe the brilliant lawyers are not so sure of the case so they are waiting to see if the "guilty " will finally do something they can be nailed for.
>
> Erik

Clarification. I was referring to Di claiming " No proven coverup doesn't mean there wasn't one, just one done all too well." when I said, the absense of one is not proof of the other.

The self proclaimed invstigators and reporters accusing 3ABN of engaging in a coverup, will have their day in court regarding their libel..

You can believe that or not, as you choose.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 25 2007, 09:32 AM

> QUOTE(erik @ Apr 25 2007, 08:48 AM)
>
> Aletheia,
>
> IF you think that Going to Court will Clear TS, that is a wild joke His own words have hung him.

> Also it sure is taking a long time to get to court, maybe the brilliant lawyers are not so sure of the case so they are waiting to see if the "guilty " will finally do something they can be nailed for.
>
> Erik

You obviously misunderstand. Going to court as about a lawsuit against others that have slandered, ied, accused, etc. The "guilty parties" are the ones in the hot seat in a case like this because they have to prove every allegation they have made, beyond a reasonable doubt, or be held accountable in a court of law. Suits are designed to address certain items and certain individuals. You can certainly bring more than one suit but usually, the causes and people are kept seperate. There are exceptions. n the most winning and clear cut case, it takes months for the attorneys to sludge through the court orders, injunctions, signatures and all the legal mumbo jumbo in general. Once the suit is filed and the papers are served it could drag out in court over years. Very hard on the person being sued and extremely costly for their defense.
Erik you seem a little naive on the court system and more than a little confused on what will be taking place. In this type of suit, 3abn will not have to defend themselves, they are bringing the suit. The ones who have defamed and made false allegations are the ones that will have to defend themselves and if everything that they have said, cannot be proven, they will find themselves in a world of trouble.

Posted by: runner4him Apr 25 2007, 10:00 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 09:32 AM)
>
> You obviously misunderstand. Going to court as about a lawsuit against others that have* slandered, lied, accused, etc. The "guilty parties" are the ones in the hot seat in a case like this because they have to prove every allegation they have made, beyond a reasonable doubt, or be held accountable in a court of law. Suits are designed to address certain items and certain individuals. You can certainly bring more than one suit but usually, the causes and people are kept seperate. There are exceptions. In the most winning and clear cut case, it takes months for the attorneys to sludge through the court orders, injunctions, signatures and all the legal mumbo jumbo in general. Once the suit is filed and the papers are served it could drag out in court over years. Very hard on the person being sued and extremely costly for their defense.
> Erik you seem a little naive on the court system and more than a little confused on what will be taking place. In this type of suit, 3abn will not have to defend themselves, they are bringing the suit. The ones who have defamed and made false allegations are the ones that will have to defend themselves and if everything that they have said, cannot be proven, they will find themselves in a world of trouble.

Before I begin....your font is very hard on the eyes...could you change it please?

Now it is a world of trouble...first a boat load of trouble and now a world of trouble?

3ABN and those who are guilty of any wrong doing will have to defend themselves in the most important court of all.... not only the one here in this world if they sue. One favorite Bible text is "your sin will find you out"....we cannot escape His open book of all of our doings whether they be good or for evil. When and if DS and his crew sue then let the truth be known for it surely will be out there for all to see ....even the media. Then let our worldly courtsystem determine legally what is to be done but we should all be prepared for the eal and final judgement that is to come. Those who have been involved in standing up for truth and have had the courage to post it all on www.save3ABN for all of us to see have done a great thing for the little circles of concerned church members who usually have no voice. I say we all should be willing to stand up and stop the sweeping stuff under the rug. Is it not true....The truth shall make us FREE! Let us not live in ear!

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 10:08 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 11:32 AM)
>
> Erik you seem a little naive on the court system and more than a little confused on what will be taking place. In this type of suit, 3abn will not have to defend themselves, they are bringing the suit. The ones who have defamed and made false allegations are the ones that will have to defend themselves and if everything that they have said, cannot be proven, they will find themselves in a world of trouble.

You are the one who is naive vis a vis the court system... the plaintiff has the burden of proof in a civil case, not the defendant. The only difference between civil and criminal cases is that the height of the bar is lower in civil cases; there is a "preponderance of the evidence standard" versus a "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard and if there is a jury trial, the vote by the jury needs not be unanimous... but the defendant is not considered guilty and required to prove himself otherwise in any american court.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 10:14 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 11:08 AM)
>
> You are the one who is naive vis a vis the court system... the plaintiff has the burden of proof in a civil case, not the defendant. The only difference between civil and criminal cases is that the height of the bar is lower in civil cases; there is a "preponderance of the evidence standard" versus a "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard and if there is a jury trial, the vote by the jury needs not be unanimous... but the defendant is not considered guilty and required to prove himself otherwise in any american court.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Mr. J, please don't muddle up this issue with facts. It detracts from the fear and intimidation Eirene has been sent here to instill.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 10:24 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 12:08 PM)
>
> You are the one who is naive vis a vis the court system... the plaintiff has the burden of proof in a civil case, not the defendant. The only difference between civil and criminal cases is that the height of the bar is lower in civil cases; there is a "preponderance of the evidence standard" versus a "beyond a reasonable doubt" standard and if there is a jury trial, the vote by the jury needs not be unanimous... but the defendant is not considered guilty and required to prove himself otherwise in any american court.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Just making claims again and again doesn't establish them as truth.

> QUOTE
>
> LIBEL AND SLANDER occur when a person or entity communicates false information that damages the reputation of another person or entity. Slander occurs when the false and defamatory communication is spoken and heard. Libel occurs when the false and defamatory communication is written and seen. The laws governing libel and slander, which are collectively known as DEFAMATION, are identical.
>
> A plaintiff who wishes to sue an individual or entity for libel or slander has the burden of proving four claims to a court: First, the plaintiff must show that the DEFENDANT communicated a defamatory statement. Second, the plaintiff must show that the statement was published or communicated to at least one other person besides the plaintiff. Third, the plaintiff must show that the communication was about the plaintiff and that another party receiving the communication could identify the plaintiff as the subject of the defamatory message. Fourth, the plaintiff must show that the communication injured the plaintiff's reputation.
>
> There are four general defenses to slander and libel.
>
> Truth is an absolute defense.
>
> Consent by the plaintiff for the publication of the defamatory statement is a defense.
>
> Accidental publication of the statement is a defense.
>
> Finally, the statements of certain defendants in certain circumstances, such as lawyers, judges, jurors, and witnesses, are protected from defamation for PUBLIC POLICY reasons. This type of protection is known as privilege.
>
> Source: Encyclopedia of Everyday Law

Seems to me, merely citing the save 3abn website or even this forum's posts should satisfy the Plaintiffs claims...

But in any case as Danny Shelton already published during the interview on Club Adventist, in answer to one oof the questions, it's already been filed so they have already met their burden with the court.

Obviously none here can use the last 3 defenses, so that leaves you all trying to prove all your claims, and accusations to be absolute truth...

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 10:34 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 12:24 PM)
>
> Just making claims again and again doesn't establish them as truth.
> Merely citing the save 3abn website or even this forum's posts should satisfy the Plaintiffs claims...
> Obviously none here can use the last 3 defenses, so that leaves you all trying to prove all your claims, and accusations to be absolute truth...

You need to re-take reading comprehension, Cindy...

> QUOTE

> A plaintiff who wishes to sue an individual or entity for libel or slander has the burden of proving four claims to a court: First, the plaintiff must show that the DEFENDANT communicated a defamatory statement. Second, the plaintiff must show that the statement was published or communicated to at least one other person besides the plaintiff. Third, the plaintiff must show that the communication was about the plaintiff and that another party receiving the communication could identify the plaintiff as the subject of the defamatory message. Fourth, the plaintiff must show that the communication injured the plaintiff's reputation.

Notice how the burden of proof is on the plaintiff and not the defendant... The defendant does not have to show a thing if he chooses not to...

You're gonna have to do better than this, Cindy.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 10:38 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 11:34 AM)
>
> You need to re-take reading comprehension, Cindy...
> Notice how the burden of proof is on the plaintiff and not the defendant... The defendant does not have to show a thing if he chooses not to...
>
> You're gonna have to do better than this, Cindy.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

Does anyone else sense that the desperation factor seems to have been ratcheted up a few notches since the merger ploy isn't scaring anyone away from questioning alleged wrongdoings?

Posted by: LaurenceD Apr 25 2007, 10:40 AM

You gotta remember awesumtenor, this is the same group that doesn't have a clue what 3abn was doing wrong when they lost the case against the state of Illinois. And they still don't.

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 10:42 AM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Apr 25 2007, 12:38 PM)
>
> Does anyone else sense that the desperation factor seems to have been ratcheted up a few notches since the merger ploy isn't scaring anyone away from questioning alleged wrongdoings?

Duane, please try to get a grip. The merge isn't about you accusers, in any way, shape, or form..

It's about becoming more effective in spreading the 3 angls messages, which is going on despite you all.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 10:44 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 10:42 AM) ☐
>
> Duane, please try to get a grip. The merge isn't about you accusers.
>
> It's aboooout spreading the gospel, which is going on despite you all.

Romans 16:17-18

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Apr 25 2007, 01:38 PM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 02:09 PM) ☐
>
> And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.

I didn't respond further the first time because I was too upset.

You know NOTHING about the TS situation. PJMusic has every right to talk to DB about this. He was being targeted as a victim. That makes it his business.

I am sick of hearing about no charges being filed. That proves NOTHING.

Tommy admitted what he did in his email to me. Case closed.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 03:56 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 09:42 AM) ☐
>
> Duane, please try to get a grip. The merge isn't about you accusers, in any way, shape, or form..
>
> It's about becoming more effective in spreading the 3 angls messages, which is going on despite you all.

Cindy,
That is one of the biggest obstacles to the success of this merger, IMO. The very fact that Duane - who TS, in his 2005 email confession, admitted to abusing - and others who have made claims of abuse or made signed statements that they observed signs of abuse and have allowed their testimonies to be made public yet are being ignored by both leading figures in these two ministries by the words of their representative on this and other forums. That Doug is represented as not even caring about checking out these claims because he believes them all to be false is of great concern to me and should be of concern to all who call themselves followers of Christ, no matter what "side" they support.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 25 2007, 04:09 PM

Wrong. If Danny is suing someone for libel(sp) or defamation of character, etc. It is for him to prove that they are lying. Not for them to prove that they are telling the truth. The defendants can present what they have, but it is for Danny to refute it, through evidence, not just his word. Question is does Danny really want to truth out about these situations? That is the only way it will be resolved.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 07:32 AM)
>
> You obviously misunderstand. Going to court as about a lawsuit against others that have slandered, lied, accused, etc. The "guilty parties" are the ones in the hot seat in a case like this because they have to prove every allegation they have made, beyond a reasonable doubt, or be held accountable in a court of law. Suits are designed to address certain items and certain individuals. You can certainly bring more than one suit but usually, the causes and people are kept seperate. There are exceptions. In the most winning and clear cut case, it takes months for the attorneys to sludge through the court orders, injunctions, signatures and all the legal mumbo jumbo in general. Once the suit is filed and the papers are served it could drag out in court over years. Very hard on the person being sued and extremely costly for their defense.
> Erik you seem a little naive on the court system and more than a little confused on what will be taking place. In this type of suit, 3abn will not have to defend themselves, they are bringing the suit. The ones who have defamed and made false allegations are the ones that will have to defend themselves and if everything that they have said, cannot be proven, they will find themselves in a world of trouble.

Posted by: SoulEspresso Apr 27 2007, 12:48 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 09:24 AM)
>
> Just making claims again and again doesn't establish them as truth.
> Seems to me, merely citing the save 3abn website or even this forum's posts should satisfy the Plaintiffs claims...

But since none of us have been served, that ought to tell you something about proving that these sites are posting falsehoods.

Perhaps some more explanation would help you. If save3abn.com is posting lies, and Danny can show that they're lies, they would have already been sued. IMO. If they're posting the truth, Danny and his platoon of lawyers will have to find a way to discredit the truth.

No lawsuits. The best they could do was send you and Eirene to post on BlackSDA.

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 24 2007, 12:09 PM)
>
> And what is it you think Doug could or would do? I will go through this one more time. There were never any charges filed against TS. No coverup at 3abn ever even came close to being proven, and TS is no longer there and hasn't been for months. So, what would any of this have to do with Doug and AF? Should I even have to add, again, that Doug has been clear that Danny will continue to run 3abn and Doug will continue to run amazing facts. THERE ARE SAFEGUARDS IN PLACE TO ENSURE THAT ONE MINISTRY CAN'T TAKE OVER THE OTHER.

Eirene, shame on you.

Do you have firsthand experience with Tommy? PJ and Duane do.

Shame. On. You.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Fare Well 3abn?

Posted by: Johann Apr 19 2007, 04:27 AM

Just one week following Linda Shelton firing of Atty Brian Drew and retaining new and very aggressive Counsel to represent her interests relating to the division of marital assets, Danny Lee Shelton boarded the Cessna Citation III twin jet and headed west arriving at McClellan Airfield in Central Sacramento, California at noontime; In time to join Doug Batchelor and the officers and directors of Amazing Facts for lunch. The North American Division Spanish Coordinator who serves as Chairman of the Board of Amazing Facts, is is reportedly directing final negotiations in Sacramento, California.

Following the meeting, Staffers, past and present, from Amazing Facts began to leak quietly that 3ABN had been taken over by Amazing Facts. The terms and conditions have not been disclosed and everyone is waiting with baited breathe for the 3ABN Live for Thursday, April 19, 2007. It is anticipated that there will be a major announcement at that time, perhaps confirming the takeover by Amazing Facts of the reportedly severely wounded media giant.

The co-founders of 3ABN, Danny Lee Shelton, President, and Linda Sue Shelton, Vice President and Secretary, worked together for nearly twenty years, the entire time of their marriage together, to build 3ABN from a dream into a world-wide televangelist supporting ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Many have argued that it was, in fact, the media face of the Seventh-day Adventist Church for many years. Suddenly, in 2004, Danny Lee Shelton allegedly lead a three month campaign, privately and publicly, to eliminate Linda Sue Shelton from her role as Vice President and as Director of Production at 3ABN. She was fired in May of 2004, the record seems to reveal as many as three different times in one of the worst bunglings in SDA employment history. In June of the same year, just two weeks after the third firing, Danny Lee Shelton filed divorce papers in Guam to end the marriage to the Vice President he clearly wanted to get rid of. His public relationship with Brandy began shortly after the divorce when Brandy took up residence on the campus as early as July, 2004 and became permanently employed in October, 2004.

Rumors from various sources claim that 3ABN has been running an operating deficit of nearly $3.0 Million during the first quarter of 2007. This large hole developed following disclosure of certain unacceptable practices, certain staffing concerns and the alleged mis-management of 3ABN under Danny Lee Sheltons administration following the elimination of Linda Shelton in May of 2004. Some claim the downward spiral began in earnest with the remarriage of Danny Lee Shelton to his third wife, 20 years younger, in March of 2006. Since most Seventh-day Adventists believe there has never been a biblical basis for the Danny Lee Shelton divorce from Linda Shelton in June of 2004, the remarriage to Brandy is viewed by most contributors as adultery under the biblical standard. Contributions have been rumored to have substantially declined since December of 2006 as disclosures by both sides became public debate on forums and e-mail campaigns.

Linda Shelton also recently demanded that 3ABN produce and make available for authentication the evidence that was purportedly the basis for her being caste aside in 2004 and lead to Danny Lee Shelton divorcing her and remarrying Brandy. Linda has repeatedly denied any wrongdoing, however, officers and directors of 3ABN have utilized the bully pulpit of 3ABN to regularly assert that Linda had conducted an inappropriate telephone relationship with a Dr in Norway that was treating her son from a prior marriage, Nathan Moore. They have further variously claimed that she had committed what was variously defined as a spiritual adultery against Danny Lee Shelton. This reporter reviewed and tested many of the allegations leveled by Danny Lee Shelton in a myriad of e-mails and came to the conclusion after a review of various statements that the alleged evidence is unlikely to constitute any provable case against Linda Shelton. This reporter actively participated in an effort to get an ASI panel to hear the case and review the evidence. When the panel failed, a website was constructed to make the real evidence available for contributors referred to as the stockholders in the pews to look for themselves and self-determine where they felt the evidence really pointed. Much of this is documented at www.Save3ABN.com.

Danny and the Chairman of the Board have repeatedly warned of pending litigation against those responsible for having exposed various issues relating to violations of SDA Standards as well as alleged financial Exigency issues, including non-disclosure of certain conflicts within the records of 3ABN and some of its officers. Danny and the Chairman are reported to have flown to Minnesota on March 15, 2007 and there was an assumption that litigation would be forthcoming shortly after that visit since this reporter and AToday received warning letters from counsel in Minnesota, closely aligned over the years with Garwin McNeilus, a Danny supporter and the alleged contractor with a detective agency that spent time spying on Linda Sue Shelton in 2004. Danny is alleged to have claimed that Mr McNeilus is even paying for Danny's attorney.

While rumors of negotiations and that Doug Batchelor was actively wanting a media platform to expand the Amazing Facts, Inc Ministry have been active for the entire six months of our investigative reporting, the sudden breakthrough and conclusion was clearly unanticipated by anyone this reporter spoke to at this time.

The sudden conclusion to negotiations came just days after Linda Shelton hired new counsel with clear instructions that he was to conduct vigorous litigation and discovery to determine just where the assets from the marriage were and what belonged to whom. Several recent allegations have arisen regarding a host of financial non-disclosures by respondent, Danny Lee Shelton, suggesting that he had actively undertaken steps to hide or deliberately mis-state income, assets and royalties arising from 3ABN business activities, including sales of books, records, cd's and dvd's and other assets. It is alleged that in several cases Danny Lee Shelton would author or co-author books, a publisher would produce several hundred thousand at a time and these would actually be sold to 3ABN and inventoried, purportedly netting instant royalties to Danny Lee Shelton. An inspection of the 990's filed with the Internal Revenue Service appears to have faile d to disclose any such arrangements, despite the fact it is a clear conflict to have an officer or employee have such a business arrangement without disclosure under IRS Rules for Non-profit entities. In fact, 3ABN employees are required to sign a conflict of interest statement annually.

Did the officers and directors not feel these rules applied to Danny Lee Shelton???

According to legal sources, these allegations and others relating to real estate transactions and allegedly secret arrangement by the President to compensate certain family members and a fiance' without the full knowledge of the 3ABN Board may have clearly jeopardized the 501-c-3 status of 3ABN, already the subject of a case under appeal in the State of Illinois where an administrative Law Judge clearly determined that most of the 3ABN campus would not be tax exempt from real estate taxes in Franklin County.

At press time, we have not had a chance to get an official statement from Amazing Facts, Inc officers or Directors, and a number of contacts that this reporter had known within the Amazing Facts management team have recently left Amazing facts for various reasons.

Amazing Facts, Inc is commonly considered to be an independent supporting ministry of the SDA Church but insiders have made it clear that Amazing Facts is in fact a ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. This allegation is supported by the following notice on the AmazingFact.org website which this reporter has posted below:

{News Release: 4/17/2007 Employment Opportunities

All applicants must be cleared or approved to work in the United States.

Although Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The employment practices reflect religious preferences in harmony with the U.S. Constitution and controlling law, and it therefore hires only Seventh-day Adventist Church members in good standing.

Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational employees. Employee transfers from other NAD denominational institutions are seamlessly accomplished.}

It would appear that rather belatedly, Elder Folkenburgs desire to see 3ABN a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church is about to become a reality. But how will the new management view the need to compensate the various alleged victims of the Shelton Administration?

Stay Tuned!!!

Gailon Arthur Joy

AUReporter

Save3ABN.com

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 05:33 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 19 2007, 04:27 AM)
>
> Just one week following Linda Shelton firing of Atty Brian Drew and retaining new and very aggressive Counsel to represent her interests relating to the division of marital assets, Danny Lee Shelton boarded the Cessna Citation III twin jet and headed west arriving at McClellan Airfield in Central Sacramento, California at noontime; In time to join Doug Batchelor and the officers and directors of Amazing Facts for lunch. The North American Division Spanish Coordinator who serves as Chairman of the Board of Amazing Facts, is is reportedly directing final negotiations in Sacramento, California.
>
> Following the meeting, Staffers, past and present, from Amazing Facts began to leak quietly that 3ABN had been taken over by Amazing Facts. The terms and conditions have not been disclosed and everyone is waiting with baited breathe for the 3ABN Live for Thursday, April 19, 2007. It is anticipated that there will be a major announcement at that time, perhaps confirming the takeover by Amazing Facts of the reportedly severely wounded media giant.

The co-founders of 3ABN, Danny Lee Shelton, President, and Linda Sue Shelton, Vice President and Secretary, worked together for nearly twenty years, the entire time of their marriage together, to build 3ABN from a dream into a world-wide televangelist supporting ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Many have argued that it was, in fact, the media face of the Seventh-day Adventist Church for many years. Suddenly, in 2004, Danny Lee Shelton allegedly lead a three month campaign, privately and publicly, to eliminate Linda Sue Shelton from her role as Vice President and as Director of Production at 3ABN. She was fired in May of 2004, the record seems to reveal as many as three different times in one of the worst bunglings in SDA employment history. In June of the same year, just two weeks after the third firing, Danny Lee Shelton filed divorce papers in Guam to end the marriage to the Vice President he clearly wanted to get rid of. His public relationship with Brandy began shortly after the divorce when Brandy took up residence on the campus as early as July, 2004 and became permanently employed in October, 2004.

Rumors from various sources claim that 3ABN has been running an operating deficit of nearly $3.0 Million during the first quarter of 2007. This large hole developed following disclosure of certain unacceptable practices, certain staffing concerns and the alleged mis-management of 3ABN under Danny Lee Sheltons administration following the elimination of Linda Shelton in May of 2004. Some claim the downward spiral began in earnest with the remarriage of Danny Lee Shelton to his third wife, 20 years younger, in March of 2006. Since most Seventh-day Adventists believe there has never been a biblical basis for the Danny Lee Shelton divorce from Linda Shelton in June of 2004, the remarriage to Brandy is viewed by most contributors as adultery under the biblical standard. Contributions have been rumored to have substantially declined since December of 2006 as disclosures by both sides became public debate on forums and e-mail campaigns.

Linda Shelton also recently demanded that 3ABN produce and make available for authentication the evidence that was purportedly the basis for her being caste aside in 2004 and lead to Danny Lee Shelton divorcing her and remarrying Brandy. Linda has repeatedly denied any wrongdoing, however, officers and directors of 3ABN have utilized the bully pulpit of 3ABN to regularly assert that Linda had conducted an inappropriate telephone relationship with a Dr in Norway that was treating her son from a prior marriage, Nathan Moore. They have further variously claimed that she had committed what was variously defined as a spiritual adultery against Danny Lee Shelton. This reporter reviewed and tested many of the allegations leveled by Danny Lee Shelton in a myriad of e-mails and came to the conclusion after a review of various statements that the alleged evidence is unlikely to constitute any provable case against Linda Shelton. This reporter actively participated in an effort to get an ASI panel to hear the case and review the evidence. When the panel failed, a website was constructed to make the real evidence available for contributors referred to as the stockholders in the pews to look for themselves and self-determine where they felt the evidence really pointed. Much of this is documented at www.Save3ABN.com.

Danny and the Chairman of the Board have repeatedly warned of pending litigation against those responsible for having exposed various issues relating to violations of SDA Standards as well as alleged financial Exigency issues, including non-disclosure of certain conflicts within the records of 3ABN and some of its officers. Danny and the Chairman are reported to have flown to Minnesota on March 15, 2007 and there was an assumption that litigation would be forthcoming shortly after that visit since this reporter and AToday received warning letters from counsel in Minnesota, closely aligned over the years with Garwin McNeilus, a Danny supporter and the alleged contractor with a detective agency that spent time spying on Linda Sue Shelton in 2004. Danny is alleged to have claimed that Mr McNeilus is even paying for Danny's attorney.

While rumors of negotiations and that Doug Batchelor was actively wanting a media platform to expand the Amazing Facts, Inc Ministry have been active for the entire six months of our investigative reporting, the sudden breakthrough and conclusion was clearly unanticipated by anyone this reporter spoke to at this time.

The sudden conclusion to negotiations came just days after Linda Shelton hired new counsel with clear instructions that he was to conduct vigorous litigation and discovery to determine just where the assets from the marriage were and what belonged to whom. Several recent allegations have arisen regarding a host of financial non-disclosures by respondent, Danny Lee Shelton, suggesting that he had actively undertaken steps to hide or deliberately mis-state income, assets and royalties arising from 3ABN business activities, including sales of books, records, cd's and dvd's and other assets. It is alleged that in several cases Danny Lee Shelton would author or co-author books, a publisher would produce several hundred thousand at a time and these would actually be sold to 3ABN and inventoried, purportedly netting instant royalties to Danny Lee Shelton. An inspection of the 990's filed with the Internal Revenue Service appears to have faile d to disclose any such arrangements, despite the fact it is a clear conflict to have an officer or employee have such a business arrangement without disclosure under IRS Rules for Non-profit entities. In fact, 3ABN employees are required to sign a conflict of interest statement annually.

Did the officers and directors not feel these rules applied to Danny Lee Shelton???

According to legal sources, these allegations and others relating to real estate transactions and allegedly secret arrangement by the President to compensate certain family members and a fiance' without the full knowledge of the 3ABN Board may have clearly jeopardized the 501-c-3 status of 3ABN, already the subject of a case under appeal in the State of Illinois where an administrative Law Judge clearly determined that most of the 3ABN campus would not be tax exempt from real estate taxes in Franklin County.

At press time, we have not had a chance to get an official statement from Amazing Facts, Inc officers or Directors, and a number of contacts that this reporter had known within the Amazing Facts management team have recently left Amazing facts for various reasons.

Amazing Facts, Inc is commonly considered to be an independent supporting ministry of the SDA Church but insiders have made it clear that Amazing Facts is in fact a ministry of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. This allegation is supported by the following notice on the AmazingFact.org website which this reporter has posted below:

{News Release: 4/17/2007 Employment Opportunities

All applicants must be cleared or approved to work in the United States.

Although Amazing Facts, Inc. is an equal opportunity employer that does not discriminate in its employment policies and practices on the basis of race, national origin, gender, color, age, marital status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law, it is a religious association and a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. The employment practices reflect religious preferences in harmony with the U.S. Constitution and controlling law, and it therefore hires only Seventh-day Adventist Church members in good standing.

Employees of Amazing Facts are extended the same benefit package as NAD denominational employees. Employee transfers from other NAD denominational institutions are seamlessly accomplished.}

It would appear that rather belatedly, Elder Folkenburgs desire to see 3ABN a part of the Seventh-day Adventist Church is about to become a reality. But how will the new management view the need to compensate the various alleged victims of the Shelton Administration?

Stay Tuned!!!

> Gailon Arthur Joy
>
> AUReporter
>
> Save3ABN.com

'es, this has been circulated.

\t this point in time, I consider it to be speculative.

intend to attempt to make some telephone calls today in an attempt to find out if it is true. Regardless of vhat I learn, I will report back to you on what I find.

Posted by: Johann Apr 19 2007, 06:49 AM

> QUOTE(Observer @ Apr 19 2007, 01:33 PM) ☐
>
> Yes, this has been circulated.
>
> At this point in time, I consider it to be speculative.
>
> I intend to attempt to make some telephone calls today in an attempt to find out if it is true. Regardless of what I learn, I will report back to you on what I find.

t will be even more interesting to see the reactions from 3ABN and/or AmazingFacts. those of you who can ake in 3ABN and have the opportunity should make a recording of the program tonight. It will be interesting o see if Danny Shelton is back in Thomsonville, or if he is still in Sacramento.

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 07:44 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 19 2007, 05:49 AM) ☐
>
> It will be even more interesting to see the reactions from 3ABN and/or AmazingFacts. those of you who can take in 3ABN and have the opportunity should make a recording of the program tonight. It will be interesting to see if Danny Shelton is back in Thomsonville, or if he is still in Sacramento.

\s the mornning wears on, I will be making telephone calls. We shall se.

Posted by: watchbird Apr 19 2007, 08:17 AM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Apr 19 2007, 08:49 AM) ☐

> It will be even more interesting to see the reactions from 3ABN and/or AmazingFacts. those of you who can take in 3ABN and have the opportunity should make a recording of the program tonight. It will be interesting to see if Danny Shelton is back in Thomsonville, or if he is still in Sacramento.

Vhat I am interested in knowing is what this would mean as far as "cleaning up the mess" in 3abn. IMO,)oug Batchelor has been so much a part of the "mess" that I can't see how his taking over would bring any eeling of confidence that the wrongs would be righted, that the Shelton family and other directors who have)een a part of the "mess" would be separated from 3abn... or that victims of Danny's harrassment in the past vould feel any security.

\nd also... what does it mean as for its connections with the denomination? In spite of what the letter says... \mazing Facts is considered an independent ministry... just as 3abn is. So how would a "takeover" by \mazing Facts affect the status and connection between the official "church" and the ministry?

.ots of questions this raises...... ....

\nd lots of waiting to see..... TVsnack .....

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 09:20 AM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 07:17 AM) ☐

> What I am interested in knowing is what this would mean as far as "cleaning up the mess" in 3abn. IMO, Doug Batchelor has been so much a part of the "mess" that I can't see how his taking over would bring any feeling of confidence that the wrongs would be righted, that the Shelton family and other directors who have been a part of the "mess" would be separated from 3abn... or that victims of Danny's harrassment in the past would feel any security.
>
> And also... what does it mean as for its connections with the denomination? In spite of what the letter says... Amazing Facts is considered an independent ministry... just as 3abn is. So how would a "takeover" by Amazing Facts affect the status and connection between the official "church" and the ministry?
>
> Lots of questions this raises...... ....
>
> And lots of waiting to see..... TVsnack .....

'he following has been posted on MSDAOL, this morning, by a person who appars to be kknowledgeable of his situation:

quote] Amazing Facts and 3abn are UNITING as one independent ministry NOT under the General :onference. One is not "taking over" the other. They are uniting together.

)anny is not leaving 3abn.

'his uniting has nothing to do with the attacks by Mr. Joy and company on Danny Shelton. And this has been in the making for months now. This did not just happen after Linda acquired her new lawyer. Mr. Joy needs to get his facts straight before he posts his spin on the subject.

Watch 3abn LIVE tonight and you will see Danny Shelton and Doug Batchelor announcing this. [/qote]

I am still attempting to get through on some telephone calls.

Posted by: inga Apr 19 2007, 09:27 AM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 09:17 AM)
>
> What I am interested in knowing is what this would mean as far as "cleaning up the mess" in 3abn. IMO, Doug Batchelor has been so much a part of the "mess"

That's my concern as well.

It is possible that Amazing Facts could "take over" 3ABN and business continues more or less as usual with Danny continuing to draw his salary but having just a little less control -- considering how Doug Batchelor has propped up Danny as his "good friend" so far.

We shall have to wait and see ...

Posted by: Observer Apr 19 2007, 10:10 AM

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 19 2007, 09:27 AM)
>
> That's my concern as well.
>
> It is possible that Amazing Facts could "take over" 3ABN and business continues more or less as usual with Danny continuing to draw his salary but having just a little less control -- considering how Doug Batchelor has propped up Danny as his "good friend" so far.
>
> We shall have to wait and see ...

I have news. See the new thread that I am starting.

Posted by: mozart Apr 19 2007, 03:18 PM

and Doug Batchelor being best buds with John L. makes me hate to think of losing another person i enjoyed and admired. is this another going into the fire, to fuel the smokescreen of misdeeds? at first i thought this might be good news. now i'm not so sure. we must pray about this.

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 19 2007, 08:27 AM)
>
> That's my concern as well.
>
> It is possible that Amazing Facts could "take over" 3ABN and business continues more or less as usual with Danny continuing to draw his salary but having just a little less control -- considering how Doug Batchelor has propped up Danny as his "good friend" so far.

> We shall have to wait and see ...

Posted by: Johann Apr 19 2007, 03:24 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 19 2007, 11:18 PM)
>
> and Doug Batchelor being best buds with John L. makes me hate to think of losing another person i enjoyed and admired. is this another going into the fire, to fuel the smokescreen of misdeeds? at first i thought this might be good news. now i'm not so sure. we must pray about this.

Ve should all join you in this prayer, Mozart.

Posted by: Snoopy Apr 19 2007, 03:37 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 19 2007, 04:18 PM)
>
> and Doug Batchelor being best buds with John L. makes me hate to think of losing another person i enjoyed and admired. is this another going into the fire, to fuel the smokescreen of misdeeds? at first i thought this might be good news. now i'm not so sure. we must pray about this.

tend to agree, Mozart. I can't help but wonder if this is all just a really big broom sweeping a really big mess nder a really big rug...

hope I am wrong...

Posted by: watchbird Apr 19 2007, 03:40 PM

> QUOTE(Snoopy @ Apr 19 2007, 05:37 PM)
>
> I tend to agree, Mozart. I can't help but wonder if this is all just a really big broom sweeping a really big mess under a really big rug...
>
> I hope I am wrong...

ut you have a very good track record for being right.

Posted by: msraccoon Apr 19 2007, 09:28 PM

So what was that supposedly great 3ABN live all about? I heard the whole thing and I am still puzzled.

Didn't hear about any name change.
Didn't hear that Batchelor would be physically at 3ABN.
DS didn't step down.
Didn't hear any reason for a merger.
Didn't hear any plans other than a new board (probably merged too).
DID hear a plea for much money needed, indeed millions.
DID hear that the SDA conference was 100% behind them.
So......what was it, a well-planned plot?

msraccoon

Posted by: lookin4truth Apr 19 2007, 09:39 PM

> QUOTE
>
> So what was that supposedly great 3ABN live all about? I heard the whole thing and I am still puzzled.

I heard Mollie make it very clear that she was not planning on going anywhere.

As they went around the group, and let them tell how they had visions of the merger, and how the Lord was directing all of this, and after Danny talked about the board members unselfishly saying they would step aside, if necessary for the ministry, she took her time telling how she was going to keep doing her job.

I wonder if she is feeling a little insecure.

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 19 2007, 09:58 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Apr 19 2007, 07:28 PM)
>
> So what was that supposedly great 3ABN live all about? I heard the whole thing and I am still puzzled.
>
> Didn't hear about any name change.
> Didn't hear that Batchelor would be physically at 3ABN.
> DS didn't step down.
> Didn't hear any reason for a merger.
> Didn't hear any plans other than a new board (probably merged too).
> DID hear a plea for much money needed, indeed millions.
> DID hear that the SDA conference was 100% behind them.
> So......what was it, a well-planned plot?
>
> msraccoon

Yep... lottsa good questions.
Yep .... did hear Danny requesting millions from supporters... (need millions and millions). The plea is probably still falling on deaf ears...

Yep... was a let down...

Rosyroi

Posted by: no_cults Apr 19 2007, 11:22 PM

> QUOTE(msraccoon @ Apr 19 2007, 10:28 PM)
>
> So what was that supposedly great 3ABN live all about? I heard the whole thing and I am still puzzled.
>
> Didn't hear about any name change.
> Didn't hear that Batchelor would be physically at 3ABN.
> DS didn't step down.
> Didn't hear any reason for a merger.
> Didn't hear any plans other than a new board (probably merged too).
> DID hear a plea for much money needed, indeed millions.
> DID hear that the SDA conference was 100% behind them.
> So......what was it, a well-planned plot?
>
> msraccoon

One has to wonder if this is a mechanism to cool things down a bit.
Also.... since Linda has retained more agressive legal counsel, could this be a maneuver to keep her from getting a larger settlement?

Another thing.... I also am wondering if another "bombshell" may be looming. Sheer speculation, but this merger/takover of 3abn may be tied to another event (as if there havn't been enough).
If things aren't going that great in the DS household (domestically), well --- there really wouldn't be too many other "options", would there? Justa wondering.... not hoping for this at all -- but for those who have read this forum and understand the real DS --- it really ain't too far a stretch to imagine that Brandy may be a little dissalussioned with all that she has seen. She has had the time to fig-some things out -- no? How long is that trip they're going on?
Ok, please forgive me Jesus.

Posted by: Snoopy Apr 19 2007, 11:28 PM

> QUOTE(watchbird @ Apr 19 2007, 04:40 PM)
>
> But you have a very good track record for being right.

Why, thank you, ma'am...!! Only by the grace of God do I have any discernment whatsoever...

Posted by: Fran Apr 19 2007, 11:49 PM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 19 2007, 04:18 PM)
>
> and Doug Batchelor being best buds with John L. makes me hate to think of losing another person i enjoyed and admired. is this another going into the fire, to fuel the smokescreen of misdeeds? at first i thought this might be good news. now i'm not so sure. we must pray about this.

Hey Mozart;

Add me to your prayers please. There is a saying that says, "If you fall into a pit of vipers, you will eventually get bitten."

It is true. We should stay away from snakes, right. Sometimes fruit is rotten to the core. All that happens is the new fruit will get infected and rot too.

I believe Danny is on cloud nine tonight. This is not reality, but I have never accused Danny of living in reality, I don't think.

What worries me is that Doug thinks he can take on Danny! No go. Danny will never let go. May Doug prove me wrong and deal with this in God's way. I am praying to that end since there is nothing else to do.

Posted by: mozart Apr 20 2007, 12:01 AM not at all. i don't think mollie is insecure at all. danny may have stepped down as president but he didn't say anything about giving up his position as CEO and he gave mollie all authority over day to day activities. i don't think danny will ever let anyone get in her way. not even doug b. she's like his mother bear, u know. and i must say, "shelly quinn is the tallest jockey i've ever seen in my life! m-m-m-m-m shameless.

> QUOTE(lookin4truth @ Apr 19 2007, 08:39 PM)
>
> I heard Mollie make it very clear that she was not planning on going anywhere.
>
> As they went around the group, and let them tell how they had visions of the merger, and how the Lord was directing all of this, and after Danny talked about the board members unselfishly saying they would step aside, if necessary for the ministry, she took her time telling how she was going to keep doing her job.
>
> I wonder if she is feeling a little insecure.

Posted by: no_cults Apr 20 2007, 07:21 AM

> QUOTE(mozart @ Apr 20 2007, 01:01 AM)
>
> not at all. i don't think mollie is insecure at all. danny may have stepped down as president but he didn't say anything about giving up his position as CEO and he gave mollie all authority over day to day activities. i don't think danny will ever let anyone get in her way. not even doug b. she's like his mother bear, u know. and i must say, "shelly quinn is the tallest jockey i've ever seen in my life! m-m-m-m-m > shameless.

would be very surprised if DS did not hold out for at least 1 yr contracts on his key )eople and certain other faces on 2ABN. No doubt there is still much uncertainty, )ut I do not believe that DB would have agreed to this w/o having pretty much ull control.... JMO. As far as CEO --- that will be for the "new board" to decide.

.ike I said earlier, I would not be surprised if there were to be more "bombshells"
)n the horizon. My experience from observing those with this much power and ıuthority is that they hang on with fingernails and white knuckles before leaving oo easily. Me thinks there is good reason and motivation for this quickly agreed o merger. Just a hunch...

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 22 2007, 01:23 PM

The plot thickens.....

Posted by: pmorris68 Apr 23 2007, 03:56 AM

Personally I am sick of the whole 3ABN saga. This is my LAST post about this whole mess. Here is my statement "Lord help us all".

The END!!

Posted by: shaddo Apr 23 2007, 04:41 AM

Just a thought... "Birds of a feather..." Danny and Doug..... well since I have known both of them since childhood, I would just say, we need to stop puting our faith in conservativism and SDA hype men, and hold up the TRUTH, even if it means walking away from the systems which have been used since the beginning... The end is near!... "Come quickly, Lord Jesus."

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 23 2007, 06:54 AM

> QUOTE(shaddo @ Apr 23 2007, 02:41 AM)
>
> Just a thought... "Birds of a feather..." Danny and Doug..... well since I have known both of them since childhood, I would just say, we need to stop puting our faith in conservativism and SDA hype men, and hold up the TRUTH, even if it means walking away from the systems which have been used since the beginning... The end is near!... "Come quickly, Lord Jesus."

;haddo,

Wow, that is quite a provocative statement! Not particularly the "Birds of a feather..." part since others such as WB have mentioned this, but that you have known them both since childhood. Your childhood or theirs? Have you known them both personally or through their TV images?

Please don't mistake my questioning as criticism. I am just curious about your relationship with these two individuals that would bring you to characterize them as SDA hype men.

Amen for your call to "hold up the TRUTH"! This and our relationship with God is the key to salvation, not the systems of men.

Posted by: Johann Apr 23 2007, 03:46 PM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Apr 20 2007, 07:22 AM)
>
> One has to wonder if this is a mechanism to cool things down a bit. Also.... since Linda has retained more agressive legal counsel, could this be a maneuver to keep her from getting a larger settlement?
>
> Another thing.... I also am wondering if another "bombshell" may be looming. Sheer speculation, but this merger/takover of 3abn may be tied to another event (as if there havn't been enough). If things aren't going that great in the DS household (domestically), well --- there really wouldn't be too many other "options", would there? Justa wondering.... not hoping for this at all -- but for those who have read this forum and understand the real DS --- it really ain't too far a stretch to imagine that Brandy may be a little dissalussioned with all that she has seen. She has had the time to fig-some things out -- no? How long is that trip they're going on? Ok, please forgive me Jesus.

You said it. We need to pray.

Posted by: mozart Apr 24 2007, 02:04 AM

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Apr 20 2007, 07:21 AM)
>
> I would be very surprised if DS did not hold out for at least 1 yr contracts on his key people and certain other faces on 2ABN. No doubt there is still much uncertainty, but I do not believe that DB would have agreed to this w/o having pretty much full control.... JMO. As far as CEO --- that will be for the "new board" to decide.
>
> Like I said earlier, I would not be surprised if there were to be more "bombshells" on the horizon. My experience from observing those with this much power and authority is that they hang on with fingernails and white knuckles before leaving too easily. Me thinks there is good reason and motivation for this quickly agreed to merger. Just a hunch...

yeah i definitely see that. Agreed

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 06:56 AM

> QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Apr 23 2007, 08:54 AM) ☐
>
> shaddo,
>
> Wow, that is quite a provocative statement! Not particularly the "Birds of a feather..." part since others such as WB have mentioned this, but that you have known them both since childhood. Your childhood or theirs? Have you known them both personally or through their TV images?
>
> Please don't mistake my questioning as criticism. I am just curious about your relationship with these two individuals that would bring you to characterize them as SDA hype men.
>
> Amen for your call to "hold up the TRUTH"! This and our relationship with God is the key to salvation, not the systems of men.

I also would like to see the answer to these questions.

> QUOTE(no_cults @ Apr 20 2007, 01:22 AM) ☐
>
> One has to wonder if this is a mechanism to cool things down a bit.
> Also.... since Linda has retained more agressive legal counsel, could > this be a maneuver to keep her from getting a larger settlement?

No, 3 ABN is not, and never has been, a marital asset. It is a ministry, run by a boarrd, and the employment of both Danny and Linda was(is) subject to the board. In fact that is why, contrary to the public opinion of BSDAers, Linda was fired. She refused to work with, and follow her board.

> QUOTE
>
> Another thing.... I also am wondering if another "bombshell" may > be looming. Sheer speculation, but this merger/takover of 3abn > may be tied to another event (as if there havn't been enough).
> If things aren't going that great in the DS household (domestically), > well --- there really wouldn't be too many other "options", would > there? Justa wondering.... not hoping for this at all -- but for those > who have read this forum and understand the real DS --- it really > ain't too far a stretch to imagine that Brandy may be a little dissalussioned with all that she has seen. She has had the time to fig-> some things out -- no? How long is that trip they're going on?
> Ok, please forgive me Jesus.

Sin should be called by it's right name.

The trip is work related, and your "sheer speculation" is actually engaging in evil surmising, which God's word tells us not to do, it leads to false witness and elevating your opinions and thought and reasoning above God's.

Praise God, Jesus freely forgives, but first you need to repent and stop the wrongdoing. You can not say forgive me as you engage in evil surmising, for he is not a cloaking device for sin.

Truth is truth.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 07:37 AM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 08:56 AM)
>
> I also would like to see the answer to these questions.

Why; you've already been told what to believe...

> QUOTE
>
> No, 3 ABN is not, and never has been, a marital asset. It is a ministry, run by a boarrd, and the employment of both Danny and Linda was(is) subject to the board. In fact that is why, contrary to the public opinion of BSDAers, Linda was fired. She refused to work with, and follow her board.
> Sin should be called by it's right name.

And you know this because you were there? Or because someone told you what someone told them and you bought a pig in a poke... can you provide corroboration for ANYTHING you claim, Cindy? Post some minutes, perhaps? fhb's word may be good enough for you... but the rest of us aren't blinded by an undue infautation... so "because he said so" is not evidence of anything.

> QUOTE
>
> The trip is work related, and your "sheer speculation" is actually engaging in evil surmising, which God's word tells us not to do, it leads to false witness and elevating your opinions and thought and reasoning above God's.

You mean like your surmising that Duane was complicit in Tommy's misdeeds or that Linda deemed herself the next EGW or any of the other evil surmisings you've made?

> QUOTE
>
> Praise God, Jesus freely forgives, but first you need to repent and stop the wrongdoing. You can not say forgive me as you engage in evil surmising, for he is not a cloaking device for sin.
>
> Truth is truth.

And lies are lies. For one who gave herself the name truth, you wouldn't know it if you tripped over it... which is the ultimate hypocrisy on your part. As far as your denials are concerned, you'd be well served to consider 1 John 1:10 prayerfully...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 25 2007, 08:40 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 08:37 AM)
>
> And you know this because you were there?

I know this because

1. it is registered as a ministry and not for profit and by law that means it is not owned by a individual, Danny and Linda have never called themselves 'owners" Nor has the 3ABN board ever done so because neither is, or ever was a owner or co-owner of 3ABN.

2. It is not listed as a Marital asset in Danny and Linda's divorce, nor has either ever claimed this.

3. Linda is not suing Danny to recieve part of 3ABN, although she is suing him to receive more then what was earlier agreed to by her in their uncontested divorce. Why? because 3ABN is NOT a marital asset.

4. The separation agreement between Linda and 3ABN clearly states that 3ABN is not part of the marital assets, Her settlement and severance is hers alone and not considered community property, and that the agreement wll in no way prevent her from seeking and receiving her fair and lawful part of what is Marital assets.

Finally she signed and agreed to all with the advice of her attourney, and only you and those who haven't a clue keep arguing about this.

Posted by: Eirene Apr 25 2007, 09:20 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 07:37 AM) ☐
>
> Why; you've already been told what to believe...
> And you know this because you were there? Or because someone told you what someone told them and you bought a pig in a poke... can you provide corroboration for ANYTHING you claim, Cindy? Post some minutes, perhaps? fhb's word may be good enough for you... but the rest of us aren't blinded by an undue infautation... so "because he said so" is not evidence of anything.
> You mean like your surmising that Duane was complicit in Tommy's misdeeds or that Linda deemed herself the next EGW or any of the other evil surmisings you've made?
> And lies are lies. For one who gave herself the name truth, you wouldn't know it if you tripped over it... which is the ultimate hypocrisy on your part. As far as your denials are concerned, you'd be well served to consider 1 John 1:10 prayerfully...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

And, I have seen you take this approach time and time again, while never bringing anything at all to the party to show us why you believe what you believe. You have constantly challenged others for proof or evidence to defend their side, while, you have provided probably, less, than anyone on this board to back up your opinions. You accuse others have listening to other parties when you have done exactly the same. Really, though, your case is worse because Aletheia searches and has brought many documents and emails to back up what she has said. I have never seen you produce anything whatsoever. So, Mr. J as usual you are the guiltiest party of those crimes which you accuse others of. I know as I write this that as usual, you will not answer directly as to your proof and evidence, of course that would be because you don't have any. What you will do is attack me and what I have written instead of answering to the charges of forming your opinion by nothing but gossip and rhetoric. That's ok. Go right ahead. People are not stupid and they saw the pattern a long time ago.

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 06:56 AM) ☐
>
> I also would like to see the answer to these questions.

> No, 3 ABN is not, and never has been, a marital asset. It is a ministry, run by a boarrd, and the employment of both Danny and Linda was(is) subject to the board. In fact that is why, contrary to the public opinion of BSDAers, Linda was fired. She refused to work with, and follow her board.
> Sin should be called by it's right name.
>
> The trip is work related, and your "sheer speculation" is actually engaging in evil surmising, which God's word tells us not to do, it leads to false witness and elevating your opinions and thought and reasoning above God's.
>
> Praise God, Jesus freely forgives, but first you need to repent and stop the wrongdoing. You can not say forgive me as you engage in evil surmising, for he is not a cloaking device for sin.
>
> Truth is truth.

letheia, love the new avatar. Let's see where have I seen that watch before? mmm

---

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 09:46 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 11:20 AM) ☐
>
> And, I have seen you take this approach time and time again, while never bringing anything at all to the party to show us why you believe what you believe.

Vhen i have stated facts, I have provided incontrovertible support for it... Cindy knows zip point quat beyond what she has been fed... based on her own admissions. The proof of that is the words oming out of her own mouth.

Vhen I have stated my opinion, I have noted it as my opinion and have told others their mileage may ary... this stands in stark contrast to you and the rest of danny's minions presenting conjecture and upposition as fact without corroboration.

> QUOTE
>
> You have constantly challenged others for proof or evidence to defend their side, while, you have provided probably, less, than anyone on this board to back up your opinions. You accuse others have listening to other parties when you have done exactly the same.

f you had read all of the stuff here, you'd have seen that I and other longstanding members of this orum have put the same burden of proof on both sides of this discussion... however, only one side of t has attempted to meet it... and it's not the side you have chosen.

> QUOTE
>
> Really, though, your case is worse because Aletheia searches and has brought many documents and emails to back up what she has said.

indy has not proven anything... ever. She can only provide hearsay and because she is not willing o give full disclosure, it cannot be corrorated since her sources cannot be verified because they are till playing anonymity games.

> QUOTE

> I have never seen you produce anything whatsoever.

Your presence here and your response to my post says otherwise...

> QUOTE
>
> So, Mr. J as usual you are the guiltiest party of those crimes which you accuse others of. I know as I write this that as usual, you will not answer directly as to your proof and evidence, of course that would be because you don't have any. What you will do is attack me and what I have written instead of answering to the charges of forming your opinion by nothing but gossip and rhetoric. That's ok. Go right ahead. People are not stupid and they saw the pattern a long time ago.

If you have any other complaints, the new number to the complaint department is 1-888-CFI-CARE...I will agree with you on this wise... people aren't stupid... and see you.. and Cindy... and the rest of danny's minions for what you are... your holier than thou notwithstanding.

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: Eirene Apr 25 2007, 09:53 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Apr 25 2007, 09:46 AM)
>
> When i have stated facts, I have provided incontrovertible support for it... Cindy knows zip point squat beyond what she has been fed... based on her own admissions. The proof of that is the words coming out of her own mouth.
>
> When I have stated my opinion, I have noted it as my opinion and have told others their mileage may vary... this stands in stark contrast to you and the rest of danny's minions presenting conjecture and supposition as fact without corroboration.
> If you had read all of the stuff here, you'd have seen that I and other longstanding members of this forum have put the same burden of proof on both sides of this discussion... however, only one side of it has attempted to meet it... and it's not the side you have chosen.
> Cindy has not proven anything... ever. She can only provide hearsay and because she is not willing to give full disclosure, it cannot be corrorated since her sources cannot be verified because they are still playing anonymity games.
> Your presence here and your response to my post says otherwise...
> If you have any other complaints, the new number to the complaint department is 1-888-CFI-CARE...I will agree with you on this wise... people aren't stupid... and see you.. and Cindy... and the rest of danny's minions for what you are... your holier than thou notwithstanding.
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

You have never substantiated anything. And you have stayed conistent with your pattern as I knew you would.

Posted by: awesumtenor Apr 25 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(Eirene @ Apr 25 2007, 11:53 AM)

See that thou do it not; you know the only one you are allowed to bow down to is DS...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sister Apr 25 2007, 12:21 PM

Well, Cindy, I like your new avatar, too! It seems especially fitting: two faced. With the first face you proclaimed yourself a seeker of truth, with the second face you have shown what lay behind the first face, your actual mission on BSDA. I see you now have a new "friend" to take the place of Bystander---same message, different identity. Welcome to BSDA Eirene! Go ahead and take your best shot. The truth will surface in time and with it the sheep will be separated from the goats.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Apr 25 2007, 01:51 PM

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 25 2007, 06:40 AM)
>
> I know this because
>
> 1. it is registered as a ministry and not for profit and by law that means it is not owned by a individual, Danny and Linda have never called themselves 'owners" Nor has the 3ABN board ever done so because neither is, or ever was a owner or co-owner of 3ABN.
>
> 2. It is not listed as a Marital asset in Danny and Linda's divorce, nor has either ever claimed this.
>
> 3. Linda is not suing Danny to recieve part of 3ABN, although she is suing him to receive more then what was earlier agreed to by her in their uncontested divorce. Why? because 3ABN is NOT a marital asset.
>
> 4. The separation agreement between Linda and 3ABN clearly states that 3ABN is not part of the marital assets, Her settlement and severance is hers alone and not considered community property, and that the agreement wll in no way prevent her from seeking and receiving her fair and lawful part of what is Marital assets.
>
> Finally she signed and agreed to all with the advice of her attourney, and only you and those who haven't a clue keep arguing about this.

Cindy,
The status of 3abn (whether the state of Illinois deems it a ministry or a business, is not my strong suit) may actually be decided at the end of 3abn's appeal for tax exempt status. If only a small portion of the physical 3abn property is now accepted as having "tax exempt status", it is not far fetched to speculate that the state of Illinois could, at some point, decree that it is not a true ministry but a for profit business. Would it then become a marital asset? Would Linda, in the eyes of the law, then be due half of everything? Just wondering.

About your avatar, is it the actual, infamous, picture in question? The one that Danny took, printed out and slipped under his shirt to surprise his sun-bathing wife with? Or just a picture of the same model from the internet?

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 25 2007, 04:04 PM

OK, so it's still here? TVsnack.

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3abn Booted From Sky Angel

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 19 2006, 07:51 PM

Sky Angel on the diosh Network DBS system has booted 3ABN. Many SDas like me got this satellite service only because of 3ABN and the constant advertising by our church.
Does anyopne know why 3ABN was taken off SkyAngel?

Gere is 3ABN's statement on this :

> QUOTE(3ABN)
>
> Sky Angel does not have a channel available for 3ABN at this time. Please join us in prayer that this problem is resolved soon and 3ABN channel may be restored to the package of TV channels.
>
> Please don't call them or us until we make any further announcements Thank you

---

Posted by: princessdi Apr 19 2006, 09:48 PM

Ok so, my sister and I decided to go to the source - Sky Angel. there message is a lot less cryptic that the one on 3ABN.

> QUOTE
>
> Important alert from Sky Angel 4/16/06
>
> Three of Sky Angel's channels are currently experiencing technical difficulties. The issue is being addressed in an effort to restore service on these channels as soon as possible. We apologize for the inconvenience and thank you for your understanding.

Posted by: seraph|m Apr 19 2006, 10:33 PM

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ Apr 19 2006, 10:51 PM) ☐
>
> Sky Angel on the diosh Network DBS system has booted 3ABN. Many SDas like me got this satellite service only because of 3ABN and the constant advertising by our church.
> Does anyopne know why 3ABN was taken off SkyAngel?
>
> Gere is 3ABN's statement on this :

Who are these folks that they have the nerve to tell anyone not to call another organization? Sheeeesh

---

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2006, 04:21 PM

There is apparently a problem, and Sky Angel is a lot more diplomatic thaan 3ABN(we are already familiar with their issues where damaga control is concerned). As has already been said, there must be some problem if 3ABN is not calling for a massive phone call campaign.

> QUOTE(seraph|m @ Apr 19 2006, 08:33 PM)
>
> Who are these folks that they have the nerve to tell anyone not to call another organization? Sheeeesh

Posted by: Clay Apr 20 2006, 04:24 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2006, 05:21 PM)
>
> There is apparently a problem, and Sky Angel is a lot more diplomatic thaan 3ABN(we are already familiar with their issues where damaga control is concerned). As has already been said, there must be some problem if 3ABN is not calling for a massive phone call campaign.

maybe, maybe not... time will tell....

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2006, 04:29 PM

Well, you know Steve, I heard about this a couple of days before it was posted here. My Mom called me and I told here it was probabaly technical difficultites due to the tornados and storm activity in Illinios over last weekend. From Sky Angel's statement I am inclined to still believe it is technical difficulties, because it says three os it's ch annels are affected, not just 3ABN. However, there is 3ABN message that is putting some doubt in my reasoning.

As you said, time will tell......

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 20 2006, 02:24 PM)
>
> maybe, maybe not... time will tell....

Posted by: statrei Apr 20 2006, 04:38 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Apr 20 2006, 05:21 PM)
>
> There is apparently a problem, and Sky Angel is a lot more diplomatic thaan 3ABN(we are already familiar with their issues where damaga control is concerned). As has already been said, there must be some problem if 3ABN is not calling for a massive phone call campaign.

If the problem is due to technical difficulties what good would a phone call campaign do? The fact that they ask that no one calls points to technical difficulties.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2006, 04:43 PM

This is what I was thinking also,b ut why can 3ABn just say that? Sky Angel made it sound more like technical difficulties, 3ABN made it sound as if they had been dismissed and relplaced.

> QUOTE(statrei @ Apr 20 2006, 03:38 PM) ☐
>
> If the problem is due to technical difficulties what good would a phone call campaign do? The fact that they ask that no one calls points to technical difficulties.

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 20 2006, 04:49 PM

I did notice that two other channels were showing "off air" like 3ABN. Originally 3ABN was not available in the channel lineup. Now it is back with an "off air" notice. The other Networks/channels are Eagle and another. Maybe it really is technical difficultiesbut I agree 3ABN left the impression there was something else at play.

Posted by: beartrap Apr 20 2006, 11:39 PM

There are technical difficulties as Skyangel states, and there are likely other difficulties as 3ABN implies. Those satellites generally have a life of 10 to 15 years and Echostar-3 is starting to die. Unless Echostar can revive the malfunction on the satellite, Skyangel probably has no space to put 3ABN into another channel without booting another network. Unlike most other networks, 3ABN was able to get into Skyangel without paying because they sold so many Skyangel systems. In the past few years 3ABN has sold very few Skyangel systems as they focus more on the proprietary AMC-4 system. Also, the Skyangel management have long been upset by the "Catholic bashing," and the "Sunday is the mark of the beast" teachings on 3ABN. They have received many complaints from their other subscribers (Who constitute the vast majority). Most of the households who subscribed through 3ABN are on lifetime subscriptions, but many of the others pay monthly, so if the 3ABN subscribers get mad and leave, it should have very little financial impact on Skyangel.

In short, if they have to let one network go due to lack of space, Dominion Skyangel has some financial and theological reasons to drop 3ABN.

On the other hand, If Skyangel permanently drops 3ABN, it will likely give 3ABN the opportunity to seek carriage on Dishnetwork. Dishnetwork and Skyangel have a mutually exclusive agreement that gives Skyangel first dibs on all religious networks. Should they refuse to carry a religious network, only then can Dishnetwork consider it.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 20 2006, 11:43 PM

Just a quick update. Someone I believe who has Sky Angel says that 3ABN was back on as of today.

Posted by: silsbee_bee Apr 21 2006, 05:12 AM

They are technically back on, but no signal is showing.

DB

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 21 2006, 07:08 AM

As of 9:10 am today Fri Apr 21 3ABN is still "off air" due to "technical difficulties."
Beartrap thanks for this summary. You surely know the business. I always wondered what would happen when 3ABN/SDA church couldn't deliver new subscriptions to SkyAngel.
When I signed up some 8 years ago--lifetime sub...they did say it was a 14 year satellite (already opearting for some years)...so you might have a point there..

Posted by: higherground2003 Apr 21 2006, 08:50 AM

Don't worry. If they haven't been kicked off, I am sure they will be kicked of by the end of May. . Just hold tight.

Posted by: Clay Apr 21 2006, 09:00 AM

> QUOTE(higherground2003 @ Apr 21 2006, 08:50 AM)
>
> Don't worry. If they haven't been kicked off, I am sure they will be kicked of by the end of May. . Just hold tight.

why is that?

Posted by: PaperTigers Apr 21 2006, 09:01 AM

This is an e-mail I just recieved from a friend

Date: Wed, 19 Apr 2006 14:22:16 -0500

Subject: 3ABN NEWSFLASH - PLEASE READ AND FORWARD TO EVERYONE YOU CAN!

JUST RELEASED FOR ANNOUNCEMENT BY 3ABN DIRECTOR OF BROADCASTING, MOSES PRIMO:

"After a satellite technical problem was resolved, Sky Angel decided NOT to restore the 3ABN channel on their package of channels. We encourage everyone to let Sky Angel know that you want 3ABN back on. They are not even answering the 888 number, but if you call and wait for the operator, you may voice your opinion or you may write to the following address:

239-403-9130

Sky Angel, PO Box 7609, Naples, FL 34101 or e-mail to: webmaster@skyangel.com

by Moses 4/19/06 "

Not sure exactly what's going on... but it is rather interesting

---

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 21 2006, 09:14 AM

> QUOTE
>
> Sky Angel does not have a channel available for 3ABN at this time. Please join us in prayer that this problem is resolved soon and 3ABN channel may be restored to the package of TV channels.

PaperTigers, 3ABN does not have any such statement on their website. If this email is genuine I guess we will soon see something on the website.

But based on the above quote which i just took from the 3ABN ws it is clear 3ABN has been booted. Obviously it is a technical "issue" but not a technical "difficulty." 3ABN has been dropped! Period!! kicked...sacked...given the boot...thrown out...

Posted by: beartrap Apr 21 2006, 09:50 AM

Several of us who had to deal with Skyangel administration while at 3ABN have long expected that 3ABN's days on Skyangel were numbered, and that the number was rapidly dwindling. However, until Skyangel says that 3ABN is off for good, there is always a chance it will be back.

Posted by: Rand856 Apr 21 2006, 11:47 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Apr 21 2006, 09:50 AM)
>
> Several of us who had to deal with Skyangel administration while at 3ABN have long expected that 3ABN's days on Skyangel were numbered, and that the number was rapidly dwindling. However, until Skyangel says that 3ABN is off for good, there is always a chance it will be back.

I just received this confirmation from Sky Angel that 3ABN will return.

"it's a technical problem that is being worked on- the 3 channels (including 3ABN) will be back"

Posted by: Fran Apr 21 2006, 07:48 PM

> QUOTE(Rand856 @ Apr 21 2006, 11:47 AM)
>
> I just received this confirmation from Sky Angel that 3ABN will return.
>
> "it's a technical problem that is being worked on- the 3 channels (including 3ABN) will be back"

I am no longer able to get 3ABN on the web. Anyone else have a problem, or is it just me? I can get everyone else.

Posted by: sister Apr 21 2006, 07:52 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 21 2006, 08:48 PM)

> I am no longer able to get 3ABN on the web. Anyone else have a problem, or is it just me? I can get everyone else.

just checked it out and had no difficulity receiving it over the Web.

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 21 2006, 07:56 PM

My hubby had no problem getting it over the web on his laptop, but I did. I am going to try again.

> QUOTE(sister @ Apr 21 2006, 08:52 PM)
>
> I just checked it out and had no difficulity receiving it over the Web.

Posted by: Fran Apr 21 2006, 08:14 PM

> QUOTE(denisebyers @ Apr 21 2006, 07:56 PM)
>
> My hubby had no problem getting it over the web on his laptop, but I did. I am going to try again.

tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no graphics xcept the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.

ope, nope, nope.

> QUOTE(denisebyers @ Apr 21 2006, 07:56 PM)
>
> My hubby had no problem getting it over the web on his laptop, but I did. I am going to try again.

tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no graphics xcept the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.

ope, nope, nope.

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 21 2006, 08:19 PM

Yup, I am having a problem now too. I can't even go to the website. It won't go. My husband said it's probably due to all the traffic. There's probably so many people trying to get on as well.

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 21 2006, 10:14 PM)
>
> I tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no > graphics except the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click a link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.

>
> Nope, nope, nope.
> I tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no graphics except the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click a link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.
>
> Nope, nope, nope.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Apr 21 2006, 08:19 PM

> QUOTE
>
> (Fran @ Apr 21 2006, 08:48 PM) *
>
> I am no longer able to get 3ABN on the web. Anyone else have a problem, or is it just me? I can get everyone else. dunno.gif can't get it either. It keeps saying its loading but it has been loading for like 5 minutes now & nothing is oming up.

Posted by: denisebyers Apr 21 2006, 08:25 PM

With me, when I type in www.3abn.org, it doesn't even go there, it goes to AOL Search results for 3abn. Strange.

> QUOTE(Hersheys99 @ Apr 21 2006, 10:19 PM)
>
> I can't get it either. It keeps saying its loading but it has been loading for like 5 minutes now & nothing is coming up.

Posted by: Fran Apr 21 2006, 08:35 PM

> QUOTE(denisebyers @ Apr 21 2006, 08:19 PM)
>
> Yup, I am having a problem now too. I can't even go to the website. It won't go. My husband said it's probably due to all the traffic. There's probably so many people trying to get on as well.

was really persistant. I have clicked for 35 minutes and finally got the current programming. It is a re-run.

ut, I did get in, finally!

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Apr 21 2006, 08:37 PM

It won't load with me either.... interesting - I wonder why.....?

Posted by: calvin Apr 21 2006, 08:50 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Apr 21 2006, 09:37 PM)
>
> It won't load with me either.... interesting - I wonder why.....?

overload of their bandwidth. Not enough connections. Everybody trying to get on the Internet with the satellite gone.

Posted by: summertime Apr 21 2006, 09:06 PM

> QUOTE(Fran @ Apr 21 2006, 09:14 PM)
>
> I tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no graphics except the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click a link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.
>
> Nope, nope, nope.
> I tried again. I clicked and clicked until they let me slip through. I got the Home Page, but it has no graphics except the Title Bar with Danny's pic. No other graphics would appear. No links are working. Everytime I click a link, I am thrown off. I clicked the Back key and tried every link.
>
> Nope, nope, nope.

I live in the state of Missouri---all evening I have been trying to get the website----I can get the home page--barely, but none of the links will come through. I have been trying for over an hour. We thought that maybe they were working on the website, and I keep getting the fact that the page is unavailable. Anybody gotten it yet? It is now 10:02 on Friday Night CST.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 21 2006, 09:15 PM

Ok so i got on the website......But that's just about alll, I 'm with Calvin, I think it is overload.

Posted by: simplysaved Apr 24 2006, 02:35 PM

It really is not a big deal...during the Thanksgiving/Christmas season (or some time late last year/early this year), Sky Angel also dropped the Hallmark Channel over contract issues temporarily....it happens. They also posted the "technical difficulties excuse thing" . If I remember correctly, Hallmark also asked viewers NOT to contact Sky Angel.....

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ Apr 19 2006, 07:51 PM)
>
> Sky Angel on the diosh Network DBS system has booted 3ABN. Many SDas like me got this satellite service only because of 3ABN and the constant advertising by our church.
> Does anyopne know why 3ABN was taken off SkyAngel?
>
> Gere is 3ABN's statement on this :

...3ABN is currently listed on the website as being a present part of the Sky Angel package....

http://www.skyangel.com/Programming/Index.asp?IdS=0006F3-EAF5B20&x=&Reference=ChannelLineup&Id=27&t=Tv

---

Posted by: beartrap Apr 24 2006, 04:29 PM

Unless an official announcement from 3ABN or skyangel comes out, stating difinitively that 3ABN has been dropped from the Skyangel lineup, we should assume that 3ABN will be back. There has been no real indication that I have seen anywhere that 3ABN is gone for good.

Posted by: Zephyr Apr 27 2006, 03:38 PM

What's the latest? Does anyone know?

Posted by: caribbean sda Apr 28 2006, 03:09 PM

> QUOTE(Clay @ Apr 21 2006, 11:00 AM)
>
> why is that?

I received this email from 3ABN

3ABN has sent you the following message:

TEN COMMANDMENT WEEKEND UPDATE: In the event 3ABN hasn't been restored on Sky Angel by May 5 & 6, Sky Angel has graciously agreed to air 3ABN on Channel 9702 from 7:00 PM ET to Midnight on May 5th and from 9:00 AM ET to 9:00 PM ET on May 6th.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 29 2006, 11:35 PM

A poster, MikeCTM2, at www.satelliteguys.us has posted an important new option concerning the Hope Channel. Check out his post here:

http://www.satelliteguys.us/showthread.php?p=551062#post551062

The post mentions that:

A technician, Jeff, at the Hope Channel said that the dual LNBF [the inside horn of the satellite dish that grabs the satellite signal that bounces off the back of your satellite dish] is "in manufacture" and will be available soon.

The dual LNBF can pick up two satellites: AMC4 and IA5.

The MikeCTM2 post also says:

"We got the system at Hope Network because it was available with the receiver that can record programs while we are at work. The 3ABN system is cheaper but does not record programs for later viewing."

Hope Channel Telephone Number given at Satelliteguys.us : (866-552-6728)

Posted by: calvin Apr 29 2006, 11:57 PM

Ireally want Hope TV to be more available. Will this put Hope on Sky Angel, Dish Network, or Direct TV? Just what does this mean?

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Apr 29 2006, 11:35 PM)
>
> A poster, MikeCTM2, at www.satelliteguys.us has posted an important new option concerning the Hope Channel. Check out his post here:
>
> http://www.satelliteguys.us/showthread.php?p=551062#post551062
>
> The post mentions that:
>
> A technician, Jeff, at the Hope Channel said that the dual LNBF [the inside horn of the satellite dish that grabs the satellite signal that bounces off the back of your satellite dish] is "in manufacture" and will be available soon.
>
> The dual LNBF can pick up two satellites: AMC4 and IA5.
>
> The MikeCTM2 post also says:
>
> "We got the system at Hope Network because it was available with the receiver that can record programs while we are at work. The 3ABN system is cheaper but does not record programs for later viewing."
>
> Hope Channel Telephone Number given at Satelliteguys.us : (866-552-6728)

Posted by: Panama_Pete Apr 30 2006, 01:14 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Apr 29 2006, 11:57 PM)
>
> I really want Hope TV to be more available. Will this put Hope on Sky Angel, Dish Network, or Direct TV? Just what does this mean?

This is FTA - Free to Air television. No subscription needed to any of the three systems you mentioned above to get the free channels.

This means that if you have your satellite dish pointed at AMC-4, you can get all of the "free to air stations" available on that satellite, plus a bunch more channels on IA-5, if you have the new satellite dish system fromhttp://www.hopetv.org/. You can record stuff while you are away, as well.

However, up until now, many people were limited to having their satellite dish pointed to just one satellite, AMC-4

As I understand it, a dual LNBF system allows you to get signals from two FTA satellites at once. This is because IA-5 is at 97 degrees west longitude, and AMC4 is at 101 degrees west longitude, (relatively close to each other in the sky).

This means you can sit in your house and watch all of the FTA channels on these two satellites with the newer system from http://www.hopetv.org/, without monkeying with your satellite dish located up on the roof.

This type of system will give http://www.hopetv.org/ more availability to non-adventist FTA viewers, generally, who normally watch the TV and Radio channels on IA-5. If non-adventists buy a system like this, they can also watch the channels on AMC-4.

I found a Web page that has more information, generally, about available FTA channels, subject to change without notice (and other technical errors).

http://www.glorystar.tv/page/show/7

Focus on the listings for the two satellites mentioned: AMC 4 and Intelsat Americas 5.

I think this is a really good option for some viewers, since the Sky Angel (Echostar 3) satellite seems to be nearing the end of its useful life.

Sign up for the newletter at Hope (located on the upper left-hand corner of their page).

http://www.hopetv.org/

Posted by: calvin May 1 2006, 09:25 PM

The longer 3abn stays off Sky Angel, the more I am inclined to believe it is more than technical problems. Time will tell. This has to have started hurting them financially. Why donate if you are not receiving the service.

Posted by: beartrap May 2 2006, 02:08 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ May 1 2006, 10:25 PM) ☐
>
> The longer 3abn stays off Sky Angel, the more I am inclined to believe it is more than technical problems. Time will tell. This has to have started hurting them financially. Why donate if you are not receiving the service.

A genuine concern. Viewers are fickle, and their donations are based largely on actually seeing the programs, and liking what they see.

Posted by: Zephyr May 2 2006, 10:48 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ May 1 2006, 09:25 PM)
>
> The longer 3abn stays off Sky Angel, the more I am inclined to believe it is more than technical problems. Time will tell. This has to have started hurting them financially. Why donate if you are not receiving the service.

It is clear to any clear thinking person that the problem includes more than mere technical issues. Considering the apparent lavish lifestyles and the Jim and Tammy Baker-like shuttling expenses I agree it is hurting Danny...
thanksfully the preaching of the Gospel goes on in more direct and less and costly ways...with people who are known in their communitties by those to whom they preach...
If 3ABN never came back I would miss some good programming but overall it would be a blessing not to have to put up with Danny's foolishness for all the world to see.

Posted by: denisebyers May 2 2006, 11:05 AM

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ May 2 2006, 12:48 PM)
>
> It is clear to any clear thinking person that the problem includes more than mere technical issues. Considering the apparent lavish lifestyles and the Jim and Tammy Baker-like shuttling expenses I agree it is hurting Danny...
> thanksfully the preaching of the Gospel goes on in more direct and less and costly ways...with people who are known in their communitties by those to whom they preach...
> If 3ABN never came back I would miss some good programming but overall it would be a blessing not to have to put up with Danny's foolishness for all the world to see.

My hubby and I sensed that when it went off the air. Sure, it could be some tech problems, but it all boils down that God is the one who is in control. When Danny announced his new bride on 3ABN, and we seen that, my husband told me that (he didn't know what was going on)if Danny was not right in getting married again, something would happen. We thought maybe people would stop giving donations, or Danny would have to resign. Shortly after that, 3ABN went off the air on sky angel. I believe God is in control, and if he wants this back in air, He will do it. As someone said, time will tell.....

Posted by: Zephyr May 2 2006, 11:11 AM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ May 2 2006, 02:08 AM)
>
> A genuine concern. Viewers are fickle, and their donations are based largely on actually seeing the programs, and liking what they see.

Which makes it clear that 3ABN is TV and not Ministry!
If it is ministry it will continue to minister. If it's just TV then as the plug is pulled the party stops.

Posted by: denisebyers May 2 2006, 11:13 AM

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ May 2 2006, 01:11 PM)

> Which makes it clear that 3ABN is TV and not Ministry!
> If it is ministry it will continue to minister. If it's just TV then as the plug is pulled the party stops.

Now that is deep......

Posted by: Clay May 2 2006, 11:48 AM

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ May 2 2006, 12:11 PM)
>
> Which makes it clear that 3ABN is TV and not Ministry!
> If it is ministry it will continue to minister. If it's just TV then as the plug is pulled the party stops.

I have learned long ago that just because someone says "its my ministry" does not make it so....

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 25 2006, 10:16 PM

Did Danny and Brandy get the dumped from Sky Angel for Trinity Broadcasting Network? Sort of looks like it from today's announcement. Perhaps, there is justice in the world after all.

Without Linda Shelton, 3ABN seems to be losing its viewership. None of the hard-boiled eggs at 3ABN suspected that Linda Shelton would be the popular one. They took Linda Shelton for granted.

It reminds me of when Dan Blocker died, and Bonanza quickly tanked and was canceled. Dan's popularity had escaped them and they thought it would be business as usual.

Oh well, 3ABN's loss is Trinity Broadcasting's gain. It would be a devestating loss for 3ABN if Trinity Broadcasting were to hire Linda Shelton. Nobody believes that Norwegian "phone call" nonsense anyway.

Best of luck to the Crouch family and TBN. ☒ welc

Sky Angel Adds Trinity Broadcasting Network

5/25/2006 4:44:00 PM

http://www.multichannel.com/article/CA6338309.html?display=Breaking+News

Trinity Broadcasting Network will launch on nationwide direct-to-home satellite-television service Sky Angel in June.

Dominion Video Satellite Inc.-owned Sky Angel focuses on faith-based and family-friendly programming, and TBN offers 24 hours of commercial-free inspirational programming that appeals to people in a wide variety of denominations.

"We are very pleased that TBN has been added to Sky Angel, America's only Christian high-powered satellite service," TBN vice president of administration Paul Crouch Jr. said in a prepared statement.

Posted by: sonshineonme May 25 2006, 10:45 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 25 2006, 08:16 PM)
>
> Did Danny and Brandy get the dumped from Sky Angel for Trinity Broadcasting Network? Sort of looks like it from today's announcement. Perhaps, there is justice in the world after all.
>
> Without Linda Shelton, 3ABN seems to be losing its viewership. None of the hard-boiled eggs at 3ABN suspected that Linda Shelton would be the popular one. They took Linda Shelton for granted.
>
> It reminds me of when Dan Blocker died, and Bonanza quickly tanked and was canceled. Dan's popularity had escaped them and they thought it would be business as usual.
>
> Oh well, 3ABN's loss is Trinity Broadcasting's gain. It would be a devestating loss if Trinity Broadcasting were to hire Linda Shelton. Nobody believes that Norwegian "phone call" nonsense anyway.
>
> Best of luck to the Crouch family and TBN. welc
>
> ## Sky Angel Adds Trinity Broadcasting Network

Well put Panama_Pete! Is it official that 3abn is not returning to SA?

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 25 2006, 11:18 PM

Hello Sonshineonme,

Well, we don't know if the 3ABN "boot' is "official" or not. We just know there was a channel available and 3ABN, apparently, didn't get returned to the Sky Angel lineup. Perhaps, that's the way it should be.

Pete

Posted by: NormF May 25 2006, 11:37 PM

On the other hand, a quick check of the present broadcast lineup (as of 12:30 am CDT, 5-26-06), still shows 3ABN at channel 9710 ... granted, "off the air" (that's unchanged!) but not yet delisted nonetheless. The announcement doesn't say which channel they get. We may have to wait for the "day shift" (ala June) to come on duty at Sky Angel to see how the change actually plays out here. Let's see what becomes of this though.

Regards,
Norm

Posted by: Nuggie May 26 2006, 08:54 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 25 2006, 10:16 PM)
>
> Did Danny and Brandy get the dumped from Sky Angel for Trinity Broadcasting Network? Sort of looks like it from today's announcement. Perhaps, there is justice in the world after all.

> Without Linda Shelton, 3ABN seems to be losing its viewership. None of the hard-boiled eggs at 3ABN suspected that Linda Shelton would be the popular one. They took Linda Shelton for granted.
>
> It reminds me of when Dan Blocker died, and Bonanza quickly tanked and was canceled. Dan's popularity had escaped them and they thought it would be business as usual.
>
> Oh well, 3ABN's loss is Trinity Broadcasting's gain. It would be a devestating loss for 3ABN if Trinity Broadcasting were to hire Linda Shelton. Nobody believes that Norwegian "phone call" nonsense anyway.
>
> Best of luck to the Crouch family and TBN. ☒ welc
>
> ## Sky Angel Adds Trinity Broadcasting Network
>
> 5/25/2006 4:44:00 PM
>
> http://www.multichannel.com/article/CA6338309.html?display=Breaking+News
>
> Trinity Broadcasting Network will launch on nationwide direct-to-home satellite-television service Sky Angel in June.
>
> Dominion Video Satellite Inc.-owned Sky Angel focuses on faith-based and family-friendly programming, and TBN offers 24 hours of commercial-free inspirational programming that appeals to people in a wide variety of denominations.
>
> "We are very pleased that TBN has been added to Sky Angel, America's only Christian high-powered satellite service," TBN vice president of administration Paul Crouch Jr. said in a prepared statement.
> -30-s a former employee of Sky Angel, I can tell you that it is quite a coup for them to finally be able to add TBN o their line-up...they've been pursuing TBN almost from the time Sky Angel went on air...and if Sky Angel ad to choose between TBN and 3ABN, I don't think they'd have a moment's hesitation about taking 3ABN off heir schedule.

Posted by: sonshineonme May 26 2006, 09:18 AM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ May 26 2006, 06:54 AM) ☐
>
> As a former employee of Sky Angel, I can tell you that it is quite a coup for them to finally be able to add TBN to their line-up...they've been pursuing TBN almost from the time Sky Angel went on air...and if Sky Angel had to choose between TBN and 3ABN, I don't think they'd have a moment's hesitation about taking 3ABN off their schedule.

went to sky angels site, did a search for 3ABN in the search box, came up with five things, took the first ne, read the letter "explaining" whats happend....it looks like you could be right, and they are possibly ollowing God's will for them. If anyone is interested, go read too. There were 4 other things that had 3abn in he search I did, but I have not read those yet.

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 26 2006, 09:41 AM

> QUOTE(Nuggie @ May 26 2006, 08:54 AM)
>
> As a former employee of Sky Angel, I can tell you that it is quite a coup for them to finally be able to add TBN to their line-up...they've been pursuing TBN almost from the time Sky Angel went on air...and if Sky Angel had to choose between TBN and 3ABN, I don't think they'd have a moment's hesitation about taking 3ABN off their schedule.

Maybe it was a 3ABN-style:

SPIRITUAL DELISTING.

Live by the sword......

Posted by: Panama_Pete May 26 2006, 09:51 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ May 26 2006, 09:18 AM)
>
> I went to sky angels site, did a search for 3ABN in the search box, came up with five thigns, took the first one, read the letter "explaining" whats happend....it looks like you could be right, and they are possibly following God's will for them. If anyone is interested, go read too. There were 4 other things that had 3abn in the search I did, but I have not read those yet.

True, they are most likely following God's will for them.

I found the spot on the Sky Angel site that said:

"Unfortunately, despite our best efforts, we were unable to negotiate through the issues and are now prohibited from reinstating the channels that carried Three Angels Broadcasting, Golden Eagle Broadcasting and SPIRIT. "

It appears a door may have been shut that no man can open.

Posted by: caribbean sda May 26 2006, 09:54 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ May 26 2006, 12:18 PM)

> I went to sky angels site, did a search for 3ABN in the search box, came up with five thigns, took the first one, read the letter "explaining" whats happend....it looks like you could be right, and they are possibly following God's will for them. If anyone is interested, go read too. There were 4 other things that had 3abn in the search I did, but I have not read those yet.

Important news about the recent channel outage

May 25, 2006

As you may already be aware, on April 14th, Good Friday, we experienced a sudden loss of programming on 10 of our 33 channels. EchoStar Communications Corp., owner of the DISH Network satellite service, communicated to us that this loss was due to a technical failure of its EchoStar III satellite that we are currently sharing with EchoStar per a technical agreement we have with the company. We were successful in working with EchoStar to get seven of our 10 channels back on the air fairly quickly. Regrettably, three channels were not reinstated, and this technical failure evolved into contractual issues with EchoStar that, due to confidentiality restrictions in our agreement, we cannot publicly discuss. Unfortunately, despite our best efforts, we were unable to negotiate through the issues and are now prohibited from reinstating the channels that carried Three Angels Broadcasting, Golden Eagle Broadcasting and SPIRIT. Now that there is finality concerning our negotiations with EchoStar and it is certain that we will not be able to provide these three channels at this time, I wanted you to understand the reason.

I deeply regret the inconvenience that this interruption in programming may have caused you. As many of you know, we've faced a number of challenges with our relationship with EchoStar over the past few years; the Lord has guided us to positive outcomes in these cases (Romans 8:28) and we will continue to trust in Him for guidance and strength (Proverbs 3:5,6).

Presently we are exploring an option that might enable us to add one or two channels sometime in the future. We are happy to be able to continue carrying "3ABN Today" on our Angel One channel and hope to work with 3ABN to air special events, such as 3ABN's "Ten Commandments Weekend" special that we carried in May on our special events channel, Angel Two. We continue to carry Safe TV which airs several of the same programs that 3ABN airs, including Sabbath programming. Additionally, in early June, we are trading the SuperChannel TBN feed with the national Trinity Broadcasting Network (TBN) feed on Channel 9709. TBN carries many of the same programs that aired on Golden Eagle and many others that were not previously airing on Sky Angel. Also, there are programs that aired on Golden Eagle that are airing on other Sky Angel channels as well, such as Richard Roberts' "Hour of Healing" on our Angel One and Angel Two channels. Additionally, while Sky Angel already offers more contemporary Christian music than any other cable or satellite provider, we will be looking for ways to add more Christian music in cooperation with SPIRIT Television. If you are not a subscriber to our monthly printed TV guide, "Sky Angel Guide", I encourage you to visit our free online program guide at www.skyguide.org or by clicking here to find out when your favorite shows are airing.

I ask for your prayers as we continue to move forward with the vision the Lord gave my father, Robert Johnson, Sr., for this project a little more than 25 years ago. Sky Angel's mission is to build and operate a global direct broadcast satellite system, using our own satellites, as the most effective means of assuring that the Gospel will penetrate every nation, culture and people—even the most unreachable regions of the world. To build and launch our own satellite will cost in the neighborhood of $150 million dollars to achieve. It's an awesome mission in both magnitude and cost, however, one that our studies have shown is attainable with the dedication of our staff and the growing support of Christians here in America subscribing to the Sky Angel service. We have been in negotiations with a satellite manufacturer for some time and have begun an effort to identify sources that will be helpful in raising the necessary funds. Sometimes the challenge seems almost beyond comprehension, but I'm constantly reminded that with God's help everything is possible and that God's will always prevails. As we grow, it is my prayer that additional resources will become available that will enable Sky Angel to support various other works of ministry around the world with one common purpose: to share the life-changing message of Jesus Christ.

Yes, Sky Angel is a television service, still delivering into your home, church or business a wonderful array of TV and radio channels to edify, inform and entertain. But Sky Angel is also a unique work of ministry whose impact for the Kingdom has the potential to be huge. I pray that we can count on your support as we continue to trust in the Lord to guide us during this challenging yet exciting journey.

In His service,

Rob Johnson
CEO

P.S. Please understand that our call center representatives have no further information to provide.

http://www.skyangel.com/About/Index.asp?IdS=001798-2C68490&Reference=outage&q=3ABN&p=f&~=

Posted by: beanchild May 26 2006, 12:47 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 26 2006, 11:41 AM)
>
> Maybe it was a 3ABN-style:
>
> SPIRITUAL DELISTING.
>
> Live by the sword......

rofl

Posted by: seeshell May 26 2006, 03:47 PM

Is it possible this turn of events is evidence of those slow, fine-grinding wheels Bear spoke of being in motion?

Posted by: beartrap May 26 2006, 05:14 PM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 26 2006, 10:41 AM)
>
> Maybe it was a 3ABN-style:
>
> SPIRITUAL DELISTING.
>
> Live by the sword......

rofl rofl

Posted by: princessdi May 26 2006, 05:48 PM

LOL!!! See Pete, you are wrong that!

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 26 2006, 08:41 AM)

> Maybe it was a 3ABN-style:
>
> SPIRITUAL DELISTING.
>
> Live by the sword......

Posted by: PrincessDrRe May 29 2006, 09:27 AM

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ May 26 2006, 10:41 AM)
>
> Maybe it was a 3ABN-style:
>
> SPIRITUAL DELISTING.
>
> Live by the sword......

> QUOTE(princessdi @ May 26 2006, 06:48 PM)
>
> LOL!!! See Pete, you are wrong that!

Gurl - dat's family right dere..... got it dead on pernt!

rofl

Posted by: meadbd Jun 2 2006, 04:52 PM

Just received this in an email from Sky Angel...
==
Update regarding 3ABN, Golden Eagle and SPIRIT

Sky Angel subscribers can expect to receive via mail later this month
a letter with an update regarding Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Golden Eagle Broadcasting and SPIRIT Television.
==

Posted by: summertime Jun 3 2006, 10:56 AM

> QUOTE(meadbd @ Jun 2 2006, 05:52 PM)
>
> Just received this in an email from Sky Angel...
> ==

> Update regarding 3ABN, Golden Eagle and SPIRIT
>
> Sky Angel subscribers can expect to receive via mail later this month
> a letter with an update regarding Three Angels Broadcasting Network, > Golden Eagle Broadcasting and SPIRIT Television.
> ==

His Morning-June3---I searched Sky Angel and I found the following: On Channel 9701 at 8:00 AM 3ABN resents will be shown on June 5 and On June 12. Kids Time will be shown on 9702 at 2:00PM on June 5-9 nd June 12-16. Teen Pathways will also be shown on 9702 at 4:30PM on June 6 and on June 13. In case nyone wants to watch--this is what they have scheduled.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Jun 4 2006, 08:50 PM

This is off of 3ABN's website. Interesting not only are they off SkyAngel but it looks like they are no longer on in India via cable companies or DISH network.

> QUOTE
>
> Sky Angel Update
>
> NOTICE TO VIEWERS THAT WERE WATCHING 3ABN WITH SKY ANGEL SYSTEM ONLY.
>
> Since April 14th, 2006, the 3ABN viewers using Sky Angel subscription, lost the ability to watch 3ABN channel on their system. The reason for it was a sudden loss of one transponder of the satellite EchoStar III. This satellite transponder broadcasts 10 of the 33 channels that Sky Angel offers. A few days later, Sky Angel was able to get only seven channels back on the air. Unfortunately for us, they chose 3ABN to be one of the three channels that were not going to be re-instated on the satellite backup transponder. Since then, Sky Angel has been working with EchoStar to try to get the other three channels back on the satellite but last Friday, May 26, we received the final word from Sky Angel that their negotiations with EchoStar had finished without getting the satellite space for the other 3 channels. Therefore, it is a final decision that 3ABN will not be back on the Sky Angel System. Although it is beyond our control, we apologize for this inconvenience to our Sky Angel viewers. The Life Time subscription that some of you purchased, is still valid and you can continue to watch the other channels Sky Angel has to offer. If you want to continue watching 3ABN, the only offer we have at this time is our own satellite system that is sold for $199.00. If you want to purchase one, please click here.
> Cable & Dish Network Notice
>
> NOTICE TO VIEWERS THAT WERE WATCHING 3ABN IN INDIA VIA CABLE COMPANIES OR DISH NETWORK, ONLY
>
> 3ABN has been broadcasting for several years covering the country of India via Thaicom-3 satellite. Additionally, last year we made some agreement with Dish Network in India for them to carry our channel on their system to all of their subscribers, as well as many cable companies that carry 3ABN on their systems. Unfortunately, the department of Information & Broadcasting Ministry of India mandated that all broadcasters in India must acquire a broadcasting license before they could broadcast any material in India. The cut off date was May 25, 2006, so they have stopped broadcasting 3ABN on the Dish Network and cable companies because 3ABN was not able to secure the license yet. The Government demands several requirements before one can get this license and 3ABN is in the process of fulfilling these requirements and then applying for this license. We don't have a date as to when we will receive this license, but we apologize for this inconvenience to the viewers in India, which is beyond our control. We are praying and do ask you to join in our prayers that we can resume our broadcast soon on the cable systems and Dish Network in India.

Posted by: Fran Jun 5 2006, 01:11 PM

Gregory Matthrews posted this on CA.

> QUOTE
>
> The following is taken directly from the 3-ABN website:
>
> ***********************
>
> Cable & Dish Network Notice
> NOTICE TO VIEWERS THAT WERE WATCHING 3ABN IN INDIA VIA CABLE COMPANIES OR DISH NETWORK, ONLY
>
> 3ABN has been broadcasting for several years covering the country of India via Thaicom-3 satellite. Additionally, last year we made some agreement with Dish Network in India for them to carry our channel on their system to all of their subscribers, as well as many cable companies that carry 3ABN on their systems. Unfortunately, the department of Information & Broadcasting Ministry of India mandated that all broadcasters in India must acquire a broadcasting license before they could broadcast any material in India. The cut off date was May 25, 2006, so they have stopped broadcasting 3ABN on the Dish Network and cable companies because 3ABN was not able to secure the license yet. The Government demands several requirements before one can get this license and 3ABN is in the process of fulfilling these requirements and then applying for this license. We don't have a date as to when we will receive this license, but we apologize for this inconvenience to the viewers in India, which is beyond our control. We are praying and do ask you to join in our prayers that we can resume our broadcast soon on the cable systems and Dish Network in India.
>
> This Indian Government imposition does not affect a private person purchasing a 3 meter C Band satellite dish and receive 3ABN direct from our satellite Thaicom-3. The parameters for tuning your satellite receiver to the 3ABN channel is as follows:
>
> 3ABN on Thaicom-3
>
> C Band
> Position: 78.5° East
> Transponder: 6G Global Beam
> Frequency: 3,640 MHz
> Polarity: Horizontal
> Symbol rate: 28,066 Msym/s
> F.E.C.: 3/4
>
> *****************
>
> As you will note, 3-ABN hopes to soon resolve the issues and to be back on the air in India again.

Posted by: GrammieTana Apr 16 2007, 09:49 PM

Did anybody else see this?

In the April, 2007, issue of Adventist World on page 31, there is an advertisement for the Hope Channel Dish. They are highlighting the 'Seventh Day' series, 'Revelations from the Lost Pages of History.'

At the bottom of the advertisement there are three 3ABN icons showing that they, along with LLBN, Lifetalk Radio, Radio 74 and ACN are going to be on the Hope Channel.

What does that say about their relationship with 3ABN? Does it mean that there is a chance that the church will take it over, or only that they are working with Danny?

What are your thoughts, people? Does anyone have information explaining this?

GT

Posted by: mozart Apr 16 2007, 10:11 PM

the 3abn 30"dish brings in most of those channels too. i think it is just the same dish system and receiver that brings in all those stations because they are all bounced off the same sattelite. i don't think it means there is any relationship going on. just my opinion tho'

> QUOTE(GrammieTana @ Apr 16 2007, 09:49 PM)
>
> Did anybody else see this?
>
> In the April, 2007, issue of Adventist World on page 31, there is an advertisement for the Hope Channel Dish. They are highlighting the 'Seventh Day' series, 'Revelations from the Lost Pages of History.'
>
> At the bottom of the advertisement there are three 3ABN icons showing that they, along with LLBN, Lifetalk Radio, Radio 74 and ACN are going to be on the Hope Channel.
>
> What does that say about their relationship with 3ABN? Does it mean that there is a chance that the church will take it over, or only that they are working with Danny?
>
> What are your thoughts, people? Does anyone have information explaining this?
>
> GT

Posted by: Rosyroi Apr 17 2007, 01:03 PM

I have 3ABN satellite dish and I get all the channels listed except LLBN. I also get the radio stations.
I understand HOPE satellite dish does carry LLBN though.

My local cable carries Blue Mountain Tv that carries HOPE.
On Sabbath LLBN is offered by BMT (not sure if HOPE carries it also) almost all day.
The rest of the week BMT does not carry LLBN. I don't know what LLBN offers Sunday to Friday.

Your bet bet is to purchase for the same price(you would pay for 3ABN dish) the HOPE dish if you want to watch LLBN.

I agree with mozart.

Rosyroi

Posted by: dkay Apr 22 2007, 09:25 AM

> QUOTE(Zephyr @ May 2 2006, 11:48 AM)
>
> It is clear to any clear thinking person that the problem includes more than mere technical issues.
> Considering the apparent lavish lifestyles and the Jim and Tammy Baker-like shuttling expenses I agree it > is hurting Danny...

> thanksfully the preaching of the Gospel goes on in more direct and less and costly ways...with people who are known in their communitties by those to whom they preach...
> If 3ABN never came back I would miss some good programming but overall it would be a blessing not to have to put up with Danny's foolishness for all the world to see.

agree with your comments regarding Danny's lavish lifestyle like the expensive leased jet that he flies ıround from place to place in. I wonder what other SDA ministry or conference or even the GC has such a jet. have never heard about any other church official or self-supporting ministry using donated funds to lease or uel or pilot such a jet from place to place.

Posted by: inga Apr 22 2007, 09:40 AM

> QUOTE(Rosyroi @ Apr 17 2007, 02:03 PM)
>
> I have 3ABN satellite dish and I get all the channels listed except LLBN. I also get the radio stations.
> I understand HOPE satellite dish does carry LLBN though.

Ve used to get LLBN here on the 3ABN dish until a few months ago.

Iow, inexplicably, we can't get it any more.

Ias anyone else had the same experience?

Posted by: mozart Apr 22 2007, 04:01 PM

i have been told that the LLBN signal is so weak that it's hard to zero in on it. you might try moving your UMB just a teensy bit. (that's a technical term)

> QUOTE(inga @ Apr 22 2007, 09:40 AM)
>
> We used to get LLBN here on the 3ABN dish until a few months ago.
>
> Now, inexplicably, we can't get it any more.
>
> Has anyone else had the same experience?

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ Praise and Testimonies _ Hi From Barbara Kerr In Norway

---

Posted by: Johann Feb 5 2007, 03:29 PM

Barbara asked me to post this letter from Norway:

Dear Friends,

A lot has happened in the last several months and I need to write a quick letter and let you know what's happening with me.

The past three years have been fairly stressful for me, but this past year has been the worst. We had two people living in our house, and there was the 3abn mess that was heating up (and is still going strong), and I was still in the middle of it. There were other things that just happened. You know, just life.

Well, this past summer I didn't feel right. I knew I was sick again and that my body was out of whack. I just felt really bad. Not crohn's per se, but just not right. I started juicing again, walking everyday, etcetera, etcetera. Nothing really helped completely. I knew my pH was extremely acidic when I bit into a cherry tomato and my mouth broke out into blisters. I began monitoring my pH everyday, only to find that is was continuously between 5.0 and 6.0. A normal range for a healthy person is around 6.6 to 7.0 (urine & saliva).

I was so stressed over what was happening at 3ABN, and the lies that they were continuing to tell. I would try to read the dialog on BSDA and keep up with what was happening, only I continued to feel worse each time I would read some sickening account of discovery in the Shelton household. I wanted to participate in your conversations, but I just had to quit reading after a while. I had to protect myself, and I knew the added stress was making me worse. I hope you will understand.
In September, I flew to Washington State where Linda Shelton and I attended the same conference. It was the first time we had seen each other in a year and a half. We shared a room for a couple of days and got all caught up on our 'girl talk'. We had a great time laughing and reminiscing about 'the good old days'.

So many of you have asked me to pass along your love and good wishes, and that is exactly what I did! She thanks each of you from the bottom of her heart for all of your prayers, your love and your support! She misses you and she misses working in ministry more than I can ever express in words. Her heart is broken over what has been taken away from her. We cried together and we prayed together.

I encourage her every week on the phone that God still has a purpose for our lives. That He can bring something beautiful our of this mess, . . . and most of all, that He hasn't forgotten His girls. We love Him so much. I tell her over and over again, that God did not give her 20 years of experience, running a Christian Network, just to let that training go unused. I can't help but cry now, just thinking about the despair that she feels. Please, please, join me in praying that God will set the oppressed free, and reveal every secret thing!

While we were in Washington, Linda's house was broken into. The only things stolen were emails and papers concerning 3ABN. One document was left behind. A legal paper that had to do with her demise at 3ABN. Her signature was forged. Darrell Mundalls car was broken into the same week. He had two computers in the back seat, both were left there, but papers and things were scattered throughout the car.

I told her the stakes seemed higher now. They were acting more desperate for evidence to prove they were right. We don't know who broke into the house and car, but it seemed fishy to us.
In October I started having female problems which drove me to the Gyn. From there, I saw other specialists and a surgeon, all of which only promised me disfiguring surgery.
By the end of October I began feeling nauseated from the time I got up until I went to bed at night. I saw a gastroenterologist and had an endoscopy.

My Gyn kept pushing me to have surgery, he was sure I had cancer in my labia and wanted to remove it immediately. I was also diagnosed with a blood vessel disorder.

Linda Shelton encouraged me to see the Norwegian doctor (Arild Abrahamsen) that had treated her son. They call him the Miracle Doctor here in Norway. He also treats many famous European athletes from every sport imaginable. Just Wednesday I was sitting next to two young men from Sweden that were Olympic cross country skiers. One was named Peter Larson and the other Mat (something). I asked them all kinds of questions about what it's really like to train for the Olympics everyday. I also asked them why they come here. They smiled and said that no matter what their problem, virus or broken bone, the healing time with this treatment was less than half and they couldn't afford downtime.

The Swedish Olympic trainer came to see Dr. Abrahamsen a few days ago and asked him if he would treat and monitor his entire team during training. Dr. Abrahamsen is so swamped with patients, he has a one-year waiting list to be seen as a new patient. He's not even sure he will take on the Olympic cross-country ski team.

Getting back to the original story. I told my Gyn I wanted to try something natural since they had ONLY promised disfiguring surgery, and he pushed back in his chair and said, 'I get all kinds of strange patients, with all kinds of strange ideas!' He was pretty mad. I just looked at him and asked him nicely, 'if I was the doctor and I told him all I could promise him was to cut off his testicles, but he knew of a possible other way, wouldn't he try it?' He just looked at me disgusted and walked out. Some people are very narrow minded when it comes to complementary medicine. I'm NOT stupid either, and I have a right to alternative treatment. I hadn't told him I wouldn't have the surgery, . . . I just wasn't going to have it as my first option.

Just so you know, I have cancer in 4 places. Three female and in my stomach.
I decided at Linda's prompting to go to Norway before undergoing the knife. There are several reasons why I came to this doctor to be treated, but honestly, at the end of the day the entire thing was one great, big, divine appointment.

Dr. Abrahamsen (a general practice doc for 30+ years) got tired of treating sickness and wanted to be a wellness doc. About 15 years ago he was trained with new technology. He was also a friend of a friend. I had never met him before and was actually a bit leery of him.

At the exact same time I was really feeling sick and starting to go see specialists (oct/nov), Abrahamsen came across a newspaper article written by researchers stating that they had found an enzyme that was present in every cancer cell, no matter the type of cancer. The enzyme is called `CASPASE - 3`. Anyways, the scientists speculated that if they could find a way to activate this de-activated enzyme, they thought the body would rid itself of cancer.

Doctor Abrahamsen completely agreed. He immediately set to work, and within a short period of time, he found a combination of remedies that would activate the enzyme.

This doctor's brother has had Hogkins or non-hogkins for 3 or 4 years now. He was one of the first people treated in November. After one week of treatment he was cancer free. I know of one more patient, a lady who came to him with bloody discharge from her breast and breast cancer. She was cancer free after 6 treatments.

The theory the scientists came up with seems to work! Only no one knows about this discovery yet because it's still so new.

I am the third person (in the world) that has received this therapy. The really great thing is that it's not drugs like chemo and radiation. I feel so much better too! And I get to keep my red hair and my immune system gets stronger, not weaker.

I was re-tested Sunday afternoon (January 28th, 2007) and I am happy to report that I, too, am now cancer-free! I asked him why it has taken me so much longer (I've received 21 treatments now) than his brother and the other woman, and he told me that my cancer was much worse than theirs.

Now that the cancer level is at zero, he will begin treating my candida, fungus and thyroid problem. I'm not coming home until I'm well, but hopefully that will be at the end of Feb. I flew here Jan.4th.

All I can tell you about what the treatments are, is that they are all natural, and they are always given I.V. Treatment days are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. I receive two I.V.'s per day. I feel soooooooo much better now than when I arrived in early January. I feel like I did before I got sick this summer.

The treatments are a little bit pricey. The initial test, which takes about 2 – 3 hours, costs $750. After that, the I.V. treatments are $150 each. It's around $900 per week, but oh how sweet it is to be CANCER FREE!

Last week I asked the doc if he was excited about this discovery and what it could mean to the world? He said it was much too early to be excited about it, because it would require a lot more testing on patients with different kinds of cancer to see how it would work. He also didn't think it would work well on patients with brain tumors, due to the blood-brain-barrier, but he hasn't treated anyone with a brain tumor yet to see how they respond to it. He won't be making any claims anytime soon. (Although I feel a Nobel Prize coming on – for him, not for me) LOL- laugh out loud
I personally think this discovery is exciting. I just want to burst with the news. To be honest though, I wasn't going to share this story with the public, because it was, once again, so personal. Then two days ago God really dealt with me harshly, and kept bringing me to Esther chapter 4, verse 14. ``For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"

I would rather listen and obey, then cower with embarrassment. There are too many people hurting in this world to keep this information to myself. If you would like to write to the clinic about treatment for yourself, the address is: Dr. Arild Abrahamsen, N-1593 Svinndal, Norway. If you want to call his office the number from the States is 011-47-692-86-065 OR 011-47-900-21-902. He is licensed to practice Medicine in Scandinavia and all countries connected with the European Union. Athletic Medicine, Pain Relief, Medical Examinations, and Clinic for Cardiovascular diseases.
I wasn't sure what to think of Arild Abrahamsen before I met him. There was so much controversy around him and accussations from Danny Shelton. But after meeting this man, I had to chuckle inside about what a poor choice Danny had made, picking on this doctor. You only need to meet him to see it. He is filled with integrity, honesty and compassion for his patients. I would liken Abrahamsen in character, to that of Mark Finley or Doug Bachelor! I'm not afraid of him anymore, or leery, . . . I'm proud to call him a friend, and consider him one of the greatest doctors I have had the privilege of meeting.

God is blessing Abrahamsen with the gift of healing. True, it's not the science we grew up with in school, biology class, or nursing school, and it DOES require a shift in your paradigm to understand his technology, but God is blessing Abrahamsen's work, none-the-less!

I hope you all are happy and healthy and loving life. I have learned once again how valuable each and every day is. Life is a gift, we can use it to help and serve others, or we can waste it.
I'm so glad God gave you all to me, . . . this crazy and strangely wonderful Adventist family! I want you to know that I pray for all of you often! And I'm asking you to please pray for me.
It is kind of strange though. Here I am receiving treatments to save my life and all I can think about is how blessed I am. I'm not the sickest person in the U.S., and yet Gods' timing with this cure is so incredible! I have moments of feeling guilty. I feel the Lord's hand over me, under me, and around me, everywhere I go.

There is a purpose for me here in this foreign land and I continue to pray that God will use my life in a mighty and powerful way to help others receive life.

There are two Bible texts that have taken on new meaning to me since walking this road and I would like to share them with you.

Psalm 103:2-5. 'Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits; Who forgives all your iniquities, Who heals all your diseases, Who redeems your life from destruction, Who crowns you with lovingkidness and tender mercies, Who satisfies your mouth with good things, So that your youth is renewed like the eagle's."

Psalm 23:4-5. ``Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; For You are with me; Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me. You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies, ..."

God is so good!

If you would like to send a letter (it takes one week to receive it & 84 cents postage), you can mail it to:

Barbara Kerr
%Jan & Ragnild Andersen
Hjulstadasen 2
1593 Svinndal, Norway

I can also check my email. tasteofhealth@hotmail.com

All my love from Norway,

Barb

Posted by: calvin Feb 5 2007, 04:23 PM

Broke in Linda's house and stole emails related to 3ABN? Mercy! I don't know any of the characters in the 3ABN saga. But during a testimony like this, it is hard for me to believe Barbara (don't know her) would lie about Linda's break-in. I am sure the 3ABN apologist will spin it. But just hard for me to believe she is lying.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 5 2007, 04:31 PM

...and Derrell can testify to whether or not his broken into, unless I have missed that this was already posted.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 5 2007, 02:23 PM)
>
> Broke in Linda's house and stole emails related to 3ABN? Mercy! I don't know any of the characters in the 3ABN saga. But during a testimony like this, it is hard for me to believe Barbara (don't know her) would lie about Linda's break-in. I am sure the 3ABN apologist will spin it. But just hard for me to believe she is lying.

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 5 2007, 04:34 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 5 2007, 05:23 PM)
>
> Broke in Linda's house and stole emails related to 3ABN? Mercy! I don't know any of the characters in the 3ABN saga. But during a testimony like this, it is hard for me to believe Barbara (don't know her) would lie about Linda's break-in. I am sure the 3ABN apologist will spin it. But just hard for me to believe she is lying.

Yep...let the spin machine begin...can't wait to hear what they come up with for this one...

Posted by: Johann Feb 5 2007, 04:45 PM

We pray that Barb is a part in this breaktrough in the treatment of cancer. She is only the third patient receiving this new treatment which is based on the latest scientific research. Dr. Arild was very excited about this when he discovered the possibilities only a few weeks ago. With his advanced technology he is able to test how much cancer there still is left in the body until there is no more. In the past he was able to decrease the amount of cancer in the body, and he was able to help my wife, Irmgard, a lot, but it is only with this new discovery that he is able to get the cancer level down to zero.

Just a gentle warning: There is no lodging available in connection with his clinic, so that has to be arranged elsewhere.

Another problem is that his usual waiting list is one year, even though he treats up to 50 patients a day. He never had an ad in a paper, and there is not even a name nor a house number on his clinic. And it is far off the beaten track in rural settings.

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 6 2007, 12:23 AM)
>
> Broke in Linda's house and stole emails related to 3ABN? Mercy! I don't know any of the characters in the 3ABN saga. But during a testimony like this, it is hard for me to believe Barbara (don't know her) would lie about Linda's break-in. I am sure the 3ABN apologist will spin it. But just hard for me to believe she is lying.

By an unfortunate accident it was posted here on BSDA that Linda would be away for a few days. This was when it happened. (Could she sue BSDA???)

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Feb 5 2007, 04:49 PM

With all that has been going on, and with what happened to Linda's home, I think it would be a good idea never to post about anybody being away from their home.

Posted by: calvin Feb 5 2007, 04:50 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 5 2007, 04:45 PM)
>
> By an unfortunate accident it was posted here on BSDA that Linda would be away for a few days. This was when it happened. (Could she sue BSDA???)

I don't understand (Could she sue BSDA)? Why would Linda sue me?

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 5 2007, 04:58 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 5 2007, 02:50 PM)
>
> I don't understand (Could she sue BSDA)? Why would Linda sue me?

Calvin, I think Johann is being sacrastic!! We do know SOME would think this way - Linda would not

She has also had her email accounts "tapped" into as well - particular folders have dissapeared. Wonder how they knew her passwords? Especially when she changes those passwords...

Posted by: Johann Feb 5 2007, 05:43 PM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 6 2007, 12:50 AM)
>
> I don't understand (Could she sue BSDA)? Why would Linda sue me?

I love you, Calvin! Just asking a silly question - which you permit? Linda would never, never, consider suing you!!!! I should have used a smily!

Posted by: gardener Feb 5 2007, 07:09 PM

Barbara,

Thank you for the update. I am so sorry for all you are going through. Praise God for your healing and the wonderful report on the Dr and his work to cure cancer. I will remember you in my prayers for your continued healing and good health.

As far as the break in at Linda's home I can not tell you how shocked I am. Just when you think it can't get any worse--it does. Who, but someone involved with 3ABN would want to get hold of the information that was taken. That is about as low as you can go. Well maybe not-looks like it may even get worse. Please come Lord Jesus.

Please tell Linda I used to love to watch her on 3ABN. I just recently came back to church and was amazed that there was a 24/7 channel about the SDA message. I would watch Linda and think that must be what angels look like.

Posted by: calvin Feb 5 2007, 07:38 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 5 2007, 05:43 PM)
>
> I love you, Calvin! Just asking a silly question - which you permit? Linda would never, never, consider suing you!!!! I should have used a smily!

You got me Johann.

Posted by: Fran Feb 5 2007, 09:19 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 5 2007, 03:29 PM)
>
> Barbara asked me to post this letter from Norway:
>
> Dear Friends,

> Dr. Abrahamsen (a general practice doc for 30+ years) got tired of treating sickness and wanted to be a wellness doc. About 15 years ago he was trained with new technology. He was also a friend of a friend. I had never met him before and was actually a bit leery of him.
>
> Now that the cancer level is at zero, he will begin treating my candida, fungus and thyroid problem. I'm not coming home until I'm well, but hopefully that will be at the end of Feb. I flew here Jan.4th.
>
> All I can tell you about what the treatments are, is that they are all natural, and they are always given I.V. Treatment days are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. I receive two I.V.'s per day. I feel soooooooo much better now than when I arrived in early January. I feel like I did before I got sick this summer.
>
> The treatments are a little bit pricey. The initial test, which takes about 2 - 3 hours, costs $750. After that, the I.V. treatments are $150 each. It's around $900 per week, but oh how sweet it is to be CANCER FREE!
>
> I personally think this discovery is exciting. I just want to burst with the news. To be honest though, I wasn't going to share this story with the public, because it was, once again, so personal. Then two days ago God really dealt with me harshly, and kept bringing me to Esther chapter 4, verse 14. ``For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"
>
> ... I'm proud to call him a friend, and consider him one of the greatest doctors I have had the privilege of meeting.
>
> God is blessing Abrahamsen with the gift of healing. True, it's not the science we grew up with in school, biology class, or nursing school, and it DOES require a shift in your paradigm to understand his technology, but God is blessing Abrahamsen's work, none-the-less!
>
> There is a purpose for me here in this foreign land and I continue to pray that God will use my life in a mighty and powerful way to help others receive life.
>
> There are two Bible texts that have taken on new meaning to me since walking this road and I would like to share them with you.
>
> Psalm 103:2-5. 'Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits; Who forgives all your iniquities, Who heals all your diseases, Who redeems your life from destruction, Who crowns you with lovingkidness and tender mercies, Who satisfies your mouth with good things, So that your youth is renewed like the eagle's."
>
> Psalm 23:4-5. ``Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; For You are with me; Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me. You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies, ..."
>
> God is so good!
>
> Barb

wish I were there with you! What a powerful testimony! Thanks for sharing.

alvin's sister-in-law, Paula, would be a greatly blessed by this treatment. Her life of ministry has een a great blessing to many. I believe she should continue to bless many through her gifts and njoy a healthy long life too!

aybe one day God will provide the means for me to go see Dr A. too.

Posted by: daylily Feb 5 2007, 09:31 PM

I agree, a powerful testimony. I'm curious as to how the doctor tests for cancer after the treatments.

It makes me sad to hear about the break-ins. Where is it all going to end? Where was Derrell when his car was broken into? Was he in IL?

Posted by: wwjd Feb 5 2007, 11:13 PM

[quote name='gardener' date='Feb 5 2007, 07:09 PM' post='175681']
Barbara,

Thank you for the update. I am so sorry for all you are going through. Praise God for your healing and the wonderful report on the Dr and his work to cure cancer. I will remember you in my prayers for your continued healing and good health.

As far as the break in at Linda's home I can not tell you how shocked I am. Just when you think it can't get any worse--it does. Who, but someone involved with 3ABN would want to get hold of the information that was taken. That is about as low as you can go. Well maybe not-looks like it may even get worse. Please come Lord Jesus.

Are you really thinking about what is going on here. Somebody mentions that Linda's house was broke into and then Darrel's car. Next thing that comes on is that 3abn people are responsible. Yet another ludicrous accusation. Right now, on this site, 3abn would get the blame for global warming and inflation, as well as the war in Irak. I believe that even the great Gailon Joy said that bsda had taken all of this over the top. If the so called Investigator and Accuser of 3abn said that,, wow, that says a lot.

Posted by: inga Feb 5 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 5 2007, 04:29 PM)
>
> Barbara asked me to post this letter from Norway:
>
> While we were in Washington, Linda's house was broken into. The only things stolen were emails and papers concerning 3ABN. One document was left behind. A legal paper that had to do with her demise at 3ABN. Her signature was forged. Darrell Mundalls car was broken into the same week. He had two computers in the back seat, both were left there, but papers and things were scattered throughout the car.

Firstly, I want to thank Barbary for thinking of us and updating us on her situation. My prayers are with her, and I'm so happy to hear that she was able to go to Norway for treatment of her cancer and have such wonderful results.

However, the one paragraph above really caught my attention. Such a break-in normally makes an individual feel violated and threatened. That only 3ABN materials were meddled with would seem to send a clear message. (I suspect that the .. ahem... "robbers" were careful enough so nothing can be proven.) Such criminal behavior does tell its own story.

However, if Barbara or someone else is able to clarify, I'm curious about that forged signature. On what kind of document was her signature forged?

It also seems that the break-in into Darrel's car was meant to intimidate because nothing of value was stolen. It tells us of what caliber "the opposition" is.

It seems to me that another account on this board mentioned someone breaking into Linda's car and confronting her with a cheap watch found in the glove compartment? Might there be a connection?

(I do hope that both Linda and Derrel reported the break-ins, so that there is an official record.)

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 5 2007, 11:50 PM

> QUOTE
>
> Are you really thinking about what is going on here.

Obfuscation comes to mind...

> QUOTE
>
> Somebody mentions that Linda's house was broke into and then Darrel's car. Next thing that comes on is that 3abn people are responsible.

Ok... present a plausible alternative explanation for nothing being taken other than papers and the like that mentioned 3ABN

> QUOTE
>
> Yet another ludicrous accusation. Right now, on this site, 3abn would get the blame for global warming and inflation, as well as the war in Irak. I believe that even the great Gailon Joy said that bsda had taken all of this over the top. If the so called Investigator and Accuser of 3abn said that,, wow, that says a lot.

You really should enter a 12 step program for that addiction to hyperbole you have...

In His service,
Mr. J

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 5 2007, 11:57 PM

> QUOTE(inga @ Feb 5 2007, 09:40 PM)
>
> Firstly, I want to thank Barbary for thinking of us and updating us on her situation. My prayers are with her, and I'm so happy to hear that she was able to go to Norway for treatment of her cancer and have such wonderful results.
>
> However, the one paragraph above really caught my attention. Such a break-in normally makes an individual feel violated and threatened. That only 3ABN materials were meddled with would seem to send a clear message. (I suspect that the .. ahem... "robbers" were careful enough so nothing can be proven.) Such criminal behavior does tell its own story.
> However, if Barbara or someone else is able to clarify, I'm curious about that forged signature. On what kind of document was her signature forged?
>
> It also seems that the break-in into Darrel's car was meant to intimidate because nothing of value was stolen. It tells us of what caliber "the opposition" is.
>
> It seems to me that another account on this board mentioned someone breaking into Linda's car and > confronting her with a cheap watch found in the glove compartment? Might there be a connection?

>
> (I do hope that both Linda and Derrel reported the break-ins, so that there is an official record.)

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 6 2007, 12:10 AM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 5 2007, 09:50 PM)
>
> Obfuscation comes to mind...
> Ok... present a plausible alternative explanation for nothing being taken other than papers and the like that mentioned 3ABN
> You really should enter a 12 step program for that addiction to hyperbole you have...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

n everyones life comes times of truth. Sometimes one will refuse to see what is coming towards them especially if it is becoming more clear it is the way to go - but in a dysfunctional mental state, one will seek to deny it, run from it, change it, whatever it takes to protect ones own paradigm of reality...if one chooses to emain ignorant and in the dark, because it is more comforting then dealing with the reality of truth, it is their choice. Justifying what they do not want to accept, in order to continue in their "reality". They believe and so t is. That is their reality. Someone can not make a person move out of that reality until they are ready to ace the truth and accept it for what it is. Meanwhile, their they sit. If however, they choose to grasp what is before them, be willing to acknowledge it and embrace it, allow it, truly give it a chance, with help, they may ind the beginnings of liberation.

Posted by: Johann Feb 6 2007, 07:28 AM

> QUOTE(calvin @ Feb 6 2007, 12:23 AM)
>
> Broke in Linda's house and stole emails related to 3ABN? Mercy! I don't know any of the characters in the 3ABN saga. But during a testimony like this, it is hard for me to believe Barbara (don't know her) would lie about Linda's break-in. I am sure the 3ABN apologist will spin it. But just hard for me to believe she is lying.

he burglary was not the main point in Barbara's letter. Barbara Kerr, by the way, was having programs on 3ABN together with Linda which were somewhat similar to those of your brother and sister-in-law. She was cut off together with Linda.

As many of you will remember, Danny Shelton has painted a picure of Dr. Arild Abrhamsen as a murderer, a devil, a mind manipolator, a quack and false physician, that he has been sending out to 3ABN supporters. All this in an effort to make people believe that this physician stole the same Linda from him that he was doing everything possible to get rid of.

Barbara is giving an eye witness account of what kind of person he is, and that Danny has painted a false picture of him.

Barbara tells me also that she has been able to share her faith with other patients she meets at the clinic. People who experience the healing power of God are willing to listen to the Gospel of the divine Healer.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 09:57 AM

Just in case you didn't know, I just wanted to let you know that your statement here is what is commonly called, "messy". If you have a point to make, make it without the attempt to divide and conquer tatics. This move is akin to Donald Trump's tatics with Rosie O'Donnell when he emailed her what Barbara was "really" saying about her....messy!

> QUOTE
>
> I believe that even the great Gailon Joy said that bsda had taken all of this over the top. If the so called Investigator and Accuser of 3abn said that,, wow, that says a lot.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 6 2007, 10:01 AM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 6 2007, 07:57 AM)
>
> Just in case you didn't know, I just wanted to let you know that your statement here is what is commonly called, "messy". If you have a point to make, make it without the attempt to divide and conquer tatics. This move is akin to Donald Trump's tatics with Rosie O'Donnell when he emailed her what Barbara was "really" saying about her....messy!

...not only that, her/his/their implication is incorrect as well.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 01:08 PM

> QUOTE(awesumtenor @ Feb 5 2007, 11:50 PM)
>
> Obfuscation comes to mind...
> Ok... present a plausible alternative explanation for nothing being taken other than papers and the like that mentioned 3ABN
> You really should enter a 12 step program for that addiction to hyperbole you have...
>
> In His service,
> Mr. J

A plausible explanation is that we heard it from Linda. All of you on this forum that say Linda has kept her mouth shut about said events...what could you be thinking? Where do you think so many details about contracts, salaries, pregnancy tests, harrasment from Danny, the handling of their own private finances, what Walt T did or did not say to Linda, what John Lomacang did or did not say to Linda, What Danny did or did not say to Linda and on and on and on......People, it doesn't matter who repeated it whether it be Johann, or Gailon, or Darryl, or Pickle..the source WAS HER. How else would you be hearing about events and conversations where only she and Danny were in room? Supposedly she didn't have control of any of their finances, now, how do you suppose you on this forum heard about? Everything you are telling here had it's original source from Linda. I repeat, so many of the things written here were private conversations, events , blah blah blah They could not have come from anyone else, as the original source. That being the case, we are all supposed to take it as fact? Those of you who won't admit that she had to be the source for so many things, don't want to admit it, because you know better. common sense prevails and there is no getting around it. Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means) and Darryl backs it up!!! Darryl has his own vendetta. So this proves, once again, that most everything on here as come from one source and you all have fell for it while saying that Linda has kept silent......bright, folks, very bright...

Posted by: beartrap Feb 6 2007, 01:14 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 12:08 PM)
>
> Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means) and Darryl backs it up!!!

When? Where? You lied.

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 6 2007, 01:15 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 01:14 PM)
>
> When? Where? You lied.

Baseless accusations is all they have left. I've seen that first hand.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 01:17 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 01:14 PM)
>
> When? Where? You lied.

When, where? Read Barbara's letter. She says that Linda says her house and your car was broken into. I am repeating what was said in the letter, so really, who exactly are you calling a liar? Daryl, a lot of people know that "you" do not need to call anyone a "liar."

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 6 2007, 01:18 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 01:17 PM) ☐
>
> When, where? Read Barbara's letter. She says that Linda says her house and your car was broken into. I am repeating what was said in the letter, so really, who exactly are you calling a liar? Daryl, a lot of people know that "you" do not need to call anyone a "liar."

See what I mean?

Posted by: beartrap Feb 6 2007, 01:20 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 6 2007, 12:18 PM) ☐
>
> See what I mean?

Mmmhmmm

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 01:30 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 01:20 PM) ☐
>
> Mmmhmmm

Yes Darryl that is a typical answer mmmmm. Instead of apologizing for calling me a liar. Your mmmmmm never addressed that Linda said your car was broke into, not me.

Posted by: beartrap Feb 6 2007, 01:34 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 12:30 PM) ☐
>
> Yes Darryl that is a typical answer mmmmm. Instead of apologizing for calling me a liar. Your mmmmmm never addressed that Linda said your car was broke into, not me.

You said "Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means)" Someone ELSE saying that a car was broken into is not "backing up" all of that.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 6 2007, 02:23 PM

> QUOTE(ex3ABNemployee @ Feb 6 2007, 01:18 PM) ☐
>
> See what I mean?

You say you are here because of what happened to you when TS was your pastor. So, my question is this.....Why are you involved in all the other subjects going on here? You yourself said you weren't employed at 3ABN since the late 80"s when they had just started. So, the truth is, you don't know anything about their present employees, administration, board or any truths or untruths about Linda or Danny or any of the detailed conversations that go on here. So, why do you involve yourself in it? You have joined the bandwagon of 3abn bashers and honestly, that is not fair on you're part. There are lots and lots of things that you don't know and never will so it isn't right for you jump on the whole organization about that which you know not. Also, before you answer that 3abn was involved in a cover up on TS, then, if that were true, you would also have to hold Linda responsible. She approved his hiring and showed her approval by writing songs together and performing with him countless times. So just be fair. If you are going to hold 3 abn accountable in some aspect then hold her and her supporters accountable too.
Make sense?

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 01:34 PM) ☐
>
> You said "Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means)" Someone ELSE saying that a car was broken into is not "backing up" all of that.

Darryl, quit trying to act confused. Read the letter. The source was Linda and you have plenty of reason to "back her up."
End of discussion

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Feb 6 2007, 02:45 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 02:34 PM) ☐
>
> You said "Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means)" Someone ELSE saying that a car was broken into is not "backing up" all of that.

So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??

I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.

If you all want to discuss health issues or write letters that have an uplifting content, please feel free to respond to this message. But if you are only filled with hatred, frustration and are argumentative, please, I implore you to keep your comments to yourself.

If I sound a little hurt and frustrated it's because I am! I feel like I walked onto a 6th grade play ground today where all the kids were fighting with each other. I'm lonely over here, . . . and I've been fighting for my life for weeks now. This experience has changed my life, and it has the potential of saving thousands of lives. I guess my perspective has changed on what's important, and what isn't. Fighting is a waste of time.

I've got to go to bed now. I will talk to you all tomorrow.

Barb

Posted by: västergötland Feb 6 2007, 03:01 PM

> QUOTE(beartrap @ Feb 6 2007, 08:34 PM)
>
> You said "Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means)" Someone ELSE saying that a car was broken into is not "backing up" all of that.

So was the car broken in to or was it not?

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 09:45 PM)
>
> So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??
>
> I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.
>
> If you all want to discuss health issues or write letters that have an uplifting content, please feel free to respond to this message. But if you are only filled with hatred, frustration and are argumentative, please, I implore you to keep your comments to yourself.
>
> If I sound a little hurt and frustrated it's because I am! I feel like I walked onto a 6th grade play ground today where all the kids were fighting with each other. I'm lonely over here, . . . and I've been fighting for my life for weeks now. This experience has changed my life, and it has the potential of saving thousands of lives. I guess my perspective has changed on what's important, and what isn't. Fighting is a waste of time.
>
> I've got to go to bed now. I will talk to you all tomorrow.
>
> Barb

Maybe you should post the letter in the health section aswell? Anything ending up in the 3abn area appears to have open hunting season written all over it..

Posted by: Nuggie Feb 6 2007, 03:04 PM

> QUOTE(västergötland @ Feb 6 2007, 04:01 PM)
>
> So was the car broken in to or was it not?
> Maybe you should post the letter in the health section aswell? Anything ending up in the 3abn area appears to have open hunting season written all over it..

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 6 2007, 03:13 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 6 2007, 02:23 PM)
>
> You say you are here because of what happened to you when TS was your pastor. So, my question is this.....Why are you involved in all the other subjects going on here? You yourself said you weren't employed at 3ABN since the late 80"s when they had just started. So, the truth is, you don't know anything about their present employees, administration, board or any truths or untruths about Linda or Danny or any of the detailed conversations that go on here. So, why do you involve yourself in it? You have joined the bandwagon of 3abn bashers and honestly, that is not fair on you're part. There are lots and lots of things that you don't know and never will so it isn't right for you jump on the whole organization about that which you know not. Also, before you answer that 3abn was involved in a cover up on TS, then, if that were true, you would also have to hold Linda responsible. She approved his hiring and showed her approval by writing songs together and performing with him countless times. So just be fair. If you are going to hold 3 abn accountable in some aspect then hold her and her supporters accountable too. Make sense?

You certainly read a lot into that one line. Where have I bashed 3abn? Where did I say 3abn was involved in a coverup?

All I know is you and a few others (or at least a few other screen names) have come on here and made little snide remarks about myself and other victims. You want to talk to ME about being fair?

You have made comments about myself and other letter writers. How does the Tommy Shelton situation affect you? Why are you involved in it? Perhaps if you don't want comments from me about anything else, you should not comment on my situation.

My point was that when certain people, who shall at this point remain nameless, know they're in trouble they start trying to tear down those who oppose them. It's been that way for years. I'm tired of seeing it, and I'm going to speak up.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 04:43 PM

Ok folks. I am going to state I am confused and ask for clarification.

I thought I read that someone named Daryl had his car broken into and I have not a clue who this person is.

I was under impression that ex3abn is named Duane and was a victim of TS that has come forward.

What am I missing?

nw

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 05:06 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the > forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??

>
> I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.
>
> If you all want to discuss health issues or write letters that have an uplifting content, please feel free to respond to this message. But if you are only filled with hatred, frustration and are argumentative, please, I implore you to keep your comments to yourself.
>
> If I sound a little hurt and frustrated it's because I am! I feel like I walked onto a 6th grade play ground today where all the kids were fighting with each other. I'm lonely over here, . . . and I've been fighting for my life for weeks now. This experience has changed my life, and it has the potential of saving thousands of lives. I guess my perspective has changed on what's important, and what isn't. Fighting is a waste of time.
>
> I've got to go to bed now. I will talk to you all tomorrow.
>
> Barb

Barbara, I do not know you and in fact have never seen your program on 3ABN.

want you to know that as of 5:45 EDT today your letter or this thread has already been viewed 775 times!! There have been less than 40 posts including ones of support from many and those by Johann.

would like to believe that we who are here with open minds "got it" along the lines of Johann's recent post wondering if we did.

add my prayers to those of the others for your ongoing success in your treatment.

stand with others in amazement at what I am hearing about the treatment you have received and its apparent success. How I would love to see your medical records and talk to the doctor about what he is using to treat you. I bet everyone that read your letter recalled a past or current loved one that might have benefited from the treatment and ached a little that the loved one never had that chance.

understand your reluctance to come forward with your testimony because the medical problem is one that is gynecological and therefore somehow not "acceptable" for public discussion. I still remember when my best friend's mom who was a RN and had worked in a SDA hospital signed herself into another hospital for her hysterectomy under another name so no one at church would know.......thank goodness I hope we have gotten beyond that.

So even though dozens or hundreds of us have added your testimony regarding your experiences with the doctor to our understanding of him, it is far easier for people to pick up and comment on the break in (s?). It is the more sensational aspect of your letter and one people can get emotional about as they see another possible injustice and speculate what it may mean. When I see how many people look at these posts/topics that are unregistered or registered and never comment, I am sometimes amazed at the number of those who are not willing to express opinions or ask questions. But that is ok. Don't think for one minute that just about every one of those who read the letter did not offer up a quick prayer for your ongoing recovery. But you are not going to see 100 posts saying the same thing. I will sometimes comment in such situations if I am an early reader and poster but not after 3 or 4 have said would i would have said.

So please do not question whether you should have sent your letter. Those who come here to read about what is happening want facts. We have many more allegations and he said/she said hearsay reported than facts on which to reach conclusions. The break in was a fact and although everyone will speculate as to what it means in the scheme of things, we will probably never know.

I have perceived from what I have read by others that you have many supporters and I know without a doubt they are happy to hear from you and pray that your own brand of ministry will continue despite all obstacles placed in your path.

God bless,
nw

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 6 2007, 05:32 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 6 2007, 04:43 PM)
>
> I was under impression that ex3abn is named Duane and was a victim of TS that has come forward.
>
> What am I missing?
>
> nw

That's correct. I'm Duane.

I'll let beartrap answer your other question if he so chooses.

Posted by: princessdi Feb 6 2007, 06:17 PM

Sorry Barbara,

I, too, grapped hold to the sensational portion of your message. My first thought was that of my Dad. He passed 10 years ago(Whew!! doesn't seem that long ago). He had a kidney transplant, two in fact, the first one never did work properly, the second took like a charm. Anyway the first kidney years later developed cancer and he had to have chemotherapy. The oncologist informed his kidney specialists that they had never been able to save the transplanted kidneys before. His drs. told the oncologists to go back to the drawing board, my Dad was their star patient, and they weren't going to lose that kidney! They had better try to mix something up! They did, and they wrote it up in the medical journals, and no people with transplants no longer have to lose their kidneys with their cancer treatments. My Dad and the kidney came through it like champs!

So the good Dr.'s discovery is indeed a miracle! Praise God!

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 12:45 PM)
>
> So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??
>
> I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.
>
> If you all want to discuss health issues or write letters that have an uplifting content, please feel free to respond to this message. But if you are only filled with hatred, frustration and are argumentative, please, I implore you to keep your comments to yourself.
>
> If I sound a little hurt and frustrated it's because I am! I feel like I walked onto a 6th grade play ground today where all the kids were fighting with each other. I'm lonely over here, . . . and I've been fighting for > my life for weeks now. This experience has changed my life, and it has the potential of saving thousands of lives. I guess my perspective has changed on what's important, and what isn't. Fighting is a waste of time.

>
> I've got to go to bed now. I will talk to you all tomorrow.
>
> Barb

Posted by: inga Feb 6 2007, 06:58 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.

arbara, we are happy for you and the results of the treatment you received from Dr. Abrahamsen. We pray or your continued well-being.

e are happy that he has made some progress in the search for a cure for cancer.

owever, as you shared, he realizes that he is far from being able to claim his treatment as a "cure for ancer." Furthermore, he is booked ahead by a year or more. This means that, for all practical purposes, what e is doing now can benefit only a fortunate few until his research reaches the point that it can be shared with thers who will use the treatment on their patients. (I can think of several individuals now who could have een or could be helped if they had access to his treatment. For some it is already too late. And others don't ave a year or more to wait ...)

e have noted this, and we wait ...

he reason I (and probably others) focused on the break-in of Linda's house is that this is the 3ABN forum, nd we are focused on issues that relate directly to 3ABN. The fact that only 3ABN-related stuff was taken or ampered with in her house is therefore highly significant.

e are here to see that things change sufficiently at 3ABN so that it will become the ministry it is proclaimed o be even now. We want to see the abuses stopped. That is our focus.

gain, we thank you for dropping in, and we rejoice over the good news. However, please don't blame us for icking up on some details relevant to our focus here.

s Johann suggested, your whole testimony is relevant in another way. It confirms that Dr. Abrahamsen is, ndeed, a remarkable and successful doctor, contrary to claims by Dan Shelton that he is a quack. Thank you or sharing.

nd may God continue to bless you.

y the way, I'm just wondering ... Did Dr. Abrahamsen give any instructions regarding lifestyle to remain ancer-free?

Posted by: ex3ABNemployee Feb 6 2007, 09:52 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 02:45 PM)
>
> So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??

Barbara,

I do apologize if I said anything to upset you. I will be praying for you and your continued recovery. My mother went through colon cancer for 18 months before she passed away. I know how stressful an illness can be, not only for the patient but for all those around them.

Please keep us updated on your progress. God bless.

Posted by: SandyColorado Feb 7 2007, 01:10 PM

> QUOTE(Barbara Kerr @ Feb 6 2007, 03:45 PM)
>
> So this is it people? Just a bunch of arguing over Linda's house being broken into? You have missed the forest because of a couple of trees? Are you all so blind that you can't see the real issue here? It took me DAYS to gather the courage to share my heart and make my life vulnerable for everyone to see, but God said, DO IT! So I did. There are thousands of people out there hurting that need ministered to, they NEED this health information. Are you even excited about it??
>
> I'm so excited I could burst! The house being broken into has been taken care of, it's been reported to the police months ago, security has been increased, Linda was shaken -- but she's fine now. I don't know if Darrell reported his car break in, I don't think so, but it DOESN't matter. It's NOT the issue. I will not discuss the forged document and I will not supply information about it. Linda is handling it.
>
> If you all want to discuss health issues or write letters that have an uplifting content, please feel free to respond to this message. But if you are only filled with hatred, frustration and are argumentative, please, I implore you to keep your comments to yourself.
>
> If I sound a little hurt and frustrated it's because I am! I feel like I walked onto a 6th grade play ground today where all the kids were fighting with each other. I'm lonely over here, . . . and I've been fighting for my life for weeks now. This experience has changed my life, and it has the potential of saving thousands of lives. I guess my perspective has changed on what's important, and what isn't. Fighting is a waste of time.
>
> I've got to go to bed now. I will talk to you all tomorrow.
>
> Barb

Barbara,

I am SO glad to see you back - and to hear the encouraging news on your health. I have been wondering where you were - and had hoped that we hadn't made you mad here on BSDA. I know that each one of us want the truth to be revealed, and get tired of trudging thru all of the gunk to get there - but praise God there are people like you out there who are are willing to put out uplifting and encouraging information. Please don't stop coming and sharing your love and information with us - and please tell Linda that most of us here really do love her and are rooting for her (with God's grace) to win in the end.

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Feb 7 2007, 03:24 PM

Dear Noahs Wife, Princessdi, Ex3ABNEmployee, Inga, Sandy Colorado, & all,

Thanks for your words of encouragement. I really needed them tonight and they were heartfelt, believe me. Some of you also gave some good advice and it was much appreciated. Thank you!

As far as the year wait to be a patient, . . . please don't let that discourage you from calling and asking. Often he works in someone depending on how critical their condition is. The year wait is for people with non-life threatening conditions that want to be new patients.

Today it was in the mid 20's and snowed the entire day. Big beautiful flakes. It was beyond beautiful, so I decided to take a long walk with my camera. I walked down a long road that hadn't been plowed, far back into God's country. I was completely alone and you couldn't hear a sound. It was as if God had decorated every tree just for me. At the end of the road I discovered a lake. It was frozen over and covered with a fresh blanket of snow. I stared at it for a long time, pretending that it was the sea of glass. I brushed the snow off of a fence post and set my camera on self-timer, and took a few silly pictures of myself at the lake. Even though I was by myself, I never felt alone!

The walk was refreshing. It made me feel like I was surrounded by purity, and I fell in love with life all over again on that road. An hour and a half later I made it back to my apartment, . . . frozen, but happy. I drank down half a quart of carrot juice and then tried to warm up with a hot cup of chamomile tea. I think I will sleep very well tonight. I hope I dream about walking with Jesus on a long, snow-covered road in the forest.

Hugs, Barbara Kerr

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 04:51 PM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 7 2007, 12:43 AM)
>
> Ok folks. I am going to state I am confused and ask for clarification.
>
> I thought I read that someone named Daryl had his car broken into and I have not a clue who this person is.
>
> I was under impression that ex3abn is named Duane and was a victim of TS that has come forward.
>
> What am I missing?
>
> nw

Perhaps we need to give some of you a clarification. Yes, you read right, that not only did someone break into Linda's house, but someone also broke into Darrell's car in California. Linda is Danny Shelton's former wife who got fired from 3ABN for something she had not done. Darrell Mundall is Danny Shelton's former son-in-law who was chased away from 3ABN because he knew that Linda was accused of something she had not done, and such people were not welcome on the premises.

There is also a Daryl on this net, but he was not involved in the case from the beginning. He is the manager of the MSDAOL net in Canada, which, at the present time seems to be the largest net affiliated with Adventists, trailed by BSDA. I think Daryl learned of this case by reading and following the discussions on BSDA, and then he decided to open it up for discussion on his own net too, and he is doing a tremendous job of it, although it is handled somewhat different than here at BSDA.

You will find the bosses on both nets participating in the discussions on the other net as well.

Posted by: franklyamazed Feb 7 2007, 08:13 PM

Hi Barbara,

I've watched you LOTS of times, and you're by far my all-time favorite of the 3ABN kitchen crew! I always appreciated your much more intellectual approach to things from water quality to nutrition.

I'm shocked and dismayed to learn of your condition, and know that lots of people are praying for you. There is hope, however, and power in prayer. I know of a particularly hopeless appearing case with a ruptured malignant tumor, etc., that was saved by a combo of surgery, chemo and radiation, so if there is any residual that cannot be cared for, you still have other options.

Best wishes to you, and God bless.

Posted by: Bystander Feb 7 2007, 09:13 PM

> QUOTE(Johann @ Feb 7 2007, 04:51 PM)
>
> Perhaps we need to give some of you a clarification. Yes, you read right, that not only did someone break into Linda's house, but someone also broke into Darrell's car in California. Linda is Danny Shelton's former wife who got fired from 3ABN for something she had not done. Darrell Mundall is Danny Shelton's former son-in-law who was chased away from 3ABN because he knew that Linda was accused of something she had not done, and such people were not welcome on the premises.
>
> There is also a Daryl on this net, but he was not involved in the case from the beginning. He is the manager of the MSDAOL net in Canada, which, at the present time seems to be the largest net affiliated with Adventists, trailed by BSDA. I think Daryl learned of this case by reading and following the discussions on BSDA, and then he decided to open it up for discussion on his own net too, and he is doing a tremendous job of it, although it is handled somewhat different than here at BSDA.
>
> You will find the bosses on both nets participating in the discussions on the other net as well.

Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

Posted by: Carmel Feb 7 2007, 09:18 PM

Dear Barbara,

Few weeks ago I called you home, and got your message that you are out of country till the beginning of February... Couldn't wait to be able to talk with you... and then, few days ago I read your message here on BSDA. What a surprise!

BTW, since you have many friends, I must tell you that I am the one who met you and Claudia in the Marriot Hotel two years ago..and since you were as cute in reality as I've seen you on the shows on the 3abn, instantly felt close to you... and am very proud of calling you my friend ever since!

Last August, you have sent me to this forum, and I have been reading it silently to this day. Now you are causing me to post here for the first time. I wish the circumstances were different, but I am very encouraged with the help you have received, and the courage God has given you. My husband and my boys were on our knees as soon as we read the first half of you letter. It just happend so, that I had to interrupt reading it for few hours, before I read the other half, in which you gave the good news. I am telling you, it was very hard time for me, those few hours, not knowing what you wrote int the second half. Now I am praising the Lord God Almighty for the healing that is taking place, and the hope He has given to you and to us through you.

I wish I could be with you in Europe, I love the "Old Mother", and I know Norway must be very pretty country. It is probably not much colder there than here (where we are) right now. I have so much to tell you, and to ask you... Come back soon, would you?!

Be of good courage, our Creator cares about you, and knows what is best for you. You are in good hands, His and His servant's, you couldn't wish for more!

If you want, PM me on BSDA, and leave me your direct ph.#, I would love to call you.

You are in my & my family's prayers. I will also pray for you with my prayer group, Monday evenings!

God bless you!

Carmel

Posted by: PrincessDrRe Feb 7 2007, 09:21 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 11:13 PM) ☐
>
> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

Okay?

Now.

What is the real reason he was fired? You can't just say...."he knows why he is not longer there..." and let it go at that....

You got proof? Put it out there!

All of this would be killed dead if folks would just empty out their hands and see whose playing the "Trump" cards....

It would be over in an instant - if the evidence was truly in existance.

What is the real reason he was fired?

☒ sn

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 7 2007, 09:28 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 07:13 PM) ☐

> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

again...where is your proof? is it what DANNY SAYS??? no one believes him. he will say anything. We know what ds does to people he doenst' like and won't kiss his feet - we know what he does to those who stand up to him....we know what he does to those who get in his way....if you believe everything he says, YOU have the problem. GET A GRIP. Issss not workin' ☐

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 7 2007, 09:30 PM

> QUOTE(PrincessDrRe @ Feb 7 2007, 10:21 PM) ☐
>
> Okay?
>
> Now.
>
> What is the real reason he was fired? You can't just say...."he knows why he is not longer there..." and let it go at that....
>
> You got proof? Put it out there!
>
> All of this would be killed dead if folks would just empty out their hands and see whose playing the "Trump" cards....
>
> It would be over in an instant - if the evidence was truly in existance.
>
> What is the real reason he was fired?
>
> ☒ sn

See, this is where he/she comes up with the statement that they are bringing light to all the falsehoods presented here when all they do is create doubt. Smoke and mirrors...

Oh yes, please tell us the "real" reason DM was fired. While you're at it, tell us the "real" reason Linda was fired. Oh please, oh please.

Posted by: Johann Feb 7 2007, 09:43 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 8 2007, 05:13 AM) ☐
>
> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

Seeing that you are still misspelling my name tells how inaccurate you are in your evaluation of things.

Thanks for revealing your inadequate power of perceptions.

You keep on whirling up dustbowls and avoiding to answer real questions. Many people have asked you questions which you completely ignore, and just keep on whirling up dust to keep away from the real issue.

Did you realize that when DM applied for another job Danny and his friends kept calling the employing orgaization warning them against hiring DM because he was addicted to a certain bad habit? The office thanked each caller for their concern, and asked them to call back when they could verify what they were saying.

Only one of the many callers called back. This was the 3ABN lawyer, and he called to apologize for spreading false rumors. The same lawyer later resigned from the 3ABN board, and why? He found it impossible to retain his integrity if he had to stay on with the board of 3ABN!!!

How can you claim his departure had nothing to do with Linda? I'm afraid you are getting your information from the same source that forced the lawyer to resign.

Posted by: calvin Feb 7 2007, 10:20 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 09:13 PM)
>
> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

Bystander, his name is Johann. Get it right from now on.

Posted by: inga Feb 7 2007, 10:35 PM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:13 PM)
>
> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

ofl Bystander, your remarks are not a reply to Johann!! You just used Johann's post for an excuse to make insinuations about Darrell

I suppose 3ABN admins are so used to despicable tactics that they can't help themselves .. it sure doesn't make you & Dan look any better!

Posted by: sister Feb 8 2007, 06:40 AM

> QUOTE(Bystander @ Feb 7 2007, 10:13 PM)
>
> Yohann, please don't stick your neck out for DM. He knows why he is not longer there. As do several employees, his ex pastors and probably several on the church board. It had nothing to do with Linda and he knows it.

So, Bystander, I too am calling your bluff! And I am willing to stick my neck out at any time for Derrell. You are using the same lying innuendos that Danny and company have attempted to use against Derrell for a number of years. Dan began using them against Derrell the first time he and Melody divorced. I know, I was there and heard the gossip that was circulating through Thompsonville church members and 3ABN employees. At the time I went investigating for myself and the original source of the rumors about Derrell were always the same: Danny Shelton. Those rumors didn't hold water then and they still do not now! So Bystander, put up or shut up. And if you are not willing to show your hand on this issue---and a number of other issues---why should anyone believe anything you or your "partner" Eye Witness say about anything? You use the same computer and continually are backing each other up and patting each other on the back.

Oh, and by the way, attempting to turn the tables and questioning me instead of answering my questions will no longer work for you, folks here are wise to your side-stepping issues. That dog doesn't hunt here!

Sister

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 12:52 PM

Bystander, I know Derrell and his family as well. I've known them long before he married Melody the first time. I also know about the lies, the "official story" from 3ABN. I'd say Derrell does know why he was fired but do YOU?

Posted by: glenetta Feb 8 2007, 05:38 PM

> QUOTE(princessdi @ Feb 5 2007, 04:31 PM) ☐
>
> ...and Derrell can testify to whether or not his broken into, unless I have missed that this was already posted.

Why would Linda be lying? Now my questions is how many of these documents are forged? What is the point in all of this stuff. You just don't know if anyone is being honest. I can read and read all these signed documents and don't know if they are forged or what!

Posted by: Ralph Feb 8 2007, 10:30 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 04:38 PM) ☐
>
> Why would Linda be lying? Now my questions is how many of these documents are forged? What is the point in all of this stuff. You just don't know if anyone is being honest. I can read and read all these signed documents and don't know if they are forged or what!

To which specific documents are you referring?

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 8 2007, 10:46 PM

> QUOTE(Ralph @ Feb 8 2007, 11:30 PM) ☐

> To which specific documents are you referring?

think we can all be pretty certain what documents are being referred to here as "forged".

find it interesting that glenetta has been a member here for two days and has already posted 22 times.

would be interested in knowing how many posts he/she has had time to read. Many of us read for days or veeks and tried to discern facts from hearsay and conjecture before we even felt comfortable asking uestions.

wondered when the forgery allegation would be made. I suspect it has been before but this is the most bvious I have read lately.

would recommend that to answer this accusation that the documents posted here and on save3ABN.com rom victims and their families or other first hand observers be notarized if possible and reposted showing the otary seal and date.

MO
w

Posted by: wwjd Feb 8 2007, 11:02 PM

> QUOTE(daylily @ Feb 8 2007, 12:52 PM) ☐
>
> Bystander, I know Derrell and his family as well. I've known them long before he married Melody the first time. I also know about the lies, the "official story" from 3ABN. I'd say Derrell does know why he was fired but do YOU?

ctually yes and there were several reasons. The first and more important reason is reflected On their divorce apers. So instead of just hiring him as an employee they contracted him out. That way, if, anything appened they could not be held responsible. That was then, I have no idea what the arrangement is now.
he second reason (and there is paperwork to prove it) is that When he traveled for 3abn if an economy car vas reserved for him at the airport, he would, shall we say, upgrade to something a little snazzier like a onvertable. If his room was reserved at the comfort Inn he would "upgrade" to a 4 star hotel....ALL without ermission from management. It was a little bit before the accounting department caught what was appening.
could go farther but I won't, That should be enough for reasonable people to question the fact that D. says e was fired because he "supported" Linda.
nd, you know what else, None of this hasn't been told and wouldn't have been if again, the members here emand details/proof. ANy statements made by me tonight can all be verified with paperwork.

dited for content......

Posted by: Panama_Pete Feb 8 2007, 11:40 PM

> QUOTE(glenetta @ Feb 8 2007, 05:38 PM) ☐
>
> Now my questions is how many of these documents are forged? What is the point in all of this stuff. You just don't know if anyone is being honest. I can read and read all these signed documents and don't know if they are forged or what!

This is the same theme Aletheia presented on the Maritime SDA Online board.

On the Maritime board, Aletheia was graciously educating the readers on how easy it is to forge car-title documents.

Unfortunately, Aletheia is no longer posting here. I guess you just missed her.

Pete

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 8 2007, 11:50 PM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 09:02 PM)
>
> None of this hasn't been told and wouldn't have been if again, the members here demand details/proof. ANy statements made by me tonight can all be verified with paperwork.

Actually, you're right - saying that above is a double negative, which makes it a positive, which means YOU HAVE told plenty of people these things...infact, you have called and written many people and done all you could to try to destroy people, including Derrell. Why are you so threatend that you have to follow people around and destroy them? What have they done to you? And what are you so afraid they will say if you don't try to crush them first in some way? You saying it doesn't make it true, just like you saying you have proof doesn't make you any more credible either. The members here "demand"???? That's not the reason you decided to bring it to this forum. You brought it here because you are determined to tell MORE people MORE of the same. In MY opinion, YOU are Danny Shelton speaking, this is how he talks and what he says to everyone he can get to listen. But, again, just my opinion.

> QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Feb 8 2007, 09:40 PM)
>
> This is the same theme Aletheia presented on the Maritime SDA Online board.
>
> On the Maritime board, Aletheia was graciously educating the readers on how easy it is to forge car-title documents.
>
> Unfortunately, Aletheia is no longer posting here. I guess you just missed her.
>
> Pete

It struck me just today that this was aletheia reincarnated... almost posted this today, but I was sure if it were so, Calvin would have caught her, but then again, she probably has access to more then one pc...shame shame if it's true...

Posted by: wwjd Feb 9 2007, 12:21 AM

> QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Feb 8 2007, 11:47 PM) ☐

First of all "I" have done nothing. I am posting what can be verified. You say because I say it doesn't make it true. That's right. That's way I have named names and challenged you to make the phone calls to verify these facts.

When you say "why do YOU" (I guess you mean 3abn) want to destroy people. You are kidding right? that is what this site is all about, destroying people. That is what you are about on the 3abn topic. You slander and defame and accuse and you have yet to put up in "proof" of anything. Not even verifiable facts. That is because the only things that you "know" could only be "verified" by one source and that source, has lots and lots of reasons not to tell the truth.

By asking you to Ask Mark Finley if he counseled her, by telling you there are receipts for out of state counceling + counseling by John L you know that it proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that someone didn't tell the truth. Unless you want to call Mark Finley and counselors that are not even Adventist, LIARS ,like you have everyone else. SOMEONE HAS NOT BEEN TELLING THE TRUTH.

Observer refuted "sisters" and others claim that LInda was forced to sign the 3abn contract without legal council. He is on your side for crying out loud and he still said it. So again, someone didn't tell the truth. The licensed PI's that have to swear under oath to what they saw, or lose their license, say that she and the doc were alone plenty without johann or anyone else. Again, someone has not been telling the truth.

you and/or others have referred to Danny's quick trip to Guam. False. Somebody didn't tell the truth, he never went there, They did it by mail, in agreement as is proven by their signatures.

You and others have alleged that Linda was kicked aside for Brandi. Lie. The divorce was filed in early June,04 it was finalized either the 24th or 25th of June. Brandi did not even move here until November 11th and they did not date until several months after that. Someone wasn't telling the truth.

I just read here tonight that someone posted that Danny married Brandy within days of the divorce decree. Since that was june 24th or 25th and he didn't meet her (as a grown woman) until November and they weren't married for approx another year or more went by. SOMEONE DIDN'T TELL THE TRUTH.

It has been alleged that he had known her for years....Another twist and spin. Danny used to own a small recording studio in his house to supplement his income before 3abn. Brandi's family came their to record some gospel music. I believe she was 11 or 12 at the time. He never saw her again until she moved here in 04. Brandi had never even heard of 3abn much less, watched it. But her mother had. Brandi had been through a hard time and had become a christian and her mother suggested coming to 3abn to check it out because brandi's desire was to work in a christian environment and to be in a place where she could minister to others. WAITING IN THE WINGS?
Someone wasn't telling the truth

Now sonshineonme. I have facts and figures, and names and dates that you can all verify if you so choose. How much more evidence will have to be given to make you see that there have been lots of lies told but they have been in your camp.

> QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Feb 7 2007, 09:30 PM) ☐
>
> See, this is where he/she comes up with the statement that they are bringing light to all the falsehoods presented here when all they do is create doubt. Smoke and mirrors...
>
> Oh yes, please tell us the "real" reason DM was fired. While you're at it, tell us the "real" reason Linda was fired. Oh please, oh please.

rEAD my other posts. One is in corporate worship. By the way, D. wasn't fired. He resigned. Do your reading and you will find verifable facts. Names, dates and paperwork that can be checked on. What have you ever shown to back up your allegations?
Remember every time you demand "proof" you are only making it tougher on them. You are opening a pandora's box but it's easy to demand for you and some of the others....your not the ones that will be hurt by it.

Posted by: Ralph Feb 9 2007, 12:23 AM

> QUOTE(Noahswife @ Feb 8 2007, 09:46 PM)
>
> I think we can all be pretty certain what documents are being referred to here as "forged".

We can be pretty certain, but I wanted to have Glenetta's statement down in black and white.

And by the way, nw, I did appreciate the rest of your post, but focused on that allegation as I want to see how far Glenetta is willing to carry it.

Posted by: sonshineonme Feb 9 2007, 12:35 AM

> QUOTE(wwjd @ Feb 8 2007, 10:21 PM)
>
> ....

