That's what they want you to do -- go on a wild goose chase proving something they never cared about in the first place.

A phone call or letter will answer those questions for them, if they really care, but I doubt they do.

In short, let it be their dime, their time, and their postage stamp.

I AM NOT DANNY and the more you make that accusation the more foolish you look. If I were he and had access to all the paper trails, pictures, court documents, I would put them on here in a heart beat. But since I am not he, I don't have all the access.

secondly of course I can respond to something ask of bystander. you all jump in the middle of people all the time.

And 3rd, if you "have done some checking on things" lets hear about it. Who did you check with? (Very important) Where is your verification of any facts. Or maybe you were just told some "facts" by someone who heard it from someone. That would absolutely give you the right to slander and defame and call people liars. It is getting tiresome that you continue to ignore the challenges that are thrown out. To call Mark F, call John L and see if what yohann posted about him is true, call the men mentioned at hope channel. I want you to...but...you won't. Because you know these things would never be posted if there was any doubt about them. I have an idea where all your bitterness is coming from but even if I'm wrong, no matter. As long as you don't back up any of your allegations from a source other than the master puppeteer, you have no right to continue your tongue attack. That is all it is. Now can't wait to read your next post to see how you pass over the facts that I would like you to verify for yourself. I won't hold my breath.

dan, I worry about you. you get upset so easily. you assume that people don't know how to pick up a phone and check, you assume that these people here are like the crowd you talk to that keep sending you money, that just take what YOU have to say and don't so their own checking (that means like bible study, cross reference, get ALL the facts).
I really don't think you want me to call anyone. But no worries, I do use my phone quite often.
You need a chill pill. Like I said, we have our sources too. I'm sure Mark will appreciate all you have said regarding him tonight.

I am not a counselor, but I do deal with hurting people. If someone asked me if I had talked to so-and-so, I would tell them that my ethics requires that I not answer such a question. I was not aware that Mark Finley was a licensed counselor, but even as a pastor, I do not believe that he would be required to answer such a question.

Please remember that we do not have access to the accounting department that you apparently have. BTW (By the way), I was surprised that there are receipts for counseling done by John L. I was not aware that pastors could charge extra for counseling.

Both Bystander and WWJD have the same, identical spelling problem. Are they copying from the same notepad? They haven't figured out how to spell Johann?

Brandy's divorce became final October 14, 2004. This is a matter of public record. You do not file for divorce and have it finalized the same day so how may weeks or months before it became final did she file? Why did she file for divorce? And if the November date is accurate, she was very newly divorced. If she came earlier, was she still married? She may or may not have officially moved there in November, but did she show up unofficially earlier? How does wwjd determine the November 11th date? How do you determine if you are "officially" dating?

Okay, "WWJD" if you have paperwork to prove Darrell's "upgrades" show them here. In other words, we would need to see a room reserved at a Comfort Hotel, cancelled the same day and then a new reservation at a 4 star hotel made the same day as an upgrade. Same thing should apply from the car rental agency--and in case you're not clear about that let me spell it out: Paperwork should show an economy car rental and an upgrade to a convertable on the same order. Can you give us that? If you have such paperwork, scan them here. Otherwise what you are saying is basically....um....NOTHING!

What is wrong with this picture???? He is hinting that Derrell has "a problem" and was fired for that reason. Why wasn't Tommy fired for his "problem"?

Sorry, I am not convinced:)

I did a fair amont of traveling last September. We were able to upgrade (there were three of us and lots of luggage) for as little as $1.00 to $2.00 per day. In some cases an upgrade cost us exactly the same.

Looks to me like you are making a mountain out of a mole hill.

Business does not fire an employee for spending more on a hotel room than management wanted. It simplly requires the employee to pay the difference. I travel for the Federal government. If I go over the established budget, I pay for that overage. It is my choice as to what I do.

It is the same for me with air travel. I can fly at any class that I want. But, the government is not going to pay me to fly First Class. So, if I do, I pay the difference.

As to the length of time it took for the accounting department to catch on: Well that simply raises questions about that department. If I exceeed my budgeted amount for a travel expense, it will immediately be caught. I will be only paid the budgeted amounts. I know, because I have had some of my expense claims denied. That is the way that it works in business and in the government.

Again you misquote. I was the one who recently referred to Danny's divorce and remarriage. And I specifically referred to the date that the divorce was declared legal in Illinois. Danny married Brandi within days of that date. I was not referring to the date of the original Guam divorce. Thus my statement was fully accurate.

Greg, DM never paid the difference. There would have been no problem if he had. The bills show it was a lot more that 1 or 2 dollars a day difference. A lot more. Or again, nothing would have been said. And as stated that was one of several reasons.

Indeed.

Thanks you Inga for pointing this out. Derrell is not a public figure in this saga, he deserves his privacy. Unless Derrell, you want to bring it up here then that would put the subject in play. I believe he has not.

'mm ... I wonder if others would be fired for the same reasons ... i.e. for spending more money than ecessary. Do the same standards apply to Danny, for instance? Does Danny travel in the most economical nanner feasible?

nd, by the way, I have no reason to doubt that what you say about Derrell is true. He confessed to being ucked into the extravagant lifestyle of a certain echelon at 3ABN. And he said he was ashamed of his part in t. (You can probably find his post on the subject if you search the forum. I believe he also mentioned what vent caused his change of heart.)

t leaves me to wonder whether others are equally ashamed. It also leaves me wondering whether spending abits have changed since Derrell left.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 10 2007, 07:27 PM

Does make you wonder doesn't it? A worker gets fired for ungrading from a economy to one more to his liking while the boss travels around in a 6 million dollar luxury jet, (that holds the same amount of passengers as a minivan). Oh ya, that's right Danny doesn't own the jet so that makes everything hunky dory.

You honed in on one thing and just to be clear. No employee of a company can up grade several hundreds of dollars worth over a period of time without PERMISSION from the employer.
You ignored what was said was the major problem, and ignored that there were several more problems besides.

I must say this: how many ceo's of an organization that travel as extensively as 3abn don't lease a jet. Danny and 3abn did travel commercial for years and years and still do overseas. Linda rode on that plane for several years and pushed as much or more than anyone to make their travel a little easier, but I have yet to hear a comment about that. It's funny that the jet setter picture wasn't painted until after the divorce then all of these rumors about hob knobbing on a jet. mmm wonder where they came from? As long as she was on it you never heard a minute of complaint.

et's narrow the field to religious ministries or non-profit organizations, of which 3ABN is purported to be, ather than privately owned companies. This gives quite a different paradigm than the one you are spinning. et me give an example to consider, the Seventh-day Adventist church: Does the president of the Seventh-ay Adventist Church, who travels travels more extensively than Danny Shelton, lease a private jet? Of ourse not. The expense would not be justifiable. Is it justifiable for Danny Shelton? No. Of course not.

ou claim it was Linda who pushed for the jet, with which I disagree. And if it were true, as you laimed, than why didn't Danny get rid of the jet at the same time he was getting rid of his wife?

e had no problem sacking his wife, but it appears the luxury of a jet gassed up and waiting for him in Marion s quite another story. Of course the jet makes it much easier for Dan to make quick trips to Utah to watch his avorite basketball team in person, all on the donor's dime...

thought that ADVENTIST TODAY first raised this issue. I thought that it did so prior to the divorce. Please orrect me if I am wrong.

n government and business the employee who upgrades without permission pays for the extra charge. That mployee is not fired. The details as to how the employee pays for the extra charge vary according to the ules of the organizaton. But, the result is the same. The employee pays.

Since you of "Danny's team" made the comparison with "pastors," I figure it's fair to extend it

Members of the GC executive likely do just as much, if not more extensive traveling -- if not individually, then as a group -- and they do not lease a private jet.

Of course, it's different for "CEO's of businesses," but 3ABN claims to be a ministry!

As to your other question -- I suppose you're correct in that none of this might have come up at this time if it hadn't been for Danny's booting of Linda. He started the ball rolling with a good hard kick.

Danny makes no attempt to hide fact that he uses the jet. My mother told me that he addressed it publicly at his campmeeting. If the donors don't have a problem with it, then way should any of us? Stop or don't start giving money to 3abn if you have a problem with it.

Calvin,

I agree with on the plane issue, I personally do not understand the big deal about, but then again none of my money is being used on the plane either.

Good question. The fact that Danny didn't get rid of the jet the same time as he got rid of Linda demonstrates that blaming Linda for the jet is false.

I wonder how many other unjustifiable trips go on the donor's dime?

Is it justifiable to fly the jet to California for a dentist's appointment?

Is it justifiable to fly the jet to impress ah ... "business associates"?

Is it justificable to fly the jet to go shopping in some larger urban center than the nearest towns?

Is it justifiable to fly the jet to entertainment venues?

Just wondering. ... Maybe it is all justifiable because Danny is entitled to such perks, unlike the leadership in our church or those in supporting ministries. (I was going to write other supporting ministries but I personally doubt that 3ABN is currently a supporting ministry. Others may have a different opinion.)

asked bystander=wwjd=ds what that cost was a month that these supposed "donors" have to pay for such a lane (total espenses). I'm sure this is documented somewhere how the cost is covered? The IRS would ertainly want to know as well. I mean, if we are talking in the thousands each month, what donor or two vould put out such an amount of money for a plane? Can that be legally donated without any cost to the rganization it's "donating" it to? But, since I have not gotten the answer to that question, along with my thers in the past couple weeks that have not been answered, I am thinking I probably won't get the info traight from horses mouth.

I will address 3 things. First of all I said Linda pushed or was for the idea of a plane as much or more than anyone. I did not say it was just for Linda.

You seem to know so many details, what is your source? Whoever it is is repeatedly telling you a small part of truth, but then leaving out the rest of the story that makes all the difference.
The truth is the trip to Utah was a usual 3abn Sabbath trip. Meaning 3abn had the services. Since they were there anyway, they did attend a game, at no cost, that evening because the jazz coach is a personal friend of Danny's. He lives in the same area.
Now that piece of information puts a whole different light on the story.
Sister it is easy for you or whoever feeds you to twist everything by not giving the whole truth. The shame is, that you are willingly doing it whether, for yourself, or someone else.
I have read so many of your posts where you have done this exact same thing but I don't have time to go back and clean all those messes up. That is the "whole" truth.

WWJD,

The plane thing is sillyness, but since you mention it so much what would Jesus Do? walk i think?

Just a little humor for you.

Secondly, what the sports thing bothers me personally on a vastly different level, but i am not going to get into that on this topic.

The plane is most likely a good Idea but is it really saving money?

Thank you for the added details that make things a little clearer,

How some added details that will make the reason why in 2003 and 2007 3abn felt the best way to handle the Tommy S. problem was a letter from a lawyer, how some details that will make Tommy's actions look better?

I can personally think of one or two.

I'm just wondering if those donors are the same ones that made the donations to 3ABN go up(according to Danny) since Linda was fired. Many of us have thought so, since the word in the pews is that many have started to have reservations about donating to 3ABN since Linda was fired.

It's relatively easy for a couple deep-pocketed donors to make up for thousands of small donations -- you know the "insignificant" regular $10.00 and $100.00 kind. As long as Dan has those donors to whom $2,000.00 is small change, he probably doesn't care about all those little old ladies who faithfully sent in their donations to 3ABN each month. The question is whether those big donors are willing to donate extra in the long run in the face of continuing revelations of corruption and doctrinal aberrations.

It has been made clear in other posts that the DONORS DO NOT pay for the LEASE OF THE PLANE. 3abn DOES NOT own it. Of course.

Now, since you brought it up: Which came first -- the plans to attend the game or the plans to have the church service? It is certainly easy enough for Danny to squeeze in a church appearance every time he wants to go somewhere for other purposes. Hi Everyone,

It's Sunday evening here and I thought I would write you all a little note. The sun actually came out today for about three hours, so I took advantage of the blue skies and took my hour and a half walk to the lake and back.

Is there a way to post a picture inside one of these messages? If so, I would be happy to share a picture or two of my adventures here in Norway.

The temperature hovered between 9 & 14 degrees F today. I'm still trying to adjust to breathing in this ice cold air. Half way through my walk I realized that the pop-top on my water bottle was frozen, so I had to unscrew the lid to get a drink. I almost laughted when I realized the water inside had already formed ice crystals. I can honestly say this has never happened to me in South Carolina!

I made my way to the clinic at 3p.m. to be tested. Peter Larson, the Swedish Olympic Cross-Country Skier was also there receiving a treatment. We visited for about 30 minutes while our I.V.'s ran, and this time I was smart enough to ask him for his autograph. He gave me four signed picture cards. Tomorrow he heads off to China for a big race and then Japan next week for a World Championship. If any of you happen to catch the races, be sure to root for him. He's a great guy.

My test results were very good! My candida (yeast) problem that I have struggled with for years, is FINALLY coming under control. For the past five days I have not had to take a single supplement for my candida. I usually swallow handfuls of garlic and pau d' arco capsules everyday. For five years now, I have been tormented with this unrelenting problem. I REALLY NEVER THOUGHT IT COULD BE KILLED COMPLETELY! I'm beginning to have hope for this as well.

The candida die-off symptoms have been much harder to deal with than killing the cancer cells! For two weeks I had headaches and muscle aches everyday. I have felt pretty decent the last several days now. PTL

I'm looking forward to Thursday this week, as my husband will fly over and join me for two weeks. If I'm completely well by the end of the month, I will fly home with him on the 28th. I miss him terribly.

Tomorrow evening I will be teaching a cooking class for a few ladies I met at Abrahamsen's clinic. One of them had overheard me telling someone that I am a vegetarian cook, so they asked if I would teach them how to do it. To be honest, I'm really struggling with what to make them tomorrow. Most every recipe calls for something they don't have in this country. I never realized how much easier the ToFutti company had made my life! ☒ rofl I think I'm leaning towards the Chili recipe in volume two. Did you know Norwegians have never heard of cornbread? I was pretty excited when I found soya-whipped cream in a can, though. ☒ Ah, the little things in life.

I'd like to share a little story with you about how I came to be friends with Darrell Mundall and why I like him so much.

I hadn't been cooking at 3ABN long, when this tall skinny fellow came into the kitchen upstairs where I worked. It was break time and Darrell was searching for something feverishly in the refrigerator. (Whenever I was there cooking, the refrigerator was rearranged and looked about to burst.)

When Darrell finally came up for air, he sighed with delight at finding his Philadelphia Cheesecake Snack. We began talking as he ate, and I couldn't help but notice his passion for food. He described in vivid detail, every gourmet dish he had eaten for dinner the night before. I laughed at his lengthy description of each and every morsel. When he had finished I was truly sorry to see him go. It's not everyday you meet someone with such a passion for food, and flavor, as Darrell.

I liked him immediately and I'm happy that he is still one of my friends. I always enjoy talking with him and I miss seeing him walk into the kitchen for his break. Darrell is a genuinely NICE guy and he doesn't deserve all the flak he has gotten from his ex-family. He's funny and incredibly smart, too! All of us need to remember Darrell in our prayers. I know this time has been hard on him, and I just really think we need to lift him up everyday. Darrell, . . . I think you're a great guy, and I'm happy you are one of my friends!

Well, I suppose I had better go and work on what I'm going to do for my cooking class tomorrow.

Hugs to all of you, and a big thank you for all the sweet messages you have sent to me. Remember to take time to tell someone that you love them today.

Your Friend,
Barbara Kerr

Oh let me guess, Danny/3abn is excluded from that suggestion. You have went to far in making your Insignificant 10.00 and little old lady statements. 3abn has survived all of these years because of those sacrifices. When they were existing from week to week not knowing if they could meet any expenses, it was the " little old ladies that kept 3abn going and it continues to be so to this day. They are extremely fortunate that they have some monied people that can step in at times and help out, but it is the mainstream people that willingly give that keeps 3abn running.

No where near the 2,000.00 he NOW says was given and also says that "however" it was given HE CAN'T PROVE IT.

The statments are not different, they are the same. To me, donor and supporter are the same. The facts are the same. The plane is leased, 3abn does not own it, and one or 2 donor/supporters take care of it. There are nothing contradictory about those statements.

And yes, The IRS statements are ridiculous because you think such things are not taken care of in this world wide organization, like, they didn't think of it but you did.

Danny shouldn't have to be compared with pastors. It was some of you that tried to start that a long time ago. Again, Inga, plant the seed of insinuation. What came first the game or church. Again, ridiculous. The 3abn trips are planned months in advance by the Marketing and PR departments. Now when THEY scheduled it do you think they looked to see if there was a game that particular night that Danny might like to see? Get a grip. I happen to know that unless it is an international trip he usually has no idea where he is scheduled to go up until his secretary or GM tell him 4 or 5 days before the event.
Inga your subtle suggestions have become accusations. Your hints of wrongdoing have become seeds of innuendo. It is clear to me and others that hints, innuendo, what if's and accusations are only used when one can't back up anything, that one is saying.

Where do you plan to build the studio? South Carolina?

I found an interesting site, Barb.

It's for the beginner, of course, but it's interesting

Since you of "Danny's team" made the comparison with "pastors," I figure it's fair to extend it

Members of the GC executive likely do just as much, if not more extensive traveling -- if not individually, then as a group -- and they do not lease a private jet.

Right, because there are too many of them going to many different places at once. They wouldn't have to have one plane, they would have to have 1/2 a dozen.

> Danny makes no attempt to hide fact that he uses the jet. My mother told me that he addressed it publicly at his campmeeting. If the donors don't have a problem with it, then way should any of us? Stop or don't start giving money to 3abn if you have a problem with it.

Your simplicity on the subject is beautiful. Since the plane is taken care of by 1 or 2 people that can afford to, no more needs to be said about the struggling "little old ladies" that Inga refers to sending in their money to pay for a plane.
Thank Calvin

I was thinking about putting the studio near some location centrally located.

What do you think?

As was stated previously, this employee DID NOT. Not only did he not pay he never told administration it had been done, and ,not once, but several times before accounting pointed it out.

What a wonderful post, Barbara. It is so good to hear from you and hear that you are doing so well. --And From Norway! Oh how I wish i were there. Have you gotten your tongue around any of the Norwegian words yet? 12 degrees F here in Alberta, Canada.

Is there anything that we can do for candida in this country as I have a friend that is in terrible shape with it. If so, pleas PM me.

And I loved to hear about Derrell and his enjoyment of food. We had a student staying with us that was six foot four. He was always hungry!

So have a great evening and I am looking forward to hearing from you soon. My father was born in Bergen and Mendal sure sounds familiar. If you have a good map, you might even find Seland. It's north of the junction of 42 and 466.

Blessings to you! -- And do give my greetings to Johann.

Barbara,

There are also design consultants who can help, once the plans are mapped out. Here's an interesting one in Great Britain, for example:

You twisted my comment into a totally different meaning. That comment was not in reference to the plane!

My comment re the little old ladies was in reference to how Danny appears to value contributions. And this was after I asked whether increased contributions from these "1 or 2 people" (Why don't you know whether it is 1 or two, since you know so much?) accounted for the purported increase of donations to 3ABN, as reported by Danny.

As I said, the word in the pews does not support the idea of increased donations from ordinary people. But the, I guess those don't matter much to Danny.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Feb 11 2007, 03:32 PM

From the talk in the pews from the churches in my area...the donations are stopping. Too many people are questioning what is going on. The people I know have no idea about what is on the web sites, it is all from what is being said on the "live" programs....

When he had finished I was truly sorry to see him go. It's not everyday you meet someone with such a passion for food, and flavor, as Darrell.

The same words come from you. I guess and it seems like and I heard and it appears. In this short little post you say: how danny "appears" to value..... The "word" is.....I "guess" those don't matter....

As usual wrong on counts of what you think. When you say Word in the pews is....How many pews in how many different areas have you been to. Funny Uncle Sam used that exact same phrase....As I said to him, the pews you have been in hardly reflect the support that comes from around the world. So don't get too excited yet Inga. Word is, that 3abn is still thriving. It appears that you don't like that. I guess that you don't care about all of the people that have become Adventist through watching 3abn. Seems like you are getting faulty information.

Barbara,

Thanks for your comments about your day there. I hope your post along with those of us that have responded will get and keep this thread back on track.

By the time you read this, you probably have had your cooking school. Can you tell us how it went and what you made?

Also, when you get a chance, tell us more about your vision for the cooking studio. I have been fortunate to take some cooking classes in NY at the natural gourmet institute. Have you ever considered talking to them about being a guest instructor?

Hi Everyone,

What a joy it was to read all of your lovely comments tonight when I got back to my apartment! Thank you for all of your great ideas. Panama Pete, I will try to go online tomorrow and check out some of those websites you recommended.

I actually drew up plans to build a studio on our property in August of 2005. That was when we started the paperwork to become non-profit. Everything just costs sooooo much money, though. To build, equip, and run a studio will cost approximately one million dollars. My husband and I have been over every possible scenario. Some have suggested that I travel by plane and tape programs in their studios.

The problem for me trying to put together a series of cooking shows and travelling, is just how difficult it is to cart food and dishes, etcetera, to another state. The planning is simply a nightmare. Lately, I've been leaning towards the idea of expanding my own kitchen and dining room by 20 or 25 feet. I could push out one wall and totally renovate the kitchen to function as a cooking studio. I could also build a small master control room in the added space.

By building the studio into my existing home, I save money by not having to stock a new kitchen with dishes and cooking equipment, as I already own most things needed, and I save by not having to heat and aircondition a separate building. I could rent or lease camera equipment in the beginning, and, . . . and, . . .and, . . . I just get so excited when I start thinking about producing shows again. ☒ Please join me in making this a matter of prayer. I want to do what God wants me to do.

Two days ago, I received ANOTHER email from someone in India. They have been asking and asking, for several months now, to air my cooking programs on cable T.V. They want the health message. I have also been contacted by some men starting a Christian station in China. China is just now starting to open their doors to Christianity, but they want to proceed cautiously, and they contacted me to see if they could air my cooking programs to help pave the way for the gospel message.

DO YOU KNOW HOW MUCH IT BREAKS MY HEART TO TELL THESE PEOPLE THAT I HAVE NO RIGHTS TO AIR MY OWN PROGRAMS?! THAT 3ABN REFUSES TO DONATE MY VIDEOS, AND THE RIGHTS TO USE THEM, TO MY MINISTRY? I FEEL LIKE MOSES STANDING BEFORE PHARAOH EVERY TIME I ASK DANNY TO LET MY VIDEOS GO. He either completely ignores my question or he says 'no'.

I came to the conclusion several months back that it is not my job to persuade Danny to donate my videos, that is God's job. God is in control and if I am to have them, then it will happen. His timing is always perfect, . . . even if it is in the eleventh hour!

When I arrived at the clinic this morning, I was told it was going to snow for the next three days. I smiled. I decided to take my walk this morning, as I knew I would be shopping for the cooking class in the afternoon. I didn't have time to walk all the way to the lake today, so I wandered down a quiet road instead. I watched the snow as it drifted slowly to the earth. It moves this way, and that, as if it were all part of a grand ballroom dance. It's dark outside now, but I can still see flakes falling under the street lights outside my window. The little wooded area I walk through each morning reminds me of the forest in Narnia.

I decided to teach the ladies how to make Chili and Cornbread tonight (cowboy food as they called it). I also decided to make the Peanut Butter Pie, an Asian Salad (just made that one up 2 weeks ago), and Sesame Fried Tofu.

They had never eaten tofu before, and after looking for more than an hour downtown Moss, I was beginning to wonder if I would be able to find it. We finally stumbled upon an International Market, and they had silken and extra-firm tofu.

We had soooo much fun cooking together in Lisa's kitchen. There were four of us all together. Everyone had their own little assignments, but we helped each other and I was able to share some of the benefits of living a vegetarian lifestyle. The ladies devoured the food. They were most surprised by how good the sesame fried tofu tasted. It was a lot of fun. Now Bill will have to bring cookbooks with him when he arrives this week. All of the women wanted to buy American measuring cups and spoons as well. Who knows, maybe there is another business for me after all! lol

All in all, it was a great day. I enjoyed my divine appointment and pray that God will keep sending them to me.

Thank you for your continued prayers and support. I will try to post a letter every day or so to keep you up-to-date on what's happening at this end of the world.

Blessings,
Barbara Kerr

Barbara,
Your adventure in Norway sounds wonderful! I am so glad that you are receiving both physical and spiritual refreshing.

Although I do not know you and have only seen one or two of your 3abn cooking shows I feel that you are a kindred spirit. I transitioned (abruptly/immediatley LOL) to a plant based diet in 2005 and have had so much fun developing recipes ever since. Yours sound delicious. Guess I'll have to look into adding your cookbook into my collection!

Have you ever thought of trying to get onto Extreme Home Makeover? I've seen them make a beautiful catering kitchen for a woman and her family before. I suppose that would only work if you had a problem residence though. Well, it was just a thought.

Barbara,

How great to hear that your cooking class went so well. However, I am very disappointed to learn that you have been unsuccessful in getting a response from 3ABN regarding whether or not they will release the tapes of your cooking classes to you.

I wonder if there is anything we can do on your behalf. I wonder if anyone here at BlackSDA or other non-registered readers would we willing to use their contacts to question why 3ABN is failing to allow you to use the tapes they will never use to take your message internationally.

Maybe we should also try an email or letter writing campaign to the board members and make calls. Do you maintain an email list of people that are interested in your work? Have you thought about a petition signed by a few hundred people on your behalf? I can't imagine that some of the major supporters of 3ABN would understand why the tapes should not be released.

I remember reading this weekend a post where the poster complained that not enough is happening to change anything. Maybe we could in a tangible and positive way.

Does any one have any other ideas?

How about some sisters (and a few brothers) helping a sister......

There are a couple of important questions here:

1) Did Barbara have a written contract with 3-ABN in regard to her programs? If so, what did it say in regard to ownership of the programs?

2) Was Barbara compensated in any way for her programs? If she was, it is likely that 3-ABN owns those programs, and can do as it jolly well as it pleases.

3) If Barbara was not compensated in any way, and there is no written contract which provides for 3-ABN to own those programs, then Barbara may (?) have ownership rights to those programs. However, that is ownership of content. 3-ABN still might have ownership rights to the physical tape upon which that content resides.

4) If it could be determined that Barbara has ownership rights to the content, she could attempt to force 3-ABN to allow those programs to be duplicated onto tape owned by her, for a fee, of course, and assumning that 3-ABN has not destroyed the physical tape which they may own.

This may be complex.

3-ABN just maybe within their legal rights? If so, and they remain firm, Barbara is quite limited as to what she can do.

Of course, can you immagine the public relations bonus for 3-ABN if Bystander or WWJD were to post the following here in BSDA, tomorrow: "I have checked with 3-ABN and I am informed that they plan transfer to Barbara copies of her programs, along with full rights to use them as she pleases. 3-ABN thanks Barbara for the contributions she made to our programing and wishes her well."

Such a statement would go a long ways to conuteract some of the negative publicity that 3-ABN recieves.

Will 3-ABN do such? Keep posted. This discussion will continue, until they do.

VWJD: You seem to have missed the point again. I am not giving 3-ABN any advice. I am telling people here hat 3-ABN may have a legal right to refuse to provide Barbara with copies of her programs. I am also making public statement that it would be a clear positive step in public relations is 3-ABN would do so.

hank you for taking the time to post in this thread.

MO observer was trying to provide anyone interested in this topic with some information about possible ssues surrounding the ownership of the tapes.

'ou would be better served to refrain from sarcasm and give us your opinion on whether you see any benefit o 3abn in keeping the cooking tapes or whether you agree with observer's comments about the great PR that ould enure to the benefit of 3abn if they were to donate them to Ms. Kerr so she could continue to take her ninistry of the health message to those that are requesting it.

ive an opinion and don't attack the poster please.

lso, as you have indicated that you have information on many of the topics discussed in the 3ABN section ere at BlackSDA, can you tell us if Ms. Kerr has ever received an official answer to her request after all this ime, and if not, why has she not been given one?

Hi Everyone,
This will be short as it is extremely late here in Norway and I need to get to bed. I can maybe give a more detailed answer tomorrow.

In regards to my tapes:
1) I did have a generic written contract with 3ABN in regards to my tapes. Because 3ABN Presents was their 'flagship' program as they called it, ONLY 3ABN could have rights to ownership with those shows. I signed one contract when I first began taping in 1997, and then refused to sign any more contracts regarding ownership, until they forced me to in 2003.

*Every guest that goes to 3ABN is sent a packet with questions and guidelines. You are asked to fill out the paperwork, sign the contract, and return it to the office prior to taping. After my first visit, I would just show up without signing anything and taped my programs.

Finally in the Summer or Fall of 2003, they cornered me, and told me that if I didn't sign the contract, that they would no longer air any of my programs and I would not be invited back as a guest ever again. I signed the contract under protest, but I did sign it -- one more time.

2) I was NOT compensated in any way for creating recipes and taping programs for them. Twice I was given a love offering of $150. It was either the second or third year that I taped there. Once I was given an ink pen as a Christmas gift with 3ABN's name on it.

I was asked to create and tape programs there approximately every other month, all year long. It was like a full time job. I learned a lot at 3ABN and my deadlines caused me to put my cookbooks together. (Taste Of Health, Volumes 1 & 2) I am very grateful for all of the hands-on training I received. I am especially grateful to Bobby Davis who is an outstanding producer and good friend.

I worked for free for seven years. I loved helping others, and I had promised God that that is what I would do for the rest of my life. It was a labor of love and came with its own rewards. Rewards that I tell people, 'are out of this world'! The sale of my cookbooks has been the only means of income to my ministry. www.tasteofhealth.net

3) I have always known that 3ABN would have the rights to my programs. That's the way the cookie crumbles! But everything changed in 2004 when I asked Dan (and Linda) tough questions.

When my cooking programs were suddenly not of any use to 3ABN or Danny, just because Linda appeared on them, it was as if my ministry disappeared over night. In my opinion, their divorce wasn't a good enough reason for the health message I had worked so hard to bring to the world, to suddenly be disposed of.

I personally feel like the Shelton's divorce, and Danny's dislike of me because I refused to turn my back on my friend, IS NOT A GOOD ENOUGH REASON TO LOCK UP SEVEN YEARS WORTH OF HARD WORK! If 3ABN no longer has use for the tapes, then why not let me have the rights and use of my programs? The Lord is the one that called me to labor in this field. He is my master, my friend and my defender.

It just seems to me, that if 3ABN and I are REALLY working on the same side (to win souls to the kingdom), and they have no more use for the programs, then they shouldn't have a problem AT ALL with allowing me the use of these shows to win souls in India and China, and wherever God leads me.

Please feel free to contact the board members, have petitions signed by church members and sent to 3ABN, start an email campaign. Just do whatever it is that God impresses you to do. Every letter, and every prayer sent up to our Father in Heaven helps!

God bless and thanks for rallying behind me.

Sleep tight. Barbara Kerr

Hi Everyone,
This will be short as it is extremely late here in Norway and I need to get to bed. I can maybe give a more detailed answer tomorrow.

Barbara I am so glad that you are getting treatment. Tell me how did you get into see the doctor so fast? Johann said there was a years waiting list. I wish Johann's wife would have gotten the success that you are getting. Is this the same treatment that the Doc gave his wife, I understand that she had cancer also?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 13 2007, 06:38 PM

Glenetta, I hope you are not saying what I think you're saying. (or insinuating)

Posted by: sister Feb 13 2007, 06:42 PM

Glenetta, if you have read Barbara's previous posts, you will recall this treatment is a VERY recent discovery and Barbara is only the third patient that has received it. Obviously this treatment was not available at the time that Johann's wife was in the final stages of cancer. This procedure is still in the early research stages. Praise God for the opportunity that He gave Barbara to be a research subject.

How is that relevant to the discussion of the tapes? No... wait... lemme guess... Johann and Linda must have conspired to get her in, possibly ahead of people who had been waiting months?

Just trying to cut to the chase...

He also treats many famous European athletes from every sport imaginable. Just Wednesday I was sitting next to two young men from Sweden that were Olympic cross country skiers. One was named Peter Larson and the other Mat (something). I asked them all kinds of questions about what it's really like to train for the Olympics everyday. I also asked them why they come here. They smiled and said that no matter what their problem, virus or broken bone, the healing time with this treatment was less than half and they couldn't afford downtime.
> The Swedish Olympic trainer came to see Dr. Abrahamsen a few days ago and asked him if he would treat and monitor his entire team during training. Dr. Abrahamsen is so swamped with patients, he has a one-year waiting list to be seen as a new patient. He's not even sure he will take on the Olympic cross-country ski team.
> I decided at Linda's prompting to go to Norway before undergoing the knife. There are several reasons why I came to this doctor to be treated, but honestly, at the end of the day the entire thing was one great, big, divine appointment.

> Dr. Abrahamsen (a general practice doc for 30+ years) got tired of treating sickness and wanted to be a wellness doc. About 15 years ago he was trained with new technology. He was also a friend of a friend. I had never met him before and was actually a bit leery of him.
> At the exact same time I was really feeling sick and starting to go see specialists (oct/nov), Abrahamsen came across a newspaper article written by researchers stating that they had found an enzyme that was present in every cancer cell, no matter the type of cancer. The enzyme is called `CASPASE - 3`. Anyways, the scientists speculated that if they could find a way to activate this de-activated enzyme, they thought the body would rid itself of cancer.

I know of one more patient, a lady who came to him with bloody discharge from her breast and breast cancer. She was cancer free after 6 treatments.

> Last week I asked the doc if he was excited about this discovery and what it could mean to the world? He said it was much too early to be excited about it, because it would require a lot more testing on patients with different kinds of cancer to see how it would work. He also didn't think it would work well on patients with brain tumors, due to the blood-brain-barrier, but he hasn't treated anyone with a brain tumor yet to see how they respond to it. He won't be making any claims anytime soon. (Although I feel a Nobel Prize coming on - for him, not for me) LOL- laugh out loud
> I personally think this discovery is exciting. I just want to burst with the news. To be honest though, I wasn't going to share this story with the public, because it was, once again, so personal. Then two days ago God really dealt with me harshly, and kept bringing me to Esther chapter 4, verse 14. ``For if you remain completely silent at this time, relief and deliverance will arise for the Jews from another place, but you and your father's house will perish. Yet who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for such a time as this?"
> I wasn't sure what to think of Arild Abrahamsen before I met him. I would liken Abrahamsen in character, to that of Mark Finley or Doug Bachelor! I'm not afraid of him anymore, or leery, . . . I'm proud to call him a friend, and consider him one of the greatest doctors I have had the privilege of meeting.

hope this answers your questions Glenetta. It would have been wonderful if Abrahamson would have liscovered this in time to cure Irmgard and his wife. Although, if I'm not mistaken, his wife died of a lung lisease, not cancer. I would have to ask him to be sure.

Glenetta,

Thanks for joining us on the thread. Do you have any ideas regarding the tapes at 3ABN that feature Barbara and she would like copies of? You clearly are familiar with her and her ministry.

I really think we should discuss how we can help her and your input would be appreciated.

Vell, on the surface, it appears to me that 3-ABN owns the rights to Barbara's programs, and can do with hem as it pleases.

łowever, that issues may be more complex than I understand. I believe there is a body of law that applies to rograms produced for television, in regard to future useage by others. But, that is outside of my reading nterests.

io, my only piece of advice is: Barbara, if you wish to learn what legal rights you have you should consult an ttorney competent in this area of the law.

)n the assumption that 3-ABN owns the rights, the issue now is: Does 3-ABN wish to score a major PR coup y releasing the tapes to Barbars at no charge?

will suggest that an accomadation could be reached, if Barbara and 3-ABN wanted to do so. That ccomodation might be a statement added to each tape that gave credit to 3-ABN, and thanked 3-BN for releasing its property to Barbara.

hat would be a win, win, situation for all.

Hi Barbara,

I hope you had a good night's rest and are enjoying another beautiful day in Norway.

Whether or not you ever get those tapes back, the knowledge is in your head and what you did once, you will be able to do again.

For the moment, just concentrate on getting well and staying well. The rest will take care of itself in good time.

Blessings,
Ralph

I agree 100% with what Ralph said. "

As a matter of fact, it will be easier the second time around, and you can even make improvements. It wouldn't surprise me if Linda would love to work with you again. Wouldn't that be fun?

Thank you Ralph and everyone! I needed to hear that today. Linda and I would love to tape programs together again and there is ALWAYS room for improvement.

Yesterday was a real attack day for me. I think something really big is getting ready to happen again. My day started when I woke up with an infection in one of my wisdom teeth, (yes I have such a big mouth I've never needed to have them out -- and don't forget all the extra wisdom I get from them). By noon, I had a full-blown, candida die-off infection. Shortly after lunch my computer crashed -- I couldn't even get it to turn off.

Then I received a care package from my best friend Claudia. (Remember her from the Food For Thought programs?) I really hadn't felt home-sick since arriving here, until I opened all of her little presents and read her Valentines card. After that, I just felt weepy for hours, and cried at the drop of a hat! Oh brother . . . girls!

I was really missing my girlfriends!!!! God is so good though. I got a call from my mom and we talked for a long time. She has been a constant source of encouragement while I've been here. Shortly after we hung up, my good friend called (she cleaned house for Mahamud Ali (sp?) for years). We talked for well over an hour laughing and getting all caught up. Thank you Then my dear sister Linda Shelton called me. I know we talked for over an hour. I cried on her shoulder, and she just encouraged me the entire time. She is so kind and I miss her to the moon and back.

So that was my day. I just kept praising God, even for the seemingly bad stuff. I learned a long time ago that God inhabits our praise.

Hugs to you all.
Barb

Hello Barb!

A big hug from one of your fans in France. ☒ hug.gif I loved your program so much and was very sad when it disappeared. I have been saddened by so many things since: the evil treatment that Linda received (and also many others, as I've been learning), all the bad stuff in 3ABN, and your sickness. But the Lord is good, and His blessings abundant. Good things are happening too and the Lord is taking good care of his children. Glad to see that you found such an excellent doctor and treatment, and that you're in your way to healing. Glad to read your letters, so true and warm, just as yourself. God bless you, sister! You're in my prayers.

Have a very happy Valentine's day! ☒

Yours,

Grace

Hi Miss Barbara,

I don't know you at all, and I've never seen your cooking program. But I just wanted you to know that I have been blessed just by reading your posts here and learning your background. I am having my own personal battles, but after reading your first post about your walk by the lake I've been coming with you on your walks - hope you don't mind!!

I just have something to say about those tapes. When you really stop and think about it, those tapes don't belong to you or to 3ABN - they are the Lord's property. Sure, we can argue about legal rights and who can do what. Regardless of current circumstances, he said/she said arguments and all the other ugliness flying around, you and I and 3ABN and everone here hopefully have one common goal, that being to spread the gospel of Jesus to the world so we can get out of here. Under that umbrella of understanding, it makes absolutely no sense to me why those tapes are being held hostage as they are. From my humble perspective as just an earthly peon, those tapes are yet another tool in the Lord's arsenal for spreading the Word. I am just thankful, as you can be also, that I am not the one who will have to explain to my Lord on judgment day the choice to keep His cooking tapes, His music productions or anything else of His locked up and out of use, apparently simply out of spite.

Blessings to you!! I really do enjoy our walks - please tell me about the next one soon!!! I like to ask for heavenly hugs...so I'm sending one to you.... ☒ hug.gif

I could not have expressed my own feelings any better (about the tapes or the walks). I too have never met Barbara or even seen one of the tapes.

Do you have friends or family that used to watch her on 3abn? How do you think they would feel about this issue? What do you think we can do to bring this matter to the attention of people? Please feel free to PM me if you prefer.

Hi Barbara,
I had to smile when I read the sentence above, because that's the way I tend to think. God is good and knows just when we need encouragement, and it seems He sent you some yesterday when you really needed it.

I understand you're thinking about what to do for a studio or some place to tape some more cooking programs. If your neighborhood is not too noisy, it would seem that the most practical thing to do would be a remodeling of your kitchen-dining room area. (Hey, I'm a builder's wife and know all sorts of ways to remodel a house.) The main thing you really need, which you may not have in your kitchen, is an island with a cooktop in it. (A built-in oven higher up behind the island would also be nice.) A little vegetable sink in the same island might also be handy. Usually we have our stoves against a wall, and that doesn't work well for cooking demos. You would have to place the island in a position that would leave room for a camera & operator to take the necessary videos. If your kitchen & dining room are adjacent, you could have the "island" at the edge of your kitchen, if necessary, facing the dining room. When it's shooting day, the dining room belongs to the camera man, and you might have to move a bit of furniture. ;-)

Just a thought. You might have to play with a few sketched to see what you can do with your current space, or you might conclude that you need to bump out a wall. The wonderful bonus is that you'd always be able to use your camera-ready kitchen. ;-) (The cooktop could be extra, or you could use it as your main cooktop at all times. If you used it all the time, you would probably want a hood coming down from the ceiling, stopping high enough so as not to obstruct the filming.) Studio "sets" simply imitate a real kitchen. How much better to really use a real kitchen!

No more traveling with dishes, cooking utensils and ingredients to do your taping.

Best wishes to you,
Inga

Hi Inga,

You described the kitchen I have designed in my head a hundred times. Right on girl! My husband laughs at me, because knowing what I want, isn't the problem.

You have great ideas!

ear Snoopy,

our post tickled me so, and brought a great big smile to my face! Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

feel exactly the same way you do about my tapes. That they aren't my property or 3ABN's, but the Lords'. I uppose it is also why I have a peace about not arguing over them. The only emotion I feel, is a deep sadness or the people that are asking to learn about the health message and I am not able to supply their need.

had to chuckle at your comment about the tapes being 'held hostage'. I always refer to them as being ocked up in cooking school prison. When the time is right, either God will move in a powerful way, or He will rovide another answer. Either way, I am confident He will provide.

ince you enjoy the walks, let me share another short story with you.

ust before my last trip to the lake I had received some very sad news (through BSDA actually). It completely aught me off guard and felt like a knife in the pit of my stomach. I turned off the computer and knew I eeded to meet God at the lake.

sobbed as I changed into my three layers of clothes and pulled on my hat, scarf, gloves and coat. I cried ig, red-headed, crocodile tears for a good 15 minutes before calming down. Big, heavy, flakes were swirling n the sky, . . . as if they had nothing better to do.

was fretting and fussing with God. I felt uneasy, like everything was just out-of-my-reach, and out of ontrol. I sniffled and kicked snow as I trudged up the hillside. I pleaded with God for favor and for nderstanding.

was out of breath when I reached the lake. The sky was dark and matched my inner turmoil. I began to sing ongs of praise until my spirits began to lift, and I could hear that still, small, voice. When I turned to leave, od spoke to me and said, `Beloved, haven't I taught you to praise me in all circumstances?'

Yes, Lord, You have'. I walked through the snow-covered pasture and back onto the path. I began to pray gain, only this time I praised God for the problem.

Beloved, it won't be as bad as you think. Trust Me.'

'Yes Lord, I will trust You.'

My heart became lighter as the Lord brought recollections of past answered prayers into my mind. The snow was powdery and deep and difficult to walk in. As I crested the top of the hill, I paused to drink from my water bottle.

On the left side of the road for a short distance, every tree had been cut down. All but one. It had been topped, and all of its branches removed but two. The two remaining branches looked like arms reaching out. The right 'hand' held what looked like a conductors batton, reaching up, poised, as if it were leading a choir.

I looked directly across the road and saw a grouping of magestic trees. They reached high up into the heavens. I began to imagine that they were singing a concert in the forest just for me. I stared at the trees for a long time, and then wondered, if trees really could sing, what would they sing?

Immediately a Bible verse popped into my head. It's found in Isaiah 55:12. 'For you shall go out with joy, and be led out with peace; The mountains and the hills shall break forth into singing before you, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.' What an awesome day that will be!

When I arrived back at my apartment I opened my Bible and asked God to speak to me from His Word and give me complete peace.

This is what I read.

'For as the rain comes down, and the snow from heaven, and do not return there, but water the earth, and make it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, So shall My word be that goes forth from My mouth; It shall not return to Me void, But it shall accomplish what I please, And it shall prosper in the thing for which I sent it.'

My heart was overwhelmed with joy, as the verse spoke to my need for an answer.

God is so good, folks. Remember to take that special time with Him everyday, . . . not just to talk, . . . but to listen. I'm positive He has something to tell you.

I hope everyone had a wonderful Valentines Day! Bill arrives tomorrow. ☒ welc

Barbara,
Bless you for sharing this beautiful testimony with us! God provides us so many blessings in the most amazing ways if we will just keep our eyes and hearts open.

I, too, have a testimony I would like to share on this day that the world has designated to LOVE. It comes, not from God's glorious snow-covered Norwegien countryside, but from a medical facility I had to visit this past Monday.

My heart sank as my doctor filled out the request for an MRI of my brain. I thought about my first experience years before with this daunting machine. I had laid head first inside the narrow tube for only a few scant minutes before my chest began to fill with such pressure that I thought my heart would burst. The panic got so strong that I had to tell the technician to get me out immediately!

"But I have claustrophobia!" I blurted out as my doctor handed me the request.

"No problem," he reassured. "They have an open MRI available".

Encouraged, I took the orders home and quickly scheduled the appointment.

The morning of the test I arrived at the imaging facility full of confidence that I was up to the challenge. After all, I wasn't going to be buried deep in a tube as I had been before. I faced the "open" MRI machine fearlessly as I climbed up the short ladder to the exam table. I calmly noted that the actual opening of the machine was pretty narrow but that there was plently of room to spread out my arms and legs if need be. The technician made me very comfortable, placing a foam support under my knees to keep my back in a proper position for the 30-minute test. My head was cradled in a nice support. I sighed happily that all was going so well.

As the technician prepared to put the clear plastic positioning hood over my head she warned "Since you are claustrophobic it may help to close your eyes as I put this on. "Ha!" I blustered to myself, and defiantly kept them open. As the device clicked into place my confidence dissolved. My power and control were gone. As the pressure in my chest began to build I looked directly into the face of the young technician. "Oh no. I'm afraid this is not going to work. I'm so disappointed in myself."

She quickly removed the hood and suggested we reschedule the test when my doctor could provide me with some strong pharmacological help to relax me. Anxious to get this important diagnostic test completed I asked, "Is there any way my husband could be in here with me?" The tech went out to the parking lot, collected my husband, had him fill out a questionnaire and empty his pockets. In minutes he was by my side, firmly holding my small left hand in both of his big strong hands.

I closed my eyes, the technician clicked the hood back around my head and slowly slid the table into the MRI machine. She showed my husband how to unlock the table so he could quickly get me out if need be. I kept my eyes tightly closed so as not to see the close proximity of the machine's upper surface and focused diligently on the two strong hands holding mine. I knew he wouldn't let go. I trusted my husband. I knew he would take care of me and deliver me from the machine if I could not bear it any longer. I had faith in this man so I was able to endure the close quarters of the MRI machine and the synthesized jack-hammering, buzzing and popping going on above my head as it created an image of my brain. I held on tightly and he gave me numerous reassuring squeezes over that lengthy 30-minute test.

I made it through! It would not have helped to have a stranger stand there and promise that I would be okay. The radiologist could have come in and held my hand and it would not have helped me make it through because I did not know him enough to be able to trust him. I couldn't have faith in him to care enough about me to do as I needed because he did not know me. I needed someone to help that knew me well enough to do what was best for me.

As we drove home after the test my heart overflowed with love for this husband of mine. He didn't chide me for my weakness. He held my hand. He was my power when I had none of my own! I couldn't help but realize that this is how it is to be with our Savior. He knows us better than any loved one ever could. He wants us to be victorious in this test called life. Jesus asks us to place our hands in His and, with the eyes of faith, focus on Him and not the world. He will carry us through!

locked up in cooking school prison. When the time is right, either God will move in a powerful way, or He will provide another answer. Either way, I am confident He will provide.

Since you enjoy the walks, let me share another short story with you.

Just before my last trip to the lake I had received some very sad news (through BSDA actually). It completely caught me off guard and felt like a knife in the pit of my stomach. I turned off the computer and knew I needed to meet God at the lake.

I sobbed as I changed into my three layers of clothes and pulled on my hat, scarf, gloves and coat. I cried big, red-headed, crocodile tears for a good 15 minutes before calming down. Big, heavy, flakes were swirling in the sky, . . . as if they had nothing better to do.

I was fretting and fussing with God. I felt uneasy, like everything was just out-of-my-reach, and out of control. I sniffled and kicked snow as I trudged up the hillside. I pleaded with God for favor and for understanding.

I was out of breath when I reached the lake. The sky was dark and matched my inner turmoil. I began to sing songs of praise until my spirits began to lift, and I could hear that still, small, voice. When I turned to leave, God spoke to me and said, `Beloved, haven't I taught you to praise me in all circumstances?'

'Yes, Lord, You have'. I walked through the snow-covered pasture and back onto the path. I began to pray again, only this time I praised God for the problem.

'Beloved, it won't be as bad as you think. Trust Me.'

'Yes Lord, I will trust You.'

My heart became lighter as the Lord brought recollections of past answered prayers into my mind. The snow was powdery and deep and difficult to walk in. As I crested the top of the hill, I paused to drink from my water bottle.

On the left side of the road for a short distance, every tree had been cut down. All but one. It had been topped, and all of its branches removed but two. The two remaining branches looked like arms reaching out. The right 'hand' held what looked like a conductors batton, reaching up, poised, as if it were leading a choir.

I looked directly across the road and saw a grouping of magestic trees. They reached high up into the heavens. I began to imagine that they were singing a concert in the forest just for me. I stared at the trees for a long time, and then wondered, if trees really could sing, what would they sing?

My heart was overwhelmed with joy, as the verse spoke to my need for an answer.

thank you very much for letting us take those walks with you. Those are wonderful walks.

only had a small glimpse of your character one time when you were in town doing a cooking class. You had uch a sweet dispositon. I could tell at that time that You and Jesus are close friends.

lease keep us informed when you start building your new cooking studio after you go home.

arbara, thank you for sharing that. I don't think it was by accident that you posted it or I read it. Your estimony has given me something to think about as well.

have been extremely burdened for a 17 year old young lady in my youth group. She really wants to live for od, but she feels pulled in the other direction by worldly "friends" that are hard for her to give up. She has old me this herself. She's into the party scene and away from God right now, but I can't help but believe that od is still speaking to her. I want her to wake up before she gets hurt.

Vould everyone who reads this please say a prayer for April? I know this isn't on topic, but I just feel like now s the time to post this. It would be a BIG encouragement to me to see her back in church and living for the ord. Thanks and God bless.

.S. to Barbara: Thanks for the updates on your situation as well. I'll be praying for you and your ministry.

Duane, I will pray for April. We have assurance in 1John 5:16, that if we ask God, He will give life to those who are sinning because we have asked! Pretty awesome, isn't it!

BTW, your new avatar is, um, odd. I got a out of wwjd's latest quote.

Barbara,

It is quite evident that you have a gift for writing as well as cooking. A couple of your posts here (including the one below) would be excellent in a devotional book.

Have you thought of translating your experiences into a devotional book? Since a devotional book implies individual page-long articles, perhaps you might prefer to write an inspirational book. This could include your cooking school experiences at 3ABN, your home experiences, your battle with cancer. etc. A bit of humor in appropriate places does wonders, and you seem to have a nice sense of humor.

Since you seem to have a computer where you are, you could get started right now. Be sure to save the little devotional below and also retrieve your description of the earlier walk.

There. You've at least got part of your book. That wasn't hard, was it?

Blessings,
Inga

BK and PB, thank you for your testimonies. God bless you!!!

Duane, I'm praying for April, that He strengths her and helps her take the right decision to turn her heart to the Lord. And that He protects her from danger while she struggles.

I hope you're not feeling like your avatar, Duane!

Blessings to all,

Dear Duane:

April will be in my prayers. For such a long time I was angry with God and couldn't really pray in a meaningful way. The only thing I could manage to say was: "I'm here God. Don't let go." Maybe this would help April, too.

I am in a totally different place now as I have Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia, but I know that God is looking out for me in so many ways. I was told I had a lymphoma in my right lung. He provided the strength for me to finally agree to a modified chemotherapy treatment just before Thanksgiving and in January when I saw my oncologist, he told me that the lymphoma was almost completely gone. God cares for us and will always help us through our problems if we will let Him.

God bless you, Duane, for keeping us updated on your current journey. You give us all courage that things will eventually work out to God's Name and Glory.

Dear Barbara:
I have so enjoyed your posts, keeping us up to date on not only your recovery, but your walks in the snow to the lake. How beautiful it must be there at this time of year! It makes me want to come and stoll along with you, soaking up God's canvas of beauty as only He can paint for our enjoyment. I'll be looking forward to seeing some pictures if you can post them for us, perhaps on your web site when you return home. Just know we are praying for your complete recovery as you spend these few weeks in Norway and also know, you are loved and missed by us all!!

I have a good notion that Barb is experiencing a new honeymoon these days since we do not hear from her. And there is a lot more snow in that part of Norway than usual.

Barbara Kerr comes across as a very genuine person, and wrote a very stunning letter. Thank God she had the courage.

By their fruits shall ye know them.

Many of you are probably familiar with Barbara Kerr's website, seeing she's had 25K visitors at http://www.tasteofhealth.net/ I'm kind of new here, so still discovering. It would be nice if her and Linda could do daily online programs somehow. The internet is far more wide-reaching than TV. Her cooking program was one of mom's favorites. Now mom's thinking of transferring her very nice donation plans to taste-of-health.

Hi Everyone (again), t has been two long weeks since I've been able to post and I've missed writing to you each day!

First I want to say, 'thanks Laurence', and I agree with you that there are definitely ways to take advantage of the internet that I am not using. I NEED HELP WITH TECHNOLOGY!!

had to laugh at Johann's note about the honeymoon. It has been soooooooooo great to have Bill here for wo weeks. We have gone for several long walks since his arrival. Just yesterday he was calling me a slave driver, because I wouldn't let him take the shortcut back to the apartment. The vacation has been so good for him. He is a work-aholic-type-A kind of guy. He needed Norway as much as I did.

Unfortunately, due to my treatments for parasites, candida, fungus, etcetera, . . . I was given strict nstructions not to even kiss my husband. Boo hoo for me! Two months is a long time to not see your spouse, . . especially when he's as cute as Bill!

All day I've been trying to keep myself busy so I won't think about being left behind. For hours I've been rying to swallow the lump in my throat, but it continues to keep me on the verge of tears. I was supposed to ly home today with Bill, but instead he left for home this morning without me.

was continuing to suffer, with what I had always self-diagnosed, as candida problems. My candida numbers were getting close to zero, but my symptoms were still as bad as they ever were. Finally, this past Sunday we decided to re-test and look for another possible culprit. I tested at a 30 (that's bad) for 'animal bourn parasites'. We changed the treatment and I just completed the third day. I'm already feeling relief and happy hat we are on the right track.

This does, however, mean that I will be here longer. Right now, I am planning on flying home on April 4th. I know God has a reason for extending my stay in this beautiful country, so I will continue to praise Him.

Tomorrow, I decided to go look at a sanitarium located 30 minutes from the clinic in Moss. I'm not really sure why I'm going to look at it, but I am. I don't even know if it's for sale. I just have been feeling a burden for cancer patients lately. A burden that just continues to grow with each passing day. It's sometimes tough when you want to save the entire world, but don't exactly know where to start.

God says that our footsteps are numbered and I believe that. Wintley Phipps says that our destiny is not what s inevitable, . . . but what is possible! I believe that too. Take initiative. That's what the pastor here preached about, and I can't get his message out of my mind. Please continue to keep me in your prayers everyone, . . . and write to me when you have time, I love your letters.

must go get ready for bed now. Pray for opened or closed doors with the sanitarium, and for wisdom.

God bless you all,
Barbara Kerr

Someone else told me of your dreams of a sanatorium. It seems impossible, and yet, who knows? With God nothing is impossible.

Wouldn't that be wonderful if all of this mess that is engulfing us would result in a new breakthrough in SDA health work?

With your enthusiasm, Barb, and all of your present and future supporters - what a possibility!!!

Do you really think I could learn to speak Norwegian??? ha

After 2 months I thought I would know more and I feel like I know practically nothing.

I suppose that comes with time and a good teacher.

Barb,

Who knows but that your "new middle name" may be "Joseph" oops, "Josephine", or even "Esther". God is already using your ministry. We will be $upporting your ministry a$ well.

It is about TIME! It's all about TIME. That's the only thing god gives to every man equally.

It's time for the truth about our health message to become known. Over 140 years before researchers found out, "we" were told that Cancer is caused by a VIRUS. But too many didn't and still don't read her messages, and so, don't know how to really live the good life. We knew where to turn for the best knowldge and we just "sat" on it, or even made fun of it.

Keep on keeping on, precious little lady.

You are definitely in our prayers ...

Hi there,

Today has been a good day. My 'field trip' to the sanitarium turned out to be quite surprising. The good doctor offered to drive me there so I could look around, while he ran errands around town.

The building is large and rather sprawling in nature. A lot of windows and white in color. It is currently being run by Adventists (that are physical therapists), and they use the facility as a rehabilitation center. It houses 70-80 patients and is always full, I'm told. It has a swimming pool, work-out room, nice cafeteria and kitchen, arts and crafts room, and much, much more. I was extremely impressed!

Walking through those doors this afternoon felt like being home. It was a strange sensation. The place isn't for sale, although, the people running it look to be about retirement age. What was so totally cool about it, was that touring that place was like walking through one of Ellen White's descriptions of what our sanatariums are supposed to be like.

The town of Moss is located on the ocean. It's about a fifteen minute walk to the water. The air is fresh, the water is pure, and well, . . . I'm sure the sun must shine in the summertime! ha

One thing is for sure. If God wants something to happen with that facility, He will have to shake a lot of things up. I will continue to pray for open and closed doors. Thank you in advance for joining me in praying about this.

Just think of how many years it would take to get approval in the USA for a cancer clinic, if ever. People are dying today, there has got to be another answer!

Well, the weather warmed up here just enough to start melting the snow and make everything quite sloppy. Bill made it home safely, but sounded rather stressed on the phone tonight. Boy was Norway good for him.

I hope you all had the most super, fantastic, wonderfully blessed day today. Isn't God good?

Hugs, Barbara Kerr

arbara,
f I was a few years younger without any responsibilities I would ask you to have me on your list of people to ielp you run the hospital. I would be thrilled to help in anyway. I believe in alternative medicine also.
labe I could pray for you for now.
hank you for your beautiful letters.

You make me feel homesick, Barbara, I know this place so well. Also the people serving there. The proprietor spent his childhood and youth in Iceland, later Denmark, and then Norway. Great people, medical doctors, physical therapists(of various nationalities), cooks, chaplain (who was my son's roommate in College), etc. I have been cuddled (and cured) there for several weeks.

At present they are not allowed to take cancer patients, I was told. But with God nothing is impossible.

Hi Barbara,

How are you keeping? Do give us an update.

Barbara:
After reading all of your posts on this thread, I just have to applaud you - going through so many health issues, and yet still keeping a smile in your heart.
Your walks sound so neat - so peaceful. Something about snow, too that invigorates and restores. It reminds me of forgiveness. Clean, pure, white, and it covers the ugliness.
I have become a little disheartened with what I have read on here regarding 3abn. It just sounds like there are so many "mountains" to overcome, so many things to conquer - how will this mess ever be cleaned up? Until a few weeks ago, I thought that the divorce, etc, was "ancient" history... well, maybe not ancient, but I must have had the hope that it was now time for healing... I have been an adventist all my life and it hurts me to the core, seeing that deceit, lies, bickering, arguing, etc. is so rampant in our church. sigh sorry I got off the subject. Your walks just made me want to escape for a little while from all the negativity. Its so hard to know what to believe, who to trust...
Thank you so much for your posts - I really enjoy reading them. I will be praying for your health and your cooking ministry.
My friend has one of your cookbooks, and every year at campmeeting, I BEG her to make some of the recipes. It would be nice if she would let me borrow it, but I suspect it is very dear to her! I will have to get one of my own!
Blessings!

ollyByGolly,

elcome to BSDA! I understand what you are experiencing as you read through this sad information about abn and the sometimes unpleasant discussions that ensue. But please, don't get disheartened. Instead, take omfort that wrongs that have been carefully covered up and hidden are finally being exposed and handled as hey should have been years ago.

hile I was "bewildered" when I first began learning about the truth, I now praise the Lord that there are eople willing to take the heat, the consequences, to bring things out into the open.

s you continue reading, pay close attention to the many scriptures and quotes from Ellen White about how e are charged to call sin by its right name or bear its guilt if we don't. And take heart for God is still on His hrone, He is still in control and is willing to fill us with the Peace that passes all understanding!

nd then pay attention to all those who wink at or attempt to justify the sins of convicted embezzlers, gossip, lander, partiality and bias.... and pretend that talking to each other and publishing things to the world as on he www.save3abn.com web site is 'rebuking sin" and calling sin by it's right name, and that they are ollowing biblical principles. Of course posters here can be answered here, or rebuked or reproved publically s they are posting here publically, but the people at 3ABN they are accusing of sin, and crimes aren't here.... hey aren't being addressed, rebuked or reproved, they are just being exposed and talked about and ondemned before others and to others...

B, and others, flat out ignore the following which proves this is not being handled as it should be.

his is a selfish world at best. Many of those who profess the truth are not sanctified by it, and may not have heart to make even a trifling variation in the prices of produce when dealing with a poor brother, sooner han they would with an able worldling. They do not love their neighbors as themselves. It would be more leasing to God were there less selfishness and more disinterested benevolence. {2T 51.2}

s Sister has seen a selfish spirit manifest in deal, she has committed a greater sin by feeling and talking in egard to the matter as she has. She has erred in expecting too much. The tongue has been truly an unruly ember, a world of iniquity, set on fire of hell, untamed and untamable. Sister F has had a spirit of retaliation, manifesting by her deportment that she was offended. This was all wrong. She has cherished bitter feelings, which are foreign to the spirit of Christ. Anger, resentment, and all kinds of unkind tempers are indulged by speaking against those with whom we are displeased, and by reciting the errors and failings and sins of neighbors. The lustful desires are gratified. {2T 51.3}

Sister , if you are grieved because your neighbors or friends are doing wrong to their own hurt, if they are overtaken in fault, follow the Bible rule. "Tell him his fault between thee and him alone." As you go to the one you suppose to be in error, see that you speak in a meek and lowly spirit; for the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God. The erring can be restored in no other way than in the spirit of meekness, gentleness, and tender love. Be careful in your manner. Avoid anything in look or gesture, word or tone, that savors of pride or self-sufficiency. Guard yourself against a word or look that would exalt yourself, or place your goodness and righteousness in contrast with their failings. Beware of the most distant approach to disdain, overbearing, or contempt. With care avoid every appearance of anger; and though you use plainness of speech, let there be no reproach, no railing accusation, no token of warmth but that of earnest love. Above all, let there be no shadow of hate or ill will, no bitterness or sourness of expression. Nothing but kindness and gentleness can flow from a heart of love. Yet all these precious fruits need not hinder you from speaking in the most serious, solemn manner, as though angels were directing their eyes upon you, and you were acting in reference to the coming judgment. Bear in mind that the success of reproof depends greatly upon the spirit in which it is given. Do not neglect earnest prayer that you may possess a lowly mind, and that angels of God may go before you to work upon the hearts you are trying to reach, and so soften them by heavenly impressions that your efforts may avail. If any good is accomplished, take no credit to yourself. God alone should be exalted. God alone has done it all. {2T 52.1}

You have excused yourself for speaking evil of your brother or sister or neighbor to others before going to him and taking the steps which God has absolutely commanded. You say: "Why, I did not speak to anyone until I was so burdened that I could not refrain." What burdened you? Was it not a plain neglect of your own duty, of a thus saith the Lord? You were under the guilt of sin because you did not go and tell the offender his fault between you and him alone. If you did not do this, if you disobeyed God, how could you be otherwise than burdened unless your heart was hardened while you were trampling the command of God underfoot, and in your heart hating your brother or neighbor? And what way have you found to unburden yourself? God reproves you for a sin of omission in not telling your brother his fault, and you excuse and comfort yourself by a sin of commission by telling your brother's faults to another person! Is this the right way to purchase ease--by committing sin? {2T 53.1}

All your efforts to save the erring may be unavailing. They may repay you evil for good. They may be enraged rather than convinced. What if they hear to no good purpose, and pursue the evil course they have begun? This will frequently occur. Sometimes the mildest and tenderest reproof will have no good effect. In that case the blessing you wanted another to receive by pursuing a course of righteousness, ceasing to do evil and learning to do well, will return into your own bosom.

If the erring persist in sin, treat them kindly, and leave them with your heavenly Father. You have delivered your soul; their sin no longer rests upon you; you are not now partaker of their sin. But if they perish, their blood is upon their own head. {2T 53.2}

Dear friend, an entire transformation must take place in you, or you will be weighed in the balance and found wanting. The church at -----, especially talking women, have a lesson to learn. "If any man [or woman] among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain." Many will be weighed in the balance and found wanting in this matter of so great importance. Where are the Christians who walk by this rule? who will take God's part against the evilspeaker? who will please God, and set a watch, a continual watch, before the mouth, and keep the door of the lips? Speak evil of no man. Hear evil of no man. If there be no hearers, there will be no speakers of evil. If anyone speaks evil in your presence, check him. Refuse to hear him, though his manner be ever so soft and his accents mild. He may profess attachment, and yet throw out covert hints and stab the character in the dark. {2T 54.1}

Resolutely refuse to hear, though the whisperer complains of being burdened till he speak. Burdened indeed! with a cursed secret which separateth very friends. Go, burdened ones, and free yourselves from your burden in God's appointed way. First go tell your brother his fault between you and him alone. If this fail, next take with you one or two friends, and tell him in their presence. If these steps fail, then tell it to the church. Not an unbeliever is to be made acquainted with the slightest particular of the matter. Telling it to the church is the last step to be taken. Publish it not to the enemies of our faith. They have no right to the knowledge of church matters, lest the weakness and errors of

Those who are preparing for the coming of Christ should be sober and watch unto prayer, for our adversary, the devil, goeth about like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour; whom we are to resist steadfast in the faith. "He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile: let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and His ears are open unto their prayers." {2T 54.}

Like you holly, Barbara Kerr's letters struck a pure tone deep in my heart land. Did you read her letter that Calvin posted here? http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489&hl=Kerr

When I read Barbara's letters, I'm reminded of one of EGW's visions in Early Writings:

> "Who shall be able to stand? Is my robe spotless?" Then the angels ceased to sing, and there was some time of awful silence, when Jesus spoke: "Those who have clean hands and pure hearts shall be able to stand; My grace is sufficient for you." At this our faces lighted up, and joy filled every heart.

But when I read posts like Aletheia's above, I'm remided of EGW's other vision:

> I turned to look at the company who were still bowed before the throne; they did not know that Jesus had left it. Satan appeared to be by the throne, trying to carry on the work of God. I saw them look up to the throne, and pray, "Father, give us Thy Spirit." Satan would then breathe upon them an unholy influence; in it there was light and much power, but no sweet love, joy, and peace. Satan's object was to keep them deceived and to draw back and deceive God's children.

Here is the crux of your problem; you don't know your role... I'll remind you that you are the evilspeaker here... with your bitterness, rancor, hypocrisy and projection; coping mechanisms all for your own divorce...not the one who will take God's part.

Unfortunately, you have proven EGW wrong here... no one is trying to hear your noise... but you continue on with the mudslinging and character assassination and aspersion casting; it's like a drug with you... if you were like this while you husband was still with you, while I cannot condone his leaving you, I can certainly understand it; as it states in Prov 27:15 "A continual dropping in a very rainy day and a contentious woman are alike."... and you are nothing if not one contentious woman

The rest of your post isn't worth addressing save in this wise... you quote EGW on selfishness... and the immediately turn around and wrest her words and edit them to make them a diatribe about another poster... that is selfishness, Cindy... not to mention demonstrative of how spirtually ugly you really are.

"If any man [or woman] among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain." Many will be weighed in the balance and found wanting in this matter of so great importance. Where are the Christians who walk by this rule? who will take God's part against the evilspeaker? who will please God, and set a watch, a continual watch, before the mouth, and keep the door of the lips? Speak evil of no man. Hear evil of no man. If there be no hearers, there will be no speakers of evil. If anyone speaks evil in your presence, check him. Refuse to hear him, though his manner be ever so soft and his accents mild. He may profess attachment, and yet throw out covert hints and stab the character in the dark. {2T 54.1}

> Resolutely refuse to hear, though the whisperer complains of being burdened till he speak. Burdened indeed! with a cursed secret which separateth very friends. Go, burdened ones, and free yourselves from your burden in God's appointed way. First go tell your brother his fault between you and him alone. If this fail, next take with you one or two friends, and tell him in their presence. If these steps fail, then tell it to the church. Not an unbeliever is to be made acquainted with the slightest particular of the matter. Telling it to the church is the last step to be taken. Publish it not to the enemies of our faith. They have no right to the knowledge of church matters, lest the weakness and errors of Christ's followers be exposed. {2T 54.2}

Welcome HollybyGolly to BSDA and for your comments to Barbara. Many of us felt the same way when she started posting from Norway and hope to hear soon that things are going well for her there.

I hope that you will find time to get acquainted with people here on BSDA. There is so much more than just the 3abn issues that you will read about. If you want and take the time, you will make some friends which will be the REAL value of your coming here. Sometimes things may seem a bit irreverent and sometimes it is only TIC (tongue in cheek).

There are people who speak clearly here about the 3abn issues and ask serious and reasonable and intelligent questions politely. There are those who do little more than cut and paste from various posts and whine and dissemble and spin and demonstrate a lack of comprehension of what they have read. You I am confident will know the difference when you read.

As you read at this early stage you can also send Private Messages to posters if you have questions that you think might have been posted in one of the many dozens of threads and hundreds of posts that you have not had time yet to read. I have NEVER found any of the people with real information unwilling to answer an informed question asked politely or rude in their response.

Again, HollybyGolly...welcome.

I caught that too. Just another act of desperation isn't it? :shrug: Then she wonders why no one takes her posting seriously. Very self-destructive. Aletheia would do well to ponder the implications of EGW's vision I posted above from Early Writings re the "unholy influence." It may explain her deception.

It is very sad when my attempt to encourage a sister who is expressing being disheartened is taken as a call to battle by one who neglects to apply to her own tongue the very message of the Sister White quotes she is invoking.

QUOTE(LaurenceD @ Mar 9 2007, 05:00 PM)

Like you holly, Barbara Kerr's letters struck a pure tone deep in my heart land. Did you read her letter that Calvin posted here? http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=10489&hl=Kerr

When I read Barbara's letters, I'm reminded of one of EGW's visions in Early Writings:

> "Who shall be able to stand? Is my robe spotless?" Then the angels ceased to sing, and there was some time of awful silence, when Jesus spoke: "Those who have clean hands and pure hearts shall be able to stand; My grace is sufficient for you." At this our faces lighted up, and joy filled every heart.

But when I read posts like Aletheia's above, I'm remided of EGW's other vision:

> I turned to look at the company who were still bowed before the throne; they did not know that Jesus had left it. Satan appeared to be by the throne, trying to carry on the work of God. I saw them look up to the throne, and pray, "Father, give us Thy Spirit." Satan would then breathe upon them an unholy influence; in it there was light and much power, but no sweet love, joy, and peace. Satan's object was to keep them deceived and to draw back and deceive God's children.

Cindy,

Perhaps you should check and see who the email was from and then ask that person why they edited out part of Sister White's statement. Sounds like they might have set you up, dear.

I have to say, as I read through the quotes you copied/pasted in, I once again marveled at the counsel she has given and really did appreciate those words that Ellen wrote to us all.

Since we're being so frank Here, Diane. This has gone on long enough.

I quoted an article from Ellen White because Pb's post to a newcomer warranted that rebuke.in my view, and I consider it a timely warning to all who are engaged in the business of trying to bring down a ministry and their brethren in an unbilical and unchristlike manner, when God's word is plain.

Now if you disagree with that, fine.

But don't come leapfrogging over the condemnations and accusations which you agree with, (which are neither to, or about barbara Kerr, nor uplifting at all) to land square on me, while ignoring all others once again, and thinking yourself justified and righteous here when what you are doing is being biased, and partial and is outright sin.

You have a right to your opinions as a poster, but I hold you to a higher standard here, as you are also an administrator and so when posting should be an example to those you moderate, and lead by that example.

Because sister, from where I am sitting, IMO considering the venom you've spit at me since I first arrived, it looks like you see poison, because you are blinded by the poison in your own heart and mind, and the poison all around you which you wilfully turn a blind eye to, or condone and justify.

Your friends Mr J, and his wife, Sera, Sister, Fran, etc etc etc.. never seem to get one cross word from you, nor do many others who say ugly things, nasty , poisonous things, and you don't even blink at it, not one cross word, not one reproof...

I perceive that God is no respector of persons.

Jam 2:
8 If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well:
9 But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.
10 For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one [point], he is guilty of all.
11 For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law.
12 So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.
13 For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.

Barring an apology or acknowledgment from you about all this, then this is the last response you'll ever get from me.

May you find what you seek.

)on't hide behind that foolishness; you are responsible for what you post... and what you posted as EGW's vritings was modified by you... or another source you claim. The bottom line is you are responsible for what 'ou post...and as such, you shoukld prayerfully consider what EGW actually says in 2T about "Sister F")ecause it greatly applies to you in a very real and direct fashion...when speaking of how Sister F "moves rom impulse, and finds fault, and has had too much to say against her brethren and sisters..." she very well :ould be talking about you Cindy, given your propensity to do as Sister White noted of "Sister F"... that being he case, the part that immediately follows applies to you:

If she would seek the heavenly adorning, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which 3od, the Creator of the heavens and the earth, calls of great price, she would then be a real help to the :hurch. If she would cherish the spirit of Christ, and become a peacemaker, her own soul would 'lourish, and she would be a blessing to the church wherever she might be located. Unless she is :onverted and an entire change is wrought in her, unless she educates herself to be slow to speak ınd slow to wrath, and cultivates true Christian courtesy, her influence will prove injurious, and :he happiness of others connected with her will suffer.

his forum topic is "Hi From Barbara Kerr in Norway". How do you find that unjustified? As mentioned earlier, his has been a topic filled with words of meditation on the beauties of nature and healing that Barbara Kerr nd others have been sharing. It meant a lot to a newbie, hollybygolly. Instead of rejoicing in the wonders een, you and Aletheia have used it as a forum for more of your obfuscation. That is what is unjustified, rother Bystander.

IMO, you are inadvertantly accomplishing what you are ashamed and disgraced by doing. You are magnifying, clearly showing, the truth we others are speaking. You are demonstrating to the anonymous readers that you and your like-minded posters will use whatever low tactics it takes to try to divert the attention of truth seekers from the truth. It is not working out as you planned. The truth is being exposed.

This is just a taste of what is to come when the whole world turns on us for what we believe. In the meantime, I will continue to stand for what I know is truth.

Bingo! If you have read many of my posts, you will know that this is why I am here. I do have a love for the souls involved. I care deeply for the souls of those the SDA church and 3abn are attempting to reach with the Gospel as well as for Danny, Linda, Tommy, the Shelton family, FHB, Lee, wwjd, Bystander, the alleged victims of Tommy, the employees who have been mistreated or who are witness to unChristian behavior and you, too, Cindy.

Just keep in mind that the ends doesn't justify the means when defending the truth. If you cover up the truth in order to defend a loved one, that is wrong. If you try to call the truth a lie, that is also wrong. If you try to cloud the truth to keep it from being clearly seen, that is a lie and it is wrong.

Cindy, please don't make me hurt your feelings only hours before the Sabbath, so the first thing you need to do is take it down a notch or two. I am not the one. Now that can either happen in your next post on BSDA, or I can arrange some time out if needed. Now, if you feel the need to show examples, PM them to Calvin and/or the admin staff. I said you were not going to further disrupt and distract from the purpose of this thread and mean each and every word. This is your last post here, unless you are going to give words of support and encouragement to the OP. This thread is not about defending 3ABN.

For everyone else Cindy slammed in this post, please do not further disrupt this thread and answer her here**

Hi Everyone,

It's so nice to have a family here on BSDA!!!! I have missed you all terribly.

First I want to thank you for all of your kind words of encouragement. I can't begin to explain how much they make me smile. It's like getting a hug from somewhere else around the world.

I apologize that I cannot write everything right now, as I need to meet an immigration officer to fill out forms for a medical visa. Yes, it's true that I will need to extend my stay until the end of April now. My three months are up the 5th of April, hence the need for the visa.

It will be late when I get back home (ha ha) and so I will not be able to get back on the internet this evening. I will write a long letter tomorrow and tell you everything that's been happening.

Hugs to you all. I've missed you.

> A plausible explanation is that we heard it from Linda. All of you on this forum that say Linda has kept her mouth shut about said events...what could you be thinking? Where do you think so many details about contracts, salaries, pregnancy tests, harrasment from Danny, the handling of their own private finances, what Walt T did or did not say to Linda, what John Lomacang did or did not say to Linda, What Danny did or did not say to Linda and on and on and on......People, it doesn't matter who repeated it whether it be Johann, or Gailon, or Darryl, or Pickle..the source WAS HER. How else would you be hearing about events and conversations where only she and Danny were in room? Supposedly she didn't have control of any of their finances, now, how do you suppose you on this forum heard about? Everything you are telling here had it's original source from Linda. I repeat, so many of the things written here were private conversations, events , blah blah blah They could not have come from anyone else, as the original source. That being the case, we are all supposed to take it as fact? Those of you who won't admit that she had to be the source for so many things, don't want to admit it, because you know better. common sense prevails and there is no getting around it. Now 3abn is being accused of breaking in...why...because Linda said it. Linda said there was a break in...Linda said only 3abn stuff was taken....Linda said her email was tapped (whatever that means) and Darryl backs it up!!! Darryl has his own vendetta. So this proves, once again, that most everything on here as come from one source and you all have fell for it while saying that Linda has kept silent......bright, folks, very bright...

YOU CAN PUT ALL YOU SAID CAME FROM LINDA IN A THIMBLE COMPARED TO ALL THE SLANDER THAT DANNY, ETAL. HAVE SPREAD. YOU, (UNLESS YOU ARE INVOLVED, WHICH YOU PROBABLY ARE) DON'T KNOW WHAT SHE HAS TOLD PEOPLE OR WHAT PEOPLE AROUND HER OBSERVED. DANNY HAS HUNG HIMSELF MANY TIMES BECAUSE HE CANNOT KEEP HIS MOUTH SHUT. HE IS SO FILLED WITH BITTERNESS AND SO INDIGNANT THAT LINDA IS GETTING SO MUCH FAVOR THAT HE, IN HIS NARCISISTIC STUPOR, IS SPILLING THE BEANS ON HIMSELF. BARBARA DID NOT SAY LINDA TOLD HER PEOPLE FROM 3ABN BROKE INTO HER HOUSE. SHE JUST STATED THAT IT HAPPENED. ANYBODY WITH AN IQ ABOVE 20 WOULD SEE THE CONNECTION. WHO ELSE WOULD DO THAT? YOU THINK BECAUSE WE ARE TRYING TO GET TO THE BOTTOM OF ALL THIS MAKES US IGNORANT? THAT'S PRETTY SELF-RIGHTEOUS.
LINDA, ACCORDING TO THE "CONTRACT" WAS FORCED TO KEEP HER MOUTH SHUT. I WONDER WHY? IS IT BECAUSE SHE KNOWS SO MUCH. IS THAT WHY DANNY IS SO FRANTIC IN HIS EFFORTS TO DISCREDIT HER. I DON'T THINK LINDA HAS BEGUN TO SHARE ALL SHE KNOWS AND I TRULY AND HONESTLY DON'T THINK SHE EVER WILL IF SHE THINKS IT WILL HURT 3ABN. I ALSO THINK THAT DANNY WAS PRETTY DILLUSIONAL BECAUSE HE NEVER THOUGHT ABOUT HOW MUCH WE, THE 3ABN VIEWERS AND SUPPORTERS, LOVE HER OR HOW MUCH WE WOULD MISS HER. I THINK HE ACTUALLY THOUGHT HE COULD MAKE HER DISAPPEAR AND NONE OF US WOULD CARE ALL THAT MUCH. HE WAS VERY MUCH MISTAKEN. IT SEEMS THAT HE THINKS WAY TOO MUCH OF HIMSELF. AGAIN, HE WAS VERY MISTAKEN. I DON'T SAY THIS TO VILIFY DANNY. I'VE WATCHED HIM TOO MANY YEARS AND HAVE COME TO CARE VERY MUCH ABOUT HIM. HOWEVER, I AM ANGRY AT WHAT HE'S DONE AND BECAUSE HE WON'T TELL THE TRUTH AND BECAUSE I CAN'T BELIEVE HIM ANYMORE. I'VE VERY DISAPPOINTED. I KNOW PEOPLE MAKE MISTAKES, BUT A CHRISTIAN SHOULD NOT HARBOR BITTERNESS AND REVENGE. THE ONLY REASON THIS CONTROVERSY CONTINUES IS BECAUSE HE AND THE REST OF THE FOLKS CONTROLLING 3ABN KEEP HIDING THE TRUTH AND WON'T ADMIT ANY WRONGDOING WHATSOEVER. THEY BLAME SATAN FOR HATING 3ABN. USING THE MINISTRY THAT WAY MAKES ME WANT TO GAG. I JUST THINK

DANNY AND A FEW OTHERS AT 3ABN HAVE LOST THEIR WAY AND NEED TO TAKE A BREAK AND REVIVE THEIR RELATIONSHIP WITH THE LORD AND MAKE REPARATIONS.

Uhh, Mozart, you need to be careful or Calvin might throw you out. All caps is like shouting and we don't do that here (or anywhere else in chatrooms that I know of) And we don't want to lose you, okay? We love you hug.gif And I agree with everything you said.

By the way, I think that it is really funny the way that Danny says that information in the 'Unauthorized History of 3ABN' and 'The Televangelist'

#1 Isn't true

#2 That it must have come from Linda.

If it isn't true, then how could it have come from Linda when she didn't even know him in the first part of the stories? And if she did know all that stuff about his alleged fooling around with other women and so forth, then he or someone else from that time in his life must have told her or she wouldn't know it in the first place to tell it! Duh-h-h!

Posted by: Barbara Kerr Mar 22 2007, 10:43 AM

Hi Guys,

It's me again. I planned to write two days ago, but I didn't have anything encouraging to say. By that I mean, I have been so down in the dumps this week I have had a hard time writing when all I've wanted to do is cry.

When it rains it pours, doesn't it?

On Sunday afternoon I went in for my testing as usual, only to discover that I had gone backwards in my progress. Not a little bit, but a lot. Three entire weeks of treatments felt like they had gone down the drain, so to speak. Then, I felt as though I should ask the doctor to check out my heart because so much heart disease and heart abnormalities run in my family. He checked, only to discover that I have an arrythmia (an irregular heartbeat) that is quite serious, another problem with the sympathetic nerve that feeds the arteries to the heart, and also arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) -- which he said was too much for someone 41 years old.

On top of what I considered to be bad news, he told me that the clinic was closed the first week of April because everyone is on Easter vacation. So I would be just sitting around waiting an additional week (impatiently) until the clinic was reopened.

Since the parasites and the heart problem can't be treated at the same time, I would have to 'start over again' with the parasite treatment and hope that I could get them to zero as fast as possible. Oye!

Bill and I have already extended my ticket once (from the 28th of Feb. to the 4th of April). To wait for the clinic to reopen and then to add three treatment weeks to take care of the heart problem, would put my return to the States on April 26th. As much as I hated to delay my return home, I want to go back healthy and in good shape!

The more I thought about sitting here in little Svinndal from March 29th until April 9th, without doing anything, the more depressed I became. So last Sunday I talked to Bill and pleaded with him to let me buy a fairly cheap flight to Romania to visit Monica, my good friend and translator. He reluctantly agreed to letting me put the ticket on the credit card, but doesn't want me to be completely cut off from friends and family. Believe me, I felt guilty for even asking him -- okay, I pressured him just a little bit, (I'm going a little nuts here) I hope you can understand that and not judge me.

I bought the ticket Sunday night and thought everything was fine. Well, that was short-lived! Monday morning my friend from immigration was at the clinic receiving a treatment. I told her about my plans for Easter week and staying in Norway until the end of April, and she said, 'I'm afraid you have wasted your money. If you leave the country, when you try to return on the 8th of April, you will immediately be deported back to the U.S. They will force you to buy a one-way ticket home and you will be banned from the European union (about 26 countries in all) for two years!'

I can honestly say that I've never understood immigrations laws before, but this week I have gotten a crash course in just how long you can visit another country without being shipped back home. My 90 days are up April 4th. Now I'm faced with filling out paperwork, collecting letters from the doctor and my landlord, and writing one myself, . . . and applying for a medical visa. The cost is about $165 dollars.

As long as the paperwork is filled out and filed, I can stay until I'm finished legally. BUT, . . . I still can't leave the country and visit Romania if I return later than the 3rd or 4th of April. I bought a cheap ticket, so there are expensive change fees involved and I have been on the phone for an hour already today trying to figure something out.

Have you ever come to a crossroad in your life and just didn't know which way to turn? I'm there!!! I haven't felt this confused and frustrated in years (well, at least since talking to Danny Shelton on the phone for 2 hours)

Then, on top of all this dilema, something happened Tuesday night that just hurt me beyond words. I received a phone call that upset me soooo much that after hanging up I began to cry and couldn't stop. I cried the entire rest of the evening. I cried myself to sleep. I woke up the Wednesday morning and immediately began to cry. I sat in the waiting room at the clinic and cried (there were at least five other patients just sitting there wondering what in the world is wrong with this woman).

I couldn't eat breakfast before I left for my treatment. The sun was shining, so I decided to walk straight to the lake from the clinic. The dirt road was beginning to dry up a little, the birds were singing the first songs of Spring, and in the distance I could hear a chainsaw grinding its way through a piece of lumber. I kept my eyes focused on the sun. When I looked down, I saw the prints of horse hooves. Everyday, for three months, I have seen the evidence of the horse that walks the road through Svinndal and up over the hill to the lake, but I had never seen a horse. Not even once.

When I came to the field in front of the lake, it was swampy. I walked through the fence, turned right and carefully chose my footing as I looked for a way around the soaked earth. I stayed close to the trees when I made it to the other side, and emerged at the waters edge. Not a cloud in the sky. It was magnificent.

The ice was melting even though it was still a chilly 35 degrees out. I found a small rock nearby to sit on. I took off my thick, black, felt scarf and folded it several times, using it as a cushion between the cold rock and my behind. I sat there staring at the water, looking up into the beautiful sky. It was so peaceful, but my heart was heavy. I hate feeling depressed, but I just couldn't shake the feeling no matter what.

After 30 minutes or so, my legs began to feel numb from the position I was sitting in. The ground looked so inviting. I reached down to make sure it was dry. I kicked away a few branches that were laying there and decided to lay down, using the rock as a pillow. The sun had warmed the ground just enough that I didn't feel cold. I laid there for an hour, just soaking up the warmth and peacefulness of my surroundings. A beautiful honey-glow surrounded each and every pine tree. I didn't want to go back, but I knew I was late for my afternoon treatment.

I reluctantly made my way back to town. Having missed lunch, I quickly grabbed some grapes and made a sandwich to take to the clinic.

After my treatment I drove into town (a very sweet couple loaned me their car while they are not receiving treatments). I was looking for a specific kind of pomegranate juice. The doctor has discovered a few kinds of pomegranate juice that kill parasites. (In the U.S. the only brand that will do the trick, is found at www.purelyjuice.com. The POM brand doesn't work.)

After visiting five stores and not finding what I was looking for I headed back to my car only to discover a parking ticked for 300 kroner (about $55). That was my icing on yesterdays cake.

Bill called me last night, and I was able to talk to him about what was troubling me, and I think we have come up with a plan to work things out. All I can say about the situation is, . . . please pray for me. God knows what my burden is and the desires of my heart, and how utterly confused I feel right now. Your prayers help me so much. Your posts here, help me so much. I just wish I could reach through the website and give you all a great big hug!

Also, pray for favor with the airlines that they will wave the usual change fee so I don't lose the money.

I have to run now, but I will check back here tomorrow and look forward to reading your letters to me. God bless you all.

(Please excuse any mispelled words, as there isn't a spell check on this norwegian computer for English)

Hugs,
Barbara Kerr

Barbara,

Weeping may endure for a night but joy cometh in the morning; He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him.

The God who sustains you is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we can ask or think and will keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Him because he trusteth in Him.

Know that your heavenly Father watches over you and the prayers of the saints are lifted up in your behalf... and Jesus Himself pleads His blood before His Father for you...

In His service,
Mr. J

Happy Sabbath everyone,

You guys really have become my friends! And not just those of you who are writing replies, but all of you who read my posts and send up a prayer for me. I love you all. Your notes of encouragement are like long-stemmed roses in a big beautiful bouquet. Thank you.

Last night before bed, I asked God to speak to me from His word. I opened my Bible and my eyes fell on these verses from Psalm 34:15-22.

"The eyes of the Lord are on the righteous, And His ears are open to their cry. The face of the Lord is against those who do evil, To cut off the remembrance of them from the earth. The righteous cry out, and the Lord hears, And delievers them out of all their troubles. The Lord is near to those who have a broken heart, And saves such as have a contrite spirit. Many are the afflictions of the righteous, But the Lord delivers him out of them all. He guards all his bones; Not one of them is broken. Evil shall slay the wicked, And those who hate the righteous shall be condemned. The Lord redeems the soul of His servants, And none of those who trust in Him shall be condemned."

These words were very comforting to me last night. Add to that all of your prayers, and this morning I awoke feeling refreshed, and like my old self. It was a very good feeling to not be depressed today.

After spending several hours on the phone between Czech Airlines and Orbitz travel agency, I was finally able to move my return ticket from Romania up to a date that will not get me deported. ☒

In addition, I think I finally made a decision to fly home on April 4th, instead of staying here three more weeks. God will have to hit me over the head if He wants me to stay to the end of April -- otherwise, I'm home.

Even once I'm home, I will continue to let you know how things are going. Right now my husband and I are discussing me getting a job to help pay off the bill for the treatments. It will be interesting to see what doors God opens for me. I've not done anything other than public speaking and cooking schools, so it will be a new adventure. Hummmmm, ... Barnes & Noble sounds kinda fun.

Well, tomorrow I am singing for church in Moss. It's an oldie that everyone knows, "Through It All". Very appropriate for my circumstances I thought. After church there is a potluck, and then we are going on a two or three hour walk by the water (there will be a campfire in there somewhere). I do enjoy the socialization of Sabbath afternoons here. No Sabbath afternoon lay-activities for the Norwegians, . . . it's walk, walk, walk.

Thank you again for your sweet notes and your PM's. I wish you the sweetest, happiest, Sabbath ever.

Blessings on all of you,
Barbara Kerr

Barbara,

Don't know if you're anywhere around the Bible School, but if you are, tell Werner and Marta Rusch hi for me. Don't know where Erik and Katja are, or Ziemek and Gabriella, and can't remember their last names offhand, but if you run into either of those couples, tell them hi as well.

Blessings.

P.S. And i should add to the list Gunnar and his wife from the Matteson Institute.

Barbara,

I too wish you well, and have enjoyed most of what you have written and lift you up in prayer.

We have a mighty God, and he is able to do all things, and all is possible by faith, and we know that all things work together for good to those who love God and are the called, according to his purpose.

3Jo 1:2 Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.

Yes, What was wrong with it PB? If theology posts are moved to the theology forum, that isn't considered mean to those who wrote them, is it?

and can you explain why this topic belongs in this forum, rather then on one of the many other forums it seems it would easily belong on ?? I am being honest, I don't get it. I'm not trying to argue with anybody. I was just looking for an answer, any explanation would do...

Aletheia,

I think if you read again, you will note that all I did was quote from a song and a scripture. I did not direct the statement to anyone. I said a song came to mind.

The only attack I saw on this thread tonight, was when someone made a statement insinuating that Barbara Kerr was

> QUOTE
> An advertisement for the Doctor maybe

I would have thought that if someone was really only concerned why the posts were in a certain area of the boards, they would not have had to add the sarcastic remarks about testifying "for Linda and against Danny in a older letter" and that cute little remark about the Dr.

Even IF the posts could or should be moved to another thread, the sarcastic remark was uncalled for.

I am sure if my post was ☒ ofl you will forgive me, because you are always telling us how righteous you are.

In this case, Peacefully, I find myself disagreeing with you.... the issues that Barbara Kerr has with 3abn, as well as her thoughts and insights on the situations at 3abn belong here, and we are very glad for her perspectives on them.

But Barbara Kerr herself is NOT "one of the 3abn issues"... and while we are very glad for her inspiring posts, and willing to walk with her through her distressing times, those really do not belong in the forum which was established for the purpose of discussing the perceived problems having to do with 3abn.

It would, IMO, be much better if her thread on her experiences in Norway having to do with her own health be moved to one of the forums that specialize in those things. There is, here on BSDA, a forum devoted to health and related issues, another, the cafe, devoted to things of general interest, and other forums where inspirational messages and prayer requests are especially targeted. I would respectfully request that the administrators discuss this with her and more this thread to the area of her preference..... but.... that may be out of line for me to do here... if so, one of the moderators may edit this as they see best.... or remove it if they prefer. That's just the way I see it.

WB,

I see your point and agree that issues of Barbara's health, etc, would probably be best discussed in a more appropriate forum. However, I stick to my position that she is a 3abn issue due to her affiliation with the ministry and her subsequent treatment by that ministry in regards to the cooking shows she made with Linda.

Dear Barbara: Just want to let you know how much we love your letters as you journal your stay in Norway. May God continue to guide you and bless you and bring you home safely. Thank you for your gentle way of painting such a beautiful picture of God and His love for us as you enjoy the nature walks in His country. Love and prayers and many hugs!!

Hi Folks,

I just re-read my last post from so long ago and the page that followed. I was so excited to log on tonight and get all caught up. Now I'm wondering if I should write anything.

I'm still in Norway. I said God would have to kick my behind if He wanted me to stay, . . . and He did. There is so much to tell.

I just wanted those of you, who wish I wouldn't post here anymore, to know that you have a special way of making someone feel unwelcome. Most days you don't win, but tonight you did.

I think I will go make a salad and go to bed early.

To the rest of you, thanks for your kind words and your patience with me. Maybe I can log on tomorrow.

I am sorry that this is not the encouraging letter that I intended to write tonight. I wish you all a wonderful night and sweet dreams. May each of you feel God's blessings surrounding you and holding you tight as you continue through your day.

"And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart. Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, but especially to those of the household of faith." Galatians 6:9-10

All my best,

hug.gif Dear Barbara, i'm sorry i was not here while you were on, i would have stomped those who would want to offend you. ignore them like you do the devil who drives them. i've been wondering for weeks how you were doing and if you made it back home yet. in fact i pm'd johann a couple of days ago to see if he had heard anything. there are a few here, very few left, Praise The Lord, whose post you should not bother to read. as we come upon them we will forwarn you so as you will not be disheartened by their hateful and callous bitterness. don't allow yourself to think about it. those of us on your side far outweigh them. i don't want you to go through anymore negativity, so if you choose not to come around here for a while, i certainly understand and won't be so selfish that i would ask you to do that for our sakes. just know that we are many, we are faithful and we are behind you, beside you and in front of you to protect you and support you always. we are soldiers for the cross and we surround you. and now for a corny old saying: "let your smile be your umbrella", it increases your endorphines and it's a beautiful smile. you are greatly loved. God be with you, Mo. hug.gif totally agree with you PB. The affiliation with 3abn is how we all got to know and love Barbara. She bsolutely belongs in this forum. She, unfortunately for her, has much validity to contribute to these iscussions, however due to her delicate health, at this time, we should spend our posting time loving her and ncouraging her and only discuss those unpleasant issues with her when she brings them up. In other words, vhen she is feeling strong and able to handle the heartache that is "3ABN" and wants to discuss that situation vith us. "For every time there is a season". that doesn't mean, move her to another forum for one season in er life and to another for another season. She is still an intricate part in this drama that is 3ABN.

'm sure I'll get yelled at for this, but, I think some of you need to take a laxative and relax. you are entirely ozart, you crack me up!! Thanks for the chuckle!! .....

nd my vote is that Barbara's story is so tied to 3ABN that it definitely belongs here. Just because she is in delicate health" as you say is just a branch of her story. Who knows - maybe the stress caused by 3ABN's

've never met Barbara nor was I fortunate enough to ever have seen her on TV. But I've come to love her vaiting to hear about the last one, when you feel up to it. I NEED YOU!! I look at this way - there are some mozart,

What I would like to add to this subject is that if Calvin, Clay or PrincessDi feel this topic is out of place here it probably would have been moved elsewhere before now. So why don't we all just relax and enjoy the fellowship together, be blessed by Barbara's perspectives and lift our sister's spirits when we can.

Barbara,

Some of us drive around in Chevys, some of us drive around in Fords, and some of us even drive around in Dodges. Unfortunately, as has once again been demonstrated here, we are not driving around "all in one Accord". It is a temporary condition that will eventually be resolved by a true relationship with our Redeemer. Until that time, please don't get discouraged by those whose cars need a good smog check.

Hi Everyone,

Boy am I glad I signed in today to read the comments. I must say you all REALLY made me laugh and I needed that very much. Thank you for being so considerate of the season of my life that I have been going through this year. If I could just reach through the computer and give each of you a great big hug, it still wouldn't fully express how much each of you have come to mean to me.

The bottle of "poop spray" really took the cake though. Being the visual person that I am, I will be able to use that mental image for years to come. LOL

I wanted to put a short note on this thread and let you know that today is my last day in Norway. I will be boarding my Continental flight tomorrow morning and heading for Columbia, SC. I would love to say that I will get to see my family soon, but Bill will be on a business trip until Thursday evening, and our son Nathan is on his way back to Fletcher Academy today. I was disappointed that I was just missing his last home leave of the year. I will try to run up to the academy after a day or two of rest.

I was really hoping for ONE more trip to the lake today, but it is raining cats and dogs, so I will forgo the walk.

I still have many things to write about my stay here in Norway, and I will do that from home. It has never been more clear that God brought me here for a reason. Many in fact. I've always been amazed at how God can use ONE thing to answer multiple questions.

I am leaving a changed woman. So many new experiences happened to me here. I have made some new friends, lost some old ones, got back into the routine of juicing again, got addicted to walking, learned to trust God with every detail of my life, experienced single life, learned how to drive using traffic circles instead of traffic signals (I'm still getting used to their yield to the right law). I learned that appearances can be deceiving. I learned how to stand up for myself and face confrontation. I learned how to deal with being a victim and that I am a survivor. I learned a little Norwegian. Just enought to embarrass myself last week.

Sitting at a table full of people, I decided to compliment the cook in her language. Instead, I ended up calling her quite a bad word in Norwegian, at which point all of the other Adventists sitting around the table burst out into laughter. When they were able to compose themselves long enough to let me know what I had actually said, my face turned red. Oh well, ...

I received four phone calls over the weekend from people wanting to update me on the 3ABN merger. At first it sounded promising, but now I'm not sure. After I return home I will look into the facts and see what has really been happening.

Just know that you all have a special place in my heart, and I will be praying that God will bless you for the encouragers you have been to me. Continue to watch for a few more posts in the weeks to come.

Hugs,
Barbara Kerr

I have not read this thread in a few weeks. Barbara, I think you are being way too sensitive. No one has asked you to stop posting. The suggestion was made that your ongoing updates concerning your health and those responding with encouraging words and prayer does have a place on BSDA but would be more appropriate in another forum here.

We don't know whether there have been things said to her that were not posts in a forum here so I don't know that your conclusion can be accurately drawn... because we do know that there have been individuals who have received private correspondence, whether by PM or email that was sent with the express intention of intimidating or otherwise forcing the recipient's silence... which makes it feasible that Barbara could have been approached in like manner...

I, for one, wish her to continue to post because she is a constant reminder to all that there are bigger issues that many face and they need our prayers and our support...BTJM.

In His service,
Mr. J

I'm sorry that you moved Barbara to "Praise &Testamonies" as I had a hard time finding her! Please consider putting her back on "3ABN" where I believe she belongs - as well as others do!

Has anyone heard from Barbara lately? I notice that since the post has been moved from 3abn, that conversations with her seem to have ceased. I miss her letters - and I have had a real burden for her in my heart lately.

Barbara, if you are reading these posts - please let us know how you are doing. I pray today that God will give you a great blessing and that you will feel his presence.

I have recently re-read the prayer of Jabez - and maybe it applies to you today. 1 Chron 4:9-10:

O, that you would bless me and enlarge my territory! Let your hand be with me, and keep me from harm so that I will be free from pain. Then the Bible goes on to say "And God granted his request."

God bless you, Barbara.

I spoke with Barbara yesterday. She arrived home from Norway on April 26th and has been spending some "alone" time with her husband and son. She plans to post a letter soon. Barbara is so thankful for all your prayers and support through this most difficutl time in her life.

Thank you so much for this update. Behind the scenes, many of us have been concerned and asked each other if we had heard or seen anything regarding Barbara. I know I am one of many that continues to support her in prayer and look forward to seeing her next update. Meanwhile please give her our best and our heartfelt wishes for a wonderful reunion with her husband and son.

Yet I strongly feel, John, that you are compromised because of your close association with Danny Shelton and your employment with 3 ABN and the "3 ABN Church." (Also your dream. of many years to be on TV.) Additionally I feel that you, as the Church Board, are compromised since most of you work at 3AB1. Also, I feel the church members are compromised, to the matter at hand, because of the propaganda in which they have beensaturated. Ihave yet to he approached by any of you for ministry purposes or to inquire about "my side of the story.' Quite frankly I do not feel I would receive a fair hearing in this church. I protest the fact that you claim to go by the church manual in regards to censure, but you ignore the church manual when it comes to reaching out to the hurting one. Thus, I am formally requesting that as of today my membership be dropped from the church.*

Then once she left, John called her to ask if he and his wife could come and visit her. She said she wasn't ready. Later (still after the separation) he ran into her and Danny at the mall (she says she was afraid of Danny) and ask again if he could come to visit her and she said she would call when she was ready. She didn't.

Linda Shelton
-private address removed-

Dear Linda,

Thank you for your speedy response to the letter the Church Board sent to you. I, H- was also pleased to speak to you when you called me Sabbath afternoon. I thought that our conversation went well and I listened to your observations hoping that we would be able to help you. I was somewhat surprised how soon you had Derrell Mundall hand deliver your reply letter to me at my office As I read it I was a bit disappointed to see that you expressed so little confidence in the church board, the church members, and in me. To incessantly suggest that the church is made of "compromised" members is quite short-sighted on your part. This board is not made of people bought by Danny Shelton. It is comprised of God-fearing Christians that understand all too well the great responsibility of making well informed decisions.

It is enlightening to see how you unceasingly, and relentlessly, attempted to dismiss your poor decision making by maligning others.

It was also quite manipulative on your part to imply that my "dreams of many years to be on TV" disqualified me as an objective pastor. Linda you may remember, it was at your urging that Danny called me to join the 3ABN family. At no time did I even call or suggest that I was interested in being on TV. Years before I even knew of 3ABN, Doug Batchelor and I were already on television; not to mention countless other times without Doug. It was on the heels of Net '99 in New York that I was invited to sing at 3ABN; prior to that I had not heard of 3ABN. The doors that opened at 3ABN were not opened by any dream on my part, of which there was none concerning 3ABN but by the hand of the Lord.As a matter of record you probably remember well when you said to me,"John, God brought you to St. Louis so that we could bring you the rest of the way." To suggest that you will be not be able to receive fairness and impartiality is ludicrous.

Linda, as we look at the time-line of events you were the first one to call me and ask for counsel about your friendship with the doctor. It was after I arrived at your home that I heard the other side of the story. It was hearing both sides that led me to give you counsel to sever the relationship with the doctor from Norway. I made that decision as your pastor and as a marriage counselor with 16 years experience, not as a "back-pocket" servant of Danny Shelton.

It has been nearly two years since this escapade started and you will recall that from the very outset, that Tuesday night in your living room, when you made the decision not to sever your relationship with the doctor, you set the course that led you to where you are today. Linda, the decision to hold on to someone other than your husband in spite of the months of counseling, was a critical decision in furthering your downfall. To further compound the matter, you still held firmly to your course after the relentless pleading from your friends, confidants, pastors, 3ABN board members, and non-Adventist counselors to sever the relationship. One has to be quite short-sighted and uninformed to come to the conclusion that all of those people were "compromised."

You also mentioned that no one made an attempt to visit you and minister to you. Speaking for Angie and I, you may remember that when you made the decision to move to out of your home and go to Marion for "more privacy," we called you and asked if we could come and visit with you. You refused by saying that you were not ready and that you would let us know when you were ready for our visits. You never contacted us so we can only assume that you did not want a visit from us. Even when we saw you in the mall with Danny, we asked again about visiting and you said I will tell you when."

Many of the people that are still supporting your cause were not at ground zero. You continue to suggest that it was the subsequent decisions that other people made, rather than the initial one that you made that landed you where you are. One of the greatest evidences of hazardous decision-making on your part is the fact that you and the doctor are still in a relationship.

There was never a conspiracy to get rid of you and to refuse you a fair hearing. You were, and are greatly loved by many of the people at 3ABN and Thompsonville Seventh-day Adventist Church. However, love for someone and loyalty to them are not always the same. While we love you, we must be loyal to the truth and to the Lord. That is where we must be accountable.

God placed within your hands the responsibility of carrying a message to the world. It is unfortunate that you came to the place where your desires became more important than the responsibility placed on you through the message. Linda, God called you and the Bible says in Romans 11:29"For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance." God called King Saul and God called David; both of these followers of God sinned. The difference between a "king" and a "shepherd boy" was clearly seen. Saul was too great to repent and turn to God and the record is clear concerning his fate. David, although his fall was great, turned to God with the heart of a repentant servant. For our admonition David's prayer of repentance was preserved in Psalm 139:23,24 (KJV),"Search me, O God, and know my heart; Try me and know my thoughts and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting."

I read your recent response letter to the church board dated October 31,2005, and I hope that the declaration that you made, "Let it be known that I am innocent of the rumors and allegations made against me, "is not written in stone. Linda, on this note you were correct, "Man can remove job titles." However let me caution you about the rest of your declaration, "No man can take away my calling which I will continue to pursue." Saul pursued a course that dishonored God and God removed him. On the other hand David repented and pursued a course that opened the way for God to restore him. The eternal question is one to deeply and prayerfully ponder. Which course will you pursue? David humbled himself under the Almighty Hand of God and was restored. In spite of the dark stain of David's past the apostle Paul preached a message that recalls the fate of these two great men. He writes in Acts 13:21-22 (NKJV),"And afterward they asked for a king; so God gave them Saul the son of Kish, a man of the tribe of Benjamin, for forty years. (22) "And when He had removed him, He raised up for them David as king, to whom also He gave testimony and said, 'I have found David the son of Jesse, a man after My own heart, who will do all My will."

Linda, from the first night that I sat before you in your living room I made a statement that has so far proven to be true. I said to you, "Satan wants to destroy you, your ministry, your career, and your marriage. "The results are evidence that to this day Satan has prevailed. I am hoping that he will not prevail in robbing you of your salvation. Just recently I read the chapter "Why Was Sin and Suffering Permitted," from the book, "Patriarchs & Prophets." I was deeply impressed again by what I read to further warn you that you are still on enchanted grounds and that the enemy is not done. Here are a few of the quotes that opened my eyes:

"The angels whom he could not bring fully to his side, he accused of indifference to the interests of heavenly beings. The very work which he himself was doing, he charged upon the loyal angels. It was his policy to perplex with subtle arguments concerning the purposes of God. Everything that was simple he shrouded in mystery, and by artful perversion cast doubt upon the plainest statements of Jehovah. And his high position, so closely connected with the divine government, gave greater force to his representation.

"He had artfully presented his side of the question, employing sophistry and fraud to secure his objects. His power to deceive was very great. By disguising himself in a cloak of falsehood, he had gained an advantage. All his acts were so clothed with mystery that it was difficult to disclose to the angels the true nature of his work. Until fully developed, it could not be made to appear the evil thing it was; his disaffection would not be seen to be rebellion. Even the loyal angels could not fully discern his character or see to what his work was leading."

"Rejecting with disdain the arguments and entreaties of the loyal angels, he denounced them as deluded slaves. The preference shown to Christ he declared an act of injustice both to himself and to all the heavenly host, and announced that he would no longer submit to this invasion of his rights and theirs."

Linda, I saw that because of your great influence Satan would come at you with great intensity. If you persist in holding to the self-deceiving position that you have done nothing wrong, you are preparing yourself for the completion of Satan's plan, complete destruction. As long as you play the role of total innocence, you are a gullible prey.

That is why we prayed for you when you were in your post at 3ABN and we will still pray for you. Our deepest prayer is that you discover that greatness comes not from being served but serving. We pray for your supporters because they only know the side that you presented. Our prayer is that the Lord will bring softness to your heart to make you a servant. At the end of the day it must be seen that it is "Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit,' Says the LORD of hosts. "Zechariah 4:6 (NKJV). Linda, God has not called us to be famous but to be faithful. I pray that you will respond to the Holy Spirit's call to faithfulness.

We deeply regret that you have made the final decision to have your membership dropped from the church, but we do not have the right to refuse your written "formal request."

The church chose censure rather than removal of membership because it was our desire to connect you with a Seventh-day Adventist church where you could find spiritual healing and recovery, not to cause you any further hardship. It is not our prayer that you pursue your calling; it is our prayer that you pursue the heart of God.

Your greatest blessing will come when you are restored to wholeness in the sight of God. God will richly bless you, not on account of whom you are, but on account of whom He is. Seek His kingdom and His righteousness and all that He has for you will be added.

Yours in Christ,
Pastor John Lomacang

> ...if Linda did not feel comfortable and felt John would be unfair why did she contact him when all of this first started to come over and talk to them? Why, because knowing him, she knew that he wasn't in DS's pocket and that he would tell it like it is. Only after hearing both sides and what had transpired he went against what she wanted. Then all of a sudden he is in DS's pocket and being ordered to do what DS says. You can see by the letter, Linda did not think that about him or would never have called him in the first place. Also let me add some facts.

his letter to Linda opens my eyes! I was blind, but now I see even more clearly! Thank you for posting it. Now for my opinion of the situation.

fter reading this letter to Linda from John Lomacang, I can more fully understand why Linda did what she did. I wouldn't have called JL either! Why on earth would ANYONE want to nvite someone that professes to be a christian pastor into to their home only to be falsely accused and compared to evil people in the Bible?

ive me a break. Go to http://www.save3abn.com and read Danny's emails. Linda was innocent even after the marriage was over! Yet, here their pastor is claiming she has left God's vill for her life, and she is not obeyed what people wanting to control her life wanted her to do. Hum.

Vhat would each of you do if everyone tells you that you are not doing God's will in your life for taking your son to a Christian Doctor for healing the Natural way? What if your son vas in the middle of treatment and survival? What if the doctor was actually helping you and your health? What would you have done?

L never supported her! Why was it so wrong to keep Linda's only son's doctor? I am a mother! Linda did the RIGHT thing. Linda has a right to choose who treats her son! She is the nother! She has to put her child before all those self proclaimed "right" people!

here was no improper relationship! She did not commit adultery! She did not put her relationship with the doctor above Danny. She had no relationship other than the doctor and the arent of a patient.

Vow, I see now why Linda had to get out. How could anyone stand all that "You are evil"? I am glad God gave her the will and power to stand up against evil forces aimed at her.

ll I can say is, "You GO GIRL! Forget about what others think they know! Do what is right in the eyes of God.

inda, what have you done to deserve all the attacks and abuse, yes, abuse? You have not done anything wrong that I can see. Stand tall!

hanks to God they are both recovering and beoming what he wants them to be.

also had a husband who was a alcohollic and drug addict, and could not help himself much less our boys. He was abusive, controlling, possesive and VERY jealous, yet even he could ot find anything to complain of regarding any of the Doctors or me.

s you claim to SEE so well, and are so defensive of Linda. Help me to understand what it is that you see here, that I cannot.

Vhat do you really know about Nathan and the Doctor, other then one visit to Norway in January of 2004?

lis drug use? recovery? any ongoing treatments or visits to Norway? any ongoing conversations or even a relationship between nathin and Dr A? Any contact at all?

Vhat do you really know of Linda's ongoing relationship with Doctor A, after the begiinning of 2004?

)o tell, please.

totally agree. If I'd gotten that letter I would have run the other way. FAST!!

nd since Fran said it so well I guess that's all I have to say about that!

Cindy, first of all let me ask your forgiveness for thinking that you could not possible understnad Lind'as situation. I did not say it out loud, but I thought it and I was wrong. You have, indeed, come through some difficult times. May God continue to bless and heal those wounds.

I know that Fran will answer, but just let me begin. Everyone knows about those "counseling" sessions. They were basically something of a crude "intervention"(in the loosest sense of the word) to get Linda to cut off Linda's association with the Dr. because they had been told by Danny that it was inappropriate. However, as a mother, they were basically asking her to choose between her husband and her son. Her husband who, like yours, should have been man enough to be by her side in this. I fyou say you know about addictions, then you know LInda was bound to support her child when he was serious about getting th help he needed. Danny had asked her I am sure within the confines of their home, and then went to the board and staff to make "his" request, and now her denial of this request was now basis for her being censured.

Secondly she was being asked to this board meeting by the same man who had conduted the "counseling" sessions. What was there to make her think that board meeting would be any different than she had been experiencing? I think she had blindly walked into the lion's den far too many time already. I believe she met with them and continue to talk with JL, because she didn't want to believe what he was doing. She was the one who was intrumental in bringing him and his wife to 3ABN and now he was basically stabbing her in the back. First her husband and now her friends, Brenda, now JL, and what others were there whom she thought to be friends, even family in that close knit community. No, I would not have walked into another trap with these people. Right now, they can only say she refused to meet with them and her own words in an email. If she would have met with them and actually gave them some her words to twist, as they already had, no tellin' what info you would be getting to post at this point.

Cindy it was a set up, like everything in this whole unfortunate story. I am telling you now, you should not even try to buy into that lie about llnda nd the Dr., it was devised by Danny for his own purposes. If the story was true, he could have said that from the beginning, why even bother making up the "spiritual adultery" mess? As long as women like you, a wife, mother, continue to buy into this, he will continue because your faithin him gives him credibility........he believes. Apply some things from your own situation and in your heart you will know there is something not quite right about this. You should already see similarities between Danny and your ex, especially in that jealousy dept. Danny doesn't have an substance abuse issues that I have heard of. IHowever, can see the similarities in just what you have told here.

Also, from the sound of it, Linda been given this choice before by Danny, and she had failed as Nathan's mother in order to be Danny's wife.(that actually should have been a HUGE red flag, a real man, christian man would never have presented her that choice). Danny does not have a good track record with his wives children.

So those are basically the problems I see, Cindy. Those emails are not saying what you want them to say, at lest not to me, Fran and Snoopy, and I don't believe we are alone in this.

I would say even more than that Fran. Can you imagine everyone around you coming at you like pirahnas? It's like a Psycho movie. Linda was in a very closed environment. Her work, her home, her personal friends and her mission in life were all encompassed. All in one basket with one person holding the entire basket. Who would have ever imagined that the walls would close in on her like that. No one is ever prepared for something like that. It doesn't occur to you.....Your husband is president of the company/ministry you work for. You are Vice-President. He gets jealous and power-crazed and wants to force you to do his will. So when you don't, he starts talking to everyone around him to see if they can force you to do his will. He knows "how to work it". He gets everyone who can attack you to do so (albeit it in an Oh so Christian, loving way).
I ask you: Where is one's independence? Where is their free-will? Where is respect? No one was giving her the respect she deserved from what I have gathered. As Vice-President and Co-Founder, giving her blood, sweat and tears for 20 years, she should have been given buckets of respect and consideration that she might be the one who was in the right. The respect and consideration she was given was no more than a slumlord would pay his tenant. In my view, she found herself in a situation where everyone who has any say in her life, besides God, is trying to force "their" will on her and control every aspect of her life. That kind of stunning realization would send me fleeing to the farthest shore, i can assure you. It sounds terrifying to me and if there is anyone who can't see that, then it is purely because you don't want to see it. ☒ ust the other day I talked to a prominent church leader who recognized it the way you describe it, mozart. Where did that church leader get the insight? By talking to Mr. Danny helton and listening his distorted version of the events.

t will be interesting meeting these people in that court case they are talking about. It will not be difficult to verify how distorted their vision is.

have tried to be open minded through all of this. Through a decade of watching 3ABN there are those that i have grown to love and admire. Many have hurt and disappointed me nd soiled the name of 3ABN. There are those in these forums on both sides that are guilty of short-sighted and slanted dialog. Maybe i have been one of them, myself. i don't know. i ope not, but i know i'm no better than the rest of you, so i maybe i have...As i have read the documents and the letters, i've tried to see it from the perspective of the writer. I've tunts of Danny S., Walt T., Shelley Q., Mollie S., John L., C.A.M.(guilty by association because he hasn't said much but has sat there on the panel like a supporting pillar). Even if inda is guilty as charged, (which i honestly don't think she is) getting away from there was the best and sanest thing she could do. Sometimes you just have to "flee to the nountains and do not look back for anything."

he latter days are upon us. We need the evangelism that 3ABN can do. There has to be something done to fix this and it has to be done right and quickly. Maybe instead of writing ere, day after day, we should spend our time writing to every SDA pastor, conference president & evangelist to plead with them to assist in cleaning up 3ABN. i don't think we need

Every time I read those letters there is one impression that I receive: John L. does not have even a minimal understand of ethical behavior, as defined by the secular world.

The secular world says:

1) Do not have a dual relationship.

John L. and many of the Board members were thinking of entering into such a dual relationship. Due the their employment with 3-ABN, they could not enter into a situation where they were to judge marital issues related to the President of 3-ABN in the person of his wife/ex-wife.

2) The secular world says that things must have the appearance of fairness.

No such appearance existed in discipline issues related to Linda.

John may (????) have been correct in his statement that the Board could have fairly judged Linda. I do not believe so. But, in theory he could have been correct. If so that is not the issue. As I have said above, those two ethical issues, and others, would prevent the local church Board from judging Linda.

This whole mess has presented the SDA denomination with clear evidence of a problem. That problem is that it does not have the procedures in place to resolve the issues in an ethical and fair manner. They simply do not exist. Because of that, on the human level, resolution can only come through the involvement of the civil authorities.

hank you for your important comment, i have said here before that i think we should all pray before we even come in here. that said, the Lord wants us to give all our petitions to im, but He also expects us to stand up for Him and uphold His church. if you saw a starving child, would you not take actions to feed that child? if you saw a woman being abused, vould you not lend a helping hand? it's sad that lots of people won't do anything and it's sad that some get involved just because they like a drama. i hope we are not doing this that ve do here for the latter reason. if we stay in prayer about it i think more solutions and less argueing will be the results. looking forward to more lovely post from you, God bless and *uide you. ou first, Cindy... since you persist in trying to proclaim Linda guilty.

Vhat evidence do you have beyond what you have been told second and third hand? What have you personally witnessed?

y your own admission you have never met nor talked to Linda... so what makes you so certain of her guilt? What proof of said guilt were you provided? Did you even ask for any?

our personal story is touching, I'm sure... but it does not qualify you to determine Linda's guilt or innocence.

This is the US, not France. The accused does not have the burden of proof to show himself innocent in this country.

You want to make the accusation; you have to prove it. You have been asked repeatedly for proof and you have not been forthcoming; we've gotten spin, innuendo, ad hominem and other foolishness... but no proof.

The ball remains in your court Cindy. Show us the trail of bread crumbs; show us how you came to the conclusion of Linda's guilt.

Be specific.

In His service,
Mr. J

Apparently censureship lasts no longer than 12 months and is NOT a permanent situation.

I wonder if Linda even had any idea about this. I doubt that the knowledge would have helped anyway. Especially since she had to abide by the gag order Danny gave to her. So going to the board would have been silly at best.

Example. She goes in. They talk... she listens. They ask questions....She has to be silent. Danny knew she would not win no matter what.

Also since she was so isolated from so much and was in so much turmoil in the midst of all that was going on she might have not even realized that the censure would not last very long. It is very apparent she DID NOT have adequate council.

from JL to Linda in letter accepting her letter of dropping her membership.

Timeline...
She left Thompsonville church and was fellowshiping with folk in another church and asked for her membership to be transfered. Then Thompsonville church refused her transfer but made a decision to censure.
Sorry folks... this does NOT make sense to me.

I know there was a letter somewhere that Danny had to be the one in the right and Linda had to be the one in the wrong. Still strange to me.

Unless as JL said in his last sentence. "It is not our prayer that you pursue your calling..." yea right show up Danny as NOT 'the anointed one'.

NOT being sarcastic folks. Just writes em as I sees em.

John's letter is filled with a lot of nasty insinuations and emotionally laden negative language. Professing to be impartial, he reveals in his language that he is not for Linda in any way at all. Certainly his language is not pastoral. (Did he ever receive any pastoral training, by the way? And where did he receive the marriage counselor training, since he professes to be an experienced marriage counselor?)

What really takes the cake is the preposterous claim above!!

John writes that "the church chose censure... because it was our desire to connect you with a Seventh-day Adventist church where you could find spiritual healing"

In fact, censure would prevent Linda from gaining membership in any other Adventist church unless and until the Thompsonville church chose to allow her.

What in God's universe did JL mean???

It almost sounds as if he meant that "the church" (i.e. Danny, JL & company) planned to select a church of their choosing for Linda, thereby continuing to control her life.

As it is, events demonstrated an attempt to control Linda when the pastor in the church she was attending was removed to be replaced by a pastor favorable to Danny -- a pastor who forbade her active participation in the church.

Praise God that one little black church could not be coerced into doing Danny's will but wholeheartedly accepted Linda. (Now that really threw a monkey wrench in the Dannyite plans.)

Oh! So it is apparent that she did not have adequate council! On what basis do you say that?

I am the one who advised her that she should request that the Thompsonville Chruch drop her from their membership rolls. As SDA clergy do your really think that I do not know and understand the CHRUCH MANUAL, and that censure is a temporary thing. Of course I know that.

This story has been so well published that I am only going to give a brief account of it.

The Thompsonville SDA Church did not move toward the discipline of Linda until it bacame apparent that Linda had associated with another SDA Chruch, and had been integrated into it's ministry. Linda had moved on with her life. She was involved with a SDA Church, and it's ministry. She planned to transfer her membership to that church.

It was at that point that the Thompsonville SDA Chruch began a process that probably would have led to a vote of censure for Linda. That vote would have prevented Linda from transfering her membership to that other SDA Chruch. It addition, it would have stopped her ministry within that Chruch.

I proposed to Linda that she request that her membership be dropped in the Thompsonville SDA Chruch. At that time, another person organized a very effective public relations campaign to persuade John L, the Thompsonville pastor to grant Linda's request to be dropped. Telephone calls and e-mails were sent to him by many people, and on a daily basis. That campaign, which I did not organize, was very effective. The Thompsonvllle Chruch granted her request to be dropped from membership.

As soon as Linda's membership was dropped, another SDA Chruch granted her membership on Profession of Faith. That process was immediate. I had advised her to seek membership on Profession of Faith, as soon as the Thompsonville Church dropped her. I guided her through that decision-making process.

Some might say that the her entry into the other church by Proffesion of Faith was in violation of the CHRUCH MANUAL. I disagree with that. I do not intend to specify the details. I will only say that Linda's acceptance into membership of the other SDA Church was done in compliance with the accepted standards of the SDA Chruch in North America, and after careful consideration by the involved parties, and consultation with others. If you think it violated the CHURCH MANUAL, you simply do not know what went on.

I am the one who proposed this plan to Linda. I advised interested parties to this process to the point where she became a member of the other SDA Church. However, I was not the one who organized the telephone/e-mail campaign. My advice was given within the guidelines, and accepted practices of the SDA Church in North America. Specific details, and consultations with others do not need to be made public.

I say again: What do you mean that Linda did not have good/adequate advice? You are entitled to your personal opinion. But, I will suggest that you are wrong.

Inga:

John L. is an ordained SDA minister. However, he did not become one through the traditional route. I do not believe that he has the typical Master of Divinity that SDA clergy in North America are supposed to have. I do not believe that he had the extensive experiences of working as an "intern" under a variety of pastors, and in a number of chruch districts prior to being ordained.

While the above is the recommended route for SDA clergy prior to being ordained, that route is not mandated for all. The Conference where I live ordained a person who works at an academy in guiding academy students in selling literature door to door.

The problem with people who have been ordained outside of the recommended route for North America is that people often believe that their ordination qualifies them to be the pastoral leader of a congregation, and to guide that congregation in it's spiritiual life. The reality is that typically such people are not qualified to give such leadership. They lack the congregational exposure to the problems that our members face, and therefore fail to properly guide them on their spiritual journey. Due their lack of educational training they lack the in-depth consideration of applications of Biblical council to congregational members, and they lack the interaction and sharing of pastoral leadership that takes place in the MDiv. program with other SDA clergy.

John L. is an ordained SDA minister. However, his published statements on various issues clearly reveal that he fails to understand aspects of the issues.

NOTE: If I have made any inaccurate statements in regard to John's background, please correct me.

> Cindy, first of all let me ask your forgiveness for thinking that you could not possible understnad Lind'as situation. I did not say it out loud, but I thought it and I was wrong. You have, indeed, come through some difficult times. May God continue to bless and heal those wounds.

First let me say how much I appreciate that Diane, it means alot to me, and it's ok. How could you know? The truth is things just keep getting better all the time now, for the Lord is very good.

Second we obviously see things very differently here, from differing viewpoints, and we may just have to agree to disagree for now. It is actually because of my experiences that I do not see Danny as people accuse him. Sure he seems to talk without thinking first sometimes but that doesn't make him evil. I don't idolize him, as people calim but you know what, I like him, and i think he's got the raw deal here.

I will explain what I know, and understand about those couseling sessions, and it isn't what you are saying everone knows.

First I have never heard anything negative or heard anybody finding fault with John Lomacang, or with the Thompsonville Church until the problems arose because of Linda's relattionship with the Doctor. Suddenly he is evil and biased and part of a conspiracy against her. As far as I can tell the only reason that "everyone" believes all these negative things about those counseling sessions is because Linda said that to others and they repeated it, and so on. She gave her view to the Dr, to Johann and to whover would listen because someone had to be wrong here, and as she admitted no wrong the fault had to be with everyone else.

But there something a little wrong with the little girl marching out of step in the band and saying did you see how good I did and how everyone was out of step but me? They all tried to tell me I was wrong but I knew better, so I just kept on going. Don't you agree it's mean for them to keep picking on me?

The truth is Pastor Lomacang came to 3ABN because of Linda, she thought very highly of him.

People are reacting here like he want over to the house to attack her, and continued to do so. That isn't the case at all. Loving and caring for another means sometimes you have to disagree and say that is wrong. As a Pastor J.L has a greater responsibility to do so.

The truth is Linda went to him first, He heard her story first. She asked him to come to her house and talk to Danny. If anything he was at first biased in her favor having heard her side first.

How I understand it is it went like this. She called and was talking to her pastor about the situation of her friendship with this Doctor, and asked him if his wife Angie had any male friends, and how he felt about that.

So-- he explained that she had one very good friend who she had known for years before he'd met her. He said he'd met him and liked him too and that he knew it was simply a platonic friendship and so their conversations on the phone a couple times a year didn't bother him.

This was the first he'd heard from either danny or Linda about this and it didn't sound like there was a problem to him, so Linda asked him to come over and talk to Danny.

When he got there rather then telling Danny he was wrong, he told Danny that Linda had told him her side of the story and said "now let's hear yours"

After hearing about all the hours being spent on the phone and how Danny had caught her in lies several times and how after looking up the phone calls on the internet, she had started buying phone cards so they wouldn't show up on the bill, and after talking to both of them

Pastor Lomacang explained to Linda that her situation was a whole different story then the one with he and his wife, and there were many other factors here, and that she needed to stop the relationship before it hurt their marriage further. Tis was just one of many hours the pastor spent counseling...

Now I know some or many are going to say that's heresay. Yes it is, It came secondhand from someone who directly asked Pastor L about it, and relayed what was said to me, and now I am repeating it, so it is thirdhand. I would not do so except the words and testimony of John Lomacang are in the letter above regarding this, and his is a first person account and he is talking right to Linda about this:

>
> "As a matter of record you probably remember well when you said to me,"John, God brought you to St. Louis so that we could bring you the rest of the way." To suggest that you will be not be able to receive fairness and impartiality is ludicrous.
> Linda, as we look at the time-line of events you were the first one to call me and ask for counsel about your friendship with the doctor. It was after I arrived at your home that I heard the other side of the story. It was hearing both sides that led me to give you counsel to sever the relationship with the doctor from Norway. I made that decision as your pastor and as a marriage counselor with 16 years experience, not as a "back-pocket" servant of Danny Shelton.
> It has been nearly two years since this escapade started and you will recall that from the very outset, that Tuesday night in your living room, when you made the decision not to sever your relationship with the doctor, you set the course that led you to where you are today. Linda, the decision to hold on to someone other than your husband in spite of the months of counseling, was a critical decision in furthering your downfall. To further compound the matter, you still held firmly to your course after the relentless pleading from your friends, confidants, pastors, 3ABN board members, and non-Adventist counselors to sever the relationship. One has to be quite short-sighted and uninformed to come to the conclusion that all of those people were "compromised."

Really, Diane I don't want to argue, but my position if that either Linda has misrepresented what happed, or every single member of her former Church, her friends, her fellow employess and fellow board members, and even the Non SDA couselors her sister recommended so that they wouldn't be biased, all are lying. That to me is ludicrous indeed, for the only reason we have to believe evil of all those people is one woman who says that is what happened, and those she talked to, who weren't there and didn't see or witness anything.

And over and over what is presented doesn't match what Linda has said.

I do not see persecution or meanness in the letters above. I see a Church Pastor dealing with an erring member in the most loving and compassionate way possible. Some don't like the scriptural references, well they were given for our example and that's what he's using them for.

But as is obvious others here find fault. I guess that's what they want to see, and nothing I'm going to say will change that.

I find it ironic that those who keep asking for proof, never accept anything offered. Guess that's why they haven't ever got what they've asked for, all they'd do is pick things apart individually and deny it and still insist nothing had been proven. But to me all those individual things they deny can't be denied when you put them all together.

Anyway, I doubt fran will answer, because nathan had nothing to do with linda's relationship with the Doctor, that is simply how they met, after the beginning he never entered into it, so obviously Danny wasn't asking her to choose between him and her son. He was aksing her to choose him, and she chose the Doctor.

So I guess people can keep writing ugly things about everyone who thinks or ever thought linda made poor or wrong choices. I think I'm done with this thread. I also think maybe Gregory and others are right, a civil court is the last and probably only option available here.

But I do appreciate your spirit and sincerity in answering me Di.

God bless--

> QUOTE(princessdl @ Apr 10 2007, 05:23 PM) ☐

> I know that Fran will answer, but just let me begin. Everyone knows about those "counseling" sessions. They were basically something of a crude "intervention"(in the loosest sense of the word) to get Linda to cut off Linda's association with the Dr. because they had been told by Danny that it was inappropriate. However, as a mother, they were basically asking her to choose between her husband and her son. Her husband who, like yours, should have been man enough to be by her side in this. I fyou say you know about addictions, then you know LInda was bound to support her child when he was serious about getting th help he needed. Danny had asked her I am sure within the confines of their home, and then went to the board and staff to make "his" request, and now her denial of this request was now basis for her being censured.
>
> Secondly she was being asked to this board meeting by the same man who had conduted the "counseling" sessions. What was there to make her think that board meeting would be any different than she had been experiencing? I think she had blindly walked into the lion's den far too many time already. I believe she met with them and continue to talk with JL, because she didn't want to believe what he was doing. She was the one who was intrumental in bringing him and his wife to 3ABN and now he was basically stabbing her in the back. First her husband and now her friends, Brenda, now JL, and what others were there whom she thought to be friends, even family in that close knit community. No, I would not have walked into another trap with these people. Right now, they can only say she refused to meet with them and her own words in an email. If she would have met with them and actually gave them some her words to twist, as they already had, no tellin' what info you would be getting to post at this point.
> Cindy it was a set up, like everything in this whole unfortunate story. I am telling you now, you should not even try to buy into that lie about lInda nd the Dr., it was devised by Danny for his own purposes. If the story was true, he could have said that from the beginning, why even bother making up the "spiritual adultery" mess? As long as women like you, a wife, mother, continue to buy into this, he will continue because your faithin him gives him credibility........he believes. Apply some things from your own situation and in your heart you will know there is something not quite right about this. You should already see similiarities between Danny and your ex, especially in that jealousy dept. Danny doesn't have an substance abuse issues that I have heard of. IHowever, can see the similarities in just what you have told here.
> Also, from the sound of it, Linda been given this choice before by Danny, and she had failed as Nathan's mother in order to be Danny's wife.(that actually should have been a HUGE red flag, a real man, christian man would never have presented her that choice). Danny does not have a good track record with his wives children.
>
> So those are basically the problems I see, Cindy. Those emails are not saying what you want them to say, at lest not to me, Fran and Snoopy, and I don't believe we are alone in this.

Posted by: lurker Apr 11 2007, 06:36 AM

Have you ever heard of someone who was prosecuted for a crime and refused to admit to a lesser crime in order to "plea bargain" and get a less harsh sentance. They refused because they were innocent but but were convicted of the more serious crime.

Well I believe that is what happened between Linda and her accusers. She thought they would believe her because she knew she was innocent and that the lack of evidence would prove it. But she failed to understand that sympathy is almost always with the husband in such cases. There is much sympathy (sometimes even admiration) for sexually straying among the brethren. There would have been much more sympathy for her if she had "admitted" to adultry and "repented" than telling the truth as she did.

I do have a problem with this statement of yours:
"However, his published statements on various issues clearly reveal that he fails to understand aspects of the issues." You forgot to say "In my opinion" and you forgot to give any evidence. All that means is that Gregory Matthews disagrees with Pastor Lomacang, and Pastor lomacang has a different understanding then Gregory Matthews. -- and that may mean you lack understanding Gregory...

I also didn't like it when you said he had no ethics, that was rude and also unproven.

I don't know everything about his training.

I do know about "callings" and that the qualifications for a Pasor (bishop) are in the bible, and the conference has him listed as a Pastor, if they have no problem why should you?

He has 16 plus years of counseling experience...

But beyond that, and probably off topic, who ordained the Apostle Paul, gregory?

]indy, this would be hilarious if it were not so serious.

'ou seem to forget the obvious.... that there were other people besides Linda who were witnesses to what happened in the spring of 2004.... and that there were others of us who vere not direct witnesses who were in constant contact with others of these witnesses besides Linda.... so we got the stories as they unfolded.... not only in hindsight after there was ime to spin-doctor the stories and come to an agreement as to what would be told to others.

}ut in spite of all of this.... you put your finger on the key point.... that most of those to whom Linda either turned herself or was taken to by Danny..... discarded anything Linda said ınd took only what Danny said as the "gospel truth". I will shortly be pulling together some of this information that I have saved from the actual time frame and giving a time line for ;ome of these things that happened.... but for now I'll just point out this one thing... that right from the beginning it has been considered a "he said/ she said" tale..... with those who ıad the upper hand in world wide publicity via 3abn Television as well as mailings, newsletters, and phone calls giving Danny's view of things only, and refusing to give equal weight o things that Linda herself said... or that any others who remained her friends through that initial ordeal or that became her friends afterwards might say.

understand your connections and your sources of information. So it does not surprise me at all to hear the things you repeat as though they were gospel-truth. Unfortunately, they ıre not factual, and are not the way things actually happened.

\nd the bottom line is not whether one "likes" Linda... or "likes" Danny.... the bottom line questions are.... What actually happened? And not only what happened in regard to phone :alls and a relationship that Linda was accused of having but that not only she but other witnesses claim never existed... but, What happened to make it so "necessary" to remove her rom the scene of action... and to do so in a way that would give Danny "the right to remarry" (a direct quotation from some of his letters)? And not only that... but what about all of he other offenses that have been discovered that have gone on at 3abn that have absolutely nothing to do with the oft cited "relationship" that Linda has been accused of having?

thank you for your contributions.... they give us a window into how your information sources think that we have not previously had access to. And they also give us an opportunity o give the contrasting information as gleaned from multiple other information sources.

.... ☒ TVsnack .... ☒ ....

;orry, Rosyroi, but you have missed a very important point here. Censureship may only be for a specific length of time as far as keeping someone from exercising the full rights of :hurch membership.... ie the ability to transfer to another church and the priviledge of serving in one's local church in either leadership or service roles..... but it makes a STATEMENT vhich is PERMANENT.... and that statement is that the individual is guilty in the eyes of the church for one or more of the items listed as deserving censureship.... whichever ones the ndividual is being charged with.

'hus, had the 3abn church succeeded in pushing through a resolution of censorship, it would not only have bound Linda to church membership there rather than allowing her to ransfer to the church in which she had been attending for over a year and which had sent an official request for Linda's transfer of membership approximately 10 months before the etter regarding a meeting at which the 3abn church would ask for censure.... (notice that it also claimed that the church board had already voted on such a measure even BEFORE ;he was notified of this action).... BUT.... and this is the most important point..... it would ALSO have given Danny official church judgement on Linda's guilt.... thus sparing him the ıecessity of producing "proof" of the relationship with which she had been accused.... and thus giving him an official church sanction on remarriage.... the "right to remarry" that he ıad been reiterating he needed to have ever since the spring of 2004.

)ne can perhaps understand this concept a little better by referring to the Lindy Chamberlain case in Australia.... where the Australian pastor's wife who was jailed after being vrongfully accused of murdering her own baby refused to accept an offered "pardon"... since to do so would have been to admit that she was in fact guilty and thus needed a pardon". She chose to remain in jail until proof was finally obtained that proved her innocence and she was rightfully acquitted rather than merely pardoned.

.inda was in the same sort of forced choice..... only if she relinquished her church membership could she halt the process which would have put her under censure which would mean ıaving the full weight of the SDA church on record as pronouncing her "guilty". And this could never be removed by any reinstatement of full membership priviledges. The sentence vould stand. Only by having another SDA church show enough confidence in her innocence to accept her as a member "in good and regular standing" upon her "profession of aith".....(a procedure commonly granted to anyone who has been previously baptized into some other church, whether SDA or other Christian church which practices adult baptism) :ould she avoid having this official church black mark recorded against her name.

'hose who counselled her to take this route took all of these things into consideration... as well as the ones you so accurately note... that she stood no chance at all of preventing the ìabn church from putting her under censure as its board had already voted.

Because fhb/bystander/wwjd et al said so? Can you name one person you know personally who has had marital counseling from JL?

Thank you Gregory, for spelling out your involvement and the reasons for the counsel you gave. I will just point out that you were not the only one. Linda sought and received counsel from many different people. While some originally gave quite different advice, after a little reflection, it is my understanding that they all came to the same position that you have described here.... and that I elaborated on in a previous post. Those who counseled her to take this route included many laypersons, many pastors (including several who offered to accept her as a member in their own churches), professional Counselors, and even some Conference Administrators.

So yes, Linda was well supplied with counsel in this area, and it was all based on SDA policy as expressed in the Church Manual.

'es, that is true. When Linda seeks advice she seeks if from several people whom she believes to be willing to advise her from the point of her best interests. They may mean that she vill seek advice from people who will present different point of view in the issue.

:ertainly, I was not alone in this. There were others. I simply made a brief statement which could not include everything.

t was clearly an unsusual situation in which people strongly committed to the SDA Chruch were advising someone to request that they be dropped from membership. That concept ook some time to consider and for people to reach agreement. But, in the end, it worked out very well.

'es, there were/are denominational leaders who support Linda, even though they may not be well known.

lethia, you tell us that I said that John L. "had no ethics." Here is what I actually said:

'our statement and mine are quite different. I did not make a statement in regard to his ethics. I made a statement in regard to my impression of his understanding of ethics as lefined by the secular world.

)oes John have and practice ethics? Certainly. Everyone has ethics. You see ethics does not equate with virtue. Ethics may be rotten. They may be unchristian. I have a son who is a :orrectional officer in a major prison. Those prisoners subscribe to an ethical system.

 have never said that John L. did not have any ethics. I have never commented on his personal ethics. I have simply stated that it is clear that he does not understand secular ethics is defined by the world.

IOTE: I am not accusing John L. of having rotten, unchristian, ethics.

'ou tell me that my statement was not proven. Yes. But, I did give my reasons for making such. You have ignored that.

Vhy is it that when I check what you say about someone elses post, I often find that the actual post does not read as you claim it to read. Do you simply not understand what is)eing said here? Do you intentionally misrepresent what someone has stated. What is going on with your ability to cite and discuss what someone else has posted.

'ou tell us that John L. has 16+ years of counseling experience. Did you man pastoral experience? They are not the same.

Alethia said this about John L.:

> QUOTE(Aletheia @ Apr 11 2007, 06:52 AM) ☐
> He has 16 plus years of counseling experience...

We need to define what we mean by counseling experience:

1) On one level is may simply mean that counseling is telling, or advising, someone on what to do. On this level, someone who is a "busybody"and has spent 25 years of telling others what to do might be said to have 25 years of counseling experience.

2) On a professional level, it means that a person has completed a specific educational program, has completed a specific supervised internship, adheres to certain professional standards, and according to the legal requirements where that person practices, may be licensed.

3) It also means that the person follows certain plans of relating to the person and the issues, according to the school of counseling that is practiced by that person.

4) As I have publicly stated my professional training and experience, I see no need to post that again.

Now, if you are telling us that John L. has 16 years of telling people what to do, I will not argue with you. I will simiply accept your statement as fact.

If you are telling us that John L. practices professional counseling, then you should ethicly support your statements with comments on his professional training, his certifications, and his practice standards. I will point out that professional standards of ethics, and typical licensure laws require such to be made availabe to the public at large.

If you are suggesting that John L. is a pastoral counselor, I will ask you if he is certified by the Association of Pastoral Counselors, and/or if he follows their ethical standards.

Yes, I am and have been a member of professional organizations. I was an Associate Member of the American Psychological Association for years, untill I decided I did not want to pay their fees any longer. However, I contintue to be a member of such professional organizations as I think approprite for me.

This discussion Is important for a variety of reasons:

1) It is important to comments that are made in regard to Linda and Danny getting marital counseling. Was it professional quality? What was the approach (school of counseling) that was to be used. Were the counselors free from ethical conflicts? Were they licensed, and where. Etc.

2) It is also important in other areas. Comments have been made in regard to Kay Kuzma, and her claimed counseling involvement. She is qualified to do professional counseling. Did she do that with Linda? It has also been claimed that she was unethical in her relationship with Linda. Those charges made against her are of a serious professional nature.

I have publicly steped in to say that Kay Kuzma did not violate professional ethics because she did not have a professional counseling relationship with Linda. Her relationship with Linda was outside of that of a professional counselor, regardless of the fact that she is a professional counselor.

This is am important distinction. Licensed professional counselors are subject to revocation of thier license for major ethical violations. Recently I was talking to a licensed professional counselor, who is a Christian clergyperson. He/She had been giving Bible studies to someone, without cost. That person was now suggesting ethical violations of professional counseling standards--not in any way related to sexual misconduct, or to other personal misconduct. As I told that person, you did not have an established professional counseling relationship. You did not meet the requirements that you professionally have for a written contract. Outside of that, you can not be accused of violating professional ethical standards.

FYI, in my opinon, very few SDA Clergy meet the standards to do professional counseling. There are exceptions, but they are clear exceptions.

The published comments that I have read about John L. suggest to me that he did not give Linda any kind of professional counseling. They suggest to me that he is neither trained nor experienced in such.

However, if you only meant to tell us that John L. has devoted 16+ years of his life to telling people what to do, as I do not know the truth of that, I will simply accept it, and not argue with you.

"Unusual" if by that you mean quantitatively speaking. It should not, howver, be assumed that this was a completely unique situation and this was the only time that this method of transferring membership had ever been utilized. I had personally known instances where it was both chosen by an individual.... and also recommended by the pastors involved.... thus I knew that it was within policy guidelines even though seldom utilized and very early on recommended it as an option that I thought appropriate to her circumstances. From the feedback I got from others, I think at least some of them also almost instantly saw this as the preferred.... and possibly the only.... way for her to handle the situation with Christian graciousness.

Good point. I think some are giving too much credit to the DS defenders here. They really don't represent 3abn well at all. Perhaps we should give 3abn a little slack. I'm sure they'd be embarrassed if they knew what was being represented here. Surely 3abn can do better. I learned a long time ago that this DS/3abn defenders team doesn't know nearly as much as they'd like us to believe.

Why do you tell these ridiculous stories? One of those Pastors advising her was Johann was it not?

and "took some time to consider and for people to reach agreement"???

On Thurs Oct 27 a letter is snail mailed to Linda, she calls John on Sat the 29th when she recieves it and on Mon Oct 31 the reply is in John Lomacang's hand.

John L. replies and says:

"Thank you for your speedy response to the letter the Church Board sent to you. I, H- was also pleased to speak to you when you called me Sabbath afternoon. I thought that our conversation went well and I listened to your observations hoping that we would be able to help you. I was somewhat surprised how soon you had Derrell Mundall hand deliver your reply letter to me at my office"

Whether they know or don't know isn't really the point. I think we can be well assured that they are saying exactly what the DS Defender Unit WANTS them to say. There is a consistency and coherency among the various yarns spun by the Dannyspinners that makes their sources all traceable. If 3abn is "embarrassed" they have only themselves to blame. The reporters are doubtless only repeating what they have been told.....

Personally I am not interested in arguing withhow you define things or pontificate about that or others. You are entitled to your opinion. I just wish you'd state that when you write judgments about individuals you disagree with, instead of acting like everything out of your mouth is absolute truth, and if people disagree that is because they as you say "lack understanding".

We need a hot air balloon smiley around here.

Thank you Gregory, for posting this analysis of what can be meant by "counseling experience". Mostly I'm responding here since I posted above so soon after you did that I wanted to be sure your detailed analysis was seen by bringing it forward here.

But I also want to add that from a layman's point of view..... over long years of experience..... that while almost all Adventist pastors, trained or untrained, will enter into what the layperson assumes is a "counselling relationship".... the chances are very great that the pastor himself doesn't even have enough counselling training to know what those words really imply. And it seems as though there are very, very few Adventist pastors who have even had enough counselling experience so they recognize when an individual needs counselling of a professional nature.

Certainly, "telling someone what to do" is not professional counselling.... and in every account given which claims that Linda received "counselling" there is enough included to show that without exception EVERY person who is said to have "counselled" her, in fact, only told her "what to do". Which means that we are left with a unified account from all sides of the table saying that Linda in fact received NO true "counselling" from anyone connected with or contacted by Danny or the 3abn board.

> But I also want to add that from a layman's point of view..... over long years of experience..... that while almost all Adventist pastors, trained or untrained, will enter into what the layperson assumes is a "counselling relationship".... the chances are very great that the pastor himself doesn't even have enough counselling training to know what those words really imply. And it seems as though there are very, very few Adventist pastors who have even had enough counselling experience so they recognize when an individual needs counselling of a professional nature.

Certainly, "telling someone what to do" is not professional counselling.... and in every account given which claims that Linda received "counselling" there is enough included to show that without exception EVERY person who is said to have "counselled" her, in fact, only told her "what to do". Which means that we are left with a unified account from all sides of the table saying that Linda in fact received NO true "counselling" from anyone connected with or contacted by Danny or the 3abn board.
We need to define what we mean by counseling experience:

1) On one level is may simply mean that counseling is telling, or advising, someone on what to do. On this level, someone who is a "busybody"and has spent 25 years of telling others what to do might be said to have 25 years of counseling experience.

2) On a professional level, it means that a person has completed a specific educational program, has completed a specific supervised internship, adheres to certain professional standards, and according to the legal requirements where that person practices, may be licensed.

3) It also means that the person follows certain plans of relating to the person and the issues, according to the school of counseling that is practiced by that person.

4) As I have publicly stated my professional training and experience, I see no need to post that again.

Now, if you are telling us that John L. has 16 years of telling people what to do, I will not argue with you. I will simiply accept your statement as fact.

If you are telling us that John L. practices professional counseling, then you should ethicly support your statements with comments on his professional training, his certifications, and his practice standards. I will point out that professional standards of ethics, and typical licensure laws require such to be made availabe to the public at large.

If you are suggesting that John L. is a pastoral counselor, I will ask you if he is certified by the Association of Pastoral Counselors, and/or if he follows their ethical standards.

Yes, I am and have been a member of professional organizations. I was an Associate Member of the American Psychological Association for years, untill I decided I did not want to > pay their fees any longer. However, I contintue to be a member of such professional organizations as I think approprite for me.

>
> This discussion is important for a variety of reasons:
>
> 1) It is important to comments that are made in regard to Linda and Danny getting marital counseling. Was it professional quality? What was the approach (school of counseling) that was to be used. Were the counselors free from ethical conflicts? Were they licensed, and where. Etc.
>
> 2) It is also important in other areas. Comments have been made in regard to Kay Kuzma, and her claimed counseling involvement. She is qualified to do professional counseling. Did she do that with Linda? It has also been claimed that she was unethical in her relationship with Linda. Those charges made against her are of a serious professional nature.
>
> I have publicly steped in to say that Kay Kuzma did not violate professional ethics because she did not have a professional counseling relationship with Linda. Her relationship with Linda was outside of that of a professional counselor, regardless of the fact that she is a professional counselor.
>
> This is am important distinction. Licensed professional counselors are subject to revocation of thier license for major ethical violations. Recently I was talking to a licensed professional counselor, who is a Christian clergyperson. He/She had been giving Bible studies to someone, without cost. That person was now suggesting ethical violations of professional counseling standards--not in any way related to sexual misconduct, or to other personal misconduct. As I told that person, you did not have an established professional counseling relationship. You did not meet the requirements that you professionally have for a written contract. Outside of that, you can not be accused of violating professional ethical standards.
>
> FYI, in my opinon, very few SDA Clergy meet the standards to do professional counseling. There are exceptions, but they are clear exceptions.
>
> The published comments that I have read about John L. suggest to me that he did not give Linda any kind of professional counseling. They suggest to me that he is neither trained nor experienced in such.
> However, if you only meant to tell us that John L. has devoted 16+ years of his life to telling people what to do, as I do not know the truth of that, I will simply accept it, and not argue with you.

here is already a separate thread where all can discuss counseling to your hearts content, as this subject has already been discussed off topic in another thread, and that thread was reated.

'm just going to say.

here is a big difference between pastoral Counseling, and worldly Counseling.

astors are concerned with leading their flock and pointing out error and sin and need to show the right way to go, that is their responsibility as a Pastor.

he world is concerned with the Id and the ego and the super Ego, and "How do you feel" "what do you want" od's says that way is wrong. It's all about Self.

nd you would be wrong... not all counseling is psychoanalytical... if you knew something about counseling you would know that..... and pastors cannot give guidance.... nor counsel... they cannot live your life.... you have to decide with God's help what He would have you do.....

..and they were not affecting spiritual guidance either. They were basically badgering Linda to stop talking to the Dr. treating her son, because Danny said so. That is not counseling either spiritual or worldly.

We are not going to over look your statement as being altogether false. First problem being you can also have a christian psychiatrist. This fear and lack of knowledge is why christians walk around with their issues unresolved. There is so much more wrong with that one statement, Cindy.

Talk about misguided zeal... Cindy do you really expect that your n-th hand hearsay account should carry more weight than the account of a principal involved in the situation?

You may say you know what you've been told by others.. but you were not there. Observer was there and involved... yet you think we should believe you over him?

God's says that way is wrong. It's all about Self.

es, that is what pastors do. It is not professional counseling. I do a lot of stuff that is not professional counselilng. I give Bible studies. That is not professional counseling. I lead eople to a greater understanding of what the Bible says, and that is not professional coounselilng.

ut, there is also a place for professional counsleing.

ou can talk about the Id, the Ego, and the Supper Ego all that you want. Be careful that you do not show your ignorance of counseling. The vast majority of professisonal counseling rovided today is not psychoanalytic. Psychoanalytic counseling in terms of the number of people who recieve it is in the vast minority.

here are any number of schools of counseling that are not based upon Freud.

rankly, if you understood counseling, the marital issues that are attributed to Linda and Danny would probably be better served by schools of counseling other than psychoanalytic.

o illustrate from the medical field: If I have a heart problem and it is determined that I need to be cardio-converted no one is going to suggest that I recieve a heart transplant. Yes, t would cardio-convert me. But, it would not be the treatment of choice. There are clearly other treatmets, much less invasive, that would be better suited to cardio-convert me.

o also, it is highly likely that the marital issues that Linda and Danny faced would be better served by some type of counseling other than one that is Freudian based.

t took time because it was not an easy decision for Linda to decide to ask for her membership to be dropped.

lethia does not know when these decisions began. She does not know when they ended with a final decision. She simply does not know.

Second we obviously see things very differently here, from differing viewpoints, and we may just have to agree to disagree for now. It is actually because of my experiences that I do not see Danny as people accuse him. Sure he seems to talk without thinking first sometimes but that doesn't make him evil. I don't idolize him, as people calim but you know what, I like him, and i think he's got the raw deal here.

You are going to have to explain how you think he got a raw deal. He is still on TV, remarried with the lion share of the assets from the former marriage, living life like nothing ever happened.....Well, accept for the part that he just can't keep from talking aobut "how sh e done him wrong". Please tell me what part of that is a raw deal

I will explain what I know, and understand about those couseling sessions, and it isn't what you are saying everone knows.

First I have never heard anything negative or heard anybody finding fault with John Lomacang, or with the Thompsonville Church until the problems arose because of Linda's relattionship with the Doctor. Suddenly he is evil and biased and part of a conspiracy against her. As far as I can tell the only reason that "everyone" believes all these negative things about those counseling sessions is because Linda said that to others and they repeated it, and so on. She gave her view to the Dr, to Johann and to whover would listen because someone had to be wrong here, and as she admitted no wrong the fault had to be with everyone else.

But there something a little wrong with the little girl marching out of step in the band and saying did you see how good I did and how everyone was out of step but me? They all tried to tell me I was wrong but I knew better, so I just kept on going. Don't you agree it's mean for them to keep picking on me?

I don't know what this paragraph about the little girl means, Cindy.

The truth is Pastor Lomacang came to 3ABN because of Linda, she thought very highly of him.

Which is why his actions now are viewed as backstabbing.

People are reacting here like he want over to the house to attack her, and continued to do so. That isn't the case at all. Loving and caring for another means sometimes you have to disagree and say that is wrong. As a Pastor J.L has a greater responsibility to do so.
The truth is Linda went to him first, He heard her story first. She asked him to come to her house and talk to Danny. If anything he was at first biased in her favor having heard her side first.

How I understand it is it went like this. She called and was talking to her pastor about the situation of her friendship with this Doctor, and asked him if his wife Angie had any male friends, and how he felt about that.

So-- he explained that she had one very good friend who she had known for years before he'd met her. He said he'd met him and liked him too and that he knew it was simply a platonic friendship and so their conversations on the phone a couple times a year didn't bother him.

This was the first he'd heard from either danny or Linda about this and it didn't sound like there was a problem to him, so Linda asked him to come over and talk to Danny.

When he got there rather then telling Danny he was wrong, he told Danny that Linda had told him her side of the story and said "now let's hear yours"

After hearing about all the hours being spent on the phone and how Danny had caught her in lies several times and how after looking up the phone calls on the internet, she had started buying phone cards so they wouldn't show up on the bill, and after talking to both of them

Pastor Lomacang explained to Linda that her situation was a whole different story then the one with he and his wife, and there were many other factors here, and that she needed to stop the relationship before it hurt their marriage further. Tis was just one of many hours the pastor spent counseling...

Now I know some or many are going to say that's heresay. Yes it is, It came secondhand from someone who directly asked Pastor L about it, and relayed what was said to me, and now I am repeating it, so it is thirdhand. I would not do so except the words and testimony of John Lomacang are in the letter above regarding this, and his is a first person account and he is talking right to Linda about this:

JL is not evil, but he is biased and part of the problems Linda is esperiences. He has compromised himself as a pastor. The only thing JL did was to listen to Linda first. Do we even know if he knew the situation before she talked with him? You know that is entirely possible. But if not, he listened to Linda, and then Danny and chose to side with Danny. What could Danny have told him, really? We already know from your account that there was no adultery on Linda's part. Because he said his counsel was to stop before soemthing happened to further damage her marriage. He did not talk to her about an adulterous affair. Danny was just whining about the time she spent ont he phone with the Dr......about her son. And since it was more that his alotted 15 mins, it had to be something wrong.........Voila! "spiritual adultery". Because that was his initial claim and grounds for the divorce.Which is ridiculous, since it doesn't exist. So there was no overwhelming evidence of actual adultery. I am sure you know the drill with jelous inseucre men, they ask you are you fooling around you say no, but they are sure you are lying.

Really, Diane I don't want to argue, but my position if that either Linda has misrepresented what happed, or every single member of her former Church, her friends, her fellow employess and fellow board members, and even the Non SDA couselors her sister recommended so that they wouldn't be biased, all are lying. That to me is ludicrous indeed, for the only reason we have to believe evil of all those people is one woman who says that is what happened, and those she talked to, who weren't there and didn't see or witness anything.

Every single one of them is operating on information furnished by.........Danny.......whom they trust........just like you..........

And over and over what is presented doesn't match what Linda has said.

I do not see persecution or meanness in the letters above. I see a Church Pastor dealing with an erring member in the most loving and compassionate way possible. Some don't like the scriptural references, well they were given for our example and that's what he's using them for.

But as is obvious others here find fault. I guess that's what they want to see, and nothing I'm going to say will change that.

I find it ironic that those who keep asking for proof, never accept anything offered. Guess that's why they haven't ever got what they've asked for, all they'd do is pick things apart individually and deny it and still insist nothing had been proven. But to me all those individual things they deny can't be denied when you put them all together.

Cindy when you first came here you asked for first hand information. in many cases, you were given that first hand information. Two fo them are from Johann, who was present and involved in many of the incidents in question, and the other which is the testimonies of the victims of TS. You have rejected both of those for often second hand information whoch supposedly comes from Danny, but not directly to you, but still through another person or two. Why when we have firt ahnd testimony would we accept second, or even in this cases admittedly, third hand information from you?

Anyway, I doubt fran will answer, because nathan had nothing to do with linda's relationship with the Doctor, that is simply how they met, after the beginning he never entered into it, so obviously Danny wasn't asking her to choose between him and her son. He was aksing her to choose him, and she chose the Doctor.

....and you have first hand proof of this........? Cindy that is what you have been told by Bystnder, wwjd, Lee,...............You may have to come to a very difficult realization.

So I guess people can keep writing ugly things about everyone who thinks or ever thought linda made poor or wrong choices. I think I'm done with this thread. I also think maybe Gregory and others are right, a civil court is the last and probably only option available here.

It is not about Linda poor or wrong choices. We cannot judge them becuase we dont' know them. We only have Danny's words as to what they were, and because of his own actions and lies, he is less than credible. I am not about protecting or defending Linda. I have already said that she put her new husband before her son, which is a horrible thing for a mother to do. I really think she set up this president by doing so, and Danny was not happy about her finally choosing her son as she should have from the beginning. One more time is Linda did each and everything Danny and his cohorts acuse her of, he is still more than wrong for the way he handled this whole situtaion. He was unChirst-like, calculating, mean, vindictive and he got the 3ABN board and the church to help him do his dirty work. That is what I have a problem with. The only thing it has to do with Linda is that the wrong was done against her. If he turned around and did the samething to Brandy, he would be wrong a second time.(which BTW, does fall into the "reaping what one's sow's", what goes around comes around", "karma" whatever you want to call it category.)

But I do appreciate your spirit and sincerity in answering me Di.

God bless-- know you all claimed she dropped her membership to avoid the censure and that letter came on Occt 27 2005. And she requested her membership be dropped on Oct 31 2005.

io are you now claiming that she was talking about this with you all , and making decisions about this before then?

'he question "why" is not an appropriate question for me to respond to. I am not going to tell why or when we gave Linda every item of advice. I am not going to tell you why and vhen Linda may have asked us every question that she asked us.

lo one ever suggested that you were a total idiot in the area of counseling. However, you present yourself in a manner that suggests that you have a limited understanding of ounseling. Your presentation may be 100 per-cent wrong. But, that is how several of us see you.

As to you being bored with my comments: Don't respond to them if you are bored by them. Your continued responses suggest that, based upon the energy you expend in reponding to them you are far from bored. But, again, that is simply your presentation, which may not reflect where you actually are.

OK... I'll concede you aren't a total idiot on this subject... however you are, as it were, clueless... despite your purported education and background... your statements sound like they come from the age when frontal lobotomies were deemed therapeutic and forced sterilization of mental patients and the retarded was considered state of the art.

Note to Cindy... they don't do those things any more... and you have a lot of catching up to do before you can discourse on this subject knowledgeably in any wise...

Cindy,
Do you have a scripture you can quote that supports your position?

Each individual "Self" was important enough in our Savior's eyes that He chose to die to pay sin's price for each one. And then we have Matthew 22:39 that says we are to "love your neighbor as yourself".

Just some thoughts that your statements brought to mind.

Did you take your son to a doctor to treat his Bi-polar condition? Did you take him to your pastor? Cindy, Christians are not the only human beings that God blesses with talents to be used to help His children.

Sure, there are some branches of psychology that might be too "out there" for Christian consumption, but utilizing a wise, well-trained counselor to help with relationship or emotional needs is not any different than going to a medical doctor who doesn't happen to be an Adventist.

If I am understanding the point of her story correctly, she sees that a co-founder of 3abn is that little boy/girl marching out of step with the rest of the band but thinking he/she is the only one doing it right and, further, is surrounded with people who are supporting his/her delusion. Interesting metaphor.

That was not an insult... it was an observation. In this society, hearsay never trumps an eyewitness on any level in any forum or venue.

It's just not done.

Cindy has nothing but hearsay. She has personally witnessed nothing that she is talking about. All of the details, questions and responses she offers are being fed to her by others, many of whom also did not witness any of these things but are merely spouting what was fed to them... not unlike tying a piece of lard on a long string and throwing it among a gaggle of geese...

Observer and Johann, OTOH, are principals in this affair. They are involved and have seen, said and heard things that Cindy has only gained knowledge of second or third hand or worse...

Yet she persists in believing that what she says should be found more credible than what they and others who have been involved say.

If you have a better word than 'delusion' for that I welcome it.

O. K. Aletheia:

For the purpose of this discussion, let us accept at face value your claim that Elder John L. is a counselor, and as evidenced by his 16+ years of counseling experience does do counseling.

Do your understand the legal liability that you have potentially placed the IL Conference in, or rather the legal liability that Elder L. has potentially placed the IL Conference?

Do you understand the ramifications of the Odenthal case which comes form MN?

Of course, I understand that a case heard by the MN Supreme Court does not set a precedent in IL. However, as one who has studied psychiatric nursing, and understands counseling, I am certain that you understand the Tarasoff case. You likely know that the Terasoff case became a model that was adapted by probably all of the 50 states of the United States.

Based upon your knowledge of the history of the Tarasoff case, it is unlikely that you would seriously attempt to tell us that the Odenthal case has no revelance for someone in IL.

NOTE: I am very briefly making a statement about a very complex case that went back and forth between the District and Appealate courts until the MN Supreme Court rendered a decison that resulted in the parties reaching a settlement without a trial by the District Court.

In brief the MN Supreme court ruled that the MN Conference of SDA could be sued, and held liable for a failure to supervise the counseling activities of a SDA pastor whom the Court had determined held himself out to be a counselor, and did represent himself as giving marital counseling to the Odenthals. In that ruling the Court ruled that the MN Conference did not have the protection of the First Ammendment to the Constitution due to the fact that the pastor involved represented himself as providing the Odenthals with marital counseling.

If what I expect happens actually takes place, Aletheia and others will commant adversely on me and/ or my post. If they finally respond to my question, they will begin to back track in their claims in regard to Elder L. being either a counselor, or in providing counseling for 16+ years.

Let us seewhat they do.

Now that we are discussing JL qualification for 16 years of counseling, I have a question or three.
1. How long has John been in pastoral service?
2. How long has he sung with Heritage Singers?
3. Does this time singing with Heritage Singers count with the 16 years of counseling?
4. Did John attend Amazing Facts College of Evangelism?
5. If so how long did he attend?
6. Did any of the classes include learning how to counsel?

Just asking questions.
Rosyroi

editing for more questions.

Apparently John attended Oakwood college and another college(Valencia?).
What classes did he take while attending these colleges?
From his bio they don't appear to be ministerial/pastoral related.

If my questions are not appropriate I will apologize now to beat the rush.

Of course, that explains a lot.

However, it does not excuse him calling himself a counselor and not having the ethical sense to see that even if he were a counselor, he had a conflict of interest in the Danny/Linda conflict. He is not "evil," as Aletheia likes to to say we are suggesting. However, he does not have the sensibilities of a good pastor -- and not even the basic ethical standards of the world. (A Christian pastor should have higher standards, not lower ones.)

What he wrote to Linda re church discipline (using discipline to direct her to a church where she could find healing) is just plain nonsense and inexcusable coming from anyone sitting on a church board, let alone a pastor. He really should go back to school. But would training give him the sensibility of a good pastor?

Please note, Aletheia, that we are not basing our opinion of JL's involvement on anything Linda said, but on what he wrote and you shared.

About 50 years ago C. Witchebie (sp?) tried to initiate some education in pastoral counseling as a part of our ministerial training. While attending some of his classes in pastoral counseling I asked him how I should deal with a certain lady who was having serious problems, where I thought I could be of help with my Christian experience and help her with the words of Jesus Christ.

At first CW's words chocked me, but I have often reflected on them since.

- Stay away from her. With the limited amount of knowledge you have in counseling you will do her more harm than if you try to remove her appendix without being a medical doctor.

And here I thought I could do the job because I had learned so much from his wisdom.

In my dealings with John Lomacang I have wished he had a better knowledge of Scripture and how to apply the words of Jesus Christ to your Christian experience. That may give him some better insight into how counseling works.

We must not forget how Ellen White stresses the importance of studying how the mind works to give us a background of how to deal with people. Just like Aletheia I have also worked in a psychiatric ward and dealt with all kinds of patients. Some of the patients were physicians and lawyers, and they revealed quite a bit to me. It always pays to have your ears and eyes open so the words of our Lord can have a grater impact in our lives. Let us pray for understanding.

Thank you for posting information regarding Elder L's educational and training background. I was aware of that. But, I did not want to post on it as I could not document what I knew. You have supplied the documentation.

I will make two comments:

1) John L. appears to have neither formal educational training nor experience in counseling and marital counseling.

Clinical training programs in counseling focus on ethics. In my formal training I was requred to take course work in ethics. In addition, my supervised clinical training focused on ethical eissues. Did I recognize them? Did I apply then to my counseling experience?

Elder L's published comments picture him as a person who simply does not under the ethical issues related to counseling.

2) I will comment on the standard educational and experiencal route for entry in the SDA ministry in North America, and what John L. has missed by his entry by an alternative route.

Let me be clear. The SDA denomination has recognized Elder L. as an ordained SDA clergyperson. As such, whatever respect you might give to a person who holds that office is due Elder L. However, that respect for the office does not prevent one from questioning the one who holds that office, and how that person practices ministry in the SDA Church. John L. is fully qualified to perform the duties of a SDA minister. As an ordained SDA minister, he has the responsibilities to practice ministry according to accepted standards.

The typical standard for entry into SDA ministry in Norrth America requires that a person have a degree from a SDA college in one of the fields of Religion/Theology. The purpose of this is to be certain that the individual understands SDA beliefs, has accepted them, and can defend them. In addition, some minimal experience is given in some aspects of pastoral ministry, and also preparation is given for some course work that must be taken at a later time.

John appears to have a background in electronics, rather than the above background. This should not be considered as disqualifying one for SDA ministry. I am going to assume that John L. understands, and has accepted SDA beliefs. It is not unusual for peple to come into SDA ministry without the above background. Some have been very successful. The above background may be helpful, but its lack is not a killer.

Following graduation as above, the standard expectation is that one will obtain a Master of Divinity degree (MDiv) from Andrews. Yes, I know that there are exceptions. But, that is the standard expectation.

In the MDiv. program the focus is as follows:

a) There is a further in-depth study of SDA history and doctrine. But, this is done from a perspective of its application in the congregational life.

There is something to be said for experience and maturation. In my Seminary class, one student confessed that he would have a struggle in baptizing a male who wore a beard. With that, another student confessed that he would struggle with baptizing a chiropractor. Then there was discussions regarding women who wore wigs. Well, both of the above Seminary students are ordained SDA clergy. They have matured, and been successful.

'b) Part of this development comes from the interaction with other students, and their struggles and attempts to do ministry in an Adventist congregation. NOTE: In the MDiv. program many of the students will have worked in a pastoral setting providing ministry to a congregation. After I left Andrews, and pastored a congregation, some of my experiences were used in teaching pastoral students at Andrews.

c) The MDiv. program typically provides ongoing supervised pastoral experience. Someone in a post mentioned the Amazing Facts College of Evangelism. I do not know if that training experience if formally connected with Andrews. But, that is the type of experience that students in the MDiv. program would recieve.

There is of considerable value to place pastoral students in supervised pastoral experience programs where they can gain and grow.

It is unfortunate that Elder L. lacks the above background whch would have enriched his prepartaion for and his practice of pastoral minsitry.

But, there is one last comment that I need to add:

John L's failure to have the above background severely limits his ability to practice ministry:

a) We are graduating more students from ministerial courses than the denomination can employ. This means that some of our graduates, in order for find ministerial employment must be employed in ministry by organizations that may not be SDA. These may be military, hospital and prison chaplaincies. NOTE: While these people may work for non-SDA organizations, they represent the SDA Chruch, are endorsed/credentialed by the SDA Chruch, and practice ministry according to SDA standards that are applied to them.

The standard for employment in these fields requires a MDiv. degree, and pastoral experience; and in some cases there are additional requirements.

Because John L. lacks this background, he will not be eligible to be employed as I have listed above. You might say that he will never need to be so employed. That may not be true. Local SDA Conferences are sometimes requried to reduce its nubmer of ministers due to financial restraints, and those clergy are out looking for employemnt. They may need to consider some of the options I have listed above.

'b) In addition, some SDA Conferences have come to the point where they are unable to hire people who do not have the MDiv. background that I have listed above, and do not employ pastors who have entered the SDA ministry from an alternative background.

Tha apparent reality is that John L may have entered the SDA milnsitry from an alternative background to pastor the congregation associated most closely with 3-ABN. If the time comes that it is believed that there should be a pastoral change, John L. may be limited in his options? Yes, it may be that the IL Conferene would at that time be able to transfer him to another congregation? But, it still just may be that John is limited in the pastoral opportunities that he has outside of the congregation that is associated with 3-ABN? On the other hand, his musical abilities, as long as they may last, may help to make up for this?

No one wants to have a conversation with a member who has to send the comments to someone else and wait for an official response. Perhaps that's why the silence is so deafening with certain questions of the DS defender unit. Neither of them knows how to respond.

You guys are free to speculate, postulate or surmise all you like, but it doesn't mean you have a clue about who or what you are talking about.

As one who has been labelled such, allow me to say, you don't. That is false.

What a bunch of garbage.

ind neither do you Cindy as you have stated you are not a witness to anything.... so it seems you are in the same garbage you have accused others of being in...

Ve do know that you, by your own admission are "not a witness". We do know that you, by your own admission, have never spoken to or met Linda or Danny. We know that your)ostings continue to be "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing"

;o you would be best served to take your own advice and recognize that while you are free to speculate, postulate, pontificate (had to throw that one in because you do it so often... ılong with obfuscate, denigrate and playa hate) or surmise all you like, but it doesn't mean you have a clue about who or what you are talking about.

Ar. J. what is your problem? You are a grandfather but you act like a 2 year old. You are being an internet stalker. You are using harassment against Aletheia behind every one of her)osts. Much of what Aletheia is saying is true. You don't have to accept it. But you do need to stop your stalking her.

t cant be true because she by her own admission is NOT a witness to anything.... Now, since you dipped your spoon in this kool aid, are you stepping forward to say you witnessed ;omething? If so what? Where is your evidence or proof? If you are not a witness then you are doing what Cindy is doing... and likewise are playing in the same garbage....

ls for the other accusation stalking is a strong term, and it is not taken lightly... as a member here Mr. J can respond to any post anywhere on this forum... if you think that esponding to posts is stalking behavior then we are all guilty.....

the act or crime of willfully and repeatedly following or harassing another person in circumstances that would cause a reasonable person to fear injury or death esp. because of ·xpress or implied threats; broadly : a crime of engaging in a course of conduct directed at a person that serves no legitimate purpose and seriously alarms, annoys, or intimidates hat person

Vell for starters this is a public forum & per the definition of stalking he is far from stalking her. For him to stalk her he would have to follow her from web site to web site. Just ›ecause people call her into accountability for the stuff she posts don't make them stalkers.

Get a grip, Lee. Cindy has come to where I am; I haven't come to her. I was here long before you and she knew this forum existed. As for stalking her... in your and her dreams perhaps. She is getting nothing more than she is giving to gailon and pickle and others... in fact a good deal less. You say much of what Cindy says is true... which means that some of it is not true. Why dont you go through her posts and mark out the parts which are true and the parts which are lies... since you obviously know.

It would be an important revelation if you'd spell out which parts of her posts are true. That would make it much easier to deal with her. Since you know that only much of what she says is true, you must be having some misgivings.

Hi Hersheys99 h

Mr. J has already responded to Lee but her post has made me wonder about something.
I wonder if Linda has been subjected to any behavior by some in real life that others might consider stalking or worse.

It often seems to me these types of posts contain a good degree of projection. Has anyone else noticed that?

everal first hand witnesses have affirmed that they witnessed such behaviour as you describe.

t has also been affirmed by a number who have had first hand experience with DS that they frequently noticed that the very things they had witnessed DS do were the things that he nost frequently accused others of doing.

o yes to both questions.

Posted by: Fran Apr 12 2007, 10:57 AM

Actually Aletheia has brought things to the table.

She brought us the church manual guidance and the John Lomacang letter. (Which I had previously read)

My hat is off to her. Everything she brings does exactly what she wants it to do! It gives us another birds eye view of 3ABN.

She acts like these things don't concern her, yet she brings them to our attention. I say she is aware of what she is doing!

The Thompsonville church IS the 3ABN Church! Call it what you will, but in actuality it is the 3ABN church!

If it walks like a duck; (Waddle, Waddle)
If it talks like a duck; (Quack, Quack)
It must be a duck! Waddle, waddle, quack, quack)

Something is broken and needs to be fixed!

Why is it still a Conference Church and not a CHURCH? I know, I know!!

The Conference would have to pay all of JL's Salary and thus be controlled by the Conference and not Danny. Oops, we can't have that, now can we?

3ABN owns the pastor and the church. That is the way Danny likes it!

Control, control, control, Power, power, power, Danny's way, Danny's way, Danny's way. Like Burger King, I get it MY way!

We should thank Aletheia. I would like to. The letter to Linda from John Lomacang speaks volumes about the situation at the 3ABN church AND 3ABN!

So, thank you Aletheia. Maybe you have more to bring to the table? I would sure love to see it, seriously.

I am seriously thanking you for posting these things. No tongue in cheek this time.

nless, of course, just the opposite is true. It wouldn't be speculation if it was said with good cause. You probably realize we have had people here who admitted it wasn't their houghts they posted, but that of someone who'd just emailed them.

ut speaking of just the opposite being true, if you were watching DS on 3abn last night, you know he was enraged while referring to all the speculation being said about him on the nternet. He said not to respond to any of it. He said "perfect peace have they which love they law and nothing shall offend them." He seemed really offended, and didn't smile once the whole hour except to smirk at his own jokes--which by the way didn't seem to be going over very well with his audience. I could sense the fire in his eyes while the sagging wrinkes around the neck line appeared deeper and deeper. You could tell there was no peace in his life. He did explain though that he'd been through a lot in the last couple of years.

Ok Noah's wife. In my opinion,

Someone who cannot understand the legal ramifications of slander and libel in regards to what they and their fellow accusers have done here, and on the save 3ABN site, etc. has no business questioning the ethics, morals, of anyone, or asking me, or 3ABN if we understand the the legal ramifications here.

He has presented himself as Counsilor, adviser, and advocate, and would be far better served looking in the mirror and asking first himself that, and then Linda and her defenders, and the rest of the 3ABN accusers.

For as far as I am concerned they are without excuse.

I won't be further drawn into UGLY.

And am putting myself on a 3 day leave.

Good bye

Posted by: princessdi Apr 12 2007, 11:11 AM

Actually, he pastored at least one church(I want say it was two, but not sure) that I know of in Northern California Conference. He and his wife are very nice people. They actually lived near my Mom in a small city so she saw them quite often in the stores, etc. He and his wife also used to visit our church on their rare weeks off. Let me say that he is also. He and Doug Bachelor participated and a round table discussion program with R. C. House and other denominational leaders. I was really proud of them, the did quite well!

I absolutely do not believe JL is evil. I think he is a good and extremely knowledgeable man. However, we all make bad choices. It is those thimes when the enemy convinces us that we have gone too far. I just think this move to 3ABN started apositive, but is now a negative.

If the time comes that it is believed that there should be a pastoral change, John L. may be limited in his options? Yes, it may be that the Il. Conferene would at that time be able to transfer him to another congregation? But, it still just may be that John is limited in the pastoral opportunities that he has outside of the congregation that is associated with 3-ABN? On the other hand, his musical abilities, as long as they may last, may help to make up for this?

Since I have not personally been to the 3abn campus, the address "Angel Lane" is quite meaningless to me.... and possibly it is to many others also. So perhaps you would tell us more about its location. *I think we have some of the history of the building that is now the church already posted on BSDA. I am not sure what I'm supposed to be able to tell from the Thompsonville church website. That is the generic template for church websites that most Adventist Churches are being encouraged to use. (see http://www.adventistchurchconnect.com/). The only thing that looks very specific there is the 'Contact Us' page with the pastor's name, street address, etc.

Having seen this template many a time, I personally see nothing on the church website as evidence either way.

If y'all are seeing something on that website that I'm not, do enlighten, please!

h my - sorry. My bad to assume everyone is familiar with the campus. Note the attached map - which I found on the 3ABN website, before anyone accuses me of making it up...

ee how 3ABN HQ is about 10 miles off of Interstate 57 on State Highway 149 and Charley Good Road? Note how Highway 149 continues on to its end when it runs into Highway 34? he distance between 3ABN HQ and the end of Highway 149 is a mile, maybe two. Now, see how Angel Lane connects Highway 149 and Highway 34? See how it cuts of a mile or two f driving between the 3ABN HQ and the Uplink Center? This is probably the nicest, most well kept road in the county. The 3ABN apartments mentioned in other threads on this forum re on Angel Lane, as is the home Melody used to live in.

ow, three guesses who "built" this road and who "named" it...

TW, the old church which is apparently now in use by the Baptists, is about 2/3 of the distance between I-57 and 3ABN HQ on Highway 149 (closer to 3ABN), so probably 3 miles way...

t was the address FTP. On Angel Road. The church is on 3ABN property. It moved from it's old location onto the property of 3ABN. See the map so graciously provided by Snoopy.

Oh my - sorry. My bad to assume everyone is familiar with the campus. Note the attached map - which I found on the 3ABN website, before anyone accuses me of making it up...

See how 3ABN HQ is about 10 miles off of Interstate 57 on State Highway 149 and Charley Good Road? Note how Highway 149 continues on to its end when it runs into Highway 34? The distance between 3ABN HQ and the end of Highway 149 is a mile, maybe two. Now, see how Angel Lane connects Highway 149 and Highway 34? See how it cuts of a mile or two of driving between the 3ABN HQ and the Uplink Center? This is probably the nicest, most well kept road in the county. The 3ABN apartments mentioned in other threads on this forum are on Angel Lane, as is the home Melody used to live in.

Now, three guesses who "built" this road and who "named" it...

BTW, the old church which is apparently now in use by the Baptists, is about 2/3 of the distance between I-57 and 3ABN HQ on Highway 149 (closer to 3ABN), so probably 3 miles away...

I am not sure if this matters but I was told that Angel Lane was a gravel road until a single donor had it paved. It was a donor that has been seen singing on 3ABN.

I was a little surprised when I went to the web site, and found that it did not mention 3ABN, but did advertise for the Hope Channel under the media link.

As a matter of fact, this seems to be a template, which other SDA Churches use.

Here are some examples: (Note: some different graphics, but all the same links and style)

Yes, I was wondering about the "looking down your nose at a judge" comment. Judges sit on the bench, which is elevated way above the courtroom floor. For someone to look down there nose at a judge, wouldn't they have to be, like, REALLY tall?

Just wondering....

Posted by: Fran Apr 13 2007, 12:27 AM

About the Thompsonville SDA Church website;

Don't churches post calendars and prayer meeting topics?
Is the pastor the only Point of Contact (POC)? I found only one page about the Thompsonville church and that had information about how to contact JL.

You are right, it is very generic! It told me zero about the Thompsonville Church. You can learn about anything BUT the Thompsonville Church.

My amazement was in what IS NOT on the site, more so than what IS on the site.

It appears that the Church Campmeeting is the 3ABN Campmeeting.

Duane,
That's what I was thinking. They would have to be larger than life....or perhaps up on a pedestal, or at least a ladder. Could one get a ladder through the courthouse metal detectors?

And, Duane, your Gems of Wisdom are not only humorous, they are also real historical treasures now that Bystander and wwjd are no longer with us.

Yeah, you'd think the churches would post that info... but not always! This new adventist connect idea is good, in that it gets websites for churches that wouldn't otherwise have one, however, some churches I've seen have switched from their more informative sites to the generic template! Our pastor tried to get me to drop our custom website in favor of adventist connect. Needless to say, I wasn't interested.

As for the Thompsonville church: I think its pretty clear that its location is awfully close to 3abn (on the property), has a lot of employees (8-9) on the board, and a pastor paid by 3abn (1/3 - 1/2 salary).... those factors are all I believe is needed to justify investigating whether or not 3abn has undue influence on the operation of the church.

My church has a similar "institutional" influence, and although the first two factors I listed above are not a guarentee of the church being controlled, the third one is a real red flag to me.

Posted by: princessdi Apr 13 2007, 09:55 AM

Yes, FTP, we really do have several places like that Loma Linda, OC, Andrews, Well, pretty much all of our college areas, but the churches are admittedly belonging to those institutions. The LL church does not sit on LL grounds and then claim not to be the LL church, same with OC, Andrews, etc. To me it is such an unnecessary lie to tell. Very problematic.

...and to what point?? Why is it so bad to say it is the 3ABN Church? I don't get it

From an analysis perspective, if we start with a population that includes the entire membership of said church and then subtract the number of members who are either employed by, volunteer at, or are otherwise affiliated with 3ABN, we could probably count those remaining on one hand...JMO...

I have no problem with it being the 3abn church... as long as the local attending membership is happy with it.

The problem in this case, is whether or not the board is a freethinking board, or whether there are strings attached - you know, the purse / marionette strings....

Are there strings?

I do however, start to wonder when me thinketh "the lady protesteth too much...."

Posted by: princessdi Apr 13 2007, 10:59 AM

Exactly Snoopy! The problem with that in this particular case is as FTP says, is the board at the church free thinking, or is it also the same rubber stamp the 3ABN board seems to be. I believe they hae members in common. Therefore, in particular, would Linda had gotten a fair hearing in their presence. We already know that the pastor presiding over the meetings was already.....biased toward Danny's side of the story, and we can be pretty sure the other board members with direct 3ABN affiliation would also vote in favor of Danny's wishes. How many of them were involved in the 3ABN's board desicion to have her sign a gag order for 250K? IOW, did Danny also use this board to act out his vindictive actions fueled by his own anger?

Plus, Cindy's people are just to eager for her to lead us to believe that they church has less to do with 3ABN than is actually does.....come on now......on the property?

Maybe I'd better elaborate a bit more, because first I used the term "red flag" then I said "I have no problem...."

I really don't have a problem with it being the 3abn church... but, yes, the pastors salary being paid by 3abn is a red flag to me. Why? money. plain and simple. No matter how much we try to let truth influence us, and not money, money still speaks to our subconsicous. To me, this means that no matter how honorable a man John Lomacang is (and I believe he tries to be), having 3abn pay part of his salary puts him in a position where he (minimally subconciously, maybe consciously) doesn't want to bite the hand that feeds him. Translation? He will put more weight on the wishes of one Mr. Danny Shelton than I believe is ethical for a pastor to do. (I believe this effects the board/church members as well.)

This is something I must take into account when evaluating his communications with Linda.

as for the church thing, i have a couple thoughts on my mind. i used to have 3abn on, in my house, for several hours a day, almost every day and usually all day long on sabbath.

#1- i remember hearing 3abn talking about building a little chapel on the property for small weddings and prayer time whenever someone needs that, etc. (sounds quaint right?)

#2- i don't remember hearing anything about building a full size church or the thompsonville church moving over to 3abn property.

#3-if there is a "chapel" and a full-size church on 3abn property, why were danny and brandy married privately on the 3abn set?

I hope brandy is keeping a diary. This all seems like it would be very bizarre to her. I can't imagine them not wanting to be married in a church. It certainly was convenient enough. I'd love an answer to that because it just seems all to much like Danny knew he was doing something wrong and wanted to keep it a secret. Maybe his conscience was bothering him too much to be married in the church? a TV set is more commercial and non-spiritual than a church wouldn't you think? maybe........................the SDA church would not allow him to be married in the church? has anyone looked into that or does anyone actually know?

seem to recall vague wisps of something about the building that is the church was initially supposed to be a full-scale model of the sanctuary... or at least donations were solicited or that and at least with part of those funds a multipurpose building was built that is used as the church... vell, not exactly. when we were there for the first campmeeting, about 2000 or 2001, we were given a tour and part of the tour was of a building built for the purpose of housing a ull scale sanctuary that was donated to 3abn. also,in that building was a small theatre supposedly for the purpose of showing a video documentary of the sanctuary prior to people eing led on a tour of the full sanctuary.
i had also seen a 3abn today show interviewing the person who used that full-size sanctuary for many years in a road tour/show. he was retiring and donated it to 3abn. i'm thinking t was worth a lot of money and spiritual value so danny said they were going to build a building there on 3abn property to house that exibit for all to see). anyone know if that appened?

s I understand it, the original donor donated not only the sanctuary display, but also the money to build the building to house the display. The display stood around long enough to e damaged, without the money being used for the building. When the building was finally finished, it was turned into a church, without consulting the original donor.

have no idea what happened to the display. Someone from Thompsonville can probably tell us.

have no idea about the answers to these questions, but if they were married by a licensed SDA minister, I cannot think they could not have chosen to be married in a church if that s what they wished.

think as far as the church is concerned, there are restrictions on whom ministers can marry (eg, they cannot marry a baptised SDA to a nonbaptised person) , and the venue is up to he couple.

'or my remarriage we chose a friend's garden with our pastor officiating, and there would be many couples who make similar choices. I am neither defending nor criticising in this ›ost, I just do not see the venue as an issue if the marriage was performed by a credentialled pastor.

hat does sound familiar about the donor of the display also contributing to the funding for the building, but as i stated, we were given a tour of that very building. walls, stairs and Irywall had been done, but the building wasn't finished completely at that time. How do you know they did not consult the original donor?

)anny and Brandy were married by an ordained SDA minister, credentialed by the IL Conference.

t is clear that they could have been married in the Thompsonville Church building.

n this day and age, ordained SDA ministers can often perform marriage ceremonies for whomever they chose.

Iere's what I think happened, but this is mostly third-hand info - I may have even read it here somewhere.

'he sanctuary exhibit was owned, or at least maintained, by the Clairemont SDA Church in San Diego. (That part I know for a fact as I attended church there and actually toured the ife-size sanctuary exhibit. It was FANTASTIC!!) When not set up in a parking lot somewhere, the exhibit lived and traveled in a semi-truck, an 18-wheeler if I remember correctly.

\pparently the exhibit was later donated to 3ABN along with the money to build a permanent home for it there. Work on that structure began but slowed/stopped for some reason. nterestingly, this was around the time of the Illinois property tax lawsuit that 3ABN lost on the grounds that it was a business rather than a ministry (in a nutshell, and I believe 3ABN appealed). Upon learning what the state considers property used "for ministerial purposes," the structure intended to house the sanctuary exhibit would also not qualify as exempt. So, the structure was re-designed into what is now the worship center -- which does qualify as exempt from property tax.

I'm happy to be corrected on any of that...

There is a life size wilderness sanctuary (named Messiah's Mansion) headed to the Walla Walla area via 18 wheeler in mid-May. It will be on display for 10 days for people to tour through. It is coming from Oklahoma Academy where it is kept. I don't know if it is the same one in discussion here.

This is interesting. Please keep us informed. Perhaps someone from either the Oklahoma Academy or the Walla Walla area would know the history of this exhibit.

> (i had also seen a 3abn today show interviewing the person who used that full-size sanctuary for many years in a road tour/show. he was retiring and donated it to 3abn. i'm thinking it was worth a lot of money and spiritual value so danny said they were going to build a building there on 3abn property to house that exibit for all to see). anyone know if that happened?

I don't think that we have ever accumulated all the pieces to this story.... though as Mr J said, there have been some of it posted here on BSDA. Here are two of those.

Since this narrative is only a small section from the longer work, The Televangelist, which was posted as one long post, I'll copy the portion having to do specifically with this donation here....

> The Lady and the Sanctuary
> The years went by, and countless lives were broken and destroyed; sacrificed on the alter of the televangelist's ministry. One day an elderly lady contacted the ministry. She had worked diligently to get the televangelist's TV network carried on the local cable companies, and now she had another idea. She wanted the ministry to have a small model of the Old Testament sanctuary.
>
> After several months of trying, she was allowed to speak with the televangelist himself. She was awed to be conversing with this representative of God. She told him her idea and said that she would provide the finances to make it happen. Prior to taking her call, the televangelist asked a few questions and found that her husband was a very wealthy retired physician. Now he told her that God was impressing him that instead of a miniature model, they were to build a full scale replica of the sanctuary that would be used as a museum, and include a theatre. He assured her that God had spoken to her.
>
> Now the televangelist showed her a piece of property that was across the street from his ministry headquarters and told her that this was the place where God wanted his sanctuary. This was an eighty-acre tract of land that was already for sale. She wrote him a check for the amount of the property and what he estimated it would cost to construct the museum.
> Construction of the facility began and then was halted. Funds were diverted to build a school with a large gymnasium adjacent to the museum. A large pond was excavated, a road was built, and apartments were constructed. The museum building sat there, an empty shell.
> Several years later, the televangelist decided to redirect plans for the sanctuary building and turn it into a large auditorium and church. The local school district had successfully sued for the ministry to pay property taxes. The court decided that as they were not a church, taxes must be paid.
> The elderly lady called repeatedly, but the televangelist would not take, or return her calls. She finally spoke with someone else in the ministry and told her story. She had planned on spending several thousand dollars for a sanctuary model until the televangelist convinced her that God wanted her to fund the much larger project. The check that she wrote to the televangelist was their life savings. Now she was destitute. Her husband got a divorce, and her children scorned her. From time to time they called and told her that all of this was for nothing. A master con artist had swindled her. Where was the sanctuary museum he had promised? Hadn't God told the televangelist to build it? Hadn't God told him that she was to fund it?---- taken from The Televangelist, post number 1 of the thread by that name.

A post by Sister http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=8572&view=findpost&p=126588 in the thread "Danny shelton Marries... again" gives a few additional details. Here are the most pertinent parts of that post.

> A lady gave money with the committment from Danny that it was to be used for a Sanctuary exhibition, actually for the building to house the exhibit. She would come quite often to visit, attending the Thompsonville SDA church (the 3ABN church) and to check on the progress of the project. She was really excited to think that she was able to help with this project. A SDA church in southern California donated it's life size portable Sanctuary exhibit to 3ABN to be housed in the building the lady had donated the money to construct. Well, the Sanctuary exhibit articles sat in the trailer (the size that had to be hauled ba an 18 wheeler) for years. With the humidity in southern Illinois, I can just imagine the damage that might have dome to it. Meanwhile, the shell of a huge building was constructed, the outside finished. Inside nothing much was done. There was no floor, only dirt, water and mud. Some insulation was hung up on the inside, but after a few years with nothing more done, it starting peeling off the inside walls. The lady that donated the money came less and less often. No further progress was made and the building remained in that condition for a number of years.
> Then the big court case came with the state of Illinois investagating 3ABN right to claim property tax exemption came about and Danny had a large acreage parcel of land just down the road and across the street with only the 3ABN elementary school, some housing for guests, a nice area where he put in a double-wide trailer for his daughter, Melody, (but he did not allow any of the other workers to have their trailers there, and a pond where Danny like to take out his little boat and go fishing. Now there was a need quickly change the use of the property, so Danny took the shell of the Sanctuary Exhibit, added wings on two sides, beautifully finished the interior and there was the new worship center. Danny sold the exsisting Thompsonville church which was about a 8 minute drive away from 3ABN and a 5 minute drive from the West Franklin SDA church. Moved his congregation into the new worship center and could now prove that the land was used for ministry.

There are still questions that are unanswered. Hopefully others who are reading this will fill in some of these for us.

I remember there was at one time an Adventist minister who toured with a full size model of the wilderness sanctuary. He would be on 3ABN from time to time and wear a priest's garments and explain different things about the sanctuary. I felt like Danny coveted the display and would nag the minister about donating it to 3ABN. He didn't seem inclined to do so at the time. I seem to remember that it was once on display in Washington DC in the mall area and drew a lot of people. Claremont church comes to mind as a sponsoring church but that could be wrong. I don't remeber the minister's name but I can see a picture of him in my mind.

Are you thinking of Ted Tesner by chance? That may be the name, but not positive. He was a pastor in the San Diego area. I think it is now called the Messiah ??. It was at Loma Linda last year and is coming to Washington State in May I think.
I know folk in Loma LInda that were involved with giving tours when it was there.

I remember hearing about the exhibit when it was set up in Loma Linda and know someone who helped with the tours as well. Small SDA world, huh!

You know, that could be it. The pastor I recall lived in the Loma Linda area (I think in Grand Terrace) but pastored in San Diego. He was an older gentleman, quite tall, gray hair and his wife was a big-wig in health-care somehow, I think.

I am unclear on whether or not there are two sanctuary exhibits. It was my understanding that the man who "did" a sanctuary exhibit quit... but I'm not sure of this info. Its all tied in with Tami McGrew and the Riverside church, somehow, if I remember correctly.

One thing I DO know, the Messiah's Mansion is out of Oaklahoma Academy, and the website is www.messiahsmansion.com, and is managed by Clayton Leinneweber. There are photos of him on the site.

Interestingly, I saw a sanctuary exhibit at the Pathfinder Camporee in Oshkosh, WI, but I do not find apperances in WI listed on the Messiah's Mansion website.

For anyone who is unfamiliar with this subject, a "Sanctuary" Realplayer link is here.

The transcript is here:

"LONNIE: Yes, and we have another perspective on Leviticus as well. In order to better understand how it applies to life today, I spoke recently with Pastor Ted Tessner. His church has built a reconstruction of the Leviticus sanctuary to help people better understand the Old Testament."

Yes, it is Ted Tessner. I went to the exhibit several years ago and took lots of pic's and bought books and T-shirts. It was a production of the "Omega Broadcasting Corp." back then.

I have not been there since 2004, but then there was no doubt that Mr. Danny Shelton was the supreme ruler at the Camp Meeting held at the Church that belonged to 3ABN. Nothing indicated the Illinois Conference was involved.

Yes I agree with that thought. I couldn't have said it better myself or even been able to add to it.

BTW
It is my understanding that several independent ministries have some kind of campmeeting that is offered within the USA. Some are large and some are small. Some campmeetings are for just a weekend and some use longer time span. I think it depends on how many people attend to finance the event.

Either most or all of these campmeetings are listed in Adventist World, North American edition. At least this is my understanding. If I am wrong I will be corrected.

There would have been much more sympathy for her if she had "admitted" to adultry and "repented" than telling the truth as she did.

Excellent analogy!

I'm sorry to say that I've maybe watched about 30 minutes of TBN since it's been on the air. To me TBN looks to European. I've seen a couple of brown faces every now and then. But I've seen more people of color on the reruns of the old Lawrence Welk Hour.

you talking about 3ABN or TBN...

I must admit that I have seen a lot more TBN than 3ABN...mostly Jakes, Long, Patterson, and the like...

I hear you on the Euro-thing...

LLBN?

What's that?

Posted by: claborn Aug 20 2004, 09:55 PM

I am not a 3ABN watcher.... seems to be something cultish about the viewers.... everyone walking around quoting what they saw on 3ABN..... scary.....

Posted by: calvin Aug 20 2004, 10:33 PM

I watch it for more than a hour each week, But not much more than that, usually on Sabbath and more in the Winter than Summer. To busy talking to you folks on BSDA and golfing to spend much time on 3ABN.

Posted by: kountzer Aug 21 2004, 06:32 AM

I watch 3 to 5 hours a week. I find the sermons to be great and on point. It's a lot better than the go around in circles, 'grass is always greener' mess that you get here. As for the euro look, if black folks want to be seen they need to make it happen. BOL has to rebroadcast the same shows over and over and over because no one will support them. I've donated to 3ABN and to other independent ministries. I wouldn't give a dime for this.

I watched it more when Linda was there, I admit. I like some of the programming, not everything. The ethnic thing has bothered me as well. Calvin's brother and sister in law have a cooking show on it and that's good. Marriage Matters is also quite good. There are also others that are interesting and good. Since the inception of Safe TV I've found some more good programs so I switch back and forth usually. I like the re-re-runs of Breath of Life on that channel and the early Sabbath School lesson review. Now with the addition of Hope TV, I'm sure much of the viewing habits of those that watch will change.

Posted by: kountzer Aug 21 2004, 07:48 AM

I can turn on the TV to a religious station and sometimes a secular station (I like the way I am using the word secular, btw, bump what darius says to the contrary) and see black preaching: td jakes, iv hilliard, glen plummer, etc. The list goes on and on. Some of it is okay, but most of it is untimely gibberish.
Now, try turning on the tv and seeing black sda preaching. The only place I've seen it is on 3ABN. I've seen more black sda ministers, artists and health advocates like the Eakins than I've seen anywhere else. I may eventually hook up with the hope channel or llbn. Guess what? The euros dominate those networks also.

the programming is great in your opinion.... my opinion hasn't changed about 3abn didn't watch it before, don't watch it now... and there remains a cultish vibe about it.... some people still walking around talking about 3abn said this and 3abn said that....

Many of the same programs appear on HOPE. And here you find more of the official announcemetns of our own Seventh-day Adventist Church. I think there are at least as many etnic programs on HOPE as on 3ABN, but it is worth checking. You can see HOPE on the net too.

let me go "there...." I don't know of any black folks my age or in my age group who watch 3abn.... while I am sure there probably are some black folks who watch, I know none of my friends do... the programming may appeal to older conservative folks, black or white, but I am not in that demographic....

Posted by: daylily Feb 8 2007, 07:23 PM

I used to watch 3ABN a lot when it was on SkyAngel. The programs with Arlene Taylor and the ones with Dr Bernell Baldwin on brain function and emotions were a great help to me. I watched them back in the 90's. When 3ABN was taken off SkyAngel, we didn't have it for several months until we got the smaller dish. I still enjoy 3ABN but I don't like to watch certain people on there. I enjoy the health and cooking programs, the sermons, the music. I like Hope and LLBN also but I think 3ABN has more interesting programming. Hope is catching up though:)

Yea, it's astonishing that so many will accept that the end justifies the means -- the "end" being that "the message" is going out. I find it hard to comprehend that some folks would actually equate 3ABN with the Three Angels' messages in Revelation!

We used to watch 3ABN some on Friday nights and Sabbath afternoons. I used to like "3ABN Presents" when Linda was there. They interviewed so many folks from different walks of life and different parts of the country that it gave a kaleidoscopic picture of Adventism. That was interesting.

But I personally cannot stand to watch Danny. I never much liked him, but right now it makes me ill to see him ...

(I found it curious this Christmas when my 23yo daughter-in-law shared that she had only seen Dan Shelton on TV a couple of times but he gave her the creeps because he seemed to be giving out the wrong kind of vibes ... sexual ones ... And she knew nothing of current allegations.)

HopeTV is much more sane.

oma Linda Broadcasting Network. It's available on the same dish as HopeTV and 3ABN.

Posted by: Spike Feb 8 2007, 07:56 PM

Started watching on and off back in 1989 but don't watch a lot any more I prefer hope but don't watch a lot of that either. 3abn has changed a lot over the last couple of years and seems to have a watered down messege, not sure what it is but it has a different feel to it and the cooking shows are not as good as they used to be. I did watch the other day where John Dinzy and his wife interviewed an old couple and thought they did a good job with it, they worked together as a team.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Feb 8 2007, 08:20 PM

I have watched 3abn usually when I am with my mother or back in the 90's with my inlaws. I think that 3abn appeals to older folks. Back in the 90's, I thought they had some very good speakers. Lately when I have seen it it seems there has been a change in what is being preached. At least some of the programs. I do not watch the show that Danny is in charge of. Is it something like 3abn live? I used to like the musical programs but they have changed too and I don't feel they are as uplifting as they used to be. I enjoy LLBN and the Hope channel. I really like the Sabbath afternoon musical programs from Loma Linda. I also like to hear the sermon from LL. On Friday evenings I like to listen to Doug Batchelor teach the S.S. lesson for the next day. I think these things are more relevant for my christian walk then listening to Danny especially with all that is happening at 3abn.

Daylily, I am older than you and I meant Older than me. my mom will be 83 in a few days. My inlaws were almost 90 and they watched 3abn constantly. I think it might have had something to do with the fact they couldn't remember what they saw so they just kept watching the same things over and over.

I just think that the people who have more time on their hands tend to watch more of 3abn than people who are busy doing other things.

I have had the dish 2 years. I noticed right away that there was a problem with DS. He annoyed me right away when he "interviewed" people and hogged the conversation. It annoyed me that the camera showed his face most of the time even when there were others sitting there with him. Even when others were speaking the camera sometimes focused on Danny. The other thing I noticed was that he really had nothing of substance to say, but always babbled on.

Now I can hardly stand to even look at any of the regulars. I try to watch Doug Batchelor teach the SS lesson, and sometimes catch some good programs. Recently they had A. Leroy Moore on. That man has some valuable things to say, but the woman interviewing him kept cutting him off. I wanted to tell her to shut up and let him talk. Those people who do interviews ought to be required to watch some real pros. Larry King, for one. I don't know anything about TV production, but it appears to me that the camera work at 3abn is not very good.

I like to catch Ivor Myers. Steven Bohr is really good. I pick and choose. Hope has some good programs, but I can't for the life of me understand why they keep running that old Westbrook Hospital show. I also like Clifford Goldstein, and Don Schneider has been doing some good interviews.

I was living in a high rise brick building for a long time so was not able to get the local antena 3ABN programing and was a studentso didn't get cable. Later I had cable and then was able to watch 3ABN. I was thrilled when GC was in their summer session and I got to see my youngest son play in an orchestra. He was attending AU at the time and had a chance to go to GC.

I used to watch my church service live on tv at the time. I worked evening shift and sometimes had a hard time getting up early for SS and Church service. Within the last 5-6 years I would watch more 3ABN. I got a blessing watching the various evangelistic programs. I loved the cooking classes since I had startted eating vegan about that time. At first I would be excited when 3ABN came to town but I noticed that Danny kept saying the same things each time and it got boring watching Danny uplift Danny instead of Jesus.

Recently our local tv programming changed to Hope channel. I wasn't thrilled about the idea. Watching Hope build up Hope channel turned me off. A week ago I asked someone who I thought might know why our church switched from 3ABN to Hope, this person told me 3ABN was too controlling as to when and how much time we could use for local programming. Now I rarely watch it.

When my mother who lives with me now watches it I will check online at 3ABN.org to see if I had already printed the recipes and print them if I hadn't yet. I used to love watching Linda minister to me. Many people in my area loved Linda more than Danny. Linda uplifted us to Jesus. Sometimes she brought me to tears of happiness.

When Linda was outsted I heard some strange rumers that the dear ladies at Dorcas would swear came directly from 3ABN. One lady said she had a friend working there and of course her freind would never lie. I refused to listen to the rumors. Once I wrote to 3ABN and I got a reply that said that they would honor Linda by not saying why she left. I thought that was strange. Recently I found BLACKSDA and discovered there were a lot more to the story than the rumors. Some of the rumors haven't even been addressed at BSDA.

My mother had been living near AU when Danny would go around telling his story at churches or where ever he could go to get his 3ABN going in the early days. My mother believes in Danny and will NOT listen to any 'rumors' I would have to tell her so I stay quiet to keep the peace in the family. Lately there had been a lot of repeat programming so she is not watching it as much as she used to. She dislikes Hope channel very much. I only like to watch Hope when our church service is on or when LLBN is on. Sabbath is a wonderful day to listen to sermons and music made available, even the local college church service is also aired.
3ABN is still availablein this area if you have a good antenae. My mother purchased the little satellite and can continue watching her favorite programming.

Also I miss watching Linda and Barbara Kerr with Barbara's cooking classes. They had such a good time. At least I can still watch Paula and Curtis with their cooking classes. They are fun to watch also.

My prayer is that 3ABN continues it's wonderful work to uplift Jesus to the world but without Danny Shelton, John Lomacane(spelling?) Molly and Shelly and husbands. They are dishonoring God in such a terrible way. I am ashamed of the way they have talked so terrible against another human being to the world.

Thanks for sharing your story. I would like to address 2 things. First you have read all the posts here that say 3abn has trashed Linda to the people that inquired. You tell the true tale by telling what answer you go when you wrote 3abn. They said they would honor her by not stating the reasons she left. Does that sound like trashing. You were just one of hundreds of people that got the exact response. Now if they really wanted to trash her, don't you think they would have given a much different answer?
Secondly you said you refused to listen to gossip which is commendable. Then you say you came here and found a lot more to the story. My question: What makes you think that the things you read here about Danny and Linda are anything more than gossip? As you have found, this site is mostly pro Linda. Some have never met her, some have but the real question would be what is the origination of all the allegations about Danny that would make it any more than "gossip." Linda repeatedly says she has nothing to do with this site. She states she never even looks at it. So where do these people get all of the information and how much is verified by fact compared to how much is speculation, rumor, and innuendo.

Posted by: Spike Feb 9 2007, 12:27 AM

My mother inlaw also likes Barbara and Paula and Curtis. She has all their cookbooks and has bought them for me. She really misses watching Barbara and Linda togather. I've have copied Barbara's post and am going to give them to her. She is one of those little old ladies that did not buy into the lies about Linda. When she got the letters that 3abn sent out to the supporters that Linda had an affair she stopped sending money. She thought it was very wrong the way she was treated. My mother inlaw is a very conservitive advenist but she also has a decerning heart.

The letter was sent out when Linda was fired from 3abn so I don't know if she kept it but I doubt it, why would she.
And it is my brother who is friends with Merlin and I will be giving Him the info. He said he would be happy to talk to him. That does not mean that I don't know the family. And it doesn't mean I will give you a report.

Why not? After letting you know that Merlin is at every board meeting is privy to all evidence between Linda and Danny and has a vote on every issue that pertains to 3abn, you still said you wanted to talk to him about some of the "things going on". You were told good luck. Since you want to state on the web what you or your brother plan to do, why would you care to report what Merlin has to say. That seems only fair.

You say your mother doesn't have this alleged letter. I would like to ask supporters out there that received a letter from 3abn saying that Linda had an affair to please post it.

I think it would be interesting to do another poll that asks how many people use to watch 3ABN but have stopped and then compare the two numbers.

either European or not .. what does this have to do with the Gospel Word of God. Nothing right the Channel does not go about race its about the Word of God Being proclaimed to all race.
If we black people ain't on it so much , then so be it , cause i ain't waiting to look at black people only, i would like to see different people also. remember its not about us, but about the word.

I love 3abn and all other SDA channels Like churchpond and sky angel and many others that are in the Faith and i do watch them when i find the time free, because there is always time for God in my life.

I though Ivor Myers' and Stephen Bohr's programs were outstanding.

I think a "now and then" poll on 3ABN veiwing is a good idea.

Spike, I'm glad I caught that 38 right away!

TrulyBlond, I think you're right. It djoes me good to hear the same things over and over sometimes, i.e. Biblical themes. I don't like hearing Danny ramble on and on about the same thing though.

I wonder if the change in the quality came about because of the non-SDA in charge of programing? If he wasn't an SDA and did not hold our truths dear to his heart then how could he really do a good job. Just because were told on his going away show(2-3 times) that the amount of programs went up does not mean quality went up. Why would Tommy care about SDA beliefs.

One lady said she had a friend working there and of course her freind would never lie. I refused to listen to the rumors. Once I wrote to 3ABN and I got a reply that said that they would honor Linda by not saying why she left. I thought that was strange. Recently I found BLACKSDA and discovered there were a lot more to the story than the rumors. Some of the rumors haven't even been addressed at BSDA.
> Thanks for sharing your story. I would like to address 2 things. First you have read all the posts here that say 3abn has trashed Linda to the people that inquired. You tell the true tale by telling what answer you go when you wrote 3abn. They said they would honor her by not stating the reasons she left. Does that sound like trashing. You were just one of hundreds of people that got the exact response. Now if they really wanted to trash her, don't you think they would have given a much different answer?
> Secondly you said you refused to listen to gossip which is commendable. Then you say you came here and found a lot more to the story. My question: What makes you think that the things you read here about Danny and Linda are anything more than gossip? As you have found, this site is mostly pro Linda. Some have never met her, some have but the real question would be what is the origination of all the allegations > about Danny that would make it any more than "gossip." Linda repeatedly says she has nothing to do with this site. She states she never even looks at it. So where do these people get all of the information and how much is verified by fact compared to how much is speculation, rumor, and innuendo.

My friends told me trash stuff about Linda that came straght from 3ABN. Some of them were never mentioned in here and I prefer not to because I found out that one rumor was totally false. I asked an employee about the rumor. My take on sending trash out then when people write in asking about what they hear then 3ABN says we will honor Linda. Is trashing Linda honoring her? They are talking one thing then another... someone said talking both sides of the mouth. They gave the inocent answer because they were backtracking.
Have you read the pinned letters startting from the beginning? Yep I didn't think so. have no idea if Linda has been to this site or not. I don't really care. Facts came from other people. It is obvious you have never read the other Pinned letters either. People come here looking for facts and giving heir opinions. So you don't like other people's opinions. That is your perogitive. I am also assuming you have never been to save3ABN.org. Those are facts. Of course you won't believe them because they are forged.

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Sacrificing Yourself For "the Ministry"

Posted by: Clay May 4 2006, 01:37 PM

To what extent should we sacrifice ourselves for the sake of "the ministry" or "the church?"

Listening to the dialogue now about the conditions at 3ABN, I believe that well meaning christians felt they were doing the right thing for the sake of that "ministry." My question though is this, if there is something morally or spiritually wrong with a ministry or a church, what obligation does a christian have to continue sacrificing themselves for that ministry?

At what point can it be said, this is wrong and should not be allowed to continue? Or are christians to keep silent and hope for the best?

Never! You should only sacrifice yourself, should the need arise, for people.

makes sense... sacrifice for people not things... how about ideas? The phrase being, "they sacrificed themselves for the good of the country..." Or does country = people?

Posted by: PaperTigers May 4 2006, 02:08 PM

I think saying NEVER sacrificing yourself is going a little to the extreme... There are times when I sacrifice my wants all the time for other people.. I think the line is when you, yourself are suffering from your sacrifices... whether it be physically, emotionally or spiritually. I know personally, when I was working at 3ABN there was a point in time where I didn't even want to go to church because I couldn't stand all the stuff that was going on.. That is when I knew that my sacrificing had gone too far. There is a line that you have to draw when things are good. So that when things start getting bad, you know how far you will go and then go no farther. And that line is different for every individual..
It's a matter of great prayer, because you want the good to outweight the bad, but sometimes it just doesn't.

Today, most ministries are corporations. The Corporation, itself, is a piece of paper in your Secretary of State's filing cabinet.

Why, on earth, would you sacrifice yourself for a piece of paper in a filing cabinet?

(Unless, of course, the incorporation paper is made from Strathmore's 20 percent cotton and linen blend. Otherwise, I see no sense in sacrificing yourself.)

Posted by: beartrap May 4 2006, 03:28 PM

Perhaps I am a bit jaded, but I tend to take the term "ministry" very lightly these day. Everyone with a religious agenda, and everyone out to make a buck on the religious market calls their organization (or scam) a ministry. Perhaps we should look at the meaning of the word in the American Heritage Dictionary:

ministry (n.) The act of serving; ministration.
ministry (n.) The profession, duties, and services of a minister.
ministry (n.) A governmental department presided over by a minister.

And what would be the definition of the verb "minister" minister (n.) One who is authorized to perform religious functions in a Christian church, especially a Protestant church.

minister (v.) To attend to the wants and needs of others: Volunteers ministered to the homeless after the flood. See synonyms at tend2 minister (v.) To administer or dispense (a sacrament, for example).

"The act of serving" and attending "to the wants and needs of others" generally involves some form of sacrifice for a person, or people. Under the humanitarian definition of ministry, I can see some merit in a balanced amount of self-sacrifice.

Under a religious definition of the term "ministry", I can see where people may have a burden to disseminate what they see as a superior form of religion, or set of doctrines, and would therefore engage in a certain amount of sacrifice for that cause. However, when people sacrifice deeply, as in cutting back on nourishment and climate control, for the purpose of giving what is thereby saved to a "ministry" where the leader uses a significant portion of that personal sacrifice to provide for financial excesses for himself, his family, and friends... and the people sacrificing know that their money is being used in those excesses, their sacrifice has not only gone too far, they should be reading the other 3ABN spin-off thread. They have fallen into an abusive relationship with an idea, a person, a corporation, or something.

Country implies people in that context.

I would submit that we should from the very start be on the skeptical if not jaded side.... but I digress...

Not always. Some do treat their home country and any associated symbols with a high level of almost blind allegiance. This has nothing to do with its people in most cases.

Perfect topic and I run into this problem all the time. Personally, I draw the line between serving God, and helping others. In my opinion there is a huge difference. At church, I am often times asked to do things and when I say "no" they say that I should always be willing to serve God. In my opinion, what they asked me to do has nothing to do with God, it was just something that THEY wanted done. We never seem to agree on that topic.

Example. Let's say the church decides to go out into the park and have a concert. Well to me, that is a personal choice, i may not want to go to the park. Especially, if you never asked my opinion. Often times a handful of people jump and and do stuff and expect 100 percent participation. Even if they never bother to get other opinions. If I say no, they act like I am saying no to God. My thing is, "God never told me to go to the park either. This is something YOU want to do."

10 + 5. that has nothing to do with "God", in my opinion that is a personal choice. The Bible says NOTHING about 10 + 5.

Posted by: beartrap May 5 2006, 09:44 AM

For the sake of ministry, ethics, integrity, morals, dignity, and self respect are all too often the biggest sacrifices made.

I think it all goes back to the fact that we just don't think for ourselves, and there are a whole lot of easons for that...the "group think" mentality will do more to destroy our church than any external factor MHO.

ne might make an individual choice to sacrifice himself/herself for a ministry, or church. But, such a choice oes not give that person the right to demand that other people sacrifice themselves for that ministry, or hruch.

t is never right for a ministry to demand that people sacrifice themselves for that ministry. This was the hinking of those who said that Jesus should die for the good of the nation. In other words, 3ABN did not have he right to sacrifice Mrs. Shelton for the good of 3ABN.

According to my observations throughout this whole affair, and my dealings with the main individuals affected by the ordeal, this question has often come to the surface. Linda was told - and this has been verified by others who witnessed it - that regardless if she had done something wrong or not, she must be ready to be sacrificed for the benefit of the "ministry". In this case the "ministry" was evidently one person.

At an early stage one of the head administrators of 3ABN informed me that regardless if Danny or Linda were telling the truth, Linda had to be sacrificed because Danny was able to collect more funds for 3ABN. The songs Linda wrote and sang about grace were considered too liberal for the conservative supporters, and therefore she had to leave 3ABN.

I'm not sure where to ask this but does anyone know when Pastor Samuel Thomas was employed at 3ABN and why he left? I know his is pastoring at the Orchard Park Adventist church in Chattanooga, Tennessee currently.

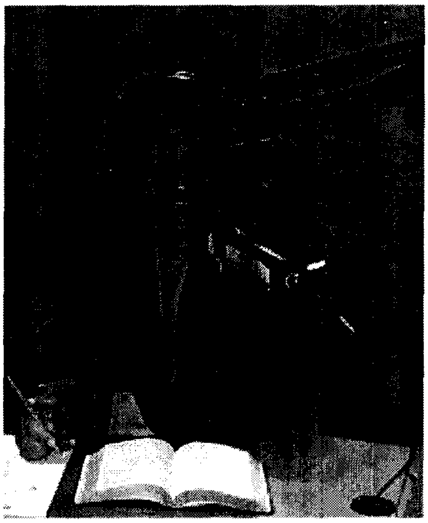
Pastor and Mrs. Thomas were interested in broadcasting and were at 3ABN when they were establishing or advancing "Transformation Broadcast Ministries." This would be about the year 2000.



http://www.tbmforchrist.org/home.htm has a Website.

If the church was built on a solid foundation things may have ended up a little different.

I remember. He and Steven Lewis started a short-lived revival series. Mrs. Thomas moderated a talk type show and Pastor Thomas preached. I thought they were in Ohio.

This is an intriguing, and quite different, twist as to the base cause of Linda being ousted. I wonder if you would give us more detail on this. When and how were the songs criticized? And how does "liberal" and "grace" connect together?

Not quite... the Church is built on a sure foundation... the church, however, varies at best.

Just as the word of God is not the Word of God... the church and the Church are not the same; the former can be a subset of the latter... it can also have no part in the latter.

nope... there is "the church" and there is "The Church." I think BroJ was referring to The Church.... as opposed to some man made church...

How presumptious can a person get? Sacrificing oneself for a ministry? Good Lord! Do people actually think that God is so weak that he can't take care of himself? He needs people to sacrifice themselves to protect him?

not a problem.... threads get long and wander all over the place..... my original thought was that it is dangerous to commit yourself to a ministry to the point that you cannot see its fatal flaws....

These questions seem very important in this discussion, because at one point the message was given to Linda by one of those counsellors 3ABN is referring to so often, that regardless if she was guilty or not, Linda should be willing to be sacrificed for the benefit of this ministry which means so much to the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Danny indicated, also in letters to me, that Linda could be restored if she would admit that she had comitted adultery. Why should she admit she had done something she never had? Why did Danny need this admission from her so badly?

I was in e-mail correspondance with both Linda and Danny before they went for counselling in Kansas. Walt Thompson makes the statement that 3ABN chose those non-SDA counsellor for Linda's sake. Danny refused to go there, because it was Linda's sister who suggested they go there, as far as I recall.

It was after Danny was assured the counsellors were Bible-believing Christians he agreed to go there, and he told me that he would go there for one purpose: If they were Bible-believing they would agree with him that he had a Biblical mandate to divorce Linda and marry someone else.

You can therefore imagine that the reports I received after that counselling session from Danny did not agree with the reports Linda gave me. What Linda told me as they returned home was that Danny had offerend to give the counsellors a donation for the benefit of their ministry, and from then on most of the counselling, which lasted many hours, was done by Danny.

People who know Danny Shelton, or have been interviewd by him on TV, will recognize the situation, and know who gives a good portion of the answers during those interviews. Danny has a special way of insisting that someone else said what he actually said himself.

ome feel that the Lord could use Danny's ability to manipulate to do a specific job for HIM, estabishing a vorld-wide TV network. The question is now if Danny is justified in using his great ability to manipulate to ustify his desire/need to rid himself of his wife and marrying a much younger woman. He has manipulted his astor, his conference president, his staff, his board, and incountable others to paint a distorted picture of vhat happened and justiftying his actions.

tay tuned for a verification. . .

Those who believe this completely miss the point that God doesnt work from the devil's toolbox. The end does not justify the means.

Of course since those that believe it seem to be in a trusting state of mind I might have a bridge in Brooklyn for sale... cash only, in small bills...danke

Seems to work for Danny, sooooo....

While reading through some posts from almost a year ago, I came across this thread. I saw enough discussion in here that I thought it might be educational for some of the newbies who may not yet have had time to read all the posts on this subject.

I have found the posts about LS needing to be sacrificed and the counselling recommendations she received interesting in view of some of the recent discussions on these issues.

NW;

I am appalled at the behavior of some to bury honest posts to make them disappear. There should be ruled about people burying posts of others at their whim!

Calvin, please do not let this happen next Friday. NW has a valid point to post in her posting here and in the Sexual Assault thread.

This is totally uncalled for! It takes a lot of time to dig and find the honest post vs the manipulative posts!

I don't know what you are talking about, nor am I going to take the time to investigate. I don't share your interest and that of many of those who regularly (many exclusively) post in these threads. There are a lot more interesting and certainly more timely discussions going on at BSDA than somebodies 3 year old messy divorce. Maybe Clay or Di will be interested in honoring your request.

Thanks NW for the suggestion to read this thread. Thanks BSDA for the good information.

I agree Fran. I also noticed Seraphim trying to bury some of the threads by bringing up dozens of old ones with nothing to say about them. I thought that was a strange thing to do just before Sabbath.

Ok... we'll play connect the dots for you...

You are a professed Christian and as such you should be striving to live the golden rule... which is "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets." Matthew 7:12

You and Ser|phm have done the same thing; she has simply done it more than you...

You want people to believe that your doing it has no ulterior motive or intent...but you presume and proclaim Ser|phm's motivation and intent to be different than your own in a negative manner with no evidence to show that to be the case and in spite of the golden rule...

And then you proclaim that you don't think it's worth breathing fire about... but apparently it is worth shouting fire in a crowded theater about... whether or not said fire actually exists... as long as someone other than yourself is being accused of being the fire starter...

Mr. J

Mr J;

Lee was the name I saw on almost all of the top posts when I came to read on Friday night. I believe Lee's motivation was quite different from Ser|phm's motives! It is kind of like bidding on eBay. The last one to bid wins the prize!

Ser|phm's motivation was NOT malicious. Lee, on the other hand, takes delight in belittling others. She/he has been doing it for years. She/he has had a lot of practice! I have followed her/his career of trashing people for years now.

She/he can change their names, but the character always shines through. Her/his motives are highly suspect in my opinion!

This is Lee's way of casting the blame for her/his actions onto her. She/he falsely sees everything that way. It is called, being blind to your own faults. You see, Lee, like Danny, has no faults, in there eyes at least.

Mr J; All of this is entirely my opinion.

You may have been to the offering places where they cut the heart out of a living girl to use as a sacrifice. Idolatry is still not too far from us, and it will be getting worse as we come closer to the Second Coming of Christ.

These are all good questions. And here is another one. Is it the "ministry" folks are sacrificing themselves for, or is it for the ego of those who claim to be "called of God"? Are people sacrificing their conscience out of obligation to the "ministry" or are they allowing themselves to be manipulated to keep peace while they themselves have no peace of mind or heart?

Is the sacrifice they think they are making, for the "ministry", worth what it will cost more victims? Please do not fool yourselves, because there are and will be more victims sacrificed as long as you continue to sacrifice your conscience.

have noticed that when guilt is pretty well proven, people are called to let the guilty one off because it will urt his or her family, the ministry, the reputation of the church etc. It is like them holding someone hostage, ointing a gun at this person's head and saying, "Let me do what I want or I will shoot and it will be your ault". Now whose fault would it really be?

When sister said...

Take a long look at yourself in the mirror, Bystander... What is written upon your forehead?

...here's what first came to mind: what's worse, calling someone you don't know an adulterer (and being wrong), or calling someone you do know an adulterer (and being wrong)?

Obviously, for someone to call their wife an adulterer, based on wishful thinking, is worse than a stranger calling a man an adulterer based on deductive logic.

Adultry is not spiritual adultry. If you think Jesus was hard on the Pharisees for dragging up a woman caught in the act, imagine what he would have said if they drug her up caught in the act of fantasizing? Only God can judge that.

Tommy Shelton admitted to what he did in a letter to one of the victims. He had sex with a child; therefore he is a molester. What's the lie in that?

We tend to "bump up" old post from time to time. I even have a old thread about "I can't post anymore!!!" because I had posted on like 30 different threads in one day (old and new)! Why? I was bored at my house, I dug up some "old stuff" that I had asked/commented on, and I wanted to see what else could be said about the subject.

It's not all about Danny, 3ABN, and Molestation you know....there's health, there's regular old "news", there's LIFE people! Why now can somebody not LIVE IT by posting on something else?

You want a thread brought back up? Go find it using the "search option" and post on it. It's just as easy as posting in the 3 ABN threads....

Mountains outta molehills.....

Exactly!

Now I'm off to "flood" my board with other posts as I am bored, on Spring Break, and having a good day!

Hello LaurenceD--what kind of work do you do? Perhaps you are a computer engineer?

The correct spelling for adultery has an "e" in it...it isn't adultry. You're right though, only God can judge certain sins. That is why we are told not to "judge" others hearts. However, we can tell an awful lot by the "fruits." If a person who is married is going off on a romantic trip with someone other than their spouse, that should tell an awful lot, don't you think?

If you want to nitpick spelling, tell Bystander that "babtism" should actually be "baptism" and there's no such thing as being sued for "liable."

Please help me out here, since I don't have anyone to call and ask. What would be some dates of such trips taken by Linda? I have read that there are supposed to be "many", so 4 or 5 examples would suffice.

(dates is all that is necessary at this point, I'm sure that with that info, I can research the two viewpoints on those occurrances, since most aspects of this has already been discussed ad nauseam on this forum.)

Thanks.

Hello. I work at several different jobs, busier that your average person, but am able to wander past this computer from time to time, and look in...it varies.

Thanks for the correction on the spelling. I don't use the spell check feature and sometimes the keys on my computer have such a soft touch, they don't depress far enough to register the letter I attempted. But, and in good mutual humor, and as my grandfather use to say, "same distance to ya!" I thought I'd look back through your own posts for spelling, and lo and behold halfway throught the first page, what do I see? You spelled intelligent with one l! That's almost an oxymoron!

> QUOTE(Lee @ Mar 12 2007, 08:15 PM)

Just a little advice: don't become so wise at detecting what's wrong with everyone else, to the tiniest degree. That kind of mindset is the soil in which off-shoots grow, and it's sure to boomerang on ya!

Re your comment, "If a person who is married is going off on a romantic trip with someone other than their spouse, that should tell an awful lot, don't you think?" Yes it should, but how different is that from impugnment by presupposition?. Your statement is loaded with judgementalism and unwarranted implication. How do you know it's intended to be romantic? How do you know you know? What's your definition of "romantic?" How far can you apply your definition to the case? What if the intentions actually headed south from the start, and were never fulfilled?

See why it's best to leave fantasizing, and so-called fantasizing, to God, and not some human fact-finding committee that is obviously way off base even trying to reach a conclusion through such an endeavor? What would Jesus do? Warn against lust of the heart, and wait till someone is actually caught in adultery before the stoning begins. And then, let those who are w/o sin cast the first stone.

See how different Christ is?

Why not ask Duane, before you run your mouth, as the only letter from T.S. was to him? Hint: you just claimed two things he denied, and that he got upset about.

But I am sure you'll never believe me, so here you go:

Duane Clem:
"I have never used the words "child molestation" in reference to myself. You're beating a dead horse."

No, Aletheia, Duane is the wrong one to ask. One should instead ask Roger and Greg regarding child molestation, since they claim to have been victims of that.

Well Duane, just like there is a difference between a typing error and a misspelled word--I believe Bystander was just typing fast and got those words wrong. But LaurenceD spelled adultery several times the incorrect way. It is too bad we don't have spell check on here to make it easier. But I wasn't trying to nitpick at all.

from-the-pew--for an answer to your question, I'm sure if you phoned 3abn, someone there perhaps could tell you the facts.

You should pay attention. PrincessDrRe was claiming Tommy Shelton admitted to having sex with a child in a letter. That is false.

As for your other two, got anything concrete in writing or with their signature on it yet??

t would be interesting to get the "facts."

Before Danny divorced Linda she made one trip to Norway to visit her son, and Brenda was along. It lasted hree and a half days. I met them all there at the time, and I never saw any romance.

What other facts can be told that are not pure fiction?

With all the mud slung at Linda, Johann's note is a good factual reminder.

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Sda Church Discipline

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 10 2007, 11:53 AM

Since this began the subject keeps cropping up in various topics and threads from both sides in these issues. I thought it would be helpful, and a valuable reference for all here, to post the Chapter on Church discipline from the most recent ediition of the SDA Church manual. Hopefully that's ok. Discussion about how things apply, and have or haven't been done may follow...

It can be found online here in pdf format:

CHAPTER 14

Church Discipline

General Principles

The attention of all ministers, church officers, and members is called to the important quotations in this chapter from the Spirit of Prophecy. These statements are worthy of careful and prayerful study; they set forth in clear, unmistakable language the solemn responsibility that rests upon the people of God in maintaining the purity, the integrity, and the spiritual fervor of the church. If members grow cold and indifferent, the church must seek to arouse them from their lethargy. Should some be drifting away from the truth, efforts must be made to bring them back into the narrow way.

Dealing With Erring Members— "In dealing with erring church members, God's people are carefully to follow the instruction given by the Saviour in the eighteenth chapter of Matthew."—Testimonies, vol. 7, p. 260.

"Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican. Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven" (Matt. 18:15-18).

"Human beings are Christ's property, purchased by Him at an infinite price, bound to Him by the love that He and His Father have manifested for them. How careful, then, we should be in our dealing with one another! Men have no right to surmise evil in regard to their fellow men. Church members have no right to follow their own impulses and inclinations in dealing with fellow members who have erred. They should not even express their prejudices regarding the erring, for thus they place in other minds the leaven of evil. Reports unfavorable to a brother or sister in the church are communicated from one to another of the church members. Mistakes are made and injustice is done because of an unwillingness on the part of some one to follow the directions given by the Lord Jesus.

" 'If thy brother shall trespass against thee,' Christ declared, 'go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone.' Matthew 18:15. Do not tell others of the wrong. One person is told, then another, and still another; and continually the report grows, and the evil increases, till the whole church is made to suffer. Settle the matter 'between thee and him alone.' This is God's plan. 'Go not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbor hath put thee to shame. Debate thy cause with thy neighbor himself; and discover not a secret to another.' Proverbs 25:8, 9. Do not suffer sin upon your brother; but do not expose him, and thus increase the difficulty, making the reproof seem like a revenge. Correct him in the way outlined in the word of God."—Testimonies, vol. 7, pp. 260, 261.

To Seek Reconciliation—" Do not suffer resentment to ripen into malice. Do not allow the wound to fester and break out in poisoned words, which taint the minds of those who hear. Do not allow bitter thoughts to continue to fill your mind and his. Go to your brother, and in humility and sincerity talk with him about the matter.

"Whatever the character of the offense, this does not change the plan that God has made for the settlement of misunderstandings and personal injuries. Speaking alone and in the spirit of Christ to the one who is in fault will often remove the difficulty. Go to the erring one, with a heart filled with Christ's love and sympathy, and seek to adjust the matter. Reason with him calmly and quietly. Let no angry words escape your lips. Speak in a way that will appeal to his better judgment. Remember the words: 'He which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.' James 5:20.

"Take to your brother the remedy that will cure the disease of disaffection. Do your part to help him. For the sake of the peace and unity of the church, feel it a privilege as well as a duty to do this. If he will hear you, you have gained him as a friend.

"All heaven is interested in the interview between the one who has been injured and the one who is in error. As the erring one accepts the reproof offered in the love of Christ, and acknowledges his wrong, asking forgiveness from God and from his brother, the sunshine of heaven fills his heart. The controversy is ended; friendship and confidence are restored. The oil of love removes the soreness caused by the wrong. The Spirit of God binds heart to heart, and there is music in heaven over the union brought about."—Testimonies, vol. 7, pp. 261, 262.

"As those thus united in Christian fellowship offer prayer to God and pledge themselves to deal justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with God, great blessing comes to them. If they have wronged others they continue the work of repentance, confession, and restitution, fully set to do good to one another. This is the fulfilling of the law of Christ.

" 'But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.' Matthew 18:16. Take with you those who are spiritually minded, and talk with the one in error in regard to the wrong. He may yield to the united appeals of his brethren. As he sees their agreement in the matter his mind may be enlightened.

" 'And if he shall neglect to hear them,' what then shall be done? Shall a few persons in a board meeting take upon themselves the responsibility of disfellowshiping the erring one? 'If he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church.' Verse 17. Let the church take action in regard to its members."—Testimonies, vol. 7, p. 262.

" 'But if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.' Verse 17. If he will not heed the voice of the church, if he refuses all the efforts made to reclaim him, upon the church rests the responsibility of separating him from fellowship. His name should then be stricken from the books.

"No church officer should advise, no committee should recommend, nor should any church vote, that the name of a wrong doer shall be removed from the church books, until the instruction given by Christ has been faithfully followed. When this instruction has been followed, the church has cleared herself before God. The evil must then be made to appear as it is, and must be removed, that it may not become more and more widespread. The health and purity of the church must be preserved, that she may stand before God unsullied, clad in the robes of Christ's righteousness. . . .

" 'Verily I say unto you,' Christ continued, 'whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.' Verse 18.

"This statement holds its force in all ages. On the church has been conferred the power to act in Christ's stead. It is God's instrumentality for the preservation of order and discipline among His people. To it the Lord has delegated the power to settle all questions respecting its prosperity, purity, and order. Upon it rests the responsibility of excluding from its fellowship those who are unworthy, who by their un-Christlike conduct would bring dishonor on the truth. Whatever the church does that is in accordance with the directions given in God's word will be ratified in heaven."—Testimonies, vol. 7, pp. 262, 263. (Italics supplied.)

""Matters of grave import come up for settlement by the church. God's ministers, ordained by Him as guides of His people, after doing their part are to submit the whole matter to the church, that there may be unity in the decision made.

"The Lord desires His followers to exercise great care in dealing with one another. They are to lift up, to restore, to heal. But there is to be in the church no neglect of proper discipline. The members are to regard themselves as pupils in a school, learning how to form characters worthy of their high calling. In the church here below, God's children are to be prepared for the great reunion in the church above. Those who here live in harmony with Christ may look forward to an endless life in the family of the redeemed."—Testimonies, vol. 7, pp. 263, 264.

Authority of the Church—" The world's Redeemer has invested great power with His church. He states the rules to be applied in cases of trial with its members. After He has given explicit directions as to the course to be pursued, He says: 'Verily I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever [in church discipline] ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.' Thus even the heavenly authority ratifies the discipline of the church in regard to its members when the Bible rule has been followed.

"The word of God does not give license for one man to set up his judgment in opposition to the judgment of the church, neither is he allowed to urge his opinions against the opinions of the church. If there were no church discipline and government, the church would go to fragments; it could not hold together as a body."—Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 428.

Church Responsible for Dealing With Sin—"God holds His people, as a body, responsible for the sins existing in individuals among them. If the leaders of the church neglect to diligently search out the sins which bring the displeasure of God upon the body, they become responsible for these sins."—Testimonies, vol. 3, p. 269.

"He would teach His people that disobedience and sin are exceedingly offensive to Him, and are not to be lightly regarded. He shows us that when His people are found in sin they should at once take decided measures to put that sin from them, that His frown may not rest upon them all. But if the sins of the people are passed over by those in responsible positions, His frown will be upon them, and the people of God, as a body, will be held responsible for those sins. In His dealings with His people in the past the Lord shows the necessity of purifying the church from wrongs. One sinner may diffuse darkness that will exclude the light of God from the entire congregation. When the people realize that darkness is settling upon them, and they do not know the cause, they should seek God earnestly, in great humility and self-abasement, until the wrongs which grieve His Spirit are searched out and put away. . . .

"If wrongs are apparent among His people, and if the servants of God pass on indifferent to them, they virtually sustain and justify the sinner, and are alike guilty and will just as surely receive the displeasure of God; for they will be made responsible for the sins of the guilty. In vision I have been pointed to many instances where the displeasure of God has been incurred by a neglect on the part of His servants to deal with the wrongs and sins existing among them. Those who have excused these wrongs have been thought by the people to be very amiable and lovely in disposition, simply because they shunned to discharge a plain Scriptural duty. The task was not agreeable to their feelings; therefore they avoided it."—Testimonies, vol. 3, pp. 265, 266.

Unconsecrated Resist Church Discipline—"There are many who do not have the discretion of Joshua and who have no special duty to search out wrongs and to deal promptly with the sins existing among them. Let not such hinder those who have the burden of this work upon them; let them not stand in the way of those who have this duty to do. Some make it a point to question and doubt and find fault because others do the work that God has not laid upon them. These stand directly in the way to hinder those upon whom God has laid the burden of reproving and correcting prevailing sins in order that His frown may be turned away from His people. Should a case like Achan's be among us, there are many who would accuse those who might act the part of Joshua in searching out the wrong, of having a wicked, faultfinding spirit. God is not to be trifled with and His warnings disregarded with impunity by a perverse people.

"I was shown that the manner of Achan's confession was similar to the confessions that some among us have made and will make. They hide their wrongs and refuse to make a voluntary confession until God searches them out, and then they acknowledge their sins. A few persons pass on in a course of wrong until they become hardened. They may even know that the church is burdened, as Achan knew that Israel were made weak before their enemies because of his guilt. Yet their consciences do not condemn them. They will not relieve the church by humbling their proud, rebellious hearts before God and putting away their wrongs. God's displeasure is upon His people, and He will not manifest His power in the midst of them while sins exist among them and are fostered by those in responsible positions.

"Those who work in the fear of God to rid the church of hindrances and to correct grievous wrongs, that the people of God may see the necessity of abhorring sin and may prosper in purity, and that the name of God may be glorified, will ever meet with resisting influences from the unconsecrated."—Testimonies, vol. 3, pp. 270, 271.

Rules and Regulations Necessary "Brethren, never allow anyone's ideas to unsettle your faith in regard to the order and harmony which should exist in the church. . . . The God of heaven is a God of order, and He requires all His followers to have rules and regulations, and to preserve order."—Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 274

Self-appointed Organizations—The church in its organized capacity is God's instrumentality for preserving order and discipline among His people. Its God-given message is borne to the world not only by the personal testimony of the individual member but in the corporate witness of the church as the body of Christ. Such corporate witness requires the recognized administrative structure that has been established with all duly elected officers and all properly organized channels of work such as the Sabbath School, Personal Ministries, Youth organizations, et cetera. It also acknowledges such self-supporting institutions whose activities contribute to the attainment of the church's objectives. Therefore, although all members have equal rights within the church, no individual member or group of members should start a movement or form an organization or seek to encourage a following for the attainment of any objective or for the teaching of any doctrine or message not in harmony with the fundamental religious objectives and teachings of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. Such a course would result in the fostering of a factional and divisive spirit, in the fragmenting of the effort and witness of the church, and thus in hindering it in the discharge of its obligations to its Head and to the world.

Safeguarding the Unity of the Church

Christians should make every effort to avoid tendencies that would divide them and bring dishonor to their cause. "It is the purpose of God that His children shall blend in unity. Do they not expect to live together in the same heaven? . . . Those who refuse to work in harmony greatly dishonor God."—Testimonies, vol. 8, p. 240. The church should discour-age every action that would threaten harmony among its members and should consistently encourage unity.

Reconciliation of differences within the church and its membership should, in most cases, be possible without recourse either to a conciliation process provided by the church or to civil litigation. "If matters of difficulty between brethren were not laid open before others, but frankly spoken of between themselves in the spirit of Christian love, how much evil might be prevented! How many roots of bitterness whereby many are defiled would be destroyed, and how closely and tenderly might the followers of Christ be united in His love!"—Thoughts From the Mount of Blessing, p. 59. (See Matt. 18:15-18 and pp. 188-190.)

Settlement of Differences Among Members—Every effort should be made to settle differences among church members and contain the controversy within the smallest possible sphere. "Contentions, strife, and lawsuits between brethren are a disgrace to the cause of truth. Those who take such a course expose the church to the ridicule of her enemies and cause the powers of darkness to triumph. They are piercing the wounds of Christ afresh and putting Him to an open shame. By ignoring the authority of the church they show contempt for God, who gave to the church its authority."—Testimonies, vol. 5, pp. 242, 243.

Civil litigation is often carried on in a spirit of contention that results from and reveals human selfishness. It is this kind of adversary proceedings that must be discouraged by a church that seeks to exhibit the spirit of Christ. Christian unselfishness will lead followers of Christ to suffer themselves to be defrauded (1 Cor. 6:7) rather than to 'go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints' (1 Cor. 6:1).

While there are, in the modern world, occasions for seeking decrees of civil courts, Christians should prefer settlement within the authority of the church, and should limit the seeking of such decrees to cases that are clearly within the jurisdiction of the civil courts and not within the authority of the church or for which the church agrees it has no adequate process for orderly settlement. Such suits before civil courts should never become revengeful adversary proceedings but should develop out of a desire to seek arbitration and to settle differences amicably. Examples of such cases may include, but are not limited to, the settlement of insurance claims, the issuance of decrees affecting the boundaries and ownership of real property, the deciding of some matters involving the administration of estates, and the awarding of custody of minor children. While the church should set up procedures within the constraints of legal practice to avoid the type of litigation referred to in 1 Corinthians 6, it should constantly be on guard against turning from its gospel mission and taking up the duties of a civil magistrate. (See Luke 12:13, 14 and Testimonies, vol. 9, pp. 216-218.)

God's ideal for members of His church is that they should, as far as possible, "live peaceably with all men" (Rom. 12:18). The church should use its readily accessible and reasonably prompt process by which many differences among members can be settled. Should the church fail to respond to a member's request for help in reconciling a difference, or if the church acknowledges that the nature of the case is such that it is not within its authority, it should be recognized that the member has exhausted the possibilities of the biblically outlined procedure for the settlement of differences and that what he/she should do beyond that point is a matter for his/her conscience. (See The SDA Bible Commentary, vol. 6, p. 698.)

However, when the church, endeavoring to assist in timely and amicable settlement of differences among its members, recommends a solution, they should not summarily reject the recommendation the church has offered. It is no light matter for a church member, outside the orderly processes of the church, to litigate a grievance against another church member. "Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another" (1 Cor. 6:7).

Church members who demonstrate impatience and selfishness by their unwillingness to wait for and accept recommendations of the church in the settlement of grievances against other church members may properly be subject to the discipline of the church (see p. 189) because of the disruptive effect on the church and their refusal to recognize properly constituted church authority.

Settlement of Grievances of Members Against the Church—The same principles that influence resolution of differences among members apply to the settlement of grievances of members against church organizations and institutions.

A church member should not instigate litigation against any entity of the church except under circumstances where the church has not provided adequate process for orderly settlement of the grievance within the church, or where the nature of the case is such that it is clearly not within the authority of the church to settle.

Settlement of Grievances of the Church Against Members—There may be times when church organizations or institutions will have grievances against church members. At such times, church administrators must, in Christian forbearance, keep in mind the biblical counsel for settling disputes among Christians and apply that counsel to the settlement of grievances of the church against its members. The church should, in preference to litigating matters in a secular court, make every reasonable effort in cooperation with the member to provide a process by which orderly settlement of the problem can be accomplished.

Administering Discipline

If a member falls into sin, sincere efforts must be made for reclamation. "If the erring one repents and submits to Christ's discipline, he is to be given another trial. And even if he does not repent, even if he stands outside the church, God's servants still have a work to do for him. They are to seek earnestly to win him to repentance. And, however aggravated may have been his offense, if he yields to the striving of the Holy Spirit and, by confessing and forsaking his sin, gives evidence of repentance, he is to be forgiven and welcomed to the fold again. His brethren are to encourage him in the right way, treating him as they would wish to be treated were they in his place, considering themselves lest they also be tempted."—Testimonies, vol. 7, p. 263.

"We are nearing the judgment, and those who bear the message of warning to the world must have clean hands and pure hearts. They must have a living connection with God. The thoughts must be pure and holy, the soul untainted, the body, soul, and spirit be a pure, clean offering to God, or He will not accept it."—Testimonies to Ministers, p. 426.

"Sin and sinners in the church must be promptly dealt with, that others may not be contaminated. Truth and purity require that we make more thorough work to cleanse the camp from Achans. Let those in responsible positions not suffer sin in a brother. Show him that he must either put away his sins or be separated from the church."—Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 147.

When grievous sins are involved, disciplinary measures must be taken. There are two ways by which this may be done:

1. By a vote of censure.

2. By a vote to remove from church membership.

There may be cases where the offense is not considered by the church to be so serious as to warrant the extreme course of removing the offending member from church membership, yet it may be sufficiently serious to call for an expression of disapproval. Such disapproval may be expressed by a vote of censure.

Censure has a twofold purpose:

1. To enable the church to express its disapproval of a grievous offense that has brought disgrace upon the cause of God.

2. To impress the offending member with the need for amendment of life and reformation in conduct; also to extend to the individual a period of grace and probation during which these steps might be taken.

194 CHURCH MANUAL

Discipline by Censure

An erring member may be placed under censure by a vote of the church at any duly called business meeting of the church, provided the member concerned has been notified. The individual may be present if he/she so desires. A vote of censure is for a stated period of time, from a minimum of one month to a maximum of twelve months; it terminates the erring one's election or appointment to any and all offices he/she may hold in the church and removes the privilege of election to office while under censure. A member under censure has no right to participate by voice or by vote in the affairs of the church and can have no public part in the exercises thereof, such as teaching a Sabbath School class, et cetera. Neither may the individual's membership be transferred to another church during the period of censure. He/She is not deprived, however, of the privilege of sharing the blessings of Sabbath School, church worship, or the ordinances of the Lord's house. A vote of censure must not carry any provision involving severance of church membership in case of failure to comply with any conditions imposed. Proper inquiry should be made at the expiration of the period of censure to ascertain whether the member under discipline has changed course. If observed conduct is satisfactory, the individual may then be considered in regular standing without further action. If observed conduct is not satisfactory, the case should again be considered and such discipline administered as is required. Any return to church office must be by election.

Discipline by Removal From Church Membership

Removing an individual from membership in the church, the body of Christ, is always a serious matter; it is the ultimate in the discipline that the church can administer; it is the extreme measure that can be meted out by the church. Only after the instruction given in this chapter has been followed, and after all possible efforts have been made to win and restore him/her to right paths, should this kind of discipline be used. It would be advisable to secure counsel from the pastor of the church or, if he is not available, from the conference/mission/field president before any action is taken by the church, when such a step is contemplated.

I thought 3ABN was completely independent of the SDA church? So what does this have to do with anything??

Posted by: Aletheia Apr 10 2007, 12:11 PM

Reasons for Which Members Shall Be Disciplined

Reasons for which members shall be subject to discipline are as follows:

1. Denial of faith in the fundamentals of the gospel and in the cardinal doctrines of the church or teaching doctrines contrary to the same.

2. Violation of the law of God, such as worship of idols, murder, stealing, profanity, gambling, Sabbathbreaking, and willful and habitual falsehood.

3. Violation of the seventh commandment of the law of God as it relates to the marriage institution, the Christian home, and biblical standards of moral conduct.

4. Such violations as fornication, promiscuity, incest, homosexual practice, sexual abuse of children and vulnerable adults, and other sexual perversions, and the remarriage of a divorced person, except of the spouse who has remained faithful to the marriage vow in a divorce for adultery or for sexual perversions.

5. Physical violence, including violence within the family.

6. Fraud or willful misrepresentation in business.

7. Disorderly conduct which brings reproach upon the church.

8. Adhering to or taking part in a divisive or disloyal movement or organization. (See p. 190.)

9. Persistent refusal to recognize properly constituted church authority or to submit to the order and discipline of the church.

10. The use, manufacture, or sale of alcoholic beverages.

11. The use, manufacture, or sale of tobacco in any of its forms for human consumption.

12. The misuse of, or trafficking in, narcotics or other drugs.

The Seventh-day Adventist Church recognizes the need of exercising great care to protect the highest spiritual interests of its members, to ensure fair treatment, and to safeguard the name of the church.

In a case of transgression of the commandments of God where there is deep repentance and full and free confession, giving evidence that genuine conversion has taken place, the church may administer discipline by placing the transgressor under censure for a stated period of time.

However, in a case of flagrant violations of the law of God which have brought public reproach upon the church, the church may deem it necessary, even though a sincere confession has been made, to remove an individual from church membership to protect its name and its Christian standards. Later, when it is evident that the individual's life is consistent with church standards, the offender may be received back into the church after rebaptism. The church cannot afford to deal lightly with such sins nor permit personal considerations to affect its actions. It must register its decisive and emphatic disapproval of the sins of fornication, adultery, all acts of moral indiscretion, and other grievous sins; at the same time it must do everything to restore and reclaim the erring ones. As the world continually grows more lax in moral matters, the church must not lower the standards set by God.

Timeliness in the Disciplinary Process

It is the duty of the church to care for the disciplinary process within a reasonable time and then communicate its decisions with kindness and promptness. The application of discipline is a painful process in itself. One thing that increases the frustration and the suffering of the individual member and the local church itself is the delay in administering the discipline.

Caution in Disciplining Members

"Christ has plainly taught that those who persist in open sin must be separated from the church, but He has not committed to us the work of judging character and motive. He knows our nature too well to entrust this work to us. Should we try to uproot from the church those whom we suppose to be spurious Christians, we should be sure to make mistakes. Often we regard as hopeless subjects the very ones whom Christ is drawing to Himself. Were we to deal with these souls according to our imperfect judgment, it would perhaps extinguish their last hope. Many who think themselves Christians will at last be found wanting. Many will be in heaven who their neighbors supposed would never enter there. Man judges from appearance, but God judges the heart. The tares and the wheat are to grow together until the harvest; and the harvest is the end of probationary time. There is in the Saviour's words another lesson, a lesson of wonderful forbearance and tender love. As the tares have their roots closely intertwined with those of the good grain, so false brethren in the church may be closely linked with true disciples. The real character of these pretended believers is not fully manifested. Were they to be separated from the church, others might be caused to stumble, who but for this would have remained steadfast."—Christ's Object Lessons, pp. 71, 72.

Ministers or Churches Not to Establish Tests of Fellowship—A minister, an individual church, or a conference/mission/field does not have the authority to set up or establish tests of fellowship for the denomination. This authority rests with the entire church body and is exercised through the regularly constituted organization of the church in the General Conference. Anyone seeking to apply tests other than those herein set forth does not, therefore, properly represent the church.

"God is leading out a people, not a few separate individuals here and there, one believing this thing, another that. Angels of God are doing the work committed to their trust. The third angel is leading out and purifying a people, and they should move with him unitedly. Some run ahead of the angels that are leading this people; but they have to retrace every step, and meekly follow no faster than the angels lead." —Testimonies, vol. 1, p. 207.

At a Duly Called Meeting—Members may be disciplined by the church for sufficient cause, but only at a duly called business meeting of the church after the church board has reviewed the case. The meeting must be presided over by an ordained minister or a licensed minister who is ordained as a local elder of the church concerned or, in his absence and in counsel with him or with the conference/mission/field president, a local ordained elder of the church concerned.

Majority Vote—Members may be removed from church membership or otherwise disciplined only by a majority vote of the members present and voting at a duly called meeting. ". . . the majority of the church is a power which should control its individual members."—Testimonies, vol. 5, p. 107.

Church Board Cannot Remove From Church Membership—The church board may recommend to the church in a business meeting the removal of a member from church membership, but under no circumstances does a church board have the right to take final action. Except in the case of the death of a member, the clerk of the church can remove a name from the church records only on a vote of the church in a business meeting.

Right of the Member to Be Heard in Defense—It is a fundamental principle of justice that every member has the right to be heard in his/her own defense and to introduce evidence and produce witnesses. No church should vote to remove a member from church membership under circumstances that deprive an individual of this right, if one chooses to exercise it. Due notice should be given by the church to the member of its intention to consider the problem, thus giving the opportunity for the individual to appear.

Lawyers Not to Represent Members—The work of the church in its administration of order and discipline is an ecclesiastical function and, in no sense, has to do with civil or legal procedure; therefore, the church does not recognize the right of any member to bring a lawyer to represent him/her in any church meeting or council called to administer order or discipline or for the transaction of any business relating to the church. Therefore, our members should be informed that they will not be given a hearing if they endeavor to bring a lawyer into the meeting for such a purpose. The church should also exclude all nonmembers from any church meeting or council called for the administration of church order or discipline, except as they may be called as witnesses.

Members Not to Be Removed From Church Membership for Nonattendance—Absentees should be faithfully visited by the church leadership, and each should be encouraged to revive church attendance, explaining the seriousness of neglecting the obligation of church membership in deliberately absenting oneself for indefinite periods of time and making no report of one's faith and hope to the church. When because of age, infirmity, or other unavoidable cause a member finds it impossible to attend divine worship regularly, it should be considered an obligation to keep in contact with the church leaders by letter or by other means. However, as long as a person is loyal to the doctrines of the church, nonattendance at church services shall not be considered sufficient cause for removal from church membership.

Members Moving Away and Not Reporting—When members move away from the vicinity, it is their duty to inform the church elder or clerk as to their new location and address. While they remain members of that church they should recognize their responsibility of reporting regularly to the church and sending in their tithes and offerings. It is desirable for such a report to be sent at least once each quarter. If, however, such a member leaves no address behind and makes no effort to reach the home church or send a report and it is found impossible to locate the missing member, then, after an absence of two years, an individual may be removed from the membership of the church by a vote of the church, provided the church officers can certify that they have faithfully endeavored to locate the person but without success. The clerk should record in the proper column, "Whereabouts unknown. Voted to designate as missing."

Members Not to Be Removed for Pecuniary Reasons—A member should never be removed from the church records on account of one's inability or failure to render financial help to any of the causes of the church. Church membership rests primarily on a spiritual basis. It is the duty of every member to support the work of the church in a financial way to the extent of one's ability, but an individual should never be deprived of membership simply through inability or failure to render financial help to any of the causes of the church.

Removing a Member From Membership on Personal Request—Great care should be exercised in dealing with a member who requests to be removed from membership. Although we recognize the right of an individual to decide whether or not to belong to the church, ample time should be given such a member for sober thought and reflection, and every effort made to restore these individuals to a satisfactory experience. Letters of resignation should be presented to the church board, which will forward them to the church at a duly called business meeting. Out of Christian consideration for the individuals involved, action shall be taken without public discussion.

Notification to Persons Removed From Membership—It is incumbent upon the church that removes a member from church membership to notify the individual in writing of the action that was reluctantly taken with the assurance of enduring spiritual interest and personal concern. This communication should, where possible, be delivered in person by the church pastor or by a church board designee. The erring member should be assured that the church will always hope that reaffiliation will take place and that one day there will be eternal fellowship together in the kingdom of God.

Reinstating a Person Previously Removed From Church Membership—When a person has been removed from church membership, the church should, where possible, maintain contact and manifest the spirit of friendship and love, endeavoring to win him/her back to the fold. A person previously removed from church membership may be received again into membership when confession of wrongs committed is made, evidence is given of real repentance and amendment of life, and it is clear that the member will fully submit to church order and discipline. Such reinstatement should preferably be in the church from which the member was dismissed. This, however, is not always possible. In this case, the church where the person is requesting reinstatement must seek information from the former church as to the reasons for which the person was removed from church membership.

Because removal from church membership is the most serious form of discipline, the period of time before such an individual may be reinstated should be sufficient to demonstrate that the issues which led to removal from membership have been resolved beyond reasonable doubt. Readmission to church membership is normally preceded by rebaptism.

200 CHURCH MANUAL

Right of Appeal for Reinstatement—In a case where the church officers refuse to consider the application for reinstatement from a dismissed member, such an individual has a right to appeal to the church for a hearing. The church should not neglect or refuse to grant such a hearing. If it does, the individual has the right to appeal for a hearing to the executive committee of the conference/mission/field in which the church is located. If, after a full and impartial hearing, the conference/ mission/field committee is satisfied that an injustice is being inflicted by the church, the committee may recommend the reinstatement of the dismissed member. But if membership is still refused by that church, then the committee may recommend the individual to membership in some other church. On the other hand, if it finds good grounds for sustaining the church in refusing to reinstate the member, it will so record its decision.

Transfer of Members Under Censure—No church shall receive into membership a person who is under the censure of another church. Such a course condones the offense for which another church has applied discipline.

The acceptance into membership of an individual who is under discipline is such a serious violation of church policy that the offending church may be subject to discipline applied by the conference/mission/ field constituency.

End of quoted chapter.

You could have just posted a link to the online church manual at adventist.org... and you still have not made a relevant point... or even an irrelevant point, for that matter... you've made no point at all.

So cut to the chase, por favor.

Sin, or insinuation, both are evil.

What is the sin you are suggesting relates to our discussion, and how did you determine it was sin?

You've mentioned Mat 18 through reference of the Church Manual, but do you dare apply 1Tim 5:19,20?

> Do not entertain an accusation against an elder unless it is brought by two or three witnesses. Those who sin are to be rebuked publicly, so that the others may take warning.

Do you not see how shallow all this is until you get the full picture. What is the sin, who and where are the witnesses, and how can we take warning if the a so-called sin is wrapped in abiguity, or subject to partial interpretation? Be clear if you want attention.

If you have no answer answer, may I respectfully suggest that discipline works both ways, including discipline to the accuser? There's no merit in accusing someone of sin if you can neither demonstrate the sin, nor define it.

This is about Linda's "attempted" censure at the church. Would have little to do with 3ABN except many of the same people were involved both places. While I am in agreement that they followed the procedures, it just "who" was following that was the problem. Many of them should have recused themselve. Lots of conflict of interest. Many of the church board members are paid 3ABN employees, Including th pastor of the church JL, etc.

Let's just add 3ABN per Thompsonville church manual.

9. Persisitent refusal to recognize properly constituted 3ABN church authority or to submit to the order and discipline of the 3ABN church.

Now that looks more like it.

Yeah, but the idea was that the instructions, and principles apply to ALL, on both sides in these issues, or in any other.

And to help clear up misconceptions and questions which keep arising here about "how to" take care of problems and recognize and decide what has being done correctly and what has not, so that it can all be done correctly from here on out.

ALSO my hope and prayer is that everyone can get in sync and resolve all this biblically BY PUTTING THE LORD AND HIS WAYS FIRST.

Seems to me it's pretty hard to be all in opposition, or heading in different directions, or get lost, by steppon off thepath or fallin in a ditch, if we're all following the same instructions, walkin the same way, avoiding the same obstacles, and all keepng our eyes on, and following the same Shepherd down the same narrow path with the same goal and destination.

We ALL need to cast Self aside.

Our time left on this earth is very short, and Satan is going nuts here.

Do I think that Danny was perfect nope, was he guilty of something yep, i am sure he was, was it handle in manner that was in line with the church manual nope, But danny non like linda will not let this go. Notice this all went down in 2004, and most of the stirring of this happen 2006-07. the only one speaking out loud during that time was danny.

Do you really think that linda received fait hear, based on the John I. Walt T. and DAnny S. words they would believe yes, based on my reading of there words i see there total one sideness and blindness to there own foolishness, so i would say nope.

Exactly. Church discipline has to do with individuals, and the greater majority of individuals on both sides of this issue belong to a SDA Church and that is where problems can be resolved.

BTW somebody referred to the Thompsonville Church as the 3ABN Church. To clarify, There is no 3ABN Church, and the majority of the members of the thompsonville Church are not even employed by 3ABN.

That is true. For the Thompsonville church to really be the 3abn church, 3abn would have to pay more than just 1/2 of the pastor's salary.

s for church discipline... you and everyone else in your camp... up to and including DS have yet to make a ase for church discipline in Linda's regard...

here is a growing mountain of evidence for church discipline in Danny's case, however... particular where tems 2 through 7 inclusive on page 195 are concerned... and if you were as concerned for the church as you laim, you would be zealous for the church to act in whatever case against whatever person where action was ndicated... rather than trying to conjure a case against one side while doing your best imitation of artimaeus before he met Jesus towards the other...

Aletheia, it seems clear that you subscribe to a kind of twist on the Richard Nixon legal doctrine. He once made the statement "If the president does it, that means its legal." You seem to follow a doctrine that says, "If Danny says it, that means its true." Not a logical way to discover truth.

erhaps this needs to be clarified? Do you realize that a few years back in a different case the pastor followed anny Shelton's orders on who should not receive church discipline. He issued the verdict that a certain Shelton was exempt from receiving such discipline as would have been due others.

I'd prefer not to mention names here, but in case you need a verification it can be done by PM.

Would it, then, be more accurate to call the Thompsonville church a Danny Shelton church?

The last official word we had on this was that the arrangement between 3abn and the Conference was that since a good deal of John Lomacang's work was done directly for 3abn, that 3abn would send an amount equal to half of his salary to the Conference. Thus while Lomacang OTOH is counted as a full-time conference employee, OTOH he is actually only a half-time employee. If that has been changed to only one-third of his monthly income, I would be interested in seeing the documentation for that.

As to whether it is the Thompsonville church or the 3abn church. It is, of course, officially listed on conference roles as the Thompsonville church. But the facts of history are that Danny opened up a building on the 3abn campus and effectively moved the church there. Now frankly, I don't know if there is still any other group meeting as the Thompsonville church or not. But at any rate, since the church name is officially the Thompsonville church, and since it does meet at 3abn.... it is equally proper to call it either the Thompsonville church... or ... the 3abn church.... since that is the location where they meet.

So... why have YOU made such a big deal of it, Cindy?....

Ok so once again we are dealing with conveniences here. The name is the T ville church, but it really no longer meets in just T'ville, but on the "campus" of 3ABN. So that Cindy can proclaim that it is not the 3ABN church, becuase the is not it's name,a nd it i slisted as a conference church. However, in actions it is very much a 3ABN church, becuase it is physically located at 3ABN, the pastor spends so much time working at 3ABN that they have to pay a portion(doesn't matter half, third) of his salary, pretty much everyone who works and live near 3ABN goes there, at least 8 or 9 board members work at 3ABN. So when convenient, like now, Cindy says it is called the T'ville church and it is not the 3ABN church. It is jsut like 3ABn vasilating between being a ministry and a business. When Danny and Linda were together, they built a ministry...together, when Danny wanted to kick Linda to the curb and cheap out of her portion of the true value of 3ABN, it is a business and she was only an employee, and they kindly and graciously gave her a HUGE severance. Now, it could have also been it is a buisness we built and I'll buy you out. but no, once again it was "convenient" once again for danny to tkae advantage of the fact that for "buisness purposes" Linda and Danny are both employees. Like I said, I really want to see if Danny were to leave and they offered him 250K. Cindy, Lee, would you consider that to be genreous?

Di,
I wonder who owns the church building? Come to think of it, I wonder who "owns" my church building. Is the conference the legal owner of church buildings? Does anyone know?

PB

Posted by: princessdi Apr 12 2007, 02:06 PM

Historically, The members built the church, I think the conference helps with loans, etc., but it is mostly church members,a nd then you tunr over your deed to the conference for insurance purposely, you know things on that level being cheaper is done on a coporate/group level. However, that has it's draw backs, and some serious looholes that eventual work against the church and in favor of the conference. If we ever build another church, I would not advise sending the conference office the original deed, I might send them a copy.

However, in the case of 3ABN, WB said that they had a building in T'ville, and while she is not sure if there are still members meeting in that building, the Danny effectively moved that T'ville church to a building on the 3ABN campus. I don't see Danny going for the IL Conference owning a parcel of 3ABN land......It must have been 3ABN building to begin with?

I'm sure glad The Danny doesn't wear a kooky hair style like The Donald!

I think the Illinois conference might be able to answer some of those questions, Di. It would be nice if someone would call up/email to find out.

But, certainly the conference legal department would have handled all of the ramifications of this special arrangement, right?

In the "good old days" church property, to include th buildings were the property of the Conference.
This was primarily due to the desire for the property to remaian in Conference control in the event of a congregational split.

Howeer, there were always rare exceptions which were typically a building errected on a farm, or other personal property, in which the owners of the property had probably paid for the errection of the building.

In these days, nothing is normal! Today, there is more church property that is not owned by the Conference.
However, this is still a minority practice.

He is a board member. At least he was last time I checked, but things change so fast that it is a good thing you sent the email and asked, even though they didn't answer! Maybe you should have asked if his position was up for sale! Better yet, is he still the IL Conference President?

I heard (3rd-4th hand info) he would willingly give his position away. Can't say as I believe it or not. I have been against him, for him, against him so many times it isn't funny! I get so confused I forget his name at times! OOOOHHHHHHH. This is bad. I better hit the bed before I start having visions of grandeur.

Seems I recall sister saying something about his new hair recently.

BTW, when Linda was there, many of the programs started the credits with Jesus Christ...and that was followed by executive producer Danny Shelton. I haven't seen that since the divorce. Now everything is about DS. Go to the 3abn website, first thing you see is Danny's face on the screen.

If 3abn really wanted to know a little secret people appreciate about success, they'd keep him as the invisible person behind the scenes instead of the image of a self-indulging star trying to promote himself....talking about himself. I thought true Christianity was letting self die.

They don't want 'true Christianity'; they want the brand that causes people to ascribe to the Danny the honor he believes himself due... and most especially to send an offering as they sit before their sets...

I have too. I was streaming a cooking show this past Monday that had Jesus Christ at the top of the credits.

Ah, me. I never noticed the hair. In fact, I usually don't notice that sort of thing - unless a stray zephyr sends it tumbling.... Although - there was that Academy faculty member way back when... He only wore his toupee to church. The rest of the week, he went sans hair. Now, THAT I noticed!

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ 3abn "on The Road" Again

Posted by: LaurenceD Mar 13 2007, 12:55 PM

I just finished watching most of the 3abn broadcast of DS recently preaching live at some SDA church, perhaps Dallas, Tx. He was all fired up, and like a good fighter he seemed to be trying to save his ministry. I found myself kind of feeling sorry for him. Although he spent most of the sermon talking about himself, one of his points was that we should only worry about our relationship with Jesus, not about all the "rumors' going around on the internet, etc.

One thing that stuck me odd was him mentioning that in this last month, or week, the devil had been trying harder than ever to destroy his ministry. He mentioned a lightning strike that took out their transmitters and other electrical equipment, including computors, etc. And he mentioned that the station that broadcasts to the Philippines has been hit. Overall it sounded like a terrible week, and he did allude to the fact that he had personal problems he was trying to overcome. But, was he discouraged? NO!

The odd thing was he seemed to be turning his head away from the possiblility that God was trying to speak to him through these disasters and personal hits on the internet. He seemed personally challenged by the need for survival. So, he trumpeted the number of new stations in India and Thailand, and several big US cities through cable. He mentioned the millions of viewers he was now reaching, including the last place on earth for 3abn to reach--New Zealand. I could tell this made him feel better, and gave him the hope he seemed in need of. He had now come from nowhere and had taken the message to the whole world. (BTW, so had Paul the Apostle as noted in Rom.1:8)

This leads me to an important question and a little analysis: what is the 3abn message?

Yesterday morning, I heard an announcement on 3abn that goes something like this: broadcasting the good news of Jesus Christ to the whole world, and his 2nd coming.

So that naturally raises the question--what is this three angels message that 3abn uses as it's flag? If I understand the three angels message correctly, I hear it very seldom on their broadcasts. Maybe less than 10% of the time, if that.

As one looks at the history of the SDA church, there is only one thing that really separates it from other Christian denominations. What is it, specifically? And does that message seem to be a priority of the station?

I once heard an SDA minister suggest that we're moving backwards. As more generations unfold, we have new people to reach with this specific SDA message, and we can never seem to catch up. Right now, the Muslims religion seems to be spreading faster than Christianity. Within the Christian movement, the Mormons seem to be growing faster than any other denomination. I think the SDA church--by membership only--is something like way way down the list.

I wonder if the success of the Momons is by their person-to-person ministry, following the directions of Christ...sending out his disciples in pairs, rather than by expensive satellite broadcasting where only a tiny percentage of people may possibly be listening, and even less understanding.

Is it possible that more people are leaving the church than are coming in (both SDA church and the Chrisitan religion)? I once heard that five out six people, born in the SDA church, leave it. Without new converts, the membership would shrink fast it seems.

So, for the new ones coming in, I wonder how many really understand the unique message that SDAs felt called to give in the first place. BTW, if I have if figured out correctly, the unique SDA purpose is to give the three angel's messages to the world, namely that the Judgement hour has come.

Other churches preach the 7th day, the sanctuary, Christ's righteousness, His 2nd coming, the health message, etc., etc. No one else preaches that the Judgement of the world has already begun (1844), as far as I know.

Was I by chance watching an old "On the Road" rerun? One thing I did catch was his mention of "dung dipped in chocolate." where had I heard this before?

LD,
Where did you watch this program? Was it a video tape or actually on 3abn?

That he was mentioning dung dipped in chocolate could put it back to 2004, show him making a refence to the newly posted emails on save3abn or simply showing that he considers that turn of phrase a part of his routine.

Anybody have input on this program?

Laurence,
Very thought provoking questions that you raise! Part of what has made 3ABN so wonderful in the eyes of many is it's growth to "world wide" status. This is of course the mantra which is most often repeated at 3ABN fundraisers and on the air. I echo your questions "Are the 'undiluted' 3Angels messages really being proclaimed all over the world through this medium?" Forgive me for my ignorance, but what do people in other countries really see? Surely they don't see affluent American Adventist's sitting around the livingroom table talking about themselves and how great their world wide ministry is. Surely muslims in the bush don't tune in for the Micheff sisters all decked out and talking about frichik.
"I wonder if the success of the Momons is by their person-to-person ministry, following the directions of Christ...sending out his disciples in pairs, rather than by expensive satellite broadcasting where only a tiny percentage of people may possibly be listening, and even less understanding."
Public evangelism has it's place but personal evangelism (house to house labor) is really the foundation of how the work began, how it flourishes (and it does in the developing parts of the world), and how it will be finished. Television evangelism and Sattelite evangelism have their place; but their returns are often diminishing - and even at times counterproductive. For one, television (and computers) have an addicitve and deleterious downside which can actually contribute to disciples being removed from the field of active personal evangelism. They can even have a harmful effect on the frontal lobes of the brain - and dare I say, our spirituality. Television itself produces a semihypnotic state (which most of us have experienced) where our creative and spiritual centers may be crippled. In North America the financial base for 3ABN appears to be provided by elderly members who have substituted 3ABN for more "healthy" spiritual activity (personal prayer, study, and evangelism). What did elderly people (including Christians) used to do with their lives before the advent of the "tube"?
For some time an inordinate emphasis has been placed upon sattelite evangelism in North America. Sattelite evangelism though, is viewed by many as a bandaid measure to infuse life into a dying church. Members often engage in this form of evangelism not as a "reaping" event where the interests that they have been personnally working with are brought to harvest; but instead, it becomes an activity where Laodiceans can engage in evangelism by proxy. The evangelist presents the message. The pastor and elders do the follow-up. A handful of souls are baptized and we feel better about ourselves. The end result? Disciples do not grow in their relationship with and trust in the Lord, nor in their character development, because they are not actively seeking the lost.
We are now in the third and final wave of world missions. The first angels message outlines this clearly - the everlasting gospel will go to every "nation" (ethne = ethnic group), kindred, tongue, and people group. Jesus plainly stated that when this gospel is preached to "all nations (ethne = people groups) then the end will come. There are approximately 10,000 or so "people groups" yet to be reached by the everlasting gospel. Many of them exist in seemingly "unreachable" situations. There are approximately 7,000 major languages on earth - nearly 5,000 do not have a Bible in their own tongue. Surely God is going to have to perform some miracles to finish this work. 3ABN is not that miracle. It was broadcast on our 3abn TV station this morning. It may have been a reun though. His story about the lightning strikes and the station in the Philippines being hit should date it. Seems I recall 3abn being stuck by lightning a few years ago. :shrug:

> "He had now come from nowhere and had taken the message to the whole world."
> Danny has not taken the 3 Angels messages to the world. Yes 3ABN does contribute to this work by promoting organizations like "Global Mission", "Gospel Outreach" and "AFM" etc. But what God really needs is not more sattelite downlinks (Or television evangelists) but more living breathing disciples who are willing to risk all to be face to face frontier/cross-cultural missionaries - reaching the truely unreached (not preaching to an Adventist choir). If Danny steps down, I suggest that he leave his horses and mansion to live in the jungle for 10 years. It might do his soul some good.

I appreciate your comments very much. You've given me a lot to think about here. I'll reread it whan I get back tonight. I'd like to know if there is really a strong connection between the Three Angel's Broadcasting Network and the actual three angels messages, or if it's just a title that is being used for appeal. I'm not sure I see much connection at this point, although I do hear some.

Of course various aspects of the 3 Angels messages are broadcast. Full evangelsitic series are broadcast. Our evangelists usually highlight the main points of these messages, The Judgment, Healthful Living, The Sabbath, Come out of Babylon into the Remnant, The Mark of the Beast, The commandments of God, Justification/Righteousness by Faith etc. Various aspects of these messages are also highlighted in a seemingly haphazard way at other times. What is the goal of all this truth? To restore the image of God in man. To prepare a people for the second coming. Obviously we are still here, so something must be awry with the church (that includes me), not just 3ABN (diagnosis Rev.3).
I can't help but think that if the leaders of 3ABN were really experiencing these messages (especially the 3rd one), 3 ABN would be radically different, or non-existent. The 3rd angels message is designed to lay the pride of man in the dust. It seems that there is enough pride to go around for a 3 ring circus.
"Although he spent most of the sermon talking about himself,..."
"Is this not great 3ABN which I have built(And me alone)?!" In telling people to come out of Babylon we must first have Babylon removed from our own hearts - or we are nothing more than Adventist Babylonians.
I have a tape somewhere of H.M.S. Richards Sr. relating the story of when he first heard Ellen White speak. She spoke as a dear mother to her chidren - without miracle stories, emotional appeals, oratorical devices, evangelistic trickery, or covetous agendas. Her message was saturated with 100 Bible texts or more. When she finally knelt to pray, Richards was afraid to open his eyes for fear of seeing Jesus right there on the platform. The power of her intimacy with God was the precipitating factor that brought the Holy Spirit like a convicting wave over the congregation.
Dependence upon technology (works of man's devising) instead of the Holy Spirit seems to lean more towards righteousness by works instead of righteousness by faith. Face it, one solar flare could wipe the whole thing out, then where would we be?
One of the most powerful encounters with the Holy Spirit I ever experienced was in a church where there was deep rooted pain and enmity, long standing grudges etc. One evening everyone at a meeting seemed to be simultaneously convicted to confess to one another everything they had thought or done that was unChristlike towards every other individual there. Tears flowed freely. Under the unction of the Holy Spirit every member was convicted that it was their individual duty to make full peace with everyone else in the room, no matter if no one else did likewise. When Adventists live the message they preach this is the movement we will see - not threats, lines drawn in the sand, demonizings, evil surmisings etc.

Dan 4:37 Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and exalt and honor the King of Heaven, for all His works are truth, and His ways are justice. And He is able to humble those who walk in pride.

If it took 7 years for Nebuchadnezzar... how long will it take for some of us?

This particular 3ABN thread is one of the most informative, thought-provoking, and constructive threads I've read during the past 2-plus years of the 3ABN-saga ribbon of threads on this site. Thank you LaurenceD and Voktar. You've given me some refreshing perspective.

Really? are those the words he used? No they weren't. In fact, I have heard him over and over through the years glorifying not only God, but all of those who have brought their talents and expertise to the ministry. I have heard the statement " if it was up to me to know about down links, or if it was up to me to know about graphics or cameras or computers, then nothing would have gotten done. He has always given God the credit for the miracles.

You seem to be criticizing that he was talking about the work at 3abn instead of a 3 angels message. Let me clarify. DS isn't a pastor and doesn't profess to be. That is why there are other pastors like CA murray and John Dinzey that can preach the sermons at a 3abn visit or rally. It is DS's job to talk about 3abn. He talks about, What is going on with expansion, what are future plans, and many stories of souls that have walked into adventist churches ready to join, because of what they have seen on 3abn. To tell the work that has been accomplished by God, through 3abn, is glorifying Him. Without God, 3abn would not exist. This is not to see that he doesn't refer to scripture or Ellen White at times, of course he does, but he lets the experts preach the sermons.

As I said, he lets the pastors do their job and he does his. It is a good combination that works well for all concerned, especially the audience.

Uh, BS, I am sure VOZ will answer your queries. I am just going to tell you that the line to which you were referring, is a text from the Bible. Spoken by Nebuchadnezzar....shortly before he started grazing. Of course it was changed to add "3ABN",,,,,,, Anyway, here is the text:
Daniel 4:30
30The king spake, and said, Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

Although both Danny and Mollie refer to John Dinzey as a pastor, as least I have never heard John claim the title himself. If he does on the Latino 3ABN, I do not know, I am not Spanish speaking. The fact is that John has no pastoral training and is not a SDA pastor, nor has he ever been one. The reason that he is head of the pastoral department is because when Rick Odel left 3ABN and went into full time pastoral work, that left a vacancy. Immediately, Johnny D went to Danny and asked to be head of Pastoral. He did not ask for a raise in pay, only responsibility, so Danny agreed. Calling someone a Pastor and that being the fact are two different things.

Bystander, there are a number of factual discrepancies in your posts. This is just one simple example. When I come along behind you and try to clean up your mess, I am accused falsely of all matter of evils. Lately I have been letting it slide. Perhaps I should write a book instead and correct all your "facts" in one blow? Move over Linda, maybe another book is being prepared for the market!

Of course those things you mentioned are not "miracles."

While DS did talk about 3abn, that's not what I meant when I reported he spent most of the time talking about himself. I meant his personal self. Examples include, but are not limited to, his personal eating habits, his thinning hair, analyzing where his thoughts were coming from (like "where did that come from? Thank-you God for that" and "I don't use notes"). A lot of "I" stuff.

The question here is about how much time is actually spent on the three angel's messages. What's the ratio in a given day, week, or month. How much of a burdon does the station have for the three angels messages--the one special pupose of our SDA existence.

> 10AM, 3ABN On the Road #545 (Reflecting God`s Character) - Danny Shelton

Yes, On the Road is the correct title, and 10am was the correct time of the broadcast. I'd be curious if it was an old rerun. In the credits it did list the Dallas church with something, so I thought maybe that's where the little sermon took place.

I think it is even more than this Laurence. The thing which comes across strong and clear to those who listen is that Danny is under some special dispensation from God so that whenever he talks about giving God all the glory, he does it in a way that builds his own image up as Someone who is specially favored of God.... and to make it even more obnoxious it is very often tied into some trait or action or sins of his own in such a way as to give the distinct impression that he is saying that ordinary laws of men or God don't apply to him.... and the so-called "miracles" are proof that he has found and that all he does is under the approval and approbation from God Himself.

> The question here is about how much time is actually spent on the three angel's messages. What's the ratio in a given day, week, or month. How much of a burdon does the station have for the three angels messages--the one special pupose of our SDA existence.

I have to admit that when someone talks about "one special purpose of our SDA existence" that it triggers a "cringe factor" in me. I think our SDA existence is for essentially the same purpose as that of every other Christian Church... and that is to present and represent Christ to the world. We may think we do a better job of that than others, and we may claim to have purer doctrine than others..... and we could argue all day as to whether we are right or whether these thoughts and claims are merely symptoms of Laodicean spiritual pride.... but that is an argument I am not wanting to enter here.

What I want to say here is that just as the mission of Christ himself to earth was broad.... not only atoning for sins, but revealing the character of God Himself, freeing captives from all kinds of slavery, healing the sick and wounded, spreading the news of the Kingdom of God that is even now with us on this earth....as well as the coming Kingdom that enters only at the final cleansing and recreation of the earth, and relieving pain and suffering to the utmost of our abilities... whether or not the recipients choose to become followers of Christ..... just so broad is our message to the world and the "purpose of our SDA existence."

And all of the above are subsumed under the "everlasting gospel" that the First Angel is depicted in Revelation as carrying. This message and mission is not solely that of the Adventist church.... it is the message and mission of ALL churches who bear the name of Christ.... whether they see themselves in that endtime passage or not. To the extent which they fail to give a pure message, churches may degenerate into churches which are called Babylon in the following messages. But it is our mission and goal first of all to be a part of the First Angel's message .... the only one with a positive Christian message..... If we don't have that straight and predominate, then we can very easily fall into a category to be warned against rather than helping to give the warning messages of the second and third angel.

Thus I am much more concerned about the way 3abn presents Christ to the world.... not merely in their messages but in the way they personally reveal Christ in the way they act towards their fellow men and women... than I am in the amount of time they put in specific programming content.

So long as there are people who, because of personal harassment (or witnessing what has been done to others who got crosswise of Danny Shelton or any of the other ruling entities in the House that Shelton Built), fear to give their names when telling their stories, just so long I care not one whit as to what goes out over the airwaves. I very much resent having a commercial entity (which poses as a ministry) in our midst which makes the claims that 3abn makes about representing Adventists and our message... and our God........ yet which sits like an Absolom in the gate.... wooing the hearts of the people so that they put their alliegence and finance in the hands of this organization that acts so abominably in so many different areas of life.

Sister, Thanks for your information. I suspect there is even more to the story than this. It is certainly an unusual route for someone to take into "pastoral ministry". And certainly presents a different concept of the position of "head of pastoral ministry" than what I think most viewers... at least SDA viewers.... would expect of a person with that title.

As to your second paragraph above..... I think there are many of us who are missing the insights you gave in your Unauthorized History threads. I realize that the atmosphere here is not so conducive to sharing your knowledge with us in story form as it was when you began. But if you can find it in your heart to correct various factual discrepancies as they come up.... or add to our understanding of the various situations.... either in your previous story-style or in factual corrections. I know many of us would appreciate it very much. And personally, I would prefer the story style, since there is so much more that is conveyed by that genre that is necessarily lost in a simple statement of facts without them being clothed in their environmental and emotional garments.

It is not easy .... giving factual information even when you know it will be pounced on by some and labeled as lies. OTOH, I think by now most of us are ignoring those who habitually do this, and would very much appreciate knowing the facts as you give them. When it comes to "credibility factor" I'm sure you rate VERY much higher than do those who accuse you of all matter of unsavory things.

VB, you have raised a very important issue. In "end time" the people of God have the mission to reflect hrist (God) to the world.

n its treatment of Linda, as I see it, 3-ABN has misrepresented the nature and character of God. This is urther compunded by a constant refrain that I see from their apologists: Forgive and cover up sin. It is this hat gives many of us our mission. God forgives. But, sin is never excused. Public sin must be repented of, nd forsaken.

ister, the only "mess" here is the one that you have created from the beginning.
act. John Dinzey is not head of pastoral, he is general manager of latino.
act. you are correct that he is not an ordained pastor so perhaps I should have called him "elder." My nistake. The fact is, he has preached many a sermon, and in my opinion, is pretty good at it. If you would iave applied my comment to the point of my post, I wouldn't be having to waste my time to clarify to you. he subject was all about DS not claiming to be a minister and leaving those jobs to those who are capable of loing it.

ou're "so called" corrections tend to be something that is of no importance, just like this one. Of course naybe they should be welcomed since that is about the only time you tell the truth.
omehow you seem to think that your "little threat" of a book is going to upset someone. Hardly. I believe ou have already contributed and/or written some of the earlier "fairy tales." If those are an example of your writing skills" don't quit your day job. On the other hand, The Enquirer is always looking for someone with a ensational imagination like yours.
nmmm interesting now that I think on it. It seems I read somewhere that SJ wants to write a book. Of ourse she said she was so busy working being a wife and mother where would she find the time. She failed o mention the time she spends posting here and, it is pulblic knowledge, that she is only a "wife" and mother" about 3 or 4 days a month. Her husband raises the children the rest of the time. If she stops to hink about that, she might have time after all.
ow....maybe I should write a book

Amen!

If the witness of some at 3abn has caused the community of Thompsonville to hate the ministry instead of being touched by the beauty of the Gospel, how can anyone expect this negative witness to be limited to Southern Illinois? Word does travel, you know.

And, I would like to add, it is only by having that close, personal relationship with the Lord that we can truly reflect His character to the world. That is our personal duty but it is also another aspect of "one special purpose of our SDA existence". While personal study and prayer is a part of what builds us into those who can reflect God's character, our place within the church, the Body of Christ, is also an important part of that growth. That is one of the reasons we are given those "gifts".

I just ran across this statement. It is not from an inspired source, but it is good.

Forgiveness "cannot mean that we cover up a fault with a 'mantle of charity.' Divine things are never an illusion and deception. On the contrary, before the sin is forgiven the mantle with which it is covered must be removed. The sin must be unmercifully-yes unmercifully- exposed to the light of God's countenance (Psalm 90)" Helmut Thielke. And we shouldn't have to point out that to obtain forgiveness also requires public confession of public sins and restitution to those wronged.

Bystander, I am genuinely surprised that you would be so foolish as not to check even the most simple of acts and continue to give false information that anyone can so easily verify. The above rant only reinforces Your image of treating women disrespectfully and casting doubt upon the true testimony they have given. Unfortunately, not only in this instance with me, but also with PrincessDi, PeacefullyBewildered, Watchbird, PrincessDrRe, Sonshineonme, Linda Shelton and now Sandra J.

The genuine facts in regard to the pastoral department of 3ABN, as stated on their website under the heading Pastoral:

Meet The Pastoral Team
ohnny Dinzey
Department Head: Johnny Dinzey He not only heads up the Pastoral Department but recently accepted the position of General Manager for the 3ABN Latino channel.

Sister

P.S. So, what other misinformation, falsehoods, misrepresentations, innuendos and bold-faced lies are Bystander and Co. attempting to pass off as "fact". If he could be so incorrect concerning John Dinzey's position as head of the Pastoral department, why should he have any credibility in regard to more sensitive nsider information about 3ABN? When he fights with such tenacity to uphold a "small" lie, in an attempt to discredit me, how much more is he willing to compromise the truth with a "big" lie, to discredit Linda Shelton and others?

That is what was said and that is how I understood it. Point is, your whole posting career is trying to make something of nothing. To plant your seeds where there is no fertile ground to grow in.

To create enough lies, doubt and rumors to bring DS and 3abn down. Each one of you have your own agenda's and are foolish enough to think that no one knows or can find out who you are and why you are doing this.
> Yes, I have the highest regards for women of integrity, truth and virtue. Your "Destroy 3abn Club" doesn't fit that criteria.

Bystander,

Are you old enough to remember Senator McCarthy? He was a paranoid, nasty old guy who tried to cast aspersions on many folks by alleging they were Communists or Socialists. History has revealed what a vicious, pathetic and small-minded man he actually was.

You have just alleged that I am a member of the "Destroy 3abn Club" and that my goal is "to create enough lies, doubt and rumor to bring DS and 3abn down." I deny your false allegations and challenge you to start bringing forward examples of any lies, doubts or rumors I have raised.

Of course he is, and has been ever since the previous person in charge of the Latino Network got ... did she get axed because of her support of Linda?

But the question is, did they, when you called, deny that John Dinzey also serves as head of the pastoral department, according to 3ABN's website? You did not say above that they denied that he also serves in that capacity.

A board member told me on October 23, 2006, that John Dinzey was in charge of pastoral. So if there has been a change, it has to have been recently.

Do it, Bystander. Take her up on her challenge. Let her have it if you can. And if you can't do, the Christian thing and apologize.

I do have a life, thanks anyway! Just thought you might know the answer. But glad you said that because it reminded me of another thing DS said in his sermon, talking about himself: he asked the audience if they thought he was being a smart-aleck.

This message and mission is not solely that of the Adventist church.... it is the message and mission of ALL churches who bear the name of Christ.... whether they see themselves in that endtime passage or not. To the extent which they fail to give a pure message, churches may degenerate into churches which are called Babylon in the following messages. But it is our mission and goal first of all to be a part of the First Angel's message .... the only one with a positive Christian message..... If we don't have that straight and predominate, then we can very easily fall into a category to be warned against rather than helping to give the warning messages of the second and third angel.

> Rev 14:6 And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people, 7 Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.

I don't know of any other church, other than the SDA, and formed out of members from other churches (Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterian, etc.), that came together for this special purpose -- to warn the world of the Judgement. These other denominations mentioned above were already involved in part of the 1st angel's message--"the everlasting gospel," but, after the Great Disappointment, they realized their mistake -- that Christ wasn't to return to the earth in 1844, but that he moved to the most holy place of the sanctuary to begin it's cleansing (the Judgement). Of this, EGW says Miller had the right date, but the wrong place/wrong event.

Vhile watching 3abn online a few Sabbaths ago, I saw part of a sermon by David Asscherick on The ;anctuary, showing the point of all of the ceremonies and how they apply to this day and age. From the ıortion I caught, it was a wonderful, informative sermon. That program tells at least part of that angel's nessage to the world, that our High Priest is in that Heavenly Holiest of Holy places and doing His work of ıtonement, claiming the very blood He shed as a sacrifice for us.

agree with you that the Seventh-day Adventist church appears to be unique in this fundamental belief. Yes, ıther Christian churches preach The Judgement, but from my understanding it is more about a person's sin :ondition at death which will send them directly to heaven or hell or "Judgement Day" when the fire-and-ırimstone God will smite sinners for their sins.

)f course, I've never attended classes at Andrews so I may be mistaken!

:lay, please note my disclaimer at the end of my statement before you take me to task over what I believe. 'm still learning the Sanctuary for myself but I believe what I have read and what I wrote above this to be rue and supported by scripture and SOP (which I also believe and is my prerogative to believe in and your ırerogative to, um, not.)

o true. She thought the position would fall to her and it didn't. The reasons were sound and the decision was orrect. She also left of her own choosing and moved to another Adventist oriented network where, if she is osting here she would be in a position of very serious conflict of interest.

FHB,
Why would SJ be in a position of very serious conflict of interest if she is posting here?

Because the perception they give is that they support and promote that doctrine, ALL SDA doctrine. It would be a lot different if they didn't have exclusively SDA programming, SDA special events, pastors, guests, etc. They give the impression, even if they never say it. It is like I keep saying about them being conveniently a ministry, and then a business when it suits them...they need to get off the fence.

Plus, we all know, they didn't pick that nane, simply because the liked it. These people ARE Adventist. I truly believe that is defnitely what they wanted to proclaim from the beginning.

I got the impression that your statements most certainly were about John.

As far as SJ goes, you will notice that I didn't make a remark. I asked a question, since I don't know. And I don't know her persona, or if she even has one.

Can you provide any evidence that management's decision regarding positions and/or encouragement to stay on had nothing to do with her thoughts about Linda's case?

Yes, Bob, it is inapproprite to refer to PMS at all pretty much. You might have PM'd Bystander to ask him about it. If someone recieves a PM that the perceive to be threatening or inappropriate in anyway, they are to report it to an Admin immediately. that kind of thingis not tolerated here. f you are employed by one of the other main SDA oriented networks and do all you can to tear down 3ABN . . that would be a clear conflict of interest . . . Get your pay check from another network while tearing down 3ABN . . . and as I pointed out "if" she is posting here she would certainly be wrapped in a web of conflict of nterest - especially if her husband turned out to be one of her sources of information, along with Linda (who she has all along been very close to) . . . the conflict of interest would be far reaching . . .

don't understand your "feeding off one another like piranas". Sounds like a personal problem to me. I don't ven know anyone in this forum.

came in here to find the truth. Several rumors spread by 3ABN(Walt Thompson) to people in my town were ll lies to discredit and put Linda down. I asked Sister about one rumor that was spread by Walt Thompson nd she told me it was false. This rumor is a minor one but a minor lie is a lie. (since this rumor has not been osted I won't mention which one it is). That one point tells me the other rumors spread were lies also.

can't verify the fact that Walt Thompson sent the letters to the dear little old lady who loved 3ABN and told ier these lies to discredit Linda because the dear little old lady has passed away. I just know that she LOVED ABN and was just telling her friends what he wrote to her. She considered him her dear close friend.

don't care if you shred my personal witness. You tried before it didn't work then and it won't work now. You ave no credibility with me. You have shown me with the above post that you have no respect for women. I eel sorry for you.

find it amazing that you would profess to know such details so quickly. How exactly did you come to know uch nitty-gritty details like this? How long have you known them?

In your publicly-viewable profile, you say that your home church is the Florida Hospital Church. How often do you attend? Roughly when was the last time you were there? Last week, within the last month or two or three, when? What was the sermon about when you were last there?

The only way it would be a conflict of interest is that she still ahd some interest in 3ABN. if she sut all ties with 3ABN, then there is no conflict. Hwo do you figure it is a conflict of interest. She evidently has no interest in 3ABN.

Did I miss something important, or is the "she" we are talking about the wife of John Dinsey who is employed by 3abn? The same 3abn who exercises surveilance and control of their employees?

If so.... there would definitely be a "conflict of interest" ..... and could even have an impact upon her husband's employment and positions. How could you figure otherwise.... If she is married to a 3abn employee it would be pretty difficult to "cut all ties" with 3abn, would it not?

Or am I totally wrong and this isn't who we are talking about?

Later edit... for the benefit of any who read this first.... I was wrong in the identification given above.... but I'll leave this errant post since it forms the jumping off place for the corrections and discussion following this. Thank you very much to those who corrected me quickly.

Conflict of interest is a term with very limited meaning. It's applicable for someone in postions of both privileged inside information, and making a decsion based on that information. Also incompatible postions. A conflict is primarily of a direct, or indirect, pecuniary interest. Lay people often use it very loosely, for some mysterious reason, when trying to show that someone has a bias, or is partial. But, it a lot more than just that. One has to be able to profit.

Answers.com provides a good overview http://www.answers.com/conflict+of+interest&r=67
Maybe FHB could read it carefully and show us which definition applies.

And, every state has it's own definitions to help their elected lay people understand terms like conflict and unfairness. Here's some indepth reading, from my state (and most states have the same), for those interested in a clearer meaning.

http://www.mrsc.org/Subjects/Legal/conflict/conflict.aspx

http://www.mrsc.org/Subjects/Legal/aofpage.aspx
http://www.mrsc.org/Publications/appfair.pdf

EDIT NOTE: adding a good definition from the link above. Avoiding a conflict involves...

> elimination of actual bias, prejudice, improper influence or favoritism, but also in the curbing of conditions which, by their very existence, tend to create suspicion, generate misinterpretation, and cast a pall of partiality, impropriety, conflict of interest or prejudgment over the proceedings to which they relate.

SJ, Sandra Juarez. Is she married to John Dinzey?

Note: after I posted this I was unsure if I had read an earlier post correctly that SJ had been identified as Sandra. Doing a quick search I didn't find it so I edited my answer. Since my answer was already seen, I have replaced it.

No. But her husband is employed at 3ABN.

I think her husband's name is Henry Juarez. Isn't she working for Esperanza TV? I don't know what her husband is doing now. However, he was once a studio manager at 3ABN (I think).

According to this website, http://www.sandrajuarez.com/about.html, Sandra's husband's name is Henry, and yes, he was the studio manager at 3abn.

Thank you for the identification. It is more likely that you are right than I... and I shall scratch my comments to reflect your correction. And pose instead the question as to how she has ties to 3abn such that would have brought forth the comment about her "conflict of interest".

Thanks again.... .....

And thank you for this information and the link. It mentions this much but doesn't tell where he is now or if he is still working for 3abn.

Is he still with 3abn? If so in what capacity. If not, how could past employment constitute a "conflict of interest"?

have to apologize to all of you about assuming that sister's mention of "Sandra J." and then FHB's post ibout a possible conflict of interest regarding SJ meant they were speaking of Sandra Juarez. She is the only iandra J. that I was aware of who worked for 3abn.

Ok so, the SJ you are all referring is Sandra Juarez who used to be employed by 3ABN, who now works for another SDA network, but husband is still employed at 3ABN. Is that correct? FHB?

Also, is it my understanding FHB that you believe her to be posting here on BSDA. If so, you know the rules against trying to "out" people identities. You have yet to offer up yours. So this duscussion probably should not be happening right now. Looks too much like a form of imtimidation.

Di,

am not sure why you would understand the bolded part above as I never said any such thing. If you eference the first post I made in regards to this I clearly stated an opinion that, "IF" she was posting here hat would represent a conflict of interest. The idea being that she works for Ezperanza (sp?) and her usband works at 3ABN.

here is clearly no insinuation that I know she is and I am clearly not making a statement that she is. I am ot in violation of any polilcy against identifying anonymous posters.

erhaps this is the quote being attributed to you, FHB.... I thought you had said it as well, but now I see that t is actually Bystander.

That is exactly what he is saying. Because of this first and foremost being the internet, and all that is at stake wiwth these conversations, a lot of people use an ID that gives no clue to their name. At one time or another pretty much everyone has speculated as to the real names of some of the members, especially Sister, Bystander, HOTY and others coming forth with information. Admins have frown upon this pursuit, because of the right to privacy on the internet. FHB, has called himself 'outing" SJ. Yet and still, he has not been forthcoming about his real name. Once again this is not allowed.

Ok please forgive me FHB. I see now it was not you, but Bystander However, I am still uncomfortable with the "if", because tagged onto the speculation it is still engaging in trying to figure out the neames fo the members. This is note a general note to everyone. If you are here under an ID and are not even trying to divoluge you real name,please extend to others that same courtesy. > The first angels message outlines this clearly - the everlasting gospel will go to every "nation" (ethne = ethnic group), kindred, tongue, and people group. Jesus plainly stated that when this gospel is preached to "all nations (ethne = people groups) then the end will come. There are approximately 10,000 or so "people groups" yet to be reached by the everlasting gospel. Many of them exist in seemingly "unreachable" situations. There are approximately 7,000 major languages on earth - nearly 5,000 do not have a Bible in their own tongue. Surely God is going to have to perform some miracles to finish this work. 3ABN is not that miracle. The majority of these peoples will not be reached by contributing to Danny Shelton and gang, who will finish the work for us by proxy with their technology.

Listening to "Behind the Scenes" on live 3abn tonight (Thurs), I was reminded of something you mentioned here earlier about taking the message to every "nation" (ethne = ethnic group), kindred, tongue, and people group. As DS held up a new contract (for new satellites around the world including India and China) one member of the panel (John L, Shelly Q, Moses ?, Danny, Brandy) mentioned that the braodcast does not reach these people in their own language. I hadn't thought of that when I mentioned what an expense satellite TV was, how few may actually be listening, and even fewer understanding. I think there may really be something to the method Christ endorsed--sending out his disciples in pairs.

Extra observation: Both DS and John L. were complaining about the rumors going around the internet. So DS tried a new approach for donations; he told a story about a non-Adventist who became aware that some people were trying to destroy the network, and so this gentleman said because of this he felt obligated to send even more money. Maybe some of you feel the same. Are you willing to sacrifice? We're about 98% there reaching the whole world. John L assured the panel that these people trying to destroy 3abn are really fighting against God, He related a passage in the Bible where God struck down the evil Ethiopians who were fighting Judah.

And there sat DS with his new young wifey, talking about the 10 Commandments and how God doesn't want us committing adultry (that's right, he said it without blinking). Truely amazing. I await his next little sermon about signs of the end, "Marrying and Giving in Marriage"

Gailon,

You claim that Linda passed your truth test. Are you not aware that any one who is a polished liar will not wiggle or squirm when being questioned about their lies ... ?

...

She never wiggled or squirmed. She was almost convincing to me.

... I decided to go look in her car for any evidence to support the PI's claim that had not been mailed to me yet. Our car door was locked. Yes, I'm aware that she claims it was her car but I have proof that it is titled to both she and I even unto this day. ...

... at which point she yelled out, "I can't believe you broke into my car and got into my personal belongings! This is abuse!"

... This is not my proof for adultery. I'm only telling you why your truth test on her has Zero credibility as she is apparently in a different league than you ...

...

... She will sound believable. Gailon, I believe she would pass your honesty test without squirming or wiggling.

...

If you want to gamble that what I am telling you is a lie, then that is your business. ...

...

Linda is much harder to find out because she is so good a distorting the truth.

...

Danny

LaurenceD,
Was there a motivation obvious for that person to tell that the broadcasts to India, China, etc., were not reaching these people in their own languages? There is, of course, a huge move in China to learn English and many in India speak it as well, so there is a possibility that some in these countries will understand the progamming that is actually designed to share the gospel (and not just broadcast to recruit donors). It can bring souls to the truth, but it doesn't take the place of face-to-face evangelism.

One thing I learned right away around here, about a certain poster or two: If you allow for the possibility that just the opposite is true, it may explain a lot.

Yes, the motivation was for greater donations. Someone mentioned that if we could afford to broadcast in their own language, this would fulfill the prophecy that the final events will be rapid ones.

Some of us had to learn that 3 years ago. They even call it the Christian way to do things. The most amazing discovery I had to face back in 2004 was that their pastor, John Lomacang, spoke in terms where just the opposite was true. When even the pastor teaches this, is it any wonder they think it is the Christian way of doing things.

Johann, there has been mention of a book being written by Linda, and Sister mentioned it as a possibility for her as well. It occurrs to me that the story of the tragic situation of 3abn will at some point be picked up by a professional journalist who will see it as something that would have a potential for wider reader interest than just SDA church members and those close to the story. I'm not diminishing the importance of books by those who are close to, or involved in the story. I'm all for it. However, a journalist or other such writer who might undertake to write such a book would not necessarily be friendly towards the Seventh-day Adventist church. I think it would be a wise move to bring the 3abn situation to the attention of an professional writer with impeccable credentials for solid, honest non-fiction writing who would be interested in writing a book covering in a comprehensive way the whole saga. This should be someone who doesen't have a anti-religion or anti-Seventh-day Adventist agenda. Since this kind of writing usually takes a lot of time, it would be good for someone to begin thier research as soon as possible, even though the outcome is uncertain at this time.
Do you know if there has been any serious interest in such a project?

First of all, while books written by those who have been intimately involved will be valuable, they will not substitute for a truly objective and analytical book produced from objective research.

And yes.... there is already more than one such individual working with this in mind.

However, I think that we should not have so much fear of professional writers who are not Adventist as what you seem to convey. There were several such non-Adventist writers/researchers who wrote analytically of the Waco group.... and none of the ones that I read... or heard in seminar presentations.... put blame on the Adventist church for what happened there. In fact, if anything, Adventist writers were more hard on, and critical of, their own church than were more objective writers.

Listening to "Behind the Scenes" on live 3abn tonight (Thurs), I was reminded of something you mentioned here earlier about taking the message to every "nation" (ethne = ethnic group), kindred, tongue, and people group. As DS held up a new contract (for new satellites around the world including India and China) one member of the panel (John L, Shelly Q, Moses ?, Danny, Brandy) mentioned that the braodcast does not reach these people in their own language. I hadn't thought of that when I mentioned what an expense satellite TV was, how few may actually be listening, and even fewer understanding. I think there may really be something to the method Christ endorsed--sending out his disciples in pairs.

For many years the Adventist church praised it's world wide work from the context of being in almost all of the geographical countries on earth. The implication was that countries equaled the "nations" of the Bible and the work was almost finished. This is an erroneous assumption based on an imperfect translation. Likewise Matthew 28:19 says in the KJV "Go, teach..." Another unfortunately imperfect translation which should instead read, "Teach with the purpose of making disciples" or just, "Make disciples." When Christ said, "Go, make disciples of all people groups" I don't think he had television in mind. This is obviously a very personal, hands on, imperative. The disciples of the first century partially fulfilled this great co-mission. They didn't need satellite technology or even modern means of transportation to do so. Ellen White says that the world-wide advent movement of the 19th century was a partial fulfillment of the first angels message. Correct me if I'm wrong, but I don't think they had TV in 1844. They did have some people who were willing to "Go" like Joseph Wolfe etc. By the way, did you know that Joseph Wolfe was afflicted with a nervous condition that prevented him from riding animals, or being able to cook his own food; yet he traveled more than probably any man alive in his day? John Wesley was originally a bookworm who shunned the outdoors, yet when the Holy Spirit got ahold of him he traveled more on horseback than any man in British history. Did I forget to mention the partially blind, truely self-supporting apostle Paul and his missionary endeavors?

We know that God could use angels to finish this work, instead He has chosen to use people. Why? Just ask Frontier missionaries. They benefit as much in the salvation process as did those they were trying to disciple. It is an essential part of sanctification. You cannot experience this by watching TV all day and signing checks once in awhile. The right arm of the gospel is the health work, not just the health message. Missionaries must be out in the world applying the principles in a hands-on fashion to the afflicted. Otherwise it's not really the "Right Arm." In St. Francis words, "Preach the gospel, always preach the gospel. If necessary, use words."

Is it possible to disciple someone by television ministry alone? In rare instances. Oh, in case someone thinks I am dead against television ministry my wife was actually brought into the faith solely by the influence of "It is Written." Of course she had a Bible in her own language, and received much literature from IIW in her own language too. She walked into the Adventist church ready to be baptized, only to be told she had to take a series of Bible studies on subjects she had already fully integrated into her life! She and I are both convinced though, that one of the reasons God used this ministry was because Adventists in her community probably weren't doing their job. She actually had a visit from a colporteur who wrote her off as a hopeless case because she wouldn't buy books on Sunday and never spoke to her about the 4th commandment.

Ever since the first international congress on world evangelism at Lausanne Switzerland in 1974, evangelical Christians of all types have concluded that the final fulfillment of the great commission involves reaching the unreached people groups of the world. Missiologists of all types agree that the only conceivable way of making this happen presently is to raise up indigenous churches in the midst of these people groups. Churches that become strong enough to begin multiplying through missionary activities of their own. The way this ordinarily happens is for cross-cultural missionaries to "go" to these peoples and "incarnate" into their culture bringing them the gospel in the flesh, not via satellite dish. Native missionaries from neighboring cultures are far more cost effective than sending American missionaries from across the world - though some peoples respond better to this approach.

The bottom line is this - "World-wide" television satellite ministry is a very expensive and often ineffective "shotgun" endeavor that appears to be drawing millions of dollars away from where our emphasis should really be in these last days. The major monetary appeals and goals espoused by 3ABN of "reaching the world" represent a grandiose at best - or even a false foundation to their entire ministry.

This is along the lines of what skyhook's post brought to my mind. Readers who desire truth will launch into research for themselves, those just interested in a juicy scandal will find their food as well.

One further thought from this week's teacher's lesson:
"So it is through personal contact and association that men are reached by the saving power of the gospel... Personal influence is a power." - PK p.232

So I wonder why she (SJ) was asked to leave 3ABN property when she tried to visit recently? Do you know, Lee?

No, no visitors here. Any visitors there?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 24 2007, 07:13 PM

Had a visitor at church today, and plenty of geese flying overhead, but that's it.

How about you, wwjd?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 25 2007, 08:35 AM

I have a hunch that wwjd was referring to Federal Marshals coming by my home to serve me papers. If they stop by around lunchtime tomorrow I'll see if they can stay for a bite to eat.

Paul was emphatic: "By the law is the knowledge of sin," and "Shall we continue in sin ... ? God forbid." That right there should tell us that Paul kept the Sabbath and taught others so.

Those that do the works of the flesh ain't going anywhere. The fruit of the Spirit, "against such there is no law." Therefore, what keeps those who do the works of the flesh out of glory is clearly the law.

"Let no man judge you." He never said God wouldn't judge us. He didn't say, "Let not God judge you." And in vs. 14 of Col. 2, he said, "Blotting out the handwriting ... nailing it." The 10 aren't handwriting. They're finger writing. You can't blot them out with a wet sponge or erase them with an eraser.

And even if you use a railroad spike and a sledgehammer, you ain't goin' nail them. The best you can do is break them if you dare try to nail them to the cross.

Makes a great sermon illustration when giving the 3 angels' messages. Start with a small hammer and small nails, and as your volunteer bends one nail after another, hand them larger nails and larger hammers.

The only problem might be, if you take it "on the road," is that the U.S. Border official may ask you why you're carrying a sledgehammer in your van on your return home from Canada. But just explain it all, and then later you can tell folks how you gave a Bible study on Col. 2:14-16 to the Border guard.

Polycarp invited the soldiers who came to take him away to execution to stay and have a meal and rest awhile before they left with him. While they were eating he prayed for every Christian he knew in the empire - so the story goes.
Sorry to hear you may be served Bob. Keep us posted (no pun intended). We'll be praying for you all.

Actually, from what I understand, it would likely be good news if it happened, though I'm skeptical it will ever happen.

We see those "threats" are still floating around hmmm. We have heard, the proof is in the pudding.

Have you seen the quotes from the Apostolic Consitutions given on http://www.pickle-publishing.com/papers/sunday-fraud.htm? Check under the Didache quotes.

I'm not sure when the word "papacy" was coined or when the bishop of Rome started being called "pope."

I think it a mistake if we concentrate on temporal power when stating what happened in 1798. The supremacy has to do with power over the conscience and over all pastors rather than temporal power. I am unaware of any kingly power that the papacy exercised in spiritual matters after the pope's capture in 1798.

Dan. 7:25 predicted that the little horn would think it had changed the times and laws. Just worshiping on Sunday instead of Saturday would not qualify as the specified change. There has to be a belief in a change in the 4th commandment itself to qualify.

Lee - you disappeared!! I've been worried about you, but I see you are back today. Good!!
Does your return have anything to do with Aletheia's 3-day leave of absence??

Now, can you answer my question about Ms. Juarez??

Thanks!!

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Lawsuit Against Gaj

Posted by: Observer Feb 2 2007, 06:35 AM

Mr. Joy has recieved an e-mail, and he expects to shortly recieve the same mesaage by postal letter making certain demands upon him, and that raised the potential that he will become the subject of a lawsuit.

I am posting that message here. In my next post a little later this morning, I will post an item by item response to this letter.

I know that many of you will want to comment on this message, both pro and con. If you don't mind, I would appreciate it if you would allow me to make the next post in this thread which will contain my comments on the letter. After I have done that, please comment.

Here is the message:

NOTICE: This letter Constitutes a confidential legal communication, which is not for publication. The contents of this communication are subject to common law copyright and may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, in any form or media, without the express, written permission of the author.

Gailon Arthur Joy:

This law firm represents Mr. Danny Shelton and the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc. ("3ABN"), which has informed us that you are involved in the use and exploitation of 3ABN's trademarked, copyrighted name in your website, "www.save3abn.com." Use of 3ABN's name without our client's license or other authorization to do so constitutes an illegal misappropriation of the same, in violation of state and federal copyright and trademark laws. Additionally, use of the phrase "3ABN" in your domain name is likely to cause confusion among the public as to the source, sponsorship or affiliation of your website, resulting in dilution of 3ABN's trademark, which is a separate and additional violation of federal law.

It has also come to our attention that you have inappropriately copied and posted a lengthy excerpt from a 3ABN broadcast on the website referred to above. This action constitutes a violation of 3ABN's exclusive copyright on all audio and video productions created by the Network and on all television transmissions of the same, and is a blatant violation of federal law. Moreover, the presence of this excerpted broadcast serves to heighten the likelihood that the public will be confused into believing that your website is somehow sponsored by or affiliated with 3ABN, which only furthers 3ABN's claim of trademark dilution.

Finally, we have been informed that you have maliciously published outrageous, highly damaging and defamatory statements about both Danny Shelton and 3ABN on this same website. These despicable statements include, but are not limited to:

- 3ABN, through its board chairman has "admitted in writing that Danny [Shelton] had been involved in a cover up" of criminal conduct
- Danny Shelton knowingly lied regarding a feud between Tommy Shelton and Glenn Dryden
- 3ABN directed an attorney to use "intimidation tactics to cover up allegations of child molestation"
- Danny Shelton attempted to cover up and silence child molestation allegations
- Danny Shelton "abuses his power" and "steam roll[s] over alleged victims of his brother Tommy's sexual misconduct."

(hereinafter the "Statements").

The obvious meaning of these horrendous falsehoods is that Danny Shelton and 3ABN participated in an orchestrated effort to cover up alleged criminal conduct. The actions you falsely attribute to our clients would be a crime and, as I am sure you are aware, false accusations of criminal conduct constitute defamation per se by you.

Therefore, on behalf of Three Angels Broadcasting Network and Mr. Danny Shelton, we hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the use of the domain name "save3ABN.com" and that you voluntarily surrender and transfer registration of the domain to 3ABN. You are also informed and hereby notified that you are not authorized to use and are, in fact, expressly prohibited from using, Three Angel [sic.] Broadcasting Network's name, or its trademarked nominer "3ABN" in any future website domain name or URL.

We also hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the publication of false statements concerning Danny Shelton and 3ABN and that you immediately remove such statements from the "www.save3abn.com" website. In the event that you receive any inquiries from any person or entity about the Statements, we demand you notify the inquiring party that you have been put on notice by Danny Shelton and 3ABN that the statements are false and defamatory.

While 3ABN is in no manner whatsoever beholden to explain itself to you, we proudly withstand the ongoing judgment of God and the continuing examination by our supporters and viewers. As evidenced both by the continued paths of ministry that God has opened at our feet and by the unwavering financial support and testimonials we receive from our supporters and viewers, we believe our ministry has more than satisfied the surveillance of both. Though it is a private enterprise, 3ABN has, for over 22 years, proudly engaged itself as a thoroughly transparent ministry, both in its message and administration. 3ABN has always invited the theological, operational, and financial scrutiny of its loyal and generous supporters and viewers. Unless constrained by legal obligations otherwise, 3ABN has provided financial and administrative information to inquiring parties and has opened its doors and offered access to independent auditors and investigative reporters. More than ever, we stand behind the legal propriety, moral correctness, intellectual honesty, financial soundness, and operational appropriateness of each and every business decision 3ABN has ever made.

As part of its commitment to passionately and effectively spread the Gospel and Good News of the Lord, 3ABN has always welcomed honest feedback, constructive criticism, and suggestions for improvement of the ministry. But its Christian commitment to the Truth will not allow 3ABN to tolerate factually unfounded allegations of impropriety, baseless and prurient gossip, inflammatory innuendo, and unjustified attacks on the organization. 3ABN does not approach such assaults as an objective effort to unmask "truth," but as the divisive and destructive work of the Enemy designed to hinder and frustrate God's work. 3ABN will not quietly resign itself to any effort to obstruct God's message.

Your reckless, willful and malicious activity must cease immediately; you proceed at your own peril. Moreover, your compliance with the demands contained in this letter does not constitute a waiver, relinquishment or abandonment of any right to remedy or enforcement, either legal or equitable, to which our clients are otherwise entitled.

Yours very truly,

Gerald S. Duffy"

hmmm.... No respect for the law whatsoever...

I'm sure that the accusers here are going to be outraged that 3ABN won't just let them continue with their ungodly methods and tactics...

But what else could you all expect after pushing all this slander, libel, gossip and unproven accusations, without handling it biblically, or even seeking to establish anything legally.

One can't reason with the unreasonable.

Thought I'd get Just my 2 cents in before Gregory buries you all in his rhetoric and justifications, where good is evil, evil is good and down is up, and all the accusers are Christlike..

I wrote "in case" becourse off the secound and third paragraphs on page three. Would a law firm really include apologetics in this type of communication?

NOTICE: This letter Constitutes a confidential legal communication, which is not for publication. The contents of this communication are subject to common law copyright and may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, in any form or media, without the express, written permission of the author.

GM: The above appears to me to be "boiler-plate." Of course, U.S. statute law confers copyright status upon this letter. However, the so-called "free-use" provisions of U.S. copyright law govern. Under those provisions I believe that I may reproduce it along with my comments and critique as I am doing here.

Gailon Arthur Joy:

This law firm represents Mr. Danny Shelton and the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc. ("3ABN"), which has informed us that you are involved in the use and exploitation of 3ABN's trademarked, copyrighted name in your website, "www.save3abn.com." Use of 3ABN's name without our client's license or other authorization to do so constitutes an illegal misappropriation of the same, in violation of state and federal copyright and trademark laws. Additionally, use of the phrase "3ABN" in your domain name is likely to cause confusion among the public as to the source, sponsorship or affiliation of your website, resulting in dilution of 3ABN's trademark, which is a separate and additional violation of federal law.

GM: There are two issues of interest in the above. The first is that this attorney is representing both Danny Shelton and 3-ABN. In so far as Danny Shelton is the President of 3-ABN, there is nothing ethically wrong with this dual representation. Danny has in private communications made statements to the effect that any legal expenses would be picked up by another person with so-called deep pockets [my words]. Again, that is neither illegal, nor unethical. If that person were to have paid for Danny's private legal expenses, those payments might be taxable income to Danny. However, my belief is that such is not currently the case. As President, 3-ABN has the obligation to defend Danny in any action that involves his duties as President.

GM: The second issues relates to the fact that 3ABN is a registered trademark, and has been copyrighted. The comment that such prevents Mr. Joy from using "3abn" in his domain name is subject to challenge. The comment may be correct. If so the court will enjoin future use. However, only litigation will settle that issue. The decision may not be that clear-cut. I will remind everyone that "SDA Kinship" has been allowed by the courts to keep "SDA" in its name contrary to the wish of the General Conference. In any case, if this issue is litigated, I suspect that other "Friend of the Court" briefs will be filed, if allowed.

It has also come to our attention that you have inappropriately copied and posted a lengthy excerpt from a 3ABN broadcast on the website referred to above. This action constitutes a violation of 3ABN's exclusive copyright on all audio and video productions created by the Network and on all television transmissions of the same, and is a blatant violation of federal law. Moreover, the presence of this excerpted broadcast serves to heighten the likelihood that the public will be confused into believing that your website is somehow sponsored by or affiliated with 3ABN, which only furthers 3ABN's claim of trademark dilution.

GM: U. S. copyright law governs here. This is not as clear-cut as it may seem. Under "fair use" one is generally allowed to copy a copyright product for the purpose of commenting and critiquing it. Should the court decide that was the intent, it just might be that 3-ABN would not be able to enjoin such use. It is the same principle that allows me to place "3-ABN" and "3ABN" in my posts.

Finally, we have been informed that you have maliciously published outrageous, highly damaging and defamatory statements about both Danny Shelton and 3ABN on this same website. These despicable statements include, but are not limited to:

- 3ABN, through its board chairman has "admitted in writing that Danny [Shelton] had been involved in a cover up" of criminal conduct
- Danny Shelton knowingly lied regarding a feud between Tommy Shelton and Glenn Dryden
- 3ABN directed an attorney to use "intimidation tactics to cover up allegations of child molestation"
- Danny Shelton attempted to cover up and silence child molestation allegations
- Danny Shelton "abuses his power" and "steam roll[s] over alleged victims of his brother Tommy's sexual misconduct."

(hereinafter the "Statements").

The obvious meaning of these horrendous falsehoods is that Danny Shelton and 3ABN participated in an orchestrated effort to cover up alleged criminal conduct. The actions you falsely attribute to our clients would be a crime and, as I am sure you are aware, false accusations of criminal conduct constitute defamation per se by you.

GM: Here we have an interesting issue. Should 3-ABN (or other individuals) file on the above grounds, the defense will attempt to prove that the claims are true. It should be noted that truth is not an absolute defense against such claims. The potential exists for the court to find the charges true, and still find in favor of the plaintiffs. However, that can only be determined by litigation. The question now becomes: Does any plaintiff want to be subject to the discovery that would take place in such litigation. And, if proven true, that might bar recovery of damages. The results of such litigation are simply not predictable.

Therefore, on behalf of Three Angels Broadcasting Network and Mr. Danny Shelton, we hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the use of the domain name "save3ABN.com" and that you voluntarily surrender and transfer registration of the domain to 3ABN. You are also informed and hereby notified that you are not authorized to use and are, in fact, expressly prohibited from using, Three Angel [sic.] Broadcasting Network's name, or its trademarked nominer "3ABN" in any future website domain name or URL.

GM: We now enter a field of law that is developing in regard to domain names. I believe that case law might be cited on both sides of this question. It may be that the plaintiff will be willing to litigate in the hope of further establishing a body of case law? Again, the result of litigation uncertain.

We also hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the publication of false statements concerning Danny Shelton and 3ABN and that you immediately remove such statements from the "www.save3abn.com" website. In the event that you receive any inquiries from any person or entity about the Statements, we demand you notify the inquiring party that you have been put on notice by Danny Shelton and 3ABN that the statements are false and defamatory.

GM: O. K. Let it be known that Danny Shelton and 3-ABN deny the charges.

While 3ABN is in no manner whatsoever beholden to explain itself to you, we proudly withstand the ongoing judgment of God and the continuing examination by our supporters and viewers. As evidenced both by the continued paths of ministry that God has opened at our feet and by the unwavering financial support and testimonials we receive from our supporters and viewers, we believe our ministry has more than satisfied the surveillance of both. More than ever, we stand behind the legal propriety, moral correctness, intellectual honesty, financial soundness, and operational appropriateness of each and every business decision 3ABN has ever made.

GM: The references to God hardly belong in a court of law. I would like to know more about the "independent auditors" and the extent to which 3-ABN has opened its books to inquiring parties.

As part of its commitment to passionately and effectively spread the Gospel and Good News of the Lord, 3ABN has always welcomed honest feedback, constructive criticism, and suggestions for improvement of the ministry. But its Christian commitment to the Truth will not allow 3ABN to tolerate factually unfounded allegations of impropriety, baseless and prurient gossip, inflammatory innuendo, and unjustified attacks on the organization. 3ABN does not approach such assaults as an objective effort to unmask "truth," but as the divisive and destructive work of the Enemy designed to hinder and frustrate God's work. 3ABN will not quietly resign itself to any effort to obstruct God's message.

Your reckless, willful and malicious activity must cease immediately; you proceed at your own peril. Moreover, your compliance with the demands contained in this letter does not constitute a waiver, relinquishment or abandonment of any right to remedy or enforcement, either legal or equitable, to which our clients are otherwise entitled.

GM: Here is a pretty clear statement that Mr. Joy potentially could comply with all requests and after he did so, find himself as a defendant in a lawsuit for his past behavior.

Yours very truly,

GM: More boiler plate. To what extent are we really to believe that Mr. Duffy is truly his?

Gerald S. Duffy

Alethia:

My post is actually a warning. There are many people posting here who could potentially become defendents in litigation. They need to decide whether or not they have the stomach for such. No one who understands the law really welcomes litigation. It is never a fun process. One can never really predict the outcome.

Several years ago I was asked by an attorney to advise him on certain aspects of a lawsuit that he planned to file in regard to the First Ammendment (U.S. Constitution) and religioius liberty. I advised him that he would lose. He informed me that he knew the Constitution better than I. I agreed with him and again told him that he would lose as I knew the case better than he. He filed, and lost.

He was an attorney who specialized the the area of law in which he filed. He was totally surprised that he lost. The issue is not that I was correct. The issue is that people can only make an educated guess as to the outcome of litigation. No one can predict with 100% certaintly the outcome.

I will suggest to you that Mr. Joy would rather settle this case without litigation. But, there are issues involved that prevent this from happening. There are issues that justly lie in the civil realm.

This potentially looks like it may be the beginning of the search for such a mode of settlement.

So, all read my posts, and make your own decision as to how you want to relate to becomming involved in future litigation.

Let me give you-all an illustration of "fair use" right out of real life:

Several years ago I became aware of a writer who published weekly on the Internet, and in print media. His mission in life was to post Christian art, and then make fun of it, the person who prioduced it, and those who beleived in Christ. It was more narrowly focused in Christ himself. Regularly he posted art from SDA publications, such as books by A.S. Maxwell, and other. Yes, he did this after Maxwell's death. He would have a field day in making fun of Maxwell and the item of art that he had published that week. Again, he would focus on the Christ figure in the art.

I took the evidence to the General Conference for violation of copywight. They infomed me that his use of copyrighted SDA art was included in the "fair use" doctrine and they could do nothing about it. He had the legal right to reporduce, in full, that SDA art.

The same principles apply to my use of that letter, and my posting it.

Alethia, there are other legal reasons why I will suggest that I was free to do so. But, if you want the full story, I will advise you to consult an attorney who specialized in copyright issues. I am not here to instruct you in the law.

Posted by: awesumtenor Feb 2 2007, 08:39 AM

I don't believe it a coincidence that this lawyer is from Minneapolis... or that ASI's pulling out of the dialog on this situation... is one either.

I would wager that one Garwin McNeilus is entering the fray... and knowing this cease and desist communique was coming down, ASI was merely getting out of his way...

I could be mistaken... but I dont think so.

In His service,
Mr. J

CERTIFIED / RETURN RECEIPT U.S. MAIL
NOTICE: This letter Constitutes a confidential legal communication, which is not for publication. The contents of this communication are subject to common law copyright and may not be reproduced, in whole or in part, in any form or media, without the express, written permission of the author.

GM: The above appears to me to be "boiler-plate." Of course, U.S. statute law confers copyright status upon this letter. However, the so-called "free-use" provisions of U.S. copyright law govern. Under those provisions I believe that I may reproduce it along with my comments and critique as I am doing here.

Gailon Arthur Joy:

This law firm represents Mr. Danny Shelton and the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, Inc. ("3ABN"), which has informed us that you are involved in the use and exploitation of 3ABN's trademarked, copyrighted name in your website, "www.save3abn.com." Use of 3ABN's name without our client's license or other authorization to do so constitutes an illegal misappropriation of the same, in violation of state and federal copyright and trademark laws. Additionally, use of the phrase "3ABN" in your domain name is likely to cause confusion among the public as to the source, sponsorship or affiliation of your website, resulting in dilution of 3ABN's trademark, which is a separate and additional violation of federal law.

GM: There are two issues of interest in the above. The first is that this attorney is representing both Danny Shelton and 3-ABN. In so far as Danny Shelton is the President of 3-ABN, there is nothing ethically wrong with this dual representation. Danny has in private communications made statements to the effect that any legal expenses would be picked up by another person with so-called deep pockets [my words]. Again, that is neither illegal, nor unethical. If that person were to have paid for Danny's private legal expenses, those payments might be taxable income to Danny. However, my belief is that such is not currently the case. As President, 3-ABN has the obligation to defend Danny in any action that involves his duties as President.

GM: The second issues relates to the fact that 3ABN is a registered trademark, and has been copyrighted. The comment that such prevents Mr. Joy from using "3abn" in his domain name is subject to challenge. The comment may be correct. If so the court will enjoin future use. However, only litigation will settle that issue. The decision may not be that clear-cut. I will remind everyone that "SDA Kinship" has been allowed by the courts to keep "SDA" in its name contrary to the wish of the General Conference. In any case, if this issue is litigated, I suspect that other "Friend of the Court" briefs will be filed, if allowed.
It has also come to our attention that you have inappropriately copied and posted a lengthy excerpt from a 3ABN broadcast on the website referred to above. This action constitutes a violation of 3ABN's exclusive copyright on all audio and video productions created by the Network and on all television transmissions of the same, and is a blatant violation of federal law. Moreover, the presence of this excerpted broadcast serves to heighten the likelihood that the public will be confused into believing that your website is somehow sponsored by or affiliated with 3ABN, which only furthers 3ABN's claim of trademark dilution.

GM: U. S. copyright law governs here. This is not as clear-cut as it may seem. Under "fair use" one is generally allowed to copy a copyright product for the purpose of commenting and critiquing it. Should the court decide that was the intent, it just might be that 3-ABN would not be able to enjoin such use. It is the same principle that allows me to place "3-ABN" and "3ABN" in my posts.

Finally, we have been informed that you have maliciously published outrageous, highly damaging and defamatory statements about both Danny Shelton and 3ABN on this same website. These despicable statements include, but are not limited to:

- 3ABN, through its board chairman has "admitted in writing that Danny [Shelton] had been involved in a cover up" of criminal conduct

- Danny Shelton knowingly lied regarding a feud between Tommy Shelton and Glenn Dryden
- 3ABN directed an attorney to use "intimidation tactics to cover up allegations of child molestation"
- Danny Shelton attempted to cover up and silence child molestation allegations
- Danny Shelton "abuses his power" and "steam roll[s] over alleged victims of his brother Tommy's sexual misconduct."

(hereinafter the "Statements").

The obvious meaning of these horrendous falsehoods is that Danny Shelton and 3ABN participated in an orchestrated effort to cover up alleged criminal conduct. The actions you falsely attribute to our clients would be a crime and, as I am sure you are aware, false accusations of criminal conduct constitute defamation per se by you.

GM: Here we have an interesting issue. Should 3-ABN (or other individuals) file on the above grounds, the defense will attempt to prove that the claims are true. It should be noted that truth is not an absolute defense against such claims. The potential exists for the court to find the charges true, and still find in favor of the plaintiffs. However, that can only be determined by litigation. The question now becomes: Does any plaintiff want to be subject to the discovery that would take place in such litigation. And, if proven true, that might bar recovery of damages. The results of such litigation are simply not predictable.

Therefore, on behalf of Three Angels Broadcasting Network and Mr. Danny Shelton, we hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the use of the domain name "save3ABN.com" and that you voluntarily surrender and transfer registration of the domain to 3ABN. You are also informed and hereby notified that you are not authorized to use and are, in fact, expressly prohibited from using, Three Angel [sic.] Broadcasting Network's name, or its trademarked nominer "3ABN" in any future website domain name or URL.

GM: We now enter a field of law that is developing in regard to domain names. I believe that case law might be cited on both sides of this question. It may be that the plaintiff will be willing to litigate in the hope of further establishing a body of case law? Again, the result of litigation uncertain.

We also hereby demand that you immediately cease and desist from the publication of false statements concerning Danny Shelton and 3ABN and that you immediately remove such statements from the "www.save3abn.com" website. In the event that you receive any inquiries from any person or entity about the Statements, we demand you notify the inquiring party that you have been put on notice by Danny Shelton and 3ABN that the statements are false and defamatory.

GM: O. K. Let it be known that Danny Shelton and 3-ABN deny the charges.

While 3ABN is in no manner whatsoever beholden to explain itself to you, we proudly withstand the ongoing judgment of God and the continuing examination by our supporters and viewers. As evidenced both by the continued paths of ministry that God has opened at our feet and by the unwavering financial support and testimonials we receive from our supporters and viewers, we believe our ministry has more than satisfied the surveillance of both. Though it is a private enterprise, 3ABN has, for over 22 years, proudly engaged itself as a thoroughly transparent ministry, both in its message and administration. 3ABN has always invited the theological, operational, and financial scrutiny of its loyal and generous supporters and viewers. Unless constrained by legal obligations otherwise, 3ABN has provided financial and administrative information to inquiring parties and has opened its doors and offered access to independent auditors and investigative reporters. More than ever, we stand behind the legal propriety, moral correctness, intellectual honesty, financial soundness, and operational appropriateness of each and every business decision 3ABN has ever made.

GM: The references to God hardly belong in a court of law. I would like to know more about the "independent auditors" and the extent to which 3-ABN has opened its books to inquiring parties.

> As part of its commitment to passionately and effectively spread the Gospel and Good News of the Lord, 3ABN has always welcomed honest feedback, constructive criticism, and suggestions for improvement of the ministry. But its Christian commitment to the Truth will not allow 3ABN to tolerate factually unfounded allegations of impropriety, baseless and prurient gossip, inflammatory innuendo, and unjustified attacks on the organization. 3ABN does not approach such assaults as an objective effort to unmask "truth," but as the divisive and destructive work of the Enemy designed to hinder and frustrate God's work. 3ABN will not quietly resign itself to any effort to obstruct God's message.

Vell Mr. Matthews, now that you stated that you are not a "Lawyer" you might think about getting one. It eems that the 3-some of Joy, Matthews, and Pickle were warned again and again of the liability they were aking on for the slanderous statements you guys were making and promoting. awyers are good people.

I have stated a number of times that I believe this will end in litigation, and that such will be the only appropriate way to resolve some of the issues.

And the sky fell. And much that was wrong was destroyed and with it some that was right. And out of the rubble rose a cleaner world. And a bluer sky. And the sun shone on both good and evil. And earth, quite unconcerned with the events, compleated another journey around the sun.

another one of your thoughts? People are still free to more or less say what they want.... even in the sda church... even though there are some people who would like to prevent such from occurring... what camp are you in Task Force? Whatever... you forget a little thing called the First Amendment... which gives you the right to sound like the village idiot... and me the right to say you sound like the village idiot.

Where it gets dicey is when you and those of your ilk decide to do your shouting "FIRE" in a crowded theater act... and even that is a failure on your part seeing that it has not had nearly the effect you anticipated.

Oh, I'm for free speech ... until it hurts others. I saw an example on TV one time that had a woman who was shouting "i have the right to have as many children as I want!!" Her adversary said, "yes you do, but DON'T expect me to pay for them" She was on welfare and each additional child meant she got a bigger check. The man had an interesting story. Duane, have tried to understand her thinking, I have asked her for clarification and have asked her questions of my own but I have finally had to admit that she and I interpret things differently.
Cindy said it all with her remark "One can't reason with the unreasonable".

r. Bystander,

o you understand what "boilerplate" language is?
o you understand what "fair use" means?

nd as for "good luck", with all the unkind things I have seen posted regarding Mr. Joy by you and others, he ust got a major boost in credibility in my eyes. He has just posted an email he sent to Gerry Spence on the ave3abn.com website.

e have seen the threatening letters sent by those representing 3ABN. If Mr. Joy is confident enough in his acts as to be willing to contact someone like Gerry Spence........"good luck" in your ongoing attempts to onfuse the issues with your posts on this website.

would assume, and I could be wrong, that a lawfirm would include whatever their client wanted to include. hese comments about a "real law firm" are rather ridiculous when phone numbers and email addresses are iven. Obviously anyone could check and see if they are "real." So lets not waste time on questioning something that elementery.

We have seen the threatening letters sent by those representing 3ABN. If Mr. Joy is confident enough in his facts as to be willing to contact someone like Gerry Spence........"good luck" in your ongoing attempts to confuse the issues with your posts on this website.

Mr. Joy has invited criticism by the way that he has handled this whole situation. I might add for the hundreth time that he has no credentials to handle anything of this nature. So, when you say"he has gained credibility with you" that is saying that he had "some credibility" to begin with and he does not. He is not an a licensed "investigator", or an "official reporter", or a "licensed attorney." It would seem that he has no more business than you or I to do what he has been doing. Therefore, the fact than he had any credibility with the people on this forum has never ceased to amaze me. The same goes for Pickle just how is this going to fix anything by sueing, your group does not not need to sue only put the facts out and let them be decide.

inless you are gambling that you can scare the problem away.

by the way you can name me in suit if you want i could care less the truth is the truth, at least untill you get in to court once what the judge believes is the truth just remember that after you lose.

Mr. Bystander. I have read a large percentage of the 3abn posts since joining BlackSDA including the posts by those who have expressed opinions about Mr. Joy's past legal difficulties and what his crime was or was not. I am not impressed by your statement above that Mr. Joy is not a licensed investigator or official reporter. Who cares? I had made the assumption that Mr. Joy was familiar with the law more than the average person. Can you or someone enlighten me as to what his professional and educational experience is/was without commenting on it?

Can you point me to facts (other than the embezzlement issue that has been rehashed over and over) and not just your opinion as to his lack of credentials as to why I should not find him credible. Again, I want verifiable facts and not your opinions.

I hvae been interested to watch this topic develop. I began this thread with a post of a message recieved by Mr. Joy. In general, the majority of the comments have ammounted to threats toward me for posting it, and other stuff. In my posting, I made comments in regard to the issues as stated in that message to Mr. Joy. My comments may be challenged. They may (?) be wrong. But, generally people have not posted to challenge me. I am comming to the conclusion that people must agree with what I said.

The last time I checked Gerry Spence is a lawyer who doesn't play. He doesn't take cases that he is not sure that he would win. Gailon may not have a law firm, but he is a man who knows where to go to get credible and expert legal advice. Hmmmm.. .That sounds like he is quite resourceful.

It is now quite a while back that Danny Shelton wrote me and told me about this good friend of his who would help him out. It was quite interesting that Danny informed me that his friend used 14 lawyers to convince people he was telling the truth. You will notice there are 14 lawyers listed on the letterhead posted here!

ust carrying your little "taunt" to its logical conclusion. You don't seem to be the original Bystander so I'm ilso quite certain that you are telling the truth when you say you aren't Danny. And so attacking of the messengers continues. The 3abn camp cannot debate the issues without admiting guilt so they go after those digging for truth. If they are so right let them debate the issues. Ha, like that will happen.

If Tommy and Danny are truly men of God, let them come on here and lay it all on the line, with their own names. Let Tommy talk man to man with Duane on these boards. But no they would rather let their hired hands, or maybe a rich donors hired hand, go after those digging up the facts. How pathetic can you get? Men of God indeed, taking others to court. As they say money talks, and those with the money think having it proves they are right. Hog wash. It only proves they might have been good businessmen (and women).

If Danny really wants to cool down the talk all he has to do is be honest. Simple as that. Lay down the cards, face up, suffer the end results and pretty soon the BSDA 3ABN board will be but a memory. (As might very well be Danny, family and friends)

Basking in forgiven love,

Richard

Richard, you might be confused at your location. You say let them come here and lay it all on the line. Now why on earth would they need to come here for anything? This is not a court of law, nor is it a judicial hearing with both sides represented. This is just one little chat rooms out of thousands on the web. Danny, Tommy or even Linda for that matter do not owe you or anyone on this public forum any kind of explanations. It never ceases to amaze me when someone on here says if they don't have anything to hide, let them come here and refute these accusation....That is laughable. If they want to refute accusations, or tell their side of the story, they will do it somewhere where it counts...and that won't be here.....

erry interresting ... For someone so knowledgeable about a very conservative Adventist "ministry," this "Bystander" is not very familiar with conservative Adventism. Does that mean that Bystander is not an Adventist? Does that mean that Bystander has not been an Adventist for long? Does that mean that Bystander is really not that seriously interested in what interests the viewers of the network? Does that mean that this Bystander is a much more "liberal" Adventist?

At any rate, I must say that this version of Bystander is more educated than a former version and does not seem to know the same kinds of things the former version knew. While the last version was likely resident at 3ABN, this one might not be, even while very knowledgeable about 3ABN ... perhaps from having written a book about 3ABN?

Ok anywhere is fine. Goodgrief I don't care where just as long as they do it where there will be transparency. Let them all tell the truth and get it over and behind us. However these boards seem to be on the cutting edge of the 3abn issue at the present time.

This is not a court of law, nor is it a judicial hearing with both sides represented. This is just one little chat rooms out of thousands on the web. Danny, Tommy or even Linda for that matter do not owe you or anyone on this public forum any kind of explanations. It never ceases to amaze me when someone on here says if they don't have anything to hide, let them come here and refute these accusation....That is laughable. If they want to refute accusations, or tell their side of the story, they will do it somewhere where it counts...and that won't be here.....

How about public opinion? If Danny was not concerned, why would he mention Internet lists to the world? If I had no questions before, I would sure go looking after he complained about the "lies" that were written. It is my guess that I am not the only curious soul.

I agree that you are not the only curious soul, however, many do not have access to the internet, or if they do, they do not believe what they read just because it is printed there. Of course he would be concerned about any untruths being put on the net but I, specifically, was talking only about this little forum and how some seem to think that Danny and 3abn should come here to "clear" themselves. That thinking is very unrealistic.

Do you know that several posts back I said Happy Sabbath adn invited you to the SS lesson Study, and you completely ignored me? You cant be kind for moment on the Sabbath? Yes it would be unrealistic, because they know (you know) it won't work. They can not clear themselves any longer in the court of public opinion. It's too late, gone too far, too much out. So that is very unrealistic. (Even though they have tried).

Bad ideal for Linda, Tommy or Danny to come here. They would have nothing to gain. Would what they have to say really change anybodies mind? I don't think so. Just add more drama. It would still be more he/she said. We already have that.

f you are correct that Garwin M is "entering the fray" 3abn is fortunate indeed. There is a man who knows bout big business..ie..how things should be done legally and in an appropriate fashion. He knows financial ules and regulations and he knows all about board & administrative leadership. He is also known for never nvolving himself in any organization unless they are squeaky clean and above board in all areas. The fact hat he has supported 3abn gives me a lot of confidence about the way things are done there.
s far as the statement that ASI was just trying to get out of his way, I doubt if that would have been ecessary.

Vhy ignore the facts simply because someone who may not know what is going on is supportive of 3ABN?

y the way, I've had a lot of respect for Garwin over the years. His father Linden and I were friends.

ne time when I preached in Dodge Center after Linden had his stroke, the fellow that was taking care of him old me that they couldn't keep Linden done. He just had to go out and witness. So he'd drive Linden omewhere, Linden would hold the literature in the car, and this fellow would take it to the door. Linden vould say, "I love this message."

hat would make a good sermon illustration, wouldn't it? A man who has been partly incapacitated by a stroke goes out there and does what little he can, and what are we doing?

So you had to? I'm sorry I disagree, even a child can figure out you can warn people and say why without quoting a private letter...

It was my intention to post my comments directly following the letter without comments, as that is generally considered fair and appropriate. You interjected your own comment between the two. But, I cannot be held accountable for what you did.

Again, I disagree, the fact that you think everytime you quote something you have the right to be the first to post and need to interpret it and explain it to everyone, seems to me to say you think you are somehow more intelligent or more qualified then others and they can't understand without your commentary. I don't happen to think your opinion has any more value or merit then any of the others here. In my view it's arrogance on your part, and insulting to the intelligence of all here, no matter what side of these issues they are on. The fact that you think people need to respect your right to speak first, and find fault with me for expressing my opinion before yours, just bolsters that impression..

You wrote in another post in this thread:

"I hvae been interested to watch this topic develop. I began this thread with a post of a message recieved by Mr. Joy. In general, the majority of the comments have ammounted to threats toward me for posting it, and other stuff. In my posting, I made comments in regard to the issues as stated in that message to Mr. Joy. My comments may be challenged. They may (?) be wrong. But, generally people have not posted to challenge me. I am comming to the conclusion that people must agree with what I said."

I have seen no threats??? {quote one, if I have missed it] And perhaps you should consider that you are entitled to your opinion, and arguing with someones opinions is generally a waste of time. Opinions aren't facts, and whether someone does or does not argue with you about yours doesn't mean you are right or wrong.

Time, and events will tell...

I'll quote Bystander here, because he said it well:
"You start out saying that you are not a lawyer, yet, you tempt fate by posting this letter when it specifically says that it is not to be published. It would seem you must put a lot of stock in your own opinion of what you "believe" you are allowed to do or not do, under the law.

Do you want ALL the gory details about what happened? Yes, I left out a lot -- ON PURPOSE!!! This is not the place to be discussing EXACTLY what happened.

I owe you NO explanation whatsoever. You've already decided, apparently, that none of these allegations are true, which means you think I'm a liar.

I have never used the words "child molestation" in reference to myself. You're beating a dead horse. Why don't you wake up and read for a change, instead of trying to make things say what you want them to say.

I can see now why some victims of abuse wait years to come forward, and some never do. It's because of people like you.

Duane, I do have royalty - I'm from Norway.

But I was speaking of the type of royalty in the Bible.

But no, I am not related to Danny or Linda. I don't know them, never have spoken to either of them ever! I do watch sermons occasionally on 3ABN by certain speakers like Doug Batchelor and also on the Hope channel. Some of these programs have really been a blessing to me and are worth watching.

Last night Danny interviewed Herb Douglas. Was told he had been a pastor. I got the tail end of the conversation. Can anyone give me some info about this man? Looks like he is retired. Is he working or volunteering at 3ABN? Thanks.

Herb Douglass is retired and spent his career in various administrative capacities at PUC, AUC, Pacific Press and other conference related positions. He is a prolific author (20 books), and his latest book is "Truth Matters". I don't think he is doing more than being interviewed on 3abn, but I could be wrong. I saw a rebroadcast of Danny interviewing him on 3abn Today Friday afternoon. It was a very thought provoking interview and it is most obvious that Herb is a very dedicated man of God.

Good morrow witness, maybe you ought to go look at the #17 post and consider that slander has to be a lie.

When and where did this meeting take place? Shall we give everything else in this quote the credibility this statement gives you? Are you a lying/slandering Witness? A false witness.... Witness? "Hearken unto thine own words lest thou be shown a fool twice." Should Danny perhaps also consider the matter of lying and slander in his letter to BSDA in which he openly lied? Maybe he should also go look at post #17?

would like to revise the last sentence in the above statement to reflect my true feelings. I would like to apologize to Tommy for singling him out. I did that because he has been the topic of posts for some time now.

I read Bystanders complaint and thought about it all Sabbath, and decided to make my comment clear. Since I made this comment directed to you, I feel the apology and corrected statement should be made to you since Bystander has chosen not to speak to me. That, by the way is no problem for me. Silence from that end is golden.

The sentence should have read, "All molesters, rapist, pedophiles, and all sexual criminals, come on down to Texas, but wait until this law passes please." This is what I meant. I did not mean just Tommy. I will be more careful in the future.

I believe in the proposed law. Our society is like that of Sodom and Gomorrah. Sexual practices were abhorrent. God burned the city and Lot's wife turned into salt for looking back.

However, the sin went out with them. The daughters went after Daddy to commit incest. So, as you can see, males and females are molesters, pedophiles, and rapists.

My comment was to express my opinion that I wish every male or female that is a molester, pedophile, or rapist should come to Texas for their 3rd conviction trial, after the law passes. That does not mean I want them to commit their 3rd act, or any act, in the state of Texas. I just would like them to be tried in Texas. (Fat chance, huh? There's something about having to be tried in the state of the crime.)

Something has to be done. Would I want this penalty given to my brother, sister, son, daughter, mother, or father? If they were/are guilty, I have to give a resounding YES! I believe this law would be a step in the right direction.

Yes, he is a dedicated to the Lord. I personally knew him when he was a religion professor at Pacific Union College. He is a conservative Seventh-day Adventist, and he has been active in Weimar, an independent health treatment facility and educational institution. He is a strong supporter of Ellen White, and a scholar in his own right.

ran,

hank you for writing this correction. I was uncomfortable with the original but felt you were entitled to your pinion.

lthough I do not support the death penalty under any circumstances and certainly question the Board (I on't immediately recall its official name) that oversees such things in TX, I would support lifetime mprisonment for a 3rd offense.

Fran, even though silence from me is golden, I give you a lot of credit for your apology. I believe in the death penalty in certain situations but recoiled at the "invite" and the seeming tone of enjoyment. Anyway, I appreciate the forum apology.

Altheia, welcome back, I thought you were gone forever.
Yes, I would also like to know if Mr. Spence has consented to defend Mr. Joy. SInce receiving the letter to cease and desist, Mr. Joy has put more and more accusations on his site, so he will definitely need someone to defend him. Of course with his extensive legal and investigative expertise, I would think he could defend himself.

Ask Yahoo's Aletheia, over at the following Yahoo board:

http://groups.yahoo.com/group/adventism_prophecy/message/9183

Yahoo's Aletheia says that "lawsuits are pending, and this is all coming to a head, and many are going to be sued for slander and libel etc.."

Is Yahoo's Aletheia sure there are pending lawsuits? Has she seen any papers, etc? How many lawsuits does Yahoo's Aletheia think there are?

Yahoo's Aletheia also says, "Go to www.blacksda.com, and click on the 3abn forum also Maritime. It's all one sided, and hypocritical, and evil surmisings for the most part."

Seems to me Yahoo's Aletheia has done some surmising of her own, unless she knows something we don't.

ete, hank you SO much for putting up that link to Al_etheia's post! It is stunningly revealing about her true genda, and either her lack of honesty or her lack of understanding of what is being posted here and why. I articularly took notice of her statement "They also don't like questions, or people who claim to be earching for the truth."

s one claiming to be searching for truth myself, I certainly have not found this to be the case for me from he majority of the members. Of course I have found this to be true when I have asked questions of members vho do not approve of the 3abn Forum discussions. Sometimes, even with this particular group of members, I ave been pleased to receive informative answers.

don't know if Calvin and the administrators would approve, but this particular statement by Al_etheia would nake a great topic of discussion, IMO, especially now that she is back with us and can discuss and defend her laims.

I got word this morning from a friend of mine who had talked to Danny and who said that I'm going to get sued.

But I told him that I really don't think Danny is going to sue. For one thing, following Matthew 18, one would expect Danny to at least let me know where he thinks I have erred in anything I've said, and I don't recall him doing that.

For another thing, I was told that Danny plans on bringing some sort of evidence into court that would prove Linda's guilt. But what would that have to do with me? I haven't gone around saying that Linda just has to be innocent, have I?

Gailon thinks Danny really is going to sue, but on that point we disagree. I'm not going to believe it till I see it.

s I have noted before... if he sues you, you (or your attorney) will get the opportunity to ask him all of the uestions he has stonewalled on... under oath and on the record and that record can be entered into evidence n other court proceedings...

iven the cloud hanging over Tommy's head and the investigations into allegations of fiscal malfeasance, his uing you, then, would be the equivalent of putting the noose around his own neck and standing on the chair nd then asking if someone can give him a push...

ut hey; this is america... so he can do whatever floats his boat... but I cannot understand why those who laim to have his best interests at heart are not telling him that putting himself in a position where he has to ace legal discovery is not ultimately a good thing for him... maybe they are only interested in his best nterests as long as they line up with their own...

Well, I am quite sure when he and the board consulted with the minn. 14 as someone referred to them, that they did not tell him what could, would and should need to come out. What would 14 attorney's know? Thankfully Danny has you to explain it to everyone because he, obviously, has no idea what to expect.

As usual J you are sooo against Danny & 3abn but yet have not brought anything to the table to prove your accusations. With all of your arrogance and pomp and circumstance, you are a follower..not a leader. They all gossip and speculate and you follow, never requesting proof from your own side.

Bob;

Maybe he wants you to be "convicted" with the same charges your were/are being convicted of stated in the other thread.

I hope that is it. Jesus would come sooner than we thought!

If no one has Googled "Bob Pickle convicted" you should! Then you can see who the real Pickle is!

Since the letter from the law firm to Mr. Joy states they believe he is exploiting the use of the 3ABN trademark, I thought I would post this discussion of recent results in other litigations involving websites with similar names.

Yes, NW. Sure hope Calvin sees this and takes notice and prepares to fight each instance of 'possible' infringement. I believe that he will be vindicated under the same reasoning given below from the web site cited by NW. Actually it was under the Comments section called WIPO Corrupt:

"All lawyers know these cases should legally depend upon use of the domain e.g. lucasnursery.com decision by the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that this domain did not violate the law. The female owner used the name of Lucas Nursery to complain about them. Just like I use WIPO.org.uk to complain about UN WIPO.org."

What do you think of this arbitration possibility, Calvin?

We can't catch everything that is going on. But there are strong allegations someone knew of Danny Shelton flying to Madison WI on March 15, where he picked up Mr. Thompson. They flew from there to Minneapolis. After a meeting with important persons (lawyers), Danny delivered Thompson at Madison on his way home.

About a week later a number of posts were made on BSDA about lawsuits. Some of them sounded as if they'd conquered the world, but now we hear no more. Stillness before the storm?

They will have their problems, because within the last week more witnesses are joining to testify what is the truth in this matter.

These are witnesses that will not be bought nor sold.

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Can One Defy The 3abn Board & Get Away With It?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 28 2007, 05:42 PM

A new page has been posted at http://www.Save3ABN.com/. http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-ethical-allegations-defy-the-board.htm

A couple issues appear to be raised on that page, based on a statement by Dr. Walt Thompson:

- Linda was terminated for defying the board, but in what way she defied the board remains unclear.
- Danny has apparently defied the board on more than one occasion, and is still employed by 3ABN.

Two examples regarding the latter are given:

- After the board voted not to pay Brandy Elswick, Danny funneled money to her anyway through another non-profit.
- After the board determined that Tommy could no longer work at 3ABN in the early 1990's, he got to work for them anyway on a contract basis.

I think there are three sources for the first example, since Brandy did not keep it a secret what was going on.

Anyone have any information that would help counter this latest material from http://www.Save3ABN.com/? Any examples of board directives that Linda defied? Copies of board minutes authorizing continued "employment" by Tommy Shelton? Copies of board minutes authorizing funneling of money to Brandy Elswick through that other non-profit?

By the way, how does one get copies of the board minutes? I've been wondering that for a long time. In a church setting, you just ask the church clerk and she would get them for you, but I don't know what to do in this situation.

I was not sure about the answer so my quick research confirmed what I thought was true...

Q: Do we have to open our board meetings to the public?

A. No. Private nonprofit corporations generally are not subject to state open meeting and record laws, typically known as "sunshine laws," that apply to governmental or quasi-governmental bodies, such as school boards. Such laws do not cover nonprofit corporations that are public charities and not controlled by a government entity.

http://www.probonopartner.org/publications/pbpfaq.htm#Questions%20Relating%20to%20Board%20Meetings%20and%20Corporate%20Governance

I have not researched this extensively but I doubt they are required to produce them.

However, the same website also says the following about another issue that has been discussed here regarding duel roles:

Q. IS the Executive Director of our organization allowed to sit on the board of directors?

A. There is nothing per se illegal or impermissible about an executive director also serving as a member of a not-for-profit's board of directors. Under such circumstances, however, it is highly advisable that the organization have a conflict of interest policy to ensure that the no director (including the executive director) will participate in any votes on issues where she, her relatives or related entities stand to benefit. Many organizations choose to avoid the issue all together by having a policy prohibiting the executive director from serving as a voting board member. Under these circumstances, the executive director is usually invited to attend all board meetings in her staff capacity and to keep the board apprised of all important programmatic, financial and administrative developments but has no right to vote and can be excluded when the board goes into executive session.

NW,
This IS very interesting. It also makes complete sense in that it allows a board of directors to keep their decisions focused on the health of the business instead of getting tainted by the personalilty or personal problems of the Executive Director.

There are 4 people involved who will testify to the fact that is a huge lie. The person that made that allegation to begin with was shown the proof otherwise but since he was removed he has to have something to stir the pot. I hope I am around when you have to prove this as well as other statements that you and joy have made that are totally false. Either you need to quit spinning or get some more credible sources, because the ones that you and sister keep coming up with are really falling short.

You raise a very important issue here. In seccular society the Board controls the direction of the company.

The CEO (or Director) is the agent who carries out the direction of the Board. Typically, the Board will set the general, overal goals and direction of the company. It will typically neither consider nor get involved in the details as to how the company is managed. If it objects to the manner in which the CEO (Director) is running the company, that person will be replaced. But, short of replacemenet, the Board will not micro-manage the company.

That model is in contra-distinction to the typical situation that exists in the SDA Church, from the Conference level (or higher) on down to the local congregation. On the Conference level, the Board will often simply "rubber-stamp" the agenda brought to it by the Conference President. In this situation, the Board may not even control its agenda. Typically Conference Boards get involved in such stuff as voting to move pastors. Such is micro-management that would not happen in a typical secular Board, which would not be involved in employment decisions that involved people below the Executive level.

On a local level, we see this in situations where the Board votes whether or not to pay the electric bill this month, and/or the pastor's long distance telephone bill.

This situation gives local pastors, and Conference Presidents the power of a King--they control the Executive Board.

While I have no first-hand involvement in the workings of the 3-ABN Board. It appears to me that it is organized in the manner of the typical denominational Board. That is to say that it serves to rubber-stamp the agenda of the CEO--Danny Shelton. It does this rather than setting long-term goals and mission.

If I am correct, is this good, or is it bad? Well, people will undoubtably argue over this. I can well immagine that denominational leaders will support what I see as the typical mode of operation in the SDA Church. In any case, if I am correct, the 3-ABN Board is simply following the norm for SDA organizations, in my opinon.

Personally, I believe that there is a better way, and that better way is modeled by the seccular model that I have mentioned. But, the problem, in my thinking, is that such a model would give up control. For, as long as the CEO complies with the direction (mission) of the Board, the Board will not bother that person. e.g. The Board will not discuss the CEO's telephone bill, and/or the CEO's travel expenses, and a whole lot more.

Well, just my thinking.

Good. There is proof that that is false. Please get the proof ASAP so that we can lay this one to rest.

My understanding is that there were three different sources for that story. But of course they could all be wrong. And proving that they are would be a great blessing.

P.S. On second thought, you didn't specify what you were talking about. Which issue were your referring to? Linda defying the board? Brandy getting paid anyway? Tommy getting to work for 3ABN anyway on a contract basis? Which one is false?

Good post, Observer (and nw). Makes one wonder when relgious organizations will come up to the standards of secular organizations (more specifically, gov't). Probably depends on how "above board" they'd like to appear. It's really too bad that gov't has gotten so far ahead of religion, like with their "sunshine laws," but maybe it's typical for religion to lag far behind (thinking of Gallileo and the Church).

Know what, Clay? Like the old people say in the Caribbean, "ah gon' res' dem to de foot ah deh cross." That"s my resolution...to leave the 3ABN defenders, offenders, even the pretenders, at the foot of the cross.

Rubber-stamping can only occur if board members fail to do their homework and choose to be rubber stampers. Admittedly, that is often, if not usually, the case. But if folks who are board members took their position seriously, this need not happen.

Otoh, the "micro-managing" is done because administrators in the Adventist church are not supposed to have "kingly power," with the board having input on all significant decisions. The way our organization is set up gives our adminstrators less power than the typical CEO.

When things don't function as they should, it's because board members fail to exercise their perogative in the face of a strong leader. That is not the fault of the system.

Again, the "power of a king" is at the discretion of the church board. If board members take their responsibility seriously, the pastor is not allowed such control.

I'm speaking from the experience of many years of being a board member on various church boards. I can assure you that no pastor excercised undue "kingly power" while I was on the board. Some pastors are fine with that -- relieved, actually. Other pastors get quite distressed. But that is their problem, no one else's.

As I understand it, the difference with the 3ABN board is that it is not a board elected by its constituents, as are the boards at the conference and local church levels. A board appointed by the CEO naturally does not have the same powers as the local church boards and the conference boards and/or conference committees.

While I agree with Gregory on most issues, on this one I quite disagree.

Inga, I expected disagreement.

Even where you have disagreed with me, there is some truth in what you say. But, I do not believe that truth makes what I have said wrong.

Perhaps this is the question: Does the view presented by Inga, or that of Gregory more faithful to reality? That question recognizes that both positions exist, and only asks which is normative.

If the CEO appoints them, wouldn't the 3ABN board members be as influential as a pork roast at a Jewish Bar Mitzvah?

That's a good one, Pete!!!

I also see both sides of the argument regarding the board. The big difference that I see between 3ABN and the SDA church structure is the ongoing question as to whether or not 3ABN is a business. Sure, they call themselves a ministry, but the Illinois tax case disagreed, and won thus far...

If 3ABN is truly a business, then perhaps the board should not be hand-picked by the CEO but rather appointed by the "shareholders in the pews".

If they truly are a ministry, then I guess the hand-picked idea is OK if that's how it works in the SDA structure, but then some other things should probably change... BTJM......

Seems like a good place to post something I posted over at maritime about dealing with the board, or trying to. Here is what I said to Daryls question - "Did Linda Shelton ask to meet with the 3ABN Board and was refused?"

my reply (also at http://www.maritime-sda-online.org/forums/ubbthreads.php?ubb=showflat&Number=87230&page=0&PHPSESSID=7cf2e03e7b3167cd43f0540f7ecdbb1f#Post87230)

"Daryl,

Some of what I know about the board issues.

In May of 2004, Dan told Linda things like,
-it won't do you any good to meet with the board
-your finished
-it will only humiliate you to go the board and other things to discourage her from thinking that the board would listen to her. She had already heard one sided conversations of Dan on the phone with various board members (which there is no proof it was a real phone call with someone on the other side listening to Dan or not) telling them things about her, and he would hang up and come right to her and say
-it won't do you any good to go talk to them
-they think your this and such and your finished!

He wanted her to feel that it was hopeless and a done deal. She clearly knew that they were getting only one side - Dan's side - and that it would do no good to go the board and try to tell them anything herself. The board was mostly men, and she may have felt they had already accepted what Dan said and that was that.

At this time, as everything was moving very fast, she was an emotional wreck, feeling beat down, and that it seemed it was hopeless and a done deal for certain, that they wouldn't even listen to her, she decided to write a letter to the board (and I believe Johann helped her write this letter). This was during campmeeting time. In her letter she said "I guess I'm fired..." . She was writing this based on the things Dan said to her of how the board felt. She believed Dan as to what the board had told him already by this point. Looking back now, I'm sure she has great doubts about what was true coming from Dan in this regard.

After she wrote her letter to the board, no one on that board bothered to contact her about anything.

By December of 2005, Linda and Dr. Thompson had been emailing back and forth, Linda asking for a committee of people to meet with (and/or the board) and talk to, and that discussion continued until she received an email from Dan that basically said that if she was going to meet with anyone, Dan would have to be the one she went through, that he was not going to let her go around him. That ended that attempt.

Although, in Feb of 2005, she did contact both Larry Welch and May Chung. Larry said he wasn't the one to talk to, and May hung up on her.

She had made attempts to speak to board members. They were not interested."

I have an ethical problem with you asking for 3ABN board minutes here. If you do get the minutes, do not post them on BlackSDA without 3ABN written consent. I know enough about non-profit boards to know that board minutes are private and privileged communication.

Everyone, in your zest to get to the truth or for whatever reason you have an interest in 3abn, I will not expose BSDA or myself to any foreseen liability.

Not much more then just May wasn't interested in talking to Linda or about anything with her, hence the hang up.

Do you know why?

Are they ready to testify to the love of the 3ABN Jesus that you have accurately reflected here on BSDA? Are they ready to testify to the world how Christ-like their love for Linda, Gailon and Bob is? Are you ready to show us the 3ABN Jesus? BS? Or have you already done that?

Vell, I suppose that if people have sources to support their statements, and that other people who could rovide contrary information refuse to do so, I would think that makes a difference.

o courts wallop people for making statements that they believed to be true when called on the carpet by ndividuals who adamantly and stubbornly refused to correct the ones making the statements?

hat just doesn't sound right in my mind. Newspapers all the time report how so and so declined to comment. hen so and so sues the newspaper for libel when they were given an opportunity to correct what they laimed to be a misperception?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 30 2007, 07:32 AM

Think about it.

A ministry has serious allegations being raised by people that are genuinely concerned. That ministry refuses to deal with the allegations by picking up the phone or writing emails to answer the questions people have. Sometimes they may say they don't have time for that as they write a huge missive.

That ministry instead maintains that they will answer the questions in court after they sue the ones asking the questions.

Which costs less? Answering the questions by phone or email? Or suing those who ask the questions and then answering the questions in court?

Is that ministry therefore a good steward of our funds or not? Can we trust them with our funds if they spend money so lavishly by suing people who ask questions rather than picking up the phone or writing an email, when their preferred method of answering questions is by suing others?

They are very close, use the same computer, have even accidentally used the same persona, have misspelled the same words (spelled "etc" "ect" until they both learned of the mistake and are now both spelling it correctly - incidentally, Danny spells it "ect" as well), per Lee they share the same nephew. "genuinely concerned?" WHAT? Genuinely concerned-sure-- that 3abn goes DOWN the tube Pickle. You can't lie in a courtroom.

Pickle--I am shouting here so you will get it--are you listening?: 3ABN IS NOT USING YOUR DONATIONS OR ANYONE ELSE'S IN THIS LAWSUIT. I've said this already so many times. Someone else is giving 3abn the money they need to cover all expenses in this NEEDLESS lawsuit because some "people" think they know the truth about 3abn.

3ABN is audited. Do you know anything about someone being audited? NO, they are NOT using donations for this lawsuit. Oh and Pickle, your spin on things won't fly in court. You will be pinned to the floor and you won't be able to squirm out of it.

Oh and you are not the victim here Pickle. You ASKED for it when you started posting your missives on the save3abn NOT forum. So don't try your crybaby victim stuff here.

vhat venom you have lee. God have mercy on you.

Lee,

I suppose you'll be in court too, and we can meet in person?

Really, I could care less whose money they are using, because it isn't the donor's money. It is God's money. And I question the stewardship practices of any ministry that would use God's money in such an irresponsible and senseless way as suing those who ask questions in an attempt to avoid answering questions1.

I remain genuinely concerned regarding the potential damage to the Seventh-day Adventist Church and message that the scandals of Danny et. al. may cause, as well as for the stability and effectiveness of the global ministry of 3ABN.

If you had come by here almost one year ago, you would have seen a billboard across from Wal-Mart advertising TCTR. I did the work on that billboard, whatever work was left after downloading the artwork. I arranged for the purchase of that space. My time was gratis.

I think it was Doug Batchelor's series that was my first billboard. There were two of them, one across from West Acres Mall in Fargo, and the other on a busy corner in Moorhead. 3ABN's logo and the local cable channel appeared right there on the billboard along with our church's address.

It was my idea to advertise the cable channel in the newspaper, on the billboard, and in posters in order to entice people to watch at home who were too afraid to come through the door of our church building. The members here bought into the idea. I think it was a good one. And arranging for and laying out all the advertising fell on my shoulders.

Doing all that meant two versions of ads at least, since where I live is a different cable TV company than where our church is. Yes, I did different ads, and I think I ran ads throughout the series in my home town. There is no church here. Just a local phone company that offers cable TV, with 3ABN as one of the basic channels.

I registered a whole bunch of towns on A-Facts' website, advertising it as appearing on 3ABN on cable. When A-Facts or whoever saw that, they got rid of all but the live sites. I called them and argued a bit, but they just felt that live sites were better and that that was what they wanted to use the website for. Oh well.

Lee, you need to find out a little where someone is coming from before you haul off and start hurling accusations.

Lee,

I cannot recall, but I don't think I have posted anything to you before. If I have, I apologize for the lack of memory.

I came home this afternoon, and logged in. I went through each post, and was kinda shocked at how many times JUST TODAY you and Bystander have talked about the coming lawsuit. I almost said threatened lawsuit, but I am trying not to escalate the tension.

I am not sure if I read it in Danny's messages or if I saw it on Danny's programs (Since I have not been home long, I did not take the time to go back and try to find the info), but I am quite sure I heard Danny (either in writing or video) say that he had been convicted by the Lord because he was trying to fight his own battles.

He said that he confessed and repented, and was no longer going to fight, but would let the Lord fight for him.

Why then does Danny's side keep saying (almost said threatening) these lawsuits?
Do you not care what the bible teaches about Christians taking other Christians before the law?

1Co 6:1-7
(1) Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?
(2) Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?
(3) Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?
(4) If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church.
(5) I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren?
(6) But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.
(7) Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?

Paul asked some questions here that each of us ought to ask ourselves.

I have heard both sides say they have evidence. Most recently is the documentation for the accusations against Gailon Joy. When proof of the documentation is requested, nothing is presented.

The name of the financial institute (Primus), the amount of the claim, etc., has been given. Why will no one produce the actual document. Those involved have asked for it to be posted. Why won't Danny's side produce it?

Linda has written a letter asking that proof be made public. Why would Danny's side choose to disregard the command of the Lord, and continue to talk about lawsuits?

I am not asking of one side what I have not asked of the other. If you go back through my posts, you will find where I requested that Linda take the route that Joseph took, while in prison in Egypt.

And lookin4truth, it is amazing to see that Danny has told Linda in writing that if she sues, she will lose all credibility, and Adventists just won't stand for it. Something like that.

Now after writing that, I think multiple times, how can he and his crowd threaten to sue over and over and over again? For years? And never actually do it? Until maybe now? Because they have no other choice? Except maybe to say ... "I'm sorry. Will you forgive me?"

Well, Mr. Joy and Mr. Pickle will be looking for representation. Maybe you can offer them your assistance. As far as any suit is concerned, a little patience may be in order . . . but you won't be let down.

Lee, you represent 3ABN here on BSDA. Your words and what is behind them represent the ""Christianity that 3ABN represents to the world. Will your Jesus, the one who 3ABN takes to the world, gloat about pinning someone to the floor and spout vitriolic sarcasm and hatred to people who you claim are misled. Perhaps your words, as a representative of 3ABN here, should be taken to the world as a warning of the true nature of the "Jesus" you are trying to teach them about. That "Jesus" who you represent here would not be someone I would care to meet in a dark alley, or anywhere else. Way to much hatred in that "Jesus."

In terms of Christianity... "Well, Mr. Joy and Mr. Pickle will be looking for representation of Jesus. Maybe you can offer them your assistance. As far as hell is concerned, a little patience may be in order . . . but you won't be let down."

This the the 3ABN/Shelton love of Jesus. Sarcastic venom is the "Jesus" you represent.

Lee;

Mr Pickle has stated many times he is not trying to destroy 3ABN! Maybe you could restate that sentence more accurately to make that statement true? Right now it is not true.

You said, "You can't lie in a courtroom."

Since When? ? ? ? ? ? ? ?

Maybe a better statement would be, "It is against the law to tell a lie while under oath as a witness ,while court is in session. IF caught, you will be charged with perjury. Or something along those lines. You are the legal one. I am sure you could word that differently also, don't you?

The reason I say this is that I know for a fact that some people LIE on the witness stand when questioned. They even lie to their LAWYERS! There are some people that lie even if there is no reason to lie.

However, pathological liars forget the lies they told yesterday and to whom they lied to. It makes it difficult to keep their stories straight! I am also 99.9% sure you have recently read some examples of this type of liar.

> 3ABN is audited. Do you know anything about someone being audited? NO, they are NOT using donations for this lawsuit.

ou confuse me.

f the gift of the funds needed to prosecutethe lawsuit is not a donation what is it? As I understand IRS egulations, dontaions may be gifts of money, as well as services, and more. If, as you say, that gift is to 3-BN, should not that gift be accounted for on 3-ABN books, and should not the donor be eligibe for a heritiable deduction on the donor's tax return?

OTE: I happen to believe that you are honest in what you say. But, I am confused. It deos not make sense o me. So, I assume that I am wrong. Please clairfy my confusion.

hank you,

I think we would also be interested to hear what Fallible's church board said about inviting Linda to speak as it surely has been enough time since he said he took it to them for them to have had a meeting and gotten back to him.

why are counties called "dark counties?" Only because we think that the adventist message hasn't been there? Are we arrogant enough to think that because we haven't been there that God hasn't?

ok... sorry back on topic....

I am not licensed in any state to offer representation, and I am not interested in licensing myself at this time. I am, however, fully educated in the law and have the degree. Please note my signature at the bottom of my posts.

Having said that, your post above still does not answer my questions.....

Vhat a great point! That is exactly the meaning I recall as a kid. We really were/are a arrogant bunch.

)n a side note, I do recall going out on many Saturday nights looking for those "dark" counties. We were)retty sure they were having some serious fun in those counties and wanted to see for ourselves.

Clay,

think the best answer to that starts with why we talk about the "light of truth" and the "darkness of error or gnorance." Basically, it's a biblical principle. God is light (1 John 1:5).

Paul was so sent, according to his own words: "Delivering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee, To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me." Acts 26:17-18

And Ellen White reiterated the concept:

> Let Christian Families Enter Dark Counties.--God calls for Christian families to go into communities that are in darkness and error, and work wisely and perseveringly for the Master. To answer this call requires self-sacrifice. While many are waiting to have every obstacle removed, souls are dying without hope and without God in the world. Many, very many, for the sake of worldly advantage, for the sake of acquiring scientific knowledge, will venture into pestilential regions and endure hardship and privation. Where are those who are willing to do this for the sake of telling others of the Saviour? Where are the men and women who will move into regions that are in need of the gospel, that they may point those in darkness to the Redeemer? {AH 488.2}
> If families would locate in the dark places of the earth, places where the people are enshrouded in spiritual gloom, and let the light of Christ's life shine out through them, a great work might be accomplished. Let them begin their work in a quiet, unobtrusive way, not drawing on the funds of the conference until the interest becomes so extensive that they cannot manage it without ministerial help. {AH 489.1}

t is just such a light that we are all called to be, "you in your corner, I in mine."

Greenie

Edit: I have seen just such "dark counties" on this earth, though some might better be termed "dark provinces." There are STILL entire provinces in Thailand, for example, with zero Adventist presence (e.g. no members, no church, no medical work, no school, no Christian radio or television coverage in the local anguage, etc.). I have been in villages where no one would have heard about the Christian God before. They certainly had not seen a real-live "foreigner" before--and they couldn't help staring.

Anywhere Jesus is not welcome is a dark place. Most the time the location of darkness is in the heart of the one who will not see the light.

Luk 1:77-79
(77) To give knowledge of salvation unto his people by the remission of their sins,
(78) Through the tender mercy of our God; whereby the dayspring from on high hath visited us,
(79) To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the way of peace.

2Pe 1:18-21
(18) And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount.
(19) We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts:
(20) Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation.
(21) For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

Col 1:12-13
(12) Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light:
(13) Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son:

I thank my God, He has delivered me from Darkness, and given me His Light. Now He wants us to take His light to the DARK world.

Mat 5:14
(14) Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid.

One could look at it this way: God never commissioned us to achieve a numbers goal, but He did give us a territory goal: Every nation, kindred, tongue, and people.

Further, in 9T 28, 29, it states that we are to raise up memorials in every city and village on the planet. And as 7T 105 and other passages make clear, what that means is that we are to raise up church buildings, school buildings, etc., physical structures that might be "humble in appearance" as memorials to the true Sabbath.

So a dark county could be considered a county that does not yet have a lighthouse serving as a memorial to the true Sabbath given by God in Eden. And without that sort of lighthouse, things aren't as bright as the Lord would have them be.

LT According to Bystander, wwjd, Lee, FHB, and Aletheia. Danny/3ABn are aupposed to be in the midst of suing Gailon Joy, Pickle, Sister(even though they dont' know who she is), and pretty much anybody(if I remember correctly they even threatened Kevin a time or two with civil action) who has had something negative to say about Danny, and therefore 3ABN, here at BSDA.

This is why they are not free to divulge any of the mountains of evidence they "have" which disproves and allegations here. So Lee wants us to tbe patient and rust her, bastion of turth that she is, that the lawsuit is coming and eeeeeeverything will come out then. and people will pay for crossing Danny and 3ABN, etc., etc., etc...........Got it?

Mozart,

Brother Clay brought it up and it is a good one.

Greenie,

I wonder if the Advent Message has brought any light into Thompsonville, in Franklin County, Illinois? If not, how do you suppose that this community just outside the doors of 3abn would receive it?

Lee,

How close do you live to Thompsonville? How's that light shining these days?

Posted by: Clay Apr 1 2007, 04:08 PM

It is arrogant for us to think that just because people haven't heard of seventh day adventists that they have not heard about Jesus.... in some of these so called "dark counties" there are baptists, methodists, etc who love the Lord and are in relationship with him... to suggest that they must become adventist to be "saved" is ummmm wrong........

Posted by: Pickle Apr 1 2007, 04:48 PM

Of course you're right on that, Clay.

And if we had said that there were no Jews at the birth of Christ that were saved, that would be wrong too. There were Jews that were in relationship with God too.

But that doesn't mean that God's will was not for those Jews to have more light shine on their pathway.

Likewise, God wants those of all faiths to know more about Jesus, to know about the special day Jesus calls His day, to know about His soon, non-secret, catastrophic return, to know about His judgment now going on in His sanctuary in heaven, to know about how Babylon has fallen and how all His people must come out.

God has turned on special light in these last days for all His children to see, and He has commissioned a special people to shine that light.

And that is no more arrogant than the fact that God placed a special people in Canaan around 1400 BC in order to shine special light into the Gentile world, and prepare a people to accept Christ at His first coming.

abbath observance does not earn one brownie points and cannot save.... It is Jesus, and only Jesus.... not esus + the sabbath or Jesus + diet.... even though as adventists we seems to make it seem that the pluses" are important....

od's light has remained the same.... It is Jesus, and only He who saves..... nothing more... nothing less....

Posted by: Pickle Apr 1 2007, 05:49 PM

Of course, but saved from what? "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sins." And what is sin? "By the law is the knowledge of sin." Thus there is something missing whenever people aren't told that Jesus came to save them from their rebellious or ignorant refusal to abstain from their own work on His holy day.

We've been called to preach the Full Gospel.

ickle when the sda church shuts down the institutions it runs on sabbath, then we can talk about what ospel is being preached...

Posted by: Pickle Apr 1 2007, 06:03 PM

Good point.

But then that would be like asking all the Jews in Jesus' day to first come into line.

We can't use the hypocrisy of others to justify our own neglect of duty.

I wrote one of our hospitals once a nice letter about how they were collecting parking fees on Friday night, and you know what? They wrote me back and told me they had stopped that, that they had come up with a new Sabbath policy, and they asked me to read it over and give them some feedback.

There are, of course, some things in a medical institution that can't be shut down on the Sabbath. And there are some things that can be shut down.

he church is hypocritical.... as I said, when sda colleges, academies and hospitals begin shutting down on abbath, then we can discuss what gospel is being preached... how the church can go to court for those dventists whose employers have asked them to work on sabbath or fired them because they haven't, yet equire people to work on sabbath in adventist run institutions is beyond me...

If you give some specific examples, I might know better how to comment.

But we can't stop preaching the truth about what God thinks about child molestation simply because the head of 3ABN hasn't taken a firm stand on that one, can we? Never in the history of the planet has all of God's people consistently living the truth been a prerequisite for some to preach the message God said must be preached.

Otherwise, Noah and Elijah and John the Baptist never would have started.

Can someone explain for me why the following figures for inventory taken from the 990's increase so drastically from year to year?

2000: $88,160 (from 2001 990)
2001: $276,360
2002: $618,377 (from 2003 990)
2003: $850,165
2004: $1,313,507

Not being a retailer, what "inventory" do they need to keep on hand? Is this including fixed and long-term assets? That would make for a boatload of 10 Commandments twice removed books...

f it is retail inventory, those are huge numbers. If it includes cameras, jibs, furnishings, etc. it is a easonable amount, IMO.

As far as I know, it should be all items held for either resale or giving away. No cameras, etc., unless they sell cameras as a business.

> Who is on the cover of it? Did Bob Ellis personally write it?

he book I have is a hard copy with a colorful dust jacket. The dust jacket calls it, The 3ABN Story, A Channel)f Bessing. It has small pics of two production scenes and a pic of Danny and Linda as they looked when it vas written. It is copyrighted in 2002 by Bob Ellis. Published by New Authors Publications, PO Box 10, West rankfort, IL. 62896. It was originally sold and distributed by Three Angels Broadcasting Network.

ccording to the back dust jacket, "Bob Ellis is an award-winning retired journalist with more than 30 years of iewspaper experience. He became interested in 3ABN when his newspaper, The Daily American, assigned him o cover its growth into a worldwide Christian television and radio network...."

t was sold from the 3ABN bookstore until recently. I don't know when they stopped carrying it, but I believe t was only a few months ago that I noticed it still being sold on their site and thought to myself.... ımmmm.... that's interesting that they would still carry that when they have erased everything else that nentions Linda. Anyhow.... it is no longer sold or mentioned on the 3abn site.

here are a few copies at very low prices available from amazon.com.

t doubtless gives some insights into Danny and Linda that may look somewhat different against the ackground of history since that time than what they did when originally written. The serious student of 3ABN istory should surely have one in their library.

How much was it? Can you scan a copy of the cover? Is it 300 pages? What size are the pages? How thick is it?

he price printed on the dust jacket is $20.00. I don't recall if I paid that much for it or not. Yes, I could scan copy of the cover. The last printing in the book is on page 299. The pages are 5X8 inches, and it is pproximately an inch thick.

ow why don't you hop over to amazon.com where if you are among the first there you can pick up a good uality used one for a little over a dollar. For twice that you can get one that has it's own dust jacket... in ood condition. But hurry... you got to beat the rush from BSDA'rs.

Hmm. Does that 1 inch include the cover? Can you measure that and get it down to a 1/16th of an inch for ne?

'm just wondering the weight of paper it used. 60# offset is 216 sheets per inch. That would be 432 pages per inch.

Maybe I'll get a copy of the book off of Amazon. In the meantime, I'd love to have a scan of the cover.

Bob, I believe this would be a reasonably accurate statement as to what inventory is. The website shows they sell books, cds, dvds, tapes and a shirt. I can't imagine they keep the 36" satellite dishes and receivers in inventory but at 199.00 each that would be a lot of them. I suppose they might have gotten stuck with the old skyangel dishes and receivers but i would not think that could be listed at full value.

And since we know that no profit is being made by anyone on the TC-TR (TIC) and the publisher/printer is practically giving them away per Aletheia, I can't imagine 3abn would/should have a large inventory of them either.

Any other suggestions what that number would represent?

It must have been January 2003 when Linda gave me several pages of copies of the manuscript of this book. She called Bob to get his permission that I could get it. Then during Camp Meeting in May 2003 the book was released and Bob Ellis was featured. I met him on that occasion.

f you read carefully here, you will see that your disappointment should be directed at some of the leadership f 3abn and not the ministry. Many people are and have been blessed by the ministry. The aim of many here n the 3abn Forum is to work to try to save the ministry by adjusting the attitudes and actions of some of hose in administration.

f course but alot the actions are disappointing on how they are handling things i don't know if i could do etter. I know i enjoyed 3abn when linda was on and yes i have kept up with it all when i first notice linda vasn't on anymore. I do hope and pray that the Lord will fix this he is all powerful.

I have to laugh about the book "Channels of Blessings." I guess it was in 2003 that I called 3ABN for something - and they said that they had the books "buy one get one free." I took them, kept one and sent one to my sister in Idaho. Interesting reading. Miracles and love all over the place.

> 2001: $276,360
> 2002: $618,377 (from 2003 990)
> 2003: $850,165
> 2004: $1,313,507
> 2005: $1,397,326

have been waiting for responses as to the original statements. I hate to do long posts, but the finances of 3ABN require more than a sentence or two.

	$ Increase		% Increase
2000	$88,160	Baseline	100%
2001	$276,360	$188,200	213%
2002	$618,377	$342,017	124%
2003	$850,165	$231,788	37%
2004	$1,313,507	$463,342	55%
2005	$1,397,326	$83,819	6%

Using 2000 as a baseline figure, you can see the dollar amount of each year's inventory increase plus the percentage of the increase over the previous year increase.

To obtain a fair, a better picture, it would be nice to see the Sales and Cost of Goods Sold for these same periods of time.

1. This would suggest there is a good possibility that there was no inventory manager in 2000 that could devote 40 hours per week maintaining the stock levels at the lowest cost possible, yet being able to fill orders for a 2-3 week period. No one has time to run and count how many of a product is available for sell.
2. There is the likelihood the software used by 3ABN is not up to date. There are several software packages available that will cover non-profit entities and enterprises. This type of accounting package is Modified Accrual. It will handle the sales that are used to support the ministry. They have perpetual inventories so you can count on a moments notice what is on hand and what must be ordered. You tell the computer to let the item get down to say 25, you tell the computer to reorder when the inventory hits 25. When that happens, a purchase order goes to the printer and is also filed as a Purchase Order in the software and it can send the purchase order to the vendor in some circumstances. When the order is received. You must pull up the Purchase Order and accept what came in the shipment and tell it what is on back-order to track that. Everyday the computer comes on and the inventory is pulled up the flags will be there. To Do: Order ......, Shipment over due PO#.......... Pay invoice # .... There are no holes for things to get "Lost"... When a step gets missed, the computer lets you know.

I would suggest that 3ABN does not have software of this kind

1. The amount of inventory for 2000 could be said to be a reasonable inventory. This would have included Satellites and Receivers.
2. 2000 figures are used as the baseline for the increases from year to year.

1. This is the year the auditors that left 3ABN with sore bottom for sure. The report had to have a devastating effect on Danny and the board.
2. Did these reports go to all board members?
3. Or did the reports get whisked away to the lawyers and no one else got to see them?
4. The increase in Inventory could be from past shipments that had not been processed at the time of their receipt.
5. This increase actually shows that there was an effort to book the entire received inventory.

Here is where I want to stop with some questions and comments.

1. First and foremost, is 3ABN a Business, or a Not for Profit entity?

2. Does Danny own it or do the viewers in the pews own it? (Since the donor's money was used to create it and fund its activities)

3. The Danny Lees Shelton Printing/Publications Co. does much of the printing of 3ABN items. Do they also reproduce the CD/DVDs, or is this done within 3ABN?

........a. Who does DLS Printing have as customers?
........b. Are 51% or more of the items printed/reproduced for 3ABN?
........c. Shouldn't the Printing Company belong to 3ABN if this is the case?
........d. Since Danny owns the printing company, is he receiving profits at 3ABN's expense?
........e. Where is the printing facility located?
...........i. Is it on 3ABN property?
...............1. If so, does Danny pay a lease or rent to 3ABN?
...............2. If so, where is that income listed as Income for 3ABN?
...........ii. If the printing company located on Danny Shelton's 18 acres?
...............1. If so, who built it?
...............2. Did the board approve it, or was it just done?
...............3. Who owns all the assets?
...............4. Were these assets purchased from 3ABN?
...............5. If so, what was the selling price?
........f. Did the board approve the establishment of the Danny Lee Shelton Printing Co.?
........g. How does this stand up against the policy that none are to receive gain at 3ABN's expense?

Bob, see what you do to me? Sorry for all the questions and such. I have a whole lot more questions about this and other areas of the IL vs. 3ABM Property Tax Lawsuit and 990's.

I have no clue as to the paper weight of the book in question, but I understand the importance.

Who published the book? Or is that a given?

All of the figures are used from the Inventory figures provided by Bob. Statements are my opinion.

In my opinion, and nothing else, I can see where this reflects some padding of the 3ABN inventory. It looks as if orders were placed to give the printer a profit, but pad the inventory of 3ABN. These are just my opinions mind you.

The increase in 2005 may have been because they had to get more large dishes to replace all the Dish, dishes. However, the largest dollar increase is in 2004. Is this how money was raised to take care of Linda? Is this where the money came to purchases 1/2 of a drastically under valued home?

IMO the dollar increases and percentages for all of these years should be explained.

Don't you LOVE the skin we are in? I sure do!

Fran,

Save3ABN now has the 990's from 2001-2005. That's right. The 2002 990 is there too, something unavailable to me when I started this thread. http://www.save3abn.com/3abn-form-990s.htm

On page 1 you have lines representing inventory sold and non-inventory sold, as well as the cost of goods sold or basis of the items sold.

Attached to the 990 is a series of statements in the back. Statement 4 tends to be the one about assets, and statement 7 and 8 tends to be the one that lists cost of goods sold.

The cost of goods figure in the statement matches the one from page 1, but it is labeled "Cost of Goods - Satellites." Thus, according to the way the 990 reads, the books, CDs, etc. all cost nothing. It is only the "satellites" that cost anything. That doesn't make any sense to me.

Secondly, there was an increase of $4.5 million in cost of assets labeled as "Machinery & Equipment" in 2003 in statement 4. Why such a huge jump? Is that where the license is for WDQN? Of course, it wouldn't make sense to call a radio license "machinery" or "equipment." And even if that is where it is, WDQN only cost $600,000 cash. What was all the other $4 million spent for in 2003?

I've asked a few people and they don't have a clue.

> Who does DLS Printing have as customers?

DLS is a publisher. As a publisher, they don't have to have any printing facilities. They can just hire it all done elsewhere. But typically one would expect DLS to be responsible for marketing the book and paying for the printing costs. That's typically what publishers do.

Posted by: Fran Apr 5 2007, 03:34 PM

Bob;

I posted before I went to save3ABN.com to see the 990's.

Does this mean these items are open for discussion now? If it is, this thread should be full. Why is it when serious financial items are discussed, the thread dies? We shouldn't be afraid of all those pesky numbers, by the way. They actually tell a very sad story.

Thank you for clarifying the publisher information. Was DLS set up as just extra income for Danny? Danny is an employee of 3ABN. He uses 3ABN to market those goods. Hum. Very interesting indeed!

Thank you for your information. I am also glad all of the 990's including the 2002 990 are present and accounted for.

Bob, about DLS Publications, tell me again, how a publisher gets its income and what expenses would be incurred for that income?

Doesn't 3ABN have its own Marketing Department?

Another author I know writes books and purchases the books and sells them at pennies above the cost of the book. Every time an order is made, he receives the royalties; which he should.

It seems to me that DSL is the middle man getting paid to market his own books? Is this correct? Does he pay 3ABN for advertising the book on 3ABN TV, 3ABN Radio, and on the 3ABN Internet websites?

What I guess I am really trying to ask is why doesn't 3ABN buy the books straight from the printer instead of Danny?

It really looks like this is another way for Danny to get more income since;

1. Danny decides the cost of the book to 3ABN;
2. Danny decides the retail cost of the book to the public;
2. This cost would include his royalties AND a profit;
3. Does he get paid a fee to "Publish" these books at his favorite printer and to Market them all over 3ABN. He must get a healthy income if he will not even reveal that income to the 3ABN Board!

Maybe this is wrong. Did I hear you correctly?

/ery interesting observations Fran. I'm listening..........

Fran,

I don't have all the answers, because Danny ain't talkin'.

I've heard a little, though. And it doesn't sound real good.

In my opinion, if 3ABN is buying enough of the books in one swoop to pay for the entire printing costs of the entire run, if they are doing all the marketing, then really they should be the publisher, and they should pay the royalties to the author.

But what appears to be happening is that 3ABN is paying someone else more for the books than if they themselves had been the publisher. Where is the difference going?

It seems clear to me that Danny gets it, one way or the other. (DLS the company and Danny Lee Shelton the person are one and the same - Right?)

Why else would he not come clean and at least tell his own board members how much he is making?

Since the donors pay for those book orders through their donations, they might have a strong desire to know this information.

More on this later. I have a meeting in an hour.

About DLS Publishing Co. Inc. I read somewhere else in in a scanned tax info in this forum that Danny Shelton is owner of the co. and DLS Publishing Co. Inc. was at his home address. I wrote the address down but misplaced the address.
I don't know anything about publishing companies but it seems like it would take up more space than someone's home address. Mabe he has a building on the property that does the publishing. Or do I have the idea wrong?

Rosyroi,

At the bare minimum these days, you'd need a computer to have a publishing company. You need something to do layout on, at the very least.

Thus a large building is not required.

will eventually ask about the whole paragraph, but right now:

wonder why none of Danny's books were admitted in to evidence?

Vas the Publisher Danny Lee Shelton?

Vere they not admitted into evidence because of the strong desire for prying eyes to stay out of "Danny's" ıther business?

Surely the cost to 3ABN for those books would be information that would have been good for the auditors to ;ee since the cost does pertain to 3ABN; wouldn't it?

he last sentence makes me laugh. This is the conclusion of the matter! Danny won't give us information we ıeed, therefore, how could it pertain to the subject at hand.

f that is the case, why do they even mention it?

Vhy even put it in the same paragraph with the matter about 3ABN/Danny not being controlled by the SDA hurch?

Vas this just a convenient way to bring up the matter of yet "another" instance that information was not ırovided about something?

believe it was used as a lead in for the next paragraph. On the surface it looks bad for Linda, but is it really? .ater about that paragraph.

Bob;

Checking my notes, I failed to enter a very important calculation!

Just how much did the inventory increase in those 5 years?

$ 1,309,166.00 (Million)

Does this bring this into clearer, new light? Why would inventory increase by that enormous amount? I am so sorry I forgot that big detail!

Remember the books were given away in 2006.

What happened to cause the largest years increase?

What year was it that SkyAngel dropped 3ABN? That would be the year the larger satellites would have been added to the inventory.

When did 3ABN purchase DLS Books? Are all those books still in inventory since there has been no large decrease in inventory?

More questions later when we compare other numbers.

I am slow posting. bare with me. Must be these eyes of mine, plus the new smaller keyboard! Why are the keys so much closer together than before? I want to hit D but get the S instead. Can I retrain my touch or must I put an add in the paper for my old keyboard model that still works? rofl nteresting, Fran.

- Danny testified that he had written three books, as if that might help his case.
- The books were not entered into evidence, as if they would hurt his case.
- Danny has chosen to withhold evidence from a court of law.

ow why has he withheld evidence from a court of law?

- Is Judge Rowe a convicted embezzler?
- Does Judge Rowe publish information about Danny on a website?
- Did Judge Rowe refuse to go along with set-in-concrete rules laid down by Harold Lance?
- Has Judge Rowe used a username at Wikipedia that includes the initials "Dr"?
- Is Danny trying desperately to hide something?

s far as Judge Rowe's statement that the books had nothing to do with the property, I think she meant that hey don't help determine that the property should indeed be tax exempt

I'm certainly not an expert in this field, but that does nothing to prevent me having some questions about the data on those 990s. Would someone be so kind as to contribute to my understanding on a few points?

1) Why are the salaries bouncing around so much? What are the variables?

Example: Moses Primo is listed as receiving: $50,359; $63,630; $69,732.14; $50,818; and UNLISTED for years 2001 through 2005 respectively. You see him increasing until 2004, and then he gets a serious cut in pay of $19,000. Then, apparently he gets a promotion to a directorship which removes the necessity of listing his salary on the form in 2005. Interesting how he gets "demoted" before he gets "promoted," or am I misunderstanding something here?

Example: Linda Shelton gets: $117,110 in 2004 as a non-officer, non-director, yet bearing the title of "vice president." In 2005 she gets $82,922 as a "former" officer/director. Is it just me, or do those figures seem to be inflated above what the separation agreement allowed for? And, how do those numbers relate to her divorce? Is there a relationship to that, on the part of the non-profit entity?

2) Why is it that Danny Shelton signed the form June 30, 2003 (for 2002 return), and October 28, 2002 (for 2001 return), but all the rest have the dates blacked out? Are these forms due April 15?

3) Total contributions and gifts for each year, 2001-2005, are listed as: $12,323,162; $14,057,326; $10,902,656; $13,581,898; and $14,060,275. Basically, I don't see any particular trend here, other than that the contributions seem to be following the economy. I remember how the economy took a nosedive after 2001, which likely hit the pocket books of most people the hardest about a year or two later, and has been on the mend since. I'm I missing any grand reason to announce the great increase in donations since Linda left in 2004? Perhaps I need to see the 2006 form.

Well, I was just a little interested in whether I could make heads or tails of the numbers myself, having taken but few business courses. There are certainly some things that anyone could understand, if they put a little "investigation" into it. Most of it, however, seems meaningless to me.

Has anybody considered that Danny Shelton does not own 3ABN, and they don't own him?

Can people publish books under their own label and not have them belong to their employer?

If that's the case do they belong on the ministry taxes or on personal taxes??? As all this was before the Shelton divorce then it doesn't play into marriage settlements as Linda already probably spent any money made, or got her half in the divorce.

Okay, I've just taken everything in the 3ABN store and put it into a spreadsheet. I've added up all the suggested donations and come up with a total of $1,117.75.

What seems really weird is that the shopping cart on their site operates as if the suggested donations are really concrete prices. When I add items to the cart it does not allow me to adjust the suggested donation either up or down. Why not? Does it do that later during the Check Out process?

I then took the $1,117.75 figure and multiplied it by 60%, since that would be a normal retailer discount. That gives us $670.65 as the theoretical cost of having one item of each thing offered in stock.

Now if we divide that number into $1.4 million, we get 2,088. That means if they had 2,088 of every item listed on their website, we can account for the $1.4 million.

Of course, if one buys 2,088 of a book, you'd get a lot heftier of a discount than 40% off. I assure you of that. If I order a case of 30 or so from one supplier, I get it at 50%. At a quantity of 2,088 I'm sure most publishers would be happy to give you 40% (60% off) or more.

Does 3ABN have a warehouse that is housing this much inventory? Or am I missing something somewhere?

Much of what you're saying here is wrong. I'd be glad to show you why, but first I need to know something. Do you understand the reasoning for all of Judge Rowe's conclusions? Do you agree with Rowe's recommendation? If not what parts of the entire document do you disagree with?

The reason this is important is because Judge Rowe was limited to the information the applicant provided, and she says so in several places. She talks plenty about the combined uses (commercial and and not for profit uses) and how it is not appropriate under the corporation's filing.

Do you understand what 3abn was doing wrong?

I believe that posting the numbers gives those who do understand the numbers the chance to give their expert opinion so the rest of us can be enlightened.

djc, because you're a newbie here (welcome), allow me to say...

This is what happens when you accuse someone of something, don't follow scriptural process, and leave the world to guess what really happened. It's the thing that conspiracy theories are made of. Why leave someone to guess? Full disclosure to the stockholders is in order, not - "shall we get on with things, this is water under the bridge." This is what someone who has something to hide can only wish for...that the public supporters will forget and forgive. NOT!

Oh, the scripture...

> 1Tim 5:19 Do not entertain an accusation against an elder unless it is brought by two or three witnesses. 20 Those who sin are to be rebuked publicly, so that the others may take warning.

realize some claim Mat 18 is to be followed...

> Mat !8:15 If your brother sins against you,[b] go and show him his fault, just between the two of you. If he listens to you, you have won your brother over. 16 But if he will not listen, take one or two others along, so that 'every matter may be established by the testimony of two or three witnesses.'[c] 17 If he refuses to listen to them, tell it to the church; and if he refuses to listen even to the church, treat him as you would a pagan or a tax collector. 18 I tell you the truth, whatever you bind on earth will be[d]bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be[e] loosed in heaven. 19 Again, I tell you that if two of you on earth agree about anything you ask for, it will be done for you by my Father in heaven. 20For where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them.

rouble is, those who claim to follow this scripture won't clearly define how they determined there was sin, ecause they can't reaveal the evidence. Tricky, eh? Unless one can demonstrate what one is claiming, by alling it such, one is saying nothing at all. Just a common rule of philosphy and logic.

ust to be clear: scripturally, where are the witnesses? What is the accusation, and how can someone call that in? And, said parties should stop saying they have evidence if they can't demonstrate what they are saying. o one here, or on TV, is necessarily going to believe one side or the other, except what gets sorted out in he court of public opinion. And tons of people make their minds up by how this court proceeds. It does more han create a healthy kind of scepticism towards the whole story -- and I say story, because what's a evelation to a witness, is merely a story to anyone else, at least in this case -- it demonstrates a lot and elps people decide...in spite of lack of evidence.

ublic discussion can be healthy for both sides. It ain't going away...like some would wish. So, best to face hat's left -- head on. I've found it very helpful.

> YES you are missing a great deal. I have worked for companies and had to do inventory many times, esp the end of the year inventory before taxes are filed. Inventory also includes anything you can put your hands on which belongs to the entity and is kept on hand., or stocked, Even to pens and paper for the employess, or for printing..

Aletheia, this is so NOT TRUE. If 3ABN is carrying its operating supplies as inventory, then they REALLY have an accounting problem! Inventory is anything HELD FOR RESALE!! Pens, paper, etc are considered SUPPLIES!! Just because it is "stocked" doesn't make it inventory.

Aletheia, did you not say elsewhere in relationship to another topic of discussion:

Thank you for saving me a post "trying" to educate Alethea about inventory! Very well said!

Unless, of course, one happens to be selling said pens and paper, etc..

I see that Aletheia's tip finally reached Save3ABN.com at http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-untruths-furniture.htm.

It brings up some interesting points not raised before on here.

1) While Danny did buy from Linda the furniture in their home on June 4, 2004, he excluded certain items, including furniture Linda brought into their marriage, from that agreement. And yet he apparently never relinquished ownership of those excluded items. And he stated emphatically in a later email to her that if she didn't sign a later agreement, she had to bring everything back that she had already taken, indicating that he still claimed ownership in those items.

Thus Linda agreed that Danny could exclusively own certain items, but we have no similar legally binding statement on the part of Danny that Linda could exclusively own certain items, including her children's baby chairs.

2) Danny claimed that he had a $9000 guitar in financial affidavit last summer, but the 2004 house agreement mentions "guitars," plural, and Linda claimed last December that there were 18 guitars. What happened to the other guitars? Why aren't they listed on the affidavit?

Hmm. $9000 x 18 = ...

Maybe they're not all worth $9000.

i do remember a 3abn guest giving danny an awesome Martin guitar a few years back. how does one play 18 guitars? seems if ppl are giving him expensive guitars and he can't possibly use more than 3 or 4 because of style and type that he'd be compelled to auction these off for the sake of the ministry. (since that is the notoriety that got him the guitars in the first place.) just my opinion want nothing to do with his methods and tactics. They stink.

Questions for Bob, what was in the trucks[plural] and storage if Linda got nothing?and how many times did she move?

Somebody's pullin somebody's leg here, and it's not me.

ust one more twisted story with poor investigation, and partial facts by the Pickle and Joy team...

Mozart, that makes perfect sense. After all, it is the "ministry" one claim to be upholding, not his own self worth.

Why are there so many closed-minded people I will never know.

It was my open and inquiring mind that brought me into the SDA church. It was also my open and inquiring mind that brought me to the conclusion that something was rotten in the state of 3ABN, which is why I finally allowed discussion on this 3ABN mess at MSDAOL, a few years after it was first discussed here. My mind is still open, therefore, if evidence is produced that shows me differently, then I will respond accordingly here, at MSDAOL, and elsewhere. So far, all the evidence I have seen here doesn't go well with Danny Shelton and company.

inda gave this letter to her from Danny to be posted, you forgot to include it with your quotes of what I osted...

ob didn't include it in his little expose either...

xcerpt from letter published on Save3ABN:

lyssa said you wanted to move on Sunday the 19th.

have a board meeting that day so it won't work to get the rest of the furniture out of my house. You have ots of books too that need moving.

guess if they took everything early in the day on the truck that's already loaded maybe they could load up he furniture at my house late in the day.

oes it look to you like Bob is claiming Linda took trucks of things?
e did quote where she apparently wanted to use the big 3ABN truck, why do you think she needed such a ig truck, and these other trucks some loaded some not. NW?

Vell, sera, what should he call it 3 mos after the divorce, and after he had bought out her share, and paid her or all, and she had her own house?

old? ... when he was still letting her take things he had actually paid her for?

I don't know. But I don't know why that matters.

Walt said Linda got everything in the house. Probably a poor choice of wording, for taken literally it means that she took the dishes, the towels, the sheets, everything. I think it safe to assume that he meant instead the furniture and pictures and things like that.

Danny very clearly indicates that not only does he still have major pieces of furniture, but he still owns what Linda has removed from the premises. Thus Danny contradicts what Walt has said in multiple ways, and again I thank you for bringing this to our attention.

So from what we can tell, Danny still claims ownership of Nathan and Alyssa's baby chairs, and he has only listed one guitar on his financial affidavit when Linda said he has 18, and when his own house agreement mentions "guitars."

First, Aletheia, I think that for you and I to even discuss this email we need to come to an agreement on what it says. I did not find that a problem with the documents posted at save3abn.com regarding the furniture.

If I said to you, "Everything in my life is going wrong.", would you believe I meant that every single thing in my life was going wrong?

Do you believe that when DS writes in this message "I guess if they took everything" he is stating for a fact they took "everything"?

Or maybe that he could have meant "I guess if they took everything they were going to take..."

Or "I guess if they took everything they were supposed to take..."?

Or, how about "I guess if they pick up everything we have agreed on..."

honestly, i think we need to stop being so petty about this. Bob's point, if i understand him, is not all the silly details of who got what or when, but the 'all-ness' statements that walt makes in danny's defense. there are many of these such statements.
i think the point we should be concerned about is not what danny got or what linda got. what we should be concerned with are false statements, manipulation, misinformation and disinformation coming from these particular individuals. i believe that is the purpose for even bringing this topic to view. correct me if i'm wrong.

When you are telling the truth, truth remains truth. You do not need to invent one cover-up story after another like Danny Shelton and his friends have had to do through the past three years, as one deception after another falls to pieces.

Just look how angry they are at Bob Pickle because he is having such a hard time fitting all of their fictitious stories together.

No correction needed Mozart. But not just WT's "all-ness" statements but the words wrenched and manipulated to argue a point where the weight of the other documentation establishes for most discerning individuals the meaning is otherwise.

Q. If you will help me out here? Who's the Levite and the Priest and the good Samaritan in this matter?

Aletheia,

There has been such a flurry of posting here at BSDA I thought you might have missed my response to your post to me.

Here's my thought: We could say that Danny and Linda's divorce is none of our business, and we shouldn't deal with it at all. And actually that was what I did for quite some time.

Yet now the evidence is out that Danny had no biblical grounds for divorce, and even said he was through with the marriage because she hid his gun, though she only hid one gun, and he had two. Now it is coming to light that he is trying to gyp Linda out of her half of their assets. Then we have Danny allowing Shelley to suggest that Linda has the spirit of Antichrist on global TV.

If we just ignore injustice happening right before our eyes, and right on our TV screens, if we allow someone's life to be ruined with no just reasons for it, we are like the priest and the Levite who saw the man there wounded and in pain and need, and who walked away and did nothing.

As I was travelling past that way
I stopped in London a few days
And lodged in comfort in a home
And in the day went out to roam
Now, Mrs. Masters cooked for me
A lovely breakfast, no added fee
And told me too of one guitar
Whose owner left it and went far Away to southern Illinois
Where he must have another toy
For it had stayed there a good while
And if 'tis there still I would smile
For that has been now a long time
And that's the end of this short rhyme.

Posted by: mozart Apr 5 2007, 05:22 PM and.... with all due respect bob, i'd like to add that this isn't just about defending linda or revealing other wrongdoing at 3abn. this is about people we have loved and trusted betraying us, deceiving us, the 3abn audience and contributors.

shelly quinn has eluded to some horrible finger pointing towards linda and even linda's daughter!
that is just plain wicked in so many ways i won't go into it at this time.
ms.quinn was not present in the shelton home. she doesn't know any more about the situation than what danny has told her and most of us don't know anymore than what has been told to us. ms.quinn has no right to speak to the world about such matters on 3abn and her slant on these subjects shows zero discernment and very anti-christlike behavior. how can we trust any teaching or preaching this woman does?

john lomacang (whom i have loved to watch over the years) has shocked me and hurt me with the same antics; lifting danny up to sainthood and making others look like the devil. he is deceived and it's very sad and very disappointing.

IMO, these people are wrongly using this ministry and we have a right and a duty to do something about it.

that's not why God built 3abn.

many have gone astray over there (as anyone with any insight whatsoever can see) and i believe it is because they have put "blind faith" in a human being.
i give danny every benefit of the doubt that maybe he has something emotionally wrong with him that makes him want to control people and manipulate them. i would rather he have some mental or emotional illness than to think he is fully aware of the wrong things he has done and refuses to be accountable for. the same goes for the rest who have partaken of this unholy ground.
the whole thing has been very hurtful not only to those in the line of fire but to us, the viewers.

3abn is broken...badly broken.

now for those who want to respond to this by turning the tables on me, save it. there's no point. we all know things can be looked at in many different ways, but my point here is that it is bad enough that certain people at 3abn are behaving the way that they are behind the scenes, but even worse that they are behaving this way in front of the cameras of this wonderful ministry. they don't have the right !! they all need to be banished from 3abn and let God appoint new people with fresh, untainted hearts and minds.
i guess i probably got way off topic here so forgive me, but we need to remember that what they have done, they have done to all of us.

quite off topic, but is Mrs Masters still providing hospitality for wandering Adventists? I stayed there over 30 years ago, her husband was still alive then but I believe he is no longer with us.

Greenie,
You certainly know how to turn a phrase!

Any insight as to why there is an expatriot guitar in Mrs. Master's home?

Folks, the desire to emotionally control and manipulate people should not be elevated to the level of emotional or mental illness. Such, when they exist simply amount to relationship issues which counseling may address. Mental health professionals do not give an illness diagnosis to every quirk of human nature, or to every aspect of a person that could be helped by counseling. As this is true, people who participate in counseling, may not be emotionally/mentally ill.

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ This Should Not Be News

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 08:32 AM

Because of decisions Linda Shelton has made that have taken her in a different direction than that of the ministry, the Board of Directors of Three Angels Broadcasting Network (3ABN) regrets to say that she is no longer an employee of 3ABN.

Posted June 17, 2004.

Posted by: Denny Jun 21 2004, 09:08 AM

This is news to me, what happened then?

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 09:23 AM

I copied the statement from the 3ABN website. I do not think it fair to post what I have read about what happened.

I have to admit that I am clueless here. Can you at least tell us who she is and where to find the information that you read. even if it is thorugh PM?

Posted by: statrei Jun 21 2004, 10:15 AM

Her husband Danny Shelton is the founder of 3ABN. I guess the statement from 3ABN could be considered validation that something happened. Here is the link to a little discussion on the story. I would think that all parties need our concern at this time.

Posted by: mizrobby Jun 21 2004, 08:45 PM

My, my...I'm sure there is a complete spiritual and mental upheaval at 3ABN. Everyone involved really need our prayers. "Bright lights shall go out in the last days..."

Posted by: claborn Jun 21 2004, 08:56 PM

What's the possibility that false lights will go out? I am not suggesting that 3ABN is suspect, but I was wondering if those who are not genuine will be exposed in the last days?

Always wondered about that given the text, that "if it were possible the very elect would be deceived..."

Posted by: Nasha Jun 21 2004, 09:50 PM

I'm going to check out the link, but wow....Linda's music was like a staple of 3abn.org.

This is terrible news. At a time when the marriage of man and woman is being severely tried, SDA marriages even those in public eye are being tested and some failing. We need to get back to being for the Lord and for the word and stop trying to make exceptions for worldly things that have crept in our faith.

btw...none of her music is listed anymore either.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 22 2004, 05:15 AM

I have noticed that John Lomacang and his wife were increasingly being used as guest hosts on severaal of 3ABN's programs, over the last several months. I didn't read anything into that. I just figured Danny and his wife were taking a breather and dealing with other 3ABN projects. Oh well.

In terms of bright lights and false lights--My husband and I have a good friend who is now divorced from her husband. Previously, she and her husband were indirectly connected to the 3ABN family. She and her husband were similar in appearance and behavior to the Shelton's although they are African American. He was extremely fanatical in his views, would interrupt the Pastor while he was preaching to say the Pastor was in error. She would be quite embarrassed and beg him to talk with the Pastor after church rather than being disruptive. He was brilliant and could break down God's word like not many others. His Bible studies, I understand, were unmatched by any. Years ago, I could see that our friend was miserable in her marriage, but I couldn't put my finger on it, other than I knew she didn't want to live that kind of strict life. Needless to say, when she finally decided to divorce her husband, she revealed that he was whipping her behind on a regular basis (oh, she did fight back but he was a former pro athlete, so to not much avail). He refused to give her a divorce until one Sunday morning, a group of us decided to have breakfast together at one of the local eateries. I looked up and saw him with a much younger woman--one of his Bible students, both wrapped up in love and lip-locking. He's 50+ and the young lady was approx. 22 years of age. He had dyed his hair black and had on makeup. I almost didn't recognize him. Well, there was a big commotion--most of us in our group were church officers and he was indeed busted. The young lady didn't realize he was still married.He finally granted her a divorce after more than 3 years of fighting against it. She is still trying to de-program from years of brainwashing and abuse.

Point is--it is so important that we are convicted by God and not dictated to by man. If your public image is not your private convictions, you will soon unravel privately and then publically. Even E.G. speaks in Adventist Home about not giving your will to man and in doing so, it becomes a sin. It also sets a dangerous precedent when we judge others by our own righteous standards. We can't divine what others are going thru and would be petrified if others knew what we are going through. Let's keep one another lifted up in sincere and fervent prayer. We all need it and prayer is an underutilized resource. Jesus is indeed, ON HIS WAY...

Good point MizRobby,
In another forum it was pointed out that we do not have enough info to "take sides" in terms of who was innocent and who is/was guilty. I do know that she will be putting up a website soon....
www.lindashelton.org

Perhaps her side of the situation will be told.....

p.s. sorry Calvin if that is a breach of protocol.... if it is I am sure you will edit.....

Posted by: statrei Jun 22 2004, 07:47 AM

I don't care who is innocent or guilty. I don't have anyone's future in my hands. I pain for the couple and for the ministry. I only wish that many Adventists who are being "compassionate" had been the same when it was Jim Baker and Jimmy Swaggart in the cross hairs. What does it have to take for us to realize that we are all God's children trying to do what we consider in our own best interests? Yes, some of us are misguided as to what our best interests are but which among us has not at some time been the victim of self-delusion.

Posted by: claborn Jun 22 2004, 08:10 AM

Good point Darius..... as to the self-delusion..... hmmmm I am always like that....

Just sad situations. Lord help us all. We should all be in prayer for the current situation and those affected by this ministry.

I know Pastor Lomacang and his wife. They used to pastor in this area, and attend our church as often as possible. He and Doug Bachelor used to participate in the round table discussion with pastors from other denominations on a local TV religious program. They were excellent, without be condescending I might add.

No offense taken Clay. I know you are not out to hustle us.

My Mother told me that Curtis has had go back and re-tape all his programs on 3ABN to get Linda out of the programs. Have not spoke to my brother about this, makes for good gossip and discussion. I am like Darius, just pray for the family and what they are going through. Differcult for us to pass judgement.

Again I ask, what is the sense behind this? This reflects a certain amount of vindictiveness. In our hymnals we have songs written by people with all sorts of shady backgrounds yet we will remove the praise songs a woman sang because she disappointed us? Where is the testimony in this? Oh, I know what is behind this. Money. They are trying to preserve their source of funding; those ultra-conservative Adventists who will only support the cause of Christ if it does what they want. Whatever Linda may have done 3ABN's reaction is disgraceful (but very Adventist).

I thought this kind of extreme, also.

> After reading my last post I would add that I am disappointed the Curtis went along with the suggestion to re-tape his programs. This is disgraceful. I can't say it strongly enough.

You assume it was a suggestion. And while I recognize the opportunity to take a stand on principle may have gone by the boards, I can't hold Calvin's brother accountable for doing his job and meeting his contractul obligation.

I do hold Danny Shelton and 3ABN management accountable for being generally spiteful in forcing the shows to be retaped so she was not included, however. Their actions demonstrate a clear lack of forgiveness... but Calvin's brother is not wrong for staying clear of what is nothing more than the fallout of the demise of the Shelton's marriage, IMO.

In His service,
Kevin Josey

LIving with a man with that mentality it makes you wonder what Linda lived through. Humpty Dumpty was pushed.

Posted by: statrei Jun 24 2004, 08:42 AM

Kevin, I am not holding Curtis responsible. I said I was disappointed. As to contractual obligation, I can think of no contract that would require one to go back and retape a perfectly good segment in order to remove someone who have fallen into disrepute. Even future recordings of new segments would be questionable but the argument would have more force there.

I agree, but is it God's way. He absolutely does not treat us this way. He wipes our sins from existence, not us. How can they justify these actions, and are they answerable to any governing body?

Posted by: Nasha Jun 24 2004, 11:13 PM

I must say that by the way it's being put, it sounds like how certain athletes are treated when they make mistakes (ads and contracts pulled).
However, you have to call it what it is. 3ABN just followed the way most would in protecting themselves. What would you have done in this situation if you personally were involved?

Being an christian organization that claims that God is it's head, Jesus it's example, 3ABN should probably be the example of biblical forgiveness. They would have looked less vindictive if they had just played to programs with her in them.

Why does 3ABN need to protect themselves? Just like with celebrities who are unfaithful, this is basically an issue between Danny and Linda Shelton. Not the 3ABN board, not the tv audience. If this story is true she sinned against God and betrayed her husband. It is highly inappropriate for her husband to use the 3ABN board as a tool of his hurt, anger and revenge. There was definitely no need for them to make the disclaimer. In fact, you can bet that this disclaimer was to embarrass and destroy her reputation(this is what happens to women who embarrass their prominent SDA husbands, I've see it done before), because most of the viewing audience would not have even known why she disappeared without them telling it, especially at this point. 3ABN should not have done anything, but decide who was to take her place and oversee a smooth transition that would still maintain a Christ-like image. There was no need to paint her as an enemy of 3ABN.

We know that the world's love and admiration of it's celebrities is fickle and fleeting. They place them upon their pedestals only to watch them for an opportunity to tear them down. For the most part these celebrities have just shown that they are human and fallible, like the rest of us. They fall down, they get up. Unfortunately, all before the public eye. We(SDAs,3ABN, christians period) should not be demonstrating this counterfeit love. We should be demonstrating God's unconditional love to the world.

Posted by: kountzer Jun 25 2004, 05:44 AM

They are just protecting themselves. If a media outlet uses someone's likeness or picture, or voice recordings and they are not in agreement with them using it, that station could be sued. It was a wise move.

Posted by: Denny Jun 25 2004, 07:13 AM

IMO the actions of 3ABN are no different from SDA disfellowship where the member who has "sinned" pratically disappears from the public platform and cannot sing, read the scripture reading, tell a story or do anything else in the church agan until they are baptised because being baptised is a ticket to active SDA membership.

We are speaking here of images from the past. I will grant you the argument for appearances in the future but to go back and take her out of past recordings is pure vindictiveness.

Denny, this is not the same as the treatment of someone who is disfellowshipped. First, you can't go back and cancel their past appearances on the platform. Brochures with their picture are not destroyed. What they have done is similar to what was done in Russia when people who have fallen out of favor with Lenin or one of these guys would suddenly disappear from photographs. Please, do not try to defend this.

3ABN was not personally involved. This is a matter between Linda and her husband. Athletes are paid to represent a company so there is no comparison. There is no similar contract to a recording artist. Royalties, assuming that Linda was paid royalties, are not the same as advertising.

Posted by: Denny Jun 25 2004, 09:23 AM

I do not defend what 3ABN did. Unfortunately typed words do not show "dripping sarcasm". But I agree with your point - a disfellowshipped member's past "good" deeds do not magically disappear.

Which means your post was directed at the practice of disfellowshipping. I get it now. In other words, it was all very Adventist. Forgive me for being focused on 3ABN.

No, DB, it was a extremely vindictive move, and most un-Christ-like. Also, quite an expensive move. To not use her in future broadcasts is one thing and understandable, an attempt to erase her from existence is quite another.

Sure, if reports are true, there ar to be consequences for her actions

Is that what God does to us when we fall. Erase us from His memory? We call ourselves His representatives by calling ourselves Christians. When Cain killed Abel, and was afraid that people would kill him, God not only did not disown Cain, He extended His protection to him.

With all that David did, God never even removed him from being king. He forgave him time after time. Sure he paid consquences for his actions, but God never left forsook him.

Where do we get the idea that we should do any less than?

Db, what can 3ABN be sued for? She reportedly cheated on her husband, not embezzled 3ABN funds.

How do you know it's Linda? It could be Danny? It could be that he is playing it for all its worth..... afterall it is still considered "media" and the "media" has a habit of bending, manipulating at times the truth. I am NOT saying he is doing that, but we do not have enough info to take that position..... in my opinion......

Posted by: kountzer Jun 26 2004, 04:08 PM

I just hope 3ABN keeps going. I haven't heard where Danny has done anything wrong. There will always be rumors and innuendos in this sort of matter. I enjoyed their combined ministries together. If they can somehow put it back together I for one would continue watching like nothing happened. I am saddened that what ever occurred, (and I really don't want to know) occurred. If that makes sense. Then again, war and sin first broke out in heaven, so we should not be all that shocked when it breaks out in unexpected places here on earth.

Actually, DB, I don't how difficult it is, there is always a right and wrong way to handle things. The comment never needed to be made. Virtually none of the viewing audience knew until they put it out there, and they wouldn't have know for quite a quite since shows are taped in advance.

Like I said before we should be exxtending God's love and forgiveness to the parties involved, and most of all keep them in our prayers.

Actually Di, many if not most of the viewing audience knew. Linda has not appeared on the show in months, and Danny has been touring for months without her. If you folks knew the half of the story, you may think differently about who is being vindictive, and why 3ABN should distance itself from Linda. This is more than just an issue between husband and wife but the very struggle for 3ABN.

Recently my family and I have gone through some very difficult times. And one thing that we have learned is that if God is not in charge nothing is worthwhile. And I have come to believe that the same is true of 3ABN, Danny, Linda and all the rest. If God is not in charge, and if they do not let God lead them, then nothing that they can or will do will be worthwhile to Him. Stars my be born but they will burn out quickly without the nurturing of God. I have learned a lot in the last few months and only when all those who have ever worked at 3ABN learn to let go of unimportant things of this world and only trust in Jesus will they ever truly be real Christians. We do not have to fight for them---any of them--someday the truth will all be known to us all. 'summertime'

Gurl, I just can't believe you went and dug this up! LOL!!! However, I am glad you did. I shows that initially we were not interested in a huge discussion or gossiping about who did what at 3ABN, but instead ofered our prayers to all. Folks were curious, but left it at that. Now, a little later when Danny came on here guns blazing and lying, it became a different story.......

Delford,

You can write anywhere the Spirit moves you to do so. If you want to know what is going on, keep in mind that there are a couple thousand members here on BSDA and if they each boiled it down for you, you would most likely get a couple thousand different answers.

If you really want to know what is going on at 3abn it would be best for you to jump in and read the pinned threads. I am not the best person to advise you on the best procedure. There are several different "sides" here and, once you get an idea of what has been shared already, you can begin reading what various members' opinions and takes on the saga are.

You can read the results of an independant investigation into the matter by going to (please avert your eyes Bystander, wwjd, Lee and FHB):

http://www.save3abn.com/

Keep in mind that the 3abn forum is only a tiny part of Calvin's wonderful site, BlackSDA.com. You can find many a blessing by fellowshipping here and in other areas.

Bottom line, if you want to know, read read read. Don't take anybody's word for anything without digging for verification. That is, if you want to find the truth, IMO.

Danny and Linda: un-Biblical divorce, but unproven claims it was (claimed by Danny and supporters)

Tommy Shelton: Sexual molester, never denied but much evidence, and Danny is covering it up.

3abn: misuse or poorly used donor funds.

There, just a few words like you asked. However if you want to know more and are really wanting to know the truth start reading the pinned articles. If you are not willing to read them you are not serious about the subject. It will take time, lots of time. And prayer, lots of prayer. Let His Holy Spirit guide you as you study the posts. And may God bless you as you form answers in your own mind.

Velcome to BSDA, Delford. I see that several others have given answers to your question, which is one that ewbies frequently ask when they arrive here seeking information and are confronted with what seems like n endless number of threads on the topic.

also notice that you asked in another place specifically why Linda left 3abn. The short answer to that is ecause Danny wanted her out of his life. But to understand that, and to become aware of the wider range of uestions that there are regarding 3abn, there is no substitute for patient research into this and the save3abn site.

I have on occasion written a rather detailed outline suggesting how and in what order to tackle the posts on this site when newbies came on and asked. The most recent of these can be found http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=10145&view=findpost&p=184161 <<<click to access it.

I hope this will be helpful to you.

Bystander get off your high horse and expecting better of a person stuff. All you are interested in is attack and diversion. There is much truth to be gleaned from this forum, you know that. If there were not truth then the Dannyites should show that there is not. Instead you and the rest just attack the messenger instead of the message. This is very typical behavior for those that cannot refute what is being said. Until there is as much testimony and evidence to show that Danny's camp is correct it is logical to believe what is being posted on these thread. And every time you folks attack the messenger you just add weight to what they are posting. A bad defense is worse than no defense and just lends credence to the opposition.

> Think about it. UNAUTHORIZED & FICTIONAL is what you are telling people is truth. Unbelievable. I expected better of you Richard.

While I am a newbie to posting, I am NOT a newbie to reading.... (I've been reading BlackSDA since June/July of 2006) There is no substitute for reading yourself. Personally, I found that the "fictional" accounts can be helpful to pull together a picture which allows you to clearly see where some are coming from, however I do not find them as evidence of anything.

Let me give a brief summary of my journey to illustrate my position.... I hope that some of my comments will be beneficial to someone.

When I first heard that there were problems at 3abn, I didn't have any idea who or what to believe. When I saw the broadcast of 3abn campmeeting, and heard Danny plea for prayer for Linda to return, I felt truly awful for "poor" Danny.

Then I heard about the "spiritual adultery" - and found NO biblical basis for divorce based on that reason. Saying that it is acceptable to divorce someone because they are involved in behavior that can lead to adultery is like saying that when the doctor's diagnosis comes back "positive", we'll go ahead and hold the funeral and bury them... why? because there's a good chance that they're going to die anyway!

I found Linda's website via Google, and was highly suspicious when I read the contract posted there... The result of that reading, was that I was put in a position of limbo.

Early last summer, I was alerted via a friend of BlackSDA. I came here and read, but quite frankly, the argumentative discussion that went on here at times, really turned me off.

What has finally formulated my opinion of the Danny side of this issue is the evidence Danny himself has presented. His emails are - well, not the slightest bit impressive. Danny has spoken too much... and it has hurt him. He has convicted himself in my mind.

As for Linda.... she is innocent until proven guilty. At this point, I have not seen conclusive evidence that she is guilty. Her own letters have certainly not convicted her yet. I hear that there is evidence that we have not seen... I await that evidence. This is why I say that I do not KNOW that Linda is innocent.

(And then there's the Tommy issue.... that is partially a separate issue in my mind, yet there is some critical overlap. I do not feel that I am qualified to determine much in that situation - except that were children are concerned, we should ALWAYS err on the side of caution.)

Too much of what is presented is he said/she said (or his side said / her side said). Then, there's the fact that most people involved in the discussion on this forum hide behind usernames. I respect their right to do so (and take that option myself) - but in turn, they must respect my right to set their comments aside as inconclusive.

You really must read for yourself to see which evidence you deem as credible. Personally, I'm pretty restrictive on where I draw my line. Others accept anonymous testimony happily.

Remember, as you read, that there are 4 basic options on the Danny/Linda issue:

1. Both are innocent
2. Danny is innocent, Linda is gulity
3. Danny is guilty, Linda is innocent
4. Both are gulity

For myself, the evidence I have read/seen has enabled me to narrow the options down to two.....

rincess Di: Just wanted to say that I agree with everything you wrote in this post. I just want for 3ABN to traighten out this mess, and I only believe that when they quit looking for glory (at least some of them) and ruely let the Lord lead the way---leave the blazing guns alone and the truth be told by the founder of 3ABN vill God ever allow this mess to be cleaned up. Sure, good people are being hurt by his trangressions, but in od's time and with prayer for all, this will end someday. I no longer watch 3ABN--I believe that a lot of good eople are featured there--but also the other way around with some of them. But God knows---if He didn't now, then we would probably all be in trouble. 'summertime'

Personally, I found that the "fictional" accounts can be helpful to pull together a picture which allows you to clearly see where some are coming from, however I do not find them as evidence of anything.

When reading the only account that claims on its cover sheet to be "fiction" it is well to recall the time in which it was written and the purpose for which it was written. It is also well to keep in mind the difference between fiction and fictionalized.... and to keep in mind the reason why someone would call a work designed to present truths that would raise questions without endangering the persons portrayed as a work of "fiction".... when in fact it was not.

It is also well to ask why anyone at all, least of all Danny Shelton, would have paid any attention to it if it were truly nothing but a work of fiction.... especially why he would have stated that there were some things in it that were not true..... ESPECIALLY when he was not named anywhere in the document.

It is also well to keep in mind the time frame in which it was written, Spring of 2005.... before Danny remarried and before most of the readers or writers came to BSDA and showed any interest in what had really happened in the early months of 2004.

It is, in fact, the document by which many were first introduced to the concept that there was more to the story than merely the question of who was guilty of what relative to Danny and Linda's divorce and her ouster from 3abn. This is why I recommend that newbies today enter at the same level that the majority of those who were new to the story in 2005 entered it... with the reading of http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=9823&view=findpost&p=138128 it. This is not designed to give answers. It is designed to raise questions. Many of which would never occur to those coming new to the scene and who think that it is all about Linda and Danny and their private relationships. Once one has these questions in mind, one is better prepared to understand what has been written here that expands upon the vingettes that give glimpses into the problem areas other than those private relationships.

If you go back far enough you will learn the identities of some who post under pseudonyms, and you will learn enough about those who use pseudonyms.... and the reasons why they use them... so it will become relatively easy to sort out which are giving factual matter and which are here for the purposes of obfuscation.

Patience will give its rewards.

I understand the difference between fiction and fictionalized that you described. I was trying to keep my comments brief... and yet, understanding the differences, I cannot use that document as "proof" in my mind. I don't know the author... I haven't seen what they have seen... They may be right, but I must wait and see what transpires.... Some of what was written in that account I believe has been substantiated. I haven't thrown it out, I simply cannot use it as concrete evidence. It certainly is very useful to me to understand where some members here are coming from...

Yes, there is more than guilt or innocence... but many issues are effected by the guilt or innocence of those involved.... I referenced the guilt/innocence part specifically because there seems to be an impression by some that proving Linda is guilty will exhonerate Danny of any wrongdoing... This simply is not so.

The Televangelist is very successful at raising questions. It was also successful at making me sick to my stomach... My first reaction was to discard it. Then, when I stopped, and realized that even if only 2 or 3 of the things mentioned in that document are actually true, then there is a really big problem here! Not to mention if even more than that is true....

Sometimes, like in the instance of my still-unanswered question regarding the date of the trip to Norway that Johann was referring to in his account of Danny following Linda to the airport, even if something has been mentioned previously in the Televangelist etc, it is useful to me to ask the person telling their story to reinterate what date they are referring to... Helps keep us all straight! And also helps establish credibility... especially in a situation where someone is being called a liar (something I find detestible).

I am aware of some of the reasons some post under pseudonyms... they NEED to.... Unfortunately, until the lid blows completely off of this situation, the anonymity will leave their testimony status as unconfirmed in my mind. Of course, it does all add up in the "who is the most credible" game.

Please give me a little benefit of the doubt, as it is not practical for me to write out my entire spectrum of thoughts on these issues at once - it would be so lengthy, that nobody would want to read it... I'm just addressing things a little bit at a time....

Is that fair enough?

Oh yes, www.save3abn.com gives you a real jumpstart on concrete info... even if you choose to ignore the commentary and only read the emails posted, it makes a picture emerge fairly quickly. As much as I'd like to see this thing hurry up and get over with, info really is popping out of the woodwork at a fast pace right now...

Anyway, enough of my thoughts! As if anyone cared!

We care very much... and you have expressed your thoughts very cogently. If I came across as belittling your thoughts previously, I apologize. I did not intend to do so, but only to use your post as a starting point for adding a few more thoughts. And you have now added more of your own.... and it is in this way that we learn the various viewpoints and how they were formed.... which I am sure helps others find their way through the jungle of information available here.

I was especially interested in your description of your initial reactions to The Televangelist. This, I suspect, describes very cogently the intitial reactions that many have had to it. I recall when I first showed it someone very close to me... in printed form.... that his only comment when finishing it was, "I will have to process this for a while before I can even comment on it".

And your points about what you can use as "proofs" are right on the money also. This is not a court of law.... and even a court of law can only establish things as true or false "beyond a reasonable doubt". All we can do here is to listen to the testimonies of those who claim to have first hand experience, and the results of the research of those who claim to have researched, and then see where the "balance of evidence" leads us. Once we establish credibility for some over others in our own minds, then, and only then, will a picture emerge with increasing clarity as the discussions continue on.

Thank you much for your input.

Interesting that you mention a court of law... This is true that it is not a court of law...

I have observed in my discussions regarding this issue with others, that we each have a sort of "court of me", where we decide which evidence is admissible for drawing our personal conclusions.... This "personal court" collectively would be called "the court of public opinion".

Sadly, 3abn attempted what they thought would give them a win in the court of public opinion, and it backfired. I believe that even if a court of law were to exhonerate Danny et al, that the emails and other evidence that are out there would not be enough to clear the "taint" on his leadership.

For this, and other reasons, I believe 3abn would be wise to begin contemplating new leadership asap - a salvage operation, if you will.

/ery well stated. I think you've cut through to the nub of things. If DS really cares about the ministry of }abn, he really does need to step down permanently and the sooner the better. What he has said and written eaves one with the unescapable conclusion that he is seriously over his head and probably has been for quite ı few years. There should be no shame in admitting this and allowing the board to seek a suitable 'eplacement. The board would also have to charge a replacement with doing a thorough house cleaning of 4id and Upper managment to really get 3abn back on course.

If only the board was a real board in the sense of the definition of a board:

"An organized body of administrators or investigators: a board of trustees; a board of directors. "

Board of Directors

"noun:
A group of persons chosen to govern the affairs of a corporation or other large institution.
The group of people responsible for supervising the affairs of a corporation. The board of directors generally sets broad corporate policy rather than participating in day-to-day managerial decisions, although selection of the chief executive officer is the board's responsibility. Members are elected by the firm's stockholders and may or may not be stockholders themselves.

Guess we'll see....but, my opinion is that DS sees himself AS 3abn, he is the "board" and the people that represent the "board" are in word only. They would have to step up and exert their expected roll as defined above...in a whole new way. Will that happen? Can it happen? I hope that DS doesn't insist on taking the ship down with him, but that is what I fear will happen.

About the 3abn board. How long has Walt Thompson been the chairman? A well run board in my mind would have a constitution that, amoung other things, would require a new chairman to be elected every few years. This is important for many reasons. Unless Walt is relatively new as chairman, the current 3abn board situation would be a "red flag" for me.

Velcome jnana15. No, you won't be in trouble if you can sort out the truth from the lies. This 3abn forum was ased and some horrible allegations and falsehoods. All of the allegations were discussed, acted upon as if hey were truth and statements were made as fact. Through the months, those same falsehoods have been xpanded on, hashed and rehashed. The people that arrived her later, never knew that a lot of those "facts" ame from a beginning of lies. Is everyone at 3abn perfect? Hardly. Is everyone on this forum perfect? ardly. Is any thriving ministry perfect? absolutely not. But what has happened here has been a faulty nowball that has grown larger and larger as it picks up speed. Many of the allegations are completely utlandish. Those that have written the lies and told them as truth will be accountable to God and man. What lse can be done at this point when they will not stop trying to destroy a tremendous ministry and those that vork there. The slander has went on too long, has gotten completely out of control even though, those that lo most of the accusing have never eyewitnessed the horrible things that they are depicting.
f you choose to stay here, please be much in prayer for discernment. But, above all, please don't base your onclusions on the beginning lies.

ep... the very first lie was told by Danny himself when he came.... and Bystander, WWJD, and the other pologists have continued to perpetuate that lie.....

agree with you that jnana15 won't be in trouble if she can sort out the truth from the lies. Of course then ou get busy and test her by making a statement filled with some truth and a bunch of false allegations (lies).

have made bold the sentences in your statement that can, unequivocally, be considered truth. As for the est of your statement, just because you say it doesn't make it so. Have you considered the possibility that ou may be pointing your finger at the wrong group of people? You constantly try to rebut what is here imply by characterizing it as lies or hearsay, etc., and yet you just don't bring any substantive proof to back p your claims. Oh, that's right, you and your compatriots don't feel it is necessary to waste your "evidence" n the small group of folks in "chat rooms".

ou continue to sing your song (Lies, Lies, Lies. Rumor, Slander, Lies. Just-you-wait-we're-gonna-sue-you. ies, Lies, Lies!) but it is not scoring very well on the charts, IMO. Perhaps because your verse has no ompelling hook (truth/substance) and, therefore, falls a little flat and empty.

f you believe someone has made a false allegation, back up your claims with proof or just leave it to honest olk to use their brains and decide for themselves. When you can bring something more than empty words to he dialogue, perhaps people will give your words more credibility and will be more willing to listen.

This is where I disagree with you Bystander. I have sorted through the lies LONG before I joined this group. I have been following 3ABN for years and have had a lot of questions. This site has helped me sort out the truth and answered a lot of questions for me. I have even been able to stop one person from talking about Linda to questioning Danny's motives. This person knows G. McNelius personally and knew stuff about 3ABN before it made public or even hit the website. So see, I really know what's going on. Ask Lee.

Bystander,

What happens effects every SDA, 3ABN has made itself the public face of the Adventist church.

Besides that even if what is going at 3abn did not effect the rest of us, The Great injustice that is being done, by the the releasing of only a small part of the truth from 3abn side is enough to turn ones sense of justice upside down.

Linda has been publicly accused of having an affair on her husband, But lack of proof of that affair is telling.

Tommy S. has been accused of sexually abusing boys and young men, and lack of denial is equaling telling.

The difference in the way that 3abn handled each case is even more telling.

I know you claim to not be allowed to give way the big serects of the proof that 3abn has on al these topics, but you should be able to reason with them that the method of damage control they are currently using is failing them greatly, i am quite sure you can see and sense that by now.

How many of the posters on here say that came here thinking that danny was the victim of linda and now hold vastly different view.

THat should speak volumes has tot he correctness of the path 3 abn has taken on this whole issue.

Here is the thing that just blows my mind, 3abn is creating a huge stumbling block to many on this site and others if they are with holding proof that would clear them of the charges being leveled.

They will have to anwser to God for that.

Also they are not following the mattew 18 approach that so many pro-3abn people harp on towards the other side.

One of the things that is the must telling has to were the truth will most likely end being in this whole thing is that the side that says 3abn has problems that need fixed is they are willing to make case that there is infact problems at 3abn, on the other in nut shell from the 3abn side is trust us, in court we will be proven right.

When if tomorrow 3abn released the proof that tommy is innocent and the linda is the cheating wife she has been accused of, I would be the first to start defending 3abn based on the facts not the word of danny shelton and walt thomason, both men that has you point out all the time are people most of us do not know very well.

Bystander many on this forum are here for the truth, is just that we are not going take a trust on this one awnser, the things they are being charged with are all about the trust we have placed in them being destroyed.

Actually, what happens to 3abn and/or its people will have an effect on my life, should the story (if allegations prove to be true) appear in the mainstream media. My husband and I try to live our lives in such a way that Seventh-day Adventism is seen in a positive light -- it's how we trained our child to live as well. It could be a real embarrassment to church members like my family if a 3abn scandal should emerge in the public eye. It could very well undermine many members' efforts to witness in their communities, workplaces, schools, etc. My prayer is that I won't pick up Time or Newsweek some day in the near future and see a negative two-page spread on 3abn!

I'm a first-time poster, but I have been spending hours reading through this site, plus several others often referred to here. Thank you for providing a forum for us to discuss what we never hear about from the pulpit.

God bless!

Jnana,

Probably the easiest way to quote is to hit the QUOTE button on the lower right hand corner of the post you want to quote.

Then hit the REPLY button.

A reply box will come up, with the full quote of the original post in it.

You can then just delete the parts you don't want, highlight or color words you want highlighted, etc.

Then submit your new post.

You can also just place the quote [quote] before what you want to quote, and the end quote [/quote] after.

When you do it this way, you will not have the name, time, etc. of the person you are quoting.

If this hasn't confused you enough, I can make it even muddier.

Note: The brackets around the quote commands should not have spaces. I place them there because it makes a quote box if I didn't Welcome Maggie. Unfortunately, the problems that much of the documentation prove have been festering for a long time and it was inevitable that they would begin to come to the surface. What is really a shame is that the folks who were aware of these problems kept things as silent as possible instead of standing on Christian principle and doing whatever was needed to fix the problems and help any victims to find healing.

That there are many working towards exposing the truth, whatever that may end up being, will someday show the world, that at least a group of folks wouldn't keep the secrets. That will, IMO, temper the ill will that might arise should the problems become public knowledge.

Then to put it nicely, BS, you rpobably need to stop with the defense of Danny and 3ABN. they aessentially you sending you out here unarmed, so to speak. You may, indeed, be a honest, christian man. However, as said before, Danny has already been here, lying. Then you are willing to come to his defense, and he doesn't equip you, besides being at a diadvantage. Nothing but that said proof that they are not willing to release to you, their faithful defender, will get most to even think about changing their minds.

Being involved in this for some time, I have already processed this through my mind. It may or may not help in any way what I have concluded, but I will share it in short (yes, really, short!)

I was raised in this church too. I always had the idea IT is the only truth. That's ok, as long as it doens't make you so different from everyone else (the elevated over others way) that you can no longer see the common things you have with all christians. I have found over my years in this church, MANY people think of themselves, probalby unconscienceously, they are "better" then others because they have the truth. I don't mean this in a bad way, I'm just trying to say that we are sinners and often we can get pride and boastful of what "GOD" has given us (the truth) and no one else.

I have accepted that ALL christians are sinners. There are hypocrites in every church and denomination. There is inperfection and error in every denomination. NO denomination is protected from the devil, sin or sinners. So far in my life, the SDA church is the closest to truth I have found. I don't accept all of it. We have to some how lower ourselves down to this understanding, or we do set up ourselves for feeling the responsiblity for everyone and every denomominatin decision. That is wrong. We are free will choosing christians as God designed it, and the church is made up of us free will christians making mistakes, innocently and intentionally.

We are not special. All churches have their problems. I will not sell this church to anyone (via bible study or bragging) letting them think that just because we have the sabbath, state of the dead and some other things that we don't make mistakes and that our humans are different (sinless?) then others.

Bottom line, no matter what church you are part of (denomination as well), it's about a personal relationship with our Lord and Savior. IF HE says, FOLLOW ME, not your church, I better have enough connection with HIM to do just that. Loyalty to HIM and what He has taught us in the bible. NOt to a man or denomination. God first.

When 3abn crumbles (and I am assuming at the rate of DS behavior that is is doomed too) I feel comfortable letting people know what I have learned quite frankly was the cause of it. One man had too much power. This is not part of our denomination, and just because ANY person SAYS something does not make it so. Maybe there was a good reason that things did stay separate (3abn and the offical denomination). This is not the first off-shoot or ministry that the church had to distance and disconnect from (if that is what will take place at some point) and folks, it probably won't be the last.

There is much more that could be said of this issue - how it will affect SDA's, etc. We just need to know Jesus, tell of Jesus and keep it simple. We aren't sales people for the church. We want people to know truth, to know there is forgiveness of sins, that Jesus is coming back and the great controversary of between Satan and God, to hurt GOD! Not the SDA church!!!
Thank goodness we have so many stories in the bible of leaders and prophets that were clearly sinners, and how much God loved them still. All christians of every denomination are in the same boat. The devil hates us all, doesn't want us or anyone to know God, and doesn't want God's true loving character revealed. However he can make God look bad, that is what he is about. That will not end till the end of it all!

P.S. WELCOME maggiecttr!
I look forward to more of your posts!

If you are unable to convince the people who hold the evidence that it would be good to post it here, that is truly a sad thing. With you wishing you could, even loving to be able to, it is unfortunate that those you go to for answers don't give your requests enough weight to grant them. How much good that common sense move might accomplish. Who knows how quickly it would shut down much of the need for such a forum as this.

Yes, the wheels of justice do turn slowly at times.

I make a concerted effort not to make unsubstantiated statements so that I don't won't be responsible for wrongly impuning or assassinating the character or reputation of anybody. None of this is "fun" but some of us see documented proof of wrongs and have a burden to see resolution.

Not yet..... ..... so sorry.... but..... you might take into consideration that Sabbath begins approximately 12 hours earlier in some parts of the world than it does in your own time zone..... and that it ends approximately 12 hours later in other parts of the world that it does in your own time zone. That would give us 48 hours of peace and quiet rather than a mere 24....... ...... I think.... if I did the math right..... ....

Why is it when I go to dannyshelton.com or dannyshelton.org does it take me to Club Adventist?

Yes, I would also like an answer as to why it goes to CA.

Perhaps somebody can ask Stan of CA about that?

I did some checking on www.dannyshelton.org and www.dannyshelton.com, both sent me directly to Club Adventist, but I was denied access. I had someone who is a member there Log In and try both addresses. Members are not denied access, it takes them directly to an interview Danny Shelton made on Club Adventist in 2004. No big mystery, except that Stan would have to agree to this link to his website.

Check this out:

and this:

http://whois.domaintools.com/dannyshelton.org

It appears these domains are set up to take you to Club Adventist, the same way www.save3abn.org, although a separate domain registerd to Joy, is set up to take you to www.save3abn.com, whenever you type the url in or click on it...

As far as I know, you have to be a member of Club Adventist for access, I used to be, but no longer am.

Were these websites registered when all the discussion about 3ABN was still allowed on, and taking part mostly on Club Adventist?

Thank you sister, that explains it to me. What I find strange is that the site was opened when I first went, almost four hours ago (and I've never been a member there), but the access is denied now.

So does this mean Danny "owns" CA. It would explain a lot about that site. Was there ever any question about GJ being "owner" of save3ABN? I use "owns and owner", but I am sure it is the wrong term.

Google has the address listed to 1&1 Internet, INC.

http://press.1and1.com/index.php?MSID=&page=press&mode=displayDetail&id=44

DeVry University and Keller Graduate School of Management are also listed on the same road but not suite 300.

Stan definately owns Club Adventist, and this has been public knowledge for years. To my knowledge that has never been questioned.

To me it appears whoever reegistered the DS.org, and DS.com sites is trying to hide their identity. PB's findings seem to support that also. Hotel room addresses and such are used by those who do e-mail and newspaper scams also.

Anyway, this is just my opinion.

It looks like someone accusing 3ABN did it to hijack internet traffic when all the discussion was going on there rather then here, OR-- someone in stan's camp did it, when so much traffic was coming here, rather then there.

That's why I asked about the dates on the domain registrations...

Whichever, it doesn't seem kosher to me.

P.s.
It looks like Stan is in the house now and reading the thread...
maybe he can explain?

Posted by: sonshineonme Mar 26 2007, 03:31 PM

Ok, had to try too.
I put in www.dannyshelton.com or www.dannyshelton.org and both got this directly http://clubadventist.com/forum/ubbthreads.php/ubb/postlist/Board/177 and I was able to click on (naturally right near the top) thread Danny posted in 04.
I didn't have to sign in, and even if I would have to, I asked for my membership to be removed a few months back.
I think it's been hyjacked, but I would not say that Stan did not arrange for this. In this case, the best thing to do is ask Stan, see what he says. But, this is smelly to me. Looks bad too.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 26 2007, 03:31 PM

There may be a misunderstanding here. This was not a redirect from a search. The url in the address at the top of the page said dannyshelton.org and at the same time the page showing was Club Adventist and as I said it was wide open. The address didn't change to the Club Adventist address. You could get in and move around without logging in or registering. You could get there by typing dannyshelton.org in the address at the top of the browser and clicking on to the word go. Same for dannyshelton.com. You could get there from the picture on the whois page for either also.

Now access is denied and it takes you to the interview if you are a member and log in. It didn't do that before but they have changed it and the whois page says ubb error.

It appeared to me that these were all alternate addresses for the same site.

And it did not take me to Danny's interview. And would be surprised if this had anthing to do with being redirected when doing a search.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 26 2007, 03:48 PM

If you do a bit of Google work, 1&1 Internet and it's media spokesperson have been in the news from coast to coast regarding a blogger known as Spocko. 1&1 Internet severed its relationship with Spokco under the pressure of a copyright suit threatened by ABC/Disney's attorney's.

It is an ironically interesting read:
http://www.floridamediaproject.org/nytimes%20blog%20story.pdf

DS.org let me get right into CA, no problem, right at the 11/30/04 Danny post about how the Lord had convicted him over and over not to fight his own battles.

Could just be a publicity thing, could be something sinister. Don't know that we will actually ever know. It is what it is, I guess. Perhaps someone might want to call 1&1 Internet and see what the media spokesperson has to say about it. Just a thought.

The difference in what happens when different people try, such as you and sonshineonme might also have to do with what spyware and trojan blocking programs and search engines you use. Although relatively harmless, some redirrect you, and others don't allow that and so the URL in the address bar stays the same.

Maybe if bob could explain how the save 3ABN site does it with the .org and .com address, we could figure it out easier?

I did a Yahoo search and got this:

he redirect is in the index.htm at www.dannyshelton.com; the HTML source for that page reads as follows:

```
!DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC "-//IETF//DTD HTML 2.0//EN">
HTML><HEAD>
TITLE>302 Found</TITLE>
/HEAD><BODY> H1>Found</H1>
he document has moved <A REF="http://clubadventist.com/forum/ubbthreads.php/ubb/postlist/Board/177">here</A>.<P>

</BODY></HTML>

www.dannyshelton.org is the same; the domains were registered privately so the actual person who set them up is anonymous... gee what a surprise.

Just because it points to Club Adventist does not mean that Stan necessarily was either aware of it or gave permission for it to be redirected there; you'll have to ask Stan.

In His service,
Mr. J

Yes, Sonshine, the more I read, the more I think you are right. A lot of the communications are from 2004, and there is some serious spin to the whole divorce and all. Interesting, seeing as by this time Linda could nto say a word. I mean, it just really would sit better to me if she could cooberate(sp) some of this, but it is high suspect because she still can't.

Hi Stan,

Interesting advertising scheme, if indeed that was what it was. Of course it depends on someone trying to log into Dannyshelton.org/com for it to work.

Im not trying to be cryptic, and I am NOT part of the PLOT! rofl
I was trying to get you to think about this yourself...I can tell you what I think...what I know...but that wouldn't be fair to you.

Interesting, seeing as by this time Linda could nto say a word. I mean, it just really would sit better to me if she could cooberate(sp) some of this, but it is high suspect because she still can't.

What do you mean she still can't? Why do you keep thinking and saying that?

Ask anyone of her defenders Di, there is no gag order in place, why do you think she wrote that letter on her website which was posted here?

-- not that she ever abided by it anyway, she got a website before the ink was dry on her agreement or divorce papers. published her questions and answers, talked about her "squished" experience and how she was trashed and fired, and even talked about the so called gag order...
and published it...

And as the recent letters published on save3abn prove she was talking plenty to others as well...

AFAIC, the only time it was ever cited was as an excuse for why questions couldn't be answered or proof given for the things she, or her defenders claimed on her behalf..

Here is the archived record of what she said in part about her job, her marriage etc, while the so called gag order was allegedly still in place:

The asterix show the changes she made on the site,except for the most recent, but you can go to her site and see whats there now:

Wonder if CA will keep the 3abn discussion open once the "interview" is done? Calvin, are you watching this?

Yeah, neat huh? It comes in handy when doing research, and when trying to find something on a webpage which you have read before...

If you click on the links in those archived homepages it will take you to more archived pages from back then.

I just wish they weren't always so far behind in archiving, but then again, the internet is huge....

Yes, indeedy I did. What is interesting is that a letter of explanation about Linda Shelton was posted on May 20th so there should be at least a May 20th in the archive but there isn't. Guess archives are subjective things...

As are many other months, if you look at all carefully. Updates are always archived. If there is no change or reason to archive as in searches requested and done by webcrawlers, etc, and it's the same as before, then it isn't done.

And your point was what, more of the conspiracy? And the implication that Danny Shelton is so powerful he controls the internet archives and the world wide web now also???? ☒ rofl

Rosyroi,

Did you notice that I said archives must be subjective things? Did you also notice that I didn't mention anything about a conspiracy?

I have no independent knowledge about web archives. The first time I heard about such things was a little earlier today. It just seems that adding a notice on May 20, 2004 would be a change. At least I think it would qualify as a change.

http://web.archive.org/web/20040612111239/www.3abn.org/news/2004/sheltons-official-statement.html

I wonder who is responsible for adding archives. Would it be the webmaster? Like I said, it appears that perhaps archives are subjective.

Vebmasters can't take away from the archives, what is, just is. although they can trigger a webcrawler to apture pages that will add another copy to the archives. And any update is supposed to...

he archives are simply made up by the captrured of photoed copy of a website and it's pages made by the vebcrawlers and such in the various search engines etc.

he guy who made the website with the archives database we are talking about simply designed a program to ather it all into one database. There is a rather informative article in wikipedia about it all, if interested. I orgot his name, but you should be able to find it by entering the wayback machine there.

Did I say anything about conspiracy Alethia? I don't appreciate being attacked. I have seen a lot of it lately and it tires me out. Why not just try to carry on a decent conversation instead of attacking? I have stood up to those trying to attack or discredit me. But never attacked those who attacked me.

I have made suggestions or made comments or agreed with someone but I try to do unto others as I would have them do unto me.

No problem then, and thank you.

Possibly the letter was written May 20 but not added to the website till it was updated at the beginning of June??

I do know the letter explaining why she wouldn't be back was done that way, it was sent out first to subscribers then added after that to the website, at least I think so, I'm gonna double check on that.

The above seems likely to me also, because I was under the impression that the first announcement came at the campmeeting at the very end of May?

There several hundred domains posting to www.clubadventist.com. Some are the internet real estate that I own, some I have acquired for others, and some I bought just to keep safe.

I do own www.dannyshelton.com and he is aware of that. This will one day be transferred to him. I also own other leading Adventist names, and they are aware.

It was pointed out to this am, that some one said it was pointed out to the side, and they asked why.

A few months ago, when I was having sever server problems, I shut off 50 or so forums, but never reopened them after the transfer.

SOOOOOO I have reopened a lot of them, there was no conspiracy with whoever it was who stated this thread, and am rather surprised at some of the comments..

AND YES there is an interview coming up wth DS, and it will not be about LS, but about 3ABN.

I would like to do something again with LS, a lot of us miss her. She has not responded to my emails in the past.

She abided by it Ciny, or else you and I know Danny would have his $25,000.00 back already. Let's not get carried away and forget who we are dealing with.

> QUOTE(Pickle @ Mar 26 2007, 11:23 PM)
> I found that frustrating, as that was what happened to me for months. Then I found out from Johann that they were all going into her SPAM folder.

Well, it is apparent that not all unanswered emails go into Linda's spam folder. She did not reply to any of the three emails I sent her. Yet in her recent web site update I was a little taken aback to have a portion of one of my email quoted on her site -- without credit and without my permission. I don't particularly object, but I do not see it as a particularly shining example of Christian courtesy. (Removing that quote now will not amend the situation, by the way.)

Of course I'm not nearly as uncritically admiring of Linda as many of her defenders here appear to be. Perhaps that's the reason I never received a reply.

I always thought and still believe that what she had to go through was a personal blessing in disguise, considering the princess role she played at 3ABN. And I would think a lot more of Linda if she deigned to actually go to work side by side with some of the people to whom she wishes to minister -- you know, the folks who work at WalMart, McDonald's, Staples, or any number of retail outlets. Perhaps her pay-out was big enough so she doesn't need the money, but coming down to earth to work in a situation in which she is not a media star would put her back in touch with the "real world." (3ABN doesn't qualify as the "real world" in my view.)

As readers on this forum know, I have generally posted in defense of Linda because the accusations against her were utterly outrageous and over the top, not to mention petty and mean. It's extremely difficult to maintain one's spiritual equilibrium under such attacks, and I believe that Linda has done exceptionally well. I applaud her for that.

The bottom line is probably that Linda is not nearly as faultless as many would like to believe, nor is Danny as evil as the same folks would like to believer. The reverse is also likely true. (However, as regulars on this forum can probably tell, I believe the balance is in Linda's favor.)

I do not know if Stan has opened up the 3-ABN section in CA for disucssion, or if he has not, or if he has simply opened up a very limited announcement. I am aware that Danny Shelton is likely to have another interview on Club Adventist. But, I was not aware that such was coming soon. Or it would BE nice to have the rest of the story. Having seen the 3abn forum on CA before it was closed, and having looked at the 3abn forum that is presently visible on CA, I have some questions.

1) Is there another 3abn forum available to those given special permission to see it besides the one that is visible currently?

2) If not, what happened to the multitude of posts that was on the old 3abn forum?

nteresting and fair post Inga. Especially the paragraph highlighted. Her pay out from 3abn and DS was ndeed, extremely large, to those of us that are your everyday blue collar workers. IMO it seemed things eally heated up on these forums a few months before her payments ran out. Hardly coincidence. I do lisagree with your statement that 3abn is not the real world. Even though I understand in what context you nake the statement, the fact remains, it is very real for all of those that devote their time, resources and nergy everday to make possible, the spreading of the gospel. I am sure that from those who clean the complex, to the operators, to the camera crews, to the directors and all the way up, those people know that they are definitely a part of the "real world" and their work and sacrifice is making a difference. No matter what is said about administration, the true reality is, those people work hard, deal with all kinds of difficulties, have huge decisions to make, have to deal with all kinds of people day in and day out, have to deal with tons of paperwork, finances, budgets, overseas projects....etc etc My point is, I guess, Is just because DS or CA murray or John L is in front of the camera once in a while, contrary to what some think, that is not a justifiable payoff for what these folks have to deal with. The only true payoff is they know they are a tool to win souls to the kingdom.

Thanks, Inga, for listening.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 27 2007, 01:43 PM

It is not a question if the pay out was large. It is large, but was it fair? Was it her fair share of a ministry she helped to build? That is the question, and answer is no, since 3ABN is worth tens of millions of dollars. So the pay out can be large without being fair. Once again, even if she is guilty of all Danny charges, it doesn't excuse him to cheat her out of her fair share os the buisness. Espeicially since he is the one still there claiming to be the leader in Christian living. He needs to lead ALl things. This is about Danny's own words and deeds, toward Linda and others.

I will respond to your questions:

1) There is no 3-ABN forum open for review and discussion on Club Adventist, other than the one that you can see.

2) The posts in the old discussion forum were stored in a place that Stan could access. I could not. I do not know if other Administrators had access to that section. Stan has done some software upgrades since that section was closed. He has also move to another servier. I do not know if those posts survived the move to another server.

3) As I understand the current policy at Club Adventist, in regard to 3-ABN, there is no intent to allow a free-ranging discussion of 3-ABN, such as CA once had. Therefore, in general, one might say that the favorable content of the posts presently made in the one open section on 3-ABN in Club Adventist, fairly represents what is going to be allowed in the future.

Stan, as you are likely to read my post, feel free to correct me if I have misunderstood.

That is the question, and answer is no, since 3ABN is worth tens of millions of dollars. So the pay out can be large without being fair. Once again, even if she is guilty of all Danny charges, it doesn't excuse him to cheat her out of her fair share os the buisness. Espeicially since he is the one still there claiming to be the leader in Christian living. He needs to lead ALl things. This is about Danny's own words and deeds, toward Linda and others.

My position as always been that it was fair, more than fair. They did not own her what they gave her, unless she had an employment contract. All any employers owns you is a honest days pay for a honest days work. Linda, was not an owner of 3abn, she was an employer and officer. The 3abn corporation is the owner. Would you really expect them to sell half the assets and give it to Linda? That would dissolve the business. A corporation structure safeguards against this happening. A corporation has a life of it's own, regardless who runs it. It is by design should any one person leave the business for whatever reason, the business/corporation will go on. Co-founder,/how the business started means anything.

While I do tend to agree with you on this point, I just wonder what DS's severance package will look like if he is asked to step down? I mean, the poor guy only has two bank accounts with a total of $1500 between them after all.

Will he, as president and co-founder, settle for what I have highlighted in your post above?

Show me the average Joe that gets 2 year severance for loosing a job for whatever reason. Not many. The other stuff is apples and oranges. Hopefully, Linda did half or close to that with their personal assets, that is what gets split up in a divorce. Danny does not own 3abn to give her much more nor is he obligated too.

I don't know why so many of you think Linda deserves so much anyway. I am sure 3abn is nothing like it is now when they started it together 25 years ago. The Adventist church with its endorsement of 3abn is responsible for it's success, so are the donors, and the volunteers, and the other independent ministries that broadcast on 3abn, the employees, the technical staff that put it on the air. But Linda deserves half the business? Hardly. Even when I did watch 3abn, I did not watch it to see them. It an't all about Linda and Danny.

After three years the Linda Shelton pity party is as tiresome as the stuff from the other side. Linda iit is three years already, forget about writing a book, and updating your website with your side, and posting personal letters between you and Danny. GO GET A JOB.

Calvin, if you are speaking as the Boss, I have no comments.

If you are speaking as a member giving his opinion, then I respectfully disagree with you on certain points, although I understand your position. My understanding is that because of the information that has been revealed about certain activities at 3ABN, the opinion of the church, at the top, has shifted and a number of definite appointments and other additional opportunities to minister within the SDA church are now opening up for Linda. At this time she is in preparation for speaking and singing appointments. If Linda wants to write a book about her experiences, she has the right to do so. If you have no desire to read it, you have the right not to purchase a copy. Linda's website? No one is forced to read it. I am sure that only those who are interested in hearing what she has to say go there. The same could be said about save3ABN.org. But that is just my opinion.

May I respectfully point out that LS was not just an "average Joe" at 3ABN - she was, at a minimum, a Vice President and arguably a co-founder. I am not advocating for or against her or the settlement she received. However, I know of someone - a very average joe, or susie - who negotiated over a years salary in a settlement agreement with a company simply because they were treated unfairly.

Just my $0.02

PS... I do agree with the concept of getting a job. If the money is gone, it's gone. There is no more. We all have to earn a living somehow.

Calvin, you are allowing the noise to obscure the simple but important fact that for someone whose vocation is Christian ministry, an unresolved allegation of overt sin makes one virtually unhireable in that vocation. Her witness and credibility as a minister of the gospel is contingent upon her name and reputation...and as long as that allegation remains unrefuted (it's being denied is insufficient; exoneration is required) her ability to to work is severely impinged... if not completely blocked.

I agree, since Danny owns none of 3ABN, Linda's half of none is none. She got a settlement as a ex-employee which added up to just short of a 1/4 of a million dollars.

The Marital property is a separate issue, and being resolved right now, as they both originally divided all in their divorce agrement, and she has sued him since then to try and recieve more.

The court will decide what is fair, and all this argument in the mean time, without knowing all, is ridiculous to me.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 28 2007, 09:29 AM

Personally, I think she deserves it because for the very reason you don't. it IS a business. She and her husband built it together. It is not the same as either one of them being hired on as CEO or COB. They built it together. Plus, 3ABN is alternatively buisness and ministry when it is convenient. Too often when claiming buisness, they leave their " ministry" to the side and go ruthless corporate. That is what they did here. It is a Donald Trump move. He admittedly divorced Marla when he did because the prenup said if he waited untilt he next year he would have to pay her $5mil as oppose to the $1mil he paid here. Donald has not even professed to be christian so we really expect that from him So what Danny and the board did might have been legally right---barely--but was it ethically correct, then there are those pesky chirstian values to consider. Then Danny and the rest of the board who are on TV get up and still promote themselves as leaders in not just Christian living, but Adventist Christian living. We also know that people at that level are allowed to " resign" with all their benefits and perks in tact.

I also agree with Kevin, while these allegations go un answered and unresolved, Linda is inhibited in her ability to make aliving for herself in her chosen profession.

Then I am going to ask all those who think this was fair one more time, to tell me what Danny would do if he was dismissed with $250,000.00, and would you think that was fair?

Aletheia~

I have wondered about something for several weeks now since reading the various opinions about the separation agreement Linda signed. I am curious if since Linda signed the agreement in June, 2004 a separation agreement has been prepared in the event Danny were to leave 3abn? Do you know know if that has happened?

One last thing for your consideration Calvin... if one is assessing what is fair and stating that what linda got was fair....does it not make sense to find out if now that 3abn confronted that issue they would provide for that situation if it happened again? IMO it was poor legal/business planning to start off with not to have settled that question and to not be prepared to do it if it happened again either means a stupid board or they are delusional despite good legal advice.... but that's just me....

Depends on if he discloses all his assets, and what those assets are worth. How much has he already made off of 3ABN that he wasn't supposed to? I don't know the answer, but it should be figured in.

Pickle, what kind of assets do you have? How much do you make? Actually: do you even work??? How successful has your business been? What is your business? Would you please disclose your financial statement? Have you been audited? Do you pay taxes? What is your current personal checking bank balance? What do you have in savings/cd's/investments? Please supply us with numbers so we can verify your information. Also include a copy of your federal tax information.

If you think it is fair to publish to the whole world what Danny has in his personal bank account and then insinuate that he is being dishonest--then I think you would be happy to supply us with the same information about yourself. Afterall, if the shoe fits.....

.K. Let us take as fact your statement that a 2-year salary for a corporate executive is very fair. So, Exxon ires a VP, and gives that VP a 3-year salary, and there is a gag clause in the contract. You will note that the jag clause in the contract likely appllied to Exxon as a corporateion, its business practices, and trade secrets. air enough.

Vould Exxon fire that VP because she and the President got divorced?

Vould Exxon put a gag clause in the contract that prevented the VP from commenting adversely in regard to he specifics of the divorce? Would that be considered fair?

y point: The seperation agreement mixes up the litigimate business concerns of 3-ABN with personal issues. t elevates the personal aspects of the lives of Linda and Danny to the level of the 3-ABN corporation, and the usiness and the personal are confused and combined.

hat is (was) not appropriate. Any litigimate gag order in the seperation agreement should have been everely limited to that of the interests of the corporation, and not the personal lives of Danny and Linda.

n regard to whether or not the money given to Linda was fair, that is a very complex question that may not e totally clear at this point in time.

t is claimed that 3-ABN is a ministry, and much more than either Danny or Linda. O.K. If that it true, one night have one answer.

t should also be noted that Judge Rowe ruled that 3-ABN was, at least in some aspects, a business. To the xtent that such is true, then it just might be the another answer might be correct.

t has been stated that Linda was just an employee. I would not believe such a statement to be true about anny. I think that he was much more than just an employee, and that he contributed much more that that f just an employee. So, also, I think the same of Linda. Both are (were) much more than just employees. o, perhaps both shoud be compensated much more than just an employee.

Yes I am serious. Linda's ministry was not beating people over the head with the Sabbath. She recorded Christian music and wrote devotional books. She could marketed this to the Christian community. Like Danny was all powerful to keep her out of Christian book stores.

Even Sonny and Cher had to call it quits with the show after a year or two!

I don't know Bob, I don't even think I want to see what will happened if somebody tried to pay out Danny for $250,000.00. Especially, is as you are saying it has been a "cash cow" for him, and definitely not the way he plays that "miracle" story to the max..........Naaawww, can't see it!

That is what I have been saying from the beginning. 3ABN acted on behalf of Danny with that separation order. It was more about keeping her quiet about the marriage/divorce then about company secrets. Now, I understand why they did it. The nature of their business being "ministry" they could not have her out there saying anything contrary to the story they were telling. IOW, her talking would have hurt the business, but it is phrased and considered that it would hurt the 3ABN, the ministry. Then we switch back to buisness mode and she is just an employee and we are giving you an extremely generous severance package. It is just that swtiching backa nd forth between corporation and ministry when convenient that is not right. As I said it was a Donald Trump move, not a move for Danny, leader in Adventist Christian living.

Lee, just take it down a notch or two. I am sure Bob will answer for himself, however, I don't think he meant that Danny needed to disclose his fianaces here. I presented a scenario and he was giving some factors in that scenario. That is it. All that you said in the post was totally unnecessary. That is why I always say to get a good understanding before posting. For this one even went back to look at why Bob posted what he did to make sure.

so agree with you, Observer. But I'm willing to go out on a limb and wonder just how many sophisticated usinesses would even allow a husband/wife team at the executive level, for precisely this reason.

thanks, Observer and Pdi... you've just cleared up the confusion that's been bothering me ever since coming here and learning about this.

not only Sonny and Cher, but Ricky and Lucy Ricardo (I love Lucy) couldn't make it work either... then you add non-profit to it??

no wonder its such a convoluted mess...

then add to the mix at least three people supposedly telling Danny that his every thought, dream and idea was coming directly from God... supposedly that he could do no wrong... supposedly being called God's last day prophet...

wow, talk about being set up!!

have read the contract many times, and also the claims above many times both from you and many others, nd have yet to see how they are factual.

he contract is between 3ABN the entity and L.S. and is not between Linda and Danny. Itactually goes out of it's way to avoid your interpretation of it, as it doesn't even call Danny Shelton by name, or refer to her husband at all. She was only bound to "not make public statements critical of Three Angels, the board of directors, or any of its officers or employees" during that 2 year period.

IOW she could not during that time make public negative statements about D.S. in his role as President or a 3ABN board member. She was NEVER restricted of speaking of him outside those two positions, which meant she was free to speak of him as her husband and ex-husband.

The contract also clearly says:
"Nothing in the above shall prevent Mrs. Shelton from seeking a fair and equitable split of her marital property, which shall not include any property owned by Three Angels Broadcasting Network, in or out of court, in any separation or divorce proceeding. Any moneys received by Mrs. Shelton under this agreement shall be considered her separate and personal property, and not marital property"

Even if she signed under duress as people here keep claiming and had no choice; it also clearly allows arbitration in a fair and Christian manner, if she later has a problem with any of it. She never availed herself of this recourse...

Mr Matthews, Why don't you highlight the words in the contract which support and demonstrate your claims here:

1. a gag clause in the contract that prevented Linda from commenting adversely in regard to the specifics of the divorce
2. the separation agreement mixes up the ligitimate business concerns of 3-ABN with personal issues.
3. It elevates the personal aspects of the lives of Linda and Danny to the level of the 3-ABN corporation.
4. The business and personal lives are confused and combined.

I've provided it here for your convienience:

Calvin, it is hard for me to understand why you are one of the few on here who get it. 3abn does not belond to LS or DS. It is a corporation. Danny cannot name the amount of money that she should receive, because he doesn't receive it so how can he split it with her? He receives a salary, she received a salary, (a larger one than he) the end. What 3abn is worth is 3abn's no matter who runs it. All 3abn assets belong to 3abn, not Danny not Linda. Why can't anyone understand that? If DS stepped down he wouldn't get a portion of what 3abn is worth. He can't. It belongs to the corporation. He would get whatever amount the 3abn board and any attorneys involved deemed to be a reasonable amount of severence for 25 years of service.
As far as the allegation that she was fired because they got a divorce. That is ridiculous also. She was fired because she would not comply to the repeated requests of the board to "knock off" what she was doing. Why? For the sake of the ministry. She could not continue the path she was on and still be lifted up as a shining example for others to watch. Many here have decided she didn't do anything wrong. Well, after seeing, talking and hearing things that others here have not been privy to, the board came to a different conclusion. How could they not, when she refused to stop doing what they ask her to stop doing. Then told her to stop doing. She was fired for open defiance against a board action that they felt strongly she was guilty of. She refused or ignored the offers to "work with her", to help her resolve the situation, and their willingness to reconcile the situation if she would do what she was asked. She didn't. End of story.
To address the gag order I am so sick of hearing about , again, Calvin you are correct. That is standard procedure for someone in her position. Most organizations are smart enough to know when someone is fired or let go or a big blow up of some kind happens, there is a fairly big probablity that the one on the receiving end is going to run off and make all kinds of accusations and allegations against the company. Standard Procedure.
My question would be what is the big deal anyway about signing it? She never adhered to it anyway so get over it.
As to the remarks Clay continues to make about 3abn keeping her from ministering. where is the proof? How many letters or emails does he have or anyone else for that matter where 3abn is telling people not to let her come? Where is all the documentation from 3abn to all of these churches? Certainly in this mess they would have surfaced sooner or later if there was such a campaign. Also to say this has kept her from making a living is crazy. Many of us do whatever jobs we can to put food on the table. It may not be your first choice but you do what you gotta do... Is LS any different? If she feels she isn't welcome to minister in adventist churches, go somewhere else. If she doesn't want to do that then get a regular job like normal people. I agree with you Clay and Inga. Go to walmart or stores at the mall to pay the bills, and save your ministering to side work like giving people bible studies or passing out tracts. Yes, by her own actions, the princess was dethroned. You reap what you sow, time to carry on.

If he stepped down, would he voluntarily reveal all his assets, including whatever profits he made from his book deals, so that it can be determined if he needs to pay anything back to 3ABN?

Bob, cut out the same old stuff. You have put yourself in the limelight, Lee has not. If you and Joy want your 10 minutes of fame then get ready to be scrutinized in the same manner that you have scrutinized all the other players in this story. They have been cut down with slander, malice, half truths which are then lies, btw, character assassination, insinuation, manipulation of words and innuendo. Not to mention that you have dug around to find people that you have been told had an axe to grind for whatever reason, and have used whatever they have told you as gospel. Never questioning their motives or intent. That includes your main source.

Posted by: Pickle Mar 28 2007, 06:13 PM

WWJD,

Main source? Tommy? Clem #1? Clem #2? Clem #3? Danny? Dryden? Mom #1? Her son? Mom #2? Her son? Linda? Dunning? Mom never quoted? Walt Thompson?

I think probably I have relied more on Danny than any other person as far as sources go. Yes, he probably does have an ax to grind.

I don't run a 501©3, and don't have to answer to anyone regarding the taking in of donations since I don't do that. Apples and oranges.

And I'm still married to the lovely wife that pushed me down the aisle of the hospital chapel many years ago, the one who said, "For better or for worse," the one who thought, "We'll get the worst over first."

Apples and oranges. In fact, why don't we finish discussing the 3ABN thing and come up with a resolution before tackling me. Read the Bible from cover to cover. David when Nathan raised concerns against him didn't start picking Nathan apart. People that are men and women after God's own heart don't do that.

The wise accept rebuke gladly. It's fools who shut their ears and refuse to hear. That's what Scripture says. Right?

Let's talk about what Linda was doing. If you know more of what she was doing then this, you will need some evidence to supply. If you have no such evidence, then the following is what we know.

Linda Shelton was getting help for her son, Nathan Moore. Nathan was addicted to drugs. It was never the jurisdiction of the 3ABN Board of Directors to interfere with the relationship between Dr. Arild Abrahamsen, Nathan Moore, and Nathan's mother, Linda Shelton.

Let me repeat this: It was never the 3ABN Board's jurisdiction to decide, on their own, the contents of the doctor-patient relationship, the communications between those parties, or to decide where the lines would be drawn, or to even make a comment upon it, or to pass judgement on it.

The 3ABN Board of Directors likely stepped way beyond the boundaries of their positions as board members of a corporation, by interfering in this matter.

As I have said, previously, I believe that when the chips were down, the 3ABN Board and 3ABN management failed Linda and her son, Nathan.

This is all we "know" about what Linda was doing. If you know more, present the evidence, but don't issue vague statements about "knocking off what she was doing" unless you are prepared to support that statement with hard evidence. After three years, we've seen no evidence, because there is none. And Linda has demanded that it be made public. So there's no excuse to "protect Linda" by hiding that "defensible" evidence any longer.

This is what fair-minded Adventists would like to see: If there is evidence, present it. Having no evidence, 3ABN, as a Christian organization, should apologize and make restitution.

Pete

ould you elaborate on this? http://www.Save3ABN.com/ is suggesting that there never was an opportunity or the board to ask Linda to do or not do anything, since apparently the only board meeting to take up the ssue was the very board meeting that fired her.

y apologies. I left a few details out that leave you in the dark.

he pushed me down the hospital chapel aisle in a reclining wheelchair. The cast on one of my legs was ne of our guest registers. She then nursed me back to health over three months.

For better or for worse." "We'll get the worse over first," she thought. At least I could still say, "I do," and all hat family had come in from so many miles away.

got someone who will stick by my side through the typical thick and thin of earth's trials. Blessed indeed.

t was odd, though, looking at other people's wedding albums afterwards and seeing everyone smiling. It was eally odd. Took a long time to get used to that. Of course, I was smiling that day. But I was the exception. e did get one picture where she, me, and the preacher were all smiling.

Considering all that I have read here from the 3ABN accusers about how she has been persecuted and blocked from engagements,and also considering those who may have sent donations to Linda,
It would be nice to hear their explanation of what happened to any donations during that 15 mos, and why she gave up on and changed plans after claiming the Lord had told her this is what she was to do.

How did 3ABN block her from that? And if the Lord did call her to do that, then who could stop her, or stand in her way???

Sorry, no. I believe that bob would have been one of those moneychangers that Jesus through out of the temple.

QUOTE(wwjd @ Mar 28 2007, 07:48 PM)

Calvin, it is hard for me to understand why you are one of the few on here who get it. 3abn does not belond to LS or DS. It is a corporation. Danny cannot name the amount of money that she should receive, because he doesn't receive it so how can he split it with her? He receives a salary, she received a salary, (a larger one than he) the end. What 3abn is worth is 3abn's no matter who runs it. All 3abn assets belong to 3abn, not Danny not Linda. Why can't anyone understand that? If DS stepped down he wouldn't get a portion of what 3abn is worth. He can't. It belongs to the corporation. He would get whatever amount the 3abn board and any attorneys involved deemed to be a reasonable amount of severence for 25 years of service.

As far as the allegation that she was fired because they got a divorce. That is ridiculous also. She was fired because she would not comply to the repeated requests of the board to "knock off" what she was doing. Why? For the sake of the ministry. She could not continue the path she was on and still be lifted up as a shining example for others to watch. Many here have decided she didn't do anything wrong. Well, after seeing, talking and hearing things that others here have not been privy to, the board came to a different conclusion. How could they not, when she refused to stop doing what they ask her to stop doing. Then told her to stop doing. She was fired for open defiance against a board action that they felt strongly she was guilty of. She refused or ignored the offers to "work with her", to help her resolve the situation, and their willingness to reconcile the situation if she would do what she was asked. She didn't. End of story.

To address the gag order I am so sick of hearing about , again, Calvin you are correct. That is standard procedure for someone in her position. wwjd, Were you at the May, 2004 3abn campmeeting? I heard Danny using the term "demons" when refering to Johann and the Dr. being in the audience. Was that brutal?

However, it wasn't necessarily large in comparison to their combined perks before the divorce, not to mention the .. ummh ... "side benefits" Danny gets from books, free labor, jet set lifestyle, etc. Since the evidence indicates that Danny treats 3ABN as his personal business, using it for his benefit when he so desires, he should have ensured that Linda was compensated for being co-founder of the ministry.

My remark regarding 3ABN not being the "real world" was in regard to Linda's position at 3ABN. She played the role of a media star, which is not "the real world."

> QUOTE

> Even though I understand in what context you make the statement, the fact remains, it is very real for all of those that devote their time, resources and energy everday to make possible, the spreading of the gospel. I am sure that from those who clean the complex, to the operators, to the camera crews, to the directors and all the way up, those people know that they are definitely a part of the "real world" and their work and sacrifice is making a difference.

I understand that. I'm sure that most of the people working at 3ABN are truly dedicated folks. Their sacrificial pay is in stark contrast to the perks certain of the administrative staff enjoy. It seems to me that if sacrifice is the order of the day, leaders should lead the way. I don't see that happening at 3ABN.

> No matter what is said about administration, the true reality is, those people work hard, deal with all kinds of difficulties, have huge decisions to make, have to deal with all kinds of people day in and day out, have to deal with tons of paperwork, finances, budgets, overseas projects....etc etc My point is, I guess, Is just because DS or CA murray or John L is in front of the camera once in a while, contrary to what some think, > that is not a justifiable payoff for what these folks have to deal with. The only true payoff is they know they are a tool to win souls to the kingdom.

That would be true for those on sacrifical wages, which is not the case for certain administrators who would ikely make less and have fewer perks if they worked for the organized church.

I have had road blocks thrown and me all my life. I grew up in single parent home, poor, ghetto environment, slow learner, Enron lost all retirement. Yet with God's help, I manage to find a way to succeed. Sorry I ain't feeling it for Linda.

Calvin, I admire your attitude regarding your personal life. I do think it's a bit of a gender thing. It also depends on one's friends. If friends continue to emphasize the unfairness of it all, it's difficult to "get over it." f friends encourage exploring different avenues, that provides a whole different atmosphere.

Having said that, we must recognize that few are pushed from such heights to such depths as Linda was. Losing husband, job and reputation (which prevented her from using her experience in ministry) all at one blow surely must be crushing beyond measure. A divorce usually takes a minimum of two years to process for a person to return to near-normal. (It's technically a "mourning" period.) Loss of a job to the degree that one s forced to seek employment in a totally different field would take a similar period of adjustment. And who can say what it takes to deal with the reputation trashing that Linda received?

f Linda has healed to the extent she's ready to move on with her life now, she's doing as well as can be expected, under the circumstances.

One's reputation is very important to the average person...the way in which Danny S. has tarnished his wife's reputation has been unChristianlike at best. Let us assume, for the sake of argument, that Linda had an illicit affair. What would have been the proper way to handle it? The way that Danny has been carrying on, I submit, is NOT the proper way to do so.

Someone, somewhere in this forum, mentioned the example of Joseph. When he discovered Mary was pregnant, and that he could not possibly be the father, because he had not yet slept with her, did he embark on a campaign to smear Mary's name? No, he didn't. The Bible says he sought to put her away QUIETLY, until an angel of the Lord informed him that Mary was to bear the Christ child. See Matthew 1:19. This is yet another point that many here are missing.....

Linda has not been on a "free" vacation...and even if, for the sake of argument, everyone here agrees that she has, she has been personally attacked by a man whom she was once married to, and ridiculed by many as a result. That is the "persecution" that you question. She has been emotionally wounded, and most will agree that those wounds take much longer to heal than the physical. Regardless of her wrongdoing, criminals have been treated better than that!

1 Yes, what is available is to chat about the current ministry of 3ABN.

2 Yes, well at least maybe, when we went to the new server somehow all the forums were doubled, and we had to delete every other one, a couple of the forums had both deleted by accident, i have not checked to see if 'THAT' forum survived... I know some others did not, and it was my fault. Seems to me natter matters forum bit it by error..

3 For the most part that would be true. The recent disparaging remarks about Danny, Linda, aToday, and a few others were removed...

Some of the decisions maybe wrong, I have made a lot of mistakes in the past, and there is no sign of it decreasing in the future... I continue to stand behind this current position.

Both taluses in the ankles fractured, the end of the right tibia shattered, the tip of the right condyle of the ower jaw broken, two upper teeth knocked out, all three days before the wedding with but three miles out of 90 to go to be with my fiance.

had recently read an article about reimplanting teeth, and so after I came to and realized the situation, I kept telling everyone I could to find those two teeth. Four were missing, two were found. Where were the other two? Back to the wrecked VW Beetle some went to try to find them, the Beetle with the full gas tank hat had burst, the tank that didn't burst into flames as some people walked up to gape, only to be told by he Dr. who happened by to put their cigarettes out.

Well, the dentist found them in the emergency room. Two were knocked out. The missing two were there all along, knocked up into the upper jaw.

Losing husband, job and reputation (which prevented her from using her experience in ministry) all at one blow surely must be crushing beyond measure. A divorce usually takes a minimum of two years to process for a person to return to near-normal. (It's technically a "mourning" period.) Loss of a job to the degree that one is forced to seek employment in a totally different field would take a similar period of adjustment. And who can say what it takes to deal with the reputation trashing that Linda received?
> If Linda has healed to the extent she's ready to move on with her life now, she's doing as well as can be expected, under the circumstances.

ly comments where harsh, and I apologize. I am not unsympathetic to Linda's trials and lost of income and eputation. I have never gone through a divorce but I think I can relate to some of the pain and hurt that joes along with that.

Even on Thanksgiving morning, watch out for those low boy trailers parked across country roads before sunup, especially the ones that block your shoulder, without flares or flags. Even when you only have a mile of pavement left to go.

Good thing it was a lowboy. If it had been higher, the car might have made it under all the way, at least the bottom part of the car.

I really liked that Beetle, but I've never gotten another one.

Him and his wife have just split, then in walks the man he believes his having a relationship with his wife and has already told him not to show up at campmeeting. Any man who does something like that should expect shock and suspicion. Any normal person would think "they can't be here for any other reason than to make trouble." And, if he was there to make trouble and distract while services were going on, yes he could be thought of as a demon. A demon because he is seeing your wife and a demon for having the audacity to show his face in a public spiritual meeting where the husband is up front, live on tv trying to speak.

Let me explain again, since you missed it last time. Both Arild and I had received invitations to come to the Camp Meeting in 2004. I first saw the email from Danny warning me not to attend when I returned to Norway. But you seem to know a lot more about me than I do. Who gives you that knowledge?

Bystander,
Where was my indignation? It was probably in the same place it was when you called watchbird the serpent of Eden, in two different posts - just sitting back and waiting for Clay or Di to take care of it.

When someone lives in the spiritual realm, as Danny claims to, certainly he would be able to stand back and realize that even if his wife was doing everything he feared she was, those two men out in the audience were not demons but souls that Jesus died for, just like every other sinful one of us.

If it would make you feel any better, I would be glad to do what I do with my grandkids when one calls the other a name:

You would come into my sitting room, tears streaming down your face and say "Grandma, PrincessDrRe called me a demon!" I would give you a big hug and then ask you "Are you a demon? You know, just because DrRe calls you a demon, it doesn't make you one. Right?" And then you would smile, dry your eyes and say "Yes, Grandma."

Danny knew all along that Linda had not had an affair with the Doctor or anyone else. How? He fabricated the whole story out of thin air. Danny did his best to make it appear other than it was, but his house built of fictional cards is beginning to crumble. Bystander, I am sure you had a ringside seat to the entire spectacle. Once the truth about Danny comes out in a court of law, alot of people's eyes will be opened. So, come on Danny, bring on the lawsuits, everyone is waiting.

and another year...

Danny does not want his books to be opened.

(just my opinion)

Have a wonderful weekend folks

I also agree with Kevin, while these allegations go un answered and unresolved, Linda is inhibited in her ability to make aliving for herself in her chosen profession.

well others are claiming differently, as is Linda Herself

From Sister right above both your posts:
"a number of definite appointments and other additional opportunities to minister within the SDA church are now opening up for Linda. At this time she is in preparation for speaking and singing appointments."

From the what's happening with Linda thread:

Johann Feb 13 2007, 12:12 AM:
I think Linda is exceedingly busy these days. You might find out why within a week or two.

Observer Feb 13 2007, 07:15 AM Post #131
I agree. She is busy. She is getting on with her life. She maly surprise some of you yet, or perhaps not, as some of you think you know what is going on with her.

sonshineonme Mar 27 2007, 09:28 PM Post #133
I agree! She is busy, and I think it's a great thing for her! I like seeing her excited about possibilities and the invitations she has received! I'm personally excited about some things coming up for her! There is nothing like God's timing!
==========================

And again:

I brought this up before and nobody ever really answered:

L.S. wrote in Sept 2004: "the Holy Spirit drew so near to my heart and said, "I'm not finished with you yet, you will work for Me." and "The Lord has laid on my heart to begin a production studio which will produce Christ-centered programs on a full-time basis. These programs can be shown on other networks and local Christian stations."

From September 17, 2004 - December 01, 2005 [15 mos] this is what was published on her website:

Q: What are your plans for the future?

A:... I really felt that my ministry was over. But one evening the Lord brought a song to my remembrance that I had not sung in at least 15 years. The song says, "Lord, please move me with compassion for the lost I pray; for the millions who are lost and cannot find their way. Melt my calloused heart with love no matter what the cost. Lord, please move me with compassion for the lost." As I softly sang the verses and choruses of this song, the Holy Spirit drew so near to my heart and said, "I'm not finished with you yet, you will work for Me." The Lord has confirmed this with other incidents as well. I told the Lord that especially under the circumstances, He would have to open the doors and "clean up the mess." He said he would do this.

As well as writing the newsletters and magazines at 3ABN, I was also in charge of the TV production studios since the very beginning of 3ABN. I formatted new programs and chose hosts and guests for the programs seen on 3ABN. Additionally, I was directly involved in the management of the 3 production studios and the Production Truck, which obtained programming on the road. Especially considering my experience is unique in the SDA Church, I feel that I need to use this experience for the Lord. The Lord has laid on my heart to begin a production studio which will produce Christ-centered programs on a full-time basis. These programs can be shown on other networks and local Christian stations. One thing I learned at 3ABN is that there is never too many Christian programs. There is a huge demand for high quality Christ-centered programs that bring God's message to the hearts of searching people Already I have been approached by some who are willing to support this production studio. Although their funding is not available right now, their desire to help has encouraged me so much...and I'm ready to get started. It is estimated that the legal work to obtain a non-profit status in Illinois will cost approximately 5-6 thousand dollars. This is the first step. If the Lord is laying a burden on your heart to help with this stepping stone of faith, please send your donations to P.O. Box 2202, Carbondale, IL 62902. THANK YOU so much!!------------- end quote

On December 01, 2005 the webpage was changed with no explanation (that I am aware of). It now reads:

Q: What are you doing now and what are your plans for the future?

A: Ministry is what my life is about. I go where the Lord opens the doors in a speaking, singing and ministering.ministry.

It sounds like she's rather busy, internet searches show her appearances and engagements.

She is apparently able to buy a home, pay her bills, eat and still travel all over including to Europe, all without a job...

Considering all that I have read here from the 3ABN accusers about how she has been persecuted and blocked from engagements,and also considering those who may have sent donations to Linda,
It would be nice to hear their explanation of what happened to any donations during that 15 mos, and why she gave up on and changed plans after claiming the Lord had told her this is what she was to do.

How did 3ABN block her from that? And if the Lord did call her to do that, then who could stop her, or stand in her way???

And if she claims she has a ministry and goes where the Lord opens doors for her, why are some unable to see that, and complaining that the doors are still shut??

Mr Josey???

She can do all that and still be blocked... a brief perusal this church's race relations history shows that even in the face of success, there can still be open and overt hinderance. I never said she was completely blackballed... but she is sufficiently blacklisted that her success has been limited and there are still quite a few churches where she is unwelcome solely because Danny and the 3ABN board said she should not be and if she were allowed to come and minister there, they would deem that evidence of that church's having taken Linda's side over theirs.

In His service,
Mr. J

Once, again Cindy, this is not really about Linda, but more of Danny's antics, this time as they affect Linda. The problem is that even though God opens doors for her, Danny continues to attempt to close them, and is successful to a point. If God is opening doors and Danny is closing them, what does that say about his motives, christianity, relationship with God. Point is, he should not even supposed to be attempting to close them. He should have went out of his way to let everyone now that inviting LInda to their church is not a matter of choosing between he and Linda. He has, in fact, encouraged this. This is why I continue to hold Danny responsible and accountable for his own actions, and join in with those asking that he accounts for these actions.

As far as I am concerned people claim Danny Shelton is way more powerful then he is. He is just a man. If God wants doors open, Danny can't shut them, and if he closes doors no mans opening them.

Rev 3:7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write; These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth, and no man shutteth; and shutteth, and no man openeth;

Job 12:14 Behold, he breaketh down, and it cannot be built again: he shutteth up a man, and there can be no opening.

In the second place, NO one has posted evidence one of Danny Shelton ever blocking Linda's appearances or ministry.

You want evidence of someone trying to bring down a ministry and block appearances, Read these threads.

The Lindanites write letters and call Churches, and places they hear 3ABN have been invited to or are appearing at, and bad mouth them, they have posted about calling local stations and sattelite co and asking for the hope channel instead, etc etc etc.

It's sick, and as usual the pots keep calling the kettle black.

Linda had a potential invitation to come and speak at my church. My pastor then learned of the turmoil around the Sheltons. He made a call to the local conference, the pastor was advised to stay neutral, so he didn't allow the invitation to be made. A few months later, a church in my conference invited Danny to hold a rally not far from our conference headquarters.

I have no documentation but the words of my pastor spoken directly to me. In some circles, first hand experience counts as evidence.

And is that their choice or what, PB?

Also two words for you PB:

CHURCH DISCIPLINE

Have you considered that the Thompsonville Church and via them the conference may know more about this then you, and unless you have evidence to support it, you shouldn't question what happens behind closed doors in private according to biblical principles and guidelines?

Please note the Church and Conference are not 3ABN, nor ran by 3ABN, and cerrtainly they aren't ran by Danny Shelton.

Maybe you should read your church manual and see how these things work.

And I repeat:
NO one has posted evidence one, of Danny Shelton ever blocking Linda's appearances or ministry.

But evidence has been posted regarding Danny Shelton blocking the ministry endeavors of others. We have the open letter by Barbara Kerr, for example.

I have a friend who hammered a little at Gailon for the way he came across, but who also made it quite clear that Danny had also hindered his ministry endeavors.

So Danny is left with the unfortunate situation of having apparently done to others what he is being accused of doing to Linda. That makes these latter allegations look more credible, whether they are true or not.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 30 2007, 04:30 PM

One more time, Cindy...read and comprehend "before" posting. I didn't say that Danny could close any doors that God opens, he can't What I said that the fact that he tries is the problem. What side does his actions put him on? Again, he should have gone out of his way to makes sure things weren't perceived in that way. Ministry is ministry, and he should be man enough to allow her to go on with hers. Churches and/or conferences should not feel as though they are taking sides when they invite one or the other.

Linda is not calling the churches Danny is invited to and bad mouthing him, neither is the conference telling the churches to "stay nuetral" in regards to invitation to Danny. That is not neutral, bhtat is pure bias.

There was a post by Johann this week that I think was buried in a flurry of other posts. It is currently in a locked thread so I wanted to repost it so that others might not miss it.

"This morning I woke up from a strange dream. Seemed like Ida and I were just looking out through our living room window and there we look straight down into a volcanic crater that is about 20 minutes from our place. It is thousands of years old, and in the bottom is a deep lake. In my dream the water was covered with thin ice, and as we were looking I see three persons, although I did not recognize them I knew they were from 3ABN. Suddenly they realized they had lost, and one by one they walk out on the thin ice. When they reach the middle of the lake the ice breaks and they plunge through the hole, one by one, and disappear into the depths. I felt we were so helpless because we were too far away to help. AS the last one of the three disappears and I get ready to call 911, I woke up.

Now I have been thinking: How much do I care for these people? Do I love them as brothers and sisters? Do I want them to be saved? What will happen if we change our approach completely in an attempt to save these people from eternal destruction?

I might even tell my dream on the net? Tell them how much I care for them? Would anybody else care, or still treat them as hopeless liars?

It was a sad experience when I discovered that even Pastor John Lomacang twisted the truth around and told the opposite. But I love him too and I want him to be saved. Be a pastor to your church and lead them in the path of God and His Son Jesus Christ that you may be saved! You have to be an example to the others, or they feel they do not have to tell the truth."

I asked FHB over a month ago to go to the pastor of his church and ask the pastor if Linda could be invited to speak at his church.... I think I asked you to try it to Cindy (and if not, ask your pastor, then tell us what he says) and see what the response would be... to date.... there has been no answer.... FHB stated that the pastor said he would take it to the church board... I can only assume there have been no church board meetings since I made the request...

my point.... there are very few churches that will allow her to come and speak.....

Well, since you ask yes, I have heard something about the discipline by the Thompsonville church. I wonder if the conference got the full picture from the pastor and the ministry that pays half of his salary, or if they sat back and let the "trial" of Linda Shelton proceed with only one side able to present "evidence"?

ou didn't ask me, but I know better then to ask my Pastor as he was already here, As a concerned christian e tried to point out how none of this was being handled biblically, tried to point out the christian and biblical rinciples to follow, and was then insulted and got the boot. And he wasn't even taking sides. She's welcome s a visitor, I know that without asking also, but I know she won't be ministering.

Vhether Linda was photographed in bed with the Doctor or not, she chose him over her husband and her ninistry, normal people outside this petty little 3ABN world know that's just wrong.

he brethren also know if she didn't commit adultery, then she had no business agreeing to and signing livorce papers knowing it was unbiblical, and adultery is why Danny was divorcing her. Either she's an dulteress, or a liar, possibly both, and considering all this stink she's involved in, and behind here, no, she von't be singing or speaking at my Church without some serious repentance and change.

nd the sad part is, most people I've talked to didn't find all this out from either Danny or 3ABN, we found it ll out from Linda's defenders and the 3ABN accusers...

First, I would like to see a list of links to where SSOM has given any indication that she finds Jesus' words and commands appalling. That is a pretty darn big charge you are leveling there, Aletheia.

Second, I can see what you are saying here. Danny has definitely condoned, excused and minimized Tommy's behavior. So that means he hates, right? What about you? Have you condoned or excused any sinful or wrong behavior in your postings here?

Perhaps you might want to rethink your statements a bit. Just a thought...

That's because some focus on typo's and mispellings and twist words.

The meaning of what I have said hasn't changed once.

And all find fault with my character or spirit, but not one of you can address the fact that plain and simple Linda chose another man over her husband and ministry, and agreed to a divorce for adultery, yet claims she was innocent.

She agreed to the divorce but that doesn't mean that, by default, she chose another man over her husband or ministry.

That your pastor would get insulted and given the boot when he wasn't choosing sides, only attempting to line out the biblical principles he saw speaks awfully poorly of the folks in that Indiana country church.

PB, you are talking nonsense...

She was fired for refusing to give up that man.

She was divorced for refusing to give up that man.

Have you not read about all the times she was counseled to, and advised to, and asked to, and either agreed and kept on talking to him, or refused to?

If your son had a Doctor who your husband strongly objected to, because you were spending hours on the phone with him, what would you do PB? find a new Doctor or give your husband the boot and keep the Doctor, agree to a divorce for adultery, and then fly to Europe to see him without your son? (that happened, even Johann posted that)

Wake up and smell the postum!

Your second paragraph I don't even understand, it bears no relation to what I posted or reality... my Church didn't boot him, he's no longer posting here, get it now?

letheia,

don't feel like fighting, but I wanted to ask you a question. You stated twice in your posts tonight that Linda greed to a divorce for adultery.

think this brings up a point which should be looked at.

ave you seen the divorce papers? What were the grounds for divorce given at the time?

think that may be an important piece of information. If you have not seen it, could you try to find out and et the boards know?

No trick, No sarcasm, No arguing. Your post just caused that question to come to mind. Would you check it out please?

Lookin4truth,

I can only tell you what i have read and that is it was an uncontested divorce. I have never seen it posted anywhere that any of the legal documents filed referred to adultery. Instead those that support what Dan Shelton did spin it and say it was a lie for Linda to even sign the papers if she knew that he thought she was committing adultery. IT is the most convoluted reasoning i have seen on any point.

Just my 2 cents

hanks for responding on topic.

'es I have seen the divorce papers, no adultey isn't listed. It is my understanding that you can no longer livorce your spouse, and list the grounds as adultery, in this sinful world.

hat doesn't change Jesus' commands, or what was going on between Linda and Danny.

or a true Christian the only biblical reason for divorce are laid out in scripture.

inda knew what she was being accused of, and why she was being divorced.. and she agreed to it.

he didn't have to, Danny would probably still have been granted a divorce but a contested one, proclaiming o the court and all the world that she didn't agree to it. Their divorce was a uncontested divorce, meaning hey agreed to all terms and just asked the judge to validate it.

o these things matter?

o God they do. We need to stand for his principles and truth, always.

Aletheia,

I understand the direction you are coming from, when you say she didn't have to, but if Danny has stated the marriage was over (And he did in his email about the gun), and if he filed for the divorce, I don't understand how you can blame her. She didn't want it, but saw it was over.

None of us know what was said in private conversations.

(1Co 7:15) But if the unbelieving depart, let him depart. A brother or a sister is not under bondage in such cases: but God hath called us to peace.

Therefore, asking PB if Linda should "find a new doctor" bypasses the patient, Nathan Moore, as though Nathan doesn't exist or that Nathan isn't a man who makes decisions for himself.

As for Linda's phone calls to Nathan's doctor. I have seen no evidence that those phone calls were any longer than what Linda and Dr. Abrhamsen have stated they were.

You have that backwards, Aletheia. Danny has to prove that she chose another man over him, since he made the initial charge. Besides, it wasn't even his first charge. That was of spiritual adultery. He only came up with the rest after being pressed about the validity of the first false acusstaion.

Now, to try to be fair, if you ca basically saying that she persued a relationship of which her husband did not approve, I would have more understanding. Still just as wrong, but I would understand. He would then be asking her to choose between him and her son, which I don't believe it was the first time.

However, can you answer where Danny was while this "relationship" was developing? Why she ahd so much time to be on the home, taking trips, etc. as Danny accuses? I have said this before. If Danny had been there as man of the house, going with Linda to Norway, picking up the phone to check with the Dr. about Nathan's progress, being Linda's shoulder to cry on, being priest of his home and leading out spiritually IN HIS HOME, during this most trying time, then Linda's contact with the Dr. with have been comsiderably less, don't you think? I have asked this before, but none of you have answered. Where was Danny?

Aletheia,

After asking you the questions I did, I searched for Guam Divorce in Google.

I came up with the web site www.GuamDivorces.com. At this web site, I found the following information

>
> Are there other grounds for divorce?
>

> (g) irreconcilable differences.

Vith this information, one would have to come to the conclusion that if (a) Adultery was not listed as the jrounds for the divorce, then it would be Danny who falsely obtained the divorce.

:ither he had no proof of adultery, or when he stated some other reason on the divorce papers, he did not ıave biblical grounds for the divorce.

would be interested in seeing what he listed for grounds on the documentation.

;ince Aletheia has seen the divorce papers she should have no difficulty getting that information for you.

Now, I am really just asking, but you can still file for divorce citing "adultery" in some states can't you? Cindy was saying you can't, and I know she maybe partly right becauae I am almost positive that here in Cali ithe term used is irreconcillable differences. However, I know that the adultery, etc. willplay a part int he division of the marital property, custody of children, etc. now Am I anywhere near right?

Asking.......just in case! LOL!!! Now, seriously, asking.

If your spouse stated you were a thief and a murderer would you agree? No one would if they were innocent, nor would anyone agree to being a adulteress if they weren't!

Let's be real here!

Read that gun statement again.. it's about trust in a relationship, and none of the following e-mails add up to him wanting the relationship to be over.

Let the unbeliever depart? ok, if they want to -- that is separation.

There are many legit reasons for that. And by the way Linda departed and bought a trailer before the divorce... was she the unbeliever departing according to your cited scripture?

Putting your spouse aside, is not departing and being separated and living as if you are still married in the sight of God, that refers to divorce.

You might want to look at that all again...

As a general rule, the grounds for a seven-day uncontested divorce are irreconcilable differences. The total cost for an uncontested divorce for Guam residents is $650 ($500 attorney fee plus $150 court filing fees).
>
> Contested Divorce. In the event that one party of a marriage desires a divorce and the other does not, or if both parties desire a divorce but do not agree on the terms, child custody, property settlement, etc., the divorce becomes contested. The grounds for divorce may be expanded to include adultery, extreme mental cruelty, etc. The time and costs required to obtain a contested divorce will vary depending on the merits of each case. Costs include attorney fees and court costs. A contested divorce is billed at $150 per hour plus court costs with a $1,000 retainer.

The quote above is from www.guamdivorce.net (Ross E. Putnam, Attorney at Law).

It shows that the grounds for an UNCONTESTED divorce is IRRECONCILABLE DIFFERENCES. If Danny wanted to claim ADULTERY, he would have to choose a CONTESTED DIVORCE.

It seems to me he chose the quickest, cheapest way. He did not choose the way that would justify his claim of adultery.

I wonder if he had chosen to go the biblical route, and divorce only for adultery, if Linda would have still agreed to sign the papers.

This is why it is important to see the papers. If they say adultery, and Linda signed them, it would show she agreed to the grounds. If it says irreconcilable differences, then Danny did not divorce on biblical grounds.

Ok, but then just say he is telling th truth(which I doubt very seriously), was it necessary for him to file on the grounds of adultery to satisfy the church of biblical grounds, or would he just have to present evidence to the church that he had biblical grounds? Well, it is apparent that the church isn't going to do anything about it, period. but while we are fantasizing about Danny telling the truth let's extend that to the local 3ABN church and GC actually doing what they were supposed to do.

She said nothing of the kind. That was below the belt. Judge not lest ye be judged. Jesus judges our motives. Maybe you have decided that God is not capable of handling judgement and have decided to take over.

I am appalled at the way in which you misstate so much so fast. I guess sin is relative? Is it OK for one, but not the other.

Have you considered how it is possible to file for a contested divorce, so you can cite adultery, when your spouse isn't contesting?

I tried, and told my lawyer I wanted it a matter of record, he told me it was flat out impossible...

Yet I divorced my husband for adultery... God knows that. And that wasn't reconcilble.

What we need to understand is that sometimes, actually often, the state and God are at odds.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 31 2007, 10:49 PM

I would, too, Mozart, but if it starts with the pastor.........but then again, I know of a situation where the pastor definitely is not representative fo the church membership............you may have a point. However, it would give most pause.

PDi,

The scripture says Moses gave a "writing" of divorce. To obtain the LEGAL divorce, in writing, the man had to show the proper grounds. If he just came and said, "We don't get along" or "We don't seem to be able to work it out", the divorce would not be granted in writing.

Mat 19:7-9
(7) They say unto him, Why did Moses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away
(8) He saith unto them, Moses because of the hardness of your hearts suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.
(9) And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery.

Aletheia,

I quoted from two Guam divorce sites. Both said that the grounds could be stated.

I am sorry to hear that you had to go through this yourself, but you did not state whether you were divorced in Guam or not. The laws are different in Guam than in the States (Guam is a U.S. Territory), or people would just get a divorce on the mainland.

The main reason for going to Guam for a divorce is to get it QUICK. That would cause me to ask the question, What was the hurry? If he had filed in the State of Illinois, there would have NO DOUBT been a waiting period, and that may have given time for reconciliation.

IF Linda was guilty, the waiting period may have given her time to come to her senses, and leave the Dr.

I read this several times and it appeared to me that by "here" you meant he had already reached a decision on the matter and that led to him getting the boot from the church he had been pastoring. Now i see you meant that he had been posting here, got insulted and got booted or banned. If he got banned from BSDA, Calvin would have had just cause. He doesn't ban folks for no reason.

There is no waiting period on uncontested divorces in Illinois at least not here in Southern Illinois. Mine was uncontested. It was filed within a week we had a court date which my ex didn't even have to be there for & it was granted.

Now on contested then you both have to actually be there with lawyers, etc. & depending on how much you were "fighting" over on how long it would have taken. BUT to me for Danny saying that he wanted to work things out, etc. why would you file a quickie divorce? Why not file in Illinois where you live & let it take its course which maybe during that time you could reconcile if that is really what you wanted all along.

This is not true....folks sign divorce papers all the time because they know their spouses aren't coming back and they want to move on...this does not speak to the guilt or innocence of any parties to a divorce...it is simply strategic maneuvering...a lot of it being in the legal arena...

LadyTenor,

That is almost verbatim what my family has been telling me!! I keep trying to keep an open mind, but then people like A....well, never mind....keep reminding me of the old ugliness.

After calming down and taking a deep breath, obviously you and others are right. Sometimes its just one step forward and two steps back, you know?

What's really cool is that there is a lot of love here at BSDA. I like it here a lot. There are some very genuine people here, and I can see it as an opportunity to learn a lot from you all - a very SMART group of people! I feel blessed to have been lead here!

List any state in the union where the grounds can be "adultery" as a the grounds for divorce. If memory serves all of the states are no-fault and they do not consider "adultery" grounds for divorce. Is your law degree in the US or the UK? There is a difference between the two.

Can you prove such in order to save your legal degree?

The only thing that can honestly be said, is that Linda agreed to the grounds for the divorce that were stated in the legal proceedings in Guam. As you have acknowledged that those proceedings did not list adultery, you cannot say that Linda agreed to a divorce based upon adultery.

The record of the Guam divorce stands. That is what she agreed to, not some other spin of the facts.

Let us carry this one step further. Let us say that prior to the legal filing, during the time that Danny and Linda were discussing their marital future, Linda had told Danny that she beleived Danny had committed some kind of wrong, and that was the reason that she was calling the marriage over, and accepting the divorce. On that basis, would you say that Danny agreed to the validity of Linda's claims, agreed to Linda's claim of wrong doing on his part, and acknowledged that he had committed whatever her claim was?

Of course you would not, and neither would I.

In just about all divorces it is typical for both parties to claim some wrong by the other. If you can claim that Danny's claim against Linda is an acknowledgement on her part, be prepared for that same claim (whatever the specifics may be, and I am not suggesting any specifics) to be made against Danny. But, that may not happen, and such a claim is simply unreasonable on its face. I would hope that those of us who support Linda would have better sense.

I realize it's April Fools today, and the temptation here is great, but...

Fault-based divorces are alive and well in some states...every state is different. Here's a couple articles you might find interesting on divorce proceedings. Both are written in layman's language.

http://www.elizabethlanger.com/articles20.htm

http://writ.news.findlaw.com/grossman/20020115.html

Divorce regulations for other states can easily be found on the internet by simply entering something like "divorce requirements" (include which state you're curious about).

I have a hunch there's a whole lot more to this Shelton divorce than meets the eye. There usually is in most relationships. In fact, there may have been a whole lot more going on than met the eye when a divorce was being sought. It may have been more than just a little strategic as to how, when, where, what to file, etc. One side may have been a lot more proactive on this than the other also.

I earned my law degree from the Hofstra University School of Law in January of 2005. Hofstra University is located in the state of New York, U.S.A. So my degree is one from an accredited school in the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

You have asked me to list any state in the union where the grounds for divorce can be adultery. I will use New York for an example.

New York State's Domestic Relations Law states (emphasis mine):

> QUOTE
>
> S 170. Action for divorce. An action for divorce may be maintained by a husband or wife to procure a judgment divorcing the parties and dissolving the marriage on any of the following grounds:
> (1) The cruel and inhuman treatment of the plaintiff by the defendant such that the conduct of the defendant so endangers the physical or mental well being of the plaintiff as renders it unsafe or improper for the plaintiff to cohabit with the defendant.
> (2) The abandonment of the plaintiff by the defendant for a period of one or more years.
> (3) The confinement of the defendant in prison for a period of three or more consecutive years after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant.
> (4) The commission of an act of adultery, provided that adultery for the purposes of articles ten, eleven, and eleven-A of this chapter, is hereby defined as the commission of an act of sexual or deviate sexual intercourse, voluntarily performed by the defendant, with a person other than the plaintiff after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant. Deviate sexual intercourse includes, but not limited to, sexual conduct as defined in subdivision two of Section 130.00 and subdivision three of Section 130.20 of the penal law.
> (5) The husband and wife have lived apart pursuant to a decree or judgment of separation for a period of one or more years after the granting of such decree or judgment, and satisfactory proof has been submitted by the plaintiff that he or she has substantially performed all the terms and conditions of such decree or judgment.

> (6) The husband and wife have lived separate and apart pursuant to a written agreement of separation, subscribed by the parties thereto and acknowledged or proved in the form required to entitle a deed to be recorded, for a period of one or more years after the execution of such agreement and satisfactory proof has been submitted by the plaintiff that he or she has substantially performed all the terms and conditions of such agreement. Such agreement shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county wherein either party resides. In lieu of filing such agreement, either party to such agreement may file a memorandum of such agreement, which memorandum shall be similarly subscribed and acknowledged or proved as was the agreement of separation and shall contain the following information: (a) the names and addresses of each of the parties, (b) the date of marriage of the parties, (c) the date of the agreement of separation and (d) the date of this subscription and acknowledgment or proof of such agreement of separation.

Moreover, New York is one of those states where "no-fault" divorces are NOT allowed. New York only grants divorces according to one of the six grounds enumnerated in the portion of the Domestic Relations law stated above.

I worked in a law firm while I was in law school that handled a myriad of divorce cases. I had the opportunity to handle an uncontested divorce on my own also (my bosses trusted me with it after I had assisted a number of cases).

Your statement in your above quoted post that claims that all states grant "no-fault" divorces is grossly inaccurate. If you are not convinced with my example that clearly refutes your memory, I can provide several others. However, this post has become long enough.

Feel free to visit www.findlaw.com for any state law you wish to consult on your own.

Of course, my degree was never in danger, so "saving" it was never required. However I am rarely one to bluff.

If you have any more questions of a legal nature, I would be happy to answer them or point you to someone who can if I am unable to.

Sorry.... whatever else of your "what if" scenario fits the real "scene".... Linda didn't even find out about what Danny had done to her daughter until well after the divorce and firing. Please read Barbara Kerr's initial letter o BSDA..... in the thread http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?=&showtopic=10489&view=findpost&p=145498, which was posted by Calvin. This will give you a better idea of the timeline of some events. This is not to say that Danny did not have the fears you describe, but even if so, they were not motivators for what Linda did since she was completely unaware of them until much much ater.

Dear Aletheia,

We have all met and our collective has decided after re-reading your posts, that you are right and we are wrong. Linda was not invited to our meeting but that's ok, we have decided to fire her. We ran this announcement by our egal advisor and our mental advocate, and they both say we are legal and our mental state is ok now as it wasn't previously.

We want to thank you for your persistent missionary outreach to us heathen here at bsda, for if it weren't for you, we just don't know what would have happen to our spiritual lives.

So, we hereby declare ourselves Aletheia-ites now, and renounce any vestiges of our former Linda-ism for we have seen the light and the error of our discerning. We pray you would be willing to show us the way, through your-leadership and guidance in all questions relating to life, love, religion, politics and every other matter of controversy, you Aletheia, are our "Gandolph"! than

And to BS, lee, wwjd, FHB, we do not see you as chopped-liver. Should Aletheia ever be fired or lose her position and standing which she gained so rightfully last evening, we will then draw lots to determine which of you we will then follow to the end of our days or April fools day, which ever comes first!

We will continue to look to all of you to lead us through the twists and turns of the bottle of Pickled-Joy that is poured out on us daily! We will watch in awe as you all continue to counteract the counterfeit pickles with genuine gerkins and butter-chips! b

The one problem I see with "counteract the counterfeit pickles with genuine gerkins and butter-chips" is that my wife and I have four genuine gherkins, and my wife doesn't want them to hear all this 3ABN stuff. Maybe some other gherkins might do.

I guess since our oldest gherkin turned 18, she doesn't qualify as a gherkin anymore.

When we found out she was coming along, the first grandkid for all parents concerned, we waited until we were leaving on vacation, and then we mailed to our parents a little card with a picture on the front of a jar with two big pickles in it, and a little pickle in the tummy of one of the big pickles. No words about the situation. Just a picture. (Might as well make the most of a name like this.)

I checked the answering machine while we were on the road. Mom left a message. She sounded really stressed.

It has been one of those days....

While I was shopping at the grocery store, employees were madly pulling bread off of the shelves. When I got to the check-out, one employee stormed up and informed the cashiers that the bread directive had been an April Fools Day joke.

My young grandkids have been running into my sitting room off and on all day, telling me they don't like me anymore and then chortling "April Fools!"

And now, when the bread is all back on the shelves and the grandkiddies are snuggled in their beds, I log onto BSDA and find that SSOM has topped them all!

hat is allright. I once attendeed a promoton ceremony in the Army. During that ceremony, someone read he promotion orders, which stated that they would become effective on February 31!

ave any of you ever seen a February with 31 days? Some clerk had his fun. And an officer had signed them.

I can top this one.... my grandad enlisted in the Spanish American war in June... but his birthday was not until September 29... so he pushed it back a few months and wrote February 29 on his enlistment papers.... and duly served in both Cuba and the Philipines... with a rank of Corporal.

He was about 65, and sitting in our living room in front of the fire brushing his beautiful white hair, when he startled all of us by suddenly coming down hard with his feet on the floor and yelling out "Petey (that was his pet name for his wife)!... we all ran to see what was the matter... and he sat there with an astonished, quizzical, strange look on his face... finally getting out the words....

"I never was born! .... There WASN'T any February 29 the year I was born!"

But.... when he died in a Veteran's hospital just shy of his 90th birthday, the nurses had already celebrated his 90th birthday according to what was on his records, on the last day of February.

For ninth grade I rode a Catholic school bus, got off at the girls' school, and caught a ride to the private, non-religious school I went to, which only went up to 9th grade. That was a recipe for disaster.

The big bullies on that bus nicknamed me Bill, and then forgot my name was Bob.

I decided I would never be so cruel as to name my son William. Imagine being called Bill Pickle for the rest of your life!

Grandma was nicknamed Sweetie. I think that may have been before she married Grandpa.

My wife likes to make the most she can out of the name. I'm the bread and butter pickle. The kids are dillightful. Etc., etc.

So, what is your family's take on the vinegar debate...

We're pretty straight-laced. Since the SoP says what it says about vinegar, we avoid it.

That last jar of home-canned pickles sure was good. Lemon juice, dill seed or whatever, garlic, a grape leaf. Not sure where the wife got the recipe, but it sure was good.

es, Mr. Pickle, I used to worry about the vinegar too, until I realized that when The Lady wrote about vinegar eing so bad for us it really was very heavily alcohol and she was addicted! But when I read that what is rocessed today is totally different than what she wrote about, I stopped being concerned about it. So glad hat your pickles turned out good, but I get a little ticked off when I see that the bakery at Apple Valley can't se vinegar as a preservative in their bread and it spoils a few days after purchase. Why can't people realize hat some of the things she wrote about are no longer relevant in today's world! Yes, yes, I know that back in er day she was right, but even the world can grow out of wrongness every once in a while -- can't we do the ame??

kay, I'm getting down now.

Is this guy out to lunch, to quote one of Danny's emails? Or is the info old, since it speaks of vinegar containing alcohol?

> QUOTE
> Vinegar retards digestion
> Experiments have shown that as small a portion of vinegar as one in 5,000 sppreciably diminishes the digestion of starch by its inhibiting or destructive effect upon the salivary amylase. One part in 1,000 renders starch digestion very slow and twice this quantity arrests it altogether. From these facts it becomes evident that vinegar, pickles (saturated with vinegar), salads on which vinegar has been sprinkled and salad dressings containing vinegir, are unwholesome substances to take into the human digestive tract, especially when taken with starchy foods such as cereals, bread, legumes, potatoes and the like.
> Vinegar is not an evil merely because its highly toxic acetic acid content destroys ptylain (salivary amylase), but it also contains alcohol, which precipitates the pepsin of the gastric juice and retards or prevents gastric digestion of proteins. What wonder then that pickles and vinegar have been found useful in reducing weight. They cripple the first two stages of digestion. My readers should know that apple cider vinegar, which is so much lauded today as a "wonder drug" in folk medicine con tains both acetic acid and alcohol and is unfit for use, not alone because it impairs digestion, but also because it contains these two virulent poisons.

\fter reading everything on the page, I 'd say, "out to lunch." I have been in the chemistry labs too much to)e concerned about the smell of acetic acid (and that is what gives vinegar its distinctive smell.)

ıere is another page that describes a laboratory experiment that demonstrates that vinegar has an adverse ːffect on amylase:

ıttp://sps.k12.ar.us/massengale/amylase_on_starch_lab.htm found another one, I think, yesterday, but don't see it now.

)ne can find pages that claim that vinegar has a positive effect on diabetes, and this is supposed to be due to ıow it affects carbohydrate digestion. Well, if amylase action is impeded, that would make sense, though I ıuestion the wisdom of interfering with amylase as a means of controlling blood sugar.

3efore you go too far down this blind alley... take another look at the original page and note the multitude of ːrroneous and downright wierd statements, claims, and recommendations that the man is making. When he groups citrus fruits... including lemons and limes... in his things that "impede digestion".... you can bet your bottom dollar that he is a kook. And when he goes on to recommend anti-acids for digestion problems when the most common problem is a LACK of stomach acid rather than too much.... then grab your wallet tight, for he is revealed as not only a kook but a huckster. (The reason one feels as though one has too much "acid" with such things as "heartburn" is because there was not enough acid to properly digest the food and get it out of the stomach, so it sits and churns while the food is still not completely digested.)

Back to the EGW position on vinegar.... it was caused by the sheer AMOUNT of vinegar that was consumed in her day... as well as by the fact that it was not properly sterilized and stored, which resulted in it being a haven for "vinegar worms".... which, while not individually visible, formed a cloudy mass that hung at the bottom of vinegar jars, which people of that time called the "mother". They avoided ingesting the cloudy part as much as possible, but they would not have been completely successful in that.

A second reason for her admonition was the sheer amount of vinegar that was ingested each meal. Remember canning and pasteurization were not even invented when she began writing on health. Some items that would keep in cold storage, such as root vegetables and some fruits, but for others, the possibilities for preservation were drying, fermenting, preserving with sugar and pickling... which is actually a form of fermentation. Fruits could be dried or preserved with sugar. Vegetables could only be pickled.... either forming a "vinegar" of their own or by adding vinegar.

So a typical meal... especially in the winter... would have most of the vegetables in the form of pickles.... not all preserved with vinegar, but a goodly number of them. But that is not the whole story. Since one of my grandfathers kept to the "old style" of eating all of his life, I had opportunity to see for myself the typical use of vinegar... pouring it over a plate full of vegetables, potatoes, and meat, until all of them were swimming in vinegar. It would be my guess that the amount of vinegar consumed at one meal would easily be a full cup... possibly more.

Small wonder then, that it caused digestive problems that are simply non-existant with the teaspoon or possibly tablespoon full of vinegar that might be ingested in a few slices of dill pickle or in one's mayanaise or salad dressing. And those who prescribe vinegar or lemon juice as a health aid for various reasons are only prescribing a teaspoonful per meal.

As always.... one should keep one's common sense faculties on alert when reading either Ellen White materials or today's "health" admonitions! And "laboratory experiments" are no where near as safe a guide as reading widely in nutritional literature. Copious comparisons enables one to readily sort out the nuts.

WB,

What an interesting insight into the dietary habits and constraints of our forefathers! Once again it is so nice to be living in this modern age where we don't have to rely on vinegar and sugar to preserve our food. Surely makes one tempted to give the fridge a hug next time one is in the kitchen.

Yes. My parents had one briefly before we upgraded to an electric model. I only remember the ice man delivering the blocks a few times. We still picked up our milk bottles from the front porch back then, too.

Wow, I didn't think I'd get this much response with my little 'diatribe' but thank you all for the research you did. Very eye-opening information. Thank you too, Snoopy, for your kind response. kiss

I, too, remember the iceman. We had a little brown, two door model icebox and I remember getting ice chips off the back of the truck. Don't know how much 'dirt' there was on it, but on a hot summer day (Them is not tears, them is sweat!) it was a real treat to day nothing of the relief of having your milk cold again as well as other things.

Does anyone remember Fitch's Shampoo? It was the same color as the vinegar my Mother used to pour on her vegetables and one day I was asked to get her the vinegar which was kept in the one small storage shelf that we had for everything. The whole bunch of us errupted in laughter at the look on her face when she realized what I had done. Fortunately, she caught it JUST BEFORE she poured it on her food.

Yes! I do remember the "ice age" complete with a team of horses and wagon heading to the nearby river cutting the large chuncks of ice and loading them onto the the wagon and back to the "ice house" as well as taking naps on the cool sawdust with the ice buried down underneath in the hot summer time. Those were the days.

Talking about milk in glass bottles. We had to get ours from the old milk cow with large handles. My job was to strain the fresh milk and run the cream seperator to seperate the cream from the milk. Then wash all seperator parts with hot suzzy soap and water and rinse about three times to make sure the soap did not contimate the cream. The "blue milk" came out of one spout and the cream out the other. Don't ask me why it was called blue. Since we did not raise hogs, my job was to carry it out to the chicken house for the "old bitties" who seemed to relish their feast.

Result was a good set of muscles that I got teased about, but no one tried to push me too far. With a quick temper and fire in my eye, everyone gave me a wide berth.

It makes a difference where you lived. My folks lived in the urban north. My mom used a washing machine and hardly felt the depression. She had a job. My in laws lived in the rural south until my father in law came north to work in the factories. My mother in law washed on a wash board and used a wood burning cook stove. She worked in the fields along with some of her sisters and brothers. My in laws came close to dying from malnutrition. In fact my husband's baby brother did die of TB.

But the first house my husband and I lived in, we had an outhouse. Yep. We OLD!

Well, I'm not old and I grew up in houses without bathrooms. When I was 6, we had no water in the house. We had to draw it from a well and I was terrified of falling in that well. It looked just like a wishing well. My grandparents got a bathroom and hot water when I was 12 but at my house we never did get a bathroom jor hot water. My parents and I moved in with my grandparents when I was 16. I raised my three kids through the diaper stage without a bathroom and this was in from 1973-1979. We did have a bathtub just not a toilet because we couldn't afford the septic system. We used my grandparents outhouse. I do not miss those days!

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ Open Letter To Bsda

Posted by: calvin Aug 16 2006, 06:42 PM

For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding one of my best friends, Linda Shelton. I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.

I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.

I would like to stop here and say that by my not being a "paid" employee of 3ABN, I have had a unique opportunity watching employees come and go. In seven years of volunteering at this ministry, I really got a feel for their personalities versus their characters. I also watched in horror, as some people would work so hard to position themselves to climb the ladder of success. You could see "pride of position" stamped on their foreheads as they walked the halls searching desperately for fame. It's no wonder Linda and Danny both have become leery over the years of people trying to become their "friends". It's unfortunate that people will use people, but this is the real world after all, and God warns us that "whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant, and whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."

I had the privilege of meeting many Godly people while volunteering at 3ABN who were the same off of camera as they were when the cameras were rolling. I would have to say that was especially true of Linda Shelton. She was as sweet, charming, spiritual and innocent off camera as she was on! If that was the only statement that I had to make about Linda, it would be enough, for each of you saw the "real" Linda as she held out her hand in prayer on every "Presents" program.

I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Danny is a very powerful man. Maybe the most powerful man in the SDA church and his influence is felt far and wide. When he doesn't like you he has no problem picking up the phone to call conference presidents and heads of ministries. I have personally felt his wrath, and its consequences by standing up to him, asking hard questions (when everyone else was afraid too) and continuing to be a friend to Linda and support her through this nightmare.

I can honestly say that I hate injustice and I refuse to stand by and watch someone be bullied. My husband and I are very much the same in this respect. With that said, it was so incredibly confusing those first few months listening to both Danny and Linda talk about their "problem". Each person was emphatic that the other person was lying. At this time, both Dan and Linda had credibility with me even though Linda and I were actually close friends. It would give me a headache just trying to sort out what each one had verbalized.

It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled, while Dan was "closed off" and "non-receptive". By that statement I don't mean that he wouldn't talk to Claudia and me. He did. He just did 99% of the talking. It was as if Dan was on "machine gun mode" and his words just shot out of him like bullets. I should also say that at the time we drove up to 3ABN, it didn't matter to me if Linda was guilty or innocent. I was on my way because she needed a friend.

I was appalled that Linda had been locked out of 3ABN and completely cut off from talking to the employees. The hard drive from her computer was removed and she wasn't able to retrieve any information that she had stored in that computer.

I may not be a PhD, but it didn't take much common sense to see that Linda was being "cut off" from all former friends and co-workers. Linda, Claudia and myself talked for hours, we prayed together, we cried together and we counseled together. I kept hearing the words of Jesus in my ears; "Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down one's life for his friends."

Danny has always maintained that Linda would not receive counsel and it is my belief that nothing could be farther from the truth. What she didn't want was 3ABN "arranged" counsel and refused anything that smelled of it.

I had one opportunity to ask Danny tough questions during our three-day stay. I knew that even by asking, that they might not be well received. My questions were 1) Are you having an affair? 2) Have you fallen in love with someone else? 3) Are you willing to acknowledge that you have responsibility for your marriage falling apart?

Dan emphatically denied an affair or any love interest other than Linda, but he was completely unwilling to take one shred of responsibility for the marriage beginning to unravel. The entire blame was on Linda's shoulders and he had many reasons why it was all her fault.

During the weeks that followed I received several two-hour long phone calls from Danny. I averaged about five minutes during those conversations. Again, his words flew out like machine gun fire almost painful to listen to. He was definitely on a mission to discredit his wife and isolate her from ANYONE that lent her a helping hand or a shoulder to cry on. He sounded so extremely believable and convincing. He had some kind of so-called "proof" for every "thing" she was being accused of. Eventually Danny persuaded me with partial truths that Linda was the one in the wrong. I was even mad at Dr. Abrahamsen for not walking away from the situation because I believed he was only making matters worse by continuing to be-friend her.

Linda and I didn't speak for about three months (Oct.- Dec.), but she continued to maintain her innocence. Occasionally she would send me an email with an update and a kind word. Never once did she get mad at me for not "siding" with her. What I found strange was that every time Linda and I would begin talking over the phone again, within about 24-hours I would get a phone call out of the blue from Dan and he would begin his torturous rundown of all his "evidence". (Were her phones tapped?) hmmmm.......

I prayed that God would show me the truth in the situation and I asked for wisdom to respond to each of them. Whenever Linda and I began to reconnect again, Danny became angry. His words were more than unkind as he spoke "ugliness" about his former wife. I began losing respect for him not only as a husband, but as the Christian leader he should have been portraying! He spoke about his wife's menstrual cycle freely over the phone. (HUGE MISTAKE – how inappropriate and disgusting. AND, if he was discussing it with me, surely he was discussing it with others). He actually had the nerve to say one day, "Well, I've always said that Linda would spread her legs for anyone". Unbelievable beyond words!!!!!! What Christian leader would say that? And to use the words "I've always said". How many times had he said that to someone?

These disgusting statements weren't the first time Danny's words had turned my stomach causing me to lose tremendous respect for him as a leader. It is shameful to even repeat what he said. (I have decided not to repeat it because it's too horrible and what bugs me more than anything is that I can't tell this truth, because no matter how true it is, the incident is too inflammatory to be published. Maybe someday, the truth will be known.)

The last time I taped a cooking program at 3ABN was early December of 2003. I will never forget gathering up the last tray full of dishes and food on the kitchen set and heading for the door. As I neared the piano, goose bumps stood up all over my body and a voice so audible in my head said, "This is the last time you will ever tape a program here". I was so shocked I stopped walking, turned around to look at the kitchen set and said out loud, "No, that can't be". There was no shaking the feeling, so I stood there in stunned silence for a moment as I took it all in one last time.

I was sure the voice must be wrong because Dee Hildebrand and I had already set the schedule for the following year. The strangest thing happened though. My normal schedule of taping every other month beginning in January just wouldn't work out. This time, no matter how we tried to arrange the schedule, the first possible spot was just after July 4th, taping a LIVE with Dr. Neil Nedley. Then, I wasn't on the schedule again until late September, so we also booked October, and December.

I don't remember if it was January, February or March (2004), but Kay Kuzma called my home and told me that she was working on a new book called Mending Broken People. It was to be a book about the ministries that "made up" 3ABN and the miracle stories that surrounded their work. She interviewed me for about 40 minutes over the phone asking questions about Taste Of Health and how my ministry had changed the lives of others. I shared several testimonies with her and she thanked me for my contribution to 3ABN and for allowing her to share my story.

I didn't hear from Kay again until late May or early June, 2004. This conversation was much different. She was doing her best to find out where I stood regarding Linda and Danny. I wasn't budging from Linda's side. I commented that Danny still hadn't been able to show me a single Bible text that indicated I should turn my back on my friend. I, too, was unable to persuade Kay of Linda's innocence - her mind was made up. We hung up. Her new book was published several months later and all traces of Taste Of Health miracle stories had been removed. It was as if by not including the seven years of volunteer work that I had done, they could pretend that I had not been a big part of 3ABN's health message.

Spring came. Claudia, my mother and myself spent the entire month of April, 2004 in Italy. It was just days after arriving home that we learned of Linda's being "out-ed" at 3abn.

May was just a whirlwind with the 3ABN "mess", school getting out and one of my closest girlfriends was six months pregnant and needed a place to stay. Bill and I opened up our home to her and she asked me to be her coach. During my friend's doctor visit in June they moved her due date up to July 12th. She began to get increasingly nervous knowing that my "tape date" was on July 6th. I was growing more and more frustrated with Danny (the divorce had just gone through) and I really wasn't sure I would be able to tape anything without Linda in the kitchen. It just didn't seem right. I was somewhat relieved because of the due date being so close and I called and cancelled the LIVE.

The baby was born July 15th, and my friend was still not back with her husband. She slipped into serious postpartum depression and missed her husband terribly. After working out the details of reuniting, she finally convinced me that she could not manage the trip home the first week of September by herself, so my husband bought me a ticket.

I called Dee the middle of August to explain that I just couldn't get my recipes together in time for the September deadline, that I had too much on my plate at the moment and that I would be flying back to my girlfriends home with her and the baby. I needed to cancel once again. Part of me was relieved. I still wasn't sure I fit in anymore.

The next morning I received a phone call from Tommy Shelton explaining that they had cancelled my remaining "tape dates" and that my taping cooking programs for 3ABN wasn't a good fit anymore. He was kind (as I had always known Tommy to be), but nonetheless, he was the "axe man" that day.

As I hung up the phone I began to cry and my crying turned into big "red-headed" sobs. Then I remembered the words the Holy Spirit had whispered in my ear last December, and I knew that in fact, I would never tape there again. I had been fired.

I knew that when I stood by Linda that it would most likely affect my taping at 3ABN, but then I've never been one to be "politically correct". Unlike the actual 3ABN employees, I wasn't losing a paycheck. I had been working for free for eight years. You see, I had made a vow to God in 1994 that I would spend the rest of my life helping others to not get as sick as I once did. Danny Shelton didn't call me to the ministry, God did. Dan's allowing me to tape programs or not tape programs was a trivial thing to God, and it still is.

I had always known that Three Angels was only a training ground. The Lord had impressed me very early on that it was temporary and that He had something much, much bigger down the road. Looking back, I can't help but feel my seven years of training at 3ABN was the perfect amount of time.

Even though I was no longer an invited guest at 3ABN, it didn't stop Danny from calling off and on to keep up with his "Linda trashing". I decided that time would reveal the real liar. Even though what Danny said all sounded irrefutable, I couldn't get over how instead of trying to shelter and protect his wife from the public, he was tearing her apart with his words to anyone that would listen. It didn't take long for him to reveal more of his spots.

Because my programs had been taken off the air and I didn't own the rights to the master copies, seven years worth of my work was locked up in what I like to call "cooking school prison" at 3ABN. Three Angels would no longer air the shows because they had Linda in them, but they wouldn't donate or sell the programs to me either. They even refused to sell copies of the programs to viewers that would call in and request them. Clearly they were of no more use to 3ABN's ministry, but when I asked Danny if he would donate my work to my ministry his reply was, "One shouldn't cut off his nose to spite his face." He then wrote an entire paragraph outlining all of the "new rumors" that I was supposedly saying about him. Rumors that I hadn't heard until I received his letter. He also requested a statement in writing that he could give to people when they wanted to know where I stood on the subject of him and 3ABN.

I was in a quandary. Even though I loved and supported 3ABN, I had lost pretty much all respect for Danny. He is unable to separate himself from the ministry in that way and I was unable to lie in order to receive those masters. This letter is my public response to his request, so everyone will know just where I stand in respect to how I feel about his ungodly leadership.

At the close of his last email to me his words cut me like a knife. He said, "Barb, it honestly doesn't make me any difference who you support in this situation. We will all go on the same. Your influence, as you know, won't make or break 3ABN as well as make or break Linda.
But at least people won't be able to accuse you of jumping ship to serve your own selfish purposes."
I was filled with righteous indignation. Since when had working eight years without a paycheck, trying to educate the public and teach God's Law's of Health, qualify as "serving my own selfish purposes"? I decided to take an entirely different approach.

I've always been a prayer warrior, so I went to my Bible in search of answers. I kept reading passages from Psalms where David's prayers against his oppressors were extremely direct. David minced no words in telling God what he wanted done to the people that hated him. I had never prayed this way before and wasn't sure if I could.

I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind. Set the oppressed free. Make us the head and not the tail. Contend with those that contend with me. You have promised not to be a respecter of Kings and rulers and those with a proud heart. Shut the mouth of those that speak lies about us. Let them be drunk with their own blood as with wine. But let Your servant rejoice. Let my accusers be clothed with shame, and let them cover themselves with their own disgrace as with a mantle. I will greatly praise the Lord with my mouth; Yes, I will praise Him among the multitude. For He shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save her from those who condemn her." (If you read Psalm 109 I used this prayer as my example.)

This prayer might sound extremely harsh, but let me tell you, God began to move in a powerful way revealing every secret thing. Danny may think that someone he considers as small and insignificant as myself cannot touch "the anointed one" (as 3ABN likes to call Dan), but God sees every tear shed by His servants and hears every humble plea. PRAYER CHANGES EVERYTHING!

Jumping back to the summer of 2004 (after Linda was fired and taken off the air) my mother and sister decided to surprise me with a fundraiser concert in Atlanta, GA. It was to raise money so Taste Of Health could build a kitchen studio. They worked for months securing a location and hired 24 musicians. Huge debt was wracking up on my mother's credit cards as she was self-sacrificing and planned this huge event. They told me about it at Christmas and I was so surprised and shocked, but happy. I so desired to build a studio and get back to work!

Long story short, two people that had agreed to participate in the concert both called on a Monday (the same Monday) to say how sorry they were that they couldn't participate. I will leave them nameless. One of the two called to tell me that Danny had called them and he had explained how if he/she came to the concert and supported my ministry, that it might be misconstrued and all of his/her conference funding for his/her new project might get cancelled, Dan wasn't sure. It was enough of a "hint threat" that they opted not to take the risk. I assured him/her it was okay, hung up the phone and cried for three days.

Finally on the third day I picked up a new book from Joel Osteen called Your Best Life Now and began to read. The more I read the better I felt. Chapters five and six were all about claiming God's favor as you would claim the gift of salvation. By the time I was finished with those two chapters I was excited and claiming God's favor over my life and my ministry. My attitude changed and I quit sulking because of Danny's wrath (which I was now experiencing). I've never quite been the same since reading those chapters and having a deeper understanding of God's favor. I have learned peace amidst the storm. Dan's wrath doesn't scare me anymore because I know I'm surrounded by God's favor.

Even as recent as this past February, 3ABN was still blocking Linda from speaking engagements. Linda had been invited February 18, 2006, by our local pastor, to speak at the 11 O'clock worship hour and for the vespers program that evening here in Columbia, SC. As soon as the news that Linda was speaking in our church made its way through our conference office, our pastor received a phone call from John Lomacang (3ABN's pastor). Within a week I received a phone call from my pastor instructing me to call Linda Shelton back and UNINVITE her. I refused. Now, my "very uncomfortable" pastor squirmed as he gave me reason after reason that it wouldn't be politically correct for Linda to speak at our church. He assured me that he wanted Linda here, but that she had left the "White SDA Conference" not-in-good-standing. His hands were "tied" and there was nothing he could do.

Experiencing Dan's wrath did begin to answer the question in my mind, as to who was lying. Then I caught Dan in a great big lie. It was the last time he and I spoke on the phone. (It's never a short conversation when Danny is trashing Linda and re-hashing all his "evidence").

That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa. Danny became very animated over the phone and bubbly. He said that he and Alyssa were great friends, they were buddies, and that he called her often and they had wonderful conversations. Alyssa had even recently written him a prescription (she had just graduated as a Physician's Assistant) for an infection he had. When I asked him about the "backrubs" he had been giving her before she left home (at the age of 23), he said, "Oh yeah, we're very close. Sometimes I would go in her room, and sit on her bed, and we'll just have great talks while I rub her back. It's just a loving gesture." We hung up.

What Danny didn't expect was that I would actually pick up the phone and call Alyssa to verify his story. Alyssa is a very sweet, private and shy person. When she got on the phone I explained how I had been in this "tug-of-war" over finding the truth. Danny always sounded so convincing and made Linda sound like a complete liar. I told her I would understand if she didn't want to answer my questions, but that it would put my mind at ease, finally!

When I explained that Dan had described their relationship as a great friendship and that they talked all the time on the phone and I asked about the prescription, you could hear a sigh of disgust on the other end. Alyssa said, "We are NOT friends, he won't quit calling me and I only wrote him a prescription because I felt sorry for him."

Then I asked her a very personal question. She was silent for a few moments, then answered my question with amazing honesty. I am not at liberty to disclose the biggest part of the lie that I caught Dan in that day, but it was the evidence I had been praying about.

"So do you want your mom and Danny to get back together?" I asked. "Absolutely not! He's a jerk and she deserves better. I never want them to get back together", she stated emphatically. I thanked her for her honesty and for helping me understand what the truth was and we said good-bye.

Alyssa handed the phone to her mom. Linda said, "Barb, I never knew why she moved out of the house so suddenly. I can't believe it." We said good-bye so she could go talk to Alyssa, and I sat there in stunned disbelief. I never told Danny that I had picked up the phone to verify his story. I didn't need to. God had promised over and over again that if I would just be patient and wait on Him, that He would reveal every secret thing in its time.

An Update On Taste Of Health Ministry

I just want to take a moment to say "Thank You" to all the loyal supporters of my ministry that continue to call and tell me that they miss seeing me and Linda cooking in her "kitchen". I have so appreciated your prayers and hugs over the phone.

Since the removal of my cooking programs I started doing more cooking schools again in churches around the country. I was also the main women's retreat speaker in Cape May, NJ, this past April. God also opened an amazing door here in Columbia, SC, at Fort Jackson, our military base. I am teaching a class (along with another woman) to the female officers called, "Every Woman's Battle". It's a weekly class on sexual integrity as God intended it. The class has been a huge success so far and we are excited about the questions these women are asking regarding the Bible.

My husband, Bill, and I will be in Spokane, WA, September 9th, giving our first marriage seminar on "How to Get Along". If you would like details, just call Mable Dunbar at the Upper Columbia Conference. (509-838-2761)

Some of you have noticed that I have quit posting a calendar of events on my web page. It was easier to eliminate the posting of events than to deal with the sabotages. I hope you understand.

A year ago in August, Taste Of Health applied for non-profit status. We are only days away from being approved for our 501©3 and we are excited about that.

Many of you have called to ask if I am going to tape programs anymore. The answer is, "YES" I am going to tape programs again because I want to get back to work doing what God called me to do!

I am saying "Yes" in faith. The HOPE Channel and LLBN have both indicated that they would love to air my cooking programs, but neither facility has a kitchen studio. I am still without a studio or the funds to build one. (I've had the plans drawn up for a year now just waiting on God's timing to be perfect, and His hand to move on my behalf). Last week Claudia and I sat down and planned out 120 thirty-minute programs. I don't know where the studio will be, nor do I have the funds to accomplish this work, but that's God's problem. We have a deal - I work, and He supplies my needs.

God is so awesome and I just want to praise Him for everything. Even though the last two years have been rough, to say the least, God has taught me two valuable lessons that I wouldn't trade for anything. He has taught me the lesson of "rejection", (Believe me, you have only seen the tip of the iceberg in what has been printed on these pages), and He taught me to praise Him, in ALL circumstances, no matter what!

I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him. I do pray for justice, and that God will use my ministry to bring ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands to know the Savior. Bless the Lord oh my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name. To God be the glory!

I have been trying to remain some sense of objectivity in all of this and view everything said with a healthy dose of skepticism. After all I don't know Danny or Linda and there is not much from the other side. But when testimony after testimony testify of the same character of this man...well BTW, I left off Barbara's contact information off the letter, because of our policy on advertising. But on second thought I am include it here, should someone wish to contact her.

Here is her last paragraph:

If you would like to contact my ministry you can do so through my website www.tasteofhealth.net or by email at tasteofhealth@hotmail.com nd the more who take the risks the more the risks will be minimized, for Danny Shelton is nothing at all by imself. The only thing that gives him power is the Church administrators and financiers who bow at his feet nd do his bidding.

☒ sig Barbara for taking those risks. Truly you deserve an angel award .... ☒ angel.gi .....

ay the day come quickly when our administrators will have the knowledge to form correct convictions, and he courage to act based upon those convictions rather than from fear of losing finances. Hopefully some of hem will be strong in the Lord enough to realize that the thing that is closing the pocketbooks of our church nembers is their failure to act in appropriate ways to those who give threats. Once they step out in faith and efuse to be held hostages to a few deep pockets, God can open the windows of heaven and supply all of their eeds!

hank you again Barbara for your witness.

nd thank you Calvin and all your BSDA team for providing the public place where it can be seen by all who ome by.

Watchbird -- I could not have said it better myself. You are a very wise woman. I can't help but think back to a David Gates sermon I was re-listening to last week. David said, "If we would just open our hands and let go of what we're holding on to, ... then God would put something so much bigger in them."

f our conference officials will stand firm and not be threatened by the "money men" in our church trying to dictate what happens, God will MORE than make up the difference, and bless in a way that they can't even magine!

Blessings,
Barbara Kerr

Thank you Barbara for you inspiring letter and support for Linda Shelton. I to stand beside her. Danny Shelton shared his negative attitude on television, right before the entire world. I pray that one day he would no longer be on the front set of 3ABN. The format must change. It will be best the he is removed and the face of 3ABN is changed. It would really be wonderful for Linda to be the president. She has such a sweet, gracious and genuine spirit. I would like to see 3ABN become a true partner with Hope TV and the Adventist Church. "What a day that will be." [Brennen]

Barb,
You did it! Girl. Good for you and good for Linda and good for all of us. A first-hand account, and "eye witness" who will stand up and be counted for truth.

We expect that your phone will ring from "TC1", "the so-clalled chosen one", before very long. Let us know, OK?

God bless you. And perhaps more will come forward now. You have set a good example of courage and of great spirit.

Thanks so much Clay! This is long overdue!
Again Barb's contact information is:

is this right?

At this time, both Dan and Linda had credibility with me even though Linda and I were actually close friends. It would give me a headache just trying to sort out what each one had verbalized.

Thanks Barbara for sharing this letter with us. I doubt that I can even imagine the stress that you went through. There is healing in writing things down and sharing them with those who care. You have been so brave. May God bless in your future plans.

May God bless you and your ministry, and may He be your shield against all those who would harm you.

I know we might be tiptoeing around a certain allegation in this letter, but just let me say that this new info places Mr. Shelton in the bedroom of someone other than his wife and exhibiting inappropriate behavior for a man his age.... and to think he has the unmitigated gall to accuse someone of spiritual adultery...

If he's so good at making up new terminology perhaps he can relate to a term for what he has been doing to Linda. How about "spitirual murder". he has done nearly all he can to destroy her.

The term has been around a long time:

"Character assassination"

The church should immediately pick Linda up and use her obvious gifts. What a LADY !!!!

Please help spread the word...

Danny will be in Dallas this week-end. Friday, there will be a panel discussion.

Can anyone think of any questions that "might" make it past the screeners? Gotta be some real softball questions that also have some punch.

==================================

Join us for a LIVE 3ABN Broadcast!!

 7:00p.m. CT - FRIDAY, 8/18/06 ***

Dallas First Church of Seventh-day Adventists
4009 North Central Expy (I-75)
Dallas, Texas 75204
(west side of expressway, between Fitzhugh and Haskell)

Yeah Boy!(as my Grandfather used to say) Ok Haystack? I thank if this was the church on the othe side of town the menu would be:

Dinner Cuts w/gravy(or Swiss Steaks)
Rice(brown preferrably)
Franch(French) cut green beans or green beans with new potatoes seasoned with striples/Bacos(smoke flavor. No mo' ham hocks we be Adventist naw!)
Salad
Lemon, 7-up pound cake, or a Costco cake
Purnch(punch)

Haystacks! hmmmph!!

Have you been talking to my mother? She was HORRIFIED that I served my family haystacks a couple Sabbaths ago (my family being me and my daughter...my husband won't eat haystacks either...). In her words..."that's not real food." And the thought that I would actually make it on SABBATH...she was like kidd ...

Now, I have done that at home, However I just add taco, burrito, nacho choices also. Everyone can have what they like. But if you call yourself having a church dinner, then we need some real food. Don't get me wrong, folks is straight up jealous when I put my stack together. LOVE them!!!

Also, looking at the lineup and the program for the day, maybe they ought to stay with the haystacks. Ain't no Chech Survice going on over there, Danny and his merry band will be lulling folks to sleep, if the program I watch the other day is any is any indication.

Posted by: Skyhook Aug 18 2006, 10:04 PM

I thought it must have been someone from this forum who asked the first question of the panel tonight. "Is pride something that will keep us out of heaven?" Several people had answers and the topic seemed to shift somewhat. Then Shelley Quinn gave a little "sermon" in which she mentioned something about people being "judgmental." I think she even stated or implied that God was impressing her with things to say during the question and answer session. Unfortunately I doubt if Danny made any kind of application to himself. In fact later on he talked about how 3abn has grown far beyond his initial dream. Things appear so different when I know something of the context.

I got the dish about a year ago and right away I got tired of seeing Danny's face in front of the camera. I noticed that he just babbled away with little of substance to say. He has a repertoire of pious cliches. I especially noticed that he didn't know how to interview. Even when his guests are trying to get a word in edgewise, the camera often is on Danny. I thought the problem was amateurish production and camera work. Now I understand that the problem is that is it a sort of "cult of personality" at the station with Danny's image as the foremost object of attention.
The reason I'm saying all this is that it is good to know that I am not alone in my observations.
When I saw that Kay Kuzma was a regular, I thought that was a bad sign.

I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.
> I didn't know anything was wrong until the first week of May 2004. (I was in Italy the entire month of April and was not available to Linda.) As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.

> I would like to stop here and say that by my not being a "paid" employee of 3ABN, I have had a unique opportunity watching employees come and go. In seven years of volunteering at this ministry, I really got a feel for their personalities versus their characters. I also watched in horror, as some people would work so hard to position themselves to climb the ladder of success. You could see "pride of position" stamped on their foreheads as they walked the halls searching desperately for fame. It's no wonder Linda and Danny both have become leery over the years of people trying to become their "friends". It's unfortunate that people will use people, but this is the real world after all, and God warns us that "whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant, and whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all. For even the Son of Man did not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many."
> I had the privilege of meeting many Godly people while volunteering at 3ABN who were the same off of camera as they were when the cameras were rolling. I would have to say that was especially true of Linda Shelton. She was as sweet, charming, spiritual and innocent off camera as she was on! If that was the only statement that I had to make about Linda, it would be enough, for each of you saw the "real" Linda as she held out her hand in prayer on every "Presents" program.

When he doesn't like you he has no problem picking up the phone to call conference presidents and heads of ministries. I have personally felt his wrath, and its consequences by standing up to him, asking hard questions (when everyone else was afraid too) and continuing to be a friend to Linda and support her through this nightmare. snip......

od be praised! Barbara, thank you for your testimony. It took a lot of courage, but I praise God for his iming. LET THE REDEEMED OF THE LORD SAY SO! We are praying for you and your family along with your ninistry.

Skyhook, welcome to the forum. Pray tell, why your reservation about Kay Kuzma?

Posted by: Skyhook Aug 19 2006, 09:14 AM

Hi Jvat. Thanks for the welcome. Kay Kuzma's columns in the Review have given wrong messages. In one, she implicitly supported the situation in which kids were told by thier Sabbath School leaders to bring rakes to church. After church they went out in the neighborhood and raked leaves for people, thus teaching children that "doing good on the Sabbath" is OK. If I recall, someone had written in to ask if that was wrong. The question needed a clear and direct answer that Kuzma did not give.

Another time a new Adventist woman had written to complain that services were boring in the SDA church she was attending. She said she missed the services in Her previous denomination, which she described as having modern music and more upbeat, enthusiastic services. It sounded like a Pentecostal type church. The lady said she was thinking of attending her former Sunday church that she enjoyed so much. Kuzma encouraged her to do so as long as she didn't give up keeping the Sabbath. Kuzma said she also enjoyed a more charismatic (not her word) service as well.

My point is that it is dangerous to willingly and knowingly attend services where error is taught. Especially spiritualism as in the Pentecostal churches, and most of the Evangelicas for that matter.

Hmm... So you wait till there's 4 montly payments left for Linda and then start the business of serious slander.
>For two years now I, Barbara Kerr, have kept silent regarding the happenings surrounding...

It seems that only you and "sister" seem to have the inside scoop on the secret things. And God has now chosen you and "sister" to reveal it?
>I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Not according to Dr. Kuzma, who I'd trust a lot more than what you and your "sister" say.
>It was also clear early on that Linda had a receptive spirit to being counseled Spoken like a true Christian!

>I did change my prayers the day that email arrived in my inbox. My prayer became, "Lord, scatter Danny Shelton and his family like chaff in the wind.

Amazing! This is more than indiscretion, it's outright immoral! And you make this statement in this rather obscure posting instead of publicising it as it should be?
>That particular day I wanted answers about his relationship with his step-daughter Alyssa.

Really? Read what you wrote.
>I'm not angry with Danny anymore when he attacks me. I don't hate him.

Ever since my wife expressed some doubt about the "adultery" of Linda, I've been reading all possible information to find out what is the truth.

Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze. None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous.

My conclusion?
I think Linda Shelton is a two-faced liar who writes so sweetly of wanting to support the 3ABN ministry and being its biggest prayer warrior and yet, at the same time, encourages so-called friends like Barbara Kerr writing these trash filled postings.

And yes, my name and email is out there. I don't hide like "sister" does.

So Steffan (if that is a real name) what is your real name, your identity? I don't know anything more about you than I do of Sister. I don't take issue with your right to post an opinion here. But please spare us the self-righteous indignation. Don't admonish anyone for not revealing their identity if you won't do the same.

This is good - you seem to know something about what you are talking - yes, Linda has 4 payments left. She also has nothing to gain financially from Barbs letter. Take it or leave it.

It seems that only you and "sister" seem to have the inside scoop on the secret things. And God has now chosen you and "sister" to reveal it?
>I have kept my mouth shut to the public about the things that I have known for the past two years because I knew that God would reveal every secret thing in its time.

Actually, it appears you have not done your homework - MANY people have inside information - are you interested? It may open you eyes to lies, more lies and deceit and more deceit, but, it's only there if you want it. If you don't, that is your choice. Continue to burry your head in the sand if you like.

If you trust Kay, you have a lot to learn about who she helps, why she helps them, and if she even wants to help them, with her God given skills. BTW, Barb and "sister" are not related, but I'm sure you knew that already.

Skyhook, thank you for your explanation. There seems to be a strong impression that 3ABN has a pentecostal bent that is unacceptable as an SDA spouting organisation.

Stefan, welcome to the forum. Seems like that is my job today and I do not mind. Have you really heard what Danny said about his wife from the start? Don't you think that that was very unchristian in the first place? Have you heard of all the trashing that Danny does of Linda? So do you think that you are fair in your accusations here at all?

ontrary to the "brain washing" taking place in Illinois, 3ABN is NOt the most imprtatnt tool". It would like to hink it is. The most important tool to God is one life lived in harmony with the bible. "When a man's way lease the Lord, He makes even his enemies to be at peace with him". Obviously, there is not peace in West rankfort. "If the helm of the ship has gone afoul", dear souls, that ship is floundering, it is out of control. It is ime to break out the life boats. That is a ship that is going to sink very soon. Your illustrations have more ower than you imagined.

Vho cares if Danny is a "child molester"?
nswer: the child cares
he law cares
he church cares
od himself cares
r if Danny is a "closet homosexual with fetishes",, let's just point that out to all the viewers of 3ABN and let hem answer that question for you.

Here's a news flash for you: DAnny is not "the chosen one". Jesus is!
DAnny is not deserving of "respect for the leadership". He has none!
Danny apparently was asked to "build a TV station that would declare the "Undiluted Three Angels Message to the world. To counteract the counterfeit". Ley us consider that as being "DONE". It has been built. He did that job. Now it was not his job to become the "Face of Adventism". You're looking at the wrong end. So he built the station. Now get out of the way and let God's face be seen.

"Undiluted Three Angels MEssages". That disappeared long time ago.; when your brought in all his family-grown "Country Gospel Music Amateurs" to use up the airtime that belongs to the "Undiluted Three Angels Messages". Then fills the administrative offices with Pentacostals. Hardly "Undiluted" in every respect!

Thank you, Barbara, for standing firm on principle and having the courage to let the rest of the world know a little of what REALLY went on, not only while you worked at 3ABN those seven years, donating your time and talents to help others to never get as sick as you once were, but especially in the last two years when you chose to stay by Linda's side and remain her friend!

My heart goes out to both you and Linda for everything you have endured by incurring Danny's wrath. My prayers are for you to remain firm in your resolve to keep your eyes on Jesus, where our strength and help comes from (Psalm 29:11). God will bless you both!

Paul tells us in Romans 12:19 "...Vengeance is Mine, I will repay, says the Lord." The Biblical Golden Rule is: "As you have done, it shall be done to you; Your reprisal shall return upon your own head." Obadiah 12:15.

These promises tell me that God will deal with Danny...Surely he has to know a record of his life is being carefully recorded and he will give an accounting to God Himself!

As for you and Linda, I feel certain that God will open doors for you and give you much more than you could ever imagine! My prayer is that you will be richly blessed in whatever you do!

Watchbird & Barbara
Am I wrong, I thought 3abn was am independent ministry. The money that is raised goes to 3 abn only right? I know that rich people can be powerful and I understand one is putting pressure on the GC as we speak. We need to pray that the church politics don't get in the way and that the truth will out. If all you who have been beaten by Danny were to stand up and speak out literally, could you not beat Danny/ or am I being Naive? TB

Yes, 3abn is an independent ministry and the monies raised go to fund their non-profit to use as the organization sees fit.

I have not heard an update on what is happening with Garwyn McNeilus and his money in the past few days. Does anyone know if our GC president has given in to Garwyn's demands of leaving Danny in his position or he'll take his money out of Global missions? And is there a public record of just how much money (percentage) that Garwyn contributes to that ministry?

I really hope the reports are not true (regarding Garwyn threatening the GC). If they are, I would hate to be in his shoes, for he is not threatening the church, he is threatening God. Money is considered a talent. The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away! Oh boy ....

Hi Steffan,

You sound angry. I'm sorry that my letter came across to you as hurtful, but it was time to write down what had been happening.

You say that none of Danny's supporters make sleazy or slanderous comments. Clearly you haven't spent any time on the phone with Dan. He has had plenty of sleazy things to say about his wife and only a few of them were posted in my letter. It would not have been possible to write a letter that emcompassed absolutely everything that transpired in the last two years. I have given people the condensed version of what I had experienced between the two Sheltons.

John Lomacang referred to Linda as "the Devil herself". I don't know about you, but coming from a pastors lips that seems pretty inflammatory and slanderous.

I'm sorry that you feel it necessary to refer to Linda as a "two-faced-liar". She is one of the most gentle, sweet and kind people I have ever known. I'm sorry that you never really saw her when she was on the programs. That was the real Linda. It still is.

The more I think about your angry outburst, the more I suspect that you actually have had a conversation with Dan. He's really smooth, isn't he?

And as far as being a "so-called-friend" of Linda, no, go right ahead and call me her friend! I'm not ashamed or embarrassed to be called her friend because that is what I am. A friend. And until you or Danny or anyone else can show me a Bible text that says I should turn my back on my friend, I'll be right there supporting her through this nightmare.

And in comment to your accusing me of my letter being a "trash-filled-posting", I would say,
1) If the truth is trash, then according to your definition, that's what it is,... but it's still the truth.
2) I have come to a point spiritually in my life where I can "pray for justice" and be "at peace" with Danny at the same time.
3) I had a wonderful time at 3abn and I made some terrific friends and met a lot of really nice people. I wouldn't trade my experience for anything. Even you I suspect that I know. So whoever you really are, just know that I love you and I'll be praying that God will show you the truth of the situation and that he will take away your anger.

Warmly,
Barbara Kerr

You, Steffan, said: "Here's the truth I found. Every Linda Shelton supporter makes outrageous and slander-filled claims. Ok, let me restate it. Every Linda Shelton supporter writes in a way that is slanted to slander and sleaze."

I am a strong supporter of Linda.

Please post where I have made outrageous and slander filled claims. Or, please post where I have posted in a manner to slander and sleaze.

You said: "None of Danny Shelton's (or 3ABN's) supporters make corresponding claims and, in fact, seem to go out of their way to not make anything sound sleazy or slanderous."

I have several written messages from the above that do exactly that.

No, I have not posted them publicly as I do not want to post such slander and sleaze.

You have made an inaccurate statement.

3ABN has been thought of as a non-profit, but recent investigations indicate that 3ABN has to be re-structured in order to meet the legal requirements for a non-profit organization. The present board does not seem to qualify, according to certain invesigations.

Posted by: Truly Blonde Aug 25 2006, 03:22 PM

My question: If 3abn is truly an independent ministry can our church do anything about Danny? We could say they arn't part of the Adventist church like they do with churches that go astray. Is there any other recourse the church would have if they decided that all these things are true and if they were willing to give up the contribitor millions? Could we really change anything at 3abn?

What we can do is to write to

The General Conference of Seventh-day Adventist and to the following SDA sponsored TV programs requesting they use 3ABN no more, but rather support HOPE, the official TV network of our Church.

It involves the following programs:

Fath for Today
Voice of Prophecy
Amazing Facts
Pioneer Memorial Church
Gospel Outreach
It Is Written
Walter Pearson

You could also write to
The Quiet Hour, but that is an Independent Ministry, as far as I know.

If you know of some pastors who appear on 3ABN you can also write to them and "suggest" they do not support 3ABN in the future.

Some of the programs mentioned above are seriously considering not appearing on 3ABN any more This is a bold decision, and they need your support.

Posted by: Expression Aug 25 2006, 03:55 PM

A lot of things have to start at the "grass roots" level so to speak. Writing to the GC, etc. is definately a way that we can work together to help create an atmosphere for change.

Though 3ABN may be an independent ministry Danny is a member of the Seventh-day Adventist church and as such the church needs to hold him accountable. His actions must not be ignored simply because he is a "leader". Because of his position the church has that much more responsibility to really look into the situation.

The right way of handling offenders is through their local church. No one else can discipline a church member, not even the General Conference. Danny Shelton has safeguarded himself by being the unofficial "proprietor", not only of the sanctuary, but of the church pastor and the church board. Officially the church is under the Illinois Conference, but the church is governed by a stron man.

Posted by: msraccoon Aug 25 2006, 04:36 PM

Johann: Maybe the RIGHT way to discipline is thru the local church. But is it the ONLY way? Are you saying that the Illinois or General Conference have no teeth without a local church support?

I do like your idea of writing to Voice of Prophecy, etc. I am going to draft a hopefully "effective" letter during the weekend. Got to do what I can.

Thanks for your support. We need a Church ready for the Return of Christ.

The higher level organizations can revoke a ministerial license, but not a church membership, and since Danny is not a minister or a pastor only the local church can deal with him. The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

believe that was stated when that 10 commandments day was going on in DC...it was reported then that 3abn was/is an offshoot of the SDA church. I forget when all that was--but don't think it was too long ago. I work tomorrow so am off to bed now, but perhaps I can get back with you after the weekend.

Yes, it is true that the local church is the only one who can revoke church membership. But the Conferences, Local, Union, Division, and General Conference, can "close Adventist pulpits" to whomever they wish ....

whether Adventist or non-Adventist. They can also take action which forbids such persons or ministries to hold meetings in any Conference owned facility. They can also instruct their ministers, evangelists, media centers, and musicians to refrain from being seen on 3ABN .... or on any of their affiliate stations.

If instructions like this were to come down from top church levels, while there might not be 100% compliance, they would still send a very clear signal to the laity that the official Adventist church was not supporting 3ABN. Perhaps we are already seeing the lead being taken on this in the reported Palm Springs cancellation.

At 10:10PM central time, the 3ABN website still showed an appointment to go to the Palm Springs SDA Church.

"Please Join Danny & Tommy Shelton and Steve Darmondy

DS, er, I mean, fhb, a simple google search of the terms "Washington Post" and "3ABN" did it quite easily. You're welcome that I did your homework for you.

And yes, it does refer to 3ABN as "a growing offshoot of the Adventist church" in the 4th paragraph.

Note: This may not be the same article(s) referenced earlier by others. It's just one example. But, yes, the Washington Post has used the word "offshoot" to best describe 3ABN.

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

"It also includes the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, the organization that started giving away 270,000 copies of the book "Ten Commandments Twice Removed" on Thursday. The ministry, a growing offshoot of the Adventist church, said it hoped to draw 10,000 people last night and today to "Ten Commandments Weekend," an event at the D.C. Armory featuring music and sermons about the commandments."

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Aug 25 2006, 09:58 PM

Well thank you. A simple search of the Post's website itself does nor reveal this article but another that you must pay for. It seems that it was a rather unpleasent experience for you to provide this, so please accept my apology . . .

Hhhhmmm, shall I remind you I am not Danny, nay "A man or woman convinced against their will are of the same opinion still."

Johann,

The article, or the one I was provided, does not indicate the GC called 3ABN an offshoot. It merely refers to it as a "growing offshoot." Paragraph 4 of this http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html:

It also includes the Three Angels Broadcasting Network, the organization that started giving away 270,000 copies of the book "Ten Commandments Twice Removed" on Thursday. The ministry, a growing offshoot of the Adventist church, said it hoped to draw 10,000 people last night and today to "Ten Commandments Weekend," an event at the D.C. Armory featuring music and sermons about the commandments.

There are comments from the assistant director of ANN later in the article but are not connected in anyway to 3ABN and make no reference to it what so ever. If there is another article where this is done I would love to know where that is.

The General Conference has dealt 3ABN a blow by declaring 3ABN an "offshoot" as published in the Washington Post recently. This has opened many people's eyes to what is going on.

Thanks PP,

I had heard it refered to as such before, but never heard that the GC was referencing it that way so was really curious to read about it.

Also, to bring you up to speed on this withering relationship between the Church and 3ABN, I can post one other previously mentioned link where the Adventist Church corrects the media regarding 3ABN.

Adventist Channel and 3ABN

Thursday, July 27, 2006

Dear Sir:

3ABN is not an Adventist channel. 3ABN is not owned, operated or funded by any church, denomination or organization, so people from all cultures and backgrounds appreciate 3ABN programming. Nevertheless many of 3ABN's employees and volunteers are members of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Even the fact that Dr Jeffrey Thompson, president, Cayman Islands Conference, Seventh-day Adventists was inspecting the new transmitter, the Channel has not become an Adventist channel. There are some cooperation agreements between 3ABN and the Adventists for using 3ABN facilities to spread the gospel. That's it.
Thank you for making this distinction.

Greetings! I have been reading a lot of posts here for the last two days because a friend who knows both Danny and Linda directed me here.

I have to say that I am sad to read about the sorry state of a ministry that I count as the vehicle that directed me me back to my Savior. I was pretty much floundering in my lost condition until a daily dose of 3abn brought me back to Bible study. I still am watching and garnering such blessings. I also am a firm believer in seeking truth. That's why I am here.

One of my big concerns is, why don't either Danny or Tommy show up on the Megan's Law sites? Have neither been prosecuted? If not why not?

If they truely are guilty of sexually assaulting girls and boys, why haven't they been charged?

Did you read paragraph 10 of that article?

http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2006/05/05/AR2006050501748.html

It says, "And although Three Angels' followers are primarily Seventh-day Adventists, a spokesman for the denomination said it would not be participating in the weekend's events."

Did you catch that?

Hmmmm, a spokesman for the SDA church, and he was not from (nor apparently endorsed in any way by) 3ABN. I'd wager most people reading that statement will/did view it as the denomination distancing themselves.

Posted by: beartrap Aug 25 2006, 10:31 PM

Fallible Human Being,

I am fully aware that you are NOT Danny Shelton. Your writing evidences that fact that you are an educated person. Any person who might question this should take a look at Danny's disjointed, rambling, poorly spelled, grammatically challenged, and entirely off-topic reply to Dr. Abrahamsen on the Adventist Today website, and compare it with the smooth, educated writing of FHB. Anyone who has a number of emails from Danny on their computer can make the same comparison.

I am sorry, FHB, that you have been so horribly insulted here on BSDA as to have been mistaken for Danny. My deepest condolences.

It is a stretch. You are reading much between the lines that isn't supported anywhere else in the artcile or in any other official statement from the GC.

How many world headquarters for the other denominations indicated they were officially there taking part in the activities. The activities revolved around the potential marriage of church and state (the real crux of the issue that spawned the Ten Commandments Day activities). 3ABN distanced itself from this issue via its statement that while they feel the decalogue is crucial to life, that they did not agree with the other participants political agendas. Its focus was to get out the word about the Ten Commandments, not fight for their appearence on federal property.

The church also, because of its long history of striving against a union between church and state could not step over that line and be officially involved. Their statement was premised on that, the drive to maintain a strong seperation of church and state, and not in an attempt to distance itself from 3ABN. The direct quote in the following paragraph (11) supports this:

"Where I need the Ten Commandments is in my heart," Mark Kellner, assistant director of the Adventist News Network, said. "It does no good for me to have it sitting in the Montgomery County Courthouse."

It is that paragraph that links the non-participation to the underlying theme for most of the individuals (meaning all those connected with the Wexler part of the weekend) there that weekend - that being a belief that the Ten Commandments should be displayed on government property. It is not a statement about 3ABN.

Hi Johann,
Perhaps you know something that I don't -- that the General Conference declared 3ABN an "offshoot." If so, could you please point us to the documentation? (That would certainly be powerful, and I assume it would mean that official Adventist organizations would not be featured on 3ABN. However, I think we aren't quite there yet.)

The Washington Post article did mention 3ABN as an "offshoot," and many of us applauded that fitting description. I rather like what Mark Kellner, the official General Conference media representative, said too. He got some irate responses calling him down for calling 3ABN "an offshoot." But he says he didn't do it. So it appears that the reporter came to that conclusion from independent research.

God works in mysterious ways ...

Posted by: beartrap Aug 25 2006, 11:47 PM

Perhaps someone could ask Danny what happened a week or two ago when he took his jet to Silver Spring to drop in on Jan Paulsen. Perhaps someone could ask him if Paulsen refused to see him. Perhaps someone could ask if the words, "I don't want to see him now, and I don't want to see him later" mean anything to him.

Perhaps someone could also ask Danny why he was cancelled in Palm Springs. Perhaps they could also ask why a 3ABN representative called another church in the Palm Springs area to get the rally moved there, and found that 3ABN is not welcome in that church either.

erhaps the Latin phrase, persona non grata (a person who for some reason is not wanted or welcome), is more precise description than the word offshoot. In that case, the situation wouldn't come with published ocumentation. Yet, we are now hearing that something along these lines seems to be occurring in various laces.

Thank God that Jan Paulsen is a man of principle not cowed by the threat of funds withheld by Danny's mentor!! His refusal to bow under the threat of money withheld opens the way for God to open the floodgates of heaven!

May God give Him and His fellow administrators wisdom regarding how best to deal with this cancer in our midst!

Didn't know if you were aware, Jan Paulsen recently lost his mother. She was in Norway at the assisted living home where she had been residing. Elder Paulsen was able to visit with her just a few days before her death.

For give me , but what under the sun are all these administrators and pastors,and Godly men holding this man up for as if he has done nothing wrong , It makes me sick do they think he is a God , why are our book and bible houses still selling his stuff, and why is he connected with our church, he has become ever thing we are suppoed to dislike. I hope some one high up in our church gets some guts, and tells this thing to leave our door steps, I love the Lord with all my heart, but men like this make me SICK
I say kick him to the curb before he dishonors God anymore then he has,
Thank you Barbara for your letter may continue to bless you, you have on stated what most of us knew all along, and may God be with Linda

I have been thinking about what I could say that would add to this discussion. I appreciate 3ABN.
I believe God is using it in a powerful way. Now having said that, I hate the way Danny and group have treated Linda. I personally have seen the fire of hate in Danny's eye. I told him I was praying for his former son in law and his daughter. The fire came into his eye and he told me he didn't want them to go back together. Then he let loose a a tribual of offensive things to say about his son in law. Even the glass eye looked angry!!!!!!!
By the way when did the grandchildren get the name of Firestone? I thought they were Mundall.
Yes I think writing to the different ministeries might be helpfull. Thank you fro listening Fat Burns

I didn't thank Barbara for her courage. I have wondered for a long time what had happenesto her. Thank you Barbara.
When I said God was using 3ABN, I was thinking of David and how he treated Bathsheba's husband . I think this went on for at least a couple years before God sent a prophet to set him straight. David recognized his error and agonized before God for forgiveness. I know HE is going to take care of this problem also in HIS time. I don't want to see 3ABN lost. I just want to see it straightened out.

Remember that books are written after the story has reached a climax, a resolution, and an end point. Participants can keep diarys... but they cannot write books until there is closure on the story. Not even the beginnings of a story can be told until the writer is able to look at it from the perspective of its ending.

Patience people. There will come a time for the retrospectives. Until then.... there must be enough said to warn those who need to be warned.... but not enough to further wound the victims, the innocents, and "the walking wounded... whose wounds are not on view".

So, he is blind in one eye and can't see out of the other? I'm kind of blind in one eye and sometimes can't see out of the other one either. Mine is a choice issue, I choose what my good eye sees.

Let me rephrase...I believe he is "legally blind" in one eye. Whatever the vision standard is for that, he's below it.

Just FYI, the legal definition for legal blindness varies from jurisdiction to jurisdiction. Mr. Shelton may have no vision at all in one eye but would still not be considered "legally blind" unless his other eye could not be corrected to better than 20/200 or better than that but with reduced visual fields.

So he would be blind in that eye but not "legally blind".

Read the first book when Linda was still in good graces with the Shelton family. He was hit by glass as a child which put out his eye. So according to the book he has a glass eye. Thanks

If he has a glass eye its the only one I've ever seen that moves.

Rumors and/or mistakes once again. The glass put out the vision in his eye. He does not have a glass eye. Read carefully.

Was Linda EVER in the good graces of the Shelton family?

No reply needed. I still think the law coming up in Texas is a good law. Let's see what was the penalty in Jesus time?

Now he forgave Mary and told her to go and sin no more. I assume she did just that. I would suggest that your loss of sight in one eye has affected you with a very cloudy vision of sin.

I do not believe my comment about Tommy and Texas is the reason you have chosen not to speak to me! You are afraid of what I have to say about the finances and Linda. Those things you fear like the plague.

Rightly so too..

So I will have to talk finances without you. So sorry. It is about time to talk about Linda again. She is a model for all Adventist women. She gives us courage and strength through leading us to Jesus.

All you do is take, take, and take. Enjoy your gloating joy ride for what it is worth tonight for tomorrow tears will come.

I am always saddened when someone has an eye put out. My brother lived a very productive life with one eye. I wonder if Danny has ever thought of having a cornea transplant. My son had one and it gave him back his vision.

I believe he has had one and possibly 2 transplants. the first unsuccesful and the 2nd , maybe, providing a little light and shadow vision.

Here is the previous letter from Barbara Kerr that should be read again. It is a first-person testimony.

I am one of those ministries referred to in Dr. Abrahamsen's letter that was affected adversely by the split of the Shelton marriage. June 1st, 2004, all of Linda's programming was taken off of the air. By default, my ministry seemingly disappeared overnight as we had taped 99% of all of my cooking programs together.

As soon as I heard the rumors that she had "run off" with a Norwegian doctor, I called Linda (she was at 3ABN not in Norway). I jumped in my car the next day with my friend Claudia, and we made the 11-hour drive to West Frankfort, IL. We stayed three days and had an opportunity to visit with both Danny and Linda.

hank you Barb, but this is even more true of most of the people posting on this net.

inda called just a little while ago, telling me a secret that I cannot reveal just now. But again I saw what a great girl she is.

So this is the message to us all from Linda.

Hello All Administrators:

Several people suggested at the time that Barbara's letter entered by Johann should be 'pinned'. Why is it not pinned? Or was it at one time and then reopened for further commentary by the board contributors?

Jus' wonderin'!

Topics are pinned and unpinned as we deem them relevant at any particular time. Also, I try to limit the number of pinned topics to four, to leave more space on the first page for current discussion.

In a conversation with one of the persons close to the top in our church I was told that the self-appointed pope of the Seventh-day Adventist Church who resides in Southern Illinois has a tremendous power with his financial backing. Therefore a number of Church leaders, especially in North America, fear mammon more than God.

This person urged me to appeal to as many as possible that we pray the Creator of Heaven and Earth may gain the Power through His Word and Spirit to be the guiding influence in our lives, that His work may soon be finished on earth.

So may God be glorified through this crisis, that we may learn to depend on divine aid in our lives rather than a man and his money.

Johann,

I appreciate your post on this matter. I hope that you will continue posting these experiences you have. With the exception of the ardent supporters of DS and his actions, no one reading your posts has any doubt whatsoever of their veracity.

In another thread this morning, Soul Espresso asks the question:

"Here's a question for those reading this thread ... what's this situation doing to your Christian experience?"

I think that question deserves its own thread because I suspect the answers are myriad and complex. For me, posts of this nature both confirm my own doubts about the administration of this church but also give me hope that in the end God will be glorified and His word will reach those who need to hear it.

Yes, may God's will be done. He is making it clear to several of us that we must encourage the quest for truth to glorify His name. We see so many encouraging things happening and the support is continually growing as we pray that God may be honored through a renewed TV endeavor that will no longer hoist the image of its human half-founder on all of its publications and so many of its programs.

So let us serve our Saviour Jesus Christ and honor His name rather than Mammon and man!

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ New Letters At Save3abn

Posted by: erik Feb 6 2007, 11:44 AM

To all the Danny is innocent crowd,

Just read the letters from the second mom, Judy Woods, Sherry Avery, i have just one question how long is your side going to pretend that not one thing happen or it was all over 30 years ago. HOw long are you going to party to the cover of sin which always leads to more sin.

just wondering?

Erik W.

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 6 2007, 12:24 PM

I agree Erik I just read the letter early this morning. Amazing they will spin this one too I'm sure. Just sad that these boys(at the time) & their families have to go thru this.

hug.gif I'm sure it does & sorry you have to go thru this all again. Hang in there.

Posted by: Noahswife Feb 6 2007, 01:27 PM

I have just read everything added in the past two days at Save3abn.com. The letters from the participants in the TS situation speak for themselves.

The emails showing the development of the process ASI was to have used are very interesting. I am very glad they have been made available. It seems fairly clear to me that there was never going to be a chance of full transparency even though the procedures for conducting the proceedings were getting closer to what I would consider a fair hearing (or within the legal concept of "due process").

Can someone tell me if there are more email coming or if this is it and the next response was ASI issuing the statement that they were withdrawing?

Can someone tell me if the person referred to as having resigned is the attorney that was discussed on another thread or is that inappropriate speculation on my part?

And I have asked before but not received an answer, has Mr. Joy ever been a licensed attorney even if he is not now?

I am dismayed once again that there seems to be a presumption that lawyers in the process only hinder truth finding and that praying for discernment makes it more likely a truthful and fair decision will be reached.

Harold Lance is a trial attorney. He is not Nick Miller.

Mr. Joy has never been a licensed attorney. He has worked in area of litigation.

have learned over and over here and other places on the www that taking the time to be exact saves a lot of problems.

just tried to go to the Save3ABN website but they must be uploading or something as it did not come up.

was referring to something in one of the emails where (and I can't tell you who since I could not get back to t) someone points out to ASI/HL that other issues must be considered because someone who had brought something possibly unethical to the attention of DS eventually resigned due to manufactured evidence against him/her. Since questions have been asked and speculation raised that Nick Miller did not resign merely because he had better things to do with his time, I wondered if that was the person that was essentially orced to resign if I read the email correctly.

Sorry for any confusion I caused and I should have trusted my instinct to quote the exact paragraph from the email I was referring to.

ust checked and the site is still down.

The section I was referring to said the following:

Another person of note, a former prominent 3ABNer who is not pro-Linda, has informed me in writing that Danny threatened him/her to back off regarding financial, operational, and personal concerns, and when he/she didn't, that Danny ordered the fraudulent manufacturing of evidence against him/her, which thus produced a damaging allegation against him/her, and led to his/her resignation, without the board investigating whether his/her claim of such deceit was legitimate, even when it was brought to their attention. I wish I could say that that case was ancient history, but it was definitely not.

It can be found at this link:

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-smokescreen-scheme-round-two-bob-pickle.htm

I see they have posted a fax received from someone on 3ABN in the recent past and that is probably why the site was unavailable.

I need to explain this comment. In no way did I mean that the letter shouldn't have been posted. It just makes me think of events years ago.

Posted by: Snoopy Feb 7 2007, 03:49 PM

I was reading Uriah Smith's Daniel and the Revelation this morning when I came upon this quotation in the chapter on Revelation 1 describing the beginning of John's vision - I just wanted to share it for all of you who are so directly affected by all of this - Duane, Linda, Barbara, Derrell and so many more - I don't know any of you but my prayer for you is that you will feel His hand:

> Overcome by the presence of this august Being, and perhaps under a keen sense of all human unworthiness, John fell at His feet as dead, but a comforting hand is laid upon him, and a voice of sweet assurance tells him not to fear. It is equally the privilege of Christians today to feel the same hand laid upon them to strengthen and comfort them in hours of trial and affliction, and to hear the same voice saying to them, "Fear not."

In the same chapter, this sentence seemed to be flashing in neon:

> But when man thinks he has buried the truth in eternal oblivion, the Lord gives it a resurrection in tenfold glory and power .

Posted by: princessdi Feb 7 2007, 03:49 PM

You know, the more letters and information I read, the more upset I get. The realization of how I and many others have been manipulated and duped for so many years is gut wrenching. Then I get on here and see how so many are more than willing to cast doubt on written testimonies, question the motives and sexual orientation of victims, make ludicrous allegations and do it all behind the shield of a screen name. I don't know how some of you can sleep at night.

I can tell you this. The truth is coming out. People are waking up. Almost every day someone talks to me who has read the information on this site and others, and they're not buying the lies any more. It all comes down to credibility. Who is willing to put their name on what they say, and who isn't? It speaks volumes to the general public.

To those of you who want to hide in secrecy and continue to smear signed testimonies, you may continue to do so if you want, but I think you're in for a big shock in the very near future.

I'm sure that it is frustrating for you Duane, but keep looking ahead. Like you said, the information is getting out. People are screaming for intervention, and eventually it must be addressed.

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 11 2007, 07:49 AM

Hang in there Duane, keep your eyes focused on the Creator. He will give you the peace you deserve and need. As you see more and more letters like those that cause you anguish just realize that this a desperate bid by Satan to quell the truth.

Thanks Duane, for your continued affirmation of the good that this site is accomplishing. Please know that those of us who used to post a lot, but now do so only occasionally, are not silent because we have been swayed by the attacks by the Dannyworshipers. We are still here. We are still strong in our convictions that we are learning the truth from those like yourself and are just in a holding pattern now, while others "wake up" as you express it, and the wheels of justice grind in their own slow but sure, God-driven way.

We do appreciate your continued speaking up... but you know... you don't have to subject yourself to the repetitious attacks by your tormenters. You can put them on "ignore" so you simply do not see their attacks. When new persons come on... no matter what side they take, you will still see those and be able to contribute to their education. But don't put yourself through more than what God asks you too of the flogging your enemies would love to lay on you!

Blessings on you......and all the other victims, both those who have already come forward, and those who are still only gaining courage to do so. And God bless us all that we may continue to stand firm in opposing evil, wherever it may be found.... even in a prominent church ministry......

I second this statement wholeheartedly. Thank you, WB!

I know you have Duane's interest at heart when you suggest that he avoid the floggings but, as a victim myself, I know it is part of the process of healing to be able to see those attacks and confront them. In my opinion it helps one regain power and builds muscle.

More power to you! I see you've already built quite a bit of muscle.

I have noticed that there are a couple of new items posted at save3abn.com

"I would be most happy for you to come and have a meeting with my board...."

Doctor,

Johann says that if you believe my wife needs support because of lies being told or whatever, you will come across the ocean and save her. I would be most happy for you to come and have a meeting with my board and conference President and explain to them....

"If you choose to come anyway, you will place us in a position where we will have to have you removed from the premises."

Dear Johann,

It has come to my attention that you and Dr. Abrahamsen are planning to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting this week. Please be made aware that you aren't welcome here at this time and under these circumstances. If you choose to come anyway, you will place us in a position where we will have to have you removed from the premises.

If you would like to discuss this with me, please call me at ut of course, Danny will not be the one at fault in the eyes of the dannyscribes. Let's see how long it takes or them to start trashing the Dr. for allowing the emails to be posted.

'm sure it will be Linda's fault also, somehow.

he doc was invited to tell his story to the board on Sunday. He was not welcome at the campmeeting in the neantime. What is hard to understand about that? The end of the story. Well, except after having the chance o tell his side, he didn't show....Oh just to be clear, the "premises" refers to the camp meeting location, not he board room.

"My House is a House of Prayer for ALL people" Is 3ABN campmeeting Danny's house or God's. If you consider it God's house, then you will see the problem. If you consider it Danny's then.........need I say more? Also, just on the real level. After being told you weren't welcom at church service, but to be "grilled" by the board the next day...........I dont' think I would have walked into that trap either. If Danny was on the up and up, he would have welcomed the Dr., praying together for God's will to be done.

That's what I was thinking, too...seems like if they were so concerned for the doc's soul then campmeeting would be the best place for him to be, right?

No, it was the ethical thing to do at the time. Here You have a man that you suspicion is having an affair with the vp of 3abn walks into a meeting that had already started and would be live, not having a clue if he was going to stand up and make a speech or raise some kind of ruckous or what? Based on the fact that he had stated he was coming to "make his views" known, who knew what he might do in front of an auditorium full of people? Especially with Johann accompanying him. I have since heard how emotional Johann can be, therefore the caution, when they showed up. Anyway,it is my understanding they weren't ask to leave until seen with flyers.
This argument is waste of time. Any large ministry in those circumstances would have handled it the same way.

Danny is the one who made a scene on world wide TV. Very poorly handled. I stood in front of the TV with my mouth open and I didn't even know at that time what it was all about. It was shameful.

No, he didn't make a "scene" at all, I also saw it. He feels his wife has left him for someone else and that "someone else" walks in just as the meeting is starting and going on the air. I doubt if you or any of us could have handled it as well as he did. I probably would have just walked off of live TV. After all how could you concentrate and focus with that happening. Put yourself in that position.

Walking off live TV and maybe having a little song service while it was could be handled discretly behing the scenes would have been a much better solution then standing up there calling them demons for the world to hear. For a moment I thought we were at a "deliverence" meeting.

His wife "left him" because he asked her not to be around for camp meeting?

Maybe it is time that Danny have a thorough mental evaluation.

Posted by: princessdi Mar 7 2007, 11:38 PM

You were supposed to be in Service, praise and worship to God. This is exactly what I was saying. Danny conducted himself as if it was a "meeting". If he remember where he was and Who the Meeting" was supposed to be about, he would not have to worry about who stepped in the door. At that point very few in that rrom and definitely not the rank and file and viewing audience knew anything, until under his own power Danny tried to "handle" things.

There is no condition on that text, It says, "a house of prayer for ALL people" not for ALL people you feel comfortable with, you don't have a problem with, just your supporters...."for ALL people". And if Danny is calling himself a leader in chritian living he ought to conduct himself like it!

There is an old song many of our newer members may not have heard. The title is called "Jesus Can Work It Out". One of the phrases the soloist says is, "While you're tryin' to figure it out, He already worked it out!" Taht think might have been worked out had Danny not taken things into his own hands. I will tell you all this. the more I hear about that weekenf and that meeting, I believed the Holy Spirit impressed the Dr. not to walk into that meeting. Those conducting that meeting were not working within the Will of God. Say what you want. but refusing someone access to God's House is a serious thing, and He doesn't take it lightly, and it speaks volumes of the one who restricts access of another.

Quite gullible?

I have explained before how it happened that I had a few copies of a written statement, and that the only one I gave a copy to was Joe O'Brien and this happened on our way out. This shows me that your witnesses are not the most reliable, but somehow you trust them. Is your paycheck dependent on it?

That is a very good point, and a very serious one. I think that's exactly what needs to take place. It will probably come to that. At least I hope so. The more you read of his "way" of treating others, very passive agressive and controlling, abusing power and hurting others with his authority or abuse, there is definitely a problem.

You were not the only one who heard that. His trouble is that once he had talked about demons he had to prove to the wold he was right, regardless of how Linda had to suffer for it.

I wonder if things are clear enough in your mind to participate?

If the "premises" referred to were only the camp meeting location, why was it impossible to have our Friday afternoon meeting in the board room. Walt and Nick discussed that possibility for a moment, but they quickly came to the conclusion that the meeting could not be held any closer than in West Frankfort, since Danny had forbidden us to come to Thompsonville.

Are you getting your information from a reliable witness?

Maybe Danny "feels" Linda left him because Danny ordered Linda out of Southern Illinois for 30 days while he scrubbed Linda's name off the network?

Did Danny share his feelings of abandonment with everyone who would listen?

Somethink like this, perhaps?

Oh where has my Linda gone.
Oh where has my Linda gone.
Where could she be?

Where could she be?

Dear Linda,

We are offering you a 30 day leave of absence with pay and full benefits - to begin at the time of receipt of this letter. During this time the following conditions must be met....

You will arrange to leave Southern Illinois at 3ABN expense for the duration...

At the end of 30 days we will reassess the situation and make further recommendations as indicated...

The issues in this proposal are not negotiable.

Sincerely,

This is really brazen IMO, especially given the fact that she had NOT committed Adultery, IMO.

Shame on you Walt and Danny!

I believe this was Danny and Walt's way of "flexing their muscles" and "showing Linda just who the real boss was", IMO.

I also believe (IMO) they expected her to bow and submit to the "anointed one"! oo

That didn't work did it? b notworkir giljoti

o Linda was away from Southern Illinois by the orders of Danny Shelton through his Chairman of the Board. nd yet he had the audacity of telling the world audience that Linda had left him, and there on the spot he equested Mark Finley come forward and pray for her return. Then Mark Finley must have sensed Linda was nnocent of the accusations.

ohann, a simple yes or no please.

Was the statement in question a article about 3ABN, which you were planning on submitting to the local paper?

Then Danny should have recused himself from the 3ABN board meeting/decision and excused himself from the live broadcast of that campmeeting. Danny is the one who put it out. A lot of us didn't have a clue. In addition, Danny's mouth has turned this issue around to where people are now thinking that it was a setup. I guess if he sent his wife away, if I were him, I wouldn't want my "inaccurate" description of the alleged marital infidelity exposed globally either.

Exactly! This one act shows the blatant hypocrisy that makes this whole saga just stink worse than a pig farm! Danny says he believes in God and God has "called" him to do this work, but in this "difficult" situation he doesn't trust that God can work it out. Instead he takes it upon himself to refuse someone access to God's house.

Although I believe reasonable minds would find this an excellent statement concerning what reasonable christians would do, would those who project what THEY would do under similar circumstances only see a threat and behave as DS behaved?

The e-mail invited Johann is dated April 21, 2004, at 8:21 AM. You can find it right here:

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-meet-the-board-1.htm

The email you cite is to the Doctor, NOT Johann, and has nothing to do with campmeeting....

Johann was invited by the Chairman of the board on May 4th:
"Accordingly, I would be pleased if you would submit to me in writing a comprehensive account of the allegations you have about the way 3ABN has treated Linda. I would like this to be comprehensive with whatever documentation you can provide so that we may assess it accurately."

To which he replied:
" Too late now. I have handed such documentation over to another party - where you will meet it in due time. Too bad you did not think of this earlier, so I could see there was a willingness to come to terms. "

Pete:
The e-mail " disinviting " Johann is dated [color=#CC0000]May 27, 2004 at 4:57 PM. The campmeeting in Thompsonville started that same evening, May 27, 2004 .

This "plain" warning "beforehand" was sent about two hours before the campmeeting started.

SO?? what was it in response to? (Do you know?)

And What does that have to do with Johann writing this several weeks later:
QUOTE:
.....A few weeks ago I was in Southern Illinois, wanting to attend the camp meeting at 3ABN, together with a Norwegian medical doctor ....during that meeting we were requested to leave the premises of 3ABN, and if we ever showed up again at the meetings the police would be requested to remove us as trespassing private property - and this at meetings where all are invited.......

Some will likely say this was a carefully-crafted setup by Danny Shelton: Invite some Scandinavians to the United States on April 21; and then throw them out when they arrive on May 27; and make a big spectacle of it to showcase Danny as a victim.

Aletheia, I know you posted quite a bit ahead of this post. To me, your statements don't fit practical reality, such as:

> QUOTE
>
> You all keep pretending her marriage and her job at 3ABN are one and the same, there are overlapping issues, but they were, and are not the same.

I believe they are one and the same: If you stab your Vice President, Linda Shelton, in the back, your wife, Linda Shelton, might not cook you a very nice dinner that evening.

When people are interviewed, the first thing they are asked is what they do for a living. What a person does for a living becomes part of their identity and part of who they are. You don't steal that identity from your wife at work, and expect all will be well at home. It just doesn't work that way and I don't think Walt and Danny were working to that end.

Aletheia,

You state over and over you are looking for truth and answers.

Why do you fail to ask WWJD, Bystander and Lee to respond to questions posed by posters on this board when WWJD, Bystander and Lee fail to answer?

Maybe the posters should quote you in the future:

"Your answer tells me you are dissembling, and avoiding the question... Is there a problem with you answering in a honest and straight to the point manner?" Aletheia

If he remember where he was and Who the Meeting" was supposed to be about, he would not have to worry about who stepped in the door. At that point very few in that rrom and definitely not the rank and file and viewing audience knew anything, until under his own power Danny tried to "handle" things.

> .....A few weeks ago I was in Southern Illinois, wanting to attend the camp meeting at 3ABN, together with a Norwegian medical doctor - the one Linda has been accused of committing spiritual adultery with. We went there in an attempt to clear up misunderstandings, all caused because my wife and I introduced this doctor to Danny and Linda Shelton. This doctor is also the head elder of the most flourishing conservative SDA church in Norway - and has for several years been a financial supporter of 3ABN. Some of the problems were caused because the 3ABN archives had misspelled the name of this supporter, so Danny was convinced he was an impostor. Later Danny has named him a devil, a demon, or evil spirit, or bad counselor - like he did during the transmission to the whole world on Thursday evening at Camp Meeting. Also during that meeting we were requested to leave the premises of 3ABN, and if we ever showed up again at the meetings the police would be requested to remove us as trespassing private property - and this at meetings where all are invited.......

What circumstances and what time is being spoken of? and why would Johann claim they were invited when he was plainly warned not to come under those circumstances, and at that time, and told beforehand what would happen if he chose to do so anyway??

Even so, it was not till after, being asked to leave and refusing, after assualting Walt Thompson, and after handing out his papers, that they were warned to leave again, or the police would be called.

It is also clear that the context of the letter where the Doctor was invited to come to a board meeting was not in reference to a public meeting at Campmeeting, but was in reference to a private board meeting, and in reference to Matt 18, (which Linda, the Dr and Johann) apparently didn't want to follow) It says:

1. Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.

2.But if he will not hear [thee, then] take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.

3.And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell [it] unto the church:

4 but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.

From the lettters (dated respectively aprox. 8, and 5 weeks earlier), which Gailon and Joy published (with editing) on www.save3ABN.com (and also.org as they have two addresses)

Well all of that has been proven a lie. She has confessed everything all the lies, all the phone calls, some for over FOUR HOURS AND NINE MINUTES at a time. At other times you talked to my wife, March 15, for example for 59 minutes, then another conversation for 75 minutes, then another for 13 minutes, plus that same day you called her from your phone at least once that I know of and talked between 30 minutes and an hour. And you still have the nerve to lie about your involvement with my wife? Those dozens of recorded phone conversations were not about her son or the high and lofty spiritual things that you both lied about but now at least is admitted by my wife. > So Linda was away from Southern Illinois by the orders of Danny Shelton through his Chairman of the Board. And yet he had the audacity of telling the world audience that Linda had left him, and there on the spot he requested Mark Finley come forward and pray for her return...

You all keep pretending her marriage and her job at 3ABN are one and the same, there are overlapping issues, but they were, and are not the same.

One, Danny was talking about her returning to him her husband and not asking her to return from her leave of absence from her job. She was supposed to be off reflecting, seeking God's help and getting councelling (other mutually acceptable ones if the reccomended councellors were not acceptable to her) so she could return, to both her husband and her job...

(THINK PLEASE. why did WT send the email to Alyssa,at her house, on 5/04/04 after already sending a registered letter in an attempt to get hold of Linda, if she was living with her husband???)

Two: It is obvious to anyone with common sense that the board asked Linda to come to the board meeting, and so obviously she was free to do so, and not banned from it. The chairman of the board clearly states they will review and reassess the situation after the leave of absence, what on earth do you people think the board met for, if not to do that???

I don't understand why you didn't quote the whole letter. Here are both the letter to her and the one to Johann about all this, for the members who haven't read them.

This is what Walt Thompson was referring to here;

I told her that if she would not accept our offer and find help to get rid of the doctor, we would have to consider removing her from her positions. She did not respond to my letter...."

PO Box 220
West Frankfort, IL 62896

Dear Linda,

A committee representing the 3ABN board of directors has been selected and has met for the purpose of evaluating the present problem at 3ABN relating to your relationship to Danny and to the ministry of 3ABN - and seeking a resolution acceptable to all parties involved. This letter is intended to represent the will of the board.

Let me begin by expressing our gratitude to you for the part you have played at 3ABN for the past nearly twenty years. You have been an important part of the ministry from the beginning – a fact appreciated by us all. Accordingly, this letter is not written with the intent to destroy your home or your part in the ministry, but rather to rehabilitate and restore.

In accordance with this intent, we are offering the following proposal to you. We believe it has the potential of accomplishing the desired objectives, i.e., to save both your home and a place for you in this ministry. It would do so without making the details of this matter known to the full board or others.

Nor is this letter expressing an opinion regarding the nature of your relationship with Dr. Abrahamson. Whether or not this relationship has been immoral or not is not the issue of this document. The facts are that the relationship and your refusal to discontinue it in spite of repeated requests by Danny and our requests, has damaged both your family and 3ABN – a reality we must deal with in wisdom, love and compassion – but deal with, we must.

We are offering you a 30 day leave of absence with pay and full benefits - to begin at the time of receipt of this letter. During this time the following conditions must be met.

You will be relieved of all duties at 3ABN and will not appear at 3ABN other than to obtain items from your immediate office upon personal request from me. You will arrange to leave Southern Illinois at 3ABN expense for the duration. Both you and 3ABN need time to cool off.

You will agree in writing to cease all communication with Dr. Abrahamson, whether direct or indirect, whether by e-mail, telephone, letter or any other, or through Johann or any other third party. We are designating a period of 30 days, but with the intent this must be a life-long decision.

During this time you will not discuss the issues related to your relationship with 3ABN with anyone other than your immediate family, your professional counselors or representatives or members of the board of directors.

Since this time is recommended as a time for reflection and serious rehabilitation we are requesting that you arrange to receive professional help relating to the issues at hand. We are recommending Ron and Nancy Rocky to you. They have agreed to open their home to you and to give you personal help in dealing with the issues at the center of the present problems. It will be private and protected from the public eye such that neither your image nor reputation ought be damaged. Should you choose different professional help, it must be acceptable to this committee.

At the end of 30 days we will reassess the situation and make further recommendations as indicated.

The issues in this proposal are not negotiable. Should they be unacceptable to you – we hope sincerely they will be acceptable – we will proceed promptly with further investigation of the facts regarding the matter at hand. In that case we will need a list of witnesses you would like us to hear. We will offer Danny the same opportunity. Once we have had opportunity to hear the evidence, we will be in a better position to make recommendations to the full board based upon that evidence. Based on the facts we already know, however, we think pursuing such a course would make any future role for you at 3ABN unlikely.

That is why, Linda, we are pleading with you to accept this proposal for healing and restoration. This is God's ministry. He has chosen you to be a part of it. We want you to continue to be a part of it. But in order for that to happen really important things must change.

Sincerely,

Walter Thompson MD
Chairman of the Board of Directors, 3ABN
Committee members include Nicholas P. Miller, Bill Hulsey and Kay Kuzma (by invitation)

Your signature here will confirm your agreement with this proposal. Please sign and return copy within 24 hours of receipt of this letter.

......

If we like, we can continue to nurse this dialog of battle over Linda and involve the whole church and whole world in the warfare. Should we do so, God in His great mercy may still find a way to bring good out of it as He did when He took ancient Israel to Babylon. I would prefer that He have a more faithful people to give Him a better, more powerful witness.

I do not agree with your belief that Linda is being victimized.

But though we disagree we still need to work together to find solutions.

Accordingly, I would be pleased if you would submit to me in writing a comprehensive account of the allegations you have about the way 3ABN has treated Linda. I would like this to be comprehensive with whatever documentation you can provide so that we may assess it accurately.

Once this has been done, my request is that you discontinue further correspondence with Linda or anyone else regarding this matter. In this way we will have the information we need to act, and you will have opportunity to pursue your work of spreading the Good News to Europe. Our work there has been too long stagnate while we have been fighting.

It is my determination to give Linda every opportunity to restore her home and ministry should she be willing.

She has been offered a proposal whereby this may happen. Only she can decide what she will do with it, but all of us at 3ABN want her to choose right. All are desirous of helping her - NONE trying to hurt her.

She may disagree with our proposal, in which case she will be given opportunity to tell her side of the story before the board.

In fact, if she were to desire to bring her case to a neutral party of the Church - and accept the publicity such an event would generate - I would welcome it. When all is said and done, it is my intent that no one will be able to honestly say we have not done everything possible to save her and her place of service.

As you can confirm, I have not expressed any judgments about Dr. Abrahamson other than to say that he is in the wrong for continuing a relationship, even a doctor-patient relationship, that is destroying the very thing he is trying to save. Having said that, a continuation of communication between Europe and Linda will place the board in a place where we must deal with an insubordinate member of the organization. She has been asked on numerous occasions to discontinue the relationship, first by her husband who is also her superior in ministry, by her pastor, by her board chairman, and now by the committee of the board created to seek resolution. Likewise, both you and Dr. Abrahamson have defied our requests to cease communication with Linda. While I can forgive this action on the mistaken belief that it is helping Linda, there comes a point when defiance must be dealt with lest it destroy the whole organization. If you are so > concerned about Linda, and I believe you are, you will encourage her to get help here and break off the relationship there. Certainly there are people in America that can do give her the help she needs.

>
> Thank you for helping me to meet with Dr. Abrahamson by phone. We had a good discussion that gave me opportunity to hear his side of the story, a thing I appreciate.
>
> While we are going through this challenging time, please confine ALL further discussion about this matter to me or if unreachable, Bill Hulsey or Nick Miller (other members of the committee). In my mind this matter must not continue to spread - for the sake of Linda, 3ABN, and the world church and cause of God.

Under the law, and this differs somewhat from the common understanding of the terms, "assualt" is considered to be a verbal threat. "Battery" is considered to be a physical act. In the common understanding, "assualt" may be a physical act, as in the following sentence: The 7th Inf. Div. launched an assault on the enemy position. So, Aletheia is unclear as to whether Johann physically assaulted Dr. Thompson, or if Johann simply may have said something verbally that Aletheia did not like.

I do not know what she meant.

To be more precise, you are trying to deny the plain facts as they show up in those letters.

You are also ignoring the fact that at the time of this campmeeting, Johann Thorvaldsson was the current and official 3ABN Director of European Advancement... a position he held until later dismissed by Danny Shelton AFTER Johann refused to testify to the "truth" of Danny's lie about Linda's association with Dr Arild Abrahamson.

Dr Abrahamson was an enthusiastic supporter and a generous contributor for years before this. It is impossible to even imagine that either of them would interpret their invitations to meet with the board as including any prohibition as to attending the campmeeting that was being held just previous to the board meeting.

And not until the actual day of the campmeeting was there a letter sent telling them they would not be welcome. Did they even check email before going to the campground?

But thank you for bringing the letters here so we can read for ourselves without even having to go to the save3abn website. That gives them more exposure and helps balance ... and expose .... the way that you habitually twist facts and spin interpretations. Oldtimers just smile and note how consistent you are. Newbies can be glad for such a quick and easy demonstration of how you "work".

Carry on........ ☒ TVsnack. ....

SOME are so stuck to their agenda, when truth slaps them in the face, whether they knew it or not before, they are destined to stay on their path. Scary .

I know there are a few sermons in there someplace!

Cindy, you must stop posting things you have not read and/or don't comprehend. In fact, you need to stop posting at all! You made this statement:

How could you make that statement, when the facts show in this situation that when the marriage when her job went with it? Why would you not see that? Like I said you really need to sstop posting. i think they count on the fact that you understand aboslutely nothing about this situation.

Can we have a show of hands of those who are in agreement? Shall we start a poll?

My 2 cents.

I already used my hand to use initiate that little "ignore" function. But I have my other hand and it's going up now.

Gailon tells me that while Linda was walking with Elder Thorvaldsson and Dr. Abrahamsen in a park or some such place around the time of the May 2004 camp meeting, that Danny called Linda to tell her how nice the dress was that she was wearing. Any truth in this, that the P.I.'s were transmitting pictures like that?

Would this constitute a form of harassment that would be a violation of the http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-employee-handbook-not-followed.htm? If so, what recourse was there for Linda to report Danny Shelton for harassment?

I will not repeat what the others have clearly expressed.

However, let me add that I placed a link to two letters, not one. The second letter clearly puts it into the context of two Scandinavians where it says "you and Dr. Abrahamsen."

I chose to be inclusive of both gentlemen based on that second letter further down on that same page. Perhaps, you missed the second letter on that page by not scrolling down far enough.

Once again, please note that the second letter mentions both gentlemen:

It has come to my attention that you and Dr. Abrahamsen are planning to attend the 3ABN Camp Meeting this week....

What email address was this "plain" warning email sent to? Was it to Johann's email address? Was Johann in Norway to receive it 2 hours before campmeeting started?

While some of you in your group may be fond of Captain Picard and Star Trek, I must inform you that Transporters have yet to be invented.

Anyone with common sense would see that Linda was not being asked to come to the board meeting to be held right after campmeeting, May 30, 2004. The leave of absence couldn't have started before May 5th at the earliest which would put the end of the 30 days in early June. At the end of the 30 days she was to meet with the "Committee" WT referred to made up of WT, Nick Miller and Bill Hulsey, not the whole Board.

As annoying as the obfuscation can get by those few who practice it and as irritating as the pathetic attempts at spin-doctoring have become, I still maintain that it is a good thing that each one of that group is freely allowed to continue to post here. Who knows, some day even they may remove their blinders.

While I don't know what happend to that e-mail. However, if it went to Norway, it arrived 3 minutes before midnight.

04:57:00 p.m. Thursday May 27, 2004 in US/Central converts to 11:57:00 p.m. Thursday May 27, 2004 in Europe/Oslo

Besides a calendar, does Danny needs one of those watches with the two time zones on it, like the one I heard he found in Linda's locked car? I think the Norwegians should have bought two of those watches on their way to that campmeeting, instead of just one.

Yes, as you highlighted in the portion of the letter that you pasted above, at the end of the 30 days the committee was to meet again and weigh all of the evidence they had collected from both parties and then they would be in a position to make their recommendations to the full board. This would have taken place well after the May 30, 2004 board meeting that you suggested. As I said, the 30 day leave of absence could not have started before May 5th at the earliest making the timing of the follow-up committee meeting sometime in early June, 2004 with the recommendations then being submitted to the full board as was the plan. Of course, who is to say that all went according to the plan?

Thank you again, Aletheia, for your pointing out the inconsistencies between what Walt Thompson said and what he actually did.

Look at the calendar Aletheia.... do the math.... or count the little square boxes...... Notice... They did not wait 30 days. They acted BEFORE the time specified was up.

And she was NOT permitted to come in person before the board... she was NOT asked for a list of witnesses.... neither were the two who had come from Norway to give their witness permitted to appear before the board.....

As I said... thank you for you help in pointing these things out in the documentation. Perhaps we have been too hard on you. Perhaps you are not, after all, working for Danny. Perhaps you are merely using a pretense of support for "his side" as a cloak for actually working against him.....

Hmmmmm..... .... have to cogitate on that one a bit more.....

Carry on....... TVsnack. ....

These several emails that have been published completely exonerate DS and WT of any wrong doing, unfairness or anything else they have been accused of. All they do is point out that DS clearly loved his wife and was upset and hurt, but still trying to follow the course of Matt 18. Walt T. could not have shown any more of a kind, christian, and sensative nature to all concerned. His emails speak with love for Linda and he always addresses both the Doc and Johann in a respectful way. The way he handled his part of this terrible situation, strengthens my feelings of respect for him as a true christian and a man of integrity. Can we say the same for them in their responses?

After reading through, I don't know how anyone could come to any conclusion other than, LS had her opportunity time and again to make things right both at 3abn and her marriage, and she chose not to. Both Doc and Johann were given opportunities (at the right time and place) and at least the Doc didn't take it. Johann would have addressed the board also and he didn't.
All were dealt with in a Christ like spirit as far as possible but finally enough is enough and even then, they were dealt with fairly.
In one of DS emails to the Doc he says Linda is young beautiful and intelligent.......Yes that sounds like someone who never bragged on her and built her up and didn't love her.....Right
These emails are very simple & forthright as to what happened and those of you that want to find wrong in them, just want to find it and want to argue.

Linda didn't reply according to WT, nor did she do anything asked, do you think, maybe, that gave them a clue, to proceed and take it to the full board?

ou cannot read... so let's keep it simple.... PROVE that Linda committed adultery.... show us the evidence.... lon't spin, don't distract, prove that Linda committed adultery....

f you are unwilling to do that, then explain why you and others like you stood by while Linda was thrown nder the bus..... even if she did everything she was accused of, she should not have been treated as she vas..... so explain one or the other.....

lay, Linda was not fired for committing adultery. So that isn't the issue here, his is the quote by Aletheia that I was responding to. When she says that Linda didn't reply per WT one must vonder when it was that she went to Kansas to meet with the non-SDA counselors. Was this in May or June? id the committee go directly to the board on May 30th since Linda didn't reply? That would be interesting to now but I'm not willing to speculate if "maybe, that gave them a clue, to proceed and take it to the full oard". I'll do some searching and see if I can find the answer from first-hand information.

n the mean time, these are a few conclusions that I drew from the emails and from information in Aletheia's osts:

. It was the committee Linda was to respond to.
. I do not find anything anywhere that shows that the board asked Linda to come to the board meeting at he end of campmeeting.
. Perhaps the board met for the usual things that the board met for on a quarterly basis?

ABN staff was ordered to use the 30-day period to expunge Linda's name from the network. She was, in ffect, erased. Therefore, if it were me they were erasing, I surely would not see it as a proposal "for ealing and restoration." You don't heal and restore a person by ordering every employee in the entire orporation use those 30 days to erase the person's name.

My opinion is that this statement of 30 days for "healing and restoration" was meant to deceive. Therefore, I have a difficult time locating Walt Thompson's "kind, christian, and sensative nature to all concerned." Yes, I believe Walt Thompson and Company seemingy offered Linda help, but I also believe that, behind the scenes, they were working to erase Linda, entirely.

Kay Kuzma was part of the four-member "fact-finding" committee established by "kind, christian, and sensitive" Walt Thompson. Kay was recommending books on Spiritual Adultery.

Kay was not dealing with Linda's marriage; Kay was dealing with Linda's employment. So, what's the point of Kay recommending books with the word "adultery" in them if it is irrelevant to Linda's employment?

once again Cindy there are some questions you have yet to answer... are you?

Here are my two.....

Can you prove Linda committed adultery?

Why did you allow her to be thrown under the bus?

Now there was another question asked by nw, are you gonna answer that one also?

PB this is the first time of have seen an admission by Linda or your side that she & DS went to professional counselors. That has been denied on this board over and over again. Our side has been called liars by saying she did. If I had time I would go back to your previous posts to see if you were on that wagon train of "poor Linda DS lied about going to counselors." Either way, it is of the utmost importance that you have admitted it now since that has been one thing on this board that has been argued to the point of being ridiculous.

So, what do you know? They did go to professional non SDA counselors. Non SDA so there wouldn't be any bias involved, I'm sure. This way the counselors would most likely, not be aware of who DS or LS were as far as TV and the Adventist world go. PB, you stated Kansas. I didn't even know what state it was when.....mmm wonder who your "first hand" information is? And, if you have access to that kind of first hand info, what's with the story you have given all along that you came here neutral and searching for truth. If you have access to "first hand info" from your side, doesn't sound like you were so peacefully bewildered after all.

Uh Cindy, I have never heard anything about her job performance in regards to her being fired. She was fired from her job cuz she was also fired from her marriage by Danny. It all hinged on her "relationship" with the Dr. That has always been the reason. You know another. Shoot! Bring it!

Bystander... you are skipping around two questions... here they are again....

PROVE that Linda committed adultery.... show us the evidence.... don't spin, don't distract, prove that Linda committed adultery....

If you are unwilling to do that, then explain why you and others like you stood by while Linda was thrown under the bus..... even if she did everything she was accused of, she should not have been treated as she was..... so explain one or the other.....

and when your tag-team partner tags in this evening.... tell him to start with those two simple questions.....

These several emails that have been published completely exonerate DS and WT of any wrong doing, unfairness or anything else they have been accused of. All they do is point out that DS clearly loved his wife and was upset and hurt, but still trying to follow the course of Matt 18. Walt T. could not have shown any more of a kind, christian, and sensative nature to all concerned. His emails speak with love for Linda and he always addresses both the Doc and Johann in a respectful way. The way he handled his part of this terrible situation, strengthens my feelings of respect for him as a true christian and a man of integrity. Can we say the same for them in their responses?
After reading through, I don't know how anyone could come to any conclusion other than, LS had her opportunity time and again to make things right both at 3abn and her marriage, and she chose not to.
Both Doc and Johann were given opportunities (at the right time and place) and at least the Doc didn't take it. Johann would have addressed the board also and he didn't.
All were dealt with in a Christ like spirit as far as possible but finally enough is enough and even then, they were dealt with fairly.

In one of DS emails to the Doc he says Linda is young beautiful and intelligent.......Yes that sounds like someone who never bragged on her and built her up and didn't love her.....Right
These emails are very simple & forthright as to what happened and those of you that want to find wrong in them, just want to find it and want to argue.[/quote]

I disagree with you take on this. To support my position, I will quote a letter that Alethea posted earlier. As she posted it, I assume that it is a valid e-mail.

I am going to insert my comments into the following quotation. I will identify them by placing a "GM:" before my inserted comments. In addition, I will place my initials at the end of my comment.

In the interests of fairness, I will comment as I see it. That is to say that some of my comments will be positive, and some will be negative.

Dear Linda,

This is a copy of the letter that has been sent by FEDEX to you. While you may not understand now, someday you will realize that we are truly desirous of returning you to your home and ministry because we care about you. I plan to go to 3ABN tomorrow and will be available to talk with you if you have questions needing clarification.

Walt

GM: O.K. I am willing to acknowledge that Dr. Thompson, and the 3-ABN Board did care about Linda, and that their preference would have been to have Linda return to her position at 3-ABN. Some may challenge this posiiton. They may cite other material to support that idea. But, in my comments here, I am only dealing with this message. I am saying that this is a good beginning for a letter of this type--GM.

May, 4, 2004

Walter Thompson MD
Chairman of 3ABN Board of Directors
174 Foxborough Place
Burr Ridge, IL 60527

Linda Shelton
Three Angel's Broadcasting Network
PO Box 220
West Frankfort, IL 62896

Dear Linda,

A committee representing the 3ABN board of directors has been selected and has met for the purpose of evaluating the present problem at 3ABN relating to your relationship to Danny and to the ministry of 3ABN - and seeking a resolution acceptable to all parties involved. This letter is intended to represent the will of the board.

GM: I wonder, did this committee have any input from Danny Shelton? It almost seems impossible for them to have met for such a purpose without input from him. If so, did they have any input from Linda? If they did not take input from Linda, in the same manner that they recieved input from Danny, there is a problem. Yes, Danny, as President, was entitled to give them input, and I do not fault them for taking such. But, Linda, as Vice-President was just as entitled to give them input. If they failed to notify her of this meeting, and if they failed to take her input to the same extent that they took it from Danny, there is a problem of bias, or unfair advantage, or more--GM.

Let me begin by expressing our gratitude to you for the part you have played at 3ABN for the past nearly twenty years. You have been an important part of the ministry from the beginning – a fact appreciated by us all. Accordingly, this letter is not written with the intent to destroy your home or your part in the ministry, but rather to rehabilitate and restore.

GM: O.K. I can accept this, as I said in my first comment--GM.

In accordance with this intent, we are offering the following proposal to you. We believe it has the potential of accomplishing the desired objectives, i.e., to save both your home and a place for you in this ministry. It would do so without making the details of this matter known to the full board or others.

GM: O.K. As the issue is that of marriage, should not this same proposal be offered to Danny as well as Llinda. Remember, at this point, the Board had not recieved any response from Linda. They had not previously asked her for information. Now, in recognition of a problem, they had an obligation to treat Danny in the same manner as they treated Linda. In fairness, they should have required the same of Danny that they required of Linda--GM.

Nor is this letter expressing an opinion regarding the nature of your relationship with Dr. Abrahamson. Whether or not this relationship has been immoral or not is not the issue of this document. The facts are that the relationship and your refusal to discontinue it in spite of repeated requests by Danny and our requests, has damaged both your family and 3ABN – a reality we must deal with in wisdom, love and compassion – but deal with, we must.

GM: Oh, now we have it. Linda is required to . . . without hearing from her. Folks, at this point the Board is closing off the posibility, before hearing from Linda, that the relationship that she had with Dr. A. was appropriate. They have essentially told her to chose between Danny and Nathon, and supposedly without ever giving her the opportunity to present to them the position that she was in, and the choice that they were forcing her to make. That is pure and simple, unfair--GM.

We are offering you a 30 day leave of absence with pay and full benefits - to begin at the time of receipt of this letter. During this time the following conditions must be met.

GM: O. K. in fairness, do the same for Danny--GM.

You will be relieved of all duties at 3ABN and will not appear at 3ABN other than to obtain items from your immediate office upon personal request from me. You will arrange to leave Southern Illinois at 3ABN expense for the duration. Both you and 3ABN need time to cool off.

GM: Unresonable. Did not treat Danny the same. No proof that such was necessary. No attempt to give Linda a chance to challenge, or otherwise show that it was not necessary--GM.

You will agree in writing to cease all communication with Dr. Abrahamson, whether direct or indirect, whether by e-mail, telephone, letter or any other, or through Johann or any other third party. We are designating a period of 30 days, but with the intent this must be a life-long decision.

GM: Premature. It clearly shows that a decison had already been made in regard to her relationshilp with Dr. A. In fairness, they should have given Linda a chance to defend her relationship with Dr. A. This was simply unreasonable, with not chance for Linda to defend against it--GM.

During this time you will not discuss the issues related to your relationship with 3ABN with anyone other than your immediate family, your professional counselors or representatives or members of the board of directors.

GM: Unreasonable. This shows that the Board has placed Danny's and 3-ABNs interests above that of Linda. It shows a bias. It was not fair to Linda. They had to right to restrict her communication to "professional counselors" which is subject to intrepretation--GM.

Since this time is recommended as a time for reflection and serious rehabilitation we are requesting that you arrange to receive professional help relating to the issues at hand. We are recommending Ron and Nancy Rocky to you. They have agreed to open their home to you and to give you personal help in dealing with the issues at the center of the present problems. It will be private and protected from the public eye such that neither your image nor reputation ought be damaged. Should you choose different professional help, it must be acceptable to this committee.

GM: Should not the same have been said to Danny--GM?

At the end of 30 days we will reassess the situation and make further recommendations as indicated.

The issues in this proposal are not negotiable. Should they be unacceptable to you - we hope sincerely they will be acceptable - we will proceed promptly with further investigation of the facts regarding the matter at hand. In that case we will need a list of witnesses you would like us to hear. We will offer Danny the same opportunity. Once we have had opportunity to hear the evidence, we will be in a better position to make recommendations to the full board based upon that evidence. Based on the facts we already know, however, we think pursuing such a course would make any future role for you at 3ABN unlikely.

GM: Folks, all issues should have been open to input from Linda, and discussion. The Board made a biased decision without input from Linda. It clearly did not start out with Danny and Llinda on the same level. It did not treat Danny and Linda the same. I clearly placed Linda at an disadvantage. Most reasonable people would have rejected the Board's offer and biased and unfair them--GM.

That is why, Linda, we are pleading with you to accept this proposal for healing and restoration. This is God's ministry. He has chosen you to be a part of it. We want you to continue to be a part of it. But in order for that to happen really important things must change.

Sincerely,

Walter Thompson MD
Chairman of the Board of Directors, 3ABN
Committee members include Nicholas P. Miller, Bill Hulsey and Kay Kuzma (by invitation)

Your signature here will confirm your agreement with this proposal. Please sign and return copy within 24 hours of receipt of this letter.[/quote]

GM: Folks, only 24 hours to consider! Unbelieveable! They were not giving her an appropriate amount of time to consider and seek advice. They were not giving her an appropriate amount of time to pray about it and to seek God's guidance. They required her to make a hasty decision, on the spur of the moment. Unbelieveable in it's lack of fairness--GM.[/quote]

I wonder what would have happened if Linda had requested to be heard by the entire Board?

ou beat me to the point about Linda being banned for 30 days. It seems some can't/won't add 2 2 and get 4.

MO, I see this as a total setup from day one. I believe it was a power struggle that Danny had to vin no matter what the cost! Now it will cost him more than he thought; he will probably loose ABN. Yes, preplanned and executed according to their (Danny & Walt's) plan.

anny however, miscalculated Linda's response 100%. Therefore, Plan "B":

. Destroy her, put her in welfare housing;
. Make her leave penniless; (Remember, in the beginning she was to get zero)
. Tell the world she is a harlot;
. Convince her friends she is a devil;
. Destroy the Dr too;
. Discredit Johann, a true man of God;
. Glorify Danny as the "anointed one" who is = to god;
. Lift Danny up as the victim;
. Cry on the air;
. Beg for sympathy as in "Woe is me, I am undone";
. Hit the "bystanders" to send ALL their money to the "anointed one" to make his "pain" earable;
0. Tell lies about everything because the devoted "asleep" will listen and bless Danny with more noney;
1. Finally, good riddance to bad rubbish!
2. Linda is gone and "pushed under the bus".

Was this in May or June? Did the committee go directly to the board on May 30th since Linda didn't reply? That would be interesting to know but I'm not willing to speculate if "maybe, that gave them a clue, to proceed and take it to the full board". I'll do some searching and see if I can find the answer from first-hand information.

t must be a lean newsday if a post from me about LS and DS going to counseling in Kansas is to be onsidered Breaking News! This reaction on your part took me aback as I have tried quite carefully to pay ttention to details on this forum. You make some pretty shakey claims in your statement. First of all, my ost doesn't come as an admission by Linda or "your side". I don't know Linda personally. I personally have a riend who knows Linda personally but I have never personally spoken to or been emailed by Linda. And urthermore, my own personal friend who knows Linda personally has never mentioned to me anything about ounseling that LS and DS went to in Kansas so there is no possible way for you to tag my comment as an dmission by Linda. hile a great-grandfather of mine did come out West from St. Louis by wagon train, I have never ridden on ne real or hypothetical. But, since you piqued my curiosity as to this whole matter, I did a simple search and hese are just part of the posts that deal with the subject of Linda and Danny going to Kansas for counseling":

sonshineonme discusses Kansas:
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=9131&st=30&p=138813&#entry138813
Panama_Pete discusses Kansas:
http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=11914&st=75&p=165855&#entry165855
Johann discusses Kansas:

http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=12434&st=30&p=176406&#entry176406

So, all of the above links clearly show that there has been no denial of the fact that LS and DS went to Kansas to meet with non-SDA counselors. I just don't see where you get the details from your post about you being called liars for saying that she did. Perhaps you need to get your facts straight before publishing your Breaking News item?

Well, dear Bystander, I would have to ask you why you didn't know that the state was Kansas? Did your sources forget to give you that info? Did you not read the very posts you invoked in your first few sentences of your post,"since that has been one thing on this board that has been argued to the point of being ridiculous"?
Who is my "first hand" information? Many of the members of this forum, you included.
(Cue Phyllis Diller to stop the laughing)
You are right about one thing though. I wasn't really neutral when I came here. I loved the ministry of 3abn and really thought I could do my part to disprove the claims that my friend who personally knows Linda was making. When I came here the truth was I pretty much felt that Linda had probably strayed and that Danny was probably telling the truth about the matter. But I came here, willing to give other folks the chance to tell their testimonies and willing to find the truth of the matter.
So now, Bystander, I am still filled with the Peace that passes understanding. As for the bewildered part of my username, I am bewildered that those who claim to be representing God's character to the whole world have shown themselves, time and again, to be less than truthful and of such unChristianlike behavior as to actually try to cover up horrific abuse and try to intimidate precious souls into silence who have been abused by one of their own.

Vhat Don't You Understand? It is the responsibility of 3abn ONLY to make known that evidence. And When hey Do, It will not be on a CHAT room. How hard is that for any of you to understand? There are Legalities nvolved. Unlike Joy or Pickle, the reality is, I nor anyone else, can just step up and take over. No one but abn can make the evidence known, to whom they want and when they want. So everytime you and the indanites go through the same tired spill demanding evidence, you are blowing smoke and wasting breath ecause this has been explained to you over and over. he only reason that I can see for directly ignoring my post, is that you think I am DS. Get over it. You are ot addressing DS. Can I prove anything. No. Again, 3abn can. I don't have the right. And because I know hat they can, there was no "bus accident." End of Story.
have answered questions to the best of my ability, What have you done?
an You prove her innocence?
an you prove what was said to each other in their own home?
an you prove that all the phone bills, gifts, and other evidence were lies?
an you prove that she wasn't given every chance to restore her marriage and her job?
an you tell me ANYTHING at all that you DIDN'T read and draw conclusions from, on this forum?
an you tell me that you witnessed ANY of the events that have been discussed?
an you tell me that you have talked directly with ANY of the people involved?
f not, you have unbelievable audacity to DEMAND anything from the 3abn defenders. Same goes for the rest f you that answer no to these questions.

I'm certain you would characterize your job here, and the jobs of wwjd, Lee and Aletheia, to be to provide support for Danny's side of all of these issues. Am I correct? If I am, wouldn't it be a good place to show all of the lurkers, members, and those seeking truth in the matter what that "evidence" is so that they, those who have not chosen sides as yet, can come to the appropriate conclusion?

You must know that many folks are Googling for information since Danny has been so outspoken on the Live programs. Wouldn't it be prudent for them to get the full story instead of seeing only one side posting the evidence for their side?

Of course, if there really isn't any compelling "evidence" that could be posted to clearly show that Linda was following a sinful course, I suppose you all could just go on twisting statements, muddying the waters and attempting to divert the minds of those seeking truth. Wonder which course would be the most productive?

Posted by: princessdi Mar 8 2007, 04:09 PM

Well then, you, cindy, Lee, wwjd, and the rest need to stop posting until said proof is produced. There is no reason for you to continue, because we will not believe you with out the proof, and you have no proof, you say, thus far. You have wasted massive amounts of our time and yours. Come back when you have something.

ave you gotten completely simple minded? I answered your questions. I am not in a position to expose the vidence. They are. And they have it. Therefore, there is no ridiculous Bus analogy.

answered. You did not answer any of mine. I have yet to see you answer these kinds of questions. Try it, ust once, just see if you can answer with plain and simple responses. No answering a question with a uestion, no smart remarks. Just answer the list of questions. have never seen him do anything but ridicule those he disagrees with, demand answers from those he nsults and namecalls, and never have any of his own when it comes to theses 3ABN discussions.

TW, if my memory serves correctly re your post to PB, it was mostly Clay, (and I think Princess DrRe) who were claiming that Linda never got professional counseling, and accusing Danny and 3ABN of lying, and demanding proof and receipts from you... PB might have been too bewildered to supply them with her links...

Don't have to; this is America...where one is innocent until proven guilty.

You are saying she's guilty... so the burden of proof is on you. Folk who said Tommy was guilty came out with evidence to support their claims If you are unwilling or unable to produce evidence to support your claim, that is your prerogative... but you will be weighed in the balanced and found wanting.

The bottom line is your behavior is not consistent with that of someone who has the truth on his side. Your unwillingness to support your claims with verifiable evidence only further entrenches that perception and a number of people have said the tipping point for them was your (plural) conduct and conversation and continued recalcitrance when asked to verify what you state...

The american way says you make the charge, it is incumbent upon you to make it stick.

You haven't done that to date... not even close.

In His service,
Mr. J

B, are you deliberatly lying? I have said how many times, that I have never met Danny? I came here earching for the truth and asking questions, the answers led me to where I am now.

m quite sure it suits your purpose to try and make the readers here see all the people you disagree with, as ou portray them, simply being blindly loyal and defending someone in a biased manner, but it's simply not rue.

am no prophet, but this I know. When the facts are made known by 3ABN, unless you are without a onscience, you are going to be a very embarassed and sad woman.

Vhy not just stop making the absolute statements and judgments which you yourself cannot prove, and ractice building the patience of the saints, until that happens?

his forum is a good place to practice that. Turning the other cheek also...

Wrong again.........please stop posting............You have no new information....you are not authorized to give proof of that which you expsouse.....you should all just stop wasting our time.

Now, I would suggest to you all that, as members of the BSDA Family, that you go and enjoy the other forums discussions, Live Chat, and even the game arcade, but we know that is not your purpose. When and if all is said and done in the sad, sad tale, you will leave us. Mainly because I have observed nothing Christ-like about your motives, your words or actions. Just do us a favor and go.

*I would just like to make one exception to this statement. That is Bytander. Even though we have disagreed, I have personally been impressed with a certain amount of "respect", that may have come from home training and is buried deep. letheia, ou continue to ignore my other question, so I will ask you a different one based on this statement.

o what are your conclusions based on your searching and asking questions? I am interested to know where ou are now.

. Do you believe linda committed adultery?

imple yes or no is sufficient.

eal friends, sistas and sisters stick together. ☒ PB.

oo bad Linda was apparently not given the same support by those she has worked with at 3abn and onsidered her friends (at least that is how I have interpreted much that has been written and Danny DID tell er that she needed to get new friends, did he not?).

No, I am not lying. I know that you claim not to have met Danny. Nevertheless, you have made it quite clear that you believe what he says and you continue to post information that you say supports that.

My purpose is, and always has been, to find the verified truth in this matter. No matter how many times you claim otherwise or try to charge me with trying to characterize you, Lee, wwjd and Bystander in any unkind light it just won't stick. I have been completely transparent in my posting and questioning. That I usually can't get straight and to the point answers from the four of you is not my doing. Yes, I disagree with the way you and the others have tried to obfuscate the truth but I have always defended your right to post your opinions, as diversionary as they can be at times.

Do you know these "facts" that 3abn is holding? Are you certain or are you taking the word of someone else that they even exist.

If you have actually seen this "evidence" for yourself, does it:

1. Prove that Linda deserved to be removed from her position as Vice President and co-founder of 3abn?
2. Prove that Tommy Shelton did not abuse his position of power as a pastor and sexually abuse boys and young men over a possible period of decades?
3. Prove that Tommy has actually asked for forgiveness from all of his alleged victims and made restitution to help them get on with the rest of their lives?
4. Prove that Danny Shelton did not attempt to cover up the abuse of boys and young men by minimization and intimidation and possibly by outright lies?

What? Huh?

If by turning the other cheek you mean averting my eyes while you, Lee, wwjd and Bystander try to distort the truth by misquoting it and trying to divert attention from it, then that's a cheek I'm not willing to turn.

Please show me where in all of this that PrincessDrRe claims that Linda never got professional counseling. Glenetta mentioned that there were receipts from the couple in Kansas.

Don't know if anyone noticed, but this was a beautifully crafted letter by WT and team -- corporate greed all wrapped up in the pretentious loving blanket of pity for LS. You notice his #1 concern is what's best for the organization, his #2 concern is tenderness and caring for LS, although he strongly indicates the facts show she's guilty ("but we'll listen anyway"), just for the appearance of fairness. Only in religious circles are you treated guilty and sentenced before the trial. I've been around some of these kind of organizations and the way administration feels it their divine duty to extend their tentacles into the privacy of other peoples lives.

>
> Dear Linda,
>
> A committee representing the 3ABN board of directors has been selected and has met for the purpose of evaluating the present problem at 3ABN relating to your relationship to Danny and to the ministry of 3ABN - and seeking a resolution acceptable to all parties involved. This letter is intended to represent the will of the board.
>
> Let me begin by expressing our gratitude to you for the part you have played at 3ABN for the past nearly twenty years. You have been an important part of the ministry from the beginning - a fact appreciated by us all. Accordingly, this letter is not written with the intent to destroy your home or your part in the ministry, but rather to rehabilitate and restore.
>
> In accordance with this intent, we are offering the following proposal to you. We believe it has the > potential of accomplishing the desired objectives, i.e., to save both your home and a place for you in this ministry. It would do so without making the details of this matter known to the full board or others.

>
> Nor is this letter expressing an opinion regarding the nature of your relationship with Dr. Abrahamson. Whether or not this relationship has been immoral or not is not the issue of this document. The facts are that the relationship and your refusal to discontinue it in spite of repeated requests by Danny and our requests, has damaged both your family and 3ABN – a reality we must deal with in wisdom, love and compassion – but deal with, we must.
>
> We are offering you a 30 day leave of absence with pay and full benefits - to begin at the time of receipt of this letter. During this time the following conditions must be met.
>
> You will be relieved of all duties at 3ABN and will not appear at 3ABN other than to obtain items from your immediate office upon personal request from me. You will arrange to leave Southern Illinois at 3ABN expense for the duration. Both you and 3ABN need time to cool off.
>
> You will agree in writing to cease all communication with Dr. Abrahamson, whether direct or indirect, whether by e-mail, telephone, letter or any other, or through Johann or any other third party. We are designating a period of 30 days, but with the intent this must be a life-long decision.
>
> During this time you will not discuss the issues related to your relationship with 3ABN with anyone other than your immediate family, your professional counselors or representatives or members of the board of directors.
>
> Since this time is recommended as a time for reflection and serious rehabilitation we are requesting that you arrange to receive professional help relating to the issues at hand. We are recommending Ron and Nancy Rocky to you. They have agreed to open their home to you and to give you personal help in dealing with the issues at the center of the present problems. It will be private and protected from the public eye such that neither your image nor reputation ought be damaged. Should you choose different professional help, it must be acceptable to this committee.
>
> At the end of 30 days we will reassess the situation and make further recommendations as indicated.
>
> The issues in this proposal are not negotiable. Should they be unacceptable to you – we hope sincerely they will be acceptable – we will proceed promptly with further investigation of the facts regarding the matter at hand. In that case we will need a list of witnesses you would like us to hear. We will offer Danny the same opportunity. Once we have had opportunity to hear the evidence, we will be in a better position to make recommendations to the full board based upon that evidence. Based on the facts we already know, however, we think pursuing such a course would make any future role for you at 3ABN unlikely.
>
> That is why, Linda, we are pleading with you to accept this proposal for healing and restoration. This is God's ministry. He has chosen you to be a part of it. We want you to continue to be a part of it. But in order for that to happen really important things must change.
>
> Sincerely,
>

> Chairman of the Board of Directors, 3ABN
> Committee members include Nicholas P. Miller, Bill Hulsey and Kay Kuzma (by invitation)

Now, somebody please correct me if I am wrong, but the below post by Glenetta says that Linda refused to come back..............Werent' these out of state counselling sessions done during the time 3ABN was paying for Linda to be out of So. IL?

> inga I have read through the post. I read Danny and Linda counseled with licensed, trained counselors, whom were out of the state, 2 of them to be exact and then I don't know if I heard it or read it that it totalled a 8 hour period of time. Then because I want to know truth I can tell you 3ABN can verify this all with receipts from the counselors. And by the way it was Linda who refused to go back. Maybe the pregnancy test was already used, and the rabbit died. What a horriable thought!!! I just would never have thought it of her. Why drag Elder Finley into the mess, let him alone so he can reach souls for Christ.

Okay, so there's proof Linda committed adultery (you say).

Since questions have been asked and speculation raised that Nick Miller did not resign merely because he had better things to do with his time, I wondered if that was the person that was essentially forced to resign if I read the email correctly.

This is what I'm afraid of, for Linda. Given enough time and the right software, a determined person with a computer can make anything. Even "proof."

The three of us went for a stroll in the Abraham Lincoln Park at Springfield. Arild and I had planned on worshiping with the 3ABN family that day, but that was not to be because of Danny's threats. Around noon we drove from Marion to Springfield and there we had contact with Linda and went to the park.

Shortly after that Linda received a phone call from Danny where he told her he had a picture of us and commented on the dress she was wearing, apparently as a proof to let us know that it was a real picture of her. We never saw that picture. Could it be that Danny had just received a description of her dress via phone from the PI? Were they checking with Danny to make sure they were chasing the right people?

If they doctor images, the software that does the editing leaves a digital footprint; one needs to know how to view it... but whether an image is authentic or doctored is easily determined...

According to a new letter posted at http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-buy-out-the-house.htm, by May 16, 2004 Danny was talking about buying Linda's half of the house, and Linda thinks he was doing that already in April.

When did Danny give up trying to make things work, and decided instead that they were definitely going to split up?

Posted by: Jvat Mar 11 2007, 11:37 AM

What saddens me about all of this and it comes out clearly thru the letters, is that Danny really seemed to be unconcerned about the plight of Nathan. The least that he could have done was appear to be interested in the young man's recovery. All I see in the letters from both Walt and Danny are just issues of control and jumping to judgement. So pathetic. Surely does not reflect too well on either of them. There is no way that he has shown categorically that his wife was not actually involved in discussing issues about her son with the doctor. All I see are accusations that in fact inappropriate talks were taking place, with no apparent proof! What a shame!

Posted by: Pickle Mar 11 2007, 11:47 AM

And it looks like from http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-pile-of-what-02.htm that Danny acknowledges that Linda was innocent at least through the end of March 2004, even when she was planning the alleged vacation to Florida in February with Brenda Walsh.

That web page also refers to another email of September 8, 2004. Wonder when that one will be online?

Posted by: daylily Mar 11 2007, 03:38 PM

If Danny actually did write those two latest emails just posted today, Mar 11, he has got be nuts! That has to be the most infantile writing I have EVER seen from a supposed adult and a Christian one at that.

We must understand how essential it is to diminish the references to Nathan for Danny's camp. Strangely, but it seems like they think that if they do not manage to obscure his involvement they will have a greater problem convincing the world that Linda was all wrong.

I have noted that when some member in a family has a drug problem, everyone is affected. Mom, Dad and any relatives can't think of anything else. It is so disturbing that nothing else matters. And a person thinking romantically about a doctor when her son is on drugs?? Forget that! If Danny wasn't caring, that is a very dysfunctional home.

And I noticed this lack of care from Danny's side clearly already three months before Dr. Arild Abrahamsen arrived at 3ABN. Like both pastor John Lomacang and Dr. Walt Thompson said very early, was that Dr. Abrahamsen arrived so conveniently for Danny to make him his scapegoat to get rid of Linda. Both of these men have probably conveniently forgotten now that they ever said such a thing. But neither I nor Arild Abrahamsen have forgotten their words.

As one who has taken some professional training in treating people with substance abuse (No, I am not an expert in that field.) I can tell you that such treatment is most effective when all close family members are involved in the treatment program. It is a major hinderance to that treatment for a (step)parent to not be involved. Such will place a significant additional burden on the other (step)parent who is cooperating with the treatment program.

I have a question about the email and letter Walt Thompson sent to Linda on May 4, 2004, the full text of which can be seen by the link below.

http://www.save3abn.com/danny-shelton-demise-of-marriage-may-ultimatum.htm

I have just re-read all of the posts made on this thread since the posting of the May 4th ultimatum to Linda over on save3abn.com. Aside from Aletheia's post #80 on page 6, http://www.blacksda.com/forums/index.php?s=&showtopic=12418&view=findpost&p=183814 , where she says:

> QUOTE
>
> Linda didn't reply according to WT, nor did she do anything asked, do you think, maybe, that gave them a clue, to proceed and take it to the full board?

I haven't found anywhere else in this thread where it is stated whether or not the 30-day leave of absence was granted to Linda.

There has been lots of discussion here and verification by both sides that she went to the counselling in Kansas with Danny. Was this as as a result of the ultimatum? Panama_Pete brought up that the employees were told to erase all traces of Linda from 3abn during that 30-day period while Linda was to be reflecting and hopefully changing her course so that her marriage and position could be restored.

Bystander, wwjd, Lee, since you have access to Danny who was actually there during this period and would, therefore, be a first-hand witness, could you please find out for me if Linda's 30-day leave of absence was granted?

Thank you,

t seems self-evident that the 30 day leave of absence with its implied possibility of meaning that Linda could)e restored to 3abn did not happen. From clues in other emails however, it is quite likely that there in ıctuality was no implied posibility of her returning to 3abn... and by this time Danny was telling her verbally hat he wanted her to leave him as well. And yes, I know that is opposite to what he was saying to others at he time.... but he was not consistent in his emails to various people an this matter... sometimes :ontradicting himself in the same email.... or in an email sent a few hours after another.

3ut primarily I want to comment here on the sentence and question that I bolded above. The counseling ;ession in Kansas was one in which both Danny and Linda were present. If you will read the letter from Walt ˉhompson carefully you will note that he specified the specific counselor to which Linda was to go for these 30 lays, Ron and Nancy Rocky, and this was to be a "live in" relationship, not merely a series of counseling ;essions. 30 days incommunicado with anyone other than the Rocky's and her "immediate family". One has to vonder what would have happened to Linda had she chosen to accept this offer.

)ne also has to wonder what the Rocky's knew before they agreed to "open their home to her". They are, ıfter all, reputable counselors who give seminars in Adventist churches. It would, I would think, be of interest o know exactly what they were told and what plans they had for that 30 day period.

ɿotice also that she was free to choose another counselor only if they approved of her choice.

ɿotice also the life-time comment in one part of the ultimatum.

\nd do understand that besides the ultimatums that appear in this letter, there were others that were :onveyed elsewhere. Read this one carefully and do not neglect reading "between the lines". Perhaps ;omeone will share some of the other requirements that accompanied this.

\s for Aletheia's comment.... notice the part that she omitted when she quoted from Thompson's letter.... ncluding promises that he did not keep.

VB, hanks for your clarification about Ron and Nancy Rocky.

oes anyone know when the counselling session in Kansas took place? Was it April, May, or?

ystander, wwjd, Lee, an you add any information about the counselling session in Kansas? Glenetta said there were receipts for his time (her comments were posted by Aletheia). Also, I still would like to know if Linda's 30-day leave of bsence was granted. It seems to me, from all I have read, that she was not in the 3abn area during this ime.

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ How Did 3abn Pass The Test?

Oh...and the next question might be, "How did those other Adventist ministries NOT pass the test?"

I dont think mainstream news will care until this hits the courts. i dont' think the public would care at this point because looking at it all in a 30 sec. segment, which most news does, would only appear as a few speculations of wrongdoing on the part of a few people. right now i dont think there is enough clarification to assure them there would be no libel or slander. know what i mean? mainstream news doesn't care about Adventist, it cares about sensationalism and scandal. now even tho' we believe there is a lot of scandal, we've had to read a lot, hear a lot and observe a lot to bring us to this point. mainstream news won't do that. they will wait until it hits the big civil courts before they will show some interest. that keeps them safe because they will just be reporting the info the courts have before them.

My guess is that ministrywatch.com might be getting a few emails this weekend?

Posted by: Pickle Mar 25 2007, 10:01 AM

As far as mainstream news getting a hold of it goes, the longer the delay of dealing with the issues, the more the chance someone will carry the story. For example, http://search.msn.com/results.aspx?q=3abn lists Save3ABN.com as #5 in a search for 3ABN. That's pretty high for just 2+ months of existence.

Then why did the mainstream news care about the ones in this picture? Attached Image

If it was "sensationalism and scandal" as you say, that they are interested in, then is it "sensationalism and scandal" to not be forthright and honest about where donor monies are going while going round the world in a private jet, having a fancy home, etc. which that article speaks to in specific relationship to TELEVANGELISTS? (And it wasn't a "30 sec. segment", it was a 4-page online article with references and links to specific names of people and ministries on the "watch-list." Of course, if you saw a 30-second segment on this in addition to the online info, you're ahead of me.)

BTW, anyone else recognize any of the faces in that photo? Wonder how we'd feel if another face entered the picture...

Greenings to you, too, Clay...

If it is number 5 that might carry even more weight on a copyright suit.

Some ministries have managed to fly under the radar...key word, "HAVE". Once they are on the radar screen, it's usually the end of the "hiding". God will not protect evil.

Seemed to me the latest records were 3 years old. What will make them up-to-date?

Even then some of the ministries listed are featured on 3ABN:

I ain't even gonna lie. Soon as the report came on I went to search for 3ABN....

Sho' did...

Posted by: princessdi Mar 25 2007, 08:40 PM

I saw part of this report on GMA Friday morning. The whole report was part of the 20/20 to be aired Friday night and was one of three stories where normal everyday people got fed up with certain situations,a nd did something aobut it. One of the others was a woman who was tired of folks in her neighborhood beeing baby mamas and daddys and not being married. She now has hosted at least one ceremony where 10 of these couples are given a wedding.

Those minitries were chosen because the citizen who did the investigation used to contribute to those ministries, and he got fed up with the opulent lifestyles. So it wasn't like a investigation by 20/20, just a regualr citizen. That is probably why 3ABN was not even considered, the mane is not Adventist, and his concern was amongst the evangelicals.

Now, my thoughts on why it hasn't hit the radar at all is that most have been very diligent in getting even GC to look in on BSDA and save2abn.com, did anybody think to call 20/20, primetime, Dateline, 60 Minutes. I dont' think so. Why? My belief is we are more afraid of this reflecting badly upon the Adventist church, than we are of someone who perpetrates these offense in the name of God. We are content to just go along as long as we don't let the world know that we even have dirty laundry let alone air it............so it stays in the dark. The Bible, however, promises that it will come to the light. Bringing these things to light within the church has not gotten any kind of decent response, let alone brought any changes. The way I see it, when the media gets a hold of it, it could be a story of how we dealt positively when we, indeed, had issues within the church, or we can continue on the route on which we are travelling and GC will be scrambling a day late and a dollar short, to get some PR aobut 3ABN being and independent ministry and not an "official part" of the Adventist church and how they just happen to carry every important event to the the church on their netowrk. The mainstream media has not picked up this story because it is not newsworthy. This mostly is about a 3 year old and very stale messy divorce. Please folks, this is not newsworthy to most Adventist, so why would the media care? After over 16,000 post on this subject, there is very little substance here nor any recent developments.

Tommy was found out, but now gone from 3ABN and there where never any charges files, no story here.

From what Fran has presented with the financial irregularities, IMO it is not material to make much diferences, no story here either.

So, somebody tell me where is the story?

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Mar 25 2007, 10:41 PM

Calvin,

Where is the story?

Yes, Tommy was "found out", it appears that charges have yet to be filed and now, like the Catholic Church did when it moved scores of abusive priests to other parishes, Tommy is "gone" from 3abn. And that means there is no story? All that means is that the cover-ups continue to have some success, but for how much longer?

If and when this finally sees the true light of day, IMO, it won't only be the story of a pastor's abuse of power but also how the president of a Christian ministry used his own power and influence to keep the alleged abuse out of the public eye by denial, minimization and intimidation.

The story won't be over until every victim has received Biblical restitution and there is the level of accountability needed to insure that other young men/boys are protected from victimization.

PB, TS was not a priest and 3abn is not a "parish." apples with oranges.

Points taken But I still don't see where TS is a newsworthy story related to 3ABN that merits national attention. The analogy of the Catholic Church does not work for me. The problem was widespread, numerous parishes, not one individual, that is what brought the nation attention.

There is a story here. It played on AToday, BSDA, and maybe can get some press in Thompsonville. But from a practical viewpoint, why would CNN or Time or any other mainstream media care that Danny hired his brother an alleged child molester?

So let me rephrase my question. Where is the mainstream media story?

there isn't one except for those who are into 3abn..... and since it is an independent ministry, the church can distance itself from 3abn anytime it wishes IF say 3abn became bad press.... However some of us were of that opinion from day one....

alvin,
y analogy was that Tommy being "gone" does not solve the problem just as it didn't solve the problem for he RCC to move offending priests from parish to parish. Yes, the vast scale of pedophile priests far outweighs ne protestant pastor but the attempted solution by 3abn was the same. The victims have not been taken are of properly.

ne pastor + x number of victims + the leader of a world wide conservative Christian ministry allegedly overing it up = less than a mainstream media story? Perhaps. But then look at the legs the Haggard story ot.

Posted by: LadyTenor Mar 26 2007, 01:40 PM

Several of you have mentioned that SDA ministries are not mainstream but look closely at the list supplied by MinistryWatch that they have deemed to be "suspect" about making financial records public. I saw three ministries listed with affiliations to the Adventist Church, namely, Amazing Facts, Quiet Hour and Your Story Hour. If I am not mistaken, these are all independent minstries with SDA affiliations.

Therefore there is someone out there who is not connected to the SDA church who has placed these "Adventist" ministries on the list of ministries who are suspect in disclosing financial records.

This does not mean, however, that there is something illegal going on at any of these minstries, or any of the other ones MinistryWatch has placed on their list.

Speed Reader Alert! The following quote is NOT about 3ABN, but about one of its main competitors.

QUOTE

Newly revealed facts and allegations regarding questionable financial transactions at Trinity Broadcasting Network (TBN) – initially reported in the Los Angeles Times – coupled with MinistryWatch.com's previous concerns about the dubious "prosperity theology" often heard on TBN and the unusually large profits and investments generated by TBN's operations, have caused MinistryWatch.com to issue a second Donor Alert for this ministry. Our concerns have only increased as a result of TBN's public response, which is at times both caustic and misleading.

Accordingly, MinistryWatch.com is recommending a dramatic plan of action for the restoration of donor confidence in TBN, the world's largest Christian television network. This plan would allow for a full investigation of the issues by a newly formed, completely independent commission of Christian leaders; for complete financial transparency at TBN to be realized; for a plan of action to be produced to raise the theological, financial, management and governance integrity of TBN to a level equivalent to those of most major Christian ministries; for repentance and restoration to occur for the Crouch family; and, for Paul and Jan Crouch to make restitution to TBN if findings warrant such action. The specific recommendations, which are guided by biblical principles, are found below.

...MinistryWatch.com recommends that TBN's thousands of donors prayerfully consider withholding any future donations to the ministry...

Should ...actions not be taken by the Crouches within a reasonable amount of time, MinistryWatch.com would regrettably have no alternative but to recommend to the IRS and the relevant state attorneys general that a full government-led investigation of the charity be undertaken to ensure that donors are being treated fairly and that the ministry's charitable purpose, rather than the Crouches' reported lavish lifestyle, is being diligently pursued.

A few comments:

1) News is frequently created by the news production team in the absence of any "real" news to fill the air time/space. Having once "made the news", it then has opportunity to be mirrored in other news outlets as being "news." The decision for what is news, and what is not news, then, is often in the subjective hands of the news room producer(s). It usually follows a general set of guidelines, beginning with the all-important question of whether or not this "news" is relevant to the target audience. Once published/broadcast, the news team often receives more information from the public at large about it, and this can fuel the interest and continuation of that topic in subsequent news productions. There are already examples of very similar types of "news" having been presented to the public, such as the case in the above quote, which mentions an article in the LA Times.

2) News, nowadays, is as much online as through other sources. Anyone can be a news writer by simply posting online. Online news can be instantly accessible to the entire world, and no modern news team would choose to deny the importance of the internet for finding and gathering news.

3) Do not underestimate the status of 3ABN in the public eye. It is not necessarily just a "small potato." Note the following quote:

QUOTE

3ABN is the second-largest owner of Low Power TV stations in the U.S. In 2006 their broadcast outlets in the U.S. numbered over 100 stations, and they currently have several more construction permits.

The network also has a large Production Center in Nizhny Novgorod, Russia, and has produced a wide > variety of Russian language television and radio programming since 1993. The programs are aired throughout the Russian-speaking countries on approximately 150 television stations and several satellite channels.

>
> In 1999 and 2000 3ABN expanded into radio and satellite television in Europe, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East. Currently 3ABN is distributed around the world via 8 satellites, and through streaming video and audio on the Internet.
>
> The 3ABN Radio Network is growing rapidly in affiliates due to the FCC allowing for low power FM stations in the United States.

or full article of quote above: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/3ABN

t seems, then, that it may only be the hand of God which keeps 3ABN out of the limelight, either to preserve is honor, or to give more time for certain ones to make things right.

f you are one who needs to make things right, be aware that God is more merciful than His enemy. David, aving wrongly numbered the people, made the choice to fall into the hands of God for his punishment, ather than the hands of the enemy. Will you?
