

96

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ What God Has Pointed Out To Me

Posted by: MsHoly1 Feb 1 2007, 02:37 PM

Hello everyone,

I don't come to this section because, quite frankly, I'm not interested in this unfortunate situation and refuse to let it consume me however, while sitting here, the Lord showed me something and I had to see for myself. He pointed out to me that there are more "posts" and "views" in this section than in the Sabbath School section.

I don't know why He pointed it out to me 'cause I don't post there either but, usually when someone takes time to point something out, it's because it means something to them and maybe He pointed this out because He is displeased with the direction of the conversations and/or the level by which it has gained your attention. Now, I'm not saying you're slacking in your devotions because I don't know any of you but, many of you only joined this board because of the 3ABN thread and to keep up with the drama...and apparently this drama has more appeal than the Sabbath School lesson. That's not good.

I don't know but for those who are very active in this thread, you may need to check yourselves. Be careful what you are saying and guard your heart and thoughts because God knows them as well.

Again, since God pointed it out, tells me He is not pleased and we know from the bible that when God ain't happy, ain't nobody happy.

I'm not trying to kill threads or cause Calvin to lose members. I'm just trying to communicate what God has dropped into my spirit. Hopefully you will receive it and please don't shoot the messenger.

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 02:59 PM

As for myself, I go to another forum in my mother language for Sabbath School and other devotionals, as well as to some others in other languages. English is only my forth language, and I feel more comfortable in the three others.

I come here for the subjects that I can't find in the other ones: to educate myself in better understanding my "black" brothers and sisters, for various other useful informations, good humor and yes, input in a subject that bothers me a lot since I learned about Linda being put away. I find this particular forum totally excellent.

God bless you all!

Posted by: LeePaDee Feb 1 2007, 03:06 PM

I visited the 3ABN threads only once in a while. I cannot get the program here in Prague... so I'm really not interested in ONE MORE scandal in the SDA church. I've been hearing about and seeing

96

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ What God Has Pointed Out To Me

Posted by: MsHoly1 Feb 1 2007, 02:37 PM

Hello everyone,

I don't come to this section because, quite frankly, I'm not interested in this unfortunate situation and refuse to let it consume me however, while sitting here, the Lord showed me something and I had to see for myself. He pointed out to me that there are more "posts" and "views" in this section than in the Sabbath School section.

I don't know why He pointed it out to me 'cause I don't post there either but, usually when someone takes time to point something out, it's because it means something to them and maybe He pointed this out because He is displeased with the direction of the conversations and/or the level by which it has gained your attention. Now, I'm not saying you're slacking in your devotions because I don't know any of you but, many of you only joined this board because of the 3ABN thread and to keep up with the drama...and apparently this drama has more appeal than the Sabbath School lesson. That's not good.

I don't know but for those who are very active in this thread, you may need to check yourselves. Be careful what you are saying and guard your heart and thoughts because God knows them as well.

Again, since God pointed it out, tells me He is not pleased and we know from the bible that when God ain't happy, ain't nobody happy.

I'm not trying to kill threads or cause Calvin to lose members. I'm just trying to communicate what God has dropped into my spirit. Hopefully you will receive it and please don't shoot the messenger.

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 02:59 PM

As for myself, I go to another forum in my mother language for Sabbath School and other devotionals, as well as to some others in other languages. English is only my forth language, and I feel more comfortable in the three others.

I come here for the subjects that I can't find in the other ones: to educate myself in better understanding my "black" brothers and sisters, for various other useful informations, good humor and yes, input in a subject that bothers me a lot since I learned about Linda being put away. I find this particular forum totally excellent.

God bless you all!

Posted by: LeePaDee Feb 1 2007, 03:06 PM

I visited the 3ABN threads only once in a while. I cannot get the program here in Prague... so I'm really not interested in ONE MORE scandal in the SDA church. I've been hearing about and seeing

96

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ What God Has Pointed Out To Me

Posted by: MsHoly1 Feb 1 2007, 02:37 PM

Hello everyone,

I don't come to this section because, quite frankly, I'm not interested in this unfortunate situation and refuse to let it consume me however, while sitting here, the Lord showed me something and I had to see for myself. He pointed out to me that there are more "posts" and "views" in this section than in the Sabbath School section.

I don't know why He pointed it out to me 'cause I don't post there either but, usually when someone takes time to point something out, it's because it means something to them and maybe He pointed this out because He is displeased with the direction of the conversations and/or the level by which it has gained your attention. Now, I'm not saying you're slacking in your devotions because I don't know any of you but, many of you only joined this board because of the 3ABN thread and to keep up with the drama...and apparently this drama has more appeal than the Sabbath School lesson. That's not good.

I don't know but for those who are very active in this thread, you may need to check yourselves. Be careful what you are saying and guard your heart and thoughts because God knows them as well.

Again, since God pointed it out, tells me He is not pleased and we know from the bible that when God ain't happy, ain't nobody happy.

I'm not trying to kill threads or cause Calvin to lose members. I'm just trying to communicate what God has dropped into my spirit. Hopefully you will receive it and please don't shoot the messenger.

Posted by: Grace Feb 1 2007, 02:59 PM

As for myself, I go to another forum in my mother language for Sabbath School and other devotionals, as well as to some others in other languages. English is only my forth language, and I feel more comfortable in the three others.

I come here for the subjects that I can't find in the other ones: to educate myself in better understanding my "black" brothers and sisters, for various other useful informations, good humor and yes, input in a subject that bothers me a lot since I learned about Linda being put away. I find this particular forum totally excellent.

God bless you all!

Posted by: LeePaDee Feb 1 2007, 03:06 PM

I visited the 3ABN threads only once in a while. I cannot get the program here in Prague... so I'm really not interested in ONE MORE scandal in the SDA church. I've been hearing about and seeing

Posted by: Ralph Feb 1 2007, 03:49 PM

QUOTE(MsHoly1 @ Feb 1 2007, 01:37 PM)

I don't know why He pointed it out to me 'cause I don't post there either but, usually when someone takes time to point something out, it's because it means something to them and maybe He pointed this out because He is displeased with the direction of the conversations and/or the level by which it has gained your attention. Now, I'm not saying you're slacking in your devotions because I don't know any of you but, many of you only joined this board because of the 3ABN thread and to keep up with the drama...and apparently this drama has more appeal than the Sabbath School lesson. That's not good.

I don't know but for those who are very active in this thread, you may need to check yourselves. Be careful what you are saying and guard your heart and thoughts because God knows them as well.

When a house is on fire and is endangering everything connected to it, that is of primary focus. Don't ever think that people are not praying as they fight the fire.

Posted by: seraph|m Feb 1 2007, 05:45 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 1 2007, 04:13 PM)

May I respectfully suggest that if you are not interested in this unfortunate situation, and have not come here often enough to understand the burdens of those who ARE interested in it... for each of their various reasons... then you are in no position to be coming here now and making either judgements or appeals to us.

When you have walked in our moccasins through our journey's here... then you will be qualified to come and speak to us.

It could be, you know, that the reason God impressed you to come here was that he wanted you to see what we were going through, and what was being said here. Perhaps he wanted... wants... you to BECOME "interested in this unfortunate situation".

Peace.....

Perhaps you should take your signature line more seriously and personally... I'll bring it here for reference....

Perhaps you should attempt to be part of the solution rather than merely labeling it trash and avoiding it....

This is how change happens: someone hurts, and sooner or later decides to do something about it.--TRAITOR by Matthew Woodring Stover - p.29

People are hurting. People are being hurt. Our whole church is being hurt by the evil that is being covered up at 3abn. "Sooner or later" it has to be dealt with. SOMEBODY has to "do something about it".

Well said. WB

Posted by: Hersheys99 Feb 1 2007, 06:08 PM

Exactly WB..

Good point Ralph!

Posted by: Clay Feb 1 2007, 07:11 PM

contrary to what some may believe God will tell each of us what He wishes.... He has no problem speaking our language, whatever that language might be....

Reminds me of a incident that happened to me years ago.... a patient told me that she was the virgin Mary and that God had told her that she and I must have intercourse so that she could have my child.... after telling me this, she looked directly at me awaiting my response to this message from God..... After a brief pause, I told her that I appreciated the information but until God gave me the same message she would not be bearing my child.... she went on her way....

and thats all I have to say about this.....

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Feb 1 2007, 07:27 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 1 2007, 08:11 PM)

contrary to what some may believe God will tell each of us what He wishes.... He has no problem speaking our language, whatever that language might be....

Reminds me of a incident that happened to me years ago.... a patient told me that she was the virgin Mary and that God had told her that she and I must have intercourse so that she could have my child.... after telling me this, she looked directly at me awaiting my response to this message from God..... After a brief pause, I told her that I appreciated the information but until God gave me the same message she would not be bearing my child.... she went on her way....

and thats all I have to say about this.....

Posted by: calvin Feb 1 2007, 08:00 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Feb 1 2007, 03:13 PM)

When you have walked in our moccasins through our journey's here... then you will be qualified to come and speak to us.

Point of information: Any member can come in any BSDA forum and speak to us. There is no prequalification required.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Feb 1 2007, 09:05 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 1 2007, 08:11 PM)

a patient told me that she was the virgin Mary and that God had told her that she and I must have intercourse so that she could have my child.... after telling me this, she looked directly at me awaiting my response to this message from God..... After a brief pause, I told her that I appreciated the information but until God gave me the same message she would not be bearing my child.... she went on her way....

Posted by: inga Feb 1 2007, 10:42 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Feb 1 2007, 08:11 PM)

contrary to what some may believe God will tell each of us what He wishes.... He has no problem speaking our language, whatever that language might be....

Reminds me of a incident that happened to me years ago.... a patient told me that she was the virgin Mary and that God had told her that she and I must have intercourse so that she could have my child.... after telling me this, she looked directly at me awaiting my response to this message from God..... After a brief pause, I told her that I appreciated the information but until God gave me the same message she would not be bearing my child.... she went on her way....

and thats all I have to say about this.....

Right on, Steve, in all respects!!

So much for self-appointed prophets!

Posted by: Fran Feb 2 2007, 02:09 AM

QUOTE(MsHoly1 @ Feb 1 2007, 02:37 PM)

Hello everyone,

I don't come to this section because, quite frankly, I'm not interested in this unfortunate situation and refuse to let it consume me however, while sitting here, the Lord showed me something and I had to see for myself. He pointed out to me that there are more "posts" and "views" in this section than in the Sabbath School section.

I don't know why He pointed it out to me 'cause I don't post there either  but, usually when someone takes time to point something out, it's because it means something to them and maybe He pointed this out because He is displeased with the direction of the conversations and/or the level by which it has gained your attention. Now, I'm not saying you're slacking in your devotions because I don't know any of you but, many of you only joined this board because of the 3ABN thread and to keep up with the drama...and apparently this drama has more appeal than the Sabbath School lesson. That's not good.

I don't know but for those who are very active in this thread, you may need to check yourselves. Be careful what you are saying and guard your heart and thoughts because God knows them as well.

Again, since God pointed it out, tells me He is not pleased and we know from the bible that when God ain't happy, ain't nobody happy.

I'm not trying to kill threads or cause Calvin to lose members. I'm just trying to communicate what God has dropped into my spirit. Hopefully you will receive it and please don't shoot the messenger.

Your on line name sounds ever so familiar. Even your writing style is familiar. We must have communicated before.

It is encouraging to know that God is speaking to man kind. He speaks to me also.

I went to your website and was glad to see you carry lots of John C Maxwell's books. When I was able to work, I read all of his books and received CD's from InJoy and Maximum Impact. I bought hundreds of gifts to give away for Christmas.

He is profound in his knowledge of the 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership. The Lord spoke to me over and over through the Bible and these books. Another author that has given me much inspiration are books by Ellen G White. I did not find her on your list. I thought for sure I would find her in your list of authors. You might want to sell a few. She wrote a book called the Desire of Ages. I have read this book maybe about 12 times. I read parts of it frequently, but I love reading it cover to cover.

Welcome to BSDA. We seem to be here much more than in the Sabbath School forum because many of us have been spoken to and have been instructed to share with others that we have a wolf in sheep's clothing with-in our church.

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 2 2007, 03:27 AM

MsHoly1- I dont doubt the Lord might have spoken to you, however,it has been my experience that often today people say the lord spoke to them when actually it is them using the lord to express their own feelings. There was a lady in our church that heard the Lord more than Moses. So was this a audible message from the Lord or just a feeling you had? Because unspoken in your post is the veiled implication that the posting here are not from the Lord. I have been to church at times where people would say the Lord told them something when the person just before they spoke said the Lord told them something that is the opposite of what that person is saying.

I am not saying you are using the same tactic as some in leadership do when something does not go their way. However, how many people say the Lord has spoken to them or showed them something when in actuality it is their own vivid imagination. Or it is because they dont agree with something that is being said?

Maybe this topic is more important than the Sabbath School lesson or maybe more needed. After all the Sabbath School has a book and pamphlet and Sabbath School helps that come with it, but the innocent children or adults dont have that. What you dont realize is that if it was not for (or maybe you do) the internet or this forum people would not know what was going on and as in the past the innocent would suffer without a voice (I have personally experienced this in the past). It is past time for this to stop.to much pain and wrongs have been done to people by the professed people of God when in fact they were wolves in sheeps clothing, hiding behind the pretense of religion

Posted by: Denny Feb 2 2007, 04:13 AM

Since there are no rules on how many times one can visit a thread and which thread one can visit I see no reason for the OP comments. Ok that is how she feels then avoid the thread and leave others to decide how often they want to visit the Sabbath School thread or not. Perhaps God has impressed that for you and for you only it is not a good idea to be on this thread but for others it may be very helpful. Reminds me of vegan syndrome - church member believes God impresses them to be a vegan means everyone else must be one as well.....

Posted by: Fran Feb 2 2007, 04:34 AM

QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 2 2007, 03:27 AM)

MsHoly1- I dont doubt the Lord might have spoken to you, however,it has been my experience that often today people say the lord spoke to them when actually it is them using the lord to express their own feelings. There was a lady in our church that heard the Lord more than Moses. So was this a audible message from the Lord or just a feeling you had? Because unspoken in your post is the veiled implication that the posting here are not from the Lord. I have been to church at times where people would say the Lord told them something when the person just before they spoke said the Lord told them something that is the opposite of what that person is saying.

I am not saying you are using the same tactic as some in leadership do when something does not go their way. However, how many people say the Lord has spoken to them or showed them something when in actuality it is their own vivid imagination. Or it is because they dont agree with something that is being said?

Maybe this topic is more important than the Sabbath School lesson or maybe more needed. After all the Sabbath School has a book and pamphlet and Sabbath School helps that come with it, but the innocent children or adults dont have that. What you dont realize is that if it was not for (or maybe you do) the internet or this forum people would not know what was going on and as in the past the innocent would suffer without a voice (I have personally experienced this in the past). It is past time for this to stop.to much pain and wrongs have been done to people by the professed people of God when in fact they were wolves in sheeps clothing, hiding behind the pretense of religion

Oh, Mystery Man; rofl rofl rofl rofl

Now this is funny. I know how you LOVE funny, but most of the time you aren't so funny!

I shall pat myself on the back because you fell for MY bait! Yes, indeed, this is funny. Dogged if I can't pull you out and reveal yourself to me. This was really funny. I'm serious. However, will it get a laugh at the comedy club you frequent? I'll take a stab at that answer ~ NO!

Where is that emocon that is a wolf in sheeps clothing when you need it! That's OK, all you have to do is look into the mirror. You've got more lives than Carter has Liver Pills.

By the way, I liked the web site!

Now don't go away mad! Just go away!

Where is Voltaire when you need him?

Posted by: LeePaDee Feb 2 2007, 12:01 PM

WATCHBIRD WROTE:

Perhaps you should take your signature line more seriously and personally... I'll bring it here for reference....

-----Thanks for your comments, WatchBird. I do take that signature line "more seriously" than you show that you believe I do.

Perhaps you should attempt to be part of the solution rather than merely labeling it trash and avoiding it.....

-----And perhaps you should attempt to let God lead me just as He leads you. THAT is my goal, to follow God's leading in my life.

This is how change happens: someone hurts, and sooner or later decides to do something about it.--TRAITOR by Matthew Woodring Stover - p.29

People are hurting. People are being hurt. Our whole church is being hurt by the evil that is being covered up at 3abn. "Sooner or later" it has to be dealt with. SOMEBODY has to "do something about it".

-----Exactly right, WatchBird. Do what you need to do... I'll do the same.

Posted by: inga Feb 2 2007, 12:34 PM

QUOTE(mystery- man @ Feb 2 2007, 04:27 AM)

MsHoly1- I dont doubt the Lord might have spoken to you, however, it has been my experience that often today people say the lord spoke to them when actually it is them using the lord to express their own feelings. There was a lady in our church that heard the Lord more than Moses. So was this a audible message from the Lord or just a feeling you had? Because unspoken in your post is the veiled implication that the posting here are not from the Lord. I have been to church at times where people would say the Lord told them something when the person just before they spoke said the Lord told them something that is the opposite of what that person is saying.

I am not saying you are using the same tactic as some in leadership do when something does not go their way. However, how many people say the Lord has spoken to them or showed them something when in actuality it is their own vivid imagination. Or it is because they dont agree with something that is being said?

Maybe this topic is more important than the Sabbath School lesson or maybe more needed. After all the Sabbath School has a book and pamphlet and Sabbath School helps that come with it, but the innocent children or adults dont have that. What you dont realize is that if it was not for (or maybe you do) the internet or this forum people would not know what was going on and as in the past the innocent would suffer without a voice (I have personally experienced this in the past). It is past time for this to stop. too much pain and wrongs have been done to people by the professed people of God when in fact they were wolves in sheeps clothing, hiding behind the pretense of religion

Mystery man, thanks for your thoughtful, restrained postings. I suspect Fran read hastily and forgot to whom she was replying -- which would explain her reply to you.

With emotions running so high here, we could use a few more restrained posts like yours to anchor the thread. So please don't be discouraged because someone mis-read your post, and keep posting.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Feb 2 2007, 12:50 PM mystery-man, you hit the nail soundly on the head(several times!) as did watchbird.

MsHoly1, I have a burden on my heart, that I believe the Lord put there, to do whatever I can to help expose the truth about the victimization of young people and the subsequent coverup and intimidations that "rub salt" in the wounds of the victims.

Posted by: mystery- man Feb 4 2007, 11:05 PM

Fran? Please explain your post. Did I miss something?

Powered by Invision Power Board (<http://www.invisionboard.com>)
© Invision Power Services (<http://www.invisionpower.com>)