BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ The (un)fantastic Four!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Jan 17 2007, 08:54 PM

I'm sure that many of you know that there are four people who would be most eager in the case of Dan's dismissal. Over the last couple of years all of the departments have been divided among them.

First, we have the Steensons, that's Hal and Mollie.

Next, we have the Quinn's, that's J.D. and Shelley.

Boy are we in for a treat! Not only one Queen Bee, but 2! Oh - and don't forget the drunk.

It is normally stated that he "has a problem with alcohol.... lost his former church because of that "problem".... and others that sprang from it.

Hal Steenson is the one with the problem. I've heard that Mollie does too (from a very close friend of her family), but that she hides it better than Hal.

So who sees him when he purchases his liquor. How does he get it.

Perhaps "eye witness" will refute this?

Let me ask you. When was the last time you went to 3ABN? When was the last time you talked to anyone there, personally? I have been a volunteer at 3ABN for almost eleven years. I know all the people you are talking about. I also know that you don't. That is obvious from your statements. I know Danny well. He knows me. I know Millie and Hal. They know me. My wife and I have had dinner with them more than once. If you REALLY want to know what is going on at 3ABN, I suggest you go there. Talk to the people who work there. Get acquainted. You might be in for a surprise. Ask ANYone there if they know Harold.

HaroldT...you new. Welcome!

Now...

Go read the "pinned" 3ABN threads...then comment....

Not telling you not to comment. Just telling you to read everything first - then comment.

Welcome Harold. Knowing that you have been volunteering at 3abn (something I often wished I could do) for almost 11 years you will bring a valuable perspective to this forum! Has this been full time volunteering or, like many retirees, periods of time between travels, etc?

As others have suggested, it would be good to get some background here. I will let you know that the member, husbandoftheyear (or HODY as we like to call him) that your above response it directed to is an actual employee of 3abn so he does know the folks he is talking about.

Contrary to what some may have suggested to you, this forum is not a smear or slander idle chat place. We are about bringing truth forward, providing comfort and open arms to injured lambs and and honoring our Father in Heaven. We are all individuals, some who get quite fiesty at times, but have the same goal.

So, HaroldT, welcome and now let's all get to know each other!

No he is not sure of that...Notice...he didn't say he saw him do it..he was answering "he went to the store and bought it" in his sarcastic way. Treneice, I have heard Hal's testimony. He is very open that he used to have a drinking problem but by the grace of God he is an overcomer. I say praise God to that and can't believe that hoty is getting down low enough to call anyone a drunk.

Harold, You say you have volunteered at 3ABN for 11 years and are personally acquainted with the people being attacked on this forum. I read that already, they have told you to read the threads of this forum to find out truth. They actually think that what has been posted here should supersede your own first hand experience. Their philospfy is believe what they write not what you see and experience for yourself.

As you read the attacks that have been made you will draw your own conclusions if this really is a place for the "hurting and broken."

Harold, you obviously have not read the posts very well. I have been an employee at 3ABN for many years and knew of Hal, Mollie, Dan, & Linda before 3ABN. Perhaps it is you who would be "in for a surprise" to know what lies beneath the exteriors. Being at the station does not necessarily give you any more information than the rest of the population. I'm sorry that you may find out that things are not what they seem.

"First hand" experience is is really an obscure term in this sense. Do you think that everyone at 3ABN has seen Hal during one of his episodes? There are a hundred people passing through that station everyday, and almost everyone of our volunteers work in the call center, which is away from the administration building altogether. What would you expect people to find out there anyway? Do you think that Hal is going to offer Harold a drink?

(BTW, the last episode of Hal's was not "years" ago, it was in 2006...not that long ago.)

Recovery sometimes includes "falling off the wagon." The important thing is ask forgiveness, pick yourself up and head down the "sober road" again. I am glad he had the courage to do that. Hoty how many times have you given in to a temptation only to be sorry get forgiveness and head down the straight and narrow once again. Would you like your sins and failures to be posted here on the web for everyone to see?

I agree with you, Bystander, it is not for anyone's sins to be exploited.

It is rather unpleasant for me to think of how a ministry would be run by someone who cannot keep certain problems under control though, and I believe that the thread was about the question of control over the ministry.

He has not witnesses anything of relevance like I am sure you are referring to. Somewhere along the lines of his career at 3abn he has felt that he hasn't been given a fair shake, or his valuable input has been ignored, or he has taken a "dressing down" from someone in administration (maybe more than once) or maybe he has not moved up in the ranks like he felt he should.

Every business/organization has these kinds of employees, disgruntled, unhappy, maybe fired for something and this forum has given those people a place to come to get a little "revenge" so to speak. To say things that they didn't have the courage to say to the higher ups when they were there...or in the case of hoty, doesn't have the courage while he is still there.

This kind of thing is very common, happens all the time.

I bet you are on your hands and knees praying that I'll answer these questions! Let me reword your statement.

Is HOTY in lower or upper management?

Has HOTY ever been suspended, fired, or in an uproar over any event?

Has HOTY ever had an argument with administration?

HOTY must be a disgruntled employee, so what he says is out of revenge...don't believe him!

Keep on going, maybe I'll fall for it next time!

I know this is off topic, but as I got to thinking about former volunteers and employees, does anyone know how Mom Ford is?

Quite a while back I suggested that this might all be Mom Ford's fault because she had told Danny how she disliked some of the songs Linda was singing. I had merely mention this - more or less in fun - to a good friend of one of Mom Ford's relatives. Well, shortly after that Mom Ford packed her suitcase and left her gorgeous mansion to Pastor John Lomacang.

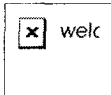

Mom Ford is a great woman, and she dedicated her strength at her high age to opening up all the envelopes as they arrived from the post office. She sat there by her small table doing her work meticulously. Sister gives a remarkable account of how the money flowed through her hands into the coffers.

This Mom Ford received us sinners and saints with a hearty welcome to her castle. I enjoyed visiting with her, and also enjoying the beauty of nature and view of the lake. I hope someone has a good report of how she is doing now back in California.

he can hide his identity because he chooses too.... Programming better? based on what objective criteria? high donations simply mean that someone is good at raising money. It does not mean that what is going on is correct or sanctioned by God... You have not read nearly enough.....

Harold.

Harold, you may have seen me while I was there at 3ABN. Was it you who drove us to the airport once?

The other day I met some members of a 3ABN fan/support group. They lamented that 3ABN now is a dim shadow of what it was three years ago. And I have met several others saying the same. So it depends on what you are looking for.

I can merely speak for myself, Harold. I have no ax to grind. It did not hurt me that Danny fired me because I refused to cover his track with a lie, because I have served my Lord as a pastor in His Church for half a century. What really hurts me is when I discovered that this valuable tool which could be such a great blessing is led by the greatest liar I have met in my 50+ years of ministry. And that he divorced his wife of almost 20 years based on false testimony. Such actions cannot be blessed by the Lord. Responsible people must be accountable or leave the work they are doing.

You may have been fed by several stories of what Linda did, but have you checked if they are true? I still have not heard one on this issue from 3ABN that's true, and I have been in a position to check them and see if they are true.

The trouble is that so many people see only what is presented on 3ABN, or they read the messages that 3ABN has published and sent out. These people believe Danny is telling the truth - and this is making a great problem for the Seventh-day Adventist Church. If the leadership does something to Danny too many will believe he is being persecuted and lose confidence in our Church.

I know that some of these leaders feel the best thing that can be done is that those of us who have been eye witnesses and know the truth about this matter, that we keep witnessing and letting people know what is the truth through these media. You may feel that some of us are getting too eager?

What do you do when people are not willing to listen but prefer following cunning fables?

I cannot reveal my identity to you or anyone else while I am still employed there. And, yes, you know me and I know you. Now to your questions...

Let me ask you. What is the purpose of 3ABN?

The purpose of 3ABN is to help spread the gospel into all the world.

Is that purpose being fulfilled?

Yes, 3ABN is broadcast to almost anywhere.

Is there any way you could NOT notice that the programming is better now than it has been in years?

I do not believe the programming is better. In trying to make it better, it has simply gotten more expensive to produce, so reruns are showing more than ever before.

Don't you watch it enough to know that donations are the highest they have ever been?

I watch it and have never seen the accounting reports on air. Dan does SAY that the donations are up...

I have read enough of these posts to see that someone has an ax to grind and chose to do it here. Harold.

Quite frankly, Harold, you will believe what you wish, or what you've been told. Please feel free to read all of my posts. If you do, you will see that I have posted multiple times that I love 3ABN and the work that it is doing. It is the corrupt administration that I would like to see removed. I know that in what you've seen, it would seem impossible to think that what is said on here is true. I came on BSDA to see if anything on here matched what I knew and was completely shocked to find out that there was even more going on! If you do your own research you may come to the same conclusions.

I wonder how you would be treated if you stopped paying the bills?
