

Printable Version of Topic

Click here to view this topic in its original format

BlackSDA _ 3ABN _ I Will Wait Patiently...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 18 2006, 10:31 PM

Okay - Okay

I keep reading that we need to wait just a few days for a big revelation at 3ABN.

Well I for one am getting antsy. So what gives? Is it happening or not?

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 18 2006, 10:35 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 18 2006, 09:31 PM)

Okay - Okay

I keep reading that we need to wait just a few days for a big revelation at 3ABN.

Well I for one am getting antsy. So what gives? Is it happening or not?

Now HOTY, you know patience is a Virtue? Don't you want to be virtuous?

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 18 2006, 10:41 PM

QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 18 2006, 11:35 PM)

Now HOTY, you know patience is a Virtue? Don't you want to be virtuous?

Darn - I know the correct answer - but I just don't wanna!

Posted by: princessdi Sep 18 2006, 10:50 PM

Breathe, HOTY, Breathe....You can do it....Breathe.....

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 18 2006, 08:41 PM)

Darn - I know the correct answer - but I just don't wanna!

Posted by: västergötland Sep 19 2006, 12:52 AM

Im wondering, if someone prophesies that within so and so many days X is going to happen and then so and so many days goes past and double that and X has still not happened. Then, is the prophet or the prophecy wrong? Would such cast doubt on the prophet when the prophecies do not add up? Does it make a difference what the circumstances are?

Questions, questions...

Posted by: Johann Sep 19 2006, 06:53 AM

QUOTE(västergötland @ Sep 19 2006, 08:52 AM)

Im wondering, if someone prophesies that within so and so many days X is going to happen and then so and so many days goes past and double that and X has still not happened. Then, is the prophet or the prophecy wrong? Would such cast doubt on the prophet when the prophecies do not add up? Does it make a difference what the circumstances are?

Questions, questions...

I merely get a glimpse of what is going on, watching through a slit from the outside. I now see a delay, partly due to technical problems. . .

Posted by: justme Sep 19 2006, 07:55 AM

If it happens too soon will it affect the meeting at PMC?

Do they still need 3ABN to finish taping and broadcasting the "Most Amazing Prophecies"?

Posted by: Freedom Sep 19 2006, 07:59 AM

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 19 2006, 05:53 AM)

I merely get a glimpse of what is going on, watching through a slit from the outside. I now see a delay, partly due to technical problems. . .

And those technical problems are?

Posted by: Johann Sep 19 2006, 08:01 AM

QUOTE(justme @ Sep 19 2006, 03:55 PM)

If it happens too soon will it affect the meeting at PMC?

Do they still need 3ABN to finish taping and broadcasting the "Most Amazing Prophecies"?

All of the equipment and staff are still there. One person is not indispensable.

Posted by: caribbean sda Sep 19 2006, 08:31 AM

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 19 2006, 11:01 AM)

All of the equipment and staff are still there. One person is not indispensable.

so true, Johann...God's work WILL continue with or without 3ABN. There is no denying that 3ABN is a great avenue for reaching souls with the Gospel of Jesus Christ...but it is not the only vehicle that can be used for this purpose.

I know that here in the Virgin Islands, the church members are blissfully unaware of all the "behind the scenes" goings on at 3ABN. They knew Dan and Linda had split up...and they now know that he has married a much younger wife...but I'm not sure that they are aware of the "spiritual adultery" reason that has been offered as the motive for the break between Danny and Linda. The rumor here was that Linda left Danny and ran off with someone. I don't know how it got started or how it made its way to the Virgin Islands...but the brethren here are still watching and financially supporting 3ABN.

3ABN is very, very popular here. Both local cable systems in the VI are carrying 3ABN, and a local Christian radio station (owned by an Adventist) is a 3ABN radio affiliate. I have personally received calls in the media ministry department of my church from non-SDAs who, after watching various programs on the network, are interested in further study and materials...but that doesn't negate the fact that the house of 3ABN needs to be put in order.

Posted by: watchbird Sep 19 2006, 09:12 AM

QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Sep 19 2006, 08:31 AM)

so true, Johann...God's work WILL continue with or without 3ABN. There is no denying that 3ABN is a great avenue for reaching souls with the Gospel of Jesus Christ...but it is not the only vehicle that can be used for this purpose.

I know that here in the Virgin Islands, the church members are blissfully unaware of all the "behind the scenes" goings on at 3ABN. They knew Dan and Linda had split up...and they now know that he has married a much younger wife...but I'm not sure that they are aware of the "spiritual adultery" reason that has been offered as the motive for the break between Danny and Linda. The rumor here was that Linda left Danny and ran off with someone. I don't know how it got started or how it made its way to the Virgin Islands...but the brethren here are still watching and financially supporting 3ABN.

It got started by the announcements made on the 3ABN website at the time, and explicitly on worldwide TV by Danny himself. Probably a most significant moment came at the June 2004 3ABN Campmeeting when Danny pointed to Johann and Arild in the congregation, calling them "demons", the men who had "stolen my wife from me", and then turned to Mark Finley and asked him to pray that God would bring Linda back to him. We now know, of course, that Linda had not even left Danny at that time..... that she was only not at the campmeeting because Danny had made it very plain that he wanted her to be absent. And we also know that the two men were a very well respected and proper Adventist administrator and doctor, respectively. And that Danny in fact was trying to get rid of Linda and did not even want Mark's prayer to be answered affirmatively. But how could the congregation know that.... either the one physically at the 3ABN Campmeeting or those watching live all around the world. How would ANY of us know the truth had not Johann been willing to stand up.... and keep standing up.... for Linda not only then, but until this very day!

QUOTE

3ABN is very, very popular here. Both local cable systems in the VI are carrying 3ABN, and a local Christian radio station (owned by an Adventist) is a 3ABN radio affiliate. I have personally received calls in the media ministry department of my church from non-SDAs who, after watching various programs on the network, are interested in further study and materials...but that doesn't negate the fact that the house of 3ABN needs to be put in order.

I think you have demonstrated one reason that we have to continue to spread the word of truth about 3ABN so that more may hear things gradually rather than being hit with a larger shock than they can handle. So patience is still the order of the day ... so sorry HOTY I also am one who tends to pray the "patience prayer" in terms of "Lord GIVE me PATIENCE.... RIGHT NOW!"

But as we said so often a few months ago and have neglected to reiterate recently the wheels of justice grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small. Justice will come. God does rule. There are many aspects to the "grinding process" that we cannot be privy to, nor can we make public all that we know is going on. Our role is to keep spreading the information, a little bit at a time, as people can bear it. When the time is right, God will bring about a more drastic information explosion, and finally an even more action oriented "explosion".

In the meantime, do not weary. We know Whose side we are on. And we know He will not forever allow his name to be "taken in vain" as we have seen it handled at 3ABN ... and not only merely by Danny Shelton.

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 19 2006, 06:53 AM)

I merely get a glimpse of what is going on, watching through a slit from the outside. I now see a delay, partly due to technical problems. . .

QUOTE(Freedom @ Sep 19 2006, 07:59 AM)

And those technical problems are?

Well maybe "technical" wasn't the best choice of words. Not sure how to supply a better word though, without telling Danny too much. So perhaps we should just say once again it's a matter of waiting and using the time to develop our patience.

Posted by: messenger Sep 19 2006, 09:54 AM

About patience - here is practical definition:

Patience is accepting a difficult situation without giving God a deadline to remove it.

Yet, the cry from the hearts of many of those who have been wounded and hurt by the 3abn "steamroller" is still, How long, O Lord, holy and true, doest thou not judge....? (see Revelation 6:10).

What an opportunity to join in intercessory prayer for the convicting power of the Holy Spirit as sin, wrong, and injustice are being exposed. Remember, sin is like a cancer...it is not until it is diagnosed that it can be treated. Only when sin and wrong are exposed can Jesus as our Great Physician bring healing. This applies to both individuals, organizations, and movements. When sin is deliberately hidden and covered up, God cannot be glorified. But when sin is acknowledged, confessed, and repented of - then God can truly be glorified. Isn't this also part of the three angels' messages - Fear God, and give glory to Him, for the hour of His judgment is come?

Let not anyone proclaiming the "judgment hour message" resist when the judgment comes to their own house.

About patience - here is practical definition:

Patience is accepting a difficult situation without giving God a deadline to remove it.

Yet, the cry from the hearts of many of those who have been wounded and hurt by the 3abn "steamroller" is still, How long, O Lord, holy and true, doest thou not judge....? (see Revelation 6:10).

What an opportunity to join in intercessory prayer for the convicting power of the Holy Spirit as sin, wrong, and injustice are being exposed. Remember, sin is like a cancer...it is not until it is diagnosed that it can be treated. Only when sin and wrong are exposed can Jesus as our Great Physician bring healing. This applies to both individuals, organizations, and movements. When sin is deliberately hidden and covered up, God cannot be glorified. But when sin is acknowledged, confessed, and repented of - then God can truly be glorified. Isn't this also part of the three angels' messages - Fear God, and give glory to Him, for the hour of His judgment is come?

Let not anyone proclaiming the "judgment hour message" resist when the judgment comes to their own house.

Posted by: Green Cochoa Sep 19 2006, 10:03 AM

Quote for the day:

QUOTE

"In the annals of human history, the growth of nations, the rise and fall of empires, appear as if dependent on the will and prowess of man; the shaping of events seems, to a great degree, to be determined by his power, ambition, or caprice. But in the word of God the curtain is drawn aside, and we behold, above, behind, and through all the play and counterplay of human interest and power and passions, the agencies of the All-merciful One, silently, patiently working out the counsels of His own will." -- Prophets and Kings, 499

Now THAT'S a promise!

Posted by: Uncle Sam Sep 19 2006, 11:34 AM

I must say, I am still not sure who is telling the truth. When I read here I can see where this could be true than I hear the ther side and I can see their side. It is all very confusing for me. I wish all of this would come to a head so it could be easier to see. One thing that I struggle with is, at "the campmeeting" and shortly thereafter, Danny looked sincerely sad and hurt, is he THAT good of an actor?

Posted by: watchbird Sep 19 2006, 11:39 AM

QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Sep 19 2006, 11:34 AM)

I must say, I am still not sure who is telling the truth. When I read here I can see where this could be true than I hear the ther side and I can see their side. It is all very confusing for me. I wish all of this would come to a head so it could be easier to see. One thing that I struggle with is, at "the campmeeting" and shortly thereafter, Danny looked sincerely sad and hurt, is he THAT good of an actor?

Yes, indeed.

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 19 2006, 11:40 AM

QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Sep 19 2006, 09:34 AM)

I must say, I am still not sure who is telling the truth. When I read here I can see where this could be true than I hear the ther side and I can see their side. It is all very confusing for me. I wish all of this would come to a head so it could be easier to see. One thing that I struggle with is, at "the campmeeting" and shortly thereafter, Danny looked sincerely sad and hurt, is he THAT good of an actor?

Uncle Sam,
I hear you!

Posted by: caribbean sda Sep 19 2006, 11:54 AM

QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Sep 19 2006, 02:34 PM)

One thing that I struggle with is, at "the campmeeting" and shortly thereafter, Danny looked sincerely sad and hurt, is he THAT good of an actor?

When you consider all that he stands to lose...

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 19 2006, 07:29 PM

QUOTE(Uncle Sam @ Sep 19 2006, 12:34 PM)

I must say, I am still not sure who is telling the truth. When I read here I can see where this could be true than I hear the ther side and I can see their side. It is all very confusing for me. I wish all of this would come to a head so it could be easier to see. One thing that I struggle with is, at "the campmeeting" and shortly thereafter, Danny looked sincerely sad and hurt, is he THAT good of an actor?

Remember - he has had 20 years to perfect his skill.

Posted by: Clay Sep 19 2006, 07:47 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 19 2006, 07:29 PM)

Remember - he has had 20 years to perfect his skill.

are we not all actors, and isn't life but a stage....

Posted by: Johann Sep 20 2006, 02:05 AM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 19 2006, 06:31 AM)

Okay - Okay

I keep reading that we need to wait just a few days for a big revelation at 3ABN.

Well I for one am getting antsy. So what gives? Is it happening or not?

What do I see when peeking through the slit today? Several Scripture references come to mind of which I see a fulfillment, even if not all can be revealed yet.

Matt. 7:21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.

I see glimpses of conversion where someone turns completely around and gives a true testimony. It seems like I see the gnashing of teeth and wish that the mountains fall down and cover those who do not repent from their deception. . . There is still an opportunity to repent and start telling the truth. Rely on God's mercy and conversion.

Posted by: howdy Sep 20 2006, 03:05 PM

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 20 2006, 03:05 AM)

What do I see when peeking through the slit today? Several Scripture references come to mind of which I see a fulfillment, even if not all can be revealed yet.

Matt. 7:21 Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?

23 And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.

I see glimpses of conversion where someone turns completely around and gives a true testimony. It seems like I see the gnashing of teeth and wish that the mountains fall down and cover those who do not repent from their deception. . . There is still an opportunity to repent and start telling the truth. Rely on God's mercy and conversion.

I for one am becoming skeptcal of Johann. Now we are seeing riddles. Cant help but wonder can we if he actually knows something

howdy

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 20 2006, 03:14 PM

QUOTE(howdy @ Sep 20 2006, 02:05 PM)

I for one am becoming skeptcal of Johann. Now we are seeing riddles. Cant help but wonder can we if he actually knows something

howdy

Try not to be skeptical...there is nothing to be skeptical over. Just be patient, all things in their right time. The "delay" is actually a good thing!

Posted by: Clay Sep 20 2006, 03:22 PM

QUOTE(howdy @ Sep 20 2006, 04:05 PM)

I for one am becoming skeptcal of Johann. Now we are seeing riddles. Cant help but wonder can we if he actually knows something

howdy

howdy,

I use to ask when is all this going to happen, I have learned to ignore the predictions..... time will tell.... asking won't make it happen any sooner, that is IF anything is going to happen.... but that's just me....

Posted by: Observer Sep 20 2006, 06:26 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 20 2006, 02:22 PM)

howdy,

I use to ask when is all this going to happen, I have learned to ignore the predictions..... time will tell.... asking won't make it happen any sooner, that is IF anything is going to happen.... but that's just me....

Honest people, with knowledge of what is going on are making predictions. However, the situation is developing every day. New information is coming to light. As it does, further time has to elapse to integrate it into the whole. The result is that time-lines are pushed back.

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 20 2006, 06:32 PM

QUOTE(Observer @ Sep 20 2006, 05:26 PM)

Honest people, with knowledge of what is going on are making predictions. However, the situation is developing every day. New information is coming to light. As it does, further time has to elapse to integrate it into the whole. The result is that time-lines are pushed back.

Posted by: Clay Sep 20 2006, 06:37 PM

QUOTE(Observer @ Sep 20 2006, 07:26 PM)

Honest people, with knowledge of what is going on are making predictions. However, the situation is developing every day. New information is coming to light. As it does, further time has to elapse to integrate it into the whole. The result is that time-lines are pushed back.

yeah yeah yeah..... making predictions, after predictions, after predictions... that would make the one predicting either a false prophet or a tease....

resist the urge to predict... when it happens, it will happen... if it will happen....

Posted by: sister Sep 20 2006, 06:56 PM

QUOTE(Observer @ Sep 20 2006, 07:26 PM) □

Honest people, with knowledge of what is going on are making predictions. However, the situation is developing every day. New information is coming to light. As it does, further time has to elapse to integrate it into the whole. The result is that time-lines are pushed back.

When new developments occur that change a time-line, questions may arise concerning the reliability of the messenger. This is why it is not always wise to make predictions in regard to when an event will occur. In this case, perhaps out of his own excitement and desire to share information, Johann has jumped the gun a bit in predicting when a major announcement in regard to 3ABN would occur. That doesn't alter the fact that an announcement will be made concerning 3ABN. When will it occur? It might be better to just stop speculating on a specific time for now and say it will be made when the information is available.

This incident should give no one cause to question Johann's truthfulness concerning testimonies he has made concerning what he has personally experienced in the 3ABN saga. I believe his intentions were honorable, but his announcement was premature because of circumstances beyond his control.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 20 2006, 07:25 PM

First - I trust Johann as well as others who post here on the inside of what is happening with 3ABN and have not questioned the validity of the information. I also understand there could be developments in this "case" which would cause things to be held up. However, it is difficult to hear so much about things unraveling but not see the results nor be able to be let in on the details (which will never be revealed by 3ABN you must know).

Of course for people who know what's happening it does seem that it would be much easier to be patient. All the steps are logical because they know what's happening while others don't know the day to day developments because of the need to keep them quiet for now.

I can't see that if we were within days of hearing an announcement - that 3ABN administration had to obviously be aware of - that total secrecy is still necessary. Can't some of the details be let out of the bag?

Just asking - no ulterior motive...

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 20 2006, 07:28 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 20 2006, 06:25 PM)

First - I trust Johann as well as others who post here on the inside of what is happening with 3ABN and have not questioned the validity of the information. I also understand there could be developments in this "case" which would cause things to be held up. However, it is difficult to hear so much about things unraveling but not see the results nor be able to be let in on the details (which will never be revealed by 3ABN you must know).

Of course for people who know what's happening it does seem that it would be much easier to be patient. All the steps are logical because they know what's happening while others don't know the day to day developments because of the need to keep them quiet for now.

I can't see that if we were within days of hearing an announcement - that 3ABN administration had to obviously be aware of - that total secrecy is still necessary. Can't some of the details be let out of the bag?

Just asking - no ulterior motive...

HOTY HOTY HOTY....

Posted by: calvin Sep 20 2006, 07:58 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 20 2006, 08:25 PM)

Can't some of the details be let out of the bag?

Wow, this anticipation, like waiting for the second coming!

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Sep 20 2006, 08:36 PM

At least at the 2nd coming we know WHAT will happen With this situation we don't know what OR when

Richard

Posted by: calvin Sep 20 2006, 08:50 PM

You got that right Richard!

Posted by: watchbird Sep 20 2006, 09:00 PM

QUOTE(calvin @ Sep 20 2006, 07:58 PM)

Wow, this anticipation, like waiting for the second coming!

Ah yes ... the Blessed Hope ... for which we all await, and which has been announced as "soon" ever since the time of Paul the Apostle.

But it is sure..... and it is also sure that all wickedness will meet its complete end at that time.

Will some wickedness be brought to an end before that time? Will God act in magnificent and obvious ways as he did in the days of Korah or Annanias and Sapphira, or Herod, who allowed people to acclaim him as speaking with the voice of God?

Or will God allow wickedness to work itself out to the end, providing a testing ground for some, a stumbling block for others, and in general demonstrating how evil looks when clothed in "garments of light". After all, God said it would happen..... so someone has to do it.

It's one of those "stay tuned" situations.

TVsnack.

But really ... Psalm 73 says it all.

Posted by: calvin Sep 20 2006, 10:28 PM

You got quite a flare for words there Watchbird and an imagination too. Never would have read all this into whatever is suppose to be coming about 3ABN.

Posted by: howdy Sep 20 2006, 10:42 PM

sigh

Posted by: västergötland Sep 20 2006, 11:52 PM

QUOTE(calvin @ Sep 21 2006, 03:58 AM)

Wow, this anticipation, like waiting for the second coming!

It would have been a good thing if the second coming where to create this much anticipation. And perhaps it would be a good thing if the 3abn story would experience the kind of fatigue that the expectation of the second coming is experiencing..

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 21 2006, 08:31 AM

QUOTE(västergötland @ Sep 21 2006, 12:52 AM)

It would have been a good thing if the second coming where to create this much anticipation. And perhaps it would be a good thing if the 3abn story would experience the kind of fatigue that the expectation of the second coming is experiencing..

What I keep thinking back to is the origianl statement which claimed that Linda had already been vindicated, "Linda HAS been vindicated!"

If that is the case and the vindication has happened (and it isn't some sort of self-vindication) then why can it not be public knowledge - or why isn't it already public knowledge. It seems that the public would need to know for it to be a real vindication.

- fhb

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 21 2006, 08:38 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 21 2006, 07:31 AM)

What I keep thinking back to is the origianl statement which claimed that Linda had already been vindicated, "Linda HAS been vindicated!"

Whatever you do, don't stop thinking...

If that is the case and the vindication has happened (and it isn't some sort of self-vindication) then why can it not be public knowledge - or why isn't it already public knowledge. It seems that the public would need to know for it to be a real vindication.

I thought the name of this thread was "I will wait patiently"?
Have you ever thought about all the things you don't know about yet, that you will know at some point? Is a pot of stew done when all the ingredients are first tossed into the pot and the heat is just turned on?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 21 2006, 08:47 AM fhb>What I keep thinking back to is the origianl statement which claimed that Linda had already been vindicated, "Linda HAS been vindicated!"

QUOTE

ssom>>Whatever you do, don't stop thinking...

fhb>If that is the case and the vindication has happened (and it isn't some sort of self-vindication) then why can it not be public knowledge - or why isn't it already public knowledge. It seems that the public would need to know for it to be a real vindication.

ssom>>I thought the name of this thread was "I will wait patiently"?
Have you ever thought about all the things you don't know about yet, that you will know at some point? Is a pot of stew done when all the ingredients are first tossed into the pot and the heat is just turned on?

Either she has or she hasn't. If she hasn't then there is nothing to tell and people need to "fess up." If she has then it should be public knowledge.

Please don't get me wrong, I am not waiting on pins and needles. Personally, I don't believe anything of significance has happened - but people are being "mesmerized" with tantalizing "prophesies" and cryptic comments designed to titillate. To quote Bill Moyers:

"Once you decide to titillate instead of illuminate... you create a climate of expectation that requires a higher and higher level of intensity."

- fhb

- fhb

Posted by: västergötland Sep 21 2006, 08:51 AM

How long does it take to cook a 3abn stew?

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 21 2006, 08:53 AM

QUOTE(västergötland @ Sep 21 2006, 07:51 AM)

How long does it take to cook a 3abn stew?

Until it's done.

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 21 2006, 09:06 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 21 2006, 07:47 AM)

Either she has or she hasn't. If she hasn't then there is nothing to tell and people need to "fess up." If she has then it should be public knowledge.

Please don't get me wrong, I am not waiting on pins and needles. Personally, I don't believe anything of significance has happened - but people are being "mesmerized" with tantalizing "prophesies" and cryptic comments designed to titillate. To quote Bill Moyers:

"Once you decide to titillate instead of illuminate... you create a climate of expectation that requires a higher and higher level of intensity."

- fhb

- fhb

Will it help you for me to say "yes, she is being vindicated" but "no, you can't know everything you want to know at this point"? No matter what anybody tells you or anyone, it won't change anything at this minute.

You can believe what you want, either way - that nothing of significance has happened or that people are being mesmerized etc. It makes no difference. Truth is truth, it is coming together. And it would have been a wise thing for Danny and the Board to have never done this in the first place, because it will be much worse now.

Human beings are impatient. It's never easy to wait. It's like knowing you are getting something for Christmas because you saw the wrapped box in your parents closet and you are just dieing to open it, you don't know what's inside....but you still have to wait. There is no harm in anticipation or waiting. And if you don't want to your present, you don't have to take it. It is still there, none the less.

Posted by: justme Sep 21 2006, 09:18 AM

QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 21 2006, 11:06 AM) □

Will it help you for me to say "yes, she is being vindicated" but "no, you can't know everything you want to know at this point"? No matter what anybody tells you or anyone, it won't change anything at this minute.

You can believe what you want, either way - that nothing of significance has happened or that people are being mesmerized etc. It makes no difference. Truth is truth, it is coming together. And it would have been a wise thing for Danny and the Board to have never done this in the first place, because it will be much worse now.

Human beings are impatient. It's never easy to wait. It's like knowing you are getting something for Christmas because you saw the wrapped box in your parents closet and you are just dieing to open it, you don't know what's inside....but you still have to wait. There is no harm in anticipation or waiting. And if you don't want to your present, you don't have to take it. It is still there, none the less.

I guess we're just holding it up to our ear and "shaking" it a little to see what's coming inside the box.

Just like at Christmse, it's worth the waiting, usually. But it's all bout the anticipation, that makes it so special and unforgettable.

shake
shake

shake

...

Posted by: Clay Sep 21 2006, 09:24 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 21 2006, 08:47 AM)

Either she has or she hasn't. If she hasn't then there is nothing to tell and people need to "fess up." If she has then it should be public knowledge.

Please don't get me wrong, I am not waiting on pins and needles. Personally, I don't believe anything of significance has happened - but people are being "mesmerized" with tantalizing "prophesies" and cryptic comments designed to titillate. To quote Bill Moyers:

"Once you decide to titillate instead of illuminate... you create a climate of expectation that requires a higher and higher level of intensity."

- fhb

- fhb

like that quote, may have to use it.... and personally I would agree that there has been a degree of titillation with this saga..... btjm....

Posted by: summertime Sep 21 2006, 09:26 AM

Could it be that even the angels are standing on the four corners of the fiasco of 3ABN, waiting for some to forsake their wrongs and make things right, so that the wind should not completely destroy the whole of 3ABN when "He just is not done with them yet?" God wants to save us all, even Danny, but the day of destruction will come. We have to remember that Jesus did not die to destroy us all--He died to save us all. Maybe He is waiting for those at 3ABN to come to seek forgiveness, but He will not wait forever. Along with the rest of you, I am anxious to see all this 3ABN lawlessness come to an end. It is hard for us to be patient when we know so many people have been hurt.

Posted by: Clay Sep 21 2006, 09:30 AM

QUOTE(summertime @ Sep 21 2006, 09:26 AM)

Could it be that even the angels are standing on the four corners of the fiasco of 3ABN, waiting for some to forsake their wrongs and make things right, so that the wind should not completely destroy the whole of 3ABN when "He just is not done with them yet?" God wants to save us all, even Danny, but the day of destruction will come. We have to remember that Jesus did not die to destroy us all--He died to save us all. Maybe He is waiting for those at 3ABN to come to seek forgiveness, but He will not wait forever. Along with the rest of you, I am anxious to see all this 3ABN lawlessness come to an end. It is hard for us to be patient when we know so many people have been hurt.

a bit dramatic don't you think?

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 21 2006, 09:48 AM

QUOTE(summertime @ Sep 21 2006, 09:26 AM)

Could it be that even the angels are standing on the four corners of the fiasco of 3ABN, waiting for some to forsake their wrongs and make things right, so that the wind should not completely destroy the whole of 3ABN when "He just is not done with them yet?" God wants to save us all, even Danny, but the day of destruction will come. We have to remember that Jesus did not die to destroy us all--He died to save us all. Maybe He is waiting for those at 3ABN to come to seek forgiveness, but He will not wait forever. Along with the rest of you, I am anxious to see all this 3ABN lawlessness come to an end. It is hard for us to be patient when we know so many people have been hurt.

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 08:30 AM)

a bit dramatic don't you think?

I'm with Summertime on that one. There are many facets to things. People are making choices everyday concerning this mess. Pray for everybody. Like most things, there is much more to it then what is "seen" on top.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 21 2006, 09:50 AM

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 10:24 AM)

like that quote, may have to use it.... and personally I would agree that there has been a degree of titillation with this saga..... btjm....

Have fun with it, it's a good one ot have on hand!

Posted by: Clay Sep 21 2006, 09:53 AM

QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 21 2006, 09:48 AM)

I'm with Summertime on that one. There are many facets to things. People are making choices everyday concerning this mess. Pray for everybody. Like most things, there is much more to it then what is "seen" on top.

cryptic language is sooooo annoying.....

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 21 2006, 10:51 AM

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 08:24 AM)

like that quote, may have to use it.... and personally I would agree that there has been a degree of titillation with this saga..... btjm....

I'm concerned that if the titillation reaches too high a level of intensity, some here will start having strokes. Perhaps patience would be a healthier state for us all.

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 08:53 AM)

cryptic language is sooooo annoying.....

Amen!

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 21 2006, 03:02 PM

QUOTE(justme @ Sep 21 2006, 10:18 AM)

I guess we're just holding it up to our ear and "shaking" it a little to see what's coming inside the box.

shake

shake

shake

...

Shaking is old-school and a good way to damage the goods!

What you do is unwrap it, peek inside, then wrap it back up and wait for Christmas!

Posted by: Nuggie Sep 21 2006, 03:18 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 09:24 AM)

like that quote, may have to use it.... and personally I would agree that there has been a degree of titillation with this saga..... btjm....

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 21 2006, 09:30 AM)

a bit dramatic don't you think?

OK?!? Angels standing on four corners...holding back the winds? Okie dokie, then. Think I'll back slowly out of this thread...

Posted by: princessdi Sep 21 2006, 03:21 PM

Bad, bad HOTY!!!

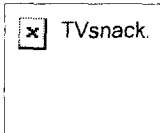

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 21 2006, 02:02 PM)

Shaking is old-school and a good way to damage the goods!

What you do is unwrap it, peek inside, then wrap it back up and wait for Christmas!

Posted by: SoulEspresso Sep 22 2006, 10:01 AM

We don't know invisible factors. The visible factor is the Most Amazing Prophecies seminar.

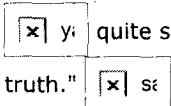

As noted by others elsewhere, people are coming to that thing, and of course the powers that be don't want to jeopardize conversions.

I've never been a fan of 3ABN, which doubtless makes my own attitude towards this whole fiasco quite suspect ... read: sinful. After all, "Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth." s:

Here's the problem, as Danny & Co are finding out (we hope! since not everyone is privy to the information that others have and can't share): "There is nothing concealed that will not be disclosed, or hidden that will not be made known. What you have said in the dark will be heard in the daylight, and what you have whispered in the ear sE in the inner rooms will be proclaimed from the roofs." Luke 12.

tom

However this comes out, I hope they handle it carefully. Where I live, 3ABN is like an oracle of God for a lot of people. Maybe they need the rug jerked out from under them ... gently?

Posted by: watchbird Sep 23 2006, 04:25 PM

QUOTE(SoulEspresso @ Sep 22 2006, 10:01 AM)

However this comes out, I hope they handle it carefully. Where I live, 3ABN is like an oracle of God for a lot of people. Maybe they need the rug jerked out from under them ... gently?

Our purpose here on BSDA and elsewhere has been to try and bring enough information to light so that as many as possible of those people who think that "3ABN is like an oracle of God" will be gently coaxed to move away from the "rug" before it is "jerked" away to reveal all that has been swept under it for lo, these many years.

Posted by: Daryl Fawcett Sep 23 2006, 07:35 PM

Elsewhere is basically Maritime SDA OnLine, as I think we are now basically the only two forums permitting these 3ABN topics.

Posted by: AmeliaLD Sep 24 2006, 01:37 PM

Won't we all feel a little used if the climax of this play is far more dissapointing than what we expected because of the buildup?

paraphrasing Matthew: things will happen but the end is still to come.

Even soaps on TV can take years to end a story line.

Posted by: Johann Sep 24 2006, 01:43 PM

QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Sep 24 2006, 09:37 PM)

Won't we all feel a little used if the climax of this play is far more dissapointing than what we expected because of the buildup?

paraphrasing Matthew: things will happen but the end is still to come.

Even soaps on TV can take years to end a story line.

Don't give up yet. True, the end is still to come. . .

Posted by: Clay Sep 24 2006, 01:46 PM

QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Sep 24 2006, 02:37 PM)

Won't we all feel a little used if the climax of this play is far more dissapointing than what we expected because of the buildup?

paraphrasing Matthew: things will happen but the end is still to come.

Even soaps on TV can take years to end a story line.

the end is never as good as we imagine.... usually.....

Posted by: Johann Sep 24 2006, 01:50 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Sep 24 2006, 09:46 PM)

the end is never as good as we imagine.... usually.....

What do you base this on? Avoiding disappointments?

Posted by: beartrap Sep 24 2006, 03:41 PM

"Now this is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is, perhaps, the end of the beginning."

Sir Winston Churchill, Speech in November 1942

Posted by: watchbird Sep 24 2006, 04:31 PM

QUOTE(beartrap @ Sep 24 2006, 03:41 PM)

"Now this is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But it is, perhaps, the end of the beginning."
 Sir Winston Churchill, Speech in November 1942

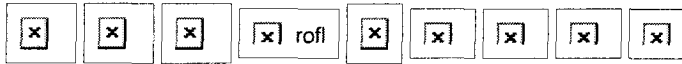

Interesting. For some reason I have always like the way it was put by a novelist whose name I do not recall.....

"What he had thought would be the end of the beginning, turned out instead to be the beginning of the end."

Posted by: justme Sep 24 2006, 06:39 PM

I'm not sure you understood what I meant when I said I understand what you said I meant.
 Because I understood you understood what I sad when you said you understood me.
 But, what I you said I said was not what I meant you to understand.
 You understood what I meant when I said I understand you the first time.
 The second time I understood you I understood you meant you understood me the second time, so I understood what you meant the first time.
 Now I understand you meant to understand the first time but misunderstood me.
 Now I understand, do you?

Posted by: simplysaved Sep 24 2006, 06:47 PM

QUOTE(justme @ Sep 24 2006, 06:39 PM)

I'm not sure you understood what I meant when I said I understand what you said I meant.
 Because I understood you understood what I sad when you said you understood me.
 But, what I you said I said was not what I meant you to understand.
 You understood what I meant when I said I understand you the first time.
 The second time I understood you I understood you meant you understood me the second time, so
 I understood what you meant the first time.
 Now I understand you meant to understand the first time but misunderstood me.
 Now I understand, do you?

Posted by: watchbird Sep 24 2006, 07:35 PM

QUOTE(justme @ Sep 24 2006, 06:39 PM)

I'm not sure you understood what I meant when I said I understand what you said I meant.
 Because I understood you understood what I sad when you said you understood me.
 But, what I you said I said was not what I meant you to understand.

You understood what I meant when I said I understand you the first time.
 The second time I understood you I understood you meant you understood me the second time, so
 I understood what you meant the first time.
 Now I understand you meant to understand the first time but misunderstood me.
 Now I understand, do you?

Nope..... I don't even understand who is "you" in this little "explanation".

Oh well..... we all need a humor break.....

Posted by: Ralph Sep 24 2006, 10:03 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Sep 24 2006, 07:35 PM)

Nope..... I don't even understand who is "you" in this little "explanation".

Oh well..... we all need a humor break.....

Yeh, I know I am off but that reminded me of the lines of an old lyric

I was looking back to see if you were looking back to see
 If I was looking back to see if you were looking back at me

Posted by: Richard Sherwin Sep 25 2006, 05:30 AM

Does anyone have any idea how much this 3abn/Danny issue is being discussed outside of the internet? Is this a hot topic at our collages and other institutions? In our conference offices? How about our churches in general?

Richard

Posted by: watchbird Sep 25 2006, 06:18 AM

QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Sep 25 2006, 05:30 AM)

Does anyone have any idea how much this 3abn/Danny issue is being discussed outside of the internet? Is this a hot topic at our collages and other institutions? In our conference offices? How about our churches in general?

Richard

From what I have seen..... which is admittedly not a large sampling so far as numbers go, but does include churches in distinctly different areas of the country, and even of the world..... it is hardly mentioned outside of the internet. Which is the reason that the internet in general and BSDA in particular is so important.

In general there are those who watch 3abn and there are those who do not. There are those who watch 3abn selectively, only watching programming of major Adventist evangelists and/or preachers..... and there are those who turn it on as background to their day and watch it indiscriminently all day long. Some of these watchers are "true believers".... that is they depend on 3abn for their spiritual guidance and information..... and some are just there for the atmosphere. Some who previously watched have, for various reasons, as you have heard here on BSDA, discontinued or greatly lessened their watching.

Those who watch and those who don't watch..... unless they have personal or internet information tend to know only what 3abn has said about themselves, and the amount they "know" varies, of course, from a vague, "I heard..... " to having listened to and believed all that has been said either on 3abn or in their "news letters" for the past two plus years especially, and generally from the authorized "history books" which have long been available.

But this doesn't really answer your question, it only sets a background for what I have observed.... and that is that there is little if any dialogue between these various groups of persons, either publicly or privately. It seems to be one of those things (like "politics and religion") which are generally agreed should be "off limits" in "polite society". So at church potlucks or other gatherings where those of varied opinions might be gathered, there is hardly a mention of it, and if there should be it has been my (limited) experience that there will be at least one "true believer" around who will very quickly make their presence known and their closed ears apparent.

In my even more limited experience in Conference offices, I find such a total absence of any knowledge about the issue that I have to assume that the same pattern of no-speak exists there also. Colleges and University people in general have much more pressing things to think about than the problems of an independent ministry which they have no perceived ability to do anything about. And there is, so far as I can tell, total silence from the pulpits of the land.

Posted by: simplysaved Sep 25 2006, 07:25 AM

Not here in Nashville...or in most places that I know....

QUOTE(Richard Sherwin @ Sep 25 2006, 05:30 AM)

Does anyone have any idea how much this 3abn/Danny issue is being discussed outside of the internet? Is this a hot topic at our collages and other institutions? In our conference offices? How about our churches in general?

Richard

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 25 2006, 09:20 AM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Sep 25 2006, 07:18 AM)

And there is, so far as I can tell, total silence from the pulpits of the land.

I don't have time to respond to any answers to my post right now.

However, just remember that there is a full-time, conference president voting on the 3ABN Board, plus a couple of conference ministers involved.

These people are full-time Adventist Church employees.

How can the organized Adventist Church comment on the deeds of its very own full-time employees? Imagine the legal implications of doing that?

Remember, the Norwegian doctor did not sign away his legal rights the way Linda Shelton did. And the Norwegian doctor has plenty of money to do anything he chooses to do.

Total silence by the Adventist Church may be the only option at this point.

Just a thought.

Posted by: watchbird Sep 25 2006, 10:12 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 25 2006, 09:20 AM)

I don't have time to respond to any answers to my post right now.

However, just remember that there is a full-time, conference president voting on the 3ABN Board, plus a couple of conference ministers involved.

These people are full-time Adventist Church employees.

How can the organized Adventist Church comment on the deeds of its very own full-time employees? Imagine the legal implications of doing that?

There are no "legal" implications of doing that. There may be interior "political" considerations, and each man has to decide for himself as to whether he wants to endanger his further career in the church administration bullpen by speaking out on something without first getting the consensus of the whole group. But who knows whether or not in the end it may be the brave who will stand safe and tall and the weak who will fall. Again it is something that we have to "wait and see".

QUOTE

Remember, the Norwegian doctor did not sign away his legal rights the way Linda Shelton did. And the Norwegian doctor has plenty of money to do anything he chooses to do.

Total silence by the Adventist Church may be the only option at this point.

Just a thought.

It is all too true that until "the word" is passed at GC level, that not many pastors will have the courage to speak out against that which has not been spoken against from "on high".

However how many pastors.... and other church employees..... do you find totally silent on everything which has not been ordered from above? I could give examples of where pastors defy "church orders" and preach very strongly against things of which they disapprove.... even inviting seminarists to present on subjects to which the "SDA pulpits" have been "officially closed" for over 20 years. No, the lack of directive from above is not sufficient reason for the strange malaise that keeps people in an inactive condition such as we have witnessed over the last two years.

But the question as I understood it had to do in general with the amount of attention and discussion that was going on among the people in various SDA venues. And the answer has to be that there is more suppression of discussion ... either voluntarily by those who don't want to stick their neck out, or who are advised by their pastors to not agitate on the subject.

BUT

I am not being fair to some who have indeed "stuck their neck out" on these issues though without their express permission I do not feel free to name names if they have not already been identified on BSDA by others.

Let's start with Upper Columbia Conference, where Mabel Dunbar, the Director of Women's Ministries, and President of Polly's Place, has been openly supportive of Linda ever since she first met her in St Louis in 2005 ... and who has also in turn been supported by the President of that conference, Max Torkelson. Let's also mention the Family Ministries Director of another conference. Let's also remember the unnamed pastors who have supported Linda and invited her to their churches even in the face of opposition from her enemies. And we could also mention some by name from Divisions outside the NAD where prominent persons in church administrative positions have been active in resisting the spread of the 3abn virus in their territories.

Posted by: Uncle Sam Sep 25 2006, 11:43 AM

I am from TN it is only mentioned around here when Danny gets on defending himself. Than people start asking "What is going On?" That is how I started asking questions and found this site. So, he is hurting himself...

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 25 2006, 04:56 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Sep 25 2006, 11:12 AM)

But the question as I understood it had to do in general with the amount of attention and discussion that was going on among the people in various SDA venues. And the answer has to be that there is more suppression of discussion ... either voluntarily by those who don't want to stick their neck out, or who are advised by their pastors to not agitate on the subject.

I believe you are right about the suppression of discussion. Unquestionably, it is happening. How it is happening is a bit baffling at the moment.

Posted by: paleface Sep 25 2006, 05:34 PM

Whenever I open the 3abn topic for discussion in my private e-mails, the sand starts flying from whom I send my message to with, "I don't want to hear about it and don't tell me anything more!" The hole gets dug so fast, the other individual goes out of sight in denial or attack me as spreading "gossip." I just let the subject drop.

On the postive side, there are others whom will observe and we compare notes.

Posted by: Johann Sep 25 2006, 06:09 PM

QUOTE(paleface @ Sep 26 2006, 01:34 AM)

Whenever I open the 3abn topic for discussion in my private e-mails, the sand starts flying from whom I send my message to with, "I don't want to hear about it and don't tell me anything more!" The hole gets dug so fast, the other individual goes out of sight in denial or attack me as spreading "gossip." I just let the subject drop.

On the postive side, there are others whom will observe and we compare notes.

In many cases it is only the minority who is willing to hear the truth. Does that mean we must compromise? Does that mean we should keep quiet? Do votes decide what is right?

Posted by: Truly Blonde Sep 25 2006, 09:53 PM

I am from the Upper Columbia Conference also and when my husband or I bring up 3abn we get different types of responses, They range from wanting to know what is going on, to this should not be brought up in church because it makes 3abn look bad. They then add that the Lord is in control and if he wants 3abn brought down he will bring it down and if he doesn't, nothing we do will make a difference. I think this is a cop out. It is a way to deny any responsibility. We arn't involved in 3abn so therefore we shouldn't have any need to see things made right at 3abn. It only affects those who have worked or are working at 3abn. What about Dr. Sam saying Danny didn't have bible grounds for remarriage? That affects all of us I would think. Thank goodness we have a wonderful pastor who feels there is a problem at 3abn and isn't afraid to say so. He calls sin by it's right name. Also I was glad to hear about our conference president's support.

Having grown up in a pastor's household I do understand why it is difficult for pastor's to stand up and be counted without the GC's permission. The GC is their employer and they can take away your job if you are not on the same page as they are. I would imagine that is one reason so many of the people on this web page are posting under assumed names. Maybe Danny can't take away their jobs because they don't work at 3abn any more but he probably has other things to hold over their heads.

By the way. My mother told me that Saturday Dwight Nelson told the tv audience that Danny and is wife were leaving for Australia(She thought that was what he said) Have any of you heard anything about this? Like maybe Johann or Sister or Watchbird.

TB

Posted by: justme Sep 26 2006, 09:23 AM

QUOTE(Truly Blonde @ Sep 25 2006, 11:53 PM)

I am from the Upper Columbia Conference also and when my husband or I bring up 3abn we get different types of responses, They range from wanting to know what is going on, to this should not be brought up in church because it makes 3abn look bad. They then add that the Lord is in control and if he wants 3abn brought down he will bring it down and if he doesn't, nothing we do will make a difference. I think this is a cop out. It is a way to deny any responsibility. We arn't involved in 3abn so therefore we shouldn't have any need to see things made right at 3abn. It only affects those who have worked or are working at 3abn. What about Dr. Sam saying Danny didn't have bible grounds for remarriage? That affects all of us I would think. Thank goodness we have a wonderful pastor who feels there is a problem at 3abn and isn't afraid to say so. He calls sin by it's right name. Also I was glad to hear about our conference president's support.

Having grown up in a pastor's household I do understand why it is difficult for pastor's to stand up and be counted without the GC's permission. The GC is their employer and they can take away your job if you are not on the same page as they are. I would imagine that is one reason so many of the people on this web page are posting under assumed names. Maybe Danny can't take away their jobs because they don't work at 3abn any more but he probably has other things to hold over their heads.

By the way. My mother told me that Saturday Dwight Nelson told the tv audience that Danny and is wife were leaving for Australia(She thought that was what he said) Have any of you heard anything about this? Like maybe Johann or Sister or Watchbird.

TB

I just checked the Saturday night program. No mention of it.
Now I'll check the Sabbath AM meeting.
stay tuned

Posted by: sister Sep 26 2006, 10:06 AM

Danny and Brandy are making an Australia and New Zealand tour. Time to increase the donations with miracle stories directly from the horses mouth. Did I say horses? Well, shut my mouth. I am sure the "miracle" of Danny's horses or rather how he paid for them, is not a subject for the land down under. LOL

Posted by: caribbean sda Sep 26 2006, 10:31 AM

QUOTE(sister @ Sep 26 2006, 12:06 PM) □

Danny and Brandy are making an Australia and New Zealand tour. Time to increase the donations with miracle stories directly from the horses mouth. Did I say horses? Well, shut my mouth. I am sure the "miracle" of Danny's horses or rather how he paid for them, is not a subject for the land down under. LOL

Isn't the Fall Campmeeting this weekend...starting on September 28? Dan and Bran won't be there?
Guess Mollie will be runnin' things, eh?

Posted by: Fran Sep 26 2006, 10:37 AM

QUOTE(sister @ Sep 26 2006, 10:06 AM)

Danny and Brandy are making an Australia and New Zealand tour. Time to increase the donations with miracle stories directly from the horses mouth. Did I say horses? Well, shut my mouth. I am sure the "miracle" of Danny's horses or rather how he paid for them, is not a subject for the land down under. LOL rofl rofl rofl

Maybe they are house hunting?

Maybe they are checking the climates of Russia, Australia and New Zealand. Maybe they are tired of IL.

Posted by: watchbird Sep 26 2006, 10:49 AM

QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Sep 26 2006, 10:31 AM)

Isn't the Fall Campmeeting this weekend...starting on September 28? Dan and Bran won't be there? Guess Mollie will be runnin' things, eh?

Really? You mean they have already gone? What is their itinery? It's not on the 3abn website. And Danny is listed several times in the campmeeting lineup, and then again in Santa Cruz later in October. Whuts up guys?!???

"Dan and Bran"..... love it. Sounds like breakfast cereal. rofl

Posted by: västergötland Sep 26 2006, 11:01 AM

QUOTE(Fran @ Sep 26 2006, 05:37 PM)

Maybe they are house hunting?

Maybe they are checking the climates of Russia, Australia and New Zealand. Maybe they are tired of IL.

I hear Argentina is popular with refugees...

Posted by: paleface Sep 26 2006, 11:02 AM

Johann:

I have a cronic case of "Foot in Mouth Disease" and I am too dumb to back up when confronted! I am not called "Rubber Lips" for nothing. I shall continue to enlighten my fellow man who is interested in 3abn.

Posted by: sister Sep 26 2006, 12:54 PM

QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Sep 26 2006, 11:31 AM)

Isn't the Fall Campmeeting this weekend...starting on September 28? Dan and Bran won't be there? Guess Mollie will be runnin' things, eh?

Down Under schedule for 3ABN Rallys or Danny's Miracle Beg-a-thons:

Venues for 3ABN Rally 2006

Dates: October 28 to 31, 2006

Attending from 3ABN USA: Danny and Brandy Shelton, CA and Irma Murray

Attending from 3ABN Australia: John and Rosemary Malkiewicz

October 28, 2006

Sabbath School 9:00am, Divine Service 10:30am followed by fellowship lunch

Bunbury SDA Church - Cnr Vittoria and Woodley Roads, Glen Iris, Bunbury, Western Australia

Contact: Steve Billington, ph (08) 9797 2335

5:00pm

Livingston SDA Church - Nicholson Road (adjacent Ranford Road), Canning Vale, Western Australia

Contact: David Aitken, ph (08) 9455 4245

October 29, 2006, 5:00pm

Wahroonga SDA Church - 183 Fox Valley Road, Wahroonga, New South Wales, Australia

Contact: Pr Lloyd Grolimund, ph (02) 9487 1374

October 30, 2006, 7:30pm

Lilydale SDA Church - 608 Hull Road, Lilydale, Victoria

Contact: Jenny Heyde, ph (03) 9735 0309

October 31, 2006, 7:30pm

Ilam (pronounced eye-lam) SDA Church - 26 Ilam Road, Ilam, Christchurch, New Zealand

Contact: John and Lois Shearer, ph (03) 318 1913

Info from 3ABN Australia: <http://www.3abnaustralia.org.au>

Posted by: Brenda Sep 26 2006, 01:29 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Sep 27 2006, 04:54 AM)

Down Under schedule for 3ABN Rallys or Danny's Miracle Beg-a-thons:

Venues for 3ABN Rally 2006Dates: October 28 to 31, 2006*Attending from 3ABN USA: Danny and Brandy Shelton, CA and Irma Murray*Attending from 3ABN Australia: John and Rosemary MalkiewiczOctober 28, 2006

Sabbath School 9:00am, Divine Service 10:30am followed by fellowship lunch

Bunbury SDA Church - Cnr Vittoria and Woodley Roads, Glen Iris, Bunbury, Western Australia

Contact: Steve Billington, ph (08) 9797 2335

5:00pm

Livingston SDA Church - Nicholson Road (adjacent Ranford Road), Canning Vale, Western Australia

Contact: David Aitken, ph (08) 9455 4245

October 29, 2006, 5:00pm

Wahroonga SDA Church - 183 Fox Valley Road, Wahroonga, New South Wales, Australia

Contact: Pr Lloyd Grolimund, ph (02) 9487 1374

October 30, 2006, 7:30pm

Lilydale SDA Church - 608 Hull Road, Lilydale, Victoria

Contact: Jenny Heyde, ph (03) 9735 0309

October 31, 2006, 7:30pm

Ilam (pronounced eye-lam) SDA Church - 26 Ilam Road, Ilam, Christchurch, New Zealand

Contact: John and Lois Shearer, ph (03) 318 1913

Info from 3ABN Australia: <http://www.3abnaustralia.org.au>

I find it interesting to look at where the meetings "Down Under" are being held. Bunbury, where the main Sabbath meeting is being held is a town a little way south of the capital of WA, Perth. The only meeting in Perth is an evening one.

The greatest concentration of SDAs in this country is in the Greater Sydney Conference and their only meeting in Sydney is on a Sunday night - albeit in one of the larger churches in the Conference.

There are many more SDAs in Auckland, in the North Island of NZ, than Christchurch in the South Island, which is the only NZ stop.

Just a comment, I am sure these locations have been chosen with reason.

Posted by: sister Sep 26 2006, 04:11 PM

QUOTE(Brenda @ Sep 26 2006, 02:29 PM)

I find it interesting to look at where the meetings "Down Under" are being held. Bunbury, where the main Sabbath meeting is being held is a town a little way south of the capital of WA, Perth. The only meeting in Perth is an evening one.

The greatest concentration of SDAs in this country is in the Greater Sydney Conference and their only meeting in Sydney is on a Sunday night - albeit in one of the larger churches in the Conference.

There are many more SDAs in Auckland, in the North Island of NZ, than Christchurch in the South Island, which is the only NZ stop.

Just a comment, I am sure these locations have been chosen with reason.

Brenda,

Maybe you can get the word out to the Australian pastors about the info on BSDA concerning 3ABN, it might be an eye opener for them. Just a thought...

Sister

Posted by: justme Sep 26 2006, 04:48 PM

QUOTE(justme @ Sep 26 2006, 10:23 AM)

I just checked the Saturday night program. No mention of it.
Now I'll check the Sabbath AM meeting.
stay tuned

I didn't hear anything about "Dan n Bran" going to Australia in MAP program #9 at church time Sabbath, not in MAP program #10. There was an early Sabbath morning program, of mostly music but I missed the opening 1/2 hour of it.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 26 2006, 09:18 PM

I think the 3ABN campmeeting could be very interesting. Stay tuned this weekend.

Posted by: Johann Sep 26 2006, 11:37 PM

QUOTE(paleface @ Sep 26 2006, 07:02 PM)

Johann:
I have a cronic case of "Foot in Mouth Disease" and I am too dumb to back up when confronted! I am not called "Rubber Lips" for nothing. I shall continue to enlighten my fellow man who is interested in 3abn.

It takes courage when they call you names. Just stand for TRUTH. This is the only thing that counts in the long run!

Posted by: Freedom Sep 26 2006, 11:37 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 26 2006, 10:18 PM)

I think the 3ABN campmeeting could be very interesting. Stay tuned this weekend.

Umm, okay so it's later in Oct. they're going to Australia.
At first I thought maybe they were going there instead of campmeeting and to escape the 3abn board meeting!
Unless the board meeting has been changed?

Are the areas in Australia they are visiting near Australia 3abn "camp"?

Posted by: beartrap Sep 26 2006, 11:37 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Sep 26 2006, 11:49 AM)

"Dan and Bran"..... love it. Sounds like breakfast cereal. rofl

Kind like the Australian Adventist Weetbix cereal?

Posted by: Brenda Sep 26 2006, 11:43 PM

QUOTE(Freedom @ Sep 27 2006, 03:37 PM)

Umm, okay so it's later in Oct. they're going to Australia.
At first I thought maybe they were going there instead of campmeeting and to escape the 3abn board meeting!
Unless the board meeting has been changed?
Are the areas in Australia they are visiting near Australia 3abn "camp"?

I do not know if there is a 3ABN camp here - the stated meeting places are all regular churches. The choice of venue makes me think they have chosen areas where the 'faithful' congregate.

Posted by: Freedom Sep 27 2006, 06:32 AM

QUOTE(Brenda @ Sep 27 2006, 12:43 AM)

I do not know if there is a 3ABN camp here - the stated meeting places are all regular churches. The choice of venue makes me think they have chosen areas where the 'faithful' congregate.

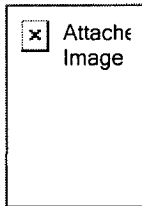

3ABN australia "camp" - 3ABN has representatives in australia. If I understand correctly the have a broadcast site there.

Is this correct?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 27 2006, 08:18 AM

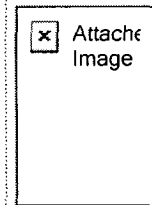

QUOTE(beartrap @ Sep 27 2006, 12:37 AM)

Kind like the Australian Adventist Weetbix cereal?

Posted by: caribbean sda Sep 27 2006, 08:20 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 27 2006, 11:18 AM)

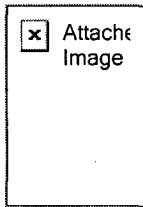

Seems like I've started something...

Posted by: watchbird Sep 27 2006, 09:16 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 27 2006, 08:18 AM)

x that !!!!! x

QUOTE(caribbean sda @ Sep 27 2006, 08:20 AM)

Seems like I've started something... x

Seems like you did indeed..... but it took an artist with a flair for marketing to give us the box cover design..... and information. Who did it? Was that you, Pete? Or is this one of lifes little mysteries that shall go into the "stay tuned" and "wait patiently" file?

Anyhow ... Fantastic..... x wow.gif x TVsnack.

Posted by: vonessa Sep 27 2006, 09:34 AM

I keep dropping in to see this new information and what have you, but I get nothing. It is like waiting at a station and not knowing whether its coming or not.

Otherwise there is nothing new to say. Just the same old, same old going around in circles. Wake me up when it gets going.

Posted by: watchbird Sep 27 2006, 09:48 AM

QUOTE(vonessa @ Sep 27 2006, 09:34 AM)

I keep dropping in to see this new information and what have you, but I get nothing. It is like waiting at a station and not knowing whether its coming or not.

Otherwise there is nothing new to say. Just the same old, same old going around in circles. Wake me up when it gets going.

There, there, dearie..... snuggle up with your blankie..... x < and take your rest. If you don't show up when the train whistle blows, we'll send for you.

Or

You could join in the behind the scenes activity by contacting and dialoguing with those you know who don't know. Working makes the waiting seem to go more quickly. And who knows some little word that you might say in some ear that is more significant than you know just might act to "hasten the day" of "its" coming. Review the suggestions of what individuals can do. Be creative in developing your own "action plan". Remember that even though things here may seem "old hat" to you, there are still thousands of persons who have no idea that there is so much they don't know. Go out into the highways and hedges and let them know about BSDA. You don't have to tell them what is being said here. Just invite them to "come and see". And stand by, ready to help guide them through the maze if they ask for help.... but mainly, just keep busy while you are developing your patience till the time when what others are doing can be revealed.

Posted by: jodi Sep 27 2006, 11:05 AM

Stay tuned. Oct. 1 should prove to be an interesting day!

Posted by: simplysaved Sep 27 2006, 11:16 AM

Because.....?

QUOTE(jodi @ Sep 27 2006, 11:05 AM)

Stay tuned. Oct. 1 should prove to be an interesting day!

Posted by: sister Sep 27 2006, 01:45 PM

QUOTE(simplysaved @ Sep 27 2006, 12:16 PM)

Because.....?

October 1, 2006 is the next scheduled meeting of the 3ABN Board...

Posted by: Johann Sep 27 2006, 04:25 PM

QUOTE(sister @ Sep 27 2006, 09:45 PM)

October 1, 2006 is the next scheduled meeting of the 3ABN Board...

Business as usual?

Posted by: Brenda Sep 27 2006, 04:32 PM

QUOTE(Freedom @ Sep 27 2006, 10:32 PM)

3ABN australia "camp" - 3ABN has representatives in australia. If I understand correctly the have a broadcast site there.

Is this correct?

There are certainly representatives here, who promote the acquisition of the satellite dish - I am not sure how much more that couple do for 3ABN.

I am not aware of what else 3ABN have here - in all honesty I have not been motivated to find out.

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 27 2006, 04:39 PM

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 27 2006, 03:25 PM)

Business as usual?

I'm thinking not

Posted by: Johann Sep 27 2006, 04:51 PM

QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 28 2006, 12:39 AM)

I'm thinking not

Why not?

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 27 2006, 05:12 PM

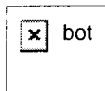

QUOTE(Johann @ Sep 27 2006, 03:51 PM)

Why not?

Well, shall we say, it should NOT be business as usual...lets hope it's not.

Posted by: husbandoftheyear Sep 27 2006, 06:15 PM

The next board meeting - maybe

Posted by: summertime Sep 27 2006, 06:21 PM

[quote name='sonshineonme' date='Sep 27 2006, 05:12 PM' post='154062']
Well, shall we say, it should NOT be business as usual...lets hope it's not.]

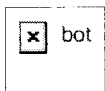

How many dollars will it take to fly that jet to Australia, pay for the gas, hire the pilot and then pay for expenses for the 3ABN President and his party to sightsee the vast areas of interest in the country of AUstralia.?

Posted by: sonshineonme Sep 27 2006, 06:24 PM

QUOTE(husbandoftheyear @ Sep 27 2006, 05:15 PM)

The next board meeting - maybe

I like the white flag one...guess we will see....

And summertime, when you said
"How many dollars will it take to fly that jet to Australia, pay for the gas, hire the pilot and then pay for expenses for the 3ABN President and his party to sightsee the vast areas of interest in the country of AUstralia.?"

THE ANSWER IS M A N Y - the donors money hard at work!

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 27 2006, 08:41 PM

QUOTE(sonshineonme @ Sep 27 2006, 07:24 PM) □

And summertime, when you said
"How many dollars will it take to fly that jet to Australia, pay for the gas, hire the pilot and then pay for expenses for the 3ABN President and his party to sightsee the vast areas of interest in the country of AUstralia.?"
THE ANSWER IS M A N Y - the donors money hard at work!

Come on, it is obvious that the plane 3ABN leases couldn't even make the flight from LA to Hawaii, much less the 18+ hours it takes to reach Australia.

- fhb

Posted by: PeacefullyBewildered Sep 27 2006, 08:47 PM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 06:41 PM) □

Come on, it is obvious that the plane 3ABN leases couldn't even make the flight from LA to Hawaii, much less the 18+ hours it takes to reach Australia.
- fhb

That's what I was thinking. Perhaps he can get it refueled in flight.

Posted by: paleface Sep 27 2006, 08:52 PM

Did Danny take his jet to Russia? Is Trinity also traveling with Danny and Brandy or is she in school?

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 27 2006, 09:32 PM

QUOTE(PeacefullyBewildered @ Sep 27 2006, 09:47 PM)

That's what I was thinking. Perhaps he can get it refueled in flight.

Okay, I have avoided using these at all costs, but PB you get one . . .  . . . and Paleface, if the thing can't get to Hawaii from LA, there is no way it's making it across the Atlantic either . . .

- fhb

Posted by: princessdi Sep 27 2006, 09:41 PM

I think I missed something. Why is this obvious?

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 06:41 PM)

Come on, it is obvious that the plane 3ABN leases couldn't even make the flight from LA to Hawaii, much less the 18+ hours it takes to reach Australia.

- fhb

Posted by: beartrap Sep 27 2006, 09:55 PM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 10:32 PM)

there is no way it's making it across the Atlantic either . . .

- fhb

Actually it can. Even a turboprop like a King Air with a shorter range can go back and forth to Europe if it stops in Iceland for gas.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 27 2006, 10:04 PM

QUOTE(beartrap @ Sep 27 2006, 10:55 PM)

Actually it can. Even a turboprop like a King Air with a shorter range can go back and forth to Europe if it stops in Iceland for gas.

Fair enough, no argument. But when did the contingent from 3ABN leave for Russia? When did they arrive and when was the first responsibility there? They would have had to have flown from IL to NY then to Iceland then to the UK and possibly to Berlin or Paris from there and then on to Moscow with another necessary stop or two in there somewhere. Easy enough to figure out. I am guessing they left one day arrived the next - not enough time to fly their jaunty little plan to Russia.

- fhb

Posted by: beartrap Sep 27 2006, 10:52 PM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 11:04 PM)

Fair enough, no argument. But when did the contingent from 3ABN leave for Russia? When did they arrive and when was the first responsibility there? They would have had to have flown from IL to NY then to Iceland then to the UK and possibly to Berlin or Paris from there and then on to Moscow with another necessary stop or two in there somewhere. Easy enough to figure out. I am guessing they left one day arrived the next - not enough time to fly their jaunty little plan to Russia.

- fhb

LOL! Not saying they did, just saying they can. In fact, I would be shocked if they tried to use a Citation VI for a transcontinental flight. To my knowledge they never have. Generally the company jet takes them to St. Louis and Delta takes them through one of the big hubs like Atlanta, then to Frankfurt Germany, on to Moscow, and then a twelve hour over-night train ride to Nizhny Novgorod where Julia Outkina is a most welcome sight.

Posted by: paleface Sep 27 2006, 11:10 PM

Beartrap My Hero! My Hero! Thank you for your input.
Hubby is wondering if anyone has a photo of this jet? We would like to see what this leased 3ABN company jet looks like. Hear! Hear!
With such a long flight, should two jet pilots be on board?

Posted by: sister Sep 27 2006, 11:30 PM

QUOTE(paleface @ Sep 28 2006, 12:10 AM)

Beartrap My Hero! My Hero! Thank you for your input.
Hubby is wondering if anyone has a photo of this jet? We would like to see what this leased 3ABN company jet looks like. Hear! Hear!
With such a long flight, should two jet pilots be on board?

I agree with Bear. I do not see them taking the 3ABN jet to Australia. I believe that the company jet always has two pilots on board whenever it flies and however long it stays at the destination.

Now, Paleface, you might wonder if Danny flies economy class to Australia...

Posted by: vonessa Sep 27 2006, 11:52 PM

Great is Thy faithfulness, O God my Father;
There is no shadow of turning with Thee;
Thou changest not, Thy compassions, they fail not;
As Thou hast been, Thou forever will be.

Refrain

Great is Thy faithfulness!
Great is Thy faithfulness!
Morning by morning new mercies I see.
All I have needed Thy hand hath provided;
Great is Thy faithfulness, Lord, unto me!

Summer and winter and springtime and harvest,
Sun, moon and stars in their courses above
Join with all nature in manifold witness
To Thy great faithfulness, mercy and love.

Refrain

Pardon for sin and a peace that endureth
Thine own dear presence to cheer and to guide;
Strength for today and bright hope for tomorrow,
Blessings all mine, with ten thousand beside!

Refrain

Posted by: JesseB Sep 28 2006, 12:05 AM

QUOTE(beartrap @ Sep 27 2006, 09:52 PM)

LOL! Not saying they did, just saying they can. In fact, I would be shocked if they tried to use a Citation VI for a transcontinental flight. To my knowledge they never have. Generally the company jet takes them to St. Louis and Delta takes them through one of the big hubs like Atlanta, then to Frankfurt Germany, on to Moscow, and then a twelve hour over-night train ride to Nizhny Novgorod where Julia Outkina is a most welcome sight.

Citation VI

Type: Light corporate jet
Performance: 495 mph - Max speed
Performance: 467 mph - Max cruising speed
Flying Altitude: 35,200ft

Range: 2696 miles

Lavatory: Yes - Enclosed

Capacity: Flightcrew of two. Typical main passenger cabin seating for six, or optionally up to nine

Toll Free: 1.866.LEAR.JET - info@aircharternetwork.com

Is it used exclusively by 3ABN and where is it based? The photo I tried would not paste.

(

QUOTE(beartrap @ Sep 27 2006, 09:52 PM)

LOL! Not saying they did, just saying they can. In fact, I would be shocked if they tried to use a Citation VI for a transcontinental flight. To my knowledge they never have. Generally the company jet takes them to St. Louis and Delta takes them through one of the big hubs like Atlanta, then to Frankfurt Germany, on to Moscow, and then a twelve hour over-night train ride to Nizhny Novgorod where Julia Outkina is a most welcome sight.

Citation VI

Type: Light corporate jet

Performance: 495 mph - Max speed

Performance: 467 mph - Max cruising speed

Flying Altitude: 35,200ft

Range: 2696 miles

Lavatory: Yes - Enclosed

Capacity: Flightcrew of two. Typical main passenger cabin seating for six, or optionally up to nine

Toll Free: 1.866.LEAR.JET - info@aircharternetwork.com

(

Posted by: paleface Sep 28 2006, 12:26 AM

Sister:
Not! First class only.

Posted by: beartrap Sep 28 2006, 12:30 AM

It is used exclusively by 3ABN and it is based in Marion, IL. Hitting the jetstreams going West to East, it will go around 600mph, and although its normal cruising altitude is around 35,000 feet, I've flown at 41,000 feet in it. Range can vary with load and prevailing winds, but I doubt anyone would want to take it further than 2,500 miles unless it was an emergency.

Posted by: paleface Sep 28 2006, 12:47 AM

Bearface:
I found a photo of said jet. That is quite a bird! The info read this would seat seven people and had a tie down potty chair. It takes a quite a chunk of change to pay for this particular bird.

Since 3abn has exclusive rights to the jet, does that mean the pilots have to be on notice 24/7 for Danny's convenience?

Sorry Beartrap, I know you are not Bearface as it is 1:00 am here I am ready for bed. I am in wozy land. Good night.

Posted by: beartrap Sep 28 2006, 12:52 AM

QUOTE(paleface @ Sep 28 2006, 01:42 AM)

Bearface:
I found a photo of said jet. That is quite a bird! The info read this would seat seven people and had a tie down potty chair. It takes a quite a chunk of change to pay for this particular bird.

Since 3abn has exclusive rights to the jet, does that mean the pilots have to be on notice 24/7 for Danny's convenience?

Yes, it has four recliners and a three seat couch up by the galley. LOL! I've seen worse airplane potties. It takes $40,000 per month to lease it. The pilots do other work as well, but they stay on call. The head pilot lives in Bowling Green Kentucky and has to fly his own plane up to Marion when Danny needs him.

QUOTE(paleface @ Sep 28 2006, 01:47 AM)

Sorry Beartrap, I know you are not Bearface as it is 1:00 am here I am ready for bed. I am in wozy land. Good night.

  rofl Thats alright, as long as you don't call me a bearbehind.

Posted by: Johann Sep 28 2006, 02:52 AM

QUOTE(sister @ Sep 28 2006, 07:30 AM)

I agree with Bear. I do not see them taking the 3ABN jet to Australia. I believe that the company jet always has two pilots on board whenever it flies and however long it stays at the destination.

Now, Paleface, you might wonder if Danny flies economy class to Australia...

Back in 2003 I was asked to meet Danny and Linda in Iceland from where we'd fly together to Denmark and France/Switzerland in the company jet. I understood this was to be their first overseas flight in their own jet. Then shortly before rendezvous I was informed by Mollie htat they had discovered their jet was not equipped to land on European airports. This equipment, I was told, was too expensive for private jets, which are only equipped to land on US airports.

So Linda, Danny, and Tommy flew in their private jet to an airport in the East from where they came to Iceland by the commercial airline.

At that time they had the smaller private jet. I presume the same applies to their present plane, but I am not sure.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 28 2006, 07:35 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 10:32 PM)

.... there is no way it's making it across the Atlantic either . . .

- fhb

The route across the Atlantic for private aircraft is from Saint Johns, Newfoundland, to Reykjavik, Iceland, and then on to Northern Europe's mainland. From there, private jets can get to Australia, if they choose to do so.

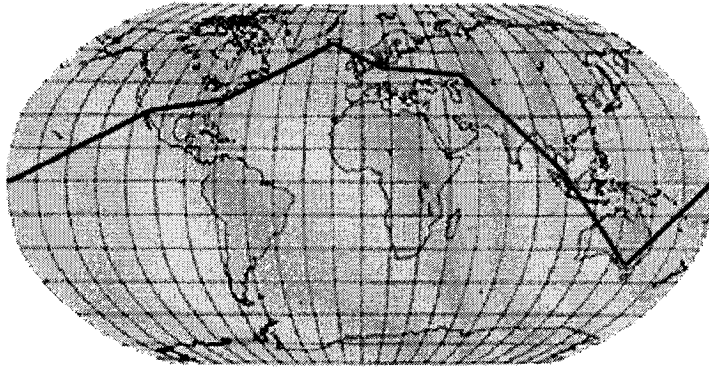

I knew of a female pilot who used that route across the Atlantic (more that 25 years ago).

So, now you know why the Sheltons were going to fly their private plane to Iceland to meet Johann there. It's just a common stop on the way to Europe. If Johann says the Sheltons were going to fly to Iceland in their own jet, that's enough for me.

As for the expensive aviation equipment needed for European airports, I'm sure Mr. Shelton could find the money somewhere. That's not the problem. The problem would be the time involved to do the job, train the flight crew, and do the paperwork, etc.. The devil is always in the details.

I'm adding a map so aircraft newbies can get the general idea of the route to Australia. Most of the route is the red line, and the route across the Atlantic is almost the same as the blue line, with a stop in Newfoundland.

For those who have an interest in the route:

More recently, it's become known as a "torture" route. Once across the Atlantic, the CIA can fly their private planes all the way to Turkey, India, and on to the rest of Asia, Australia and New Zealand, if they want to "disappear" someone.

This the Reykjavik Transit page showing CIA planes that cross the Atlantic.

http://reykjaviktransit.blogspot.com/2005_11_01_reykjaviktransit_archive.html

Posted by: västergötland Sep 28 2006, 08:27 AM

Hmm, doesnt that flight plan cross places like southern Russia, Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan. Places where it might not be all that straightforward to get a flight permit?

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 28 2006, 08:40 AM

QUOTE(västergötland @ Sep 28 2006, 08:27 AM)

Hmm, doesnt that flight plan cross places like southern Russia, Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan. Places where it might not be all that straightforward to get a flight permit?

Good point.

Basically, please note that I used the words "general idea" when I posted that map. Don't confuse that red line with any actual, concrete, unchangable, specific flight plan. You always have to fly around the current trouble spots.

In fact, you can't even fly a private plane near New York City or Washington DC. It's closed space - at least some areas are.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 28 2006, 08:45 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 28 2006, 08:35 AM)

The route across the Atlantic for private aircraft is from Saint Johns, Newfoundland, to Reykjavik, Iceland, and then on to Northern Europe's mainland. From there, private jets can get to Australia, if they choose to do so.

I knew of a female pilot who used that route across the Atlantic (more that 25 years ago).

So, now you know why the Sheltons were going to fly their private plane to Iceland to meet Johann there. It's just a common stop on the way to Europe. If Johann says the Sheltons were going to fly to Iceland in their own jet, that's enough for me.

As for the expensive aviation equipment needed for European airports, I'm sure Mr. Shelton could find the money somewhere. That's not the problem. The problem would be the time involved to do the job, train the flight crew, and do the paperwork, etc.. The devil is always in the details.

I'm adding a map so aircraft newbies can get the general idea of the route to Australia. Most of the route is the red line, and the route across the Atlantic is almost the same as the blue line, with a stop in Newfoundland.

For those who have an interest in the route:

More recently, it's become known as a "torture" route. Once across the Atlantic, the CIA can fly their private planes all the way to Turkey, India, and on to the rest of Asia, Australia and New Zealand, if they want to "disappear" someone.

This the Reykjavik Transit page showing CIA planes that cross the Atlantic.

http://reykjaviktransit.blogspot.com/2005_11_01_reykjaviktransit_archive.html

Thanks for the clarification and political science/geography lesson. Now, I would wonder how many people (other than the CIA) fly this route. How realistic an endeavor is it - unless you want as close to total secrecy and anonymity as possible. Doesn't strike me that 3ABN is looking for either. So back to the original underlying point from my initial response to this - the question was raised as to the cost to "supporters" for the trip to Australia. Most individuals flying to AUS or NZ travel the Pacific route, the 3ABN plane can not make that flight. And, I am most certain that the crew from 3ABN isn't going to take the four or five days it would take to fly the Atlantic route you identified (btw, looking at that route I think it could be called the torture route just from all the up and down you would have to endure.)

As for the sightseeing idea, all the events are held Oct. 28 through 31, with travel time to get from one to the other. The logical question to ask and discover an answer for would be - when do they leave, when do they return. That would give you all you would need to avoid the speculative nature of the original comment which implied the sightseeing was a forgone conclusion.

QUOTE

How many dollars will it take to fly that jet to Australia, pay for the gas, hire the pilot and then pay for expenses for the 3ABN President and his party to sightsee the vast areas of interest in the country of AUstralia.?

- fhb

PS, Just noticed V's comment below . . . it does seem as though some of that route would be rather problematic without some official subversive government acronym on your dossier.

Posted by: västergötland Sep 28 2006, 08:53 AM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 28 2006, 04:40 PM)

Good point.

Basically, please note that I used the words "general idea" when I posted that map. Don't confuse that red line with any actual, concrete, unchangable, specific flight plan. You always have to fly around the current trouble spots.

In fact, you can't even fly a private plane near New York City or Washington DC. It's closed space - at least some areas are.

Not all of those places are trouble spots. Some just dislike either christians or americans or both...

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 28 2006, 10:27 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 28 2006, 08:45 AM)

Thanks for the clarification and political science/geography lesson. Now, I would wonder how many people (other than the CIA) fly this route.

My point was this: Johann said that the Sheltons were planning to fly to Europe on their private jet. There's no reason to question that. As for reaching Australia on a private jet, that's entirely possible, too. That's really all I'm saying. Wealthy Europeans and Australians have private jets and fly everywhere. It's not even a point of contention. Why make it one?

QUOTE

I am most certain that the crew from 3ABN isn't going to take the four or five days it would take to fly the Atlantic route you identified

You were also certain that small, private, jet airplanes can't cross the Atlantic.

As for your being "most certain" about the 3ABN flight crew not wanting to fly, you really can't be certain of anything unless you, yourself, are that pilot. How many flight crews would rather sit at home doing nothing? Why not fly Danny to Uganda, and India, and Australia if 3ABN has projects in all three places? What's stopping them? Absolutely nothing. How can I make that more clear?

Posted by: summertime Sep 28 2006, 11:34 AM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Sep 27 2006, 08:41 PM)

Come on, it is obvious that the plane 3ABN leases couldn't even make the flight from LA to Hawaii, much less the 18+ hours it takes to reach Australia.

- fhb

Thanks for the information--Just goes to show how Flying illiterate I am. I was not sure if there were stops they could land along the way to refuel. I guess I need to get an atlas to study the route from Illinois to Australia.

Posted by: Panama_Pete Sep 28 2006, 11:58 AM

QUOTE(Summertime @ Sep 28 2006, 11:34 AM) □

Just goes to show how Flying illiterate I am.

That was the whole point of Fally's spotlight in the first place.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Sep 28 2006, 12:02 PM

QUOTE(Panama_Pete @ Sep 28 2006, 11:27 AM) □

As for your being "most certain" about the 3ABN flight crew not wanting to fly, you really can't be certain of anything unless you, yourself, are that pilot. How many flight crews would rather sit at home doing nothing? Why not fly Danny to Uganda, and India, and Australia if 3ABN has projects in all three places? What's stopping them? Absolutely nothing. How can I make that more clear?

You may have misunderstood, I wasn't referencing the "flight crew", but rather the crew from 3ABN who would be doing the traveling: Danny, et. al. These are the people who wouldn't want to make the journey in such a manner.

I wasn't challenging your knowledge of the possibility of such a flight, as you have adequately pointed out that my original comment wasn't correct - but I am challenging the notion (not presented by you) that 3ABN would even consider such a flight. As for being clear on the possibilities, you certainly are - could that possibility prove problematic, yes as pointed out by V'land.

My original point was not to poke fun at Summertime either - but an attempt to add some perspective before things spun off into a speculative nosedive (pun intended). Hers would be a conclusion many might arrive at not knowing that the plane is not one you would choose to make such a lengthy flight. Re-reading my first post, I would have left off the "Come on" and "obvious" parts, which, while seemingly condescending, more correctly grew out of a reaction based on my position that there is far too much speculative commentary/opinion going on - and not as an indictment of Summertime (and Summertime, if it felt that way in reading, my apologies.) I used this once before, so please excuse the redundancy:

"Once you decide to titillate instead of illuminate... you create a climate of expectation that requires a higher and higher level of intensity" (Bill Moyers)

As much as there is a desire to view every 3ABN or Danny action with some level of growing disdain, I really do not think that anyone would choose to fly to Australia/NZ in such a circuitous route. And there in is the point I was making and not one on the intellectual veracity of Summertime.

- fhb

Posted by: västergötland Sep 28 2006, 03:44 PM

There is a small and exclusive group of people that would actually fly such a plane from western US to Australia, just for the thrill of it. I believe they might be related to the folks who climb Mt Everest and those who try to walk across the antarctic continent. It is highly doubtful that anyone discussed in this thread is of this breed however.

Posted by: summertime Sep 28 2006, 04:11 PM

My original point was not to poke fun at Summertime either - but an attempt to add some perspective before things spun off into a speculative nosedive (pun intended). Hers would be a conclusion many might arrive at not knowing that the plane is not one you would choose to make such a lengthy flight. Re-reading my first post, I would have left off the "Come on" and "obvious" parts, which, while seemingly condescending, more correctly grew out of a reaction based on my position that there is far too much speculative commentary/opinion going on - and not as an indictment of Summertime (and Summertime, if it felt that way in reading, my apologies.) I used this once before, so please excuse the redundancy:

- fhb

[/quote] Never fear that I need apologize for my inadequacies----I am glad to learn as I walk in other peoples shoes. Have a Happy Sabbath

Posted by: AmeliaLD Oct 1 2006, 08:50 PM

Wasn't something s'posed to happen today?

Posted by: Cheri4Grace Oct 1 2006, 10:39 PM

QUOTE(watchbird @ Sep 19 2006, 08:12 AM) ☐

It got started by the announcements made on the 3ABN website at the time, and explicitly on worldwide TV by Danny himself. Probably a most significant moment came at the June 2004 3ABN Campmeeting when Danny pointed to Johann and Arild in the congregation, calling them "demons", the men who had "stolen my wife from me", and then turned to Mark Finley and asked him to pray that God would bring Linda back to him. We now know, of course, that Linda had not even left Danny at that time.... that she was only not at the campmeeting because Danny had made it very plain that he wanted her to be absent. And we also know that the two men were a very well respected and proper Adventist administrator and doctor, respectively. And that Danny in fact was trying to get rid of Linda and did not even want Mark's prayer to be answered affirmatively. But how could the congregation know that.... either the one physically at the 3ABN Campmeeting or those watching live all around the world. How would ANY of us know the truth had not Johann been willing to stand up.... and keep standing up.... for Linda not only then, but until this very day! I think you have demonstrated one reason that we have to continue to spread the word of truth about 3ABN so that more may hear things gradually rather than being hit with a larger shock than they can handle. So patience is still the order of the day ... so sorry HOTY ... I also am one who tends to pray the "patience prayer" in terms of "Lord GIVE me PATIENCE.... RIGHT NOW!"

But as we said so often a few months ago and have neglected to reiterate recently the wheels of justice grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small. Justice will come. God does rule. There are many aspects to the "grinding process" that we cannot be privy to, nor can we make public all that we know is going on. Our role is to keep spreading the information, a little bit at a time, as people can bear it. When the time is right, God will bring about a more drastic information explosion, and finally an even more action oriented "explosion".

In the meantime, do not weary. We know Whose side we are on. And we know He will not forever allow his name to be "taken in vain" as we have seen it handled at 3ABN ... and not only merely by Danny Shelton.

Well maybe "technical" wasn't the best choice of words. Not sure how to supply a better word though, without telling Danny too much. So perhaps we should just say once again it's a matter of waiting and using the time to develop our patience.

I have only been on this site a couple times.... i am not sure i get it ... the conversation seems so wrong to be. it feels as if ... it's just wrong.
I was told about the site and that people were talking about Danny and Brandy in a way that was negative. i thought it could be one or two people but my goodness... i am ashamed to read this stuff. I believe the devil has a hold on this thread

Jesus hope for us is to love one another... to jump into a couple marriage problems and think we know what happen is ridiculous. Watch out for you own soul...

Posted by: Ralph Oct 2 2006, 01:56 AM

QUOTE(Cheri4Grace @ Oct 1 2006, 10:39 PM) □

I have only been on this site a couple times.... i am not sure i get it ... the conversation seems so wrong to be. it feels as if ... it's just wrong.

I was told about the site and that people were talking about Danny and Brandy in a way that was negative. i thought it could be one or two people but my goodness... i am ashamed to read this stuff. I believe the devil has a hold on this thread

Jesus hope for us is to love one another... to jump into a couple marriage problems and think we know what happen is ridiculous. Watch out for you own soul...

I can see why you are having problems. You mentioned that you have only visited this site a couple times. I have followed this tragedy since it started to unfold when Linda just seemed to disappear from 3ABN. I have watched how the testimony of witness after witness has fitted like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle into "The Televangelist" which I first read on May 19, 2005. Spend a few hours reading the "pinned" articles at the very top. Study them thoroughly before going farther.

I wish BSDA was just a gossip site. I wish all the negative things that are mentioned were pure fabrications. Unfortunately that is not the case.

If 3ABN belonged to any other church group, I would be concerned for Linda, but would leave it at that. But there is so much more at stake.

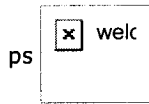

As a counselor commented, "If your church doesn't clean it up, the media will." We are not only looking at moral issues that the media revels in, but we could be looking at issues that may be of interest to the IRS. Neither the media nor the IRS will have any mercy.

So I not only fear for 3ABN and many wonderful people who work there. I fear for our church. Some of our church leaders, right up to GC level are aware of what is going on, and seem to be at a loss to know what to do. The media will not be so kind. What will the fallout be? Who will trust the evangelists who are featured on 3ABN and how many people who think of 3ABN as their church will be severely distressed when "the anointed one" proves to be a sham?

A storm is coming, and we are not prepared to meet it. Danny, please pay attention to the roar in the distance.

Ralph Seland

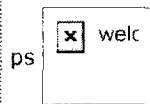

Posted by: summertime Oct 2 2006, 01:36 PM

QUOTE

So I not only fear for 3ABN and many wonderful people who work there. I fear for our church. Some of our church leaders, right up to GC level are aware of what is going on, and seem to be at a loss to know what to do. The media will not be so kind. What will the fallout be? Who will trust the evangelists who are featured on 3ABN and how many people who think of 3ABN as their church will be severely distressed when "the anointed one" proves to be a sham?

A storm is coming, and we are not prepared to meet it. Danny, please pay attention to the roar in the distance.

Ralph Seland

I hope that you are right that the church leaders simply just do not know what to do about the 3ABN mess. I hope that the evangelists on 3ABN are blind to what is going on there and are simply going about the job of speaking for the Lord. I am truly worried about this because if they are going to be truthful about the message then they need to stop thier idolizing of the Shelton and Co. and tell the truth. In case they simply do not know, I wonder where they have been for the last 2 years. I see people around me becoming discouraged about the ehtics of our church as time goes by.

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Oct 2 2006, 05:23 PM

QUOTE(AmeliaLD @ Oct 1 2006, 09:50 PM)

Wasn't something s'posed to happen today?

I am guessing that there was no board meeting and that nothing happened - but then I am not in the loop so I could be wrong. But, the silence seems to indicate that there is a "holding pattern" in effect . . . maybe the east coast investigation team hasn't found anything, or enough of anything, to present a report.

Of course the above is pure speculation so in advance, take it as merely that - just a guess.

On a more factual note, campmeeting seemed to offer some real spiritual meat, and it doesn't matter who it came from - it was there period.

- fhb

Posted by: Clay Oct 2 2006, 05:32 PM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Oct 2 2006, 06:23 PM)

On a more factual note, campmeeting seemed to offer some real spiritual meat, and it doesn't matter who it came from - it was there period.

- fhb

campmeetting offered real spiritual meat in your opinion.... and since many sda's might be vegetarian, don't you mean spiritual vegameat?

Posted by: SoulEspresso Oct 2 2006, 06:35 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 2 2006, 04:32 PM)

campmeetting offered real spiritual meat in your opinion.... and since many sda's might be vegetarian, don't you mean spiritual vegameat?

As George Knight likes to say, "We've got the beast and the image to the beast, and neither of them are good for you." But I think fhb was speaking more positively ... I didn't see any of it myself ...

Posted by: fallible humanbeing Oct 2 2006, 06:47 PM

QUOTE(Clay @ Oct 2 2006, 06:32 PM)

campmeetting offered real spiritual meat in your opinion.... and since many sda's might be vegetarian, don't you mean spiritual vegameat?

HA! Okay, maybe it offered a nice Primesteak or a basket of bbq'd Frichick.

- fhb

Posted by: Clay Oct 2 2006, 06:50 PM

QUOTE(fallible humanbeing @ Oct 2 2006, 07:47 PM) □

HA! Okay, maybe it offered a nice Primesteak or a basket of bbq'd Frichick.

- fhb

lol.... glad you took it in the spirit in which it was offered...

Powered by Invision Power Board (<http://www.invisionboard.com>)
© Invision Power Services (<http://www.invisionpower.com>)